Diversified activities made 1983 another busy year for Delt undergraduates and alumni. Clockwise from the top: a new computer project (page 4), possible Olympian (page 43), Founders House room dedication (page 6), report on Duke's Sean McCoy and other Delt sportsmen (page 19), return to Brown (page 8), and a gathering at Pittsburgh, one of several alumni chapter meetings in the fall (page 16).

A quarterly magazine devoted to educational materials concerning college and fraternity interests. The official educational journal of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. Subscription rate, $3.00 per year. At Press Time

NEARLY 500 Delts responded to the readership survey included in the fall, 1983, issue of The Rainbow. This represents an approximate one percent return, seemingly small perhaps, but considered valid in areas of overwhelming consensus.

With that guideline, several conclusions can be drawn with little danger of contradiction. For instance, the vast majority of readers do not want the magazine to accept advertising. Furthermore, within the minority who support advertising, many added the qualification, "But only if absolutely necessary."

Alumni news briefs and undergraduate chapter reports outsourced all other material in readership interest. Although anticipated, the success of such departmental news always comes as an ego-smasher to an editor who expends far more time and energy in research, correspondence, interviewing and writing feature articles. But you find consolation in discovering that most readers of leading weekly newsmagazines turn first to departments labeled "People" or "Newsmakers." Come to think of it, that's what The Rainbow editor does too.

(A note to undergraduates: Many alumni said although they like to see chapter reports, they think a great deal of improvement in content and quality of writing is needed.)

Among features, career-oriented articles on successful alumni rank highest, particularly when they tie in memories and/or current associations with the Fraternity. Interesting specific accomplishments of Delts — both alumni and undergraduate — also receive high marks from readers. There was a noticeable feeling, however, that the magazine overemphasizes show business personalities.

Sports reports remain in the top echelon of readership. This is understandable, since Sports Editor Jay Langhammer is considered tops in Greek publications, and often is hired to write for other fraternity publications.

The biggest single surprise was extremely low readership for reviews of books written by Delts. Many said the "Books by Brothers" column should be reduced to a single descriptive paragraph for each book, rather than a review. Consider it done!

Fortunately for the questionnaire's validity, there is a relatively even distribution among initiation years of respondents, ranging from 1921 to 1983. Most respondents went beyond checking categories to write general opinions of the magazine. Those opinions ranged from total endorsement to one that said frankly, "I never read it, and would like to be removed from the mailing list." The most puzzling response was from a 1983 reader who reported that he turns first to the obituaries.

The editor appreciates efforts made by those who returned questionnaires. They are being analyzed honestly and extensively, and they will influence the magazine's editorial direction. Opinions of readers always are welcomed and always valued.

SOMEONE once said that the two biggest days in a man's life are (1) the day he buys his first boat, and (2) the day he sells that same boat. Perhaps a little exaggeration.

Two of the happiest days of my life as the International President of Delta Tau Delta occurred last fall: (1) the day I left on a 24-day trip for the Fraternity and (2) the day I got back home.

The thing that made the first day so happy was the fact it culminated many months of planning for a "working" vacation to New England and an opportunity to visit some Delt chapters along the way. The Delt First Lady (Mary Lou) and I drove nearly 5,500 miles, visited 15 chapters, attended a four-day Arch Chapter and Undergraduate Council meeting in Pittsburgh, attended the installation of our newest chapter at Brown University and the Alumni Room dedication at our Founders House in Bethany, spoke at a 125th Anniversary banquet, and still worked in four days of vacation — two in Williamsburg, one in Washington, D.C., and one in the Boston area. The thing that made our return so joyful was the safe arrival back home, with years of happy memories stored up for the future, plus a new and brighter vision of the future of Delta Tau Delta.

Although Mary Lou and I each wrote "thank you" notes to the chapters, I would like to take this means of expressing our appreciation to the literally hundreds of undergraduates, alumni, and college administrators who met with us and who honored the Fraternity by honoring its president.

The only negative aspect of the trip was that I left Dallas a trim 175 pounder and returned an obese 250. Again, exaggeration. But it makes a point that throughout the Fraternity we have some great cooks; we have a lot of chapters who know how to have great dinners, and chapters who can entertain graciously and sumptuously. Being from Texas, a state that does brag some about its beef, I thought I had seen and tasted some good prime rib, but one of the chapters we visited set a new high standard.

We wish it were possible to visit all 115 of our fine chapters. It was sad to drive along an Interstate and see a sign indicating that a Delt chapter was only 15, 50, or 100 miles off our route. Yet, our itinerary would not permit us to make all the visits we would have liked to include.

We will not detail our trip regarding specific chapters, but we think you might be interested in our general route. From Dallas we drove through the "deep" South, up the East Coast through the Carolinas and Virginia (Williamsburg was everything we expected), thence up through the District of Columbia and Maryland (probably the best "Maryland fried" chicken to be found anyplace can be had at the University of Maryland Delt house). We continued north up the East Coast through New York, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, Montreal, and back down to Toronto, our fine chapter that makes us an international fraternity. Heading south again by way of Niagara Falls, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee, we finally entered Texas, then caught the happy sight of the Dallas skyline.

Someone asked for our reactions and overall impression of what we saw and did. Three things stand out above many other good reflections. First, what a great privilege it is to serve as the President of an organization that has so many fine young people associated with it. We recognize that when someone special visits, we show our best side. Naturally. But discounting that, we still are much enthused and encouraged about the future of our Fraternity, and indeed the future of our country.

Second, we are in a better position to understand the role of fraternities in college life, because of the tremendous variations of operations that our chapters represent. We can have large or small chapters and still retain that main ingredient of fraternity life — true brotherhood.

Third, we can identify better some of the areas of fraternity operations where local chapters and the international Central Office can more effectively work together to further strengthen our position among the very top fraternities of today. ▲

Keeping Pace

TO COLLEGE students of the 1980s, the computer is a familiar, almost indispensable academic tool. Having been involved in "awareness" programs as early as kindergarten, some are computer veterans by the time they reach campus. If not, they soon acquire some degree of expertise.

Recognizing that fact, Delta Tau Delta has launched an ambitious project to assist undergraduate chapters in keeping pace with the computer age.

Working in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, the Fraternity is making it possible for chapters to own microcomputers that are readily useful for both academic study and chapter management.

To set the plan in motion, the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation Board of Directors voted to appropriate a $1,000 grant to each of the first 45 chapters taking part in a joint-purchase arrangement.

Hopefully, house corporations will help chapters finance their portion of the purchase, which is approximately $3,500.

After thorough investigation, a highly qualified committee selected a package including an IBM-PC with 256 K random access memory and two disk drives, a monochrome CRT, dot matrix printer, and telephone modem, along with spreadsheet and word processing software. A multi-unit discount price was achieved through negotiation with the manufacturer.

th the Computer Age

Northern Division President William R. Hirsch, Purdue '76, who is with the Chicago consulting firm Touche Ross & Co., headed the committee, made up primarily of men whose work focuses on computer involvement. With him on the committee, which studied the feasibility and possible uses of chapter microcomputers, were Ronald S. Glassner, Iowa '69, a former Northern Division president and head of a nationwide company, Dealer Service Business Systems, based in Moline, Ill.; John Carpentier, TCU '75, a Moline accountant; Bruce L. Peterson, Wisconsin '75, data systems specialist with the Wisconsin Telephone Co. in Milwaukee and a Northern Division vice-president; and undergraduate John Sutton of Iowa State University. They were joined by Al Sheriff, president of the Educational Foundation; Gale Wilkerson, executive vice-president of the Fraternity; and Keith Steiner, director of chapter services.

A chapter microprocessor has obvious academic uses, including classroom assignments, term papers, résumés, and many others. Possibilities exist on many campuses for tie-ins to central computers, providing access to numerous applications and information data bases.

But Chairman Hirsch also envisions valuable chapter management uses. "A microprocessor enables the chapter to enact accurate bookkeeping changes and generate timely financial reports through the use of an electronic spread sheet," he says. "Other software can be adapted for alumni and rush records, personalized letters and various other mailings to alumni, and for segments of pledge programs that can be made to be self-teaching."

Chapter computer may become link to Central Office

Looking toward the future, Mr. Hirsch considers it feasible to provide a "communication path" to the Central Office in Indianapolis. "Computerization of chapter bookkeeping systems opens the way for electronic interface with the Central Office," he explains. "Assistance in such important things as financial management could then be given immediately."

Availability of suitable software applications was a primary consideration in selecting IBM, Mr. Hirsch said. Foremost are those for an accounting/budgeting package, word processing, mailing list maintenance, and electronic spread-sheet software. Durability and availability of services also were important.

The committee has stressed that chapters taking part in the project be sure to include scheduling, along with training and maintenance. It recommends that each chapter designate one member to be responsible for scheduling, which can be particularly critical during peak periods of exams and résumé preparation.

Training to properly utilize the hardware and software without risk of damage also should be coordinated through one qualified person, the committee suggests.

In summarizing committee studies of the past year, Mr. Hirsch sees the use of microcomputers in chapter houses as "an opportunity for Delta Tau Delta to provide additional benefits to its members and further designate her as a leader among fraternities." ▲

Delts and guests begin to gather at Founders House for reception and dedication ceremony.

FOUNDERS HOUSE ROOM DEDICATED TO ALUMNI

THE FRATERNITY'S Founders House at Bethany, W.Va., entered a new phase of development on Oct. 29, 1983, when Delts, representatives from the College and guests joined in dedication of a special Alumni Room in the 135-year-old building.

The final major event of the Fraternity's 125th Anniversary, the program served to renew the spirit of the founders and recognize outstanding alumni involvement through the years. It was planned in conjunction with a joint meeting of the Arch Chapter and Undergraduate Council, being held that weekend in nearby Pittsburgh. Because it coincided also with Parents Weekend on the campus, mothers and fathers of undergraduate Bethany Delts attended the dedication.

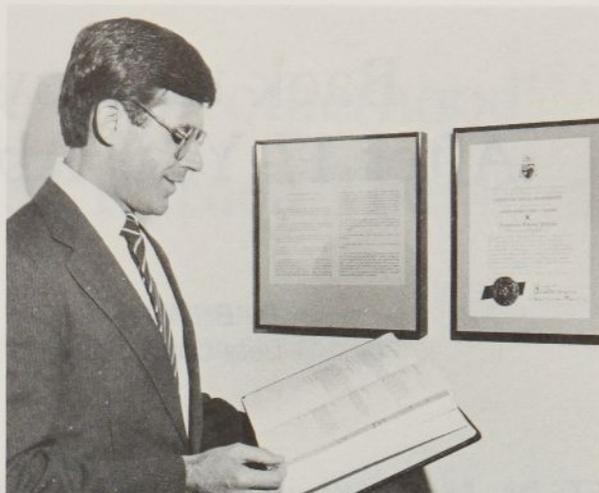

Speakers included Fraternity President Father G. C. McElyea, Bethany College President Todd Bullard, and College Vice-President and Provost Robert A. Sandercox. A reception and the dedication program were followed by a buffet dinner and showing of the Fraternity's anniversary motion picture, "By the Light of the Moon."

The Litany of Dedication was as follows:

"To the memory of the original alumni of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, our eight founders who organized and gave life to an idea and a spirit that has touched over 100,000 young men during the 125 years of the Fraternity's existence; to the over 300 alumni of the Fraternity cited for membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter, whose loyalty, love, and devotion to the high ideals so eloquently expressed in The Delt Creed have been an inspiration to us all; in grateful recognition of the former presidents, visionaries who have provided strong leadership for the Fraternity, their sense of duty and dedication to the education of youth has been the shining light to so many over the years; to Bethany College, for which we hold special affection, whose campus cradled Delta Tau Delta, and which will use this room as a living memorial to alumni of the mother institution; to those alumni who by their individual accomplishments and personal achievements in their chosen professions have been selected as recipients of the Alumni Achievement Award, have brought great honor to the Fraternity by their high sense of duty to their fellowmen; to the Fraternity alumni of present days and of days to come, for whom this room is being preserved as a reminder of days of yore, of achievements past and for whom we hope this Alumni Room will offer inspiration for true Brotherhood and achievements in the days ahead, we now dedicate this Alumni Room."

A panel of photographs showing all international presidents was placed on one wall of the downstairs room. Another area contains criteria for the Distinguished Service Chapter award, an illustrative certificate, and a leather-bound book containing the names of all DSC members. On a third wall are a plaque with names of all Alumni Achievement Award recipients, an illustrative award, and the commemorative paperweight which goes to each honored alumnus. All of the displays will be updated periodically.

Restored through funds contributed in a special alumni and undergraduate chapter drive, the Fraternity's birthplace was dedicated in 1978. Since that time, several Delt groups have made pilgrimages to the house, which has been the site of undergraduate initiation ceremonies and other programs. The largest previous gathering was in conjunction with the 1980 Karnea. ▲

Back to Brown After 17-Year Absence

By BRIAN DALY
Beta Chi Chapter

THE BROTHERS of Beta Chi, with a great sense of pleasure and satisfaction announce the return of Beta Chi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta to the campus of Brown University.

Chapter President Matthew Paknis and 48 brothers were initiated into Delta Tau Delta on October 23, 1983, culminating several years of hard work and stalwart leadership. The initiation ceremony took place in Sayles Hall on the Brown campus and was conducted in fine fashion by the brothers of Beta Nu Chapter from M.I.T. Previously the Rites of Iris were performed impressively by the brothers of Beta Mu from Tufts. Beta Chi extends its gratitude to these dedicated Delts as well as to the many loyal alumni who returned to share this special event.

Our initiation week started with the arrival of Chapter Consultant Jack Emens, who had visited us earlier in the fall. With his help and that of Director of Program Development Ken File, the final installation preparations were completed. Special mention should be made of the dedicated efforts of Chapter Adviser Al Romano, Brown '73 who was initiated with us into Delta Tau Delta. Al also serves as President of our House Corporation and has been instrumental in our return to Delta Tau Delta.

Because a large number of the members of Beta Chi are also members of the Brown football team, our initiation ceremony and banquet were scheduled for Sunday, October 23. We were honored with the presence of International President Father Grover C. McElyea at our initiation ceremony, along with First Vice-President Donald G. Kress and Eastern Division President Steven Paquette. The Charge was delivered by Mr. Paquette, as a fitting capstone to the Initiation ceremony.

As newly initiated Delts we traveled to the Providence Marriott Inn for a social hour and Banquet. Vice-President Kress served as toastmaster for the evening and introduced many alumni in the audience. John Robinson, dean of student life, represented Brown University, officially welcoming Beta Chi's return to the campus. Past President of the Brown Crescent Colony Grant Harshbarger, Brown '83, presented the chapter gavel to current President Matt Paknis, acknowledging the hard work that had preceeded the installation.

Membership certificates were presented by Chapter Adviser Romano and Fraternity Executive Vice-President Gale Wilkerson. Mr. Paquette then called President Paknis to the rostrum for the presentation of two charters. Along with the new Beta Chi Charter signed by all men initiated that day, Matt received the original charter of Beta Chi presented to the chapter in 1896. In his acceptance speech, Brother Paknis expressed appreciation for the hard work of the men of Beta Chi and pledged that the chapter will maintain its prominent place on the Brown campus.

International President McElyea delivered the installation address. He reviewed his three week trip throughout the Fraternity and urged the new initiates to seek chapter excellence through hard work and loyal devotion to God, school and Delta Tau Delta.

Beta Chi's history at Brown University dates back to September 30, 1896 when University President E. Benjamin Andrews welcomed Delta Tau Delta to the campus. At that time Brown had a faculty of 80, a campus of 18 buildings and a student body of 900. Twelve Charter members comprised the initial Beta Chi Chapter.

Brown University dates back to 1764 and enjoys a distinguished academic reputation. Through depressions, wars and political turmoil, Beta Chi endured, graduating substantial and loyal men who matured to become leaders in their chosen professions. The turbulent social unrest of the late 1960's presented Beta Chi with political and social pressures which caused the surrendering of its charter. Before that time Beta Chi had initiated 911 Delts. The reborn Beta Chi will soon swell that distinguished list to over 1000. ▲

HISTORY teaches us that "Ohio" is an Indian word meaning great. The three Greek words, Delta Tau Delta, mean excellence. When combined in Columbus at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, August 8-11, 1984, the State of Ohio and Delta Tau Delta Fraternity will celebrate the 77th Karnea, "the greatest of all Delt experiences."

Tom Calhoun, Ohio State '70, heads the Karnea Committee composed of prominent Columbus alumni who have packed the three-and-one-half days of the Karnea full of exciting activities designed to educate, motivate, and celebrate the Delt experience shared by all members of our international brotherhood.

The Karnea will be at home in Ohio. It should be. There are more than 5,000 Delts in the state and over 700 in Columbus itself. Ohio chapters have given the Fraternity 10 international presidents and many other loyal supporters. Its colleges boast 11 fine Delt chapters, more than any other state, whose origins stretch back over 120 years. Yes, the 77th Karnea will like Ohio.

It is fitting that the honorary chairman of the Columbus Karnea be John W. Galbreath, Ohio '20, who revealed a special treat for Karnea goers. Mr. Galbreath generously invited the Karnea to enjoy an outing at his famous Darby Dan Farm just west of Columbus, where he will play host to undergraduate and alumni Delts. The spacious beauty and charm of Darby Dan Farm will provide a welcome relief from the action-packed schedule planned for those who attend the 77th Karnea.

The Karnea program will be expanded this year to allow additional time for concentration on leadership training, chapter management, and program development. Registration will start Wednesday morning, August 8, with the opening session of the Karnea commencing that afternoon. Keynoting the opening session will be Dean Edward M. King of Bradley University. Dean King, a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity, has been applauded throughout Delta Tau Delta for his compelling insights into the purpose of ritual and his ability to help us understand and appreciate the important role it plays in our lives. That evening, Columbus Delts will offer Karnea goers a "taste of Columbus" with an opening reception.

The second day of Karnea activities will begin with delegates convening to review Fraternity policies and contemplate proposed changes. Noon will find delegates at the Division Luncheons, which will give each Division president an opportunity to discuss and review issues facing his Division. The afternoon will be given over to leadership seminars conducted by a host of professionals in the field of fraternity management.

Friday morning the model initiation will help both young and old Delts rediscover the ideals and values which have charted the course of Delta Tau Delta over the past 125 years.

Following the model initiation, the Leadership Luncheon will set the tone for the remainder of the Karnea. An outstanding speaker is promised to launch Delts forward into an afternoon of fun and relaxation at Darby Dan Farm.

A special feature at this Karnea will be a Foundation-hosted reception on Friday, August 10, for all Delt alumni who support the Foundation as club-level donors.

Saturday morning both Karnea neophytes and Karnea Hounds (five or more Karneas) will get a running start on the day as they attend final leadership seminars. Later that morning and afternoon Karnea delegates from undergraduate and alumni chapters will pass final judgment on the legislation presented by various Karnea committees, elect Delts who will serve on the Arch Chapter for the next two years, and select the site for the Karnea in 1988.

The crown jewel of every Karnea is the Karnea Banquet, which provides an appropriate finale to three and one half days of Deltism. Outstanding alumni will be honored with presentations of the Fraternity's Alumni Achievement Award, and there is always the possibility of another alumnus being cited to membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter, the highest honor that can be bestowed on a Delt for alumni service to the Fraternity.

The keynote speaker of the banquet will be The Honorable Kent R. Hance, Texas Tech '65, a Congressman from the State of Texas, who will charge those in attendance to reaffirm their commitment as Delts, whether they have just been pledged, just been elected to chapter office, or worn the badge for 60 years or more. ▲

Other Fraternities Are Watching Us

ONCE AGAIN Delta Tau Delta is taking the leadership in the Fraternity world — this time in making available to undergraduate chapters computer hardware and software, developing a uniform program for all chapters. Other leading fraternities are watching Delta Tau Delta and preparing to make a similar move.

The lead article in this issue of The Rainbow reports the implementation of this important new step in our continually advancing undergraduate development programs.

Several years ago, Delta Tau Delta perceived the rapid changes that would take place in the use of computers in colleges and universities. It also was anticipated that the cost of fairly sophisticated equipment and programs would drop substantially, making it feasible and desirable for undergraduate chapters to employ this new technology.

What does all this mean to the average student? On many campuses, computer time available to students is very limited. It will give our Deltas 24-hour-a-day inhouse use of equipment. This will not only be useful to the engineering and science students, but the liberal arts students will have word processing capability in preparing various papers.

On many campuses, chapters will have access through the Delt house computer to the library or science center, plugging into a wider range of information and problem solving capabilities. Students in all disciplines will find uses for this equipment.

And as a management tool, the chapter treasurer will benefit by being able to maintain his records on a uniform computerized accounting system, in contrast to the now antiquated book-keeping system that has served the Fraternity well for many, many years.

Fraternity Foundation dollars — dollars contributed so generously by alumni — will continue to fund essential programs of a very personal nature, such as leadership development, the field staff and its eyeball-to-eyeball counseling of undergraduate chapter officers and members, alcohol awareness programs, and a myriad of other such member educational and developmental programs.

But it is particularly exciting to see some of those dollars employed immediately in such an innovative fashion. The computer is part of our daily lives. It will never replace the human and fraternal element of Delta Tau Delta, but it will enhance the Delt experience and impact on the academic development of every young Delt.

Last year alumni contributed $225,000. This year the Foundation goal is $240,000, needed to help underwrite all the educationally related programs to which the Foundation Board is committed. We hope every member of the Fraternity will join in this giant effort of Deltas helping Deltas. ▲

During his stewardship, the newspaper repeatedly won the prestigious Mason Award for outstanding journalism. Associated with the paper for more than 50 years, Ken Walls held many different posts, from delivery boy and printer's devil to advertising salesman and sports editor to publisher. In 1939, when his father (co-owner of the paper) died, he inherited an interest in the publication. Eleven years later he was sole owner. the alumni chapters

PORTLAND

The Portland (Oregon) Alumni Chapter began its current season of meetings in September. It was a real pleasure to hear from a Kansas Delt who lives in Vancouver, Wash., and, having read the last issue of The Rainbow, wanted to know more about our chapter. He now represents the 36th undergraduate chapter on our recently updated mailing list.

New officers elected for the 1983-84 activity year are: Bill Copps, Washington '49, president; H. Bruce Giesy, Oregon '42, first vice-president; Lawrence L. Paulson, Wisconsin-Milwaukee '68, second vice-president; and Paul A. Eckleman, Oregon '43, secretary/treasurer.

Plans for the year include meetings on the first Monday of each month at the Monte Carlo Restaurant, 1016 S.E. Belmont, Portland, Ore. Timely programs by a variety of speakers are always on the agenda.

Our most recent bulletins include business card advertising on the reverse side, which has produced sufficient revenue to offset much of the mailing cost. These ads have become vehicles for our brothers to become more acquainted with some of our business associations. Any Delt in the Portland area interested in receiving our bulletin should contact the secretary/treasurer at 232-8210. We will be glad to add you to our list. We Deltas have a fine alumni chapter in Portland, and we pull together.

We have had several suggestions of rushees, and their names have been passed on to our undergraduate chapters. Also, I have taken the opportunity to send each rushee a copy of our recent "National Fact Sheet" as well as a local bulletin, to give potential Deltas a head start in knowing a little about our Fraternity.

Paul A. Eckleman
Secretary/Treasurer

TOPEKA

A new Delt alumni chapter has been organized with a list of 83 alumni living in the area of Topeka, Kans. All have been contacted by mail, and 23 attended the first meeting held May 10, 1983. The group plans to have at least two meetings per year.

Anderson Chandler, Kansas '48, is president, and Jon Jossierand, Kansas '76, is secretary. The group represents undergraduate chapters throughout the country, so come and join us at the next meeting.

PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh area alumni and guests were joined by undergraduates from seven chapters, the Arch Chapter and the Undergraduate Council for a 125th Anniversary observance at the famed Oakmont Country Club on Oct. 28, 1983. Jack Brand, Penn State '41, was responsible for making local arrangements, including an afternoon golf tournament on the Oakmont course, scene of the 1983 U.S. Open.

International President the Rev. Grover C. McElyea gave the principal address at a banquet that followed a reception. Steve Paquette, president of the Eastern Division and Al Sheriff, president of the Delt Educational Foundation also spoke. Dr. Hoyt D. Gardner, international secretary, introduced the Fraternity's motion picture, "By the Light of the Moon."

Mark Vernallis, Pittsburgh '75, served as toastmaster of the evening, and the Fraternity's international second vice-president, Wayne Sinclair, gave the invocation. Singing of "The Shelter" was led by Tom Sharp, president of the Southern Division. Purple, white and gold floral arrangements were provided by Jim Ludwig, owner of Ludwig Flowers in Pittsburgh.

The Arch Chapter and Undergraduate Council were meeting in joint session at Pittsburgh that weekend.

Undergraduate Deltas in attendance represented chapters at Pittsburgh, Carnegie-Mellon, Indiana (Pa.), Bethany, West Virginia, Case-Western Reserve, and Robert Morris.

ATLANTA

The Atlanta Alumni Chapter has continued meeting the first Tuesday of each month at the Squire Inn on Roswell Road, starting at 6 p.m. The November meeting was highlighted by a program presented by Jack Smith, executive director of the Georgia Horse Foundation. The program concerned horse racing in Georgia and was quite interesting, with facts and figures on the benefits of horse racing to the state, if it is approved.

A December Christmas party was held at the clubhouse of the Cloisters condominium complex.

For the coming months, plans are to have one of the Atlanta Braves as a speaker at our February meeting. Later in the spring we will be trying to arrange for one of the local television personalities to speak to the group.

The annual Lake Lanier rush party will be held for the sixth consecutive year, to assist all area chapters in their rush efforts. We hope each of them will take advantage of this opportunity and make it part of the chapter's summer rush program.

Mike Deal
President

MINNEAPOLIS

The Minnesota Alumni Association held its annual Christmas Party on Dec. 9, 1983, and is looking forward to Founders Day this spring. Alumni will receive further notice soon. If you have not received recent mailings from the chapter, please send your address to the Fraternity's Central Office. A change of address form is on the inside back cover of The Rainbow.

Alumni Chapter President Richard Lind is organizing a Beta Eta alumni dues drive. Seventy Deltas contributed their dues at Beta Eta's Centennial celebration last May, and we have received a few others since then. We are determined to increase participation to approach 100 percent.

We intend to continue expansion of chapter activities, both in quantity and quality. Dues notices will be sent out sometime in February.

TORONTO

Last October, several members of the Toronto Alumni Chapter had the honour of meeting International President "Tex" McElyea at the Shelter, when he paid the undergraduates a visit. On that same evening, Delta Theta House Corporation dedicated the William J. H. Disher Chapter Room, on the main floor of the shelter, in recognition of Brother Disher's lifelong service to Delta Tau Delta.

In December, we celebrated our annual Christmas luncheon at the Engineers' Club in Toronto. A good number of alumni along with representatives of the undergraduate chapter had a very good time, in true Delt fashion.

As most brothers know, Founders Day for 1984 will be held in the fall, hopefully to catch those who in past years have wished to attend but have found themselves down south. The term of office for chapter officers, as well as House Corporation officers, will also be changed to the calendar year from the present fiscal year ending May 31. A spring reunion luncheon is also planned.

Many thanks are extended to those alumni who helped the UpDelt Fund this year reach $8,000. Complete details on renovations at the shelter, those alumni programmes listed above, and others, will appear in the Winter 1984 edition of the Maple Delt.

Guardian of a Novel

ALTHOUGH he was a successful attorney in Atlanta, the late Stephens Mitchell, Georgia '15, became better known as the careful guardian of "Gone With the Wind," written by his sister. He was one of the first persons to read the first draft of Margaret Mitchell's noted book, published in 1936, and he reported that his sister's first effort was "competently done and nothing to be ashamed of."

That turned out to be somewhat of an understatement when the book sold more than seven million copies in 24 languages.

After the tragic death of Margaret Mitchell, who was struck by a car on Peachtree Street in 1949, her brother assumed the task of protecting the novel's copyright. It became almost a full time job. However, he found time to carry on his law practice and be involved in many civic projects.

Mr. Mitchell also taught real estate law at Woodrow Wilson Law School for many years, wrote a book of his own, "Real Property in Georgia," and edited the bulletin of the Atlanta Historical Society for 15 years.

In 1967, Mr. Mitchell suffered a near tragedy reminiscent of that of his sister. A crate containing a huge window pane fell on him as he crossed Broad Street, knocking him under a passing bus. As a result, he lost partial use of both arms.

Mr. Mitchell died May 12, 1983, at the age of 87. He is mentioned frequently in the new biography of his sister, Margaret, entitled "The Road to Tara."

Delt SPORTLIGHT

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The 1983 season proved to be a memorable one in Fraternity annals since Delt quarterbacks started games at eight different schools. There were also key Delt performers on two of the nation's top teams, Nebraska and Texas.

Earning Academic All-American first team honors was junior defensive tackle ROB STUCKEY from the University of Nebraska. He started for the second year and appeared in his second straight Orange Bowl. Handling some of the kicking duties for the Cornhuskers was soph DAN WINGARD. Wingback ROGER LINDSTROM also saw action.

One of the leading performers on another high-ranked team was second-team All-American punter JOHN TELTSCHIK of the University of Texas. The soph barefooted booter was the Southwest Conference's top punter and ranked sixth in NCAA Division I-A. Against Texas Tech, he averaged 52.3 on three punts and had a 50.5 mark on six kicks in the North Texas State game. His longest punt, a 67-yarder, came against Arkansas while averaging 49.6 for eight punts. John was a unanimous All-Southwest Conference choice and played in the Cotton Bowl. Soph linebacker MARK PETKOVICH and soph defensive back BRENT JOHNSON also played in the Cotton Bowl and were regulars on the Longhorn specialty teams.

Co-captain JIM HART of Texas Tech University had the best passing performance in the Southwest Conference during 1983, completing 24 of 38 for 380 yards against Houston, a new school record. He threw for three touchdowns and ran for one in that contest. He finished fifth in SWC total offense with 1,424 yards and was the team's second-leading scorer. Jim also became one of Tech's career leaders in a number of categories: second in completions (244) and attempts (498); third in passing yards (2,600); and fourth in total offense (3,174).

Stanford University's MIKE TOLLIVER was the Pacific-10's leading receiver for 1983 and ranked 22nd in NCAA Division I-A. His best game was 9 catches for 147 yards versus Rose Bowl-bound Illinois. He also had 9 receptions against San Jose State and 8 catches in the Arizona game. Mike's 124 career catches is fifth-best in Stanford history while his career yardage total of 1,825 is fourth-best. He was chosen for the East-West and Blue-Gray games. Senior tight end JIM CLYMER was Stanford's number three receiver despite missing five games with injuries. He had 8 catches for 110 yards against California.

Stanford offensive tackle JEFF DEATON played in the North-South game and should go high in the pro draft. Despite missing the last part of the season with injuries, senior fullback ROB MOORE was named to the Academic All-American second team and also gained Pac-10 Academic all-conference honors for the third year. Soph linebacker DAVE WYMAN was a second team All-Pac-10 selection and led the squad with 144 tackles. Junior defensive tackle MIKE WYMAN was in on 37 tackles while soph linebacker

MIKE NOBLE had 45 stops. Junior defensive tackle DAVE MAROHNIC posted 16 tackles. Other Stanford starters were offensive linemen STEVE AIMONETTI and JOHN BARNS.

Brown University co-captain JOE POTTER was one of the Ivy League's most exciting players and set a number of school records. He ranked tenth in NCAA Division I-AA total offense, averaging 203.2 yards per game. In only two seasons at quarterback, Joe set Brown career records for total offense (4,156 yards); pass completions (232); completion percentage (50.1); and yardage per play (8.48). He finished second in career passing yardage (2,955) and seventh in career rushing (1,201) yards. He earned All-Ivy League honorable mention and an NCAA Scholar-Athlete honorable mention plaque.

Three other Brown University Delt players earned All-Ivy League first team honors. Co-captain and middle guard JOHN DANIEL averaged over 80 tackles for three years and had his best season in 1983, leading the team in tackles (84), quarterback sacks (6) and tackles behind the line (11). John also was named to the ECAC All-Division I-AA team. Defensive tackle GARY CLOUTIER, another three-year regular, had his best season and totaled 40 tackles, including 8 behind the line of scrimmage. Junior offensive tackle MATT PAKNIS had a fine year after missing all of 1982 with a back injury.

Other outstanding Delt players on the Brown squad were junior wide receiver BRAD McCAULLEY, the team's top receiver; soph running back JAMIE POTKUL, the second-leading rusher and receiver who had 117 and 93 rushing yards versus Cornell and Penn State, respectively; senior linebackers BRIAN O'NEILL and DENNIS SLOTT, second and third in tackles with 61 and 54, respectively; soph defensive tackle TED MOSKALA who had 37 stops; soph linebacker PAT McCORMACK (35 tackles); senior defensive backs TERRY SCHOENBORN and BOB CHIARA-DIO; soph receiver DAVE FIELDING; and soph punter PAUL BOGDANOVICH.

Rob Stuckey, Nebraska

Junior quarterback STEVE HOFFMAN of Wabash College was one of NCAA Division III's passing and total offense leaders during most of 1983. He ranked ninth in total offense with 213.2 yards per game and his top performance came against Denison in the season opener when he set a school record of 399 total offense yards. Soph CARL HAMPTON was a mainstay of the defensive line, ranking fifth in tackles with 62, while soph JAY OLSON was an offensive tackle starter. Soph defensive end MIKE WORTHINGTON started the first seven games before injuries cut his season short. Junior defensive end KENN KNARR posted 21 tackles.

Soph quarterback TODD ROLLINS moved into the starting lineup in the second game of the season for Miami University and never relinquished the post. He set a new single season completions mark for the school and was also an effective runner. Washington State University soph passer MARK RYPIEN started two games before an injury put him out for the year. His best performance was 15 of 27 for 209 yards against Arizona. Junior quarterback JEFF SEAY started several contests for the Oregon State University team coached by JOE AVEZZANO, Florida State '66. Against Colorado, Jeff had his best game, completing 14 of 23 for 185 yards and 2 TDs.

Junior offensive guard SCOTT ZALENSKI started for the Ohio State University Buckeyes once again and was a key figure in the potent OSU ground game. He played in the Fiesta Bowl, his third straight bowl appearance. Soph defensive back TODD SMITH saw action in every game for the University of Oklahoma and was a valuable performer.

The University of Idaho had a successful 7-3 season and soph linebacker TOM HENNESSEY led the squad in total defensive points, despite missing the last game due to an injury. He was in on 68 tackles and tied for the team interception lead with 3. Tom gained All-Big Sky Conference honorable mention. Another defensive standout was junior tackle KEVIN FLOWERS of Texas A&I University. He posted 48 tackles, recovered 2 fumbles and was third on the squad with 8 sacks.

Soph CHIP JORDAN took over the quarterback reins for DePauw University midway through the season and helped the Tigers complete a fine 7-3 season. Junior STEVE SHADOAN handled the placement and kickoff duties all season and was second in scoring. Junior linebacker SCOTT WILSON started the first three games before injuries knocked him out of action. Soph PETE ESHLEMAN was a valuable backup running back.

Soph defensive back WAYNE JOHNSON-EPPS was a key part of the Willamette University defense and earned second team All-Northwest Conference and NAIA District II honors. He was in on 57 tackles, recovered 2 fumbles and broke up 4 passes. Freshman MITCH LEE did the punting for Willamette. Soph quarterback CHUCK RHODES did a good job for Baker University and was named to the Heart of America all-conference second team. Soph defensive tackle STEVE McBEE was in on 50 tackles for Baker.

Lawrence University had three Delt starters this past season. Senior GARY ZLEVOR was a regular at center for the second year. Junior KEVIN ZLEVOR started at offensive guard once again and won the team's Jeff Soderberg Memorial Award for his contributions. Soph defensive end JEFF GEPPERT had 21 tackles during the year. Junior defensive end GLEN JOHNSON and soph defensive back DAN MACKE also played well.

PRO FOOTBALL

For JIM PLUNKETT, Stanford '71, it was another roller coaster NFL season which turned out to be one of his best. The Los Angeles Raiders 13-year veteran was replaced at mid-season following several poor games. But an injury to his replacement put Jim back into the spotlight and he ended the season at a peak level, leading the club through the playoffs to the SuperBowl title. His regular season totals were the best of his career and he ranked fifth in AFC passing, based on 230 completions in 399 attempts for 2,935 yards and 20 TDs, all career highs.

On the other end of the spectrum, the much-publicized debut of quarterback JOHN ELWAY, Stanford '83, was a disappointing one, despite the fact that Denver made the playoffs. Near the end of the season, however, John put together several fine games that showed why he was the NFL's number one draft choice. He finished the season with 123 completions in 259 attempts for 1,663 yards and 7 touchdowns.

Three other Delts saw NFL action in 1983. Tackle MATT HERKENHOFF, Minnesota '74, was the top defensive lineman for the Kansas City Chiefs. Offensive tackle GORDON KING, Stanford '78, had a decent year before breaking his left arm in the season's 14th game. DOUG ROGERS, Stanford '82, was a reserve defensive end for the New England Patriots.

ERNIE ZWHALEN, Oregon State '57, is back in pro ball as offensive line coach of the USFL's expansion Memphis Showboats. He had been in private business the last several years after previous pro stints with the Baltimore Colts, Houston Oilers, San Francisco 49ers, Calgary Stampeders and Birmingham Americans. The USFL is the fifth pro league in which Ernie has coached (AFL, NFL, WFL, CFL, USFL).

SOCCER

Duke University senior SEAN McCOY finished his career as the school's all-time leading scorer (115 points) and second-leading goal scorer (44). In 1983, he was second on the 18-2-2 team with 30 points, was named MVP in the Duke Invitational and played in his fourth straight NCAA tournament. Sean was the third player picked in the Major Indoor Soccer League draft. Senior BOB JENKINS was Duke's number four scorer in 1983 with 17 points. He also ranked high among Duke's career leaders with 29 goals and 81 points. Junior CHARLIE GUEVARA started in the midfield for the third year, contributing 11 points, while soph defender HARDY KNOWLES also started much of the year.

Soph striker DAN BROWDIE had a great season for Lawrence University, scoring 21 goals and 3 assists in leading the Vikings to a 6-3 record. He was Lawrence's MVP and an All-Midwest Conference first team selection. Dan was elected co-captain for next season along with junior midfielder ERIC WESTENBERG, a 1983 co-captain, who earned All-MWC honorable mention.

Junior MARCELO PEREZ was a valuable midfielder for Stevens Tech and has gained fame as the school's first three-sport athlete in more than a decade. In the winter, he switches to squash then joins the tennis team in the spring.

TIM MEEHAN, a three-year starter, and MATT REIMANN were good players for Willamette University. PAUL BLOSE captained the Robert Morris College team and was aided by senior ROGER SPENCE. Junior goalie ERIC BUTRICK started several games for DePauw's 12-8 squad. TIM PADGETT was a regular again and won his fourth letter for Wabash College. Soph goalie CHRIS KOCH had a good year for Albion College. Junior SEARS CARPENTER, soph CULLY STIMSON and soph JOEY RUBIN were good players for Kenyon College.

BASKETBALL

Three Delts opened the National Basketball Association season on active rosters. Guard MIKE BRATZ, Stanford '77, signed with the Golden State Warriors in late summer and has seen quite a bit of action in his seventh NBA season. Forward RICK ROBEY, Kentucky '78, opened the season with the Phoenix Suns but played in only 12 games before going on the injured list in early December. He was re-activated by the Suns in late December. Second-year forward ED NEALY, Kansas State '82, is with the Kansas City Kings once again.

BASEBALL

JOE SAFETY, West Virginia '74, is the new media relations director for the New York Yankees. He previously spent several seasons as public relations director of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

ERIC HARDGRAVE, Stanford '83, was honored as one of six finalists for the Golden Spike Award as the nation's best amateur baseball player for 1983. He was the NCAA's co-leader in home runs with 24 last spring and is currently in the San Diego Padres farm system.

HONORS AND AWARDS

WILSON GAW, Washington '30, was one of six former athletes inducted into the University of Washington Husky Hall of Fame in October. An outstanding baseball player, he was the team's leading hitter for three seasons, never hitting below .400 while leading his team to two Northwest Conference titles. Following graduation, Wilson played one season with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League before a 41-year career with Washington Natural Gas.

ADMINISTRATORS

Appalachian State University recently gave the school's athletic director JIM GARNER, TCU '65, a four-year contract extension because of the fine job he has done at the school. He joined the school in the fall of 1982 after several seasons as assistant athletic director at Texas Tech.

MIKE MOORE, Ohio '78, is in his first year as assistant athletic director at the University of Evansville. He's in charge of budgets for all 17 varsity sports and serves as ticket manager, promotions director and game management director. Mike joined the Evansville staff after two and a half years as assistant director of the Davidson College Wildcat Club.

ROD WILLIAMSON, Iowa State '72, is now the director of marketing and promotions for Vanderbilt University. He had previously served his alma mater as assistant sports information director and, most recently, assistant director of the Cyclone Club. ▲

Delta Eta

By Max C. Pope, Jr. and Daniel
Richard Moore

THE PAST fall was outstanding for the Delta Eta Chapter. We started by pledging 20 fine young men. These men take pride in being Delt pledges and we are proud of them.

The chapter has had many distinguished guests. International President Father McElyea, stopped by the shelter, as did our Division President Tom Sharp. The brothers were excited about meeting these men and enjoyed their visits.

The Delts once again proved their athletic prowess by going to the playoffs in football, volleyball, and soccer. In the soccer playoffs, the Delts clinched the championship.

George Harris added his name to an already long list of Delt SGA senators, with his appointment to the Senate this semester.

We would like to thank alumni Reginald Hamner, Clyde Yarbrough, and Don Moyer for arranging many successful rush parties this past summer. Also, we would like to thank William E. Thompson for the Delta Eta memorabilia he so generously donated to the shelter. The Chapter also appreciates the frequent visits of Chapter Adviser John A. Owens, Assistant Adviser Tom Chambers, and Division Vice-President Thomas Ray.

In the spring, President Phillip Robinson will be passing his duties as president to Brian Keeler. Other officers are Max Pope, Jr., vice-president; Rich Phillips, treasurer; Frank Kohn, corr. sec.; and Jason McBride, rec. sec.

ALBION

Epsilon

By Mark B. Grover

ALL SEMESTER has indeed been successful for the brothers of Epsilon Chapter. We started the semester by welcoming 27 fine men as brothers, through initiation. A few weeks later we welcomed back all Albion Delts at Homecoming. We look forward to seeing them at Distinguished Alumni Day later this year.

Once again the brothers excelled as campus leaders. We were well represented on IFC by President Brian Bailey and Secretary Mike Huber. On Student Senate we were represented by Keith James as vice-chairman and by Chuck Hagan and Steve Fox as senators. Also, Epsilon Delts comprised the largest Greek contingent on the Residential Life staff, with seven resident assistants. In community activities the brothers were involved with Albion Ambulance Service and the Big Brother program. In athletics Chris Koch and Andy Farah played on the soccer team. On the golf squad John Berg and Scott Nelson earned varsity letters. Nelson was also all-conference.

For the twelfth consecutive semester we have maintained the highest fraternity grade point average on campus. We were also represented on every campus honorary.

As a chapter, the brothers entertained Albion College's new president, Dr. Melvin Vulgamore. An enjoyable evening was had by all. Our new cabinet includes: President Tim Prister, V.P. Kevin Redman, and Treasurer Tom Hodgkiss. For the first time, we took two men as pledges through fall rush. We look upon this with great enthusiasm as we continue to move forward in campus fraternity leadership.

ALLEGHENY

Alpha

By Brent Sharp

THE BROTHERS of Alpha Chapter had a very productive and exciting fall term. Starting off the term, the brothers celebrated Homecoming with the alumni of the Class of '73. There was a party, along with the building of a float, for the big Homecoming game. The celebration was a big success with a good percentage of brothers and alumni participating in the activities.

In a newly formed position at Alpha, Gary McBride was elected public relations adviser. This position was developed to provide the chapter with a more prominent name on the Allegheny campus and in the Meadville community. Gary has appointed a committee to help him carry out his public relations tasks.

On November 5, we held our annual fall party, "Prohibition," which required that all the brothers dress as gangsters. The brothers' dates were required to dress in the fashion of the 1920's.

The main activity throughout the term was rush. Our rush chairman, Vince Auth, developed a new rush program, which proved to be successful. This is evident in that we have 29 excellent candidates ready to pledge Delt and we are expecting even more interest on the part of other freshmen.

All in all, it was a successful fall term for the brothers of Alpha.

ARIZONA

Epsilon Epsilon

By Richard Korzuch

THINGS have been happening rapidly this semester at Epsilon Epsilon Chapter. In August we rushed an impressive pledge class of 45. We also initiated 11 new members in August and now have a total of 75 active members.

The Chapter took the award for "Best Fraternity Relations" at the recent Greek Week awards dinner for the University of Arizona. Also, our float with Pi Beta Phi sorority came in second overall in the annual Homecoming competition.

Epsilon Epsilon had a Halloween Party with the Boys Club of Tucson in October, for the third straight year. And this semester's pledge class recently spent a day helping underprivileged children at Casa de los Ninos as its philanthropy project.

AUBURN

Epsilon Alpha

By Larry Cochran

RETURNING from an exciting summer, the brothers of Epsilon Alpha were overjoyed with expectations of seeing the shelter rejuvenated with a collection of new furniture and carpeting for the social areas, which made our cleaning work easier. Not only did we freshen up the living quarters, but we also added a beautiful sun deck to the house, allowing brothers to have an outside lounging area.

Epsilon Alpha also accepted Brother Earl Morgan, West Virginia, as our new chapter adviser. We would like to thank Brother Morgan for the help he has given us so far. Also, Southern Division Vice President Thomas Ray joined us in our Homecoming celebration, allowing many brothers to meet him personally. On the same day, we were awarded first place in the Homecoming float competition. We also placed in the "Burn the Bulldogs" spirit competition this fall.

Recently, we elected new officers. They are: Bob Doyle, president; Mark Gamble, vice-president; Ben Adams, treasurer; Rick Carlton, 1st vice-president; Tim Schell, 2nd vice-president; Craig Montgomery, recording secretary; Larry Cochran, corresponding secretary; David Pifel, sergeant-at-arms; and Brad Eubanks, chaplain.

We would like to congratulate recent graduates who have found successful positions in their fields: Gaylon Melton and Tim Coughlin, architecture; Tom Dickerson, marketing and sales; and Tom Foley, management.

BALL STATE

Epsilon Mu

By Mike Siman

THE BROTHERS of Epsilon Mu returned to Ball State in the fall of '83 for the busiest time of the year. All summer Dave Schmidt and his committees worked many long hours in preparation for the Delts' annual "Watermelon Bust Festival" held on Saturday, September 17. Along with Alpha Chi Omega sorority, the Delts used a $17,000 budget, and raised over $3,500. The proceeds went to Cystic Fibrosis and Mothers Against Drunk Drivers.

Rush was soon to begin. The entire Epsilon Mu chapter convinced 52 men that Delta Tau Delta was the best.

Throughout the fall, the brothers got involved with many things on campus. The Delts donated the most blood of any organization on campus for the annual I.F.C./PanHel blood drive operated by Brother Tim Wissman. Also, for the fall quarter, Epsilon Mu received the highest grade point average among fraternities. Brother Joseph Boone, a senior from Indianapolis, was featured in the fall Rainbow for scholastic achievement. Several brothers were also selected to represent Ball State in Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities.

BETHANY

Theta

By Glenn R. Hintze

THE "founding chapter" was once again busy and productive this past fall. We began by initiating 12 holdover pledges from last spring. The following week we held our annual wine and cheese party for Bethany faculty and freshman students at the Founders House.

In October, we were honored to have the Arch Chapter visit Bethany to dedicate a room at the Founders House, now complete with plaques and pictures of all 36 Delta Tau Delta international presidents. A reception was held following the ceremony for members of the Arch Chapter, administration and faculty of Bethany College, Theta brothers and their parents, as it was also Parents Weekend on campus. A buffet dinner in the college cafeteria and the presentation of the 125th anniversary film closed out the evening.

Fund raising, under Chairman Bob Wiedholz, has been tremendous this year. Our most successful project was the preparing and selling of "rescue kits", containing many types of food, during mid-terms week.

Early in November, we held our 13th annual "Heaven-n-Hell", which once again proved to be the best party of the year on campus. Many alumni returned for this great event. Several members of the Bethany faculty and administration, including President Todd Bullard and his wife, stopped by to look at the decorations.

Elections for new officers held in December found John Potemri as our new presi-

Delt Journalism Awards

FOR THE third consecutive year, The Delt Roundup of Ball State University's Epsilon Mu Chapter has captured first place in the Fraternity's newsletter competition. The 1982-83 entries showed a marked overall improvement over previous years, making competition close in most categories of judging.

Gamma Eta Chapter of George Washington University was runner-up, followed by Delta Omicron Chapter of Westminster College. Others considered by judges to be worthy of special mention were newsletters of Nu Chapter at Lafayette; Kappa Chapter, Hillsdale; Beta Eta Chapter, Minnesota; Beta Omicron Chapter, Cornell; and Delta Xi Chapter, North Dakota.

Principal judge, Gordon Jones, Nebraska '41, retired president of Alter Barge Line of Davenport, Iowa, and a former editor of The Rainbow, said Ball State's winning entry reflected much time and effort at creating a quality publication.

"Epsilon Mu Chapter obviously has good things to talk about, and the material is slanted toward the alumni, as it should be," Mr. Jones reported. "It reflects good research and innovation. Particularly noteworthy are biographical sketches of charter members." Poor spelling and typographic errors, common among many newsletters, did not, however, escape the winner, almost spoiling an otherwise outstanding effort, Mr. Jones said.

Runner-up Gamma Eta also had articles calculated to appeal to alumni, the real purpose of newsletters. Content was rated higher than writing, which sometimes seemed to lack direction. However, it obviously was a noteworthy accomplishment to finish second. Delta Omicron also produced an excellent publication, but had only one 1982-83 issue, compared to three by the winner.

Mr. Jones, who spent many hours scrutinizing publications and grading them on content, writing, appearance, photography and number of issues, praised some chapters for creating alumni interest with historical features.

He considered the "best unintentional humor" to be one newsletter's report that an alumnus had died in his sleep, "and in perfect health."

Best Rainbow Article

WINNER of 1982-83 competition for the best undergraduate article appearing in The Rainbow is Christopher Hawthorne, a senior at George Washington University. His article, "Our Big Brother," a personality study of professional basketball player Rick Robey (Kentucky '78), appeared in the fall, 1982, issue.

Hawthorne

A native of Marblehead, Mass., Mr. Hawthorne interviewed Mr. Robey, who then was with the Boston Celtics, during a vacation break. The 6'11" former Kentucky All-American later was traded to the Phoenix Suns. Mr. Hawthorne, a former president of Gamma Eta Chapter, is a member of the George Washington varsity crew. He has served on the University's Interfraternity Forum and Delta Tau Delta's Undergraduate Council.

Recognition for his winning article includes a $100 award.

dent, Eric Jerpe as vice-president, Jeff Marsteller re-elected treasurer, Shawn Boynton assistant treasurer, Jim Potemri guide, Wayne Lee corresponding secretary, Dave Tucker recording secretary, and Dave Sninsky sergeant-at-arms.

BOWLING GREEN

Delta Tau

By James M. Vedda

DURING the past semester the brothers of Delta Tau Chapter have been quite active. Celebrating our 35th anniversary, participating in numerous community service projects, as well as establishing our annual philanthropy are just a few of the things Delta Tau Chapter has done.

Delta Tau Chapters 35th Homecoming was a special event not only for the brothers, but all the alumni who returned to the shelter to share old memories, as well as create a few new ones.

Fall semester of 1983 also saw the establishment of Delta Tau Chapter's annual philanthropy. Guided by Brother Thomas Scott Hitchcock's creativeness and determination, a football tournament was organized, with all proceeds donated to a local boys club. The tournament proved to be a huge success.

The brothers also donated a Saturday morning to the city of Bowling Green, by serving as traffic controllers in the city's annual ten-kilometer run. Under the direction of Community Service Chairman Hubert Shafer, numerous brothers have also donated their time and skills to the local C.Y.O. basketball league as coaches and referees.

The brothers also enjoyed a very educational and prosperous pledge trip to Ohio State. Our pledges got a real glimpse into the meaning of "international brotherhood" through the warm hospitality we experienced from our neighboring brothers. We would like to extend an open invitation to any brother from Beta Phi to experience the warmth and friendliness of our chapter.

The Brothers of Delta Tau Chapter have made a firm commitment to reach out and help those less fortunate than ourselves. Here at Bowling Green State University, being a Delt means more than just being a college student.

BROWN Beta Chi

By Matt Paknis

BETA CHI has come back to Delta Tau Delta and Brown University. Along with receiving residential housing and becoming reaffiliated, the brothers have gained many individual and group honors, along with sponsoring numerous worthwhile events that have added to the quality of life at Beta Chi.

To start with some honors, our pledge class fielded one of the quickest "scut relay" teams in recent years. The team consisted of Dave Fielding, Steve Kettelberger, Jay Koeper, Chris Possessky, Jamie Potkul, and Greg Roth, while Paul Bogdanovich and Pat Turchick ran as alternates. This group recaptured the annual championship which is held in late October. Each fraternity at Brown enters six sophomore pledges to run a relay race around our main quadrangle. The prize this year was 55 cases of refreshments and two round-trip tickets to Florida. In addition to the relay championship, our intramural football squad, anchored by Ron Butkevich, Greg Hammarlund, Bob Harrington, Kevin Knoll and "Bear" Shober, gained the school championship with a 10-0 record.

We have had seminars on racism, sexism, alcoholism, study skills and birth control. These talks have improved our awareness and social responsibilities related to the topics.

We ended the semester on a very high note by co-sponsoring the university-wide Holiday Party, attended by about 2,000 faculty, students and guests. Greg Hammarlund did a tremendous job organizing the event.

BUTLER Beta Zeta

By Jeff Hutson

BETA ZETA chapter got off to another strong start this year after sweeping first place awards in virtually all campus events last year.

In addition to placing first in grades on campus and winning the Spring Sing competition, the Beta Zeta Delts managed to raise over $3,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association through the annual, Trik-La-Tron event.

Trik-La-Tron founder and former chapter president, Phillip R. Duke, '59, was given the outstanding BZ alumnus of the year award at a dinner in his honor Dec. 7. Mr. Duke, of P. R. Duke and Associates, is on the Butler University Board of Trustees and was recently put in charge of the Butler annual fund drive.

The chapter took a strong pledge class, which should enable us to maintain our position of leadership on the Butler campus.

A Homecoming cookout attracted more than 80 BZ alumni and their families to the house after the Butler football game. The cookout gave the alumni a chance to swap stories with the undergrads and time to visit with old friends and brothers.

New chapter officers were elected Nov. 30 to replace the previous administration under President Jim O'Donnell. Those elected to offices were Doug Marcheschi, president; Jim McMechan, 1st vice-president; Dennis Dye, 2nd vice-president; Mike Plake, treasurer; Mark McCarty, assistant treasurer; Jeff Hutson, corresponding secretary; Jeff Bickel, recording secretary; Mark Meredith, guide; and Steve Butz, sergeant-at-arms.

The new administration expects to continue work started with the previous administration in compiling the chapter history. This work is being done with the help of former International President Fred Kershner, Beta Zeta 37.

CALIFORNIA Beta Omega

By Kurt H. Wetzlar

BETA OMEGA chapter had a good term despite Cal's shift from quarters to semesters. We initiated four new members and have a new five-man pledge class that will be initiated next term.

The chapter held a retreat in Murphy's at the beginning of November. Chapter Consultant Craig Scholl participated and contributed greatly. His presence was appreciated. The retreat was both productive and enjoyable. The chapter established several concrete goals for next year. New officers and chairmen are already making plans toward these goals so that next year may be Beta Omega's best since the rechartering.

The new officers are Alex Arato, president; Scott Black, vice-president; and Craig McCarley, treasurer.

Alumnus Greg Palamountain and the House Corporation are continuing in their much appreciated quest to procure an improved and enlarged shelter.

UCLA Delta Iota

By Jim Wedaa

FALL was a big quarter at UCLA. Besides the numerous parties, exchanges, and other social activities, our house had, the highlight of our quarter was the Homecoming parade.

In honor of the 1984 Olympics, the parade theme was "Go For The Gold." Our house felt this was an opportune time to mix fun and community service. We decided that instead of spending up to $2,000 for an elaborate float like we have always done, to build a less expensive one and donate the money we saved to the Olympic Committee. We also decided that the least expensive float we could build and still be fun and original would be a "plain wrap float." With Ralph's Supermarket as a sponsor, we built an all-white float with large blue stripes down the sides, and "FLOAT" printed above them. On the rear of the float was our own theme, "Go for the gold, we donated our gold to the Olympic Committee." We didn't win a prize like last year, but we did have a lot of fun.

AS USUAL, fall was a time of regrouping so that the house can become as unified and strong as it should be. Our president, Greg Morris, pulled the house together, and with the help of Rush Chairman Dave Sitner and his assistant, Mikel Lehrman, rush was successful. We pledged 17 men. Our pledge program is teaching them the ways of Deltas, and with luck all will be initiated.

Upon initiation, our house will be the largest it has ever been, over 51 active brothers. This renewed vitality is reflected in our alumni, who are showing greater interest in the house. Our Homecoming festivities were well attended by our alumni, whom we graciously thank for their support.

In the midst of all this activity our house G.P.A. is on the rise. Our scholarship chairman, Laurand Lewandowski, has been making sure that grades continue to increase. Soon, a computer system will be implemented in the house, through the help of the Fraternity's Educational Foundation.

CASE WESTERN RESERVE

Zeta

By Brian J. Bayer

IT HAS BEEN a great semester at Zeta Chapter. With the well-guided leadership of our officers, Jeff Wobser (president), Rich McKinley (V.P.), Walt Culver (treas.) and Brian Bayer (sec.); the Zeta Deltas have prospered on and off the CWRU campus.

Our intramural chairman, Joe Apuzzo, led the brothers to a successful season. Delt teams reached the playoffs in both football and volleyball, and we captured second place in track and field.

We are very proud of Brother James Haun, who is a new Northern Division representative on the Undergraduate Council. Jim is also our social service chairman and, as such, was the host of our Thanksgiving dinner at the shelter, attended by many of the children from the Metzenbaum Orphanage here in Cleveland. Another Good Delt award goes to Chuck Mustain and his hard work at organizing our open campus party. All this work and pride has been rewarded and propagated by a very successful rush. With the induction of 12 pledges this fall, we believe the quality of these young men will greatly enhance our chapter.

Finally, the brothers of Zeta Chapter would like to thank our alumni for all their support in making this semester's Alumni Appreciation Day a success. We would like to thank the Arch Chapter for the wonderful banquet it hosted in Pittsburgh for the Gamma Xi Chapter, University of Cincinnati, is gathering data to be included in an historical text for its upcoming 75th anniversary in October 1984. Cincinnati alumni are asked to support this important event in the chapter's history by submitting factual data, stories, or happenings from the past 25 years to: Patrick Gibbons, Delta Tau Delta Diamond Anniversary, 3330 Jefferson Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio 45220.

CINCINNATI

Gamma Xi

By Stefan Hasinski

ALL QUARTER was indeed busy for the Brothers of Gamma Xi. We started the quarter with a successful "dry" rush and welcomed two affiliates, Br. Bryan May from Gamma Upsilon and Br. Dan McKinney from Beta Phi. In intramurals, we showed our determination and spirit. We took first in wrestling and Br. LaFleur took first in diving. We also took third in football and swimming.

On campus, the brothers have continued to show our pride and enthusiasm. Br. Hollingsworth was selected to Homecoming Court. Br. Willingham was elected to Metro, a local honorary. Brs. Gibbons and Harmodity were chosen for Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Br. Posey was elected president of Cincinnatus, a local honorary, to Omicron Delta Kappa, and president of IFC, succeeding Br. Koob to that position.

Br. Sang co-ordinated our fall community service project with Alpha Chi Omega sorority. We took a group of 100 kindergartens and first graders to the zoo. The brothers, the Alpha Chis, and, most importantly, the children all had excellent times. The highlight of the quarter was a visit by International President McElyea, who visited early in November and left us all inspired.

The chapter would like to thank Br. Mark Duffey, our retiring chapter adviser, for his years of service, help, and devotion.

CORNELL

Beta Omicron

By Glenn Antizzo

BETA OMICRON started the fall semester by initiating 11 new men into the brotherhood.

In September, Beta Omicron, under the leadership of Rush Chairman Scott Sumner, began its first "early rush" program. By mid-October, Beta Omicron had in its pledge program five worthy men: Don Haack, Jeff Katz, Steve Getman, Paul Peterson, and Thomas Staggs. They are currently undergoing an intensive pledging program, and they will be initiated shortly after the beginning of the spring semester in January.

For the first time, Beta Omicron won its division in intramural soccer, finishing with a 4-1 record. Upsetting more sports-oriented fraternities, Beta Omicron showed a freshness which had not been seen here in recent memory. Pledge Jeff Katz and Brother Don Thorpe-Staffin led the Delt offense, which consistently outscored its opponents by a 2-1 margin. Again, House President Duncan Perry put in a sterling performance as goaltender, without which Beta Omicron couldn't have gotten into the intramural playoffs.

Cornell Homecoming provided a chance for our alums to return to the shelter and meet the actives. The alums came from all over the country in our best Homecoming turnout yet. The actives were able to hold on to tie the alumni in what was, by far the most exciting of the active-alumni football games yet (alumni lead the series 2-0-1).

Finally, it is with great sadness that Beta Omicron must announce the death of Mal Freeborn '29. Mal was a good friend to this chapter and a loyal Delt. He won the chapters Outstanding Service Award in 1981.

DELAWARE

Delta Upsilon

By Scott J. Parker

DELTA UPSILON CHAPTER is continuing its tradition of growth and achievement. We are proud to be leading the pack in number of pledges initiated this semester. Fourteen new brothers were initiated on Dec. 8. With a majority of these new brothers moving into the shelter, a wide range of possibilities will be opened for next semester.

The older brothers have not been idle either. Dan Crabbe was elected captain of the sailing team. Two brothers, Bill Lundstrom and Frank Nichols, are playing on the ice hockey team. Chris Ivans, Joe Campbell, and Bob Laffer are active with the boxing team, with Chris being its treasurer. Dave McPherrin and Rick Barbour wrestle on the university team. Gary Yates, one of our most visibly active brothers, was chosen to serve as a representative on the Delta Tau Delta Undergraduate Council. All in all, this is a very good showing by individual brothers in a variety of clubs, teams, and activities.

On Dec. 4, chapter elections took place. Congratulations are in order for the new officers: Kevin Monaco, president; Scott Parker, vice-president; Gary Yates, corresponding secretary; Chris Ivans, treasurer; and Joe Campbell, recording secretary. We all wish these new officers the best of luck in continuing the fine work of the previous officers.

DEPAUW

Beta Beta

By Eric Eickmeyer

THE PREPARATION put into 1983 fall rush kept Beta Beta busy, but the effort resulted in the highest campus percentage of returns for all three rounds of rush and netted 24 outstanding pledges. Congratulations go to Rush Co-chairmen Scott Benson and Dave Meguschar.

In early September, Beta Beta teamed with Delta Delta Delta on a project in Indianapolis. Both groups worked very hard cleaning, painting and making much needed repairs to an inner-city day care center.

The fall philanthropy event was another successful 24-hour Wiffleball Marathon, which raised $800 for the Putnam County Easter Seal Society.

Several members had notable campus achievements. Sophomore Chip Jordan quarterbacked the DePauw Tigers to a 7-3 record, extending the longest "home" winning streak in Indiana to 23. Junior Steve Shadoan was also instrumental in the Tiger victory over Wabash, which returned the Monon Bell to DePauw in the oldest football rivalry west of the Alleghenies. Steve had a 44-yard field goal and PAT while Chip passed for 198 yards in the 16-10 victory. Sophomore Mike Schmidt was recently elected vice-president of IFC.

The Delt freshmen are impressive on the athletic fields. They are in first place in freshmen IM's by a large margin. The actives are moving up in their IM standings and hope to finish in the top three.

Old Gold weekend honored the class of '65 and resulted in a memorable reunion at the shelter. The response was so positive that other reunions are planned for the future.

Senior Tim Frost has rejuvenated our alumni relations program with two new projects. An 18-page alumni magazine was published and sent to all alumni and actives. In addition, a Delt Scholarship Fund has been established and an award will be given to the person with the highest semester G.P.A. in each class. Between $30,000 and $35,000 in additional funds are needed to make this project work and we are asking alumni to help in any way they can.

In November, Beta Beta hosted a chapter retreat for Zeta Rho of Eastern Illinois University. The weekend was filled with camaraderie and the spirit of Delt brotherhood. The coming year holds promise for the continued success of the Delts at DePauw.

EASTERN ILLINOIS

Zeta Rho

By Tim McIntyre

THE FALL of 1983 proved to be an outstanding one for the Delts at Eastern Illinois. With the acquisition of a new shelter during the summer, the Zeta Rho Delts went hard to work preparing it for the upcoming fall rush, a crucial one, due to the loss of 18 members to spring graduation. With the help of some fathers and alumni, the house started to take shape during our first summer work weekend. The payoff for all this hard work was soon coming. Under the leadership of Rush Chairman Jeff Becker and the helpful advice from Chapter Consultant Steve Hockett, we nearly doubled our size by taking 21 pledges. Soon after rush it was time to get ready for Homecoming and ready we were! Led by Chairman Tim McIntyre the Delts took three first places, including the Spirit Award; and the over-all championship.

Parents Weekend also proved to be a great success, under the direction of John Swallow. Alumnus Kevin Rettke is spearheading a Parents' Club to further benefit Zeta Rho.

Campus-wide, the Delts at EIU are well represented. Of 11 Greek Week co-chairmen three are Delts. President Dave Schreiner was recently inducted into National Order of Omega and also serves as co-chairman of President's Council.

We'd like to thank the Delts at both DePauw University and Wabash College for their hospitality during our pledge class walk-out. As we have just celebrated our second anniversary, we would like to wish the colony at Bradley University the best of luck!

EAST TEXAS STATE

Epsilon Eta

By Ned Harper

THE DELTS of Epsilon Eta started off the fall semester with a great rush. We pledged 24 promising young men, who have helped the Delts to become even stronger on campus and in the community. The pledge class has just completed some major landscaping projects around the house.

In scholarship, we've kept up our high standards by having the highest grade point average of all fraternities on campus during the spring semester.

In intramurals, we were in the volleyball playoffs for the second year. In sorority activities, we placed second in the Gamma Phi Beta All Stars and second place in the Kappa Delta Sing Song.

FLORIDA

Delta Zeta

By Michael Goldrick

THIS HAS BEEN a great year for Delta Zeta. Construction of the new wing, which took place over the summer, was completed just in time for fall rush. With the impressive new structure and the hard work of the brotherhood, we pledged 31 outstanding men.

Scholastically, we learned of our fifth-place finish in fraternity competition, earning us another Top Five Scholarship flag. In athletics, we are well on our way to winning our third President's Cup in a row, which will give us the right to retire the trophy at the house. Currently we are in first place, almost 100 points ahead of our closest competitor. In service, our second annual "Night Spirits" was a huge success. It made over $1,000 for the Arthritis Foundation.

Recently, we held elections and the following brothers were chosen to lead Delta Zeta: Daryl Johnston, president; John Rives, vice-president; Keith Alexander, treasurer; Rob Stern and Jay Clark, assistant treasurers; Mike Bishop, recording secretary; Mike Goldrick, corresponding secretary; Chris Hughes, parliamentarian; Kevin Henderson, guide; and Marty Yungman, sergeant-at-arms.

FLORIDA STATE

Delta Phi

By Charles Dabney

FALL at Delta Phi began with a very successful quality rush, in which 25 men were pledged.

Homecoming festivities saw the return of many brothers to a reception and barbeque. The opportunity arose to help Brother Reubin Askew in his bid for the U.S. Presidential nomination. Delts volunteered their time and energy toward Governor Askew's fundraising effort.

Parents Weekend at Delta Phi was met with applause. Under the direction of

Some of our members and pledges recently took a trip to the Chicago area and stayed with Beta Pi Chapter at Northwestern University. A good time was had by all. We would like to thank them again for their hospitality.

Some recent improvements to our Shelter include the implementation of energy saving ideas such as photoelectric light switches, ceiling insulation over the living area, and timer switches on the bathroom fans.

Among our alumni activities was the celebration of the 20th Anniversary of the founding of our chapter. Thirty-three alumni were in attendance for this event.

GEORGE WASHINGTON Gamma Eta

By Eric Minkoff

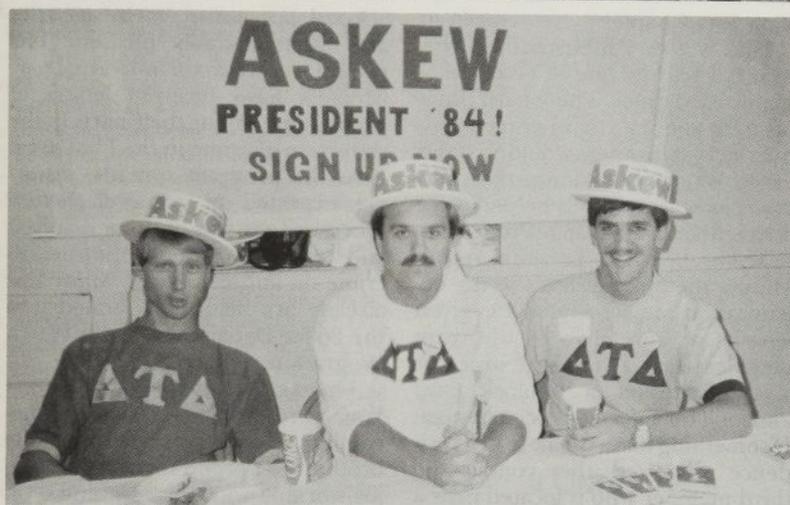

GAMMA ETA has once again proven itself as the leader on the GW campus. As usual, the swim team was filled with Delts, including captains Adam Spector and Eric Minkoff. The Delt-powered crew team topped Georgetown in the annual Frostbite Regatta. In the fall, we were honored with a visit from International Second Vice-President Wayne Sinclair, who presented semester scholarship awards and updated members on Fraternity activities for the future.

On October 17, the chapter hosted President and Mrs. G. C. McElyea. On this day, the McElyeas, University President Lloyd Elliott, brothers, and distinguished alumni gathered for dedication of the newly-remodeled Chapter Room and Library. Many thanks to the House Corporation for making it all possible.

This semester, we initiated six new pledges. We look forward to their addition and contributions to the chapter. Thanks to Rush Chairman Dave Kramer for his efforts. With the best turnout in recent times, the 1983 Founder's Day managed to link past Gamma Eta memories with the present, as alumni dug out old scrapbooks and joined together in Delt singing. The chapter enjoyed learning about the traditions of the past, and we look forward to visits from more alumni.

This spring, our president, Andrew Manderson, will be graduating and moving on, as will House Manager Amer Hamze. The brothers extend their gratitude and best wishes to them and the rest of the graduating members of the chapter. We would also like to thank academic adviser, Kerry Harding, for all his efforts in our behalf. Good luck and thanks for everything.

The Gamma Eta shelter is located at 2020 G St. in northwest Washington, just three blocks from the White House. Our doors are always open to Delts, both undergraduate and alumni. If any brother will be working in D.C. this summer and needs housing, please contact our house manager and we will do our best to accommodate you.

Florida State Delts, top, display trophy from first-place finish in the campus Silver Bullet Turtle Race. In the lower photo, Brothers Steve Haire, Paul Vrooman, and Brian Coury help fund raising drive for support of Reuben Askew, Florida State '51 (see chapter report).

Brother Paul Isgar the parents were treated to a Bourbon Street party, a slide show, an explanation of fraternity business, and a dinner and football game. Parents and alumni alike have been expressed confidence in the men who guide this chapter.

On campus, this young Delt chapter is quickly moving into the forefront. Delta Phi has improved its academic standing among campus fraternities, being awarded the first place scholarship award by IFC. Also, through many areas of campus involvement, brothers have maintained a diversity that strengthens the solidarity of this chapter. Delts now hold more student government offices than do members of any of the other fraternities. Among these are our newly elected chapter president and student senator, Chris Richardson, and Senior Class President Larry Singletary.

Once again, the Delts sponsored Thanksgiving dinner for the needy. We also were in-olved with Phi Mu Sorority in a Christmas drive to collect toys for the underprivileged.

Delts at Florida State, under the instruction of Brother Bret Whissel, brought home the first-place trophy for Campus Sing.

GMI Epsilon Iota

By Brian W. Johnson

THE DELTS did it. We set a goal to get 15 pledges. We ended up getting 17 B-Section pledges, effectively doubling the B-Section house size. This gave us 27 pledges total for both sections. We are proud of our accomplishment and of each one of our fine pledges. We are looking forward to getting a lot done as a result of this increase in house size.

Our Crime Watch Program is working very well. Area crime is being reduced very effectively.

GEORGIA Beta Delta

By John Field Pankow

BETA DELTA Chapter finished rush by pledging 34 men. We also welcomed two new brothers back to school. Over the summer, Michael Robertson of Atlanta and Michael Maxwell of Athens were initiated. After initiation, our brotherhood will number over 100 men. This makes us one of the top three largest fraternities on campus.

At the end of the quarter, Brothers Artie Torrance, Gary Wallace, and Lee Webb graduated. Brother Mike Cheney left for a quarter, to accept an internship with Price-Waterhouse in Atlanta.

Mike Potts, a Beta Delta senior and our IFC vice-president, was inducted into The Order of Greek Horsemen. His brother, Craig Potts, a sophomore, was initiated into Biftad, a prestigious campus honorary, as well as serving as president of Georgia's Student Union. Chad Couch, a junior, was selected to be a member of the Student Judiciary, and Greg Coward and Eddie Maughon were chosen to be in the Defender/Advocate Society.

Lee Wright, Jack Gay, Stanley Morgan, and John Helmken were selected for membership in the Golden Key Honorary. Sam Dyke was initiated into Alpha Kappa Psi Business Fraternity, as well as being selected for membership in the Order of Omega. Don Walters was appointed to the Student Affairs Advisory Council.

Beta Delta Chapter hosted the Rev. and Mrs. Grover C. McElyea on their trip through this area. At a reception held in their honor at the shelter, President McElyea gave a very interesting talk. Our brothers were all honored to meet him and his lovely wife.

Immediate plans for the future call for revival of our Winter Formal, in conjunction with our annual philanthropy, Mekong Delta Week.

GEORGIA TECH Gamma Psi

By Kent Holding

GAMMA PSI began the 1983-84 scholastic year with significant achievements and continues striving toward greater accomplishments. In our effort to promote scholarship, not only within the chapter but on the campus as well, Gamma Psi presented its annual scholarship award to the finest freshman scholar. Each candidate was judged on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and community involvement.

The chapter was extremely successful in its efforts to aid the community. We worked diligently to support Georgia Educational Television as well as Leukemia research. We raised $10,000 to benefit PBS. We were also responsible for raising over $2,700 for Leukemia through various activities such as first place in the annual pizza-eating contest, highest overall attendance at all Leukemia

Helping Reduce Crime

By BRIAN W. JOHNSON

HAVE YOU ever heard of GMI-EMI? Well, it stands for GMI Engineering & Management Institute in Flint, Mich., the home of Epsilon Iota Chapter.

Flint is a very industrialized city, so it has felt the bite of recent economic hard times. These hard times brought about a rise in crime rates, but the Delt brothers wouldn't stand for it. Working in conjunction with other local citizens, we helped form a Neighborhood Watch Program.

Teams of three persons, representing the eyes and ears of the organization are scheduled for given lengths of time. Two of the team members drive around the streets of a neighborhood (a 40-block area) and look for suspicious occurrences. If something like a break-in of a residence is spotted, they contact the third member who is located near a phone and is supplied with emergency phone numbers so that quick action can be taken. The proper city authorities handle matters from that point.

How well is the program working? The answer is "fantastic." Prior to formation of the program, the number of monthly break-ins for the area ranged from 25 to 30. For the three months following implementation of the program, the numbers were 10, 12 and 5.

Local law enforcement agencies are understandably pleased. The program and certain individual participants have received letters of commendation for their parts in the reduction of crime in the Flint area.

As the program spreads, results are expected to get even better. More citizens will become involved and therefore more responsive to crime on and off patrol. Many tips already are being telephoned into the Police Department from Watch Program members.

Thanks to the Neighborhood Watch Program, the Flint area is becoming a safer place to live. The brothers of Epsilon Iota Chapter enjoy working with the community to gain this common goal.

Involvement in such a program gives one a good feeling inside, as well as a strengthened bond between himself and those with whom he participates. We invite other chapters to join or initiate such programs in their areas.

GEORGIA SOUTHERN Epsilon Omega

By David G. Gowen

EPSILON OMEGA enjoyed a very productive fall quarter. Our chapter almost doubled its size, as we had a good rush. The new pledges quickly got involved in Delt life and promise to contribute to our goals of excellence in all phases of campus activities. In addition, we continue to be proud of newly elected President Don Ahearn, and his four year soccer career at G.S.C. Also, we are particularly proud of brother Alex Alley, who represented our chapter in serving on the Undergraduate Council. One other encourdrive functions, and a concerted effort canvassing the streets of Atlanta.

Homecoming this year was enjoyable as well as successful. We welcomed over 150 alumni and guests to the shelter for our various Homecoming activities. Our annual alumni banquet was highlighted by alumni from as far away as Oregon and as far back as 1932. As we did 50 years ago in the first Ramblin' Wreck Parade, Gamma Psi brought home the first-place trophy. Overall, our Homecoming efforts placed us seventh among 32 fraternities.

Currently, we are undergoing a fundraising project to purchase a computer system for our chapter. To date, we have raised over $1,000 toward our goal of $3,500.

aging note is the fact Brothers Richard Rapapa, Ron Martin, Alex Alley and myself are involved in student government.

Specific events of the quarter were highlighted by an active social calendar and G.S.C.'s second season of football. The enthusiasm generated by the football program has provided our chapter with new chances for contact with our alumni. Among other events, our Homecoming "Mash Party" attracted an extremely large turnout of alumni.

Overall, the quarter was a fun, but growing experience. We are looking forward to continued success with our present set of officers.

HILLSDALE

Kappa

By Chris Murray

THE FALL semester has been prosperous for Kappa Chapter. With the help of local alumni Alan Dimmers, Albert Dimmers, Bob Beckwith, George O'Meara, James Kline, and Dan Watkins, Kappa Chapter purchased the lot adjacent to the shelter, which has been a long-term goal.

Fall rush concluded in September, with the pick-up of six pledges. Philanthropically, Kappa Chapter has donated funds to both the college and the community through such events as the annual Delt Run and the biannual car wash.

On-campus activity is high among brothers. Gordon Farquhar is president of IFC. Todd Ostergard was selected for the prestigious internship program in Washington, D.C. Several other brothers are involved with the college newspaper, the Collegian, while others put their efforts into the Leadership Workshop program.

Recently elected officers are as follows: President James Pagel, 1st V.P. Robert Brockman, 2nd V.P. Robert Jose, Treasurer Erick Anderson, Recording Secretary Jeffery Dickinson, Corresponding Secretary Chris Murray.

IDAHO

Delta Mu

By Steve A. Lejardi

THE BROTHERS of Delta Mu once again have started a new year filled with excitement and closer unity. Keeping with tradition, the brothers successfully acquired 24 excellent men to fill the shelter. As the new year got under way, the brothers held two successful outings. The seniors took the pledge class on an outing to Dworshak Dam and on the following weekend a house retreat was held, as we rafted the adventurous Salmon River.

Throughout the semester the brothers have been quite active in everything from winning the Homecoming float competition to participating in civic coaching activities. The chapter has enjoyed this semester both scholastically and athletically. Several of the brothers have earned prestigious scholarships, while Brother Tom Hennessey ended a brilliant season for the varsity football team. The chapter awaits the new year for continued success and achievement.

ILLINOIS Beta Upsilon

By Wm. Scott Cunningham

DELTA at the University of Illinois made great progress this fall in many areas. We got off to a great start with Homecoming. A special thanks to all of the Beta Upsilon alumni who were able to visit the shelter, party, and share memories.

We had an outstanding rush, pledging 16 promising men. Martin Gahbauer did a fantastic job as rush chairman. He helped to coordinate a rush slide show, and will now be applying his skills as president.

In athletics, we went to the semifinals in all-fraternity football, against a tough group of teams. Our strong swimmers came through again in the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash swim meet, earning first place for the second year in a row. Outgoing President Greg Kazarian has been very active in the IFC academic program, and was recently elected president of the Order of Omega honorary. Other brothers have been active in IFC, Craig Rowley as rush chairman, pledge Mike Yaculo as rush director, and Martin Gahbauer as chairman of the "Illini on the Air" program.

Morale around the Shelter has been quite high. Congratulations to Jay Marr, who will be graduating this semester after 5½ years of hard work. We are looking forward to another great semester this spring.

ILLINOIS TECH Gamma Beta

By Duxtant T. Daniels

GAMMA BETA led off the year in strong form by pledging 17 men, one of the largest pledge classes on campus. Our pledges quickly were recognized by the rest of the campus by winning second place in the annual Octoberfest held by our student union. We're proud also to mention that pledge Todd Betlejewski became PIFC (Pledge Interfraternity Council) president, while Brother Brian O'Donnell became the IFC president. We are looking forward to seeing all 17 men become brothers.

Delt domination in interfraternity sports was accomplished by placing first in football, basketball, and racquetball, and taking second in volleyball, softball, handball, and swimming. The chapter was very pleased to again receive the All-Activities Award, presented annually to the fraternity on campus with the most involvement in sports, scholarship, and leadership in student organizations. We are proud to have received this award 12 times in the past 13 years. We would like to congratulate Brothers Ned Tamburini and Nick Pausback in their leadership of our second place performances in I.I.T.'s Interfraternity Song Fest and Pageant.

We would like to again thank Iota Chapter at Michigan State University for their hospitality when our chapter visited them during our annual walkout. Other highlights this fall included our biannual Parents' Night, a wine and cheese party with Kappa Phi Delta sorority, and our Pledge Ball, a fall formal where the pledges work together as a unit to host their own dance for the chapter.

Finally, congratulations are in order to the newly elected officers: Chris McGinley, president; Randall Hall, vice-president; Rory Villejo, treasurer; Steve Genser, corresponding secretary; and Doug White, recording secretary.

INDIANA Beta Alpha

By Michael Buck and Tim Portolese

BETA ALPHA Chapter has been very involved with various campus wide activities. With the help of John Shannon, rush chairman, we pledged 17 men who have aided us in both athletics and music. Our second annual Bike Omnium, with Chi Omega sorority, for the American Cancer Society raised over $300. Homecoming was very successful for us this year. Along with over 100 alumni and an I.U. victory over Michigan State, we took honors with a first-place trophy in lawn division and a second place in window display.

In intramural wrestling, we would like to congratulate brother Chris Jones for winning the 142-pound class. We have been joined by Alpha Omicron Pi for the upcoming I.U. Sing.

Many improvements have taken place at the Beta Alpha Shelter. We have refurbished our TV room and trophy room. We are now in the process of remodeling our dining and recreation rooms. With the help of our parents, alumni and house corporation, we hope to continue with these improvements to our shelter.

Officers elected for the upcoming semester are: President John Shannon, Internal Vice-President Steve Ginn, External Vice-President Jim Bandy, Treasurer David Arganbright, Recording Secretary Neil Cohen, Corresponding Secretary Joe Muldoon, Social Coordinators Tim Portolese and Mike Buck, and Pledge Educator Paul VanDieendonck.

Gamma Eta undergraduates and alumni gather for the library dedication ceremony.

A Special Dedication

By KERRY HARDING

TWENTY-FIVE years ago, the men of Gamma Eta at George Washington University planned a rush party with a "coal-mining" theme. The walls were covered with tar paper to resemble mine shafts and candles lit the halls of the aged brownstone mansion on G Street. Somehow, a fire started and, with the flammable decorations, spread out of control very quickly. Chapter members struggled to escape but unfortunately, two were trapped on the top floor and died in the fire.

Suffering this tragic loss, the chapter struggled to rebuild under the strong leadership of Bernie Degan, '58. A new shelter was planned and constructed with built-in escape routes, and flame proof walls and ceilings. While the bricks and mortar of the old shelter were replaced, the contributions of Brothers Frank "Lanny"

Ormsby and Robert W. Ussery, could not.

As a lasting tribute to the memory of these two brothers, on October 14, 1983, almost 25 years to the day after their deaths, the remodeled chapter library was dedicated to them. In attendance were International President Father Grover C. McElyea, University President Lloyd Elliot and Southern Division Vice-President John Fraser, as well as numbers of alumni who had known Lanny and Bob. As President McElyea cut the ribbon across the entrance and hung the commemorative plaque on the wall, a cheer went up. The memory of these two brothers was now permanently enshrined in a room which would bear their name, and one in which brotherhood, the one element strengthened by the fire, would continue to flourish.

The pledges went to Bethany for their pledge trip, they visited Founders House and got a real understanding of the beginning of Delta Tau Delta.

Homecoming, always a big event around Indiana, brought many alumni together. It was great to see the enthusiasm in the faces of our brothers as they traded stories of past and present.

Zeta Pi owes a great deal of thanks to Gary Fulton and Glenn Cannon. Both founders of our local fraternity, Chi Alpha Sigma, they were inspirational in helping us get our finances organized and guiding us in our bid for most improved chapter. Gary and Glenn were both initiated at the beginning of the semester. Also, thanks should go to Tim McGinnis who was helpful in getting our house painted. Tim was also initiated at the semester's start.

The chapter, with the help of the Indiana Jaycees and The Womens Auxiliary Club raised over $10,000. We gave $1,000 to Pittsburgh Children's Hospital.

IOWA Omicron

By Scott Dewhurst

THE OMICRON Deltas are once again proud of the gains made over the past semester, headed by our scholarship. A fifth-place ranking on campus is an accomplishment in itself, but an increase of .15 and only .05 out of first place means even more.

Rush was another successful area for us. The fall pledge class of 19 went right to work and showed the spirit of Delta Tau Delta. They served as crowd control for the university during Homecoming, and raised enough money to remodel the study and bathrooms, plus install light fixture/ceiling fans in the living room. We're extremely proud of these men and looking forward to their activation.

Intramurals remained a strong tradition. The softball team again placed second in the 100+ team tournament, although we out-scored opponents 88-15 in six games. The football team had another fine season missing the play-offs by an unfortunate last second "Hail-Mary" completion in the season finale.

Parents Weekend was held on Sept. 28-29, and was deemed the most successful of all time. More than 70 parents showed up to visit with the Deltas and enjoy a pig roast. A reunion for the '57-'62 Deltas was also held at the shelter. Alumni Chairman Dave Thoesen led a valiant effort which provided 20 tickets to a sold-out Iowa-Purdue football game that the alumni expressed interest in seeing. Parents Club Chairman John Evans also spearheaded an all-Delta campaign where $5,000 will be generated and go towards much needed new windows.

We'll see you at Karnea!

IOWA STATE Gamma Pi

By David Mastrofski

LOOKING BACK on 1983, Gamma Pi finds that a great deal of chapter improvements have taken place in just a year's time.

Probably at the top of the list of changes is the acquisition of 17 pledges. They have done a great job through their pledgship, and we are looking forward to their activation early this spring.

The executive duties of Gamma Pi changed hands in November as the chapter elected new officers. Topping the list of the new officers are: Greg LaMair, president; Jim Dierking, first vice-president; Scott Jones, second vice-president; and Doug Worple, treasurer.

Computerization has been a key to the continued advancement of Gamma Pi in the ISU Greek system. By the fall semester of 1983, the Gamma Pi treasury was completely computerized, and several house committees are now in the process of being geared toward a computer format. Brothers John Sutton and Greg LaMair, both former treasurers of the chapter, are largely responsible for the computerization campaign, and much success has come from their efforts.

Thanks to contributions from Gamma Pi House Corporation and several faithful alumni, we now have a completely remodeled kitchen at the shelter. New flooring, cupboards, shelves, wiring and appliances were installed this fall, greatly upgrading the kitchen.

As hosts for the 1984 Regional Conference, we look forward to meeting members of some of the nearby chapters and plan on making it a great time for everyone.

KANSAS Gamma Tau

By Todd Strohl

A LONG WITH returning actives, Rush Chairman Thad Millard assembled a new collection of promising pledges, and the Fall semester at Gamma Tau began enthusiastically.

Election of new officers marked the beginning of the semester. Newly elected president, Alan Kindsvater, and his staff, made the transition into office, and eagerly began their assignment of having a more involved and progressive chapter. Heading the list of Delts involved in campus affairs, was sophomore Bill Wiedeman, who was elected IFC president. Another sophomore, Doug Harding, became chairman of Greek Endeavor, and Bob Borchardt was elected to a seat on the Student Senate. For the third consecutive year, senior Mark McKee successfully organized the IFC blood drive.

Kansas University orientation day for high school seniors was a success, with a great number of Delts involved as guides. Delts were also involved with community activities this fall. Volunteers from the chapter collected donations from various businesses and homes for the World Wheelchair Olympics, to be held at the University of Illinois. Just recently, Gamma Tau Delts also volunteered to help coach Special Olympics.

Besides campus and community participation, Kansas Delts were well represented in both intramural and interscholastic sports. The Delt football team finished with a 7-2 record, and a strong third place finish in the Delta Upsilon tournament. The soccer team finished third overall, and coupled with a second-place finish in the track meet, we are currently fourth in overall points for sports. Three Delts, Bob Borchardt, Thad Millard, and Quint Nufer, were members of the Kansas rugby club. Also, Todd Strohl and pledge Randy Brown were members of the Jayhawk baseball team.

KANSAS STATE Gamma Chi

By James P. Jackson

THE DELTS of Kansas State entered Homecoming activities this year for the first time since 1980. With cooperation and enthusiasm from the women of Alpha Delta Pi sorority we made a strong showing in the spirit events, along with a second-place finish in the float competition. For our efforts we were awarded a traveling trophy and a first-place finish in overall competition. The chapter was recognized for this achievement during half-time of the ISU vs. KSU football game.

In athletics, the Delts are again upholding a strong winning tradition here at Kansas State. Our football team lost a tough game in the division finals to the eventual All-University champion, whom we had previously defeated in the regular season. We are currently ranked fifth out of 28 fraternities in overall competition, with several of our stronger events on the agenda for next semester.

Several house improvement projects have been instilled this semester including renovation of our heating system and an addition of a new women's bathroom. Several other projects have been proposed and will be completed as soon as sufficient funds are available.

With the fall semester coming to a close, we recently elected our new officers for the 1984 term. They are Greg Culotta, president; Steve Bell, vice-president; Barry Brummett, treasurer; Paul Jackson, assistant treasurer; Wayne Price, corresponding secretary; and Bob Ring and Jay Lauer, rush chairmen.

KENT STATE Delta Omega

By James Clark

THE FALL semester started off with a fine and successful rush in which the Delts pledged nine men. The brothers, along with the other fraternities on the Kent State campus, participated in the "All-Greek Kent Clean-Up Program" for outstanding community service. Here at the shelter we have been busy in the academic area of our program, and with our new sorority-fraternity study program.

Homecoming was a large success and also inspiring to the brothers. The theme, "A Salute to the Comics," was honored, and our float received honorable mention. Alumni returning to the shelter this fall provided our largest alumni gathering in years. Their ideas and participation were greatly appreciated.

Following Homecoming, Delta Omega participated in the Alpha Phi Mr. Bare-Legs contest, in which Brother Dale Pilarczyk placed first. All the proceeds from this philanthropy were donated to the Kent State Handicapped Student Association.

We are currently competing for a scholarship prize offered by IFC: $250 given to the chapter with the highest G.P.A. Elections have been held, and Robert Schreffler will be replacing Salvatore Cirincione as the 1984 president of Delta Omega Chapter. The Delts here are concentrating primarily on academics, along with a well-rounded social program.

KENTUCKY Delta Epsilon

By James L. Frenz

HERE at Delta Epsilon, we have achieved quite a bit this semester and have enjoyed ourselves in doing so. Experiencing our first dry rush, we plan to initiate 18 members when we return for the spring semester. We are currently working very hard towards spring rush, and plan to have even a bigger and better pledge class than we have now. Our current pledges show potential, and they contributed greatly to our bid

Student Honored

Jack Dulworth, a University of Kentucky finance junior, was appointed to the Kentucky Council on Higher Education by Governor John Y. Brown, Jr., before the Governor left office in January. He represents the states approximately 125,000 students on the 16-member council, which approves budgets of all state universities. During his one-year term, Mr. Dulworth is working alongside many distinguished Kentuckians, including former Governors Bert T. Combs and Edward T. Breathitt, and civic leaders Grady Stumbo and Terry McBryer.

to win the overall Greek Points award by placing second in the ΔZ Fratman's Classic.

Our annual Homecoming banquet was staged at Spindletop Hall here in Lexington. We had an excellent turnout at the banquet and the dance, which we had the following night. Mr. J. Carlisle Myers, Jr., '43, was the oldest alum present while Bob Bose, '78, traveled all the way from New York City to be with us. The weekend was capped by a Wildcat victory over the University of Tulane.

Our annual Bike-a-Thon, held in conjunction with Kappa Alpha Theta, raised in excess of $10,500 for the American Cancer Society. Our other community service projects include coaching in a youth basketball league, as well as participating in various food and blood drives.

We are currently in first place in overall Greek activity points. This position was highlighted by our performance in "Greek Night at the Oscars," a Greek drama competition. Currently, we are in third place in intramurals; however we consistently have done better in the spring events. We placed first in singles golf and cross country.

New officers for spring 1984 are: John Wombwell, president; Rick Remmers, vice president; Damian Schnapf, V.P. pledge education; Curt McCall, treasurer; David Naramore, recording secretary; Mike Bender, corresponding secretary; Robert Chaudoin, guide; John Kallis, sgt.-at-arms.

KENYON Chi

By David Carman

UPON their return to campus this fall, the brothers of Chi Chapter were faced with some unpleasant news. Over the summer it had been discovered that due to poor drainage and waterproofing, water had seeped into the lodge over a period of years, and that several support beams in the basement ceiling had rotted and needed to be replaced. With Homecoming falling early in the semester, something had to be done immediately. It was! For the first couple weekends of the semester, the entire chapter worked at the lodge. The brothers dug holes eight feet deep on both sides of the lodge and four or five deep in front of the lodge, installed drainage pipes, waterproofed the leaking areas, painted the lodge exterior, and filled the holes back in. At the same time, a student with construction experience was found to do the necessary work inside the lodge for a nominal fee. Incredibly, the lodge was ready for our annual Homecoming party for the alumni, and it looked great. Carrying on in the spirit of working together, the brothers added a patio behind the lodge where cookouts and parties could be held.

Rush also went well for Chi Chapter. The highlight was our annual banquet, at which Walter Taylor, president of Chi Chapter in 1958, and father of our current president, Bill Taylor, was the guest speaker. Shortly thereafter we gained 19 enthusiastic pledges.

Later in the fall, Brothers Chris Pisano and Harvey Stevens organized a terrific surprise party in honor of Dr. Robert Burns, whose tenth anniversary as our chapter adviser it was. It was a fitting tribute to "Doc," who has served the chapter so well over the past decade.

Chi Chapter also worked hard on community service projects this fall. The work of several brothers at an IFC party to raise money for the Arthritis Fund, helped make it a great success. In addition, we held our annual Haunted House for neighborhood children, and have raked the yards of several of our lodge neighbors. In all, the fall semester was quite a good one for Chi Chapter, and we look forward to another productive semester.

LAFAYETTE Nu

By Bill Culviner

THE DELTS of Nu Chapter excelled in a wide variety of activities this fall. To start the fall semester, the brotherhood worked on a general face-lift of the house to prepare for the fall rush. This included house improvements such as touch-up painting on the inside and outside of the house and renovating the emergency lighting system.

Athletic performance in varsity sports was particularly strong. Matt Fargo and Mark Delehey were formidable elements of the rugby team. Keith Hanigan, the stellar Delt, played fine defense for the soccer team. In lacrosse, Kirk Effinger, Pete Pagnucco, and Doug Czarnomski used their sticks skillfully to contribute to the winning team. Carl St. Bernard played strong football in a tough season. Lastly, Nu Chapter has rallied to fifth place in intramural standings, with active participation from most brothers.

In October, the brotherhood participated in a campus-wide "Run for the United Way" to raise money for the cause. The Delts turned in a better performance than most other groups and were widely recognized around campus as leaders in participation for the run.

Most recently, elections were held for the spring semester. The former Executive Committee deserves a great deal of praise for its fine job. Congratulations to our new president, Bill Hennegan.

Rush Chairmen Matt Fargo and Drew Robertson ran a fine program, which has resulted in 14 pledges to date. However, the final week will hopefully pay off with several more pledges.

LAMAR Zeta Gamma

By Richard Tuttle

IN August we were able to move into our newly-finished lodge on campus. The lodge has six two-man bedrooms and a large chapter hall. A special thanks goes to Ken Kondo, president of the House Corporation.

This semester we were honored to have Father "Tex" McElyea visit the new chapter lodge. Keith Steiner, director of chapter services and Joe Ray, chapter consultant, also visited us this fall.

Zeta Gamma warmly welcomes Dr. Victor Anthony Zaloom as our new chapter adviser. Dr. Zaloom is originally from Miami, Fla. He pledged Delta Zeta Chapter at the University of Florida in 1964. He received a B.S. in industrial engineering in 1966, a masters in engineering in 1967, and a PhD. in 1970. Dr. Zaloom is the department head of industrial engineering at Lamar University.

Charles Anderson is representing Delta Tau Delta as president of Student Government Association. After ranking third scholastically last spring with an overall G.P.A. of 2.576 and losing the scholarship award by only .05 points, we have developed a new scholarship program. We were pleased with the alumni participation in Homecoming activities. The Parent-Alumni Reception went very well.

New officers for this year are: Mike Ashbaker, president; Rod Lawless, vice-president; Rusty Traylor, recording secretary; Bruce Shields, corresponding secretary.

LOUISIANA STATE Epsilon Kappa

By Gary Sinner

THE BROTHERS of Epsilon Kappa once again have had another good fall semester this year. Returning from the summer break, we pledged 41 men during fall rush. Our active football team had a good season, making it to the quarter finals of the campus playoffs. In the middle of the semester we helped the Louisiana State School for the Deaf with a picnic for the deaf children. The kids really enjoyed it.

The end of September saw the annual LSU Muscular Dystrophy Marathon, an event founded in 1971 by brother Keith Sliman and the EK Delts. This year brother Jim Kenney served as chairman of the LSU MD Marathon Committee. The university raised over $42,800 for the charity, almost $17,000 more than last year's total. The Delts came in first among all the fraternities, as usual.

Thanks to a university blunder, Homecoming was held the same time as mid-semester exams. In spite of this conflict, the Delts placed second in decorations and third in the overall competition. Thank you to the alumni who could attend.

Brother John Demarest has been elected chairman of the 1984 LSU Jambalaya Jamboree Committee. We have a new House Corporation and are looking forward to working with them.

In November, elections for next year's officers were held. Congratulations to Chuck DiCorte, president; Todd Hubble, 1st vice-president; Scott Daugherty, 2nd vice-president; Nelson Bradshaw, treasurer (again!); Mark Gentry, corresponding secretary; and to Ben Twiner, recording secretary.

MAINE Gamma Nu

By Bob Pomeroy

THE BROTHERS of Gamma Nu experienced another outstanding semester leading our campus in many different areas. In intramurals we are just 80 points away from first place, with our strongest sporting events still left to be completed. In community service we recently held a blood drive with 102 pints being donated, setting a new fraternity record at UMO. Also a campus gong show was held, with 10 brothers and pledges participating and making an excellent showing for our house. Jon Sorenson did a fantastic job as Emcee in this American Diabetes Association benefit.

Homecoming was especially meaningful to Gamma Nu for its was our 75th Anniversary. Mark Cressey did an outstanding job putting together a banquet in celebration of this event, which was very special to all the Delts of past and present at UMO. Our special thanks go to Steve Paquette, Eastern Division president, for traveling from Syracuse to speak at the banquet. Before the Homecoming football game we also sold T-shirts, with the profits going to the UMO Children's Center to help in their programs.

We also have our share of campus leaders at UMO. Brad Marston, Jeff Fitzpatrick, and Doug Rand compose three of the 15 positions on Senior Council. Jeff Dutton is vice-president of the Fraternity Board. Scot Balentine is active in many different organizations and well recognized by the entire community. In sports, Mark Hedtler represents our chapter on the basketball team and David Hunt on the hockey team. Many of the brothers are active with rugby and other club sports. All these activities are keeping the Deltas of Gamma Nu very busy and well recognized at Maine.

MARIETTA Epsilon Upsilon

By Dean T. Didato

THE FALL semester at Marietta brought exciting times to the Brotherhood of Epsilon Upsilon. The intensive five-week rush period was opened with the annual Delt Casino Night and over 700 people in attendance. This was followed by a VCR movie night; it also was well attended and brought many compliments to the Brotherhood for arranging a great non-alcoholic gathering. Rush ended with the IFC raft race, in which the "Delta Queen" crossed the finish line with all eight occupants paddling like crazy against the strong winds. As a result of our efforts, 10 of the best men that we've seen in a couple of years pledged E.U.

We were honored to receive the Most Improved Scholarship Bowl for the spring 1983 semester. It was accepted by Steven Bennett and Adam Pyles. Homecoming brought alumni back and saw Kelly McKarahan as the king candidate.

Wrapping up the semester was the election of officers for the next calendar year and the annual Delt Christmas gathering. The ballots for elections revealed: Adam Pyles, president; Kelly McKarahan, vice-president; Tom Zotti, treasurer; Bill Buzzell, cor. sec.; and Pete Noll, rec. sec. The visit of Santa Claus to Epsilon Upsilon brought all sorts of presents and a Merry Christmas cheer to the entire house.

MARYLAND Delta Sigma

By Stephen E. Connors

UNDER THE leadership of President Jim Weisgerber, Delta Sigma enjoyed a semester of success on the College Park campus. The highlight of September was the initiation of 10 men into the chapter. Co-Rush Chairmen Jerry Taylor and Harry Burdick proved that enthusiasm and teamwork could get the job done as we pledged 16 fine young men, who are on the way to becoming outstanding members of the Fraternity. Upholding a proud tradition were the sports teams of Delta Sigma. We qualified for the playoffs in all team sports. Delt cagers Dan Rupinski, Dan Graves, Steve Connors and Ken Krogman all turned in fine performances in the annual intramural one-on-one competition.

Homecoming week with Sigma Delta Tau sorority proved to be a good time for all, as Chairman Nick Koumentakos directed the activities for the week. A record number of Delta Sigma alumni, some from as far away as California, attended the annual Homecoming Dance at the Newton White mansion. A superlative effort by Alumni Relations Chairman Kevin Bilger made the affair an overwhelming success. Also highlighting the semester was a visit by International President Grover C. McElyea and his wife for a reception at the shelter, in October.

Keeping in the tradition of Delta Sigma's participation in IFC, was the election of Jim Weisgerber as president and Dave Littleton's service as secretary for the past year. No doubt the foundation of Delta Sigma's success can be attributed to the outgoing Executive Council of Pres. Jim Weisgerber, Exec. V.P. Fred Sheffield, 1st V.P. Dan Graves, Treas. John Devlin, and Sects. Jerry Taylor and Steve Connors.

M.I.T. Beta Nu

By Mark Farley

FALL SEMESTER started off at a feverish pitch for the Beta Nu Deltas. Once again, the shelter received its annual facelift, including a new carpet for the library and the addition of lighting, planter boxes and shrubbery to our roof deck. Rush week culminated with the pledging of 11 fine men, including a transfer student from Northwestern, and a returning pledge from KEIO University in Tokyo. The Deltas were proud to be invited to Brown University to install Beta Chi Chapter there. All who attended thoroughly enjoyed a weekend filled with brotherhood. We would again like to wish the best of luck to our newest Delt chapter.

This term, the chapter has kept itself busy in a variety of areas. As part of the "invite an important person to dinner program," we were honored by both Dr. Paul Gray, president of M.I.T., and Rev. "Tex" McElyea. For Homecoming, we ran local preliminary rounds of the Chrysler National Collegiate Driving Championships. This event was a huge success, as Dodge donated two new Daytona Turbos for the trials. November was highlighted by the traditional active and pledge parties. The actives chose to have a "California Party" complete with a real beach and 100 beach balls. The pledges treated the brothers to a stupendous "Day After" party.

On campus, the Deltas have maintained their presence in all areas of the M.I.T. community. Deltas hold three of nine IFC executive offices. On the IM sports scene, Delt teams have been outstanding again, with both the soccer and football teams taking second in their leagues. With the election of new officers in February, we hope that next semester will be as successful as this one has been.

MIAMI Gamma Upsilon

By Robert J. Kempter

THE BROTHERS returned to Oxford this fall to enjoy several major improvements which were made to the shelter. The money allocated by the House Corporation provided for new ceiling tiles for the upstairs hallway, ceiling repairs in the living room, drinking fountain, ice machine, and other improvements to the shelter.

This year's Homecoming proved to be a great success. The brothers, paired with the sisters of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, won All-Greek and All-Campus Homecoming float awards. We again enjoyed welcoming the alums to the shelter for the weekend's festivities.

Our seventh annual Richard Sammon's Walk-A-Thon continued to be the largest philanthropy project on campus. The $2,100 will be donated to the Paul Schumaker Fund and the American Heart Association.

Dinner guests for this past semester included: Executive Vice-President for Academic Affairs Dr. Clarence Williamson, Vice-President for Student Affairs Dr. Robert Etheridge, and Interfraternity Council Adviser Claudia Grace. For Christmas dinner the brothers were joined by Miami's former president, Dr. Phillip Shriver.

The fall semester ended with the officer elections. Officers elected: President Steve MacDonald, Executive Vice-President Mitch Barns, Treasurer Rob Loeb, Corresponding Secretary Grif Stenger, and Recording Secretary Chip Chinery.

MICHIGAN Delta

By Kurt Eichorn and Scott Morford

FALL TERM was kicked off with the revival of the traditional Tahitian Party, complete with waterfalls down the staircase and awning, goldfish ponds, tons of sand, and the women of Alpha Chi Omega. This was followed by Rush Week where 10 men pledged from a group of 12 bids given.

The Deltas went all the way to the finals in "A" softball only to lose. Our football teams went undefeated in regular season play before bowing out to tough teams in the playoffs. In wrestling, brother Bob Fitch reached the finals, and four other men reached the semi-finals in their weight classes. Dave Garber was the top laser sailor for the University of Michigan sailing team this year.

Homecoming was claimed to be one of the best in several decades by some of the regular attendees. Over 100 alumni and wives attended and were treated to brunch, an exciting victory over Iowa, and cocktails and roast beef dinner afterwards.

Delta Chapter has scheduled a spring alumni event for March 3. The day will start with lunch at a local restaurant, followed by the Michigan-Minnesota basketball game, and then the big event, a '50's style dance in the evening. More information will be forthcoming in the Wolverine Delt.

Around campus, Delta Chapter is involved in several fund-raising events. We are working with several other fraternities and sororities selling athletic equipment to benefit Mott Community Children's Hospital. The brothers also sang Christmas carols with the Kappa Alpha Thetas in the children's ward of the University of Michigan Hospital.

We would like to thank Iota Chapter (Michigan State University) Deltas for showing us a super time when our two schools clashed on the gridiron. They helped to make our pledge walkout a great success. We also enjoyed hosting the Albion, Indiana, Illinois, and Northwestern Deltas over the term.

MICHIGAN STATE Iota

By R. Scott Patterson

TAKING 16 new pledges during rush started out the new school year for Iota at M.S.U. The newly revamped pledge program, indocrinated by brothers Steve Skewes and Craig Gladders, proved to be a huge success for both the pledges and the actives.

During the month of October, the Deltas participated in a number of community service projects. Most notable was the passing out of donuts and cider to the neighborhood children. Also, relations between the Delt house and the neighborhood residents continued to improve and solidify.

The Iota Deltas are now busy gearing up for the 11th annual Delta Tau Delta dance marathon for Multiple Sclerosis. Chairmen Steve Davis and David Wilcox hope to add significantly to the $450,000 raised in the past.

The elections of the new Executive Council should round out a fantastic term for the Iota Deltas.

As a closing note, Dave Besemer was named co-captain of the Michigan State varsity cheerleading squad.

MINNESOTA Beta Eta

By David Dumas

AS WE COME to the close of fall quarter at Beta Eta, we are proud to look back on our outstanding pledge class of 16 members. They have grown in their knowledge of the University, the Greek System, and the workings of the Fraternity itself.

This year we participated in Homecoming with Phi Beta Phi Sorority. The many hours of hard work and fun were reflected in the numerous trophies we took home at awards night.

This quarter was also one of change for the Delt house. John Richards is our newly elected treasurer. Kurt Christensen and Jon Tisch have teamed up to become co-rush chairmen.

Delt leadership on campus was strengthened this year by Brian Johnson becoming president of IFC and Brian Jones, a fall pledge, being elected as junior IFC vice-president. The Deltas of Beta Eta are looking forward to 1984 as a place for growth and improvement.

MISSOURI Gamma Kappa By Jeff Harpole

GAMMA KAPPA had a very successful and productive semester. One of the highlights was our annual Delt Alumni Weekend. Activities included a Mizzou football game, social activity following the game, and a dinner later on in the evening. Many alumni attended and enjoyed the weekend's activities.

The 1983 fall semester pledge class consists of many talented young men. Gamma Kappa looks forward to initiating these men into our chapter. Thanks to Brothers David Schlager, Chris Maloney, and Eric Pickett for putting together a very successful pledge education program.

In Homecoming activities this year, Mizzou Deltas once again placed in the top three in house decorations. This was the second consecutive year for this honor to be bestowed upon Gamma Kappa Chapter. Academically, Gamma Kappa continues to rank in the top 10 out of 35 fraternities. We are currently in eighth place in sports, and are consistently moving upward in the rankings.

Gamma Kappa recently elected new officers for 1984 and signed an excellent pledge class for the Winter Semester. We are looking forward to a very successful year and wish the same for other Delta Tau Delta chapters.

MISSOURI-ROLLA Epsilon Nu

By David Hettenhausen

MANY SIGNIFICANT events took place during the fall semester. The first was a successful weekend retreat for the entire house, where the semester's plans and goals were laid out for all to approve. We planned many activities and strengthened our brotherhood at the same time.

With Homecoming rapidly approaching, the chapter made an extra push for returning alumni to help us celebrate Kappa Phi's 20th anniversary. Many founders and charter members, including Brothers Ronald R. Smith and Dale R. Ricks, returned, but they still lost the annual alumni-active football game 7 to 0. We hope to see as many returning for the 21st anniversary.

The EN Deltas also enjoyed participating in and winning various local activities. First of all, we won the annual IFC Fall Clean-up for the fourth time in a row and thus retired the trophy. We had 100% house participation and cleaned up a good portion of Rolla. Furthermore, we had the highest participation rate for the MDA 24-hour Dance-A-Thon. Culminating the semester was our canned-food drive for the LOVE program, in which we collected over 30 cases of food for the needy of Rolla.

With a smaller than expected, but very ambitious Alpha Beta pledge class, EN is looking forward to its initiation and to an equally ambitious Alpha Gamma class next semester. Moreover, we are proud to announce our new faculty adviser is Captain Robert Buck, and are looking forward to having his help in the future.

MOREHEAD STATE Zeta Zeta

By Thomas Roy

IMPROVEMENT has been this year's theme at Zeta Zeta, and with 38 active members returning this fall, improvement has been experienced in all aspects of the chapter.

With the third highest number of actives on campus and five quality pledges, we have accomplished major goals, mostly dealing with shelter. Headed by Brothers Jesse Teabo and Paul Schmetzer, we have already constructed a new ceiling (while another is in the process), a back porch and steps. Carpet has been laid both up and downstairs, and a new picture window has been installed.

Along with improving the shelter, we have increased communication with alumni. Under the supervision of Brothers Steve Rose and Jack Osman, a monthly alumni newsletter has been sent out, and the response has been tremendous. With our sights set on a new house in the near future, an alumni "buddy drive" has been established to increase financial donations, all of which will go toward the house. And on the subject of alumni, our second annual Homecoming Pig Roast produced an encouraging turnout of alumni. Everyone seemed to have an enjoyable time.

Another successful event was the first annual Delta Tau Delta Volleyball Tournament, in which we earned approximately $150.

On a final note, special thanks must be given to our treasurer, Ed Strosnider, who has worked very hard to improve the financial status of this chapter. We are currently in very stable financial shape, due to the promptness of paying bills, and also because of the committee budgets Ed has set up to reduce over-expenditures.

NEBRASKA Beta Tau

By Douglas H. Plachy

LIKE EVERY fall semester this year's was one of new challenges and achievements. Summer rush was a great success under the leadership of Brothers John Laing & Tucker Arneson. Even though we lost many fine men to graduation, this year's pledge class has proved to be very strong.

This school year saw the end of the highly successful remodeling work that was so badly needed, and allowed Beta Tau to give full attention to building strong committees.

One committee in particular that the Deltas have been well known for directs our philanthropies. Having won the University's C. B. Schultz Community Service Award the past three years for outstanding innovation and dedication to helping the community, we are well on our way for yet another win. This year the Deltas are helping to raise money for the Beatrice State Development Center Association, by raffling off the official University of Nebraska autographed football. This ball was signed by the starting Husker football team and the President of the United States. This philanthropy should bring in a large sum of money, thanks to the success of this year's team.

The Beta Tau House Corporation lost one of its greatest officers this year when Mr. Bill Schwartzkopf moved out of state due to a career advancement. He was replaced as secretary by Bill VanLent.

A special thanks also goes to Mark Pitner, '83, who is helping spearhead Beta Tau's young alumni to be more involved.

NORTH CAROLINA Gamma Omega

By Michael W. Thompson

GAMMA OMEGA continued to make inroads in intramurals during the fall semester, with the volleyball team, "No Guts, No Glory," making it to the quarterfinals in the Men's Rec division. Team members were John and Roger Whittemore, W. R. Gay, Danny Kester, Oscar Pace, Randy Willard and Timmy Brown.

Several visits highlighted the fall. Professor of History William Powell, a noted expert on Tar Heel lore and North Carolina, and his wife joined Deltas for a fried chicken dinner at the shelter. The Chapter also hosted a lunch for six members of the Toronto Exchange Group visiting the campus, and welcomed visits by Delt pledges from the University of Maryland and UNC-Wilmington Colony.

The holidays were rung in with the annual Christmas party at the home of retired Lt. Col. Charles B. Gault, Distinguished Service Delt, North Carolina '33.

Elections were held and a new slate of officers chosen for the spring '84 semester. They are: Harold Smith, president; John Whittemore, vice president; Danny Kester, social chairman; W. R. Gay, rush chairman; Oscar Pace, treasurer; Timmy Brown, IM manager and recording secretary; Douglas Dion, pledge chairman; and Bruce Burnham, house manager.

A new House Corporation has been elected. They are: Butch Weston, president; Bill Poole, vice president; and Laith Wilson, treasurer.

In Delt honors, President Mike Underkofler, a captain in the Professional Officers Corps of AFROTC Detachment 590 on campus, was awarded the leadership ribbon from Corps Commander Col. Paul L. Grimmig. Gamma Omega pledge Danny Kester is the 1983 editor of the University of North Carolina yearbook, The Yackety Yack.

If you're in the neighborhood, stop by and see us in Blue Heaven.

NORTH DAKOTA Delta Xi

By Bradley W. Barker

ALL BROUGHT many great things to the Deltas of Delta Xi. Members have broadened their college experience by becoming active in campus organizations. Jack Muhs was selected as Greek Programming Committee chairman. Brad Barker was voted in as antics/special events chairman for Golden Feathers. Bob Breckner is U.N.D.'s flying team captain and has attained many awards for his outstanding performances. Brian McBride has attained positions on Executive Committee of IFC, Judicial Board, organizer of IFC Greek Week, and was voted 1984 vice-president. Jeff Russell has been involved with Greek Week, and we are proud to have him as our new 1984 Delta Xi president.

On November 28, 1983 installed also were Terry Adams, internal vice-president; Bob King, treasurer; Joe Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; Mark Hagen, recording secretary; and Brad Barker, corresponding secretary. We are expecting many great things from such fine leadership.

Delta Xi Deltas have proposed and gotten approval from IFC to institute Greeks Against Drunk Drivers (G.A.D.D.) which hopes to give bar owners telephone numbers so that intoxicated patrons can obtain rides home. Mark Hage is overseeing G.A.D.D.'s progress to make sure it achieves its main goal of saving lives.

Fall rush was a great success, bringing in 14 new men. From these we will have some very competent leaders within Delta Xi and in the community.

Delta Xi regrets to report the death of Harold W. Bangert, '27. Harold did many things for Delta Xi, earning the Alumni Achievement Award for his efforts. Our warmest thoughts go out to his family. Harold was truly a great man.

NORTHWESTERN Beta Pi Colony

By Junu Bryan Kim

THROUGH our actions and achievements of this quarter, not only has Delta Tau Delta muscled its way up the ranks of Northwestern fraternities, but the Arch Chapter has acknowledged our advancement by granting us chapter status on several prerequisites.

Preparation for fall rush was the first item on the agenda, upon returning to school. Rush Chairman John Milano coordinated the effort, implementing the extensive system he devised last year. The result was the addition of 11 outstanding pledges to the colony. In recognition of Milano's program, the Central Office has adopted segments of it into the rush guidelines that are distributed to all chapters.

Alpha Chi Omega named Ron Riegler 1983-84's Northwestern BMOC, while Steve

Palmer was chosen IFC president. Several brothers were accepted into honor societies, including Jon Whitehurst and John Klunder in Tau Beta Pi, and Charles Katzenmeyer in Pi Sigma Alpha and Alpha Lambda Delta. In the 118-pound category, varsity wrestler Chet Stanley placed seventh in the Ohio Open and fourth in the Illinois Open.

Delt preserved its relationship with the NU administration by continuing the Monday night faculty speaker program. Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta co-sponsored the 54th annual Pledge Pajama Race, with the proceeds going to the Julie Molloy School for Handicapped Children. Plans were being made for Delt's participation and fund raising for NU's Dance Marathon for Multiple Sclerosis in February 1984.

Although the quarter featured many memorable events, the most notable occurrence was the recognition of our Colony's progress from the Arch Chapter. At its meeting this fall, the Arch Chapter awarded the Beta Pi Colony its charter on three conditions. First, Beta Pi must increase its membership from our present 38 to the campus fraternity average of 45. Secondly and thirdly, until that number is attained, Beta Pi must demonstrate financial stability, and it must uphold its level of excellence among NU fraternities. We at Beta Pi see no obstacles in fulfilling all conditions in as little time as possible. Beta Pi alums will be notified about the installation celebration.

OHIO Beta

A GOOD fall rush brought Beta Chapter 28 pledges, the most for several years and among tops on campus.

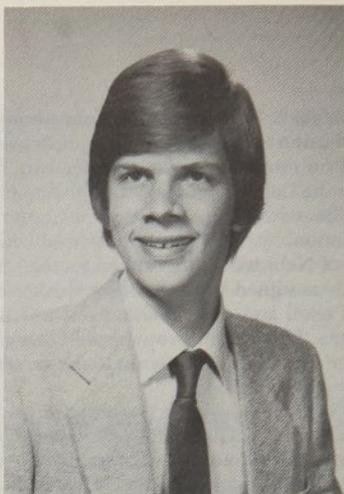

Joe Leuty and Joe Stefko lead the chapter in G.P.A.s, each with an approximate 3.8 average. Rich Davis is a member of the varsity swimming team and Ted Dixon runs with the varsity track squad. One of our pledges, Scott Saxon, is on the OU football team.

Our intramural soccer team finished first among Greeks and third in an all-campus field of 58. The football team reached the second round of playoffs before losing.

Although we were disappointed in the alumni turnout for Homecoming, we had some good men back, and all enjoyed a reception and dinner following the football game. Les McMillan, '41, who was a member of the Flying Tigers in World War II, spoke at the dinner. We also showed the Fraternity's 125th Anniversary motion picture.

The Brotherhood was saddened at the recent death of Dewey Goddard, '19, one of the strongest alumni supporters Beta Chapter ever had, and a true friend to us all. At the request of Mrs. Goddard, a group of actives, led by Jack Hall, sang a medley of Delt songs at Dewey's funeral.

We feel that we are growing in strength, and we want to recapture the alumni sup-

John Klunder

HIGH ACHIEVER

When John G. Klunder receives two bachelor of science degrees (industrial engineering and applied mathematics) from Northwestern University this June, he hopes to obtain a challenging position in operations research and systems analysis.

A member of the Dean's List every quarter since he entered the university, Mr. Klunder has a 3.86 accumulative G.P.A. and currently is enrolled in the Industrial Engineering Departmental Honors Program. Before attending Northwestern, he was graduated first in a class of 623 at Riverview High School in Sarasota, Fla., with a perfect 4.0 scholastic record.

In addition to his dedication to high academic achievement, this diversified Delt has performed as a solo pianist with major orchestras, given several recitals, and received numerous musical awards.

He also is involved in intramural sports, is a good golfer, and successfully finished the 1982 Chicago Marathon.

This semester, he is scholarship chairman and rush chairman of Beta Pi Colony of Delta Tau Delta and president of South Mid-Quads Residence Hall. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi engineering honor society, and Phi Eta Sigma freshman honorary.

The future, indeed, looks bright for John Klunder. He already has received industrial engineering experience, working last summer as an intern with Avon Products and the previous summer with W. W. Grainger, Inc.

port that once was a tradition of Beta Chapter. To that end, we already are making plans for an extra special Homecoming celebration in the fall. We sincerely hope a lot of alumni will return and give us a chance to show you how we are improving in all areas of chapter life. All alumni are cordially invited; you'll be hearing from us on the details.

OHIO STATE Beta Phi

By Scott D. Weaver

OHIO STATE Delt's returned this fall to find a few new changes around the shelter. First and foremost was the addition of Mrs. Sandi Souders as the housemother. Mom Souders has done an outstanding job and has also added a personal working relationship with the brothers. This relationship is especially welcome, as it has been lacking in recent years.

Other changes around the shelter have been provided from both the Beta Phi House Corp. and the undergrads. In efforts to improve house conditions for the 1984 Karnea, the House Corp. has provided new tile for the basement floor, lighting in the basement and formal living room, and paint for the front of the shelter.

Undergrads have also contributed to the house improvement. Alumni Chairmen Fritz Rudolph and Tony Orozco are renovating the television room and turning it into an alumni room. This room would include past composites and other pictures of prominent Beta Phi alumni. Vice-president Whitney Logan purchased a telephone-answering machine that is used to inform out-of-house members of the house activities for the week. Finally the house purchased an ice machine and a set of weights.

Currently house membership stands at 115. This number includes 16 new pledges for winter quarter. In athletics Beta Phi is actively pursuing the retirement of the All-Sports Trophy. Results include first place finishes in swimming, volleyball, golf, and second place finishes in softball, football, and outdoor track. Beta Phi also entered another team in the Mid-East Regional Flag Football Tournament. Delt's also won the Pi Beta Phi Tennis Classic. Winners included Bill Sullivan (singles-second consecutive year) and Ted Hoover/Tom Riley (doubles).

Homecoming was a success from the standpoint of a good Delt effort on the float. Alumni contributions also aided in the undergrads efforts. Homecoming Chairmen Dan Harmon and Scott Weaver wanted to recognize the support of alumnus Buck Byrne. Next spring Beta Phi is paired with Kappa Kappa Gamma for Greek Week.

Resident Adviser Roger Weaver has continued his Big Brother program. This program pairs actives and local youth in activities that stress friendship. Roger has also initiated the donation of Christmas dinners to needy families in the Columbus area.

Beta Phi, in cooperation with the fraternity, has purchased the IBM computer which was recently made available. This addition, along with other future improvements has Beta Phi preparing to welcome Delts from around the country to Karnea 1984.

OHIO WESLEYAN Mu

By Brent Feorene

MU CHAPTER has completed a highly successful fall term, participating fully in campus and community events. Thanks to Chuck Cover, rush chairman, autumn began on a positive note, with the taking of seventeen pledges, second highest among the fraternities. The unexpected death of one of these pledges, Jeffrey Steven Nichols, prompted the chapter to hold a campus-wide memorial service on November 13, at the shelter, to celebrate the life of this fine young man. Additionally, the Arch Chapter gave Mu permission to initiate Jeffrey posthumously.

We were able to host three separate receptions for three distinguished men. One particularly special to the brothers was the visit of Father Grover C. McElyea, Mu '47, International President of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, on September 30. George Plimpton, renowned actor, author, and athlete, spoke at Ohio Wesleyan on November 22, and his lecture was immediately followed by a gathering at the shelter. Finally, Victor Borovsky, a Soviet dissident, was the guest of honor at an informal question-and-answer session at the shelter, which followed his lecture on Soviet political oppression.

Homecoming Weekend was truly a time to celebrate for the chapter. In addition to winning the award for the best fraternity house appearance, and the award for the highest cumulative G.P.A. among the fraternities for the entire 1982-1983 academic year, Mu, working together with Pi Beta Phi sorority, also won first place in the Homecoming parade float competition.

In terms of community service, actives and pledges alike went canvassing door-to-door for UNICEF. The donations collected through this canvassing, together with the donations received at our Halloween costume party, enabled us to raise $350 for UNICEF.

OKLAHOMA Delta Alpha

By Andrew A. Britton

ONCE AGAIN, Delta Alpha Chapter of Delta Tau Delta closes its calendar year with another remarkable semester. On August 30, the house proudly initiated 14 new members and added their names to our chapter roll. After the second week of school, which signaled the end of rush, it became evident that Delta Alpha was blessed once more with an extraordinary pledge class of 45 men.

In September, we held our fourth annual Alumni Day, designed to keep alumni in active contact with the house, its members, and its pledges. The house was also honored by the attendance of International President Father Grover C. McElyea. We began the year with the pleasant addition of our cherished new housemother, Betty Riley, who has already become an integral part of the house.

Delta Alpha is constantly looking for new ways to improve not only our Fraternity, but the men who make up the chapter itself. This year marks the presentation of two of our newly created scholarships. One is the Delta Tau Delta/University of Oklahoma Scholarship, and the other is the Elizabeth B. Hargon Memorial Scholarship. In addition, Delta Alpha is in the progress of creating a third scholarship to be awarded to a sophomore or junior, on the basis of a combination of academics and involvement within the house and throughout the campus.

The entire last year was another excellent one for the chapter, but we are looking forward to an even better year to perpetuate the love, brotherhood, and traditions which are the soul of our chapter, and in turn, the heart of Delta Tau Delta.

OKLAHOMA STATE Delta Chi

By Greg Land

THE MEN of Delta Chi Chapter have already had one fantastic semester this year and are hopeful to have another for the spring. The recent house elections left the chapter in good hands with Don Greiner as president; Jim Savage, vice-president; Leo Taylor, treasurer; Chad Stewart, recording secretary; Greg Vance, corresponding secretary; Jeff Bingham, sgt-at-arms; Mike Romano and David Lee, rush chairmen.

Community service was greatly boosted in the fall semester under Chairman Dave Henley. Delts sponsored several blood drives, worked with Special Olympics, helped with the Mobile Meals program every week and were bell ringers for the Salvation Army.

Once again, the Delts sang and danced their way into the campus production, Varsity Revue, under the direction of Rick Wilson. Paired with the women of Pi Beta Phi, the Delts will be performing on February 16, 17, and 18. Delta Chi is also keeping up the pace in intramurals, placing first in bowling, second in cross country and third in racquetball.

The Delts of Oklahoma State still lead the way in campus activities. The campus-wide elections for Student Government Association put brother Robert Gregory in the president's seat and five other Delts in the Senate: Kerry Alexander, Mike Annis, Greg Basinger, Joe Kotarski and Chris Zinn. Also, the Student Union Activities Board, of which OSU has the largest in the nation, chose Brother Luke Altendorf as president and Tom Perkins as speakers coordinator. Tom was also recently elected IFC secretary.

OREGON Gamma Rho

By Phil Wilson

IT HAS BEEN a few issues since Gamma Rho appeared in The Rainbow, but we'll try to catch up. Since the fall of 1982, we compiled the second highest G.P.A. for fraternities and third highest overall on campus. We initiated 16 men and have a 12-man pledge class.

During the University's Greek Week last spring, we placed second in the Air Band contest, with a rousing rendition of the Blues Brothers' "Hey Bartender" and a third-place in the canoe fete. Our float depicted Washington, D.C., in keeping with the theme of "Cities of the World." We placed fourth out of 13 fraternities in the Greek Week standings.

This fall we won first place in the 1983 Homecoming lawn display. The display was a time line, engineered by Phil Rogan. Triggered by a ball rolling down a rail, tripping gates that unveiled signs depicting past Homecomings, it culminated with a football being kicked through a set of goal posts and the playing of the Oregon fight song over a stereo.

Our football team made it the to the IM playoffs for the third straight year. Last spring, our softball team had a successful season, but failed to make it to the championship round. In track, Craig Kuhn, Phil Wilson, Fred Freeman, and Jeff Ewing took third place in the 4x100m relay with a time of 46.4 seconds. And last February, Phil Wilson won the lightweight division, 140-lbs and under, at the All-Greek "Smoker" boxing tournament.

In November, our chapter celebrated its 70th anniversary. Delts from many parts of the country came to Eugene to make it an occasion we will long remember. Throughout our 70 years, Gamma Rho has been the only fraternity chapter on the Oregon campus that has never closed. That is something we are proud of!

PENN STATE Tau

By John F. Naglee

TAU CONTINUED with its winning tradition this semester by placing second among 52 fraternities in Homecoming festivities. The Delts competed along with the Alpha Xi Delta sisters this fall. Homecoming Chairman Dana Garcia marked it as a "reward we worked hard for and deserved."

Our 100-mile keg roll raised $6,828 for the American Heart Association this semester. The Heart Association held it as the top philanthropic event of the fall. Keg roll Chairman Joe Kunkel said the keg roll was a success this semester.

"We raised a good sum of money and we're going for more next year," Kunkel said.

House academics reached a new level as we moved from our old No. 3 spot to second on the fraternity academic list. The house cumulative grade point average was 2.93 this semester.

Tau will see new faces around the shelter next spring. Seven new men were recently pledged to our chapter, and they seem eager for brotherhood. Also new at our chapter is our new furniture, compliments of our House Corporation.

And finally, house spirit has climbed high with the recent initiation of 11 men into the brotherhood. We would like to congratulate them on a pledge period well done.

Just keg rolling along are Tau Chapter's Doug Wrobel, Gary Hennis, Rich Murphy, and Dan Glassic.

PITTSBURGH Gamma Sigma

By Luke J. Kluchko

GAMMA SIGMA started the fall term on the right foot with an excellent rush program. This was the first year for a partial "dry" rush. At first we were skeptical of this approach, but were later surprised to find that it only did more to help. We initiated 15 fine gentlemen as pledges.

Homecoming was a great success. Many distinguished alumni came to participate for the last time at our present shelter. We were especially honored by the presence of one of our oldest alumni, Tom Frazier, '16. Tom was one of the men who chose our present shelter back in 1914.

John Geyer's successful election to the Student Government Board, marks the fifth consecutive year a Delt has held such a position. John O'Connor was elected as external vice-president of IFC.

On Nov. 28 election of officers was held. The newly elected officers are: President Douglas E. Knoch, Vice-President George A. Zdravecky, Corres. Sec. Oliver M. Linn, Rec. Sec. Michael S. Wiley, Treasurer Mark Lewis, Sergeant-at-Arms Thomas C. Barage, and Guide Michael Kosco.

Our new officers have the difficult task of ensuring a smooth transition to the new shelter in the fall. It will be part of Pitt's first fraternity housing complex. Gamma Sigma looks forward to remaining the top chapter on campus.

PURDUE Gamma Lambda

By Terry Hellmich and Jim Hamilton

GAMMA LAMBDA chapter at Purdue University was placed on social probation as of August 30. According to the dean of students, the regulations violated were "those prohibiting the consumption of alcohol at an open event or outside the house." Throughout the period of probation, the fraternity must provide a written plan of control prior to an event involving alcohol, and must restrict these events to 150 people.

Because the stipulations were results of a social function, the effects of these guidelines mainly restrict further social events. These constraints have had other far-reaching implications that have and will change the chapter in a positive manner. These include dry rush, a restructured pledge program, nonalcoholic social functions, and a better feeling towards the chapter overall.

The chapter feels that these changes will help our image when petitioning for reactivation on May 14 of the current academic year, and far into the future.

Mike Savod, you are an alumnus who has everything together. We need more like you. Thanks for the speech at Homecoming.

RENSELAER Upsilon

By Alan Smart

UPSILON DELTS returned to the fall semester at Rensselaer enthusiastic about selecting a new pledge class and maintaining the strength and excellence of our chapter. With the leadership of our rush chairman, Tom Recchia, we have had the most successful rush in recent history. We obtained 100% return on our bids and gained 24 of the finest men on campus.

The chapter was strong again scholastically, finishing with the second highest G.P.A. out of 30 fraternities on campus for the second semester in a row. Proving that you can achieve excellence in both academics and sports, Upsilon is in very good standings for the IFC Barker Trophy. We took number one in football and provided other notable performances in soccer, pool, tennis, and bowling.

Special thanks go to the alumni whose generous contributions to a phone-a-thon helped us raise $22,000 for capital improvements towards the shelter. Many alumni returned to visit the shelter, making this year's Alumni Weekend a great success.

As usual, the Delts were the clear leaders socially on campus. With an active social calendar ahead, a strong brotherhood and the best pledges on campus, the spring semester proposes to be an excellent one.

SAM HOUSTON STATE Epsilon Zeta

By David Lee Pettus

EPSILON ZETA Chapter began its fall semester with the initiation of an additional 14 fine men, and pledged 11 more, all of whom have that Delt spirited quality.

Through the enthusiasm and chapter's support, the Delts won the men's all college intramural championship. We also took first place honors in the University's traditional Greek Week Competition this past spring.

Since 1939, the men of Epsilon Zeta have sponsored the fall Homecoming activities at Sam Houston, featuring the Homecoming parade. The parade marshal, Kenny Meschwitz, with the help of the brothers and pledges, organized a parade consisting of floats, automobiles, and walking units. This earned the Delts two first-place trophies for the most creative float and best overall walking unit.

The chapter, upon recovering with minor damages from Hurricane Alicia, is now working toward its fundamental developments to improve our new Delt shelter. Our chapter was honored by the presence of the Fraternity President, Father G. C. McElyea, who visited our shelter at the start of the fall semester.

Officers for the 1983-84 school year are: Kim McElligot, president; Rayford Lawson, 1st vice president; Scott Matson, 2nd vice president; Vince Barletta, treasurer; John Colonna, rec. secretary; David Pettus, cor. secretary; and John Mulryan, sgt.-at-arms.

We are proud to announce that our sweetheart this year is Janie Burkett.

SOUTH DAKOTA Delta Gamma

By Paul Remmes

LAST spring, Delta Gamma Chapter once again attained the top spot among the nine fraternities and exceeded the all-men's grade point average. We also beat all but two sororities, while breaking the 3.0 mark. This semester we hope to do even better. We appreciate Wayne Johnson's leadership as scholarship chairman.

With fall, of course, came rush, and later Delt Development Week for new pledges. Under Bob Lange's pledge education program, we took the pledges through the Delt Walk and the Rites of Iris, introducing them to Delta Tau Delta.

During our Dakota Days Homecoming celebration, our chapter and the women of Kappa Alpha Theta took first place in the float building competition. We appreciate Karl Richard's enthusiastic leadership as float chairman. During Homecoming we were pleased to see so many alumni visit. We enjoyed listening to reflections on their past days here.

During the University of South Dakota blood drive, we once again donated more blood than any other fraternity or dormitory. We were proud to receive an award from the local blood bank.

One of our latest activities was the annual Chi Omega — Delta Tau Delta Head Start Christmas party at our shelter. There were approximately 70 small children from the area Head Start program in attendance. Jack Donovan played Santa and distributed gifts.

We thank Jim Walters, our chapter adviser, and the visiting chapter consultant for their guidance during the past semester. We especially thank Mom Livingston for all of her treats during study tables. With the election of new officers, we are looking forward to an exciting and fruitful second semester.

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA

Epsilon Phi

By Michael Varisco

IN AUGUST, E Phi and E Psi (Southwestern La.) held a joint rush workshop. It was a success, as we gained 23 men into the chapter, the largest pledge class on campus.

In intramurals, our flag football team finished third. In bowling, we had two teams; one finished first and the other finished third. And in volleyball our team finished first.

Our Homecoming week was also a busy one. Our float placed second in the largest parade ever. Craig Scholl, chapter consultant, visited and helped our chapter in several ways and we would like to thank him for all of his help.

We also had several philanthropic activities this semester. We gave blood at the local hospital, ran from Baton Rouge to our shelter for Hammond State School (for the mentally retarded), and held our Charity Bowl. The latter is a contact football game between the Greeks and Independents with proceeds going to Arthritis Foundation. The Greeks won 20-0 and our Brother David Doss was the defensive MVP. We raised $1,500, the largest ever for a project.

New officers for 1984 are: David Lashouto, president; Buddy Gervais, first vice-president; Darryl DePaula, second vice-president, and David Doss, treasurer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Delta Pi Crescent Colony

By Steve Leland

ALUMNI, family and friends filled the shelter in mid-October as the Delta Pi Crescent Colony kicked off the fall semester with the Delt Round-up Homecoming celebration. Over 300 people enjoyed a buffet, live jazz music, and dancing as the result of laborious preparation by Jack Kennedy, Sr. (USC '57), Bud Murdock, Sr. (USC '57), Sam King (USC '75) and House Alumni Relations Chairman Buddy Murdock.

Our successful rush this fall resulted in 11 pledges, outstanding activities, and a sensational debut for the "new and improved" Delta Tau Delta at Southern Cal. Rush preparations are already under way for spring.

Endless hours of painting, landscaping, and shelter beautification were the focus of fall semester. Jim Barger (Ohio Wesleyan '78) donated the materials for a new lawn and sprinkler system. After years of neglect, the shelter is once again worthy of wearing our letters.

Professional magician Matt Hanover, chapter vice-president, was the main attraction at the "Christmas Magic" gala coordinated by the Deltas for a nearby grade school. The holiday festivities were part of the Delt civic service program and an excellent opportunity for establishing good community relations.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS STATE

Zeta Delta

By Colly Ewing

ALL SEMESTER went quite well for Zeta Delta, as we initiated eight men and pledged 26 others. Three of our pledges are legacies.

Both rush and our semesterly All College Party were successful. We provided a shuttle service after each to insure safety and promote alcohol awareness.

Many alumni were present at Homecoming and were given a special treat when three of our actives mounted the stage during the band break and dedicated some special songs to the alumni. Zeta Delta was also the benefactor of a generous donation from Mark Kaeg, one of our alumni.

Zeta Delta maintained its campus leadership as Chapter President Mason Hunt was elected vice-president of IFC. Geordie Mason served as treasurer of IFC and Tracey Monroe sang in SWT Concert Choir. Sheldon Haygood is a sports broadcaster for KAT, our campus radio station. James Caldwell was inducted into Order of Omega and Kappa Delta Pi, an education fraternity.

Our pledge class was noted in a local church bulletin for its donation and collection of food items to benefit needy families at Thanksgiving.

The semester ended with elections of our semesterly offices. Allan White is our new pledge trainer and Mike DuBoise will serve as recording secretary. Danny Owen and Steve McCoskey are our assistant treasurers.

SYRACUSE

Gamma Omicron

By Randall S. Corcoran

ALTHOUGH Syracuse University experienced a tough rush, Gamma Omicron recruited eight fine new members who will be initiated early next semester. This semester, we initiated 13 new brothers and currently have a roster (including the pledges) of 48.

It was good to see many alumni return for Homecoming. Both SU and the alumni had unsuccessful bids in their respective games; SU to Penn State and the alumni to the undergraduates in their annual fall football game.

Chapter Adviser Fred O'Rourke took on added responsibility, becoming a Division vice-president when Gamma Omicron alum Doug Northrop stepped down. FO got a new Division V.P.; Dale Thuillez, RPI '68, was appointed by Division President Steve Paquette.

Congratulations are due to the new administration recently elected: President Mike Margolis, Vice-President Daniel Linn, Treasurer Keith Lyons, Recording Secretary Tom Petrie, Corresponding Secretary Craig Bodner, and IFC Rep. Dennis O'Rourke. Dele Fadele is sergeant-at-arms and Randall Corcoran is the new house guide. Good Luck to the new officers.

TEMPLE

Crescent Colony

By Brandon M. Walsh

TEMPLE Crescent Colony captured first place for best theme float at our Homecoming parade. Later we took second in McDonald's Eat-a-Thon for charity.

Temple sponsored a "Battle of the Frats" with proceeds going to the United Way. The colony blew all others away and captured first place. We also raised the most canister money for Juvenile Diabetes — $112.

We are proud to say 16 of Temple's finest men became members of the colony on Dec. 4. We are just about finished with the renovations on our row house at 2004 N. Broad St.

Elections were held on Dec. 5, and we would like to thank Tony Sparacino, our past president, who worked very hard to get us together and keep us going over the long year. Congratulations to Bob Dombrosky, our new president, and good luck in the coming year.

On Dec. 2, brothers and pledges journeyed to Cornell University, where they received a very warm welcome by the brothers of Beta Omicron. They had a great time and got a taste of life at an established chapter. Thanks, Beta Omicron.

TENNESSEE

Delta Delta

By Jeff Morgan

FALL QUARTER has passed, finding Delta Delta well on its way to achieving its goal of fraternal excellence.

A successful rush was completed during the second week of the quarter, resulting in the addition of 14 fine pledges to our chapter. This marked the first pledge class to fully use our new Delt Pledge Manual, which outlines the entire pledge quarter through to Delt week.

Enthusiasm was the buzz-word during Homecoming week. Delta Delta participated in several events with Alpha Chi Omega Sorority, and once again received a trophy for our large float entrant.

Arch Chapter members, photographed at a fall joint meeting with the Undergraduate Council are, from left in front, Dr. Hoyt Gardner, secretary; David Nagel, treasurer; the Rev. G. C. "Tex" McElyea, president; Donald Kress, vice-president and ritualist; and Wayne Sinclair, second vice-president. Behind them are division presidents, Thomas Sharp (Southern), Steve Paquette (Eastern), and Jeff Heatherington (Western). William Hirsch, Northern Division president, attended the meeting, but was not present for the photograph.

The highlight of Homecoming was the fantastic alumni reunion held on Saturday, November 12. Over 50 couples attended a pre-game barbecue at the shelter, then journeyed after the game to the Holiday Inn on the World's Fair site for a party with the Tams. It proved to be a great night for actives and alumni alike.

New officer elections were held and produced the following results: President Dutch Magrath, Vice-President Gene Reece, Treasurer Lawrence Cervetti, Corresponding Sec. Jeff Morgan, Recording Sec. Bruce Swords, Sgt.-at-Arms Steve Grim, and Guide Evan Alexander.

A final word of thanks is directed to Brother Thomas Faulkner for his generous contribution of landscaping materials to our shelter.

We are pleased with our improved relations with our alumni, and we hope to see many of them return for the Founders Day celebration of Delta Delta's 80th anniversary this April.

TEXAS Gamma Iota

By Brandon Boehme

ONCE AGAIN, the men of Gamma Iota completed a busy and rewarding fall semester. With 37 new men to our order, including first team all-S.W.C. punter John Telschick, the Delt pledge class raised money for such worthy causes as Austin Retarded Citizens, Alzheimer Society, and over $1,000 for M.D. We also treated the Texas

School for the Blind to a trip to the park and dinner. As a chapter, we gave over 75 pints of blood — more than any other organization on campus — to win the U.T. Blood Drive.

Also claiming individual distinction was Brother Mark Jennings. In addition to winning U.T.'s Presidential Endowed Scholarship, Mark has been selected to represent the University in competition for a Rhodes Scholarship. Mark is currently maintaining a 3.92 in M.E.

The annual Dad's Day - Alumni Banquet attracted over 400 parents and alumni. The occasion was used to announce creation of the H. T. Parlin Educational Foundation, which will award scholarships in support of Gamma Iota. Guest speaker was Nick Woodward from the class of '37, who is currently senior lecturer and holder of an endowed professorship in U.T. Business Law.

Our new officers are President Roby Brann, V.P. Brandon Boehme, Treasurer Bill Paape, Rush Captains Dan Dukes, Todd Marix, and Andrew Douglass, Scholastic Chairman Bill Kessler, Corresponding Secretary Carl Cecile, Recording Secretary J. K. Leonard, and Intramurals Chairman Steve Baker.

TEXAS TECH Epsilon Delta

By Tim Edwards

THE BROTHERS of Epsilon Delta were involved in community services this semester when our brothers sponsored an all-university Jog-Rama, with benefits to M.S. The chapter also held a Christmas party for a group of underprivileged boys through the help of Big Brothers of Lubbock.

Steve Thompson is IFC treasurer, and David Fisher is the judicial executive vice-president. For the first time in years we got active with Homecoming, by building a float (with the Tri-Delts) that won third place. Recently we participated in the National Collegiate Driving Championships held on the Tech campus.

The fall rush for Epsilon Delta was one of excellence, in pledging 30 fine young men who will help broaden and strengthen the chapter. As a pledge project, the pledges sold Christmas trees to raise money for house improvements.

In intramurals, the chapter excelled in fall sports again this semester. A teams in both football and soccer advanced to the playoffs. The Delt boxing team won the all-Greek boxing tournament for the third consecutive year. This was the first time in the tournament's history for a team to win three straight.

This past semester the chapter improved in its brotherhood and became much stronger by improving its ritual, holding initiation workshops, and getting involved with community services.

TORONTO Delta Theta

By Bill Stephen

DELTA THETA has continued to grow in strength and stability. Last spring we pledged and initiated seven brothers; in the fall we initiated five more. Our shelter has been completely rewired and we plan to have our antiquated plumbing replaced very soon.

Our spirits peaked when President McElyea and his wife paid us a visit on October 25. One of our most loyal alumni, Brother Bill Disher, was honoured that same evening.

At our annual Founders Day observance last February, we held a mortgage burning program. We also honoured Richard W. Cowan for 50 years in the Fraternity. Our alumni turnout was quite impressive for this event.

Many other Delt chapters have taken opportunities to visit us. They included Michigan, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and Case Western Reserve. We have visited Bowling Green, Michigan, Cornell, and Penn State.

New officers for the coming year are Stephen J. Haughey, president; Graham Hicks, executive vice-president; Nick Mandrak, vice-president, rush; Bob Bloom, treasurer; Ed Jackson, assistant treasurer; Jonathon Angel, recording secretary; and Greg Varlow, corresponding secretary.

The party spirit lives on at Delta Theta, and we enthusiastically invite all Delts to come visit us in the "Great White North" for some good old-fashioned brotherhood.

TULANE Beta Xi

THE YEAR started off in August with a rush that netted 23 fine men. Much of this success was due to a fine rush retreat held in Gulfport, Miss., for all actives the week before classes started, as well as a "work week," which saw much exterior and interior painting and some good old fashioned elbow grease for scrubbing. The shelter was recarpeted too, and two flags, one U.S.A. and the other Delt, now grace the exterior of our home on new flagpoles.

Our first alumni function occurred during rush week at our annual alumni seafood banquet. Special thanks go to Col. Robert Boswell for shucking all those oysters. In October, the chapter and the Greater New Orleans Alumni Association sponsored a gala pre-Homecoming game brunch at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. Many alumni joined us with their wives. Many thanks for help go to Alumni Association President Jim Barkate. After the game, alumni joined us for a victory party at the shelter.

In November, we brought those 23 pledges into the fold in a fine Ritual performance attended by Southern Division President Thomas S. Sharp. Also present were Judge Henry A. Mentz and Wiley H. Sharp (Tom's Delt brother and now president of the Tulane Alumni Association).

Brother Mont S. Echols is now commodore of the highly rated Tulane sailing team. Dan S. Sullivan runs for the varsity track team, and Chris B. Tobe has been vice-president of the history honor society. This spring he will be in Washington, where he was awarded an internship with the U.S. House of Representatives. Studying abroad this year are Brothers Tommy Diaz (London) and Rew Goodenow (West Germany).

For charitable purposes, our pledges raised $1,200 in a can-shake for the Louisiana Leukemia Society. Those same bright young men helped the chapter achieve a G.P.A. of 2.973, second best on campus. Not bad, considering that No. 1 had a 2.976.

VILLANOVA Zeta Theta

By Greg LaMonica

THE VILLANOVA Deltas got off to a fine start this semester, netting nine pledges, who now have completed their pledgship. Chapter enrollment is up to 38.

Homecoming weekend was a huge success. Things got under way with the Saturday afternoon tailgate party for undergrads and alumni. The evening was topped off with the second annual Alumni Homecoming Dinner Dance.

On the sports scene, in our third consecutive rebuilding year, the Deltas improved to a sixth place finish in football. The basketball season should prove to be very successful.

Elections for new officers recently took place. We are proud to have Joe Peraino as Zeta Theta is looking forward to a strong spring rush, under the leadership of newly appointed Rush Chairman Tony Voci.

As a final note, we would like to congratulate Stephen Kirk, '81, on being chosen to play for the 1984 U.S. Olympic handball team.

WABASH Beta Psi

By Tim Koopman

THE BROTHERS of Beta Psi began the fall semester with an outstanding rush, thanks to the efforts of Co-Rush Chairmen John Dimos and Tom Graham. Our 27 new pledges include two recipients of the prestigious Lilly Scholarship, Paul Boger and Mike Shaw, and seven varsity athletes. Among their accomplishments this year, the pledges captured first-place in the annual Chapel Sing here at Wabash.

The Deltas were very active in community service. With the leadership of Comm. Serv. Chairman Alex Burgin, we raised a substantial sum of money for the Firemen's Fund for poor children of Montgomery County and donated our services to the Boy Scouts Olympics program. Due to the work of Chairman Todd Parker, alumni relations have risen to the highest level in recent years.

One of the most enjoyable events of the semester, which has been socially and academically successful, was the first annual Delta Tau Delta Parents Day Picnic.

The Beta Psi Deltas would like to thank departing officers President Daryl Deck and Vice-President Andy Reinke for a year of fine service. We would also like to welcome our new faculty adviser, Dr. Thomas Cole, and our new chapter adviser, Dave Ault. Congratulations to new officers: Steve Whitaker, president and Todd Parker, vice-president.

WASHINGTON Gamma Mu

By Stephen Nelder

GAMMA MU'S fall quarter was met with new life and optimism. Our rush chairmen did an excellent job in bringing in 21 fine, hard-working men who make up this year's pledge class. Along with renewed vigor, brought about by the pledges, the active members have also displayed a new life and interest in our chapter. One can see this in just about every committee that the chapter has.

Scholarship Committee has sought higher standards by increasing the initiation G.P.A. from 2.22 to 2.7. In addition, quiet hours have been very strictly enforced. Once again, philanthropy has contributed notably community service in the name of Delta Tau Delta. Continuing to support the Arthritis Foundation and the Washington Special Olympics, we also have successfully implemented three new programs.

The new president of Gamma Mu is Dean Maggs, vice-president is Curt Winningham, with Jon Harris, treasurer; Mark Hooper, corresponding sec.; and Tom Halliday, recording sec. Don Beckert and Aubry Moses are guide and sergeant-at-arms, respectively. The Deltas are confident that these officers, as well as the committee heads, will lead the house on to a prosperous year.

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON Gamma

By Mark T. Cooper

LAST SEMESTER our academic record was tops among Greek organizations for the second consecutive term. Brothers Jucks and Varlotto shared the highest average, each earning a 4.0, while Brother Spears earned the highest grade jump from the previous term. Our Scholarship Committee is busy implementing a program by which our pledges will help contribute to our academic status.

We are also proud of our new faculty adviser. After Dr. Adlai E. Michaels retired, Gamma unanimously elected K. Wayne Robison as our new adviser. Mr. Robison is an accounting professor at W and J, and he has his own firm here in Washington. He is excited about his involvement in Delta Tau Delta, and the brothers warmly welcome him to Gamma.

In early October, the brothers were proud to participate in "Melissa Keller Day" in Washington, Pa. This was a carnival organized to raise funds for a local girl who has an inoperable brain tumor. Under the direction of Mu Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity and with the help of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, the Deltas were able to raise $105 by selling maps of the Washington area. Total money collected for the Keller family was in excess of $800.

Finally, we feel this is a year of change for Gamma Chapter. As the Fraternity finishes celebrating its 125th Anniversary, and as Gamma will celebrate its 123rd, we hope we might perpetuate our leadership in the fraternity world. Our major goal is to take in 15 to 20 pledges next semester. With the strength of our present administration, a push from our Rush Committee, and help from our alumni, we hope to make Gamma Chapter even stronger for the future of Delta Tau Delta!

WASHINGTON AND LEE Phi

By Rich Gatti

THE START of the school year brought about many changes for Phi Chapter. We began by welcoming Captain Smith of the ROTC Department as our new faculty adviser and saying goodbye to the transferred Major Kelly. Although Major Kelly will be missed, we are very pleased to have the help of Captain Smith.

Two weeks before the start of the year, the Phi joined together to make some needed house improvements and prepare for fall rush. At present, we have a diversified group of eight new pledges and are hoping for more. The fall also included the organization of an alumni newsletter which was recently completed and circulated.

Individual achievements include the acting of sophomore Ned Richardson in the Washington and Lee production of "Rashomon," and the outstanding piano performance of freshman Rob Vineut with the Glee Club.

In sports, sophomore Conrad Boyle placed first out of a field of 224 runners in Washington and Lee's annual intramural cross country run, to help lead the Phi to third place out of 20 teams. Sophomore Jim Culnane returned to the varsity tennis team with a strong fall performance.

WASHINGTON STATE Epsilon Gamma

By Scott Schwisow

THE MEMBERS of Epsilon Gamma had the pleasure of returning to a newly renovated shelter this fall. The kitchen has been totally remodeled and modernized, the living room and fireplace are restored, and the electrical system has been updated. Many thanks go to members Mike Roddy, Dave Geppert, Dan Galbraith, Rob Emmons, and our House Corporation treasurer, Chuck Rogers, for all the work and effort they put into the shelter this past summer.

The first weekend of October was spent in the backwoods of Idaho on an all-house camp-out. The retreat was a great opportunity for all members and new pledges to learn about each other and develop goals for themselves, as well as for the chapter, for the present school year.

Epsilon Gamma was pleased to see the number of alumni who returned on Homecoming Weekend (and we hope to see you again soon). Homecoming also provided our House Corporation a chance to meet with the house officers to develop long-term goals and improvements for the shelter.

Our busy month of October culminated with our third annual Halloween Party for the mentally handicapped children in the Pullman area. It included decorations, a haunted house, games, a pinata, and pumpkin carving. The event was enjoyed by all, and the members look forward to the party next year.

During the last week of November our chapter received the campus "Programs Activities" award for the previous two months. Programs Committee Chairman Mike Wickline arranged programs that ranged from presentations on Nicaragua and career awareness to our Halloween Party for the kids — a great learning experience for all of us at Washington State University.

WESLEYAN Gamma Zeta

By Sanford Goldstein

THE HIGHLIGHT of Gamma Zeta's fall semester was the initiation of six new brothers. Throughout pledge period, these former pledges learned the importance of working together as a tightly-knit group. They were given the opportunity to work together particularly when the brotherhood made a trip to New York City. The pledges were given a list of questions that could be answered by doing research in the city. The entire event was closely monitored and proved quite successful, as through it these pledges became much closer.

Our Homecoming, highlighted by a magnificent banquet prepared by our new chef, Mel, was quite successful. We look forward to the continuation of an already strong eating club in the spring semester.

Financially, Treasurer Soren Pfeffer, elected to the presidency for next semester, has helped to spur a fiscal turnaround. Gamma Zeta is again on solid ground.

Gamma Zeta has been extremely active athletically. Brother Brian Lichtenstein, an all-New England division III hammer thrower, has been named captain of the indoor and outdoor varsity track and field teams. President Nick Webb, a two-time all-New England volleyball player, has been named captain of the men's volleyball team. Stuart Remensnyder has been named captain of the men's golf team, and Rick Davidson has been named captain of the men's tennis team.

Our brothers have also been active in the Wesleyan community. Steve Diamond has been chosen for the Board of Honors and General Education while Webb serves as president of the Board of House Presidents.

WESTERN ILLINOIS Zeta Lambda

By Brian Aden

THE CHAPTER has undergone a very successful reorganization process. At the start of the semester, we had five actives who worked hard to rebuild the chapter. After interviewing quite a number of young men, we started picking out the top quality men who were interested in rebuilding the chapter here at Western. Seven excellent men have joined and we continue to grow stronger every day.

Our thanks to Ken File, the international Fraternity's director of program development, who headed an excellent retreat for us on the weekend of November 12-13, and to Jim Emanuel, chapter consultant, who has helped us get back on our feet, along with implementing a great rush program.

The following officers recently were elected: President Brian Labahn, Vice-President Doug Reese, Treasurer Mike Piazza, Recording Secretary Phil Falson, and Corresponding Secretary Brian Aden.

Bob Foley was nominated for Greek Man of the Year here at Western. We wish him the best of luck.

WESTERN KENTUCKY Epsilon Xi

By Brett C. Ballard

THE BROTHERS of Epsilon Xi Chapter started the fall semester on a very "up" note as we moved to a new house less than a block from campus. The brothers put in many hours cleaning, painting, and otherwise fixing up what used to be dirty rental apartments. It has six bedrooms (sleeping 15), a large living room, four baths, a full kitchen, and a unique octagonal-shaped room we use for trophy display and TV viewing. It has fast become a home in which all members have pride.

To complement the house, fall rush resulted in the largest pledge class in quite a while, 16 fine men in all. They shared our enthusiasm for the new house, and did a fine job of refurbishing the kitchen as their pledge project.

Other items: we placed third in the Kappa Delta Sorority's annual Washboard Jambo-ree, a country-western skit competition. Brothers Lee Grace and David Jones were elected, respectively, to president and public affairs vice-president of Western's IFC. Finally, we were honored to have Father McElyea stop in and visit for a few hours during his vacation.

We're proud of our achievements in one semester's time, and yet it serves simply as a springboard to make us number one at Western.

WESTMINSTER Delta Omicron

By Scott Rector and Brad Kriekhaus

THE BROTHERS of Delta Omicron are maintaining an impressive record at Westminster College. Being the smallest fraternity on campus, our chapter takes pride in the fact that we consistently rank among the top in academics, intramurals and community service.

Fall rush was deemed extremely successful. This, combined with a new and much stronger pledge program, has given us a very good brother-to-pledge relationship. We believe this relationship to be very important in the continuing development of our chapter as a whole.

Again this year, Delta Omicron is strong in varsity sports. Sophomore Brad Hilsabeck, for example, has led the Westminster Blue Jays to a very strong beginning for the basketball season.

Once again our chapter is strong in community service. Involvement in the Crop Hunger Walk and Meals on Wheels programs have led to this. Also, we held our second annual mud-wrestling tournament, with all proceeds going to the Arthritis Foundation.

The newly elected officers for 1984 are: Scott Boswell, president; Dan West, vice-president; Alan Rautenberg, treasurer; Craig Stefanczyk, rec. secretary; Mark Humphreys, cor. secretary; and Scott Buhlinger, rush chairman.

WEST VIRGINIA Gamma Delta

By Mike Clifford

GAMMA DELTA has not been allowed to conduct any type of rush since September, 1982, and thus has dropped significantly in membership. As the semester comes to an end, however, one cannot help but feel hopeful that the fraternity will be taken off University suspension before rush begins in January. Some of the recent fraternity achievements that support this claim include:

- (1) A haunted house project designed and operated in conjunction with the Morgantown Jaycees. Nearly $1,000 was raised for the local charities; the Deltas have now completed 944 hours of community service since the suspension was imposed.
- (2) A highly successful Homecoming day held for parents and Gamma Delta alumni. The event, planned and catered with the help of Alumni Relations Chairman George Barnhart, was easily one of the best Homecoming celebrations ever held at the shelter.
- (3) The complete painting and carpeting of the shelter, all done by the brothers.

Most important of all is the fact that there have been no complaints lodged against the fraternity in over a year.

When the Deltas were originally put on suspension, few expected the chapter to ever regain its status of a campus leader. Yet, the brothers of Gamma Delta, along with several key alumni, have combined to make the fraternity a chapter everyone can be proud of.

WHITMAN Delta Rho

By James Tsuruta

DELTA RHO is proud to announce that our fall rush resulted in the pledging of 18 freshmen and sophomores. At this writing, informal rush for our second semester pledge class has brought our numbers up to a total of 49. This has been the most successful rush put on by Delta Rho since beginning our recolonization in September of 1981 with seven members. Credit for this achievement can be given to the organizational talents of our fall rush committee, headed by Dave Vandenbosch, and to the motivation and spirit of the entire chapter.

The Executive Council that had the pleasure of presiding over the chapter this semester included Peter Harvey, president; Rich Ross; Stu Frische, vice-president; Pieter Whittemore; James Tsuruta, secretary; and Steve Durtka, treasurer.

During the semester, an agreement was forged to create a House Corporation. Its current members are Bill Keyes, treasurer; Vern Solbach, former chapter adviser; and Kenyon Knopf, chapter adviser. Two more positions are available for any other interested alumni. More information will appear in our spring newsletter.

The shelter at 210 Marcus has undergone major improvements. The infamous green couch in the living room has been replaced with a more esthetically pleasing, although smaller black couch. The fence in the back yard was completed before rush. Trac lighting is about to be installed in the chapter room. Tables and new light fixtures have been procured for the dining room.

All in all, this year should prove to be one of Delta Rho's finest in terms of chapter size, physical improvements to the shelter, and most importantly, in our attitudes and organization.

WISCONSIN Beta Gamma

By Timothy C. Hause

IT WAS another successful semester for the Beta Gamma Deltas. Eleven outstanding new members were initiated into our ranks on December 2, highlighting a spirited Delt Week. For their projects, the pledges established an exam file for the chapter and performed many tasks of general maintenance and repair to help keep the shelter attractive and in working order. Pledge Trainer Dave Hensel and Rush Chairman Jim FitzGerald did an outstanding job with these young men.

Early in the semester, on two separate occasions, the Deltas banded together and painted the homes of local senior citizens. In another project, the Deltas participated, for the second year, in the United Cerebral Palsy Phone-a-Thon.

The large turnout of alumni for Homecoming was another highlight of the semester. Over 100 were on hand to swap stories and reminisce with the active members and each other.

This semester also marked the first presentation of the Dwight G. Norman Alumni Participation Award. This award will be given to an alumnus to recognize and show appreciation for the support he has given to the chapter. The recipient of this year's award was the man for whom the award was named, Dwight G. Norman. Congratulations and thanks, Dwight. ▲

PENN STATE SHARPSHOOTER

By JOHN NAGLEE

ON AUGUST 13, 1983, a Penn State Delt pledge, Drew Rowe, won gold and bronze medals in two different shooting events at the Keystone State Games. The only contestant to win two medals, he won the gold in the three position events and the bronze in the English match.

Drew is a member of the top ranked Penn State rifle team, which competes in the Non-NCAA. He also is a member of the Army ROTC rifle team.

"My father is a gunsmith, so shooting comes naturally to me," says Drew, who enjoys both riflery competition and hunting small game. "I've been around guns all my life; that's where I learned."

Another achievement that came naturally to Drew was victory at the National Sectional Open, where he won his class title. Armed with an Anschutz 22 cal. custom match rifle, he has won numerous other matches also in Central Pennsylvania.

Drew, who was initiated into Tau Chapter on December 4, 1983, says he is looking forward to competing in the Olympic trials in June. The way it looks right now, we might be seeing him in competition representing Delta Tau Delta, Penn State University, and the United States this year.

Penn State's Drew Rowe receives his gold medal.

Willamette Delts Organize Effort To Get Anti-Hazing Legislation

WE REALIZED the need to create a firm policy on hazing in Oregon after the 1982 Karnea. Willamette University had no real policy on it and although we discontinued hazing four years ago, it became obvious that other sororities and fraternities had not. The State of Oregon had no laws concerning hazing, so Epsilon Theta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta decided to introduce a bill to the Oregon Legislature that would define and set definite penalties for hazing.

After Shawn Holt, a Willamette University Delt alum and our head resident at that time, wrote the initial draft of the bill, we convinced Tom Mason, an Oregon state representative from Portland, to sponsor the bill.

Seniors Steve Nappi, Nic Adams, Todd Goergen (who were serving as interns during the 1983 session of the Oregon Legislature), and our chapter adviser, Jeff Heatherington, did much of the groundwork that helped pass the bill through the Oregon State House and Senate. The group researched material on existing policies in other states and on Oregon's current policy. This research was invaluable during testimony given before the House Committee. The group also wrote many letters to obtain support for the bill. The University of Oregon and Oregon State University both supported the bill as a result of this group's activities. With all this work it is no wonder that the vote passed the House 43-15.

By summer, the bill entered the Senate. Ken Yates, a member of Sigma Chi at Willamette University also serving an internship, joined with the group of Delts in lobbying for the passage of the bill through the Senate.

In July, the Governor of Oregon signed the bill. This new law serves three purposes. It establishes a statewide definition of hazing. It puts fraternities, sororities, and other college groups on notice that the State disapproves of the practice of hazing. And, most important, the law gives college administrations another tool to help eliminate the problem of hazing.
