The Greatest of Karneas

Here are some of the more important things done by the Karnea or the Arch Chapter or both:

Elected Harold Tharp President, Charles J. Crary Vice-President, Roscoe Groves Treasurer, L. Allen Beck Secretary, Dean Arnold Supervisor of Scholarship, and Owen C. Orr Secretary of Alumni

Chose Memphis for the 1935 Karnea

Provided for a National Librarian

Arranged for a Diamond Jubilee Commission to draw up a program in recognition of the Fraternity's seventy-fifth year of existence

Made another advance in the elimination of objectionable pre-initiation activities

Set up a reserve for a history and a new catalogue

Determined that no member of the Arch Chapter, except the Supervisor of Scholarship, shall be eligible to hold the same office for more than two terms in succession

Arranged for a third field secretary, so that the field force may visit alumni chapters regularly as well as active chapters

Decided that a chapter on probation for the second time within three years shall be liable to immediate trial for the withdrawal of its charter

Heard three petitioning bodies and endorsed two

Authorized Delta Alpha (Oklahoma) to remain in the Southern or transfer to the Western Division

Reduced the subscription price of THE RAINBOW to $1.50.

THE greatest gathering of a fraternity membership in all the annals of the fraternity system—that was Delta Tau Delta's 52nd Karnea, held in Chicago August 31–September 2, 1933.

Back in 1911 it took Delta Tau Delta to amaze the fraternity world by an attendance of 847 at another Chicago Karnea. This year, 1933, with a financial stringency still operative, with other fraternities calling off their general conventions for economic reasons, with still other fraternity conventions preceding us at Chicago this summer whose turnouts have been thoroughly disappointing, here came old Delta Tau Delta with an attendance well over 1,100 men, of whom 1,010 were officially registered.

Every active chapter represented by delegates, more than half of them by accredited alumni delegates as well, nearly a score of alumni chapters similarly represented, and then the unofficial host from every quarter of America, even from over-seas; freshmen and octogenarians and all the ages in between; stray Delts coming back into the fold and fired with new enthusiasms; fine reports of scholastic improvement, financial soundness, and character development; new steps taken forward, even stronger foundations laid; deeply moving exhibitions of love and appreciation; and, perhaps best of all, because herein lies the soul of any fraternity, a demonstration that in Delta Tau Delta unselfish and devoted and constructive leadership begets a friendliness and a confidence that are proof against anything and everything—this was the 52nd Karnea.

* * * *

THE preamble of the Karnea took place in Indianapolis, where the Arch Chapter, housed at the Indiana Athletic Club, directly across the park from the Central Office, put in a busy Sunday evening, Monday, and Tuesday forenoon, before rushing off by train and car to get to Chicago in time to continue their deliberations Tuesday evening.

The greater part of their decisions reappeared, of course, on the floor of the Karnea. A minor feature of the Indianapolis sessions, however, was the discovery that Secretary Beck could be reduced to a least common denominator by giving him a dictaphone to talk his minutes into, thus leaving the other gentlemen free to use their intelligences in behalf of the Fraternity. It was delightful to watch Beany say all his wise-cracks into the dictaphone; then put a little doodad to his ear and listen to himself talking to himself. There was a movement on to give Hugh Shields a medal for the idea.

Speaking of Hugh, that boy certainly came into his own. Everybody on the Arch Chapter gave the Central Office the once-over, of course, and came back surcharged with compliments for Hugh and his efficiency. They passed resolutions commending him, and later his praises were sung on the floor of the Karnea.

It went even further than that.

A delegate drew us mysteriously into a corner at the Palmer House. It looked like politics, and naturally we hesitated.

"People are going to be up for election," he averred, darkly.

"They are."

"Are any of them unfriendly to Hugh Shields?" he demanded. "Because if they are, I think Hugh Shields is more important in his job than anybody else is in any other job, and—"

His relief was evident when he was assured that nobody was unfriendly to Mr. Shields.

The final pre-Karnea feature was the singing that attended the Arch Chapter dinner at the Palmer House Tuesday evening. Nobody else was around, and the gentlemen relaxed by bursting into many and sundry songs. It was the most harmonious of Arch Chapter meetings, and ended only when a gruff voice demanded over the telephone:

"Pardon me, but is that the Scotch Singers?"

* * * *

WEDNESDAY was given over to the Division Conferences, as the Karnea proper was not to open until Thursday morning. But bright and early Wednesday the long registration desk, manned by half a dozen Chicago alumni, was ready for business in the foyer that opened into the great ballroom on the fourth floor of the Palmer House. The Southern, Western, and Northern Divisions, under their respective Presidents, held morning and afternoon sessions; Frank Cornell called the Eastern Division together in the afternoon. These meetings were held in various parlors on the third floor.

By 11 o'clock 172 visitors were registered.

By this time, too, the unofficial society known as the Karnea Hounds began to be in evidence, a Karnea Hound being a person who has had the Karnea habit and indulged it. These were designated by white silk ribbons stamped in gold "5th Karnea," "7th Karnea," and so on. The only trouble was that the official supply stopped at 14th, and several of the brethren could beat that by a mile.

By 1 o'clock the registration was 257.

Visitors were agreeably surprised to find that the registration fee, covering badge, boat-ride, smoker, and Saturday luncheon, was only $4. Nobody had ever heard before of a Karnea fee of only $4, and everybody was additionally electrified to be told, officially, that if a man was too broke to pay the $1 for registration minus the trimmings, the Committee would register him without expense and somebody else would put up the dollar.

Informal luncheon followed, after which Harold Meyer delivered the keynote of the Karnea. Good oratory, too, and much hand-clapping.

Dad Pumphrey arrived, and immediately lost his new pearl-gray hat.

2:50 P.M.—Three members of the Arch Chapter ganged a bootlegger in the foyer. He beat it.

At 3 o'clock the registration was 311, with the official opening of the Karnea still 18 hours away.

The closing function of the day was the dinner given at 6:30 by the Arch Chapter to the Chicago General Committee, the chairman of which, good old Charlie Axelson, was presented by President Norman MacLeod, who reminded the gathering that this same Charlie Axe was the great Delt who in 1911 had staged that other great Karnea that assembled in Chicago something like 1,000 Delts. Mr. Axelson in turn presented eleven of his sub-committee chairman, all of whom took bows.

* * * *

AT 9:30 THURSDAY MORNING the Karnea opened formally with the singing of Delta Shelter, President MacLeod in the chair, Harry Green acting as Secretary, Robert Campe as assistant secretary, and J. J. Shepherd and Art Masters at the door as sergeants-at-arms.

After a moving invocation by the Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Charlie Axelson introduced George Donoghue, superintendent of the South Park Commission, to bat for Mayor Edward J. Kelly and deliver the address of welcome. It is not known to Deltdom how well His Honor speaks, but George outdid himself, with a happy smile and a happy manner and happy language that won the delegates and brought home most powerfully the love and devotion for the Fraternity held by innumerable alumni through all the changing years.

Dad Pumphrey wanted to know if anybody had seen his hat.

The Chair formally presented Brother A. Gilruth of Mu Chapter (Ohio Wesleyan), initiated in 1872 and now 86 years old.

Reports of the general officers followed.

* * * *

PRESIDENT MACLEOD, greeted warmly (as he was almost continuously, on every occasion and at every excuse) began by paying a real tribute to Hugh Shields and the efficiency of the Central Office. He then spoke of the proposed Diamond Jubilee Commission, whose work will be to draw up a suitable program for 1934; referred to certain contemplated Founders' Day exercises and a suitable memorial to be placed next year at Bethany College, the birthplace of Delta Tau Delta; and suggested that the chapters employ unusual care in the selection of their Diamond Jubilee delegations of pledges. He spoke also of the work of the McConnell Foundation, of the Lehman Memorial Scholarship at Purdue, and of many other matters of general interest.

A feature of the report of Vice-President N. Ray Carroll was the announcement that the plaque for the highest standing in the Fraternity examinations for 1932-33 went to Gamma Lambda, at Purdue, with an average of 98.14%. Beta Theta, at Sewanee, averaged 99%, but had a class of only two men, which debarred her from winning. Several other chapters were complimented for notably fine standings.

Jud Crary reported as Secretary of Alumni, showing a general resuscitation of widespread alumni interest.

Especially in view of some things that were on the tapis, the report of Treasurer Harold Tharp was listened to with much attention. It was no disappointment. Bruce Bielaski declared afterwards that certain of its authenticated statements thrilled him as he had never hoped these days to be thrilled by a treasurer's report, especially those statements by Mr. Tharp having to do with the status of the Fraternity's invested funds and the fact that no Delt deserving financial aid for the completion of his college work had been refused that aid.

Secretary L. Allen Beck found his style sadly cramped by the fact that he was reporting only as Secretary. He didn't even have to explain the percentile system.

As the morning session neared its close, Charlie Axelson, as chairman of the Karnea Committee, began a series of souvenir presentations to former members of the Arch Chapter. These gifts were Delta Tau Delta recognition buttons, bearing the coat-of-arms of the Fraternity. From time to time throughout the Karnea, as the old-timers appeared on the floor, Charlie would hail them, make them stand, and present them their buttons. Those thus recognized were A. Bruce Bielaski, Brandt C. Downey, Sam R. Harrell, Harry R. Hewitt, Charles W. Hills, Jr., Stuart Maclean, Carl F. Kuehnle, L. K. Malvern,

W. L. McKay, F. Darrell Moore, George A. Pad-dock, Francis F. Patton, Harry Van Petten, Clarence Pumphrey, George A. Sigman, Robert A. Weaver, Frank Wieland, and Charles S. Smith.

The Chair then presented H. C. Searcy, Theta (Bethany), '79, after which there was adjournment for luncheon.

* * * *

FIRST on the afternoon program was the report of the Supervisor of Scholarship, Willfred O. Mauck, who has lately been inducted as president of Hillsdale College. (It was remarked of Mr. Mauck, after the Arch Chapter's Singing Supper, that he is probably the only college president eminently qualified to lead his own student body in song.)

This report was a pithy document which not only reviewed the history of Delta Tau Delta's struggle towards respectable scholarship, but made a number of pertinent recommendations as well. First Mr. Mauck wanted a manual for our praeceptors. This is already in preparation. He then wanted it specifically set up that praeceptors be chosen by the active chapters with their advisers and alumni, ample compensation agreed upon among them, the formal appointments then to be made by the Supervisor of Scholarship, to whom the praeceptors should become directly responsible. The last step was rendered necessary because of the belief in some chapters that the appointment of a praeceptor lay within their jurisdiction. The recommendation was adopted by the Arch Chapter.

Mr. Mauck then recommended the appointment of a National Librarian, with no other fraternity duties, to supervise the development of chapter libraries. This also was authorized by Arch Chapter action and duly reported to the Karnea.

The fourth recommendation had to do with maintaining the contact between the Fraternity and the parents of pledges, as set up in the Northern Division. This the Arch Chapter endorsed as a national policy.

The fifth had to do with a more careful check-up of the scholastic eligibility of pledges, and this also was endorsed.

Scholastic figures for 1932-33 not yet being available, Mr. Mauck announced the standings of the Divisions for 1931-32 as follows:

Southern	Plus	1.071
Northern	Plus	0.214
Eastern	Minus	0.733
Western	Minus	1.105

Chapters especially commended for scholastic gains were Gamma Iota (Texas), Delta Zeta (Florida), Delta Eta (Alabama), Delta Kappa (Duke), Beta Kappa (Colorado), Chi (Kenyon), Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan), and Gamma Nu (Maine).

Perhaps the high point of Mr. Mauck's report was that figures thus far for 1932-33, although incomplete because they represent only 17 chapters, nevertheless indicate that, if the average can be maintained, the Fraternity will for the first time have a substantial plus average.

Reports from the Presidents of the four Divisions and from the Editor followed.

A notice appeared on the bulletin board in the foyer. Dad Pumphrey, it appeared, had lost a hat.

THEN came the first series of round-table conferences.

Delts of other days who have not attended recent Karneas and Division gatherings will find it difficult to realize how these round-tables have replaced the old heckling on the floor. There were six different conferences—on Internal Organization, Rushing, Pledge Training, Finances, Alumni Relations, and Scholarship, with delegates specifically assigned here and there. Each conference was so set up that it brought together chapters notably strong in a certain line and chapters notably weak in the same line.

The same program was repeated on Friday afternoon, so that a chapter with but one delegate present could benefit by at least two of the round-tables. If the chapter had two delegates, it could benefit by four. If it had an alumnus delegate as well, it was entirely possible for it to profit directly from all six.

By 6 P.M. the official registration had gone to 635 and was still climbing.

6:10 P.M. George Hoffman arrived from Savannah, and eleven people canceled their tickets for the boat-ride.

* * * *

AT 7 O'CLOCK came the first big Delt get-together of the Karnea, the buffet supper-smoker. It was scheduled originally for the Red Lacquer Room, but the advance ticket sale knocked arrangements into a cocked hat and the whole thing had to be transferred to the grand ballroom, as there was no other place in the hotel big enough to accommodate the crowd.

If ever there was a program, it was lost in the din. True, there were some costumed musicians who did their darndest, as well as a young Delt tenor with a good voice; but you couldn't hear any of 'em fifty feet away, what with yells and bursts of extemporaneous song and the guests rushing the growler for more flagons of 3.2 beer when the hotel service collapsed utterly under the storm and stress.

Eventually Frank Wieland started a wobbly sort of Walk-Around, which began with the singing of the traditional Wah-nee-hee, but wound up with three-fourths of the procession shouting How Dry I Am, until two volunteer leaders mounted a table and waved the assembled hosts into Delta Shelter.

At 9:30 there was a boat-ride on Lake Michigan.

(Editor's Note: This organ here and now goes on record as unalterably and eternally inimical to boat-rides of any sort or size as accompaniments of Karneas.)

10:00 P.M.—Darrell Moore found Dad Pumphrey's hat exactly where Dad said he had lost it in the first place.

* * * *

BUSINESS sessions were resumed Friday morning with a report from the McConnell Foundation, showing that 21 loans, amounting to $6,293, had been made to members of 16 chapters. These were all for the purpose of helping deserving Delts through college, and represented help over and above that extended by the Fraternity itself through its Loyalty Fund.

Following a brief summary by Chairman Tharp in behalf of the Committee on Organization, Darrell Moore offered the report of the Karnea Committee on Constitution and By-Laws, recommending the following changes, all of which were adopted:

That provision be made for the official recognition of Division vice-presidents.

That the Division Conferences be held biennially or annually, at the discretion of the Division.

That no person be elected to the same office in the Arch Chapter for more than two terms in succession, this restriction not to apply to the office of Supervisor of Scholarship.

That in the event of the appointment of a supervisory committee in charge of an active chapter the chairman of the committee shall take over the duties and prerogatives of the chapter adviser, whose office shall be vacated immediately.

That funds and monies be placed only in banks specifically designated by the Directors of the Fraternity.

That investment of surplus funds be limited to obligations of the United States Government.

That the official enrollment of alumni chapter members shall include those who are subscribers to THE RAINBOW as well as those who hold fully paid or annual Loyalty Fund memberships.

(It is in connection with this action that the subscription rate of THE RAINBOW has been reduced to

$1.50. Heretofore, in order to get THE RAINBOW, it was necessary either to hold a paid-up membership in the Loyalty Fund or to pay Loyalty Fund dues of $3 a year. Under the new arrangement a Delt who feels that he cannot afford the $3, but nevertheless is willing to pay the $1.50 for his subscription, not only gets his magazine, but also is counted as a member of the alumni chapter through which he subscribes. In other words, the Fraternity wants every Delt to have THE RAINBOW. If he is willing to pay $3 for it and enjoys feeling that he is one of those who in addition is contributing to the Loyalty Fund, fine—and the Fraternity hopes that as many as possible of the alumni will so enroll themselves. If the $3 is a little stiff in these troubled days, the $1.50 puts him on the mailing list.)

11:30 a.m.—The distressing rumor reached the floor that Dad Pumphrey had lost his hat again.

At noon about one-fourth of the Karnea went over to the Art Institute and stood in the sun to have its picture taken.

* * * *

CERTAINLY the high point of the Karnea, so far as sentiment was concerned, was the Wieland Luncheon, given in honor of that grand Delt who for 32 years has been host every fall to all the freshmen and pledges of Delta Tau Delta who could get to Chicago to attend what has come to be known as the Wieland Dinner.

This, too, had to be staged in the grand ballroom, transformed within three-quarters of an hour from a place of business sessions to a banquet hall. Old War-Horse Al Bruncker presided, characteristically—but not entirely characteristically, if you get what that means, for there was not quite the joyous abandon that has attended some of Al's Delt appearances. Perhaps the sentiment of the occasion touched him as he reviewed the history of the Wieland dinners and ended by declaring Frank Wieland the richest man he knew of.

When Dr. Wieland spoke . . . well, he was just Frank Wieland: clever, amusing, witty, unexpected, outrageous, and withal lovable. He admitted that he now knew for the first time just how a pancake feels when molasses is poured over it, and then switched suddenly to some scandalous assertions about entirely inoffensive Willfred Mauck, who naturally had no chance to come back. He fired a couple of buckshot at the editor of this magazine, entirely uncalled for and still unapologized for, and then launched into the story of his own departure for college 47 years ago and the story of the station-master's daughter. With amusing anecdote he told of his experiences as assistant janitor at Buchtel and how good the boys were to him in spite of his job. This, he thought, was perhaps the germ of the Wieland dinners.

"Why shouldn't I try to be good to the boys?"

In that same characteristic Frank Wieland fashion he went on to admit how as a consequence he had fed many Dekes and Phi Gams and what-not who subsequently couldn't make the Delt grade and consequently were forced to ally themselves with fraternities of less importance.

"But I did one kindly thing for them," he added benignly: "I gave them one square meal."

And then, from gay to grave, as he concluded by trying to express his own appreciation of this luncheon in his honor, given by the freshmen to him, he said simply:

"Eternity would not be long enough for me to express my gratitude."

And he meant it.

But the freshmen had more to come. A delegation of them produced a handsome travelling bag, which Charlie Axelson presented, with the hope that the genial Doctor would visit every chapter house of Delta Tau Delta and get back some of the meals he has supplied innumerable freshmen.

* * * *

BUSINESS sessions were resumed at 2:30 P.M., when Dr. Herbert L. Willett, Bethany, '86, presented a most interesting historical paper concerning the early days of the Fraternity. This will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Then came the report by Chairman Allen Beck for the Committee on Pre-Initiation Activities. The committee recommended the adoption of the following resolution, an enactment previously adopted by the Northern Division:

"There shall be prior to or in connection with the initiation of any neophyte into Delta Tau Delta no ceremonies, exercises, or assigned feats which might work injury to the health or morals of the neophyte or which might tend in any way to injure his respect for the Fraternity and for its ideals."

The resolution was passed unanimously.

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to the second series of round-table conferences.

At dinner time the registration had climbed to 800.

* * * *

FRIDAY evening was designated officially as Delta Tau Delta Night by the Century of Progress Exposition.

It was a gracious little compliment, and the boys showed their appreciation by staging most of their chapter reunions on the grounds. Prior to the Delt program on the loud-speaker system at 10 P.M., chapter and group reunions were held, apparently, all over the place. Pabst's Blue Ribbon Casino had its coteries; others ganged up at Old Heidelberg, at the Belgian Village, even, it is said, in the Streets of Paris and the Indian Village. If a fellow's own chapter wasn't reuniting officially, there were a half dozen crowds all ready to receive him with open arms.

And it was Some Night.

As is always the case, the big day of the Karnea was Saturday. Things were in the air, and the brethren were restless to get them settled and over with. Carl Kuehne reported for the Committee on Chapters and Charters (three groups of petitioners had made their appearance on the floor and had set up their exhibits in the lobby); Dad Pumphrey, his hat now safe, reported for the Committee on Resolutions; and Wallace Weatherholt reported for the Committee on Audit and Finance.

Then came the election of officers. President MacLeod had absolutely declined to stand again, and Supervisor of Scholarship Willfred Mauck had likewise signified that because of his election to the presidency of Hillsdale he could not go on with fraternity duties. So the Karnea, partly by roll-call and partly by acclamation, chose Harold Tharp of Indianapolis, former Treasurer, as President; Charles J. Crary of Palo Alto, California, former Secretary of Alumni, as Vice-President; Roscoe Groves of Kansas City, President of the Western Division, as Treasurer; L. Allen Beck of Denver to succeed himself as Secretary; Dean Arnold of Duke University as Supervisor of Scholarship; and Owen C. Orr of New York as Secretary of Alumni.

Next was the moot question: "Where for 1935?"

Memphis was out again in full force; Pittsburgh wanted the honor and handed out stogies; New Orleans was receptive; and there was even a pale pink invitation from what will now forever in this man's fraternity be known as Tripedale-in-the-Pines.

New Orleans made a Southern gesture and withdrew in favor of Memphis.

The committee, wise in their generation and knowing what was too hot to be handled, played no favorite, but labored gravely and then informed the Karnea of what everybody knew already—that it was invited to Memphis, Pittsburgh, and Troutdale.

The roll-call showed a majority for no one of the three, by which time the hour for luncheon was well past and the Karnea Committee was tearing its hair because another transformation had to be gone through while the Palmer House took another rabbit out of the hat and re-dressed the ballroom for the eats. As usual, there was no other place in the hotel big enough for the gang. (If they have another Karnea in Chicago, it will be staged in Soldiers Field.)

Willie Spann and the Editor, deadly enemies at Seattle over this same Memphis issue, formed a hasty board of strategy, and Willie made a motion to let the Arch Chapter choose between the two leaders (which he said privately he was going to vote against); but a wise delegate bird voted to table the motion, and everything was blooey again.

There was nothing to it but to adjourn for luncheon and then reassemble.

* * * *

THAT was a luncheon!

Frank Wieland was toastmaster. Roy West, former Secretary of the Interior, made a speech. The photographer fizzled twice trying to get a picture, but made it the third time. Charlie Axelson announced the official registration as 1,010. Loud and repeated cheers. Ray Carroll presented citations of the Court of Honor to William E. Davis, Phi (Washington & Lee), '99; James R. Caskie, Phi, '09; and Charles F. Axelson, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '07. Branch Rickey, the brains of the St. Louis Cardinals, made the speech of his life as well as the speech of the Karnea. Impromptu, too. Took the fizzle of the photographer as his text, and then built up a structure that had every man in the room sitting on the edge of his chair. Norman MacLeod bade the boys an affectionate official farewell, and just about broke down when Willfred Mauck gave him a watch-charm from the delegates and a jeweled badge from the official family. Harold Tharp was demanded. He protested that he was no speech-maker.

"I can't talk," he said. "I've told you that. All I can do is work. And that's what I'm going to do to the best of my ability—work. You do the same thing."

And the roof came off.

* * * *

THERE was not much more. Luncheon over, the Karnea reassembled as was and proceeded to put Memphis over as the place of the 1935 Karnea. Mr. Beck insisted, faintly, that Troutdale wanted the Karnea, then, in 1937. He and Darrell Moore got into an argument whether it was "Tripedale" or "Troutdale" and whether Mr. Beck knew the difference, anyway, between a tripe and a trout.

But Norm lifted the gavel. For the last time at the 52nd Karnea the strains of Delta Shelter whispered themselves away.

The gavel descended. The Karnea was adjourned.

A querulous voice arose:

"I want you to remember," it pleaded wistfully, "that in 1937 Tripedale-in-the—"

The New Arch Chapter

SO NOW Delta Tau Delta has a new Arch Chapter.

Harold Tharp, Beta Zeta (Butler), '11, the incoming President, needs little introduction, for he has been so long in the Treasurer's job and has done so brilliantly at it that his name has almost become synonymous with Arch Chapter membership.

Finances are, as a matter of fact, his long suit, as he is an important figure in the bond department of one of Indiana's great banking institutions. He is a delightful fellow personally, not much inclined to air his own opinions, a good listener, with one of these minds that seizes the nub of whatever may be under discussion. A feature of Arch Chapter meetings for a good many years has been the quiet comment made by Harold Tharp at just the psychological moment, which, often enough, has meant the passage or defeat of a motion.

Mr. Tharp is not an orator, and doesn't claim to be; but he is a good mixer along the lines that count. He is an ardent country-clubber, a pretty good golfer, and distinctly popular in Indianapolis social life. Probably he is more of an aristocrat than he is of a democrat, and by nature he prefers quality to quantity. Most of all, he has the rare knack of getting the best out of the other fellow, and there is every indication that his regime will be the antithesis of anything like one-man government.

Stepping into office in September, Mr. Tharp at once made plans for some systematic visiting of chapters. It is likely that before the holidays he will have dropped in on between 20 and 25 of the Eastern and Northern Division houses.

You're going to like Harold a lot.

The Vice-President

THE new Vice-President is Charles J. Crary, Beta Rho (Stanford), '03, of Palo Alto, California, lately the Fraternity's Secretary of Alumni, to which office he was elected in Seattle two years ago.

"Jud" is what everybody calls him. He says himself that whenever any of the boys on the Pacific Coast call him "Mr. Crary" he knows something has gone wrong.

He is a banker, a Stanford trustee, the holder of a Court of Honor citation, and one of the liveliest wires the whole West Coast has ever produced for the Fraternity.

The Secretary

THE only actual hold-over on the new Arch Chapter is Secretary L. Allen Beck, Gamma Theta (Baker), '09, of Denver, affectionately known as "Beany." (This magazine is now in possession of the facts which led to this nickname, but it will not publish them unless sufficiently antagonized.)

Mr. Beck, it will be remembered, was the Fraternity's first Supervisor of Scholarship, in which capacity he did such a startlingly good pioneer job that the powers that be have never been able to gain their own consent to let him withdraw from the official circle. At the next Karnea, when by the new Constitutional amendment he cannot be re-elected Secretary, he will probably be made First Permanent Office Boy, or something like that.

On principle this magazine has never in the last eight years made any entirely complimentary remark about Mr. Beck, who would probably suffer a serious mental relapse if the editorial policy were altered at this late date.

The Treasurer

HAVING chosen Harold Tharp as President and therefore robbed the office of Treasurer of its shining jewel, the Karnea had to find somebody approximately as good for the vacated job.

It chose Roscoe C. Groves, Gamma Kappa (Missouri), '13, of Kansas City, despite the fact that he was already President of the Western Division, which, by the way, put the Division in quite a delicate position—torn between pride that their executive head was thus honored and regret that the promotion had to take him from them.

But everybody knows Roscoe—old square-faced, keen-eyed, straight-hitting chap that he is, all wool and a yard wide, whose nod is as good as his bond and who has no use for either diplomacy or camouflage. As far as funds are concerned, Roscoe is the Human Burglar-Proof Safe with All Improvements.

And the Arch Chapter has the habit of listening when he opens his mouth, which is about every 27 minutes.

The Supervisor of Scholarship

THE new Supervisor of Scholarship is Dean M. Arnold, Beta Phi (Ohio State), '20; Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '21, of Durham, North Carolina. He is a newcomer to the official group, and therefore you need to hear more about him.

After graduation he became a teacher in Ohio, began graduate study at Trinity College (now Duke University), attached himself officially to the Duke staff during the first year of the new institution, and the next year was made Dean of Freshmen. In this position he has continued for six years, and last year was relieved of all teaching responsibilities and left to devote his whole time and attention to the interests and administrative affairs of the Duke freshmen.

He helped the old Delta Delta Club at Duke to become Delta Kappa Chapter. He has been chapter adviser at Duke as well as vice-president of the Southern Division. Under his guidance it is said that the freshman mortality at Duke has been reduced practically to nil.

He is a pleasant and human sort of person, friendly, sincere, and popular on the campus. He begins his larger work for the Fraternity with a background of twelve years experience in school work and seven years contact with college scholarship problems.

The Secretary of Alumni

IN VIEW OF certain developments within the last year the Karnea had no difficulty in choosing Owen C. Orr, Beta Gamma (Wisconsin), '07, of Bronxville, New York, as the new Secretary of Alumni. It was Mr. Orr who conceived the idea of the Alumni Contributing Editors for THE RAINBOW, and led the way so brilliantly toward a wider awakening of interest along the alumni.

Mr. Orr has always been a doer of things. In his undergraduate days he was both secretary and treasurer of Beta Gamma, and everytime he resigned they re-elected him. He criticised the rushing system one day, and that night they made him rushing chairman. He says himself the only reason Beta Gamma bid him was that he had a brother coming up later who was really a good egg, and they asked him in order to cinch the brother—and he swears he has seen documentary evidence to that effect.

He went to work for the Certainteed Products Corporation 25 years ago, when the only fellow below him was the office boy. Today he is the general purchasing agent of the concern, and within a year's time is responsible for the purchase of raw materials valued at something like $10,000,000. He is another one of these quiet, straight-spoken people, with ideas of his own and an entire willingness to get some better ones from the next man. And he's a fiery furnace of Delta Tau Delta interest.

The job of the Secretary of Alumni is to foster alumni interest. Every Alumni Secretary the Fraternity has ever had has done his darndest to make good on the job; and, with no disparagement to any one of them, nobody has ever been able to get very far, any more than any alumni secretary of any other fraternity has been able to get very far.

Mr. Orr is bringing a new point of view to the job.

There, with the Division Presidents, is the New Deal.

Martin Dickinson Steps in to Head
Western Division

ROSCOE C. GROVES, newly elected Treasurer of the R Fraternity, has appointed Martin B. Dickinson, Gamma Tau (Kansas), '28, Kansas City lawyer, to succeed him as President of the Western Division.

For some time Mr. Dickinson has been secretary of the Division, has served as a member of the board of directors of the house corporation for the chapter at Kansas and has also served as chairman of the alumni committee for that chapter.

Mr. Dickinson made a distinguished record in college. He was the highest ranking senior in the Kansas University School of Law, and at the close of school was one of three seniors to be elected to the Order of the Coif. He was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He was for four years a member of the varsity debate team, participating in fourteen major debates, one with Oxford and one with the University of Australia. In his senior year he was a member of the Law School Council, as well as of the men's student council, the governing body of the University.

The Bethany Chapters

The following is a paper delivered by Dr. Herbert L. Willett, Theta (Bethany), '86, before the 52nd Karnea, at Chicago:

THIS material is gathered from articles by Henry T. Bruck, Rho, '78, "History of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity," in four parts; Part 1, THE RAINBOW, November, 1904; Part 2, January, 1905; Part 3, June, 1905; Part 4, June, 1906; Alfred P. Trautwein, Rho, '76; James S. Eaton, Alpha, '75; W. C. Buchanan, Theta, '73; John L. N. Hunt, Alpha and Theta, '76; L. F. Hamilton, Beta Epsilon, RAINBOW, November, 1916; Fifth General Catalogue, 1884; W. L. McKay, November, 1919; Howard C. Hillegas, Tau, '94; "The Founding of the Fraternity," June, 1909; and other memoranda, from THE RAINBOW and The Crescent.

* * * *

THE village of Bethany, Virginia, was settled by Thomas and Alexander Campbell in the early part of the nineteenth century in the valley of a stream called Buffalo Creek, sixty miles southwest of Pittsburgh and sixteen miles from Wheeling. The two Campbells, father and son, emigrated from the north of Ireland, and settled first in Western Pennsylvania, near Washington. Thomas Campbell was deeply disturbed by the divisions among the churches in the region where he lived, and wrote a forceful treatise called "The Declaration and Address," protesting against the divided state of the church, and pleading for closer union among Christians. His son, Alexander, a preacher and writer of ability, was deeply interested in the same enterprise, and the two established their home at Bethany, in the twenties, the village becoming the headquarters of the movement projected by the two reformers. There a journal called The Christian Baptist was founded and carried on for several years, and later changed and enlarged into The Millennial Harbinger. Alexander Campbell travelled widely through Virginia (later changed to West Virginia), Ohio, Kentucky, and other states, preaching and holding debates with religious leaders of various denominations, and gradually organizing a body of people called variously "Reformers," "Disciples," "Christians," and often in colloquial terms, "Campbellites."

In 1841 Mr. Campbell organized a school which he called Bethany College, for the preparation of young men for the ministry. The location was most attractive, and it was the idea of the founder that a situation removed from the confusion and temptations of a city was preferable to any other. It was certainly a romantic and secluded location; the nearest railroad was seven miles distant, at Wellsburg, on the Ohio River. The road to the village crosses five bridges and cuts through two tunnels, and is picturesque and charming. The college was situated within easy reach of several growing cities in the Panhandle of the state, contiguous to Ohio and Pennsylvania. The movement of which the two Campbells were the leaders spread rapidly through the adjacent states, and the number of students who came to the college soon made it a school of some importance. From it and the colleges at Lexington, Kentucky, and Hiram, Ohio, were recruited the most of the early ministers of the denomination. The main building of the school was a handsome structure on the hillside above the town, and its facade extended some four hundred feet. The faculty included some of the ablest men in the young communion, and the student body was eager and loyal.

There was already one fraternity in the college, a chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, organized in March, 1858, when early in 1859, either in February or March, a group of students consisting of W. R. Cunningham, Alexander Campbell Earle, Richard Havener Alfred, Henry King Bell, John Calhoun Johnson, Jacob S. Lowe, Eugene Tarr, and John Lucius Newton Hunt met in the Dowdell boarding house, in the room of J. S. Lowe. The presiding officer of that meeting was W. R. Cunningham, and the secretary was J. L. N. Hunt. The purposes of a Greek letter fraternity were discussed, and a committee was appointed to draw up a constitution, devise a name and a motto, prepare a badge, and frame a ritual. A few days later a second meeting was held in the "Old Inn," one of the college dormitories, and the organization was completed. On this occasion all the original eight were present with the exception of Alfred. The exact date being unknown, the Fraternity has by common consent dated its origin from February 1, 1859.

Unfortunately the college building was partially burned in that same year, and the first records of the Fraternity were destroyed. Two other theories regarding the number and personnel of the founders have been received, and among the three it is difficult to make a definitive choice. One is that there were four original members, Alfred, Earle, Johnson, and Tarr, and the other that there were fourteen, Cunningham, Earle, Kays, Hough, Hunt, Johnson, Lowe, Rogers, Alfred, Holton, Ring, Ross, and Saltonstall. All three lists, four, seven, and fourteen, stand on the early records of the Fraternity, and perhaps it will require the authority of the organization as a whole to decide among these groups. The symbolism of the four stars and the form of the emblem might incline the decision to the fourfold list. But this is only suggestive.

The motives of the organization seem to have included the example of the other fraternity, the sentiment of interest in the Masonic order, of which at least two of the members were initiates, but even more the desire for intimate and enduring fellowship. It is certain that among the plighted objectives of the body were a high standard of scholarship and a worthy attainment of personal character. There was no thought at first of the extension of the brotherhood to other institutions. It was to all intents a purely local chapter. But it fashioned a cut for its stationery, and the badge, in much the form which it now has, was soon worn.

A few miles from Bethany, in the town of West Liberty, where an academy of commendable rank was located, and where Lowe, one of the original group, resided, there was soon the demand for another chapter of the Fraternity, and the decision was reached to extend the membership by the creation of additional chapters. Accordingly within the year a group was accorded membership at the West Liberty school, and the two chapters were given the ranking of the Greek alphabet, Bethany being named Alpha and West Liberty Beta. In the latter group there were some fourteen initiates, and the number soon increased to twenty-six. At the end of the academic year the Fraternity included merely the two chapters, Alpha at Bethany and Beta at West Liberty.

In the autumn of the year 1860 a student named Thornton, from West Liberty, organized a chapter at Monongalia Academy, now the University of West Virginia, Morgantown, with the sanction of the Bethany chapter. This was named Gamma, and had fifteen members in all. It continued until June, 1862, when its charter was withdrawn owing to the rapid decline in the student body resulting from the Civil War. The same cause operated to deplete the number of students at Bethany. The college was on the border line between the North and the South, and with the outbreak of the struggle between the states most of the student body and a number of the faculty withdrew to follow the flags of their respective sections. It thus happened that members of the chapter were ranged on opposite sides in the contest. The result was that the chapter was reduced to very low conditions, and an active organization became impossible. In fact the Fraternity was on the point of dissolution. It was in large measure due to the loyalty and persistence of Thornton that it survived.

During the summer of 1860 this young man, a recent initiate, met a friend, R. H. Sutton, who was planning to enter Jefferson College at Cannonsburg, Pennsylvania. So forcibly was the latter impressed with the enthusiasm of Thornton for Delta Tau Delta that he determined to join the Fraternity, and after his entrance into Jefferson he and another student, S. S. Brown, rode from Cannonsburg the twenty-two miles to Bethany on the night of February 22, 1861, and were initiated into the Alpha chapter that night, receiving the credentials which enabled them to organize the Delta chapter during the following days. At least this is the romantic story which has come down in the records of that chapter.

In the spring of 1861 so weakened had become the chapter at Bethany that its letter was changed to Beta, that of West Liberty to Gamma, and the leadership of the Fraternity was offered to the Gamma chapter at West Liberty, but declined. It was then offered to Delta at Jefferson, and accepted in May of that year. The active chapters then stood in the following order: Alpha at Jefferson, Beta at Bethany, Gamma at West Liberty (changed from Beta), and Delta (changed from Gamma) at Monongalia. The Alpha Chapter at Jefferson now assumed definite and effective leadership, revised the Constitution, and reorganized the chapter roll. In the autumn of 1861 William Campbell, a student on his way to Washington College, visited friends at Cannonsburg and was initiated into the Fraternity, receiving the charter of Chapter Zeta, which he organized at Washington with six members soon after. In the spring of 1862 the Alpha chapter, convinced that the Fraternity should increase its effectiveness and raise its standard, withdrew the charters from Beta at Bethany, Gamma at West Liberty, and Delta at Monongalia. Thus for the second time Bethany lost its letter order, and was now deprived of its membership in the Fraternity. This left only two chapters in existence, Alpha at Jefferson and Zeta at Washington.

In the autumn of 1862 the Alpha chapter grew in numbers until its membership reached twenty-five. But the war made such inroads upon its chapter roll that during the year 1862-63 it is recorded that there was but one active member in the Fraternity.

Later in the year, however, a new chapter was organized at Ohio University at Athens, taking the serial letter Eta. Thus at the close of that academic year the Fraternity contained only three chapters: Alpha at Jefferson, Zeta at Washington, and Eta at Ohio.

During that year, however, the foundation of another chapter was laid by the initiation of Robert Graham Heiner of Kittanning, Pennsylvania, who was inducted into the order by Robert Robinson, of Alpha. He soon organized a chapter in Allegheny College, where he was attending school, and to this chapter was given the serial letter Theta.

The Washington group, which in the meantime had declined in numbers and significance, was now revived, and later when the two institutions, Jefferson and Washington, were united in 1865, the two chapters were consolidated with the name of Alpha. Thus again the Fraternity list included but two names, Alpha at Washington & Jefferson, and Eta at Ohio. But now with the addition of the recently formed Theta at Allegheny, a third was included. This list was not left long undisturbed, however, for in 1863-64 the name of Eta at Athens was changed to Beta, and the Bethany chapter, which had been revived by the unflagging efforts of a member of the class of 1864, Jose Maria Carvajal, of the City of Mexico, was reinstated in its membership, and given the title of Eta. This did not continue, however, for more than a few months, and the chapter which had once been the mother of the Fraternity continued almost completely inactive until the close of the war, and was not counted among the active chapters.

During the year 1865 four chapters were added to the list: Iota at Western University of Pennsylvania, Kappa at Poughkeepsie, Lambda at Monmouth College, and Mu at Waynesburg College, Pennsylvania, so that at the end of that year there were seven chapters: Alpha at Jefferson, Beta at Ohio, Theta at Allegheny, Iota at the W. U. of Pennsylvania, Kappa at Poughkeepsie, Lambda at Monmouth, and Mu at Waynesburg.

This sketch is not intended as a history of the Fraternity, but is essential thus far to an understanding of the varied experiences of the Bethany chapter, for in 1867 that much changed unit was reorganized as chapter Pi. As such it continued until 1875. The Alpha chapter at Jefferson retained control of the affairs of the Fraternity until 1869, when it was succeeded by Beta at Ohio University, which group held the leadership until 1874. At that time the chapter at Allegheny assumed control, and the Convention of 1875 declared it the Alpha chapter, assigning to Washington & Jefferson the serial letter Gamma, and to Bethany, Theta.

The personal relations of the writer with the Bethany chapter cover the years 1883-1886. During that time the chapter was in vigorous condition, and although the attendance at the college was less than one hundred, the fraternity spirit was enthusiastic. The only other fraternity in the college was Beta Theta Pi, although Sigma Chi had one man in residence. The Deltas met in a tasteful chapter hall over one of the boarding halls called the "Stewart Ranch." There were about twenty members in the chapter, at least half of whom were from the Southern states. The standard of scholarship was excellent, and the character of the boys left little to be desired. Some of the men later well known in the ministerial and educational ranks of the Disciples of Christ were members of the chapter.

The favorite song used at the meetings was one composed by one of the local Deltas. It was sung to the tune "Marching through Georgia." At that time the colors of the Fraternity were royal purple and silver grey, and the first stanza of the song ran thus:

*Many a day has rolled away since the purple and the grey
From the hills around Old Bethany were unfurled;
And today we truly say, as we march upon our way,
Delta's name shall spread throughout the college world.
Onward, upward, Delta brothers, toward the beautiful and good;
Others faint, but on we fight, from the morn until the night,
For the glory of our dear old Brotherhood.*

Chapter representatives were sent regularly to the Karneas, and the chapter dues and reports were regarded as a matter of unflinching importance. The question as to whether the college could compare in standards and reputation with the others in which the Fraternity possessed chapters, particularly after the union with the Rainbow Fraternity, was often discussed with varying opinions, but the fact that the chapter standing was excellent and that Bethany was the cradle of the Fraternity afforded ground for hope that the chapter might continue to hold its place, at least as long as any fraternity retained its charter there.

In 1894, however, many members of the Fraternity in other institutions were impressed with the decline of Bethany in academic standards and in competent library and scientific facilities, and a motion was laid before the Arch Chapter to withdraw the charter. The indebtedness of the chapter and certain disagreements among the members added to the difficulties of the situation. A phonarch especial was appointed to investigate the charges, and appears to have made careful inquiry into conditions. His report was presented to the Arch Chapter over date of November 21, 1894, and in it he recommended the withdrawal of the charter. This action was taken, and this after having been once the Alpha chapter, and successively Beta, Eta, Pi, and Theta, the Delta Tau Delta chapter ceased for the third time in its history to exist.

At least twice since that time efforts have been made to revive the chapter. Some of the alumni have been deeply interested in perpetuating the career of Delta Tau Delta at the institution which gave it birth, and local groups have been eager to assume the honor of continuing the traditions of the Fraternity in that classic locality. But no favorable action has resulted. The sentiment of loyalty to the old memories has never disappeared, however, and on two or three occasions, notably at the semi-centennial in 1909, in connection with Karnea at Pittsburgh, pilgrimages have been made to the college either under the auspices of Chapter Gamma at Washington & Jefferson, the oldest continuing chapter in the Fraternity, or of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter. These visits have been described in the pages of THE RAINBOW, and are always read with interest.

Bethany in the nature of the case is the shrine of our affections, the cradle of our order, the Mecca to which we return to renew the sanctions of our history. That which Rome is to the pious Roman Catholics, or Canterbury to the Anglican, or Buddh Gaya to the Buddhist, Bethany must ever be to the loyal and historically-minded members of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

A Cup and a Scholarship at Purdue

IN ADDITION to winning the Fraternity examination plaque for 1932-33, two more developments put Gamma Lambda, at Purdue, into prominence among all the chapters of the Fraternity.

The first is the Scholarship Trophy Cup established by Mr. John D. Clancy of Riverside, Illinois; the second is the news of the George Stockton Lehman Memorial Scholarship, established by the late Mrs. George H. Lehman of Pittsburgh, in memory of her son, Stockton Lehman, a member of the chapter, to pay for the education of a worthy and needy Delt at Purdue.

The cup came about because Mr. Clancy, himself deeply interested in education, who had a son in the chapter, observed some time ago that Gamma Lambda was made up of nice boys without any great scholastic ambition, the chapter standing at the time 29th among the national fraternities on the campus.

Mr. Clancy therefore worked out a set of entirely reasonable if carefully hedged about stipulations, including the requirement that a man engage with distinction in some worthwhile outside activity, and then offered his cup, to have inscribed upon it the names of those who qualified. The result has been that the chapter has steadily advanced in scholarship until in 1932-33 it ranked third among the national fraternities and through its intellectual achievements and its increasing lists of distinguished students won for itself an enviable position on the campus.

The cup was presented first in 1930, and the following members of the chapter were the first to be eligible to have their names inscribed upon it: Ed

Mosher, C. C. Murphy, William T. Mackle, C. M. Traylor, O. W. Overman, G. P. Lamb, W. P. Hallstein, R. S. Atkinson, T. B. Plummer, G. W. Clancy, and O. C. Henley.

Mr. Clancy is not himself a fraternity man. A reproduction of the cup appears in the current Pictorial.

George Stockton Lehman, "Stockton," as he was known, was a member of the class of 1915 at Purdue, and was looked upon as one of the chapter's outstanding men—a forceful character, a real gentleman, yet a good fighter when necessary. He died May 18, 1920, a glowing memorium of him being published shortly thereafter in The Purdue Alumnus. After graduation he had connected himself with the Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Corporation, with the production department, and later, after the Armistice, was chosen to reorganize the sales and publicity department of the company. He died in the midst of this work. "He was a thoroughbred," the tribute concluded.

Mrs. Lehman herself became deeply attached to Delta Tau Delta and especially to Gamma Lambda Chapter. In particular she was keenly interested in the development of its scholastic standing and in the influence of the Fraternity in general upon the lives of the men in college. So to those who were privileged to know her intimately it was little surprise to find that her last will and testament read, in part:

"I order and divert . . . the income therefrom to be devoted to paying the expenses of the education of some deserving student of good character, who does not have sufficient money to educate himself, a member of the active chapter of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana, said student to be selected by the active members of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at Purdue University, and approved by the Dean of the University. If for any reason the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity ceases to maintain a chapter at Purdue University, I direct my trustees to pay the net income from the trust fund to some worthy and deserving student at Purdue who is chosen by the President of the University, a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity if possible."

Mr. Lehman, the father and husband, is a special engineer in the Department of Public Works in Pittsburgh, and for a number of years has been chief engineer of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Board. It is an added satisfaction and joy to Delta Tau Delta that he shares the affection for Gamma Lambda Chapter and the Fraternity held by his devoted wife.

Wallace and Dern on the Job

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

KEEPING UP with the progress of the Roosevelt administration at Washington is beyond the scope and the purpose of THE RAINBOW, but we believe members of Delta Tau Delta want to follow the achievements of those two distinguished sons of the Fraternity in the President's Cabinet—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Gamma Pi, '10, and Secretary of War George H. Dern, Beta Tau, '05.

So we give you herewith a tabloid report of what they have been doing.

Secretary Wallace

LAUNCHED campaign to control U. S. wheat production in 1934-35, asking farmers to sign contracts to plant 15 per cent fewer acres, in line with the international wheat agreement, which Wallace has approved on behalf of this nation. Farmers who sign are to be compensated out of a processing tax of 30 cents per bushel on wheat domestically consumed.

To wipe out the cotton surplus, amounting to 12 million bales, Wallace instituted a plan by which farmers were offered a benefit for plowing under one-quarter of their 1933 acreage. Result—10,304,000 acres of cotton plowed up, reducing the estimated crop to 12,400,000 bales. Gross money gain to farmers, including benefit payments and option profits, estimated at $256,000,000 over last year's return; financed by processing tax of 4.2 cents per net pound.

Directed purchase from farmers of 6,000,000 pigs and sows to relieve surplus from market; to give hog growers between 18 and 20 millions in cash, and to make available 100 million pounds of pork products for needy families through government relief agencies. Compensation to farmers paid from processing tax yet to be levied.

Drawing plans now to reduce cotton acreage next year from 40 to 25 million acres, corn acreage by 20 million acres, and to curtail production of flue-cured tobacco in proportion to market needs.

Has approached complex problem of low price of milk to farmer through regional marketing agreements designed to cut cost of distribution.

In addition, Wallace has induced canners to raise prices to growers as much as 25 per cent, and has completed or has brought close to completion numerous marketing agreements for specific agricultural commodities.

He had a hand in preparation of the program for purchase of $75,000,000 worth of surplus farm commodities to be distributed among needy families—3,500,000 of them.

The Wallace-directed program has already resulted in restoration of the purchasing level of the farm dollar to a point above the mean level of 1931 and 20 points above the low level of March, 1933.

Secretary Dern

DEDICATED the final link in the Great Lakes-Gulf of Mexico waterway system, 960 miles long, when the first barge fleet from New Orleans tied up in the Chicago River.

Worked out a further decentralization of War Department administration, reducing the number of officers assigned to desk duty in Washington and eliminating unnecessary paper work.

Waged successful fight against drastic cut in number of officers and enlisted personnel of the Army, resulting in decision by President Roosevelt that present strength shall be maintained. (Don't forget that Dern was criticized as a pacifist in some quarters when he became Secretary of War.)

Has taken leading part in building up nation-wide sentiment for the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway at the earliest possible date. His support is expected to have some weight with Western senators when the St. Lawrence treaty with Canada is voted on by the Senate at the coming session.

Asked for $50,000,000 from federal construction funds to modernize and mechanize all Army equipment. Final action withheld at request of President Roosevelt, pending outcome of Geneva disarmament conference.

Supported development of inland waterways under public works program.

It is worth noting that Secretary Dern's views on government have undergone a change since he came to Washington. Regarded at the time of his selection for the Cabinet as a leading states' right Democrat, he has recently predicted that it will be necessary for the federal government to assume more and more power. "Every important economic problem has become national in scope," he asserts, adding that "Evil practices have been hidden behind the bugaboo of states' rights long enough."

Artistic Murals Painted for Pennsylvania Shelter

HIGH on opposite walls of the study of the Omega Shelter, at the University of Pennsylvania, are two unusual murals, painted by Charles Hagedon, Omega, '36, of Indianapolis. The subject of one is Robin Hood; of the other, the Hemispheres. Both were shown recently at an art exhibition in Indianapolis, and won much commendation from connoisseurs. The color scheme of the Robin Hood is keyed low, so that the painting might take its place as part of the wall it was to decorate; consequently it is composed of the dull reds and greens and orange, the warm grays and tans and wood-browns, and the grayed tones of blue and rose and violet that appear in the costumes of the twelve or more figures grouped along the seventeen-foot painting. Among the characters are Robin Hood himself, Maid Marian, the Black Knight, and, of course, jovial Friar Tuck. The background is a deep, dull blue. The second mural, also in three sections, takes the eastern and western hemispheres with their continents as a main theme, and here the colors range from vivid yellow to a deep midnight blue.

Mr. Hagedon, a member of the chapter and a student in architecture, worked a month on the murals after he had completed his design. When the painting was completed, the colors were made permanent by a glaze of clear lacquer.

A reproduction of part of one of them, as well as a picture of the young artist, appears in the Pictorial.

All-Delt Football Team Just Ahead! Write to Dee Collins

THE 1933 All-Delt football team is on the way, and will appear in the next number.

"Dee" Collins is doing it again.

Everybody ought to help, and every chapter ought to send him a list of their men who make the first team, along with the dope about how good they are.

Address him: Dudley Collins, State Highway Department, Jackson, Mississippi.

You ought to get all the information to him immediately, if you haven't done it already, as he has to get his in here by December 1st.

The "Britannica" Gets Along with a Delt as President

DID you know that E. H. Powell, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '11, treasurer of Sears, Roebuck, is also president, treasurer, and a director of the Encyclopedia Britannica?

He is.

Sears, Roebuck got a sort of strangle-hold on the Britannica in 1915, when other people in America and England owned it, but they acquired the exclusive marketing rights. In 1927 the Chicago concern bought out all the other American and British interests, and in 1929 printed the fourteenth and latest edition of the monumental work at a cost of something like $2,500,000.

The Britannica and Sears, Roebuck and "Buck" Powell. Seems sort of to humanize the formidable volumes, doesn't it?

The Parliamentarian of the House

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

THE United States lost a born diplomat when Lewis Deschler, Gamma Upsilon (Miami), '26, dropped out of the foreign service course at George Washington University to devote all his time to his job as assistant parliamentarian of the United States House of Representatives.

That was in 1927, and since then Deschler, now 28 years old, has served as parliamentarian under three speakers of the House—Nicholas Longworth, John Nance Garner, and Henry T. Rainey—to win recognition as one of the most capable parliamentary experts in the long and distinguished history of that branch of Congress, and become one of the youngest celebrities in Who's Who.

The parliamentarian of the House has the Speaker's ear more than any other man in Washington. The reason is that when the presiding officer of the House strikes a procedural snag, he leans over to the young man who stands at his elbow and inquires "What's the answer" or words to that effect.

Thereupon the parliamentarian, from memory alone, quickly tells his interrogator, whether it be the Speaker or some other member chosen to preside temporarily, just how to get around that snag, according to the rules and precedents of the House of Representatives.

Those are set down for all to read and become familiar with, but they are contained in 12 quarto volumes of about 1,000 pages each, starting in 1789, and a crack parliamentarian must be able to cite instantly what particular rule and precedent applies. And Deschler is a crack parliamentarian. You have to be to start in as a Republican and hold your job under two Democratic Speakers.

That isn't the whole of the job, by any means. The parliamentarian has charge of referring all public bills, resolutions, and joint resolutions to the proper committees, and during a typical recent Congress there were introduced 17,373 bills, 536 joint resolutions, 394 House resolutions, and 53 concurrent resolutions.

Deschler sold himself to the present House leadership at the very outset of the historical special session which began in March of this year. With the White House demanding that its economy bill to balance the federal budget be rushed through without change, even before the House had adopted its rules of procedure, the leaders found themselves in a snarl. They knew that an amendment to limit reduction in veterans' compensation and pensions to 25 per cent was to be offered, and that its proponents had the votes to pass it. And President Roosevelt absolutely would not accept that amendment.

It was Miami Lew who showed them the way out, but he sat up most of the night before solving the problem. When the leader of the veterans' bloc rose to offer his amendment after the bill had been considered, he couldn't get recognition, and the President's control over Congress was still secure. But the procedure used to win that victory hadn't been used for more than 50 years, until Deschler dug up the precedent and pointed it out to Speaker Rainey and Floor Leader Byrns.

"But it isn't always like that," cautions Deschler. "I've worked all night to get a decision ready by the time the House meets the next morning, and then had the pleasure of never seeing the anticipated point raised."

That's the way it goes in the House, where Deschler, who came to Washington to win a place in Uncle Sam's diplomatic service, and remained to use his mental agility and diplomacy in keeping the House under the thumb of its presiding officer, has a mechanic's role in holding the ship of state on its course.

It's great training, he says. And Bennett C. Clark, who rose to the United States Senate with four years experience as parliamentarian to start him off, agrees with Deschler.

Delta Alpha, at Oklahoma, Votes to Join Western Division

THE Karnea, after some discussion, left it to Delta Alpha Chapter, at Oklahoma, to decide whether it would remain in the Southern Division, where it has been since the charter was granted, or transfer to the Western.

The chapter has voted to join the Western Division.

The decision will be readily understandable, Texas being the only one of the Southern Division chapters with which Oklahoma has anything like close relations.

What is the Southern Division's loss is the Western Division's gain.

Purdue Wins Examination Plaque

GAMMA LAMBDA CHAPTER, at Purdue, won the 1932-33 plaque for the highest standing in the Fraternity examinations. The chapter's average was 98.1428.

Beta Theta, at Sewanee, averaged 99, but had only two men taking the examination. To be eligible a chapter must present a class of at least seven.

The all-chapter average was 88.9838.

A Whole Village Lent Beta Gamma for Rushing Purposes

NOT many chapters are lucky enough to have a whole built-to-order village lent them for rushing purposes. But Beta Gamma, at Wisconsin, has one.

Ike Dahle, a well known insurance underwriter of Chicago, has 160 acre tract near Madison on which he has built a complete Norwegian village. "Nissedhale," it is called, or "Little Norway." The enterprise has attracted considerable attention, being featured by newsreels and the press and having been studied by the Russell Sage Foundation and many distinguished visitors. One authority said to Mr. Dahle that it is the greatest contribution made thus far by any private citizen to the preservation of the culture of old Norway.

AROUND THE FIREPLACE

You feel a pardonable pride, no doubt, in the knowledge that once more Delta Tau Delta has set the pace for the Greek world in convention attendance figures.

It was in 1911 that Delta Tau Delta astonished Panhellenism by an attendance of approximately 1,000 at a Chicago Karnea. We have always called it 1,000; as a matter of fact it was 847, officially, but they were all Delts. Pledges were not registered; neither were members of petitioning bodies. Still prior to that Delta Tau Delta had gathered nearly 700 members at another Karnea.

This 52nd Karnea, last summer, registered 1,010 bona fide members of the Fraternity, and that in the face of conditions which had held the registration of other fraternity conventions likewise held in Chicago this summer to an outside figure of 350.

You have a right to be proud.

* * * *

But let's go on with it for a minute. Why be excited over the unprecedented registration at some particular gathering unless that unprecedented registration is indicative of something far more important than merely setting a record?

There must be a reason behind these attendances.

We would not be ungracious as regards our friends the other fraternities. We do not wish for them that their convention registrations shall continue to be less, in proportion, than ours. Several of them have memberships considerably larger than ours of 27,500, chapter lists much longer than ours of seventy-five. It would be a wonderful thing for all the Greek world if every fraternity could call forth such proportionate attendance as those of our two or three notable Karneas.

It would signify a perpetuation of alumni interest that might go far, and indeed ought to go far, towards solving some of the gravest problems of the fraternity system. At least it would mean that the alumni cared about their fraternity.

But no other fraternity has been able to attract this sort of attendance at conventions. Explain it as you like. Say, if you wish, that our notable Karneas have been in Chicago, in the midst of a section where Delta Tau Delta is especially strong numerically. Say that publicity did it. Say anything you like. None of these superficial explanations goes deep enough.

People stay away from conventions primarily because they don't care; they attend primarily because they do care.

There you have it.

And you have a right to rejoice in this additional evidence, an official registration of 1,010, an actual attendance of more than 1,100, which is nothing more or less than an outward and visible sign of the inward and spiritual grip which Delta Tau Delta has been able to exert upon her initiates.

The time is coming . . . or is it already here?

* * * *

You will observe, perhaps, in The Delta Chapters Department, some occasional discrepancy between the scholarship figures preceding the letter and the standing of the chapter as referred to in the letter.

This occurs because the official figures are furnished by the National Interfraternity Conference, and these do not always agree with local figures. Certain organizations—for example, Psi Upsilon—do not co-operate with the Conference; hence the Conference does not include Psi Upsilon in its comparisons.

Occasionally the discrepancy is frankly puzzling, as where in this number Beta Omega, at California, reports itself as 7th of 44 fraternities while the Conference reports it as 17th of 42. The 44 and 42 means that two of the fraternities at California are not members of the Conference; the discrepancy between 7th and 17th is another matter, the explanation of which is beyond us.

* * * *

Here's a little story that has a real kick to it. A freshman at a certain university wanted to pledge Delt, but the father declined to give his permission until he could make some inquiries. Accordingly he wired a responsible officer of the university and inquired what about it.

Ordinarily this particular official falls back on the advice that the freshman should wait until the end of the term. He was asked whether this reply should be sent in this case.

"Not for Delta Tau Delta," he replied.

And that used up another pledge button.

* * * *

ELLIOTT SPRATT of the St. Joseph Alumni Chapter writes that the old home town has "turned out" two prominent citizens, Owen C. Orr and Jesse James.

Mr. Orr is not sure just what that means.

NOTHING is more delightful in fraternity life than to encounter one of these people who will work like a dog and ask not even a compliment for what he has done.

There was one man on the Chicago Karnea Committee who pre-eminently comes under this classification. It is no detraction of good Charlie Axelson and all the other hard working members of committees and subcommittees that one particular man should be mentioned here. He was chairman of the Committee on Publicity, and among other things was responsible for The Karneagram, that advance sheet which shot here and there through Deltdom, was contributory to nobody knows what percentage of the glorious attendance, and through its 21,000 mailings of the last issue brought the Fraternity's Central Office files to a degree of accuracy and completeness that we have never known since the earliest days.

His name was scarcely more than mentioned at the Karnea except to small groups and, as it were, in passing. He made practically no public appearances. He was always there, attending to this, seeing to the other thing. And he asked for no recognition.

He is Francis F. Patton, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '11.

Felicitations, Mr. Patton, on a big job finely done.

* * * *

ONE of the pleasantest experiences we had at the Karnea was when three good Delts, entirely unsolicited, came up and modestly volunteered to serve as Alumni Contributing Editors for their respective chapters.

One was George Paddock, who will serve Virginia; another was Owen H. Wyandt, who will represent Hillsdale; the third was Carl Kuehnle, who will take over for Iowa.

Next?

* * * *

AND here's a story worth remembering that came out of the Karnea.

Two Delts had rather a bitter official fight some time ago. Each considered himself entirely justified.

Each believed that he was acting in the best interests of the Fraternity. A certain issue was raised, and in time the situation became acute. One accused the other of cheap politics, officiousness, disregard of authority, highhandedness, and everything that went with them. The other retaliated with accusations of unfairness, misrepresentation, unsportsmanlike tactics, more cheap politics, and all their concomitants.

These two men met at the Karnea. It was the first time they had seen each other, had anything to do with each other, since the row. Neither hesitated a minute. By tacit consent the disagreeable issue was set aside. It was not even referred to, we understand, or hinted at. The two went around arms over shoulders. Those who knew all the circumstances were surprised. But the men concerned only smiled. They were the same buddies as of old. It is hardly likely that anything will ever disturb that relationship again.

That is what we call the spirit of fraternity.

* * * *

CHARLES GRIDLEY sends us an interesting note from Washington, to the effect that the Board of Tax Appeals has ruled that contributions to fraternity chapters are deductible from income taxes as educational gifts up to 15 per cent of net income.

"With the income taxes hitting the sky," observes Mr. Gridley, "this might appeal to some of the brethren."

* * * *

WHEN Mr. L. Allen Beck got back to Denver, he found a newspaper notice to the effect that he, Harold Tharp, and Jud Crary had been elected to certain national offices in Delta Delta Delta.

Whereupon what did the mad wag do but sit down and write a letter to the editor of The Trident, the magazine of the Tri Delta Sorority, referring pleasantly to himself and the other gentlemen as newly elected officers of Tri Delta and asking what authority such officers had in the organization and what liberties such new officials might take.

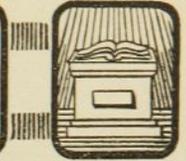

Mr. Tharp and Mr. Crary, whatever their feelings in the matter, are editorially absolved as accessories to the fact.

Yours,

—ED.

THE DELTA CHAPTERS

A ALLEGHENY

Year 1932-33: 7th of 7 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Alpha is still in the midst of a strenuous rushing season. Thus far we have pledged nine men from the freshman class, at the present time leading all other fraternities on the Hill in the number of men pledged.

Alpha is again well represented in campus activities. Jack Johnston and Harry Millikin are on the business staff of The Campus; "Duff" Weber is calling signals at halfback on the 'Gator squad; Phil Jacobus, Harry Millikin, "Norm" Dalrymple, and Bob Firman are playing in the band; John Hopkins is working as freshman football manager; Phil Jacobus, George C. Canfield, and John Brown are adding harmony to the Allegheny Singers; Ed Carney is representing Alpha on the intramural board.

"Smitty" and Bob Kaiser are members of the student senate. Jack Johnston has the following distinctions to his credit: circulation manager of The Campus; department editor of the yearbook; member of Phi Beta Phi, biology; member of History and Political Science Clubs, member of the interfraternity council; and Biology assistant.

The Delts are impatiently waiting for the initial events on the intramural program—touch football and cross country. We have high hopes of winning, with all of last year's cross country winners back with us and five freshmen with letters for high school football.

We're putting everything we have into a co-operative effort to raise the standards of Alpha.

Year 1932-33: 3rd of 12 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Pledges: Tom Fontaine, Youngstown; Karl Frye, Wooster; Reid Martin, Geneva; Kenneth McKean, Parkersburg, West Virginia; James Barrett, Bucyrus; Martin Beach, Delmar, Delaware; Ferol Betz, Mt. Lebanon, Pennsylvania; Jim Christman, Amesville; Charles Copeland, Stewart; Bill Dorsett, Chicago; Gene MacDonald, Chicago; Harlan Nelson, Delmar, Delaware; James Roach, Athens; Joseph Pyle, Beaver; Bradley Slack, Rocky River; Bob Snee, Pittsburgh; John Swenson, Munhall, Pennsylvania; Ralph Wagner, Athens; and James Whitehill, Meadville, Pennsylvania.

Beta Chapter is all set for another banner year with two of the important campus positions filled by Delts. Gene Batten has already made a good start as editor of The Athena, and Jim Powell is already making preparations for the Junior Prom, the outstanding social event of the year. Morgan and Briggs are members of Blue Key. Art Briggs is also president of "J" Club and a member of Torch, senior honorary.

Although he is only a junior, Buck Rudd is co-senior football manager. Gourley has a similar position as co-senior manager in basketball. Jim Finsterwald is now wearing his varsity track letter which he earned in his sophomore year. May, Martin, and Bob Hughes are our representatives on the football squad.

Five boys were unable to return. Tony Moore, '35, Cal Putnam, '35, and John Webster, '36, are transferring to other schools, while Al Gent, '36, and Dave Stafford, '36, are working at home. In spite of the depression, all ten of the men who graduated in June are now employed except Clifford Hughes, who is taking graduate work at Yale.

On the Saturday night of Homecoming week-end another Delt serenade is to be presented. The chapter is already preparing for this event under the leadership of Al Gardner.

A splendid financial condition enabled the chapter to purchase a large electric refrigerator during the summer. Already a great improvement in the salads and desserts has been noticed. The leading campus orchestra has been engaged for the first fall dance, which will be held at the Shelter in October.

Twenty-nine actives returned to Delta this fall and at the time of this report have just finished an intensive rushing period at the close of which seventeen men, entirely worthy of being Delt material, chose Delta Tau Delta. Bob Northway proved that he well deserved the office of rushing chairman; his work was splendidly done. In behalf of the chapter he wishes to thank the alumni, the Arch Chapter, and the many friends of the Fraternity for their unparalleled support and co-operation.

Under the leadership of "Chuck" Burgess, unprecedented fine spirit and team work prevail at the Shelter this year. Deltas are to be found active in varsity football, intramural sports, publications, dramatics, and numerous campus organizations and clubs. The pledges plan also to enter into campus activities as soon as they become acclimated.

A colorful football season is in progress at Michigan. The lathstring is on the outside and anytime during the day or night Thor will be waiting to greet the many friends and older boys of Delta Tau with his bark of welcome.

No scholastic report

The year started smoothly for Epsilon when all the members of the chapter returned before the opening of freshman week. Although we were handicapped by the small size of the chapter, we soon realized the benefits of being thus able to pull together; and our rushing efforts were rewarded with a select group of freshmen pledges. Contributing in great measure to the success of our fall rushing was the efficient co-operation of those alumni who communicated with us and visited us the opening weeks of school. We have also to thank Ed Lincoln and Wirt King, both of whom rendered invaluable aid at the rushing banquet.

Although it is too early for a recital of positive results, we have high hopes of success in campus activities. With class elections and activities appointments in the offing, we have assurance of our share and more of the rewards. Touch football is slated to begin in the immediate future, and here also we are hoping for pleasing results.

Shortly after the opening of school a formal initiation was held for five second-year men who made their marks last June.

Returning early this fall to open the house, we were most highly pleased to find, outside, a new cement porch, and, inside, refinished ceilings in the dining room and living room. These improvements were made possible through the kind efforts of Charles Loud and the House Association.

At the date of this writing we are looking forward to welcoming the alumni at Homecoming. Several assurances have been received of a large attendance; and we are set to win the parade cup, inasmuch as house decorations are banned from this year.

Social activities are not as yet under way, but we are looking ahead to many good times despite the difficulties of a curtailed financial program.

Year 1932-33: 11th of 14 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Pledges: William Schloss, Cleveland Heights; Robert Wendorf, Willoughby; James Douglas, Cleveland Heights; Howard Quiggle, Cleveland Heights; Albert Fonda, Cleveland Heights; Joe Dow, Cleveland; Morgan Gribben, East Cleveland; Frederick Bond, Cleveland Heights.

Zeta Chapter opens its fall term having pledged eight men. Bill Schloss has been elected president of his pledge class.

Our house has been completely redecorated this summer. Kesselem has worked hard and done a very nice job.

We opened our fall activities with an alumni banquet. The turn-out was so encouraging that it has been decided to continue this function on the first Monday of every month. Mr. Hopkins showed us moving pictures of some of his fishing trips. A house dance was held later in honor of our pledges. Many of our alumni also attended.

Bartels, president of the senior class and member of the Warion Society, has been elected vice-president of the student council. Tolerton and Kesselem were initiated into the Warion Society last week. Bartels is on the varsity football squad; Roy, Bob Wendorf, and Morgan Gribben are on the freshman squad. Harry Rogers and Stewart are out for the fencing team. Mezei is a debate manager, and McCoy is a member of the debating team. Clark, Haberman, and Mezei are members of the News Service Board. McCoy is also an intramural manager. Mezei is one of the sophomore Vigilantes.

During our rushing season a steak fry was held at the summer home of Sidney Wilson. The active chapter, many alumni and rushees attended.

We have been unfortunate in losing a number of our men to other schools. Whittlinger is now attending Wooster; Wade Thorley is going to Oberlin; and Robbins has gone to Case. Franklyn Whitney has been unable to return, and Scott is going to California.

Year 1932-33: 9th of 18 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

The chapter has again assembled, and this year is fortunate in losing only one active, Lynn Despard, who has secured an advertising position in Detroit. And no sooner were we all back than rushing worries overtook us, complicated by a new system; but with Giles at the helm optimism rules.

During the summer many traveled extensively, the South and West being visited by Mitman, Bacharach, Eames, Giles, and Schwacke. Giles, Schwacke, and Mallalieu attended the Karnea in Chicago with Cottington and Sigman.

Pete Petura, shipping on an oil tanker this summer, was in a skirmish with Davy Jones when the ship caught fire and all but two were saved. Gus Bacharach and Ned Sherman attended R.O.T.C. camp at Fort Meade, Maryland, and made fine records.

Early sports are occupying all, and in the intramural line there are three tennis teams, a touch football team, and a soccer team very much in the running. The football season, which has started auspiciously, finds Yount, Wright, and Bishop, the work of the latter deserving special commendation, as regulars. Giles again landed the halfback berth on the junior varsity. Clay Cochran, star of last year's intramural soccer team, is on the varsity. Bacharach and Richards are, respectively, senior and sophomore managers.

Mabon and Buckingham are junior and sophomore managers of football.

On the recent Prize Day Bob Edgar was the first ever to receive the debating award, a cup presented to the man who has done the most in advancing debating.

During the summer and since returning a partial renovation of the house has taken place, painting on both the inside and outside, improvement in the heating system, and shortly each room is to be papered. Alliss contributed an electric clock to the cause.

News of the '33 graduates shows that Hackenburg has turned miner in Ohio and that Foth is traveling with a stock company. Minich and Layng are taking advanced work, the former at Harvard Business school, the latter at Columbia.

The chapter congratulates itself on its outstanding pledge class. Not only have we picked our men according to the usual high standards, but we were also successful in pledging more men than any other fraternity.

Omicron held its usual dance for the pledges at the end of rush week. With its imported orchestra it was as distinct a success as all the more elaborate parties.

With the coming of the new school year the chapter has to meet its obligations with a much reduced budget, but with "Stew" Work juggling the figures no great difficulty is expected. A substantial increase in the scholarship average of the House over last year indicates that our plan of study supervised by a proctor was successful.

Joe Richards, blocking half on the Iowa eleven, lived up to expectations with some beautiful work that helped the team to beat Northwestern.

Reed, Jackson; Binford Spencer, Port Gibson; John Beach, Tibbee; Harrell Monger, Vicksburg; Jack Hartsfield, Oxford; Bill Richardson, Philadelphia; Herbert Reeder, Hanesville, Louisiana; David Bernard, Sioux City, Iowa.

We here at Pi are ready to begin what we feel will be one of the best years in our history. All the old men from last year returned, including Briley, who felt that he just couldn't leave us yet, and returned to take up postgraduate work. It goes without saying that we are glad to have him with us. Besides A. T. we have Ben Guider, chapter president, Blue Key man, senior honorary, president of the Law School, and good fellow; Herbie Holmes, director of the orchestra, crooner extraordinary, and the sweetest thing in school (so the ladies say); and "Red" Jacobson, sophomore football manager and member of the Cardinal Club, to represent us on the campus—not to mention the less prominent members (do something, brothers, and get your name in print).

Anderson and Coody from Delta Eta and Hawkins of Beta Theta are transfers.

It's not a good policy to give the pledges publicity (cranial-swelling in the ranks of the frosh is a nauseating condition to say the least), but we do want to mention the good work of Bill Richardson, varsity tackle, and Yates and Bernard, frosh backs, on the gridiron. Pledges Bass and Beach are taking afternoon and night courses at the girls's dormitory—they are "straight" A "men" there.

In order to ensure the continuation of our present high scholastic standing, we're instituting a night study hall for the pledges, supervised by actives. It is hoped that this will enable every pledge to make the eighty average required here for initiation. To further assist the new men we have installed a system whereby every active is directly responsible for the advising and guidance of a certain pledge.

Year 1932-33: 8th of 10 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Graduation took a heavy toll last spring when Fred Bissinger Jim Costigan, Tommy Herbst, Johnny Read, Gunnar Karlson, Ned Brister, Ted Krantz, and Charley Sorensen left us to become mechanical engineers.

Rushing and remodeling got under way before the term began and several were surprised to find the house in such good shape. Rushing has been postponed for two weeks because of the senior trip.

With the soccer season opening we have Lane Covey and John Biernake looking forward to berths on the varsity.

Pledge Darrach has been elected treasurer of the Castle Stevens Club; Dick MacHenry is one of the assistant managers of The Stute, weekly; and Bill Skea is the secretary-treasurer of the interfraternity council.

Bill Suhr, '31, dropped in the other evening and told us that he is working for the General Chemical Company

Other visitors to the Shelter recently were Willie Rea, '31, who has received his M. S. degree from Harvard and who is now with the Crowley Products Company. Johnny Rea, '33, is working in Brooklyn, N. Y., and studying at Poly Tech. Jimmy Costigan, '33, decided to go to two universities rather than be among the unemployed; so he is at Columbia in the day and Fordham Law School in the evenings.

Fritz Bissinger, '33, is an instructor in the Chemistry Department and is also taking graduate work. Eibe Deck, '30, is up in Buffalo making liquid air for the Linde Products Company.

While writing this in comes King Cole, '30, who announces that he has been studying applied physics in Germany as one of the German exchange students.

Last but not least is Pledge Decker, who is now going through an initiation. We hope that by our next letter we will be able to report that all our pledges have been initiated.

Last minute flash. Prexy Hayworth, Nick Memory, Bob Luqueer, and Bob Kenley just dropped in for the evening, and to give the house a general once-over.

PENN STATE

No scholastic report

Back to the whirl of rushing and the cold stare of books, Tau again takes the wheel which will guide us to new and even greater heights. Back in harness, filled with the desire to work and the will to win. Under the careful guidance of Pete Brandt and Ernie Kaulfass we worked during rushing season and won fourteen pledges. A distinct success.

Tommy Slusser, as captain, leads a rejuvenated Penn State football team on to what promises to be a most successful season.

Pete Brandt has shown his ability as president of the interfraternity council during the past rushing season, as has Dud Townsend, president of Blue Key. Tom Harper has established himself as an accomplished platform speaker in his capacity as president of the Athletic Association. Frank Waterman has recently won his way to the semi-final round of the all-college tennis tournament, thus assuring himself a position on the tennis team. Scott Robinson has taken over the reins as leader of a campus band with the help of Jim Minium.

Bob Kelso, Dick Brandt, Carl Miller, and John McClung are all trying for managerial positions. Carl Miller and Fred Locke are singing in the glee club. Bill Gookin is expected to make a place on the varsity fencing team.

Yes, Tau is in the thick of things and going strong. The chapter rose from 22nd to 14th among 57 fraternities in scholarship, a thing which is being actively stressed.

Our congratulations to Art Masters, '32, recently married, and to Al Daykin, '33, now touring Europe with the All-American soccer team.

Classes at the Tute started off with a bang. Twenty-five Delts were among the first to get back on the campus. Why not be back on time to shoot the gun? Did you know we have a new Shelter? Just a continuous drive of making Delta Tau ring in the ears of R.P.I.

Athletics? Well, Frank Meyer is holding down a backfield position as well as Ted Stamp. Frank is captain. In soccer Warren Collins is goalie, and Cornell made the squad.

Artie Skooglund is associate editor of The Poly, and Lou Camp, Jack Damon, and Paul Cornell are reporters.

The alumni are getting quite active. Since the close of last year we have seen Don and Steve Ferguson, Dewey Caswell, Harvey Brainard, Darrell Moore, Ernie Warnecke, Gary Buchanan, Charlie Hollister, Bill Crandall, Cliff Loucks, Sid Campbell, Doc Tarbox, Paul Owen, F. L. Wellenreiter, and Jeff Flagler. They all drop in on us once in a while. We are having a big time October 28th for the alumni to give us a real house warming.

WASHINGTON & LEE

Year 1932-33: 4th of 20 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Under the direction of Vice-President Don Wallis Phi Chapter has come through a most successful rushing season, pledging twelve new men and re-pledging three. A great deal of the success was due, as usual, to the charm of our housemother, Mrs. Kennedy.

The chapter has now settled down to the routine of classes, but is nevertheless devoting much time to outside activities, and some of the members have already brought honors to the House. The chief of these was Harry Eichelberger's election to the presidency of the senior class, by acclamation. On the eve of that came the announcement that Don Wallis, House intramural manager, had been named one of the two fraternity representatives on the intramural board. Vaughn Beale has been appointed to the finance committee of the sophomore prom, and Ben Thirkield is chairman of the dance committee.

Freshman football is claiming the attention of three of the pledges, Bob Wall, Stan Lott, and Horace Richardson, while Vaughn Beale is one of the sophomore managers of the varsity grid team. Wallace Davies and Pledge Henry Drake are both likely candidates for varsity fall track, Drake in the distance runs and Davies in broad-jumping.

Practice sessions have already started for winter sports. Allen and Beale are out for varsity wrestling; Pledges Ford and Peckham are working out with the freshman mat squad. Wallace Davies, 128-pound intramural boxing champion last year, brought his brother Gordon to school this year, and both are out for boxing.

Bill Gerber, who last year was named alternate junior manager of wrestling, has been promoted to the regular post.

When the University band marches out on the field at football games, four Delts are playing in it: Harrelson and Allen and Pledges Berger and Abrahams. Don Wallis is senior manager of the band. And when the student body cheers the team, Ben Thirkield is doing his part as a varsity cheer leader.

Wally Davies, whose fine short stories in the campus magazine won him praise last year, is now on the editorial board and is a star feature-writer for the newspaper. Don Wallis, business manager of the magazine, is being assisted by Jimmy Price as circulation manager; Beale and Pledge Lott are on the business staff. Beale is also on the business staff of the newspaper.

Three sophomores and three freshmen from the House are helping to guide the editorial department of the newspaper, with Thirkield as managing editor, Davies as feature writer, Jimmy Price and Pledges Peckham and Carpenter on the copy desk, and Pledge Abrahams on the sports staff.

Pledges Davies and J. C. Outten are both winning places on the business end of the annual; Thirkield is starting his second year on the editorial staff.

The chapter's fine representation in the dramatic club last year will be continued by Allen Harrelson, Jimmy Price, and Pledges Lott, Davies, Walls, Ford, and Carpenter. Price and Pledges M. Drake, Wells, and Ford are out for the glee club.

This year's pledge class is doing unusually well in activities, and the chapter has adopted a new plan to further relations between pledges and actives. At the suggestion of Don Wallis, Karnea delegate, the "Big Brother" plan was instituted soon after rushing week, and seems to be working.

Intramural sports are not yet under full steam, but Phi is already holding practice sessions for the football tournament. The higher number of men eligible, combined with the fine freshman class, points to a greater degree of success for Phi in the intramural race.

"Sonny" Price has been elected recording secretary, replacing Clancy Campbell, who transferred to the University of Buffalo.

Among the alumni who have visited the Shelter this fall are J. C. Carpenter, of Clifton Forge, whose son Deverton is one of the new pledges; Phil Wall of Leaksville, North Carolina, who brought his brother Bob up to the chapter to pledge; Bob Fulwiler of New York, who dropped in on the day W. & L. beat Roanoke College; and Jimmy Caskie, of Lynchburgh, one of the chapter's closest friends among the alumni.

Year 1932-33: 1st of 5 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Chi started the new year by taking seven pledges. These were entirely chosen from recommendations made by the alumni.

The chapter has a transfer this year, Grant Dwyer, Gamma Zeta.

In football we are represented by Walworth, Dhonau, Luomanen, and Swanson. MacNamee, who was slated to be the best man in the backfield, received a fractured ankle the first week of practice and will be out the entire season. Davis is the only pledge on the freshman squad. Jones is one of the student managers.

Chi has already organized for touch football. Although prospects are not particularly bright, we hope to give a good account of ourselves.

Our chapter is also well represented on the newspaper, The Collegian. Mallett is the editor, and MacNamee the business manager. There are also several associate editors from the chapter.

Work is now being done to beautify the environment of the Lodge. The lawn is being graded, and grass seed planted. All this is being done in preparation for Homecoming this weekend.

At the parting of the ways in June it seemed like centuries before the opening of the fall session of school in October. The wings of time have flown, however, and here we are all back and none the worse for our various summer sojourns. With the exception of twelve first-rate men lost by graduation, we are back without a single loss. And while it will be hard to fill the places of the twelve newly-made alumni, the present and future look very promising; so we will do our best.

Again this summer the house underwent extensive repairs and redecorating. The lounge room was completely restained and painted. New drapes were added, together with several new indirect lighting floor lamps. New lighting fixtures were installed completely on the second and third floors. A new multiple-unit bathroom in sand color tile was installed on the second floor, and a new tile shower was added to the present third floor wash-room.

Delta Tau Delta again stands in the front line of activities on the Pennsylvania campus. Dick Halorhan and Tom Dewey are the assistant managers of boxing and soccer. Chuck Hoerger is trying out as assistant manager of basketball. Stu Snyder is out for the business board of The Punch Bowl and Blue Key Society. Bill Moore is trying for a place on the editorial board of The Pennsylvanian. Herb Haupt is seeking the position of assistant manager of football. Duke Pfile is out for the boxing team and is also a member of the Travel Bureau. Bottomley, Mc Nierney, Fox, Martin, and Stein represent the House on the 150 pound football team. The House is also represented on the 150 pound crew by Bob Brod and Russ Runkles. Kip Harshaw is a member of the varsity crew squad. Gleed and Boswell are on the water polo squad.

Socially we are attempting to repeat the success we enjoyed last year. Our first dance will be on October 28th, after the Penn-Navy game. It is hoped that our annual alumni reception and supper on Thanksgiving Day, following the Penn-Cornell game, will again be held. November 25th will be a big day at Penn because of the Army-Navy game at Franklin Field—Looks like another dance!

All in all, we are looking forward to our usual successful season, financially, socially, and in campus activities. We again take this opportunity to invite visiting brothers and alumni to the house. We have quite a Shelter. Why not enjoy it?

B A INDIANA

2nd semester 1932-33: 5th of 19 fraternities (unofficial)

Pledges: John Abercrombie, Miami, Florida; Eugene Allan, Greencastle; Francis Carrel, Lebanon; Robert Comstock, Gary; Raymond Fox, Michigan City; Robert Heintzelman, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Connie Hobbs, Peru; Jerome Holman, Indianapolis; James Hoover, Dallas, Texas; Owen Jackson, Petersburg; David Johnson, Mooresville; Donald Korn, Michigan City; Thomas Miller, Princeton; Rexford Rust, Morocco; Albert Sahn, Indianapolis; Craig Smith, Canandaigua, New York; Charles Spahr, Indianapolis; Burton Teague, East Orange, New Jersey; Fred Weaver, Bloomington; and Ewell Lamar, New Orleans, Louisiana.

With the return of 21 actives and the help of three alumni, Burl Brannon, Sam Purnell, and Fred S. Purnell, '03, Beta Alpha started the year by pledging 20 men:

The house was in tip-top shape for rush. A new rug and a new piano graced the music room, while new curtains adorned all the windows. The Shelter had been scrubbed and shone like a freshman on his first date.

Five men were lost by graduation last June: Herman Brecht, Indianapolis; Wilbur Hedman, Gary; Sam Purnell, Attica; Robert Roseberry, Gary; and James Wilson, Bloomington.

Beta Alpha is well represented in the field of sports. Owen Jackson is varsity tackle, while Ray Fox and Charles Spahr are making names for themselves on the freshman team. Don Korn has started training for the basketball season. Ernest Brown will probably receive a berth on the nationally known cross country team. Robert Van Namee has been swinging a few golf sticks around. Robert Hammer, captain of last year's swimming team, is back for his last year. Robert Comstock is a candidate for the freshman swimming team. Frank Kruchten, state javelin thrower champion, has been working out daily.

In the line of intramural athletics Beta Alpha is as yet undefeated in tennis, speedball, and swimming. The golf team lost a hard fought battle for the cup. The prospects for the addition of a number of "mugs" to grace the mantel-piece are quite cheerful.

Edward Hoadley has been appointed lieutenant-colonel of the R.O.T.C. Henry Pond received the position of business manager of the yearbook, Arbutus. Connie Hobbs was elected president of the freshman law class. Don Korn is running for freshman class president. Shannon Johnson is editor of The Bored Walk, humor magazine. Philip Byron is vice-president of the Union Board. This list is but a brief cross section of the scope that Beta Alpha covers.

The social season will be ushered in November 4th with a dance in honor of the freshmen. It will be followed by the freshman dinner party on November 5th.

Richard Schug was elected to the newly made position of alumni secretary. Robert Woods was elected to the vice-president's chair left vacant by Richard Woolery, who has enrolled at Butler university.

Although there has been a decrease in enrollment of freshman men in the University Beta Beta has a very fine pledge class. The active chapter is also in good condition despite the loss of fourteen seniors and the withdrawal or transfer of several other men.

The outstanding accomplishment so far this year has been the adoption, under the direction of Ted Bergman, field secretary, of a new system of pledge training. The system, which has been increasingly used throughout the Fraternity, abolishes the paddle and substitutes a pledge organization similar to the active chapter. Powell is the freshman adviser, assisted by Sonnen-day and Kenyon. This system comes as a development of the study program used last year, in which each freshman budgeted his time for the day, rather than merely observing compulsory study each evening. The success of this plan was shown by the fact that eleven of fourteen freshmen were eligible for initiation last spring.

Bailey and Pope are candidates for the varsity football team. Bailey suffered a broken hand early in the season, but should see some competition. Nine freshmen are out for the yearling squad.

Wise and McEwen received the scholarship award given by Roy West, when both made straight "A's" last semester. Brown also won recognition for scholarship by qualifying for Phi Eta Sigma. Bailey and Spencer both were awarded Rector scholarships for the remainder of their college courses.

President McEwen has been selected by Dr. Oxnam to preside at the University vesper services this year.

Pledges: John Dyer, Boone, Iowa; Martin Koether, Detroit, Michigan; Bill Brady, Eau Claire; Paul Hibbard, Jefferson; James Trane, LaCrosse; Bob Bernard, Winchester, Massachusetts; George Hubbard, Madison; Harvey Schelphepher, Mayville; Bill Charles, Chetek; Lawrence Gardener, Athens; Milton Lutz, Milwaukee; Richard Reiersen, Madison; Russel Loesser, Middleton; John Waneless, New Richmond; Robert Schneider, Monroe.

Beta Gamma starts the season with a scholastic record that has not been equalled for a good many years by the local chapter. The House average was 1.654, and the House ranked ninth out of forty-one fraternities. We hope to better the average.

The House team for touch football has signed to enter the intramural competition again this fall. The majority of the old team is back, namely: Olson, Hausmann, Brady, Gibson, Bachhuber, Langenfeld, and Gardener. Good prospects are coming up from the freshman class. Chief among them are John Dyer and Bill Brady.

The House has a good many freshmen that are going out for basketball. Jim Trane, Paul Hibbard, and Bill Brady are all working for places on the freshman team. Both Jim and Bill are over six feet three inches tall and should make darned good guards or cinch the center position.

John Dyer, a husky boy from Boone, Iowa, is out for freshman football. Bob Bernard, an Eastern addition to the House, is out for hockey.

September 23rd marked the first social function of the year. The annual pledge dance was held. All the pledges attended and according to all reports enjoyed themselves immensely. Several prospective Deltas attended the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Hap Davies acted as chaperons.

Tom Callaway is again back at the house. Tom has enrolled in Law School. Bill Charles of Chetek, one of the pledges, has joined Tom as an embryo lawyer. Swede Olson has again returned. We are glad to see these boys back.

Bill Schlicht has again enrolled in school. Bill certainly did well last year as his first year in Law School.

Augie Backus and Bob Pease returned for rushing. Norton Klug and Milton Druse returned earlier in the week.

Beta Gamma has just completed the hardest rushing season ever known, with the pledging of fifteen men. Rushing was unduly hard this year, because of the extremely small number of men and the straitened circumstances of most of the fraternities; but Delta Tau Delta got her full quota. As the house is nearly full and we have a sizable number of pledges, we consider ourselves in the soundest financial shape since the beginning of the panic of 1929.

The beginning of the first semester finds members of Beta Gamma taking an active part in extracurricular work and intramurals. Delt distinctions this fall include one member Phi Eta Sigma, one member honorary chemistry fraternity; one member board of editors law magazine; one member golf team; sophomore football manager; one member Octopus staff; one member Cardinal Key; one member Tumas; one member Pi Tau Pi Sigma; four members Scabbard & Blade.

This letter would be incomplete without an expression of the pride that the active chapter has in the pledge class. Every pledge is buckling down to work. This group of live-wires will be of valuable assistance to Bob Mason, rushing chairman, as well. They're a bunch who'll make real Deltas—Deltas in every way.

Beta Delta opened the year with all but two actives living in the house. All the boys returned two days early in order to get the house in shape for rushing, and as a result we have secured six new pledges with three old ones back. We are deeply indebted to the National Membership Committee, which greatly aided us in rushing this year. We consider this committee one of the greatest achievements of our Fraternity in the past few years. Although rushing season is nearing an end, we anticipate getting several more good pledges.

Beta Delta will feel greatly the loss of eight outstanding actives of last year, but under the leadership of Longino, and with the co-operation of the entire chapter, we feel that we will continue to go forward.

Our Karnea delegate, Fulmer, has returned with some excellent ideas on the running of the chapter, which we expect to put immediately into practice.

Officers for the year are George Longino, president; J. L. Benton, vice-president; Talmadge Black, recording secretary; Olin Fulmer, treasurer; and Frank Bragg, corresponding secretary.

Year 1932-33: 9th of 14 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

The Century of Progress Karnea brought to a close one of the most momentous years in the history of Beta Epsilon and ushered in what bids fair to be an even greater year for the chapter.

The chapter house has been completely renovated, inside and out. The always active Mothers' Club furnished a new rug, curtains, and new coverings for the furniture.

Activities for the past year consisted of one honor man, Joe Horacek, two on honor roll, with the chapter rating consistently high among the fourteen other fraternities on the campus in the field of scholarship. Joe Horacek won the golf tournament and was a member of the boxing and tennis squads. Oscar Kelley and John Shannon were on the varsity track team, and Bill Davison won a freshman track numeral. Kelley was manager of tennis, with Murphy Holloway as assistant manager. Jones, Horacek, and Manget were on tennis squad. Bruce Burleigh won a wrestling numeral. Kelley and Shannon were on the baseball team. The chapter won the interfraternity tennis tournament.

In the field of publications Bob Peck and Holloway were on the editorial staff and Adrian Howell and Bill Harris were assistant business managers of the weekly. Peck contributes to and Holloway works on the business staff of the literary quarterly. In politics Leonard Allen was made vice-president of the junior class, and Holloway was made president of the sophomore class. Pinky Webb, chapter president, is on the student activities council. Melvin Boockholdt is on the athletic council. Allen, Tom Purdom, and Holloway participated in major debates.

In music the chapter has three assistant managers and four members of the glee club and four members and the librarian of the orchestra. Leo Lanman was elected to the Political Science Club, a high campus honor.

The chapter officers for the year 1933-4 are Joseph Webb, president; Joseph Horacek, vice-president; Leo Lanman, secretary; and Bob Peck, corresponding secretary.

As members of Beta Zeta chapter we are very pleased to present to Delta Tau Delta another national President, Harold Tharp, '11. We believe that we are the only chapter to have had the honor of having two alumni as national Presidents.

Our rush season this year was extremely successful under Larry Davis. His efforts, together with the help of several actives and alumni, gave Delta Tau Delta the choice of the Butler freshmen.

Three Deltas, Karl Sutphin, Pat Donnelly, and Ralph Simpson, are on the Butler gridiron team.

The cross country team is composed almost entirely of Deltas; Fran Doudican, Dud Hutcheson, Donn Nicewander, Perry Zahn, Al Coffin, and Harry Miller are on the squad.

Ernie Evans, Ed Humston, and Max Miller are members of Utes, sophomore honorary, Humston being secretary of the organization. Bus Davis, Tom Johnson, Perry Zahn, and Shorty Simpson are Sphinx pledges. Emsley Johnson and Harry Miller are Blue Key men.

Harry Riddell is publishing the school paper.

Emsley Johnson was elected treasurer of the senior class. He is also student director of the band, president of the student council, and a leader in the Men's Union.

Fran Doudican and Joe Taylor are in the Philosophy Club. Larry Carr was elected to the governing board of the Men's Union. Dud Hutcheson is running for the presidency of the junior class. Fran Doudican is a candidate for the presidency of the sophomores.

Freeman Gibbs was elected to the Zoology Club. He is also a member of the band. Members of the Commerce Club are Larry Carr, Joe Taylor, Fran Doudican.

Intramurals are just starting. The Delts have entered teams in golf, tennis, and football. The tennis team won its first match, 5-0, but lost the second 3-2. Our prospects for football are better than ever before.

Taft, Jr., Middletown, Connecticut; Edward P. Vreeland, Jr., Salamanca, New York.

With only six actives back and one affiliate, Beta Theta came through rush week with flying colors. Through the most capable leadership of Stiles Lines, the full co-operation of the chapter clicking together in unity, and the splendid help of alumni, thirteen good men were pledged on Pledge Sunday, October 1st. We are also proud to add that this number exceeds that of any other pledge class on the Mountain.

Two informal dances for rushees and other gatherings have already been given in the Shelter since the opening of school. Belford was made supervisor of the first dance; Mueller had charge of the second, with the decoration committee doing its bit. All these affairs were highly successful.

We have lost three good men: George Dunlap, June graduate; Carlisle Ames; and Paul Ziegler, president-elect. Ames will attend Kentucky; Ziegler is at Northwestern.

Belford was very recently elected vice-president of the University Choir.

Lines is associate editor of The Sewanee Purple, weekly; Belford is student business manager.

The chapter has added another article to the Shelter, this time a radio-phonograph combination. The pool table has been re-covered, and new card tables have been purchased.

We shall have four Gownsmen this year: Sears, Lines, Belford, and Probasco, pledge.

The prospects of our pledge class are excellent. They come with good scholarship indications and are interested in a variety of athletics and other activities. Britton Tabor, sophomore pledge, is a member of Neograph, writing society.

We have had the pleasure of several visits. George Dunlap, '33, dropped in for a few days after a summer abroad; Jimmie Shropshire, vice-president of the Southern Division, was at hand to welcome the new pledges on Pledge Sunday and make a speech for us; William Blackshear, Gamma Iota, '18, stopped in for a night on his way to Texas University; and Frank Robbins, Beta Tau, '32, paid us a first-Sunday visit.

We were unfortunate last year in losing six men; so we had to start in school this year with a rather minimized chapter. In spite of our small number we were exceedingly happy to pledge twelve new men.

This is too early in the year to list individual activities in detail, but we have among our old members quite a few men who will figure prominently in almost all the school activities. We are particularly pleased to report Toby Moore's recent appointment as manager of boxing. Jack Maury is showing some sterling playing at tackle on the football team, and is headed for a sure letter. Gerald Costello and Bill Watling are cinches for the first year team.

We are glad to have back with us Stuart Chinn, who dropped out of school last year. Bob Adams from the Phi Chapter is affiliating with us, and we are glad to welcome him.

Year 1932-33: 3rd of 29 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Fall quarter has started with more than the proverbial bang. At the end of a hectic rush week Delta Tau Delta was proud to announce its list of nineteen pledges. The boys are eager and already have a large share of that well known Delt spirit.

Plans for the complete remodeling of our present house are progressing rapidly under the direction of the alumni committee, headed by Col. Van Cise. The actives are also working hard for this project, but the major part of the credit must be given to the alumni, who have devoted much time and effort in our behalf.

Bob Gilbert, who is president of the interfraternity council, is managing one of the political parties in the coming election. Tommy Turner is this party's candidate for junior class president, and Ken Penfold has been nominated for freshman vice-president.

As usual, fall quarter is crowded with activities, football, naturally, garnering the most attention. Boyd Bailey is looking plenty good as a varsity tackle. Ken Penfold and Bob Garlick are among the most promising prospects out for freshman football.

Basketball practice has started early. Bob Gilbert, who unfortunately was ineligible for football, is devoting his time to basketball. Howard Baker is playing forward again. Billy Burr, Cecil Reed, and Dick Klein are freshmen who are working hard to win places in this sport.

Pinky Holmes, after a year's absence, is back and is varsity basketball manager. Tom Dodd, Harrison Hawthorne, and Jack McAuliffe are freshman managers.

Dick Klein is advertising manager of the campus humorous publication. Chuck Blessing is editor of the Engineering magazine, and Carl Wiedner is on his staff.

Our possibilities in intramural sports are unusually good. If we don't drag down a cup this year in touchball or volleyball, it won't be due to lack of effort.

All in all, with the activities receiving due attention, and remodeling of the house causing commotion, it will keep Louis Quam busy helping us to maintain the splendid scholastic record we made last year.

All the brothers returned to the Shelter a few days prior to the opening of rushing season to help get the house in order and to attend a banquet which was held in the Hotel Bethlehem. A number of us attended the Karnea at the World's Fair in Chicago, and we all agree it was a great convention.

The chapter wishes to thank the alumni committee for their extensive work and contributions, which enabled the chapter to redecorate the house.

A pledge class of nine men was the result of the concentrated efforts of a number of alumni and the active chapter under the leadership of Richard E. McLeod and William H. MacDonald, rushing chairman. The chapter is appreciative of the help rendered by the alumni and the Arch Chapter. Also to be noted is the aid given by The Rainbow, whose compiling of the splendid records issued in September number was a great aid.

After a successful rushing season Beta Lambda is getting organized in order to uphold her scholastic standing and to amass extra-curricular activities.

Dick McLeod is showing the way by his numerous activities. Dick is president of the Shelter, president of the interfraternity council, president and costume manager of the M & C Club, and a member of O. D. K.

Paul Preston maintained a three-point standing last year and was out for football. This year he is playing varsity tackle and has proved himself stalwart on both offense and defense.

Tommy Tate is working hard in his newly acquired position as assistant manager of football.

John Barker is an aspirant for the freshman football team.

Bob Custer and Charlie Mapes are attempting to gain positions on Lehigh's soccer team. Bob is out for the position of goalie, and Charlie is playing fullback.

Jack Jacobs is busy managing the cross country team. He is also the business manager of the M & C Club.

Dick Lake is representing the freshmen on the tennis courts.

Bill Macdonald is the new national advertising manager for The Brown & White. Bob Farnham is on the editorial staff, and Bill Crane, Lew Black, and Charlie Mapes are on the business staff. The freshmen are represented by Ed McNair and George Podyen in the business department.

Bob Farnham and Ed Williams are co-playwrights of the next M & C Club production; while Lew Black and Charlie Mapes are on the business staff. The chapter is proud of the fact that twenty-five per cent of the members of the M & C Club are Deltas.

Lew Black is the new business manager of the freshman handbook.

Bud Loux and Doug Gray are taking pre-season workouts for the wrestling team. Last year Doug won his freshman numerals in this sport, and Bud was the varsity substitute heavyweight wrestler. Earle Stone is also taking early workouts and hopes to be on the freshman wrestling team.

The opening of our football season brought out Lehigh's band, which is reputed to be one of the best in the East. In this noble organization we find Wiegel and Lawton.

Riviere and Klippert came back during rushing season and wished us luck in our rushing campaign.

Dow and Riviere are now in the insurance business.

House party is already being planned for and will probably be the week-end of the Muhlenberg game.

Doc Bullard visited us during rushing season. His assistance was greatly appreciated.

Whitey, Mrs. Carlson, and son Dick visited the chapter after Lehigh's game with Drexel.

During the spring term we succeeded in rising seven places on the fraternity scholarship list, and we have our eye on a place in the first ten for this term. There was only one other house whose increase in rating surpassed our own.

Several of the brothers took summer courses at the Institute, the mining camp, or the surveying camp. Brad Hooper, chapter president, labored in a New Jersey mine, while Bill Mills and Nelson Thorp inhaled down-east air at the surveying camp in Maine. Bill was co-general manager, and Nelson Thorp the business manager of the camp yearbook, The Benchmark.

The hottest September in sixty-two years—and rush week! A fine combination, but the brothers of Beta Xi paid no attention to the heat and came away from the mountains, the sea shore, and summer homes to jump right into active rushing.

The season opened for Beta Xi with a house party at a nearby resort. The party was a success from every angle, and especially from the standpoint of rushing. We were entertained by Brother Gebert, an alumnus of Beta Xi, at his summer home, a few miles from our house party.

Our next function was a banquet held at the New Orleans Country Club. Among the high-lights of this banquet were speeches made by T. Fitzhugh Wilson, vice-president of the Southern Division, and J. Hugh Rapp. Some of the prominent alumni present were Burt Henry, toastmaster; C. Robert Churchill, founder of Beta Xi Chapter; Emil Naef, president of the New Orleans Alumni Association; Ivy Kittredge, a prominent attorney; Reginald H. Carter, federal judge; and Charles F. Buck. Some of the comedy of the banquet was furnished by Jimmie Morrison, who impersonated Louisiana's "Crawfish" Senator in the famous "Battle of Long Island."

The dance, on the Thursday following, was one of the most successful rushing dances ever held at Beta Xi. The dansant the following Sunday was fully the equal of the previous dance. We were honored at our pledge night ceremonies by the presence of several alumni, among whom were Pierce Butler, dean of Newcomb College, Charles F. Buck, Ivy Kittredge, Caswell Ellis, T. F. Wilson, and Dr. Emil Naef.

During the summer the chapter had the entire lower floor redecorated. The Mothers' Club aided us by donating two fine rugs and some furniture. As a result the appearance of the Shelter has been improved greatly.

Beta Xi was well represented at the Karnea in Chicago, with Wilson, O'Connor, Thorn, and Moore present. It is our sincere hope that these men will instill some of the fine ideas that they undoubtedly received into those of us who were unable to attend.

Beta Omicron started the year out with 25 actives and two pledges to make rushing a success. Rushing this year turned out very well for us, through the untiring efforts of George Warren, our rushing chairman, and the fine co-operation of the chapter. The interfraternity council instituted a new system of rushing this year, and most of the houses on the Hill have suffered because of it. The Delts came out ahead with eleven pledges and a few more men who are merely awaiting fateful letters from home.

Some new furniture greeted us on our return to brighten up the Lodge a bit. Thanks to the work of the house manager and a few of the boys, the inside of the house was repainted and the lawn was put in tiptop shape.

This year we have a few more Delts from other campuses who are pursuing the scholastic laurel here. Russ Hinckley from Gamma Zeta is still working for his Ph.D. in these parts. "Van" Vanderbeck and George Lumbard from Nu are back this year. Bud Stevens from Tau is also seen around here quite a bit. Stewart McDermid from Epsilon, and "Buck" Moser from Gamma Zeta are here working for an LL.D.

Our treasurer, Bill Pierce, found himself a good job this summer, and consequently we were without a treasurer at first. Ed Kauzmann was elected to fill the vacancy, and Phil Somervell was elected to the house managership. Everything is all straightened out now.

Many of the fellows here have started out in their activities. Freddy Meiss is the center on the second team for the Big Red, and we expect him to nose out his rival centers any day now. Bob Blum and Johnny Greene are out for varsity crew. Bob rowed with the junior varsity last year and is trying hard to assure himself a place on the big crew, and Johnny shows plenty of promise of being up there too. Bill Kellogg, stroke of the 150 pound crew last year until injuries took him out of it, will soon be working in the shells again. Wrestling practice will soon start for Charlie Shoemaker and Bourke Weigel, letter men of previous seasons. Fred Sorensen and George Weigel are working on the track squad. Fred is No. 1 pole vaulter. "Big" Goulard and George Warren are getting together on our tennis court in preparation for entering the University tournament. Two of our pledges are out for football, and one is out for soccer, while three others will be working on publication competitions soon.

Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Donald Valentine, Chicago; James Givler, Naperville; Arthur Turner, Jr., Evanston; Fred Lavery, Jr., Chicago; George Bradt, York Harbor, Maine; Bronson Gridley, Chicago; William Peterson, Jr., Chicago.

This list of twenty-six pledges is the second largest in the history of Beta Pi. And, more important than that, it is one of the finest. We feel proud of it, and justifiably so, considering the rigors of the toughest rushing season ever witnessed on the Northwestern campus. Through this letter the chapter wishes to voice its appreciation of the co-operation extended by the alumni.

The class of '37 are already demonstrating their capabilities. Flanigan, Warnock, Kintz, and Spears have secured positions for themselves on the freshman football team. Hyink, Gonya, and Peterson, sophomores, are slated for varsity berths. Turner is tuning up in fall baseball practice. Shannon is on The Syllabus staff, and Givler is a staff member of The Daily Northwestern. All this with the semester but two weeks old!

Of the active chapter, three football players have made the first team. Hugh Duvall plays fullback; "Eggs" Manske is holding down an end position for his third consecutive year; and Paul Tangora, a sophomore, is firmly entrenched as a guard.

In the publications field Frank Neunuebel is associate advertising manager of The Purple Parrot, and Don Valentine, holdover pledge, is circulation manager of that magazine. Mead Schenck is campus editor of The Daily Northwestern, and Cam Hitchcock has been appointed night editor. In addition to these, every activity of importance on the campus has a representative in the Delt house.

Jerry Behler has been elected the new steward to take the place of Fred Kunkel, who was forced to leave school. Dan Neville was elected to the post of guide, replacing Paul Wilde, who has transferred to Arizona for his health. Hector Hill was elected to recording secretary, taking Jerry Behler's place.

Beta Pi has adopted the preceptor system. Bob Flanigan, Illinois, '32, has assumed that role. He supervises the freshman study table and acts as their adviser. Paul Ziegler has transferred to Northwestern from Sewanee for his senior year.

Let this letter serve as an invitation to the alumni to visit the Shelter. We'd like to see more of you more of the time. Drop around, meet the new pledges, sleep in the new beds (inner spring mattresses!), tune in on the new radio, see the new bridge room furniture, observe the redecorations. Any Monday night is an ideal time.

Sheldon Bronstein, Ray Lewis, Bill Feiling, and Fred Maggiora are all out for football and doing well.

Gus Meier, captain of the Stanford track team and member of the All-American track team, and Bob Fast are holding down the cinder path honors for the Deltas.

Pierce McDowell, Paul de Silva, and Tom Boothe are up in the money on the swimming and water polo teams.

In the aristocratic game of polo we have Sam Barclay and Johnny Coffin batting the pellet between the goal posts.

Ollie Johnston is a junior football manager with high hopes. He is also a copy editor on The Stanford Daily and spends the rest of his time thinking up very funny gags for The Chaparral humor magazine.

Bob Dearborn, our very hard working rushing chairman, also finds time to occupy a spot on the Rally Committee.

Pledges: John Howell, Omaha, brother of the famous "Blue" Howell; Paul Morrison, Scottsbluff; Harry Wright, Scottsbluff; Bob Ray, Lincoln; Bob Eby, Omaha; Slim Becker, Plattsmouth; Henry Barbour, Hardington; Art Burdick, Eagle; Vernon Groves, Fort Morgan, Colorado; Victor Werner, Deshler; Lumir Bocek, Wilber; Kenneth McGinnis, Ord; Jess McGinley, Ogallala; Phil Naviaux, Lexington; John Cary, Lincoln; Jim Burke, Lincoln.

Howell, Morrison, Wright, Eby, Ray, and Burke are out for freshman football; Herb Gardener is one of the "B" team candidates. On the varsity squad Beta Tau is represented by George Sauer, Gail O'Brien, Elmer Hubka, Bud Parsons, and Jim Heldt.

We received a goodly share of the appointments in advanced drill: Max Von Bergen is the lieutenant colonel; Prucka is the major of the First Battalion; Neil Hall is adjutant of the Provisional Battalion; Han Hall, Les Palmer, and Emmett Morava are second lieutenants.

Kotouc and Sauer are this year's Innocents, senior honorary; Prucka, president of Bizad Executive Council; Ray Elliott, editor of The Biad News; Heldt, sophomore member of the publication board; Rimerman, sophomore football manager; and Morava, yell leader.

Sauer and O'Brien are playing at fullback and tackle, respectively. They will help lead Nebraska to another Big Six football championship in closing their careers on the gridiron.

The Squab Scramble was given September 30th, and was declared one of the best fall house parties of the season. At the Squab Banquet the 1933 Freshman Honor Key was presented to Ben Rimerman. Rimerman is the new Corncob pledge, and Morava is vice-president of the Corncobs.

Norman Prucka is the new president and Jim Heldt the vice-president, through the fact that Red Rosen is not in school.

We are after a bigger and better year for Beta Tau.

Pledges: Richard Thacker, Waukegan; William Sherman, Waukegan; William Dower, Chicago; Bill Gardner, Chicago; Hodge Taylor, Chicago; Edward Peeples, Chicago; Fred Faletti, Spring Valley; Charles Roberts, Evanston; John Theodore, Spring Valley; Edward Wilkaitis, Spring Valley; Charles Murray, Peoria; Charles Farris, Brazil, Indiana; James Johnson, Lincoln; Joe Ponder, Champaign; Scotty Brubaker, Champaign; Al Nulliken, Champaign; John Coyner, Chicago; James Parker, Maroa; Arnold Cagan, Champaign; Ames Smithers, Wilmette; Frank Brown, Chicago.

Three transfers are now living in the house: Richard Creighton, from George Washington; Henry Neiger, from Iowa; and C. Eugene Manning, from Kansas.

There has been a decided improvement in the scholastic average of the chapter during the past semester. Led by Bud Small, our new praeceptor, a serious effort is being made to improve this. Two men's names were placed on the scholarship placque which was placed in our library last year: Bob Garrard, for the highest average for the year, and George Hewitt, for the greatest improvement.

Delts and Delt pledges are now to be found in every activity. Our pledge class was represented in the freshman-varsity football game by three members of the freshman backfield. The three of them, Eddie Wilkaitis, Freddie Faletti, and John Theodore, all from Spring Valley, have been doing big things. Eddie Wilkaitis, who has been giving the varsity plenty of trouble with his passing and open field running, sustained an injury to his knee which will keep him out for the rest of the season. You will hear plenty about him next year, however. Red Gragg is starting his second year as tackle for the varsity. His play is one of the strong points of the Illini line.

Pledges: Frank Brown, fencing, rifle; Scotty Brubaker, Illinois Union; John Coyner, politics, Illinois Union; Brad Gardiner, Illini editorial; Jim Johnson, baseball, football; Al Mulliken, swimming, Illinois Union, politics; Chuck Murray, star course; Ed Peeples, Illini business staff; Joe Ponder, spring football, basketball; Charles Roberts, soccer, Illini editorial; Dick Thacker, band, Illini business staff; Hodge Taylor, Illio editorial; Bill Sherman, Illio business staff.

Actives: Geo. Adis, sophomore baseball manager; Howie Blue, Union Board, politics, campus leader; Doc Coogan, baseball; Tom Gately, Illio business staff, politics; Henry Neiger, Union Homecoming Committee; Norm Stephens, football; Bud Small, golf; Austin Smithers, football manager; Ted Liese, polo, politics.

Our house has been completely rejuvenated and redecorated. It represents our strong alumni backing. We are coming through this year to show our appreciation.

B Φ OHIO STATE

Year 1932-33: 3rd of 43 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Pledges: Robert Benninghofen, William Andrews, Hamilton; Charles Oberlin, William Diemer, Toledo; Harry Simons, Cleveland; Fred Irvine, Dayton; William Calland, Barberton; James Kurtz, Miamisburg; John Barrett, Chillicothe; John Winter, Frank Leonard, Robert Tesier, Rolland McCreary, Columbus.

Pinnell, Jones, P. Haywood, and R. Haywood from Gamma Upsilon, and Hird from Beta Psi are attending Ohio State this Fall and are living at the Shelter.

Phillips and Vidis represent us on the gridiron. Ebersold is keeping things under control in the field of activities and politics.

Beta Phi has a new praeceptor in the person of Robert L. Spurrier, a graduate student in the College of Commerce. He is a worthy successor to one of the outstanding praeceptors on the campus last year, John N. Hart. John at the present time has a position with the Tax Commission of Ohio. As a bit of information for those not on the "In," John will be married next month. She is a Kappa from Ohio State.

While we are throwing bouquets, a rose to Abbott, a graduate of the chapter last year, who has obtained a job in the Securities Department of the Ohio National Bank at Columbus.

As a fitting close, nothing could serve as well as mention of the banquet held at Chase Tavern in honor of the new pledges. It was a stupendous affair, at which almost 150 actives, alumni, and pledges ate gloriously and listened to a few words from Brother Weygandt, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, and our own chapter adviser, Judge Harry L. Scarlett, of the Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Just a word of appreciation to the alumni who gave generously of their time and effort during Rush Week—E. Walters, L. Walters, Beaman, Johnson, J. Campbell, and others.

ROBERT E. GIBBS

B X BROWN

Year 1932-33: 15th of 19 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Beta Chi is very pleased to announce that not a single member failed to return to the Shelter this fall and that only one pledge fell by the wayside. The vacation did wonders for us all physically. Tony Giovino is well again and looks better than ever. We are exceptionally pleased that the 1933 Karnea removed us from probation.

Joe Buonanno, our flashy football captain and quarterback, is already to burn up the gridiron. Joe should be one of the best quarterbacks in the East this fall. He is brainy, capable, elusive, and fast above all. Jack Raymond is also out with the squad. As usual, the Delt-controlled cheering squad will urge them on. Frank, Dan, and Roy are a triumvirate that will make themselves heard on several football fields this fall.

Our immediate plans call for an intensive rushing drive. A committee consisting of Jack Piggott, Mason Dunn, Charlie Eberstadt, Tony Giovino, and Bill Bancroft has been appointed to take charge of rushing. Each of these men is the head of rushing in a separate dormitory. The rest of us visit the dorms when the committee asks us. We have arranged several rushing parties—some with and some without orchestras. This coming week-end we are throwing a party in Rehoboth, Massachusetts, to which about thirty freshmen have been invited. Plans call for another batch of about thirty in a short time. Of these sixty we will then intensively rush twenty or so. Many on our lists look great. We hope they are. Above all things we want scholars this fall. If we can find some good athletes that are also good scholars, those are the men we are going to get.

We have nearly completed our calendar of social events for the coming months. It will include at least three formal dances and probably a half-dozen tea dances. We expect to have Al Rosen's orchestra at some of these.

By the way, all of us concede that Jack Piggott knows how to pick out the prettiest femmes. Kate certainly has made a stir around this old Shelter.

One of the improvements to be made on the house is an automatic stoker. Even heat and comfort are assured us this winter. It is also claimed that our fuel bill will be smaller.

WALTER D. HARRIS

B Ψ WABASH

Year 1932-33: 4th of 9 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

This year Beta Psi was very fortunate in having every man in the active chapter, with one exception, back in the fold. To add to this a fine class of nine pledges assured us of a full house. During our rush week we were ably assisted by Harry Green.

At the present time football seems to be the center of interest for Beta Psi athletes. "Thug" Reinert, mainstay of the team last year, is leading the way by playing regularly at guard; Frasor, Meyers, and Dwyer are also on the squad.

Bob Dwyer is vice-president of the sophomore class, and was recently sports editor on the News Bureau staff.

The entire chapter is eagerly waiting the coming of October 14th, when our annual pledge dance is to be held. All the necessary arrangements have been made by our social chairman, Freddy Appel, and the success of the dance is assured.

November 18th, too, will go down in the annals of the chapter as having been a very important date; the dual events scheduled are the Homecoming game with De Pauw and an appropriate celebration of the 60th anniversary of Beta Psi Chapter. The return of many friends and alumni is anticipated.

Brandt Downey and Hugh Shields spent one day with the chapter and aided us with many constructive suggestions.

Shortly after the closing of school last spring Perry Reynolds announced his marriage. Perry is now studying medicine at Indiana. The men from the graduating class of last year are now engaged in a variety of occupations. Bob Harman of "Saratomy" is teaching school; Jim Bales is working in the garage business, while John Yeager is taking graduate work at Pennsylvania.

HAROLD A. ROMBERG

B Ω CALIFORNIA

Year 1932-33: 17th of 42 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

This year several improvements make the Berkeley Delt house an even better place to live in. First, we have a new cook, or I should say two new cooks. Then house bills have been lowered, in defiance of the NRA and all the rest of it. They have nothing to kick about, anyway; we certainly don't hoard our money. And last, but not least, our pledge class is bigger and better than ever. However, we don't intend to settle back and spend the rest of the year congratulating ourselves. The quickest way to get to the top and the safest way to stay there is to keep yourself thinking that you've a long way to go to get up there, but we can be proud—temporarily at least.

The fact that our scholarship status this year was seventh of 44 national fraternities speaks for itself.

Our president and vice-president, Leo Battaglin and "Red" Christie, were initiated into Skull & Keys, the leading campus activities society. Three of our men have won managerial appointments and will take over junior duties. They are Jim Geiger, baseball; Bob Evans, crew; and Dick Peterson, football. Howard Inman, one of our new pledges, is working under Dick as a sophomore manager.

This letter, most naturally, will devote itself chiefly to that great American game, football. Since we have a number of men in that sport we are justly proud of them. Last year we had the center on the all-Delt team. This year we have two of them. What are you going to do about it? If you put either of them on that first eleven and omit the other you will make a mistake. Last season "Red" Christie got national recognition and he's just as good as ever. Last Saturday Russ Calkins turned in a performance that any one of 60,000 people will say had "All-American" stamped all over it. Then Arleigh Williams proved that he is still Bill Ingram's best ball carrier. Leo Battaglin moved quietly up from last year's goof squad to start the season as first string guard on the varsity. Just now Leo is out with injuries, but he'll soon be back stronger than ever. The last man on the varsity squad is one of our new pledges, Ritchie Hay.

He's an end that measures an odd six feet five inches. Ritchie lacks experience, but he's got everything else it takes to make a football player. On the Ramblers, the new junior varsity, Bill Smith is doing a good job as fullback. Bill Herbert has been doing the quarterbacking, but at present is out with a shoulder ailment. On the freshman team Bill Kirkman represents us. Instead of coming right out and saying he's good, we'll be subtle and tell you that the frosh attack is built around Bill.

In the other sports several of the boys are working to condition themselves for the regular spring seasons. Bob Hunter is working hard to get in good shape for the classy Coast competition in the pole-vault. Lynn Wright is at present running with the cross country team. "Gus" Shubert, the Oklahoma wildcat, is keeping his eye in shape for basketball. Gus has lots of possibilities.

In 1932 it was Ed Salisbury, stroke of world championship crew; in 1936 it may be either or both of two Delt pledges. They are Bill Hewitt and Gault Davis. Both are over six feet and have the ideal builds for oarsmen. We've had at least one man in each of the last two world champion crews; we can't destroy our average now.

The semester is already almost half over. We are putting more steam than ever on scholastic excellence. Several social affairs have already been recorded as successes. We started the semester with a dance to honor our new pledges; we have had one of our regular monthly alumni dinners; and on October 7th the Mothers' Club gave a buffet supper at the house. The affair was a success, and we are proud of our mothers and the work they did. Coming social events are almost too numerous to mention. The most important among them will be our fall formal, the chapter stag dinner, and the semi-annual German picnic with the Stanford Delts.

With emphasis on studies, rushing, and activities we have started another drive to put ourselves on the so-called campus map. All these things are equally important. In the first item we all must, and are co-operating. The second and third we are going to combine. As a reward to those who are putting most of their time on outside activities, the rest of us are putting as much of our time as possible on rushing. Ed Clark has been made rushing chairman. His two assistants are Bob Gilmore and Dick Peterson, both former rush captains. This system of getting ahead isn't foolproof, but at least it's constructive, and we're going to make it work.

Harry Espenscheid and Sam McCray are members of Cabin & Trail, honorary society of the Dartmouth Outing Club. Harry is also vice-president of the Canoe Club.

Ed Thomas is secretary of Zeta Alpha Phi, scientific, and Charles Brown is student manager of the Forensic Union.

Plans for fall house party, scheduled for the week-end of the Cornell game, are under way. George Green and Jack O'Brien are in charge.

The activities of the pledges cover a varied field of activities including The Daily Dartmouth, The Pictorial, The Aegis, soccer, swimming, tennis, track, gym team, the Players, the Outing Club, the German Club, the Canoe Club, and debate.

Russ Chase, '15, and Bob Simons, '29, were here for the Norwich game. Pat O'Brien, '30, visited the house for several days. Don Simpson, '32, has been working in Hanover, and Murray Austin, '15, is living across the river in Norwich, Vermont.

Pledges: Bruce Embrey, Fairmont; James Collins, Fairmont; Lucien Strawn, Morgantown; Charles Case, Morgantown; Page Miller, McMecken; Abe Mayberry, Warren, Ohio; William Waltz, Morgantown; Paul Schimmel, Fairmont; Carl Jacobson, Morgantown; Louis Reiser, Toledo, Ohio; Clyde Deffenderfer, Logan; Earnest Agee, Logan; Ray Tuckwiller, Fairmont; Berk Lynch, Clarksburg; William Vinson, Huntington; Raymond Michaels, Fairmont; John Buckley, Charleston; Robert Gibson, Kingwood; Richard Patton, Bridgeport; Robert Baldinger, Glendale; George Morgan, Mannington; Judy Henderson, Parkersburg.

Gamma Delta has just closed a very successful rushing season. Fresh from the Pittsburgh Conference and the Karnea, we set out to put all of our valuable ideas into use. Our Shelter glistening with new paint and looking both inside and out much as it did four years ago, we felt rightfully proud in the possession of the most attractive house on the campus. That Delt atmosphere of congeniality was made even more noticeable by the presence of our charming and very lovely housemother, Mrs. Graham. On Friday night rushees were all taken to a Delt dance in Fairmont, where the necessary companion was awaiting each one. Thanks to W. S. Johns, who granted us the use of his cottage again, the rushees were treated to a Sunday breakfast at Cheat Lake, plus boat rides, aquaplaning, and a hike to Cooper's Rocks. Our rushing program ended that night with a smoker at the Shelter. We are justly proud of each and every one of our new preps, and the active chapter wants to thank Al Stewart, rushing chairman, for his consistent work, and the alumni who so willingly co-operated with us in sending recommendations.

The first news of Gamma Delta about the campus has been pleasant to the ears. For one fraternity to secure cadet colonel and three captains in the R.O.T.C. unit is unprecedented. Gibby Henderson is the colonel, and Al Stewart, Johnie Kizer, and Roge Scott are the captains. Another treat is our two managers for the year—Charley Eskey, wrestling, and Bill Baker, basketball. Charley Hoult is a member of the Law Honor Court for the year; Al Stewart, president of the junior class, and Roge Scott, student representative on the Social Committee. The presidencies of a goodly number of campus and scholastic honoraries have come our way.

Year 1932-33: 20th of 24 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Pledges: Roy Adams, Dolgeville, New York; Walt Beinhart, Bill McLaughlin, Cincinnati, Ohio; George Blackmore, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Roy Coppedge, Jackson Heights, Long Island; Ed Doyle, Flushing, Long Island; Si Duffin, Worcester, Massachusetts; Bob Ervin, Brookline, Massachusetts; Dean Gidney, Ridgewood, New Jersey; John Greenwood, West Hartford, Connecticut; Bud Horn, Staten Island, New York; Walker Lewis, Middletown, Ohio; Ferris Mack, Freeport, New York; Walt Malby, Ogdensburg, New York; John Mallory, Douglastown, Long Island; Ross Martindale, Glen Ridge, New Jersey; Dan McEndy, Linwood, Massachusetts; Ernest Mechlin, Washington, D. C.; Doug Miller, Port Chester, New York; Dunc Newell, Concord; Thomas Parker, Brookline, Massachusetts; Bob Pumphrey, Montclair, New Jersey; Dave Sanderson, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Joe Schaeffer, Dayton, Ohio; Wis Williams, New York City.

The rushing season came to a successful close with 25 pledges to our credit, a delegation ranking among the best on the campus. Informal initiation, under the direction of Ernie Hedler, has been scheduled for the weekend of October 21st. Formal initiation and banquet will follow soon after.

The interfraternity touch football team for the House has been organized, and we are represented in the fall tennis contests by Joe Knap and Roy Coppedge.

Soccer seems to claim the athletic spotlight in the House. Bob Allabough, varsity letter man, is back, and Bill Hands, Art Flinner, and Pledges Lewis, Gidney, Mallory, and Mack are out for the team. Bud Hulett is on the varsity football squad.

Bill Hands is editor-in-chief of the freshman yearbook; Bob Allabough is on the news board of The Dartmouth; Charlie Steffey and Bud Hulett are members of the staff of The Jack o'Lantern, humor publication; Al Brown is a staff member of the yearbook, The Aegis; John Wallace is out for The Dartmouth Pictorial.

Al Brown, Ken Keeley, and Rode Hale are members of the varsity glee club.

Charley Eskey has been sleeping with the dorsal side up recently, but that is understandable when we know that he has just been pledged to Fi Bettar Cappar, mock fraternity. Gene Wright is also pledged, but he gets most of his bruises as center on the varsity squad.

Our preps have wasted no time in starting. Lou Reiser is out for football manager, and Abe Mayberry and Buck Schimmel are contesting for places on the freshman squad. Charley Case is to be in two plays, and the band is crowded with actives and pledges both.

A buffet luncheon was served at the house before the Pitt game. We were honored in having Norman MacLeod and a group from Gamma Sigma with us. There was quite a happy gathering of the "old boys"—"Bo-Bo" MacLure, George Griffith, Wiley Garrett, Edgar Stewart, Harry Watkins, Paul Bottome, Harold Sargeant, Berne Scott, and John Hoge. "Brather" Miller, our loyal chapter adviser, is recovering from his serious illness and will be back with us soon.

With only three of last year's group failing to return, and one back who was not with us last year, we hope to weld our chapter into a closer and more harmonious group internally, and externally to strengthen an already strong position on the West Virginia campus.

Year 1932-33: 2nd of 10 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Gamma Zeta started early on her rushing plans, and came out at the end of the hectic week of rushing with twelve of the best men in the freshman class. At the same time the sophomore delegation was bolstered by the pledging of two additional men.

Another pleasant bit of news is that seven of last year's graduating delegation of eight have obtained jobs or fellowships.

With football being the activity of the moment, the Delts are supplying a large part of the material for the Wesleyan ball toters. There are three tackles, Dick Overton, Johnny Erskine, and Johnny Cranston. Dee Burr is out for center. Bob Croot, Dee Coultas, and Bob Schneider are trying for positions in the backfield. Croot, however, fractured his arm during pre-season practice, and it is doubtful if he will be able to play this year. Overton is a letter man from last year's team, and Erskine, Cranston, Croot, and Coultas are all sophomores who won their numerals as freshmen. The freshmen are carrying on the Delt football tradition with Trott, Bancel, and Haynes trying for places on the yearling squad.

In soccer, of which Johnny Wilson is assistant manager, Bud Hanson and Don Briggs are out for their third season. Arnie Mooz and Charlie Lincoln have reported for the freshman team.

The freshmen have also shown indications of future activities in other fields. Already Dave Trott, Elliott Wingert, Dick Bailey, Thurston Inglis, and Ed Warren are working for positions on the editorial board of the student newspaper. Bill Seydel is trying out for the business board of the same publication, of which Paul Anderson is assistant business manager and Bud Hanson circulation manager.

The annual fall house parties will be held this year early in November. A grand turnout of Delt alumni and friends is expected as usual.

No scholastic report

The entire chapter feels as though their efforts the past week were well worth their while. For the week terminated one of the greatest rushing campaigns that has ever been carried out at Gamma Eta. Gamma Eta entertained; Gamma Eta dined; Gamma Eta danced; in fact, Gamma Eta did everything that a fraternity might do in a legitimate manner. We all feel as though we received the cream of the rushees—15 new men.

All reports indicate that George Washington will have one of the greatest football seasons in history. The Delts that have shown up remarkably well to date are F. Parrish, McCarver and Pledges B. Parrish, Morrison, Wray, and Walsh. Pledge Walsh had the misfortune to break his collarbone in practice. This loss will cause the Colonial backfield to be materially weakened, for Walsh was developing into a most promising fullback.

2nd semester 1932-33: 4th of 4 fraternities (unofficial)

Pledges: Ernest Albright, Overbrook; William Black, Herrington, Charles Boisvert, Osawatomie; John Caldwell, Concordia; Wade Carter, Kansas City, Missouri; Francis Davis, Aurora, Missouri; Frederick Heine, Kansas City, Missouri; Edward Johnson, Peabody; Dale Lunsford, Kansas City, Missouri; Isaac McMahan, Ottawa; Pat Polson, Osawatomie; Stanley Wenzel, Detroit, Michigan.

During the summer the Shelter was dressed up with new floors on second and in Mother's room, new paper on second, and new linoleum in the kitchen and the bathrooms.

Mother Severy is back and beginning her sixteenth year with Gamma Theta. Her room is the first place that visiting alumni head for.

Four new officers were elected to take the place of men not returning. They are Gordon Thompson, vice-president; Samuel Haskin, recording secretary; Louis Speer, corresponding secretary; and James Finley, treasurer. Louis Speer was appointed rush captain.

We are represented on the football squad by Acheson, Haskin, Hollister, Mize, Speer, and Pledges Albright, Black, Boisvert, Heine, and McMahan. Haskin and Hollister are one and two-letter men, respectively. Acheson, Albright, and Heine have been going strong, Albright being written up in The Topeka Capitol as the outstanding player in the first game of the season. Myers, Boisvert, and Lunsford are holding their own on the boxing team.

In the first dramatic production of the year three Deltas are in the cast: Carter, Totten, and Vaughn.

The date for the forty-third annual Gamma Theta Chicken Fry has been set for October 21st, and we have already begun to build our Chicken Fry fire. It is pyramid shaped and is about twenty feet square at the base. We plan to make it about twenty feet high. It has been the custom to build the fire larger each year than the year before, but we have decided that we have just about reached our limit.

We are represented on the University choir by Rogers, Carter, Johnson, and Lunsford. Rogers is tenor and Mize bass in the University quartet and octet. Carter is also in the octet. Campbell and Black are in the band and orchestra.

Gamma Theta made its usual run of presidents in the recent campus elections. They are Mize, student commission; Finley, sophomore class; Thompson, T. N. T. club, pep organization; and Carter, college Epworth League. Carter was also elected cheer leader at the last meeting of the T. N. T. club.

Edward Johnson was elected president of the pledge class.

Year 1932-33: 7th of 28 fraternities (unofficial)

Pledges: Ralph Atkins, Denton; George Caldwell, San Antonio; William Nauwald, Menard; Waldo Fletcher, Abilene.

Gamma Iota began the year with a bang. Four new men had been added to the pledge class before the first week of school had elapsed, and there hasn't been any sign of a let-up as yet. To John Pope, rush captain, go the honors.

Social activities were begun by an informal house dance September 29th. Old acquaintances were renewed, and new ones made. Everyone voted the dance a huge success, and the chapter has since been clamoring for more and merrier. Mrs. Dazey, the chapter's sweetheart, acted as hostess and chaperone.

The chapter's representation at the Karnea was not quite as great as we had anticipated, but reports brought back by those who did attend made the rest of the chapter wish they could have been there. Winfield Holmes and Douglas Arnim, the official delegates, brought back some splendid ideas concerning chapter management and activities.

Gamma Iota's distinctions this year include president of Sphinx, president of junior class of Business Administration School; feature editor of Cactus; intramural manager; Cowboys, Phi Eta Sigma, B. B. A. Council, Glee Club, Curtain Club, Texan staff, Y.M.C.A. Cabinet, Cactus staff, issue editor of Texan, etc.

The chapter lost several of its best men in last year's graduating class. "Tuffy" Hancock, Fred Varner, and Emory Spencer are now practicing law in their respective home towns; Nuel Windrow is attending medical school at Galveston; and Webster Snyder is on the advertising staff of a publication in Dallas.

The Rev. William S. Blackshear, rector of the Church of St. Matthew, Brooklyn, who is taking up his duties as rector of the church at Freeport, Texas, and who is an alumnus of Gamma Iota, favored the chapter with a short visit.

The Rev. Beverley Boyd, of St. David's Episcopal Church of Austin, is our new chapter adviser. His advice and support should go a long way in helping us with our problems. Mr. Boyd is an alumnus of Phi Chapter at Washington & Lee.

Maurice Madero, vice-president, is at work in Mexico City and will return this spring. "Al" Tarbutton was elected to the position.

Year 1932-33: 4th of 25 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Pledges: Forrest Werner, St. Joseph; Frank Schuske, St. Joseph; Paul Roberts, St. Louis; Warren Orr, Carthage, Illinois; Tom Collins, St. Louis; Richard Blume, Kansas City; Maurice Mason, St. Louis; Donald Freed, Russell, Kansas; Paul Hunt, Ottumwa, Iowa; Richard Owen, Kansas City; Sam Atwood, Liberty; Urban Carl, Middletown, New York.

Well, here we are back in the swing of writing RAINBOW letters and examinations again. We feel here at Gamma Kappa chapter that we are off to a fine start for another great year. Rushing competition was extremely keen again, but by the consistent work of the active chapter and the alumni we came through in great shape.

George Stuber is being kept very busy trying to attend to his duties as student president and as signal caller for the football team. George is expected to have a big year on the gridiron, this being his third and last year of varsity competition. Pledge Maurice Mason is being depended upon to fill Stuber's shoes next year. Mason has been showing up extremely well on the freshman squad.

Harry Green paid us a short visit last week, starting out on his new territory. The whole chapter enjoyed his visit immensely. President Harper showed Harry the sights of Columbia by taking him for a ride on a tandem bicycle. Harry left early the next morning.

We held a picnic last Sunday night, and with the full moon, the date list, and other ideal conditions, everyone had a big time. Our first party is planned for November 18th.

There are three Delt transfers here: Bob Whitney from Oklahoma, O'Neil Proud from Northwestern, and Noel Wightman from Baker. We hope to see a lot of these boys before the year is over.

Year 1932-33: 3rd of 33 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Pledges: Thomas Borchelt, Riverside, Illinois; Buren Brown, Lebanon; Gordon Bryant, Lafayette; John Cole, Chicago, Illinois; Richard Davis, Indianapolis; Robert Dyrenforth, Riverside, Illinois; Theodore Fehring, Terre Haute; Herbert Fellner, Belleville, Illinois; Donald Fetzer, Ashland, Ohio; Richard Harris, Denver, Colorado; James Jump, Noblesville; Robert Pape, Denver, Colorado; Carl Peth, Manistee, Michigan; Robert Pugh, Bellevue, Kentucky; Mac Rahn, Indianapolis; Richard Rohwedder, Davenport, Iowa; William Shively, Indianapolis; Ferris Traylor, Evansville.

Gamma Lambda returned from the Karnea full of pep and bound for a big year. At the chapter reunion at the Karnea thirty-five of the brothers, both actives and alumni, gathered for dinner and a big Delt night at the World's Fair.

We kept our enthusiasm and, led by Tom Bauer in rush, gathered together one of the finest pledge classes in years. Practically all the active chapter returned, and Ray Eddy, who had to leave school last year because of injuries, came back to make history on the Purdue hardwood.

In scholarship last semester Gamma Lambda remained up among the chosen few with ten of the chapter receiving the coveted rating of "Distinguished Student."

We have not, however, let our high scholarship interfere with maintaining our prominent place in campus activities. In Playshop, the dramatic organization, we scored almost a grand slam, with G. R. Shoemaker, Dave Robb, and Tom Bauer holding the top three positions on the business staff.

We are equally prominent in military activities with eight cadet officers led by Lt. Col. Larry McDonald. Don Chapman (Major Chapman to you) is a member of the Military Ball Committee.

With the football season in full swing, Captain Dutch Fehring, Ted Fehring, John Burch, and John Sexton are fighting for Purdue on the gridiron. Dick Shoemaker and Joe Fairhall are sophomore football managers, and Jack Cole is managing intramural athletics. Mac Rahn is on the cross country squad.

The debate season finds Gamma Lambda ready to continue the dizzy pace it has set. For four consecutive years we have won the interfraternity debate trophies. Jim Prescott is on the conference debate team again.

Four sophomores, George Shoemaker, Dick Harris, Joe Fairhall, and Tom McCollum and two freshmen, Dick Rohwedder and Bob Pape, are on Union committees. Roger Hageboeck is on the yearbook staff. Tom Borchelt, Bill Hatfield, and Carl Peth are playing in the band, and Bob Dyrenforth sings in the glee club. Don Chapman and George Shoemaker were elected to the student senate, a new student governing body.

On October 7th Gamma Lambda introduced its pledges to Purdue society with a highly successful pledge dance.

Pledges: John Reynolds, John Morrison, Vernon Osterberg, Seymore Kail, Art Pilon, Herb Pohl, Frank Pracna, Bud Brougham, Seattle; Chuck Vorhies, Tucson, Arizona.

Practically everybody back in school that should be, except Al Paulski, transfer from Alabama, who is marooned in Alaska with Stewie Robertson, because of finances and a busted boat.

The Mothers' Club started the school year with one of those meetings which usually results in something or other to better the Shelter. What would we do without the mothers?

Brune Dunmore, from Iowa State, and John Hale, from Wisconsin, have transferred to Washington and expect to be actively with us.

The alumni certainly helped in rushing. Through the aid of such men as Lee Anderson, Bob Dyer, Harold Wright, Alden Fisher, and Carlos Flohr we have a fine bunch of prospective Deltas. And they are not stopping at that! On October 13th they are giving a banquet in honor of these pledges. How we look forward to these alumni banquets!

MAINE

Year 1932-33: 6th of 17 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Gamma Nu starts off the school year with sixteen actives and eighteen pledges. We have a good bunch of pledges, and are expecting much of them. "Bix" Holmes is back again with us after a two year absence.

The alumni will be glad to hear that our much esteemed housemother, Mrs. Shea, is with us again.

Last year the student senate decided that there should be no rushing or pledging of freshmen until the second week in February. We are quite optimistic concerning this ruling and have already elected Vernon Packard rushing chairman.

We are proud to say that the chapter is financially sound, having a substantial balance brought over.

Bill Hardy, who has been our chef for fourteen years, has aided us a great deal in beautifying the grounds with such improvements as concrete walks, resurfacing of the parking area, and new shrubbery.

The Building Association is making plans to remodel our present "rampasture." This is an improvement that surely will be appreciated.

Gamma Nu is well represented in the R.O.T.C. unit. Ierdell Ward and Larry Gagnon are first lieutenants, and Ralph Copeland, Ken Kimball, Vern Packard, and Evans Page are second lieutenants.

Del Ballad and Darrel Badger are playing on the football team. Ralph Copeland and Dick Captain are planning to go out for wrestling later this fall. Last year Captain was winner of the 165 lb. class, and Copeland was runner-up in the 145 lb. class. We are planning a bowling team for the fall and winter so as to regain the championship we won in 1931-32.

We expect to have our fall informal house party on October 21st, when we hope to see many alumni back.

The chapter has had visits from Rudy Billings, Prescott Ward, Stet Smith, Bud Humphreys, and Walter Morse.

As our chapter is situated near the middle of the great Maine hunting grounds, we hope to see many alumni and other brother Deltas this fall during the hunting season.

Year 1932-33: 8th of 15 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

As the fall rushing season draws to a close, Gamma Xi is proud to have pledged a delegation of fourteen fine men.

The pledges are rapidly finding their way into activity. Gerdson is one of the most outstanding football men. Alcorn, Huenefeld, and Ruehlmann are working with the "Y." Williams, Hetsch, and Larkby are freshman football managers. Kreuch, Johnson, and Williams are in the glee club.

The active chapter is well represented on the football team. Burdick and Davis are backs of real merit. Coughlin is doing excellent work on the line, as are our two sophomores, Pressler and Cook. Bob Hoefler is intramural manager, and Bud Dawson is his assistant. Hoefler is also a member of the student council. Bob Egan is an editor on The News, and Don Gilbert is on the annual staff.

The first dance of the year will be after the Kentucky State football game. We hope to have many of the Kentuckians as our guests.

The chapter house is in excellent condition with new leather furniture in the living room. We hope to welcome many of the alumni to the house when they return on Homecoming Day, October 21st.

Γ Ο
SYRACUSE

Year 1932-33: 22nd of 26 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Syracuse is experimenting this year with an alumni-controlled deferred plan of rushing which makes use of summer contacts and also cuts down the expenses to the fraternities. In Gamma Omicron we have worked hard during the summer, and with the intensive rushing and pledging period approaching we are ready with a long list of prospects.

We have every hope of attaining our object of a pledge class of 20. In spite of the general condition the freshman class was 10 per cent above last year's. We have had the assistance of many alumni in suggesting prospects; their help was valuable.

With the opening of the University, activities and scholarship vie for the attention of the men in the house. We're out to push that scholarship rating up to the top—and just as soon as possible—and we want to make activities hum around our Shelter.

Editorships and managerships don't just fall into anyone's hands, and if a Delt isn't in the competition and doesn't win out he'll have a lot of explaining to do to the activity chairman.

We now have a plan in operation by which every Delt's professors are asked to notify the scholarship chairman immediately when a man is failing in his work. This is a prompt check, and a short trial last spring proved its worth. Kenneth Sargent of the faculty and Herb Heins, '35, are in charge.

Elwyn Gibson is circulation manager of The Orange Peel, humor magazine, and treasurer of the interfraternity council. Coe is associate editor of The Daily Orange and sergeant in the local R. O. T. C. unit; Rendle Fussell is captain in the R. O. T. C. and on the debating team; Bill "Red" Mammosser, last year's freshman football captain, is up in the running during varsity practice. Herb Heins is to be drum major of the R. O. T. C. and University bands. We have sophomores scrubbing, or scheduled to scrub, every sport, and also men out for the three publications.

Jim Bamrick, local boy, who was forced to drop out a couple of years ago, is back as an active. Also returned after a year out of college is M. Reynolds Dodd. Both the prodigals are taking an active interest in the House.

We came back a couple of weeks early this year and put plenty of sweat and elbow grease into cleaning up the house. Woodwork, inside and out, was painted, floors varnished, and rugs cleaned. We also purchased some new furniture, and the whole lay-out is in tip-top shape. The beds in the dorm are still as comfortable and our last year's cook, Mrs. Lewis, is with us again; so if you're around the Saltine City drop in and find out if we have been underrating her. We couldn't overrate Mrs. Lewis.

The scholarship rating for the spring semester should be out about October 15th, and we're all awaiting it anxiously. The report on the fraternity examination was particularly pleasing, including three men who received perfect scores and all in the high nineties.

The Gamma Pi house was open all summer to those who attended summer school.

It was a practically new house that the actives returned to this fall. The downstairs had been completely refinished from new light fixtures to a new rug. Everyone is exceptionally proud of the old Shelter, because very little of the atmosphere which the house has could be incorporated into a new house. The traditions it has would be lost entirely. The woodwork, which was refinished, could not even be obtained today.

Sonny Herman, Southworth, Melham, and Whittemore, from Delta Gamma, were here for a week-end the last of September. Several alumni have been back this fall including Roland Pray, Red Knox, Brice Gamble, Dwight Moore, and Dick Koehn.

Year 1932-33: 6th of 13 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

The new year seems destined for success in a big way. To begin with we have every man in the chapter back in school. The house is in better shape than ever. Due to the efforts of some of the town men and the Mothers' Club it has been refinished and redecorated until it looks like new.

The summer seems to have been rather full of events. The alumni chapter held a large picnic which proved quite a get-together, since the attendance numbered over three hundred. Eleven members of the chapter made the trip to the Karnea and reported it a great success. Just before the beginning of school a meeting of the officers of the local chapters was held at the Hotel Schenely for the purpose of formulating rushing plans. Cornell and Doyle presented many helpful suggestions.

The social season was started with an open house September 30th, which was a great success. The next one, however, will be much better, for we have a new radio combination that gives much better music than the old radio.

The scholarship for last year was very good. We were above both the "all men's" and the "all fraternity" average, and only one national fraternity had a higher rating in spite of the fact that our House carried over four hundred more hours and four hundred more credits than any other house on the campus.

The rushing committee, under the chairmanship of Dick Sloan, has been working very hard, and when the season opened October 6th we were well prepared with a fine list of prospects. We wish to thank all those who recommended men, as these names have proved invaluable. Rushing lasted from October 6th to the 14th, and our events were made up of two dances, a smoker, and what we have called the "Delt Roundup." This event is the gift of Carl and Justice Mulert and was held at their farm the afternoon and evening of October 12th. There was fishing, races, all kinds of games, and plenty of real eats. Many of the alumni chapter attended and gave us a hand with the rushing.

Pledges: Jack Atkins, Harry Lane, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Ed Ash, Wichita; Ned Burkett, Kingman; Bill Blowers, Robert Cunningham, Edward Lewis, Kansas City; Robert English, Macksville; Arnold Gilbert, Bernard Pipes, Lawrence; Horace Hedges, Kansas City, Missouri; Jack Moore, Atchison; Ed Olsen, Bonner Springs; Fred Pralle, Al Wellhausen, St. Louis, Missouri; Giles Priest, Jr., Clay Center; Jack Schiffmacher, Edwardsville; France Wilson, Abilene; Jay Wisdom, Leavenworth.

This very successful rush week was due to the intensive work of the active chapter combined with some valuable alumni help. Don Leach, rush captain, and Eugene Hibbs, president of the chapter, deserve special credit. Among the alumni who returned for the activities were Dorth Coombs, Wichita; Carrol Hungate, Carrel Ferris, Martin Dickinson, Henry Crone, all of Kansas City, Missouri; Dick Edelblute, Jack Harner, Bob Haig of Topeka; Brick Chandler, Atchison; Earl Shinn, Washington, D. C.; Carl Postlethwaite, Mankato; John Krehbiel, Los Angeles; and Kermit Ryan, Bonner Springs.

We are well represented in activities. Lewis Landes, Atkins, Olsen, and Schiffmacher are on the freshman football squad; Mallory, Ash, and Priest are on The Jayhawker staff; Hibbs is president of the Dramatic Club, and Howard and Poole are members. Voran is a newly elected member to the men's student council; Hibbs is treasurer of the Panhellenic Council. Ash and Gilbert are freshman representatives to the freshman Pachacamac political party. Howard is treasurer of the senior class; Mallory is sophomore hop manager; Lane has just been appointed as one of the three intramural managers for the freshman class. Lehman is a member of A. S. M. E. Hedges made the glee club, and Moore and Scott are members of the band; Moore is also in the symphony orchestra.

Although the scholarship report is not out yet, we are confident that our report will show a marked improvement.

Mother Fagan is starting her nineteenth year with us. She is again in perfect health.

Harry Green spent the first few days of October here.

Thomas, Kentucky; James Caldwell, Southgate, Kentucky; Dick Lamb, Dayton.

Gamma Upsilon lost only five actives through graduation, although a few of the boys, particularly from the junior class, were unable to return because of financial difficulties or through transfer to other schools. However, most of our last year's freshmen are back with us, and it looks as though we will have an unusually strong sophomore class. Rushing was very successful and seventeen fine boys have decided to become Delt pledges.

Chapter officers, elected last spring, are Jack Darragh, president; Allen Dare, vice-president; and Wesley Cooper, treasurer. With these at the helm we are well on our way to a successful year, especially in the way of activities, athletics, and campus affairs.

Al Hodge is president of Tau Kappa Alpha and Ye Merrie Players, besides being a member of the student faculty council. Jack Darragh is Blue Key and a prospective Phi Beta; Eddie Francis is another Blue Key and vice-president of the varsity Social Club, and Dick Darragh is a Blue Key and president of the junior class. Practically everyone in the chapter is in one or more important activity.

Bill Stewart is working for another All-American mention at tackle post on the football team, and Jack Mutchler and George Panuska will both make letters.

Our new pledges are also getting into things rapidly, Bob Wisemann, Bill Thomas, James Caldwell, and Robert Mautz doing well on the freshman football squad. George Riester and Al Ziegler are out for cross country track and the rest of them are entering into various phases of campus life with a lot of spirit.

As yet fall intramurals have not begun, but we plan to enter teams in every sport and have reason to look forward to success in many of them.

Since it is so early in the year, very little besides rushing and getting settled has been accomplished, but the plans for Homecoming are already made and the pledge dance comes in October.

Alumni and former members of the chapter who have visited us recently and assisted in rushing include Don Sicafuse and Bun Pierce, Struthers; Howard Jones, Conneaut; Emery Pinnell, Osborne; Jack and Charles De Wert, Cincinnati; Walter Bender, Monroe; and Paul Schumacher, Hamilton.

Let us take this opportunity to extend an invitation and welcome to all past members and affiliates of Gamma Upsilon. We look forward to your visit at all times and will expect you, all who can possibly make it, at Homecoming.

The brothers returned to the fold from all parts of the world and from all types of endeavor engaged in during the summer months at the opening of the school year; and, reinforced by tips brought back by the delegates from the Karnea, succeeded in setting a new high for freshmen pledged by the chapter.

Several drives are contemplated, including a regaining of our former scholastic standing, the winning of the interfraternity Trophy of Trophies for the coming year, and a more efficient training policy for this year's pledges.

The experiments tried in the boarding house and in maintenance of discipline are reaching fruition rapidly. Several of the suggestions made at the Karnea are being put into effect, notably that of having a praeceptor. Meryl Rose, Gamma Phi, '33, has assumed that office.

The first moves in the second of our drives have already been made, in the sport of touch football. At this writing Gamma Phi is leading the Interfraternity League in that field. Van Fleet has been elected house athletic director.

Gamma Phi laments the loss of Goodman and Kinsey, and hopes that their absence endures for but one year. The chapter wishes to extend heartfelt thanks to the officials of the Karnea for the treatment accorded its delegates. More next time.

Gamma Chi is starting another year of intramurals in the same fashion as last year by winning in soccer. We are trying to retain the large intramural trophy which we won last year to make it our permanent possession. We are the only ones to have won two legs on the cup.

Don McNeal and Richard Armstrong are out for football and got into the game last week against Emporia, giving a good account of themselves. Pledge Ivan Wassberg is out for the freshman team.

Pledges and actives alike are showing their interest in athletics, dramatics, glee club, and scholarship by actually digging in and taking part.

Our pledges seem to be getting the Wildcat spirit in good shape, as they believe in staying, especially with the Kappas, with whom they had their sneak, which from all reports was an accomplishment to be very proud.

The summer party was held as usual and served to get the boys together with a little rushing on the side. It was a beautiful night, and every one had a good time, even in the middle of the summer, which is plenty warm out on these Kansas prairies.

Gamma Chi has revived the custom of having open house dances for sororities from seven to eight in the evening on week nights to liven up the evenings.

The alumni haven't lost a bit of the Delt spirit, for we have already had many visit us and it is a real pleasure to have them back.

Year 1932-33: 17th of 23 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Gamma Psi followed its usual policy of quality before quantity in its ten days of rushing, and was awarded for its efforts with the pledging of ten new men. They are Bud Vickery of Rome; Bob Zimmerman of Fort Thomas, Kentucky; Bert Beasley of Petersburg, Tennessee; John Hulse of Augusta; Billy Harwood of Lawrenceburg, Tennessee; Bill Rooney of Atlanta; Dick Richard of Savannah; James Carr of Brooklet; Walton Purdon of Atlanta; and H. O. Clark of Augusta. Also, two men, Carl and Lamar Ingram, juniors, were pledges at the close of school last June.

The town brothers spent a week cleaning and painting the house before the rest of the lads returned, and got the Shelter into good shape. Special emphasis and congratulations may be expressed on the successful planting and culture of a front yard full of grass, the best Gamma Psi has ever raised.

Gamma Psi also adopted a new type of rush card this year with the names of all the brothers on the back to make it easier for the freshmen to remember names.

Plans are now being laid for an initiation in the near future for the benefit of four impatient pledges. Seven men are eligible, but three of them may not have the well known rocks.

The chapter wishes also to make known the fact that Ralph Peters Black, Jr., is one fine rush chairman. He was left in a spot when Kuhlke, the other rush chairman, did not return.

We still have that one and only house mother, Mrs. Milly Bailey. It was mainly through her efforts that the Shelter was more or less presentable after a most hectic summer. Gamma Psi is also indebted to Mrs. Bailey for her co-operation with the mothers of the town boys during the summer. The mothers got together just before school opened and made curtains for the entire Shelter. They also made numerous cushions for distribution throughout the north and east wings, and also in the Green Room.

Greatly appreciated aid was received during rush week from such notables among the alumni as Brothers Petty, Hawkins, MacWinn, McDonald, Simpson, Lawton, Tanner, McCown, Chapter Adviser Chas. Pearson, Clint Huguley, Randy Whitfield, and Hoot Gibson.

Year 1932-33: 4th of 22 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Pledges: R. B. Gentry, Lawton; Joe Somerville, Stanley Stromberg, Bill Johnson, Ardmore; John Crew, Shawnee; Tom Ensich, Howard Morris, Bartlesville; James Noel, Wichita, Kansas; Brinker Ivy, Duncan; Logan McDonald, Chickasha; Ray McNeill, Hobbs, N. M.; Harry Shrader, El Reno; Edwin Stahl, J. A. Mull, Oklahoma City; Kenneth Wilson, Pawnee; Frank Ashby, Kenneth Richards, Spottswood Dandridge, Norman.

Delta Alpha is proud of her new scholarship achievement. From the grade averages made during the past semester she stood second of 22 fraternities.

Rush activities were climaxed when the Delt rush banquet was held at the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club. By leaving the club early everyone was present at the pledging held in Norman at midnight. Eighteen men were pledged at that time. The traditional cheers and walk-around followed.

The buffet supper given in the chapter house on October 2nd was the beginning of social activities. The first formal, to be given at the College Shop on October 20th, promises to be a great party. A buffet supper at the house will precede the dance.

October 21st has been set aside as Dads' Day. All the dads gather at the house for a real time with the boys. A luncheon at the Shelter and a great football game with Iowa State during the afternoon will fill the major portion of the day.

Lawrence Wilson has been appointed varsity basketball manager. Jack Davis will coach the swimming team this year.

Frank Ashby has been elected vice-president of the Men's Glee Club. Kenneth Duff has been appointed business manager. New members of this organization from the House include Brinker Ivy, Kenneth Richards, and Harry Shrader.

Hirst Suffield heads Scabbard & Blade activities this year. New "slimes" of the order include Kay Garnett, H. C. Luman, and Kenneth Duff.

Logan McDonald and Bill Johnson are new members of the Senate Literary Society.

Interest in polo continues about the Shelter. Kay Garnett is now captain of the polo team. Gordon Watts is playing on the first team. These men are now looking forward to the game with Missouri in November.

Max Sturm and Bill Johnson represent Delta Alpha in the University Band.

Joe Fred Gibson, Truman Tomlin, and Hirst Suffield, new freshman lawyers, have added to Delta Alpha's group of embryonic politicians. Harold Landrum, senior lawyer, is now vice-president of his Law class. Landrum is carrying the traditional Delt cane this year. All senior lawyers take to canes their last year. This cane has been in the chapter for nine years and bears the name of every man using it during his last year in Law School.

During the summer months the Shelter was re-painted both inside and outside. These improvements, aided by the beauty of the trees and shrubs, makes the house one of the most outstanding on Fraternity Row.

Still at the same Delta Shelter as in previous years, and with an intact chapter, Delta Beta has started the new school year with an enthusiasm and purpose that indicates a good, and we hope, a superior year.

Rushing season is deferred until Thanksgiving. Gibby Gerhardt is chairman of the rushing committee. Lists of entering freshmen, recommendations, and qualifications were carefully gone over to insure a successful outcome.

Shorey Allan, president of the student council, has started off that body and by his judicious appointment of committees has made it one of the most efficient of its kind. He and Julian von der Lancken, members of the senior honorary, the Dragons, are quite active politically.

Three members of Delta Beta are leading the cheers. Ammon Godshall is head cheerleader; John Davis is assisnant head cheerleader; and Clyde Gischel completes the varsity squad. Several new stunts featured at the football games show Godshall's originality. Assisted by von der Lancken and Latimore, he made a huge Scotsman with bagpipes and kilts.

Lib Lewis, after being unable to play for a year because of a broken leg, started off the football season by scoring two touchdowns against "Pop" Warner's Temple Owls. Lewis displayed the form that made him a star end two years ago. Joe Mihm, at fullback, pushes his 210 pounds through the line behind Lib. Mihm and Lewis are letter men. Joe Brewer and Frank Sanford are fighting for places on the team and will probably make their letters this year.

Shorey Allan is leading one of the strongest cross country teams in years. Boxing, a new sport at Carnegie, attracted much attention last year, and Henry Kroll is managing this year's freshman team. Harold Mitchener is practicing wrestling holds to prepare for the season. He won his varsity letter at that sport last year.

Von der Lancken, Bill Bostick, and Jack Provost are working out for the swimming team. The first two are veterans. Bob Ricketts and Bert Latimore are trying out for places on the basketball squad.

Harvey Harrod, editor of the Tri-Publications, has just released the new student directory. Working with him were Clyde Gischel, advertising manager, Thomas Dana, Jr., Henry Kroll, Ernest Schleusener, and Robert McFarlin. Ernest Schleusener was recently appointed advertising manager of The Thistle, yearbook.

The band, under the management of Harrod, has been complimented for its appearance. Members of the band are Francis Mertz, Harold Mitchener, Bill Bostick, and Frank Elliott, Jr.

John Davis, Al Ralston, Ernest Schleusener, and Henry Kroll are members of the Y Cabinet. Jack Provost is having his contributions to The Puppet, humor magazine, accepted every month.

Intramural sports have not started, but the teams have begun practice. With the same men available as last year, Delta Beta should make a good showing in all the competitions.

Year 1932-33: 5th of 7 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

We started the rushing season with twenty actives and one pledge. So far we have pledged seven very good men who are fitting in well and are working hard for Delta Tau Delta.

Olson, at fullback, and Dyson, at center, are playing superior football for the Coyotes. They appear to be outstanding enough to make the All-Conference rating of their positions.

Woodrow Spranger has been invited to join Playcrafters, dramatic. Hendrix, Melham, Brisbine, Hoyne, and Rolfe are members of the A Cappella Choir, which is becoming famous throughout this part of the country.

Every man is working hard in an attempt to represent the chapter in all forms of activity throughout the whole year. We already have our idea for our Homecoming-day float, with which we expect to repeat our winning of first place of last year.

Harvey Crow and Bob Henry are telling us all about the Karnea. They are offering many valuable suggestions, which we are acting upon.

The fall informal is to be held in the Union Building. Bob Henry, social chairman, has made arrangements for clever decorations and a good orchestra. We held our annual pledge banquet recently. Stanley "Judge" Babcock, last in the line of three brother Deltas, gave the official acceptance of welcome for the pledge group.

Arthur Smith, Gloucester, Massachusetts; Ray Morton, Greenfield; Bob Wiggs, Memphis; William Headden, Kenton.

Delta Delta is setting out for a banner year for 1933-34; and we are off to a good start. We have a fine pledge group, and everyone is working up a new enthusiasm for the chapter to come out on top of the other fraternities on the Hill.

Pledges Pick, Binkley, and Lehman are playing varsity football, and Pledges Alvey and Forrester are expected to be mainstays on the freshman squad. Last year Pick was the only three-letter freshman in school. He won awards in football, basketball, and track.

Gordon Gaskill has begun his year's term as president of the interfraternity council and as editor-in-chief of The Orange and White, student publication. Besides that, he is a member of the Scarrabean Society, formal dance board, and Phi Eta Sigma.

We are especially grateful for the co-operation and support of the alumni. Especially do we appreciate the enthusiasm, interest, and help of Dr. George Henson of the Tulane chapter and Horace Harper of Delta Delta.

The year has finally got under way under the guiding hands of President George Skinner and Vice-President Ned Turnbull. Bill Trott, '30, has been appointed chapter adviser, following the resignation of W. E. Davis, Phi, '99, who has held the position for a number of years.

Football is now "King of College Sports" and is enjoying a successful reign on the Kentucky campus. Ralph Kercheval, the old maestro, who has been acclaimed by many as the greatest punter in the game today, is playing his final year for the Blue and White. On September 19th he starred in Kentucky's 40-2 victory over Maryville College. Again on September 30th he showed several thousand fans that he could continue that brilliant playing and did his part to help the Wildcats beat Sewanee. Bill Jacobs and Jim Darnaby also saw action in the Maryville game and should be listed among the letter winners when the season ends. Fall basketball practice is scheduled to start soon, and C. D. Blair will be playing his final year with the Southeastern champions. Kercheval may report for basketball after football season.

It is rather early to report on campus activities, but listed among the topnotch campus positions is Ned Turnbull, as business manager of The Kentucky Kernel, newspaper.

Military appointments have not been made, but several Deltas are slated for high rank on account of their outstanding work at Fort Knox last summer. Harry Clo, Ralph Kercheval, Ned Turnbull, and Fred Dye should all rank as captains or better.

Al Miller and George Skinner have been invited to enter the fall tournament of the varsity tennis aspirants.

The various campus activities of Harry Clo, Billy Nicholls, Ralph Kercheval, Ned Turnbull, and Cameron Coffman put them in line for membership in O. D. K. Phi Beta Kappa is beckoning to Billy Nicholls and George Akin, who are listed among the scholastic first in the class.

The senior class of '33 took a toll of twelve of our members. Those who were graduated are Coleman Smith; O. B. Coffman; Bob McVay; Ray Stark; Lawrence Herron; Turner Howard; Horace Miner; Jack Hirsch; Bob Pate; John Thorn; John Stevenson; and George Skinner.

The intramural season has started, and Delta Epsilon has entered teams in every department. The cross country run is perhaps the most popular event of the fall season. Delta Epsilon's team consists of Al Miller, and Len Van Arsdale and Pledges James Calvin, Bob Travis, and Cove "Harpo" Heilbronner.

Alumni and visiting Deltas who have visited the Shelter this fall include Roy Kavanaugh, Lexington; Foster Peyton, Hammond, Indiana; Paul Averitt, Evanston, Illinois; Bill Patterson, Ashland; Kendall Holmes, Lexington and Ann Arbor, Michigan; Arnold Combs, Hazard; James Chapman, Ashland; Carlisle Aimes, Cattlettsburg; James Shropshire, Laurence Shropshire, Robert O'Dear, and Dean C. White; "Pee-Wee" Harris is on the Engineers' honor committee. Nor is that all, for we have four members in the "Million Dollar" football band, not even to mention that the head drum-major is a Delt.

A number of our alumni have been back. Some of them expressed the desire to be with us again. Glen Marshall came by on the way to become entangled in the bonds of matrimony. He informed us that after the honeymoon he was going to settle in Decatur. Bill Craig dropped in for the Oglethorpe game. Although he lost his first case, he still has hopes of becoming a lawyer. Sid Pflieger dropped in to let us know he was working in the district attorney's office in Mobile. We hear that Jimmy Smith is working in the research department of the Indianapolis Street Railway System. Although he is a statistician now, we believe that he will wind up as a politician.

Jack Byrne came down to spend a few days with us to start the chapter running smoothly. Coody and Anderson have transferred to Ole Miss. Dunlap of Sewanee is spending a few days with us. We hope that we may see some more of our alumni this year. If not, we would like to hear from them.

ALABAMA

Year 1932-33: 8th of 30 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Well, Delts, here's Delta Eta sending her letter to let you know that we down here at Alabama are all pepped up and rarin' to go.

A rather quiet summer was spent by most of our members. However, one of the gang, Bill Miller, had the good fortune to get a glimpse of Europe by his musical ability. From all reports he seemed to have had quite a time touring the country on a bicycle. A number of our members and alumni took in the World's Fair along with the Karnea, and let the convention at Chicago know that Delta Eta is still steadily climbing to the top. All in all, it was a very enjoyable vacation.

We resumed activities on the campus with the opening of school, for we had the good fortune to have almost all the active chapter back. Our rushing season was quite successful, as we pledged eleven men by the end of the first two weeks. We consider that quite good, for freshmen are rather scarce in these parts this year.

In the last letter something was mentioned about the exterior of the Shelter being dressed up. Well, you should see the interior now. During the summer months quite a bit of the interior was repainted. Then, during the first week we had the downstairs redecorated. To our housemother goes the credit for the selection of a set of new drapes downstairs.

Our pledges were initiated into the social activities of the campus by a dance, which the active chapter gave in their honor.

Delta Eta is again this year well represented in the various activities. Bill Miller was elected president of the senior class of the School of Education. The same night he was appointed to the Spirit Committee, and is thereby our representative in the student activities. He is also the Panhellenic representative. It seems that Bill is going to have his hands full this year if he does a good job of representing.

Bill Canty, one of the pledges, was elected to Blackfriars, the theatrical organization. Emerson Carlson was elected vice-president of the freshman Law class. Pledges Frank Corbett and Kenneth Reichard are out for the boxing team. We are represented in student publications by Jim Barker, who is on The Rammer-Jammer Staff. Red Sullivan is on The Crimson &

Scholarship reports not issued

Delta Theta received a very agreeable surprise at the condition of the Shelter this year. New hardwood floors have been installed on the second story, and the wives of some of our alumni have worked wonders in the decoration of the lounge.

A strenuous rushing campaign has been carried on, with the noble assistance of the graduates of last year. To date we have had two rushing parties, under the direction of Ted Scythes, entertainer deluxe. Demon Crawford's Melody Hounds supplied soft music, to the enjoyment of the many rushees present.

Ken Clarke is playing rugby for the varsity intermediates, Ralph Walden for the School of Science seniors, and Ed Bell for the University College team. As usual we have a large squad of sharks playing water polo for School, including Charlie Hawke, Mason Jones, Ken Clarke, and Lee Dougan.

A good many graduates are lending a beautifying and sobering influence to the Shelter. Among those living with us are Panay Ballachey, Yank Fraser, Ivan Hardy, Suds Malcolmson, Harold Sprott, and Doug Thomas.

Frank Bryan and Jack Berwick paid short visits to Toronto, but it is reported that both left town in full possession of their liberty.

The lounge has also been glorified by two potted ferns, a gift of the well-known graduates, Armstrong and Malcolmson.

Pledges: Jack Barter, Flay Baugh, Thomas Donlon, Richard Gary, Willmer Hamond, Van Howard, Robert Houser, Thomas Morris, David Paulen, Charles Pike, Robert Purdy, George Sietz, Verdon Quinn.

The fall term has begun successfully, and we have a pretty good bunch back. Several of our fellows were East this summer, and Woodruff, McLean, Smith and Talbot were at the Karnea. Before the Karnea these fellows drove all over the country and visited several of the chapters in the East and Middle West.

We lost six good men who graduated last spring—Smith, Houser, Moore, Biby, deLa Haye, and Palette.

Throughout the summer we were busy rushing and had several parties at the different fellows' homes, where there were swimming pools or tennis courts, or at times we had them at the beach. Most of our rush parties were out of doors in the day time.

Some of us went north to see our game with Stanford and visited both Beta Omega and Beta Rho and were treated royally. It was quite a trip and a good opportunity to become better acquainted with some of the brothers of our neighboring chapters.

We have three men out for freshman football, Purdy, Pike, and Gary.

It is a little early to predict much, but all have high hopes.

Year 1932-33: 2nd of 14 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Fall term is starting with bright prospects for Delta Kappa in spite of the fact that a few of our men did not return. Monk, Doerk, and Maher, in addition to the men who graduated, are not back. We miss them greatly. However, Bill Bird, who left at mid-year because of his health, is back, and we are expecting great things of him on the basketball court.

This year Duke is instituting deferred rushing. No freshmen or transfers may be pledged until second semester. It's tough not to have freshmen to send on errands, but if the plan works out as the Panhellenic Council hopes, it will probably be an advantage for the chapter.

Two Delts from Carnegie Tech, Kuhn and Anderson, visited us during Freshman Week and gave us some valuable advice on deferred rushing from their own experiences.

Bill Brumbach was recently elected president of the Sophomore Council.

Martin Williams and Clarence Armstrong had a sweet job Freshman Week. They photographed every freshman in school for The Chanticleer, the yearbook.

George Everitt and Bill Brumbach were elected to the Y. M. C. A. Council.

Harry Nyce was elected to the Trident Club, an organization the chief functions of which are to welcome visiting athletic teams, organize pep meetings, and stimulate school spirit.

George Everitt was elected secretary of Beta Omega Sigma, leadership.

Al Sadler, '30, is teaching in Durham and has been giving us some valuable help.

Intramural football season is on, and we have a good team entered. We won our first game 12-0.

We point with pride to our scholastic record for last year. Delta Kappa has been steadily improving her rating until now she stands first of the fourteen nationals and six locals on the campus. Last year we had five men who were making Phi Beta Kappa averages. Nine of our juniors and seniors were on the Dean's list, making a B average. Six of our sophomores and freshmen were eligible for honors work, also making a B average. Our chapter average was 1.6 out of a possible 3 for straight A's. We hope to maintain our place at the head of the list.

Δ Λ OREGON STATE

Year 1932-33: 25th of 30 fraternities (N. I. C. figures)

Phil Brainard has organized the editorial and managerial departments of The Student Directory. The staff has other Delt representatives as well. Phil is editor: Pledge Cooper is associate editor; and Wayne Chaney is the department editor in charge of list checking. The "fussers' guide," included in the directory, is an extremely important item in the social life of the campus.

Ralph Coleman is editor of the yearbook, The Beaver. He is organizing his department heads and general staff members. Coley is still "Ad-Libbing" in The Barometer, the daily.

Three of the sophomore pledges are doing fine work on The Barometer staff. Mansfield Howells is promotion manager, Stan Thompson is an assistant advertising manager, and Cap Cooper is a night editor. One of our pledges represents the House on the varsity football squad. This man, Danforth, is playing his third year at center.

News of several of our older men should be of interest to alumnus. Dave Morris figures prominently as the proud father of a baby girl. Dave is a state highway engineer at Spokane, Washington. Verne Harrison, who has followed the same line of work, is back in school to finish his graduation requirements. He and his wife are living near the chapter house. Cecil Sherwood is preparing for a position as athletic coach at Bend. Cece has played his full quota of intercollegiate football. He donned a uniform to play his old position as halfback, and accounted for many long runs in a recent game between the alumni and the freshmen. Millard Rodman is the high school principal at Culver. Our chapter president of last year, John Ficklin, is attending New York University.

The rushing season of this term was not as successful as that of last year from the standpoint of numbers. Nine men were pledged, but the fact that a large percentage of the active group is back in school has helped offset this smaller freshman group. Extremely complex rushing rules are in effect at Oregon State and have resulted in a group of prospects that as yet lack the Delt square. Several of these men should pledge in the near future.

W. H. MORRIS

Δ M IDAHO

Year 1932-33: 2nd of 12 fraternities (N.I.C. figures)

Pledges: William Anderson, Nampa; Reed Elwell, St. Maries; Kenneth Esmay, St. Maries; John Hayes, Nampa; James McFarland, Kellogg; Richard March, Northampton, Massachusetts; Ronald Martin, St. Maries; Jenkins Palmer, Malad; William Pittman, Nampa; Paul Richelson, Montpelier; Eugene Ryan, Emmett; Mark Southworth, Oakley; George Swisher, St. Maries; Fred Robinson, Nampa; Glenn Williams, Malad.

With rushing completed and college work again started in earnest, most of the boys show signs of being glad to have something definite to do after the strenuous vacation. The work done by the rushing committee, assisted faithfully by the entire chapter, has caused a pronounced feeling of satisfaction around the Shelter. When the smoke of the battle in which thirteen fraternities participated had cleared, we found that Delt pledge buttons were gleaming in the lapels of fifteen of Idaho's most promising freshmen. With twenty-one actives back this year, and the house in the best shape ever, Delta Mu should do bigger and better things.

With rushing for the present off the slate, the rushing committee is outlining the second semester campaign. Several good prospects are being taken care of, and we should fare well at the second rush period.

For their part in our successful rushing season, the chapter extends appreciation to Mark Ware and Norman Johnson, alumni, who took part in our rush smoker and lent a helping hand during the busiest week of the year.

The next big event of the year is Homecoming, and plans are already in the making for the big celebration. Last year we were awarded the cup for the most original decoration. Extensive plans are being made to entertain alumni and guests. The gridiron battle between our age-old rivals, the Washington State Cougars, will furnish the climax.

Living up to the standard of quantity plus quality, our frosh are already showing up well in activities. Four are out for freshman football; two are playing in the University symphony; one is a Pep band alternate; and others are prospects for success in virtually every other extracurricular activity. George Swisher was elected vice-president of the freshman class.

The actives are not letting the frosh eclipse their participation in activities, no sir! Paul Rust, active in musical circles, and president of the Vandaleers, mixed chorus, was elected president of the junior class. Robert Kercheval was chosen junior basketball manager. "Kerch" is also chapter treasurer. Ray Critchell is playing sweet golf again and will make varsity competition very keen. Ray was the leading amateur in this year's Idaho state open competition.

Harley Smith and Maurice Malin are still holding down the oboe section of the University symphony. Frank Bevington is sophomore representative to the executive board, is scribe of the Intercollegiate Knights, and is on the business staffs of the annual and newspaper. Maurice Malin is on the newspaper staff, and is due for an editorial berth on the annual staff. With the aid of Morgan Hobbs work is now under way for the next issue of the chapter newspaper, The Delta Mu Review.

Lobo, our police dog mascot, is back after spending the summer with Fred Richardson. Lobo has no studying to do, is not an activity man, but is the king of campus canines and an acquaintance of practically every Idaho student.

We were fortunate to have as guests at the Shelter Mr. and Mrs. Merle F. Emry of Spokane. Mr. Emry is a graduate of Stanford and an alumnus of Beta Rho. He is in business with his father in Spokane.

MAURICE E. MALIN

THE DELTA ALUMNI

Chicago Alumni Chapter

The World's Fair Karnea is gone, but not forgotten. Those of us in Chicago who had something to do with entertaining the 1100 or more Deltas who attended probably had as good a time if not better than our guests. There is a real thrill to working with enthusiastic Deltas on a Delt function, and we enjoyed ourselves to the limit.

So it's all over but the shouting, and that will be done October 13th on the occasion of the monthly Alumni Chapter dinner. This dinner, coming at the time of the Interfraternity Conference, will make it possible to have our new President with us, and we hope to have a large and enthusiastic turnout.

Our Alumni Chapter had been rather dead from the standpoint of activities prior to the time of the Karnea, and we hope that with the Karnea crowd as a nucleus we can stir up some real enthusiasm and bring all the hundreds of Chicago Deltas back into the organization during the Winter season.

W. D. MCKAY

Cleveland Alumni Chapter

Vacations and the Karnea now being over, we are settling down to the business of a new school year, including fall meetings and the active chapter's rushing season.

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter enjoyed the Karnea very much—finding in a very decisive manner that the Arch Chapter is still perpetuating itself and probably will continue to do so, regardless of the best efforts of any Democratic minded individual or organization.

The Cleveland Alumni Association announces its fall Golf Tournament Wednesday, October 11th, to be held at the Chargin Valley Country Club, and we are expecting a very fine turnout.

Zeta Chapter, together with the alumni chapter, has arranged a new series of evening meetings to be held the first Monday night of each month at the chapter house, the program for which will be dinner, meeting, and social hour.

Due to the remodeling of the Kaase Colonial Inn we will again change the place of our weekly luncheon. From now on the same will be in a large private room above Allendorf's Restaurant, the address being 1111 Chester Avenue. This is a very good location and we are hoping for the usual good crowds at these luncheons.

New items are as follows:

John Eckleberry, formerly a member of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, but of recent years a resident of Detroit, is now back with us again as assistant liquidator of the Guardian Trust Company.

Another one of our distinguished brothers, Major Tom Herbert, has given up his position as assistant attorney general of the State of Ohio, and has returned to Cleveland to resume private practice and assist in the liquidation of the Union Trust Company.

William A. Dougherty, for many years one of our most popular young alumni, has recently secured a position as general counsel for the Standard Oil of New Jersey, handling their various interests in the State of Ohio.

Two of our local brothers are in the political field this fall. Clayton C. Townes is a candidate for Mayor of Lakewood, and his chances of success are very good. Christian J. Bannick is running for the Municipal Bench this fall; his chances also look very good.

KARL ERTLÉ

Fairmont Alumni Chapter

After suspended meetings for the summer months, to allow the "Brathers" to take in the Karnea and Fair, we resumed activities with a luncheon and were joined by the undergraduates. Hugh Fox, half owner of the Adams Street Office Supply Company, arrived much too late and without coat—by a close vote he was permitted to stay.

With the advent of the New Deal there are a lot of Delt face cards. Harrison Conaway is assistant prosecuting attorney of Marion County, and Kenna Clark is now Squire Clark, having received an overwhelming majority of votes for justice of the peace of Fairmont District.

Attorney James F. Burns drew a commissioner of accounts berth.

Dr. Chesney M. Ramage is back in his old stamping ground as head of the Fairmont Emergency Hospital. Here's hoping as all the "Brathers'" calls will be social.

There has been a lot of beer go over the bar since you had any report from our Alumni Chapter; so we are going to give you a regular personal column.

Harold F. Rogers continues to be Dean of the Chemistry Department of the State College.

Bruce Bailey, a civil Engineer and loyal Delt, has moved to Morgantown. We will all miss him.

A. B. Cole, an old time Delt, is right-of-way man for Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company.

George Cole, his son, has moved to Beckley.

Brooks Hutchinson, Harry Watkins, and Arthur Michie have had recent additions to their homes. (Michie has a new refrigerator.) Both Brooks and Harry are doing nicely.

Mel Jacobs is so busy he has not had time to join us in any recent luncheons.

Clay Amos and Howard Boggess were recently appointed commissioners in chancery. Bill Lehman still holds one of these positions.

E. R. Bell, a successful attorney, spent much of his summer in Canada. He really went to fish.

Frank Hutchinson and Jasper Colebank have been on the sick list, but are on the road to recovery.

Merle Amos is with the West Penn and makes us pay our gas bills on time.

John B. Windsor has changed his affections from Standard Oil Company to the Gulf Company.

Hugh E. Jones, owner of one of the largest fur storage plants south of the Mason-Dixon Line, confided that he was so much in love with his wife that he must go home to lunch and couldn't attend Delt luncheons.

Albert Kelley is teaching the boys at the Akron, Ohio, High School that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points.

George Hill is having a successful year as football coach at Fairmont East Side High School.

Now that Brock Showalter, the coal baron, is with the Continental Selling Agency, the miners are going "back to the mines."

Lob Watson has been inactive, due to a fall in the bath tub last May—yes it was on Saturday.

Harold Sargent is state salesman for the Fairmont Mining Machine Company.

The Standard Oil Company transferred Emmett Showalter to Charleston as their assistant manager for West Virginia.

Lloyd "Hunk" Sample is practicing law.

John Deveny is still with the Standard Oil Company.

H. Leland Ogden and his father have formed a law firm.

In spite of the NRA Edgar Barrett is holding down two jobs; still noted for his orchestra and is mine clerk on the side.

Gohen Arnold is keeping his coal mines busy.

Jimmie Hutchinson is with the American Oil Company.

Sutton Critchfield, a loyal Delt from Keynon, is always on hand at the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company and for all Delt activities.

Earl Jackson, Jr., has recently opened a plumbing and electric shop.

Fitzhugh Donnally is with the State Road Commission.

John Ross Reed is in Chicago doing Chautauqua and radio work.

Jack Abbott is touring England.

June Deveny is doing state work at Charleston.

Burt Watson has moved to Wheeling and is with the Standard Oil Company.

J. E. Watson, Jr., is in a brokerage and insurance business here.

John Burns is handy man for his father.

This totals a report on forty-seven members of our Alumni Chapter. Can any town of approximately 20,000 equal this report in number?

HOWARD BOGGESS

The Hamilton Delt Club

We had a most interesting meeting here August 15th, when with more than fifty Delts in attendance we gave one of the largest and most spirited Delt get-togethers in a long time. Primarily, the dinner was a rushing affair for the boys who are going away to school next year, but it also served as a dinner for reuniting the old fellows of this district.

The men in attendance were from Cincinnati, Miami, Ohio University, represented by their rushing chairmen, and all prospective Delt material from this district.

JACK BOSCH

Kansas City Alumni Chapter

Since our last letter we have had considerable activity in connection with rushing for the nearby universities. As usual, we had substantial delegations at both Lawrence and Columbia for all or part of their rush weeks.

The most successful rushing event of the season was a dinner put on by Gamma Tau at their chapter house. A large number of our alumni attended, supplying the place of the many actives who were unable to make the necessary long trip.

The outstanding event of the summer given by the alumni chapter was the steak dinner June 30th, at which the attendance was about as large as we have ever had at such an affair.

Those who attended the Karnea at Chicago feel that particular mention should be made of the splendid hospitality shown them by A. B. Walling, former president of this chapter, now a resident of Chicago.

Bob Davenport, formerly field secretary, is now located in Kansas City. We are glad to have him with us.

We are continuing the weekly luncheon each Friday at 12:15 at the Hotel Kansas Citian, formerly the K. C. A. C.

MARTIN B. DICKINSON

Louisville Alumni Chapter

The summer was rather dull for the Louisville Alumni Association, but a dinner was held for rushees rounded up by active members of Delta Epsilon Chapter who reside in Louisville. The meeting, at the Brown Hotel, was supplemented with a later party for rushees on C. Bert Stansbury's boat. It may interest his former friends at the University of Cincinnati to know that Bert recently was elected president of the new Louisville Yacht Club, one of the first activities of which was the staging of a motorboat parade from the Pastime Boat Club to the Louisville Boat Club on the Ohio River.

Raymond G. Clark, who attended Cornell, is sales manager for the new Ackerman beer. He believes Ackerman is the sort of beer that will convince Milwaukee it only thought it was famous. The brewery is in New Albany, Indiana, across the Ohio River from Louisville, and it is remarkable how little Louisville Delts think of bridge toll costs whenever they want to chat with Ray.

Arthur Peter, Jr. is head of the educational division of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times. His former associates at Virginia will be glad to learn that this is regarded as one of the most valuable pieces of newspaper boys' welfare work done by daily newspapers.

Marion Cardwell of Ohio Wesleyan has been busy with Economy League and NRA work when not advising his clients on stocks and bonds.

Louisville is looking forward to a visit on November 3rd and 4th by Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, who will speak at a district meeting of the Kentucky Education Association.

DONALD McWAIN

Memphis Alumni Chapter

The alumni of Memphis are very happy over the prospect of having the 1935 Karnea. We are looking forward to that date with considerable pleasure, and at an early date we are planning to have a joint meeting with Pi Chapter at the University of Mississippi at which time we will work out an organization for handling this important event.

We feel that the chapter at Mississippi is to be congratulated on their conscientious and hard work that they did for the Fraternity in the South, and we all feel sure that the entire Fraternity will bank on the 1935 Karnea as one of their best and most worth while national conventions.

Nate Sawrie of Beta Theta and Mrs. Beverly Baird were recently married.

S. L. Lawo of Delta Delta is connected with the General Motors Acceptance Corporation of Memphis.

Enoch Brown of Lambda is the general manager of the advertising department of The Commercial Appeal, Memphis.

George Faison, Phi was recently elected president of the Tennessee Tennis Association.

J. C. Kincannon of Pi was a delegate representing Memphis at the American Bar Association at their most recent convention.

GEORGE W. FAISON

Milwaukee Alumni Chapter

The Milwaukee Alumni Chapter has had a very quiet summer.

At the date of writing, I have had no news of death or marriage of any of the brothers. I do have, though, the distinct pleasure to announce the arrival of a baby girl to Augie Backus, Jr., Beta Gamma, '29, and a baby boy to Art Sawers, Beta Gamma, '22.

Our most recent get-together was the dinner dance held at the Milwaukee Yacht Club for Milwaukee's prospective rushees. We had twenty young men as our guests, and from all appearances the party was a great success.

During the fall and winter seasons we have arranged for regular monthly meetings to be held at the Milwaukee Athletic Club. Specific dates will be arranged later.

Your Secretary cannot conceal from you the fact that one of our number from Beta Gamma, Brother Druse by name, has entered into the field of big business. He is heading the newly organized Druse Broadcast Advertising Service.

Kurt Sisson of Beta Pi, the former secretary, still insists that Milwaukee beer is the "Best What Gives."

Old Jim Bannen, Beta Gamma, '31, since the advent of the NRA, prophesies better times ahead.

A few of the brothers have promised to contribute some real news for the next issue; so watch for us.

NORTON D. KLUG

New Orleans Alumni Chapter

The New Orleans Alumni Chapter reports with just pride a renaissance of the far-famed Delt spirit in an organized sense. Weekly luncheons have been resumed, and attendance has been reassuring. Alumni house meetings and banquets have been unusually well attended, and the presence at the chapter house of many of the prominent alumni of the Tulane chapter on Pledge Night effaced any semblance of apathy on the part of the New Orleans Alumni Chapter. The spirit of co-operation between the alumni and active chapters accounts in no small measure for the excellent rushing results.

Alumni luncheons are held on Wednesdays at Solari's Grill. Saturday night is Open House at the chapter house, when alumni are expected to meet members of the active chapter.

On May 18th we had our regular spring banquet at the New Orleans Country Club, which was one of the largest Delta gatherings of its kind in New Orleans. A total of some eighty alumni and active chapter members were present, among whom were practically all the founders of Beta Xi Chapter. C. Robert Churchill was there; J. Hughes Rapp, Ivy Kittredge, Charles F. Buck, Jr., Burt W. Henry, and a large number of the older group were present. It was one of the most gala and peppy affairs our chapter has ever held.

On September 19th the alumni and active chapters had the annual rushing banquet, and as usual, the alumni turned out en masse, there being seventy-seven present. James H. Morrison, one of our talented young alumni, gave a memorable impersonation of a certain prominent political personage in one of his recent escapades, which was the best shot of the party.

As this letter goes to press, news has just arrived of the marriage of Dr. Gilruth Darrington on October 6th. Best wishes to "Gilly!"

EMIL NAEF

Portland Alumni Chapter

Another summer has gone the way of summers; but it has been a very eventful summer for the Portland Delt alumni. Many social functions have terminated in success. Dancing, outings, and sports have been the main features on the program.

Underneath all these gay affairs there is the steady current of the more serious problems that balances and holds together as the foundation of a huge building. Each Delt, in addition to his quest for a livelihood, has been doing much for the advancement of the brotherhood.

Dr. Paul T. Neely, Dr. John Hand, Dr. Harry Mackay, Dr. Ray Kaupp, Harold Emmons, Mason Dillard, Herbert White, Mark Gill, Spencer Baird, Chriss Farriss, Edward Smith, George Kellog, Russel Oliver, John Harris, Jerry Plue, Herman Blaesing, Walter Simpson, Elting Launt, Charles Kilgore, Ernest Haycox, Ned Twining and the Woodruff boys are a few that are attending meetings faithfully. Many more names of active Delt alumni will be forthcoming. Watch this column, so that you can get in touch with some one that you would like to hear from.

Let this be an invitation to all Delts that visit Portland to call on the Portland Alumni Chapter and get acquainted. You will find us a very interesting bunch and easy to get acquainted with. Also, let this be an invitation for all in and around Portland to get out and attend some of our functions. You will always be able to get any information desired from Mark Gill of the J. K. Gill Company with reference to get-togethers.

The bi-weekly bridge parties are beginning to function with larger crowds than ever. Don't fail to come out and join the crowd if you would have an enjoyable evening.

A line from any brother interested in the Portland Alumni Chapter would be appreciated and promptly answered—in fact, a line from any one interested will be appreciated and promptly answered. Let us hear from you.

JOHN A. STIMPSON

Alabama

'27—Bruce Connatser was sent from Chattanooga to the Kansas City Blues in an effort to strengthen that team's American Association entry. Connatser is the property of the Washington Senators. A step-up for Connatser.

Baker

Karl Spear, chapter president last year, was married to Miss Rhoda Shottliff, Phi Mu, of Kansas City, September 23rd. They are making their home at Wellington, Kansas, where Karl is a mail carrier.

Mrs. and Mr. Bill Fischer of Wathena, Kansas, are the proud parents of twins, a boy and a girl.

Dean Ebricht of Baker has been down to the house several times this fall.

Henry J. Allen is making a tour of Russia. After his return he is to write a series of newspaper articles on Russia.

Harley Haskin had his appendix removed the latter part of September, but has completely recovered. He visited the Shelter recently.

Howard Tisdale is attending De Pauw University.

Noel Wightman is attending Missouri University.

Pax Mize is attending Law School at Kansas University.

Murlin "Diz" Cross is selling Chevrolets in Columbus, Kansas.

Brown

'09—Ed Carley is a dyed-in-the-wool Southern gentleman now. He lives in Hampton Gardens, Richmond, Virginia, and is sales manager for the Certainteed Products Corporation.

Butler

'11—Bob Burton is on the State Bank Commission.

'19—Bill Schmalz has a hoodoo following him. First, one of his boys had infantile paralysis. Then the other fell from a tree, and while he was in the hospital No. 1 celebrated with pneumonia. Mrs. Schmalz in the meantime concluded that the hour was propitious for a little hospital stay. Just as Bill was making headway with the bills he went to the old home town in Indiana and broke his leg. Here is a great chance for any Delt doctor who wants to build up his practice.

'27—Hermon Phillips is head track coach at Butler.

'28—Archie Chadd is coaching at Anderson, Indiana.

'30—Don Youel is getting his teaching license at Butler this year.

'31—John Cavosie is playing football with the Portsmouth Spartans.

'33—Dwight Billings is at Duke University as assistant professor of botany.

'33—Jack Lederer is working on The Indianapolis Times, and is pledge adviser this year.

'33—Rex Webster is assistant professor of botany at Johns Hopkins.

'33—John Yager is head of the Boys Department of L. S. Ayres.

California

Alumni Contributing Editor: William W. Gay,
919 Mendocino Avenue, Berkeley, California

2601 Durant Avenue, the old home of the chapter, has been razed and in its place is being built a concrete and steel structure. It will be a Christian Science reading room for the use of University students.

'02—Raymond ("Pat") Wheelock has evidently found the Fountain of Youth, according to Bug Springer and Parker Holt. This was their comment after looking at a picture of Pat which Bud had recently received. Mebbe it is the climate of Battle Creek, Michigan, or the absence of problems in the retail hardware business that Pat operates.

'13—Gilbert ("Fat") Willoughby, the watermelon king of Imperial Valley, and his wife stopped off in Berkeley on their way home. They motored to New York, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Reno, and way-stations. He tired after five minutes in the Carlsbad Cave and decided to return and wait for the others of the party at the entrance. It didn't work, for he saw that as they went into the cave the lights behind them were turned off. Sure, he completed the four hour trip, but how the dogs did bark!

'15—Lansing ("Doc") Bailey was found this summer in the high Sierras by the writer. He and his wife consented to stay at our camp over night, and the camp fire session was a long one. Doc is in the produce brokerage business in Lodi.

'22—Dick Armstrong has been holding out on the boys, for it is just out that he has been married for the past two years. He is in the investment security business with Wulff, Hansen & Co., and living in San Francisco.

'22—James ("Jim") Hamill has had to add plate glass and window insurance to his brokerage lines. The coming of Miss Hamill, born last April, explains Jim's protective move.

'28—William ("Bill") Phillips made a record dash from Seattle to Berkeley on August 8th and returned the following day with a wife. Miss Loraine Richardson of Berkeley was the bride. Bill is the Northern representative of the East Side Brewing Company and lives at 3130 Elliott Ave., Seattle, Washington.

'30—Ellis ("Togo") Thornton was found trying to make away with the Golden Bear from the lawn of the chapter house. He explained it would make an excellent toy for the new member of his family. It is not known whether it is a boy or a girl.

California at Los Angeles

Alumni Contributing Editor: L. N. Fitts,
645 S. Olive St., Los Angeles, California

'27—Ronald Smith is ranching at La Hala, California growing supreme avocados, as the local chapter can testify.

'27—Ed Thomas, first head of the house, is attorney for the Long Beach Department of Water and Power.

'28—Charles Miller has been placed in full charge of the Absorption Plant of the Union Oil Company at Taft, California.

'29—Mike Alsen, now attorney with the firm of Fredrichs & Fredrichs in the Edison Building, has been making a most interesting business trip to the Mother Lode Country.

'29—William Dunkle is now with the credit department of the Southern California Edison Company.

'29—Frank Fields and his wife Ruth have received the sympathy of both the active and alumni chapters in the death of their first child, a daughter.

'29—Arch Tuthill was recently appointed assistant legal council for the Pacific States Savings & Loan Association.

'29—Ray Walker has transferred his activities in the Studebaker Corporation from South Bend, Indiana, to Providence, Rhode Island, where he is branch manager.

'30—Richard Callahan may be found at the offices of Allied Properties, Inc. on Beverly Boulevard, where he is acting as assistant manager for three apartment houses.

'30—Hal Campbell is making his fourth trip around the world as purser for the Dollar Steamship Company.

'30—George Cuthbert is completing his second year in the Forestry Service.

'31—Richard Cuthbert is employed as resident geologist on the seven million dollar San Gabriel Dam near Los Angeles.

'31—Robert Knopsnyder says his business has been improved by the depression. He is the leading undertaker at Cotton, California.

'32—James Long has entered the Medical College of the University of Southern California.

'33—John Biby is now enrolled in the Stanford Law School.

'33—William Cooper has completed his first six months with the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company.

'33—Arthur Houser has entered the service of the Fox Film Corporation in the still department. This department does not deal in spirits, but makes still photographs of all movie sets, to insure the same detail in each scene.

'33—Drew Palette is enrolled in the University of Southern California Graduate School in pursuit of a master's degree.

'33—Clarence Smith, last year's head of the house, has cast his future with the Aetna Life Insurance Company and is located in Los Angeles.

'33—Lewis Whitney has enrolled in the Wharton College of Business Administration at Pennsylvania.

Cornell

'95—Col. Ralph McCoy has been transferred from the Philippines to the Ninth Coast Artillery, the Presidio, San Francisco.

Dartmouth

'18—Ernest H. Earley is with the Northwestern Mutual Life, 16 Court St., Brooklyn. With Mickey Clear as president, Bert Nelson holding down the Milwaukee end, and Ernest taking care of Brooklyn, the company seems to be in good shape.

'20—"Mose" Robinson is editor for the Scholastic Publishing Company and is reported to be becoming as bald as a cue ball, with only a few sprouts left. But the youthful glint is still in his eye, and rumor has it that he has little difficulty in enjoying and being enjoyed as one of New York's leading bachelors and a catch for any sub-deb.

De Pauw

Over thirty actives and alumni gathered at the reunion banquet given at the Union League Club during the Karnea. Dick Mercer, who returned from his honeymoon just in time to make the final arrangements, was in charge.

'30—Dr. Towne Stephenson was married to Miss Mildred McFall of Rushville, Indiana, September 7th. They will be at home at 404 Campus Ave., Pullman, Washington, where Dr. Stephenson is professor of Physics at Washington College.

'33—Robert Bailey is taking work in economics at Northwestern leading to a Master of Arts degree.

'33—Ernest Beler is working as a junior accountant with Lowe & Campbell Sporting Goods Company of Chicago.

'33—Roy Williams is working in the claim department of the Davis Company in Chicago.

'34—Fred Burns is working in a Chicago wire factory.

Duke

'30—Alton Sadler is teaching mathematics at the Junior High School in Durham.

'33—Howard Lackey is back at Duke taking graduate work.

'33—William Tuckwiller is credit manager for the Charleston Motor Sales Company in Charleston, West Virginia.

Hillsdale

Alumni Contributing Editor: Owen H. Wyandt, Care Rogers & Tracy, 120 S. LaSalle St., Chicago.

'25—E. C. Arnold is making rapid progress at the Marshall Field retail store and is now an assistant buyer in the fur department.

'25—Frank Smart is back in Chicago representing the United Cigar Company.

'28—Russell Griffin has completed his Master's degree in English and is considering a Doctor's. At present he resides in Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

'28—Geo. B. Johnson is aiding the unfortunates in Kalamazoo, Michigan, through the Colonial Loan Company.

'29—Don MacClean competes with Johnson representing the Household Finance Corporation at Kalamazoo.

Idaho

'29—Norman Johnson has a position in the Moscow High School and now is close enough that he has no possible excuse for not dropping in on the chapter every day or so.

'31—Glenn Shern has jumped from baker at Coeur d'Alene to shipping clerk at the Montgomery Ward store at Lewiston. By the way, the president of Montgomery Ward, is a Delt. No connection, though.

'32—Fred Reiger is puffing big black cigars, and doesn't have to wait for weddings, either. He is working for a wholesale tobacco company in Boise.

'33—Francis Beers is also wielding the hickory stick, but in the schools at White Bird, Idaho.

'33—Ed Hurley, star Vandal hoopster, has settled down to a school teaching job at Arimo.

'33—Winifred Janssen, last year's chapter president, is margin clerk in the brokerage offices of Sudler-Wegener in Boise.

Illinois

Alumni Contributing Editor: Bert C. Nelson, 721 E. Mason St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Robert Lovett is located in Cincinnati, and acting as personnel man for the Procter-Gamble Company.

Franklin B. Burn's address is 134 S. LaSalle St., Chicago. Frank attended the Karnea.

Harry A. Hall is practicing law at Waukegan, Illinois.

D. L. Barsalous, Jr., lives at 7406 Oglesby Ave., Chicago.

David (Ted) Bergdahl lives at 845 Leland Ave., Chicago. He was a Karnea visitor.

Sherman Hughes lives at 2536 W. Union St. Blue Island, Illinois.

Henry S. Mount, Jr. lives at 8129 Phillips Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

John C. Goodall lives at 1100 N. Dearborn St., Chicago.

Franklin Gilmore lives at 912 N. Euclid Ave., Oak Park, Illinois.

Allison L. Angur lives at 2669 E. 74th St., Chicago.

James L. Cook, Jr., lives at 69 Lincoln Ave., Riverside, Illinois.

'94—Dietrich H. Jansen is a successful contractor at Pekin, Illinois.

'95—Albert M. Long's address is 901 State St., Lockport, Illinois.

'96—Geo. C. Liese lives in Danville, Illinois. He has two sons that made the grade at Champaign and are Delts.

'97—William Dighton is a banker at Monticello, Illinois.

'98—Willard E. Ham lives at 2108 Hastings St., Chicago.

'04—George A. Clark is president of the Bank of Peoria.

'04—Albert A. Errett is with the water company at Kewanee, Illinois.

'04—Frank M. Lindsay is a successful newspaper man at Decatur, Illinois. He also has a son in the chapter at Kenyon.

'06—Max App is with the F. S. James & Co. in Chicago.

'06—Jacob A. Rehm is with Armour & Co. Union Stock Yards, Chicago, and attended the Karnea.

'07—Francis (Conan) Doyle's address is 20 Wisner St., Park Ridge, Illinois.

'07—Brad C. Gardner is superintendent for Chapman-Smith Company, 1017 W. Washington Blvd., Chicago. Brad has a son entering Illinois this fall.

'07—Myron ("Ezra") Kendall lives at 1211 Garfield Ave., Aurora, Illinois, and joined his pal Zero Welch in attending the Karnea.

'07—Walter R. Ross is manager of Teal Lake Lodge at Hayward, Wisconsin. Mike Tobin and Bill McNamee go there each summer to try to catch some fish.

'07—Frank ("Zero") Welch is located at Greenville, Ohio. Zero attended the Karnea.

'08—James Stalker also attended the Karnea and lives at 904 Central St., Youngstown, Ohio.

'08—Henry Ziesing lives in Wayne, Pennsylvania. The Ziesings have three children. Henry attended the Karnea.

'09—Warren Geist is living in Chicago and of course was a Karnea attendant.

'10—Alonzo B. Galbraith's address is 4646 Washington Blvd., Chicago.

'10—W. M. (Bill) McNamee's address is 940 Forrest Ave., Evanston. He has a son in the chapter at Kenyon.

'11—Albert E. Barrodell lives at 104 Washington St., Prophetstown, Illinois.

'12—Albert A. Bullock and family have just moved to Milwaukee from Grand Rapids, Michigan. New address is 1041 E. Circle Drive. The Bullocks have three fine sons, Harold, Ted, and Abbot. They are now neighbors to the contributing editor.

'13—Glen (Rusty) Bainum is director of the Northwestern University Band at Evanston.

'13—Carroll ("Red") Crosby's address is 429 W. Superior St., Chicago.

'13—Eugene ("Doc") Grossman lives at 10624 S. Hoyne Ave., Chicago.

'13—Edward L. Nixon lives at 7409 Greenview Ave., Chicago. He attended the Karnea.

'13—Harold S. Pfeffer lives at Lebanon, Illinois.

'13—Charles ("Hez") Rees is with The Country Gentleman organization and lives in Philadelphia. He attended the Karnea.

'13—Dan McWethey's address is 503 Downer Place, Aurora, Illinois.

'14—Prentiss M. Brown's address is 1st National Bank Bldg., St. Ignace, Michigan. Prentiss is a Congressman from his district.

'14—Jas. S. Herriot's address is 315 W. Walnut St., Princeton, Indiana.

'14—Richard A. Muessel lives at 701 Cottage Grove, South Bend, Indiana.

'15—Charles B. Cochran lives at 411 E. Everett St., Marion, Illinois.

'16—Leroy O. Grieser lives at 8148 Eberhart Ave., Chicago.

'16—John Pagin is located in South Bend, Indiana, with the South Bend Bait Company. John attended the Karnea in Chicago. The Pagins have a nine year old son.

'17—Carter P. Brown is manager of the Castle Park Hotel at Castle Park, Michigan.

'17—Frank M. Judson is now with Sears Roebuck in Chicago. He resides in Winnetka, as does Buck Powell, treasurer of Sears Roebuck.

'18—Donald ("Pick") Dodds is president of the Twin City Ice Company at Champaign, Illinois.

'19—Charles E. Cary lives at 431 Summit Ave., West Chicago.

'19—Myron Reese is located in Indianapolis and attended the Karnea.

'19—Paul Schnellbacher is living in Peoria, and looking after his real estate interests.

'19—Wilson ("Pash") Smithers is with the Booth Fisheries Company in Chicago.

'20—"Bunny" Pagin is located at LaGrange, Illinois, and working for a chemical company there.

'26—Ed O'Shea lives at Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago and attended the Karnea.

'27—Richard (Dick) Ramey is a sports writer on a Rockford newspaper.

'28—J. D. Morse is a banker at Gifford, Illinois. He has three or four sons that made the grade in Beta Upsilon Chapter.

'31—Paul H. Hughes lives at 820 W. Vine St., Champaign.

'32—E. M. Hodgson, Jr., lives at Minouk, Illinois.

'32—C. N. Nicholson is married and lives at 946 N. Meridan St., Indianapolis.

'32—Frank Stover's address is 1183 Tower Road, Hubbard Woods, Illinois.

Iowa

Alumni Contributing Editor: Carl F. Kuehnle,
Halsted Exchange National Bank, Chicago, Illinois

'81—Ed J. Cornish of New York, charter member, is president of the National Lead Company of America. Mr. Cornish reflects an enviable spirit and an almost unparalleled interest in youth, in his university, and his fraternity. He has returned periodically to commencement reunions whenever the pressure of his many large business activities and responsibilities have permitted. Upon each occasion he has made the Delt house his headquarters.

'82—Carl F. Kuehnle, Sr., Denison, Iowa, former president of the Board of Regents of the University and probably its most well known living alumnus, is practising law and operating his fine new building block in Denison. Mr. Kuehnle has been on crutches for the past six months as a result of a broken ankle and leg fracture sustained by the neglect of a Pullman porter, but he is rapidly improving and expects to be "off all fours" and on his "twos" very soon.

'89—John M. Grimm, Cedar Rapids, continues unabated his interest in the University and Fraternity. Mr. Grimm has served and assisted the University alumni groups faithfully and ably in about every capacity they could find for him to fill or with which they could honor him—this in spite of his exacting duties as a leading member of the Iowa bar. John is a frequent visitor at Iowa City.

'89—George H. Mayne has been one of the leading members of the bar of Council Bluffs, for many years.

'89—Valmah T. Price, Elkador, is one of the outstanding citizens and attorneys in his section of the state and a regular in his attendance at Iowa Homecomings.

'90—C. C. Coldren of Chicago is vice-president of the Quaker Oats Company. "Clif" has lost none of his interest in the University and Fraternity, appears annually at the Chicago Omicron Alumni Delt stag, and is an Iowa Homecoming fan.

'90—James K. Ingalls of Chicago is president of the Northwestern Refrigerating Company. In spite of his cold blooded (refrigerating) game, he is the same red-blooded, warm-hearted Jim.

'90—Fred L. Kennedy, former president of the Western Division of Delta Tau Delta, lawyer and judge, is in Newton, Iowa.

'93—Lucius W. Bannister, when last heard from three years ago by your Ed., was in Denver.

'95—Prince E. Sawyer, Sioux City, is one of the outstanding physicians in northwestern Iowa. Prince has continued his active interest in Delta Tau Delta throughout the years unabated. The Doctor was recently presented by the Sioux City alumni with a Delt badge as a token of esteem and friendship.

'97—Judge C. C. Bradley, LeMars, Iowa, now famous for his engagement with the "Embattled Farmers," has many legitimate claims for fame other than that of an eminent and fearless jurist. First, he is a great Delt; he is a bachelor (unless he stubbed his toe lately), but most important of all, he is a wonderful friend.

'97—Charles S. Smith, former president of the Western Division, for many years has been with the Associated Press. "Charlie" is probably one of our most widely traveled and greatest "read" alumni. He stopped in at the Karnea for a few hours.

'97—Dr. John W. Van Dyke has for many years been outstanding in his profession in Sioux City. His son John, Jr., is a Delt at South Dakota.

'98—Paul Faust, Chicago, is a partner of Mitchell & Faust, one of Chicago's leading advertising firms. As a golfer and checker player Paul is terrible, but he has many virtues aside from his uncanny business acumen. Many Omicron men should know that Paul was one of the largest contributors to the Iowa Delt house and is one of the most loyal Delts we have. Lately Paul has acquired a reputation at Omicron Delt stags for making after dinner speeches.

'00—Frank Branigar is head of Branigar Brothers, one of Chicago's largest real estate firms. Frank has not missed a Delt function in Chicago for several years and is always "Johnnie on the spot" whenever called upon for financial help or otherwise. When the anticipated inflation arrives, Frank has promised to charter a yacht and take all Omicron Delts in Chicago around the world. Come to Chicago, young men, and get registered at once.

'00—Harry Breene, lovable bachelor prince of Omicron, who for several years served as chapter adviser, house mother, and general wet nurse for our boys in college, is now mayor of Iowa City.

'00—Charles A. Dewey, Washington, Iowa, is a federal judge and one of the best of Delts.

'00—Oscar L. Weinrich is in Burlington, Iowa. Manufacturer, fisherman and consumer de luxe. He was a bachelor in those good old days, but the ball and chain have lately taken him out of circulation.

'00—Clyde Williams, former All-American football player on the famous Iowa team of 1900, later director of athletics and for many years football coach at Ames (Iowa State College), is in Shelby, Iowa.

'02—Charles R. Crowell is with the advertising division of E. J. Brach & Company, one of the largest candy manufacturing concerns in the world. "Charlie" is also a fisherman of some repute, but a terrible penny ante poker player. His face is too honest and friendly to bluff either Paul Faust or anybody else.

'04—L. A. Crowell of Chicago and Evanston is president of the Crowell Advertising Company, one of the most successful advertising firms in the city. Whenever you use your Parker Fountain Pen, you know that Lou sold you something. The only thing against Lou is that he sent both of his boys to Williams College, where there is no Delt chapter. They joined the Phi Delts. Lou did not have much to say about where the boys went to school—he has a ball and chain too. Occasionally when Lou gets his excuse signed beforehand, he gets out among the boys. Such is life!

'04—Bert W. Rosenstone has been successfully practising law in Chicago for many years. A few years ago Bert had a corner on all the real estate in Florida but, says there are more suckers in Chicago per square inch than alligators per square mile in Florida's lake region. Bert's son is a Delt at Northwestern.

'07—John "Stormy" Jordan is practising law in Boone, Iowa, a go-getter and all that.

'08—L. M. B. Morrissey is the leading insurance man of the Tri City (Davenport.) He is not such a poor salesman, for he sold his son into going to Iowa and joining Delta Tau Delta, but probably that wasn't as tough as convincing the "forgotten man" to take a million bucks in insurance these days. Who the heck has a million bucks anyway, Larry?

'09—James G. Clark is one of Waterloo's outstanding attorneys. He probably has cornered the foreclosure market, for he seems too busy to write his old friends.

'09—Jacob Gleystein is in Sioux City practising law and making Delt speeches.

'09—Harry Snyder is also one of Sioux City's busiest and best attorneys. The professional men have it in Sioux City, and Harry is at the top. He has been the daddy of the Sioux City Delt Club for years. Not satisfied with that, he adopted, obtained the charter and whatnot for our South Dakota chapter. Have you built them their new house yet, Harry? Funny how that fellow fathers Delta Tau Delta like an old hen with a brood of ducklings. In some respects Harry is a pretty good duck though—the Eighteenth Amendment notwithstanding.

'10—Walter R. Dyer is in Boone, Iowa, a successful lawyer and leading citizen. Walter was president of the chapter.

'11—Albert G. Kass, another lawyer from Sioux City, married the best looking girl you ever saw—good looking himself, but too darn legal minded. Howdy, Bert! Come back for Homecoming, will you?

'11—Richard C. Leggett, lawyer, former prosecuting attorney, Fairfield, Iowa.

'14—Irving R. Crawford is practising law in Huron, S. D. "Gov" was in Chicago during the Karnea and showed up at Omicron stag in full dress regalia with the thermometer 95 in the shade. Same old "Gov."

'14—Vance Morton is a professor at the University of Iowa and chapter adviser there.

'14—Blake Willis is practising law at Perry, Iowa. Buried alive in the legal world and chasing the filthy lucre.

'15—Wilbur D. Cannon (Web) is still the Big Printer of Iowa and Iowa City. Web has successfully continued his father's business and always has open house for the old boys returning each year. Incidentally, Web has been the wheel horse for Omicron Realty Corporation.

'17—Fred G. Clark is a high-powered lawyer in Waterloo, Iowa. Evidently Fred is doing too much business or not enough, for he hasn't been seen around the chapter for some little time.

'17—David A. Dancer is the gentleman farmer of Lamona, Iowa. A few months ago The Chicago Tribune carried a big picture of one of Dave's farms showing the devastation wrought by the new pestilence, the corn boll weevil or what you call it. Dave was in for the Karnea, just as handsome as ever in his six feet four inch stoop.

'17—Carl F. Strub, big merchant of Iowa City, still has the big sails called ears that brought him fame during college days, but Strubby has many other sterling qualifications that might be mentioned but it might go to his head. Here's a real Delt. Has open house for all the old boys returning for Homecoming.

'17—Earl Raymond Tipton is one of the leading legal lights of Muscatine, politician de luxe and schemer extraordinary.

'18—Henry Kass is in Remson, Iowa, continuing the business of Danby & Sons.

'18—Rolly Kords is in Mediapolis, Iowa. Rolly showed up in Chicago for the Fair, but missed the Karnea.

'18—Maurice C. Miller is a consulting engineer in Des Moines. Maury has established quite a reputation for some of the splendid work he has done not only in commercial buildings, but in connection with certain construction work for the University of Iowa. Maury's wife claims he dances just like he did in college.

'18—Claude Severin is one of the outstanding citizens of Oklahoma City and the head of their leading automobile accessory plant. Claude still takes his afternoon nap, but gets the business just the same.

'19—Alonzo R. Campbell is practising law in Des Moines. Lon has so many social duties to perform and so many college affiliations such as Pennsylvania, Harvard, and Drake that he seldom comes back to Iowa.

'19—Howard M. Dancer is one of the junior partners of Henri Hurst & McDonald, Chicago's largest advertising firm. "Mix," the six foot three inch Beau Brummel of college days, has taken on a front not unlike that of the late William Howard Taft. He showed up momentarily at the Karnea, but had to leave hastily to sign some poor devil into an advertising contract.

'19—Kenneth G. Ellsworth is in Des Moines and the manager for the western section of one of the large insurance companies. "Kuck" is undeniably the same Kuck as of old. He showed up at the Karnea.

'19—Leroy A. Rader is practising law in Spencer, Iowa, but spends most of his time in Des Moines as assistant states attorney. A few years ago "Pierp" was an ardent Republican organizer of the Iowa "Lowden for President Club."

'20—Dr. John Ashby is living in Chicago and has enjoyed a most remarkable success in his profession. Jack is one of the youngest men of the staff of the Presbyterian Hospital, has a clientele of high powered patients, and if he is not getting rich, he should be. He still thinks he is a heart breaker, thinks that he is an accomplished trap shooter, and is lousy on the golf course.

'20—L. M. Fryer. The "Monk" is located in Des Moines, where he is assistant cashier of the Des Moines-Iowa National Bank. He was in Chicago during the summer with his family.

'20—Roy Taylor. The "Brute" is president of the Omicron Chicago Alumni Association, is living in Chicago, and is with the First National Bank.

'21—Herbert J. Long—Long in more ways than one. Only his intimate friends understand that. He is successfully practising law in Iowa City, Iowa. Peggy Brown, his wife, is attractive as ever, but everybody knows who wears the breeches in that family.

'21—Eugene L. Voss is an official of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Chicago. "Poopy" shoots a wild but successful game of golf somewhat hindered by an unexpected and unexplainable bay window. He uses a periscope to see the ball.

'22—Dave Mitchell is connected with the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago and located in Chicago.

'22—E. J. "Paddy" Ryan is practising law in Eldora, Iowa.

'22—Martin Van Oosterhaut is the backbone of the legal profession at Orange City. Van was married a couple of years ago.

'22—Harold Howe is practising law in Des Moines.

'22—James H. McAlvin occupies a responsible position with an office supply company in Chicago, is married, a proud father, and an erratic but darn good golf player.

'23—Ray W. Sibbert is in Chicago in the investment banking business and making quite a record in his line.

'24—Walter Sibbert is manager of the Thornton Brewery, lives in Chicago, and is well and happy.

Iowa State

'30—Dwight Moore is taking graduate work at the University of Illinois.

'32—Richard Koehn is now working in the office of the New York Life Insurance Company in Des Moines.

'32—Jake Peters is principal of the Albion High School.

Kansas

'28—William B. Dickinson, Jr., has been promoted to bureau manager for the United Press in Denver.

'33—William F. Danenbarger is editor of The Concordia News-Press.

Kentucky

'30—Bob Nelson is learning the steel business with the American Rolling Mills, Hammond, Indiana.

'30—Bob Semple is living in St. Louis. He spends his summers trying to keep cool. He is working for the Monsanto Chemical Company for a living. Bob is married.

Mississippi

Alumni Contributing Editor: Dudley Collins,
State Highway Commission, Jackson, Mississippi

'82—R. O. Gage is president of the First National Bank of Port Gibson.

'82—Charles A. Gordon is still active in Delta Tau Delta and the Democratic Party. He lives at Port Gibson.

'96—Memory E. Leake is president of the Leake-Godwin Lumber Company at Tupelo.

'00—S. P. Clayton is county attorney for the Home Land Association and was recently appointed U. S. district attorney for North Mississippi with Tupelo as headquarters.

'00—Ben H. McFarland is county attorney and also in the Home Land Association—Aberdeen is his home.

'01—W. H. Kier represents his county, and Corinth is his home. He is also city attorney and vice-chairman of the Forest C.C.C. of Mississippi.

'07—J. G. Holmes attended the Karnea. Not even the duties of city attorney make this Delt miss a Delt meeting.

'07—Joseph E. Rice is mayor of Starkville.

'11—John S. Puller is another live-wire Delt and booster of Starkville.

'13—E. L. Myers is now with the State Tax Commission and is on the University Athletic Board.

'13—O. B. ("Britt") Rogers of Tupelo is on the University Athletic Board. Britt still curses himself since he missed the great game against Alabama last year.

'24—Gilruth Darrington's engagement to Ann Hogue has been announced. He is Yazoo City's leading surgeon.

'24—J. F. Echford is a surgeon at Starkville.

'27—James W. Batson is now in Washington, D.C. Bat is secretary to Congressman W. C. Colmer of Mississippi.

'27—Dees Stribling is county attorney in Neshoba, with his younger brother Jim '32 as his partner. Dees introduced Mississippi's senior Senator, Pat Harrison, when he made his first repeal request to the Mississippi voters.

'28—Robert W. Collins, of Jackson, is chairman of the Mississippi Wets—says Mississippi has always been Democratic and will repeal the 18th Amendment.

'28—Semmes Luckett has a large practice in Clarksdale. They say the wedding bells will chime soon.

'29—Vercial Greene is still the best dressed man in Mississippi. Ask anyone on the coast. Vercial won this honor as a frosh and has kept it up.

'30—Steve Beach attended the Karnea and reports it the biggest thing he ever saw.

'32—W. R. Hollingsworth is the proud father of a son, Bill, Jr. Hollie finishes this year at the Chicago Art School.

'28—Morris Crain gets his mail at 517 West Main St., Lebanon, Indiana. He is in the insurance business.

'28—Bill Todd has accepted a position with the Bacteriology Department, University of Oregon.

'30—Murray L. Holliday, 304 Main St., Fairmont, Indiana, is an internal revenue collector in Indiana, so he told the boys when he made a trip of inspection to 16 Mendota Court this summer.

'31—Bill Carney who transferred from Beta Beta, is planning on visiting the boys this fall. Bill brought his wife to the Karnea. This rather hampered his activities but he had a good time just the same. Anyone owing Bill money can send it to 220 South Harrison Street, Shelbyville, Indiana.

'31—Robert J. Nikles is receiving congratulations. Miss Dorcus Branson, a Kappa Kappa Gamma from Wisconsin, has just announced her engagement to Bob.

'32—Phil Holliday, one of the Indiana standbys, plans to return next fall to Frank Lloyd Wright's School of Architecture at Spring Green, Wisconsin.

'32—Norton D. Klug is operating a collection agency in Milwaukee. He reported for a visit with Milt during summer school.

'32—Maxwell J. Loose stopped over to visit the fellows on his way back to Erie from the Fair, or maybe it was just to recuperate instead of visit.

'32—Victor Rice is general manager of a large dairy farm near Aurora, Illinois.

'32—J. Frank West is planning on attending the University of Illinois this fall to take special work.

'33—Robert J. Douglass combined business and pleasure at the Karnea by looking for a job. He says the looking is very good. His present address is 554 Rosewood Avenue, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

'33—Milton J. Druse is in Milwaukee and has started a broadcasting advertising company there.

'33—Robert B. Lowerie is spending the balance of the year in Germany and plans to attend school in Geneva part of the time.

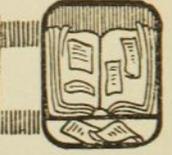

'33—John H. Westcott has not been wasting any time recently. At the chapter dinner he passed out cigars to the boys and announced the date of his wedding to Miss Laura Clark, Alpha Phi, Wisconsin.

'34—Bob Pease of 2811 Harrison Street, Evanston, Illinois, the son of Bun Pease, '07, is working in the American Steel & Wire Company mills in Waukegan, grooming himself for a later job as president of the Steel Corporation.

BETA THETA, '93

WILLIAM T. MANNING

Criticism of Chancellor Hitler's anti-Semitic campaign in Germany as "not reconcilable" with "the reign of Christ in this world" was voiced here tonight by Bishop Manning of New York.

Speaking at a mass meeting of about 10,000 midwestern Episcopalians gathered in the Chicago Stadium in celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Oxford Movement, he declared "it is not the function of the church to prescribe economic systems or forms of government, but it is the function of the church to bring the reign of Christ in this world."—The New York Times.

Cook Project Nears Completion

DELTA, '80

WILLIAM W. COOK

Hutchins Hall, final unit of the new University of Michigan Law School quadrangle, a $1,300,000 structure which will house the teaching activities of the school, will be opened for the classes of the coming term, according to the construction engineers.

The law quadrangle, built from the $8,700,000 bequest of William W. Cook to the Law School, now contains the Lawyers' Club, dining hall and dormitories, the Legal Research Library and Hutchins Hall. The latter, constructed of variegated stone and limestone, in the English Gothic style of the quadrangle, is four stories in height and has 104,000 square feet of floor area.

Hutchins Hall contains nine large lecture halls, together with five seminar rooms and a study hall. Although many of the teaching staff are housed in the Legal Research Library, Hutchins Hall will also have twenty-one faculty offices.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

State Medicine Scored

GAMMA XI, '16

RALPH G. CAROTHERS

A plea for physicians and surgeons to be on the alert and hold firm to their stand against "state medicine" was made last night by Dr. Ralph G. Carothers, president of the Association of Surgeons of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at the organization's annual convention dinner in the Hotel Gibson.

Dr. Carothers said that inasmuch as physicians had not come under the NRA code, there had been a tendency in the profession to relax the vigilance against the campaign for state control of medical practice. Physicians, he pointed out, have reasoned from prevailing conditions that state medicine is at least in the "very remote future." He did not take this view.—The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The appointment was made upon motion of counsel for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to which the railroad owes more than $5,000,000, secured by $8,000,000 worth of prior lien bonds. Counsel for the committee of general mortgage bond-holders joined in the motion.—The Chicago Tribune.

President Foils Hold-up Man

GLENN FRANK

Quick thinking enabled Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, to foil a hold-up man who invaded his sixteenth-floor hotel room here.

The robber, about 35 years old, covered Dr. Frank last night with a rusty revolver and ordered him to back against a wall. He demanded the keys to his victim's bags. The educator stepped backward and suddenly found himself in the bathroom. He slammed the door shut and bolted it. Going to the window, he called for help. The robber escaped.—The New York Sun.

Loses Fortune in "Tin-Pan Alley"

GAMMA XI, '36

CHARLES F. EGOLD, JR.

Charles Foster Egold, Jr., 19, 802 North Ft. Thomas avenue, Ft. Thomas, Ky., U. C. medical student, who writes songs as a hobby, was at the Highlands Country Club, Ft. Thomas, playing golf, Tuesday, wholly unconcerned over the fact that he had just missed winning fame and fortune in "Tin-Pan Alley."

Egold, his friends assert, is the real author of "Lazybones," the season's most popular song hit, which has swept the country by storm and the royalties from which are said to run up into staggering figures.

The youthful amateur song-writer refuses to become agitated over the fact that his name does not appear on the copyrighted sheet music of the song, and that he did not receive a dime for it.

"It's my song, all right, but I'm perfectly satisfied," he said when located at the Highlands Country Club. "I wanted only to hear one of my songs played over the air. Now I've had my wish. And, after all song-writing with me is just a hobby. My profession is going to be medicine."

Egold has been cultivating song-writing as a hobby for the past five years. He has written many songs, but never succeeded in having one accepted by the publishers.—The Cincinnati Times-Star.

Wins State Amateur Golf Title

BETA ETA, '23

LEE HERRON

The beautifully consistent golfer that Lee Herron had been playing all week hit a new peak in his final match with Bobby Campbell of Duluth yesterday and carried him to a convincing victory by 10 up and 8 to play.

It was experience, high polish in the nicer points of the game, thorough knowledge of the course he was playing and an ability superior to his opponents to carry a physical handicap that brought the veteran through.

It was a tournament that made history for Minnesota. It marked the completion of a transition which started at Midland Hills last year from a one man or a two man show to an all-star revue. It swept amateur golf in this state to a new, lofty peak. In two years the situation has so changed that, whereas it used to be a feat to win the tournament, it is now a feat to qualify for it and a magnificent accomplishment to survive the final match.—The Minneapolis Journal.

No Weakness in Sound Insurance

BETA GAMMA, '02

MICHAEL J. CLEARY

Michael J. Cleary, president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Milwaukee, who some years ago was Commissioner of Insurance of Wisconsin and was considered one of the best supervisory officials in the country, in the course of a brief address to star agents of his company in convention this week, stated one truth, the importance of which is often overlooked by the insurance buying public to its own detriment. Referring to the few, and relatively minor, failures of life insurance companies during the depression, Mr. Cleary said: "The trouble did not result from any weakness in the life insurance structure. It came from weakness in the men who managed the companies. . . . Unfortunate as these few cases are, they will serve to make present and prospective policyholders more conscious of the importance of management. That will be good for the business and for the public."—The New York Journal of Commerce.

Allen Talks to Newspaper Editors

HENRY J. ALLEN

Individuality, a respect for creative artistry, and an intense reading of their own papers by editors, with a view to correlating the news of the day with background and perspective, were advanced by Henry J. Allen, former publisher of The Wichita (Kan.) Beacon, as a corrective of the superficiality now a prime subject for the critics of newspapers.

Senator Allen told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that every item that goes into a newspaper should be worthy of rewriting, not only for obtaining clearness, completeness and simplicity, but to give newspaper people a thorough comprehension of what they are printing, an understanding now gained, he feared, from a hasty scanning of the first 25 lines of the press dispatch.

"I think if we are going to raise this editorial profession of ours to a point where it will meet the challenge of this new day, we will have to do it by sharpening our wits and adding to the sum total of our intelligence concerning that which is going on in the world. That is what I think is the matter with us.

"I think that what we need to do is to get back to the day when we cherished the originality of the editor as being the choicest thing of his paper, the day when we cherished the originality of individualism as being the thing that made, distinguished the American newspapers."—The Editor & Publisher.

Dean Honored on Birthday

CHI, '09

KIRK B. O'FERRALL

Because of his great gift as a preacher, the Very Rev. Kirk Bassett O'Ferrall, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, was selected as one of 70 general missionaries of the Protestant Episcopal church to conduct preaching missions for the church's department of evangelism. In this capacity he also became a member of the College of Preachers of the Washington Cathedral, the aim of which is to raise the standard of American preaching. When he came to St. Paul's Cathedral in October, 1930, succeeding the Rev. Herbert L. Johnson, he was the fifth dean to hold the place in that church. He came from Cleveland, O., where he had been rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church. The Rev. Mr. O'Ferrall is a native of Ohio. He was born in Piqua, July 19, 1888. After two years in Yale University he obtained his degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Kenyon College, Gambier, O., then went west and taught in the School for Boys at Spokane, Wash. In 1913 he was graduated from Bexley Theological Seminary. Today he is celebrating his birthday anniversary.—The Detroit News.

Resigns over Negro Question

GAMMA IOTA, '18

WILLIAM ST. JOHN BLACKSHEAR

The Rev. William St. John Blackshear, whose militant stand in behalf of a "white church for white people" stirred the passions of racial controversy four years ago, announced yesterday his retirement as rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Matthew, McDonough Street and Tompkins Avenue, Brooklyn. The resignation, submitted to the vestrymen of the church on September 6, will be read to the congregation tomorrow.

On September 24th the rector, who defied the liberal clergy and the press and who incurred the displeasure of his own bishop by persistently discouraging the attendance of Negroes at his church, will preach his final sermon. A few days later he will return to his "home"—Texas, where he will assume charge of a chain of missions and perhaps be elevated to the archdiocese.

"You would think," said Mr. Blackshear mildly, "that I wanted to hang every dinky to the nearest telephone pole."

Mr. Blackshear regards his career in New York as a sort of "spiritual clinic."

"It was an interesting experience," he sighed, "but now that my internship is over I shall be very glad to go home. That doesn't mean, however, that I have not had a profitable time here. But I have accepted work in the South because I want to pass the remainder of my ministry there."

The South, according to Mr. Blackshear, can teach the North a great deal about the handling of the Negro question.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

"Pinky" Higgins Has Arrived

GAMMA IOTA, '30

FRANK HIGGINS

Frank "Pinky" Higgins, lately playing regularly with the Athletics at third, has definitely arrived as a major league star, according to Columnist Ed Pollock of The Philadelphia Ledger. Pollock says there never was any doubt that Higgins was a strong batsman, and now he has also shown that he really can field. When Higgins played against the White Sox, he opposed two other Delts, Minter "Jack" Hayes and "Mule" Haas, second baseman and outfielder, respectively. Another is Gerald Walker of Detroit, hard-hitting outfielder.

A Welcome for Wallace

GAMMA PI, '10

HENRY A. WALLACE

Mississippi will give Secretary Wallace, of the department of agriculture, a genuine welcome when he comes here next week to deliver an address at the annual celebration to be staged at the delta experiment station in Washington county.

Mr. Wallace is due in Jackson on Monday, and will be the honor guest at a luncheon at the Governor's mansion, after which Governor Conner will accompany him to Stoneville.

Entertaining cabinet officers is no novelty in Jackson. We have had them with us on a goodly number of occasions in the past, but it is quite a time since we have laid eyes on a cabinet officer of the Democratic persuasion. In fact, we are not absolutely sure Mr. Wallace is a Democrat. Few folks from Iowa are, but it doesn't matter. Thus far he has been a valuable aide to President Roosevelt, and his brain has been hitting on all cylinders in this big struggle to pull the 20,000,000 farmers of the United States out of the slough of despond without at the same time pulling them to pieces.

Mississippi will therefore extend her usual open-handed hospitality to Secretary Wallace, and our citizens may feel quite sure he will have something to say that will be of exceptional interest.—The Jackson News.

Dr. Crile Makes It Clear

PSI, '92

GEORGE W. CRILE

Dr. George Crile, the Cleveland surgeon, reported to alumni of the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery Monday night that the medical profession need feel flabbergasted no longer before three specific diseases "which have stalked man in his rise and are as an evil shadow that has risen with him."

"It would appear that the brain, aided by the hand and the thyroid, is the organ of civilization," he said. "In the frontal lobe has been established the capacity for holding vast numbers of active patterns or memories that are required for the operation of the complex human state. With a normal thyroid, there is normal brain activity. With a defective thyroid, there is defective brain activity. With excessive thyroid, there is an excessive brain activity. The thyroid hormone maintains the level of activity of the brain."

Apparently man's brain and thyroid gland are undergoing a progressive evolution, while the rest of the body, being less used, is slowly devoluting as is the body of the porcupine, the skunk, the rattler and the armadillo, Dr. Crile maintained.

"The frontal lobe is the director of civilization," he said. "It is cooperative; the wild man is noncooperative. The frontal lobe wants peace; the wild man wants war. The frontal lobe respects property; the wild man steals property."

"Should the frontal lobe completely prevail over the wild man, the wild man, to a lesser extent, would exercise the functions of procreation, of muscular action and glandular secretion, and the senescence and death of the wild man would engulf civilized man.

"This newcomer—the frontal lobe—the organ and executive of civilization, has sharpened the edge of the tool of civilized life, and if the wild man wrests this edged instrument from the Master of Destiny it will cut the throat of civilization. But neither completely overcomes the other. The balance struck between these contending factors makes us what we are."—The Detroit Free Press.

Good Old Eppa Rixey!

BETA IOTA, '14

EPPA RIXEY

Old Man Time is the only champion who has never been beaten; and there are no holds barred when you climb into the ring with him! You have to admire any man who can stay the limit with old age, bad legs, bad eyes, or broken wind against him.

Such a man is Eppa Rixey, today the oldest man in point of service in major league baseball—an enviable and a well-earned distinction. Is Rixey proud of the fact? I'll say he is—and why not? There are men who have played the game longer; but none can match Rixey's record—21 consecutive years of service in the majors, without a single day in the minor league.

Rixey climbed into the majors directly after graduating from college. He pitched for the Philadelphia Nationals for nine seasons (1912-1920), then was traded to the Reds early in 1921. He's been right at home at Redland Field ever since. When the Cincinnati Club first considered giving the veteran south-paw his release three years ago, President Sidney Weil vetoed the idea because he wanted Rixey to have an honor that comes to few ball players—20 seasons in the majors. Rixey has certainly repaid the club—well enough, in fact, to extend his stay even longer! In 21 seasons, Rixey has pitched more than 4400 innings, struck out 1300 batters, won 261 games—and Eppa hasn't finished with those Pirates yet.—The Louisville Times.

Seven Years in Radio

HOWELL CULLINAN

In all the seven years that Howell Cullinan has been giving the news flashes for the Boston Globe over WEEI at 8:20 and 12:15, he has never been absent or late on a working day.

With his sympathetic voice, his individual way of announcing deaths and the progress of the seasons by the first appearance of flowers in gardens around Boston, Mr. Cullinan is probably the most popular news announcer in Boston. He receives no less than five letters a day from fans and a thousand cards and messages at Christmas time.

A bachelor, Mr. Cullinan lives at the Harvard Club in the winter and spends his summers at Winthrop Highlands. His vacations he spends with his mother in the Adirondacks.

The items that Cullinan broadcasts are left to his discretion. He is very particular about the material he uses, also about his phraseology. There are certain words he refuses to use, one of them being the harmless verb, "ask."

He thoroughly enjoys his radio work, although he appreciates its difficulties. "It's not easy," he says, "to talk to an audience that embraces East Boston, South Boston, Brookline, Harvard University, and New Haven."—The Microphone.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the Arch Chapter at its Karnea meeting:

"That it is the sense of the Arch Chapter that after a chapter is removed from probation and during the three-year period immediately succeeding such removal, should the chapter so conduct itself as again to incur disciplinary action, then such chapter shall be placed on trial for revocation of its charter."
