

A smiling man with short brown hair, wearing a yellow t-shirt, is the central focus. He is surrounded by two young girls. The girl on the left is wearing a red shirt and a lei made of yellow, purple, and pink paper. The girl on the right is wearing a white shirt and a lei made of purple, yellow, and pink paper. They are all smiling and appear to be at a festive event. In the background, there are shelves with various items, possibly in a store or a community center.

Norval Stephens, Foundation Chairman, congratulates John Gleeson, Campaign Chairman on the success of the Sesquicentennial Campaign Kickoff at Karnea this past August.

Timing Is Everything (New Tax Law Change)

The Brickyard Karnea was a tremendous success in Indianapolis. The Delt Foundation has been making plans for a major announcement. An $18 million Sesquicentennial Campaign was kicked off on Friday of the Karnea, and, as if on cue, President Bush signed the Pension Protection Act of 2006.

For the right alumnus with an over-funded IRA who has wanted to support the Delt Foundation or other charitable organizations, this new legislation will provide a unique opportunity to support important programs for the Fraternity.

Come back to the Fraternity

During the next two years, we will have multiple opportunities to celebrate, honor and reflect on the 150 years of Delta Tau Delta. The final celebration will be at the 2008 Karnea in Pittsburgh. This also will be a time for the Fraternity and all chapters to reflect on their past, present and future.

During this period, the Educational Foundation will call upon us to secure the future financially by supporting a variety of initiatives. At the same time, the call will go out for alumni volunteers to come forward to serve chapters in a variety of ways. Young men today need our support, guidance, direction and assistance in navigating the ever changing world. The Fraternity cannot replace the family, but the sociological reality is the family has gone through dramatic changes in the last 20 years and the social support that once existed may be void for many young Deltas.

Our Fraternity offers young men a set of principles and values to guide them today and in the future. Yes, our Fraternity faces many challenges: alcohol abuse, hazing and misbehavior still exist. Some chapters that did not understand that those behaviors will not be tolerated are now gone. But our challenge is not to be the police, but the guide to a life that creates productive citizens for tomorrow.

The Sesquicentennial Badge that was presented at the Karnea to honor our history and our future has the Greek word "arête" inscribed on it in very small letters meaning "to be the best you can be."

On behalf of the Arch Chapter, I'm asking you to come back to the Fraternity and help young Deltas to become "the best they can be."

You often are asked if you were in a fraternity and the common answer is, "I was a Delt at X University." The correct answer is "I'm a Delt." That being said, I ask for your help on behalf of your younger brothers.

12 Chapter Eternal

DEAR EDITOR,

I read with great interest the June 2006 issue of The Rainbow regarding diversity. Congratulations on a well-done feature. The subject took me back to 1952 when I was in the Gamma Gamma Chapter at Dartmouth College. I represented our house at the Karnea in Michigan that year, having to report that Dartmouth would be outlawing any fraternities with discrimination clauses in their charter. I explained the fact and reminded the assembly that eliminating the rule would still give every chapter the right to select just whom they wanted as members. I then made a motion to eliminate the clause and it was soundly defeated. Two years later, Delta Tau Delta went local at Dartmouth and is now Bones Gate, a very healthy house with a great group of brothers.

It's astounding that 54 years have passed before "diversity" is finally recognized as something good and not to be ruled against. Thanks for your feature.

DAVE REPLOGLE
DARTMOUTH COLLEGE, 1953

House Corporation and made significant contributions to two major house re-building campaigns. I have been a regular contributor to the DTD Educational Foundation for many years, and have named the Foundation as a $10,000 insurance beneficiary. Yet, all of this dedication is going straight down the drain if the current national leadership persists in an overt recognition of open homosexuality as of no consequence in considering a candidate for membership. Diversification is one thing, but this is stretching things to a point of insanity.

I am sure that over the years a significant number of young men have been taken into the Fraternity who have had homosexual inclinations, but never to my knowledge openly to their Delt brothers or to those outside the Fraternity, any more than public revelation of any other psychological or physical aberration. Striving toward the Fraternity's goals in spite of such private handicaps is of course admirable, but tarnishing the image of true brotherhood has never been acceptable. Strictly speaking, this cannot be allowed.

THOMAS B. ROMINE JR.
UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS, 1948

DEAR EDITOR,

As a modern cleric who represents cultural continuity so long as it is not at odds with science, I enjoyed the short piece by Brother David Borrelli of Epsilon Upsilon Chapter at Marietta College (June 2006 issue).

Rather than say the words "sexual orientation" (which he, Brother Borrelli, used three times in his short piece), how about the words "sexual disorientation?" There is an etiology to homosexual behavior; it is not genetically acquired.

DOUGLAS S. BERGMANN
PITTSBURGH, 1968

DEAR EDITOR,

I was majorly distressed and deeply disappointed by receipt of the June 2006 edition of The Rainbow and its overly liberal promotion of "diversity" within the Fraternity, particularly the essay by David Borrelli of Marietta College. This goes far beyond all Delt traditions that I ever heard of, and I am convinced that Epsilon Upsilon Chapter ought to be drummed out of the Fraternity for flagrant disregard of what Delta Tau Delta has always stood for.

Delta Tau Delta has been an abiding major influence on my life since initiation in 1945, and my closest friends from that date until now are all Delts. I have two Delt sons and a Delt brother-in-law. I was a leader in the alumni group that founded Epsilon Beta at Texas Christian University and helped to get that chapter off the ground. I served several years as a Western Division Vice President and I am a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter. I served over 50 years as an active member of Gamma Iota's

DEAR EDITOR,

Just prior to our invasion of Iraq three years ago, I ventured back to America and began an eight-month odyssey traveling strictly back roads, camping out, and hankering with folks in small towns to rediscover an America I no longer recognized. Part of this trip took me to Bloomington to pay a visit to the Beta Alpha Chapter (though without students since it was July). I noticed the 1960 composite was to be retired the following year to make room for the latest addition in a long gallery that stretched up the stairs—a reminder of how many years had passed. I was disappointed to learn that the chapter had been disciplined for a drinking incident, bringing back memories of tales of the same a few years before I pledged in the fall of 1955.

Dr. Clark from the Beta Alpha House Corporation sent a kind letter informing me of some serious adjustments placing stress on scholarship and restrictions on behavior that would prove detrimental. It was a warm and welcomed letter, but I didn't reply. The other day I received a certificate recognizing the fact that I've been a Delta for 50 years. I thought to reply but found the time getting by—an ambivalence that reminds me of how I've changed.

Though I have many found memories of chapter life, I've come to a state of mind that acknowledges the rah rah days, yet to just let them go as rites of passage. I recall with a sense of pride that our pledge class was the last one to undergo a full blown "Hell Week" at Beta Alpha and promptly ended the childishness as soon as we were active.

Then I received the latest copy of The Rainbow with its cover article, "How do Delts Define Diversity?" and your "Editor's Note." I was very happy to read the 12 contributions to the article. Delta Tau Delta has indeed come of age, and I am sure that is due in so small measure to Delts like you and Brother Brantley who introduced the article. Reaching out to the broad diversity that makes up this global community entails developing a spiritual maturity and borderless mindset essential to today's world. If Delta Tau Delta is enthusiastically embracing the ideals of diversity that the wealth of the whole is defined by the diversity of the parts—then I'm truly encouraged to know that—no more ambivalence!

When I traveled throughout America in 2003, I found that we Americans are good people, hard working, open and generous; but abysmally unaware of anything outside the country. Instead of trying to understand the historical and cultural sources of resentment created by past Western imperialism and our coddling tyrants for oil, etc., we Americans fell in lockstep behind machismo and a simplistic mindset of good/evil to rain down high tech death on thousands of innocent people ratcheting up anti-Americanism everywhere. When diversity is feared we rally behind a collective paranoia—when diversity is part of a quest to find a common humanism and identity, then we support policies that seek understanding and build trust.

America is a diverse national struggling to realize our ideals that all men are created equal, but it must be extended beyond national borders. That's why your efforts to promote this awareness are so important. Thank you for your editorship and in furthering this sense of respect and compassion in the Delta Tau Delta chapters.

FRANK CHASE
INDIANA UNIVERSITY, 1959

DEAR EDITOR,

Congratulations on a great Rainbow for June! I have been reading the articles, and I am impressed with the truths in those on diversity. I hope our brothers, undergraduate and alumni, will read them and think about them.

THOMAS HILL
SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY, 1968

DEAR EDITOR,

I'd like to congratulate you for the June 2006 issue of the Rainbow. Speaking as one who was present when the highly uncomfortable and unpleasant "1858 vs Rainbow Debate" played out a couple of Karneas ago, I was amazed that you acknowledged and presented the many differences between the conception of the "Ideal Delt" of, say, 100 years ago and today's college student. The only thing I think that could have been added was previous acknowledgment of older gay-straight conflicts at the undergraduate level; problems in the late 1990s at Penn come to mind (e.g., "Seeking Acceptance on Fraternity Row," Chronicle of Higher Education, October 2, 1998).

ROBERT T. WHITE
CASE WESTERN RESERVE, 1977

management, this is a subject that's very dear to my interests.

Unfortunately, during my undergraduate days, it would have been difficult to pledge someone who "wasn't like us." A prospective pledge who was black, gay, older...etc. would probably have been passed over because we were too short-sighted to recognize his inner qualities.

I can't tell you how glad I am that today's Delta Tau Delta is starting to realize the strengths that diversity can bring to the organization.

There's still a long way to go before many Delta chapters (and other fraternities) get away from being just a group of "young straight white guys." But, with insightful reporting like you've just provided, we're making significant progress. I truly hope this topic receives periodic attention and follow up. It deserves to be a continuing discussion.

Thanks for showing how Delta Tau Delta is preparing itself for the future.

DAN W. GUIO
BALL STATE UNIVERSITY, 1968

DEAR EDITOR,

I've been waiting over 30 years to read something as provocative as your article by David Borelli on page 32 of the recent issue of The Rainbow. As a gay man and a proud Delt alumni, I learned to compartmentalize my life while at school in order not to cause any discomfort among my brothers. The early 1970s was still a time when being an openly gay Delt was an impossibility.

My years at Epsilon Epsilon were some of the happiest of my young life. I enjoyed my tenure as social and activities chairman, as well as my key ceremonial role during the initiation rites. The laughter, comradery, friendship, loyalty and sense of family were amazing, yet I knew that announcing my orientation could put all of that in jeopardy.

How wonderful that the Fraternity recognizes that there have been possibly thousands of gay members who have shared my experience over the years. I would bet that those brothers share my deep sense of Delt pride in knowing that the Fraternity understands that character, leadership and vision are not exclusive to any one group or orientation. It is these shared values that will continue to make Delta Tau Delta a leader among Greeks well into this new millennium.

STEPHEN BROWNING
UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA, 1973

DEAR EDITOR,

I'm a founder and charter member of the Epsilon Mu Chapter at Ball State graduating in 1968. Over all these years I've enjoyed receiving The Rainbow of Delta Tau Delta, but this is the first time I've wanted to comment to the staff.

I just wanted to say congratulations on your excellent handling of the topic of diversity. After completing a 30-year career in human resources

DEAR EDITOR,

I am writing in response to the latest issue of The Rainbow that graces my coffee table. Certainly I can't be the only one responding to the diversity article recently printed but to me it is a bit bothersome. Being a Delt from the Zeta Beta Chapter at LaGrange College, Ga., I have dealt first hand with diversity during my four years there. We had brothers who were black, white, Puerto Rican, Mexican and from Honduras so please don't misinterpret what I am trying to say as politically incorrect or rude. With that said, can we not run anymore articles discussing homosexuality in our Fraternity magazine?

Everyone has their own feelings about this issue, but for several brothers of different schools we have discussed this and wish to not have to explain to our wives, children, parents or friends why we were a member in a gay fraternity. I know this comes across in a blunt manner, but surely you can understand why someone who doesn't know better would pick up a magazine called The Rainbow and flip through only to stop at an article discussing gay acceptance. I take great pride in my Fraternity and its history to which I will gladly defend her symbolism, but let's keep these issues of accepting homosexuality a tacit approval.

In conclusion, I would like to add the good ol' Seinfeldian, "Not that there's anything wrong with that." But where Marietta College in Connecticut might have a different viewpoint on the issue than say Georgia, where homosexual acceptance isn't as widespread; I ask, out of respect to us conservative southern gentlemen, to save us the explanation of stance in future issues.

100 YEARS AGO

Summarizing the summer 1906 Arch Chapter meeting, Frank Rogers, Rainbow editor, wrote on the unwavering stance of former treasurer and future Fraternity President Alvan B. Duerr (Kenyon 1893) on chapters bringing their accounts current. "It has always been an interesting psychological study for me to see men come to our Karneas strongly anti-Duerr because he had made them pay up," Rogers opined. "Invariably they left the Karneas as strongly pro-Duerr. College men are often careless, but they are usually just."

75 YEARS AGO

The Fraternity mourned the death of Ira B. Blackstock (DePauw 1886), railroad president, civic leader in Springfield, Ill., prominent Methodist layman, and DePauw University trustee. He was one of the first Deltas to be cited with membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter, and provided the funding for purchase of the land at DePauw where the school's Blackstock Stadium has stood since 1923.

50 YEARS AGO

Delts Bob Jeangerard (Colorado 1954) and Rom Tomsic (Stanford 1955) were selected to play on the U.S. men's basketball team at the 1956 Melbourne Olympics. The first Summer Olympics played in the Southern Hemisphere and the latest (in November) ever staged saw the U.S. win the basketball gold medal with an average victory margin of 53 points in its six games.

25 YEARS AGO

The cover and a package of stories in the fall 1981 edition of The Rainbow focused on "Alcohol Awareness: A Critical Need." The magazine's opening essay, written by President Kenneth N. Folgers (IIT 1958), cited the need for Deltas to be at the fore of combating campus alcohol abuse. "One of the major goals of our Fraternity is training for leadership," Folgers wrote. "So let's take the lead and do what has to be done to solve problems of alcohol abuse on our campuses. Let's be positive examples."

5 YEARS AGO

Plans to return the Delt flag through colonization efforts to the University of Pennsylvania, University of Southern California and Tulane University were featured in The Rainbow as the 2001-02 school year began.

Expansion Update

Fraternity begins return to Kansas, Michigan; starts chapter at Appalachian State

The return of the Gamma Tau and Delta chapters to University of Kansas and Michigan kicks off the Fraternity's fall expansion efforts. Everyone is working hard to make these expansion projects a great success.

If you are an alumnus located in North Carolina, the newest expansion of the Fraternity at Appalachian State University is set to take place on October 11. Check out www.delts.org for details or e-mail us at AppState@delts.net.

Gamma Tau was originally founded in Lawrence in 1914 and saw the initiation of 1,673 men before closing its doors on March 6, 2001. Delta was founded in Ann Arbor in 1880 and saw its doors closed on February 15, 2001. Michigan has one of the oldest histories with the Fraternity, with the initiation of 1,857 men.

As a member of Delta Tau Delta, we have learned there are three ways for alumni to support a chapter. These are through "Time, Talent and Treasure." Every Delt can support his own chapter or the chapter closest to him. During the process of recolonization, there will be countless opportunities to give your own "Time, Talent and/or Treasure." Desire as you may, but right now we are looking mainly for your time and talent. Looking specifically at the recolonization, there are opportunities to become involved as advisors, house corporation members, attending recruitment events during the project and also referring men to be considered as candidates for the colony.

We strongly encourage your attendance and participation at the alumni reception and formal pledging. Support from alumni makes a huge impact on students and gives credence to the assertion of strong alumni involvement. We look forward to you giving your time and talents at the forthcoming of these rising Crescent colonies. If you have any questions, please email Kansas@delts.net or Michigan@delts.net. Up-to-date information is also available at www.delts.org. Just click on the respective link.

Delta Mu raises $1.5 million for new

In 2003, the Delta Mu Chapter House Corporation came to the realization its Shelter was not competitive with other student housing in Moscow, Idaho. This was in part due to recently built residence halls at the university and several new renovations of other fraternities' houses, but also due to the normal decline of an aging structure. A complete renovation would be necessary as the existing home was built in 1931, with the last renovation occurring nearly 40 years ago. In order to stay competitive and continue to offer the environment that has produced 11 Hugh Shields Awards: 1966, 1971-80 and 1995; and six chapter consultants: Al Kiser (1945), Keith Hanson (1971), Rory Jones (1977), Ron Millick (1980), Russ Branham (1994) and Jeff Chrisman (1996); something had to be done.

A dedicated group of alumni, led by Chairman John Rosholt (1959), Honorary Chairman Gary Michael (1962), Ted Frostenson (1956), Dr. Bob Mecham (1959), Dr. Theron Nelsen (1960), Bob Bush (1970), Rick Lierz (1980) and Mark Mecham (1986), embarked upon a plan to strengthen the Delta Mu experience by upgrading the life-safety features and enhancing the educational and technological infrastructure within the Shelter. With the assistance of Pennington & Company, the recognized leader in fraternity fundraising, the Continuing the Tradition: The Campaign for Delta Mu was initiated in 2004.

The campaign was implemented not only to honor the successes of both its members and the chapter, but also to ensure future generations the opportunity to build upon Delta Mu's storied history. Since the campaign began two years ago, more than $1.5 million has been raised by 245 members. The success of the fundraising efforts is a direct connection to the positive undergraduate experience Delta Mu has provided. A much deserved thank you goes out to all the alumni who gave their time, talents and financial commitments to make this project a reality.

Construction on the Shelter began this past June, with an anticipated completion in December. The renovated facility will promote the timelessness of our Fraternity, and it will be a place all Deltas—undergraduate and alumni members alike—will be proud to call home.

ALCOHOL ABUSE PREVENTION

DTAA program fueled by new partnership

Twenty years ago, Delta Tau Delta took a huge step in the Greek world with the implementation of Delts Talking About Alcohol. "DTAA" as it would soon be known to many, was the fraternity world's first comprehensive alcohol abuse prevention program. Delta Tau Delta partnered with Prevention Research Institute to train chapter instructors, usually an undergraduate and a chapter advisor. The duo would return to their chapter from a weekend training experience to present the Delts Talking About Alcohol program in three two-hour sessions. Years later the Fraternity turned to traveling interns to facilitate DTAA across the country.

DTAA was once described as cutting edge, but a recent satisfaction survey conducted by the Fraternity showed the program was in need of an overhaul. As a result, the Central Office researched alternatives to the traditional DTAA model, and with the approval of the Arch Chapter, will roll out AlcoholEdu as the new vehicle for alcohol abuse education this fall.

Twenty years ago, students were lucky if they entered college with a Walkman™ for entertainment between classes while calling cards and stamps kept them in contact with family. Today, freshmen enter college armed with a laptop, cell phone, mp3 player and other technology at their fingertips. Now, DTAA is anywhere a college student wants it to be – from the comfort of his residence hall room to a coffee shop WiFi hotspot.

Delts Talking About Alcohol: Powered by AlcoholEdu will be a unique experience for undergraduate Delts in many ways. The AlcoholEdu course, designed by Outside the Classroom (www.outsidetheclassroom.com), is a confidential, personalized experience for each member. It is used by more than 450 colleges and universities and Greek organizations around the country. AlcoholEdu is available 24-hours a day via the internet and can be completed at the user's pace.

Every chapter will have a specific login and each new member will be required to complete the course within the academic term of his initiation. Information will be sent out by the Central Office electronically, as well as with all new member badges and Life of Excellence education manuals.

Information from AlcoholEdu is only the beginning. Each chapter is strongly encouraged to take advantage of AlcoholEdu's facilitation topics provided on the Fraternity's website. To properly address the problems of alcohol abuse in Delta Tau Delta, we must engage in meaningful conversations. These discussions can be facilitated by chapter leaders, advisors, chapter consultants or campus personnel.

At the 2006 Brickyard Karnea, two breakout sessions allowed Karnea participants the opportunity to share their concerns about the evolution of DTAA and learn a little about how to use the program and best implement it into their chapter's new member education program. Undergraduates and alumni alike had plenty of input and seemed generally satisfied about the evolution of DTAA. All of the materials provided during those workshops are available on the Fraternity's website.

NIC meets to develop plan for prevention among Greek organizations

On Aug. 14, Director of Chapter Services Matt Leonard, and Assistant Director of Leadership Development Matt Kozlowski, attended an all-day seminar hosted by the North-American Interfraternity Conference (NIC) to share information regarding the undesired relationship between alcohol and recruitment. The NIC has formed a committee of 20 members of the higher education community to analyze this ubiquitous problem for all fraternities. The NIC recognizes several stakeholders in this process including chapters, IFCs, volunteers and advisors, campus personnel, national organizations and local communities. The seminar was an opportunity for fraternity professional staff to discuss implementation strategies for discouraging the use of alcohol during recruitment. Organizations recognize that for all the good things they do as Greeks, high-risk alcohol abuse puts their future in jeopardy. The committee will continue to meet over the next several months to further strategize and develop a plan for success.

Welcome new volunteers

Alumni volunteers give the greatest service to our undergraduates and are the backbone of alumni involvement in our chapters. These men have the opportunity to affect the lives of many young men in their chapters for a period of years. It is almost impossible to have a great chapter unless we have a great chapter advisor and volunteer network. The following men have committed to dedicate a portion of their lives to this service, and it is greatly appreciated by all Delts.

Data from students who completed the program in summer and fall 2004 showed that AlcoholEdu for College

Increases practical knowledge

71% said they now know more about blood alcohol concentration (BAC) and 44% of men know more about how alcohol affects consent for sex.

Motivates students to change behavior

The percentage of heavy-episodic drinkers who did not see a need to change their behavior dropped by almost 30% after AlcoholEdu and the percentages of students who were trying to change doubled.

Decreases negative consequences

For the entire academic year 2003/2004, students who took the program had significantly fewer negative personal, health and academic consequences.

After traveling much of the Northern and Western Plains Divisions in 2005-06, Chris Bowers returns for a second year as a chapter consultant. Born and raised in Tallmadge, Ohio, Chris graduated cum laude from Kent State University with a bachelor's degree in finance. As a member of the Delta Omega Chapter, he served as president, vice president, director of academic affairs and pledge educator. A 2003 graduate of the Bethany Leadership Academy, Chris also served on the Undergraduate Council and Kent State's Interfraternity Council and Undergraduate Student Senate. He was named Kent State's "Greek Man of the Year" in 2004 and "Student Leader of the Year" in 2005. He enjoys playing golf and plans to start a career in business consulting.

A 2006 graduate of American University with a bachelor's degree in business administration, Jesse Epstein begins his first year as a consultant. As a member of the Theta Epsilon Chapter, Jesse served as president for two terms, vice president, philanthropy chairman and pledge educator as well as serving as the IFC vice president of recruitment. He was named American University's "Chapter President of the Year" and the Southern Division "President of the Year" in 2005. He is a graduate of the Sailing Leadership Academy, Undergraduate Interfraternity Institute, and National Greek Leadership Association Conference and has served as a Futures Quest mentor. Originally from Amherst, N.H., Jesse loves to play basketball and golf, listen to music, travel and spend time with his family and friends.

Originally from the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Jeff Keysear graduated with honors in 2006 from the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor's degree in political science. A dedicated member of the Zeta Chi Chapter, he served as community service chairman, secretary, vice president, president and pledge educator. Jeff preserved a strong commitment to service and philanthropy throughout his tenure. His involvement at Southern Miss also included the University Activities Council and two years as a director of freshman orientation. A 2004 graduate of the Bethany Leadership Academy and a spokesman for the "Delts Helping Delts" disaster relief fund, Jeff plans to pursue law school and a career in academia. He enjoys reading, swimming, horseback riding and plenty of outdoor relaxation.

Justin Nichols, a native of Martinsville, Ind., graduated in 2006 from Butler University with a bachelor's degree in international management with a minor in German. He was fortunate enough to study abroad in Tübingen, Germany, at Eberhard Karls Universität. As an undergraduate, he served Beta Zeta Chapter on both its executive and administrative committees. He participated in several campus activities including the Student Government Association, student orientation program and numerous philanthropic events. Justin also was one of the leading undergraduates in the Educational Foundation's Call Center and assisted in the development of the undergraduate Crescent Society.

CRANE SORENSEN

Texas State University
2006

Originally from The Woodlands, Texas, Crane Sorensen graduated in 2006 from Texas State University with a degree in public administration with minors in economics and English. As a member of Zeta Delta Chapter, he served as president, director of academics and pledge class president. He also served on the IFC board as vice president of recruitment and chapter representative. Crane is a 2004 graduate of the Bethany Leadership Academy and supported the North-American Interfraternity Conference in April 2006 in Washington, D.C., lobbying effort to support a tax code change to benefit fraternal housing. In his spare time, he enjoys racquetball, running, reading and attending campus events.

ARTHUR VON WERSOWETZ

University of Tennessee
2005

Arthur vonWerssowetz, hailing from Chattanooga, Tenn., is in his second year of travel for the Fraternity after making stops during 2005-06 in the Eastern Division as well as parts of Ohio and Michigan. "Von," a 2005 graduate of the University of Tennessee, joined Delta Tau Delta in 2000 and went on to serve his chapter as vice president, secretary, social and recruitment chairman. He was involved on campus, holding offices in numerous campus organizations including the Interfraternity Council and the Student Government Association executive board. In 2004, Von was elected president of the Southeastern Interfraternity Conference. He is excited about working with the Chapter Assistance Program, emphasizing the Ritual and values of Delta Tau Delta and traveling more. In his spare time, Von enjoys watching football, golfing, boating and all forms of entertainment.

RYAN WEBER

Kansas State University
2005

Originally from Kansas City, Ryan Weber graduated in 2005 with a bachelor's degree in marketing from Kansas State University. As a member of the Gamma Chi Chapter, he served in several positions including president, recruitment chairman and philanthropy chairman. Ryan won the "Excellence in Chapter Presidency" award at the 2003 Western Plains Division Conference in part for leading his chapter to a Court of Honor Award. He is a graduate of the 2003 Bethany Leadership Academy, the Undergraduate Interfraternity Institute, was a Greek Ambassador, the Interfraternity Council recruitment coordinator, a facilitator for "Recruitment Boot Camp," and served the University's Greek Affairs office in several capacities. He enjoys playing golf, skiing and other outdoor activities in his spare time.

Chapter Services intern supports expansion efforts

Brent Cartledge (LaGrange College, 2006) will assist in the promotion, support and marketing of the Fraternity during colonizations and recruitment visits to ensure the continued growth and success of the Fraternity.

Originally from Columbus, Ga., Brent graduated in 2006 with a bachelor's degree in biochemistry from LaGrange College. Joining the Zeta Beta Chapter in the fall of 2002, he started as the brotherhood chairman, moving on to historian and finally served as treasurer of the chapter. He was a part of the team that led Zeta Beta to its first two Hugh Shields Awards.

Besides helping his chapter with the day-to-day fraternity issues, he traveled abroad in January 2005 to study in Greece, was a chemistry/biology tutor for his college and was a mentor for The Literacy Program for remedial elementary students. Brent plans to pursue a career in pediatric medicine. He enjoys golf, snow-skiing, traveling and many others.

What training will I receive?

The Fraternity takes pride in the education and training of its staff. Each consultant will go through various training seminars and will work with several different professional consulting firms.

What undergraduate experiences are necessary to be a chapter consultant?

There are no set experiences required to be a chapter consultant. Many of our consultants were chapter presidents, recruitment chairmen,

IFC officers, student organization officers or worked their way through school. Although no one experience is required, the Fraternity is looking for men who demonstrate broad leadership skills, confidence, a strong service record, communication skills and chapter involvement.

Matt Keating, who won 53.2% of his faceoffs; picked up 45 loose balls; and scored 35 points.

Stevens attack R.J. Ancona received All-Knickerbocker mention; had 53 loose balls; and won 60.1% of his faceoffs (122 of 203). Other good scorers were attack Eric Smith (26 points); midfielder Matt Althaus (24 points, second with 61 loose balls); midfielder Frank Sorrentino (15 points); and midfielder Rich Benson (13 points). Midfielder Evan Swiker had 43 loose balls and won 73.9% of his faceoffs (65 of 88). Other players were Paul Jonat (29 loose balls), Mike Chase, Nick Mabunay, Kevin Clerkin, Shane Crossen, Alex Heckman, Rob Leming, Brian Reckdenwald, Matt Sypher, Corey Vaillencourt, Skylar Wilson, Trevor Serfass, Burke Reynolds, Steven Suggs and Brian Brown.

Five Delts played for Moravian College. Tri-captain T.J. Hirsch led in goals (24) and loose balls (87) while ranking second with 34 points. He was the top faceoff player, winning 50.0% (104 of 208); ranked 33rd in Division III ground balls per game (5.44); and was MAC Player of the Week in mid-April. Tri-captain Ken Blom was top scorer with 36 points (21 goals, team high 15 assists) and was on the Middle Atlantic States Academic Honor Roll. Aaron Satterfield had 42 ground balls and scored nine points. Also playing were Zak Goldstein (13 games) and A.J. Herold (nine games). Seeing action for M.I.T. were Ryan Ballentine (co-high 31 loose balls), Michael Ehrenberg, Jared Sartee and Andrew Leone. Jay Ulwick won 23 faceoffs for Kenyon College.

TENNIS

Playing in the NCAA Division I tournament for Butler University was Eric Breitenbach, who had 13-8 in singles and 15-12 in doubles. Matt Christian of Northwestern University was 13-11 at #1 doubles and played in the ITA Midwest Regional meet. Teammate Andrew Hoffman also played for the Wildcats. Robert Alef of Kenyon College won All-NCAC first team honors and played in the NCAA Division III meet. He posted a 20-6 singles mark and was 8-5 as a doubles player. Jeff Tomaino of Washington & Jefferson was 8-6 in doubles and placed third at #1 doubles at the PAC meet. He was fourth in PAC #4 singles.

Casey Coffey of Westminster College, who won SLLAC Player of the Week honors during the season, had records of 6-5 in singles and 7-4 in doubles. Playing for Case Western Reserve University were Jon Waldman (10-4 in singles, 8-5 in doubles) and Cory Darrow (6-2 in singles, 3-1 in doubles). Adam Van Zee of Wabash College and his partner posted a 14-11 record at #1 doubles and played #2 singles. Adam Nodiff of Muhlenberg College played the #1 position in both singles and doubles.

FOOTBALL

Congratulations to Jeff Siemon (Stanford University, 1972), who became the 14th Delt to be named to the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame. An All-American line-backer who played in two Rose Bowls, he went on to an 11-year NFL career with the Minnesota Vikings. A resident of Edina, Minn., he is a divisional director for Search Ministries and a six-year member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes Board of Trustees. Jeff will be inducted at the NFF Annual Awards dinner in New York on December 5th and his official enshrinement will take place in the summer of 2007 at the Hall of Fame in South Bend, Ind.

The 2006 college season will see more Delts on the field at NCAA Division I-A and I-AA schools. Moving into a starting tight end spot at Baylor University is Mike Miller. Teammate Nate Farley hopes to see action at safety. Projected as a starter at offensive guard for Duke University is Zach Maurides. Looking for playing time at Stanford University are offensive tackles David Long (chapter president) and Chris Marinelli; defensive linemen Gustav Rydsted, James McGillicuddy and Matt Kopa; and tight end Eric Lorig. Playing for new Butler University head coach Chris Vogel (DePauw University, 1993) are wide receiver Alex White, tight end Luke Johnson and defensive end Chase Donner.

Sports writer and TV commentator Tony Barnhart (Georgia Southern University, 1975) will be seen on four CBS-TV "College Football Today" shows during the 2006 season, his 30th as a reporter for newspapers, television and radio. He continues as a columnist for the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and has TV and radio shows on Atlanta stations. Tony will be writing an updated version of his book, "Southern Fried Football", with publication planned in 2007.

ADMINISTRATORS

In his second year as Director of Recreation at the Butler University Health & Recreation Complex is Scott Peden (Indiana University, 1998). After graduation, he was a graduate assistant in intramurals at Baylor University (1998-2000); Intramural and Club Sport Coordinator at the University of Texas at Dallas (2000-2003); and Assistant Director of Recreation for Greenwood Parks and Recreation (2003-2005). He oversees a staff of five assistant directors at the new Butler complex.

OTHER SPORTS

Northwestern University All-American wrestler Jake Herbert represented the United States at the seventh World University Games in Mongolia during June and returned home with the Bronze Medal in the 184-pound weight class. Earlier, he placed second in his weight class at the NCAA Division I meet. Two 2006 college basketball players who were overlooked in the last issue were guard Justin Hoeveler of Northwestern University and guard Ryan Shores of LaGrange College. Justin previously won three letters as an NU tennis player and played on the Wildcats' hoops team for the first time.

Delt Sportlight is compiled by Joseph H. "Jay" Langhammer Jr. (Texas Christian University, 1966). Sports or entertainment news should be e-mailed to jlangha132@aol.com. Lloyd Birdwell, 1968 Distinguished Service Chapter inductee, passes

Lloyd W. Birdwell, Sr. (Gamma Iota, 1940) was born July 26, 1917, in Shreveport, La. He was a graduate of the University of Texas in Austin where he was an active member of the Texas Cowboys and Delta Tau Delta, serving the Fraternity in many capacities as an alumnus for more than 55 years. During World War II, he served as an officer in the U.S. Navy. He owned Industrial Office Supply, Dorsey Company and Dorwell Enterprises in Dallas; Smith-Hatfield in Houston and co-owned Eilenberger Bakery in Palestine. He was a member of University Park Methodist Church for more than 57 years, Dallas Country Club, Dallas Petroleum Club and Chancellor's Council of the University of Texas. He received the Silver Beaver Award from the Boy Scouts of America and by unanimous vote, the Distinguished Service Chapter Award from Delta Tau Delta. Birdwell was married 37 years to Dorothy Jones, who preceded him in death. Donations on Birdwell's behalf can be made in to Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation, Boy Scouts of America or the American Heart Association.

Delts in Entertainment

COMPILED BY JAY LANGHAMMER

Greg Berlanti (Northwestern, 1994) has been the creator of more than 90 episodes of the WB's "Everwood" series. He got his start through WB executive producer Mickey Liddell (Oklahoma, 1984) as a writer on "Dawson Creek" in 1998 and took over as producer for the last two years of the series. He served as writer/director of the 2000 film "The Broken Hearts Club: A Romantic Comedy." Greg also worked with Mickey as writer of the "Young Americans" WB series in 2000 and as creator/writer of the 2004 "Jack & Bobby" TV series. Both are currently collaborating on upcoming films "Therese Raquin" (with Glenn Close) and "Bridge and Tunnel" (with Jennifer Lopez).

Drew Carey (Kent State, 1979) spent time in Iraq this year with five fellow comedians as they entertained U.S. troops in the Sunni Triangle. He appeared in the documentary "Patriot Act: A Jeffrey Ross Home Movie," a film about the Iraq trip, which appeared on Showtime.

Chip Chinery (Miami, 1986) recently filmed a guest appearance on ABC/Disney's "The Suite Life with Zack & Cody." The episode should air in early 2007. He also recorded a radio spot for Mitsubishi's new "Dr. Thrill" campaign.

Brady Hunt (Oklahoma State, 1972) is the founder of the National Four-String Banjo Hall of Fame Museum in Guthrie, Okla., and served as its first president for seven years. The Museum features a large display of banjos (the only instrument developed in the United States); the Hall of Fame area; and the International Banjo College, which offers instruction. An accomplished banjo player himself, Brady is currently on the Museum's Board of Directors and has been interviewed in Jazz Banjo magazine.

Thad Luckinbill (Oklahoma, 1997) continues in his longtime role as J.T. Hellstrom on "The Young & the Restless" but has also done guest roles on several nighttime shows. In May, he appeared on an episode of "CSI" and will be in the second fall episode of FX series "Nip/Tuck."

Matthew McConaughey (Texas, 1992) wrapped up filming on "We Are Marshall," which opens in theaters during December, and has begun production on "The Grackle" and "Ghosts of Girlfriends Past."

James Melton (Georgia 1925, Vanderbilt, 1925) was one of America's top vocalists for over three decades and recorded four top 20 hits between 1929 and 1945. He also appeared in motion pictures; sang tenor with the Metropolitan Opera (1942-50); and hosted his own radio and TV shows before his death in 1961. A classic car collector, he sang "Back Home Again in Indiana" at the 1946-47 Indianapolis 500 races. His music is now available on compact disc with the 2006 release of "Souvenirs," a collection of 23 of his best-known songs from Sanctuary Records' Living Era series.

Willie Morris (Texas, 1956), who passed away in 1999, is profiled in the new biography "In Search of Willie Morris," written by his longtime friend Larry L. King. The book covers Morris as a youth in Yazoo, Miss.; his years in college at UT and as a Rhodes Scholar; his life as a youthful editor of Harper's Magazine in New York; and his eventual return to his roots in 1979 as the first ever writer-in-residence at the University of Mississippi. A writer of more than a dozen books, one of his best-known works became the 2000 film "My Dog Skip."

Chris Ursitti (Westminster, 1983) is co-owner and managing partner of the Los Angeles Center Studios, which feature six sound studios and studio services. Hundreds of films and TV series have used the services of LA center Studios, including "24," "Anchorman," "Austin Powers," "CSI," "Fight Club," "Nip/Tuck," "Six Feet Under," "Spider Man 2," "West Wing" and "X-Files," among others. Previously, Chris worked as a location manager on such films as "Real Men," "Poison Ivy," "Maniac Cop 3" and "Fait Accompli;" was executive producer of 1995 TV film "Yakuza Connection;" and had acting roles in "Tough & Deadly" and "National Outlaw."

Presidents

LEADERSHIP RETREAT

The 2006 Presidents Leadership Retreat was conducted May 19-21, 2006, at Delta Tau Delta's International Headquarters. The presidents and chapter advisors of 15 Delt chapters, who were selected via an application process open to all chapters, were in attendance. Also attending throughout the weekend were Executive Vice President Jim Russell, former International President Jidge Verity and Southern Division President Jody Danneman.

The mission and values of the Fraternity acted as the base curriculum for the Presidents Leadership Retreat. Presentations were given on each value and were accompanied with case studies and break out periods to discuss the mission and each value further. This created an environment that allowed presidents and chapter advisors to discuss issues and relate the mission or value back to the day-to-day life and work of the chapter.

Added curriculum included a DiSC behavioral assessment, an overall organizational assessment and lessons from James Taranto's "Presidential Leadership: Rating the Best and the Worst in the White House" and John C. Maxwell's "Developing the Leaders Around You" and "Leadership 101."

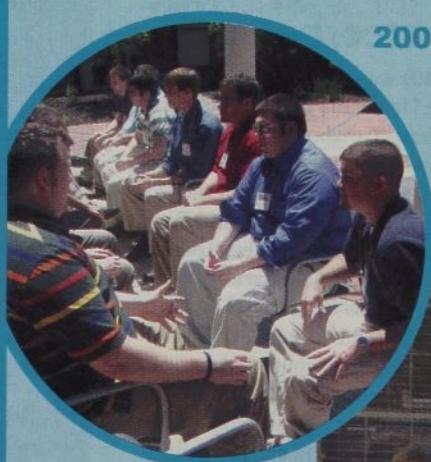

The retreat also included a Saturday evening cookout at Northern Beach, a private park located about a mile from the headquarters. The cookout provided a well-earned break from the retreat and offered everyone the opportunity to utilize the basketball courts, volleyball court, and horseshoe pit. The cookout concluded with a significant Q&A session with Russell, Verity and Danneman that highlighted the future of the Fraternity.

The retreat concluded late Sunday morning with a closing that included a pass the gavel session. It turned out to be an emotional experience for everyone. There was also a presentation on the future of Fraternity programming in the area of member education.

Sailing

LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

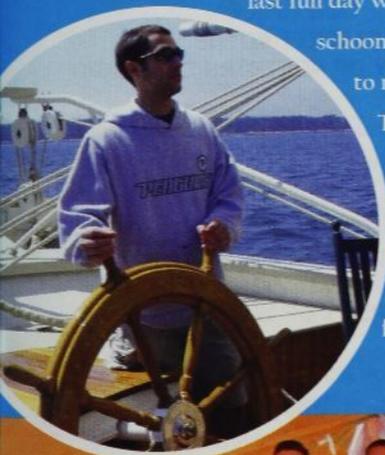

The summer of 2006 saw the fifth anniversary of the Sailing Leadership Academy. For five years, 132 undergraduate Delts from across the country have boarded the Schooner Mary Day for the sailing adventure of a lifetime.

This year, the Sailing Leadership Academy taught the 26 undergraduates leadership, teamwork, sailing skills, as well as about themselves. The days were filled with hands-on sailing classes, skill building and leadership lessons from Stephen Covey's Seven Habits of Highly Effective College Students. With the capable leadership of Captain Barry King, his crew and Fraternity staff members Dan Couladis and Matt Kozlowski, the Sailing Leadership Academy sailed in and around the Penobscot and Blue Hill Bays, while seeing various wildlife, state and national parks and lighthouses.

The final exam of the academy took place on the last full day when the captain turned the schooner over to the men in the morning to navigate it back to Camden Harbor.

This year's weather made it quite a challenge as the undergrads had to sail through heavy fog for most of the trip back to harbor, but they worked together and passed with flying colors.

From July 7-11, 25 undergraduate Delts from across the country descended onto the campus of Bethany College for the Bethany Leadership Academy. With the Founders House and the Academic Parlor of Old Main serving as the classroom for this experience, this year's attendees learned how to improve themselves and their lives just as our eight founders did 148 years ago.

The Bethany Leadership Academy studied the full Signature Series course of Stephen Covey's Seven Habits of Highly Effective People. The academy graduates spent five days attending sessions on the material, participating in the Bethany Olympics, a very informative session from alumni guest and international vice president of the Fraternity Travis Rockey and spending time with each other.

The 25 men who graduated from the Bethany Leadership Academy proudly joined the more than 300 Delts to graduate from this experience since its inception in 1996.

"The Bethany Leadership Academy is an outstanding program. I learned many great habits that will not only help me be effective in college, but it will help me in all aspects of my life."

DAVID MCCAIN, BAKER UNIVERSITY

"I loved the academy especially because the guys at our academy achieved a unity many pledge classes could only hope to achieve...in only a few days."

ADAM HILLIARD, BUTLER UNIVERSITY

"Leadership Academy provided me with the skills to succeed in the real world and the environment to be a great Delt."

MATTHEW RUSSELL,
LAGRANGE COLLEGE

"Bethany Leadership Academy gave me the opportunity to analyze my personal strengths and weaknesses as a leader and as a lifelong student. This combined with five days of brotherhood with Delts from across the nation, in the same location that our Fraternity's foundations were laid, made for a truly unique experience that I will never forget."

MICHAEL GERRISH, TEXAS TECH

"Bethany was the best thing I have ever done as a brother, and as a person. I will encourage all my brothers to attend. The experience does not compare to anything else, and the people you meet in that short time become as close to you as some of your brothers at your own chapters."

CASEY PALUMBO, KENT STATE

Plan now to visit where it all began, Aug. 13-17, 2008. The Pittsburgh Karnea will include a historic pilgrimage to Bethany, W. Va.

DIVISION CONFERENCES

"The second we stepped into the preschool everyone's faces lit up with a smile. It was obvious the teachers were happy we were able to help take some of the load from their overpopulated classes. It was an amazing experience to work with kids and to have my fellow brothers from across the country there to share it with me."

BRICKYARD KARNEA

"Going to Karnea was one of the greatest experiences of my college career. I was able to meet fellow Delts and share stories, experiences, and most importantly, ways Delta Tau Delta has made us better people. The impact this event has is enormous; every Delt needs to attend at least one Karnea in their lifetime and realize how powerful of an organization this is."

GREG GERRISH, UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH DAKOTA

Checkered flag wave

The Karnea Chorale, under the direction of Billy Wilbern, entertained more than 700 Delts and guests at the final banquet on Saturday evening. Eleven Alumni Achievement Award winners were honored that evening.

The highlight of Karnea for most undergraduates was spending three hours giving back to the Indianapolis community. The Fraternity's international community service project, Adopt-a-School, helps children succeed and better themselves both personally and scholastically. "Adopt-Indianapolis" used the same concept for service to the Karnea host city.

high over Indianapolis

From the rap of the gavel proclaiming the opening of Karnea to the closing banquet, the green flag flew high over Indianapolis for the 2006 Brickyard Karnea.

Ben Murphy is a junior at the Zeta Rho Chapter at Eastern Illinois University. Throughout Karnea, Ben learned of several opportunities for Delts to give back to the community, which is exactly what he and more than 350 of his brothers did while in Indianapolis. On the morning of Friday, Aug. 4, 2006, Delts from across the nation "Adopted Indianapolis." Delts were separated onto different buses and taken to different locations in Indianapolis where their efforts and help were appreciated.

"I was lucky enough to be on a bus where we got to work with a kids camp, and the joy on the kids faces was priceless," Ben said. "The camp counselors were so happy to have us, but not nearly as happy as we were to be there. On that Friday morning, Delta Tau Delta showed Indianapolis why we are the best fraternity in the nation."

After tackling one of the most ambitious legislative agendas in nearly 40 years at the 2004 Denver Karnea, Greg Harvey, president of the Beta Chapter at Ohio University was ready for another

2 a.m. conclusion to Fraternity business.

"As I prepared for the first legislative session I began to hear horror stories about how long the session took at the Denver Karnea," Greg recalled. However, after attending all of the sessions on legislation I felt that everything was ran superbly and believe that all topics were debated as fully as possible. All and all the legislative sessions were a definite success."

As luck would have it, Karnea took place on the weekend of the Indianapolis All-State Brickyard 400 NASCAR event—an opportunity for the "greatest of all Delt events" to meet one of the "greatest spectacles in racing." Karnea participants were treated to a tour of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway as well as a tour of the Delta Tau Delta International headquarters.

Eleven Alumni Achievement Awards were presented at the closing banquet on Saturday evening.

"The final dinner was an amazing display of influential Delts that to this day still believe in and follow the oath," said Brandt Foster, Iowa State University chapter president. "It was great to take part in this event and most importantly made me even more proud to be a Delt."

■ PASSED a proposal to make the Legal Defense Fund, as established by the 2004 Karnea, a permanent fund in accordance with Article IX, Section 6 of the Constitution

■ DEFEATED a proposal to allow graduates of colonies to initiate prior to a colony receiving a charter.

■ ACCEPTED a proposal removing the chapter advisor's task of filing Fraternity examinations with the Central Office as outlined in amendment to Article XII, Section 2 of the Bylaws.

■ APPROVED a proposal which allows all mailed charges and notices to be sufficiently addressed when addressed to the addressee's last known address in the records of the Central Office as an amendment to Article XIII of the Constitution.

■ PASSED a proposal to change the selection method of the Undergraduate Council regarding at-large seats as outlined in Amendment to Article VI B, Section 4 of the Constitution.

■ DEFEATED a proposal to rename the Fraternity's magazine.

Legislative changes are subject to ratification of the undergraduate chapters. Ratification letters will be sent from the Central Office on or before October 15, 2006. Chapters must submit their ratification notification on or before November 15, 2006. Changes to the Constitution and Bylaws are effective February 1, 2007.

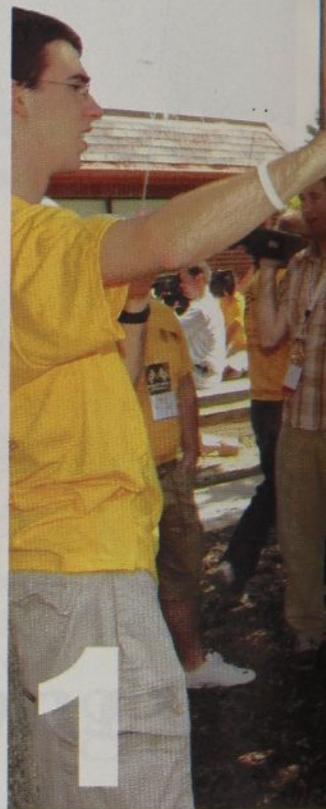

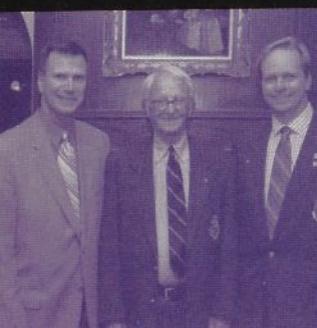

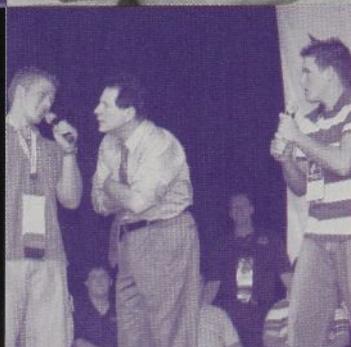

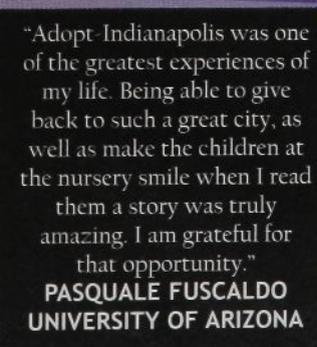

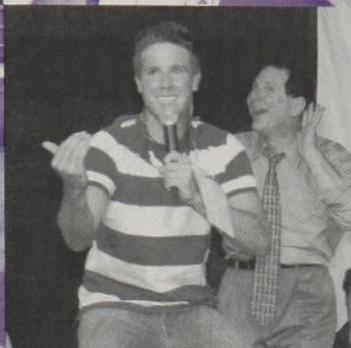

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Delegates at the 2006 Brickyard Karnea elected the following officers to serve the Fraternity:

- President - Kenneth "Rock" Clinton (Texas A&M Commerce, 1965)
- Vice President - Travis O. Rockey (Florida, 1973)
- Second Vice President - Alan G. Brackett (Tulane, 1982)
- Treasurer - James O. Selzer (Baker, 1970)
- Secretary - James W. Garboden (Pittsburgh, 1988)*
- Director of Academic Affairs - Greg Peoples (Allegheny, 1973)

Meet President Clinton and the newly elected officers in the December issue of The Rainbow.

 International President Rock Clinton appointed Laurence M. Altenburg (University of Pennsylvania, 1992) as the Eastern Division president effective August 14, 2006, to fill the unexpired term of James W. Garboden.*

"Adopt-Indianapolis was one of the greatest experiences of my life. Being able to give back to such a great city, as well as make the children at the nursery smile when I read them a story was truly amazing. I am grateful for that opportunity."

OUT-OF-HOTEL EVENT

- Karnea participants had two options on Friday afternoon: go to International headquarters or tour the Indianapolis Motor Speedway first and then go to the International headquarters.
- The Indianapolis Motor Speedway was host to Chevy Fan Day activities throughout the day. Participants were able to visit the museum, look at cars and see a few practice laps in preparation for the All-State Brickyard 400 the following Sunday.
- In Fishers, Ind., participants toured the headquarters and enjoyed a barbeque.
- Indianapolis Police Department officers escorted the seven buses of Deltas to the Speedway.
- Approximately 500 guests participated in both out-of-hotel events.

ADOPT-INDIANAPOLIS

- About 350 Karnea participants spent three hours Friday morning giving back to the Karnea host city.
- Seven different locations: Head Start, Indianapolis Metropolitan Career Academy, Back Pack Attack, Day Nursery Association, Auntie Mame's and Forest Manor.
- Participants mentored, played with, read to and put together school supplies for children from preschool to high school.
- Three hours worth of service by 350 participants, equals 1,050 hours of service (43.75 days or 1.45 months).

GUEST PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Approximately 50 guests of Delts attended this year's Karnea guest program. There was an opening reception on Wednesday sponsored by Kathy Brantley, wife of President Carl Brantley, in their presidential suite. Everyone was told the activities of Karnea and a representative from the Indianapolis Convention Bureau spoke of the points of interest in Indianapolis for side trips.

The guests boarded buses on Thursday for their choice of a city tour or a separate tour to the world's largest children's museum. Those who opted for the city tour were greeted by two tour directors who gave a lot of history as we traveled to our destinations. First stop was the famed Scottish Rite where we marveled at the incredible architecture and ornate ballroom and theatre. Next we traveled to Aggio's for a fabulous lunch. We then ventured into a house of the 1920s called Tuckaway, where a famed dress designer and fortune teller entertained the movie star set of that era. Last on our tour was the beautiful and elegant home of Indiana poet, James Whitcomb Riley. We had an incredible day together exploring some very interesting sites of the city of the All-State Brickyard 400.

OF 2006-08 FRATERNITY OFFICERS | GUEST PROGRAM

The fourth installment of the Karnea Golf Classic took place Aug. 2, at the Golf Club of Indiana. More than 60 Deltas from around the area and those in town for Karnea participated in the outing. At this year's tournament, players used a modified Stableford (international) scoring system, where the highest score wins. Bogey is worth one point; par is worth two, etc. This new addition brought more excitement for the golfers and the final standings.

The weather was absolutely perfect from start to finish with the golfers participating in several golf contests, including golf poker, 5x5x5, closet to the pin and longest drive. Brother Jim Garboden (Pittsburgh, 1988) sponsored the hole-in-one shootout, which featured a brand new Hummer H3, on the course and ready to be won. Unfortunately everyone came up a bit short.

Special thanks to our tournament coordinator Sid Gonsoulin (Louisiana State University, 1970) and all of the volunteers for their hard work managing the competitions, contests and games, as well as assisting with the check-in process. Their participation was vital to the success of the Golf Classic.

Thank you to all of our patrons whose support and loyalty ensures the success not only of the Golf Classic, but also the Karnea Fellowship program.

The Karnea Fellowship program was created in 2000 to give assistance to undergraduate chapters that are on the verge of doing great things and want to change the direction of their chapter for the better. This money subsidizes their expenses to ensure their attendance and participation at the convention. We know that the Karnea is a great place to learn more about being a leader and advancing the educational programs and operations of a chapter. This year the Foundation awarded 27 fellowships.

For more information on sponsorships for the 2008 Karnea Golf Classic in Pittsburgh, please contact Jeremy Vanscoy at the Foundation office.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CHAPTER INDUCTEESJudge Verity, Delta Alpha, University of Oklahoma, 1970

A man of passion, strong will and abundant energy, this good Delt embodies our ideal of glorious and unconquerable manhood. Born of a patrician soul coupled with a strong sense of duty to practical, everyday service, he has blazed an enviable path through five decades of membership. Whether serving as chapter president, chapter advisor, house corporation president, phonarch or the Fraternity's 46th international president, he is an abiding influence and truly a Delt for the ages.

Robert F. Charles, Jr., Beta Psi, Wabash College, 1960

This Good Delt has long remembered his commitment to lifelong allegiance, service, loyalty and love. A valued volunteer in both Arizona and Colorado since graduation, he has always answered the call for service. As a distinguished Karnea luncheon speaker, an early supporter of the Leadership Academy and Educational Foundation director, his spirit of entrepreneurship and invention has helped champion the principles of Delta Tau Delta. His prestige adds to the luster of the Fraternity.

G. Michael Perros, Delta Epsilon, University of Kentucky, 1980

This Good Delt has been a consistent leader, starting as chapter president and then as a chapter consultant. This son of Kentucky has served with distinction in the vineyard as a division vice president, assistant chairman of the 1986 Lexington Karnea, as a special representative for the Central Office and as a long-time house corporation officer at Delta Epsilon. May his leadership, judgment and devotion serve as an inspiration to future generations.

AACHIEVEMENT

II Alumni Achievement Awards presented at Karnea

C. Anthony "Tony" Barnhart (Georgia Southern University, 1975), a native of Union Point, Ga., pledged Delta Tau Delta Fraternity as a freshman at Georgia Southern in 1971. He was elected president of Epsilon Omega in the fall of 1973. Mr. Barnhart began his newspaper career in June 1976 at the Union (S.C.) Daily Times. In March of 1977, he joined the Greensboro (N.C.) News & Record where he remained until August 1984 when he joined the sports staff of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution. In addition to his work with the AJC, Mr. Barnhart has his own radio show "The Southern College Football Kickoff Show" in Atlanta and a television show "College Kickoff Countdown." He also is a regular contributor to the "College Football Today" show on CBS. The 2006 college football season will be his 30th as a reporter for newspapers, television and radio. In 1999, Mr. Barnhart was named the Georgia Sportswriter of the Year. He is a past president of the Football Writers Association of America and is the current president of the United States Basketball Writers Association. In 2000, the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame named Mr. Barnhart to its prestigious Honors Court. The 11-member court is charged with selecting each year's incoming class to the College Football Hall of Fame. Mr. Barnhart has written three books: "Southern Fried Football: The History, Passion and Glory of the Great Southern Game," "What It Means to be a Bulldog" and "Vince Dooley-My 40 Years at Georgia," which are in bookstores everywhere.

Peter H. Beckwith (Hillsdale College, 1961) has been an ordained minister in the Episcopal Church for more than 42 years and was consecrated Bishop of Springfield in 1992. Before becoming a bishop he served parishes in the Dioceses of Michigan and Southern Ohio where he was involved in community, youth and prison work, and served on numerous diocesan councils, commissions and committees. In addition, he had an active ministry as a chaplain in the United States Navy Reserve from 1972 to 1999, retiring with the rank of Rear Admiral. In addition to his diocesan responsibilities, Bishop Beckwith serves as vice president and board member of the American Anglican Council and is a founding member of the Anglican Communion Network, both national organizations which strive to maintain Christian orthodoxy in the Episcopal Church and a vital relationship with the worldwide Anglican Communion. He is married to the former Melinda Jo Foulke of Hillsdale, Michigan. They have two sons. His is a Delt family: father, Robert Sr., was a Delt (Hillsdale College, 1934) and brother, Robert Jr., was a Delt (Hillsdale College, 1962), both now in the Chapter Eternal; brother, Jon, is a Delt (University of Alabama, 1971); and sons, Peter II (Miami University of Ohio, 1992) and Michael (Miami University of Ohio, 1995) are Delts. Currently Brother Beckwith serves as a Northern Division vice president and is on the alumni advisory team working to re-colonize Kappa Chapter at Hillsdale College.

Murray M. Blackwelder (Baker University, 1969) serves as senior vice president for advancement at Purdue University. He directs a $1.3 billion capital campaign, university relations, public radio and also serves as administrative liaison to the Purdue Alumni Association. He was formerly the president for External Affairs at Iowa State University Foundation where he was in charge of intercollegiate athletics, university relations, museums, public radio, conferencing, marketing, Iowa State Center, Reiman Gardens, ISU Foundation and the ISU Alumni Association. He served for five years as the president of the ISU Foundation, which gives him more than a decade of experience with capital campaigns. Under his direction at ISU, the university experienced record giving years, completing a $214 million capital campaign in 1993 and a $450 million campaign in 2000. Mr. Blackwelder has served as a director of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation since 1995. He has been the primary architect of the successful development efforts of the Building on Excellence campaign in 1998 and the recently announced $18 million Sesquicentennial Campaign. In addition to his experience with multi-million dollar campaigns in support of educational institutions, Mr. Blackwelder has served as fundraising counsel for institutions such as the Iowa and Kansas Special Olympics, Kansas City Museum, Hertzler Research Foundation, Butler County Community College, High Plains Public Radio and Foundation for North American Wild Sheep.

L. Edward Bryant, Jr. (Northwestern University, 1963) received both a bachelor's degree in journalism in 1963 and a Juris Doctor in 1967 from Northwestern University. He held presidency of numerous alumni groups including 16 years for the Delta Tau Delta alumni board. He received the Alumni Service Award in 1973. He served on his firm's management committee from 1980-88, was chair of the firm's first strategic marketing committee and has been a member of its practice council for many years and its chair from 1995-1996. In 1999, he received the James H. Douglas, Jr. Award for exemplary participation in public and/or charitable activities. Mr. Bryant has represented health care providers and professionals since 1967, when he became an associate attorney with Gardner Carton & Douglas LLP. He founded the firm's Health Law Department in 1979. He has participated personally in more than 240 health industry corporate restructurings since 1979, in more than 125 hospital mergers or acquisitions and in hundreds of healthcare joint ventures. Mr. Bryant is recognized as one of Chambers USA's 2006 "Leaders in Their Field for Health Care." In 2005, Illinois Super Lawyers named him one of the top 100 attorneys in Illinois. In 2006, Leading Lawyers of Illinois named him one of the top 100 business lawyers in Illinois. He has published and spoken widely within the health industry and to the health law bar. In 1985, he was named by the National Law Journal as one of the outstanding health lawyers in the country.

Donald F. Calhoon (Ohio State University, 1973) retired from Wendy's International, Inc., Dublin, Ohio, in 2005. He had been with Wendy's since 1978 where he was field marketing director, 1978-1984; vice president of field marketing, 1984-1989; vice president of corporate marketing, 1989-1995; senior vice president of marketing, 1995-2000; executive vice president of marketing, 2000-2004. He was responsible for development of Wendy's worldwide brand position and marketing strategy. He directed the creation and execution of marketing programs including brand planning, media, public relations, new product development and testing, research and sales analysis, advertising development and production. Mr. Calhoon oversaw the creative direction for the award-winning 13-year Dave Thomas advertising campaign. He also served as a member of the executive management council which directed the development of enterprise-wide strategic business objectives to ensure profitable growth. In 1998 and 2003, Mr. Calhoon was named by Advertising Age as one of the Fifty Most Powerful Marketing People in the U.S. In 2002, he was selected by Brandweek Magazine as Marketer of the Year and was a recipient of the inaugural Wendy's Field Marketing Legend Award. Mr. Calhoon received Wendy's most prestigious honor when he was inducted into Wendy's Hall of Fame in 2001 and named Corporate Marketing Executive of the Year by the Delaney Report. He has received numerous other advertising awards.

John W. Gleeson (University of Illinois, 1968) is senior vice president of corporate strategy and treasurer for Walgreen, Co. He joined the company in 1962 as a service clerk, and became a member of the corporate staff in 1970. He ran planning and research and was divisional vice president of marketing systems and services. Gleeson earned a bachelor's degree in economics and psychology from the University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill., in 1968. He was named vice president of corporate strategy in 2000 and added treasurer to his title in 2002. He was named senior vice president in 2004. Mr. Gleeson joined the board of directors of AMCORE Financial in 2003 and is chairman of the investment committee and a member of the audit and the executive committees. He also is a board member of Talbots, Inc., national specialty retailer and cataloger of apparel, shoes and accessories. He represents Walgreen, Co. on the board of agentrics where the company is a founding member. Mr. Gleeson also serves on the volunteer board of Metropolitan Family Services. Gleeson has stayed involved with the Fraternity throughout much of his life and led numerous planning retreats with his home chapter, Beta Upsilon at the University of Illinois. He currently serves as the chairman of the sesquicentennial campaign of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation. Mr. Gleeson serves the Foundation's executive committee as secretary. Walgreen, Co., based in Deerfield, Ill., is the nation's leading drugstore chain, with fiscal 2005 sales of $45.2 billion. The company operates more than 5,200 stores in 45 states and Puerto Rico.

Twenty-eight years ago, Thomas H. Humes, Jr. (University of Cincinnati, 1970) began his real estate career by rehabbing old homes in Clifton, Ohio. Today, he serves as president of Great Traditions Land & Development Company, a real estate development company that specializes in creating lifestyle-oriented, master-planned communities. He has developed more than 4,000 acres of land, created 28 communities and more than 5,000 home sites in Cincinnati and Dayton. Great Traditions has been recognized both locally and nationally with more than 100 awards for marketing and design. In 2002 and 2004 Great Traditions was named "Developer of the Year" by the Cincinnati Homebuilders Association and in 2003 was named "Builder of the Year." Mr. Humes serves on the Board of Directors of US Bank (Cincinnati), Winton Savings & Loan and Reading Rock. Mr. Humes received the Distinguished Achievement Award from UC's Department of Real Estate in 2000 and was named to the Cincinnati Enquirer's Bicentennial Listing of "Cincinnatians Who Is, Was and Will Be Important to Cincinnati." He is past president of UCATS, Easter Seals and the Development Corporation for Cincinnati. He has co-chaired UC's Campaign for the Campus, which raised $10 million for UC's Greenspace Project. Mr. Humes has received several awards from the university, including the Presidential Award for Excellence, Outstanding Alumni Awards from the College of Business and from the Department of Communications and the UC Foundation Chairman's Award.

Bruce Meredith (West Virginia University, 1960) grew up in Boggs Run, W. Va. He attended Linsly Military Institute, where marksmanship was a mandatory class in which he became its most successful high school student. Mr. Meredith attended West Virginia University, where he lettered in 1958-61 and, as team captain, led WVU to a record of 25-3 with its first collegiate national team title. He won the national individual small-bore championship with a record score, and was WVU's initial first team rifle All-America in 1960 and 1961. He was named Amateur Athlete of the Year by the West Virginia Sports Writer's Association. He served as cadet commander of the Army ROTC and graduated as a distinguished military graduate. He went on to serve in the active Army for eight years and the Army reserve for 22 years, retiring as a Colonel on July 4, 1991. Upon assignment to the U.S. Army International Rifle Team, he won the 1967 National Smallbore Prone Individual title at Camp Perry. At the Pan American Games in Winnipeg, his team won two gold medals. At the 1970 World Championships in Phoenix, he won a silver team medal. He has competed in eight World Crossbow Championships, winning a silver team medal qualifying him for the USA Distinguished Crossbow Award. Mr. Meredith, an active competitor for 53 years, qualified for the Olympic Games in 1988, 1992, 1996 and 2000. In 2000, he received volumes of publicity as the oldest competitor in the games at age 63. He has set 164 USA national records and was inducted into the U.S. Army Reserve International Rifle Roll of Honor in 2000.

In 1958, Jennings (Jay) Randolph (George Washington University, 1960) took a job with WHAR Radio as the sports and promotion director. After five years of building his play-by-play skills throughout West Virginia and two years in Dallas with the Cowboys and Southern Methodist University, 1966 brought him to KMOX (CBS Radio) in Saint Louis to call the football Cardinals and be the original television voice of the St. Louis Blues. Within two years, Mr. Randolph made the jump from radio to television, becoming sports director and sports anchor for KSDK (NBC-TV) in Saint Louis. His association with the NBC network would last more than 28 years with him providing play-by-play of the NFL, college football, PGA Tour, PGA Champions Tour, PGA, Major League Baseball's Game of the Week, Pro Bowler's Tour, three Olympic Games and the NCAA Basketball Tournament. For 22 years, he was lead announcer for the Big 8 Basketball Network and spent 18 seasons announcing the Saint Louis Baseball Cardinals. The late 1980s and early 1990s found Mr. Randolph hosting the nationally syndicated "The Golf Show." In 1993, the Florida Marlins played their first season of Major League Baseball, and he was their first television, play-by-play voice and the host of the Marlin Weekly magazine show. He remained with the Marlins for nine seasons. Mr. Randolph was seen on The Golf Channel, CNBC broadcasting and the PGA Champions Tour tournaments from 2000 through 2003. He is in the third year of a long-term agreement with PGA Tour Productions to be "The Voice" of the PGA Tour Classic, a one-hour highlight show on The Golf Channel.

John W. Temple (University of Washington, 1959) is president and CEO of Temple Development Company (TDC), a Boca Raton-based real estate development firm. Major projects in and around Boca Raton include Presidential Place, a 42-unit, $75 million oceanfront condominium project and Florida Atlantic University Research and Development Parks. He also is involved in an 802-unit planned condominium community (Ocean Club) on Key Biscayne. Temple Development Company also owns interest in two office buildings in Fort Lauderdale. Prior to starting his own company, Mr. Temple was president of Arvida Corporation and Arvida/Disney. Under his leadership as president, Arvida became the standard of excellence for comprehensively planned communities throughout Florida, Georgia and California. Mr. Temple and a small number of his associates along with the Bass Brothers of Fort Worth, Texas purchased Arvida in a leveraged buy-out. In 1984, Arvida merged with the Walt Disney Company and Mr. Temple assumed the additional responsibility as president. Mr. Temple spent the eight years prior with Kaiser Aluminum and its affiliated real estate development activities. Under his leadership, Kaiser acquired or formed eight home building companies in 14 states and formed a joint venture with the largest homebuilder in Australia. After four years in acquisitions, Mr. Temple directed all housing operations in the United States, all development activities in Australia and participated on the board of directors of Hawaii Kai, Rancho, California and the McCormick Ranch Developments.

Frederick C. Tucker, III, (DePauw University, 1969) joined F.C. Tucker Company, Inc., in May of 1977 and represents the third generation of Tuckers to manage the company, following his grandfather, the founder, and his father. Initially serving as corporate secretary and general counsel of the company, Mr. Tucker next moved into the position of vice president of operations. Today he serves as president. After purchasing the company from his father and others in 1986, Mr. Tucker, along with his two partners, dedicated himself to continuing the successes enjoyed by the company since its inception in 1918. Growth has come through building upon the organization's core business of real estate brokerage while at the same time diversifying the package of real estate services offered. Diversification has come through the addition of complimentary services that include Tucker Mortgage, LLC, Title Services, LLC, Tucker Insurance, Tucker Referrals, the Tucker School of Real Estate, Tucker/Schrader Auction Company, Tucker's Home Link and Strategic Alliances with HMS Home Protection Plan, Colliers Turley Martin Tucker (commercial real estate services) and The Bryant Company (residential leasing). Today the Tucker Company is one of the top 25 independently-owned real estate companies in the country and is the 12th largest regional brand. Since its founding in 1918 by Fred C. Tucker, Sr., the company prides itself in practicing the "Golden Rule" and strives to provide the best in real estate services to each of its customers.

Celebration rooted in fundamental principles of Deltism

TRUTH

While the complete truth about our founding and our founders may be lost to the ages, the important thing to remember is that we were founded.

The reason for our founding is forever linked to our motto, making our mission and our purpose timeless for future generations to enjoy.

In those years the principle of truth was not only important, it was essential. Personal honor and integrity were all that kept us alive. In many instances, the entire future of the Fraternity would rest on the shoulders of one man or a small group of men.

The challenges of distance and communication were daunting.

But through the first 50 years we would merge with another Fraternity, establish chapters in Texas, Colorado and on the West Coast. A wilderness would be breached and our flag would proudly fly from coast to coast.

The search for truth leads Henry Bruck, our first President, to do the first serious research on our early years and helped us piece together our ancestral identity. Reconnecting with our past gave our purpose new meaning and set the stage for dramatic growth.

But would truth be enough? Our second 50 years would require so much of our nation, our young men and our Fraternity. Three wars and a worldwide economic depression lay ahead.

Courage would be required.

COURAGE

Courage marked every major event of the Fraternity during the period from 1908-1958. Rather than shrinking from the challenges of this period, the Fraternity thrived. Men such as James B. Curtis, Stuart MacLean, Hugh Shields and Norm MacLeod loomed large throughout this period. The programs and organizational structures they pioneered would vault Delta Tau Delta from a young upstart to a recognized leader in the fraternity world.

Our legacy of service to our fellow men and of shaping events on the world stage would allow us to emerge from World War I as an organization that shaped the bedrock values of political leaders and showed our dominant trait as a maker of ethical businessmen.

The Loyalty Fund was our ingenious endowment of the 1920s that allowed us to assist house corporations and salvage potential foreclosures in the 1930s. When the world went to war again in 1941, our chapter houses emptied and Delts took their place in the defense of freedom. Thirty percent of our then living alumni found themselves in uniform.

These 10,000 warriors returned home. Through the GI Bill, many finished their degrees. Others would be the first in their families to attend college and would become Delts.

Lives interrupted became men in a hurry to get on with their careers. They ushered in one of the largest economic expansions in world history. Delts helped lead the way.

Hugh Shields, always a disciplined planner, put much of the strategic planning he learned in the military back into the Fraternity. He hired extra field secretaries to help get chapters restarted and we were ready for the returning veterans.

The Victory Karnea of 1946 was the largest Fraternity convention of any Fraternity at the time with more than a 1,000 registrants.

Two fresh faced businessmen named John Fisher and John Nichols would meet during that Karnea and form a business and personal friendship that has lasted 60 years to this day.

While Delts again were caught up in a War in Korea, the expansion of the country and the Fraternity were profound. It took courage to make the tough decisions, to stay the course, to not shrink from responsibility or from our timeless motto that helped us end our first 100 years as a fraternity juggernaut.

Every vocation - politics, the military, business, the arts, sports and religion all seemed to have Delts in leading positions. Our chapters were rich fields from which grew Delts of remarkable character and commitment to community, family and their Fraternity.

Sacrifice for the greater good came from our Creeds and a deep abiding influence for fellow Delts. Former National President Fran Hughes coined his famous phrase about personal Delt accountability when he said, "What kind of Fraternity would this be, if every Delt were just like me."

At the Centennial Karnea in Pittsburgh all things seemed possible.

No one could have imagined the changes that would lie ahead for the Fraternity and the world in just a few short years. The early 1960s held such promise. It would soon be clear that Truth and Courage would not be enough.

Faith would be required.

FAITH

Faith carried us through these times. Faith in our fellow brothers. Faith in our founders, our creeds and our Ritual. The definition of a Delt became clouded and again faith would play a major role in moving us ahead.

During this time we would even clarify that faith was not exclusively limited to one religion. While there were never membership restrictions based on religion, we went even further to make sure that our definition of faith was in the eye of the member.

While we believe the influence of a supreme being has been evident throughout our history, it was determined that each member should define for himself that relationship.

During this period we reached the heights of our largest number of chapters and undergraduate members, and came within sight of questioning if there would be a future for fraternities at all.

Faith carried us through these times.

The period from 1958-2006 was a period of unprecedented change, discovery and invention—on a personal, national and organizational level.

This period brings us to the present.

HONOR THE LEGACY

Start the party

While truth, courage and faith have carried us to this glorious time, the power is now in your hands to decide our future.

POWER

While our 150th is two years away we have decided this is a birthday party that is going to take two years to celebrate.

Honor the Legacy – Look Beyond

Over the next two years, we want every chapter to celebrate this great milestone. Our incoming members will be known as Sesquicentennial initiates. Every chapter should re-connect with its alumni to join us in this celebration. From our oldest chapter to our newest, you all share our common heritage.

This is Your Legacy

We are not a great Fraternity because of a great Arch Chapter, Central Office Staff or Foundation. We are blessed with good leadership because we have great chapters. We have great leaders because they learned their lessons of being a Delt when they were undergraduates.

We are a great Fraternity because of the actions of individual Delts. What honors you honors it.

You honor that legacy in your thoughts, deeds and actions.

May your actions make our founders smile.

Where will we be in the next 150 years? No one can possibly know. If our first 150 years are any indication, we know it will be an exhilarating journey.

But we can see over the horizon the next 50 years.

There are living Delts who were at our Centennial in Pittsburgh in 1958. They witnessed the past 50 years.

Undergraduates and young alumni today will see our bicentennial in 2058.

What changes will take place?

How will our Fraternity change and adapt to new challenges?

How will we remain relevant? That is also what we want to discuss during this period of celebration.

Look Beyond

You have the Power!

You have the power to shape our next 50 years. It is in your hands. The future belongs to you.

Power through Excellence – It is a part of the motto for the Hugh Shields award.

Look beyond what is possible – Look beyond what is ordinary. Honor our legacy that has been a part of our heritage for 150 years.

Part of our two-year celebration is not just to honor the past. It will also be the determination of our future.

While Truth, Courage and Faith have carried us to this glorious time—the power is now in your hands to decide our future.

An important part of our Sesquicentennial celebration will be a series of alumni functions (receptions & banquets) in cities around the country.

You will have the opportunity to join with Delts from your own and other chapters to recognize 150 years of Delta Tau Delta. You may say, "Why would I want to do this?" "It's just another dinner." "Is this another plea for money?" "I've not been involved in the Fraternity since college."

I will assure you this will NOT be just another dinner. It won't be about money. It's much more important. We will celebrate 150 years; you will see what Delta Tau Delta is doing today; you will see why it is relevant. Even more important, we hope you will become re-involved in what Delta Tau Delta is doing, even if for just one night.

Why? Glad you asked. If you believe as I do, that we have a lack of leadership in our country today—in government and in business (no more Enrons, please); if you're tired of the continuing hostility in our political parties; and if you consider all this results from a lack of "leadership," maybe you'll agree that we need more leaders and more leadership. So, it's not about politics, it's about leadership, where people put the nation's interests ahead of partisan gains, perpetuation of elected officials and pork barrel legislation.

On Aug. 5, undergraduate attendees at the Karnea in Indianapolis saw and heard 10 Delts, 10 leaders who had achieved distinction in their chosen fields. These men epitomize the term "role model." What great examples and what motivation for young Delts of today. You too could serve as a motivating force in some young men's lives.

On a personal note, my motivation to be involved in Delta Tau Delta, 47 years after graduation, is that I believe it provides a vehicle for teaching leadership, a worthy endeavor indeed. You would be motivated yourself to see and talk with today's Delt undergraduates.

We hope you will decide to do two things. First, let us know if you would like to help coordinate an alumni function in your city. Second, plan to attend a function and help us celebrate one of the oldest organizations you will ever belong to, one which provides leadership for the future. You can play a role if you like. You'll be hearing more about this.

2006 Committed to Lives of Excellence Scholarship Recipients

Delta Tau Delta International Fraternity is proud to announce the recipients of the 2006 Committed to Lives of Excellence Scholarship. The scholarship was available to incoming college students enrolling in the fall of 2006 on any of 115 campuses across the United States where Delta Tau Delta is located.

Applicants were assessed on academic achievement, high school involvement, leadership and responses to essays on work experience, academics and what being committed to a life of excellence means to them. This year's applicants and recipients demonstrate there are many fine future leaders among the youth of today. The work done by students on a daily basis is making a significant impact on those they interact with and in their communities.

Recipients receive a one-time $500 book scholarship and recognition certificate from Delta Tau Delta.

Thomas (TJ) Clark

GPA: 4.0 out of 4.0

Activities/Awards: Scholastic Achievement Award, Mason City High School Outstanding Academic Achievement Award 2004-2006, President's Education Award for Outstanding Academic Excellence 2006, Better Business Bureau Honorable Mention 2006, Iowa State Bar Association and Iowa State Bar Foundation American Citizenship Award 2006, Baseball, Wrestling, Football, Math Club, Choir 4-H Club, One-on-One youth mentoring program.

On Excellence: When I was confirmed, I chose 1 Corinthians 10:31 as my Bible verse: "So whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do everything for the glory of God." I rely on this verse daily whether it be completing a final project, taking batting practice, writing thank yous for my graduation or sweeping the clubhouse after practice, I remember to take pride in everything I do and be example for others on how to do things the right way, to the best of one's abilities.

Theodore (TJ) Masker

GPA: 3.75 out of 4.0

Activities/Awards: National Honor Society, 3M Engineering Leadership Program at Iowa State University 2006, Future of Agriculture Scholarship, Jurgens 4-H Scholarship, Elks Club Scholarship, Air Force Recognition for Mathematics, Presidential Academic Excellence Award, Hugh O'Brien Leadership Conference Delegate, Student Council, Accipiter Newspaper staff member, Dimensions Yearbook staff member, 4-H Club, Wrestling, Cross Country.

On Excellence: I am committed to living a life of excellence because I believe if you do not strive to be your very best, then you have failed yourself and your family. So many people go through life just being normal, but I don't want to live that way. Wherever life takes me, I want to be the best at what I do.

Activities/Awards: National Merit Commended Scholar 2005, National Honor Society, Lifetime Sports Outstanding Achievement Award, Habitat for Humanity volunteer, Chattahoochee Nature Center volunteer, Student Council, School newspaper staff member, Academic Team, Cross Country, Tennis.

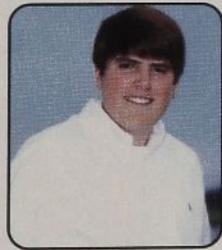

On Excellence: Morally, I am committed to living a life of excellence because I strive to treat my peers and family well every day. Recently, I have committed myself to doing random acts of kindness. It is rewarding for me to help people. Academically, I have always been committed to living a life of excellence. Athletically, I have committed myself to achieve for the teams I have been a part of, including both tennis and cross country on the high school level.

Thomas Whatley

GPA: 8787 out of 100

Activities/Awards: National Honor Society, Hope Scholarship Recipient, SALSA member, SCDS Peer Helper, Country Day Fellowship Group, Boy Scouts, Habitat for Humanity volunteer, Savannah Young Life Group, Baseball, Football.

On Excellence: Living a life of excellence requires an individual to use his talents and abilities for the betterment of those around him. Excellence can never be achieved with only a "second best" effort. It means recognizing that excellence is a "moving target" that is never truly achieved. If you find that you have achieved excellence in any area of life, the bar must be raised to an even higher level. A person can never live a life of excellence unless he is constantly learning and growing.

Lee Scholarship, Pepsi Scholarship, Soccer, Track, Basketball, Payette High School Pep Club, Peers Encouraging Abstinent Kids, DECA member.

On Excellence: Ignoring all the responsibilities one has in life is a sure-fire path to self-destruction. At some point we must take the time to stop and take stock of ourselves and all we are involved in. Personally, I have tried to participate in every sport/organization that has piqued my interest, allowing me to become involved with the lives of others in even the minutest way while maintaining my own sense of character.

Outstanding Chapter Advising

Brother since 1967
Alumni volunteer for 31 years

Appointed chapter advisor of the Epsilon Upsilon Chapter at Marietta College on May 15, 1975.

Guided the men of Epsilon Upsilon to positively represent Delta Tau Delta on the Marietta campus and within the Fraternity as evidenced by the chapter being cited with five Court of Honor awards and three Hugh Shields awards during his tenure.

Willingly shared his time and talents with the larger Fraternity by serving as a division vice president, conference facilitator and as the chairman of the Audit and Finance Committee at several Karneas.

Cited into membership in the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter in 2000.

Affectionately known as "Fergie" by the many lives he has touched as a good and faithful servant, he is indeed an abiding influence for all that is good in Delta Tau Delta.

He and his wife, Ginny, have continually modeled our values of loyalty, generosity and thoughtfulness of others in sharing their family with the Marietta Deltas.
