Making Democracy Work

By Paul G. Hoffman, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '12

President of Delta Tau Delta

Commencement Address to Lyons Township High School, La Grange, Illinois

THIRTY-THREE years have passed since I received my diploma from the Lyons Township High School. The world of 1907 was quite different from that of 1940. The automobile was a rich man's toy; the airplane was a treacherous, motor-driven kite, and radio was just a dream. Today, there are thirty million motor cars and trucks in the United States alone. Our mode of life has been completely changed by this advance in individual transportation. We travel overnight from New York to Los Angeles by airplane and think nothing of it. As a matter of fact, overnight transportation from the United States to Europe is just around the corner. We sit in our own homes and accept, as a matter of course, radio reports from a half-dozen capitals of Europe with the latest news events. In a hundred other ways, life is changed. The pace is faster. We now talk of billions instead of millions. But these differences are superficial. From a larger perspective, the most vital and fundamental change between the scene in 1907 and that in 1940 lies in the fact that the doctrine that man as an individual has certain inalienable rights is no longer the dominant philosophy. It has been outlawed in many nations, and it is on the defensive everywhere. Back in 1907 it would have been difficult to find a single American who did not believe that it was just a matter of time before the democratic way of life and its concomitants of civil liberty, religious freedom, and free private enterprise would sweep the world. Today the most challenging world question is whether civil liberty, religious freedom, and free private enterprise may not be swept out of the world.

It seems desperately unfair to propound such a question to you young men and women who are just graduating from high school. I assure you that I would much prefer talking in a lighter vein and letting you off with a few wisecracks interspersed with words of advice which I would not expect you to heed.

PAUL G. HOFFMAN

But, after all, the world of tomorrow is your world and you have a tremendous stake in contributing what you can to the maintenance of free institutions in these United States.

Since the World War, democracy, which presumably was to have been saved, has been fighting a losing battle with dictatorship. Modern Caesars hold up to ridicule the idea that a government of the people, by the people, and for the people can flourish on this earth. By clever intrigue and manipulation they seized control of the governments of their own countries. In Russia, Stalin's establishment of himself as a supreme dictator merely signified a change in masters; but in Italy and Germany, the rise to power of Mussolini and Hitler resulted in the enslavement of once free peoples. When this had been accomplished, military conquest of other nations followed quite naturally. Dictators must have victory parades to keep their own nationals under the yoke. Within the recent past, as a result of military conquests, the once free peoples of Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, and Finland, are dominated by a foreign power. As we sit here tonight, the freedom of England, France, Sweden, and Switzerland is similarly threatened. These events hold a lesson for America. Two questions demand an answer. First, why did the German and Italian peoples surrender their liberties? Second, what made possible the conquest of the galaxy of peace-loving nations?

The answer to the second question as to why many of the European democracies have been conquered and all are in jeopardy, is crystal clear. They were not adequately prepared to defend themselves against attack. Let us not allow this tragic lesson to be lost so far as we are concerned. We must become mightier in a military sense than are those who believe that might makes right. We must not rest until our fleet is the largest and most powerful in the world. We must meet the challenge of air power with greater air power. We must arm ourselves as no nation has ever been armed. Ships and planes and cannons are the only arguments dictators respect. From an economic standpoint, such a preparedness program means wasted billions; but without liberty, all our wealth is but a shadow.

Preparedness? Yes! It is an essential guarantee against the loss of our liberties by aggression from without. Let no one think, however, that it provides a complete answer to the problem of preserving our democratic institutions, or what we so fondly call "The American Way of Life." It wasn't aggression from without that has enslaved the Italian and German peoples. Their liberties were lost because democracy was not working well in either country. National income was low and distributed inequitably, class was arrayed against class, and governmental extravagance was burdening all the people with excessive taxation. This led to a spirit of futility and frustration which provided the ideal opportunity for Messrs. Mussolini and Hitler to peddle their spurious wares and "muscle in" on the government. By violent flagwaving, by the use of special privilege to powerful groups, and by the adroit use of gangster methods, they rose to power. Once in power, they took unto themselves all privilege, and by the use of force put an end to all opposition.

What were these wares which the dictators sold to the people under the glittering names of fascism and nazism? Nothing but old poison in new bottles. Nothing but the ancient idea that ambitious rulers can somehow order the affairs of mankind better than individual men and women can order their own affairs. It is so old that almost every battle ever fought on behalf of human liberties has been fought for the purpose of defeating it.

Editor's Note: Delta Tau Delta's president, Paul G. Hoffman, is president of The Studebaker Corporation.

The concern of this Good Delt over the subject about which he speaks in this address cannot but help make all of us appreciate all the more the magnitude of influence which he carries for the youth of today.

His career reads like the storybook episodes of self-made men, starting at the bottom and working to the top with a confidence in his community and his country that they would only return to him in proportion to his contribution. His presentation always carries a sparkle in expression which makes all of us recognize that his mind is not merely speaking words of advice to which we can listen and forget, but that his words carry a message which is tried and true and shall not be forgotten a generation hence any more than the present generation shall junk this type of philosophy as out of date.

Democracy has not been working any too well in America during the past two decades. The fictitious prosperity in the late twenties was followed by a depression from which we have not yet recovered. Instead of unity, we have had strife; instead of fighting for the commonweal, we have been fighting each other. Millions of men who wanted work have been unable to find it, and billions of dollars seeking investment have lain idle. For more than a decade our National Budget has been unbalanced despite constantly mounting taxes. These ills of our internal economy must be cured if democratic institutions are to be saved. If the preparedness program should result in diverting attention from this task, we may awake to find that our liberties, which we were spending billions to safeguard from outside attack, have been lost from intentional or unintentional sabotage inside our commonwealth. There is no reason why this should happen. If the present emergency brings some change of attitude on the part of our leaders and our people, we can at one and the same time both prepare against aggression and so fortify our internal economy that democracy will function in these United States and function well.

Making democracy function well is a tough job. The problem grows out of the basic concept of democracy that there should be a maximum of individual freedom and that persuasion rather than coercion should be the guiding force. A combination of a genuinely patriotic and inspired leadership and an industrious, intelligent, and self-reliant citizenship is needed to get results under such a system. For too long a time here in the United States, not all but some of our leaders have let us down; not all but some of our citizens have forgotten that the government cannot support the people—the people must support the government. In this hour of stress, both our people and our leaders must face the obligations that freedom imposes upon them and meet them squarely.

The first requisite is that the leaders of all groups must, first of all, be Americans. An American first—a business leader second. An American first—a labor leader second. An American first—a farm leader second. And, finally, an American first and a political officeholder second. Almost all the difficulties that beset us trace back to the spirit of grab and get on the part of leaders of pressure groups who have overlooked the fact that the special privilege of one group menaces the liberty of all.

As a second requisite, I would suggest that leaders in each group recognize the importance of protecting other groups from any encroachment upon their rightful freedom from whatever source it may come. Let me illustrate what I mean. Segments of business have asked for freedom for themselves but would deny labor the right of collective bargaining. Certain labor leaders have demanded complete freedom of action for labor but would have business put under government control. The fact is, government domination for one group in our economy eventually means the domination of all. In Russia, the labor group thought they could liquidate the employer group and still maintain liberty for themselves. They know now that enslavement for one group is slavery for all. In Germany, business men thought that the government control of labor would solve the problem they were having with labor unions. Today, they find that the last trace of their own freedom has vanished. Patrick Henry did not go far enough when he said: "Give me liberty or give me death." He might better have said: "Give us liberty or give us death."

The third requisite is that leaders in all groups must take into account the necessity of a steadily increasing standard of living for all the people and not for just their special groups. The time-tried formula of better goods for less money remains the best answer to that problem. When business leaders engage in monopolistic practices that have as their objective price-fixing and production controls, when labor leaders demand excessive hourly rates or defend senseless regulations that add unnecessarily to the production costs, when farm leaders urge upon us an economy of scarcity, and, finally, when political leaders, by legislation and regulation, interfere with economic processes and thus shackle free enterprise, they are taking us away from and not toward the more abundant life.

As a fourth requisite, we the people, each and every one of us—and I mean particularly you young people—must accept our share of the responsibility for making democracy function. Mark Sullivan put his finger on our danger just the other day when he pointed out that in the dictator countries there is zeal to make their systems work. Here in the United States, he said, too many of us are "tepid, take-it-for-granted" workers. And Sullivan is right. The only real strength in the totalitarian movements is the fact that they are backed by zealous, fanatical devotees. And that's where you young people come into this picture, because the communist, fascist, and nazi movements are essentially youth movements. It is the fanatical and misguided boys of eighteen, nineteen, and twenty who are laying down their lives for their leaders.

What I am trying to say is that we need leaders and citizens who are not only willing to die for their country but also to so order their lives that democratic institutions can live and flourish. It takes one kind of courage to face the hell of modern warfare; another of an equally high order to battle against the dangers that threaten our liberties. We need zealots for democracy today. Articulate enthusiasts—competent enthusiasts—enthusiasts who will do their share in making democracy work. We need fighting believers in free government—men and women who will place self-reliance and individual integrity ahead of wishful thinking and self-interest.

Are these changed attitudes on the part of our people and leaders beyond realization? Decidedly no! Every crisis in the past has called forth a response sufficient to meet the need. It is when the going gets tough that the American genius for coöperation asserts itself most effectively. What we have done before, we will do again. Then watch things happen!

In a recent publication of the sober and somber Bureau of Census appears this authoritative statement: "The great social and economic problems of the United States seem puny when measured against her vast resources." How right they are! Those who bemoan the fact that our physical frontiers have been reached, forget that the opening of new territory has contributed little or nothing to our progress for the past forty years. It was the inventors and scientists who gave us the automobile, the airplane, the radio, and a thousand other new developments which added tens of billions of dollars to our national income. Today, fifty thousand men and women are employed in industrial laboratories alone and thousands of scientists are working in our great universities. As a result, not an hour goes by that does not bring with it an extension of the boundaries of usable knowledge.

Strange as it may seem, Hitler has given us a demonstration we should heed. By taking advantage of scientific research and by making full use of modern facilities, he has shown that it is possible to wage a war of new destructiveness. The fact that his genius is evil and his objective vicious should not blind us to his accomplishments. Let us remember, rather, that his resources and his facilities for research do not compare with ours. Let us determine to take even fuller advantage of our great opportunities for constructive and not destructive purposes. Let us show what a free people, working under inspired leadership, can do. That is all that is needed to insure for America a future that is blindingly bright, a future in which you young men and women will have opportunities far greater than any in the past—an America which is an even better place in which to live.

Delta Tau Delta is not a democratic fraternity, if democracy means an equal right to join our ranks. Our ambition is to be an aristocracy of the high-minded and the clean-souled; of men with a serious purpose in life, who will not be satisfied to leave their college, or their community, or their country, except it be the better for their having been of it; of men who do not measure success in terms of things tangible, but who accept opportunities and the reward for their efforts only as evidence of added responsibility.

The Chapter Advisers

By Charles T. Boyd, Gamma Omega (North Carolina), '21

Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta

THE Fraternity pays tribute to its chapter advisers. These are the men who throughout the years have been giving their time and thought in the performance of one of the most necessary and important pieces of work in our Fraternity administration. They are the unsung heroes of the organization, men who have been carrying on faithfully, without the recognition that is justly due them. Their pictures appear in this number so that the readers may become acquainted with them. The purpose of this article is to explain briefly the chapter adviser system.

Each of our seventy-five chapters has an adviser. Some are older men, long in the service of the Fraternity, and long in the service of the chapters which they counsel. Others are younger men, only a short time out of college. No attempt is made to appoint advisers on the basis of age, as age alone does not furnish any satisfactory standard of qualification. The Fraternity naturally wishes to obtain as advisers men who are capable, interested, and loyal, and who are in a position to give the time necessary for the discharge of the duties of the office. Ordinarily an adviser can better serve the chapter when he resides in the community in which the college and chapter are located, but occasionally it is impossible to find an adviser in such community, and it is necessary to procure one who lives farther away. These men are due additional credit because distance imposes additional requirements in time and energy.

Appointments are made by the Vice-President of the Fraternity on the recommendation of the Division President who takes into consideration the wishes and desires of the chapter and the recommendation of the retiring adviser. It is essential that the adviser be able to work harmoniously with the chapter. He must have the respect and confidence of the undergraduates. In most cases the chapter and outgoing adviser are able to make a satisfactory recommendation to the Division President who in turn submits the name to the Vice-President.

Appointments are not made for any definite term. Generally, the chapter is glad to avail itself of the services of the adviser as long as he can continue to serve. Many men are able to serve only for short periods of time on account of the demands of their own affairs, change of residence and other causes.

In broad outline, the function of the adviser is what the name of his office implies. It is his duty to counsel all of the chapter's operations. It should always be remembered that men come into the Fraternity at an early age. They do not possess maturity and should not be expected to possess it. Yet the successful administration of a fraternity chapter involves many problems of business and of judgment that require mature handling. To meet this need we give the chapter an older man to assist it and to guide it. It is quite obvious that such service is of the highest importance to the welfare of the chapter and, since the whole Fraternity consists of the chapters and their alumni, such service is of the highest importance to the entire Fraternity.

The work of the adviser is not limited to general counsel, but involves many detailed duties. In order that the Fraternity at large may know something about these duties, the more important ones are enumerated.

1. The adviser is a member of the chapter finance committee and gives close attention to the final approval of the budget. The Fraternity has set up a most adequate system of internal organization and management. We recognize the importance of sound finance, the foundation stone of which is the budget system.

2. As a member of the finance committee the adviser keeps in close contact with the financial operations of the chapter from month to month. The finance committee is one of the most important committees in the chapter and it can be made a very effective force in the interest of the chapter if close attention is given to its work. Semi-monthly meetings should be held by the committee and more often if necessary.

3. The finance committee is also the auditing committee of the chapter, and once each month the committee examines carefully the books and financial records of the treasurer and the monthly financial report. All members of the finance committee, including the adviser, sign the monthly financial report.

4. The finance committee hears cases of financial delinquency. Great improvement has been shown along this line in recent years with receivables being cut in half. If the finance committee functions and goes into each delinquent case immediately after it becomes delinquent, the chances for a better record are improved.

5. The adviser knows thoroughly the scholastic requirements with reference to initiation. If the adviser is in doubt he directs a letter to the Supervisor of Scholarship. He personally determines that every candidate initiated has qualified scholastically before the initiation ceremonies are held.

6. Letters to parents of pledges, together with the financial statements of the member's obligations for the current year, are mailed promptly after the formal pledging. This is a most important point, as satisfactory relations must be maintained with all parents or guardians. The circle of the Fraternity's influence is not limited to our members alone; it extends beyond to the parents and families of the members and to their friends.

7. The adviser personally conducts the O. M. ceremonies and the installation of new officers.

8. The adviser reads The C—, the esoteric publication, in chapter meetings.

9. The adviser personally conducts the annual Fraternity Examination, organizing quiz classes well in advance of the Examination so that the men will be properly prepared. The purpose of the Examination is to give the new men a background with respect to the Fraternity, its origin, history, purposes, ritual, organization, and administration. A man can hardly be expected to develop a deep and abiding loyalty to an organization that he knows nothing about. Hence the importance of a study of this background, the results of which study are reflected in the Examination paper.

10. The adviser attends at least two chapter meetings a month. It is quite obvious that an adviser must meet with the men in their regular meetings in order that his service may have the greatest usefulness to them.

11. One of the most important duties of the adviser is to coordinate the work of the house corporation and the undergraduate chapter. He should see to it that the chapter is fully informed as to the house corporation's financial condition and generally as to its plans. The adviser can be an important liaison between these two groups.

12. The chapter adviser is in a position to teach the actives the proper relationship between the chapter and the National Fraternity. This relationship really involves the application of the principle of local self-government. In this field the Fraternity has done very well indeed. We have developed a strong National group without sacrificing either the theory or practice of local self-government in the chapters. We have to meet local conditions and at the same time we have to insist upon the observance of certain rules and regulations which are an essential part of our system. Undoubtedly,  $\Delta T \Delta$  has done a great deal in amalgamating its chapters into a strong, cosmopolitan organization, even though that organization is comprised of varying groups in varying localities. There is no inconsistency between the idea of strong local units and a strong National Fraternity. Just here the adviser, by the use of time and patience, can do a great deal to instill into the minds of the actives the thought that the interests of the chapters and the interests of the National Fraternity are ultimately the same, and can best be achieved by faithful collaboration.

From the foregoing enumeration it can be seen that the chapter adviser holds a post of tremendous responsibility in connection with the affairs of a group of young men who are seeking to get the most they can out of their college life. He should be wise and tolerant, yet firm; he should supervise without attempting to perform detail himself; he should preach loyalty and devotion to the Fraternity, and at the same time not exclude other worth while organizations; he is the man who can help us most as we seek to reach the objectives of the Fraternity.

Geographical Redistribution of Delta Tau Delta

THE advantages and disadvantages of adjustments in the geographical distribution of the Fraternity have been under study for a number of years. It has been the aim to equalize the number of chapters in the four Divisions without destroying the historical significance—an aim which met with considerable complications.

The Western Division has been the largest from the standpoint of territory. This distinction remains even though the recent changes have reduced the number of chapters so that in this standard of measurement the ranking dropped from first to third.

The growth of educational institutions in various sections of the country has been the cause of two changes in the Division line-ups during the '30's. Oklahoma and Texas chapters sought transfer from the Southern Division to the Western Division. The transfer was approved by the legislative body of the Fraternity, the Karnea, following the presentation of a most logical argument: that inter-college competition for institutions in these two states was confined for the most part to institutions whose  $\Delta T \Delta$  chapters were members of the Western Division. These changes only magnified the need for changes to reduce the number of chapters in the Western Division so that Division officers would not be confronted with unwieldy numbers. Actually the number of chapters was of secondary importance. Primary factors were the great distances between many of the chapters which took much time on the part of Division officers and which reduced the time available to work with the undergraduate groups.

At first thought it might seem that an easy and logical method of correcting the situation in the Western Division would have been to divide the Division into two sections, east and west, and add a fifth Division to the Fraternity line-up. It is true, this would be a simple method and it would have many advantages which have not been realized by the recent changes. Second thought on this suggestion, however, brings to attention that such a method would have required complete revision of the esoteric design of  $\Delta T \Delta$ .

The Southern Division could not be called upon to take in more territory for the reason that Texas and Oklahoma found it desirable to transfer to the Western Division. The only other next-door neighbor to the Western was the Northern Division. Previously, the Northern Division was comprised of three states, Michigan, Indiana, and school through the inclusion of "that part of Iowa east of the meridian twenty-five miles west of Iowa City."

The new line-up was presented by the Constitution and Laws Committee of the Fifty-Fifth Karnea with reservations. It is not fool-proof, so to speak, as recent consideration of the addition of the University of Nebraska or the University of Pittsburgh to the Big Ten bears out.

The suggestion was accepted by the Karnea and later presented to the undergraduate chapters for ratification. The amendment to the Constitution became permanent April 1, 1940.

As one writer aptly remarked: "It was definitely not a blitzkrieg." Time for the change was not measured in days but in years. All parties have indicated satisfaction. Alumni of the chapters figuring in the transfer will find no changes in returning for Homecoming except that reference to the Division line-up may be Northern rather than Western and vice versa.

One other change included which does not transfer any chapter is that the Eastern Division, which formerly included all of the Dominion of Canada, now includes "that part of the Dominion of Canada east of Manitoba." The Western Division now includes "all of the Dominion of Canada west of Ontario."

A map of undergraduate  $\Delta T \Delta$  appears as the frontispiece. In preparing such a map it is difficult to give all of the information in which our readers may be interested. Concentration of the chapter population in certain sections limited identification to the Greek name and location and this policy was carried throughout for uniformity. A complete directory of the undergraduate chapters will be found in the back of each number of THE RAINBOW, giving the Greek name, the college or university name, and the geographical location. For those who have forgotten their Greek we present the full Greek alphabet on this page.

Ohio, with a total of fifteen chapters.

Studies of the college and university activities of the nearby states brought to attention that for the most part the institutions in Illinois and Wisconsin were competing with Northern Division institutions. It was found that all Big Ten schools with the exception of Iowa and Minnesota would be included in such a revision. The long standing of the Big Ten offered a basis for the final revision. Illinois and Wisconsin have become Northern Division states. The University of Minnesota is now a Northern Division school through the new Constitutional amendment including "that part of Minnesota within twenty-five miles of Minneapolis or St. Paul." The University of Iowa has become a Northern Division

▼ THE DELT HOUSE-SYSTEM ▼

By KURT F. PANTZER, Supervisor of Scholarship

It has now been a full college year since the Fifty-fifth Karnea unanimously approved the program involved in The Delt House-System for those active chapters of the Δ T Δ Fraternity voluntarily choosing to participate therein. Due to the fact that promulgation of the program required some fairly accurate and detailed thinking and planning on the part of the Graduate Committee placed in charge by President Hoffman, it was not until January that the Bulletins and other mimeographed material prepared at the Central Office began to be ready for circulation. In the period intervening between the Karnea and the Division Conferences, nine chapters had, rather informally, elected to participate in the work. At three of the Division Conferences, namely, those held by the Southern Division at Savannah, Georgia, February 16, 1940, the Northern Division at Columbus, Ohio, February 23, 1940, and the Western Division at Evanston, Illinois, March 1, 1940, rather detailed expositions of the objects, scope, and implementation of the program were made to the delegates present. As a result of these expositions, and individual visits, on the part of Arch Chapter members and other interested alumni, to particular chapters, further adherence to the program was obtained on the part of ten additional chapters.

The movement is, therefore, now well under consideration, and in many instances well under way, in nineteen active chapters. It is therefore proper, both because of the interest displayed to date, and the fact that the first anniversary of the House-System is about to be celebrated, to render a short report, and in so doing establish a new department for THE RAINBOW.

I feel I should here confine myself to a short report, highlighting activity in the chapters. It will best suit the purposes of this new department to cover the subject under various headings, which will also occur in future reports in this corner.

Original Participating Chapters

The original chapters participating in the House-System prior to the Division Conferences of February and March, 1940, are, in the order of their original adherence, the following:

Beta Psi	Wabash College
Gamma Sigma	University of Pittsburgh
Delta	University of Michigan
Chi	Kenyon College
Gamma Iota	University of Texas
Gamma Upsilon	Miami University
Gamma Lambda	Purdue University
Gamma Eta	George Washington University
Beta Eta	University of Minnesota

Activity by these chapters in the House-System has naturally varied according to the leadership, which the respective chapters accorded the program. In three of the chapters, the work has been outstanding; in two, it has been quite negligible, and if it continues at the present rate, the Arch Chapter will doubtless act to withdraw the right of participation from such chapters.

Additional Participating Chapters

Since the Division Conferences, and particularly since the First General Conference on the House-System, held at Indianapolis April 13, the following additional active chapters have elected to participate by votes of not less than three-fourths of their active members entitled to vote:

Delta Eta	University of Alabama
Gamma Beta	Armour Institute of Technology
Gamma Pi	Iowa State College
Beta Phi	Ohio State University
Delta Delta	University of Tennessee
Kappa	Hillsdale College
Mu	Ohio Wesleyan University
Beta Pi	Northwestern University
Beta Epsilon	Emory University
Beta Tau	University of Nebraska

Of these chapters, three have already exhibited an outstanding interest in the System.

First General Conference

The First General Conference of Participating Chapters, and of other chapters which had displayed a marked interest in the House-System, was held at the Indianapolis Athletic Club, April 13, 1940, all members of the Arch Chapter being present with the exception of Charles T. Boyd, who was absent because of illness in his family. The chapter at the University of Texas, Austin, Texas, sent one delegate; most chapters sent two or three; the chapter at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota, in an evident attempt to court good luck, sent thirteen, who kept within the allotted expense by making the trip by automobile. The entire day and evening were spent in a thorough discussion of the Bulletins, which had been promulgated by the Central Office up to that time, explanation of the subject matter of Bulletins still to come, and a recital of the experience and suggestions of the delegates of active chapters. The quality of addresses made by the delegates was exceedingly high, both during the sessions and at the noon luncheon and formal evening banquet. Those chapters represented at the Conference, which had not yet elected to participate, did, after the Conference, with one exception, so elect. In the case of the exception, the chapter president has indicated that adherence will be made effective at the beginning of the new school year.

Second General Conference

A Second General Conference has been called for September 3 and 4, 1940, at Chikaming Country Club, Lakeside, Michigan, through the courtesy of President Hoffman. Each of the thirteen chapters represented at the First General Conference has already designated a single delegate to attend for the purpose of criticizing further Bulletins, which will be promulgated during the summer, and making such additional constructive suggestions for the promulgation and implementation of the System as have sprung from the experiences of the various chapters. This Conference is intended to reduce to a least common denominator those ideas of the active chapters, which are adapted to formulation in the shape of Bulletins.

Reports

The outstanding contributions of participating chapters to the House-System will be published in the form of Reports, just as the contributions of the Arch Chapter and Graduate Committee are promulgated in the form of Bulletins. To date four of such Reports have been mimeographed, all of them upon the subject of the best way of enforcing the discipline of Freshmen, and their instruction in the various tenets of the House-System. To those members of active chapters, who have not had the benefit of reading these Reports, they are heartily recommended, particularly with a view toward organizing Freshman instruction in participating and non-participating chapters this coming fall. It has been discovered that in a number of instances, the Reports have been mislaid. Chapters in this category may obtain a duplicate set by writing the Central Office.

Forthcoming Bulletins

It is contemplated mimeographing an additional ten or twelve Bulletins during the summer in order to have them available for criticism at the Second General Conference, and thereafter for use by chapters in the training of their freshmen. As a result of the interest shown by chapters, these Bulletins will be directed toward the following subjects:

- Table Manners.
- Chapter Songs and Singing.
- Pronunciation.
- Grammar.
- Spelling of Words.
- Public and Chapter Speaking.
- Chapter Activities, such as Homecomings, stunts, and alumni relations.

Employment for Delt Graduates, to the extent of beginning the establishment of a closer liaison between actives and alumni for the purpose of procuring jobs.

The Graduate Committee has already spent considerable time in attempting, through its publicity plans for the House-System, to arouse in alumni an interest in helping place the better exponents of the House-System in preferred employment.

Standard Equipment

Each participating chapter will be entitled to receive in return for its chapter contribution of $100, without further charge or payment, certain "Standard Equipment" of the estimated retail value of approximately $350. It has been thought best for the purpose of coordinating the work of the various chapters that each participating chapter have the same basic texts and reference works. The volumes already definitely selected for inclusion in the Standard Equipment are the following:

1. The Encyclopaedia Britannica, Fourteenth Edition, 1936, in 24 vols.
2. Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language, 1940 Edition.
3. Dictionary Stand—30-inch height.
4. Roget's International Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases, 1939 Edition.
5. College Handbook of Composition by Edwin C. Wooley and Franklin W. Scott, Third Edition 1937.
6. A Dictionary of Modern English Usage, by H. W. Fowler, 1937 Edition.
7. Effective Speech by Dwight E. Watkins, in 6 vols.
8. Speaking Fundamentals.
9. 20,000 Words Often Mispronounced by William Henry P. Phye, 1940 Edition.
10. The American Language by H. L. Mencken, Text Edition, 1936.
11. West Point Pamphlet—"Official Courtesy and Customs of the Service" by Robert C. Richardson, Jr.
12. Annapolis Pamphlet—"Fundamentals of the Customs of the Service."
13. Your Best Foot Forward by Helen B. Schleman and Dorothy C. Stratton.
14. Etiquette by Emily Post, 1940 Edition.
15. Men of Art by Thomas Craven.
16. The Story of Philosophy by Will Durant, 1938 Edition.
17. 1940 World Almanac and Book of Facts.

Perhaps the greatest interest evidenced among active chapters and interested alumni in the advancement of the House-System has been the recommendation of volumes for inclusion in the Standard Equipment.

Special Mention

In subsequent reports in this department, special mention will be made of the chapters which make particular contributions to the development of the House-System, or by way of securing the adherence and interest of their members.

Comment

The Delt House-System has already received favorable comment from a number of well known educators, particularly officials at institutions where participating chapters are situated. In future word from this department, quotations from statements, not only of educators but also alumni and other interested people, will be included.

▼ FROM THE EDITOR'S MAIL BAG ▼

HARRY ST. CLAIR HATHAWAY, Chi (Kenyon), '96, has received a Carnegie medal for heroism. An editorial in The Williamsport Sun of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, where this good Delt is rector of the All Saints Episcopal Church, reports the incident as follows:

"The bestowal of a Carnegie medal for heroism upon the Rev. H. St. Clair Hathaway, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, meets with hearty approval here, for this community recognized at the time when he performed the daring feat of rescue which the award recognizes that it was worthy of such recognition. Mr. Hathaway's deed was not that of a robust, expert swimmer saving another at slight risk to himself. When he went into the waters of Pine Creek, fully clothed, to save a drowning woman from deep water, he did so with complete disregard of grave danger to himself. He would be the last to look upon himself as a hero, but what he did bore the true mark of real heroism."

SEWELL L. AVERY, Delta (Michigan), '94, Chairman of the Board of Montgomery, Ward and Company, has been elected president of the mail order house again. The action of the Board of Directors formerly authorized Avery to resume the duties he relinquished in the fall of 1938.

He was detained in the hospital at Worcester, Massachusetts, and was unable to attend the exercises. Winship is president of the Eastern Isles Importing Company at Manila, as well as vice-president of two mining companies and director of an engineering company. He had the distinction of buying the first around-the-world-by-air ticket ever sold and made the trip as far as New Jersey, only to see the Hindenburg burn up that was to take him to Europe.

BISHOP EDWIN HOLT HUGHES, Mu (Ohio Wesleyan), '89, has announced his retirement from active service as the senior Bishop of the Methodist Church.

Bishop Hughes is a past President of  $\Delta T \Delta$  and now serves as a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter Committee.

M. FRANK "PINKY" HIGGINS, Gamma Iota (Texas), '31, the star third baseman of the Detroit Tigers, is taking an important part in placing that team at the top of the American League in the early August campaign.

M. FRANK "PINKY" HIGGINS

JOHN P. DAVIES, Beta Gamma (Wisconsin), '13, has been elected president of the Manta Air Craft Corporation, which has been formed for the production of an advanced type of long-range fighting plane.

JOHN ALEXANDRIA, Omega (Pennsylvania), '12, professor of Surgery at the University of Michigan, received a degree of Doctor of Science from the University of Pennsylvania this year.

The first five ranking chapters in the 1940 Fraternity Examination are as follows:

1. Gamma Mu (Washington) 93.36
2. Gamma Rho (Oregon) . . . 89.53
3. Delta Alpha (Oklahoma) . . 88.27
4. Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan) . . 86.72
5. Beta Nu (M.I.T.) . . . . . 86.25

It appears that the Western and Eastern Divisions held a monopoly on this activity for the past year, with the Western Division taking the first three places.

JOHN A. O'KEEFE, Beta Xi (Tulane), '11, Pi (Mississippi), '11, was appointed Lieutenant Colonel and placed on active duty in the National Guard headquarters in Washington, effective June 16. Appointment was made by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and was earned through an outstanding record in National Guard service in the State of Mississippi. Lt. Col. O'Keefe is a former mayor of Biloxi, Mississippi, his home town.  $\Delta T \Delta$  congratulates this Good Delt, who has answered the call of his country.

JOHN A. O'KEEFE

CLARENCE PUMPHREY, Eta (Buchtel), '74, member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, whom every convention-going Delt of this century has learned to love, received the following poem on his eighty-fifth anniversary:

"Age is a quality of mind
And if you have left your dreams behind,
If hope is lost,
If you no longer look ahead,
If your ambitions' fires are dead—
Then you are old.

"But if from life you take the best,
And if in life you keep the jest,
If love you hold—
No matter how the years go by,
No matter how the birthdays fly—
You are not old."

JOHN P. RAGSDALE, JR., Delta (Michigan), '42, was one of the eighteen student writers to share in the $8,500 prize money distributed each year by the University of Michigan as the Hopwood Award. Ragsdale, a sophomore, won a $250 award for poetry. Last year, as a freshman, he won an $80 essay and poetry award.

EDGAR H. EVANS, Beta Psi (Wabash), '92, is donor of a gift of $60,000 to Wabash College toward the establishment of a chair of Bible and Religion. Evans is a member of the Board of Trustees of Wabash College. In this capacity he has served for a number of years. ROY MASSENA, Beta Psi (Wabash), '02, also serves as a members of the Wabash board.

WITH GOOD DELTS

EDITOR'S NOTE: A graduating senior is our guest contributor for this department. Lawrence Andrew Sanders, Beta Psi (Wabash), '40, Phi Beta Kappa, was one of the two Commencement speakers at Wabash, June 3. Under the title "Wealth for the Future," Sanders evaluates a college education. The Wabash setting can well be adapted to other American colleges. The alumnus reader will find his thoughts drifting back to the "good old days."

A senior speaking at his own graduation is a victim of much temptation, worry, and circumstance. He is a victim of temptation because for one exciting instant he feels this would be the ideal moment for a grand exposé of American education, particularly as to why Wabash is not being run the way it should, and just exactly what changes should be made. But the senior speaker deliberates and finds that while the administration would probably accept such criticism in the spirit in which it was given, nevertheless, there is an appreciable period of time between his speech and his receiving his diploma, a period of time that is definitely a hazard in which almost anything might happen. You know, I'll let you in on a secret. Each year all the seniors agree that not one of them is safe until the diploma is finally gripped tightly in a triumphant fist, things are that uncertain. And so the tempted senior speaker turns to more neutral subjects, those to which his feverish brain believes no one can possibly object.

The senior speaking at Commencement is subject to worry because he knows sixty of his classmates listen to him with a cynical ear straining his philosophical platitudes through the sieve of their own experience. And as for the Faculty, well, they've been listening to graduation speeches for so long, that it's just no good worrying about them. They're content to sit quietly, fingering the moth holes in their academic robes and dreaming of some day attending air-conditioned Commencement services.

And then the graduating senior speaker is a victim of circumstance because he must be careful not to be too sentimental on what is essentially a sentimental occasion, nor too solemn on this day when sixty hearts, at least, are positively bounding with joy.

And so I felt, in view of these difficulties, the safest thing for me to do would be to look through the senior speeches for all Wabash Commencements in the past and pick that subject on which speeches were most frequently given. The result was, I'm afraid, overwhelming, and so today I must speak on the value of a college education. I feel that if I add my tiny stone to the landslide already in motion, maybe, fairly soon, everyone will agree on the value of a college education, and Commencement speakers of the future, oh, unhappy moment, will have to find a new subject—that's all there is to it.

I wanted to make this speech as logical as possible, so I tried to find a definition of a college education. I went first to our college magazine of about five years ago which quoted the following: "A freshman enters the school in green and is graduated as a senior in black. This immediate process of decay is known as a college education." Well, this is obviously wrong. I know of no graduating senior who feels or looks decayed today. There was a time about a month ago when some of us, having completed twelve hours of written examinations, might have felt that the decomposing process was about ready to begin, but it never did.

Well, after finding that definition I didn't try to find any others, it becoming obvious that a college education means something different to everyone. But if today a high school senior were to ask me what is the value of a college education, particularly what does a senior receive from four years' attendance, more or less regular attendance, in a Wabash classroom, I would give him the following lengthy description, or definition, if you will, of what a Wabash education is like today.

I would say to him that today a senior's education looks like many things to him. At times it looks like a football team sliding through the mud. And at times his education looks like a campus in the fall, a grey sky behind the Chapel and students high-stepping through the dried leaves to class. It looks like a wild snake dance down a main street. It looks like a hundred other things—a freshman doffing his cap, a fraternity dog ambling down a brick walk, a baseball soaring high in the air, an orange moon coming over South Hall. A college education looks like many things, and to the seniors today it's everything—dates games, tests, sensations—all in one huge photo-montage that must be seen as an entire tapestry of memory to know the value of a college education.

What would the tapestry contain? Well, old brick buildings moulding in the trees, age-baked by the sun. And grass, green and yellow, tramped into paths by the passing feet of class upon class and grass between red brick walks wandering like lazy streams.

The tapestry of memory would contain all the sounds ringing across the years. The big bell in Center Hall shaking the tower, welcoming sound for class ends, victories, and midnight escapades. Organ music in chapel day after day after day, until the music becomes a part, as the pews; the pictures of the old presidents frowning down on class after class. Yells booming across fields and throaty songs roaring out in billows of sound. The big oak tree at the north end of the campus creaking in a high wind. The tapestry would have all this and more.

It would show the seasons following fast upon each other's steps—swirling leaves drifting against the trees, snow cut into paths like scars on the white, mild May nights, and hot sticky days. And always the clock ticking off minutes, then hours, then days, and classes coming and going so fast that time slips under foot like a road. Football to basketball to baseball and four years fade into four minutes. Where are you now, players, talkers, yellers of yesterday? Where are your voices calling through the halls, your steps creaking up to second, doors slamming behind you? Echoes, voices, sad and happy, all shading off into time.

It will, I know, be always with us—the droning voices and the hearty laughs in rooms of scarred wood, old books, and slate roofs gleaming in the sun. Smoke curling up from pipes before a winter's fire, and voices raised in angry argument, then quiet, and the dull bong of hours slipping by. Faces, voices fading faster and faster until the grey image melts, the man is gone, the class falls into line, the last pee-rade and the best. No more the games, no more the dates, and quiet walks through shaded streets, not always, I must admit, with classmates. No more the trips in crowded cars and jokes and songs and laughter ringing. Did we know what we had when it was ours? Do we know now what is gone when new voices, new faces come to take our place?

It's been hard, frequently, during the past four years to realize that these were the moments we'd be calling the "good old days" in another ten years. I've never had much faith with speakers who add up the value of a college education by the number of facts memorized. I've never yet met a returning alumnus on Homecoming day who insisted on telling me about the advantages of non-sylogistic reasoning or the benefits of the English corn laws. What alumni seem to remember, what they cherish years after they are graduated are scenes, names of friends, times when they did something that seemed awfully wicked at the moment. It's in the memory that the greatest value of a college education lies. I would say to a high school senior—go to college, no matter if you don't learn to make money or to be a big success, but go to college. Learn to live with yourself and other men, and get a four-year memory that some day will recall to you a time when, in spite of what you thought then, there was no worry and everything seemed all right.

I suppose today I should have stood to point to the youth of other countries, showed our comrades, English, German or whatever, but boys wrenched out of their youth so quickly and made into barb-wire men. But instead I chose to show you what this, certainly a typical cross-section of American youth, what this group of young men remembered rather than those days in trenches and nights filled with horror and dread.

None of us being graduated today feels, I'm sure, that we shall live to see the day when classes like ours may be graduated from college to face the future with any definite plans for a long time. None of us knows for any certainty what our fate is to be. When America's entrance into the war was announced in chapel in 1917, that afternoon the campus saw practically the entire student body already drilling, eager to go. Today we are not so eager, but we realize when the time comes our wishes won't be consulted in the matter.

I guess our generation was called the War Babies and today we're ushered out into a world of which the least we can say is that things are so uncertain. So, surely, in such a world a most precious possession is the memory of a time when we lived fully, completely, in a small and friendly haven, without hate, without fear. A four-year world in which reality and the future were mercifully hidden in the blaze of sunlight that came over the Chapel roof on a spring morning.

Akron

AFTER HAVING a series of stag events the fellows decided it was time the wives and sweethearts were included. Thus a mixed party was arranged for the April meeting at the home of "Flipp" Fleming. Eighteen couples attended for bridge and other games, prizes were awarded and refreshments served. We think all will admit it was a good party and a good idea to have included the ladies.

Plans are now being made for the summer get-together affairs for the local Deltas. One party we know of will be the annual golf and supper party at the Silver Lake Country Club. Jack Wolcott is the manager of the club and he really turns the place over to the Deltas whenever they want to come out for a party. Another affair may be a party at a cottage on Portage Lake at which time we hope to borrow and show the colored films of the Fraternity, loaned by Irving McDaniel, President of the Southern Division.

Some of the local Deltas have had their names and pictures in the news recently and we will pass on the news briefly in this letter.

Fred Climer has been elected first vice-president of the Miami University Alumni Association. The election took place in conjunction with Miami's 101st commencement exercises.

John Botzum, now a radio columnist, was invited as a special guest to attend the open house celebration of the Ohio Historical Records Survey Project in Akron.

There was a fine "column and a half" write-up recently, in the Sunday edition, on the biography of Willis "Bid" Edmund, who is our City Recreation Director.

Walter Frye, State President of the Izaak Walton League of America, presented awards at a banquet of the local chapter. By the way, the Akron chapter of Izaak Waltonites is the largest in the U. S. which may be due to Walter's interest and effort.

W. A. Tritchler directs the large school orchestra in Barberton's new and beautiful high school building.

Although not one of the local alumni, State Attorney General Thomas Herbert was here recently to attend the Newspaper Guild Gridiron.

We now have a roster of eighty-six Delt alumni in this area, which includes Akron, Medina, Kent, Cuyahoga Falls, Barberton, Canton, and Massillon. We desire to reach every Delt in this area to invite them to attend our monthly meetings. If there are some Deltas in this area not on our mailing list, the president or secretary would like to know about them.

Athens

SEVERAL OF the boys were back for commencement. Saw the following at the banquet: "Bid" Edmunds, Akron Recreation Director and also vice-president of Ohio University Alumni Association; John Galbreath, Columbus, Ohio Real Estate man and sportsman; "Hen" Eccels, Portsmouth, Ohio, spoke for his class at the banquet; Bill Underwood, Cleveland, Ohio; Jack Heslop, Akron, builder and real estate man, who with "Bid" Edmunds took a bridge lesson while in Athens; Bill Herbert, Athens, Ohio University's track coach; Frank Gullum, Athens, Beta's adviser and Professor of Chemistry; Hiram Roy Wilson, Athens, Professor of English and in point of service, Ohio University's dean of Professors; Thomas N. Hoover, Sr., Athens, Professor of History, who was supposed to speak for the Class of 1905 but had an important engagement at the Country Club; George Pards, Athens, Treasurer of Ohio University; and "Rhys" Evans, Akron, whose son "Bill," graduated this spring; and many others that were missed by your reporter.

Congratulations to Robert Gullum who was married June 15, 1940, to Miss Eloise Paine of Pittsburgh. "Bob" is with the State Highway Department of Ohio.

Congratulations also to Paul and Mrs. Halleck of Staunton, Virginia, on the recent birth of a daughter. Paul is athletic director of Staunton.

Met "Gene" Batton and "Reid" Martin the other night. Gene's with International Harvester Company in the Parkersburg, West Virginia district, and Reid's in Louisville, Kentucky, with Aetna Oil Company.

T. N. HOOVER, JR.

Atlanta

THE ANNUAL May Day Outing, held May 11 at Vinings Country Club, was a big success with ninety Atlanta alumni and actives from the nearby chapters attending. This event is getting to be a tradition among the Deltas of this part of the state.

The next big affair to which the Deltas in this section are looking forward is the Annual All-State Banquet which will be held in the fall. The date will be announced later, but it will be scheduled to coincide with one of Georgia Tech's major football games.

Downing Musgrove, an Atlanta Delt, has recently been appointed Comptroller General of Georgia, and bears the distinction of being the youngest man holding such a position in any state.

The many friends of Syd Williams were greatly relieved that he managed to get home safely with his wife and small daughter from Denmark, where they have been living for several years. Their last three weeks spent there were under the Nazi regime! He and his charming wife have been much in demand since arriving home and their amazing experiences have thrilled many Atlantians. Syd is already off again—this time to Jamaica but in the same work—Coca Cola export.

"Son" Hawkins has a new son—named for him and of course looks like him. But the father, not content with one big event, is moving his family to Columbus, Georgia, where he will accept a bigger and better job in the cellophane business with the Standard Printing Company. The Atlanta Delts will greatly miss "Son" and wife and son.

Battle Creek

WITH LETTERS coming from THE RAINBOW Editor and the Alumni Secretary to various Delts in Battle Creek, something may happen to revive our alumni chapter. This is not a prophecy—it is a hope.

The May RAINBOW just received is very fine, the pictures especially interesting.

GEORGE D. FARLEY

Boston

IT'S BEEN quite a while since the Boston Alumni Chapter had its paragraph in THE RAINBOW, but this, we hope, is the first of many paragraphs. And it came about this way: Some time last April, the Central Office, through Field Secretary Johnnie Fisher and Henry W. Merrill, past Eastern Division vice-president and number one Boston Delt booster, decided it was high time that alumni activity started again in our fair metropolis. Beginning with just a few brothers and increasing by the bring-a-Delt method, the chapter is well on its way toward being a strong and active group. Real interest has been shown by about fifty Delts in the area, representing twenty of the Fraternity's chapters, and ranging from the dean of Boston Delts, James M. Swift, Delta '95, down to '40 Delts of nearby chapters. So, we're off to a good start.

Three meetings were held last spring, each having a larger and larger attendance. The first meeting in April was held under the guidance of Brother Merrill who at the time put forward the idea of bringing to life this alumni chapter which has been dormant for the past few years. At the second gathering, temporary officers were elected to guide the chapter's destiny through its infant stage. These were: Claude Booher, Gamma Upsilon '27, president; Dick Parks, Beta Mu '37, secretary; Tom Brooks, Gamma Gamma '39, treasurer. An executive committee composed of Joe Reynolds, Beta Mu '23, Belden Sly, Gamma Gamma '24, and Prescott Ward, Gamma Nu, '33, was appointed by "Prexy" Booher. The feature of our final spring meeting was real professional entertainment by our own Bert Adams, Beta Nu '15, prestidigitator extraordinary, who really had the boys buffaloed by his wizardry.

With this as a finale, the chapter wound up its activities until fall. At that time, definite plans will be made for the year. No decision has as yet been made regarding meetings. Weekly or bi-monthly luncheon meetings and occasional evening social gatherings have been discussed, but this is to be decided at an early meeting in the fall. At that time, permanent officers will also be elected. By that time, we hope to double our membership, too, as there are a good many of the Delts in the area. The more the merrier, and watch us grow!

RICHARD B. PARKS

Buffalo

WEEKLY LUNCHEONS are being held throughout the summer at the University Club, Mondays at 12:30. Any Delts in this locality at that time are cordially invited to be with us.

Our president, Bob Wilson, is planning an outing at his home sometime in August. This outing will be for the alumni and their wives, and we expect to invite as guests several men who are planning to leave in the fall to enter college.

We are also planning a joint outing with the Rochester Alumni Association. This party is scheduled for July 11.

DENNIS C. LILES

Camden

Continuing and concluding our dissertation on "Who's Who in the Camden Alumni Chapter," what they are doing and why, we find next on the list:

Rev. E. F. Dalstrom, Delta Delta '33, who lends dignity and respect to the chapter. Ed is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Barrington, New Jersey.

John Bottomley, Jr., Omega '34, without whose untiring efforts the Camden chapter would not exist. John is with the Travelers Insurance Co. He recently spent several months at the home office telling all the vice-presidents how to run an insurance business.

Schuyler C. Reber, Beta Beta '36, student engineer at R. C. A. He and Charlie Vose expect to be running the place before long.

Philip Whiteway, Jr., Nu '37, varnish chemist for Geo. D. Wetherill Co. Phil and I have an arrangement to split the paint business between Wetherill and Lucas.

Pat Kinsey, Gamma Phi '36, the handsome young man from Riverton, is in the investment brokerage business with his father.

Ed Schultz, Nu '39 is with the Atlantic Refining Co., we think. He misses so many meetings, due probably to some feminine influence, that we have trouble keeping track of him.

H. E. Newton, Delta Kappa '37, our latest acquisition and another slave of the Travelers of Hartford. We stole "Newt" from the Philadelphia chapter.

So there we are and we would all like to hear from our old friends.

Our picnic, June 19, was another big success, especially from a gastronomical standpoint, because the ladies planned the menu.

Regular meetings will be resumed in September. So long until the fall.

CHAS. S. HOLLINGER

Chicago

THE CHICAGO Alumni Chapter, under the able guidance of President Clarence (Lefty) Miles, is continuing the good work of the George G. Traver, GG '24, administrations and adding a few ideas of its own.

The main attraction has been the "kitty" inducement in use at our weekly Monday noon luncheons at Harding's Restaurant at the Fair Department Store. The average attendance is well over twenty-five and often representing sixteen to twenty chapters. So any of the "touring" Delts are invited to join us in private rooms on the seventh floor any Monday for luncheon; a free meal is given each week, come on over and try our "stuff."

The summer event is the annual Golf Tournament and Outing, being held Friday, June 28, 1940, at Kildeer Country Club. The features have been enlarged. Tennis and baseball, and cards after dinner have been added to the program this year. President Miles is fostering chapter rivalry and inter-alumni chapter competition; the way it's meeting with favor looks like "Lefty's" going to have his hands full keeping the "chips" off the "chapter shoulders."

Dr. Cyril O. Houle, Florida '34, of the Education Department, University of Chicago, is teaching this summer at the School of Education, University of California, Berkeley, California.

Frederick C. Hack, Jr., Chicago '29, is working at real estate in connection with the Clearing Industrial District of Chicago, with offices in the First National Bank Building. Fred has been an active alumnus and is doing much to assist in keeping the boys of good old Gamma Alpha together in the absence of their chapter.

Another feature of the Chicago Alumni Chapter is the inauguration of a Bulletin, to be sent out regularly to stimulate interest and keep those unable to gather about the banquet board informed that we are alive, up, and doing. The Chicago alumni are progressing and make a call to all who are interested to "climb on the band wagon" and progress along with them.

V. A. (Vern) Sturm, Armour '29, who is in the Uhlemann Optical Company, Chicago, says that these new bulletins, such as printed by the Chicago and Cleveland Alumni Chapters are wonderful; he expects to benefit in increased business because of the size of the type being used. Very funny, ha, ha!

The BIG feature of the Chicago Alumni Chapter Year is the Rushing Party held for all prospective college men in this area, regardless of where they intend entering school. This event has been the pride and joy of the Chicago Deltas, and the events planned for the Rushing Party this year have prospects of surpassing all previous attainments. This annual party has done its share, and is still going strong in obtaining "the cream of the crop" for  $\Delta T \Delta$ .

Drop in on the Chicago Deltas wherever and whenever they gather—accept their hospitality, you are welcome!

V. A. STURM

Clarksburg

WITH THE closing of the school year we are able to add some fifteen names to our list of local Deltas, and we are expecting local Delt activity to increase proportionately. Semi-monthly luncheon meetings will continue throughout the vacation period and we are looking forward to pleasant association with the brothers who are home for the summer.

George Post has graduated from the turmoils of West Virginia Law College and has joined the ranks of prosperous Clarksburg alumni. He is now searching for the best place to hang out his shingle, and we are certain that his past and future Delt contacts will prove most helpful to him in his initial struggles as a lawyer.

The Hope Natural Gas Company, in moving to Clarksburg with its crew of Deltas has descended upon us with all the energy of a blitzkrieg. At the last writing your editor submitted the names of several new Deltas who accompanied the lightning occupation. To that list are to be added the names of brothers B. R. Binyon and John T. Kennedy.

Brother Carl M. Bortz comes to us from parts unknown. The writer will attempt to identify him at the next writing.

Brothers Elbert Matthews and Cornelius Davis are attending a Reserve Officers camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky, which fact explains their absence from recent meetings.

Brother Anthony McCue, our local alumni president, informs us with pride that his son, Bill McCue, has returned for the summer from Dartmouth College, where he was elected president of Hanover's Delt Chapter. Seems like the boy is following in the footsteps of his old man.

The writer gratefully acknowledges receipt of a letter from Judy Henderson, now of Mt. Hope, West Virginia. Good ol' Judy informs us that he reads this column faithfully and observes with interest the activities of many of the brethren that he knew in undergraduate days.

May we all meet again at next rushing time.

G. BERK LYNCH

Cleveland

THE CLEVELAND Alumni Chapter has not suffered any summer let-down. President Joe Wood has planned a series of chapter functions which is certain to maintain interest no matter how high the mercury rises.

Our weekly luncheon meetings, held in the pleasant atmosphere of the air-conditioned Russett Cafeteria, in the Hippodrome Building, continue to serve as the focal point for our activities. These luncheons are very informal affairs, the program consisting mainly of a short business session, the introduction of new members, a few Delt yarns by any of the brothers who have visited other chapters or who have had news from or about our out-of-town members, and the reading of letters from Ray Carroll from Florida, Owen Orr in California, Roy Petty who has been in Texas, Sid Wilson who wintered in California, Howard Mills in California, Jack Roesch in Washington, Judge Ray Speers in Sandusky, Judge Clarence Portman in Massillon, Bill Moon in Port Clinton, Dave Shannon in Cincinnati, Herb Bartling, or others who keep pretty close contact with the Cleveland gang. Then, at one meeting each month Bill Hecker, committee chairman, presents a special speaker. Our own Frank "Pat" Moran of the Cleveland Plain Dealer marketing bureau, made a very splendid talk in May. In June we enjoyed hearing Mr. Oral Carter, a member of the staff of the Economic Foundation, give his opinions on "The Place of Business in the Present Crisis."

July brings us our best outdoor event of the year—a family basket picnic. Joe Wood's cabin at Lake Lucerne will be the scene of this year's party where about a hundred Deltas, their wives and children will gather for a day of swimming, golf, baseball, and tennis. At sundown the heavily laden baskets are opened and in regular family reunion style, dinner is served. This is one of our finest traditional affairs and always attracts a record crowd.

A golf tournament in August and a rushing party in early September complete our plans for the summer.

We held a golf tournament, June 7, at the Aurora Country Club where Don Wells is head man. Sam Crobaugh carried off top honors for the day, with H. K. "Frenchy" Bell, Bill Mould, C. D. Russell, Ed Knowlton, and Mack Yost also coming in for prizes for their club swinging ability. Harry Hoffman, Lee Roesch, Mould, and Wells constituted the committee which did an extra swell job in putting over this party.

Ray Hyre was nominated for the Legislature by the Republican party in May. Without organization backing, Ray staged a whirlwind independent campaign and was well out in front when the votes were counted. Tom Herbert, present Attorney General of Ohio, who had no opposition in the primary, ran up such an exceptionally large vote that it marks him as one of the outstanding figures in the State. Barring an unexpected landslide both Tom and Ray should have little difficulty in being elected in the fall.

The Cleveland alumni always enjoy THE RAINBOW, and the May issue in particular brought forth many very favorable comments. A resolution commending Editor Harry G. Green for his excellent work was unanimously passed at the luncheon meeting on June 7.

And now under the heading of "What Different Deltas Are Doing" we report that: Bob Weaver is leading a drive for campaign funds in behalf of the Republican party. Gus Handerson, Director of Trade Expansion of the Chamber of Commerce, has been vacationing in Florida. Tom Ward, a member of the Lakewood City Council, is getting active in alumni affairs. Lee Roesch is the chairman of our rushing committee to cooperate with Zeta.

Herb Spring was elected president of the Cleveland Bar Association. Ben Fiery is named as head of the local alumni of Washington and Lee. Art Baier is recovering from the effects of a very serious automobile crash. Bill Hecker, of the firm of Ewing and Hecker, opened a very snappy suite of law offices in the Guardian Building.

Bob Weaver, Jr., and Kenyon Knopf, who were initiated at Chi, June 9, attended our luncheon meeting June 14. That's getting a good start in Fraternity activity. The fathers of both these boys have always been active in our affairs and every alumnus in Cleveland is pleased to welcome the sons of Bob Weaver and "Nifty" Knopf.

Joe Higley came up from Youngstown and C. D. Russell came from Akron to attend our golf tournament. Karl Ertle piloted his cabin cruiser to Canada with the Cleveland Yacht Club cruise. Richard A. Lehr has been appointed a Flying Cadet in the U. S. Army Air Corps, and Chuck Goldner has joined the Navy Air Corps. John Voegtly, of the B. R. Baker Company, passed out new, novel, and "nifty" cigarette holders at a recent luncheon meeting. Bill Halliday, Frank Moran, Ivan Davenport, and Mayor Gordon Nichols of Chagrin Falls constitute the committee in charge of our family picnic in July.

Once more the Cleveland Alumni extend a sincere invitation to all Deltas in this area to become affiliated with our chapter and to attend and take part in any or all of our activities.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Denver

THE DENVER alums are all on the unemployment compensation list this summer as there isn't any Karnea. However, if they concentrate on rushing this year as they did on the Karnea—we'll really have something.

When some of the brothers were asked for a little news, a smart guy said that there was a war in Europe. Well, most of you readers have probably heard about it—so we won't go into the latest developments. It did, though, remind us of Colonel Philip S. Van Cise, commander of the 411th Infantry. The Colonel is in charge of the Volunteer Officer's Camp which is training in Denver this summer. The Camp has enrolled defense-minded Denver citizens, eager to learn the tactics and methods of modern warfare. Colonel Van Cise said that the volunteers, in the event of war, would be sent to an officers training camp.

Another member of the Denver alums, Major Harold C. Thompson, Beta Kappa (Colorado) '21, has been sent to Fort Leavenworth for a six months' training course in advanced artillery methods.

Kim Barnes, Jr., Beta Kappa '36, is taking a training course in aviation this summer, which is being offered by Denver University.

It is with our deepest sympathy that we announce the death of the wife of Vincent G. Nessen, Beta Kappa '33. "Vince" and his small child have gone to Glenwood Springs, Colorado, for the summer.

Next time we'll tell you all about our successful rush season. Be sure to read how the Colorado Deltas "bring 'em back alive!"

ED SPROUL

Fort Lauderdale

THE LOCAL alumni chapter has not had a meeting since the last report. However, we are planning to entertain prospective pledges sometime this next month.

F. L. RICKARD

Fox River Valley

VACATION TIME for the Fox River Valley Deltas has already developed into a season of activity. Brother "Doc" Landis entertained all the pledges and alumni in a last minute rendezvous that proved to be the climax of the year's social program. "Doc" Landis, local physician and sport enthusiast, showed two reels of technicolor film which portrayed the migratory flights of the snow-geese from New Orleans to the Hudson Bay Region. These pictures were unique representations of this particular adventure of bird life. No amateur photographer this Brother Landis. Here's one loyal Delt who has shared an experience enjoyed by few sportsmen; yes, by few men. Here's a standout sportsman who prefers to shoot ducks and geese with a camera instead of the usual 12-gauge shotgun.

Also, the Fox River Valley alumni were entertained by their newly-elected president, LeVohn Moesch. "Blondie," who is an instructor in the Lawrence College Conservatory of Music, is also the college organist. He has done graduate work in the East on a coveted scholarship awarded for prowess on the organ. "Blondie's" ability is indicated in other fields, but none of his abilities is shown so pronounced as his leadership in the alumni group. Through his inspiration, the alumni are planning an extensive rushing program to be carried on in the Valley in coöperation with the local chapter. Got to get busy, myself, so goodbye until next issue.

Houston

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first report from Houston as the charter for this chapter was granted late in May.

We have sent each of the Deltas a rostrum and have personally contacted over seventy-five per cent. They all seem very interested in our organization. We hope to have a Founders Day meeting each year and a rush party at the end of the summer; perhaps another meeting as the time calls for it.

C. R. WESTMORELAND, JR.

Jacksonville

THE WRITER is not very well situated to report on the activities of the Jacksonville Alumni Association, having returned to this city only recently after a year's absence. We do, however, wish to note our appearance in this number. A series of small parties have been planned at the summer homes of Deltas who live at the beaches. Some of these will be rush parties for boys going away to school in the fall.

All members are proud of  $\Delta T \Delta$ 's scholastic achievements during the past year. It is gratifying to know that the chief purpose of our Fraternity finds the major achievement at the hands of undergraduates. Prospective college students will be impressed as we have been.

G. W. BOTTS

Kansas City

WE HELD our annual party for the ladies, a dinner-bridge at Mission Hills Country Club, May 28. It was a very enjoyable occasion, especially as it brought out some of the boys we don't see very often, thanks to Mrs. Tom Scofield and Mrs. Gibson. Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Groves carried off the honors at bridge, although the competition was a little keener than usual.

After the dinner, Roland Record and Bill Gilges entertained us with movies of their recent trip to Mexico. The remark was made that Bill's taste in pictures has certainly improved in the last four months, for this was really a high-class exhibition.

One news item handed in states that Dr. Victor Buhler, who has been completing his internship in the General Hospital, was in New York in June taking his American Medical Association Board examination.

Luncheons are being held weekly in the Pine Room at 1112 Baltimore Avenue. We like the new location very much and invite any visiting Deltas to drop around any Thursday noon.

FRANK B. SIEGRIST

Long Beach

VACATIONS—no meetings. Everyone doing so well they have all gone on trips.

A. BATES LANE

Los Angeles

THE PAST three months with the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter have seen an average attendance of over twenty-six Deltas each week at the University Club to solve world problems. Owen Orr has made his presence felt and is already one of our outstanding active alumni and a real asset to our chapter.

The President of the Fraternity, Paul G. Hoffman, also a former President of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter, paid us a visit May 7. One hundred and thirty-six loyal Deltas gathered at luncheon—"some turn out"—to listen to one of the finest talks on what lies ahead for  $\Delta T \Delta$  that the writer has ever enjoyed.

The Distinguished Service Chapter saw fit to confer upon Barry Hillard and Henry E. Rivers the distinguished service citations, which were presented at the Founders Day dinner. Barry has never ceased to be one of our outstanding and hardest workers, at present he is in the midst of one of the biggest undertakings yet attempted by our alumni chapter (more of it later).

HENRY E. RIVERS

Minneosta

THE ANNUAL Founders Day Banquet, held at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis, on May 25, was a revelation of the progress that  $\Delta T \Delta$  is making in the world of Greek-letter society. Kurt Pantzer, national supervisor of scholarship for the Fraternity, outlined the Delt House-System, and over forty members of the Beta Eta active chapter were present as living examples of the successful application of that plan.

Every alumnus went away from that gathering with increased pride in his Fraternity. The results that have been attained at Minnesota by rigid adherence to Kurt Pantzer's program are almost beyond belief. If such miracles can be wrought in two years we may confidently expect the fulfillment of the Delt prophecy within the next five!

FRANK KIEWEL, JR.

Nashville

THERE is not so very much to report for the summer months so far but during July we expect to have several Nashville boys present at our regular meeting who are planning to attend college this fall. We hope to be of considerable help in pledging several good Nashville boys in neighboring schools that have Delt chapters.

In August the alumni chapter is planning to have a week-end outing which will include swimming, boating, fishing and an all-round good time.

Well, so long for this time.

GARLAND SWEENEY

New York

AT A FORMAL election held in conjunction with our monthly luncheon May 15, 1940, at the Cornell Club, new officers were unanimously elected as follows: John W. Tynan, Upsilon (Rensselaer), '27, President; Al Galbraith, Beta Omicron (Cornell), '37, Treasurer, and John M. Montstream, Delta Beta (Carnegie), '21, Vice-President and Secretary.

At this monthly luncheon, Kurt

F. Pantzer, Supervisor of Scholarship, explained in detail the manner in which the new Delt House-System, for stimulating education in undergraduate chapters by student self-expression, self-criticism, and self-development along cultural lines, will operate and the results expected to be achieved. Brother Pantzer ably presented this House-System and, needless to say, all the alumni were convinced that the plan unquestionably will result in a higher and better rounded development of Fraternity men. Herb McCracken, our new Eastern Division President, attended this luncheon. Herb attends our luncheons frequently and is one of our active and loyal supporters.

The alumni in the Metropolitan District concluded their yearly schedule of events with their second annual outing. It was held June 5 at the Pelham Country Club. Don Mallory was chairman of the committee on arrangements. Those who attended the outing last year know that the golf course at this Club is sporty enough for anyone. Most of the alumni played golf, at least they were seen hitting a ball now and then, and as may be expected the scores discussed at the nineteenth hole were probably the expression of a good deal of exaggeration. Unfortunately, the tennis courts were too wet to be used, however, the Club has a beautiful outdoor pool which was enjoyed by those disappointed because of the condition of the tennis courts.

We enjoyed the privileges of this Club through Bob Travis. We have not had an opportunity to congratulate Bob on the arrival of a daughter April 21. Bob had much to say at the outing about this important event.

A tasty dinner was served on the open terrace overlooking the swimming pool. Judging by the hilarity and comment, the outing was enjoyed tremendously by everyone. We expect it to be one of the annual events of the alumni activities in the Metropolitan District.

JOHN M. MONTSTREAM

Philadelphia

THE PHILADELPHIA alumni held their April luncheon at the Robert Morris Hotel with a representative crowd attending. A suggestion was made that the group meet at the Omega chapter house for the May luncheon. The day of this meeting was so sunny that many of our group were lured away to golf courses, hence the attendance was not record-breaking. However, we had a most interesting meeting when Howard A. Foster presented a paper on "Synthetic Materials" which created a discussion lasting well into the afternoon. We all learned some new things about our modern industrial age at the meeting. A door prize consisting of a handsome necktie was presented by Dr. Walter S. Cornell, Pennsylvania '97, to Edwin Elliott, Pennsylvania '99. Why aren't secretaries lucky?

The May meeting was the official ending of our season for this summer. A special party will be held in September.

However, the Deltas are still moving about in the Philadelphia area. For instance, Tom Peirce, Dartmouth '30, was seen not long ago at the St. Davids Golf Club dance along with Henry Peterson, Penn State '33. A couple of weeks later Henry was seen again, this time in church. Bob Ferguson, Penn State '32, and the writer enjoyed an evening swim together in June, at which time Bob was planning a business trip to New York and Canada. He reported that he had recently seen our old friend Thomas E. Dewey, Pennsylvania '35, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Tom must get quite a kick out of seeing his name in print so often!

In spite of the summer lull in Delt gatherings we're keeping one eye open for the scattered members.

CHARLES C. GRAY

Pittsburgh

THE PITTSBURGH Alumni Chapter regrets the loss of one of our very active members, Mr. G. A. Doyle, who has been transferred to Philadelphia. At the same time—we congratulate him upon his promotion.

A little dinner was held in his honor just before his departure at which time he was presented with a token of our appreciation for his work.

Plans are being made for a large Delt summer party, which will be combined with a rushing party some time in August. We plan to have all the potential Deltas from the Pittsburgh area in attendance.

The luncheons are still being held at the Law and Finance Building Restaurant each Friday noon.

Portland (Maine)

THE REVIVAL of our alumni chapter last winter was well started by Col. Otto Schrader while he was stationed at one of the local forts but, unfortunately for us, his army duties prevented him from continuing with us and, due to the difficulty of finding someone to replace the Colonel, we have not made much headway of late.

The old wheelhorses of the Gamma Nu Building Association who ordinarily would be glad to take over, will be working to build a new Shelter at Orono to replace the old house which was totally destroyed by fire recently. However, do not despair, we expect to get set again in the near future and to elect a slate of officers who will formulate and carry out a program which should interest the Deltas in this section.

The meetings called during the winter were a good stimulant to those who attended and by fall we should be reorganized and ready to carry on the good work started by Brother Schrader, though he will be greatly missed by all of us who had the opportunity of knowing him.

L. RICHARD MOORE

Portland (Oregon)

OUR DELT luncheons, which have always been very popular, are even more popular now due to attendance of active members from the two Oregon chapters. These luncheons are the cement that holds our organization together.

Our long deferred smoker has finally been planned for some time in the next month. It is for the purpose of getting old alums together.

We are planning at least one, and perhaps two, general rushing parties for early in the fall, and we have plenty of places to have them so we will undoubtedly have more than one. The active chapters and the alumni chapter are cooperating very closely this year in these rushing activities, and we feel that they will be very effective.

JAMES H. ZILKA

Rochester

SINCE EARLY spring, things have been going a little slow here in Rochester—it's been the sputtering of a fuse, so to speak. We have a couple of big events on tap.

There was a lull after Founders Day until the middle of April, when, one night, we had another dinner-and-cards party at the University Club. Apparently the boys hadn't gotten over the March festivities, because they didn't come in what you'd call droves.

For May 15 it was decided that a repetition of the winter's successful mixed bridge party was in order—only this time the boys decided to make a day of it. So, an afternoon of golf, dinner, and bridge in the evening was arranged, the affair to be held at the Monroe Golf Club. The weather turned threatening, and Howard Jespersen's scorn for the rest of the boys was colossal when it turned out that he was the only one to show up for the outdoor part of the program. It was a fair bet, though; if J. Pluvius' threat had been carried out, Howard would have "taken," instead of "dishing out." The rest of the party was a very different story, however. There were more than twenty for dinner and bridge, including Eddie Jones, long-missed mainstay of other years, and his wife, and John Cotsworth, Upsilon, '37, who happened to blow into town from Buffalo.

The next event was a less formal one, when, on May 28, about ten of the boys went to see the Rochester Red Wings take the first night ball game of the season from the Buffalo Bisons.

As the time comes to write this letter, two more affairs are planned. The annual picnic, June 20, is only three days away. Elmer Davis is completing plans to feed the multitudes, and the boys working on reservations report forty already signed up, with a lot more still to be checked. It's going to be a fitting conclusion to a good year.

With an eye to the future, we're already beginning to think about our rushing party, scheduled for the first part of September. Not much actual work has been done yet, but we're beginning to line up prospects and the wheels are beginning to go around in people's minds to turn out ideas on the best way to run the affair. If some of the Delt chapters don't get some good rushing material, it won't be our fault. Then too, even if the boys don't wind up in Delt houses, as we see it, it won't do them any harm to know what they're up against in the whole fraternity system, and what to look for in a fraternity.

In wishing everybody a happy summer, we'll sign off until fall. Gosh, it's going to be great not having that bird Harry Green buzzing in our ears until the middle of September or thereabouts, pushing us for THE RAINBOW letter.

CHARLES H. HARPER

St. Louis

WE WERE very glad to have another visit from Max Haubensock of Switzerland who is visiting Earl Page.

W. R. Lake, Missouri '39, has recently taken over a position with General Motors Acceptance Corp., in East St. Louis so that we no longer have the pleasure of his company at our Monday luncheons.

Bill Turner, Ohio Wesleyan '36, has gone to California for a while to study turkey raising, in order that he may improve his own turkey farm here.

Charlie Drake, Westminster '39, has been transferred to the west end of town and no longer is a regular attendant at the Monday luncheons.

"Boots" Kissel, Carneige Tech '36, who was with our group for a while was last reported in Houston, Texas. Street address is 625 W. Alabama.

Glad to see in the May RAINBOW, picture of Forrest Boecker, Cornell, who was with us for quite a while and to learn that he is participating in Delt activities again.

Forrest Werner, Missouri '35, last reported from Omaha, Nebraska.

Attendance at Monday luncheons has held up very well during the summer and we would like to see more Delts here get the Monday habit.

Don Holt, North Carolina '29, struck salt water May 22, drilling. Better luck next time, Donnie.

Attempts to organize a Delt golf tournament are under way. This used to be an annual event but has been dropped the last two years. The boys are too good, maybe?

G. H. BUCHANAN, JR.

San Diego

NEWS WHEN there is news, and none when there is none. That is the San Diego system, so goaders and go-getters might just as well lay off. For, we not only are excruciatingly lazy, we prefer to stay that way. On the other hand—

Harry Malm, Beta Kappa, while not goaded entirely out of his lethargy, has been collecting bricks which could be heaved through a couple of glass houses. Harry has been listing the unacknowledged letters sent to various Delt rushing committees by San Diego alumni, each suggesting that some attention be paid to certain matriculants at certain universities and colleges where we have active chapters. The list is unbelievably imposing; the police say the Central Office is involved; we feel that we have lost some damned good Delts; we are particularly proud here of the men who have joined our Fraternity on the strength of our recommendations; wherefore, we suggest a few beam-extractions before anyone starts to climb us. Otherwise, Harry may buy advertising space in THE RAINBOW and publish his findings.

San Diego Delts may not hold many meetings, but we note that whenever other college fraternities stage alumni gatherings in this neighborhood, they draw from our number for their inspirational speaker. Invariably, their choice is the Rev. George F. (Freddie, to us) Williams, Chi (Kenyon) '95.

There is further news in the announcement that the San Diego Alumni Chapter has another potential member, and another sure-enough big shot. (Just running true to form; just running true to form.) Donald J. Russell, Beta Rho (Stanford) '21, who has been with the Southern Pacific Railroad for years, has come to town as General Manager of the San Diego and Arizona Railway, an important link in the Southern Pacific system.

Ohio Wesleyan's Branch Rickey was in town for three days recently, to look over his Sacramento ball club, the Pacific Coast League link in the Cardinal chain which was playing a series in San Diego. The shake-up undergone by the Sacramento club as a result of the Rickey visit is explanation enough for his failure to give us a tumble.

Ralph Roberts, Beta Xi (Tulane) '22, has resigned from the Southern Title and Trust Company to devote himself to his extensive property interests in Pacific Beach, a San Diego suburb.

Your humble correspondent travelled to Los Angeles to meet Paul Hoffman, and to hear him speak at the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter's luncheon. To report that Paul Hoffman's talk more than paid for the effort, comes close to being the proverbial masterpiece of understatement.

Moreover, there is a quality to that Los Angeles alumni group which is pleasantly impressive. Half a dozen San Diego Delts have commented upon it as that more or less indefinable something that all of us believe the Fraternity should mean when our years as actives have ended.

Your correspondent may get run out of San Diego for that Los Angeles plug. Until which time, or until Herbert Bartling can dig up someone who "has something on the ball," San Diego's delightfully dilatory Delts will continue to do things about as they damn well please and in no other fashion.

STUART N. LAKE

San Francisco

FRANK P. ADAMS, Stanford '31, recently married Constance Harcourt-Palmer and is now honeymooning in Honolulu. He enjoyed the distinction of turning down Life magazine's offer to send a cameraman along with them for a story "Life goes on a Honeymoon." H. Lawrence Beemer, Stanford '29, had luncheon with us the other day. Just returned from Saigon, China (near Hong Kong) where he has been that "Singer Sewing Machine Man" for the past ten years.

George Parrish, Jr., California

'43, freshman son of George Parrish, Sr., California, '15, won the broad jump in the "Little Big Meet" between Stanford and California this year with a jump of twenty-three feet. A "chip off the old block," George, Sr., being a block letter man in baseball.

EDWIN H. CLARK

Seattle

THE ANNUAL golf picnic which was held Friday, May 10, at Lakewood Golf Club, was attended by ninety-seven Delts. The party was a big success and Delts from many parts of the state attended.

Several nights before school closed for the summer, a number of the alumni gathered at the Shelter to discuss rushing for the coming year and to wish the actives and those who graduated, the best of luck.

It has been rumored that Ed Campbell may take over the duties left vacant by Bob Dyer as Bob is now located in Alaska.

We understand also that Frank "Dory" Knowlton has tendered his resignation as acting chapter adviser, a position he held for the past two years—maybe his bride wishes him home evenings. Dory deserves a lot of praise for his good work during the past two years.

Incidentally, our "Prexy," Bob Hartnett, signed up his son for Δ T Δ. He should be in the class of '62.

BOB WATT

Sioux City

AT OUR annual dinner Gene Kelly was elected president and Stewart Mallory secretary for the ensuing year. The reunion this year was its usual success and we were especially pleased with the large out-of-town representation.

We have resumed our regular weekly luncheons in the Egyptian Room of the Oasis every Thursday noon. We want to extend a cordial invitation to any visiting Delts to join us whenever they are in this territory.

Preparations are being made for the annual rushing party early this fall. Any chapters rushing boys in this territory should contact us so that if they have been missed we can make their acquaintance and include them in our annual gathering. It is probable that delegations from Ames, Iowa City, and Vermillion will attend as usual.

JAMES M. BOLKS

Topeka

THE TOPEKA Delts have been for some time trying to organize an effective alumni association. We believe that we are now ready to go and have elected the following officers: Donald Loudon, president; Bob Gardner, vice-president; Charles Blakely, secretary; and Harry Brandon, treasurer.

We are planning to give a rushing party June 28 and are hoping to have actives from all three Kansas chapters participate.

Don McEntire has been appointed chairman of our rushing committee and he is really "going to town."

C. G. BLAKELY, III

Toronto

SORRY, OUT to lunch. Will be back for next issue.

CHAS. E. HAWKE

Tulsa

RUSHING HAS held the spotlight in the Tulsa alumni group for the past several months. Hirst Suffield, president, has appointed Lawrence Wilson chairman of rushing activities and Bob Bates and Bert Bass to help on the committee. A carload of members of the active chapter at Norman, Oklahoma, were in Tulsa the other night to hear Delt "Pinky" Tomlin's orchestra which was here to open up the newest dance spot, "The Coconut Grove." "Pinky" introduced a new song which he had written, I Did It and I'm Glad. The crowd was enthusiastic in its approval. Besides attending the dance, these actives did some fine rushing while they were in town. Among the alumni in attendance: Herrick Babcock, Bob Van Horn, Hirst Suffield, Don Frantz, Major Perrine, Norbert Proctor, Lawrence Reis, and Russell Pride.

Bill Bowman is spending the summer down in Marshall County, Oklahoma, working for the Pure Oil Company. Jack Getty has recently located in Tulsa. We are glad to have Jack with us as he is already taking an active part in the alumni program here. Lawrence Wilson was runner-up in the Trans-Mississippi golf meet and is to play at the Broadmore Hotel Invitation meet in Colorado Springs next month. Ronnie Johnston and Jack Reilly are also taking their golf seriously these days. Don Frantz stepped off the deep end and changed Betty Whipple's name to Mrs. Don Frantz. Hirst Suffield has been making quite a few business trips to Houston this summer and always sees Jimmy Knoll who is with the Atlantic Oil Company down there. Everett Filly still comes to Tulsa often. We certainly appreciate his looking up Delts when he is here. Walt Jones was supposed to have been here not long ago. Walt, next time give me a ring and we will round up some of the Kansas gang for a good old visit.

At the annual election of officers for the Tulsa University Club, Harvey Heller was elected to the presidency. This is the third time for Harvey in this position. Bob Bates and Lawrence Wilson were elected to the Board of Governors.

The Wichita letter that Dorth Coombs writes is always read with interest by a number of our chapter. There are quite a group of us ex-Jayhawkers who would certainly like to meet with you all up there sometime. I know that the good work will be carried on with Max

Hamilton, Bob Dice, Curt Alexander, Paul Skinner, and the rest of you to get in behind it.

We are planning a rush party to be given at Oakhurst Country Club. It is to be a buffet-supper affair—and the ladies are to be invited too. Eating and dancing on the court just south of the club house and swimming and rushing will all contribute to making this party a big success. Reservations for 80 people are being made. This annual rushing party is always given one hundred per cent support by the alumni group.

BERT BASS

Wichita

SORRY WE couldn't have had a real reporter for our Wichita chapter, they deserve a lot of credit for a number of things, but one of them isn't news. At our last luncheon, June 26, your correspondent really tried to wrangle short items to be submitted by each member; the net result was a contribution by our president, Max Hamilton, of practically all of the following.

Since the advent of the regular luncheon meetings at the Wichita Club, in the Hotel Lassen the last Wednesday of each month, we have been having good attendance—probably the reason for this is the fact that the treasurer, Jack Spines, is absolutely prohibited from soliciting any funds at these regular meetings, and also that speeches of any kind are banned. The boys really enjoy eating together when they are sure that they will neither be panned nor dunned.

Our biggest piece of chapter news is one that really has the boys talking—the marriage of our outstanding confirmed bachelor, Dorth L. Coombs, June 12, 1940, at Winfield, Kansas, to Virginia Poole. Several Delts attended, including Gene Hibbs, who, being a "doubtful Thomas," made the trip from Indianapolis, Indiana, to see that it actually happened. In addition to seeing that everything got off to a good start, he accompanied the newlyweds as far as Indianapolis on their wedding trip. Dorth had won a trip East and up into Canada, and some of the boys think that since he had the trip financed he decided to make it a honeymoon. Dorth is a real Delt, a loyal alumnus, and the boys wish him the same continued success in this new venture.

W. E. (Gene) Stanley was recently elected president of the Bar Association of the State of Kansas.

A number of our other Delts are doing things in a big way, but we will save that for another time, and try to make the dead line with what we have now.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Beta—Ohio University

BETA's outstanding award of the year was the coveted ranking as scholastic leader of all Delt chapters. This award held full merit in view of the fact that  $\Delta T \Delta$  topped all national fraternities, having more than fifty chapters with a scholastic rating twice as high above the all-men's average as her nearest competitor.

Through this accomplishment Beta received the Northern Division Scholarship Plaque and the Ohio University Interfraternity Scholastic Cup. As a fitting climax to a scholastically successful year, our newly elected president, Steve Fuller, was given Phi Beta Kappa recognition.

The Delt house was well represented in campus activities with Charlie Loftus chairman of the Senior Ball; Bob Jolly president of the Blue Key chapter; graduate student Bud Resch outstanding in dramatics; and Bill Evans and Tommy Morgan had featured operatic leads in the campus performance of The Bohemian Girl.

John O'Brien was tapped for Torch, Ohio's outstanding honorary, in that organization's spring ceremony. Warren McClure, who handled decorations at the Junior Prom, was given a scholarship to Northwestern while Jim Bartlett received a fellowship at Ohio University.

Len Farmer was appointed chairman of the 1941 Junior Prom, most important dance of the school year. John Dengel was advertising manager of the Athena and a member of the Board of Editors of the Ohioan. Next year he will be business manager of the Athena. Dick Foster and Gene Sample have been active in the sports office of the University Post and Phil Mahan made a creditable record as a publication photographer.

In interfraternity athletics the men from Beta finished second in the race for the sports trophy. In

Editor's Note: Not all of the chapters are represented in this department in this number. If you do not find your chapter, tell the boys about it when you go back for Homecoming this fall. There are many interesting reports in the letters presented. Remarks which open many of the letters indicate a uniformity—this is not by design. The fact that a "successful year" is reported is verified in each case with a long list of accomplishments. You will be pleased with the number of chapters leading in scholarship, and the number of Delt chapters who have been recognized by Phi Beta Kappa. Extra-curricular activities are a strong point—publications, sports, and all types of campus activities. You will note a healthy balance of activities and a splendid continuity.

the Torch Interfraternity Sing, Ohio Delt chapters once again received the second-place decision after a very closely contested concert.

Of the chapter's several dances, the Delt Winter Formal, which featured the Charlie Barnett band, was most outstanding.

Prospects for next year are very bright with a strong group of officers and a well-rounded senior class of sixteen men.

JOHN E. DENGEL

Gamma—W. & J.

JUNE 8 ended another successful year—the seventy-ninth to be exact—for Gamma. The evening of that same day eight members of the chapter received their diplomas. This year we lost Fred Bealafeld, Dan Core, Allan Harrison, Bill Jacobs, Bob McCluskey, Fred Zollinger, and Wendell Leapline who had been our president for the past year.

Placing equal emphasis upon scholarship and activities Gamma was once again represented in honoraries, publications, and all other activities on the Washington and Jefferson campus. A few of the many positions held by Delt chapters this past year were: the editor and business manager of the weekly newspaper, The Red & Black, Bill

Jacobs and Fred Zollinger by name; Al Fawcett was the business manager of the yearbook, The Pandora; Sam Robinson, George Hinkens, and Bill Dickie on the executive staff of the literary publication, the Gambolier; and Bill Jacobs editing the Student Handbook. The chapter was well represented on all of the editorial and business staffs.

Turning to other activities we find Bink Leapline and George Hall on the tennis team; Bobby Andrews on the track squad; Ralph Vernon on the mat crew; Chuck Wilson in both golf and swimming; Wally Kettlewell in basketball; and George Hall starring on the gridiron. In the realm of executive positions we had the president of Student Council and the secretary of the Sophomore class. We could also claim Delt members in the glee club, the band, the orchestra, and the Session and the Deaconate of the College Church.

In the way of honoraries we had Sam Robinson, Watson Sherrard, Alex Fricke, and Bob Andrews in Eta Sigma Phi, the classical honorary; Sam Robinson and Al Fawcett in Kappa, the fraternity honorary; Joe Hufschmitt and Al Fawcett in Phi Sigma, biology; Bill Jacobs and Fred Zollinger in Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism; and Dan Core, Bob McCluskey, Sam Robinson, and Fred Zollinger in Pi Sigma Alpha, political science society.

The chapter's scholarship again ranked high in the first semester grading, with the underclassmen rating second place on the campus and the Seniors in fifth place. At this writing the Fraternity rating for the last semester has not yet been completed but the fellows as a whole feel that they have once again held to former standards.

The House was as usual quite well represented at all of the college dances during the year as well as at the Pledge Dance and the Post-Prom House Party. A large number of the men participated in the annual Quadrille, which is sponsored by Henry Ford.

In April we elected our officers for the year 1940-41. George Hinkins was selected as president; Ralph Vernon, vice-president; Dan Finkbeiner, treasurer; Tom Urban-sky, recording secretary, and Jack Rynd, corresponding secretary. Dan Finkbeiner has also been made rushing chairman and he faces the problem of dealing with a brand new rushing situation. Next fall the college is inaugurating the famous preferential rushing system on this campus. All the fraternities are behind the plan and it should work to advantage by ironing out some of the difficulties of other systems.

So, with a year such as the one which has just been reviewed, behind us, and with a great gang of fellows who are ready to tackle the coming year, Gamma is bound to mark up even greater attainments.

JOHN D. RYND, JR.

Delta—Michigan

DELTA started another successful year last fall by pledging twenty-four fine men, and by initiating twenty of them in March. Because of this large class coming in next year and since only eight Seniors are graduating, we have found it necessary to secure an annex in which the Sophomores will live next year. This is the first official fraternity annex at Michigan and is another evidence of the rise of our chapter.

Another important event which happened this year was Delta's becoming an active participant in the new Delt House-System. The House is enthusiastically one hundred per cent behind the System, and we are looking forward to a better year with it in operation, under Walt Wrigley, the chapter chairman.

One of our main objectives is to have every man in the House active in some extracurricular activity. This year Delta was represented in almost every form of activity on the campus and several men held some of the key positions. Perhaps our most active men were Ward Quall, our new president, who held such positions as President of the Men's Judiciary Council, Sphinx and Michigamma (honorary societies), and was on the yearbook staff, and

Carl Wheller, retiring president, who was one of the two most active men on campus. Some of the other boys were active in the Men's Union, publications, as athletic managers, and in the campus honorary societies.

Probably the most amazing thing that happened this year was our spectacular showing in intramural athletics. Last year we finished thirty-second, but this year, due to the fine work of George Cornell, athletic chairman, we finished fourth. Naturally we are going to strive for an even higher position next year and with the interest that was shown this year, we ought to succeed. In the scholarship ratings among fraternities, we were fourth this year, which is a decided improvement over past years.

This summer the house is going to be remodeled inside and a new kitchen installed, so next fall we will enter a practically new house, all set for rushing under Emmet Whitehead and Bud Chamberlain, rushing chairmen.

JOHN W. YAGER

Epsilon—Albion

THE EPSILON Shelter underwent a number of changes during the latter part of the school year. The newly completed recreation room was outfitted with modernistic furniture. Some of the other improvements were new curtains for the dining and music rooms and new furniture for the guest room. To make the job of rejuvenation complete, the chapter plans to have the outside of the Shelter painted during the summer.

Epsilonians were very active in intramural sports during the 1939-40 school year. As a result of the efforts of the Epsilon athletes in football, basketball, baseball, and track, the chapter ended the year at the top in Albion's interfraternity sports program.

At the last Northern Division Conference the Albion Deltas were awarded the plaque for the highest increase in scholarship. The boys are making every effort to retain the award for next year.

All of Epsilon's time has not been devoted to athletics and scholastic achievement. The chapter has also been active along the social line.

The annual "Black and White" party was a great success. It consisted of two dances, one formal and the other informal. The formal dance was held on a Friday night at the Hart Hotel in Battle Creek. The informal dance took place the following night at the Shelter. Last June 15 the chapter held its yearly get-together in Detroit with a dance at Eastwood Park Gardens. Before the next school year the boys plan to meet at the house for another reunion.

Zeta—Western Reserve

ZETA ended the year with the cup for the University championship in intramural sports for 1939-40. Last year we had the runner-up trophy.

In the course of events leading up to this sports victory the Deltas at Reserve also captured University championships in ping pong (both singles and doubles), volleyball, swimming, and runner-up cups in basketball free throw, indoor and outdoor track, and two league championships in bowling.

Vernon Kolze won the individual University championship in ping pong singles, John DuChez was the individual high point winner in outdoor track, and George Noland and Ted Worthington tied for high point scoring in swimming.

All in all we could not have hoped for a better sports record and we owe much of our success to the fine plugging of "Lefty" Giles, our competent intramural manager.

Three Zeta men—one sophomore, Walt Leonard, and two juniors, Don Voss and Bill Poe—were "tapped" for Warion Society, an upperclassmen's honorary society for work in extracurricular activities. They will be formally initiated next fall. Leonard also was elected secretary of Foil and Mace, fraternity political party, and was elected to the student council of the men's college. Poe received a re-appointment as business manager of the Reserve Tribune, student weekly newspaper. Voss is planning this summer's rushing for Zeta with co-chairman Ted Worthington.

Law student Jack Baskin was named for Order of Coif, national honorary law society. Baskin, a Phi Beta Kappa, has been editor of a law publication at Reserve's law school. John DuChes is going to attend George Washington Medical School to further his medical career, while Fred Bonte, '42, is attending the summer session at the University of California to study physics.

Dave Lash, newly inducted president of Zeta, was also elected vice-president of the Reserve Interfraternity Council. Other newly inducted chapter officers include Homer Giles, vice-president; Edward Langdon, guide; Joseph Manak, sergeant-at-arms; and Jack Centini and William Poe were both re-elected as recording and corresponding secretaries respectively. Bud Latimer was appointed treasurer to succeed Dick Tomer. Bill McSorley is Zeta's pledgemaster for the current summer and the coming fall.

Delt brothers among the members of the graduating class at Reserve were past president Ed Hoffman, who has been active on the fencing team; Gard Whitehead, who just saw the second initiation of a group of men who called him their pledgemaster; Bob Baskin, Warion member and swimming star; Art Battles, swimming manager; Evan James, swimming star and law student; George Leet; Bill Berkeley, hockey star and Who's Who Among American College Students; Bob Myron, law student; Jack Gorman; George Noland, wrestling and football star; and John Lucas, "All-Ohio" football man.

Hockey letters were won by Giles, Voss, Latimer, and Dave Miller; Noland, "Willie" Waggle, and Ernie Eros won football letters, and Worthington won a tennis letter. Basketball numerals were presented to Fred Oldenburg and a sweater to Jack Schaefer for his work as intramural manager. Swimming letters went to Dave Morrison, Clarence Allen, Evan James, and manager Art Battles. Ed Hoffman won a letter in fencing.

The announcement of these awards came on Campus Day at Reserve and close behind it came an official bulletin from the dean's office that  $\Delta T \Delta$  stands fourth in scholarship among fourteen fraternities on the campus.

Just after the exam period Zeta held the first spring initiation it has held in years. One freshman, Fred Meyer, and two sophomores, Bill Zornow and Bill White, are now the proud wearers of the golden square of  $\Delta T \Delta$ .

To top the year off the Deltas gathered at Aurora Country Club to dance to the music of Gil Crest's orchestra at their spring formal. This affair, under the co-chairmanship of Frank Thomas and Walt Lewin, was a fitting climax for a successful year.

As my typewriter types out the final paragraph to this review of the past school year's events I can look to the future with but one thought in mind—may the next year be just as successful.

WILLIAM G. POE.

Kappa—Hillsdale

STRIDING WITH their habitual cadence, Kappa men worked and played their way through the rather kaleidoscopic spring which Hillsdale suffered, and at this moment are enjoying the summer—and vacation.

With the coming of Baccalaureate and Commencement days, we bid "au revoir" to five brothers who brought to a close their four happy years at Hillsdale. Bill Wall, Stewart Stuckey, Howard Furnas, Bill Nichols, and Herk Stout said their goodbyes to the old Central Hall, the Little Theatre, and evening dates in the arboretum. We suspect they'll be back from time to time, but we hate to see them moving out of the house.

But what has happened at Kappa since our last epistle? Let's go back to about March. After the great time everyone had down at Columbus, enthusiasm was high in the House, and on one bleak and dull day in March, the entire chapter turned out for the mass track meet between all the fraternities. It was a huffing and puffing affair and the field house echoed with the coughs of the contestants. After all the times were checked and the score added twice, it was found that  $\Delta T \Delta$  won first place and would someone step forward and get the banner? Another board is no longer blank in the card room!

April came in like a lion and went out like hail—and snow! Elections for the regime of this year and next—Sophomore Bob Manby unanimously elected president; Dick Emmons voted the "Texas Jack" job—vice-president; Bob Kasischke received the quill—recording secretary; Bob Lubeck (how did he ever get the job?) elected corresponding secretary.

Kappa's track men, Stuckey, Emmons, Manby, Swegles, and Beck, chased each other around the oval all spring. During the A.A.U. races in Ann Arbor, Stuckey and Emmons, along with two other men, easily won the relay races. Bob Abrams faithfully did the dirty work—he was track manager. Bill Wall has been doing great work with his racket—a future Tilden? "Howdie" Furnas and Dave Fry are the varsity ball players; Dave trying to be a "Lefty Grove" while "Howdie" is doing a "Pinky Higgins" at the hot corner. The two Delt intramural softball teams, A and B, are fighting for first place in their respective leagues.

Mother's Day was the usual success and the serenade rated the "best ever." Mothers were impressed by the cleanliness of the house, due to a little freshman work, and also seemed greatly impressed by the fine voices in the group singing.

We'll all be back again next fall, so until then, auf Wiedersehen!

ROBERT E. LUBECK

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

WITH THE closing of the year we find Mu again putting in a claim for her share of the campus honors.

George Eyrich, who has been holding the position of editor-in-chief of the campus paper, the Transcript, was also elected into Delta Sigma Rho, debate honorary, and Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary. In the Transcript elections this spring Mu came up with two issue editors for the next year, namely, Charles Stegman and Sidney Rowland.

Three Deltas were chosen by the Ohio Wesleyan student body as representative men of their classes. They were: George Eyrich, senior, Frank Richey, Jr., and Fred Nissen of the sophomore class.

Our newly elected president, Gordy Battelle, was also elected president of Interfraternity Council for the coming semester. Gordy will also serve as social chairman of the University for next year.

The Delts seem to have a monopoly on the State Oratory Contest award because right behind Tracey Jones came Fred Nissen to cop first place in the contest this year.

Bob Decker was tapped into the senior men's honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa, by George Eyrich.

Delts Bill Kraus and Dick Higley were elected into Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics honorary, this year. Then Higley was elected president of the organization for the coming year. In dramatics Delts have had their share of the leads with actors Bill Danford, John Peters, Bill Kraus, Bill Stewart, and Fred Nissen keeping in the spotlight.

In the student body elections the pride of the Freshman class, Ralph "Curly" Copp, was elected president of the Sophomore class for next year. "Curly" also won his numerals in football and shows promise of being one of Wesleyan's "Bishops" regulars next year.

In athletics, Mu hasn't taken a back seat for any other campus group. Delts Edward Deickman, Harold Bartlett, Harold Eppler, and Frank Rickey were Mu's stars of the gridiron. In freshman football we had Robert Owen, Chuck Ireland, Ralph Copp, and Jack Tracy winning their numerals. In track we were represented by Leonard Crull and Paul Schmick who added many points to Wesleyan's score in track this season. Baseball claims Frank Richey, Jr., of course, and Edward Verecke, Dick Ewing, and Roy Schlee.

The Freshmen this year not only had their share of athletic awards but also claimed the presidents of three of the freshman organizations, namely, Norman Scrimshaw, Freshman Bible Club; Edwin Goepper, Freshman Players; and Arthur McElfish, Y.M.C.A.

Mu occupied fifth place in scholarship. This is far below the place where we should be and we feel confident that with all the work we are doing this semester that when the results are published for this last semester we will be right on top.

The election for the coming year resulted in Gordon Battelle being elected president and Chuck Zeigler, vice-president. The other officers are: George Kratt, recording secretary; Ed Hughes, alumni secretary; Sam Frownie, corresponding secretary; and Bob Thomas, treasurer.

Mu is losing twelve seniors this year. They are: Harold Bartlett, Robert Decker, Harold Eppler, George Eyrich, Arthur Gooding, Milton Hader, Donald Hodgson, George Morelock, Robert Schellhase, Paul Schmick, David Steitz, and William Stewart. We will all miss these men greatly but we will be back next year in full force to pledge twelve new ones whom we hope can fill their places.

SAMUEL E. FROWINE, JR.

Nu—LaFayette

DURING THE last college year Nu has made great strides in every field of endeavor on the Lafayette campus. Our rushing was the most successful in the history of the chapter and our members were participating in almost every activity and leading in many.

William U. Meier, '40, headed The Brainerd Society, the main social organization of the campus, during the past year, and Nu's newly elected president, Andrew Horton, was recently elected president of the Student Council. Andy has headed and participated in a number of conferences of student government and should be a fine leader of this vital organization.

Charles Troxell became business manager of the college newspaper last spring and James Sigman was made news editor of that publication. Bill Sears, Bob Montgomery, and pledge Alden Shultz, all of '43, are members of the news staff, as well as Howard Williams and Jack VanRoden on the business board.

Bill Bull, '42, is the vice-president of the Camera Club and has shown real ability in the work which he has turned out.

In the realm of sport Nu's record has improved greatly. With the graduation of George Dochterman last June, the college loses one of its finest athletes, since "Doc" was the first-string varsity end on the gridiron as well as the first baseman on the baseball club for the last two years. This year Fred Love, '42, shows great promise as a varsity backfield man, and Howard Williams and Luther Graves have come up from the Freshman squad to compete for other varsity berths.

Warren Hampe, Bob Montgomery, Pledges Bill Morris and Jorge Martinez are all seeking placement on the varsity soccer squad this fall.

Hampe was elected the sole freshman Student Council member last year, starred on the Freshman wrestling and track teams, participated in three plays, sang in the choir, and maintained a consistent Dean's List scholastic average to become one of the outstanding men on the campus. He was recently further honored by being elected Nu's rushing chairman for the next year.

Nu is also well represented in the winter sports activities. Luther Graves secured a first-string berth on the Freshman basketball squad and Jack Bolton and Emil Sommer were members of this team as well.

Hugh Thomas, '42, proved to be one of the mainstays of the varsity swimming squad, winning his letter and many points for the team. Herm Gailey also distinguished himself in this sport by being number one man on the Freshman free style relay team which broke the college relay record. James Sigman held the swimming managership last year and will continue in this capacity for the coming season, and Charles Troxell, '41, was elected to manage the Freshman basketball team next year.

Besides Warren Hampe on the Freshman wrestling team, Jack Hood, of the recent graduating class, took the intramural honors for the 135-pound class in this sport, by flattening all competition.

This spring, Bill Kraushaar, '42, again proved himself to be one of the best high hurdlers the Lafayette track has ever seen. Emil Sommer, Bob Montgomery, and Warren Hampe all held choice berths on the Freshman squad. Herm Gailey took first place in the hurdles in the intramural track meet.

During the past year in the social line, the Delt house dances, which are an integral part of every dance week-end, are fast setting up a campus precedent for having the biggest crowds and the best bands. (Boy, are we modest!) Along another social line, Malcolm Oberlin and James Sigman came in runners-up in the intramural bridge tournament.

The banquet celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the building of the Shelter was a great success with the largest attendance of alumni in many years. At this banquet memorials were dedicated to the memory of George A. Sigman, Nu '05, and Charles Davenport, Nu '15.

During the summer we are expecting to renovate the Shelter to a considerable extent by repapering the rooms, installing inlaid linoleum in the game room, rewiring the entire house, and replacing the bathroom fixtures.

We are looking forward to the coming rushing season to be one of the finest that we have ever had, and anticipate that we will be able to give our friends a satisfactory report in the fall.

JAMES G. SIGMAN

Omicron—Iowa

THE OLD Shelter seems very quiet this summer with all the fellows away. Some are playing tennis and golf, some are basking in the sun beside a swimming pool, and some, I am told, have jobs! At any rate Omicron's trotter of the Western Hemisphere, Bob Murphy, is giving Cuba the once-over. Bob left immediately after finals for the "Sunny South" and Cuba, and by numerous postcards is enjoying himself immensely. President Chuck Hamilton is working out of Waterloo, Iowa, with a road gang. Bob Beggs and Jim Nelson are working in packing houses in Sioux City and Waterloo, respectively. Glenn Minnich, the favorite son of Bradford, Ohio, is working in the Minnich Bros. Chevrolet Garage.

Omicron ended its social year with a very nice Mother's Day party for the Delt Mothers. Attending the party were Mesdames Ahmann, Beggs, and Murphy of Sioux City; Mrs. Dort of Davenport; Mesdames Carmody and Raymond of Iowa City; and Mrs. Frank F. Woolling of Indianapolis, Indiana. Our house mother, Mrs. Lane, acted as hostess while all the Deltas of Omicron turned out as hosts to their mothers.

Our rushing chairmen over the state are not too early because their work has already shown results. We are looking forward with enthusiasm to our "Big Rush Week" and to the finishing of the work started by them. Our goal is a full house with forty men, and to all the chapters of  $\Delta T \Delta$  we extend our slogan: "Good Luck and Success for 1940-41."

ROBERT F. WOOLLING

Pi—Mississippi

OUR BIG job this summer is, of course, getting our house, which was recently ruined by fire, ready to move into in the fall. Vernon Lash is staying at school all summer and is overseeing the job. The plans at the present are to have the house very much as it was before the fire. Our rush work and summer parties are in the hands of Wilburn Holmes, who is doing a fine job.

Pi chapter hopes that every member of the Fraternity has an enjoyable summer.

ROBERT K. HUMMEL

Rho—Stevens

THE SCHOOL year 1939-40 found Rho well represented in the various campus activities. In the sport fields we had two in basketball, two in soccer, two in lacrosse, three in baseball, two in tennis, three in fencing, one on the rifle team, as well as a good representation in all the interclass teams. Deltas were also found in the glee club, band, dramatic society, chess club, clock and watch class, the Stute (school paper), and the Link (school yearbook). Harvy Hennig, our president was elected editor-in-chief of the Link for the year 1940-41. George Lahey, one of the two Deltas on the Junior Prom Committee, was elected chairman of the committee. We were proud to have Deltas among those elected to Tau Beta Pi and Pi Delta Epsilon, the two honorary fraternities at Stevens. Last, but by far from the least, four of our men were on the Dean's List this past school year.

Early in December Rho held its usual open house formal dance in Jacobus Hall. During the year three closed house dances were held, as well as small "record" dances following various school activities. A Mother's Day program and two Father's Nights added to our social activities and also gave our parents a chance to see what "Life at Stevens" was really like. Topping the year was the annual Spring Sports Day program at which time the run of the house was given to the fairer sex for a week-end and we had to find beds elsewhere. The Interfraternity Council Ball, the last formal dance of the school year and by far the best, found all the Deltas and their dates dancing to the music of Al Donahue and his orchestra.

With this, Rho ended its year's activities and the boys departed for parts unknown for their summer vacations (or jobs).

FRANKLIN B. TUCKER

Tau—Penn State

THE CHAPTER is proud to announce that a Distinguished Service Citation has come to a member of Tau. At Pittsburgh, March 9, Walter B. Nissley, '10, was cited to membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter. The formal presentation was made at the Pittsburgh Founders Day Dinner. We wish to congratulate Brother Nissley, who is the first Tau man to receive this honor, and to express our appreciation for the work he has so diligently done for us. Well done, thou good and faithful . . .

Now that finals are over, and the last din of house party has died away, Tau says goodbye to sixteen good Deltas. Three of the graduates intend to continue their studies: Grant Palmer at Jefferson Medical School, Bob MacGregor at M.I.T., and George Berry at Pitt Law School. To these and to the others, the chapter wishes the best of luck, and offers its assurance that it will keep for  $\Delta T \Delta$  the top place on the campus that they have given it.

Election of officers was held the last of March, and for the first time in many years, the chapter president was elected unopposed. Jack Brand is the new unanimously elected president, Ed Murphy is vice-president, Bob Prichard, recording secretary, and Frank Mitch, corresponding secretary.

Individually, many of the brothers have received campus recognition, but no one in the entire college has had more honors heaped on him, and justly so, than our new president, Jack Brand. For the coming year, Jack has been elected to the following: president of Parmi Nous—oldest society on campus; captain of the golf team; manager of the wrestling team; president of the Athletic Association—one of the most powerful positions on campus, and most recently he was appointed to the Lion's Paw—a senior honorary made up of from eight to ten of the outstanding seniors in the college.

Lest you think now that Tau is a one-man chapter, let me hasten to say that this is by no means the case. Jim Lewis, Tau's 165-pound Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Champion; Len Krouse, star football and basketball player; Sam Byers, a member of the Freshman tennis team, and Leo McShane, 126-pound intramural wrestling champion, all helped to boost the chapter from the athletic standpoint.

It is in campus politics, however, that the chapter really shines. Len Krouse was elected president of the Junior class for the coming year. Len was the only campus clique presidential candidate to defeat the powerful independent party. Walt Gamble and Bob Baggs were elected assistant managers in fencing and golf, respectively, while Phil Martsoff was elected manager of freshman basketball. This brings the number of managers in the chapter to ten.

Tau was also prominent in other fields of endeavor. The Collegian, the college newspaper, Pershing Rifles, Penn State Players, the men's Glee Club and the College Choir all found Delts in the thick of their activity.

With all these achievements, it is not surprising that there is hardly a campus society that doesn't have at least one Delt as a member. Our strong forte is the Blue Key, with eight Delts as members. Next are Parmi Nous and Druids with three members each. Friars and Lion's Paw each have one member from our chapter.

Scholastically, the chapter has improved. When the official rankings for the first semester were published, we found that Tau had advanced ten places on the list. Chief reason for this rise was Grant Palmer's straight "3" average for that semester.

The second semester had hardly begun before Senior Ball week-end arrived, and with it Jan Savitt to provide the music. This officially opened the social season which continued unabated until house party and Alumni Day in the spring. Some of the high lights were: I. F. Ball with Gene Krupa and his band; the dinner we gave for the Kappas; Mother's Day week-end; Karl Keller's wedding with "Scoop" Owens as best man; Junior Prom with Glenn Miller and his orchestra; Kenny Cowlin's marriage to Virginia Weeks; and finally house party and graduation. So another banner year has ended, but we all look forward to an even better year to come.

Only one sad note was found in our record for 1939-40. This was the passing into the Chapter Eternal of George F. "Dad" Elliot of the class of 1915—a fine gentleman and truly a Good Delt. Brother Elliot played an important part in securing for Tau chapter the fine home which we now have. His ever present loyalty to  $\Delta T \Delta$  will serve as an inspiration to all those who were associated with him.

FRANK A. MITCH

Phi—Washington and Lee

PHI of  $\Delta T \Delta$  got off to a successful start this year by pledging sixteen new men. Included in this group were three boys whose older brothers were all members of Phi a few years ago. These boys are Jim Funk, Bill Harrelson, and Bob Peckham. Another member of the pledge class, Pete Hoffman, is the son of the national president of  $\Delta T \Delta$ .

Phi again showed domination in the field of extracurricular activities on the campus at Washington and Lee in sports, clubs, and organizations. Dick Spindle, sophomore from Norfolk, Va., was named varsity basketball manager for the coming year and was also elected as the junior class representative to the student body executive committee.

Leo Rineartz, one of our ten graduating seniors, served the past school year as vice-president of the Student Body and was also captain of the varsity basketball team, which won the Old Dominion court title.

Ross Hersey was tapped into Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, in February as a result of his four years' accomplishments. This past year Ross served as president of the Glee Club and as director of "W&L'zapoppin," a benefit varsity show for the Red Cross. Hersey, along with Reinartz, gives the chapter two O.D.K. members.

Two graduating seniors, Walter Guthrie and Jack Akin, made Phi Beta Kappa, and received scholarships to Harvard for the coming year. Walter also served the past year as track manager, while Jack has won his varsity letter in swimming for three years. Jack, along with Gordon Kalinowski and Sonny Heartwell, served as dormitory councilors the past year.

Charlie Curl was co-captain of the 1940 Washington and Lee track team and was also a member of the "13" Club and the White Friars, honorary fraternities.

Sonny Heartwell served the past year as managing editor of the Calyx, the school annual, and was on the staff of two other school publications, the Ring Tum Phi and the Southern Collegian. He was elected president of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, for the coming year at Washington and Lee.

Three Delts played in the school band, the Southern Collegians. They were Ed Blair, Bobby Boatwright, and E. W. Brockman. On the Christian Council the Delts were represented by Gordon Kalinowski, Hugh Ashcraft, and Tom Martin. George Nielsen was president of Chi Gamma Theta, chemical honorary fraternity, the past year, while both Bill Longan and Billy Webster were members of Tau Kappa Iota, honorary biological society.

Five Delts were members of the Cotillion Club. They were Leo Rineartz, Bob Boatwright, Jim Faulkner, Dick Spindle, and Sonny Heartwell.

Frank Hynson, Leo Rineartz, Al Wysong, and Dick Spindle were all members of Pi Alpha Nu, sophomore honorary fraternity, while White Friars, its rival organization, claims Emil Rassman, Charlie Curl, and Bob Boatwright.

Phi chapter was indeed fortunate the past year in securing Mrs. A. B. Coleman for its new house mother. "Aunt Bess," as she is affectionately called, has done a remarkable job in one short year and has made herself an indispensable unit of the Shelter.

Fraternity officers chosen for the coming year are Emil Rassman, president; Walter Wilkins, vice-president; Hugh Ashcraft, recording secretary, and Sonny Heartwell, corresponding secretary.

W. L. HEARTWELL, JR.

Chi—Kenyon

SATURDAY, JUNE 8, Chi put a glorious finish to one of the most successful years the Kenyon chapter has ever had. In the afternoon, eleven neophytes were initiated, and in the evening seventy Chi Delts of this year and of years gone by gathered in the renovated Lodge to fete the initiates and speed the seniors on their way with words of praise.

Dr. Howard Fishback was toastmaster of the banquet, and he and his fellow alumni put on a show for the chapter the like of which has not been seen for many a year. Among those present was "Dad" Pumphrey, who was happy to discover that he had helped initiate most of the men in the room. Each of the initiates had a word to say, as did the departing seniors, and "Tink" Herl received a jeweled pin as a "thank you" from the whole chapter. "Tink" came in for more than his share of praise for his splendid administration of the chapter this year.

The alumni were more than kind in praising our conquests, but few of them knew how many and how varied were the honors that Chi had received during the year. We pointed out that Sam Cook had helped us take the intramural swimming championship in a thrilling meet. We told them that our A League basketball team was one of the finest that Chi has ever produced, and that with the help of Bateman, Herl, Herrick, and King the team won the title without a loss. The alumni heard of Ken Dalby and the brand of tennis that carried him to the finals of the intramurals tournament, and of the relay team that was made up of three weight men and a sprinter but won easily. They learned that we had won the horsemanship trophy again and lost the polo by one goal in the hardest tussle ever seen in the Kenyon Arena. Some of the alumni saw "Tink" Herl and Joe Rudge play baseball for Kenyon, and others watched "Bud" Listug display the form which won him a tennis letter.

Those alumni who were interested found out that five of Chi's seven seniors graduated cum laude or better, and that the outlook for a high scholastic standing is better than we had at first thought. Most of the alumni were glad to hear that we had regained possession of the singing trophy. The Delt monopoly on campus publications came in for its share of conversation, and we told them that Don McCleary edits the Collegian, and Jim Logan is business manager of the Year Book, to say nothing of Listug, Weaver, and Southard, all of whom hold important publication jobs.

It was pleasant to be able to report such an imposing array of victories, but we were even more interested in paving the way for next year. With the help of our own alumni and our other brother Delts, we plan to get a group of pledges in the fall who will carry on the Delt tradition. Jim Logan will handle the important job of chairman for pledging this year, and he is the man to notify if you have a word to be heard.

We have had a fine year, and we hope that next year will come close to equaling it. Our one regret is that we are so isolated on our little Hill that we seldom get the chance to entertain a wandering brother. All we can say is that if you go out of your way to drop in on us, we will make it worth your while.

Omega—Pennsylvania

AS A NEW group of officers took the baton from the retiring Seniors, a full program of spring activities was launched and carried through to finish the year in a blaze of success. The leaders chosen for the 1940-41 year are: president, Harvey

E. Smith; vice-president, Don W. Lynch; corresponding secretary, Frank Birch; recording secretary, Victor A. Edelmann; treasurer, Clifford J. Shane; assistant treasurer, William G. Donaldson.

Spring saw many of the Delts working diligently on a wide variety of campus activities. Jack Harrington, editor-in-chief of the Record, presented one of the most successful yearbooks at Pennsylvania in many years. Much credit must also be given to Johnny Collins, whose effort as business manager made the publication a financial winner. Jack Read, besides winning applause from the brothers as a shower room virtuoso, was admitted to the Scales Society, honorary musical group, because of his ardent effort and outstanding talent as a member of the men's Glee Club. Charlie DeLone retained his position on the class cabinet, his popularity indicated by a large vote of next year's Junior class.

As an outlet to the competitive inclinations of many of the Omega Delts, a strenuous intramural schedule was undertaken by the chapter under the guidance of Lou Schoenleber and Bill Sheeler, athletic directors. The name of  $\Delta T \Delta$  was carried to the finals in swimming, golf, and horseshoes, while the splashers came within an eyelash of their third straight victory in the Kestler Relay. With most of the men returning to next year's squads, hopes are high for Delt supremacy in intramural athletics in the coming year.

Several brothers starred in varsity sports as Bob Mabry wielded a big stick on the lacrosse team, Jim Herbig was a steady performer on the Ivy League championship tennis team, and coxswain Dan Wessling barked his orders to a better-than-average lightweight crew. Cliff Shane worked hard at spring football practice toward winning a starting berth on the squad in the fall.

Though hardly dry behind the ears as Delts, the Freshman class has already sounded a warning that it is going to keep up the honors of the chapter. Bob Lowd has already set the pace, competing in the band managerial competition, and showing activity in publications. Continued activity by this class will help to cushion the shock of the departure of an unusually active Senior class.

The social season, including a barn dance, record dance, and best-girl picnic was climaxed by the house dance of Ivy Ball Week-end. Attired in their best formal regalia, the brothers, their dates, and many guests swarmed into the Shelter to produce a good time for all and one well up to the high standards set in years before.

Sandwiched between the last day of classes and the beginning of examinations, the annual picnic was held at Lloyd Irving's Maryland estate. Members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes nursed sore backs and aching muscles as the result of a friendly inter-class fight, while Houseman Oakly's refreshments added much to the success of the day.

Brothers departed for home this year with the feeling that a good year was behind them, and though the absence of the graduating class will be felt, there are expectations of an even bigger year ahead.

FRANK V. BIRCH, JR.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

WITH THE closing of school came the completion of another successful year at Beta Alpha. Eleven of the sixteen men pledged were initiated, and these men are now actively giving great support to the Fraternity.

One of the high lights of the college year was the Winter Formal. A great deal of time and effort was spent on the dance, and due to the social chairman, Dave Hancock, it was a real success. Crested favors were given to all of the dates and elaborate decorations made the occasion one of the outstanding to be held on the campus this year.

Another point of interest is that Allan Jones, a great American tenor, and his wife, Irene Hervey, screen star, were guests at the chapter house one evening for dinner. Our former chapter adviser, Eddie Davidson, was fortunate enough to have made their acquaintance, and it was through this acquaintance that they were our guests.

Individual achievements were attained this year by our president,

Don Batton; Buck Mauck, Wells McGurk, Gordon Englehart, and Bob Lucas. Batton was selected to serve on the Union Board, Mauck was elected president of the Senior class, McGurk earned his numerals in football, Englehart made Skull and Crescent and Phi Eta Sigma, and Lucas made Phi Eta Sigma. Ben Shera was also a Skull and Crescent man.

The year closed with a "Siwash" dinner in honor of the sixteen graduating seniors.

HARRY E. HUFF

Beta Beta—DePauw

THE BOYS of the golden square have long been known for their extracurricular activities on the DePauw campus and this year was no exception.

Publications seemed to have an unusual attraction. Bill Welch, chapter president, was editor first semester of The DePauw, the tri-weekly campus newspaper, while John Wolaver was that publication's advertising manager. Alan Holtzman, Charlie Landis, Roy Schluchter and Roland Roos covered important beats on the paper, Rollie writing a sports column.

Dick Yocom was the business manager of the Mirage, University yearbook. This year's Mirage, incidentally, was considered the finest in a number of years. Fred Rohles and Dick Green showed a lot of super-salesmanship in selling this publication.

The Boulder, the student magazine, had none other than Ted Engleheart as its leading salesman.

The Delts had their share and then some in the honoraries. Bill Welch was a member of Blue Key, the highest honorary to which a senior can belong, and was also president of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic honorary, and the student body. Bill Blake was chairman of the publications board and the disciplinary board.

Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary for men interested in advertising, has Fred Tucker, Bill Blake, Dick Yocom, John Wolaver, King Collson, Charles Warner and Buford Spencer in its fold. Al Holtzman is active in Sigma Delta Chi, along with Bill Welch.

Bill Blake, John Manning, Dick

Hughes, John Wolaver, Bob Kimbrough, Al Holtzman, and Ken Nolan are all members of Delta Omicron Chi, pre-med honorary.

Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, had Bill Welch, Bill Carmell, and Bill Quebbeman among its members.

Beta Alpha Sigma, sophomore honorary, had Bill Welch, Fred Tucker, George Montooth, Bill Adams, Dick Yocom, and Howard Parrish. Duzer Du, dramatics honorary, has Robert Glass and Charles Warner among its leading actors.

Outstanding in athletics was the Freshman class. Don Ritzenthaler, Ed Blake, and Jim Briggs won numerals on the Freshman football squad. Among the few winning numerals in Freshman basketball were Dean Dooley and Dick Fillbrandt.

Ted Edwards, Vernon Peltzer, and Laddie Porter were members of the "Tiger" varsity football squad. Fred Tucker did some beautiful defensive work as a guard on the basketball squad.

George Montooth, Little State Champion in the 100- and 220-yard dashes, broke his own record by running the century in 9.8 this spring. Fred Rohles and Bill Armstrong also earned letters in track. Dean Dooley, Lynn Ebert, and Don Owen were awarded Freshman track numerals.

Socially, the boys of Beta Beta had a highly successful year. Our serenades, featuring the tenor quartet, the "Four Counts," our spring and fall dances, our formal sweetheart banquet, our picnics, hay rides, swimming party and Alumni Day banquet gained for us a reputation as the social leaders of the campus.

The new officers under whom Beta Beta hopes to have an even more successful year are: Mark Bright, president; Richard Yocom, vice-president; Alan Holtzman, secretary; Roy Schluchter, corresponding secretary, and George Bates, treasurer.

ROY T. SCHLUCHTER

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

THE YEAR 1939-40 is now closed and Beta Gamma can point with pride to the achievements of her men in various campus activities.

In the fall Orv Fisher completed his third year as varsity center on the football team. Tom Corrigan and Bob Meek earned varsity letters as members of Wisconsin's Big Ten Champion cross-country team. George Canright was again varsity cheerleader.

The fall also brought Life magazine to the campus to portray a typical football week-end. Brooks Conrad, with the aid of an Alpha Phi, lasted out the week-end for the magazine.

Along political lines, we found that we had three very good politicians. Phil Dressler was elected to the Union Board, the student governing board. Bill Deer was chosen as a member of the Interfraternity Board and Ray Kuehlthau was elected to the Board of Governors of the Fraternity Buyers Coöperative. These three organizations are the most powerful boards on the campus and it is quite an achievement to have a man on each of the boards.

In publications, Brooks Conrad was on the editorial staff of the Daily Cardinal and Don Ely was assistant business manager.

In intramural athletics we found ourselves champion in our usually strong sports, winning the golf and bowling titles again. We have been champions in these two sports for the last several years. We also finished high in the race for the championship in other sports, but were eliminated by the ultimate winners of the Badger Bowl emblem of all-around supremacy in intramural athletics.

Due to this fine showing in athletics we are looking forward to the coming year as one which will see us assume top positions on the campus.

EUGENE F. KUEHLTHAU

RICHARD A. HIGLEY

Beta Delta—Georgia

WE CAN look back with pride on the most successful year that Beta Delta has had in a long time. In the last five months we initiated six men and pledged seven who will be initiated in the fall.

Beta Delta has been very active in intramural sports, reaching the upper division in every one of them except track. Our new pledge, Horace Johnson, made the Freshman nine, and we hope that he will be one of the regular men next year.

In the year 1939-40, Beta Delta has had more honors bestowed on it than any other fraternity on the campus. Lee Price was elected to Sphinx, also was elected president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, Gridiron, Blue Key, and Omicron Delta Kappa. James Carmichael was elected to Phi Delta Phi, the legal fraternity, and to Gridiron. Marion Dasher and Bob Hall, our treasurer, were elected to Delta Sigma Pi, the commerce fraternity. Brother Hall has given up the job of managing the varsity boxing team, and Bill Hamilton will take over with the help of Brother Parrott. Donald E. Hamilton was elected "prexy," James Carmichael, vice-president, and Bob Hall was re-elected treasurer. Billy Blackburn was elected rush chairman, and Brothers Carmichael and Hall were elected to represent  $\Delta T \Delta$  in the Pan-Hellenic Council.

During Homecoming, Beta Delta received second place for having the best and most original decoration. The breakfast given after the annual Friday night Little Commencement dance was well represented by alumni. Over thirty-five Deltas came back to hear Tommy Dorsey, and to see how the chapter is coming along.

Don Hamilton and Billy Blackburn were chosen to represent Beta Delta at the Southern Division Conference. They came back with many helpful pointers about rushing, which we are going to use this fall. All the alumni chapters in Georgia are going to help us during the summer, especially the Savannah chapter.

GEORGE GABELIA

Beta Epsilon—Emory

THE YEAR just completed has been one of the most successful in all Beta Epsilon's fifty-eight years on the Emory campus. Since Christmas we have made many improvements in the house, the most important of which is our new game room which is paneled in light oak and lighted by indirect fixtures. Brothers Eddie Gazelle and Buford Moore have been the leaders in this endeavor.

The new group of officers promises to sponsor a very efficient administration. The new officers are: Wallace Stewart, president; Earl Royals, vice-president; Glover Jordan, treasurer; Lee Dickens, secretary. The new finance committee has already proved its merit by placing the chapter on a sounder financial basis than it has been on in years. Hats off to Jordan.

Our social season has been a most successful one. On Founders Day we held a dinner-dance at one of the leading Atlanta hotels. The alumni gave us a stag outing, May 6, which was one of our most enjoyable functions. May 25 was the date of our annual Senior Banquet which was held at the Biltmore Hotel and followed by a dance. Much credit is due Justus Gower for his efforts in behalf of the social side of the Fraternity.

As to our scholarship, one thing only need be said. Recently we won a cup in competition with Gamma Psi and Beta Delta chapters for scholarship awarded by the alumni chapter in Atlanta.

Athletics continue to progress under the able direction of Carl Chandler and his efforts are very much appreciated by the whole chapter. Ed Cline and Glover Jordan show great promise as track stars. Jordan has just been elected a junior athletic manager.

The Emory Players show signs of complete Delt domination in the near future with Brothers Eddie Gazelle, Wallace Stewart, Herbert Stewart, and Justus Gower among those taking a very active part. Wallace Stewart has just been awarded a charm for his services to the players.

During the spring a very successful rushing campaign was conducted and seven very promising men were pledged. Recently five men have been initiated.

In closing, Beta Epsilon wants to wish all the other Delt chapters a very successful year for 1940-41.

EDWARD M. WEST

Beta Zeta—Butler

MY FIRST letter is indeed a pleasure to write because this year the Deltas of Beta Zeta made a clean sweep of the honoraries as well as capturing major offices in other extracurricular activities. Hugh Byron Smeltzer, graduating chapter president, very ably carried on his duties as president of the Student Council, and at the recent Council election, Brothers Don Sobbe and Ross Stevens were elected as senior and sophomore representatives respectively.

Utes, the sophomore men's honorary, chose four Deltas to wear their multi-colored caps—Robert Smith, Robert Pitcher, Edward Taylor, and Ross Stevens. Later, at the election of that organization, Ross Stevens was elected president for the coming year.

Brother Stevens has very materially aided Beta Zeta. Besides his already mentioned activities he was one of only two organized men elected to Phi Eta Sigma, national Freshman scholastic honorary. He was also elected to the position of being the most outstanding Freshman in the entire class at Butler. Brother Richard Hudelson was the other organized man elected to Phi Eta Sigma.

Sphinx chose as wearers of their traditional skull caps for their Junior year, Brothers Leonard Kercheval and Quentin Covert. Blue Key, senior men's honorary, elected Brother Joel Harrod. Joel was also appointed to continue his work as photographic editor of the Drift, Butler's yearbook, a capacity that he is holding for the third consecutive year.

Beta Zeta men are all actively engaged in nearly every activity at Butler, and at the same time still continue to maintain first place ranking in scholarship on the campus.

To put a final touch to a year of great success on the campus, we held our annual spring dinner-dance at the Ulen Country Club in Lebanon, Indiana. The event was preceded by the wedding of Brother "Dictator" Hugh Byron Smeltzer to Miss Kathrynne (Aunt Kate) Goodwine.

Though school is officially over, we will hold initiation for six men Sunday, June 16, 1940. This will enable a completely active chapter to participate in a very active summer rush.

JACK RITCHEY LEWIS

Beta Eta—Minnesota

BETA ETA just completed one of the most successful years in its history at Minnesota. What makes it more successful, all prospects at the present time look forward to an even better year in 1940-41.

The year ended with the acquisition of the fraternity diamond ball title and a gold trophy, the election of several of Beta Eta's members to honorary societies, and the election of its graduating president, Otto Silha, to Phi Beta Kappa.

Otto Silha, who has added distinction to Beta Eta throughout his four years of active membership, was graduated magna cum laude and was the only graduating fraternity man at Minnesota to be elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Otto served as president of Beta Eta for two years, and was also managing editor of the Minnesota Daily and head of many campus activities. Brother Silha was also given the award for the outstanding senior in the journalism school.

Another Beta Eta June graduate who brought distinction to his chapter was Bob Martin. Bob served as treasurer for two years, and as rush chairman his senior year. Bob also, as head of the student identification committee, appeared before the Board of Regents and President Ford, and aided in winning their approval of the student identification system which will soon be put into effect on the campus.

In the honorary line, Elmo Mattox and Wily Souba were elected to Phoenix, junior honorary; and Royal Dean was elected to Phlanx, honorary military fraternity. Gus Gushard was awarded the senior track managership for next year. Other activities were well taken care of with Elmo Mattox as chairman of Freshman Week, and Jack Conway, chairman of fraternity decorations for Homecoming this fall.

The most important activity to all the boys at the present time is the Delt House-System. At the Delt House-System Conference at Indianapolis in April, Beta Eta was represented by thirteen delegates. These boys returned inspired by the eloquence of Kurt Pantzer and by the practicability of his plan.

They immediately set to work in the chapter winning approval for the acceptance of the House-System, and after Brother Pantzer's visit to

Beta Eta in May, all the boys are really "Delt House-System conscious."

But along with all our gains of the year we suffered another loss, that of Dick Savidge, resident adviser. However, Dick left us with a chapter of forty-five men, and a full house to start off the new school year. With many of the men taking example of Dick's untiring efforts for Δ T Δ, Beta Eta is rapidly nearing its goal—best on the Minnesota campus.

JOHN T. CONWAY

Beta Theta—Sewanee

ENCOURAGED by the success of last year's rushing under rush captain "Hap" Hale, Beta Theta is experimenting this year hoping to excel itself in this vital activity. For the 1940 season, Philip DeWolfe is the captain, assisted by Brothers McCrea and Boswell of the Junior and Sophomore classes. This expansion is considered significant among our achievements this year.

In the field of athletics our chapter has done very well, and, although we were not among the winners in any particular sport (except swimming), there was general interest and participation. The most outstanding of our representatives was Henry Meleney, who alone won for the Fraternity third place in the swimming meet, and for himself the honor of being high point man for the school. Not only his skillful swimming but his intense loyalty to the Fraternity shown during this meet should command our admiration and gratitude.

Dan Cotter in the track meet was second high point man, and our chapter won fifth. Among our seniors we lose an excellent athlete in Shubael Beasley. For several years he has been a member of the University football squad and has participated keenly in intramural athletics.

Beta Theta has undertaken many repairs in the house during the past year, but in spite of this it has not neglected to have dances, smokers, teas, and "outings." The most successful of these was the dance given March 23.

Nor is Beta Theta behind in other campus activities. "Hap" Hale is the president-elect of the German Club; Philip DeWolfe is a member of the Student Vestry; David Dyer (recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa) is a member of the honor council; Bill Asger is a member of the publications board; Ashby Sutherland is secretary, and Bill Asger and Nick Zeigler members of Sopherim, the only literary society of the University. In all fields Beta Theta during the past year was well represented.

E. N. ZEIGLER, JR.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

OUR SENIORS who go out into the world and leave Beta Lambda are Charles Griffiths, captain of basketball, and a member of the football and baseball teams and a member of O.D.K.; Bud Heisler, co-captain of baseball and O.D.K. member, president of Alpha Kappa Psi, as well as president of Beta Lambda; "Whitey" Elmer, Lehigh's greatest cross-country runner and captain, also is a member of O.D.K. and treasurer of Beta Lambda. There are only a few of the "big men on campus" that are leaving, but before passing on to 1940-41, let's wish the other leaders the best of luck.

Leading  $\Delta T \Delta$  activities next fall is Bob Whipple, elected president of the Sophomore class; Bernie Briody, co-captain of basketball; Bob Ulmer, president of Alpha Kappa Psi; and Dukes Wooters, captain of the track team. Our other activities include Harry Gunnison, manager of lacrosse and president of the Mustard and Cheese Club. He is assisted by two other Delts in the capacity of vice-president and secretary, namely, Dukes Wooters and Wilkes McClave. Al Britton is a newly elected member. Bob Ulmer heads the board of business of the Lehigh Review and one of his assistants is Jim Gordon, who is financial manager, and Bill Taylor and Bob Joslin are members of the board. Arcadia, student governing body of Lehigh, has Bob Ulmer as vice-president, Harry Gunnison as secretary, and also Bob Whipple. Pi Delta Epsilon has Ulmer as vice-president. Eta Kappa Nu has Walter Vogelsbert as one of its members. This year's Cyanide, junior honorary society, took Wilkes McClave and James Gordon, while Omicron Delta Kappa, senior honorary society, took Robert Ulmer and Dukes Wooters. Dukes will serve as treasurer. In the line of managers, Bob Marshall is junior manager of cross-country, Jim Gordon is junior manager of track, and John Longhran is junior manager of lacrosse. Ulmer is Freshman manager of track.

This past spring saw co-captain Bud Heisler on the mound for Lehigh and he was given a lot of support by Brother Griffiths at second base. These two won many a game for Lehigh. Charlie was the third highest batter for the year. On the track Dukes Wooters went undefeated in the 440 and tied the college record. Many Delts were active in numerous fields. Whipple, the leading Freshman pitcher; Birdee, our ace athlete of the Freshmen, won numerals in track and tennis, and Bill Taylor earned tennis numerals. Ulmer and Gordon were out for track managerships and Gunnison and Longhran were working for lacrosse managerial positions. With these activities  $\Delta T \Delta$  is looking forward to another successful year.

J. DUKES WOOTERS, JR.

Beta Mu—Tufts

BETA MU can look back proudly over this year. Although it got started slowly, it gained momentum like the proverbial snowball, and ended as a smashing success. Our rushing this year was under the able guidance of Ray Schoales. We have a fine group of active fellows who are a real credit to the House.

Our social season was most distinctive. Under Don Gifford, chairman, we had two tremendous decoration parties, transforming the lounge first into a ship for rush week, then a tropical garden for our pledge formal in December. Other social events included various other parties and teas, which went off in excellent form. The season was closed late in May with a splendid dinner-dance at the Wellesley Hills Country Club, which served as a truly fitting end to a superb season.

As to chapter functions, several men have been initiated including most of the pledges of this year. Hank Linden was elected president for 1940-41; Dick Pierce, vice-president; Chet Kruszyna is the new treasurer with Marsh Snyder and Jack Allen as his assistants. Bob Clark and Bob Chatfield were elected as recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively.

Outside the chapter we have seen Hump Hosmer and Bill Mahoney out for football, as well as Hump's winter and spring seasons of track. John Gehling, one of our Freshmen, recently elected to Sword and Shield, honorary sophomore society, has been active in soccer, basketball, and baseball; Colt Hutchins and Ed Jervis, also Freshmen, have both put in three hard and successful seasons of track. Bob Chatfield managed the cross-country team last year and will do it again in the fall. Marsh Snyder, a sophomore, played a good many minutes with the basketball team this year and will be a regular next season. This spring "Prexy" Linden headed the tennis team which included Wally Baylies and Art Milhench in the lineup, as well as Hal Kinnison as assistant manager. Rush Nash made good in golf this spring and Rudy Helgeson spent much time with lacrosse.

Intramural sports were our big boon this year. We took trophies for squash, golf, and track. To top this, though, the most coveted trophy of all, engraved, "Interfraternity All-Sports Champions," rests proudly on our mantel.

We have been far from quiet in other quarters. Many worked in dramatics and two more, Nels Fontneau and Jack Allen, were made members of the honorary dramatic society, Three P's, which increases our number to four in this group. Sandy Tredinnick is hard after the Weekly and is doing very well for himself, while Teddy Beers, Wally Baylies, Nels Fontneau, Bob Wright, and Bob Clark have been working the various musical clubs. The Interfraternity Sing, something new for us, provided keen competition and netted us a close second.

Once again we look back over another successful year with our hopes and aspirations turned to an even more successful one next year.

ROBERT D. CHATFIELD

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

NOW THAT the hurry, excitement, and tension of exams are over and summer is well on its way, we can take a pleasing look at the past school year. The chapter was well represented in activities, scholarship improved, and we are all confident of an even better and more successful year to start this fall.

The first term started off with a fine rushing season, and then all the weeks seemed to pass at once, with so many wonderful times that it is hard to pick out the high lights. Everyone agrees though that our fall roller skating party and New Year's celebration will be long remembered. Even with such an eventful term, we managed to hit the books, and January and finals found us ready and able. After exams quite a number from the House went up to New Hampshire skiing, returning battered but happy to start the second term.

February began with initiation and the banquet, to which a good number of the alumni came. Our Division President, Herbert McCracken, visited us during the term, an occasion that was one of the most memorable of this year. The chapter gave a spring dance, which was one of the outstanding social events of the term. In the last few weeks before exams came Open House, and after that marvelous time the House really got down to work and came through with flying colors to wind up the year in fine style.

The chapter was very active in publications, with Roy Koch, Phil Phaneuf, Julie Rojo, Eddie Cyar, and Jack McDonough on The Tech; Bob Shaw, Bud Reed, and Bud Babcock on Voo Doo. By the end of the year we came up with seven varsity letters, five sets of numerals, and two straight T's. Phil Phaneuf, Bob Shaw, Pete Horton, and Claude McCord were our crewmen, while Bud Trexel, Bud Gunther, and Gene Morrison played squash. We were represented in track by Eddie Cyar, and in tennis by Bob Gunther. Bill Schuler and Charlie Kelley were on the swimming team which Bill captained, while Jack McDonough starred for the Frosh. Spring found Bud Trexel and Gene Morrison tramping around the links with the golf team. In other activities we had Bob Gunther in the Athletic Association, Lawson

Bowers on Walker Memorial Committee, and Sterl Ivisen, who is also chapter president, as president of the Technology Christian Association. Delts were both officers and members of the various professional societies, and were well represented in the honorary societies and clubs.

Although this past year was a fine one, we wish that all Delts from near and far would drop in at the house whenever possible, and make next year even more enjoyable.

CHARLES F. KELLEY, JR.

Beta Xi—Tulane

FINAL EXAMS are over, marking an end of another school year. Whether we realize it or not, summer changes the habits of living for most of us. The boys in the Naval R.O.T.C., for example, will cruise up the east coast on the U.S.S. "Wyoming" to study firsthand the duties of a navy man. Among those taking the trip from Beta Xi are: Richard Andry, Robert Boswell, N. C. Cromwell, Richard Cromwell, Kenneth Kahao, Conrad Meyer, Steed McGee, Joseph Partidge, and Lane Plauche. The rest of us, in the meantime, will be busy at various other jobs.

Our pride and joy this year was the fact that Beta Xi was first in scholarship in the Southern Division. Since the Southern Division, with regard to scholarship, is the first in the Fraternity, and this year  $\Delta T \Delta$  ranks first in the nation, we feel doubly proud of the honor we possess. Among other trophies won during the past year was the ping-pong cup, a specially prized award on this campus.

The Annual Masquerade Dance, held at the Southern Yacht Club, stood out as the outstanding success of the year; the costumes uniquely portrayed the characters they meant to represent.

Members leaving the chapter due to graduation are: Thomas Bell, Robert Black, Melville Schmidt, Millard Snyder, Douglas Torre, and Mottram Torre.

Best wishes to all for an enjoyable summer.

WALTER J. VERLANDER

Beta Pi—Northwestern

AT THE close of an already successful year, Beta Pi finds itself looking forward eagerly to an even more successful season next year with four of its members heading 1940-41 teams. Dick Richards, '41, was elected captain of the varsity football squad here at Northwestern at the annual football banquet last fall at which John Haman, '40, all-American center, was voted 1939's most valuable player. Dick, a straight-A student in mathematics, was the outstanding quarterback on the 1939 eleven. George MacKinnon, '41, shortstop on this year's Big Ten co-championship baseball team, has been chosen by his teammates to lead next year's squad to an undisputed championship.

Beta Pi is also proud that Dick Trubey, '42, and Price Brown, '42, will captain next year's wrestling and rifle teams, respectively. Trubey, regular 175 pounder this year, will be the first junior to head the wrestling team. Brown is piloting the rifle team for his second successful year. Bob Warnock, '41, holding a traditional Delt position at N.U. will be the senior football manager; Jim Badger, '41, will hold the also traditional Delt position of varsity wrestling manager.

Other Beta Pi Delts active in athletics are Charlie Melchoir, '40, varsity letterman in basketball and baseball; Ken Littlejohn, '42, heading for the varsity football and wrestling teams; Paul Kiefer, '42, tackle on the football squad; and Emmet McInnis, '43, who won his numerals in swimming this year. Russ Cobb, '42, member of the varsity swimming team, was elected secretary of the Dolphins, honorary swimming fraternity. Bob Osborne, '41, and Ralph VanPetten, '42, are Beta Pi's varsity track men.

Besides its outstanding participation in varsity athletics, Beta Pi has also had a successful year in intramural athletics. The football team started off the year by reaching the championship playoffs. In basketball, the league championship again went to  $\Delta T \Delta$ . The intramural season was finished by the baseball team winning another league championship.

This year's outstanding politician on campus is Delt Thad Snell, '41, who, in addition to his activities as business manager of the Syllabus, campus yearbook, has proven himself an important leader of the Junior class. Thad was manager of the phenomenally successful Junior Prom, and was responsible for the presence of Simone Simon amongst other Hollywood celebrities. Cecil B. DeMille, Hollywood producer, accepted Thad's invitation to judge the beauty queens. Snell, also a member of the Junior Commission, is a member of Deru, Lynx, and Purple Key, the honorary societies of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes, respectively. Dick Richards is also a member of these societies. Jack Crist, '40, retiring chapter president, and John Haman, retiring president of Lynx, likewise were members of these honoraries. Chuck Hallet, '40, is the only man in recent years to be a member of all four class commissions. Russ Cobb, who promises to repeat this feat, has been a member of the Freshman and Sophomore commissions; he was also Sophomore representative on the all important Student Governing Board, and a member of Purple Key, as is Dick Trubey.

Many Beta Pi Deltas are active in other campus activities. Don Cornish, '41, was editor of this year's Student Directory, with Al Lewis, '42, and Bill Armstrong, '42, as members of the staff. Bob Postell is a member of the Syllabus staff, and Eric Stockton, '40, candidate for Phi Beta Kappa, is a member of the Daily Northwestern editorial staff. John Haney, '40, and Bob Owens, '40, are active in the University Theater. Tom Hutton, '43, and Bob Habicht, '43, were active in Waa-Mu, the annual campus musical production.

The high light of the year's social activity was the  $\Delta T \Delta$ -Kappa Alpha Theta football game and dance. The Thetas, using their womanly wiles, trounced the Deltas 13-7. The fall social season, culminating in the winter formal at the Merchants and Manufacturers Club at the Merchandise Mart, featured the traditional "pig" banquets after the football games. The spring social season, featuring many picnics, house parties, and exchange dinners, culminated in the spring formal held at Lake Delavan, Wisconsin. This year, Beta Pi was host to the Western Division Conference, which closed with the notorious formal event of the year, the Annual Delt Prom. Climaxing Greek Week at Northwestern was the Interfraternity Sing, in which Beta Pi took honorary mention.

Heading Beta Pi's activities for 1940-41 are the following: Bill Schlossman, '41, president; Abbot Bullock, '41, vice president; Bob Noel, '41, treasurer; Bayard Teigan, '41, recording secretary; Bill Otto, '42, corresponding secretary; Al Lewis, '42, rushing chairman; Doug White, '42, steward; and Dick Trubey, '42, intramural manager.

Beta Rho—Stanford

BETA RHO climaxed a successful year of sports and activities by dispersing to various parts of this hemisphere—from Hawaii to Washington, D. C. We were fortunate in having a number of "B.M.O.C.'s" (big men on campus) this year. The student body president, Ken Cuthbertson; fourteen block-S men; president of the Axe Society; Debate Manager; two Phi Beta Kappas (Ken Cuthbertson and Bob Fitzmaurice); captains of the water polo and track teams; and several other brothers who "did their parts." For the next year we have the Junior class president, Jim Haugh; assistant yell leader, Joe Messina; president and secretary of Tau Beta Pi, and many others. Clyde Jeffrey, called by some the "fastest white man in the world," brought credit to himself, his school, and his Fraternity by being the anchor man on the relay team that beat the world's record for the mile, and he tied the world's record for the hundred-yard dash at 9.4 seconds all by himself.

As far as our social functions went, we sponsored a "Show Boat Dance" at which we (augmented by another house) rented one of the river boats which run between San Francisco and Sacramento and loaded it with over a thousand persons and proceeded to ride around the bay for several hours. Judging from reports from the survivors, it was a great success.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

THE SECOND semester of this year has been a busy time for Beta Tau and its members. In March we held initiation. Following this the annual Founders Day Banquet was held at the chapter house. Then in April election for officers who are to hold office for the coming year of 1940-41. As spring rolled around the members of the chapter and their dates were entertained by the alumni and their wives with a picnic held at the cabin of our chapter adviser, "Hobb" Turner, in the National Guard Camp. The first week of May the members of the Delt Alliance, wives of the Delt alumni, were invited to the chapter house for dinner in appreciation for the wonderful help they had given us all year.

Beta Tau held its annual Alumni Banquet at the Hotel Cornhusker, May 11. The main speaker of the evening was Kurt Pantzer who spoke on the Delt House-System. The alumni were very interested in the system and promised their support. The active chapter at its next two meetings voted unanimously in favor of it, and earnestly began to study the organization of the system so as to have it well in mind and to lay a foundation for next year.

Extensive rush plans are being made for this summer to cover the state to get the cream of next year's Freshmen. We feel that with the Delt House-System and the increasing spirit of the members of the chapter, next year will be the biggest and best year Beta Tau has had for a long time.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

BETA UPSILON started out the new semester by electing the following new officers: William Moody, president; John Gardner, vice-president; Charles Beck, treasurer; and Philip McDonald, secretary. It is hoped that these new officers will carry on the great work started in the regime of "Tiny" Cramer, retiring "prexy."

In scholarship this year, Beta Upsilon ranked fourteenth out of the sixty-odd fraternities on campus and second of all the houses with more than fifty members.

Our library project, to date, has been quite successful. We have netted about 260 books and intend to take up next fall just where we left off this spring and add to the collection until we have about 500 books. Included in our library are not only many best-sellers and fiction books of all types, but also a number of reference books and encyclopedias which we hope to add to as time goes on.

This semester Beta Upsilon won its share of campus jobs in all types of activity work. Dean Wessel was chosen as one of the two new members of the powerful Illini board of control and in this post will have a voice in the policies of all campus publications and in the selection of new publications officers next year. Dean is also junior adviser of Skull and Crescent, Sophomore honorary organization.

Sachem, Junior activity honorary, picked Bill Giachetto as one of its members this year, based on his outstanding work as a sophomore on the Illio staff.

Ma-Wan-Da, senior activity honorary, chose Illinois' new student colonel, Edmund L. DuBois, for membership.

Bill Brewer, sophomore, was regular catcher on the baseball varsity, and was awarded his letter.

Cliff Peterson, George Bernhardt, and Bob Ingle are all expected to be holding down regular berths on the varsity football team next fall, and Cal Giffin, Freshman numeral winner, will be a contender for a position as tackle.

We finished sixth in the race for the intramural trophy and captured four division championships. The softball team, under John Giachetto's expert handling, climaxed the season by bringing home the final trophy—a big ivory and gold one denoting an All-University Softball Championship.

Beta Chi—Brown

LIFE AT the Beta Chi Shelter has been complete this year, in fact, it has included everything from placing second in the Interfraternity Bridge Tournament to body-building, of which our example is "Hurricane" Losey, '42, who aspires to win the title of "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man."

Besides participating in all the publications and in all athletics, Bruno Deltas are leaders in many of these activities. Although we lose Hank Klie, '40, past president, who has been the leading 440 and half-mile man at Brown for the past two years, we also have his successor on the track squad, Don Mikolas, '42, an unbeatable hurdler, who is supported by four other Delt trackmen. Three first-string football men, an outstanding saber man on the fencing team, and participants in every branch of the athletic program here at Brown also help to make  $\Delta T \Delta$  superior from the athletic standpoint. This year, we lose the handball champion in the intramural league, but rumor has it that his successor also dwells in the Beta Chi Shelter.

Seven of us do our part in making the Brown University band one of the outstanding musical organizations in the East, and three Deltas took part in the Brownbrokers show this year. We have placed two men on the Brown Key, which is the Junior Governing Society, so that the loss of an outstanding Senior class will not leave us at all weakened. Incidentally, the members of this year's graduating class are all well placed in the business world, which speaks well for their four years as Deltas.

Socially, the year has been very successful, with several open houses and informal tea dances shortening the times between the four formal dances held at the Shelter.

The House has also been active scholastically, with several men holding places of honor on the Dean's List. This year, for the second time, we have enforced study hour for the Freshman pledges, thus insuring a high academic average for the House as a whole.

The brothers were saddened this year by the death of George Brewster, our chapter adviser. He was loved, admired, and respected. After a service held at the Shelter, the chapter attended George's funeral services in New York. The membership of the Chapter Eternal was again increased by the death of George Browne, '42, a fine Delt who will always be endeared to the hearts of Bruno Deltas who knew him.

In spite of these inevitable tragedies, we Deltas at Brown have enjoyed a year that has been successful from all standpoints. The graduates, of whom there were eleven, leave us as men whom we are proud to call brothers, and their loss leaves us rich with experience invaluable for raising the Beta Chi standards to new heights.

EDWARD H. RICKARD

Beta Psi—Wabash

JUNE 3 marked the close of one of the most successful years at Beta Psi. Twelve seniors graduated from its portals, leaving behind them a very outstanding record. Out of nine men in the senior class chosen to receive Phi Beta Kappa honors for scholarship, four of them were Deltas. They were August Doreman, Calvin George, Joseph Harrison, and Lawrence Sanders.

The chapter was also well represented in athletics, having Fred Rhode captain of both the basketball and baseball teams; Malcolm McDermott captain of the track team; and of the underclassmen there were Mike Hollinger and Karl Kolsteadt both on the track team; Joe Miller outstanding pitcher on the baseball team; and in football Layton Kelly and Stan Cochrane held down first-string positions. The freshman class also shows promise in this field, having Earl Borre and Dewitt Young, both of whom received their numerals in baseball.

The chapter again carried away the scholastic honors on the campus, in the state, and tied for first place in the Northern Division.

In intramural football Beta Psi defeated all other fraternities on the campus, and in a specially arranged game preceding the varsity contest defeated Beta Beta chapter at DePauw.

The social activities of the second semester consisted of the initiation dance, at which the theme of "Gone With the Wind" was used, and the house which is of colonial style architecture was decorated in post-Civil War style. The decorations consisted of everything pertaining to that period from a large Confederate flag in front of the house and a colored mammy at the door to a flower garden constructed in the library. The dance was a real success and everyone had a good time. Another important event on the social program was the all-school Pan-Hel dance. Again the Deltas were represented in campus activities with Johnny Pease president of the Pan-Hel council.

The chapter has taken an active part in the promotion and development of the Delt House-System, and by adopting and using the main points in this system, are obtaining successful results.

The rush this spring has progressed in fine shape as eight boys have already been pledged, and Beta Psi has great hopes for the coming year.

ROBERT S. JOHNSON

Beta Omega—California

The total enrollment of the chapter was brought up to forty-six with the return of several actives, including Bal Gibson and Bob Reed. Two additional mid-season pledges swelled the freshman class to twelve. With an active membership of thirty, the House looks forward to a successful year under the leadership of "Prexy" Bob Hall, who will be assisted by Ray Haynes and Warren Fisher. Ray Haynes has charge of the modified Delt House-System which the chapter hopes to put in full effect this term. Bud Murphy paid us his regular visit and helped Ray work out the plans necessary for the adoption of the Delt House-System.

In athletics several members have distinguished themselves. Dick Vieille played varsity basketball, while Wendell Mackey and Bill Dunn received their junior managerships in basketball and track, respectively. Dick Ghent was a member of the varsity golf team. Most of the freshmen participated in sports, with George Parrish, Russell Pearce, and Bubs Norris receiving their letters in track, crew, and rugby. George won the broad jump in the meet between the Stanford and California freshmen with a leap of 22' 7".

Bob Hall was elected to Beta Beta, senior men's honor society. Bob Reed was made a member of the newly formed Interfraternity Honor Society which honors the twenty-five fraternity men possessing the highest scholastic averages. Ken Strong joined Delta Epsilon, art honor society.

Among the recent graduates, ex-prexy Peterson announced his engagement and is working with the Guy F. Atkinson Construction Company in Washington. Paul Schacht is working with Tiedemann and McMorran, wholesale grocers. Frank Andrews is serving one year's active service with the Navy prior to his entrance into the law school at U.S.C. Jim Hatch takes his civil service examination for a job with the Fish and Game Division this summer. Bal Gibson hopes to obtain a job with some fruit company in South America. Randy Washburn is looking forward to becoming a C.P.A. Ken Strong is entering the School of Architecture at U.S.C. this fall. Bob Reed is planning to enter Boalt Law School, thus insuring himself a place in the bull sessions of the other prospective lawyers—Parrish, Knox, Marshall, and Mayer. Also, congratulations to Bill Parrish on his election to presidency of his class at the Stanford Law School.

Lin Loring just finished his course at the Navy Supply School in Philadelphia and has been assigned to the airplane carrier "Saratoga" for active duty. Ed Fischer left last term for Pensacola and naval air training.

A very successful Alumni Night was held last spring under the direction of Jim Hatch. A large number of alumni were present and a good time was had by all.

The crew again used the house as its training quarters prior to its departure for the Poughkeepsie Regatta. While the crew stayed at the house, "Prexy" Bob Hall and Warren Fisher were busy cutting down the dead palm trees along the driveway. This will greatly improve the appearance of the Shelter for this fall.

Of interest to all western Deltas is the news that "Spider" Kelly is now a grandfather. At the close of last term "Spider" made the announcement and followed it with the customary cigars.

EDWARD F. STRONG

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

WITH THE close of the college year Gamma Gamma once again has many feathers in its cap. During the school year eighteen men pledged their loyalty to  $\Delta T \Delta$  and are now brothers. Two brothers of the '42 delegation have already distinguished themselves on campus. Ed Self was appointed to the top college managerial post and to Green Key, the junior honorary society. Gus Newell substantiated our pride by being elected basketball manager and also gained a berth in Green Key.

When the smoke clears away in the field of the interfraternity sports program at Dartmouth, Gamma Gamma will find itself way up in the line. Although the final standings of the fraternities have not been published we have several runner-up positions and the ace bowling team finished on top.

With regard to the individual honors on campus we take our hats off to Irving "Snuffy" Smith, '41. This spring he was elected to Palaeopitus, the student governing body. Also a few weeks ago "Snuffy" was elected to Casque and Gauntlet, a senior honorary society. The next honor goes to Richard Howard, '41, who was elected varsity track captain. For the third successive year Ned Hein, '40, is patrolling the outfield for the varsity baseball team.

Green Key week-end which closed this year's round of house parties saw Glenn Miller and Red Norvo playing to a large and enthusiastic crowd. Our enlarged and redecorated game room saw more visitors than at any other party during the year and in spite of the rain everyone had a swell time.

At this time all work is aimed toward next fall's pledging. This year all names of prospective fellows will be listed before we leave for the summer vacation. At Dartmouth no one may pledge to a fraternity until his Sophomore year; therefore, we know the members of that class and especially those whom we would like to have as brothers. All things point to a continuation of Gamma Gamma's success next year.

CHARLES S. FRANTZ

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

GAMMA DELTA closed a most successful year with several outstanding triumphs. Noteworthy among these was our victory in the student election and our presenting to the campus the year's outstanding social event.

After a rousing campaign, Brother Jim McCartney of Meyersdale, Pennsylvania, was elected president of our student body. Jim received the largest majority of any presidential candidate in the history of the school.

A few days after Jim's triumph we had our annual spring formal featuring Johnny Long and his orchestra, direct from New York's Roseland Ballroom. An open house and tea dance in the afternoon preceded the formal dance. Programs and favors were given our lady guests. Our formal was broadcast over a network of five stations.

A week after our formal and the election, the ninth annual Interfraternity Sing was held. The Delt choir of sixty-five voices, under the able direction of Brother Charles Kindt, placed third among the sixteen fraternities participating.

Gamma Delta also continued her pace in intramural competition. This year we annexed the second place sports trophy and were only a few points behind the leader. We plan to continue our rise in intramurals this fall under the able direction of Brother Charles Whitaker.

Thirteen of our brothers were among those who marched down the long aisle and received their "sheepskins," June 8. They were Charles W. Brown, Ellsworth Cole, Clifford Fisher, Kendall L. Hall, Stanley H. Livingstone, Richard V. Lynch, Jr., Jack C. Morgan, William R. Mucklow, Joseph W. Parker, George W. Post, Fredrick M. Tissue, Charles R. Whitaker, and William Witt. We who remain are sure to miss them and the work they were constantly doing for the Fraternity.

Shortly before the close of school officers for the coming year were elected. They were Cornelius C. Davis, president; Elbert Matthews, vice-president; James Tidler, recording secretary; and Robert L. Gibson, corresponding secretary. We are looking forward to a most successful year under our new officers.

ROBERT L. GIBSON

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

GAMMA ZETA ended a very successful year with an Alumni Banquet and Initiation, June 14, at which we initiated seven new men. The principal speaker on this auspicious occasion was our Eastern Division vice-president, Judge George Leary of Springfield, Mass.

During the past semester Gamma Zeta has acquired many honors on the Wesleyan campus. Next year we can proudly display our shiny new intramural cup to the Freshmen, which we won by virtue of garnering twenty-nine points in interfraternity competition throughout the year. We finally cinched the cup by winning the baseball championship, placing second in the track meet and a second also in the tennis matches. Brother George Derbyshire led the sluggers to victory and we will miss his leadership next year. Brother Dick Wade led our highly successful track team with a double win in the 880-yard and 440-yard runs.

Five of the Delts received their "W's" at the end of the spring athletic season. Bob Neuffer and Hank Derbyshire won their letters by throwing the javelin and pole vaulting respectively on the track team, and Bob Murray and Captain Chet Jackson took honors with the baseball team. Bill Sinnamon was the other letter winner receiving his from the tennis team. Other brothers who were active in sports were Bill Anderson, Ernie Goodrich, and Bill Zaiser in baseball; Fred Rogge in tennis, and Dick Wade in track.

Freshman numeral winners were Hal Moore in track, Len Pfeiffer and Pledge Bob Musil in tennis, and Phil Norton in baseball.

Gamma Zeta will lose ten men by graduation. We hate to see these men go as they have compiled both an enviable scholastic and athletic record in their four years at Wesleyan. Brother Murray captained the football team last fall, and Brother Jackson led the baseballers. Bob Neuffer graduated with distinction, and Ed Van Buskirk was one of the best treasurers we have ever had.

Brother Tom Meeker was elected president of the Shelter for next year, and simultaneously was elected vice-president of the college body. Bill Ellis, our steward, is editor of the campus magazine, and Bill Shroeder is the Class of '41's vice-president. Bill Sinnamon is co-captain of the 1941 basketball team.

The house at Wesleyan can also boast of new decorations and landscaping under the direction of our new adviser, John R. Lindemuth, and Brother T. G. Meeker. Another new addition to the Shelter, greatly heralded by the brothers, is the acquisition of new beds and mattresses through the diligent perseverance of our treasurer, Bill Bauer, and steward Bill Ellis.

Further honor was bestowed upon the Delts in April when three of the brothers were tapped by honorary senior societies. Bill Ellis and Bill Sinnamon were tapped by Skull and Serpent for their contributions to the athletic and literary organizations, and Brother Meeker was tapped by Mystical Seven as a member of the College Body official staff.

With a newly decorated house and three full delegations Gamma Zeta is looking forward to a very successful year in 1940-41.

FRED HERRIGEL, III

Gamma Eta—Geo. Washington

OUR MOST successful year was topped off Sunday, June 16, by a very enjoyable trek to beautiful Skyline Drive in Virginia. The group of thirty left at 8:00 a. m. for an all-day outing of hiking, picnicking, and swimming, sixty miles from Washington to one of America's most scenic regions. Particularly enjoyable to those hardies who dared to brave it, was the invigorating swim we took in the icy spring water at the bottom of White Oak Canyon Trail.

Reviewing the past year at Gamma Eta, it is easily seen that we have just completed the most progressive year we have had for some time. High lighted by such events as our Halloween party, the gay autumn steak fries at Foster Hagan's country place, the Christmas formal at our new home, and our most successful "International Party" this spring, we will be sure to cherish long the memories of Gamma Eta's 1939-40 season.

Not least among our spring activities was our splendid Founders Day Banquet at the Roger Smith Hotel. This evening will remain a perpetual inspiration to the ten initiates of that same occasion. Although our progress in interfraternity competitions was not marked by any outstanding achievements, we can still find comfort in the fine performance of our basketball team and particularly in the excellent skill shown by Bob Garlick.

As far as we know, Gamma Eta was the best represented chapter at the Southern Division Conference in Savannah in February, and we see excellent prospects for being well represented at the Karnea next year.

Our proudest achievement of the year was our record in scholastics for a one-year period which showed by the registrar's report that we had easily attained first place among the members of the Interfraternity Council. We gained this distinction with an index of plus 16 and an average of 2.533.

We had four members of the staff of the University Hatchet to hold up a fine journalistic showing. Pledges Leo Stanton and Stanley Jennings were responsible for the finest cartooning the Hatchet has ever boasted. They have both studied under Delt Jim Berryman, whose superb work is nationally known.

Prospects for Gamma Eta are clearly indicated as the present year closes, and we sincerely wish to express our appreciation to the help and encouragement given us by Southern Division president I. B. McDaniel, chapter adviser Norman B. Ames, and our loyal alumni in Washington.

JAMES A. CHESSON, JR.

Gamma Iota—Texas

With Commencement only a few days off, Gamma Iota has brought one of its most successful years in history to a close. The Delts of Gamma Iota have participated in all campus activities and social affairs, and as a result, Gamma Iota is one of the outstanding organizations on the campus of a great University.

Every Delt in Texas is looking forward to the completion of the new Delt Shelter. Work on the new house began April 22. Gamma Iota held a picnic lunch on the site of the prospective Shelter on April 19 to celebrate the beginning of construction.

The work on the new house is progressing rapidly—the foundations have been laid and work on the superstructure has begun. The new Delt Shelter is the culmination of many years of planning and hard work by the active chapter and its loyal alumni. Lloyd Birdwell, house manager for the past three years, was given a gold watch by members of Gamma Iota for his invaluable work in making the new Shelter a success.

By rush week in September,  $\Delta T \Delta$  should be entertaining prospective pledges in the newest fraternity house on the Texas campus—a house that will hold thirty-two men.

Naturally the new house has occupied most of the time of the actives and pledges alike, but the duties and pleasures of Fraternity life weren't forgotten.

Gamma Iota began the year by pledging twenty-four men—ranking among the leaders of the fraternities. Since rush week  $\Delta T \Delta$  has pledged several other men. During the year Gamma Iota initiated twenty-one men and these additions to the active chapter plus the thirteen pledges now extant give Gamma Iota a full roll.

Men of Gamma Iota have actively participated in all campus activities and organizations—whether scholastic, honorary, or voluntary.

Al Tatum was elected to Phi Delta Phi, honorary law, and also to Law School Honor Council; Graham Peterson was initiated into Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geology; I. E. Clark was elected to Sigma Delta Chi, journalism; and Austin Leach to Pi Tau Sigma, honorary mechanical engineering.

Three members of Gamma Iota are members of Phi Beta Kappa—Tom Law, Evans Munroe, and the latest initiate, Homer Mueller. Nine Gamma Iotas belong to Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman scholastic fraternity, and one Delt is vice-president.

The Cowboys, honorary service organization which has a membership of only forty-five, numbers seven Delts on its rolls. Carl Lauer is the latest initiate. Bob Strelsky was recently initiated into Silver Spu, honorary service organization on the campus.

Tom Law and Joe Wilson are members of Friars—honorary senior organization which selects each semester the four most outstanding seniors on the campus for membership. Tom and Joe are Gamma Iota's representatives in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Joe is also the newly elected president of the Interfraternity Council for next year. Joe was only recently selected as the most outstanding man on the campus out of a student body of 11,000 students by the Daily Texan, campus newspaper. This is an outstanding honor for Joe and Gamma Iota.

Several Delts work on University publications—Stanley Jung is editor of the honoraries section of the 1940 Cactus, University yearbook. I. E. Clark has been a member of the staff of the Daily Texan, and will be Sports Editor of the Summer Texan.

Two Delts are members of the two hundred piece Longhorn Band and Stanley Jung is a charter member of Kappa Kappa Psi—newly installed honorary band fraternity. Delts are active in "Y" work and several of them serve on cabinets in the "Y."

Jimmy Valentine, well known for his singing, has just joined up with the orchestra of Will Bradley.

Gamma Iota was active in intramurals this year. Several teams went far in their respective sports. Gamma Iota finished in the upper section of the fraternity division. Bob Hoffman won Gamma Iota's only individual intramural championship when he won the 100-yard free style event in the swimming meet. Gamma Iota placed third in the swimming meet. Bob is entering West Point July 1.

Five Delts won sweaters for their work in intramurals this year, while Pledge Thurman Barrett was selected to be one of the three senior intramural managers for next year.

Gamma Iota held a Founders Day Banquet March 1. Attended by many alumni from over the state, the banquet featured the presentation of the Distinguished Service Chapter Citation to Dr. H. T. Parlin, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences of the University. Dr. Parlin has been of invaluable service and assistance to Gamma Iota during his residence here. At this banquet Louis Moore was awarded the plaque for being the outstanding pledge and Ross Elliot was awarded the cup for being the "best big brother."

Round-Up, a traditional University celebration, found I. E. Clark and Joe Wilson on the committees in charge of making arrangements. During Round-Up, Gamma Iota was one of the few campus organizations selected to entertain the visiting sweethearts of the various schools in the Southwest Conference. Gamma Iota entertained visiting sweethearts from Baylor, Rice, S.M.U., Arkansas, Texas A & M, and T.C.U. The Universities' nominees for Sweetheart were also entertained at the same Saturday lunch.

At the annual Varsity Carnival, Gamma Iota, with its Judge Roy Bean's "Law West of the Pecos" show, was one of the hits of the carnival. Pictures of the show appeared in numerous newspapers and several magazines. The Varsity Carnival is an annual affair sponsored by the fraternities and sororities on the campus.

Whitfield Collins and Evans Munroe have won scholarships for next year. Whit was granted a scholarship to Harvard Law School, while Evans was granted a scholarship to Brown University.

Gamma Iota was honored by a visit with Paul Hoffman, national president of  $\Delta T \Delta$ , during the month of April. H. J. Jepsen, President of the Western Division, made a visit to Gamma Iota in the spring in connection with the construction of the new house.

Gamma Iota's social standing on the campus is one of the best. Gamma Iota went "sporty" in her social affairs this spring. The social calendar was featured by a Winter Cruise Open House, replete with palms, hula skirts, leis, and sarongs. A sport dance at Barton Springs—where the University studies and plays in the spring—culminated the social affairs of the year.

Outstanding in all phases of campus life, Gamma Iota, with its new set of officers, headed by John "Dub" Singleton, and with its new Shelter is looking forward to another successful year in 1940-41. Nothing can hold her back.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

OF ALL OUR achievements of the past year, Gamma Kappa is proudest of its scholastic record. At the end of the first semester we were in first place among all gentile social fraternities, and feel we will still be in first place at the end of the year. Gamma Kappa finished higher in intramurals this year than last, and we have made ourselves known in all sports by winning a good percentage of our contests.

A new record of twenty-five Missouri Deltas attended the Kansas City Founders Day Banquet held March 10 at the Hotel Muehlebach. Besides the undergraduate chapters, there were many alumni present to enliven the evening with songs and spirit. In April we had the pleasure of having H. J. Jepsen, President of the Western Division, visit us and spend an afternoon in inspecting and giving the chapter helpful advice.

Parents' Week-end last year set a new record with forty parents and an uncountable number of alumni and guests present. Our Mothers Club presented us with a beautiful five-piece silver tea set for our formal occasions, and later they added lamps and ash trays to our living room.

Gamma Kappa swung out this year with some of the best parties on the campus. In the fall we had our annual orchid ball, followed by our winter formal in February. As usual, our spring formal was famous for the lovely decorations of drapes, trellises, and flowers.

The chapter house has been worked over by plasterers, and all of the walls will be painted during the summer. We are carrying on an extensive rushing program, and are looking forward eagerly to next year as a bigger and better year.

Gamma Kappa extends to all Deltas a cordial invitation to drop in at any time as we are always glad to show you a good time.

Gamma Mu—Washington

IN SPRING, a young man's fancy at the University of Washington turns to thoughts of—

Love—Chapter Adviser Frank "Dory" Knowlton, Jr., '32, married the former Miss Dorothy Hughes, Delta Delta Delta member at the University, May 3. The engagement was announced at the chapter's winter formal dinner-dance at the Tacoma Golf and Country Club.

Elections—Will Teller was re-elected as president of the chapter after having filled out an unexpired term of one quarter. Burt Waldo drew the vice-presidential position, Robert Anderson was elected as recording secretary, and the list is completed by your correspondent.

New members—Spring quarter initiation saw three new men added to the chapter roll: Robert Whiteley, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; John R. Nelson, Jr., Montborne, Wash.; and Elvin Carlson, Seattle.

Missing members—Past President Dick Poole has moved to San Francisco to accept a position with the Hotel Whitcomb there. Dick "graduated" from the modernistic Hotel Edmond Meany just off the University campus, where he worked as desk clerk while in school. Several Gamma Mu Deltas dropped their studies during spring quarter to work. Jack "Sailor" Ford, University boxing champ, is working on one of the Alaskan steamships out of Seattle; Jay Howell is enjoying his work at the state hospital for the insane at Sedro Woolley; Cliff Ellis is helping his father in his photographic plant at Arlington; Mickey Griswold is using his high-pressure personality to sell work clothes for J. C. Penney; and Joe Williams is keeping busy at Bellingham.

Graduates—At the annual senior dinner, June 30, six graduating seniors, Robert Dunnington, Lewis Griswold, Sam Morrison, Jack Deierlein, Emil "Skid" Hanson, and Phil Macdonald, were presented with framed pictures of the Shelter. Two men who graduated earlier in the year, Don Christensen and Eugene George, have good jobs. "Christy" is working for General Motors Acceptance Corp., in Seattle; Gene travels for the Campbell Soup Co. out of Spokane.

Alumni—About a hundred undergraduates and Seattle alumni enjoyed the annual alumni golf picnic at Lakewood Golf Club. The affair was capably handled by Jack Garrett, Gamma Mu alumnus and club pro.

Color—Jack Deierlein was chairman of this year's Governor's Day, when the governor of the state reviewed over two thousand students marching with the University's army and navy reserve units. Jack's appointment was one of the plums acquired by Gamma Mu's perennial smart politics.

Fun—The chapter added something new to the social calendar this year by holding a picnic at Beaver Lake. Fred MacFarlane's chairmanship of the affair made it a notable success, sure to become an annual event.

Harmony—We weren't sure anyone in the house could sing until we took second among fraternities in the Songfest, most highly prized plum of the year along Greek Row. When we consider that our two weeks' of practice showed so favorably against the winners who had had two quarters of professionally directed training, we are confident that the cup can be ours next year. Credit goes to our own director, Bob Vinson.

Song writing—Following a recent serenade we decided we should have a special song for answering expected sorority serenades, similar to the tunes used by some sororities. 'Twas no sooner said than done, when Bob Vinson and Bob Whiteley, assisted by willing contributors around the piano, wrote the desired song in a few minutes. We like it so well that we hope to see it in the coming Delt songbook.

Intramurals—Gamma Mu excelled in such diverse sports as horseshoes and touch football during spring quarter. Most talked-about of our razzle-dazzle gridiron plays was a sneaker. In a final game, the sneaker, Skid Hanson, was discovered before the ball was snapped, but he scored on the play despite his exposure. The new badminton court behind the house should enable us next year to better our position of third in that sport this year.

Planning—The chapter has adopted a new form of organization which includes a planning committee, at the suggestion of Traveling Secretary "Bud" Murphy. The arrangement is far superior to the old plan-as-you-go method.

Scholarship—Our grade point was up considerably in winter quarter over fall quarter, and we look for a stronger rise when the spring count is in. We can't let the national average down!

Sweetheart pins—Lewis Norman's is out of circulation. He recently announced his engagement to Patricia Black, Sigma Kappa.

The last word—The boys deserve a summer rest after the hustle of spring quarter activities. Spring is the busy quarter at Washington. Next project, fall rushing, is off to a good start with half our rush week date cards out before we left school. We're looking forward to '41.

Gamma Nu—Maine

MAY 6, 1940, is a date that will long be remembered by the Delts of Gamma Nu. Shortly after midnight on this fateful day fire broke out in the basement of the Shelter. By the time that Walter Gosline, who discovered it, had raced through the house to the third story ram and awakened the members the entire basement was aflame. Pajama-clad Delts groped through smoke-filled corridors to their study rooms on the second floor, and for a few moments the air was filled with a shower of descending articles ranging from clothes and books to electric razors and alarm clocks. Warnings to get out arose from the rapidly gathering crowd outside, and the first few to heed their cries managed to get downstairs and leave by the front door, but the fire had spread so rapidly that this avenue of escape was soon closed. Others tried to go back through the ram to reach the fire escapes, but the flames, carried by a high wind, had found entrance through windows and were making short work of the whole third floor. Nearly everybody was forced to leap from the second story.

The almost unbelievable speed with which the fire spread may be seen in the fact that barely five minutes elapsed between the time of its discovery until the house was a mass of flame. Against such a conflagration as this the responding Orono fire department was helpless, and in less than an hour only a pile of charred ruins remained.

Before the smoke had cleared away students and faculty had organized to give immediate aid. Clothing was distributed, and arrangements were made to accommodate Delts in other fraternity houses for the remainder of the year.

Gamma Nu faces a difficult future, but not without confidence. The twenty-two actives and eighteen pledges returning to school in the fall under the capable leadership of "Prexy" Richard Day intend to keep the campus fully aware that  $\Delta T \Delta$  is still very much alive. Plans for a new Shelter are being formulated, and it is possible that rushing may be conducted from a fine new house. If these plans materialize the competition had better watch out—but they'd better be on their guard anyway because Gamma Nu intends to get her quota if she has to use a stable for a chapter house!

Sidelights of the fire:

Henry Briggs, the cook, saved several plaques, the silverware, carried the matron out bodily, and was instrumental in saving most of her belongings. Through his unselfish action he lost everything of his own, including several hundred dollars worth of cameras and photographic equipment.

Treasurer Ed Geary got all records and cash out safely.

Another hero was Eugene MacLaughlin, a senior, who saved nearly all of his own, and his roommate's belongings, had time to help others, and risked his life crawling through the house to make sure everybody was out safely.

On the more humorous side is the unknown sleeper who wanted it quiet when the first cries of "fire" rang through the ram.

Other incidents along this line are: Ray Curtis, it is rumored, put on a necktie, brushed his clothes, and dove headfirst out of the window; Lyle Butler went back after a flashlight so as to see where to jump—he tossed the flashlight out and followed it; Walter Reed, the trapeze artist, dove from a high window ledge to the fire escape to save himself a hard landing—he missed; Al Storer threw all of his things into his “coke” cooler and calmly tossed it out—the next day he couldn’t even lift it. Last but not least, the firemen connected the hydrant and pumper by two hoses, and forced water back into the pipe as fast as they pumped it out.

GEORGE D. GILMAN

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

THE ACHIEVEMENTS and outstanding successes of  $\Delta T \Delta$  on the campus of the University of Cincinnati during the past year while considered unusual among fraternities in general are not out of the ordinary for Gamma Xi. In every realm of endeavor 1939-40 has reiterated that Deltas are leaders and our Fraternity is without a peer.

First of all as to Gamma Xi en masse. The local Deltas have seemingly been inclined with an avid desire to win all the cups in sight, and this we have done. Beginning with a trophy for one hundred per cent Y. M. C. A. membership, then a cup for building the most effective float on Homecoming Day. We have added to our trophy case a cup for winning an interfraternity sing contest over a local radio station. We have won a cup each for winning intramural horseshoes, basketball, volleyball, basketball free throw, and the crowning glory the huge highly coveted loving cup for placing first in the all-sport University intramural race which Gamma Xi has captured four times now. It is needless to say that we Deltas boast of a spirit of cooperation and real friendship that is unique with  $\Delta T \Delta$ , for it is in consequence of pulling together perhaps more than possessing great ability that has made possible these gratifying successes.

It naturally follows that as the Deltas are winners as a group, they also are champions individually. Exemplary of campus “big shots” are Joe Downey, who has been elected to Omicron Delta Kappa; Kenny Heuck, who was “summoned” to Sigma Sigma; George Dawson, who has been chosen president of the Interfraternity President’s Council; Myran Johnson, who is president of the Glee Club and Oratorio Society; and Paul Riffle (alumnus from Ohio Wesleyan in Law College), who was just honored with the presidency of the Student Council. Gamma Xi also has its representative among this group in the person of Karl Keck.

Ed Durkelaker, John Kline, Walt Ismall, and Karl Keck comprise a large percentage of the membership on the governing body of the Y. M. C. A., the “Y” Cabinet.

Kenny Heuck served as the manager for the all-university intramural program this year, having succeeded Delt Joe Downey who did the honors last year. John Kline has been elected to the Men’s Senate; Walt Ismall was vice-president of the Teacher’s College Tribunal; Karl Keck has been elected to the body governing forensic activities, the Debate Council, of which he is also an officer. Ed Beiting is a member of the Applied Arts Tribunal. Al Vontz is head of the student advisers at Cincinnati. Al Farrel and Karl Keck are serving as junior advisers. The Delt influence is felt in every organization of power and prominence on the campus.

Scholastically Gamma Xi is near the top but not quite as high as formerly. Setting the pace for the others in raising our average are Robert Talpfer, Charles Hofling, Richard McKee, George Dawson, Tom Pater, Robert Anderson, and George Kaible, who have consistently accredited themselves well in academic achievement.

Our social season will be remembered as a year of one fine time after another. The old clothes parties were rough, the dances in good taste—what more could be asked? The grand finale of the season was our annual spring formal at which each man graduating is rewarded with an official alumni charm as a remembrance of his college days and, especially, of his active Delt days.

With the immediately preceding year so filled with the essence of brotherly fellowship and the cherished memories both material and spiritual that necessarily accompany it, we believe that next year will be enhanced and our work lengthened thereby.

KARL GLENN KECK, JR.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

WITH THE visit of Bud Murphy to Oregon, we inaugurated the new House-System and set about during spring term to carry out this new plan of organization. After the plan started to function, the results were amazing and both the internal organization and the outside activities of the House improved considerably.

The biggest event that hits the Oregon campus each year is Junior week-end, with its Junior prom, canoe fete, and Mother’s Day celebration. We were lucky to draw the Alpha Phi’s as our partners in the canoe fete competition. The theme of our float was “The Emperor’s Waltz” and after much work and worry, we copped first prize and another cup for our mantel. Our politician, Norm Foster, handled all arrangements for Mothers during the week-end and all of the five hundred Mothers were taken care of by Norm’s committee.

Our spring dance was the highlight of the campus social calendar. Unlike other house dances, our annual dance in the spring is a breakfast dance. Breakfast was served in the backyard beneath our tall poplar trees. The house was decorated throughout with flowers; the mantel was especially attractive with our Greek letters three feet high made of white snowballs on a red background. In the afternoon we adjourned to the country for our picnic.

Outstanding in entertainment on the campus was the Delt quartet which was first organized for our fall alumni banquet. Since that time the boys have been catapulted to fame. They have been in demand for campus functions, have sung over Portland radio stations, have traveled throughout the state singing before every conceivable type of audience, and have been a hit everywhere. Even greater things are expected of these boys next year.

George Luoma, who was manager of the campus paper, The Daily Emerald, saw the sheet through its most successful year in history. As a reward, George was appointed assistant educational activities manager, a position which controls all student activities and is one of the most sought-after jobs on the campus.

Roy Vernstrom, our retiring president, will not leave the campus next year but will return as editor of the alumni magazine, Old Oregon, and will carry out the duties of assistant alumni secretary. Roy was vice-president of the student body this year and was elected permanent secretary of the class of 1940.

Delts were well-represented on the Emerald staff. Roy Metzler wrote the movie review column with sidelights on Hollywood. Ray Schrick and Jim Banks were star reporters and, as a result, Ray was appointed assistant managing editor and Jim was made city editor. George Luoma and Earl Maize, as manager and national advertising manager, respectively, did their work on the business staff.

In the sports world, the Delts climbed to new heights in intramurals. The baseball team went to the semi-finals and was eked out in a close game. In the all-campus track meet, the Delts were near the top and Tom Fishburn made the best marks of anyone in the school in the sprints. John Tuttle starred at shortstop on the crack frosh nine which won fifteen consecutive games. Leonard Ruecker was appointed manager of the basketball team which is headed for another championship next year. Leonard is looking forward to the annual barnstorming trip the basketball team takes through the East each year.

With all this happening in one short term, and the whole house behind a new rushing system, Gamma Rho is looking forward to its most successful year.

ROY C. METZLER

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

THIS CHAPTER has completed its 25th year of membership in  $\Delta T \Delta$ . This fact was celebrated at an anniversary dinner in the Roosevelt Hotel, November 14, attended by more than one hundred Delts. Following the banquet, the group witnessed the show at the Buhl Planetarium as the guests of Charles F.

Lewis, Alpha '09, director of the Foundation.

The first step on the road toward twenty-five more years was the fall rushing program. This proved highly successful, as fifteen men were eventually pledged. Also, three holdover pledges were initiated.

The fall and winter intramural sports program took up much of the Delts' time. One of the results was a second-place cup in speedball, much of the credit going to Ed "Snag" Bretch and Bob Bentley. The Delt touch football team was eliminated in the third round by a close 7-6 decision, despite the star playing of Bob Geiger and Bob Soles. The bowling and handball teams were also unable to place, although they compiled creditable records. Table tennis, though, was a different story. Ham Hamilton, Harris Hawkins, Jim Kennedy, Bill Kramer, and Dan Cannon formed the team that walked away with the cup.

Another big sports victory was the winning of the indoor track meet for the third time, giving the Delts permanent possession of the big plaque awarded for first place.

In the spring sports program, the Delts did not fare so well in horse-shoes, but managed to win cups in the golf and tennis events. The interfraternity swimming meet was won by the Delts, mainly because of Bob Soles' three firsts. Gamma Sigma missed winning the all-point interfraternity and intramural trophies by only a few points, but the Delts are looking forward to 1940-41 and are confident of winning at least one of them.

The Pitt football team had its usual quota of Delt players. Emil Narick, at left halfback, and Harris Hawkins, at center, were on the first team. Art Corace was a second-string guard, while Bill Benghauser, John Stahl, and Bud Kincaid were also on the squad. Bob Frost was head manager of the team. Bob Schrader won his letter as a member of the swimming team and pledge T. A. Beatty competed in the freshman cross-country squad. "Red Dog" Crunkleton was a varsity soccer player.

Glee Club members Dave Buente and Al Young whipped the Delt sing team into such good shape that another first place cup now rests in the Delt trophy case, the largest one on the campus, incidentally. The Delta singers won by a wide margin of octaves.

Jack Stauff managed to find time, aside from his work on the Pitt humor magazine and the Pitt year-book, to make the sophomore hop a big success. Stauff is a member of Druids, sophomore activities fraternity.

The Annual Church Service proved to be a great attraction for Delts of the Pittsburgh district. Three hundred showed up for the service conducted at Trinity Cathedral, December 10, by Brother High Moor, Dean of the Cathedral.

Well attended, too, was the annual Founders Day Banquet at the Roosevelt Hotel, March 9. Distinguished Service Citations were presented to Nelson G. Brayer, Beta Omicron '05, and to Walter B. Nisley '10, in the presence of one hundred and fifty local Delts. Prior to the banquet, Gamma Sigma initiated seven men. Four neophytes were initiated later in the spring.

School elections saw Delts Jack Stauff and Dave Buente elected to the student-governing assembly. Buente was made a member of the executive committee.

Joe McCormick and R. P. Jones juggled the job of comptroller of the Pitt humor magazine between them, much to the confusion of everyone, including themselves. Bob Botkin served as president of the local Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic fraternity, and Bob Schrader served in the same capacity for the American Society of Civil Engineers. Schrader is also a member of Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity; Scabbard and Blade, honorary military science fraternity; and Omicron Delta Kappa, national activities fraternity. Emil Narick is also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

Showing that Gamma Sigma is not short on the scholastic side, sophomores Bob Botkin and Dave Johnston were admitted to Pitt Medical School.

An unusual laurel for the Delts was added in connection with the Pitt golf team. Brothers Bill Kramer and Jim Kennedy played

No. 1 and No. 2 men, respectively.

Other highlights of the year were the banquet tendered for Kurt Pantzer, Supervisor of Scholarship, who set forth the underlying principles of the Delt House-System; a week-end of entertainment for Jimmy Melton, Delt and nationally known singer, who favored us with uproarious songs and with stories that were even more so; and an informal visit by High Shields, Comptroller, and Herb McCracken, new Eastern Division president.

To promote good will among Delt parents, the Father and Son Banquet and the Mother and Son Tea were held. Both events were well attended and fully served their purpose.

Gamma Sigma elected Bob Jones as its new president, Jack Stauff as vice-president, and Bill Kramer as recording secretary at its recent election. Harris Hawkins is acting as treasurer and John Downie is the newly acquired chapter adviser.

The chapter is keeping in close touch with alumni, for Bill Trimble, builder of Pitt's famed Cathedral of Learning, and Norm McLeod, erstwhile National President of the Fraternity, often drop in for chats.

This fall will find Gamma Sigma repainted and otherwise refurbished for a bang-up rushing campaign. Contemplated is the renovation of the cellar into a much-needed game room. With this improvement, the Delts will be far ahead of any other chapter on the campus.

The fellows are confident of having the best year ever and send good wishes to Delts all over the country.

DANIEL W. CANNON

Gamma Tau—Kansas

Gamma Tau pledged twenty-six men last fall and initiated six of them in February. Three more were initiated in June.

We finished fifth in the Intramural Sweepstakes of 1939-'40, and were second to Phi Delta Theta in the Interfraternity Sing last May.

Jack Severin and Jay Voran hold the offices of president and treasurer, respectively, of Gamma Tau for 1940-41. Bob Galloway, president last year, will be resident adviser at Beta Tau, Nebraska, for the next few years.

The Kansas City Mothers Club gave the chapter new draperies for the living room last spring.

There are about thirty-five active Delts who are coming back to the Kansas campus next fall, so fifteen pledges will nearly take care of our requirements. Don Boardman, of St. Francis, Kansas, is our rush captain next year. He can be contacted at home any time during August.

Returning members of Gamma Tau are due at the Shelter September 9. Rush week begins September 13. We have only four days to get organized before the full swing of rushing hits us. We shall appreciate any help from alumni during rush week.

H. WILLIAM REECE

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

While everyone is packing, let's sit here in the armchair and browse over the year's activities. All the boys are leaving the Shelter except the Seniors; they're waiting for the big event of their final year—graduation. Right now some of them are out in the back yard taking a sunbath.

How I remember those intramural baseball games last fall. Everyone in the House went to them, and we'd yell our heads off while "Rosy" Gieringer pitched that apple to "Chick" Olin behind the plate. Bob Gaston used to lead the cheers in his own inimitable fashion, and Regner, Paterson, Kinsey, and Kauffmann made up that "hot" infield.

We lost in the finals in baseball, both fall and spring. The same in volleyball, basketball and bowling. That old "final bracket voodoo" certainly had us this year. Clark Miller, who was intramural mentor, seemed to age ten years at each of those heartbreaking final contests.

Bob Barker, "Casey" Wineland, and Jack Meier were the Delt contribution to varsity football; and Sam Paterson, Jib Van Orsdel, and Marv Kinsey performed on the basketball court. Meier, Van Orsdel, and Kinsey will be back next year; the others graduate.

Here comes our "Mom." Mrs. Young came here for the first time last fall and immediately made a big hit with everyone. We're really proud of her, and her presence here has made a noticeable change in the chapter.

"Pop" Edgar headed the Dad's Day ceremonies and Bob Grimm hauled live trees into the front yard for Homecoming decorations. That was the week-end we had the alums and Ohio Wesleyan Delts all stuffed into the house with clothes hanging over everything.

After Christmas we drudged through mid-year exams and half the Juniors took "stay-up pills" the night before the finance exam. When the next semester started, John Sheldon was directing rushing activities, and we have our fine pledge class to show as the result of his smooth direction. He will be succeeded next year by Jack Bahm. Bob Gaston was made pledge master and "Casey" Wineland the hard driving workmaster.

Remember the "Fowl Ball"? Gosh, the place looked like a barn. We had to come in through the silo placed before the front door, and we stumbled into pens of chickens and baby lambs placed in the living room. We all had a grand time cavorting around in our overalls and straw hats.

Bob MacMillan, Neil Baumgartner, and Ernie Zimmerman were in the Glee Club and made a number of trips with it this spring. Mac led our chapter Glee Club to win the Interfraternity Sing on the campus for the second time in succession. One more year and the cup is ours for keeps. Mac also led the combined fraternity chorus at the Interfraternity Ball.

When varsity track came around, I remember Luker, Hunter, Grimm, Littleton, and Tallman going into training to make their letters. Hoiby "Wings" Williamson went out too, but he gave it up to become head of the new Delt-House-System for the chapter, and to be initiated into Delta Sigma Pi honorary along with Max Sanny, and to become assistant treasurer of the House along with "Junie" Hunter. He also was a football manager last fall. Jim Van Orsdel and "Rosy" Gieringer were making their letters in varsity baseball, both playing in the outfield.

I wonder why it has to rain every year on the exact day we plan our Spring Formal? It hasn't missed in five years, but we haven't missed having a good time in twice that long, so no harm done.

I can remember other highlights while I'm sitting here: Hopkins as president of the Junior class and pitching spring baseball; Bob Mac-Millan being elected president of next year's Senior class; Barker being succeeded by John Sheldon both as president of the chapter and president of the Interfraternity Council; Jack Fletcher editing the Gupsilon, the chapter paper. And others: Bob Sander taking over Wineland's treasurer's duties; "Barrel" Sutton and Howard Bartling working around the house; Hewins playing golf; Pursley "yessing" and "noing" the little woman over the phone; and the quietest man in the house, Bob Hill, leading cheers as varsity cheerleader at the big games. Davies, Shape, and Markle used to stay up late working on the student paper, and Ed Malafa made lonely trips to Hamilton doing the same. They'll be in line for big jobs next year.

Well, I'll bid the Seniors farewell. There is President Barker, who went on long picnics after his term was up; Bob Bowers, who as chief agitator will leave only bass voices in the Shelter halls; Jim Ebert, the original lover and general man "Friday"; Bill "most-likely-to-succeed" Daugherty, of Warren, Ohio; "Gashouse" Gaston, to whom "June" means more than a month of the year; there is "Snake" Griffith, and "congrats" for your law school scholarship; "Yiggs" Morse, the "Doc," dashing back home to the gal in New Yawk and "Rock Dock"; "Let me borrow—" Olin, how we'll miss his rendition of "Scotlands Burnin'"; Sam Paterson, who lived only to play basketball until he found "her"; Wineland, our football star, treasurer, and maintainer of the coveted "B" average; and "J. J." Wuest, who declares, "They call me grandpa," but who will really be missed—now that he finally is graduating.

Don Cameron is not returning to Miami. He will attend art school in Chicago. I hope Sutton recuperates from his operations this summer in time to come back next fall, and I wonder if old "Twitch" Hall will find a way to come back. Wait a minute! I have to get ready to leave myself. See you next year!

ELMER WARD

Gamma Phi—Amherst

"Red" Valens, besides being an extremely valuable member of the Amherst ski team, took part in intramural track, and was president of the Outing Club, whose trophy he received for a second time for his outstanding work for the club. Jim Wells was also active in the club, succeeding "Red" as president for next year. Charlie Pierce was active in interclass swimming and on the varsity swimming team. Al Boylan was pitcher for the all-star baseball team, Ray Smardon playing right field. Johnny Donaldson was on the Freshman golf team, and M. Davis on the wrestling team.

The chapter was well represented during the year on all the college publications: Tom Wilcox became assistant treasurer, and Jack Wysor, member of the editorial staff, of the Amherst Student; both Jack and Bill Webber joined the business board of Touchstone, Charlie Pierce being art editor and Tom Wilcox, member of the art staff. Harry Cramer, Charlie Wight, and Benton Gaskell were on the Olio board, Charlie and Benton being business manager and assistant business manager, respectively. "Red" Valens won the Touchstone short story contest.

Dick Grush acted as manager of the debating council, Don Thomsen and M. Davis being elected members for next year, M. succeeding Dick as next year's council manager as well.

In the presentations of the Amherst Masquers, Hank Bruyn and Bart Green operated as electricians, Stu Kinney as assistant stage manager, while Hank Butterworth was an electrical competitor. Dave Carson, Bob Farwell, and "Red" Valens had various roles in the plays.

Dick Grush, Harry Cramer, and Charlie McEvoy were elected to Phi Beta Kappa, Charlie also becoming treasurer of the Student Council.

The chapter stands fourth of fourteen in scholarship on the campus this year.

Ace Stewart received an honor in being elected president of the Sphinx Club this spring.

Gamma Phi thus adds another successful year of activities to her record, and looks forward to another even more successful.

RICHARD W. CASE

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

Gamma Chi can point with pride to the activities with which various members of the chapter have been associated. The wide diversity of sports, clubs, and societies indicates more clearly than words the well-rounded group that we have had this year.

The retiring president, Bob Mears, did a fine job in leading the Fraternity this past year and should be greatly complimented along with Bob Musser who has done excellent work with his alumni relations committee.

Gamma Chi was well represented this past semester in the sporting events. Jack Horacek and Norris Holstrom were the standouts on the varsity basketball team, and many times it was through the close guarding by Norris and Jack's sharpshooting that kept the K-State team in the victory column. This spring Horacek turned his interests to tennis and was a consistent point winner for the varsity. Warren Hornsby, in his first year out for baseball, made the varsity squad at shortstop, and it was his hard hitting and accurate throwing that often helped to keep the Kansas State pitchers happy.

The social events this year were planned by Dick Jaccard and Elwood Beeson who did a fine job of keeping Gamma Chi in the social whirl. One of the new ideas this year was a "hamburger feed" held at the house in place of the regular evening meal. The feed was followed by dancing, and as it met with such success it will become a monthly attraction next year. The social season was climaxed with the annual Delt spring formal which was a dinner-dance affair and was held at the Manhattan Country Club. The decorations were of the South Sea Island variety and afforded the guests a great deal of merriment. The Delt barbecue was held the following Sunday and was well attended by the alumni. Bob Norton was in charge and did a fine job by securing buffalo meat for the occasion. It was the first time most of us had eaten buffalo, and it proved to be quite a treat.

This spring we had the largest attendance for "Sister's Day" that we have ever had. There were thirty-two sisters present, and the boys really enjoyed showing them a good time. Mother's Day was also very well attended, and the mothers found out that the boys really knew how to clean house. To prove that the mothers truly look forward to this occasion, some came from as far as Wisconsin.

Gamma Chi was runner-up in intramurals this year and only missed first place by a few points. The softball team was a well balanced outfit as was the swimming team which won the intramural trophy. In track the boys showed up very well with the half-mile relay team romping home first and Barney Boring winning the hurdles in a very fast time. Lyle Boley was the high-point man in intramurals at Kansas State this year and Warren Adcock was also one of the first ten who received the awards.

Gamma Chi is justly proud of her honor men. Vincent Ellis was chosen as the outstanding Junior in the Engineering Division. He was also elected to Blue Key a Senior men's honorary organization. Bob Washburn is the new treasurer of Sigma Tau, and of the A.I.E.E., and also the vice-president of Eta Kappa Nu. Paul Hudson is the retiring president of the Sophomore mechanical engineering organization. Bob Musser was captain of the rifle team during the past year. Warren Adcock is well known for his numerous "keys," but lack of space permits us from naming all his honors.

The new officers for next year are: Vincent Ellis, president; Norris Holstrom, vice-president; Paul Hudson, treasurer; and Warren Hornsby, recording secretary; Bob Washburn, corresponding secretary.

We are looking forward to a successful year as we have already pledged six new boys for this fall. Norris Holstrom has a very complete rushing program scheduled for summer, and with the usual fine help from our alumni, we expect to find Gamma Chi in its accustomed place at the top of the heap.

Delta Beta—Carnegie

THE YEAR 1940 has been and promises to be a banner one for Delta Beta. On a cold January 5 the brothers moved from our old Shelter to a new one at 5020 Morewood Place. Situated close to the campus, it is now the finest of the houses at Carnegie.

Through the combined efforts of all the brothers, money was raised to transform what was a basement into a suite of fine recreation rooms. Paneled in knotty pine, boasting a ping-pong table, pool table, and excellent dance floor, the basement promises to be the center of most social activities. Much credit must be given to George Van Nort and Tom Pratt, who worked day and night to see that the whole plan was completed for Spring Carnival. Social highlight of the year was Carnival, when all Carnegie Tech danced to the music of Glenn Miller and Jack Teagarden.

June saw five seniors leaving us, namely: Joe Beck, Jim Lochhead, Bill Winterbottom, Barrie Graham, and George Stuart. Ranking high in their class, these boys contributed a great deal to the chapter and will be missed by all.

Last year Delta Beta was ranked first in scholarship in the Eastern Division, and for her efforts the beautiful silver Eastern Division scholarship plaque now hangs over the fireplace.

President Harry Shephard has appointed Jim McGarvey rushing chairman. Since rush week is the first week of school, summer rushing will be necessary, but with the coöperation of the members, Delta Beta of  $\Delta T \Delta$  will continue to be Carnegie's leading fraternity.

Delta Beta alumni who read this issue of THE RAINBOW will, we think, be pleased to learn that a great Homecoming party is being planned for them this year. We hope that those interested will visit or write the chapter before the football season.

JAMES B. RIGGLE

Delta Gamma—South Dakota

GREETINGS FROM Delta Gamma and a sincere wish that the coming year will be as big for all chapters as we hope it will be for ours. Indications in this direction are good here at South Dakota because last year found the Delts actively engaged in activities on this campus. We had a championship football team with Rod Parsons and Mack Albertson as members. The basketball team was well bolstered by Delts, including "Tink" Evers, Joe Cadwell, Mack Albertson, and O. F. Jacobsen. Bud Ebert captained the frosh basketball team, of which Jim Sladek was also a member.

The House bowling team came through in second place as did our golf team composed of Morry Persson and Rod Parsons. The swimming team won the first place trophy for the third consecutive year, and Joe Cadwell was a finalist in the tennis singles meet. Our kitten ball team lost but one game, and that a one-run defeat at the hands of a town team.

In fields other than athletics, Delta Gamma men stood out just as prominently. Mark Wagner received numerous awards as an outstanding orator and debater; O. F. Jacobsen was the coed's choice as Leap Year King; Rod Parsons was elected president of Dakotans; Hap Haberman received the Davis dramatic plaque; and Ross Oviatt was recognized as one of the campus' leading students.

The Delts presented a Strollers act entitled Haze Over Hollywood which garnered them second money, and starred those great lovers, Albertson, Wagner, Raw, Crawford, and others too numerous to mention. The Delt parties as usual were a huge success, especially the fall party which was conducted along the Gay Nineties theme.

And now with a powerful active chapter returning and under the able hand of President Mack Albertson, Delta Gamma is looking forward to the best ever.

WILLIAM R. QUINN, JR.

Delta Delta—Tennessee

"A WONDERFUL year"—everyone in the chapter considers it the best yet for Delta Delta. Had a very successful rush week under the direction of Bedford Berry who is now our president for the coming year. Twenty-two men were pledged then and six have been pledged at various times throughout the year. Over half these have been initiated, and more will be eligible for initiation at the beginning of this fall quarter.

Joe Barton, our golf master, reached the finals in the individual tournament before upset. Al Hutchison, our intramural manager, promises that next year will be greater in all the intramural sports.

Bedford Berry has been elected president of the Interfraternity Board, one of the most responsible positions in fraternity affairs. Al Hutchison was elected as representative of the College of Engineering to the All Students' Club Council which is the governing body of the students.

Two new cups adorn the walls of the Shelter as we took first with our float in the Homecoming barnwarmin' parade, and we received the unanimous vote of the judges for first with our stunt in Carnicus. Besides winning the cup for the best stunt, the Delts had an important part in the planning of the affair as practically the entire chapter was on some committee and Woody Riddick was assistant manager for the event.

Delta Delta adopted the Delt House-Plan, being one of the first in the Southern Division to do so. This should be a great help with the pledge class.

Our formal dance, held at the Country Club, was acknowledged to be outstanding and a great success. At the banquet held earlier for the alumni, the "impromptu" speech of Ben Rogers talking for the pledges was the highlight of the evening. After the dance all gathered for an early breakfast.

As the result of our progress,

Δ T Δ is recognized as outstanding among the fraternities on the Hill at Tennessee.

CHARLES D. KING

Delta Zeta—Florida

AFTER MID-SEMESTER graduation, which took only two of our men, initiations, held February 9 and 25, brought the total number of initiates for the year to twelve. These men injected new blood into the life of Delta Zeta and helped to put over the biggest event of the year, Military Ball Week-end. Our formal dinner-dance, with the dinner being served in our own new dining room was a huge success. The crowd was so large that we had to turn 'em away in order to make room for the guests.

February also found several Delts from Duke on their way from mid-year exams to a week's vacation on our sunny beaches. They expressed great admiration for, and lavished praises on, our new house.

The Annual Founders Day dinner was held in Tampa, March 8. The active chapter joined with the Tampa Alumni Chapter and others. A dinner and smoker was enjoyed very much.

Another successful event was a stag picnic at Sunnyside, "the old swimmin' hole." Games were played which became rather rough, but in spite of a few bruises everyone had a swell time. Such a good time that two of the guests, Dan Cannon and Carl Severin, are now proudly wearing the pledge pin.

Charles Ostner was elected to lead the chapter for the next year, replacing George Allen. Brother Allen, immediately upon his release by us, was accepted by the Department of Justice and when last heard from was in Washington for final training. State elections saw N. Ray Carroll, immediate past National President, elected from Osceola County to the Florida State Legislature to join our own John Burwell, Delta Zeta '25, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

The spring campus elections found four Delts running hard for campus offices, but Old Dame Fortune left them long faced and defeated when election returns were compiled. Here's to better luck next time.

A House dance was held early in May which eased very much the tension which comes prior to exams. After the dance and judging from the amount of cramming going on, our standing will be knocking at the upper rungs of the ladder.

Commencement took only two members from our ranks, Rex Gillingham and Frank Buck. With all the rest back next year we should have a very successful year.

Delta Theta—Toronto

LAST YEAR the Toronto chapter of Δ T Δ more than held its own with the rest of the best with regard to social, campus, and athletic activities.

Tea dances intermingled with a theatre party, a smoker, and a House party led the way to a very successful fall term. The eagerly anticipated and highly esteemed "hard-times" party was better than ever before, due to Austin Monteith, Yorke Williamson, and a few of the other fellows. Another annual event which proved very satisfactory to all concerned was the Christmas dinner, for in the words of George Crase, "A better Christmas meal was never eaten, even at home." New Year's came and went, leaving a few of us scarred perhaps, but not permanently injured. Our formal was held at the Guild of All Arts after a coffee party, and a breakfast followed at the House.

This year there were two sets of initiations, the later set being followed by a party at Jack Wilson's home where the grads met the new members.

Our Shelter has been improved quite a bit this year. Thanks to the grads and the Mothers' Club, we have two luxurious new rugs. We are also indebted to Bill Cranford's dad for a new clock.

Many Toronto Delts are outstanding in the sports field. Lou Sebert played intercollegiate soccer; Yorke Williamson and Harry Kimber were both goal keepers in intercollegiate hockey; Dave Craig, our president, is an outstanding gymnast.

This year we have quite a graduating class, no less than twelve Delts. The boys are going to be missed next year. Several of them have already enlisted in the army. Hal Butterill, a Metallurgical Engineer and a former Dominion champion basketball played in high school, is a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. Jack Williamson, another Metallurgical Engineer and an Ontario champion in fencing, is a lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps; and Lou Sebert, a Mining Engineer and a member of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club is a lieutenant in the Artillery.

WILLIAM E. BESSANT

Delta Iota—U.C.L.A.

THE NEW Shelter (see THE RAINBOW, February, 1940) has had the expected, desired effect on the members of Delta Iota. Through the support of the alumni and mothers' groups, we have been able to continue the furnishing of the house.

In scholarship we have moved up nineteen places on the campus rating. Delta Iota is the highest in scholarship among the ranking national fraternities at U. C. L. A. In intercollegiate and intramural sports, likewise, the U. C. L. A. chapter has maintained standards recognizably high in the university. Dell Lyman, the man who almost worried U. S. C. away from the Rose Bowl, will return to the first string lineup next September; Stuart McKenzie, Jim House, and Len Brown are also expected to upset our football enemies this coming season. In basketball the House has shown itself most active. Dick Horton and Victor Millar have proved themselves cagey on the floor while Bill Kugler, Dick Harris, and Gordy Hewson have given their services as managers. Kingston Cable and Jack Millikan caused trouble for rivals of the U. C. L. A. crew. Intramural sport managers Harley Merritt and Dick Zacher did such a thorough job in getting the teams together on time that Δ T Δ gained second place among the fraternities in intramural sports this year. We must also mention the Delt-Delta Gamma Ball of May 2. Through the leadership of Brothers Ballantyne and Bardeen, Delts and their friends were given a memorable evening with Duke Ellington and his orchestra at the Ambassador Hotel. The Senior members testified that it was the best

Delt-Delta Gamma Ball we have had

Last March the Fraternity initiated nine new Deltas. Two of the group—Kemper Campbell of Oxford University and Jack Young of Long Island—came a long way to U. C. L. A. and Delta Iota. Bob Gay, the pledge captain, delivered these initiates over to the Fraternity for initiation. And it is Tom Neeley, rush captain, who is responsible this semester for a very spirited pledge class, a group of scholars, athletes, and good guys. These men are governed by Whitney Collins, the retiring vice-president. Of the other retiring officers Charley Hart, president, and Bob Belsey, house manager, have graduated this year. Kingston Cable is the new president; Tom Neeley, vice-president; Jack Cain, recording secretary; and Bob Douglas, corresponding secretary.

ROBERT R. DOUGLAS

Delta Kappa—Duke

LAST SEMESTER was, as near as I can recall, a somewhat slack year for the Delta Kappa of dear old  $\Delta T \Delta$ . We did do a few things, though, and those I will rather briefly enumerate.

Very soon after school opened in the fall, we held an initiation for some of the pledges of last year who had made their required grade average in the spring semester and thus hadn't been initiated.

Our next venture was a Cabin Party held in lieu of the customary fall dance. It was held on Thanksgiving Day (that is, the old Thanksgiving Day, not the President's). This Cabin Party proved to be a very successful event, some thirty members and their dates attending, and all present voting it one of the best times they had since they went away to school.

We held two more initiations before the end of the fall semester, one initiation being held for old pledges, and the other for some new pledges who were upperclassmen.

Immediately after the start of the spring semester of 1940, we held our rush week, which was very successful. We pledged seventeen Freshmen, nine of whom were initiated after spring vacation at the end of a week of pledge period.

We held our spring dance for the pledges April 28, and the dance was, as usual, one of the best fraternity dances on campus.

One more initiation, for two more men, was held May 13, and then the entire chapter was feverishly studying and then submerged in the flood of exams.

JAMES F. DOLSON

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

DELTA LAMBDA's year seemed promising from fall registration on, with the pledging of a fine group of Freshmen and having a good representation in campus activities. The chapter has for the past three years held a strong hold on publications positions. This year Don Drake and Ed Smith were editor and manager, respectively, of the Oregon State Barometer. Jack Grauer and Steve Reed, Sophomores, held positions on the editorial side, while Joel Kahn and Don Mumm were on the managerial staff.

Bandsmen were prominent in the House. Gordon Swan, previously of Peoria, Illinois, was selected as drum major of the first band, and Lee Wells was manager of this same band for the second consecutive year. Other band members were George Bulk, librarian, and next year's manager; Frank Wells; Arlie Hatfield, student conductor; Melvin Look, and Arthur Wieland.

The Deltas came through at Homecoming to win first place in the house sign contest in competition with twenty-six other fraternities.

Spring term's House elections selected John Kling to succeed retiring president Tom Zilka, with Joel Kahn receiving the position of vice-president.

Joel Kahn attended the Western Division Conference at Northwestern University where he received the Division Scholarship Plaque awarded to Delta Lambda for the school year 1938-39.

We had three of the quota of thirty student pilots under the Civil Aeronautics Authority training. By May 15 they had all passed the tests for their private licenses. Bob Phelps finished his R.O.T.C. career as colonel of the infantry corps. Phelps, a member of the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, plans to enter the Army upon graduation.

The chapter now has a new game room where the members and pledges may spend their leisure hours.

Delta Lambda Mothers, continuing their custom of the past, presented the House with two fine ash trays, a floor lamp, and a beautiful side table.

All Sophomores of Delta Lambda entered wholeheartedly into the annual "Whiskerino and Sadie Hawkins Day" celebration held at Oregon State. Duane Taylor won the prize for the blondest beard.

Bob Beckwith has written a new Fraternity song, "Delta Tau Girl," which will be included in the new songbook.

Greek-letter, honorary, and professional societies claimed nine affiliates of Delta Lambda.

In athletics we won the intramural crew competition. George Bulk held a position on the junior varsity, and Arthur Wieland received his numerals for "Rook" crew. Marv Markman is expected to hold down the left guard position on the Oregon State varsity this fall.

For the fourth consecutive year, this chapter entertained a group of orphan children at a Christmas party. Delta Lambda originated this custom on the Oregon State campus.

One sport dance, one formal, one masquerade, two firesides, and three picnics constituted the year's main social functions.

DONALD K. WOODEN

Delta Mu—Idaho

THE "CHAMPIONSHIP" bug seems to have bitten the Delta Mu boys frequently this year, and we are enjoying these "bites" no little. The first result of this epidemic was the award of a beautiful cup to Delta Mu for its best Homecoming decoration last fall. Our artists combined their talents again in winning another attractive cup for their clever work in the Sophomore Holly Day decorations contest just before Christmas.

In the athletic world, Coach Louie August, '37, led his "nogginbusters" to the National Collegiate Boxing Championship, besides capturing the Pacific Coast crown.

Prominent on the team for the past two years have been Ted Kara, former Olympic captain, and Sammy Zingale, captain of this year's squad, who gained his most noteworthy "victory" in holding Wisconsin's famous Omar Crocker to a draw.

This spring, our aspiring "Dimaggios" annihilated the ball to annex the campus softball title, receiving a classy, bronze plaque to grace our trophy room wall.

Along journalism way, Jimmy Boyd slaved all year to produce the best yearbook in many seasons here at Idaho. It was judged one of the choicest on the Pacific Coast.

Our scholarship has improved over last year, and we expect to keep up this pace.

SAM J. ZINGALE

Delta Nu—Lawrence

June 14 saw the closing of one of Delta Nu's most successful years. School opened with the pledging of seventeen men. Eight upperclassmen were also enrolled in our ranks at the semester. This past year has brought many honors to Delta Nu and those listed below are but a few of the many attained.

Selden Spencer was top man for individual honors, carrying away three—Phi Beta Kappa, Prom King, and in being voted one of the six most handsome men on the campus. Jack White comes next in line for individual honors, being elected president of the student body and editor of the school paper until other academic activities forced him to turn the job over to Brother Bill Pengelly who finished out the year. Dexter Wolfe was chosen to edit the paper for next year, which puts the editorship in capable hands.

In the athletic department we were more than well represented. Of the thirteen men we had on the varsity football squad, eight were awarded letters and Art Kaemmer was elected one of the co-captains for the 1940-41 season. Delta Nu had three men on the basketball team and two were regulars. Welly Cape was elected honorary captain at the end of the season. We were also "Cape"ably represented on the track team. In the intramural field, our chapter won the Supremacy Cup for the third successive year, which allows us permanent possession. Outstanding intramural athletes working hard for Delta Nu were Bob Hrudka, Gerry Susycki, Red Hirst, and Bob Smith.

Under the guidance of Willie Davis and Bill Weiss, we enjoyed a very well-rounded social season. Four house parties were held with various themes to make them all interesting. With the coming of "Lawrence in the Spring" we held our annual trip to State Park. The climax to the entire year was our spring formal held at North Shore Country Club. It was well attended and all enjoyed the music of Billy Baer's orchestra.
