OF DELTA TAU DELTA

DELTA TAU DELTA was well represented at the 24th Annual Dinner of the International Variety Clubs held at the Hotel William Penn in Pittsburgh during January.

Two of the principal speakers—Vice-President ALBEN W. BARKLEY, Emory, '00, and Supreme Court Justice TOM C. CLARK, Texas, '22—were Delts.

The program included the adoption of a founding (with rattle), who was christened GEORGE V. BARKER, VI. Pittsburgh's Variety Club Tent No. 1 will support and educate the child until he can care for himself.

Surrounding Vice-President BARKLEY, who is holding GEORGE, are (clockwise); BRANCH RICKEY, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, vice-president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Justice CLARK; the Very Reverend HIGH N. MOOR, Kenyon, '14, Dean of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral; and CHARLES R. WILSON, Pittsburgh, '26, vice-president and general manager of the Hotel William Penn.

Make Ready for Mackinac!

JUST ABOVE THE northernmost point of the Michigan mainland, where Huron's waters run the clearest, a tiny emerald island rises out of the lake. Its shores for the most part are gleaming limestone cliffs, broken by stretches of sandy beach, but inland are lush forests of cedar and pine and juniper.

Suspended as it is between the vastnesses of Lakes Michigan and Huron, the island has an isolation and primeval beauty which suggest the unruffled calm of eternity. Small wonder that the Indians called it "the place of the Great Dancing Spirit." This, they said, was the loveliest spot in creation—a sacred gift from their ancient gods.

Time and a romantic history have served only to heighten the natural charm of Mackinac Island.

This is not the beginning of a Gene Stratton Porter novel. It is not even a quotation from a press agent's convention-come-on literature.

It is only our inadequate attempt to describe a spot that—how do they say it?—"beggars description." You won't believe us anyway until you see Mackinac for yourself.

Which is exactly what you'll be doing next August 31, September 1, 2, and 3, if you're lucky enough to attend the 61st Karnea of Delta Tau Delta.

For the first time in 67 years Delt return to Michigan for their biennial convention. Ann Arbor had us in 1876, Detroit in 1885. And now, in 1952, it's back to Michigan we go—to one of the most delightful retreats the Karnea has ever seen.

THE GRAND, APTLY NAMED

On an eminence that looks down to Mackinac's beach is the Grand Hotel, aptly named, which will house Karnea activity. It is the world's largest summer hotel. Its front porch is the longest in the world. It has the longest carpet ever made. Its automatic sprinkler system is the largest fire-protective apparatus ever built. Its grounds comprise 500 acres, adjoined by 1,600 acres of Michigan State Park. Everything about this hotel is grand.

In spite of its relative isolation, the hotel has the most modern appointments. No cracks in the plaster here. In the main building there are 30,000 yards of carpet. The carpeting which extends from the east end of the main dining room to the west end of the lobby floor corridor is two city blocks in length.

The hotel kitchen, staffed by 75 cooks and employees, is two and one-half stories high. Its facilities include bake shop, butcher shop, ice cream plant, food storerooms, and numerous pantries.

Five large dining rooms are required for the normal complement of 400 employees. The hotel property includes stables for 50 horses, tool house, heating plant, electric plant, ice house, refrigerating plant, machine shop, woodworking shop, paint shop, and recreation rooms for employees.

Through the years the famous and the great have visited Mackinac. In 1897 Cyrus G. Luce, Governor of Michigan, and his family spent the entire summer at the hotel. Since that time it has been the custom of other Michigan governors to make the island their summer headquarters.

President Franklin Roosevelt selected the presidential suite for his conference with the Premier of Canada. The famous wartime Republican conference, creating the Mackinac charter on foreign policy, was held here in 1943. In 1946 M.G.M. made the Grand the setting for a technicolor movie which starred Esther Williams.

Presidents Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, and William Howard Taft have all been guests of the Grand. The lovable Mark Twain found rest and relaxation at Mackinac, and when he wrote his memoirs, he spoke at length of his experiences here.

RICH IN HISTORY

You can spend all your time sitting on the world's longest veranda if you want to, but we're going out to look around the island.

If you have a bent for history and even the slightest imagination, you'll hear the ghosts of centuries whispering in the wooded glens and ravines of Mackinac. It would be worth your while to hire a horse-drawn carriage and give Dobbin his head. Or, if your arteries will stand it, rent a bicycle and set your own pace.

Then look about you. Over there, where the hotel lobby is now situated—that was the Indians' burial ground. From all over the Great Lakes area came the Algonquians, the Chippewas, and others to bury their illustrious dead.

There on the north side of the island the French established the first white settlement in 1670. The fort on the south shore was erected by the French in 1712 and wrested from them by the British in 1761. Here is Fort Mackinac restored. The British built it while the Revolutionary War was in progress, to make this lovely island the Gibraltar of the lakes.

That winding trail running north from the hotel will take you past the site of old Fort Holmes, another British bastion. There you will see the battleground where during the War of 1812 Colonel Croghan's gallant American soldiers died in a futile attempt to expell the British from their stronghold.

You will see the old trading post of the American Fur Company through which passed millions of rich pelts to help build the empire of John Jacob Astor; the Old Church Mission, established in 1827 for the religious education of the Chippewas; Sugar Loaf, conical tower of limestone, which in Indian mythology is the wigwam of the great spirit; Skull Cave, where Alexander Henry slept on human bones after the massacre of Old Mackinac.

You will view also romantic sights which bear such intriguing names as Lover's Leap (where you decide in a hurry to give love another chance) or Robinson's Folly (where you can speculate on just exactly what Robinson's folly was).

RECREATION APLENTY

After you've had your history lesson, you'd better hustle back to the hotel to try to get your money's worth in the recreational facilities which the

Meet the General Chairman

General Chairman of the 61st Karnea is John Kyle Worley, Michigan, '27, of Detroit.

For more than 25 years a leading exponent of Deltism in the state of Michigan, Kyle Worley was a natural selection as the Delt to lead the migration to Mackinac. Trading on his wide acquaintance with Delts of all chapters in Michigan, he promises to turn out the guard from the host state.

Mr. Worley is a former vice-president of the Northern Division; he served from 1947 to 1949. Down at Ann Arbor he has been a wheel-horse for Delta Chapter. He was chairman of its alumni committee for more than eight years and still serves as an active member of the alumni group which provides sound and able guidance for the chapter.

In Detroit, whenever you think of alumni activity, you naturally turn to Kyle Worley. And you can bet your 1907 Karnea button that things will be stirring there from now until August 31.

An attorney engaged in private practice, Chairman Worley can give you ample briefs which will persuade you to hit the trail for Mackinac next August. He will have the abundant counsel of the Karnea Committee, whose full membership will be announced in the June RAINBOW.

Grand offers. There's a sporty golf course adjoining the hotel. There's a sand beach, as well as a large serpentine (refers to shape, not inhabitants) swimming pool. For the sake of convenience, you can even dress for swimming in your hotel room and take the elevator down to the pool if you don't mind folks seeing you in your Golden Gloves bathrobe.

There are saddle horses to ride and fishing boats for deep sea trolling in the Straits. There are facilities for baseball, croquet, shuffleboard, ping-pong, and quoits. If you want to stay out of the sun, you could probably even scrape up a good game of tiddly-winks.

But you had better have your dinner early so that you can get down to the main parlor by 8:30 for the musical concert which is given every evening. And if you can borrow some liniment from one of the alumni chapter delegates, there's dancing in the hotel from 10:00 to 1:00 every night except Sunday.

Add to all of this, if you please, the traditional entertainments and features which characterize a Karnea, and by all means adjust your schedule to include business sessions and round tables. The Grand's main meeting room accommodates up to 1,000 persons, which means you won't have to come early to get a seat; so go ahead and have that second cup of coffee in the morning.

PRONOUNCED MACKINAW

Before we go further, there is one important matter which should be straightened out. It is this: Mackinac is pronounced "Mackinaw," to rhyme with Xanaskprilis paw. If you make a point of saying "Mackinaw," sooner or later somebody is going to correct you. Then you can turn to him with a superior air, as if your entire boyhood had been spent in Skull's Cave, and say, "My dear fellow, the natives pronounce it 'Mackinaw'."

When it comes to planning a big clambake like the Karnea, such details are important. Ask any Indian.

Back to our story: The Grand Hotel is on the American plan, which is a nice way of saying you'd better get up for breakfast because you're paying for it anyway. The rates are reasonable; every member of the Fraternity will receive the full schedule this spring when the entire Karnea program is announced. (Editor's note: The Grand Hotel is really pretty swell about that breakfast. If you can make it up by noon, the management is good enough to give you coffee, rolls, etc., at no extra cost until 12:00 in the snack bar.)

TRANSPORTATION GOOD

How to get to this Northern paradise? Mackinac's isolation is more apparent than real. You can come by train, plane, or auto. If you live in Mackinaw City, you can paddle across in your canoe.

On the New York Central Railway, there are two trains a day out of Chicago and one daily out of Detroit. Out of Chicago there is also Pennsylvania and Milwaukee service. From St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Cincinnati, Mackinac is an overnight ride on the Pennsylvania. Capital Air Lines operates two flights daily from Chicago to the Pellston Airport and one daily from Detroit.

By Trans-Canada Air Lines, there is direct service from both eastern and western cities. From New York by plane to the airport at nearby Kinross the trip requires only three hours.

If you drive, there are three paved highways available through Michigan. In either Mackinaw City or St. Ignace there are ample parking facilities for your car. Remember that automobiles are not allowed on the island, a custom which is thought to have been originated by the Chippewas.

Whether you drive, fly, or entrain, you will have to use a ferry or motor launch to come aboard Mackinac. (Unless you own a yacht, of course, and then you can dock it right in the island's snug little harbor.) There is frequent ferry service from the mainland at both Mackinaw City and St. Ignace, and the trip requires only about 40 minutes.

Little has been said about the intrinsic inducements of Karnea—the fellowship, the chapter reunions, the valuable exchange of ideas and viewpoints, the famous, eloquent speakers, the thrill of working together on a national scale. These pleasures remain unchanged, but they are infinitely keener in a setting as charming as the Grand Hotel at Mackinac Island.

As a clincher, we borrow this picture from the hotel's own stock:

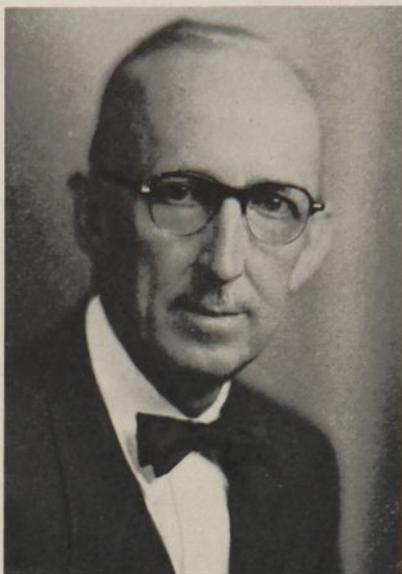

"After dinner a turn or two about the veranda, with the concert orchestra playing from a balcony or on the porch, and the strolling troubadours entertaining in the garden. Yachts and steamers glide slowly through the Straits in the moonlight, a never-to-be-forgotten scene."

And, say, when you write your memoirs some day, tell them you were at the Mackinac Karnea in '52, will you?

Outstanding Work Earns Chemistry Award

ROBERT M. BURNS, Colorado, '15, has been awarded the Perkin Medal, outstanding honor conferred for achievement in American industrial chemistry.

The formal presentation of the medal was made January 4, following a dinner in the medalist's honor at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City. Dr. Burns was selected for the honor last fall by a jury composed of representatives of the American Chemical Society, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, the Electrochemical Society, and the American Section of the (French) Societe de Chimie Industrielle, in addition to officers of the American Section of the Society of Chemical Industry, under whose auspices the medal is awarded.

DR. ROBERT M. BURNS

Dr. Burns is Chemical Director of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, New Jersey. His accomplishments include important applications of chemistry to problems of the communications industry, notably in: the control and prevention of corrosion; the development of primary batteries, storage cells (cadmium lead) and electrolytic capacitors (employing aluminum and tungsten); the solution of metallurgical problems of the industry; the development of ceramic and high polymer insulating and structural materials; the artificial growth and utilization of large piezo-electric crystals for the control of electronic circuits; and the development of methods of instrumental and micro-analysis required in these fields.

Dr. Burns becomes the second Delt to receive the award. In 1923 the Perkin Medal was won by Milton C. Whitaker, Colorado, '98, consulting chemical engineer of New York City.

Dr. Burns has been Chemical Director for Bell Telephone since 1945. In this capacity he is responsible for all the research work in the field of chemistry performed in the Bell system.

Outside his assigned responsibilities, Dr. Burns has been active in related fields. He served for many years on the board of directors of the Electrochemical Society and was its president in 1943-44. He has also represented the Society on the National Research Council. Membership in honorary societies include Alpha Chi Sigma, of which he has been national president, Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Beta Pi, and Sigma Xi. He has been active in the New York Academy of Science and The Chemists' Club (N.Y.).

In recognition of his contributions to society and the high standard of work he has always maintained, the University of Colorado in 1945 conferred on him the honorary degree, Doctor of Science.

Dr. Burns received the 46th impression of the Perkin Medal, founded in 1906 in honor of Sir William Perkin, discoverer of the first synthetic dye. The 1951 medalist joins the distinguished ranks of such previous recipients as Hyatt, discoverer of "celluloid" plastics; Hall, developer of aluminum; and Midgley, responsible for high compression motor fuels.

Karnea Reservations

For those who desire to make their hotel reservations for the 61st Karnea early, following are the rates which will prevail at the Grand Hotel during the period of the Karnea.

Double room with bath: $13.50, $15.50, or $17.00 per day per person (depending on your choice of desirable locations)

Double room with lavatory only, convenient to bath facilities: $12.00 per day per person

Single room with bath: $15.50 per day

Single room with lavatory only, convenient to bath facilities: $13.50 per day

All rates are American plan.

There are an added charge of 27 cents daily per person for sales tax and a charge of $1.50 per person for baggage transfer from the dock to hotel and return.

Requests for reservations should be sent to:

GRAND HOTEL
MACKINAC ISLAND, MICHIGAN

More detailed schedules, with description of facilities, will be provided in the June issue of THE RAINBOW.

Remember those dates—August 31, September 1, 2, and 3.

Creditable Scholarship, Our Goal

By FRANCIS M. HUGHES, Ohio Wesleyan, '31

Supervisor of Scholarship

BY WAY OF INTRODUCTION to this article, the writer would like to dissipate any impression that it is the purpose of Delta Tau Delta to breed a generation of super intellectuals. Rather does the Fraternity believe, in the words of Alvan E. Duerr, former President and Supervisor of Scholarship, in "creditable scholastic standing."

Most of the universities and colleges in which our chapters are located compute an All Men's Average. The National Interfraternity Scholarship Committee then makes available to its membership, including Delta Tau Delta, the standing of each fraternity with reference to this average. It is our goal to have every chapter of the Fraternity above the All Men's Average. Surely it is not too much to expect of every Delt to rank in scholarship above the average man on his campus. That is what is meant by "creditable scholastic standing."

An examination of the scholastic standing of Delta Tau Delta over the period of the last 13 years reveals an ironic fact. In 1938-39, 63 per cent of our chapters were above the All Men's Average, and the Fraternity stood first in national scholastic rank. In 1948-49, the same percentage of our chapters were below the All Men's Average, which represented, we trust, the ebb tide of our scholastic fortunes.

The Arch Chapter on November 13, 1949, and the 1950 Karnea, recognizing that the undergraduate chapters of Delta Tau Delta somehow had lost the high vision of good scholarship, adopted definite blueprints for the improvement of our standing. It has been the duty of the Supervisor of Scholarship, with the guidance of the Central Office, to implement this blueprint. The results have been somewhat encouraging.

In 1949-50, the downward trend ceased, with 39 per cent of our chapters achieving a plus rating, as contrasted with 37 per cent in 1948-49.

For 1950-51 we have received Na-

Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress, no crime can destroy, no enemy can alienate, no despotism can enslave. At home a friend, abroad an introduction; in solitude a solace and in society an ornament. It chastens vice, it guides virtue, it gives at once, grace and government to genius. tional Interfraternity Conference reports on 44 of our chapters. We are pleased to report that 43 per cent of the chapters reporting were above the All Men's Average. Since more than half of our undergraduate groups have been tabulated, it is our hope that the percentage in the final report will hold at a point near the 43 per cent mark.

The hope last expressed is not a prediction. Your writer has learned from experience that one cannot prophecy accurately from partial reports. In THE RAINBOW for December, 1950, we categorically prophesied that our standing for 1949-50 would decline with relation to 1948-49. Contrariwise, we improved our standing somewhat.

But it does appear that there has been a definite reversal in the downward trend. It has been a source of inspiration to the Supervisor of Scholarship that many of our chapters, long in what Brother Hugh Shields calls the "coal hole," have evidenced a genuine desire to improve their scholastic standings.

Special mention is made of our chapters at Alabama, Emory, Illinois, Lawrence, and Ohio State, all of which, by putting into effect a definite and specific scholarship program, made tremendous improvement in their standings for 1950-51. On the other hand, several of our chapters which had high rankings in the past declined drastically in their rating during the same period.

And we must give due recognition to the Division Award winners for 1949-50: Delta Zeta (Florida) in the Southern Division, Gamma Iota (Texas) in the Western Division, Mu (Ohio Wesleyan) in the Northern Division, and Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth) in the Eastern Division. Beautiful scholarship plaques for this achievement now adorn the Shelters of these chapters. As in the past, a combination of the chapter's relation to the All Men's Average and its rank among competing campus fraternities determined the awards.

In addition to the Division Scholarship Awards, engraved certificates of recognition are presented annually, by authority of the Arch Chapter, to each chapter which achieves a plus rating on its campus. The Supervisor of Scholarship happily subscribes these certificates with an illegible flourish but as yet has not developed writer's cramp from signing too many.

The Arch Chapter and the Karnea may adopt resolutions. The Supervisor of Scholarship may try to implement them. But the real solution to good

First Fraternity Honored by N.I.C.

HIGH LIGHT of the 43rd annual session of the National Interfraternity Conference was the tribute paid to Phi Beta Kappa which this December celebrated the 175th anniversary of its founding at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.

Joining with the N.I.C. in this tribute were representatives of the National Panhellenic Conference, the Professional Interfraternity Conference, and the Professional Panhellenic Association, making the event the most representative gathering of Greek-letter leaders in history.

Delta Tau Delta was officially represented by President Martin B. Dickinson, Vice-President Joel W. Reynolds, and Charles T. Boyd, North Carolina, '21, past President of the Fraternity. There were also several undergraduate Delts present, representing their respective interfraternity councils.

Plans for the meeting had been carefully made by the late A. Ray Warnock, chairman for 1950-51, whose death in his sleep on November 4 brought sorrow throughout the Greek-letter world. At numerous times in the meetings held November 29 to December 1 in the Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort, Va., heartfelt reference was made to his leadership and to the contributions he had made to the educational world in serving as dean of men at Pennsylvania State College for 30 years, to the community of which he had been a vital part, to his own fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, and to all fraternities through his influence and activities connected with the N.I.C.

The first action of the meeting was to pay tribute to Dean Warnock and to two other outstanding leaders among fraternity men, Leroy A. Wilson, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Clifford M. Swan, Delta Upsilon, both of whom had served as chairman of N.I.C. The combined loss of these three men in the past year was recognized as the greatest the organization had sustained in its 43 years.

The opening program was also featured by a panel discussion on fraternity public relations, which is treated elsewhere in this issue.

Also outstanding among the features of the session was the undergraduate conference attended by 150 members of interfraternity councils from 80 fraternity educational institutions. For the first time the discussion at this conference was limited to the actual problems which interfraternity councils face. The topics for panel discussion included:

The Interfraternity Council, Greek Week, The Interfraternity Council and Selectivity, Social Functions of the Interfraternity Council, Interfraternity Council and Public Relations, Scholarship Functions of an Interfraternity Council, and Rushing.

The national trophy for the most effective year-round program was awarded to Maryland's Interfraternity Council. This council also was first among large non-urban schools.

Top place among councils at large urban institutions went to Ohio State. Delt James May, president of Ohio State's Council of Fraternity Presidents, received the trophy for his school.

There was good news from the N.I.C. Scholarship Committee. The survey for 1949-1950, just completed, covered 2,614 chapters at 204 institutions. It showed a general rise in scholarship. Among the fraternities having more than 50 chapters, the five leaders are Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, and Theta Chi.

A lively interest was shown in the address of Col. David G. Omer, general counsel for the selective service system. He stated that at the present time 200,000 college students are deferred under the test-score-standing rule and at least 200,000 more for other reasons, including the ROTC, thus indicating a satisfactory acceptance of the student deferment program by the selective service local boards.

Col. Omer pointed out that the local boards have deferred for activity in study almost four times as many men as they have deferred for all other occupational reasons, including agriculture. He emphasized the idea that deferments for military service are designed for the good of the nation and not for the benefit of the individual; hence, the evaluation of the effectiveness of the program depends on whether the nation has received the benefit that was intended.

Col. Omer predicted that there will never be a time when some students are not deferred, the only question being whether the requirements for deferment will eventually have to be tighter than they are now.

Economic Life XIX: Foreign Service

By Nelson T. Johnson, George Washington, '10

Secretary General, Far Eastern Commission, Department of State

YOU ARE FAMILIAR with the Army, Navy, and Air Force as offering careers to young men just starting out in life. Ships, forts, and airfields all require the services of professionally trained personnel.

Do you know that the United States maintained, as of July 1, 1951, 58 embassies, 14 legations, 53 consulates general, 128 consulates, scattered all over the world, and that as of April, 1951, it employed approximately 15,000 persons to man these offices? These are the offices and the men charged with the responsibility of transacting the business that the United States has with other nations. Most of these men and women have been trained by the Department of State so that they have acquired professional status in the management of the government's business. They perform their functions under the immediate supervision of the Secretary of State, that member of the President's Cabinet who is the President's principal adviser on matters relating to foreign affairs.

The statutory basis for this Foreign Service of the United States is to be found in the Foreign Service Act of 1946. The Department of State publishes a pamphlet entitled "Some Facts About the Foreign Service" which describes the Service and prints the pertinent laws covering the Service and its activities. It is sufficient here to say that under these laws tenure of service is established as well as the terms under which the officer performs his duties. Under these laws the Foreign Service provides a career attractive to any young man with ambition to serve his government and his fellow men at home or abroad. Provision is made for retirement at the age of 60 with a maximum pension for the Foreign Service of 60 per cent of the average of the last five years' salary.

Naturally, Service personnel spend the greater part of their service outside of the United States, but provision is made under which men and women are detailed periodically for service within the territorial limits of the United States, either in the Department of State itself or elsewhere under other executive departments of the government. Provision is also made for the detailing of selected numbers of Service personnel to universities and schools in the United States for special training in any phase of the Foreign Service Officer's work.

Why is a Foreign Service necessary?

The President of the United States, subject to the Constitution, is solely responsible to the people of the United States for action and policy in the conduct of our foreign affairs. In deciding the case of the United States versus Curtiss-Wright Corporation, the Supreme Court, speaking of this responsibility of the President, said: "not only . . . is the federal power over external affairs in origin and essential character different from that over internal affairs, but participation in the exercise of the power is significantly limited. In this vast external realm, with its important, complicated, delicate and manifold problems, the President alone has the power to speak or listen as a representative of the nation . . . As Marshall said in his great argument of March 7, 1800 in the House of Representatives, 'the President is the sole organ of the nation in its external relations, and its sole representative with foreign nations.'" It is in this "vast external realm" where the President alone wields the complete sovereign power of the United States in the management of the nation's business with other nations that the Foreign Service acts as his eyes, ears, and spokesman.

To meet this responsibility the President needs access to every possible source of information that will enable him to make wise decisions which, when implemented, will promote and maintain abroad the spiritual and material interests of the United States and its people. The sovereign power of the United States carries force little realized by the average American citizen. It is especially difficult for the average citizen to understand how important is American thinking and American action, both in its domestic field and in the field of the world at large. Perhaps it may help to such an understanding to recall that the 150 millions of Americans live at a fast national tempo which carries with it a tidal surge that is economically overwhelming and dangerous to lesser national economies the world over. When Americans all together go to market to buy fruit, steel, oil, rubber, wheat, or any other product which they require for the day's consumption, they buy in such stupendous quantities that their demand alone tends to fix prices for any particular product in markets everywhere.

When these same Americans begin to produce, they develop and use aid that enables them to reach per capita rates of production hitherto unreachd by any people.

The very spectacle of 150,000,000 rising each morning, dressing, eating, buying, producing, selling, and distributing the products of their daily work, returning to their homes at night by street car, bus, personal motor car, and train, eating and going to places of amusement and then to bed, provide a daily miracle of mere living that tests the wit of man to picture.

The economic impact of 150 millions of living Americans makes information of their purposes, desires, needs, and activities of vital importance to every statesman responsible for the management of the economies of other industrial nations, large and small, throughout the world. The women of the United States cannot add to or subtract from the length of their skirts without affecting the economy of wool-growing Australia. When the United States stopped going to the market for tin, that purely domestic action threatened to disturb the political life of the Bolivian government. These facts indicate the tremendous force behind the sovereign power of the United States and indicate the constant need of the President of the United States for information related to conditions under which people live and work all over the world—information which will enable him to guide and manage the domestic and foreign affairs of the United States in such a way as to maintain and promote the material and spiritual interests abroad of the United States without disturbance to world peace.

Here are important reasons why there must be a responsible, alert, and resourceful Foreign Service available to serve the United States in foreign countries.

Naturally you will ask how entry into this foreign service of the Government is to be achieved. What training is necessary in preparation? How does one get designated for examination? The following pertinent paragraph is taken from the Department of State pamphlet above cited:

"Appointment as Foreign Service officer. Appointment as Foreign Service officer, class 6, is based on a series of written, oral, and physical examinations. The written examination is ordinarily held annually in the fall and is open to persons designated by the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service. To be designated to take the written examination, an applicant must as of July 1 of the year in which the written examination is taken be at least 21 and under 31 years of age; be an American citizen of at least 10 years' standing; and, if married, be married to an American citizen. Candidates who are successful in the written examination are invited to appear for the oral examination during the following spring. Candidates who pass the oral examination are asked to take the physical examination, and the names of those found physically qualified for service are placed on a list of persons eligible for appointment as Foreign Service officer. Appointments are made from this list as appropriations become available for the purpose.

"Persons interested in seeking appointment as Foreign Service officers should make application to the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C."

If you are interested, you will want to know how to prepare yourself for such service. The answer is the same for the Foreign Service as it should be for any other professional or business career—work hard to get a good general education. There is nothing so dangerous as the youthful and inexperienced specialist. He is, generally speaking, an easy mark, out of his special field, for any plausible crackpot that comes along. If in obtaining such education there is to be any emphasis, it should be on language with particular reference to the clear and coherent expression of ideas in simple unequivocal words. This preparation should be such as to give the student an appreciation of good expression which will make him immune to the bureaucratic tendency to take on and use a kind of service jargon or federal gobbledegook that seems to be an occupational disease to which all employees of the government are subject.

It must be remembered that the Foreign Service deals with human beings and their very human problems. It is not a service of crystal gazers and omen-determining augurs. A good introductory course in anthropology will be found very useful in making it possible for the officer to see other peoples in terms of their environment and culture rather than just in terms of American culture and environment. Success in the Foreign Service as a career depends upon the officer's ability to resist another bureaucratic occupational disease, that of treating human beings and human problems as decimals in a filing system. Nothing helps here so much as experience at first hand with the commonality.

The prospective applicant for the Foreign Service examination will find it useful to have taken a course in political science as well as pure economics, for international relations have their source in the commerce and trade of the world.

Examinations are divided into written and oral tests of equal rating in the final grading of the applicant for entry into the Service. Naturally a candidate, able to give A-plus answers to all written questions, may be completely unacceptable for the Foreign Service as a representative American, if he is a person without character and possessing a repulsive personality. The oral examination is intended to give the examiners an opportunity to learn something by personal interview of the applicant's personality, his appearance, character, and address.

Generally speaking, the Department of State expects to train the candidate in his craft or profession after he enters the Service. It is well nigh impossible to do this outside of the actual conditions that exist in any foreign service office. The most valuable asset to a Foreign Service officer is experience. And he becomes more valuable to the government with each passing year as he grows and broadens with increased and always widening experience.

Members of the Foreign Service of the United States, whether sent abroad as very junior staff or as ambassadors, are accepted without question by the community of the area of their assignment as typical representatives of the people of the United States especially chosen for their representative character. Thus do they carry the dignity, honor, and integrity of their government and their people. For these responsibilities the government wants young men and women who are ambitious to work with and for their fellow men.

The emphasis is upon the word "service" and the Service is for the most part in foreign lands where young men and women will often stand alone and have to make their decisions by themselves. For this reason the government wants young men and women of high character who possess self-control and a high degree of patience under stress, who will be

Delta Canada Calls

Maple Leaf Chapter Marks 25 Years in Delta Tau Delta

By Donald J. McParland, Toronto, '52

THE PRESIDENT of the active chapter concluded his toast with: "Gentlemen, I give you Psi Delta Psi." When the applause had died away, Jack Wilson, '07, stood to reply. As he spoke, the hundred odd Deltas gathered for the 25th Founders Day Banquet listened with pride to the story of Delta Theta Chapter.

It all began in 1906, when a group of University of Toronto students formed a local fraternity called Psi

EDITOR'S NOTE: The attainment of a silver anniversary is a significant milestone for any chapter, but it is particularly so in the case of Delta Theta, for it signals also Delta Tau Delta's 25th year of representation in the Dominion of Canada.

When President Alvan E. Duerr spoke to the charter group at the installation of Delta Theta on February 27, 1926, he said: "We feel very sure that you will make the name of Delta Tau Delta a badge of honor in your university, and that her ideals and her traditions will not suffer at your hands."

His confidence was shared by other famous Deltas who were present to commemorate the Fraternity's entry into Canada. Two of the most beloved of Delt Presidents—Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes and Dr. Frank Wieland—were banquet speakers. Norman MacLeod, who was to succeed Dr. Duerr as President of the Fraternity, was a member of the initiating team.

Behind Psi Delta Psi, the local whose members were chartered as Delta Theta, was a rich tradition of achievement. Founded in 1906 by E. L. Cousins, J. M. Wilson, C. L. Rogers, and A. E. K. Bunnell, Psi Delta Psi in its twenty years had built a reputation of leadership on the Toronto campus. Numbered among her alumni were such prominent men as E. L. Cousins, engineer-in-chief, Toronto Harbor Commission; Hugh Gall, considered Canada's greatest rugby player; Dr. C. M. Hincks, general director, U. S. and Canadian National Committees for Mental Hygiene; and many others.

The succeeding 25 years have enhanced that prestige and have in every way vindicated the Fraternity's faith which was expressed by President Duerr.

Delta Psi. Little did they know at that time that they were laying the foundation for a Delt chapter, which in 25 years would be 350 strong.

Their original plan was to fill the need for an all-Canadian national fraternity. This objective was altered by both time and events. World War I saw 100% of the active chapter in uniform. Those fortunate enough to return did so with the realization that across the border friendships offered the best means of fulfilling the fraternity ideals. They turned their eyes southward, and after seven years the many hopes and plans materialized. On February 26, 1926, Delta Tau Delta installed this chapter at the University of Toronto.

In the years that followed, the chapter grew with the Fraternity, not only in membership, but in accomplishments and spirit as well. Following the Delt traditions already established, the chapter endeavored to be foremost on the campus—in scholarship, in athletics, in leadership, and in social events. A list of the academic laurels, the school letters, the honorary positions, and the social distinctions brought home to Delta Theta by her members would fill volumes. But today the chapter looks not on the deeds of the past, but to the challenges of the future.

Delta Theta, the only Canadian chapter, differs in many ways from its American contemporaries. While the University of Toronto is similar to most American schools, its attitude towards fraternities is unique.

Perhaps it would be in order to mention some facts about the University of Toronto for the benefit of those Deltas who have never been up this way. The campus sprawls over an area of 250 acres in the heart of Toronto. A provincially supported and privately endowed institution, it has an enrollment of 15,000 and offers degrees in law, medicine, dentistry, forestry, pharmacy, architecture, twelve branches of engineering, and the arts. The University has affiliated colleges of music, optometry, nursing, education, agriculture, and art. It also operates such research centers as the Banting Institute, Connaught Medical Laboratories, the Aerophysics Institute, and the Royal Ontario Museum. Canada's largest football stadium is the home of Varsity's team, which once again took the intercollegiate title this year.

An outstanding difference from American colleges is the fact that, although there are 33 men's fraternities on the campus, the University does not officially recognize their existence. This situation places the fraternities completely on their own, with no degree of control whatsoever exercised by the college authorities—a basic difference which gives rise to several variations in our procedure and operation. The interfraternity council has been born and buried many times. Lack of a central authority removes one of the essential reasons for any I.F.C. As a result, rushing, pledging, and social events are a matter of chapter policy. No restrictive legislation of any type exists except our own bylaws and constitution. While offering certain advantages, this situation results in a somewhat "cut-throat" rushing system. Although most of it is done early in the fall, rushing and pledging carry through the year.

The fall introduces the rapid-fire pace of football and rushing parties, the high light of the season being the "Hard Times Party," at which the new initiates provide the entertainment. Christmas brings the next big social event. It has been the custom of Delta Theta to provide a merrier Christmas for a dozen of Toronto's underprivileged children. The expense of a Christmas tree, a turkey dinner, and some presents is returned a hundredfold by the happy looks on twelve faces as Santa appears. In between the New Year's festivities and the spring finale on St. Patrick's Day comes the Fraternity formal. Among all these events are scattered studies and other Fraternity activities.

The outstanding event of our 25th year was the Founders Day Banquet on January 16. Toronto Deltas from '07 to '55, as well as other alumni from Maine, California, and Purdue, were present. This occasion, a success in every respect, brings us up to date.

We hope this little anniversary article has interested you in the chapter that makes Delta Tau Delta international. The Eastern Division chapters will have the opportunity of visiting us in 1953 for the Conference. The chapter would like to extend thanks for the privilege of being host on this occasion. In the meantime, remember that the welcome sign is always out at Delta Theta for any and every one of our brothers.

"We are not a democratic fraternity, if democracy means an equal right to join our ranks. Our ambition is to be an aristocracy of the highminded and the cleansouled; of men with a serious purpose in life, who will not be satisfied to leave their college, or their community, or their country, except it be better for their having been of it; of men who do not measure success in terms of things tangible, but who accept opportunities and the reward for their efforts only as evidence of added responsibility."

—From the address by Alvan E. Duerr at the Toronto installation.

Plan of Student Rule Becomes Big 10 Model

GAYLORD SHEETS of Iota Chapter is outstanding among many Deltas who have served in student government at Michigan State College. Gaylord is a senior from Lansing, majoring in pre-law. One of the most able politicians in the history of Spartan student government, Sheets plans a career in politics.

After being elected to the student council his sophomore year, he joined in the three-year battle with the administration over student government which ended in a new constitution as presented by Sheets. The new constitution provides for an executive, legislative, and judicial division of powers which gives the student government more authority.

GAYLORD SHEETS

Sheets was unanimously elected to the presidency under this new system which the Universities of Michigan and Minnesota and some of the other Big Ten universities are beginning to adopt. Soon after taking office, he began working on another idea in harmony with the new system—a student tax. The issue will be voted on this term, and, if accepted, will help to sponsor many student activities which otherwise would be financially impossible. The tax would raise a yearly revenue of approximately $10,000, and it would sponsor activities such as student mixers, pep rallies, and convocations.

"City Hall," as he is known to Deltas at Iota, is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, speech honorary, and Excalibur, senior men's honorary, and he is an actor in the Cloister players. Also active in speech and debate, he has won titles throughout the midwest in both debate and radio speech. He was on the championship debate team in the Big Ten last year.

Sheets hopes to enter law school at either Princeton or the University of Michigan after being graduated from Michigan State College this year.

Tower Diving Champ Shoots for Olympics

JOHN MC CORMACK of Delta Pi Chapter (U.S.C.) adds fame to fame with his diving prowess. For two consecutive years he has held the National Tower Diving Championship.

He moves on now to the Olympic games in 1952. His training for this event will begin in March with U. S. Army's Sammy Lee. In the past he has trained with Lee and Vicki Draves, just missing the Olympic games of 1948.

Among the other titles which John has won are: All Service Championship for two years, Far Western Championship for both tower and springboard, PCC Springboard Champ, Junior College National Champion, and as well every Junior National Tower and Springboard title. He was named All-American AAU Champion for 1951.

In 1948 Mc Cormack toured New Zealand and Honolulu with Sammy Lee, Olympic champion. He made the same trip last Christmas. This summer after winning the nationals John went to Bermuda to win the Mid-Ocean Championships. He is diving now with the Pasadena Athletic Club.

John makes his home in San Francisco. It was here that he acquired his love of diving. While in high school he used his Irish tenor voice singing at the Fairmont Hotel Agua Club reviews. His admiration for these divers led John to take up the sport. He became All City Champion in his senior year of high school. The Coast Guard then occupied his interests for three years.

He is now majoring in commerce and advertising at the University of Southern California. Graduation comes in a year and a half. John is not interested in professional diving upon graduation.

Standing at 5' 9" and weighing 160 pounds, John is known as a "best dressed man" on campus. When on land he is a better-than-most golfer. Couple with this a dynamic personality and you have a brother destined to be a real champion throughout life.

Our eyes will be on him next year as he travels to Helsinki, Finland, to represent the U.S.A. in the Olympic Games. Best luck to a winning brother!

Stanford Delt Named Railroad President

DONALD J. RUSSELL, Stanford, '20, has been named president of Southern Pacific Company, effective January 1. He will rank as the youngest president in the history of the West's pioneer railroad. He takes over leadership of the company at the age of 51.

Mr. Russell has spent all of his working years with the railroad. Since early in 1951 he had been executive vice-president.

After completing his education at Stanford University, he began as a timekeeper for a work gang on the railroad's Sacramento division in 1920. He advanced quickly to positions of instrumentman and assistant engineer in the engineering force.

Then, because he recognized that the foundation of a railroad is its roadbed and rails, Mr. Russell sought and obtained appointment as assistant foreman of a section gang, first in Arizona and later as foreman in California. He subsequently returned to engineering to become assistant engineer in charge of double-tracking the company's line over the mile-high Sierra Nevada Mountains.

DONALD J. RUSSELL

Later he went to the Portland division as roadmaster and in 1929 was named trainmaster. This led to appointment as assistant superintendent of the Portland division in 1934.

After serving as assistant to the general manager in San Francisco, he was made superintendent of the Los Angeles division in 1939. In 1941 he returned to San Francisco as assistant to the president, and in the same year was made vice-president. He became a director in 1943.

Mr. Russell is also a director and member of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of Mexico and a director of the St. Louis-Southwestern Railway Company. He is a director of the Stanford Research Institute.

Official Jewelers

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity is served by three official jewelers. They are: L. G. Balfour Company, Attleboro, Massachusetts; Burr, Patterson & Auld Company, Detroit, Michigan; and Edwards, Haldeman and Company, Detroit, Michigan.

Only these three firms are authorized by the Fraternity to reproduce the Delta Tau Delta insignia in articles of jewelry.

Eastern Division Conference

By the Reverend Robert S. Buell, Allegheny, '46; Pittsburgh, '46

THE 58TH ATLANTIDIS of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity convened at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, on the tenth anniversary of the "day that will live in infamy," December 7, 1951. The Conference was quartered in the Statler Club, with meetings in Statler Hall. These two recently completed structures are adjoining buildings combining the practical with the theoretical in hotel administration, a course for which Cornell University has become famous. The former is a completely modern hotel, entirely staffed and managed by the students of the course. Undergraduate delegates were housed in Cornell's student union building and at the Shelter of Beta Omicron, the host chapter.

The Conference sessions were presided over by A. J. Murphy, Jr., President of the Eastern Division. Other officials present were National President Martin Dickinson, Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, Division Vice-President Tom Meeker, and Field Secretary Al Sheriff.

The main business of the Conference was the sharing of ideas in round-table discussions. These were: rushing, pledge education, scholarship, alumni relations, and finance.

The discussion of rushing was led by Roger Cunningham, Delta Beta; Bill Fox, Beta Omicron; George Pasano, Gamma Gamma; and Anthony Turanoja, Beta Nu. Topics included getting to know the rushees rapidly, keeping the membership of the chapter alive during all of the rushing period, and the tendency of some parents to be "antifraternity." During the discussion the question of the unanimous vote was presented. President Dickinson cautioned the chapters against unfair treatment in the matter of eliminating a pledge without good and sufficient reason. He stressed that the unanimous or "blackball" vote can be taken only at the time of pledging.

The second round-table discussion was headed by Jack Duddy, Gamma Omicron; David Fox, Gamma Nu; and Orlin Anderson, Delta Upsilon. "Carry-over" pledges and the "Big Brother" system were the chief items of discussion. An important point, missed by many of the chapters, was noted by Division President Murphy. He indicated that frequent meetings of the "Big Brothers" are essential to the success of the system. President Dickinson spoke of the importance of sincerity rather than a publicity motive in connection with "Work Week" endeavors in the community.

Alumni relations, the subject of the third discussion period, was paneled by Leo Kairys, Gamma Sigma; David Martin, Rho; Charles Vassallo, Beta Mu; and Lou Short, Gamma Zeta. Vice-President Meeker stressed the importance of spending as much time in working out a program for the alumni as in planning the pledge program.

The Conference then moved to a discussion of scholarship. This panel consisted of John Olafson, Alpha; William Glaren, Upsilon; William Hays, Nu; and Tom Judge, Tau. In connection with this phase, President Dickinson presented latest data on the selective service program, which seemed to concern most of those present in the room. He indicated that the principle of student deferments has been fairly well accepted by local boards. President Dickinson said, "There are, however, not enough men coming of age to fill the Army needs and still defer all the college students now deferred. Some men will therefore be pulled out of college even though they have passed the selective service test. It is to be remembered that this program is essentially a postponement procedure."

Banquet entertainment was provided by Cayuga Waiters, selected singers from Cornell Glee Club, headed by Delt JIM CASEY (extreme left).

The final discussion period concerned finance. The discussion was led by Huston Sanford, Beta Lambda; John Sinclair, Delta Theta; Jack McDonnell, Omega; and Calvin Griffin, Gamma Delta. In reply to a question, Hugh Shields indicated that the Central Office has recently prepared notes to be signed by delinquent members of a chapter. He further indicated that his office would act as a collection point where notes of delinquents can be presented.

The question of the construction of new houses was presented. President Dickinson stressed that the legal, architectural, and financial phases of such a project must be approved by the Board of Directors of the Fraternity. "We must lay carefully the ground work for our new houses," he said. "Today you can figure conservatively about $3,000 per houseman in the construction of a new house."

The business session that followed saw the selection of Toronto as the site of the 59th Atlantidis. Invitations were also extended by Gamma Omicron, Syracuse; Beta Lambda, Lehigh; and Nu, Lafayette. The Committee on Nominations, chaired by Pat Dionne, Gamma Nu, submitted the name of Forrest Witmeyer, Gamma Omicron, as the next President of the Eastern Division. His election was unanimous. The business session was closed by an expression of heartfelt appreciation to the retiring president, A. J. Murphy, Jr., for his excellent work in that office the past four years.

The social activities provided for the delegates were unparalleled. A buffet dinner at the Beta Omicron Shelter was the high point of Friday evening. We found this part of the proceedings more than enjoyable. The advantage of having men enrolled in a hotel training course was readily apparent in the way in which the meal was handled. After dinner, for those who were still able to walk (up the hill), a dance had been arranged. An iris bouquet to Brother Bill Fox, Beta Omicron, who arranged dates with the "finest and most beautiful femininity to be found 'high above Cayuga's waters'."

A highly successful Conference was closed by a banquet at the Ithaca Hotel Saturday evening. Toastmastered ably by retiring President "Bud" Murphy, the program included as speakers Frank C. Baldwin, Dean of Men at Cornell; President-elect Witmeyer; and President Dickinson, who delivered the principal address. A group of Cornellians, the "Cayuga Waiters," provided several extremely pleasant musical numbers.

The banquet was the gathering point for many alumni of the Fraternity including Bob Wilson, California, president of the Buffalo Alumni Chapter; Fred Stone, adviser at Syracuse; Warner Orvis, BO, president of BO's house corporation; Joe Barr, BO, for 30 years adviser at Cornell; and Malcolm Freeborn, BO. A most enjoyable week end was closed in traditional Delta manner by the singing of "Delta Shelter."

Forrest Witmeyer Heads Eastern Division

FORREST H. WITMEYER, SYRACUSE, '28, was elected President of the Eastern Division of the Fraternity at the biennial Eastern Division Conference held in Ithaca, New York, last December.

A resident of Syracuse, New York, Mr. Witmeyer is president of the Excelsior Insurance Company, whose main office is in that city. A leader in civic affairs, he is president of the Syracuse University Club and treasurer of the board of trustees of the YMCA.

His leadership in Delta Tau Delta dates back to his freshman year in college, when he was chosen the outstanding pledge of Gamma Omicron Chapter. He went on to become president of the chapter in his senior year. He was also editor of the college newspaper, "Daily Orange," and a member of the senior honor society.

As an alumnus, he continued his activity in the Fraternity. He has held various offices in the Syracuse Alumni Chapter, including the presidency. He was chairman of the alumni committee which charted the reactivation of Gamma Omicron Chapter and brought it to realization on September 26, 1948.

For his Alma Mater, he has been equally zealous. He is president of the College of Business Administration Alumni Association of Syracuse University and a director of the Syracuse University Alumni Association. He is also a member of the Syracuse University Athletic Governing Board.

Economic Life

slow to anger and who possess moral courage of a very high order.

Physical courage is another quality that is very necessary, for the United States requires representation in areas of disturbance, such as Korea. He may find himself in a local revolution, an epidemic of disease, or some natural disaster such as hurricane, earthquake, or fire. At such time the Foreign Service officer may become the sole link between his people and their interests abroad.

There are many important posts served by the United States Foreign Service that are located at places where living conditions are limited to the bare necessities of life. The American must expect to give up many of the amenities to comfortable living that he has been accustomed to consider as necessities at home. This means that the Foreign Service officer must be able to adapt himself easily and happily to his environment. He must carry with him a sense of humor and a sense of adventure that will help him through or over the many uncomfortable situations that he will have to cope with.

Above all, the government and people of the United States need in these positions men and women who entirely understand and accept and practice the American philosophy of life. They will constantly be required to explain why we, in the United States, do this or that. It is very difficult for many peoples in foreign countries to understand what it is that binds the apparently poly-racial population of these United States together into one nation, one people, enabling them to speak with the single voice of a united nation.

It is related of Madame de Stael when she was consulted by the wife of the British Ambassador to the Russian court about a tutor for her son that, after the British lady completed the list of qualifications that the young man should have, she was interrupted by Madame who said: "Stop, stop, Madame, I know just the kind of a man you want, only I am afraid that if I find him I shall marry him." Such are the men that the United States is looking for and selecting for its Foreign Service. Perhaps you are that man.

You certainly must believe in the ideals and goals set for the United States by the Declaration of Independence and the Preamble of the Constitution. No one else is going to explain the United States and what it means and what it stands for to the rest of the world. It will be your business. The Preamble of the Constitution of the United States carries with it a statement of our goals as a nation. It stands to us in the place of the sovereign or ruler in other countries. We are the subjects of the Constitution. Each and every Foreign Service officer, as does the President himself, and, for that matter, every other civilian or military officer, of the United States, takes an oath of allegiance to the Constitution and thus gives his loyalty to the ideals and goals set for our country by the founders.

Gamma Gamma Celebrates 50 Years

Gamma Gamma Chapter marked its fiftieth anniversary on the Dartmouth campus the week end of October 20, as more than fifty alumni and their wives and friends returned to Hanover, N. H., to participate in the ceremonies.

Following the Dartmouth-Syracuse game on Saturday afternoon, alumni met at the Shelter, where a warm welcome was extended by Chapter President Jack Shuman. Other speakers included House Corporation President Fran Young, Henry Merrill, Dan Webster, and Joel Reynolds, national Vice-President. Following a fried chicken buffet, a dance was held at the Shelter.

Part of the history of the early days of the chapter was recounted for Delts and guests. Gamma Gamma was founded in 1901 as the forty-first chapter of Delta Tau Delta. Since that time efforts of both alumni and undergraduates have entrenched the chapter as a foremost leader at Dartmouth.

Many alumni came from great distances to attend the anniversary event. Top honors in this department went to Alan C. Livingston, '15, of San Francisco, Calif.

Creditable Scholarship

scholarship lies in effective leadership in our undergraduate chapters, in the techniques of a well-planned program, and in the individual efforts of our pledges and initiates.

We congratulate those of our chapters who are achieving plus ratings. And we urge those chapters below the All Men's Average to re-examine their programs with a view to definite improvement. Working together, let us develop in Delta Tau Delta the tradition of acceptable scholarship.

Brown's Fraternity Quadrangle

THE FRATERNITY WORLD has followed with considerable interest the development of the fraternity housing plan of Brown University, at Providence, R. I. The project, which includes nine buildings to be used for housing and a $2 million dining hall, is being constructed at a total expense of $8 million. The Georgian Colonial style of architecture has been used.

In all but one of the housing units, a fraternity occupies each of the two wings and independent students are housed in the center sections. By means of a movable partition-doorway, each fraternity section may be enlarged or reduced as membership varies.

All fraternity members now take their meals in the main dining hall, where private dining rooms have been provided, with decoration left to each group. Student waiters pick up serving dishes from a central serving area; 1,600 people are served simultaneously. The student-waiter plan gives each fraternity an opportunity to provide board jobs such as they would offer if they were operating their own boarding clubs.

Although the last building probably will not be occupied until next fall, five were ready when school opened last September and two were opened for the spring semester which started January 30. A dedication ceremony is being tentatively planned for late spring.

The new housing development has evolved under the leadership of Dr. Henry M. Wriston, Wesleyan, '11, who has been president of Brown University since 1937. Dr. Wriston was president of Lawrence College from 1925 to 1937, and it was during his tenure there that the College-sponsored fraternity housing was conceived and completed. At Lawrence, however, each fraternity house is a separate unit with its own kitchen and dining room.

As president of the Association of American Universities, Dr. Wriston is recognized as one of America's ablest educators. He served on Delta Tau Delta's Arch Chapter for more than three years as Supervisor of Scholarship. He is presently a member of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund Advisory Committee.

The architect's conception of how Brown's new $8 million quadrangle will look is now almost an exact representation of its present appearance as construction is nearly completed. Location of the Delts' section is indicated.

Dr. Wriston has expressed his viewpoint on fraternities and their relationship in the new Quadrangle as follows:

Fraternities at Brown have a long and rich history. Since the founding of the first chapter over one hundred years ago they have been an integral part of the life of the University. This was natural, for fraternities set as their ideal the very aim of the liberal college, the development of personality, and put their emphasis squarely upon the reality and significance of current experience. Their progress is evidence that they appeal to something very fundamental, and wholly healthy, in the life of young men.

Nearly a decade ago the Corporation of the University was faced with the necessity of re-examining its entire policy toward the fraternity system. The war had closed the houses, and it was acutely evident that if fraternities were to survive at Brown the University would have to come to their aid. After thorough study, the Corporation concluded that the system was basically sound; it therefore took steps to re-establish the fraternities as a vital force on the campus. This program culminated in the investment of nearly eight million dollars in a quadrangle, the entire philosophy of which is based on the preservation of the fraternity system.

Brown fraternities are on the threshold of a new era. Within a short time every chapter will be located in its new quarters in the quadrangle. The University has reaffirmed its faith in the ability of the chapters and the individual students to meet their responsibilities as members of the college community. We confidently expect that this faith will be justified.

The project was begun in 1949 following a concerted financial campaign that started several years before. In the spring, three years ago, ground was broken for the first building, the Refectory. This was opened a year ago, and construction of the housing units followed rapidly.

Brown's 17 fraternities selected their locations in May, 1950, without recourse to lottery or the application of any criteria which would determine an order of choice. In cases where more than one fraternity chose the same house, agreements were reached through group discussion.

Living in the five buildings which were opened last fall are: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Psi Upsilon, Lambda Phi, Kappa Sigma, Zeta Psi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Phi, and Alpha Delta Phi. At the beginning of the present semester, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Up-

Beta Chapter Wins Publication Award

"Delt"—annual magazine at Ohio, first in publication competition.

BETA CHAPTER at Ohio University has been announced as winner of first award in the magazine format division of the undergraduate chapter publications competition for 1950-51. No first-place award was made in the newspaper format division.

Honorable mention for magazines was awarded: Beta Tau (Nebraska), Gamma Iota (Texas), and Delta Alpha (Oklahoma).

Honorable mention for newspapers was awarded: Phi (Washington & Lee), Beta Alpha (Indiana), Beta Rho (Stanford), and Delta Omicron (Westminster).

The first-place award consists of a $50 cash prize, to be invested in furnishings or equipment suitable for a chapter hall or chapter house. The committee declined selecting a first prize in the newspaper format division because it was felt that entries submitted for 1950-51 did not measure up, either in frequency of issue or general effectiveness of presentation, to a standard consistent with previous award winners.

As a guide to chapters competing for the annual publications award, the committee suggests attention to the following points.

Winners are selected on the basis of: first, general appeal and interest of the material to alumni; second, manner in which the material is written and edited; third, attractiveness in typographical layout and printing. The number of issues presented during the college year is taken into consideration; however, more than three issues will not influence the award.

Chapters using professional services in publishing their papers or magazines are not eligible for the award, but the committee is authorized to confer honorable mention to such chapters.

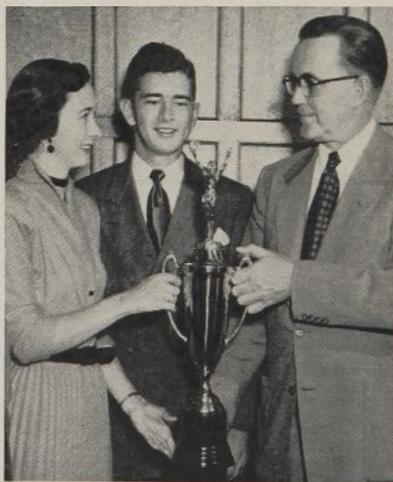

Corresponding secretaries of undergraduate chapters should make sure that copies of their publications are sent to the Central Office and to members of the Arch Chapter.

Delt Jim Miller Named Outstanding Man of Oklahoma University

THE UNIVERSITY of Oklahoma's Dads' Association named Delt James I. Miller, of Delta Alpha Chapter, the most outstanding man at O. U. last autumn.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the University, made the annual cup presentation to Miller at half-time ceremonies of the Kansas-Oklahoma football game on October 20.

credit, but was chosen also as one of the top ten men in his junior class. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Miller served on O.U.'s student senate; is past president of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshmen; is a member of the student "Y," Religious Emphasis Week Committee, and Pe-et, senior honor society. He was also chosen a "Big Man on the Campus."

He has received Dads' Association scholarships twice. He has also received scholarships from the Mothers' Association and the Alumni Division fund.

Initiated into Delta Tau Delta on September 4, 1949, he held the office of parliamentarian and is now a representative on the Celebrity Series, an entertainment society at O.U., for Delta Alpha.

He is a senior in the college of arts and sciences, majoring in letters. He plans to enter the teaching profession after graduation.

silon, and Phi Gamma Delta were instated in their new homes. Theta Delta Chi and Sigma Nu will be moved later, followed by Delta Tau Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha.

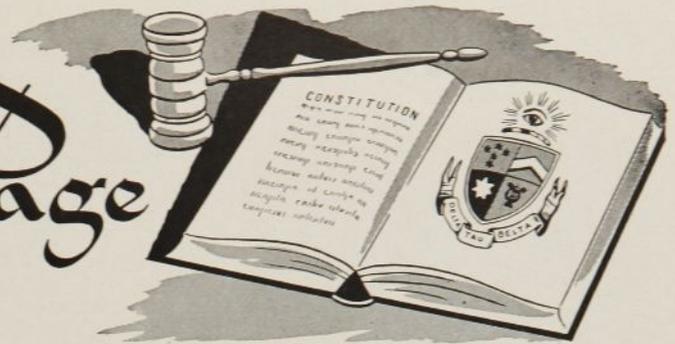

The move can come none too soon for Beta Chi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. Since the disastrous fire of last June, which almost completely destroyed the old Shelter, the chapter has been occupying temporary quarters at 166 George Street.

The Quadrangle, located just across the street from the main campus, will house 875 students. Each fraternity unit has a spacious lounge with a fireplace and an adjoining library. Although the lounges are alike as to floor plan, each house has the privilege of furnishing its lounge according to its own taste. Each house also has a game room in the basement and a large chapter room on the fourth floor.

Brown University's Interfraternity Governing Board has declared that "the University's magnificent building program promises to be a boon to the fraternity system as a whole, as well as to each house individually."

WITHIN THE NEXT MONTH OR TWO our undergraduate chapters will choose their delegates to the Sixty-first Karnea, which, as the supreme authority in Delta Tau Delta, may determine which way we go, perhaps for many years. The most careful thought should be given these elections.

It is vitally important that delegates be fully aware of the attitudes of the members of the chapter, and of its needs and situation. A chapter cannot expect adequate representation from a man who has not assumed sufficiently broad responsibilities in the chapter to know how it operates.

The Karnea in particular and the Division Conferences to some extent are the summation of our national character. That national character cannot be significant without full participation by all the chapters. Occasionally a delegate is selected as a sort of political plum, to pass out a good trip at the expense of the Fraternity, or to give a man a free trip home, or because no one else is willing to take the time necessary. To whatever extent such thinking appears, the chapter in question has withdrawn from Delta Tau Delta. If its members wish to do so, and no longer to be part of an organization extending beyond their own campus, that fact might as well be recognized, and Delta Tau Delta be represented by other men on that campus, who value what Delta Tau Delta is. However, it has often been noted that those most persuaded of the value of Delta Tau Delta are those who have attended.

The Karnea is, in my opinion, the most democratic such meeting which could be devised. It elects its own officers and makes its own rules. Every member of Delta Tau Delta is entitled to all its privileges, except those of voting. A substantial majority of the votes are cast by undergraduates, and most of the remainder by alumni delegates elected by the undergraduate chapters. No member of the Arch Chapter necessarily has a vote, and many of them do not.

This plan of organization permits the freest and fullest exchange of viewpoint and opinion and enables a collective judgment on the basis of all the facts available, illuminated by discussion and debate from every side. This means that the delegates must exercise independent judgment at the time. The exact question for final consideration must be framed, by parliamentary processes, in committee and on the floor. It may turn out to be materially different from what anyone had in mind. That is why, unlike some of our friends, we have no advance submission to the chapters of specific questions, necessarily framed by some small group. If we were going to do it the other way, there would be no need of coming together. Proposals could simply be submitted by mail to the individual chapters, their answers tabulated, and great expense saved, at the cost of losing all national unity.

In a very few instances coercive measures have been applied by groups outside the Fraternity purporting to require certain votes on certain matters. Should such compulsion ever succeed, Delta Tau Delta will cease to be a free organization of free men. The vote in the Karnea is properly secret from all but Delts, and each vote should be cast by a Delt as a Delt. The administration of any institution which sanctions such compulsion raises a very serious question as to whether its campus is a proper field for the operation of an undergraduate chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

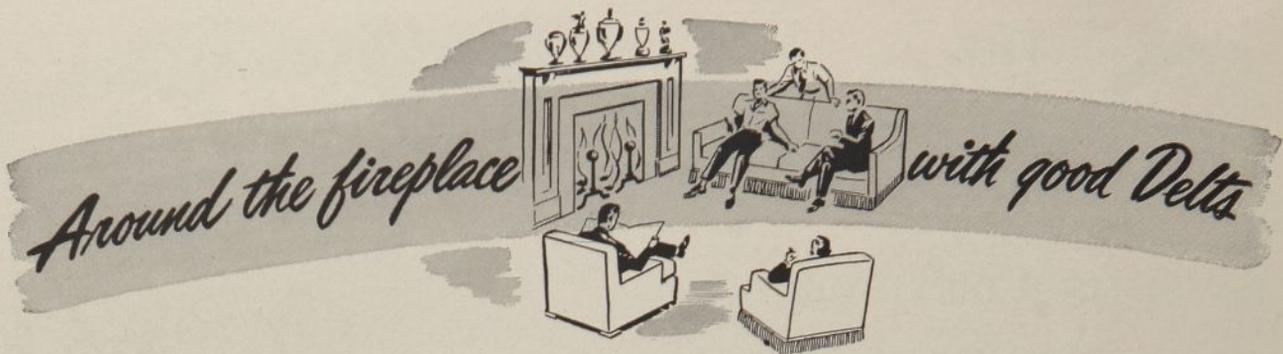

One of the problems which undoubtedly will be considered will be that of modification of our membership qualifications, to admit persons of racial or cultural backgrounds now ineligible. This issue has been presented at three successive Karneas: 1946, 1948, and 1950. Before the last, the Arch Chapter insisted that the tentative schedule allow a full business day for its debate and discussion, which the Karnea did, at the expense of many thousands of dollars, and to the exclusion of consideration of other subjects, many of vital and enduring importance. It will be for the Sixty-first Karnea to decide how much time it will give to this subject.

An item which has not had much consideration, but on which your President has expressed a definite view, is that of the time and place of the following Karnea. For 11 years the Karnea has met in the rather confined area between Chicago and Columbus, north of the Ohio. Even in 1941 we were not far from the Midwest. It is true that Delts are most numerous in that area, that it is possible to have a larger attendance there, and that the expense is much less, but I feel that the Delts in all parts of English-speaking North America are entitled occasionally to have a Karnea in their vicinity, and that vast benefit will result from moving around.

The exact direction in which we may go is not material. In my visits to every section of the Fraternity I have publicly invited presentation of all possibilities.

Successive Karneas have expressed preferences for resort locations, with which I concur. It is virtually impossible to obtain such in August. In my opinion, it will be necessary to shift to June dates to allow much freedom of choice, but if we do, we can have a very wide choice of highly desirable locations, even for so large a meeting as ours. Such a shift would even permit consideration of some southern locations, in which area we have had only three Karneas, one

THE IMPORTANCE of good public relations for the college fraternity was emphasized effectively in a panel discussion on "Fraternity Public Relations" held during the 43rd annual session of the National Interfraternity Conference last November.

The results of a survey conducted to show what sort of press fraternities have received were reported by Mr. Richard Powell, assistant to the president of N. W. Ayer & Son, New York advertising firm. Members of the Ayer staff examined all the clippings in the libraries of the Philadelphia Inquirer and Philadelphia Evening Bulletin covering fraternity mentions in those newspapers between the years 1940 and 1950. Those clippings were 60 per cent unfavorable to fraternities, Mr. Powell reported, and the unfavorable stories were much longer than the favorable ones, and generally on the front page, whereas the favorable ones were on inside pages.

The unfavorable stories, moreover, were highly dramatic and undoubtedly had a tremendously greater impact on the public than did the favorable items. Unfavorable stories were primarily concerned with fraternities' Hell Weeks, and in 1951 fraternities have had the worst press of those ten years as far as hazings and Hell Week are concerned.

Although much good can be accomplished with newspaper coverage of constructive fraternity activities, Mr. Powell pointed out, "it is very much worth while to remember that a favorable story does not balance an unfavorable story . . . Just one unfavorable story far outshadows a great many favorable stories."

Mr. Powell's conclusion re-emphasizes what a good many fraternity leaders have tried over the years to drive home: There is no public relations substitute for right conduct.

This does not mean, however, that fraternities cannot help their own cause by making an effort to obtain favorable press for their worth-while activities. When fraternity chapters practice good citizenship in their college communities, they have something on which to build. Participation in such community affairs, the panel pointed out, is not only excellent training in good citizenship but is also extremely newsworthy and produces good public relations.

As an example, the story was told of Bob Lawlor, who started the community-service program for Alpha Tau Omega on Indiana's campus, and Dick Goff, chapter president, both of whom were called to New York recently to appear on a coast-to-coast television show of "We, the People" and to tell just how this project started.

Aid to scholarship, emphasis on scholarship, aid to foreign students, and help in all kinds of community projects will produce valuable publicity. Some of the different types of things which fraternities have done were cited, such as: work for an orphanage for underprivileged children; help to needy families; help to YMCAs; improvements on churches; campus landscaping improvement; improvement on community centers; help to hospitals; blood donations to the Red Cross; renovation of recreational facilities to boys' clubs; renovation of boys' clubs; and improvement in student unions.

The panel warned that fraternities must make certain that none of these projects ever smacks of publicity. Fraternities should keep their programs dignified. Otherwise, they are defeating their purpose.

To this observation we should like to add our solemn "amen." If fraternities undertake any projects solely for the "publicity" attached thereto, if they exploit underprivileged groups for the selfish acquisition of headlines, then they will not only cheapen every fine ideal of fraternity but they will also lay themselves open to ultimate public ridicule and contempt.

What can local chapters do to establish better relations with the press?

The first thing, Mr. Powell recommended, would be for the local chapter to set up a public relations or press relations committee. The committee members should go to the college publicity bureau, bespeak its co-operation, and seek technical advice on how to conduct a program in co-ordination with the college bureau.

All of us have a tendency to think of public relations chiefly in terms of the press, but there are other media concerned. We need to analyze our job, members of the panel stressed, in terms of the various publics that we are interested in reaching. Effective public relations can be established with parents, mothers' clubs, alumni, and faculties and administrations of the colleges.

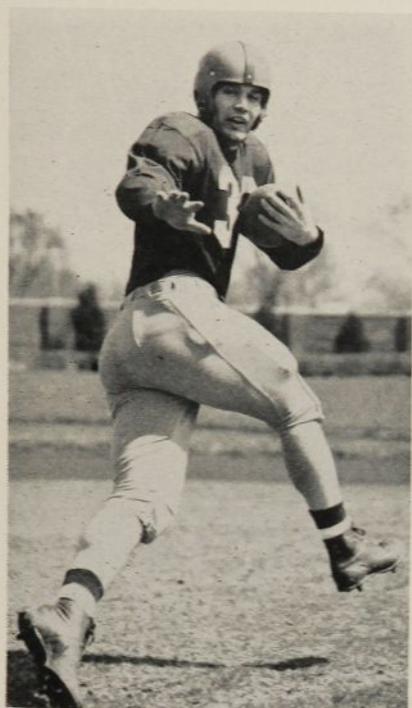

Fraternities may also make new friends through open houses for community leaders, newspapermen, publishers, ministers, and public officials so that such people may become acquainted with college men and so that they may observe fraternity life as it is actually lived.

"They will remember that experience," predicted one of the panel leaders; "they will tell their friends about it, and they will have a more realistic appreciation of the truth about fraternity life than they can gain by reading the press."

The panel discussion was concluded by reading excerpts from the report prepared by the Institute Committee of the N.I.C. The report begins in this manner:

Tate "Most Valuable" in Rose Bowl

BILL TATE, Illinois fullback, who averaged 7½ yards per carry.

DELTS FIGURED prominently as both players and coaches in the postseason football clashes from Pasadena, California, to Miami, Florida.

Workhorse and hero of Illinois' decisive 40-7 victory in the Rose Bowl was Fullback Bill Tate, of Beta Upsilon Chapter. It was Bill's sensational line-bucking and broken field running that paved the way to the first score of the game. On the fifth play from scrimmage, he broke through right tackle and galloped 41 yards to the Stanford three. In the third period he put Illinois out in front again to stay with a five-yard end sweep that hit pay dirt.

All told, Tate carried the ball 20 times for 150 yards and a 7½ yards per carry average. His performance earned his selection as the Rose Bowl's "most valuable player." He was a near-unanimous choice of the football writers from all over the nation who balloted in a Helms Athletic Foundation poll.

Starring on defense for the Illini was Bob Lenzini, sophomore guard, whose timely tackles in the line played a major role in stopping the fast-moving Stanford backs.

On the Indian side, seven Delts of Beta Rho Chapter saw action in the Rose Bowl battle. Many of the names that follow will be familiar to those who saw the game via television or listened to radio broadcasts, for nearly all of these men figured repeatedly in key plays of the afternoon. Here they are: Charles Essegian, linebacker; Jack Bonetti, guard; Ron Cook, halfback; Ted Tanner, linebacker; Hart Cook, guard; Tsar Calfee, tackle; and John Gilmore, halfback.

COTTON BOWL

Down at Dallas, Texas, where Kentucky subdued Texas Christian 20-7 in the Cotton Bowl, Emery Clark, 166-pound back of Delta Epsilon Chapter, left a crowd of 75,000 with glowing memories of brilliant offensive and defensive play.

scored two of Kentucky's touchdowns. He also intercepted a T.C.U. pass at a critical juncture and turned in some great punt returns. His final performance of his collegiate career earned enthusiastic plaudits of sports-writers who covered the contest.

EAST-WEST

Head coach of the West squad in the annual Shrine gridiron classic at San Francisco on December 29 was Jess Neely, Vanderbilt, '23, highly successful football mentor of Rice Institute. His Western team dropped a close and cleanly contested decision of 15-14 to the East. Last year Neely was on the winning side as coach of the West squad.

ORANGE BOWL

In his second year as head coach at Baylor University, George Sauer, Nebraska, '34, brought his team through a rugged schedule with a single loss and earned the right to play Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl. Four years ago Sauer had seen a goal-line fumble deprive his great Kansas eleven of the Orange Bowl crown in a seesaw battle with the same Georgia Tech.

In this year's game, Baylor pulled out in front in the early stanzas only to give up the advantage in the final minutes. Sauer's squad, however, was rated as Georgia Tech's toughest opponent of the year and one which will be a serious contender for honors next season.

of them at Louisville in 1886. This problem should not again be dumped in the lap of the Arch Chapter, especially with such difficult stipulations as a resort location in the Midwest in August.

Those who wish to propose locations should obtain from the hotel operators specific information as to the number of rooms available, rates, facilities, and available dates, in such form as to be presented to the Committee on Time and Place at the opening of the Karnea.

The Karnea should give thoughtful consideration to our scholarship. Constructive measures for improvement of the various parts of our organization may be suggested. There are many needs we see no practical way to satisfy at once, but which merit our attention. Practical problems of chapter operation and administration should be allowed time for discussion in round tables, one of the most valuable features of our Karneas and Conferences.

I hope that each chapter will present to the entire Fraternity its best leadership, personality, and ability. Such men can make the most effective contributions and will enhance the prestige of the chapters they represent. Equally important, they will be the best representatives from the Fraternity to their chapters, to take back whatever of importance, interest, or value may have been presented.

"Fraternities will exist only as long as they serve a useful and constructive purpose. . . . Unless some foundation can be actively supported by the members of the Greek letter fraternities in order to improve the standards of public relations, the fraternity system as known today will slowly, but surely disappear."

The report continues:

"After much study it is our recommendation that there are ways all of us can help preserve the rich experience of fraternity living as we have known it.

"No. 1, to support an intensified effort on public relations through the National Interfraternity Foundation and to raise necessary money to improve fraternity scholarship, conduct, attitudes, and public acceptance.

"No. 2, each of us take an active interest in making ours a better fraternity, physically, morally, intellectually, and socially."

Albion Delts Observe 75th Anniversary

A record turnout of alumni marked Epsilon Chapter's observance of its seventy-fifth anniversary at Albion College on October 20.

At a banquet held in the Shelter, principal speakers were Bishop Marshall R. Reed, Albion, '14, and Hugh Shields, Executive Vice-President of the Fraternity. Dr. W. W. Whitehouse, President of the College, was also an honored guest and speaker.

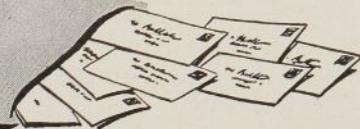

Harvey N. Ott, Albion, '89, noted scientist, benefactor of the College, and a member of its board of trustees, was honored for his long loyalty and service to the chapter and the College.

Historic high lights of Epsilon's 75 years were recounted by Kenneth J. Hollinshead, '10, alumni secretary of the College. Epsilon was established June 1, 1876.

At Epsilon Chapter's 75th Anniversary Banquet, Chapter President BILL MONAHAN (right) confers special honors upon DR. HARVEY N. OTT, '89, noted scientist and long-time benefactor of the College and chapter.

A token bag of wheat, representing the first gift of grain to the Government of India from the Christian Rural Overseas Programme of the United States, was presented last fall to India's Deputy Director of Grains, in Bombay, by DONALD F. EBRIGHT, Baker, '32, who directs the Church World Service relief program in India. The gift consisted of 20,000 bushels of wheat and was carried to Bombay from the United States by the Norwegian vessel, S. S. Hoegh Silverspray.

In his presentation of the token bag, Dr. Ebright pointed out that the wheat represented voluntary gifts from the American people through their church agencies "for the sole purpose of extending a friendly hand to India in this time of food crisis." He explained that the wheat represented small gifts donated by thousands of American farmers. Dr. Ebright also recalled the vast supplies of wheat, powdered milk, vitamin tablets, multi-purpose food, and Ralston cereal, which had been received since October, 1947, when refugee and relief work was started by these private church agencies.

India's Deputy Director of Grains requested Dr. Ebright "to tell the original donors in the United States that the food gift will be freely and largely distributed" to the needy areas of the country.

CHARLES C. CARR, Indiana, '09, who was for 15 years director of public relations of the Aluminum Company of America, has written Alcoa: An American Enterprise, published by Rinehart & Company and released in January.

The book tells the fascinating story of the development of Alcoa as a great American industry during its first 62 years. It begins with an account of young Charles Martin Hall's discovery of a cheap method of turning bauxite into aluminum in 1886 and chronicles Alcoa's rise from its pioneering mill plant days to the present.

Mr. Carr's long career as a newspaperman and newspaper publisher stands him in good stead, for he writes the story with the thoroughness of a seasoned reporter. In an introductory explanation, he states that he undertook writing the book with an objective viewpoint and "all phases of Alcoa's history, whether or not they involved controversy, are included."

When The Reverend JAMES P. DEWOLFE, JR., Sewanee, '40, became the rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church in Fort Worth, Texas, there was a congregation of 100 and no church building. A building and new rectory have since been erected, and the congregation has increased to 450.

DR. GEORGE F. WEBER, Florida, '16, was elected vice-president of the American Phytopathological Society in December at the annual meeting of the international organization of plant pathologists.

Dr. Weber, professor of plant pathology at the University of Florida, is the author of more than 100 bulletins, articles, and other publications on plant pathology and kindred subjects. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and other professional organizations. He has been connected with the University of Florida faculty since 1922.

In Delta Tau Delta, Dr. Weber has a long record of service. He is a former President of the Southern Division and has been chapter adviser to Delta Zeta Chapter for many years. His loyalty was recognized officially by a Citation to the Distinguished Service Chapter several years ago.

In his inaugural address as president of Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh, DR. CLIFFORD E. BARBOUR, Pittsburgh, '19, stated that "We treat the faith of our fathers the way we treat a family heirloom. It is certainly not to be disposed of . . . We have a deeply sentimental attachment to it . . ." Dr. Barbour was elected to the presidency in June, 1951, and has been acting in this capacity since the beginning of the fall term. After he was graduated from Pittsburgh University and Western Theological Seminary, he received his doctorate from Edinburgh University. Last year he was moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, the highest office within the denomination.

Dr. Barbour stated that disclosures of increasing immorality and betrayal of trust by public officials are only symptoms of more deep-seated moral decay. It is up to clergymen to guide the world back to morality, he said, at the same time warning that they can't do it by "becoming cultured" or over-emphasizing social reforms. He pointed out that ministers must "preach the word," explaining that in the teachings of Christ men find "principles suitable for human behavior and purposes adequate for human personality," and that the clergymen must make their own lives examples of their religion.

Editor's Note: The biographical sketch concerning Dr. Paul B. Sears, Ohio Wesleyan, '13, author of our Economic Life series article on "Science" in the December issue of THE RAINBOW, was not sufficiently up to date. To the information which was given should be added the fact that Dr. Sears is now chairman of the Conservation Program at Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

Alpha Entertains Allegheny Students and Faculty With Sunday Afternoon Teas

The social calendar of Alpha Deltas has been crowded and successful so far this semester. It has been highlighted by two Sunday afternoon teas to which the entire campus was invited. There have also been two house parties, a beautiful Christmas banquet, and an even more beautiful Christmas formal. The success of these events is due largely to the fine work of Social Chairman Tom Newcomb, Steward Allen Wood, and House Managers Jack Howie and Dick Chamberlain.

The Deltas have been recognized recently by the college newspaper as the fraternity on the hill leading the crusade towards elimination of the discrimination clause from its constitution. This came out in The Campus shortly before the recent Eastern Division Conference of Delta Tau Delta. Alpha Chapter had authorized its representative, Jack Olofson, to make certain moves at the Conference which would lead towards an elimination of this clause. Before going, Jack received a letter from Allegheny's Dean of Men Charles McCracken stating the College administration's views on the subject. This letter came to the attention of the editor of the paper and he used it, with the results of an interview with Olofson and Alpha's president, Wayne Gibson, to publish a feature article which heavily stressed Alpha's views on the subject.

In an eight-team league the Deltas have placed in the first division in the three intramural sports held so far. They have placed fourth in football, third in swimming, and second in volleyball, after losing in a play-off for first place.

In varsity sports the Deltas have two representatives on the swimming squad. Don Sayer, on the 440-yard free style, and Dave Bailey, backstroke, are both in their second year of varsity competition.

Win Second Consecutive Time

For the second consecutive time Beta took first place in the house homecoming decorations. Congratulations should be extended to Ed Chapel, Ray Faranda, Joe DeCosmo, and Jack Wooley for their wonderful work in bringing us the winning trophy. The homecoming was a success with 300 alumni attending the dinner at the Shelter and the annual Walk-Around at Lindley Hall.

Next on the social calendar came Dad's

Week End with 40 dads taking over the Shelter. The week end was full of different activities including the football game and the annual Varsity Night Show. Chairman Bob Kramer and his committee worked hard to make it a successful week end. The house was decorated on a night club theme called the Delt Hi-Hat Club.

Some of Beta's men received honors in recognition of their activities here at Ohio University. The highest praise goes to Alan Reidel, who was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Dick Doran and Don Pease became members of J-Club. This is the junior men's honorary for the outstanding men. Don was then elected president of the organization. In the athletic end of things, Pledge Tom Terhune is a member of O.U.'s varsity wrestling team, while Pledges Bob Strawser, Nat Reynard and Jim Pheatt are members of O.U.'s freshman basketball team.

The annual Christmas party was held just before vacation. The Deans of the Colleges along with President Baker were guests. Santa Claus was there and gave gifts to all attending. The decorations were, as in the past, a pledge project and included both the inside and outside of the Shelter.

The annual winter formal will be held at the Athens Country Club on January 19. Chairman Joe DeCosmo and his committee are working hard to make this event a success.

CHARLES L. KING

Gamma—W. & J.

Outstanding in Activities

With the first semester examinations over and the second semester well under way, Gamma Chapter can look back on 1951 as a memorable year of considerable achievement. During 1951, besides initiating eleven neophytes, celebrating our 90th anniversary along with the largest turnout of alumni in the history of the chapter, repainting the Shelter inside and out, and installing a new kitchen, the Deltas were outstanding in all phases of College life. On the evening of December 5, the chapter honored Mr. Charles Coburn with a reception following a two-hour program presented by him in the local high school. The affair was under the general sponsorship of the College dramatic club. Around the campus, the Deltas were prominent in many noteworthy positions. In fact, Gamma's members were found in every club and organization without exception. The president of the Student Council was a Delt, as were the editor of the College yearbook, the president of the Kera honorary, the secretary-treasurer of the junior class, and two members of the first string of the football team.

As it is not the policy of Gamma to look back, but rather to look towards being even more progressive in 1952, the members have started the year off with a "bang." All new officers have not as yet been elected, but, from the looks of things, the chapter finances will once more be in capable hands as Bob Lynch has been elected treasurer. On the social side of the register, it has not been all work and no play for the brothers. The annual Panhellenic dance was held on Friday, March 14, with the traditional party the following night, making it indeed an exciting week end for all. As we approach the conclusion of the year, the Deltas are anxiously awaiting the junior prom and are planning for the all-fraternity sing and the stunt night activities. In the athletic department things look just as encouraging with the basketball team continuing its winning ways.

Nineteen hundred and fifty-one was a good year for Gamma Chapter, but the brothers are sure 1952 will be even better, and to all the other Delt chapters we wish the best of luck.

Two Earn Managerial Positions

Gerry Dudley, who was junior manager of the varsity football team, has been appointed as senior manager for next year. This means that Gerry will be able to travel with the team on all its trips next fall. Jim McClune was appointed one of two junior managers for the varsity football team, taking the place of Gerry in the representation of the house.

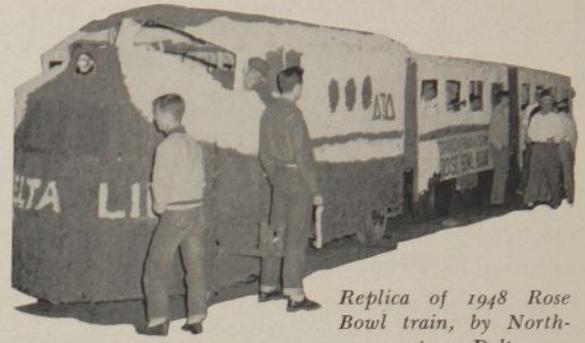

Ted Reynolds has been awarded the Frank Sheehan scholarship in aeronautics for this fall. This scholarship is awarded to one or two students each year who have completed at least two years of work in the College of Engineering with a grade that is termed "distinctly above average." The award is given to students who intend to follow a career in aeronautics or aeronautical engineering and was awarded in 1929.

Pledge Dick O'Shaughnessy played first-string center on the offensive team in varsity football this fall. Dick is also on the wrestling squad for the University. Olaf Karlstrom and Pledge Andy Kaul are the other wrestlers from the house, the latter being on the freshman team. Pledge Pat Montagano is competing for varsity honors on the track team. Pat is a pole vaulter for the team.

success. Sixty-five couples attended the annual affair which was held at the Shelter on December 8.

Major, our not-so-small mascot, has been receiving quite a little publicity around campus lately. Campaign Managers Ed Ambrose and Whitney Sawyer did a good job of campaigning for the canine candidate, and as a result, Major received over 200 first-place votes toward a seat on the student legislature. These votes were thrown out, however, on a technicality—Major is not a student.

Of the two members of our house who were running for election in the fall campaign for seats on the student legislature, Wally Pearson was elected and so retains his present seat. Our other hopeful politician, Ken Cutler, was defeated in his first try for election to the legislature.

Epsilon—Albion

Walks Away With Scholastic Awards in Two Departments

Epsilon walked away with the scholastic awards given each semester by the College with a 1.83 average on a 3.0 system used here at Albion College. One of these awards was the Dean's Inter-Fraternity Council cup, which is given to the fraternity with the highest point average over the previous semester. Epsilon has received this award for three out of the last four semesters and is looking forward to clinching this trophy again this semester. The Delts also won the newly inaugurated Fred A. Perrine scholastic trophy, which is awarded to the fraternity which shows the greatest improvement from one semester to another. This improvement pertains to active members only, with the Delt gain being .23 above that of last semester.

The chapter also continued its annual tradition of having a dinner in honor of the sorority presidents. Besides the sorority presidents, the Dean of the College, Dr. Emil Leifler, and his wife were also present. A dinner was also given in honor of Angelo Valato, a former undergraduate member of Epsilon, who held the position of Secretary of Albion's Alumni Association until he was recalled into the Army Air Force January 9.

Epsilon also staged its annual Christmas party for underprivileged children with the help of pledge entertainment and the lively portrayal of Kris Kringle, as done by Brother Jesse Foote. Epsilon also got in the Christmas spirit with a Christmas party at the house, which was preceded by a Christmas serenade at the women's dormitory and annexes.

GLENN FORD, JR.

Zeta—Western Reserve

Shelter Redecorated

The night we returned from Christmas vacation, Hell Week began in full force. Differing from some, our Hell Week is primarily one of redecorating the Shelter, and many new improvements are to be noted. Our basement recreation room is a typical example of how a room can be brightened up with a little paint. Other rooms completely painted are the front hall, the living and dining rooms, and our housemother's room. Without exception, the actives, alumni, and guests believe that the Shelter is at its best.

Our social calendar is somewhat restricted at this time of year due to final exams, but next semester provides an opportunity for many more house parties and repeats of such favorites as the "Mexican Hat" and the Spring Formal. Our Winter Formal was held on December 17 at the Hollenden Hotel and the dinner dance was again the social event of the year.

The Zeta men, for the first time in several years, are on top in the fraternity basketball league. Zeta "A" men have gone through the other teams and found very little competition. Chuck Weidman, captain and I. M. manager, gives the credit for the success to high spirits and good condition of the players. Our "B" team is also in the final round of the University men in their league and have had a comparatively easy schedule. The badminton birdies are finished flying in the tournament and for the third year in a row Al Oldenburg has been the leading point man. The final points have not been tallied but the Zeta men are again leading contenders for the all-sports trophy.

The GaZeta, the chapter's newspaper, again proved to be an excellent example of fraternity spirit and a way to keep the alumni informed of Zeta's affairs. On January 7, fraternity elections produced a fine slate of officers: Ralph Engle, president; Don Gordon, vice-president; Bob Fleck, treasurer; and Bill Jelenic and Chuck Weidman as recording and corresponding secretaries. With this group of men leading Zeta, success in 1952 is assured.

HAROLD SAYRE

Iota—Michigan State

Black Knights Enter State Intramural League

The Iotas set some sort of a chapter record for fall term when ten Delts had a "B" average or better. Those achieving these grades were Jim Slezak, Roger Summers, Don McLaughlin, Dale Rhoades, Dick Marvin, Ken Parlin, Jim Hayes, Grant Dalcour, Bob Oberst, and Dewitt Parsons.

An off-season election caused by the resignation of four chapter officers, found the following new men elected to office in the house: Don More, president; Roger Summers, treasurer; Frank Hokenson, recording secretary; and Jack Blackburn, corresponding secretary. Larry Jackson and Clarke Scholes continue in the posts of vice-president and sergeant at arms, respectively.

Clarke Scholes, Iota's all-American swimmer, and last year's NCAA 50- and 100-yard free-style champ, tied a Michigan State-Bowling Green dual meet record his first time out in the 50-yard free style race. It looks like another great year for the "Champ."

Iota Chapter is entering an independent team in the Michigan State Intramural League called the "Black Knights." The first five can average well over six feet, and it looks like a trophy year for the boys. Expected to see most of the action are Ken Parlin, Lee Colling, Don More, Roger Summers, Jim Slezak, Ron Gay, and Jack Withrow, coached by Dee Parsons.

For the third straight year, the Delts and the Pi Beta Phi Sorority went together to sponsor the annual Michigan State College Christmas tree lighting ceremony. Dick Marvin did a top job in heading the committee for the event.

On the last Sunday before we went home for Christmas, the Delts combined with the Delta Delta Delta Sorority for the annual Christmas party for the Lansing School for Blind Children at the Shelter. Don Ellis did a bang-up job as chairman of the Delts.

DUANE VERNON

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

High in Scholarship

Old Mu Chapter, on its beaten path for scholarship again, has few activities to report, but prior to final tabulations, the active chapter held the unbelievable average of 3.0. A check with the Dean of Men showed that 13 Delts were on the Dean's list with averages over 3.3. The sophomore honorary, Phi Society, initiated six Delts out of ten men chosen on the campus. Those men honored were: Pete Baum, Gordon Smith, Nick MacCollum, Bubs Benson, Ron Long, and Hal Stevens.

There are a few Delts at Ohio Wesleyan, however, who are not always studying. Dave Hummel and John Barclay are the captains of a very successful swimming team. Dave specializes in the 50- and 100-yard events, while John swims in the relays. Dave Hummel was recently initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary.

Bob Drake captured the school intramural wrestling championship for the third consecutive year and thus gained recognition for himself and Delta Tau Delta. Freshman Carver Hendrix also contributed a crown, but the team managed only third place.

The varsity basketball team featured Mu's Stew Peterson, Bob Kimble, and Dick Surbrook. All three men saw plenty of action on the hardwood. Brother Bill Davis was head manager and kept the team on the ball.

Brother Dave Smith has his hands full at this time as he is editor of the school annual, LeBijou. Brothers Bob Drake and Joe Somma are the sports editors of the school weekly.

WILLIAM DAVIS

Nu—Lafayette

Chapter Has Winning Football Team

Nu Chapter has completed a successful rushing season with 15 pledges to its credit. Joe Priapi, John Alviggi, Larry Black, Ed Hantz, and George Haines are five new brothers initiated in October.

In sports, the Delt football team had a successful year, winning its own league and finishing second in the standings of the 19 fraternities. Brothers Bob Wood, John Alviggi, and Ed Hazzard made the all-fraternity football team, and Bill Hays and Pete Carril received honorable mention. Pete Carril, captain of the varsity basketball squad, is now current high scorer of the Lafayette quintet.

Officers have been elected as follows: president, Dick Polhemus; vice-president, Jack Madden; secretary, Bill Schreiner; corresponding secretary and house manager, Gene Feuerstein; treasurer, Bill Hays; house guide, Howard Hendrickson; and sergeant at arms, Jim Casper.

The house welcomes Bill Greenup and Mate Williams as new chapter advisers. Bill was recently appointed assistant director of admissions.

Plans are now currently under way for our annual Mardi Gras Costume Ball to take place in March. This is one of the most outstanding fraternity events to occur at the College during the year.

EUGENE FEUERSTEIN

Omicron—Iowa

Chapter Steadily Improves Scholastic Standing

The members of Omicron have started to hit the books for the "long pull" before final exams. Our grade point average is mounting steadily, and we hope to be among the upper four fraternities in scholarship this semester.

The chapter members are hard at work remodeling the old furnace room into a modernistic rumpus room in the Shelter's basement.

A new feature in alumni relations has been instituted by Don Rosche, alumni committee chairman. All pledges have been assigned "alumni dads," to whom they are writing in order to reacquaint the alumni with the details of chapter life and function.

Several Omicron Deltas traveled to Madison, Wisconsin, for the ill-fated Iowa-Wisconsin football game, and were entertained royally by the members of Beta Gamma Chapter. Everyone had a fine week end.

The winter formal, held at the Mayflower Club, was a success as usual. Bruce Clark, social chairman, deserves a hand for a fine job in the planning of the party.

JOHN CREGER

Rho—Stevens

Race to Retire Sports Trophy Spurred by Football Championship

December 1 was the big day on campus this year as the finals of the interfraternity football league were played. Delta Tau Delta, after trailing 7-0 at the end of the half, went on to win 13-7. Captain Dick McCormack passed 40 yards into the coffin corner to Jack Wilcox on fourth down for the winning touchdown. Winning the football plaque gives Rho the lead in its bid to retire the IFC Sports Trophy. The chapter has won it for the past two years.

Initiation ceremonies were held at the Masonic Temple in Hoboken on November 21, 1951. Seventeen new names were added to the list of future Rho alumni.

An informal initiation was conducted the preceding week and showed that many of the boys were Thespians at heart. Skits were combined with work week. In three short days (and three long nights) new block-type ceilings were installed in the second-floor rooms, the dining room was repainted, and most of the desks were refinished, as well as the solid oak front doors. The whole week proved to be successful in consolidating 36 brothers and pledges into one group.

Rho's congratulations this issue go to Emory Heaps as our new chapter adviser. We also congratulate Don Ferriss, '50, who kept up the tradition of marrying the sister of a brother Delt. The lucky girl was Alice Fredericks.

JOHN WILCOX

Tau—Penn State

Holds Many Holiday Festivities

Seventy-five faculty members and their wives and husbands attended the formal faculty dance given by Tau Chapter and Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority at the chapter house on December 14. Three Christmas trees and a profusion of pine boughs decorated the living room. Punch and hors d'oeuvres were served. The favorable response to the affair assures that it will become an annual event.

"Freedom's Keystone" was the theme of the display for homecoming week end. The entrance to the Shelter was covered with a 20-foot keystone. About the yard were scattered giant symbols of Pennsylvania's varied industries.

In co-operation with the Chi Omega Sorority, Tau Chapter entertained underprivileged children from the State College area. Bob Dahle was a convincing Santa Claus. Tom Judge recited "A Visit from St. Nicholas." The brothers and girls supervised games and led the Christmas singing.

In preparation for the spring track season, three Deltas are working out with the indoor track team. They are Bernie Kelley, javelin, Gene Donahue, broad jump, and Fred Sprenkle, half mile.

With the pledging of six men to fill February graduating vacancies, Tau once more has a full house of 44.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

Junior Prom Week End Highlights Social Season

Under the able guidance of Brother Red Ferrell as rushing chairman, Upsilon started off the new year right by ending the fall rushing season with the pledging of twelve top-notch men. Already these future Deltas are helping to uphold the high position of Delta Tau Delta at Rensselaer.

The high light of the winter social, Junior Prom, saw a large delegation from the Shelter in attendance. The week end got off to a roaring start on Friday night with the second appearance here of the Dartmouth Saints giving out with their terrific brand of Dixieland jazz. Saturday afternoon saw a strong Rensselaer hockey team meet Hamilton College on the ice at the field house. Night brought the traditional candlelight formal banquet and then the dance. The week end was certainly one to be long remembered by all who attended.

The chapter was well represented in winter sports, especially with three outstanding members of the powerful Rensselaer hockey team being brothers or pledges of Upsilon Chapter. Abbie Moore and Chico Chiarelli played a terrific game at forward, while Jim Pope, a very versatile player, showed up well in all positions. On the swimming team, Howie Curtiss and Bob Irwin did a good job in the medley and free style events, while Shub Owen did well in the backstroke. With the approach of spring, the lacrosse team has started workouts. Led by Captain Bill Lillis, the house has a good representation on the varsity squad with Milt Haughton, Tom Gorrie, Ron Secrest, and Red Ferrell returning lettermen from last year, and Dave McGarvey and Don Freund up from the last year's frosh team.

In the interfraternity sports, Upsilon's swimming team, led by Ben Randall and Shub Owen, took the trophy this year. Other point getters were Bren Dube and C. J. Nager.

Phi—W. & L.

Allen Chosen for Omicron Delta Kappa

John Allen of Phi Chapter was one of the few candidates to be tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, the esteemed national honorary society. John, a senior, certainly deserves this honor, as he has always been an active and outstanding student on the campus. This year he has been elected president of final dances.

The rough and tumble Delt football team won a thrilling contest over Beta in the play-off to cop second place in the hotly-contested intramural football league. We also finished high in bowling and ping-pong.

Phi Chapter's basketball team, consisting of a dazzling array of high school stars, is a strong contender for blue ribbon honors in basketball. In our last game we defeated Sigma Nu, last year's champs, in an exciting overtime battle. The team's main trouble is staying in shape, as its athletic trainer, Frank Barron, does not enforce strict conditioning rules.

The chapter's last big festive occasion was our annual Christmas celebration.

The week end preceding the Christmas activities Phi Chapter threw a well-organized "shipwreck party." The lounge was decorated with driftwood which is now being used in the furnace as kindling wood along with the other decorations.

Beautiful women and Dixieland jazz made the party a tremendous success. Music was supplied by "Choo Choo" Castner, a Delt who has organized his own band.

Although fall lacrosse practice is a new and strenuous thing, 13 Delts participated in the abbreviated session last month. Among Phi Chapter's burly army of lacrosse players are Jim Gray and Morgan Lear, who are cocaptains for the coming season.

A and B Teams Undeclared

Chi Chapter has continued to uphold its athletic reputation on both the varsity and intramural levels. Brother Ron Fraley is one of the leading scorers on Kenyon's varsity five. Also wearing the purple and white of the Kenyon Lords are Brothers Jack Gammon and John Ver Nooy. In the rough and tumble intramural basketball league, the ChiDelts have been winning and winning. Both the "A" and "B" teams have undefeated records. Athletic director of the chapter, Bill Hurd, is all smiles.

Over the Christmas holidays wedding bells rang out for two of our brothers. Si Axtell and Dick MacPherson were both married. Both couples are now living just off the Kenyon campus.

Through outstanding work in the field of political science, Brother Norman Nichol was chosen to attend American University in Washington, D. C., this spring, under the Washington Semester Plan.

Two Delts, Brothers Tony Brockelman and Mike Hayden, hold office in the recently formed Kenyon Ski Club. Tony is president of the organization, while Mike is secretary-treasurer. This group provides skiing facilities for Kenyon and other small colleges in the area.

Brother Tildon McMasters was selected by the Student Council to take over editorship of the Kenyon Collegian, the campus newspaper. All agree he has been doing an excellent job in guiding this publication.

A Chi pledge, Jim Wallace, brought honor to the chapter by being elected secretary-treasurer of the freshman class.

Omega—Pennsylvania

Social Events Roll Along

Fall of 1951 inevitably brought another two-week rushing period to Omega, and the chapter is happy to report favorable news. At the period's completion in the middle of November, Omega had in its fold 22 outstanding "neophytes." A large part of the chapter's success can be attributed to the efforts of Rush Chairman Jim Crisanti and his committee, for despite increasing difficulties in the rushing program at the University, one of the top pledge classes on campus was gained.

Social notices are as much in prominence as ever at Omega. With Social Chairman Jack Smilgin back at the helm again, the chapter has enjoyed such events as an Army week end, parent-alumni homecoming, complete with buffet supper and the perennial Delt revue, Christmas formal, a special Navy week end party, and several functions with Penn's sororities.

Special mention should be made about Omega's recently formed quartet, the Deltones. In the annual Barbershop Quartet contest held at Penn's student union, the group, composed of Dick Foster, Dick Morrison, Hank Wallhauser, and Bob Hompe, took top honors in the hotly contested event.

In the field of intramural athletics, Omega's Jim Williams is guiding various Delt outfits to victory as athletic chairman. Both the basketball and bowling teams are sparkling as of old.

During the fall, two Omegas, Bill Housh and Bill Gay, made the positions of assistant football and assistant soccer manager, respectively. This added to Omega's long list of school activities, and made the Delts a good bet for the top honor Sphinx Award again in 1952.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

Two Win Football Numerals

Highlighting Beta Alpha's winter season of activities is the "Fire Formal" held January 19. This dance, together with the pledges' "Pajama Dance" held in October and the spring formal to be held later, are our outstanding social functions of the year.

We are proud of our 19 pledges, who already show promise for campus leadership in scholarship, politics, and athletics. Steve Smith won the intramural cross-country meet, John Heiney is a frosh basketball manager, and Guy Mathew and Paul Martin won football numerals.

Representing Beta Alpha in the athletic department are Jack Hughes, a track man; Footballers Danny Thomas, in his second year as Collier's all-midwest guard, and John Davis, defensive right halfback, who has been elected to the Board of Aeons, Indiana's tribute to its twelve most outstanding men students.

The love bug bit a tasty morsel when eight of the brothers pinned their campus sweethearts in recent weeks. Don Kellog recently brought scholastic honors when he was tapped for Phi Beta Kappa. Frank Highly is the newly-elected vice-president of the junior class, and Bub Wright is completing his reign as president of the Falcon Club, junior men's honorary.

Danny Thomas, Lee Murph Waynick, Ray Boyer, Dave Ruth, John Davis, and John Wright compose the February, 1952, graduating class of Beta Alpha.

"Snowbrawl" Successful on Chapter's Social Program

Looking back over the past semester, four freshmen, Vic Voras, Wally Johnson, Dick O'Conner, and Ed McFarland, were awarded football numerals, while Ward Shawver earned his second-year letter, and Van Fucilla and Travis Kendall won first-year letters. In the basketball circle, Sophomore Bob Ratzer holds a starting position at guard for the varsity.

In intramural activities, Beta Beta's basketball team started the season with two straight victories, indicating another top-notch team. Also, the house bowling team, led by John Wyandt, stands high on the list of intramurals.

The social committee held a variety of programs, the most successful being a "snowbrawl" with the Tri Delt Sorority. Scholarship, too, improved over the semester with the addition of the Dr. Edward J. Fummel scholarship plaque awarded on the basis of highest achievement, and a scholarship key awarded on the basis of highest improvement.

The rush program drew up new policies, working hand in hand with the alumni committee. The object—to expand and extend contacts over a wider area.

One of DePauw's most useful traditions is the interfraternity week. During this week, Delta Tau Delta held a discussion of student-faculty relations.

Looking to the future, Beta Beta expects the best—full rush week ends to come, the spring formal dance, even more athletic accomplishments, both varsity and intramural, and participation in future campus activities.

TOM DRISCOL

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

Sixty Christmas Trees Grace Shelter

Beta Gamma Chapter is nearing the conclusion of what has proved to be its most successful winter semester in years. The Christmas formal was held on December 15, and had as its theme, "Rhapsody in Blue." The chapter showed real ingenuity with the use of a ten-foot reproduction of a waterfall, constructed of well over a thousand stones, and gracing the library of the Shelter. Sixty Christmas trees and a star spangled ceiling added to the effect of dancing in a winter wonderland. The name of the formal dance was taken from the use of nothing but blue lights on all the Christmas trees.

With the approach of "Winter Carnival" on the Wisconsin campus, the Deltas decided to field a hockey team which the chapter had lacked for many years. With Captain Dick Pfeil setting up the plays and Honorary (non-skating) Coach Dave Hoagland lending moral support, the team soon rounded into shape as the season opened with prospects of compound fractures for all.

Wisconsin's football team closed its season with a record of seven wins, one loss, and one tie, but the Deltas considered this almost secondary to the selection of Brother George O'Brien as captain of the 1952 Badgers, and offensive left guard on the Catholic all-American team. Another Delt, Gordy Johnson, captains Wisconsin's gymnastics squad as the tumblers begin their new season.

Colonel Wayne Hauck, U. S. Army, retired, and a Delt in good standing for many years, has replaced Mr. Ray Elliot as chapter adviser. Colonel Hauck is a man who is certainly qualified to aid a large group of young men due to his previous experiences in Army life, and has captured the respect and admiration of every man in the chapter* after only a few short months. Dick Schillfarth, one of our new actives, is general chairman of Campus Carnival this year, accomplishing success in a job that would be a headache to anyone else. Chuck Doman continues to be the campus' leading socialite with two year's reign already to his credit. Chuck and Social Chairman Mal MacArthur have been busy planning a series of events to keep Delta Tau Delta's high social rating at a peak this spring.

Beta Delta—Georgia

Football Team Wins Second Place in Its League

After a very successful rush week for a starter, Beta Delta proceeded to set a fast pace on the athletic and social fronts. The football team, with Coach Mercer Brown and Captain "Jug" Campbell, took second place in its league and was voted the outstanding offensive and outstanding defensive team in its league. Brother Campbell and Pledges Durrence and Stanfield were named members of the all-league team. Our team scored 108 points to its opponents 27.

The Delt volleyball team took third place in the University intramural program.

Cupid has worked overtime around the Delt Shelter lately and, in addition to numerous pinnings, has negotiated the marriage of Brother Ernie Hull to Vivian Burden and Brother Bill Morrison to Janice Bargren—wedding bells are knotting up that old gang of ours.

Phi Mu Pledge Dottie Wright has been selected chapter sponsor. Dottie is a charming freshman and has on several occasions, since being named sponsor, entertained the chapter and rushees with her enthusiastic renditions of popular songs.

The Saddle Hawkins Day Party was a gala costume affair with dancing, races, contests, and clowning in general.

Our Christmas party for underprivileged children, at which Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts to each child, was a big success.

Surprise of the year: Sweetheart Martha Shuman, after three quarters of vain attempts, made the average necessary to be initiated into Kappa Delta Sorority. Congratulations to the greatest little sweetheart a fraternity ever had!

Beta Epsilon—Emory

Awarded Cup for Scholastic Improvement During 1950-51

Beta Epsilon is very proud to announce that it has won the cup given by the University for the best fraternity scholastic improvement for the year ending last spring. We climbed from fourteenth to fourth place in the fraternity rating.

Socially, the fall quarter was a busy one. Besides the usual house dances, several significant parties were held. Early in the quarter, the Shelter was the scene of a party to crown our new sponsor, Miss Joan Dodson of Decatur.

On November 8, we brothers and pledges honored our housemother, Mrs. Humphries, better known as Grandma, at a birthday party. The housemothers of all 14 fraternities on the row were present. We are very proud of our housemother. She has been with us for 18 years and is the dean of the housemothers here at Emory.

On December 14, we had a Christmas party honoring four children from the Methodist Children's Home in Decatur. Santa Claus came to see everyone, and the youngsters really seemed to enjoy themselves.

Preparations are underway for our Annual Formal Dance to be held at Piedmont Park. Our speaker for the evening will be Col. Lawson, who was an active member of Beta Zeta at Butler and is now head of the Air Force ROTC here.

We wish to congratulate our pledges, who have undertaken a project which has been talked about for many years but never begun. They are in the process of building a big barbecue pit which will be an asset to the social life of our chapter.

Beta Zeta—Butler

Hold Annual Party at Shelter For Underprivileged Children

The fall semester Delt pledge class held its annual Rose Dance for the entire chapter on December 14. This year's formal affair took place in the beautiful Sapphire Room of the Washington Hotel. Thanks should be extended to the pledges for one of the best Rose Dances in recent years.

On the night of December 19, 1951, Beta Zeta held its annual Christmas Party for 16 underprivileged children. Following their meal here at the Shelter, the wide-eyed boys and girls watched television and sang Christmas carols. Then, later in the evening, Santa Claus (as played very effectively by Brother Vic Tanguy) came bouncing down the Shelter stairs. Old Santa gave all of the happy children gifts and candy. Following Santa's exit, the boys and girls were returned to their respective homes.

At a recent chapter meeting Vic Tanguy was selected president of Beta Zeta for the new year. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president, Warren Clements, and his officers for their fine work during the past year.

The annual Delt House Party at Spring Mill State Park took place during the week end of November 23-25. Arranged by Bill Loebig, social chairman, the event was a success. The treasure hunt was won by Jim Heinbaugh and Don Shaffer. Delta Tau Delta is the only fraternity at Butler which is permitted by the University to have an off-campus house party.

At Butler's recent Panhellenic Dance (gals take guys) Brother Vic Tanguy's colorful corsage captured first place in the corsage contest. Miss Janet Staton, Vic's pin girl, was responsible for the prize-winning corsage.

Four pledges, Ronnie Hamm, Jim Moore, Mardel Robbins, and Dallas Etchison, have donated their sports abilities to Butler by making the freshman basketball squad.

The Delt intramural basketball five, inspired by Delt Coach Pat Masterson, set a new scoring record for intramural court play by crushing an opponent to the tune of 70-28. Delt Pledge Dwaine Bell led the scoring with a high of 22 points.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

Social Season Set

Since last October we at Beta Eta have been really busy. At the first of the school year we had rushing, and despite the few number of men going through, we pledged 12. Shortly after this the brothers pitched in and made plans for elaborate homecoming decorations. Despite all the "blood, sweat and tears" that went into the decorations, we failed to cop top honors. Again this year we had a fall dinner dance, this time at the White Pine Inn in Bayport, Minnesota, and everyone concerned had a wonderful time. The first of the year we had election of a new treasurer, James Andersen, and also a new assistant treasurer, Robert Dawn.

Another big event of the school year was our initiation banquet in January. After a Saturday afternoon initiation for nine new actives, the brothers brought their dates over to the house for a big banquet and dancing afterwards. Another big event in the offing is our annual Founders Day banquet to be held in February. Our alumni chairman is now busy contacting alumni for this big event.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

All Enjoy Children's Party

Beta Theta Chapter played host to 125 grade school pupils and their teachers on December 12. The children enjoyed themselves very much, but the actives and members of the Kappa Alpha Order who helped serve, seemed to be having the best time. After a three-course meal of candy, popcorn balls, and cookies, the children seemed to find one vacant spot for ice cream, and it was no job to get them to finish the food. Pledge Jim Kilpatrick supplied the piano music as the children sang carols around the Christmas tree. The party was so successful that we may make it an annual affair.

The volleyball season closed just before Christmas recess and Beta Theta placed in the second division. Almost every man had the chance to play and help Beta Theta to a successful sport season. Basketball is now on the top of the intramural sport list. With Brother Fritz Erschell coaching the Beta Theta basketballers, we expect a fine season and a spot in the first division. The first team will consist of Pledges Oxarart, Cole, Patston, and Brothers Brown and Trebor-MacConnell. Brown and Trebor-MacConnell helped spark Beta Theta in past years and with our three pledges working with them we can expect some hot ball playing and close, keen competition. Also on the roster are Pledges Eschleman, Niebank, and Stephenson. These men should prove to be a good nucleus for future Delt teams.

Our social calendar for '51 was closed with our annual Christmas party on December 8 for the members and their dates. The party featured dancing, carol singing, a pledge skit and a grab bag. The Shelter was decorated in the scheme of the season by all members and the affair was a very enjoyable one. Plans are now being made for our February midwinter dance. Brother George Hall will handle the details with the help of a committee. Several alumni will be here and we hope to see more of the old members.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

Five Delts on Varsity Cage Team

Listed high in Beta Kappa's activities this fall was the annual pledge formal at the Shelter. Following the theme of "Heaven and Hell," practically the entire campus joined us to dance under the clouds and stars in the living room to the music of a dance band. Roaring furnaces, flaming walls, and a Dixieland band composed "Hell" in the rec room.

In the sweatsock department, Beta Kappa was well prepared when the hoop season rolled around. Five Delts are currently holding down five regular berths on the varsity squad. Whitey Gompert, a junior from Winnetka, Illinois, has been the mainstay of the team at one of the forward positions this year.

Art Bunte, a freshman from Denver, and Ken Koop, a junior from Mitchell, South Dakota, share the starting post position on the varsity. Completing the roster are Bob Lawson, a junior from Longmont, at guard, and Kenny Munns, a sophomore from Greeley, also a varsity guard.

In spite of the numbers on the varsity squad, there was still enough cage material around the Shelter to form the regular Delt intramural team and four other teams that entered the independent league. The BK's showed their court prowess the other night by defeating the Sigma Nu's 41-26 in the year's first encounter.

Another recent development at Beta Kappa was the arrival of Mrs. G. Ish, our new housemother. Mother Ish has already won the complete faith of the chapter and is very happy in her new home.

PETE HARTSUFF

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

Shelter Given Face Lifting

Through contributions of the alumni, and effort on the part of the brothers and pledges, our Shelter has been given a complete face lifting. Repair of stucco, concrete, and woodwork has formed a firm basis for much needed fresh outside paint. Interior redecoration has included the dorms, hall and stairs, dining room and card room. The "new look" should prove to be a real inspiration to all of us here at Lehigh.

As the spring term gets under way, the Lehigh Music Festival goes into production. The organization is headed by Coordinating Director Will Wilbern, with Jim Weber, technical director, Bob Gill, stage manager, Paul Varley, assistant business manager in charge of the budget, and Bob Linck, director of photography. The Music Festival, presented annually and now in its fifth year, has become the largest single extracurricular activity at Lehigh. To mention a few other activity men, we have Harry Stowers and Scotty Malcolm, regulars on varsity basketball; Jim Hobbs, undefeated in freshmen swimming and now number one on the varsity squad; Bill Murray, varsity diver on the mid-Atlantic championship swimming team; and Jim Hancock, the spearhead of Lehigh's football defense. Other bright spots in Delt activities include dramatics, newspaper, interfraternity athletics, and honorary societies. Recently, Alpha Kappa Psi initiated Brothers Pete Sandford, house president; Charlie Wagenseil, vice-president; and Jim Hancock, recording secretary. Chosen for the latest edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities were Will Wilbern and Harry Stowers.

Beta Mu—Tufts

Finish Second in Sing Contest

Rush week netted 23 pledges, who have strengthened the house tremendously.

The annual Beta Mu pledge formal was held on December 7 at the Woodlawn Country Club in Newton, Massachusetts. High light of the evening was the presentation of the beautifully carved paddles to the brothers by their respective pledges. Brother Norris was awarded the Philip B. Maggee Scholarship Award. The week end was completed by a party thrown by the pledges for the brothers.

A few of Boston's underprivileged children were treated to a preholiday Christmas party at the Shelter. Before dinner they were entertained by movies and a splendid magic act conducted by "Swami" D'Arcy. After dinner gifts were distributed in the living room under the Christmas tree.

Our intramural football team finished fourth out of nine, but much more is expected of next year's team with Quarterback Imboden back to lead the club. Prospects for basketball are very good with a veteran club returning to try to improve last year's second-place standing. An intramural volleyball league and a bowling team have been formed with Delt aggregations posting excellent records in both.

Beta Mu's rendition of "Christmas Eve" finished second in the annual Tufts College Christmas Sing. Plans are already being formed for the Spring Sing in order that we may repeat our two vocal victories of last year.

In addition to our Pledge Formal we have held two other notable parties during the last half of the fall term. Our Christmas Party, held just before the holidays, was highlighted by an amusing skit by Brothers Ireland and Berntson. On January 12, a monstrous costume party, The Beaux Arts Ball, was held at the house. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes at the party.

KENNETH RICHARDSON

Beta Nu—M. I. T.

Delts Active in Sports

House spirit in tremendous proportions carried Beta Nu over the rough spots of Tech's fall term with a few scars here and there but no permanent damage. A large chunk of the credit goes to Social Chairman Art Swanson whose social blasts ranked with the best on campus.

High light of the Christmas season was the pledge play, usually a parody on the actives in the chapter, followed by the traditional stag party. The plot of this year's play was centered about the "Deltine Monastery" and portrayed the actives as pious reformers in the questionable social customs of fraternity men. Its moral message was unfortunately lost in the party afterwards.

It is no exaggeration to say that our 17 pledges have been all and even more than we expected them to be. The chapter has pledges holding down starting positions on the freshman crew, hockey, and track teams, not to mention having two men on the freshman council, and while maintaining an exceptionally high scholastic rating, each pledge claims membership in one or more activities.

The active members continue to blaze their way in almost every field. Bob Oliver was among the leading candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship this year and shared laurels with Jim Brownell, who was initiated into Tau Beta Pi. Jack Moulton captured the much-coveted presidency of the Quadrangle Club. Organized by Chairman Tony Turano, Tech's blood drive ended in a record breaking success. In sports, Beta Nu continued to dominate both the crew and lacrosse teams with several first-string men on each.

FREDERICK H. BOWIS

Beta Omicron—Cornell

Chapter Making Effort to Match Last Year's Scholarship Standing

With final exams fast approaching, all Delt eyes are being trained on the books during the month of January in an effort to match last year's fine showing in the scholarship department. A good scholarship record, along with an already successful intramural sports program, and some fine social functions, would mark this past term at Beta Omicron as one to which we could look back upon with pride.

The Eastern Division Conference held at Cornell this fall on December 2 highlighted a busy and prosperous term for Beta Omicron. It was a grand experience to meet the Fraternity officers and many of the brothers from all over the northeast, and it was more than a pleasure to act as host for the Conference. We hope that our guests enjoyed their stay as well as we enjoyed having them. A successful dance climaxed the week end's work and enjoyment.

Just before leaving Cornell for the Christmas holidays, Delts pitched in to provide several needy families in Ithaca with Christmas baskets of food. Last year a party was held at the Shelter for an orphans' home, but it was decided this year that food would be a more worthwhile item.

A huge turnout of faculty members and their wives, including Cornell's new president, Dean W. Malott, enjoyed a faculty reception held in the Shelter early in December. It was our first such function in several years, but went so well as to prompt heart-warming praise from our guests. With such a fine start this reception will undoubtedly become an annual affair.

On the athletic scene Beta Omicron is off to another winning year. The end of the football season found the Delt A. C. champions of their league. Basketball is now underway, and the A. C. looks promising, with wins over two strong opponents.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

Achieve Many Sports Honors

The race for intramural sports honors is in full swing at Northwestern with Beta Pi bidding for top honors. The chapter made a flying start by winning the University championship in wrestling, entering two full teams in the competition. Our matmen compiled 39 points against Chi Psi's second place 34 points and finished with winners in three weight classes. Moe Stevens took the 175-pound class, All Weiss the 135-pound class, and Price Forsythe the 125-pound division. Just to top it off, we had others who were second in their weight classes.

In order to obtain practice under game conditions, we have entered our intramural basketball team in the local city league. This should pay off in a polished squad when the University competition opens this week. In addition, the pledge class has formed its own team and has been challenging other pledge classes. Thus far they are undefeated.

Five men earned varsity letters in football this season. Tom McCormick, junior; Ed Demyan, Don Haffner, and Lloyd Israels, sophomores; and John Demore, freshman, all succeeded in taking letters and will surely be heard from next season.

Beta Pi built a three-car replica of a Deisel Streamliner for use as a homecoming float. The entire train was built to scale as a replica of the train which took the 1948 Rose Bowl westward. Unfortunately it didn't take the trophy which we expected, but the ten-piece band on the train furnished color for the parade and drew many comments.

Beta Rho—Stanford

Ramstead Leads Delt Delegation on Indian Cage Team

With winter quarter comes rushing season, and Beta Rho is busy entertaining freshman prospects with the hope of pledging another fine class. Rushing Chairman Dick Weisman has lined up a program of parties and various activities during the three-week rushing period.

Resident Adviser Jim Ramstead was pleased to announce that we climbed from tenth to approximately third scholastically among the 24 fraternities at Stanford last quarter. This progress has been the result of an increased stress on getting good grades and also because of the addition to the house of several excellent students in the sophomore class.

Delts are well represented on Stanford's strong varsity basketball squad, which has so far won 12 of 15 games. Big Jim Ramstead is playing his third year at first-string center and was elected to lead the team as captain. The "Rammer" was

All-Division last season and stands a good chance of repeating. He was runner-up in scoring in the Big Seven Tournament in Kansas City over Christmas.

Other Deltas on the squad are Bruce Iverson, a veteran who is trying to regain his starting guard position of last year; George Zaninovich, who is seeing a lot of action at forward; Don DeLong, last year's frosh captain and a forward; and Fritz Fenster, a junior guard. One of our first pledges is Ron Tomsic, a freshman of amazing promise, who has won a starting position at forward. Fast and strong at five feet, ten inches, Tomsic may prove to be one of Stanford's all-time best before he finishes his four seasons.

FRITZ FENSTER

Beta Tau—Nebraska

Receive Prize in All-City Decorations

At the close of the first semester, and when we find that the final exams are upon us, the members of Beta Tau Chapter realize what a busy semester they have had here at the Shelter. High lights of the last nine weeks have been the opening of the formal season, which began with the Military and Mortar Board Balls held shortly before the Christmas holidays, initiation of four second-semester Deltas, the construction of our Christmas decorations on our new house and the Christmas party here at the Shelter, and the Alliance meeting.

Our president, Dick Lander, was among those chosen by the University students at the Mortar Board Ball to be one of six Eligible Bachelors for the school year. These men were presented at the intermission of the ball along with six Nebraska Beauty Queens by the master of ceremonies Tex Beneke who played for the evening's entertainment. The week previous, the formal season was opened to the music of Lionel Hampton at the Military Ball.

On Sunday, December 2, four second-semester Deltas were initiated into Beta Tau. Rod Harvey, Wanetta, Nebraska; Douglas Hansen, Omaha, Nebraska; Gene Lightner, Lincoln, Nebraska; and Jerry Yeager, Hastings, Nebraska, all received Delt pins in a very impressive ceremony held at the Shelter on Sunday morning. Following the ceremony the entire chapter attended services at one of the local churches.

Beta Tau Chapter received second prize in an all-city Christmas decoration contest. The entire display was under the direction of Harry Haverly with the able assistance of the pledge class and the pledge trainer, Ray Mladovich. The high light of the display was an 18-foot Christmas tree extending over the top of the house. The entire tree was covered with Christmas lighting. Choir boys were placed on both sides of the tree, and yard lighting illuminated the entire display.

The evening before leaving for the Christmas holidays the entire chapter held its annual Christmas party in the dining room of the Shelter. Presents were exchanged among the brothers, and entertainment was provided by Tom McVay and Ray Mladovich.

The Delt Alliance held its monthly meeting here at the Shelter on December 11. Besides the regular meeting the pledges gave short talks on the various activities on the campus. Music was provided by the Delt pledge combo between the talks. Mrs. J. R. Loudon, president of the Alliance, presided over the meeting which is held on the second Tuesday in every month.

One of our graduate brothers ran the following ad in the Daily Nebraskan: "Congenial graduate student, Bob Ficke, wishes a date with attractive co-ed for Military Ball. Will share expenses. Try-outs held 7-9 p. m. 715 No. 16th St. Call 2-5949 for appointment." The result of this ad was that Bob was swamped by hundreds of telephone calls and his plea was written up in several Nebraska newspapers and sent out over the UP wire. Incidentally, Bob attended the dance with an attractive redhead.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

Brothers in Bowl Game

At this time, while the halls of the Shelter here at Illinois are still ringing with the words "Rose Bowl," we think that one of the chapter's most outstanding achievements was its representation in the Rose Bowl game by three brothers, Fullback Bill Tate, Guard Bob Lenzini, and Linebacker Elie Pupa. Their performances were outstanding in the Bowl as well as throughout the season.

Some of the other brothers that were at the game were John Gothard and John Mongerson. "Bronco" Gothard, who is now in grad school, was last year's senior football manager. "Putty" Mongerson is now the junior manager and will be next year's senior manager. The boys spent most of their time with the team when they weren't getting sun tans. Unfortunately, Halfback Pete Truran was seriously injured at the start of the season. This injury prevented us from having four brothers in the game on New Year's Day.

We consider as another achievement in the field of sports the way that Dave Bergfield, ex-captain of his high school wrestling team, after several years of inactivity, entered IM wrestling and took second place in the 145-pound class against stiff competition.

In the field of social activities, the chapter fared well by the accomplishment of the pledge class in putting on one of the best pledge dances ever to hit Beta Upsilon. The theme of "Harvest Moon" was made impressive by an excellent decorations job. Our traditional winter formal, held shortly after New Year's, was also a terrific success.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

Homecoming Decoration Wins Sizzling First Place

The Deltas took first place in the homecoming decoration competition. The front of the house was turned into a huge barbecue pit with an O.S.U. player turning an Illinois player on a spit. Also, during that week end, the new Student Union was formally dedicated with a large campus dance with Elliot Lawrence's band entertaining both alumni and students.

Dick Collier, our social chairman, has planned many new features in the coming social functions for this quarter. A trip has been planned to visit our brothers at Miami University. Beta Phi is looking forward to this week end so that it can create a closer relationship with Gamma Upsilon Chapter and make this migration day an annual affair.

With the beginning of the new year Don Haupt, our able treasurer, turned over his duties to Jim Hogan. The chapter will miss the services of Don, but is fortunate in having such a fine successor. Jim will have the assistance of Brothers Bill Adams and Tom Franklin.

Beta Phi has accomplished a lot in the past year, but it plans to surpass even that record with the start of the New Year.

Beta Chi—Brown

Iron Man of Gridiron Receives Honorable Mention

The annual Alumni Smoker was held on December 5, and was termed a success by the house president, John Carpenter. Some 20 graduates of Beta Chi returned to the scene of their undergraduate days and were treated to an excellent program arranged by Brad Benson, the chairman of the affair. The evening commenced with a party at the Shelter, after which a dinner was held in the new University refectory. This was followed by a few speeches, movies of a Brown football game, and then a general discussion period.

Pledge Ed Sexton, the iron man of the Brown gridiron squad, was recently elected captain of the 1952 eleven. He played offensive center and defensive linebacker and received honorable mention on this year's Associated Press All-America squad. Brother Don Cottey was named to the defensive safety post on the All-Ivy League team.

Beta Chi is maintaining its record of being extremely active in campus activities. Brother Win Wilbur is the chairman of the junior prom committee, and Brother John Schemick is in charge of the Spring Week End arrangements. These are the two biggest social week ends of the spring semester, so these men have assumed quite a responsibility.

WALT BUSCHMANN

Beta Psi—Wabash

Chapter Adds Another B.M.O.C.

The big news at most of the chapters during the last month was the changing of governing bodies. Here it was no different and our new officers are waiting to be installed. The president-elect is Sophomore Bob "Augie" Augsburg, and the second in command for the second straight term is Junior Mike Gillis. The treasurer's office will be filled by another sophomore, Don Mitchell, and the recording and corresponding secretaries posts are destined for Dave Elvart and Chic Anderson, respectively.

In the Wabash intramural race the Deltis are beginning to pull up out of their earlier slump. After touch football and cross country, the local bunch rated about fourth or fifth. We had a slow start in volleyball, but finished with a bang to garner a tie for third place. We look strong in some of the minor sports and will probably be in a contending position before our last year's softball champs take over. Also, the Deltis placed two men on the all-star touch football team, having Dick Neidow in the backfield and Dom Cefali at end.

We add another B.M.O.C. to our list. Bill Reinke, a senior and a high ranking student, was chosen to edit the Wabash Bachelor for the spring semester. Bill, one of the married boys, is also very active in the speech world, and is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, the national speech fraternity.

The fall semester was very profitable to us in that we pulled down both of the trophies given for decorations by campus organizations. Under the excellent direction of Social Chairman Dave Elvart, the house managed to put together the best float for the Butler football game, and then repeated with the homecoming trophy.

Our only big social function of the first semester, the Christmas dance, was held December 8. This dance had the highest turnout of any we've held in the last two years.

Beta Omega—California

Welcomes Seven New Members

Beta Omega is proud to welcome seven new actives to its house roll. Those who were initiated in November were: Dennis Elder, Joe Gwerder, Fred Moller, Pete Pierson, Bill Prucha, George Schroeder, and Doug Tanner. George Schroeder was awarded the Knudsen Memorial Award for the outstanding pledge.

After Cal's victory over Stanford in the Big Game classic last month, Beta Omega gave a party in Alameda at the Alameda Yacht Club. Dinner and dancing highlighted the evening, and everyone had a grand time.

Three days before Christmas vacation, we had an underprivileged children's party in the afternoon. The children saw movies, played games, saw Santa Claus, and received some nice gifts. The same evening, Beta Omega had its annual holiday party. Deltis, dates, parents, and neighbors had a very nice evening singing songs and exchanging gifts.

Immediately after the Christmas vacation, Beta Omega sponsored its high school night. Under the able direction of rushing chairman, Bill Halford, 13 local high school seniors came up to the house, met the fellows, had dinner, and later went to San Francisco to see Henry Fonda in "Mr. Roberts."

Jerry Brooks, Steve Dimeff, Bill Lacy, and Doug Stowell were awarded J. V. letters in football this semester. Beta Omega was also ably represented in campus athletics this semester by its championship football team led by Coach Russ Doe. At the present time, Beta Omega is also leading the basketball league with four wins and no defeats, and it also has its eyes on the baseball championship for the fourth year.

Parties Highlight Fall Semester

The traditional Delt Christmas party topped the list of successful Delt parties at Gamma Beta in 1951. These parties varied from the Pledge Formal to the less sedate but equally enjoyable Halloween Party.

Staged annually by the current pledge class, the Pledge Formal this year was held at the Shelter under soft blue lights and floral decorations. The dance featured soft music and novel favors engraved with the signatures of the members of the pledge class.

The Halloween Party was a costume affair again this year and Delt originality had a field day. Matt Merfeld was a feature of the party—eight-feet tall and in blackface.

It has become almost traditional that Delt men should guide Illinois Tech's annual Junior Week Open House each spring. For the past three years a succession of Deltis have performed in this ca-capacity and again this year the Deltas are in control. Wayne Hamilton was chosen general chairman of Junior Week Open House while Bob "Ich" Zekes was selected to serve as assistant Junior Week chairman.

The Delt BMOC's were very much in evidence in the Illinois Tech selections for the forthcoming edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Three Deltas were picked for this distinction. Those honored were: Gregg Opelka, chapter president and president of the Interfraternity Council; Gus Wingate, Illinois Tech Student Association president and varsity athlete; and Wayne Hamilton, Junior Week Open House chairman and Gamma Beta's representative in the Interfraternity Council.

Sweeping to an undefeated season, the Delt men took first place in the 1951 intramural football tournament. The season was highlighted by knee deep mud and a 49-0 whitewash of Alpha Epsilon Pi. "Half and Half" Hernes, Bob Zekes, Mac Curless, and Joe Schwebel were the team's "big guns."

The capture of the IM football championship is only a chapter in the Delt athletic success story as they are currently leading all fraternities in the race for the all-activities trophy.

In the field of scholastic achievement, Deltas have scored again. Wayne Hamilton was elected to the engineering honorary, Tau Beta Pi, Glenn Brown pledged Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary, Bob Zekes pledged Phi Eta Sigma, and Mac Curless became a member of the exclusive fire protection engineering honorary, Salamander.

With the election of new officers headed by President Mac Curless, Vice-President Frank Sheehy, and Treasurer "Black Mark Bart" McWhorter, the Deltas are looking forward to another great spring semester.

Twenty-six Deltas Are Initiated

With a successful rush under its belt, Gamma Gamma settled down to its program of pledge training which culminated in the initiation of 26 outstanding Deltas on December 17. In addition to national instruction and scholastic advice, and proceeding on the theory that antagonism breeds spirit and unity, the brothers set out to needle the pledge class into reacting with that enthusiasm that typifies all good Deltas. The reacting spirit and unity exceeded all ambitions, and for several weeks the Shelter walls rocked with the strains of the pledge-brother melee that ensued. When the friendly fracas was finally called off, Delt pledge activities had proved unique on campus, and Gamma Gamma found itself with one of the most spirited delegations in its annals.

Apart from the general uproar of brotherhood, Gamma Gamma managed to make itself heard through other activities. An outstanding enterprise was our annual Christmas party for a nearby underprivileged first-grade class. Amidst Christmas carols, games, and refreshments, Santa Claus Dave Replogle distributed gifts for all.

Athletics at Dartmouth saw several Deltas participating in fall sports. Guard Joe Spagna was kept busy on the gridiron, while Halfback John Rice and Inside Chet Caswell saw plenty of game time for the soccer team. On the lacrosse field Dek Davidson formed the backbone of a strong defense along with Don Bigham and Willie White. George Passano, Tom Wilson, Joe Burbeck, and Dave Fitch spread their canvas and turned in several victories for the sailing team and, along with the Deltas' eleven-man contingent for the crew, are eagerly awaiting the melting of the ice this spring.

Free Styler Chuck Luker registered a win for the swimming team in the only meet so far, and High Jumper Nels Ehinger has been loosening up for winter track. He placed first in last year's Eastern Heptagonals. Reporting the exploits of the above stalwarts, Marty Cunningham has been holding down the spot of sports editor of the Dartmouth.

This year Deltas are again active in student government. Lee Coulter takes top honors as president of the Undergraduate Council and chairman of the Review Committee on Discrimination. Jack Shuman is also a member of the senior executive committee of the UGC and is secretary of the interfraternity council. Bubs Richardson is a member of the UGC, and Hank Offertinger serves as secretary of the sophomore class.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

Spider Voted Most Valuable Player

With the first snowfall, Wesleyan's Deltas plunged into a variety of winter campus activities. With basketball heading the list, it is only fitting that we mention "Scroggs" Nelson, Gamma Zeta's treasurer. Known on the courts as "Spider," the lanky Delt, voted most valuable player in the fraternity league last year as a sophomore, has graduated to the first-string varsity. The other Delt who was elected to the all-star team last year, Bill Roche, following Scrogg's example, is now on the varsity.

Another popular winter activity, squash, finds several Deltas participating. Brothers Bob Wotton and John Williams are on the squad, Delt-managed by Bud Johnson, and Jim Hopkins and Bruce Wittmer starred as Wesleyan downed arch-rival Trinity.

Big news in campus elections—Vice-President Russ Eggers was recently elected president of Wesleyan's junior class. Russ is now running for the presidency of the College-body senate.

Gamma Zeta Deltas, having held the editorial office of the campus daily for some six or seven years, are extending their sway this winter. Don Porter, Delt prexy, made more news recently in his capacity as current editor of the paper, by announcing reorganization plans. Deltas cannot help but point with pride to the fact that this is only the latest of a long line of innovations in the Argus, all made under Delt regimes.

Two Delt sophomores were recently elected to the highly selective TNE, Wesleyan's honorary athletic fraternity. They are Carl Swanson, who received numerals in wrestling and football, and Bob Brown, receiver of numerals in football and track.

The frosh are making news, too. Pledge Bob Pooley recently approached a pool record as he paced the Wes frosh to a victory in swimming. Charles Hume aided in the relays to secure the meet. Both boys are bright prospects. Pledge Prexy Dick Bauman is on the frosh basketball team, and all the frosh have secured places on Wesleyan publications.

The Deltas at Wesleyan recently received a commendation from President Butterfield for their annual faculty buffet supper. This affair was greeted this year by great enthusiasm from the faculty, of whom over 170 members were in attendance. Social Chairman Bill Arndt reports great success of the project due to the brothers' co-operation and Chef John Kelly's excellent food.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

Place Second in I-M Football League

A social program, consisting of the usual assortment of exchanges, teas, and informal parties, was augmented in the past semester by a pre-Christmas "Diaper Dance," at which many toys were collected for a local campaign to make a merrier Christmas for underprivileged children of the Washington area. In this, DTD co-operated jointly with Delta Gamma Sorority of GW, and many other campus organizations participated to boost the "take" to an impressive level, the result of which was to gain local campus recognition as a truly crusading Fraternity.

Sportswise the Deltas again showed their power in GW intramurals. Taking a second place in the I-M football league, the Delt team scored 89 points total as opposed to a mere eight for its opponents, and again two brothers were given berths on the all-U star team. Offense-chosen Dave Harrington, repeating again from '50, found himself occupying first-string center; while also repeating from '50, Brother Sandy Schlemmer, well known on campus also as 1950's outstanding GW I-M athlete, was slotted into the position of first-string back. About him, the GW student newspaper, The Hatchet, wrote: "Schlemmer set something of a record this year by intercepting five passes in one game."

Not satisfied with local victories, however, the Delt team (still smarting somewhat from last year's loss to Delta Sigma Chapter at U. of Maryland of the "Lipscomb Inter-Chapter Football Trophy") invaded College Park, Maryland, and carried away this coveted trophy—leaving our good brothers of Delta Sigma Chapter with a worthy challenge for next year.

At this writing, the chapter's intramural basketball team has already rolled up promise of finishing on top, and has tossed a total of 110 points as against the opponents' total of 14 points.

Personalities of the chapter being of importance locally should include Brothers Joe Goodwin and Frank Antonelli, who were elected to "Gate and Key Society," an honorary recognizing their "outstanding contributions to campus fraternity life." Brother Ed Wilson has been elected president of Delta Phi Epsilon, a professional foreign service fraternity, and among brothers who have been initiated since last report are Brothers Bill Barlow, Pete Hamilton, and Jim Hutchison.

An item of over-all chapter gratitude was most sincerely expressed to four of our Washington-area alumni who presented the chapter at Christmas with a GE 48-cup Coffee Maker, which not only makes our chapter property that much more, but which also will insure our chapter functions and activities of being that much more successful. It was a really thoughtful gift, which Dr. John Swarthout, Mr. Newton Warwick, Mr. Burr Christopher, and Mr. Rhesa Norris presented to us with the wishes for another great Delt year.

Gamma Theta—Baker

Delt President Crowned Homecoming King

After beginning the new school year with 22 products of the rush program, the men of Gamma Theta have moved through the semester, both sponsoring activities and participating in activities of incidence. The chicken has been fried for the 62nd Annual Delt Chicken Fry, the actives cruised "On Moonlight Bay" with the pledge class at their party, and all observed the entrance of the Christmas season with the annual winter formal.

Past President of Gamma Theta and All-Conference Fullback Wesley Hill climaxed his football career by being crowned Homecoming King for the 1951 season. Footballers Bill Eddy, John Lewis, and Norman Oberhelman were joined with Stan Caywood and Larry Mathews on the basketball squad for Baker.

Concentration in the area of chapter singing was climaxed by an evening concert which was sung under the direction of Wendell Hicks. As reward for this and additional work in music, Wendell Hicks has been awarded the directorship of the spring student music production.

Once again a semester is near its close with the men of Gamma Theta concentrating on their last activity—semester final examinations—hoping in this effort to maintain their top spot on the scholarship ladder far above the All Men's Average.

As impressive as these activities have been and as demanding as semester exams are, attention is swinging toward the spring activities of informal parties, intramural activities, Parents' Week End, Baker Day, the Orchid Ball, and stag night.

GEORGE SCHRADER

Gamma Iota—Texas

Wins First Place in Annual Sing

Gamma Iota's 41-man chorus under the sterling leadership of Sam Boswell outsang twelve other fraternity entries to win the first-place trophy in the annual Sing Song for the second straight year.

The close of the winter quarter in intramural sports found Delta Tau Delta among the top organizations on the campus in total points. In touch football, the "A" team reached the finals in the fraternity division, while the "B" team, paced by triple-threat Billy Penn, won the all-University title. Outstanding players receiving all-intramural recognition were: Jim Gerhardt, "A" team end, Travis Eckert, "A" team passer, and Billy Penn. Our volleyball team, led by Captain Bob Jackson, came within one point of becoming intramural champions when losing to the champion team. Two more trophies were added to our collection when Dickie Williamson and Travis Eckert won the intramural title in class "B" handball doubles, and the Delt bowling team won the all-University bowling tournament.

Delta Tau Delta, upholding its reputation for developing the best and the most campus leaders, has several newly elected officers in University sponsored organizations. Rush Moody, former student assemblyman, was elected by the student body to a seat as associate justice on the student court. Doug Nelson was elected president of the Texas University Intercollegiate Sports Association, while Don Eastland was chosen cochairman of the Campus Chest, which raised $7,000 for various worth-while charitable organizations. Pledge Melvin Ledbetter was elected president of the "Y" Freshman Fellowship, and Wayne Ogden was elected vice-president of the University Rodeo Association.

Receiving recognition for outstanding achievement in various scholastic fields, the following Delts were elected to Greek-letter honor societies: Sam Boswell and Sam Croom to Beta Alpha Psi, honorary professional accounting fraternity; Rush Moody, Don Eastland, and Tony McGee to Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity; Harry and Gardner Thomas to Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary premed fraternity; and Dave Williams, to Phi Eta Sigma. For outstanding campus leadership and service Paul Mohr was elected to The Silver Spurs, and Don Eastland was elected to the Texas Cowboys, the two honorary service organizations on the campus.

The chapter is looking forward with confidence toward a most successful year under the guidance of the newly elected officers: Dickie Williamson, president; Don Eastland, vice-president; Henry Moore, recording secretary; and Ken Eastridge, corresponding secretary.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Chapter Well Represented in Varsity and I-M Athletics

The social high lights of the fall semester were the Delt Pig Roast and the Orchid Ball. At the Pig Roast, pledge skits were performed near a towering 20-foot bonfire that shed ample light and heat for the chill October evening. Appetites were primed by an energetic afternoon of touch football with considerable help from the tantalizing aroma of roasting pig. Deltas and their dates needed no second call when the dinner bell was sounded.

The Orchid Ball resembled an MGM spectacle. A lavish production was made even more so by the crowning of an Orchid Queen. This is the first time in Orchid Ball history that a queen has been chosen.

Gamma Kappa was well represented in varsity football this fall by Tackle Walker Hutchison. "Hutch," one of the Missouri Tiger's key men on defense, was injured in the first game and was forced to remain on the sidelines for most of the season; however, when big "Hutch" resumed his duties, he resumed them with a vengeance.

In intramural competition, the Deltas are proving, as usual, that they have championship material. The Delt football squad lost the division finals by the slim score of 7-0 in a hard fought contest resulting in bruises and stiff muscles for both teams.

A welcome addition to other posts of honor already held by Deltas on the University campus was Brother Maurice Lytle's election as president of Delta Sigma, business school honorary.

Brother Ralph Johnson was the Interfraternity Conference representative at the convention held this fall in Virginia. This is a well-deserved honor in the light of Ralph's constant leadership in campus activities.

After falling from fifth place in scholarship among the 29 fraternities, Gamma Kappa is out to regain and surpass its previous position by means of a more rigid scholarship program. Improved study hall regulations and a more workable advisory system are resulting in higher grades for the entire chapter.

CHARLES COLE

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Actives Reign in Football Competition With Pledges

The annual pledge-active football game took place last month. It was a cold, icy day, but the spirits were kept warm by the enthusiasm of the opposing players. The pledges, as usual, wound up on the short end of the score, but never lost faith.

The Deltas have been improving in athletics this year at Purdue. With such staunch athletes as Bob Ragains, Wilbur Wright, and Don Eussey we have been in the finals in American ball and "A" basketball. The basketball season is still running, and we hope to cop the cup this season.

Our Winter Formal was a tremendous success this year with Wendie Swartz and his orchestra supplying the music. The main floor was decorated with pictures of snow and fireplaces to give the Shelter an appearance of a winter wonderland.

A week before Christmas vacation we had our annual Children's Christmas Party. Many local coeds and pin women helped give the Shelter a homelike atmosphere, and the ten little tots were made happy by a grand dinner, our merriment, and Santa, whose suit and boots were capably and fully filled by "Little" Melilo Kesseley.

JOHN TYLER

Gamma Mu—Washington

One Hundred Serenade Greek Row

Once again Gamma Mu experienced a highly successful fall quarter's rushing, bringing the number of pledges to 27, of which Bill Staples, Wilson Arnold, Harold Henkel, and Dick Green are good possibilities for the incomparable Washington freshman crew, while others will enter baseball, track, and tennis as the year progresses.

Deltas at Washington again produced a powerful intramural football team, which won its division championship, but was knocked out of the intramural race by a close score in the semifinals. In basketball, the chapter has entered two ten-man teams, each of which should be outstanding in its division.

As in previous seasons, Gamma Mu combined talent with beauty as it serenaded Greek Row with a popular campus sorority. A group of nearly 100 Deltas and Chi Omega's participated in the serenade, after which a huge party with a combo and refreshments was held at the Shelter.

PHIL BURSETT

Gamma Nu—Maine

Defensive Ace Contributes to Pale Blue Undeclared Season

This year on Maine's gridiron, the Deltas of Gamma Nu were well proud of the job Pledge Bill Grove, '54, did while playing varsity defensive halfback for the Pale Blue. His stinging blows to the opposition contributed a great deal in putting Maine in the undefeated class this year and making the team Yankee Conference and State of Maine champions.

With the white sheet of snow blanketing the countryside, the Deltas are once again in the process of taking the cobwebs from their skis and giving them a new coat of gleaming base wax. Although we boast only one man on the ski team, Brother Ralph Baxter, there are many in the Shelter who brave the slopes. Already there are plans for some trips into the mountains where the boards can really be put to use.

Along with the annual Christmas party for underprivileged children this year, the Deltas also heard and answered another call for some seasonal cheering to which they could contribute a little. On one of the local radio stations came the appeal for donations for gifts to children who had written in and could only hope and pray for a bright, shiny, new toy for Christmas.

Brothers and pledges enjoyed all of the many colorful Christmas cards sent by the alumni and friends.

Fall Houseparty as usual was enjoyed by all. The decorations were of the Walt Disney fantasy theme. Hats off to Bob Hill, Vaughn Lacombe, and Bob Smith for a terrific job on the murals.

We were sorry to hear of the death of our former housemother, Mrs. Margaret Cowan. Many Deltas, friends, and faculty members attended the funeral.

NORM STE MARIE

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

Dragon Wins Trophy

The Cincinnati Deltas began the year by adding another trophy to their collection. A great deal of hard work from both the active and pledge chapters resulted in a winning float on homecoming day when the University entertained the team from Texas-Western. The prize winner was a very large green dragon, snorting smoke and snapping his jaws while carrying the slogan, "Texas Western'll Be 'Dragon' Behind."

Brothers Jack Tracy, Nick Shundich, and Bill MacDonald have starred in their last games for U.C.'s varsity football team. Jack was awarded the trophy for being the most efficient defensive lineman. This is the second consecutive year in which he has received the high honor. Brother MacDonald was initiated into Sigma Sigma, the local activities honorary of which Jack Tracy is president. On the scholastic scene, Brother Dick Wolfe was initiated into Tau Beta Pi in the fall pledge class.

Both our intramural football and volleyball teams lost close games in the semifinals of the all-University play-offs. We hope to go to the top in basketball and our hopes are high since we lost only one man from last year's championship team.

On December 7 we had our annual fall pledge formal at the Terrace Park Country Club. It was agreed by all that this was one of our best social functions of past years. Entertainment was in the form of a skit presented by the pledges.

Many fine improvements have been noticed around the Shelter due to our very active Mothers' Club and the house corporation. New lamps, study tables, chairs, and a redecorated bumming room are among the additions.

The chapter was very happy to welcome Brother Jim Micheau back from his duty with the Navy in California.

RICHARD WOLFE

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

Gridiron Delt Named "Athlete of the Week"

Gamma Pi is in the middle of a busy and successful year. Bill Byrus, defensive tackle on the varsity football team, had a fine season. Winning his second letter, Bill finished his fall gridiron work by being named "Athlete of the Week" for his outstanding play in the game against Oklahoma. We are expecting even greater things from Bill next year.

Another representative in varsity athletics this year is Sophomore Ron Larson. Ron has won a berth on the wrestling team in the 155-pound division.

The Deltas at Iowa State have been active in intramural sports. Having already won the Class B volleyball championship, we are out after more first places.

The Gamma Pi Deltas joined with the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority to give a Christmas party for 17 underprivileged children of Ames. Santa Claus made his appearance, gifts were distributed, and carols sung. The kids had a wonderful time, and so did we.

The Orchid Formal, our annual winter formal, has been scheduled for February 9. This is always one of the leading social events of the year. Each girl is presented with an orchid from a large "orchid tree" which is incorporated in the decorations. Bob Mahnke is in charge this year.

The chapter has entered a one-act skit in the all-campus Varieties competition. The skit, a musical production with a Russian background, has won the first round of competition. Jack Coulson and Dean Karns are in charge of the production.

BOYD GURNEY

Gamma Rho—Oregon

Chapter Scores in Deferred Rush

The University of Oregon's deferred rush week has come and gone—and Gamma Rho Chapter rushed and pledged with a spirit which netted her the choice pledge class of the year. A total of 118 freshmen pledged, and Gamma Rho scooped off the cream in the form of 11 "top" boys. Statisticswise, it figured that there were about 5.8 men for each of the 21 fraternities at Oregon. In other words, Gamma Rho came out with twice its share of men.

Rush week ended Friday, January 12. A caravan composed of all the actives and their cars met the pledge class at the Student Union Saturday noon and then traveled through the campus to the Shelter. We were met at the Shelter by the Delta Zeta and Delta Delta Delta Sororities, who joined us in welcoming the pledges. The new men and their dates were then feted to a party Saturday night and the festivities were concluded with a pledge dinner Sunday afternoon. All in all, it was the most successful rush week Gamma Rho has experienced in several seasons.

Darrell Hawes, coach and star of the Gamma Rho "hoopmen," really has a team of which he can be proud. The boys are currently undefeated, and the last three games are typical of the style the men have been showing off. The last three scores look like this: Gamma Rho 38, Sigma Chi 18; Gamma Rho 32, SAE 24; Gamma Rho 42, Sigma Phi Epsilon 22.

Socially, Gamma Rho has never been more successful. The Formal House dance is scheduled February 2. Gamma Rho's annual winter term dance is traditionally held in honor of the pledge class, which now numbers 23. The Shelter is to be decorated in the mode of the West's most popular night spots. The theme is "On the Town."

DON MILLER

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

Chapter Selects Queen

Once again the men of Gamma Sigma combed the lists of beautiful Pitt women and selected the loveliest coed to be their queen. Joann Louttit, a curvacious blonde Chi Omega, will reign throughout 1952 and will also represent Delta Tau Delta in the race for Inter-Fraternity Queen.

The name of the Gamma Sigma queen was announced at the annual winter dinner-formal on December 12. The formal was one of the finest that the chapter has seen. Bill LeRoy's band was greatly responsible for such an enjoyable evening for both active and alumni Deltas.

Brother N. R. H. Moor, Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh, held another of his annual Delt church services for Deltas of the area and their friends. Immediately following the service in the Cathedral, Deltas from Pitt, Tech, University of West Virginia, and W. & J. participated in another annual affair, the Delt Sing Contest. The Pitt team brought home the first prize, a lovely mantle clock, to the Gamma Sigma Shelter. Brother Branch Rickey, vice-president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, gave a short address before the contest began.

Gamma Sigma members received praise from the office of the Dean of Men at Pitt for their noble action of aiding Frics Ginters, a Latvian displaced person, in his desire to come to America. The chapter arranged for Mr. Ginters' trip from Germany to Pittsburgh, and gave him room and board until it could secure a job for him as a draftsman with the American Bridge Company. The chapter also received a pat on the back for having more than half of the chapter turn out for Chapel.

Keeping with the spirit of helpfulness, the chapter entertained a Shelter full of orphans at its annual Christmas party in December.

Oregon's new crop of pledges face camera.

GEORGE and BOB SHAFER, twins at Pittsburgh.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority came over to the Shelter to aid the chapter in the yearly Kappa-Delt reception for faculty members. It was well attended by both faculty and students.

Around campus, Jim Furbie has aroused much controversy with his campaign for a second school newspaper to compete with the seemingly antifraternity Pitt News. Dan Purdy has been tapped to Druids, honorary sophomore men's activities fraternity. Don Bravin has been selected as editor of the I. F. newspaper, as well as coeditor of the I. F. handbook. Seven more brothers tied the proverbial noose a bit tighter over the Christmas vacation. "The pins look better on the girls anyway."

GEORGE PHILLIPS

Gamma Tau—Kansas

Kansas Deltas entertained with three formals during the month of December, as we gained an early start on the party season. The first was a combined affair with the alumni and was held in the Town House Hotel, Kansas City. After three hours of dancing, a buffet style dinner was served. On the seventh, Gamma Tau had its annual winter formal in the ballroom of the Student Union Building. The Deltas and their dates ate and then danced to the mellow music of Matt Benton.

The Christmas stag on the twentieth capped the December formals. The entertainment for this party was provided by an unusual dancer from France.

On the sports scene the Kansas Taus have been very active during the first semester, and our efforts have paid off in success. Sophomores Joe Fink and Cal Bender, as well as Freshmen Dean Ragon, Charlie Lane, Dick McDonald, and John Johnston, all gained recognition on the Kansas football team. Fink spearheaded the varsity line as K.U. won eight of ten games.

The intramural teams once again sport winning records. The touch football team won its division and gained the semi-finals in a field of 24 before bowing to eventual "Hill" champions. All three of the basketball teams are off to winning starts and eyeing more laurels for Delta Tau Delta.

We have welcomed a new addition to the Shelter, as Demetrius Moutsanides, an exchange student from Greece, has moved into the Delt house for the duration of his stay at Kansas. Demetrius, who speaks surprisingly good English, has caught on to the American way quickly and is gaining much respect and friendship among the brothers.

DONALD GOULD

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

Delts Shine in Football

With the close of the football season now official, Gamma Upsilon can take pride in the achievements it has made in that particular sport. Representing the chapter on the mid-American conference runner-up eleven were such stalwarts as Backs Jim Root, Carmen Cozza, and Pledge Doug Thompson. Plugging the forward wall on defense and offense was the task of Seniors Milt Niergarth and Chuck Harrison. And of course one of the perennial standouts on the grid squad was the educated toe of Paul Sautter, ranked among the first ten placement kickers in the nation. By far one of the most thrilling games during the season was the test with Dayton University, our back-yard rival. In this contest, which Miami was supposed to lose, Quarterback Root was calling the plays setting up the touchdowns, and Paul Sautter made three all-important points after the touchdown that eventually clinched the game for the Redskins, 21-20.

For the first time in Miami's history, the University is sporting a wrestling squad for intercollegiate competition. Not to be undaunted by this innovation, Brother Jack Lawrence proceeded to gain a position on the select squad, vying in the 137-pound class competition.

Although this is a slack season for any major sports in the line of intramurals, the chapter has already made its bid for leadership in this field. The combination that Gamma Upsilon fielded for football ended the season in third place in the interfraternity league by virtue of the championship play-offs. In the bowling league the chapter's representatives are in second place. Basketball and other sports are just beginning to take shape.

Socially speaking, the chapter takes a back seat to no one. Two of the more prominent high lights on the social calendar this year have been the "Hotel Party" and the Christmas formal. The "Hotel Party" featured such novelties as the opening of the entire house, cigarette girls, bell boys, and the other paraphernalia of commercial hotels. Preceding the Christmas formal was a dinner and tree-trimming party for the brothers and their dates. Under the capable direction of Ken Alm, social chairman who brought June Christy and Pee Wee Hunt to the Shelter for last year's spring formal, both affairs were successful and attracted students from all over campus.

The Shelter is now sporting a redecoration of the recreation room as a result of the pledge class project. Through the efforts of the pledge class as Ted Traeger assumed charge of the project, the neophytes made the mentioned habitat a more comfortable spot for social affairs and general lounging. Pledge Stan Crane did a remarkable job in creating and painting themes for the murals that now decorate the walls of the room. Along with the art work, the floor was tiled, comfortable benches were added, and a complete paint job was accomplished.

In the not too distant future the chapter is planning to purchase new furnishings for the living room. Already plans are underway to renovate the kitchen. All in all, the Shelter is looking the best it has in a number of years.

With the coming of the new calendar year comes the change in administration.

Over the past year the chapter's president, Dick Wallin, has done a very efficient job in maintaining the chapter's prominent position on campus. Although Dick will leave office soon, he and the rest of the chapter are earnestly striving to keep this position.

CLYDE FAY

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

Win Football Championship

As the fall semester draws to a close, the Gamma Chis can look back on a very successful fall semester. We started off the semester by winning the intramural football championship, winning all of our games by a large margin. Several Deltas were elected to various honorary organizations throughout the semester and we climaxed the semester by winning third in the basketball play-offs.

We have again started working for the Interfraternity Sing which will be held soon. Copping second place the past two years, we hope to break the jinx this year.

The Deltas are well represented on the K-State track team. Thane Baker, defending Big Seven 100-yard and 220-yard dash champion, is looking great again this year. Others on the team are: Don Gadberrry and Bob Taber, both milers, and Don Thurlow, top man on the two-mile team.

Our main objective for the remainder of the year will be to complete plans for the building of our new Shelter. We are hoping to be able to make final plans for it this spring.

DONALD SCHAPER

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

"Hell Week" Out, "Help Week" In

One of the traditions of Gamma Psi has undergone a drastic change. The week preceding initiation, formerly "Hell Week," has been changed to a "Help Week." Instead of a week of torment for the pledges, a week of wearing outlandish costumes, carrying rotten eggs and Hadacol bottles, it will be a week of hard and useful work.

At the suggestion of Pledge Trainer Lane Phillips, with the wholehearted approval of the chapter, and under the direction of Brother Russ Leverette, the pledge class will attempt the repair and renovation of Battle Hill, an Atlanta old-persons' home. Battle Hill, a worthy but often neglected institution, came to our attention through our former chapter adviser, Clint Huguley. Working in conjunction with its management, our committee has inspected the "Home" and set up a definite work schedule.

Armed with lawn mowers, rakes, brushes, paint, and plenty of soap and water, about ten pledges will journey to Battle Hill each afternoon of the week. On Saturday the entire chapter, both actives and pledges, will join in a big "work session" in order to finish the project in grand style.

The chapter is very enthused over the project and has high hopes that it will help to give fraternities a better name, weld the spirit of the chapter by providing a common work project for all, and most of all render much needed help and assistance to a very worth-while institution.

In the best traditions of Christmas, our Christmas Party this year served a double purpose. While providing fun for the chapter it also served as a means of assisting a needy family and providing a Christmas they would not otherwise have had.

With the help of our Parents' Club, a family of six children was selected and invited to our party. At the appropriate time, Santa appeared with gifts for all. With the gifts from Santa and other help by the Parents' Club, we hope that another family had a very Merry Christmas.

WILLIAM RAINES

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

Intramural Football Champion

Delta Alpha is busy this fall adding more trophies to her bronze and silver laden shelves and mantel. By defeating the Sigma Chis in the intramural touch football play-off this season, the Deltas were awarded a handsome trophy, another symbol of teamwork and enthusiasm. Now our basketball team is storming the same way. So far it has won the first three of its games. This start should help to add another trophy to Delt shelves this year.

This spring there will be impressive ground improvement around the O.U. Delt house. The University has allotted Delta Alpha three lots adjoining the present Shelter grounds. Landscaping plans include space for tennis, badminton, croquet, and volleyball, as well as areas for lawn parties which will be helpful for entertainment of dates and rushees.

Our chapter is proud of its new president, Paul Mindeman. Paul is a freshman lawyer who has earned campus-wide respect and admiration for his willingness to accept jobs and see that they are well done. Paul has been corresponding secretary, assistant treasurer, and treasurer of the chapter. His gifts for entertaining and organizing will be of great benefit to the house. In support of Paul, Dale Hinsin was elected vice-president; Don Anderson, treasurer; Weymar Osborne, assistant treasurer; Harry Pruett, recording secretary; Hubert Carson, corresponding secretary; Fred Leonard, IFC representative; Carl Hare, guide; and John Cole, sergeant at arms.

Pat Williams, Paul Mindeman, and Don Anderson helped organize and are charter members of the Oklahoma University Arnold Air Society.

Delt Jim Miller, past president of Phi Eta Sigma and holder of many campus honorary positions, was chosen outstanding senior of 1951 by the University.

CURTIS MARSHALL

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

Delts Are in Honoraries

January, 1952, marks the close of another successful semester for Delta Beta. In sports the Deltas came through again as we trounced Sigma Nu for the intramural football championship. At present we stand second in volleyball play-offs, and are readying our basketball team. If skill and spirit count, we will have the trophies on our already crowded mantel by this spring. During the fall social season, the Deltas were prominent as usual. The highly successful winter prom climaxed the season. Christmas had something extra for Tech Deltas. We took second place in the Dean Moor sing, a competitive affair with other nearby Delt chapters, and also held the annual Delta-Kappa Alpha Theta Orphans' Party. Brother Tom Birch was a very impressive Santa Claus, and the party was as always a grand experience.

Brother Robert Byrne was chosen as one of three juniors for membership to Tau Beta Pi, and Brother George Billy was initiated into Scabbard and Blade, the R.O.T.C. honorary, to continue the long list of outstanding Deltas on Tech's campus.

Carnegie's drama department is considered by many authorities to be foremost in the country. Its last production, Venus and Adonis, was practically a Delt affair with Brother Howard Miller in the leading role, and Brothers Derrick Van Schoonhoven, Dave Lose, and Stan Watt as designers of the sets and lighting. In the forthcoming production of Hamlet, Brothers John Ragin and Howard Miller have the leading roles.

We are looking forward to rushing this spring semester when we will again use the program which was so successful last fall. It combines efficiency with the all-important "I feel at home" atmosphere, and we fully expect to gather a pledge class as fine as the last one.

JOHN HORST

Chapter Honors Duo-Piano Team

Arthur Whittemore, '34, and Jack Lowe, nationally famous duo-piano team, were honored by Delta Gamma at the Shelter, November 19. Faculty members and representatives from the other houses on campus were present at the reception. Another special guest was Whittemore's mother, Mrs. A. H. Whittemore, of Vermillion. Bucky Whittemore is in familiar surroundings as he attended both Vermillion High School and South Dakota University, being a member of Delta Gamma of Delta Tau Delta. Whittemore and Lowe were here to present a concert and to spend Thanksgiving Day with Whittemore's mother.

Delta Gamma received the Phi Eta Sigma plaque for having the pledge class with the highest scholastic standing in 1950-51. Scholarship Chairman Roger Cheatham was presented the plaque at a University convocation by Brother Charles Jones, president of Phi Eta Sigma. This traveling plaque is awarded annually, and it is retired at the end of a nine-year period by the fraternity winning it the most times.

Mrs. Clifford Watkin, Delta Gamma's wonderful new housemother, was honored as our Delta Queen at the annual fall formal. Mrs. Watkin was presented a bouquet of red roses by chapter President Mike Hooker, and then she and Mike danced to the music of "My Delta Queen" as played by the orchestra and sung by the chapter members. The theme of the formal was "Club Tomahawk."

This year's annual stag Christmas party, the night before Christmas vacation started, was featured by a 15-minute skit presented by the 1951 pledge class. The pledges called their entertaining presentation "A Day in the Shelter," and portrayed such scenes as getting out of bed in the morning, table manners and discussions, after-dinner bull sessions, and others.

Delta Delta—Tennessee

Social Season in Full Swing

Delta Delta had its annual Christmas party December 2. Each year we have a party for a group of underprivileged children from a nearby school. This year the party was a big success.

About 15 of the Tennessee Deltas went down to New Orleans for the Sugar Bowl. Even though our team lost, we had a fine time. The Beta Xi Chapter at Tulane showed us a very good time. The New Year's Eve party was great.

Delta Delta's big party this year will be a dinner-dance sometime this spring. The affair will probably be held at the house, with the music being furnished by a small combo.

We elected a new treasurer and assistant treasurer the first of the year. Brother Hugh Gregory was elected treasurer with Brother Bob Rose getting in as assistant.

The Mother's Club is planning a bingo party for February. The party is for our benefit, with the proceeds going for some new carpets.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

Achieves Highest Military Rank And Phi Beta Kappa Membership

We of Delta Epsilon are sorry we did not submit the name of Emory Clark, regular halfback on the University of Kentucky Cotton Bowl champs, for the all-Delt football team. Emory made two touchdowns in the Cotton Bowl and has been a leader on the Wildcat team for the past three seasons.

Brother Al Weiman was head student manager of the team. Both Al and Emory were honored at the recent Football Victory Banquet.

Brother Jack Ballentine was just selected as cadet colonel of the Air R.O.T.C. This is the highest military rank obtainable for a student at U.K. Brother Louis Catlett was tapped for Eta Kappa Nu, President Carl Turner for Beta Sigma Pi, and Brother Ballentine for Phi Beta Kappa.

The Christmas season was a busy one socially for Delta Epsilon. Not only did we have a caroling party and a Christmas party for underprivileged children before we left, but also when we returned from the holidays, the pledges gave the actives a French party and we held a fine dance with another fraternity here on the campus.

The annual Barber Shop Quartet Contest held on the campus was won, for the second year in a row, by Delta Tau Delta. Brothers Creedle, Grote, Kalos, and Woodward knocked the crowd dead with their version of the "Rigoletto Quartet."

Delta Zeta—Florida

Around the Shelter

The Delta Shelter and grounds received several improvements this year. The house and grounds committee worked with members and pledges in extending the back terrace a considerable distance. In addition to this the barbecue pit is almost completed. These two improvements will add greatly to the appearance of the back yard.

Also of special significance for Delta Zeta will be the burning of the mortgage at the annual Founders Day banquet in March. Delta Zeta is very proud of this accomplishment and is looking forward to the day when the proposed wing is added to the house.

Brother Fred Bartleson is to be commended for the fine work he has done in getting out a newsletter to Delta Zeta alumni throughout the state.

Brother Bill Fleming, chapter president, and Brother Paul Horton, editor of the school paper, have recently been initiated into Florida Blue Key, in recognition of their outstanding leadership and service to the University.

Scholarship achievements for the entire chapter last semester show a definite improvement. We advanced five places on the fraternity scholarship ladder and were well above the All Men's Average.

In the way of intramurals, Delta Zeta, although not having shown evidences of being a powerhouse, potentially has the makings of a well-rounded athletic team, picking up considerable points in horse-shoes, football, track, and bowling. At the present time we stand fourth out of 24 fraternities on campus.

Delta Zeta is represented on Florida's unbeaten basketball team by Brother Johnnie Tringas of Pensacola. Although only 5' 7", he has seen considerable service as a reserve guard and currently ranks seventh in team scoring.

Socially, Delta Zeta is enjoying a very successful year. At Fall Frolics, one of the major functions of the year, Deltas danced to the music of Freddy Martin and his Orchestra. On Saturday a picnic at Austin Carey Forest highlighted a very successful week end.

Brother Milton Franke is to be commended for his fine work as social chairman in helping to make our social activities a success through the year.

Win League Football Championship

The 'Bama Deltas came into their own in fraternity football this year with the boys from Tenth Avenue winning their league championship. After playing two play-off games to be league champions, however, the Deltas were "plum wore out" and failed to win the final play-offs losing to the Dekes 6-0. This was the best year for the 'Bama Deltas since prewar years, and even greater things should come from the chapter house next season. Our final season rating was fourth in 26 teams.

The annual chapter Christmas party for underprivileged children in the Tuscaloosa area came off with a bang again this year with Brother George Briggs, Birmingham, serving as "Mr. Claus."

Members and their dates parted with the youngsters, who were from six to nine years in age. Each of the 20 kiddies was presented with a clothing outfit along with the regular Christmas goodies.

It was "get out the torn tux" and "return to February 4, 1892," for the Deltas in January with the return of the annual Bowery Ball. The old Bowery really lives again for four short hours while a swing band makes music for members and dates. Of course the sacred portrait done in oils is hung over the mantel piece. "Ramona," as she is lovingly called by 'Bama Deltas, can be found guarding the "free" lunch. This annual party is also used as a vehicle by the rushing committee and usually produces some good future Deltas.

Speaking of Christmas fun, Deltas and their dates exchanged "fifty-cent gifts" at the Christmas dance.

The small gifts gave the whole crowd two hours of laughter with many "appropriate" messages being attached to match the person receiving the gift.

OLIVER HEAD

Delta Iota—U.C.L.A.

Prominent in Athletic Scene

The Delta Iota Chapter at U.C.L.A. distinguished itself in many ways during the fall semester. On the athletic scene Deltas were very prominent in the news. Gayle Pace, center on the football team which finished second to Stanford, received honorable mention on the Coast League all-star team. John Chandler, captain of the water polo team, was awarded the Bob Starr Memorial trophy on the basis of leadership, sportsmanship, and scholarship. This is the same award that was given to Monte Nitzkowski, a graduate Delt, last year. John also was placed on the first-string all-coast water polo team. Bill Zerkie and Jerry Ladhoff bid strongly for the team, too.

High points of the social calendar, which was one of the fullest in years, were the parents' banquet and Delt-Dee Gee formal dance. The parents' banquet began with a dinner at the chapter house and was climaxed with the fathers and sons going to the opening basketball game of the season. Between halves the Deltas received last year's intramural athletic trophy.

The Delt-Dee Gee formal was but one of a number of successful dances held during the semester. Don Black, who has been reappointed social chairman, already has several events planned for the coming year.

Over Christmas most of the men in the chapter spent the holidays at home or working. Several, however, made a bus trip to the east, following the basketball team which was touring. Several also made skiing trips to various resorts in and out of the state.

As the semester drew to a close the chapter was looking back on a good year and looking ahead to an even better one.

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

Civic Project Will Be Undertaken

As the new year looms up on the Delta Lambda social, scholastic, intramural, and campus calendar, all members are confronted with a full year of activity and achievement.

The Shelter has a masquerade dance, two exchange dinners, and an informal fireside scheduled for the winter term.

Ten pledges made their grades and will be initiated during the latter part of January. One day of the initiation will be constructively used for a civic project in or around the campus area. One of our fireball Rooks, Dick Coyner, is currently taking a lead part in College dramatics, writing a column for the College paper, and working on the College annual.

Plans are already being made for the Western Division Conference that will be held a year from now at the local chapter house.

Thirty members and pledges turned out for intramural basketball this year. The top candidates who will be playing on the A squad average 6' 3½" in height.

Donald Guinn, a sophomore in engineering, obtained a coveted 4.00 with straight A's fall term. Bob Christy and Bob Minor also did well scholastically by making the school honor roll with a 3.50 average or above.

DAVID MAAS

Delta Mu—Idaho

Delts Win Scholarship Cup

Despite war scare and study slumps, Delta Mu topped Idaho men's living groups to win the Alumni Scholarship Cup, and the 1950-51 pledges copped the Greek trophy given for the highest pledge class grade point.

House Prexy Dick Moore was recently elected president of the Interfraternity Council and Pat Duffy accepted presidency of the Greek Caucus. Pat was also tapped for Blue Key, national honor fraternity.

Although this year's homecoming float did not rate last year's first place, Delta Mu captured second.

Plans and beards for the annual Russian Ball have been started. This costume dance is one of the biggest of the year.

Another dance has been added to the social agenda for 1952. Club Rendezvous, the dance theme, has been scheduled for January 18.

In a recent house election, Dick Prater was elected corresponding secretary.

With the idea in mind that nothing could be worse than a cold shower, a new oil stove was purchased for the Shelter.

Socially minded, the pledges have been entertaining various sorority pledges with Sunday morning breakfasts. They recently staged a fireside forbidding members to attend. The members quickly rallied, however, with a toboggan ride and chili feed.

BERNARD YORK

Delta Nu—Lawrence

Zimmerman Wins Midwest Cross-Country Title

After 18 weeks of social inertia, the Delts at Lawrence are again engaged more actively in school activities. Given one afternoon's time, by petition to the school administration, the Delts threw the most successful of their annual children's parties for the underprivileged of Appleton. With the motherly assistance of the dates, the brothers entertained 16 youngsters with gifts, games, ice cream, and cookies.

As a symbol of the sensational scholastic renaissance achieved by the chapter last year, Henri LaBrec, premed student, was elected into Phi Beta Kappa, to give the chapter two members in as many years.

Bob Zimmerman, transfer from Gamma Omicron Chapter, walked off with the midwest conference cross-country title in its annual meet in Chicago. Undeclared in his four conference starts, Bob's time was a leisurely 15:59. Bob is a junior and will run the mile for the track squad this spring.

As newly elected treasurer of the Lawrence United Charities Drive, Art Boehme accepted a check for $50 which the fraternity contributed from its untouched social committee fund. This sum was the highest bid for an extra late hour permission offered at a fund raising auction conducted by the charity group. Art, a French major, is also president of the French club, one of the many groups which he has entertained with his excellent movies taken during a recent trip to Europe.

Dave Pierce, jazz cornetist, is captivating throngs of students and townspeople at the palatial Holiday Inn. Heading a five-piece group, Dave appears on week ends at one of the more popular of Appleton's dance spots.

Another musician, Chapter President Charles Franklin Crowder, is preparing for his senior piano recital in April. He will play among other compositions, Bach-Liszt's "Fantasy and Fugue in G Minor," Chopin's "B Minor Sonata," and the "Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 6" by Liszt.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

Korean Veteran Returns

The coming of the New Year at Delta Xi found us with many memories of the first semester and the prospect of many for the second. New faces were found at the dining room table and occasionally some of the old familiar faces appeared too.

Fellows getting acquainted with the Delta Xi house this year were Arlo and Eldon Levi, Dick McConnell, Tom McCoy, and Norman Skalicky. We also welcomed Active Rod McGovern back from the Korean front and bestowed on him the honor of being housemanager. We'll be sorry, however, to see George Galbrecht go into the cold, cruel world at the end of the semester to work for a living in accounting, his chosen profession.

The last final fling of the year was our annual Kris Kringle Formal, held this year in the University's new Student Union ballroom. An evening complete with favors, beautiful women and music, and a wonderful setting sent everyone, representing almost a complete turnout, home in a happy mood.

The bowling leagues find the Delt team a little off the pace at the halfway mark, but always threatening to get into the play-off bracket. Hampered by loss of two men and the handicap we have to give away, the team and Captain Ray Larson still look for the Delts to bring home the trophy in March. High score for the league has come home to roost at least half the time; so the chances are good.

GENE SCHACHT

Delta Omicron—Westminster

Washington Semester Candidate

Lee Denner, chapter president, has been chosen for the forthcoming Washington semester. To be eligible for this honor one must be a junior and have an 88 average. Lee will become an undergraduate student at American University, Washington, D. C., for one semester, concentrating on government and economics. Our last representative to Washington was Robert Lowary, '50. Bill McCue has recently been elected to ODK, and Stan Brenner and Jerry Sandin have entered the ranks of Phi Rho Epsilon.

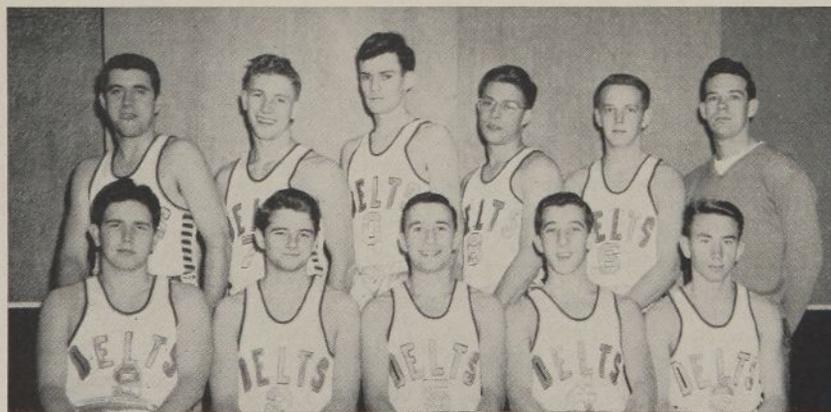

Improving steadily as the season progressed, the swimming team finished a strong fourth and upset some stronger squads. This year's team was composed of Captain-Coach Charley Hamp and John Gury, the only returning men from last year, and Pledges Tom Denner and Shannon Francis. Denner and Francis swam the 40-yard free style, Hamp, the leading point-getter, swam the breast stroke, and Gury and Denner swam the 100-yard free style. All in all the season was a bigger success than we had anticipated.

We have one of the strongest teams in the league in basketball this season. Taking our first game of the season, we fielded a team composed of Stew Kenney, Bob Strano, Stan Brenner, Lee Denner, and Allen Gundersen. These starters are backed by Vince Allen, Jack Jefferson, Dick Fischer, Lawrence Lucas, and Don Parks. Denner and Kenney were high in scoring last year, and with Strano and former Varsity Squadman Brenner also going, the Delts will be tough for everybody.

We are still second by 132½ points in the race for the Intramural Supremacy Trophy, but hope to pick up the deficit in the spring sports.

The house corporation the past six months has brought about many new house improvements. The floors on the first floor have been refinished, several pieces of furniture have been reupholstered, and the kitchen was remodeled. The living room and foyer were decorated in a mild shade of sepia with blending furnishings. The chapter room has also been given a thorough redecorating, a new floor has been installed, and new window frames have replaced the old. These changes have certainly done wonders in increasing the attractiveness of our Shelter.

Delta Rho—Whitman

Shine in Social Season

The first semester of 1951-52 has in many respects been one of the best yet for the Whitman Deltas. On the campus several men from the chapter have stepped into important jobs in school activities, and in the Shelter social functions and internal organization have been better than ever.

When Brother Bob Webb, '51, graduated, his position as half-time entertainment committee chairman was filled by Jack Kulp. This committee organizes all pep rallies as well as directing school spirit and entertainment at games.

Brooks Leffler, '54, succeeded Spence McCartney, '52, as editor of The Clocktower, campus humor magazine.

The Outing Club, one of the youngest organizations on the campus, elected Delt outdoorsman Klindt Vielbig copresident. The club for skiers and mountaineers sponsors week end outings for students and faculty members, as well as managing the annual Ski Carnival. Klindt scored again when he was elected president of the International Relations Club, a discussion group for those interested in world affairs.

In the College theater Ev Harris and Jack Kulp have appeared in several plays and Jim Campbell and Rod Bunnell have been in charge of technical operations.

Tom Beach and the Delt Mothers' Club made an addition to Walla Walla's social life this winter when they put on a Christmas dance for College students in town over the holidays. The dance promises to become an annual affair and another Delt first at Whitman.

ROD BUNNELL

Delta Sigma—Maryland

Lobo Arrives at Chapter

The last social event of 1951 was a pledge-sponsored "Christmas Rodeo" at which gifts were presented to needy children by all the brothers. Along with the good will involved everyone enjoyed the square dancing. To further the Christmas spirit the annual Delt Christmas tree, the largest on campus, was again colorfully decorated.

Delta Sigma feels that it played a small part in the Maryland victory at the Sugar Bowl. Eighteen Deltas began arriving at the Tulane Shelter by plane, train, and car on December 27, to help cheer the Maryland team to victory. True Delt hospitality was extended by members of Tulane, Alabama, and Tennessee, and we feel that no favorite son returning to Tulane chapter could have received a warmer welcome than was extended by them to Maryland.

Prior to the holidays, in the snow on the Washington Monument grounds, the annual football game between Gamma Eta and Delta Sigma was held. Much needed hot coffee was served by Gamma Eta to the chilled players and spectators immediately after the game.

Our chapter is now the proud possessor of a long awaited mascot. "Lobo" by name, a Doberman Pinscher by birth, has brought many bright hours to the brothers and guests of the Shelter.

JOHN TORBERT

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

Barnwarming Party Held

"Barnwarming," Delta Tau's big, annual rush party, was held on January 10 and 11 this year in the Lab School Gym. Featuring such things as a live, 225-pound ram, two squealing baby pigs, three large, crowing roosters, and a real hillbilly square dance band, the party was a tremendous success. After starting out a little slowly, mainly due to the fact that hardly anyone knew how to square dance, the evening's activities progressed until everyone was slipping and sliding around, doing his own version of the square dance. Intermission entertainment was given by Brothers Ross, Taylor, Armitage, Games, Griffith, and Landolo.

Patsy Thomas was chosen as Delta Queen at our annual Christmas Formal, "Winterlude." Patsy, a petite, 5' 3" brunette, was crowned at the intermission by President Rusty Games, following a serenade by the actives and alumni. A member of Delta Gamma Sorority, Patsy is, incidentally, pinned to Brother Games.

The last of the Kappa Taus (forerunner of Delta Tau), Jack Ross, will graduate this semester. Jack, who was one of the founders of the Delta Tau Chapter, has served the chapter well in his association with it. He has served as recording secretary, song master, and as head of various committees. Delta Tau would like to thank Jack for his fine contributions to the chapter and wish him well in the world.

Delta Upsilon—Delaware

New Furniture Added to Shelter

The local Shelter at 230 E. Main now sports a fine paint job which covers all the extensive outside woodwork of the house—something which tremendously improves its attractiveness. Much needed study room furniture arrived early in January and has added to the Shelter facilities. Needless to say our television set, now five months old, also has proved welcome.

Brother Jack Fairchild pulled a feat in November by copping first place over some 40 other runners in the two and a half mile Interfraternity Cross-Country Meet. Our intramural football team, while not posting a winning season, nevertheless scored its share of touchdowns. On the basketball court, our quintet has proved to be a hustling outfit, led by cagers like Charlie Hann, "Diz" Day, Al Scala, Bob Starks, and Bob Strothman.

In respect to rushing, which incidentally occurred during late November and the first week of December, Delta Upsilon pledged the same number (12) as last year, despite a decrease in men going fraternity on campus. This number, together with the eight pledges previously added in the fall, brought our total pledge class up to 20 members. Brother Jack Stowers now holds the all-important job of pledge education chairman. In order to bolster the scholarship policy of some of these pledges, an experimental policy of compulsory study hours at the Shelter each night for pledges is presently being tried out. Just before rushing began, The Diamond State Delt, our first real chapter newspaper, was published and proved a success. Plans are in the making for another issue soon this spring. Originally, the idea for such a paper was suggested by Field Secretary Al Sheriff, during his three-day visit in October.

Our annual Christmas party for the members of the Ferris Boys' School turned out to be another enjoyable event, both for the brothers and the Ferris members. At this writing, a Delta Upsilon Glee Club, under the joint leadership of Tom Mulrooney and George Nagy, is in the process of being formed.

New Shelter Almost Ready

One of our outstanding events of this season has been the Delt-Alpha Xi Delta Christmas party for underprivileged children. The party was at the Alpha Xi house. Both chapters are hoping to make this party an annual affair.

The traditional PiKA-Delt basketball game was played, with the Deltas coming out the victor. The Pikes gave us a very nice party. In the active-pledge basketball game, the actives won by a score of 13-12.

We are still hoping to move into our new Shelter soon. All is ready but a few minor details.

Preston Bradley, president of Delta Phi, has announced his marriage to Eleanor Nunez. We all wonder who's next.

Delta Psi—Santa Barbara

Christmas Dance Climaxes Season

The climax of the fall social season for Delta Psi was a semiformal Christmas dance at the Mar Monte Hotel on December 21. The last week end in October a combination Hawaiian and Halloween party took place at the Shelter with the house completely decorated following the motif and the stairway converted into a slide. An abalone dinner was served followed by dancing to Chuck Copeland's music. The abalone were furnished by Brother Al Southworth, an accomplished diver. Joins with the Alpha Phis and Pi Phis were held in December with a skating party and Christmas caroling providing the entertainment.

Delt supremacy in intramural football continued with the team winning the championship for the third straight year. This retired the trophy and it became the property of the chapter. The team scored over 200 points while going undefeated, but once tied by the SAE squad on a last minute pass. Three Deltas, all first string, were members of the Gaucho varsity this year. George Mattias, tricky end, and Gordon Weber, hard-charging guard, were on the offensive platoon, while Bob Laskin operated at defensive left half and was the place-kicking specialist. Laskin's place kicking won the Occidental and Fresno State encounters.

Other Delt Squires are Don Noble, Bob Holland, Bob Dullea, and Wynne Smallwood. Don Noble is serving as sophomore president and Wynne Smallwood as vice-president. Bill Grannis, head yell leader, and Bill Kindel are active in Cal Club, University of California intra-campus honorary.

In Japan with the Air Force are Major JOHN M. TURNER, '39, and JOHN P. YOUNKIN, '52.

Serving with the armed forces, still in the States at last report are: FRANK R. SACHSE, '31, legal officer, Air Force, Long Beach, Cal.; Lt. Col. ROBERT E. COFFIN, '39, Washington, D. C.; 1st Lt. GEORGE E. GRIMES, '45, Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington; Dr. NORMAN M. CHRISTIANSEN, '46; Dr. JOHN H. CARR, '46, Navy, Mare Island, Cal.; Dr. RICHARD W. CALL, '46, Camp Stoneman, Cal.; EDMUND C. FENSTAD, '48, Marine Corps; DON C. THAMER, '50, Navy officer candidate, Newport, R. I.; Lt. ROBERT OSWALD, '51, Air Force; and GERALD W. SMITH, JR., '52, Air Force.

From Monterey, California, comes the report that Deltas comprise 20 per cent of a U. S. Navy communications school group. In a class of 15 are the following three Deltas: HENRY C. BATE, Tufts, '50; G. TORRIE JONES, Tulane, '50; and WALLACE R. BARNES, Duke, '50.

From the East Central Front in Korea comes an INS dispatch which credits 1st Lt. JAMES LEITNAKER, Baker, '46, of the Army Engineers, with the invention of a "skyhook."

The "skyhook," which was devised to ease the back-breaking uphill supply haul to an American infantry unit on a mountain peak in Korea's rugged eastern mountains, is a make-shift aerial tramway. Lt. Leitnaker's engineers built it out of parts picked up from old trucks and cable.

Called the longest aerial tramway in Korea, it reaches to the peak of a mountain more than 1,000 meters high. A supply trip that used to take up to four hours when men had to walk now takes about ten minutes. The "skyhook" can carry 600 pounds of ammunition and other supplies, and it is used to bring wounded men down on the return trip.

Lt. Leitnaker's platoon of engineers, who put the long cable into operation, had to figure out the tramway's course as they went along. They stretched the first thousand feet of the cable to a knoll on the mountain, then ran the remainder of the cable in one stretch to the peak, completing the job in five days.

Lt. Leitnaker is the son of F. CHERRY LEITNAKER, Baker, '19, chapter adviser of Gamma Theta Chapter and member of the Distinguished Service Chapter.

in grand style by winning the homecoming trophy for 1951. The amount of work put into the decoration showed in the craftsmanship and finished product. It was in the form of a huge football player lifting bones to his mouth, representing parts of Akron U. players. The slogan was "Let's Eat 'Em Up." Sonny Hook and Jim Orr were in charge of the project and put much time into it, for which they should be congratulated.

The rush chairman, Ron Rice, is to be given a vote of confidence for the fine job he did on rushing. Twenty-eight fine pledges were garnered by Delta Omega Chapter to carry on the heritage left for them.

A successful intramural sports season was assured when the K.S.U. Deltas won the intramural and all-University volleyball trophy. A smaller share of glory was achieved when the wrestling team placed fourth in intramural wrestling. The winning of the volleyball trophy made seven out of eight trophies offered on the Kent State campus in the last eight months.

Ron Rice, Bob Weber, and Ralph Orche were recognized for their outstanding achievements by being placed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Brothers recently married from the chapter were George Kline to Marty Hurst, Frank Ballo to Kathy Young, and Don Dornback to Marcia Greene.

Wedding bells were not the case of Brother Ralph Raymont. Instead of wedding bells he is hearing the cheerful notes of bugles blowing reveille. Brother Raymont has joined the Navy.

Again Rush Chairman Ron Rice is on the brink of another rushing period. We all hope Ron does as well as he did in the last rushing period.

Brother Ray Finley called the meeting to order on October 16 after a wonderful dinner. Walter Frye reported on the good progress being made by the telephone committee in contacting Deltas so as to have better attendance at meetings. Walter Keith then presented a most interesting talk together with very fine pictures on his trip through Europe this summer.

On November 11 we were glad to welcome to our meeting some of the recent alumni of Delta Omega Chapter at Kent State University, namely Guy Shelley, Dick Strebe, and Gary Fox. Another newcomer was Harry Gilbert, Zeta Chapter. President Ray Finley reported on the fine rushing party held by Delta Omega Chapter during the rush season, and Professor E. Turner Stump, Gamma Upsilon Chapter, gave a very fine account of the wonderful progress of Delta Omega Chapter and of the fine results the chapter had in pledging a great group of men. A committee was appointed for the Founders Day program consisting of Robert Stoffer, Al Heston, Art Briggs, Charles E. Jones, and Gary Fox. Robert (Red) Thompson then gave an interesting talk on the subject "Comments on Current Events." No meeting was held in December.

LOUIS P. CARABELLI

Boise Valley

The Boise Valley Deltas finished the year with the annual Christmas party. The occasion for the gathering was the Panhellenic Ball. The Boise Valley Deltas assembled for a banquet held at the Boise Elks Club. The arrangements were made by President Jack Haymond. "Wiff" Janssen was the master of ceremonies.

As usual, the success was in a large degree the result of the enthusiastic support of the University of Idaho undergraduates. As secretary, I must apologize for failing to get the names of the actives.

From the alumni, however, there were past President Ken Egbert, past President John Van Deusen, Dick King, Jim Matthews, Vern Otter, President Jack Haymond, Treasurer Larry Thielke, and past President Paul Poulsen. Unable to attend because of sickness in the family were Frank Chapman, Fred Rieger, and yours truly.

On behalf of the chapter, I would be pleased to hear from our old buddies from Delta Mu. Please address us at 213 Mobles Drive, Boise.

Plans are now under way for a Founders

Day dinner to be held in March. We are looking forward to another gathering of the clan to celebrate this event.

A recent visitor to our Thursday luncheon was George Kelley, Beta Mu, '41, who has just returned to the States after a three year sojourn in Argentina with International General Electric. George is now en route to Washington, D. C., for a new assignment with his company. His description of conditions "South of the Border" surely made us realize how fortunate we are to be in the U. S. A.

Joel W. Reynolds, Beta Mu, '23, Vice-President of our Fraternity, active member of our alumni chapter and chapter adviser of Beta Mu, attended the National Interfraternity Conference at Old Point Comfort, Virginia, with President Martin Dickinson.

A cordial invitation is extended to all Deltas in this area to join our Thursday luncheons held at Patten's Restaurant on the second floor at 12:15.

RUDY HELGESON

Chicago

The Chicago Alumni Chapter announces with regret that its president, Gordon "Bud" Spooner, has been recalled to service with the United States Navy and reported for duty January 25.

Bud's departure came at a time when the Chicago Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was in the midst of a truly great year and it is with extreme sorrow that we see the prexy shove off.

As the days grow longer, our annual Founders Day Banquet draws nearer, and acting President Frank Bagamery has shouldered the task of arranging for the day's festivities. The date and place of the banquet are still uncertain as of the time of writing, but notices will be sent to all members. We want three hundred Deltas at Founders Day; so plan now to attend. The food and speaker will be the best obtainable.

Since last reporting we have had the pleasure of having Hugh Shields present at one of our regular Monday luncheons. Mr. Shields gave a short talk to the 25 members present on the status of the Fraternity and the expansion program of Delta Tau Delta.

It is beginning to look as if the "Old-Guard" of the Chicago alumni is moving south. Port Arthur, A. B. Walling, and Clint Burnham have recently settled in Florida. Port is now secretary-treasurer of the St. Petersburg Alumni Chapter and favors us with a memorandum every now and then.

For Monday luncheons it is still Harding's located in the Fair Store. See you there.

JOHN RODDY

Cincinnati

The Cincinnati Alumni Chapter ended the year 1951 on a holiday note with a jolly meeting at the Cincinnati Club, December 28. Chuck Leonard, Gamma Xi, '48, assembled a program full of pleasant surprises such as comments by Dick Baker, Delt alumnus and sports director of Radio Station WSAI in Cincinnati. Dick brought along the well-known TV announcer, Bill Nimmo, who also gave a fine talk. Election of officers for the new year and bowling rounded out the annual Christmas party for the 60 alumni in attendance.

Officers for the coming year are: Carl Schindler, Bill Bettinger, John B. Todd, and Richard Reiman, president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary, in that order. All are of Gamma Xi, 1949. The new officers promise to engineer an interesting and an active program in the coming year, so alumni in the Cincinnati area had best be alert to future events like the Christmas party.

The chapter wishes the best to Jim Utrecht, and Bob Welch, last year's secretary, who were called back into the service recently. The Fraternity and chapter suffered a loss too, when Thomas Davis, former president of the First National Bank of Cincinnati and prominent for many years in national banking circles, passed on to the Chapter Eternal, January 9.

If any alum in the Cincinnati area is not on the mailing list and wishes to be informed of the alumni activities, he should drop a card to Richard Reiman, 6725 Hampton Drive, Silverton 36, Ohio, and don't forget, either, the weekly Delt luncheon at the Cincinnati Club every Tuesday.

RICHARD J. REIMAN

Cleveland

The activities of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter continue to center around the weekly luncheon meetings held every Friday at the Nanking Restaurant. We have no set program, but under the leadership of President Dick Thompson there are many very fine general discussions of Fraternity history and present day operations. Regularly, two actives from Zeta Chapter attend the luncheon and report on current activities on the Western Reserve Campus. Sessions are most enjoyable and maintain high interest in Delta Tau Delta.

During December, the alumni enjoyed the hospitality of Zeta Chapter at a Christmas party held at the Shelter and a dance at Hotel Hollenden.

Plans are being made for a Founders Day celebration on February 22. Following our usual custom, the event will be cosponsored by the alumni and Zeta Chapter. In addition to the Founders Day program, this traditional affair combines the Zeta Chapter initiation banquet with the annual meeting and election of officers for the Cleveland Alumni Chapter.

All Deltas in the Cleveland area are cordially invited to become affiliated with the alumni chapter, to attend the luncheons, and to participate in our social affairs. Those desiring to receive notices should notify the secretary.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

The weekly Friday noonday luncheons at the University Club have been, as usual, well attended by Columbus alumni. All Deltas who happen to be in the city are cordially invited. There are no programs to bore you and the food and fellowship cannot be equaled.

Prexy, Dr. Charles Freeble, Pittsburgh, '42, head of communicable diseases for Ohio, has been quite busy recently as has been past Prexy Walter F. Heer, Jr., Dartmouth, '37, who was recently elected Director of the Printing Industry of America. Congratulations!

Many of the local alumni as well as those from over the state enjoyed themselves after the homecoming game at a dance at the Chittenden Hotel, at which the Beta Phi Chapter at Ohio State played gracious hosts.

On Saturday, February 23, 1952, our enthusiastic spouses in the Delt Wives Club sponsored a Potluck Dinner and Benefit Bridge at the Olentangy Village Tavern at which all who attended had a wonderful time. We are fortunate in having such a loyal group back of us . . . and often in front too.

J. DEAN STRAUSBAUGH

Evansville

Our Christmas party was wonderful. So say the Delt ladies who were our special guests for dinner. They will agree, and the members of our chapter here already agreed, to make this, our Christmas meeting, an annual affair. It was the first chance for our wives to get together and many fine and lasting friendships will be the result.

Art Flint, Jr., O, '45, is leaving January 17 for Tucson, Arizona, but we are glad to even up this loss with a newcomer, Reverend Joe Wick, BZ, '43.

Spring rush plans are on the agenda for our next meeting in the spring. We are much better organized now for getting the names of the promising high school graduates, and the nearby chapters can be expecting to hear from us in plenty of time to invite these boys to their spring rush parties.

Temporary officers were elected to permanent posts for 1952, namely, Gordon (Bish) Thompson, GTh, '35, president, and Ben Lurie, BB, '14, secretary.

BEN J. LURIE

Greater New York

Since our last report, there have been quite a few changes in G.N.Y.A.D.T.D.

Monthly uptown and downtown luncheon attendance has been on the upgrade. A number of new faces from the classes of 1950 and 1951 have joined the ranks.

We are happy to report that Charlie Keyser is now on the road to recovery. His illness, of course, necessitated his retirement as chapter president, but we're all looking forward to the day when he'll be back with the gang. Enthusiasm like that of Brother Keyser is hard to match.

Brother Cal Sinclair has taken over as New York prexy and is doing an outstanding job. The vice-presidency is ably held down by Bill Sullivan, and Bill Fine is keeping a firm hand on the reins of finance.

We've lost a number of men to the armed forces recently and plan to publish a complete list of service addresses in a future RAINBOW.

The monthly luncheons for those in uptown New York are now held on the second Tuesday at the Williams Club, 24 E. 39th Street, at 12:00 noon.

The downtown luncheon is at 1:00 p. m. on the first Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce Bldg., 65 Liberty Street.

A concentrated effort is now being made to bring our mailing list right up to date. A tabbed addressograph system will eliminate duplications and facilitate changes. So please address all current complaints to the undersigned at 40 Wall St., Room 2525, N. Y. C.

T. J. FARRAHY

Houston

Otto U. Wymer, Beta Kappa, new president of the Houston Alumni Chapter, has suggested several new activities that give promise of putting added life into the Texas Gulf Coast group.

An active telephone committee has succeeded in rounding up attendance at the monthly meetings to the extent that the last two have had the SRO sign hanging out at an early hour.

Planned programs are helping to do the job. Everett Filley and Jack Troxel, Texaco production men, for example gave a splendid talk on current oil development in the Williston Basin, and Paul Daugherty, at another meeting, spoke on the aims and purposes of the North Atlantic Union. Brother Wymer is arranging these programs.

Planned also is a trip by bus to Austin to witness the next initiation by Gamma Iota, and John Fry, Errol Fry and Vilbry White have been named as a liaison group to arrange this.

Dave Evans will rig up some sort of bulletin to let the Houston chapter members know what is going on, and Silas Ragsdale, Sr., has been named to write regular letters to THE RAINBOW.

Claxton Parks heads the entertainment committee for the year, whereas Hirst Suffield, Jim Hunter, and Secretary Jack Ewing will worry about finances. Dues had to be increased a bit, but most of the brothers have come across in good style because they feel that they're going to get real enjoyment out of their Delt affiliation this year.

The Houston group is greatly encouraged by reason of the fine crop of Houston boys pledged by Gamma Iota in September. Texas' biggest city has real representation there now.

Last event of past President Ed Richardson's regime was a stag barbecue dinner held at Bob Ives's country place. It was a most enjoyable affair. Ed has since moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico, where he will serve as general manager for the oil producing interests of G. M. Lowry et al.

SILAS B. RAGSDALE

Indianapolis

Indianapolis Deltas are pointing with pride to the able new mayor of their city. Alex M. Clark, Beta Beta and Beta Alpha, took the oath of office on New Year's Day to serve for the next four years. Among his many appointees are John Barney, BZ, '31, Indianapolis Comptroller. Frank Fairchild, BZ, '31, has been Marion County prosecutor since the preceding election.

Weekly luncheons for five weeks before our observance of Founders Day honored members of each of our five Indiana chapters. Active members of these chapters attended the dinner and dance February 23 at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. Lloyd Rossebo, BA, '39, general chairman, was assisted by Dick Engelhart, BA, '45, dance; Fred Hill, BA, '31, decorations; Fred (Bud) Tucker, BB, '40, program; Edwin H. Hughes, III, BB, '43, tickets; and William M. Hutchison, BA, '22, publicity.

Forty-five Deltas enjoyed the Christmas luncheon with a 25-cent gift exchange ranging from chewing gum to mistletoe. Remember, we meet each Tuesday to lunch together at the Hotel Warren at 12:30—meet us there when you are in town.

WILLIAM M. HUTCHISON, JR.

Kansas City

The Kansas City Alumni Chapter held its first annual supper-dance on December 1, 1951, following the homecoming football game between Missouri and Kansas, at the new Town House Hotel ballroom in Kansas City, Kansas. The party was attended by about 150 persons, and everyone enjoyed the get-together. Dancing took place from 9:00 p. m. until 1:00 a. m., and a buffet supper was served from 11:00 until 12:00. The supper included everything from seafood to ham and roast beef.

A special luncheon was held during the Christmas holidays and the active chapter members who live in this area were guests of the alumni chapter. There was a good representation from both the Kansas and Missouri chapters. Martin Dickinson, the Fraternity's President, gave a short talk on the progress and future of Delta Tau Delta.

W. R. LOUDON

Lexington

The winter has been one of numerous jolts for Deltas in the Lexington alumni group.

First of the shockers was the marriage of William R. (Pat) Patterson, class of '92 (or thereabouts). After all these years of single blessedness, Pat surprised the gang by quietly getting into harness, taking as his bride Miss Katherine Crowe of Lexington. They are making their home here, the ex-confirmed bachelor being president of the Lexington U. S. Tire Company.

The surprise of that had hardly worn off before Bruce Davis, class of '93½ (probably), likewise deserted the ranks of eligible males. Stinky, who takes a little time off from golf to assist in the family's coal-mining operations, became the beaming bridegroom in January of Mrs. Mary Ellen Triplett Brown, formerly of Houston, Texas.

As if those events were not enough to disturb the equanimity of the territory, who comes back to town after an absence of more than 20 years, most of them spent in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, but Penrose Ecton! Bringing along a charming wife and two cute daughters, the stubborn prodigal finally realized he couldn't be happy away from the Blue Grass and returned to be an officer and part owner of the L. R. Cooke Implement Company. In that capacity he is busy helping the farmers exchange their mazzama for his machinery.

Dr. Jack Floyd recently was elected secretary-treasurer of the Fayette County Medical Society. Dan Fowler, who cruised the Pacific during the last war, has been serving since last fall as a new member of the local draft board. Russ Lutes has both of his furniture stores back in full operation again after a fire in one last year that he denies was in any way successful. Preston Price has a television business and is helping provide plenty of those bird roosts over the roofs of Lexington. Elliott Peel is advertising manager for the big new department store opened here by Stewart's of Louisville.

LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE

Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Alumni Chapter under the leadership of Brother George W. Rochester culminated an outstanding year with its "cheerie" Christmas Holiday luncheon at the Los Angeles University Club. Fellowship reigned supreme. Interesting and well-attended monthly luncheons were held during the past year, at which Delts of achievement in our community were honored. In succession, there were honored prominent Delt judges, doctors, veterans, brokers and investment bankers, insurance and real estate brokers, athletes, newspapermen, and others.

Opening the 1952 season will be the annual Past Presidents Luncheon under the direction of the newly elected president, Robert L. Meyer. Assisting Brother Meyer this year will be Brothers Arch R. Tuthill, secretary; John R. Cain, assistant secretary; Stuart McKenzie, first vice-president; Douglas McDonald, second vice-president; Robert F. Tyler, third vice-president; and Roy P. Crocker, treasurer. Plans are being formulated for the Founders Day banquet and other affairs of specific significance and interest.

Luncheon meetings are held the third Thursday of each month at the University Club and all Delts are cordially invited to attend.

Our alumni chapter has contributed materially to the welfare of our community during this past year. Paul Hoffman continues with his outstanding work with the Ford Foundation, Nat Fitts has completed with distinction a year's service as chairman of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury, and Tom Cunningham has given outstanding service as the Presiding Judge of our Los Angeles Superior Court Criminal Department, to mention just a few.

The alumni chapter looks forward to a most successful year and also to working closely with our fine active chapters at UCLA and USC.

ARCH R. TUTHILL

Montgomery

Regular monthly meetings have been held by the alumni of Montgomery and vicinity since last summer. In the early fall, when attendance as well as interest began to really pick up, an application was made to the Arch Chapter for an alumni charter for this area. Naturally, we were very pleased to have the request granted and then become the first alumni chapter ever to be established in the state of Alabama.

There are about 20 alums altogether in this area surrounding Montgomery, and practically everyone attends the meetings and participates in one way or another. This city also has a very good and strong representation in the undergraduate chapter at the University of Alabama as well as at Georgia Tech in the form of undergraduate members.

A Delt Mothers' and Wives' Club has already been established in Montgomery and has had a head start on the men. This organization, with Mrs. D. D. Black as president, is very well organized and has a project set up and the ladies are working on it.

Regular monthly meetings are held in the basement dining room of the Town House Restaurant at 7:30 p. m. on the second Tuesday of each month. No summer meetings are planned as yet. Guest speakers are lined up for each month's meeting as an extra incentive for members to attend. Bob Murphy is program chairman. Red Ryan, noted local radio newscaster on the state capital political scene for many years, was the guest speaker at the January meeting. Also entertained were high school seniors, Delt prospects, from Sidney Lanier High School in Montgomery.

Officers for the new year are Bob Jones, president; Tom Terry, vice-president; and Al Middleton, secretary-treasurer.

ROBERT H. JONES

National Capital

The Delts of the Nation's Capital are experiencing another "big" year. How could it be otherwise? The weekly luncheons held every Thursday during the noon hour in the Capitol Room of the Lee House, 15th and L Streets, Northwest, are gaining in popularity. Newly arrived Delts in the city are finding it to their advantage to first attend these luncheons where they obtain fraternal assistance in locating places to reside and establish productive business contacts. The National Capital Alumni Association is rendering a substantial service to its alumni members of which there is ample testimony—in fact, the group is fast developing into a service-luncheon organization somewhat similar to Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, et al.

Dell Floyd, Washington, '09, has recently retired from the Lands Division, U. S. Department of Justice, where he has served the past 25 years. Of the 43 luncheons held last year, Dell missed only one. Joseph B. Matre, Cincinnati, '12, was second with a record of 29 luncheons; Oliver Hovem, Columbia, '16, had a record of 28; Riggs Monfort, Kenyon, '30, and John Oliver, Ohio State, '43, and Pennsylvania, '47, each with 24;

Ronald Fett, South Dakota, '48, Rhessa M. Norris, George Washington, '14, and William T. Sheris, Pittsburgh, '41, with 21 luncheons each to their credit.

The success of the Christmas dinner-dance held December 1 at the Kenwood Country Club was due to the untiring efforts of Brothers Sheris and Frank Delp, Penn State, '45, those two up-and-coming young Delts in the local area who are associated together under the name, The Sheris Company, installers of modern kitchens in schools and commercial establishments. Actives from Gamma Eta and Delta Sigma Chapters showed up in large numbers at the dance which followed the crowning of the Delta Queen, Miss Mary Jane Hayes, runner-up for "Miss Washington" television honors for 1951 attended the formal affair with one of our younger alumni, Bob Phillips, Kent, '50.

Plans are on the drafting board to make this year's Founders Day dinner one of the best. This year being an election year, every opportunity will be seized upon to present a fast-moving program of intense political interest to all Delts, Democrats and Republicans alike. It will be another one of those get-togethers no loyal Delt will want to miss. From experiences in each succeeding year, our plans have improved to the point where several hundred Delts can now be assembled for a full evening of genuine pleasure without the confusion which characterized our earlier dinners. Special announcements will be sent out to the 700 Delts on our mailing list as soon as the selection of the principal speakers has been made. Speakers at our past dinners have included Tom Clark, Texas, '22, Justice, U. S. Supreme Court; Senator William E. Jenner, Indiana, '30; Paul Hoffman, Chicago, '12; Major General Douglas E. Weart, Illinois Tech, '13, and Benjamin M. McKelway, George Washington, '19, all nationally known Delts, and this year will be no exception.

We would like to see more of other Delts who have chosen the Nation's Capital as their places of business and/or residence. The welcome mat is always out. If you happen to know of any Delts moving to Washington or vicinity, you can render a mutual service by sending their names and addresses to the undersigned at 2706 East-West Highway, Chevy Chase 15, Maryland.

ROBERT E. NEWBY

Northern Kentucky

The Northern Kentucky Delts "slipped up" on our annual Christmas season party for our Delta Dames, but the belated affair was scheduled for January 25 at one of Northern Kentucky's night spots. Invitations were extended to our alumni brothers in Cincinnati.

Jim Stites took advantage of the holiday season to acquire a wife and take off for parts unknown for a holiday honeymoon. He also deserted Northern Kentucky for a Cincinnati address.

Three new Delta Epsilon alumni have turned up in "The Queen City." (That's Cincinnati to you West Coast brothers.)

Bob McCowan is connected with Ashland Oil, while Bill Bryson and Ed Jones are keeping General Electric's house in order. Bill is an accountant and Ed is one of GE's promising young engineers.

Garth Slater, one of the former presidents and wheelhorses of our group, didn't forget his old Northern Kentucky buddies at Christmas time. Garth, formerly one of Brother Hugh Shields' right-hand men, is now one of the brass hats in the Pentagon Building. Brother Slater, at last report, was wearing major's leaves.

Your correspondent gained a future Tri Delt in late October when Lucie Fontaine Coffman arrived at "Mildew Manor."

CAMERON COFFMAN

Pittsburgh

Founders Day is the big news for Pittsburgh alumni Delts this month, with March 7 set as the evening, and President Dickinson scheduled to be the speaker.

A large turnout for this 93rd celebration of Delta's birth should be assured in Pittsburgh, since more than 200 alumni still hold 1951 "rain checks" to hear President Dickinson. Last year the President was to have addressed the Pittsburgh Founders Day banquet, but was forced to cancel his appearance, due to the death of a close friend and fellow Delt in an air tragedy.

Banquet season is in full swing for Pittsburgh Delt alumni, with Founders Day here, and the spring baseball dinner just a few weeks away. Not so widely publicized as these all-chapter events was an "unofficial" Delt banquet held January 11 to pay tribute to Dr. Clifford E. Barbour and C. R. Wilson. A small group of their Pitt Delt classmates dined Brothers Wilson and Barbour in honor of their new posts as Manager of the William Penn Hotel and President of Western Theological Seminary (Pittsburgh), respectively.

On the somber side of the ledger, the chapter lost two loyal members with the death late in December of Robert L. Totten, and the passing January 6 of Rendel K. Soppitt. A Pitt classmate (1917) of Totten, Brother Soppitt starred on the Panther football teams of the World War I era, playing at tackle with the late Dr. John B. Sutherland.

Although it took place several months ago, the last alumni event of 1951 cannot be entered in the records until proper credit is given the winners of the annual sign contest. Sponsored by the alumni chapter, in connection with Dean Moor's annual Christmas Service at Trinity Cathedral, the vocal battle featured undergraduate teams from West Virginia, Washington and Jefferson, Pitt, and Carnegie Tech.

After many lean years as the perennial "bridesmaid," the University of Pittsburgh copped first place in the December sing and took home the coveted clock trophy. Runner-up was Carnegie Tech, who thus completed the all-Pittsburgh sweep of the 1951 contest.

BILL RAINES

Portland

One of our main social events of the year is always our Christmas formal dance. This year it was held in the Rose Bowl of the Multnomah Hotel. Attendance was about 150 people and everyone really had a good time.

Our Delt luncheons are still being held the first and third Wednesdays of each month at The Broiler. Attendance has been good even over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Several of the alumni headed by Paul Eckelman and Bob Rankin have recently contacted Gamma Rho Chapter so as to give them any assistance they might need. Their rushing program was the item of most importance and results were quickly forthcoming as the chapter pledged eight at the rushing period last month.

THOMAS R. KEEFE

St. Louis

At recent meetings it has been our privilege to have had excellent speakers who both entertained and enlightened us. A gentleman from the local FBI office and another from the British Consulate were kind enough to accept our invitation to dinner and so made possible these enjoyable evenings. We plan to have more such speakers in the future and hope all St. Louis area alumni will be on hand to greet them and join in these stimulating discussions.

Our Christmas dinner-dance was held this year at the DeSoto Hotel. We were happy to see that many of our group who are presently serving in the armed forces were home for the Christmas season and with us to join in the fun.

Don Fleck, president of the chapter, was among those called into the service. George H. Buchanan, Jr., who was vice-president, succeeded to the presidency and Bill Broderick was elected vice-president.

WILLIAM L. SEIM

St. Petersburg

A special meeting of the St. Petersburg Alumni Chapter was held at the St. Petersburg Yacht Club December 5, with the new officers in charge. Howard S. Helt, Pittsburgh, '20, was re-elected president and Robert S. Arthur, Illinois, '08, secretary-treasurer.

Charles Belden, M.I.T., '09, showed color pictures taken on his trip to Europe during the past summer. Also on the program was Charles C. Carr, Indiana, '09, former director of publicity for the Aluminum Company of America, whose book, Alcoa—an American Enterprise, was published a short time ago.

It was decided that the alumni chapter will meet regularly at the Yacht Club on the first Wednesday of each month.

Sterling Bottome, West Virginia, '20, was honor guest of the St. Petersburg Hotel Men's Association at its annual banquet recently. Mr. Bottome is manager of the Vinoy Park Hotel in St. Petersburg and president of the Florida Hotel Association.

Our latest luncheon on January 9 at the St. Petersburg Yacht Club was attended by 20 Deltas, including such notables as N. Ray Carroll, Judge Harry Hewitt, Charles C. Carr, and A. B. Walling. Brothers Carroll, Hewitt, and Walling are all members of the Distinguished Service Chapter and past members of the Arch Chapter. Brother Carroll is also past President of Delta Tau Delta.

Brother Hewitt was elected delegate and Walling alternate to the coming Karnea.

Our monthly luncheons are held the first Wednesday in each month at the St. Petersburg Yacht Club.

ROBERT S. ARTHUR

Seattle

Norm Smith, who has done such a fine job as secretary this past year, was unanimously elected president for 1952. His first act was to appoint a steering committee who has already met and formulated plans for making this a truly great year in the history of our alumni chapter.

The first recommendation of the committee was to establish a closer relationship with the active chapter, Gamma Mu. It was decided that at least one dinner meeting a quarter should be held at the Shelter. Furthermore, where feasible, alumni and actives with common interests should be paired for the evening. Thus law students would be getting acquainted with attorneys and premeds with doctors, etc. It was also suggested that twice a month at least two alumni attend the active chapter meeting.

Two big events are planned for the spring. One will be the Founders Day dinner and the other the annual golf picnic. The latter usually turns in to quite a party before it is over.

Our alumni roster now includes over 200 names; however, every Delt living in this area should be on our mailing list, so please contact me at Juniper 7258 if you are not receiving our meeting notices.

Southeast Kansas

High light of our winter's activities down here in southeast Kansas was our annual Christmas holiday get-together the evening of December 28 at the Hotel Besse here in Pittsburg. We old-timers experienced some excellent pinch-hitting this year on the part of several Gamma Tau actives who were home for the holidays, and it was largely due to their efforts and enthusiasm that the party was arranged.

An excellent chicken dinner prefaced the evening's fun. Sixteen Deltas and 14 Delt Queens turned out for the dinner, following which most of the gang adjourned to one of Pittsburg's popular night spots where dancing and good fellowship continued on into the sma' wee hours.

Deltas and their dates were present from Fort Scott, Iola, Neodesha and, of course, Pittsburg. We were sorry previous engagements prevented our Columbus, Parsons, and Eric contingents from attending. Before the party broke up, all vowed to

Syracuse

After a rather slow start, our winter program took on new life within the past two months following a Syracuse visit by Al Sheriff, field secretary. At his suggestion, monthly dinner meetings of the alumni chapter are now being held the first Monday of each month at Gamma Omicron Shelter. At the initial gathering on December 17, thirteen alumni were present and saw movies of the Syracuse-Colgate and Syracuse-Fordham football games before and after their business meeting. At the meeting on January 7, eight alumni showed up (some new faces included) and all enjoyed seeing Syracuse-Illinois football movies after the business meeting. The next gathering is planned for February 4, and it is felt that these meetings at the chapter house give a perfect opportunity for alumni and actives to know each other better.

In view of the undersigned's recent election as President of the Eastern Division, Jack Wulfetange, Jr., Tau (Penn State), '24, was elected secretary at the last meeting to fill the unexpired term.

Future plans include Founders Day dinner at the University Club March 1, the annual dinner meeting at the University Club April 7, and a picnic with the active chapter during May or June at President Deming's farm.

On the evening of January 11, Bernie Dawson invited all of the actives and their dates to his home where they had a wonderful time. Fred Stone, chapter adviser, was also there.

FORREST H. WITMEYER

Toledo

There were many young Deltas in town over the Christmas holidays, but due to the fact that the regular luncheon dates for the alumni group fell on Christmas and New Year's Day there were no organized Fraternity activities.

The regulars who meet at Dyers Chop House every Tuesday noon made up a special purse for the waitress the week before Christmas and got into the holiday spirit of giving.

Herbert M. Sharp, our president, has been honored with a life membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers in which he has been an active member for many years. He specializes in the engineering of asphalt pavements.

Robert B. "Bob" Evans, Beta, whose voice is familiar to all Toledoans, has recently been named program director of Station WSPD, most powerful radio and television station in Toledo. It is owned by the Fort Industry Company and affiliated with the NBC chain. Bob has been a sportscaster for several years. A few years ago he headed the Toledo alumni group.

G. WILFRID HIBBERT

Topeka

The annual fall party of the Topeka Deltas was held December 4 at the White Lakes Country Club. President Floyd Strong presided at the turkey dinner, which was followed by talks by two of our members: Cliff Stratton, who spoke on the subject of his many years as a newspaper correspondent in Washington, D. C., and Graydon Sutherin, who has just returned from Guam. The dinner was followed by dancing and about 35 enjoyed the evening.

MORLEY GRISWOLD, Michigan, '13, former lieutenant and acting governor of Nevada, died at his home in Reno on October 3, 1951.

Mr. Griswold was elected lieutenant governor of Nevada in 1926 on the Republican ticket. After being re-elected in 1930, he became acting governor following the death of the incumbent governor, Fred Balzar, in 1934.

Well-known as a sportsman and conservationist, Mr. Griswold two years ago set a world's record in steelhead trout fishing using a fly.

Dr. H. ADELBERT WHITE, Wesleyan, '04, widely recognized educator and professor of English, died November 25, 1951, at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Dr. White had been professor of English at the University of Nebraska for 26 years previous to his retirement a year ago. He was awarded honors by the University for his work on an index catalog of English literature of the Renaissance. He was a contributor to several educational and literary publications. He had served as a revisory editor of the New Century Book of Facts.

RAYMOND F. McPARTLIN, Dartmouth, '20, well-known Boston newspaperman, died of cancer on November 24, 1951.

He served for 28 years on the Boston Globe. There he had been copy desk man, news broadcaster, feature and editorial writer, and overseer of the "Letters to the Editor" column. Most recently he had been writer of the unique and widely read "T. V. Diary."

RENDEL K. SOPPITT, Pittsburgh, '17, former All-American tackle and one of the few surviving members of Pitt's great football team of 1916, died January 6, 1952, at Grove City, Pennsylvania.

Beginning in 1913, Mr. Soppitt played four years of football at Pitt and was selected on many All-American teams. At the time of his death he was a consulting engineer for the Changler-Boyd Supply Company of Pittsburgh.

THOMAS J. DAVIS, Bethany, '84, former president of the First National Bank of Cincinnati and prominent for many years in national banking circles, died January 8 in Cincinnati.

Mr. Davis had been connected with the First National Bank more than 42 years prior to his resignation in 1944. He had been president since 1934.

For a number of years he was chairman of the Executive Council of the American Bankers Association. He also was a former member of the Federal Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve Banking System.

DR. CUSTIS LEE HALL, George Washington, '12, internationally known orthopedic surgeon, died November 10, 1951, after a brief illness. Dr. Hall was a past president of the United States chapter of the International College of Surgeons.

Clinical professor of orthopedic surgery at George Washington University Medical School, Dr. Hall was orthopedic consultant to two of Washington's large hospitals. For many years he had devoted much of his time to treatment and cure of crippled children under sponsorship of the Underprivileged Child Committee of the Washington Kiwanis Club.

EDWARD ANGLY, Texas, '19, war correspondent and author, died December 7, 1951, of a heart ailment in New York City at the age of 53.

At the peak of his writing career, Mr. Angly had recently seen his latest literary effort rise to best-seller status in many major cities. He was coauthor with Jesse H. Jones of Fifty Billion Dollars, the story of Mr. Jones' 13 years with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The book was in its sixth printing. According to its publisher, the Macmillan Company of New York, the firm was turning out books as fast as the presses could handle them to meet a growing demand.

Mr. Angly began his career as a sports writer for The Galveston News, where he was associated with another Delt from Texas, Silas B. Ragsdale, who is today managing editor of the Petroleum Refiner. He left Texas in 1920, however, to join the Associated Press in New York and begin his international career.

In various European capitals he had served as bureau chief for the New York Herald Tribune, The Associated Press, and The Chicago Sun. He had circled the globe as foreign and war correspondent for major newspapers for nearly three decades.

During World War II he covered the Allied armies both on the eastern and western fronts and was in the thick of the British retreat from Flanders in the spring of 1940. He was one of the first three American correspondents to reach Pearl Harbor from the United States after December 7, 1941, and the first correspondent to report the arrival of U. S. forces in Australia. He was one of only two correspondents to cover the Teheran conference of Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin.

Following the war, Mr. Angly did freelance writing, and his articles appeared in such magazines as The Saturday Evening Post and Collier's.

DR. THOMAS WAYLAND VAUGHAN, Tulane, '89, retired principal scientist of the United States Geological Survey and director emeritus of the Scripps Institution of the University of California, died January 16, 1952, at his home in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Vaughan retired from the Geological Survey in 1939. Since that time he had been a paleontologist with the National Museum.

In 1938 Dr. Vaughan was elected president of the Geological Society of America, and in 1946 received that society's highest award, the Penrose Medal. He was awarded the Agassiz Medal for research in oceanography by the National Academy of Science in 1935, and the academy's Mary Clark Thompson Medal for geology and paleontology in 1945.

DR. LOUIS G. CONNOR, Wesleyan, '10, retired principal commodity specialist for the Federal Tariff Commission, died January 16, 1952, at his home in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Connor worked for the Agriculture Department for many years before joining FTC. He served as a consultant for various war agencies during World War II.

FRANK L. MOORHEAD, Colorado, '07, for many years treasurer of Beta Kappa Chapter's house corporation, died of a heart attack in his office at Boulder, Colorado, on December 19, 1951. Mr. Moorhead had been city attorney of Boulder since 1916 and at intervals acting city manager. He was a past president of the Colorado Bar Association.

Alumni Chapters

Our January luncheon was postponed a week on account of our meeting date falling on New Year's, and on January 8 we had better than average attendance, which we hope will continue through 1952. We have picked up two new members by the transfer of 300 S. W. Bell Telephone employees from Kansas City to Topeka.

Topeka continues to gain in population now being over 100,000, and if there are any Delts stationed at the Forbes Army Air Base here, we would like to have them get in touch with us so that we can invite them to our noon luncheons.

FRANK F. HOGUELAND

Toronto

The Toronto Alumni Chapter activities since the big pre-Christmas open house have been confined mainly to the Tuesday noon luncheons at the Embassy Hotel and to the planning of the Founders Day banquet to be held on January 16.

Founders Day in this case refers to the 25th anniversary of Psi Delta Psi, a local fraternity, going international in scope by becoming a part of Delta Tau Delta.

The active and alumni chapters are combining their efforts to make this occasion the best attended and the most interesting function in our history, and from all reports received to date it most certainly will be. Psi Delta Psi was founded just after the turn of the century, and many of the original members will be present as well as representatives from each graduating year since that time.

The active chapter has done much of the "leg work" in connection with the planning of this banquet and one of their projects is to make a report of this function for THE RAINBOW, which, together with pictures, is to be found elsewhere in this issue.

The main alumni project for 1951-52, which is the renovation of the Shelter's heating equipment as well as the purchasing of a new refrigerator, is well on its way to being completed, some of the work on the furnace having been done during the Christmas season.

A. BRUCE MUNDY

Tulsa

Tulsa Delts and wives were together at a Christmas party in the French Room of the Alvin Hotel December 4. After a fine buffet dinner, we danced to the strains of Tommy Dorsey, Frankie Lane, and Vaughn Monroe (via the juke box). A good time was enjoyed by all and we were most pleased to see new faces among those of the old stand-bys.

Our prexy, Claude Gordon, sojourned to Schenectady in late November to carry a word of greeting to Delts in the General Electric Company's home town. However, he returned to Tulsa in time to greet our party arrivals with that familiar smile.

Our best wishes for a most happy and prosperous New Year are extended to all Delts in the four corners of this world. Should you be in Tulsa the second Tuesday of any month, remember: Dinner at 6:30—Tulsa Country Club.
