COVER: For the second of our new cover photographs in color, we have chosen Gamma Nu Chapter's Shelter. The snow sculpture was done by the brothers for a contest held on the University of Maine campus. For the Spring number, a Shelter from the Southern Division will be the cover feature, and for the Summer number, a Western Division Shelter will be highlighted.

THE PRESIDENT REPORTS

It is the unquestioned privilege of every member of this Fraternity, often exercised, to criticise the way it is run on every level: undergraduate chapter, alumni chapter, Division, and Arch Chapter. Probably such criticism by loyal members has been a large factor in the Fraternity's growth and prosperity. Passive, unquestioning acceptance of the status quo should not characterize college students, of all people, in any facet of human life.

Yet, however justified we are in expressing disapproval of this or that phase of Fraternity operation, let us remember that criticism is justified within a body like ours only when it is leavened by loyalty and motivated by a desire to improve and not to destroy. The most valuable criticism of all is that which is accompanied by an actual and expressed willingness to pitch in and help do the job that needs doing.

How many of our stagnant alumni chapters, for example, would find new life if two or three members not only griped about lack of interest, but actively helped provide a program of support to undergraduate chapters, for example, by which some genuine interest was stimulated? I confidently assert that on any campus, our undergraduate chapter could hoist itself to a No. 1 spot in a year or two, scholastically, politically, and athletically if its members implemented their criticisms of the things that were wrong by wholeheartedly performing at capacity toward the goals they say they want. If the members of any of our chapters studied just a little more seriously, rushed just a little more intelligently and diligently, and competed in campus activities just a little more aggressively, our competition wouldn't know what had hit them.

I urge, then, that all Delts prove their mettle and get critical of this Fraternity of ours—in smart and loyal ways.

WAY DOWN YONDER IN NEW ORLEANS

The Crescent City Karnea
August 22-25, 1962

By PHARES A. FRANTZ, Tulane, '50

YES, WAY DOWN YONDER IN NEW ORLEANS will be a familiar sound to the ears of the delegates, officers, alumni, and guests of the Sixty-sixth Karnea from Wednesday, August 22, through Saturday, August 25, 1962, and for good reason, too—the site is none other than the Crescent City itself.

Often called America's most interesting city, New Orleans was already a bustling port city with over a 100-year history when Delta Tau Delta was founded, and this Karnea steps back into history by locating its headquarters in the center of the Vieux Carre, the French Quarter, as it is more popularly known, which dates from 1718, when the French, under Jean Baptiste LeMoyne, Sieur de Bienville, first laid out the city.

As the Fraternity cherishes its traditions, yet progresses with the times, so has New Orleans. The headquarters hotel, the Royal Orleans, is the city's newest and most beautiful hotel which, at the same time, harmonizes with the traditional architectural design of the oldest section of the city. It was selected because of its closeness to everything and for the facilities which it offers to make the work of the Karnea pleasant and convenient and the stay of the guests more enjoyable. For those who will drive, you can enter the hotel from Royal Street and drive to the lobby, and your car can be parked on the same floor as your room. Dining rooms are close at hand with food and service to delight a gourmet. A swimming pool with sun deck is available on the garage roof.

YES, WAY DOWN YONDER IN NEW ORLEANS plans for the Sixty-sixth Karnea are in high gear. President Robert W. Gilley has appointed William J. Fraering, Tulane, '46, as General Chairman of this Karnea, and Bill and his committee are working hard to make it a most successful and memorable Delta Tau Delta convention.

The General Chairman is vice-president of the Fraering Brokerage Company and the Dubon Company. As Bill serves as president of the New Orleans Alumni Chapter and president of the Beta Xi house corporation, his wife, Barbara, and two children have become accustomed to the many hours which he devotes to Delta Tau Delta. Before the summer is over, he no doubt will have found jobs for them in helping to prepare for the Delt rush to New Orleans.

Serving on the Karnea Committee is Attorney Paul H. Morphy, Jr., Tulane, '50, chairman of the finance committee. Roland A. Bahan, Jr., Tulane, '51, a hotel executive, is certainly well equipped to serve as chairman of the hotel liaison committee. Phares A. Frantz, Tulane, '50, adviser to the Tulane chapter, is heading the publicity committee. Dr. Emile F. Naef, Tulane, '13, is doing double duty as chairman of the model initiation committee and handling preparations for the Karnea Banquet. To assure all visitors a warm welcome, John M. Holmes, Indiana, '33, has been appointed chairman of the reception committee. The entertainment committee and Distinguished Service Chapter luncheon committee are both headed up by able cochairmen, Samuel M. Rosamond, Jr., Tulane, '59, and Carl B. Hakenjos, Tulane, '50. Appointed to handle emergencies and special events are three loyal Deltas, Richard P. Cromwell, Tulane, '43, Richard F. Muller, Jr., Tulane, '45, and Sidney L. Reynaud, Jr., Tulane, '50.

In addition to the important business and legislative sessions of the Karnea, the committee promises a program which will let every Delt and guest carry away many fond memories of the Crescent City.

Official registration will commence on Wednesday, August 22. That evening there will be a reception and reunions at the Royal Orleans, and for those who would rather listen than talk, we promise to have on hand local Dixieland talent to welcome and entertain you.

Thursday morning the business sessions will start, and that noon each of the four Divisions of the Fraternity

The Royal Orleans—headquarters for the 1962 Karnea will hold luncheons at different, world famous French Quarter restaurants. On Friday noon, all Delts and guests will gather for a luncheon in the Royal Orleans to pay tribute to those devoted sons of Delta Tau Delta, the members of the Distinguished Service Chapter. On Saturday night, after four busy and fun-filled days, we will meet in the Grand Salon of the headquarters hotel for the high light of every Karnea, the traditional Karnea Banquet.

The ladies will be introduced to New Orleans' early in the program when they gather Thursday morning at Brennan's, known the world over for its large and leisurely French breakfast. Tours of the city and French Quarter are also planned for the ladies, and many hours can easily be spent browsing in nearby antique shops, art galleries, and hundreds of places of local interest. As always, ladies and guests are invited to join with the members of the Fraternity at the Wednesday reception, the Distinguished Service Chapter luncheon, and, of course, the Karnea Banquet.

Knowing that everyone will want to take advantage of this city, which abounds with entertainment, culture,

The Bethany Years

By F. DARRELL MOORE, Ohio, '16

Editor's Note: In the Fall, 1961, number of THE RAINBOW appeared an introductory article by Professor Moore on the history of the Fraternity. In this story, the Fraternity's historian draws from his research to tell of the early years at Bethany College. The story he unfolds is both highly interesting and keenly helpful in presenting to all of us the rich heritage and background of our Fraternity.

IN ITS DEVELOPMENT, our national fraternity system has tended to follow a fairly consistent pattern. A local group adopting Greek letters usually had no idea of developing into a national organization. Occasionally a dissatisfied minority withdrew from an established group and went its own way under a new name. Sometimes, as an afterthought, the first chapter authorized a member who had transferred to another campus to initiate his friends there; after this had happened a few times it was discovered that another fraternity had been born and expansion continued.

The governing or "Alpha" chapter system was usually followed by these young fraternities. As that system became unsatisfactory, they changed to a distinct governing body similar to our Arch Chapter, eventually to alumni control. Reference to Baird's Manual of College Fraternities shows that this change came to most of the larger groups at about the same time, the early 1880's.

Dual membership was not unusual 100 years ago. The fraternities had no rules against it. Only in later years as the system developed was it made a part of the initiatory oaths and prohibited by an increasing number of fraternity constitutions.

Expansion was usually done casually to nearby campuses. Sometimes it was caused by the transfer of a member to that campus; or he had friends who wanted to have the distinction of being a fraternity member. One consequence of this "hit-or-miss" growth was a high rate of mortality among the early chapters of most of the fraternities.

This general description applies as well to Delta Tau Delta. Little did our original chapter realize that it was the nucleus from which a national fraternity developed. No written records survived the Bethany chapter, and what we know of it was gleaned from its numbers from 20 to 40 years after its date of founding in the late months of 1858. Memories differed, and varying lists of names of those to be immortalized as founders were given by equally honorable and conscientious men. The list was not completed until Henry Bruck added the name of R. H. Alfred.

SOURCES OF HISTORICAL DATA

We are indebted to several men for the compilation of the data on the Bethany chapter. In volume one of The Crescent (later THE RAINBOW) James Eaton presented the first version of the Bethany story in which he drew heavily on the statements of Eugene Tarr. Although this was prepared in 1877-78, later research by A. P. Trautwein, who edited the Fifth General Catalogue in 1884, corrected many inaccuracies, as he had located others of the early members. His discovery of J. L. N. Hunt was the principal source of the revised data. Eaton's report, based on Tarr's recollection, named four Founders and listed three of them as dead. Trautwein discovered that all of the four were living, and by further correspondence and interviews located the names of his list of seven Founders, only one of whom was deceased.

WHY DELTA TAU DELTA GOT STARTED

Tradition in the early years of the Fraternity was that Delta Tau Delta was formed to advance and protect the interests of its members in the Neotropian Literary Society from the political influence of a chapter of Phi Kappa Psi. Literary societies were the leading campus organizations of the period. As Phi Kappa Psi dates the founding of its chapter at Bethany in April, 1959, it has been disputed that this legend is based on fact. Quite possibly the politics of the situation was the basis, and the other group went into Phi Kappa Psi after Delta Tau Delta was formally organized.

At least one of the accredited Founders scotched the idea that Phi Kappa Psi had anything to do with our founding. In correspondence with Henry Bruck, Richard H. Alfred suggested that the Masonic background of Alfred and Cunningham had drawn them together and had led them to suggest the formation of the student group which would be drawn together by common aims, brotherly regard, and the desire for mutual support.

Cunningham and Alfred were considerably older than the other members. The early form of the Ritual, according to statements made to Mr. Bruck, showed the influence of Masonic ideas and ceremonials. As Mr. Bruck had never seen this early Ritual and did not know of any copy still in existence (he was writing in 1904), he could only quote hearsay. Confirming this Masonic influence is a copy of the Ritual issued to the Jamestown Collegiate Institute in 1867, and which is in the Archives of the Fraternity. It differs radically from the one used by Beta Chapter, also in the Archives, and which may not be the original Ritual.

In the Jamestown version, the neophyte was required to take three separate oaths in the course of the ceremony. Any member of a Masonic body would immediately recognize the Masonic derivation.

Partly confirming the Phi Kappa Psi legend is a Karnea toast given by Dr. Robert Robinson in 1891. He was a member of the Jefferson Alpha chapter. Possibly it was based on the Jefferson Alpha hostility to Phi Kappa Psi, which, with Phi Gamma Delta, had been founded at Jefferson College; but his recollection was that there was a duty to fight that fraternity politically, socially, and every other way.

LIMITED VISION OF FOUNDERS

The Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, as established at Bethany College in 1958, apparently had no idea that it was establishing a new national fraternity. Its original purpose to control the Neotropian had been accomplished, and lacking further purpose the group lost some by graduation, or other reasons, until it more or less quietly disappeared.

In "The Story of Beta Theta Pi" by Francis W. Shepherdson (3rd Edition, 1936), for many years president of that fraternity and universally respected by all fraternities, gave as charter members of Psi Chapter at Bethany College Erasmus Frazier, '61; Thomas J. Holton, '62; James H. Bate, '61; Benjamin S. Keene, '65; C. M. B. Thurston, '60; William R. Cunningham, '62. The next initiates were J. S.

Lowe and J. L. N. Hunt. These two, with Cunningham, Holton, and Keene, said Mr. Shepherdson, were members of a local organization called Delta Tau Delta which afterwards developed into the general fraternity of that name. "Cunningham and Lowe resigned from Beta Theta Pi in order to be counted as Founders of Delta Tau Delta."

A letter from Mr. Holton to Mr. Shepherdson dated February 23, 1911, a copy of which was presented to us for our Archives, states that the Bethany group had no intention of founding an order. "When several years after leaving college I found chapters here and there were being instituted, I was surprised. We went over to West Liberty, where there was an academy, and initiated a lot of boys for the sport of it. We manipulated for most of the whole night. They were anxious to wear the pin, and we allowed them to do so. The whole idea was local. My roommate, William R. Cunningham, chose the Greek letters suitable for our purpose. A. C. Earle and myself got up the pin with the help of J. R. Challen of Philadelphia. Later on the interest flagged."

BRUCK'S NOTES GIVE DIFFERENT STORY

Henry Bruck, in his Historical Notes Part 2 (RAINBOW, January, 1905), gives a somewhat different version. "Not far from Bethany, at West Liberty, was an academy of rather higher grade than most schools of similar rank, at which the students ranked in age and in acquirements with those at Bethany and who were on terms of intimacy with them. Here late in October or early in November, 1859, the first branch of Delta Tau Delta was established. No papers exist to show the exact date of foundation, or the names of the charter members. . . . The total membership of this chapter was 14, all of whom were initiated in the year 1859-60." After the first year the chapter had only nominal existence. Mr. Bruck gave the chapter the designation of Beta, but this was apparently arbitrarily done, as there is no evidence that such designation existed until after the control by the Jefferson Alpha. J. S. Lowe's home was at West Liberty, and he apparently was the instigator.

Thus, a century later one can only speculate about what were the facts and what were the motives. The earliest of the fraternities had been established in eastern colleges, and their chapters had been confined almost entirely to New England and New York. Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta had been the earliest midwestern fraternities at Miami University in Ohio. Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Gamma Delta had been founded in the 1850's at nearby Jefferson College at Canonsburg, Pennsylvania. Desirability of fraternity membership was in the air. Friendships and politics, mutual aid, combined to spread the movement. If a non-member was ambitious he organized a rival group, which occasionally developed into a national fraternity, but more often, if it survived, affiliated with a national fraternity already formed.

THIRD CHAPTER AT MORGANTOWN, W. VA.

When John Russell Thornton left the West Liberty Academy and entered the Monongahela Academy at Morgantown, West Virginia, he proceeded to establish a third chapter there. Henry Bruck states that "we have no means of knowing whether Thornton organized the chapter independently of any authority from the Alpha, or whether due permission had been received. We know, however, that the new chapter was recognized by those who maintained the semblance of the organization at Bethany, for we find that personal letters passed between Thornton and Morgantown friends, in which complaints were being made about the slowness of Bethany in forwarding the charter of the newly organized body."

Probably the most important side effect of the Monongahela chapter was Thornton's indirect influence in the establishing of the Jefferson College chapter. During the summer of 1860 he spent his vacation on a farm near Brownsville, Pennsylvania, with Rhodes Stansbury Sutton, a student at Jefferson College. Sutton was attracted to the badge worn by Thornton, and resultant questioning led to Sutton's absorbing much of Thornton's enthusiasm. In consequence, when Sutton returned to Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, he was determined to join Thornton's fraternity. This determination, encouraged by letters from Thornton, resulted in the famous horseback ride over the mountain by Sutton and his friend Samuel S. Brown. On the next day, February 22, 1861, they were initiated into Delta Tau Delta by the remnant of the Bethany chapter. The two men rode back to Canonsburg with the right to organize a chapter of the Fraternity.

Had not Sutton and Brown made this historic ride there would not be a Delta Tau Delta Fraternity today.

JEFFERSON CHAPTER TAKES CONTROL

Henry Bruck dismissed as untrue the fiction that Sutton and Brown took back with them all the records and papers of the Fraternity, as the Bethany chapter was giving up the ghost. He maintained that there were, altogether, three other chapters in existence at the time, one of which (Monongahela) was in healthy condition at the time. He considered the point important "as it established our right to claim unbroken and uninterrupted succession from the founders."

Whether it is a fact or a tradition, Mr. Bruck accepted the statement that Bethany transferred control of the Fraternity to the Jefferson Chapter in April, 1861. Quite possibly it may also be more nearly the truth that the Jefferson Alpha assumed control on its own volition. Its first act was to establish a chapter nomenclature, which gave rise to the system of designating the governing undergraduate chapter as Chapter Alpha. Phi Gamma Delta, established at Jefferson, used this system. Phi Kappa Psi, however, used the name of the state, followed by a Greek letter. Jefferson College Alpha's chapter list in 1861 was:

Alpha, Jefferson College
Beta, Bethany College
Gamma, West Liberty Academy
Delta, Monongahela Academy

WHO WERE THE FOUNDERS?

Just who were the Founders of Delta Tau Delta at Bethany College in 1858? Early catalogs of our membership listed 14 names. James Eaton's History, published in the first volume of the Crescent in 1877-78, listed but four Founders on the authority of Eugene Tarr, who added to his own the names of R. H. Alfred, A. C. Earle, and J. C. Johnson. Tarr's name had not been among the 14 in the catalogs. Eaton also accepted as reasonable the relationship of this number, four, to the four stars on the badge. This tradition had been long accepted, and was supported independently by others years later. Tarr reported, incorrectly as it later developed, that the other three had died.

A second version, as reported by James Eaton, included a larger number of Founders, and gave more weight to the influence of other members than those on Tarr's list. According to this version, W. R. Cunningham was the first to mention the need of organization. He called the first meeting in the room of J. S. Lowe, and presided as chairman. This meeting was dated as December, 1858. J. L. N. Hunt acted as secretary. Hunt and Lowe were appointed as a committee to draft a constitution, and on the following night the constitution and bylaws were adopted. Hunt and Lowe proposed the motto from the initials of which the group took the name Delta Tau Delta. H. K. Bell was the hardest worker among the group, and one of its most zealous members.

Eaton's and Tarr's list was corrected with the publication of the Fifth General Catalogue in 1884. This publication had been delegated to the Rho Chapter at Stevens Institute, and A. P. Trautwein, assisted by Henry Bruck, was in charge. A remarkable job of research can be credited to Mr. Trautwein, who through personal interviews and correspondence listed as our Founders: Bell, '60; Cunningham, '62; Earle, '61; Hunt, '62; Johnson, '60; Lowe, '60; and Tarr, '60 as the seven Founders. All were living except Bell. J. L. N. Hunt was located in New York City and was of invaluable assistance to the editors. Henry Bruck years later was responsible for adding Alfred's name to the seven; his name had been included among Eugene Tarr's four.

BRUCK COMPLETES THE LIST

At the time Henry Bruck was publishing his Historical Notes in THE RAINBOW, seven of the eight Founders were living and several were in active touch with the Fraternity. The early members of the Jefferson Alpha were even more active at its Karneas and in various publications, alumni chapters, and the like. Had his conclusions been inaccurate, they would have been quickly corrected.

A 1904 INTERPRETATION OF BRUCK'S NOTES

Frank Rogers, Editor of THE RAINBOW from 1899 to 1923, commented editorially on the Bruck articles, and

nobody, including Henry Bruck, dissented. In 1904 he said:

In Greek-letter fraternities of today we have a striking example of a growth and attainment not contemplated at its inception. Vision of founders did not travel beyond the boundaries of the local college field; extension to other colleges came later and was a second thought. The great and steady growth of college fraternities was not the result of any wise provision in their early organization or far-sighted policy in the pioneer days. It was rather the natural and inevitable working out and growth of the underlying force in their inception. The fundamental human desire for comradeship, cooperation, and good fellowship found itself, by the college's own restriction of its membership, limited in the field of selection to young men of home culture, good blood, and clean morals; and the atmosphere of its environment was one of high ideals, clear thinking, and noble aspirations. Such influences explain the virile growth of college fraternities.

The early history of the college fraternity is one of ups and downs. It was a new movement that had not found itself and often its early growth was confronted by fanatical and rabid opposition of college authorities. Its management was loose and careless, and the executive direction was generally vested in one active chapter with the resulting erratic and uncertain administration of affairs. The early years were those of experiment, of loose intercommunity of interest between the various chapters and a rivalry between different fraternities marked by methods of retaliation and bitterness of feeling which are fortunately unknown today. The real growth of these organizations and the advance that make them the present day factors they are, has all been accomplished within the past 50 years, and antiquity beyond this period counts very little in a fraternity's real strength.

Quite obviously Frank Rogers was writing with our own history in his mind. The 50 years he delineates covered the period of his own Fraternity's existence. Independently I came to the same general conclusions before I ran into his editorial. Henry Bruck, Lowrie McClurg, our Founders, all must have agreed with the conclusions Frank Rogers drew from the Bruck articles.

During the year 1904-05, while the articles were appearing, of the eight founders, only Henry K. Bell was deceased. He had died in 1867 in St. Louis, Missouri. He had kept up an active correspondence with his Bethany friends and others. In a letter to J. R. Thornton, of the Monongahela chapter, he spoke of having founded a chapter at Salisbury, Maryland. As neither the name of the institution nor any of its members were ever obtained, such a chapter, if it ever existed, has always been omitted from our list. His own enthusiasm, rather than any official authorization, was the only basis for the phantom chapter.

WHAT BECAME OF THE FOUNDERS

R. H. Alfred studied medicine and received his M.D. from the University of Toronto, after his graduation from Bethany. Returning to the United States, he became a minister in the Church of the Disciples until his voice gave out; he then returned to the practice of medicine, settling finally at Dayton, Virginia.

John C. Johnson became a farmer and stock-raiser at his home in Bridgeport, West Virginia. As an elderly friend and adviser of John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for the presidency in 1924, he became an object of national publicity. Incidentally, his influence with a nephew who was attending the University of West Virginia was largely responsible for the petition which produced Gamma Delta Chapter.

Jacob S. Lowe was a teacher and school administrator all his life. In later years he was superintendent of schools at Ashtabula, Ohio, where a later generation of Delts from a half-dozen chapters knew him as their superintendent and loved him. His name appears most often in the rosters of Karneas.

Eugene Tarr practiced law at Wellsburg, West Virginia. He was the first-elected Historian of the Fraternity, but there is no indication that he ever functioned in that office, which was later abolished. A nephew was one of the charter members of Beta Phi Chapter at Ohio State University.

Alexander Campbell Earle entered the ministry of the Church of the Disciples after the Civil War. Later he became dissatisfied with its creed and he preached his own interpretation of religion as a free-lance evangelist. He lived in Texas.

William R. Cunningham entered the Confederate service in a civil capacity and later became a member of the famous Morgan's Raiders. After the Civil War, as did so many of his associates at Bethany, he became a minister in the Church of the Disciples, and finally located at Ritzville, Washington.

John L. N. Hunt, after several years of teaching, became a lawyer. He returned to teaching as a member of the public school system of New York City. Henry Bruck said that one time he was superintendent of schools there.

DUAL MEMBERSHIP DISSOLVED

The dual membership of the several Founders can be easily explained and condoned. It was not the original purpose to establish a national fraternity; after its original purpose was accomplished, together with the graduation of many of the key members, the local fraternity gradually disintegrated. It is significant that none joined Phi Kappa Psi. The early Constitutions of Delta Tau Delta made no mention of exclusive membership, or even of any national scope of the organization. Dual membership was not infrequent when a fraternity member changed colleges, and the later campus did not have a chapter of his fraternity. Only in later years did Delta Tau Delta legislate against it.

All of the Founders of Delta Tau Delta with dual membership resigned from the Bethany chapter of Beta Theta Pi. Apparently the first to do so was William R. Cunningham whose resignation was accepted by the Betas at Bethany on December 8, 1880. The 1881 Convention appointed a committee to solicit the resignations of J. S. Lowe and J. L. N. Hunt, and both later resigned from Beta Theta Pi.

The Betas didn't give them up without a struggle, however. After Cunningham's resignation, W. S. Baird, of Baird's Manual fame, sought to dismiss the matter as unimportant; that Cunningham understandingly preferred to be listed as a Founder of Delta Tau Delta, while in Beta Theta Pi he was just another undistinguished member. Henry Bruck was derisive at Baird's statement. He had known Baird intimately while both were undergraduates at Stevens Institute of Technology, where Baird was a member of a fraternity which consolidated with Beta Theta Pi after his graduation.

1961's Purple, White, and Gold Football Team

ALL DELT TEAM

Ends: Tom Hall, Minnesota, and Ron Allshouse, Pennsylvania.

Tackles: John Houtman, Michigan, and Paul Watters, Miami.

Guards: John Mulvena, Minnesota, and Tom Walsh, Stanford.

Center: Todd Grant, Michigan.

Quarterback: Mike Cotten, Texas.

Halfbacks: Ted Somerville, Colorado, and Jack McHenry, Wabash.

Fullback: John Walker, U.C.L.A.

Coach: Sonny Grandelius, Michigan State (coach at Colorado).

A YEAR AGO an attempt was made, for the first time, to select a true all-star team from the list of Delt football players. The choices made did not produce a single letter of objection. Inspired by the good fortune encountered last year, and not completely daunted by the difficulties presented in making selections from the many outstanding performers nominated this season, we are prepared to climb out on the proverbial limb once again.

The nominees presented by the chapters total an even 100, representing 29 different colleges and universities. Nineteen Delts were members of Stanford University's squad, and Phi Chapter was close behind with a total of 17 men being included on the W. & L. roster. As might be expected, there are undoubtedly some fine Delt football players who were not available for consideration due to the fact that we did not have information concerning them. At least a dozen members of our Delt squad were named in the September 18 issue of Sports Illustrated as key performers for their respective teams in the annual pre-season forecasts. Many of the men on the squad served as captains of their teams, and there were the usual number of all-conference selections, most valuable players, leading ground gainers, and participants in bowl and all-star games.

With but one exception, those named to our All-Delt team played for schools recognized as major teams. Insofar as such schools receive more newspaper, radio, and television coverage than do the smaller schools, the men who played for them had a certain advantage in the selections; however, there were many truly outstanding players on many of the smaller college teams.

A year ago an honorary captain was named for the team. As a variation for this year, we have selected an honorary coach. A former All-American player as an undergraduate at Michigan State, coach of the college team selected to play in this year's Orange Bowl game, Coach Sonny Grandelius, of Colorado, is named honorary coach of this squad. We would venture a guess that Coach Grandelius, as would most any college coach in the country, would welcome this squad to meet the responsibilities of his college grid schedule.

Four of those named this year are repeaters from last season's All-Delt team. Tom Hall, Minnesota's great Rose Bowl end; John Mulvena, captain of the 1960 Minnesota team, who led the Gophers back to the Rose Bowl this year in victorious style; Michigan's outstanding center, Todd Grant, who has received an offer from the Detroit Lions; and Mike Cotten, the flashy quarterback who led Texas in its Cotton Bowl win, are those chosen for the second consecutive year. Ends Heywood Haser of Pittsburgh and Chuck McBride of Colorado, Quarterback Rod Sears of Stanford, Center Terry Fohs of W. & L., and Fullback Doug Martin of W. & L., are others from last year's team who are included in the 1961 squad.

The complete Delt squad, by positions, is as follows:

posing list of additional talent. Selections here were probably more difficult than for any other position. Finally, Tom Hall was chosen for his outstanding play in the Rose Bowl, this year in a winning effort, together with Pennsylvania's Ron Allshouse, referred to by Sports Illustrated as Penn's "only experienced end." Ron was twice selected as Penn's player of the week and was also awarded with selection as outstanding player in the east one week. Close behind these two, if not on a par with them, were Colorado's Chuck McBride, who participated in the Orange Bowl; Charles Talbert and Tom York of Texas, who saw action in the Cotton Bowl; Gene Heeter, according to Sports Illustrated, one of the pass-

Reserve: Al Waldrop, Ohio Wesleyan; Charles Talbert, Texas; Frank Schneider and Buster Rice, West Virginia; Jim Osgood, Albion; Art House, Tufts; and Bob Burke, Tom Fetherston, and Ken Fraser, all of Stanford.

TACKLES

With 19 candidates to choose from, the corps of tackles was the largest of any position on this year's roster. None of the tackles from the 1960 team were available this year. John Houtman used his 235 pounds to good advantage in the Michigan line all season long to fulfill the prediction made by Sports Illustrated that he would be a mainstay in the Wolverine line. Our other tackle choice is even larger. Paul Watters, outstanding for Miami of Ohio, as forecast by Sports Illustrated, tips the scales at 255. Pushing Houtman and Watters for

QUARTERBACKS

The All-Delt quarterback is, perhaps, the most outstanding player of the team. Mike Cotten was the Texas team captain. He was also All-Southwest Conference quarterback, most outstanding back in the Cotton Bowl, captain of the South team in the Senior Bowl, and winner of the D. Harold Byrd award for team leadership. Television viewers watched Mike lead the Texas Longhorns to a spectacular victory in the Cotton Bowl. Rod Sears and Steve Thurlow were alternate starters for Stanford and, as forecasted by Sports Illustrated, threw a lot in an effort to spring loose some of Stanford's swift halfbacks. Steve Suttle served as cocaptain of W. & L.'s outstanding team.

First string: Bob Baker, Western Reserve; Suttle, W. & L.; Cotten, Texas; and Sears and Thurlow, Stanford.

Reserve: Brice Gamber, W. & L.; John McDaniel, W. & L.; Seymour Priestly, Lawrence; and Bob Price, Stanford.

HALFBACKS

There were several outstanding halfbacks on this year's Delt squad. Although not receiving as much publicity as did Colorado's All-American linemen, Ted Somerville, the Buffalo's outstanding sophomore halfback, was credited by Sports Illustrated as being one of his team's two best runners. Ted performed most creditably for Colorado in the Orange Bowl even though his team did suffer a defeat. For our other halfback, we went into the small college ranks and picked Jack McHenry, Wabash College's "Mr. Everything." Jack was cocaptain of his team, most valuable player for the past two years, honorable mention All-American, leading Wabash ground-gainer for the past two seasons, leading rushing average, leading passer, averaged 44-yards per punt, and scored five touchdowns while passing for eight others. Gerry Miller, Wesleyan sophomore, returned a kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown and was a starter all year long. Albert Fischer, though not a first team performer, saw action for Minnesota in the Rose Bowl.

First string: Sommerville, Colorado; Miller, Wesleyan; Charles Gummey, W. & L.; Ron Kulm, Idaho; Cary Wickland and Pat Jordan, Lawrence; McHenry, Wabash; and Luther Gary, Pennsylvania.

Reserve: Bill Geiger, Ohio Wesleyan; Fischer, Minnesota; Jim Hickey, Ashley Wiltshire, and John Pearson, W. & L.; Mike Barnes and Tyce Fitzmorris, Stanford.

FULLBACKS

Thinnest at quarterback with but eight candidates, there were several outstanding performers in the group.

The Fischbach Residency Foundation

DON N. SMITH, M.D., Fischbach scholar

THE FISCHBACH RESIDENCY FOUNDATION was established in 1947 by the late Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Kentucky, '06, who contributed the cash sum of $15,000 to the Fraternity to be administered through the Educational Fund for the purpose of providing scholarships for worthy members of Delta Tau Delta who are doing, or are about to do, graduate study beyond internship in medicine, surgery, or a related field.

The Board of Directors of the Fraternity, in accordance with the wishes of the donor, invested the contribution in income-producing United States Treasury Bonds. The income earned on this investment has been supplemented from time to time by cash donations from Dr. Fischbach and others so that more than one medical student might receive scholarships.

These scholarships are outright grants. They are one year in duration, effective July 1. Appointments are made by June 1.

At the present time, there are two worthy Deltas who received appointments for the year ending June 30, 1962. Don N. Smith, Kentucky, '55, has his second Fischbach scholarship in connection with his second year of residency in pediatrics at Charity Hospital of Louisiana in New Orleans. Francis D. Cogliano, Tufts, '56, received his appointment in connection with his residency in surgery at Boston City Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts.

Selections for scholarships are made by a special committee composed of three men, all of whom are physicians and members of Delta Tau Delta. Dr. William M. Fischbach, Dartmouth, '34, and Cincinnati, '34, son of Dr. Howard Fischbach, is presently chairman of the committee. A prominent physician, specializing in internal medicine and cardiology, in Cincinnati, Ohio, Dr. Fischbach has continued the work of the Fischbach Memorial Group which his father established. Dr. Victor W. Fischbach, Cincinnati, '16, brother of Dr. Howard, a practicing physician in Cincinnati and a member of the Fischbach Memorial Group, is also a member of the committee. Dr. Frederick A. Stine, Cincinnati, '36, is the third member of the present committee. He is a former member of the Fischbach Memorial Group in Cincinnati and now practices pediatrics in Newport, Kentucky.

A candidate for a scholarship must meet the following basic requirements:

1. He must have been graduated from medical school.
2. He must have completed his internship.
3. He must be doing, or about to do, graduate work beyond internship in medicine, surgery, or a related field.
4. The hospital of his residency must be approved by either the American College of Surgeons or the American Medical Association.

Any Delta qualifying under these considerations, who desires to apply for a scholarship, should write direct to the Executive Vice-President at the Central Office, 3242 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis 8, Indiana, for an application blank and detailed instructions.

Advanced Study Scholarship Program

SCHOLARSHIPS FROM THE Advanced Study Scholarship Program are now available for the academic year, 1962-63. As previously announced in THE RAINBOW, Delta Tau Delta established the Program, effective with the college year, 1960-61, under the Educational Fund of the Fraternity for advanced study beyond the undergraduate level.

There are two types of scholarships. General scholarships, known as the Alvan E. Duerr Graduate Scholarships, are available in any field of specialization. These scholarships are five in number, in amount of $1,400 each, more or less, subject to the availability of funds, for one year's study at a recognized institution for graduate training and research. They are not renewable and, generally, are to be used in payment of living expense and not in payment of tuition. These scholarships are allocated one each to the four Divisions. The fifth

Ray Mears, a Portrait of Determination

By JAMES L. TELFER

Editor's Note: The following story is one recently written for the January issue of Time Out, a magazine published by the Luther League of America. The subject of the story is a 1949 graduate of Gamma Upsilon Chapter at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, presently head basketball coach at Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio. The author is an assistant in the public relations office at Wittenberg who has graciously consented to our reproduction of this material. We feel that this story and the inspiration and philosophy of Brother Mears can be of benefit to all Delts, undergraduate and alumni alike.

BACK IN 1944, the United States was still in the throes of World War II. It was not an era when communities were college-conscious. That time would come, with the return of the veterans and the passage of the G. I. Bill, but only a few high school graduates were considering college in 1944.

One of the few who grew up in the town of Dover, Ohio, was a slender and curly-haired youth, who first began serious thinking about college during his sophomore year at Dover High School. Not allowed to play basketball because of a mild case of tuberculosis, Ramon A. Mears was reluctant to give up the sport which he had grown to love. When the board of education decided to start a basketball league for fifth and sixth grade boys that year, he volunteered to coach one of the four teams. His team won the tournament championship at the end of the season.

A small beginning, perhaps, but even then Mears recognized the responsibility and the teaching opportunities which go hand-in-hand with the coaching profession. This is what he wanted.

Lack of money might have stopped a less determined young man, but Mears worked as a laborer for a year and a half in the local steel mill to pay for his education.

Using his savings, a board job during the school year, and summer employment, Mears managed to get through four years and earn his Bachelor of Arts degree at Miami of Ohio in 1949.

Coach RAY MEARS

"I feel that a man is made mostly of spirit," Mears says in the introduction to his new book, It's All in the State of Mind. "I will sacrifice a player with natural ability for one with a burning desire to excel, to be the best who ever lived."

It is this type of "spirit" that characterizes Mears himself. Cut from the Miami varsity as a freshman after the first few practice sessions, Mears worked harder than ever the rest of the year. He tried again in his sophomore year and this time he made the team. He stayed on in his junior year, but disappointment struck again his senior year. After eight games, the coach decided to drop all seniors who weren't on the first unit. Never a starter, Mears was eliminated.

"Naturally I was upset," Mears said, in recalling the incident. "But, it made me realize that I wasn't always going to win."

Reflecting this philosophy, Mears tries to teach his players "to be humble winners and gracious, but hard losers."

"By a gracious, but hard loser, I mean the ability to take defeat graciously, but hating to lose," Mears explains. "I feel that a hard loser, who suffers an occasional defeat, will profit by that defeat. He will think and talk over the cause and will make sure that the same factor never defeats him again."

His wife, a pert brunette who has been mistaken for a coed on the Wittenberg campus, affirms that her husband does indeed practice what he preaches. "It takes him a long time to unwind after any game, but he doesn't come home and mope after a loss."

Talking frankly about Mears the man, as well as Mears the coach, Mrs. Mears emphasizes that he "is a perfectionist in everything he does, even the little things around the house."

"Basketball isn't just a season around here, it's a year-around thing," she continued. "But, Ray also enjoys working with young boys in the Optimist Club program. Last spring, for example, he acted as a bicycle safety inspector. He checked all the bikes at one of the local grade schools to make sure each one had the proper equipment, all in good working order."

The Mearses have two young sons. Steve, five, and Mike, four, are always ready to make sure that their father is kept busy, Mrs. Mears admitted.

The boys have a basket in the basement, where they can play with the small basketball which their father has purchased for them. Each boy is also the proud possessor of a discarded Wittenberg jersey.

"But," Mrs. Mears emphasizes, "Ray doesn't push them to learn basketball and it is only occasionally that I find them playing with the basketball equipment." In fact, when Steve recently was asked what he wanted to be, he quickly replied "a football player."

Steve and Mike accompany their mother to all the Wittenberg home games and eagerly assist her in cutting out the many stories about their famous father and the Wittenberg basketball team which appear in newspapers and magazines. These clippings are carefully pasted in a large scrapbook.

The boys know all the players on the team and can call them all by name, according to Mrs. Mears. "Steve and Mike are always happy when one of the students stops in to play with them."

And the Mears residence is always open. Many students besides members of the basketball squad have found that the popular young mentor and his wife are willing listeners and helpful advisers. "Some students just drop in to watch television or for a cup of coffee and conversation," Mrs. Mears adds.

Mears takes more than a passing interest in all phases of his players' college lives. "First and foremost they are here to get a good education. If I can help them solve any problems, study or personal, that might distract from that goal, I'm more than willing to do so.

"When a boy graduates, I like to feel that I have left something with him besides basketball skills. If he really plays the game, he will learn many character traits that have a strong carry-over to life's problems. Some of these are the development of citizenship, sportsmanship, loyalty to self and others, dependability, honesty, courage, leadership, personality, the ability to live with others, respect for authority, tolerance, initiative, confidence, self-discipline, and the development of an unselfish pride in his work."

A former member of the corps of ushers at Springfield's Fourth Lutheran Church, the young mentor also was one of the laymen who conducted the annual pledge visitation campaign last year. The Mearses have also served as greeters at the Sunday services.

Mears first met his wife, the former Dana Davis of New Philadelphia, Ohio (an arch-rival of Dover), while home on leave from the Army during the 1951 Christmas season. Their marriage took place in June, 1953.

"She has the patience of Job," Mears says of his wife. "Especially during the basketball season, of course, and also during the football season, scouting takes me away from home quite often. But, she doesn't complain. I know some other coaches who are not so fortunate."

"I think he's seen my team play as many times as I have," one Ohio Conference coach was heard to remark when he noticed Mears enter the door with his clip board. But extremely detailed scouting reports are only one of the many components which go into the exhaustive hours of preparation that precede every game.

On the afternoon prior to the 1961 Ohio Conference tournament championship game in which Wittenberg was to compete, the league's basketball coaches held a meeting at the tournament site. When an alternate appeared to represent Mears, one coach asked what had happened to the Wittenberg mentor. The coach of the Tigers' opponents that night quickly snapped, "He's probably home figuring out something special for us tonight. He's always working, but I guess that's why he wins."

Mears is, indeed, a glowing example to his players of one of the attributes for which he looks—a tremendous desire to excel. He is a portrait of determination.

To this end, Mears takes every opportunity to improve his knowledge of the cage sport. "Knowledge makes for confidence," is one of the basketball quotations to live by which appear in his book.

While a high school coach at Cleveland's West Tech, he turned down another high school coaching job that would have paid him an additional $1,000 per year because he felt that his position offered more of a challenge and a better chance to develop his coaching techniques.

Although it would have been more convenient for Mears to finish his work towards a master's degree during the summer of 1955, since he already was admitted for classes at Kent State, he decided to accept an invitation to be an instructor at Clair Bee's famous All-American Basketball Camp. "I felt that the valuable experience gained from working with such men as Adolph Rupp, Frank McGuire, Everett Case, and Red Auerbach would more than compensate for the resulting inconvenience in completing work for my master's."

Mears expects the same dedication from the people around him. But, he will never expect someone else to adhere to something that he himself will not uphold. A stickler for training, Mears made it plain to his team at the NCAA tournament that women and basketball do not mix in such a situation. He was no exception and Mrs. Mears stayed in a separate hotel room from her husband.

"The national championship for Wittenberg is my goal," Mears told a group of alumni, shortly after joining the Wittenberg faculty in 1956. Many observers felt this to be overly ambitious and far-fetched, but they had not yet seen the determined young man in action.

Before coming to Wittenberg, Mears was head coach at Cleveland West Tech for four seasons. His 1952 quintet was co-champion of the West Senate with a 13-1 record, and his 1955 squad won Ohio sectional and district titles.

Mears climaxed his fifth year of college coaching (all at Wittenberg) by directing the Tigers to the 1961 NCAA college division championship. The Tigers' win in the NCAA title game marked Mears' 100th college coaching victory against only 18 losses for a .847 average, the highest in the country.

Two men he coached, George Fisher and Bert Price, earned Small College or Little All-American honors. Another, Tony Wilcox, who established himself as a topnotch professional star with the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters, was called to the Chicago Majors at the beginning of the 1961-62 season.

With Mears at the helm, Wittenberg has captured three consecutive Ohio Conference titles and has never suffered a defeat on the home court, winning 46 straight on the Springfield, Ohio, campus. In 1960 his fellow coaches voted him the Ohio College Basketball Coach of the Year.

This is Ray Mears, a man who learned early that "nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm." These are his accomplishments. This is a portrait of determination.

The first-place award consists of a $50 cash prize, to be invested in furnishings or equipment suitable for a chapter hall or chapter house. The awards for undergraduate chapter publications were established in 1937.

The winning chapters are to be congratulated for their outstanding work in the field of Fraternity journalism. This is a highly competitive field, and winning these awards is proof of the quality of the work of the various winning chapters' staffs.

Chapter publications can be one of the most important parts of a chapter's operating program. They play an important role in keeping alumni informed and interested. They are a most important phase of a chapter's public relations efforts.

Chapter publications constitute a tangible opportunity to gain valuable experience, to grow, and to develop in Delta Tau Delta. Delts who can pull together to publish a magazine or a newspaper which reflects hard work, ingenuity, and an appreciation of the Fraternity's usefulness not only have gained excellent training but have demonstrated the invaluable ability to develop a project satisfactorily and to carry it through to a successful conclusion.

Winners have been selected by a committee composed of men who are experienced and are active in the fields of commercial journalism. Their selections are made on the basis of general appeal and interest of material to alumni (and to rushees if the publication is also sent to prospective members); the manner in which the material is written and edited; and attractiveness in typographical layout and printing. The number of issues presented during the college year is taken into consideration; however, more than three issues will not influence the award. Chapters using professional services in publishing their papers or magazines are not eligible for the award, but the committee is authorized to confer honorable mention to such chapters.

Alumni Service Award

SCORES OF LOYAL DELTS throughout the United States and Canada have given untiringly of themselves to build a better Delta Tau Delta. These men are, or have been, chapter advisers, house corporation officers, or alumni chapter officers, and many who have not held an office but are always available to lend valuable support or to work on special Fraternity projects. These are the men who make a great fraternity.

Recognizing that many of these men are ineligible for election to the Distinguished Service Chapter because their efforts are too often local in nature, the Arch Chapter has directed that each alumni chapter be authorized to recognize, officially, these men. An Alumni Service Award certificate has been created, copy of which has been sent to each alumni chapter, together with the recommended standards for such an award.

Alumni Service Award eligibility qualifications or criteria have been established as follows:

1. Eligibility requirements shall include (a) 15 years an alumnus in good standing of the Fraternity, and (b) extraordinary service to or support of an alumni chapter and/or undergraduate chapter and the Fraternity.

2. Nominations for an award may be made by an alumnus of the Fraternity or by vote of any undergraduate chapter.

tions are still coming in. New officers for the year are: Jake Wagon, president; Frank M. Shaver, vice-president; Tom Terry, treasurer; and Bur-kett Haughton, secretary. NATIONAL CAPITAL: New officers are: William A. Boetcker, president; Gaines H. Gough, vice-president; and Robert E. Newby, secretary-treasurer. The new members of the executive committee are: General Edwin P. Parker, Honorable Loy W. Henderson, Conrad V. Carlson, Robert G. Runger, Robert H. Hood, and Robert I. Dodge, Jr. In its vigorous program of rebuilding, the chapter has arranged for many outstanding speakers to appear at the monthly meetings, featuring topics of world interest, government, business, and travel. The annual Founders Day celebration has been set for April 24 at the National Press Club. NEW YORK: The chapter will be host for an Eastern Division Regional Conference in March. The monthly meetings are now being held at 106 West 56th Street. All visitors, as well as local members, are always welcome to join in the monthly luncheons.

history, and excitement, the committee has purposely left open Thursday and Friday evenings. Step out of the modern headquarters hotel into the street and one is surrounded by the local color of the French Quarter. Within walking distance of the hotel there are such famous eating places as Arnaud's, Antoine's, Galatoire's, Brennan's, Tujaque's, and many others, any one of which is a "fat boy's" delight, as well as an abundance and variety of entertainment which can be found only in the land of Mardi Gras.

More details regarding the Karnea program will be presented in the next number of THE RAINBOW. In the meantime, it is not too early to make reservations at the Royal Orleans where special convention rates will be in effect. The hotel address, rates, and reservation information can be found elsewhere in this issue of THE RAINBOW. Yes, way down yonder in New Orleans we Delts, along with the whole Southern Division, are looking forward to playing host to the Fraternity. This is the fourth Karnea ever to be held in the Southern Division and first to be held in New Orleans, and we promise that it will be a Karnea which will make all Delts glad they came south. The red carpet is out!

3. Nominations shall be endorsed by two alumni of the alumni chapter or by two alumni of the undergraduate chapter making the nomination..

4. Each alumni chapter shall appoint a committee to determine the eligibility of nominees.

5. No alumni chapter shall present to its own members more than two awards per year, nor shall any alumnus be eligible to receive more than one award.

6. Awards shall be presented by the alumni chapter at the annual Founders Day banquet or other important local Delt functions.

It is hoped that undergraduate and alumni chapters will avail themselves

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alabama—Delta Eta

As a spotlight falls on Alabama and its No. 1 football team in the nation we also see in the same spotlight Delts at 'Bama. Active in every form of student government and campus endeavor, we find Delta Eta remaining in that No. 1 position at Alabama.

Socially, we here at 'Bama have certainly lived up to all traditions for entertaining in that great Southern manner. Our calendar has been well filled with parties after all the football games in Birmingham and here on the campus. Our homecoming party featured the Keynotes and saw many Delta Eta alumni returning to see that much-talked-about Alabama football team. The chapter rented buses for its annual mass migration to Birmingham and the Georgia Tech game, with box lunches being served on the buses. Immediately after the game, everyone piled back on the buses for the return to Tuscaloosa for buffet dinner and dance in the Shelter. The Alabama-Auburn game proved to be even more exciting this year and to climax our football season and after-game parties, 'Bama Delts entertained their dates with a party in Birmingham's finest, the Thomas Jefferson Hotel. The annual Christmas Party, before the holidays, which everyone looked forward to for weeks in advance, was highlighted by a pledge decorations, including a multitiered fountain which bubbled punch. With the end of the holiday season, Brother Delts returned to school with thoughts of the annual Bowery Ball on January 13. This is our last costume party of the semester and a "last blast" before final examinations. To add to the excitement of an already tremendous week end, the University was closed in the middle of the week due to rain, snow, ice, and subzero weather. Brother Warren Mosley, our social chairman, has done a terrific job this year.

The Delt sport season for first semester was ended with the Delta Eta team ranking as the top intramural team on campus. In tennis, the Delts finished second in competition. In the annual Turkey Trot, Pledge Bubba Brewton came in second in a field of 450. Delta Eta pledge class was ranked third of 26 fraternities in this cross-country race.

Near the end of another semester came the announcement that Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities included the names of Brothers Ben Johnston and Donald Stewart. Both brothers were also elected to O.D.K. Brother Stewart recently returned from Dallas, Texas, where he represented the University of Alabama at the National Student Government meeting. Brother Joe Stewart was selected as one of the four juniors for Beta Gamma Sigma. Selection is limited to the top four per cent of the junior and senior classes. Brother Stewart is a straight-A student. Brother Mike Straghne, also a straight-A student, was selected for the National College Board testing for the TV program produced in New York City. Brother Warren Mosley, after a week of hard campaigning, was elected to the position of secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences for 1962.

Delta Eta is quite proud of its unofficial sweetheart, Miss Sally Burns, Kappa Kappa Gamma, who was selected as one of 'Bama's Beauties, to be featured in the school yearbook.

With return to school came that much anticipated announcement of giving the architect an okay on plans for our new house. The new Delta Eta house should be completed by September, 1962.

GARY JACKSON

Albion—Epsilon

The fall semester at Epsilon has been a typically good one. On the intramural scene, the Delt football team was the favorite throughout the season. The team, bolstered by Seniors Steve Guenther, Greg Hornie, Dave Krause, George Fishell, and Captain John Helpap, lost the last game of the season, 20-19, to finish in second place. In the IM physical fitness meet, the Delts ran away with the top fraternity honors and also individual honors with Jim Osgood, Ken Manley, and Paul Walton all placing in the first ten.

As far as individual accomplishments in the campus publication area, the Delts are well represented. The campus weekly, The Plead, is edited by Brother publication has been Brother Bob Esperti.

On the social scene, Social Chairman Ken Brown has done a tremendous job. The big party of the semester was our annual New Year's party.

During homecoming festivities, the Delts went all out on the homecoming float and won first prize in fraternity float competition and also in campus-wide competition. The slogan of the block-long "float" was, "Join the Navy and see the world."

Winter rush is at its peak now with Rush Chairman Tim McCracken leading the way. A good spring pledge class is anticipated.

At the time of this writing, Epsilon is preparing for election of new officers. It seems appropriate to give recognition to the present officers who have led Epsilon so well. President Jim Williams is a senior and an economics major; Jim Russell, our vice-president, is also in economics; John Helpap, the treasurer, and Tim McCracken, the recording secretary, are both in business administration.

In scholarship, we have dropped a bit, but we hope that by the next writing we will have regained top position on campus scholastically.

BILL SHOSKEY

Allegheny—Alpha

Alpha Chapter has had a very successful semester in many ways.

Our fall party was a great success, its theme dealing with the prohibition era. The Shelter was decorated as a funeral parlor, which in reality was a front for a speakeasy located in the back rooms. The dates of the brothers were picked up by a gangland motorcade led by "Al Capone," alias Brother Dave Middleton, who was protected by two bodyguards and no less than 15 henchmen. A fast and furious gun battle ensued with the "cops" when the cavalcade arrived at the front of the women's dormitory.

After the police were suitably dealt with, the girls were rushed to the Shelter where they were met by their dates. They then entered the speakeasy for an evening of festivities.

The second dance of the semester, the traditional Christmas dance, held its reputation as the most successful and best-attended dance of the campus. In fact, the brothers were outnumbered by guests from the other fraternities. For this dance, all the woodwork on the first floor of the house was trimmed in pine. Over 300 Christmas trees were used to accomplish this end. When completed, the Shelter was a thing of beauty to behold. Social Chairman Joe Matson is to be congratulated for his organization in the preparation for both of these dances.

In sports, Brother Bill Damitz, first-string tackle on the Allegheny team, was chosen to represent the school at the Jem Bowl, held in Erie, Pennsylvania. He was also honored by being named second-team All-Methodist tackle.

Brothers Bob Parker and Don Monnheim are making an excellent showing on the starting Allegheny wrestling team, while Brothers Ron Brooks and Ray Denson lettered on the soccer team.

Brother Dick Hagan is presently leading the chapter in rushing as the yearly rush week approaches. Brother Hagan has planned many interesting activities for the rushees during the week itself.

Brother Dave Burkett has been elected president of the Interfraternity Council with Brother Tom Sifferman acting as IF rush chairman.

By all indications, the brothers of Alpha Chapter can expect the coming semester to be a successful one.

A. C. REDDING

Arizona—Epsilon Epsilon

With the help of a man named Doug, Rush Chairman Dave McCay completed his vigorous fall rush program with a 25-man pledge class, the largest pledge class in the chapter's short history.

Following rush, the party schedule was upon us, starting with Mom and Dad's Day on October 7. Parents and alums were treated to a buffet luncheon at the house and the brothers were also visited by another noted "Dad," Arizona Governor Paul Fannin.

Next on the agenda was a "Hoodlum" party, at which the brothers regressed to high school days, complete with the Twist and Harley hats.

The homecoming week end of November 18 was a full two-day stand. On Saturday, alums were invited for another luncheon buffet before the football game and that evening Delts and dates made a mass exodus to the mountains and Bill Neubauer's cabin.

The following day Epsilon Epsilon participated in the University's fraternity row dedication ceremonies. Western Division Vice-President Robert F. Tyler did us the honor of representing us at that event.

On December 9, the annual Sweetheart Formal was held in Tucson Inn's Bagdad Club. There, Miss Pat White, Chi Omega, was selected Epsilon Epsilon's Delt Sweetheart for 1962. The traditional present exchange accompanied the dinner dance, and entertainment was provided by Clade's Trio.

Among other notable events of the semester was the pledge pajama race. Delt pledges failed to finish in the top three places when Pledge Pearce attempted to run his leg of the race on all fours. Exchanges with the Chi Omegas, AOPi's, and Phi Mu's rounded out the social calendar.

In intramurals, we currently stand in ninth place among the University's 29 Greek organizations. A rash of injuries, acquired both on and off the field, have hampered our intramural football team.

Approaching final exams, Arizona Delts hope to better their fourth-place academic standing of last semester and regain the IFC scholarship cup. Another vigorous rush program is scheduled for the start of the next semester.

JOHN WARDRIP

Auburn—Epsilon Alpha

Here it is—a new year, a new quarter, and new and higher goals. These are things which are foremost in the minds of all of us here at Auburn University and Delta Tau Delta.

Fall quarter was a good one with football season and a successful rush. Eight pledges made their grades and qualified for the step to brotherhood. We are very proud of them and feel that they will be a big asset to Epsilon Alpha.

Socially, we had a very strong quarter with the after-football-game parties, our traditional pledge-active football game, and our final blast of fall quarter, the annual Christmas party. The parties after the home football games were most successful, especially with many alumni to help celebrate Auburn's victories. Our annual pledge-active football proved a very successful outing at the lake. The actives won the bruising battle 12-0, and everyone escaped without injury except some hurt pride. Our Christmas party was a semiformal affair with combo and our very own "Santa Kool." Gifts were exchanged and proved to be very interesting as well as embarrassing for some.

Speaking of alumni, I think that it is time to mention our alumni who are remaining active as officers of our house corporation. Bryan Johnson was elected president, while Dick Higgins and Kit Logan became vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Dewitt Burns and Bill Martin added to those previously mentioned make up the alumni members of the board of directors. These are important brothers, we are proud to say, for they are past presidents of Epsilon Alpha.

During last quarter, we had several men receive recognition on campus. Warren Jones, IFC representative, was the head of the IFC portion of Auburn's all-campus fund drive. Dave Wall was elected assistant sports editor of the school newspaper, The Plainsman. Warren Jones and Gary Thomas were elected to head positions in Circle K International, which, by the way, has received recognition as being the best in the country. We also have several men working on the committee planning "Greek Week" and a George Shearing concert.

Epsilon Alpha had two men transfer to Auburn and become brothers. They are Wilson McClellan and Hutson Finke from Georgia Tech and Tulane. We are very proud of these two men as they have proved to be a big asset already. We know that they will continue to be so in the future.

EUGENE KORNEGAY

Bowling Green—Delta Tau

We at Delta Tau Chapter are now in our new Shelter on fraternity row. Everyone is still getting used to the new surroundings and traditions that are so everpresent.

After fall rush, in which we received 14 fine pledges, Pledge Trainer Jack Hern and Pledge Educator Bill Fauver began immediately to orient the men to

Delta Tau Delta through our mature pledge training program. And as it looks now, this pledge class will finish high in scholarship among the other pledge classes on campus.

In touch football, the Delts finished in a tie for second place, with a 5-2 record, in a two division race. Although we had several outstanding participants, Brother Joe Kucklick was chosen to the division all-star team.

The high light of our social season, so far, has been our annual "Flintstone Fling." Starting on a Thursday night, we decorated the entire first floor so that it resembled a cave. On Saturday evening, the "prehistoric" couples crawled through a 50-foot tunnel in their caveman costumes. With almost 100 per cent attendance, the party was, as expected, a smashing success.

Delt President Bob Schram holds a very high office in Army ROTC. He is colonel of the cadets, and company commander of the Pershing Rifles. Six other brothers also hold posts in the Pershing Rifles.

Having just initiated nine new Delts, we will still be diminishing our number by two come January graduation. Brothers Dave Molchen and Joe Kucklick will be truly missed, but they leave with our good wishes for the future.

In the coming spring semester Delta Tau Chapter would like the chance to meet more of its brothers. Our hand is always extended to any brother who wishes to visit Bowling Green.

JOHN F. LUBKING, JR.

Brown—Beta Chi

The Delts of Beta Chi Chapter have had a busy fall semester. The high light of the semester was homecoming. The chapter, encouraged by the efforts of Brother Jon Richards, placed second in the homecoming display contest. We were not so successful on the football field. Despite the outstanding play of Delts John Hoover, John Harenski, Bill Caroselli, and Bill Vareschi, Brown was defeated after a close and hard-fought contest. The game aroused much enthusiasm among the fans. This enthusiasm was heightened by Brother Tom Giddings, who presented a spirited half-time show.

The chapter teams have done very well in the interfraternity league. Our football squad, led by our athletic chairman, Steve Rice, finished in third place in the league. Our basketball team is now doing well with a 3-1 record. The bowling team, with Captain Nat Giordano, is having a successful season.

The social activities of the chapter came to a joyful conclusion with our Christmas week end. Ross "Clau" Ketchum performed meritorious service as St. Nick in helping the brothers unwrap their gifts. The week end festivities also included a record party and a party with cartoons and presents for underprivileged children of Providence.

J. COLVIN

California—Beta Omega

Things have been happening this fall at Beta Omega. Keeping apace with the University's staggering intellectual progress, the newly remodeled halls of Delta have been writhing with the contortions of Chubby "Twist 'em-up" Checker; everybody's doing it.

Earlier in the semester, while our remodeling was being completed, we had to resort at a nearby Berkeley hotel. This presented numerous complications on studies, etc, but now we're coming along quite nicely.

We came out on top in intramural football. Lantana Lodge's impotent defense was shattered by our mighty seven in the big championship tilt; it was definitely a battle of ball control, but we held on when it counted. The team to beat in the spring is our newly arising handball squad.

Beta Omega is blessed with a unique mascot, a slippery, plump, green toad. Because of his indiscrete demeanor, he is called "Toad." He's the only free-rider in the house.

With final exams drawing near, we've adopted our traditional crash scholarship program; all pledges are restricted to their rooms during established study periods.

With final exams dominating the immediate scene, accompanied by our rush committee's plans for the expected mid-semester turnover, the fall season at Beta Omega comes to a close. It's been a marvelous year so far.

JOEL FADEM

Carnegie Tech—Delta Beta

To begin the year right, Brother Graves was called to Scabbard and Blade, the ROTC honorary, and Brother Hyland was called to Eta Kappa Nu, the national electrical engineering honorary.

Our fall rush program brought us ten pledges. We are especially proud of these men for they all are over the freshman class average. Pledge Al Marino makes the third Marino in the chapter, the other two being Brother Len Marino and Brother Tony Marino, vice-president.

Brother Lang has done a fine job as social chairman. Among his credits are the Hobo party, South Seas Island party, Beatnik party, and other week ends, such as homecoming. The Christmas party was most successful. The presents, which were handed out by Santa (Brother Rianhard) Claus, brought back many "tender" memories of the past year.

Delta Beta's bowling team is showing fine form by leading the race for the trophy with four wins and no losses. We're looking forward to the first-place bowling trophy of the school.

DENNIS DENLINGER

Cincinnati—Gamma Xi

The chapter has suffered three grave losses within the past three months.

The death of Brother John Betz was a loss to the chapter not soon to be forgotten. John transferred to the University of Cincinnati three years ago from Cornell University and soon established himself on the campus, both in the scholastic and personality areas. He won the Kampus King in 1960, was tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa this past month, and served this year as chairman for the freshmen men's advisory of engineering college. Those who knew John will always remember the spirit he displayed during his fight against leukemia.

Dr. Howard Fischbach's death also came as a shock to the chapter. Dr. Fischbach has long been an active alumnus of the Fraternity and local chapter. His support has benefited many Delts and has set a goal for all to work to attain.

November 28, 1961, brought quite a bit of action to the Shelter. A fire started in the third floor study room and quickly spread, destroying all of the study rooms on the third floor except for one at the extreme end of the hall. Water damage was evident throughout the Shelter. Workmen have been very successful in completing the necessary repair work so that all can now move back into original quarters. For a period of four weeks there was much confusion with room assignments doubled. The chapter was fortunate in that no one was injured and that the damage was not more widespread.

The year has produced many honors for the brothers. Bill Strawbridge was initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, Paul Marshall into Metro, and Dave Lankin into Alpha Chi Sigma. Craig Devine is presently serving as co-editor of Hermes, the Greek newspaper, while Paul Marshall serves as president of Oh Gee Whiz, a congenial bunch within the sophomore's honorary. Ron Ashdown is serving as Alpha Kappa Psi treasurer while Norm Sanford is treasurer of the U.C. bands.

This School year has seen much in the way of social activities. There have been exchange dinners with the Kappas, Kappa Deltas and the Chi Omegas which have proven most enjoyable. A day spent with the Miami chapter and their dates included an interchapter football game, which Miami won, and an open house featuring the Queen City jazz band.

The winter formal provided a relaxing evening at the Holiday Inn and featured the pledge skit based on a Hollywood theme. Don Zimmer, Larry Goodridge, and Ron Ashdown were tapped for membership in Delt Pillars. Alumnus Lou Hixson was also tapped for Delt Pillars as the first honorary member.

Delta Dames presented the chapter with a gift of $300 for the purchase of new furnishings for the front living area. This is very much appreciated by the brothers.

The chapter again spent much time preparing a float for the annual homecoming parade and although no prize was received, a picture of the float made the front page of the local newspaper along with a write-up of the parade. The float building was capably led by Larry Goodridge and his committee.

The holidays have hurried past and the brothers have returned again to school with much work lying ahead of all in intramurals and Kampus King.

NORMAN SANFORD

Colorado—Beta Kappa

This fall has been quite eventful here at Colorado for Delta Tau Delta. Starting with the pledging of 30 fine men in September, who have worked alongside the chapter's 69 actives, a good effort has been displayed in all fields. Intramurally, the Delts have already won all-school titles in football, indoor track, and tennis, plus a fraternity first in wrestling. So far we are the leading entry for the intramural championship.

Socially, we have had our regular fall parties, the homecoming dance, pledge formal, and pajama party. Our next party will be held April 9 when we will have our "gopher hole" party.

In academics, a stronger pledge program for study tables has been initiated. We feel the results will pay off and hope to initiate most of the pledges in March.

We've been successful in open rush, bringing our pledge total up to exactly half of the total actives.

Because our Shelter was built a number of years ago we decided to have it wired over Christmas and now has been brought up to proper standards.

For a number of years we have been complying with local ordinances requiring fire drills. On December 13 it paid off. Some of the old wiring was ignited and caused a brief flurry and a little coughing. Only one minor injury occurred when Davey Brown jumped from the second floor and missed the net by inches.

Elections were held last week. Results were as follows: Bill Lennartz was elected president; Mike George was elected vice-president; Ralph Clough assumes the office of grounds chairman.

We have two new canine mascots this year, bringing our total up to three. All enjoy each other's company.

Doug Beito, traveling secretary, visited the chapter on his annual trip west. It was good to have him.

The chapter welcomes back Joe Coleman to its ranks this semester. Joe has always worked hard for his brothers.

We at Beta Kappa would like to extend Valentine's Day greetings to all other chapters.

JON ARBENZ

Cornell—Beta Omicron

Final exams and icy weather have marked the close of a very successful fall term at the Shelter.

Thanks to Alumni Relations Chairman Pete McAfee, homecoming week end produced a record turnout of Beta Omicron alumni. Many remarked that the week end was one of the best organized and most enjoyable that they had attended.

Seven new pledges were added to the Delt roster in the informal fall rush. Charlie Mason is serving as president of this fine group.

Statistics released earlier in the term showed that the Delts had climbed above All Men's Average and that the chapter average was one of the highest in years. Helping to achieve this were Dick Lincoln, winner of the Warner Orvis Freshman Scholarship Award, and Lee Atkinson, winner of the Warner Orvis Scholarship Improvement Award. In addition, five Delts were elected to Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honorary.

The Delts led a very active social life this fall with five football parties, Christmas party, and a freshman tea among the events. Cornell fall week end was highlighted by a "twisting" Flintstones' party. The annual Delt-Tri-Delt touch football game saw the Delts lose by only two touchdowns. The boys from DTD seemed completely befuddled by the Tri-Delts' sharp passing and smooth ball handling, but somehow made a startling recovery at the post-game party.

Spring rush and IFC week end are foremost on the calendar for 1962.

LARRY WHEELER

Delaware—Delta Upsilon

With the passing of the Christmas and New Year's vacation the Delaware Delts came back to campus "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed," ready to hit the spring rush with all they have. The fall pledges initiated so far are Bob Reinius, Carl Bjournbery, and John Link, the first two being Brittingham scholars from Sweden and Finland, respectively. The Deltas would like to hail Sam Yohai who is receiving a partial scholarship in conjunction with the IFC. Sam is from Colombia, South America.

The fall pledges honored the brothers with the annual Christmas party, at which we were happy to see Santa "Carl" Klaus drop by while the combo took a break.

Looking in retrospect at the float building party, which ended five minutes after the parade had begun, it was well worth the effort, for the Deltas captured the first-place prize for the float. Praise should be piled on Jack O'Day and Wayne Moore for leading the team and leading the float.

January 6 will bring the Highwaymen to the Delaware campus, which the Deltas are sponsoring for the benefit of charity. A post-concert party will probably follow at which we'll all be able to give ourselves a pat on the back. Our thanks to Brothers Dulin and McClary for the little package of joy.

Parties coming up include the regular rushing parties and smokers which Dick Bullock is hard at work preparing for right now, along with Brothers Daly, Agin, and Dulin. We're all looking forward to the Delt week end, the Apache Party, and other yet unscheduled parties in the spring.

Best wishes to the other chapters as we here at Delaware settle down for finals.

BOB RECK

Epsilon Eta took first place with this float at East Texas State.

DePauw—Beta Beta

Beta Beta is off to another outstanding year in intramural athletics at DePauw. Our football team repeated last year's first-place performance, and placed eight players on the all-IM squad. Our swimming team, comprised mostly of freshmen, took a close second place in the recent meet. Last week end saw three Delt wrestlers capture first places in their respective divisions and win another championship for Beta Beta. With several sports remaining, our chances are looking excellent for the IM championship.

Our efforts have not been confined to athletics alone. Many of the individuals in our chapter are active in campus affairs. Gernot Doetsch, the president of Beta Beta, is also president of Student Court, Arnold Air Society, Psi Chi, and a member of Gold Key. Roger Fross was elected vice-president of the student body and president of Gold Key. Brother Phil Dunham is the current vice-president of KTK, the interfraternity council, and Psi Chi, the psychology honorary. Beta Beta is well represented in the sailing club, with Bob VanMetre president.

The sophomore class won first place in the interfraternity competition for best homecoming decoration. Our display sported a 30-foot cannon, complete with smoke and sound effects, to shoot down a flying Butler Bulldog.

Our freshmen are rapidly establishing themselves as the top pledge class on campus through endeavors in freshman athletics and school activities. Our new freshman scholarship program, under the direction of J. B. Noll, is proving quite successful, and we hope to initiate all 37 pledges.

We would like to extend our thanks to the retiring officers who have done such a fine job of presiding over the Shelter: Gernot Doetsch, president; Chuck Combs, vice-president; Al Hutchinson, treasurer; and Bruce Damstra, recording secretary. We hope that the new administration will continue to lead us in the sober traditions of Deltism.

RICK MEYERS

These Beta Beta Deltas again captured the intramural football championship at DePauw.

East Texas State—Epsilon Eta

Under the leadership of Rush Chairman Richard Trapp, Epsilon Eta proudly announces the pledging of 20 of the top men on the East Texas campus. The pledge class includes Sam Carmack, Larry Clinton, Jimmy Cooper, Jerry Corley, Bob Dorset, Bruce Frazer, Ed Goodwin, Dennis Harris, Gary Heard, Jimmy James, Bill Jocher, Tom Ker, Roger Lewis, Andy McIntyre, Jackie Mullenix, Elbert Pruett, Bob Quinn, Robert Sondenregger, Joe Roper, and Tom Huddleston.

As usual, many of the Epsilon Eta Delts are holding political offices as the result of the fall elections. Pledge Tom Ker was elected president of the freshman class and his pledge brother, Bob Dorset, was elected vice-president. Brother Jerry Wesson was elected president of the junior class and Brother Gary McCollom will be the president of the senior class. All four of these men are on the executive council of the Student Senate. Brothers Larry Barnes, Craig Atherton, Larry Felty, and Pledge David "Fats" Mayo were also elected to serve as senators to the Student Senate.

Homecoming was a big affair this year at Epsilon Eta. Larry Felty did a great job as float chairman and in spite of the many wisecracks and remarks about the float, "Felty's Folly" came through and won first place in the fraternity division and over-all grand prize. The Delts gave all of their prize money to the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, whose house had burned the night before homecoming. Homecoming night we had our annual homecoming dance.

Perhaps our best social event of the fall semester was the "Mexican Fiesta" that was held in December. The menu of barbecue goat and venison and all the trimmings was enjoyed by all the Delts and their dates. The social events on the agenda for the spring semester are the "Western Stomp" and our week end outing at some lake.

This should truly be a great year for Delta Tau Delta at East Texas State, socially, scholastically, and athletically. As we say here at East Texas, "You'll come to see us."

JERRY WESSON

Emory—Beta Epsilon

As fall quarter of 1961 drew to a close, Beta Epsilon could look back with pride at its achievements of the past three months.

The Delts placed second in their bracket in the intramural football league and were a close contender for championship of the swim meet, winning the 200-yard relay, the 75-yard individual medley, and the weight-treading contest.

Five brothers were tapped for Alpha Epsilon Upsilon, lower division honorary society. These were John Studstill, John Martin, David Findley, Ron Carlisle, and Bill Mock.

John Studstill was elected treasurer of the Emory Christian Association.

The annual "Go-to-Hell" party, complete with devil, was held in November immediately following Religious Emphasis Week. This was a campus-wide event and as usual, was tremendously successful.

Fifteen new brothers were initiated into Beta Epsilon on January 7. Officers for the coming year were also elected. They are as follows: Doug Frisbie, president; John Studstill, vice-president; Ron Carlisle, corresponding secretary; Jerry Saunders, recording secretary; Phil Certain, treasurer; Emery Wilson, rush chairman; John Winsness, guide; and John Wright, sergeant at arms.

SAM MATHENY

Florida—Delta Zeta

Quite some time ago I heard someone describe Florida as the "Winter Playground," and to a certain extent I believe what they said was true. We've had all sorts of winter visitors over the past several weeks; Santa, followed by every other form of life from his section of the country—polar bears, penguins, and a few tourists. They've been very much at home here since, I'm sure, they've brought their entire environment with them.

Despite the weather, however, our style at the University of Florida has been limited only in that we've confined most of our activities to the great wide indoors, and that could hardly be called a hinder, not to a Delta that is. I'm sure that like the rest of our brother Delts, Christmas always brings on a flurry of activity. As in years past, we had our good and healthy share of parties, but we had one in particular that was especially heartwarming. For the past several years our chapter, along with the Delta Gamma Sorority, has sponsored a Christmas party, complete with Santa, for teenage children from the St. Augustine School for the Deaf and Blind. As usual, it would be hard to say who had the best time, but this party never fails to give every one of us the deep and significant feeling of Christmas.

And then there were the Christmas parties we gave ourselves. On the Friday before vacation Santa came again—we gave him a good run for his money this year—with his gag and slightly satirical gifts. This was followed on Saturday by one of our most lavish gatherings of the year. Bedecked with semiformal and backslapping grins, we launched an evening resplendent with steak and candlelight. Later we shed the refined garments and climbed comfortably into our typical and familiar casuals and spent the evening partying with a tremendous band.

When you actually get down to it, this time of year is good for anything but hibernation. For one thing we've got a new slate of officers opening up the new year and the new semester we have coming up just around the corner (which of course means that we have those beloved finals still to look forward to). We have a great deal of confidence in them, and I'm sure they will bear this out in the year to come. They include: President John Devault; Vice-President Larry Buchanan; Treasurer Mike Cook; Assistant Treasurer John Paul; Corresponding Secretary Andy Bohutinsky; Frank Maxwell as recording secretary, and, of course, Nick Alessi as sergeant at arms.

In the minds of everyone about now, especially with all the wonderful winter weather we've been having, are plans for summer capers. If you've heard that we have summer year-round here—it's not true—but it does come a little early down our way. At least in time for Easter vacation. Like a good many of yourselves we make the "mass movement" to Lauderdale every year ourselves. But unlike most others who make the trip, our vacation comes a little later and is a good deal shorter. What I'm getting to is this; on your way down be sure to plan your trip through Gainesville and stop by. For those of you who visited us on our houseboat in Lauderdale last Easter, especially the 25 Miami of Ohio Delts, we again extend an open invitation to float by. See you then.

Florida State—Delta Phi

These past months have been happy and successful ones for the Delts at Florida State. Beginning the year with 25 top pledges, Delts streamed forward to win the first trophy presented in the new year, the annual Soap Box Derby award. They are now in rehearsal for Campus Sing, hoping to regain the first-place trophy, one which they have won for the past two years. Delts also sponsored Miss Carol Hair, the 1962 Orange Bowl queen, who reigned over the New Year's day football festivities.

Preparations are now being made for the annual DTD slave auction at which the brothers and pledges are sold to the F.S.U. coeds for the Campus Chest fund. This is one of the most popular events on campus and receives a full-page spread in the Flambeau, F.S.U. yearbook. This year the Deltas will crown a slave auction queen at the festivities.

The annual Delt sorority of the year award is now being compiled. Each year the Deltas present this award. The trophy is four feet high and is the largest one presented on campus. Last year's winner was Kappa Delta.

Much fun was had at the Deltas "Dog-patch" party when they converted the entire Shelter into a haystack. Christmas gatherings, parties for the underprivileged children, and caroling jaunts made the month of December great fun for all. In January, the Deltas will hold their last party before exams, a combo party at the Shelter.

Outstanding Deltas of Delta Phi include: Richie Weber, star halfback of the varsity squad and winner of the "most valuable player award;" Neal Allen, All-American diver and outstanding diver of the F.S.U. squad; Tom Lasanta, F.S.U.

swimming team standout; Ron Bissland, another F.S.U. swimming star; Mark Owen of the diving squad and F.S.U.'s No. 1 diver for the year 1962; Rod Reimenschnieder, F.S.U. golfer; Bruce Darsey, star center and twice winner of the most valuable player award; Fred Burkey, chairman of the student party; David Wiles and Sam Bird of the F.S.U. judiciary; and Junior Holland, social chairman of IFC.

The pledge officers for this year are: Bob Hatfield, president; Ray Cosby, vice-president; Dave Paulsen, social chairman. Their pledge project was an extreme success. They organized a "gambling party" and raised over $150. This bought a new solid walnut door for the Shelter. The new door has a gold Delt crest engraved on it.

Placing in the top three in the "fraternity of the year" award for the past six years, Deltas are punching hard to maintain their high standing on campus. From the way things look now, they shouldn't have any trouble at all.

All of the Deltas at Florida State want to thank their lovely queen, Miss LeAnne McElveen, for her wonderful support and charming representation of the chapter this year. LeAnne is a junior from Atlanta, Georgia.

The Deltas at Delta Phi wish everyone

George Washington—Gamma Eta

The men of Gamma Eta started off the year with a very successful rush after painting the inside of the Shelter and thereby improving its appearance immensely. We took 22 good men, which total was second highest on campus. Rush Chairman Dan Cullather did a fine job. This pledge class built the Gamma Eta float which walked off with first place in the George Washington homecoming float competition. Pledge Ron Kinder, float chairman, is to be congratulated for a fine job of organization. While on the topic of Delt "firsts," the chapter's intramural football combine was able to take first place in the intramural grid competition this year. Lesser achievements include a third place in intramural swimming, a second place in the University's Christmas decoration contest, and several second places in Car Cavalcade contests, which are held before each basketball game. We aim to win some firsts, however. In basketball we are holding our own, being undefeated to this point. Our bowling squad has just begun its season and has a 1 and 1 record thus far.

We have successfully made an all-out effort to send a delegation each month to the alumni luncheons here in Washington. On the 19th of November the Gamma Eta Mother's Alliance gave a family dinner which was a true success. The brothers got an opportunity to meet each others' parents and the parents in turn got to know their boys' comrades better. Another dinner is already being planned for the spring semester. Of course, we have had our share of parties, including exchanges with the Thetas, Delta Gammas, Kappas, and Chi Omegas. Our TGIFs have been well attended and our public relations on campus have been exceedingly well tended to all semester.

We initiated six new men in October, among them two GW football players. We soon took them out to meet the men of the Maryland chapter and a few of the brothers have been visitors in College Park, Maryland, on a couple of Saturday nights when things have been quiet on our own campus.

Having given a general summation of our activities throughout the semester, it would not be amiss to give a few names of the men who did outstanding jobs in these endeavors. In football, Captain Dan Lowe, Center Bill Massey, QB Bill McAdams, Halfback Tommy Hawkins, Guard Jack Clifford, and Ends John Whiting and Stu Ross, all deserve good words. In swimming, Dan Cullather, Frank Swift, and Carl Kneiss were standouts. Larry Wallace deserves a pat on the back for his work on the float and, of course, Mrs. Calaroo as president of the Mother's Alliance is to be congratulated for her work in organizing the family dinner. Chapter Photographer George Hamilton has faithfully recorded each event on film and our scrapbook is in fine shape.

ROBERT NICHOLS

Georgia—Beta Delta

Both scholastically and socially, fall quarter at Beta Delta was a fine time. While raising the roof at six parties, the brothers and pledges still managed to make grades above the campus average and place near the top among fraternities. In fact, over 75 per cent of the pledge class made grades high enough to be initiated during winter quarter. Besides making such high grades the pledge class, headed by Pledge Trainer Bill Ridley, proved to be of great help in all sports, especially football and swimming.

In the meantime, the brothers have certainly not been standing still. Bill Peterson and Art Murdoc were elected and initiated into "X" Club, while Bill Odum was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma. James Morrison was captain of the outstanding Georgia rifle team. Former president, Rhett Tanner (1960-'61), climaxed his college career by passing the state bar exam and being elected in Who's Who in American Colleges. The chapter as a whole co-operated with the local community chest in a town-wide campaign.

It had become more and more apparent during fall quarter that Beta Delta was in need of a mascot. Everyone agreed that this was true, but there was considerable debate as to exactly what to get. Suggestions ranging from St. Bernards to Alligators were made, but finally everyone settled on a dog of noble ancestry (10 per cent Basset Hound, 2 per cent German Shepherd, 88 per cent (?)) and he was named Fuzzgood. Fuzzgood has proved to be the ideal fraternity dog, either howling on the sidelines at a football game or just causing a general disturbance at chapter meetings and parties.

Winter quarter, although only a week old at this writing, has gotten off to a great start. Initiation activities, composed mostly of sprucing up the house and helping sororities, were interrupted sporadically by snowball fights with nearby sororities (there are eight sororities within two blocks of Beta Delta). Ed McKinney was elected as treasurer for the coming year and Brian McVinney, his assistant. Finally, the week was capped off by a party for the new initiates with the Mark III Band and singer Robert Kitchens. It looks like another successful and fun-filled quarter at Beta Delta!

BILL ODUM

Georgia Tech—Gamma Psi

Gamma Psi commenced another college year with its usual gesticulation. We started off what was to culminate in one of the most successful rush weeks in our history with Brother Dekle Rountree as rush chairman. Several parties were held during the summer, at which the number of brothers and rushees was large. Our summer rush party at the Shelter was the climax of a forest and lake party complete with water-skiing, fun, and frivolity.

Rush week began with a rush girl tea and ended with the best pledge class in the history of Gamma Psi. One of the biggest assets to the Shelter was the completion of the patio and the immaculate appearance of the house. These preparations resulted in the pledging of 38 men this fall.

Our actives now number 79 and with our pledge class of 38 our total fraternity roll is second largest on campus.

BILL HATCHER and BOBBY TOLBERT in the midst of assembling a wreck for Gamma Psi

Gamma Psi entry in Georgia Tech's "Rambling Wreck" Parade

Mrs. Eugenia McLane has come to join us as our housemother for this year. After just a few months, Mother Mac has become an inseparable part of our chapter. Her ever-present smile and friendly greeting make a lasting impression on every visitor to the Shelter; and it goes without saying the brothers and pledges think she's tops.

In the field of sports, two Delts were elected team captains for the coming season. They are Steve Halleck, captain of the swimming team, and Gordon Clayton, captain of the cross-country squad. Barry Johnston, Neal Tharpe, and Phil Ramsey are leading the way in a nearly all-Delt gymnastics team, while Bob Popp paddles his way to his second varsity letter in swimming.

On the intramural front, both our football and volleyball teams started off strong but were hampered by injuries late in the season. We expect a stellar performance from our all-pro net team in the winter quarter.

Scholarship for the fall quarter found the Gamma Psi Delts above the All Men's Average for the fifth quarter in a row. We were also above the All Fraternity Average by a good margin. We at Gamma Psi feel that this is just reward for our efforts, and we will endeavor to uphold this tradition.

Two new officers have taken over the reins of leadership during fall quarter. Ron Bowers is now vice-president of Gamma Psi. Incidentally, Ron was recently elected to Eta Kappa Nu, a national electrical engineering honorary, which gives just credit to Ron's scholastic abilities as well as his leadership potential. Fred Howard has assumed the treasurer's responsibilities, and with his recent experience as assistant treasurer he should do a fine job.

Delts continue to dominate the publications field here at Georgia Tech. John Dillon was appointed news editor of the Technique, Tech's weekly newspaper, and Richard Kierbow and Jim Martin will serve on Brother Dillon's staff. Brother Lemarr was made associate editor of the paper and Dan Hartley is now advertising manager for the Tech yearbook. An additional honor was accorded Brothers Dillon and Lemarr when they were elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism fraternity for all publications.

Military ROTC honors were presented to four Delts. Jerry Hanchey and Winston Duke were initiated into the Arnold Air Society while John Dillon and Richard Kierbow became members of Scabbard and Blade. Other campus awards went to Mike Varney and Dan Hartley, who were inducted into Sigma Gamma Tau, aeronautical engineering honorary, and John Fletcher recently was initiated into Pi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering honor society. Steve Halleck became distinguished as the only Delt ever to be initiated into Keramos, the honorary society for ceramic engineers.

Brothers Dave Crapps and Dave Fuller were honored by being initiated into Tau Beta Pi, the top national engineering honorary fraternity on college campuses.

Brothers McCaslin, Joy, and Dillon have captured outstanding BMOC positions on campus. Bill McCaslin was elected a delegate to the National Interfraternity Conference in Boston. Brother Joy, who is associate editor for the Tech yearbook, The Blueprint, has been appointed a representative to the Georgia Tech publications board in behalf of Pi Delta Epsilon. John Dillon has accrued yet another distinction this quarter, that of being elected to the highly sought after Kosme Society.

Planning is now in full swing for our winter formal, the Rainbow Ball. We feel this will be the most successful Rainbow yet and, without a doubt, this should continue to be a Delt year at Georgia Tech.

Hillsdale—Kappa

As the fall semester for this year draws to a close, the men of Kappa can look back over four eventful months that saw many honors and equally as much fun come our way. Bob McLaren, Kappa's president, was elected to the office of senior class president. Taylor Devine, the president of the Union Board, was elected president of the junior class. Dave Potts was voted the man for junior class social chairman. The Delts won the scholarship trophy for the second straight semester for spring term, 1961, and finished second in the IM football league.

Socially, the Delts were not exactly idle either. With rush over, Kappa moved into its usual roster of activities. There was a jam session held in the house with Delt alums providing the music. On October 6 the men of Kappa held the traditional fall informal, the Bowery Brawl. The party was held in the Shelter and was voted a huge success; especially by the more progressive brothers. The music was provided by the Rock 'n' Roll band of Willie Brown; not exactly Gay '20's music but the campus felt the impact well into the wee hours of the night. Dad's day was, as usual, a great event.

On November 17, Kappa Chapter held its winter formal at the country club in Tecumseh, Michigan. Counted as one of the major successes of the whole year, the party, attended by two bus-loads of Delts and their dates, really swung to the music of the Dixie Flyers.

The close of rush week found 15 men newly enrolled as pledges of Kappa Chapter. They are: Pete Ackerman, Kent Backman, Gary Barney, Terry Comar, Dick Dalhaus, Larry Haid, Mike Lagassee, John Le Sourd, John Martin, Duke Morton, Dave Pringle, Gardner Smith, Barry Stickle, Rick Vandersloot, and Steve Bierstock. A new addition to Kappa Chapter is Walt Leighton, who comes to us from Beta Pi Chapter at Northwestern University. There is yet another addition to the Delts of Hillsdale, this time in canine form. Her name is Ritz II, named after the original Ritz that was Kappa's mascot in the 1940's and who received an honorary degree from Hillsdale College, entitled Doctor of Dogmatics for his faithful attendance of classes. Ritz II, like the first Ritz, is a thoroughbred Great Dane.

In closing, the men of Kappa would like to thank with all sincerity the alums who have made contributions to the building fund. There has been a delay in the notification of those of you who have shown your continuing interest in Kappa Chapter. For this please excuse us and accept our deeply-felt apology. The matter is not entirely our fault and we will try to see that you are kept informed of the action being taken and the ensuing progress. Thank you again for your help.

BILL DALLAVO

Idaho—Delta Mu

The first week of classes found us busy with the Alpha Phis constructing a homecoming float. Although we did not take top honors, we finished a respectable third. A few weeks later we finished second in the Dad's Day house decorating contest, thanks to industrious effort put forth by the pledge class.

On the IM scene, it looks as though Delta Mu is hot on the trail of another all-campus championship, thanks to Bobbie Hall, IM manager. With a fifth-place finish in football and an eighth-place finish in swimming, we came back strong to take the cross-country championship, the tennis championship, and the Greek volleyball championship. With this strong finish, we are now only eight points behind the leaders and should cut them down to nothing in the spring sports.

The Delts have again been out on campus this fall. Greg Holt is a yell leader for Idaho's football and basketball games, and Gary Micheal was appointed to the executive board. In the political merry-go-round, Berry Nelson was elected sophomore class vice-president, and Dick Davies was defeated for senior class president by a mere four votes. Duane Allred was homecoming chairman and Chuck Robertson was accepted to medical school at Washington University. Ron Kulm turned in another fine year for the Idaho Vandals with excellent play at offensive end and defensive halfback. Larry Miner, Greg Schade, and Randy Hillier were initiated into Helldivers this fall.

The remodeling and the new addition to be added to Delta Mu is now approaching the final planning stage, so work will commence in the spring. This is being made possible largely through the efforts of Mark Ware, George Brunsell, and Frank Bevington, alumni who haven't forgotten their Delt Shelter and who Delta Mu will never forget.

Election of officers was held late in December and the following men will start in February to lead Delta Mu through another great year: president, Tom Schmidt; vice-president, Terry Winters; corresponding secretary, Greg Holt; guide, John Rowe; sergeant at arms, Fred Bergeman; treasurer, Phil Davies; and assistant treasurer, Bob Riley.

Next event on the calendar is the Odd Ball dance and after that all activity will cease around the Shelter to prepare for finals and place Delta Mu first in scholarship among the fraternities.

BRUCE ANDERSON

ROBERT J. PFEIFER,
Beta Upsilon, chosen
class valedictorian at Illinois

Illinois Tech—Gamma Beta

We at Gamma Beta welcomed our new housemother "Mom" Graham this last semester and are pleased with her help in the chapter. Mom came from Ohio and had been a housemother at California before coming here.

At the all-school formal, the I-Ball, Dels had two of the five finalists, maintaining a record of never failing to have a girl on the court. This year Patricia Wistle was escorted by Brother Buteyn and Linda Thomas was escorted by Brother VanHorn.

New officers were elected at the last meeting of the semester. Brother Fred McMurray won the presidency and as his vice-president, Marty Jischke was elected. Malcom Allison will assume the job of treasurer. Brothers Hanover and Love were elected as recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively. Lyle Clugg will serve as guide and Norm Szala will become sergeant at arms. Bruce Buteyn will understudy Allison as assistant treasurer. Keeping the house clean will be the duty of Bob Loarie in his new post as house manager.

In the BMOC department, Bill Miller will be replaced by Bill Anderson and Bruce Buteyn as liberal studies and engineering representatives. Together with Senior President VanHorn, this gives us three votes in the student governing body; the most of any house or organization. Brother Bill Miller was initiated into Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary. Brother Jischke was initiated into Beta Omega Nu, interfraternity honorary. Sigma Iota Epsilon initiated Brother VanHorn. Dick Noel was elected treasurer of IFC and Brother Buteyn was appointed chairman of publicity for the organization. George Hanover was advanced to news editor of the school paper and John Love was given the job of sports publicity for the school in connection with the regular publicity department.

In the field of athletics, two brothers, Benevich and Love, are on the varsity basketball team. Benevich was recently rated seventh high scorer in the small college conference. Pledges Michalek, O'Brien, and Frank are members of the B-squad. In swimming, four Dels represent the chapter. Brothers Miller and Yoerg are cocaptains and Brother Anderson is first-string backstroke. Pledge Russell is the first-string butterfly swimmer. Captain Dave McGuire, together with Brothers Buteyn and Henricks, compose much of the strength on the varsity wrestling team. Pledge Thomas wrestles in the flyweight division for the first string.

In addition to being active in school sports, the Dels are quite capable in interfraternity sports as well. Disappointed but undaunted by our fifth in IF football, Bob Yoerg, Mel Roll, and Jim Caldwell walked away with the tennis championship, beating the previous year's champions by a margin of over 30 points. Not satisfied with only one trophy, we went on to win the IF swimming championship for the third year in a row. Brothers Mayerick, Hill, and McMurray were ably assisted by Pledges Hughes, Russell, Hull, Thomas, Caldwell, and Witchey. The competition was close until the last event which gave us the winning margin of three points.

The pledges treated the active chapter to an evening in New Orleans at the traditional winter pledge formal in the Shelter. The whole downstairs was decorated with trees, hanging moss, and an actual stream to create the effect. The brothers and pledges and their dates danced to the soft music of The Contenders.

This followed the Halloween party, held the previous week end, where the Dels and their dates were led into the social room, which had been filled with hay and pumpkins. Everyone was in costume.

Not to be misled by the kindness and sweetness of the pledge class, we were treated to a walkout, which found all of us locked in the dorms and all of them on a bus for Illinois. Brother Norm Szala was held captive and made the trip with them dressed only in his pajamas. He said that they had fun and he found some pledges who were his size.

Our Rainbow Formal, under the able direction of Brother Lauren Hillquist, will be held in the Four Georges and Chippendale rooms of the Ambassador West. If any Rainbow Ball could match the one held last year in the East this one has all the makings of doing it. The date is May 12.

Our pledges won their PIFC basketball crown by defeating the second-place team 40-27. This gives them a trophy with the first leg of three for the Dels.

In all, this has been a very busy time of year for us with so many activities going on. We are now in the midst of preparing for an equally big and possibly better spring semester. We hope that with the added strength the chapter now has that we may again come out on top, only by a much greater margin than last year. We extend our wishes for a very Happy New Year to all our fellow Dels and invite them to stop by if they are in the vicinity.

GEORGE BOVIS

Iowa State—Gamma Pi

With the beginning of winter quarter, the Gamma Pi Dels can look back with pride at the achievements of fall quarter. This quarter looks like it is going to be even better.

Craig Hollowell, our scholarship chairman, has done a great deal to improve the scholarship of the Dels at Iowa State. He is a member of Pi Mu Sigma, scholastic honorary, and Alpha Chi Sigma, chemistry honorary. Pledge Dave Olson received a 4.00 average last quarter to rank him at the top of his pledge class. Dave is majoring in bacteriology and carried 19 hours last quarter.

The Gamma Pi Deltas had two football teams, a volleyball team, and a bowling team entered in intramural competition last quarter. This quarter we have four basketball teams and two table tennis teams. With almost all of the brothers participating in intramurals, the chapter should rank very high among the other fraternities in points per man.

Socially, our chapter is really beginning to function with a newly revised social committee. Last quarter we had a Boon Docks party in September and several successful firesides. This quarter we have already had a hayride and a Christmas party. We are planning a Boomshelter party on February 10. The pledges are planning exchanges with sorority pledge classes and combined with our party in February, we will have a very successful social life this quarter.

Many prominent positions on campus are held by Deltas this year. Dave Nagel is Pep Council treasurer and Dave Scheiding, Al Kuhlman, and Bob Kopp are members of Pep Council. Dave Scheiding is the varsity basketball manager and will be on the varsity tennis team this spring. President Dave Nagel is Interfraternity Court justice. Tom Kline was the cochairman of homecoming last fall. Bob Lorentzen was the Pep barbecue chairman last fall for homecoming and he will be Cyclone Review chairman this spring, an important position on Veishea central committee. Gil Bachmann is the drum major for the Iowa State University marching band.

Last quarter, the Iowa State Deltas celebrated their 50th anniversary by having a reunion at the Hotel Holst in Boone, Iowa. Kenneth C. Penfold was the speaker at the banquet. Brother Jerry Kolschowsky did a very fine job of planning this event, which will be remembered for years to come.

In closing, the Gamma Pi Deltas would like to extend their best wishes for the new year to all of the Delt chapters throughout the country. Gamma Pi would also like to extend an invitation to all brothers who visit Iowa State to stop at the Shelter. We would also like more of our alums to drop by and share some of their past experiences with all of the brothers.

Mrs. BERNICE PEDEN, housemother to Gamma Pi at Iowa State

RICK THORBURN

Kansas—Gamma Tau

It has been an active semester for the men of Gamma Tau since the last issue of THE RAINBOW. Hard studying, social events, "Hill" and chapter activities have highlighted the last few months.

On October 22, ten men became members of Delta Tau Delta in an impressive ceremony following our traditional initiation banquet.

Gamma Tau's spirited intramural football teams did quite well for themselves this fall by capturing two second-place divisional trophies. At present our intramural activities are centered around basketball, and the season having barely begun, the outlook for the Deltas is good.

On November 4, the brothers and their dates enjoyed the annual paddle party held at the barn. The twist highlighted the evening's activities, the effects of which were felt by one and all the following morning. A major rush party was also held at the barn during the semester. It was a new type rush party for Gamma Tau, and we feel that a good time was had by all brothers, rushees, and their dates.

Highlighting the chapter's fall-semester social activities was the annual Christmas party held in the Shelter. Deltas and their dates enjoyed this colorful Christmas event with dancing, pinnings, and all-around good fun. Christmas vacation followed shortly thereafter, providing a welcome break before final exams.

Once again men of Gamma Tau are proving themselves in "Hill" activities. Brother Dean Salter was elected to a seat on the Student Council and Brother Bob Moutrie was chosen SUA (Student Union Activities) spring concert chairman, a position of great importance and responsibility. Brother Dick Harper was recently initiated into the University's honorary physics fraternity, an honor requiring very high scholastic achievement.

In the next two weeks the men of Gamma Tau will be exhaustingly occupied with final exams. Survival, however, is certain, and second semester will find us once again engaged in the excitement of fraternity and university life.

BOB RUZICKA

Kansas State—Gamma Chi

Tuesday, January 9, saw the election of the new officers here at Gamma Chi. We are grateful to the outgoing administration for its fine year of service. The new officers for Gamma Chi are: president, Frank Jordan; vice-president, Mike Davis; recording secretary, Dennis Brundige; corresponding secretary, Dave Wagner; treasurer, Larry Kraft; assistant treasurer, Ed Mitchell; guide, Jack Hooker; and sergeant at arms, Ron Sitts.

Once again we're the leaders in campus activities this fall. Brother Dave All was vice-president of the Student Body Association. He also was president of the student council. Brother D. J. Hubbard was the chairman of the Union Governing Board. Brothers Larry Kraft, Jim Fairchild, Charles Kipfer, Larry Bingham, and Chapter Adviser Ward M. Keller, were all members of the 13-member Union Governing Board. Larry Bingham was also the chairman of the Union program cabinet.

Brother Dennis Brundige was the chairman of the jazz committee of campus entertainment while Duane VonFange was the chairman of the Union art committee. Brother Tom Sparks was the chairman of the K-State flash card section.

Brothers Dave Wagner, Dennis Navrat, Louis Haffermehl, and Larry Dallen all held important offices in the Union. It seems to be of little wonder why the Student Union is often referred to as the Delt annex.

One of the most important chairmanships that is currently held by Brother Gene Francis is the position of chairman of the Student Activities Board. This board has the authority to approve all student activities on campus; Mike Davis was also a member of this board.

A Delt is also in possession of a high position on the school paper. Brother Marlin Fitzwater will be the new daily editor of the Collegian. Brother Monte Miller will be the business manager of the school yearbook, the Royal Purple.

The Delt Chapter at Kansas State is proud of another fine distinction. Brothers Jim Fairchild, Larry Bingham, and Rich Aberle were all members of Blue Key, the honorary for senior men. This fraternity annually selects for membership the top 13 senior men on campus. The selections are based on the over-all excellence of these men.

Brothers Jim Fairchild and Bob Pearse are members of the K-State Singers, a singing group composed of six boys and six girls. This summer the group took a tour and entertained the men at the Far East military bases and is now planning to make a European tour this summer. There is also a possibility that the group may make a personal appearance on the Ed Sullivan TV show in the near future.

The Deltas were represented on the K-State athletic squads. Brother Jack Richardson and Pledges Harold Haun and Jack King were on the varsity football squad.

Brothers Jack Richardson, Jack Hooker and Gerald Perkins are all on the track squad. Jerry Hooker is another Delt on the track team. He is one of the men to beat this year in the Big Eight. He recently took a fine fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles in the Sugar Bowl meet in New Orleans this New Year's.

Brother Jack Grove is a starter in the 177-pound class on the Wildcat wrestling squad, while Tom Sparks is on the gymnastics squad. Pledge Hahn is also the leading returning letterman on the baseball squad.

The Deltas are once again ranking high at the halfway mark in the intramural season. We finished second in the football season, losing out by six points in the final game. The bowling squad also placed second in the Class A bowling, losing by one game after leading the league all season. The Delt teams scored well in all sports and are anxiously looking forward to the spring competition where we are sure that we can place in the top three.

As is usual, Gamma Chi took second to no one in the social areas. With a full slate of house parties set up by Duane VonFange, our social chairman, we can look back on the fall semester as an exciting one. The house exchanges and rush week ends were enjoyable for everyone. Heading the list were the Driftwood party and the annual Paddle Party.

Kent—Delta Omega

Scholarship, athletic achievements, and social activities highlighted Delta Omega's 1961 fall quarter at Kent and these, plus many other facets of collegiate endeavor, promise to make 1962 an exciting and rewarding year for this Delt chapter.

Scholastically speaking, our chapter did well last fall by ranking above more than half the fraternities on campus. Scholarship Chairman Carl Nothhaft set a shining example for the brothers by attaining a straight-A average, while Pledge Tom O'Donnell, Carl's little brother, placed second with a 3.79.

Wrestling was probably our chapter's strongest sport during fall quarter as we took second place in Greek competition. Brothers Dan Marks, heavyweight section, and Al Pivonka, 157-pound class, finished undefeated, while Brother Dick Bracken, 167-pound class, was runner-up in his division.

The athletic future of Delta Omega is quite bright since the formation of our intramural basketball team in October. With two months practice before the season opener, plus entry into an industrial league composed of ex-collegiate stars of the area, the Deltas are highly touted on the KSU campus to sweep the intramural honors. The squad is led by Leo Sparr, 6' 4" jump-shot artist; Jon Miller, 6' 6" center; Rich Kahler, 6' 3" forward and a pair of 6' guards, Carl Nothhaft and Tom O'Donnell.

This season's social activities will be headed by the Winter Week End and Winter Formal. These major events will be complemented by a number of firesides during the quarter and some very original parties.

Last fall's social calendar was spotlighted by the homecoming dance and the Christmas party. The night of homecoming was a memorable one indeed, as both undergraduates and alumni witnessed the burning of the mortgage on our Shelter. This event climaxed ten years of planning and laboring by Delta Omega's sons, and all who were in attendance that night could well feel a deep sense of accomplishment. The Christmas party, with 220-pound Brother Gary Novak donning the regalia of Santa Claus, was preceded by an excellent party at the home of Brother Denny Peterson.

The fall quarter pledge class has recently been activated and the winter class is currently busy learning fraternal lore and traditions. Brother Bill Pirtle, rush chairman, and Brother David J. Brock, pledge trainer, have combined to make Delta Omega confident of a continuing stream of excellent new members.

All members of Delta Omega participate in campus activities to varying degrees and many have acquired positions of importance in these areas. Brother Don Woodcock replaced Brother Jack Fristoe as business manager of the student newspaper at the start of the new year. Brother Woodcock also joined Brothers Fristoe, Jack Huber, and Bob Kellogg as members of Blue Key, the university men's honorary. Brothers Fristoe and Huber appear also in the 1961 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Finally, Brother Fristoe will be in charge of the 1962 new student program at Kent next fall.

Good discipline is maintained in the Shelter by numerous brothers who are enrolled in either the Army or Air Force ROTC programs at Kent. Outstanding in these branches are two Delts who were highly honored during fall quarter. Brother A. C. Silvini, a sophomore in Army ROTC, was awarded the first-place trophy after defeating 130 other cadets in individual competition during the Ohio First Battalion drill meet held in Cleveland, Ohio, while Brother John Middendorf was declared No. 1 in his junior class in Air Force ROTC at the completion of 1961.

Delta Omega Chapter was saddened to hear that it was losing its adviser, Brother Gary Fox, early in 1962. Gary, an executive with one of the major tire companies, is being transferred to Germany, and although we hate to see him go, we rejoice in the fact that his professional future is rapidly expanding.

Kentucky—Delta Epsilon

The snow is covering the ground and growing deeper, and the men of Delta Epsilon have been driven inside to hit the books. Let's listen in on one of the frequent bull sessions in the Shelter living room:

Brother Lowe: Do you all realize that our intramural basketball victory tonight brought our record for the last three years to 35 wins and one loss?

Brother Patterson: Looks like your leaving for grad school as Syracuse next semester will reinstate Adolph Rupp as the winningest basketball coach at UK.

A basketball championship along with our championships in croquet, by John Burkhard, and in golf mixed doubles will put us in pretty good position in intramurals.

Brother Pryor: This has been a good year, complete with initiating 17 new actives from the upperclassmen rush.

Brother Deters: Do you realize how many have been tapped for honoraries? There have been quite a few: John Burkhard, John Baxter, Ted Gum, Woody McGraw, Rae Williamson, Dick Lowe, Bob Carpenter, Dick Coons, Bill Jewell, Dan Patterson, Bill Wathen, and Carlyle Bedd Bailey.

Brother Wathen: Have you heard that Juddy Knight is the new Canterbury Club president?

It will go on like that for hours with the discussion leading from girls to world problems, and even to studies with the days 'til exams being few.

In the president and social chairman room we find out a little about the social activities the brothers have enjoyed.

President: Carlyle, we've got to schedule a party.

Social chairman: Huh.

President: We've had the Delt-Tri Delt formal, the neon party, desserts, parties at Congress Inn and at the house, rush parties, and parties at the reservoir, but we've got to get a new idea for a party before exams.

Social chairman: Go away, I'm sleeping, I had to get up for my 11:00 o'clock class this morning, and I'm tired.

President: Well, I was thinking we might invite the dean of men out and have a "Sing Along With Mitch" party, or maybe have a taffy pull or a . . ."

It goes on for hours around here, but we like it and the furnace is still working so what have we got to complain about.

The Delts again sponsored parties for underprivileged children with the UK sororities at Christmas time.

Newly elected officers are: Bob Carpenter, president; John P. Burkhard, vice-president; Clyde P. Baldwin, corresponding secretary; Ed Houlihan, recording secretary; Ken Brandenburg, treasurer; Ken Bivins, assistant treasurer; J. Donnie Wright, sergeant at arms; and Larry Bass, guide.

Until spring and the flowers and mushrooms—auf wiedersehen.

Lafayette—Nu

As the first semester closes, we have time to look over the past four months and reminisce, or, as in some cases, wince, at the past events. Probably the biggest event was Nu Chapter's winning of the All-Campus trophy. It is awarded every year to the highest ranking fraternity on campus. Out of 22 living groups, Delta Tau Delta had accumulated by far the greatest number of points received for academic achievement, athletic prowess, social acceptance, charity, and extracurricular prowess.

H. Peter Claussen, our president, has been elected president of the Lafayette Fraternity Council. Pete had the great honor of presiding over the Council's last formal meeting on January 4, as the Council was dramatically dissolved. Pete also was the assistant dance chairman and present dance chairman for the interfraternity council.

On December 15, Nu Chapter held an alumni banquet, feting those alumni in the area who plan to start an Easton Alumni Chapter. Herb McCracken, former president of our Fraternity, gave a speech concerning the real meaning and purpose of Delta Tau Delta. During the same week, we held a Christmas party for the underprivileged children of Easton, while our overprivileged brothers played Santa Claus for the evening.

"My Old Kentucky Home," Shelter of Delta Epsilon

Concerning sports, we have continued to remain among the tops on campus. After winning IM cross-country, we finished a thrilling football season, only to lose in the final seconds of the championship game. At present, we are leading the bowling league and are second in basketball.

For the fifth semester in a row we have received the scholarship award for remaining above the All Men's Average. Brother Kip August won the chapter scholarship award.

There have been so many recent developments and activities at Nu in the past semester that I'll mention them briefly.

Every Wednesday a member of the faculty attends dinner and speaks to the brothers on general topics of interest to fraternity men. Jon Yarnall and Peter Claussen took part in a chapel project consisting of living in a Harlem parish for a week. A new addition to the chapter is Birdie, our dog. Gardiner McBride and Dan Headington are new members of the Student Council. Rushing is expected to be quite prosperous. The chapter won a 1962 Ford in a charity raffle. The only trouble the chapter is having seems to be a physical one. Russell Annich, house manager, is quoted as saying "the dryness in the house is overbearing." Workmen are at present investigating our heating system. Barry Pullen, in his sixth year at Lafayette, no longer eligible for the Lafayette team, plays professional soccer for the Weston Club of eastern Pennsylvania.

With a semester filled with such variation and satisfaction as the last one, the brothers can truly say these are "the best years of your life."

RICHARD BONOLLI

Lawrence—Delta Nu

The Delts have always been known for their doing, and Delta Nu is proud of its individual and collective record during the fall. It has established a truly unique place for itself on the Lawrence campus, a fact reflected in its accomplishments. Its leadership in almost every phase of campus life stems from strong leadership in the chapter itself, especially the indefinable but ever-guiding hand of Mrs. Abbie Pond, our wonderful housemother.

This will be "Mom's" last year at Delta Nu, her eighth year of service to her boys and the Fraternity which has meant so much to her. Now the oldest housemother in the Lawrence Quadrangle from the standpoint of service, our "First Lady" has taught us all dignity and graciousness, the amenities of a genuine social life, through her example. She has never tired of contributing her time and counsel, but has at the same time carried on an active cultural life (bringing a much-needed influence back to the Shelter with her). She is an independent political thinker and, although all the members of the chapter may not agree with all her views, she has lent to all of us a deeper appreciation of our rich historical heritage. It is difficult to imagine the achievements chronicled in the following paragraphs without thinking first of the lady who is "pinned to more guys than anyone else on campus," Mom Pond.

Athletics have not always been a strong point at Delta Nu, but the outstanding Delt record during the fall helps indicate the rapid rise which has taken place over the past few years. Our chapter president, Dan Brink, outcharged everyone in the league at his guard and tackle assignments and was everyone's All-Conference choice. The stocky 5' 10", 215-pounder, was especially heroic in the upset win over the arch-rival Ripon in the homecoming game. A National Merit scholar, he won a berth on the Scholastic All-American team, and the highest national recognition ever awarded a Delt at Lawrence: second team UPI Little All-American. Flashback Carey Wickland, fastest man on the squad, snagged another All-Conference spot, his second in as many years, for being the "best defensive back in the conference," and won AP Little All-American honorable mention, one of only two Midwest Conference players to receive the honor. Guard Chris Todd, one of the roughest players in the league while on the field, won the Lawrence sportsmanship trophy for his team leadership and the Lawrence Chaney Window award, presented jointly by the administration and faculty to "that football athlete best exemplifying the 'Lawrence Man.'" Only 165-pounds, Chris proved his ability by also snagging All-Conference honors. Soph Pat Jordan moved right into the key slot position in Bernie Heselton's "new look" offense and pulled down a 45-yard touchdown pass against Carleton (Lawrence's only score) in the Dad's Day game. Sophomores Tom Disbrow, Sandy Priestley, and Steve Hansen all saw a lot of action and helped make the Viking season a success. Special note goes to Pledge Tom Ambrose, who was elected captain of the frosh team at the end of its most successful season in history.

Gridders were not the only Delt fall stars. Bill Stout captained a Delt-dominated cross-country squad to a third-place finish in the Midwest Conference. Stout, who broke the Lawrence course record three times during the season, was chased across the finish line by Delts Reed Williams (captain-elect for next fall) and Soph Bill Holzworth, who finished second and third in every race all season. Stout exercised an unusual kind of leadership in that he coached as well as captained the harriers, who, for the first time since the sport was introduced at Lawrence, went without formal coaching.

As the snow piles up on the ground outside, Lawrence athletics go indoors, where the Delt spotlight glows just as brightly. In the swimming pool, Chris Vogel seems headed for his greatest season. The Fargo, North Dakota, junior presently holds eleven Lawrence records. He took two conference titles with record-breaking performances last year. On the hardwood court, Junior Paul Lange, despite a heavy premed course scheduled and injuries, has contributed his great basketball abilities to a thus far unmarred season record. Senior Dick Kauffman, also a premed student, looks like a tiger at 147 pounds, his new wrestling weight. Chico, who has placed high in the conference meets the last two years, has been impressive in early dual meets, despite a bothersome knee injury. Also on the Vike mat crew is spunky Hap Sumner, 123 pounds, the most improved wrestler on the squad. Hap placed very high in the Wisconsin AAU meet, is undefeated in the dual season, and is the brightest new hope in the Lawrence sports picture. In interfraternity sports, Delta Nu was not able to repeat in football, but snatched the golf title in a pressure-packed match with the Betas. Both table tennis and basketball teams are at the top of the standings presently.

Delta Nu, in a Fraternity that has consistently stressed scholarship, is justifiably proud of its academic standing. Although the last RAINBOW correspondent may have been guilty of slight exaggeration in his zeal, the Delt record here is clear and verifiable. To win the glittering trophy presented the chapter by the Fraternity, Delta Nu rang up the highest grade point ever achieved by any fraternity at Lawrence College. It was Delt money, $600 raised in an all-school auction, which brought noted African anthropologist, Dr. Melville Herskovits, of Northwestern to the Lawrence campus for the first student lectureship. The chapter hopes to stimulate genuine out-of-classroom intellectual interest through the lectureship programs, which it hopes will become annual, or even semiannual, affairs, eventually endowed by alumni and foundations.

The collective record of the chapter has been achieved through individual effort and leadership. Our chapter adviser, Dr. Roger Trumbore, has encouraged scholarship in the chapter and demonstrated it outside, both in the classroom, biology, and in participation in programs like the Fraternity Forum panel on "The Problem of Perception." Senior Alex Wilde was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in the fall election, while Tom Steitz is spending the semester on a scholarship at the Argonne National Laboratory. Seniors Kauffman and Brink were both selected to Mace, the greatest honor a junior man can receive, on the basis of excellent scholarship and all-around leadership. Senior Al Saltzstein won the O. K. Johnson Creative Writing Award with several informal essays. The Deltas had by far the largest representation of any fraternity living in the Honors Dormitory.

Delta Nu set the tone for its social leadership by voluntarily adopting a deferred pledging system at the beginning of the fall, in the face of skepticism from the campus and the other fraternities. Our results, an outstanding pledge class, showed that nice guys don't always finish last. Needless to say, we were gratified by our success and the warm support we received from the administration, the faculty, and much of the student body. Nine Deltas were named counselors to the freshman men, one of the school's most sought-after honors. Brothers Gordon Paine, Sandy Priestly, Tom Oakland, Paul Lange, Tom Disbrow, Jim Eichstadt, and Steve Pfarrer were named, with George McKann and Denny Walsh receiving the honors of head and assistant head counselor. Deltas were to be found in all school dramatic and musical activities. Tom Oakland held the male lead in Chekov's Three Sisters, while Pledge P. K. Allen has the lead in The Visit, now in production. Wally Glascoff and Pledge Jerry Hawkins both had roles in Die Fledermaus, presented in January. And Jack Galley, transfer from the Dartmouth chapter, has become the leading folk singer on campus. The Deltas had a larger contingent in the Schola Cantorum, which presents Handel's Messiah annually.

In the social whirl, the Deltas picked off the homecoming decoration first place for the second straight year, their efforts chairmanned by Dick Posselt and Jack Smuckler. Sophomore Steve Hansen won the school popularity contest by being elected Santa for the Indian Children Christmas party. And, as usual, the Deltas controlled much of campus politics, with the chairmanship of both the Union Committee (Al Saltzstein) and the Special Projects Committee (Steve Myers). Steve brought Joan Baez to our Chapel for a concert, and has Josh White coming in the spring. The Modern Jazz Quartet appears next month. Steve is also president of the Debate Club.

We all appreciated the visit of National President Gilley. His question-and-answer session was very revelatory, and we all saw the national fraternity in a new light. Many thanks for your presence and your candor.

MARKUS JOHNSON

Lehigh—Beta Lambda

The fall semester saw the Lehigh Deltas concentrating heavily on studies, sports, and social life. With our usual study conditions in effect and the scholarship committee, led by Carl Goehringer, hard at work, we're looking for another high scholastic performance. In intramural sports, our football team compiled a fine 7-1 record, and won runner-up honors in its league. Our fine forward wall of Ron Johnson, Carl Straub, Denny Maus, and John Hayes provided a lot of protection for the potent passing combination of Terry Brenner and Steve Orlando. Our bowling team of Carl Goehringer, Carl McRae, Steve Orlando, Don Mattson, and Wilson Krahnke turned in several strong performances. And our basketball team is unbeaten so far. Bill DeVinney, Jay Flynn, and Steve Orlando are the big guns on this squad. As far as varsity sports are concerned, Sophomore Bill DeVinney did a fine job for the varsity at tackle and should start next year. And Soph Jim Renaldi is seeing a lot of action on the basketball team. Jack Danko was one of the leaders of the rifle team and was instrumental in several of the team's victories. Socially, Jay Flynn and Charlie Emley have organized another semester of highly successful parties. Our Christmas party week end went off very well. This is an annual affair highlighted by a party for the faculty and a party for ten local underprivileged children. Carl Straub and Sam Tucker did a fine job in organizing these activities. One of the high points of the Lehigh social calendar, Lafayette week end, was made memorable by Fred Schoeller's excellently engineered display.

This semester saw the initiation of 14 Deltas into the brotherhood. In January, Beta Lambda elected new officers. They are: president, Tony Carvette; vice-president, Dean Muller; treasurer, Don Mattson; recording secretary, Jack McGregor; corresponding secretary, Sam Tucker; sergeant at arms, Fred Schoeller; guide, Tom Vogeley; assistant treasurer, Paul Brogowski. So far, Beta Lambda's year has been very successful and we hope that the other chapters' semesters were equally rewarding.

SAM TUCKER

Maine—Gamma Nu

As 1962 begins and finals are again near at hand, all the Deltas at Gamma Nu can look back on a busy and most rewarding fall semester. It was not long after classes began that we received the Arch Chapter's 1959-1960 scholarship award in the Eastern Division. In October, Gamma Nu was presented the Fraternity Advisers' Cup, which is awarded annually to the outstanding of Maine's 17 fraternities. The recipient is judged on campus organizational participation, scholarship, house projects, and social activities. We are proud of this honor and are working to maintain our standing.

Homecoming was the first big week end of the semester, and we welcomed many of our Delt alumni back to the Shelter. The week end was highlighted with our annual homecoming dance, a fine jam session, and the first award in the fraternity division for a winning display.

In varsity sports, Bob Tyler represented the Deltas on this season's championship football team. Bob Donovan is a key man on Maine's indoor track squad. Bob Stickney and Al Leathers are doing a fine job on the hardcourt, and Al is also one of the University's top golfers, taking second place in the fall golf tournament.

December was highlighted with fall house party week end. The Shelter took on a traditional Christmas atmosphere for the semiformal dance. On Saturday the Deltas and their dates spent the afternoon "twisting" to the fervid tempo of "The Triumphs."

As the beginning of the spring semester and formal rushing approach, our rushing committee, ably chairmanned by Larry Brown, is completing final plans for capturing top men in this year's freshman class. Our program was a fine success a year ago, and changes in rushing rules have brought more than enough work for Larry and his committee.

Newly elected officers of Gamma Nu for 1962 are: Ken Chase, president; Steve Ridley, vice-president; J. P. Noble, treasurer; Jim Bailey, recording secretary; Ted Kausel, corresponding secretary; Larry McConnell, guide; and Terry Weymouth, sergeant at arms. With these men at the helm, the brothers at Gamma Nu are looking forward to another successful year.

HANK YOUNG

Miami—Gamma Upsilon

During the first semester, the brothers of Gamma Upsilon have been enjoying the benefits of Delt brotherhood in order to help each other through these "good old college days."

Athletically, our intramural football team had an average season, but kept on fighting down to the final whistle of the last game. Our bowling team, captained by Brother Duke Robb, is showing well under the stiff competition of the fraternity league. Although the basketball season hasn't opened yet, our hoopsters have been practicing daily, preparing for the first tip-off.

Everyone worked hard on our homecoming display, but unfortunately we had to settle for second place. Next year we plan to take first place, that is if the judges think as we, that our display is the best.

Dads' Day this year was another good time at the Shelter. Miami defeated Toledo in the football game to start the week end on the right foot. After a good dinner, some good jokes, and a lot of laughs, we again declared the week end with our Dads a giant success.

We had a good time at our parties this semester. The year started off with a combo party with "Maurice and the Rockets." Our social season for the first semester climaxed with our Christmas formal. From all indication, a good time was had by all. The brothers entertained the pledges from Ohio State during the semester and a party was held in their honor at the Shelter. We migrated to Gamma Xi at their invitation one week end for a football game and combo party. We wish to thank the brothers of Gamma Xi for an enjoyable week end.

In closing we wish to extend best wishes to all the Delt chapters for the coming year.

DENNIS REESE

Michigan—Delta

Even if we look back at our fall semester through bleary, after-vacation eyes, it still looks pretty bright. In fact, it was one of the best ever for our chapter.

Our intramural teams got off to one of the best starts in years. Both our "A" and "B" football teams went far into the finals of competition. Our cross-country, track, and swimming teams also did particularly well. At the present time, we're very high up in the IM standings and by the looks of our first basketball victory, we'll go higher. There were two Deltas represented on the varsity football team. Todd Grant and John Houtman were first-string center and left tackle, respectively, for the Wolverines. One of our pledges, Bob Kitchen, played freshman football and another, Dick Hildreth, is playing freshman basketball. We have two brothers on the varsity basketball team, Steve Schoenherr and Dana Baldwin, and Lauren Bowler is swimming for Coach Stager.

Once again this semester many Deltas received campus honors. Jack O'Brien wrote and directed a musical comedy, "Land Ho!," which was enjoyed by nearly everyone on campus. Lauren Bowler was elected to the engineering honors council. Dan Brown, a Delt, was replaced as president of the council by Wayne Smith, also a Delt. Wayne is, incidentally, our new chapter president. Our outgoing president, Bob Benson, was elected to Hectorsians honorary.

Our fall rush was very successful. Although the all-campus rush was quite small, we finished with a pledge class of 16 men.

Almost every Saturday night, the Shelter was the scene of a fine party but the most memorable were a huge party after the Michigan-Michigan State game (where we entertained many of the brothers from Iota chapter at M.S.U.), our Fathers' week end, a pajama party, a "rock and roll" party, and the high light of our semester's social program, our Winter Formal.

As for the outlook for the immediate future of our chapter, everything looks rosy.

GORDON WALKER

Michigan State—Iota

The Iota Deltas experienced another spirited, successful fall term in the areas of scholarship, athletics, and social activities.

Behind the skillful leadership of Captain Jim Draves, the Delt varsity football squad captured the all fraternity championship by defeating the Lambda Chi Alpha team in a thriller, 21-20. We confidently look forward to a successful basketball season.

The Deltas hit the books as hard as we hit the opposing football teams. We ranked third in the all fraternity scholastic average for spring term.

Traditionally the Gamma Phi Beta and Delta Gamma Sororities held their annual Powder Puff Bowl, and traditionally, the Delts' "male female" walked away with the queen's honors. Frank "Freida" Marxer, dressed in shocking pink and standing 6' 5", with heels, looked voluptuous even to some of the brothers.

Speaking of beauties, our annual Queen's dinner for the homecoming queen candidates, headed by Doug Shadwick, brought luster to the halls of the Shelter, if only for a few short hours, and homecoming chairman, Barry Armstrong, adorned the outside of the Shelter with one of the finest homecoming displays on campus.

Blindly following the smell of roses, the Delts visited the Delta Chapter at Michigan and the Gamma Lambda Chapter at Purdue. We had a great time, thanks to that good old Delt hospitality.

Due to the increasing volume of rushes, we have changed our policy of having the rush party at the Shelter. Last term we rented a party room at a motel and it proved very successful.

We ended the term on a cheerful note with the annual Delt and Pi Phi Christmas tree lighting at which we sang popular carols, under the direction of Robert Sharkey.

FRANK B. MARXER

Minnesota—Beta Eta

First, regrettably so, must come an apology for the absence of an article from Beta Eta in the fall issue of THE RAINBOW.

The men of Beta Eta staged a large and prosperous summer rush program. It consisted of a rush party at an area brother's home approximately every two weeks. The parties were well attended by both rushees and the brothers and paid dividends when the Minnesota Delts pledged the largest and finest group of men on campus. The total number pledged was 32, more than doubling the closest fraternity on campus in size. About one-fifth of all men going through rush at the University of Minnesota pledged Delt.

The men of Beta Eta participated actively in the Minnesota homecoming activities last October 28 against the University of Michigan. Brother Don Johnson headed homecoming activities, while Brothers Clayt Reed, Doug Ewing, Dave Kirscht, and Arvid Elness put in many man-hours of work as heads of various committees. The homecoming dance was held at the Forest Hills Golf Club in Forest Lake, Minnesota, and was attended by more than 75 couples, one of the finest turnouts in years.

Beta Eta was well represented on the Minnesota varsity football team this past fall. On the first team were Brothers Tom Hall and Captain Jack Mulvena; playing with the second team for most of the season was Al Fischer, a halfback; and bolstering the reserves was Ross Iutica, a tackle. We Minnesota Delts are proud of the part our brothers have played in another winning football season and of the part they played in the winning Rose Bowl effort of the Gophers.

Annual Greek Week activities will begin during the first part of January. The Minnesota Delts will be defending the all-participation trophy which we have won for five out of the last six years. Competition will consist of an all-Greek songfest, Greek olympics, a queen contest, and a social service project. Brother Clayt Reed was chosen as the chairman of the important competitive events area, while Brother Dave Kirscht will head the defense of the all-par trophy as house chairman.

Each fraternity and sorority may choose its own social service project. Our project is to have at least 75 per cent of the chapter each donate a pint of blood to the War Memorial Blood Bank of Minneapolis. This would mean approximately $2,100 worth of blood donated by the Delts.

The brothers of Beta Eta are looking forward to a prosperous winter quarter, both scholastically and socially, and extend these wishes to all other chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

DON ALAN JOHNSON

Nebraska—Beta Tau

Beta Tau has rebounded from the grim outlook of post-rush week and regained its pride and self-confidence. When only nine men responded to Beta Tau's rush bids, even though they were outstanding Delt prospects, the chapter experienced a period of re-evaluation and doldrums. It was quite a blow to be the "best-liked but least pledged" major house on campus, but Beta Tau is back on its feet. The "squab" class has jumped to 24 men, outstanding in scholarship, athletics, and character.

The class includes five of the stalwarts on the freshman football team—Card Suplick, John Vujevich, John Sebastian, Dave Haas, and Mark LaNoue; Gary Haas represents the Delts on the frosh basketball roster and Gorden Chipman and Jim Morgan grapple for the University wrestling squad. Ron Mousel, Larry Kaul, Jay Sweeney, Clint Watkins, Steve Baker, Tom Anderson, Dave Shaw, Dick Primm, Allen Spore, Bruce Watkins, Jim Hussey, Roger Egan, Mike Velte, Bob Wing, Mike Jones, and Don Cross round out this fine pledge class.

Many Husker Delts are participating in campus activities and sports this year. Jim Samples, house treasurer, is a member of the Innocents Society, Kosmet Klub, vice-president of Student Council, member of Phi Beta Kappa, and a past officer of IFC. In addition to all of his activities, Jim holds an 8.2 over-all grade average on Nebraska's nine-point scale.

Perry Dudden and Steve Joynt are also members of Student Council. Ron Bevans and Steve are members of Kosmet Klub. Steve is also on the all-University fund board while Bevans is chairman of the Union Advisory Board. Ladd Hubka and Dick Robson represent the Beta Tau Delts in campus partisan politics. Ladd is president of the Young Republicans and Robbie is vice-president of the Young Democrats. Dick Stuckey, chapter president, Cloyd Clark, and Dave Wolfarth write for the Daily Nebraskan. Jerry Ebers, Delt assistant treasurer, is a member of Corn Cobs.

The Delt football teams, while not winning any trophies, ended the season with fine records. The Delta Tau basketball teams have started the season with a bang. The "A" and "B" teams are undefeated in three starts and the "C" team has a 2-1 record.

The Nite Owl party warmed the Beta Tau Shelter for the Christmas holidays and the Delt social life in Nebraska is hopping. We are looking forward to the Squab Scramble, the French Party, and the Formal as big events next semester.

Another big event on the Beta Tau agenda will be the Middle West Regional Delt conference the last week end in March. Beta Tau would like to take this opportunity to welcome all comers.

CLOYD CLARK

North Dakota—Delta Xi

The high light of the first semester social season was our Christmas formal held December 8 in the Grand Forks Armory. At the formal, Miss Louise Crockett, of Billings, Montana, was crowned Delt Sweetheart of 1962. Louise, a member of Delta Gamma sorority, was chosen from 30 nominees.

Brother Neal Garland has done a wonderful job as social chairman. We have had two exchange dinners with the Pi Beta Phi and the Kappa Alpha Theta sororities. In November we had our hard times-morgue party at which everyone had a good time.

Looking ahead to next semester, we have many social functions planned. On February 17, the Pledge Princess dance will be held, and a new pledge princess will be crowned. An ice skating party is being planned for March. In April we will have the Sally Sunshine contest, and in May the big spring formal.

The men of Delta Xi didn't do too well in football this year, but we are making up for it in basketball and bowling. Our bowling team, under Captain Al Nelson, is in first place now.

The Delta Tau Delta sorority achievement award was won this year by the Delta Gamma Sorority. The Delta Gammas won the award last year, too.

Our chapter won second place this year in the Marlboro contest. Thanks, fellows, for smoking Marlboros! The prize was a movie camera and projector.

For the year 1960-61, Delta Xi moved into first place among the 11 fraternities on the campus in scholarship. We feel that this is remarkable, since three years ago we held 11th place in scholarship. As an incentive to high scholarship, we present expense paid trips to Minneapolis for the member with the highest average for the year and the member with the greatest improvement over the previous semester.

DONALD O. GJERDEVIC

Northwestern—Beta Pi

After an outstanding fall quarter the Beta Pi Delts are anticipating a very successful winter quarter.

In varsity sports, five Delts, Senior

Bill Cacciatore, Juniors Bill Woislaw and Ken Lutgens, and Sophomores Rich Falk and Phil Keeley are seeing action on the Northwestern basketball team. Cacciatore, Woislaw, Falk, and Keeley comprised the starting Northwestern line-up against famed Ohio State. Bill Cacciatore has been named in a list of the top 100 basketball players in the nation.

Unfortunately, Delt Junior Steve Newcomer of the cross-country squad and Delt Sophomore Jim Kline of the wrestling team were sidelined by leg injuries fall quarter. Newcomer will be back in action for the indoor track season and Kline will be back next year.

In other winter sports, Delt Sophomore John Kastner will see action on the varsity swimming team.

In intramural competition last fall the Delt football team placed second in their league. With the abilities of Delt Pledges Dave Nehrling, Ron Jawor, Barrie Hutchinson, and John Kasdorf the Delt swimming team placed fourth in the all-school meet. The Delt basketball team, spearheaded by Delts Bill Miller, Jeff Kahle, Phil Nicely, Hal Pritchett, Dan Oefinger, and Rich Hall, after an exhibition game against the Northwestern freshman team, easily won its first game and is expected to win the all-school championship. Other players include Ed Bryant, Rich Platz, Terry Jones, Steve Cunningham, Dick Cwiklinski, and Tom Waymire.

On the side of campus activities, Delt Junior John Doolittle has just been nominated to run for president of IFC. Joining Delt Senators Ed Bryant and Fred Schlegel, Delt Pledge Steve Narland was just elected freshmen representative to the Northwestern Student Senate. Delts Bill Donnelly, John Kastner, and John Monson took over the house offices of guide, sergeant at arms, and corresponding secretary, respectively.

Socially, the homecoming banquet and party was another of our fall successes. Approximately 100 brothers and alums partook of a royal meal and then escorted their dates to the exclusive Tower Club on the 39th floor of the Civic Opera Building for the party. Social Chairmen Bill Kunkle and Dan Benninghoven have set up a winter quarter social calendar which includes our annual Pajama Party, a syndicate costume party, an informal dance, and exchanges with several top sororities.

JOHN MONSON

Ohio—Beta

Fall semester found the brothers of Beta Chapter once again together at home at 32 President Street. "Help week" was the first order of business for the chapter and initiation followed.

The scholarship award went to Mathew Minor for obtaining a 3.31 last semester and the outstanding pledge award went to Gary Richetto.

Next in order of activities for Beta Delts was fall rush. With the aid of Brothers Chuck Stewart, '62, and Chuck Abookire, '62, seven new men were pledged. These qualified men were Richard E. Hay, Gordon H. Hufford, Neil W. Mann, Alfred S. Millard, William A. Rau, Steven R. Stunda, and Bruce N. Waffan.

October was homecoming month. Under the leadership of Brother Tom Ledbetter, '63, the brothers constructed a huge float with papier-mâché figures of Babe Ruth and the OU Bobcat. The theme, "Babe and the Bobcat, Still Untouchable," netted the chapter an honorable mention. After a few years' lapse the Delts once again had a man up on the flagpole in front of the house at homecoming. He took up "residency" there Thursday and planned to stay in that high location until OU beat Xavier. And, that he did! Our flagpole-sitter, Beta's float won honorable mention in Ohio homecoming contest.

Beta Chapter—fall of 1961

Matt Minor, '64, remained on the flagpole some 56 hours and 14 minutes.

Three new trophies are with Beta Chapter as a result of Greek Week. A second place in the Greek Week booth and a first place as Greek Week carnival barker (Brother Sam Polo, '62) were won and the chapter also received a trophy for the most tickets sold at the Greek Week carnival. Brother Chuck Abookire, '62, was our candidate for Greek Week King and thanks must also go to Brother Bob Blank, '62, as Greek Week chairman.

On November 18 Western Michigan played OU and it was also Dad's week end. Brother Tom Kaiser, '63, was chairman for this event.

The circus came to the Shelter in November for the annual Delt circus party. Brothers and their dates dressed in circus attire and twisted to the music of Buddy Wheeler. Teas, exchange dinners, and a Christmas gift exchange completed the social life this fall semester.

On the sports side, Beta Deltas picked up four new trophies for intramural activities for this last year. These included all-campus tennis, soccer, and fraternity relays. Brother Rick Thatcher, '63, was a member of OU's football squad, which this year placed third in the MAC.

In campus activities, the Delt participation was again impressive. Brother Steve Boley, '64, was appointed to the OU Center program board and to the 1962 junior prom committee; Brother Gary Richetto, '64, became Leadership Activities Conference chairman; Brother Brian Jakes, '62, was elected corresponding secretary of Varsity "O"; Brother Chuck Abookire, '62, was chairman of Political Week; and Brother Jed Frost was chairman of the Christmas committee. Brother Matt Minor, '64, was elected president of the freshman men's honorary Phi Eta Sigma, while Blue Key, a national honor fraternity, tapped Brothers Phil Shaeffer, '62, and Jim Daley, '63.

Brother Neil Delfs, '63, deserves a fine hand for leading the Glee Club and praise must also be given to Brother Jeff Neil, '64, for spearheading the Marlboro collection contest. In this contest, the brothers constructed the Taj Mahal out of Marlboro packs; the chapter placed second and, consequently, received a new stereo set for its efforts.

January saw the election of new officers. Brother Jim Daley, '63, was elected president; Brother Brian Jakes, '63, is the new vice-president; Brother Jim Lane, '63, will fill out the treasurer's duties with Brother Matt Minor, '64, aiding him as assistant treasurer; Brother Steve Boley, '64, was elected corresponding secretary; Brother Larry England is the new recording secretary;

Brother Rick Thatcher is the new guide; and Brother Tom Smith, '63, will be the chapter guard.

Now that fall semester is nearly over the chapter is eagerly awaiting the week end of March 23-25, when Beta Chapter will stage a big birthday alumni reunion party to celebrate 100 years of active existence here at Ohio U.

STEVE BOLEY

Ohio State—Beta Phi

Beta Phi begins 1962 with a new group of leaders. They are: Ed Hartford, president; Dave Search, vice-president; Dick Bavetz, treasurer; Phil Hazelton, corresponding secretary; Charlie Higgins, recording secretary; Bruce Merrill, guide; Dan Carter, sergeant at arms.

We feel that these men are very able and will fulfill their duties admirably.

As we look back on the autumn quarter, we feel that we were very fortunate. Our homecoming decorations were very outstanding this year. Our hard-working chairman, Dick Bavetz, did a marvelous job in coordinating the work. "Li'l Abner" was the theme, and our 18-foot Abner and 15-foot Hawkeye were good enough for fifth place among 45 entrants.

We are also very proud of a non-Delt who was successful during homecoming festivities. Lovely Beth Hofstetter, of Alphi Phi, was elected by a campuswide vote as the 1961 Ohio State homecoming queen. Beth is pinned to Brother Gary Milliken.

For Dad's Day week end, we had a dinner party for all of our dads. After the dinner, many poker games were started. We found that our dads could still hold their own at the card table.

The two Delt-Dans, Carter and Conner, finished a fine year on the football field. Dan Connor received his Varsity "O" for the fine defensive tackle job he did for the Big-Ten champs. Dan Carter is only a sophomore, but has a good future ahead of him for the Bucks. In other sports, Scott Smith is preparing for his final year on the OSU diving and gymnastics teams; Leif Jonassen is doing a fine job for the hockey team, and Pledge Ken Lee is trying out for the baseball team.

We were informed by the office of the dean of men that Delta Tau Delta is the largest social fraternity on the Ohio State campus. Our enrollment is 128, topping 44 other fraternities.

Looking into the future, we plan to initiate approximately 22 men winter quarter. This is probably our largest class ever.

Sorority relations chairman has set up seven pledge parties for winter quarter. We feel that it will be beneficial for our fine pledge class to meet these new sorority pledges.

Beta Phi was pleased by the visit to the Shelter of Brother Bill Daugherty, author of "Fight the Team," Ohio State fight song.

The alumni homecoming party was a tremendous success. Our alumni, especially Jerry Haller, should be congratulated for their support of a fine function.

So we end 1961 with the largest enrollment in our history. This brings to mind a quotation by Sir George Frazer, "As we grow in size, we grow in spirit."

PHIL HAZELTON

Ohio Wesleyan—Mu

Ohio Wesleyan's social spotlight focused on the Delt Shelter January 6 when Little Tommy James and his combo provided the sounds for an all-campus twisting open house. The turnout was said to be one of the largest on campus and came on the heels of Social Chairman Cotton Havell's winter formal, which highlighted an otherwise dull social semester.

Mu Chapter was especially proud of the honors which came to its members. Don Gartrell became the second member of his class (Ron Parady was elected secretary last spring) to be chosen for membership in ODK, men's leadership honorary. Watson Parker was elected president of Phi Society, sophomore academic honorary, into which "Buzz" Clift was also initiated. Don Hetzel and Stan Shawhan were honored with memberships in Chi Gamma Nu, chemistry honorary, while Dick Windecker was elected recording secretary of the OWU Circle K chapter.

After seven consecutive trophies for building the campus's top homecoming display, the Deltas had to be consoled last fall by a second-place finish, although Jim Paine and Glenn Collier directed the construction of what the chapter considered one of its finest displays ever. On the happier side of that week end, however, was the return of the largest number of alumni for several years to witness the last homecoming in our present house. Ed West, '23, who has spent innumerable hours helping on the arrangements for the new Shelter, was presented the Alumni Appreciation Award, received by Branch Rickey last year.

The long-awaited house on Williams Campus, to the patient delight of the brothers, will apparently be a reality in September. Delta Tau Delta will be the sixth house on the new fraternity row, which is fast becoming the pivot of all OWU social life and, hopefully, will be come the home of all men's Greek groups some day.

OWU winter athletic teams have Deltas in starting roles. Tom Switzer and Hugh Joyner occupy first-string positions on the wrestling squad, while Fred Orr is a veteran butterfly stroker on the swimming team. Rich Sweat is one of the top freshmen in the JV basketball line-up.

JOHN BASSETT

Oklahoma—Delta Alpha

Fall came with a bang to the Norman campus of the University of Oklahoma and with it came 34 of the finest men coming through rush this year to Delta Alpha. Since rush week we have added three men to the class, giving Delta Alpha additional high quality man power to continue in its leadership role here at O.U.

Delt's social life has been exciting. The fall formal, the Christmas party, and the Little Guy's party for the underprivileged children of Norman, all met with typical Delt success. The Delt Dive and the annual trek to Lake Murray are being planned for next semester. An after-game dance was held in Dallas following the O.U.-Texas gridiron duel. The party was held at Dallas's Marriott Motel with the brothers from Gamma Iota attending. Although the score was not to our liking, the party was a social masterpiece and a financial disaster.

Blowing their bugles on campus, the Deltas have won a place in Sooner Scandals, the campus variety show. We are one of the three O.U. fraternities that won a spot on the show. Deltas ran a close second in the University sing contest last year and Joe Sunbarger will again be guiding the songsters in competition come Mother's day. Our barbershop quartet won third place in competition held on Dad's day this fall, much to the pleasure of our exuberant dads who were celebrating at the Delt house a week end of freedom, along with a chance to live and visit with their sons.

In the intramural department, O.U. Deltas flexed and won second place in intramurals, including championships in basketball and softball and a second in volleyball. So far this year we have won second in wrestling. Nick Denner, 6' 5", from Alva, is starting at guard for the Sooner cage varsity. Nick is the only player on the team who is not on a scholarship, since he prefers to remain in the Delt Shelter. Richard Sinclair, Carrol Bowman, Pat Hennessee, and Woody Young are turning cinders for O.U.'s varsity track team.

On campus, Roland Tague is one of the five finalists for O.U.'s man of distinction. Gerald Bednar and Tom Riggs were two of the top ten freshmen last year. "Doc" Owen and Richard Sinclair are yearbook personalities. "Doc," along with Ray Hall, are also entered in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Ray Hall is editor of the Sooner yearbook.

Deltas were seventh among 25 frats in scholarship. Pledge and member study halls are being held this fall to raise our standing higher.

Elections held January 8, 1962, produced the following fine slate of officers: Nick Denner, president; Berry Miller, vice-president; Joe Sunbarger, treasurer; Ralph Rucker, assistant treasurer; Dave Raley, recording secretary; Charlie Harris, corresponding secretary; and Howard Parsons, sergeant at arms.

With this fine group of officers, O.U. Deltas can look forward to continuing in their record of leadership.

JOE SUNBARGER

Oklahoma State—Delta Chi

Delta Chi activities for 62-63 will be led by: president, Mike Fenton; vice-president, Bill Lee; treasurer, Ted Dittman; recording secretary, Gary Toussaint; corresponding secretary, Richard Brand; and guide, Larry Luman.

Additions to the membership this fall included Phil Holloway, John Gruber, and Jerry Tucker. Fall rush resulted in the pledgship of three fine men: Charles Green, Jim Neuschafer, and Harry Riley.

Our social events started off with a "Riverbottom Party" at Yost Lake. This was followed by a hay ride and our annual fall formal. The "Magnificent Seven" furnished the music, and mugs were given as formal favors. Our most recent party was a Christmas twist held at an abandoned school just outside of town; even the chaperones were doing the twist. In store for next semester is the annual "bundle party," the "orchid formal," and several house parties in the new Shelter.

Intramurally, we tied for league championship in football, and two brothers placed in the swimming meet. Our basketball team won first place in the league, and is looking forward to winning the all-college finals. Next semester, we are looking forward to league wins in volleyball and softball, with active participation in the minor intramural sports of golf and wrestling.

This construction on the Oklahoma State campus will be Delta Chi Chapter's Shelter.

Our leadership on campus has expanded to include Brother Richard Hollis as a member of Blue Key; Brother Mike Mullman as feature editor of the Oklahoma State Engineer; Brothers Larry Luman and Richard Brand in Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society; Brother Mike Fenton in Chi Epsilon; and Brothers Phil Holloway and John Gruber have won music scholarships.

We are looking forward with great expectation to moving into our new Shelter, which will be completed this month. We will be able to expand many of our activities that were cramped by the facilities of our old Shelter.

These things add up to what will be a banner semester for Delta Chi of Delta Tau Delta.

MIKE FENTON

Oregon—Gamma Rho

The men of Gamma Rho started the 1961-1962 school year in good style by pledging 30 men during formal rush. This is the best pledge class in years and is considered by many to be the best on campus. The fall term pledges are: Lew Banks, Bob Benedict, Mike Carmickle, Don Corth, Bill Crothers, Art Emmons, Barry Evans, Bob Hansen, Fred Hardiman, Hal Hewes, Palmer Hewlett, Bob Howard, Steve Jones, Bill Kelsay, Brian Lippman, Pete Mazonas, Bob Meyhaus, Rick Moore, Wayne McConnell, Ed Phillips, Lance Renault, Sandy Sanborn, Chuck Savage, Jim Siegmund, Steve Sipprell, Ron Stassens, Earl Wallace, John Wilkey, and Jeff Young.

Rush continues this term and by past performance there will be some outstanding additions.

In IM sports, the Delts took first in their league in football and "B" volleyball, and a second in "A" volleyball. Chances are good that we will improve our creditable finish of last year. Though we lost the annual game to Delta Lambda of Oregon State, the fall sports program was a success and hopes are high to improve on it again next year.

The Delts are again active in campus activities. Ted Maier is this year's yell king and Brent Smith is this year's senior class vice-president. Rich Tetley is publicity chairman of the N. W. regional IFC conference and John McDonald and Tom Tomashek are on the Dean's List. Phil Peek, besides being in the sophomore men's honorary, Skull and Dagger, was homecoming bonfire chairman, and Spike Brownell is on the junior class standing committee. Jack Meadows is on the Student Union directorate, and the S.U. jazz committee chairman. Mike Harpster is one of his committeemen.

Bruce McKell was very active as chairman of the all-campus variety show, tenor soloist of the University singers; participating on S.U. talent committee, and homecoming sign committee, and self-acclaimed campus "face-man." Jon Swanson will again be the chief stopper of the mound corps during the spring baseball season.

Socially, the Delts have moved into the top five and had social functions with top sororities such as Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Gamma, Delta Delta Delta, and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Candidates have already been chosen for this term's queen contest, with the women's living organizations putting up their best as we choose the successor of popular Sue Fort, who is an Alpha Phi.

The Delt Christmas party in Portland was well attended this vacation as 20-odd Gamma Rho actives and dates enjoyed the Yule to the utmost.

Earl Wallace is president of his dormitory this year as is another pledge Ed Phillips. Ed and Steve Jones will play varsity baseball this spring and Ron Stassens has just completed a season on the frosh football team. Ron and Don Corth, all-state in high school, are anticipating next fall on the gridiron. Chuck Savage and Pete Mazonas are active in several frosh activities this year.

During the course of the year oddball events are sure to crop up, and this year is no exception. For two weeks, the Delts had the entire campus "lurking," a game that is exactly what the name implies. This served well as a midterm tension breaker.

Looking forward to winter term, we will have our queen contest and winter term house dance, one of the social high lights. Intramurals will continue, and the Delts are already looking forward to a successful term.

We would like to take this opportunity to invite brothers who plan to be in the area to drop in and visit us.

TIM TITUS

Oregon State—Delta Lambda

Oregon State Delts returned to school ready for another successful term. Fall term proved to be one of the most successful in Delta Lambda history.

Homecoming brought the house sign sweepstakes to the Delt house in the form of a stereo tape recorder. At the present time we have only one tape but we are hopeful that boredom and generosity will drive the treasurer to the purchase of some new tapes.

Fall term grades were a surprise to everyone around the chapter. We found that eight of the Delta Lambda Delts made the honor roll. They are: Bill Meyenberg, Mike Hardman, Don Wrenn, Ted Moon, Ed Schroeder, Pledges Bruce Sigman, Mike Dennis, and Dave Korzan.

Intramural chairman, Ron Faia, is working hard at rousting out all the pseudo athletes so that we can field a team. We have taken second in our league football and volleyball. Swimming finds us near the top of the intramural ladder, taking second in fraternity competition. One of the high lights of fall term was our annual football game with the Gamma Rho Delts. The final outcome was Delta Lambda—20, Gamma Rho—0. The game was followed by a Gamma Rho-sponsored victory party.

Oregon State Delts are happy to find that two pledges have found their way into the O.S.U. athletic department. Randy Rothman has earned a starting post on the freshman basketball squad while Gordy Lowell has grappled his way to a place in the 157-pound class of the freshman wrestling team.

Winter finds many of the Delts heading towards the hills to try their hand at skiing. To date, Dave Hitchcock has taken charge of the so-called Delt Olympic ski team in organizing excursions to far out ski areas.

Our new rush chairmen, Mark Rostvold and Rod Trask, are hard at work on our rush program for the next two terms and next fall term. Pledged during fall term were: Gene Rogers, Bill Beckwith, Rich Williamson, and Bruce Sigman.

The Deltas at Oregon State are looking forward to another successful term in intramurals and scholarship. Also on the schedule are many social events, highlighted by the often imitated but never duplicated, French Apache.

BILL HOLMAN

Pennsylvania—Omega

Once again the word around the Penn campus was, "Delt has done it again." After the final night of formal rushing the Omega Deltas had keyed 30 of the outstanding men in the class of 1965. Of the 30, 24 are eligible for pledging this semester. Numbered among the pledges, from 13 states, are eight members of the freshman football team, a member of the basketball team, a singer in the Glee Club, and a five-piece rock-and-roll band. The following are the future brothers of Delta Tau Delta: Robert Baer, Charles Barnhill, Allen Carlsen, Frank Casa, Richard Costello, Kevin Cronin, Wayne Dean, Richard Frazer, William Garner, Stephen Irace, Anthony Langham, Hunter Lott, Charles Martin, Andrew Nevai, Gary Dockray, Dave Rode, Wallace Newcomb, Jr., George O'Connor, Donald Price, Thomas Read, Theodore Reutz, James Turrentine, and Edward Yellig. Pledges to go through pledging next fall are: Thomas Elgar, Norman Hetrick, James Holmes, Joseph McCann, Quinn Wright, Phil Samowicz, and Thomas McEwan.

The Delt "Drones," our IF football team, defeated the Phi Gams twice in a row to become the all-University football champions. After losing two games in a row last year to the undefeated Phi Gams, this was a real grudge victory. Much of our success must be attributed to Quarterback Mike Kennedy and Athletic Chairman Ron Schaeffer. Last year's IF basketball champions are once again swinging into action and are undefeated so far. The same team which took the crown last year has returned.

In the varsity sport department, three brothers, Ron Allshouse, end; Conrad DeSantis, guard; and Billy Gray, tailback, received letters in football. Ron Allshouse and Conrad DeSantis alternated as outstanding player for the Penn team while Ron was awarded the outstanding player in the east one week. At the close of the season, Connie, a three-year letterman, received the award for the outstanding player and contributor to the spirit of the Penn team. This could be evidenced by his bonecrushing tackles from the linebacker position and seven smashed helmets.

Dick Harkins, captain of the wrestling team is undefeated after two wins. One of his grappling mates is heavy-weight John Daubman. Dick Biboroch will be showing his talents on the hardwood, while Leo "Splash" Rota will once again be out to set some new records for the Penn swimming team.

On the social scene, parties were hot and fast with some of Philadelphia's top Twist bands appearing at the Shelter for seven home football games. The biggest week end of the fall was homecoming day with 150 Omega alumni returning to the Shelter. Thanks to "Smiles" Smiligan, C. T. Alexander, and many other alumni, the week end was a big success, complete with meetings, parties, football game, and violins playing at dinner. The alumni rediscovered how much fun Delt parties are. The spring social season will be under the leadership of George Sonneborne, our newly appointed social chairman. On April 14, the Founders Day banquet will be held with an alumni meeting also planned.

After going through three fraternity advisers in the last year, the position has gone to Jerry Young, a past president of Omega Chapter and presently a Philadelphia lawyer. We hope we will be able to hold on to this one.

Due to a change in the constitution of the University, a revision in the campus political parties had to be made. Delt met the challenge and was instrumental in forming one of the three parties, the Union Party. James Guthrie, a political-minded senior, was appointed chairman of the party, and after an all-campus vote, including fraternity men and independents, the Union Party came out on top. Brother Dick Pegnetter, a member of the Houston Hall board and president of Phi Kappa Beta junior honor society, became president of the new student government. Several of our new pledges show promise in campus politics, after getting on some of the party slates. Arriving soon will be elections for the Kite and Key Society, for which Tim Walsh and Ron Allshouse are aiming.

On the night of the pledge initiation banquet, after the pledges had given their provocative speeches, Connie DeSantis, our outgoing president and outstanding brother in the Fraternity for the past three years, gave his final speech to the entire brotherhood. He has done a commendable job in his year as president with every moment of time devoted to the interest of Delt. Whenever something needed to be done, Connie would always be there to help get it done. He has set an example which would be wise for all of us to try to follow.

With the second semester well under way, Penn students are facing something completely new. Skimmer Day will be cut right off the calendar with school ending in the middle of May. However, there will still be time for Delt to move ahead and finish another successful year as the outstanding fraternity at Pennsylvania.

JAMES BECKLEY

Penn State—Tau

Before the Christmas recess a determined Tau intramural football squad pounded its way to the fraternity finals only to lose to Phi Gam. Something, however, was salvaged from the sport as the chapter directed a Chi Omega team to a wicked victory over Kappa in girls competition. Head coaches Peter Landman and Jim Eaker were particularly gratified.

The holidays found many Tau Deltas basking in the 40 degree Florida sun and in the warmer glory of a State victory in the Gator Bowl.

Back for the winter quarter, we are anticipating two combined-party week ends with S.A.E. and B.S.P. We expect both of these affairs to be prima drawing-cards for eligible freshmen, as rush is now in progress. Socials with Tri-Delt, K.D., and A.E.O. are also scheduled.

A recent dinner-guest at the Shelter was the dean in charge of fraternity affairs, Wilbur Wise. From the evening the chapter gained some advice for future policy.

Marty Eichelberger, pledge class president, has been elected to the presidency of the junior IFC. This position is an envied one and should be the step towards the controlling position of the senior organization.

A single empty note looms over the Shelter this winter. Frederic Randall Keck, Tau pledge class of 1954 and active member off and on since then, received his B.A. in psychology at the end of the fall quarter. His third floor suite seems somehow void, as Brother Keck is vacationing in Hawaii for his efforts.

KEN R. DELAHUNTY, JR.

Pittsburgh—Gamma Sigma

Gamma Sigma Chapter has finished its fall trimester and is now beginning the winter trimester on January 3. In both terms, the Shelter has participated in, and will participate in, social, athletic, rushing, and initiation programs and interfraternity functions.

Most of the parties this term, as the last, will be at the Shelter. One exception, however, will be our winter week end in February. Although a location hasn't been decided, skiing, ice skating, and bowling are some of the recreation the chapter will be looking for. Last year the winter week end was held at the St. James Country Club. The chapter travelled by chartered bus.

In the field of sports, during the last trimester, the chapter fielded football, soccer, and squash teams. Our football team, taking second place, was surpassed by the squash and soccer teams winning first place. On the soccer team were: Nick Antonuccio, Bob Hughs, Dick Faull, Bruce Butler, Dutch Ikeler, Joe Lehmann, Bill Rubisil, and Jim Scott. The squash team was composed of: Nick Antonuccio, Bruce Butler, Bob Hughs, Bill Rubisil, and Jim Scott. In the coming months basketball, swimming, and track will be played.

Initiation of the new members took place on January 6, in the chapter room of Delta Beta, to whom we express our thanks. At a dinner immediately after the initiation, Mr. Alan D. Riester spoke to the chapter.

During the term, the annual Greek Week will occur in the second week of March. Each fraternity will choose and sponsor a candidate for queen along with participation in other contests of the week. The week will end with a Greek Week ball on Saturday night at which the queen will be announced.

A new administration was installed on December 11 and is now functioning smoothly. Joe Lehmann was elected president while Nick Antonuccio took the vice-president's office. Peter Nycum now fills the office of secretary. A new treasurer, Bob Hanack, will be bonded in January.

JAMES McDEVITT

Santa Barbara—Delta Psi

The purple and gold flag of the Delta Psi Chapter is waving triumphantly in the Santa Barbara breeze today as the members find themselves in the midst of another highly successful year.

Fall semester this year was highlighted by the undefeated Delt football squad, which grabbed first-place points on the gridiron to put the purple and gold well ahead in the race for the school all-sports trophy. With a third in wrestling, Delta Psi is expecting its third straight all-school sports trophy and a new trophy case.

This past semester also saw 20 new members for the Delta Psi Shelter, and feelers have been sent out for spring rush, which promises to be at least as successful as last spring when 12 new members were pledged. With our temporary Shelter being 12 miles off campus, rush has proven quite difficult, but we have tried to compensate distance by taking advantage of our isolation and throwing fantastic parties. Our gambling party at the beginning of the semester was a complete success, since we allowed the winners to cash their chips in on Pi Phi's. The games were rigged and the "nugget" rushees owned a Pi Phi until lock-out!

Our social calendar has been quite full. For our winter formal the brothers enjoyed a three-day ski trip at June Lake. The chapter rented a bus and lodging, plus a rock-and-roll band, and no stag brothers were allowed along. The Royal Tones were visitors at the Delta Psi house for an R&R party. Lastly, we even had to replace our worn-out stereo needle as a result of too many parties.

Elsewhere on the Delta Psi scene new officers have been installed. Bob Braughton has taken over the reign from Ron Neuhoof, who is now IFC president, and Montague Guild II has marched into office as vice-president. John Moore has received the treasurer's suite while George Bemis will be house manager.

Several other members have made outstanding contributions to various causes during the past semester. Gary Wooten has given up golf and Porche racing for skiing. Dave Yamamoto has returned to retake his No. 1 spot on the U.C.S.B. golf team, and Blair Lambert has swapped his Chrysler for a Volksy.

Each morning before the brothers of Delta Psi go to sleep we wonder if we will have a new Shelter next year! We sure need one.

MOORE

Sewanee—Beta Theta

We of Beta Theta have had a great deal of which to be proud this fall. We are especially mindful of the fine job done by our intramural teams, which have finished above fifth place in all sports thus far this year. With Tom Sadler at the helm, the intramural football team culled a tie for fourth in this year's tight race. Two senior members of the team were elected to the league all-star team, both of whom saw service in the all-star game. Sandy Donaldson was selected at center and Butch Noelke at wingback. This success was followed by another third place in the intramural cross-country run, accomplished through the gritty efforts of our inexperienced harriers. Our swimmers, under the diligent leadership of Drew Meulenberg, finished a strong fourth. Although hampered by a lack of height, the volleyball team pulled out a creditable fifth place in the league. Under Ralph Penland's tutorage, the basketball team is shaping up for another promising season.

The high light of the Advent season was the annual Christmas party at the Shelter. Traditionally, Sandy Donaldson played Santa Claus and distributed the nonsense gifts exchanged by the pledges and their big brothers. At this gathering we were privileged to host Mr. Eric Cheape, a well-known Sewanee Delt alumnus, and his wife.

In the line of special recognition, we are pleased to announce that David Knapp, retiring chapter president, was recently elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Immediately following the Christmas recess, our chapter adviser, the Right Reverend

Frank A. Juhan, and his wife celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Cary Behle and Chuck Kuhnell were selected as Delt representatives in the recent German Club elections. Their job is to help plan campuswide party week end functions.

In this year's spirited chapter elections, Dick Warren was elected president; Jim Ettien, vice-president; Chuck Kuhnell, recording secretary; and Bruce Aldrich, corresponding secretary. It is felt that our new officers will do a fine job in their new capacities.

BRUCE WINSLOW ALDRICH

Stanford—Beta Rho

Another fall has passed; another New Year has begun. From the lessons of the past, achieved both by success and by failure, we learn, and we take aim on the future. Such is progress, and such is the challenge which the men of Beta Rho accept.

The activities of the men of Beta Rho this past fall were widely diversified. Leading the roll was the participation of Deltas in many phases of campus leadership. Stan Lewis was president of Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary fraternity; Randy Devening headed Men's Council, the judiciary body; Steve Clark ran the Institute of International Relations; and Bob McKenzie and Steve Smith were sponsors in the freshman dorm. In the area of scholarship, Randy Vahan, Bob Burke, Tyce Fitzmorris, and Chris Babbs were rewarded for their efforts by being chosen to attend Stanford campuses in Europe beginning spring quarter.

The past quarter saw our cultural life receive a two-fold boost. First was a program of faculty dinners, in which various members of the faculty would join us for dinner and a period of informal discussion. The range of discussion varied from campus problems to international affairs and proved most stimulating. Second, and most important, was the presence of our foreign exchange student, Pafula Kiwanuka, from Makere University in Uganda, Africa. The association with this most amazing young African was of benefit to all. We were able to know intimately one of the men who will ultimately bring rebirth to the Dark Continent. More important, however, never have so many of us learned to understand more fully the benefits of international brotherhood, the equality of man, and the irrelevance of race, color, and creed.

On the lighter side, 19 men of Beta Rho elected to participate on the varsity football team, and led by John Butler, cocaptain, and Ed Cummings, the most valuable player, they aided in improving the football fortunes of Stanford University. Eight men were members of the starting team, while four others gave great support as members of the second unit. Many earned past-season recognition for their individual efforts. Also in athletics, the chapter football team gained the finals of the intramural championships.

Perhaps, however, the most enjoyable aspect of fall quarter was watching the sophomore pledge class. Twenty-five strong, all chiefs, no Indians, they emerged with a spirit of responsibility and respect which is deserving of congratulations. They were quick to assimilate the philosophy which permeates Beta Rho: individuality and pursuit of excellence. The actives are pleased and not a little proud of this group. Beta Rho shall prosper, not by its collective group, but by individual successes.

siderably brighter for the chapter. Beta Omicron also was invaluable in its rushing support.

Serious plans are being made for the construction of a new Shelter. Completion is slated for the fall of '63. Again the alums can be thanked for the many hours of aid.

We again would like to express our thanks to the outstanding help given us by the alumni and the brothers of Beta Omicron.

Tennessee—Delta Delta

After the fun-packed fall football season, Delta Delta is settling down to the serious business of study, interspersed with those vital activities which keep a chapter growing on campus. These activities, of course, run the gamut of college life and are as diverse as the imaginations of the men in this highly individualistic chapter.

For example, intramurals at UT during the winter quarter are very diversified. Basketball, naturally, remains king, but minor sports, such as badminton, indoor relays, ping pong, and twisting, also attract many participants. In basketball, Deltas here feel modest when they claim that they will win the trophy. Jim Ottzenn Taylor, whose basketball antics are as atrocious as his name, and the old man of the courts, Fred Shiding, manage to keep spectators well entertained. Lamar Ball, coach and star center, manages to keep the team serious enough to win games by shuffling Ottz and Shiding with Jerre Haskew (who is also UT's champion shuffleboard player), Wayne Akard, "Rooster" Hoskins, and Ed Riley.

Speaking of Ed Riley, during the fall quarter he and another of the bigger pledges, John Centner, were the staunch forward wall of the Delt pledge football team which remained unbeaten and untied during the whole season. The closest they came to being tied was during the pledge-active game when the actives surprised the talent-laden pledge team by losing by only two points, 2-0. In other autumn sports, the Deltas managed a fairly clean record: first in shuffleboard and second in tennis and bowling.

The Deltas worked ahead in all manner of political activities. We had a beautiful homecoming float, constructed under the leadership of Brothers Shuptrine, Tate, and Kraushaar. But, sadly, it didn't take first place in the competition. However, we'll rack 'em next year.

Jerre Haskew pushed the Delt Banner in yet another direction last quarter.

captain of the fencing team and North Atlantic epee champ, has been tabbed by his coach as one of the best epee men in the nation. Sprinter Mike Radz is a letterman on the highly touted swimming team, and Ken Murphy has hit consistently over 270 for the riflemen. Other Deltas are awaiting the fast approaching track and baseball seasons.

Delt and IFC week ends, and the many other social functions occurring in the spring semester, are being anxiously anticipated. It promises to be another typical spring at Gamma Omicron, filled with an exciting calendar of athletic and social functions.

New Delta Delta initiates at Tennessee

Jerre is now the president of the Nahheeyayli governing board, the group which brings big-name entertainers to our campus. Haskew has also been elected secretary of Omicron Delta Kappa, the highest general honorary fraternity on the UT campus, and is a member of Scarabean honor society, UT's other outstanding general honorary.

Two of the Deltas have been inducted into Phi Eta Sigma, UT's freshman scholarship honorary. John Shepard, an engineering student, and Joe Penland, another freshman engineering whiz, have been inducted for their high scholarship. Buff Evans, chapter sergeant at arms, is also in the honorary field after having been inducted into Alpha Epsilon Delta, a premed honorary.

Brother Joe Dean Ashley, outgoing treasurer of the chapter, in addition to being Nahheeyayli rep, is a member of Adawayhi (UT's student cheering organization), and is on an all sing committee.

Taking Ashley's place as chapter treasurer is Brother Herky Miller. Herk is active in both chapter and campus events mately 2,000 fraternity and sorority members.

In a more scholarly vein, Delta Delta has been one of the leaders in the founding of an interfraternity "college bowl" series on WUOT, the University's FM radio station. The program is closely patterned after the Sunday afternoon TV quiz series of the same name. The Delt team consists of Ronnie Helms, Jerre Haskew, Dan Kraushaar, and Shan Wilcox. In addition to his work with the college bowl, Brother Haskew is working to change the UT intramurals program to include football and wrestling, and perhaps more intellectual games, such as chess. Brother Helms is also working on the Student Forum, the University group which brings famous lecturers to the campus.

Socially, the fall quarter was one of the best Delta Delta has had in years. In addition to the usual bands and parties after football games, the pledges elected their new pledge sweetheart with much ostentation. Three candidates were selected from each of the 15 sororities on campus, and then ensued a long and

cox. Brother Shan is using his fertile mind to devise constructive new ways to teach pledges the true meaning of the Delt Spirit.

Delta Delta's recent growth and achievements are indications of the attitude of the chapter which, we are confident, will lead to still bigger and better achievements for the chapter and for the Fraternity.

RONNIE HELMS

Texas—Gamma Iota

Once again the Deltas of Gamma Iota have completed a highly successful fall semester. Our newly elected rush captain, Charles Leeper, was responsible for pledging ten more men during open rush, bringing our pledge class total to 38 men.

Our Christmas formal at the Driskill Hotel was highlighted by the arrival of Santa Claus (alias Courtney Townsend). After a very good O.U. week end, we were privileged to go back to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl.

The Cotton Bowl victory over Ole Miss on New Year's Day was a fitting climax to a No. 1 season. Mike Cotton, cocaptain of the Longhorn team, was named outstanding back of the game. Mike was also named to the All-Southwest Conference team at quarterback, and he received the leadership award at the annual football banquet. Mike was also honored by being named captain of the South team in the Senior Bowl.

Sophomore Charles Talbert contributed to the Cotton Bowl victory by throwing the key block on a 20-yard pass and run play and by deflecting an Ole Miss pass into the hands of a teammate when Ole Miss mounted one of its more serious threats. Tommy York and Bobby Gambelin contributed to the winning season with outstanding defensive play. Several of our pledges were instrumental in the freshman team's winning season.

Early in December, our annual retreat was highlighted by a talk by a father of a Delt, the Rev. W. Jack Lewis. After a barbecue dinner, he spoke on the fraternity system, its responsibilities and possibilities.

In intramurals, Paul Stotts won the all-University tennis singles title and Mike Hill won the two events in the annual swimming meet. Our football and basketball teams were barely edged out in their attempts to win the Class A championships. In addition, all of the less gifted athletes participated in the "Mullet" league competition.

Tommy York and Dean Hester are new initiates in the Silver Spurs, a men's honorary organization composed of outstanding campus leaders. Charles Giesey is a new member of the Texas Cowboys, another honorary organization for men students. Mike Cotton is a new member as a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a music honorary, UT's marching and concert band, and the Baptist Student Union council.

"Rooster" Hoskins, chapter politician, has his finger in many campus activities, not the least of which is this quarter's main event, fraternity-sorority all sing. Since at UT, committee appointments are based on chapter political prestige, Rooster, who has skillfully guided the chapter through the difficult field of UT politics, is chairman of one of the major all-sing committees. In addition to his duties as an all sing chairman, Rooster is also chairman of the Playboy political party. His other activities include Circle K, Campus Beautiful, Adawayhi, IFC rep, IFC social chairman, and candidate for fraternity man of the year.

In other activities, Delta Delta Chapter, under the guidance of President Joe Kerigan, was at the fore in the formation of an annual IFC-Panhellenic Council Christmas party for orphans and underprivileged children. The first party this past December was enjoyed by more than 400 Knoxville area children, and approxicareful process of selection. Having 45 of the toughest freshman girls around the Shelter did not hurt chapter morale, and when the final selection was announced at an appropriate banquet and ball, we were all elated to find that Miss Becky Bearden, an AOPi, was the new addition to Delt royalty. Becky, who was a star cheerleader in high school, adds much color to intramural events with her exultant spirit and easily heard cheering.

Receiving the best pledge award for 1961 was Bailey Francis and Ben Shuler received the award for highest scholastic rank.

This quarter's pledge class is now nearing completion of its project or renovation of the basement party room. The construction crew, under the leadership of Pledge President Jack Witherpoon and hard-working Fred Shiding, has added a new paint job, a new lighting system, netting for the ceiling, repainting of the 30-foot-long mural along one wall, additions to the stereo hi-fi system, and new booths to really spruce up the party facilities. New pledge trainer this quarter is Brother Shan Wil-of the Friars, the highest honorary organization to which senior men can be elected.

In a ten-man race for arts and science assemblyman, Sandy Sanford beat his nearest opponent by over 500 votes. Mike Hill was likewise an easy victor in his campaign for vice-president of the senior class in business school, and Phil Leonard won his race for president of the sophomore class in business school.

Pete Lowry managed to repulse enough people to win second place in the "Ugly Man" contest, a part of the Campus Chest charity drive.

Our scholarship chairman, Dick Anderson, and our successful pledge trainer, Curtis Rivers, predict that our grades will again be as high as they have been in the past. Gamma Iota has the highest average scholastically of the major fraternities on campus over the last ten years.

We celebrated Christmas with a party for orphan children, and followed it with our traditional Christmas dinner.

After our successful fall semester, we are anxiously awaiting an even better spring semester.

JOHN HUGHES

Texas Christian—Epsilon Beta

Epsilon Beta Chapter is presently engaged in a scholastic improvement program which in only two semesters has earned for us second place on campus academically and a scholastic award from the Fraternity. We have started a study hall system, under the direction of Brothers Roger Taylor, pledge trainer, and Greg Ellis, scholarship chairman, which we feel will greatly improve the grades of our pledge class and make possible even greater scholastic achievement.

Epsilon Beta did extremely well this year in rush, taking 20 of the best men coming through rush.

Brother John Tillinghast has done a commendable job with our social program, which consists and has consisted of one major party every month and three parties that are not quite so spectacular. Our last major party was the Bowery Ball, a costume party, where everyone dressed as a Bowery character and conducted himself accordingly.

There has at this printing, been only one award offered on T.C.U.'s campus and it was awarded to Delta Tau Delta for the best homecoming float.

Epsilon Beta recently held the seventh annual Delt basketball tournament on the T.C.U. campus. Twenty-six teams entered for a record this year, coming from as far as Kansas. Among the quarterfinalists were Delta Tau Delta from Sam Houston State College and Delta Tau Delta from Baker University, who also won a very respectable second place championship, losing only to Phi Delta Theta of T.C.U. The consolation trophy went to Sigma Alpha Epsilon of S.M.U.

This semester we held a Christmas party jointly with Pi Beta Phi for the benefit of the city's underprivileged children. All children present were given at least one gift as well as punch and cookies. It really gives one a great feeling to help someone who has so little.

Last but not least, our intramural football team placed third in the competition this year. The future looks bright in both basketball and softball. Our basketball team placed third last year and losing no starters from that team plus adding strength in Pledges Tommy Barker and Tommy Buckley, the future on the hardwoods looks very promising.

Although hurt by graduation, we feel that our pledges can more than fill the gaps left in our softball team.

All things considered, it looks like another better-than-ever year for Epsilon Beta.

BOBBY CLOUD and
TOMMY WILSON

Texas Tech—Epsilon Delta

The Deltas at Tech have again proven that hard work and determination are the keys to success. With a pledge class of 19, Epsilon Delta started out by having a picnic at Johnson's Ranch, which turned out to be an Olympic meet consisting of 20' stilt walking, catching young bulls with the bare hands, and many other feats of daring which for time and space we will not mention.

Our football team, coached by Mike McCracken, did exceptionally well in the football intramurals with a 5-3-2 record. We were called the "spoilers" by our opponents as we consistently tossed possible champions out of the running. We captured the team golf tournament intramurals with a low team score of 147 for 18 holes. Bill Jennings and Cliff Roberts were responsible for this fine win and a large trophy which will be presented at awards this spring.

In individual activities, Delt led the Greek system at Tech. Mike Denton was elected president of the Interfraternity Council and chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges. Bobby Switzer was chosen for several honors, including Tech supreme court justice, Who's Who in American Colleges, high grade point man in the business administration department, and top Army ROTC cadet in the Texas division. Gary Strickland was elected sophomore president, which is quite an honor. John Little was elected president of Dormitory No. 5, which is becoming more and more an important position on this campus. To conclude a fine year for awards, Epsilon Delta was awarded the sportsmanship trophy for all intramural activities. It is quite apparent that a larger trophy case will have to be built in order to display all our trophies received this year.

On our social calendar for the year were such events as several dances on week ends. To top it off, the annual Playboy formal. Lani Langford, a Tri Delt and past Playmate presented the bouquet of roses and Playmate ribbon to the new Playmate, Molinda Harrison, also a Tri Delt. The pledge class had several mixers with sororities on campus. Epsilon Delta wrapped up the fall semester with a Christmas party for members and pledges. Gifts were exchanged by the members and pledges and the gifts were very unusual, to say the least. Congratulations go to Carl Quizenberry and Don Richardson for a fine job as social chairman this fall semester.

Epsilon Delta alums are scattered to the four corners of the earth and it is always a pleasure to hear from them wherever they might be. Our new alumni secretary, Cliff Roberts, has proposed a new system of correspondence with alums, consisting of a monthly magazine on all Epsilon Delta functions which will begin circulation in February.

The officers for Epsilon Delta for this year are: Carl Hyde, president; Mike Denton, vice-president; Tommy Sanders, treasurer; Ron Logan, recording secretary; Tim Ritter, sergeant at arms, and Hugh Smith, corresponding secretary. The pledge class officers are: Larry Ingram, president; Tom Arnold, vice-president; Brett Bayne, secretary, and Bill Hien, treasurer.

We feel that we did exceptionally well in rush, due to the hard work of James Thurston, our rush chairman. We expect to take another "top" pledge class this spring.

It is difficult to cover all activities in the event of a year, and especially difficult when the activities have been so wide ranged and successful. Epsilon Delta is one of the youngest chapters in the Fraternity and the road to the top has not been an easy one. But I think you can see by this brief account of our actions that Epsilon Delta is tops on the Texas Tech campus and still rising.

CLIFF ROBERTS

Toronto

Since this correspondent last wrote, activities in Delta Theta Chapter have been numerous and exciting.

Initiations gave the pledges and actives a good chance to improve the Shelter. The redecorating of the recreation room was the main project and other small jobs of repair and renovation gave us further pride in our house. The long arduous week was climactically ended with a lavish banquet, at which the true spirit of the chapter was brought to the fore. The stage party which followed brought the brothers together in the warmest of fashions.

The 11 men initiated show a great deal of potential in their scholastic, athletic, and fraternal endeavours. The pledges organized a party on a South Seas theme shortly before their initiation. With everyone dressed in appropriate costumes, and music, decorations, and refreshments equally well suited to the theme, the party was excellent. Robin Jupp, an arts student, is taking an active part in the varsity production of Brigadoon. John McLeary, in engineering, plays interfaculty hockey. Ron Shurb, a full lieutenant in the Canadian Army, is a member of the University fencing team. Stan Maxwell, a second year arts student, contributed greatly to Victoria College's winning of the Mulock Cup, representative of the interfaculty football championship and the oldest athletic trophy in Canada, having been contested every year since 1893. Dennis Kostash, in second year engineering, is an exceptionally keen student and this enthusiasm is expected to be seen in his accepting of responsibility as a Fraternity man. Chris Pritchard attends art college and his ability in this creative field has already proved to be a definite asset in the decoration of the Shelter for various functions. Chuck Cansfield, an aspiring young architect, is quite active in University gymnastic competition. Jim Hanning, a second year engineering student, has already shown his talents in organizing a fine New Year's Eve party at the house. Jim Jaimet is in second year general science and seems extremely well suited for this type of work. Alex Grey, an arts student, was a strong factor in the University rowing team's many victories. Herb Skelton, a metallurgical engineering student, has, for some reason, acquired from his brothers the nickname "Flash." This brief introduction to the neophytes of Delta Theta shows that our new brothers are a fine group of men. Their interests are many and varied and their contributions to the chapter should be most impressive.

The Delt golf tournament at the Humber Valley Golf Club provided a good outing for the brothers. Jerry Longhurst proved to be the best of a bad lot of golfers with a gross score of 79. "Boog" Ball, through some unorthodox handicapping, finished with a net score of 70 to take honors in this respect. A party at the Shelter followed, where great pomp and ceremony accompanied the presentation of the trophies.

During the latter part of the year, many of the Toronto Deltas became avid fans of the famous entertainer, Ronnie Hawkins.

Social activities slowed up for a few weeks while the brothers prepared for mid-term exams, but tensions were released on the last day of classes when the chapter held Christmas celebrations. A banquet, graced by the presence of our Delt Queen, Gail Barthel, followed by a party and the arrival of Santa Claus (alias Brother Forgie) made for a terrific evening.

New Year's Eve was celebrated at the Shelter with the usual enthusiasm. A fine band and refreshments, accompanied by the usual festivities of this gala occasion, were the elements of this great celebration.

Now we are all awaiting the social climax of the year. The formal dance, to be held this year at the Boulevard Club, is the high point of social calendar. The Rainbow Ball, complete with black tails and flowing formals, will begin with a party at the Shelter, from where we will proceed to the Boulevard Club for dinner and dancing. Return to the house is scheduled for one a.m. and a breakfast will ensue. This will definitely be the high light of the Fraternity year.

Athletics Chairman Peter Brill has recently organized a basketball tournament between four teams of brothers. Competition will be keen and the tournament should prove to be quite successful, if Brother Brill's past endeavours are any indication.

With this much behind us, and our plans for the new year well under way to being realized, 1962 should be outstanding in Delta Theta's history.

JAMES A. GRANT

Tufts—Beta Mu

Looking back to the fall events evokes fond memories of a successful season. Once again Tufts produced a winning football team with the Delt's Don Curtis playing first-string tackle. Following the season, Don was elected cocaptain of next year's team. Soccer team members, Hadi Ali, Chuck Colman, and Bob Baptiste, were unable to see any football games but were able to make the post-football game parties. Two notable week ends were the Williams game, when the senior class sponsored a Ray Charles concert, and the Bowdoin game, when the Deltas entertained the DU's for a buffet dinner and party. A second-semester return engagement at their house is planned. The culmination of the fall social swing, the Christmas formal, was held this year at the Hampshire House. During the dance following dinner, Mary Jane Branley was crowned Delt Queen. Shortly after the formal, the annual orphan's Christmas party was held, and while Mike Pincelli, as Santa, handed out presents, the brotherhood attempted to pacify the rambunctious cherubs.

The Delt intramural football team, quarterbacked by Andy Bishop, placed second in its division, and the cross-country team took a second in that event. We hope that it isn't an omen, but we subsequently took another second place in the swimming meet. The basketball team is shooting for its second consecutive undefeated season and the volleyball team, with a few breaks, should come out on top. The Gunners, the house independent basketball team, and their volleyball counterpart, the Nads, famous for their cheer, again entered their respective sports. The Gunners, while not always playing glorious basketball, have never been poor losers; the Nads, on the other hand, suffer from delusions of grandeur and expect to win.

Academically, the Delts were again above the All Men's Average, but not so far as we might have wished. However, a nasty rumor persists that without the graduated seniors' grades, the average moves up two points. Bill Meserve was elected to Phi Beta Kappa this fall and Hadi Ali was accepted to Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. The aspiring young doctors, John Crispen and Charlie Bemis, have been accepted to Tufts medical school, and are awaiting other returns.

A rash of competition of varying types has broken out this year. Of special note is the fact that Duffy has finally won one of his pool tournaments. Rumor has it in certain quarters that if the winner of the two previous tournaments had entered, Duffy might not have had it so easy. The first chapter ping pong tournament was won by Charlie Hallahan.

And so with the high spirit of the brotherhood and the moral support and guidance of Arthur and Jimmy, the Delts look forward to a very successful spring.

VAN FOSTER

U.C.L.A.—Delta Iota

The Delta Iota Chapter faced two second-place gridiron games this winter when they saw John Walker and his Bruin teammates suffer a Rose Bowl defeat and when the IM football team took second place in the league after protecting a first-place position during most of the season.

In basketball, the Delts honor John Green as a leading scorer for the U.C.L.A. Bruin cagers, averaging over 20 points per game.

Homecoming once again filled the house with alumni of all ages and their endless Delt spirit. Among those attending were Harold Tattan and Jack Baddeley, who still take an active part in Delt activities. This year's homecoming floats were replaced by house decorations, for which the Delts received a first-place trophy.

The Delts place high scholastic standing as one of the most important goals of the chapter, for there are over ten Delts holding scholarships ranging from $150 to $1,500 a year. We also find time to close the books and free our minds at a variety of parties, which range from a Christmas formal to a wild

French Apache. In our brightly painted bomb shelter, we have Mario LaMorte beating a honky tonk piano while the band upstairs takes a break from the vibrations of Dave Westfall's foot-stomping and Al Bangowitz and his twisting "bod."

The newly elected officers are: President Frank Eppler, Vice-President Ron Klein, and Treasurer Randolph Juengst. DAVID NELSON

U.S.C.—Delta Pi

As the fall semester draws to a close we can look back on a top semester both for individual Delts and the Delts as a whole. Among Delts in the sports department are Gordy Martin, All-American basketball candidate and potential All-American Pete (Scooter) Hillman. Both men were big factors in placing U.S.C. second to Ohio State in the winter basketball classic at the Sports Arena. In this tournament Hillman made a valiant attempt to contain States Jerry Lucas but couldn't quite cut the mustard. In the surfing world we have Bill Skeg-winkle, whose handling of the heavy waves in Hawaii has to be seen to be believed; Gary Wilder, head of the Newport Beach gremlins; Vallianos, king of the Rincon gremlins; and George Toberman, noted "hot dog" specialist on any wave that can be ridden. In horseback riding we have Doug Washburn, a member of the United States Olympic riding team and being counted on heavily for the next Olympic Games. This is also true of Swimmers Denny Devine, Mike Wilkie, and Denny Weldon, three men who prefer dedicated hard work to the social life offered by the sororities and the luau. In freshman football we had Fuhrer and Davidson, two standouts who are being counted on to lead U.S.C. to the Rose Bowl next year. In interfraternity sports we have won the handball, badminton, bowling, golf, and volleyball championships, all the events offered in the fall, and hope to make it a clean sweep by winning all of the spring events and thereby the Iron Man trophy. We will have a good chance in basketball by virtue of a starting five consisting of such stalwarts as Pudgy Grafton, Elgin Underwood, Wilt "Stilt" Kantzer, Park Rudo, and John Carney.

In finance we are represented by Randolph Hall down at Delt Savings and Loan. In law we find Gene "Geisler" Ward and Park Turner. In dentistry we have Bob O'Callaghan and Lance Larson, both greats of the molar world. And again handling Mother's Club activity will be George Beckwith.

The social calendar was highlighted by the annual Delt week end formal in Las Vegas. Beaver Thompson was the hit of the town with his twist performance in front of a cheering mob at the Dunes.

That just about wraps up the fall semester. I wish all the Delts throughout the country the best of luck in the spring.

FOREST SMITH

Wabash—Beta Psi

Hottest news item on the Wabash campus this fall was football, and hottest item by far on the Little Giant squad was Delt Cocaptain Jack McHenry.

Playing out of a single-wing tail-back slot, "Mac" passed and toted the ball for 1008 yards in seven games, scored five touchdowns and passed for eight more, averaged 4.2 yards per carry and 44 yards per punt, and broke his ankle in the next-to-last game of the season.

Postseason accolades included most valuable player (for his second consecutive year) and honorable mention on the Williamson Poll All-American squad.

Joining McHenry in the backfield was a junior pledge, Ken Parmalee, who took over the varsity signal calling duties in midseason and developed into an experienced field general. Ken was voted most improved player at the season's end.

Two other Delts played on the first team—Sophomore Bill Hepler at center and Sophomore Pledge Carl Kern at guard—while Hank Rodgers and Pledge Norm Starr saw action with the reserves.

Beta Psi swung onto the social merry-go-round early by grabbing off the first-place trophy for homecoming decorations. Social Chairman Rudy Van Loon, transformed into a temporary playground instructor, directed construction of a huge, Shelter-concealing set depicting the rigors of scholastic life at rival Butler University.

Not to be outdone, "Cecil B. DeWitt" directed his crew of actors to a tie for first place in the Blue Key stunt night presentation. Witt's skit, a take-off on the "Untouchables" theme, won out over eight other dramas in the campuswide competition.

The pledge dance theme was simple and uncluttered—pajamas; and a Christmas dance featured the ever-present Wassail Bowl. Two other Delt-sponsored functions, the faculty tea and the IFC Christmas party for underprivileged children, served to keep up on good terms with the neighbors and the administration.

Intramurals find the Delts holding down first place at the half-way mark, with championship trophies in football (7-0-1) and wrestling. Beta Psi bowlers finished second while the cross-country team took third.

The present winter sports season finds the Delts equally well represented on the intercollegiate scale. Members of the basketball traveling squad include Lee Nickerson, Bill Dickerson, Bill Wilson, Wally Scott, and Bob Mitchell, while Al Witt, John Doherty, Ed Johnson, and Bob Shearer are on the wrestling team.

In other activities this fall, six Delts took part in the Scarlet Masque production of Arthur Miller's The Crucible, and Pledge Ed Johnson was elected president of the freshman council.

The new year saw a change of administration, and in February Lee A. Nickerson took the gavel as chapter president. Assisting him are Johnny Doyle, vice-president; Rudy Van Loon, treasurer; Warren Ford, recording secretary; John Doherty, corresponding secretary; and John David, assistant treasurer. Other officers are Dave Stamper and John Dicks.

JOHN DOHERTY

Washington—Gamma Mu

The Gamma Mu Shelter is really brimming with excitement, with the expectation for breaking ground on our new addition early this spring. With the assistance of our Seattle Alumni Chapter, our long hoped for renovation and addition is soon to become a reality. The past fall quarter has been full of varied activities, making it one of our most enjoyable. This year's homecoming festivities, following the theme of the University's 100th anniversary, found the Delts with one of the most attractive displays of the annual sign competition, depicting the University of Washington daily newspaper through the years. Following the football game, we entertained all attending alums with an evening party.

This year we were stronger than ever in fall intramurals. For the second year in a row we captured the All-University volleyball championship through the fine playing of Lee Noorda, Pete McCallum, Dave Williams, Kimo Andrews, Owen Williams, and Bill Ferris. The Delt intramural football team won its league championship and placed Brother Doug Meador on the all-star team. The swimming team came in second this year, paced so ably by Craig Collette, Bob Tucker, Tom White, Chuck Miller, John Baker, Pete Wascher, and Roger Garretson.

Probably of interest to many of the Gamma Mu alums is that Mabel Chelin, our cook since 1949, is still with us in fine health and still cooking those remarkably excellent meals. Due to her cooking, our guest dinners are understandably the most popular on campus. She has been such an inspiration to so many Delts, being so much more than just our cook.

Lee Noorda, our social chairman this year, has done a fine job, especially on our "Haunted House" pledge party and the always exciting barn dance. Roger Garretson, exchange chairman, backed up with fine help from the pledge class, led by Fred Wetzel, put on several unique themed exchanges, a tradition of this chapter.

Gamma Mu Delts examining model of proposed new Shelter at Washington

Several freshmen, as well as actives of the chapter, have been active this fall in campus activities. These include Chuck Wiggins, Dick Mattingly, Arne Olson, Carl Presley, Chuck McCaffree, Rod Newton, and sophomore class president, Craig Collette. Brothers Tom Warren and Ron Dietz were selected for the underclassmen's activities honorary, Purple Shield, this past quarter. Scoop Stewart did a fine job that all of the Gamma Mu Delts were proud of, as the University yell king. Scoop's California type humor really pepped up those ball games.

On behalf of the Seattle, Washington, Delts, I would like to cordially invite everyone to attend the Seattle Worlds Fair, Century 21, to be held this year. The fair opens April 21, and runs for six months. If you are able to make it, drop in and visit us at the Shelter.

TOM WARREN

Washington State—Epsilon Gamma

It's been a mighty cold winter for Epsilon Gamma, but under the guidance of its able leaders the WSU Delts have kept things plenty warm in the chapter house.

Intramurals provided a fine outlet for the crew, and Brother Dirk Veleke (the Dutch's answer to the Pot Belly Stove) led an intramural football team that was scored upon only twice in league play. IM Coach Bob Pearson came up with his answer to the "T," "I," and "W" formations with the "P." QB Bruce Wolf found an able target in Rich Axland for touchdown passes that provided a spiked offensive punch. "Bear" Liebman and Barry Drummond sparked a tough defensive line that led the league in penalties.

Our bowling team was led by its five-year letterman, Bruce Bayley, and two pledges, Marv LaPorte and Larry Thomas. The team suffered a terrible blow when Marv had to drop off the team due to the fact that he usually wasn't finished with dinner by the 9:30 starting time. Next year Marv will start eating dinner immediately following lunch.

Our volleyball teams, which we had very high hopes for, finished second and third.

With basketball, skiing and ping pong coming up, enthusiasm is reaching a new high. Brothers Wolf and Bayley could finish 1-2 in ping pong, and led by Finnigan, Schaler, and Orlin Rajala, the Delts should be No. 1 in the winter sport.

In basketball, Lee Kloeppel and Barry Drummond provide the height, while Brother Wolf and Gary Breaker chip in with some fine shooting ability.

In other news, Brother Breaker turned over his Playboy party game book to Don Butler in his last act as social chairman. Gary provided many firesides and exchanges, topped off with the second annual function held during the pledge sneak. Gary had a fine turnout for the clean-up crew, which consisted of 22 pledges.

Brother Butler started his reign off with the annual Founders Day banquet, and followed it with another annual affair, the Christmas smorgasbord. This was the largest function in the chapter's history, and although Gary King tried to twist to "Moonlight in Vermont," the function was termed a success.

The pledges provided the members with a festive entitled "Roman Holiday." Some realistic decorations, obtained by Pledge Thomas, which included a stone fountain and benches, added atmosphere to the event. The spring social calendar starts off with a pajama dance, and will be capped by our spring formal and Sally Sunshine contest.

More Delts have been tapped by honoraries and include President Max Bolte; Sigma Tau, Tau Beta Pi, and Scarab; Gary Breaker; Sigma Tau, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Psi; and Lee Kloeppel and Steve Rodgers, Mu Phi Epsilon, of which Brother Mike Durkee was recently elected president. Max has also been serving on a committee which is trying to revise the chaperone program at WSU.

As the semester comes to an end the Delts have two projects—1. Stay at the top in men's grades, and 2. prepare for mid-year rush. This should help keep us out of trouble for awhile.

DON BUTLER

W. & L.—Phi

During the fall semester, Delta Tau Delta at Washington and Lee has been recognized as the leader in many phases of campus activity.

Continuing its tradition as a leader in athletics, Phi Chapter placed 17 men on the football team that was named by the Washington Touchdown Club as the "outstanding small college team in the nation." Three delts, Steve Suttle, Barton Dick, and Ned Hobbs, were tri-captains of this team. The chapter boasts one extraordinary accomplishment in having three of its members named to an All-American team: Charlie Gummey and Bob Payne made honorable mention and Terry Fohs was second-string center on the Little All-American team.

Eben Warner, Jim Slay, Charlie Begg, and Bob Pagano were on the soccer team. Bob's play earned him the position of captain of next year's team.

Winter sports also claim a number of Delts. Dave Montgomery is captain of the wrestling team, and is joined by Pagano and Rick Uhlig on the squad. Dave Grogan and Fred Schaeffer play varsity basketball; while Dick Livingston, Rick Saunders, Vick Nunan, and Linsey Short are on the JV squad. The abilities of Charlie Gummey, Bruce Jackson, and Gordon Gay are responsible for a large part of the success of the swimming team.

While individual members are outstanding in varsity sports the chapter as a whole puts up a strong front on the intramural scene. Victories in cross-country, football, basketball, handball, and wrestling have contributed to the Delts leading position in that field. Wig Wiggins is the leader in that phase of chapter activity.

With all the activity in sports, the social activities have not been overlooked, but have been bolstered by Social Chairman Will Lee. Opening dances was one of the best week ends in memory because of activities at the Delt house. Combo parties featured the Isley Brothers and the Clovers, and also included in the week end was a party given by the chapter in honor of Dave Montgomery, who was president of the set. Every football week end saw a combo at the Delt Shelter in honor of the victorious Generals. The private Christmas party has become a tradition of Phi. This includes a dinner and dance. The band was that of Buster Brown. During Fancy Dress week end, the Delts boast some top parties with national recording artist Huey "Piano" Smith.

The leadership qualities of several

ROSEMARY DAVIDSON, sweetheart of Phi Chapter

Delts have been recognized by several honorary fraternities. Uncas McThenia, Ned Hobbs, Terry Fohs, Steve Suttle, and Dave Montgomery were tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa. At Washington and Lee this is considered the highest honor a student may receive. Hobbs and Bill Wheeler were taken into Sigma, an honorary social fraternity. Montgomery was initiated into the Thirteen Club.

While McThenia and Suttle lead the school as president and secretary, respectively, of the student body, other Delts also contribute to the work. George Honts was recently named to the student control committee, which handles student disciplinary action.

ASHLEY WILTSHIRE

Wesleyan—Gamma Zeta

Prospects are bright for another fine year here at Wesleyan, and the Gamma Zeta Delts shine in all areas of campus life. The conclusion of the fall season finds the Delts leading in the over-all standings for intramural sports, having amassed over twice as many points as the second-place fraternity. The tough football team went through the league games undefeated and then beat Chi Psi 8-0 in the championships to take top position on campus. This fine team was led by Paul Brands, who both coached the team and played quarterback. The offensive unit included Brands, Dean Schooler, Chris Albright, Bill Roberts, Chuck Simonson, Animal Hottenstein, and Big Daddy Workman. Special congratulations must go to the defensive line, which held opponents to only two touchdowns for the entire year. The defensive team was composed of Tom Howard, Don Valentine, and Hotts on the line, and some people in the backfield. George Walker added points to the Delt total by winning the ping pong championship, then teamed up with Paul Brands to take the doubles title, while Jim Workman and Fred Taylor pulled through with a third place.

Wesleyan's varsity football team had a grim season at best, winning only one game, but Halfback Gerry Miller shined despite the losses. Particular credit goes to Gerry for his 90-yard kickoff return and score against powerful Amherst. Gerry thereby became the first Wesleyan player to score against Amherst in seven years. John Odenwelder played a hard season as tackle and deserves mention. The freshman football team did better, on the whole, with 200 pounders Kibby White and Dave Walters holding down the two end slots. This fall found the frosh soccer team undefeated for the season, primarily due to the defensive work of Delt Kenny Robinson. Harry Brands was also a standout on that squad.

Despite the football losses, social life continued to be well lubricated at the Shelter, with the crowning blow coming at fall house parties, where Charlie Hoyt, class of '54, led his band of dirty old men and the brothers. Special note goes to Fred Taylor, who won the pig prize, and Bill Gilbert, who made a wonderful birthday cake. Jim Schroeder thinks he had a good time, too. Homecoming week end also proved interesting for the Delts as Cheyenne Middleton's mechanical monster dived at the judges, intimidating them into a second-place award in the effigy contest. The effigy was a gigantic cardinal and the judges were forced to seek cover.

In the field of campus politics, Don Crampton was elected president of the freshman class, Pete Moos was appointed chairman of the dormitory committee, and Lew Whitney was placed on the newly established committee to set up a delayed rushing system on campus.

Academically speaking, Jerry Rice was elected to Phi Beta Kappa on the basis of his junior record. George Walker, Andy Schrader, and Don Valentine are still hoping to gain the coveted key by the end of the year. Intellectual pursuits continue to be stimulated by Gamma Zeta's Phi Rho Literary Society, which has sponsored two excellent programs this fall. More are planned for the second semester.

As this term draws to a close, congratulations must be extended to the retiring officers who have done so much to make this year as successful as it has been. The most notable achievement of President Valentine's administration is the plan that has been drawn up for house renovations. Ten thousand dollars has been donated by the combined efforts of the undergraduates and alumni, and this money will go toward remodeling the entire first floor and the painting of the exterior of the Shelter. Congratulations to Peter Mooz and his development committee for a job well done, as well as to House Manager John Reeder.

The Shelter was saddened this fall by the death of our cook, Jack Moore. However, Cal Mullin has done such a fine job in replacing him, that the chapter elected him Santa Claus for the Christmas party. The talents of Cal were particularly exhibited at this party, as well as at the faculty buffet, when over 200 guests were entertained. John Huss did a notable job in organizing this gala affair.

Although Jud Lyon has not as yet found time from his academic pursuits, the brothers are waiting expectantly for his creation of a new addition, a mail box. Few think he can do it, but with Tom Howard's guiding hand, he cannot miss, it's in the cards.

Basketball season finds Paul Brands as a varsity forward, while Kibby White and Jack Edelen are playing frosh ball. Jack gets special note as the only man in the history of the game to foul out after three minutes of play. Good job, Jack! The varsity swimming team is bolstered by the efforts of Mickey Bagg, Dave Hager, and John Harvey, while Fred Odell has already broken the freshman backstroke record. The varsity wrestling team looks particularly good at Wesleyan this year and the first three weights are held down by Delts B. A. Brewster, Sluggo Owens, and Spike Black.

We hope to maintain this fine record of well rounded accomplishments during the second semester of this year.

RODNEY GAZINYA

Western Reserve—Zeta

A retrospective view of Zeta's activities in the winter semester of 1961-62 finds the men of Reserve's Delt chapter still carrying on in good shape after taking their flying start in the fall.

Highlighting the many scholastic honors received this semester were Dave Florian's induction into Phi Society for being one of the top ten freshmen last year, and the tapping of Bob Boerner into Omicron Delta Kappa honorary. Several Delts from last year failed to receive recognition in THE RAINBOW. Ed Crum was graduated Phi Beta Kappa, received the Twing Award, and was elected to the all-PAC baseball team; Mike Ostergard was graduated Phi Beta Kappa and received the Warion Trophy; and Terry Wenger was elected to the all-PAC baseball team.

As usual, we had our annual big turkey dinner previous to the Thanksgiving holiday, with all the Delts on the faculty attending. Along with this, a reception and dinner were held at the Shelter for the parents of all new pledges.

Zeta had another rousing social semester, led by Social Chairman Joe Dubyak, with many well-planned informal parties and a winter week end at Seven Springs Ski Lodge, Champion, Pennsylvania. The brothers and their dates enjoyed skiing, tobogganing, ice skating, and dancing in the atmosphere of a winter wonderland.

Zeta pledges for this semester are Dick Boyd, Jeff Farkas, Sam Huff, Neil Joebechen, Kieth Koepke, Mac Leet, Dave Lehtinen, Bill Loue, Dick Lowe, Mike McMenamin, Ed Malinzak, Bob Moore, and Vaughn Tittle. The pledge class has shown a lot of spirit and initiative so far which was reflected by their winning the pledge skit trophy at the final football rally.

Just before rush week, many improvements were added to the chapter house. Thirteen new metal desks, five new beds, wall shelving for each active, reupholstering of the living room furniture, and a lot of hard work all helped to dress up the house.

After winning the division B football crown at the beginning of the semester, the Delts continue to pace the intramural competition. Our basketball team, in the division A play, losing only three games in the last four years, has also come out on top in intramural play. The intramural all-sports trophy for the year 1960-61 was presented to the Zeta Delts, along with the University basketball championship for the spring semester of 1961.

One of the high points of our fall activities was the homecoming game with Wayne State. Mainly through the efforts of our homecoming chairman, Ray Laurent, we captured first place in the judging of the house decorations.

Extracurricular activities have not been slighted by other interests and "key-chasers" are kept jumping. Alive in campus politics are Bill Loue, treasurer of the freshman class; Jim Chatterton, secretary of student council; and Dave Michel, treasurer, and Terry Wenger, secretary, both seniors. Tim Hollingsworth is the Student Senate representative from Adelbert College. Rich Morgan does a fine job on the Student Senate movie and calendar programs. Sam Huff, a freshman pledge, is on the program council of the Student Union, and was in charge of publishing the first newsletter ever put out by the Student Union.

Dave Michel and Jerry Ault, both members of the board of directors of the Student Union, are in charge of office and calendar activities and the handling of publicity and publications, respectively. On the staff of the Lux, the Reserve yearbook, are Jack Waslyn, editor; Dave Michel, associate editor; Terry Wenger, sports editor; and Bob Boerner and Ray Laurent, heading the faculty section. Bob Boerner is also editor of the fraternity column in the Tribune, the school paper.

Bill Molson was elected corresponding secretary of Zeta following the resignation of George Shoup.

Varsity athletics, as in the past, claim title to many Delts this semester. Jack Hulit was a tower of strength at his end position and Bob Baker, only a sophomore, showed great promise of becoming Reserve's next quarterback. The basketball courts find Terry Wenger, captain, Joe Dubyak, and Bill Novince making a great showing. With Roger Benedict entered in swimming, Bill Molson in gymnastics, John Huston and Dave Michel in golf, Fritz Miller in soccer, and Brad Yale in cross-country, one can see that school spirit is not lacking at the chapter.

Freshmen taking part in varsity competition are Dave Lehtinen, Mike McMenamin, and Bill Loue, all of whom are on the basketball team, and Vaughn Tittle, a rising star of the gridiron.

BILL MOLSON

Westminster—Delta Omicron

High spirits and enthusiasm has been the byword around the Delta Omicron Shelter this past semester. These qualities, to which we owe another successful semester, have become characteristic of the chapter here.

This semester our social activities have been outstanding, thanks to Cochairmen Rick Mason and Bill Robertson. We started the year off with our annual pig roast, one of the major activities. The pig roast, held in the beautiful hills of Missouri, consisted of many Delts and dates, a tremendous bonfire, roast steaks, and all the trimmings. In November, we turned the Shelter into a probable scene from Dante's Inferno for our "hell party." As to our Christmas formal, it can only be referred to as a fond memory.

Athletically, our intramural basketball team is doing well despite the tremendous competition for the trophy. Hampered somewhat by having six Delts on the varsity team, our club still plays with overwhelming enthusiasm despite the odds.

Rush, usually a dead subject around this time, is coming back to life. Our new rush chairman, Andy Kenyon, has been planning the rushing program so next year can be as successful as this one was.

Many minor, but yet important, improvements have been made in the Shelter this semester. Under the administration of Whit Smith, our house chairman, new stairs have been installed, along with a major cleanup inside and out.

Facing the election of new officers, a special note of thanks should be given to our president, Rich Smith. In his superior leadership and deep concern for the chapter and the men in it, Rich has led the Westminster Delts through another great year. He has set a fine example for the new president to follow.

We would also like to express our pride in having Mr. Robert W. Kroening, vice-president of the Western Division, as our chapter adviser. Graduating in 1945 from Delta Omicron, Bob is active in community and Fraternity affairs and is an asset to our chapter.

CHUCK SUITS

West Virginia—Gamma Delta

Gamma Delta Chapter made the national news scene with our 72-hour basketball marathon, in which each of our 92 members and pledges participated. The game was kept alive day and night for three full days. The final score was 16,290 to 16,280 with Ted Welty getting 620 points to lead the scoring columns.

The chapter recently added more strength to its campus leadership with the election of Perry Johnson as freshman class president and Ray Pierce as president of the dormitory council. These men are just two of the 23 outstanding members of our fall pledge class. Brothers Ollie Bates and Emil Johnson were initiated into Mountain, ranking men's honorary, and Brothers Johnson and Richard Cornelia were selected for Phi Lambda Upsilon, chemical engineering honorary.

The Shelter is also still on top in athletics. Four lettermen of the varsity soccer team, Jack Crank, Bob Gellner, Butch Hensley, and Spike Hickman, and two starters on the wrestling team, Tim Rihn, and Spike Hickman, are Delts. We also took the first-place trophy in intramural bowling, having the top four out of five individual scores and the top two team scores.

Socially, things have been really moving. Our Christmas formal was held December 9 and was the best yet. Over the holidays there were combination rush and New Year parties in Charleston, Clarksburg, and Logan.

In the scholastic column, we are happy and very proud to have received the scholarship improvement plaque for the Eastern Division. Scholarship is being stressed more than ever so that we may maintain and strengthen our present position of campus leadership.

GORDON DEPEW

In a letter to Lowrie McClurg on February 13, 1881, Bruck wrote: "That letter of Baird's is a winner. He can tell a confounded lie and cover his tracks about as nicely as any man it was ever my pleasure or misfortune to run against. His letter is full of holes. Do what he may, he can never clear himself from the accusation that he tried his best to interest Cunningham in Beta Theta Pi to the exclusion of Delta Tau Delta and failed. That's where the sting lies. Don't you forget it."

Except for those listed as Founders, our Catalogues finally dropped from membership any of the Bethany list who maintained dual membership. These included T. J. Holton, whose letter to Francis W. Shepherdson of Beta Theta Pi was quoted earlier.

The second article on our history will discuss the laying of the foundation of Delta Tau Delta by the Jefferson Alpha and the Fraternity's progress through the Civil War period and the rest of the first decade.

Advanced Study Scholarships

is made on an at-large basis. Special scholarships are offered in specific fields of training, as specified by donors who establish the scholarships. The special scholarship available at the present time, in amount of $1,400, is for graduate study in either petroleum engineering or petroleum geology at certain approved colleges. This contribution has been made by John W. Nichols, Oklahoma, '36, Vice-President of the Fraternity.

A selection board of three members, appointed by the President of the Fraternity, examines all applications and makes its recommendations to the Supervisor of Scholarship. These recommendations are binding except under unusual circumstances, in which event the Supervisor of Scholarship submits a report to the Board of Directors of the Fraternity, which then makes the final selection.

Requirements necessary to be eligible for consideration for one of the scholarships and the necessary application forms can be obtained from the Executive Vice-President at the Central Office of the Fraternity, 3242 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis 8, Indiana. The deadline date for applications is March 15. The selections will be made on or before June 1, 1962.
