Epsilon Theta Chapter Installed At Willamette

ON SATURDAY, February 16, 1963, Delta Tau Delta had the pleasure of installing its 90th chapter, Epsilon Theta, at Willamette University, Salem, Oregon. The charter was granted to 12 undergraduate students, members of the Crescent Club of Delta Tau Delta, and eight pledges of the group. The presentation of the charter by Second Vice-President W. DeWitt Williams marked the end of careful planning and preparation, and it was a fitting climax to a full day of activity for the new Delts, Delt alumni, parents, and friends.

In attendance at the initiation were Delta Tau Delta President John W. Nichols, immediate past President Robert W. Gilley, Second Vice-President W. DeWitt Williams, and many northwest alums. Delta Lambda Chapter, Oregon State University, conducted the initiation ceremonies; its splendid performance being witnessed by more than 100 Delts.

Following the initiation, a reception was held at the new Epsilon Theta Shelter, under the guidance of the Epsilon Theta housemother, Mrs. Elizabeth Spangler. Among the many guests attending the gala affair were Willamette University officials, city officials from Salem, representatives from other fraternities and sororities, and alums and parents of the new initiates.

The group adjourned to the Marion Hotel for the initiation banquet. Presiding over the evening's activities was Wesley E. Stewart, Jr., Gamma Rho, '34, president of the Epsilon Theta Foundation. Toastmaster for the program was Robert W. Gilley, immediate past President of the Fraternity. Many distinguished guests were introduced, followed by the presentation of membership certificates to each new member. The Second Vice-President of the Fraternity, W. DeWitt Williams, presented the charter to Bob Rieder, the college chapter president. A warm welcome was extended to Delta Tau Delta on the campus by Willamette's President, Epsilon Theta Chapter, Delta Tau Delta.

Dr. G. Herbert Smith. President Nichols gave an enlightening talk on the part of the Fraternity in the changing scene of American colleges and universities.

Entertainment for the banquet was provided by the undergraduates of Gamma Rho and Delta Lambda Chapters. The new chapter contributed to the entertainment by introducing a new Fraternity song called "A Marching Song," written by William Blair, one of the new initiates. Several gifts were presented to the new chapter, including a Bible from Gamma Mu, a gavel from Gamma Rho and a fine scholarship trophy given by Delta Mu. This award is to go to the sophomore showing the greatest improvement in scholarship over his freshman year, and will be known as the David J. Lau Award. It is named for the original chapter adviser of Epsilon Theta. Dave is a Delta Mu alum. Dr. Dwight S. Parr, Oregon, '20, has established an award to the pledge attaining the highest scholastic average over a 3.0. The award will be the payment of the recipient's initiation fee.

The banquet was attended by over 200 enthusiastic people, and to conclude the fine program all Delts joined in singing "Delta Shelter."

With the help of Captain Muzzio, a Delt on the faculty of Willamette University, and the local alumni chapter, as well as Wayne Capurro, a Delt from Northwestern and a first-year law student, who served as resident adviser for the chapter, the Crescent Club was organized on April 29, 1962. This group was formed with the goal of fostering fraternal association and service and with the intent of establishing a chapter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

A petition for a charter was sent to Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and was subsequently accepted by the Arch Chapter on December 2, 1962.

The chapter is housed in a new dormitory unit provided by the University. A major building program was initiated in 1953 which has remarkably expanded the physical facilities of Willamette and transformed it into a truly modern university.

Willamette University is the oldest institution of higher learning west of Missouri. Located in Salem, capital city of Oregon, it traces its history back to 1842 when the Methodist pioneer, Jason Lee, founded Oregon Institute as a missionary school.

In 1853, the Oregon territorial legislature granted a charter to Willamette University, and upper-level education began with five students and one instructor.

President Nichols and Dr. Kershner Address Western Division Conference

By MARLIN FITZWATER, Kansas State, '64

"THERE IS NO QUESTION but that Universities, fraternities, and school systems are going through a drastic change," Delta Tau Delta National President John W. Nichols told the 85 delegates attending the Western Division Conference at Kansas State University on February 22 and 23.

"We must roll with the punches or go down," he said. "The theory of fraternities as being purely a social organization is long, long past."

President Nichols, speaking at the Saturday evening Founders Day banquet, provided a challenge to the delegates to keep the Fraternity up with the changing times. "The rah-rah college days are over," he said. "Any chapter that does not realize this will disappear."

Nichols reviewed some of the history of the Fraternity as a prologue to the increasing number of schools and universities.

In 1900, Delta Tau Delta had 41 chapters. Four of these, Colorado, Nebraska, and two in California, were in the Western Division. From 1900-1920, the Fraternity established 23 new chapters, eight in the Western Division.

From 1920-1940, 18 new chapters were founded, with eight of these in the Western Division. Between 1940 and now, 19 new chapters have been established, 11 of which are in the Western Division.

"The Fraternity has withdrawn nine chapters in the last 63 years," Nichols said. "None in the Western Division."

"In my opinion," Nichols said, "this process of establishment will speed up. In the past few years new chapters have been going into smaller schools at an ever increasing rate."

Nichols listed several reasons for an increase in the fraternity system at the smaller schools. "One of the reasons," he said, "is due to a tremendous explosion of student population.

"Because certain schools must limit enrollment, others will grow intensely as schools suitable for our operation."

Nichols cited a change in college requirements as having a great effect on the future of the Fraternity. "All four-year colleges will sooner or later require entrance examinations," he said. "Also, there will be an expansion of existing schools, mostly on the eastern seaboard because of having more room. Also, the large cities are better prepared to support schools."

Nichols said an increase in the amount of scholarships to be given would increase the number of students attending college. "The person with the ability but not the finances," he said, "will be able to go to college because of the scholarships soon to be made available."

In accordance with the rising university standards, Nichols said the Fraternity must change its emphasis from social training to mind training.

"The whole process of education has speeded up since the occurrence of sputniks," Nichols said, "and the Fraternity program must be geared to the changing atmosphere."

At the Saturday noon luncheon, Fred Kershner, Supervisor of Scholarship and professor of history at Columbia University, spoke on the "Scholarship of the Future."

Kershner listed three areas of change which the fraternity hopes to adopt in the near future to better orient the individual chapter.

First, the preparation of a book concerned solely with educating the individual Delt to the history and traditions of the Fraternity as they were originally proposed.

Second, the publishing of a book containing arguments pro and con concerning different aspects of membership. Kershner emphasized over and over the extreme need for a better education of the Fraternity's issues. "THE RAINBOW could help in this area by publishing opinion essays by individual members of the Fraternity, both undergraduate and alumni," he said.

Third, a search for new service which will make membership in the Fraternity new and exciting, instead of traditional.

The Allegheny Alpha Decade: Part III

By F. DARRELL MOORE, Ohio, '16

Editor's Note:

In the two preceding sections relating the history of Delta Tau Delta from 1874 to 1883, under the guidance of Alpha (Allegheny), the Convention proceedings were summarized, and expansion was detailed up to the end of 1880. This third section completes the expansion picture. The importance of the Crescent is also detailed. Alpha's own story is given briefly. Other items of interest conclude this section of our history.

WESTERN RESERVE University, in Cleveland, presented a somewhat similar problem as Kenyon to the Fraternity's expansion program. The so-called eastern group of fraternities had entered and were solidly entrenched. As early as January 17, 1875, a letter was sent to Alpha Chapter signed by F. S. Merchant, who wrote: "I have endeavored to do my level best in regard to that matter of founding one of your society's in this college. All the boys that have any influence are pledged to some of the societys hear. And what you would want can not be had hear at present." There is no record of Mr. Merchant otherwise.

The Extension Committee, in its report to the 1881 Convention, mentions Western Reserve as the one college in the Second Division that would soon be added to our list. Alton Adelbert Bemis and James William McLane of the class of 1883, and Morris Jared Hole of the class of 1884, had been initiated at Eta (Buchtel) for the purpose of starting a chapter at Western Reserve University. M. E. Bourne of the Eta Chapter wrote to the Alpha March 25, 1882, "Our scheme at Western Reserve does make slow progress but we can't make men, at least in a year. Fate seems against us. Several of the men we expected did not come back. They have only about 60 men in college; there are strong, well-established frats there, Alpha Delta Phi, Delta Upsilon, and Delta Kappa Epsilon. ing for good men and won't take any other kind even if it takes longer to get in." The GSA of Alpha stated in his report to the 1882 Convention that the tireless exertions of McLane and Bemis has resulted in enough men that a charter would be applied for in the fall. Zeta Chapter was established September 4, 1882.

Two charter members of Zeta who had been initiated at Eta both later became members of the Executive Council or the Arch Chapter. A. A. Bemis was Ritualist for two terms between 1887 and 1891. James W. McLane was Editor of the Crescent, 1886-87. One of the chapter's earliest initiates was Sherman Arter, '86, who later was President of the Northern Division, as well as holding other assignments of importance; until his death in 1924 he was one of the stalwarts of the Fraternity and Zeta Chapter. In the 1882 Crescent, McLane described the vicissitudes of the chapter in his first chapter letter: "Ours had indeed been a long and hard battle. We have met with every discouragement and every obstacle that can hinder the development and growth of an embryonic chapter. We have lost men by desertion, by sickness, by inability to come to college when all preparations were completed, and in almost every other way imaginable. Thirteen or fourteen men have pledged by us in all, and until now there have never been more than three or four at one time. Our opposition has been very strong. But work for the fraternity has been a pleasure to us all the time."

Adelbert College of the Western Reserve University had just moved from Hudson, Ohio, to Cleveland where the professional schools were already located. Very few new students had entered. Buildings were unfinished until the beginning of the winter term. The other fraternities had well furnished halls, and the members of Zeta labored under the disadvantage of no hall. "It is not every man who wants to join a chapter that has no equipment, other things being equal, when he can just as well unite with one that is fixed ready for work." McLane was class valedictorian, and Bemis also was graduated. Cleveland alumni, under W. M. Day, were organized into an alumni chapter.

Alarming rumors came to the Alpha Chapter in the fall of 1883, of the threatened collapse of the Zeta, according to a letter that Harry Plummer wrote to Wilber Colvin on June 23, 1884. "We immediately sent E. W. Day, one of our members, to Cleveland, paying half the expenses which were $8. The remaining $4 we expected the frat'y to settle, which they undoubtedly will do." He found that there was absolutely no foundation to the rumors.

EPSILON AT ALBION IN 1876

Early in 1876, according to Trautwein, Delta (Michigan) and Kappa

(Hillsdale) had both taken steps to establish Delta Tau Delta at Albion College. Both projects were making progress, unknown to each other, when they were laid before the Fraternity for action. Kappa withdrew its scheme, and Delta's led to the establishment of the Epsilon Chapter on June 1, 1876. This chapter was another early chapter handicapped by faculty opposition, and it operated sub rosa for two years. It was the first fraternity at Albion. Four years later Albert DeCamp wrote on May 3, 1880, "I can but acknowledge for Epsilon that she has been neglectful in regard to her dues to Alpha, and as an excuse for our neglect, can only give our condition during the past two years and in fact since our foundation. When she was founded no help was recd. from Alpha and quite a heavy debt ($150) for a chapter just beginning its existence was necessarily incurred. Few in numbers and a rent of $50 per annum to pay, you can see that it has required some sacrifice on the part of our boys to reduce our debt to its present amount ($30), besides expenses of carrying on the chapter. Our number has been small, none of the boys wealthy, and it has been done with little help from alumni. Besides all our boys are connected with literary societies at the College whose bills have to be paid, and their connection there is sometimes the cause of a lack of interest in Deltaism. If Alpha insists, dues this year being paid, last year's not, I suppose she will either do so or revoke our charter." In her report to the Indianapolis Convention of 1883, the chapter was happy to boast that it was at last square financially. The debt had been lifted by the proceeds of two lectures the chapter had sponsored.

COLORADO PETITIONS 1882

George Stidger of Xi (Simpson) wrote to Wesley Best, GSA of Alpha, on September 7, 1882: "Today I sent application for a charter for Colo. State Univ. to Galesburg. It is with pleasure I learn the matter was favorably spoken of by many members of the Convention. Lambda will endorse the application." The Crescent, in its April, 1883, number, carried an article signed by George Stidger. He told the story of the petition's failure. The Executive Council had voted favorably as had three of the four Grand

Chapters; only Tau voted against the petition. A protest circulated among the chapters of the fourth, third, and second divisions resulted in every chapter declaring itself favorable to the petition, except Delta. "Through delicacy we did not mail the protest to chapters in the 1st division."

Paul H. Hanus presented a letter prepared by Lowrie McClurg to the University President's office, and within a few hours the faculty consented to accepting Delta Tau Delta. He wrote to McClurg on October 15, 1882, "The letter is one of the clearest and most manly expositions of the character and attitude of our Fraternity that I have ever seen. It was a powerful aid in winning the faculty. The way is now clear at this end to a successful earnest chapter." McClurg passed the letter on to Wilber Colvin with a note: "Received this morning and send it that you may know something of Prof. Hanus's sentiments in regard to the fraternity in general and Col. U. in particular. Bruck votes no on the scheme, but I guess he does not feel decidedly one way or the other as he was two weeks sending in his vote." In a later letter from Bruck, however, he told McClurg on November 11, 1882: "Could not conscientiously vote for Colorado after looking at scheme in best light in which it could be put. That I am not too conservative is shown by the fact that I voted for Iowa Univ. and Indiana Asbury Univ., and that from time to time made concessions which I felt inclined to hold back. Honestly though, I propose to fight Col. U. all around the stump." Later he discussed Colorado at great length, contrasting eastern against western thinking on expansion, and their different attitudes toward state universities. This would be a continuing problem for discussion among the Fraternity's leaders. On November 29 he "protests against this craze in favor of state universities."

In contrast, William S. Eversole wrote to Alpha recommending the granting of a charter to Colorado. He predicted that the University of Colorado would become the greatest educational center west of the Mississippi. "It is greatly to be regretted that we are not represented in more of the state universities of the west."

BETA KAPPA CHAPTER ORGANIZED 1883

The 1883 Convention's Committee on Chapters and Charters recommended that a charter be granted to the petitioners from the University of Colorado. Its recommendation was adopted with an amendment restricting its membership for three years to 12 members. The chapter was organized as the Beta Kappa on September 30, 1883. It was the first fraternity there. On November 12, 1883, George Stidger wrote to Alpha: "Our chapter is organized. We have three charter members and next Saturday night we will put two boys through. Last Saturday night we had at our meeting Paul H. Hanus of Delta, J. B. Ware of Delta, the three boys, and my brother and myself. Ware is here to stay."

J. B. Ware quoted from a letter received from an unnamed friend in Colorado, March 19, 1884: "Of course I don't know anything about the other chapters and I don't know how we would stand with a member of some eastern chapter if he were to visit us, but I think we have a good start for a strong chapter, and we have certainly the best material the University affords and all of it. Glover and Pease especially will make first class frat men. Glover is a natural born gentleman. I admire him and wish the rest of us were more like him. The opinion I have expressed to you at different times I still hold with even greater force: viz., that our boys must all be gentlemen in nature and manner, and must have a first class social position, and if we as a chapter attain this result here in Boulder it will do more to strengthen the chapter, and to that extent the Fraternity, than anything I know of. More stress should be laid on this point at Boulder, especially because in this western country there is more tendency to a rough, slangy, do-as-I-please air than in an eastern town, and if our boys can set an example in showing to the people of Boulder a refined and gentlemanly set of boys, it will be a good thing for the chapter and the town."

On March 21, 1884, George Stidger wrote to Colvin that Beta Kappa was in fine condition. "We have had an 'application' from a barb. We have been granted a night in Commencement Week and our program is prepared, and the boys are at work."

MINNESOTA ENTERED

The University of Minnesota was a field for expansion that the Executive Council had long "cast a covetous eye upon this growing and prosperous institution, which seemed to have all the assurance of success," said Trautwein in his sketch of Beta Eta Chapter in the 1884 Catalogue. Charles L. Edwards of the Lambda (Monmouth) Chapter had entered Minnesota with the express purpose of starting Delta Tau Delta on its way.

As early as May, 1880, Henry Bruck was writing to Lowrie McClurg, then living in Chicago, about their University of Minnesota scheme. "Have you any pull at Minn. at all? If as you say Beta Theta Pi is inclining toward that institution we do indeed want to rush matters so as to get in ahead. My opinion of Beta Theta Pi is growing beautifully less and less every day. I should just like to see the mixed crowd they have at Brown." One can see that Beta Theta Pi's activities influenced as well as annoyed Henry Bruck.

There is no other information available until November 24, 1882, when Bruck recorded his vote on Minnesota as "yes." Charles Edwards wrote to Wesley Best at Alpha on December 28, "As we have heard nothing from headquarters in regard to the petition which we sent in to grant a charter for a chapter at the Minn. Univ., I thought it best to write you and see if the matter cannot be hurried somewhat."

"The boys here that I have pledged for the undertaking, McNair, Colburn, and Stacy, are all of the true stuff dear to the backbone and will work for $\Delta T \Delta$ with as hearty a spirit and as true love as any of her sons. Van Writ of the Delta and Augir of the Kappa, both rising young lawyers, will go in with the boys, and the chapter will have five members to start with, run sub rosa for this year, and come out with flying colors next year."

"As my principle object in attending Minn. State Univ. this least term, namely the starting of the Delta here has been attained, I will go back to my alma mater and finish my course with my class '84. A chapter could not have a better chance for success than the one composed of the men I have pledged at Minnesota. The Univ. bids fair to be one of the leading institutions and is doing most excellent work at present."

O. A. Coburn reported to the Alpha on October 20, 1883, "About the fourth of January last, four students at the U of M were admitted to the Delta brotherhood and by that act gave birth to Beta Eta. We realized the experience of all chapters while new and had to content ourselves with our selves." Grand Chapter Lambda's report to the 1883 Convention gives date of founding as March 21. "The work here was slow, and at times discouraging, but thanks to the enthusiastic men selected at the University, and to the zealous cooperation of those royal Deltas, Brothers Van Wirt and Augir of Minneapolis, it was accomplished. The chapter was inaugurated by the initiation of Messers. Colburn and McNair, both of '86, on the night of March 21st. At the next meeting, two more gentlemen, Stacy and Bennett, also of '86, were initiated. . . ." The G.S.A. stated that Beta Eta "is not on as firm a footing as it might be, owing to a number of difficult circumstances; and it will be necessary in order that it may be successful, that it receive all the assistance possible from the Fraternity."

The chapter was fortunate in that Charles Edwards returned to Minnesota in the fall of 1884 to take a post-graduate course in chemistry.

COLVIN FOUNDS SOUTHERN CHAPTERS

In a letter to the G.S.A., Charles M. Blair of the Alpha, Wilber Colvin on May 22, 1882, wrote: "I now have applications for charters from North Georgia Agricultural College, Dahlonega; the University of Georgia; and Emory College. The two latter are two of the best institutions in the south and were both recognized as desirable places by the Second Division Conference last year. I received an application from the former some time ago but the Ex. Co. did not think it a desirable place at which to begin our Southern campaign, although it is a branch of the Univ. of Ga. and has over 250 students. I told the men there as much and encouraged them to use their influence in helping us to work into the Univ. of Ga. as they said they were acquainted there and some of them thought of going there to college before very long. They went to work and have secured 7 of as good students as there are at the Univ. of Ga. and also 5 at Emory College. Having done so nobly, they think they deserve a charter. I have ordered a vote on the two latter to be taken in this Div. McClurg has suggested that when the other chapters are founded the men be initiated with them. Does the Alpha approve the plan suggested?"

Another letter from Colvin on May 31 says: "Your views as to N.G.A.C. are in exact accord with those of the Ex. Council. I now have the names of the men at the other two places and will communicate with them directly. I have also written the presidents of the colleges. Sigma Alpha Epsilon is trying to get into Emory College and we want to be stirring ourselves."

Henry Bruck disagreed with the plan. In a letter to Blair dated May 29 he said: "I received a letter from McClurg saying that Colvin had 7 men pledged at Georgia Univ. and 5 at Emory College, & he said they are both first class places. Now I must beg leave to differ with him, & when I answer him I shall tell him so. I don't see what we need of either of them. U. of Va. and Washington and Lee are the only really good ones we have in the south. I hope the granting of charters to those places won't be made too recklessly. We could afford to let them rest until next year."

In an undated letter, apparently written shortly after June 4, F. C. Cooke of the Tau commented: "Yours of the 4th reached me several days ago. I would have written sooner, but the evening before I received it, I received a telegram from Colvin (having followed a day after his letter) asking Tau's immediate action. I had to receive each vote individually (which was not unanimous) and telegraphed our consent. Then your letter followed, explaining the affair in an altogether different light. He did not tell Tau he had secured the men by working through the mail. If he should, we would never have given our consent. In my opinion that is a poor way to establish a chapter. I know from experience that it meets the approval of men as cannot join another fraternity, and when they receive such an invite, they snap at it."

REPORT ON GEORGIA AND EMORY CHAPTERS

On June 5, 1882, Colvin sent the documents concerning Georgia and Emory to Blair at the Alpha. They included the petitions, the names, and approval by the Chancellor of the University of Georgia and a dispatch from the faculty at Emory, and the consent of the chapters in the Second Division. "I calculate the expenses of the trip will be $40, which will be only $10 on each chapter."

By June 8, Colvin was able to send the telegraphed consents of the three other Grand Chapters, Lambda, Phi, and Tau to the Alpha. None of these three chapters still exists. On June 14 from Atlanta, Georgia, Colvin reported: "On Monday night I established BD with the eight men whose names I sent you and one man came over from Dahlonega, the man who went to Athens and worked up the boys and the most deserving one. The man initiated, John Howard, is a junior, and about three years ago attended at Oxford and he also did some good service for us there at this time."

"On last evening I established BE Chapter with the same men whose names I sent you."

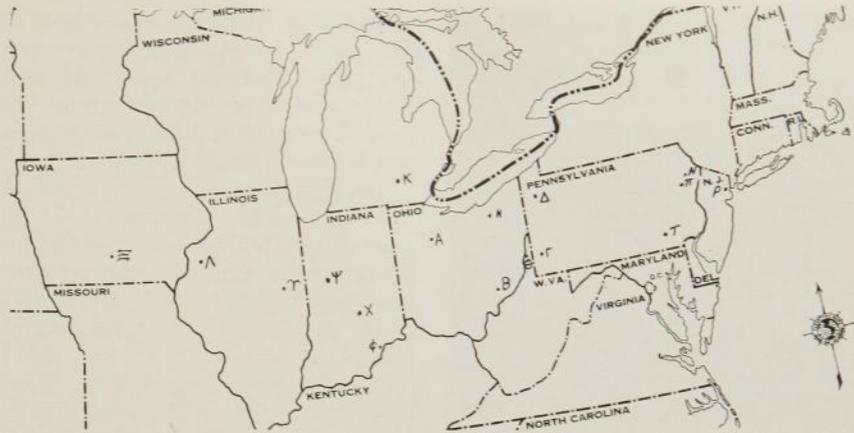

"And now as to the men. I had my ideas at a pretty fair elevation before I saw them, but after meeting them and especially after going through the work with them, my opinion of the men of both chapters is very high indeed. They are men, good, honest, hard-working, ambitious students."

Alpha's file also held an anonymous letter to Alpha attacking our petitioners at Emory.

The Executive Council report to the 1882 Convention adds that Emory College offered to furnish a room in a college building for the new chapter. At the same time the college refused the same bounty to Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

COLVIN FOUNDS BETA THETA AT SEWANEE

The third chapter to be established in the south is also credited to Wilber Colvin. Two undergraduates at the University of the South conceived the idea of establishing a chapter of Delta Tau Delta at Sewanee during the winter vacation 1882-1883. They wrote to Harry Plummer of the Alpha,

By 1874 there were 17 chapters in the Fraternity. They were located, as indicated, at W. & J., Allegheny, Lafayette, Lehigh, and Franklin & Marshall in Pennsylvania; at Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio, and Buchtel in Ohio; at Bethany in West Virginia; at Hillsdale, Michigan; at Hanover, Franklin, and Wabash in Indiana; at Lombard and Illinois in Illinois; at Stevens in New Jersey; and Simpson in Iowa.

then editor of the Crescent, and by him were referred to Colvin and McClurg. Later, Plummer tried to claim credit for founding Beta Theta, but his claim was never taken seriously.

Toward the end of the vacation, owing to what the promoters interpreted as the disapprobation of their Bishop, the promoters abandoned the scheme and notified Colvin. At the beginning of Lent, March, 1883, the scheme was again taken up, and no opposition being offered by the Bishop, the plans were pushed through. A local fraternity was formed, weekly meetings were held, several were added to their number, until finally the chapter was recognized formally by the faculty. Matters went on quietly and Colvin told them that all the necessary consent had been obtained with the exception of Tau Chapter. One of the members immediately visited Colvin, then in Cincinnati, and presented him with all the data needed for the consent of Tau. A few days later the charter was granted. On June 23, Colvin arrived at Sewanee and initiated the eight members. Colvin spent a few days with the new chapter; the chapter always recognized him as its founder, and a warm and interesting correspondence developed during the next three years. Unfortunately Colvin's letters to Beta Theta have not survived.

The first initiate after installation was Archibald Butt, who later became famous as the popular military aide of President William Howard Taft, and who was one of the heroes at the sinking of the Titanic.

In Beta Theta's first letter to the Crescent, we are told that the chapter, through the kindness of friends, was in possession of a chapter house.

Henry Bruck was persistent in his opposition to southern expansion. In a letter to Lowrie McClurg on March 12, 1883, he states, "I am against the Univ. of the South & have told Colvin so."

FIRST EFFORT AT OHIO STATE FUTILE

Wilber Colvin, in his report as secretary of the Executive Council to the 1883 Convention, stated that a petition for a charter was received during the preceding fall term from nine "splendid young men" at Ohio State University. "The petition was heartily endorsed by the Council, but in the vote of the chapters one adverse voice was given, and for reasons which, if we may be allowed an opinion, were unsatisfactory. Said chapter, however, expressed a willingness to reconsider her vote early next term, and the petition will also likely come before the Convention through a committee report." The Committee on Chapters and Charters recommended "that a Charter be granted to the Ohio State University" and that part of the report was adopted.

In its report to the 1884 Convention, Grand Chapter Mu gave sad news. "The charter which was granted to the O.S.U. by the Indianapolis Convention came too late. The most and best of the eight petitioners, disheartened by the refusal of the first application and tired out by long waiting, accepted standing bids from other fraternities and were initiated before a charter was finally granted. An effort to gain admission in some other way proved unsuccessful on account of the scarcity of men among the six well-established fraternities."

PROBLEM OF EXPANSION

Expansion probably was the most important problem of Delta Tau Delta during the decade. During most of the time Alpha Chapter held exclusive jurisdiction and became increasingly discriminating in its actions. The idea of the Extension Committee to assist the Alpha tended toward a more selective policy. Rho, with Henry Bruck as its spokesman, led in the movement for eastern chapters. As their contact was with the small, wealthy, well-established eastern group of fraternities, their attitude was quite opposed to previous policies in the Midwest. A certain element of snobbery, in its best sense, came into being; if we were able to crash the doors of the best (and that meant New England) colleges, we were handicapped by our chapter list which included colleges with little wealth, prestige, or social standing. A sense of inferiority was induced which was later outgrown when it was realized that the exclusiveness of the select eastern group prevented any great expansion in the Midwest or the west. The Midwest group became dominant in their own section and in the expanding west.

The Constitution was changed in 1882 to read, "Charters shall be granted to establish new chapters by the consent of Alpha, Executive Council, Grand Chapters, and the chapters of the division in which the chapter is located. Said charter to be signed by the GWP of Alpha, GSA of Convention, and GSA of Grand Chapter, under whose supervision the chapter is." The function of the Executive Council was redefined: "The especial work of the Executive Council shall be the seeking out and recommending desirable places for location of new chapters, and assisting Alpha Chapter in establishing and maintaining same." Obviously this was a transition change.

FIASCO AT PRINCETON

During Alpha (Allegheny) years, there were frequent projects into what is now called the Ivy League, which came to naught. The first was an idea that developed at Tau (Franklin & Marshall). John H. Geissinger wrote to McClurg at Alpha on February 3, 1879, "A telegram came to us this afternoon from Bro. Loucks, Princeton. He desires to initiate two good men of the class of 1881, Princeton College, on Saturday evening, the object being for himself and these to get companions to entitle them to a chartered chapter. He to bring the young men to Lancaster for initiation. We hold a special meeting to discuss the matter tonight and without doubt the project will be favored. Bro. Loucks asks an immediate answer. I think it will be yes for it is a tide in the affairs which must be taken at the flood in order to lead to any success. Let me hear from you by letter or telegraph at once." On February 11, W. A. Miller, also of Tau, wrote, "I am exceedingly sorry that our good endeavors were not so easily carried out. I have been calling Bro. Loucks, who is there, attention to the fact that he can do something for 'the beautiful and good' and he made the attempt, but in some way or other the class officer got wind of the fact and only by a direct lie on the part of one of the boys, did they escape. But nothing daunted, he alone came to see us on last Saturday in order to exonerate himself of all blame. Bro. Loucks still lives in hopes, and he is determined to have a chapter there."

CHAPTER AT YALE LAW SCHOOL REFUSED

Henry Bruck, in a letter to Alpha on January 17, 1880, wrote, "Bro. Talcott, Sigma (Mt. Union), '77, paid us a visit a week ago last Thursday. He is busy working up a chapter at the Yale Law School and came down to get posted in regard to ways & means of applying for a charter." On January 31, Bruck again wrote: "I got a letter from Talcott, Sigma, '77, stating that he had forwarded to Tau a petition for a charter to the Yale Law School, and asking me to recommend the project to Alpha. I am completely on the fence; the balance is a consistently shifting one. I firmly believe in conservatism as regards the East as well as conservatism towards the West. Harry Geissinger in his last letter to me suggests our plan of working should be 'to pull down our west & give our (y)east a chance to rise.' That's all well enough (omitting the perfectly vile puns) but we don't want our east to rise so much as to 'go up' or become a mere bubble. There are two questions that should be asked. First, is the Law School a proper place for us, and second, are we sufficiently advanced in the East to make Yale an objective. McClurg doesn't approve of the project, and I am inclined to lean a little that way." Alpha's file included letters from Gamma giving its unanimous consent; from Nu a unanimous vote in favor; from Upsilon, against the project, influenced by letters from McClurg and Bruck; and from Rho, also negative. In a long, well-reasoned letter, Bruck gave Rho's reasons for refusing a charter to a law school as well as to a University chapter at Yale. Pi (Lehigh) voted favorably only on Tau's suggestion of a charter to Yale University.

HARVARD SNUBS US

Albert D. Elliott, of Tau, tried to establish a chapter at Harvard College in 1881-82. A report of Tau to

Map of chapters existing January 1, 1884.

Alpha on May 10, 1882, said, "Bro. Elliott, while visiting the chapter during the Easter vacation, told me the only hindrance he could find to our entering Harvard was we were represented at mostly western colleges, and some very poor ones among the list. But also that he hoped they would not prove a hindrance to securing the right material. He had secured the promise of two first classmen under the condition he would select the stripe of men whom they desired and then they would enter into the movement willingly." There were no results after interviewing more prospects. He concluded that Delta Tau Delta could not enter Harvard with first class material, and that she should not go in. The G.S.A. report to the 1882 Convention stated that the project at Harvard had been abandoned.

JAMES EATON A PART OF THE ALPHA TRADITION

Tradition handed down for more than 80 years gives James Eaton, General Secretary of the Allegheny chapter in 1874-75, much of the credit for preserving Delta Tau Delta as a Fraternity. His trip of investigation to Delaware had produced nothing not already known. His and the Delta Chapter's action in taking control and functioning as the acting Alpha until the 1875 Convention is the basis for the tradition. His activity as the G.S.A. brought the other chapters into active correspondence with him, and undoubtedly preserved the Fraternity. In his own words, in his history, Eaton said:

"It was the disorganization of Alpha at Delaware, Ohio, and the transfer of papers and other articles in its possession to Delta at Meadville, Pa. where I received them in my own hands. This of course placed Delta at the head of affairs for the time being, to make investigations. Everything was shipped to Delta without any explanation whatever and entirely unexpected on the part of its members. All that came with the package was a note stating their disorganization, which was a greater shock to us, probably, than to the other members of the fraternity. Immediate inquiry was made to all the chapters that could be reached without too long a delay, as to their satisfaction of Delta retaining the power entrusted to it. Upon their responding in the affirmative, we . . . took it upon ourselves to bring the affairs that had been left to go down up to a higher standing, before the next Convention . . ."

Eaton's influence persisted after his graduation. He attended the 1876 Convention as delegate from Rho. In 1877 he presented the first written history of the Fraternity to the Convention, for which he was given a vote of thanks. He was elected Vice-President of the 1880 Convention, but did not attend.

Without detracting one bit from Alpha Chapter's service to Delta Tau Delta in the crisis, the point must be made that the chapters at Washington & Jefferson, Ohio University, Hanover, Hillsdale, Stevens, Franklin & Marshall, Bethany, Buchtel, Lombard, and others stayed steadfast and loyal.

Several of the earlier chapters chartered by Delta Tau Delta had been chapters of another fraternity that had disintegrated; had not the Allegheny chapter provided the leadership and James Eaton the determination, Delta Tau Delta might have gone the way of the other fraternities into oblivion. Fortunately, no other fraternity sought to raid our chapter roll. Without any fraternity journals to spread the news, even our own chapters did not know what had happened until months after the new Alpha had taken over.

The only method of personal contact among the chapters up to 1874 was at the annual Convention. It was not until 1878, when Lowrie McClurg made his visits to the other Pennsylvania chapters and to the Stevens chapter, that such contacts were made. The Crescent was established in 1877 and provided essential stimuli to the Fraternity. The GSA of the Alpha and the SA's of the other chapters were still very important.

Admittedly, Delta Tau Delta was shocked and weakened temporarily by the betrayal of the Delaware Alpha, but the innate loyalty, the traditions already developing, the determination of Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Phi, Tau, and the rest quickly overcame the dismay.

Much of what has preceded this paragraph would have been lost to the historical narrative had not the members of Alpha retained their incoming correspondence. The chapter's records themselves go back to 1869. The first minute book covers the period from 1869 to 1877. The second one, from 1877 to 1885 has disappeared, unfortunately, so it is not possible to follow the chapter through later years in which it functioned as the governing chapter. The more voluminous Convention Minutes and the appearance of the Crescent make the loss somewhat less important.

In the third volume of the Crescent a history of the Allegheny Alpha, written by Charles E. Richmond, ran through five numbers of the magazine. He presents the legend accepted for years that the entire chapter of six or seven members enlisted in 1863 to aid in thwarting Lee's invasion of Pennsylvania. He repeated the story at length in a Convention banquet toast in 1882. The legend was dismissed by Henry Bruck in his historical notes, and a chapter history published by Alpha in 1915 accepted Bruck's analysis. Interestingly, however, there is some evidence that the legend lingers on.

In the first number of the Crescent, the defection of the Delaware Alpha was discussed, and the importance of James Eaton's leadership in overcoming the blow was given due credit. As the corresponding secretary of the chapter, Eaton bolstered the loyalty of the other chapters, handled the affairs promptly and effectively, and undoubtedly deserves the praise that has been lavished upon him.

ALPHA'S MINUTE BOOK

In the chapter's minute book appears not only the affairs of Alpha as a chapter, but the actions it took as the governing chapter. Upon receiving notice that the Delaware Alpha had disbanded, the then Delta met in special session on November 27, 1874. "On motion Bro. Eaton be sent to inquire into the affairs of Chapter Alpha—go immediately." His choice was decided by the flip of a coin. His trip turned up little that was new or productive. On December 5 the report reads: "Bro. Eaton hashed up Chapter Alpha" and a vote of thanks was given to Eaton. Eaton assumed the leadership, and the Delta, which was the Grand Chapter of the First Division, took over the duties of the Alpha until the 1875 Convention, when it was legally made the Alpha. In the interim, items of interest include: "On January 9, 1875, Bro. Eaton reports in regard to condition of Chapter Rho (Lake Shore Seminary); Bro. Walker in regard to his establishing chapter at Mount Union, Ohio; on motion Bro. Pearce was instructed to withdraw charter from Rho; on January 23 a charter was granted at Abington." This disposes of the confusion in regard to two chapter Rhos; such was the case, as the Delaware Alpha had chartered Stevens Institute May 9, 1874, and either had withdrawn the Lake Shore charter or considered it defunct, or had given the name twice. On April 21, 1875, "By mo. we instructed our delegates to vote against the admission of ladies into Fraternity."

"MODOC JIM" EATON

ETA CHAPTER PROPOSES LADIES AS MEMBERS

Reference has already been made to the Convention's action forbidding the initiation of ladies into the Fraternity. Alpha Chapter's instructions to the delegate and the discussion in the Convention probably arose from a letter from the Buchtel (Eta) chapter dated March 16, 1875. "Is it opposed to the spirit of the Constitution, (I know it is not to the letter) to admit lady students as members of any chapter? This subject came up at our last meeting and received strenuous support from several of our members. We have here many ladies that would be an honor to an organization, and many of our best members think it would be to our advantage to organize a branch of this chapter among them." A month later: "Have you considered any further the propriety of admitting young ladies to the Fraternity? It seems to me that each chapter having the right under the Constitution of determining who shall and who shall not become members can act in this regard as its members see fit." The Convention decided otherwise.

In the Omega (Iowa State) minute book on July 30, 1876, two ladies were proposed for membership in that chapter. The proposal was tabled for one week, a chapter custom. On August 4, it was moved and passed that the two names be "stricken from the record." The I. C. Sorosis, which later became Pi Beta Phi also was at Iowa State, and frequently held joint entertainments with our chapter.

On May 22, 1875, the minutes state that "Bro. Lancey elected chapter S.A. and editor of Crescent for next year." Plans for the magazine did not materialize, however. On June 12, "On motion we grant a charter at Indianapolis, Indiana" is all that appears; and on October 2, "A charter granted to John W. Milan at Terre-Heute, Indiana."

Apparently some subscriptions had been collected for the Crescent, as it was voted on October 17, 1875 "that money in the hands of the Crescent Committee remain in the General Frat fund, provided the consent of the Bros. be obtained." Lowrie McClurg was initiated November 27. The chapter also proceeded to preparing a new edition of the Catalogue, and James Eaton was requested to write a two-page history of the Fraternity to be placed in the Catalogue. On November 13, a reward of five cents was offered to the brother who would steal the best cover for the water set. The chapter voted that the Delta Song be sung with the opening exercises.

One phantom chapter that never rose to haunt Delta Tau Delta was granted January 22, 1876. The minutes state "A letter from Bro. McKelvey (Alpha '75) requesting a charter in Pittsburgh High School. On motion a charter was granted to Pitts. High School." Brother Bear reported there were two chapter Omicrons. On January 29 it was moved and carried that we grant a charter to Virginia University, also a phantom. On February 2, 1876, Beta Beta at Michigan was renamed the Delta and the Omicron at Lancaster (Franklin & Marshall) the Tau. An undated minute states "On motion Charter at Belford Chapter be withdrawn." Undoubtedly this refers to the first Tau Chapter at Penn State and should have been Bellefonte. On March 18, Brother Bear "rec'd a letter from old Chap. Ro at North East asking a new charter" and the request was refused. The Iowa chapter, chartered on November 27, 1875, which did not materialize, was withdrawn on April 15 and was referred to as Beta Delta rather than Beta Alpha.

The cost of founding Chapter Omicron at Greencastle, Indiana was reported on April 22 as $11.30, half to be repaid to the chapter. A motion to instruct the Alpha's delegates to enforce the Constitution and withdraw all charters of chapters not having paid their dues within 30 days after Convention, probably means that the delegates were instructed to get that passed by the Convention. A week later, "An interesting and concise report of the transactions of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity as related by an eavesdropper."

On May 12, 1877 it was reported that the Convention had revived the project of the Crescent as the Fraternity news organ. On June 2, the chapter passed a motion that an order be drawn on the Extension Fund to pay the expenses of the first, and if necessary the second, issue of the Crescent.

There are several references in the minutes of this period to a "bouncing blanket." On February 17, 1877, an order was drawn on the chapter fund for $4.25 for the blanket. During the chapter's literary performance on February 24, answering and asking questions, the minutes record: "On motion Bro. Walker bounced for forgetting his question." "On motion Bro. Walker recipient of a vote of thanks for his graceful descent." "Bro. Sensor bounced for not being prepared with an essay." On March 10 the record states: "essay. Bro. Sensor is at last prepared and reads us a rather unintelligible essay which was greatly applauded."

During the 1870's the Alpha Chapter had literary programs at their meetings, with orations, essays, debates, extemporaneous speeches, and a chapter paper called the Choctaw. Among the extemporaneous speeches reported at one meeting: "Bear spouted on milk; Eaton, pleasures of hope; Rietzel, of chickens; Silver, starch; Wright, logic of truth; Nodine on dog sausage; Macmillan on beans; Halleck, effect of cider on morals; Waters, effect of RR on politics of Egypt, etc." Debates were on many topics, some of them timely, others by debating rules of the present day not debatable. Among the topics debated: That ancient literature is superior to modern; the U. S. should discontinue the Quaker policy in respect to the Indians; that fictitious writings are injurious; that various religious denominations be allowed to give instruction in the public schools; that women should be allowed the right of suffrage; that there is intrinsic beauty; that free love has the tendency to do away with prostitution. (The negative won this one).

In line with what other chapters were doing, Alpha had three honorary members, Ernest A. Hempstead, editor of the Meadville Weekly Journal and printer to the Fraternity; Daniel S. Pipes, St. Louis, Missouri, a lawyer; and John Franklin Hovis, whose brother was a member of Alpha.

ORIGIN OF CHOCTAW

The origin of the name "Choctaw" was given by James Eaton in the January, 1879, issue of the Crescent: "On one occasion, as the members were returning from the Hall and in some degree of mirth, testing their lungs with the usual college melodies, a phrase with somewhat plaintive accents was heard to come from the lips of a student called 'Bloody' Williams, 'Listen to those Choctaw whoops,' from which sprang the name 'Choctaw' and by which we are generally known yet in Meadville."

A PERIOD OF DECLINE AT ALLEGHENY

The fraternities at Allegheny had numbered 20 or more members earlier, but in 1883-84 all of them dropped to about half that size. In spite of the Fraternity's disapproval of the initiation of "preps" the Alpha reported that they had initiated several. "Socially, the Alpha has more than retained her enviable position in the select social circles of Meadville. A series of delightful hops were given in our rooms during the winter, ending with a grand dance and reception, undoubtedly the leading social event of the commencement week."

The weakness in Alpha that led to the change in government by the Executive Council probably is best reflected in a letter Henry Bruck wrote to Lowrie McClurg, March 12, 1883. "Alpha has 14 men, a rather small body to govern the Fraternity, when their character is considered. Best isn't worth a darn as GSA and nothing illustrates the dangers we are liable to be exposed to through the inability of one man to perform his duties. We'll meet with strong opposition, but now is the time to push the scheme through."

CHARTER OF ALPHA CHAPTER— ORIGINALLY THE THETA

The fourth volume of the Crescent reported the recovery of an old book called the "Choctaw." "This is an ancient possession of the Fraternity and contains a vast amount of information regarding Chapter Alpha and her alumni. It had been mislaid for several years but has at last found its way back to its owners who welcome it with sincere pleasure as it was a relic too valuable to lose. The book is now in safe hands and will be sacredly kept as a chapter in the pioneer history of old Chapter Alpha." In the book is the original charter, dated January 5, 1864, as the Theta Chapter, a copy of the 1863 Constitution and Ritual, the Register of the early members of the chapter and an addendum to the Ritual, undated, used only by Chapter Alpha as permitted by the various Constitutions; chapters could add to the Ritual but not subtract from it.

PROPOSED CONSOLIDATION WITH ALPHA TAU OMEGA

An interesting informal correspondence developed between Lowrie McClurg and two officers of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity who lived in Richmond, Virginia, concerning the consolidation of Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Tau Delta. An undated letter of McClurg to Bruck reported, "Our negotiations with Alpha Tau Omega have fallen through, as neither of us wishes to make sufficient concessions. If any union was made each fraternity would have to give up its name and the consolidated one go under a new one, which is something neither wished." At that time, 1880, such a consolidation seemed plausible; Delta Tau Delta had 25 chapters and Alpha Tau Omega 15, with no overlapping. It does have another interesting aspect. The first articles of consolidation with the Rainbow Fraternity, which were rejected by the chapters of Delta Tau Delta, bore a marked resemblance to the proposals of 1880.

FLIRTING WITH ALPHA SIGMA PHI AT MARIETTA COLLEGE

Another interesting project that did not materialize was the attempt to interest the Alpha Sigma Phi at Marietta College. It was the sole surviving chapter of a fraternity founded at Yale as a sophomore society in 1846. It was established at Marietta in 1860 and in 1880 was in a flourishing condition. On March 29, 1880, Henry Bruck wrote to his friend Lowrie McClurg: "Colvin says in his letter 'one of her most prominent men told me that he really wished they had decided to unite with us,' etc. Now as Beta Theta Pi is inclining in the same direction, don't you think it would be a good plan if Colvin were to get this prominent man to keep him informed on the exact state of affairs from time to time, more especially as concerns Beta Theta Pi. Beta Theta Pi is our greatest, our only real western rival in the East, & we should if possible steal marches on them whenever it may be possible. The A business certainly requires delicate handling and I think Colvin is capable of it. One thing is certain, if Baird has anything to do with the scheme, we will have to exercise our diplomacy to the utmost, as Baird is certainly one of the trickiest and most skillful managers I have ever met."

By an unusual coincidence, Wilber Colvin wrote to McClurg a letter with the same date: "As you are aware the Exec. Council has an eye on the Alpha Sigma Phi chapter at Marietta and is also trying to work up a chapter at Wooster. Being an essayist for the Ohio University in the state oratorical contest held at Akron, Ohio, I made it convenient to visit both Marietta and Wooster during my trip. The history of Alpha Sigma Phi I suppose you know, or you can obtain it from Baird's Am. Col. Frats. The chapter is now in fine condition, has 28 members, and has the most elegantly furnished hall in the city. Its members are of the best material in college. It has had the honor man in the senior class for the past ten years or more, every time. Its qualifications are certainly all right. But recently having fitted up the hall at heavy expense, it thinks it best not at present to unite with any larger fraternity, although in time it may do so. It holds our Fraternity in high regard, so much so that it requested that we delay our official invitation for a time so as not to be compelled to give us a declination. The B has also seen the desirableness of the position and has made them a proposition similar to our own. As it stands us in hand to keep them out and get in ourselves if possible."

Apparently Colvin's contact with Marietta was not followed up, as there are no other references to Marietta College until after 1900, when another 40-year old local was refused a charter because of the standing of the college. Later, of course, Alpha Sigma Phi established itself again as a national fraternity.

CRESCENT ESTABLISHED 1877

The establishment of the Crescent as the official journal was one of the most important developments of the period. Several aspects of its introduction and development have already been referred to in the Convention summaries. In the sixth volume of the Crescent, June, 1883, J. P. L. Weems recounted his experiences. He had been on the Convention committee in 1875 which had the proposal in charge. Alpha was to control the publication; Weems sent in his portion from Hanover. Alpha decided the time was not right. Weems stated that a year later the 1876 Convention left the matter to him; no reference was made to this action in the Minutes. As he left college in June, 1876, and was studying law, he did nothing. The 1877 Convention named W. C. Buchanan of the Theta (Bethany) Chapter as editor-in-chief, with Weems agreeing to act as his assistant. Buchanan was reluctant because of the financial problem but Weems insisted that they go ahead. The first number of Volume 1 of the Crescent appeared September 15, 1877. After the second month's issue Buchanan withdrew as editor and Weems became editor. Although Alpha had voted the money to underwrite the first two issues, apparently they failed to send it along. On June 14, 1878, Buchanan wrote to L. L. Davis of Alpha, "As I am out about $75 on the Crescent for last year and am short just at this time . . . If your chapter can give me $50 . . . I have been without this since October."

"I am glad the Crescent is to be continued next year. I feel its company and importance. Next year it will be a financial success, but more so . . . the hardship Weems and I experienced. We had no one to help us and it requires a great deal of attention as it goes to press."

When Weems took over, he made arrangements with a printer and embarked upon his duties. There were no funds available. He quotes an entry in his diary October 27, 1877: "Editor in chief and publisher of a fraternity paper; a law student . . . and I have not a cent in the world." Yet number three came out on November 15. Weems read proof, handled the mailing, and performed the other editorial functions; he borrowed some money, and prevailed upon the printers for time. Subscriptions began coming in.

For a while, while reading law and publishing the paper, he taught night school to meet his expenses. There was not enough income so he looked around for a school. On January 1, 1878, he had a school about 11 miles from Vincennes, Indiana, in the country. He came back to the city every week and devoted his time to the Crescent. He had to furnish copy, read proof, write, and correspond. Sometimes he walked the 11 miles after school was dismissed Friday afternoon.

He was repaid by the Fraternity for his expenses. The burden was too great for one person to carry gratuitously, and he turned volume two over to the Alpha.

Henry Bruck wrote to McClurg on December 3, 1878, "To tell you the plain truth I consider the Crescent this year the beau ideal of a fraternity paper. Published in the interests of the Fraternity, its articles discuss matters of importance to the Fraternity, although the articles may be devoid of interest to an outsider." McClurg happened to be the editor. Alpha's undergraduates continued to act as editors and publishers until the mid-1880's, and they did an excellent editorial job.

The Scroll of Phi Delta Theta, in June, 1883, spoke editorially: "It is safe to say that the Crescent has contributed more to the recent wonderful growth and improvement of Delta Tau Delta than all other causes combined. Prior to 1877, Delta Tau Delta had by no means as good a rank among college fraternities as it has since acquired. The probable cause was that it possessed a very defective system of government for many years after its foundation and a large number of its chapters were placed in low grade colleges, high schools, academies, and preparatory institutes."

"The establishment of the Crescent in 1877 seems to have been the beginning of a new era of success for the Fraternity, and since that time almost every undertaking has been signally successful and today Delta Tau Delta stands well up to the front among the fraternities, as does the Crescent among fraternity journals." This warm praise came from a superior fraternity journal and an outstanding editor, Walter B. Palmer.

FRATERNITIES WE MET IN 1881

A summary of our chapters' competition in 1881 showed us meeting the Betas and Phi Deltas ten times; Phi Psis, eight; Chi Phi, five; Dekes, four; Phi Gams, four; eleven others from one to three times.

PREPARATORY STUDENTS PROBLEM

Closely allied with the selection of favorable fields for new chapters was the problem of improving our older ones. The initiation of preparatory students became an increasingly debated question. Earlier, several of our chapters, happily defunct by 1880, had been in "academies" which were comparable to high schools, and which some of them became in fact. Assertions that some of the "colleges" on our list were little more than high schools were probably well founded. Although the Constitution was changed in 1876 to read, "This Fraternity shall be composed of chapters established in the various colleges and universities in the United States . . ." that did not prevent a charter being issued to Andover. Possibly it came about because of a charter voted by Alpha to Pittsburgh High School which never became effective.

WALKAROUND

The first reference to the "Walk-around," which has been a Delt tradition, appears in volume six of the Crescent, October, 1882, in the Convention report of the banquet.

"The proceedings of the evening were brought to an end by the execution of the 'Grand Choctaw Walk-around,' headed by Alpha's Choctaws, to whom its mazes were familiar, and who were well fitted to lead their brother warriors through its intricate ways."

BAIRD'S MANUAL OF COLLEGE FRATERNITIES

Mention has been made several times of William Raymond Baird, and Baird's Manual of College Fraternities. The first reference to his project is in the second volume of the Crescent (1878): "Announcement of 1st Ed. 'American College Fraternities, a Descriptive Analysis of the Society System in the Colleges of the United States, with a detailed account of Each Fraternity' by William Raymond Baird, who graduated last summer at Stevens Institute, Hoboken. He has collected facts from nearly 150 'Greek Letter Societies,' whereof one-third can boast of two or more colleges. Price, not over $1.50."

On November 24, 1882, Henry Bruck's letter to Lowrie McClurg states, "With regard to Baird's book (Second Edition) I have obtained the following information. Baird is publishing this edition himself, which consists of nothing more than the old book with a few additional leaves inserted. Baird is himself traveling in Europe & his book is not all on the market. His chapter paid him a mean trick. Baird gave them proof copies of the new pages and they had them bound in their books. When he wanted them to subscribe they declined with many thanks. This I got from a Beta Theta Pi."

BAIRD'S PRIVATE OPINION OF DELTA TAU DELTA

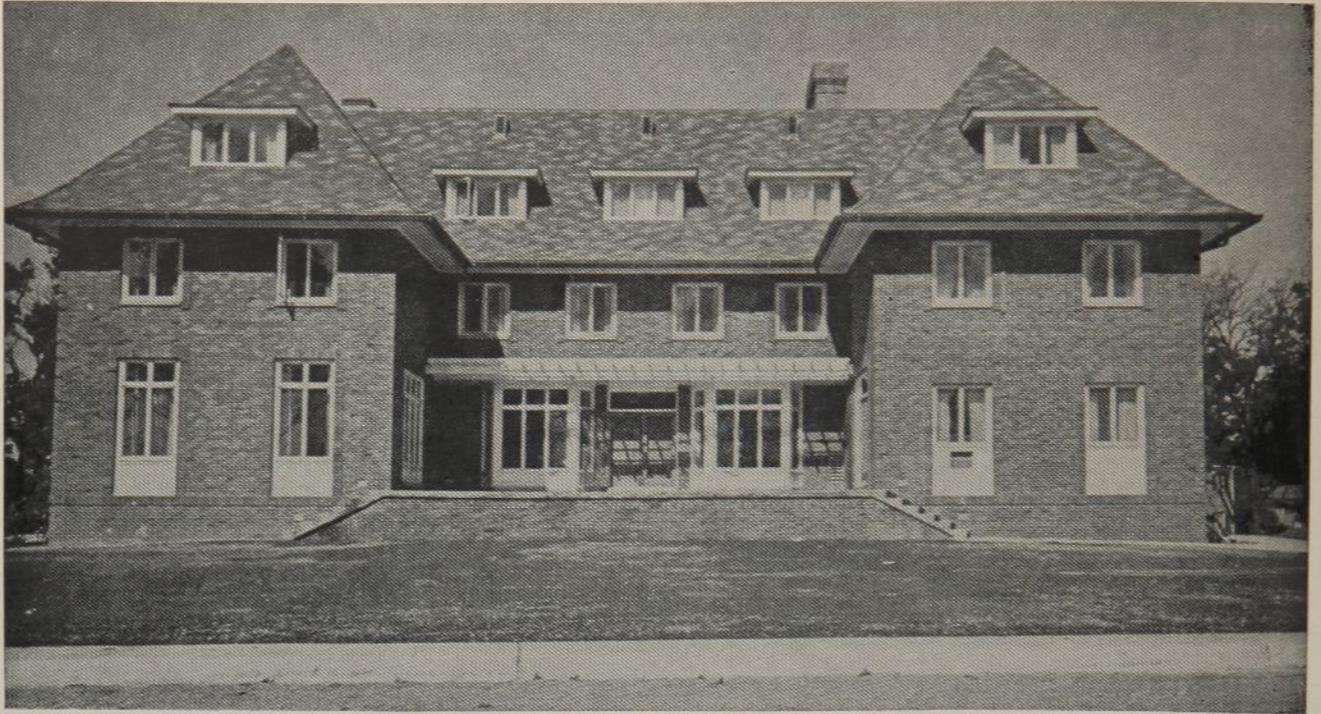

Possibly McClurg's and Bruck's 1881 distaste for Mr. Baird dates from a letter the former received from him dated January 21, 1881. Mr. Baird wrote: "I must in justice to myself state that in repeating to you what I hear of Delta Tau Delta I have seldom colored an account in any way, but it results simply from the fact that I more frequently hear had things said of Delta Tau Delta than good things and indeed so far as my own observation goes I am the only one in Beta Theta Pi, except J. C. Thompson of Iota (an intimate friend of Weems), who has a very high opinion of Delta Tau Delta and eastern college men with two exceptions among fraternity workers either do not speak of Delta Tau Delta at all or disparagingly. It isn't strange either. Yourself, Palmer of Phi Delta Theta, and one or two more are the only persons besides myself who know anything about the history or aims of Delta Tau Delta outside of it. And not knowing of Delta Tau the Eastern men underrate it."

"Believe me, I have a high opinion of the work you have accomplished since 1877 but others can't see it."

Incidentally, Mr. Baird was reported in the Chi Phi Quarterly (quoted in the Scroll of Phi Delta Theta for February, 1882), as a member of Zeta Psi and also of Beta Theta Pi. "Some time ago he attended a convention of the former at Philadelphia, though his sympathies are altogether with the latter." One very interesting letter to McClurg from Baird narrates how his fraternity, Alpha Sigma Chi, negotiated the consolidation with Beta Theta Pi.

Mr. A. P. Jacobs (who may be remembered from an earlier chapter of our history as a member of Psi Upsilon who disclosed to McClurg some facts about the first (Nu) chapter of Delta Tau Delta at Indiana University), should also be remembered for a review of catalogues of Psi Upsilon and Alpha Delta Phi published in the March, 1883, Diamond, and quoted in the April, 1883, Crescent: "One cannot close this imperfect review without expressing the hope—already in some measure justified by events—that the two societies whose positions are so well assured and whose futures are so brilliant, will join hands in the advancement of certain interests common to both. It is in their power to create a healthy public sentiment against the useless multiplication of societies and the introduction into the old colleges such fraternities as Delta Tau Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, etc. which being necessarily destined to be short-lived or at least to a precarious existence, serve only to make society institutions appear less permanent."

In the Winter, 1963, number of THE RAINBOW we announced that the new chapter at General Motors Institute would be introduced in the Spring number; however, since copy did not arrive in time to meet the deadline, the story will be carried in the Summer number.

This is the new home for Ohio Wesleyan Delts.

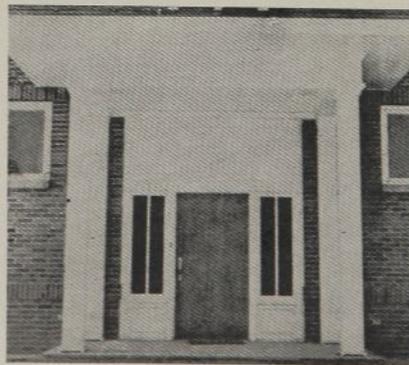

A New Shelter for Chapter Mu

By DON W. BERG, Ohio Wesleyan, '51

ON OCTOBER 20, 1962, undergraduate and alumni members of Mu Chapter of Delta Tau Delta met in Delaware, Ohio, for the purpose and privilege of dedicating a new house as the Shelter for the Fraternity's chapter at Ohio Wesleyan. They gathered with mixed emotions . . . there was a lump in the throat of each Mu Delt who held fond memories of his experiences in the old Shelter; there was a swelling of the chest of each Mu Delt as he witnessed the outstanding example of the united strength that made possible the completion of such a vast undertaking; they shared a feeling of satisfaction that the future prestige and welfare of the chapter had now been guaranteed; and most of all, they shared the unique pride that comes only from a group of men who know that each has done his share in proving that they can and will guide their future destiny. To the many brothers who contributed their untiring efforts in achieving the goal; to the many brothers who demonstrated their generous support, goes the heartfelt thanks of future Mu Delts.

The new Shelter will stand for many years as a symbol of the faith and importance we place on the development of youths in the manner we believe to be so valuable. The dedication of the Shelter represented more than the successful completion of a long dreamed of goal; it represented an important day and accomplishment in the individual lives of those who played a part in realizing the completion of the new Shelter . . . they have given, they have provided for the future. Throughout a lifetime, few efforts or endeavors will have more lasting and valuable meaning.

The Litany of Dedication was adapted from the dedication ceremony written by Edwin H. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '89, former President of the Fraternity, for the dedication of the Beta Beta Shelter, Greencastle, Indiana, on October 13, 1928. The Litany was read by Francis M. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '31, son of Bishop Hughes and also a former President of the Fraternity. Others taking an active part in the dedication ceremonies were Harold A. Rosser, '27; Reverend Dale E. Bichsel, '48; Ohio Wesleyan President Elden T. Smith; Branch Rickey, '04; Northern Division President Edwin L. Heminger, '48; Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, Indiana, '26; W. Edgar West, '23; Stanley D. Shawhan, '63, who accepted the key to the new Shelter for the undergraduate chapter; and Reverend Roger Turrell, '22.

In the fall of 1866 there were only four fraternities on the Ohio Wesleyan University campus. These four were firmly established and confined their rushing activities to upperclassmen, since the close of the Civil War had brought a sudden influx of students to the University.

One of the new students was a tall, fine appearing young man named Festus Walters, who had studied the previous year at Ohio University in Athens. Walters had been initiated into Beta Chapter while at Ohio University, and immediately saw the tremendous need and opportunity of a Delta Tau chapter on the rapidly growing Ohio Wesleyan campus.

Walters showed his shrewd judgment of character and his ability to select a strong nucleus of membership for a new chapter by choosing as his first comrade Edward Davis Curtis, a loyal Delt throughout his lifetime, and the man destined to become the author of the Fraternity's Ritual.

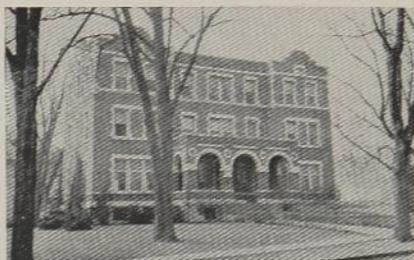

Walters and Curtis soon enlisted four additional men, all of whom in later days proved their loyalty as Delts, and on Saturday, November 26, 1866, the first initiation ceremonies of Chapter Omicron were held in the old American House, in Delaware.

Proof of the rapid advancement of the chapter lies in the fact that at the General Convention held in 1869, this fledgling member of Delta Tau Delta was made the Alpha, the governing chapter of the entire Fraternity.

The early days of the '70s saw a black cloud of dissension descend on Omicron Chapter. These troubles eventually forced the chapter to reorganize, and on June 3, 1879, Chapter Mu developed from the special initiation ceremonies held welcoming six new men into the brotherhood of Delta Tau Delta.

This was the Mu Shelter for 51 years.

The following years witnessed the development of the strong chapter of today. The spirit and comradeship shared by these early members guided Chapter Mu to a position of recognized strength on the campus. As the chapter membership grew, the first rooms occupied by the members grew far too inadequate, and the brothers moved to a suite of rooms at 57½ North Sandusky. Then in 1889, another move was made to rooms located further south on Sandusky. It was in this location that the first Fraternity luncheon was held, in honor of the father of Bun Hoffman, the family which has operated the students' favorite gathering place just off the Ohio Wesleyan campus for several generations.

During this same period, the famous Mu Delt "holes" came into existence, the most prominent of which were on North Franklin Street and Central Street. It was in these "holes" that many future members were first introduced to the mysteries of Delta Tau Delta.

The fall of 1898 will go down in history as the year when Chapter Mu occupied its first chapter house, located at 110 North Franklin Street. Then on June 10, 1908, the members met to give consideration to acquiring a permanent home to accommodate the growing numbers of brothers. To handle this important step, a corporation was formed and incorporated formally by the State of Ohio on July 25, 1908.

Through the efforts of Brother Barney Russell, the newly formed Chapter House Association was able to purchase the "Mendenhall" property at the northeast corner of Franklin and Griswold Streets, for the reasonable price of $3,800. The site was considered one of the best in Delaware, but the old brick house was quickly discovered to be inadequate for fraternity housing.

Dickinson Heads Missouri Masons

By OVID H. BELL, Phi Delta Theta

Editor's Note:

The following letter from Ovid Bell, publisher of THE RAINBOW, tells the story of Brother Dickinson's new post so well that it is presented here in the same form in which it was received. Our thanks go to Mr. Bell for his contribution.

DEAR ED:

It seems to me that THE RAINBOW should note the fact that one of your illustrious members has been elevated to a position of leadership in still another segment of the fraternity world.

On last September 26, at the 145th annual convocation of the Grand Lodge, A.F. & A.M., of Missouri, Martin B. Dickinson, Gamma Tau '26, and 22nd President of Delta Tau Delta (1950-1954), was installed as Grand Master of Masons in Missouri.

This should be particularly interesting to Deltas, for it happens that Martin Dickinson's career of service in Delta Tau Delta closely parallels that in Masonic orders. Although there is little direct tie between the Masonic fraternity and the college fraternity world, many of the founders of our Greek-letter societies were Masons and distilled the essence of Masonic teachings in the rituals they wrote and we still use before college fraternity altars. I suspect this may have been true in Delta Tau Delta.

Your Brother Dickinson is a native Missourian, although it was at the neighboring University of Kansas—where he received his A.B. degree in 1926 and his LL.B. degree in 1928—that his career in Delta Tau Delta began. Despite a busy law practice in Kansas City after graduation, he found time to serve your Fraternity as vice-president and President of your Western Division, Supervisor of Scholarship, Secretary, and then 22nd President of the Fraternity. I understand that, when he was elected to your Distinguished Service Chapter in 1954, he was cited not only for his administrative ability but also for his courage, devotion to duty, and unexcelled capacity for service—marked by his intelligent determination to do what was best for the Fraternity, often by subordination of family and professional obligations.

His Masonic career has also been one of unstinted service since he was raised in Kansas City's Country Club Lodge No. 656 on April 30, 1937. Not only has he served his Lodge as its Master in 1943, but also he has taken an active role in Kansas City's Eastern Star, York Rite, Scottish Rite, and Shrine bodies. Recognition of this leadership has come in ways beyond still further opportunities for Masonic service, among the membership in the Red Cross of Constantine and elevation, in 1947, to the 33° of Scottish Rite Masonry.

He has served our Grand Lodge in many ways, perhaps most importantly as a board member of the Masonic Home of Missouri and, in recent years, as chairman of the Grand Lodge's Committee on Constitution and By-Laws, which codified and brought them up-to-date in 1958.

As Missouri's Grand Master of Masons, he joins a line which has included President Harry S. Truman, Senators Forrest C. Donnell and Frank P. Briggs (the latter now serving as Undersecretary of Agriculture), and many of Missouri's leaders in many walks of life.

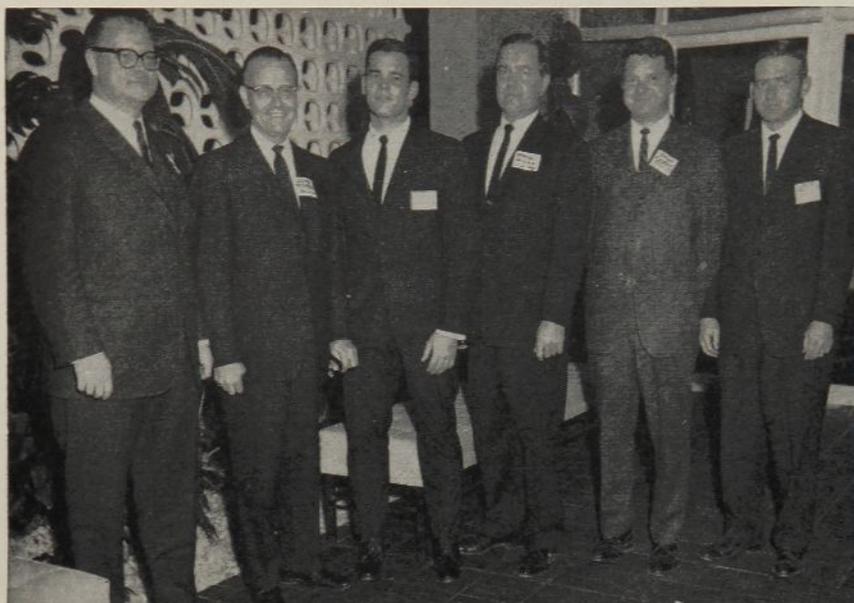

Writing to the subordinate lodges of the Grand Lodge last December, your Brother Dickinson said: "Aside from sound administration and the Masonic Home, my principal emphasis will be on ways and means by which Freemasonry can become a part of the lives of more citizens of Missouri and more useful to the communities in which we live. Only if we make it so can we expect it to survive and prosper." A credo equally good for college fraternities as well!

Sincerely,
OVID

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alabama—Delta Eta

The spring semester started in the usual fashion at Delta Eta, with a very successful rush week end.

The chapter elected Brother Larry Howell to serve as president. Other officers are: Robert Massey, vice-president; Charles Dahlke, treasurer; Lewis Land, assistant treasurer; Harold Daniels, recording secretary; Mike Patton, corresponding secretary; Don Mullins, sergeant at arms; and Charles Bedgood, guide.

Following our return from semester, the brothers at Delta Eta were informed that we stood tops scholastically out of 27 fraternities at 'Bama. At the annual University Day Brother Joe Stewart was tapped Delta Sigma Phi and Alpha Kappa Psi, the top professional fraternities in the school of commerce. Brother Stewart was also named as the top man in the senior class.

Delta Eta was host to the Southern Division Conference on April fifth and sixth. It was very enjoyable for the men of Delta Eta to meet so many Delt brothers.

The Deltos entered Jason's Jamboree, 'Bama's annual fraternity and sorority skit night, again this year. For the 11th time in 12 years, we produced a winning skit.

Following "help week," during which time the pledges did several service projects for the Fraternity and for a local Girl Scout camp, Delta Eta initiated 14 new brothers. Brother Bill Clements was selected outstanding pledge for the year.

With our full participation in intramural athletics, we have hopes of winning the all-sports trophy, in which we now stand fourth. On the 'Bama varsity track team is Brother Ron Smith, the top mile and half-mile man in the SEC. Brother Bubba Brewton is 'Bama's sophomore pole vaulter.

Our present Shelter is equipped with a large sundeck, the most popular spot in the house.

We are looking forward to being in our new Shelter for the fall semester. With continued effort and work of all the brothers, Delta Eta will be assured of many years of leadership among fraternities at 'Bama.

MIKE PATTON

Albion—Epsilon

Epsilon got off to a fine start this semester with the pledging of 13 top-quality

men. They represent one of the finest pledge classes on our campus.

Although we narrowly lost the All-Sports Trophy, we gained several individual honors, including the retirement of the swimming trophy after three successive wins. In varsity athletics, the tankers, led by Jim Russell, co-captain, Tom Pantlind, and Dave Kitchen, compiled their most impressive winning record in the past decade. Bill Shosky returns to the baseball team after helping take the M.I.A.A. crown last year. Bob Low is fast becoming Albion's number-one broad jumper, while Jim Osgood returns to the sprints. On the links Epsilon has Captain Ken Curtis, along with Bill Valuck, Don Jackson, and Fred Adams. Jack Lucas is our only representative in tennis.

Harry Wells, an outstanding senior on campus as well as within the chapter, was recently tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's honorary.

In the recent interfraternity council elections, Bob Gardner was elected secretary.

We are all happily awaiting our spring formal and, of course, final exams!

JIM BAKER

Allegheny—Alpha

April 2 marked the beginning of a new school term here at Alpha. During the preceding term, Brother John Miller maintained a 90 average. Brothers Dennis Bleakley, George Jackson, Jeff Merideth, Donald Monnheimer, Robert Parker, Robert Salmon, and Robert Stauffer all maintained averages of 85 or above, which is the Dean's List. Also in scholastics, Brother Noel Kitlowski was accepted at Pitt medical school, and Roger Gurner was accepted at both the Michigan State and West Virginia University geology graduate schools. Other seniors who have received their assignments and upon graduation will receive their commissions in the USAF, are: Jim Baxter, Dick Larkin, Tom Siffinger, Bruce Robinson, Bill Pribus, and John Swanson.

Alpha Chapter finished fourth in intramurals. After a strong start in softball last spring, the Deltos seemed to slip. We were just nosed out by the third-place team. With spring, a new season starts and Alpha is looking toward a better year. After a few practices, Coaches John Bickerton and Bob Harden report that the softball team for the new year looks good.

In varsity spring sports, Brothers Jim

Hoffman and Bob Parker are both out for track. Allegheny's lettermen were honored recently at a banquet. Brothers receiving letters for varsity sports were: Roy Gilliland, football; Lew Moskowitz, soccer; Bob Parker, wrestling, and Dave Wolf, rifle.

Alpha had its annual parents' week end April 13-14. Saturday night, the brothers and their parents enjoyed dinner in a local restaurant and then entertainment at the chapter house. Sunday breakfast and dinner were served at the house. The week end was well attended by the brothers and their parents.

Greek Week will be held this week end, with Greek Sing on Friday night and a concert by Josh White and a dance on Saturday night, April 19 and 20, respectively.

The social chairman, Brother Roger Rice, reports that the preparations for the spring formal are almost completed. The spring party will be June 1. The chapter is looking forward with great enthusiasm to these two parties.

The year has been a good one for the chapter, and we are looking forward to another one next year.

DOUGLAS DE WATERS

Arizona—Epsilon Epsilon

Spring semester and the time of studies and sun have arrived at Arizona. The men of Epsilon Epsilon have about finished digging out from a "heavy" fall and winter semester.

There has been much activity down here in the "cactus country" since our last copy, so settle back and here we go.

Donne Ector is our rush chairman and he used his voice seldom and his spurs often while we pledged 17 top men in informal rush. We took second-place money in this event among all fraternities. Brother Bob Schumacher took the pledge training reins and his charges look like another top group for the chapter.

The chapter devoted a week to our neophytes and in late February we welcomed nine new actives beneath the Golden Square.

Pete Jensen, he wears the president's boots this year, along with Brothers Pearce, Dinnin, and Anderson, headed up to host Gamma Chi and the Western Division Conference at Manhattan, Kansas.

Brother John Scott uncoiled his rawhide and a vigorous scholarship program is now under way. The chapter has its sights set on regaining the intrafraternity scholarship trophy. Several men won special attention through their outstanding scholastic work. Brother John Bunch was awarded a Woodrow Wilson fellowship and Brother George Grisaffe was one of 14 men selected for a special study program at Chicago University.

This semester sees us in a building year for intramurals. Many young men are formulating the hard core for next season's victories. In wrestling, Brothers Shaw and Pearce acquitted themselves very well. Led by Ector and Schumacher, the volleyball squad gave notice of future reckoning. On the softball field, under Coaches Fick and Dinnin, a youthful nine looks quick and capable.

Brother Hayden Kenny ranges far and wide as starting shortstop for the Arizona frosh and rates an excellent shot at the varsity next spring.

Not to be outdone by the upperclassmen, the pledges sent Rick Moser out to challenge the President's 50-mile hike message. Rick responded with an effort of ten hours and 12 minutes, to gain local and national attention.

Socially, the Pier party and the Casino party were two memorable blasts. Harold's Club of Reno contributed to make the Shelter into a one-night gaming house. Informal dances at the Shelter and dessert "boondockers," plus a steak fry, courtesy of our appreciative neighbors, filled the other social dates.

Our annual Shipwreck party, replete with coconuts, palm fronds, much sand, many laughs, and hilarious memories, is our last big fling before finals.

Summer rush is now being formulated and our new rush book is at the press with delivery currently expected. Our heaviest efforts will be in Tucson, Phoenix, and the Chicago areas.

We've about hit trail's end for this issue, and of course there's a lot left unsaid. Founders Day at the Shelter, exchanges, Brother Beito's visit, poolings, pinnings, campus campaigning, Greek Week; we've enjoyed and gained from every activity.

And now back to the sun, and the books. See you all next fall. A good summer to all Good Delts.

SAM YOCUM

Auburn—Epsilon Alpha

Winter quarter ended with a tremendous Delt week end. High lights of the week end were our annual Rainbow Dance (preceded by a banquet at the Shelter) at which Sharon Fisher was crowned Sweetheart of Epsilon Alpha for 1963-1964.

Brothers Richard Volland, Robert Shiller, Jack Andrade, and Norman Bundy have been graduated. Norm was pleased to announce that he made the Dean's List before he left for Pensacola, Florida, for Navy flight training. We will certainly miss these brothers, and will be looking forward to a visit from them very soon.

Spring quarter has started with a bang. Initiation was held April 7, 1963. We are looking for big things from the newly initiated men.

New officers for 1963-1964 are: president, Glenn Eddleman; vice-president, Epsilon Alpha President EDDLEMAN presents gift to Sweetheart SHARON FISHER.

Ray Graves; corresponding secretary, Fred Martin; recording secretary, J. T. Taunton; sergeant at arms, Hutson Finke; and guide, Warren Jones. These brothers are very capable and they have big plans for the coming year.

Speaking of elections, Brother Cooper Allison was elected senior senator to the Student Government Association here at Auburn.

Brother Warren Jones, who won a place on the Auburn varsity tennis team last quarter, has a very promising position on the team due to the fact that he won his first two singles matches. The Auburn sailing team, which is composed of all Delts, captured the Southeastern Conference sailing association keelboat championship for the season. Brother Andrade was chosen "best skipper" for the season.

Epsilon Alpha had three brothers, Morris, Parker, and McCormick, initiated to the Auburn chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity.

In rush, we had a party at Troy State College for the purpose of educating Troy students into the ways of the fraternity system, and primarily to rush the prospective transfer students.

The remainder of spring quarter will be highlighted by the house party and weekly on-campus parties. We are looking for a very prosperous quarter socially, scholastically, and sportwise.

We just received word today that our house corporation has bought a shelter for us to move into from the present house that we have been renting for our first ten years on the Auburn campus. With this thought in mind, we Delts at Auburn have very big plans for the very near future.

EUGENE KORNEGAY

Baker—Gamma Theta

Gamma Theta Chapter again kept its standard that of top fraternity on campus. Sportwise, 16 of the 41 football lettermen were Delts. These men aided the Baker Wildcats in copping second place in the K.C.A.C. conference. John Jacobs broke the school record by gaining 233 yards in 15 plays. Jacobs is an academic and Methodist All-American. Lloyd Williams was named to the N.A.I.A. All-American team. Jacobs and Williams were on the all-conference first team, along with Dennis Delay. John Johnson was named to the all-conference second team.

"Babe" Hawk was named honorable mention all-conference for his efforts on the Baker roundball team. He led the K.C.A.C. in rebounding.

At present, the track squad is being bolstered by three Delt lettermen, Dennis Delay, conference high hurdle champion, Ron Grant, and Bill Scott.

The brothers here at Baker are leading in intramurals and are looking forward to winning the sweepstakes trophy for the 11th straight year.

Darrel Kreighbaum was named most valuable player in the annual Delt basketball tournament on the strength of his 35 points against the Baker Kappa Sigs. Gamma Theta won first place in the tourney. Dan Schmelzinger and Neil Turner were named to the all-tourney second team. Gamma Theta sponsors the Delt tournament and the proceeds go to the Baker campus chest.

On the scholastic side of the ledger, Gamma Theta had the highest grade average of all fraternities on campus at semesters. Of the five three pointers on campus, three of them were Delts. They were: Conrad Fulkerson, John Garner, and "Babe" Hawk. Other men on the Dean's List were: Bill Clement, Tom Duckett, John Jacobs, Bob Mead, Bob Sarna, and Bill Wolf.

One of the brothers was voted most popular man on campus. He was John Jacobs, 22-year-old senior from Peabody, Kansas.

Other men holding key positions on campus are Bob Sarna, vice-president of Business Roundtable; Bill Wolf, assistant editor of Spectra; Conrad Fulkerson, member of student commission; "Babe" Hawk, assistant editor of the Baker Orange; and Bill Soper, who had the lead male role in the school production of Annie Get Your Gun.

Our annual Mothers week end was one of the highlights of second semester. All the brothers, their mothers, and the pledges and their mothers, went to a performance of Peter, Paul, and Mary. The evening was capped by the chapter serenading the mothers. Sunday morning the men and their parents went to church and then came back to the Shelter for dinner.

With the spring break just over, we are now preparing for the Orchid Ball, which will be held May 18.

The chapter is happy to welcome Mrs. Margaret Wilson, our new cook. Although she has only been with us a short time, we are very proud of her, and her cooking is the greatest.

One of our alums, Dolan Ellis, is making a name for himself as a member of the New Christy Minstrels. He appears weekly on the Andy Williams television show.

We are looking forward to seeing many of our alums at our annual stag night on June first.

Gamma Theta wishes to extend an invitation to any alumnus, or other Delts, to drop by the Shelter for a visit any time.

GARY UNDERWOOD

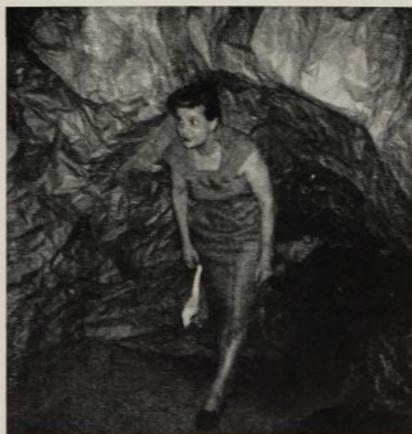

Bowling Green—Delta Tau

As the spring semester besets us, Delta Tau Chapter begins to get in the swing of things again. We inaugurated the semester by receiving an accumulative point average for actives and pledges of 2.497, which placed us fourth on campus in grades. Rush was the next important event on our calendar.

We ended the rushing period by accepting 18 fine pledges. Three of our new pledges received distinction in sports. James Hill received a letter for wrestling; Bill Brown earned his letter for participation on the swimming team; and Tom Godlewski won a letter for track. We have high hopes that these men, with their grades and leaderships, will carry on the fine tradition of Delta Tau Delta.

Brothers Kent Sharples, Ed Crockett, and Dick Reinhardt received recognition for their participation on the Bowling Green wrestling squad. It is hoped that Tom Manning will carry on Bowling Green's tennis team, and Brother Dave Zacharias figures to be a main link on Bowling Green's golf team this year.

The second annual "Flintstone Fling" was our first big party. The Shelter was completely decorated to resemble caves and tunnels. The brothers and their dates were dressed "caveman style" and prizes were awarded for the most novel dress. All agreed that it was one of the most successful parties we have had.

The second important event was our Delt pajama party. The pledges did a fine job decorating the Shelter with a large rock garden and a water fountain. The dress for this party consisted of exchanging the tops and bottoms of pajamas.

In addition to these, and several other social events which were held, we are looking forward to our "mama's" week end, the mothers visit us and "take over" for the week end. We are also anticipating our spring formal the end of April. All in all, the Delts at Bowling Green are experiencing another fine semester.

DANIEL L. BECKER

Butler—Beta Zeta

Beta Zeta Delts have been busily preparing for the main spring events that prevail on the Butler campus. Probably the biggest Delt-sponsored all-campus event of the year occurs on May 3. This is the Delt "Tri-la-tron," a miniature of the Indianapolis "500." Tricycles are substituted for race cars, and each sorority furnishes a driving "team." Fraternities are matched with these to form "pit crews." Among other events of the day are a beauty contest, informative and encouraging remarks from "500" race drivers and officials, and a street dance which follows the race.

The following week is the Butler spring sing. The brothers hope to improve on the fourth-place finish of last year.

The third week end in May is the occasion of the Delt spring formal, an event looked forward to by all.

Spring being the college baseball season, Brothers Gene Heath, Kirby Kay-sen, Joe Kertis, Joe Lewis, and Butch Piniak are hopefully seeking starting positions with the "Blue Sox."

BRAD PINIAK

Carnegie Tech—Delta Beta

Spring has found the Delt at Tech particularly active on two fronts, social and rush.

Rush Chairman Harry Weissenstein has the program off to the best start in years. In fact, Treasurer Knif Brecken-ridge is now facing the problem of the reduction in initiation fee revenues due to the generally high scholarship of the pledges. The multi-threat pledges promise to improve the already powerful chapter football team and to continue the Delt tradition in other areas.

High lights on the social front have included the pledge party, authentic Roman wine party, all-campus Greek Swing, and mixers with several area nurses' schools. The big scholastic push to the end of the term will be well launched by a couple of interhouse parties and spring carnival.

In intramural sports, the Delt recently topped the undergraduate handball slate and look good for golf and softball.

Certain of the brothers have gained special recognition for their efforts. Juniors Al Westerberg and John Darringer have entered engineering honorary, Tau Beta Pi, and electrical engineering honorary, Eta Kappa Nu, respectively, and vice-president Sam Dechter has been elected treasurer of the Council of Fraternity Presidents.

Cincinnati—Gamma Xi

With election of chapter officers for 1963-1964, Gamma Xi found itself facing the second school semester with a full schedule of activities. Elections during January saw John Anderson elected as president; Dan Earley, vice-president; Bruce Oliver, treasurer; Bob Pollock and Gary Volbracht, corresponding secretaries; Carl Pascarella, recording secretary; Dee Selander, guide; and Dave Bolte, sergeant at arms.

The first project of the newly elected administration was to evaluate the chapter's progress so far during the school year and to set new goals for the future. To accomplish this, Gamma Xi held a week end retreat at Camp St. Edmunds, outside of Cincinnati. A carefully considered list of three objectives, communications within the chapter, chapter analysis of itself and as seen by the pledge class, and, last but not least, to enjoy ourselves while we were there, provided the key to a very successful retreat. Discussion groups were held on campus orientation, rush, pledge training, social, and intramurals, in which both active chapter and the pledge class took part. In this free exchange of ideas lay the success of the retreat which, it is hoped, will become a yearly chapter function.

On February 1, 1963, the pledge class formal was held at Green Hills Country Club in western Cincinnati, at which time the pledges were presented paddles by their big brothers.

On March 17, 1963, Gamma Xi initiated its 120th pledge class in Pumphrey Hall. Following the initiation, a banquet was held at the Town and Country Restaurant for the 22 new initiates. The guest speaker of the evening was John L. Strubbe, vice-president of the Kroger Company.

For their class project, the pledges erected a complete set of full length walnut cabinets in the "bumming room," which contains the chapter's new TV set. This was one of the best improvements the Shelter has seen in quite awhile.

In a similar color scheme, the pool room was repaneled by an outside contractor. A brass lamp hanging over the pool table and balanced lighting around the walls completed the work done. These two projects have done much for the Shelter this year, giving Gamma Xi one of the best houses on campus.

Four initiates, Dan Beebe, Ken Heuck, Paul Kuntz, and Jerry Trimble, were tapped into Sophos, a sophomore service honorary.

In March, 1963, it was announced by the dean of men's office that Delta Tau Delta had won the pledge class scholarship award for the highest average of the 19 fraternities on campus.

Paul Marshall was elected president of the Interfraternity Council for the coming school year.

Neil Norkaitis was chosen as spring pledge trainer by the chapter. Eleven men were pledged in February as Gamma Xi's spring pledge class.

Theme parties became a popular event around the chapter this spring. On March 1, the pledge class planned a hillbilly party at the School House Inn. The party, with appropriate "foot stomping" music furnished by a rock-and-roll band, was the first theme party this spring and a great success.

Following five weeks later was a second theme party, this time held at the Shelter, the theme of which was "Heaven and Hell." With the first story bathed in blue lights as "Heaven" and the basement in red as "Hell," the brothers decided it was high time that theme parties became a more common occurrence around the Delt house.

Looking forward to the end of school, spring week end looms as the last big social event of the year. Friday night will see a Mardi Gras party at Watson Legion Hall; Saturday evening the formal at Clover Nook Country Club; and a picnic Sunday afternoon at Brother Earley's in Ryland, Kentucky.

JOHN NORTON

Cornell—Beta Omicron

The Delt at Beta Omicron enthusiastically started the spring term by putting all their effort into rushing. Under the good leadership of Rush Chairman Dave Bueschel, a fine pledge class of 18 was obtained. They are: Wally Barden, Andy Beck, Brian Boehlecke, David Bouck, Dudley Bouck, Bob Copeland, Bob Durick, John Koritansky, Steve Lyons, Phil Markiewicz, Paul Nolan, William Seaman, Rick Skinner, Ken Smith, John Sullivan, James Rosa, Jim Williams, and Amos Willis. The brothers are looking forward to next fall, when the present pledges will be initiated.

dent, Dave Bueschel; vice-president, Bill Wilson; corresponding secretary, Ron Madaras; recording secretary, Jim Reyelt; and treasurer, Phil Fox. The brothers are confident that these officers will give much to the chapter in the coming year.

With the help of Social Chairman Ken Hall, the Delts had a full but varied social program. Some of the high lights were the sorority exchanges, the pledge formal, and a hayride and Delt Queen ceremony during spring week end. Another outstanding event of spring week end was Jim Reyelt's "Garden of Allah" Arabian party.

Quite a few Delts are in varsity sports on campus this year, such as John Custer in soccer (who was captain of the team), Phil Fox in polo, Al Haberle in crew, Pledge Bill Seaman in fencing, Ken Delius in hockey, and Ron Madaras in track. The other brothers have a chance to show their skill in the various intramural sports in which the Delts participate, such as football, basketball, softball, volleyball, and bowling.

The brothers would like to congratulate Dick Baxter for being chosen a dormitory counselor for the year 1963-1964, and also Dick Lincoln and Ron Madaras for making the Dean's Honor List.

The Delts of Beta Omicron are all looking forward to the summer months, when several of the brothers will again sponsor summer social activities, such as Al Haberle's water-skiing party. We hope that your summer will be as enjoyable.

RONALD MADARAS

Delaware—Delta Upsilon

Delta of Delaware will be closing their spring social season by the time this issue of THE RAINBOW comes out. By now the Grannary of Georgetown, Maryland, has hosted the Delts on the annual week end formal dinner-dance. Presentations were made for the outstanding Delt, alumnus, and pledge, as well as Delt Queen, and the annual rag award was presented.

The annual French Apache party, well attended, holds the envious record on campus for being the best party of the spring. Held April 27, it lived up to its reputation again. This and other parties noted the week ends throughout the spring semester.

Spring formal rush netted 22 outstanding men as pledges for the chapter. Brothers have kept the pledges actively on their toes, and vice versa.

Delaware Delts in Florida, Brothers Williams, Kelly, and Reck, had a blast and hosted many brothers and friends from visiting chapters and the Pompano Beach annex, particularly those Delts from Ohio U. An invitation stands open to all Delts next year to get in touch with us before your spring vacation so we can arrange some blasts ahead of time.

New chapter officers include Brother Joerg Agin as president. Joerg is a senior arts, science and electrical engineering major. Brother Bob Blomquist, a senior psychology major, is the new vice-president. Brothers Jay Rolfe and John McCLOUD are the new recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively. Brothers Walt Danielson and Roger Williams are the new guard and guide. Brothers Mummery, Kelly, and Halvorsen represent the chapter in the interfraternity council.

By this time Delaware Delts will have no doubt copped the crown for the campus carnival with their "Pitch 4 Cigs" contest, a very popular event at any carnival. For the same time period we hope to have two brothers in the student government association: Brother Greg Ham as the sophomore class vice-president, and Brother Bob Spiegel. Brothers Horn and Sennot have aided in the presentation of the Limelighters on campus on April 20.

The chapter was pleased to greet Al Sheriff on his recent visit from Indianapolis.

In closing, the Delt house will be open during the summer and any Delts in the vicinity are invited to drop by, of course the offer is open any time. Our best to you all.

BOB RECK

DePauw—Beta Beta

With the arrival of spring, the Delts of Beta Beta are not only catching "rays," but also making many vast improvements on the house. The pleasures and luxuries of the house improvements will soon become a reality. Within just a few weeks, the new living-room furniture will be arriving. The old furniture will then be moved to the two "bum rooms," thus making these areas a little more attractive. For the past several Saturdays, the brothers have been working in the yard, removing dead bushes and tree stumps so that new shrubbery can be planted. We feel that this type of work not only improves the house, but also brings the brothers closer together. The brothers are presently contemplating contributing to the construction of a patio and barbecue which would be installed in the rear of the house. Already we have visions of grilling steaks with our dates, and then relaxing to an evening of dancing under the stars.

Recently, two Deltas were the talk of the campus. They were Rick Meyers, who was elected vice-president of the Student Union, and Gary Murfin, newly elected treasurer of student body.

During March, chapter elections were held. New officers are Ave Colby, president; Gary Murfin, vice-president; Curt Blang, treasurer; Curt Bush, secretary; and Chuck Waggoner, corresponding secretary.

Rush chairmen Gary Murfin and Dick Baumgartner were in their prime during March, with the pledging of John Pogue and Max Hittle.

It looks like another season in which the Deltas dominate the DePauw baseball team. Sluggers Bill Shields and Jim Zurcher will serve as team cocaptains.

The Deltas are not only active participants in varsity sports, but we are still tops in all-intramural standings. At this time, Dale Wood, Chuck Freeman, Bill Barksdale, and Dick Pither are diligently training for DePauw's annual "Little 500" bicycle race. If hard work determines the victor, then we're a sure bet to win.

Judging from the accomplishments and fun we have had thus far, it looks like another great year for the Deltas of Beta Beta.

CHUCK WAGGONER

Duke—Delta Kappa

During the past year, Delta Kappa has continued to exhibit many strong points and has greatly improved its one weak point, scholarship. During the fall semester, we achieved our highest average in recent years and the brothers are now working harder than ever to maintain this new level of academic success.

Varsity basketball created the greatest amount of excitement on the Duke campus this year. Delta Kappa contributed many fans, as well as two excellent ball players, 6' 10" center, Hack Tison, and 6' 2" guard, Denny Ferguson. Both these men made valuable contributions to the Blue Devils squad, ranked third in the nation.

The Delt basketball team kept pace with the winning varsity ways, catching the second consecutive intramural league crown. John Piccirillo won the intramural handball singles, and then teamed with Jim Bruen to take second place in the doubles competition. The softball season is now well under way, and the defending Delt champions are currently undefeated.

Delta Kappa has continued to have strong participation in varsity track. Lou Van Dyke is the top miler in the Atlantic Coast Conference, and Steve Barnes, Dave Blumfeldt, and John Zwerner are boosting team standings in the high jump, the two-mile, and sprints, respectively.

In lacrosse, Bob Holt has been a valuable midfielder.

The social schedule was highlighted by a belated New Year's party, a "Roaring Twenties" party, beach week end, and Greek Week. For the first time at Duke, a chariot race was held at the annual Greek Week festivities, and Delta Kappa took first-place honors. Also 1962-63 marked the crowning of Miss Susan Elizabeth Guest, of South Darien, Connecticut, as Delta Kappa Sweetheart.

In rush, this winter, we pledged fewer men than is customary, but retained high standards of membership.

Under the capable leadership of our newly elected president, John Williamson, Delta Kappa has already started planning a program that will keep Delta Kappa the No. 1 fraternity on campus.

RICHARD F. COLLINS, JR.

East Texas State—Epsilon Eta

Election of officers for the '63-64 school year and plans for the initial running of the Delt relays highlighted activities of the Epsilon Eta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at East Texas State College.

Tom Huddleston, a graduate speech major from Dallas, was elected president of Epsilon Eta. He succeeded Sherwin Yocum, who graduates in May.

Other officers elected were Dennis Harris, vice-president; Ed Goodman, secretary; Larry Barnes, treasurer; Charles Welch, corresponding secretary; Larry Clinton, rush chairman; and Gary Heard and Bruce Frazier, pledge trainers.

Jim Liston, junior from Dallas, was elected president of the Interfraternity Council on the campus, and Ed Goodman was chosen secretary of the IFC. Jack Gray and Larry Clinton will serve as Epsilon Eta representatives in the IFC.

The first annual running of the Delt relays is set for May 1 at Commerce Memorial Stadium. Trophies will be given to the first- and second-place teams and the winners in the relay events will be given medals; ribbons will go to the other individual placers.

After a very successful dinner dance at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Dallas, the Deltas conclude their social year with an outing at Lake Murray Lodge in Ardmore, Oklahoma.

Russell Brown, Dallas sophomore, was elected president of the Delt spring pledge class, which was again the largest on campus. Other pledge class officers include Mike Nelson, vice-president; Jack Wills, secretary; George Tollison, treasurer; and Mike Watson, sergeant at arms.

Cliff Wood was elected as the most valuable member of the fall pledge class and Joe Ondrusek had the highest grade point average of the fall pledges.

SAM CARMACK

Emory—Beta Epsilon

As Atlanta's beautiful dogwoods begin to blossom, Deltas at Emory look forward with high expectations to spring quarter. Foremost in the minds of Delt brothers is spring and summer rush. Rush chairman Orvin Jenkins is busy planning steak suppers, parties, and caravans in order to meet rush men who will be attending Emory in the fall. Things appear to be well organized as approximately 100 rush men attended the Purple Grotto party the second week end of spring quarter.

Success is the word for winter quarter as Delta Tau Delta at Emory won many honors.

The most prized honor among fraternities during winter quarter is the Interfraternity sing contest. Beta Epsilon, under the leadership of Charles Helton, was once again victorious as it has been for the last five out of six years.

When winter quarter scholarship averages were published, Delta Tau Delta had the highest average major fraternities and was second among all fraternities at Emory. According to Supervisor of Scholarship Kershner, Beta Epsilon is second in the Southern Division in scholarship. Beta Epsilon is proud of its scholarship standing and is striving to equal last year's record of No. 1 among fraternities.

Deltas can boast of one of the finest basketball teams in recent years. The team ran "roughshod" over almost all opposition and captured third place on campus. Members of the team were Doug Frisbie, Orvin Jenkins, Emery Wilson, Stan Wilbanks, Tommy Purdom, Carl Dobson, John Studstill, Larry Wikholm, Wayne Baker, John Wright, George McElheny, Dave Whitman, and Richard Thornton.

Campuswide honors were many for Beta Epsilon. Brother Fred Miller was elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, one of Emory's leading service fraternities, and Brother Kim Kimball was elected first vice-president.

Richard Thornton was chosen squadron commander of Emory's Air Force ROTC. Pete Stevens, one of Beta Epsilon's leading scholars, received the Avalon Foundation award for medical school. Bill Avera, one of the leading debators on Emory's debate team, was elected secretary of Barkley Forum.

Brother James Coleman received a varsity swimming letter during his first year of eligibility, and proved to be one of the most outstanding swimmers on the team. Brother Paul Betz was initiated into Psi Sigma Alpha, honorary political science fraternity. Brother Orvin Jenkins was elected to the executive committee of Emory's Interfraternity Council. Brothers David Harden, Colin Kelly, and Phil Certain were initiated into Pi Alpha, honorary chemical fraternity.

Beta Epsilon was well represented at the Southern Division Conference held at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. Brothers attending were Emery Wilson, David Harden, Colin Kelly, Hal Crumbly, Boyd Williams, and Bill Earnshaw. President Wilson and Vice-President Williams served on important Conference committees.

Socially, Deltas at Emory enjoyed one of the best quarters ever. Our party with Gamma Psi of Georgia Tech was a tremendous success.

The Rainbow Ball, our annual formal, was said by many brothers to be the best ever held by our chapter. The week end began as we loaded three Greyhound buses and traveled to nearby Park's Ranch for a "rockin'" party, featuring Dr. Feelgood and the Interns, Atlanta's most popular recording and dance combo. Saturday night featured a banquet and dance held at the beautiful Hilton Inn. Following the formal dance a breakfast was held at Castleview Town and Country club, atop one of Atlanta's tallest office buildings.

Song practice paid off with a Delt win in Emory's IFC sing.

Social Chairman Dennis St. John has plans for many fine parties during spring quarter as well as a tea honoring our sweetheart and court.

This year's theme for Dooley's Frolics is "Scenes From Famous Movies." Delt's have high hopes of winning this year's competition with a scene from The Hunchback of Notre Dame.

As Beta Epsilon looks to the future we are happy to announce that plans for a new addition to the Shelter have been approved.

We of Beta Epsilon again wish to extend a cordial invitation to any brothers visiting in our area.

CARL DOBSON, JR.

Florida—Delta Zeta

As this article is being written, Florida Delt's are in the middle of final exams for the winter trimester. A survey of brothers and pledges give every indication that Delt's will again be among the leaders in fraternity grade point averages.

Socially speaking, Delt's started off the trimester by giving one of our ever-popular serenades. This event was followed by numerous parties, socials, spring frolics, and the high point of the year, Rainbow week end. Special thanks go to Mike Cook, social chairman, for making Delt week end one of the most enjoyable in years.

After recent campus wide elections, Delt's deservedly received the largest piece of "political pie" ever seen on the Florida campus. The Delt's had two brothers, Mike Cook and Lee Blitch, elected to the legislative council; Bob Setzer appointed secretary of labor; David Craig undersecretary of finance; Bill McCormack chief justice of the traffic court; and one of the most important, John DeVault as chairman of the football seating committee. In addition to student government, Vice-President Charlie Maloy was elected president of the Interfraternity Council, and Bill McCormack elected president of Florida Debate.

As expected, 'Gator Delt's did very well sportswise this trimester. The Florida swimming team, comprised largely of Delt's, retained its Southeastern Conference championship for another year. In football next year, the 'Gator team is already looking forward to the services of newly pledged halfback, Alan Poe. In the traditional Orange and Blue intra-squad game, Allen made a spectacular 54-yard punt return, which was the deciding factor for the Orange team's victory. In intramural handball, bowling, and softball, Delt teams maintained their high position in intramural standings by finishing among the leaders in the respective brackets.

As our chapter closes out its first year under the new trimester system, many brothers are looking forward to the long summer vacation. A summer rush program has already been arranged with a full summer of parties and rush functions.

JEFF FALKANGER

Georgia—Beta Delta

As usual, spring quarter is starting off in a busy way. The missiles in Cuba are not keeping too many brothers out of the Sunshine State, for while it is just beginning many have already made two week end trips to Daytona.

When not in Florida, Brothers Way Kidd, Bob Kitchens, Tommy Gillum, and Howard Abney have been providing professional musical entertainment, particularly on Thursdays when sororities are over for dessert.

Socially, spring should be the most active quarter of the year. Greek Week, the annual Rainbow Formal featuring the Zippers, and several other parties will more than supplement the almost nightly water battles.

Athletic Manager Fred Hubley, who is greatly responsible for the Delt's fourth-place finish in intramurals this year, is breaking in a new manager, Charlie Malley. Fred feels that with an assistant he may concentrate more on the participating than the administrating side of sports. Varsity Golfer Haynes Richardson is shooting sub-par golf almost every match and should prove to be a real help to Georgia's championship golf team.

Scholastic Chairman Gordon Miller set a fine example last quarter by earning a 94 average. As a just reward for this feat, Gordon was awarded the Interfraternity Council's full tuition scholarship.

Unfortunately, spring has its dark side at Beta Delta just as it does throughout the country. Brothers will be graduating who have spent four fruitful and happy years in the chapter, and they will be missed by all. Bill Peterson, recently initiated into Rho Chi, national pharmacy honorary, will be graduated this quarter and become a druggist. Ron Robinson will finish his master's thesis and then go to work. Ron isn't sure where, but that's only because he can't decide on which job to pick.

Art Murdock plans on going to graduate school next fall, after four years of serving the Fraternity in many ways, including a term as president. Brian McVinnie will be missed as treasurer, but if he does as well in law school during the next three years as he did as treasurer he will have no trouble with the bar exam. Loren Kirk hasn't decided on whether to make money working for Westinghouse or spend it going to graduate school. Jim McIntyre will be graduating from law school and plans on either working for the government or practicing law in Georgia. Chip Seegler plans on going to graduate school while Tom Little may live in Atlanta and work for Lockheed.

We will be sorry to see our old friends leave, but they know that the doors are always open and we hope that they will visit frequently in the years to come.

HARDY COOK

Georgia Tech—Gamma Psi

We Deltas at Tech started the spring quarter determined to keep our academic average high and yet not let our social life degenerate.

Everyone enjoyed the annual Rainbow week end winter quarter, but perhaps the happiest was Brother Milam's wife, Peggy Ann, as she was crowned Delt Sweetheart.

Former pledge trainer, Al Price, has moved up to president and has proved himself a very dynamic leader. Don Fuller changed from house manager to vice-president. John Nabors as corresponding secretary, Paul Johnson as sergeant at arms, Jimmy Bowers as house manager, and Jim Archer as pledge trainer, complete our list of new officers.

Expecting great achievements from our most recent pledge class, the present administration has placed several of our new brothers in positions of responsibility in an attempt to provide better and more experienced leadership for the future.

Rush Chairman Bert Moody and Social Chairman Gordon Keiser, organized a spring rush party for the purpose of introducing some promising high school boys to Delta Tau Delta.

Corresponding Secretary John Nabors has organized a committee to publish an alumni news letter. It is hoped that this news letter will keep all Gamma Psi alumni in contact with the chapter.

As usual, there are numerous Deltas in positions of leadership around the campus. The Tech annual, The Blueprint, depends on Al Price as business manager and Bill Dameron as associate editor. Bobby Tolbert has become a member of Scabbard and Blade, Jerry Hanchey presides over the honorary Arnold Air Society, Don Fuller and Frank Shropshire are new members of the industrial management honorary society, Larry Milam is president of Pi Sigma Epsilon, business fraternity, and Paul Johnson has recently been elected to "Who's Who in Towers Dorm."

Last year's intramural batting champ, Ray Easterlin, is having great success as coach of the softball team. All of the other spring quarter coaches predict similar success.

We are sure that when this article is read in THE RAINBOW, the new administration will still be accelerating the activities of Gamma Psi Chapter in preparation for the next school year.

JOHN K. NABORS

Hillsdale—Kappa

Spring finds Kappa Chapter concluding an extremely successful year. Deferred rush has been completed and in it we pledged 18 men. They are: Mike Dibble, Harry Nagel, Pat McCarthy, Robin Ellis, Fernando Echavarría, Beaman Ayers, Kent Lamkins, Dean Cutshall, Paul DeJohn, Jim Drawbridge, John Durkin, Mike Fitzpatrick, Bill McFarlane, Mike McVeigh, and John Best. These men are extremely active in campus affairs. Max Stokes, Mike Osborne, Jack Newton, and Mike McVeigh are on the varsity football squad; Max Stokes and Pat McCarthy play varsity baseball; Dean Cutshall lettered in cross-country; Pat McCarthy was on the varsity wrestling team; Mike Osborne, Jack Newton, and Mike McVeigh are on the track team; Mike Dibble played varsity basketball; and Harry Nagel is on the varsity tennis team. Our pledges are quite active also in the field of activities. Jim Drawbridge is president of the sponmore class; Paul DeJohn and Mike Dibble are presidents of their respective dormitories; and Paul DeJohn and Mike Fitzpatrick sing in the college choir.

Elected officers for this year are John Martin, president; Pete Ackerman, vice-president; Carl Howk, treasurer; Larry Haid, recording secretary; Terry Comar, corresponding secretary; Walt Leighton, guide; and Dave Pringle, sergeant at arms.

In sports, the Deltas won the IM swim meet for the second straight year and are at present in second place in the all-sports standing.

Thanks are in order to Social Cochairmen Steve Monro and Dave Pringle for helping the Deltas remain first on campus socially. In March, the men of Kappa held their annual Roman Holiday party, better known as the Roman Orgy. The house was adorned with mattresses, long tables of fruit, palm trees and a band. The evening was spent reclining, dancing, and peeling grapes. On Mardi Gras week end, the new Delt minstrels, composed of Duke Morton, Larry Haid, Steve Bierstock, Bill Dallavo, Walt Leighton, and Kent Backman, performed for the campus and John Martin was nominated for Mardi Gras rex. Kappa's social program will officially close for the year with the formal which will be held in the end of May.

Graduating in June are Pierre Sisung, Taylor Devine, Bill Dallavo, Ric Plym, Al Cox, and Glenn Pope.

WALT LEIGHTON

Idaho—Delta Mu

The men of Delta Mu, having just returned from Easter vacation, are preparing once again for the culmination of this last nine weeks of school. With spring and its accompanying festivities on their way these last weeks of study promise no little amount of effort. The "Call of the Wild," however, should have no detrimental effect on Delta Mu's continuous and excellent scholastic achievements.

The school year of '62-'63 has proven to be an outstanding one. Scholastically, Delta Mu has placed six men on the Dean's List and several others at the 3.00 mark, or over. On campus, we have men holding various offices, including Bill Van Orman and Terry Winter, Scabbard and Blade; Randy Hillier, president of Helldivers; Bruce Harper and Fred Bergeman, Alpha Kappa Psi, business honorary; Ron Kulm as senior class president; and Gene Harder as junior class vice-president.

As always the Deltas here at Idaho are in the intramural race right down to the wire. We have recently placed high in bowling, fifth in "A" basketball, second in "B" basketball, fourth in table tennis, and second in handball.

On the social side, we are in preparation for the annual Russian Ball. This dance is the biggest function of the year at the Delt Shelter and among the most outstanding on campus. The Russian Ball is an all-day affair requiring weeks of preparation and equally trying days of recovery. I doubt that there is a Delt alumni from Idaho who, upon recalling those hectic years preparing for a place in society, will not have vivid memories of the Russian Ball.

Next year will bring a new look to the Shelter as work has already begun on remodeling the present structure. A total fund of $125,000 covers this remodeling and an addition which will be begun this coming spring and should be completed around the middle of next year. This expansion of the house will also require an expanded membership and we have already gotten off to a good start with our rush program. Our rush booklet was completed in time for distribution at the numerous rush parties held throughout Idaho and in Washington during Easter vacation. All in all, Delta Mu is in the process of culminating another year in accustomed Delt fashion and looking forward to an even more promising year next fall.

MIKE WILEY

Illinois—Beta Upsilon

The outlook at Beta Upsilon is even better this semester than it was last. Sparked by a new administration and ten additions to the active membership, chapter spirit and pride have increased. In January, we elected Duane Buttell, president; Joe Weyrich, vice-president; Pat Dyer, recording secretary; Doug Matheson, corresponding secretary; and Bill Smith, treasurer.

As in the past, we are still enjoying an IM ranking among the top ten. Currently, our baseball team has a 2-0 record. One of the victories was over our rival, Phi Delta Theta, which means the outlook for league championship is good. In addition, we have been emphasizing the smaller sports.

Social life and activities are lively as ever, thanks to Bob Tays and his social committee. Next week an exchange is coming up with Chi Omega, and May 10 and 11 the traditional Rainbow Ball and Saturday picnic will be on.

The relentless push for pledges is also doing well. So far this semester we have pledged five new men, thanks to the efforts of our informal rush chairman and the men who help him.

Most important of all is our current scholastic achievement. Last fall semester the chapter average was 3.529, which is well above the All-University Average of 3.423. This improved our ranking among fraternities to 33rd, an improvement of over 20 places. An improvement again this semester in this important area will greatly aid the prestige of our house during rush. The men of Beta Upsilon are proud of this achievement and will work to maintain it.

DOUG MATHESON

Indiana—Beta Alpha

The Delts at Indiana are ending another successful year with a doubtful eye toward final exams. We are all very proud of Brother Tom Chase, who was voted outstanding senior of the year. We would also like to give Brother Chase a pat on the back for his outstanding job in rush during the last few weeks.

Athletics seem to be the real interest at Beta Alpha this spring. Our Little 500 bicycle team has just left for a week's training at Daytona Beach, Florida. We all hope the men remember their main assignment in Daytona. Our team this year consists of Brothers Lonnie Racter, Stu Jewell, Pat Terry, and Jerry Rubush.

Transfer Student Dave Epperson, from Miami University, is a strong hope for our golf team. Randy Bisler and Russ Diller have also reported for spring football practice.

We are devoting most of our time to rush. We have been inviting high school seniors down to the Shelter for several week ends—looks like we will have very little trouble filling our new house which is to be completed by January 1, 1964. The brothers are really looking forward to our new house and to get through final exams.

LARRY HANNAH

Iowa State—Gamma Pi

Spring quarter finds the men of Gamma Pi very spirited and active in all facets of University life.

In an All-University election, Bob Kopp was elected the engineering senator to the government of the student body. At the same time, Dave Nagel stepped down from his post as senator. George Custodi, president of People to People, has just completed the big project of being in charge of the model United Nations. Sixty-eight nations were represented. Helping George in PTP are Brother Delts Fred Krenk as treasurer, Ron Southard as publicity director, and Dick Rhone as job placement committee chairman. Don Nelson is treasurer of the student properties board. Denny Knowlton and Donnis Bergman are also serving on the board. Fred Krenk was elected vice-president of Iowa State Young Republicans. He was appointed administrative assistant to the state chairman of the Iowa State College Young Republicans and attended a legislative workshop after being picked by the Iowa State faculty members. Fred is also vice-president of the Agriculture Business Club. The Science Education Club officers include Don Nelson as president and Roger Sacquety as treasurer. Joe Dolejs was elected executive commander of the Arnold Air Force Society, while Donnis Bergman is the new captain of the Air Force rifle team. Bob Kopp and Dave Piper were initiated into the Knights of Saint Patrick, an engineering honorary. Bob Kopp was also initiated into Tau Beta Pi, a scholastic engineering honorary.

In spring athletics, Moe Kviestis and Dave Scheiding are part of Iowa State's five-man tennis team. Wendell Burt is out for freshman golf and Pledge Dick Dodge is playing on the freshman baseball team.

March 21-23 was Greek Week here at Iowa State. Delta Tau Delta was one of five fraternities chosen for the Greek Week parties. The Shelter was decorated as Harold's Night Club in Las Vegas. This year we had one of the largest turn-outs ever.

The annual Orchid formal was held at the Hyperion Field Club. The formal was a huge success. It was climaxed by the crowning of Linda Putnam, a member of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority, as Gamma Pi's Delt Queen. It was one of the best formals ever held, thanks to the hard work of Steve Moore.

Veishea, one of the biggest events of the year for Iowa State University, is May 3-4. Roger Sacquety is on "Stars Over Veishea" Central Committee, and Brothers Bob Lorentzen and Larry Petrick are helping. Dave Olson is traffic co-ordinator and Ed Myers is events sales chairman. Many Delts will be involved in the big event. The plans for the Veishea float are now in progress, under the leadership of Richard Greenlee. The float, being build co-operatively with Delta Zeta Sorority, has the theme "Rumpelstiltskin."

The men of Gamma Pi Chapter intend to continue to surge forward with hard work and close brotherhood. We at Gamma Pi wish the best to all our brothers in our great fraternity.

Kansas—Gamma Tau

It has been a good year for Delts at Kansas. A new, highly impressive addition to the Shelter placed us in a proper mood for accomplishment, and accomplish we did. Our achievements have been sizable in campus activities, scholarship, and social life.

In campus activities, our songleader, Brother Bob Hiller, led us to victory in the IFC sing. This year is the second in succession that we have won the sing. Bob Moutrie and Dave Smith were elected to the Student Union activities operating board. Dean Salter served as chairman of the student council, and, after an extremely active campaign, Reuben Mc-

Gamma Tau Shelter.

Cornack was elected student body president.

Our first semester scholarship chairman, Jim Dillingham, was instrumental in bringing about an all-house grade point average of 1.6 on a three-point system. First semester, too, our pledge class had an exceptionally high grade point average of 1.59. Chuck Hiller, our second semester scholarship chairman, has made a considerable effort in improving our scholarship system; so our scholastic achievements should continue to mount.

Ron Tucker, Delt social chairman, has done a great deal in providing us with many good times. We have had functions, perhaps better called "woodsies," with the Kappas and the Gamma Phi Betas which have been exceptionally enjoyable. Of course, our regular parties were great fun. The Paddle Party and our Christmas formal both provided us with great times. We are all anxiously awaiting the pajama party, without doubt a high light in the Delt social year.

Kent—Delta Omega

Excellence in scholarship has been the high light of winter quarter activities here at Delta Omega Chapter. Our men are quite proud of placing first among 19 fraternities on campus last quarter with a 2.52 average. Delta Omega is in a very good position to cop the IFC scholarship trophy for the entire year.

New officers of the chapter are: Bob Blumel, president; Jim Shupe, vice-president; Al Silvidi, recording secretary; Al Auble, corresponding secretary; Ned Swanson, treasurer; Jim Lann, assistant treasurer; Al Auble, guide; and Paul Grandin, sergeant at arms.

Rush is going well this quarter and up to the present time we have four pledges: Bruce Flating, Jack Gillman, John Reibold, and Fred Garzon.

Brother Dick Roszkowski has been selected by the University to serve as editor-in-chief for the 1964 yearbook. The 1963 volume was edited by Brother Bob Blumel. Brother Dave Durst is currently serving as the student leader of Stopher Residence Hall. Brother Jack Fristoe is the head of the University social committee.

In the back row are JOHN PFEIFFER, TOM GORDON (the winner), Pledge TOM TANNER, and BRUCE CURY. We never could obtain the name of the "lonesome" man in the middle.

Kentucky—Delta Epsilon

A second semester pledge class of 25 men highlighted a successful rush and school year for Delta Epsilon. The 25 men bring to 45 the number of men pledged and initiated this year. The newest pledge class continues the Delta Epsilon tradition of scholastic achievement as eight of the pledges had a 2.8 or above (on a four point system) for their previous semester of work. Donnie Wright and Art Simon were the rush chairmen responsible for the fine men who were pledged.

The chapter's over-all average for the fall semester was a 2.48.

In an honors night program, members of Delta Epsilon received several awards. Pledge President Hal Brady received a trophy for being named the outstanding freshman in the men's residence halls; Butch Biggs and Walt McGuire were pledged to Key, sophomore men's honorary; John Burkhard, Ted Gum, and John Pfeiffer were pledged to Lamp and Cross, senior men's honorary; Burkhard was accepted into Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's honorary; and Carl Modecki was pledged to Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

A former Delta Epsilon president, Bob Carpenter, was named the outstanding member of Delta Epsilon.

Lamar Herrin has received an honorable mention in the Woodrow Wilson fellowship competition.

Kevin Hennessey has received several honors while debating for the UK debating team.

On the athletic side, the Delts continued their basketball superiority on the Kentucky campus as they won the intramural basketball championship for the third straight year, without losing a game. Delta Epsilon has now lost only one fraternity game in five years.

Members of the winning basketball squad were Dave Tramontin, Ken Beard, Bob Carpenter, Ry Taliaferro, Rosco Mitchell, Bard Chodera, Dan Shull, Dick Adams, Buz Hulette, Frank Dickey, Eddie Monroe, and Coach John Burkhard.

Beard and Taliaferro were named to the all-intramural team selected by the student newspaper.

With the coming of spring, Butch Gibbs and Eddie Glasscock turned in fine performances for the Wildcat nine. John Napp, John Cox, Walt McGuire, and Dick Hoggetts are among the members of the chapter on the UK track team.

Judy Knight is No. 2 man on the University's golf team and Brother John Anderson stepped in as a replacement in a recent match when an injury sidelined one of the starters.

Everyone is looking forward to competing in the Little Kentucky Derby bicycle race, which is billed as America's Most Spectacular College Week End.

The Delts are also strong contenders for the Lambda Chi Alpha pushcart derby.

Outgoing President Bob Carpenter was selected as one of the five finalists for the Outstanding Greek Men award.

In another contest, sponsored by the women's residence halls, six of the 19 candidates for Gold Diggers Ball king were associated with Delta Epsilon. Brother Tom Jordon was the winner and Pledge Tom Tanner placed third. Others in the contest were Bruce Cury, Ed Houlihan, Carl Modecki, and John Pfeiffer.

Roger Auge appeared in the University's theatre's production of Saint Joan.

Thanks to a cigarette company's package-collecting contest, the chapter now has a combination stereo-radio.

As part of the refurbishing of the Shelter, the basement is being remodeled and will be ready when classes resume in the fall.

Socially, the more than 100 members of Delta Epsilon and their dates are preparing for the spring formal to be held May 18 at Mammoth Cave. Five buses will be chartered for the two-day formal. Plans are being made under the direction of Social Chairman Tom Jordan and Vice-President Ken Brandenburg.

CARL A. MODECKI

Lafayette—Nu

Nu Chapter is in the process of going through another outstanding semester, filled with numerous achievements which are proof of the Delts' top position on campus.

Intramural achievements have been highlighted by the Delts capturing the swimming trophy for the third straight year. The team was led, as it has been in the last three years, by Senior Dick Carville. Two other men who were very valuable to the team were Freshmen Jack Moffat and Harry Bower. They showed the talent needed to bring many more swimming championships to the Shelter. Nu has been right in the thick of the battle in all intramural contests, taking fourth in bowling and wrestling. At present, Ken Stewart is busy getting the softball team in shape. With almost all of the team back from last year we are optimistic for another Delt victory.

Nu has an impressive number of brothers and pledges playing important parts in spring sports. Brothers Mike Kijanka, Scott Miller, and Bob Funk, as well as Pledges Jack Moffat and Bruce Mangone, are members of the Leopard track team. Brothers Mark Grubb and John Ireland are fighting for starting positions on the baseball team, with Larry Hillegas playing on the freshman team. Frank McKinnon and Nick Maczkov are out for the varsity tennis team and Terry Burton is hoping to play on the golf team.

Under the capable leadership of our rushing chairman, Bill Greenough, the Delts have once again taken an outstanding pledge class. The pledge class includes members of the freshman football, basketball, baseball, and track teams, as well as members of various other organizations. The 17 member pledge class includes: Harry Bower, Brian Daily, Don Dayton, Todd David, Bob Duffner, C. B. Gebhart, Larry Hillegas, Roger James, Erick Knudson, Jeff Locke, Bruce Mangone, Jack Moffat, Gary Peckerman, Fred Percival, Lou Potts, Gary Quinterie, and Ben Sharp. Brothers Fred Smith and Russ Annich are doing an excellent job shaping the pledges into a unified part of the chapter.

Scholastically, Nu placed second among the fraternities, well above the

All-Men's Average for more than four straight years. Individually, two brothers have made Phi Beta Kappa, which is certainly one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon an undergraduate. We at Nu are all very proud of Seniors Charles Rau and Ted Shmanda for attaining this enviable honor.

Socially, the whole chapter is anxiously looking forward to spring week end. Scott Miller, social chairman, is busily making finishing plans for this week end, which includes going to the Poconos after the formal dance on Friday night. Another week end which we are looking forward to is parents' and alumni week end on May 11. We are sincerely hoping to see many of our alumni back for the occasion.

TERRY BURTON

Lawrence—Delta Nu

With the slow but inevitable advent of a Wisconsin spring, Delta Nu can look proudly at the achievements of the winter term, and look forward to a very successful spring.

Heading the accomplishments of the winter term, Delta Nu again took fraternity scholastic honors with a 1.713 average (on a 3.00 system). This beat the second-place house by .07, putting us on top for the fourth straight term, and for seven of the last eight.

Athletically, Delta Nu has key representatives in every sport. Reed Williams has been elected captain of the track team, and is a very strong distance runner. Also represented on the track team are Brothers Mike Gannett, Al Parker, and Freshman Larry Wilson, Henry Kaiser, and Dave Gray. Regulars on the baseball squad are Bill Oram-Smith and Denny Walsh. Freshman Chris Isely is one of the most promising pitchers Lawrence has seen in years. On the tennis team are Paul Lange, Nick Vogel, and Pat Jordan. Finally, Brothers Cary Wickland and Herb Weber are mainstays on the Lawrence golf team.

During the coming year, the chapter will be represented by a new slate of officers: president, Jim Eichstaedt; vice-president, Soch McOlash; corresponding secretary, Chuck Bennison; recording secretary, Nick Vogel; and sergeant at arms, Steve Hansen. Under their leadership, Delta Nu can expect a very successful year.

The Interfraternity Council, a very important body in administration-fraternity relations, is in the coming year headed by two Delts, Denny Walsh, president, and Sandy Priestley, secretary.

As a final note, we would like to express our great gratitude to our chapter adviser, Dr. Roger Trumbore, who will be leaving the Lawrence faculty after two years as our adviser. It is, to a large degree, in Dr. Trumbore's friendship and guidance that we owe our present success, individually and as a chapter.

MARK JOHNSON

Lehigh—Beta Lambda

Spring semester here at Beta Lambda Chapter has been full of activity, to say the least. First and foremost has been rushing. Operating under a new rushing program, earlier in the year than ever before, we took a pledge class of 15 top men; top not only in their participation in campus activities, but also in scholastics. The cumulative pledge class average was 2.35. Among the activities represented by our new pledges, athletics stand high. Bob Adalaar, Floyd Kock, Hal Yeich, Tom Mayhew, John MacLeod, Tom Tucker, Dick Wendlandt, and Dick Smith played football, Tucker setting a new freshman punting record. Dick Smith and Bob Adalaar were among the first line freshmen wrestlers, Dick at 157-pounds and Bob at 177. Bob Bubp saw plenty of action this past winter as a member of the basketball team. This spring, Delt pledges will participate in both track and baseball, with Bob Adalaar, Hal Yeick, and Scott Kalish in baseball and Dick Smith and Dick Wendlandt on the track team.

We have done very well in intramurals. Our basketball team took a second place, John Hughes and John Hayes won University championships in wrestling, Hughes at 160 and Hayes at 195. In spring varsity athletics, Pete Bennett and Jim Renaldi are playing baseball, and Dan McGregor, Ron Casper, and Nick Smith are playing rugby.

On the social scene, the parties are better than ever. The high points have been, of course, Pitt wrestling match week end and IFC week end. Looking ahead, houseparty week end the 27th isn't far off.

With all these achievements and activities, the event of which we are proudest here at Beta Lambda has been neither athletic nor social. Two weeks ago we were presented with a large silver trophy, emblematic of the most improved house, scholastically, at Lehigh over a period of three years. We currently rank sixth scholastically on the campus.

Finally, congratulations go to our newly elected officers, with Don Mattson as president and Bill Devinney as vice-president.

DAVE BALL

Maine—Gamma Nu

Under the spirited leadership of our rush chairmen, John Howard and John Gamma Nu again won the snow sculpture contest on the Maine campus.

Gilbert, 42 Delts of Gamma Nu flung open the Shelter's portals for two weeks of formal rushing. An unprecedented low number of freshmen eligible for rushing caused much concern as to the outcome of this year's rushing; but hard work is always rewarded with success, and success we had. With some brilliant organizing of the rush committee, Gamma Nu pledged 18 new men. The new men were soon organized under the excellent direction of Pledge Trainer Jack Fabello.

After having our own way with the intramural football league, the basketball season was somewhat of a letdown, even though we did make the finals. We finished up the season in fourth place. Our bowling team did a great job, while facing some stiff competition, and our paddleball team just didn't have it this year. As of this moment we are just starting the indoor softball season and so far are undefeated. All in all, the Gamma Nu's haven't done too badly this year.

The winter carnival this year was just a little happier than in some previous years as we won the annual snow sculpturing contest. We are now looking forward to the Greek games during Greek Week. We have great hopes of winning the famed chariot race.

A drop in scholarship from last year has caused strict adherence to study rules to be the policy here at Gamma Nu. Under the supervision of Dennis Hurlbert and Dick French, new rules have been put into effect. All members have co-operated with the program and a marked improvement has been seen in scholarship. From all indications we will again jump back into the top five of the 17 fraternities in scholarship. Our scholarship committee has reported that Gamma Nu rated sixth in this area for the fall semester. With each member doing his part we are sure to be back on top once again at the end of this spring semester.

This being the last article until next fall, we brothers of Gamma Nu sincerely hope that all Delts are enjoying the spring fever and have a fine and happy summer.

AL CHAMBERLAIN

M.I.T.—Beta Nu

With the year coming to a close, the Delts have every right to be proud of their achievements. Athletically, we are officially the leaders, while we are unofficially tops socially. The Delts dominate the political scene, while managing to keep an impressive scholastic rating.

The Delts hold the Beaver Key trophy, awarded to the living group with the highest percentage participation in intercollegiate sports. Delts actively participate in 13 intercollegiate sports, including varsity basketball, baseball, lacrosse, tennis, wrestling, track, soccer, crew, swimming, and golf. Outstanding are Brothers Bill Weber, winner of the Straight-T award for his efforts on the heavyweight crew; Frank Yin, high scorer on the junior varsity basketball team; and Bill Driess, currently the leading scorer for M.I.T.'s lacrosse team. The freshmen have continued in the Delt tradition by providing starters in freshman baseball, track, hockey, lacrosse, swimming, fencing, skiing, and crew. Brother Bill Kosinar has proved to be one of the top freshman athletes on campus, leading the freshman hockey and lacrosse teams through successful seasons.

Intramurals have not been a weak point either. In football, the big Delt machine was unscored upon until the division championship game, and then was defeated by a narrow 12-8 decision. The basketball team took the league championship, crushing the runner-up, 41-20.

Socially, the Delts couldn't be better. The three-day holidays, junior prom, winter week end, and I.F.C. week end, proved the Delts to be the social leaders. Innovations in M.I.T. social life, introduced by our ex-social chairman, Tim Sloat, in the form of multi-house parties, have proved extremely successful.

This spring saw the election of Brother Jack Downie as Interfraternity Council chairman. This is quite an honor as there are 28 fraternities at M.I.T. comprising nearly half the student body. The I.F.C. is nationally known for its independence and autonomy.

Brother Frank Yin has been elected to the vice-presidency of the class of 1965. This past year saw Tony Dvorak on the secretariat and Bruce Powell, Phil Mattocks, and Joe Dickey on the freshman council. We are proud of Chuck Fadley's election to Phi Lambda Upsilon and Tau Beta Phi, both engineering honoraries.

The year has been a successful one and the next promises to be even better with the election of the new officers: Bill Driess, president; Mike Simpson, vice-president; Jim Larsen, treasurer; Tony Dvorak, recording secretary; Joe Dickey, corresponding secretary; Bruce Powell, guide; and Bill Kosinar, sergeant at arms. Our appreciation goes to Tom Massaro, outgoing president, for his many endeavors for the chapter.

JOE DICKEY

Miami—Gamma Upsilon

Perhaps the most noteworthy items to put in this spring issue are those of our new initiates and our new pledge class. The new pledge class of 50 men is one of the largest classes taken by Gamma Upsilon Chapter. With material like that to work with, you can look for big things from this chapter in the coming years.

There are a number of other new items around the Miami Delt house. The most significant being the new house officers. Midyear elections saw Brother Bill McIntosh put into the most responsible position, that of president. Brother Jim Kidd took over the position of vice-president. The jobs of recording secretary and corresponding secretary went to Brothers Tom Yoder and Fred Heer, respectively. Assuming the role of social chairman, and doing an excellent job, is Brother Jack Collins. Taking over as house manager is Brother Phil Isaac. The pledge trainer and a source of inspiration to our new men is Brother Chuck Rogers. Doing a good job of representing us in the interfraternity council meetings is Brother Jack Woods. Under the leadership of these capable Delts, the name of our Fraternity should be highly thought of on the Miami campus.

Among the new faces in the chapter, the one which should stand out the most is that of George, our new mascot. George is a peace-loving St. Bernard, weighing in at 150 pounds. He has been with the brothers only a short time now, but already he has captured the hearts of all the members. About the only thing that big George finds disagreeable about the house is taking baths. When he finds himself in the showers on bath days, he casts quite a few objectionable glances at the brothers. But, what must be done, must be done.

We are just commencing upon our busy spring social season. The annual Roman Toga party, "Lost Weekend," and spring formal lie in the weeks ahead and promise to be many reasons why it is great to be a Miami Delt.

ED RUETH

Michigan—Delta

With the end of spring academics now in sight, Delta Dels proudly review their accomplishments of the year. As in the past a top contender for all-campus acclaim and recognition, Delta Tau Delta again boasts top representation in all major activities. Surpassed only by the outstanding all-Delt showings of the year, individual claims to fame have never been higher.

Beginning with athletics, Michigan's Wolverine grid squad had the services of Dels Jim Green and Bob Timberlake, the cagers seeing Brothers Tom Ludwig and Dick Hildreth in action. Wrestler Chris Stowell added strength to Michigan's outstanding Big Ten season, while Bo Barker and Ray Senkowski are expected to carry the Wolverine's tennis squad to equally high standings.

All-campus elections this spring placed many brothers in top positions. Delt Dick Belger was elected administrative vice-president of the IFC, and Tom McAuliffe now holds a seat on the business administration student council. Lauren Bowler is the new president of the senior engineers. In other campus positions are Bruce Nelson as publications chairman of IFC, Jack Garrett as member of the LS&A steering committee, and Hank Buick as chairman of the IFC academic committee. Delt Wayne Smith headed this year's military ball and Fred Coffin directed the famous sophomore show to new dramatic heights.

Still with academics a prime concern, the Dels can boast that this year's most outstanding sophomore in the school of engineering is Brother Steve Ellis, chapter academic chairman. Serving as members of the engineering honors council are Brothers Dave Sandborn, Dan Brown, Wayne Smith, and Lauren Bowler. As is obvious, a voice in campus affairs has become a watchword for Michigan Deltas.

As a chapter, the Dels have excelled in IM's, pressing close to the final first-place position and now are vying to clean up both IFC sing and spring week end in the weeks to come. Brother Bill Gleason has done an outstanding job in preparation for the sing and Fred Coffin, director of the spring week end skit, is still amazing everyone with his Broadway touch. Coach Ivan Dimcheff promises victory in "A" softball, and predicts that the Dels again will capture the first-place tennis trophy.

On the social scene, the Tahitian party was an outstanding success, thanks to Chairman Mike MacInnes, and we now await pledge formal and the balance of the spring social calendar. Mom's week end ought to be as great as ever.

Yet eyes now are turning to the coming year and even bigger successes. The new administration has proved itself equal to the test and will be aided in the fall by Rush Chairman Jim Andrews in getting the ball rolling. All indications point to a great year with untold talent, spirit, and enthusiasm aimed at maintaining the Dels No. 1 position on campus.

GREG BLANK

Michigan State—Iota

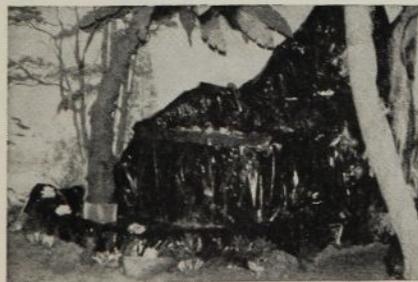

After a week of recuperation from final exams, the spring break was highlighted by the initiation of Epsilon Iota at General Motors Institute. The festive atmosphere was short-lived, however, and the Iota Dels, some tanned from the Florida sun, returned to the Shelter, ready to tackle the books and the fringe benefits of spring quarter.

In retrospect, the Iota Dels had a very active and successful winter. Varsity Captain Alex Valcanoff, also a member of Excaliber, a senior men's honorary, led the M.S.U. wrestling team to a very successful season, and Chuck Strong, State's top man in the butterfly, outswam many tough opponents. Half-miler Dick Ford also worked hard running winter track and is looking forward to the outdoor season.

The Dels also made their presence felt in intramural athletics. We took a third in swimming, second in volleyball, and won the All Fraternity basketball title. Coach Steve Chase handled the ball club well, as he guided the team into the All-University finals, where the Dels were edged by last year's All-University champs.

Socially, the Iota Dels and their dates enjoyed a "bundle party," a toboggan party, and a joint function with Z.B.T., all planned by our social chairman, Mike Miller. Bill Mandigo was in charge of our J-Hop dinner, where the brothers could treat their dates to a steak dinner at the Shelter before the big night, and the winter's social activities were climaxed by our annual term party. Under the direction of Rick Riemenschneider, we all spent an excellent evening of dining and dancing at Walnut Hills Country Club.

Delta Chapter provided artistic decorations for Tahitian party.

Although we have been second among fraternities scholastically for the last four terms, we had to put off studying until after spring rush, which was headed by Barrie Armstrong. With the aid of our 13 new actives from winter term, we took another fine pledge class of eight outstanding men. At the same time the chapter excused several of the brothers who were campaigning for class offices. John McQuitty was elected president of the sophomore class, thus continuing the string of Delt sophomore presidents to five consecutive years. Jamie Blanchard, holder of that office two years ago, was elected senior class president. Also, Dan Riley was recently chosen Union Board president, and Frank Marxer, president of the chapter, was the third consecutive Delt to be elected president of IFC. In addition, A. J. Harris was chosen for the Union board of directors, and another board member, Terry Burgon, who is also president of Alpha Delta Sigma, a men's professional advertising fraternity, was picked Career Carnival general chairman. Byron Treaster and Pete Wade are also chairmen of IFC public relations and Greek Week and Career Carnival Art, respectively.

The Iota Delts are looking forward to many other activities this term. First, due to our success of the winter sports, we have a good chance to win the IM all-sports trophy for fraternities, since we have outstanding track and softball teams. Also, our two varsity football players, Larry Kossack and Don Ross, are starting spring practice, and Steve Powers is on the freshman baseball squad. Second, we are working on water carnival, a float contest which is a part of the annual parents week end, with the Sigma Kappas, the same sorority that helped us win the event in 1961. In conjunction with parents week end, the Lambda Chi's are sponsoring their annual Junior 500, a pushcart race around campus. The Iota Delts won it last year in record-breaking time and are hoping for a repeat performance; we have the same team running again. Finally, we are giving a testimonial dinner for our retiring chapter adviser, Berley Winton, as well as an orientation dinner for all sorority representatives, informing them about the point system for our new outstanding sorority trophy.

With the coming of warmer weather, we hope all the chapters have as fruitful spring and summer months as we are anticipating.

A. J. HARRIS, II

Minnesota—Beta Eta

With the start of spring quarter, we Minnesota Delts have much to look back on and much to look forward to. We had a great winter quarter and are looking forward to an even better spring quarter.

During this last quarter, we again sponsored a sorority basketball tournament. Brother Buddy Bell organized this year's tournament, which saw Alpha Chi Omega take first place for the second year in a row. Delta Gamma and Alpha Delta Pi sororities placed second and third, respectively, in the two-day tournament.

Not content with merely being spectators, however, our basketball, hockey, bowling and swimming teams went out and demonstrated their athletic abilities by keeping us in first place in the intramural sports standings. We plan to make every effort possible to maintain our No. 1 position throughout the remainder of the year.

Among those making outstanding performances individually in athletics this quarter were Brother Clayton Reed and Harry Woodward. Brother Reed tied for second place in the I-M free throw contest by scoring on 93 out of 100 attempts. Harry displayed his athletic prowess by placing first in two events in the I-M swimming competition.

We did well winter quarter scholastically, as well. Our active chapter average was 2.6, which will keep us at or near the top of the ratings for the larger fraternities. We had 17 men who achieved grade point averages of 3.0 or better, including Brother Mark Peterson who had a 4.0 average.

Our fondness for the opposite sex was best mirrored by our full social calendar. In addition to our dessert exchanges with sororities and our other parties, we had a Roman orgy party which would have to be considered one of the best parties we've had this year.

We Minnesota Delts did not confine our activities to Minnesota, however. During spring quarter break we had brothers vacationing in Florida, Mexico, Colorado, Texas, the Bahamas, and Arizona.

Our newly-elected president and vice-president are Brothers John Jensen and Merle Carlson, respectively. We are proud of them and are confident that under their leadership we will continue to be as active and as prominent as ever on the Minnesota campus.

With our biggest spring activity, campus carnival, only two weeks away, our preparations for it are getting into high gear. We are working this year with Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and we hope that our performance will be as good as last year's was when we won the "best show" trophy.

Another activity which many of us are participating in is the freshman camps program. There are 15 of us who will be counselors at these three-day camps which try to introduce incoming freshmen to college life here at the University of Minnesota. Perhaps one reason for our enthusiasm regarding this activity is that there are usually twice as many girls at these camps as there are guys.

With the weather getting warmer, an epidemic of spring fever is overtaking our campus. In our efforts to relieve the suffering which this illness has been known to cause, we of Beta Eta are striking back with a barrage of social events. Our plans for this quarter include a baseball game with Alpha Chi Omega, a spring formal dance, a ranch party, a beach party, dessert exchanges with sororities, and many other activities unconditionally guaranteed to reduce the miseries of spring fever.

DON WEDEN

Missouri—Gamma Kappa

After a very active and successful fall semester, the Delts at Missouri are looking forward to the spring semester with much enthusiasm. Scholastically, we were above the All Men's Average at Missouri and are working very hard this semester to bring us closer to a new house.

Socially, we are planning many activities this spring. Our spring pig roast promises to be an affair which will be hard to forget. Missouri University has Tiger week end coming up in May and the Delts are planning accordingly. The student world's fair is a large carnival with booths representing the various living groups on the campus. Last year the Delts took a first-place prize for the best booth by taking in more money than anyone. This year we plan to repeat this accomplishment by winning another first place. Plans are also in the making for our Mothers' Day week end activities, in which our moms come up to the Shelter and spend the week end with us. This includes sleeping in the sons' beds, eating at the house, and doing things with us during the week end.

The latest addition to Gamma Kappa's shelter is our new mascot, a very beautiful collie. Our new dog, which is not as yet named, has large paws to fill from our old mascot. Our old dog served the Shelter for seven years and was loved by everyone on campus. Its accomplishments are too numerous to mention.

Two Delts from Gamma Kappa, Pete Clark and Ray Snoddy, joined the college crowd at Daytona Beach, Florida, during the Easter vacation. Many Delts from other chapters, including Georgia University, Michigan University, Alabama, Bowling Green, and Florida University, attended the college mass. It is a real experience to meet your brothers so far from home and to talk about your chapter. All the Delts were great guys and everyone was tremendously enjoying the Florida vacation. See you in the fall with a large pledge class.

RAY SNODDY

Nebraska—Beta Tau

The Beta Tau Delts are in hot competition for the All-University intramural championship, having taken the trophies in both football and track this year.

Beating out the gridders of Phi Kappa Psi 21 to 20 in overtime action, the Delt champs went on to down the Dental School squad 38 to 8. Named to the Daily Nebraskan's All-University football team were Joe McWilliams as quarterback and Tom Nystrom at the guard position.

Leading the Delt championship track team with a first in the mile run was Freshman Wally Weeks. He took second in the half mile and Jim Ensz, also a freshman, took third in the half mile. Tom Wolf tied for first place in the pole vault competition with a jump of 10' 8". Lynn Hasselbalch placed second in the broadjump. The Delt mile relay team placed second and the quarter mile relay team placed first.

John Vujevich, Bill Earl, Kelly Peterson, and Wayne Redmond will report to spring football practice on April fifth. Dave Wohlfarth, the No. 1 man on the tennis squad, is set for a rugged spring schedule. Wohlfarth also served as managing editor of the Daily Nebraskan during the fall semester. Gary Lacey, a junior, is managing editor for the spring semester.

Journalism student Cloyd Clark won $750 in the William Randolph Hearst feature writing contest for December. He wrote the winning article on former football great, "Red" Grange.

New officers for the coming year were elected in January. They are Jim Hansen, president; Harold Bauer, vice-president; Jerry Taylor, treasurer; Gordon Chipman, assistant treasurer; Gary Lacey, corresponding secretary; Al Spore, recording secretary; Steve Joynt, guide; and Tom Nystrom, sergeant at arms.

Beta Tau initiated 16 pledges in March. Jim Ensz was given the "squab best" award, and Jim Ebers earned a $100 scholarship with the high pledge average.

Upcoming in the Delt social calendar is the spring formal, the Greek toga party, and the squab scramble.

GARY LACEY

North Dakota—Delta Xi

The big attractions right now at the Delta Xi Shelter are the new additions to our trophy shelves through the efforts of our bowling team. All of us are very proud of our team of five who came out of the season winning first place in their league and also the All-Campus championship. Brother Blestrud was flown by jet as the University's representative to the national inter-collegiate bowling tournaments in Buffalo, N. Y. There his team won the championship. All in all, bowling has rolled Delta Xi to a very comfortable position in campus intramural standings. We hope for still greater success in volleyball, baseball, and swimming, which are in the immediate future of sports events.

Socially, this semester has seen several successful parties under the direction of Social Chairman Bruce Kostad. This year's pledge princess ball was held in a Roman setting, complete with coliseum, columns, and fountains (with slight modifications). Our newly elected pledge princess is Pi Beta Phi's Janet Anderson. The annual Toga Party (300 B.C.) proved to be great "Roman-Greek" revelry for all! Picnics and sorority exchanges have added to a well-balanced social schedule. We have yet to pick our Sally Sunshine, who will be some lucky girl who looks the most attractive to us at 7:30 a.m., minus all make-up. This year our choice must come from either the Delta Gammass, Alpha Phis, or Delta Zetas. Also coming up is our spring ball.

Delta Xi is still holding its own in fraternity scholastic standings. When the official standings came out last semester, we were happy to find ourselves in fourth place among all the fraternities on campus. Of course, we will not be satisfied until we once more rank first.

At present, one of our main concerns is the approach of interfraternity sing. Our group of 25 has been practicing diligently with the hope of singing Delta Tau Delta to another first place position.

With its ever increasing membership and campus prestige, Delta Xi will strive, as usual, to make the following years as successful as this one.

Ohio—Beta

After homecoming in the fall, the next big campus event is Greek Week. Once again Beta Chapter was honored with a success. Brother Steve Boley was one of three fraternity men selected as "Mr. Fraternity, 1963." Brother Boley was chosen on the basis of his leadership ability, scholastic attainments, campus activities, and all-around personality and popularity.

Beta's STEVE BOLEY and his trophy for Ohio's "Mr. Fraternity, 1963."

Soon to come will be Beta Chapter's "Delt Regatta." The regatta is a two-day affair combining ingenuity and fun. The brothers begin gathering material for their boats the week before the race and then the night before is devoted to construction of the rafts and boats. The next morning the rafts are all taken upstream on the Hocking river, which runs through the center of campus. At the starting gun, the rafts are raced downstream for two miles to the center of campus, where the winners receive the applause of the crowd that turns out to watch. After the race there is an open house party in the afternoon and a Delt dance in the evening. Beta Chapter expects the regatta to be an even bigger hit this year than in years past. There is a good chance that Andy Griffith, the well known actor-comedian, may be on hand for the race and the party following.

Start of Delt "regatta" at Ohio.

After the regatta, the campus will enjoy J-Prom festivities again this year. Brother Dudley Colvin is busy at work as the marshal's chairman for J-Prom. Brothers Brian Jakes, last year's J-Prom king, and Sam Polo are our J-Prom chairmen. The theme for our skit will be Jamaican and our candidate, Brother Gary Richetto, and the rest of the brothers are busy preparing the routine which will be presented jointly with Scott Quad, the largest of the women's dorms. We confidently look forward to another J-Prom victory for the Delt.

Out on campus this spring is Brother Mike Spahr, who is vice-president of student cabinet. Brother Mike is also currently a reporter for the interfraternity newspaper. Joining him on campus affairs is Brother Steve Boley, who has just finished a term as campus vice-president, and is now serving as a member of the student general court. At the same time, Brother Steve is chairman of the symposium of higher learning for Ohio high school students. Brother Gary Richetto, our J-Prom candidate, is also the administrative vice-president of interfraternity council. In addition to this, Brother Gary serves as a member of the Ohio University varsity debate squad. Also in varsity debate are Brothers Tom Ledbetter, Ken Bachman, and Dudley Colvin. Brother Jim Ringer is just finishing a term as the athletic chairman of interfraternity council. The master of ceremonies for the Greek week convocation was Brother Harry Dennis. Brother Matt Minor is hard at work completing the last sales drive as assistant business manager of the Ohio University yearbook. Over at the radio station and at the ball field, Brother Tracy Jackson may be found broadcasting news and sports events for the university radio station. Pledge Frank Pacey is completing his final training toward getting his pilot's license and Pledge Terry Eiler is a photographer for the University newspaper. Several of the brothers are participating in interfraternity workshops this spring. Officers Steve Boley, Gary Richetto, Tom Hendricks, Ken Bachman, Jim Ringer, Mike Sunner, and Mike Spahr are in attendance.

The Beta Delt is in sports as well as campus affairs. Brother Jim Ringer just finished his season on the varsity swimming team and will soon be inducted into Varsity "O." Also on the swimming team are Pledges Dennis Knaus and Tim Sidley. Looking forward to a fine season this year is tennis captain, Brother Larry England. Along with Brother Larry on the tennis team are Brother Tom Gundlach and Pledge Ken Hiatt. Brother Tony Pedonesi has just finished his season on the varsity wrestling team and Brother Mike Sunner is just beginning the season on the baseball squad. In addition to varsity athletics, the Beta Delt has two good entries in intramurals. Our softball team, captained by Brothers Mike Sunner and Tom Smith, is well on its way to another all-fraternity championship and our golf team, captained by Brother Ken Bachman, is a strong contender for the top position. Within the chapter there are six teams competing for the volleyball championship, which was conceived and staged by Brother Bob Beseker.

Within the Shelter, Brother Tim Broedling is serving as Mother's week end chairman. Brother Tim has a fine week end, complete with orchid corsages, planned for the mothers. Brother Jim Schmelzer was our Greek week chairman and did a fine job in that capacity. Brother Jed Frost is the new head steward for this semester. Brother Tom Ledbetter is the pledge master for the spring class and Brother Brian Jakes is workmaster. Brother Bruce Waffan has been doing an excellent job as cultural chairman. We have had numerous guests, including President Alden and many of the University faculty, up for dinner. Brother Tom Hendricks is perhaps the busiest member in the Shelter, next to President Steve Boley. Brother Tom, as treasurer, can usually be found in the office working on the Fraternity accounts.

The brothers have been busy working, playing, and helping out others. Brothers Tom Ledbetter, Walt Dragevitch, and Tom Smith have all been accepted to law school, and Brother Bill Rau has been accepted to medical school. At spring break several of the brothers went to Florida to enjoy the surf and warm weather. Those migrating included Brothers Steve Hachtman, Harry Dennis, Bil Hocerar, Tim Broedling, Jeff Neel, Mark Burkholder, Gary Richetto, Jed Frost, Steve Emsler, Matt Minor, and Tom Smith. After the spring rains and the forthcoming flood, the brothers pitched in and helped many families re-settle in their flooded homes. At Easter time the brothers, along with one of the women's dorms, distributed Easter baskets to the kids at the children's home. Early in the spring Beta Chapter was surprised by visitors on horseback. Two ranchers who were passing through town leading a mule train were our guests for lunch and a short rest. The men had been on the trail for almost a year traveling from California to Washington, where they hoped to get to see the President. Their trek was in commemoration of Idaho's centennial celebration.

This has been an interesting, busy, and successful semester again for Beta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

Ohio State—Beta Phi

Springtime and the arrival of spring quarter gave new life and freshness to the Beta Phi Shelter. Although the coming of spring had been long awaited by all the brothers, winter quarter was a profitable one for the Delt.

One of the most notable events of the previous quarter was Beta Phi's winning the Kent State All-Ohio Delt basketball tournament. In competition with Ohio's chapters, Beta Phi emerged the victor, winning all of its tourney games. John Keener was named most valuable player in the tournament and Brothers Dick Ellinger, Gary Griffith, and Howard Bogart were named to the first all-tournament team. The brothers are looking forward to the tournament week end next year when the chapter sponsors the tournament as defending champions.

The Delt is also looking forward to a very high point average for winter quarter when averages are released the middle of this quarter. The chapter point-hour was bolstered by the 4.0 grades of Brothers George Brown, Bob Boos, and Carl Wick, and others who made the Dean's List.

A social high light of last quarter was an informal visit paid the chapter by the "Four Preps," after an on-campus concert. They accepted an invitation extended by the brothers and spent time after the concert as guests of the men and their dates in the Shelter.

The Delt bowling team won second place in winter league competition and added another trophy to those won by the chapter already this year. Championship bowlers were Brothers Ted Miller, Dan Carter, Dick Welshans, and Bob McMillan.

The Deltas were an integral part of Ohio State's Greek Week festivities. Many of the brothers served on committees and took part in activities. The Deltas donated the most pints of blood in the week's main project, had the largest attendance at the variety show, and sponsored the largest attended Greek Week house party. The theme of the party was "Freddie Flintstone" and the decorations were centered around this idea. One of the Columbus area's most notable com-bos played for the affair.

The Beta Phi social schedule is always an impressive one and the one for spring quarter is a campus focal point. Besides the numerous week end parties planned, there are also the all-day picnic and party, the Bath tub Gin Party, and the annual spring formal. The "Gin" party is attended by Deltas from all over the state and is an excellent time for fellowship and a good time. Many serenades and exchange dinners with campus sororities are also scheduled.

Elected to the Ohio State student senate for the coming year was Tom Workman. He had been prominent in the freshman senate and will serve as a representative of the Greek district. Dave Stitsinger was also named as engineering representative to senate for the year.

Quite a few of the men are participating in varsity athletics for Ohio State this spring. John Keener is a pitcher on the OSU baseball team, and Bucky Byrne is an excellent prospect for this season's tennis squad. Playing varsity lacrosse is Phil Giessler and Dick Maben is running varsity track.

The Deltas have very favorable prospects for spring intramural competition. Two teams are entered in the softball leagues and many of the men plan to participate in the interfraternity swim, golf, tennis, and track meets.

Don Ely has been given the cumbersome job of summer rush chairman, and with the aid of the brothers, he hopes to have a successful completion of Beta Phi's strongest rush period when fall comes.

The recently devised special purposes committee has developed a chapter lecture and guest speaker series as its latest project for building physical, intellectual, and cultural strength within the chapter. Many of the brothers have volunteered to monitor discussion sessions on topics with which they are familiar. It is also hoped that campus or area leaders will be able to come and speak to the chapter.

Max Hardy, one of Beta Phi's most active men in campus activities, has been selected by the Dean of Men as a member of the OSU student leadership committee. He will serve on the advisory council for an unlimited period of time.

Many men have pledged this quarter and these potential leaders are being counted on to fill the vacancies left by the chapter's graduating seniors.

Brother Mark Phillips has been elected vice-president of the second-year class of Ohio State's dental school and will serve for the coming year.

As this academic year draws to a close, Beta Phi is quite proud of its accomplishments this year and the performances of its campus leaders. The men are looking forward to next year with the enthusiasm and zest that will once again place Beta Phi at the top of OSU's Greek system.

GARY WITSCHY

Ohio Wesleyan—Mu

With spring and the Deltas in full swing, Mu can look back on a profitable four months. The new Shelter has been equipped with hi-fi speakers in every room on the first floor and basement, and the warm weather and open atmosphere of the Shelter attract brothers, dates, and all fraternity men to socialize and conduct meetings.

Thirteen pledges joined the ranks of initiates in early February, and the freshmen, backed by encouraging upperclassmen, were victorious in the annual Delt-Phi Gam tug of war after four lean years.

An all-campus open house and election dinner for weary, candidate-seeking students put Mu socially in the campus spot light. The new Shelter is perfect for living, parties, dinners, meetings, and even movies; the brothers treated their dates to the Bridges of Toko-Ri in early April.

Mu's proudest accomplishment of the year is scholarship. From the lowly depths of fraternity ranks, Mu climbed to the top three scholastically and took home two trophies for the effort. Three seniors, Don Hetzel, Stan Shawhan, and Dick Windecker, were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa. Don Hetzel was also initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary, and John Bassett gained the history honorary. It is men such as these who make Mu the leader at Ohio Wesleyan.

In campus activities the Deltas are on top. Watson Parker, the new IFC president, is ably assisted by Brothers Rich Sweat and Mike Phillips, who are IFC committee chairmen. Freshmen Dave Doane, Don Smith, Ron Wenger, and Mike Wise give the backbone in their committee positions. Three student government committee chairmanships went to Dick Flannery, Jim Rimby, and Rich Sweat.

Fred Orr, captain of the swimming team, with great assistance from Bob Chase and Bill Wischmann, led the team to third place in the Ohio Conference. Freshman Don Smith and Tom Switzer had good seasons in their starting wrestling positions and will more than likely rule the mats next season. Bill Geiger is playing lacrosse this spring and is on a starting offense. In intramurals the Deltas had a good time this winter, and the spring volleyball team looks tough to beat.

Spring is the time to grow, and, while Mu has grown much this year, a new group of leaders promises the attainment of even greater heights. The leaders are: Bill Hoffman, president; Steve Sawdon, vice-president; Dick Flannery, recording secretary; Buzz Clift, corresponding secretary; and Kent Volkmer, treasurer. With the IFC songfest, the second annual Delt regatta, and spring formals, the year will be rounded out in fine style.

As our seniors graduate, a strong force will be lost from Mu. Luckily, Chase Crawford is codirector of freshman camp, and Tony Barelli, Dave Doane, and Bob Volkmer are committee chairmen. Next year promises a strong pledge class. Scholarship climbing, campus control expanding, and brothers ever exhibiting the Delt spirit of leadership, next year looks fantastic.

Have a good summer; see you next year.

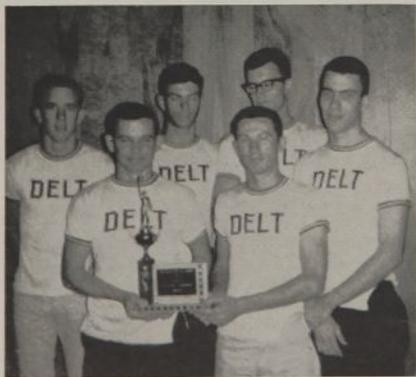

BUZZ CLIFT

Oklahoma—Delta Alpha

The Delts at the University of Oklahoma were very proud to be named second in the fraternity of the year contest. We are certain this fine record will be continued under the leadership of these recently elected officers: Roger Parkins, president; Mike Buchanan, vice president; Randall Mock, corresponding secretary; Paul Cornett, recording secretary; Ralph Rucker, treasurer; Doug Hobbs, assistant treasurer; Jim Bennett, sergeant at arms; Phil Horton, IFC representative; Charlie Mugg, rush chairman; and Larry Mullins, guide.

Delta Alpha again ranks high in campus activities. Six freshman were named to Phi Eta Sigma. Four out of the five officers of the organization recently elected are Delts. They are Bill McGrew, president; Grayson Van Horn, vice-president; John Pinkerton, secretary; and Dennis Berry, historian. Out of 40 members of the student senate, three are Delts. They are Tom Dodson, Randall Mock, and the student senate president, Bob Bascom. The group act of Kappa Kappa Gamma-Delta Tau Delta entitled "Grand Ole Delta" won first place in the campus variety show, Sooner Scandals.

of Stan Shields, scholarship chairman. The Delts won second place among the 24 fraternities first semester with a 2.63 grade average on a 4.0 system. Our pledges followed with a third place finish among pledge classes with a 2.61 grade average. Tom Riggs, Richard Sinclair, and Don Siebert compiled a perfect grade average of 4.0. Out of 36 pledges, Delta Alpha had 11 men making above a 3.0.

At the present time, the Delts lead in the race for the intramural trophy by a wide margin. Helping us to gain this lead have been these team finishes: second place B football, first place A basketball, first place A volleyball, and first and third places B volleyball. Seniors Nick Denner, 1962 president, and Charlie Harris, intramural chairman, have been the leaders in Delt's successful athletic program. We will certainly miss them following their graduation this year.

The Delt social program has been very successful under the leadership of Mike Sherrod, social chairman. Serenades, desserts, and parties both in and out of the Shelter have been thoroughly enjoyed. Among our biggest parties of the year are the fall formal, the Christmas party, "Little Guys" party, Lake Texoma week end, the Delt Dive, and the spring rush party. Outstanding music is provided by such famous bands as Ronnie Hawkins, the Roadrunners, and the Crickets.

Awards were given to four outstanding Delts at the initiation banquet. Nick Denner was named Ideal Delt and Bill McGrew was chosen outstanding pledge. Ben Franklin and Jack Fesler combined to win the Big Brother-Little Brother scholarship award with a grade average of 3.6. This is the highest grade average ever to win the award. With the efforts of these men and the other 109 Delts, we are certain that Delta Tau Delta's top ranking on campus will be continued.

Oklahoma State—Delta Chi

As the '62-'63 school year draws to a close, the Delts at Stillwater can look back over what has been a very fine year. One of Delta Chi's largest neophyte classes ever, 16 men, was initiated into the Fraternity on March 9. Robert Gibson was named outstanding pledge of this group, and Bob Fowler was given the scholarship award after having completed a straight-A first semester.

Highlighting the spring activities was formal dedication of our new Shelter. Several prominent Delt alumni were present, including National President John W. Nichols; Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter President, Joe Greggs; and Field Secretary Doug Beito. At a banquet following the dedication, John Nichols gave the main address. The Bob Cox award, given annually to the outstanding active member, was presented to Dick Shavey for his service to Delta Chi Chapter. During the banquet, Delta Chi Chapter presented Founder Don Holt an engraved watch for his tireless effort in helping us obtain this new Shelter.

In campus activities, Brothers Jim Johnson, Mike Mullman, Gary Toussaint, and David Gibson were initiated into Sigma Tau, national engineering honor fraternity. Bill Oden was selected to serve as a varsity cheer leader for the next three years. Phil Holloway and Charlie Green were initiated into Scabard and Blade, national military society.

In scholarship, Jim Johnson completed his third straight semester with a straight-A average. The chapter finished fifth out of 22 on campus in scholarship and is striving to improve its standing on campus during the spring semester.

High point of the spring social events will be our annual orchid formal. The membership will move out of the house for the week end and allow our dates to take over the house. Music for the formal will be provided by Johnny Guitar and the Checkers.

Summer rush got off to a big start this spring with a high school rush week end. High school seniors from all over the state were invited up for a week end in the Delt Shelter. Friday evening everyone went to the show and Saturday afternoon we saw the varsity baseball team play Missouri. Saturday night the rushees were treated to a college party and a serenade by the Pi Phi Sorority.

Delta Chi is planning an extensive summer rush program to be headed by Charlie Miller. Anyone wishing to have us contact a rushee can send his name and address to Charlie at 155 N. Columbia Pl., Tulsa 10, Oklahoma, and we will be more than glad to contact him. Summer rush activities include big parties in both Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

In spring intramurals, several Delts entered the wrestling tournament and the two softball teams are off to what appears to be another fine season.

Next fall, Delta Chi will be able to start off the year with what is the largest active membership it has ever had. In the house there will be 40 members and six pledges returning. As the close of school fast approaches, everyone at Delta Chi is eagerly anticipating the summer months. Next year we are looking forward to another fine year of brotherhood, scholarship, and service.

DAVID GIBSON

Oregon State—Delta Lambda

With another year almost completed, the Oregon State Delts have once again proved themselves one of the top fraternities on campus. We actively participated in intramurals, student government, intercollegiate athletics, and many social activities.

During the football season, Mike Shirtcliff was first string tackle on the Rook squad. Although the chapter finished second in its league in intramural football, only a one point loss to the school champions kept us out of first place. As winter came, along with wrestling, Gordon Lowell showed great improvement over his freshman year as he won six of eight matches and captured third place on the coast in his weight class. In freshman wrestling, Jack Taylor showed great promise as he also compiled a fine record. Neil Wells and Frank Morse, both varsity crewmen, are in the midst of another fine year. Randy Rothman, a sophomore basketball holdout this year, will be back to help out the O.S.U. varsity team as will Larry Enos, a regular on this year's freshman team. In the spring sports, Jon Paauwe is on the varsity golf team, Jack Taylor is helping out the freshman baseball team, while Rod Trask is in his second year of varsity baseball.

The Delts dominate the sports department of the O.S.U. Barometer, with Scott Thompson as sports editor and Rich Hansen as assistant sports editor. John Salzer night edits for the Barometer. Mike Dennis holds the position of winter sports editor for the O.S.U. annual, The Beaver, while Bill Milne is business manager.

For the fifth consecutive year, a Delt will be insurance chairman for the school as Wade Harrison pulled down the job. Tom Case is now a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary, while Mike Dennis, Kave Korzan, Mike Hardman, and Tom Case are members of Phi Eta Sigma. Bill Milne, John Moore, Scott Thompson, and Rich Hansen belong to Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary. Scott Thompson and Rich Hansen also are members of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism honorary.

Newly elected chapter officers include: Jay Bureson, president; Bill Milne, vice-president; Scott Thompson, recording secretary; Rich Hansen, corresponding secretary; Bob Marsh, treasurer; Jack Paschall, assistant treasurer; Gordon Lowell and Larry Nelson, scholarship chairmen; Bill Hichcock, rush chairman; and Tom Case, pledge trainer.

Socially, the winter dance, the Apache, was again a wild success. Also during winter term, Delta Lambda was proud to hold initiation ceremonies of Epsilon Theta at Willamette University. The brothers look upon it as a very memorable experience for all.

Fall term here at the Shelter, eight men were initiated. Spring term 17 more men were initiated.

KEN BALMFORTH AND
FORBES DAVIDSON

Pennsylvania—Omega

The spring semester here at Pennsylvania has again found the Omega Chapter continuing at its usual pace. Each year it becomes more difficult for us to break our own records and yet, we always do. Socially, we have had many enjoyable parties this semester. February's Interfraternity week end was made most enjoyable for us when our candidate, Susan Seifer, was chosen as IF queen. Young ladies flocked from far and wide to attend our "open mixer," at which brothers and pledges were outnumbered by at least three for one throughout the evening. The social season was highlighted by Penn's annual "Skimmer" week end, a solid three days and nights of parties centered around crew races Saturday afternoon, at which many Delts received their annual dunkings at the hands of their carefree brothers, automobiles, police and University officials, who also accompanied the racing shells into the river.

Delts hold numerous positions in spring sports. Ned Yellig sprints for the track team while Gerry Koenig plays with the weights. Baseball Captain Bob Murray is backed up by starters Frank Casa and Dick Costello, which Chuck Shields and John Murray play on the frosh team. Kevin Cronin is presently rowing second position on the crew team. In interfraternity sports, Delt stands an excellent chance of regaining the All-University crown with its recent capture of the basketball title and a most impressive sweep of the wrestling tournament by over 100 points.

Our 25 man pledge class was initiated at the end of April, after a slight delay caused by a most abortive and uncalled for walkout, quickly put down by Pledge-master Steve Irace. Founders Day was very successful this year in the hands of Frank Dobson and C. T. Alexander. It was held in the impressive Egyptian Rotunda of the University Museum. Frank has done an excellent job as steward this year, even though the kitchen continues in the red.

Needless to say, Delt has continued to maintain leadership in extracurricular activities. James Cassidy was elected to the presidency of the IF council and Anthony Langham to its junior board. Richard Fraser was recently chosen to fill Delt Dick Pagnetter's place on the Houston Hall board, and also given membership in the Phi Kappa Beta junior honor society. Bob Young was elected vice-president of the senior class, and Ron Allshouse, recently departed from the ranks of single men, was elected the treasurer of the senior alumni class. Ron Schaeffer handed over the keys to Bob Young, new director of Penn's powerful parking squad.

Our most pleasing accomplishment of the season, however, has been our acceptance of this year's Sphinx Award, given each year to "that fraternity which shows the most outstanding leadership on the Penn campus." And with that we look forward to next fall.

STEVEN A. IRACE

Purdue—Gamma Lambda

Spring vacation provided Gamma Lambda Delts with the opportunity to soak up a little sun. Nine brothers chartered a 35-foot Chris-Craft and sailed to Nassau, while seven others viewed the Daytona scene. All have since been returned to the chapter house.

At present, we are busily preparing for many events: U-Sing on Mothers' Day, Grand Prix (69-mile Go-Cart race), and our spring house dance.

For this year's University sing, Delts, under the direction of Rick Ahrens, will again be the campus favorites. With one first and two seconds in the last four years, we will go into this year's competition much stronger than in the past.

The chapter mechanics, Niles Bruno and Jeff Waterman, have been spending all their free time in the pits, working out the kinks of the "Wally-Too." Jim Kinch will pilot the cart before leaving for the "500" in Indianapolis.

"Gerald and the Clefs," playing out of Rush St. in Chicago, will be featured at the spring house dance on Friday, April 26. On Saturday, the entire chapter and their dates will journey to the lakes for the annual beach party.

Once again, Delta Tau Delta placed more men in honoraries than any other fraternity on campus. Dave Ashley, Steve Godwin, Barry Golliday, Ric Leeper, Dave Mueller, and Keith Oberbeck were tapped and initiated into Skull and Crescent, national honorary for Greek sophomores in activities. From this group came the president and the social chairman of the pledge class, while Gamma Lambda's Pete Jacobson served as pledge trainer.

Gimlet, the senior activities honorary for Greeks, tapped Delts Rick Ahrens, Doug Baker, and Ron DiGravio, while Doug Diehl and Bob Jergens were selected for XE, national civil engineering honorary.

Already, three sophomores, Ric Leeper (Rivet), Dave Ashley (Exponent) and Dave Mueller (Exponent) have nailed down junior jobs in their activities. We are expecting several more at later dates.

In the annual penny carnival, Delts and Chi O's teamed up once again to produce a great booth. In the trophy department, there was a second for best booth and a second for best advertisement, including a picture spread in the Sunday section of the Indianapolis Star.

In the realm of athletics, the brothers gathered up a large number of supporters and proceeded to dethrone the perennial fraternity basketball champs, the Betas, only on place second to the Sigs. In golf, we have a fine hold on first.

Come June, Gamma Lambda bids farewell to nine men who have served it well. John Dzien, Rog Schneff, Dick Gapen, Floyd Kettering, Tom O'keefe, John Billings, Dick Wall, Dick Esselborn, and Dave Gibson, will be receiving their respective diplomas.

Looking forward to next year, Gamma Lambda will be in fine shape in all departments. Ron DiGravio will again be No. 1 signal caller for the Purdue Boilermakers, Ron Kubecka will be fighting for the No. 1 half back spot, while Fred Chase and Dave Samstag will be vying for their respective positions.

So, on a note of success and cheer, Gamma Lambda wishes the best to our brother Delts for the summer and the following scholastic year.

BARRY GOLLIDAY

Rensselaer—Upsilon

Since our last report appeared in THE RAINBOW, much happened at Upsilon Chapter. Before our Christmas recess we had a Christmas week end at the Shelter. Decorations, including mistletoe and a big Christmas tree, added to the festivities as did the band which played two evenings. We also entertained several children of St. Coleman's Orphanage at a Christmas party. Brother Steve Cornell appeared as Santa Claus, who distributed toys to the children. The rest of the brothers joined the boys and girls in what we hope will become an annual pre-Christmas affair.

At the beginning of the second semester we held our elections. Elected for the following year, as president, was Jim Robinson, who stepped up from the treasurer's position. Our vice-president, Steve Cornell, moved from the position of recording secretary, which is now being filled by Del Webster, our past guide. Dick Bowen assumed the duties of corresponding secretary from Dave Spiegel, who then became scholarship chairman. Bruce Mitchell, previously assistant treasurer, took over the treasurer's duties. Our new guide, Harry Carlson, assumed his position in time to take charge of this spring's initiation. Bob Bard, our incumbent sergeant at arms, was elected to continue in this capacity.

In addition, appointments included Lee Seibel, senior IFC representative; Frank Morgan, junior IFC representative; Joe Pankoski, rushing chairman; Denis Rushworth, steward; Herb Schneider, assistant steward; Ted Kolenda, house manager; Lou Lundberg, sports manager; John Veilleux, social chairman; and Benjie de Ipolyi, activities chairman.

Saturnalia, the winter week end at R.P.I., showed the Delts in the spot light. Brother Seibel's date, Miss Janie Harris, was chosen for the Queen's court, and our snow sculpture tied for first place in the interfraternity contest.

In sports, Lee Seibel completed another year starring on Rensselaer's basketball team and is now captain of the tennis team, which is ready to get under way for the season. Bud Ratner and Bill Baker are our lacrosse players. In interfraternity volleyball, Jim "Pumper" Edwards and John "Woody" Witbeck led Delta Tau Delta on to victory. The Delt bowling team, with Bob Beuscher, Tony Buffa, and Fred Christoffer, was very successful. Brother Beuscher took the open bowling tournament. Lee Seibel and Ron Kasper led us into second place in table tennis in an overtime period in the finals. Although hockey was not our best sport by far, the tremendous efforts of Gene Carozza as goal tender, Bob Folino, and John Veilleux, sparked this team's performance. Softball and horse-shoes are on tap for this spring.

Presently the publication of an alumni newspaper is one of our big projects. Preparing to start this paper has meant a lot of work. Dave Wells, who had much experience in the field of journalism in high school, is the brother responsible for this newspaper, and he is its capable editor.

Sam Houston—Epsilon Zeta

The brothers of Epsilon Zeta have been kept busy during this spring semester. In February, rush activities were in full swing under the direction of Brother Butch Thiele. Preparations were made for the final rush party, which carried as its theme "The Jungle." When preference cards were signed by the rushees, boasted a pledge class of 11 men. A week later two more pledges were gained through open rush.

In March, initiation was held for the pledges of the previous fall semester.

This semester Epsilon Zeta staged a soap box derby on campus. On the day of the big race, the stretch was crowded with spectators eager to witness this dare devil race. There were on serious crack-ups, everyone had a good time and the derby was a complete success, thanks to the smooth co-ordination of our activities chairman, Ralph Brown, and his assistant, Jerry Stapleton.

Although April is here and the semester is well under way, there are still activities to look forward to. We have already begun making plans for our annual "EZ Relays" to be held in May. Coming up at the end of April is western week, in which Delta Tau Delta takes an active part. Last year the Delts won first place in the Western Week talent show.

Softball is the spring sport now and the Delts are fighting hard to maintain first place in intramurals. Also, track and golf are coming around and several Delts planning to participate in each can be found at the golf course or jogging around the track.

Several events that will just about wrap up the semester are an all-college dance, the election of a sweetheart for the coming year, and, last but not least, the biggest party of the year, the spring party where we always look forward to seeing many of the alums. This is the last big party before summer.

Santa Barbara—Delta Psi

After another move of the entire chapter, Delta Psi has established itself in the best quarters yet: brand new apartments with new furniture and wall-to-wall carpeting, all located about a minute from school and even closer to the beach.

Athletically, we won the all-school honors at the annual paddle-swim meet, finishing two and a half laps ahead of the closest contenders, thanks to the swimming of Rich Sanford, Blair Ballard, and John Soth, and the paddling of John Viebrock, Fred Mc Carl, Rick Thompson, Bernie Conrad, and Willy Lippincott. Monte Guild, Ted England, and T. A. Blake are playing rugby for the Santa Barbara rugby association, while Pledges Dennis Kuttler, John Noron, and Mike Foster start in the frosh baseball line-up. In track, Dennis Roth is still throwing the hammer and Dave Caswell sets a new freshman pole vault record at every meet. Tommie Lee and Freshmen Dan Williamson, Tom Conway, and Lonnie Lee, rest up for next year's basketball season.

Santa Barbara girls were shocked and delighted by the Delt formal, the first in the history of the chapter; but the girls who were present at the function with the brothers from the South were in for the real surprise.

Scholastically, we came out second on campus, being helped greatly by the Davirro twins' 3.68 and 3.97.

With our good Shelter, fine athletic, social, and scholastic standing, it seems certain that Delta Psi will be able to hold its position on the U.C.S.B. campus.

BRIAN BURKE

Sewanee—Beta Theta

Beta Theta continues to maintain its standard of excellence in both scholarship and athletics. First semester, the chapter was in third place scholastically, with a grade point average well above both the All Men's and All Fraternity Averages. We are also in third place in the intramural athletic competition, and stand a good chance to win the trophy if we are able to take points in softball. Softball Coach Randy Johnson promises a good season, and if Pitcher Wilson Sadler can come through as expected, the Delts stand a good chance to take first in the league.

We began the second semester with the initiation on February 10 of an outstanding pledge class of ten freshman. Dave Jockusch served as president of the pledge class and Jay Reynolds was elected best pledge.

Both midwinter party week end and spring week end were great successes, largely due to the able planning of Social Chairman Allen Clarkson. Plans are being made for our commencement parties, June 7-10, and the chapter extends an invitation to all alumni to join us on the Mountain at that time.

The Delts participated in the campus fraternity Help Week, April 7-13, under the direction of Wilbur Wright, chairman of the activities committee. Brother Wright has also been nominated to the athletic board of control. Other Delts nominated for campus offices are: Rob Sanders and Jack Sanders, to the honor council, and Bill Thrower and Steve Walker to the student vestry. Brother Ryall Wilson, physics major and member of Sigma Pi Sigma, physics honorary fraternity, has received a $1,000 communications grant from the DuPont Foundation. Allen Lear has been awarded a scholarship to study at the University of Paris next year. Richard Earle catches for the varsity baseball team and Dick Ide plays first base. Dick, who is chairman of the chapter's publicity committee, is putting out our rush publication for next fall. Cary Behle and Jack Sanders were on the Dean's List for the first semester. Brother Behle has been accepted to the school of dentistry of Washington University in St. Louis, where he will enroll next fall.

The chapter enjoyed having a visit on March 19 from Brother Fred Fletcher, an alumnus of the class of 1962. Fred is now teaching at the Lenox School, in Lenox, Massachusetts. We also enjoyed seeing Brother Drew Meulenberg, another of last year's graduates, at our spring party week end. Drew is now studying physics at Vanderbilt University graduate school.

Chuck Kuhnell, the chapter's newly-elected guide, has also been appointed rush chairman. Derril Wright and Ralph Penland were our delegates to the Southern Division Conference, held at the University of Alabama. Billy Mitchell has been appointed house manager. Dit Talley is our song leader in the Blue Key Sing, to be held May 5. We placed fourth of all fraternities in this event last year and it is hoped that we will do even better this year. Scott Martin has won the Oakes Award, given annually to the senior of most outstanding character. Bill Thrower has been appointed scholarship chairman, and Randy Johnson is athletic director.

On April 28, the chapter entertained with a tea in honor of Dr. and Mrs. William Lemonds, who are leaving the Mountain next year. Dr. Lemonds, an alumnus of Delta Alpha Chapter, has been Sewanee's professor of music, and his many and varied talents will be missed by all, particularly the Delts, as he has always been a great help to the chapter in all its activities.

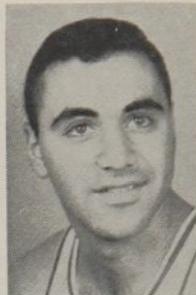

Tom Wilheit has won a Woodrow Wilson scholarship, and is going to study physics on the graduate level next year. Tom Sadler plans to join the Navy after graduation; Richard Earle is going to law school at the University of Florida; Jim Ettein is going to join the Air Force. Ralph Penland has received a scholarship in physics to Vanderbilt University graduate school, where he will attend next year. Bill Pheil plans to teach in a preparatory school, and Dick Warren is going to law school. Bob Hudgins intends to enroll in graduate school in biochemistry. The Delts of Beta Theta of the Class of 1963 have brought about a great improvement in the chapter during their four years at Sewanee, and we will be sorry to see them go; however, we look forward to next fall with great expectations for still bigger and better things for Beta Theta of Sewanee.

South Dakota—Delta Gamma

Delta Gamma began the spring semester by electing new chapter officers. Chosen from among the brothers were Dick Zeigler, president; Phil Larson, vice-president; Walt Judd, corresponding secretary; John Forsyth, recording secretary; Bill Matheson, rush chairman; and Frank Messner, social chairman.

On March 23, Delta Gamma's Dan Fuller and Bill Srstka appeared on the nationally televised General Electric College Bowl program as part of the University's delegation. In order to qualify for this distinction, both Bill and Dan had to compete with over 200 exceptional students in all academic areas.

Jim Dyer, junior Delt and starting forward for the USD cage team, was named to the North Central Conference basketball listing. Dyer finished the season seventh in conference scoring with 16.3 points per contest.

In Strollers, the annual spring vaudeville review, the Delts proved strong competition with an act entitled "A Pox On King Richard," directed by Brother L. Charles Johnson. This production features presentations much akin to materials utilized in Broadway musicals.

Early in February, Delta Gamma officially heralded the oncoming spring season with its yearly sweetheart ball. As is customary at this function a Delt pin-mate was selected to reign over the festivities as Delt sweetheart. For 1963 the chapter chose junior coed, Eileen Will, a member of Pi Beta Phi, to assume the honor.

This spring's campus elections saw Brother Steve Byrnes represent the Greek party as its candidate for student body president on a platform of campus unity and progress. Steve conducted an admirable campaign, but was narrowly defeated.

The Delt spring formal, the high light of the semester's social season, took place in Sioux Falls May 3. The all-evening affair featured dinner and socializing at one of the community's more sumptuous clubs.

When not engaged in scholastic endeavor or Delt activities, the brothers of Delta Gamma and dates frequently journey the few miles necessary to attain the recreation afforded by the sand dunes to be found adjacent to the Missouri River.

Stanford—Beta Rho

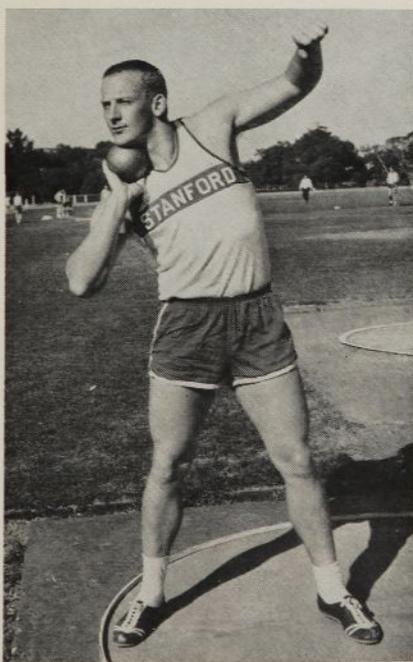

With the start of spring quarter at Stanford, many new faces have appeared on the Beta Rho scene. Rush has been going on since the middle of winter quarter, but intensively for only a week. Twenty-seven bids have been extended and 22 have already pledged. This has been one of the greatest rushes ever put on by Beta Rho and the new class is quite versatile.

Many things have developed on the athletic scene as of late. Prior to this quarter, Tom Dose, Helm's All-American center, set a new Stanford individual scoring record for a single season by scoring 520 points. This erased Delt Ron Tomsic's total of 515. Dose was also the first Stanford basketball player to average more than 20 points for a season. Tom hit a game high of 35, and in three other games scored 31, 29, and 28. The only graduating basketball player was Darrel Sutherland, now a mainstay on the varsity baseball squad. Sutherland has been the No. 1 pitcher for the past three seasons and has included a pair of no-hitters among his numerous victories. In addition to Sutherland, Bobby Cox has broken into the Stanford starting lineup, patrolling the outfield for the Indians. Cox, currently hitting around the .350 mark, has had several pro offers. The other baseball standout is Bill Wakefield, now in his third year of professional baseball after being signed off the Stanford campus as a freshman. Wakefield is a right-handed hurler and will play for the Tulsa Oilers this season but should soon be making the move to the parent St. Louis Cards.

During spring vacation the Stanford rugby team completed its season by capturing the Monterey rugby tournament, which included outstanding teams from Oregon, Washington, Canada, and California. The Stanford team held the opposition scoreless for the four games and was led in scoring by Clark Weaver and Bob Burke, both Delts. Frank Patitucci, breakaway, and Bob Price, scrum-half, were outstanding on defense, while Dick Leeuwenburg, Al Hildebrand, Randy Vahan, Dave Moreland, and Randy Devening controlled the lineouts.

Track noise has been heard from a number of Delts. Steve Arch is presently the No. 1 shotputter in the AAWU and fourth ranked in the nation, while Jack Chapple is second in the AAWU. Arch has put 57' 4" and Chapple 55' 5½". Arch placed first in meets with San Jose State, Oklahoma, and California while Chapple captured first against Oregon State University. John Fontius has been gathering seconds and thirds in the high jump and took one first with a leap of 6' 6" and has gone 6' 8". Phil Arnaudo clocks 14.6 in the 120-yard high hurdles and 37.7 in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles. Ken Fraser has been running consistent 49 second 440's on the mile relay team.

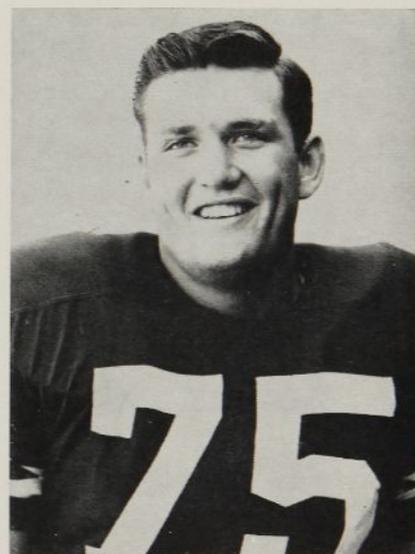

Mike Dowling and Rudy Oberzan completed their boxing season with victories over California. Dowling won by a KO in the heavyweight division while Oberzan slugged out a decision. Tim Steele was bothered by an injured hand the last part of the season and dropped his final match in the light-heavyweight division. John Isaacs roams the courts for the varsity tennis team and is one of the top-ranked players in the AAWU.

Ed Cummings, recently selected as fullback on the All-Delt football team, was invited and will play in the All-American bowl game in June. Ed will continue an already outstanding career by playing for the New York Giants in the forthcoming NFL season.

In the area of campus activities, Bill Smiland has been serving for a year on the men's judicial council as one of two fraternity representatives. Bob N. Cox is attending Stanford-in-Italy in Florence, Italy, and Dave Riegels has been accepted for the Florence campus in the 1963-64 academic year. Dave Moon is quite active in the Institute of International Relations, occupying the chairmanship of the foreign policy division. Steve Clark and Kent Colberg actively participate in the AFROTC. Clark has been squadron commander and is presently president of Arnold Air Society, the honorary AFROTC organization. Chip Miles is on the six-member senior class activities committee, while John Skeen, Al Hildebrand, Tim Steele, and Randy Devening are working on the Heritage Fund committee, a group that solicits for scholarship funds. Chuck Wilson is serving as vice-president of Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary organization. Dick Leeuwenburg represents Delta Tau Delta at meetings of the student legislative union.

CRAIG CROCKWELL

Stevens—Rho

Under the leadership of Rush Chairman Rick Nicotera, and his assistant, Pete Walsh, the Delts at Rho opened the spring term with a very successful rush which added 30 new pledges to the rolls, and brought total chapter man power to 70. The new pledge class is by far the best on campus, and one of the best at Rho in the past few years, particularly scholastically.

The brothers also did well scholastically last term as the chapter ranked third on campus. A special note of praise goes to Scholarship Chairman Bill Habert, who has received grants for graduate work from the NSF and NASA.

In athletics, the chapter is enjoying one of its finest years, both on the varsity and interfraternity levels.

Twelve Delts are members of the varsity lacrosse squad. The team is enjoying a fine season, much of which can be attributed to its seven Delt starters: Don Baxter, Tony Bianciella, Captain Bruce Boylan, Ray Korn, Matt Malinowski, Ron Marold, and Walt Stamer. Bohdan Domaradsky is playing first singles for the tennis team while George Greene is playing the No. 6 spot. Also, George Minish, Bob Rawley, and John Schaeber are regulars on the baseball team. In addition, many of the pledges are playing lacrosse and baseball on the freshman level.

In I.F.C. competition, we have won championships in volleyball, basketball, and ping-pong, and for the twelfth year out of thirteen have captured the I.F.C. all sports trophy. Also, we expect to take the football championship in a long-put-off championship game to be played soon. Congratulations are in order for Athletic Chairmen Ray Korn and Jim Harris, and also for Bohdan Domaradsky, player-coach of our champion volleyball, basketball, and ping-pong squads.

Socially, thanks to Social Chairman Jim Agresti, we are still having the best parties on campus, despite a new I.F.C. regulation outlawing open parties. Plans are being made for a gala spring sports week end at the Shelter, which will include a story book theme party. This year's Rho Ball was even a bigger success than last year's, due to the fine turnout of our alumni.

Looking to the future, Rho will soon move into its new Shelter. Our last year in the old Shelter was a successful one, and we are looking forward to many more in the new Shelter.

ED MULLOWNEY

Syracuse—Gamma Omicron

Sweeping changes and progress have been the key words in Gamma Omicron this year. Some $5,000 of alumni money was spent on major repairs and redecorating of the Shelter. We are grateful to the alumni for their financial and moral support in our rebuilding program.

We have made great strides scholastically, socially, and athletically.

In scholastics, our chapter rose from 15th to fourth, out of 30 fraternities, giving us the most improved scholarship trophy this year. Edward D'Andrea, an architecture student, won a design competition for an exhibition pavilion, and at the time of writing it is being constructed on the campus quadrangle.

In sports, Robert Thoresen led the Syracuse ski team to an undefeated season by finishing in the top five in eight races.

Socially, the Delts have had many successful events and are now looking forward to Delt week end, the annual spring formal.

Recently officers were elected for the following year. They are Roger Richardson, president; William MacDonald, vice-president; David Jones, treasurer; John Rowse, recording secretary; Robert Thoresen, corresponding secretary.

Next year we look forward to a bigger and better Gamma Omicron.

ROBERT THORESEN

Tennessee—Delta Delta

Delta Delta closed out the year by pledging 11 men. The chapter increased greatly in size by initiating 25 men this year.

Those men who will be guiding the chapter are new officers Herkie Miller, president; Don Morrow, vice-president; Bill Glass, treasurer; Hal Taylor, recording secretary; and Jim Clabough, corresponding secretary. Herkie, our new president, was the past treasurer of the chapter and is presently a cochairman of the University's Carnicus. We feel that he, along with the other new officers, will do a great job for us.

As the intramural season draws to a close, Delta Delta is again in a good position to win the all-sports trophy. With softball and track remaining, we are almost certain of a clean sweep in spring intramurals.

The chapter has won either first or second place in every event this year. With the trophy case full, we lift our eyes toward another great year.

This year's all-sing at the University saw Delta Delta lose first-place honors by only one point; however, the chapter is proud to boast of its singing group's excellent rating.

Three Delts have formed a folk-singing aggregation called the Cumberland Trio, which has pleased audiences with its performances both in person and on television. Andy Garverick on banjo, Jim Shuptrine on bass, and Jerre Haskew on guitar, comprise this popular group.

Our past publicity chairman and present alumni relations chairman, Ralph Newman, organized and co-ordinated a party for a Knoxville orphans' home, which was held at the Shelter in conjunction with the Alpha Xi Delta's. The brothers and Alpha Xi sisters enjoyed entertaining the youngsters so much that the function will become an annual affair. Continuing on the theme of public service, the Delts, under the leadership of Don Morrow, placed second in collections for the Knoxville Journal milk fund.

At the Southern Division Conference in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Delta Delta's representatives actively campaigned for the right to host the 1965 Conference. There were two other chapters bidding, but the committee decided that Delta Delta should be the host. We have already set forth preliminary plans, although we have two years to get ready. We hope we can do as good a job as Delta Eta did this year.

As you can see, Delta Delta is progressing very rapidly and we look forward to a very successful and prosperous year to come at U. T.

TOM CREED

Texas—Gamma Iota

Gamma Iota has continued its leadership on campus and among the fraternities this spring semester. We began the term by initiating 70 per cent of our pledge class. Twenty-seven men are new additions to our chapter. In intramurals we are currently first, with track and baseball still to be completed. The Delts won many all-University trophies, including basketball and water basketball. Even though we are No. 1 in athletics does not mean that scholarship has been neglected. Last fall semester, the Delts were fifth among fraternities in scholarship and we hope to raise this higher. After a successful spring rush, the Delts found themselves the largest fraternity on campus, but quality has not been neglected for quantity. The latest pledge is the president of freshman council and others are outstanding leaders in athletics and campus life. Joe Bill Watkins, our rush captain, has recently been selected for membership in the Cowboys, a University honorary service organization. Mike Eledge and Bill Keach are new Silver Spurs, also a service group. Bill was also selected to Junior Fellows for his scholastic prowess.

Several Delts are on the University baseball team. Bob Cone, rightfielder Ronald Bandy, and First Baseman Butch Thompson are all assets to the team. Butch has the highest batting average of all the players, currently hitting a torrid .400 plus clip.

Round up week end was very successful due largely to the hard work of Skipper White and Mike Lucas. The Friday night party was a western dance complete with a highly occupied hay stack in the house. Saturday night was more formal, but just as great a party. The houseparty will be held at Fort Clark where the movie The Alamo was filmed. Yet where the participants in the film had 13 days to glory the Deltas only have two, but we'll make it. Founders Day went well, and we were pleased to have so many alums present, including Mr. Pope. On April 23 we will have a brunch with our Austin alumni and on April 28 our annual meeting in Brennam with the Sam Houston chapter and the Houston alums. As is evident, Gamma Iota continues to be No. 1 at the University of Texas. All of us are looking forward to a successful summer rush and vacation.

LLOYD BIRDWELL, JR.

Texas Christian—Epsilon Beta

After a successful fall semester, the Deltas of Epsilon Beta returned from the midsemester break looking forward to an even better spring semester. The new officers elected to lead the Deltas in the coming year are President Bill Sloan, Vice-President George Brin, Recording Secretary Ron Dewey, Corresponding Secretary Doyle Coatney, Treasurer Nick Cole, Guide Hartley Young, and Sergeant at Arms Walter Roach.

In spring rush, the Deltas gained five new pledges. They are Robert Mangum, Cliff Card, Bill Bryson, Rick Bandis, and Kent Nix. Kent and Robert are both on athletic scholarships, Kent being the freshman quarterback and Robert starting guard and cocaptain of the varsity. Robert also received the dubious honor of being elected "Ugliest Man on Campus." In intramurals, David Brinkerhoff was selected to the All Fraternity basketball team. Dave had been previously selected to the All Fraternity football team and will receive the "Hoghead" award at the annual Founders' Day banquet, for being the outstanding Delt intramural athlete.

Other awards that will be given are the best pledge award to John Jackson, the scholarship award to Bill Sloan, and the alumni achievement award to "Lefty" Morris. Roger Taylor, president of the TCU Young Democrats, is campaigning hard to help "Lefty" get elected to the office of vice-president of the Texas Young Democrats.

In recent student congress elections, Jim Lane was elected sophomore repre-

Also, in intramurals, the Deltas have fielded a strong softball team, which after two games remains undefeated with a 24 runs per game average.

Finally, due to the planning and hard work by Abe Richmond, social chairman, the Deltas have had parties second to none on the TCU campus. The semester will be climaxed, socially, by the annual Delt formal, to be held this year at the Ridglea Country Club, where Joan Booth, a Chi Omega, will be presented as the Delt sweetheart for 1963-64.

DOYLE COATNEY

Texas Tech—Epsilon Delta

As dominant as the winds, sand, and cold of the West Texas plains are Texas Tech and its strongest fraternity, Delta Tau Delta. This great chapter has produced a liberal share of leaders in all fields at this fine college.

Epsilon Delta has won the All-College intramural trophy with a point total far superior to second-place Pi Kappa Alpha; the formal presentation will come later. This is an outstanding achievement for our six years of existence.

Our first team championship was in basketball, being defeated only in the semifinals of the All-College tournament. Thanks to our basketball team of Ron Siler, Bobby Powers, Mike Kunstadt, Tom Arnold, David Dean, Kent Hance, Steve Henderson, Kennedy Whitely, and Ward Williford.

We initiated 16 neophytes from the fall pledge class. For the spring semester we pledged 32 men, the best and greatest number of any fraternity. These figures bring our active membership to 63 and prospective membership total to 37, including five holdovers.

In the future we are looking forward to Brother Gary Strickland's being elected student body president and Dennis Ashmore's winning a cheerleader's position.

Our social life has been quite successful with the pre-New Year's eve dance being most enjoyable.

We have just finished the complete redecoration of our new lodge, which is now the most attractive on campus.

We wish to extend congratulations to "Best Member" David Dean and "Best Pledge" Kennedy Whitely for their fine and exemplary spirit of brotherhood.

Our appreciation is also extended to delegates to the Western Division Conference: Robert Rippy, Tim Ritter, and Jim Jenkins. We understand they contributed much to the discussions.

Another noteworthy achievement: Bill Helms, sophomore honors program student, posted 17 hours of "A."

We will be striving for continued leadership under our newly elected officers for the forthcoming year: president, Larry Ingram; vice-president, Kent Hance; secretary, Larry Lindsey; treasurer, Jim Jenkins; social chairman, Ward Williford; athletic chairman, Mike Kunstadt; and pledge trainer, J. L. Roberts.

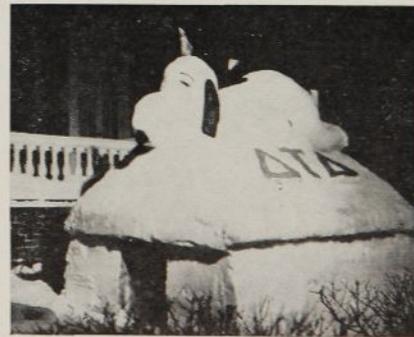

ROBERT E. RIPPY

Tufts—Beta Mu

Beta Mu is moving, as another year comes quickly to a close. The year has been prosperous and rewarding as we look back over our work.

Rush week was a huge success. As usual, the Deltas were tops in every aspect. Art House lectured and showed slides that he took while on the African continent last summer as Tufts University's representative to Operation Crossroads. Chris White, Delt ace with the clarinet, reeled off several tunes which brought the house down. Moreover, no one will ever forget our South Seas Island party. In all, it was a gratifying week, the brotherhood's hard work culminating in the pledging of 30 Tufts men.

In the field of politics, new officers were elected for the year 1963-1964 and are as follows: president, Thomas Smith; vice-president, Tom Gordon; recording secretary, Peter Gibbs; corresponding secretary, Ron Uchaz; guide, Herb Whitney; sergeant at arms, Bob Spath. In recent campus elections, Art House was elected to the presidency of the student council, and Tom Gordon was elected president of the IFC.

Beta Mu's entry in Tufts' snow sculpture contest.

In the field of sports, Beta Mu is a strong contender for the coveted trophy of trophies. The swimming and cross-country teams placed first in their individual meets and are to be congratulated for their fine efforts. Faring well in the other races, Beta Mu is looking forward to the coming softball season, with a keen eye on the first spot. The annual Ivy Carnival is fast approaching, together with the track and field competition, for which prospects look good for a clean sweep. Varsity baseball and varsity lacrosse occupy many of the chapter athletes for long hours, Steve Karp and Fred Pfannestiehl being the glove men, Bob Long, Lance Stewart, Phil Faraci, and All-American Bob Day representing us well on the lacrosse field.

Spring recess this year demonstrated a mass migration to the temperate climes of Florida. Skin-diving, sun-soaking, and beach-lounging were the foremost items on the agenda. Divers Bob Baptiste, Mike Malboeuf, Lance Stewart and Tom Smith tells stories of barracuda and coral, while the story of Diver Art Simms and the salad dressing is already a legend. Ralph Warrington, Bob Spath, Bill Hilley, and Bill Janssen saw action at Daytona Beach and Cape Canaveral.

Extracurricularly, Beta Mu participated in a snow-sculpturing contest the week end of the I.F.C. ball. Headed by Leonardo da Curtis, our team of master sculptors sculpted "Snoopy" on his doghouse, a character from the comic strip "Peanuts." It was an excellent job, and it won first prize in its category.

High point for many was the partial redecoration of our Shelter. With the brotherhood pitching in and providing much of the labor, a great deal was accomplished. Most of the wallpaper was steamed off, the walls fixed in spots, and new wallpaper put on in a very short time. Ceilings were painted, plumbing unclogged, and much of the physical plant was renovated. High light of the redecoration was the acquisition of new furniture and new rugs for the mailroom, library, and the living room. To add the final touches, the recreation room was repaneled. The Shelter is really in tip-top condition, and we owe many thanks to our chapter adviser, Brother Joel W. Reynolds.

So as this year comes to a close, we look back proudly, and we survey our progress. We at Beta Mu wish all our Delt brothers much good luck during the coming year, and eagerly await the next year, and its fortunes to come.

RON COLLINS

Tulane—Beta Xi

With spring firmly established in New Orleans, the men of Beta Xi can look back with pride over a successful year and forward with a little eagerness towards the full social life accompanying the end of the school year.

The first few months of '63 were studded here and there with long and pleasant party hours. Among the novelties were different prizes, unusual decorations, and the new dance craze, the frug. Beta Xi welcomed the warm spring with a kite flying party along the levee banks of the Mississippi, complete with guitars acquired during semester break. Social Chairman Jim Hinds has a few more events planned for the Shelter, including the South Sea Island party and the Bar-B-Que, that promise an enjoyable finish to the semester.

The new president of Beta Xi is Pat Barron, who we hope will do as fine a job as Paul Jardis, our outgoing president. Among other new officers for next year is Tim Hoff, our rush chairman and newest Phi Beta Kappa.

In the field of intramural sports, Athletic Director Dave Herold can boast of the outstanding efforts of Jan Persson and Don Cobb in track and field, Jim Arey and Louis Weisenburgh in softball, and Luke O'Kelly and Dick Smith in basketball. The list of men is by no means complete as this year has seen a burst of real interest and help by all members, with real participation by Bill Liebke in every sport to date. The Tulane chapter of Delta Tau Delta is growing and flexing its strength, not only in sports but other fields as well. Jim Robinson divides his time between architecture, Beta Xi, and the top post in the Navy R.O.T.C. The chapter is well represented on the three service drill teams and by Distinguished Military Student Louis Weisenburgh. Other Deltas are active in student affairs, elections, committee boards, campus radio.

March 10 saw the initiation of 11 new men into Delta Tau Delta. The chapter has already benefitted from the work of these men and their promise of talent and ability is strong. With their assistance we are looking forward to a successful rush week and even better next year.

U.C.L.A.—Delta Iota

The spring semester has been shaping up real well for Delta Iota. Our baseball team of last year has just returned from the University of California play-offs undefeated. The team batting average was over .500.

We came out on top scholastically, too. Thanks to the brilliant scholastic achievements of Frank Eppler and Ron Klein, together with the engineers in the chapter, we were one of the top fraternities on the row academically. If Bill Spencer ever gets around to taking his finals we may even go higher.

We took one of the top spring pledge classes on the row, with ten quality men.

The new pledges are Bill Ferguson, Jim Armstrong, Jim Shelton, Mike Desrockers, Rich Meyer, John Orr, Ron Kocheuar, Phil Ahlfeldt, Mike McCamish, and Fred Ponder. Next fall we're really planning to clean up as far as rushing goes. That "extra little bit of incentive" will be given the brothers by Frank Alosi and Richie Watson, our rush co-chairmen.

As usual, the social life at the Delt house has been great. We started the spring semester off with an initiation formal. We have had three exchanges so far, with two more coming up. The Deltas are doing spring sing with Chi Omega and are doing quite well, with much progress expected.

In the latter part of April we will hold the "Beaver Follies," together with the Fijis and Delta Sigs. Miss Kinda Bare will be the honored guest. Our last big fling of the year is the Pajamarino. Everybody looks forward to this and Valentine Diel, III, won't have to wear shoes and socks. As you can see, our social events show great promise.

STEVE SWANSON

Wabash—Beta Psi

With the approach of summer vacation, we at Beta Psi can glance back at the accomplishments of the past year, which clearly point up the achievement of an overall chapter balance, so vital to the function of any successful fraternity. Chapter distribution in the three major facets of endeavor at Wabash, scholarship, varsity athletics, and campus activities, plus outstanding individual performances in each, provides the basis of evaluation for the nearly-completed school year.

The Little Giant football squad, with four Delt regulars, chose Beta Psi Junior Bill Hepler, at center, as cocaptain for the upcoming '63 season. Coach Bob Brock's basketball team was led by four Delt lettermen: Guard Wally Scott, chosen as the season's most improved player, Guard Lee Nickerson, recipient of the sportsmanship award, and Forwards Bill Dickerson and Bob Mitchell, both of whom were in the starting lineup at various times during the campaign.

Wabash wrestlers turned in a fine season, being beaten only once in dual-meet competition and finishing second in the Little State meet. Three Deltas were outstanding members of the squad: Cocaptain John Doherty had a fine early season record, but was sidelined due to knee injuries; Senior Hans Van Etten placed second at the Little State meet and was later voted most valuable wrestler by his teammates; and, Sophomore Tommy Goldstein also took a second at the Little State. Sophomore Dean Wilson, wrestling 40 pounds above his weight, grabbed a fourth at the Little State meet in the heavyweight class.

This spring hopes are high for Coach Red Kenney's baseball team, which includes Delts Lee Nickerson, a regular at second base for his fourth year, Freshman Dennis Whigham, a good prospect at catcher, and Outfielder Jim Graham.

Heading the list of returning lettermen for Coach Owen Huntsman's powerful track team is Delt Senior Glenn Pride. Glenn owns or shares school records in the high and low hurdles and the 440-yard dash, and this spring was named the outstanding athlete of the Wabash Relays, in which he anchored three winning Little Giant relay efforts. Likely point scorers for the duration of the spring schedule are Delt lettermen Hank Rodgers and Howard Weliver, plus Freshmen Chris Hixon, Pete Casey, and Tom Moorman.

Beta Psi's Dave Ressler, returning letterman in tennis, had the best record on the squad last season. Captain Bill Hepler, Dave Hadley, and Warren Ford are mainstays on the golf team again this spring.

Social activity for the year, which has included a hayride, pajama dance, Christmas dance, Mardi Gras dance, and assorted impromptu parties, will be highlighted by the upcoming Pan-Hel week end. Other chapter events included the highly successful Faculty-Delt tea and the IFC Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Beta Psi was well represented on campus, holding its own in offices as well as distribution. Senior Al Stanford led the senior council as president first semester, and Wally Scott was recently named vice-president in the elections for next year. Warren Ford, Al Stanford, and Lee Nickerson are members of Blue Key, and Nick is also president of the W-Men's Club and vice-president of the Sphinx Club. Rudy Van Loon, vice-president, and Mike Locey are prominent members of the Scarlet Masque, the college theatrical group. Four music minded Delts, Fred Buck, Mark Nilsson, Dave Ressler, and John Strickland, recently staged an all-campus jazz concert and are constantly sought after for various college dances. Five Delts are members of the glee club, which is planning a college-sponsored trip to Europe this summer.

Fourteen men were activated in spring initiation ceremonies, as the chapter itself finished on a par with the all-campus scholastic average for the fall semester. Senior Ned Shorter was among the five Wabash Woodrow Wilson scholars, while a total of 13 of 16 graduating Delt seniors will be attending graduate school next fall.

As the '62-'63 school year draws to a close, plans for a new Shelter, coupled with an intensive rush program, highlighted by the background of the past year's accomplishments, have established a strengthened intrachapter relationship and an optimistic outlook for the succeeding year.

Washington—Gamma Mu

The beginning of what seems the longest and hardest quarter to study in, spring, marked the completion of Gamma Mu's $150,000 addition to the Shelter, a much needed and welcome expansion to the fastest growing house at the University of Washington. Included in the new addition is a larger dining room and a fine new kitchen for Mabel to produce those delicious meals we have had for so many years.

The increased number of rooms has enabled us to make every room a two-man room; certainly an ideal number for us to carry out our study program under the leadership of our scholarship chairman, Scott Taylor. Even with the inconveniences of construction going on, the active chapter earned an impressive 2.80 GPA, a figure which should put us on or near the top of the 35 fraternities at Washington.

The beginning of last quarter saw the election of some fine new officers to carry out the Delt tradition. Dave Williams succeeded Dick Wessman as president. Helping Dave run the show are fellow officers Sheldon Bennett, vice-president; Larry Alexander, treasurer, and his assistant, Bruce Culver; Carl Presley, corresponding secretary; Phil Usher, recording secretary; Gary Pietila, guide; and Gary Walker, sergeant at arms. Together, we shall carry the Delt banner to ever-increasing heights.

The social calendar was filled to the hilt with exchanges and dances throughout the quarter. Our first big dance of the quarter was the active dance, held in the lodge at Snoqualmie Pass, with night skiing for those who could find the snow. Unlike our brothers of the East, the Pacific Northwest has had an unusually light snowfall, much to the despair of the large skiing population. Nevertheless, a good time was had by all within the dry confines of the lodge. The other big dance of the quarter was "Viva Zapata," a binge on a Mexican theme, featuring a hayride from the Shelter to the site of the dance. The rest of the quarter was filled by exchanges, dollar parties, and, of course, lots of good, hard studying. The Delts are looking forward to even more good times this spring and await in anticipation for the spring formal at Glendale Country Club and the annual house party, being held at the ocean.

In the world of sports, Jerry Dokken is turning out for second base for the freshman baseball team, and Brother McCaffree rowed in the senior boat in the annual Class Day race, the starting gun of the rowing season at Washington. Rich Anderson is currently leading the freshman golf team on the road to success. In intramural sports, the Delts of Washington have done pretty well since we won the volleyball championship for the second year in a row during winter quarter. The basketball team finished fourth in the all-University play-offs, while the second team dropped out in the semi-finals.

On the campus scene, Ron Dietz was thwarted in an attempt for student body president by being ruled ineligible by the elections committee because of a duplication of credits. At the time of the ruling, the campaign had just begun to really roll. Had he been allowed to run, we feel Ron would have been the next ASUW president. Others active on campus are Skip Knox, Tom Warren, Scoop Stewart, and Rod Newton.

The brothers of Gamma Mu have a new face around their new Shelter. His name is Yasusuke Oka, better known as Yasu, a foreign exchange student from Kobe, Japan, Seattle's sister city. Yasu plans to be with us for a while, and the Delts of Gamma Mu and Yasu both hope to learn much more about each other's countries.

In all, the Delts of Washington have had a good winter quarter and are looking forward to an even more successful spring.

CARL PRESLEY

Washington State—Epsilon Gamma

Well, as spring is still trying to find its way into the Palouse Hills, the men of Epsilon Gamma are busily preparing for the final touches to another school year. The last two months of the semester seem to be even busier than the previous ones.

The social calendar shows a long list of red-letter days. First on tap is a pajama dance, followed by an all-campus street dance, and a pair of picnics on the banks of the Snake River. Yes, the Epsilon Gamma Delts take full advantage of spring's natural charms. But the person who made it all possible is not forgotten. Mom's weekend is on tap the first week end in May, and the pledges and members have been scurrying around to make the Shelter as spic and span as mom's back home. Our new Miss Sally Sunshine will be presiding over the occasion. She is Miss Yvonne LaCroix of Stevens Hall. Yvonne charmed the hearts of the WSU Delts and she's sure to charm the moms.

Also on the calendar for May is the gala eighth of May festival. Every year on this day the Wahzoo Delts ring in the date that the whole campus has been waiting for. This year the pledges are going to top things off with a barn dance.

But all is not play. For only the second time in the last three years, the men of Epsilon Gamma slipped out of the top three men's living groups, scholastically, on campus. Scholarship Chairman Gary Swenson is cracking the whip and House Manager Huey Drummond is complaining about the late hour use of study lamps. But as always, grades get top priority, and Treasurer Dave Rodgers will have to juggle the budget to make the ends meet, as they always do.

In intramurals, Epsilon Gamma has jumped into the top ten and is hoping to make the top five with the spring sports still to go. Intramural Coach Marv LaPorte, who is throwing the javelin on the Cougar track team, is busily preparing the chapter for softball, track, and tennis.

Speaking of sports, Orly Rajala took a second place in the all-campus wrestling tourney, under the guidance of our varsity grappler, Bob Bell. Two other Delts have just retired from a strenuous season of collegiate competition, George Gleason and Steve Koran. George was a mainstay on the Cougar gymnastics squad, while Steve showed great promise as a frosh gymnast. Gordy Cromwell and Denny Harlan had to drop from collegiate competition when injuries forced them to the sidelines. Gordy, was on the frosh wrestling team, but suffered a cracked wrist, and Denny, a sprinter on the track team, suffered a freak back injury.

Getting back to the scholastic side of things, the WSU Delts are proud to boast another Phi Beta Kappa. He is Bruce Wolf, who is a premed major. Bruce is planning on attending the University of Washington med school upon graduation in June. We also have three new initiates in the national sophomore men's honorary, Intercollegiate Knights. They are Brothers Cromwell, Swenson, and Eric Goranson. Just finishing out a year as Knights are Brothers Roger George, Bill Slaughter, and Joe Olhava.

Other scholastic honors have been meted to Bob Keith and Don Butler. Bob was awarded a $200 scholarship for work in his major of hotel administration, and Don was tapped to Sigma Delta Chi, a journalism honorary. He is majoring in radio-television and is on the news staff of the University operated station, KWSC.

This year has been a busy one, but a fun-filled one too. The pledge dances, Christmas smorgasboard, spring formal, Sally Sunshine contest, and other events have kept the men of Epsilon Gamma in happy balance with the scholarly and working side of the scale. As the year draws to a close, we look forward to our summer rush program under the direction of Bob Sharp, and in the not too distant future, formal rush next fall. So until next fall, may we of Epsilon Gamma wish all Delts everywhere a good summer and a record rush.

DON BUTLER

W. & J.—Gamma

Gamma Chapter has hopes of achieving a higher goal of scholastic accomplishment this semester than it has for some time. Urged on by our monetary incentive award program and the fact that we did not rank above the All Men's average last semester, we are quite sure of accomplishing much more scholastically this semester than we have in the last few.

The Gamma Delts have enjoyed many successful party week ends this past semester and are looking forward to several more. Greek Swingout, Pan-Hellenic dance, and military ball were all made pleasurable by the good work of our social committee, led by Jim Tomsula. Coming up soon will be Greek Sing, an annual interfraternity event at W. and J., followed later this semester by the prom.

We engaged in an Easter egg hunt for the children of Washington, Pennsylvania, on Easter week end and all the brothers who participated thought that hiding the eggs and marshalling the areas was well worth waking up for early on Saturday morning.

On February 2, Gamma initiated five men into the chapter.

Elections were held in February and our new officers are: president, Bud Edwards; vice-president, Bob Dittman; treasurer, Dave Richardson; assistant treasurer, Dan Lane; steward, Al Flora; recording secretary, Bill Proudft; corresponding secretary, Dan Lane; guide, Jack Knuttila; and sergeant at arms, Dick Barton.

Gamma Chapter was honored during the month of February with a visit from Field Secretary Jack McClenny. His help was appreciated by all the brothers and we were very happy to have him here at the Shelter.

Our new rush chairman, Larry Bray, has adopted a program for second-semester rushing which we expect to attract several good pledges for next year.

Our first-semester rush was very successful and we pledged 11 men.

The brothers of Gamma Chapter are looking forward to a good semester and would like to extend a salute at this time to those chapters in the Southern Division.

DAN LANE

W. & L.—Phi

The spring semester at Washington & Lee has started well for Phi Chapter. Foremost in activities is athletics, where there are nine Deltas on the lacrosse team. This Delt contingent is led by John McDaniel, Bruce Jackson, Carroll Klingelhofer, Butch West, and Bill Gossman. All of these men have earned starting positions. In other fields of athletics, the Deltas are also well represented. Brice Gamber and Jim Boardman are on the varsity baseball team, where Brice is an outstanding pitcher. In track, John Pearson and cocaptain Mickey Walker are having good seasons, and Lindsey Short is the Delt representative on the tennis team. In intramural competition, Phi is making its usual good showing. Having consistently placed high in every sport this semester, it appears that we will finish high among all fraternities. The latest accomplishments are the intramural track championship and a currently undefeated softball team, on which Fred Schaeffer is extending his winning record from two years previous. The Deltas are the defending softball champions.

On the more serious side, Phi maintained good scholarship during the last semester, having attained the All Men's Average. Phi was well represented on the Dean's List by Dave Montgomery, John Pearson, Dick Livingston, and Fred Schaeffer.

With spring vacation over, Phi is looking forward to a busy schedule of activities. The main upcoming events are spring dance week end and the yearly spring house party. These parties have become traditions and will be observed in full as usual.

Although social life is at its peak during the spring, efforts are being made now to assure a successful rush next year. Much of the organization and planning for next year has already been started. The full co-operation of every member of the chapter has been received, which should make next year's rush as successful as this year's.

Since this is the last issue of THE RAINBOW, we would all like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Chaney, our housemother, for all the assistance and guidance she has given us during the past year. With her help and the efforts of Brice Gamber and John Michaelsen, our officers, we have had a most successful year. Phi has continued its position as a campus leader, and with the plans now being made, should continue this trend in years to come.

JOHN WOLFE

Wesleyan—Gamma Zeta

Because of the limited amount of space, it is impossible to report the extensive accomplishments of members of this chapter in campus activities; however, the present spring season finds brothers participating in all six of Wesleyan's varsity sports (baseball, golf, lacrosse, rugby, tennis, and track), as well as holding one seat on the five-man college body administration committee and four chairmanships of other committees. In addition, as a result of the diligent work of the complete brotherhood, this chapter is quickly becoming one of the intellectual centers of the campus. The Phi Rho Literary Society, which has recently brought several noted speakers to the Shelter, is to be highly commended for aiding this intellectual thrust.

The brothers of Gamma Zeta, bolstered by an outstanding pledge class, have further united in the quest of the IF athletic cup, last year's edition of which this chapter presently holds. Having picked up valuable points in badminton, handball, ping-pong, and squash recently, the chapter softball team, under the supervision of Pudd Lyon, is now planning to sweep its games and thus complete another year of Delt dominance of intramural sports.

Fine fraternal spirit has been displayed during the past several weeks, as the brotherhood has come to the aid of Brother Skabead, who has experienced a series of unfortunate accidents. These began when he contracted a rare skin disease which caused all of his hair to fall out and his skull to be discolored. Then his VW sedan was gutted by a fire of unknown origin, while it was parked in the house parking lot. And most recently Brother Skabead, in wrestling with Brother Legsby, Wesleyan's 193-lb. champ, had his knee dislocated and, because of complications, at present has it in traction at the infirmary. The pledges have volunteered their services to our plagued brother and now maintain a link of communication between his professors and him.

In compliance with the overwhelming sentiment of the brotherhood, this writer is privileged to devote a portion of this article to one of the most illustrious brothers of the chapter, Harold Brands. During the past winter, Brother Brands not only held the left-wing position on the Wesleyan hockey club, averaging 4.9 goals per game and being elected captain for the '63-'64 season, but also led the Delt basketball team to a 15-3 season in the capacity of player-coach. The spring season has found him as coxswain in the Outing Club's top skull, as well as an outstanding javelin thrower for the track squad. After practicing a good portion of the winter season by throwing his spear indoors, Brother Brands, with the advent of outdoor meets, has set the school javelin record on several occasions. In addition to these athletic accomplishments, our diverse brother is the leader of the "Gamma Zetes," a distinguished singing group, comprised of Brothers Legsby, Block, Furde, and Gottza, which is known throughout New England and is quickly replacing the "Highwaymen" as Wesleyan's most famous folk-singing group. Because of his many talents, Sophomore Brands is assured recognition in next year's Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

As spring comes on the Connecticut Valley, the brothers of Gamma Zeta are found to be warming up for spring house parties, at which time all the stops are traditionally pulled, with a steadily-increasing number of off-week end dates. For instance, last week end saw the annual "Boomerang Party" at which Miss Susan Haines, escorted by Chapter President Paul Brands, was chosen "Miss Boomer of 1963."

In closing, we would like to express our appreciation to our alumni who made possible the complete renovation and redecoration of the Shelter last summer. This was certainly a decided asset in rushing this year.

RICHARD PROUDFIT

Western Reserve—Zeta

At the start of the second semester, Zeta Chapter commenced its activities with the initiation of 15 men whose average was the second highest on campus. We also pledged five men this semester. They are: Les Balascoe, Tom McFarland, Monty Woods, Roger Pitkin, and Walt McNamara.

The Zeta Deltas are readily preparing for the upcoming varsity sports. Bill Loue, Brad Yale, Charles Maresch, Dick Hays, and Bob Greenberg are participating on the Reserve track team while Bob Baker and Vaughn Tittle are starters on the baseball team. John Huston is the No. 1 man on the Reserve golf team and Dave Lehtenin is playing a lot of golf for Reserve. Roger Pitkin is No. 1 on the varsity tennis team.

Under the guidance of Manager Dick Lowe, we are currently leading the race for the all sports trophy. We have won the trophy three of the past four years. We have won the fraternity championships in both A and B basketball leagues, with Captain Mike McMinimen leading the B team to an undefeated season. We also have won the University championships in table tennis, handball, and fencing. Dave Lehtenin won the individual foil championship, defeating Brother Eberhard in the final match. Ron Soroka and Doug Nolfi won the P.A.C. table tennis double championship. In the recent All-Ohio Delt basketball tournament at Delta Omega, we came in second place, losing to the great Ohio State team. Mike Kane was named to the first All-Delt team.

Brother Ron Soroka was named the top accounting student at Western Reserve for leading his class continuously for the past three and a half years.

The Zeta Deltas are very active in the campus activities. George Shoup has been nominated for "Mr. Greek" in our annual Greek Week ceremonies. Also working on Greek Week are Brother Eberhard, who is in charge of the faculty luncheons, and Ed Malinzak, who is the editor of the Greek Week newspaper. Ray Laurent and Ed Malinzak have been appointed to the editorship of next year's freshman directory. Vaugh Tittle has been elected vice-president of the student senate and Bob Gwyther has been elected secretary of the senate. Upon the resignation of Dave Lehtenin as assistant treasurer, Dick Lowe has been elected to the position.

Scholarship has been one of our more celebrated achievements at Zeta Chapter. This past semester saw the Deltas post the top academic score on the Western Reserve campus.

ED MALINZAK

Westminster—Delta Omicron

In retrospect, this past term has been literally crammed with events. One of the most significant happenings was the addition of a new member to the Shelter. That member is Thor, our new mascot. Thor is a solid black Newfoundland, who is not quite five months old. When fully grown, he will be the size of a St. Bernard, only heavier—160 to 180 pounds. Each of us has both affection and respect for this "puppy." He would be better as a good friend if someone of us were to be running across the lawn some dark night. His contribution to the chapter cannot be measured in dog food alone.

This past term has yielded excellent results in the field of athletics. The Deltas placed their finest athletes on the varsity teams. In basketball, for example, three of the five starters were Deltas. The men of Delta Omicron are also the mainstay of the track team. In addition, the Shelter is well represented on varsity baseball, tennis, and wrestling squads.

Intramurals have also fared well. After dropping a heartbreaking opener in volleyball, the Deltas have swept the field of opposition clean; and second, if not first place, is assured. We are especially proud of our IM bowling team. Not a match was lost as it steadily marched forward to conquer all comers and receive the first-place trophy. Basketball has also been a strong sport. The squad of cagers romped over most of the league and finished the season high in the standings.

At Westminster there is also keen competition for scholastic honors among the fraternities. We have bettered our third place of last year and are strong contenders for first. We are confident we will return the scholarship trophy to the Delt Shelter this semester.

The Deltas continue to lead all others on campus in activities. Delta Omicron virtually dominates most campus organizations with elected officials, including the president of the IFC. Delt debaters have lent their strength to the school squad, enabling it to bring home impressive trophies.

We were also active in the community. The city gaol was draped with fresh aluminum paint, making the interior more conducive to happiness among the week end drunks. In another community project, more than $300 was collected by the brothers during the Heart Fund drive. This was done by enthusiastically establishing a road block on the highway and canvassing the business district of Greater Fulton.

Such success in all other fields has failed to do anything but increase our activity in the social scene. Spirits were raised to new heights because of the pledge-active basketball game. A stag function followed to celebrate the annual victory of the actives. The brothers recently took their dates down to the lounge of the Shelter for an extensively decorated "space" party. We have also had a hayride and a tremendously successful Casino party. In addition to our weekly "vic" dances, the semester will be rounded out with the pig roast, the Hawaiian Party and the spring formal.

We are all proud of our achievements this year. We in the Shelter have kindled a new spirit of brotherhood and determination which spells even greater heights for Delta Omicron.

DICK JONES

West Virginia—Gamma Delta

On March 14, 1963, Gamma Delta initiated 14 pledges into the brotherhood of Delta Tau Delta. Past President Ollie Bates acted as the master of ceremonies and the main speaker. Brother Ollie spoke on the strength and opportunities which were offered to all undergraduates through the guidance of an organization like that of Delta Tau Delta. He concluded by paraphrasing the Delta Creed and expressing his gratitude for being a part of the Gamma Delta Shelter during his college career. President George Mangus presented the pledge and active awards. Best pledge was Joe Spessard. The pledge scholarship award went to George Bennett and Marshall Jarrett was awarded best scholarship improvement. Actives receiving awards were, Barry Berisford, scholarship and Terry Opp, best active. Barry had a perfect average of 4.0. When Terry Opp was presented his award, it was the expressed desire of the chapter to be able to thank him for his efforts to revive our long neglected alumni relations.

The brothers of Gamma Delta have met their challenge this year in fulfilling their responsibilities on campus. Being the largest social fraternity on campus creates many occasions when we are called upon to maintain our reputation. It is one thing to have the biggest chapter in membership, but the individual efforts of the brothers must be exercised to maintain the respect and dignity of the Fraternity which we, as a chapter, represent. This spring many of our brothers have been actively fulfilling our campus obligations. Helvetia, sophomore men's honorary, selected Brothers George Bennett, Mike Conley, and Dave Smith. We maintained our supremacy on the campus yearbook staff, The Monticola, with the election of Brothers Dave Treharne as editor in chief, Tony Hylton, business manager, and Sam Coffman as advertising manager. This year also marked the fourth year in a row that one of our brothers was chosen as co-ordinator of the University culture committee. This committee was established in 1960 by Brother Tom Spelsberg and since then has been instrumental in bringing the best in entertainment to our University.

ing, but rewarding first semester as the Crescent Club colony. President Bob Rieder relinquished his gavel to Wayne Thompson. Other chapter officers include: Steve Yoshihara, vice-president; Harley Wilson, treasurer; Jim Worden, recording secretary; and Lester Bush, corresponding secretary. Appointed to important chapter offices were: rush chairman, Ed Cole; social chairman, John Erickson; scholarship chairman, Ken Rich; and pledge trainer, Rob Rieder.

Delta Tau Delta is well represented in campus affairs by the elections and appointments of Brothers Wayne Thompson as May week end manager (a week end to acquaint prospective freshmen with the school), Ken Rich as orientation camp chairman, and Steve Yoshihara as sophomore class vice-president. This last semester, Senior Bill Henderson has been student senator-at-large to the student body.

Gamma Delta is a campus leader on the political scene. This year George Bennett was elected president of the sophomore class. Past freshman president, Perry Johnson, was elected president of the Federation of West Virginia Colleges. This is a statewide organization with a goal to better coordinate the relations of all the West Virginia colleges and universities. Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce honorary, selected Bill Brown. Our chapter genius, Barry Berisford, was chosen for Sphinx, senior men's honorary.

Spring brings with it a start of a new year and new horizons for Deltas throughout the nation. Gamma Delta is busily preparing for summer and fall rush. This is a vital phase of our fraternal obligations and we all must remember our duty to serve our Fraternity. At this time I urge all Deltas, active and alumni, to make this coming year one which we all can be proud of as wearers of the Golden Square of Delta Tau Delta.

When a person nears graduation, they experience a feeling of melancholy. To leave the Shelter is a sad moment and every one of us looks forward to the time when he can return to his home away from home. I, for one, will always be grateful for the opportunities offered to me as a member of Delta Tau Delta. I thank you, brothers.

DAVID F. REED

Willamette—Epsilon Theta

Ending a profitable year here in a wet Willamette Valley, the men of Epsilon Theta look back over an impressive combined installation and initiation. Deltas at Willamette are climaxing a fruitful year with many events and honors.

Newly elected officers for 1963 promise to continue the strong leadership of those who steered us through the trying, but rewarding first semester as the Crescent Club colony. President Bob Rieder relinquished his gavel to Wayne Thompson. Other chapter officers include: Steve Yoshihara, vice-president; Harley Wilson, treasurer; Jim Worden, recording secretary; and Lester Bush, corresponding secretary. Appointed to important chapter offices were: rush chairman, Ed Cole; social chairman, John Erickson; scholarship chairman, Ken Rich; and pledge trainer, Rob Rieder.

Delta Tau Delta is well represented in campus affairs by the elections and appointments of Brothers Wayne Thompson as May week end manager (a week end to acquaint prospective freshmen with the school), Ken Rich as orientation camp chairman, and Steve Yoshihara as sophomore class vice-president. This last semester, Senior Bill Henderson has been student senator-at-large to the student body.

On the diamond this spring in varsity positions are Brothers Steve Yoshihara and Mike McKinley. Pledge Wes Armstrong has distinguished himself as a member of the Willamette track team.

Certain members have a deep interest in forensics. Ed Cole is chairman of the Willamette delegation representing Ghana at the Model United Nations, held at San Jose State College, California, in April. Chuck Olsen has competed extensively in forensics, debate, and has been in many dramatic productions this term.

As a group, the chapter won the campus blood drive trophy for 100 per cent participation in the donor drive, proving that these leaders can work together.

Epsilon Theta is contributing many men to the honorary fraternities on campus. Harley Wilson and Bob Rieder have been elected president and secretary, respectively, of Phi Mu Alpha, a national professional music fraternity, and Brother Bob was initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, an upperclassman leadership fraternity. Randy Kuhn and Bill Blair are members of the Order of Silver Wings, Air Force ROTC drill organization. Bill, by the way, composed the new Delt marching song performed at our installation.

Gracing the Delt Shelter at all social functions and Tuesday night meals are the three Delt princesses: Heather Birnie, Carolyn Low, and Joyce Badger. A spring princess will be elected soon, and from these lovely coeds, our Delt Queen will be selected. Her name will be announced at the spring formal dance on May tenth. The other princesses will serve as her court.

With faith in our strong leadership and a memory of all that this year has given us, Epsilon Theta looks forward to a fine and productive year in the fall.

On May 11, 1911, the first demolition proceedings for the old house were held with appropriate ceremonies, and the summer saw the beginnings of the elaborate new Shelter that was destined to be the home of Mu Delts for the next 51 years. On October 11, 1911, the brothers gathered for their first evening in the new Shelter, and held the first of thousands of bull sessions around the fireplace in the library.

The history of Chapter Mu since those early days records a development of the chapter to a point far beyond the wildest dreams of those early members; hundreds of Mu brothers have developed through the means which only fraternal membership can inspire and foster.

Too much occurs in a 92-year history for an adequate capsule sketch, but this brief account of Chapter Mu discloses the feeling of pride and fellowship that is an important part of the heritage and tradition that comes down to the present, and all future, generations of Mu Chapter Delts.

To the more than 1,000 brothers who have been, and are, Chapter Mu, this history is a continuing one. As the chapter moves forward, only time itself will be able to write its history, in the words which only time itself can uncover. A landmark in that history was established on October 20, 1962. In the next 92 years. . . .
