Delta Tau Delta is a constructive adjunct to the system of higher education. Her objective is to educate, contributing to the young men within her sphere of influence a moral, spiritual, and social development commensurate with the intellectual training supplied by the colleges and universities.

One Moment, Please

The reports of the 1937-38 college year activity for undergraduates and alumni close with this number. The sixty-first volume is completed.

Vice-President Paul G. Hoffman's address to 1938 graduates will be of interest to all undergraduates and alumni.

Author! Author! Author! presents three Delts whose names we have frequently read, but whose affiliation with $\Delta T \Delta$ may not have been recognized.

Ten Good Delts have been cited to the Court of Honor. We regret that two were unable to give us photographs in time for publication.

Beta Epsilon at Emory University presents its new home and tells us something about how they got it.

Phi at Washington and Lee has a loyal alumnus whose good work has forced him into a position of being A One Man Corporation. There is honor in that.

Now that your 1938 vacation is a matter of record, Colorado Invites You to Spend Next Year's Vacation in the Rockies.

Some of the unsung workers of $\Delta T \Delta$ are presented in the introduction of the 1938-39 Division vice-presidents. The variation of their occupations is of interest—to do justice to their loyal work for $\Delta T \Delta$ would take pages.

In Around the Fireplace with Good Delts let's "take stock of ourselves and evaluate our Fraternity in terms of its usefulness to the educative process."

Try The Editor's Mail Bag for information about what some Delts are doing throughout this country, and throughout the world.

The undergraduate chapter letters tell of the closing activities for the 1937-38 college year.

Some Delt Mothers pictorially supplements Delt Doings. House mothers and Mothers Club play an important part in the progress of many chapters.

In the alumni department you will find Let's Visit Cleveland Alumni Chapter. This active Delt organization presents a varied program that receives the support of all members several times each year.

The usual departments complete the number. The insert is your volume index to serve you if you have the four numbers bound.

Attitudes and Actions in Present Complexities

University of North Dakota Commencement Address, June 7, 1938

By PAUL G. HOFFMAN, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '12, Vice-President Delta Tau Delta

I HAVE chosen as a title for this address, "Attitudes and Actions in Present Complexities." To state it more simply, I propose first to discuss the complexities and then to give my views on how one should position oneself and what one should do in order to live usefully and happily in the present complex industrial setup. You will note that I make no reference to the why of life. That is a task for philosophers, who have been hard at it for thousands of years and who are still hard at it today.

My choice of subject puts me in the difficult position of offering advice. I hasten to assure you that I have never set high store on advice myself nor do I expect you to do so. I have always believed that each generation has the right to make its own mistakes. Furthermore, I recall the admonition of Irvin Cobb to the effect that "advice is something one gives after one has reached the age where one can no longer set a bad example." In my own defense, may I say that while it is most impertinent, it is also courageous to offer suggestions in the present unsettled and chaotic state of affairs.

At the time I was getting out of school one didn't have to be particularly brilliant to find out what to do and how to do it to be successful either in business or the professions. Those of us interested in business careers had the maxims of Benjamin Franklin to guide us and as boys we read the novels of Horatio Alger avidly. Every hero in an Alger novel followed a prescribed course. He started as office boy, worked hard, saved his money, married the president's daughter, and in time became president himself. I don't recall the rules of success for the professions, because I wasn't deeply interested. We were also under the injunction to go west and seek a growing community. In those days there was no question as to the right of the effective and competent individual to every possible fruit of his individual effort; the "abundant life" for the incompetents was never even suggested. Security was something you achieved by yourself and for yourself. You planned for yourself and if the plan was sound and you worked it well, the success was yours for yourself. A harsh set of ground rules—yes, but most potent in the building of sturdy backbones.

Today, many of the old guideposts have been swept away. Some I am glad to see go. I deplore the passing of others. The test I apply to any change is its effect on the character of our citizenship. It is the individuals in the nation who make it great. We should strive for social and governmental pressures that make for courageous, industrious and self-reliant citizens.

I rejoice in the fact that our social philosophy has broadened. The preemptive right of the individual to all the rewards of his individual effort should be subordinate to the social objective of general welfare. It is most satisfactory to note that emphasis on money as a yardstick of success has been lessened. There is a general recognition that one can live happily, usefully and successfully with little money. It is not what one has but what one does and how one does it that counts. Measured by present day standards, a university president or professor, seeking and spreading knowledge and light, may be a dynamic success—a business tycoon, a dismal failure. This sounder evaluation of what constitutes accomplishment is a pressure in the right direction.

I deplore the growing tendency on the part of many groups and individuals to look to the government for help. Some seek special privilege; some, cash; some, a privileged position. If they succeed, whatever they get must be taken from others and taxes assessed to pay the bill. But it isn't the effect on those who are taxed that concerns me. It is, rather, the impact on the character of those who are on the receiving end. The loss of dignity and self-reliance is the important consideration.

If only a few of our citizens were demanding government aid, it wouldn't be a matter of importance. It's the fact that so high a percentage are doing so that makes it a tremendous issue. When we ask the government for help, we invite government control. The concomitants of government control are bureaucracy and some degree of regimentation. A regimented economy blights the soul of man. Servility displaces independence, and initiative must give way to blind obedience.

You may think that I am overstressing the danger of regimentation in the United States. May I remind you that free enterprise and personal liberty are memories in several great nations of the world? During the last few months it has been my privilege to talk to Dr. Von Bruning, the last Chancellor of a free Germany, and with Dr. Borgese, one of the greatest scholars of Italy. Liberty and freedom are not academic phrases with these men. They personally witnessed their passing. The stories they tell of conditions in their countries now are reminiscent of the days when Al Capone ruled Chicago. You say it can't happen here. May I point out to you that many of those in America who are shouting most loudly in praise of liberty are proposing programs which will shackle free enterprise? They disregard the overwhelming evidence that personal liberty and free enterprise are Siamese twins. When free enterprise is destroyed, free government will be destroyed. Democratic government as we have known it in the United States, with its responsiveness to the popular will and its freedom of thought and action for the individual, cannot live apart from the free market. The battle for free enterprise is a battle for the integrity of the individual, for an expanding rather than a static economy.

What do I mean by free enterprise? As I view it, it is the right of the individual to invest his private capital in a lawful business, to manufacture what he pleases, to sell it to whom he pleases at whatever prices will, in his opinion, produce the best operating result. It is the antithesis of economic planning with its production and price controls. The NRA was economic planning on a grandiose scale. While it was the law of the land, free enterprise was shackled. The Guffey Coal Act is a minor manifestation of the same philosophy. Under an economy of free enterprise, competition is the main reliance for the protection of public interest. Under economic planning, this authority is transferred to government agencies.

There are certain areas in our economy in which private capitalism cannot function successfully, or at least in the best public interest. I refer to the development of great irrigation projects, water supply, sewage disposal, and the postal service. There are also natural monopolies, such as, telephone and telegraph service and utilities, over which the government must exercise a regulatory control because the play of competition is absent. It is the protection of free enterprise in the remaining and largest area of our economy which is the issue. If the government continues to encroach in this field, the inevitable result will be more bureaucracy, more regimentation, and in the end, the destruction of free enterprise and personal liberty.

As a business man, I will be the first to admit that government has important functions to perform in the field in which private capital operates. It has the right and duty to lay down the ground rules; to prevent unfairness, fraud and oppression. It is under the driving necessity of fighting monopoly. It has an obligation as well as a right to exercise its police power to prevent unsocial practices. Furthermore, whatever obligations industry has in the form of unemployment insurance and old age pensions should be defined by law and not left to the decision of the individual industrial unit. There are two reasons: first, paternalism has no proper place in the system of free enterprise, and, secondly, a governmental guarantee is necessary to assure performance. A program for security for the workers should not be subject to the hazards of business. Unless all business is subjected to the same ground rules, unless all business has the same social obligations, the unscrupulous operator has a competitive advantage. Governmental action along the lines indicated should not only be welcomed but applauded by those who wish to see free enterprise preserved.

It is when the government steps over the fence into the managerial side that I become concerned. Free enterprise cannot live unless it serves the public well. It has served the public well, because under the driving force of competition business has been forced to use ingenuity, initiative and tremendous energy to constantly improve its products and lower its prices in order to hold and enlarge its markets. Quite a different picture presents itself when the government is invested with the authority to fix prices and control production. Then the energies of business leaders are diverted from making better goods at lower prices to battling with the government for higher prices and less production. That is what happened under the NRA and it is happening in a different field under the AAA. Need I point out that an improved standard of living—the more abundant life—was never achieved by producing less goods at higher prices? The only real wealth is production, and if less is produced there is less to share.

The threat to free enterprise did not die when the NRA passed out. I call your attention to the rapid growth of licensing laws in all lines of business in all the states. For example, the State of Pennsylvania passed a law setting up a government board for the automobile industry. No man could sell automobiles or deal in automobiles without authority from this group. Furthermore, if any dealer allowed a higher price for a used car than that authorized by the State Board, he was liable to fine and imprisonment. The law has been enjoined but no one knows the outcome. Then we have the Guffey coal bill. They are all part and parcel of the thinking that governmental regulation of production, of prices, and of distribution will produce a better result than the natural forces of competition under a system of free enterprise.

In advocating the maintenance of a system of free enterprise, I am not for a moment suggesting a return to the days of laissez faire. I have already indicated the desirability of governmental action to insure fair and ethical trade practices and to place on business whatever rightfully belongs there in the way of social responsibilities. There have been iniquities and abuses and all decent business should fight for correctives, but I call your attention to the fact that under a system of free enterprise the United States has become the wealthiest country in the world. We have 6 per cent of the world's land area and 7 per cent of its population—but 45 per cent of its total wealth. Most Americans have telephones, bathrooms, radios, electrical refrigeration—and more than 25,000,000 Americans have an automobile. There have been maladjustments in the distribution of wealth, which should be corrected, but even granting that, the standard of living in the United States is the highest in the world. Nowhere else does such widespread ownership of the good things of life exist. Of much greater importance is the fact that under a system of free enterprise the pressures result in a strong, sturdy and self-reliant citizenship.

In summation, I have tried to make it clear that there is no inherent antagonism between a system of free enterprise which glorifies individualism and a broad social advance for all the people. We can retain rugged individualism without its being ruthless,

EDITOR'S NOTE: Vice-President Hoffman's address to the University of North Dakota graduates answers many questions that frequent the mind of the modern-day college man. The future is not dark. Opportunities are increasing. But it is necessary that we remove some of the supposedly old fashioned philosophies from the moth balls because success depends upon them as much today as in the days of our fathers and grandfathers.

Paul Hoffman needs no introduction. His qualifications to speak a subject so important to college men come from his position as president of The Studebaker Corporation. His career has been marked with success in business and he has served in the advancement of his country and his community through participation in educational and public welfare programs.

It isn't necessary to resort to soul destroying state socialism in order to have social security. But unless you young people see this clearly and join forces with those who are battling for the maintenance of free enterprise, America will succumb to the world wide trend toward a rationed economy, with the government dictating what we shall produce, at what price it shall be sold, and to whom we shall sell. Your attitude and actions will have a vital bearing on what transpires during the next decade.

First of all, when it comes to attitude, I urge you with all the power at my command to maintain your integrity as individuals. That one achievement, more than any other single thing you can do, will insure not only your own usefulness but the stability of this American system as well. The individual spirit of men and women, particularly young men and women like yourselves, must always remain the generating source for the progress both of the individual and of society.

It isn't only the pressure of extreme political philosophies that you must resist. Thousands of other pressures will be exerted in your social, intellectual and business lives. Those pressures have always been present—in every age, in every civilization. But today they have reached an all-time high. Floods of propaganda over national hook-ups tell us what to eat, what to drink, what to wear, and what to do in our off moments. Such pressures of themselves are unimportant, but they are all subconsciously driving us into conformity and making us more receptive to pressures exerted against what we think. There is the danger. Progress cannot grow out of conformity. It always arises from those who think for themselves. You young men and young women who have been taught to think clearly and to analyze accurately stand as the Nation's bulwark against uniformity and mediocrity. To you, future generations of Americans must look for leadership in resistance to all these pressures that tend to destroy personal, individual integrity.

Your task doesn't end with the maintenance of your rugged individualism. If that takes the form of arrogance and general iconoclasm, you are apt to be a total loss to yourself and the community. You must think independently but act coöperatively. The real contributors to progress, in either the professions or industry, are those individuals who retain their capacity for independent thought but who at the same time act in such a manner that they are harmonious moving forces in the complex setup of modern life.

And now I want to say a word for a quality that has to some extent lost standing. I refer to enthusiasm. It is quite the thing to be a bit blasé. It is a false and dangerous attitude. You will have a lot more fun and live more usefully if you tackle any job that comes your way with old-fashioned boyish enthusiasm. All the worth while people I know, whether they are two or ninety years old, are excited about what they are doing.

Dare I say a word about good manners without being considered an Emily Post? I think it worth while mentioning, because I recall so many young men and young women who have lost opportunities because they weren't courteous or gracious, didn't say "please" or "thank you" or "you first" when the occasion warranted it. Aside from any bearing that good manners may have on your success, they make for much pleasanter living. Those young men in this University who have had the benefit of R.O.T.C. training don't need this word of advice. Along with their military training they have had the benefit of instruction in military courtesy which will always stand them in good stead. I was delighted to learn that you have an exceptionally fine R.O.T.C. unit here under the command of Colonel Welshmer.

Now I wish to pay my respects to those who say there are no opportunities in business for young men and women today. Of course it depends somewhat on what is meant by opportunity. College graduates are not being sought today as they were at one time, but the world still has work to do. I am going to ask your indulgence while I tell you of my personal experience in getting a job when I left college. I had made up my mind that I wanted to get into the automobile business. I fairly haunted the agencies on Michigan Avenue in Chicago and finally landed a job as porter in the salesroom of the Halladay Motor Company. I wish I could tell you that I took great pride in the opportunity to do honest work, but that wouldn't be truthful. It didn't thrill me a bit to clean spittoons. The thing I minded most was washing windows while my fraternity brothers paraded down the boulevard in their shiny automobiles accompanied by some charming co-ed I had known. But it was work and in the course of time I got my break and became a mechanic's helper. Later on I realized my great ambition and became a demonstrator. At the end of my first year I was drawing a steady salary of $12.00 a week.

Now I want to tell you a story that really does thrill me—that of Francisco Ventressca, an Italian immigrant with whom I became acquainted when I was four years old. At that time he was employed as a ditch digger but had a sunny smile and a great way with children. When I first knew him, he was twenty years old and had little formal education, but was filled with a real thirst for knowledge. At twenty he gave up digging ditches, entered grammar school, and supported himself by doing odd jobs afternoons and evenings. At the end of eight years he had a degree from the Valparaiso University. He is now head of the department of Romance Languages in one of Chicago's largest high schools. I could tell you many stories of boys and men who have overcome obstacles and made their own opportunities. There is not today and never was justification for an attitude of defeatism. The world is on the march. There will be more opportunities in the future than there have been in the past.

As my final word, may I quote as closely as possible a talk I once heard Knute Rockne give to his Notre Dame team just before they started out on the football field. He said, "Boys, you are in fine shape physically. I know that, because I have the trainer's report on every one of you. I know what's in your heads, because in skull practice you have shown yourself adept at football strategy. But I don't know what is in your hearts. If you have the will to win, you will win, because a team that won't be beaten can't be beaten." So say I to you—a man who won't be beaten can't be beaten. He is bound to win.

Registrations Are Coming Early for the 1939 Karnea

WE QUOTE a letter from L. Allen Beck, member of the Colorado Karnea Executive Committee: "Never in the history of Karneas have registrations come in fourteen months in advance from as great a distance as Germany. Conneaut Lake got one from Denver after his arrival. Seattle had several from south of the Mason and Dixon line; with a few locals paid in advance. Pittsburgh spread soot all around western Pennsylvania and still showed no advance activity until the year of the Karnea.

"But the Colorado Mile-High Karnea, in June, 1938, has already paid up in the hands of William E. Glass, Finance Chairman, thirty $10.00 registrations from Colorado Delts; and then this one from Berlin, Germany, sent in by Erwin G. May, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '20, Diplomatic Attaché at Berlin, representing the U. S. Treasury Department.

"May writes, 'It would be disappointing to me not to be registered for the great Karnea in Estes Park, Colorado. I hope to return to America next summer and will make every effort possible to attend the Karnea.'

"And that, Mr. Editor, was not in German Marks, but in American dollars. . .

"And the credit for this, of course, goes to Bill Glass, also of Gamma Alpha. . . ."

Author! Author! Author!

By ARTHUR J. LARSON, Gamma Rho (Oregon), '23

FOR A bit more than 19 years I have known three world famous Delt authors: Robert Ormond Case, Ernest J. Haycox, and Edison Marshall—all products of Gamma Rho (Oregon).

Bob Case was a senior at Gamma Rho when yours truly was a frosh, and he adopted me as his particular frosh, so I learned to know Bob very, very well.

Erny Haycox and I fought the Battle of Higher Education together. In fact, he used to pay me a penny a minute in college for massaging his hair (maximum amount that could be earned at one time, ten cents).

Eddie Marshall (in my freshman days) used to come back to Gamma Rho from his bear hunts and tell the tales of peril he had run. He also brought his gorgeous bride to visit the chapter one time. And boy! I still recall the 50¢ imported cigars he passed out. And also there was Eddie's famous "Umba" song imported especially by him from the depths of darkest Africa—there was a song!

Little did I dream then that Lady Luck would smile on me and that in the year 1938 I would be asked to emulate a figure of the past, namely, one Boswell. Boswell wrote about one famous literary figure while I "out Boswell" him by writing about three world-famous figures.

In knowing these Delts I have received much from them in the way of comradeship, friendship and fraternalism. I apologize that I cannot weave words on the pattern of life as they can, so I could spell-bind you, but I'll do my best.

These three men need no introduction to the reading world of magazines as their names are household words in the homes of this country. But in THE RAINBOW it seems logical to introduce these writers to the brothers.

Robert Ormond Case is a tall, handsome man, slim and straight as in the days when he hurled the javelin for the University of Oregon. His eyes are dark. His broad shoulders fill out a tailored coat nicely.

When Bob talks his face always carries a smile and he has an infectious grin that wins one over to him immediately. He has a way of turning his head slightly towards the person he talks to. Bob just oozes with friendliness and courtesy and when you meet him once you feel you have known him all through life.

So much for the picture of Bob as he is today. He was born in Dallas, Texas on October 8, 1895. Then his family moved to Canada where he was educated in the public schools. He came to Oregon in 1910, and attended the Tualatin Academy, Forest Grove, Oregon, graduating in 1915.

Next he entered the University of Oregon and affiliated with Gamma Rho, spending two years there before the World War. When war came to engulf a maddened world Bob enlisted immediately in the 65th Coast Artillery Corps. Before long he was on a transport bound for France, and during his twelve months overseas was at the front for seventy-two consecutive days; taking part in five major engagements. When the war ended Bob returned home and resumed his studies at the University of Oregon where he was graduated with a B.A. degree in 1920.

Immediately after graduation Bob joined the staff of the Morning Oregonian as a reporter, and later became publicity director of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce. He began writing fiction in 1923. Prior to his first attempt in the fiction field he was reading a story in a magazine one evening and after finishing it remarked to his wife, "I believe I could write a better story than that." His wife quietly answered, "I believe you could too, Bob; why don't you?" To which he had to reply, "I will!" He did, and he sold his first short story.

Bob's first stories went to the pulp magazines, and later stories have appeared in such national publications as The Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Country Gentleman, American and Liberty. He has written nine novels to date, and some of them have been translated into five languages. His serial Wings North was in the Post this year, and is now published as a book by Doubleday, Doran & Company.

To help encourage neophyte writers at the shrine of the Literary Craftshoppe this triumverate plan to sponsor—in 1939—at their alma mater, the Marshall-Case-Haycox short story contest, which is an outgrowth of the Marshall short story contest which has been running for years at the University of Oregon. Undergraduate students may enter this contest each year, and the best short story submitted wins a cash prize.

But to get back to the genial Bob, and to complete his case history. He has been a member of the executive council of the Portland Delt Alumni Association. He also belongs to Alderwood Country Club in Portland, the Pipe and Book Club, the Rosarians—a society that sponsors the world-famed Portland Rose Festival each year in Portland, Oregon; is a Mason, and belongs to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Ernest James Haycox is of medium height, well proportioned, and is what is known as the wiry type. He has friendly brown eyes which twinkle continually. His face is usually very well tanned as he loves to go places and do things when not writing. He has become quite a ski expert. Erny has the habit of quickly compressing his lips just before he speaks, and his voice is rather musical as he lets his words ripple out, nicely picked and expressively given. He is another Delt who is very easy to meet and after meeting him one instantly likes his friendliness.

So much for the modern picture of Erny. He was born in Portland, Oregon in 1899, and grew up in the Northwest. He sold newspapers in Portland when he was ten years old. Erny worked part of his way through high school as a bellhop in a Portland residential hotel, as well as washing dishes in several small town restaurants when the wanderlust called him. He even worked as a news butcher on a California railroad. He went to the Mexican border with the Army when he was sixteen. He had almost finished Lincoln High School in Portland when the World War broke out, and was given his diploma when he joined the Army again.

His first Army duty was guarding tunnels and power flumes in Eastern Washington, as well as chasing I.W.W.'s during the first stage of the war. He went overseas in late '17 and spent fourteen months in France, chiefly training draft troops behind the front. In his own words he remarks, "I saw Paris when Germany's Big Berthas were coming over and I never grew any taller after that."

After the war Erny did a lot of roustabout work. In the meantime he went to Reed College in Portland for one year. Again the wanderlust called him and he went to Alaska where he did some commercial fishing, and after that he decided to see the country and see what the land of the free really was like. He became quite a hiker and also soon became adept in the art of side door Pullman riding. As he found that this—while a free life—was becoming very tiresome, he decided to complete his education and entered the University of Oregon and soon became affiliated with Gamma Rho. After three years at the University he obtained his B.A. degree in 1923.

Upon graduation he, too, joined the staff of the Morning Oregonian in Portland and was assigned to the police beat. His police stories, written with his dramatic touch, are still monuments for embryo reporters to marvel. Underneath his winning personality is an undimmed yen to be a rancher or gentleman farmer, but as yet he isn't in that field.

Erny sold his first story while in the University, and continued to work at fiction while on the newspaper. In 1924 he went to New York to buck the magazine market, and while there lived in Greenwich Village and occasionally starved, but not in a garret. He came West again to get a fresh start and when he had sold a few yarns returned to the East.

On the train going east this second time he met Jill Chord of Baker, Oregon. This meeting grew into friendship and that friendship ripened. They were married in the Little Church Around the Corner, March 4, 1925. Jill Chord was doing art work in the East at that time. Shortly after their marriage Erny and Jill returned to Portland, and have resided here ever since. Two fine children are the pride of the Haycox's domicile: Mary Ann, ten, and Ernest James, Jr., seven.

Erny has written two hundred fifty or more short stories and thirteen novels, nearly all of them dealing with the West.

Edison Marshall, as I remember him, was the husky type. He was well built, stocky, muscular, a bundle of nervous energy very quick in deed and action. He had one refractory lock of hair that was always askew, especially when he was talking or walking. He had a small, well-trimmed mustache, trained down to the last hair and worn in the smart military manner. His practical hands, continually busy with something or gesticulating, were of the muscular type. His eyes were ubiquitous in that they took in everything in the immediate vicinity. They snapped at streamlined speed and his words washed along in an explosive sort of manner, clear, and sometimes clipped, yet the fluidity of his speech never slackened, even if using words of more than three syllables.

Eddie may have changed in form a little today, but I doubt if his dynamic quality has; if anything it should be speeded up, judging from the traveling and writing he has been doing the past few years. But to get on with his history.

He is classed as a Hoosier, as he was born in Rensselaer, Indiana, August 28, 1894. Quick and highly studious he went through his early educational years with high marks of proficiency.

In due course Medford, Oregon, was his home. Eventually he gravitated to the University of Oregon and became affiliated with Gamma Rho. He was at the University in the years 1913-1915.

If memory serves me right I believe that Eddie sold one of the first short stories he wrote to The Saturday Evening Post, and the title was The Missing Seventeen or something akin to it. A mystery war story, it created a big impression on the reading public at the time and firmly established

EDITOR'S NOTE: Arthur J. Larson, as his article tells us, made his acquaintance with the three authors during undergraduate days. He also has joined the professional ranks with the pen.

His early schooling came in Matchwood, Michigan, his birthplace. Moving to Eugene, Oregon, before reaching the teens his primary, secondary, and college education was completed in that city, the home of the University of Oregon.

He served twenty-two months in the Navy during the World War. Eighteen of the service months brought duty on a submarine chaser and included forty thousand miles of cruising.

College days were packed with activities. He was captain of the track team his senior year, and worked with campus publications and dramatics.

Interested in advertising he joined Montgomery Ward's promotion department in Portland, Oregon, and before closing five years of service with this company he reached important executive heights. Next came four years in advertising for three of Portland's large stores. From advertising he stepped to the editorial game with the U. S. Forest Service, his present location.

For several years he has written humor for national magazines and currently contributes a humor column in a Portland newspaper.

charming southern belle, beautiful and with all the graciousness of the Old South in her character, Miss Agnes Sharp Flythe. They were married in Augusta, Georgia, in 1920.

They have two children: Edison and Nancy. For a number of years now their home has been in Augusta, Georgia, at "Seven Gables."

Eddie's literary output has been very prolific. Innumerable short stories and myriad novels have poured fourth into the magazines and book stores of the world.

Eddie won his international laurels in 1921 when he won the O. Henry Memorial prize of $500.00, for the story called, The Heart of Little Chikara, which dealt with a small African boy who went lion and tiger hunting with the great white hunter. . . . A gripping story that stirred the pulses of a reader as very few short stories can do.

Eddie has traveled all over the globe in his search for material which appears in his stories and novels. He has made hunting and exploring expeditions in Alaska, Siberia, Africa, Indo-China and many other places.

His novels are as well known as a man's monthly bills, some of them being: Voice of the Pack, Snowshoe Trail, Skyline of the Spruce, The Doctor of Lonesome River, Forlorn Island, The Splendid Quest, and Sam Campbell, Gentleman.

Many of his fascinating novels appear in serial form in such national "slicks" like Good Housekeeping, American and Cosmopolitan.

As mentioned earlier Edison Marshall originally endowed the short story contest at the University of Oregon which is being changed to the Case, Haycox and Marshall contest.

I hope I have given you a fairly good picture of these three grand fellows and brother Deltas, and if my "Boswell-attempt" falls short, I know they will overlook it and with their best poker faces say, "Well, that's that." So, in conclusion, may I say, "Author! Author! Author! Bob Case, Erny Haycox, and Eddie Marshall, authors all of the highest order, and especially fine Deltas."

Eddie as an author with a great future, which time has well proved.

When the bugles of war sounded in the night of the chaotic World War, Eddie answered the call and enlisted in the Army. He became a "shavetail" or I should say 2nd Lieutenant. He received his honorable discharge December 27, 1918. While in the Army he met his future bride, a

Beta Epsilon's New Home

New Delt House at Emory

CLIMAXING a continuous existence at Emory University since 1882, Beta Epsilon dedicated its new Shelter last March. A fitting celebration for Founders Day, both actives and alumni gathered to begin a new era in the history of Emory Deltism as President N. Ray Carroll conducted the dedicatory ceremony.

Completed and occupied on January 3, the new Shelter was constructed at a net cost of approximately fifteen thousand dollars and was the fruition of several years' diligent work on the part of Chapter Advisers G. Leonard Allen, Jr., Beta Epsilon (Emory), '35, and William B. Spann, Jr., Beta Epsilon (Emory), '32. The house is considered by the University to be financed on a sounder basis than any other fraternity house at Emory.

Emory administrative officials have been very progressive in their relations with fraternities. A fraternity row, located on the campus proper, was established over a decade ago where building sites are furnished without cost. $\Delta T \Delta$ was the fifth fraternity to build on the Row and two more are now building.

Designed by Sanford M. Ayers, architect, Atlanta, Georgia, and following the lines of Greek Revival architecture, the house is constructed of white brick with green blinds and sits well back from the street on a lot 125 feet in width. The appropriate shrubbery and lawn together with two flagstone walkways form a most attractive setting.

Beta Epsilon has attempted an innovation in fraternity housing at Emory. With less than eight hundred undergraduate students and with a good percentage of these living in Atlanta, the need for the eleven national Greek letter lodges to furnish vast dormitory facilities is absent. Built on the idea that the most desirable chapter at Emory would be composed of about twenty-five actives, the new Shelter will provide sleeping facilities for eight members, or one-third of the chapter. The University permits no freshman to reside in a chapter house.

The first floor contains a tile terrace, entry, cloak closet and telephone booth, entrance hall, lavatory, living room, dining room, butler's pantry, kitchen, storage pantry and matron's suite. Both the living room and dining room are paneled with knotty pine having a natural finish. These rooms are also carpeted with heavy broadlooms and furnished with leather and other heavy furniture.

The living room opens on the terrace by two sets of French doors.

On the second floor are four bedrooms with ample closet facilities, bath and showers, linen closet and a large room (size of living room) with an open fireplace which contains chapter office, storage facility for paraphernalia and a space which may be used as either a chapter hall or a game room. In the event this room is ever converted into a dormitory, a room in the attic will serve as the chapter hall. The house is heated by a warm air furnace.

The furnishing of the house was made possible through the generous donations of interested alumni and the Beta Epsilon Mothers Club.

The Beta Epsilon Building Corporation manages the house, making all interest, insurance and mortgage reduction payments and receives from the chapter a monthly rental fee. All initiates of Beta Epsilon are members of the corporation and the affairs of this organization are governed by a board of directors consisting of six elected alumni and the chapter president as an ex officio member. Theo B. Bean, Beta Epsilon (Emory), '12, is president of the corporation and J. D. McLamb, Beta Epsilon (Emory), '30, is treasurer.

A One Man Corporation

By EDWARD S. GRAVES, Phi (Washington and Lee), '30

IT HAS been said that one of the more fundamental qualities of the professional man is an ability to so concentrate upon the particular matter at hand that the person with whom he is dealing gains the impression that such matter composes his chief occupation and interest. James R. Caskie, Phi (Washington and Lee), '09, our subject, was acting as its unofficial adviser and financial guardian when I was an undergraduate member of Phi; and while I know that this is but a minor one of his activities, the impression has remained with me that it is the most important.

Mr. Caskie was born on April 16, 1885, in Nelson County, Virginia, from which his family moved in 1896 to Lynchburg, Virginia, where he still resides. His preparatory education was received in the public schools of Lynchburg, and in 1903 he matriculated in the academic school of Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia. Which of the fraternities one selected to join was in those days of considerably less importance than it is now; a fraternity resembled much more a casual club than it did a new family group. Fraternities did not have houses; they did not maintain a common table; and the members continued to act more like rugged individuals than like members of a group. The fraternal activities of Phi, which Mr. Caskie joined in due course, were limited to meetings held Saturday nights in a rented chapter room. The members did not, except by chance or choice, live or eat in the same house. There was no adviser and there were no social functions. There was, in short, nothing to warn Mr. Caskie that in becoming a member of $\Delta T \Delta$, he was in for a job which would consume a sizeable portion of his time and attention for more than thirty years.

Upon his graduation in 1906—he received his A.B. degree in three years—he returned to Lynchburg and

EDITOR'S NOTE: A lawyer writes about a lawyer. Edward S. Graves received his A.B. and M.A. degrees at Washington and Lee in 1930 and 1931. Excellence in performance during the undergraduate period brought him Phi Beta Kappa honors and the Houston Fellowship which took him back to Lexington for the 1930-31 college year and the M.A. degree. Graduate work at Harvard University brought him his LL.B. degree in 1935.

His extra-curricular activities were varied—in conversation the first mentioned is his election as president of Phi, which betrays any effort to cloak his sincere interest in $\Delta T \Delta$.

For two years following his law education he served with the Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration in New York, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico.

In August, 1937, he returned to his home, Lynchburg, Virginia, to practice law and is now a partner in the legal firm, Baldwin and Graves.

taught English for one year in the high school.

At the end of the scholastic year 1906-07, Mr. Caskie decided to follow in the footsteps of his grandfather and his father and study law. He returned to Washington and Lee in the fall of 1907 for that purpose, completing the two-year law course and receiving his LL.B. degree in 1909. During his last year he continued and ended his pedagogical career by teaching a class in freshman mathematics. From this period also date two innovations in campus life. In his second year Mr. Caskie organized and was the first leader of the Interfraternity Dance, which still is one of the Finals' set of dances. The second innovation may be classed as musical; in 1908, Mr. Caskie led the student body in its first rendition of the Washington and Lee Swing.

At the termination of his scholastic career, Mr. Caskie was admitted to the bar, and began the practice of law, in which he is still actively engaged. His practice is a large and exacting one, in the course of which he has twice found it necessary to appear before the Supreme Court of the United States. He is a member of the Lynchburg & American Bar Association and of the American Judicature Society. Several years ago he was forced by the pressure of work and commitments to clients to refuse the proffered position as Judge of the Corporation Court of Lynchburg. His legal work has brought him into contact with almost all of the various industries of his locality; his willingness to donate his time and services upon proper occasion has added to his duties the aiding of many charitable and religious organizations. He is a Director in the People's National Bank of Lynchburg; takes part regularly in the Community Chest drives; gives aid and counsel to the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.; is an Elder of the First Presbyterian church; treasurer and member of the Board of the Presbyterian Orphans' Home; and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce of Lynchburg. He belongs to the Kiwanis and Elks Clubs, and for exercise golf is his choice.

A great-great-grandfather of Mr. Caskie, Thomas Massie, who had served on Washington's staff during the Revolutionary War, was several years later named trustee of Washington College. In 1924 his great-great-grandson received the same honor, being the youngest member of the Board at the time. He has served in that capacity since.

In 1904 there went into effect a system for alumni contributions to Phi which has been of considerable importance in the chapter's subsequent finances. The system is simple. Each initiate signs ten notes, in the sum of ten dollars each, payable annually, beginning the year after graduation. In 1906, Mr. Caskie undertook the management of the system, and he has handled it single-handed ever since. Including payments made last year, approximately $10,000 worth of notes have been paid, to which amount should be added over $3,000 in donations which have come through Mr. Caskie. The result has been that in 1920 the chapter was able to expend $8,000 in the purchase of a house, the chapter being organized as a corporation by Mr. Caskie on that occasion. About $22,000 has subsequently been spent in improvements, including the construction of a "false front" of white columns which has been widely copied by other fraternity houses in Lexington and which is surprisingly effective, and the transformation last year of the old chapter room in the basement into a panelled lounge room that is attractive and comfortable. The purchase of the house and all the improvements were done under the detailed supervision of Mr. Caskie, as are all the external dealings of the chapter; and he has with considerable patience helped the chapter to so arrange its accounts that it is at present in remarkably sound financial condition, regularly reducing the amount of its principal indebtedness, without undue strain on the individual member.

Mr. Caskie's duties as trustee frequently call him to Lexington; he improves his time during these visits by dropping in at the House, and, if there are any problems, they are promptly laid before him. He has an opportunity to observe how things are going and to see what steps can be taken to make conditions more agreeable and profitable. The intimacy of his contacts with the undergraduates gives him an understanding of and a real sympathy with them which enables him to present their point of view before the Board.

Mr. Caskie has kept the trust and confidence of the undergraduates and encouraged them to rely upon him not only because his interest in them is warm and genuine, but also, because of the intelligence and tact of his approach.

As is apparent, the temptation was irresistible in an article of this kind to place greater emphasis upon Mr. Caskie's connection with the Fraternity than upon any other interest or activity. His methods of working out problems which he encounters there, however, are but typical of the methods which he employs in other undertakings; and the results have been of equal success.

Some recognition for this work came to him when he was made a member of the Court of Honor of the Fraternity; but it is highly doubtful whether the Fraternity realized how fully the honor was deserved.

A scene on Trail Ridge road connecting Estes Park and Grand Lake. The snow disappears in late summer but views like this are not uncommon in June.

Colorado Invites You to Spend Next Year's Vacation in the Rockies

THAT it's never too early to start a job is the theory of Colorado Delts and under the leadership of executive chairman, Phil Van Cise, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '07; Allen Beck, Gamma Theta (Baker), '09; Bill Glass, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '20; and Hal Martin, Gamma Omicron (Syracuse), '25, an executive committee is already at work making plans for your enjoyment at the 1939 Mile-High Colorado Karnea in the Old West.

Estes Park, two hours' drive from Denver, has been chosen for the site of the Karnea to be held in August, 1939, and this location for next year's meeting is unique in Delt Karnea history.

Situated at the eastern entrance of Rocky Mountain National Park, Estes Park, 7,500 feet above sea level, promises a real vacation in the cool Colorado Rockies.

Attracting nearly half a million visitors last year, this magnificent scenic area in the Rockies boasts 405 miles of rugged terrain and 65 peaks over 10,000 feet. Highest is Long's Peak reaching 14,255 feet toward the bright blue Colorado sky. Get your hiking boots ready—1500 people climb Long's Peak every summer.

If you're not inclined to climb you can drive over the highest continuous mountain road in the world, the famous Trail Ridge road connecting the picturesque village of Estes Park with Grand Lake, a beauty spot in a wild natural setting.

Trail Ridge road is above 12,000 feet elevation for four miles and reaches a high point of 12,185 feet. The highway is a marvel of engineering construction—wide and safe as a boulevard.

Many other scenic attractions in the Park will claim your attention and a two weeks' vacation will permit four days at the Karnea with time to visit elsewhere in the West if you like—Denver, Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region, Central City, Leadville and the old mining camps, Mesa Verde National Park or even Yellowstone Park in Wyoming.

Nature's air-conditioned vacation land will afford you a real vacation next summer and the Karnea promises to be one of the best ever held. To indicate their interest in getting the job started, over fifty Colorado Delts have already paid their advance registration fee. To prove they're not kidding, the "honor roll" will be listed in the next issue of THE RAINBOW.

AROUND THE FIREPLACE

WITH GOOD DELTS

Once again, Around the Fireplace, it is well to take stock of ourselves and evaluate our Fraternity in terms of its usefulness to the educative process.

The formative years in which the fraternity system was viewed with suspicion and distrust by college and home alike have passed, and we find ourselves a working and responsible adjunct to the college system, having demonstrated our honesty and integrity and having built our house on the firm rock of fair dealing and financial stability.

The college and the fraternity have met on the basis of a common interest. They have discovered that both are concerned with the well-being and growth of the same individual and that one must complement the other. The college has recognized the fact that the bestowal of a college degree does not imply that a man is educated in the larger sense and that one may be an intellectual giant and at the same time an antisocial boor. The college looks to the fraternity to complete the rounding-out process that adjusts a man to existing society.

The fraternity ideal needs no defense. We are privileged in that we deal with the plasticity of youth in promulgating the ideal of brotherhood, but we are charged also with the obligation of directing his inherited trends toward the "good life." We are a factor in helping him create a sense of values that weighs his own desires against the good of the group.

The fraternity has assumed and discharged its obligations on the college campus in matters pertaining to better housing, in encouraging higher standards of scholarship, and in furnishing a socializing influence. It has created an atmosphere which is dominated by the conscious purpose of bringing youth into harmony with society.

The essence of education is the breaking up and reconstruction of patterns of thought and action which were appropriate only to childhood, and it is the privilege of the fraternity to loom large as a vital factor in the maturing process.

Many young men enter college and fraternity life carrying with them their childish patterns of thought that life owes them something, and that they have only to reach out and grasp what they desire regardless of all others. But in the community life of a fraternity chapter they are led to habits of restraint and consciousness of the group welfare which will carry over into their mature habit patterns. The ability to live with one's fellows becomes a real character test.

There is no better environment for cultivating the traits of a true gentleman than in community living. The ability to meet everyday experiences with graciousness, kindliness, courage, and with respect for the beliefs and sensitivities of his brother is nurtured unconsciously in the fraternity atmosphere.

Society has failed to instill a high regard and respect for the inviolability of the law. We are guilty of the "crime of indifference" and the fraternity cannot overlook its responsibility in the matter of directing the habits of its initiates into channels of civic and moral accountability through their association with thoughtfully administered chapters.

Fraternity life forms a background that cannot be overestimated in training youth for intelligent and responsible citizenship. The fraternity, founded on the ideals of a high-minded and self-supporting democracy, is a working example of what may be accomplished in the larger field of self-government. Here, a youth learns the value of service, of being vitally interested in others, of assuming his part of the group obligations, and of accepting and discharging his obligations. Of such stuff are real citizens made!

As a man matures he enters a society which largely has freed itself from the drudgery of labor. Machines have lightened work and increased leisure hours in which a man may follow his own pursuits. The intelligent use of leisure is a mark of the educated man. Here is a field of boundless opportunity for the increased usefulness of the fraternity. The latent creative instinct in youth well may be quickened by contact with the classics in literature, art, and music. The finding and using of the potentialities within one which lead to lasting satisfaction is the key to happiness. Cultural growth ever has been an aim in the fraternity system, but it too often has been overlooked in the more pressing demands of physical and financial growth. $\Delta T \Delta$ has taken an auspicious step toward this end by the establishment of her library program.

$\Delta T \Delta$ has grown old with the ideals of her farseeing and high-minded founders ever before her. That these ideals have become a part of the lives of her initiates is not debatable. One has only to look at the men in high places who are devoting their lives to service in their own given fields, and who still take time to add the richness of their experience to the undergraduate groups, to know that they feel the warming glow of that idealism fostered in their undergraduate days.

$\Delta T \Delta$ has come far. She has justified her existence. She has attained an enviable place in the fields of scholarship and financial probity. She feels that this is true, largely, because she has a fine discrimination in her choice of fraternity material.

But since we have preëmpted the educative field our obligations are great. There is no time to rest on laurels already attained, and we work toward the time when the four-square shield of $\Delta T \Delta$ will be the symbol of an educated man in all that the term implies.

Homeopathic physicians assembled from all sections of North America were told here yesterday of a new theory of the cause and cure of goitre which "will, in all probability remove the burden of thyroid disease from the shoulders of the surgeon."

Lack of protein causes goitre, Dr. HOWARD P. FISCHBACH, Chi (Kenyon), '06, of Cincinnati, told delegates to the American Institute of Homeopathy, meeting at the Bellevue-Stratford.

Forced protein diet, he added, then becomes the cure.

If this theory is accepted, it will in all probability remove the burden of thyroid disease from the shoulders of the surgeon and place it again in the hands of the internist, where it rightfully belongs, Dr. Fischbach, a homeopathic physician, declared.

"When a person does not get enough protein in his food, in the presence of a demand on the part of the body for more energy, the thyroid springs into activity to supply thyroxin to further energize the patient," Dr. Fischbach declared. "This thyroid activity produces goitre."

Dr. Fischbach spoke at a joint meeting of the institute with the International Hahnemannian Association, also meeting here. The Philadelphia Inquirer.

SIDNEY S. WILSON, Zeta (Western Reserve), '88, treasurer emeritus of Western Reserve University, has been awarded his Phi Beta Kappa key fifty years after he earned it.

Graduating from Western Reserve a half century ago, Mr. Wilson was told his grades admitted him to the scholastic fraternity, but since no initiation ceremonies were held that year he was not formally inducted into the organization until recently.

HERBERT W. FLORER, Delta (Michigan), '24, general agent for The Aetna Life Insurance Company at Grand Rapids, Michigan, has just been awarded the President's Trophy, given each year by The Aetna Life Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut, to the general agent showing the greatest general improvement in increased business, development of full time organization, conservation record, quality of production, and other phases contributing to a progressive organization.

This award is the most sought after recognition in the entire Aetna Life agency organization, and in winning it Florer has done the unusual, since he has been at the head of the Grand Rapids agency only a comparatively short time. The Grand Rapids agency is one of The Aetna Life's most important agencies.

There is something of the old-time physician about DR. J. J. THOMAS, Zeta (Western Reserve), '91, who is famed as an obstetrician and distinguished in other fields of medicine and surgery.

He is one of the most unpretentious of men, free of any talent or taste for self-advertisement, but his very appearance and manner is such as to inspire confidence in the patient.

One wondered how Dr. Thomas could do so many things and do them so well.

In private practice and as chief of staff at St. Ann's Maternity Hospital for so many years, it is estimated that he has officiated at the birth of more than 10,000 babies, a figure which is about equal to the entire population of the city of Wooster.

He served on the old City Board of Health, was one of the founders of the Cleveland Milk Commission, which established the system of providing certified milk for babies, served in important executive positions in the Academy of Medicine, and has been president of both the City Club and the Citizens' League.

For 40 years Dr. Thomas has been physician at University School. During that time he has made physical examinations of every one of the thousands of boys who attended the school. His retirement from that position this week is an appropriate time to call attention to Dr. Thomas' sterling qualities and the community's indebtedness to him. Editorial—Cleveland Press.

MICHAEL FRANCIS HIGGINS, Gamma Iota (Texas), '31, Red Sox third sacker from Dallas, Texas, broke Tris Speaker's record of 11 consecutive base hits, made in 1920, and established a new one of 12 in a row, eight of which were made in the double header with the Detroit Tigers today at Briggs stadium before 26,400 paying patrons. . . .

When Higgins set the new mark in his last appearance at bat, he was given an ovation by the Detroit fans which nearly approximated that given Goose Goslin when he won the world championship for the Tigers in 1935 with a base hit.

Mike started his record-making in the first game of the Sunday twin bill with the Chicago White Sox when he singled in his final appearance off John Whitehead, the hit driving Silent John off the mound. He followed this up with two singles, a double, and an intentional pass off Bill Dietrich, in the nightcap, Mike helping Bill to an early shower bath.

In his first appearance in the opener today he drew a walk, but followed with a double, and three singles off Tommy Bridges.

When the second game began Mike started slapping singles left, right and center off Roxie Lawson until he had accumulated four more and the record.

The amazing part of Mike's record-breaking was that there wasn't a tainted or questionable hit in the entire production. When it was announced Higgins was on the verge of a new record, four photographers crowded behind within four feet of him to record the attempt.

Just as calmly as though he were taking batting practice, Mike assumed his well-known Statue of Liberty stance and concentrated on the pitching. Lawson got the first two pitches over for strikes, without Mike's making a move to hit. The next pitch was a ball and the next went over second base so swiftly that Charley Gehringer, great fielder that he is, couldn't get within waving distance of it. Then followed the tribute that will echo in Mike's shell-like ears for many a day. The Boston Herald.

THE REVEREND DR. CARL M. BLOCK, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '06, Rector of the Church of St. Michael and St. George, St. Louis, Missouri, was elected Bishop Coadjutor of California on the first ballot at the Diocesan Convention, April 19.

KURT PANTZER, Beta Psi (Wabash), '13, has been elected president of the Association of Wabash Men. Election took place at the banquet in connection with the centennial commencement activities of Wabash College.

In the twelfth century, they had been building Chartres Cathedral for nearly 100 years. Bishop Fulbert wanted to rush it through in time for a great church convocation, but a fire and later another fire delayed the work and it was not finished until forty or fifty years later.

BISHOP WILLIAM T. MANNING, Beta Theta (Sewanee), '93, here in New York, probably would have had adequate safeguards and would have brought the cathedral through on schedule. A strict and zealous servitor of the church in all things, he seeks to obtain $435,000 to prepare the Cathedral of St. John the Divine for the New York World's Fair. Of this sum, only $125,000 is needed to start the finishing work. The cathedral, built on the pay-as-you-go plan, is two-thirds paid for and has no debt, and it is doubtless safe to say that it is the fastest growing cathedral in the world—thanks to Bishop Manning's zeal and efficiency.

Slight in stature, ascetic and etherealized in countenance, he has been a clerical Napoleon in subduing rebellion, through restless, challenging years, putting down bishop-baiters, suppressing heresy—doing all things “decently and in order,” as St. Paul commanded.

A native of Northampton, England, he came to this country, when he was 16, attended the University of the South and Nashville University, and was ordained in Redlands, Calif., in 1891. He came to New York in 1903, as vicar of St. Agnes Chapel, and was rector of Trinity Parish from 1908 until 1921, when he became a bishop. New York Sun.

DR. GEORGE W. CRILE, Psi (Wooster), '92, one of the foremost American surgeons and investigators of the phenomena of life, returned yesterday on the Majestic after a wild-game hunt in Africa, not for glory but for glands.

Together with Dr. Daniel P. Quiring of the anatomy department of Western Reserve University, and Arthur B. Fuller, curator of the Cleveland Museum, the hunting party had killed 200 creatures of virtually every class that flies, runs, or crawls in Tanganyika, in order to cut them up and examine their brains, thyroid glands, and adrenal-sympathetic system.

The result was eminently satisfactory from the scientific standpoint, Dr. Crile said and would be reported later when the data is finally collated. Otherwise, he said, it was not very exciting.

Among the creatures killed was an elephant that weighed 14,640 pounds. The problem of weighing the elephant in parts apparently interested him more than the kill. . . .

He made it clear as so far as he was concerned the rifle was merely an extension of his surgical apparatus, rather than a sporting instrument. . . . Cleveland Press.

Taxes have acted neither as a check nor as a stimulus to industry in periods of prosperity or depression,

GEORGE A. STEINER, Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '34, of the University of Illinois department of economics said today.

Steiner made the statement in a bulletin issued by the University's bureau of business research after an analysis of business and tax statistics from nine states—Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin.

“Heavy taxation,” he said, “has not acted as a check upon industrial development in periods of prosperity, nor has a light tax burden acted as a stimulus to industry in depression years.

“This conclusion does not support the contention of those who assert that heavy taxation has ruined industry in certain states. The expansion and decline found in the industries of various states must be explained by other causes than taxation.

“There is no question that industries might move from one state to another if the tax differential were sufficiently large. This would be particularly true of marginal firms located in unfavorable sections.

“But in the nine states selected for this study the tax differentials were not large enough to force industrial relocation.”

The study covers the years 1922 to 1936 and Steiner said “any shifts in industrial location that may have occurred were caused by factors other than variations in tax burdens.” Chicago Daily News.

BISHOP C. S. REIFSNIDER Chi (Kenyon), '98, has accepted nomination as the third trustee of the Japan-America Trust, set up a few days ago with the contributions of Japanese sympathizers for victims of the Panay incident, it was announced yesterday. The American Ambassador, Mr. Joseph C. Grew, and the president of the America-Japan Society of Tokyo, Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, the first two trustees named, selected the Bishop to assist them in administering the fund “for purposes testifying to goodwill between Japan and the United States.” Japan Advertiser.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Beta—Ohio

CLIMAXING the year with a spring formal at the Country Club June 3, Beta may look back over the year with a feeling of pride and satisfaction. At present, we have eleven fine pledges who should be campus luminaries in the next few years.

This year Beta won the big cup of the year, namely the All-Round Intramural cup along with the Class A and Class B volley ball cups, the Class B basketball cup, and the Interfraternity debate cup. Not satisfied with winning the lion's share of campus cups, the chapter raised its scholarship from ninth to fourth place, and the pledge class missed first place by only a few points.

Jack Heslop and Paul Day were elected to Blue Key; Steven Fuller and John O'Brien to Phi Eta Sigma, freshman national scholastic honorary; Bill Evans to Phi Mu Alpha, music honorary; and Ray Breckenridge to Pi Epsilon Mu, engineering honorary. George Hood and Jack Meister, seniors, are retiring members of Torch, and Meister is a member of Phi Beta Kappa as well.

Francis Wehr was appointed to the editorship of Athena, yearbook; Paul Day was made sports editor of the Green and White; and Robert Jolly was appointed advertising manager of Athena. Ernie Byrd, Bill Luthy, Rex Potter, and Dick Barber are on the staff of the Ohioan, humor magazine. Jack Vochko is circulation manager of the Green and White, from which position Bill Bates retired this year. Bill Cooper finished his term as business manager of the most successful and profitable Athena in Ohio's history.

Jack Heslop was appointed Senior Day Chairman and was also elected Junior Prom King.

John O'Brien, Steve Fuller, and Tom Morgan were appointed to the Student Union board for 1938-39. Bill Luthy, Jack Pritchard, and Scotty Martindill are charter members of Beta Psi, new accounting honorary.

On March 20, 1938, Beta celebrated its Diamond Jubilee. Many alumni were here and "Coach" Gulum, chapter adviser, showed us replicas of the old Delt badges and reviewed Beta's early history. Mothers' Week-end here at Beta was a splendid success; approximately thirty Delt Mothers were here, fourteen of them staying at the Annex.

The social highlight of the year for the whole campus was our winter formal at the Hotel Berry, where one hundred fifty couples danced to the hot swing of Count Basie and his nationally famous band.

At the 1938 Commencement the chapter lost some of its best men, but their example will serve to guide those of us who remain to do better work in the future. Those graduated were: George Hood, Jack Meister, John Colley, Frank Fribley, Raymond Breckenridge, William Warmington, William Cooper, John Werner, and James McLaren.

And, looking forward to next year, we have promised ourselves to rededicate the chapter to the principles and traditions of Deltaism, that Beta may maintain its position of prominence on the Ohio campus.

JOHN KIRK

Gamma—Washington and Jefferson

INSTEAD of the usual opening, it is far better to say that the past year has been another in a succession of satisfactory ones. The last report of the treasurer shows a repetition of last year's record of no receivables and a comfortable surplus. No official report on scholarship has been made public, but the second semester house average was higher than the first, when we stood a close second on the campus.

Delt participation in activities continued on the upgrade. The sports editor of the newspaper and the business manager of the quarterly represented us in the field of publications. Bob Burg, elected chapter president in April, was also president of the junior class. He was accorded a unique distinction in his election to the presidency of the Council on Interfraternity Relations, the first undergraduate president in the history of the organization. The several honor societies saw an increased number of Delts in their membership and as their officers.

Athletically, the chapter continued to be outstanding in the minor varsity sports. Letters in wrestling, boxing, tennis, and golf were won, and several managerial honors were taken. In the intramurals the chapter fell down after an early season lead but came through with high standing. This, coupled with the scholastic position, makes the chapter "tops" in an all-round summation.

The social year was well balanced having two Delts on formal dance committees, and the best post-prom party on the campus.

The announcement of next year's appointments shows that the curve of our accomplishments is pointing still higher. The chapter policy of dissatisfaction and continual improvement is functioning well as we close the old year and prepare to take over the new one.

THERON A. SMITH

Delta—Michigan

THIS year Delta loses seven seniors—Jack Walker, past president, who, by the way, did an excellent job in the House this past year; Murray Campbell, who plans to enter law school next fall; and Freeman Lathrop, who is returning to work on his Master's degree in Forestry. Burt Wellman, Mark Beach, Dale McAfee, and Ned Emley are on the lookout for jobs, so the chapter wishes them the best of success.

In activities, Delta will be well represented next fall. Don Belden recently has been elected secretary of the Michigan Union, secretary of the Men's Council and also has been taken into Michigauma, senior men's honorary society. Don is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, Phi Eta Sigma, Triangles, and Vulcans. He is easily the outstanding activities man in the chapter. Jim Hollinshead was recently taken into Druids, senior literary honor society. Jim also is a member of the advisory staff of the Michigan Gargoyle. Gus Dannemiller holds a Junior Staff position on the Michigan Ensign and also has been taken into Sphinx, junior honor society.

Delta held a Spring Formal May 20, which was one of the best dances to be held by any Michigan fraternity this year.

The chapter has done very well in athletics this past semester under manager Robert Christie. The tennis team went to the semi-finals in the all-campus tournament, the basketball team went to the quarter-finals; and the standings of the soft ball teams are yet undetermined with Delta still in the running. It looks like a real year in athletics for the chapter next year.

Rushing has been coming along very nicely under our chairman, Carl Wheeler. This past semester six new men have been pledged and the chapter hopes to pledge at least twenty-five men next fall. Among our new pledges are Bill Vollmer and Jim Winkler, football players and aspirants for Fritz Crisler's first Michigan eleven next fall.

Things look very bright for Delta next year, and under the leadership of our new president, "Kim" Belden, the chapter should really step out.

HOWARD KERR PARKER

Epsilon—Albion

THE PAST year has seen Epsilon participating in many campus activities. Our chapter was represented on the football, basketball, and track teams. Gilbert Stevens was president of the Interfraternity Council and was elected president of the Student Council for the coming year. The presidency of the senior class was held by Robin Adair.

Some of the chapter's social activities included the annual Black and White dinner-dance, which was a huge success as usual, the Fall Formal, and an "open house" which was held for the faculty and friends. Epsilon entertained fifty prospective college students during the "Meet the College Day" activities which are held annually by the College.

The chapter was well represented at the Northern Division Conference and from it obtained many good suggestions and criticisms and much stimulation. With a completely reorganized rushing system and much able leadership, Epsilon is looking forward to one of its best years.

EWALD K. SCHADT, JR.

Zeta—Western Reserve

AS THE vacation season approaches, Zeta can review with pride the achievements of the past year. The chapter has been well represented in scholarship, athletics, and extra-curricular activities.

Zeta has been very prominent in intramural competition. We won both "A" and "B" league football; "All-University Champions" in volley ball, outdoor track, and fencing; "league champs" in bowling and outdoor baseball; third place in swimming; and "runner up" in indoor track. In varsity athletics the following men were awarded letters: football—Harold Wyandt, Dan Humphreys, George Holmes, Willis Waggle, John Lucas, and George Noland; hockey—Bill Berkeley and Jack Gorman; swimming—Bob Baskin, George Leet and Jack Gorman; track—Jack Gorman and Henry Hamilton; and golf—Bill Berkeley. Among the freshmen, two men look very promising—Clarence Allen in swimming, and Max Troesch in fencing.

In scholarship, Zeta ranks third. Fred Wood and Jack Baskin won scholastic honors for the chapter by their initiation into Phi Beta Kappa. Dick Tomer received first place in scholarship among the Zeta "frosh."

Among other men active in campus activities is Bob Lind, who was elected president of the Reserve freshman class and is a member of the Student Council. Bill Poe is active in the advertising department of the Reserve Tribune. Hal Burton and Evan James directed the decoration of the house for homecoming day, which won the Delts a cup for first place.

Recent elections find the leaders for the coming year as follows: Bill Berkeley, president; Keith Hostettler, vice-president; Henry Timmerman, treasurer; Victor Burdick, recording secretary; Art Battles, corresponding secretary; and George Noland, rushing chairman. Rushing plans are now in motion and if all goes well, Zeta will definitely advance another rung on the ladder of success.

ARTHUR W. BATTLES

Kappa—Hillsdale

A RECENT controversy over the scale upon which the Hillsdale College Achievement Cup is awarded has resulted in the fraternities refusing to compete for this honor. Kappa chapter, having taken this cup three of the six times it has been offered, will really miss the cup next fall.

However, individual honors are not to be overlooked and Kappa has once more come through with her host of scholastic, athletic, and campus achievements.

Turning to athletics, Charles Kasischke, James Smith, and Stuart Stuckey finished out the year with their being awarded letters for a fine showing in track. Smith, a sophomore from Flint, Michigan, has proven his worth in the 100, 220 and 440 yd. dashes. With Kasischke hanging up his spikes along with a fine record for the hurdles, and Stuckey along with "Smitty" with their performance on the relay team and "dash path," Kappa feels confident that next year records will fall when these men take to the cinders.

Bill Thompson, our "Prexy" from Cleveland Heights, represented the Delts on the pitching staff of the College ball team, taking his letter in that sport. Bob Pickford, sophomore from Connecticut, and Jim O'Hara, a junior from Detroit, were members of Hillsdale's varsity golf team this year with "Pick" winning his letter.

A few of the outstanding individual accomplishments in campus activities are noteworthy:

Roy Fritz—Citation in History, Dean's list (representing the upper ten per cent of the class, scholastically), and J-hop committee.

Bill Thompson—president of College Federation, secretary of Interfraternity Council, J-hop committee.

Bill Wall—assistant business manager, yearbook, paper staff, ranked in upper ten of sophomore class, scholastically; Sweezy Todd cast, and named as business manager '39 yearbook.

Spencer Pratt—All-Conference football player, Dean's list, Interfraternity Council, business manager '38 yearbook, J-hop committee.

James Fosdick—member Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity; publicity manager of the English fraternity's publication; pledged to Epsilon Delta Alpha, local honorary scholastic fraternity; yearbook and weekly staffs; sophomore chairman student library fund drive.

Bob Pickford—varsity golf and football; college weekly staff.

Jim O'Hara—J-hop committee, spring football, editor of booklet to prospective students.

Chuck Kasischke—track, J-hop committee, intramural manager.

Art Newcomer—J-hop committee; Bob Miller, debate and play production; Jim Crankshaw—college weekly staff; Carl Yager and Elmore Trout—tennis.

With these distinctions and activities of Kappa written up in the "book," which has been closed for another summer, reluctantly we say, "—until next fall."

W. G. WALL, JR.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

IN CAMPUS honorary positions and political offices the chapter has reached a level never before equalled in its history.

Tracey Jones was elected president of the student body, unopposed. This is the second time in the history of the University that the office has been taken without opposition. Along with this position Tracey was "tapped" for initiation into Omicron Delta Kappa, as were Brothers Bob Crosby and John Smith. Crosby has been elected to the presidency of Omicron Delta Kappa for the coming year. This makes a total of five men in Omicron Delta Kappa at the present time, more than any other fraternity on our campus. Paul Riffle and Nevin Scrimshaw were already members.

At the recent Phi Beta Kappa initiation this spring four of the brothers were named—Paul Riffle, Nevin Scrimshaw, Ralph Turner, and Gardner Shaw. Incidentally Shaw has been given the Rice scholarship and Scrimshaw was awarded zoology honors.

Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics fraternity, elected ten members for the coming year and four of these were Delts: Sam Smith, Bob Crosby, Lew Copley, and John Smith. Sam Smith, already president of the Wesleyan Players, has been elevated to the presidency of this group too. Lew Copley also serves as president of Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary.

Eighteen representative men were selected by popular choice recently and six of these wear the square badge of $\Delta T \Delta$. Paul Riffle was one of eight seniors chosen. Tracey Jones, Sam Smith, and John Smith, were three of the six selected, and though only four sophomores were picked two of these were brothers: Tom Davis and George Eyrich.

Tracey ("Whataman") Jones also won the state oratorical contest this spring.

Mu jumped from fifth place in scholarship to first position and walked off with the cup. Along with this cup the brothers came home from the Northern Division Conference with the scholarship improvement plaque.

The Delts stood head and shoulders above all other fraternities in the annual fun fest and one more first place cup found its place on our mantel.

In athletics the chapter does not take a back seat for any other campus group. Five Delts—Paul Schmick, John Smith, Nevin Scrimshaw, Bob Davison, and Ivan Hall, took plenty of points on the Wesleyan track team. Spring football found Hal Kattus, Harold Eppler, and Harold Bartlett giving their all toward the school's hope for a fighting squad next fall. Tracey Jones, he's in again, successfully defended his Buckeye tennis championship, and George Morelock dug divots on the golf team.

The elections for the coming year resulted in James Rendle being elected president and Bob Crosby, vice-president. The other officers are: John Smith, guide; Bob Davison, recording secretary; Hal Kattus, alumni secretary; Don Hodgson, corresponding secretary; John Bower, guard; and Dick Clark, treasurer.

Eleven seniors will leave us this year. They are: Dexter Alderman, Jack Anderson, Lucien Copley, Roger Early, Charles Eckert, Claude Fisher, Paul Riffle, Nevin Scrimshaw, Gardner Shaw, Ralph Turner, and Robert Ulrich. The chapter will miss these men greatly but is putting forth every effort to pledging a class that will be good enough to fill their shoes.

DONALD E. HODGSON

Omicron—Iowa

THIS year has been one of plenty of activity by the members of our chapter. In University activities Arthur Manush, Iowa's leading hitter and outfielder, has been selected captain of the University of Iowa's baseball team for next year. John Collinge won a letter in track placing second in the Big Ten high hurdles having run it in world record time. Edwin McLain won a varsity letter as regular fullback. William Mangold also was awarded a letter for doing excellent work in the guard position. Fred Muhl won second place in All-University wrestling. William Friedrich did himself proud as a wrestler by winning first place in his class. Dean Dort won honors in low hurdles on the university track team. All these boys will be back next fall for the continuation of their good work.

Jack Rogers completed a successful year in directing our chapter as president, and he is being followed this coming school year by St. George Gordon. Jim Eighmey is to succeed Phil Goodenough as vice-president. John Skogmo has taken the office of recording secretary. Ward Meents has been followed by Morton Decker as corresponding secretary. Robert Sennott again will be the manager of the finances because of his previous efficient management.

Phil Goodenough as business manager of the Frivol, the school magazine, did a most outstanding job. William Brearton along with being president of the Art Guild is the talented artist who furnishes the covers for the Frivol as well as numerous cartoons depicting college life. Jack Rogers represented the Fraternity as an active member of the executive committee of the Interfraternity Council besides occupying an important position on the student paper. Edwin McLain was a member of the Union Board social committee. Edward McDonnell served as a member of the Union Board and is past president of the junior Liberal Arts class. Vetti Kell was director of the school orchestra. Art Hatter is considered one of the most talented members of the orchestra because of his ability to play any wind instrument. E. B. Raymond, our adviser; Lee Kahn, alumni committee chairman; Vance Morton, faculty adviser, have done much to help and direct our chapter.

During the past year many parties have been sponsored along with our best party of the year in March, a formal dinner-dance at the Silver Shadow Room of the Iowa Union. An unusual party was held on Halloween. The girls were picked up for the dance in a hayrack and taken to our house which was appropriately decorated with bales of straw for chairs, wagon wheels, corn stalks, live chickens in the fireplace, lanterns, and even a part of an old buggy transformed the Shelter. All were dressed in overalls for a good time. It was the talk of the campus.

MORTON DECKER

Pi—Mississippi

PI HAS just closed a most successful year. Our first year in the new house has done a great deal for the chapter, and has really meant a great deal to each of us individually. At present all attention is directed toward summer and fall rushing, and prospects are the best in many a year. The rush committee is headed by Hopkins. His aids are Washington and Dixon. Quite a few rushees have been weekend guests at the Shelter, with the largest number here for the Founders Day Ball on March 4.

Tipton was the Democratic nominee for treasurer of the Student Body in the recent A.S.B. elections, but unfortunately this was a Progressive Party year. However he polled the highest Democratic vote. Lauderdale was elected vice-president of the junior class, as well as vice-president of A.S.C.E. Buchanan has been initiated into Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary chemistry fraternity, and also into Sigma Theta Pi, honorary engineering organization. Holder and Tipton have been initiated by Delta Sigma Pi, commerce honorary. All the men came through with fine scholastic records and we are expecting to jump to either first, second, or third, in campus rating.

Holder, Reed, Wallace, and Swartzfager received their degrees in Business, Law, Arts, and Medicine respectively. Reed and Wallace are past presidents of Pi, Swartzfager, past vice-president and Holder, past doorkeeper. Pi wishes them successful careers in their chosen fields.

In the April chapter elections, Louie Hopkins of Lula was chosen Pi's new president; J. R. Tipton of Hernando as vice-president; Joe Washington of Memphis, Tennessee; as corresponding secretary; and Ben Buchanan of Houston, recording secretary. Joe Lauderdale of Hernando was chosen assistant treasurer and house manager to assist E. Archibald Dixon, our redheaded treasurer who is famous for his superlative work in the English department.

Tipton and Dixon have been initiated into M.O.A.K.S., senior social honorary; and Bob Hummel, the drumming fool from Culver Military Academy, has been initiated into the Cardinal Club, sophomore service organization. Brown Williams, the burly Philadelphia, Mississippi boy, has been going great guns at guard for Coach Harry Mehre's football Rebels and is expected to do much in the fall campaign. Jim Hendrick, premedic of Lena, improved his scholastic record by making not 5 "A's" and a "B," but 6 "A's" this semester, in the hardest course offered here.

Pi extends its thanks to alumni who have given assistance thus far in rushing. Among these are: Dee Collins, W. F. Holmes, Jr., Thomas Finley, E. W. Holmes, J. W. Michel, N. L. Thames, Ben H. McFarland, S. P. Clayton, and Darl Blair. We are also proud of the fact that at the Southern Division Conference, Cary Stovall, our adviser, was chosen a vice-president of the Division. Cary's continued interest in the chapter and the Fraternity merits this and more. The chapter has enjoyed the visit of James P. Baker, Phi, new field secretary. "Doc" has become one of the fellows.

LOUIE HOPKINS

Rho—Stevens

THIS June marks the end of the most momentous year in the history of Rho. Unprecedented success in rushing early in the year made us the talk of the campus when we pledged 35 per cent of all men who went to fraternities. This 35 per cent was composed of nineteen freshmen and two sophomores. The group, while large, turned out to be the hardest working lot imaginable and soon the house began to show the effects.

The winter season found Rho a power in all Interfraternity sports, particularly in basketball where, after a slow start, we waded through all opposition setting three league records in doing so. The spring saw a most successful Fathers Day when Professor Kenneth Davidson, a co-designer and part-time navigator of Harold Vanderbilt's famous Cup Defender the Ranger, was the speaker. The eager fathers were then taken down to the school and shown the huge towing tank where the Ranger's models were tested. April 15 was the date set for Mothers Day and good weather favored the visit of twenty-five mothers to the chapter house. A baseball game and a tennis match following luncheon completed a lovely day. Again in the sport field Rho forged to the head of the league in baseball and was not supplanted. Strong hitting and tight fielding featured the play of the champs.

Elections were held and Walker, Daly, Dear and Smith were elected to the offices of president, vice-president, recording secretary, and corresponding secretary, respectively. Walker, the new "prexy," who was born in Shanghai and lived in China for sixteen years, is now a campus figure with his experienced comments on the present Chinese-Japanese conflict.

Our large group of freshmen began to make a name for themselves on the campus when Freddy Tyler was elected president of the freshman class and Harvey Hennig became the mainstay of the fencing team. Tommy Trent thrilled the crowds with his "one-handers" on the basketball J.V. squad and "Ike" Dousman became regular varsity first baseman on the baseball team.

In the social world this has been a gala year for Rho. Early in April the interfraternity world was shocked at the number that attended the Delt open formal at the school's new social center. The number of old Deltas alone would have filled the hall. Then the spring Sports Day came and the house was occupied by the girls while we moved out for the weekend. The Saturday evening dance in the house was tops and was generally agreed to have been the best in years. Finally after exams our departing president, Johnny Engelsted, gave a grand farewell party at the Rockland Ridge Country Club in Larchmont, N.Y., that capped the social season in a blaze of glory.

But then June rolled around, and Rho said farewell to seven members whom she will never forget as having led her to the foremost spot on her campus.

GEORGE DALY

Tau—Penn State

THE 1937-38 school year was a very successful one for Tau at Pennsylvania State College. Although Tau lost by graduation in June its biggest men on the campus, nevertheless several other men came along to maintain the glory of Tau in campus activities.

One man was elected to the junior editorial board of the college bi-weekly newspaper. Four men were elected to assistant managerships of four different sports, namely basketball, fencing, lacrosse, and tennis. One man became manager of the college yearling baseball team for next year. Blue Key, junior activities honorary, selected two men from Tau for membership. Finally, another man was elected to membership in a national advertising fraternity.

GEORGE E. BERRY, JR.

Phi—Washington and Lee

AS A CLIMAX to a year already filled with honors for $\Delta T \Delta$, the student body of Washington and Lee recently elected Vaughan Beale president of that body, and Leo Reinartz secretary of the Athletic Council for the coming year.

Beale, who was prominent in the pre-election fight to clean up campus politics, was elected by a clear-cut majority over his opponent, while Reinartz received the unanimous support of the students.

During Beale's six-year stay at Washington and Lee, he has held various offices and has received many honors, all of which led to the signal one conferred upon him by the student body when they expressed their trust in his ability to handle such a responsible post.

He is a member of and is past secretary of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity; president of Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal fraternity; member of the Cotillion Club; past president and house manager of Phi Chapter; member of the cross-country team; past president of the literary society; and is a member of various other organizations on the campus. He received his A.B. from Washington and Lee in 1936, and is now a member of the intermediate law class.

Leo Reinartz, a sophomore this year, has already shown his qualities as a campus leader. He is president of the house for the coming year, vice-president of the sophomore class, a member of Pi Alpha Nu, honorary sophomore society, Cotillion Club member, and varsity guard on the Generals' basketball team. He was also captain of the freshman basketball team.

Shortly before the election of student body officers for the coming year, chapter Phi held its annual election for all officers except house-manager, who is elected during the middle of January. Hal Clarke, the retiring president, was succeeded by Leo Reinartz of Middletown, Ohio.

For vice-president to fill Vance Funk's place, Alan "Punk" Ballard was chosen. Punk is an intermediate lawyer, member of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity, member of Pi Alpha Nu, made a letter as member of cross-country track team, and hails from Willis Wharf, Virginia.

To succeed George Goodwin as corresponding secretary, Walter Guthrie was elected. Walt is from Washington, D.C., member of Phi Eta, scholarship fraternity, and is now serving as one of the sophomore track managers.

Jim Faulkner, of Dallas, Texas, was re-elected to the position of recording secretary. He has been particularly active in the Troubadour dramatic productions and is a member of the Cotillion Club.

Other officers elected were Jack Akin and Jim Roberts.

Housemanager Frank "Hank" Hankins will continue to hold sway as tycoon of the Shelter. Hank calls Bridgeton, New Jersey home, and has taken an active interest in wrestling, being the coach of our intramural team.

WALTER R. GUTHRIE

Chi—Kenyon

CHI CLOSED the 1937-38 year with a June initiation and alumni banquet. The banquet was a grand success due to the large number of returning alumni, many of whom returned early enough to be present at initiation. Eleven men were initiated, and a real touch was added to the initiation because Dr. Seitz, our chapter adviser, was present to see his son, William C. Seitz, Jr., initiated. Frank Mallett, '34, was present to see his brother, Jack Mallett, initiated. Just one or two days preceding initiation, Russel Hargate, Chi, '30, now at the Episcopal Church in Port Clinton, Ohio, was present to witness the ordaining of his brother, '34, into the ministry.

All this was a fitting conclusion for the year which began auspiciously with the complete redecoration of Chi's parlor. Many honors have come to Chi men during the year. Robert Sonenfield became editor, Robert Mitchell became business manager, Theodore Cobbey became associate editor, and George McMullin became circulating manager of the Kenyon Collegian. Vernon Jenkins was football manager. James McPherson, one of our outstanding freshmen, was on the production staff of the Kenyon Theater. Donald Miller was initiated into Tau Kappa Alpha. Chi has been well represented in all the clubs and student organizations on the hill, and her men were active in all intercollegiate sports.

Gordon Reeder led Chi into the intramurals with a confident heart, but despite an apparent abundance of material we were nosed out of first place and had to be content with a close second with a promise of victory next year.

Omega—Pennsylvania

"THE KING is dead! Long live the King!" Not dead in reality, merely retired, for Harry Ackley Howland has been elected to succeed Ernest Hadley as president. Other members who were elected to hold office during the Howland reign in 1938-39 are: vice-president, George Kenyon Wheeler; recording secretary, William Gerhart; corresponding secretary, Roger Pratt; treasurer, Hal O'Connor; assistant treasurer, Hal Larsen.

While speaking of those closely connected with the administration of the chapter, we wish to register the regrets of the chapter that Tom Dewey, our efficient adviser, is leaving us. Business calls him to Chicago and deprives Omega chapter of a man who has been instrumental in its success.

The Delts of Pennsylvania strove hard in 1937-38 to be worthy of the badge they wear. Their labors were rewarded with the announcements of honors and awards at the Ivy Day ceremonies. And the time of this writing calls for a recapitulation of the honors Omega men received.

President Howland showed true Delt mettle by being not only selected as a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, but by becoming its secretary. Hal O'Connor, our treasurer, joined the select Beta Gamma Sigma circle too. Not content with that high honor alone, he became a member of Pi Gamma Mu. The editor-in-chief of the Record, Pennsylvania's year book, this past year was a Delt; now we have Stuart Harter as business manager for 1938-39, and John Collins as office manager. Tom Hamilton and "Mask and Wigger" Joe Jenkins, who continues as cheerleader, both join the Friars, senior honor society.

On the athletic side, Jim Mitchell was appointed associate manager of lacrosse, and in that sport Bob Mabry starred his way to a varsity letter. Dan Wessling, one of the lightweight crew coxswains, was honored with a Varsity Boat Club hat. Roger Pratt sang into the presidency of the Glee Club with Dick Sultner as associate manager, and both were elected to the Scales Honorary Society. Soccerman Rod MacKenzie was pleasantly surprised one day to find himself on the Houston Hall Student Board of Governors. The freshman class distinguished itself in football, freshman Mask and Wig, and by getting on the Vigilance Committee and the Class Council. And a dozen orchids to the Delt swimming team which helped to place us among the leaders in Intramural sports. They took two cups—one for first place in the swimming meet, and one for winning the Kistler relays.

In a retrospective mood we must not neglect to mention track, tennis, soccer, golf, flying club, the Choral Society, the Pennsylvania Players, and editorial and business board competitions of the several university publications among the other successful activities of the Delts during 1937-38.

The last few weeks of the semester were significant, socially speaking, for the house dance was the night following the Ivy Ball. White coats on the brothers and gay floral decorations about the shelter put the Delts in swing with spring. A week-end fishing party and a glorious day swimming and sailing at Lloyd Irving's Maryland estate ended these activities with a bang.

It was a big year, indeed, for the Omega Delts, and it prophesies a bigger one to come.

ROGER PRATT

Beta Beta—DePauw

As SCHOOL closes, we find that actualities have surpassed expectation as far as Delt accomplishments are concerned. We've never been standing still, but then never has Beta Beta made such an advancement as it is proud of this year. The term "active" as applied to membership means something.

Opening the spring semester we found Howard Longshore, our new president, and George Montooth concluding a successful season with the varsity basketball squad. When basketball was over, Montooth began to run the dashes on the track team, and he finished the season with a record of thirteen firsts and one second place to his credit. Also he was Little State Champion in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. With King Collison, Irving Heath, and Lafe Porter in swimming, and Norm Williams and Bayard Teigan in baseball, the freshmen did their bit to further the name "Delt." Bob Morgan and Tom Gordon continued for their second year to win tennis matches for the school by playing first and second men, respectively for most of the season.

In intramurals we held our own and at the conclusion of the year wound up in third place in the close race for the year's trophy. Our basketball team, composed mainly of underclassmen, was finally defeated in the final game of the play-off.

Scholastically, with Mark Bright the president of Phi Eta Sigma and eighteen scholarship men setting the example, Beta Beta has continued its improvement in this field.

Within a short time after the closing of the first semester, we found thirteen new wearers of the square badge. Also under the leadership of Fred Tucker and Bill Welch, our prospects for next year seem exceptionally good with twelve excellent men already pledged. Included in the twelve are three All-Conference football players and eight Rector Scholars.

Stuart Watson retiring as business manager of The DePaww, the school newspaper, received the Alpha Delta Sigma award for his excellent work in this department. Following in his footsteps are Fred Tucker, Bill Blake, King Collison, Dick Yocum, and John Wolaver all of whom have a service record behind them on the business staff of the newspaper. Bill Blake was elected to the Publication's Board of the school. Bill Welch, in addition to his prominent place on the editorial staff of the newspaper, continued his work on the varsity debate squad, and he also won the Margaret Lee Nobel extemporaneous speech contest. Bill Quebbeman also debated with the varsity team, and John Wolaver and Dick Yocom began their speaking careers by competing with the freshman team. Jack West was appointed university dance chairman and he carried on the social functions of the school in fine style. (We try to forget the senior dance at which the band failed to make its appearance.)

At the conclusion of the annual Mothers Day Tea which twenty-five mothers attended, the house was given furniture for the porch which overlooks our sunken garden. The year was concluded with the alumni banquet June 11.

So with the above pleasant thoughts to muse over during the summer, Beta Beta closes the year with gratification for the past and with hopefulness for the coming year.

Only one sad note was found on our record for 1937-1938. This was the passing into the Chapter Eternal of Bryde Northcott of the class of 1940—a gentleman, sportsman, and a true friend. His cheerful disposition and his ever-present loyalty to $\Delta T \Delta$ will serve for many years as an inspiration to all who knew him.

DICK HUGHES

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

THE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY of Beta Gamma was fittingly climaxed June 18 by the Annual Alumni Banquet. In addition to fifty Beta Gamma alumni, Herb Bartling and Harold Prebensen, president and vice-president of the Western Division, and George Traver, president of the Chicago Alumni Chapter, were present. C. Wallace Johnson was toastmaster, and George Otis Warren and Art Morey, members of the original chapter, were the principal speakers. Tribute was paid to Annie Meyer, who died this spring after thirty-five years as cook and mother to the Beta Gamma men.

Beta Gamma finished the year in very good shape. The year's operation showed a surplus in the treasury department. The house, having been improved during the winter, was inspected by returning alumni and was approved unanimously. Steps have been taken to continue the rehabilitating with the surplus realized this year. The president, in his report at the banquet, indicated that all prospects for the coming term are bright. Rushing during the closing months of this term brought in six new boys, all of whom plan to move in the house in September. Already a rushing campaign has been started by the rushing chairman, Eugene Kuehlthau.

Five boys were initiated into the chapter the first week in April.

Beta Gamma lost five men by graduation, but two weren't satisfied to leave with diplomas—they took wives with them as well. Kenneth R. Olsen and R. James Trane were married on June 21, the former to Dorothy Denniston, Chi Omega, and the latter to Rosemary Hulett, Pi Beta Phi.

The chapter was represented on the campus by two "W" men, Orville Fisher in football and Tom Corrigan in track; by Al Draves and George Canright on the student daily; and by George Canright and Fred Reynolds on the governing staff of the student union. Eugene Kuehlthau and Bill Chadwick were among the chairmen of Pre-Prom and Senior Ball. Our basketball team won its division championship, while the crew and golf teams both placed third in interfraternity tournaments.

Next year Beta Gamma will have Fred Kershner, Beta Zeta '37, as resident adviser.

This year Isak Dahle, '04, and Thomas Calloway, '37, joined the Chapter Eternal.

HUGH HIGLEY

Beta Delta—Georgia

WE RANKED high in activities this year having men in Gridion, Omicron Delta Kappa, Senior Round Table, Blue Key, Phi Kappa Phi, and Beta Gamma Sigma.

The Interfraternity Council presented us with a loving cup for being the most improved fraternity on the campus in the year 1937.

We have gained in every way the past year, and we are hoping that next year will be one of the best in our history. ROBERT H. HALL

Beta Epsilon—Emory

FINISHING one of its most successful years, Beta Epsilon can boast of many accomplishments among its members.

Scholarship has been a matter of serious concern among the brothers, and throughout the year we have ranked second among the fraternities on the campus. This record was made possible by the consistent honor roll attainments of Glenn "Four A" Hogan, Pete Hydrick, Alva Lines, Ed Johnson, Ed Gazelle, and Charley Moyer.

As to campus activities, Beta Epsilon continues with a large number of the brothers listed in honor positions.

Ed Gazelle is the new president of the Emory Players, campus dramatic organization, and is also editor of the newly formed literary magazine, Opinion. Besides these honors Gazelle continues to be art editor of the Emory Phoenix, and a bulwark in Pi Sigma Alpha.

Hogan, besides being an intelligentsia, has proven to be a capable intercollegiate debater and made the annual debate trip to Texas to participate in the Texas Debating Tournament. Hogan is also the newly elected president of Pi Sigma Alpha, national honorary political science society.

Sam Burbage is also active in dramatic work being recently elected an associate member of the Emory Players, and manager of the Freshman Glee Club.

Alva Lines is a debater of note, having participated in several intercollegiate debates; he is also a member of Pi Sigma Alpha.

Murphy Holloway continues to be active as an intercollegiate debater. He is a member of the Intercollegiate Debate Council and was recently elected to membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity.

Newly elected officers for the next year are Pete Hydrick, president, who will serve as student instructor in the Biology department next year; Clyde Carter, vice-president, who has recently enrolled in law school; Glen Hogan, recording secretary; Alva Lines, corresponding secretary; Charley Moye, treasurer; and Gordon Barrow, assistant treasurer, who is a member of the Emory Little Symphony Orchestra.

Beta Epsilon is particularly proud of its new pledges: Thurman Williams, who recently transferred from Mercer; Sam Tyson, of LaGrange, who promises to be active in campus affairs; and Jimmy Johnson of Atlanta who plans to furnish the chapter music with his trumpet.

ALVA LINES

Beta Zeta—Butler

BETA ZETA of $\Delta T \Delta$ is generally considered the growing organization on the Butler campus, and the honors she has won during the past year bear this out.

Starting off with a banner crop of new pledges, Beta Zeta did not waste any time in moving forward. We were more than successful in the intramural sports, winning swimming and ping-pong and placing high enough in the other sports to gain third place in the final standing.

The Delts held many coveted positions on the campus. Clarence Warren presided as president of Blue Key. Robert Springer was secretary of Sphinx, men's junior honorary; and Hugh Smeltzer was president of Utes Club. Robert Cox was elected treasurer of the class of '39 while Jim Hardin was president of the freshman class.

Others to rate high at Butler were Ed Liljeblad, president of Alpha Phi Omega and captain of the cheerleaders; and Bob Lawson, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity.

Delta Tau Delta was tops in the scholastic rating among the fraternities at Butler for the first semester and there is no reason why we should not stay there for the entire year.

Next year promises to be another big year with the Delts out in front. Already we have Jim Hanna who will be editor of the Collegian, the school paper. Hugh Smeltzer and Tom Riddick were recently elected into the Student Council, and Jim Hardin will act as treasurer for the Utes Club.

RUSSELL C. LILLY

Beta Eta—Minnesota

DEAR Uncle Alumnus found good old Beta Eta more active than ever on his quarterly visit to the chapter at the University of Minnesota. "First off," he said to his brothers, "they pledged thirteen men during the quarter." "Furthermore," said Uncle, "they initiated seven fellows."

But even then Unk wasn't through spouting. He went right on with, "Then they elected new officers April 4. Otto Silha is president; Robert Sorenson, vice-president; Louis Benepe, corresponding secretary; Richard Sorenson, recording secretary; and Luverne Gushard, guard." At the last meeting of the year, sans Unk's knowledge, the fellows elected

Robert W. Martin chapter treasurer.

When it came to the social program, Uncle Alumnus was right on the spot so that he could make a full report to his brothers. The most colorful event on fraternity row was the Delt Mardi Gras held February 26. Arnold Lahti, general chairman, selected a "comic-character" theme, and the entire first floor of the Shelter was decorated with drawings and cut-outs of the same. A few Esquire drawings also crept in somehow. A candid camera man haunted the house, and took many a CANDID shot! Uncle Alumnus managed to get to the annual Tea given the undergrads by the Mothers' Club April 4. A fine time was had by all the fellows, and the Mothers Club under Mrs. Louis M. Benepe, president, deserves a great deal of thanks for their thoughtfulness. April 21 was the date for the revival of the old Alumni Steak Dinner held each year for many years way back in the 'teens. Uncle Alumnus was present thirty-fold, and Herb Bartling, new Western Division president gave the fellows an encouraging talk on Fraternity affairs. In honor of the mothers, the undergraduate chapter under Robert Thorstensen, social chairman, gave a tea for them May 11. Robert Sorenson, maestro extraordinary, played several numbers on the piano. Uncle Alumnus was given the chance to go to the annual spring formal held this year at the Minnesota Valley Country Club. The final social event of the year turned out very successfully. It was a "record dance" patterned after those so much in favor in the East. This dance was the first of its kind at Minnesota, and its success seems to say that there will be many more of the same kind.

On his tour of the campus, Uncle found many Delts working at many tasks. Otto Silha, clad in the blue and gold of the Pershing Rifles, national military society, was cracking out a lead story in the Minnesota Daily office. Otto is also a member of the crack drill squad and is executive publicity chairman for the 1938 Freshman Week. Lou Benepe, Royal Dean, Parker Berge, and John Fri-berg were working on Freshman Week committees. Dean is also a member of Phalanx, national honorary military society. John Carroll, a member of Beta Alpha Psi, honorary business fraternity, was engaged in taking third place in a class of 180 in a business school comprehensive. Don Callahan was busily engaged in third hour military soiling his brand new Pershing Rifle uniform. Over at the athletic building, Wayne Currier was named senior track manager for 1938-39. Lew Gasink was caught slaving away at his books showing materially how he maintained the highest pledge average in the chapter. Luverne Gushard was named junior track manager for 1938-39. Robert W. Martin was seen carrying out his duties as secretary in the interfraternity athletic council meeting. Bob Thorstensen was heard singing with the Minnesota Chanters.

Uncle A's voice rose proudly, he told me later, when he related to his brothers how Beta Eta rose in the sporting world from twenty-sixth to seventh place among the thirty-five academic and fifty-one professional fraternities. The basketball, volley ball, bowling, golf, and badminton teams took division titles, he said, while the second and third badminton and the tennis teams placed second in their divisions. Elmer Madson reached the fourth round of the All-University golf tournament while Bill Manning and Madson won their division title in the interfraternity competition. Intrahouse sports reached a high when Frank Page gave the house a fine ping-pong table. Don Brissman and Otto Silha claim they're champs, and nobody can win enough games from them to prove otherwise.

U.A. found that twenty-two of the fellows are members of the University Y.M.C.A., and a new interest will be taken in the coming Y election with, perhaps, some Delt up for election.

The last and biggest shock of the year was given Uncle Alumnus by Bill Bauer. Bill, who graduated in June, was married to Vernice Jacobson.

Only three men, Bauer, Brissman, and John Carroll, graduated in June, and Beta Eta is starting the new season with hopes of a very strong chapter, to be made much stronger before the end of the year.

LOUIS BENEPE

Beta Kappa—Colorado

AN ENVIABLE record was made among the fraternities on the Colorado University campus by Beta Kappa during the last year. Her men were prominent in almost every branch of campus activities. Toby Tyler last year's student body president, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, worked hard for the interests of the chapter as president. In the last four years, the Delts have managed to have three head cheerleaders, Bill Mark having held that position this year. Mark has also been conference diving champion for the fourth straight year. In maintaining the Delt tradition of having either president or vice-president of the student body, Dud Hutchinson, president of the junior honorary, Sumalia, and a member of the senior honorary, Heart and Dagger, was vice-president this year. Representing the prowess in publications are John Hickman, business manager of the Coloradan, yearbook, supported by four other Delts. Berlin Boyd is the freshman reporter who is already being groomed for the editorship of the Silver and Gold, student newspaper. Last year, out of the fifteen leads in the Rhythm Circus, the annual university vaudeville, the Delts led with eight men representing her as well as the male lead, Tommy Trollope, who was the only star to receive several curtain calls.

Beta Kappa formally opened its rushing season this year with a trailer trip throughout the state of Colorado in a new all-metal delux trailer during the two weeks of spring vacation. The trailer was impressively decorated inside with pennants, paddles, trophies, and $\Delta T \Delta$ was prominently lettered on the outside.

In the realm of sports, Beta Kappa saw a very successful year. Ray Thompson and Lex Quarenberg made their "C's" in football. Maul, Jacobson, Davis, Oliver and Broady made excellent showings on the freshman football team, as did Bill Kistler on the freshman basketball team. Bill Mark pitched, Dud Hutchinson played first base, and Bob Knous was one of the promising freshman baseball players. Track is another strong sport for the chapter as shown by the excellent records of Ty Miller and John Rice in the sprints, Jacobson in the quarter mile and Chesney in the 220. Art Shellebarger is playing tennis and Jim Sanders golf on the varsity squads.

Beta Kappa's record reached a peak in interfraternity sports, having won the touchball championship, volley ball championship, the division championship in water polo and basketball and placing high in all others. The chapter was first among campus fraternities in both the chorus and quartet in the song fest this year. Formals and dances, which were the talk of the campus, were products of Bob Johnson's ingenuity.

LAWRENCE R. PROUTY

Beta Mu—Tufts

IN THE annual elections Beta Mu elected Bill Shepard as "Prexy" for 1938-39. Bill is a senior and is one of the "big men" of the chapter. He is a scholarship holder, a promising candidate for Phi Beta Kappa, a "T" man in tennis, very active in interfraternity athletics, on the editorial staff of the Tuftonian, campus literary magazine, and a member of the Interfraternity Council. The other chapter officers are: vice-president, L. Rowley; treasurer, L. Butler; assistant treasurer, C. Miller; recording secretary, L. Burton; corresponding secretary, F. Bennett; guide, R. Tobey; guard, D. Phillips; chairman rushing committee, D. Phillips.

This spring the chapter captured the interfraternity championship in track.

Ted Haselton and Phil Gomez, freshmen, have been elected to the sophomore honor society for next year and are doing a fine job in both studies and athletics.

This spring those who earned their varsity letters are: Baylies, '40, tennis; Burton, '39, track; Parker, '39, golf; Shepard, '39, tennis; Slater, '39, track; Wilson, '39, track. Those who earned their numerals are: Bryer, '41, wrestling; Kruszyna, '41, wrestling; Schoales, '41, baseball.

Boies is a member of the Glee Club and the International Relations Club; Burton is associate editor of the Weekly; Miller, assistant manager of the cross-country team; Mounce, junior manager, soccer team; Parker, football manager and captain of the golf team; Poor, manager, cross-country team and member of 3 P's, dramatic society; Shepard, editorial staff of Tuftsian.

Thus Beta Mu looks forward to next year with a great deal of anticipation.

FRANCIS H. BENNETT

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

THE END of another school year means to us two things especially, besides vacation: First, all of our seniors, who again have been strong active men, are graduating with positions assured; and second, the newer Beta Nu men are either replacing the older men in activities, or else they are working their way into new positions. In the class of '39, Dick Cella is varsity crew captain, and Bus Emerson, captain of the gym team. The latter is also a member of the honorary junior class society. Ben Badenoch is president of the Combined Professional Societies. John Beaujean is the new secretary of the Tech Christian Society. Bob Wooster is now secretary of the Institute Committee.

Our budding juniors, too, are right in there for Beta Nu. John McMullen has held a steady position on the Jay-Vee Crew, as well as earning himself the position of secretary of the local chapter of the A.S.M.E. Howie Schwiebert was on the Tech Open House Committee; other Deltas on this committee were Dave Wright, Ed Hadley, and Dick Vincens, all seniors, and Ben Badenoch and Bus Emerson. Howie was recently elected historian of Alpha Phi Omega. Dave Huber is a department director in the T.C.A. Les Sutton is the new publicity manager of the school newspaper. George Clark is a mainstay on the track team.

We have a promising aggregate in our freshmen: Sterling Ivison, as well as being a department director on the T.C.A. is on the first freshman fifties crew. For his all-round excellence he has been elected to the honorary freshman-sophomore society. Other freshmen, pledges and actives alike, are making the House's activities position for the future more secure.

Old age no longer creeps on our Shelter; now it "comes a runnin'." Nevertheless, the house proved itself very satisfactory as quarters for our guests from the surrounding girls' schools and colleges during the recent house party held in conjunction with one of our neighboring houses on Tech Open House Week-end. This was our second big social event of the term. The first was the annual spring formal, a real success held this year at the Sandy Burr Country Club.

Now that examinations are far in the past, we feel a bit more optimistic and are all looking forward to another good rushing season next fall.

JOHN W. KREY

Beta Omicron—Cornell

AGAIN the end of the term closes a "red-letter" chapter in Beta Omicron history. The Delt House has made a fine showing for the year, a well-balanced interest in extra-curricular activities in general.

Four men are outstanding in scholarship in the engineering college. Bob Reindollar and Gene Hintgen represent us in Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honorary society. In addition they both were elected to Chi Epsilon, the honorary society for civil engineers, Joe Griesedieck and Dean Wallace, who for two years has maintained a leading average in his branch of the college of engineering, are in line for initiation into Tau Beta Pi this coming fall.

Bill Bensley's scholarship in the agriculture college combined with his pitching ability on the baseball diamond have gained him membership in the Cornell chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, the professional educational society as well as in Scarab, our local honorary agriculture and hotel administration fraternity. Dick Osenkop was elected into Skulls, the national pre-medical society. Scabbard and Blade, the officers' club of the Reserve Officers' Training Corp, includes two brother Deltas, W. John Neff and Lowell E. Fitch.

In the various campus publications we are also well represented. Gene Hintgen graduated to the assistant managing editor of the Cornellian, the yearbook. Allan Reffler and Jim Fortiner are the Delt members on the editorial and business boards of the Cornell Daily Sun. In his spare time Tony Pennock won a post on the official publication of the engineering college, The Cornell Engineer. Next year Dick Osenkop will handle the advertising for the Cornell Freshman Deskbook.

Although we may claim only one varsity letter which Bill Bensley earned on the Cornell pitching staff this spring, three Deltas will be assistant managers of freshman sports this coming year. Dean Wallace is the assistant manager of frosh football, Joe Griesedieck the assistant manager of frosh baseball, and Al Luedicke the assistant manager of frosh tennis. Besides these men of the class of 1940, John S. Smith, our new house president, is the manager of the varsity wrestling team as well as the president of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association.

We are looking forward to next year, for our freshman class this year has already made a good start and promises big things in the future.

RICHARD S. OSENKOP

Beta Pi—Northwestern

WE AT Beta Pi feel that, on the whole, we have had a successful year. Seventeen pledges were initiated in February and six more in June. The scholarship results for the first semester showed that we missed our record for both semesters of last year by four-thousandths of a point, having missed first place among the fraternities by that margin. The new officers for next year are: president, Ted Gianakopoulos; vice-president, Carl Jensen; recording secretary, Clarence Roff; corresponding secretary, Tom Seymour; guide, Jess Cobb, and sergeant-at-arms, Bob Noel.

Herman Ogg, graduating senior, received an Honors Degree, passing the comprehensive examination in psychology with the highest grade possible. The three men who applied to Northwestern Medical School, John Shellito, MacDonald Wood, and Delos Cozad, were all admitted. Dick Richards, winner of a Fraternity ring for making highest grades as a freshman was elected to Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman scholastic fraternity. Art Niedbalski was the recipient of the N-men's football scholarship.

Those graduating lettermen who received N blankets were: Malcolm Bannerman, wrestling manager; Fred Vanzo, football and member of the All-East team; Harry Brookby, baseball. MacDonald Wood was elected captain of the fencing team for 1938-39. The house intramural basketball team was the championship team of the university.

Everyone had a fine time at the three formal parties we gave this year, as well as several informal parties at the house and several Sunday afternoon teas.

We send greetings to all the other chapters and wish them the best of luck in their fall rushing.

TOM SEYMOUR

Beta Rho—Stanford

DURING the past year, Beta Rho has been very active in the sports activities at Stanford having received five varsity letters and seven freshman numerals.

Ray Brown, the outstanding broad jumper at Stanford, and Rus Wulff, the great Stanford high jumper, received letters.

Bob Plate received a letter for varsity water polo and was elected captain of the sophomore water polo team.

Both Rudy Munzer and Ken Cuthbertson received letters in varsity soccer.

Among our pledges we have many outstanding athletes. Thor Peterson, the only three letter man in the school at the present time, received numerals in freshman football, baseball, and track. Bob Anderson and Dean Burford also received numerals for freshman football. Walt McKenzie received a numeral in freshman track while Sid Terry received a numeral for freshman tennis.

Beta Rho won the intramural tennis championship this year with the team of Phil Griffith and Jack Eahart.

Don Berger is just finishing a very successful year as president of the sophomore class, while Ken Cuthbertson has been elected to be president of next year's junior class. Bill Turner has been elected to be the sophomore man on the executive committee, and Jack Beman has just finished a very successful year as president of the executive committee.

Don Bohr has been elected to serve as vice-president of Tau Beta Pi, the engineering scholastic society.

The junior water carnival this year was put on almost exclusively by Beta Rho men. Walt Meyer served as chairman of the carnival committee while Phil Griffith was in charge of all activities.

BOB FITZMOURICE

Beta Tau—Nebraska

THE MEMBERS of Beta Tau at the University of Nebraska have a feeling of satisfaction concerning some definite steps made in the right direction during the school year. The accomplishments made during the year are solutions to some of the problems that have been facing the chapter for several years.

For several years one attribute that Beta Tau has been lacking is coöperation between the alumni and the active chapter. During the past year great strides were made in overcoming this problem. Thanks to inspiration given by several conscientious alumni and members of the active chapter, a close knit association came to exist between the two groups. Monthly smokers were held at the chapter house for the alumni. At these informal get-togethers there was good attendance. Buffet suppers were held at the Shelter on the evenings of football games. The outgrowth of these associations between the grads and actives was that Beta Tau now has a fine group of alumni backing it and giving real help. An alumni advisory board was formed. This group is helpful in chapter problems. They also give aid to the chapter in regard to rushing and financial matters.

Another accomplishment is that at the beginning of the next school year Beta Tau will be starting with a better financial status than it has had for nearly a decade.

Along with these other accomplishments, the chapter has maintained its usual good standing on the campus. The chapter was represented by a member of the Innocents Society, which is the senior men's honorary. It had seven varsity athletic participants, and staff members on student publications.

With such a foundation, Beta Tau will continue its march to greater heights.

AL KJAR

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

BETA UPSILON closed a successful year in June and looks forward to continued progress under Keith Owen, chapter president; George Farnsworth, vice-president; Frank Horn, rushing chairman; and Stanley Brumbaugh, treasurer.

The chapter finished twenty-third out of fifty-seven fraternities for the first semester in scholarship.

Most impressive physical improvement during the year was the new "bathroom." Plans for this summer include repainting the woodwork on the exterior and other minor repairs.

It looks as if Beta Upsilon will be represented on Zuppke's Varsity. Willard (Tiny) Cramer, who won his letter as a sophomore last season, will undoubtedly be seen at tackle. Cliff Peterson and Wilson (Bud) Schwenk, are certain to see service in the backfield. Peterson, honorary freshman captain last fall, is likely to start the season at left halfback while Schwenk is groomed for fullback. George Bernhardt, who was used at end in spring practice, will be considered for a wing post. Walden Ingle, another newcomer, is a prospect for guard.

These seven Delt seniors received their degrees from the University and were graduated June 13: Perry W. Blain, Richard B. Fay, Jack F. Marr, Robert Manchester, William J. Morse, Warren D. Orr, and Robert E. Wooldridge.

Fay won his letter in football and was a regular guard on the first team; Wooldridge was president of the Interfraternity Council; and Blain was sports editor of The Daily Illini as well as secretary-treasurer of Ma-Wan-Da.

Final intramural house standings, released at the end of the semester, found the Delts in ninth place, just one half a point out of eighth place.

DANIEL V. McWETHY, JR.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

THROUGHOUT the year on the Ohio State campus, the men of $\Delta T \Delta$ continued to be the men to watch in both campus offices and in activities.

The editorship of the yearbook, The Makio, goes to Amon Gross, while the editorship of the freshman handbook to Franklin DeWitt. These are two important positions on the campus.

In honoraries, we were distinguished by Amon Gross in Bucket and Dipper, junior honorary; Ohio Staters Inc.; Press Club. Also by Harry Calavan in Romophus, the sophomore honorary; and by Jacob Shawan, our president, who was made chairman of The Ohio State Political Association, a political party on the campus. Along with these outstanding honors, we find Delts in every activity on the campus from the Fraternity Affairs office to The Makio.

Beta Phi won a cup in every intramural event and won the All-University Cup in touch football. About seventy other teams were entered in this competition.

Pledges Elliott, Rosen, and Rodgers received their numerals in freshman football, and pledge Rodgers is being groomed as a possible member of the next Olympic team in the decathlon.

The chapter was honored by the local radio station, WHKC, in being asked to put on a fifteen minute program consisting of Delt songs and history. The program was a great success and received acclaim from all who heard it.

The Mothers Club became more and more active as the year progressed and on Mothers Day, succeeded in having thirty of the mothers present. The clubs presented the chapter with several fine English prints and also a hanging of our crest.

Beta Phi said good-bye to twelve seniors at the end of spring quarter.

EDWARD V. LEACH, JR.

Beta Chi—Brown

IN SOCIAL, scholastic, and athletic activities members of Beta Chi were well represented during the past year.

The University Band had as its leader, drum major, assistant manager, and a member on the executive board, members of Beta Chi. We also had two of our members acting as business manager and secretary-treasurer of the Glee Club.

Among our publications we have our daily paper which is quite popular. Beta Chi furnished the managing editor, sports editor, and circulation manager to help this paper on its way to success.

Our chapter has done exceedingly well in athletics this year. Besides having members on the football and baseball teams, rifle club, track, fencing and tennis teams, we boast of having the New England Champion 135 pound Class in wrestling.

The chapter was well represented in interfraternity activities and intramurals, having members on the government board and executive board of the former, and on the executive board of the latter.

One of our members had the honor of being taken into Sigma Xi.

Having been so successful in all activities during the past year, Beta Chi is looking forward to the coming school year's being a "bigger and better" year for her.

GEORGE E. WITHERELL

Beta Psi—Wabash

ALL IN ALL the year 1938-39 has been very successful for Beta Psi. They have more than held their own in the stiff competition of the Little Giant campus.

Three men, Clutter, Cole and Schiltges are now sporting their numerals as a result of work on the freshman football squad; Joe Miller earned his in basketball. Fred Rhode earned his "W" by representing the Delts on the varsity basketball squad and promises to continue his work for two more years. In baseball Rhode and Ed Heintz, a senior, saw a great deal of action on the squad. In intramurals the Delts are generally looked upon as the campus dark horse. This year they were dark as usual showing a slight tendency to turn grey at times. Not too many men graduated so the prospects for a better showing next year are good.

Despite a low freshman average the chapter's scholastic standing was brought up from fourth to second place. The second semester standings are as yet unknown, but our hopes for a first place are centered chiefly on next year's work. Two of the six graduates, John Ziegweid and William Rasmussen, received Phi Beta Kappa honors. The other newly made alumni are Robert Edwards, Edison Heintz, Richard Savidge and Frank Weiland.

In the course of the past year the chapter has had the privilege of entertaining many noted persons. This has been a distinctive step in the chapter's program of development.

Beta Omega—California

THE MEMBERS of Beta Omega were treated extremely well by their Mothers Club during the past school year. Through various devices such as rummage sales, readings, and card parties, the mothers amassed enough money to do many things for the house and the fellows. Through their efforts the bumming room was repainted and a new table, davenport, and new lights were added. The dining room was also repainted, and new chandeliers were placed in the reception hall and dining room. We had our annual mothers and fathers night on March 12, and Mrs. Strong, the president of the club, was given a sister pin in appreciation of the fine work she and the club had done for the house in the past year.

One of our more active members, William Gay, was awarded the baseball senior managership this spring. This climaxed three years of hard work for Bill, and we are all glad to see him succeed.

The Shelter was used as training quarters for the California crew from May 15 until they left for the Poughkeepsie Regatta about June 10. We had occasion to speak to a few of the crew members just before they left for New York. They complimented us on having one of the outstanding homes on our campus.

ROBERT G. WALL

Gamma Beta—Armour

ANOTHER year has come and gone, seniors have graduated, undergraduates have become a year closer to graduation, and thoughts turn to a short vacation before starting the grind again. In a few short weeks the work will begin again, the house will be cleaned, and rushing will begin in earnest. Everybody is anxious to try out the new rules formulated during the past year with the co-operation of the school.

It is always wise to look forward and forget about the past but at a time like this it is fitting to look back on a work well done and review a few of the many accomplishments achieved by the House and its members. For the first time in its history, Gamma Beta reached its limit as set by the by-laws, and as a result, this was one of Gamma Beta's most outstanding years. Although eight men graduated, we do not believe we have lost them and are sure that we will see them when we need their aid in rushing this fall.

The House was particularly active in athletics, holding a monopoly on the wrestling and golf teams, and placing lettermen on every other squad except the swimming and tennis teams. Three of the four regulars and letter men on the golf team were Delts. This representation included Captain Davidson, Fox, and Captain-elect Sunde. Four men were on the wrestling squad, with three of them, Tullgren, Basile, and McIntyre, receiving majors for the sport. Tullgren doubled, making a letter in baseball also. Scherer, a sophomore architect, was one of the outstanding men on the basketball team, and has two more years of activity ahead, while Lindeman, freshman letter winner, promises to become one of the school's best boxers.

In spite of this activity, the House scholarship did not suffer and Gamma Beta's rating went from a minus to a plus for the first time in many semesters. Following the tradition of at least one man a year making Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering, every year, Bill Laise, president of the House for two years, was pledged and initiated early last semester. Bill was also active in other school affairs and a member of several other honoraries, including Eta Kappa Nu, Sphinx, and Black Knight.

Fox and Davidson, besides making letters on the golf team, were initiated in Scarab, architectural honorary. Bernstrom, present president of the house, was made a member of Sphinx, literary honorary, for his work on the yearbook, The Cycle.

It has been the intention of this letter to let the wandering alumni know a little bit about what has been happening at the Shelter during their absence, perhaps arouse a little curiosity in a lot of them, and perhaps enough in some of them to make them come to the house and read the welcome sign on the mat. We hope we have achieved our aim.

DONALD SUNDE

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

GAMMA DELTA was one of the most active fraternities on the campus during the past year. We were well represented in almost every activity on the campus, and it is believed that we have more men in honoraries than any group on the campus. Most outstanding in honoraries were John Haight, who was elected president of Chi Sigma Delta, economic honorary, at the end of his first year in the group; Scott Wy-song, who was president of Le Cercle Français, French honorary, and James Heinze, who was president of Sphinx, senior men's honorary.

In athletics Gamma Delta was active. Cliff Fisher was a regular on the basketball squad. We had Jack Morgan and John Fear on the golf team. Johnny really made himself famous by giving Bill Daddio, one of Pitt's candidates for golf fame, and one of our arch rivals, a rather sound licking. Scott Camp and Paul Tennant were regulars on the tennis team. Scott Wysong slaved around the two mile track for the tracksters. The Delts had the managerial staff of the baseball team under hand. Dean Eisel was manager, and John Livingstone his assistant. Wayne Campbell was elected co-manager of the football team, and Paul Correll served as manager of the "Grunt and Groan" staff.

In the R.O.T.C. Gamma Delta was also well out in front. Dave Reed, a new initiate, received a medal for being the best student in the basic work, and also two Delts received sabers, Charles Swing for outstanding service, and Jim Beddow for commanding the best company and being the best company commander. Reed received a medal again for being third in the manual of arms drilldown.

Eugene Rogers, who received his master's degree in chemistry was one of the five men cited for distinguished work in chemistry during the year. James Heinze, Vincent Chaney, and Jasper Peairs were recognized for excellent scholarship in law school. Their good work was merely a continuation of the good scholarship that they maintained while in A. B. School. All were members of Phi Beta Kappa.

J. WILBUR PARKER

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

WITH the close of the college year Gamma Zeta has completed a season well represented in sports. Al Grosvenor, ace of the Wesleyan hurling staff, has lived up to expectations on the mound, while Bob Murray has seen service on the receiving end. Lock Rogers, star broad jumper finished a fine season by placing third in his favorite event at the New England Intercollegiates. On the track team also were Bob Neuffer, sprinter and javelin thrower, and Walt Hibbard, hurdler. Ben Pfeiffer represented the chapter on the tennis team along with Ted King. For the freshmen, Bill Ellis ran the mile, Hank Derbyshire high jumped and pole vaulted, and Bill Sinnamon and Fred Rogge played tennis.

Newly elected chapter president Bill Fash, who is also editor of the Argus and football manager, was tapped by the Mystical Seven, a senior honorary society. Rog Harrington is the advertising manager of the paper, and Bob Neuffer is on the Junior Editorial Board. Incidentally Bob has recently been elected president of the Cardinal Key, junior honorary society. On the newly elected business board of the Cardinal, the university literary magazine, we have Bob Murray as business manager, Walt Hibbard as circulation manager, and Ed Van Buskirk as junior business manager. Fred Ferguson has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

In intramural softball the House team was barely nosed out for the league championship in a play-off game with the Independents. In the fraternity track meet we came in fourth, and in tennis we did fairly well.

During the spring vacation, steward Paul Stephani improved the yard, and during the summer other improvements are going to be added in the interior of the house.

During the week-end of the June 19 we welcomed back over forty alumni for commencement and the alumni week-end. Eastern Division President George Brewster spoke, and we had a fine week-end under the able direction of Jim Coleman, alumni chairman.

And finally a word about the Delegation of 1938—may their lives as alumni equal theirs as undergraduates.

WALTER R. HIBBARD, JR.

Gamma Theta—Baker

GAMMA THETA was outstanding in the second semester class elections of Baker University. In the president's chair we have Randolph Manning of the sophomore class and Robert Hall of the junior class. Floyd Porter and Ross Blythe were elected to the position of secretary of the senior and sophomore classes respectively. Karl Masoner landed the job as treasurer of the junior class.

We are proud of Fred Conger who has been one of the outstanding men of the campus this past year. Fred is the president of the Baker Players, a dramatic organization, and has also played leading roles in a number of plays. He was chosen editor of the Wildcat, the yearbook. Howard Bayne, another junior, was the business manager for the annual.

The Delts contributed their share of athletes in the various sports of the University this year. They placed six men on the football team, four men on the basketball team, four on the track team, two in tennis, and one in golf.

Our chapter adviser, Hugh Hartley, has been cited to the Court of Honor. Hugh has been a wonderful asset to our Fraternity and we are proud of him.

On April 22 came the biggest social event of the year for this chapter, the spring formal. Rather original decorations were introduced by Gene Wightman. An excellent time was had by all.

Along the scholastic line we are still the highest among the fraternities of the campus. At the end of the first semester the compulsory study table for freshmen was abolished. The chapter retained first place at the end of the second semester.

The year was closed by the annual stag June 4. A large number of alumni were present and many sessions of old college days filled the air.

LAVERNE SMITH

Gamma Iota—Texas

SCHOLASTIC, political, athletic, and social activity has marked Gamma Iota's past year, which, in many respects, has been its best. Under the leadership of a comparatively young set of officers, the chapter has been carried forward on the campus in a spirit of energy and devotion to $\Delta T \Delta$.

The pivotal project for the year has been the making of careful plans for a new Shelter. With the assistance of interested friends, the Dallas Alumni Chapter, and alumni all over the state, Gamma Iota hopes to materialize her foremost ambition within the near future. In the interest of this program the chapter has been host to the Austin alumni several times during the year and has kept in contact with other alumni through the mails.

Heading the list of the most active in scholastic pursuits are Wesley Ogden and C. A. Brown, both Phi Beta Kappas. Brown is also a staff member of the Texas Law Review, published by honor students in law, and Ogden served the chapter as scholarship chairman in the past year. When Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary, meets, Delt Tom Law presides and six other Delts are in attendance, one of whom edited the organization's Freshman Handbook for Men. Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary geology fraternity, and Al-

Phi Omega, honorary service fraternity, all include Delt members. The Texas Cowboys, honorary social organization, boasts five Delts in their group. In Business Administration school, three Delts were listed on the honor roll, one of whom, Byron Cain, is a member of Beta Alpha Psi, honorary business fraternity, and president of the junior class and of the Business Administration Council. To Whitfield Collins goes the honor of leading the first-year law honor roll. Two other Delts were listed on the law honor roll and one on the engineering roll.

For the past year Delts have served as chairmen of the Judiciary Council and on the Students' Assembly. John Singleton, assemblyman, led the ticket in the fall elections and Tom Law, besides his Judiciary chairmanship, has been a member of the Discipline, Social Calendar, Round-up, and Orientation Committees for the University. He is also an editorial adviser for the campus paper, a member of the Y.M.C.A. Cabinet, Sponsor-elect of the Freshman Fellowship Club, and a member of the Southwest Area Council of the Y.M.C.A. Bob Collier served as vice-president of the First-year Laws and Lloyd Birdwell is president-elect of the University Housemanager Association.

Gamma Iota has been well represented in all intramural athletic contests this year with one of its pledges, Charles Ferguson, winning the free throw contest. Coveted positions of intramural managers for the University are held by Earl Prade, Evans Munroe, and L. G. Neeley. Delt baseball, tennis, and A and B basketball teams went to the quarter and semi-finals, and almost 100 per cent participation has been achieved by the fraternity intramural manager, Jack Sims. Tom Law is a member of the varsity cross-country team and varsity track team.

On Founders Day, Gamma Iota held its annual services at the grave of Alexander Campbell Earle, national Founder, whose body lies in the Texas State Cemetery, and afterwards joined local alumni in a dinner at the chapter house. Organization of an Austin Mothers Club was undertaken by the undergraduate group, which was host to the mothers at their first meeting.

Rounding out a representative year, the Fraternity has engaged in numerous social activities, climaxed by the spring formal for which Herby Kay and his orchestra played. $\Delta T \Delta$ was chosen to be hosts at successive Sunday lunches to the duchesses of the Texas Relays and the Sweethearts of five Southwest Conference Universities. The final function of the year, given in honor of the senior members, was a banquet reviewing the activities of the chapter for the past year, and planning another successful nine months on the University of Texas campus.

Gamma Iota, newest member of the Western Division, looks to the future as well as the past; under the presidency of Joe D. Wilson, she seeks leadership in all phases of college life, for she is striving to be a part of the brilliant future that is $\Delta T \Delta$'s.

HOMER MUELLER

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

PROUDEST is Gamma Kappa of its scholarship record, a rise from seventeenth to second place among social fraternities on the campus. Results for the second semester are not yet in, but we have visions of a first place standing.

Looking backward on a year of steady progress we find the chapter well represented in social, athletic, and campus activities. High ranking man is Jack Schweitzer, our "exprexy," who is active in Blue Key, Pan-Hell Council, Stripes and Diamonds, and is a lieutenant colonel in the R.O.T.C. Jack was one of five men chosen by the sororities as ideal dates.

Paul Hunt is chairman of the editorial board of the Showme, campus humor magazine, and, with Wilbur Lake and Dale Bermond, is a lieutenant in the R.O.T.C. Lake is captain of the Missouri Men's Rifle Team, and winner of the Hearst Intercollegiate Rifle Trophy, both Corps Area and National. Johnny Lancey has just received his debate medal and has been named manager of men's debate for the coming year. We'll see Johnny next fall, leading cheers at the football games.

President of Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary advertising fraternity, is Jack Hosford. Hosford, along with Bob Symmonds and John Hoover, two more Alpha Delta Sigmas, is active in the journalism school. Symmonds, Charles Godsey, and Don Boardman are members of the Glee Club. Hal Quinn is a charter member of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Bud Marsh, Bill Coleman, and Dave Dickens are prominent in Burrell Bible Class activities. This year Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic fraternity, initiated two more Delts, Ray Snyder and Bert Gage.

The addition of new rugs, woodwork, and fixtures will lend a brighter air to the Shelter this fall. A redecorated recreation room, complete with modernistic furnishings, is also on our building program.

Founders Day was observed by a banquet at the Hotel Muehleback in Kansas City, with Kansas City Alumni Chapter as hosts. Roscoe Groves, Gamma Kappa '13, received a Citation to the Court of Honor. The evening was closed with the initiation of Bert Gage by the Gamma Kappa team and the showing of films of the Western Division Conference.

This year's visits of Field Secretaries Ken Penfold and Gene Hibbs were both helpful and enjoyable. We hope to see them again soon, along with any other Delts who happen to come this way.

BERT GAGE, JR.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

GAMMA LAMBDA celebrated its tenth year in its spacious house with the most successful year in its history. In Student Senate the Delts dominated the most important positions. Dan Royhans, as president, brought many notable reforms to the Purdue campus supported by a delegation of six Delts composing the largest group in the Senate. Herb Fishburn cooperating with Dan Royhans was the editor of the Senate's Freshman Bible containing information about the University, both curricular and non-curricular activities. The senior class also was prominent in other activities. Grover Rose was the president of the student chapter of the American Society for Civil Engineers. He was assisted by Lee Reith as vice-president. Lee also served as vice-president of Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary, while not chasing back to his constituents in Elkhart County where he is running for County Engineer in Jim Farley's machine. "Prexy" Reid has been vice-president of the Student Union and vice-president of the Gimlet Club, "honorary of honoraries." Swede Taylor was the vice-president of the Catalyst Club, chemical engineering "good boys" society while Sam Craig, '39, is the president of the club for next year. "Bud" Bryant has led the best known campus swing band for his four years in the double "E" school. Bill Perry acted both as chairman of the Forensic Board and manager of the Boilermaker baseball team. Paul McDonald was the WBAA (Voice of Purdue) ace announcer.

In the class of '39 we had three important positions on the daily rag, Purdue Exponent. "Sleepy" Joe Schroeder as assistant editor, Bill Gil-lilan as National advertising manager, and Milton Reeves as circulation manager. Reeves, by the way, is the assistant business manager next year. On the yearbook, Debris, the '39 prexy, Dick McGhee was the assistant business manager while Harold Lewis was the sports editor. Dick McGhee was just recently elected by popular ballot to the position of secretary of the Student Athletic Association. Bob Carr is the '39 Debate manager following Bill Perry. Jim Murphy is Purdue's best weight man on the track team, participating in all weight events.

In the class of '40 we have the sports editor and the assistant business manager of Debris, "Bud" Smith and Darrin Gridley, respectively. Herb Fishburn has been a prominent member of the Senate and the debate team. Jack Swander has been Herb's partner on the platform while being a junior baseball manager for next year. Ross Drever was the president of the Skull and Crescent, sophomore honorary, for the past year leading the Sophomore Cotillion.

In the class of '41 sporting blood has shown itself. Keith Correll has won numerals in football, basketball, and baseball, being one of the Boilermaker's most "all-round athletes." Jim Miller will probably play regular guard for the Boilermakers eleven next year while Bob Bailey has been recognized by major league scouts as one of the best pitchers in college baseball. . . . Tom Petty has shown a lot of promise of being one of the "big shots" on the Exponent when next year's elections roll around.

In social life, Gamma Lambda is tops, being the only fraternity on the campus allowed to have a house party off campus. For two years now we have "taken over" the Inn at Turkey Run State Park for a whole week-end which includes dancing, hiking, winter sports, and indoor sports!

Again we crash through with the best scholarship rating of all of the Indiana Delt chapters, giving us the distinction for something like five years in a row. Our chapter has grown steadily in the past ten years, in activities, scholarship, social life, and campus prestige. This has been the best year of all.

JACK SWANDER

Gamma Nu—Maine

GREETINGS from Gamma Nu. Gamma Nu began the school year in fine style with an intensive rushing season which culminated in the pledging of twenty-five freshmen.

We were unusually well represented in school activities this year. Carl Toothacher and Robert Sherman made the varsity football squad for the coming season, and John Pratt was elected manager. Waldo Hardison and John Haggett were highlights in track. Wally holds the school and state pole vault records, and John did wonders as a varsity half-miler. Bill Bower earned his letter in track also. Paul Woods did an excellent job as manager of tennis. Harley Nelson and Cecil Reed were assistant managers of baseball and track respectively, and we expect to see them both managers next year.

Further investigation into campus activities would find us with other accomplishments besides sports. Gil Brown was manager of the R.O.T.C. band and ranked as Master Sergeant. Al Bouchard and Larry Fredrickson were other members of the band. Edward Brann, Earle Tibbetts, and Bob Harvey were active in the Maine Masque, Maine's dramatic society.

We will miss our senior class members next year. They have been a very congenial bunch of fellows to live with, and have contributed a great deal toward placing Gamma Nu near the top in school activities this year. Wally Hardison, our president last year, deserves special recognition. In addition to his remarkable athletic feats this year, he was a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural society; president of the Senior Skulls; a member of the Pale Blue Key society; secretary and treasurer of the Student Senate and Interfraternity Council; and chairman of the Commencement Week Committee.

Although school activities and achievements have perhaps been uppermost in our minds this year, we have endeavored to bring up our scholastic standing as well. John Pratt, Donald Moore, and Allen Dyer are Dean's List men, and there are several other high rankers.

The prospects for this coming year are bright and we are looking forward to another year of many achievements.

JOHN PRATT

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

DURING the past spring quarter Gamma Pi decided to have a house mother starting in the fall of this year.

After due consideration we have selected a woman whom, we believe, is exceptionally well fitted to be a good Delt house mother. She is Mrs. Clyde Williams of Sheldon, Iowa. Her husband was a Delt, and she herself is a member of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Mrs. Williams lived in Ames a number of years while her husband was Athletic Director of the College. She has many friends in the city, both on the faculty and among other fraternity and sorority house mothers.

Mrs. Williams is a very talented piano player and graduated under Rudolph Ganz in Chicago. She is also very interested in art, and has a collection of over five thousand mounted prints of paintings. She is in demand throughout the state as a lecturer on art.

Mrs. Williams has many social connections being a member of the D.A.R., Colonial Dames, Mayflower Society, and the Sheldon Womans Club. She is a past Regent of the D.A.R., and a past president of the P.E.O. She has been county chairman of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs.

The chapter feels that they have a very valuable woman in Mrs. Williams, and we are certain that as a house mother she will be indispensable to the chapter. We feel that she will add immeasurably to the home-like atmosphere of the Shelter.

A fact that may be interesting is that the football field at Iowa State is to be named Williams field, in honor of Mrs. Williams' husband.

REX HALL

Gamma Rho—Oregon

GAMMA RHO just completed the most successful year since the famed depression started, both financially and in accomplishments, ending the year with six pledges and thirty-six actives.

Listing a few of the accomplishments we find this chapter second out of seventeen scholastically, and we went to the finals in intramural water polo, the first time the game has been played for three years.

Gamma Rho won a moral victory over Delta Lambda in a soft ball game played at Benton Lane Park, although the score board might have indicated otherwise. Plans have been made to make this game an annual affair to stimulate friendship between the two chapters.

We entered into the campus group singing contest sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, and won a large silver trophy in the finals over Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Theta Chi.

Outstanding individual accomplishments were: George Hall—chairman of Oregon's famous Canoe Fete; Marshall Nelson, George Hall—Sigma Delta Rho; Ralph Severson, Arthur Lamka, Leo Young—Alpha Kappa Psi; Walt Vernstrom—Order of Mace; J. T. Monahan—Skull and Dagger; Kenneth Webber—Sigma Delta Chi; and Gordon Palmer—Beta Gamma Sigma. Also, Howard Tomasi, Gamma Rho resident adviser, after having won a beauty contest at the University of Washington, was elected "Tick" in a "Man of the Hour" popularity contest staged at this campus.

Whether it should be listed as a chapter accomplishment or not is hard to say, but some of the boys took Helen Jepsen, Metropolitan Opera star, and her accompanist, Robert Wallenborn, a Delt from the University of Chicago, fishing and Helen caught the only fish.

RALPH O. PEYTON

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

RECEIVING the highest honors that the University of Pittsburgh could bestow were John Glasser and Sam Werlinich, whose names will be perpetuated in Pitt's Hall of Fame. The wooden spoon, Pitt's traditional symbol of highest achievement, became the treasure of pledge Al Kairys as the outstanding junior man. John Tredennich was voted the outstanding student in the school of mines. Druids, honorary sophomore fraternity, lists the names of James McIntosh and Daniel Cannon as members. In Omicron Delta Kappa, highest men's honorary fraternity, $\Delta T \Delta$'s position is unique as the only social fraternity represented by three men: Sam Werlinich, John Glasser, and Pledge Al Kairys (who will wield the gavel as president of that honorary next year). Chi Rho Nu, honorary pre-medical fraternity, tapped Howard Lewis and Raymond Lowe. $\Delta T \Delta$ is represented in Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, by John Cheffey and John Tredennich, the latter occupying the president's chair for the last year.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary mining fraternity, included on its role Bob Williams and Bert Eyeler. Hammar and Coffin, newly installed honorary, lists Ernest Holmok and John Uhl as charter members.

In the field of student government, $\Delta T \Delta$ is a leader. Retiring president, Ernest Rose, of the Student Faculty Association, passes the gavel to another Delt, John Downie, who will be assisted by pledge Al Kairys in the role of vice-president. Sam Werlinich will give up his seat in the association to Emil Narve. Men's Council, successfully piloted by John Glasser as president, supported by William Kunkle, will become the charge of Al Young.

The publications field has several Delts. Under the managership of Sam Werlinich, The Owl, year book, was a huge success. Assisting him on the business staff were pledge Al Kairys and William Kunkle. On the editorial staff we find the names of Ernest Hulmok and Stanley Williams. The Pitt Panther, humorous monthly publication, was ably guided through the sea of financial difficulty for the second year by John Glasser, the business manager. John Downie managed the circulation with the aid of Bob Graf and Pete Gimber. The Panther Editorial Board listed Ernest Hulmok associate editor, and John Uhl, art editor. Freshman Daniel Cannon was one of the few freshmen who rated "by-lines" in the Pitt News, official student tri-weekly. The Journeyman, literary publication, featured a story by Ernest Hulmok, editorial board manager.

On the drill field many Delts obeyed the commands of Major John Tredennich, or read their music with one eye on Drum Major John Cheffey. Many captains, lieutenants, sergeants, corporals, as well as privates, reported to the Delt house after drills.

Emil Naric is likely to receive a full time job as Pitt's number one full-back next year. Leslie Hult has been doing outstanding work for the Panthers as a part time end. Coming up from the freshman team are Bud Hawkins, a promising halfback, and Art Covace, who is paired with pledge Dalmus Dicerhoot to form the smoothest pair of yearling guards that Pitt has seen. Fred Herlinger, veteran guard, retired with his letter last fall. Three managers also wear the square badge. They are: James McIntosh, Al Young, and Bob Frost. The varsity boxing squad is ably managed by Ken Gust. Bob Gregory has made quite a name for himself on the yearling wrestling squad. Bob Schrader received the tag of sophomore sensation as a result of his aquatic ability.

I have attempted to indicate the caliber of work Gamma Sigma is doing. Our chapter excels in all fields: scholarship, athletics, and activities. Each man is doing what his own particular talents best suit him for, and all are working for a bigger and better $\Delta T \Delta$.

JOHN UHL

Gamma Tau—Kansas

THE SPRING semester began at Gamma Tau with our Valentine party held at the Shelter. Decorations consisted of the various shaped emblems of cupid, and the music was ably supplied by that old swing-master, Red Blackburn.

February 19, the chapter introduced fourteen new members to the secrets of $\Delta T \Delta$.

At the Western Division Conference in San Francisco Gamma Tau was represented by Tom Carr and Jack Fisher, who both returned with many new experiences and quite a few lessons to make up.

Turning to athletics, in the interfraternity horseshoe competition our team won first place. In the swimming meet the Delts placed second through the efforts of Junior Cahill, Charlie McCoy, and Jack Rickman. Harry Wiles, track captain, Clarence Douglass, Fred Pralle, Dale Heckendorn, and Milton Sullivant are members of the "K" Club. Fred Pralle, crack basketball star, was named to the All-American team by N.E.A. sports experts. Also, he won, by the vote of campus sororities, the "Most Fascinating He" contest sponsored by the Sour Owl University humor publication, and was rewarded with an airplane trip via T.W.A. to the high spots of New York City.

Besides three members of the Student Council, Gamma Tau has nine men on the "inside" of hill politics.

Bob Riederer was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Bill Witt was added to the Delt list of Owl Society men, an honorary organization for juniors. Sam Caldwell was elected to Scabbard and Blade.

Led by maestro Jack Moore the chapter placed second in the Interfraternity Song Fest, in which Delta Shelter was featured.

The chapter publication The Keltz turned out bigger and better this year thanks to its editor Jim Bell.

The social season came to a close with our spring garden party at which Louie Kuhn and his orchestra played. The rushees present were quite impressed by the event.

Gamma Tau wishes to extend an invitation for all alumni to return to the Shelter next fall at Homecoming to help make the chapter's twenty-fifth birthday banquet a success.

TOM CARR

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

THE 1938 class has been graduated and, as the time rolls by on greased roller bearings, they will have no time to reminisce. To save them time let's review in a sketchy way what has happened since the beginning of the last semester.

No one can forget "rush week"—seeing so many new faces, inhaling too many cigarets, and going hungry until the first shift was finished. Irv Leon and Howard Davis, president, brought Gamma Upsilon through this one week of the year with twenty-seven pledges. The new card system obviated any mistakes in data and men. Joe Jordan then took the pledges in hand and led them through the training system.

Robert "Deacon" Fullerton managed the Delt men in the Miami Spring Indoor Track Meet. We won first place. The tug-of-war was the pulling attraction of the meet. We had it cinched with "Punjab" Slater as the anchor man. The sack racer is Bob Zimmerman, vice-president; two years in succession he has jumped across the finish line with the agility that comes from years of patient practice and unflinching submergence of self to the industry of perfecting his ordination.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Howard Davis, president; Robert Zimmerman, vice-president; George Fogarty, treasurer—elected early in the second semester; Albert Brandt, secretary; and A. A. Leininger, corresponding secretary.

The first social duty to come under the new administration was Mothers Day. Starting with a garden buffet luncheon Saturday evening, the mothers found their weekend beginning. At eight o'clock, the annual Interfraternity Sing was held. Vernon Fryburger was our leader. More than forty mothers had the Shelter for the night. We don't know what happened then but "Mom" Hallam must be thanked for giving us a successful Mothers Day. Sunday, Gamma Upsilon mothers and members went to the morning services.

Our volley ball teams won two cups. Bob Fullerton and Bud Albrecht were the key men who kept at us to practice and go out and win.

The important committees most recently appointed are the Rushing Committee with Jack Barnum and Bill Daugherty as co-chairmen. The other committee headed by Bob Bowers is the Social Committee.

$\Delta T \Delta$ at Miami is modestly proud of its three new Omicron Delta Kappa men. George Fogarty, Bob Sharp, and Howard Davis made this service honorary.

In connection with these men, Jim Richards must not be left out. As "Hamlet" in the Shakespearean play he performed with such greatness that even the brothers forgot that Jim was on the stage; we saw Hamlet as he lived and died.

Gamma Upsilon presented three dances besides our regular open houses every Saturday and Sunday nights. The pledge dance, a novelty, pictured to the seniors what may befall them if they don't work hard when they get their jobs. It was a hobos' "Tin Can Alley Dance." The Parisienne

Cafe dance presented a tableau of a French art gallery along the streets. Our spring formal was the best dance of the year. It was very exclusive. We didn't employ or need bouncers. Why? No one but guests could find it. We had decorated the Shelter and the garden and at the last minute, with rain pouring down, a ballroom on the campus was pressed into service.

That in brief is what our graduates of 1938 are thinking when the boss catches them gazing off into the distance. Avery Phillis, Walter Albrecht, Nelson Jordan, Robert Perry, Garth Braden Slater (full name for a big man), Fred Hageman, John Roth, George Spohn, Willard Geason, Don Taylor, Irvin Leon, Byron Smith, and Jim Richards are the graduates. We will miss them.

A. A. LEININGER

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

INTRAMURAL athletics here at Kansas State College are one of the outstanding activities of the school year. The intramurals here, instead of being between classes, are between fraternities, and although our intramural teams were not quite as good this year as they have been in the past, Gamma Chi was as enthusiastic about the athletics as ever. The events in which Gamma Chi was most successful were the swimming and indoor track meets which we won. Our swimming team was easily the most outstanding. One man alone, John Thomas, won three first places, but we could scarcely have won the meet had he not been well supported by Harry Sipe and Paul Furst who also won firsts.

Gamma Chi's formal spring party, a banquet at the Ware Hotel followed by a dance, was one of the outstanding social events of the year. Particularly were the decorations outstanding. Dick Jaccard, Willard Scherff, and Russel DeRigne, of the decorations committee were complimented generously by the guests. The theme of the decorations was to make the party seem like a lawn party in front of Gamma Chi's Shelter.

In the way of individual honors,

Gamma Chi is represented in the National Journalistic Fraternity, in the National Chemical Fraternity, in the Junior Men's Political Organization, and in the Senior Men's Political Organization. Joe Newman, president of the Senior Men's Panhellenic, is a member of Gamma Chi.

VINCENT ELLIS

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

NOW THAT school is out, graduation over and vacation upon us, we of Gamma Psi look back with pride to a successful year. An effort to uphold the prestige of $\Delta T \Delta$ has been exercised by each of the chapter members.

The Artists Ball, April 22, was one of the most successful functions of the year. The boys worked diligently towards making this dance one to be long remembered. It was held at Brookhaven Country Club which was most appropriately and effectively decorated for the occasion. Several informal dances were held at the house during the spring.

Open House for the mothers was enjoyed by all. We appreciate the interest and cooperation of the Mothers Club and these little "get togethers" express in our meager way just what the efforts of the mothers mean to us.

During Religious Week, Dean De Ovies gave the boys a most interesting and helpful talk. It is always a pleasure to have a message from the Dean.

Interfraternity dances were held June 9 through June 11. Will Osborne and his slide swing orchestra provided many hours of enjoyable dancing.

Graduating seniors were: Jack Fleming, Jack Courtney, "Possum" McLean, Frank Webb, Bill Alexander, Pete Whaley, Elbridge White, Paul Secord, Elmer Scott, Billy Malone, Hugh Marshall. Frank Webb was elected to Tau Beta Pi.

HARRY A. FLEMISTER

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

UPHOLDING the title of a leader in campus activities has been one of the chapter accomplishments during the past year. Delta Alpha has continued to claim an important voice in every phase of extra-curricular affairs to the extent that upon the membership roll of every worthy campus organization may be found the name of a Delt.

Here is a partial list of our activities:

Men's Council: Kenneth Harris, president, and John Cheadle.

Interfraternity Council: Robert L. Cooper, Kenneth Harris, and Ernest Haskell.

President's Class: Jim Richards.

Checkmate, inter-school honorary: Wayne Allen and Kenneth Harris.

Skeleton Key, leadership honorary: Bob Cooper, Harry Gilbert, and Ernest Haskell.

Bombardiers, basic military science: David Craig, Max Cook, Harry Gilbert, Kenneth Lowe, Jim Richards, Bill Thoms, Charles Dow, Bill McCready, and Bunn Hale.

Kappa Kappa Psi, band fraternity: Wayne Allen and Bob Williams.

Phi Mu Alpha, music fraternity: Earl Morris.

Pi Sigma Alpha, political science fraternity: Bob Cooper and Kenneth Harris.

Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity: Burdette Smith, John Cheadle, and Herbert Branan.

Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary: Harry Gilbert, Charles Dow and Phalos Scott.

Sigma Tau, engineering honorary: Harold Keehn and Ovide Webber.

Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary: Leonard Battle, Ovide Webber, Ernest Haskell, Richard Townsend and Charles Houssiere.

Pe-et, senior honorary: John Cheadle.

Scabbard and Blade, military science honorary: Bob Cooper, George Robie, David Craig, Jack Getty, John Cheadle, Max Cook and Bunn Hale.

Covered Wagon, humor magazine: Wayne Allen, editor; Budge Van Lee, associate editor, and Kenneth Harris, assistant editor.

Sooner Yearbook, University annual: Kenneth Harris and Budge Lee.

Y.M.C.A.: Kenneth Harris, board of directors; Kenneth Lowe, vice-president; Budge Lee, publicity director; and Bob Williams, cabinet member.

Alpha Chi Sigma, honorary chemical fraternity: Fred Harlow, Charles Dow, Leonard Battle and Ovide Webber.

Toga, honorary senior fraternity: Herbert Branam.

Jazz Hounds, pep order: Wayne Allen, Bob Shaw, David Craig, Harry Gilbert, Jim Beach, and Jim Richards.

Rough-Neks, pep order: Max Cook, president, Harry Shrader, Bill Sutton, Bunn Hale, George Price, Budge Lee, Bill McCready, Fred Harlow and John Major.

Congress Club, literary society: Kenneth Harris, Kenneth Lowe, Wayne Christian, Edgar Mikles, Jack Hall, and Abner Bond.

Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity: Kenneth Lowe.

Tau Omega, honorary aeronautical fraternity: Jim Beach.

KENNETH HARRIS

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

ON THE week-end of May 15 the boys of Delta Beta put away their books and slide rules for three days of merriment in our annual Spring Carnival. In the pushbuggy race, one of the main events, the new Delt buggy managed to clip two seconds from the course record, and Harry Stewart and Tom Pratt crossed the finish line, in the soap box derby, half a course length ahead of all other contestants. The Spring Carnival Show, Scotch and Soda, was presented the second evening of the Carnival with Prendes, Combs, Boyd, Pratt, Starzynski, and Beck taking part. The Carnival ended Saturday evening to the swing of Tommy Dorsey's band.

This year following elections we found that Bill Smith had been elected president of Student Council. Barrie Graham was successful in obtaining the presidency of the junior class. Bill Smith and Joe Davis, our Shelter prexy, became members of the senior honorary, Dragons.

Our alumni chapter has been enriched by our ten graduates for this year, namely: Hugh Overturf, Bob Tummons, "Pappy" Kauffman, Gene Blandford, Tony Prendes, Joe Johnson, Severn Starzynski, Art Freeland, Jim Herb, and Jack Hankey.

Rushing season for next year has been changed in that we will now be able to rush at the first of the year. We look forward to big things next year.

GEORGE J. STUART, JR.

THE PAST school year has again been a marked success for Delta Gamma. Her members have been leaders in extra-curricular fields and have distinguished themselves.

Scholastically, her members were outstanding, being excelled as a group by a fraction of a point by only one fraternity. George Schmidt and Ross Oviatt were members of the University debate team and did some fine work in that department. Steve Kelly and Rod Parsons upheld the chapter on the gridiron while Gene Hetland, Joe Cadwell, Mack Albertson and O. F. Jacobson starred on the basketball court. Hetland further distinguished himself athletically by becoming, for the second year, the top hurdler of the North Central Conference.

Intramural honors were many as Delta Gamma's teams swept the fraternity basketball and swimming meets.

Through fine coöperation and an outstanding array of talent, Delta Gamma captured first place in the annual Stroller's vaudeville with her novel act, Twilight in Turkey.

Other members of the chapter were active in band, orchestra, glee club and dramatics. Thus did Delta Gamma prove that the biggest chapter on the South Dakota campus was also a well rounded group of young men.

And now, with a fine new Shelter under construction, and forty members returning this fall, Delta Gamma is pointing toward her biggest and best year.

LEROY HABERMAN

Delta Delta—Tennessee

A VERY successful year has just passed and high hopes are expressed for the coming year. Graduation losses will probably be felt more than ever before.

John Wesley Fisher, II, our president for the past two years, held the most coveted title on the campus, that of "Volunteer" for 1937-38. John also held membership in Scarabean, senior honor society, Interfraternity Council, and Delta Sigma Pi, honorary commerce fraternity. Just to show that the athletic field and classroom can mix, he played varsity basketball in '36 and '37 and was a member of the track team from '35 through '38.

Jim Robinson, another of our seniors, was Y.M.C.A. president for 1938, member of Phi Kappa Phi, Scarabean, the tennis team in '35, and manager of the very successful Grace Moore Concert.

John Robinson, brother of the aforementioned Jim, was president of the University Chorus and a member of Phi Kappa Phi.

Jack Ford, better known as "Scrooge," who no doubt received that monicker during his term as chapter treasurer for '37 and '38, is another of our departing seniors. Jack was also a member of Delta Sigma Pi.

On the scientific side, we have Ed Williams who received his degree from the College of Liberal Arts. Ed served as chapter vice-president. Ed was a member of Biologia, honorary society for science majors.

A group of Delt voices won the All-University Sing under the capable leadership of Jim Robinson.

Circle and Torch, honorary leadership society, claimed two Delts. These men active in campus affairs were Bill Fisher and Jack Denman. Fisher is a member of Pershing Rifles and the Nahheeyayli Dance Board. Bill was chairman of decorations for the Final dances, featuring Paul Whiteman's Orchestra. Jack is editorial assistant on the Orange and White and a member of the Interfraternity Council.

Charlie Taylor and Al Hutchison are our members of the Beaver Club, official welcoming body for the University. Al is also the winner of the annual Freshman Cup Award.

In intramural competition, the Deltas held their own. Fine showings were made in basketball, golf, and tennis.

With such a firm foundation laid down by our outgoing seniors, we aim to keep alive the finer spirit of $\Delta T \Delta$.

EDWARD PICKETT, JR.

Delta Zeta—Florida

REJOICE all ye faithful—for Delta Zeta is beginning to experience the results of a successful drive for a new Shelter. Our plans for the year were colored throughout with our individual visions of another new Delt Shelter. Everyone worked for the good of the chapter—and a new house.

At mid-semester we awoke to find ourselves with a lot of seniors, more juniors and two sophomores, so we turned on the heat with a resulting group of freshmen second to none on the campus.

The intramural score board gives definite proof that Delta Zeta is progressing, as our standing is several notches above that of last year. Double or nothing if our golf team remains intact, we get a championship next year.

One of the notable developments of the year was the injection of new life into the Miami Alumni Association, which is now a shining light in the vast Everglades of South Florida. (Jax., please take note.)

Homecoming this year was a complete success when a buffet supper was served to over four score and ten visitors and alumni. Plan to see us and the football game next Homecoming, and if you haven't written or heard from us, drop a card. Honestly, we don't know what has become of some of you.

TERRY DRAKE

Delta Eta—Alabama

DELTA ETA closed a very successful year in May. Not only were her members represented in every campus activity but she also won distinctions for herself.

The most noteworthy of the Alabama chapter's achievements was her position in intramural sports. After holding the lead from January till May, the Sigma Chis came from behind and by winning three major sports and defeating the "Shelter" boys in a baseball field meet by two points nosed them out of the intramural championship trophy. Don Yost, Bob Barker, Bill Walker and Jack Waite were the outstanding athletes for the chapter.

Delta Tau Delta's outstanding man of the year was Maurice Fletcher, from Clarksdale, Mississippi. Fletcher was elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, was president of his class, played football for four years with the mighty Crimson Tide, was chairman of the Commerce Committee and the School Dance Committee, a member of the Spirit Committee, Greeks, the "A" Club, the Cotillion Club, was Lt. Colonel in the R.O.T.C. and is listed in the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Fred Davis, Rudy Guest and Cullen Sugg are on the Tide squad and will see regular service in the fall. Harry Sugg played good basketball with the Crimson quintet during the past season and will see even more work with them when the basket-tossers go into action next winter. Hugh Bedient pitched his last year for the undefeated Alabama nine this season. He is one of the best pitchers to hurl for the Crimson.

Dramatics was one of the most popular extra-curricular activities participated in by Deltas. Norman Wright and Donald Campbell were taken into the National Intercollegiate Players while Hugh Bedient, George Borgeman, Marion Coley, Dave Heydinger and Bill Atkinson were members of Blackfriars.

Fred Jones won innumerable medals shooting with the Capstone marksmen during the past two years. He was a Captain in the R.O.T.C. also.

Another politician in the fold is Ted Hannah who was elected secretary-treasurer of the commerce school sophomore class. Ted is also a member of Greeks and Delta Sigma Pi.

Musically inclined Deltas consisted of Olin Adams and Al St. Louis, both members of the Cavaliers, leading dance band on the campus, and Bill Dow and Bill Miller who played in the Million Dollar Band.

Scabbard and Blade had Edmund Storer and Harold Lawson.

A rushing party was held in Birmingham late in June at which many alumni and prominent Deltas in the state were present.

W. B. GITTENS

Delta Theta—Toronto

ANOTHER college year has closed and once more Delta Theta has continued her success in scholarship, social events, and the world of sports.

The winter social season passed very successfully, with the chapter formal February 26, perhaps holding the spotlight. However, many other events also took place among which was a Mothers Tea at the chapter house which proved very popular, and also a sleighing party.

In sporting activities the chapter more than held its own. Delta Theta's contribution to senior intercollegiate hockey, Mac Craig, had another good season, while Harry Kimber and Bill Disher represented the chapter in intramural competition. Entries were made in interfraternity basketball and indoor baseball, the boys being well up in the final standing of the latter. Al "Scourge" Fowler was well on his way to repeating his victory of last year in boxing but was stopped by injuries.

HARRY KIMBER

Delta Kappa—Duke

JUNE 1 saw the closing of one of the most successful years in the recent history of Delta Kappa. The members of Delta Kappa returned last fall under the leadership of Andrew Massett, 34 strong. We got under way with several open houses on the days of home football games. We were very fortunate in being able to entertain more than a dozen brothers who came to see us from Knoxville, sending them back happier than we had returned from Knoxville the year previous, because the game ended in a 0-0 tie. Then we were most fortunate in having about a dozen of our brothers journey from Pittsburgh to witness the first of a new series of Duke vs Pitt football games and to attend our most successful fall dance.

In November we had a formal date banquet which was most successful for we had as speakers our chapter adviser, Everett Weatherspoon, and Bill Blackshear of Texas. Then came the Christmas holidays. The brothers returned ready to get back to that hard period of study for final examinations, which was evident by our rise again in scholarship, this time from tenth place on the campus among sixteen fraternities to a tie for seventh place.

During the third week of February came our deferred rush week, in which Delta Kappa pledged one of the finest classes on campus. Pledge period was very successful, two of our pledges being tapped for B.O.S., honorary sophomore fraternity, one being elected president of the sophomore class, and another its athletic representative. Unger in the spring elections became treasurer of the junior class. Merchant, Faulkner, and Lenox were tapped for Tombs, honorary athletic fraternity. Daane was tapped for several scholarship fraternities among which were Phi Beta Kappa and 9019. Daane was also an outstanding member of the varsity debating team and was elected to the presidency of Hesperian Union, a forensic society. Cale was appointed a member of the Y.M.C.A. cabinet, while Bill Williams was appointed managing editor of the college yearbook. Delta Kappa finished fifth in total points gained from intramural sports and added several new cups to its already growing collection. Several initiations were held in the spring with over a dozen men being added to the active chapter of Delta Kappa. Delta Kappa was also one of the three participants in the interfraternity sing this spring.

This has been a brief survey of the highlights and achievements of Delta Kappa and its members for the school year 1937-38.

CLAYTON C. CARTER

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

DURING the latter part of the spring term of this past school year, Delta Lambda entered the campus political campaign by running a man for Student Body president. This was Edward Burchell, ex-editor of the Barometer, Oregon State's daily newspaper. Burchell lost by 26 votes in a very heated election. However, in recognition of his efforts, he has been appointed Chairman of the Student Fee Drive Committee for the coming school year. He is also the new president of Sigma Delta Chi, and president of Blue Key.

The new chapter president, Burch Davis, has completed his year as editor of The Beaver, Oregon State's yearbook. Don Coons won his letter in football for the second time and is to be next year's captain of the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade.

The chapter has been well represented in many campus honoraries. Several members were initiated into honoraries during the latter part of the year. Three men went into Alpha Delta Sigma. Burnette Chausse and Frank Henry were pledged to Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary for technical schools. Chausse was initiated into Eta Kappa Nu.

Two members who were initiated into the house this past school year have been initiated into Kappa Kappa Psi, national music honorary for bandmen. One of these, Frank Wells, was a freshman at the time of his initiation into the honorary. The other, his brother, Lee Wells, is also to be the next year's manager of the R.O.T.C. Band. These two men also won a numeral and a letter respectively, in debate.

Don Hand, who has been assistant manager of The Beaver, was promoted to manager of the yearbook for the coming year.

During the past year, the chapter gave two formal dances—one each during winter and spring terms. These were actively supported by the members and pledges. At the winter term formal, the chapter was honored with the presence of several men from the University of Oregon chapter. The chapter also turned out for a skating party and a joint picnic.

The Mothers Club has been very active. During the spring, they sold chances on a beautiful quilt in order to raise funds. The drawing for the quilt was held on Mothers Day at the chapter house, when a buffet dinner was given for the mothers.

The chapter's new rushing chairman is Tom Zilka of Portland, who actively started his work at the Junior Week-end festivities of last spring when a picnic was held to get acquainted with the rushees who were visiting the house. An active rushing program has been planned for the summer months which will be pursued in Portland and throughout the state by the rushing committee and the members of the House.

LEE A. WELLS, JR.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

FOLLOWING is an enumeration of the honors which have come to Delta Nu during the past academic year: one member elected to Phi Beta Kappa; four elected to Mace, local honorary; winning of the Interfraternity Athletic Supremacy Cup; winning of the Interfraternity Singing Trophy; two men elected to All-State football team; two elected to All-State basketball team; eight men won football letters; three men won basketball letters; two men won swimming letters; three men won track letters; one man won a golf letter; one man was senior basketball manager; one man was senior track manager; two men are department editors-elect for next year's college paper; two men are members of the Executive Committee, student body governing committee; and co-captain elect for next year's football team.

★ THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS ★

Akron

It is too late now to give much information for the August number but we will be glad to send a report on our summer activities for the November number.

D. B. WOLCOTT

Atlanta

THE ATLANTA Alumni Chapter, Georgia Tech and Emory Chapters held their annual Spring Outing at Forrest Hills Golf Club, May 7. There were sixty-five present and the occasion was a very enjoyable one. Those attending participated in golf, soft ball, and horse shoes, and later in the evening a barbecue dinner was served. Evans Joseph won the golf tournament and Myrick Clements won the blind bogey.

Our popular president of the Southern Division, I. B. McDaniel, has just returned from the meeting of the Arch Chapter and a swing around the division visiting chapters. He also visited a number of chapters in other Divisions. At our June meeting, which was held at the home of Charles Sumner June 13, McDaniel gave an interesting talk on his trip, particularly his visit to the Central Office. He had a real treat for us in the form of a preview of a number of reels of moving pictures in color which he took on his trip. These pictures consisted of members of the Arch Chapter, scenes in Indianapolis, and scenes at various colleges. Also there were pictures of our chapter houses at these colleges and members of the chapters as well as a sprinkling of feminine beauty. The reels are to be sent to the various chapters in the Southern Division to be used in rushing this fall.

Robert Nelson and Joseph Webb have been transferred, the former to Birmingham with the telephone company and the latter to Savannah with the Liberty National Bank. We regret to lose these men.

One of the most popular members of the Atlanta Alumni Chapter, R. P. Black, was honored recently when he was chairman of the parade board and Marshal of the Day at the American Legion Ball.

Three Atlanta alumni—Bill Horne, Frank Sacha, and McIver Evans recently joined the ranks of the benedicts and are receiving the best wishes of their many friends.

Our regular monthly meetings, which are so well attended, will be continued through the summer months. Our attendance is good in spite of the hot weather and the fact that many are away on vacation.

Chicago

THE CHICAGO Alumni Chapter is holding its Annual Golf Tournament on Thursday, June 23, at the Rolling Green Country Club, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

The afternoon's golf is followed by a dinner at which a handsome cup, presented by Jim Leahy, Beta Pi (Northwestern), '26, two years ago to the Chicago Alumni Chapter, will be presented to the winner.

Hugh Duvall, Beta Pi, '35, was the winner of the cup last year.

Carl Wolf, Beta Pi, '11, is again serving as chairman of the golf committee, assisted by Bud McNamee, Chi (Kenyon), '34.

An informal dinner meeting was held at the Adventurers Club on May 26. Charles Jenkins, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '06, member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the U. S., was scheduled to tell us of his 25 years' experience as a "G" man, but duty called him elsewhere and a substitute speaker from the Department told of the interesting activities carried on by this important service of the government. Despite a cloudburst just before dinner time, a good crowd was on hand.

The Chicago Alumni Chapter will again carry on a rushing program during the summer months to assist the active chapters which draw men from the Chicago area. The program will climax early in September with a rushing dinner at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, to which all of the rushees from this area will be invited as our guests. Last year, there were 170 alumni, actives, and rushees out for this dinner. We hope to double that figure this fall.

Our weekly luncheons are held each Monday noon in the Lincoln Room of the Brevoort Hotel, 172 West Madison Street. Any visiting Deltas are urged to drop in and make themselves known.

Denver

THE COLORADO Deltas are well along on the plans for the MILE-HI KARNEA in cool Colorado. Advance registrations are coming in fast and William E. Glass, chairman of the registration committee, predicts one hundred registrations by fall.

The Denver Alumni Chapter held a meeting June 22, at the Oxford Hotel. Two minutes and four seconds of the evening was taken up by a prize fight in the east. The rest of the time being devoted to reports of the various committees who have started on the Karnea organization. William Krape and Leon Moore are in charge of the annual picnic which is to be held sometime in August, but more about that next time.

Ralph B. Hubbard was recently elected president of the Colorado Engineering Council, and just returned from a trip to Washington, D.C., where he attended the American Engineering Society Convention. Ralph is connected with the Public Service Company of Colorado in the Engineering Department.

Tom S. Butterworth has been elected president of the Denver Junior Chamber of Commerce for the coming year. F. M. (Monty) Orsborn has returned to Denver from Indiana and is now with the General Electric Company Industrial Sales Department of the Denver, Colorado, Branch.

A possible father and son combination in the United States Senate will be decided in the fall elections. Ben C. Hilliard, father of Ben C. Hilliard, Jr., both of Denver and Albert E. Hilliard of Reno, Nevada, are running for the senate in their respective states.

Harold C. Martin has prepared several "Mile-Hi Karnea" pages for THE RAINBOW. Watch for them! The Karnea Committee consists of Phil Van Cise, General Chairman, William E. Glass, Harold C. Martin, Blaine Ballah, Jr., and Allen Beck.

Plan now to spend your 1939 vacation in America's Air-Conditioned Wonderland and get together with all the Delts that will attend the MILE-HI KARNEA in beautiful Estes Park.

Detroit

ON MAY 6, 1937 Detroit alumni of the Fraternity, their wives and sweethearts, turned out in gala fashion to assist in making the first attempted mixed party here a success. Dinners deluxe of chicken, fish, steak, and frog legs were served the large group which turned out at Northwood Inn in suburban Detroit. Dancing to a popular and well known orchestra kept activity rolling in full force all evening, and the band previously had arranged various Delt songs, which were played and sung to everyone's enjoyment.

General arrangements were in charge of Vince Bailey, Epsilon (Albion), '31, and he was assisted by a very capable committee of fifteen which assured a successful party from the beginning.

Delts from more than twenty chapters attended, and the party afforded the ladies an opportunity of seeing the type of men that their husbands and boy friends associate with at many of the local Delt stags.

E. CHRISTIANSEN

Indianapolis

IN MAY, Indianapolis was host to the Arch Chapter, however, due to the pressure of business and the volume to be covered during the short period of the meeting it was not possible for the members to accept any of our suggestions for entertainment. Harry Green, Editor of THE RAINBOW, and formerly a member of our alumni group joined us for lunch as did Kenneth Penfold, one of $\Delta T \Delta$'s field secretaries.

Plans for an outing for members, wives, and girl friends are being considered and we hope our committee will soon announce the time, the place, and the program. We are anticipating a real Delt party.

"Doc" Sunderland tells us that those winter golf lessons took twenty strokes off his score. He must have been terrible before the lessons as Fred Tucker has had two free luncheons as a result of playing with "Doc," and Fred is no Bobby Jones. Anyway it is good to see the brethren in such encounters of friendly rivalry and it has its rewards for $\Delta T \Delta$ —it brings Fred out to the luncheons to collect his bets.

Sincere sympathy of every Indianapolis Delt is extended to our Kleber Hadley who lost his mother in May.

Lloyd Smith recently took unto himself a bride. Congratulations, Lloyd, and don't forget the cigars will be on you the next time you attend a Delt luncheon, and, just in case you do not remember when—it is every Friday noon at the Columbia Club. Come on up!

And that same invitation goes for all other Delts who happen to be visiting in Indianapolis. The warm hand of fellowship awaits you, and we'll furnish the cigars.

WILLIAM H. MARTINDILL

Kansas City

WEEKLY luncheons are being held as usual at the Kansas City Athletic Club on Thursday of each week and attendance has been good.

We are getting interesting reports from the nearby chapters regarding rushing and expect to add our bit to help with rushing before the colleges open in the fall.

Most of the members will be on vacation during July and August.

FRANK B. SIEGRIST

Los Angeles

IT is gratifying to be able to report on behalf of our Los Angeles Alumni Chapter that in spite of recessions, desultory stock markets, swooning commodity prices—or what have you—the luncheon meetings of our stronghold of Deltaism held each Tuesday at the University Club are still showing an average attendance of 22 to 30. So, may we urge all visiting Delts to make it a point to drop in at our genial gatherings.

A very constructive piece of work is in process of being undertaken at the present time by the Los Angeles alumni. Delta Iota at U.C.L.A., being in need of a new home, the alumni have organized a splendid committee through whose efforts we intend to raise a sum which, added to funds to be made available otherwise will, we hope, insure ground-breaking for a new Shelter by the opening of school next fall. We have set ourselves no small task but inasmuch as the rest of the United States accuses Los Angeles of inordinate boasting, we may as well have the game as the name—and we ask you to watch us make good.

With vacation time here our activities are not as frequent as during the winter but we are commencing now to plan our annual summer High Jinks Party which will be held at the Uplifters' Club, as usual, in July or August. Added to this will be some coöperative rushing activities.

BARRY HILLARD

Miami

THE MIAMI Alumni Chapter has recently been revived. During May, a dinner at the University Club honoring graduates of various high schools in the city was well attended. Plans are being made for a boat ride, barbecue, and dance during the summer. These events will be used as aids in rushing as well as to keep up the renewed interest in the chapter.

JOHN G. THOMPSON

Let's Visit the Cleveland Alumni Chapter

MORE than three hundred Delts from approximately fifty chapters of the Fraternity constitute the Cleveland Alumni Chapter of $\Delta T \Delta$. A year around program of luncheon meetings, banquets, picnics, dances and golf tournaments has been consistently carried out for many years so that practically every month there is some traditional function to be staged. Various activities are definitely planned to include the members, their families and friends. During the recent years there has been an attempt to have a stag event for the members one month and an affair to include the ladies the next month.

Zeta (Western Reserve) is located in Cleveland, and several times each year joint active and alumni functions are held. Zeta actives have been most cordial in making Cleveland Delts, no matter what their original chapter may have been, feel that Zeta is their chapter, that they are always welcome, and that the door is always open to them. This attitude has gone far toward creating a most harmonious relationship with the alumni.

Year after year the program of the

Cleveland Alumni Chapter follows much the same pattern. The fiscal year starts in February and the first big event is held on Washington's Birthday when we join with Zeta in a banquet at one of the leading hotels or clubs. This is the annual meeting, election of officers, and celebration in honor of the neophytes Zeta initiates on that day, and these boys are the guests of honor for the evening. This is our number one party of the year and the good brothers flock in from all parts of the state. Judge Ray Speers comes in from Sandusky, Judge C. W. Portman migrates to the city from Massillon and usually brings Jack Roesch and one or two more with him, Roy Petty from Warren rarely misses this or any other party, O. P. Moon gets in from Elyria and Bill Moon comes from Port Clinton, and of course C. D. Russell, as loyal a man as ever wore a square badge, comes in from Akron, while Ray Carroll has been known to cross the continent just for this affair.

In March there is the Founders Day celebration, and toward the latter part of April comes a party, at which time the brothers gather to renew old acquaintances, meet new members, and welcome the warm spring breezes by singing many a Delt song, telling Delt yarns and enjoying the good fellowship which goes with such a party.

The month of May brings our spring party. Usually this affair has taken the form of a golf tournament for the men in the afternoon, and a bridge party for the ladies. The evening is given over to a dinner-dance.

One of our finest Delt functions is our basket picnic usually held in late June or July. At this affair the brothers, their friends, their children and their entire families gather for an afternoon and evening of outdoor fun. Baseball games, tennis, swimming and horse shoes feature the activities. At dinner time the picnic baskets are placed on the tables and everyone circulates around and munches here and there until he has that blissfully uncomfortable feeling which comes with having consumed far too much delicious food. The day is ended by gathering on the shore of Lake Erie and singing Delt songs while the brilliant setting sun transforms the water into a radiant mass of purple, white and gold.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN, Secretary

In August there is usually another golf tournament, and for the Cleveland Alumni Chapter a golf tournament is a chance for most of the brothers to enjoy an afternoon out in the open while they wait to see whether Frank Pelton, Bill Mould, O. P. Moon, Glenn Mapes or Bob Needs will get the championship cup.

In the fall of the year our traditional event is a clam bake, most often held at a German club famous for the quality of the food that is served.

During December we again join Zeta in a party. This time it is a dinner-dance held at a downtown club or hotel. The Christmas party is always a formal affair which starts early in the evening and ends in the very wee hours of the morning.

These are our main social events of the year. Additional parties, dinners, or get-togethers may be held if any special occasion arises. Every Friday throughout the year a luncheon meeting is held. These are very informal affairs where we transact business, have no set speeches, but just enjoy the privilege of meeting together and talking Δ Τ Δ.

Four years ago a monthly news bulletin, Delta Tau Delta Bulletin, was issued and has been in continuous publication since. This bulletin is sent to all Delts in the Cleveland area. It serves to notify the members of the monthly events on the calendar, carries Delt letters which have been received by the secretary, is filled with news of interest to Delts and has a column of personal notes. This bulletin has been a strong factor in maintaining continued interest in the alumni chapter as well as keeping Delts in this area in more or less constant communication with one another.

DELTA TAU DELTA BULLETIN

May 1938 No. 5

Here it is, brothers, and just for all classes the editor of this inner session... all the "fixins." Fees and dinner, if you buy your dinner if you wait sir, just do it beat that.

Speaking of the lack of mail this month - we wish some of you outlanders would drop us a line now and then. We're interested in Delts everywhere, so squander a few cents on a stamp and let us hear from you. How about Russell, Belding, it Mills, Porty, Hyman, Gifford, Armstrong, McCounell, Cole, Shannon, Whitten, Blystone, etc., etc.

Col. Bill Mould, as usual, attended the Kentucky Derby. Col. Bill Drane had a "Grade A" grouch because he couldn't go. Col. "Hop" Hopkins rather go fishing - cigar man, would "give" someone a go because he in addition to which end of a didn't much

GEORGE W. CRILE

It would be impossible to say that any one or two individuals have been responsible for the success of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter. Such busy men as R. A. "Bob" Weaver, President of the Ferro Enamel Company and head of the Cleveland Citizens League, Carl Weygandt, Chief Justice of the Ohio State Supreme Court, Dr. C. W. Crile, world famed surgeon, Clayton C. Townes, former mayor of Cleveland, Sidney S. Wilson, former Treasurer of Western Reserve University, Judge James M. Shallenberger, Dr. J. J. Thomas, and Dr. R. E. Ruedy, two of our fifty year Delts, can always find time to take part in Delt activities.

If we were to single out some "wheel horses" who have done more than their share for the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, it would be necessary to mention some of our former presidents, such as Howard Crow, Mack Yost, Bill Hecker, Karl Ertle, H. C. Hopkins, and John McConnell. Harry Hoffman, the present president, is a human dynamo and keeps the motor running at high speed at all times.

Of course there are always old stand-bys like Jack Finnicum, Clem Frank, Curtis Harsh, Ed Hinckle, Bill Drane, Les Morgan, Ralph Cummings, or Sam Lind who can be depended upon to carry the banner if needed. In a measure it might be considered unfair to single out any individuals for special mention, for every one of the three hundred members in the alumni chapter would be willing to do more than his share of work for the chapter.

The members of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter enjoy the fellowship of Δ T Δ, we have good times together, and extend a most cordial invitation to all Delts in the Cleveland area to join with us.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The rumor is that this live alumni group is already aiming to win the 1939 Colorado Mile-High Karnea alumni attendance prize.

New Orleans

ON MAY 25, 1938, the New Orleans Alumni Chapter elected the following officers for the year beginning June 1, 1938: Harry P. Gamble, Jr., president, Eugene M. McCarrall, vice-president, G. Shelby Friedrichs, treasurer, Harrie Pearson, recording secretary, and Allain C. Andry, Jr., corresponding secretary.

At that meeting a series of dinners and luncheons were planned for the purpose of encouraging alumni interest and on June 9, the first luncheon was held. Pierce Butler, one of the founders of Beta Xi Chapter, and presently the retiring dean of Newcomb College, was the guest of honor and was presented with an honorary life membership in the association.

ALLAIN C. ANDRY, JR.

New York

THE ELECTION of officers for the ensuing year was held on May 18, 1938. Don Moffett, Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '17, was elected president. Don has been very active in Delt affairs in New York City, and alumni activities should continue on a high plane under his able direction. Don will be ably assisted by Sewell Corkran, Omicron (Iowa), '09, and Carl Fairbanks, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '18. George Ficken will serve another year as treasurer; and the writer was re-elected as secretary.

The Nominating Committee wished to recognize the excellent work performed by the former president, David K. Reeder, Omega (Pennsylvania), '19, and recommended that he be elected as an Honorary President. Needless to say, this recommendation of the Committee was unanimously adopted.

The New York Deltas have made no plans for summer activities, although there were rumors of an outing of some sort which has not as yet materialized. It may well be that the Deltas will have a quiet and uneventful summer.

JOHN M. MONTSTREAM

Oklahoma City

AT THE semi-monthly luncheon on June 22 the Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter held its annual election of officers. Joe Fred Gibson was elected president; H. C. Luman, vice-president; and Henry Dent, secretary.

Joe B. McKinley, Delta Alpha (Oklahoma), '32, has recently moved to Oklahoma City and attended the meeting. He is now connected with C. L. Frates & Co.

Edward P. Boyd, Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '01, is a candidate for the presidency of the State Board of Agriculture, subject to the democratic primary on July 12.

The chapter voted to invite all the Deltas in the immediate surrounding territory to the annual stag party to be held the first week in July.

All Deltas visiting in Oklahoma City are cordially invited to attend the noon luncheons of the Oklahoma City Alumni Association on the first and third Wednesdays of each month, at the Y.M.C.A.

JOE FRED GIBSON

Philadelphia

ON APRIL 28 at a meeting at the Omega Chapter (Pennsylvania), the Philadelphia alumni were entertained by Mr. Allen B. Spencer who showed us movies of Denver, Colorado, and vicinity. The pictures were very enjoyable and gave us glimpses of what we will see at the 1939 Karnea. Several of the brothers are already planning to attend the convention.

Our May meeting was held at the home of Dr. Walter S. Cornell, Omega (Pennsylvania), '97, in Overbrook on Saturday the 21st. A very fine luncheon was served which was to be followed by a bridge party but the men became so interested in talking about events of the day that the bridge was postponed.

J. A. Bottomley, Omega (Pennsylvania), '34 has started the ground work for a new South Jersey Alumni Chapter which will meet in Camden, N.J. We wish him and his group success and hope to develop some sort of friendly rivalry with them in bridge or bowling next winter.

An invitation has been given to all Deltas by the undergraduates at the chapter house at the University of Pennsylvania to attend a series of informal gatherings after the home football games next fall. We hope to see all of the Deltas attending the games and these meetings.

CHARLES C. GRAY

Pittsburgh

AT THE regular elections of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter in June, F. Lee Martin, Gamma (Washington and Jefferson), '23, was elected president succeeding G. A. Doyle, who has held that position for the past two years.

Pittsburgh Deltas are now in the process of making plans for the annual outing golf tournament to be held at Wildwood Country Club, July 12. This will be more or less in the nature of an annual event celebrating the date on which final plans were made for the 1937 Karnea.

Our luncheons are held at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club every Tuesday. We earnestly request all out-of-town Deltas to attend.

Rochester

THE YEAR's activities of the Rochester Alumni Chapter will wind up with the annual family picnic and get-together to be held at Monroe County Powder Mill Park, June 30. By the time this issue is published, the account will be something like this: A large number of Rochester Deltas and their families turned out to enjoy the picnic which was arranged by the now famous and experienced committee of Elmer Davis, Art Reeves, Ed Marth, Howard Jespersen and Tom Love.

We hope to get the 1938-39 year under motion in September, when the executive committee will attempt to shake the remains of a lazy summer from their beards and start the wheels turning.

LOU CAMP

Sioux City

THERE are two jobs that the Sioux City alumni are going to shoulder this summer—to give our best support to Omicron (Iowa) and Gamma Pi (Iowa State), and to start our own baby, Delta Gamma (South Dakota), in the best year in its history. This is to be Delta Gamma's first year in a real Shelter—the new house was started in May.

Plans made at a luncheon June 29 indicate two summer rushing functions and one immediately preceding the opening of college in the fall.

We are glad to have Sonny Herman back to help us get the job done. Sonny is one of the best rush men $\Delta T \Delta$ has ever had. Delts Berry, Gleysteen, Munger, Bolks, Huff and Nelson will be right in there pitching too, plus good support promised by the undergraduates.

Our plan is to make Sioux City and the surrounding territory $\Delta T \Delta$ conscious.

ROBERT M. BRODINE

Stark County

THE STARK COUNTY Alumni Association is having a fine year under President Hess. Two new members have been added; Brother Clark of Reserve and Brother Young of Washington and Jefferson.

We had a fine meeting out at Hess's farm at which Brother Cobbey and Brother Hess's wife put on an acrobatic dance that held us spellbound. This dance was quite timely as Canton was just having a couple of acrobatic dancers who performed on a disc on top of a flag pole two hundred feet above the street. After our dancers performed their bit on a pedestal ash tray, which unfortunately collapsed, they finished on a piano stool where they gave us a star bit of balancing. The guests all participated in the Big Apple.

Our meetings are held the second Monday of every month and any brother passing through Canton or Massillon at that time is cordially invited to join with us in some Delt cheer.

PHILIP S. YOUNG

Toronto

TORONTO Delts held their monthly meeting at the Granite Club. Thanks to the efforts of Brothers Sharpe, Hardy, Hawke, and Fear a very entertaining skit was presented. Charlie Hawke was good in the rôle of a modern housewife.

After the skit the boys proceeded to the lounge downstairs where they enjoyed watching the figure skaters practicing on the Granite Club rink. Following this we adjourned to the bowling alleys for a little game of five pins. We must have been very hot because the alleys were completely burnt out the following day.

This summer due to President Malcomson's efforts we have held one executive meeting devoted completely to rushing. At this meeting plans were developed to assist the actives in their summer rushing campaign.

We note that Ray Cannon and Ted Sharpe leave the ranks of the bachelors this month—we wish them every happiness.

ALAN E. DYER

Tulsa

SUMMER rush activities sponsored by the Tulsa Alumni Chapter began June 10 with a stag party given at the University Club in honor of some twenty Tulsa High and Junior College graduates who will attend universities and colleges this fall.

Bob Bates, alumni rush chairman, was in charge and Lawrence Wilson was toastmaster.

Among the actives present from Delta Alpha (Oklahoma) were Bill Sutton, Wayne Christian, Philo Scott, Don Bailey, Harry Gilbert, Charles Dow, Bob Van Horn, Burdette Smith, Tom Ensch, and Bob Cooper, rush captain. Bill Hoover, an active from Missouri, was present.

Lawrence Wilson, alumni chapter president and vice-president of the Western Division, announced the customary change from the winter to the summer schedule for alumni meetings. This change, effective June 16, will mark the beginning of a weekly meeting of alumni for lunch each Thursday noon at the University Club.

Tulsa alumni regret the departure of Dr. George W. McDonald, who resigned as pastor of the First Methodist Church of Tulsa and has accepted the pastorate of the Methodist Church in Long Beach, California. Dr. McDonald will be missed by all of us as he was very active in the alumni chapter. We wish him every success in his new location.

Among the out-of-town Delts who came to Tulsa to attend the International Oil Exposition were: Linwood Creasy, San Antonio, Texas; Morris Shrader, Oklahoma City; Joe Sommerville, Ardmore; Karl Biegall, Bartlesville; Herrick Babcock and Clyde Martin.

Bruce Beesley has moved back to Tulsa where he recently accepted a position with the Goodyear Rubber Co. Jim Noel, Wichita, Kansas, attended the Oil Scout's meeting held here recently. John Crew, Shawnee, has been here visiting friends.

Don't forget the new summer schedule for the weekly luncheons to be held each Thursday in the main dining room of the University Club. We cordially welcome all members visiting in Tulsa.

EVERY CHAPTER NEEDS

"BAIRD'S MANUAL"

IF your chapter house library doesn't include at least one copy of the thirteenth Edition of Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities, it's time to act—quickly! This edition will be out of print in another few months, and the next edition won't be published until 1940—maybe 1941.

Edited by the late Dr. Francis W. Shepardson, it is his last great editorial contribution to the fraternity system. Get all the facts. . . Don't guess . . . teach your pledges the right information. . . Keep it for ready reference. Send your order today!
