The Added Call to Service

By HOWARD D. MILLS, Western Reserve, '18

Secretary of Alumni

SO MUCH HAS BEEN spoken and written of alumni relations during my years of association with Delta Tau Delta that the odds against achieving originality in a current discussion of the subject seem insurmountable. Thus, plagiarism being inevitable, it seems best to surrender to it openly at the outset.

In 1941, at the White Sulphur Karnea, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '89, (1866-1950) challenged each Delt to regard his badge ". . . not as an added symbol of honor but as an added call to the character and service that have put Delta Tau Delta in the forefront of all her sister societies. . . . If the achievements of her past are so many and so great, what are the limits to be set for the future of her expanding life?"

The limits, of course, are set by the vagaries of human nature as reflected in those among us who, basking in the "honor" of membership, unwittingly place a drag upon the larger number which regards the honor as a "call" to a lifetime of active participation and service.

Each of us privileged to wear the badge is, in truth, a custodian and a trustee of the traditions, the prestige, and the objectives of Delta Tau Delta—not citees honored one day and discharged the next from continuing responsibility and obligations.

The strength or the weakness of our Fraternity can be nothing more nor less than a sum-total of the strength and the weaknesses of individuals. Whether pledge, active, or alumnus, none is so inconsequential as not to affect the whole to a degree which can be measured as a positive or a negative factor in our progress.

A lively debate can generate around the relative importance of the three stages of association with the Fraternity; but the alumnus has the longer period for the exercise of good, evil, or passivity. Thus, to state the case negatively, the greater onus falls on him. To state it positively, the alumnus has the greater opportunity to enjoy the fruits of his fraternal association.

It is idle, however, to philosophize about what a man ought to do. The pay-off lies in what he does. An inactive alumnus is a wasting asset. Today, the average alumnus is a busy fellow. The greater his potential value to the Fraternity, the busier he is likely to be. Herein lies a major challenge in salesmanship to the leadership of our active chapters and alumni chapters alike.

This is a time for each to review its tactics in the field of alumni relations. Because of the great depression, the birth rate of the 1930s was abnormally low. Beginning in the 1940s and continuing to the present day, we have had bumper crops of babies. College enrollments bulged in recent years from a temporary backlog of veterans, but this has been a mere preview of what lies ahead.

Each active chapter and its related house corporation should review the local situation in light of this outlook.

HOWARD D. MILLS

In the resultant forward planning, revitalization of alumni relations should be given major emphasis. New problems are about to be superimposed upon those which have come to be regarded as normal. Their solution will rest largely with an active chapter's alumni, wherever located, and with alumni of other chapters resident within its orbit.

From a broader viewpoint, our Fraternity is approaching a new era of opportunity and obligation with respect to expansion. Again revitalization of alumni participation is urgent, not only with respect to existing alumni chapters but in the chartering of new alumni chapters as well. This is no time to argue that alumni who have defaulted their obligations and opportunities are greater losers than the Fraternity and should be written off.

Our processes of selectivity with respect to pledging and initiation, and our methods of indoctrinating the undergraduate, are such that devotion and loyalty to Delta Tau Delta are deeply ingrained. Men differ as to the intensity with which their interest is sustained, but the man who drifts away irretrievably is the exception.

The traits of paternalism, fraternalism, and reminiscence are strongly influential with a normal man. The former attracts him to the active chapters and the latter to fellowship with other alumni. It is legitimate to exploit these tendencies. The objectives and the end results of our program are constructive and the rewards are great for the alumnus who aids and abets them.

The strength and quality of alumni participations stem from a trinity of interrelated initiatives. The first is that of the man himself. The second is within the control of the active chapters. The third rests with alumni leadership at the community level.

Thus, the responsibility is three-fold. Weakness in any leg of the tri-

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—XII

A. BRUCE BIELASKI, George Washington, '04—1919-1925

The Loyalty Fund, the field secretary system, the Undergraduate Loan Fund, inauguration of the office of Supervisor of Scholarship—all of these are milestones of the six years during which the twelfth President served with foresight and devotion.

"LIVE YOUR FRATERNITY life so as to merit advancement by those who should know you best. But most important of all, go into this as you must go into all things if you are to be a real man among men—unselfishly and with a desire to serve and to be a useful citizen of a great land. If, in your chapter work, you can learn that unselfishness and self-control are the things you wish to mark your life, you will leave college qualified for whatever may then confront you."

These are the words of Bruce Bielaski.

Although they were directed to the undergraduate Delt, they provide the key to the creed and the great heart of this man among men—the 12th President of Delta Tau Delta.

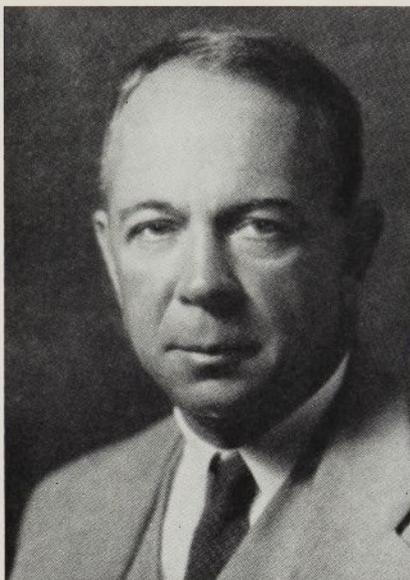

"Unselfishly and with a desire to serve"—that is the history of Mr. Bielaski's Delt life and his life as a citizen.

His service as President of the Fraternity began, as a matter of fact, immediately following a period of distinguished service to his country. He came to Boston and the "Victory Karnea" of 1919 as a celebrated national hero.

HEADED EARLY F. B. I.

During Theodore Roosevelt's administration, Mr. Bielaski had been named chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. America's entrance into World War I threw a tremendous burden of work and responsibility on Mr. Bielaski. His department made investigation of every suspect in America, and more than four million enemy aliens were registered and thousands interned for the duration. The job was done so well that the Bureau of Investigation won a permanent and respected position in the esteem of the American people, which it maintains to this day as the F. B. I.

The Fraternity at this critical jun-ture was searching earnestly for a new and inspired leader. Colonel James B. Curtis, who had held the reins for 12 years, had announced that he was not a candidate for re-election. Having successfully weathered the storm of the war, Delta Tau Delta was ready to strike out for new horizons, to cultivate further its field of usefulness, and it needed a man to chart the course.

Memorable moments, then, were those at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, when the 1919 Karnea placed the gavel in the new President's hand. The minutes record simply: "Brother Bielaski was conducted to the platform amid prolonged cheering, while the Karnea rose. He addressed the Karnea and pledged the Fraternity his faithful service."

That was a pledge which was to be honored with interest.

As the new President assumed his office, he called upon both actives and alumni to join him in his dedication to the Fraternity ideal.

"Our progress," he said, "depends altogether on how many of us are going to work harmoniously together for Delta Tau Delta. I earnestly request of Deltas everywhere to pledge to themselves that they will this year and each month, if possible, render to the Fraternity some specific service and that from every direction advice, assistance, and earnest work for the common cause may come."

MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

So saying, the new President went to work. For the next six years he served Delta Tau Delta as its chief executive and directed the Fraternity in as aggressive and fruitful a program as it has ever seen in a like period. From 1919 to 1925, the record reveals, the following major accomplishments were compiled:

1. New or improved Shelters were acquired for 26 undergraduate chapters.

2. The Loyalty Fund was adopted by the Karnea.

3. The field secretary system, a pioneering movement, was instituted.

4. The Undergraduate Loan Fund was founded.

5. The office of Supervisor of Scholarship was established, as Delta Tau Delta became the first fraternity to place on its governing board an officer charged solely with the fostering of good scholarship.

6. The Fraternity's Constitution and Bylaws was completely revised and brought up to date.

7. The scope of the Central Office was expanded and its role as business headquarters of the Fraternity consolidated.

8. Nine new undergraduate chapters were chartered.

9. Delta Tau Delta's participation and influence in the National Interfraternity Conference were extended.

Each of these accomplishments represents a great stride forward for the Fraternity. Together, they mark President Bielaski's six-year term as the turning point in the modern evolution of Delta Tau Delta.

SHELTERS ACQUIRED

From the outset of his tenure, Bruce Bielaski recognized the urgent need for adequate housing of undergraduate chapters, and he knew that assistance and encouragement had to come from the national level. Within the scope of the then limited funds available, loans were made by the Fraternity and serious study was given to recommended plans for new houses. At the same time, sound financing at the local level was stressed, and the Arch Chapter began to visualize what an endowment fund could mean to the Fraternity in terms of acceptable undergraduate housing.

These efforts were productive. President Bielaski was able to report at the Meadville Karnea in 1925 that 26 chapters had acquired new or improved Shelters since 1919 and a total of 55 of the 72 chapters owned their homes.

Indirectly, this program had led to another of even greater significance. The Fraternity in 1919 had an endowment fund of approximately $40,000. Accumulated largely through voluntary contributions, it fell pitifully short of the requirements of a vigorous, growing organization. By today's standards, it probably could not serve the financial needs of more than two chapters.

LOYALTY FUND FOUNDED

Led by President Bielaski, Delt leaders of this period began to lay the foundation for an endowment fund large enough to serve the broad interests of Delta Tau Delta. Their plan was presented to the 1925 Karnea, and the Loyalty Fund as we know it today was adopted by the delegates to that session. Shortly afterward, it was ratified by the chapters and became effective on January 1, 1926.

With assets now well over one million dollars, the Loyalty Fund in the 30 years since its inception has more than lived up to the expectations of its founders. It has been acclaimed the most cogent factor ever adopted to insure the development of the Fraternity on a sound, progressive basis.

The principal of the Fund, of course, cannot be expended. Loans from it are made to incorporated chapter house corporations to build, obtain, or improve chapter homes. Through the years, a total of 68 chapters have been assisted by an aggregate of 127 separate loans, representing investments of $1,452,966.65.

The Fund assures, moreover, a constantly informed membership by providing for life free of charge publications of the Fraternity. With this issue of THE RAINBOW, 16,349 Delts have now become Loyalty Fund Life Members.

Income earned by the Loyalty Fund is returned to the Fraternity's general account, where it further serves the undergraduate chapters by making possible progressive programs of service.

Another milestone for President Bielaski was implementation of the field secretary system. The President was among the first to realize that real assistance could be delivered to undergraduate chapters in their administrative problems by a full-time employee who devoted himself to visiting the chapters and counseling them on the ground. "Delta Tau Delta Needs a Man" he announced through THE RAINBOW in June, 1922, and by the following fall the right man had been found and sent on his appointed rounds.

Ralph M. Wray, Colorado, '21, who had behind him a brilliant record of collegiate achievement, was that man. So well did he succeed in this pioneering effort that President Bielaski reported one year later:

"I know of no way in which the undergraduate member of the Fraternity gets more for his money than through the work of the Field Secretary. I am inclined to think that the time is soon coming, if it is not here, when the Fraternity should have two field secretaries, so that each chapter may be sure of a visit once a year."

The field secretary system has since been universally endorsed as thoroughly sound. There is hardly a national fraternity today which does not employ at least one such traveling representative, and Delta Tau Delta itself has had as many as six men in the field at one time. Currently there are three.

MILESTONES IN SCHOLARSHIP

Research of early records reveals some interesting side lights on the Bielaski character. When the President addressed the 1921 Karnea in Omaha, the RAINBOW reporter observed: "His speech was like all Bielaski speeches—short but full of meat."

He did not mince words. There was too much to be done. There was scholarship, for instance.

Although the Fraternity had been routed down the road to respectable scholarship during President Curtis' regime, much of the steam which had been generated was playing out, and by 1923 President Bielaski bluntly told the Fraternity that he was dissatisfied with ΔΤΔ's standing. At his suggestion, the 1921 Karnea appointed a committee of three—Alvan E. Duerr, Frederick C. Hodgdon, and the President—charged with the responsibility of finding and recommending steps which would insure satisfactory scholastic performance.

The committee in 1923 brought in a searching study, with concrete suggestions. One of them urged the establishment of the office of Supervisor of Scholarship as a member of the Arch Chapter. Recognizing, as phrased by THE RAINBOW, "the obligation of a college fraternity to foster and encourage, indeed to insist upon, a decent respect for scholastic attainment among its members," the Karnea adopted the committee's recommendations.

The work of Alvan E. Duerr—appointed the first Supervisor of Scholarship—inspired President Bielaski in 1925 to assert: "The most outstanding development in the work of the Fraternity during the past two years has been performed by the Supervisor of Scholarship." This was the same year that Mr. Duerr himself appeared before the National Interfraternity Conference and persuaded that body to set up a special committee on scholarship.

LOAN FUND BEGUN

While these movements were in progress, Mr. Bielaski had other ideas for making the Fraternity meaningful to its members. In 1920 he wrote: "The Fraternity sorely needs a fund from which temporary aid may be had by a Delt who is overtaken by financial misfortune during his college career. It should be able to stretch out the fraternal hand to such a student and enable him to begin his life's work with the complete college training which he set out to have—a better man and a better Delt because of such aid than he could be without it."

After the Undergraduate Loan Fund had been established the following year, a campaign for contributions was conducted, administered through the four Divisions. One of the largest donations was a bequest from Frank F. Rogers, first manager of the Central Office and early Editor of THE RAINBOW, following his death in 1923.

The Undergraduate Loan Fund, as predicted by the President, has filled a vital need. Today a revolving account of more than $40,000, it has assisted scores of undergraduate Delts with a total of 454 loans, totaling $102,117.00.

SOUTHERN EXPANSION

The expansion which took place during President Bielaski's term rounded out the Fraternity's representation in the Southern Division, with strong chapters at Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Tennessee, Florida, North Carolina, and Alabama. Chapters were also installed at Oklahoma, South Dakota, and Carnegie Tech.

He aptly summarized his philosophy on expansion for the 1925 Karnea in this manner: "No really national fraternity can grow and develop that does not keep up with the educational growth and development of the country, and every part of the country. . . . It is altogether too obvious that a fraternity which cannot grow as the country grows, will fall behind in its true development, and the only result of withholding charters from petitioning groups in acceptable institutions, is to hold back the development of those groups and so work harm to them and to the fraternity of which they finally become a part."

N.I.C. CHAIRMAN

Even as he was serving Delta Tau Delta with his demonstrated ability for organization, Bruce Bielaski was also giving his best efforts to the entire fraternity system. During 1921-22 he was secretary of the National Interfraternity Conference, and on December 1, 1923, he was elected Chairman of that association.

Of the N.I.C., he said: "Delta Tau Delta surrenders none of its rights of independent action but believes in the wisdom of united action in a common cause."

Such common cause was also the

Respected Indiana Dean Retires

"THE COLONEL"—Raymond L. Shoemaker, Cornell, '15—retired in June as Dean of Students at Indiana University.

Colonel Shoemaker in May asked to be relieved of the post in which since 1946 he has been the adviser and best campus friend of thousands of students at the University. He will continue, however, to be the director of the office of military information and serve as general consultant to the division of student personnel.

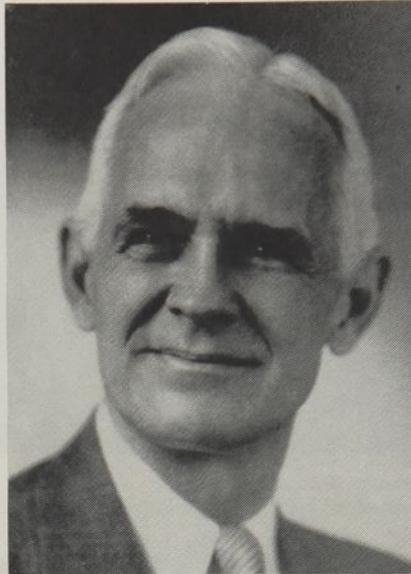

"The University with greatest regret has acceded to the request of Colonel Shoemaker to give up as of June 30 the strenuous duties of Dean of Students," Herman B Wells, President of the University, announced. "His services to the University have been beyond measure and the policies and student government system he established will benefit the institution and its student body for many years to come. The blow of his decision, however, has been softened by his willingness to continue to give his ever wise judgment in student affairs and student military service matters."

The retiring Dean first came to I.U. in 1939 as an infantry major to teach on the ROTC staff and then was made the head of the University's military department, where during World War II he directed the training of 9,000 men in the second largest collegiate Army unit in the United States.

Called from the campus in the latter part of the war, he was a staff officer of the Fifth Service Command at Fort Hays, Ohio. After another assignment at Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky, he returned to the University as Dean of Students.

A slim, always impeccably attired man of soft voice and urbane manners, he has been the students' best friend and the respected adviser to administration and faculty in student affairs. No student affair, whether it be a sorority tea or a football pep session, has been complete without him. At the same time a telephone call that "the Colonel wants to see you" has sounded like a drum-beat to erring students.

Sigma Delta Chi, the journalism fraternity, voted him "the most popular professor" award and the Univer-

Delts Prominent On Evanston Campus

MEMBERS OF DELTA TAU DELTA played a prominent part in year-end activities at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, last June.

Dr. Horace G. Smith, '05, retired president of Garrett Biblical Institute, was chairman of the 50-year class of 1905 and presented its members at Alumni Day on June 11. John H. Hutchinson, '22, former chapter adviser of Beta Pi Chapter and member of Delta Tau Delta's Distinguished Service Chapter, made presentation of alumni medals and awards. He is chairman of Northwestern's achievement committee. Among those receiving awards was Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, '32, assistant dean of the University's Medical School.

Edward R. Ladd, '04, presided at the annual dinner of the Half Century Club. Dr. Horace Smith addressed the group and was elected president of the Club for 1955-56.

Guest speaker at a breakfast meeting of the John Evans Club was Loy W. Henderson, '15, Deputy Undersecretary of State for Administration, who highlighted his talk with personal recollections from his more than 30 years of distinguished service with the State Department in foreign countries and in Washington.

Mr. Henderson, former Ambassador to Iran, received the nation's highest award presented through the State Department when he was honored a year ago for his role in negotiating a settlement of the Iranian oil crisis in 1954.

And just to insure future Delt participation, it was announced at the conclusion of the college year that two more Delts—John Damore and Robert Christensen—had been appointed alumni representatives of the Class of 1955. Damore was chapter president and co-captain of the 1954 Wildcat football team. Christensen was varsity wrestling captain.

Lafayette Swimmer Wins MACC Events

ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING swimmers in the East during the past year was Ed Elbert, Lafayette, '55, co-captain of his college's tank squad.

He took first-place medals in both the 220- and 440-yard free style events at the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships and boosted Lafayette to its first championship. Ed is holder of the Lafayette College record in the 440 event.

At 122 SOUTH LASALLE Street, in the heart of Chicago's teeming financial district, is A. C. Allyn and Company, Inc., one of the Midwest's largest and most widely known investment houses. Its chairman and organizer is Arthur C. Allyn, Chicago, '08.

Top man of an organization which today ranks sixth in the nation in capital account among corporate investment firms, Mr. Allyn is approaching the half-century mark in his chosen field. Looking back on those nearly 50 years, he should derive a singular satisfaction from the fact that his successful rise in this highly competitive business began most humbly and inauspiciously.

He came to Chicago in 1908 to accept a position as office boy with N. W. Halsey & Co. at a salary of $9.25 a week. Quick to learn and hard working, he was put in charge of the Milwaukee office in 1910 and remained there until 1912. After a period with Hornblower & Weeks as manager of the bond department, he borrowed sufficient funds to enable him to combine with two other gentlemen and inaugurate the firm of Elston, Clifford & Co., dealing in municipal and corporate bonds.

In the years that followed, Mr. Allyn bought out his partners and in 1921 opened the firm under its present name. Since that time he has built the business soundly and conservatively. Today A. C. Allyn and Company, Inc., with more than 400 employees, serves its clients through not only the Chicago office but also 23 branch offices throughout the country.

The Allyn organization continues its expansion, participating in widely diversified underwritings, including a large volume of municipal and corporate financing. Mr. Allyn's firm, for example, played a major role in the issuance of $100 million in revenue bonds for the Mackinac Bridge Authority, whose project will span by highway the Mackinac Straits. Participation in foreign issues included such securities as those of the Kingdom of Belgium and the Commonwealth of Australia.

His valued experience in corporate finance has resulted in added responsibility in a wide range of industries. He represents the company on the boards of directors of such corporations as Consolidated Foods Corporation, Mississippi Valley Barge Line, United Transit Company, Memphis Street Railway Company, and Transcontinental Trailways Company.

He has, moreover, served a term as national vice-president of the Investment Bankers Association, and he has been the recipient of an honorary LL.D. degree, conferred by one of the colleges which benefited from his investment activities.

As he chats amiably in his air-cooled, spacious office, Mr. Allyn admits with a twinkle in his eye that he has passed the retirement milestone. But for one who has been on the firing line of American finance for so many years, shedding the harness does not come easily, and he still keeps the same office hours as most members of the staff.

Mr. Allyn, who, like a good many other leaders of business and industry, spent much of his boyhood in a small town, recalls that most of the Delts of his day in Gamma Alpha Chapter also came from the country. Born in Hopkins, Missouri, he grew up in Corning, Iowa; Lincoln, Nebraska; Chicago and Rockford, Illinois; and in Fort Scott, Kansas.

Another Fort Scott boy, Clyde Blair, Chicago, '05, persuaded him to enroll in the University of Chicago and influenced him in joining Delta Tau Delta. Blair, a sprinter, was one of Chicago's all-time great athletes. In his time, he ruled the cinder paths of the Big Ten.

This was the golden era for Gamma Alpha Chapter and Delta Tau Delta in the Windy City. During Mr. Allyn's undergraduate days he was associated with many Delts who were destined to achieve unusual success later in life. There were four of that period, for instance, who served on the Fraternity's Arch Chapter, and two were Presidents (Francis F. Patton, '11, and Paul G. Hoffman, '12).

There were James D. Lightbody, '08, winner of three Olympic gold medals; a United States Congressman (Raymond H. Burke, '06); a Minister to Ireland (George A. Garrett, '10); a famous football coach (Harlan O. "Pat" Page, '10); a president of Encyclopedia Britannica (E. H. Powell, '11)—to mention just a few.

How does one account for a chapter and an era which produced so effectively? Mr. Allyn believes that a membership of small-town origin is a significant factor. A lad who has

Beta Chapter Delt Gets Fischbach Grant

DR. CLARE H. GROSENBAUGH, Ohio, '49, has been granted a scholarship under The Fischbach Residency Foundation beginning July 1, 1955. He is a resident in neuro-psychiatry at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Topeka, Kansas.

Dr. Grosenbaugh is a 1953 graduate of the Northwestern University Medical School. He will complete his residency in approximately one year.

An outstanding scholastic record at Ohio University is among the recipient's qualifications for the residency. Ranking third in a graduating class of 1,214, he was awarded the John B. Thomas prize given to the outstanding senior premedical student in the Department of Zoology.

Dr. Grosenbaugh has completed one year of rotating internship at Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids, Michigan. In enrolling in the Menninger School in Topeka, he became the 500th physician to enter the foundation's program of psychiatric education. Largest training center of its kind in the United States, the School, under the direction of Dr. Karl Menninger, has reached its 25th year of teaching.

Like many of the others undergoing training, the young doctor practiced general medicine before deciding to enter the field of psychiatry. He is 30, married, and has two children.

During World War II, Dr. Grosenbaugh was an enlisted man in the infantry on combat duty in Europe. He was a prisoner of war in Germany for seven months.

The Fischbach Residency Foundation, administered under the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund, was established in 1947 by the late Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Kenyon, '06, as a means of assisting young Delt physicians and surgeons in completing specialized training beyond internship. The scholarship is an outright grant with no obligation for repayment.

Dr. Grosenbaugh becomes the seventh Delt to receive assistance through the Foundation.

New Federal Judge

WILLIAM G. EAST, Oregon, '31, was seated in June as Judge of the Third Federal District of Oregon.

Formerly county circuit judge of Lane County, Oregon, Judge East was graduated from law school and admitted to the bar in 1932. He practiced law in Eugene from 1932 to 1942, during part of which period he served as chapter adviser of Gamma Rho Chapter at the University of Oregon.

From July, 1942, to December, 1945, he saw active duty with the Army. Serving with the military government division, he traveled with advance units in the march across France into Germany and Austria and spearheaded the re-establishment of local government in towns on the route. For chest decorations, he brought back four campaign stars, the combat infantryman's badge, and the purple heart.

Judge East opened his own office with Sidney A. Milligan, another attorney, when he returned to Eugene. He served 18 months as Eugene city attorney and then was appointed to the circuit bench in March, 1949.

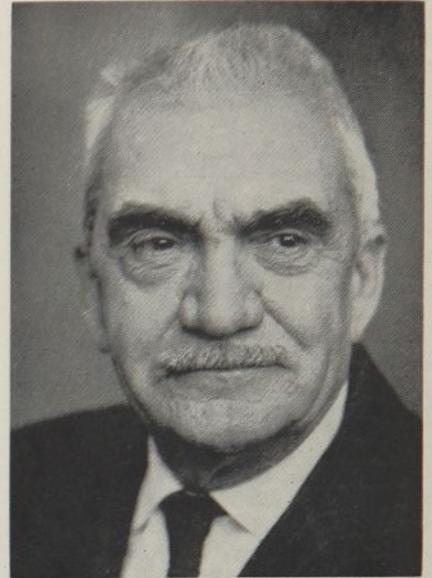

He earned the regard of brother lawyers early in his career and was elected to the board of governors of the Oregon State Bar in 1940. In 1948, '49, and '50, he served on the board of bar examiners.

Part of Judge East's bar work has included public defense of canon 35, which is the American Bar Association's restriction on newspaper pictures of trial scenes.

Police Expert Urges Gun Surrender Week

"GET RID OF THAT GUN!" warns Bruce Smith, Wesleyan, '13 & Columbia, '16, famous police official, in the July 30 issue of This Week magazine.

The pistol, unregulated and unchecked, is dangerously out of control, cautions Mr. Smith. He proposes "Gun Surrender Week," a period during which all citizens may surrender home-owned firearms to police authorities with no questions asked. He suggests that the week of November 7, 1955, be so designated, in honor of Veteran's Day, which falls on November 11.

Pistols kept in the home and in stores carry a triple threat, writes Mr. Smith: (1) they lead to crimes of opportunity; (2) they get into the hands of criminals; (3) they draw the fire of armed robbers.

Director of the Institute of Public Administration, Mr. Smith has advised the governments of scores of metropolitan areas and states in the United States and several foreign nations on the organization of their law enforcement agencies.

Everyone Gains

"If it be argued that the Fraternity gives to me advantages that are denied another, I must admit that this is true. There is nothing in life that is worth having that comes to all people. Some are denied wealth, some education, happiness, and even health.

"Delta Tau Delta cannot extend its advantages to all college men; but if the life that our fraternity imposes upon its adherents is lived, everybody will be the gainer."

If There Be Need for a Man...

By GORDON S. "Bish" THOMPSON, Baker, '35

A youthful Delt minister accepts the challenge of the Church as he sails with his family for a difficult assignment in a strange land

JOE WICK [Butler, '43] was born to be a minister. If he ever gave a thought to being anything else it was at such a tender age he cannot now remember it.

He went from Central Christian Church in Washington, Ind., to Butler University to study for the ministry. Then he went on to Texas Christian. He was in the cafeteria line there one day when a girl glanced at his Delta Tau fraternity pin and said with some surprise, "Oh, so you're the boy from Indiana." He acknowledged the truth of her statement.

She was from Indiana, too, and a friend had pointed out a fellow Hoosier to her. But a short, fat student had walked between her finger and Joe just then and Connie Green of Indianapolis at first had the wrong man pegged. But she knew the only Delt on the T. C. campus was the Hoosier. So one glance at Joe's frat pin straightened her out.

They discovered they had lived not too far from each other for three years in Indianapolis yet had never met. Connie had come to Fort Worth to live with her sister and go to Texas Christian. It was good to meet someone from home. They got together often to talk about Indiana. Pretty soon they were talking more and more about Joe and Connie and less and less about Indiana. You know how it is. They've been married 11 years now.

In July, 1951, the Rev. Joseph Wick came to the pulpit of the new East Side Christian Church here. He came from the pastorate of Purdue University Christian Foundation. It wasn't long before his church here, and the entire city, began to realize they had a young man of unusual abilities and zeal. His church's growth continued with even more remarkable speed. Each year he has seen a net gain in membership of 95 to 100.

Nor did he confine his enthusiasm for making the world better to his own flock. Many civic efforts felt the friendly but insistent shove he can give. Recognizing his selfless and successful work in the community, Jaycees tagged him "The Most Outstanding Young Man of 1954."

So amiable, personable and witty is Joe Wick that not many Evansville people realized just how truly dedicated he is to his calling as a minister. The other day they found out.

Joe went to Richmond, Ind., in May to attend his denomination's state convention. While there he ran across Dr. Buford Norris, assistant dean in the school of religion at Butler and an old friend. Dr. Norris put his arm over Joe's shoulder and asked:

"How'd you like to take a church in Scotland for three years?"

Joe looked blank. Less than a year ago he turned down an invitation to go to an Indianapolis church more than twice the size of East Side Christian on the grounds he "wasn't near ready to leave Evansville yet." But now . . . did Dr. Norris say Scotland?

"Yes, a small church in Glasgow. Our British Churches have asked for three ministers, young, experienced, successful and willing."

Joe gulped. As soon as he could get to a phone he called Connie. There

WHEN DELT WRITES about Delt, there is invariably a good story. This is especially true when it is Bish Thompson of The Evansville Press (Evansville, Indiana) doing the writing.

Mr. Thompson, author of a regular column in the Press, handled this assignment so deftly for his paper that we wanted the whole Fraternity to enjoy it. So it is that we state with gratitude that this story is reprinted with the permission of both the author and his newspaper.—Editor.

The Reverend JOSEPH G. WICK

were several "ifs" to be resolved yet but, if he could qualify, should they go?

She reminded him of the quotation from the Talmud they ran across during their first year of marriage, the one that has guided them through other major decisions: "If there be need for a man, be thou that man."

A few days later they reported to the office of the United Christian Missionary Society in Indianapolis. They had quite a day. Churches just don't send anybody and his wife overseas. Joe and Connie were examined by a psychiatric social worker, by a psychiatrist, by a physician and finally by a psychologist. The church wanted to know if they were physically, mentally, emotionally and personably fit. They are.

The church to which they are going in Glasgow, the Coplaw Street Church of Christ, is 53 years old. It has 267 members. It has never had a full-time, professionally trained minister. Like most churches of this denomination in Britain, it has been served by "elders," dedicated and devout laymen. The church feels this may be partly responsible for the nearly 50 per cent loss in membership there in 19 years. The 180 congregations in Britain are served by only 22 full time ministers.

By invitation, three young ministers from the United States will take three churches there. Theirs is a three-way assignment to inspire and recruit young men for the British ministry, to stimulate evangelism and growth and to establish a stout program of stewardship.

An excellent project for the church, but what of Joe Wick and family? It's only human that they considered well what it would do to them. Their income will drop from $6000 a year to $1280. They'll leave a $27,000 air-conditioned parsonage and move into a home heated by rationed coal burned in open fireplaces.

Connie will spend three years in a kitchen that in this country would have been considered old-fashioned when her mother was a girl. It will be a humble life in Scotland and there will be days when they're blue because either they're needed here at home or they need home themselves. Connie's mother lives in South Carolina, Joe's parents in Washington, Ind.

To safeguard the Wick family budget a little, the Missionary branch here is picking up the tab for a three-year storage bill on their furniture, taking over the family insurance program and then—when they return—placing the Rev. Joe on a subsistence basis for a year, if necessary, or until he is located again in a church of his choice.

But $1280 a year for a family of four?

"It must be that way," said Joe firmly. "We must live on their economic level if for no other reason than to prove to them that there are American ministers who care enough to give up personal comfort and even personal future to lend a hand."

Little Mark Wick is four. He will get two years of schooling before the family returns. Schools there are good, especially at teaching youngsters to read. Little Rachel—she'll be two next November—will not remember Scotland at all.

Joe was selected by his church for the Scotland assignment from among nearly 5000 Christian Church ministers in United States. Without a doubt his record at East Side put him in the spotlight. His church here stands first among the 700 Christian churches in Indiana when it comes to per capita giving for missionary work and other benevolences. It has had amazing growth and is strong on stewardship.

Joe says the record was established because it is a congregation of exceptional people. The congregation insists it was because they have an exceptional pastor.

As we finished our visit one lunch hour last week I asked Joe point-blank—"I've got the background and details now, all right, but I still want to know why you accepted this call."

He gave me three reasons.

"It's time I put myself to the test to see if I really am a Christian leader. I've always thought myself to be but this is the first real challenge. A stranger in a strange land trying to win souls and rebuild His church—that's the test.

"Our church tried once before to help our brethren in Britain. It was 75 years ago and it was unsuccessful. The invitation now is another chance to serve the World Church, to obey the command to 'go into all the world and preach.' I may fail. If I do, at least the church will know that this is not the way to help our British brethren.

"Finally, Connie and I both knew from the start that if we turned our backs on this call for any purely selfish reason, we could never find peace or contentment in our hearts again."

Rensselaer Delt Moves Up In Synthetic Rubber Industry

A DELT WHO WILL PLAY an important role in private industry's new development of synthetic rubber production is Paul W. Cornell, Rensselaer, '36.

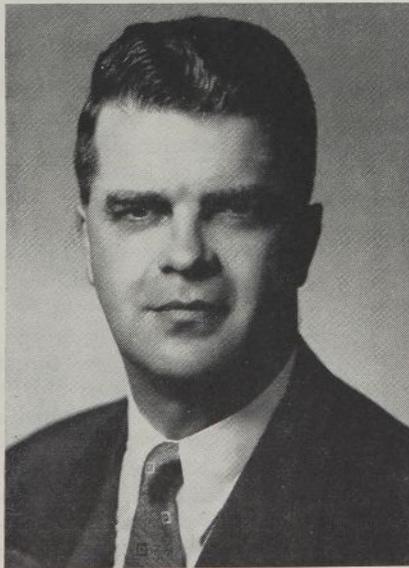

He is vice-president of operations, engineering, and development of newly-formed Goodrich-Gulf Chemicals, Inc., owned jointly by The B. F. Goodrich Company and Gulf Oil Corporation. Mr. Cornell was formerly assistant manager of the chemical department of Gulf Oil Corporation.

He assumes a key position as American industry shoulders the responsibility for the nation's synthetic rubber output, relinquished last March 25 by the United States Government. Goodrich-Gulf's purchase from the Government included a copolymer plant at Port Neches, Texas, and a one-half undivided interest in a nearby butadiene plant.

The copolymer plant, having a production capacity of 90,000 long tons per year, was purchased for $13 million. The butadiene plant, having an annual capacity of 190,000 tons, was purchased for $53 million. Half of the latter installation was acquired by the Texas-U. S. Chemical Company.

Facilities at Port Neches process (polymerize) butadiene with styrene and other ingredients to produce the raw synthetic rubber, ready to be shipped to tire manufacturers and other fabricators.

ADVENTURE ON THE WING

MEET MR. RAVENHILL. The creation of Writer Robert Ormond Case, Oregon, '19, he has emerged as one of the most popular characters of contemporary fiction.

Ravenhill's latest bout with adventure in the Far North was captured in Bootleg Gold, a fast-paced novel which appeared last spring in serial form in The Saturday Evening Post. It is now being published in book form by Robert Hale, Ltd., of London, England, who is also bringing out Ravenhill's previous caper, Golden Trap, which ran a year earlier in the Post.

A "renegade Englishman" of singularly independent spirit, whose chief love is his fleet airplane, Ravenhill nonchalantly braves one danger after another. His incredible nerve and quick wit bring him through every crisis.

The odd part of Ravenhill's development, however, is that he was compelled to win his own way in Mr.

Case's cast of characters, and it was his dominant personality which marked him for the leading role. Although the swashbuckling pilot has appeared in a total of six Saturday Evening Post stories, he was only a minor character in the first one. He immediately captured the readers' fancy, leaving Mr. Case no alternative but to install him in the hero's shoes.

A sort of a twentieth-century Cyrano, Ravenhill is "impeccably dressed, as always: a slender, erect figure in burnished boots, tailored breeches and snug-fitting flier's jacket," with "an air of almost haughtiness, a nameless poise rooted in caste and class that had somehow survived the corrosion of reckless dissipated years in the far north."

The Ravenhill stories have brought Mr. Case thousands of fan letters from all over the world. Evidently readers find in the chief figure the adventur-Ravenhill snapped his cigarette into the water and turned on O'Toole. "Who's been aboard?"

A matchless performer on the diamond was George Sisler, Michigan, '15, whose feats of the early twenties have marked him as

THE STYLIST SUPREME

By ARTHUR DALEY, Columnist, The New York Times

BRANCH RICKEY has always insisted that there never was a greater ballplayer than the George Sisler of 1922. It's never easy to argue against a man as persuasive and knowledgeable as the Mahatma. In this instance it's almost impossible.

In 1922 The Sizzler slashed 246 hits for a batting average of .420. He stole fifty-one bases. He fielded his position at first as only he could field it because he almost was in a class by himself as a defensive artist. Perhaps Hal Chase could be mentioned in the same breath with him. But no one else could.

Rickey's canonization of Sisler has been unchallenged for so long that it was a little startling a few days ago to hear the first dissent. More surprising, perhaps, was the identity of the dissenter. He was George Sisler.

George is a somber, unsmiling man, who acts as chief troubleshooter for the Pittsburgh Pirates, a job that gives him plenty of trouble to shoot at.

"I've always been flattered by Mr. Rickey's opinion," he said. "I must admit that 1922 was a wonderful year for me. But it's always been my personal opinion that I had a better season in 1920. That's when I set the record—it still stands, too—of the most hits any major leaguer ever made in one season, 257. Of course, I didn't have as high an average."

QUICK RECHECK

Sisler sounded so apologetic about his shrunken 1920 batting average, that it was deemed proper to take a peek. The poor guy certainly sloughed off. All he hit that season was .407.

Everything that this Hall of Fame immortal did on a ball field was done with style and grace and class. He was a picture ballplayer. He did everything with such natural ease that a curious listener couldn't help but ask him how long it took him to attain such skills. Who taught him to hit and field?

"No one," he said in matter-of-fact fashion. "I always could hit, even when I was a little kid playing against bigger boys. And I always could field. I never had to learn. I just seemed to do everything right instinctively."

This would have seemed to be a grossly immodest boast if it had come from anyone else. But George is so painfully shy and modest that the accusation peters out because it would be out of character with the man.

The enormity of his talents, perforce, must leave the younger generation gasping in disbelief.

TOPPLING AN IDOL

Two months after Rickey, then the field manager of the St. Louis Browns, had plucked Sisler off the University of Michigan campus in 1915, George came face to face with an idol. That idol was Walter Johnson, then close to his peak as a pitcher.

But Sisler didn't meet Johnson as a first baseman. In those days he was a left-handed pitcher with a strong fast ball, a fair curve and good control. In the first inning the Senators pried an unearned run off Sisler. In the second inning the Brownies picked up one earned run and one unearned run off Johnson. That was the ball game. In his first full major league start Sisler had out-pitched his idol, 2 to 1.

THE AUTHOR, Arthur Daley, wrote this story for the June 5, 1955, edition of his paper, The New York Times.

A respected reporter and writer of the daily column "Sports of The Times," Mr. Daley has since 1926 covered some 30 different sports. Full of sports lore and legend, he is co-author of a history of the Olympics and author of "Times at Bat," an informal history of baseball's first half century.

"The Stylist Supreme" is reprinted with Mr. Daley's permission and that of The New York Times.

Yet the man was so versatile that Rickey felt he was wasted as a pitcher. The Mahatma even used George at third base for a couple of games and at second base for a couple more—if you can imagine a left-hander at those positions! He also saw service as an outfielder.

Then one day in Chicago the Mahatma pointed to three first baseman's mitts on the dugout bench.

"Pick out the one you want, George," said Rickey. "From now on you're a first baseman."

TRAGEDY STRIKES

The Sizzler was a matchless performer almost from the start. He had tremendous speed of foot, the agility of a panther and smothering dexterity with his hands. Nothing could get past him. And upward mounted his batting averages until he touched .420 in 1922. Then tragedy flattened him.

His sinuses began to misbehave and he started to see double. George was 29 years old, barely at his peak, when he no longer could focus his eyes on the ball. A poison had affected the optic nerve and he had to sit out the entire 1923 season.

His eyes began to clear that winter, but Sisler never again was to see the greatness he had been reaching for in 1922. He was sufficiently recovered to play in 1924, but he hit only .305.

"I never was a real good hitter again," he says sadly. "I know I had one .345 year and one .340 year after that. But it isn't what I'd call real good hitting."

There were three seasons below .300 in the eight-year span that followed the eye trouble, and they reduced Sisler's lifetime average to .341. However, he was on his way to challenge Ty Cobb as the finest of all hitters when disaster felled him.

Who knows what the might-have-been had to offer him? In one blazing season of 1922, though, George Sisler lifted the curtain into the future and gave folks a peek.

Ohio State Athletes Register Good Grades

THE POPULAR BELIEF that football players are poor scholars has been exploded by Ohio State Delts.

When results for the spring quarter of 1954-55 were announced last summer, Beta Phi Chapter stood among the top ten scholastically of the 50 social fraternities on the Ohio State campus. Contributing mightily to this good showing were the chapter's three varsity football players—John Borton, Fred Kriss, and Frank Ellwood.

These three turned in a scholastic average of better than 3.5, which is closer to A than it is to B. In addition to being better-than-average gridiron performers (all played in the Rose Bowl and all earned Varsity O's), they are active in fraternity affairs and extracurricular activities as well.

In addition to this trio, the chapter has four other Varsity O winners, who teamed up to register a spring quarter average of 3.00.

Gen. DeCoursey Is Medical School Commandant

BRIGADIER GENERAL Elbert DeCoursey, Kentucky, '24, last month became commandant of the Medical Field Service School at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. He had been serving as director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D. C.

This was General DeCoursey's fifth assignment at Brooke. He began his Army career there as an intern in 1929.

An eminent pathologist, General DeCoursey was a member of the Joint Committee for the Investigation of the Atomic Bombing of Japan in 1945 and director of the Army Group in Nagasaki.

He also served during 1946 on Operation Crossroads, better known as the atom bomb test at Bikini, in the Naval Medical Research and Radiological Safety sections.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins University Medical School in 1928, General DeCoursey has been a member of the National Board of Medical Examiners since 1948 and advisory editor of the American Journal of Clinical Pathology since 1951. In 1949-53 he was a member of the Joint Panel on Atomic Warfare, and he served on the Committee of Medical Sciences, U. S. Research and Development Board, from 1950 to 1953.

He has been a member of the Academy of Medicine, Washington; the Pathology Study Section of the U. S. Public Health Service; the Board of Directors and Executive Committee of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, and the National Joint Subcommittee on Cancer Chemotherapy.

He is a consultant to the Division of Biology and Medicine of the Atomic Energy Commission, an alternate defense member of the National Advisory Cancer Council, and a diplomate of the American Board of Pathology.

General DeCoursey last spring was conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Science by the University of Kentucky. The degree was given "in recognition of his eminence as a pathologist and research scientist and his outstanding service as an administrator."

He is an honorary member of the San Antonio Society of Pathology and a fellow of the American College of Physicians, the American Association of Pathology and Bacteriology, the College of American Pathologists, the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, the American Medical Association, the American Society of Tropical Medicine, and the Washington Society of Pathology.

Stanford Delts Make Hall of Fame

TWO DELTS have recently been elected to Stanford University's Hall of Fame.

They are Zeb A. Terry, '14, baseball captain for two years and later a major league player with the Chicago White Sox, and Robert W. King, '28, outstanding high jumper and former president of Beta Rho Chapter.

King was the gold medal winner in his event at the 1928 Olympiad in Amsterdam. He was also the National A. A. U. high jump champion in that year and set a new collegiate record of 6'5 $\frac{1}{4}$ ".

Arthur C. Allyn

little to begin with is more likely to appreciate his opportunities, to work harder, and thereby to achieve his goals.

Then, too, Mr. Allyn recalls, there were always a number of Delt alumni who devoted time to the chapter, who counseled the undergraduate Delts and helped them with their problems. Men like Algie Stockton, Bill Dickinson, Frank McKey, and Fred Hack.

And finally there was Dr. Frank Wieland.

"The greatest man I ever knew," says Mr. Allyn of the former Delt President.

"He made Gamma Alpha Chapter what it was. And, for all I know, he also made the Fraternity great."

Although a successful and busy physician, Dr. Wieland always had time for his Fraternity, Mr. Allyn recollected. He was never too busy to offer a word of advice, or encouragement, or inspiration for the men in the chapter.

Young Allyn often went to him, as did the other Delts, for such emergencies as a miserable head cold.

"He'd give me a couple of pink pills, a slap on the back, a word of encouragement—and my cold would be cured. There never was anybody like him."

The final question Mr. Allyn probably saw coming. What advice would he give to the young Delt of today who hopes to achieve some measure of the success which has been Mr. Allyn's?

First, says Mr. Allyn, select a line of work that you are sure you will like—well enough to dedicate your best efforts to it. Then, when you join an organization, really dig in. Go beyond the routine assignments. Study the history of your company. Find out what has made it tick. Learn everything you can about the business.

Another important step is to establish credit. Even if you have no need for credit now, lay the foundation for it. Some day it will be vital to your future.

And, finally, advises Mr. Allyn, try to own your own business—or at least begin to acquire an equity in it. You will work more effectively if you do—and you will reap the rewards.

beneficiary of Delta Tau Delta's pioneering efforts in the field of scholarship. Following his term as Supervisor of Scholarship, Mr. Duerr was appointed in 1925 first chairman of the N.I.C.'s Scholarship Committee, a post which he held until 1946.

The twelfth President is a man who seemingly was marked to perform ably anything he undertook. Born April 2, 1883, in Montgomery County, Maryland, he is the son of a Methodist minister. At George Washington University, he was a charter member of Gamma Eta Chapter and president of the chapter. A versatile athlete, he captained both varsity baseball and football.

After his graduation from law school, Mr. Bielaski accepted employment in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and shortly moved over to the Department of Justice. Starting as a clerk, he was chief of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation by 1917 although not much over thirty. When the Armistice was signed, he resigned to go into private practice, but returned to Government service as special assistant to the Attorney General during 1925-26. In June, 1922, Delta Tau Delta came within a hair of losing its chief executive, for during a trip to Mexico he was kidnapped and held for ransom by Indian bandits.

The resourceful Bielaski, however, escaped unaided during the third night of his capture.

HEAD OF ARSON SQUAD

In the late twenties the National Board of Fire Underwriters decided to do something drastic about arson, which had developed into a multi-million-dollar racket. Gangs, protected by politicians, operated in every large city. The losses were overwhelming. Some underwriters went so far as to suggest that they quit writing insurance in certain districts of larger cities. The board elected unanimously, however, to take the fight against arson into its own hands, agitate for stronger laws, and hire men capable of tracking down firebugs and bringing them to justice.

As head of the Arson Squad, Bruce Bielaski was singled out to tackle this Goliath. He continues in this post to the present moment and has been assistant general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters since 1943.

The work of Mr. Bielaski and his operatives during the last quarter of a century is rated among the cleverest in the annals of criminal detection. Widely reported in leading periodicals, it challenges fiction for absorbing reading.

More important, Mr. Bielaski has saved the underwriters at least a billion dollars and the public countless millions in reduced premiums. There is no way of reckoning the lives he has saved.

Such a man is the twelfth President, whose devotion to his Fraternity has continued unabated through a half century. He has given Delta Tau Delta two sons—A. Bruce, Jr., Amherst, '31, and Robert C., Amherst, '36. He has served since 1943 as a member of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter. He received his own D.S.C. Citation in 1939. He regularly attends the biennial Karneas, to give the Fraternity the benefit of his valued experience.

Through such unselfish service, A. Bruce Bielaski has fashioned his own monuments in Delta Tau Delta—living and enduring accomplishments which will enhance the worth of the Fraternity for future Delts from generation to generation.

Research Director's Work Hailed by Industry

Up at East Lansing, Michigan, the Department of Agriculture laboratory under Delt Berley Winton's direction reports significant progress in the war on cancerous lymphomatosis, poultry's most deadly enemy.

MOST PEOPLE CAN'T even pronounce it. It's called visceral lymphomatosis, the number one killer of poultry. It causes losses to the industry running to $75 million annually.

The disease is known as poultry's cancer.

Small wonder, then, that an announcement from East Lansing last spring was hailed with enthusiasm by members of the poultry industry. Department of Agriculture scientists at the Regional Poultry Research Laboratory, it was revealed, have succeeded for the first time in immunizing chickens against the costly ravage. Resistance to lymphomatosis was passed from vaccinated hens to their chicks through the eggs.

This news brought fresh praise for Delt Berley Winton, Kentucky, '22, director of the Research Laboratory in East Lansing, Michigan, under whose direction the fight to curb the dread disease has been waged.

"It shows . . ." reported The Poultryman, "how Winton's direction, guidance and interest in research have helped spark new hope for greater progress by poultrymen everywhere."

"This success hasn't come easily," editorialized Agricultural Research. "It crowns a 16-year effort by Director Berley Winton and associates—16 seemingly fruitless years of patient search for clues, pursuit down blind alleys, driving toward a single end.

"Poultrymen will speculate on the hoped-for benefits, but there's a deeper significance for everybody in that report. . . ."

Researchers hope that this discovery may eventually bring the disease under control. Their findings, of course, must be verified under a variety of conditions, the vaccination technique greatly simplified, and vaccine production put on a practical basis.

But there is no denying that the first battlement has been scaled. After years of patient, tedious work, the trail has finally led down an avenue which promises positive results. Moreover, the East Lansing Laboratory was able to report another significant development: a diagnostic technique that may prove important in identifying the visceral form of lymphomatosis.

That Berley Winton should have had a big hand in the most important development in the field of poultry research is consistent with his past performance.

"There are very few phases of the poultry industry's growth upon which the genial leader has not had some measure of influence," said The Poultryman.

Not only has Mr. Winton served as senior poultry co-ordinator for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, taking charge of the administration of the National Poultry Improvement Plan, but he has also been president of the Poultry Science Association; a fellow of that same distinguished body; a professor of poultry husbandry at Michigan State College; and an extension poultryman in several states.

Berley Winton moved into his present post in 1940. The regional laboratory had been set up in 1937 at the request of 25 North Central states, to do work on the control of poultry diseases.

The work at the lab is complicated by the nature of the disease, lymphomatosis. The development of a cure involves much slow, painstaking study. Results to date indicate progress is definitely being made, and those who know Berley Winton have confidence that he and his staff will uncover the control for the dread disease.

Mr. Winton, who has been a loyal and respected worker within the Fraternity, has been in on the birth of one chapter and the rebirth of another. A member of the local fraternity whose members formed Delta Epsilon Chapter at the University of Kentucky in 1924, he was a charter member of that chapter. When Iota Chapter was re-established at Michigan State College in 1947, he played an important part in that program.

A man particularly adept at working with college youth, Mr. Winton has been chapter adviser of Iota Chapter for a number of years. The respect with which he is held by Delts is attested by the fact that he was first recipient one year ago of the Ron Carr Memorial Award, which is presented each year to the Delt who has contributed the most for the good of the chapter.

Dr. HOMER K. EBRIGHT and Mrs. EBRIGHT, whose 50 years together have endeared them to hundreds of Baker University students.

Baker University Community Honors Delt Couple on 50th Anniversary

WHEN DR. HOMER K. EBRIGHT, Baker, '00, and Mrs. Ebright celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on June 6, scores of residents of Baldwin City, Kansas, and students and alumni of Baker University gathered to pay tribute to this couple whose years together in this college community have enriched the lives of those with whom they have come in contact.

Delts serenaded Dr. and Mrs. Ebright, after recruiting other "voices" of those who also wished to pay their respects.

In the words of Cherry Leitnaker's (Baker, '19) Baldwin Ledger, "Dr. and Mrs. Ebright have lived with the exception of a few months their entire married lives in Baldwin, weaving into the life of Baker, the church, and the community the bright strands of their talents, their energies and enthusiasms. The many facets of two gifted personalities have thus enriched the Christian living of so many lives that their treasure is banked in an endless interlocking storehouse of influence."

"And they, probably as much as any two people, are able to enjoy the richness of their years, for each one is treasured in a scrapbook—not only the high lights and events of their personal lives, but those of their friends."

Dr. Ebright came to Baker shortly after his marriage in 1905 to fill the chair of Greek. In 1917 he became head of the Bible department and for 14 years was dean of the college.

During the busy years at the college, Dr. Ebright has found time to serve his church in many ways. He brought the Epworth League Institute to Baldwin and was dean for nine years. He also taught for many years in the Sunday School Institute, conducted by the Board of Sunday School of the Methodist Church. He was president of the Classical Association of Kansas and Missouri and of the Midwest Section of Teachers of Bible and Religion.

A charter member of the Baldwin Rotary Club, which he served as president, he also served as district governor. He retired from active teaching at Baker in 1950 and published the Baker History in 1951.

Mrs. Ebright is a charter member of the local chapter of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. She served for many years as chapter adviser.

Lawrence College Commends Greeks

LAST FALL the cover of the Lawrence Alumnus, the excellent publication which Lawrence College sends to its alumni, pictured a rushing scene on the Appleton campus. Editor Harold J. Bachmann accompanied the photograph with an editorial which, we feel, summarizes exceedingly well the co-operative attitude which the administration of Lawrence has adopted toward its Greek organizations. With the permission of Mr. Bachman, we submit this interpretation for your approval.—Editor.

DOES THE COVER look familiar to you? Soon after this first convocation, began fraternity and sorority rushing. Does it bring you back to the time when you too were Rushing—or being Rushed? It is a great American institution, this College Fraternity system, and it is, to many, a vital part of a Liberal Arts college education. It goes hand in hand with academic freedom and the freedom of Americans to CHOOSE. For those to whom the college fraternity or sorority has meant a great deal, we can say, as did Desi Arnez on the Ed Sullivan TOAST OF THE TOWN program recently—"Thank you, America." It is a system All American: as American as Boston baked beans and brown bread—as apple pie and cheese—as fried potatoes for breakfast, and Lawrence has always looked kindly on the value of fraternity influence on her sons and daughters.

Lawrence has been known as a "good fraternity school" and has enjoyed the privilege of fraternity associations known to few campuses in the United States. To the Independent, who has chosen not to become associated with a fraternal group, or to the fellow or girl who for reasons, financial or otherwise, has not become associated with a group, there has been no feeling of discrimination. Eighty-one per cent of Lawrence students last year wore the badge and voluntarily assumed the responsibility, as well as the privilege, of fraternity membership.

Lawrence has been lucky in the acquisition of good fraternities and sororities, which have had a healthful growth. We have been fortunate that the spectre of racial discrimination and other similar controversies has not had to be a factor to divide members of the individual groups.

We are proud of our fraternities. We think that they are good for Lawrence. We think that they help to build Lawrence men and women, regardless of creed, into a solid group, students and alumni, of good Christian people, and fine Americans. Could Lawrence offer or give more?

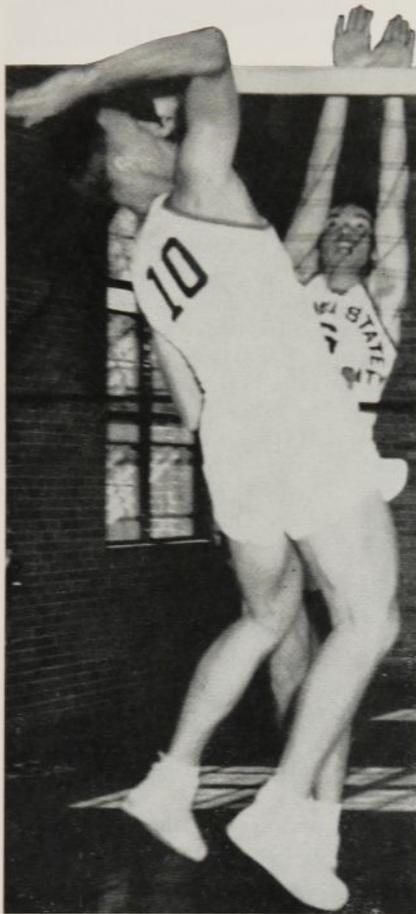

Eight Million

The nation's eight million college graduates now constitute 10 per cent of the adult population. Their average income is twice as much as that of those who did not attend schools of higher learning.

Currently 25 per cent of all people of college age go to college.

Delts Man Florida State Championship Volleyball Team

By LOYD H. CARRUTH, Florida State, '58

Below: Delt BERNIE McCANN goes for the kill, to score another point for F.S.U.

DURING THE PAST three years, Delts have been the mainstay of the Florida State University varsity volleyball team.

In that period the squad has compiled a 33-14 match record, which included the Florida A.A.U. crown, and was capped last May with the National Intercollegiate Championship, earned by sweeping through the national tournament in Norman, Oklahoma.

Receiving All-American honors at the national meet were Delts Bernie McCann and Phil Slaton. Elected to the second string All-American team was Ray Johnson, another Delt and an outstanding set-up man.

Slaton was honored with the laurel, in addition, of being the "most outstanding player" of the championship tournament. Volleyball at Florida State University is a varsity sport and its participants receive the same awards as those in the major sports. The net squad has traveled more than 7,000 miles this year, playing top-notch teams from eleven different states.

During the year Phil Slaton led the team in spiking. Bernie McCann tied Phil for the total number of points earned. With this type of versatility, it is no wonder that Florida State has the best team in the nation.

Bill Odeneal, coach of the team, personally made this comment:

"Phil, Bernie, and Ray could make any of the open A.A.U. teams in the country based on their spiking and defensive ability. The boys really climb the air, hit a ball that's hard for any man to stop or block.

standing player" of the championship tournament.

"In other words, in their realm of sports, these boys are the greatest."

Iowa Prepares for 75th Anniversary

OMICRON CHAPTER at the State University of Iowa in Iowa City will celebrate its 75th anniversary on the week end of October 22 and 23. Tentative plans for the Diamond Jubilee include parties, banquets, meetings, and open houses. Delts will even have card parties for the wives and will furnish baby sitters for the children.

Any and all Delts are more than welcome to attend and join in the festivities. We have arranged for hotel accommodations. If you are interested in attending or have any questions, drop a line to Jim Seitz, 724 N. Dubuque, Iowa City, Iowa.

—ALLEN R. CHAPMAN

Around the fireplace

with good Delts

WE OFTEN wonder, when names and addresses of various Delts come across our desk, what in tarnation one Delt is doing in such a faraway place as Glasgow, Scotland, while another resides in Ceylon, and still another receives his mail at a Sydney, Australia, address.

To those of us who spin our lives away with such prosaic addresses as Macon, Georgia, or Mason City, Iowa, or Marion, Indiana, the very mention of a foreign city challenges the imagination and sets off a line of speculation touching on everything from dark adventure to diplomatic intrigue. Every such post mark seems to promise a story.

So it was that, when Clinton W. Adams, Jr., Alabama, '41, sent THE RAINBOW a communication from Enschede, The Netherlands, our curiosity got the better of us, and we wrote Mr. Adams requesting an explanation of his "foreign occupation."

Mr. Adams' reply was both forthright and interesting.

As it turned out, he is neither an international spy nor a diplomatic courier on a secret mission. Mr. Adams is a chemical engineer, employed by the B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, Ohio. He is working, by choice, with the Company's International Division. A senior product engineer, he is currently assigned as technical representative and consultant from the International B. F. Goodrich Company to the N. V. Nederlandsch-Amerikaansche Autobandenfabriek "Vredestein," an affiliated company located in Enschede, Holland.

Here is his most enlightening explanation of his overseas assignment:

"In this age of highly competitive industry, the only way for an industry to survive is by advancement through research. Small companies, both in the U.S.A. and abroad, who do not have money enough to expend on a basic research organization have found that it is economically advantageous to affiliate with a large company.

"Sharing in the benefits of the larger companies' research, development, testing facilities, and experience obtained in a large market is only one of the many advantages to the smaller companies.

"As technical representative to the affiliated company, therefore, I find that my work consists of examining the manufacturing processes, procedures, equipment, and specifications and recommending where needed changes in the manufacturing processes for more volume production, revisions in procedures for more efficiency, more modern machinery for increased production per man, manufacturing specifications that are thoroughly developed and tested and are known to produce a top-quality product. Product quality is paramount and is continuously stressed in all phases of manufacture.

"To me, the work is most interesting, for each day presents a new challenge. To those who know the character of the Dutch people, a recommendation is the same as a self invitation to prove, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that what you say is one hundred per cent correct. This is, perhaps, a reason why some people would say the Dutch have a stubborn side."

Mr. Adams adds a word of good advice to undergraduate Delts who may be considering possibilities for future employment.

"From a personal standpoint, to live in some foreign country for a short time should be a goal for every college graduate. Regardless of the country, this is almost certain to improve a person's diplomacy, patience, temper, and understanding of his fellow man.

"I, with my wife and two sons, have lived here in the Netherlands for the past two and one-third years. We have all enjoyed ourselves to the utmost and have come to know the Dutch as honest, friendly, and fun-loving people.

"We will, of course, be glad to see the U.S.A. again, but there will no doubt be a touch of sorrow when time comes to leave our Dutch friends."

The benefits derived from a Fraternity meeting, being mostly intangible, are not often manifested by concrete illustration. Western Division President Robert W. Gilley, however, has relayed to us a story which should reassure him concerning the success of the Western Division Conference held last spring in Manhattan, Kansas.

CLINTON W. ADAMS, JR.
At his office in Enschede,
The Netherlands

Returning by automobile following this meeting, the delegates of Delta Omicron Chapter at Westminster—Jerry Gustafson, Joe Aid, and Dale Hartig—came upon a burning house while they were passing through Topeka. Finding the family who resided there in distress, the trio of Deltas pitched in and had nearly all of the furniture moved out of the home before the fire department arrived.

"After such a wonderful convention," wrote Dale, who is treasurer of his chapter, "this really made us feel good to help this family save their furniture, even though their home was badly damaged."

Adventure

ous spirit which has in all ages been the dream of men in prosaic pursuits.

Mr. Case has set the Ravenhill yarns against a background of the Canadian Northwest Territories, which he depicts with an authenticity rare in fiction. The Lochiel of Bootleg Gold, for instance, "Canada's northernmost and leading gold metropolis—three hundred miles beyond the farthest railroad steel, within three degrees of the Arctic Circle . . ." is the counterpart of the real Yellowknife.

Such reality has been achieved not without painstaking effort. Mr. Case visited the area, for careful inspection and to obtain his material first hand. He grew up, moreover, in British Columbia, where during his boyhood he came to know a few such fabulous characters as Ravenhill—all of which gives him a touch which makes his stories ring true.

Author Case, in fact, has been complimented editorially by a newspaper of the far northern area for the accuracy of his research—a rare phenomenon. He is the only writer using this background who has not drawn the fire of the inhabitants of the country.

There will be more of Ravenhill. Even now Mr. Case is busy spinning another tale of high adventure with the erstwhile flier involved in further escapades.

The name Robert Ormond Case is well known in the writing fraternity. Since he became a professional writer in 1924, he has penned more than a dozen books, several of which have been translated into Czechoslovakian, Dutch, and Scandinavian languages. He has authored hundreds of short stories which have appeared in such publications as American, Collier's, Ladies Home Journal, Country Gentleman, and The Saturday Evening Post.

Several original teleplays for Chevron Theatre are numbered among his works. One of his novels was filmed by Republic Pictures, and the movie script for it was done by Mr. Case.

In 1945 he won the Peabody Award for a series of radio scripts which were based on early Northwest history. They were broadcast by CBS under the title "Song of the Columbia."

Formerly a resident of Portland, Oregon, where he was an active member of the Fraternity's Portland Alumni Chapter, Mr. Case now lives in Beverly Hills, California.

Many discerning critics feel that this Oregon Delt is just beginning to hit his stride in the turbulent world of letters, and the colorful Ravenhill will prove to be only a spring board to further, bigger successes.

The Added Call

pod damages the whole structure. The fall season, opening a new college year, is a propitious time for taking stock. It is hoped that each alumnus who reads this article will engage in introspective thinking as to his own status in our enterprise; that each active chapter will launch an aggressive program to strengthen its alumni relations; and that alumni leaders will raise their sights to new goals of achievement.

Two Deltas Help Sox In Pennant Race

AS THE RED-HOT American League baseball pennant drive goes down to the wire, the surprise of the season continues to be the Boston Red Sox. After a slow start early in the year, the Red Sox came roaring back to establish themselves as a real contender for the flag.

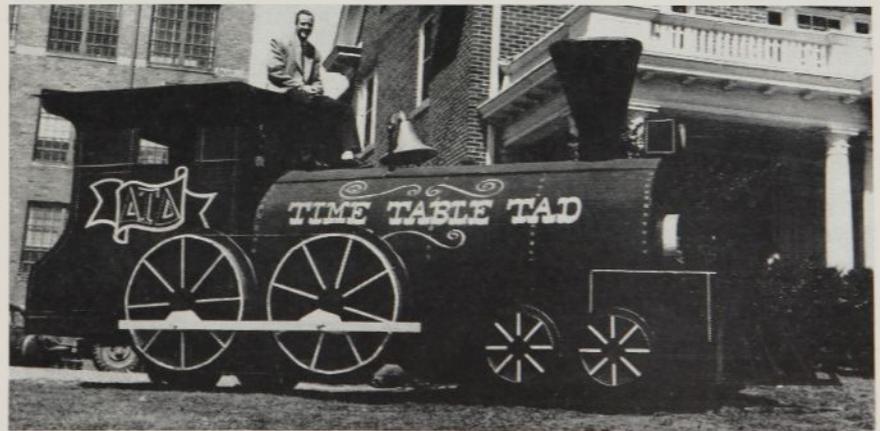

Michael "Pinky" Higgins, Texas, '30, in his first year as manager of the Boston club, has developed a winning combination which promises a photo finish in the race. One of his most reliable performers and regular third baseman is another Delt, Grady Hatton, Texas, '43.

All-American Tanker

TAD POTTER, Ohio University swim captain and Beta Chapter leader, was named in June a member of the All-American swimming squad.

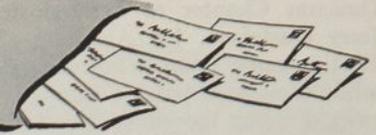

He earned this honor by placing in the top five American swimmers at last spring's NCAA meet in Oxford, Ohio. A sprint swimmer, he has six times broken his own 50- and 100-yard records, five times broken the University record, and twice shattered the Mid-American Conference mark. At the NCAA meet, his fastest 100-yard mark was 51.4 seconds.

Potter's coach has classed him the "outstanding swimmer in the Conference."

THOMAS J. CUNNINGHAM, U.C.L.A., '28, judge of the Los Angeles Superior Court, has been named general counsel of the regents of the University of California and head of its legal office. He assumed his duties July 1.

Judge Cunningham makes his headquarters on the Berkeley campus, but will handle legal problems for all eight campuses in the statewide system—Berkeley, Los Angeles, Davis, San Francisco, Mt. Hamilton, Santa Barbara, Riverside, and La Jolla.

A charter member of Delta Iota Chapter, the new counsel was student body president as an undergraduate. He earned his law degree at U.S.C. in 1931.

A former member of the California State Legislature, the jurist served on the Los Angeles faculty for two periods, first as a lecturer in education in 1931 and second as an assistant professor of military science and tactics in 1941-43.

During World War II he served in both the American and European theaters. By the end of the war he was a colonel in the infantry and was awarded the Legion of Merit.

In 1947 he was appointed by Governor Earl Warren to the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, and in 1949 was presiding judge of the Domestic Relations Department. In the latter post he received national recognition for his work in trying to rebuild broken homes. In 1951 he was presiding judge of the criminal departments and in charge of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury.

Judge Cunningham recently completed a two-year term as president of the U.C.L.A. Alumni Association. During the past year he was also a regent of the University.

Jobs More Plentiful For College Grads

COLLEGE GRADUATES are finding jobs more plentiful this year, according to a survey conducted last June by The Wall Street Journal.

Zealous recruiters for big corporations and many smaller firms besieged college campuses in the spring and tempted graduates with salaries generally 20 per cent higher than they were offering the previous year.

"The rosier outlook for this year's class," reported the Journal, "stems largely from two factors: The skimpy supply of graduates, reflecting a drop in the number of veterans, and the brisker pace of business activity."

The United States Office of Education estimated that 264,000 students picked up sheepskins in the school year 1954-55, which is down 10 per cent from the previous year and a healthy 64 per cent from the year ending 1950.

The strongest demand is still for engineers, physicists, and accountants. Liberal arts students are finding the pickings a little improved. Many are being chosen for sales jobs or for administrative training programs.

The scramble for engineers is more feverish than it has ever been. "When company recruiters find a mechanical engineer, they just feel his pulse," commented one college official. "If he's warm, they want him."

Ehrmann Philosophy

GO PLACIDLY amid the noise and the haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible, without surrender, be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even to the dull and the ignorant; they too have their story.

If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain or bitter for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.

Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment, it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.

Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore, be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be. And whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life, keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Winners of the Interfraternity Sing at Albion College were Epsilon Chapter Delts. Leader JIM MURRAY (right) accepts the trophy. Epsilon also won first honors in scholarship and intramural sports.

Alabama—Delta Eta

Ed Welch and William Gould Named to Senior Honor Society

Delta Eta closed out its most successful of recent years. Delts excelled in athletic, scholastic, and extracurricular activities, and were represented in virtually every phase of campus life.

Scholastically Delta Eta has maintained an average above the All Men's Average on our campus for the last four years running; in 1955-56 we expect to attain even greater success in an all-out drive for the Interfraternity Council Scholarship Trophy.

A Delt representative is found in every prominent extracurricular activity on the campus. In the recent Music and Speech Department presentation of the Broadway musical "Carousel," Brother Forrest Wilson played the male lead.

On the same day we received our trophy for winning the annual Jason's Jamboree, Brothers Ed Welch and William Gould were tapped for Jason's Society, senior men's honorary; Brother Gould was elected vice-president. Omicron Delta Kappa received into its ranks two Delts, Brothers Bill Berry and Charles Morgan; Brother Jim Wright was elected president of the organization.

Brother Joe Cocks was tapped for Quadrangle, junior men's honorary, and elected secretary for 1955-56. Brothers Forrest Wilson, Jim Blanton, and Dan Kane were tapped for Druids Sophomore Honorary.

From the military angle, Brother Ed Welch was awarded the trophy for Most Outstanding Advanced Air Force Cadet by Governor James E. Folsom of Alabama in a special awards ceremony at the end of the year.

Delt advancements in 1954-55 have been many, but the future holds many more for Delta Eta in 1955-56.

*Scholarship, Singing, Sports
Trophies Won by Delts*

Epsilon took pride in receiving the Interfraternity Scholarship Trophy. Phi Beta Kappa recently tapped two Delts, Robert Reynolds and James Timmons. The freshman honorary Phi Eta Sigma also tapped two Delts this year. They are David Allen and Lynn Aris.

The Forum Club recently held its elections, in which Brother Duane Bellmore and Brother Denny Doolen were elected president and vice-president respectively.

On May 23 the Interfraternity Council of Albion College held its annual I.F.C. Sing. Under the direction of Brother Jim Murray, Epsilon won top honors and received the coveted Interfraternity Sing Trophy. The Delts sang "Goin' Home" and "My Delta Tau Sweetheart," the latter written by John Hummon, an Epsilon alumnus from the class of 1953.

As the second semester drew to a close, Epsilon's dream of adding the Intramural All Sports Trophy to other newly acquired trophies came to a reality. In the field of college sports Epsilon was represented on all four spring sports. Co-captains of the baseball team this year were Brothers Floyd Conklin and Jim Reuter. Bob Kouts, Jim Murray, and Dick Banovic rounded out Epsilon's representation on the team. The track team claimed Brothers Tom Schwaderer, Dick Cochrane, Jerry and Jim Timmons, Dick Cooley, and Jim Bishop. This year's golf team was captained by Brother Jack Lewis. Willard Wallgren is also a varsity linkster. The Delts lone representative on the tennis team was Dick Cannon.

In May Epsilon received the first issue of the chapter's new magazine, "The Epsilon Delt," which has replaced the former publication "Epsilon Episodes," a periodical issued four times a year. The magazine was sent to all of Epsilon's alumni and will also be used for rushing.

Baker—Gamma Theta

Sports Trophy Stays This Time

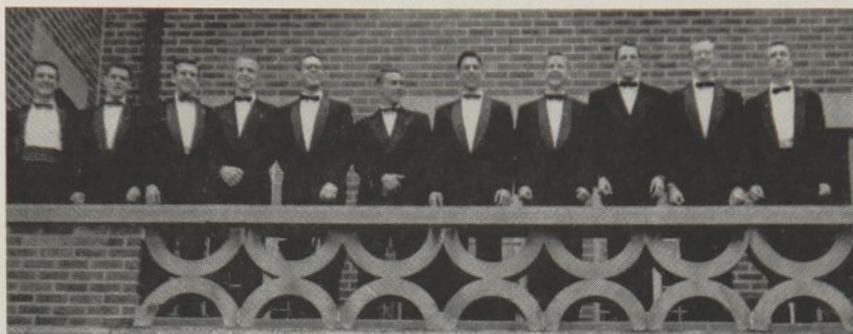

Gamma Theta at Baker University led the intramural race for the third consecutive year, making the Sweepstakes Trophy permanent Delt property. Championship trophies were won in basketball, softball, volleyball, swimming, and tennis.

Stan Werner, a junior, after winning the Kansas Conference singles championship, placed fifth in the NAIA tennis tourney at Abilene, Texas, in June.

In campus government activities Neal Malicky, past Gamma Theta president, was elected president of the Student Commission for the coming year.

Stag night June 4 was well attended, with about 100 alumni and 40 actives present. A report was given by the house corporation, which is now in the throes of raising funds to renovate the present structure and add a new three and a half story wing to make it possible to house 48 men under one roof.

Social life "spring formal style" was led by the Gamma Theta Orchid Ball which featured "Big Bob" Daugherty and his band, Decca recording artists. Miss Liz Hopkins, fiancée of Dick Moherman and a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, reigned as "Delta Queen."

Gamma Theta graduated four seniors, all with outstanding scholarship records. Larry Haskin and Frank Terry were elected to Alpha Delta Sigma, scholastic fraternity. Bill Ore and Bob Ewbank have the honor of earning 3.00, or all "A" indexes.

Ore was elected to represent Baker at the Collegiate Council of United Nations meeting at New York, N.Y., in June.

Delt Singers Score 15 of 18

Under the competent leadership of Jim Moore, Beta Zeta won its third consecutive Spring Sing title at Butler University. This is the 15th victory in the last 18 years of competition.

John Ainsworth, past president, has received a graduate assistantship at Brown University. John is a senior majoring in biological sciences.

Glenn Tirsell and Joe Ditmire, juniors, have been selected for membership in Blue Key, national senior men's honorary, for the school year 1955-56. Brother Ditmire will hold the office of vice-president.

At the annual Honor Day presentations Don Powers, sophomore, was the recipient of the Collegian Service Award, which is presented to the student who has contributed most to campus journalism.

Bill La Follette was initiated into Sphinx, junior men's honorary; and Charles Butler was chosen for entrance into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary.

Charles Butler tied for low medalist in the ICC and the Big State golf meets, as Butler University repeated both championships from last year.

Dwight Bridge, freshman, finished fourth in the 440 dash at the Little State track meet. Dwight also ran on the mile relay team that finished fourth.

Eight Beta Zeta Delts were selected as new members in Utes, sophomore men's honorary. The eight are: Charles Butler, Jack Bryan, Bob Trittin, Joe White, Frank McCormick, Dwight Bridge, Joe Reynolds, and Gil Herod.

Gil Herod was elected president of Phi Eta Sigma. Charles Butler was named vice-president and Bill La Follette, secretary-treasurer.

Cincinnati—Gamma Xi

"Mr. Delt" Award to Hensey

Here at Gamma Xi Chapter we honored our retiring seniors with a stag party in May. The gala affair was held on a Sunday afternoon in Sharon Woods.

Cincinnati Delts wound up the school year with the traditional and annual "Delt Week End." The Delts moved out of the Shelter and their dates moved in.

The party began with a hayride and square dance at Wildbrook Acres on Friday evening, ending just early enough to permit the girls to be back at the Shelter before deadline. Mrs. Manning, our treasurer's mother, served as chaperone for the Week End.

The Spring Banquet and Formal, held at the famous Twin Lanterns Dance Pavilion, climaxed the day. The high light of the evening came when Gordon C. Sine received the award for being the outstanding pledge of the year, and our house manager, Mel Hensey, received the coveted "Mr. Delt" award given each year to the outstanding active.

A Sunday afternoon swimming party and picnic drew the annual week-end party to a close.

Hats off to Social Chairman Gene Mapes and his crew for making the annual week-end party such a good time for all.

Dartmouth—Gamma Gamma

Hartnett Award to Archibald

The Gamma Gamma Delts ran out this year right down to the wire, finishing it off with our best week end of the year, Green Key.

The big spring week end at Dartmouth, Green Key, was highlighted by parties and the Kelsey Award. The high point of the week end was the awarding of the traditional Kelsey Award. After speeches by the three members of the nominating committee, the award was given to Larry Calvert. Tom Healy and Charlie Maschal were given honorable mention. A fabulous party featuring the Bowdoin Polar Bear Five ended the week end.

Cheers for Dick Karlake who pushed the Delts into fourth place in the Interfraternity Hum. We sang a Russian hymn, "Lord, To Us Be Ever Heeding" and the familiar Negro spiritual, "The Animals Are Comin'."

Congratulations are also in order for Doug Archibald, who was the winner of the Hartnett Award this year. The award was established this year in memory of Walt Hartnett, a brother who was killed in an automobile accident last year. It is given annually to "that senior who in the estimation of his brothers best embodies Walt's spirit of personal integrity, self-discipline, aesthetic awareness, responsibility to the Fraternity, and loyalty to the College."

So another year is behind us. Gamma Gamma wishes good luck to all graduating Delts. With regret we say good-bye to the seniors who are leaving, and with hope turn to the task of making the next year an even better one.

Delaware—Delta Upsilon

Wagner Named Best Tanker

The Delta Upsilon Education Foundation, Delta Upsilon's house corporation, deserves a great deal of thanks for the fine job it did in getting our cellar lowered and redone. No longer will we Delaware Delts have to worry about where to hold an initiation or social function—when the basement is completed, we certainly will have something that won't soon be forgotten. So again, a unanimous vote of thanks goes to the house corporation and particularly to Bob Johnson, our adviser.

Bob Wagner, who for the past two years has been captain of the Blue Hen swimmers, was recently awarded the Dougherty Cup Trophy, a new award of the University, which is to be given away every year to the outstanding swimmer on the Delaware team. The same evening (at the annual Blue Hen banquet), Delt Walt Jebens copped his second letter in tennis.

Len Geissel, Phil Reiss, and Ray Stapleford, three of our newer brothers, have recently been initiated into Alpha Phi Omega, and Orlando Houston has recently been named treasurer of Alpha Zeta, ag fraternity. Scabbard and Blade has initiated John Long, who is now serving as publicity chairman for the group.

Serving as president of the E-52 University Players is Bill Brown, who is also president of the chapter and holds many other positions on campus.

With fall intramural sports now just about in full swing, we expect to field better teams than ever, with our sports-minded sophomores leading the way. Frank Davidson, who along with Bobby Maegerle, ran cross-country last year on the varsity squad, has unfortunately heeded the call of Uncle Sam, and will probably be tied up for awhile.

BOB WILSON

DePauw—Beta Beta

Martens Wins Batting Crown

Last June Beta Beta graduated 15 top seniors, all of whom were credits to DePauw and especially to Delta Tau Delta. We believe, however, that we've taken a big step toward replacing these men by taking 14 summer pledges, the largest number of summer pledges in the memory of anyone in the chapter.

On the social side of the calendar, the annual Delt Spring Formal was again held out of doors on the night of May 14. Entertainment was provided by the Dixieland music of the Salty Dogs of Purdue and attracted many visitors from other houses on campus.

Alumni Day held on June 4 brought many alumni back to the Shelter. Reunions were held by classes and then actives and alums got together for a delicious steak fry. Vic Dix, alumni chairman, did an exceptional job in organizing the events of the day.

Spring sports found Delt's excelling in both intramurals and varsity competition. We came in second in volleyball and third in softball in the intramural league. In varsity baseball, Walt Martens' .333 batting average led the team and Freshman Keith Schroeder also won a letter. In track Gerry Herrmann, Don McClean, Phil Trissel, Bob Mannard, and Wayne TenCate all were of credit to Delta Tau Delta.

GEORGE KARAS

Duke—Delta Kappa

Tuerff Named Campus Editor

The Delt's of Delta Kappa happily report a successful and eventful year. As the report for the fall RAINBOW is composed, we cannot help remembering several of the leading social events of the spring. First to our memory comes the annual Rainbow Ball. This year the dance was held at the Sir Walter Raleigh Hotel, Raleigh, N.C. The party was an immense success.

We cannot complete the report of spring socials without describing the traditional "Joe College" week end. The Delt's were there "in velvet chairs enjoying all the fun" as the song goes. Les Brown was on hand to provide the campus with music for the gala week end. Preceding the lawn concert, we held a smorgasbord—something new, but so successful that we shall have more of them in the future.

The Fraternity was honored by the appointments of Paul Tuerff as editor of the school newspaper and John Lodmell as president of the pre-med society. Both boys will be seniors this coming year.

As tradition would have it, the Delt's once again finished well up in their league in intramural softball this year. Brother Bob Ruffini represented us on the golf links. Shooting well in the low seventies, Bob proved to be a real asset to the Duke golf team. And as was predicted earlier in the season, Andy (Casey at the bat) Cockrell won the conference batting title. A junior, Andy will prove to be one of Duke's best ball players next year. Having some fine sophomores, Delta Kappa hopes to be represented on the varsity swimming, baseball, lacrosse, and tennis teams this coming year.

Emory—Beta Epsilon

Pledge Class Scholarship Tops

The spring quarter proved Beta Epsilon Chapter to be one of the most social fraternities at Emory. In addition to a week-end party at which the brothers danced to the music of a local combo, the end of the year brought the annual Dooley's Frolics, high light of the University's social season. The big week end began with lawn displays and skits given by each fraternity. Beta Epsilon's "Manhattan in Transition" won honorable mention with a prediction of mankind's destruction by its atomic weapons. The week end was climaxed by the Saturday night dance, at which Duke Ellington and his orchestra played.

Soon after Dooley's, the chapter's sponsor, Miss Memye Curtis, complimented the brothers with a dance, followed by a delicious midnight supper.

The brothers were pleased to discover that, in spite of their active social life, the chapter's scholastic standing had risen to an amazing second during the previous quarter. Beta Epsilon's pledge class topped even the brothers by placing first.

The chapter continued an old tradition this quarter when it held its annual mush banquet. At the dinner, the brothers' fare was determined by their grades during the fall quarter. Three, who had an "A" average for that quarter, dined on thick steaks, while the less fortunate ones received round steak, hamburger, or mush.

Beta Epsilon also held the first of a series of dessert parties in honor of local sororities. The brothers entertained the Tau Kappa Delta ladies with fancy food and talk for an hour. Then, threatened with final examinations, they returned to their books to end a busy year.

RUSSELL McMILLAN

Florida—Delta Zeta

Delts Nab Softball Crown

Intramurals, plans for rush, and final exams held the thoughts of most of us at Delta Zeta as the year ended.

After a hard fought race, we added the intramural softball championship to our '54-'55 record. Led by ace moundsman Tommy Wheeler, the Delta Zeta nine twice defeated the defending champs, Sigma Nu, and overcame Alpha Tau Omega in the finals. In the last sport of the year, water-basketball, the Florida Delt's advanced to the finals before bowing to a fine TEP team.

The annual awards for outstanding achievement within the chapter were announced. Johnny Mac Wallace, a June graduate, received the outstanding brother award. Sam Teresi was the best pledge. Ron Gonzales, who participated in nearly every intramural activity during the year, was chosen the outstanding intramural athlete.

Extensive summer rush plans have been completed. Over 40 men from Delta Zeta journeyed to Tallahassee for a joint rush meeting with the men of Delta Phi Chapter at Florida State University. Rush Chairman John Wyman has prepared and distributed among the chapter information blanks for prospective rushees and a schedule of activities during rush week. A district rush chairman for each area of the state has been appointed to promote activities in his area. Through these efforts we hope to surpass even 1954's bumper crop of 60 pledges.

Fall Plans Will Include Reception for Housemother

In the fall our new queen and the Delt's in general will be busy people working hard on Rush Week, initiation, and a very important reception for the new housemother, Mrs. Dorothy Carmen Hildebrandt. Mrs. Hildebrandt's home is in Port Ewen, New York, up on the Hudson. Her charming personality and grace will be setting the pace of social activities for the Deltas.

Robert E. Culliver, president, will be a senior in the fall. During the past few years Bob has been a well known campus personality. He has played an active part in the Fraternity since 1949. Brother Culliver was inducted into the U. S. Army, as were many other Deltas, and his college life was briefly interrupted. However, Bob is back in school, active once again and re-elected to the office of president. His home is in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where he again is directly affiliated with Delta Tau Delta alumni.

The Rainbow Ball has become an annual spring dance here at F. S. U. The Queen's Court this year included Peggy Wright, pinmate of Brother Raulerson, and pretty Ruth Shuman. Reigning supreme over the Ball was the lovely debutante Nancy Vaughn, from St. Petersburg, Fla. She also is proudly wearing the Delt pin of Brother Sheridan.

The Outstanding Pledge Award was presented to Brother "Hank" Taffe. Among all the honors to be recognized was a new award presented to Brother Ted Aggelis as the Outstanding Delt of the Year.

Immediately after Easter vacation and while delegates Sheridan and Culliver were away at the Southern Division Conference in Lexington, Kentucky, the Deltas from Florida State played host to our neighboring Deltas from the University of Florida. The week-end activities began Friday evening with a big problem of housing. Deltas partied Saturday night after Delta Phi defeated Delta Zeta in a softball game 6-5 earlier in the afternoon. A coast party completed the affairs successfully planned and carried out by Veep Bob Raulerson.

George Washington—Gamma Eta

Student Council Seats for Two

The end of the school year was highlighted by two Gamma Eta Deltas being elected to the Student Council for the coming year. Earl Smith was elected Student Union Chairman, and Dick Jamborsky won the Junior College Representative seat.

Earl, in addition to his new job with the Council, continues as manager of the Student Union. Dick's victory was no surprise, since the personable freshman is quite a politician. His recent achievements include winning the Phi Sigma Kappa Oratorical Contest for freshman debaters and taking first place in the Persuasive Speaking Competition of the Eastern Forensic Association Contests. Dick is also Secretary of Old Men, newly formed freshman guidance group.

Two of Gamma Eta's June graduates, Jay Howard and Jim Adams, are aiming for the pulpit in graduate schools at Cambridge, Mass. Jay is the recipient of a $600 scholarship to the Harvard Divinity School and Jim will attend the Cambridge Episcopal school a few blocks away.

Chapter Vice-President Joe Allen recently added another veepship to his collection by copping the vice-presidency of the Intrafraternity Council for next year. In addition, Joe will be business manager of the yearbook. The Hatchet, school newspaper, claims Bill Hix and Rolfe Baggett as co-editor and photography editor, respectively. Also stepping into extracurricular activities was Kingsley Brown, who was married shortly after his graduation in June.

Participating in city sandlot baseball during the summer are Brothers Roger Turner and Mickey Meinke. Roger was the starting southpaw for the George Washington nine and during the summer he opposed Brother Meinke, who is currently leading the Industrial League in batting with a .500 pace.

McPherson Elected President

First, a quick look at the political situation—Guy McPherson read "How to Win Friends and Influence People"; so he was a natural for our selection for president. Wade Ragsdale copped the seat of "veep." Bryson Tanner (the lad with the fast writing fountain pen) now keeps minutes as recording secretary with said pen. Lewis "Lulu" Brinson, the "money man" of the house, was re-elected to his post as treasurer. It was discovered that yours truly is the owner of a typewriter; so I'm corresponding secretary.

This year our formal was held the first week end of April. Sue Crawford, our sweetheart for last year, was succeeded by none other than Sue Crawford.

We went "wild" during summer rush. Parties were held at many of the principal cities throughout Georgia. Harold Stinson did a "bang-up" job planning these. Our hats are off to you alumni who "gave us a hand" with these parties.

Beta Delta may have a surprise for all you alumni, so watch THE RAINBOW for future developments.

Idaho—Delta Mu

Frostenson Blue Key Prexy, Outstanding Senior Engineer

Spring brought with it a number of key positions on campus for the Idaho Deltas. Leading the way were Ted Frostenson and Roger McPike, who were elected president and vice-president, respectively, of Blue Key, junior-senior men's honorary. Roger was also elected president of the Greek Caucus, while Les Walker was elected vice-president of the same organization.

Another honor for Ted was his selection by the officers of the Associated Students of Mechanical Engineers as the U. of I.'s outstanding senior engineer.

Chapter President Bill Bauscher was elected president of the Interfraternity Council at its spring elections. Also announced in the spring was Bill's becoming co-captain of the 1955-56 Vandal basketball team.

Finishing off a second stellar year was Dick Weeks, who was elected Duke (president) of the Intercollegiate Knights. He was also chosen "Knight of Knights" for being the outstanding sophomore member in this activity honorary.

Two freshmen were initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman scholastic honorary. They are Ernie Davenport, who was elected president of the organization, and Bill Simon.

Gene Dickey added two more honors to his ever-growing list. He was chosen for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, and at the May Day festivities Gene was one of seven men to be chosen for Silver Lance, a select junior men's honorary.

Phil Davis, Delta Mu's newest pledge, was chosen to be one of the three cheerleaders for the Idaho Student Body next year.

Delt Musmaker Among Lucky 300 For New U. S. Air Force Academy

Members of Omicron Chapter get their share of the honors, but we are especially proud of Pat Musmaker. Pat has been appointed to the new Air Force Academy in Colorado and will be one of the lucky 300 to enter in July.

Another of the brothers, Bill Smart, was recently awarded the coveted Purple Mask—coveted, that is, by dramatic arts students. Bob Bateson now heads Union Board, the group that controls the affairs and fortunes of the Iowa Memorial Union.

We mentioned our plans for Mother's Day last time. Well, the event was a huge success. Some 35 mothers were "completely snowed" . . . to the extent of $140 chipped in for new dishes. Out of this gathering, incidentally, grew the Delt Mothers Club which, we hope, will strengthen the bond between parent and chapter. Our social calendar was rounded off with the annual Delt Breakfast picnic and our spring formal.

Delts' Rip Van Winkle Wins Veishea Float Competition

The middle of May found Gamma Pi Delts putting in long nights of hard work building their Veishea float. Sandwiches and coffee were served throughout the night and everyone took turns catching a few winks of sleep. The effort paid off, however, as the Delta Tau Delta's Rip Van Winkle walked away with first place in the fraternity division. In addition, the chapter's canoe team, composed of Bob Samuelson, Robin Thompson, and Doug Stock, won first place for their costumes at the Veishea canoe races. The three men were dressed as orioles with real feathers over molasses on their backs and arms and orange paint for the trimmings.

James Cochran, a sophomore, was recently chosen to serve on the 1955 Homecoming Central Committee as public relations chairman. Jim also served in this capacity on '55 Veishea. Several other Delts will serve as chairmen for Homecoming. Among these are: Doug Stock, assistant chairman of Homecoming Pep Rally; Clark Butts, decoration chairman of Homecoming Dance; and Jack Rolfs, promotions chairman and public relations and alumni relations co-ordinator.

Robin Thompson was picked to head the first jalopy race, "The Scrapheap Scramble," featured at this year's Homecoming Pep Rally. Other Homecoming chairmanships go to Don Williams, Walt Nadler, and Roger Barney.

Bill Weidenbacher, a senior and past chapter president, was recently appointed as chairman of the Policy and Governing Committee of IFC. Among Bill's other recent accomplishments are president of Knights of St. Patrick and IFC representative to Cardinal Guild.

In the journalism department, Doug Stock will be engravings editor for the '56 Bomb and John Bucher will be sales manager.

JERRY MILLSAUGH

Kansas—Gamma Tau

Cinder Captain and Senior Class Prexy

Gamma Tau Chapter finished the year in what we consider fine shape. Our scholarship jumped from its low ranking in 1953-1954 to sixth on the campus. The pledge class ranked fourth, so with good rushing and pledging this fall, we should be close to the top next year.

A number of men received honors during the second semester. Al Frame, a Summerfield Scholar, was chosen captain of the Kansas University track team, and certainly lived up to this honor by becoming the Big Seven mile and two-mile champion. He also was the big winner in the N.C.A.A. Al was elected president of the Senior Class and to Schem, a men's honor fraternity.

Jim Miller, a junior who pledged Gamma Tau, has helped the house considerably since taking the pin. Jim was also elected to Schem and was president of the men's pep club. He gave up this position to become a cheerleader next year.

Al Oerter, although only a freshman, has made quite a name for himself in the athletic field. Al broke the Big Seven freshman shot-put record three times, his best throw being 51 feet 8 inches. He went on to break the national freshman collegiate record in the discus with a throw of 171 feet 6 inches. The best by any collegiate athlete last season was 172 feet. Not bad for a freshman, eh?

We are expecting big things from another freshman, Jerry McNeal in track. Jerry broke all but one of Wes Santee's freshman records this year and took second only to Al Frame in the A.A.U. two-mile run.

Jim Bickley helped the house average tremendously in scholarship and was elected to Owl Society this past year. He will continue to keep his position as cheerleader this fall.

Gamma Tau is looking forward to a most prosperous year in 1955-1956, with the president of the Senior Class, three cheerleaders, men in every worth-while organization, and track men continuing to set new marks.

ROGER A. JONES

Kentucky—Delta Epsilon

Successful Outing at State Park

The high point of the spring semester for Delta Epsilon was the long awaited Spring Formal, which was held at Kentucky's Cumberland Falls State Park. Members and their dates were transported to and from the week-end dance in chartered buses that left Lexington on Saturday noon and returned on Sunday evening. Music was ably provided by Charlie Blair's band the first night, and the beach and falls were the attractions the next day. Delts and their guests roomed in cabins while their dates stayed in the main lodge. Arrangements for this different type of formal were made by Brothers Jim Crawford and Lon Roy Kavanaugh with ready assistance from almost everyone. Many pictures were taken at the dance and the Louisville Courier-Journal picked up the story and played up a full page of pictures in its Sunday feature section.

Kentucky Delts finished second in both divisions of the annual spring Lambda Chi Derby. Our decorations won runner-up honors and the runners who pushed the cart finished in second position. Brothers Tony Fowkes and Hilton Milton were mainstays of the running team with Brother Jim Magruder handling the maintenance end of the push cart.

Along with new initiates Roy Woodal, Nick Colley, and Hap Barnett, Delta Epsilon is looking forward to fall and the new formal rush program instituted by the IFC, with all intentions of remaining the top lodge on the UK campus with the most members.

Maroon Key, Junior Honorary, Claims Tom Good and Dick Pool

Nu Chapter looks back at a very successful season, with the brothers well distributed in campus activities. In May Brothers Thomas Good and Richard Pool were elected to Maroon Key, the junior honorary society, while Brother John Fulmer was chosen as a member of the sophomore honorary society, Calumet, and engraving editor of the college yearbook, Melange.

At the ROTC Awards ceremony in May, Brothers Robert Stoothoff, Charles Churchman, and Thomas Bolon were cited as Distinguished Military Students, and Brother William Rude received recognition as the Outstanding Sophomore Military Student.

In campus politics, Nu Delts secured two positions in the spring elections. Thomas Good copped student council representative for the Junior Class, and Donald Kress was again chosen a class officer, this time treasurer of the Sophomore Class.

This spring the Delt cindermen pooled their talents to cop the intramural track crown. Varsitywise, Nu Chapter has Brother Thomas Good as third baseman in baseball and Brothers William Rude, John Baggar, and Donald Havey taking honors on the track team. The main social event for the spring season was the Interfraternity Week End staged in April, with a formal dance featuring Lionel Hampton.

Recently Forrest Schaffer, past president of Nu Chapter, was chosen a recipient of the public administration scholarship offered by Syracuse University.

"Digger" Campaign Gets Delt Seefeld Elected

The main event this spring on the Lawrence campus and in the Delt Shelter was the Prom King election. Two other fraternities gave us some competition in the campaign, but our candidate, Kenneth Seefeld of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, won the election with flying colors.

Our campaign motif was built around the fact that Kenneth, who is called "Digger" around the campus, will be a mortician upon graduating in a year. Many preparations were secretly made until the last few days before the election. A couple of days before the election, the campus was plastered with signs encouraging people to vote for Digger. Place mats with a caricature of Digger imprinted on them were distributed throughout the various dormitories and Digger name tags showed up all over the campus.

At the Spring Prom on May 14, Digger was crowned Prom King with his Queen, Miss Shirley Cox, to whom he is pinned. All of the work put into the campaign paid off and a lot of fun was had by all who participated.

Dave Sackett, who is a junior, was elected to Mace in May. Dave is following in the footsteps of his brother, Jim, who is also in Mace.

In the early part of May, two other organizations on the campus and the Delts sponsored the Salty Dogs Jazz Band from Purdue University. The affair took place in our small gymnasium and everybody was welcome to come. The Salty Dogs entertained the entire student body with the best in Dixieland jazz until almost one o'clock in the morning. We found that this undertaking was very successful.

Delts Capture Tennis Crown

On May 8 thirty parents were guests of the Shelter for our annual Mother's Day banquet. Prexy Paul Abbott read a short poem in honor of our "Mom" Baron.

Fifty couples enjoyed the music of Sammy Saliba's Southernaires at Spring Houseparties. The high light of the evening was the crowning of Miss Gloria Sellon as Delta Sweetheart. The next day we had a wonderful outing on North Haven Island, courtesy of Delt Alumnus Bill Hopkins.

Our volleyball team whipped Phi Mu Delta 2-0 for the fraternity championship, and then defeated the faculty 2-0 for the campus championship. Our two outstanding players, Joe Kirk and Bernie Majani, are graduating and will certainly be missed next year.

Brothers Chuck Packard and Bernie Majani won the Campus Tennis Tournament by defeating all comers.

At a recent Military Review, Pledge Jim Dutton was awarded the most outstanding Freshman R.O.T.C. Band Member medal.

RODNEY ROSS

Maryland—Delta Sigma

Named Junior Class President

The past semester has seen the Delts at Maryland active in many phases of campus activities. To mention a few of the offices held by our members, Gerald Hartdegan was elected president of the Junior Class, president of Phi Eta Sigma (frosh honorary), president of the Rossborough Club, and vice-president of the International Relations Club. Joe Meadow was elected sophomore representative to the Men's League, a subsidiary of the Student Government Association.

Bruce Heatherington is president of the International Relations Club and also was initiated into the Gate and Key honorary. Joining Brother Heatherington in Gate and Key was Bob Seidensticker. John Downing served as president of the Canterbury Club, and Richard Ross as secretary of the Dormitory Council. In the Government and Politics Club, Glenn Harten holds the office of vice-president, and Brother Edward Latham is treasurer.

Socially, this semester was highlighted by many parties, but the three that stand out most in our memories were a Japanese party which was broadcast over the Voice of America, an all-day picnic at Great Falls, Virginia, overlooking the Great Falls of the Potomac, and, of course, the Spring Formal, held this year at the Hamilton Hotel in Washington. Ann Essex, Sigma Kappa, was elected our Delt Queen, and on June 11, wedding bells rang for Ann and Brother Ronald Camp, '55, at the Chapel of the University of Maryland.

Starting next fall, Delt Sigma is awarding a trophy to the outstanding sorority on campus, to be presented annually during the intermission of the Pan-Hellenic Pledge Dance. The award is to be called the Delta Tau Delta Sorority of the Year Award and is to go to the most outstanding sorority on campus, judged on 1) group participation, 2) athletics, 3) individual participation, and 4) publications.

Lacrosse Captain Wins "Most Valuable" Award

Beta Nu lost its senior class to graduation last spring, and we all hope that its members will return to see us here often, as we shall always welcome them. Beta Nu is also looking forward to Rush Week under the very good leadership of Bob Biehl. Bob is the president of M.I.T.'s Athletic Association and is prominent in campus sports and activities.

Miss ANN ESSEX is crowned Delta Queen at Maryland during Delta Sigma Chapter's Spring Formal. Chapter President OSCAR MUELLER does the honors.

We had quite a few men out for sports and activities last spring and came in third for the greatest participation in athletics of all the houses. Two of the brothers, Pete Dyke and Richard W. Miller, were elected co-captains of the soccer team. Pete was also elected co-captain of the lacrosse team and received the Ben Martin Award as the most valuable man.

Jack Richards late last spring won the frosh sailing championship and should win a few races this year to help the cause. We had men out for almost every sport. Walt Farrel and Ernie Fleming are M.I.T. wrestling manager and New England Intercollegiate Wrestling Association meet manager, respectively.

Walt Farrel was selected for Tau Beta Pi and Dan Holland and Bob Solenberger were elected to Q-Club and Beaver Key respectively, both local honorary societies. Gordon Sammis, a naval architecture and marine engineering student, and John Frishett, an aeronautical engineering student, were elected to office in their respective professional societies.

Alumni Invited for Week End

Plans have now been completed for the Second Gamma Upsilon Alumni Week End to be held at the Shelter in Oxford, Ohio, on Saturday and Sunday, September 18 and 19, 1955.

The week end will begin officially at noon Saturday, with the serving of a buffet meal until two o'clock. This will be followed by golf at the beautiful Oxford Country Club, with prizes for the low three men and three low four-somes. A banquet is then scheduled for six-thirty, followed by the usual short alumni meeting in the living room. On Sunday morning, a breakfast-lunch affair will be served continuously from 9:00 to 12:45.

The idea for this week end, which was such a success last year, came from the alumni. We have decided to make it an annual fall affair. The Shelter will be open from Friday morning on, and sleeping accommodations will be provided for everyone.

DICK FREEMAN

Michigan—Delta

Greek Week "Most Successful" Under Delt Leadership

An extremely successful year was drawn to a close by Delta Chapter. This success was indicated by a strengthening of Delta Chapter's influence on campus, both internally and in campus affairs. This success in campus affairs was highlighted by Michigan's "most successful" Greek Week, full credit going to the Greek Week Chairman, Brother Jack Schaup. The activities of numerous other Delta Deltas added to this tradition.

Delta Chapter saw renewed leadership on campus by its advanced and well-rounded internal program. In sports, Athletics Chairman Bill Neuman reports Delta Chapter will finish comparatively close to first place in the race for the All Sports Trophy. This will be made true by our spring record of a finalist position in water polo, and semi-finalist in softball, horseshoes, and tennis.

Led by Song Leader Charlie Schaffer, Delta Chapter had one of its most successful years in musical activities. On campus our musical activity was highlighted by the appearance of the "sixteen" (a select singing group) on a Christmas television program, and numerous request serenades, occasioned by such events as Mother's Week End and rushing. Other campus appearances included numerous pin serenades, highlighted by a torch light parade, a new innovation at Michigan. Our singing activities culminated in a third-place finish in the Interfraternity Council Sing. Delta Chapter continues to be Michigan's singing fraternity.

Perhaps our greatest internal success was in our social program, which was brought about by the combined efforts of Brothers Jack Demorest, Herb Klinker, and Ray Waggoner. While continuing Delta Chapter's usual practice of weekly parties finishing in a spring formal, these three added several new twists.

The social season was drawn to a successful close by our spring formal (with special credits to Brother Waggoner), this year called the Delta Queen Cruise. The festivities began in the afternoon with a steak fry at a local farm. This was highlighted by numerous athletic contests. In the evening, after entering the house via the gang plank, we found the house to be decorated with several "murals" and appropriate deck furnishings. Intermission entertainment was furnished by Brothers Demorest and Phelps.

Other innovations of '54-'55 included such internal services as "Boskes Beanery," introduced by Steward Jack Ryan. This unit serves late evening snacks at 11:00 p.m. for those still up.

MICHAEL E. BARBER

Michigan State—Iota

Delts Top Contenders in All Campus Competitions

The Iota Deltas' greatest year on the Michigan State University campus has come to a close. We finished third or higher in all but two events.

Sports were in the spotlight the past term with the Iota Deltas finishing third in the running for the All-Sports Trophy.

Led by John Miller, the softball team finished second in the block after the play-offs of a three-way tie for first place.

The fraternity track meet saw the Iota Deltas finish third. Ed Houldsworth won the mile and finished a close second in the 880-yard run. Tom Anderson won the shot put.

Don Voltmer was instrumental in leading the tennis team to a third-place finish. Rog Beebe and Don Slezak rounded out the team.

After winning the qualifying heat for the Junior 500 push-cart race, the Iota Deltas finished a strong third in their final attempt. Bob Jewett, Larry Rowe, Dean McConkey, Jerry Garrett, John Coleman, and Ed Houldsworth handled the running duties.

Typical Delt ingenuity and hard work netted us a third-place win in the annual Spartacade. Rog Bennett was chairman of the Delt entry.

Long hours of practice and Paul Ellison's excellent directing led us to an honorable mention, fourth-place finish in the Fraternity Sing. The Delt songs were "Sweethearts Divine," "Delta, Delta Tau," and "Brazil."

Delts recently appointed to college organizations include: Rog Bennett, promotion manager for the 1956 yearbook; Bob Wolfgram, treasurer of the Sophomore Class; and Doug Wiest, cartoonist for next term's State News. Dick and Gary Carr were tapped for Green Helmet, a scholastic honorary.

The Deltas made a clean sweep of the elections for Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity. Deltas elected to office were: Bob McDonald, president; Noel Chrisman, vice-president; Bill Poirier, treasurer; Rog Bennett, secretary; Jerry Still, publicity director; and Doug Wiest, sergeant at arms.

The Iota Shelter was well represented the past year in varsity athletics. In football, Bob Jewett was voted the most improved and hustling end in spring training. Tom Anderson will be a top contender on next year's football squad. Ralph Braden was a top man on this year's tennis team. Larry Rowe is a good court prospect for the future. All top-notch swimmers the past season were Frank Parrish, Jim Clemens, and Larry Walker. Jon Davis is rated a top pitching prospect for State's diamond squad. Marty Hurd was a first-rate golfer this past season. Trackman John Coleman held his own with some of the best hurdlers in the Big Ten. Ed Houldsworth finished his fourth season as a member of State's cross-country team.

Our greatest achievement during the year was a jump from nineteenth to ninth in scholastic standing among M.S.U. fraternities.

Minnesota—Beta Eta

Co-Captains Diamond Squad

The year 1954-1955 was a good one for the Beta Eta Deltas and prospects are excellent for an even better one this year. Our Shelter is sporting many new improvements. Among these are a new food freezer and a completely rewired electrical system with many new outlets. In addition, our chapter room was remodeled under the able guidance of Gary and Dave Bros. Scholastically Beta Eta has ranked eighth or better out of the 32 fraternities on campus.

Spring quarter was the scene of many activities for the Minnesota Deltas, with campus carnival being the biggest. Our chapter combined with AXO Sorority and put on a show in the carnival. The day after the last show was the annual open house, when all the parents and friends are invited to dinner and a tour of the house. The chapter had the house in apple-pie order and Parents' Day was the most successful one we have had yet.

Spring quarter was a busy quarter for the Beta Eta Deltas in more ways than one. Roger Anderson, a Minnesota Delt, was co-captain of the varsity baseball team which came in a close second in the Big Ten. A strong committee of alumni combined with a good undergraduate rushing committee and planned a very extensive summer rushing program which will include many rushing parties and field men working out in the state. The undergraduate rushing chairman, Pete Vaill, outlined his program at the last meeting and good results are expected for this fall.

Missouri—Gamma Kappa

Pilgram Phi Beta Kappa

Spring arrived on the Missouri campus a little ahead of schedule this year, and Gamma Kappa was hit hard by the warm season. At last count, 26 Deltas were pinned and it looked as if more brothers would also fall by the wayside. . . . Our chapter should be in excellent voice for the Interfraternity Sing next year after all the fall serenades.

Not all succumbed to the lures of spring, however, for Brother Henry Pilgram achieved his usual 4.0 average and was selected for Phi Beta Kappa. "Hunk" was graduated in June, and his presence will be missed by the chapter . . . not only for his grades and activities, but also for his sage advice and dry humor.

An active summer rush program is under way under the direction of Kenny Block and Harold Heavener. Gamma Kappa's activities are not solely confined to the state of Missouri; the chapter has rush representatives from California, Michigan, North Carolina, New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Ohio, Iowa, and Washington, D. C.

This fall Gamma Kappa will have the largest membership in its 50-year history, and with this potential we should have a good head start on another outstanding 50 years on the Missouri campus.

Innocents Society Tackles Deltas Hove and Tomsen

Andy Hove and Chuck Tomsen, Beta Tau's president, were tackled into the Innocents Society, senior men's honorary; membership is based on extracurricular activities and scholarship.

During the year Andy served on the Student Council, Kosmet Klub, as assistant business manager of the Nebraskan, the student publication, and as a member of Cobs, the pep club organization. He was honored further for his participation in these activities by being tackled as vice-president of the Innocents Society.

Chuck was tackled on the basis of his work in Kosmet Klub, Block and Bridle, Corn Cobs, and Alpha Zeta, an agriculture honorary.

We were also proud to be awarded the Interfraternity Council Scholarship Improvement Trophy at the first annual presentation. This award is based on the improvement of the individual member.

Jack Parris was elected president of Nebraska Masquer's Society and a member of the highest honorary of dramatic art, The Purple Masque, for his many achievements and hours in the theater.

The Student Council elected Andy Hove as its new president for the 1955-56 term. The council leadership is a very important and respected position on campus.

Chuck Tomsen was chosen to serve as vice-president of Kosmet Klub, dramatic society; Chuck has been active in the organization the past three years.

Dick Trupp was elected to the executive committee of the Interfraternity Council as treasurer. Dick served as chairman of the scholarship committee the past year.

The Omaha Alumni Chapter again honored the Beta Tau initiates with a banquet at the Blackstone Hotel. The award for "Squab Best" was presented to Hohn Mayer, Lincoln, for his performance during pledge training. Parker Shipley and Dick Bond were second and third, respectively. Parker received the Webster Award for the highest pledge scholarship.

Beta Chapter's wrap-up of events for the year 1954-55 ended with the graduation of 13 brothers and the annual spring formal. Under the chairmanship of Art Williams, the dance closed the social activities of the semester, which were highlighted by the Annual Gay 90's party and a shipwreck party named "The Missionary's Downfall."

Parties weren't the only field of activity for Beta Delt. Scholastically, the chapter again ranked highest among its rushing competitors. The fall pledge class won the pledge scholarship trophy, and two of the brothers, Ron Tompkins and Bob Scurdak, were elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

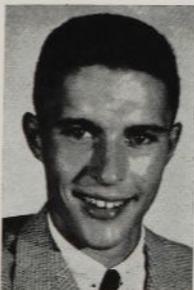

In athletics, the Delt. won the all-campus volleyball championship for the fourth consecutive year, and finished third in the annual interfraternity Greek Week comic field day.

In varsity sports, Beta Chapter was well represented. Jim Laughlin captained the track team and Bill Lagonegro played number one position on the tennis squad. Tad Potter paced the O.U. swimmers and is next year's captain. Early spring found Dave Behm and Chuck

The biggest news in sports came on June 5, when it was learned that Tad Potter had been elected to the All-American swimming squad.

Late in May, the chapter put on the second annual Minstrel Show; this year the benefits went to the Pat Kelly Scholarship Fund. Almost 300 people crowded into the side yard and enabled the Delts to contribute the largest amount of any group to the fund.

On campus, three of the brothers are on the 1956 school yearbook staff—Dick Graybill, advertising manager; Bill Griffin, sales manager; and Mitch Samargya, business manager. Ron Tompkins and Loyal Bemiller were tapped into Omicron Delta Kappa, and Ron is that organization's newly-elected president.

Two Delts Chief Officers Of Wesleyan's Student Body

The school year of 1954-55 proved to be one of the better in Chapter Mu's history. Under the leadership of President Dave Hunt, the chapter worked as a unit throughout the year and developed a close-knit fellowship which paved the way for campus achievements.

If one item is to be singled out as the chapter's proudest achievement, it might well be the election of John Humpal and Bruce Homfeldt to the student body offices of president and vice-president, respectively. Both men had to wage uphill battles and their individual efforts, teamed with the chapter's fine support, paid off in a double victory.

Brother Humpal also distinguished himself by being elected to OΔK, largely due to his contribution to campus publications through his work as yearbook editor.

In scholarship the chapter once again finished first among fraternities. Individual honors went to Dick Beeson, senior economics major, who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

During the coming year Mu will be well represented in publications. This year's photography editor, Bill Armstrong, will follow in Humpal's footsteps as editor of the Bijou, Ohio Wesleyan's yearbook. Other Delts on his staff will include Ron Vidmar as managing editor, and Alan Dimmers, who will move up from the position of sports editor to that of associate editor.

On the Transcript, Wesleyan's newspaper, Brother Lincoln Stelk will be managing editor, assisted by Darrell Geib as sports editor and Larry Ross as photographer. Tom Graham will be business manager of the Owl, the Ohio Wesleyan literary magazine.

Spring athletics saw Bob Hancher, Jack Barney, and Wally Hood turn in fine performances for the baseball team. Jim Boggs, resuming his college career after a two-year interruption by the United States Army, was outstanding in the broad jump and dashes for the track team. Frank Lescinsky and John Mallard ran well in the 440 and hurdles, respectively, as did Jim Eickhoff in the relays.

Our freshmen did well for themselves intramuralwise, winning the all-year frosh intramural trophy. In the local R.O.T.C. detachment, Freshman Mike Geehan was appointed Wing Commander of the Air Command Squadron.

Three brothers were elected presidents of their individual honoraries: Lincoln Stelk, journalism; Glenn Douglass, psychology; and A. Wallace Hood, physical education.

Singers Are 12 for 15 After Latest Vocal Triumph

Delta Alpha has enjoyed a prosperous and eventful quarter. Mother's Day found all of the Delts and their mothers enjoying themselves greatly. We entertained the mothers here at the Shelter and then took them to the All University Sing.

We won our 12th All University Sing out of the past 15 years. We then toured the campus on a serenade which is customarily given to all of the women's dorms and the sororities by the winner of the Sing. We were invited to sing at the Mother's Day Variety Show.

Jim Hall, freshman, was elected as Interfraternity Council representative for Delta Alpha. Jim is also a member of the Student Senate and is president of the campus "Young Republicans."

Paul McDaniel received the honor of "Outstanding Freshman Air Force R.O.T.C. Student," and Jack Holmes was awarded first place on the Naval R.O.T.C. pistol team.

Bill Whitten won first place in the "Power Off" landings at the National Intercollegiate Flying Association convention, held at Fort Worth, Texas, on May 24.

Fred Fajin and Charles Blackwood both won first places in their respective flights of the Intramural Golf Tournament. Delta Alpha won the Intramural "B" Team championship in softball. We also won first place in the Intramural Bowling League for the second straight year.

Win Sing Trophy Second Consecutive Year at A. & M.

Joe Marsh, "the Rock of Gibraltar" at Delta Chi, climaxed four "plus" years in the chapter by leading the Delt Glee Club to its second consecutive victory in the I.F.C. Sing. With some of the stiffest competition in the history of the sing "gunning" for the trophy which the Delts held, the old master Marsh put the boys through a stiff two-week practice session and won going away with "All Things You Are," which was arranged, incidentally, by an active in the Delta Alpha chapter. The Delts were not only the best singers but were also awarded the "best-looking glee club" trophy.

John Leroy Folks another old-timer around the Shelter, climaxed a brilliant career in college by receiving a graduate scholarship at Iowa State. Folks, while at Delta Chi, served as president and was the 1954 winner of the Bob Cox Award, given annually to the outstanding Delt at A. & M.

Delts on the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring semester were Jim Chandler,

The Delt Glee Club of Oklahoma A. & M., singing its way into first place for the second straight year.

Bill Harrison, Ron Shafer, Carlos Alexander, Eugene Howard, Terry Starr, and Richard Peek.

Don Doty was the recipient of a gold key for his outstanding work on student publications. Joe Marsh was honored as an outstanding music graduate.

For the second straight year the Delts were beaten out of the softball play-offs by one game. Behind the pitching of Don Doty and the slugging of Jim Chandler, the Delts won all their games except the big one which would have given them a play-off berth. The chapter improved tremendously, however, in the All-Point standings, jumping all the way from 20th in the final standings of last year to 10th this year.

The Delts ended the year with one of the finest pledge classes on campus. We closed a successful rushing campaign by formally pledging 13 men before school was out.

Riff Song Puts Delts in Finals

During the spring term Oregon Delts were busy in many campus activities. In intramural sports the Delts garnered points in track, golf, and tennis. We made a good showing in track, losing our third match by the narrow score of 33-35. The golf team won its first two matches, losing the semi-final match. The racket-swingers reached the semi-finals also.

The All-Campus Sing found the Delts in the finals. Dressed in blue slacks, white shirts, and red waist bands, we sang "The Riff Song" from The Desert Song under the leadership of Dar Luken.

Dan Frank, Phil Lewis, and Scott Lehner represented Gamma Rho in University Theatre productions during spring term.

Four other Delts, including President Len Overholsen, drove to Manhattan, Kansas, for the Western Division Conference. Paul Peterson, Don McPherson, and Larry Kromling also made the trip. Many useful ideas were brought back to the Oregon Shelter.

Nine Delts finished their college educations. Graduating were Fred Gustafson, Gene Henry, Phil Lewis, Ron Morgan, Paul Peterson, Randy Ralls, Ron Ricketts, Keith Robertson, and Paul Wiggins. Junior Don McPherson will enroll in the University of Oregon dental school next year.

Delts Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Delta Lambda Chapter of Delta Tau Delta proudly celebrated its 25th anniversary on May 20 and 21, 1955. The celebration saw many alumni returning, as well as the initiating team that inaugurated the chapter. Bob Scott, alumni chairman, planned the program which consisted of a buffet on Saturday evening, followed by an alumni party and a celebration banquet on Sunday in the Benton Hotel. Simultaneously Mrs. Spencer, our housemother, entertained the wives at the chapter house.

On campus the Delts again lead in leaders. Bob Scott was appointed to business manager of the Barometer, OSC school paper. Marv Smith and Jerry Thomas, both Delts in the class of '55, were elected to Senior Class president and Student Body vice-president, respectively. These two campus leaders were also tapped for Blue Key, senior men's honorary.

The Delt pledge class won the Thane Trophy for the most outstanding freshman class in the college living groups. The trophy was accepted by Pete Yassolino, pledge class president.

Sphinx "Top Fraternity" Award Presented to Delts

With the close of the 1954-1955 year at the University of Pennsylvania, Omega Chapter closes the books on one of the most successful periods in the chapter's history.

At the annual Spring Hey Day ceremonies, the Delts received the coveted Sphinx Award. This award, presented annually to the top fraternity on campus, is based on scholastic achievements and its participation in extracurricular activities for the past year. This makes a total of four times in the past five years that Omega Chapter has won this award.

and participant in University activities, became the 103rd recipient of the highest award Pennsylvania can confer on her sons—The Spoon Award. This award is given to the student who has done the most for the school in his four years as an undergraduate.

Jack M. Guest was the recipient of the Cane Award, the third highest award presented to a student.

Leach, co-captain of the basketball team, received national recognition this year for his courage and sportsmanship. An outstanding member of the Christian Association, Leach was chief counsellor of the University Camp for Boys. He was Abbot of Friars Senior Honor Society, a member of the varsity baseball team, the Undergraduate Council, and Phi Kappa Beta.

Guest served last year as chairman of the Undergraduate Council. In addition, he was president of the Senior Class, Commodore of the Varsity Boat Club, an executive of the Varsity Club, member of the Varsity Crew, Friars Senior Society, and the Kite and Key Society.

Heads of honor societies include John C. T. Alexander, chief of Sphinx Senior Honor Society, and John DeGurse, president of Phi Kappa Beta, junior honor society. Alexander and DeGurse are also president and vice-president respectively of the Fraternity. These two men will represent the house on the Undergraduate Council this year.

Other men in senior honor societies include Frank Brown in Friars and John Dugan in Sphinx. Brown is assistant city editor of the Daily Pennsylvanian and editor in chief of The Highball, newly formed campus magazine. Dugan is editor of the campus yearbook and sports editor of the Daily Pennsylvanian.

last spring Don Coates, Paul Zemke, Lee Hagerson, and Ted Scotesc. Scotesc practically stole the show as a member of the cast. Members of the coaching staff for the show included Frank Brown and Larry Kneifel.

John C. T. Alexander is vice-chairman of Houston Hall, the oldest student union in America, and he's also head cheerleader. John Dugan is the house's new representative in the Kite and Key Society. John DeGurse is vice-president of the Dormitory Council, and Bill Hugo will be treasurer of the Christian Association for the year.

Both the heavyweight and the 150-pound crew went to England this past summer to race on the Thames. Ron Young was the Shelter's man in the 150-pound boat, while Chuck Shaffer, Barclay Fitzpatrick, and John DeGurse were in the heavyweight boat. Tom Jones, Barry Hudson, and George Dewart rowed in the heavyweight jay-vee's boat this past spring, while Walt Offerman, Jere Young, and Crash Clark filled out the freshman boat.

Jay Yocum and Pete Morrissey represented the house on the baseball diamond. Yocum played first, while Morrissey pitched the team to a successful season.

Activities Mount as Chapter Boasts Seven "Hatmen"

In Penn State's 100th year, the Tau Deltas are forging ahead in activities and social events. The year's big event, "Spring Week," found our chapter in competition with 52 other fraternities for the Spring Week trophy. Through much hard work, we managed to capture a third place in our division. Our parade theme depicted the Battle of Gettysburg with our chapter as a Union infantry unit marching to the battlefield. The float had a resounding effect on the student body along the parade route, and we all felt quite proud of our effort.

The end of spring found Tau Chapter with a bumper crop of "pinnees." When the smoke cleared, nine stalwart men had succumbed to the charms of their Delt Queens. Serenades were forthcoming and this year marked the first of our formal dress serenades. Under the able leadership of Joe Malone, we gave four successful performances which left a lasting impression with the girls.

Activities are continuing to mount and at present we have seven "hatmen" in the chapter. Bob Bullock, Bill Devers, and Bob MacMillian were initiated into Skull and Bones, and Bill Joyce was elected vice-president of Blue Key. Herb Hallowell and Harry Fuehrer, teammates on the Penn State varsity track team, earned their letters and were entered in the N.C.A.A.A. indoor track competition in which Herb placed fourth in the broad jump. Both Herb and Harry were tapped for Druids, sophomore honorary hat society, and Harry was elected secretary-treasurer. A member of our next pledge class, Fred Keck, was also honored by being tapped for the newly formed sophomore hat society, Delphi, as one of the top ten in his freshman class.

Next semester 16 pledges come to Tau, and we plan an even bigger and better year.

Pittsburgh—Gamma SigmaMost Promising Junior

Although last June's graduation has deprived the chapter of the services of 16 seniors, the number of undergraduates who are rising to take their places at the University is excellent. For example, Bill Lane, the chapter's veep and a member of Druids, was recently named the recipient of the Ben J. Lubic Award for the most promising junior man. The award is a cash prize of $200. Bill was also named the Outstanding Junior ROTC Student.

Another brother, Jim Zurcher, vice-president of the Senior Class and a mainstay of Pitt's Eastern Collegiate swimming champions, has been tapped as Pitt's Most Outstanding Swimmer. Also along sporting lines, three Deltas-to-be have made a name for themselves on various freshman teams. Lou Durbin received his letter in swimming; Russ Sweeley got one for basketball; and Bill Bannow earned his letter in track.

Mike Higgins, a sophomore, has been elected vice-president of the Pitt Glee Club, the University's oldest student organization, Mike served as a soloist with the group, recognized as one of the finest in the country, on its eastern tour last year.

Art Saxon, another new brother initiated with a straight "A" average last year, has been elected president of Beta Beta Beta, national honorary biology fraternity. Art is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Epsilon Delta. Along with Art, Dean Bartlett has also been recognized for his scholastic ability, but in Dean's case in a more lucrative manner. He is the recipient of a $2,000 scholarship from the Dravo Corporation of Pittsburgh.

Lynn Watson, the chapter president and also president of the Junior Class, received the University's Outstanding Sophomore Man Award at Tap Day last spring. Lynn was also tapped to Druids, the University's top sophomore honorary, and is a member of Men's Council, Men's Debating Association, and the YMCA.

Rensselaer—UpsilonBarker Trophy Symbolizes Athletic Supremacy for Deltas

We finally did it! After two years of losing in the finals, the Delt softball team came through and won the interfraternity and school championship. Even more important, though, is that by doing this we clinched the Barker Trophy—symbolic of supremacy in fraternity athletics for the 1954-55 year. A great deal of credit is due the men on all the teams, for a total of six new trophies will adorn the mantle next fall.

Grand Marshal Week was held during April and the Shelter had a great deal to do with its success. Mike Graul was one of the founders and president of the new political party on campus. The Deltas placed four men in office as a result of the week's elections. Bruce Baum was elected treasurer of the Senior Class, and Mike Graul, Neil Brown, and Walt Goddard were elected class representatives of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore Classes respectively.

Frank Chiarelli was tapped into Phalanx, RPI's highest honorary society for his outstanding contributions to the school as co-captain of both the hockey and baseball teams and his exemplary leadership. Abbie Moore, class of '54 and a three-year All-American hockey forward, was elected to RPI's Hall of Fame. Fewer than thirty men have received this honor in the history of the school.

A year of kidding, weight lifting, and honey paid off for Bob Cook on May 21, when he took first place in the sixteen-pound shot in the New York State track meet. Bob is also president of Epsilon Delta Sigma, the management engineering honorary society. Dave Norton, who is vice-president of the house, is secretary of the society.

Santa Barbara—Delta PsiRunner-up in Spring Sing

As the summer months rolled around to Santa Barbara College on its new 408-acre seashore campus, both the school and the Delta Psi activity schedules were quickly filled. The spring formal topped the social calendar for the year, with the crowning of Delt Queen Sally Phillips, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Princesses Donna Pat Wolf, Chi Omega, and Robin Walsh, Delta Gamma, as the high light of the evening. One of the many other successful events last semester was the Spring Sing, with Delta Psi taking second place. Delt Lee Powers received the school and city awards for the best athlete of the year. Other trophies presented to Delta Psi included first place in bowling, basketball, and volleyball.

The Delt house was open during the summer months and many Santa Barbara Deltas and their friends spent week ends at the Shelter to take advantage of the beach and beautiful bay. Don Heck, industrial arts major, built his own 22-foot fiberglass speed boat, and it was much used by aspiring Delt water skiers. Jim Bailey and Thad Smith contributed their 15-foot Snipe for the enjoyment of those who preferred a more subtle type of sea-going vessel.

The Delts who remained in Santa Barbara for the summer session had a full social calendar. Rush Chairman Joe Diehl organized many functions for prospective pledges. Toco feeds were regular week-end affairs and a large party was thrown on July 4, for which some traveled over 100 miles to attend. The annual Santa Barbara Fiesta in August was a fitting climax to the summer vacationing.

Expansion to Shelter Makes Room for 20 More Delts

With a great amount of enthusiasm, Delta Gamma chapter awaits the completion of a new addition to the Shelter. Lack of sufficient housing and dining space prompted us to build a new wing onto the north side of our present building. The foundation was poured this spring while we were still in school. Work was also begun on the north wall before we left for the summer. Twenty men will be accommodated in the new wing.

The chapter held Founders Day on May 1 celebrating the 31st year of Delta Gamma on the campus of the University of South Dakota. Following the banquet a meeting of actives and alumni was held to discuss final plans for the new addition.

The following Sunday was Mother's Day, and we entertained our mothers with the traditional banquet and Interfraternity Sing. Tom German directed us in singing "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "The Drinking Song" from The Student Prince. Following the Sing, we were host to our honored guests at the Shelter where they had a chance to meet and talk to our beloved housemother, "Mom" Martelle.

Delta Gamma ranked high in various intramural activities this spring. Bing and Kit Duncan, Glen Carliss, and Jerry Moen led us to the rifle championship. Jerry has also been the big winner the past three years in the swim meet, helping us to win that sport again this year.

Speech has also been one of our major activities. Beetle Hale, Kit Duncan, and Len Pier won the intramural contest. Doug Austin and Bob Frieberg have been active in intercollegiate debate.

Serenades and Irises Mark Start of Tradition

Delta Tau Delta's newest chapter, Epsilon Beta, was chartered just a week before its campus activities were curtailed by the closing of the spring semester.

In the short period in between, as our first official activity as Delts, we placed second in TCU's first all-fraternity sing-song. Following this, and shortly before school was out, we had a double pinning ceremony for two of our members and presented irises to the girls. The chapter had previously voted to make the serenade and presentation of irises traditional in Epsilon Beta.

As summer began, all was not quiet, however, for our Fort Worth members, out of a total membership at the time of 23, started the ball rolling for summer rush.

Each out-of-town member had already been assigned a section of the southwest when Rush Captain Joe Dugger started the program in June.

Summer rush included corresponding with alums, asking them to co-operate in finding top-notch men; preparing a brochure which explained the chapter's purposes and activities to prospective rushees; and personal interviews by members and alums with high school graduates of Delt caliber.

The culmination of the program was two rush parties given in Fort Worth, one by members and the other by local and area alumni.

We are now looking forward to our first autumn on the TCU campus and to a successful September rush week.

Alumni Invited Back to "91"

Activities around the house came to an end early in March with the brothers bearing down in preparation for the final exams which began early in April.

We feel that this year has been a successful one for us. We have initiated 14 new members, pledged three more, and with the acquired material, have raised our standard on the campus quite considerably.

We would particularly like to say "hello" to all our alumni. We are sure that you would be interested to know that the downstairs lobby of the Shelter has been tiled, that the cellar has been renovated, and that plans are under way for some major changes in the bedrooms.

We are preparing this year for an even better year than last year. Your co-operation and support are needed if it is to be a successful one. The brothers, some of whom you have never seen or heard of, are very anxious to see you. Please feel that you are welcome here at the Shelter, and if you can in some way make an appearance at old "91," we would sincerely appreciate it.

Our objective for 1955-56 is to bring in more good Deltas, to make our house the best house on the campus, to make our Shelter more attractive, and to see more alumni. How about giving us a hand?

This year's spring activities opened with the annual Spring Formal, held at Falmouth. A formal Friday night and a beach party Saturday highlighted the week end. Next on the agenda was a jazz party held at our Shelter. This party, which was planned by Rich Lightcap and Norm Tracy, was extremely successful.

The new athletic committee, headed by Dave Moffat, had a good season. Our veteran softball team finished the season with a four-and-four record. This season our golf team was extremely successful. Brothers Don Singdalsen and John Gudgel were outstanding. Gudgel made the finals, while Singdalsen reached the semi-finals. The remaining matches will be played next fall.

Delta Queen SALLY PHILLIPS (KAΘ), escorted by Delt JOE DIEHL, is serenaded by Santa Barbara Deltas, led by BILL BLYTHE.

The pledge class chalked up many noteworthy accomplishments on campus. Brother Bill Callahan won the award for the greatest contribution to biology by a member of the Freshman Class. Chris Bacos set a new scoring record for the Tuft's freshman lacrosse team. Brother Bacos scored a total of 39 goals this season. Brothers George Manias and Bill Callahan were elected to Sword and Shield, the honorary sophomore society.

In the recent all-college elections Beta Mu saw two of its members elected to upper-class honor societies. Brother Nick Fee was elected to Ivy Society, the junior honor society. Our president, Frank Cogliano, was elected to Tower Cross, the senior honorary society.

A permanent contribution in the form of a "high fidelity" sound system was made to our Shelter. This modern sound system, built by Brothers Fred King and Walt Tengelsen, covers the rec room and the entire main floor.

The award given each year by the brothers of the Senior Class to the pledge who has been most outstanding in their eyes was won this year by Joe Salvo.

Brother Courtney Bourns won the award for the most valuable member of the Tufts tennis team.

New Delt Pledge Wins Southern Weight-Lifting Crown

The Deltas here at Tulane had a fine school year. We worked hard toward our ultimate goal to bring Beta Xi right up on top of the scholastic fraternities on campus.

Our pledge program was sustained through the year. By doing this, we were able to pledge some new good Delt material. One of our new pledges is the Southern weight-lifting champion, Garland R. Roling. Garland is in law school and is a member of La Societe du Civil.

Because of the fine work of the chapter and a wonderful Mothers' Club, our Shelter will see great improvements both inside and out. In addition, we owe a vote of thanks to our alumni, who are really giving their all.

Our last party before the end of the semester, the "Bayou Brawl," was sponsored by our alumni, and it was a tremendous success. The party was highlighted by awarding William Ryan, past president, our Senior Cup, given annually to the top senior for athletic and scholastic achievement. Donald R. Hollis was presented the Best Pledge Award. Don is now a hard working active who has been elected assistant treasurer.

Perform in Hollywood Bowl

Dick Bardin, who has done a fine job this term as president, was re-elected for next fall. Bobby Hunt will serve as vice-president and rush chairman, after a busy term as track captain.

We reached the finals of the Spring Sing, held in the Hollywood Bowl, with a group of folk songs sung with the Alpha Chi Omegas. The chapter had a great time at Balboa Island during spring vacation. We went water skiing every day, and had a party every night.

By far the biggest event socially was the annual Barbary Coast. It was held at the chapter house. The guests entered through a tunnel, and came out on the deck of a large ship in the back yard. The whole area was covered with sand and decorated with palm leaves, with a fire in the center. Everybody wore pirate costumes and had a lot of fun.

All-American Jack Ellena, who will play with the Los Angeles Rams next fall, has taken up professional wrestling. Bobby Hunt has turned into a great miler as well as a two-miler by running a 4:09.5 minute race in the Coliseum. In the intramural diving contest, Pledge Dick Sproul came through with a first-place performance.

Iron Man Trophy Garnered

Delta Pi came through with flying colors in the last few rounds of interfraternity competition to win the much sought after "Iron Man Trophy." The trophy is awarded to the fraternity scoring the highest number of points in a variety of athletic events. It was a close contest between the Kappa Sigs and Deltas right from the beginning, but in the last few events Delta Pi men broke the backs of their opponents by winning swimming and baseball.

Some of the outstanding performers were Fred Klum, Ron Shields, Frank Morris, Jay Christenson, Don Ward, Ted Weller, and Jim Blixt. Special mention should go to Gene Sullivan, who not only was an active competitor, but who, as athletic chairman, was responsible for organizing the whole plan of attack for the Deltas.

As an appropriate close to Delt participation in University activities this year, we are proud to announce the appointments of the following: Andy Castellano and Bill Beasley to Blue Key, national honor fraternity; Bill Beasley, vice-president of Blue Key; Bob Elsner, Bob Smith, Don Ward, and Andy Castellano, Skull and Dagger, all-University men's honor society.

Frank Kostland, new chapter president, was elected president of the Interfraternity Council.

Al Gilchrist, in swimming, and Al Call, in tennis, were recipients of two of the ten Service and Merit Certificates presented by the University.

Dick Walker was elected Sophomore Class president.

Scholastically Delta Pi is in fourth place out of the 32 fraternities on campus, according to the figures compiled by the Dean's office.

The five Delt members of the varsity swimming team made a good showing in the Pacific Coast Conference championship swimming meet held on May 21 and 22. Joe Horsley was a double winner, in the 200-yard breaststroke and 200-yard butterfly. Jim Steveson won the 220 free, and was second in 100 free.

Jim Rodgers secured a sure spot on next year's crew by showing great competitive spirit and much potential in recent meets.

Frank Kostland came out on top and was elected president in the recent house elections. Frank, a senior, has been in the house for five semesters, which was interrupted by a two-year term in the U. S. Army. During this time he has held all the major house offices and has proven himself capable of the position. Pat Lund was elected vice-president. Other reliable men were elected to round out the executive committee.

Wabash—Beta Psi

Butler Award to Scott

Beta Psi completed a successful year with an initiation to insure success in future years. Larry Shaeffer, of Crawfordsville, and George Sando, of Chicago, were guests for the initiation and the banquet that followed.

Two Deltas were honored at Senior Chapel. Ernie Scott, a senior, was presented the John M. Butler Award for character and scholarship. John Pence, a freshman, was named Outstanding Freshman Journalist in Business by Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism honorary, for his work on the Wabash, the yearbook.

The Deltas placed third in the Mother's Day Interfraternity Sing. The Delt scholarship award for Indiana went to Beta Psi at State Day dinner in Indianapolis.

Buzz Koch is the new president of Pi Delta Epsilon and was named chairman of the Board of Publications, which is the governing body of all campus publications. Stan Matheny succeeds Ernie Scott as president of Blue Key, national activities-scholarship honorary, and was elected president of the Young Republicans earlier in the semester. Delt Charles Reinhardt turned over the business management of the Wabash to Don Caplinger. Ernie Scott, former president of Scarlet Masque drama club, produced and directed the dramatic reading "John Brown's Body."

Sphinx Club, athletic honorary, initiated Deltas Bob Lewis and Jere Weliver into its membership. Stan Matheny was elected to membership in Blue Key. Bob Remley, Bruce Olson, and Bill Kraas were named to Pi Delta Epsilon. Scarlet Masque elected John Pence and Bob Hollis, freshmen, to membership for their outstanding work in Masque productions this year.

The spring rush program was successful with seven men pledged for next year. Rush parties are being held in Indianapolis, South Bend, and Chicago this summer. Plans to replace some of the furniture and redecorate some parts of the Shelter have been made by the House Corporation.

W. & J.—Gamma

Dr. Dickie Honored by Deltas

Gamma's oldest member, Dr. M. Allan Dickie, head of the department of languages, retired this month after fifty years at Jay. A dinner was held in the Shelter in honor of Dr. Dickie.

The Prom was a most successful event, under the guidance of Gamma's John Brown. A party was held in the Shelter on the evening following the prom, as is the custom here at Gamma.

Gamma placed in both of the recent campus interfraternity functions, taking second place for its performance in the stunt night theater and third place in the interfraternity sing.

The annual rope pull between the Delt and Beta pledges was held, followed by a party for both houses in the Shelter.

Gamma's Len Stroble was elected president of the Interfraternity Council, and Brother Chuck Steinmayer received the office of president of the Student Service Union. Two Deltas were elected to offices in the R.O.T.C. Pershing Rifles unit. Bill Temple was elected executive officer, and Jack Raymond, financial officer.

The athletic banquet saw a wide distribution of awards to Deltas. Len Stroble received a letter for his performance on the baseball team. Jack Raymond and Bill Temple received letters for their work on the school rifle team. Ted Burger and Earl Altwater received letters for their work on the track team. Chuck MacMillan, a senior, received a letter and a gold award for four years' service to the football team.

E. F. GUIGNON

W. & L.—Phi

Delt Succeeds Delt as Student Body Officer

This year Phi Chapter ended the year with even more of a bang than ever. And a large amount of the bang came from student body and class elections. Bob Huntly, a law student, was elected vice-president of the student body (Watty Bowes, another good Delt, was president last year). Carl Bailey was elected president of the rising Senior Class, and Ted Kerr vice-president of the rising Junior Class. Noel Spence, a rising senior, was chosen head dormitory counselor, one of the most important positions on campus. In addition, we also have men as officers in most of the campus organizations.

In varsity sports, the Deltas ended the year far ahead of the field. Our outstanding achievement here was having three of the four men who won the Southern Conference Golf Tournament (a complete upset), including Ted Kerr whose 138 broke the course par by two strokes to make him medalist by ten strokes.

In tennis, Bill Boyle played solidly all season, and then went on to become W. & L.'s top man in the Southern Conference Tournament. Paul Ironsides and Frank Hoss were both regulars on the varsity track team, Paul running the hundred and Frank broadjumping and highjumping.

In lacrosse, we had approximately half of the starting team, with Freshman Nick Nichols the high-scoring freshman on the squad. John Ellis, captain of the wrestling team, made Sigma Delta Psi, the athletic honor fraternity.

The net result of all of this was that Phi Chapter received the Intercollegiate Athletic Trophy, awarded to the fraternity providing the most and best athletes to the varsity squads.

The Deltas came through in the military department as well. Jerry Murphy, who received his commission in June, received the Sons of the American Revolution Award as outstanding fourth-year ROTC student. Don Stine and Clay Carr, both rising seniors, were chosen as Distinguished Military Students. Don was also elected to membership in Scabbard and Blade, the military honor society. Ted Kerr received the Gaines Guard Silver Medal and the award as best-drilled second-year cadet. Ted was also elected commander of the Gaines Guard (our honor drill unit, named for the president of the University).

Phi Chapter also received recognition in the publications field. Buck Buchanan was chosen as associate editor of the Calyx, and Clay Carr was named for the second time as associate editor of the Southern Collegian.

Two final notes. Scholarship is going up—them what is on the Dean's List is staying there, them what isn't is getting there in large part, and them what doesn't have their grades at all is making them. Thanks to Bill Henley, Stan Kenton is playing for Finals—nuff said.

Wesleyan—Gamma Zeta

Delts Win Softball League

Gamma Zeta's greatest achievement of the spring season was in the field of sports, where our chapter took first place in our interfraternity softball league. Although we dropped the interleague play-offs, we put a very capable team in the field, and, behind the tight pitching of Randy Baumann and Bob Moore, produced a far better record than in the past few years, having a 5-0 mark going into the play-offs.

Other regulars were Ernie Gobielle, catcher; Johnnie Wood, first base; Dick Burrage, second; Bob Pooley, short; Bruce Dubay, third; Dick Baumann and Bob Moore, left field; Dave Rich, right field; and Pete Leermakers and Platt Holden, center field. A good part of our success was due to the clutch-hitting of Gobielle and Baumann and the general tight playing of the infield.

Socially, our house's big effort of the season was our "Dance Macabre," highlighting Wesleyan's Spring House Party Week End. The dance represented the last appearance of Wesleyan's "High Street Five," a well-known college jazz band which was organized by a Delt, Charlie Hoyt, and featured two other Delts, Dave Rich and Bob Moore. The week end was also highlighted by a picnic at nearby Galette Castle and a campus-wide outdoor jazz concert.

At the annual OΔK Spring Honors Chapel, Bill Moley, ex-chapter president, was the recipient of the most coveted award granted an undergraduate of Western Reserve University, the Warion Trophy. The Warion Trophy is annually awarded to the graduating senior who has contributed most to the betterment of the University during his undergraduate career. It was a big day all around for Bill, for he was also tapped to Omicron Delta Kappa, and he managed the winning senior team (including seven Delts) in the traditional 26-mile Hudson Relay.

Junior Class President-elect Larry Seidl was awarded the OΔK sophomore award, and Dean of Students Russell A. Griffin (Hillsdale, '28) received a special award acknowledging his service to the University. The men of Zeta also received several trophies for championships in various intramural sports.

Sophomore Trackman Ed Sarbiewski blossomed into the top point winner for the Redcat cinder team. Competing in high and low hurdles, broad and high jumps, and his specialty, the pole vault, Ironman Ed in one three-day stretch scored 20½ and 22½ points in successive meets. In the all-Ohio track meet early in June, Ed kept the all-Ohio pole vault title in the Zeta Shelter. Captured last year by Chuck Weidman (Zeta, '54), the title and also the Reserve pole vault record this year were won by "Sarb" with a vault of 13' 4¾".

Also on the spring sport scene, Brothers Rohweder, Malindzak, and Fisher lettered on the first winning Reserve golf squad in several years. Senior Class President Bob Theiss and burly Sophomore Righthander Ron Miklovic came through with winning records, and ERA's under 2.5, as pitchers for the Redcat baseball team.

The Zetamen came out on top in two of the recent spring sport meets. Brothers Weiss, Fisher, Ried, and Miller were the top point-getters as the Delts won the IM track meet. Brothers Harmon, Bryant, Atkins, and Seidl teamed up to win both relays and lead the Zeta team to victory in the annual IM swimming classic.

Freshman Paul Park won an important race for the position of men's representative to University Student Senate early in May. Paul served as Freshman Class treasurer, pledge class president, and sings a mellow baritone in the Deltone Quartette.

For the first time in several years, the brothers of Zeta placed in the Interfraternity Singout. The hours of practice were rewarded with second-place honors and a party thrown by the Cleveland Alumni Chapter.

Whitman—Delta Rho

Triumph in Spring Election

A program of heightened activity, both social and scholastic, which is characteristic of the late spring on the Whitman campus, was taken in hand and coolly executed by the members of Delta Rho.

The week end following the spring vacation marked an all-important event for Delta Rho. In contrast to the chapter's usual free, informal social events, the Spring Formal Dinner Dance was in high formal tone. The dance which was held at the Walla Walla Country Club was greatly successful, entertaining, and aptly suited to its theme, "Ties and Tails."

Amid activities such as picnics, swimming parties on the Columbia River, and active and determined participation in the Intramural Baseball League, Delts at Whitman settled down to design and execute a highly organized and effective election campaign in support of the Delt candidate for second vice-president, Dave Wilkerson. Dave's high qualifications in co-ordination with the above campaign enable the Delts to claim the second vice-president of the Whitman Student Body.

Additional members of Delta Rho who have distinguished themselves in college activity are Don Mair, a promising freshman track man, and Tim Hay, an invaluable asset to the Whitman golf team. Delts are, of course, represented in the less spectacular organizations such as Student Congress, I.F.C., Whitman publications, and Student Union Committee.

In climaxing an active college year, Whitman Delts held a friendly but somber family dinner for the five graduates

DELT MIDSHIPMEN ON SUMMER CRUISE

By W. D. HARWOOD, Iowa, '54
Journalist, U.S.N.

Delts aboard the heavy cruiser U.S.S. Des Moines are BUD MURRAY, Purdue; NICHOLAS N. STEPHENS, Brown; EDMUND LARY, Brown; and KEN MATTINGLY, Auburn.

Naval ROTC midshipmen, they got together for Midshipman Training Cruise Able 1955. With some 270 other midshipmen from 23 Naval ROTC colleges and universities and the U. S. Naval Academy, they visited such ports as Malaga, Spain; Plymouth, England; and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The Des Moines was one of 20 vessels in Task Force 40, Midshipman Cruising Force 1955. During the cruise the men received on-the-job training and practical experience in gunnery, navigation, engineering, communications, and other phases of seagoing operations.

While the ship anchored at Malaga, the midshipmen were able to visit such historic cities as Madrid, Granada, Seville, and Barcelona.

Second Lt. WILLIAM D. BONHAM, Texas, '54, receives a tennis trophy from Colonel DALY, commander of the Provost Marshal General Center, Camp Gordon, Ga. Bonham received the trophy for winning the center's singles tennis championship. He and his partner also won the doubles crown.

Colonel ALLAN B. RAMSAY (left) and Lt. Colonel ARTHUR F. LINCOLN serve on the staff of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver, Colorado.

First Lt. JOHN L. DUMAS, Maine, '50, receives the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in Korea from Maj. Gen. MOORE, commanding general of the Ryukyus Command. Lt. Dumas distinguished himself during 1953-54 when he was intelligence officer with the 2nd Infantry. He is now a company commander with the 75th Regimental Combat Team.

Relating the news of the day, Pvt. JOHN C. GREENE, Duke, '53, broadcasts to Armed Forces men and women stationed in Japan over the Far East Radio Network in Japan. He is a member of the 8213th Army Unit.

Delts aboard the heavy cruiser U.S.S. Des Moines last summer were (left to right): BUD MURRAY, Purdue; NICHOLAS M. STEPHENS, Brown; EDMUND LARY, Brown; and KEN MATTINGLY, Auburn. As Naval ROTC midshipmen, they shipped out on Midshipman Training Cruise Able 1955. They touched such ports as Malaga, Spain, and Plymouth, England, and were able to visit historic points of interest.

Before being awarded a rifle trophy in La Rochelle, France, 1st Lt. FRANK G. DUCKWORTH, Alabama, '54, receives congratulations from Maj. Gen. GALLAGHER, commander of the Army's European Communications Zone. Lt. Duckworth was a member of the team that placed second in the zone's rifle championships. He is post signal officer with the 7775th Signal Service Company in St. Jean D'Angely, France.

Methodist Mission
Kwanghwa Moon
Seoul, Korea

In a week I leave Korea for home. As I go I have the satisfaction of seeing over 30 new churches constructed within the past year. I did not build them, but my Korean Christian brothers with American assistance did.

A year and a half ago Washington started the AFAK Program (Armed Forces Aid to Korea). Schools, orphanages, churches, and civic projects were to be given building materials if the local people would supply the labor. Because we were so short of older missionaries, Bishop Lew asked me to cease teaching in our mission high schools and begin a new job of helping our destroyed churches rebuild.

I became a liaison man between our Korean Christians and the military, trying to secure aid wherever there was a need. I traveled all over Korea, and everywhere I met enthusiastic congregations worshipping in homes, tents, bombed-out buildings, and temporary shanties—all with a cross on top signifying a building consecrated to God.

To these people the AFAK program was "manna in the wilderness." Homes and villages were heaps of rubble; dreams of a unified and democratic Korea were frustrated with the cease-fire; knowledge of an increasingly powerful enemy to the north became depressing. Then Army trucks began coming into villages with cement and lumber. As grandfathers, mothers, and students unloaded materials to rebuild the school, church, or village, new hope was evident in their eagerness to work. . . .

The opportunity to be with our Korean pastors and their congregations has been a joy. Riding together in jeeps, sleeping and eating in their homes, talking in my broken Korean trying to understand their problems and hopes—all this enriched my love for the Korean people and gave me a better understanding of man.

My decision is to come back to Korea, and the next two years in seminary will be to prepare for that task. . . .

To give me a better picture of mission work and Asia, my mission board in New York has granted me early leave. I will leave Korea for short visits in Japan, Philippines, Malaya, India, and Pakistan. In the short time remaining I will go through the Middle East to the Holy Land and then continue on home via Europe and England. . . .

For many of you who have made contributions to the work here, I want to say "Thanks." Your prayers, thoughts, and help have been appreciated during difficult days. . . .

Ever faithfully yours,
LEE R. COOPER,
DePauw, '51

La Jolla, California

We have lived here almost four years, having migrated from Fallsington, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in the fall of 1951.

Visitation to my Nu Chapter at Lafayette College was quite regular until we left Pennsylvania. The Shelter there was a splendid place to stay and the boys always made me welcome. . . .

The early days of the chapter were most enjoyable because we had a bunch of such splendid fellows, representing top-notch standing in all branches of College activities.

Now we are so far away from my Alma Mater that it is quite impossible to get back; however, my interests in the chapter and the College will never lag. . . .

Since we have been out here in La Jolla, I have met some splendid Delts—so refreshing to know them.

THE RAINBOW of March, 1955, has just been forwarded here to me by my son from Fallsington. I shall read it with much pleasure.

Fraternally yours,

You just never know where a good cross section of Delts will turn up.

Take Marana, Arizona, for instance. It's just a little town of less than 100 population with an Air Force training base nearby. But sure enough, the spirit of the Fraternity is there (see photo). . . .

If you need some filler material for THE RAINBOW, we're game.

REPORT FROM NEW YORK

Despite this summer's heat wave, Delt alumni activity continues apace in New York City. This is the report from Delt George W. Whitney, vice-president in charge of downtown activities of the Greater New York Alumni Chapter.

To avoid confusion, let it be said that there is but one alumni chapter in the nation's largest metropolis—but two alumni luncheons. One luncheon is for the group in uptown New York, which is a relatively formal event in that there is usually a speaker; the other luncheon is for the downtown group, which is quite informal—the luncheon, that is.

"Our regular monthly luncheon of the downtown group," writes Mr. Whitney, "was held in the middle of the heat wave on Tuesday, July 5, in the fourth-floor dining room of the Chamber of Commerce Building at 65 Liberty Street. An informal luncheon was enjoyed by those in attendance.

"Our luncheons are held in the Chamber of Commerce Building at 1:00 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month throughout the year. Notices of these luncheons are sent to all known Delts in the downtown area. We will be glad to put any of the brothers who have recently come to the area or any of those who are not now receiving notices on our mailing list.

"This may be done by calling George Whitney at DI 4-5888."

Uptown luncheons are held the second Wednesday of each month at the Williams Club, East 39th Street, at 12:30 p.m.

NEW TACOMA CHAPTER

A charter was granted by the Arch Chapter in May for the establishment of the Tacoma Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta in Tacoma, Washington.

When bidding brother Delt farewell,
If for a night though that farewell may be,
Clasp thou his palm with thine. How canst thou tell
How far from thee
Fate or caprice may lead his steps ere tomorrow's dawn?
Men have been known
To lightly turn the corner of a street,
And days have grown
To months, and months to lagging years
Ere they have looked into loving eyes again.
Partings at best are underlaid with tears—
With tears and pain.
Therefore, lest sudden death should come between,
Or time, or distance, clasp with pressure true
The hand of him that goeth forth;
Unseen, Fate goeth too.
And find thou ever time to say
Some earnest word amid the idle talk,
Lest with thee henceforth, ever night and day,
Regret should walk.

Death came on April 23, 1955, to WILLIAMSON S. SUMMERS, Iowa State, '82, & Michigan, '85, an early Vice-President of the Fraternity, who was 96 years old.

Mr. Summers received his B.S. degree at Iowa State and later transferred to the University of Michigan to earn his LL.B. degree. He was President of the Fraternity's Northern Division in 1885 and served on the Arch Chapter again from 1891 to 1893 as Vice-President and Ritualist.

United States district attorney for the State of Nebraska from 1899 to 1904, Mr. Summers was one of the key alumni who sponsored the chartering of Beta Tau Chapter at the University of CHARLES HEALY DAY, Rensselaer, '06, aviation pioneer, died May 26 at his home in Pacific Palisades, California.

Mr. Day worked with Glenn L. Martin as an aircraft engineer during the early days of Martin's developmental experiments at Santa Ana, beginning in 1911. He later manufactured aircraft of his own design under his own name and subsequently sold the assets of his company to the Martin company, at the same time accepting a position as chief engineer for this concern.

He was later vice-president and chief engineer for the Standard Aircraft Corporation, one of the largest producing aircraft concerns in America during World War I. In 1931-32 he designed and built an experimental light plane and, accompanied by his wife, flew it around the world. Prior to World War II, he was an adviser on aircraft manufacture to the governments of China and Canada.

Chapter Eternal Claims Oldest Delt

As this issue of THE RAINBOW goes to press, word has been received that Dr. WILLIAM C. BURNS, Hillsdale, '80, died on August 4 at his home in Toledo, Ohio. Dr. Burns, who celebrated his 101st birthday on February 10, had been Delta Tau Delta's oldest living member for a number of years.

Delta Tau Delta's Toledo Alumni Chapter was represented at the funeral by honorary pallbearers and sent a wreath of purple, white, and gold flowers as a final, fraternal gesture of farewell.

Dr. Burns, a minister of the Presbyterian Church, was initiated into the Fraternity by Kappa Chapter on April 21, 1876. He was No. 78 on the roll of that chapter.

Born in Ulster, Scotland, on February 10, 1854, Dr. Burns came to the United States with his parents when a mere infant. They settled near Pittsburgh. He was graduated from Hillsdale Theological Seminary in 1881 and later received both the M.Ph. degree and the D.D. degree there.

His first assignment as a clergyman was to the pulpit of the Free-Will Baptist Church at Paw Paw, Michigan, from 1881 to 1883. Later he became identified with the Presbyterian Church and his last active service was as executive secretary of the Toledo Presbytery, from which he retired in 1930.

He frequently preached while still in his 80's and attended Delt alumni meetings. When he turned the century mark in 1954, a special group of Toledo Delt alumni honored him at his home with a Delt ceremony, and Dr. Burns himself led the group in the traditional Walk-Around.

Delts visited him again on his 101st birthday. Dr. Burns always enjoyed these associations and loved to chat about the Fraternity, its early days as he knew them, and the remarkable progress which has been made in his lifetime.

Wisconsin—Beta Gamma

Badger Delts Hold Down
Key Positions on Campus

As the 1955-56 school year begins, Beta Gamma Delts are to be found in charge of many of the key campus positions.

Jim Swab will be kept busy in his dual responsibilities of chapter president and Senior Class vice-president. Former Chapter President Stan Stitgen, returning again to his position as drum major of the Wisconsin Marching Band, will serve as president of the Finance Society. Another Commerce School fraternity will be dominated by Delts, as Al Sittnick and Chuck Forsberg (chapter vice-president) take over as vice-president and treasurer respectively.

Haresfoot Club, which presents original musical comedies advertising "All our girls are men, yet every one's a lady," features several Delts and a Delt president, Ted Stowe.

Medical Fraternity Nu Sigma Nu is presided over by Wisconsin Delt Ted Fox. The NROTC contingent on campus is commanded this year by Bob Thygeson. Returning to the Wisconsin ski jumping captaincy again is Vic Sandman, and Bill Cotanch again directs the acclaimed medical school Medichoir. Les Kleway has co-chaired New Student Week guiding.

Beta Gamma closed out last year's lively social season with a bundle, a pirate, and a barn party, and a spring Southern Plantation formal with decorations so real you could almost smell the magnolias. The decorations were the product of Paul Counsel's imagination.

Chapter achievements for last year were climaxed with the winning of three new trophies. One was in token of second place in the Greek song finals, a competition in which Beta Gamma always seems to achieve success. The other two were won in campus blood drive competition, one for the fourth time, the other for the third time.

William Bruech was selected last spring as the outstanding freshman cadet in the ROTC program.

ing seniors. The note of despair which is inevitable on losing five active and revered members is, however, offset by the prospect of an even more active and progressive coming year.

The return of our much revered but briefly departed housemother, Mrs. Towle, together with the extreme enthusiasm of the sophomore class and rush committee, insures success on high in the coming year.

“YOU”

By LANE SUMMERS, Michigan, '11

(From an address delivered to new members at an initiation banquet)

THE WORD “YOU” is a common word, used every day many times by all of us. The word is so often on the tongues of everybody that almost nobody gives it the least thought.

For just a moment, consider this word “you.” Take it to pieces. This one word is singular and it is also plural. Simply as an abstract word it is always both singular and plural. But in its usage it is never both; on the contrary, in its usage, it is either singular or it is plural—dependent upon the intent and purpose with which it is employed.

Personally, I like the word because it is a perfect symbol of the individual. Both the word “you” and you, the man, have dual aspects. Each of you by nature is inherently both singular and plural.

To the extent that each of you thinks and acts for the sole benefit of self, you are singular; to the degree that each of you thinks and acts for the benefit of others, you are plural.

Like the word itself, you, the man, are very small if you are singular. Likewise, like the word itself, you, the man, may be very great if you are plural.

If you are not to be singular, if you are to be plural—

First, you must be truly awake, really aware of others. You must see others. You must see others not as you formerly saw the word “you,” but as I hope you will always remember the word “you” in the future.

Next, after you have discovered the reality of others, you must think for the welfare of others.

Finally, after thinking for others, you must not be content. Then you must act.

Ages ago each man—beastlike—was for himself alone. In seeing another man he saw only his own advantage. The conception was singular. In the present many a man is for himself and others. In seeing others, he sees mutual advantage. The conception has become singular and plural.

The progress of man is from the singular to the plural. One soldier battles to a defeat; an army battles to a victory. The voice of one man is barely heard; the voice of many is the organ roll of public opinion.

Modern life is plural. It stirs and churns in groups—many groups: labor, business, charity, amusement, education, science, politics, government, religion—groups within groups, groups everywhere.

In this existence group life starts with birth into the family, and ends with death into the universal brotherhood.

Delta Tau Delta is a group—a great brotherhood of collegiate youth. To your youth, Delta Tau Delta has extended the welcoming hand of opportunity. Grasp it firmly as it leads up the road from the singular to the plural in YOU.
