Delta Tau Delta is a constructive adjunct to the system of higher education. Her objective is to educate, contributing to the young men within her sphere of influence a moral, spiritual, and social development commensurate with the intellectual training supplied by the colleges and universities.

One Moment, Please

Publication schedules prevent our being as yet very fully informed as to the Fraternity's reactions to the new format. Generally put, most of the commendation comes from the alumni; most of the criticism from the chapters.

Still, here we go.

We must commend to you the leading article this time—an analysis of the Fraternity today by level-headed Hugh Shields. It will make you prouder of $\Delta T \Delta$ than you have ever been.

There is the tragic story of the untimely death of dear Frank Wieland. How we shall miss him! Dudley Collins comes to bat with his All-Delt football team for 1934. In an entirely different realm here is a story about dynamic Glenn Frank, Wisconsin's president, who has things to say about the New Deal and about whom, in turn, the reviewers have things to say.

Of course you are interested in the Fraternity's scholarship. Darrell Moore discusses our scholastic successes and failures for 1933-34. Here is the first news, too, about the Rainbow Karnea, down at Memphis.

In the line of miscellany you will find all manner of shorter stories: the Northern Division Conference plans (no other Division has a Conference this year); how the Paid-Up Life Delts pass the 1000 mark; why 10,000 Delts are going to listen to Antarctica; that Purdue has won the examination plaque again; that the President continues to call on Delts to help him—all the colorful news that keeps breaking here and there through the Fraternity.

You will find another generous section of Scrapbook clippings, with alumni chapter letters, news about the new Delt books, all sorts of pictures of Delt activities everywhere, and you will also find the first chapter letters of the year—several missing as usual. No use, is it?

Maybe you'll like this number better than you did the one for November. We do.

The Delta Creed

- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta for the education of youth and the inspiration of maturity, so that I may better learn and live the truth.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as a shrine of international brotherhood: her cornerstone friendship, her foundation conscience, her columns aspiration, her girders self-restraint, her doorway opportunity, her windows understanding, her buttresses loyalty, her strength the Everlasting Arms.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as an abiding influence to help me do my work, fulfill my obligations, maintain my self-respect, and bring about that happy life wherein I may more truly love my fellow men, serve my country, and obey my God.

"From Here On Every Step Will Be a New Record"

An Impersonal Analysis of the State of the Fraternity by Hugh Shields

HERE IS A STORY that will bring gratification to every member of $\Delta T \Delta$ who in his heart has dreamed a dream of what he hoped and prayed the Fraternity some day might become.

It is the calm and critical judgment of a man who, more than any other individual, knows the facts.

He is not given to wishful thinking, this man. He does not indulge in rhetoric for the sake of indulging in rhetoric. He has never yet been known to say what someone wanted him to say for the mere reason that he was wanted to say it. He is cool, impersonal, detached, dispassionate. He deals with facts solely as facts. To him, what is, is—pleasant or unpleasant, agreeable or disagreeable, complimentary or uncomplimentary.

The man is Hugh Shields, Comptroller of the Fraternity and Manager of the Central Office.

A FEW WEEKS ago, struck by certain facts which in the aggregate seemed to us highly indicative of certain very definite advancement within the Fraternity, we wrote Mr. Shields and expressed the tentative opinion that $\Delta T \Delta$ appeared to have made some highly significant progress towards its objective to become in all respects an organization entirely worthy of the respect and admiration and loyalty of intelligent men.

In due time Mr. Shields's reply arrived.

"Concerning the status of the Fraternity," he wrote, "in my opinion you are not wrong when you say that things appear to be finer and on a more satisfactory basis.

"I have known $\Delta T \Delta$ for about fifteen years, twelve of them in the national picture, in proportion of course to my experience and ability to appraise what I could see. It is my opinion that the Fraternity is to a marked degree approaching compliance with its public declaration—getting nearer to that which it says it stands for, and that on this basis the Fraternity is today at the peak thus far of its accomplishment."

Hugh Shields

Comptroller and Manager of the Central Office

WE FELT A thrill as we read that statement. Coming from a hundred other men it might have meant something or nothing; coming from Hugh Shields it meant everything.

We all know, too, the Delta Creed, of the Fraternity:

" $\Delta T \Delta$ is a constructive adjunct to the system of higher education. Her objective is to educate, contributing to the young men within her sphere of influence a moral, spiritual, and social development commensurate with the intellectual training supplied by the colleges and universities."

We all know the declared objective which concludes:

"I believe in $\Delta T \Delta$ as an abiding influence to help me do my work, fulfill my obligations, maintain my self-respect, and bring about that happy life wherein I may more truly love my fellow men, serve my country, and obey my God."

Within five minutes we were writing Mr. Shields another letter.

He had not written this for publication. He is strongly averse to personal publicity. Rarely, even at Conferences or Karneas, will you find him conspicuous. He will never sit at the speakers' table if he can help it. He refuses to appear in the news. His one interest and ambition is the progress and well-being of the Fraternity, and he lives his job, always in the background, always with little to say, and still the best informed man in the organization.

We told Mr. Shields that we were going to give the Fraternity his letter. We told him that he had no right to discover what he had discovered, and keep it to himself. We told him that too many a man of parts and distinction still entertained only a lukewarm interest in $\Delta T \Delta$, because to him $\Delta T \Delta$ was still nothing more than a sentimental carry-over from the past, a mere campus experience, a college boy's fetish and amusement. We told him that this analysis of his was the most significant piece of news that had broken in this organization for twenty years, perhaps the most significant in its whole history, and that we were going to pass it on to the Fraternity—yes, and to the Greek world, and to the college deans, and to the college presidents, because it was so vitally significant.

We continue, therefore, with Mr. Shields's analysis.

GO BACK, first, to that fundamental statement:

"It is my opinion that the Fraternity is to a marked degree approaching compliance with its public declaration—getting nearer to that which it says it stands for, and that on this basis the Fraternity is today at the peak thus far of its accomplishment."

Mr. Shields continues:

"From here on every step will be a new record, with deflections here and there to be sure; but the negative side of the measurement cycle will never again be reached, for there is sufficient determination and energy to commence the up-swing and reverse the trend when things begin to go badly."

Observe that belief:

"The negative side of the measurement cycle will never again be reached."

There is warrant for that belief.

"Outstanding is the fact," Mr. Shields goes on, "that the Fraternity is now striking at the underlying causes of its weakness—at the source of the trouble, rather than working feverishly to overcome the results of its weaknesses. In other words, the Fraternity is offensively instead of defensively engaged."

THE ANALYSIS becomes the more compelling as one goes deeper into it. "The Fraternity's purposes," says Mr. Shields, "are clearly defined, and with organization, together with the orderly adoption of tested procedures, it has overcome with a fair degree of success certain laissez faire policies. There is still a great need for courage in dealing with the marginal conditions that, despite possible maximum improvement, will continue to be non-productive. The indisputable criticism has always been well directed towards the Fraternity's failure, among others, to achieve any fair degree of performance in relation to its expressed purpose. Actually, these purposes have largely turned out to be front-office designs for the gullible public, which likewise with few exceptions lost sight of the need for inventory; but there seems to me to be a noticeable change on the side of actual performance.

"It is rather natural that the landscape should be in some respects ugly and unsightly when we stop to consider that speed has been necessary in blazing the college fraternity trail. However, the borders have been struck. There is unquestioned proof of a substantial interest in making the space within more useful and a better place to be. The Fraternity is today getting some effective action and real performance in relation to what it has said it stood for and that which it could do better than competitive groups. The various arteries of the Fraternity have, we believe, sensed the returns from compliance with the Fraternity's announced contract. These numbers are increasing.

"Most important: the whole Fraternity is establishing the winning tradition, which is based on facts and not on cheap juvenile fraternal loyalty. This winning tradition, together with increasing dependability and pride in doing a job well, are the fundamental reasons why the Fraternity will sustain its arrival."

"These current developments are swinging the Fraternity forward at every step. There is some danger in blasting ahead at terrific speed. There is always as much danger in unorganized forward advance as there is in the disorganized rout of retreat. The main thing, as we see it, is to keep the forward momentum proportionately correct in terms of the job ahead.

"I have the greatest affection and respect for those who fought the battles of the Fraternity in by-gone days. They taught us many things. They helped us immeasurably. Had it not been for them and what they did we could scarcely be doing what we are doing today. At the same time I am convinced that the Fraternity has undergone no period of achievement comparable with that of the present.

"The big job now is to keep steady, to continue to look ahead, and to make our plans well in advance."

YOU SEE WHY Mr. Shields is reluctant that this should appear in print. It can be construed as a boost for the administration with which he is now connected. Anyone who so construes it does not know Hugh Shields; to us such a consideration has less than no weight. Mr. Shields has perceived something that must fill every Delt with overflowing enthusiasm.

We cannot stop here.

Who said "Prophecy"?

The 1934 All-Delt Team

Arleigh Williams, California

HERE IS YOUR 1934 All-Delt football selection, chosen after the most careful study and a man-to-man comparison, in a terrific battle of ballots and ballyhoo.

Three positions on the team go to men who have received All-American fame. A number of others won the plaudits of the critics. Three of the members were on the 1933 selection.

on the All-Delt team.

ARLEIGH WILLIAMS, left halfback, captain of the California Golden Bears, is honored with the captaincy of our 1934 All-Delt selection. A student leader and an inspiring type of player, Williams is one of the greatest athletes in Coast history. Russ Hughes, the foremost Pacific Coast football commentator, says that, besides being the greatest kicker under fire in America, Arleigh can match the best in the land as a ball-carrier, and can rifle low-flung passes while on the run with accuracy. His demonstration against Stanford in that terrific 9 to 7 battle left no doubt of his class.

Charles Hartwig, left guard, was Pittsburgh's captain. Drilled by Jock Sutherland, who has become famous for the guards he has produced, Hartwig is one of the best. Hartwig is chosen as alternate captain of the Delt selection. He starred against California in the 1932 Rose Bowl contest, when he was a sophomore; against Notre Dame this year he topped his season's performance in another exhibition of superlative line play, frequently beating his ends down the field to tackle the safety man. He is an Associated Press All-American and is an honor student in engineering.

Bill Richardson, left tackle, All-Southeastern Conference tackle last year, when he was a sophomore, proved this year to be the outstanding line-man developed in the South. His temperament and his intense desire for perfection made him one of Mississippi's greatest captains. He was the star of the Centenary, Tennessee, and Mississippi State games.

Bill Parrish, left end, of George Washington. In a position exposed to so many dangers and calling for some of football's finest performances, Parrish played an outstanding game against Vanderbilt, Tulsa, and Louisiana State. Red Wilkins, Pittsburgh junior, deserves credit here for his work.

Russ Calkins, center, had the biggest assignment of any player in the country, as he had to replace California's great Red Christie, a boy who had played two seasons without a scratch and yet the day before California's opening game this year tore the ligaments and tendons in his leg. He was surely the most colorful player California had had in years, for he had won All-American cards of merit for two years and was a certain All-American this season. Calkins's remarkable work in taking over this job will make him All-Pacific Coast center. He was outstanding in the Santa Clara, Southern California, and Stanford games. Deserving of mention for this same position on the All-Delt team are Freddie Meiss of Cornell and Jack Pick, a sophomore at Tennessee.

Bill Borgman, right guard. Fighting an uphill and losing battle, this Michigan guard played nearly every minute and stayed on the top of the toughest league in the country. A guard without a flaw.

Ted Fehring, right tackle, is a brother of Purdue's famous 1933 captain and great all-sport star. Ted used his strength, combined with his power of analysis at solving opposition tactics, to give Purdue's line the power it had. Sam Mawhinney of West Virginia was close in the voting.

Lib Lewis, right end, is a powerful wing-man and was captain of this year's Carnegie Tech eleven. He possesses a sixth sense for anticipating what the other team will do, and shines at pass catching.

Alphonse ("Tuffy") Leemens, quarterback of George Washington. The plaudits of the critics fell on this all-round, spectacular, and sensational player. He was a marked man all season. Special defenses were constructed to foil him, but he came through the right way, always shining brightest in emergencies. He made the official All-American second team. Joe Mihm wins special attention.

Hugh Duvall, fullback, of Northwestern, was kept off of last year's selection only because George Sauer of Nebraska got the ballot. Probably in the same way Duvall was kept off the All-American. He is a bull-neck 200-pounder who, according to Dick Hanley, hits harder than Reb Russell of the 1930 Northwestern team, which means that a human avalanche is abroad in our 1934 All-Delt aggregation. His play was outstanding all season on Northwestern's rejuvenated team. The Michigan victory was Duvall's contribution. Dave Bernard of Mississippi and Joe Richards of Iowa, two prep stars, deserve mention.

Dick Armstrong, right half, was the leading scorer of the Big Six Conference and led the nation in dynamic blocking. His defensive power in pass deception gave Kansas State a reputation for aerial defense. With Leemens, Williams, and Duvall, Armstrong completes a backfield capable of orthodox line smashes, power plays, lightning slants at the flanks, passes, and kicks never before united in a Delt team. We pause to mention here John Theodore, the Illinois sophomore who scored the touchdown that upset the Army, and Shelton Bronstein, Stanford's shiftest back.

It will be noted that the following captained their respective elevens: Arleigh Williams, the California Golden Bears; Bill Richardson, the Mississippi Flood; Charles Hartwig, the Pittsburgh Golden Panthers; and Lib Lewis, the Carnegie Tech Spartans.

NOT that these included all the Delt football players that merit honorable mention. There were many more. Here are some of them:

Bob McClure and Arnold Greene of Pittsburgh; Dan McNeal and Don Isaacson of Kansas State; Bill Landes and Tom Lewis of Kansas; Jim Darnaby, Crowden, Endicott and Jacobs of Kentucky; Ostner and Wadsworth of Florida; Walter Olson of South Dakota; Buck Schimmel of West Virginia; Elton Owens of Oregon; Blakemore, Hulett, Pumphrey, and Hedler of Dartmouth; Duff Weber of Allegheny; Bob Wendorf of Western Reserve; Ray Fox of Indiana; Alex Clark, Bob Pope, and Bailey of De Pauw; Bill Moody, Ken Barnes, and Kin Penfold of Colorado; Bud Geyer of Northwestern; Ray Lewis of Stanford; Parsons, Howell, Morrison, Ray, and Hubka of Nebraska; Faletti, Wilkaitis, and Gragg of Illinois; Battaglin, Kirkman, and Parson of California.

Our Scholarship, 1933-34

By F. DARRELL MOORE
Supervisor of Scholarship

OF THE 15 fraternities with more than 51 chapters reporting to the National Interfraternity Conference
Δ T Δ ranked 4th in 1933-34 as compared with 5th in 1932-33.

ONE WOULD NEED the statistical genius of the chairman of the Republican National Committee to interpret the data available for the scholarship of our chapters for 1933-34. He could claim that we had made a glorious record, and there are some figures that could be quoted to prove it. If he were more honest, he would have to admit that, as a fraternity, Δ T Δ has nothing to boast about for last year's record.

The National Interfraternity Conference reports 65 chapters' records which are related to the all-men's averages of their respective colleges. Only 27 of these 65 are reported as above the men's averages. This compares with 33 of 65 for 1932-33.

If one takes the plus and minus scores of last year, the result is slightly on the minus side. The result is fairly close to the earlier year's analysis if one remembers that the two years are not exactly comparable; one chapter with a healthy plus 12 in 1933 has no report in 1934, and another chapter has been added which has a minus 12 for this year.

There are no figures available for Tufts, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Rensselaer, Kentucky, Virginia, and Toronto; relative ratings were not prepared at California and Kansas State.

Of the four Divisions, the Western made the best gain last year. The Eastern Division as a whole also made a substantial improvement. The Southern Division had the greatest recession from the previous year's records; and the Northern Division also lost considerable ground.

The winners of the plaques in the four divisions are:

Southern—Gamma Iota (Texas)

Western—Delta Alpha (Oklahoma)

Northern—Gamma Xi (Cincinnati)

Eastern—Delta Beta (Carnegie)

The best records in the Southern Division were earned by Gamma Iota (Texas), Delta Kappa (Duke), Beta Theta (University of the South), and Pi (Mississippi). Gamma Iota improved an already high relative rating to a plus 28, and ranked 3rd of 23 fraternities at the University of Texas. Beta Theta was the only other chapter in this Division which showed improvement, when its rating was changed from a minus 9 to plus 6; it ranked 3rd of 9 at the University of the South. Delta Kappa at Duke University maintained its high ranking as 2nd of 14 fraternities, headed only by a small group with six members; its relative rating was slightly lower than the previous year's.

The great loss in the record of the Southern Division was largely accounted for by Delta Eta (Alabama), which dropped to minus 9 from plus 18; Delta Zeta (Florida), which lost 13 points but still had a plus 8; Beta Delta (Georgia), which had a minus 17 and a loss of 19; Gamma Omega (North Carolina), which lost 8 points; and Beta Xi (Tulane), last of 19 fraternities with minus 5, a drop of 17 points. The University of Kentucky ceased to issue ratings, and the Division lost the consistently high record of Delta Epsilon. Gamma Eta (George Washington) returned to the list with a minus 12.

The Western Division also had some spectacular changes during the year, but fortunately the gains far more than counterbalanced the losses. The best improvement in the Fraternity was the achievement at Gamma Mu (University of Washington). A year ago Gamma Mu was last among 36 fraternities, and the current report shows a jump to 8th of 37. The relative rating was changed from minus 32 to plus 8. Gamma Mu was awarded a cup by the University as the group which had shown the greatest improvement for the year. Very high marks of four members, combined with the absence of any poor records, has been given as the reason for the improvement. Careful supervision of members' scholarship by the officers and the chapter adviser made the fine record possible. Gamma Mu can well be proud of its record.

Another report that reflected results of hard and persistent work of the chapter, its alumni, and its praeceptor, and which has earned deserved praise, is that of Beta Upsilon (Illinois), which jumped from 44th to 11th place among 52 groups, and which changed a minus 16 to a plus 3. The record for both semesters was uniformly good.

At Oklahoma, Delta Alpha increased its already high record to a plus 21, and thus carried off the scholarship honors of the Western Division. It ranked fourth of 22.

Gamma Theta earned first place on the National Interfraternity Conference's report from Baker for both semesters; its relative position was improved 18 differentials to plus 8. Here is another chapter whose improvement came entirely from its own efforts. The officers decided that the chapter should win distinction, and then saw to it that it did.

At the University of California at Los Angeles Delta Iota surprised even its best friends when it sprang from 19th to 3rd of 25 fraternities, and reversed a minus 7 to a plus 7 all in one year. The chapter is given all the credit for its fine record by Nat Fitts.

Delta Gamma (South Dakota) added to the Division's gain by changing a minus 2 to a plus 10. Delta Mu (Idaho) slipped a little, but still had a plus 3. Gamma Tau (Kansas) came from slightly under the men's average to slightly above. Other chapters showing improvement, although they are still under the respective men's averages, are Beta Pi (Northwestern) and Gamma Pi (Iowa State).

On the other side of the record in the Western Division Gamma Kappa (Missouri) dropped from a plus 18 to minus 4; Beta Tau (Nebraska) dropped 14 points to minus 17; Beta Gamma (Wisconsin) 12 points to minus 10; Gamma Rho (Oregon) went down still further from minus 15 to minus 19. Other losses were at Omicron (Iowa), Beta Kappa (Colorado), Beta Rho (Stanford), and Delta Lambda (Oregon State).

A chapter from which we have come to expect a consistently good record again carried off the honors in the Northern Division. Gamma Xi (Cincinnati) was 2nd of 15 fraternities with plus 19, a gain of 6 over the previous year.

Delta Chapter at the University of Michigan was 6th of 42 fraternities, and added to its prestige by increasing its relative rating to plus 13, a gain of 8. When one considers the standing of the University of Michigan among the nation's educational institutions, Delta's record becomes all the more commendable.

Other good records in the Northern Division included Gamma Lambda (Purdue), 4th of 32 with a plus 12 rating, which represented a slight drop from the year before. Beta Alpha (Indiana) was 4th of 20, and gained a little to a plus 8. Chi was 2nd of 5 at Kenyon with plus 11.

Beta Phi (Ohio State) dropped from plus 22 to minus 2, but part of the loss is reported to be technical rather than actual; from 3rd place Beta Phi slumped to 21st of 42 fraternities. Beta Psi (Wabash) changed a plus 4 to a minus 8. Mu (Ohio Wesleyan) had a bad record, last of 14 fraternities with minus 14. Beta Zeta (Butler) lost 11 differentials and ended with minus 5. Other differential losses in the Division were charged to Beta (Ohio), 6 with a plus 1; Beta Beta (DePauw) 7 with minus 8; Kappa (Hillsdale) last of 4 with minus 16, a loss of 4; Gamma Upsilon (Miami) 7 to minus 1. Epsilon (Albion) improved from minus 14 to minus 4; Zeta (Western Reserve) was slightly higher at minus 12.

The Pittsburgh region of the Eastern Division carried off the laurels of the Eastern Division. Delta Beta (Carnegie) won Divisional honors with a plus 23, and was 4th of 18 fraternities. Its record for 1933 was plus 3. Gamma was 2nd of 10 at Washington & Jefferson College, with a plus 14 to gain the runner-up position. This also shows a fine improvement over a year ago, when Gamma had a minus 2 score. Gamma Sigma (Pittsburgh) has been steadily improving its position for several years; for 1933-34 it was 3rd of 13 with a plus 4. Nearby Gamma Delta (West Virginia) slipped from 2nd to 4th place, but its relative rating was practically unchanged at plus 7.

Gamma Nu dropped from 5th to 8th at Maine, and lost 5 differentials to a plus 3. Gamma Phi (Amherst) was 4th of 12 with a plus 1, with no change.

Rather surprisingly Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan), which has had an excellent record for several years, showed the greatest loss in the Eastern Division, from plus 7 to minus 4. One delegation contributed almost entirely to the change. Gamma Gamma was last of 24 at Dartmouth with minus 12. Beta Nu (M.I.T.), Nu (Lafayette), Beta Lambda (Lehigh), and Tau (Penn State) all showed improvement, though each one was still on the negative side of the men's averages of their colleges.

In conclusion, it might be well to point out an important development of the past few months. Three outstanding Middle Western universities, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, have announced plans to improve fraternity scholarship on their respective campuses. A year ago, in his report as Chairman of Scholarship of the National Interfraternity Conference, Alvan Duerr pointed out that fraternity scholarship was primarily the problem of the college faculty and that there the responsibility lay for generally poor records. It is significant that three of our great universities are thus approaching the problem.

Several years ago the administration at Brown University officially sought to work out a notoriously bad situation in fraternity scholarship. The success of the Brown authorities is evidenced by the fact that 11 of the 18 fraternities exceeded the men's average last year, compared with 6 the previous two years, and three as the number generally before the effort started. Our own Beta Chi Chapter has not been able to raise its numerical position, but its relative rating has been going steadily upward during the past three years. With no intention whatever to detract from the credit due to Beta Chi chapter for its upward trend, it is my opinion that the changed attitude at Brown University and the acceptance of the responsibility for the condition by the faculty are the principal causes for the improvement.

As a national fraternity $\Delta T \Delta$ has never dodged its responsibility for the records of its chapters. The efforts of your officers will be easier when more college authorities awaken to their own responsibilities in the same way that the fraternity world has awakened.

Alvan Duerr recently completed the National Interfraternity Conference's scholarship survey for last year. In his opinion the results were disappointing beyond mere words, for the losses wiped out all the gains for the previous five years. $\Delta T \Delta$ contributed its share to the loss. Mr. Duerr writes: "The one outstanding conclusion in my mind is that fraternity men as a group are not aware of the fact that the fraternity system is more under fire than it has been in its history, and that fraternity men have been fiddling while Rome was burning, instead of building up a strong defense. These are times when a far-sighted courageous policy is necessary, and I hope that you are going to exert your influence to keep $\Delta T \Delta$ on her toes in the face of the prevailing lethargy."

It has often been said that the only way the chapter can achieve a respectable position scholastically is through its own efforts. The records at Baker University and University of Washington prove what a group can do when it develops its own initiative. Frequently, as at Illinois, the preceptorial system may contribute to a changed attitude, but the best of preceptors cannot make a record unless he has the material to work with and an honest desire on the part of the undergraduates for a respectable record. The undergraduates make the Fraternity and their chapter just what they want it to be, and no more. All that their alumni, chapter advisers, preceptors, and the Arch Chapter can do is to spur them on to a realization of their responsibilities.

While Rome is burning, let's put away our fiddling.

Another Old-Timer On the Job

IT ALWAYS DOES everybody's heart good to hear of another real old-timer who is still on the job.

The candidate this time is Colonel John Park Finley, Iota (Michigan Agricultural), '73, U.S.A., retired. Only this last Fall he sent an astonishing number of personal recommendations to the National Membership Committee, and of course he subscribes to THE RAINBOW.

Colonel Finley has been so many things that it is quite impossible to list them. For ten years he was governor of Zamboanga District, in the Philippines; has been in charge of the telegraph lines and cables of the Atlantic States; has been climatologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington; has enjoyed ambassadorial powers under Presidents Taft and Wilson at Constantinople; has been decorated by the Turkish Government; is a member of some thirty scientific societies; and lately wrote a textbook for the National Weather & Aviation School.

The Butler Chapter in 1880

Butler Gets Historic Picture

CLARENCE BOYLE, Beta Zeta (Butler), '80, has presented the chapter with an historic picture.

It shows the chapter in 1880, all wearing the snappy clothing of that up-and-coming period. Deltas of today will observe not only the neckwear, but especially the chest-protector badges of the old days, often worn, as here exhibited, on the coat lapel.

to right, are Clarence ("Taffy") Boyle, Joe Kelsey, Charley Phillips, and James Curtis (later known to thousands of Deltas as "Sunny Jim"). In front are Maurice ("Mike") O'Conner, Harry ("Kid") Allen, and Elmer ("Booze") Phillips.

Mr. Boyle now lives in Pasadena, California, and has the distinction of being the oldest living alumnus of Beta Zeta.

Fribley and Werner

High and Handsome at Ohio

KINDLY TAKE an eyeful of this exhibition of legs.

They belong, on the left, to Franklin Fribley, of New Philadelphia, O. Frail Franklin is 6 feet 6 inches tall, high, long—whatever you like. On the right they are the property of John Werner, of Leipsic, O. Jaunty John also extends to 6 feet 6 inches. Both are pledges of Beta Chapter, at Ohio.

The undersized person who is doing the pledging is James Powell, head of the House. Either he had to get on the second step or he had to send for a ladder.

Beta's new motto is "Upward and onward."

Franklin Alton Wade
Chi (Kenyon), '25

Geologist and chemist with the Byrd Expedition, who on Jan. 30th will take part in a two-way conversation with Col. Frederick Palmer, Alpha (Allegheny), '93, representing the Fraternity.

TEN THOUSAND and more Delts will listen in at 10 P.M. Eastern Standard Time on Wednesday, January 30th, 1935, and hear a two-way conversation between Alton Wade, Chi (Kenyon), '25, geologist with the Byrd Expedition in Antarctica, and Colonel Frederick Palmer, Alpha (Allegheny), '93, star war correspondent of the world and National Librarian of the Fraternity.

It is Owen Orr's doing.

That hustling Secretary of Alumni of ours is always full of ideas. He happens to be hitched up with all sorts of Big Business in the products line, and among these is General Foods, which has been sponsoring the Byrd programs that have been such interesting features over the Columbia Broadcasting System. So since Mr. Orr was chummy with General Foods, and since Mr. Ralph Butler, vice-president of the company (a Chi Phi from Michigan) is a sort of buddy of Mr. Orr's, and since there was a lonesome Delt 'way down there at the end of the earth—why, there you are.

First they were going to let President Harold Tharp do the talking at the civilization end, but there were difficulties. Then they thought of Secretary of War Dern, in Washington, or Secretary of Agriculture Wallace; but there arose more difficulties. So Mr. Orr got Katonah, N.Y., on the telephone, uttered a few of his well-known blandishments into the ear of Colonel Palmer; and everything was fixed.

The Editor offered to go down to New York and sing Delta Shelter for Mr. Wade's benefit, but authority seemed to think that Mr. Wade already had enough to contend with.

It is to be a two-way conversation.

Colonel Palmer may ask Mr. Wade if he has on his heavy underwear and Mr. Wade may reply in a few well chosen words that he has not, but intends to put 'em on as soon as the cold weather sets in. The Colonel, at all events, will extend to Mr. Wade the sincere good wishes of innumerable Delts for the success of his work and for a safe return, and there is no doubt that Mr. Wade will appreciate that, especially since he will know that all over the country—all over the world, even—thousands and thousands of brother Delts are hearing the exchange of greetings.

Elaborate plans are being made to ensure the reception of the program by many groups. The Central Office is advising all the active chapters and all the alumni chapters. Meetings are being arranged and timed so that those in attendance will enjoy the program under the most favorable circumstances. Active chapters are already planning gatherings of their own; and in many a home, far removed from the old Delt companionship of other days, Delts by ones and twos and threes will listen in.

There will be no trouble about getting the program, no matter where one is. It will be heard not only over the 62 stations of the Columbia System, but also over the short-waves, so that, with a little luck, it may be picked up even by Delts in Europe, in South America, and in the Orient.

Mr. Franklin Alton Wade, who is primarily responsible for all this interest, is now 30 years of age, a resident, when he is at home, of Akron, Ohio. He was initiated Delt at Kenyon, and went to Johns Hopkins for postgraduate work. His real job with the Byrd Expedition is that of geologist and chemist, but in the shuffle of duties incidental to the long Winter night he spends a lot of time as official night watchman. However, according to Charles J. V. Murphy, "Wade keeps the stove going in the library all night, but we have to have an assistant night watchman to keep him awake." He is the biggest man at Little America, and is nicknamed "Yeoman." He has played an important part in many of the broadcasts, appearing both as "The Shadow" and as a member of that musical organization known as "The Nights of the Gray Underwear." Mr. Wade is now out on the trail with one of the geological parties, but is expected to return to the base not later than January 20th.

Don't forget the date: Wednesday, January 30th.

Don't forget the time: 10 P.M. Eastern Standard Time—9 P.M. in Atlanta, Chicago, Houston, Kansas City, Minneapolis, New Orleans, San Antonio, St. Louis, and Yankton; 8 P.M. in Denver and Salt Lake City; 7 P.M. in Bakersfield, Fresno, Los Angeles, Portland, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, Spokane, and Tacoma.

By the way, Wade's the fellow who, calling at Easter Island en route South, declined to trade American cigarettes for a native wife.

Ohio Publications Staff Members

Ohio Delts Run Publications

THESE ARE the members of Beta (Ohio) who are also members of the campus publications staffs.

On the second row are Gene McDonald, circulation manager of The Ohioan; Jim Whitehill, on the business staff of The Athena; Milton Schmotzer, business manager of The Athena; and Randal Truog, assistant business manager of The Ohioan.

On the top row are Robert Hartford, assistant editor of The Athena; Ted Hopkins, assistant business manager of The Athena; and Bill Bye, assistant business manager of The Green & White.

As if this were not sufficient, three more Beta men, not in the picture, are on the publications' staffs: Jim Barrett and Jim Roach are on The Athena, and Bradley Slack is on The Green & White.

center on the basketball team and right end on the football team.

Next is "Red" Christie, All-Coast varsity football center. He broke the ligaments and tendons in his right leg in the St. Mary's game this year, more of a loss to California than the loss of the game was.

No. 3 is Jim Geiger, senior manager of baseball.

Fourth is Russ Calkins, All-Coast guard, who was moved to center after Christie was hurt.

The last is Arleigh Williams, All-Coast half and generally reckoned the steadiest and most dependable half-back California has had for years. He averaged twice the yardage of any other back on last year's team.

The Rainbow Karnea

By ENOCH BROWN

FOLLOW THE Rainbow to Memphis!"

Before the last brother has solved the knotty problem of deciding which hand he is to use for receiving his diploma and which hand he must keep in reserve for the president's this Spring, that message will have reached every $\Delta T \Delta$ in the land.

At least, that is the plan of the active Memphis Alumni Chapter, for in August they will throw open the doors of true Southern hospitality to the first Karnea to be held in the South in years and the first ever held so near old Pi Chapter at the University of Mississippi, mother of the Rainbow Society.

Beginning August 29th and running for three days, visiting alumni and brothers from every state in the Union will not have a dull moment. To many it will be their first introduction to the Old South, and even to Southerners it will give a new insight. Memphis—Queen of the Mid-South. . . . Memphis and its famous Beale Street. . . . Memphis and its packet boats and cotton. . . . Fabulous Memphis on the Mississippi.

Plans for this lavish reception are now being completed by a committee headed by O. H. Miller, Pi Chapter, chairman, and including W. Groom Leftwich, Beta Theta, vice-chairman; George W. Faison, Jr., Phi, entertainment; Jesse Cunningham, Chi, attendance, and Enoch Brown, Lambda, publicity.

Actively assisting this committee will be members of the Memphis Alumni Chapter, of which Dr. Percy Wood, Omega, is president; Albert G. Riley, Beta Iota, secretary; and Dr. George G. Graham, Beta Theta, treasurer.

Tentative plans are for a dance and excursion on one of the Lower Mississippi's famous river showboats; a barbecue at the Wilson plantation across the river in Arkansas, one of the largest in the South; a grand ball atop the Hotel Peabody to the music of two nationally-known orchestras; and a hejira by special train to Oxford, seat of the University of Mississippi and Pi.

This last named pilgrimage is held especially significant in view of the fact that there was born the Rainbow Fraternity, which was later consolidated with $\Delta T \Delta$.

Founded in the Fall of 1848—the year Ole' Miss came into being—the Rainbow Fraternity was organized by seven young men who had been schoolmates at LaGrange, Tenn., and had entered Ole' Miss together. Legend does not record why these brothers left LaGrange, but leave they did, and as their number coincided with the colors in the rainbow, so was their fraternity named.

Membership was at first limited to seven, and no additional members were taken in until a brother had graduated; but this was afterward amended and membership was based on multiples of seven.

The Rainbow Fraternity was strictly Southern in its aims and views and sided throughout with the states' rights movement that resulted eventually in the Civil War. After the war the membership limit was removed, but the fraternity remained strictly Southern. In 1885 the Rainbow was consolidated with $\Delta T \Delta$, which had been founded at Bethany College in Virginia (now West Virginia) in 1859, and has since spread to schools throughout the country.

From that necessarily brief résumé of the birth and rise of a great fraternity it is understandable why the South and why Memphis are honored at the chance given them to be host to their own. For Memphis it will be the first occasion, and in it the committee will add to the fame of the city as convention capital of the nation.

Delegates on registration will be issued invitations to play golf at any one of six country clubs, and a polo match may be arranged at the Hunt & Polo Club. In return, the committee and Memphis expect a favor—not for themselves, but for $\Delta T \Delta$ —and that favor is for all good Delts to heed the slogan:

"Follow the Rainbow to Memphis!"

Wealthy House Man Stays on Job

By HARRY G. SHOOK, II

DAVID MILNE, better known as "Scotty," is wealthy. He is Gamma Upsilon's house-man, and remains a house-man in spite of inheriting $22,000 from his father, the late David Milne of Aberdeen, Scotland.

"Scotty" has led an adventurous life. He was born June 4th, 1888, in Aberdeen, Scotland, where he spent his childhood. During his youth he was a very good amateur boxer. From 1916 to 1918 he was in the British Merchant Marine, and from 1918 to 1922 spent his time traveling between London and Australia, and London and Buenos Aires and Montevideo. In 1922 he came to America and worked as a machinist for the Hooven, Owens, Rentschler Co. in Hamilton, Ohio, now part of the General Machinery Corporation. He worked there until 1931, at which time he became house-man for Gamma Upsilon.

He comes by his trade naturally, for his grandfather, founder of D. Milne & Sons, engineers, of Aberdeen, invented the sewing machine, according to The Evening Express, of Aberdeen.

He owns 10 acres of land in the Isle of Pines, Cuba, in addition to the inheritance from his father.

When news was received of the inheritance, every one in Gamma Upsilon expected "Scotty" to go to Scotland, for he has expressed that desire many times in the past year. His case was paradoxical, for he was saving his money to go to Aberdeen to visit his father. Now that he is financially able to do so, he will not.

It seems that Fortune has worked overtime in "Scotty's" case, for he has had several offers of positions since his recently acquired financial independence. He has also had numerous offers of matrimony from admirers who read in the papers of his inheritance. But David says that he is content where he is, and that he sees no reason for spending all his money; so it looks as though Gamma Upsilon will still have her house-man for a little while.

Frank Wieland Passes

By GEORGE PADDOCK

FRANK WIELAND, March 4th, 1869—November 18th, 1934. Eta, '90. President of $\Delta T \Delta$ 1901-1907. The best known and most beloved Delta of us all.

To write this story as it should be written, one would have to be the sort of man Frank Wieland was, which means it never would be written. No one of us has his keen knowledge of human character, alertness of mind, sparkling wit, together with a depth of sympathy and a really genuine interest in the other fellow's problems.

If Dr. Wieland were writing this himself, he would see nothing sorrowful in sudden painless death, after sixty-five years of usefulness and well-doing. A physician who sees his patients within his last few hours, who leaves a memory that gleams like sunlight to thousands of men and women, passes in triumph.

Those thousands could help tell this story, each adding a different chapter. Physicians, who had watched his skillful work for forty years. Men whom he had cured, without a fee, and sent away with some of his own dollars in their pockets. Women, whose husbands or sons had been straightened out by sharp, kind, helpful counsel. Young men, whose first realization of $\Delta T \Delta$ had come full-grown out of one of the famous Wieland dinners.

Those dinners were unique affairs. Frank Wieland as host, chairman, and toastmaster. Speakers of national reputation, and speakers who were just good Delts with a message. Men who, like Herbert Adams Gibbons and Alvan Duerr, traveled across the country to get there. A hundred or two alumni, who had marked their calendars "must go" when the first notices came. Freshmen from the four corners of the Delt world, learning the real meaning of the Fraternity as guests of the man who most nearly exemplified the ideal Delt.

It was not the big crowds of alumni and actives that made every "Wieland Dinner" a success, nor the excellent speeches, nor the Delt songs and yells. Not even the rapid-fire sequence of stories (true and untrue), the compliments, and the good-natured raillery with which the Doctor kept his dinners at top speed. It was more than that. Everybody was there as a tribute to one man; it was his party, and he was the party.

No man in the Fraternity had a wider acquaintance than Frank Wieland. He made friends easily, and he never forgot a face or a name. Men who met him again after an interval of years were surprised and delighted when he greeted them by name and chapter, and recalled the circumstances of their last meeting. This was not merely a marvelous memory—it was a friendliness that included and absorbed the most casual acquaintance. Frank Wieland liked people.

It is hard to realize that thirty-three years have gone by since Frank Wieland became President of $\Delta T \Delta$; that is probably because he changed so little in those years. His interest in new chapters and old chapters, Karneas and Conferences, active and alumni problems was just as strong and helpful in 1934 as it was in 1901.

His six years in the presidency were eventful. They came in a crucial period—the Fraternity was ending its adolescence and entering upon maturity. It needed a leader who could envision the future while respecting the past. A kindly heart was needed, then as always, to help solve the constantly recurring difficulties of fraternity government. Frank Wieland met his problems with justice, but his decisions were tempered with a deep realization of the many problems of undergraduate life.

His presidency of $\Delta T \Delta$ ended when he refused a fourth term in 1907, but his leadership of the Fraternity continued. While he did not paigns. It deals rather with the broad trends of American life and enterprise as affected by science, technology, power production, and the epidemic experimentalism that marks the politics of the time.

"The inexplicable riddle of contemporary politics is the way in which leadership is formulating policies to fit an assumed surplus economy that does not exist, instead of searching for the policies that will release the locked energies of the actual economy of plenty that does exist, in the sense that we have at last learned how adequately to supply human need, even if we have not yet learned how adequately to translate existing human need into effective economic demand.

"The implications of the riddle run throughout American life. I have sought in the chapters to follow to trace these implications as they affect the principles, motive forces, and instrumentalities of the American tradition of private enterprise and political liberty."

There is the thesis of the book.

Naturally, every follower of Dr. Frank got his ears open; every intelligent politician interested in national affairs prepared to read; and every book reviewer in the country sharpened a new sheaf of pencils.

The Wisconsin president has been especially conspicuous as a speaker this last year. He received a tremendous ovation from the Land Grant College Association and that at the end of an address which lasted two hours. He made another hit at the Alfred Sloan Dinner that marked the opening of the Chicago Fair. Last June he addressed the National Educational Association in Washington along the same lines of argument as are followed in this latest book. His last commencement address had the same underlying point of view. At the Herald-Tribune's Fourth Annual Conference on Current Problems, only recently, Dr. Frank was the principal speaker; and, according to reports, the constantly interrupting applause towards the end of the address culminated in something like an ovation after his final statement that no government could succeed which secured votes through promising the moon to millions.

Dr. Frank had been somebody long before he wrote his latest book. For several years he was the editor of The Century Magazine. As head of the great university in Wisconsin he has tackled educational problems with zest and originality. He has never been afraid to go on a new path or to express an unorthodox opinion.

What was this book going to be?

The press, as may have been anticipated, received it variously. According to the bias of reviewers, it was praised as enthusiastically as it was damned. Opponents of the New Deal are still making extracts from it for use as campaign ammunition, although Dr. Frank maintains that it must not be taken as an attack on the Roosevelt régime.

Most of the uncomplimentary reviews took the view that Dr. Frank had used up no end of ammunition in condemnation of methods as they are without offering anything constructive as improvements. It was perhaps sad to see that The Herald-Tribune, which might at least have been expected to share Dr. Frank's animadversions in general, spread across five columns in its book section: "Glenn Frank, a Liberal Prophet at Sea," and beneath it added: "On Billows of Prose He Beats to Windward, Close-Hauled on the Starboard (Right) Tack."

But Dr. Frank came bravely back in The World-Telegram.

"After all," he insisted, "it is quite as important to raise questions as to answer them."

He sat in his study at Madison, puffed on his pipe, and repeated his belief that basic shifts were necessary in the country's economic policy.

"Physical science," he reiterated,

IT IS HIGH TIME, perhaps, that Delts should be taking another and perhaps a more appraising look at Glenn Frank, Beta Pi (Northwestern), '12, the plain-spoken and hard-hitting president of the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Frank got again into the news on two counts recently: one, that he published a book, America's Hour of Decision, that rapped the Roosevelt régime smartly over the knuckles, and, two, that a Wisconsin newspaper interpreted his recalling of Dean Lloyd K. Garrison from the National Labor Relations Board in Washington as a gesture towards the Republican Presidential nomination in 1936. This, naturally, was picked up by the Associated Press. The Wisconsin newspaper said it understood that Dr. Frank felt that the Republican Party was in need of a "liberal" candidate and yet not a "dangerous" liberal and that he believed he was in a position to qualify.

And he may be. Who knows?

"This is in no sense a partisan document," said Dr. Frank in explaining his new book. "It does not concern itself with the minutiae of current legislation, and it attempts no judgment on the strategies of current cam-

"industrial technology, and power production have given us a new tool with which we can lower the cost and lift the standard of living for the masses, if we do not commit the folly of dulling this new tool with a policy of restriction. To scrap these new mechanisms, legislate scarcity, and turn the problem over to the politicians is suicidal."

He admitted without argument that his advocacy of an "economics of plenty" would bring him criticism for not going further into its detail, but these details, he added, "must be hammered out on the anvil of practical experience."

again hold office, except a term or two as president of the Chicago Alumni Chapter, he kept in close touch with Delt affairs. Everybody went to him or wrote to him for advice, financial, medical, moral, general. No dinner within reach of Chicago was complete without his wise and witty talks. The undergraduates, one generation after another, idolized him. He understood them, and he spoke their language.

From his experiences in $\Delta T \Delta$ Frank Wieland became firmly convinced that the fraternity idea was worth while. He was active in his medical fraternity, Phi Alpha Gamma, and served as president of its alumni group in Chicago. When the idea of an interfraternity club was launched in Chicago, its sponsors chose Dr. Wieland as the Club's first president. His energy and enthusiasm did much to promote the Club's rapid growth, and it became a large and successful organization under his leadership. To his loyalty to his own Fraternity was added a new belief that a common bond of similar ideals existed among all Greek-letter men.

The same qualities that made Frank Wieland a great and remarkable leader of fraternity men helped place him in the first rank of the medical profession in Chicago. Tireless energy, lovable personality, a real friendliness for his fellow-men, when

Alpha, at Allegheny

ALPHA CHAPTER, at Allegheny, strengthened by the initiation of a number of members of a former local fraternity, is presenting a new aspect on its historic campus.

A special initiation was held in Sep-

added to thorough training, long experience and fine technique, make a great physician. In his chosen specialty he built up a national reputation. Those he has helped live in every part of the country.

Few men have the privilege of seeing, in their lifetime, the memorial which grateful and admiring friends erect to their memory. When the plan was formed to rebuild and enlarge the Henrotin Hospital in Chicago, where Dr. Wieland performed his operations, a group of Chicago Delts felt that it would be a fitting tribute to create the Frank Wieland Memorial Operating Room. Funds were subscribed by Delts from almost every chapter. The committee in charge—Wright Erwine, Carl Kuehnle, and W. M. McNamee—consulted with Dr. Wieland regarding every detail of the equipment. Had he lived two months longer, he would have seen the room completed, and ready for his use.

Among the largest of Chicago's many great business houses is Montgomery Ward & Company, a concern with many millions of dollars in annual sales, handled by thousands of employees in buildings covering acres of ground. This mammoth company was noted for its unusually thorough and comprehensive medical and welfare work among those whom it employed. Frank Wieland, as medical director there, was in charge of this work for many years, and its success was due largely to his tremendous energy, medical skill, and sympathetic knowledge of human nature.

These few lines do not begin to be a suitable tribute to Frank Wieland. Probably no one of us can say all that should be said. Any of the thousand people who attended the funeral ceremonies could bring some story of a friendly act or keen, wise, and helpful advice. They all would say, in many different ways, the same words: "An upright man, a faithful friend—a loyal Delt."

Maurice Malin

Frank Bevington

Idaho Delts in Publications

FOR THE FIRST time in the history of the University of Idaho one fraternity will claim complete executive control of The Gem of the Mountains, yearbook. Next year is the year, and it's two Delts who will have complete guidance of that publication.

Maurice Malin, who is now associate editor by virtue of his election last Spring, will automatically become editor-in-chief next year. Malin is also a member of the Interfraternity Council, Alpha Kappa Psi, the newspaper staff, and is a pledge of Blue Key.

Frank Bevington, appointed assistant business manager by the executive board last April, will be business manager. Bevington is also Duke of the Intercollegiate Knights, minor sports letter man, advanced military, and a Blue Key pledge.

George Brunzell is keeping up the Delt tradition as business manager of The Idaho Engineer. Delt Engineers have held that position for three years.

In addition to these major positions several members and pledges are active in publication work.

Washington Wins Silver Cup

SO MARKED has been the scholastic gain by Chapter Gamma Mu (Washington) that the group not only won the 1933-34 silver cup for showing the greatest scholastic improvement among all the fraternities on the Washington campus, but also was complimented by Dean of Men Herbert T. Condon, and complimented very handsomely.

"Last year," writes Dean Condon, "your boys had a 2.302 grade point average as against 2.503 for the All Men's organizations; while this year the $\Delta T \Delta$ grade point average was 2.584, whereas the All Men's organizations was 2.439."

The presentation was made by Registrar E. B. Stevens at the meeting of the Interfraternity Council Mothers' Club, about 150 in number.

Four brilliant students contributed largely to the record: Bill Munroe, chapter president, with 24 hours of A and 19 hours of B; Dan Frame with 27 hours of A and 20 hours of B; Leon Ellis with 39 hours of A and 2 hours of B; and Thomas Campbell with 43 hours of A and 2 hours of B.

"A scholastic average at least as good as either the All Men's average or the fraternity average."

Brother De Long Writes C. O.

RECEIVING A communication from the Central Office regarding his RAINBOW subscription, Ira M. DeLong, Xi (Simpson), '78, replied:

"That appeal of yours to my sense
"OF IMPORTANCE—THE RAINBOW, about to try out something new, needs brainy advice; and, Ecce Nomen, Ecce Homo, in bold relief on your mailing list;

"OF REMINISCENCE—See that column of sparkling news about my old campus comrades;

"OF FRATERNAL LOYALTY—You will tell me about my own fraternal chapter. Heavens, that was Xi! Is Conan Doyle on THE RAINBOW staff?

"OF INTERESTED INDECISION—Being already almost persuaded to subscribe, an invitation and hunch from you will fetch the bacon;

"OF YEARNING FOR PERSONAL NOTICE—There is to be an alumni column, and my name may get into print;

"OF ROCK-RIBBED REGARD FOR STUART MACLEAN—Who, but for L. Allen Beck, would have murdered my MS. for RAINBOW LI 1, page 15; and who may have perpetrated RAINBOW LII 1, page 46.

"Preen not your feathers on the thought that I am to be overcome by any such broadside. In sheer defiance of it I am herewith enclosing you my check for $1.50 Mail THE RAINBOW to me, Hotel Boulderado, Boulder.

Hemmick Cited

THE FOLLOWING citation has been presented to Frank Schley Hemmick, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '09, by the Court of Honor of the Fraternity:

"Charter member at George Washington University and Chapter Adviser; Vice-President of the Southern Division; Manager of the Central Office; Editor of THE RAINBOW; Secretary of the Fraternity. Others may have cared for $\Delta T \Delta$ as much as he; no one has cared more."

Kentucky Goes Military

DOWN IN Kentucky at the Delta Shelter the words "Delt" and "Military" are somewhat synonymous. For several years Delta Epsilon has been giving the cadet corps some of its most outstanding leaders. Starting in 1928, when James Chapman ranked as cadet colonel of the regiment, the Deltas have held topnotch positions.

John Benson succeeded Chapman to the highest rank in the Military Department. Other high rankers of that year were Bob O'Dear, lieutenant-colonel, and Len Weakley, major. The next year Ben Crosby made it three in a row and again carried Delta Epsilon's honors to the top with another cadet colonelship. Bill Trott was selected as the year's most outstanding captain.

During 1931-32 O. B. Coffman was a captain with a prize-winning company. In 1932-33 the Deltas again pulled a neat finesse with George Skinner ranking as colonel, Horace Miner as lieutenant-colonel, Joe Mills as regimental adjutant, and Cameron Coffman as battalion adjutant.

Last season Harry Clo was selected as lieutenant colonel, Fred Dye as major, and Ralph Kercheval as captain. To climax a brilliant record in the basic corps Cal Cramer won the competitive drill and was awarded a silver loving-cup as the best drilled cadet.

This season dawns upon another group of militaristic Deltas. The work of Dave Difford, Bill Greathouse, Jack Crain, Al Miller, and several others at Fort Knox, Ky., gives promise of some more high positions.

For their reward for outstanding work 16 members of the chapter are also members of Pershing Rifles, and eight are on the chapter roll of Scabbard & Blade.

Big New Job For Robbins

He and Don Frazier, another of the chapter's motorboat enthusiasts, are planning to descend on the Texas Gulf meet during the Christmas holidays. It will be all over by the time you read this, but here's hoping. In 1933 Frazier, who is a Beta Upsilon pledge, won the national outboard racing championship.

was Assistant Secretary of State under President Coolidge; today he is manager and federal counsel of the American Life Convention, with headquarters at 1221 Locust St., St. Louis.

He was president of the American Life Convention in 1930-31, and twice served terms on its executive committee. A native Iowan, he has won recognition in three distinct fields of endeavor: as an attorney and jurist, as a life insurance company executive, and as a soldier, having served his country with distinction in three wars.

After serving in the War with Spain, Colonel Robbins was in the thick of the fighting in the Philippines, took part in 27 engagements, was wounded, and was cited for gallantry. He was with the A.E.F. in France during 1918 and 1919. In 1921 he became a major in the Reserve Corps, a lieutenant-colonel in 1923, and a colonel in 1926. In 1928-29 he served as Assistant Secretary of War under Secretary Dwight Davis.

"Digest" Features E. P. Bell

EDWARD PRICE BELL, Beta Psi (Wabash), '97, star foreign newspaper correspondent, the man credited with having brought about the famous London Conference, is being featured by The Literary Digest in a number of special articles.

One of Mr. Bell's recent articles was an interesting study of Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Senate of the Philippines and prospective chief magistrate of the Islands when the American flag gives way to that of the Filipinos.

Northern Conference at Cincinnati

ON THE BASIS of comments received from various active chapters and the belief that the main value of a Division Conference lies in the opportunity for social intercourse and acquaintance, the Northern Division Conference to be held in Cincinnati on Friday and Saturday, February 8th and 9th, 1935, will feature these provisions.

Preliminary plans call for the Conference to organize late Friday morning with a luncheon for Division officers, chapter advisers, and alumni.

Open sessions Friday afternoon will be devoted to a general discussion, under capable leadership, of the two subjects of Rushing and Alumni Relationship.

On Friday evening some form of entertainment will be provided by the local committee, planned so as to provide the most in the way of mixing up the crowd.

After a short business session on Saturday morning various round-table groups will be organized to discuss problems of common interest.

Saturday afternoon will be spent in a short résumé of the round-table discussions, committee reports, and closing business, to be followed, presumably, by the banquet.

"The Delt world should know," declares President Finnicum, "that the Northern Division is better, even if no bigger, than ever. Bigger, too, because we have a couple or three new alumni chapters."

President's Board Calls Delts

TWO DELTS are members of the Medical Advisory Committee formed by President Roosevelt in connection with his Advisory Council to plot a national security plan.

They are Dr. George Crile, Psi (Wooster), '92, the world-famous scientist, and Dr. George M. Piersol, Omega (Pennsylvania), '02, former editor of The American Journal of Medical Sciences and also past president of the American College of Physicians at Philadelphia.

Kansas State Offers

THESE BOYS are Don McNeal, with the "K" sweater, and Verne ("Pop") Warner, of Gamma Chi, at Kansas State.

McNeal, a junior in journalism, earned his sweater as a quarter-miler. He is chapter treasurer and house manager, sports editor of the yearbook, publicity agent for the Public Speaking Department, and was on the freshman honor roll.

Warner, chapter president, is a junior in general science. He was on the freshman and sophomore honor rolls and made Phi Kappa Phi. He is completing a four-year course in abbreviated time, and as head of the House was a potent factor in Gamma Chi's successful rush week this Fall. Incidentally he is a semi-pro baseball pitcher.

Purdue Heads List Again

JUST TO SHOW what tradition and good work can do, Gamma Lambda (Purdue) has won the bronze plaque for making the highest average in the Fraternity examination for 1933-34, just as she won it for 1932-33.

The high winning average for 1933-34 was 99.428.

Close runners-up were Gamma Chi (Kansas State), 99.333; Rho (Stevens), 99.333; Beta Mu (Tufts), 98.000; Gamma Theta (Baker), 98.000; Gamma Mu (Washington), 97.000; Epsilon (Albion), 96.272; Beta Gamma (Wisconsin), 95.800; Gamma Psi (Georgia Tech), 95.769; Beta Pi (Northwestern), 95.176; and Nu (Lafayette), 95.000.

Only six chapters were below 80; only one was below 70.

Ten Delts Now at Harvard

DELTS SEEM to gather, even at post-graduate institutions. For instance, there are ten Delts from eight different chapters enrolled this year in the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

They are W. H. Cochran, Gamma Delta (West Virginia), '30; W. P. Gayman, Gamma Xi (Cincinnati), '30; A. D. Hopping, Beta Zeta (Butler), '17; E. C. Knapp, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '33; F. M. Lindsay, Jr., Chi (Kenyon), '33; M. E. Minich, Nu (Lafayette), '33; T. C. Pierson, II, Gamma Xi (Cincinnati), '33; N. T. Washburn, Jr., Beta Alpha (Indiana), '22; H. F. Espencheid, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '34; and R. R. Henry, Gamma Lambda (Purdue), '34.

This information comes from Mr. Boyce F. Martin, assistant dean, together with a notice calling attention to the School's new course in public administration, designed to prepare its graduates for public service. This is to be offered at an extra session beginning in January.

★ AROUND THE FIREPLACE ★

OF COMPELLING interest, to Δ T Δ especially at this moment when we are asserting that as an organization we have arrived definitely on the plus side of accomplishing that which we say we stand for, is the analysis of the inherent strength and weakness of the fraternity system, as made by Dr. Charles Thwing, president emeritus of Western Reserve.

The advantages Dr. Thwing lists as follows:

First, the co-operation which the fraternity promotes between teachers and students.

Second, the promotion of friendships.

Third, the development of a man towards becoming his noblest, his ablest, his best self.

Fourth, the development of an appreciation of social adjustments and the growth of the mood of conciliation.

Fifth, the training in the art of democratic self-government.

Sixth, the atmosphere of optimism.

Seventh, the fact that the chapter house is essentially a home.

Eighth, that the fraternity chapter is a tie uniting the graduate to his college.

The debits chargeable to the fraternity system Dr. Thwing enumerates as follows:

First, the lack of inspiration and opportunity to do hard, intellectual work.

Second, the lack of supervision of the housekeeping, resulting in domestic carelessness.

Third, that in the informalities in the house the essential dignity of human nature and a normal respect for human personality are liable to be forgotten.

Fourth, the peril of narrowness in human contacts.

AS CONSTRUCTIVE measures Dr. Thwing recommends, first, a more intimate and constant supervision of the chapters by their national organizations; second, that the institutions, the colleges, go farther in establishing intimate relations between faculty and fraternity men; and, third, that the fraternity alumni interest themselves more fundamentally in the social, mental, and moral welfare of the chapters.

The fraternity cannot itself carry out the second of Dr. Thwing's recommendations. Fundamentally that is the responsibility of the institution—nor is it the only responsibility the institution has. The National Interfraternity Conference has very definitely established the fact that on more than one campus the lack of scholarship is traceable directly to the fact that the institution itself has not done its part in the establishment of scholarship.

As to the first and third recommendations, Δ T Δ could have reported both these to Dr. Thwing as constructive measures already put into operation. Not as yet has the Fraternity succeeded in bringing about the blessing that every chapter be the personal charge of devoted and wholesome and intelligent alumni, but we are getting closer to that every month; and as for intimate supervision, personal responsibility assumed by headquarters for the conduct, the atmosphere, the point of view, the financial responsibility, the personal integrity—the character of a chapter, we invite Dr. Thwing or any other interested educator to spend one day in the Central Office.

CONGRATULATIONS to the chapter adviser, himself one of the most liberal minded of gentlemen, who personally filed charges of conduct unbecoming of a member of Δ T Δ against three alumni who arrived for Homecoming and proceeded to demonstrate their belief that a Delt chapter house is a drinking resort—an alumni road-house.

It is painful, it is unpleasant, to be obliged to adopt such measures in order to convince some otherwise entirely desirable men that the Fraternity cannot and will not tolerate drinking on her premises or at her functions.

Today, high in the councils of the Fraternity, is a man who, while he was a student, the head of his chapter, having served official notice to alumni that there would be no drinking at the Shelter during Homecoming, proceeded forthwith to lay charges and press them to a finish against every visiting alumnus who flouted the notice. His action made him immensely unpopular—for the time being. But he was a man; he meant what he said; he knew the Fraternity expected no less of him; and he went through with it. The strength of his chapter today is a witness to his integrity.

All we need is a few more men.

Again, congratulations, Mr. Chapter Adviser.

SOME of our active chapters are missing a great opportunity. In the fact, we mean, that as yet they have no Alumni Contributing Editors.

Did you notice the alumni news in the November number? Nineteen pages of it there was, practically every line of it the result of fine loyalty and downright work on the part of alumni.

We grant you that it isn't easy to find the right man. He has to be a choice spirit. There isn't the slightest use getting a man unless you get the right one. You can't wish it on somebody, for he won't go at it hard enough to produce results. But most of the men we have thus far are, evidently, the right men; and every one of these will testify that he's getting a great kick out of it.

Looking over the roll, we find 18 chapters without ACEs. The Northern Division has one for every chapter. In the Western Division only two chapters are without this representation. The remaining 16 who have no Alumni Contributing Editors are half in the Eastern and half in the Southern Division—eight in each.

Δ T Δ is already leagues ahead of every other Greek-letter fraternity in the way of alumni news, and the effects of this campaign are being reflected in many different directions.

These appointments are all made through the Central Office. Suppose the rest of us get on the band-wagon?

WE OBSERVE that the Central Office is again suggesting, rather pointedly, that our chapters and our membership generally confine their purchases of Fraternity jewelry to our official jewelers.

This appears an entirely reasonable attitude. There is something that smacks rather of infernal impertinence when entirely unauthorized firms or individuals possess themselves of our private property and thrust themselves uninvitedly into our personal affairs. In the second place, it is distinctly to our own interest to confine our purchases to Balfour, Edwards Haldeman, and Burr Patterson, for the Fraternity itself profits by these sales, and when the Fraternity profits the individual profits.

The National Interfraternity Conference is recommending that all its membership adopt this attitude, and cites Paragraph C, Section 1, Schedule A of the Precious Jewelry Producing Industry Code.

Code or no code, we shall do ourselves a service by refusing admittance, politely if possible, impolitely if necessary, to all representatives of pirate producers.

FOR A GOOD many years Δ T Δ has fallen into the habit of making her Karneas a kind of glorified ballyhoo.

We have had our eye on the crowd.

Notably, on several occasions, we have gathered the crowd. Three times we have broken the all-fraternity records for convention attendance. And this means something—to be able to stage a Karnea that brings the old boys back in unprecedented numbers.

And yet we wonder.

We are now approaching another Karnea. So far as one is informed, there has as yet arisen no frantic cry that we take the one after this to Keokuk or Galveston or Swampscott. Perhaps for once we can sit down in peace and quiet and decide without any buttonholing what would be a good place to hold the next Karnea.

For ourselves, we should be very happy to see the Fraternity forget, for once, the question of possible attendance. We should like to see a Karnea arranged in some secluded, pleasant, quiet spot, where trips hither and yon, and sight-seeing, and side-shows, and the rest of the what-have-you would be thrown out, and where we could gather for the sole purpose of considering the welfare of the Fraternity.

More than one of our friendly rivals has discovered that there are distinct advantages in the gathering of a smaller but more constructively minded group.

It might be well worth while for Δ T Δ to make the experiment.

HERE IS another college dean who appreciates the college fraternity. He is Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock of Penn State.

"If fraternities were abolished at Penn State," said the Dean recently, according to The New York Times, "and their houses destroyed, the college would be called upon to spend an immense sum of money to provide a substitute equal to present accommodations on the campus. The college will continue to look to the fraternities for housing aid."

Dean Warnock continued by commending the fraternities for capitalizing on the depression. A study revealed that last year, he said, living costs at the average Penn State fraternity were reduced from 10 to 15 per cent. He added that the college was considering a plan to draw the fraternities even closer into the academic life by placing a graduate student in every house to act as tutor.

THE LONGER we continue in this fraternity work, the more we are surprised when we reflect upon the time and energy given to its interests by men of affairs who get not a cent for their services, but who may nevertheless be relied upon, in season and out of season, to be giving themselves in order that their fraternity may profit.

We are just back from part of the National Interfraternity Conference at the Hotel Roosevelt, in New York City. There was President Tharp; there was Darrell Moore, Supervisor of Scholarship; there was Frank Cornell, President of the Eastern Division; there was Owen Orr, Secretary of Alumni; there was Alvan Duerr, past President of the Fraternity, now scholarship chairman of the Conference; there was Frederick Palmer, our new National Librarian, giving up work on his new book in order to see what he could do for Δ T Δ.

These gentlemen were in New York primarily to attend the Conference meetings in behalf of the Fraternity, and you would think that after two solid days of it they would be ready to get their hats and coats and suitcases. But no—there was the Fraternity itself to consider, policies to determine, decisions to make, matters to explore, so that a bedroom in the Roosevelt became the scene of a sort of sub-session of a semi-Arch Chapter.

We do owe these men and their kind more than we can ever pay.

Yours,

—ED.

Outstanding Man at Florida

THIS IS William J. Jackson, of Miami, Fla., one of the outstanding men on the Florida campus and a member of Delta Zeta.

Mr. Jackson is not only president of the Interfraternity Conference, but is also president of the White Friars dance society, a member of Gargoyle, a member of Blue Key, and chancellor of the Honor Court.

Georgia Delts Celebrate

By ROY PETTY

AT LANTA STILL retains its prestige as the focal point of Delt activities in the South. The annual Georgia All-State banquet assembled almost 100 Delts from chapters too numerous to mention.

As usual, the banquet preceded Georgia Tech Homecoming, and the gang was all pepped up Friday night, Nov. 16th, when they gathered in the main dining room of the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Hoot Gibson, an able toastmaster, kept the entertainment and speeches clicking like the forward passes Alabama was destined to show the following afternoon.

Mayor James L. Key, Beta Epsilon, made a grand speech, and it wasn't political, either. Atlanta readily justifies its continued confidence in his ability to run the affairs of this city efficiently.

The Rev. Raimundo De Ovies, Sewanee, Dean of the Pro-Cathedral, held the crowd spellbound with one of his talks that abound in word pictures and genuine sincerity. There is hardly a local man whose time is so sought after, but the Dean said, "It's well worth an evening to meet and mingle with Atlanta Delts on this annual occasion." Of course, there were the usual dancers, singers, and orchestral entertainment.

The Georgia Tech and Emory Chapters attended 100 per cent. There were plenty of Delt songs, Delt jokes, and general Delt amusement. But that makes a party and is one of the reasons Δ T Δ thrives in Atlanta.

Missouri Sends Short Back

HAND IT TO Dewey Short, Gamma Theta (Baker), '19. He is the only Republican to be elected in Missouri to a major office since 1930. He even survived the last Democratic landslide, and consequently goes on back to Congress.

Mr. Short is strongly anti-administration and anti-New Deal. He was re-elected from the seventh Congressional district, made up of fifteen southwest Missouri counties, all but two or three of which are deep in the Ozark Mountains.

Mr. Short is now thirty-six years old, and is famous in his native Ozarks as an orator, a preacher, an educator.

THE DELTA CHAPTERS

Alpha—Allegheny

PLEDGES: David Abel, Robert Fetter, Fred Davidson, John Lavelly, John Marron, Robert Miner, Gerald McClure, Karl VonSenden, Heyd Wallower, Herbert Willison, Ronald Ober.

At the close of 1933-34 Alpha lost five men by graduation: Helfrich, Johnson, Smith, Sternthal, and Swartzwelder.

Our Homecoming Day was a grand success. Many of the alumni turned out, and Brother Askey came all the way from Los Angeles.

Probably the outstanding event of the year thus far was the election of Charles Bartberger to Phi Beta Kappa.

Alpha has been very active in intramurals, and although we stand fourth now, the program is by no means decided. Under the leadership of our manager, John Hopkins, the Deltas are proving a real threat. Bill Shetterly, Harry Millikin, and Pledge Herb Willison displayed a fine brand of golf, and finished second in that sport. Ford Weber, Harry Millikin, and Al Weibel came through with a third place in tennis. Although we didn't place in touch-football, in each of our games our opponents had their hands full. In cross-country Bob Duncan proved himself the great runner we all knew he was by coming down the home-stretch in second place. We placed fourth in the final score of this end of intramurals. One of the reasons we are not in first place in intramurals is the fact that we have so many men either on the varsity or reserves. This makes them ineligible to compete in our sports program.

Prexy Weber again held down his varsity berths on the football, basketball, and track teams. Pledges Lavelly and Marron gave a fine account of themselves by breaking into the varsity line-up in several football games. They are both slated for varsity berths next Fall. Pledge Ober made his letters in track and soccer, as did Bob Duncan. Bill Shetterly also received his letter in track. John Hopkins is the sophomore football manager.

Alpha is also well represented in the extra-curricular activities. Bartberger is an assistant editor of The Literary Magazine. Taylor is the news editor of The Campus. Watts and Wallower are reporters on the staff. Jacobus is with the Singers again, and Carney is displaying his abilities in dramatics.

Alpha has also been active socially. We have had several radio parties and our annual pledge dance. The pledge dance was a huge success, thanks to our social chairman, Dick Rushmore. Dick is now making his plans for our Fall Formal, and it should be the outstanding dance of the year if Dick lives up to his old reputation.

AL WIEBEL

Beta—Ohio

PLEDGES: Frank Fribley, New Philadelphia; Lawrence Hayes, Frank Chute, John Werner, Charles Sias, Francis Fuller, Wade Volwiler, Athens; John McConnell, Bath, N.Y.; John Moore, Meadville, Pa.; Avery Phillis, Warren; Joe Mason, Wayne Denbow, Columbus; William Luthy, Cleveland; Robert Colley, Chicago, Ill.; George Decker, Rochester, N.Y.; Jimmy McLaren, Coolville; Bill Cooper, Portsmouth; Raymond Breckenridge, Parkersburg, W.Va.; George Campbell, Toronto; Andrew Magullis, Youngstown; George Hood, Hamilton; Clayton Starr, Mount Sterling.

Just returned from one of the traditional Delt serenades at the Ohio Homecoming celebration. On this same day Beta Chapter won first prize with a political take-off in the float contest. Two members, Ted Hopkins and Forest Hopkins, were selected for the J Club, junior honorary. Paul Halleck starred as fullback in the game which resulted in a scoreless tie with Cincinnati. The entire Homecoming program was staged by Eugene Batten, treasurer of Beta Chapter, president of the Men's Union, and member of three honoraries. All in all it was a big day for $\Delta T \Delta$.

Besides Halleck, Martin, Newell, Nelson, Hughes, and May helped keep the varsity football team together, and Buck Rudd kept track of the footballs as senior manager. The freshman squad, which gave plenty of competition to the varsity, included Pledges Mason, Denbow, and McLaren, the son of Pete McLaren, a Delt who played for Ohio State, Ohio University, and Marietta 20 years ago.

Beta is still exercising a monopoly on the publication jobs with one-third of the chapter actively engaged in putting out the day's news.

On The Ohioan, monthly, are Editor-in-Chief Jim Powell, who is also president of the chapter, and Business Manager John Boyd, a recent initiate. Delts who are expected to follow in the gravy are Truog, MacDonald, Whitehill, and Black, actives, and Pledges Decker, Colley, and Fuller.

The Green and White, semi-weekly newspaper, has as news editor Forest Hopkins, who also has a cut in as president of the junior class, and Bradley Slack, assistant news editor. Pledges Volwiler, Phillis, and Sias are on the staff.

Milton J. Schmotzer, Delt business manager of The Athena, yearbook, was forced to leave school because of illness. The Campus Affairs Committee selected Delt Ted Hopkins to carry on the work. Ted is also a track star. William Bye is assistant business manager, and Robert Hartford and Jim Roach have excellent chances for the editor-in-chief's job next year. Helping complete the staff are Pledges Cooper, Moore, Luthy, and Hood.

Tossing basketballs on the varsity squad this year are Bill Wipfler and George May. On the freshman team, which has succeeded several times in whipping the varsity, are Pledges Hood, Werner, Denbow, and Fribley. John Moore is a freshman basketball manager.

Beta has thrown three successful shindigs, one a formal, one a semi-formal, and the third, a pledge dance. Randle Truog is social chairman.

The chapter has a roll call of 69, 11 more than any other fraternity on the campus.

FOREST HOPKINS

Gamma—Washington and Jefferson

PLEDGES: Paul Koenig, Pittsburgh; John Dodd, Marion, O.; Joseph Leimert, Evanston, Ill.; Charles Groeschell, Lombard, Ill.; John Douglass, McDonald; Edward Reymann, Wheeling, W.Va.; William Hamilton, Beaver; Hubert Washburn, Beaver; Stewart Philipps, Washington.

Gamma raised her scholastic rating from fourth to second of nine fraternities during the past semester.

The chapter gained permanent possession of the Big Cup last semester, since it was the third year that we had had the greatest number of points for intramural competition. Hopper received the plaque awarded to the man scoring the most individual points of the year. Cups for swimming, wrestling, handball, and boxing were also taken by the House. This year the final match in the 155-lb. class in wrestling was won by Bob McClure.

During the Summer many repairs were made on the house. About half the rooms were repapered, and the entire outside of the house was painted. The painting was made possible by a generous gift from Charles M. Thomson, '99.

Sam Hopper and Jack Thomson played varsity tennis in the Spring. Merlo, letter man, has been playing varsity football this year. McClure is out for the wrestling team, and Crone will try out for the 145-lb. position on the boxing team. Thomson is also senior football manager.

Thomson has been elected president of Crest, senior honorary, and Koenig is president of Phi Sigma. Davis is president and charter member of the Pheasant Club.

New officers are Jack Thomson, president; Al Gray, vice-president; Tim Poe, treasurer; Bill Sutherland, secretary; and Bill Proudfit, corresponding secretary.

WILLIAM L. PROUDFIT

Delta—Michigan

Twenty-two active members and seven pledges returned to Delta Chapter this Fall to open the house and prepare for rushing. During the Summer we got about 150 names of pledge prospects, and now, in the second week of rushing, we have looked most of this number over. On the whole, they seem to be an outstanding bunch.

Several members of the chapter who take part in campus activities returned to the campus early to get started in their jobs.

The whole chapter is looking forward to the football season and the first dance of the year, which will probably be a pledge formal, the active members of the chapter giving the dance in honor of the new pledges.

JACK O'CONNELL

Epsilon—Albion

The chapter started the year off with a bang by annexing the highly prized touch-football jug for the second consecutive year. Having won the trophy three times within the last four years, we possess it as a permanent fixture in the Shelter. Much credit for the success is due to Bob Birchfield, under whose leadership the team completed its second undefeated season.

Ward Barnum added another cup to the mantel when he again won the President Seaton tennis trophy, signifying the men's singles championship of Albion College.

Early in November the chapter was honored by a visit from National President Harold B. Tharp and Division President J. L. Finnicum. A busy week was concluded when nearly 100 alumni gathered at the house during Homecoming, the activities being climaxed by a banquet at the Shelter Saturday night.

The Delts again opened the social season just before Thanksgiving with a formal dance. Much credit is due Don White for one of the most successful house parties held on the campus for many seasons. Don is already making preparations for the annual Black-and-White party, scheduled for February, and incidentally, is one of the highlights of campus activities.

FRED CUZZINS

Zeta—Western Reserve

FOUR of Zeta Chapter's best men were lost through graduation: Herman Bartels, Carl Johnson, Lawrence Kesselem, and Edgar Knowlton. "Jack" Bartels was senior class president, Student Council representative, member of the Interfraternity Council, Foil & Mace, Warion Society, and four-year wrestling champion, while "Larry" Kesselem was secretary-treasurer of the senior class, member of Warion Society, Senior Ball committeeman, and chapter vice-president.

The house has been repainted and decorated through the Zeta Alumni Association, and the active chapter owes its greatest appreciation to the Delt alumni of Cleveland.

We have continued our monthly alumni banquets, which have been increasingly successful.

Ray Hyre, president of the Zeta Alumni Association, and E. V. Henckel, chapter adviser, have given very generously of their time and energy to the chapter in every possible way.

Seaman and the chapter worked diligently through the Summer and early Fall, and a fine freshman class has been pledged.

All the University activities are represented in the freshman class, including dramatics, football, the musical groups, managerships, political groups, the "Y" Council, and journalism.

Franklyn Whitney, formerly of Zeta, returned from Miami to re-enter the School of Architecture, and Frederick Allendorf of Delta Chapter is now attending the Law School.

The chapter is well represented in campus activities. Bob Stewart again captains the growing Reserve fencing team, and Harry Rogers is now holding down a first team position; "Duke" Habermann is working out with the track squad in Fall practice; John Mezei won decisively in the election for Junior Class Council representative, and we have representation in other activities such as The Reserve Weekly, Sock & Buskin, Sophomore Vigilance Committee, University Players, football, and the intramural department.

The scholastic standing of the chapter was raised considerably over last year.

The intramural sports program has been successful for the chapter so far. We ended the indoor baseball season with about as many losses as victories, but just now the volleyball team is sweeping through all opposition.

WILLIAM SCHLOSS

Kappa—Hillsdale

TWENTY Kappa actives returned to the Shelter this Fall and found, for the first time in years, what we all had been wishing for—a lawn. Not only was there a complete carpet of soft green grass surrounding the house, but an underground sprinkling system was imbedded in the lawn to preserve the addition. All credit due goes to Paul Parker for his untiring efforts in installing the first underground sprinkling system in Hillsdale.

Homecoming was an unusual success this year from the chapter's standpoint. Nearly 90 alumni crowded the Shelter at the annual luncheon Nov. 3rd. Among the dignitaries was J. L. Finnicum, Northern Division President, who was the chapter's guest for the week-end.

President Harold Tharp was our guest Nov. 2nd at a luncheon in his honor. Despite the fact that his coming was known only a short time before his arrival, a large number of alumni were present to greet him. Mr. Tharp's visit was short. We hope that he can find it convenient to pay us another one.

The chapter library, which we are very proud of, is still growing with contributions by alumni and members. Plans this year call for the establishment of an all-Delt shelf.

Chapter scholarship hit a new low last semester, and definite steps have been taken to raise it. A study-hall has been established with actives in charge each evening supervising and helping the freshmen to better their grades. A tutoring system has also been established whereby each active is responsible for seeing that a pledge makes good grades. Steps have also been taken to raise the average of the active chapter. The way the boys have responded to the urgent need for higher scholarship is decidedly encouraging.

On Nov. 24th Kappa held its annual Bohemian Ball at the Episcopal Parish House. Dressed in ratty costumes that smacked of the Bowery and early '90's, the guests danced to Don Musser's band. The hall was decorated accordingly, and Louie drew cider and provided a free lunch over a bar set up in one corner.

On the ill-fated Hillsdale football team this year Harry Babcock and Barney Mauk held positions. Harry played regularly at right tackle and was a shining example of a tower of strength. He gained honorable mention on the All-M.I.A.A. eleven chosen by the Conference coaches. While Barney didn't play as often as Harry, he set a good example by his constant determination and cheerfulness. Maurice Hogan, Phil Hildner, and Ralph Bearden were mainstays on the frosh team this year.

With Ad Wagner down at Washington & Lee, we don't know what to do about the Love-Bird Cup.

Chances of having a top notch intramural basketball team are good. Last year we were barely nosed out for the varsity championship by the A.T.O.'s, while the frosh won their league title.

The cup donated by "Sporty" Stewart is still claimed by the actives. The frosh failed to win a baseball game, but will have a chance to get even during basketball season.

Five Deltas are members of the college weekly staff.

Almost the entire chapter followed the football team down to Cleveland for the opening game with Case.

The chapter is making plans to attend the Northern Division Conference en masse. We almost won the radio last year at Toledo.

The Dean of Women has consented to let the chapter have co-ed dinner guests on Sundays.

The Interfraternity Council at an early meeting in November heartily endorsed the plan of exchanging dinner-guests once a week, as proposed by Kappa Chapter.

JOHN B. MILLIS

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

CHAPTER Mu has begun what appears to be a very successful year.

Placing a great emphasis on scholarship, we pledged fourteen fellows picked for their scholastic standing. In securing this pledge class we were materially aided by our alumni.

Although placing special emphasis on scholarship, we have not allowed other activities to lag. In intramurals we have winning teams in tennis, touch-football, and golf. In the annual cross-country races we garnered the freshman and upperclass trophies.

Buck Mills and Rall Coleman carried the Purple, White, and Gold onto the gridiron this year. Mills was elected honorary captain of the team at the close of the season. For Buck this was a grand finale to four years of hard work. Rall still has two years to play.

As we go on to the basketball season, we find Don Cloak making his bid for a berth on the championship five. Two pledges, Joe Matthews and Jack Anderson, will represent Mu on the freshman squad. Our intramural team looks very promising and will make a fight for the cup.

We will also have two fish men flipping their fins on the varsity swimming team. They are Phil Powell and Sherwin Post.

We had two very successful week-end celebrations at the Shelter this year. One was Homecoming, for which 60 alumni returned to meet their classmates and talk over their college days. The other was Dads' Day, and 25 Dads took their places beside their sons around the banquet board.

Our first dance of the year was a "Hoedown" with a hillbilly band and the little brown jug full of cider. Many and varied were the costumes of the would-be farmers.

The Christmas dance was held Dec. 14th at the Shelter. The college band, containing five Delts, furnished the music. The house was decorated by a Delt alumnus, Bill Rosser, with the aid of the chapter.

WM. B. HOUSTON

Nu—Lafayette

WHEN the boys returned this Fall and roll was called, it was found that ten men had graduated and two of the juniors had transferred. However, the boys were feeling sharp, and, under the leadership of Rushing Chairman Barton, went to work and succeeded in pledging twelve freshmen and two sophomores.

Besides going out and getting more freshmen than any other House on the campus, Nu busied herself in activities and at present is well represented in many fields. Johnny Fulmer, a sophomore, who played freshman football last year, made the varsity this Fall, developing into a flashy halfback. Johnny started his varsity career with a bang, making a spectacular run of 35 yards for a touchdown the first time he took the ball.

Archie Mabon, one of our most active seniors, is co-manager of football, assisted by Bill Mueller and Jim Lieberman, sophomore assistant managers.

Clay Cochran swung into his stride and secured a position on the varsity soccer squad. Clay will be sporting an "L" sweater soon. Dave Richards is junior manager of soccer and in line for the position of manager.

Ed Smith, a freshman numeral man last year, is out for varsity basketball. Pete Blank, one of our new pledges, is out for the freshman squad.

Jim Hazeltine, our Dean's List man, contributes his basso profundo to the choir and glee club.

Herb Johnson represented the House on the 150-lb. football team until a leg injury forced him to retire.

Ed Carpenter, one of our illustrious juniors, is on the college year-book staff. He was also on the committee of the recent Interfraternity Ball.

Al Gemmill, another of our new pledges, is out for manager of freshman football.

George Jaqua and Dick Petura are out for the freshman fencing team. Dick is also working on the staff of the college paper.

Nu is represented in the pool this year by Johnny Hirschberg, George Watson, and Tommy Hartranft. Johnny and George have been making some good time in the dashes, while Tommy has been exhibiting rare form on the diving-board.

Having won the intramural championship in soccer two years ago and taken second place last year, we decided that we would add another cup to our collection this year by taking first place again. Thus far the team has been very successful. Nu is now in the finals with everything in her favor.

Nu opened her social season by holding a closed house dance the evening following the Interfraternity Ball. The dance was a fitting climax to a great week-end. Many of our alumni returned to attend the Lehigh game and the dance.

JAMES E. COCHRAN

Omicron—Iowa

PLEDGES: Willard Barnes, McCool; John Black, McCool; John Beach, Tibbee; Wrennie Cocke, Senatobia; Jack Hartsfield, Oxford; Horace Hawkins, Vaiden; Llewellyn Heard, East Bangor, Pa.; Pete McCleod, Pascagoula; John Noblin, Jackson; Hugh Rather, Jr., Holly Springs; Lloyd Price, Vicksburg.

Members of Pi are extremely proud of her scholarship average for last year: 83.69, giving her second place on the campus, only one-tenth of a point behind the leaders.

But for fear that the wrong impression has been gained that we are a bunch of grinds, it might be well to correct that impression here and now. Herbie Holmes, director of the leading dance organization on the campus, has just been informed that through his vocal ability he has won the right to an audition in the studios of the National Broadcasting Co.

Harvey Carter has been elected to Blue Key, and Prexy Stinson Coody took his beating and thereby became a member of M.O.A.K.S., senior.

Pledges Beach and Price are out for football managerships; "Big Bill" Richardson continues to be one of the outstanding tackles in the Conference, having served as captain in several important games this year. He is expected to be picked on the coming All-Southeastern team, making his second consecutive year as a member of this mythical eleven.

A vote of thanks is in order for the Memphis Alumni Chapter for their courtesy and for the wonderful dinner enjoyed by all Pi actives as their guests. Take our word for it, these Memphis Alumni are swell fellows; or, better still, come on down for the Karnea and you will need no telling.

Pi actives will be entertained by the pledges at their annual tea-dance on Dec. 6th. Visiting Delts are welcome to all our functions. If you happen to be around this section of the country, drop in on us.

We are happy to have with us this year Hewitt Wallace, a transfer from Tulane.

W. C. REED

Rho—Stevens

PLEDGES: Ozzie Dale, Springfield, Mass.; George King, Springfield, Mass.; Walt Bissinger, Newark; Sam Sorenson, Atlantic Highlands; Carl MacHenry, Atlantic Highlands; Eugene Rockwell, East Orange.

Rho opened the scholastic year with a general house cleaning; the active co-operation of all hands was evidenced by the amount of work done.

After a very successful rushing period Rho welcomed its pledges at a formal dance, held at the chapter house on Nov. 3rd. Johnny Wells displayed his artistic talents by decorating the house.

We are very proud of Dick MacHenry and Gussie Freygang, both of whom were recently inducted into Tau Beta Pi.

Warning grades were recently issued by The Stute. It was disclosed that the scholastic average of the chapter was considerably higher than that of last year; looks as though we were a bunch of grinds, doesn't it? "Turn" Varcoe, at present, ranks highest in the senior class, as does "Baron" Von Vittinghoff among the sophomores.

The seniors are back from their inspection tour of the industrial plants, and, judging from their enthusiasm, surely must have had a good time.

Bob Aitken, former '36, is at present studying the shipbuilding industry, in Belfast, Ireland.

We are very grateful to Andy Reimold, alumnus, for his active interest in the pledge planning program which he has worked out for us.

The chapter is proud to show its interest and support of activities. The orchestra, soccer team, and the weekly paper have Delts as members. The J. V. basketball squad, and in addition the stage manager, is supported by two of our pledges.

The interfraternity basketball league will start in the near future, and the Delt team is already at practice.

Many thanks to the alumni for their generous support of our rushing program. Among them were Ted Krantz, Fred Bissinger, Stony Emot, Andy Reimold, Willie Rae, and J. J. Klein.

Tau—Penn State

Upsilon—Rensselaer

PLEDGES: Tom Fayerweather, Paterson, N.J.; Dick Wheeler, Lynbrook; Al Tuttle, Elmira; Bob Nadler, Paul Baker, and Jim Husband, Amsterdam; Frank Ritchie, Darrowville, O.; Steve Stevens, Stamford; Jim Nordeng, and Bill George, West Hartford, Conn.; Jim Macy, Corinth; Howard Richardson, West Mansfield, Mass.; Al Andrews, Newburgh.

Charlie Graves and his band did the honors at the pledge dance following the rushing season.

Pete Collins, Fred Silliman, and Paul Cornell booted the soccer ball about, while Jack Damon worked on the managerial end of the cross-country team. Now Bob MacFeeters, last year's scoring ace, and Jack Jenkins are holding up their end on the basketball court, while our trio of divers, Charlie Graves, Hans Riesenkonig, and George Sprague, are making their splash in the pool. John Findeisen is assistant manager of basketball.

John Cotsworth is again behind the footlights, this time taking the lead in Springtime for Henry. George Scranton is staging the production.

Jack Damon and Lou Camp are still pounding the typewriter for The Polytechnic. Jesse Little tries to convince the enterprising merchants about town that they should advertise more.

Occasionally some of the alumni drop around, Al Ludlum, Dave Rounds, Frank Meyer, Art Skooglund, Anson Smith, and Wyndham Whitley having paid us visits in addition to the alumni in the vicinity, some of whom drop in more or less regularly. If the Editor didn't have us so buffaloeed, we'd overstep the deadline and give out the dope on the Upsilon Chapter alumni banquet to be held in New York City Nov. 30th, but as it is we don't dare, so the world will probably never know.

PAUL W. CORNELL

Phi—Washington and Lee

PLEDGES: Wesley Heath, Bedford, Ind.; Bob Kingsbury, Elizabeth, N.J.; Bill Perkins, Atlanta, Ga.; Vance Funk, Vincennes, Ind.; Dick Hinely, Youngstown, O.; Jerry Burke, Appomattox; Hart Baker, Helena, Ark.; Earl Wells, Helena, Ark.; Charlie Wills, Lynchburg; Ernest Beale, Franklin; Dave Hancock, Morrocco, Ind.; Jack Martin, Exmore; Frank and Tom Kibler, Columbus, O.; Hal Clarke, Atlanta, Ga.; J. C. Outten, Sea View; Bernard Weisse and Howard Davis, Covington.

Pledging of an unprecedented number of new men and the unexpected arrival of three transfers have brought Phi to its largest size in history. In all 41 men are paying bills, exactly twice as many as two years ago.

The transfers, who have fitted into the chapter unusually well, are Ad Wagner of Battle Creek, Mich., who entered law school from Hillsdale; and Dan Reebe and Cal Shook of Youngstown, O., who arrived from Pitt to enter the commerce and journalism schools, respectively. Another addition is James "Doc" Baker, initiated in 1931, who has entered law school, bringing his little brother with him.

With this good start Phi is anticipating a most successful year. After making a marked jump in scholarship last semester, and with five men on the honor roll at mid-semester this term, the chapter is showing signs of returning to its old eminence along this line.

In activities chapter head Don Wallis is taking the lead as president of Fancy Dress Ball, long rated as one of the premier social events of the South. And at least three other Delts, Thirkield, Harrelson and Gerber, will march in the figure of the ball in January, an honor restricted to about fifty of the outstanding campus men.

Athletically the chapter is in better position than it has been for half a dozen years. "Hoss" Richardson, all-state freshman basketball center last year, is a strong contender for the varsity post, despite the fact that he must beat out an All-Southern Conference player of last year's championship team. "Punk" Ballard and Pledge Kingsbury are showing up well in varsity cross-country, both winning places in the state meet. Wally Davies, varsity 125-lb. boxer last year, is in line for a Conference title, having lost only one bout in the 1933-34 campaign.

Among the freshmen Wes Heath, a former teammate of Richardson at Bedford (Ind.) High, is almost assured of a berth on the yearling team, as is Vance Funk, another Indianan. Bill Perkins and Dick Hinely are both out for freshman wrestling.

Four sophomores and three juniors have recently been bid to honor societies. Dev Carpenter and Bob will go in the Cotillion Club figures, making seven Delts in this organization. Ballard is wearing the red cap of Pi Alpha Nu, sophomore, and Johnny Ford recently received his nomination to T K I, biology.

Wally Davies became the second Delt in Sigma Upsilon, honorary English, and with Price and Thirkield was initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic. Thirkield is the third Delt in "13" Club, junior honorary.

In publications Delts are strong, as always, although they hold none of the six major offices. Wallis is a member of the University Publications Board, which governs the student publications. On the newspaper Thirkield is assistant editor, Carpenter is managing editor, Peckham is copy editor, Price is a feature writer, and Shook and Frank Kibler are reporters. Davies is an associate editor of the magazine, and Thirkield is desk editor. Kibler is also on the staff of the annual.

One of the highlights of the Fall term was the visit of the President and Mrs. Tharp, who were the welcome guests of the chapter in November.

Another high spot was the annual Homecoming in October. Among the alumni back to see W. & L. wallop Virginia Tech were Harry Eichelberger, West Butler, and Tommy Graves of last year's graduating class; Jimmy Caskie, Johnny Barger, "Pug" Price, Lynch Christian, Reed Graves, J. C. Carpenter, and E. L. Beale. Claude LaVarre, '34, came back in September to help with rushing.

Mother Kennedy, who has been with us since 1932, is back again, taking just as good care of the larger chapter as she did when it was half its present size.

The pledge committee, composed of Bill Gerber, Leigh Allen, and Wally Davies, is doing fine work with the freshmen, and sponsored a formal pledging ceremony and banquet in October.

BEN A. THIRKIELD

Chi—Kenyon

WELL, the year started out with a bang as the entire rushing committee showed up full of fire and ready to go to work on the incoming freshmen. Their efforts were well rewarded by securing a fine pledge class of seven men.

Chi was well represented on Kenyon's football team, with four men holding down regular positions. The team did not win any games, but it was reputed to be one of the cleanest playing outfits in the Ohio Conference. Swanson, a senior, completed his third year of varsity football with a fine record.

As usual, Chi is well represented in the prominent honorary societies with Pugh and Reid as president and vice-president respectively of the Philomathesian Literary Society and Swanson as president of Alpha Pi Kappa, senior honorary. The chapter is also well represented in the Science Club and the Mu Pi Kappa Literary Society. Reid is president of the Senior Council and Hathaway is secretary of the Student Assembly.

In the field of publications Reid and Jones are sharing the editorship of the college newspaper. The business side is not so well represented as Enck, the assistant business manager of the newspaper, is the only man.

The intramural football team was put out early in the season, but the chapter is looking forward to better success in basketball.

HENRY ENCK

PLEDGE: Henry Herbruck, Canton, O.

Omega Chapter officially opened its doors Sept. 28th, to usher in the new scholastic year. We are pleased to report that the chapter roll will be almost as large as it was last June. Omega lost only four seniors through graduation and feels that we have a willing and energetic group of men who will carry this new year through to an enviable close.

The Shelter, being full and having been reconditioned during the Summer months, is going to prove a pleasant place to live. That is, if we can keep Oakie Brand and Charlie Hagedon away from the piano. Anyway, we can hope for the best and wish that maybe this year's pledge class (not due until February) will contain a good, third-rate musician.

Everett Ferguson, Chuck Hoerger, and Bob Brod take this opportunity to thank Mu Chapter at Ohio Wesleyan for the hospitality they received during their stay there several weeks ago. The writer also wishes to thank the Delta Chapter at Michigan for an enjoyable two days visit and to inquire into the state of "Baron's" health, their two months' old Great Dane puppy.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

PLEDGES: Hubert H. Akin, Bloomington; Robert M. Blue, Anderson; Wilber C. Boren, Princeton; DeWitt Brown, Jr., Indianapolis; Albert H. Cole, Peru; Lyle Estes, Michigan City; Robert W. Fox, Michigan City; William Hebert, Indianapolis; Burl Hefflin, Gary; Floyd L. Holland, Crown Point; Jerome F. Miller, Princeton; Frank J. Philips, Cincinnati, O.; Bill Stewart, Linton; Bernard Clayton, Jr., Zionsville; William Ballou, Fort Wayne; Virgil Johnson, Attica; Robert Kingman, Bedford; Ralph Honderich, Indianapolis; Lawrence Verplank, LaFayette; Norman E. Foebel, Pittsfield, Ill.; Robert Kiddoo, Peoria, Ill.; Edward Berger, Middletown, O.

Rush week at Beta Alpha ended a highly successful rushing campaign. The pledge class this year is the biggest since 1930. After the echoes of rush had died out, the House settled down to the grind of the school year. Bad luck hit both the House and the football team in the form of a broken collar-bone suffered by Bud Hancock, varsity halfback. Ray Fox, however, still remained intact in McMillin's backfield acting as first string quarterback. Fox, with a deceptive style of running, gave one of the most brilliant performances of the season.

Jack Johnson, House president, was elected to Sphinx Club and also was appointed to the Union Board. The chapter welcomed back Bill Arbuckle, a marvel on the piano, who is teaching at the University and directing the Bloomington High School band. Bill is also working on his Master's degree. The house is crowded this year due to the return of many old men who have been out for a year or more. Among these are Harry Sommers, John Holmes, Dick Woolery, Dean Jackson, and Bob Kiddoo. Ted Pruyn, a Delt from Butler, is also in our midst.

The social season opened with the usual fine pledge dance, one which was typically a Delt dance, and altogether different from any other dance on the campus. This was followed by the freshman dinner party, featuring the four black-faced waiters: Larry Verplank, Alco Allan, Dick Woolery, and Dean Jackson. Homecoming saw the return of many young alumni.

With basketball season coming on we find Don Korn, promising sophomore guard, representing the Delt on the varsity. Burl Hefflin and Bob Fox also represent us in freshman basketball. Frank Philips is one of the outstanding men on the varsity swimming team. Taking everything into consideration, the House is enjoying a highly successful year.

With this result to back us up, we say, "More power to Dean Goodnight's system."

Another innovation at Beta Gamma this year finds Edward Manchester of the English Department installed as praeceptor. His duties of scholarship supervision, more applicable to pledges than learned actives, of course, should help future scholastic rating a good deal. We find our association with Mr. Manchester very pleasant and beneficial.

Socially this semester has been a pleasant one. The formal pledge dance found a group of smoothies in the pledge class, those Easterners, Bob Bernnard and Hugh Robinson, especially. Kappas, Thetas, Delta Gammas are begging to meet the boys. The supper for alumni at Homecoming, followed by dancing at the house, was the means of joyfully celebrating unexpected victory. However, the absence of "Buzz" Lowrie, Ken Olson, and Bill Callaway was certainly a loss to the occasion. But then, with "Buzz" at Harvard Business School, and Ken and Bill still nursing bruises inflicted by San Francisco dock-hands, we can't expect too much. Whenever you see Bill or Ken, ask them about their jaunt around the world.

RUSSELL LOESER

Beta Delta—Georgia

PLEDGES: Charles Adams, Vidalia; Ralph Brinson, Glen Brinson, Wrightsville; Chauncey Clarke, "Dick" Wade, Augusta; M. A. Claxton, Kite; Hurbert Conner, Mt. Vernon; Herman Coolidge, Savannah; Henry F. Cullens, Soperton; Walter Jacobs, West Point; Dorsey McCurry, Hartwell; Lee Price, Jr., Reid Watson, Swainsboro.

Due to the return of a very small number of active members, Beta Delta found herself in a very undesirable condition to commence rushing under the new rules which were put in practice for the first time. With the active assistance of every man, however, the rush captain was able to turn in a very good report, having pledged 13 new men. We are not through yet.

These new men are taking an active part in things about the campus with practically everyone participating in the Fall quarter intramural sports. Price, the blond demon with the girls, is doing some fighting outside the clinches as freshman manager of the University boxing and wrestling team. He is also a Phi Kappa debater. "Dick" Wade is a member of the Glee Club, assistant state manager of the Thalian Blackfriars Dramatic Club, and coach and trainer of the fraternity

The Active Chapter at Georgia

First row: McCurry, Clark, Smith, Westberry, Jacobs

Second row: M. Peterson, Black, Wade, C. Peterson, Adams, Bradley, Cobb

Standing: Watson, Hoynes, Yow, Dykes, Martin, Price, O'Connor, Claxton, Coolidge

wrestling team. Clarke is a member of the Forestry Club and is very active in the pre-season training with the boxing team. Adams is a member of the Economic Society and a member of Phi Kappa Literary Society. R. Brinson is a member of the Pharmacy Club. The smaller of the Brinson brothers has shown an inclination toward polo; if he doesn't play with the team he hopes to manage same in their encounters. "Hula" Jacobs appears at present to be the only professional liar among the new pledges. Conner is making a try for the Glee Club, his first appearance being on Stunt Night. Claxton is also a member of the Forestry Club. At present Coolidge is outstanding contender for heavyweight freshman boxer.

Carter Peterson, our president, last year's vice-president of freshman law class, was elected president of his class this year. He is a member of Blue Key Council, International Relations Club, Gridiron, Panhellenic Council, Senior Round Table, and Phi Kappa Literary Society.

Frank Bragg is a member of Biftad honorary, G Club, Panhellenic Council, and Economic Society.

Black is a member of the Economic Society and is serving his second term as recording secretary of the chapter.

Bradley was a contender for the polo team last Spring and is again working for a place on the team. He is also a member of the Economic Society.

Milton Martin, the only senior to return, is treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi, vice-president of the Economic Society; and a member of Phi Kappa Literary Society.

O'Connor has been a valuable man to the chapter in its intramural athletic meets and is also a member of the Economic Society.

Although Ben Yow was unable to take part in football this year on account of injuries, he is now an outstanding figure for a position on the basketball team. He made his numeral in both football and basketball last year.

Mack Peterson made his numeral as freshman manager of boxing last year and has been selected as varsity manager of the team. He is a member of the Economic Society and Phi Kappa. He is also vice-president of the sophomore class.

In spite of the fact that our intramural football team got off to a slow start, we are still in the race with what seems to be material for a winning basketball team. The boys are likewise getting in shape for the boxing and wrestling intramurals, which will be held before the holidays.

An occasion of much interest and one that was enjoyed by the entire group was the Halloween house dance which was given by the chapter's pledge club. Plans for another such event before the Christmas holidays have been made, and with the assistance of our new housemother, Mrs. A. Y. Woods, the function should prove very successful. Of course at present it is hard to look forward to anything besides the big week-end which will be the occasion of the Georgia-Georgia Tech football game.

Corwith and Benton, both of whom were with us last year, have been back to the chapter for short visits this Fall. Corwith is at the University of North Carolina this year, while Benton is in citrus fruit business in Florida. Among the other brothers to visit the chapter this Fall have been Frank Anderson, Jim Cobb, Charlie Bickers, Stiles Kellette, Fields Whatley, and George Longino.

MILTON MARTIN

Beta Epsilon—Emory

WITH a farewell banquet in honor of the departing seniors Beta Epsilon closed its year. June graduation added five names to the alumni list. One of the five, Clifton White, has returned, however, to assist in the Department of Fine Arts while working on his M.A. Unable to tear himself away from the chapter, so it seems, Edgar Evans, '34, has resigned a position with the Portland Cement Co. to return to Atlanta and pursue studies at the Atlanta Conservatory.

The Summer found the Shelter open, a number of the fellows staying for Summer school. Several parties at the chapter house resulted in some valuable rush work.

The house was redecorated during the summer, and very attractively at that.

When school opened, the job of rush chairman was manfully taken over by our president, "Shorty" Howell.

Melvin Boockholdt, who has returned after being out a year, has been thrown into the midst of things by becoming chapter treasurer.

Dennis Johnson is also welcomed back after being absent for a year.

The rushing period is drawing to a close. Our rushing activities have included luncheons, dinners, a smoker, a bicycle ride, a house dance, and a buffet supper.

The recommendations offered by the alumni have been gratefully received and acted upon.

It is with sincere thanks that we express our appreciation to the Mothers' Club for the work which they did—a work which spelled success for our receptions and parties.

"Itsy-Bitsy" Clarke, Beta Epsilon's gift to wrestling—University champion of the 135 lb. class—is now wrestling with torts, contracts, and the other what-nots of the law school.

"The Twins," Cliff and Cary Moore, are again after the boxing championship of their weight. Last year they were awarded a joint-championship after standing toe to toe and slugging it out. The referee was as confused as the spectators; so the joint-championship was awarded.

"Fluffy" Holloway is the publication man extraordinary, serving as assistant business manager of the literary paper, managing-editor of the weekly, and editor of the Y.M.C.A. handbook. Also a varsity debater and past class president, "Fluffy" will shortly be elected O.D.K.

A midsummer house party at Daytona Beach was a big success according to President Howell, instigator.

The Shelter has more occupants now than for some time. Just where everyone will finally be put is a problem causing considerable confusion at the moment.

The last school year was not a scholastic success. Deserved mention goes to Cliff and Cary Moore, Clifton White, Joe Horacek, and Clint Gardiner, all of whom made the Honor Roll.

Delt spirit was abroad in the assistance rendered by our new alumni, Joe Horacek and "Pinky" Webb, in the recent rush period

CLINTON H. GARDINER

Beta Zeta—Butler

PLEDGES: Robert Clay, and Willard Fawcett of Logansport; Robert Irons, Fort Wayne; Gene Yockey, Clarence Warren, John Sheets, Jimmy Mullane, Richard Power, Casper Kleifgen, Fred Kershner, Robert

Fohl, Alfred Coffin, Freeman Gibbs, Frank Weiland, Robert Hadden, all of Indianapolis.

Beta Zeta is off to a great year. We have to be because our trophy case has a lone cup in it, the rest having been stolen during the Summer vacation.

Beta Zeta alumni and actives turned out well for our annual Hard Times dance Oct. 19th to open our social activities. Henry Fornoff's band furnished the music. Now we are preparing for the biggest social event of the year, the house party at Turkey Run State Park.

Three members of Butler's state championship (secondary schools) football team are Delts.

Pledges Clay and Fawcett, who helped Logansport win the state high school championship in basketball last year, with Bob Irons make up three-fifths of the freshmen basketball team.

Dud Hutcheson is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, debate. Karl Sutphin is president of the senior class as well as a member of the football team, Blue Key, Men's Union, and Alfred Marshall economic honor society. Karl for the last two years has been the first-string pitcher.

Pledge Kershner made Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic. Ernie Evans is a member of Sphinx. Pledges Power, Gibbs, and Weiland are members of Utes.

Pledge Jimmy Mullane is the son of Joe Mullane, '13, and nephew of Halford Johnson, '19.

On the evening of Oct. 5th we had a group of 25 or 30 alumni at the Shelter for a banquet. After the affair everyone attended the football game and saw Butler drub Franklin to the tune of 25 to 0. Beta Zeta was honored with the presence of President Harold Tharp, a member of this chapter from '08 to '11.

FRANCIS DOUDICAN

Beta Eta—Minnesota

PLEDGES: John McEachern, Minneapolis; David Martinson, Hibbing; George Moore, Hibbing; John Perkins, Sioux Falls, S.D.

Beta Eta started the new college year by initiating two men. We experienced a good transfer rushing period and the whole chapter is working under the able hand of Rushing Chairman Bud Hansen, in order that we may have an even better freshman rush week.

The touchball team advanced to the All-University semifinals before being eliminated. The prospects for Winter and Spring athletics are quite favorable and Beta Eta looks forward to at least one championship.

Nov. 26th was the date of the alumni dinner at the house in honor of George McKinnon, resident alumnus, newly elected state representative.

President Mike Donovan is chairman of the Interfraternity Ball which is to be given Nov. 30th at the St. Paul Hotel. It is expected that a large number of Delts will be present.

John Fairall, social chairman, has plans under way for our prevacation formal, to be held Dec. 8th at the house.

Don Schnaidt got a real break when he won a prominent part in a federal-backed theatrical troupe going on tour throughout the country. He will drop in at all nearby Delt Shelters on his way, with a word of greeting. Don't let his beard scare you.

WILLIAM T. SMITH

PLEDGES: Charles Bohmer, Lexington, Ky.; Dan Gray, Mount Pleasant; Voris King, Charles, La.; Dudley Rodman, Frankfort, Ky.; William McGuire, Atlanta, Ga.; Carrick Shropshire, Lexington, Ky.; Thomas Stewart, Winchester; William Wilkerson, Glen More, Pa.

Three of our officers, Johnny Hodges, president, Jim Tabor, corresponding secretary, and Harvey Sutton, doorkeeper, have not returned this year. They are attending the University of Illinois, University of Oklahoma, and Biltmore College, respectively. We hear that Gordon Broyles is making things breezy at the University of Texas. Their absence necessitated an election at which Stiles Lines was elected president, Theodore Heyward corresponding secretary, and Sam Taft doorkeeper. John Binnington was elected assistant treasurer.

Marshall Carnell, from the wilds of Oklahoma, has returned to the Mountain to take up the duties as scholarship chairman.

The Delt volleyball team crashed through with a tie for third place, which was quite a climb from the bottom of the ladder of last year.

Pledge Tom Stewart has recovered from an appendicitis operation. He is still raving about that blonde nurse.

The scholastic standing of the Deltas for last semester was rated as third out of nine on the campus. Beta Theta ripped off another scholastic victory with two-thirds of her junior class (Britton Tabor and Dick Wilkens) being elected to the Scholarship Society, of which Lines was recently elected president.

The lavender-colored uniforms (they would have been purple, but there was an insufficient supply of dye) of our Fraternity athletes were dyed by Belford and Heyward.

The members of Beta Theta are fortunate to have a real sister in the chapter. Miss Ida Lena Myers was presented with a sister pin by the entire chapter for her loyalty during the past four years.

Lines, editor of The Purple, the weekly paper, received a notice from Dunlap, '33, that nine Delt names were on the front page of a recent issue. Lines claims that it is only well deserved publicity, as the Deltas have been steadily increasing in power this year. Lines is to be congratulated upon his all-time record of early publication of the paper.

The Deltas, playing the part of the social lions of the Mountain, have crashed through with five successful dances this Fall. Pledge "Mickey" McGuire and Marshall Carnell dished out good money for a 60-mile taxi ride to escort three attractive brunettes to the last affair. Excitement reigned when one of the girls was believed to have been kidnapped, but was later found to be with "Boudoir" Gribbin discussing the ole home town!!!!

Binnington, Gribbin, and Heyward were instrumental in keeping up the spirits of dear old Alma Mater at the football games this year as cheerleaders.

Lee Belford has been elected to the Honor Council, the vice-presidency of the senior class, and the Sophirim chapter of Sigma Upsilon, along with his editorship of the yearbook.

The Deltas are well represented in Pi Gamma Mu by Britton Tabor, Dick Wilkens, Stiles Lines, and Howard Sears, who is also vice-president. Sears is also the only man on the Mountain who has Phi Beta Kappa, O.D.K., and Blue Key. He is also business manager and photographic editor of the yearbook.

THEODORE HEYWARD, JR.

Beta Iota—Virginia

Year 1933-34: 1st of 32 fraternities.

PLEDGES: Charles Stevens, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Walter Duff, Jr., New York City; John Troutman, Butler, Pa.; George Lyon, Millbrook, N.Y.; Garland Cox, Louisville, Ky.; Douglas Rucker, Richmond; Martin Long, Jacksonville, Fla.; Vilray Blair, Florissant, Mo.; Carlisle Dunaway, Raymond Pierce, and Clark Martin, Norfolk.

We were exceedingly fortunate this year in losing only one old man by graduation and gaining such a promising group of pledges. Tim Neal and Bill Peden went the way of all lucky seniors. Tim is banking at the present, and Bill has returned to do graduate work.

The last two months have been filled with abundant activities of various sorts, but the highlight was President Tharp's visit less than a month ago. We considered his presence quite an honor and both enjoyed and appreciated his advice and comments.

Angus McDonald was elected to Z, one of the highest honorary societies of the University. We were proud to learn that only one other man was so honored. McDonald is also a member of Eli. Other Deltas in this honorary are Toby Moore and John Taggart.

The Homecoming game with Washington & Lee was the occasion for the return of many alumni. Risque Plummer, Bobby Jones, Dr. P. D. Camp, and Austin Sydnor of Richmond, and Brother Boyd of Columbia, S.C., were a few of the many Deltas that dropped in.

Joe Durham is assistant manager of basketball this year, and Dan Arnold is part of the varsity material that promises Virginia a winning season. Pledges Duff, Troutman, Stevens, and Rucker are out to make their numerals. John Antrim is adjuncting for the same sport and is also a member of the editorial board of Corks & Curls, yearbook.

Upton Richards is dividing his time between adjuncting for boxing and representing the chapter in Corks & Curls.

The House is well and ably represented in this publication both by those already mentioned and also by Randolph Brown, who is photographic editor. Pledge Lyon is on the art staff.

Bob Gladstone is on the staff of The Virginia Law Review.

Among the athletes Angus McDonald, who is in his last year of law and was one of the stellar performers in track last year, will again run the hurdles this Spring. John Rogers is another candidate for the cinder oval.

Gerry Costello, freshman numeral man last year, will be one of the first-liners in baseball.

Jack Maury has just finished another successful season in football, and among the pledges Dunaway, Pierce, and Martin made their numerals. Charles Price is adjuncting for this sport.

We are pleased to welcome Jack Thornton, who transferred from West Virginia.

CHARLES PRICE

PLEDGES: Everett Chesney, Boulder; Ned Drake, Manhattan, Kansas; George Forbes, Caspar, Wyoming; Lawrence Hoisington, Grand Junction; Dudley Hutchinson, Boulder; Hugh Irwin, Fort Collins; Robert Johnson, Fort Collins; William Mark, Boulder; William McElroy, Greeley; James McHugh, Grand Junction; Wayne Mock, Denver; Loren Myers, Greeley; Robert Powell, Greeley; Robert Rathburn, Boulder; Avon Remington, Delta; Artell Shellabarger, Denver; Neal Smith, Denver; William Southard, Greeley.

The New Shelter at Colorado

Beta Kappa has had a most successful Fall quarter in all lines of activity.

We are more than proud of our beautiful new Shelter and its furnishings, and wish to express our thanks through the medium of THE RAINBOW to all who gave us assistance.

This correspondent regrets very much that the deadline on letters isn't a few days later. We have but one game remaining in intramural touchball. Our team is a world-beater, and we hope in the next issue to announce another new cup on the new mantel. Already this Fall we have added two new cups to the collection. Baxter Blitz's committee put in a month's hard work to bring home the cups offered for both the best decorated house and the best float in the parade during the Homecoming celebration. Incidentally, we were certainly happy to see the fine alumni representation here Homecoming.

We went to the quarter-finals in volleyball, and our prospects for the swimming title are more than bright.

Particular mention should be made of our pledges, who are of vital importance on all these teams. Outstanding are Ev Chesney, Colorado's fastest prep track man and a real football passer; and Billy Mark, a marvel on the springboard. Four of our future Delts played frosh football, Dud Hutchinson, at center, looking particularly good. Our pledges are represented in virtually all lines of activity, athletic and otherwise—too much so to mention here. Three of our pledges, by the way, are Delt brothers.

Two men are playing varsity football, and eight of the 25 men now constituting the basketball squad are Delts.

Tom Turner, our president, is student marshal and head cheerleader, and is certainly doing a grand job of boosting Colorado spirit. (Three of the four cheerleaders are Delts.) Bob Gilbert is pledged to Phi Delta Phi, Kim Barnes to Sigma Delta Chi, and George Phillips and Bob Rathburn to Sigma Tau.

We are most happy to announce that we have engaged Mrs. Mary Brinker as housemother.

BRUCE COLE

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

PLEDGES: Walter Blackler, West Newton, Mass.; John McCarthy, Allentown; Archibald Jamieson, Gloucester, N.J.; G. Robert Conover, Meadville; J. Haywood Roberts, Maplewood, N.J.; John Cleeves, Mount Vernon, N.Y.; John Weigel, East Orange, N.J.; William Gill Landesdonne; Gordon Stone, Pelham, N.Y.; William Dunn, Collingswood, N.J.; Samuel Bradbury, Germantown; Harold Bickel, Tacony; Robert Vogelsberg, Newark, N.Y.

The Delts were well represented in football at Lehigh this season. Paul Preston, president of the senior class, played left tackle on the varsity team that beat Lafayette, Lehigh's oldest and greatest rival. Jack McCarthy held down the fullback position all season for the frosh team that also beat Lafayette. Walt Blackler held the halfback berth on the same club, with Arch Jamieson doing a bang-up job at end.

Bob Vogelsberg represented Beta Lambda on the varsity soccer team, and received a hard-earned letter. Bill Gill was out earning his numerals on the freshman team. Johnny Jacobs managed varsity cross-country through a very successful season with Johnny Cleeves as assistant manager.

Bob Farnham, president of the Mustard & Cheese Club, is playing the lead in his Club's Fall production Journey's End. Lew Walker has a supporting rôle, and is also aiding Lew Black in costuming the show. Johnny Jacobs is secretary of the Club, and John Weigel, Ed McNair, Joe Roberts, Bill Gill, Irv Lawton, and George Barker are working on the production staff. John Galliher is business manager for the next production, Outward Bound.

Bill MacDonald is holding the reins as business manager of The Brown & White, with Ed McNair as advertising manager. Weigel and Roberts are out for the business end of the paper. Bob Farnham and George Barker are on the Board.

Sam Bradbury and Nelson Leonard are in the Glee Club. Gordon Stone and Sam Bradbury are both expected to make the freshman wrestling team. Nelson Leonard is headed for the highest scholastic honors in class.

Beta Lambda is looking forward to Dick Lake getting a position on the varsity basketball team, while Blackler, Jamieson, and McCarthy are out for the freshman team.

President Ed Williams is looking forward to the baseball season, as he is manager of that sport. Ed and Bob Farnham represent the chapter in Arcadia, and Bill Gill is on the Freshman Council.

The House started this term in swell style with a new driveway, a Frigidaire, and all new furniture in the living-room. The alumni fixed up practically all of the house, which helped considerably with rushing. Lew Walker was rushing chairman.

The annual Fathers' and Sons' Day was a great success. It was held the day of the Rutgers game. Most of the Dads hated to go home Sunday. House parties were the following week-end, and the chapter entertained some eighty people at its dinner dance Saturday evening. Beta Lambda was credited with having the best party on the campus.

We were certainly glad to have many alumni back with us for the Lafayette week-end. We only wish they could do it more often.

The chapter is looking forward with anticipation to our Fall get-together with Nu Chapter, of Lafayette. There is a game of touch-football between the two chapters in the afternoon. This should start the party off with a bang.

Nearly forgot to mention that Earl Stone is drawing for The Review, and in everyone's notebook. Harry Beiter was on the Senior Prom Committee, and Bud Conover—well, he is in everything.

Riviere and McLeod have visited the chapter many times this year, and from all appearances both of them are getting along well in the world.

JOHN GALLIHER

Beta Mu—Tufts

BETA MU started the year with a week of intensive rushing, and emerged with twelve fine pledges.

After the battle-smoke had cleared away, most of the brothers settled down to books and doing or dying for dear old Tufts in one form or another. Bob Claus, Bob Mountford, and Dave Young were, respectively, varsity manager and assistant managers of an undefeated football team. Soccer was represented by Billy Clopp, Johnny Real, Eddie Cornwell, Lew Parks, Charlie White, Manager Johnny Calhoun, Assistant Manager Dick Parks, and Coach Slippery Morton. Gus Bleyle managed the freshman booters, and Pledge Walt Hurlbert held a regular position for the yearlings. Cross-country claimed Shermie Andrews and Pledge Koskela, with Chet Foss as assistant manager.

Eddie Hansen, Dick Parks, Lew Parks, and Pledge Bill Winship are working on The Weekly, and the first dramatic production saw Shermie Andrews scuttling madly around backstage as chairman of properties.

Sid Restall has been playing a horn in the band with his usual gusto and also manipulates a viola in the orchestra. Lew Parks has been promoted to a regular on the debating team and expects to see plenty of action this winter.

The house has been fixed up inside and out and looks very nice. The social season got under way with a bang with the rush dance and has been popping ever since. A very successful Fall house party and the alumni smoker, held recently and considered by everyone the best in history, are the lights. On Nov. 30th we held our annual Pledge Formal at a Boston hotel.

Academic awards were distributed a short time ago, and we received two pleasant surprises. One came when Bob Claus was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; the other when we heard that we were third in scholarship among ten national fraternities. This showed a definite improvement.

Interfraternity sports competition got under way recently with the annual Turkey Trot, in which we placed second, due to the fine running of Scoboria, Andrews, and Parks, and Pledges Hopkins and Cornwell. This gives us three points toward the big cup.

JOHN R. CALHOUN

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

PLEDGES: Francis Fisher, Dover; Edwin Hadley, Andover; David Wright, Tarrytown, N.Y.; Robert Dawe, Bay Roberts, Newfoundland; John Ferris, Waban; Hubert Hynes, Lexington; Ralph Adams, Jr., Newton.

The alumni were very well represented at the pledge dance by Jack Osterman, Charlie Hill, and Dan Havens, who came up from New York; Henry Worcester, who came from Washington, and Fish Hills, Jerry Ghiradini, Ben Sands, and Brad Hooper, from Boston and vicinity.

Niel Putnam, '34, was married to Miss Virginia Hyde last February, but succeeded in keeping it a secret from the chapter until June.

Charlie Blessing, a transfer from Beta Kappa, is now getting along very well in the architecture department, and drops in every now and then, but not often enough.

George Akin, Delta Epsilon, is the lucky possessor of a graduate assistantship in the Chemical Engineering Department, and is working for his Master's degree. He has been in several times, but says he is too busy to make a practice of it.

George Lawrence, '34, was married to Miss Dora Harris in October. The chapter attended in a body and afterward chased him to a good start on his honeymoon.

Among those '34 graduates lucky enough to have jobs are Charlie Hill, who has a job with Carrier Air Conditioning in New Jersey; Brad Hooper, who is splitting his time between research work in the ceramics lab and moulding work in a foundry for American Brake Shoe Co.; and Bill Mills, who, it is rumored, has a job "with the Government" in Florida. As to Bill's job, we bet he's running a level or stretching a tape.

Johnny Duff and Henry Cargen, general manager and advertising manager respectively, of Voo Doo, took part in the grudge football game two weeks ago between The Voo Doo and The Tech; and although Cargen's line plunges before the ball was snapped were something to remember, the game, sad to state, ended 0 to 0.

Walt MacAdams was elected to Hexalpha, electrical engineering, and is now alumni editor of Six-A News, their publication.

Johnny Westfall, '34, drives down from Bath every other week-end to check up on crew. He is now working for the Bath Iron Works.

Dick Naugle returned this Fall after a year's absence spent working at various steel mills and limestone quarries in Pennsylvania. As a result of the wonderful physique developed he has gone out for boxing, with the expectation of cleaning up the rest of the team with one hand.

So far we have not been able to arrange any interfraternity football games, although we have sent out a couple of challenges. We are still hoping some house will take us up before we have a couple of feet of snow.

FRED TONE

Beta Xi—Tulane

PLEDGES: John Blaize, Bay St. Louis, Miss.; Andrew Cannulet, Slidell; Wesley Gleason, George Mayroll, Barney Phelps, John Wimberley, Eugene Hooper, New Orleans; Eddie Colcord, St. Albans, W.Va.

Rushing opened with a bang this year with almost all men—town and out of town—on deck and ready to work. Consequently we had a very successful rushing season, pledging twelve men in all, every one of whom seem to be excellent Delt material, and we're very proud of them.

To open our rushing season we gave a large banquet at the Materie Country Club, after which we had numerous tea dances, radio parties, and house dances.

Although we were a little worried financially at the beginning of the year, we are making a strong comeback now; and the future looks bright. The spirit, too, is continually increasing as the days go by.

Our basketball team is doing very well, having already reached the semifinals of the interfraternity basketball tournament. The team looks very good in the new uniforms, which were donated by a teammate and pledge brother, Stanley Ray, Jr.

Our Mothers' Club is doing excellent work, having already fixed up two bathrooms and made other improvements in the house. We are very proud of our Mothers' Club, not only because of their interest in us, but because of their friendship and co-operation with each other.

Charlie Thorn was elected vice-president of the College of Engineering student body. He is out for varsity basketball and made a letter in track last year. He also went to the West Coast to the intercollegiate track meet. John Thorn was vice-president of the freshman class last year, on the freshman tennis squad, and a member of the Thirteen Club, a freshman honorary fraternity for the promotion of school spirit and scholarship. This year he is in the band. Otis Trepagnier has been elected secretary of the Law School student body. Ashton Phelps is president of Tri Alpha. Jack O'Connor made Phi Beta Kappa last year and played No. 3 man on the Tulane golf team, making his second varsity letter. Charlie Moore played No. 1 position on the golf team last year, and unless a change is made will captain the wave linksmen this year. Carver Blanchard made O.D.K. and Beta Gamma Sigma (which is the Phi Beta Kappa of the Commerce School) in the College of Commerce. He was also in the Glee Club. Marvin Harvard was elected to Phi Phi, senior.

Charlie Wight, who has transferred from Gamma Iota at Texas, has been doing very well in football. Charles ("Old Pal") Ducander, who has transferred from Iowa, is our house manager and pledge captain this year and is making a fine success of both.

Pledge meetings are held every Monday night at which the freshmen are taught about the Fraternity and other things which we think will be of benefit to them.

We are continuing to have tea dances every other Sunday, and the attendance of members and rushees has been excellent.

CHAS. H. MOORE

Beta Omicron—Cornell

PLEDGES: Edward Kimball Duffy, Burlington, Ia.; John Allan Letherland, Harrisville; Francis Sumner Carruth, Philadelphia, Pa.; Frank Patterson Hill, Forest Hills; William Allen Irving, Chester, Pa.; William Henry Miller, Jr., Elmira; Whorley John Neff, Jr., Red Lion, Pa.; Burdick Wood Pierce, Larchmont; John Snape Somerville, Jr., Evanston, Ill.; Shuril Clark Terry, Albany; John David Tierney, Paterson, N.J.

Beta Omicron was saddened by the sudden death of Eugene Clare Page, '37, of Park Ridge, Ill., Nov. 21st. His death was caused by a species of ether pneumonia. He had already made a fine record on the campus as president of the Red Lions in his freshman year, as secretary-treasurer of

The Areopagus, and as a high honor student.

Beta Omicron looks for a good year in athletics. Our touch-football team won its division championship and reached the semifinals in the play-off. We had a soccer team, for the first time, but that didn't make out so well. Our cross-country team placed third in the interfraternity meet. Bill Wise, in sixth place, was the first Delt to cross the finish line.

A good many of the fellows have individual honors. Freddie Meiss, despite frequent injuries, has been playing a darned good game as the regular center on the varsity football team. Johnny Greene and Bill Kellogg are members of the crew. The frosh have three men here, Frank Hill, Jack Tierney, and John Somerville. Burdick Pierce, another frosh, won his numerals in track and is preparing to take Meiss's post as center of the football team. Two sophomores, Forbes and Finlay, got their numerals for baseball and lacrosse last Spring. Charlie Shoemaker and Bourke Weigel are getting ready for wrestling. Both are varsity letter men whose experience makes them look like good bets for the Eastern intercollegiates. Two of our juniors, Alex Galbraith and George Weigel, hope to be varsity boxers this Fall. Shuril Terry, another of the freshmen, has already reported for baseball practice.

Delts are active in other lines, too. In publications we have Bill Riddiford, who is managing editor of The Cornellian, yearbook; Jim Caldwell, on the news board of The Cornell Daily Sun; Wheeler Bishop, on the business board of The Widow; Bill Bayles, a Widow competing for business board; and Jack Clarke, competing for the editorial board of The Cornellian. Managerships also have their share of Delts. Frank Ready is manager of tennis; Ed Duffy is trying for manager of basketball; and Harry Finlay is right on top of the competition leading to manager of soccer. Warren Smith, freshman rifle team last year, should be varsity this year. Johnny Neff, another frosh, plays in the band.

Honors, too, have come our way —and plenty of them. Six men are in the senior honor society, Sphinx Head: Bill Riddiford, Frank Ready, Fred Sorensen, Fred Meiss, Bill Kellogg, and Charlie Shoemaker. Six men out of 45 is a pretty good score for any group. Jack Brigham is secretary to the Cornell chapter of Chi Epsilon and also a member of Rod & Rob. Frank Ready is president and Fred Sorensen is treasurer of Ye Hosts, honorary hotel. Weigel was also elected to L'Ogive, architecture. Bill Wise has been elected to the cross-country club. Jim Caldwell is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism. Jack Clarke is on the Dean's honor committee of six.

The House ran two informal dances on Syracuse and Dartmouth week-ends. Both were well attended and pronounced great successes by students and alumni alike.

We look forward to a good year. The freshman class is quite active: six members are working on something in the two months since school started. Those bugbears, subjects, seem to be pretty well under control. Mid-term grades show no one in any great danger of busting out.

JOHN CLARKE

Beta Pi—Northwestern

The end of the Fall term sees Beta Pi in even better condition scholastically, athletically, and socially than last Spring. With the help of our chapter adviser, Pick Hallowell, and Praeceptor Bob Flanigan the House's scholastic average has risen, and if all the work that is being done by the members means anything it should rise higher.

Excellent work has been done in football by Duvall, Tangora, Gonya, and Spears of the varsity, and by Vanzo, Maidment, Fitz Hugh, and Bergmann of the freshman team. Lyle Fisher is co-captain of varsity basketball, and Don Worland is playing for the freshmen. Art Turner took second place in the intramural drop-kick contest; the House's touch-football team was runner-up in the league; and we now stand fifth in the sweepstake point system with lots to look forward to in basketball, bowling, and track.

We have had two large parties beside the open house after the football games. Both of them, the Pledge Dance and the Christmas Formal, were held at the house and were better than ever. Thanks to the work of Frank Neunuebel as co-chairman and Muff Doherty, Bob Kellen, and Jerry Flanigan as committeemen, the fifth Charity Ball was a success.

Recent class elections gave Lyle Fisher the senior class presidency, Neunuebel and Valentine positions on the senior social committee and commission respectively, and Muff Doherty, Bill Heyn, and George Bradt positions on the sophomore commission and committee. Paul Clayton has been elected to Eta Sigma Phi, classical, and Muff Doherty has been pledged to Sextant, naval. Paul Clayton is also national manager of The Daily, and Bob Holbrook is national manager of The Syllabus and student editor of The Directory. Frank Neunuebel is also co-chairman of the Interfraternity Ball.

Bill Heyn has transferred from Washington & Jefferson and affiliated with Beta Pi. He has continued his good work in activities begun at Gamma by being publicity director for the E. C. A. dances and a member of the sophomore Social Committee.

GEORGE M. BRADT

Beta Rho—Stanford

PLEDGE: Jack King, Calousa, Cal. With school opening again almost everyone has returned and the House is looking forward to another very successful year. The Shelter has been re-decorated during the Summer, and looks very much improved.

In track the House will miss the presence of Gus Meier, last year's track captain, but Harold Smith, Bill McCurdy, Bob Alexander, prominent members of last year's frosh team, and Jack King, a very likely prospect in the discus, are turning out immediately to the cinder track for practice. Bill McCurdy and Bob Alexander are out for the cross-country team during the Fall quarter, before resuming regular practice. Fred Williams, promising sprinter and javelin thrower on last year's frosh team, will turn out at the end of football season.

Johnny Coffin has been advanced to the "A" squad in polo, and is going to make a strong bid for the team. Tom Boothe, a swimming letter man from last year, looks now to be one of the best collegiate divers on the Coast.

Rushing has got well under way under the leadership of Henry Mudd and his assistant rushing chairman, Tom Boothe.

A Mothers' Club has recently been formed, and a very successful bridge party was given by them at the house. They are expecting to give several more.

NICK DARROW

Beta Tau—Nebraska

PLEDGES: Bob Parsons, Lincoln; Paul Amen, Lincoln; Delano Stageman, Randolph; Bob Zimmerman, Scottsbluff; Harold Brill, Norton, Kan.; Walter Humphrey, Scottsbluff; Fred Paine, Lincoln; Bill Gray, Columbus; Leonard Seidell, Omaha; Bill Sawtell, Omaha; Stan Grant, Denver, Colo.; Ralph "Whitey" Reed, Lincoln; Art Wheabie, Beatrice; Jack Campbell, Lincoln.

Beta Tau started off this Fall with a bunch of darn swell pledges, a gang of hard-working actives, and Harry Reagan, the praceptor and a plenty O.K. gent. With a combination like this it looks like a banner year on the Nebraska campus.

How's this for a record! Var-

Beta Upsilon Chapter at Illinois

First row: Petrie, Axtell, Walters, Burson, Nunn, Acheson, Cagann, Peterson, Mariott, Frazier, Lloyd

Second row: Thacker, Orr, Allen, Morgan, Brubaker, Brown, Ponder, Coyner, Shell, Fay

sity football—Heldt, Parsons, and Skewes; freshman football—Brill, Grant, Gray, Amen, Howell, and Burke; Bizad honorary—Wheabie, Stageman, Palmer, and Eby; Scabbard & Blade—Palmer, Hall, and Moravec; publications—Palmer, Stageman, and Elliott. THE RAINBOW isn't quite large enough to list the rest of the achievements; so we'll let it go at that.

We are glad to report the praeceptor system is working out quite well. Beta Tau is going to make some strong claims for that scholarship cup within the next few years. Look out, Gamma Kappa!

Martin Dickinson and Ted Berge-man were guests at the chapter house this past week. Beta Tau always appreciates having these men around, and we hope we made their short visits enjoyable.

Well, if we are going to garner that scholarship cup, we'll have to get back to our books. See you in the June edition.

BOB EBY

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

PLEDGES: William Acheson, Phoenix, Ariz.; George Allen, Litchfield;

Warren Axtell, Rantoul; Marion Burson, Litchfield; Richard Cagann, Champaign; Charles Farris, Brazil, Ind.; Richard Fay, Atwood; Don Frazier, Rantoul; Robert Lloyd, Springfield; Roger Marriott, Oak Park; Martin Morgan, Litchfield; Bill Nunn, Aurora; George Peterson, Chicago; Charles Petry, Champaign; Donald Scott, Moline; Keith Shell, Assumption; Ralph Walters, Western Springs.

There are several outstanding men in this group. Don Frazier is one of the leading outboard motorboat racing men of the country. He won the national outboard racing championship in 1933. His closest competitor lacked more than 100 points of equaling Don's mark. Roger Marriott swam the 40 yd. dash in 19.3 for Western Military Academy last year. His mark still stands as the record for the Southern Illinois Conference. His past performances almost concede him a place on the freshman varsity.

Dick Fay, an all-state high school football player, has held down a position on the freshman varsity eleven all season. He is counted on to make a determined bid for a varsity position next Fall. Warren Axtell won the intramural wrestling championship recently in the 165 lb. class. Bill Nunn, who placed in the high jump in the high school state meet last Spring, is a highly touted freshman track aspirant. He can clear the bar at better than 6 ft. George Peterson has been doing well on the polo squad.

John Theodore has performed quite regularly in Zuppke's backfield as full-back. He is the best defensive back on the team, according to the sport writers. Red Gragg, the veteran tackle, is playing his last season for the Orange and Blue. He has earned two varsity letters in football, and is trying hard to win a third.

"Doc" Coogan, if he can surmount an eligibility difficulty, will be a leading contender for the shortstop position on the Illini varsity nine next Spring. He made his numerals last Fall. Al Mulliken, who won his numerals in water-polo, has been making much headway in the pre-season practice sessions.

Frank Brown was pledged to Scabbard & Blade, and George Adis made Sachem and Band of "X". Warren Orr's high scholastic average merited him a membership in Phi Eta Sigma.

Howie Blue, president of the senior class last year, is president of the House; Maurice Eastin was elected vice-president; Harold Coogan was elected treasurer; Tom Gately recording secretary; and John Theodore assistant treasurer.

George Steiner, a graduate of Princeton, has been assigned us as preceptor, and is doing all he can to see that the House upholds or betters the average that placed us 11th scholastically on the campus.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

ON Nov. 27th Beta Phi celebrated her fortieth anniversary. It was planned to celebrate the occasion with a dinner at the chapter house for both the active and the alumni chapters.

Ohio's Homecoming, which featured the traditional Ohio-Michigan game, was supervised by Ebersold, and was, incidentally, the biggest and the most successful Homecoming in several years. Chuck is also a member of Bucket & Dipper, Sphinx, and is an honor man in his college.

A large number of alumni were back for the game and commented upon the decorations, which won second place in the competition.

The pledge-active football games stand at one all, and it looks as if another game will have to be played.

Bob Haywood has been pledged Tau Beta Pi. Pledge Allen has been elected president of the freshman class and also vice-president of the Freshman Y Council. John Benninghofen is a member of the varsity wrestling squad and has won his first match. Don Dietrich has been elected president of Eta Chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi, musical.

Mack Mallet, transfer from Chi, is working as a graduate assistant in the Math Department. Ed Knowlton, transfer from Zeta, is in pre-medics, and Bill Rosser, from Mu, is doing graduate work in the College of Education.

Bob Fischer and Bob Tiesser are in the Fraternity Affairs office. Wally Stover was on the freshman football squad. Harold Miller and Bill Monger are out for the freshman basketball squad, and Oberlin is working out with the varsity baseball squad.

EDWARD ANGLIN

Beta Chi—Brown

SINCE the last RAINBOW letter Beta Chi has witnessed great changes on the Hill; a long-standing ambition has been realized. Chapter secretaries of the future will turn to other sources for news. During the summer months the Shelter had its face lifted. It not only received a new coat of paint on its exterior, but also was redecorated and refinished inside. The woodwork was repainted in the parlor; the walls were re-papered, new draperies were hung, and furniture was upholstered. These improvements, added to those of last Spring when the floors were resurfaced, new stair carpets laid, and a few new lamps purchased, gives the house a very fine appearance. We are all very much pleased by the transformation.

The Fall social season opened with a Hallowe'en party held the night prior to the Syracuse game. A good many alumni were present, and the dance was enjoyed by everyone.

Rushing has been carried on very systematically this Fall. Contacts were made with freshmen at the opening of the semester, and the brothers have kept in touch with them throughout the Fall. We have a good crowd of men lined up, and this is more important than ever under the new rushing rules, according to which no house can pledge more than fifteen.

A very successful rushing party was held in North Attleboro the night of Nov. 23rd. Eddie Quinton's orchestra was employed. Judging from all comments this was one of the best planned and most enjoyable parties held in several years.

Winter sports have not yet begun. There will be men out for hockey, lacrosse, soccer, and perhaps basketball. There will also be a manager or two. Dan Anthony will be back in his berth on the varsity swimming team.

In other extracurricular activities already in progress we find several representatives. Bill Bree is literary editor of The Herald; Frank Hardy has been elected associate editor; and Jack Pierce is one of those striving scuts. The latter is also connected with Sock & Buskin. Several men are out for the Glee Club; probably there is method in their madness. The social events in connection with this worthy activity are not to be overlooked. Herman Toof is a member of the band, and Bill Thompson is out for debating.

Out of last year's graduates we have seen Charlie Eberstadt a couple of times, as well as Bill Bancroft and Freeman Packard. Bill Wolfarth is studying at the Columbia Dental School, Ed Kernan has gone to California to take up aeronautical engineering, and Frank Willer is working in a bank in Florida. Bob Arnott has not been heard from.

This is about all the news that can be gathered together, for at the moment everyone's attention is focused on rushing.

Beta Omega—California

With finals commencing next week we of Beta Omega are happy to say that we have completed one of the most successful semesters we have ever had. Under the guiding hand of Al Horn the chapter has steadily forged ahead, and we feel that next semester will be the banner semester for us as far as organization is concerned.

We witnessed our third and final dance of the semester at a formal dinner dance at the exclusive Claremont Country Club the night before Thanksgiving. This dance, incidentally, was the outstanding social event of the campus this season, and we owe many thanks to Fran Cornwall, our social chairman.

We are glad to say that we have two transfers with us this semester: Dick Wilcox from U.C.L.A. and Sterling "Unk" Myers from Iowa. As a point of information to those Iowans who might be interested, Sterling has proved to be the social light on the campus here. We welcomed two other Delt chapters, Delta Iota and Beta Rho, this semester in celebrations given in their honor. On Oct. 20th the Bruins of U.C.L.A. lost to us on the gridiron, and that night we gave a dance at the house in their honor. Although their chapter is 500 miles away, some 35 of their members came. On Nov. 17th we honored Stanford at a German picnic in the Castlewood Hills. Despite the tremendous down-pour of rain it proved a howling success.

Skull & Keys, interfraternity social honor society, honored Doug Hensley, Arleigh Williams, and Russ Calkins in their annual running this Fall, while Beta Beta, senior men's honor society, initiated Al Horn and Russ Calkins.

With the "Big Game" just one week past we can say with pride that the star of that game as well as every other game in which California has played this season, was Captain Arleigh Williams. With the record of being All-Coast left halfback for two consecutive years, Arleigh played his last game on the home turf superbly. Russ Hughes, the Pacific Coast's leading football commentator, states that Arleigh is the greatest under-pressure kicker in American football today. His uncanny passing accuracy combined with his fleetfootedness made him the most feared back in the West. Another senior playing his last home game for California this year is "Russ" Calkins. Russ is the first California All-Coast center in some years. His ability to detect plays before they were operated made him the best defensive man in the Conference. "Red" Christie, being deprived of All-American honors early in the season when he fell and tore all the ligaments and tendons in his right leg while playing in the St. Mary's game, continued to be a constant inspiration to the Golden Bears.

Our fourth football letter man, Ritchie Hay, turned in a very satisfactory season at right end. Although handicapped by an unusual number of seniors, he managed to stay right up among the top notchers, and next year will step right into a permanent position on the right end of the line. Jim Carlyon, one of our new pledges, came to California with the highest athletic reputation of any athlete for some time. He was the fastest man on the squad, but two weeks before the "Big Game" he wrenched his knee, which permanently put him on the shelf. Four of our new freshmen have been out fighting it out on the freshman squad, with Dick Wilkenson and Bill Parrish winning their numerals in guard and center positions respectively. John Geiger and Lyn Loring, while very good players, were not able to break into the first-string line, which averaged 210 pounds.

Basketball is under way again, and while our 6 ft. 5 in. center, Ritchie Hay, is still on the gridiron, Clayton Schubert, "the Oklahoma Cyclone," is holding down a guard position on the team. Matt Connelly is working on the hoop-court as a sophomore manager.

Fall track has just finished, and Bob Hunter looks like one of our best bets in the pole-vault, while Ray Hitchings is turning in good time in the 440. Senior swimming manager Charlie Widenman has Bill Anderson and Ralph Beck on his team. Bill Anderson while swimming on the varsity team coaches the freshman water-polo team. Addison Strong, our 5 ft. 3 in. pledge with a voice like a bass-drum, looks like a certainty for coxswain on the freshman crew next Spring, as he is the only cox out who hasn't run a shell into the mud yet. John Wood, another new pledge, is one of the outstanding hurdlers on the Coast. In Fall try-outs this year he has consistently run the high hurdles in 14.9, which is excellent time in this chilly weather. Our senior baseball manager, "Tiger" Jim Geiger, has been running off a Fall peanut league series and has found some excellent material for the varsity team next Spring.

The chapter owes the Mothers' Club a vote of thanks, as they came to our rescue, as they always do, when they had our bumming-room furniture refinished and venetian blinds placed in our library.

The plaudits and congratulations of the whole chapter went to Dick Peterson when Phi Beta Kappa claimed him. Dick has been one of the backbones of the House for some time, and when he made Phi Beta we all felt a bit of a personal thrill.

We were happy to have Ted Bergman with us for a few days and hope he will be back to see us soon. Nat Fitts has been up twice this semester, and we are always very glad to see Nat. We consider him just one of us here.

EDWIN H. CLARK

Gamma Alpha—Chicago

THE PRESENT officers of the chapter are Wolfenson, Logan, Vick, and Irons. Although the chapter gave up its house last Spring, there seems to be more interest than formerly in its activities and rushing.

Ed Wolfenson played varsity football again this year. Wilbur Vick has been active in intramural sports, being a member of the championship baseball and touchball teams. In November Vick was chairman of the committee in charge of the supper dance given for the members of the School of Business. Charlie Greenleaf, who is a member of Owl & Serpent, senior society, and prior of Blackfriars, was chairman of the Homecoming celebrations for the Purdue game. Eddie Irons, who has been adopted by the Phi Gams since we gave up the house, is a member of Crossed Cannon, military. He recently was pledged to Nu Sigma Nu, medical. Phil Doolittle is an assistant in the Business School, and Delos Cozad is going to enter Medical School.

There are a number of transfer Delts in school: Johnny Porterfield, who transferred from Notre Dame, but formerly at Chicago, is doing graduate work in the Medical School; Horace Miner from the University of Kentucky, is doing graduate work in the Sociology Department; Frances Lamb, Wabash, is in Medical School; Duncan from Armour Tech is a post-graduate in the School of Business; John McDiarmid from Texas is doing graduate work in the Library School.

JOHN LOGAN

Gamma Beta—Armour

PLEDGES: George M. Amory, Chicago; Joseph P. Baker, Chicago; Ralph Borch, Gary, Ind.; Frederick Engelthaler, Chicago; Malcolm C. Forsyth, Chicago; Harold W. Hale, Chicago; William Hotzfield, Superior, Wis.; Charles Johnson, Chicago; William J. Laise, Chicago; Robert Scheel, Park Ridge; Kenneth Westerman, Chicago.

Gamma Beta started off the school year with a bang by pledging eleven men and initiating three sophomores, all in the same week. There are more men in the house than for some time. The following officers were elected to fill vacancies: Leonard H. Mayfield, vice-president; Francis H. E. Gallagher, recording secretary; Harry G. Gragg, steward.

The two rushing dances early in the fall were worthy predecessors to the annual Pledge Dance Dec. 1st. This was the first big social event in the fraternity lives of the pledges.

The scholastic averages for the Spring semester have just been released, and we are proud to announce that Gamma Beta has an average above the all-fraternity average. Everyone is working hard.

Congratulations to "Red" Mayfield upon his initiation into Scarab, architectural, and to Ellis Doane upon his initiation into Sphinx, literary.

Publications continue to interest a good many of the men. Ellis Doane is editing the engineering quarterly with Don Brissman as his assistant and Harry G. Gragg as his advertising manager. John Davis and Frank Gallagher are on the staff of the annual as associate editor and fraternity editor respectively. Hugh Bisbee is finding plenty to keep him busy as chief electrician of the Armour Players. "Rusty" Tomei was elected sophomore social chairman.

Interfraternity sports will soon be in progress. Prospects look very good this year, and we hope to change the seconds we received last year in basketball and ping-pong into firsts. Swimming has been added to the list, and some of the boys have already begun practice (in the bath-tub). Last year the House entered an interfraternity track team for the first time and, although we didn't win, we are proud of the showing we made: third place in the competition for the track cup and second place in the relay. At the spring concert the House again won the interfraternity sing cup. Three out of the last four sing cups now rest on our mantel. This time the credit goes to "Red" Mayfield, who had us all singing lustily months before the fatal day. The golf team is winding up the golf tournament amid the snow and ice.

The Mothers' Club has been functioning regularly and doing its usual good work around the Shelter. Ray Bacci is chairman of the committee.

Harry Green spent a week at the House in November. Football season brought its usual number of out of town visitors. Come again, fellows; you are always welcome at Gamma Beta.

JOHN B. DAVIS

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

WITH the culmination of a highly successful rushing season our attentions, if not interests, were once again demanded by scholarly endeavors, but not to the complete exclusion of the perhaps less pedantic occupations.

The touch-football team, which commenced its season by soundly trouncing the league champs, went into a mid-season slump from which, however, it recovered, but alas, not soon enough to assume the top position which it should have occupied. The basketball season gets under way shortly, and we have high hopes for our team of six-foot midgets. Competitions in other fields of Winter sports await only the pleasure of the weather to get under way, and then we won't miss the football week-ends quite so much.

Fall House Party started off with a bang. There are those who still believe that it was an explosion of nasty smelling chemicals. The orchestra arrived several hours late and in condition for almost anything but playing. But not to be daunted, they tried, perhaps nobly, to make up for lost time or something. Eventually they caught on to the idea that what they were up here for was to play dance music, and then. . . . Oh, well, you have all been to house parties. At present much thought is being wasted upon plans for a bigger and better Carnival Party. Here's hoping.

Holler and Heer were recently elected to the business staff of The Jack o' Lantern, humor publication.

"Dink" Gidney, who uses his head as well as his feet on the soccer field, was elected captain of the soccer team for the coming year following the completion of the recent season. Hands realized a secret ambition when he earned his letter in the same sport. Mallory and Lewis also were out for practice consistently.

Ernie Hedler, still locked out, was elected to a senior honorary in the recent selections.

JOHN A. WALLACE

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

PLEDGES: George Huber, Scott Camp, Charleston; Donald Smith, Bill Wendell, Keyser; Jasper Peairs, Paul Tennant, John Abbott, Morgantown; John Livingston, Dick Bowman, Bill Supler, Joe Cunningham, Clarksburg; Bob Akers, Kermit; Dick Patton, Bridgeport; Paul Schimmel, Fred Bedale, Gene Tuckwiller, Fairmont; Tom Quinn, Moundsville; Sam Mawhinney, Washington, Pa.; James Beddow, Charlie Jones, Homer Myers, Logan; Clyde Cox, Parkersburg; June Milam, Barrackville.

Gamma Delta canvassed the state last Summer, and the chapter was able to boost the pledge class to 23 alert, ambitious young men.

Charlie Hoult, as chairman of the freshman week program, was responsible for the ease with which the exceptionally large freshman class learned about West Virginia University. Charlie and his guides worked their well-laid plans with clock-like precision throughout the week.

During the Summer, while we were all working, playing or what have you, there were certain professors here at the school who were figuring averages of the last semester. On our return we found that we had again won the Darby Scholarship Cup. By virtue of our having won it for the third time it became a permanent possession of the chapter.

The snappy stepper who twirls the baton for a much improved University band is none other than June McIntire. Five of the brothers march in their respective ranks behind him.

A bit more in the military line: John Kizer is an instructor; Harold Stockdale and John Borrer are company captains. Chalmer Peairs is a lieutenant; "Speed" Devore is a major, but so is his "old man" (in the Army).

Pledges Sam Mawhinney and "Varsity Buck" Schimmel are regular tackles on the Mountaineer football team. Both these huskies are good, and they will close a successful season with W. & J. on Thanksgiving Day in Atlantic City. Gamma Delta's representatives in freshman football are Pledges Cox and Wendell.

With football season closing, basketball is beginning to attract interest. Squads have not yet been selected, but we have Pledges Cox, Camp, Bowman, Livingston, and Supler, who are all candidates for positions on the freshman team. Agee is very busy with his duties as assistant basketball manager, and Pledge Jones, as a candidate for an assistant managership, is out to succeed Agee next year.

After rush week and after we had settled down to the regular college routine, we had Dean Stone, Dean of Men, in to meet our pledge class in order to secure a closer relationship between the freshmen and the school authorities.

The Oxford debating team visited our University in November and engaged in a debate with the W.V.U. team, of which Heinze is a member.

Last year we started entertaining the major sororities by groups. From time to time we had an entire sorority in for Sunday dinner. Dancing and general entertainment followed. We found this method of entertainment excellent for getting our freshmen acquainted with the young ladies. Because of such success we have started the same plan this year, already having had the Alpha Xi Deltas in. We have invited the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority for a Sunday evening soon after Thanksgiving.

The Homecoming game with George Washington University on Nov. 17th was the last home game of the season. Charlie Hoult was chairman of the Homecoming program. The Shelter was very attractively decorated, and we entered a float in the parade. Many alumni and Delta parents were present to enjoy the buffet luncheon at the Shelter and the exciting game which followed.

On Sunday, Nov. 25th, we had the pleasure of entertaining Sir Herbert Ames, member of Canadian Parliament and past treasurer of the League of Nations. We feel quite honored in having the privilege of entertaining this world prominent figure during his short stay in Morgantown.

We are honored to announce that Pledge Chalmer Peairs has recently been elected Phi Beta Kappa.

At this time we find John ("K. O.") Kizer making arrangements to select the members for the Mountaineer Week team. Johnny is manager of the team, whose purpose is to inform the high school students of the state of their own State University and of the benefits to be derived from a college education.

Three-Cornered Moon was presented on Nov. 25th by the Thespians. Case and Heinze held two major parts in the play, the latter having the male lead.

The actives are to enjoy a dance given by the pledges on Dec. 8th. This dance has become an annual affair.

So far this year we have had elected within our group the president of the following honorary and professional fraternities; Alpha Epsilon Delta (pre-med), Delta Phi Alpha (German), Kappa Kappa Psi (band), Phi Delta Phi (Law), Sphinx (Senior Men), Sigma Gamma Epsilon (Geology).

We got off to a wonderful start this year.

E. B. AGEE, JR.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

PLEDGES: David Hibbard, Waterbury; Phillip Squire, Westfield, Mass.; Alfred Grosvenor, Winchester, Mass.; Beverly Gambrill, Pottstown, Pa.; Raymond Marsh, Syracuse, N.Y.; William Heisler, Pemberton, N.Y.; Jacques Masson, Larchmont, N.Y.; Clarence Bedient, Newton Highlands, Mass.; Richard Cary, Hartford; Kenneth Kilbon, Lynbrook, N.Y.

Gamma Zeta started rushing plans early, and at the end of the very hectic week of rushing came out with ten of the best men in the freshman class.

The chapter was well represented this Fall on the football field by John Cranston, Dick Overton, John Erskine, and Dee Coultas. All four received their letters.

In soccer, of which Johnny Wilson is the manager, Bill Behrens held down opposing scores as goalie, and Red Warner played a halfback position.

With Fall sports gone but not forgotten, we are starting Winter sports, and as usual, the Deltas are well represented. John Cranston, John Erskine, George Wriston, and Arno Lorbeer are wrestling to keep warm, and Bill Behrens, Hook Edgar, Dee Coultas, and Bob Schneider are out for the "Wes" basketball team. David Trott and Paul Bancel are the only men in the House out for the varsity swimming team, but Ray Marsh and Jock Masson are two prospective freshmen natators, who are trying their best in the new pool. Dick Overton is throwing the 35 lb. shot in the indoor track events. Hook Edgar was elected captain of baseball for the second time.

Alumni week-end was a huge success, due to John Erskine, the alumni chairman, and the co-operation of the brothers. We were overjoyed to welcome back so many Deltas. These visits are certainly appreciated, and every returning Delt can be assured of a very cordial reception.

Among the less strenuous activities, physically, Dick Overton is the business manager of the Paint & Powder Club and chairman of the Concessions Committee. Gil Clee is the president of Paint & Powder and also president of the Student Body. Dick Overton was recently elected president of the chapter.

We are all anticipating the initiation in February. Prospects look unusually good, for at present all the freshmen are qualified scholastically, while some of the sophomores whom we could not initiate in June have pulled up their marks and will be initiated this February.

EMMETT WANAMAKER

Gamma Eta—George Washington

THE CHAPTER has just been visited by the national President, Harold Tharp. We had him all to ourselves one night, while he and his wife were passing through Washington; and after giving us a summarized analysis of the Fraternity, he turned the affair into a bull session. The next day the alumni held a luncheon in his honor; many of the active members were present.

As the football season comes to a close, we find that two of the best men on the varsity football team this year are Deltas, "Tuffy" Leemans and Bill Parish. It is Bill's last year of varsity football and "Tuffy's" second, although he made the All-Eastern eleven and the third All-American.

Our Hallowe'en dance has come and gone; the costumes were so original that nobody recognized anyone else until some of the make-up began to wear off. Two of the boys dressed up like boxers—gloves, bath robes, shorts—and staged a three-round amateur boxing match.

The pledges are going to give a dance, under the direction of Ashton Scharr, soon.

At the present writing most of us are recovering from an enormous turkey dinner and wondering whether or not we shall be able to go back to school Monday after Thanksgiving.

Say, isn't Brother Tharp a real guy!

ROGER M. LLOYD

Gamma Theta—Baker

PLEDGES: Eugene Brackney, Burlington; Clair Harpster, Jr., Hiawatha; Williard Lister, Ottawa; Edward Love, Kansas City, Mo.; Dale Lunsford, Kansas City, Mo.; Louis

Ready for the Annual Chicken Fry at Baker

Lytle, Wellesville; Dean Newbury, Mankato; Robert Ryan, Osawatomie; David Seaman, Kansas City, Mo.; and Everett Walters, Osawatomie.

We were able, during the Summer, to make a few repairs on the house. They were made possible by the surplus left over from last year. New light fixtures were part of the new decorations on the first floor. The halls on the second and third floors were redecorated, and hardwood floors were laid on the third. These improvements, along with a good supply of active elbow grease, really made the old Shelter look slick by the time rush week rolled around.

Mother Severy returned to us again for her seventeenth year with Gamma Theta. We hate to admit it, but we think that she knows more Gamma Theta Deltas than all of the rest of us put together. We are proud to have her back and hope that she will be back for many more years.

The forty-third annual Gamma Theta Chicken Fry was held Oct. 20th. It was the best in years, the alumni told us. There were nearly 75 alumni back. We were fortunate in having a full moon with no clouds.

As usual, Gamma Theta's activities are many and varied. We had six men out for football: Sam Haskin, Fred Heine, Max Hollister, Dave Seaman, Ed Love, and Williard Lister. Haskin, Hollister, Heine, and Seaman made letters. Sam, our president and captain of the Baker team, was named as captain of the All-Kansas Conference team. Hollister and Heine were elected to the second team. We have five men out for basketball: Jim Finley, Fred Heine, Sam Haskin, Dave Seaman, and Lou Lytle. Jim was captain last year. He is in charge of the freshman squad.

Bish Thompson is editor-in-chief of The Baker Orange, and Fred Heine is a reporter. Dwight Perkins is on the business staff. Perk and Doc Speer are holding down positions on the business staff of The Baker Wildcat, annual. Virg Vaughn, who is in charge of the snapshot section, makes quite a sensational figure prancing up and down the sidelines snapping his camera.

Wade Carter is baritone in the University quartet as well as in the choir. Clair Harpster, Dale Lunsford (the one and only "Stoney"), and Dave Seaman also hold down chairs in the University choir.

Perkins, our treasurer, recently invested in some new drip-o-lators for the House. He claims that even a child can make good coffee with them. Hollister, who makes the coffee for breakfast, seemed to resent the remark made by Perk. Which may be the reason the boys are calling Perk "Drip-o-lator."

Due to the fact that some of the boys got together and built a ping-pong table for the chapter, we are afraid to do any boasting about what the chapter index will be at the end of the semester. Everybody in the house has gone on the game. We even persuaded Mother Severy to play once. She says that the ball hops around like a flea. Virg ("Chic") Emmel says he can beat anybody in the House and will spot all comers five points.

The spirit of the chapter is the best it has been for years.

DOC SPEER

Gamma Iota—Texas

PLEDGES: Keith Alley, Okmulgee, Okla.; James Baldwin, Houston; Jim Davis, San Antonio; Ed Griffith, Terrell; Austin Mosley, Okmulgee, Okla.; Bill Nabours, Austin; Edgar Richardson, Ft. Worth; Shelby Sinclair, Greenville; George Thomas, Beaumont; Charles Westmoreland, Houston; Jack Dickson, Dallas; Carleton Cole, Krum; Glenn Galaway, Ft. Worth; Tom Matthews, Athens; Lewis Preston, Austin; William H. Russell, San Antonio; Barton Smith, Rockford, Ill.; Jimmy Watson, Temple; Warren Wiggins, San Antonio.

This year Gamma Iota began the new system of rushing which has been established at the University of Texas. In place of the old plan of deferred pledging we had pledging during the first week of school. Although none of us had been through this pre-school rushing, we came out with 19 pledges who are well on the way towards becoming assets to $\Delta T \Delta$. Keith Kelly, rush captain, deserves a lot of credit for having spent an entire summer in the interests of Gamma Iota, with rush week as a climax of his efforts.

Out of the pledge class Jim Davis and Warren Wiggins are making names for themselves as football men on the freshman team; Austin Mosley, Bill Nabours, and Tom Matthews are active in the Glee Club; and others are prominent in various campus organizations.

Burton McKenzie, a recent initiate, has already distinguished himself by being elected president of the Curtain Club.

Doug Arnim, vice-president of Gamma Iota, has recently been elected as a member of the Cowboys, pep organization. We now have three members in this club of restricted membership.

Nov. 29th was the biennial Homecoming, when Texas played A. & M. Because of inclement weather a lot of alumni we had expected didn't show up, but we enjoyed entertaining those who did get here, and they enjoyed reminiscing with old friends.

Laurels for the year go to Doug Arnim and Keith Kelly, who published this month another issue of The Longhorn Delt, which hadn't been published for several years. It serves to show that although Texas may be a long way from the rest of you, we really know what we are doing.

PAT COLEMAN

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

PLEDGES: Francis Allen, Fort Dodge, Ia.; Horace Carle, St. Joseph; Thomas Collins, St. Louis; Frank Davis, St. Joseph; Robert Eliot, Beatrice, Neb.; Woodard Greason, Excelsior Springs; Jack Greene, Kansas City; Charles Godsey, Scott's Bluff, Neb.; Jimmie Hazell, III, Kansas City; Paul Hunt, Ottumwa, Ia.; Arthur Johnson, Kansas City; Don Johnson, St. Joseph; Robert Leach, Sioux Falls, S.D.; Ned McCaffree, Scott's Bluff, Neb.; Paul Roberts, St. Louis; Howard Ross, St. Joseph; Jack Schweitzer, Hannibal; John Sullivan, Ferguson; William Wasson, Tulsa, Okla.; Paul Westpheling, St. Joseph.

And not only did we do well in quantity, but believe us when we say that the quality of this year's pledge class is par excellence. Much of our rushing success is due to the efforts of the many alumni who came back and assisted us.

Last Spring the chapter elected Harry Piper president for this school year. However, he received an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point. Our officers this year are as follows: president, Louis Edmondson; vice-president, Alvin Schattgen; treasurer, William Walton; recording secretary, Forrest Werner; corresponding secretary, Urbane Carl.

We lost nine good men by graduating: Rynders, Stuber, Hine, Harper, Geiger, Vavra, Herbig, Schroeder, and Lathshaw. Dick Owen is going to an orthopedic school in Chicago. Jack McCann betrayed us by transferring to Kansas University. Harvey Crow from Delta Gamma at South Dakota and Louis Edmondson from Delta Kappa at Duke have affiliated with us. Dick McCulla from South Dakota and Francis Davis from Baker are on the campus, but have not affiliated.

The active chapter is quite well represented in campus life. Lou Edmondson is managing editor of the school paper, The Missouri Student. He had one of the leading parts in the first major production of Workshop and is to appear in Abraham Lincoln in February. Lou belongs to Sigma Delta Chi, Tau Kappa Alpha, and Pi Mu Epsilon. Werner is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi and the University Glee Club. Wilkie is president of Chi Chi Chi, interfraternity. Schuske belongs to Tomb & Key, underclassmen. Mason was outstanding in his just completed first year of varsity football. He plays end. Wood is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising. Crow belongs to Phi Delta Phi, legal.

Also the pledge class is wasting no time. Carle is a member of the University boxing team. Sullivan and Wasson are also on the squad. Eliot is out for frosh wrestling. Don Johnson has been a shining light as half-back on the freshman team. Hunt and Greason belong to Pershing Rifles. Godsey represents us in the Tiger Battery. Leach and Hunt are members of Stripes & Diamonds, honorary for non-commissioned officers in R.O.T.C. Hunt is manager of freshman forensics. Collins and Greene are active in Workshop, dramatic. Art Johnson is in the University Glee Club. Wasson is copy reader on The Missouri Student. Westpheling and Leach are a real piano team. Westpheling belongs to Alpha Delta Sigma and is pianist in Eldon Jones's orchestra. Roberts was on the varsity football squad.

The chapter is very proud of the seven-year intramural athletic cup which decorates our living-room. We gained permanent possession of it two years ago. Last year we came in fifth, but by the end of this year we hope to be leading the race. We finished third in our division of touch-football and came in fifth in the frosh track. Tennis and golf weren't finished, and will be continued in the Spring. Winter sports are just beginning.

Our annual Fall Formal was, as usual, a pronounced success. The date list was perfect and the music was excellent. Among the alumni who returned for the dance were Harper, Hoffman, Hine, Geiger, and Latshaw. Two of our last year's graduates enhanced the social season by getting married. George Stuber married Miss Dorothy Edwards, and Bo Vavra tied himself to Miss Jane Gutelius. Many of our alumni returned for Homecoming, which was Thanksgiving. Among the returning brothers were Nelson Allen, Charlie Daniel, Ed Marshal, Marcus Kirtley, Roger Taylor, Jim Harper, Roscoe Groves, Charlie King, Pete Sanford, and George McCue.

During this semester we have been visited by our two field secretaries, Ted Bergman and Harry Green. We are looking forward to a visit from President Tharp sometime in the Spring.

URBANE S. CARL

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Although Gamma Lambda lost 14 men by graduation, this Fall turned out to be one of the best rush seasons in the history of the chapter. Thanks to our rush chairman, Herb Hays, and his able assistants, the Shelter was full and overflowing several days before classes started. The new pledge class got off to a flying start when Jim Von Harz was elected to head the freshman class for the coming year.

This year under the presidency of Max Townsend, our chapter is prominent in more campus activities than she has been in several years. Bob Pugh is president of Skull & Crescent, sophomore, and Jim Prescott presides over the Catalyst Club, chemical engineering. John Ploehn is also a member of the latter organization. The keys of Phi Lambda Upsilon, Tau Kappa Alpha, and Scabbard & Blade all hang from Prescott's watch chain. Our list of presidents is ended with Hugh Titus, who is at the head of Theta Alpha Phi, dramatic, and Kappa Psi, pharmacy. Blair Rieth has been initiated into Chi Epsilon, civil engineering.

George Shoemaker and Dick Harris have been busy all year in their positions as vice-presidents of the Student Union. The varsity debate team has two Delts, Jim Prescott and Blair Rieth, in its lineup. The chapter is well represented in the interfraternity debate tournament, as we have two teams in the semi-finals. Incidentally, we have won this event four times in the last four years, and we can see no reason why this should not make it five out of six. Bud Ingwalson added another cup to our large collection, when he was high man in interfraternity freshman debate.

Delts have been outstanding in all sorts of athletics. Ted Fehring won his major "P" in football, as he was holding down one of the tackle positions until injuries put him on the sidelines. Ted is a brother of "Dutch" Fehring, one of last year's seniors, who is head coach of freshman football and basketball here now. Dan Rohyans and Lee Charters each won his numerals for work on the freshman gridiron. Dick Shoemaker has been named football manager, and has been taken into the Gimlet Club, one of the most coveted honoraries. Although the varsity football team has had a rather lean year, it has been no fault of Phil Sweet, our head cheerleader. Phil has organized a group of acrobatic yell leaders that is the best Purdue has seen in many years. When the freshman basketball squad was picked, Lee Rieth was one of the first men selected. Sam Lehman has been chosen as a member of the varsity squash team.

Gamma Lambda has done a few things in intramural athletics, too. The golf team, consisting of Roger Hageboeck, George Shoemaker, and Bob Martin were the class of the field and romped off with first place in interfraternity competition. The softball team made a strong bid for honors and lost only to the team that won the tournament later on. Herb Hays, Roger Hageboeck, Ferris Traylor, John Ammerman, and Lee Rieth make up the first team in basketball, which started off the season in great style. One game they won by the almost unbelievable score of 60-0.

One of the outstanding dance bands on the campus is featuring as one of its main attractions the crooning of Bud Bryant. Jim Jump and John Davies are also in a musical sideline, as they are running a collegiate booking service for dance orchestras. Bob Dyrenforth warbles for the Glee Club and Choral Society; Bill Hatfield and Ed Greber are veterans in the famous Purdue Band.

Although almost every one of the fifty men in our chapter is working hard in at least one activity, our scholarship ranking is still in the enviable position where it has been for some time. Undoubtedly Gamma Lambda is in the midst of a banner year.

DICK HARRIS

Gamma Mu—Washington

PLEDGES: Charles Applegate, Hackensack, N.J.; Merwin Casey, Seattle; Jack Gerrett, Seattle; Erle Horswill, Spokane; Boynton Kamb, Mt. Vernon; Joseph Morgan, Jr., Vancouver, B.C.; Willard Rublin, Ellensburg; Leon A. Snow, Jr., Seattle; Sam Sumner, Jr., Wenatchee; Kenneth Tvete, Seattle; Bill Vaillancourt, Seattle.

Gamma Mu started out with seven active members at the opening of rush season. With the invaluable aid of Nat Fitts and with admirable co-operation of the alumni we succeeded in getting an excellent pledge class. The return of eight additional actives built the chapter to the position of security which it now enjoys. The pledges are all superior students and potential activity men. The rushing chairmanship is in the capable hands of George Cameron. This has been the most successful season in four years for Gamma Mu.

The annual football game between the actives and pledges was held a week ago. It ended in a 6-6 tie, with the number of casualties being held to eight. The actives have Bud Brougham to thank for saving the game in the last three minutes of play. Bud has earned a varsity letter through having played a fine brand of ball at tackle for the Washington team.

The most gratifying results have been attained in the field of scholarship. The University presented the chapter with a cup which is given to the fraternity making the greatest gain in scholarship. We were also pleased to learn that we had made the greatest gain among all of the undergraduate chapters of the Fraternity. This is largely due to the co-operation of our chapter adviser, Mr. Leon Ellis, and our efficient system of study rules and regulations. Fraternity examinations showed us to be fifth of seventy chapters with an average of ninety-six per cent.

The annual Homecoming smoker brought out most of our alumni, and a good time was had by all; The Alaskan bar motif, with actives and pledges regaled in the accepted hard-rock miners' garb, brought laughs and applause from the old-time Delts who had gathered to celebrate. Plans for future social activities are now in full swing under the management of Al Treuer.

I should like to take this opportunity to mention the visit paid us by Ted Bergman, and to say that his invaluable suggestions have been put into effect with immensely favorable results. I also wish to send a bouquet of roses to Nat Fitts, Harry Green, and Lloyd A. Pockman for their wonderful words of cheer and for the interest they have shown in this chapter.

JOHN MORRISON

Gamma Nu—Maine

UNDER the new system we are prevented from rushing the freshmen until Feb. 1st, but under the able leadership of Jim Haggett we look forward to duplicating our fine record of last year. Suggestions from alumni and brother Delts have already given us the line-up on several good candidates.

We are fortunate in having all but one of our active members, Biv Holmes, return this year, and are glad to welcome Bud Bearce back to the Shelter. We are well on our way to what we believe will be a successful year, with 26 actives and seven pledges living in the house.

During the Summer the house has undergone many changes. Our dormitory has been completely remodeled and furnished with new beds; the music room refinished in modern design; the tennis court re-surfaced; and several other improvements have been made both inside and out. A committee has been formed to draw up plans for building a recreation room and remodeling the chapter hall. We also started a library, and plan to publish an annual Gamma Nu yearbook.

bowling, and now have a basketball and winter sports team.

We held our first social event of the year with an informal house party Oct. 27th. This was the most successful dance in several years. We had our second annual Bill Hardy Night on Nov. 3rd, Homecoming Day, at which time we welcomed back many of our alumni.

Mrs. Shea, our house mother for five years, did not return this year. Mrs. Graffam, of Brewer, Me., was chosen from many applicants to fill the position.

ROBERT E. ALDRICH

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

The Delts are prominently represented in almost all the campus affairs again. Bob Hoefler is president of the Student Council, vice-president of Omicron Delta Kappa, and chairman of the Freshman Committee of the Y.M.C.A. Bob Johnson is the president of the Y.M.C.A., and also head of the Ohio Student Council of the same organization. In addition, Bob is vice-president of Sigma Sigma. Don Gilbert is the editor of The Cincinnati, with Al Wellman as managing editor and Bill Miller on the annual staff. Fred Yeager was selected as halfback on the All-Buckeye team. Jim Cook, Fred Pressler, and Bill Schwarburg earned their football letters. Bob Eagan was appointed as managing editor of the school papers. Russ Bernhard was elected secretary-treasurer of the freshman class in the Medical school. Bud Dawson is the senior manager of intramurals, with Jim Cook, Walter Knocke, and Bill Hall as assistants. Fred Pressler and Bob Eagan were summoned by Sigma Sigma. Ed Thorn, Bob Bernhardt, and Don Gilbert are members of the Applied Arts, Engineering and Liberal Arts Tribunals, respectively. Dick Jones and Dick Cooper are freshman football managers.

Gamma Xi won the Omicron Delta Kappa scholarship trophy this year, and also the baseball, bowling, and all-year trophies in intramurals.

The 17 new pledges are evidence of our success in the Fall rushing, which was under the guidance of George Kaufman.

EUGENE D. DAWSON

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

WITH a large, eager group of pledges and an active group of members who are out doing things for $\Delta T \Delta$ at Syracuse, Gamma Omicron has stepped out in the lead in campus activities.

In activities, scholarship, athletics, and social affairs Delts have taken the lead or have been guiding spirits.

William "Red" Mammoser, chapter president, has just completed his second year on the varsity football squad. "Red" was on the bench the early part of the season with a leg injury, but performed creditably in several of the major clashes.

Both the informal pledge dance and the Christmas Formal were conducted at the chapter house under Kenneth Newman, social chairman, and his committee. Delt members of the faculty were invited, and many of the local alumni attended.

The Mothers' Club served a buffet supper after the Colgate game, while the alumni conducted their annual business session.

Bob Keenan has finished his year as assistant manager of cross-country, and stands a good chance of being manager next year. William Manton distinguished himself in several of the harrier meets.

Mrs. Lewis, our prize cook, is still in the kitchen, and the invitation is open to all Delts who like food to come to Syracuse and try it.

Warren Tracy, scholarship chairman, has kept members and pledges alike at their books. When the averages are computed in June, we hope to find Gamma Omicron well up in the list. Study hours for pledges, inaugurated last year, were enforced during the weeks immediately before mid-semester.

To William H. Davis, '25, we are indebted for a dozen chairs for our study rooms. Bill said they would last ten years in a restaurant, which led our wit, Tracy, to predict that they would last here two years.

The local alumni have been conducting frequent meetings, and an alumni banquet early in December attended by alumni, actives, pledges, and rushees was a success.

The pledges are all active in campus affairs. Edward Kane, Walter Sezna, Elmer Jebo, and Joseph Richards played with the freshman football squad.

Charles Kellogg is an assistant editor of the daily newspaper.

Andrew Summa and Edgar Batzell, pledges, are on the fencing squad. Willard Rich and Richard Stasch have joined the groan-and-grunters and work out daily on the mat.

EWDIN G. ROTHBAUER

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

PLEDGES: Francis Buck, Des Moines; Eugene Billings, Ames; Everett Clocker, Stanton, Neb.; Robert Fulton, Spencer; Bernard Hench, Britt; Lloyd Johnson, Sioux City; Edward Rickard, Graham Sta., W.Va.; Mac Scott, Decorah; Percival Stone, Framingham, Mass.; Robert Swensen, Sioux City.

We wish to thank the many alumni who co-operated with us in our rushing program. Holly Peck, who came here for rush week, also gave us valuable assistance. Next year the alumni will play an important part in the new rushing plan; but you alumni will hear more about this later.

The biggest feature so far this year in our Delt activities was the All-Iowa Delt Diamond Jubilee banquet, which was held at Ames Oct. 20th. Roscoe C. Groves, treasurer of the Fraternity, and Martin B. Dickinson, vice-president of the Western Division, were among those present. To the Des Moines alumni group must go the credit of putting this banquet over, and especially to the hard work of our loyal Delt alumnus, Carl Mahnke.

We are still wondering what happened to the Iowa U. delegation. Could it have been the score of that Iowa State-Iowa U. game held that afternoon?

Gammi Pi has been keeping herself distributed throughout the campus in the way of activities. Our president, George Adamson, has been working hard with the polo team all quarter. George was elected president of the House this Fall after Charles Flack failed to return. Barton Fitzgerald has worked himself into an important position on the yearbook staff. With a promising future for occupying a berth on one of Iowa State's great wrestling teams, Pledge Francis Buck was forced to give up the sport last week because of an injury. He is now wrestling with the files over in The Bomb office. Another pledge, Lloyd Johnson, has the staff of reporters for The Iowa State Student, while Pledge Mac Scott has been spending some time after school pounding the cinders.

Between the Iowa State-Iowa U. game, Homecoming, and week-ends, a considerable number of alumni have made a call at the Shelter. Recent visitors to the chapter, however, have been Dick Koehn, Lynn Todd, Dick Wilcox, Harold Hinkle, Bob Janda, John Chiesa, David Butler, and Brice Gamble.

It is with deep regret that we mention here the death of James McGlade. Jim was killed last July in an automobile accident near Rochester, Minn.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

PLEDGES: Ed Sutton, Bellevue; Richard Berg, Pittsburgh; Earnest Homok, Pittsburgh; Andy Barchfeld, Pittsburgh; Sam Werlinich, Pittsburgh; Fred Herlinger, Midland; John Baker, Verona; Bruce Haman, Bob Davis

(Pitt)

Reading; Robert Gouse, Pittsburgh; Alfred Duff, Pittsburgh.

Under Scott Turner's management the house received extensive repairs during the Summer. It was painted inside and out; new light fixtures were installed, the third floor bathroom was remodeled, and all the rooms were papered. Furthermore, the House opened in very good financial condition. Twelve house men returned.

The Homecoming smoker, held in conjunction with the Notre Dame game, was very successful. We were honored with the presence of H. T. Morris, '69, the oldest living alumnus of the University. The House purchased a Philco combination radio-victrola, and with its assistance we have had four highly successful open houses. A Christmas Formal is being planned by the social committee.

We are proud of our representatives on Pitt's great football team. "Doc" Hartwig, captain, is an outstanding contender for All-American guard. Red Wilkins saw considerable service at right end. Bob McClure and Arnold Greene are fighting it out for the first string quarterback post for next year. Bud Baker was appointed track manager, and Bob Davis is captain of the rifle team. Other members of the rifle team include Jack Poellot and Al Dixon.

As usual, we have numerous men in activities. In R.O.T.C. Bud Baker is cadet major; Bob Willison, battalion adjutant; Scott Turner, cadet captain; Bob Davis, cadet captain. Scott Turner is also manager of the band. Red Wilkins, House president, is also president of Interfraternity Council. Bud Baker is president of undergraduate Cap & Gown. Al Dixon, Henry Haller, and Red Wilkins give $\Delta T \Delta$ more men than any other house on the Student-Faculty Association. Al Dixon is advertising manager of The Panther, humor magazine. Chuck Alcroft is sales manager of the yearbook. Earnest Rose is vice-president of Druids, honorary sophomore, and besides is business manager of the Soph Hop. Bob Stoll was tapped Sigma Tau, engineering. He also won the House scholarship trophy, donated by Col. Schrader, nosing out Earnest Rose by a fraction of a point.

The new University scholarship report finds Gamma Sigma leading all gentle fraternities on the campus.

Bob Davis has been appointed House athletic chairman. We started interfraternity competition by winning the interfraternity sing under Red Wilkins's coaching. We are now in the semi-finals of touch-football. A House bowling tournament, to find men for the House team, finds Bob Willison and Bud Baker as probable for the finalists.

A new Alumni Advisory Committee has been appointed with Norm MacLeod as chairman. Two Delt alumni have been appointed to the University faculty: Dean Spencer of the College and Dean Prall of the School of Education. The House greatly appreciates the services of Col. Schrader, assistant professor of Military Science, for his work in building up our scholarship, and also Norm MacLeod for his help during rushing.

Gamma Tau—Kansas

PLEDGES: Robert Allen, Chanute; Leroy Bacon, Bird City; Joseph Bidnick, Kansas City; Marcus Cain, Lyons; Clarence Douglas, Burlingame;

ton; Everett Elmore, Lewis; Giles Elmore, Macksville; Jimmy Hucks-horn, Osawatomie; William Kalhorn, Kansas City, Mo.; James Reid, Iola; David Skene, Kansas City, Mo.; Paul Smart, Lawrence; Foster Smith, Clay Center; Charles Taylor, Wichita; Kenneth Von Achen, Kansas City; Alphonso Wellhausen, St. Louis, Mo.; Harry Wiles, Macksville; Edwin Willock, Kansas City, Mo.; Joe Molinaro, Kansas City, Mo.; and Don McMorran, Macksville.

Gamma Tau had a very successful rush week through the intensive work of the active chapter and the co-operation of the alumni. Eugene Hibbs, rush captain, and Bill Norton, president of the chapter, deserve special credit. Among the alumni who returned for rush week activities were Dorth and Gene Coombs, Wichita; Brick Chandler, Atchison; Dick Gelvin, Dick Edelblute, and Jack Harner, Topeka; Carl Postlethwaite, Man-kato; Kermit Ryan, Bonner Springs; Ralph Ludwick, Glasco; Mel Kennedy, Sabetha; Bill Howard, Tulsa, Okla.; Dr. Wynn, Wichita; Gene Manning, Ike Cowan, Hutchinson; Howard Patterson, Martin Dickinson, Roscoe Groves, Vic Phillips, Carrel Ferris, Carrol Hungate, Henry Crone, Kansas City, Mo.; Judge Leach, Arkansas City; and Elmer Garrison, Wichita.

We are well represented in activities. Douglas, Bacon, and Bidnick are on the freshman football squad; Allen, Ash, Hedges, and Lane are on The Jayhawker staff; Bill Blowers is editor of Sour Owl, humor publication; Gilbert is censor, and Horace Hedges is circulation manager; Cunningham is president of the Dramatics Club and National Collegiate Players; Poole, Horace Hedges, Blowers, and Willock are Dramatic Club members; Voran is vice-president of the Student Council; Gilbert is president of the sophomore class; Norton is treasurer of the Panhellenic Council; Von Achen is freshman dance manager; Hucks-horn and Smart are band members; Moore and Reid are symphony orchestra members; Wellhausen is in varsity basketball; Harold Hedges and Ash are varsity wrestlers; Taylor, Bacon, and Bidnick are playing freshman basketball; Lehman is a member of A.S.M.E.; Norton, Noel, and Poole are members of Phi Alpha Delta, legal; and Hibbs is doing very nicely at conducting a dance band and crooning for the ladies. Olsen, Veitch, and Horace Hedges are members of the KuKu Club, pep organization.

Fall intramurals are nearly finished. We have already annexed the division championship trophy in football and are progressing nicely in tennis and handball.

The chapter celebrated its twentieth anniversary on Nov. 17th with a banquet at the chapter house. This was also the date of the Homecoming game with Nebraska. Many alumni returned for the occasion, including Cal Morrow, Ike Cowan, Don Rankin, and George Thiel, who were members of the old Keltz Club and charter members of Gamma Tau.

Gamma Tau laments the loss by graduation at the end of this semester of Hibbs and Voran. Hibbs served as chapter president and rush captain last year. Voran has served as steward and treasurer for two years. The chapter has gone far under the able and efficient guidance of these two Delts.

We take this opportunity to invite all the alumni to visit us whenever they can. Mother Fagan, who is starting on her twentieth year, will be very happy to greet you again.

ED ("SKIPPER") ASH

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

PLEDGES: William Chester, Cincinnati; Fred Hageman, Dayton; Bud Hoffman, Farmersville; George Heible, Massillon; Nelson Jordan, Sandusky; James Richards, Dayton; Richard Rossiter, Dayton; Dave Sheldon, Ashtabula; Don Taylor, Bellefontaine; John Weaver, Canton; William Petty, Ft. Thomas, Ky.; Charles Cavagna, Elyria; Robert Perry, Middletown; Bob Roberts, Middletown; John Ingram, Cleveland; Paul Myers, Chicago, Ill.; Wilbur Coppel, Chillicothe.

In order to start a new year off in the right style, it is pleasing to remember how we rounded out the last. In the case of Gamma Upsilon we have both pleasant and unpleasant memories.

One of the unpleasant ones is of the seniors we lost by graduation: Al ("Shires") Dare, Bob ("Gramp") Gunther; Jack Darragh, Wes ("Tubby") Cooper, Al Hodge, and Bill Stewart.

A pleasant one is of Earl Black's accomplishments. Earl received his letter in track, broke the Michigan record in the broad jump at Ypsilanti, and attended the National Intercollegiate Meet at Los Angeles. He did not get to compete, however, as he sprained an ankle in practice.

Another pleasant memory is of the chapter winning the interfraternity sing cup and the outdoor track cup in the Spring. Both cups grace our trophy case.

During the Summer a rather large sum of money was spent for improvement of the Shelter. New weather-stripping was put on all windows; new pipes for the heating system were installed; two porches were screened in, new blinds and curtains were purchased, new porch furniture was installed; a new shower was put in, several new windows were made, eight new beds were put in the dormitories, paint was applied inside and out, and the landscape was improved. We also have a new housemother. Mrs. Holliday has proved her worth in the short time she has been with us, and everyone is very well pleased. We also have two new cooks.

Probably one of the most unexpected occurrences of last year was the appearance of The Gupsilon, our chapter publication. In spite of the doubt expressed by the chapter, the book finally came out, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. Harry Shook was editor.

We have started this year off in what we consider the right manner. We had seven men out for football: Panuska, Matre, White, Mutchler, Breintenstein, Kesler, and Wiseman. Mutchler, Breintenstein, and Matre received letters, the latter two being sophomores. Nelson Jordan received numerals in frosh football, and George Scholenberger Ballard is working in cross-country. Ingram received numerals in frosh track. Don Taylor won the school golf championship early this fall.

We have more than our share of men in activities and honoraries. Frank Serviss is prexy of the local chapter of O.D.K. with Dick Darragh with him as vice-president. Serviss is a member of the Interfraternity Council, and will soon be a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Darragh is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and president of the local chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, of which Ed Freeland is secretary and Alex Macintyre, Paul Shafer, Ford Fisher, Dick Hageman, and Ed Francis are members. Francis is president of the senior class and chairman of the Varsity Social Club. Don Peiffer is a member of the University band, has appeared on several Miami broadcasts, and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha. Bob Mautz is president of the local chapter of Phi Eta Sigma and a member of the business staff of The Student, semi-weekly. Harry Shook was recently chosen Junior Prom chairman, and is a member of the editorial staff of The Student. Ralph Runyon is a member of the Student-Faculty Council. Fred Hageman and Bill Petty are on The Recensio staff, annual.

Officers elected for the year are: Frank Serviss, president; Dick Darragh, vice-president; Hubert Metzgar, secretary; Harry Shook, corresponding secretary.

In intramurals we have done well. We went to the finals in touch-football, and are at present in the final play-off of the volleyball tournament. These were under the direction of Forrest Palmer.

Frank Serviss was Homecoming chairman, and the chapter won three cups; the House Decoration cup, the Homecoming Race cup, and the Fraternity Float cup.

Basketball season is just starting, and we have Bob Weiland, a letter man of last year, Bob Matre, Bob Breitenstein, and J. P. White out for the sport.

Our social season has been full, what with open house three nights a week, a pledge dance, an informal dance, and the Fall Formal under our belts. Alex Macintyre is social chairman.

With the brief Thanksgiving vacation gone, we are all looking forward to a pleasant Christmas vacation and to bigger and better things in the near future.

HARRY G. SHOOK, II

Gamma Phi—Amherst

THE END of the six-week period at Amherst found the chapter in better shape in every respect than it has been in years. Scholarship was higher than it has been in eight years. The House's membership was greater than ever before, Goodman and Gardner having returned to the fold after a year and two years absence respectively, and 16 men having been pledged and initiated.

The new social activities policy was inaugurated with a bang with a tea-dance the Massachusetts State weekend.

In athletics the House was stronger than ever before. Bielaski was runner-up in the college tennis tournament, in which all members of the student body, letter men included, were granted entrance. Shields, Epple, Rose, and Bowditch were members of the football squad, Shields gaining a letter for the second successive year. Pfeil, experienced soccer star, gained a letter for the second successive year as a member of the New England Intercollegiate Association champions. Beckett, finishing another brilliant season in cross-country, was elected captain for 1935. The House was well represented on the freshman squad with Bodenstein, George, and Parker, the last two gaining numerals.

The year's initiation banquet found 42 alumni back, the largest turnout in recent years. Judge E. J. Henning, Beta Gamma, '94, was the principal speaker.

All in all, the Fall season was the best the House has had in years, and morale is considerably improved. A letter from Vargus, '34, studying theoretical physics at Cambridge, tells us that he is enjoying the work.

R. J. LANDRY

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

PLEDGES: Curtis Astle, Manhattan; Dick Allen, Chanute; Milton Bilger, Topeka; Ed Buchmann, Clay Center; John DeMand, Lincolnville; Dale Gamber, Culver; Roy Fritz, Kansas City, Kan.; Max Martin, Glasco; Kemper Murray, Beloit; Kenneth Rall, Wichita; Jim Sanders, Kingman; Wayne Hjort, Manhattan; Miles Strole, Kansas City, Kan.; Lloyd Smith, Kansas City, Kan.; Harry Otto, Manhattan; Clyde Schmedemann, Manhattan; Horace Duckenfield, Belmont, Cal.; Bill Paul, Manhattan; Winner Pollom, Topeka.

Gamma Chi had a very successful rush week as a result of the capable leadership of Gene Ross as rush captain, Verne ("Pop") Warner, president, and the co-operation of the active chapter and alumni.

We are making a good start in intramurals by going to the finals, which have not yet been played off, in touch-football, and by winning the intramural golf tournament, in which Charles Johnson, of Kansas City, walked off with all the honors. Our basketball team won its first game in the intramural basketball season just starting. Kemper Murry was a finalist in the horseshoe tournament. If we can win the intramural cup this year for the third time, it will be ours permanently.

Richard Armstrong and Ivan Wassberg have both made their letters on the Kansas State football team. Armstrong was awarded a certificate of merit by Christy Walsh of the All-American Board on his play in the Kansas State-Manhattan college game in New York City. Bill Paul and Winner Pollom, both stars in high school football, are outstanding in the Kansas State freshman squad.

Telejohn and Armstrong will be out for varsity basketball.

In the class elections last week Don Porter was chosen treasurer of the senior class. Don A. McNeal has recently been appointed as the assistant editor of The Kansas State Collegian and for some time has been handling all publicity work for the debate squad and for the student radio programs.

Henry Lins is a member of the varsity debate team and has been chosen as freshman debate coach. Bilger out-yelled all opposition and was given a position as freshman cheerleader. Benedict and Fritz have been active on the Y.M.C.A. cabinet.

Three of our boys made freshman recommendations to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary. They are Lins, Benedict, and Fritz.

Clark Kostner, our social chairman, is doing a good job. We have been having sororities over for dinner and dancing until 8 P.M. We have had our Fall house-party, and the freshmen will give a paddle-party in January.

Many alumni came back for Homecoming this year in spite of the bad weather. We like to have them back, for they have certainly helped us in many ways.

GLENN E. BENEDICK

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

PLEDGES: Bill Alexander, Atlanta; Hugh Bowden, Atlanta; Jack Courtney, Atlanta; Jack Fleming, Bradenton, Fla.; Charles Johnson, Chicago, Ill.; Bill Malone, Atlanta; Bob McCown, Fayetteville, Tenn.; Nat McLean, Memphis, Tenn.; O. C. McLean, Palmetto, Fla.; Ted Rogers, Ft. Pierce, Fla.; Billy Scott, Atlanta; Paul Secord, Atlanta; Frank Webb, Fitzgerald; Elbridge White, Wales, Tenn.

As usual, Gamma Psi carried out a program of entertainment for the prospective pledges. Outstanding occasions were a waffle supper at the house, a swimming party at the Atlanta Athletic Club, a weiner roast at Roy Petty's woodland retreat, a dinner dance at the Ansley Hotel, a banquet at the Athletic Club, and a "Meet Rip" party at which the freshmen were treated to several selections of welcome to Rip by the Gamma Psi band and string ensemble.

During the Summer the Shelter was completely remodeled and, through the assistance of the Alumni Association and the Mothers' Club, tastefully refurnished. In appreciation the chapter held an open house in honor of the parents.

Preceding the Alabama-Tech football game and in conjunction with the Tech Homecoming exercises, the alumni All-State banquet was held at the Athletic Club. Speakers of the evening were Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta and Dean Ramundo De Ovies.

At present plans for an open house and later the annual Christmas party are being formulated. An initiation of four new men will also be held shortly.

Activities and the scholastic standing are taking on a new spurt. Cox and Gibson were elected to Tau Beta Pi. President Kalkhurst is editor of the school weekly, a member of the student, athletic, and interfraternity councils, vice-president of Pi Delta Epsilon (journalistic) and Scientia, honoraries, and a member of the Newman Club. Sumner is business manager of the annual, and a member of several honoraries. Holsenbeck is president of the junior class and is a member of the Student Council. Richards is secretary of the Y. Cox and Gibson are members of Alpha Chi Sigma, chemical. Cox, Sack, McCreary, and Fell are new members of Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic. Marshall, McCreary, and Black are new members of Scientia. Harwood is a new member of the Skull & Key, sophomore society for outstanding freshmen of the previous year. Morrison is a member of Scabbard & Blade and with Alt is a member of Phi Tau Sigma, mechanical.

Alumni visiting us have been Son Hawkins, Mac Evans, Rip Black, senior and junior, Peachtree Tanner, Frank Sacha, Bill Horne, Earnest Ricker of Alabama, Graham McDONALD, and several others.

HARVEY FELL

Gamma Omega—North Carolina

PLEDGES: Robert T. Woodruff, Chapel Hill; Richard B. Currie, Chicago, Ill.; John T. Pressly, Goldsboro; William I. Shores, Baltimore, Md.; Roger W. McLean, West End; Charles B. Davis, Rockingham; Wilson W. Hopkins, Durham.

The highlight of our Fall season, as it probably was with many other chapters, was the visit we received from our national President, Harold B. Tharp. We were doubly fortunate in having him present at the yearly get-together and banquet of Delta Kappa and Gamma Omega Chapters following the Duke-Carolina football game.

The banquet was a distinct success with about 150 Delts in attendance. Speeches were made by Mr. Tharp and Dr. Meyer, former President of the Southern Division and formerly chapter adviser of Gamma Omega. A few novel games were played, and the occasion was topped off with a couple of songs by the Gamma Omega pledge class.

Although our pledge class is not a large one, we now have the house about full with two or three living out in town. We have a peculiarly talented group, as is partly evidenced by the banquet program which they put on. Pledge Pressly can be seen almost any afternoon out gallivanting around the back roads of Chapel Hill training hard for cross-country. Pledges Shores and McLean promise to be shining lights on the boxing squad, and Pledge Currie spends his extra-curricular time indulging in freshman basketball and glee club work. We regret to say that Pledge Woodruff spends most of his time being a married man. Nevertheless, he still has a bright and smiling face and perhaps will undergo the ordeal in a manly fashion.

With nine of the active chapter back and with the addition of Foster Corwith of Beta Delta we are in good standing to be a little bit more successful in intramural athletics. We were mentioned in the University daily as being a potential threat to the 'mural tag-football crown, but with some bad breaks we came through with three wins and four losses. Although not finishing up in true Delt style, we are sorry to say, we had more entries in the intramural wrestling tournament than any other organization. We are looking forward to a better basketball season, however.

At present we have little time for athletics, as we are concentrating on studies, paying special attention to pointing up both pledges and actives for the exams, endeavoring to keep up the high standard of $\Delta\tau\Delta$ scholarship.

The men of the active chapter are following their usual extracurricular interests. Lee and Fletcher have already been in one of the productions of the famous Carolina Playmakers and, as Lee directed and produced a play in Chapel Hill last Summer, we should see some really good work from him in this field.

With our interests in the engineering and medical honoraries, to say nothing of publications and debating, we feel that we are becoming more and more active on the campus and anticipate one of the best years Gamma Omega has had in some time.

WILLIAM M. FLETCHER

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

The Object of My Affections, current song hit, was written here, in the Shelter, by Truman ("Pinky") Tomlin last year. He also wrote The Pansy Song and You're My Delta Tau Girl, which afforded Delta Alpha no small distinction on the campus. We are watching "Pinky's" mounting success on the radio with interest.

With 22 pledges the house is operating at full capacity. The group has shown unusually fine spirit, and their walkout was enjoyed by all. Following the pledge-member smoker, the annual pledge dance was held at the University Club. This party was voted the best social event on the campus this season. The pledge activities were climaxed by a serenade after the dance.

Delta Alpha is still adding to its long list of activities. Kenneth Duff was recently elected president of the University Glee Club. Joe Fred Gibson is chairman of the Student Council dance committee. Preston Wood is a pledge to Scabbard & Blade. Bill Johnson and Pledges Dick Disney and David Vandever have gone to Washington, D.C., with the University Band. Pledge Bob Lane is figuring prominently in Playhouse productions.

Jack Davis is in tip-top condition and should break some more swimming records. He was recently chosen All-American and also captain of the All-Big Six swimming team. Pledge Van Hosen is the back-stroke artist on the freshman team.

Kay Garnett, captain of the polo team, is earning his third "O" this year. Gordon Watts, letter man, and Preston Wood are also on the squad. J. A. Mull is a likely prospect on the colt squad.

We have two new members of Jazz Hounds, pep organization. They are Donald Weir and Harry Suffield.

Dads' Day brought a large number of fathers to the Shelter, and the elders really went collegiate for a day. A dinner featured the occasion.

Ted Bergman was a visitor recently; his visit was enjoyed by everyone.

Although it's not settled definitely, we are looking forward to being hosts to the Western Division Conference.

George Hondros returned a few days ago from a successful deer hunt in New Mexico and treated the chapter to venison steaks.

James Tabor, who transferred from Sewanee this year, was put right to work on scholarship. John Crew is holding up the social standards, while J. A. Mull, as house manager, is keeping the Shelter in fine condition.

We had the largest crowd ever for the Homecoming celebration. It certainly looked good to see so many old grads back.

Fall initiation is just over, and all eyes are now turned towards the coming Christmas party, which promises to be even better than the last one.

Preston Wood has just been elected the new treasurer of Delta Alpha.

With everything progressing nicely we are all ready for the Thanksgiving holidays.

PRESTON WOOD, JR.

PLEDGES: Robert Main, Steve Kelly, Elk Point; Bill Brandon, Dudley Miller, Sioux City; Max Christol, Robert Crawford, Vermilion; Willard Herman, Dudley Herman, Draper; George Burt, Robert Lane, George Richards, Watertown; Jasper Moulton, Robert Meek, Pierre; Robert Davidson, Canistota; Russell Gilman, Hudson; Marvin McMahon, Salem; Herman Schwartzkopf, Iroquois; Newt Wessman, Sioux Falls.

Although the Editor said last year that references in chapter letters to the pledge delegation as unusual were slowly causing him to become bald, Delta Gamma is justly proud of the eighteen men pledged this Fall and, in spite of the Editor, calls it an unusual group. Sonny Herman, one of our Delt alumni from Sioux City, was a great help during rush week, to say nothing of the co-operation shown by many others of our loyal alumni. Beginning the year with twenty men back and with eighteen additional men pledged, we have a full house with some men who wish to stay in the Shelter forced to room outside.

After being third and fourth in scholarship the last two years we are again near the top, having lost out last year by a fraction of a point to another group of only nine men. Our scholarship efforts are being redoubled.

In activities on the campus we are well represented. Shifted from center to tackle, Lyle Dyson played a brand of football that rates him as an All-Conference player. Pledge Mike Schwartzkopf held down a regular berth at the other tackle position. Four of the freshman, Brandon, Davidson, Kelly, and Lane, showed much promise on the yearling squad. With basketball intramurals just ahead we are trying to get a championship team into shape. We are planning to give the pledges a chance to show the actives up by staging a basketball game between pledges and actives.

Boyd Knox, chapter president, is again business manager of the campus newspaper, The Volante. The sports editor is Bob Hoyne. John Shanard is associate editor of the humor magazine, Wet Hen. Jasper Moulton and Tom Barron have important parts in the play, The Late Christopher Bean. Newt Wessman and William Southworth were pledged to Strollers, dramatic organization, of which Charles Church is president. The Law School elected Bob May to the Student Senate. Reiman Hendrix was elected business manager of the A Cappella Choir. In the class elections, to be held soon, we have three nominees with the backing of the majority of the fraternities and sororities. John Shanard is candidate for the presidency of the senior class, Tom Brisbine for president of the junior class, and Robert Crawford for president of the freshman class. In the musical organizations we have a large number of representatives in the band, orchestra, and choir.

Appointed Lieutenant-Colonel of the R.O.T.C. unit was Woodrow Spranger. Boyd Knox was pledged to Scabbard & Blade. In all, eight men of the chapter are in the advanced military corps.

Those who returned for Homecoming Day were Clete Hart, Connie Skaro, Harold Hanson, Don Caldwell, Rodney Dunlap, Leland Hopkins, Don Hopkins, Walton Herman, Keyes Gaynor, Robert Greene, Howard Crandall, Lowell Wenk, and Vernon Hermanson. Attended by many alumni, an initiation was held the day after Homecoming. The initiate, John Prescott, became the proud wearer of the pin his father had received at Gamma Eta in 1911.

The Fall Informal in November was attended by about 75 couples including alumni, actives, and pledges. It proved to be one of the most successful parties we have staged.

ROBERT MEISENHOLDER

Delta Delta—Tennessee

DELTA DELTA was off to a flying start this Fall. Thirty-five pledges are attending regular meetings, and there is a lot of good Delt material among them. It is the largest pledge class on the campus.

The chapter changed presidents last month when Andy Sanders, one of the hardest workers in the chapter, was elected to that office, succeeding A. B. Steed, forced to retire due to illness. Chas. Schulz is the new vice-president.

The Tennessee football squad is represented by four Deltas. Frank Ditmore and Jack Pick are members of the first team. Frank, on end, is a sophomore, having transferred from Tennessee Wesleyan. "Dit" received honorable mention on several All-American teams last year. Jack Pick, the big boy from Wisconsin, has shown up well all Fall at center. Tom Alvey, a chubby hard charging guard, has played in every game and will be another of Tennessee's candidates for All-American next Fall. Jim Binkley is a reserve quarterback. Willie Leffler, a Nashville product, has been the most outstanding lineman on the frosh team.

Dan Pick, Wisconsin state high school champion in the 440-yard dash last year, has started his track career at Tennessee by winning the fraternity cross-country run.

Delta Delta is represented on The O & W staff by Lewis Tansil and George Mahan and on The Volunteer staff by Leo Bussart, R. S. Hall, Joe Parker, John Weber, Bill McCluen, and Champ Stevens. Bussart is next in line for business manager of the 1936 Volunteer.

In the Military Department we have Charlie Martin, Jim Herbert, and Jim Fries belonging to Pershing Rifles. Martin and Fries are members of Scabbard & Blade.

Delta Delta won the active scholarship cup last quarter.

The dances held at the chapter this Fall have been highly successful, in spite of the fact of numerous complaints registered by the freshmen that "Chic" Dungan has been chiseling in on their Queens. Chic is the chief heart-breaker in the chapter with Tom Alvey running a close second.

JACK PICK

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

PLEDGES: Guy Holzclaw, Charleston, W.Va.; Bain Smith, Stearns; Ed Norton, Wichita, Kan.; Phil Porterfield, Charleston, W.Va.; Len Carr, Ashland; Bob Olney, John Chambers, Steve Featherston, Billy Leet, Harlowe Dean, Bob Ellison, Bob Fish, Lexington; Lin Barclay, Murray; Jimmy Miller, Henderson; Gene Combs, Combs; Dave Donoho, Wayland; Joe E. Brown, Bardstons; Bert Hallenberg, Anchorage; Bob Freeberg, Chicago, Ill.; Oscar

Miller and Kennedy Dickson, Louisville; Tom Marshall, Paducah.

Affiliate: Harry Hale, from Delta Zeta (Florida).

"A greeting to the Delt world from her Kentucky brothers" . . . Down here where the Blue Grass grows, the horses run faster, and the women are prettier, the Delt chapter continues to rank among the topnotchers on the Kentucky campus.

A new scholastic tabulation method at the University makes it impossible for us to report our scholarship.

A most successful rush season was enjoyed in September. Thanks to Rush Captain Ike Moore, several new pledges have been acquired; 22 now wear the crossed Deltas.

Football season, which was recently closed with the annual Thanksgiving tilt with the Tennessee Volunteers, also climaxed the gridiron careers of Jim Darnaby, guard, Bill Jacobs, end, and Jimmy Miller, another guard. All three are letter men and have seen much service during their three years on the Wildcat squad.

Basketball will be ushered in Dec. 3rd. Bruce Davis should see action in the first game of the season, which is with the alumni. Bill Trott, chapter adviser, and C. D. Blair, '34, have been invited to play in this game.

The intramural season is progressing. We're picking up a few points here and there, but not enough to satisfy us for the present. But with Noel ("Tubby") Engel, ex-165 lb. boxing champ, Jack Crain, finalist in the 135 lb. wrestling, Bob Travis, Fritz deWilde, Cameron Coffman, and Bill Jacobs, entered in the wrestling and boxing, we are hoping for a brighter outlook during the next few weeks.

Track practice will be called sometime next month. Charley Olney, quarter miler, and Cameron Coffman, varsity hurdler, will again be on hand to aid the Wildcat thinlies. Len Van Arsdale, two-miler; Bob Travis, miler, and Jack Crain, half-miler, will also see plenty of action in the Spring meets.

With the reinstatement of baseball here we have Bill Greathouse looming as first-string pitcher.

The appointments of the cadet officers were recently made known. Bill Greathouse and Dave Difford are captains, and Jack Crain is battalion adjutant. Several others are minor officers.

In the publications field it appears that $\Delta T \Delta$ has a monopoly. Ned Turnbull, business manager of The Kentucky Kernel, makes it Delt No. 5 to hold this important position . . . 1927 marks the last time another fraternity held it. Assisting him are Dave Difford and Ike Moore. Cameron Coffman, chief executive of The Kentuckian, goes on record as Delta Epsilon's first yearbook editor. His "Shylock," or money taker, is Pledge Jimmy Miller, varsity footballer, O.D.K., junior class president, and holder of several other honors of less importance. Listed on the annual staff as assistant editors are Dave Difford, Al Miller, Cal Cramer, Jack Crain, and Dave Donoho.

Jimmy Miller was pledged O.D.K. at a recent election. This gives Delta Epsilon three members, with Coffman and George Skinner.

The President of the University has appointed Jimmy Miller and Cameron Coffman to serve on the Men's Student Council for the year.

Two Delts are leading the Y.M.C.A. Bill Bryan is prexy of the senior cabinet, and Billy Leet is vice-president of the freshman aggregation.

The pledge class is rapidly entering into campus activities. Bob Freeberg and Bob Ellison are freshman football managers. Steve Featherston is a pledge to Pershing Rifles, on the advertising staff of The Kernel and Kentuckian, and will be pledged to Alpha Delta Sigma in the next few weeks. Billy Leet and Harlow Dean are members of the Glee Club and The Kentuckian staff. Leet is a Pershing Rifle pledge. Dave Donoho is art editor of The Kentuckian. Len Carr, lineman, and Bain Smith, backfield, are members of the freshman football team. Ed Norton and Lin Barclay are planning to go out for basketball.

Among the actives, George Skinner and John Stevenson are members of Phi Delta Phi, legal. Brandon ("Judge") Price is a Phi Alpha Delta, legal. The Scabbard & Blade roster lists Dave Difford, Al Miller, Jack Crain, Bob Welch, Cameron Coffman, and George Skinner. Pershing Riflemen are Dave and Wally Difford, Al Miller, Jack Crain, Bill Stron, Bill Greathouse, Bill Watt, Chester Watson, Cameron Coffman, Fritz de Wilde, and Len Van Arsdale. Reg Rice, Wally Difford, Al Miller, and Jack McConnell are members of the Guignol, Little Theater. Alpha Delta Sigma has Dave Difford, president, Carroll Weisiger, vice-president, Jack Crain and Ike Moore. George Skinner calls the University president his Phi Beta Kappa brother. Cal Cramer's high scholarship in the engineering college was rewarded by a Tau Beta Pi membership. Ike Moore is president of Keys, sophomore honorary. Sigma Delta Chi lists Cameron Coffman on its roster. Several members of the chapter are members of Strollers, dramatics; among these are Crain, Coffman, and Al Miller. Reg Rice was recently awarded "some sort of a high prize" for having the highest scholarship in the engineering college for his class. Not bad, huh? Dan Cupid continues to stalk on the trail of the brothers. He got a couple of 'em. Tom Marshall nabbed himself an attractive bride, as did Guy Holzclaw; but they are still plugging after that ole degree. The courting instincts of the chapter seem to tend toward the Kappa Kappa Gamma lodge, with a smattering of Tri Delt, Kappa Delt, and Alpha Gamma thrown in. Jack ("Casanova") McConnell continues to be the "Great Lover of the Delta Shelter."

We believe we have rambled enough for this time; so we'll say, "So long until the May issue"—No, wait a minute—our visiting alumni include:

Steward Pomery, '29; Walter Vest, '31; Lawton Daly, ex-'29; Russ Lutes, ex-'29; Dan Fowler, '32; Ollie Williamson, '28; Jimmy Shropshire, '29; Laurence Shropshire, '30; Donald McWain, Beta Chi of Brown; O. B. Coffman, '33; Fred Dye, '34; Fred Scott, '34; Joe Mills, '32; Jack Hirsch, '33; Vernon Shaffer, ex-'33; Arnold Combs, '29; Parker Hurley, ex-'35; Kendall Holmes, '31; Roy

HOMER G. CROWDEN

Delta Zeta—Florida

1st semester, 1933-34: 5th of 25 fraternities; 2nd semester, 3rd (unofficial).

The chapter is in the best financial condition in years, in spite of the fact that we bought a new living-room suite, painted the interior of the house, and bought some other items that we have been needing for some time. It appears that at last we are heading definitely for a house of our own. A little help from the alumni, and we'll have a house soon, too.

The Delta Zetas again have more than their share of the campus offices. Bill Jackson was elected chancellor of the Honor Court. Aside from this office, we have the senior intramural manager, seven men on White Friars, an honorary dance society, secretary-treasurer of the "F" Club, member of the school social committee, and other office-holders.

Paul Huff won the state wrestling championship in his weight some months ago, so that he is a sure winner of his weight for the intramurals. Martin Dodge reached the finals in boxing intramurals this year, but was the loser to a boy from his home town.

The chapter at Georgia Tech journeyed down to Florida for our Homecoming celebrations. We held a dance Saturday morning, followed by a banquet at noon, in honor of the visiting alumni and the visiting Gamma Psi's. The food at the banquet was enjoyed by everyone but those who had to pay for it. Those Tech boys successfully demonstrated their ability to stay up all night, not only Friday, but Saturday as well. Our hardest job during the week-end was trying to get the Tech boys to share our dates with us. Yeah, we wanted a date once in a while.

Here's an invitation to all you Delts, alumni and actives of other chapters, to drop by when in town or make the Shelter your headquarters when you come to town.

Here it is Thanksgiving holidays, and I'm up here in Augusta, Ga. (golf, tennis, hunting, etc.—winter playground of the South, garden city, "go slow and see our city, go fast and see our jails," etc.) trying to get this letter in on time.

JOE C. ALLEN

Delta Eta—Alabama

PLEDGES: Clarence B. Ogden, Elizabeth, N.J.; Wayne Hall, Olds, Alberta, Canada; Howard Turley, Bonne Terre, Mo.; Milton Drain, Joseph Gerard, Gerald Dumser, Lincoln, Ill.; James H. Stewart, Etna, Pa.; Donald D. Campbell, Cleveland Heights, O.; Maurice Fletcher, Clarksdale, Miss.; Rodney Davis, Mullens, W.Va.; Frank Laurant, Eastland, Tex.

All these seem to promise much—at least they will promise to do anything.

Fletcher is the first-string freshman fullback, and is going great guns at this writing. The rest of the freshmen are doing right well in the sorority circles; so all is well.

The freshmen have done a bit of painting around the house this past week, and the Shelter has taken on a new air.

In the interfraternity touch-football games Delta Eta did right well until Hochensmith had his face kicked in, literally. He soon recovered, but not in time to help us in the other games. We did not do so well after that.

Cadet Captain Ed Harris is the only man in the entire R.O.T.C. that knows what to do with his saber. He is one of the fencing team, and should shine brightly in the coming matches.

The house has given several small dinner dances, and another is coming up in December. We will also give our usual Christmas party to the less fortunate children of Tuscaloosa. This will be the third year that we have done this.

Our boys went calling quite a bit last year, and we wish to thank the brothers at Delta Delta, Beta Beta, Delta Iota, Gamma Psi, and Gamma Eta for their very fine hospitality. We hope that they will pay us a visit.

W. K. RAMM

Delta Theta—Toronto

ANOTHER year, and with it a set of new faces and new personalities around the Shelter. Initiates Tom Bell, Chuck Gallow, and Holly Johnston are helping to inject new blood into the metabolism of Delta Theta, and the nine starry-eyed pledges form an interesting supplement.

Social Director Tom Frankish has provided us with several entertaining functions, all as yet of an informal nature. Notable amongst them was the hard times party held in November. A large Christmas banquet is set for Dec. 20th at which time hosts of alumni have signified their intention of joining us 'round the groaning board. The date of the annual formal dance has been set for Jan. 11th at the Royal York Hotel.

Kenneth Zinkann was active in directing and supervising the skits for the annual frolic of the Dental men, Noctem Cuckoo. Tom Bell is treasurer of the Commerce Club and Ted Scythes is president of the University College Players' Guild. Nor would any chapter letter be complete without mentioning the sterling aggregation of jazzmen led by "Demon" Crawford, although the vicissitudes of the latter have included the loss of a particularly valuable snare-drum.

Ivan Hardy's wedding was well attended by many of the actives who could not believe, until they had seen the actual ceremony achieved, that Ivan was really going off the deep end after all these years.

A Mothers' Tea was held in November, and although there was not as large a turnout as one is pleased to associate with such affairs, nevertheless the occasion was not lacking in fraternity spirit and the charming guests were more than impressed.

The visit of Holly Peck early in October proved most stimulating to our rushing system, and things moved on apace after a few of his suggestions were adopted.

Ed Bell, who is fourth year president of University College, has been most instrumental in getting tickets to the various functions of that College for the lads. To his door also must be laid credit for the suggestion that the Shelter hold an informal smoker and general get-together for Delt fathers. This interesting precedent will be inaugurated on Dec. 3rd after the regular Monday night meeting.

With Kep Lally as the newly-appointed chapter adviser the chapter is swinging along briskly in step.

E. W. SCYTHES

Delta Kappa—Duke

DELTA KAPPA opened the year this fall with the largest active chapter in the history of her existence. However, we lost two men who transferred.

Martin Williams
(Duke)

Chapter president, editor of yearbook, O.D.K., Chi Eta Sigma, History Honors Student, secretary-treasurer Student Government, etc.

Covington went to N. C. State to study textiles. Edmondson went to the University of Missouri and affiliated with Gamma Kappa Chapter. We are glad to welcome Johnny Maher back to the chapter after an absence of a year.

This year the game with Duke's traditional rival, University of North Carolina, was played at Carolina. After the game the annual Gamma Omega-Delta Kappa banquet was held, this year with Delta Kappa as the guests. As usual, Gamma Omega gave an affair which will be long remembered by all those present. These Southerners know how to entertain.

Recently we were honored by a visit from President Harold Tharp as part of his national tour of Delt chapters. A tea was given in honor of Mrs. Tharp, which was well attended by the University dignitaries. A stag banquet was held for President Tharp, and afterward a round-table discussion of Fraternity affairs.

The chapter is well represented this Fall in extracurricular activities. In the publication line, Martin Williams is editor-in-chief of The Chanticleer, yearbook. Also on The Chanticleer staff are Fred Smith, managing editor, Clarence Armstrong, assistant business manager, Woodrow Burgess, copy editor, and Dick Austin, business staff. George Everitt is society editor, and Lyman Wright on the business staff of the newspaper, The Chronicle.

Joe Mackie was elected to Beta Omega Sigma, sophomore leadership honorary. He is also a member of the Glee Club, and has had leading rôles in the two musical shows presented by the Glee Club this Fall.

Martin Williams was elected to O.D.K. in the Spring elections.

Bill Brumbach is chairman of the Social Welfare Committee of the Y.M.C.A., and is doing commendable work with the under-privileged boys of the city. Lyman Wright is assistant treasurer of the Y, and George Everitt is chairman of the Social Committee.

Dick Austin and Bob Wilkenson are with the Duke Players, dramatic organization.

In the campus elections at the close of last year Martin Williams was elected secretary-treasurer of the student body, one of the three major elective offices. Launce Flemister and George Everitt were elected to the House of Representatives, lower house of the Student Government. Everitt is on the Junior Council, and Mackie is on the Sophomore Council.

Launce Flemister and Nash Herndon were extended bids to Iota Gamma Pi, interscientific.

Charlie Walsh is first-string goalie on the varsity soccer team, and has turned in an excellent performance this Fall. Johnny Plump is out for track practice and intends to retain his berth on the team as broadjumper. Andy Massett, a soph, shows great promise in football. He has been on the varsity squad all Fall.

Martin Williams, by competitive examination, recently won the appointment to represent Duke in the divisional Rhodes Scholarship examinations.

Rushing season will soon open. So far our prospects are excellent, thanks to the recommendations sent us by the alumni and the National Membership Committee.

NASH HERNDON

Delta Iota—California at Los Angeles

THE chapter is unusually strong this year with all four years being extremely well represented. Our pledge class of sixteen men is promising.

Initiation of four men is to take place very soon, while other pledges are only awaiting the announcement of the necessary scholastic rating before they receive their badges.

Football season closes with four Deltas turning in their suits. Gary, Pike, Purdy, and Dickerson ended active seasons of playing.

WARD R. NYHUS

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

CHAPTER Delta Lambda, under the clean-cut guidance of Herb Iverson, president, is on its way to big things this year. Already the morale and general attitude of the House equals or excels that of any house on the campus. Members and pledges are out for activities more than ever before and are playing a big part in campus affairs. Two members who have been away from college several years have returned and are contributing to the success of the House. "Mose" Lyman, who was varsity basketball center three years ago, has returned and is to be with us for a time, out for varsity basketball and several other activities. His brother is in college now and is, of course, a Delt pledge.

Some of the members and the activities of the campus in which they are participating are as follows: Don Eckman, manager college daily, track man, member of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional honorary; Mansfield Howells, manager Student Directory, national advertising manager of the daily, member of Alpha Delta Sigma; Herbert Iverson, cadet colonel of the R.O.T.C.; Warren Bailey, track manager, assistant night editor of the daily, member of the annual editorial staff; Neal Troeh, junior manager of basketball; Bill Robertson, co-chairman of the all-college formal, junior member of the Student Council; Chuck Dalton, member of the college extemporaneous speaking squad; Harold King, Ag Club news correspondent, rook basketball manager; Dick Hammond, member of Kappa Kappa Psi, band; Bob Morris, college intramural manager, second place winner of A.S.P.E.E. draftsmanship contest, and college delegate to Japan in the Summer of 1934.

The chapter was extremely fortunate in its pledge selection. All the pledges are up and coming in college activities as well as chapter activities. The class has been organized and officers selected. Weekly meetings are held, and a definite educational program is being carried out. Each week a member of the House gives a lecture to the pledges either on campus life or on the Fraternity. A large number of the pledges have gone out for campus activities. On the rifle team are Burch Davis, Foster Wentz, and Jack Bull. Pledges out for sports are Sam Taber, freshman swimming team; Phil Brownell, freshman football and basketball; Howard Lyman, freshman basketball; and Jack McLaughlin, freshman basketball manager. In the glee club are Wallace Beebe and Bill Kahn. Bill Kahn is assistant national advertising manager of the daily, and George Harrington is on the collections staff. Jack McLaughlin and Karl Johnson are out for debate. Howard Lyman is an assistant collections manager on the student directory, and George Harrington is on the collections staff.

The chapter has found exceptional musical talent among its members: a quartet has been organized; the two Lyman brothers have developed a tap dance feature that goes over big; and Jack McLaughlin, pledge, has been found to strum the banjo in great style. Three or four of the fellows play the piano, and we have two trumpets. Three of the members and pledges are singing in the college glee club.

Bob Morris, who is the third of three brothers, all Delts who have been in the chapter during the past several years, was selected by the college as one of its delegates to Japan during the summer of 1934. He, together with Lyman, who has just returned from a three year visit to Germany, can give a pretty good account of the world.

The chapter has presented two informal dances thus far, both of which were considered among the notable social events of the campus.

R. W. HAMMOND

Delta Mu—Idaho

PLEDGES: James Weaver, Lamont Loveday, Montpelier; Jerome Evans, Lava Hot Springs; Paul Poulson, Boise; Everett Woods, Vernon Carns, Caldwell; Wendell Lawrence, Hollister; Richard Paris, Kellogg; Joey August, Jean Nicholson, Spokane, Wash.; Howard Ahlskog, Berry Kercheval, Coeur d'Alene; Francis Crystal, Bovill; William Bowen, Nampa; Perry Gamble, Jack Kinne, Orofino; Ben Humphrey, Vernon Gossett, Moscow; Donald Thomas, Donald Martin, St. Maries; Hiram Everest, Grangeville, Edward Iddings, Peru, Ind.

With 22 of Idaho's best as a pledge class, giving us the Coast record for Delt pledges, we are looking forward to a big year at Delta Mu. To Bob Ford, our rushing chairman, goes great credit and a vote of thanks.

The first quarter is just over, and mid-semester reports, hot from the registrar, have just arrived. Although our average is lower than usual, the drop seems general, and we are confident of retaining our traditional high standing at the semester.

Our first quarter's social calendar has been well filled. The first social event was the pledge dance. Decorations were representative of the freshman activities as outlined by the University handbook, and programs were duplicates of the 1934 handbooks. We have been entertaining the various sororities with dinner-dance exchanges this year instead of the usual dance exchanges. On Nov. 17th Delta took the lead in introducing the fireside dance on the Idaho campus. These are impromptu informal house parties and are a very successful means of entertaining at a low cost. This fireside dance was followed by a serenade which included the sororities and women's dormitories. The serenade included solo, group, and orchestra numbers. Ted Bergman dropped in just in time to attend both these functions—by the way, Ted thinks more of Idaho since his introduction to a certain Idaho girl.

Another unusual Homecoming was celebrated at Idaho this year, with "End Oregon's Trail" as the central theme. Our Homecoming sign was awarded second prize, although public opinion rated it first. It was a panorama of a prairie scene with covered wagons moving along in the foreground. A huge vandal crouched at the edge of a cliff held a bag into which the Oregon wagons fell—"Oregon's in the bag." Maurice Malin, George Brunzell, Wendell Lawrence, Gene Ryan, and Berry Kercheval comprised the committee in charge. As usual, a large group of alumni and guests were on hand to fill the Shelter dorms to capacity.

With the general improvement in general house conditions has naturally come a flood of distinctions to individual members of the chapter. The pledges have fallen in line with House activities and are doing well in outside activities also.

Fred Richardson is busy as president and is doing an excellent job of it. His leadership is a guide and an inspiration to better organization.

Frank Bevington is busy-plus. Frank is Duke of the Intercollegiate Knights and is assistant business manager of The Gem of the Mountains, yearbook. At the last Blue Key pledging he was one of twelve tapped and has recently been pledged to Alpha Kappa Psi, business.

Maurice Malin completes the Delt control of The Gem as associate editor. Malin was initiated into Alpha Kappa Psi last Spring and was one of the new Blue Key pledges tapped this Fall. House social chairman's problems fill the remainder of his time.

Paul Rust was initiated into Blue Key last Spring and was rated by the yearbook as the outstanding musician on the campus. He is as busy and as prominent as ever in these activities.

For the first time in two years we have several prospective "I" men.

Howard Ahlskog, brother of the All-American Harold Ahlskog, has been a star on the freshman team. Howard plays a heady brand of ball as running guard and will soon be wearing his numeral. Perry "Hap" Gamble is a fighting, ripping tackle who means business and has been classed as one of the "flashy" members of the freshman team. He too is a numeral winner.

Ron Martin, numeral winner last year in frosh basketball, is showing up well in varsity practice and should win his major letter.

Joey August, another fighting August, has claims to the Olympics next year, and is a favorite in the boxing ring this season.

Louis August, boxing coach, is having success with his squad, having lost only one bout in three matches so far. Louis is junior man on the executive board and was recently pledged Alpha Kappa Psi, business.

Arthur Nelson has been initiated into Sigma Gamma Epsilon, mining, and Leonard Gaffney has been pledged Alpha Kappa Psi, business.

James McFarland was elected vice-president of the sophomore class in Fall elections, being one of the three of his political faith to be elected. Jim is prominent in musical circles, and has been appointed general chairman of the sophomore Holly Dance.

George Brunzell is business manager of the technical publication, The Idaho Engineer. Pledges Hiram Everest and Vernon Carns are his assistants. George Swisher is circulation manager. Pledges Berry Kercheval, Richard Paris, Hiram Everest, Jerome Evans, and Wendell Lawrence, are working on the business and editorial staff of the yearbook. Lawrence is also art editor for the newspaper. Berry Kercheval is our frosh member of the Intercollegiate Knights.

Thanksgiving vacation is next week, and those who can't go home are looking forward to eating the first Thanksgiving dinner from our new crested dishes.

FRANK BEVINGTON

THE DELTA ALUMNI

Cincinnati Alumni Chapter

THE Cincinnati Alumni Chapter welcomes this opportunity to express its deep regret over the passing of our beloved brother and benefactor, Dr. Frank Wieland. His funeral in Mt. Gilead was attended by our brothers Dad Pumphrey and Fowler Mould. Many others were kept from attending by the press of business.

The recent elections in Hamilton County caused another sincere disappointment to Cincinnati Deltas. This was the defeat suffered by Bob Heuck for the position of county auditor, which he has held with increasing success for several years. While he held office, Bob initiated an accounting system that has been copied by civic officials all over the country. A man of real public spirit, Bob made and maintained the reputation for handling the affairs of the county with more efficiency than any preceding incumbent to that office.

The University of Cincinnati Bearcats became King of the Buckeye Conference by registering a 21-0 defeat over Miami University on Thanksgiving Day. The active chapter is well represented on the eleven this year, having Schwarburg and Yeager in the regular backfield and Cook and Presler on the line. The Cincinnati team has been striving for top honors for several years, and it is our hope that the 1934 record may be duplicated with even more emphasis in 1935.

Plans for the Northern Division

Conference, which will be held in Cincinnati during the second weekend in February, are now going forward. Our newly elected president of the alumni chapter, Jack Gayman, has appointed various committees to take care of arrangements incident to the Conference. At the present writing the place of the banquet and business sessions has not been definitely chosen. The entire chapter is putting forth every effort to make the event a complete success. We hope to have the co-operation of every Northern Division chapter, active and alumni, in making the attendance total the largest on record.

AL CLARK

Clarksburg Alumni Chapter

ON Saturday evening, Oct. 6th, 1934, our chapter was host to Secretary of War George H. Dern at an informal dinner in the Waldo Hotel at Clarksburg.

Secretary Dern came here from Elkins, where he assisted in the dedication ceremonies at the Elkins Municipal airport, as a part of the program during the Mountain State Forest Festival, which is held annually at that place.

Secretary Dern is a charter member of Beta Tau chapter, at the University of Nebraska.

Andrew Edmiston, Congressman from this District, attended and acted as toastmaster.

Dr. C. O. Post, president of the

Among those attending were Dr. Robert Hood, George Coyle, Dr. R. V. Lynch, Charles A. Sinsel, Friend Ruttencutter, Ralph Heatherington, Lemuel Jarvis, Anthony McCue, Arthur Mitchie, L. M. Sutton, J. Harker Newlon, John A. Faust, Graham I. Lynch, Dr. C. O. Post, and L. W. Burnside, all of Clarksburg; as well as Porter Jarvis of Chicago, Ill., and Congressman Edmiston of Weston, W. Va., and Washington, D.C.

L. W. BURNSIDE

Columbus Alumni Chapter

ON Wednesday, Sept. 12th, the alumni of Columbus, after seven years of inactivity, re-established the Columbus Alumni Chapter. Harold ("Dutch") Frankenberg, Beta Phi, '23; Henry ("Uncle Hank") Campbell, Beta Lambda, '04; and George ("Em") Walters, Beta Phi, '30, were elected president, vice-president, and secretary respectively. Since then we have met every Wednesday noon, the University Club being our meeting place.

After a very careful survey of Columbus our membership committee presented a roster of 181 names, which represented 38 chapters of the Fraternity. We are striving to make every one an active member.

On Sept. 26th we had a rushing meeting for Beta Phi Chapter, inviting all actives, pledges, and rushees. It was quite successful and promises to be an annual affair.

On Oct. 7th we held a party and buffet luncheon at the home of Perl S. Miller, Beta Phi, '12, for all actives of Beta Phi. There was plenty of eating, singing and card playing. Seventy Delts attended.

Nov. 27th was the date set for the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the founding of Beta Phi Chapter. A dinner was held at the chapter house and was attended by actives, alumni, and pledges. Jack Finnicum, President of the Northern Division, was the principal speaker. Kenyon S. Campbell, Beta Phi, '19, was the toastmaster. Reports were given by the officers of the active chapter which were very encouraging. Later in the evening George Staten, Mu, '24, assistant coach of the Ohio State University football team, showed movies of the team in action during the last campaign. Eighty men went home feeling sorry for those who missed the event.

Plans are under way for an All-State party to be given by the Columbus Alumni Chapter in January. We hope this will become a tradition in the future, and should, as there are seven active chapters and six active alumni chapters in the state to supply the attendance. We promise to make it interesting and worthwhile.

Some of us have gone athletic in a small way. We are entered in a Fraternity Alumni Bowling League sponsored by the University Club. Eight teams are entered, and competition will be very keen. However, we are already discussing where we will put the trophy, even though our first game is a week away.

By the time of the next issue of THE RAINBOW we hope to be able to present a list of members showing their business connections.

The chapter also wishes to invite all Delts who happen to come to Columbus to drop in and meet with us.

G. E. WALTERS

District of Columbia Alumni Chapter

THE District of Columbia Alumni Chapter has concentrated most of its activity this Fall in its weekly luncheons held each Wednesday in the Silver Room of the National Press Club. A popular part of the luncheon has been the varied selection of food offered by the Press Club and your own selection of the size of your check. The luncheons have been well attended and run smoothly by the Luncheon Committee composed of Fred Morehart, chairman, Charles O. Gridley, W. C. Murphy, Frank A. Hall, Mal Murphy, Carl Butman, and Karl Greene.

President Harold Tharp was our guest of honor at the luncheon on Nov. 23rd. Two extra rooms were required to accommodate the Delts who turned out to welcome him.

It has been gratifying to see a large number of visiting Delts at our luncheons. We are always glad to have visiting Delts with us and extend a hearty welcome to any Delt who is in Washington to be with us. Charlie Jackson was back from Texas for a few days and lunched with us.

Jack Vivian has recovered from an automobile accident of last Summer, and is now back at work in the Interior Department.

George Larkin visited the University of Cincinnati and was delighted to see them win a football game.

Buddy Summerville is an airplane fan and is doing his traveling via the air. He is disseminating aviation information as well as fatherly advice.

RAYMOND E. GABLE

Indianapolis Alumni Chapter

THE Indianapolis alumni have been carrying on during the past Summer and this Fall in a very satisfactory manner, holding luncheons weekly with a very creditable attendance.

After the Code regulations were put into effect, it was voted to hold the weekly noon luncheon at Tice's Tavern, 35 East Maryland St., and after meetings of over three months there, it was voted to return to the Columbia Club, which had been our meeting place for years past. The location of the Columbia Club is so much better that it was decided to keep the Columbia Club as our permanent luncheon place.

On Dec. 7th there will be an election of new officers for the coming year, and a number of social events will be planned for the Winter season. We urge each and every Delt in and around Indianapolis, and those visiting brothers, to come to the Columbia Club every Friday noon for the luncheons, where you will find Delts from all chapters. The undergraduates at Indiana, Purdue, Butler, Wabash, and DePauw are especially invited.

MAURICE T. HARRELL

Kansas City Alumni Chapter

THE Kansas City Alumni Chapter has been pushing forward with more activity this year than ever before. President Kenneth Tapp has varied the program so that practically each month a special event takes place.

On Aug. 28th we held our rushing party for active chapters at Missouri, Kansas, Baker, and Kansas State. We entertained about 25 rushees and about one-third of this number were pledged. The alumni chapter turned out to the tune of about 45, thus making quite a showing.

On Nov. 14th the alumni had their annual chicken dinner party at Indian Hills Country Club. The boys finally got their fill of chicken.

The annual election of officers will be held in December.

Probably one of the peskiest alumni we have is Roscoe ("Charleyhorse") Groves, our national treasurer. He not only bothers everybody about coming to our luncheons and meetings, but shows up himself. It is understood there is a racket being formed by Groves, Hornbuckle, and Tapp to take a 10 per cent cut on certain collections so that they may attend certain out-of-town functions. The treasury will get a nasty cut this month because on calling all three of these men I find they are on the way to Columbia to attend a very necessary function namely, the Kansas-Missouri game.

Regular weekly luncheons each Thursday noon at room C-5, K.C.A.C., 11th & Baltimore.

Δ T Δ lost a valuable member in William Wells, Gamma Kappa, '15, of Platte City, Mo., who passed away in October.

CHAS. A. MILLER

Lexington Alumni Chapter

SINCE last Fall the Lexington Alumni Chapter has been holding monthly meetings at the Delta Epsilon chapter house, enjoying dinner and association with the actives and pledges of the University of Kentucky group. Many members of the alumni group, led by President Russ Lutes, took part in rushing activities and otherwise have shown great interest in affairs of the active chapter. Attendance at some of the alumni sessions has been only fair, but the regulars have kept their interest high and as a result an increase in the attendance has been shown.

Delts throughout this section were justly proud when a loyal member of the order, Senator Alben W. Barkley, was selected to introduce President Roosevelt for his November speech at Harrodsburg, near Lexington, when he dedicated the new $100,000 federal memorial to pioneers of the old northwest.

Kentucky Delts are also quite proud of Ralph Kercheval, for three years a star of the University of Kentucky Wildcats, who last Fall was the big noise with the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Kerch" was in the fray for 60 minutes in practically all the team's games, on several occasions scoring all the points registered by the Dodgers, and several sports writers called him the best "freshman" performer in professional football during the season.

Ollie Williamson, who refused to neglect his studies for such things while in school, in the last two seasons has presented several sparkling performances on the stage of the Guignol, the city's little theater on the U.K. campus.

LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE

Los Angeles Alumni Chapter

IT might be interesting to other alumni chapters to note that for the past year the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter has been carrying into effect, with a great deal of success, the very essence of Owen C. Orr's letter No. 26, dated Nov. 7, 1934.

We have something like 38 chapters represented in our alumni chapter, and Dan Ferguson, the president, has been giving every other Friday, which is our regular weekly luncheon day, as a day when the alumni members of some one designated chapter shall supply a speaker. Some of our speakers have been brother Delts; others have been prominent citizens of the city and community. On the days when we have no speaker we have general discussions on interesting political and economical problems of today—sometimes with two of our good brothers, usually the most affluent speakers, debating some question, one taking the affirmative and the other the negative, with the other members as judges. We have found that this procedure has made our luncheons interesting as well as instructive. Our attendance has increased more than three-fold, showing a greatly revived interest in fraternal questions and problems. All the credit must be given our good president, Dan Ferguson.

Friday, Nov. 23rd, we observed Los Angeles Alumni Past Presidents' Day and had twelve past presidents as well as 50 regular members in attendance.

We have been very fortunate this year in having some of our more distinguished brothers pay us a visit. Stuart Maclean, on his way to the Orient, dropped in to one of our regular luncheons this Summer and gave a most interesting talk, which was very much appreciated by 60 of our members.

Two weeks ago we had another large turnout of about 55 members to hear our Western Division vice-president.

Our regular yearly meeting for election of officers will take place Dec. 17th.

GEORGE W. STASAND

Memphis Alumni Chapter

THE activities of the Memphis Alumni Chapter during the past fall have been confined almost solely to organizing itself as hosts to the Rainbow Karnea to be held in Memphis on Aug. 29th, 30th, 31st, 1935.

Our committees are substantially appointed and are as follows: Overton H. Miller, Pi, '03, general chairman; W. Groom Leftwich, Beta Theta, '18, vice chairman; Albert G. Riley, Beta Iota, '09, secretary; Dr. George G. Graham, Beta Theta, '22, treasurer; Jessie Cunningham, Beta Alpha, '05, chairman Attendance Committee; Dr. P. H. Wood, Omega, '09, president of the chapter; George W. Faison, Phi, '17, chairman of Entertainment; Enoch Brown, Lambda, '14, chairman of publicity.

Sub-committees will be appointed as our activities require.

Our Karnea Committee request the co-operation and support of all active and alumni chapters in giving publicity to the Karnea and hope that they will begin to communicate with the alumni and have as many present as possible so that we may have a rousing good Karnea. We are working on an attendance prize and hope to have an attractive prize for the largest attendance from any chapter, both actives and alumni to count in the score.

In due time we will send to all chapters, active and alumni, circulars describing the work that will be done and what they may expect in entertainment and good fellowship by attending the Karnea.

On Nov. 3rd the actives of Pi Chapter were the guests of the Memphis Alumni Chapter at a football game and a dinner at the Peabody Hotel. The purpose of the meeting was to seek the co-operation of nearby active chapters in making plans for the coming Karnea. Pi Chapter is the mother chapter of the old Rainbow Society.

The Memphis alumni would be thankful for any suggestion that may be offered by any chapter or members that would be willing to lend their influence and support.

ALBERT G. RILEY

Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter

ONLY recently the regular Delt luncheons in Pittsburgh were changed to the Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club on Tuesday noon. Fortunately this change has brought about increased attendance.

Late in September many of the Pittsburgh Delts gathered at the farm of Carl and Justus Mulert for our annual picnic and corn-roast. This affair has now become somewhat of a tradition in this area, and the response was gratifying.

Congratulations are in order to at least two of our local men. Major W. L. Klay—here in charge of the United States Army Ordnance Corps has been promoted to Lieutenant Colonel; R. M. ("Dick") Simpson, a product of Gamma Sigma, was successful in his recent campaign for election to the Pennsylvania State House of Representatives from Huntingdon County. W. S. ("Bill") McFall arrived home from Europe in time to take a very active part in the state election campaign. Bill is going somewhere in politics. W. J. ("Bill") Wignall, sales manager of A. M. Byers Co., has been transferred to New York. Clark Hammond, one of our most loyal supporters, has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness and is now in charge of the Federal Housing Division here.

St. Louis Alumni Chapter

BELIEVE it or not, the largest attendance at the St. Louis alumni weekly luncheons so far this year was on the hottest Monday of the year. The old thermometer was batting around 109°, and in came 18 loyal Delts to the luncheon table. We might add that the dining room is air-conditioned.

Seriously, the first Monday in June, 1934, found only three Delts at the weekly luncheon. This poor attendance wasn't the first, for since the Arch Chapter had turned down a local chapter at Washington University the interest of the alumni in the alumni chapter had been waning. However, these three decided it was high time St. Louis Delts should be called back to the colors and that there must be many Delts in the Greater St. Louis area who would welcome an active alumni chapter if some one would take the lead. It was decided that Whitson would become secretary and, with the help of Smith and Johnson, try to revive the interest of those 52 Delts whose names we had and in addition try to find more alumni whose names we did not have on our roster.

We are pleased to report that the results have been most gratifying. For from three men attending that meeting in June, we have attained a high of 18 on the hottest Monday of the year, with an average of well over 10 at a meeting for the past 18 meetings. We have also increased our roster from 52 names to 102 in the Greater St. Louis area, thanks to the help of Hugh Shields at headquarters in Indianapolis.

Neither is the work of recapturing interest up to those three who started the ball rolling, for they have found willing workers in George Buchanan, Frank Bell, A. N. Day, Earl Page, James E. Dame, Fred Mewhinney, Dr. Alfred P. Briggs, and Edwin G. Weber. These men have given their time, and a great deal of credit is due them for any success the St. Louis Alumni Chapter has.

In addition to the successful weekly luncheons we held a bang-up dinner-dance at the New Hotel Jefferson in October. Nine couples attended, and truly the old Delt spirit came forward and claimed every one. A Christmas stag is now being planned, which will be held at the Kings-Way Hotel on the Friday evening before Christmas. We feel certain of the success of this party, as this has always been well attended, even during the leanest years.

Many plans for rushing and other activities are now under way, and the year 1935 should find St. Louis a busy center of Delt activities.

Any Delts who are in St. Louis on Mondays should make it a point to come to the Castilla Cafe at 1125 Washington Ave., around 12.15 P.M. There will be found the weekly $\Delta T \Delta$ alumni luncheon. We assure you, you'll be warmly welcomed.

ELMER E. WHITSON

Tampa Alumni Chapter

ON Oct. 20th the alumni chapter gave a luncheon before the Florida-North Carolina State game. Guests of honor were the actives from Delta Zeta, who were on hand 90 per cent strong. The total attendance was 30. Carl Baughman presided. The luncheon was held at the Hotel Thomas Jefferson, Tampa.

On Nov. 17th Zina Carter, Delta Zeta, '34, was married to Miss Madeline Wilson in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. Carter's attendants were brother Delts—John Fisher, Sid Lenfesty, and Royce Goodbread.

Several of the Tampa alumni were guests of the Florida chapter during Homecoming. JOHN FISHER

THE DELTA SCRAPBOOK

Did you ever stop to think where all these clippings come from?

They come from co-operative Deltas all over the country. We should have still more if you also would co-operate. It will be very much appreciated, and THE RAINBOW will mean still more to you because you are contributing to its success.

A Defiance to Hoover

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

Omaha—Senator Alben W. Barkley (Democrat, Kentucky) today hurled a challenge at former President Hoover "to tell us what liberties we have lost and what property rights we have impaired" under the Roosevelt administration.

"To say that the program of rehabilitation under President Roosevelt is an attack upon liberty or the right to own property is so ignorant and so fatuous as to be unworthy of serious consideration," he asserted in a speech prepared for delivery before the Nebraska Democratic Convention.

After pointing out that the home was the foundation of the American nation, Senator Barkley continued:

"We have done more under the Roosevelt program to preserve the American home than was ever done by any administration."—The New York Herald-Tribune.

Rector Begins Service

CHI, '31 CHARLES C. MORFIT, JR.

Rev. Charles C. Morfit, Jr., newly appointed curate at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral, will begin his duties with services today. He will have charge of the church school and young people's activities in addition to assisting Dean Chester Burge Emerson with general parish work.

Rev. Mr. Morfit came to Cleveland from the Diocese of Spokane, where he served for a year as canon of St. John the Evangelist Cathedral. For two years he was an executive of the dress code authority in New York, serving first as head of the investigations department and later as administrator of the manufacturers-contractors relations department.

He is a native of Welsh, W.Va., and attended the University of West Virginia and Kenyon College before his graduation from Bexley Hall, Gambier, Ohio, in 1931. His first parish was at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Bellefontaine, Ohio. He is a member of $\Delta T \Delta$ Fraternity.—The Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Re-elected Oil President

EVERETT R. FILLEY

The Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association, in annual meeting in Tulsa Tuesday, re-elected E. R. Filley for a second term as president. ROBERT HEUCK

Mayor Russell Wilson made his first formal speech of the 1934 campaign and praised the record of County Auditor Robert Heuck, who was the guest of honor at a luncheon in the ballroom of the Hotel Sinton-St. Nicholas, Thursday.

Heuck's record and a denunciation of the "spoils" system were the main points of the speech.

Mayor Wilson said: "I know of no greater public servant within the confines of Hamilton County than Robert Heuck."—The Cincinnati Times-Star.

Hits Money System

DELTA ALPHA, '24

ELGIN GROSECLOSE

Norman, Okla.—A gloomy picture of monetary problems is presented by Elgin Groseclose, of the University of Oklahoma College of Business Administration, in his new book, Money: The Human Conflict.

"Under our system of money it is well nigh hopeless for the average man to save against a rainy day," declares Groseclose, formerly editorial associate of the magazine Fortune.

The solution, as presented by Groseclose, is the adoption of a single metallic standard of money, which he termed "indispensable to the future control of the money mechanism."

The volume of credit and debt, he states, must be held within bounds if the country is to avoid a repetition of progressive inflation and collapse.—The Associated Press.

Public Schools a Failure

GAMMA THETA, '14

most progressive in the country," he added that "judging from results, education generally today is not worth the money it costs."—The Newark Star-Eagle.

Scores Opium Monopolies

STUART J. FULLER

Geneva—The United States delegate to the League of Nations opium committee created "an incident" today by offending the delegates of the Netherlands, Switzerland, India and Austria—but he won his point.

The American is Stuart J. Fuller, assistant director of the division of Far Eastern affairs of United States State Department. He made a scathing denunciation of government opium monopolies such as those maintained by the British and the French and, as a result, was taken to task for "strong language beyond the conventional usage."

"Monopolies," declared Mr. Fuller, "are merely another device for poisoning one's fellow-man for gain."

The Dutch, Swiss, Indian and Austrian delegates said they were offended by Mr. Fuller's remarks. Mr. Fuller said he had not meant "to offend any member of the committee but had just meant merely to give the frank facts."

After his speech the committee voted against permitting Siam to trade in "dross"—the morphine residue left after opium is smoked. Only Siam and Japan voted in favor of permitting the trade. —The New York Times.

Insurance Against War

CHI, '98 CHARLES F. REIFSNIDER

"Christianity in Japan is the best insurance against war," the Right Rev. Charles Shriver Reifsnider, Suffragan Bishop of North Tokyo, Japan, declared yesterday morning in his sermon at St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church, Stuyvesant Square. He reviewed the progress of Protestant missionary endeavor in Japan in the last fifty years.

"The church in Japan has become not only autonomous but also indigenous," Bishop Reifsnider asserted. "It no longer is confined to the belief that Christianity is solely a Western religion. With this new belief has come the conception of an indigenous Christ in Japan. The Japanese church has come to see that Confucius, Buddha and all the great religious leaders were but spokesmen for Christ. It has accepted as its religious destiny the carrying of his message to its followers.

"While Japan is striving for financial independence, it is carrying this new faith to the outlying provinces, to Formosa, to the headhunters and the aborigines. Realization of this new conception is a fire that is sweeping the empire."

Bishop Reifsnider said political leaders were beginning to realize that Christianity was a stabilizing influence in Japan, the only "antidote against communism."

"Christianity in Japan," he asserted, "is the best insurance against war, for it is the breaker-down of prejudices and misunderstandings." —The New York Times.

Honorary Degree for Wallace

GAMMA PI, '10 HENRY A. WALLACE

Ames, Iowa—The Iowa State College of Agriculture, whose campus he left in 1910 as an honor graduate, conferred tonight on Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, its highest tribute, an honorary degree of Doctor of Science. Secretary Wallace returned to receive the degree and speak on corn breeding, an avid hobby with him since undergraduate days, at the closing meeting of a two-day conference of leading college and professional botanists.

Secretary Wallace, who is plain "Henry" to the throng of former classmates and faculty members who heard his address at the botanical dinner, had two degrees from the college by campus study. His third degree tonight, like that awarded his father, Henry C. Wallace, while the latter was Secretary of Agriculture twelve years ago, was in recognition for his achievements beyond the campus and textbooks. —The New York Herald-Tribune.

Senator Makes Headlines

GAMMA KAPPA, '13

BENNETT C. CLARK

Champ Clark's son, with the backing of former Senator Jim Reed, licked Boss Tom Pendergast of Kansas City two years ago and got into the United States Senate, indulged in occasional verbal tilts with Huey Long and made a place for himself by his name, his impressive bulk and his warm and charming personality.

But his independence toward the New Deal, since he voted against administration bills almost as often as for them, led to his being somewhat sidetracked in Washington until the Nye investigation of the munitions business came along.

This week it has been Senator Bennett Champ Clark who asked most of the embarrassing questions and caught the headlines with his pointed wisecracks at the expense of the submarine boatbuilders.

Senator Clark's career hasn't been hurt, to be sure, by the fact that his father was the great Champ Clark. From that position alone, of course, he gained an education from childhood in the maneuvers and personalities of inside politics. But he has stood on his own feet. For five years he served as expert parliamentarian for the House of Representatives.

He came out of the war as colonel of the Missouri National Guard regiment and was one of the original founders of the American Legion, of which he became National Commander. He practiced law in St. Louis, wrote a biography of John Quincy Adams, is an outstanding student and advocate of tariff reduction. He is 44 years old and looks like his famous father.—The New York World-Telegram.

Heads Merger Drive

MU, '87

EDWIN H. HUGHES

Spurred by economic pressure and determined to offer a united front against the liquor traffic and legalized gambling, the Methodist Church will make another effort to unite its three major groups, it was learned yesterday at the local headquarters of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 150 Fifth Avenue.

A committee of fifteen, headed by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Washington, has been appointed to draft a unification plan, which will be presented to representatives of the three groups in February at Cincinnati. The merger, which could hardly be consummated before 1944, would affect 4,500,000 communicants of the Methodist Episcopal Church proper, 3,000,000 communicants of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and 200,000 members of the Methodist Protestant Church.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

Senator Gets in Wrong

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

Washington.—Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, who spoke for the Democrats in every state where they eliminated a Republican Senator, was back in town today with a story of how he nearly broke his neck keeping an engagement only to find he had plenty of time to spare.

Forced to drive his car the 400 miles from Washington to Charleston, W. Va., where he thought he was to speak at 8 P.M., Barkley hit out at a fast clip and reached the city at 8:20. He speeded through the city, drove head-on into a curb stone, blew out two tires and bent the steering gear. He left his secretary with the car and "bummed" a ride from a farmer to the "speaking."

Barkley took one peep at the platform and ducked. It was a Republican rally.

"I pulled down my hat like a Dillinger and beat it unnoticed," Barkley sheepishly related, "grabbed a taxi and went to the Democratic meeting five blocks away.

Puffing heavily, he strode to the platform with profuse apologies.

"That's all right," he was told. "You don't speak until 9 o'clock."—The New York Sun.

Dinner to Railroad Executive

Men who have worked under J. P. Walker in Savannah for the past eight years paid him high tribute as a man, as a railroad executive, and as a friend, at a farewell dinner tendered him by Atlantic Coast Line Railroad employees at the Hotel Savannah.

Mr. Walker was recently promoted to superintendent of the Southern division of the railroad with headquarters in Jacksonville. In addition to expressing their admiration for Mr. Walker in vocal tribute, the Coast Line employees also displayed their affection for him by making him a present of a handsome silver meat platter and gravy bowl. In behalf of the employees of the northern district of the railroad, David S. Atkinson, company attorney, presented Mr. Walker the handsome silver service, which was suitably engraved.—The Savannah Morning News.

Math Prof Stays Young

DELTA, '03 HOBART H. WILLARD

Ann Arbor—When it takes Dr. Hobart H. Willard more than an hour to climb two miles up the side of a certain mountain out west, he'll know that he's getting old.

For the present, however, he's content to stay young and go on teaching what many students regard as "the toughest course on the University of Michigan campus."

The course is quantitative analysis—"quant" to those who struggle through it. It is the course which gave rise to much-discussed stories about "the Quant Forever Club," which never was actually organized although scores of students were eligible.

The requirement for membership was that the student must have flunked "quant" at least twice.

Dr. Willard, 53 years old, grayish around the temples, a nationally-known chemist and recently elected director of the American Chemical Society, virtually lives in his laboratory. He has passed up two sabbatical leaves to maintain contact with the graduate students working under him.

Dr. Willard has made it a practice to associate with people younger than he is. "It helps me keep young," he says.—The Detroit Free Press.

How Morrison Fooled 'Em

LAMBDA, '17

RAY MORRISON

Ray Morrison has the nearest thing to a perfect football system at Southern Methodist. It consists of the raucous ballyhooing of the Mustangs' passing game when his team's forte is actually its running attack. The trick, however, is possessing a baffling assortment of passes, too, just in case! Saturday the poor Fordhams seemed to be gazing anxiously at the heavens for the shower of Mustang passes while Bob Wilson, Harry Shuford, Johnny Sprague, Shelly Burt, and Jackrabbit Smith, star S.M.U. backs were scooting around, through and over the Ram line! The Mustangs attempted only seven forward passes, of which they completed three for eighty-five yards, throughout the game—but their running attack netted them gains totaling 306 yards!

To give you an idea how completely the Mustangs fool their opponents with their widely publicized passing game while they're soft-pedaling the blurbs on their superb running attack: Last year S.M.U. came North for a game with Syracuse. The Orange team, like Fordham, had been primed for defense against the renowned Mustang passes. So Morrison's tricky young men trounced Syracuse—without attempting a single pass throughout the game!—The Newark Star-Eagle.

Use Reason; Avoid Disease

PSI, '92

GEORGE W. CRILE

Chicago—By the proper exercise of reason, Dr. George W. Crile, noted Cleveland surgeon, believes, man should have the power to ward off nervous breakdowns, goiter, stomach ulcers, gallstones, one variety of diabetes, certain diseases of the heart and protruding eyes.

These ailments were described by Dr. Crile last night at the World's Fair program of the American College of Surgeons as the "diseases of civilization," which are rarely found in the lower order of man or in lower animals.

Their relatively high presence in civilization, he said he believed, resulted from the high development of the "energy system," consisting of the brain and thyroid gland.

He said surgery could bring a cure sometimes, when the sympathetic nerves connected to the adrenal gland is severed, thus preventing it from serving as an emotional whip to the body.

But he suggested what he termed a more hopeful and general non-surgical remedy. He said:

"Man cannot lessen his brain capacity, he cannot lessen his glandular power, but he has at his disposal the use of the finest tool civilization has wrought—namely, his reason. The civilized fraction of man should be able to control the wild fractions inherited from his long past."

Dr. Crile said Elizabeth Barrett Browning and other "brilliant invalids" of history were victims of a disease of civilization—neurocirculatory asthenia—where the person is brilliant in mental effort, although subject to symptoms of the ailment.—The Associated Press.

Gives a Historic Marker

KAPPA, '84

BION J. ARNOLD

Jeremiah Arnold was the first white man to settle at Hillsdale, Mich., in token of which his grandson, Bion J. Arnold, famous engineer, is purchasing a marker for the site of the house.

A Hillsdale newspaper says of Mr. Arnold:

Bion J. Arnold's first touch of international fame came over forty years ago when he designed and built the Intramural Elevated Railway of the Columbian Exposition. This was the first commercial installation of the third rail on a large scale and led to a wide practice as consulting engineer for steam and electric railways. He was, for instance, the first to recognize the merits of and to put into practice the automatic substation for electric railways which is now so generally used. He has been a member of innumerable commissions for cities and states and railway companies. In Chicago, his home, he is probably best known to non-engineers as Chief Engineer and Chairman of the Board of Supervising Engineers, which directs all activities of street and elevated railways in that city. This is a position which he has held for twenty-seven years.

His interest in aeronautics has been purely non-commercial, and began in 1889; he was a member of the committee on aeronautics at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. Later he organized the air board of Chicago, with the object of making Chicago a flying center. This work was taken over by the Association of Commerce and has resulted in the ever-increasing interest in Chicago in aviation.

Mr. Arnold has a distinguished war record, ending in his promotion to Colonel in 1919, and Colonel Auxiliary Corps, Army of United States, in 1925, a commission which he now holds. He is also a member of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States. He is a past president of the Western Society of Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and his memberships in various societies make a long list.

In 1929 the Washington Award for Pre-eminent Service was presented to him in Chicago. To quote John A. Garcia, president of the Western Society of Engineers: "Mr. Arnold, you now have no more hurdles to jump. You have finished a magnificent race. . . . You have won the highest honor in the gift of the Western Society of Engineers, a body of some 3,000 men, and you have won it in competition with the best men we could find in the United States to put up against you. The Commission of the Award is made up not only of the Western Society of Engineers, but of representatives of the four national or founder societies of civil, mechanical, electrical, and mining engineers, so that this honor comes to you in recognition of your professional attainments and your character as a man from your engineering brethren all over this broad land."

Sees New Social Era

GAMMA THETA, '11

GEORGE S. COUNTS

The people of the United States are facing a crisis in their social, political, economic, and family life, according to Professor George S. Counts of Teachers College, in a report entitled Social Foundations of Education published today as a part of a five-year survey on the social studies, made for the American Historical Society under a grant by the Carnegie Foundation.

A "searching examination" of the American economic system shows that the basic institutions and presuppositions of individualism either have been abandoned, destroyed or profoundly modified by the rise of industrial society, Dr. Counts declares. He asserts that America already has entered an era of collectivism that will include a greater degree of social upbuilding.

This report follows the recently published conclusions of the Commission on Social Studies of the American Historical Association. At that time the commission urged educators to help the American people adjust themselves to the emerging collectivist society through a realistic approach to economic and social problems in high schools and colleges.

According to Dr. Counts, the American public schools, led by militant and capable teachers, must definitely take sides in the struggle between property rights and human rights, and must throw in their lot "with the mass of the people."

Tracing the growth of the country from its inception to the present day, he sees "a heavy gap between the democratic ideals as laid down by Washington and Jefferson, and the conditions existing under our 'captains of industry.'"

"The age of individualism in economy—the age that nurtured the young Republic—is patently drawing to a close," he declares. "The age of corporate, social, or collective action in economy is opening. The modern corporation may be regarded as almost symbolic of the decline of the rôle of the individual in economy."

Dr. Counts calls on leaders in the educational fields to "bring the mentality of the American people in accord with their surroundings and to prepare them for life under profoundly altered circumstances."—The New York Times.

S. S. Mississippi on his first inspection of flood-control and channel-maintenance work.

"We still have the same old Constitution, the three co-ordinated branches of government, and we still have the Supreme Court," Secretary Dern said. "Public opinion is still the leader of this country and Congress keeps its ear to the ground to hear what public opinion wants."

"There has been no usurpation of power or authority by the executive department and there can be none without a violent revolution, which we have not had and which we are not going to have."—The New York Times.

He declared that the industrial achievements of the Soviet were "amazing" and that the Russians deserved great credit for "turning peasants into skillful mechanics."—The New York Times.

Demands Farm Income Rise

GAMMA PI, '10

HENRY A. WALLACE

About one-fourth of any gain in national income must go into the pockets of the farmer if higher general income levels are to be maintained, Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, declared last night, speaking to the Agricultural Conference of Northeastern States at a meeting in the Hotel Victoria.

This gain in farm income, he declared, must be complemented by control over, or co-ordination of, any expansion of agricultural production. Otherwise, he contended, the gains in farm income would soon vanish.

In his discussion of the general agricultural problem Secretary Wallace distinguished between the problem of the Northeastern States, with their emphasis of production for domestic markets, and the Western and South-eastern States, which produce export products. The latter areas, he pointed out, had suffered most severely from the depression and had come back more slowly than the northeastern group.

Stressing the need that all farmers receive a "fair share" of the national income, Secretary Wallace defined the phrase generally.

"Farmers will have a fair share of the national income," he said, "when their share is sufficient to maintain a flow of production in balance with the needs of a maximum consumption, to provide for decent human living and to achieve these ends without impoverishing the soil."

The farm share of the national income, he said, was now about 9½ per cent, but should be about 13 per cent. The downward trend in the farm share, he added, has been reversed, mainly because of Federal policy and the AAA.

The national income is now about $50,000,000,000 a year, Secretary Wallace declared. Assuming that it would rise to about $70,000,000,000, he estimated the farmers' "fair share" of the increase at about $5,000,000,000.—The New York Times.

HOWELL CULLINAN

Pardon My Accent. By Howell Cullinan. The Plimpton Press, Norwood, Mass.

In the days of extensive newspaper broadcasting Howell Cullinan was known by voice, if not in person, to thousands and thousands of New Englanders. For eight or more years he was on the air. Now he has accepted leave to print. The result is a readable, informative book entitled Pardon My Accent, in which he "apologizes, points with pride, and views with alarm."

The book, in reality, is a combination confessional and autobiography. It details the author's experiences not only as a newspaperman, but as a radio news announcer and public speaker before various and sundry organizations. There's a fine vein of humor running through it. There are funny stories about what happened to other people. There are funny stories about what happened to the author. If Mr. Cullinan's many friends want to see him self-revealed, Pardon My Accent gives them their opportunity.—The Boston Transcript.

With his sympathetic voice, his individual way of announcing deaths and the progress of the seasons by the first appearance of flowers in gardens around Boston, Mr. Cullinan is probably the most popular news announcer in Boston. He receives no less than five letters a day from fans and a thousand cards and messages at Christmas time.—The Microphone.

ERNEST HAYCOX

Rough Air. By Ernest Haycox. Doubleday, Doran & Co., Garden City, L.I.

Jim Breed belonged to the love 'em and leave 'em school of romance, and the fact that he was a daring pilot and dashing fellow kept him at the head of his class. When he spreads his wings the butterflies flutter. As one of them remarked, "Jim, the world is full of pretty girls. You're just taking me in your stride." From that angle, Rough Air is just about what you expect, but the flying stuff is first-rate excitement, and very well written.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

DON WILKIE

American Secret Service Agent. By Don Wilkie. Frederick A. Stokes Co., New York.

The author make an informative point in the first chapter of this book. Contrary to popular belief, he writes, the United States Service is not a single department under which work all detectives engaged in government assignments. There are eighteen distinct bureaus of Federal investigation, and even the famed special agents of the Department of Justice are not Secret Service. The latter was organized in 1862 for war espionage. After Appomattox, it was retained to safeguard the currency and has ever since been a part of the Treasury. Its services, however, are loaned to other departments when they have a particularly hard nut to crack.

Don Wilkie lays no claim to being as great a detective as was his father, John E. Wilkie, chief of the Secret Service for sixteen years. The real hero of the sections devoted to peacetime activities is the elder Wilkie, to whom the volume is emotionally dedicated as "my blessed dad." A sworn enemy of favoritism, the chief refused to appoint Don an agent until at the age of twenty-one the lad forced his hand by submitting recommendations from Theodore Roosevelt, the Vice-President, Cabinet members and Congressmen. Then, to salve his Scotch conscience, John Wilkie broke in the recruit with a series of assignments far tougher than the average.

New light is thrown upon the assassination of McKinley. There was no legal provision at that time for guarding the President, and the Secret Service acted unofficially. At Buffalo on the fatal day, a prominent man insisted on standing at McKinley's right and shunting the operatives to the left, where it would be difficult for them to observe the hands of those who approached. How naïve this seems, in view of the precautions that are taken today! But there was a second and still more disastrous intrusion of chance. The man who preceded Czolgosz looked highly suspicious, with a glowering face and a hand bandaged as if to conceal a revolver. He was later proved not to have been a confederate, but the agents concentrated their attention upon him, and the assassin seized his opportunity to fire unhindered.

But this author has a regular detective's mania for aliases. In the course of his thrilling World War reminiscences, he describes a super-spy whom he calls Lady Peggy. Wilkie met her in London and brought about her unmasking, conviction and execution in the Tower. He considered her more clever and more dangerous than Mata Hari. I badly want to know, however, who this Lady Peggy was. I have been under the impression that England refrained from shooting female spies.

I am startled, also, by Wilkie's assertion that his voyage back to America in 1918 was safe, because "for four war-torn years no ship of the Compagnie Générale Transatlantique had ever been a target for enemy submarines." He traveled on S. S. Espagne, observed that no precautions were taken and even concluded that the boat identified herself in the danger zone at night by means of a peculiar signal.

It happens that early in 1917 I made a voyage from Bordeaux to New York on the Espagne. Two torpedoes were fired at her in the Bay of Biscay, and for six hours on a certain morning we were chased by the surface raider Moewe.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

GEORGE F. ZIMMER

K-7; Spies at War. As Told to Burke Boyce by George F. Zimmer. D. Appleton-Century Co., New York.

There are some good yarns in this book, but the stamp of radio popularization is upon most of them. "K-7," the rapid-fire teller of spy tales over the air reveals himself for the first time as George F. Zimmer, head of the Photographic Division of U. S. Naval Intelligence during the World War. The title page admits frankly that Burke Boyce writes Mr. Zimmer's stuff for him, and the blurb on the dust jacket informs us that Mr. Boyce is chief continuity writer of the National Broadcasting Company.

This set-up led to doubt from the start whether the stories would prove to be a pungent addition to the literature of espionage. You have to be careful what you tell over the radio. You can't risk shocking the nerves of the susceptible.

So I was not astonished to encounter the perfect Pollyanna formula in Mr. Zimmer's first two stories. "Secret Ink" is a Scottish idyl, no less. The daughter of the house is soft on the mysterious lodger, and wroth at honest Alex for his outspokenness on the subject of the war. They are caught in a rainstorm. The lodger embraces Babs—yes, that is her name—and behold, the buttons of his coat leave stains upon her wet dress. It turns out that the buttons are impregnated with secret ink. A spy is unmasked. Babs becomes engaged to Alex, and the latter is inspired to enlist in his country's service.

In The Swimmer, a Belgian girl pumps German officers for information. "She did not have to sell her lithe young body, and she had no notion of doing so. She proceeded on the theory that there is always one thing more interesting to a man than any woman: himself. She got what she wanted, and for it she gave no more than rapt and flattering attention." There's a champion female spy for you.

The gypsy fiddler and the girl of the listening well are characters that live in the memory. And the account of the executions at Pskov during the civil war between Red and White Russians contains a macabre punch. The Whites, it seems, had a pleasant way of forcing condemned men to hang themselves.

Each of the stories is introduced with a page or two of terse remarks on war espionage. These prefaces reveal Mr. Zimmer at his best. He visited all fronts, and was also an observer with the Allied fleets. His grasp of his subject is broad, and it is intelligent. I wish, however, that the important Caporetto disaster in Italy had not been treated through several pages to the weird name of "Corpretto."—The New York Herald-Tribune.

ALPHA, '93 FREDERICK PALMER

Bliss, Peacemaker: The Life and Letters of General Tasker Howard Bliss. By Frederick Palmer. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.

The qualifications of Colonel Frederick Palmer for a biographical work dealing with the career of General Bliss are of a high order. He, like his subject a Pennsylvanian, is a graduate of one of those colleges in the hills where the simple life is lived and ethical standards of character are taught. Frederick Palmer has also, as a correspondent in the field, become a veteran, and knows what war is, at its best and at its worst. He has had a large acquaintance among American soldiers, and enjoyed the confidence of their commanders. He is the dean of American war correspondents. Of the books written by him, "Newton D. Baker—America at War" has given him, in preparing it, an intimate knowledge of the association of General Bliss with the Secretary of War who so ably justified President Wilson's faith in him.

It is rather unusual for an author to begin with the funeral of the great man he writes about for the information of posterity. But in this case it seems appropriate. In a quiet street between main avenues in Washington soldiers, diplomats, jurists, scholars and statesmen had gathered to pay their respects to the memory of Tasker Howard Bliss. A flag-draped caisson waited before the house. Bliss had passed away at a ripe age, and much was heard about his worth and character. The most touching incident of the occasion was the pausing of General Hugh L. Scott before the casket and his farewell to the friend of a lifetime:

"We were classmates. He was chief of staff and I was chief of staff. In the old days of the West when I toiled along the trail at war with the Indians, or trying to keep peace with the Indians, I always wanted a mountain in sight for my guide. Bliss was the mountain on my life's trail. Good-bye!"

Nothing could have been more tender and more apposite. In his wisdom and honesty of purpose Tasker H. Bliss had been sage, mentor and friend to his fellow-officers and to public men whom he had been called upon to serve in various capacities. Four words from Horace on a fly-leaf epitomize the value of Bliss to his countrymen: "Dare to be wise." He may sometimes have kept silence in the stress of controversy as the better course, but when he spoke it was to a purpose and he spoke his honest conviction. He seems to have always rung true. He never failed to impress the statesman he clashed with in negotiations for the conduct of the war in France and later in the parleys for peace. He was a mountain of a man physically and mentally. Early in the narrative Mr. Palmer sums up Tasker H. Bliss:

"He was really a great, capacious, lovable human being who never forgot that he was just another human being himself; that while there are so many human beings of so many kinds in the world one ought never to trifle long with the personal doctrine of the infallibility of his own judgments, and that one never ought to yield his convictions where common honesty or immemorial principles are at stake."

The letters of Tasker Bliss are really worthy of a separate volume, but the biographer makes frequent and timely use of them. In talking about the "Peacemaker," as Colonel Palmer calls him on the title page, army officers say that he was more diplomat and economist than commander of troops, but Tasker Bliss rose through all grades to general and chief of staff, and acquainted himself handsomely in every rank and "detail." When the World War came he earnestly desired a command in the field, but, as it turned out, destiny had reserved for him a far greater distinction than he could have won at the head of a division or even an army corps.—The New York Times.

Pitt Collects Silverware

It is part of the trophy collection of Gamma Sigma Chapter, at the University of Pittsburgh. In 1933-34 the chapter entered ten interfraternity contests and came home winners in seven of them. The assortment on the mantel is the loot from this one year.

Down below is the rest of the silverware that has floated in from other years.

Don't ask for information about the horse-shoe.

We are proud . . . of our sixty-four years of service to the National Fraternities and Sororities

In our Vaults are Stored the Original Badge Dies of many Organizations who now can claim a Record of Fifty Years and More of Uninterrupted and Successful Existence.

WE ARE PROUD

. . . of our reputation for producing "The Most Beautiful Fraternity Jewelry in America"—a reputation founded upon beauty of design, flawless workmanship, the most perfect jewels procurable, and a personal pride in producing fraternity jewelry beyond comparison.

. . . of our prompt and accurate service. Our speedy deliveries are made possible because of our unusually favorable geographical location.

. . . of our office, mail order department, shipping and plant systems. These are so efficient, so smooth in operation and so free of red tape that they have actually, with our permission, been copied in every detail by several large industries located in and near the City of Detroit.

. . . of our complete understanding and appreciation of the problems and requirements of the chapters and individual members of your Fraternity. Every Executive and Officer of our Company is a member of a National Fraternity or Sorority.

. . . of all these features which are responsible for our election as YOUR OFFICIAL JEWELERS. . . WE ARE PROUD of our appointment to serve you and the other members of DELTA TAU DELTA.

HAVE YOU SECURED YOUR COPY?

The twelfth (1930) edition of the only directory of American College Fraternities published is ready for distribution. Thoroughly revised and brought up to the minute by Dr. Francis W. Shepardson, the editor, the book is a valuable reference work that should be in every fraternity house and on every fraternity worker's desk. It contains a short history, complete chapter directory, and list of famous members, of every fraternity; a short history of the fraternity movement; a list of colleges and universities and the fraternities located there; and a history of interfraternity movements, and of the present organizations.

BAIRD'S MANUAL of American College Fraternities

ALONE IN QUALITY

The ancient jewelry craftsman, following in the steps of his father and grandfather before him, prided himself on his handiwork which stood alone in its high quality and fine craftsmanship.

Just as in the manufacture of your own fraternity badge today, the old craftsman was satisfied only with the best materials obtainable and through his years of experience put forth his skill to fashion fine gold, silver, and precious stones into jewelry which was truly beautiful and which would be a worthy symbol of all that is fine, permanent, and beautiful.

Balfour craftsmen today create your fraternity badges, keys, and rings, adding those finishing touches by hand which set such jewelry on a plane high above ordinary insignia and personal accessories in a class alone in quality.
