OF DELTA TAU DELTA

The Delta Creed

- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta for the education of youth and the inspiration of maturity, so that I may better learn and live the truth.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as a shrine of international brotherhood: her cornerstone friendship, her foundation conscience, her columns aspiration, her girders self-restraint, her doorway opportunity, her windows understanding, her buttresses loyalty, her strength the Everlasting Arms.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as an abiding influence to help me do my work, fulfill my obligations, maintain my self-respect, and bring about that happy life wherein I may more truly love my fellow men, serve my country, and obey my God.

One Moment, Please

Delta Tau Delta has long been a fraternity accustomed to facing an issue, not dodging it.

That accurately describes the Supervisor of Scholarship's cards-on-the-table treatment of undergraduate chapter scholarship in this issue of THE RAINBOW. The article is followed by the standing of every chapter for the college year 1948-49, the latest year for which complete returns have been received. Standings for last year, 1949-50, will soon be available and will be published in the March number.

Abraham Lincoln once said, "Give the people the facts and the country will be saved." Perhaps, by the same token, if Delts are given the facts about scholarship, the Fraternity's once proud position may be retaken. Certainly every Delt deserves to know where his chapter stands.

We earnestly recommend the reading of the challenge here presented by Supervisor of Scholarship Francis M. Hughes.

Other items in these pages acquaint you with your new President, introduce two new members of the Arch Chapter, cover a memorable chapter anniversary, and report significant achievements of individual Delts.

In "The President's Page," President Dickinson interprets the latest amendment to the Constitution and Bylaws, while an undergraduate presents a chapter's attitude toward scholastic achievement in the "Fireplace" department.

In our series on former Presidents of Delta Tau Delta, we combine in one article the careers of two short-term Presidents, both of whom served during an important era of transition.

One of the best arrangements in THE RAINBOW's revised publication schedule is a December number, which affords the opportunity to wish Delts everywhere timely and fraternal season's greetings—which we now do. A sincere Merry Christmas!

Scholarship: A Challenge

By FRANCIS M. HUGHES, Ohio Wesleyan, '31

Supervisor of Scholarship

WE HOLD this truth to be self-evident: that Delta Tau Delta is a constructive adjunct to the system of higher education. Thus, the matter of scholarship is one that requires constant emphasis. The need for such emphasis was never greater than now. We can find no pride in our scholarship record at the present time.

If we examine the 14-year period comprised of the 12 years ended with 1941-42, and of the two-year period 1948-49 to 1949-50, we find that Delta Tau Delta's national average was eight years above and six years below the national All Men's Average. We hold second place among fraternities with 50 or more chapters, disregarding several fraternities which have recently gained that classification.

At first blush, such a standing may appear to be noteworthy. But mediocrity appears to be the standard of all of the fraternities in our classification, and it is a dubious honor to stand high in mediocrity.

In 1948-49, of 75 chapters of Delta Tau Delta reporting, 28 were equal to or above the All Men's Averages on their respective campuses, and 47 were below. Thus, only 37 per cent of our chapters reporting achieved a plus rating. This is a far cry from 1934-35, with 50 per cent; from 1935-36, with 58 per cent; from 1936-37, with 58 per cent; from 1937-38, with 50 per cent; and from 1938-39, with 63 per cent, in which college year Delta Tau Delta stood first in national scholastic rank.

Likewise, in 1948-49, the over-all average of our chapters reporting was 1.93 per cent below the All Men's Average. We were twenty-ninth among 59 fraternities reporting to the National Interfraternity Conference Scholarship Survey. We were eighth of 21 fraternities with 50 or more chapters. This was the most unsatisfactory record ever made by Delta Tau Delta in this survey.

FRANCIS M. HUGHES

It is regrettable that at this writing we do not have the complete records reflecting the scholastic standing of our chapters for the college year 1949-50. About half of the records are now available, which show a trend for comparison with 1948-49 and prior years.

At this writing, 1949-50 reports have been received from 39 chapters, four of which, being new chapters, have no 1948-49 records for comparison. Of the 35 chapters whose records are capable of comparative analysis, 21 fell below their 1948-49 positions with reference to the All Men's Average, and only 14 improved their positions. Of the total of 39 chapters reporting to date, only 13 had a plus rating, with 26 having a minus rating.

"The best way to prepare for the future is to take good care of the present; and for the college man that means creditable scholastic standing."

If the reports of these chapters indicate a trend, it would appear that only 33 per cent of our chapters are maintaining a position above the All Men's Average, as compared with approximately 37 per cent in 1948-49, and as compared with averages of 50 per cent and over for the period from 1934-35 to 1938-39.

I suggest with no timidity that these are unhappy statistics.

It may thus be categorically stated that our scholastic standing for 1949-50 shows no improvement, but rather will perhaps show a decline. The trend is most discouraging.

It thus becomes a major responsibility of every chapter and of every initiate and pledge of Delta Tau Delta to assist in improving the scholastic standing of his chapter and of the Fraternity.

Generalities will not suffice. We must have a definite program. Such a program has already been blue-printed, and if followed and enforced, will be certain to achieve results. The Arch Chapter on November 13, 1949, unanimously adopted a resolution embodying a specific scholarship program. Strong recommendations are made with reference to membership control, including standards for pledging, for initiation, for depledging, and for suspension of initiated members. Scholastic Achievement charts are provided each chapter for posting in the chapter house and for eventual analysis by the Supervisor of Scholarship. The program also involves assistance from the Supervisor of Scholarship and the Central Office to chapters with unsatisfactory scholastic standing.

Further, the 1950 Karnea by its resolution has directed the Supervisor of Scholarship to take tangible action to improve our chapter and national scholastic standing. Chapters are directed to make careful inquiry with reference to the scholastic standing of pledges; investigation is to be made of all chapters which fall below the All Men's Average; chapters failing to rectify unsatisfactory scholastic standing are to be cited to the Karnea, with report of investigation; and awards are to be made on an annual and biennial basis.

If our chapters follow strictly this program which has been thus blue-printed, co-ordinating their efforts in conjunction with The Delt Development Program, improvement is bound to occur. If our chapters do nothing about this program, our scholastic standing is bound further to decline.

It may be that at the printing of this article, there will be available for display in THE RAINBOW rather complete records for 1949-50. A glance at these will show the relative standing of each chapter with reference to the All Men's Average. It will reveal the names of those chapters of Delta Tau Delta which are making a positive contribution to our scholastic standing; it will likewise show those chapters which have failed to carry out an effective scholarship program, with the result that our fraternal banner has drooped lower in recent years. The figures should be, and remain, a challenge to every chapter of Delta Tau Delta, stand it high or low on the list.

Special commendation should go to those chapters who won the Division Scholarship Awards for 1948-49, presented at the 1950 Karnea at Columbus.

In the Southern Division, Beta Delta (Georgia), with a plus 11.361, and Delta Zeta (Florida), with a plus 11.046, were cowinners.

In the Western Division, duplicate awards were made to Gamma Chi (Kansas State), with a plus 10.191, and Delta Omicron (Westminster), with a plus 10.593.

A double award likewise was made in the Northern Division to Kappa (Hillsdale), with a plus 25.358, the highest in all the Fraternity, and Mu (Ohio Wesleyan), with a plus 11.244.

The sole honor in the Eastern Division was won by Alpha (Allegheny), with a plus 5.109.

The factors upon which these awards were based took into consideration not only the relation of each chapter's average to the All Men's Average but also the chapter's position among fraternities on its campus.

Another means of recognizing scholastic achievement was inaugurated by the Arch Chapter last May: an appropriate citation will be given annually to each undergraduate chapter of the Fraternity which achieves a scholastic average exceeding the All Men's Average on its campus. The number of these citations earned by a chapter will be substantiating evidence of its claim of superiority on its campus.

Our undergraduate members should bear in mind that good scholarship is a tremendous rushing asset to a chapter. Experience shows that every chapter with a fine scholastic record uses that factor effectively in its rushing program. A chapter with a poor scholastic rating attempts in rushing to stress its other accomplishments, failing often to realize that its competing fraternities are vociferously advertising to prospective pledges the wretched scholastic standing of the other chapter. It is as natural for your adversary to trumpet your weakness as it is for you to soft-pedal the same.

May I suggest that, if the fraternities of America, including Delta Tau Delta, fail to show an improvement in scholarship with reference to the All Men's Average, we are but manufacturing ammunition of explosive power for use by the enemies of the fraternity system. A fraternity may hardly be called a constructive adjunct to higher education, if through its selective processes it fails to pledge, initiate, and develop men of superior intellectual ability.

So there is the record. It is not good. It should alert every Delt undergraduate to his responsibility. Working together, with a definite plan and a stated objective, let Delta Tau Delta move forward to its former position of eminence in the field of fraternity scholarship.

DePauw University, Beta Beta Chapter Confer Honors on Roy O. West

Roy O. West, DePauw, '90, was signally honored by his Alma Mater and his Fraternity on DePauw University's Homecoming Week End October 20-21, when he resigned his position as president of the University's board of trustees.

He had served as a member of the board for 36 years and as president for 26.

At the conclusion of the trustees' meeting Friday afternoon, Mr. West was presented a scroll, signed by his fellow trustees, attesting his outstanding service and naming him president emeritus of the board. The presentation was made by Bishop Richard C. Raines. Mr. West received, in addition, an attractive leather-bound book containing letters of appreciation from more than 130 of his friends.

On Saturday evening, members of Beta Beta Chapter gathered around the banquet table in the Shelter to pay further tribute to their distinguished alumnus. Norval Stephens, chapter president, presented Mr. West a bronze plaque commemorating his more than 60 years of unflagging service to Beta Beta Chapter and Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

Mr. West's 82 years have been replete with well-deserved recognition. He was among the first Delts to be cited to the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter (1930) when it was still known as the Court of Honor.

In national affairs, he is remembered as Secretary of Interior in President Coolidge's cabinet. His appointment to that position climaxed a distinguished career as an attorney, a public servant, and an active Republican.

Assistant county attorney of Cook County (Illinois) in 1894, he served as city attorney of Chicago from 1895 to 1897. From 1898 to 1914 he was a member of the Board of Review of Cook County.

Elected chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Illinois five times, Mr. West was a delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1908, 1912, and 1928. He was a member of the Republican National Committee from 1912 to 1916 and from 1924 to 1932.

In 1924 Mr. West was chosen secretary of the National Committee, serving in that capacity during Mr. Coolidge's campaign. During 1928 he was western treasurer of the National Committee.

On July 25, 1928, he was appointed Secretary of Interior, continuing in office until March 5, 1929.

An active churchman, Mr. West has served as a member of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and of Phi Delta Phi.

Arrangements for the presentation to Mr. West were handled by Frederick C. Tucker, DePauw, '08, a member of the University's board of trustees. Ellis R. Patterson, DePauw, '12, is also a trustee.

Elections Name Four Delt Congressmen

November's elections returned three Delts to the United States Congress in the House of Representatives and added a Delt freshman.

Re-elected were Dewey Short, Baker, '19, Representative of the Seventh Missouri District; Richard M. Simpson, Pittsburgh, '23, Representative of the Seventeenth Pennsylvania District; and James H. Morrison, Tulane, '31, Representative of the Sixth Louisiana District.

Jackson E. Betts, Kenyon, '26, was elected Representative of the Eighth Ohio District. Mr. Betts is an attorney of Findlay, Ohio.

The two Delt Senators—William E. Jenner, Indiana, '30, and Harley M. Kilgore, West Virginia, '14—were not up for re-election this year.

In other contests, Carl V. Weygandt, Wooster, '12, was returned as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio. He has served continuously in that office since 1933.

William N. Erickson, Illinois Tech, '20, was elected president of the Cook County (Illinois) Board and a commissioner of Cook County. Frank H. Fairchild, Butler, '31, was the successful candidate for prosecutor of Marion County, Indiana, of which Indianapolis is the principal city.

Doubtless Delts were also successful in other elections which have not been reported to THE RAINBOW. Further details will be given in the March issue.

Founders Day

Founders Day for 1951 will be observed March 2, the first Friday of March. Every alumnus should consult his nearest alumni chapter for information concerning its Founders Day program.

Meet Your Twenty-Second President

By CHARLES T. BOYD, North Carolina, '21

"This is a great day for a boy from Kansas."

With these words, Martin B. Dickinson, the newly elected twenty-second President of the Fraternity, opened his address at the banquet which brought the Sixtieth Karnea, held in Columbus, Ohio, to a close. But we can say to him that it was a greater day for us, for it brought to the presidency of Delta Tau Delta a man of the highest personal integrity and of outstanding intellectual capacity; a man of courage, determination, and devotion to principle; a master of both policy and detail; a man whose varied interests have taken him far in law, politics, and civic affairs; and a brother Delt whose unwavering loyalty to his Fraternity and whose myriad services in her behalf entitle him to the love and affection of all Delts everywhere.

Martin lives in Kansas City, Missouri, and practices law there. His wife is the former Ruth Van Riper, whom he met at the University of Kansas. They have two children—a daughter, Margaret, now a senior at the University of Kansas, and a son, Dick, now a student at the Hale Cook Elementary School in Kansas City. The family residence is at 6920 Pennsylvania Street.

Many ties bind Mr. Dickinson to the University of Kansas. His father, William Boyd Dickinson, and his mother, the late Alice Hillman Dickinson, met at the University. Three brothers also attended the institution. Martin entered Kansas in the fall of 1924 and enrolled in the combined college and law course, receiving the A.B. degree in 1926 and the LL.B. degree in 1928.

Our new President made an impressive record while in college. He began his career in Delta Tau Delta as a member of Gamma Tau Chapter; his membership designation is Gamma Tau, '26. His other memberships include Phi Beta Kappa; Order of the Coif; Delta Sigma

PRESIDENT MARTIN B. DICKINSON

Rho; Pi Sigma Alpha; and Phi Delta Phi.

Martin has practiced law in Kansas City since his admission to the Missouri Bar in 1927, in association with his father, who is no longer in active practice. He was admitted to the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1936. He is a member of various bar associations and law committees and is currently a member of the committee appointed by the Supreme Court of Missouri to pass upon the character qualifications of applicants from the Kansas City area for the Missouri bar examination. In the practice of law he finds a suitable field for the continuous application of his talents of mind and heart.

Martin is very active in Masonry, especially in the Blue Lodge and the Scottish Rite. He was made a 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Mason in 1947. A director of the Masonic Home of Missouri since 1944, he is now chairman of the Legal Committee.

In the case of an ordinary individual, the foregoing list of activities, accomplishments, and honors would certainly be sufficient to account for his time and energy, but in Martin's case we also note numerous other associations and good works, both in civic affairs and in the Methodist Church.

But we in Delta Tau Delta like to think that it is in the Fraternity that Martin Dickinson has attained his greatest laurels. Beginning with membership in Gamma Tau Chapter, he has risen steadily to the highest honor the Fraternity can bestow.

Always active in the affairs of his own chapter and nearby chapters, and in the affairs of the Kansas City Alumni Chapter, he first came on the Arch Chapter as President of the Western Division, for the term 1933-34. He was reappointed to membership on the Arch Chapter in 1942, as Supervisor of Scholarship, by President Paul G. Hoffman. The Supervisor of Scholarship has perhaps the most arduous duties of any member of the Arch Chapter, but Martin never flinched and performed these duties with painstaking thoroughness.

He became chairman of the permanent Committee on Chapters and Charters in 1944. He was made Secretary of the Fraternity, and thereby a member of the Board of Directors, in 1946.

At the Sixtieth Karnea, held in Columbus, Ohio, in August, 1950, he was elected President of the Fraternity for the constitutional two-year term, thus becoming the first President of Delta Tau Delta from a chapter west of the Missouri River. He and his immediate predecessor, W. Harold Brenton, are the only two Presidents from chapters west of the Mississippi River.

Of the many valuable services contributed by President Dickinson while a member of the Arch Chapter, perhaps none has been more valuable than the service he has rendered as chairman of the permanent Committee on Chapters and Charters. This Committee has been charged with the duty of finding suitable fields for expansion, and during Martin's chairmanship ten new chapters have been added to the chapter roll, bringing the total to 83 in the United States and Canada.

As a result of the untold time and energy Martin has devoted to Delt affairs, he has acquired an astonishingly large amount of knowledge and information, not only about our own Fraternity and its operations, but about the fraternity system in general. He is certainly one of the most informed of all fraternity officers.

If you would know what a national fraternity ought to be, read his article in the September, 1950, RAINBOW, entitled "President-Elect Dickinson Stresses National Unity." Such an article could be written only by a man possessed of intimate fraternity knowledge and understanding, developed through years of work and application, and imbued with a passionate zeal for the welfare of the college fraternity system. Such an article might well be called "Delta Tau Delta's Declaration of Independence."

One of Martin's qualifications which has endeared him to those who have worked with him in behalf of the Fraternity has been his gracious willingness to perform any task assigned to him regardless of the labor and detail it might involve, without any murmur of complaint. This was notably true while he served as Supervisor of Scholarship. He has always devoted himself unselfishly to the tasks at hand.

Permeating all his work, activity, and accomplishment, there is a genial wit and sense of humor which are a constant delight to his friends and associates. In the course of lengthy Arch Chapter discussions and conferences, his pithy comments on the sacroiliac and the "pip squeak" have always been sufficient to relieve any tension brought about by concentration and hard debate.

It thus becomes quite obvious that our new President is eminently qualified to perform the duties that lie ahead. The Fraternity is most fortunate to have him at the helm. Under his leadership we may confidently expect the Fraternity to keep a sound footing and at the same time to move forward persistently, as an adjunct of the American educational system, toward the complete fulfillment of our Prophecy.

We salute you, President Dickinson, and wish you Godspeed!

Delts in Command-I

Major General Douglas L. Weart, Illinois Tech, '13, is Commandant of The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Virginia. He has held his present assignment since May 17, 1948.

At the outbreak of World War II, General Weart was serving as assistant engineer of maintenance of the Panama Canal, with headquarters at Balboa Heights, Panama Canal Zone. In that capacity, he was in charge of bombproofing and otherwise securing the vital defenses of the Canal against possible attack and co-ordinating the local combined defense plan with the Army and Navy.

For three months in 1942 he was Division Engineer (Boston) and Engineer of the 1st Service Command; then he turned south again to become Chief of Staff, Caribbean Defense Command, Quarry Heights, Canal Zone, where he remained until January, 1945. During this period relationships were maintained with various countries in Central and South America, and the control and supervision of U. S.

Military Missions, both ground and air, assigned to these countries were centralized in General Weart's headquarters.

Thereafter he was assigned as Commanding General, Rear Echelon, U. S. Army Forces, China Theater. Six months later he became Theater Deputy Commander and Commanding General of the Tactical Headquarters, U. S. Army Forces in China. This headquarters was charged with detailed plans and arrangements for a co-ordinated attack of the South China coast with an amphibious force from the Pacific Theater and a land force of Chinese troops supported by U. S. and Chinese aviation.

There followed assignments as Commanding General of the Shanghai Base Command, China Theater; Commanding General, Shanghai Station Command; Division Engineer, New England Division (Boston); and Division Engineer, Ohio River Engineer Division (Cincinnati). For his "outstanding energy and organizing ability" during his duty in China, General Weart was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal in 1946.

Other decorations he has earned include: Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster; Army Commendation Ribbon; Special Collar Order of Yun-Mui (China); Orden de Royaca, Gran Official (Colombia); Abdon Calderon, First Class (Ecuador); Orden Vasco Nunez de Balboa, Gran Official (Panama); and Orden Militar de Ayacucho, Gran Official (Peru).

General Weart is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy (1915); Command and General Staff School (1934); and Army War College (1939). He has instructed in the Command and General Staff School.

Delta Tau Delta's Undergraduate Loan Fund is a revolving account of more than $40,000, from which more than 430 loans, totaling approximately $100,000, have been made to deserving students to enable them to complete their college careers. Established in 1921, the Fund is one of the few student loan funds to continue without interruption for the last three decades.

Tribute to Statesmanship

A former President of Delta Tau Delta resigns as Economic Co-operation Administrator to continue a career of public service as director of the Ford Foundation.

ALL AMERICA paused last September to salute Paul G. Hoffman, Chicago, '12, former President of Delta Tau Delta, as he ended his tour as Economic Co-operation Administrator.

A Republican, appointed by a Democratic administration, Mr. Hoffman had for nearly three years administered the Marshall Plan without once drawing serious criticism from either party. He had done his job as a patriotic, non-partisan servant of his nation, and he had done it so well that he gained the respect and confidence of both political parties, the people of this nation, and the foreign countries which have participated in ECA.

Furthermore, he leaves his post with the unusual, and justified, confidence that the organization he has developed will be able to operate as smoothly after his departure as it did when he was guiding it.

As chief of ECA, this country's economic counteroffensive against Russian Communism, Mr. Hoffman had been vested with unprecedented authority. Although the over-all strategy had been plotted by Congress, the actual conduct of the economic war was left up to him.

Mr. Hoffman's staff, which he had organized on the most non-partisan and impartial basis, stretched halfway around the world. Not an armchair administrator, he made frequent trips overseas to direct the spending of the millions of dollars Congress had placed at his disposal.

The nation's press was practically unanimous in its appraisal of Mr. Hoffman's statesmanship. Typical of the editorial reaction last September is the following by Mr. Joseph C. Harsch of The Christian Science Monitor:

"Seldom does the departure of a man from official Washington cause such general and sincere regret as does that of Paul G. Hoffman.

"The American ideal for the public servant is the man above, and free of, political partisanship who has distinguished himself first in private life and then comes to Washington to do an able and disinterested job.

"Mr. Hoffman has been the personification of that ideal in practice . . .

"He established the highest possible standards of cooperation with other agencies. He has made ECA a byword in Washington for honorable dealings . . .

"With so many dissimilar episodes in current Washington history, it is both a novelty and a pleasure to be able to write this way about the most prominent current example of a citizen who came to Washington, kept clear of intrigue and feuding, and made as great a success of his public career as he had made previously of his private business career.

PAUL G. HOFFMAN

"Washington could do with more Paul Hoffmans."

The success of Mr. Hoffman's business career, moreover, is in the best American tradition. President of the Studebaker Corporation from 1935 to 1948, he grew up with the automotive industry.

Beginning as a porter in the salesroom of the Halladay Motor Company in Chicago, he became two years later a salesman for a Los Angeles Studebaker dealer. He was soon the firm's star salesman on the Pacific Coast. After an interruption during which he served in World War I as a first lieutenant of field artillery, he bought the Studebaker retail branch in Los Angeles.

In 1924 Studebaker made him its vice-president in charge of the sales force and a member of the board of directors. A combination of setbacks placed the company in receivership in 1933. Mr. Hoffman was appointed coreceiver, which brought to the fore his rare executive ability, and shortly thereafter he became president of the organization.

In other fields, his contributions have also been conspicuous. He

Beta Alpha Marks 80 Years at Indiana

By DALE WRIGHT, Indiana, '52

OCTOBER 20, 1950. That's a date that every Beta Alpha Delt will forever remember, when some 200 alumni and undergraduates joined together in Indiana University's Memorial Building to commemorate the chapter's 80th Anniversary and burn the mortgage on the Shelter.

At approximately 9:30 that night, amidst cheers and applause, Beta Alpha's members realized an 80-year-old objective when George O. Browne, '22, president of the Beta Alpha house corporation, and Oscar L. Pond, '99, past president of the house corporation, struck the match that sent the mortgage up in smoke.

And when the last flame was extinguished, the dream of a Shelter free of all debt and encumbrances was fulfilled, thanks to the hard work of the house corporation and the donations of alumni.

Many Indiana University officials, including President Herman B. Wells, joined the alumni and undergraduates at the banquet and celebration. Other I. U. administrative officials present were H. T. Briscoe, Dean of Faculty and University vice-president; Colonel R. H. Shoemaker, Cornell, '15, Dean of Students; Claude Rich, Alumni Secretary; Joseph A. Franklin, University vice-president and treasurer; Ross Bartley, head of the News Bureau; and Stith Thompson, Butler, '07, Dean of Graduate School and former chapter adviser of Beta Alpha.

Officers of the Beta Alpha Shelter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, Inc., joining in the celebration were Mr. Browne, president; Herman F. Brecht, '33, vice-president; William M. Hutchison, '20, secretary; and Ernest L. Miller, '27, treasurer.

Speakers included Francis M. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '31; Dr. Wells, and Mr. Browne. Mr. Hughes is Supervisor of Scholarship of Delta Tau Delta. They were introduced by Toastmaster William E. Jenner, Beta Alpha, '30, United States Senator from Indiana.

The invocation was given by Hilbert E. Rust, Beta Alpha, '27, past president of the house corporation. Dr. Leon H. Wallace, Indiana, '25, a member of the I. U. law faculty and Beta Alpha chapter adviser, and John S. Gillfillan, president of the Beta Alpha Chapter, welcomed the guests and alumni.

Mr. Browne, the principal speaker, read significant excerpts from the minutes of the chapter in his address. The minutes contained a complete report of the chapter's plans from 1870 to the present day for a house free from mortgage. A complete history of housing plans from the time a room was rented for meeting purposes to the burning of the mortgage was obtained from the minutes.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Browne and Mr. Pond burned the mortgage.

Many of the alumni stayed over for the week end to witness the Indiana-Notre Dame football game, which was won by Indiana, 20-7, making it a perfect week end for Beta Alpha Deltas.

While the banquet was in progress, a dinner was given for wives of the alumni at the chapter house, with Mrs. Amelia Neeley, Beta Alpha housemother, serving as hostess.

Indiana University, chartered as a seminary in 1820, admitted its first students in 1824. In 1828 it became a college and in 1838 was rechartered as a state university. It has been co-educational since 1887.

Delta Tau Delta was established on the I. U. campus on December 26, 1870, as Nu Chapter. It was the first chapter in Indiana and the thirteenth of the Fraternity. Charter members were Alexander Kilpatrick, James Polk Hale, Emerson Short, and James Frank Heady.

Kilpatrick, who had been a student at Monmouth College and had known the Deltas there as a "royal bunch," led the movement for a Delt charter. Head of the local fraternity, "Knights of Justice," he petitioned the governing Alpha at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Zeta Prime Chapter (Monmouth), commissioned to install the new group, was represented by James A. Grier. He initiated Kilpatrick as the first Delt in the state of Indiana, and together they inducted the other three members.

Nu Chapter prospered, initiating members who became very prominent in both the Fraternity and world affairs. Kilpatrick was the founder of the Beta Beta Chapter at DePauw University, while Edward G. Henry, '72, founded Phi Chapter at Hanover College. Thomas M. Browne, '72, and Godlove S. Orth, '72, were among the first Deltas to become United States Congressmen, the latter serving as a U. S. Minister to Austria. In 1872 the chapter was honored when the national convention of Delta Tau Delta was held in Bloomington.

Although Nu Chapter continued only until 1874, it was reborn on June 4, 1887, as Beta Alpha Chapter, largely through the efforts of Charles L. Edwards, a famous Delt from Lombard College. The Fraternity's Executive Council (now the Arch Chapter) delegated Oliver M. Matson, DePauw, '85, to conduct the installation service.

Since then the Beta Alpha Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has enjoyed a prosperous, continuous, and productive existence in the Fraternity. Its members have set their goals high, and the 783 men who have been initiated in the chapter hall of Beta Alpha have pitched in and met them.

Their most recent accomplishment was the rebuilding of the chapter house after it was destroyed by fire in January of 1935. It was rebuilt and occupied by September of 1936. Now, in fewer than 15 years, including the war months that the house was closed, Beta Alpha has erased the mortgage problem and stands proudly, looking back at 80 years of existence that symbolize hard work and prosperity.

Professor of surgery at the University of Michigan, he is also surgeon in charge of the section of thoracic surgery at the University of Michigan Hospital and chief surgeon of the Michigan State Sanatorium.

A brilliant career as a student, instructor, and surgeon has brought with it many honors. As an undergraduate at the University of Pennsylvania, he won numerous prizes, among them the Undergraduate Medical Association Prize in Anatomy, the Dr. Spencer Morris Prize for passing the best examination for the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and the Frederick A. Packard Prize for the greatest proficiency in the course in internal medicine.

After he had begun his teaching at the University of Michigan in 1920, he won the 1925 "Quinquennial Samuel D. Gross Prize of $1,500 for the best original essay illustrative of some subject in surgical pathology or surgical practice, founded upon original investigations." In 1930 he received the Henry Russel Award for distinguished scholarship or authorship and conspicuous ability as a teacher.

Among his academic honors, Dr. Alexander numbers several lectures: the Abner Wellborn Calhoun Lecture, Medical Association of Georgia, 1941; the Trudeau Memorial Lecture, 1942; the Henry Russel Lecture, awarded by the University of Michigan in 1944; and the Mary Scott Newbold Lecture, awarded by the Philadelphia College of Physicians, 1945. He is the author of numerous articles on thoracic surgery.

Dr. Alexander has supplemented his broad experience and education in this country with study abroad. In 1919 he attended the Université de Lyon (France), from which he received a certificate, and from 1928 to 1931 he took postgraduate work at Paris, Lyon, Berlin, Hamburg, and London.

He rounds out a full career by contributing articles to medical journals and serving on the advisory editorial board of the Journal of Thoracic Surgery.

He Put Band Instruments On the Assembly Line

Any Delt who ever learned to play even as much as the scale with his high school band instinctively recognizes the name of Conn as a mark of quality. But probably few Delts are aware that the man who is president of the board of C. G. Conn, Ltd., world's leading manufacturers of band instruments, and who was president of the firm for

35 years, is a Delt—Carl D. Greenleaf, Chicago, '99.

When he was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1899, Mr. Greenleaf returned to his home town of Wauseon, Ohio, to enter his father's firm, Lynn & Greenleaf, flour millers. He managed the business from 1910 to 1915, but in 1915 he moved to Elkhart, Indiana, when he and his associates purchased the manufacturing plant from C. G. Conn. Since that date, the firm's business has trebled.

One of Mr. Greenleaf's first and most noteworthy activities was his promotion of the school band movement which has since had an amazing growth. He overhauled the musical instrument industry, changing the whole system of merchandising and revising advertising methods. At Elkhart he established the first scientific research department in any band instrument company.

It has been said of him that he "took band instrument manufacture out of the handicraft field and put it on the assembly line." The best testimony of his success is the large number of high school students and others who are today blowing horns with the Conn signature on the bells.

In Elkhart, a city which connotes music to thousands of people across the nation, Mr. Greenleaf has been a civic leader. He was first president of the Elkhart Chamber of Commerce.

His service has been nationwide. He was for eleven years president of the National Association of Band Instrument Manufacturers and for nine years director of musical activity of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Besides his interest in C. G. Conn, Ltd., Mr. Greenleaf is also president of the Truth Publishing Company and the Elkhart Hotel Company. He is secretary of the Buescher Band Instrument Company and was formerly vice-president of the Foster Machine Company.

Two of his three sons are Delts—Charles W. and Harvey D.—both also of Gamma Alpha Chapter (Chicago).

New Arch Chapter Members Introduced

FRANK W. SHELTON, JR.
Secretary

WHEN THE NEW Secretary of Alumni, Frank M. Cornell, Pennsylvania, '28, starts pointing out to alumni how they may profitably serve their Fraternity, you may be sure that his counsel is backed by experience, for he has tackled just about every job in the Delt book.

He had been out of college only two years, for instance, when he was appointed chapter adviser of Omega Chapter. And he made such an immediate success of that job that in April of 1932 he was elected President of the Eastern Division.

One might well assume that the name Cornell would have an unpopular ring around the University of Pennsylvania, but such is not the case. In 1932 THE RAINBOW introduced Frank Cornell as new Eastern Division President in this manner:

"At Omega the name Cornell has a much wider meaning than a traditional rivalry between two great institutions, culminating annually in the Thanksgiving Day football game between Penn and Cornell.

"To Omega men the fact that a Cornell is in charge, whether it be an outing, alumni festivities, or the more serious business of chapter adviser or house improvements, means something more—namely, that the particular activity is in good hands."

If so much could be said in 1932, think what a wealth of experience in the following 18 years adds to the qualifications of the Secretary of Alumni!

Frank Cornell's administration as a Division President lived up to his illustrious Delt lineage dating from his cousin, Dr. Walter S. Cornell, Pennsylvania, '97, one of the founders of Omega Chapter, through his brothers, Allen D. Cornell, Pennsylvania, '16, and John W. Cornell, Pennsylvania, '22, the last of whom had preceded him as chapter adviser.

When, in 1936, Mr. Cornell finished his two terms as Eastern Division chief, Delta Tau Delta stood second in national scholastic ratings among fraternities with 50 or more chapters and the Eastern nome topped the other three Divisions and all other fraternities in the eastern section. The final Division Conference over which he presided also reported "great successes in rushing, pledge training, and fraternalism." Much of this outstanding record was credited to Mr. Cornell's splendid leadership.

The intervening years reveal further quiet and effective service through the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter and undergraduate chapters in the eastern Pennsylvania sector. A charter trustee of the Omega Fund, he was also a member of the three-man committee which guided Omega Chapter through World War II. When Delta Upsilon Chapter was chartered across the river at the University of Delaware in 1948, Frank Cornell was on hand to lend alumni assistance.

More recently, he served as chairman of the Committee on Constitution and Laws at the Sixtieth Karnea. At the Eastern Division Conference in Philadelphia one year ago, he received a Citation to the Distinguished Service Chapter.

Mr. Cornell's experience embraces an understanding of interfraternity affairs. He is a past president of the University of Pennsylvania Interfraternity Alumni Council. He has also served Delta Tau

FRANK M. CORNELL
Secretary of Alumni

Delta as a delegate to the National Interfraternity Conference.

A Philadelphia businessman, he is president of the Pennsylvania Housing Finance Corporation.

The last sentence of Mr. Cornell's Distinguished Service Chapter Citation neatly sums up his Fraternity's estimate of him. It reads: "His patience, interest, and calm understanding have marked him as one of the finest examples of true Deltism."

Frank W. Shelton, Jr., Cincinnati, '28, who entered into his first Arch Chapter duty last September as the new Secretary of the Fraternity, will draw from a background of experience that is rich with activity in both Delta Tau Delta and other fields.

Son of a physician, he was born in his father's hospital in Independence, Kansas, and spent his early years in the Sunflower State. When he was ready for college, however, he chose the University of Cincinnati. Perhaps because his mother is also a physician, he enrolled in premed—and from here on Mr. Shelton's kaleidoscopic career really unfolds.

Delts in Command-II

Major General Edwin P. Parker, George Washington, '12, The Provost Marshal General, Department of the Army, is perhaps best known as the commander of the celebrated 78th (Lightning) Infantry Division which fought in the Central Europe, Ardennes, and Rhineland campaigns and distinguished itself in the Roer River dams area, at the Remagen Bridgehead, and in the Ruhr Pocket. He was commanding general of the Division from its activation at Camp Butler, North Carolina, in May, 1942, until he took command of the XXIII Corps in Germany on September 16, 1945.

General Parker's present assignment as The Provost Marshal General, Department of the Army, is chief of the Military Police Corps, now permanently established as one of the basic branches of the Army. He acts as technical staff adviser to the Secretary of the Army, the Chief of Staff, and all elements of the Army on matters pertaining to law enforcement, military police activities, and military government.

His office holds the responsibility for supervision of the following Army activities: matters of good order and discipline; prevention and investigation of crime; apprehension of deserters and absentees; evacuation of areas and movement of refugees and traffic; security clearances of facilities, projects, and individuals in industry requiring access to classified information; all military police and prisoner of war activities; and the mobilization, training, and employment of military government units and personnel.

Under General Parker's command, also, are numerous activities at Camp Gordon, Georgia. These include The Provost Marshal General's School, which provides specialist training for police personnel of the Army, Navy, and Air Force; the Military Police Board, charged with development of projects for the improvement of the Military Police Corps; the 1st Military Police Criminal Investigation Detachment, a group of experts in criminal investigation available for special assignments; the Army's

GENERAL EDWIN P. PARKER

Criminal Investigation Laboratory, which is equipped to make all types of scientific analyses and examinations of evidence; and one Military Government Group and two Military Government Companies, composed of specialists in all phases of military government.

General Parker began his military career in his home state of Virginia when he joined the 3rd Field Artillery at Fort Myer as a second lieutenant, following his graduation from college. His next assignments were with the 4th Field Artillery at Texas stations and, from March, 1916, to July, 1918, at Corozal, Panama Canal Zone, during which time he rose to the permanent rank of captain and was promoted to the temporary rank of lieutenant colonel on October 24, 1918.

As an instructor in military science, General Parker served as assistant professor of military science and tactics at Ohio State University and at Harvard University and as professor of the same subjects at the University of Oklahoma. At other times he was chief of the Training Section of the Field Artillery and senior instructor of the Virginia National Guard. He is a graduate of the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and was rated a "distinguished graduate" of the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in 1925. In 1937, he was graduated from the Army War College at Washington, D. C.

Prior to World War II, to meet stepped-up training demands, he organized and commanded the Field Artillery Replacement Center at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. While at this station, he received the silver star of a brigadier general and was made a permanent major general in January, 1948.

Following inactivation of the XXIII Corps in February, 1946, General Parker assumed temporary command of the Third Army and later became inspector general, United States Forces, European Theater, from August, 1946, to August, 1947. Upon returning to the United States, he was appointed deputy commanding general of the Fifth Army in September, 1947. He assumed his present duties on April 10, 1948.

Educator's Point of View

"Anything that has existed in American college life as long as fraternities must have something substantial and worth while about it. We all recognize that fraternities have some shortcomings and faults, but they also have wide advantages and merits. I am convinced that those advantages and merits far outweigh the shortcomings. Fraternities, as the years have passed, have grown steadily more sound. They seek good students, young men with character and brains to continue that growth. In return they can give those young men associations, friendships, and other advantages of great importance to all of us. . . .

"What young men bring to the chapters in brains and character will be repaid with many worthwhile experiences."

—DR. L. P. SIEG, President Emeritus, University of Washington.

Noted in passing: Mrs. E. K. Overstreet, housemother of Beta Delta Chapter at Georgia, has enrolled in a University class in psychology. Mighty handy—she can do her lab work at the Delt house.

Pittsburgh Challenges Rickey and Galbreath

BRANCH RICKEY

BRANCH RICKEY, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, baseball's master maker of pennant winners, has joined forces with another Delt—John W. Galbreath, Ohio, '20—to accept one of the greatest challenges in modern athletics—lifting the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar.

Mr. Rickey early in November signed as new vice-president and general manager of the Pittsburgh club, a team that hasn't won a pennant since 1927. Mr. Galbreath became president of the Pirate organization last summer.

Making no extravagant predictions for the future of his last-place Bucs, Branch Rickey told newsmen that he will shoot, first of all, for a berth in the first division. The man who brought pennant winners to both the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers, however, is not likely to content himself for long with anything short of a first-rate contender.

Widely known as "Mr. Baseball" because of his managerial genius, Mr. Rickey is credited with originating the farm system of major league baseball clubs. The Dodgers' 27-team chain of talent farms is the biggest such network in baseball today. Other innovations which he has introduced to the game include putting Ladies' Day across and the "Knothole Gang," which lets America's youngsters see their favorite teams play.

Branch Rickey has been associated with baseball for more than 50 years. He first earned fame with the St. Louis Cardinals, serving successively as field manager, president, and vice-president and general manager of the farm clubs of that organization. Between 1926 and 1942 his teams won six pennants and four World Series, adding three pennants and two world championships in the four years after his departure.

Although other managers scoffed at the farm system when he first put it into operation in 1920, it proved so successful that practically every other major club followed suit.

His methods paid off for the Dodgers, too. In his eight years at Brooklyn, he had two pennant winners. The final race of the 1949 National League season, which the Dodgers won, pitted Rickey talent against Rickey talent, since 22 of the 25 players on the Cardinal squad were men whom he had personally moved up through the St. Louis farm system.

There are many Delts who suspect that the Sixtieth Karnea played a large part in weighting Mr. Rickey's decision to go to Pittsburgh, for he was the principal speaker at that event and attended the Delt outing at John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm. Certainly it provided an opportunity for the two Delts to renew their friendship, and it is not unlikely that baseball was discussed in the course of their conversations.

During the period following the sale of Mr. Rickey's stock in the Brooklyn club (engineered by John Galbreath) and his resignation as president of that organization, he attended a Delt dinner at Mu Chapter, Ohio Wesleyan, where he made humorous references to his "unemployed" status, threatened to apply to Hugh Shields for a job as field secretary with Delta Tau Delta.

He could have handled that assignment easily, as a matter of fact, since he is thoroughly familiar with the Fraternity's organization, having served on the Arch Chapter as Secretary of Alumni. He has responded to every call of his Fraternity and has been much in demand as a speaker at Karneas, chapter installations, and other Delt events.

In choosing a club headed by John Galbreath, Mr. Rickey has found a man used to succeeding in his undertakings. Chief of the John W. Galbreath Company, real estate firm of Columbus, Ohio, Mr. Galbreath is a past president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, past international president of the Mercator Club, and past national president of the Ohio University Alumni Association. He is presently chairman of the board of trustees of his Alma Mater.

Prominent in sports other than baseball, he is a former captain of the River Ridge polo team and has known many successes with his thoroughbred racing stock at some of the nation's leading tracks.

Other Delts will figure in Pittsburgh's climb from the cellar. Branch Rickey, Jr., Ohio Wesleyan, '35, who was manager of Brooklyn's farm system, will have a similar responsibility with the Pirates. George H. Sisler, Michigan, '15, one of the greatest first basemen of all time, who was scout and coach with Brooklyn, will also join the Pittsburgh staff.

JOHN W. GALBREATH

Major General Robert M. Montague, Oregon, '20, is the Commanding General of the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project's principal field installation at Sandia Base, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

A graduate of the United States Military Academy in the 1919 class, General Montague is also a graduate of the Army's Command and General Staff School. During World War II he was artillery commander of the 83rd Infantry Division. He had been a brigadier general since June 26, 1942; his rank was made permanent in 1948. In October of this year he was promoted to major general (temporary).

Following the war, he was director of the Antiaircraft and Guided Missiles Branch of the Artillery School for one year. He has held his present assignment since July 15, 1947.

The Armed Forces Special Weapons Project, General Montague's current duty, is noteworthy as a unified interservice agency in which representatives of the Army, Navy, and Air Force are assigned to jobs on the basis of their knowledge and abilities, with little or no reference to the uniform they wear. Its successful operation makes it a pilot model for the success of further unification measures in the Department of Defense.

GENERAL ROBERT M. MONTAGUE

The Project originally assumed responsibility for carrying on those military service functions of the Manhattan Project retained by the armed forces when the over-all atomic energy program was transferred to the Atomic Energy Commission. The program includes training of special personnel, military participation in the development of atomic weapons of all types, and co-ordination of joint radiological safety measures.

It is the link between the Atomic Energy Commission and the armed forces in carrying on actual operations in the atomic energy field. The Atomic Energy Commission has its legal functions with respect to the control and manufacture of fissionable material and atomic weapons and the conduct of research relating to these activities. The Special Weapons Project is responsible for supporting the Department of Defense in atomic weapon operations, assisting in research, participating in the determination of requirements of the armed forces, and then processing these requirements. It provides technical assistance to the various planning agencies in the Department of Defense.

It is the co-ordinating agency for the military services in radiological defense training. The training program pursued is continuously reviewed and modified to anticipate changing requirements in this relatively new phase of the atomic energy field.

founded the Committee for Economic Development and served as chairman of its board of trustees from 1942 to 1948, building that project into an extremely healthy influence in our national economy.

As chairman of the Automotive Safety Foundation, he helped make the public conscious of the growing need for greater safety on our highways. In addition, he was honorary chairman of United China Relief and a member of the Business Advisory Council, U. S. Department of Commerce.

He has maintained his interest in education; he is a trustee of both the University of Chicago and Kenyon College. He has received honorary degrees from nine different colleges and universities.

With broad business interests, he is a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, the New York Life Insurance Company, United Air Lines, Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., and the Chicago Corporation.

Delts remember Paul Hoffman as President Hoffman. He was pressed into service in 1937 when the Karnea at Pittsburgh elected him Vice-President of the Fraternity. Two years later, at Estes Park, he was elevated to the presidency, and he served two terms, being re-elected by the White Sulphur Karnea in 1941.

During those four years he provided Delta Tau Delta with the forceful leadership which he brings to every enterprise in which he participates. It was during his tenure, for example, that The Delt Development Program was originated and developed.

Delta Tau Delt has certainly been an "abiding influence" in the Hoffman family, for four of Mr. Hoffman's five sons—Peter B., Hallock B., Donald G., and Robert C.—are members of the Fraternity. He also has a brother and a brother-in-law who are Delts.

Nor is there in sight any end to Mr. Hoffman's singular career of citizenship. On November 6 he was elected director of the Ford Foundation, a research, educational, and philanthropic organization set up by grants of the Henry Ford family. With assets of more than $125 million, the foundation is the largest of its kind in the United States.

There can be no disagreement with the statement of Henry Ford, II, who said: "I don't think the Ford Foundation could select a better person to head it than Mr. Hoffman, and we are very proud."

It would be difficult indeed to find a man better equipped to direct such a program to help "remove war's basic causes and build a World foundation for permanent peace."

THE President's Page

By MARTIN B. DICKINSON

FOR THE FIRST TIME in more than 25 years, a material change has been made in our liquor law. The change must be correctly interpreted and understood. That necessity, and current discussions of the use of liquor on college campuses, call for our attention.

By action of the Sixtieth Karnea, ratified by the chapters, our Bylaw on the subject has been amended to add the language printed in italics below to our previous Bylaw, printed in ordinary type, so that our new law is as follows:

The use or possession of intoxicating liquor in any form in any building or premises owned or used by any undergraduate chapter of the Fraternity for residential or chapter purposes shall be in conformity with the specifically stated rules and regulations of the college or university wherein each chapter is located; provided, however, that in the absence of such stated rules and regulations, the use or possession of intoxicating liquor in any form shall not be permitted in any building or premises owned or used by any undergraduate chapter of the Fraternity for residential or chapter purposes. Violation of this bylaw shall be deemed conduct detrimental to the best interests of the Fraternity.

Briefly stated, this means that we continue to believe liquor has no place in a Delt chapter house, but that if a particular institution believes otherwise and assumes responsibility by establishing specific rules and regulations on the subject, our chapter at that institution may operate under those specific rules.

A Delt chapter at an institution which has no liquor rules, or one at an institution which prohibits liquor but winks at violation, is still governed by the prohibitory rule contained in both the old and the new Bylaw. That was made clear by the committee which presented the amendment, in the debate, and by the express action of the Karnea on a proposed amendment to the committee proposal, as shown in the Karnea Minutes.

Discussion of problems arising out of, or in connection with, the use of liquor in chapter houses has consumed more time and energy of our Arch Chapter, at least in the last 25 years, than any other one subject. Only a small part of this unprofitable time and effort has been related to the fact we have a liquor law. Our worst messes have usually been associated with the use of liquor by our members. Many of our most serious problems of poor chapter operation have arisen when some members got the idea that a Delta Tau Delta chapter is a drinking club. A home from the front door or up the basement stairs of which comes the zestful aroma of day-old beer is not a good place to live. Some of us have found that odor characteristic of slum districts. A slum on a Gothic campus is still a slum.

Few Delts are teetotalers, and fewer are Prohibitionists, but there are very few mature Delts who do not assert that liquor has no place in a chapter house. Some very hard drinkers are the most positive. Most of our chapters have good records of observance of our rules. Most of our alumni co-operate. The administrations of most of the institutions where we are represented impose rules fully as stringent as our own. When they attempt to enforce those rules, they usually are successful.

We are not alone in our attitude. As is true of most of our other rules, however hotly they may be debated, most of our principal competitors have substantially the same rule. The apparent increase in emphasis on drinking as a part of college life in recent years has caused grave concern among college administrators. Such institutions as Pennsylvania State College have for the first time adopted regulations on the subject. Those regulations go further than our own.

Other college administrators now take the position that they would rather have their students drink in chapter houses or dormitories under supervision than elsewhere without supervision. There are only two institutions known to me to be operating on this basis. Unsavory conditions accompanying open drinking at one of them were discussed, I do not know whether accurately, in a recent editorial in an interfraternity journal. It is true that the direct effect of one particular indulgence is gone in 24 hours, but if conditions are as represented in that editorial, it may well be questioned whether that fine institution has not done itself irreparable harm. By adopting this amendment, Delta Tau Delta is indicating its willingness to let that experiment be tried, even though most of us believe it foredoomed to failure. If any institution chooses to assume responsibility for the formal and official introduction of liquor into chapter houses, Delta Tau Delta will rely on that assumption of responsibility.

Any chapter which believes that the rules of its college or university permit it to behave in a way formerly prohibited by Delta Tau Delta must obtain and file with the Central Office an officially certified copy of the "specifically stated rules and regulations." Otherwise, our general rule will apply. All our chapters must at all times obey the rules and regulations of the institution where they are located and our own rules and regulations. No rule of the Fraternity permits violation of any rule of the institution, nor can any rule or practice of any institution permit violation of Fraternity law.

Above all, whatever the rules may be, Delts must remain gentlemen. No custom, no tradition, no common practice can ever justify a Delt in ungentlemanly conduct.

Editor's Note: Gamma Eta Chapter (George Washington), after its fall from the top of the scholastic heap to the bottom, found it imperative to install a specific plan of improvement. Does it work? Frank Bowron, Gamma Eta, '51, answers that question in this article. His analysis contains timely suggestions which other Delta chapters might profitably consider in their efforts to put Delta Tau Delta on top in scholarship.

WHEN BILL'S NAME was brought up for depledging, the meeting almost broke up.

Bill's friends heatedly pointed out that if it hadn't been for Bill the chapter wouldn't have had its house redecorated in time for rushing, that he had been one of the best pledges for attracting rushees, that he was one of the best men in the pledge class.

Besides, they argued, you can't kick a man while he's down. Sure, Bill's grades were low, but he needed help from his brothers, not a note saying "We like you fine, you've given us a lot of help, but because of your grades you are a detriment to the Fraternity."

Nobody wanted to depledge Bill, so he stayed in the chapter. Grades came out and Bill's grades dragged the Fraternity standing down to a new all-time low.

Bill is only an example of a problem that faces the individual members of every chapter at one time or another. His name may be Joe or Jim or George, but you'll find him in almost every Delt chapter in the country. He's great Delt material, but his grades aren't up to par.

LIKE THE WEATHER

Most of the time, studying is like the weather: everybody talks about it, but nobody does anything about it. It takes a disaster like a dry spell in a farming area or a water shortage in New York City to develop dry-ice artificial rain.

In the case of Gamma Eta Chapter at George Washington University, it took a terrific drop in the chapter's grade average to stir action on scholarship.

Gamma Eta, reactivated after the end of the war, shook the entrenched fraternities on campus to their very foundations when in 1947 the chapter walked off with University scholastic honors, winning the school's scholarship cup and placing two men in Phi Beta Kappa. The cup was placed on the chapter mantel with appropriate ceremonies and an equally appropriate celebration was staged.

AFTERMATH

As seems to be the case with most celebrations, Gamma Eta's was followed by a terrific hang-over. Apparently intent upon resting on their laurels, members seemed to give up in scholastic fields. The bottom dropped out of all organized scholarship encouragement in the chapter and the group probably broke all standing records by dropping from first on campus to sixteenth out of 17 fraternities at the school, all within a few short months.

This situation continued for another semester, with the chapter apparently relying on much the same motivation that inspires the Washington Senators Baseball Club: if you're in the cellar, there's no place to go but up. Paralleling the Senators, Gamma Eta went up . . . to thirteenth.

When that news broke, those members who were not content to continue in the second division called for action. The scholarship committee was given new importance and a new system was set up to provide for assistance to pledges who were having difficulty with school work. An inspection of grades in the chapter indicated that a great share of the low and failing grades were in the pledge class, a situation which not only hurt the Fraternity scholastically, but also cut sharply into the number of initiates during the semester.

BIG-BROTHER SYSTEM REVAMPED

A big-brother system, in which each pledge had been allowed to select an active to go to for advice and guidance, had already been in use by the chapter for a number of years. A revamping of that system took place, with emphasis on scholarship. Big brothers were instructed to keep a record of every examination taken by the pledge and to make periodic reports to the scholarship chairman and to the chapter. The scholarship chairman gave a weekly report on the progress of each man.

When examination grades and mid-term reports indicated that a certain man was having difficulty in a specific subject, experts in that line were rushed in to help him with his difficulty. One man, a Spanish major and "A" student in his field, would give private lessons in the subject to the pledge in trouble. Accounting students, English students—almost every field was covered by personal instruction on the part of the actives. In some cases the big-brother system worked in reverse, with pledges giving the actives assistance in certain fields. At all times the emphasis was placed on the idea that the failing students were to learn the material themselves, not let the bright boys do the job for them. This theory was one of necessity, it being impossible for the chapter instructor to take examinations for the chapter student.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta

VI. ORRIN SERFASS, Lafayette, '82; Columbia, '84—1891-92

VII. CHARLES COURTER DICKINSON, Cornell, '91—1892-93

ORRIN SERFASS

THE HISTORY of any organization is seldom a steady, uninterrupted march toward a well-defined goal but is more often a series of hills and valleys, of rushes and delays, of sudden spurts followed by periods of relative relaxation. Sooner or later, it is necessary to consolidate the gains which have been made and to explore further possible avenues of advance before the next surge is begun.

In Delta Tau Delta, the two years from 1891 to 1893, during which the Fraternity had two Presidents, was such a period. Since 1884, when the new Constitution had been formulated and the government placed in the hands of an alumni body, the fledgling Delta Tau Delta had forged rapidly ahead, surmounting all obstacles to its progress by sheer enthusiasm and the ardor of its youthful leaders. By the spring of 1891, however, it became apparent that the harmony and strong national unity which had from the outset characterized Delta Tau Delta could not be sustained unless certain fundamental issues, particularly with regard to expansion and contraction, were successfully resolved.

The canny Scotsman, Lowrie McClurg, had provided able leadership from 1888 to 1891. He had been President for nearly three years, however, a term longer than that of any of his predecessors, and he was finding the duties of his office demanding more time than he was able to spare from his business. In May of 1891, therefore, he resigned, leaving a vacancy in the highest office of the Fraternity.

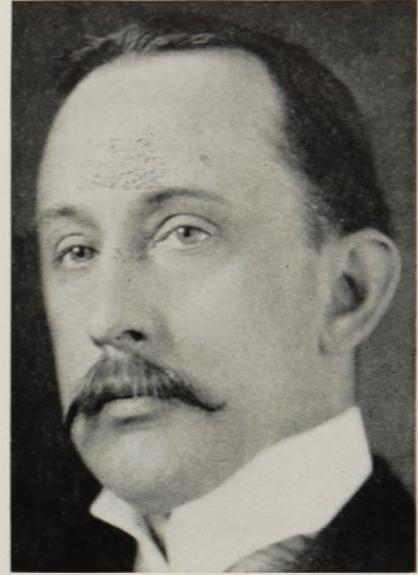

Faced with a situation for which there was no precedent and which had not been foreseen in the drafting of the Constitution, the Arch Chapter quickly met to elect a President who would serve the remainder of the unexpired term.

The Arch Chapter chose Orrin Serfass, Lafayette, '82, Columbia, '84, a 29-year-old attorney of Easton, Pennsylvania. Although he assumed the Presidency without the benefit of previous experience on the Arch Chapter, Serfass had been active on the Delt firing line since the day he joined Delta Tau Delta shortly after Nu Chapter received its charter.

He had made Phi Beta Kappa at Lafayette, had transferred to Columbia to obtain his law degree. A polished orator, he had gained wide recognition throughout the Fraternity by his addresses to Delt groups.

When the Thirty-first Karnea convened in Cleveland during August of 1891, President Serfass asked the delegates to confirm his appointment as President and all other acts which had been accomplished since he took office. This the Karnea willingly did. It also elected Serfass to another term by a unanimous vote.

In his report to the Karnea, President Serfass brought into the open a vital issue which was then the subject of much controversy. While he reported further expansion—re-establishment of Beta Gamma at the University of Wisconsin and Sigma at Williams College—he also observed, "There is a growing sentiment within the Fraternity in favor of maintaining the Fraternity in leading or growing institutions only." Taking its cue, the Karnea, while resolving to unfurl the Fraternity's colors at such great and growing institutions as Pennsylvania, Northwestern, Chicago, Kansas, and Nebraska, also took a firm stand to prune from the Fraternity rolls those chapters in institutions which did not stand high academically. Thus was the first step taken in a policy of retrenchment, of the Fraternity's ultimate realistic insistence on quality.

At that Karnea banquet, the new President addressed the delegates with his customary eloquence, then went home to undertake his duties of office. In his own bailiwick, however, he had been active in civic affairs, which soon brought new obligations. As chairman of the Republican County Committee, he was nominated for delegate to the constitutional convention, which plunged him deeper into responsibility, and one year later, like his predecessor, McClurg, he resigned, expressing genuine regret that he was unable to continue in office.

The sixth President lived out his life in Easton. After occupying several minor offices in the city and county, he was appointed postmaster of Easton in 1903 by President Theodore Roosevelt. He died November 3, 1929, at the age of 67.

A leader with foresight, President Serfass had introduced legislation in 1891 which resulted in an amendment to the Constitution giving the Arch Chapter the authority to elect a President of the Fraternity to fill an unexpired term between Karneas. When the governing board met on October 29, 1892, its members were of one mind, and they chose Charles Courter Dickinson, Cornell, '91, seventh President of the Fraternity.

Although the passage of time has obliterated the complete story of this unusual election, one must readily surmise that Dickinson's colleagues recognized in him qualities of great leadership, for when he assumed the responsibilities of Delta Tau Delta's highest office, he was only 22 years old! Nor should one overlook that the men who chose him—Alvan Duerr and Charles Kendric Babcock among them—were themselves destined to rank among the most dynamic leaders of their Fraternity.

Charles Dickinson was a native New Yorker, a charter member of Beta Omicron Chapter, and a devoted Delt who understood as well as any older man of that period the obligations of a national fraternity. The Eastern Division had elected him its President a few short months before. A graduate lawyer, he began by practicing law. THE RAINBOW of this era remarks: "C. C. Dickinson had the offer of commandant of a military school, thought the pen was mightier than the sword, so he stuck to the law office." By the time he was elected President, however, he had turned to banking as his life work and was traveling New York state as an official bank examiner.

Besides being the youngest man ever to be President of the Fraternity, Dickinson, next to Lucius Hoyt, served the shortest term—ten months. It would be a difficult assignment in ten short months to leave a permanent impress on an organization, yet there is evidence that the youthful President did lead a movement which shaped the significant destiny of the Fraternity.

Dickinson's report to the 1893 Karnea was a cogent summary and statement of the Fraternity's position in its rapid expansion. Pointing out that since the spring of 1888—in five years—13 chapters had been chartered, he urged a more deliberate pace, saying, "I believe that our utmost resources are needed for the strengthening and improving of chapters already chartered."

He recommended more stringent legislation to increase the difficulty of obtaining a Delt charter. For one thing, he said, we should require "provisions of accommodations compatible with those of the chapters already established in the institutions"—wise reasoning which is part of the Fraternity's expansion policy today.

He urged the elimination of the requirement of a unanimous vote of the chapters in the Division of the petitioning local. Such a procedure, he pointed out, had made it "possible for a single chapter to subvert what otherwise may be the earnest desire of the entire Fraternity."

Dickinson recommended that Delta Tau Delta cross the border into Canada, and he wanted his Fraternity to work diligently to round out its national character by better representation in the East: "I respectfully contend that a failure on your part to do everything which will strengthen our Eastern Chapters will prove too late of most vital detriment to the Fraternity."

Conservative, the 22-year-old President represented the middle ground of compromise between the fervent expansionists on the one hand and the severe retractionists on the other. He said: ". . . the contention under existing conditions for a wholesale withdrawal of charters with the hope of obtaining complete homogeneity of men and chapters thereafter is ridiculously absurd."

He recommended, nonetheless, a careful study of the institutions in which our chapters were located with an eye to pruning the weak chapters to make a stronger national fraternity, and he proposed an amendment to the Constitution to enable the Arch Chapter to make the decisions in the withdrawal of charters.

The Thirty-second Karnea listened to his advice, and although it failed to return him to office, still it heeded many of his recommendations, with the result that the Constitution was drastically amended, enlarging and better defining the powers of the Arch Chapter.

The events of the years that followed seem to vindicate Charles Dickinson's earnest convictions. From 1893 to 1896, Delta Tau Delta looked critically at itself, and nine chapters were withdrawn—surgery calculated to make a stronger national unit by removing the unproductive units. During the same period, expansion, now based on more thorough examination and sounder policies, continued; new chapters sprang up in such enduring institutions as Northwestern, Stanford, Nebraska, Ohio State, Brown, Pennsylvania, and Washington & Lee.

Charles Dickinson's brief official duty with Delta Tau Delta was prophetic of his life span. He died in New York City on May 24, 1910, at the age of 39.

Although the terms of the sixth and the seventh Presidents were short, and their leadership was too brief perhaps to exert any telling influence on their Fraternity, still the years they represent were by no means fruitless. They may be viewed as a transition, a transition which sped Delta Tau Delta into the turn of the century surer of herself than she had ever been, prepared for one of the most productive periods in the history of any fraternity. A transition, too, which spawned three of the greatest loyalties and intellects Delta Tau Delta has ever known—those of Charles Kendric Babcock, Alvan E. Duerr, and Edwin Holt Hughes.

Six Delt Captains in Fall Football

IF YOU'RE THINKING of picking an All Delt All America Football Team, you have something to sink your teeth into this year. And no matter how you call them, you'll have an argument on your hands, for the Delt chapters are sold on the abilities of their favorite sons.

For one thing, there are six Delts who captain their respective elevens, which is in itself a substantial indication of inspired playing. Many others are also turning in Saturday-after-Saturday performances which have earned the plaudits of sportswriters and spectators alike.

Here is your Delt line-up for the 1950 season:

ENDS

Maybe insistence on the tall, stringy lads is a part of the Delt rushing program, for 1950, as usual, finds the end positions most heavily manned by Delta Tau Delta. Five of the wingmen are team captains or cocaptains. They are Case, Colorado; Ebinger, Missouri; Cloidt, Washington; Johnson, Kansas State; and Watson, U.C.L.A.

Cloidt, of the Huskies, besides being selected captain, won the inspiration award of his school last season and was on the second team in the All Coast selection.

Missouri's Ebinger, veteran of the 1950 'Gator Bowl, won all Big Seven honors.

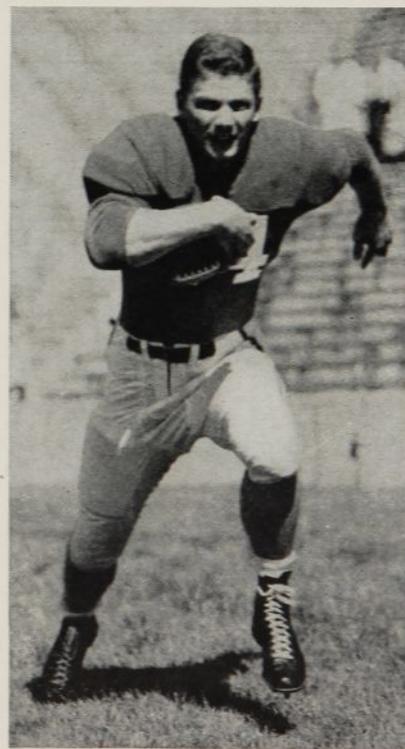

End BOB WATSON
U.C.L.A. Captain.

Out at U.C.L.A., Riggs and Watson are said to play both ends against the middle and make it work. Riggs has been cited as one of the best defensive flankers on the Coast, while Watson, shifted from the backfield to end this season, adds place-kicking to his grid-iron talents. With 23 conversions out of 24 attempts last year, he topped the nation in the percentage department.

Halfback SONNY GRANDELIUS

End DARRELL RIGGS

TACKLES

Among the tackles, there is one veteran of a previous season bowl game—Shundich, Cincinnati, who helped his team defeat Toledo in the Glass Bowl. Ohlenroth has been a solid performer in Michigan's forward wall.

Fullback JACK SOURBEER

Reserve: Richard Polhemus, Lafayette; John Delahunty, W. & L.; Robert Pike, Colorado; Keith Fiene, Nebraska.

GUARDS

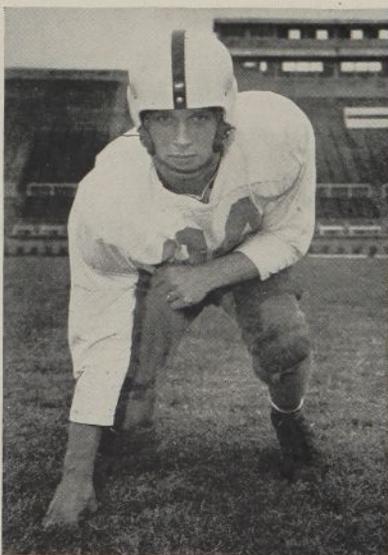

The guard position boasts some steady performers. Iowa State's Byrns moved into a regular berth as a sophomore after being chosen the outstanding freshman player of last season. Thomas, of the Fightin' Hoosiers, contributed mightily to Indiana's stunning upset of Notre Dame. Casey and DiGrande are helping Cornell's Big Red roll along to another successful season, while Daniel has been a vital factor in the forward wall of Northwestern in its bid for Big Ten supremacy.

Reserve: William Mathers, Penn State; Max Kidd, Purdue; Thomas McCormick, Northwestern.

Delt Chapters Bring Christmas to Underprivileged

CHRISTMAS will be more meaningful to hundreds of orphans and underprivileged children this year because many Delta Shelters will again open their doors with traditional Yuletide benevolence "to make glad the hearts of childhood."

Here are just a few of the scheduled parties which have been reported to THE RAINBOW. If a Delt chapter is in your locale, drop by and see the results of this unselfish Fraternity project: maybe the boys will find a job for you.

Beta Chapter, Ohio: Annual party for 20 orphans of the Athens County Home. Entertainment and gifts.

Upsilon Chapter, Rensselaer: Yearly shindig for 20-odd orphans of Troy. Dinner, followed by Phil Segnitz's interpretation of Santa Claus.

leged kids of Boulder. Gifts, treats, Christmas carols.

Beta Rho Chapter, Stanford: Third annual Yuletide event for 30 Chinese orphans from nearby orphanage. Santa Claus, magic show, the works.

Gamma Zeta Chapter, Wesleyan: Following custom of previous years, big event for Middletown's underprivileged. Charlie "Santa Claus" Hoyt will emerge from the chimney.

Delta Alpha Chapter, Oklahoma: All the ham, milk, and candy that 50 of Norman's underprivileged moppets can eat.

Delta Delta Chapter, Tennessee: Annual Yuletide celebration for Knoxville's grade-schoolers.

Delta Eta Chapter, Alabama: Orphans selected by local civic club will meet Santa Claus, receive presents, endure musical readings by Delta Eta's "If-You-Can't-Play-Good-Play-Loud-Boys."

Delta Upsilon Chapter, Delaware: Repetition of last year's "Ferris Night," a party for boys of Ferris Industrial School. This was a Delt First at Delaware; other fraternities have now followed suit.

And, finally, one of the best Delt Christmas events is the annual service in Trinity Cathedral at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Now in its sixteenth year, the Delt Christmas program, held under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter and conducted by the Reverend High N. Moor, Kenyon, '14, Dean of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral, has become an established tradition among Delts from all over the tristate area.

DOES IT WORK?

Does this system work? Last semester Gamma Eta raised its standing on campus from thirteenth to eighth place. That is still far from the top of the list, but it's in the first division, above the All Fraternity and All Men's Averages.

Its workability is also evident from another standpoint. In 1947, when Gamma Eta won the scholarship cup, it was one of the smallest fraternities on campus. With two Phi Beta Kappas holding down the fort, some members were able to ride along in the chapter average with very low grades. The Phi Betas are gone from the 1950 averages and the higher-grade-average campaign is being won by the entire chapter, rather than a few brilliant students who can carry more than their share of the load.

Another indication of the general success of the program is the fact that from the last pledge class only two men were unable to be initiated because of low grades, in comparison to almost 50 per cent a year ago.

"Study is the job of the college student, and good scholarship means that he is acquitting himself like a man, with a realization of obligation to himself and his surroundings."

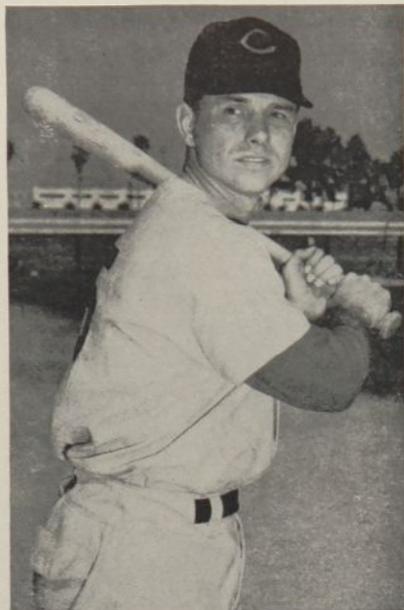

—ALVAN E. DUERR.

HUMAN TOUCH

Aside from statistics, the benefits of the program cannot be measured. The big-brother system with emphasis on scholarship has brought a human touch to Fraternity co-operation for betterment not only of the Fraternity itself, but of the individual members of the chapter.

It gives to Bill and Joe and Jim and George, the great guy who can't seem to make his grades, a better chance to make his contribution in chapter scholastic achievement. It gives him another intangible benefit from fraternity membership—the feeling that brotherhood, a working together to accomplish a greater goal, can go far beyond its social aspects.

Hatton Stars With Cincinnati Reds

GRADY HATTON

GRADY E. HATTON, JR., Texas, '43, is a Delt who is well on his way to an outstanding career in major league baseball. He has just completed his fifth year as third baseman for the Cincinnati Reds of the National League.

Hatton made the big jump to the majors from the University of Texas campus via the Army, with no minor league experience. While playing with Army teams, he attracted the attention of baseball scouts, becoming one of the most sought after players in the military service. Following his discharge in 1946, he signed with the Reds.

In his first year of organized baseball (1946), he played in 116 games, hitting .271 and driving in 69 runs. He upped his mark to .281 in 1947, clouting 16 homers and driving home 77 runs.

During the 1948 season he was dogged by injuries and appeared in only 133 games, many in the role of pinch-hitter and was unable to hit full stride. Although he hit only .263 in 1949, he blossomed into an outstanding defensive man. He led the league third basemen in fielding that season with a mark of .975. He is regarded by many as the best all-around third sacker in the league.

He finished the 1950 season with an average of .260 in the batting department, hitting 18 doubles and eleven homers and driving in 54 runs. Those who touted Grady as a potential outstanding hitter are sticking by their guns and maintain that he is now ready to develop into a great batter. This confidence is not without foundation, for he owns one of the best natural swings in baseball.

Grady played American Legion, high school, and college ball before enlisting in the Army Air Corps in 1943. At the University of Texas he played guard on the Longhorns' football team.

His home is in Beaumont, Texas, where he spends his winters. He is 28 and single.

Hatton's success at third base recalls another Delt of Gamma Iota Chapter who established a great reputation for covering the keystone sack. He is M. Franklin "Pinky" Higgins, Texas, '31, who played with the Boston Red Sox and the Detroit Tigers in the American League.

Arch Chapter Members had good pledge training, for Mr. Shelton attacked campus activities with an undiminishing vigor. Here are just a few: member of glee club for four years, manager one year, president another, and trustee for three years after graduation; member of both freshman and sophomore honoraries; student instructor in premed courses; three years advertising manager of yearbook; editor of athletic programs; member of journalism honorary.

The next one might be called a suicide pact between Mr. Shelton and the Cincinnati student body, although a college junior would hardly regard it as such, and it was foiled apparently by his own initiative and ability to grasp instruction quickly. In 1927, students elected him "the person to attempt to solo in an airplane in one day." Mr. Shelton explains the election by: "People wanted me killed more than anyone else." The outcome was that he succeeded in his attempt and set a new record.

After an A.B. degree, Mr. Shelton continued graduate studies and during this period served as secretary and president of the live-wire Cincinnati Alumni Chapter. In the meantime, he went into the investment business, taking time out in 1932 to campaign for Alf Landon for governor of Kansas.

Shortly thereafter he switched to a career in engineering, and, as a registered professional engineer, he worked for the State of Ohio, Department of Highways, from 1933 to 1941. During this period he was editor of several engineering journals. An original member of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, he was first editor of the Association's magazine and today is associate counsel of the organization.

Mr. Shelton had begun the study of law by this time, attending Franklin University, from which he received his LL.B. degree in 1941. He also received the faculty senior award in recognition of his outstanding work as a student. He is a member of both the Ohio Bar and the Ohio Bar Association.

Today he is assistant division attorney, Long Lines Department, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for the states of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and part of Kentucky. With offices in Cleveland, he lives at Willowgate Farm in Geauga County, Ohio, 24 miles from Cleveland, where he tries his hand at gentleman farming.

Mr. Shelton's variegated career of extracurriculars continues. As first chairman of the Munson Township Zoning Commission, Geauga County, he drafted the first rural zoning plan to become effective in Ohio. He is a member and vice-chairman of the State Board of Housing. He was one of three public members serving on the Ohio Highway Recodification Commission which recodified the Ohio Code of Laws pertaining to the State Highway Department.

He came to the Sixtieth Karnea as a delegate of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter and served as chairman of the Committee on Resolutions. His son, Frank W. Shelton, III, is a junior of Beta Chapter at Ohio University.

Reserve: Norman Taylor, Hillsdale; Monte O'Connor, Butler; Doug Thamer, Stanford; Leighton Hahn, California; Sam Carnahan, Oklahoma.

QUARTERBACKS

The quarterbacking of Oklahoma's Arnold has been a major factor in keeping the powerful Sooners at the top of the heap. He pulled a hot one out of the fire against the Texas Aggies by pitching six straight strikes in the fading minutes of the game to set up the winning touchdown.

First-string: William Monahan, Albion; Claude Arnold, Oklahoma.

Reserve: Lee Venzke, Colorado; Menelaos Aliapoulios, Tufts; Pete Palmer, Michigan; Pete Truran, Illinois.

FULLBACKS

The brilliant playing of Fleischmann, Cornell, has kept sports-writers busy in the Ivy League. Last year he was leading scorer for Cornell and Ivy League high scorer in all-game participation, honors which he seems likely to repeat at this writing.

Sourbeer, of W. & J., last year gained honorable mention on the Little All America team and is a likely candidate for further honors this season.

First-string: Jack Sourbeer, W. & J.; Ward Shawver, DePauw; James Hancock (pledge), Lehigh; Mil-lard Wall, Tufts; William Bryant, West Virginia; Merle Houck, South Dakota; Jeff Fleischmann, Cornell.

Reserve: Donald Kowalski, Hillsdale; Ron Fraley, Kenyon; Richard Curtis, Butler; Ralph Straffon, Michigan; William Tate, Illinois.

HALFBACKS

In the break-away department, there is just about everything that a coach could ask for, and many of those listed below have rated more

Sunday morning headlines this fall than Joe Stalin himself.

Averaging seven yards per try at this writing, Michigan State's Grandelius has been the sensation of the scramble for Midwest supremacy. Down in the South, Webb of Kentucky, who saw plenty of action in the 1950 Orange Bowl, bids fair to lead his teammates into another New Year's fracas. At Northwestern, Petter, sparkplug of the 1949 Rose Bowl triumph, has continued his stellar defensive playing.

Delts in Command-IV

Rear Admiral Francis X. McInerney, Colorado, '20, is commander of the Navy's Amphibious Training Command, Pacific Fleet. He has held the post since January 3 of this year.

The prime mission of the command, as the name implies, is training officers and men in the manifold and often involved techniques of modern amphibious warfare and the improvement of those techniques. There is only one other such command in the Navy (and the Department of Defense) and none other in the Pacific Area. Because of its unique character, the command trains personnel of the Army and Air Force as well as of the Navy and Marine Corps.

Trainees, many of whom are reserves, often go directly to the Korean theater upon completion of training. Expansion and activity since the outbreak of the present conflict have been great and are continually increasing as more ships and men are added to the Amphibious Force.

Subordinate and component commands are the Troop Training Unit (Marine amphibious warfare) under a brigadier general, U. S. Marine Corps; the Naval Amphibious Training Unit (Naval amphibious warfare; boats, ships, and aircraft) under a captain, U. S. Navy; and the Naval Amphibious Base, Coronado, California (support of the other two commands) under a captain, U. S. Navy.

During World War II Admiral McInerney served on destroyers as a division commander and squadron commander. He commanded destroyers in the Battle of the Coral Sea and the first and second Battles of Kula Gulf. After service on Admiral Halsey's staff and as chief of staff to the Commander, Training Command, Pacific, he assumed command of the battleship Washington from June, 1945, to October, 1946.

Admiral McInerney has been awarded the following decorations: Navy Cross, Silver Star Medal, Bronze Star Medal, Commendation Ribbon, and Presidential Unit Citation, as well as several Area Ribbons. He was promoted to his present rank in November, 1947.

proof of the old axiom 'seeing is believing,'" says JOHN SCOTT KECK, Penn State, '42, radio and television director of Henri, Hurst & McDonald Inc. of Chicago, as quoted in Broadcasting Telecasting magazine. Scotty is in charge of a department responsible for radio and television activities of the Chicago agency. His determination to do radio work started during his undergraduate days at Penn State where he studied speech and dramatics, economics and commerce. His efforts are now realized in his work with networks and individual stations. He supervises shows ranging from the nationwide broadcast and telecast of the Indianapolis Speedway race to programs selling food or furniture to housewives and shoes and candy to children.

In New York City at NBC, Scotty began his career in radio and television as a page. He later became page supervisor, supervisor of broadcast tickets, night secretary, and announcer. While in Pittsburgh with WCAE, he was responsible for several theatrical productions, besides being a radio actor and narrator on industrial films, but he soon tired of a seven-days-a-week routine and returned to New York and NBC as a salesman in the recording division. His transfer to recording sales in Chicago came in 1946.

The Arson Department of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, headed by A. BRUCE BIELASKI, George Washington, '04, was faced with a serious problem during 1930, 1931, and 1932 when Brooklyn was "on fire" as reported in "Annals of Crime" in a recent issue of The New Yorker. Fires became regular happenings of everyday life. In 1932, the Brooklyn Fire Department answered 15,817 calls and the Brooklyn fire insurance companies were beginning to think seriously of refusing to write any further policies on property in that area.

As matters went from bad to worse, it became apparent that this was a job for Mr. Bielaski and the Arson Department. Mr. Bielaski spent most of his life dealing with crime. After being graduated from college, he secured a job with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which he later headed. For the ten-year period 1908 to 1918, he was in charge of the Bureau's investigation of pro-German activities in the United States. After World War I he resigned from this work and started a law office in New York City. In 1925 he was appointed a special assistant to the United States Attorney General to prosecute liquor smugglers. For the last 21 years he has been with the National Board of Fire Underwriters, tracing individuals who find it beneficial and entertaining to set fire to other people's property.

Mr. Bielaski opened his investigation of arson in Brooklyn in 1932 by appointing an "inside man" who could track down and ally himself with certain individuals who might have some connection with the increasing fires in that area. There then followed a series of investigations and a long and sometimes discouraging wait for the Department, which finally resulted in the conviction of 26 people, including a man who was alone responsible for nearly 100 fires during a two-year period, and who was sentenced in 1936 to 20 to 40 years, the maximum sentence for first-degree arson.

A Suggestion . . .

If you have any information concerning members of the Fraternity who are serving with the armed forces, why not drop a line to THE RAINBOW so that all Deltas may know of Delta Tau Delta's contribution to the national defense?

Indianapolis 4, Indiana

Superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point from 1928 to 1932, this Delt was one of the great soldiers of World War I and the years immediately following.

He attended Vanderbilt University, where he was initiated into Lambda Chapter of Delta Tau Delta with the class of '84. After two years at Vanderbilt, he entered West Point and was graduated in 1892. As a junior officer in the Army, he was moved about considerably, but in a short while he returned to the Academy as an instructor in chemistry. Before his tour as instructor was completed, he had taught in every department of the school, and it was said of him that he could walk into any classroom at any time and promptly take over the instruction with no loss of learning to the student, and in most instances, with great gain.

At the outbreak of World War I he headed the unique operation of building and placing the first submarine net ever used in coastal waters of the United States. He was shortly promoted to the rank of major general and placed in command of the 36th Division of the American Expeditionary Forces moving to battle Germany. Under his command, the Division, less than two months after its arrival overseas, was engaged in the Champagne offensive in the relief of Rheims. In spite of its greenness and lack of battle seasoning, the 36th drove the Germans back to the banks of the Aisne River and captured more than $10 million worth of booty. For his masterful command in this engagement, the General was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, while the French decorated him with the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre.

Returning with the victorious American troops, he was next made Chief of Staff of the Philippine Division, commanding Fort McKinley. He was widely praised for his work in educating the natives and improving conditions in the Islands.

He was made superintendent of the Military Academy in 1928. When he retired in 1932, he returned to his native Tennessee as superintendent of the Sewanee Military Academy. He died July 15, 1941, at the age of 73.

A famous first baseman, this Delt was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1939, joining such other immortals of sport as Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, and Christy Mathewson.

His stock in trade was one of the most powerful bats that baseball has ever known. During the 1922 season, his overall batting average was a sizzling .420, which is still tops for the American League.

A product of Akron, Ohio, he attended the University of Michigan, where he pitched three years of varsity ball, compiling an impressive record that brought several big-league scouts to the doorstep of Delta Chapter's Shelter. But it was another Delt, Branch Rickey, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, who signed him with the St. Louis Browns and launched him on his diamond career.

Following his graduation in 1915, he started pitching for the Browns and on one occasion defeated the Washington Senators' great Walter Johnson in a grueling pitchers' duel. One day, however, Branch Rickey handed him a first baseman's glove, and although he did pitch a few games thereafter, his fate as a first baseman was decided.

He remained with the St. Louis Browns from 1915 to 1927. During that time his consistent hitting had established many records. He broke Ty Cobb's record of hitting safely in 40 consecutive games by hitting safely in 41. He became the first player to win the official honor of "most valuable player in the American League."

He set an American League record for safe hits in one season.

Leaving the Browns at the end of the 1927 season, he played with Washington briefly and finished his career as a player with the Boston Nationals from 1928 to 1930. His lifetime batting average was .341. In two separate seasons he hit over .400.

It has been said that there has not been a fielding first baseman to match him since he quit playing. Although he is seldom mentioned as a base runner, he excelled in this department, too. His specialty was the hard one, from second to third, challenging the short throw.

Following his retirement as a player, he served for a time as president of the American Softball Association, promoting wide national participation in amateur athletics. Later he returned to baseball as a coach and talent scout. He served for a number of years with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In November he was involved in a National League managerial change which attracted nationwide publicity and which will place him on the scouting and coaching staff of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

As high commissioner of the National Baseball Congress, he has been instrumental in promoting the development of young talent.

This Delt's son has followed in his father's footsteps. His homer last September in the crucial National League game between Brooklyn and Philadelphia brought his team, the Phillies, the pennant and the opportunity of playing in the World Series.

Although this Delt began practicing law after his graduation from the University of Mississippi in 1900, he had scarcely written his first brief when the fascination of Texas oil lured him into the field which carried him to fortune and a position of great responsibility.

From a humble beginning at the famous oil pool at Spindletop, he started his steady climb which culminated in his being named chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

After two years in the oil fields, he joined forces with another young man to form a new oil company. Later, in 1917, he was one of the organizers of the now vast Humble Oil Company, and he served as first vice-president of the organization. He was president from 1922 to 1933.

From Humble Oil he moved to the Standard Oil chairmanship and from 1937 until his death in November, 1942, he was president of the huge corporation.

This Delt from Pi Chapter, who had become one of the best known oil men in the United States, was a founder of the American Petroleum Institute and served as president of the Institute during 1926. His elevation to the presidency was in recognition of his successful participation in national efforts to bridle the wild industry and bring it into control.

Alpha—Allegheny

DELTS PITCH IN TO REDECORATE

If any Alpha alumni or other Delts familiar with the Allegheny Shelter should chance to return, they may think that they're in the wrong place, for the Shelter has literally had its "face lifted."

Numerous Meadville Delts, chief among whom are John Shearer, John Culbertson, and Don Roha, spent their spare summer hours painting woodwork, sanding floors, and hanging wallpaper. During Freshmen Week, the entire chapter arrived early for a week's session of more painting and hanging of wallpaper, under the able direction of Jack Howie.

Many of these work sessions lasted well into the wee-small hours of the morning, with the result that the chapter house has an internal appearance of which any Delt would be proud. To complete the picture, numerous drapes and other accessories were purchased, and a baby-grand piano was bought with the generous gift of money given to the chapter by its Dads last spring.

HOMECOMING DISPLAY FEATURES ZIPPERS

Studies and campus life have kept the individual Delt quite busy since the beginning of the school year, but collectively the chapter has also been a beehive of activity. Social Chairman Phil Choquette and his able committee engineered a highly successful Open House for the entire College, as well as the traditional Delt Barn Dance, complete with hay and dodhoppers. On Phil's agenda for the future can be found plans for a Tureen Supper and a better-than-ever Christmas Formal.

Under the guidance of Brother Tom Newcombe, artist extraordinary, the chapter plans to build a Homecoming display around the idea of Talon Zippers—a tribute to Meadville (the zipper's home) and Pennsylvania Week.

Musically, Alpha has already presented an all-College serenade, and the Delt-16 is being whipped into shape by Song Leader Art Jonas.

Last but not least, Alumni Secretary Ned Vidal is feverishly working on the first issue of Alpha's alumni newsletter, "The Choctaw," which he hopes will be in the alumni's hands by the middle of November.

ALPHA CONTRIBUTES TWO TO SOCCER

On campus, Arny Lewis and Ken Heasley are Alpha's contributions to Allegheny's soccer team, Arnie also occupying the positions of Junior Class president and Allegheny Christian Association president. Tackle Ray Cook is working for his second letter as an Allegheny griddier.

Elsewhere in campus activities, Jack

Goellner is serving his second year on the editorial board of the Campus, and the College Chapel Choir claims five Delts as members—Lin Duff, Phil Choquette, Dave Eaton, Jack Lang, and Bill Walker.

In intramural sports activity, the Shelter's football eleven has won its first game, and Coach (as well as Athletic Chairman) Phil Willmarth promises that the football team will help the chapter raise its position of third place to first in intramural competition for the year.

TWO SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

When Beta Chapter men returned to school this fall, they found awaiting them two scholarship trophies—pledge and chapter awards for the highest scholastic attainment on campus in the spring semester. We are doubly proud of these awards because our campus standing was raised from eighth position to first position within one semester. In order to boost our scholarship, we enacted a rule stating that a man had to have an average of 2.2 to be pledged. The previous ruling was a 2.0.

BIG TOP OPENS SOCIAL SEASON

The annual "Delt Brothers Circus" party opened the social season. This is considered "tops" among fraternity house parties on Ohio University's campus.

The Delt band led a torchlight parade in which Delt's dates were picked up at all women's dorms and sorority houses and carried to the Shelter in a decorated cage. Everyone was dressed in a circus costume. The house was rigged as a tent and by using parachutes it resembled the "Big Top."

ATHENS ALUMNI FETED

During the summer, Frank Shelton, III, son of the new Secretary of the Arch Chapter, entertained all Delts and rushees in northeastern Ohio with a picnic and barbecue at his farm near Chardon, Ohio.

The men who attended summer school had a steak fry for the local high school graduates and a "gab" session for the Athens alumni.

Beta Chapter is proud that its representation at the Karnea numbered more than 70 registering. The same fraternal love promises to return more than 300 alumni to the Shelter this year.

CHAPTER SEEKS TENTH FOOTBALL TROPHY

This fall the cry went up among the fraternities to "stop the Delts." Beta Chapter has taken the football trophy nine of the past ten years. Adding to the enthusiasm is the comic Delt Marching Band. Composed largely of musicians who can't play a right note, the band has marching formations. It recently welcomed home the Bobcat football team from a victory at Butler.

Gamma—W. & J.

CHAPTER PLEDGES TEN

The Delts of Gamma Chapter returned a week early to renovate the Shelter for an extra-early rushing campaign. With the aid of the full chapter, House and Grounds Chairman John Inglis was able to put the house into fine condition.

When rushing was completed early in October, Gamma Chapter had pledged ten outstanding freshmen. With this new blood to replace the eighteen 1950 graduates, Delta Tau Delta can look forward to the continued prominence of its chapter on this campus.

SCORE TWO INTRAMURAL WINS

Under the capable direction of Athletic Director Stu (no subsidies) McCombs, the Delts are looking forward to a successful season in intramural sports. Gamma Chapter is starting its stretch drive early for the Big Cup, lost by a narrow margin last year. Son Smith stands high in the tennis competition, while the rifle and volleyball teams have scored impressive wins.

STARTING FULLBACK IS GAMMA DELT

Gamma Delts are well represented in intercollegiate sports. Senior Jack Sourbeer is starting fullback for the Prexies; Sophomores John Carney and Bill Albee are starting halfback and guard, respectively. Senior Hal Gedney is manager of the team.

The hardwood will see Delt action again. Norm Sirianni is an important link in Coach Sanders' famous two-platoon system.

Delts are members of most of the campus organizations; from the college chorus, with Don Walton and John Inglis, to the college newspaper, with John Coe, they are proving valuable in many posts.

Jack Sourbeer is president of the local chemistry honorary. Arch Weisbach is vice-president of the chemistry and journalistic honoraries. President Dick Kelley is vice-chairman of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government chapter. John Duritsa is treasurer of that organization.

RUSHING RECEIVES PRIMARY ATTENTION

Returning to the Shelter to find that a banner crop of June graduates had dwindled the chapter down below the normal level, the main impetus of the fall season was placed on rushing. Under the guidance of Chairman Richard Lee, 16 of the sharper prospects were pledged and immediately pressed into service for work on the Wisconsin Homecoming display. Among this semester's crop is Dick Brennan who, along with Active Ned McClellan, transferred from Washington and Lee.

The rushing program, thanks to the alumni and the efforts of the brothers, was again aided by the fine impression the Shelter itself made on the rushees.

THREE PLAY FOR MAIZE AND BLUE

Delta pointed with pride this year to the contributions made by three of the brothers to the Maize and Blue football machine.

Tackle Bill Ohlenroth was an offensive standout on the starting eleven, while Ralph Straffon, fullback, and Pete Palmer, quarterback, also played prominent roles, the former racking up his first college TD against Dartmouth.

REGARDS TO DELTA IOTA

Appointed by President Ohlenroth to aid him in the running of Delta this year were John Purvis, social chairman, Bill Matthews, athletic chairman, Hal Hansen, pledgemaster, and Don Dodds, pledge trainer.

Purvis, incidentally, reports a fabulous time spent at U.C.L.A.'s Delta Iota Chapter this summer, sending his best to all the brothers and especially to Cook "Tubby" McCoy.

Epsilon—Albion

Epsilon Chapter started off one of its most prosperous school years this fall as 32 actives returned to the Shelter.

One of the best rushing seasons was recorded in the chapter's history as 28 men were pledged. This makes one of the largest pledge classes ever enrolled at the chapter. Bob Ball, rushing chairman, completed the work after laying plans during the summer and contacting many of the men in their home cities.

FLOAT WINS HOMECOMING AWARD

At the College's annual Homecoming on October 13, the Deltas walked off with the float award with their version of "The Hawaiian War Chant." George Peterson rounded up a ukulele band of five members and played music for the two Hawaiian dancers on the float. Some ten pledges dressed as warriors preceded the float, as did a serenading beachcomber.

SCHOLARSHIP RATES DEAN'S TROPHY

For the second consecutive time—and the fifth semester in three years—the Deltas were awarded the Dean's trophy for the highest scholarship average among fraternities on campus. Epsilon recorded a 1.81 average on a three-point basis.

QUARTERBACKS FOR BRITONS

On the athletic front, Bill Monahan is field general for rampaging Britons in the quarterback spot, and Pledges Don Carmien, the place-kicking expert, End Earl McDonald, and Tackle Dave Valentine are also seeing much action with the football team. Jim Holmes, the half-miler on the Briton's conference track team, is making a name for himself on the cross-country team, running in third position.

Ken Grodavent has taken over as head of the Campus Religious Council along with his duties as treasurer of the junior class. Lee Gleason is treasurer of the senior class.

MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP TROPHY ESTABLISHED

The Charles S. Loud Memorial Scholarship trophy, with the name of the highest scholar in the Fraternity each semester being inscribed upon it, was established this Homecoming in honor of the treasurer of the house corporation. Brother Loud was commended for his 50 years as a Delt at a banquet at the Homecoming ceremonies.

Zeta—Western Reserve

TWELVE NEW PLEDGES HAVE SCHOLARSHIPS

Zeta began its rushing season before the semester ended last spring. With Brother Chuck Sellnau as chairman, the rushing committee staged a spectacular program consisting of postal and personal contacts and four parties for prospective rushees in the Cleveland area. The results of this work were equally spectacular; from a group of approximately 60 rushees, 25 men were given the white square denoting the Delt pledge. Twelve of this pledge class are attending Western Reserve on scholarships: six scholastic and six athletic. Pledge Brother Ralph Engel is the Fraternity's political-machine candidate for president of the freshman class.

Brother Bob Fleck, our newly-appointed social chairman, has started the fall term with a rush of social events including buffet dinners, parties, exchange dinners, and a hay ride. At the present time he is formulating plans for activities in conjunction with the Zeta Alumni Chapter.

SEEKS FIRST IN SPORTS

Determined to retain the all-sports intramural trophy that we won last year, both our football teams have been carrying on in the manner that their predecessors did. The B team is beginning its third undefeated season with two wins thus far; and the A team, having suffered but one defeat in three years, has won three games. Neither team has lost this year.

Zeta has placed its men on University teams as well. Brothers Al Oldenburg and Bob Fuzy are playing varsity soccer. Al, cocaptain this year, has been mentioned by coaches of opposing teams as All-American material. Brothers Don Hura and Pat Leighton, though hampered by leg injuries, will see service in the backfield of Western Reserve's grid team this season.

SHELTER RENOVATED

The Shelter has seen many recent improvements, and if all long-range plans are carried out, will see many more. During the past summer and early fall the exterior was repainted, and the bold color scheme provides additional distinction to the campus. Recent refurbishment of the interior includes gallons of paint, new floral drapes for the living room and trophy room, new chairs for the dining room, several new desks, new carpeting, and several hundreds of dollars in plumbing installations.

The pledge project for the fall semester is the enlarging and resurfacing of the driveway and parking area. A curbed area with gravel surface will be the result.

Future plans for the remodeling of the house and annex, an ex-carriage house common to large homes in this vicinity of Cleveland, are extensive, and it will be years before Zeta will see their completion. With the gradual enlargement of the chapter, it has become necessary to provide additional dining facilities. This will be accomplished by moving the kitchen and butler's pantry rearward and by enclosing a now decrepit back porch. The vacated space will then be added to the dining room. If necessary, the trophy room can also be remodeled to expand dining area.

This means that space must be provided for the displaying of trophies, and the enclosure of a side porch added to a small card room at the rear of the house will satisfy that requirement.

Additional dormitory space will be made available by the division of the present chapter hall and ballroom into rooms for about six more members. The annex will then be rebuilt to include a chapter hall, recreation room, and living facilities for three or four members.

By this means the Shelter will then be equipped to handle Zeta's expansion to a position of dominance on campus and will stand testimony to the soundness of Delta Tau Delta's financial policies.

Iota—Michigan State

BROTHERS CARRIED AWAY

The brothers returned to the Shelter this fall to find it covered with a new coat of paint and then "turned to" to renovate the lounge with paint and carpeting on the floor. The whole chapter then caught the urge for a "Bold Look" and decorated all the rooms according to individual tastes. From the look of some of the rooms, they were carried away.

AVERAGES SEVEN YARDS PER TRY

Fall season brings football, and the talk of the campus is brilliant Everett "Sonny" Grandelius, right halfback from Muskegon Heights. He has received the accolades of all Michigan sports writers for his shifty and powerful running. Grandelius is leading in the statistical department so far this season. His total is 456 yards in 66 attempts for an average of a little more than seven yards per try. He is tops in scoring with 24 points on record.

For the winter basketball season tall, rangy Ray Steffin has started working for a berth at center on State's varsity squad.

Kappa—Hillsdale

KAPPA'S SAVARINO STARS ON GOLF LINKS AND KEYBOARD

We are proud to claim Joseph Savarino, '52, as a brother Delt. He recently began a tour, covering southern Michigan, northern Ohio, and northern Indiana, on which he is collaborating with Professor Wray Lundquist in a two-piano concert. Professor Lundquist is head of the Piano Department at Hillsdale College.

Joe's debut on the piano took place when he was but 12 years old. At the age of 14 he entered Juilliard School of Music. During his adolescence he studied under Alfred Minovitch in New York, Ralph Dobbs at the University of Willamette in Salem, Oregon, and Julius Chajes in Detroit.

At Hillsdale, Joe holds down first-chair clarinet with the Little Symphony Orchestra. Last year, as guest soloist of the College orchestra, he displayed his ability on the keyboard by playing the third movement of Beethoven's First Concerto in C Major.

The piano is not the only thing at which Joe excels. Last year, he won the city golf title for the second straight time and set a new competitive course record (for members) with a blazing 66. The official course record, including professionals, is held by Chick Harbert. Harbert has toured the course in 65. Recognizing his ability as a golfer, his teammates elected him to captain this year's golf squad. Joe is a junior and plans to devote his life to the piano.

Kappa has felt the Korean situation as have other chapters. Prior to October 16 of this year, one Delt was recalled to active duty, with many others receiving notices to report for physicals. Brother Dick Gettings is now associated with the first battalion of the 6th Marine Division. Before re-entering the service, Dick was vice-president of the College Federation.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

EARLY START NETS 24 PLEDGES

Arriving in Delaware September 16, the members of Mu Chapter began immediately to make plans for the coming year. With an eye to the future, Mu added 24 pledges to its roster. With the aid of Pledgemaster Eugene Shrigley and his fine pledge training program, this group should produce leaders in all fields of activity.

OPEN HOUSE GREETS 300 GUESTS

One of the outstanding features of the fall and winter social season was the annual Delt Ozark Party. Delt men turned out for the occasion with beards, straw hats, and plaid shirts, while the women dressed themselves in the typical "Daisy Mae" fashion. After an evening of square-dancing and the consumption of 14 gallons of cider, the men and their dates agreed that the party was a huge success.

The Shelter also opened its doors to the campus at one of the open houses for which it has gained quite a reputation. Over 300 guests were entertained and filled with coffee and sandwiches during the course of the afternoon.

CAMPUS POSTS LOADED WITH DELTS

Mu Delts are again taking prominent positions in all campus activities. Dick Rosser is secretary of the student body, while Maurice Cawdrey is chairman of the campus Special Days Committee. Jack Smith is chairman of the campus Publicity Committee, and Jim Hipkins heads the Elections Committee.

The men from the Shelter virtually control the YMCA. Brother Hipkins is president, Bill West vice-president, and John Barkley a member of the cabinet. In the field of publications, Dave Smith is the assistant editor of the year book and John Yoder an editor for the campus literary magazine. The University intramural program is under the capable management of Jim McDermott, while Bill Davis serves as sophomore varsity basketball manager.

SHOOTING FOR THIRD SCHOLARSHIP WIN

For the past two and a half years Mu Chapter has been first in scholarship among the national fraternities on the Wesleyan campus, and the men are working hard again this year to maintain the Fraternity average, which has been consistently higher than the student body point average.

Nu—Lafayette

PAPER AND PAINT PAY OFF

Nu Chapter opened the fall term with many improvements that were worked on during the summer. All the rooms in the house were papered or painted with the able direction and help of Jim Nolan, the houseman. The house, which looks splendid, is greatly appreciated by all the brothers.

HAYRIDE LAUNCHES SOCIAL SEASON

The house started its fall social season on the week end of October 7 with a hayride and dance after the football game with Scranton. The week end was enjoyed by all.

The chapter has planned parties for October 28, November 4, and November 18. All alumni are invited to these affairs.

The rushing program is steaming ahead under the leadership of George Hassler, '52. If the remainder of rushing continues to be as good as it has been to date, this will be the best year ever.

Omicron—Iowa

OMICRON LOSES GOOD FRIEND

Omicron was stunned and saddened this fall by the sudden death of her long friend and acting adviser, Wilbur D. Cannon. Wib (as he was known to everyone) died suddenly September 13 of a heart attack. He had been chapter adviser since the spring of 1949. His many aids, both material and spiritual, will be remembered forever by this chapter.

PLEDGE SIXTEEN

Activities began this year with a highly successful rushing program. Everybody pitched in and worked hard, and the end of the week saw 16 new pledges entering the Shelter. Special plaudits were earned by Rush Chairman Bob Loots and The Delta Rhythm Boys who gave rushees a good, well-planned program of entertainment.

After-game informals and picnics have been foremost on the social calendar. With the advent of cooler weather in the near future, party plans have returned indoors. First on the list will be a costume party, closely followed by the pre-Christmas Formal.

Tau—Penn State

SWIMMING TEAM FAVORED

In true form, Tau Chapter started off the fall intramural season with double victories in tennis singles and touch football. The swimming team, defending fraternity champs, have been practicing several nights a week for the coming intramural competition. They are picked by the Daily Collegian (college newspaper) as the team to beat.

DELTS ENTERTAIN

Shortly after school opened, our social committee's program moved into full gear with the entertaining of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. The Kappas came out on a Sunday afternoon and we were introduced to them by some of the brothers who already knew the girls. After a short skit and dancing, a buffet supper was served. The whole affair proved very entertaining and we are sure that many of the Kappas will be dating out here in the near future.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR

Bill Mathers has unquestionably proved himself the outstanding Delt senior at Penn State. Bill's latest achievement is his excellent performance on State's football team. Bill started his sophomore year as a third-string varsity guard. During his junior year, he was advanced to second team. Under Penn State's new platoon system, Bill started this season as second-string offense. Through hard practicing and brilliant playing, he was moved up to a starting position after the second game of the year.

Bill's activities, however, are not all spent with a pigskin. Several days a week you will see him wearing the Navy blue, as he is a member of the N.R.O.T.C. unit at State. The Quarterdeck Honorary Society holds him as one of its group and recently Bill received a bid from The National Society of Scabbard and Blade. As an engineering student, Bill is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and has obtained an all-college "B" average. His attentions are also tied up with Parmi Nous—senior men's activity honorary.

Bill has proved himself a functioning part of the house, having served as vice-president, I. F. C. representative, and having taken part in many intramural events. Few of us at Tau Chapter shall forget the night Bill won his intramural wrestling match against a man 30 pounds heavier than he.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

PLEDGES MAKE FIREPLACE

The brothers of Upsilon returned to the Shelter a week before fall registration to get the house into shape for another big year. Under the able guidance of House Manager Bill Sibbers, many of the rooms were repapered and painted, and the downstairs floors were sanded and varnished. In addition, a new outdoor fireplace was constructed by last year's pledge class.

ANOTHER GRAND MARSHAL

In the elections held last spring, Gibson "Bits" Smith became the second Delt in the past three years to be elected Grand Marshal, president of the student body. One of the most active men on campus, "Bits" is a member of Phalanx, the senior honorary society, and also is battalion commander of Rensselaer's Army ROTC unit. In addition, Dick Powell won the position of vice-president of the senior class; the secretary of the student council went to Fred Williamson, and Dick Holmes and Dick Laskey were chosen for junior class representatives.

DELTS TURN OUT FOR FALL SPORTS

Wrapping up the spring sports scene, Dick Powell, Upsilon's great All-American lacrosse man, led the all-North squad to a convincing 12 to 8 victory over the Southern Forces. This semester the Shelter is again well represented in athletics. Of this year's juniors, eight have won varsity letters in various sports.

Appearing on this year's grid team were Dick Holmes, who turned in many creditable performances at starting center, and "Cha" Hoffman, a hard-working reserve at end position. The soccer team found two Delts at starting berths, "Red" Ferrell in the goal and Bill Sibbers at halfback. With the start of the swimming season, the team will be bolstered by the return of three Delt lettermen, "Bud" Decker, Pat Curtiss, and Rolf Westad, who should gain varsity positions.

The big windup of this semester's social season is the annual Delt Formal to be held on the week end preceding Christmas vacation. In keeping with the tradition, the affair will be held at the Shelter, with a large turnout of actives and alumni expected. Many parties were held throughout the fall, highlighted by the Interfraternity Ball and Homecoming week end. It was good to see so many of the old guard present at these parties.

Phi—W. & L.

Phi Chapter got off to a fine start this year by adding eleven new pledges to its ranks. They have already shown by their early interest in campus activities that they will be worthy replacements for last year's seniors.

SEEKING INTRAMURAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Hoping to add another intramural title this year to our already impressive record of eight titles in 12 years, Phi has got off to a good start. Led by Intramural Chairman Morgan Lear, we have already won our first football game, a 13-12 battle with the Campus Club, and our first tennis match, a 5-0 rout over Kappa Sigma. The golf team suffered a setback in its first match but is expected to bounce back strongly in the remainder of its matches.

DELTS SHINE IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

To promote interest in activities among the boys in the house, Activities Chairman Tal Bond, assisted by Watty Wheelwright, Frank Barron, and Charlie Castner, has put together an activities chart. On this chart are marked every boy's name and the activities in which he has participated. Marked with various colored thumb tacks, these range from varsity sports to scholarship, including intramural sports, publications, campus and house officers, and organizations. Anyone visiting the house will easily be able to see how active the Delts are in campus activities.

BIG DOINGS ON SOCIAL DOCKET

The chapter is making plans for big doings on homecoming and opening dance week ends, not to mention small parties several week ends. On December 2, our first formal house party of the year will be held.

Chi—Kenyon

Chi Chapter had an outstanding record for the scholastic year which ended last June, and has already begun this school year to achieve even more distinctions. Last year, Chi Delts led the campus in athletics, having some men out for every varsity sport, and having men excel in a few. Bill Schneebach, '50, won the Ohio Conference singles championship in tennis for the second straight, and Dave Bell captained both the basketball and baseball teams.

TIE FOR SONGFEST HONORS

Our performance wasn't limited to sports, however, as our chapter tied for first place in the intramural singing contest. We were conceded little chance to win this honor, but under the patient, yet spirited leadership of Songleader Ray Smith, we improved greatly to achieve this honor. Our scholarship standing on the Hill increased, too, as the chapter moved from sixth to fourth place among the College's nine fraternities, with an average well above the All Men's Average of the school.

NEOPHYTES READY FOR ACTION

Our pledges for last year probably had the honor of being the last group of Delt pledges in the country to be initiated. Our impressive ceremony to induct the neophytes was held on June 11, at our Fraternity lodge in the woods surrounding Kenyon. All our pledges but one returned to Chi Chapter this fall and are now entering into activities as full-fledged Delts.

Our fall rushing period will end soon, and we are hoping to select a pledge class second to none. Our intramural football team, unbeaten in two seasons, is setting out to retain its title.

Omega—Pennsylvania

The football season is once again the occasion for the well-attended coffee hours, buffet suppers, and parties, enjoyed by alumni and actives alike. Navy week end will mark the occasion for the annual Junior Prom, to be followed the next night by a party at the Shelter, one of the gala events of the year. Proceedings following the Army game will include an alumni-parent coffee hour. The Christmas season will provide opportunity for Omegas to entertain a group of local underprivileged children, and the annual Christmas formal will be held at the Shelter the same week.

The Shelter itself has been largely re-decorated after last year's tragic fire, a new stove for the kitchen being among the major improvements. Everything is in tip-top shape for rushing, which is being directed this year by the capable Jim Crothers.

ATHLETES PREPARE FOR SEASON

The fall again finds Omega's talented crewmen in training for the grueling spring season. Steve Littauer and Irv Miller will be pulling for the varsity for their second year, with Art Houlihan, Dick Johnson, Jack Maple, Spider Trout, and Jack McDonnell all rowing for the various other crew squads. Dick Wood was elected to the position of associate crew manager last spring to round out Omega's significant contributions to this sport.

"Big Dave" Blaetz is again on the boards for Penn's basketball five and Cindermen Bill Rommel and George Reider, both quarter-milers, and Jim Williams, ace pole-vaulter, are readying themselves for the track season. Soph Charlie Edwards is out for varsity wrestling after a successful year with the freshman team, and Gene Kersting is on the links with other golf candidates.

MASK AND WIG TALENT

The annual Mask and Wig production will have in its company six Delts. These include veteran dancers Charlie Franzen and Scotty Fuess, along with two new Delt additions to the dancing chorus, Larry Groo and Ike Van Voorhis. Tenor Bud Fretz will be joined in the singing role by George Reider, fresh from vocal triumphs in last spring's freshman Mask and Wig show.

POPULAR MEN ABSENT

The chapter has felt the temporary losses of two active Omegans. Jack Smilgin, star Mask and Wig dancer and house social chairman, is recuperating after a serious summer automobile accident and expects to come back to school next fall. Charlie Mellen, varsity crewman and a member of Sphinx, senior honorary society, was stricken by polio in September, but is now on the road to recovery and hopes to return in the spring. Needless to say, the brothers are anxiously awaiting the return of these popular men.

SCHOLARSHIP IS RISING

Incidentally, Omega's scholastic average is now at its highest point in many years, and Scholastic Chairman Jim Jones reports that it is steadily rising.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

RANK NINTH SCHOLASTICALLY

As usual, the Delts of Indiana University are among the "Top Ten" in scholarship for the school year of 1949-1950. Ranking ninth among all fraternities for both the first and second semesters, our B-scholastic average was above the All Men's Average.

THOMAS AND ROBBINS IN SPOTLIGHT

In the spotlight we have Danny Thomas and Tyrie Robbins. Danny, a junior, has been making a name for himself as a guard on the I.U. football team. Besides being used regularly on both the offensive and defensive squads, Thomas is also valuable to Coach Clyde Smith as a kicker of those precious points after touchdowns.

Robbins, a senior, is readying himself for his third year as member of Indiana's varsity basketball team. In a later issue we expect to be able to tell you much more about Tyrie's exploits on the basketball floor.

INTRAMURAL OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Beta Alpha Chapter is looking forward to an outstanding year in intramural athletics. Except for a possible shortage of swimmers in the house, Intramurals Chairman Don Henkel expects to have a "penant-winning" team entered in each sport. In intramural football thus far we have played and won four practice games with neighboring fraternities. From all indications, this should be Delta Tau Delta's year in intramural athletics.

CHAPTER PLEDGES TWENTY-FOUR

Dale (Bub) Wright, hard working rush chairman, through much labor on his own part and on the part of many of the actives, has gathered for Beta Alpha "the best pledge class ever." We have 23 pledges from all sections of Indiana, and one pledge from Ohio.

Beta Beta—DePauw

Beta Beta is again looking forward to a highly successful intramural program this year, starting off with a promising speed-ball team. With the aid of 22 eager new pledges, we should come close in recapturing the intramural trophy.

DELTS ANSWER GRID CALL

In the realm of athletics, Beta Beta again has three men on the varsity football team. Van Fucilla, Ward Shawver, and Jack Tuhey are being heavily depended upon to put DePauw back in the winning column.

HIGH IN SCHOLARSHIP

Again last year, Beta Beta was among the leaders of organized fraternities on campus in scholarship. The chapter is pointing to uphold its lead in this important field.

SHELTER REDECORATED

Over the summer, innumerable repairs were made upon the Shelter. The exterior of the house was completely tuck-pointed. Downstairs the "bum room" was redecorated, thanks to the Beta Beta mothers. On the second floor, the study rooms were replastered as needed. The repairs were a definite necessity to the house and are hoped to be an incentive to future Beta Beta men.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

INTRAMURAL DRIVE UNDER WAY WITH FOUR WINS, NO LOSSES

This fall Beta Gamma is off to a good start in the intramural sports activities with four wins and no losses. Last year the Delts went as far as the championship play-off before being nosed out by two points. With many of the intramural contestants from last year's teams, Beta Gamma will more than hold her own in the various sports.

STARTING GUARD FOR BADGERS

Outstanding in varsity football is Sophomore Pledge George O'Brien, who has earned a starting berth at right guard on the Badger offensive eleven.

DINNER WINNER PLUGS SCHOLARSHIP

Scholarship Chairman Rod Adams has pushed several projects this fall which should help the scholastic standing of Beta Gamma. Among these are the study table for pledges with the actives acting as tutors and moderators and a competition with the entire chapter divided on the basis of last semester's grade point, with the winning team being treated to a dinner by the losers.

HOSTS TO FACULTY RECEPTION

In connection with the annual campus Greek Week, the Beta Gamma men were selected as one of three fraternities out of 34 others to be hosts at a faculty reception. Carrying on with this effort to promote better relations between the faculty and Greeks, Social Chairman Chuck DeWitt has plans for members of the staff to be our guests at dinner during the semester.

Beta Delta—Georgia

BETA DELTA CROWNS A QUEEN

After a week of furious work and eliminations from among the many entrants, Beta Delta selected Miss Katherine Tate, Kappa Delta Sorority, "Queen" for 1950.

This year the chapter decided to make the "Queen Contest" campus-wide. To do this, the chapter asked all of the 22 sororities on the campus to send them the two outstanding beauties of their chapters to be run in eliminations.

Each of the sororities obliged. One of them even sent us a set of twins who were entered as one contestant. This brought the total to 29 girls from whom a "Queen" was to be selected.

For two nights the Shelter was turned into a beauty stand while impartial judges eliminated girls on such grounds as grace, charm, and poise. In the end, there were six of the girls left from whom the chapter was to vote for a "Queen."

The name of the "Queen" was held in secret by the chapter until the I. F. C.'s annual pledge dance.

At an intermission party at the Shelter, the brothers crowned a "Queen," awarding her a gold cup and presenting her sorority a bronze floating plaque with the girl's name on it. Flowers were awarded all the six finalists and a small gold cup was given to the runner-up, Miss Audrey Cammack.

Thanks to the local radio station and the gossips among the sororities, much publicity for the "Queen" was obtained. Because of the interest aroused, the contest will become an annual event of the chapter.

Beta Zeta—Butler

FIRST FALL EVENT IS OPEN HOUSE

The first social event of the year was the Annual Open House at the Shelter on October 1, during which our 27 new pledges were introduced to the student body. A total of 360 guests were entertained.

October 21 was the date of the father-son banquet at the Shelter. The fathers were entertained at a luncheon given by the chapter and then proceeded to the Butler Bowl where the Bulldogs played host to Miami.

DELTS WELCOME NEW HOUSEMOTHER

Beta Zeta welcomed a new housemother, Mrs. Addison J. Parry. She has contributed mightily to the success of our social functions held at the Shelter.

GILGRIST IS GOLF MEDALIST

Beta Zeta men are gaining recognition on the campus, with Hal Cline being elected president of Religious Council, Harold Gunderson president of Tau Kappa Alpha, Dave Berry manager of the debate team, and Phil Gilgrist receiving the honor of golf medalist in the all-University tournament. Phil shot a 73.

As of November 18, four new men are wearing the Square Badge of Delta Tau Delta. The initiates—Clyde Green, Dick Elliott, Stan Hunt, and Jim Heinbaugh—were honored by a banquet following the formal rites.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

GERMAN EXCHANGE STUDENT PLEDGES

Beta Eta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at the University of Minnesota is sponsoring a German exchange student. Emanuel von Koenig came to us from Munich, Bavaria, shortly before the beginning of the fall quarter. Several months ago the chapter voted to support a German student for the school year of 1950. We are supplying Manny's food and lodging and the United States government is paying his tuition and traveling expenses.

During World War II our exchange student served two and one-half years in the German navy and 18 months in a Russian concentration camp. After his escape and the liberation by the Western countries, he returned to Munich to finish his last year of high school. In 1949 Manny started his college education at the University of Munich, studying business administration. Because of his excellent scholastic average and high social standing in his community, he was chosen as one of nearly 400 German students to study in the United States.

Last week Emanuel von Koenig became a pledge of Beta Eta Chapter. His keen interest and participation in chapter events have been so complete that we all felt he would be a great asset to Delta Tau Delta. We sincerely hope that Manny will benefit greatly from his association with us at Beta Eta.

We feel that in this small way we are expressing our desire for the rehabilitation of the German people, and we are certain that one German citizen will remember America in terms of generosity and democracy.

REDECORATION SPURS RUSH

With the redecoration of the second and third floors, as well as the exterior, of the Shelter and the addition of a new radio-television set, Beta Eta entered into the fall rushing program with great zeal. Our efforts were rewarded with a large and promising pledge class.

Our fall social season was launched with an open house following the first home football game. Our new social chairman is planning a full schedule of parties and events for brothers and their friends in the coming weeks.

KARNEA INSPIRES SEVEN

Much has happened since the members of Beta Theta left "the Mountain" last June. With the many seniors in the chapter being graduated, we were at once faced with the problem of filling the large gaps left by our new alumni. For that reason, not a stone was left unturned in our pursuit of a bang-up summer rush job. Several parties were held around the country for the rushees who would be entering Sewanee in the fall, and although it meant a great deal of work for the returning actives, a pleasant break was afforded seven of us who were able to make it out to the Karnea. There we were able to realize fully and appreciate the national character of Delta Tau Delta, and we returned to Sewanee inspired by what we had seen and experienced.

SEASON OPENS WITH A BANG

Most of the men arrived early to get things ready for rush week. We found an added touch to the Shelter in the form of a brand new electric stove, which, with the new refrigerator, cabinets, and linoleum floor, made the other fraternities on the mountain green with envy. Rush week opened with a bang, and for three days the Delts were seen entertaining the one-hundred and eighty new men at open house. This was all ended Saturday night with a steak dinner cooked on our outdoor grill, built just for the occasion, and with many attractive young women from nearby Ward-Belmont entertaining the rushees. All the efforts on the part of the actives were not in vain, for we now have a fine group of enthusiastic pledges, who already are making our Fraternity so strongly felt on the campus. This group is hard at work, planning the Pledge Tea which traditionally opens the Sewanee social season.

All our attentions are now focused on the gridiron with the Delt intramural football team rounding into shape. The team will be sparked by several returning veterans, and the prospects for a successful season, both in sports and in all-around activities, have never looked brighter.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

CHAPTER PRESIDENT LEAVES FOR NAVY

Beta Kappa has suffered a temporary setback by losing its president, Jack N. Bell, of Kansas City, Missouri. Jack is now in the Naval Air Force cadets and has promise of becoming a brilliant, successful Naval officer. We wish Jack every success in the Navy and thank him heartily for his wonderful leadership and organization which did keep Beta Kappa in unity and persistent aim.

Although we regret his loss, we feel certain our new official, Bud Arnold from Denver, will carry on the fine traditions of Delta Tau Delta.

SAGE-STRUCK SEXTET SINGS FOR RUSH

Rush week at Colorado was successful in that we acquired a superb pledge class and also utilized a new rush system. Pledges from Hawaii to California to Texas to Illinois now wear the square pledge badge of Delta Tau Delta.

Entertainment was provided by a strained combo of mixed instruments, plus a pseudosexet of sage-struck cowboys, who uttered renditions of "Remember Me" and other Clint, Texas, specialties. The combo has developed into a well-balanced Dixieland jazz band.

PLEDGES BREAKFAST WITH SORORITIES

Beta Kappa has inaugurated a Sunday morning pledge breakfast for all of the sorority pledge classes on the Colorado campus. Only Delt pledges are allowed to socialize with the young ladies, although occasionally an active elbow in when there aren't enough men to go around. The pledges have thoroughly enjoyed their 9-to-12 breakfast hour, and many new acquaintances have been established over those stand-by rations of coffee and doughnuts. We hope to institute this custom as a part of our annual pledge program.

NO KICKS ON VENZKE'S KICKING

Lee Venzke, Delt quarterback from Denver, has a perfect conversion record for the current Colorado University football season. Although a reserve player, Venzke has made every attempt successful for the extra points which add up to ten at present. We take pride in that we have at long last a man with that educated toe.

CHAPTER CHARTS SPECIFIC GOALS

After critically analyzing the chapter's past performance, the members of the Beta Kappa cabinet have established a set of specific goals—a statement of aims—which gives the membership something definite to work for, a constant challenge. The new goals are accepted in addition to those already assumed.

The new proposals include such items as an increase in activities per man, a strengthening of our alumni relations, an improvement in diversified intramural sports, an increased chapter spirit in singing and learning songs, and our highest objective—an earnest effort to raise our scholastic average above the All Men's Average. We have lesser subsidiary aims, but these are too numerous to mention. For each topic we have set down a definite procedure in accomplishing these goals so that they won't fall flat but will be conscientiously backed by every member of the chapter.

Last year, Beta Kappa captured the intramural award with the highest number of points among the participating fraternities. Although we're extremely proud of this recognition, we constantly realize that in any organization "there's always room for improvement."

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

Upon returning for the fall semester, Lehigh Delts found that the Shelter had undergone a general "face lifting." Durable Illinois Tech's first intramural award of the year went to Gamma Beta Chapter. Members of the victorious golf team are: DEMKE, HUFFMAN, COLLINS, and HOVEY.

Gamma Theta's pledges perch atop the wood pile which paved the way for this fall's annual Chicken Fry at Baker.

leather furniture and modern, indirect lighting lamps were installed in the living room. The card room was also made more comfortable by the addition of leather couches and easy chairs. These improvements were the first step taken to refurbish the entire house—a goal set last year.

SEVEN NEW MEMBERS

Seven brothers were initiated on October 13, and, following the ceremonies, a gala celebration took place in honor of the occasion. The initiates were: Bill Dengler, Dick Margerison, Pete Sandford, Bill Jemison, Ed MacConnell, Jack Riddell, and Charlie Wagenseil.

DADS INVITED

The day following initiation provided another major social event of the fall semester. All Dads were invited to attend the Gettysburg-Lehigh football game and dinner at the Shelter. During the evening, fathers and Delts joined together in a party held at the house.

ADD SPIRIT ON GRIDIRON

Delts Art Ferris and Jim Handcock have done much to spark the varsity football team to victory—Art as defensive end and Jim as fullback. From the sidelines, Cheerleader Bob Kradoska and sax-playing Ed MacConnell have helped add spirit to the thus far undefeated eleven.

"FIREPLUG" SPRINTS TO VICTORY

Beta Lambda opened its touch football season by beating Alpha Sigma Phi 13 to 0. The game was sparked by a brilliant touch-down runback of the kickoff in the second half by Vice-President Larry Edson. The "Fireplug," as he is known in the house, galloped down the right side of the field behind fine blocking, then, crossing to the left stripe, sprinted the rest of the way for the score.

ALUMNI WELCOME

The Lehigh Delts were very happy to receive visits from so many alumni this fall. Nothing does more to aid the social gatherings than these visits, so all concerned hope they continue.

REPRESENTATIVES ENJOY KARNEA

As a closing note, Beta Lambda would like to say how much its representatives enjoyed the Karnea this summer. Representatives Earl Harnes, Will Wilbern, "Chuck" Hiatt, Earl Margerison, President Ed Gillinder, and Chapter Adviser Paul Franz were all very much impressed by the ceremonies.

Beta Mu—Tufts

MEMBERS PUT HOUSE IN SHAPE

September 11 marked the opening of the new school year for Beta Mu as the brothers returned early to get the house in shape for the fall term activities. Besides general cleaning and painting done around the house and grounds, many of the individual rooms were completely renovated. The backyard has been reseeded and it is hoped that it can be used for the Homecoming activities later this fall.

RUSH WEEK PLANNED

Many preparations have been made for the rush week near at hand. Keen competition is expected from all the rival fraternities on the Hill. Beta Mu plans to select a somewhat larger than usual pledge class this year as the impending draft threatens to thin our ranks. Due to the fine work of Brother "Dutch" Moulton, a large number of Jackson College girls have been selected to aid us in entertaining the rushees.

DELTS HOLD OWN IN INTRAMURALS

The Delt touch football team has been holding its own in the intramural league. Three ties and one defeat have marked our progress so far, and we expect to break into the win column with the next game. Captain "Tex" Simmons' introduction of the T-formation in touch football has been a surprising innovation in this league.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

FOUR FROSH CHASE PIGSKIN

It's a Beta Pi year at Northwestern. And what a start! Rush week produced for Beta Pi 16 of the best pledges on the Northwestern campus. Four have already answered the call to freshman football. Others are planning to report on the basketball, tennis, and track teams.

LOUD PAJAMAS PAY OFF

The Delts here got the social calendar off to a good start when they sponsored the annual Delt Pajama Race, one of the big fall events for the whole campus. Four pajama-clad freshmen from each house on campus competed in relay races down one of the main streets in Evanston which had been roped off for the purpose. After the race, festivities continued at the Shelter where awards were presented to the winning team and the pajama queen, who was picked from the freshman contestants of the different sororities.

The most coveted prize of all was a kiss from the pajama queen to the man wearing the loudest pajamas. Cider and doughnuts were served to the crowd watching the ceremonies.

TEA DANCES SCHEDULED

Mel Connor and Jim Clansky, social co-chairmen, have announced a series of Sunday afternoon tea dances with different sororities on the campus. The "Delta Rhythm Boys," the Beta Pi "combo," provides music at these parties. They are also heard weekly over the Northwestern University FM station. Mel and Jim are also making plans for the annual fall formal which will be held December 2 in the Ambassador East Hotel in Chicago.

Slated to head the Homecoming house decoration committee is "Moe" Stevens.

Delts man wheel chairs to be first to play Illini paraplegic student group in softball and basketball.

Last year the Delt house entry won the second place trophy. This year Moe hopes to place the house on top in the competition. Through the efforts of the Mothers' Club, parents of the Delts will be invited to an open house the evening of homecoming.

THREE WILDCATS ARE DELTS

In the realm of athletics, Beta Pi has three men on varsity football. Chuck Peter, Ben Daniel, and Sophomore Guard Tom McCormick have been vital factors in Northwestern's victories to date. Planning to report for basketball again this year is Veteran Jake Fendley. Jake's speed and aggressiveness led the team to many victories last year.

Delt intramural football is under the leadership of Sam Dibona. Beta Pi won the championship trophy last year, and Sam is working for a repeat performance this fall.

Beta Rho—Stanford

STANFORD WATER POLO HAS SIX DELTS

No fewer than six Delts are performing for the Stanford water polo team this fall, and four of them are first-stringers. Co-captain Hub Stokely, Bob Frojen, Bob Wykoff, and Russ Latelle are regulars, and Lloyd Dinkelspiel and Jerry Smith are top reserves.

THAMER IS STANFORD CENTER

Doug Thamer, towering 210-pound center, is a solid Delt contribution to the Stanford football varsity, while Pledges Jack Bonetti and Tsar Calfee are promising transfers. Steve Mitchell, Bill Barnes, and Norm deBack are playing junior varsity ball and looking to the future.

BUTTNER DIRECTS STUDENT ACTIVITY

This year, as always, Delts are well represented in school offices. Ted Buttner directs student activities as student body president; his popularity is ever increasing. Chuck Denny is sophomore class president and a sure bet for future student body offices. Jerry Smith is on the student governing board, and Steve Barnett is a member of Cardinals, the top student activities group.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

NEW HOUSEMOTHER IS VALUABLE ASSET

Beta Tau Delts returned to the Shelter this fall to be greeted by the first housemother the chapter has had for nearly a decade. Mrs. Mildred Hall from Omaha was selected by a group of Beta Tau alums, after considering many applications, with the idea in mind that the chapter needed a housemother instead of a "housegrandmother." Mother Hall's charm, interest in the brothers, and conscientious house management are really assets to Beta Tau.

"SQUAB" CLASS SELECTED

This year Beta Tau pledged the biggest and best "Squab" class it has had in several years. A total of twenty-seven men were pledged during rush week. Among the new class are two Regents Scholarship winners, two NROTC scholarship holders, one National Elks Scholarship winner, 13 freshman football players, the president of the freshman law class, the sports editor of The Daily Nebraskan, five National Honor Society members, and one first-string end of the Cornhusker squad. We were fortunate to have five of these men as legacies. Beta Tau is indebted to the fine co-operation and assistance received in its rushing program from its alumni and Delts everywhere.

THREE WAGE GRID WARS

Beta Tau is represented on the varsity football squad by Senior Joe McGill, who is first-string offensive center; Junior George Paynich, defensive end; and Sophomore Keith Fiene, tackle.

The intramural picture looks better than ever this year for Beta Tau. In the three games played so far, we have won by handy scores—36-0 over the Beta Sigs, 26-0 over the AGR's, and 20-7 over the Betas. Bowling, basketball, tennis, and free throwing are just getting under way. With plenty of good new talent in the way of basketball, Beta Tau should have no trouble matching the twelve-wins-no-defeat season last year.

SEVEN RULES FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Under the direction of the former scholarship chairman, Norm Anderson, and the new chairman, Don Crook, Beta Tau is getting off to a good start on raising its scholastic average. Every man has a list of seven rules posted over his study desk that keep him constantly mindful of his scholastic obligations.

RECEIVE DELT BADGE

Sunday, October 28, five men were initiated into Beta Tau. Those receiving their Delt badges were Bob Ficke of David City, Harry Haverly of Omaha, Joe McGill of Omaha, Gene Olson of Springview, and Ray Stover of West Point.

Tom Beal, premed, formerly from Tulane, and Dick Harvey, premed, from Iowa State, have transferred to Nebraska and have affiliated with Beta Tau.

THE TRAVELERS

The Nebraska Delts are becoming well known as travelers. Three carloads from the Shelter went up to Minnesota to see the Cornhuskers beat the Golden Gophers of Minnesota, 32-26. Four carloads went to Colorado to visit with the Beta Kappa Chapter during the Colorado-Nebraska game. Practically the whole of Beta Tau went to annual migration to the Kansas-Nebraska game at Lawrence.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

PLEDGE CLASS HAS RECORD SCHOLARSHIP

After the smoke of battle had cleared and rush week was officially over, we found ourselves way up on top in rushing at Illinois by pledging 17 outstanding men. This group has the highest high school and college grade average of any pledge class that has entered the Shelter.

JOHN T. LEACH,
President, Beta

Two of the most proficient high school athletes in Illinois went Delt in this pledge class. They are Bob Lenzini, all-state guard from Waukegan, and John Greenleaf, last year's sparkling tennis player in the winning state doubles combination.

The credit for a job well done certainly falls to our rushing chairman, John McMackin, and to his able assistant, John Davis.

SCHOLARSHIP GETS GREEN LIGHT

Scholarship gets the "green light" this year at the Shelter as it has never received it before. John "Rebel" Reilly was chosen scholarship chairman last year before school ended, and he spent a great deal of his summer vacation perfecting a new scholastic pledge training program, which is expected to show real results.

Beta Upsilon uses the "post card" method of finding out the pledges' grades every two weeks. Any active member not achieving a three-point average for any given semester is suspended from the house until such time as he does make the required minimum mark. For the pledge who is having a difficult time, we have a tutoring system and extra study time.

DELTS MAN WHEEL CHAIRS TO ENGAGE PARAPLEGICS IN SOFTBALL, BASKETBALL

Although the emphasis this year is on scholarship, Beta Upsilon has not relaxed her grip on the top position in extracurricular activities. We have the coveted honor of being the first fraternity on campus to play the Illini paraplegic student group in both basketball and softball. To do this, the boys must get into wheel chairs and become part-time paraplegics. Here is where the fun begins. Once in the chairs, you fall prey to the antics of experienced wheel-chair men.

Naturally you don't have a chance, but the experience of competing with men of their spirit is something not to be forgotten.

FOOTBALLERS WEAR DARK GLASSES

With the advent of several pairs of dark glasses and fancy sports shirts, we find that three of the Delts have "gone Hollywood" since the U.C.L.A. football game in California. Fullback Bill Tate and Quarterback Pete Truran and their pint-sized overseer, "Bronko" Gothard, the team's senior football manager, made the trip and returned in great style.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

DELT ALL-GREEK BALL REPAYS FRIENDS OF BETA PHI

The Beta Phi Delts repaid all the other fraternities and sororities on the Ohio State University campus Saturday, October 28, with the Delt All-Greek Ball, given in honor of the fraternities and sororities for the help and friendliness they accorded us last year during our social probation.

The dance, arranged by our fine social chairman, Ray Martin, was one of the biggest affairs ever given by a single fraternity on the Ohio State campus. The party was held at the Neil House, Columbus' most fashionable hotel, and was attended by more than 2,000 friends of Beta Phi. Since it was held during the Dads' Week at Ohio State, the dance was attended by the Dad of Dads of Ohio State.

We of Beta Phi wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who was so helpful to us during the trying period of last year. The fraternal friendship shown us then was something none of us will ever forget.

TEAMS ARE UNSCORED UPON

We are off to another successful year in athletics with both the active and pledge football teams undefeated and unscored upon at this writing.

Beta Omega—California

SEEK CHAMPIONSHIP

Once again Beta Omega is pointing toward the University's intramural crown.

The chapter's progress up the intramural ladder has been tremendous. In 1948 we were 22 out of a field of 51 fraternities. Last year we had advanced to seventh place. This year we are going all out for the top position.

Football is the major intramural sport during the fall semester. Beta Omega, with Coach Rock Nelson, has seven returning men. As of this writing, the chapter has won all of its games. With a little luck, we can go all the way to the championship.

DELTS SHINE IN CAMPUS SPORTS

Beta Omega has men representing the chapter in almost every sport that the University offers. There are no less than six Delts out for football at Cal. John Dawson, Tom Warren, Joe O'Brien, Leighton Hahn, Don Mitchell, and Jack Herring all are helping California football teams add more victories to its already long string of wins.

Don Stow is our representative on the basketball team. Kent Stainfield is Cal's leading broadjumper and has another year of varsity competition. Beta Omega has two men on the varsity baseball team. Dave Anderson has already been snatched up by a pro baseball club, and Don Dodson, an all-league second baseman, still has a year of eligibility.

Beta Omega is well represented in the minor sports also. Bob Elder is an outstanding rugby player who is going after his second letter. Frank Packard is one of the nation's leading riflemen. Frank is after his fourth letter. Two-year letterman, Stu McDonald, represents the house in volleyball. All of these athletes hope to bring new laurels to both California and Beta Omega.

Under the leadership of Don Stow, the fall rushing program saw one hundred and twenty-five rushees visit the chapter house. Ten of the top rushees are now new Beta Omega pledges.

The 109th initiation was held on November 3. The seven neophytes who received the mysteries are John Bixby, Dan

SOCIAL SEASON SET

Football season always brings with it an extensive social program. Beta Omega will have members of Delta Iota and Beta Rho as guests at the house when U.C.L.A. and Stanford play at Cal. On his list of social functions, Chairman George Fish has made the arrangements for the traditional post-Stanford-Cal-game dinner and dancing party on November 25. Another party that is always a great success is one of our exchanges with a Cal sorority. Making use of our new "project," which is a large concrete patio under the oak trees with a modernistic brick fireplace and barbecue pit, we have a barbecued dinner. This is followed by entertainment and dancing in the chapter house.

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

The year 1950 will be a golden year for the Illinois Tech Delts. The celebration of our fiftieth year on campus, together with the enthusiasm needed to make this year the "greatest ever," have already launched Gamma Beta into a whirl of success.

RUSH WEEK STARTS BUSY YEAR

Upon counting 21 bright, new personalities sporting Delt pledge pins and purple and gold beanies around campus, we have every reason to be proud of a successful rushing program netting all real Delt material. Both the high light and climax of rush week was the appropriately named "Gold Rush" party, planned around the tin piano and gambling house color of the Old West. Swinging doors, gambling concessions raking in "thirty grand," and the "Silver Dollar Cafe," spotlighted Fraternity Row Open House.

FALL SOCIAL SEASON PLANNED

Still flushed with the success of the rush party, the social committee has launched plans for a Halloween party to be held on the bewitching night of October 28. The pledges, fired with the idea that one good party demands a better, are busily planning their annual Pledge Formal to be held at the Shelter on November 18.

WIN IN INTERFRATERNITY COMPETITION

In the first interfraternity competition of the year, the Delts won their first in what is expected to be a succession of championships. The all-pledge team of Tom Collins, Don Demke, Gail Hovey, and Nat Huffman sloshed their way through several inches of rain and swampy turf to win by a comfortable nine strokes.

CHAPTER DIGS IN FOR SCHOLARSHIP

First and foremost in the minds of every member of Gamma Beta this year will be the Delt scholarship goal set at the Karnea. New scholarship rules and more rigid enforcement of study conditions, together with each individual's determination, promise great scholastic improvement to add to our goal in the Golden Year of Gamma Beta.

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

To open rush week at Dartmouth, Gamma Gamma entertained candidates by singing to them the football medley arrangement which won second place in last year's fraternity hum competition. Following the songs, fraternity awards were bestowed to last year's winners. The athletic championship plus a second place for all-round competition were our chapter's booty for the evening.

CREW SHOWS PICTURES

Cocaptains Andrew Timmerman and Peter Krehbiel and Stroke Bill Ford refer often and enthusiastically to their tour of the continent last summer. The crew participated in the Thames Regatta on the Henley in England, then vacationed on the continent en masse for five weeks. Recently, Gamma Gamma's crewmen showed colored slides of the Swiss Alps, Italy, and England and got warm praise from the brothers for their photographic technique as well as interest of the subject matter.

THANKS TO DELTA CHAPTER

When the Dartmouth football team played Michigan for the first time this year, ten of our brothers trekked out to Ann Arbor for the game. They were warmly received by Delta Chapter at the University of Michigan and returned overwhelmed by their generous hospitality. Three of our brothers who flew out to the game were detained an additional four days because of a very fortunate combination of meteorological factors. Delta Chapter, gentlemen to the end, patiently extended their hospitality well into the week following the game. Finally our boys hedgehopped back, fearing they'd be tempted to stay permanently if they delayed their departure another day.

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

The school year 1950-51 promises to be a big one for the men of Gamma Delta. An all-out rush week gave us the largest pledge class in three years. Twenty-four men have joined the ranks at the Delta Shelter.

FOREIGN STUDENT WELCOMED

We are honored this year by having Ole Fabricius Kristensen, a foreign exchange student, living with us. Ole has transferred to W. V. U. from Copenhagen, Denmark, under the sponsorship of the Council of Fraternity Presidents. Gamma Delta volunteered to furnish his room and board for the one-year term he is to be with us.

He was born in Copenhagen in 1930 and has lived there for the past 18 years, including the period of German occupation. He is registered in the University as a special student in the school of pre-medicine. Upon returning to Denmark, he hopes to complete his medical training in the required number of years.

Learning the American customs and slang offered a little difficulty to Ole at first, but being a master of four languages already, he spoke like a native American before long. We as a chapter are proud to have him as our guest, and we hope that his stay with us will be an enjoyable one.

VARSITY FOOTBALL ATHLETES

Varsity football claims three top athletes from the Shelter this year. William Bryant, fullback, Robert Kettlewell, end, and James Cornwell, halfback, have all displayed their ability to the football fans. Kettlewell was injured early in the season and has been unable to compete, but his teammates, Bryant and Cornwell, have given the fans some exciting moments with their daring runs and gains in yardage against the opposition. All three promise to make names for themselves in varsity football.

SEEKS SCHOLARSHIP CUP

High scholarship has been set as our main goal for this year. We hope to have our name engraved on the interfraternity scholarship cup for the third time and we are improving our study habits and conditions to aid in the accomplishment of this.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

Something's in the air at Wesleyan—perhaps it's merely the invigorating bite of cold weather, but we think that whatever it is will bring a fine year for Gamma Zeta and Delta Tau Delta. Already, our rushing program, under the able leadership of Brother Fred Irwin, has added to the Shelter a new crop of future Deltas—in our opinion, one of the finest delegations we've had in many a year.

ELECTED EDITOR OF PAPER

We found many Deltas entering and prospering in new fields of College activities. Brother Jack Bussing was recently elected editor of the Argus, the campus paper, while Brother Skillings leaped up from sports editor to associate editor. Our old faithfuls, Ralph "Nippy" Jones and "Gig" Gaviglio are holding up their ends of the Wes varsity soccer team for their third year, and Pledge Carter Hearn appears to be following in their shoes on the freshman cross-country team.

HEADS CAMPUS MORES COMMITTEE

President Henry McDonald, recently elected head of the Campus Social Mores Committee, has many plans for this year's Delt activities. Improvement of scholarship, as emphasized at the Karnea, will again play a big part in Gamma Zeta's program, with compulsory study halls for pledges with low grades, and tutoring by qualified brothers for those who need help.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

PART-TIME POLITICIANS

Politics—campus and national—is the major theme this fall at Gamma Eta Chapter on the campus of George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

Campaigns in U. S. Senate and Congressional races cut sharply into the ranks of Deltas at G. W. U. as members took time out from school work to go home and beat the bushes for their bosses. A total of six members are now employed part time by Senators and Congressmen. George Dowd is out in Bellingham, Washington, campaigning for Congressman Henry Jackson and is himself running for precinct committeeman. Bill Barlow is campaigning in and around Senacaville, Ohio, for Congressman Robert Secrist; Norvill Jones is rounding up votes for Senator W. J. Fulbright of Arkansas; Paul McNulty is deep in the hot Illinois campaign of Senator Scott Lucas; Jim Ogletree is down in Georgia, though his Congressman, Stephen Pace, is not seeking re-election. Frank Bowron returned to school after six weeks of "politicizing" in Wyoming, during which time he was named State Democratic Vice-Chairman. Frank works for Senator Lester C. Hunt of Wyoming.

On campus, the Deltas are preparing to fight to retain several important student offices. Last year Gamma Eta boasted among its members Student Body President Charles Crichton and Sophomore Class Prexy Walter Cottrell.

DELTS LEAD IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Outside the realm of politics, the Deltas are still maintaining a high standard of leadership in intramural and extracurricular activities. Charles Yuill has been named president of the University Literary Club, succeeding Delt Paul Sifton, who is now treasurer of the French Club.

The chapter succeeded in placing two members on the University cheer-leading team, George Rawnsley and Jack Robinson, with George getting the position of captain of the team.

CHAPTER DOMINATES SWIMMING TEAM

Delt domination of the University swimming team continues, with Frank Burford getting the nod as captain of the tankmen; Charles Yuill and Roy Schlemmer are other Deltas on the varsity. Charles Yuill rounds out his athletic and literary activities as a member of the University wrestling squad, while swimming Captain Frank Burford also serves as president of the University chess club.

ELECTED TO HIGH OFFICE

Latest honor to come to the chapter is the election of two Deltas to high office in Delta Phi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity in Washington. Charles Saxe, a transfer from Albion, was elected president, and John Foltz was elected vice-president of the group.

CHAPTER ACTIVITIES BOOM

Turning from individual to chapter activities, Gamma Eta has formed plans to organize a chapter glee club with the objective of winning the 1951 IFC sing. The chapter took part in 1950 Homecoming activities with an entry in the football parade. An extensive redecorating of the Shelter was successfully accomplished just prior to fall rushing and an outstanding rush program was carried through under the direction of Rush Chairman David Harrington.

VISITING DELTS ENTERTAINED

A general invitation published in last winter's RAINBOW, inviting all Deltas in America to visit the chapter during the summer, brought tremendous response last summer. Chapter facilities were swamped as Deltas from Maine to California, Florida to Washington state, converged on the nation's capital. Gamma Eta, forced into the housing business, purchased a dozen folding cots to handle the overflow and subscribed to a towel and linen service for guests and members. A number of successful parties were held during the vacation for the guests and many guided tours of Washington were arranged by the individual members of Gamma Eta. Some of the visitors were guests at a very successful Gamma Eta-Delta Sigma picnic.

TWENTY STATES REPRESENTED

Gamma Eta Chapter at George Washington University lays claim to the distinction of being the "All-American" chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

Members of the chapter this fall hailed from 20 states and the District of Columbia, a situation which the G. W. U. Deltas assert is the only one of its kind in the entire Fraternity.

Gamma Theta—Baker

PLEDGE IS FRESHMAN TREASURER

The Deltas at Baker got off to a good start with 18 fine pledges. One of them, Cecil Miller, is now treasurer of the Freshman Class.

The house has seen many changes during summer months. The downstairs was repainted, and the chapter is the proud owner of a new television set.

HOST TO GAMMA TAU CHAPTER

Our fall social season started with the traditional Chicken Fry, held on October 21. We were host to our chapter at the University of Kansas and many of our alumni. The main fire was one of the highest in our history.

We are hoping to play host to President Martin B. Dickinson sometime in the future.

Gamma Iota—Texas

SCORE IN ELECTIONS

The Deltas at the University of Texas, long recognized for their many outstanding leaders on the campus, started the 1950-1951 collegiate year with a bang when Pledge Jim Fuller was chosen from a field of 50 to be one of the six cheerleaders who will direct University rooters throughout the coming year.

Delt representation in Phi Eta Sigma is well in evidence this year, as Brother Bill Penn heads the Texas chapter of this national scholastic honorary for freshman men, and Brother Joe Fisher is historian. Penn, as president, directed the Texas chapter in its roll as host to the national convention of Phi Eta Sigma held at Austin October 27.

The most recent Delt coup was the election of Leo Donovan to the student assembly as representative of the College of Arts and Sciences. Donovan drew more votes than any of the other representatives-elect in this widely sought position.

DELT PIGSKIN PROWESS

It's 'mural football time again, and as we pass the midway point in the fraternity division title race, we find not one, but two Delt football teams on top. Both the Delt "A" and "B" teams are undefeated and leading their respective leagues.

While employing a two-platoon system this year, the Delt "A" team under its head mentor, J. Lawton Stone, has developed into a well-balanced ball club. The offensive team, built around the dependable passing arm of Jack Klatt, has piled up a total of 69 points in three games. The defensive team has held opponents to only eight points.

The "B" team, not to be outdone, has an unscored-upon record of which to boast. Coached by Tony McGee, the Delt "B" team has ground out 25 points, and its defense has completely throttled opponents.

DELT SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENT

"We're going to be on scholastic probation if we don't start making better grades," or so went the sad story of Sam Croom, chairman of the scholarship committee last spring. But lo and behold, when the final grades were all averaged, the Gamma Iota Chapter of Delta Tau Delta ranked second among all fraternities at the University of Texas.

But Gamma Iota Chapter, not content to rest upon its laurels, has launched another full-scale scholarship improvement campaign under the direction of Committee Chairman Joe Fisher. The outlined program includes pledge study halls and big brother conferences with the pros of the pledges.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

LAWYERS NAMED TO BOARD OF EDITORS

Several Missouri Deltas have been taken into honorary societies this fall. Bill Anderson and Monty Wilson have been selected to the board of editors of the Missouri Law Review by reason of maintaining a scholastic standing in the top 10 per cent of their class. Anderson has been initiated into Phi Alpha Delta, law honorary, and Brother Wilson is a member of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

Brother Frank Tuttle is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity, and has recently been initiated into Kappa Tau Alpha, national scholastic honorary

SCHOLARSHIP RISES STEADILY

Continuing a steady climb, the Deltas rose to fifth among 27 fraternities in scholarship last year, with the house average far above the All Men's Average. This was accomplished in part through a program of strict quiet hours and required study hall for all pledges and for deficient active members. A pledge who has deficient grades at mid-semester is required to attend study hall on Sunday as well as on the regular four nights a week.

VOTE IN UGLIEST MAN CONTEST

Dave Buffington has been instrumental in organizing a campus "ugliest man" contest being sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity. The idea might be picked up and used by some of the other Delt chapters who desire to sponsor a charitable activity. Here's the idea: each organization will sponsor its "ugliest man." Voting is unlimited, but votes cost one penny each. Proceeds will go to the World Student Service Fund. Parades and ballyhoo turn the contest into a great publicity stunt for your popular man, and proceeds support a worth-while charity.

FRATERNITIES SPONSOR D-P'S

The Interfraternity Council is sponsoring four D-P students from Germany and Czechoslovakia. Each fraternity will board one man for five weeks, after which time he will be the guest of another house.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

When Gamma Lambda Deltas returned to school last fall, they found that $35,000 had been spent redecorating the Shelter. The living room and library both had new furniture and rugs. Both rooms also had indirect lighting. The kitchen was remodeled and a new stove, sink, and dishwasher were installed. In the dining room, the tables were all new and the chairs had been refinished. The redecorating extended all the way to the heating unit, as a gas heater replaced the coal furnace.

EARN MANY HONORS

Ben Sheaffer is the most recent Delt to be pledged to the Gimlet Club, the Purdue honorary for senior fraternity men. Ben did an outstanding job on last year's track team, running in the half-mile and pacing the mile relay team to a great season. Ben is also an honor student in mechanical engineering.

Two other brothers, Jack Dubs and Jack Donahue, were pledged by the Catalyst Club. This honorary for chemical engineers is unusual in that it functions almost completely for social purposes. Dubs is president of Gamma Lambda Chapter, a member of the Gimlet Club, and associate sports editor for the school paper. Donahue is a member of the Purdue Glee Club and spent the summer touring Europe with this group.

Gamma Nu—Maine

After a summer of work and play, we find the Gamma Nu house at Maine in full swing with just 20 members and 20 pledges. During the summer, the kitchen, dining room, and pantry were painted gray and white, and Ray, the chef, is back again putting out some tempting, delicious dishes.

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE YEAR

This year, plans have been made to have buffet suppers on Saturday evenings after football games.

We were happy to hear that our last year's president, Al Harrington, was initiated into Phi Kappa Phi last May.

The house has been notified that it is fifth in scholastic standing out of the 17 fraternities on campus.

Slowly, the game room is beginning to look like an art gallery with autographed pictures of famous Deltas hanging on the wall.

Our old faithful Delta Queen, Mother Cowan, is back again with her Studebaker convertible.

We are looking forward to Homecoming Week End when Maine will play Colby College. We hope to see many old Deltas and friends this year as we have in previous years.

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

The Cincinnati Deltas started the school year with a rushing program which will provide the chapter with 30 prospective members. The chapter thanks the local alumni who, by their interest and co-operation, helped provide a number of excellent rush functions.

OPENS SEASON WITH NEW OFFICERS

Last summer, Gamma Xi lost two outstanding men: Jim Brownell, president, who is attending M.I.T., and Jim Micheau, vice-president, serving in the U. S. Navy at San Diego, California. Their positions are now filled by Ed Linesch, president, and Rudy Koch, vice-president. We are looking forward to a banner year with our new officers.

SHINE IN INTRAMURALS

The Deltas are undefeated in intramural football. Last year Gamma Xi finished fourth in the intramural running.

Actives, pledges, and alumni and their dates traveled to Lexington, Kentucky, for the annual U. C.-Kentucky football game. As in the past, everyone had an enjoyable time.

PROMINENT IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Prominent posts in campus activities claimed by Deltas include the president and secretary of the honorary fraternity, Ulex. Brothers Lloyd Pitman and Dan Sestakaukas, respectively, and four other members, Brothers Don Uphoff, Nick Shundich, Dick Childs, and Pledge Brother Jack Tracy. Brother Sestakaukas is also president of Phi Epsilon Kappa, honorary fraternity. Brother Charles Eckert is business manager of the student directory.

Brother Nick Shundich and Pledge Brothers Jack Tracy, Andy Matto, and Bill McDonald are first-string members of the varsity football team.

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

DELT JACK LEHMAN IS STUDENT OF FIRST COLLEGE TV STUDIO

Deep in the heart of Syracuse University, in the basement of the Main Library, in fact, one of the most unusual programs of professional education is now in operation: a graduate course in television offered in the first college-owned and college-operated TV studios in the nation.

A carefully-selected group of 20 students is now at work in the program which includes academic and on-the-job training and leads to a Master of Science degree in radio and television. Among such a select group one naturally expects to find a Delt, and Jack Lehman, Gamma Omicron, '51, is one of the students participating in Syracuse's video course.

Now in his final undergraduate semester, Jack will enter the University's Graduate School in February to start full-time work for his master's degree in television. At present he is taking a graduate TV course "on loan" from the undergraduate audio-visual education department.

An around-the-calendar work period of 12 months is required for the master's degree. About half of the academic work is directly concerned with television, while the remainder is devoted to related fields—drama, journalism, art, and photography. At the same time, the student receives a year's experience in commercial television work, handling such phases as writing, camera work, lighting, shading, and other aspects of professional video.

Lehman entered the University's TV setup immediately after it was begun last spring. At that time, a group of undergraduates was used to construct scenery, arrange sets, operate lighting effects and do camera work. Now, with an all-graduate student crew, the work embraces all phases of telecasting operation.

A typical studio show, for example, will find one student in general charge of all floor operations. Three students will man the video cameras and four other students will work in the control booth checking such technical effects as sound, image shadings, and reception. The rest of the crew busies itself taking care of lights, microphones, and set arrangements. Eventually the students will operate slide and motion picture projectors and prepare scripts for their own shows.

Lehman averages about ten hours a week on commercial shows with about two hours of actual air time and devotes the rest to experimental and rehearsal work. He also doubles as the Television Center's publicity photographer.

Jack traces his interest in matters photographic to a day in 1938 when his father presented him with some developing equipment to pass away the hours while recovering from a siege of pneumonia. That started things, and Jack has been a shutter-bug fiend ever since. Only lately has television succeeded in making any serious inroads on his interest in photography.

Photography editor of all three of his high school's publications in his senior year, Jack entered the Army after graduation in 1945, serving as a regimental photographer during the early days of the Italian occupation. He completed his Army service in March, 1947, and entered Syracuse the following September.

Freshman Lehman promptly became embroiled in camera activities, and by the end of his first year was named photo editor of the Syracusan, campus humor magazine. In his junior year, he also took over the photo editorship of the Onondagan, University yearbook. Within the Shelter Jack has directed Gamma Omicron publicity and publications for the past two years.

What happens after Syracuse? It's a pretty sure bet Jack would like to follow in the footsteps of the ten former Syracusans already at work on TV network shows originating from New York City. Among this group of Syracuse graduates, incidentally, is Woody Benoit, first president of the reactivated Gamma Omicron Chapter. Woody is now associated with Young and Rubicam advertising agency, working with their television accounts.

According to reports received from New York, where professional television men have expressed great interest in Syracuse's TV training program, the students from Piety Hill are handling everything from engineering to directing, writing, designing, and supervising set construction, as well as acting, singing, and riding herd on television budgets.

To Jack Lehman, who looks forward to television with hope and satisfaction, the reports look good. "There's lots of room," he says, "there's lots of room."

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

Thirty-four actives and four hold-over pledges returned to school this fall to help redecorate the Shelter and greet 19 new pledges. Our living room is filled with new leather furniture. From stem to stern the Shelter has been cleaned and most of the rooms have been painted.

DELT FETED AS "ATHLETE OF THE WEEK"

Along the decorating line, the Delts this year went all out in their Homecoming decoration. Out in the front yard can be seen a 25-foot giant football player stamping his right foot on a Jayhawk egg. The Cyclones of Iowa State took on the Jayhawks of the University of Kansas with Delt Pledge Bill Byrus playing a bang-up game both on offense and defense. So far this year, Bill has twice been placed on the honor roll for the Athlete of the Week. Last spring Bill was elected outstanding freshman football player of the year. Bill sees duty at offensive right guard and defensive left tackle.

Twenty actives and pledges headed for Evanston, Illinois, for the Northwestern migration. The men were guests of Beta Pi Chapter over the week end.

PARTICIPATE IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Several Gamma Pi Delts are active on the campus this fall. Wayne Burger is photo editor for the college yearbook, the Bomb, while Dick Wicklund and Tom Faul are both photographers on Wayne's staff. Ed LaBerge is out again for the swimming team, while Bob Brenton has turned his talents to fall track. Pete Meeks is president of the Pep Council and head cheerleader, while Bob Werhane is Interfraternity Council representative to the Pep Council.

Gamma Tau—Kansas

On September 8 we started rush week with our annual train date in Kansas City for some of our prospective pledges. Martin Dickinson, newly elected President of Delta Tau Delta and an alumnus of Gamma Tau, gave a talk. When rush week was over, 18 highly selected men became our new pledge class.

CHAMPIONS ON THE GRIDIRON

The opening of the intramural season is approaching and our three football squads are looking like champions. With the annual pledge-sponsored paddle party in sight and the other activities, this is beginning to look like another great year for Gamma Tau.

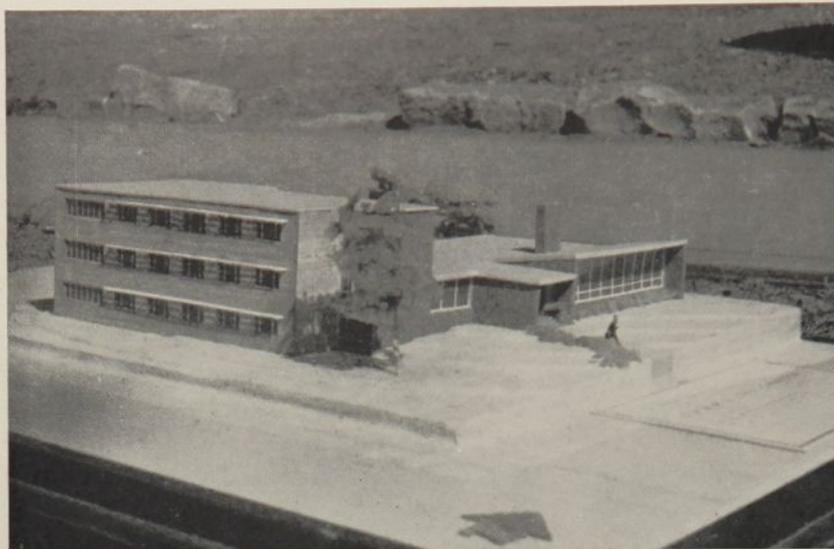

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

CANDIDATE FOR KING

The Delts at Miami will be ably represented for the honor of having Homecoming King by Ken Allerman. Ken, a senior and physical education major, has the vital statistics plus Phi Epsilon Kappa, physical education honorary vice-presidency, along with being chairman of athletics for the Fraternity. In keeping with a precedent that was set up in 1945, a Delt Homecoming King has reigned every other year; however, that .500 average could come up this year.

DELTS MIGRATE TO B. G.

Not many Delts were left around the Shelter September 30, when Miami visited Bowling Green. The Miamians came out on the long end of a lopsided football score; however, festivities at the Delta Tau Chapter at B. G. were much more reciprocal. Gamma Upsilon was welcomed and

CHAPTER PREPARES RUSH PROGRAM

Jim Hackman, '52, was recently elected rush chairman for the coming year. Jim, the most outstanding pledge of his class a year ago, will fill the competent shoes of retiring Brother Jack Milligan, '51. The rushing program will not formally get under way until second semester; however, to develop the capacities to keep the chapter at its present standing in man power is a full-time, annual job.

STREET DANCE HELD

In keeping with the Delt policy to promote better campus relations, the chapter, assisted by Delta Delta Delta Sorority, sponsored a street dance for the entire University. The receipts from the affair were donated to the Student Union Fund.

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

Gamma Chi started the fall of '50 with a pledge class of 26. Most of the boys are from Kansas and Missouri, but two come from "deep in the heart of Texas," and one from Oklahoma.

EIGHT NEW DELTS

NEW SHELTER PLANNED

A pressing matter of great importance to the future of Gamma Chi is the building of a new chapter house. We have the plans and a model (see picture) and hope to hold a housewarming next September.

STAR IN SPORTS

Dick Johnson has brought honor to Gamma Chi as a stellar varsity football end and Wendall Parks is doing the same with his wrestling. Watch "Hoot" Gibson in basketball. A lot of teams are going to regret having faced him this year.

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

Gamma Psi Chapter has many noteworthy things about which to boast, such as the new room added to the "Shelter"; the new dance terrace in our back yard, built entirely by Delt labor; and a successful rush season highlighted by parties acclaimed by one and all as the best on the campus.

PARENTS' CLUB ORGANIZED

We feel that we have one thing, however, that outshines all others, and which the whole Delt world should know about. That is an active parents' club!

On the afternoon of February 25, 1949, nine Delt mothers, at the bidding of Mrs. Charles Pearson, gathered at the Shelter for the purpose of organizing a Mothers' Club to assist the chapter in any way possible and to give the house that mother's touch that makes it truly a home.

Those present at the first meeting were Mesdames Charles Pearson, Nellie R. Bell, G. M. Hallman, J. O. Johns, H. A. Usher, R. M. McDuffie, C. M. Morris, T. C. Huguley, and R. A. Hefner and our beloved housemother, Mrs. J. E. Wilson.

A constitution was drawn up at the first meeting and meetings were scheduled for once a month.

At the second meeting of the club, the fathers were invited, and because of the great interest they showed, the club was changed to the Parents' Club.

In the short interval of time that has elapsed, the club has grown to more than 68 active members with many more on the mailing list as out-of-town members.

It would be impossible to enumerate all the wonderful things the Parents' Club has done, but a few of the outstanding contributions cannot be omitted.

Soon after its founding the Parents' Club began redecorating the main floor of the Shelter, and a once drab living room was converted into a well-furnished room that is in the best of taste.

Last Christmas, members of the Parents' Club helped the chapter find a deserving family for whom to give a party and they presented the housemother with a fine gift at that party. Later on in the winter, they saw the need for drapes in our dining room, and a couple of the mothers got together and took care of that little detail.

It would be hard to mention any major function of the chapter in which the Parents' Club hasn't had a hand. The undergraduates at Georgia Tech all salute their Parents' Club and only hope that they can live up to the expectations their parents have of them.

After all, it's a pretty wonderful feeling to know that someone is taking an interest in you.

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

Delta Alpha is ready for another successful year. After returning from an excellent Karnea, the chapter plunged headlong into rush. The fraternal shot-in-the-arm that the men received at Columbus was evident when the smoke of rush had cleared away. Twenty-one fine-looking future Delt were wearing the purple, white, and gold ribbons.

TEAM ENTERS PLAY-OFFS

Touch football kept many of the men busy during the fall. Our devastating passing attack, spearheaded by Jerry Simmons and Leon Sandel, kept opposing teams in mortal fear. At this writing, the team is headed for a berth in the play-offs, with all eyes on a possible championship trophy.

TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA JOIN HANDS

Delt spirit and brotherhood reigned supreme at Dallas, Texas, the week end of October 14. Gamma Iota, Delta Chi, Delta Alpha, and the Dallas Alumni Chapter joined together for a terrific party after the big games between Oklahoma-Texas and Oklahoma A. & M.-S. M. U. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the Dallas Alumni Chapter for its fine job in planning the party. It was the fitting climax to a perfect day for the men of Delta Alpha, after an enjoyable afternoon at the expense of our rivals below the Red River.

MRS. K JOINS DELTA ALPHA

Delta Alpha proudly presents to the Fraternity Mrs. Guy Curfman. "Mom K" joined us as housemother this fall, after having been with the Alpha Chi Omegas during the past two years. Her quick wit and genial manner immediately won her way into the hearts of the chapter men. During "Mom K's" relatively short tenure on the campus, she became one of its most popular housemothers, and we of Delta Alpha feel fortunate in having her with us.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

Here at Delta Beta we have been working to maintain the high standards that we set last year when we became the top-ranking fraternity on campus in intramural competition and the top-ranking fraternity in scholarship. Our rushing program got us off to a good start with 15 good men taking the Delt pledge pin.

Our activities men this year include: Student Council, Dick Holl and George Lang; Scimitar, Bob Byrne, Fred Tonge, Bob Boyer, and Paul Hildebrandt; Carnegie Technical circulation manager, Al Moon; business manager, Dick Holl; Council of Fraternity Presidents and Court of Justice, George Pyle; Claymore Clan, Paul Hildebrandt; S. A. M. president, Dick Holl.

ALUMNI RETURN FOR HOMECOMING

As this is Tech's 50th anniversary, Homecoming was a big affair with a great number of alumni returning to celebrate the occasion. Two school dances, a football game, and our own house parties provided a week end enjoyed by everyone.

PLAYS TITLE ROLE

Aside from our regular parties, we held a special theater party before the Carnegie Tech Drama Department's production of Liliom, in which Brother John Bishop played the title role.

SKI CHAMP READY FOR NEW SEASON

With winter here and snow on its way, Brother Trygve Holst is already dusting off his skis, endeavoring to repeat his performance of last year when he took the Pennsylvania State Championship for cross-country skiing, doing the seven-mile course in 49 minutes.

Delta Delta—Tennessee

PLEDGES UPSET ACTIVES

The rugged quality of the new pledge class was made clear early this fall when its vastly underrated football team upset the previously undefeated active forces 18-12. The actives' vaunted passing attack never clicked, and their ground attacks bogged down whenever they neared pay dirt.

Lest the yearling stars put their athletics before their books, however, the actives set aside a study period for them each night in the interest of scholarship. The pledges have already reported the sessions are paying off in improved grades.

KYKER BLOCKS FOR VOLS

Delts have a pair of athletes performing for the Vols this year, Gil Kyker holding down a blocking back berth on the football team and Jack Thomas, back from the Army, looking like a probable starter in early varsity basketball practice. A pledge, Joe Perry, of Buffalo, New York, may be a member of the freshman basketball team.

VACUUM CLEANER APPRECIATED

The Mothers' and Wives' Club gave the chapter a big boost with presentation of a new vacuum cleaner, a gift that was deeply appreciated. The club is getting off to a good start with a November book review by Mrs. Leroy Graf on Somebody Speaks for Katie, by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Witherpoon, a Knoxville woman.

NAVY SNATCHES EDITOR

Brother Fred Parker has been called back into the Navy Air Force, forcing him to resign from his post as editor of the school newspaper, the Orange and White. With Henry Hancock as business manager and Bob Lee as managing editor, Delts still have good representation on the campus paper. Hancock, incidentally, is also business manager of The Torch, a publication for freshmen.

Richard Barrack is in charge of decorations for Homecoming, which this year means the North Carolina game.

VAUDEVILLE NETS TROPHY

Pressure of competition and the desire to win have a strange way of bringing out all sorts of latent talent. Such was the case in the recent Lances Carnival. That burning desire to add another trophy and get the year off to a good start was the incentive that produced the best vaudeville show to hit the U. K. campus in many a day.

Ordinarily modest and reserved members of the Delt aggregation threw inhibitions to the wind and allowed themselves to be transformed into the most alluring flappers one could imagine. Those who retained their masculinity also did a grand job, and the results were gratifying, thanks to Chairman Jim Anders. We brought that trophy home!

SCHOLARSHIP MOVES UP TO THIRD

Chapter scholastic standings are showing a very favorable trend. The chapter average moved up from 1.38 to 1.51 and the comparative analysis for last semester showed us in third place on the campus, a decided improvement from the previous semester.

A chart showing individual standings has been prepared and posted in a conspicuous place in the Shelter. Those standings below the required University standing are typed and circled in red. We believe this will give rise to an added effort to remove at least the red markings.

Delta Zeta—Florida

CHAPTER PLEDGES SEVENTY

The new year found University of Florida Delts rounding up one of the best and largest pledge classes on the campus, totaling 70 men. Included were some of the most sought after athletes, scholars, and extracurricular men ever to enroll here.

WIN TWO HOMECOMING PRIZES

Homecoming found Delta Zeta really swinging into its own. First, on Friday afternoon we copped second prize in the annual Homecoming parade float contest with a replica of a Viking ship. Then on Saturday our house decorations were judged best on the campus from among 24 fraternities.

The decorations featured an "Old South" showboat, keeping in tune with the "Old South" Homecoming theme. The vessel was approximately 175 feet long. Our triumph marked the third time in the last five years that Delta Tau Delta has won the Homecoming prize.

TWO MAKE PHI BETA KAPPA

Individually Delts continued to hold their own on the campus. Both John Trinkel and Julian Clarkson were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, Al Gammage was elected chancellor of the Honor Court and tapped for membership in Florida Blue Key, Clarke Nichols was appointed secretary of interior in the president's cabinet, and Sleepy Johnston, Harold Bert, Bill Sheppard, Treve Wilson, and Gene Soldwedel all made varsity letters.

Delta Eta—Alabama

JAZZ BAND GAINS RECOGNITION

Delta Eta's own band—the "If-You-Can't-Play-Good-Play-Loud Boys"—has in less than a year made a name for itself on the campus and throughout the state.

Last spring the six-man group was instrumental in winning the annual skit night, Jason's Jamboree, for Delta Eta. The musicians have also played a few professional jobs in the state. But their best break was a motion picture short in color made of them in action playing for the patients at the State Mental Hospital. This short was shown all over the state and the South.

Members of the combo are: Bill Land, trumpet; Phil Welch, clarinet; Jack Feierabend, piano; DeLeslie Black, banjo; Jimmy Dear, baritone sax; and "Mighty" Joe Young on the slide.

CHAPTER AWARDS SORORITY TROPHY

Bama's "Sorority of the Year" will be awarded a rotating trophy next spring by Delta Eta Chapter. All 17 Alabama sororities will be eligible to compete for the trophy to be presented on a point basis.

Major activities to be judged have been divided into four divisions—group participation, athletics, singular participation, and publication. At the end of the year the sorority having the highest total of points will win possession of the trophy for one year. When the year is up, the sorority then receives a silver serving tray as a memento of winning for that particular year.

Standing nearly four feet high, the trophy will have 15 base circles on which the winner's name will be engraved. The sorority winning the trophy the most times in 15 years will gain permanent possession of it.

When delivery is made on the trophy, a dinner will be given for all sorority presidents and the Dean of Women at the Delt house. At this dinner the point system will be fully explained and the trophy explained.

Delta Iota—U.C.L.A.

IFC IS DELT COUNCIL

Around U.C.L.A. the IFC is rapidly becoming known as the Delt Council. Our president, Ray Beindorf, was elected president of this important student-governing organization, while John Chandler, veep of Delta Iota, has been appointed executive secretary. It is the first time in the memory of anyone around the school that members of any one house have held down the two top offices.

As president, Ray has the important job of appointing and supervising the many IFC committees and acting as a public relations man for the student body. In this latter capacity, he attends many regional and national conferences as our representative. In view of the opinion many people hold with regard to the liberal activities on this campus, this is certainly one of the most vital of campus jobs.

John manages all correspondence that enters and leaves IFC. He is also chairman of the Scholarship Committee and as such supervises all scholarship and initiation reports. He is the only salaried member of IFC.

In addition to his other presidential duties, Ray is also president of Phi Phi, a senior men's honorary fraternity.

BOAST THREE OF STARTING ELEVEN

This fall, as usual, Delta Iota is well represented athletically on the U.C.L.A. campus. We have three of the starting eleven on the Uclan gridiron. They are Captain Bob Watson, Gayle Pace, and Roy Jenson. In the first-string defensive lineup

The only other major sport around campus at this time is water polo. In this sport we have John Chandler, Jerry Ladhoff, and Monte Nitzkowski (who achieved All-American mention for his breast-stroking efforts with the swimming team last spring). On the first-string reserves are found Dick Jappe and John Sheffield.

Delta Kappa—Duke

Continuing our conquest of intramural laurels, the 1950 edition of Delta Kappa's "Iron Delts" appears to be well on its way to another championship season. Sparked by the running-passing combo of Fari-nella, Clowar, Silkett, Rogers, and Allen plus the stellar performance of the forward wall, which has yet to relinquish a T.D., we are the odds-on favorite to cop our divisional crown.

REIGN IN SPORTS

On the handball courts, Brothers Fari-nella and Duttweiler again reign supreme for the third consecutive year. Brother Silkett, who has been ruled ineligible for intramural tennis because of varsity competition, retires his crown and takes on the job of coaching the Delt courtsters to another trophy-laden season.

ATTENTION, ALUMNI

Numbers of alumni have been reached by Brother John Greene and committee to rebuild outdated alumni files. Because of the cancellation of directory service by the postal authorities, however, some alumni have been missed. If you have not been contacted, please drop a line to Box 4671. Homecoming plans are nearing completion with a large number of alums expected to attend.

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

MUSH-STEAK DINNER RECALLS SCHOLARSHIP

The results of spring-term grades were recalled at the recent mush and steak dinner. Those of each pair of members previously pitted against each other who received the higher grades ate steak directly across the table from his opponent, who ate mush (Cream of Wheat). A grand time was had, and everyone was in favor of continuing the system this fall.

CHAIRMANSHIP GOES TO DELT

Phil Hoffman was the activities chairman for this year's Homecoming, and he turned in a fine job. Another Delt, Bill Sundstrom, was chairman of the Rook Bonfire. He also did a good job, both Delts helping to make the O.S.C. Homecoming of 1950 a great success.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNER GETS READY

Jack Petersen is earnestly training for cross-country competition. Last year he was undefeated in the 440 on the freshman track team. He figures to be tops in both the hill-and-dale sport and the cinder paths this year and is expected to gain national recognition.

Delta Mu—Idaho

AWARDED HOMECOMING TROPHY

At one of Idaho's most successful homecomings Delta Mu Chapter took top billing by copping the first-place float trophy. The theme of the float, "Choo, Choo, Choo To Idaho," was expressed by a trolley car loaded with alums returning to Idaho. A few yards from the trolley was a quaint station depot. Burma Shave signs, an old-fashioned lamp post, and authentic railroad tracks were cleverly worked into the float by Ivan Stone and Dale Faylor, co-chairmen.

WIN UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP CUP
THREE OF FOUR SEMESTERS

Last October the chapter was officially notified that it was to be awarded the Interfraternity Scholarship Cup. This was the third semester out of the last four semesters that Delta Mu has won this trophy. Russell Baum, who was then scholarship chairman, deserves special applause for his successful scholarship program.

GARNER CAMPUS HONORS

Pat Duffy, who was freshman class president last year, has been selected by the Greek Party to be its candidate for sophomore class president. Jim Ingalls is the Chief Justice on the Honor Court, while Bud Owens was tapped for Hell Divers. Serving as assistant chairman for Homecoming was Bryan Lawrence.

In the field of publications, Ken West is co-editor of the activities section in the yearbook and Bob Burns is serving on the sports staff of the Argonaut.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

SCHOLASTIC GOAL FOR NEW PLEDGES

Seventeen new pledges have a job all cut out for them, since last year's pledge group won top scholastic honors with a 1.45 average, topping all other pledge groups in the University. The pledge average of all houses was 1.07.

FLOAT DECORATION DE-FURS COYOTES

The curtain has already been run down on some social days, including two of eight planned open houses held with various sororities. Homecoming will have passed by the time THE RAINBOW goes to print and the festivities associated with it will have ended with an open house for alumni.

The theme upon which our Homecoming parade float will be based is "We'll De-fur the Coyotes (of South Dakota University)." Rapid strides are being taken to build it under the direction of Gene Halvorson.

The float will present a draft board idea, giant-sized coyote with golfball eyes, and four live "Sioux" Indians. Everything is to be done up in green and white, the Sioux colors.

CLAIM LANKIEST PRESIDENT

On hand to welcome back the actives and greet new pledge prospects this fall was Delta Xi's president, Ed Thordarson. Ed is this chapter's claim to the distinction of the lankiest of all Delt prexies at 6 feet, 6 inches (with hair combed and no shoes on).

Delta Omicron—Westminster

Delta Omicron Chapter is starting what should be its best year since its installation some eleven odd years ago. Besides having 32 actives back at the Shelter, we have added 13 top-notch pledges who should help us win honors in all fields.

ANNEX 20 STRAIGHT CONTESTS

In sports so far this year, we have won 20 straight contests in softball, tennis, and golf. We have already won the tennis championship and are expecting to win at least the softball title and possibly even the golf title. Prospects for coming sports look very good, and with even average luck we should win the athletic supremacy trophy.

We have eight returning varsity lettermen in McCallum, Whitehead, Duncan, T. Gay, C. Wallace, Rector, O'Rourke, and Brenner.

HAVE TWO CLASS PRESIDENTS

This fall we have a formidable group of men filling top positions on the "Hill." Under the title of president, Stewart Kenney is the leader of the Junior Class, Dave O'Dell heads the Sophomore Class, and Tom Shields directs Alpha Phi Omega.

New Pledge Group at Westminster.

Ned Rector has been elected baseball captain for this year, and Moose Duncan fills the same position on the track team. Moose is also vice-president of the "W" Club.

PROVIDE JOURNALISTIC LEADERSHIP

In the publication department, we are offering much in leadership. Al Oakley is the business manager of the school yearbook and Tom Shields is the sports editor on the same publication. Vint Gay is photo editor on the yearbook and also Columns, the campus newspaper. Al and Tom recently became members of Tau Sigma Alpha, the local honorary journalistic society.

Our representatives to the student council this year are Tuck Gay, chapter president, Don Wren, and Moose Duncan. The Skulls of Seven representative this semester is Al Oakley, who is also vice-president of the reorganized YMCA.

MOTHERS' CLUB COMES THROUGH

The Mothers' Club, as usual, completed another project over the summer. This latest gift was the complete renovation of our kitchen. The improvements consist of a new paint job, a blower system for the stove, new windows, an all-metal work table, a steam table for serving, and improved cupboard facilities in the butler's pantry. These improvements, combined with our dishwasher and garbage disposal units, make a modern and efficient kitchen in every respect.

PORTLAND STREET VICTORS

The Delts won the trophy in the Portland Street League. The competition is among the Delts, Betas, Phi Gams, and Phi Delts. These games were actually a warm-up to the interfraternity league.

ALL AMERICA WATER POLOIST

An outstanding athlete in the chapter and Southern California is Ed Illsley, All American water poloist. Ed plays water polo in the summer for the Whittier Swim Club, which has won the coveted National AAU title for the past two years. Another swimmer who is showing great promise is Frank Tanner, a new initiate. Frank won wide acclaim for his efforts this summer and will prove his ability in the coming swimming season.

NEOPHYTES HONORED WITH BANQUET

A pre-initiation party was given by the chapter for the neophytes Saturday evening, October 7, in the Sun Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel. Initiation was held Sunday, followed by the banquet at which Nat Fitts was the principal speaker. Among the honors awarded at the banquet were the Outstanding Pledge Award and the Pledge Scholarship Award. The former was a joint award to two men, Frank Tanner and John Morgan; the latter was received by Frank Tanner.

Delta Rho—Whitman

SUMMER RUSH PRODUCES

The "Summer-rush-pays-off" slogan was thoroughly proved at the Whitman Shelter this year. A master plan was set up last spring and kept in operation until actual rush started. It included contacts by men living near prospective rushees, a rush bulletin put out by men living in the Shelter, and a tour of the Northwest by a rush team. The summer enthusiasm carried over into rush week, and as a result 16 of the outstanding rushees are wearing square white and gold pledge buttons.

FIRST FIRESIDE CLICKS

The social season at 716 Boyer swung into high gear on the first open week end of the year with a "Post-Rush" fireside. All who attended signed the "rush list" and wore name tags. Decorations included a huge $\Delta T \Delta$ sign on the porch, pasteboard "glad-handers" in the front yard, and appropriate signs in the Shelter.

PLACE IN SWIM MEET

Delt swimmers pulled third place in the intramural water meet this fall. By winning firsts in both back-stroke and free-style, Spence McCartney carried off individual honors for the day. Pledge Jack Kulp drew a second in the breast-stroke to complete the team's scoring.

DELTS TAKE TO AIR

and Joe Vielbig are student representatives of a local flying school. Both licensed pilots, they are spreading the airplane bug through the campus. Bob Day and Pledge Keith Coombs are already confirmed birdmen, and several other Delts are beginning lessons.

Delta Sigma—Maryland

A BOY AT LAST

When a fourth addition to President Earl Williams' family (a boy at last!) forced him to leave school, Vice-President Bob Campello took over the helm, and at a special election in September became president to fill the unexpired term, with Brother Ike Fleury filling in as veep.

AMONG LEADERS ON CAMPUS

With Junior Class President Frank Wright leading the way, Delts are taking their place among the campus leaders. Bill Praus is now president of the national service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega; and "Rod" Hartjen, chapter treasurer, has been elected president of the Lutheran Students Association.

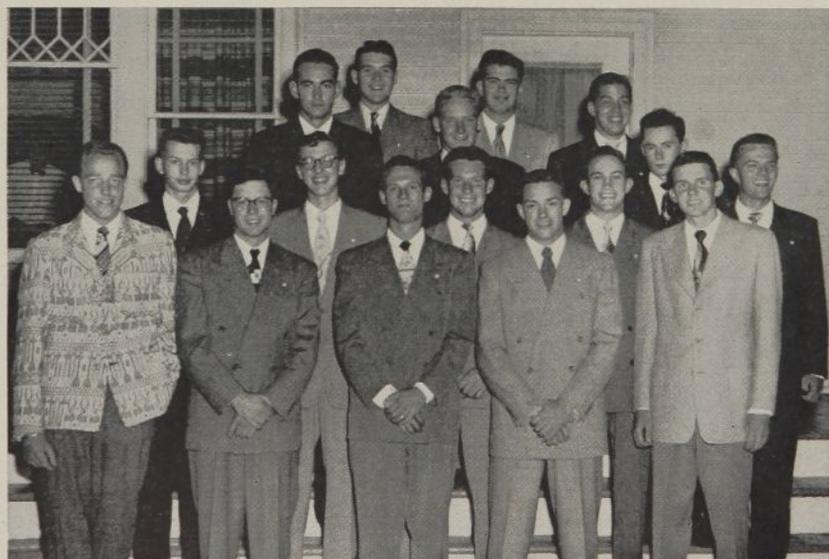

Musclemen Stan Rae and Grady Braddon are stalwarts in Gymkana, Maryland's gymnastic troupe. Stan has what is probably the only collegiate Roman Chair act in the country.

FLYIN' DELTS

Brother Clayton Shepherd has been appointed Air Division Commander of the Maryland AFOTC; he thus becomes the Cadet C. O. of the largest AFOTC unit in the country. Previously, Clay was selected as the best-drilled basic cadet, and last June was the leader of the best-drilled flight. Ten Delts are enrolled in the advanced course.

SEEKS FIRST IN SCHOLARSHIP

Latest scholastic figures released by the University show that Delta Sigma is among the upper third of the fraternities and, with the emphasis being placed on chapter scholarship, may well be on top of the pile by June.

The 1950 Pledge Class of Delta Rho Chapter.

Senator TAFT visits Delta Tau Chapter Shelter.

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

DELTS MEET TAFT

The Delts were honored by the presence of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio on the evening of October 11, 1950. After making a speech to the people of Bowling Green, Senator Taft visited the Delt house and "shook hands" with more than 200 students and faculty members. Following the reception, a luncheon was held at the Shelter, which was attended by Senator Taft, Senator Adams of Ohio, Representative Weigle, and various representatives of the Toledo and Cleveland press.

Delta Upsilon—Delaware

NOT CONTENT WITH SECOND PLACE

In line with our policy of other years, Delta Upsilon is striving for an improved scholastic record. Last semester the chapter was second in scholarship among social fraternities on the campus. This semester, as in the succeeding semesters, the goal will be first. The Scholarship Committee, headed by Brother Will Hoch, has made extensive plans for helping us to accomplish our goal.

In the field of sports, the chapter intramural football team, strongly reinforced by the recent pledge class, is looking forward to another successful season under the capable hands of Brother Bob MacFarland. Brother MacFarland, besides serving as captain of the team, is also scouting the opposition.

NEW SORORITY INAUGURATED

The chapter held its first social function of the year on Saturday, October 14. The theme of the house party was "She-Delta Tau." "She-Delta Tau" is an imaginary sister sorority of the local chapter, and all the brothers' dates were initiated into it. A good time was had by all; in fact, it was such a big hit that we intend to make it an annual affair. Our hats are off to Brother Tom O'Donnell and the rest of the social committee for the fine job that they did.

Delta Psi—Santa Barbara

RUSHING SEASON NETS NINETEEN

Delta Psi opened what looks to be a very good year by initiating seven new actives from last year's pledge class. They were Bill Drake, Jack Carroll, Dave Carter, Robin Nichols, Babe Reynolds, Foster Standfield, and Jim Wooden.

Following the initiation, the whole chapter swung into a fast three-week period of rushing under the leadership of Brother Bill Kindel. On October 4 the period ended with the official pledging of 19 good men.

GOOD REPRESENTATION IN FOOTBALL

With king football holding forth on campus, the Delts are well represented on the local field with three actives and eight pledges. The actives are Quarterback Knute Clark, Halfback Don Steere, and Center Lionel Purcell, while Jack Allen, John Diskin, Grant Gaunce, Bob Laskin, George Mattias, Al Southworth, Gordon Weber, and Bill Davis are the pledges on the team.

Intramurally speaking, the Delts are rolling merrily along the road to their second consecutive football crown, with the "A's" winning their first three games by top-heavy scores. The "B's" are having a rougher time, however, having dropped two of their first three.

Delta Omega—Kent

WELCOME NEW HOUSEMOTHER

When school resumed this fall, the Kent Delts welcomed Mrs. Gertrude Moshier into their Fraternity family. Mrs. Moshier takes over the position of housemother which has been vacant since the death of Mrs. Liz Garl last February.

Mrs. Moshier has come to the Fraternity after many years of experience taking care of young ladies, but she still knows how to handle men. Already a great change has come over the Shelter with even better things to look forward to.

We know that we like her and we hope that she likes us. It looks as if the chapter has found a new but very wonderful friend.

REMODELING IMPROVES SHELTER

No finer kitchen can be boasted of by any Greek organization on the Kent campus than the new, bright, and efficient one in the Shelter. The minute we moved out this summer, the contractor moved in. The entire basement was torn up and rebuilt. Everything that makes a kitchen modern was bought and set into place. Our old one-tub sink and four burner stove are gone, replaced by the very best in electrical appliances. Our dining room that used to feed 20 men now feeds more than 40, with a top capacity of 80 men.

Rebuilding did not stop with the kitchen. New housemother's quarters were built, which meant a remodeling of the entire rear of the first floor. Then literally to top it off, a new dormitory was built onto the back of the house on the third floor.

▼ THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS ▼

Ashtabula

During the summer months alumni activities have been at a standstill except for the Delt outing at Ralph Humphrey's camp. Mike Hewins, Lawrence Robishaw, and Carl Freed provided an old-fashioned bust which was attended by 30 Deltas and 16 guests from the local Phi Gamma Delta alumni chapter. Song competition between the groups provided a real evening of entertainment.

Now that the winter season is on, we shall begin our regular series of dinner meetings at different hotels in the county.

A real scoop for the brotherhood is that Dick "Ragtime" Regner, Miami, has finally given up the struggle and we are proud to welcome Lavonne Butcher to the host of Delta Queens.

JACK KERGER

Battle Creek

After taking a vacation from our regular monthly meeting during the summer, we entered the fall season with a rush party. The fall rush party has come to be an annual event that is looked forward to with expectation by our alumni members.

This year we entertained 14 rushees from Battle Creek with a swimming party and Dutch lunch at the home of Dr. Wendell Stadle on Goguac Lake. After a generous lunch prepared by Harry Babcock, the alumni and rushees played shuffleboard and cards. George Farley, the rush party chairman, was ably assisted by Active Ken Parlin of DePauw, who has transferred to Michigan State this year.

One of our active alumni members, J. Addington Wagner, has been recently elected Commander of the American Legion for the state of Michigan. He is a veteran of World War II and an attorney by profession.

The yearly election of officers was held last spring with the following members being elected: president, Russell B. Smith; vice-president, Norman Schmitzer; secretary, Harold B. Wright; and treasurer, Louis Philipps.

Plans are being made to have a dinner meeting in the near future at Schuler's Restaurant in Marshall. We hope to have several alumni from Southern Michigan to join us. Our regular monthly meeting is held the fourth Friday in Babcock's Restaurant at the Williams House at noon. All Deltas are welcome.

HAROLD B. WRIGHT

Boston

A warm welcome is waiting every Thursday noon to visiting Deltas at our luncheons at Patten's Restaurant on the second floor.

A recent visitor was Marion Llewellyn, Gamma Delta, '34, who promises to be a regular attendant.

We are now really going to hold our first postwar Founders Day celebration in March and get going again on our evening meetings.

RUDY HELGESON

Chicago

Our big event of the fall was the annual rushing dinner, which was held August 30 at the Michigan Shores Club in Wilmette. The 31 prospective pledges present represented rushees for the Cornell, DePauw, Illinois, Illinois Tech, Iowa State, Lawrence, Nebraska, Northwestern, Purdue, Washington and Lee, Rensselaer and Stanford chapters.

Undergraduates and alumni made up the remainder of some 90 men enjoying the dinner, the music by "Chuck" Crowder of Lawrence, and the inspiring talk on Fraternity life by John Hutchinson, Beta Pi, '22. At the speakers' table were A. B. Walling, Beta Phi, '11, newly promoted to the Distinguished Service Chapter; Dr. Ted VanDellen, Beta Pi, '32; Stuart Fox, President of the Northern Division; Harold Bever, Beta Psi, '32, vice-president of the alumni chapter; and your reporter.

There has not been time enough to hear from most of the chapters whose rushees were entertained, but we feel that each one of the boys would make good Delt material and that each was well prepared for further rushing by John's excellent talk and the good fellowship of the occasion.

The chapter recently lost its secretary, Larry Clark, who was called to a new job in Appleton, Wisconsin, just after he had sent in the last letter to THE RAINBOW. The president is filling in as acting secretary. Larry's new work takes him among friends and brothers at the seat of his alma mater and undergraduate chapter.

We wish to correct the error in our last letter by which Brothers Roy West, Beta Beta, '90, and Jack Dienner, Gamma Eta, '13, were referred to as father-in-law and son-in-law respectively. They aren't; but they usually appear together at alumni chapter affairs and all of us would be glad if their relationship were even closer

TWO CHARTERS GRANTED

Early this fall the Arch Chapter voted charters for two more Delta Tau Delta alumni chapters. They are the Evansville Alumni Chapter, Evansville, Indiana, and the Augusta Alumni Chapter, Augusta, Georgia.

One of them (Evansville) is represented for the first time in this issue. We invite both of these new groups to become regular contributors to THE RAINBOW.

We have received a copy of the remarkable and prize-winning DABU from Baker University and of the equally remarkable DELT from Ohio University, and wonder if the latter appeared soon enough to be considered by the board making the awards. [Editor's Note: The DELT was received after the awards had been made. It will be considered by the committee in this year's competition.] The DELT is most ingeniously made up after the manner of Time.

C. C. "BUNKER" BEAN

Cincinnati

As summer leaves begin to turn to shades of brown, the Cincinnati alumni find themselves in a reflective mood. In their memories is the Golf Party held at Twin Oaks Country Club, where, with Art Jacobs, Gamma Xi, '39, as chairman, fine fellowship was enjoyed at dinner, on the links, and in the rain which inevitably followed.

Reflective thoughts of our Coney Party, too, return, and Jack Powell's (Chi, '26) fine work as chairman is remembered with thanks. Thanks, too, to our good brother Ed Schott for making this event, as always, the high spot of the year.

With local Chapter Gamma Xi needing support in rushing, since it has lost two presidents to the military and through transfer during the summer, the alumni sponsored three rush parties. The fine array of freshmen sporting the Delt pledge pin attested to the success of the rush parties at Hawley Todd's farm and "Over the Rhine" at Bob Heuck's (Gamma Xi, '13).

Our two delegates to the Karnea, Forrest Maddux, Omega, '34, and Art Jacobs, returned with enthusiastic accounts of the activities there. These were not news to many who had made the trip to Columbus with them.

Approaching in the near future are two events of interest to all alumni in the Cincinnati area. Following the Homecoming Game on November 4, Ed Hoffeld, Gamma Xi, '41, and his committee are planning a special party for all returning grads. Dick Krug, Omega, '31, promises an equally festive occasion at the December Square Dance. Look for future notice of these affairs as well as our annual Christmas Party and the election of new officers.

Bids have been received on the Humphrey Memorial Addition to the Gamma Xi Chapter house. Negotiations are under way to obtain a building loan from the Fraternity. Plans are moving quickly to make Gamma Xi again one of the best-housed fraternities on campus.

DICK REIMAN

Cleveland

Under the capable leadership of President Jack Baskin, the Cleveland Alumni Chapter continues to carry on its active and interesting program. The weekly luncheon meetings held every Friday noon at the Nanking Restaurant in the Hippodrome Building are well attended. Now in its sixteenth year, our News Bulletin keeps members informed on all functions and activities of local Deltas while an occasional social event adds all that is necessary to keep things humming.

Just a few brief bits about some of our busy brothers—Bill and Betty Hecker on a trip to Europe, top Citizen Bob Weaver doing heavy duty on Charter Commission, former Cleveland Mayor, Clayton Townes, here for a few days. Larry Stewart, Ohio U. Delt, recently married to the very attractive Barbara Metcalf. Larry has settled in Cleveland and is practicing law with offices in the Hippodrome Building. Purdue Delt Jon Ruhlman doing aeronautical research engineering for Cleveland Pneumatic Tool Company. Dick Dreher, Michigan Delt, moves from Niagara Falls to Cleveland. Bob McFarlin is publisher of widely circulated national magazine Swap and Shop which reaches more than 40,000 radio stations and owners of amateur transmitting stations. Dr. Frank Ferris was principal speaker at big Y.M.C.A. fall conference. Frank Shelton, recently elected Arch Chapter Secretary, really busy getting acquainted with his new duties. Dr. Robert Griswold, Western Reserve, returning to Cleveland from Honolulu for further specialized medical study. Bill Mould and Lane Jonap among younger Deltas recalled to military service. Marcus Hyre returns from European trip which was a gift from his parents after graduation from Western Reserve. Karl Ertle and family vacationed in Georgian Bay on their cabin cruiser. Roy Speers was principal speaker at Erie County Fall Festival. C. D. Russell, Vice-President, and Russ Griffin, Dean, seem to be making a fine team for Western Reserve. Insurance Man Ed Henckel branching into international business with several big accounts in Canada.

Plenty more of this type of chit-chat available, but we must hold to space limits. Visiting Deltas and all others in the Cleveland area are cordially invited to attend the weekly luncheons and to participate in our chapter functions.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

After the excitement of the Columbus Karnea was over, the Deltas in this area were content to rest for a while in order to catch their breath. They still met as usual, however, each Friday for luncheon at the University Club for good fellowship and good food.

On September 28 several of the Delt alumni attended the Fall Roundup sponsored this year by Beta Phi Chapter at Brother Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm. A fine picnic supper of chicken-on-the-wing was served after several hours of football, tennis, and swimming. Brothers Alben Barkley and James Melton both happened to be in town on October 27.

The Delt Wives Club announced the election of the following new officers: president, Mrs. Gordon Campbell; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Freeble; secretary, Mrs. Frank Mallett; and treasurer, Mrs. Gill Brehm. The charming spouses served a chili dinner at the Beta Phi house after the OSU-Wisconsin game November 11.

J. DEAN STRAUSBAUGH

Dallas

This past week end the Dallas Alumni Chapter has participated in one of the greatest football week ends in the history of the Southwest. The annual Texas-O. U. football game was held in the Cotton Bowl, followed by the S.M.U.-Oklahoma A. & M. game. The Dallas alumni sponsored a dance at the Adolphus Hotel for the undergraduate chapters of Texas, Oklahoma, and A. & M. We are now looking forward to next year when we hope we can sponsor a dance for these chapters and also a new chapter at Southern Methodist University.

For the past year we have been in constant contact with Southern Methodist University, fostering good will toward establishing a colony for Delta Tau Delta. It is our belief that our Fraternity will be the next to be invited, possibly next year. Should any undergraduate be interested in attending S.M.U. next fall, we would like to hear from him, as our chances of establishing a chapter will be greatly increased if there are a number of Deltas on the campus at that time.

It was our pleasure to have Associate Justice Tom C. Clark, past president of Gamma Iota, Texas University, and his wife as our guests of honor at a reception in the Presidential Suite of the Adolphus Hotel last July 9. Similar receptions will be held in the future in honor of all prominent alumni visiting in Dallas.

Major General Albert Sidney Johnson entertained 75 undergraduate members of Gamma Iota and eleven rushees with a dinner at his home last month. Although the weather was rather cool, some of the guests enjoyed a swim before dinner. That evening the rushees and their dates were given of the alumni at a dance held by the undergraduates. A number of Dallas and Fort Worth alumni also attended the dance.

The Dallas alumni are making arrangements for the annual state-wide Founders Day Banquet to be held in Dallas next April 14. We have reserved 100 rooms at the Adolphus Hotel and hope that it will be necessary to increase this number, as we want our attendance to surpass that of the banquet in Houston last year, at which over 400 Deltas were present. Our speakers will be announced in the near future, and we are cordially inviting all Deltas to attend. There will also be a dinner and entertainment for the wives.

The Dallas Alumni Chapter meets the first Monday of each month for luncheon and has an evening meeting about once each three months. All alumni in the Dallas area are invited to attend.

SAM W. CLARK

Evansville

Because we are so very new here in Evansville, there is little news to report for the December issue.

We are planning, however, our inaugural meeting on November 13, and Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields has been invited. The chapter's first president, Gordon "Bish" Thompson, Baker, '35, will preside.

We promise a good deal more for the spring issue in March.

BEN LURIE

Findlay

The Findlay Alumni Chapter held a golf party and dinner at the Findlay Country Club September 7. President Dick Shoupe proved too good for the brothers at golf and promptly thereafter resigned as our president. Brother Howard Frowine was elected president for the ensuing year and Brother Al Fenstermaker was re-elected over his dead body to the secretary-treasurer post.

Plans for the new year, including a Christmas get-together, were outlined by President Frowine, and it was decided to entertain the actives of Findlay at that time.

Rushing prospects were discussed and the secretary instructed to write letters of recommendation. Brother Ed Heminger reported on the Karnea activities.

To date the only Delt from Findlay recalled to active service is Ed Heminger, but a few others wouldn't be surprised if our whiskered Uncle calls before THE RAINBOW arrives in December.

AL FENSTERMAKER

Fort Worth

The Fort Worth Alumni Chapter violated the ago-old tradition of inactivity during the summer months by conducting "business as usual." Regular meetings, a rush party, and a committee luncheon have occupied the schedule since our last report in THE RAINBOW.

August saw the Fort Worth Deltas gather at Youngblood's for a fried chicken dinner. While the attendance was not up to par, excuses from the absent members indicated they were in the four corners of the country on vacations.

Jess Norman, former prexy of our chapter, played host to his daughter, Mrs. Hall-sell, and three grandchildren (all boys),

Tonic for Ailing Attendance

Credit the Supervisor of Scholarship, Francis M. Hughes, with this idea for stimulating attendance at alumni chapters' weekly luncheon meetings.

With this colorful reminder, there is little excuse for missing the regular Friday luncheon.

while she and Captain Halsell were en route to Chicago.

Colonel Julian C. Harris has been recalled to active duty with the Army. Dr. Sim Hulsey is busy with his duties as president of the Tarrant County Medical Society and the added responsibility of co-operating with the armed forces in the recruitment of medical officers. Sam Hulsey returned to his sophomore year at Washington and Lee, where he is a Delt pledge. Dr. Bill Hulsey recently returned from vacation in California and Prexy Bill West took a two-week automobile trip to parts unknown. Dr. Craig Boyd has applied for a commission in the United States Navy and expects to leave sometime after the first of the year.

The early part of September saw the Fort Worth alumni on Eagle Mountain Lake, entertaining Gamma Iota active members and Fort Worth rushees. Some 35 members and guests enjoyed a good evening of getting acquainted. Thanks to Carrol Collins of Gamma Iota and Frank Sherwood of the Fort Worth Alumni Chapter for their work on this affair.

Plans call for a Fall Party of the chapter, which will include dinner and bridge for the members, wives, and dates. Advance reports from the committee indicate that this will be a successful evening and a wonderful opportunity to meet the ladies.

While unable to be represented at the Sixtieth Karnea, the Fort Worth Alumni Chapter enjoyed the fine report contained in the last RAINBOW. Indications are that Delta Tau Delta is fast achieving the Prophecy and will advance still further under the leadership of our new officers. The Fort Worth Alumni Chapter pledges its continued support and co-operation.

DR. WILLIAM O. HULSEY

Greater New York

The Greater New York Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta is still holding its monthly meetings on the second Wednesday of each month at the Engineers' Club, 32 W. 40th Street, New York City, at 12 noon. We always have a speaker and a good turnout.

Our September meeting was given to a report of the Karnea by Prexy Keyser. Incidentally, we were represented by no less than eight members at the Karnea: Brothers Charlie Keyser, J. T. Robinson, W. Orvis "Prexy" Heyworth, A. Russell, Bruce Bielaski, Herb McCracken, and Branch Rickey.) Our October meeting featured Brother Dudley, who spoke on Turbo-Superchargers, of interest to all who attended.

At the October meeting we had representatives from 17 chapters present. (Brother E. M. Holcombe, Rho, '01, got up at 6 a.m. and traveled 110 miles just to be there.) Brother E. T. Bell, Delta Theta, '35, was present, all the way from Toronto, Canada. It really proves that the Deltas come from far and wide to attend these meetings. It affords an excellent opportunity to meet brothers from all parts of the country.

In November, Brother Bill Cecil will speak on "Counterfeiting," our December meeting will have a talk on "Dentistry" by Brother Bill Dietz, and in January, Brother Jack Maeson will talk on "Perfumes."

We are organizing evening meetings on a local basis, since many men find it difficult to come to the luncheon meetings. The brothers to contact in the various areas are as follows: Long Island—J. T. Robinson, Manhasset 7-3863; New Jersey—C. Keyser; Westchester—Bill Cecil, White Plains 9-1653; Connecticut—R. J. Diaz, Norwalk 8-3795. Call one of these people to show your interest and offer your help if you'd like to attend evening meetings.

We also continue with our downtown luncheons on the first Tuesday of each month at the Chamber of Commerce Building, 65 Liberty Street in the fourth floor dining room, at noon. Just a meeting to get together—no speeches, no formal meeting.

RICHARD J. DIAZ

Houston

Houston Deltas were honored recently by a visit from the Gamma Iota rush team. Fifteen undergraduates met the alumni chapter for breakfast where Bill Webb, president of Gamma Iota, made a report on the Karnea at Columbus. The alumni also heard of progress made by Gamma Iota as well as the Fraternity throughout the country and received a standing invitation to visit the Shelter in Austin to relax under the recently completed air-conditioning system which many of us are now enjoying during this brilliant South-west Conference football season.

At the annual election of officers held at the College Inn, Ed Richardson was elected president for 1950-51. President Richardson, an independent oil operator, succeeded J. N. Troxell of The Texas Company. Other officers elected were: Bob Ives, first vice-president; Jim Hunter, second vice-president; and Bill Hawkins, secretary-treasurer.

We should like to take this opportunity to thank Jack and Dick Troxell, Si Ragsdale, Jr., and Charles Westmoreland for making the election dinner the best in history. We welcome all Houston Deltas to our monthly luncheons held at the Houston Club on the second Friday of each month.

BILL HAWKINS

Indianapolis

The annual fall golf tournament and banquet were held on Friday, September 15, 1950, at the Highland Country Club. Officers for the year were elected. Fred C. Tucker, Jr., Beta Beta, '40, was elected president, assisted by Bowman Downey, Beta Psi, '37, vice-president; Larry Gordon, Delta Beta, '40, treasurer; Edwin H. Hughes, III, Beta Beta, '43, secretary, and Joseph R. Morgan, Beta Zeta, '89, president emeritus.

The weekly luncheons are now being held at the Canary Cottage, on the Circle (we outgrew the space at the Washington Hotel), every Friday at noon. If we continue to increase the attendance at the present rate, we shall soon need an even larger meeting place, so be on the lookout for an announcement to that effect.

A full and varied program of late fall and winter activities is now being formulated and will be announced in the near future. A good year for Indianapolis Deltas is being forecast, and we welcome all of you brothers to get in on the fun.

EDWIN HOLT HUGHES, III

Kansas City

The Kansas City Alumni Chapter was very proud to get the news that Martin B. Dickinson, Kansas, '26, had been elected President of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. A luncheon was given in Martin's behalf September 21 at the Pine Room in the University Club. It was a very fine luncheon enjoyed by 54 members.

Dean Frank T. Stockton, Alpha, '07, from the University of Kansas School of Extension, was the guest speaker. Brother Stockton made the remark in his speech that he was very proud to be able to say that he was instrumental in getting Brother Dickinson into Delta Tau Delta. At the time of Martin's college days at Kansas, Dean Stockton was chapter adviser for Gamma Tau.

Brother Dickinson was presented an engraved cigarette lighter from the alumni chapter by Roscoe C. Groves, Missouri, '13.

Brother Fred C. Gunn, R.P.I., '87, was recognized as the oldest Delt in the Kansas City Alumni Chapter. Brother Black, president of the alumni group, then introduced the officers and the various committees in the alumni chapter.

A moment of silence was observed at the close of the luncheon in memory of Francis R. Brodie, Missouri, '15, whose recent death was a great shock to the alumni group. Brother Brodie was treasurer of the Missouri house corporation and a hard worker of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

Milton C. Tainter, Baker, '26, chairman for the Social Committee, is working on an evening get-together in the near future. Any suggestions and help would be greatly appreciated.

Election of officers will be held the first meeting in January. Let's all turn out to cast our votes.

W. R. LOUDON

Long Beach

Heading the Long Beach, California, Alumni Chapter's very prosperous year was the successful formation of the University Club. John G. Spielman, Iowa, '87, originally founded the Long Beach University Club back in 1924, but due to an influx of non-college men, the club was abandoned. John kept the charter alive all these years.

Ray O. Gould, Michigan, '15, conceived the idea for the Club's re-establishment and a committee of three men, Robert Taplin, Floyd Vinson, and Charles Wardman, under Ray Gould's leadership, gathered the necessary data and succeeded with the plans. The result of this fine club is very obvious as one visits the top floor of the Lafayette Hotel, the permanent home of the Club.

All Deltas are invited to attend our monthly luncheon held at the University Club on the fourth Thursday of every month. A special table is reserved and the food is excellent, at reasonable prices. We are continuing, as in the past, to place strong accent on helping active chapters secure good material, the procedure being to have several get-togethers with prospective members and active chapters prior to the fall semester. This, combined with the constant recommendations being sent throughout the nation, has brought good results.

Our regular meetings are held monthly the second Wednesday at the Pacific Coast Club. Contact C. E. Wardman, Office Phone 21217, or Home Phone 906-990 for additional information.

New officers of the alumni chapter are: Art Bates Lane, president; Edwin S. Thomas, vice-president; and Charles E. Wardman, secretary-treasurer.

CHARLES E. WARDMAN

Los Angeles

Delts who read this should know of the fine representative this chapter had at the Karnea. He was none other than J. C. Carl Jessen, Indiana. Brother Carl ably attended the affairs of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter and gave us a complete and interesting report of what went on at Columbus the last of August.

Since the last publication of THE RAINBOW, Delt alumni gathered together for the Annual Summer Jinx at Pop's Willow Lake, where they participated in volleyball and cards. All present expressed their "Thanks" to the chairman of the event, "Stu" McKenzie, U.C.L.A., who, with the assistance of Jack Cain, California and U.C.L.A., did yeoman work in the preparation and arrangement for this long-remembered "Jinx."

If you missed the alumni dinner at the U.C.L.A. Shelter on Thursday, September 28, please make note of such future events. There were more than 65 Delts (alumni) present to hear Brother George Dickerson, Delta Iota, assistant coach at U.C.L.A., talk on football. Also on the program were Brothers Bob Watson, cocaptain of the U.C.L.A. football team, and Bob Smith, Delta Pi, public relations department of U.S.C. For "football dessert" Don McMullin, Kenyon, furnished a movie of last year's "Little Rose Bowl Game" between Little Rock and Santa Ana. All Delts, representing 18 different chapters, had an excellent evening.

On Thursday night, October 26, Delt alumni of the Los Angeles chapter met for dinner at the Delta Pi Shelter, 919 West Adams Street, Los Angeles. All Delts were invited. Larry O'Neil, president of Delta Pi Chapter, and Dick Mackaig made the arrangements.

December 7 is "Past Presidents' Day." Toby Tyler, Colorado, is chairman, and he planned a "bang-up" program to honor those men, our past presidents, who have so successfully steered the All America Alumni Chapter through the years. This being the first meeting in December, it was also the time for the election of officers for the forthcoming year.

WILLIAM N. SCHWAB

National Capital

On September 15 we held our annual fall picnic. This year it was held at Palisades Park rather than Meadowbrook. We had a wonderful time and those of you who could not make it missed an enjoyable evening. Bob Newby, George Washington, '24, showed us some movies he had taken of the previous Delt picnics and recreational activities of Gamma Eta and Delta Sigma Chapters. The movies were swell, for Bob, as usual, did a fine job.

I wonder if all of you realize that Bob Newby is the one who edits and produces the National Capitol Delt paper which we receive regularly. Bob also set up and keeps up to date the address stencils which we have for all Delts in this area and for many out of town. We have somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000 names on our mailing list. At every Founders Day Banquet we always see Bob Newby, not eating his dinner as the rest of us do, but walking around taking pictures of the group or setting up his equipment to throw the song slides on the screen.

If I have taken up a lot of space telling about Brother Newby, it is certainly intentional, for he has done more for Delta Tau Delta than many of us realize and we all are indebted to him.

Bob Van Sickler, Cincinnati, '29, is a mighty happy and proud father since his son, Robert H., was pledged recently at the University of Cincinnati to Gamma Xi Chapter. We are all mighty happy for Bob and those of you who have met young Bob will agree he is a fine fellow and will make a good Delt.

November 17 is the date set for our annual fall dance to be held at the Washington Golf and Country Club. The dance committee is headed by Bill Sheris, Pittsburgh, '41, and he has excellent help from Gordon Delk, George Washington, '33, Pierce McDowell, Stanford, '34, and Bob Van Sickler. Mark your calendar now—November 17 is the date for a good time.

Dr. John A. Swartwout, George Washington, '32, attended a rush party and barbecue at the Delt house at Maryland University on October 11. Dr. Swartwout made a talk to the men on "The Value of a Fraternity after Graduation."

During the Christmas holidays we are going to hold a "smoker" at the Potomac Boat Club for all Delts young and old. We want to extend this invitation to the Delts who will come home to Washington for the holidays and especially to the ones home from school. A definite date for this "smoker" has not been set as yet, but it can be learned later by getting in touch with any of those on the committee, with Riggs Monfort, or with me. The committee chairman is Ray G. Clark, Sr., Cornell, '19, and members of his committee are Ronald Fett, North Dakota, '49, and Dan Eberly, George Washington, '29.

On the first Thursday of every month we are holding our noon luncheon at the University Club rather than at Bonat's Restaurant. All other luncheons will still be at Bonat's. At the University Club we shall have the benefit of a private room to hear prominent Delts give us a short after-luncheon talk. On October 5 we heard Jack Norris, George Washington, '29, give a very interesting and informative talk on "The Cold War—the Pentagon—Korea." Bill Leetch, Cornell, '15, who was in attendance, consented to talk at one of our future luncheons. Bill is the Outdoor Sports Editor for the Washington Star.

LOWELL H. MORAN

Northern Kentucky

The Northern Kentucky Delt alumni were most unfortunate during recent months in losing two very active and outstanding members in the untimely deaths of Brother Frank Marty and Brother Dave Hamilton. Both contributed much to the present success of our organization.

Our activities since the last edition include the regular monthly stag get-togethers, the annual rush party, and a party for our Delt Dames on alternate months. We enjoyed a nice turnout of undergraduates from the Cincinnati chapter at the rush party in July.

On October 20 we had a goodly gathering for our annual square dance. We were glad to welcome eight Delt couples from "yonder side" of the Ohio River in Cincinnati. They were: Fred and Dotty Tower; Ed and Marilyn Hoffeld; John and Charlotte Petzhold; Bob and Florence Heuck; Herb and Ruth Schroth; John and Lucy Maescher; Wendell and Helen Hanselman; and Sam and Lynn Patterson.

Northern Kentucky Delts and their dames who attended were Fred and "Finky" Hall; Cam and Say Coffman; T. J. and Ruth Hall; Bill and Muriel Petty; Bob and Vaughan Bullock; Garth and Nell Slater; Vint and Fritzie Mae Stegeman; Bill and Helen Stegeman; Fred and Marjorie Stine; Len and Marg Weakley; John ("Boots") and Laverne Wuest; Tom Youtsey, Sr.; Tom Youtsey, Jr., and an attractive young lady whom "Young Tom" would not introduce to any of the "wolves"; and the "perennial bachelor," Ollie "Elmer" Hall.

Garth Slater, our incumbent prexy, is currently "sweating out" his Army orders. He's a major, suh! All 275 pounds of him. Another blow fell when Ollie Hunter, secretary-treasurer, reported for extended active duty on October 20. He's a captain in the Finance Department.

Some reports had Al Brandt back in the Army. We'll give a further report on him in the next issue.

CAMERON COFFMAN

Oklahoma City

New officers for the coming year were elected at a recent meeting of the Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter. They are: George Anthony, president; Arnold Shelley, vice-president; Walter Moore, secretary-treasurer; Allen Moore, social chairman. Wendell Cates replaced Shelley, who was called to active duty with the Marine Corps.

Regular monthly meetings for Oklahoma City alumni have been set for the last Thursday of each month at 6:30 p.m. at Beverly's Drive-In on North Lincoln. A cordial invitation is extended to any visiting Delts and to actives at Norman and Stillwater.

homa A. & M. College had the new Shelter looking like a million bucks for rush. Don Holt, Dale Edmondson, Walter Moore, and George Anthony were there to talk over old times and do a little work! We would like to urge all alumni to visit our newest chapter and to help them as much as possible. They have a fine start but need our support right now.

Tentative plans for a Homecoming dance at Norman on October 21 have been made. Allen Moore is handling the details and promises a good party.

Congratulations to Bill Bender and the Delta Alpha Glee Club for the splendid showing they made at our Karnea. The results indicated a great deal of preparation and hard work.

Plans are being made for a regular newsletter to all alumni in the Oklahoma City area. If you're a newcomer from another state or if you aren't on our mailing list, please send your correct address to Walter Moore, 1721 Drexel Boulevard, Oklahoma City.

GEORGE ANTHONY

Philadelphia

In furtherance of the program of bringing the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter in closer touch with nearby undergraduate chapters, a series of joint luncheons at the Omega Chapter house has been planned for the fall and winter season. These luncheons will be on the third Tuesday of the month, with the first luncheon to be held October 17 at 1:00 p.m. This plan is in the nature of an experiment both for the Omega Chapter and the alumni chapter. No formal program is planned initially.

Several of our younger alumni have been ordered back into active military or naval service and more are expected to follow in coming months.

JOHN Y. LATTA

Pittsburgh

With the Sixtieth Karnea under their belts, Pittsburgh Delts scarcely had time to catch their breath before heading out to Butler, Pennsylvania, for the annual joint golf tournament and dinner with the Butler Alumni Chapter.

Spurred on by a perfect golfing day, the brothers from Butler and Pittsburgh conquered the 18-hole course at Butler Country Club and squared off at the dinner table for what turned out to be a bargain feast. To the "big-city" Delts, used to being forced to pay $3.00 for a plate of chop suey, the Butler "two-dollar special," featuring half a chicken and all the accessories, seemed too good to be real.

After the 35 brothers looked over pictures taken at the Karnea, they were welcomed officially by Verne Wise, publisher of the Butler Eagle and president of the local alumni chapter. Division President A. J. (Bud) Murphy brought the alumni who had missed the Karnea up to date with a capsule summary of the four days at Columbus. Pittsburgh Alumni President Harris Hawkins climaxed the evening by awarding golf prizes for the lowest scores.

The falling leaves that signaled the beginning of another football season brought deep personal sadness to many of the local alumni. Charles "Doc" Hartwig, All-American guard at Pitt and later a member of the University coaching staff, had passed away. A highly regarded sportsman and gentleman, "Doc" Hartwig had brought glory to his Alma Mater, his Fraternity, and Gamma Sigma Chapter as a member of Coach Jock Sutherland's famous

As traces of snow replaced the autumn leaves in the Keystone State, Delts from Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia prepared for the oldest of local alumni traditions—the Delt church service at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral. For the sixteenth consecutive year, Dean N. R. H. Moor opened the doors of the stately Gothic edifice to hundreds of his brother Delts on Sunday evening, December 3.

After the special church service, featuring an address by Dean Moor, the lights of the cathedral were darkened and, seemingly from within the walls of the sanctuary, came the rich voice of Bill Collins with the beloved words of "Delta Shelter."

When the returning brilliance of the electric lights broke the hushed silence that followed Brother Collins' sixteenth rendition (he sang at the first Trinity service in 1934 and at each succeeding Christmas program) the Delts and their wives and sweethearts adjourned to the parish house for the annual sing contest.

Under the supervision of Sing Chairman Bob Buell, undergraduate teams from Pitt, Tech, W. & J., Allegheny, and West Virginia put forth their best vocal efforts in hopes of capturing the handsome clock donated as a prize by a group of alumni headed by Gamma Chapter's Harry Birmingham.

After the contest and the awarding of the clock, the entire audience got a chance to show their singing talents in saluting Dean Moor and the program committee with their favorite Delt songs.

As the capacity crowd of Delts filed out of the Cathedral, and another year of Fraternity activities drew to a close, Pittsburgh alumni looked back on 1950 as another vivid proof that enthusiastic participation in Delta Tau Delta need not end with graduation.

BILL RAINES

Portland

Portland Delts began the fall season auspiciously with the commencement of regular luncheons on Wednesday, September 20. The new luncheon schedule is every first and third Wednesday of each month at the Broiler Restaurant. Delts were enthusiastic over the excellent food, service, and hospitality. Not only are all Delts invited, but those who are able are urged to attend and participate in order to make 1950-51 an outstanding season of Delt activity in Portland.

October 28 saw Delts engaging in a real old-fashioned Hallowe'en Hoedown, a hard times party, at the Metzger Community Club. The turnout was excellent, indicating that the most successful season ever enjoyed by Portland Delts was under way.

Over the past years the annual Christmas dance of the Portland Alumni Chapter has become almost an institution. This year it will be bigger and better than ever. It will again be held at the Rose Bowl of the Multnomah Hotel, featuring Joe Dardis and his Orchestra. All Delts and their guests are welcome to come and join in the fun.

It seems that all too often bad news must come with the good. The death of prominent Author Ernest Haycox in Portland on October 13 was indeed a great loss to Delta Tau Delta. Wayne Privett, Gamma Rho, '49, has been listed as killed in action in Korea.

News of the brothers: Among those showing up at the fall luncheons after a period of absence are Morris Kinney, George Butler, Harry Wolf, Tim Wood, E. B. Twining, Hal Simpson, John Brugman, Herm Blaesing, and Ken Hauser. The renewed activity of these men is welcome. Paul Nagel, recent Oregon grad, is now in business with his father in the Nagel Supply Company. Roy Vernstrom is advertising manager for Pacific Power and Light, while Jack McLaughlin is now a partner in the law firm of Phelps, Burdick & McLaughlin. Dwight Parr has recently returned from an extended summer tour of Europe.

DICK McNAMARA

St. Louis

Topping off our summer social season, the St. Louis Alumni Chapter and the members of various active chapters entertained about 70 rushees at a successful party. A ham buffet supper was served, followed by entertainment and informative talks to the rushees by George Fisher, Cullen Coil, and Bill Martindill. A majority of the rushees present were later listed on chapter pledge lists; so we felt that our party attained its goal.

At our September 25 meeting, we were most fortunate in having as our speaker the newly elected President of the Fraternity, Martin B. Dickinson. It is always a pleasure to see and hear from him, and as usual he gave us an interesting talk describing the proceedings at the Karnea and reiterated the aims of the Fraternity. Brother Bill Martindill, re-elected Treasurer of the Fraternity, who was supposed to have been our speaker, very graciously stepped aside when he found that President Dickinson would be in town.

Since the last edition of THE RAINBOW, two of our members—Crawford Kind and Jack Feldhaus—have been married.

Our next social activity will be a Christmas party at which wives and sweethearts will be included. The date and place will be publicized to the St. Louis group via our monthly newsletter.

Again let me say that if there are any Delts in the St. Louis area who are not receiving our newsletter, please drop me a line and your name will be included on our mailing list.

LARRY STREAM

San Diego

The San Diego Alumni Chapter has not called a fall meeting but has through efforts of individuals rounded up a selected number of prospective Delts for recommendation to various active chapters.

Each recommendation has been based on thorough investigation of the freshman's abilities and background. Now we are sitting back to see if our judgment of good Delt material is sound.

STUART N. LAKE

Seattle

Undoubtedly the best attended and most outstanding event of the fall season for Seattle alumni is the annual Homecoming at the University of Washington, and this year is no exception.

On Thursday evening, November 2, Delt alumni will be entertained at the Gamma Mu Chapter house with a welcome-back-grads stag party provided by the undergraduate chapter. The party will not only give the alumni an opportunity to meet their Delt friends but will also provide an excellent time to meet the newly pledged members of Delta Tau Delta. The Gamma Mu Chapter pledged 25 men this fall, which is indicative of the fine chapter the Delts have at Washington.

In addition to the entertainment side of Homecoming, Delt alumni will have the added pleasure of seeing the newly redecorated Shelter. The outside of the chapter house has had an extensive face-lifting with the interior being redecorated throughout.

Of course Homecoming wouldn't be Homecoming without the perennial football game. This year it's Washington versus California. The "Huskies" have shown great promise thus far and the California game is shaping up to be one of the major games of the season in Pacific Coast Conference play. Confidentially, it is the dream of all good Washingtonians that this is the year the Washington "Huskies" will represent the Pacific Coast schools in the annual Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. Time will tell!

WILL TELLER

Syracuse

Members of the Syracuse Alumni Chapter had the opportunity to see a grand bunch of boys initiated into Gamma Omicron on October 21. Following the formal rites, an initiation banquet was held at the Snow White Inn in Pompey.

The banquet speaker was Woody Benoit, who came up from New York for the occasion. Woody was first president of the reactivated chapter two years ago and is now associated with Young & Rubicon, one of the leading advertising agencies in the country.

FORREST H. WILMEYER

Tampa

After a busy late summer rush season, Tampa alumni sat back on their . . . haunches and took things easy for a little while. Not for long, though, because plans are already in motion for the big Christmas dance, an annual blowout of Tampa Delt-dom.

This year it looks bigger and better than ever, with a record number of alumni in town, large active chapters with members who will be in the city for Christmas, and a lot of enthusiasm left over from the previous year. Just in case you will be around the Sunshine State during Christmas week, this formal dance will transpire on Thursday evening, December 28, at the Palma Ceia Golf and Country Club. All Delts are welcome, especially those who pay their own way!

For those who don't consider themselves night-owls, the annual New Year's luncheon meeting of actives and alumni of the Tampa area is open to all comers—definite time and place to be announced later. Clip out the secretary's name and address from the back page of this issue of THE RAINBOW and pester the life out of him for the information, if you're going to be in town. Remember, any Delt who has sense enough to spend the winter in sunny Florida is always welcome at any meeting or social function. Or call some of the Tampa brothers and chew the fat anytime you happen to be passing through.

SANDY GEER

Toledo

A small but faithful group of alumni under the leadership of Herbert M. Sharp, Gamma Beta, '05, have been meeting each Tuesday for luncheon at Kin Hong Low Restaurant, 816 Jefferson Avenue.

Interest in a program of visits to nearby active chapters has been built up by the visits of several undergraduate Delts during the summer and early fall meetings. It is likely that the Toledo alumni may make pilgrimages to Delta Tau, Kappa, and Delta Chapters during the 1950-51 school year.

The Toledo Alumni Chapter devotes the entire Tuesday luncheon period to fellowship. Visitors from other alumni groups or active chapters are always welcome.

Some scouting is being done to find a more club-like atmosphere for the meetings, but it will probably take several months to find the right combination of menu, meeting date, parking facilities, and central location.

A proposal to publish a local roster of all Delta Tau Delta alumni is being studied.

G. WILFRID HIBBERT

Topeka

No special activities with our Topeka group. Our next luncheon meeting will be held November 7, and at that meeting it is planned to arrange for a Delt party to be held during the holidays.

Our president, Roy Bulkley, is a candidate for the position of Judge of the Court of Topeka at the coming election, and we are all pulling for his success.

Mike Oberhelman, of the Central National Bank, is doing his usual good job as referee for some big football games this fall, and his schedule includes the S.M.U.-Missouri game, the Tulsa-Villanova tilt, and the Oklahoma-Missouri game.

While our local college, Washburn University, does not have a Delt chapter, the Washburn line coach is a Delt from the University of Illinois, George Bernhardt, and he has the best wishes of all the local Delts for a good season.

Our good member, Floyd Strong, has recently resigned his position with the state and has opened his own law office in the Insurance Building.

Starting with our December luncheon, we hope to have a speaker at every meeting, including our neighbor, Martin Dickinson, of Kansas City, President of the Fraternity. He visited us a little over a year ago, and all our local group would like to have him back.

FRANK F. HOGUELAND

Tulsa

At its September meeting the chapter discussed ways and means of obtaining more accurate and current knowledge of the Oklahoma active chapters and their activities. Even such interested alumni as Bob Bates, Larry Wilson, Parke Davis, and Jack Harlow cannot tell us all we should know of these matters. Much as we would like to visit individually the nearby chapters several times a year, some of us actually do not average one trip each year. The best means of offsetting this lack of firsthand knowledge seemed to be to foot the bills for actives to visit us and join in our own meetings, if they could find the time. Accordingly, invitations went out to Delta Chi and Delta Alpha with the request that they send their representatives to the October and November meetings, in turn.

Accepting the invitation, Delta Chi had its delegation on hand for the October get-together, which was held the week before this writing. Little talk had passed, following the excellent steak dinner, before every alumnus present had a better appreciation of the effort which has been applied by the Deltas at Stillwater. Before their newly acquired Shelter could even be occupied this fall, extensive remodeling and painting were required, and although handicapped by lack of numbers, the Delta Chi actives and pledges accomplished the work without hired assistance. As was to be expected by an infant chapter, rush was somewhat disappointing, for competition from the much larger, longer established houses was mighty tough. The chapter didn't draw a blank by any means, though, and has since concentrated on campus rush, pledging one or two men each week, and there is no let-up contemplated.

With the Delta Chi Chapter in mind, Bob Cox of Oklahoma City during the summer circulated a letter advising Oklahoma Deltas that the furnishings of the new Shelter would have to come principally from alumni contributions. Bob reports a poor response to the letter, and on investigation in this chapter alone, we have come to the conclusion that a considerable percentage of the alumni has never received it. Unquestionably Bob used the latest address list available to him, but for some reason a number of the letters went begging. Let's not allow our new chapter at Stillwater to go begging for furniture to make the Shelter livable. It is difficult enough to build a new group to Delta Tau Delta standards even with adequate finances, so let's each see to it that Delta Chi doesn't suffer from lack of essentials. Send your check now to Bob in care of John W. Nichols, Western Division President, 1361 First National Bank Bldg., Oklahoma City 2, Oklahoma.

Thanks to the fine fellows from Delta Chi, Tulsa alumni are in a better position to assist, and we hope they are more confident of support from the "old men" of the Fraternity. In November we hope to have as our guests the representatives of Delta Alpha. It is a long trip from Norman to Tulsa and return, but we are looking forward to their coming over. We promise them at least a steak dinner in return for their trouble.

Death cut short the brilliant career of RALPH L. CARR, Colorado, '10, former governor of Colorado, on September 22, 1950. He had been chosen the Republican candidate for governor in this fall's election. Just a few hours before his death he had written to his friends this message which is typical of his spirit and determination:

"We'll show the voters a new type of campaign in every corner of Colorado and will make it effective, and from next January on I'll serve my state and nation as never before."

Mr. Carr became governor of Colorado in 1938. Despite his protest that he did not seek the job, his friends persuaded him to run for office, and he sparked a Republican revival which swept the state and retired Governor Teller Ammons from office to end a 14-year Democratic reign.

Regarded as one of the best administrators Colorado has ever had, Mr. Carr erased a two-million-dollar debt the state had incurred as his first move in office. He balanced the budget, and, although he incurred the wrath of many, he won reelection hands down in 1940.

During World War II Colorado was asked to open its doors to the Japanese-Americans who had to be moved from the West Coast. Mr. Carr threw them open, an act for which he was widely criticized. He stood firm, however, and today the displaced people make up a respected and prosperous part of many Colorado communities.

A strong supporter of Wendell Willkie, Mr. Carr seconded his nomination for the presidency in 1940. It was said that Gov-

After two terms as governor, Mr. Carr became the Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, opposing Ed C. Johnson. Their race was one of the closest in Colorado's history, and Mr. Carr lost only by a narrow margin.

In 1945 he was appointed a regent of the University of Colorado. He was elected to the regency in 1946 and re-elected in 1948 despite a Democratic landslide.

Prior to his election as chief executive of the state, Mr. Carr had served as assistant state attorney general and U. S. district attorney for Colorado. He had been key man in many water development movements in Colorado.

Mr. Carr was always active in the affairs of his Fraternity. Honorary Chairman of the Fifty-fifth Karnea, he spoke at the Estes Park meeting in 1939. Of his Fraternity he said, "Delta Tau Delta gave ERNEST J. HAYCOX, Oregon, '23, dean of Western writers, died October 13, 1950, in Portland, Oregon.

During his lifetime, Author Haycox wrote more than 20 full-length novels, nearly 300 short stories, and several screen scripts. The motion picture stories "Union Pacific," "Stagecoach," "Apache Trail," "Abilene Town," and "Canyon Passage" came from his pen. His short stories have appeared in Collier's Magazine and The Saturday Evening Post.

Some of his more popular novels are: Long Storm, Canyon Passage, Alder Gulch, Trail Town, and Rim of the Desert.

Mr. Haycox knew how to tell a tale simply and effectively, and he captured the romance, the color, and the robustness of the West as few writers have been able to do. As he said himself, "The West was—and to some extent still is—the last major stand of freedom and the rights of individuals who are willing to fight for them. It still is the freest place in the world—and that is why Western stories have such a universal appeal."

Mr. Haycox sold his first story for $30 in 1922 while he was a student of journalism at the University of Oregon. He had struck out on his own at an early age, enlisted in the National Guard when he was 16, served on the Mexican border in 1916, and shipped to France with the 162nd Infantry. When he came to the University and joined Delta Tau Delta, it was to work his way through school.

His biographers have said that the heroes of his stories are rebels—the sort you would expect from a man who was on his own at the age of 12. "Erny's heroes," they add, "are always human beings—but you never find them sitting around waiting for a government handout. They always battle it through alone."

One of his best short stories—"Window Shopping"—is said to be based on his courtship of the girl he married. Their friends say she is the prototype of almost all of Mr. Haycox's heroines.

Although his prolific writing and his trips to Hollywood studios kept him busy, he found time to be a good citizen of his community. During World War II, he was chairman of Selective Service Board No. 1 of Multnomah County, Oregon, and he was a member of the Oregon State Library Board. He served as president of both the University of Oregon Alumni Association and Dad's Club. A good Delt, he was ready to answer every call from his chapter, Gamma Rho.

ALFRED W. EVANS, Allegheny, '07, who gained world-wide recognition for his timber-clearing methods and equipment, died in Richmond, Virginia, September 14.

Early in his career Mr. Evans invented the "Puljack," a device for rapid clearing of timber, which later developed into types of power-driven winches which are now used in removing heavy growth and jungles.

During his life he traveled in remote parts of the world directing use of his equipment. One of his largest jobs was clearing a section of jungle in Colombia, South America, for pipe lines and airstrips of American oil companies.

During World War II, thousands of Mr. Evans' power-driven winches were used by forward elements of the Allies in hacking out airstrips and other installations in the Pacific and Far East.
