Delta Tau Delta Takes First in Scholarship in 1938-39

By Kurt F. Pantzer, Beta Psi (Wabash), '13, Supervisor of Scholarship

FIRST place among the sixteen fraternities in the National Interfraternity Conference having fifty or more chapters gave distinction to $\Delta T \Delta$'s scholastic record for the academic year 1938-39.

The Fraternity, after raising its index for the fifth consecutive year, had an index of plus 3.203. The next highest record, made by one of the larger fraternities, was plus 1.488. In 1937-38, $\Delta T \Delta$'s record was plus 2.47.

Noteworthy was the fact that for the first time, all of the Divisions had plus ratings.

The record was based on the cumulative records of sixty-eight chapters compared with sixty-four last year. The missing chapters were Omega (Pennsylvania), Beta Delta (Georgia), Beta Iota (Virginia), Gamma Chi (Kansas State), Delta Epsilon (Kentucky), and Delta Theta (Toronto). Pennsylvania submitted averages this year, but they were received too late to be included in the final tabulations. Georgia's record was incomplete and was not included. Virginia and Toronto do not submit averages to the Conference. Kansas State and Kentucky do not submit their All Men's Averages.

Beta Omicron (Cornell) and Beta Mu (Tufts) are included for the first time. Gamma Rho (Oregon) appears after an absence of several years. Beta Omega (California) furnished the All Men's Average for the first time.

Forty-three, or approximately 63 per cent, of the chapters were above the All Men's Average of their respective campuses. This is compared with thirty-seven, or 57 per cent, for 1937-38. Twenty-five, or approximately 37 per cent, of the chapters were below the All Men's Average, compared with twenty-seven, or 43 per cent, for 1937-38.

Seven chapters advanced to plus ratings, but four chapters dropped to minus ratings. Nineteen chapters remained below the All Men's Average.

Thirty-two chapters had lower ratings. Twenty-eight chapters had higher ratings. Five chapters remained the same.

CONTRIBUTING ROLL

The following chapters, with ratings of plus 10 or more, made a major contribution to $\Delta T \Delta$'s winning record. Italics indicate that the chapters also were on this roll in 1937-38.

Beta (Ohio)
Gamma (Washington and Jefferson)
Kappa (Hillsdale)
Pi (Mississippi)
Phi (Washington and Lee)
Chi (Kenyon)
Beta Epsilon (Emory)
Beta Theta (University of the South)
Beta Xi (Tulane)
Beta Omicron (Cornell)
Beta Rho (Stanford)
Beta Psi (Wabash)
Gamma Beta (Armour)
Gamma Xi (Cincinnati)
Gamma Tau (Kansas)
Delta Alpha (Oklahoma)
Delta Beta (Carnegie)
Delta Gamma (South Dakota)
Delta Kappa (Duke)
Delta Lambda (Oregon State)

NON-CONTRIBUTING ROLL

The following chapters, with ratings of minus 10 or less, lowered considerably the Fraternity's average. Italics indicate that the chapters also contributed negatively the preceding year.

Omicron (Iowa)
Rho (Stevens)
Tau (Penn State)
Beta Beta (DePauw)
Beta Gamma (Wisconsin)
Beta Eta (Minnesota)
Beta Lambda (Lehigh)
Beta Nu (M. I. T.)
Beta Tau (Nebraska)
Gamma Mu (Washington)
Delta Iota (U. C. L. A.)
Delta Xi (North Dakota)

The worst decline in the Fraternity, from the standpoint of points lost, was made by Beta Epsilon (Emory). The chapter, however, was operating at a disadvantage as last year it made plus 42—the all-time high record of the National Interfraternity Conference ratings. The past year the chapter dropped to plus 14.

Epsilon (Albion) made the best increase, from minus 18 to plus 2.

The best record was made by Beta Xi (Tulane) with a plus 22. The record of Beta Delta (Georgia), fortunately for the Fraternity's national rating, was not counted. The chapter had a minus 41 rating. The worst record included in the national average was that of Omicron (Iowa)—a minus 21.

An examination of the chapters' records by the other method of comparing the scholastic ratings—position on campus—shows that twenty-eight of the chapters improved their positions but that twenty-nine chapters lowered their positions on their respective campuses. Nine chapters remained in the same position.

According to this comparison, outstanding records were made by the following chapters which were first, second, or third on their campuses:

FIRSTS

Italics indicate that the chapters also were first, second, or third in 1937-38.

The non-contributing list included those chapters which were in last, second-from-last, or third-from-last positions on their campuses. Omicron (Iowa) was the only chapter included in this group for 1937-38.

SOUTHERN DIVISION

The Southern Division index was plus 9.581. Eleven of the fourteen chapters in the Division were rated. Beta Delta (Georgia), Beta Iota (Virginia), and Delta Epsilon (Kentucky) were not included.

The Division scholarship award was won by Beta Xi (Tulane), fourth of seventeen, with a plus 22 rating.

Three of the chapters, Gamma Psi (Georgia Tech), Delta Delta (Tennessee), and Delta Zeta (Florida), had minus ratings. Delta Zeta had a minus rating for the fifth consecutive year. Beta Theta (University of the South), on the other side of the ledger, had a plus rating for the sixth consecutive year.

The worst loss in the Division was that of Beta Epsilon (Emory), which has been mentioned before. The best gain was made by Phi (Washington and Lee) from plus 3 to plus 12.

Six of the eleven chapters had ratings of plus 12 or more.

WESTERN DIVISION

The index of the Western Division was plus .786. Twenty-four of the Division's twenty-five chapters were rated. Gamma Chi (Kansas State) was not included. Delta Lambda (Oregon State), third of twenty-seven, with a plus 20 rating, won the Division scholarship award. Delta Lambda has had a plus rating for five consecutive years.

Outstanding in this Division were the records of Beta Rho (Stanford), Delta Alpha (Oklahoma), Delta Gamma (South Dakota), Gamma Beta (Armour), and Gamma Tau (Kansas), all of which were plus 11 or more. Delta Alpha completed its ninth consecutive year with a plus rating, and Gamma Theta (Baker) has had six years with plus ratings. Gamma Iota (Texas) has had the commendable record of eleven consecutive years with plus ratings. Turning to the unfavorable side, Omicron, seventeenth of seventeen, with a minus 21 rating, has had a minus rating for eight consecutive years. Delta Mu (Idaho) has been minus for five consecutive years. Beta Gamma (Wisconsin), Beta Eta (Minnesota), Beta Tau (Nebraska), Gamma Mu (Washington), and Delta Iota (U. C. L. A.) all had minus 12 or worse.

The worst loss in the Division was suffered by Delta Xi (North Dakota) going from plus 5 to minus 10. On the bright side, Delta Gamma (South Dakota) rose from minus 6 to plus 11.

NORTHERN DIVISION

The Northern Division index was plus 5.036. All of the fifteen chapters were rated. The Division scholarship award went to Beta (Ohio), first of eleven, with plus 11. Beta Psi (Wabash), Kappa (Hillsdale), Chi (Kenyon), and Gamma Xi (Cincinnati) contributed to the Division's record with ratings of plus 10 or more. Gamma Lambda (Purdue), Gamma Xi (Cincinnati), Chi (Kenyon), and Zeta (Western Reserve) have the meritorious rec-

KLEBER W. HADLEY

By Francis M. Hughes, Mu (Ohio Wesleyan), '31

KLEBER W. HADLEY, Beta Zeta (Butler), '12, passed to the Chapter Eternal December 17, 1939, at the age of fifty-one. At the time of his death he was president of the Northern Division, having been elected to that office at the Detroit Conference in February 1938.

In his office desk following his death was found Stuart Maclean's "The Good Delt; His Book." To all who knew him, Kleber W. Hadley was a living example of The Good Delt, one to whom The Delta Creed was a reality and an inspiration. It was very natural and fitting that the beautiful floral blanket which covered his remains was inscribed with the letters of his Fraternity; even as those letters and their significance influenced his life, so were they present when he had passed to that house of many mansions.

For loyalty was one of the dynamics of his life. He steadfastly clung to and nurtured those influences in his life which he felt to be abiding. He was an active member of the First Friends' Church and throughout his life worked unceasingly in the program of that institution. He had a genuine loyalty to his city and to his state and to their institutions. He was a real Hoosier, and to him Indianapolis and Indiana were the best places on earth. Service to his country was manifested by eight months spent overseas and by his close affiliation through the years since the war with his comrades of that struggle. And this loyalty of which we speak was beautifully present in his relationships with his family.

A deep sorrow came into his life in 1923 with the death of his wife following the birth of his son. Yet this sorrow, although it always remained heavy in his heart, nevertheless, perhaps intensified the devotion which he showed to his son and to his sister who took over the duty of preserving the home which sorrow had entered. His son, and his two brothers and two sisters, loved him very dearly, and he, in turn, repaid their devotion with an equal share of his own devotion.

From the very moment when the Square Badge was first placed upon his breast, loyalty to $\Delta T \Delta$ became one of the abiding influences of his life. As an undergraduate and alumnus, Kleber W. Hadley believed intensely in his Fraternity and in its ideals. For many years, he was president of the Beta Zeta Foundation and also president of the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter. He rarely missed a Karnea or a Northern Division Conference. For a time he served as chapter adviser at Beta Zeta, and at his death was a director of Beta Zeta Foundation. He could always find time for his Fraternity. He did not lay it and its influence aside upon graduation from college. When we see a man of his stamp remaining actively faithful to his Fraternity and its ideals, then we gain added belief in the place of the Fraternity in this life of ours. It was not by chance but by choice that his two legal associates were both members of the Fraternity. His last illness prevented active participation in his work as a member of the Arch Chapter, yet in that illness many of his duties were carried on from his sick bed. Kleber W. Hadley had the word "Loyalty" deeply engraved upon his heart.

The impression of massive ruggedness which he bore also typified his character. The difference between right and wrong offered no problem to him; swift instinct told him that which was right. Nor was there in him any deviation from that right; he never traveled the short cut when the long way was the right way. His character was essentially Puritan, and his life unmarked by anything questionable. Ideals were his guide, and he never turned aside from the path of idealism which he trod.

Then again, he was a man of generous spirit. His boyhood in Indianapolis was not without its financial struggle, for his father had died at an early age. As a youth he worked night and day in his efforts to help his brothers and sisters and mother keep the family together. In 1915, he became associated with The Railroadmen's Building and Savings Association, which in the late '30's became one of the country's largest building and loan associations. At the time of his death he was its attorney, and as such, one of the leading members of his profession in the city and state. His success in his profession increased rather than dwarfed his generosity. After his passing his family and friends learned of many generous things which he had done for others which he chose to keep in his own heart. His generosity arose from the warmth of his own spirit and not from any desire for publicity.

Our Delta Creed speaks of truth, international brotherhood, friendship, conscience, aspiration, self-restraint, understanding, loyalty. Does not the Creed take on a renewed and throbbing significance when we realize that men like Kleber W. Hadley have believed in it and lived in that belief?

GEORGE W. BREWSTER

By Alfred B. Lemon, Beta Chi (Brown), '13

IF these few words about George W. Brewster, Beta Chi (Brown), '12, are to be what he would have liked, they will be simple, straightforward, and without superlatives. Few men have rendered greater service to the Fraternity, and few have done it more quietly.

The untimely death of this Good Delt came February 4, 1940, while he was in the line of duty for his Fraternity. As President of the Eastern Division, he was returning to Providence, R. I., following a conference in Pittsburgh with representatives of the southwestern chapters of the Division. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

George, the son of Charles and Marion Wiggin Brewster, was born in Dover, N. H. He attended elementary schools in New Hampshire and prepared for college at the Newton, Mass., high school and Phillips Andover Academy. He entered Brown University in the fall of 1908 and became a pledge of Beta Chi. From the time of his affiliation, $\Delta T \Delta$ was one of his vital interests.

Following his college work he became treasurer of the E. R. Grabow Co., the operator of several high grade hotels in New England. His personal responsibilities were with the management of the New Ocean House at Swampscott, Mass. Later he became treasurer of the Bluepoint Corporation at Sayville, N. Y.

When the United States entered the World War, he enlisted as a non-commissioned officer in the Navy. He had been promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant before retiring from the Service at the close of the War.

In May, 1918, he married Miss Alma Suren of Needham, Mass. In 1919, he established the Fox Point Warehouse Co., at East Providence, R. I., which he operated until the time of his death, residing in Providence during these twenty years.

The history of Beta Chi shows that at one of the critical periods, which seem to be the experience of most every chapter of every fraternity, George assumed the duties of chapter adviser. Things were not bright and many of the alumni and undergraduates were discouraged—but, not George! Before most of us realized it, a change began to take place. There was definite improvement, in scholarship, in finances, and in general chapter organization. The progress continued through the years and when he gave up his duties as adviser about a year ago, Beta Chi was recognized as a leader on the campus. George would have said it was because of the cooperation and assistance from many. The rest of us would say that it was mostly George Brewster.

His good work at Beta Chi was recognized by his election as a vice-president of the Eastern Division and following several years of outstanding and unselfish service to the New England chapters he was elected President of the Division at the 1937 Conference.

Delta Tau Delta has a "New Frontier." This new program was first introduced to the chapters and the alumni at the Colorado Karnea this past summer. Although Beta Psi at Wabash had already inaugurated the Delt House System, under the guiding hand of our present Supervisor of Scholarship and author of the System, Kurt F. Pantzer, to George W. Brewster the Fraternity is indebted for first presenting to the Arch Chapter, at the May, 1938 meeting, this great opportunity for $\Delta T \Delta$ to prove a greater contributor to the educational system of America.

His life in the community of Providence was like that in his Fraternity. One seldom saw his name in newspaper headlines and one seldom saw a worthwhile undertaking that did not have his interest and support. His life has been a striking example of what a far-reaching influence unobtrusive service exerts. But the fact that George Brewster never sought personal plaudits for himself does not mean that he was accepted by others at his own modest rating. His likeable personality made for him many friends. Each passing year increased the number of those who had learned to value his keen and sound judgment and to depend with confidence on the honesty of his opinions, and the friendly spirit behind them. He possessed a sense of humor which was a real delight to those with whom he shared it. A round of golf with George was an education in amusing satire—always at his own expense.

The courage and determination which he combined with his integrity and personality brought him marked public recognition last year. When Rhode Island's progressive young governor, William H. Vanderbilt, assumed the administration of the state's affairs in January, 1939, his first and most important task was the reorganization of the various state departments. One of these requiring especial care was the department controlling alcoholic beverages. The man to head that department must be personally above reproach. George Brewster was appointed to the post. He was in office at the time of his death and in less than a year had amply justified the confidence reposed in him.

With genuine sorrow, we pay tribute to him whose greatest happiness was in helping someone.

Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta

DURING the next several weeks initiations will be held in most of our chapters. The new members of the Fraternity will become acquainted, for the first time, with our ritualistic work. The impression they receive as to the beauty and the teachings of the ritualistic ceremonies will be of prime importance in shaping their broad conceptions of the Fraternity. It therefore seems appropriate to say something at this time with respect to this subject.

The word "Ritual" is derived from the Latin word ritus, meaning custom. More broadly, it means and includes that body of forms and ceremonies used by religious, fraternal and related organizations. Ritual was first widely used among religious groups and in the church. Its use has spread to fraternal and other similar bodies. We find it used for the most part in groups, bodies and organizations that are based to a certain extent upon delicate human qualities and inner emotions and aspirations. Business, political and economic groups have their constitutions, by-laws and orders of business, but in such organizations there is generally little or no ritual.

The American college fraternity system is, of course, largely indebted to Freemasonry for its ritualistic material. The fraternities and Masonry both embrace the idea of brotherhood and it is but natural that in the early period of their development the fraternities should have looked to Masonry for assistance in the development of form and ceremony. Many other fraternal organizations have obtained help from the same source.

The ritual has a definite place and purpose in our Fraternity. We are a society of men scattered throughout the nation and in foreign countries, all bound together by the common tie of brotherhood.

CHARLES T. BOYD

This word connotes a rather intangible idea and it is necessary to find tangible representations of the idea in order that our members may know and feel that they are all worshipping at the same shrine. This is the place, logically and analytically, where the ritual comes in. The first concept the new initiate has of the Fraternity as a whole is derived from the ceremonial work. He may previously have been impressed by the fraternity house, by the personal qualities of members, or by statistical information, but when he is initiated he sees something more, and for the first time begins to realize the nature of that vital principle which, in the final analysis, holds the Fraternity together.

The ritualistic work is a dramatic exemplification of the basic principles, the basic beliefs, the basic purposes and the basic objectives of the Fraternity. As such, it should be put on in the best possible manner. Through this work magnificent ideas and concepts are visualized and made more definite, more real, more concrete. It is a means by which the intangible becomes tangible. It is an expression or representation, a visible definition of the guiding principles and purposes of the Fraternity. From this point we work outwardly, through the media of our organization, into a large realm of Fraternity activities. On the surface, these activities and enterprises are generally accepted as the measuring stick of the Fraternity's quality. But the real Delt knows that all of these emanate and proceed from those inner principles which are symbolized in the ritual.

Ritualistic work must of necessity be uniform, and it must be exact. Representing the eternal verities of the Fraternity, it is not subject to change or modification at the will of those who are presenting the exemplification. Local conditions in different sections of the country call for variety in the composition, size and methods of operation of our chapters. But the ritual is different. Local conditions do not affect it and it is not subject to the manifestations of temperament. It is the great common solvent of all the varieties and differences that may exist throughout the Fraternity.

Ritualistic work requires precision. Being a revelation of truth, it should not be left to chance. Nothing is more beautiful or sublime than our ritualistic work when exemplified in a capable and understanding manner. The new initiates will receive very definite impressions from the quality of the work. If it is well done, they will be pleased and enthusiastic; if it is not well done they will be disappointed. The presentation of the ritual is not a necessary chore in connection with other Fraternity duties and activities. On the contrary, it is an end within itself, because it represents the heart and soul of the Fraternity, and our other activities radiate from it. Let us take care, then, to be sure that our ritualistic work is given in a thorough and sympathetic manner, with perfection as the goal.

We Believe in Fraternities

By Dr. F. L. McCluer, President, Westminster College

Member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity

President Hoffman, Distinguished Guests, Members of the Faculty and Student Body of Westminster College:

It is a happy privilege to speak for Westminster College in bidding the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity welcome to our campus. It is our hope that the convocation of the morning, the greetings brought you by members of our student community tonight, and every contact you have made here this day have brought you evidence of the great pleasure we feel in knowing that our College and your Fraternity have joined hands in a great enterprise.

Our pleasure in extending this welcome grows out of appreciation of the reputation and standing of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, out of sympathy with the Delt House-System which your Fraternity has so wisely established, out of respect for the scholarship record of your chapters the country over, and out of the high regard we feel for the distinguished leadership you have in your national offices. This pleasure is enhanced by our confidence that this newly installed chapter merits the recognition you have given it.

But our pleasure in this occasion is significant for another reason. It is grounded in the deep conviction that the fraternity system is an effective aid in the accomplishment of the fundamental purposes of the college and it is an earnest of our glad coöperation with your national officers and your local chapter.

We believe in fraternities. Surely a wise educational program must concern itself with the development of the whole man, and surely we do well to recognize the important role played by social life in the development of that man.

We are happy that every student here has the opportunity of belonging to one of the six social organizations into which our student body is divided.

Intramural athletics are based upon these groups, four of which are now national, two local.

It is our considered belief that every boy should have the experience of sharing with a small group of his fellows, the responsibility of directing the social life and establishing the reputation and character of a group to which he "belongs."

We welcome you, then, because we believe in fraternities! And we believe in fraternities first, because it is our experience that they are vital factors in our educational program. I am not thinking merely of such things as study halls, pride in scholarship records, grade requirements for initiation, and so forth. I am thinking of experience in the fraternity as a vital part of the educational process. One of the essential purposes of the college is to lead the student to self-discovery. Guidance to this discovery of himself may be given the student by an adviser or teacher as the result of various measurements of his aptitudes and abilities. It may also be given by his fellows in terms of roles assigned or achieved within the realm of social relationships; especially is this true where the relationship is coupled with responsibility. One does not fully discover himself in solitude.

The fraternity also brings that which should supplement all self-discovery—genuine self-forgetfulness. You have probably witnessed a basketball game in which some individual with fine physical equipment and full understanding of the game seems unable to forget himself. He wonders how he "looks" to the spectators and in his self-consciousness he fails to play the game his physical abilities and his knowledge seem to promise. He cannot play with abandon and joy, because he cannot forget himself. You have seen the football player who tries to cushion himself as he hits the line, who has discovered his abilities but has not forgotten himself, and who therefore fails to make the most of his opportunities.

As it is in the world of sport, so it is in life. One must be so devoted to something bigger than himself, so eager to accomplish a worthy purpose, that he can push toward it with the vigorous, enthusiastic abandon and joy of self-forgetfulness. The fraternity may teach this lesson better than the classroom!

And we believe in fraternities because they are built on friendships! It is natural and inevitable that students will associate themselves on deeply intimate terms with a relatively small number of their comrades. One knows a deep intimacy with a few that he cannot possibly establish with all. It is not that he is clannish or snobbish—indeed, if he is, he is untrue to the fraternity spirit—but he closely identifies himself in the fraternity with a group of his closest friends. And that identification serves him well first

Delta Tau Delta Installs Its Seventy-Fifth Undergraduate Chapter

By STEPHEN F. BONNEY, III, Gamma Kappa (Missouri), '39

DELTA TAU DELTA's newest chapter, Delta Omicron, was installed amid pomp and ceremony at Westminster College, Fulton, Missouri, December 1 and 2, 1939. The occasion was one which had been anticipated for several months by Yorke House men, all of $\Delta T \Delta$, and the College.

The general theme of decorations was of Christmas with the all-important touch of $\Delta T \Delta$ colors an outstanding addition. Beautiful evergreens grew from the ground and were artistically spaced to surround the Shelter. Each of these trees was literally covered with brightly colored lights. In each window of the house appeared a wreath with a blue light in its center. The Greek letters $\Delta T \Delta$ towered from the roof, brightly illuminated to announce the coming of the Fraternity to the Westminster campus.

The welcome sign was out and the front door was open to all of the alumni neophytes, actives from other chapters, and Delt alumni who arrived during the day.

Friday night, in formal attire, the neophytes and their guests attended open house at the delightful homes of the other fraternity chapters on the Westminster campus. They were most graciously entertained by the members of Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, and Kappa Alpha.

Later Friday night, the formal installation dance was in full swing at the new chapter house. Delt Kings and Queens were swaying gracefully to the strains of Carl LaRue and his music. The alumni and visitors all joined in to make a tremendous success of this gala event.

The first meeting of Delta Omicron was called at 8 a. m., Saturday by Herbert L. Gage, Jr., Gamma Kappa (Missouri), '40, acting president. Other officers officiating were: William McGinness, Gamma Kappa, vice-president; Kenneth

EDWARD RUTLEDGE GISH
Founder of Yorke House

Penfold, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '37, recording secretary; Dale C. Bermond, Gamma Kappa, as guide, and Raymond Snyder, Paul Cunningham, Bill Reed, Edwin Schmidt and Robert Westcott, all of Gamma Kappa, officiating in the initiation ceremony. Ten undergraduates and two alumni were initiated before recess was called at 10 a. m.

The college convocation followed a procession to the Chapel led by Charles F. Lamkin, past President of Phi Delta Theta and Alumni Secretary of Westminster College.

The convocation was called to order by Dr. F. L. McCluer, President of Westminster College.

Mr. Baker, member of the board of trustees of the college, gave a cordial welcome to $\Delta T \Delta$ —stressing the advantage of this connection both to the Fraternity and to the College on the basis of scholarship. Paul G. Hoffman responded in his typical gracious manner and gave a number of reasons for $\Delta T \Delta$'s complete satisfaction in the location of its newest chapter. The Westminster Choir sang a splendid special arrangement of Delta Shelter.

Branch Rickey gave an address on "The College and the Fraternity." His theme included the factors which influence the success of a young man. As is customary on the occasion of this Good Delt's addresses, the audience was spellbound.

The college choir then sang the Alma Mater and the entire party left the Chapel marching in the recessional.

Following a buffet luncheon at the chapter house the second meeting was called to order at 2 p. m. by Robert F. Galloway, acting president, John R. Severin, Jr., as vice-president, and Ray Voran, Jr., as guide. All of these men represented Gamma Tau (Kansas). The others officiating in the ceremony were from Gamma Theta (Baker). Twelve men took the vows in the afternoon initiation.

At the close of the final initiation ceremony the meeting was turned over to Dr. Albert C. Krueger, chapter adviser of Delta Omicron, who formally installed all of the officers of the new chapter.

The installation banquet, finale of the festivities, was held at the chapter house that night. The tables were decorated by candles tied with purple, white, and gold bows of satin. Paul Hoffman, as master of ceremonies, introduced a number of the campus and fraternity dignitaries, and started the real program off by calling on the presidents of the Greek and campus organizations represented at Westminster.

Each of these men expressed a feeling of gratitude for the arrival of $\Delta T \Delta$ on their campus. Edward Larson, president of Delta Omicron, responded. Dr. McCluer addressed the group on the subject, "We Believe in Fraternities." The full text of this message is printed in this number of THE RAINBOW. This was followed by an excellent talk on the possibilities and principles of the Delt House System by Kurt F. Pantzer, author of the system. The finale of the program was led by Charles F. Lamkin, former national president of Phi Delta Theta, who gave the story of the fraternity situation on the Westminster Campus. The banquet was closed with the singing of Delta Shelter.

ords of plus ratings for eleven, ten, nine, and five consecutive years.

Beta Beta (DePauw) ninth of twelve, with a minus 16, has been on the red side of the ledger for seven consecutive years.

The worst loss in the Division was that of Beta Beta which went from minus 4 to minus 16. Epsilon made the impressive gain from minus 18 to plus 2.

EASTERN DIVISION

The Eastern Division index was plus 2.856. Eighteen of the twenty chapters were rated. Omega (Pennsylvania) and Delta Theta (Toronto) were not included. Delta Beta (Carnegie), third of ten, with a plus 21 rating, won the Eastern Division Scholarship Plaque. Gamma (Washington and Jefferson) and Beta Omicron (Cornell) made outstanding records. Gamma Phi (Amherst) finished its eleventh consecutive year with a plus rating. Gamma had a plus record for the sixth consecutive year, and Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth) and Alpha (Allegheny) each finished the fifth year of plus ratings. Rho (Stevens), Tau (Penn State), Beta Lambda (Lehigh), and Beta Nu (M. I. T.) all had ratings of minus 12 or worse.

Tau has probably the worst record in the Fraternity, having made minus ratings for twelve consecutive years.

The worst loss in the Division was that of Beta Lambda which went from minus 2 to minus 18. Gamma Nu (Maine) made the best gain, from minus 11 to plus 2.

by bringing the happiness that friendship alone can bring. And student days should be happy days! Out of mutual sympathy and understanding and fraternal relationships, abiding friendships bring happiness in these college days and joy in days to come. The buoyant happiness the fraternity brings is one of its legitimate purposes.

But this friendship brings more than happiness. It brings strength. The achievements that bring us the greatest satisfaction are seldom the result of our efforts alone. We have been helped by many with whom we have been associated and we gladly acknowledge our indebtedness to our friends, not alone for specific acts in getting this or that done, but for the confidence and affection that build strength in our hearts. The fraternity man is not weakened by the doubt of the cynic with his cry, "All men are liars"; his answer is simple and complete. It is: "I have had a friend." It is right that we should glory in a fraternal institution that brings students not only the happiness, but also the strength that only friendship gives.

And finally we believe in fraternities because they ground this happiness and this strength in common devotion to great ideals. The loyalty the fraternity demands is one of friendship for one's brothers and of support of the brotherhood's ideals. One's highest hopes and finest ideals bind him to his friends and challenge him, in the happiness and the strength of his brotherhood, to be true to the best that he knows, and loyal to the fraternity's description of that best in its ideals.

And so, President Hoffman, we are extremely glad to bid you and your associates and the chapter of Delta Tau Delta a hearty welcome to our campus. May it not be that in your chapter here, in the words with which Boyd Edwards so happily paraphrased Alfred Noyes' poem:

"Here friendship stood, by youth without a foe
And e'er their ardor cooled or morning died,
Looked thru the ages; then with eyes aglow
Sent them to make that future side by side."

Armour and Lewis Institutes Unite

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made by James D. Cunningham, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Armour Institute of Technology, and Alex. D. Bailey, Chairman of the Board of Lewis Institute, that their respective institutions have entered into an agreement to consolidate into a great new technological center for Chicago. This is the first occasion on which two colleges of engineering have ever agreed to merge their interests to produce an institution of more important scope.

The name of the new school is to be Illinois Institute of Technology, with the background and reputation of the two component colleges recognized by maintaining their names as applied to its two divisions.

The actual consolidation of the educational program will be complete by September, 1940, and the balance of this year will be given over to planning an integration of activities. For the time being, it will be necessary to operate both the Armour and Lewis plants, but the complete development of the new center of technology contemplates the acquisition of a new, well-planned campus, conveniently located, to meet the needs of its broad objectives.

Illinois Institute of Technology will be controlled by a Board of Trustees of fifty-five members, made up of the present trustees of both Armour and Lewis.

The amalgamation brings together two institutions with combined experience of almost one hundred years in engineering education and service to industry. Of incidental interest is the fact that the new college becomes one of the largest technological centers in the world, with a total enrollment of 7,000 day and evening students.

It will be an objective of the new institution to integrate the fields of science, engineering, management, and humanities, now taught in both colleges, in a manner which will broaden and strengthen the whole.

Armour Institute

The basic educational program will be built around the various fields of science, including physics, chemistry, mathematics, geology and biology. The engineering program will include the accredited undergraduate curricula in civil, chemical, electrical, and mechanical engineering.

New emphasis will be placed upon industrial management to meet the increasing demands of industry for men with this training and for research services in the field of management and personnel.

Fire Protection Engineering, the only course of its kind in the country, has been offered at Armour Institute of Technology since 1903 through the coöperation of the stock fire insurance companies which support the program with fellowships. The improved facilities of the institution will enhance this program.

It is planned to develop a broad program in metallurgy and ceramics, based upon the strength of Lewis Institute in these fields, to meet the needs of the steel and construction industries in the Chicago area.

The teaching of biology and other subjects basic to sanitary science at Lewis Institute, coupled with the recently improved facilities in sanitary engineering at Armour Institute of Technology, will make possible a comprehensive program in public health engineering.

Los Angeles Alumni Keep a Promise and Delta Iota Has a New Home

By L. Nathaniel Fitts, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '09

THE pictures on the opposite page are of the new Shelter of Delta Iota at the University of California at Los Angeles, one of the finest fraternity homes on the campus and an outstanding achievement for this thirteen-year-old chapter. The story is of a promise made and fulfilled by the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter.

When the Delta Iota charter was granted, in May of 1926, one of the considerations of the grant was the promise of the Los Angeles alumni to help build a chapter house at such time as the University should have moved from its then cramped quarters to its beautiful new location some twelve miles from downtown Los Angeles toward the blue Pacific on what was then still a part of the famous old Wolfskill Rancho. Following the donation of the University site, the Rancho was developed into a high class residential suburb, with zoning for a business village, for sororities on the east side of the campus and fraternities on the west side. Imagine the consternation of the alumni committee when informed that the site selected for Delta Iota's new home would cost $14,000! As true Southern Californians, however, they readily realized that "fourteen grand" for less than half an acre of what one year previous had been used for grazing cattle was not too unusual and, with hopes and determination spurred on by the rising tide of business, one-half the purchase price was raised, payment thereof made, and a wonderful front elevation of the projected house framed for purposes of chapter rushing.

But alas! 'Twas not to be so easy. Came the depression—the hard-pressed alumni drained their treasury in support of the active chapter and there was nothing left for taxes and interest on what had once been high-priced lots. Sadly the real estate was surrendered and a discouraged but not defeated alumni group started a savings account. At least the interest was coming in instead of going out.

For three years the savings account grew steadily, if slowly. The chapter lived in a duplex apartment two miles from the campus. In view of the fact that almost all the other fraternities were similarly housed, this was not too great a competitive disadvantage. Then came a break. A well-known national fraternity lost the house it had proudly and extravagantly built in boom times and the Deltas, backed by their alumni, were the only other fraternity who could guarantee a year's rent in advance. Delta Iota, so to speak, was once more back on fraternity row. Three years of chapter prosperity followed while the savings account grew and occasionally there was talk of "when we build our house."

Then the blow fell! Christmas week—of all times—in 1937 Jim Petrie, house manager, called the alumni on the 'phone to report—"Our house has just been sold to another fraternity; we have to move out in thirty days and there is no place that we can rent. We can't build, we don't even own a lot. What can we do? What can we say? How can we keep going?" It was far too true. At that time some ten fraternities had their own houses, and all the available rentals for miles around were occupied by the others. However, move the boys did, seventeen of them agreeing to live in an ancient house with three bedrooms and one bath, located in a "moths' delight" district, three miles from the campus.

Delta Tau Delta lost neither prestige nor campus rating with that fine display of spirit. The alumni were galvanized into instant action. A permanent committee of three was appointed with full powers to campaign for funds, cause plans to be drawn and build a house.

This committee, consisting of Roy Crocker, Beta Omicron (Cornell), '15, lawyer, chairman; Charles Koehler, Beta Rho (Stanford), '10, realtor, and Nat Fitts, engineer, lost no time. During the first weeks, by securing cash advances and using the savings account, a commanding site with one hundred feet frontage of fraternity row was purchased.

The depression was not yet over, the memory of the first drive was still painful in spots, yet the alumni, remembering their promises, responded generously to the campaign for funds. Only cash gifts were accepted and no effort was made to sell either bonds or stock. This was a drive for keeps!

First plans called for a twenty-man house of Spanish design, but budget studies indicated that a larger house was a better investment so the funds campaign was continued and plans developed for a twenty-eight man house of Georgian design. During the perfecting of the plans the building construction firm of James M. Moiso and Irving Jordan, both of Delta Iota (U. C. L. A.), '38, gave the architect and the committee extremely valuable assistance with cost estimates and money-saving suggestions. Bids were taken and all were delighted when it was found that Deltas Moiso and Jordan had submitted the low bid.

Final approval and all financing were completed March 4, 1939, and on the 7th of March the active chapter held ground breaking festivities. Jordan and Moiso "went to town" with a vengeance on that house. It was completed in ninety days—a record even in California. May 26, Delta Iota's Thirteenth Founders Day was celebrated by dedicating the new Shelter. The chapter moved in June 7, and $\Delta T \Delta$ was once more back on the campus in a beautiful home that exceeds in its appointments even the fondest hopes.

AROUND THE FIREPLACE

WITH GOOD DELTS

It was the privilege of your editor to attend the 31st annual session of the National Interfraternity Conference at the Hotel Biltmore in New York City, December 1 and 2. This was the second such session attended, the first being in 1931, and a definite impression was received as to the progress realized during the '30's.

There has been no marching time in recent years. There has been no tendency to dodge a responsibility. Such an action would mean side stepping opportunity. Leaders of fraternities which make up the Conference have been quick to realize the opportunity in joining forces and improving the whole by meeting challenges of the past decade with constructive programs.

In 1909 the first step of unity was taken—the formation of the National Interfraternity Conference. Each year has stepped up coöperation and effective action. Any question on the part of member organizations as to the loss of individuality must be fast disappearing. The Conference in itself is an inside challenge to members to dress up and meet the times. The old easy road of waiting and watching is increasingly rough and this choice, either by design or by lack of constructive energy, is going to mean a closed road to more and more campuses. Individuality in seeking to accept every challenge as an opportunity, and, showing results, means a strengthened Conference, a strengthened educational system, and increased production of top men to carry on our government, our business and our professions.

Most convincing evidence of the influence that the Conference is exerting came from present day fraternity men. One hundred thirty-three delegates attended the Undergraduate Conference, representing sixty-nine colleges and universities and fifty-two national fraternities. The evidence came in the form of resolutions, first, favoring the abolition of Hell Week, and, second, asking that the proper authorities on the campuses be encouraged and urged to regulate the publicity of fraternity activities in newspapers, periodicals, and radio broadcasts.

Again Δ T Δ's Alvan E. Duerr, past chairman of the Conference and present head of its important scholarship committee, reported fraternity men had outranked non-fraternity men—for the tenth consecutive year.

Evidence came from representatives of colleges and universities, large and small, that the institutions recognize the fraternity as the best agency for assisting in the development of the whole student.

Both the Undergraduate and Graduate Conferences adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the National Interfraternity Conference deplores the recent lapses from good taste on the part of certain chapters that have lent themselves to pictorial exploitation by cheap and sensational journalism. Such cases of exhibitionism not only violate standards set up by the Fraternity Criteria, unanimously adopted by the fraternities in this conference, but also tend to bring the institution of fraternity into disrepute and are condemned; and be it further resolved that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee with power."

Dean of Men Fred A. Turner of the University of Illinois, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, educational adviser to the Conference, cited the results of a survey he had made which indicated the steadily increasing elimination of Hell Week practices and the use of the paddle by fraternity chapters.

Henry Q. Middendorf, Phi Delta Theta, secretary of the Conference for 1939, reported a total membership in the fifty-six member fraternities of 803,158. The 2,328 active chapters own a total of 1,698 fraternity houses on various campuses.

To review the 1939 Conference for you in brief form we offer several quotations which indicate the real interest manifested in the fraternity system by members of the system and representatives of the American colleges and universities.

"If through the influence of the college and if through the influence of the fraternity we can train our men to exercise that self-discipline which makes external discipline unnecessary, and if that spirit can be spread broadcast through our country, democracy will survive in America."—Dr. Robert C. Clothier, president Rutgers University.

"We must stop thinking of men as rushees and pledges, of campuses as offices sought and secured, of house parties scheduled. We must try to think instead of academic achievement and of constructive forums within the fraternity house for discussion of significant and important matters, of tutoring plans for the willing but stumbling member, of friendly but firm discipline for the lazy, of methods of preserving a house environment which is one of culture and dignity, of table conversation above the level of the most recent movie and the latest baseball averages, of temperance and moderation, and of the cultivation of the standards and manners of a gentleman."—President Robert C. Clothier, Rutgers University.

"Vital interest in public affairs can best be developed in fraternity groups through 'bull sessions,' in which every man distills for himself over the four years of his college career, the essentials of his own particular philosophy of life. We owe it to the younger generation to bring these matters to their attention and to urge on them the opportunity as well as the duty to the great nation and to the form of government that many of us are beginning to appreciate for the first time in view of events abroad. If fraternities will charge themselves with the duties of discussing these problems of leadership, these problems of civic life, these problems of the preservation of liberty and freedom under a democratic and republican representative form of government, I am sure none of us need have any concern for the future."—Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Delta Kappa Epsilon, past president American Bar Association.

"What an opportunity it is today, what an adventure, what a thrill, to be a modern Greek, not for its exclusiveness, not for its inclusiveness as it spreads out over the country into hundreds of chapters, not for its frivolity, not for the convenience of the boarding house, not for the enjoyment of special privileges and of prestige; but for active, aggressive and coöperative study of the problems of education and the problems of growing and developing men, for the conscious, intelligent and vital development of one's self for coöperation and for wise, judicious, and effective service to those whom we choose to call our brothers."—Dr. Harry S. Rogers, Alpha Tau Omega, president Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, retiring chairman, National Interfraternity Council.

"Let's go out as fraternity men and forget if we can the fact that we belong to this one organization or the other, because we are no stronger on any campus than the weakest chapter on that campus."—Carl S. Geddes, assistant dean of men, University of Minnesota.

"It is not the work of fraternities at this time to force themselves and their ideals and objectives on the educational institutions. It is the work of fraternities to meet the conditions of the times so efficiently and so well that they will be indispensable to the educational institutions. The work of the chapters in the national fraternities is essential in this, for the chapter on the campus is the working unit, but guidance in a unified, worthwhile, national program must come to the national fraternities from the National Interfraternity Conference."—Fred H. Turner, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, dean of men at the University of Illinois, returning educational adviser to the National Interfraternity Conference.

"I truly believe that fraternities today are the last stronghold of humanism on the campuses of America. We see here a group of men engaged in the glorious adventure of corporate living and learning, voluntarily bound by a code, which in accordance with the only true ideal of democracy both demands inhibition for the good of the many and guarantees freedom of expression for the sake of the individual. The aim of humanism is peace and order in the world. The philosophy of humanism is the brotherhood of man. The method of humanism is the conscious self-development of the human personality by the individual through the processes of self-discipline."—John O. Moseley, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, dean of men, University of Tennessee.

The College and Fraternities. (Excerpts from address of Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, Kappa Phi Kappa, president of Gettysburg College, before Graduate and Undergraduate delegates.)

"To me the ideal college becomes ideal just in proportion to the number of the students who have the opportunity of being members of fraternities. A fraternity presents for the student an opportunity for self-development which is incomparably beyond the estimation of even those of us who live on the campus. It is the fraternity that presents to the student a group sufficiently small, not only for the practice of fellowship, not only for the promotion of ideals, but also for the presenting of tasks in an area small enough to have careful supervision.

"The first great objective for the fraternities of our country, for the colleges and universities of our country, is that citizen building, preparing for the United States men who are sane, men who are capable, men who are dependable; that provides for you and for me the finest challenge in our generation.

"Only within the fraternity, it seems to me, do college campus class lines disappear. Every now and then we think of the caste systems as being social antiques, but, as soon as you manage to kill one type, somehow you develop another type. Within the fraternity you have the finest expression that I know of real democracy. Within the fraternity you have the opportunity of rendering a service to your institution far larger than you dream possible.

"On my own campus in seventeen years there has never been a forward step that hasn't received the one hundred per cent backing of our fraternity groups. In seventeen years there has never been a move that I have made but what in launching that movement the council of the fraternity men has been an invaluable asset.

"The college and the fraternity need to work with that completeness of understanding, with that clear vision of the fundamental task in which each must coöperate, or both will fail.

"One of the purposes of a college or university training is to prepare a young man to meet the issues of life that will be his, to solve the problems that are going to come, to fight the battles that have got to be waged, and to come to the end of his journey with enough left to be worth holding to and fighting for.

"You don't have elective courses after graduation. You punch time clocks. In the fraternity house, young gentlemen, don't overlook the fact that the young man who does his work faithfully as a student is the young man who is prepared to do his work faithfully as a citizen. It is very important that clear thinking be promoted, that the class room be taken not as a necessary evil, but as the heart and soul of real collegiate undergraduate success.

"Never forget that a man must learn to be a friend. It is within the fraternity house that you cultivate understanding."

CHARLES JENKINS, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '06, agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the last thirty years, retired from the service today (January 11), it was announced at the United States Courthouse here. He was widely known in the government service as a master of disguise, and during his career as an agent worked on many sensational kidnaping and extortion cases in Chicago and other American cities.

Agent Jenkins entered the government service in 1910, two years after the F. B. I. was organized. He was a graduate of Georgetown University law school and of George Washington University. There were only seventy-five agents in the service when he first joined and now there are seven hundred. He will take up the private practice of law. He practiced law in Indianapolis before affiliating actively in the field of business. He is director and vice-president of the Acme-Evans Company, a milling company, and serves on several boards of directors of business concerns throughout the state.

Harrell's activity in the affairs of the University started as an undergraduate, during which period he earned a position of prominence. He has been a member of the alumni board since 1933 and for one year was president of the Associated Pennsylvania Clubs. He served as chairman of an alumni committee which secured 321 acres of historic ground at Valley Forge for establishment of a college of citizenship and government.

Sam has been active in Fraternity affairs in Indianapolis for years. He served on the Arch Chapter as President of the Northern Division from 1927 to 1930.

During the past year, see the May 1939 number of THE RAINBOW, Donner Hall, a girls' dormitory, was erected on the Hanover campus as a result of a $250,000 gift by Delt Donner which was not presented until the college had raised an equal amount from alumni and friends.

The board of trustees has now accepted a second challenge. Donner has offered $500,000 to the college upon the matching of an equal amount through public donations. Few strings have been attached to Donner's offer. He prefers that not more than half be used for the construction of new buildings. The balance may be used for equipment, improvements or endowment.

Three dozen newsmen met in the Great Room of London's War office one afternoon last week (in October) and peered solemnly up at walls hung with the colors of glorious regiments. Some, like EDWARD ANGLY, Gamma Iota (Texas), '19, . . . were correspondents for U. S. newspapers and wire services abroad. . . . They had gathered to meet plump, fawn-faced Leslie Hore-Belisha, Secretary of State for War.

With a becoming beam, in clipped Oxford syllables, Hore-Belisha said that he was well aware they were most anxious to see fighting at the front. Unfortunately there had been some unavoidable delay while plans were made for transportation, billeting, supplies. As it was, "no caviar" awaited them; but the best possible arrangements had been worked out. All was now ready, they could leave tomorrow.

There was startled silence in the Great Room. For a month, while Poland disintegrated in the East, newsmen in London had stuck to their posts, waiting for this moment when the Government would let them join the armies on the Western Front. Now the moment caught them unprepared. Exclaimed a correspondent: "That's only twelve hours' notice!" Then, Hore-Belisha, they could leave the day after. Still there were objections—a cameraman needed new lenses, some newswriters had not received their uniforms.

It was finally agreed that they would go this week. To each U. S. correspondent Hore-Belisha was introduced separately by amiable Novelist Ian Hay, public relations counsel for the War Office; to each he said a few pleasant words. . . .

Twelve U. S. Correspondents were authorized to go. For the New York Herald Tribune Edward Angly. . . . Time.

The December 11, 1939, issue gave a most interesting sketch of this Good Delt and career diplomat. The sketch closes: "He may seem happy-go-lucky, too casual to force a grave issue, too apt to wait and see. But no legate could be a better Bearer of Good Will to the gentle people of China. Nelson Trusler Johnson is the sort of roly-poly man a Chinese can respect, love, even fear far more deeply than the man with bayonet, dollar, or arrogance."

HERBIE HOLMES

A young Delt whose name and music are frequently heard on the radio is HERBIE HOLMES, Delta Zeta (Florida), '34, and Pi (Mississippi), '34. Herbie is on the road under the title, "The young maestro from the Mississippi Delta."

Another Good Delt whose job it is to bring American readers news from foreign countries is JOHN T. WHITAKER, Beta Theta (Sewanee), '27. Here is the sketch appearing in the December 23, 1939, issue of the Saturday Evening Post:

"Italy's Seven Secrets (page 25) come to you directly from Via Sistina, Roma, where John T. Whitaker is stationed to report on the puzzling paradox of an axis which has two ends but no apparent middle. Mr. Whitaker, at thirty-three, is on the Rome Bureau of The Chicago Daily News and—but wait till you read the whole story!

"It starts at Sewanee, officially known as The University of the South, where he helped launch a most successful college comic, The Mountain Goat. A European trip after graduation produced some travel letters, which were published in England, and these served to introduce Mr. Whitaker to journalism. Two years on The Chattanooga News formed his apprenticeship, and several years with the New York Herald-Tribune taught him what every reporter should know about City Hall, Albany and Washington. Whitaker was twenty-five when the Tribune sent him to Geneva to cover the conversations they call the League of Nations. Then he went to Rome—about the time Italy discovered that nobody but the Ethiopians owned Ethiopia. In Africa he covered the negotiations which rectified that mistake, recording his experiences in a book, And Fear Came.

"The war in Spain was his next assignment, and there he saw more of the heroic legions' work under Franco. Wandering far afield in Europe and the Near East, he was on hand to see Hitler enter Vienna, and traveled to Prague to see Czechoslovakia die. The recent Lima conference and South American study tour afforded Mr. Whitaker a respite from this round of European obsequies and gave him material for his latest book, American to the South. And brings us back to the Via Sistina.

"Mr. Whitaker says he likes his job as roving correspondent, even though it does suggest the work of a professional mourner. He has trouble with his mail, though. The other day, in Rome, he received a bundle of letters which had started after him from Cairo (Egypt, not Illinois) early in 1938."

This Delt is loyal to his alma mater and his Fraternity. He made only a short visit to the States in 1939 but included in his many stops was Sewanee and Beta Theta chapter.

JOHN W. GALBREATH, Beta (Ohio), '20, is the new president of the Ohio Real Estate Association. Galbreath resides in Columbus, Ohio. A native of Mt. Sterling, Galbreath entered business in Columbus the year he graduated from Ohio University. At the end of two years he had his own office. He is president of the Columbus Real Estate Board and a savings and loan director, a member of the State Board of Agriculture and was a state realtor association vice-president last year. He has a horse breeding farm and a racing stable near Columbus.

JACK C. DAVIS, Delta Alpha (Oklahoma), '36, was named No. 1 citizen of Hutchinson, Kansas, for 1939. Davis is a prominent young lumberman and president of the junior chamber of commerce. "When you have something requiring a lot of leg work and not much brains, turn it over to us," Davis told the Hutchinson senior chamber of commerce last spring and then proceeded to step out and do both the city's leg and head work, the Hutchinson News reports.

DAVID K. REEDER, Omega (Pennsylvania), '12, was elected secretary of the National Interfraternity Conference at the annual meeting of the Conference in December. DAVID K. REEDER

A friend of Dr. Ralph Robertson Mellon in Pittsburgh lay dying from blood poisoning caused by streptococcus. In despair, Dr. Mellon gave him a dose of prontosil (sulfanilamide), a German drug never before tried on human beings in the U. S. To his joy, the dying man made a rapid recovery. That was three years ago.

Last fortnight, before the Southern Medical Association meeting in Memphis, Dr. GRAYSON LEWIS CARROLL, Gamma Iota (Texas), '17, of St. Louis University, told a similar tale, one which may possibly prove as significant to medical history as Dr. Mellon's. As violent as the streptococcus is the pus-forming staphylococcus germ, which causes boils, invades hearts, lungs, joints, kidneys, often fatally. To combat the staphylococcus, sulfanilamide and its offspring, sulfapyridine, were tried, but with few encouraging results.

Chemists Russell J. Fosbinder and Lewis Aldro Walter of Maltbie Chemical Company at Newark, N. J., last year created a new sulfanilamide product: sulfamethylthiazol. . . .

Last September, a friend of Dr. Carroll's lay in a St. Louis hospital dying from an infected, pus-dripping kidney. As a last desperate measure, Dr. Carroll wired for a supply of sulfamethylthiazol. He gave his friend a small amount of the bland white crystals, both in capsules and injections. When the patient showed signs of improvement, Dr. Carroll continued feeding him from six to fourteen grams of the drug every four hours for 16 days. In a few weeks the patient, said cautious Dr. Carroll, had "apparently recovered."

Since that time Dr. Carroll has used the drug with remarkable success on four other staphylococcal patients, including a baby. "No toxic symptoms or signs ascribable to this drug were seen," reported Dr. Carroll, "except for a slight nausea." About the future of the drug, which is not yet on the market, he hazarded no comment. . . . Time, December 16, 1939.

In a December 3 issue of the Indianapolis Star was found the following article about $\Delta T \Delta$'s National Librarian, FREDERICK PALMER, Alpha (Allegheny), '93. The heading: Palmer Predicts War Events. The sub-heading: Military Expert Who Picked Arena for Start of Conflict 15 Years Ago, Adds to Laurels.

"In 1924, Col. Frederick Palmer wrote in Harper's Magazine, after a trip from Danzig through Poland, that he had been over the ground where the next European war would start.

"'No second sight,' said Col. Palmer, 'just on form, geography and the play of European politics.'

"In his articles on the European war for the North American Newspaper Alliance, . . . this noted war correspondent and military expert has not only been abreast of the news but often ahead of it.

"August 28, before the Anglo-French declarations of war, he wrote that Italy would be neutral as the best bargain for Mussolini at the start.

"When the invasion of Poland began, he outlined the danger of Polish disaster unless the Polish staff could hold the Polish army together in teamwork, and suggested that Germany and Russia would divide Poland.

"He early discounted the idea that the Allies could give any air or land aid to Poland; discounted the French action on the western front as more than a gesture; foresaw the allied policy as a defensive 'come and get us!'

"He early pointed out that the British battleships were not in two harbors on the east coast of Britain as in the World War, but scattered, as we now know they are. He held that the early German bombing raids were experimental scouting attacks, as was later confirmed, and that German policy when developed would be to squeeze the little neutrals on the borders of the North Sea in order to break British domination of the North Sea and make it 'No Man's' sea.

"Long before the fact was made known publicly, Col. Palmer wrote that the British and French were concentrating troops in the Near East to back up Turkey in a defense of the Dardanelles. Six weeks before a winter stalemate on the western front was generally accepted, he wrote that an offensive this year seemed out of the question.

"His study and the analysis of the importance of oil to the Germans preceded an outburst of information on the subject.

"When the German pocket battleships were out at sea, he immediately forecast that this might require some revision of our own naval building policy, which is now under way.

"While foreign military experts are special pleaders, Col. Palmer is a modest, detached American expert with an unrivaled depth of experience. He knows how propaganda is made, for, as an officer of the A. E. F., he served for a time as official censor.

"Accepted as the leading military historian of the A. E. F. and of America's part in the World War, and as one who knows war from staff to trenches, he reads between the lines of the news and finds often in a single paragraph a revealing keystone piece in working out the picture puzzle.

"He is still the reporter, a digger after facts, without bias. In touch with the progress of armies through specialists, with personal sources of information, he brings a sound outlook to bear as an American neutral."

WILLIS S. FITCH

ON MAJOR WILLIS S. FITCH, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '17, of Boston, Mass., World War ace and recent author of a book about his night-bombing exploits with the U. S. Army Air Service in 1918 on the Italian front, King Victor Emmanuel of Italy has conferred the title of Chevalier Officer of the Order of the Crown of Italy. Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York, who wrote the foreword of Mr. Fitch's book, Wings in the Night, and was his commanding officer during the war, is coming to Boston to be the principal speaker at an "Authors' Day" luncheon sponsored by the Crosscup-Pishon Post, American Legion, at which this high-ranking Italian honor will be officially presented, February 3.

Acting for the King of Italy, the Marquis Carlo di Constantin, royal Italian Consul General in Boston, authorized this Legion Post, made up of Boston advertising men, to proceed with the arrangements for the presentation soon after the Fitch citation was received at the local consulate. BEN AMES WILLIAMS, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '10, Chestnut Hill author, whose new novel, Come Spring, has been announced for publication in February, will be presented by Commander Wiswell as toastmaster of the occasion to preside over a head table studded with New England authors and editors. Governor Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin have already accepted invitations to speak, as has Bill Cunningham, noted sports writer and columnist.

Willis Fitch, present Aviation Officer of the Crosscup-Pishon Post, Dartmouth man and fellow-aviator of famed "Spuddy" Pishon, for whom the Post was named, is now a Major attached to Governor Saltonstall's military staff. When he was a Lieutenant under Major La Guardia, he was twice decorated by the Italian Government and once wounded in action over enemy territory. On July 30, 1918, he won the Italian Medal of Valor for victorious single combat with five enemy pursuit planes. His citation for this says in part: "Although his own machine (a bomber) was hit in several places by precise fire from enemy machine guns, with sure maneuvers and exemplary serenity he made a counter-attack on his attackers, shooting down one and putting the others to flight." In September of the same year, at Padua, Italy, in the presence of Edward, Prince of Wales, Gabrielle d'Annunzio, Italy's hero-poet, Major La Guardia, and other distinguished soldiers, Lieutenant Fitch was decorated with the Italian War Cross. In civil life, Major Fitch is vice-president of the banking firm of F. L. Putnam Co., Boston.

The presentation of this third Italian honor will be made personally by the Marquis di Constantin and Vice Consul General Silvio Vitale, who also holds the rank of Chevalier Officer of the Order of the Crown of Italy.

▼ THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS ▼

Akron

AN ENERGETIC and clever program committee, along with the officers, can mean a great deal to any club or organization as well as to a Delt alumni chapter. We have had that type of committee functioning this past year under the leadership of "Doc" Whiteside. There were good programs and a variety of entertainment throughout the year, a representative attendance at the meetings and a return of many "lost" members.

The Akron Alumni Chapter is beginning the new year with new officers as elected in the December meeting at the Akron City Club. The nominating committee headed by Walter Frye presented the following slate: for president, "Bid" Edmund; for vice-president, "Dunc" Wolcott; for secretary, "Al" Kelley; and for treasurer, Collin Hart.

By the way, our president Willis Edmund is the City Recreation Director. With his experience the past year as president of the Akron Kiwanis Club, the Delt alumni are looking forward to a successful year under his leadership.

To help swell the attendance at our December meeting we welcomed five Deltas from Medina, Ohio, namely, Dale R. Heiges, Alan Root, Martin H. Baldwin, William G. Batchelder, Jr., and W. E. Kellogg.

The program for the coming year promises one meeting per month with a variety of entertainment as the procedure has been in the past. President Edmund stated that the January meeting would probably be another mixed party at the home of "Flipp" Fleming.

It is our desire to reach every Delt in this district and to invite all wearers of the Square Badge to attend our monthly meetings. If, by chance, there are some local Deltas not on our mailing list the president or secretary would like to know about them.

Editor's Note: Thirty-eight of the alumni chapter secretaries reported news items for this number. This department is, from the news standpoint, of great importance to many readers who have moved from their original haunts, or who must travel in their business. These points were presented to our correspondents and how they came through! Many of the correspondents have voluntarily committed themselves to a one hundred per cent record this year. You readers may be sure that the editor is going to keep after the news spreaders. If one of your old haunts is not represented this time, please write and tell us. That will be good ammunition in getting action out of the correspondent who failed you.

Yours for a big year and time well spent for Δ T Δ.

Ashtabula County

THE ASHTABULA County Alumni Chapter has enjoyed an exceptionally active year and is making plans for considerable activity this summer and fall.

Officers elected at a recent meeting are: Milton R. Alfred, Ashtabula, Beta (Ohio), '29, president; William T. Gallt, Geneva, Gamma Upsilon (Miami), '30, vice-president; and A. Lee Belding, Ashtabula, Zeta (Western Reserve), '28, secretary-treasurer.

In recent months the chapter has sponsored a dance and several parties honoring pledges and actives during school vacation periods. During the Christmas vacation period party we welcomed three pledges and four actives at Geneva. The total attendance at that party was thirty-five. Following the dinner the "gang" visited the home of Dr. Raymond C. Warner, who had been ill for several months, and standing in snow knee deep beneath Brother Warner's window, sang three Fraternity songs. Al Lewis was our leader on that occasion.

A marriage of interest to the chapter took place recently at Conneaut when Miss Edith Hatch of Conneaut became the bride of Madison J. Humphrey of Williamsfield. Miss Hatch is a graduate of Hillsdale and a member of Pi Beta Phi. Madison's service to Δ T Δ is well known. At the Pittsburgh Karnea in 1937 he received a citation to the Distinguished Service Chapter of Δ T Δ. Humphrey is an active member of our alumni chapter.

The alumni chapter meets the third Monday of each month and during the winter makes a practice of visiting the homes of members for its meetings. The business meetings are always followed by a social period.

MILTON R. ALFRED

Athens

THE ATHENS Alumni Chapter held a fine meeting at Beta chapter house the middle of December. Our president, Bob Essex, who was married Thanksgiving Day number one, presided. We were very glad to have "Hokey" Palmer with us. He has retired from the Marine Corps and we hope he'll attend all our meetings.

We are planning a big banquet to celebrate Founders Day. Hope to see lots of the boys in Columbus for the Northern Division Conference.

C. N. HOOVER, JR.

Atlanta

EVERYTHING is NOT peaches down in Georgia. We have just emerged from an ice storm that qualifies all survivors as candidates for Admiral Byrd's expedition. Officially, there has been no loss of life or limb in the Delt family.

The newly elected officers for this year are: Joe Westbrook, president; Gordon W. Curtiss, Jr., vice-president; Randy Whitfield, secretary; and Hal Clark, treasurer. These new officers are striving for an increased membership of Atlanta alumni. Our chief goal for the year is a closer and more helpful relationship with the three active chapters in Georgia.

LeRoy Petty was married to Virginia Baxley Farrar, October 27, 1939. They are residing at 96 26th Street. A. DeVant Lawton has been transferred from Tulsa, Oklahoma to the Atlanta office of the Coca-Cola Company. He has purchased a new home on Benjamin Harrison Drive. Harvey Fell has been transferred from Atlanta to the Miami Branch of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company. Charlie Pearson was promoted and moved to Nashville, Tenn., as Division Commercial Supervisor of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Ralph and George Black, offspring of the renowned "Rip" Black, paid Atlanta a short visit during the Christmas Holidays. Dillon Kalkurst also thought our turkeys and Christmas cheer were superior to the brands found in Greenville, S. C. Kenyon B. and the charming Mrs. Zahner had a heavy schedule attending parties during the holiday season. Kenyon reports his new business, The Double-Cola Bottling Company, doing well in the Greenville, S. C., territory.

J. M. Jerpe, Kenyon College, is General Manager of the General Motors Parade of Progress. He attended our November meeting, bringing with him two able assistants and a truck load of paraphernalia. For an hour they waved the magic wands showing us what we might expect if government will give science and industry a free rein.

The news headlines for Delts of this section is the completion of the new house by Gamma Psi at Georgia Tech. Gamma Psi members have shown their appreciation with new-born enthusiasm in all campus activities. The Atlanta alumni are proud of the Tech chapter and believe their accomplishments will spur us to greater activity this year.

JOE WESTBROOK

Battle Creek

WITH NOTHING to write, for the Battle Creek Delt Alumni Chapter has been "resting" for some little time, I am reaching into "thin air" to keep you from being disappointed by receiving nothing. Perhaps the old adage—less said the better—may be true in this case, but having tried that a few times, we'll try this now.

In spite of no activity as a chapter, some of the Delts living in Battle Creek are visiting and helping in some little way the active chapters nearby—Hillsdale, Michigan and Albion.

GEORGE D. FARLEY

Buffalo

THE BUFFALO Alumni Chapter held its annual election of officers the last part of November. Bob Wilson was elected president; Ralph Frank, vice-president.

Our regular dinner for the actives was held on the 28th of December at the University Club. This event was most enjoyable, and was fairly well attended. Bill Abberger reviewed the activities of the Alumni Chapter the past several years, and his remarks were very well received.

Plans are being made for a number of events for the coming year, including another party with the actives during the summer, as well as a get-together with some prospective Delt material who will be starting away to college.

Luncheons will be held every Monday noon at the University Club, and as usual, any visiting Delts will always be made welcome.

DENNIS C. LILES

Camden

ACTIVITIES in the Camden Alumni Chapter are definitely increasing, and those of us who have been away from Fraternity activities for some years are experiencing a rebirth of the good old Delt spirit. Our November meeting was marked by a brief visit from Brother Charles Nissley, Tau (Penn State), '12, of New Brunswick, who was visiting Camden and happened to see our meeting notice on the hotel bulletin board. We wish more Brothers would drop in on us like that.

Friday, December 29, we held our first Ladies' Night and a very successful party it was, too. Ten Delts, each from a different chapter, and their wives, enjoyed an excellent dinner followed by bridge. And incidentally, the Delts learned a lot about bridge from the wives. Rev. Dalstrom and Mrs. Phil Diehl went home with the prizes. We have always felt that the Camden Alumni Chapter represented just about as congenial a bunch of Delts as could possibly be assembled. We were very agreeably surprised to find our wives fitted perfectly into this picture of congeniality. In fact, we even tentatively agreed to include the girls on one of our outings this summer.

We did manage to be serious for about five minutes, long enough to hold a short business meeting. Our last year's secretary, Charlie Vose, was elected president and the undersigned was railroaded into the secretary-treasurer's job. Our retiring president, John Bottomley, the organizer and moving spirit of the chapter, announced that he was leaving shortly to spend a few months in Hartford, Conn. We will miss him and hope that he will be back with us soon.

Look for our next letter. We will include a list of our active members, their chapters and classes, and what they are doing for the honor and glory of $\Delta T \Delta$, and incidentally, for themselves.

CHAS. S. HOLLINGER

Chicago

The Chicago alumni are looking forward with keen anticipation to the Division Conference in Evanston in February. We are planning to "go to town" on the Founders Day Dinner, which will climax that conference, and hope to make it the biggest Delt affair in Chicago since the last Karnea was held here in 1933.

Every Monday noon, a fine crowd of Delts meets at Harding's Restaurant at the Fair Store for luncheon together. A most hearty invitation is extended to all visiting Delts to drop in at these luncheons and get acquainted. Any Delts living in Chicagoland who read this letter and who have not been attending these weekly luncheons are urged to form the habit.

During the holiday week, a special luncheon was held for undergraduates, and an unusually large crowd was on hand. Actives, representing nine different chapters, joined with the alumni on this occasion. From the first-hand accounts of activities at these different chapters given by the representatives at the luncheon, indications are that things are going well in these active chapters.

GEORGE G. TRAVER

Clarksburg

THERE HAS BEEN no particular activity since our last letter except at the December luncheon Brother Anthony McCue gave a report of the last Karnea with special emphasis on the successful result of his plea for White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, as the meeting place for the 1941 Karnea.

We were most pleased to hear what he had to say and, believe you us, West Virginia is all for the opportunity to really put on a Karnea for the boys. Brother McCue knows how to paint pictures but nothing he could say would describe fully the delightfulness and beauty of White Sulphur Springs and its surroundings.

I am sure everyone will be happy for having chosen the place as the locale for the next conference after they have attended.

The Clarksburg Chapter will attempt to keep THE RAINBOW posted on activities and plans leading up to the meeting in each of the intervening issues.

GRAHAM I. LYNCH

Cleveland

THE CLEVELAND Alumni Chapter's pattern of activity does not change much from year to year. Our weekly luncheon meetings held on Friday at the Russett Cafeteria in the Hippodrome Building always draw good crowds, the monthly news Bulletin, now in its fifth year of publication goes to the customers on regular schedule, we have a number of traditional functions which go across without much pushing, and we all continue to have a grand time enjoying the fellowship and the activities of $\Delta T \Delta$.

In November the actives of Zeta entertained the Cleveland Alumni Chapter members at a dinner party at the chapter house. It was a splendid affair and did a great deal to further cement the friendly relations of the active and alumni chapters. Zeta has a great gang of boys and they do know how to stage a party.

During the month of December the regular Christmas Formal was held at the Cleveland Hotel, and the usual Christmas tree party was held at Zeta.

The annual banquet, business meeting and election of officers for the Cleveland Alumni Chapter will be held February 21, at the Allerton Hotel. Traditionally this function is held February 22, but it was moved up a day this year so that it would not conflict with the Northern Division Conference at Columbus. Randall Ruhlman, Karl Ertle and Willard Barry compose the committee in charge of the banquet, while Harold Hopkins, Bill Mould and Jack Finnicum make up the nominating committee scheduled to steam-roller a hand-picked slate of stooges into office for the coming year. Zeta will hold an initiation in the afternoon of the same day and join with us in the evening for the banquet. This is our finest and most popular party of the year.

Delts in these parts continue to take their places in public life. In the fall elections Dr. Robert E. Ruedy, Z '90, who has been a member of the Council of Cleveland Heights for many years, encountered no difficulty in being re-elected. Tom Ward became a member of the Council in Lakewood and Mark McElroy retained his seat in the Cleveland Council. In a bitter political dog-fight in Euclid, Bill Hecker led the ticket to be elected to the Board of Education; and in Chagrin Falls, Gordon Nichols ran away with the race for Mayor. In addition to these elections, the Cleveland City Council has named Christian J. Bannick as clerk.

Many Delts have appeared in recent news columns of the daily papers. There have been stories of the $50,000.00 addition to Bob Weaver's Ferro-Enamel Company, the new plant being for the purpose of manufacturing colored oxide to be used in enamel products. Several articles tell of I. R. "Ike" Watts being appointed assistant business manager of the National Wild Life Federation in Washington. Ed Henckel, Ray Carroll, Frank Pelton and Bill Moon have been featured on the sport pages—Henckel for his yachting activities, Carroll for his wild turkey hammock in Florida, Frank Pelton, our outstanding golfer, as being elected to the board and made counsel for the Cleveland District Golf Association, and Bill Moon for leading a hunting trip in the wilds of Port Clinton; and of course Gus Handerson, business promotion expert for the Chamber of Commerce, and Mark Egan, Director of the Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau, are always in the news.

And once more, under the heading of "What Are the Cleveland Delts Doing?" we report that:

Harold Hopkins spent Thanksgiving with Ray Carroll at Deer Park, Florida.

Architect Ralph Cumming takes two new steps—first, he opens a new office at 1900 Euclid Avenue and second, gets married.

Three Zeta alumni are on the staff of Charity Hospital. They are Drs. Proctor Disbro, chief resident, Ralph Gray and Edgar Knowlton.

Jim Lind who was seriously ill in Lakeside Hospital has recovered and is back on the job as Assistant Law Director of Cleveland.

Bill Moon and Harold Wyandt both announce the birth of sons.

Dick Seaman becomes associated with the law firm of Pelton and Wilson.

Gus Handerson directed the statewide campaign against the Bigelow Amendments (Ohio's crackpot ham and egg idea). The plan was swamped at election time.

Bob Weaver led a citizen's committee in a campaign against a very political Cleveland Charter Amendment designed to wreck the Police and Fire Department. Of course Bob's side won.

Benton Russell, Jr., was elected president of the Cleveland District Golf Association.

Gabriel Smith moves to a new home at 16015 Neladale Ave., East Cleveland.

Delts new to Cleveland are J. Albert Stratton, Paul Rootman and Paul Gayman.

In the "It Pleases Us" Department we would like to state:

The Cleveland Alumni enjoy THE RAINBOW and think that the Editor, Harry Green, is doing a swell piece of work.

We were glad to see that Clem Frank was made President of the Northern Division.

We like the activity and energy of the new Alumni Secretary, Herb Bartling.

We enjoy the occasional Delt publicity in Life magazine.

We were most happy to learn that Howard Mills, Z '18, had been awarded the Distinguished Service Citation at Los Angeles. For many years before leaving Cleveland, Howard was one of our most active, loyal and popular alumni.

And now, once more we repeat, as in former letters, if you live in Cleveland we sincerely invite you to join with us in our Fraternity activities, and we will gladly place your name on our alumni list for the Bulletin and other announcements if you will notify the Secretary.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

THE COLUMBUS Alumni Chapter of $\Delta T \Delta$ submits herewith an announcement of the Northern Division Conference.

Our regular meetings have been well attended. Every Wednesday we gather at the University Club, 40 South Third Street. All Deltas are invited. The committee in charge of the Conference has held many enthusiastic meetings and two stimulating alumni parties.

Other announcements will follow later, covering the program of what we believe will be a great Northern Division Conference of $\Delta T \Delta$ —February 22, 23, and 24, 1940—Deshler Wallick Hotel, Columbus, Ohio.

HOWARD S. STERNER

Denver

DENVER alumni activities are again in full swing. The regular December meeting was very interesting as Dr. Yegge (Karnea Stag Party Yegge) showed movies and colored slides of his recent trip to Mexico and South America.

Now that the movie bug has got us we are having a real show for our January meeting. Beta Kappa Chapter has secured colored movies of the Utah Aggies vs. Colorado University football game and "Cac" Hubbard, Delta Lambda (Oregon State), '21, and head football coach of Denver University is going to show his pictures of the Denver University vs. Colorado University game. About 20 Deltas will make the trip from Boulder to attend our meeting, and eight of these men are members of the Colorado team.

Among the newcomers, we are glad to welcome Frank E. Mielenz, Beta Tau (Nebraska), '26, Samuel J. Sweet, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '27, Art Shellabarger, Beta Kappa '38, John Swift, Beta Kappa '28, Nick Darrow, Allan Heister, and John Hickman.

Plans are underway for the largest Founders Day Banquet Denver has ever known, and arrangements are completed for a mixed party in the nature of an old-fashioned square dance. Yes, the Karnea is past history now, but our activities are still on the march.

BLAINE BALLAH, JR.

Fort Lauderdale

WE HAVE not had any special activities here this year, but are planning several functions and meetings in the near future. I would like all visiting Deltas in this area to please get in touch with Carl Weidling or myself.

We hope that 1940 will be a banner year for $\Delta T \Delta$.

F. L. RICKARD.

Fox River Valley

WE WERE eager to cast the old year's clothing off with a few rousing resolutions concerning New Year as Delt alums. Yes, unless snow falls so deep that cars can't travel or that alums can't ski, the Fox River Valley alums are going to keep themselves "stirring" all year 'round.

We've already had two winter gatherings. The first meeting of the Delt alums was held at Ralph McGowan's home, and the sophomores and freshmen of the active chapter were included in a unique informal meeting. Sandwiches and coffee were served, and after a few hands of bridge and schkopf, the alums went their various ways home feeling warmer toward each other and feeling better acquainted with the active chapter.

A notice to you Deltas out in New Jersey, particularly the ones around Orangetown! We are sending one of our most honored Deltas to you; very reluctantly did we bid Jack Hanna farewell at an alumni dinner January 4. Forty respecting brothers shook Jack's hand and bade him good luck in his new ministerial position in New Jersey. We younger Delt alums, with whom Jack served as chapter adviser for three years, have felt the greatness of $\Delta T \Delta$ through our relationships with him and surely the older alums sanction this thought.

Well, as this is to be the first issue of THE RAINBOW in 1940, I sincerely hope that the various alumni chapters will strive to get better acquainted and that each will carry on some constructive work for the active chapters and for the communities in which they are located.

If you ever get around to these parts of Wisconsin, cheese and all, near Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Green Bay, or Fond du Lac, drop us a line.

CLIFF BURTON

Kansas City

THURSDAY, November 9, the Kansas City alumni held a stag football frolic at the Hotel Continental. This affair, a great success, was engineered and promoted by the inimitable Bill Gilges, who also performed as master of ceremonies. Roland Record, Walter Hausmann and Ed Hasek also deserve our applause for their help in working out the details. Ed Hasek served as Professor Quiz, and uncovered some real fans on the football front.

Next came a little outside talent, wherefore ye ed suggests that a slight editing of this part of the program might be in order—Eh! Bill? or was it the movie pictures? However, we want to thank Roland for showing several reels of football pictures which made a big hit.

The annual election occurred at the weekly luncheon December 21, with the following results: president, Kenneth S. Bates; vice-president, Francis Brodie; secretary, Frank Siegrist; and treasurer, Walter Hausmann.

One news item we must not overlook is the frolic Roscoe Groves had with his car during the holidays. He and Mrs. Groves were returning from a trip, when their car skidded on the ice, and turned over on its side. Fortunately neither of them was hurt, but Edith told me Roscoe looked mighty funny hanging on to the steering wheel while the car was lying on its side.

After all this with no scratches, Roscoe arrived home intact but felt he must visit the garage to look at the car. In the dark there he fell into a grease pit and broke two ribs, or one rib in two places.

We are glad to report that Roscoe is fast recovering, and at lunch this week was able to throw a mean hand at Keno.

Weekly luncheons are held each Thursday noon at the Hotel Continental, fifth floor—every Delt is welcome.

FRANK B. SIEGRIST

Lexington (Ky.)

THE LEXINGTON Alumni Chapter, which has been dormant for the past eight months, is showing signs of life. A group of Delts decided that they enjoyed getting together and talking over old times, that they were interested in the present actives and pledges and would like to establish closer relationship with them, and that they were anxious to do everything they could to further "Deltism." For these reasons twenty Delts met last November to reorganize the Lexington Alumni Club of $\Delta T \Delta$.

At the first meeting the following officers were elected for the year: Coleman R. Smith, president; Russell Lutes, vice-president; and John M. Thorn, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

Our plans include the following:

1. To have at least one meeting a month held at a time and place to be decided by a committee appointed by the president.
2. To get the alumni and active chapter to know each other.
3. To give every possible aid to the active chapter.
4. To revise the alumni files and obtain as accurate a list of alumni as is possible.
5. To make a definite effort to get every alumnus to participate actively in the club. 6. To add to these plans as our club grows and our activities expand.

At the December meeting sixteen were present and from the enthusiasm shown the club should enjoy a splendid year.

JOHN M. THORN, JR.

Long Beach

OUR MEETINGS have been rather irregular. Business has either been too good or very bad and seems to interfere. Also we have had the misfortune to lose several of our most active Delts in that they moved to other cities.

But even with irregular meeting dates we still see that $\Delta T \Delta$ is kept active in our hearts. The U. C. L. A. undergraduate chapter and the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter see quite a bit of the Long Beach alumni.

Visiting Delts should telephone George Deatherage, Security Building; Herbert Hollingsworth, 404 E. Broadway; or A. Bates Lane, Long Beach Secretarial College, for meeting dates or for the names and locations of local Delta Taus.

A. BATES LANE

Los Angeles

WE WISH to report that the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter has finished a very active year under the leadership of Barry Hillard. The Chapter held an election of officers for the coming year, December 19. The results follow: president, Frank H. Rethlefsen, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '25; secretary, Henry E. Rivers, Beta Rho (Stanford), '12; assistant secretary, Frank A. Zimmerman, Gamma Upsilon (Miami), and Delta Iota (U. C. L. A.), '31; treasurer, Roy P. Croker, Beta Omega (California), '14, and Beta Omicron (Cornell), '15; vice-president, John O. Frye, Beta Rho (Stanford), '33; vice-president, M. Philip Davis, Delta Iota (U. C. L. A.), '27; vice-president, John Krehbiel, Gamma Tau (Kansas), '28; and cantor, Gordon Carey, Omicron (Iowa), and Delta Iota (U. C. L. A.), '39.

We are happy to announce the affiliation of Owen Orr, past Secretary of Alumni and past Treasurer of the Fraternity. Also, we are informed that his son has been recently pledged to Beta Omega at the University of California.

At the weekly luncheon meeting January 9, one of the Los Angeles chapter's Fifty-Year Certificates was awarded to Brother Elisha H. Anderson, Mu '85. This certificate is awarded by the Los Angeles chapter for outstanding service on the part of those who have been Delts for fifty years or more.

This year the annual banquet at which we formerly elected our officers is being abandoned, in order that we may devote greater effort toward making the Founder's Day Dinner the outstanding event of the year.

We hope that any Delts wandering in this neck of the woods will avail themselves of the opportunity to affiliate with our chapter. Weekly luncheons are held at the University Club of Los Angeles every Tuesday noon, with average attendance of twenty-five.

HENRY E. RIVERS

Memphis

THE MEMPHIS Delta doctors, lawyers, newspaper men, cotton men and librarians are struggling along with income tax reports and the New Deal.

Attorney Al Riley, Beta Iota (Virginia), '09, says his exemptions exceed his income. We are all opposed to third terms except for the Arch Chapter and the Governor of Colorado.

Enoch Brown, Lambda (Vanderbilt), '14, has just polished off the final ceremonies of the centennial celebration of the Commercial Appeal and the publication of an enormous issue of the anniversary edition of that paper. Now he can settle down for another hundred years.

Local boys from active chapters renewed acquaintances during the holidays and restored our vigor. Brother Ed Picket, active of Delta Delta, has put the torch to us, so the Fraternity is really getting some help in rushing Memphis and west Tennessee boys. The results have been eminently satisfactory with many of our promising boys wearing the Square Badge.

We wish we could postpone the fall elections and have the Karnea instead.

JESSE CUNNINGHAM

Miami

AS USUAL, the alumni association is not functioning during the winter, but this past summer we did have a cabana party, entertaining some rushees, and one or two small meetings at different fellows' houses. Of course, the primary proposition is that at this time everybody is very much pleased with the new chapter house at Gainesville, and no one in this section who goes to northern Florida fails to drop by to give the new Delta Zeta home the once over.

JOHN G. THOMPSON

Milwaukee

FROM THE long silent lair of the Milwaukee Deltas comes the news that we are neither dead nor dormant but really trying to get organized and are looking around for something constructive to do to justify our existence.

Informal luncheon meetings are held every Tuesday noon at the City Club but attendance thus far has been very disappointing. However, we are still trying to make it a regular and accepted thing.

December 8 we held an informal dinner meeting at the City Club with a fair attendance of about twenty-five. We discussed various means of stimulating interest and enthusiasm within our group and a committee of three headed by Stan Guth was appointed to look over the field for a likely project for us to sponsor. Brother Walter Becherer, well known traveler, showed films of some of his more interesting travels, giving us a running description and explanation that kept the gang quiet for quite a while.

Plans are under way for a grand Founders Day party and everything points to a much more active group here in Milwaukee than we have had for some time. Hats off to Phil Berger and Bert Nelson.

BOB DURBROW

Minnesota

A SHORT letter this time. The Minnesota alumni meetings, held the first Wednesday in each month at the Cafe Exceptionale, 716 Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis, at 12:15 p. m., are constantly growing in size and enthusiasm. The last two meetings have crowded the luncheon room to capacity with every available place at the tables filled, forcing some of the brethren to eat off their laps.

Despite this big turn out there's always room for one more and a cordial invitation is extended to all Deltas to join with us in our monthly meetings. Come on in! Relax with old friends. You'll like it!

FRANK KIEWEL, JR.

Nashville

THE NASHVILLE Alumni Chapter gave a dinner dance at the Rawlings, twelve miles from Nashville on the Clarksville highway, December 13. This dinner was attended by sixteen couples and "the stag," Johnny Onstott, who incidentally celebrated his "forty-second" birthday. The party was entertained by Johnny Onstott and Charlee Rutherford at the piano, and later on in the evening the group gathered around the piano to sing Delt songs.

We were all glad to see Dr. and Mrs. V. H. Griffin who came from Clarksville to attend the dinner.

Congratulations are in order for James Rutherford who has just been appointed back tax collector of Davidson County for the coming year.

Howard C. "Duke" Jordan, Gamma Psi (Georgia Tech), '27, is connected with Marr and Holman, Architects of Nashville, Tennessee. Elbridge White, Gamma Psi (Georgia Tech), '39, is another young architect and is with Hart Freeland and Roberts, also of Nashville.

We are all looking forward to our next regular monthly meeting, January 10, at the Noel Hotel when Brother "Chubbs" Foutch will explain why Tennessee was nosed out by Southern California in the Rose Bowl. Speaking of Bowls, we wish to congratulate Coach Jess Neeley, Lambda (Vanderbilt), '23, and his Clemson team for the victory in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

GARLAND SWEENEY

New York

THE NEW YORK alumni are rapidly pushing plans for the Founders Day banquet. A tentative date has been set for Friday, March 1, 1940. Confirmation of this date will be made some time in the near future. John Tynan, Upsilon (Rensselaer), '27, heads the committee of arrangements again this year. John did an outstanding job of last year's banquet, and Don Moffett, president of our alumni group here, is to be commended for again selecting John and convincing him that he must serve again this year.

The committee is planning extensive entertainment which is expected to exceed in entertainment value that furnished last year. Last year, an excellent show of considerable variety was presented which made it one of the best dinners we have had. Johnny Tynan is working hard to surpass all previous banquets for good food, good fun and entertainment.

The New York Alumni Chapter had its last luncheon at the Cornell Club on East 48th Street. Although the Club is a little out of the way from our usual haunts in the Grand Central zone, it nevertheless provided an ideal setting for our luncheon. Many of the men assembled in the lounge on the comfortable divans and enjoyed an interesting exchange of experiences of all kinds. The food served at the luncheon was extremely good. The weather was not favorable and may have occasioned a drop in the number of those whom we ordinarily expect to attend these luncheons. Our next luncheon meeting will be held again at the Cornell Club, January 17, 1940, at 12:30 p. m.

All Deltas will join the New York alumni in wishing for the speedy recovery of Bruce Bielaski who has been quite seriously ill with pneumonia. We have been informed that he is now on the road to recovery and we all hope it will be a speedy one. Needless to say, we regard Bruce as being an invaluable member of our alumni and miss him sorely when not at our meetings.

JOHN M. MONTSTREAM

Oklahoma City

THE OKLAHOMA City Alumni Chapter has made a New Year's resolution to have representation in every issue of THE RAINBOW during 1940. We will have to go back into 1939 for most of our items of interest for this issue.

Last spring a bunch of the boys interested in reviving the Delt spirit got together and as usual we held an election and, out of this session, we revived the alumni organization. The continued interest is due to the officers, H. C. Luman, president; John Nichols, vice-president; and Worley Stewart, treasurer, all of Delta Alpha. All of the officers are well acquainted with the chapter at Norman, consequently, we were in a position to help with summer rushing and to keep in contact with the activities of the active chapter.

We have listed seventy-one known Deltas living in Oklahoma City, forty-nine from Delta Alpha, Oklahoma University, and eighteen from other chapters scattered from border to border and coast to coast.

Our Christmas party was a stag supper. A party of this kind brings back old memories of days in the various Delt houses and, some of the old timers like nothing better than to tell about how they raised hell. Those attending included: from Delta Alpha: Kay Garnet, Bob Shaw, Duane Anderson, Bonnie Spencer, John Nichols, Bill Sutton, George McLaughlin, J. I. Gibson, Mason Lyons, John McClelland, Otis Riddings, Bob Williams, Earl Fricke, Jim Pipkin, Herbert Oaks, Harold Farley, Lynn Overman, Bill Bonebrake, Monty Montgomery, H. C. Luman, and actives, Jack Harlow, Alan Moore, Claude Gordon.

Dr. Lockridge, Vanderbilt; Virgil Emmel, Baker; Bo Vaura, Missouri; Walter Johns, Kansas State.

To keep interest and because we like to get together for weekly bull sessions, every Thursday noon we have a table reserved in Brittlings Cafeteria where any visiting Delt will find from fifteen to twenty-five of the alumni to give him a welcome.

We will attempt to have more news about the many Deltas in and around Oklahoma City for the next issue.

D. R. MONTGOMERY

Philadelphia

THE PHILADELPHIA alumni have held two meetings at the Robert Morris Hotel since the last RAINBOW was issued. As in former years election of officers was held at the December meeting. Samson McDowell, Omega (Pennsylvania), '01, our president for the last two years, called the meeting to order and when nominations were opened he immediately declined to run for a third term. Ed Rankin, Nu (Lafayette), '12, was then nominated and elected president. The secretary-treasurer who has had the job for two years failed to decline a third term and was re-elected. Surely no one will object to a secretary-treasurer keeping the job for three years! A vote of thanks was given to retiring Samson McDowell who has kept the organization moving nicely during his term. A couple of old friends from Tau (Penn State) showed up for this meeting, Bob Ferguson, '32, and John Gwynn, '32. Another stranger, Tom Redding, Rensselaer '35, was also with us.

January 6, 1940, we had our first meeting of the New Year. Ed Rankin announced that Jordon Gauthier, Herb Rader, Samson McDowell, Charles C. Gray, and John Collins would constitute the Founders Day Banquet Committee. Again this year the Philadelphia alumni will be joined by the undergraduates from Omega at the annual dinner celebration. One of our members who has been in South America for the last two years was at the luncheon. Karl Winsmore told some of the experiences he has had in South America while working for an oil company. Karl expects to return to Venezuela about the first of February for another two-year contract.

We are always glad when the members who have been away stop in to have luncheon with us and we hope to see more of our "moving" Deltas this year.

CHARLES C. GRAY

Pittsburgh

FOLLOWING the precedent of long standing, the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter continued their Annual Church Service the night of December 10, in Trinity Cathedral with Brother High Moor, Dean of the Cathedral officiating. We were fortunate in having almost 300 of the 500 Deltas in this area in attendance.

Plans are being laid for the Annual Founders Day Banquet which will take place either the first or second Saturday in March.

An interesting factor in Delt life about Pittsburgh was the celebration, November 14, of the 25th Anniversary of the founding of Gamma Sigma. About 100 Deltas attended the dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel and immediately following were taken to the Buhl Planetarium as the guest of Charles F. Lewis, Alpha '09, who is the director of the foundation.

The luncheons are still held at the Law and Finance Building Restaurant each Friday noon.

PORTLAND, Maine, Alumni Chapter of $\Delta T \Delta$ met at the Officers' Club, Fort Williams, Me., Tuesday, December 13, 1939, to formulate a plan of activity for the coming year.

Present: Col. O. H. Schrader, Gamma Mu (Washington), '08; R. W. Leighton, Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan), '05; D. M. Rowe, Gamma Nu (Maine), '15; Maynard A. Hincks, Gamma Nu '32; W. M. Grigson, Gamma Zeta '09; C. K. Passmore, Gamma Nu '26; Alton K. Skillin, Gamma Nu '25; P. K. Merrill, Gamma Nu '16; F. A. Snell, Gamma Nu '17; Harold Mosher, Gamma Zeta '25.

Plans for the year 1940 were discussed and a Founders Day celebration was planned. Colonel O. H. Schrader was elected president. A social evening followed in which all present took part. Increased effort is being made to interest more alumni in Delt activities.

Portland (Oregon)

PORTLAND Alumni Association has a fairly good record for helping the active chapters of the Northwest and for keeping itself intact. This year we feel that we are making good progress in improving that record by increasing our own numbers and helping to increase the number of good men in our active chapters by cooperating in rushing. By giving scholarship and activity awards and with cooperation we feel that we are promoting greater interest in those endeavors in the active chapters. Given time, our efforts should show results in the improved standing of the Oregon chapters.

Our annual alumni dance was given December 29, to a capacity crowd of actives and alumni. It was one of those "homey" affairs at which everyone had a good time because he wanted to come and because he was among old friends.

At the present time we are planning our annual honorary initiation for the four Northwest active chapters of Oregon, Oregon State, Washington and Idaho. This year we have set the date February 10, and are making it a combination Founders Day banquet and honorary initiation. Although this is a little ahead of the official Founders Day it is the only time for the alumni to celebrate this occasion when everyone will be present. We expect a high percentage of representation from all chapters. This annual affair has gained quite a reputation and has left those initiated in this way with memories that they will never forget.

JAMES H. ZILKA

Rochester

THE ROCHESTER Delts were a little slow getting started this fall, but are fast making up the lost ground.

The first meeting, a dinner held at the University Club November 13, was the annual business meeting involving the election of officers and the discussion of plans for the year. Herm Norton was elected president for the year, with Elmer Davis as vice-president. Charlie Harper had the combined honor and misfortune of inheriting the twin jobs of secretary and treasurer. The new president appointed Herm Hauck and ex-president Warren Parks to serve with the officers on the executive committee. There were a number of ideas advanced for the year's activities, but we'll tell you about those as they happen.

A second dinner meeting at the same place, December 11, drew twenty-two Delts, which is something in the way of a record for a gathering of that kind. The attendance speaks well for the success of our system of having a committee contact every member by phone shortly before each meeting, after the notices have gone out.

December 30 we tried a new idea when we entertained the Delt pledges, home from their various schools for the holidays, at a luncheon at the University Club. The idea in our minds was to let them meet each other and to demonstrate to them that $\Delta T \Delta$ exists outside of college as well as in. We don't see how they could have failed to be impressed by the cordiality between men widely separated in age and circumstances and by the welcome accorded Paul Batzell, a former member of the chapter, who was visiting in Rochester from his present home in Washington. And we were at least as well impressed with the new Delt "finds" as we could have dared hope they were with the old grads. We were able to contact six pledges in town, and four of them were on hand for the luncheon. Those present were Tom Bader of Allegheny, Paul Kinsella of Tufts, Jim Trayhern of Hillsdale and Cliff Whitcomb of Cornell. Dick Ingersoll of Penn State and Rex Stevenson of Carnegie couldn't make it.

Turning to the personal notes, Chuck Gillan joined the ranks of the settled married men January 4 when he "committed matrimony" with Miss Carol Carpenter of Rochester.

Warren Parks is to be installed as president of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce at a dinner January 9. Needless to say, there will be a tableful of Delts on hand to applaud louder than the rest when Warren takes over the reins.

The families of at least two of our members are carrying on in the right direction. Herm Norton, Jr., son of our president, was initiated last winter at Cornell, and Ed Ingersoll's son, Dick, pledged the right house at Penn State this fall.

A card party for Delts and their wives, sweethearts, and friends is set for January 23. A bowling party will be held sometime in February and plans are already under way for the Founders Day celebration, March 1. A group of the brethren plan to visit Beta Omicron at Cornell for the initiation ceremonies some time in March. With these activities and others to come, all added to what has gone before, it should be a banner year for Rochester Delts.

CHARLES H. HARPER

St. Louis

WE HAD the pleasure of a visit from Elmer Whitson October 16, one of our faithful members when he resided in St. Louis. "Whit" now lives in Milwaukee and we are always glad to see him.

Scott Godron, Georgia Tech, had a bad accident while driving near Owensville, Mo., October 21. His car was completely demolished when it skidded on loose gravel and turned over several times. "Scotty" came out of the wreck with nothing more serious than bruises.

Earl Page, Missouri, had as his guest during November, Max Haubensock from Basil, Switzerland. Max gave us some very interesting sidelights on the war, and the political situation and economic status of the various countries in Central Europe. As a member of the Swiss Reserve, Max was called to the colors and ordered to report to the Consul in New York but this call was cancelled due to the fact that there were no means of transporting the Reservists to Switzerland.

Branch Rickey, Ohio Wesleyan, Bruce Stake and Bill Gentry, Missouri, attended the installation ceremonies of the new chapter at Westminster College December 2.

We had our annual Christmas party December 21 and it proved to be very successful. Twenty-five of the brethren attended, including some of the boys from Westminster. Brother Elliot, Carnegie Tech, presented some of his magic for the entertainment and mystification of the boys.

We are attempting to bring our roster of Delts in St. Louis up to date and we would appreciate any of you living here sending us your name, residence and business address, to which address you wish fraternity mail sent, your school and class.

G. H. BUCHANAN, JR.

San Francisco

WE WERE fortunate in having Hugh Shields as our guest at a luncheon at the San Francisco Commercial Club Wednesday, January 17. Hugh spoke before approximately thirty-five of our members and gave us a very interesting, as well as enlightening report on the present status of the Fraternity. Two of our most active members in the San Francisco Alumni Association have been honored with positions in the Fraternity, namely, Hans Jepsen, who was appointed President of the Western Division, and D. P. Boothe, Jr., who was appointed vice-president of the Western Division. A number of our active alumni doing business in the San Francisco area are dividing their interest between the San Francisco Alumni Association and the newly formed Peninsula Association which is being formed and headed by Freddie Glover, editor of the Burlingame Advance, their leading newspaper; ably assisted by Albert T. Horn, who is advertising manager of the same paper. This group convenes each month in the chapter house of Beta Rho at Stanford and includes all alumni living in the vicinity, from San Jose to San Mateo.

We are now making plans for a Spring Smoker. We certainly would welcome all visiting Delts who are contemplating visiting the 1940 San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island, and invite them to have luncheon with us at the Merchants Exchange Club, 465 California Street, where we meet every Wednesday for our weekly gathering.

ED CLARK

Savannah

Boy, you are right, when you say, that where there are Delts there is news and where you find such a group of Delts such as is found in the Savannah Alumni Chapter, news is effervescing.

During the past few months our group has been very active in making plans for the Southern Division Conference, which will be held in the Southland during our balmy month of February. To all good Delt pledges, actives and alumni we extend our warmest invitation.

Since the holiday season has just passed and something unfortunate happened for the first time in my memory the holiday crowds have missed the annual Delt Christmas party. This was due to a slight epidemic of bad colds, which visited our city and we all deemed it wise to make our gatherings less now, and more concentrated at our conference in February.

I wish to notify all those who are planning to attend the conference in dear "ole" Savannah that our local chapter president heads the Savannah Camera Club and it would be wise at all times to be in proper pose, for Brother Cobb is most enthusiastic about candid shots and may be tempted to catch you unexpectedly.

We have been very fortunate in the return of Brother McLamb to his home town, where he has now established himself as one of Savannah's active builders. He still has to talk a bigger fish than he can show.

Since Savannah is one of the main points of interest when touring the South we would like to inform our readers that alumni luncheons are held Thursday at 1:30 p. m., in Savannah's oldest house. If you should be in the city and would like to enjoy a wholesome social hour, call your correspondent by phone, and I will be glad to make your reservations.

T. A. PETERSON, M.D.

Seattle

HOMECOMING was celebrated at the Shelter, October 28, by open house and a buffet dinner—approximately fifty alumni were present and, as usual, had a good time.

This was followed a week later by a well attended carnival, put on by the Mothers Club at Gamma Mu. The purpose was to raise money for the club to help pay off the balance on the splendid new dining room furniture they presented the Shelter.

The formal initiation of eight new men, followed by a banquet at the house, was held Sunday, January 14.

The annual Delt Formal to be held January 20, at the Tacoma Golf and Country Club, is open to all Delt alums, and will attract many as usual.

Please watch for further notice of the Founders Day Banquet to be held March 1. Plans for this are already being formulated.

An expected announcement should soon be forthcoming from the Portland Alumni Association regarding the annual Northwest Alumni Initiation to be held in Portland this year, honoring the two outstanding pledges from the Oregon, Oregon State, Idaho and Washington active chapters.

Bob Dyer, former Western Division vice-president, has been transferred to Alaska as engineer in charge of construction of a new Naval Air Base.

BOB WATT

Stark County (Ohio)

AT A NOON luncheon meeting (undergraduates attending), December 27, at Canton, Ohio, we elected officers for 1940.

President, Glenn A. Wilt, 719 Seventeenth Street N. E., Massillon, Delta (Michigan).

Secretary, E. K. Zinn, 916 Twenty-fifth Street N. E., Canton, Gamma Beta (Armour).

H. CHARLES HESS

Toronto

SINCE THE Toronto Alumni Chapter was not represented in the November RAINBOW we feel plenty chagrined and our efforts at a new leaf just managed to make this deadline.

Our season started late in September with President Malcomson retiring after two strenuous years in office. The job was taken over by Ivan Hardy who also appears to be a brute for punishment as far as looking after the chapter's affairs are concerned.

Up to date two very pleasant meetings have been held, one at the beautiful home of Chuck MacDonald and the other one we paid for ourselves at the Toronto Granite Club. The party at MacDonald's pleased our brother treasurer with fun and games at your own personal expense. The Granite Club party caused him some serious thought.

However, our beloved treasurer managed a smile at Christmas time when our raffle for anti-freeze showed a nice margin above costs.

Our next meeting in January will be in conjunction with the Wives' and Mothers' Club at Jack Wilson's swanky home. There is naturally no doubt that every one will enjoy himself including all the "wet blankets."

According to the monthly Delta Theta data sheet our prospective pledge crop is improving with every visit of the bird. The score is now three sons to two daughters and the season is just beginning. Several marriages have also been reported.

The army has claimed the services of four of Delta Theta's outstanding graduates and the Officers Training Corps is supervising the study of several others. This is only the beginning and certainly the rest of the chapter will not be found wanting when the need arises.

CHARLES E. HAWKE

Tulsa

THERE WAS a big turn out for our Christmas party. Plenty of food, songs, entertainment! Election of new officers: Hirst Suffield, president; Bert Bass, secretary and treasurer; Norbert Proctor, first vice-president; Burdette Smith, second vice-president. Retiring president, Lawrence Wilson, together with Bob Bates, Ronney Johnston, and Harvey Heller are making arrangements for a Delt trophy to be given the outstanding boy in each senior class at Tulsa High School.

At our January meeting, Lawrence Wilson showed the movies he took of the Karnea last summer. Plans were started for our annual formal dance which is to be given in April. We would like to have a Delt orchestra for this affair so if any of you brothers with orchestras are going to be out this way in April, be sure to write us right away.

Delts visiting Tulsa recently: Evert Filley, Texas Oil Company, Houston, Texas; Ted Ferrier, Pem Drilling Company, Wichita, Kansas. One of the brothers, Jack Davis, now of Hutchinson, Kansas, said, "I do," to a sweet young thing way out in Montana.

BERT BASS

Wichita

I AM neither president nor corresponding secretary of the alumni chapter in Wichita, but Paul Skinner who is president called me and asked if I would write THE RAINBOW letter.

The Wichita Alumni Chapter of $\Delta T \Delta$ has really been very inactive during 1939. We had two good rush parties last summer. The first one was held in July at the farm of Jack Spines, Jr. We entertained about twenty rushees. The second party was a dinner held at the Wichita Club the first of September and we entertained about fifteen rushees at that time. The result was that there were more men pledged Delt from Wichita this year than for a good many years.

About twenty Delts from Wichita attended the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Gamma Tau at Lawrence in November. It certainly was the biggest occasion that Gamma Tau had ever had and, I am sure, that it will prove to be a big boon toward future homecomings at Gamma Tau.

December 23 we held our annual Christmas dance with the Sigma Nus. This is an annual affair and for many years has been the biggest and best party of the Christmas season. About twenty actives and pledges from the surrounding chapters attended. We even had Delts from as far away as Northwestern University and Brown University. A large crowd attended and both the actives and alumni voted it the best Christmas dance we have ever had. Eddie Gibbons and his Missouri Tigers from Columbia University furnished the music.

The next meeting is to be held at the end of January at the Wichita Club and plans are being made by President Paul Skinner for increased activity during 1940.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alpha—Allegheny

THE TIME for another chapter letter has rolled around and has found us very busy here at Allegheny College. Our greatest achievement has been the procuring of new furniture in the downstairs. This includes three new rugs, davenports, card tables and chairs, phonograph record stands, smokers, and all the rest of the things which make a fraternity house more homelike. Considering the new equipment and the splendid painting job, interior and exterior, it is easily seen that we want to make this house as livable as it is possible.

Two very successful social events have been held—the pledge dance, November 4, and the fall party, December 9. Two of the finest orchestras in this district played for us and a really fine time was had by all.

As for individual achievements—Ed “Deacon” Spofford, '40, was elected president of the Thoburn Club for pre-ministerial students for the second straight year, and house manager Paul Abel, '42, was elected secretary of the same organization; pledges Frye, '42, and May, '41, and active Marasco, '42, made the basketball squad easily; pledge Carlisle, '42, reached the semi-finals in the intramural ping-pong tournament; Lawrence May and Gordon D. Watson, '40, were Allegheny representatives at the Kappa Phi Kappa regional conference at Penn State this year; Gordy retired as treasurer of the House this month and was succeeded by William Morris, '41; President George Evert was elected president of the junior class.

Now signing off 'til next time!

WILLIS BOWMAN

Beta—Ohio

BETA, together with all the rest of $\Delta T \Delta$, mourns the death of Kleber W. Hadley, Northern Division President, and a sincere and able Delt leader for many years.

So far, this has been a banner

Editor's Note: Seventy-two of the seventy-five undergraduate chapters report to you in this issue. The Southern and Northern Divisions have one hundred per cent representation.

In browsing through this department, reading the reports of chapters you now know or those you have known in the past you will note a uniformity in present trends. A great deal of construction in the physical plants has taken place this past summer and fall. Activities are increasing, scholarship is going up, financial structures are strengthening—the combination is a healthy sign.

year for $\Delta T \Delta$ at Ohio University, and we are looking forward to even greater achievement for 1940. The year got under way successfully with the garnering of a good pledge class, and first recognition of Delt leadership in campus activities came with the selection of Stephen Fuller and John George O'Brien to “J” Club, junior men's activities honorary.

The chapter has made a fine start in the struggle to retain the beautiful intramural trophy won last year. Delt touch footballers won the University plaque in that competition; we are holding our own in bowling; and, in basketball, our class “A” and “B” teams both remain undefeated. It is generally expected that our boys will come through again with the basketball championship.

For the touch football title Beta athletes downed a strong Phi Delta Theta squad two days in a row, 7-6, and 6-0. Added feature at these championship games was an all-Delt band, with President Bob Jolly as Drum Major, an R. O. T. C. color guard, and ten chapter musicians, who made up in fraternal spirit what they lacked in musical finesse.

Center of attraction in the house this year is “Pupchen,” half Brock-erhound, half Scottie, all black, and an ideal chapter mascot. First of several chapter dances this year was held in his honor, and his picture has been displayed in numerous publications, including Collegiate Digest, roto-gravure publication circulated nationally with college papers.

At Christmas time the chapter “adopted” a 12-year-old Athens boy, who had been selected by local school authorities as the town's most deserving youngster, and, in addition to buying him a complete outfit of clothes, from shoes through jacket, presented him with several articles of Boy Scout equipment, and made him guest of honor at a banquet and party held at the house. Pictures of the boy, together with Bob Jolly, chapter president; Scotty Martindill, treasurer; and Charlie Loftus, social chairman; appeared in Columbus and Cleveland papers.

Richard Barber was selected this fall to membership in Torch, senior men's honorary. He joins Brother Jolly in this select group. In addition, Jolly is president of the local chapter of Blue Key, national men's honorary, and Brother Bill Evans is an active member.

Ohio Deltas are now looking forward to the annual Beta Winter Formal, to be held Thursday, January 25, for which Charlie Barnet and his nationally acclaimed band will play. Barnet, with one of the top swing bands of the country, keeps up the tradition started by this chapter when it brought Count Basie and his famous colored band to the campus.

Announcement was made earlier this year that Beta ranked first scholastically on the O. U. campus, having topped all other fraternities, the sororities, and the All-University average for the second semester last year. Present reports indicate that the margin of superiority will be maintained if not increased this semester.

Lest we forget, the chapter won the cup again this year for the best decorated house at Homecoming, making it six years out of the last eight. Competition was intense this year, but there was no doubt that the Delt entry led the field. In addition, the chapter glee club presented a serenade and "Walk-Around" at Homecoming which was widely acclaimed.

Barber is a member of the University Publications Board, and Brother John Dengel, in addition to being Advertising Manager of the Athena, Ohio University yearbook, is a member of the Board of Directors of the Ohioan, campus humor magazine. Brother Harry Davis has also been chosen for the coveted post of senior football manager for next year.

William Evans was recently elected president of the University Men's Glee Club, while Emerson Houf was elected secretary-treasurer. John O'Brien and pledge William Kursel were elected to the House of Delegates, men's student government body, and Jolly has been elected to the Student Center Committee.

May this new year see the Crescent increase!

BOB JOLLY

Gamma—W. and J.

WITH THE coöperation of the whole chapter and with Dan Core and Dan Finkbeiner at the helm, Gamma came through another highly successful rushing season with a total of fourteen pledges.

Once again both actives and pledges are doing more than their share of work in extracurricular activities on the campus. In sports we were represented first by George Hall who helped close his college career with a spectacular season on the gridiron. Chuck Wilson does his best for Gamma on the "Presidents'" swimming team. Pledge Wallace Kettlewell has proved to be one of the most dependable members of the basketball team by aiding the Red and Black dribblers to go undefeated so far this season. Still another pledge, Bob Younkin, reached the semi-finals in intramural wrestling. The House's touch football team came in second in the fall intramurals. Fred Zollinger, Dave Crawford, Alex Fricke, Alan Fawcett, Fred Zollinger and Jack Harper all hold managerial positions in the athletic line.

Once more the campus publications are virtually Delt. Bill Jacobs heads the editorial staff of the Red and Black, campus weekly, while Fred Zollinger is business manager of that publication. Alex Fricke is a member of the editorial staff of the paper, and the House is represented on the business staff by Dan Finkbeiner, Bill Frost, Bill Dickie, George Redding, and Andy Margileth. Alan Fawcett is business manager of the yearbook, The Pandora, with Bill Frost on his staff. Jack Rynd holds a position on the sophomore editorial staff of that publication. Sam Robinson, George Hinkens, Jack Harper, and Bill Dickie help edit the literary magazine, the Gambolier.

In executive positions on the campus we have Bill Jacobs as president of Student Council and Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic honorary. Sam Robinson is president of the fraternity honorary, Kera. In the realm of class officers we have Bill Frost in the capacity of sophomore secretary.

December 10, the entire house, both actives and pledges, attended a special Sunday evening service given by Dean High Moor in honor of the Delt chapters from W. and J., Pitt, and Carnegie Tech at Trinity Cathedral in Pittsburgh.

Now with a new semester coming up Gamma is echoing with expectations of even greater attainments in 1940 than we experienced in the past year.

JOHN D. RYND, JR.

Delta—Michigan

FRANTIC activity initiated the return of the chapter to begin the new school year. The Shelter was redecorated, and beautiful new bathrooms were completed shortly thereafter. At last, preparation was completed for fall rushing. The rushing period was again a highly successful one for Delta. Twenty-two men were pledged. The large class was due in no small part to the diligence of Bill Beatty, rushing chairman. Considering the fact that there were no telephones in the dormitories, Bill did a very fine job. Later in the semester Bud Chamberlain and Emmet Whitehead were elected co-chairmen for the coming year and immediately laid plans for second semester rushing.

Already Delta has begun a new roll of honor men. Bob Wagner was initiated into Sphinx, junior literary honorary society. Bob is manager of the classified department of The Michigan Daily. Hadley Smith has recently returned from Florida, where he spent his Christmas vacation, as a delegate from the Michigan Union to a convention of executives of student unions. John Yager has been elected junior manager of the University football season for the coming year. John has aspirations of succeeding Carl Wheeler, manager of this year's team.

Chapter athletics are under the direction of George Cornell, one of our most able athletes. George led the speedball team to victory in the second place playoffs. Nevin Jamieson, captain of the chapter swimming team, paced the fellows to a valiant effort in this sport. The basketball team looked well in the two practice games played thus far. Delta's unofficial touch football team was second to none, nor did the pledges succeed in upsetting chapter prestige in the annual game. Lack of height played havoc with the chances of the volleyball team. Prospects of athletic improvement are exceptionally good this year.

The football season brought with it an extremely successful Homecoming for Delta alumni. From near and far they returned to be greeted by the active chapter, some from as far as New York and New England. In reciprocation the chapter was host to group of Ohio State Deltas at the annual football contest between the schools. Unfortunate circumstances made the postponement of the annual pledge formal expedient, but its successor, a Christmas dance, was well attended and enjoyed by all. A chapter Christmas party was held immediately preceding the holidays. The climax of the social season is imminent with the J-Hop and House Party.

With finals on the way and indicative of the halfway mark, Delta considers herself well on the road to an ultimately, most successful year.

EDWARD W. REID

Epsilon—Albion

EPSILON started the year 1939-40 in fine style by getting eighteen fine boys as pledges. The Epsilonians came back to the Shelter this fall and found several improvements in the house. New beds were in the dorm and a new driveway all around the house with a spacious parking space in the back.

One of the finest improvements in the house and a real addition in all ways, was the completion early in December, of a new recreation room in the basement. A large room, it is finished with white knotty pine, has modernistic lights and ceiling and very shortly will have completely new furniture. All of the work except that of plastering the ceiling, was done by the boys in the House.

This fall, Epsilon was fortunate in having an exceptionally strong fraternity football team. It blocked and scored to very high honors in the interfraternity league, despite early season injuries of some of the most capable players. Having placed at the top in football, Epsilon is looking forward to a great season in intramural athletics.

With two parties having taken place already, the pledge's "Sweater Swirl" and the annual Fall Formal, the boys are looking forward to the yearly "Black and White" party. Lasting a couple of days, it proves a great success and a great get-together.

M. DANIEL SILER

Zeta—Western Reserve

ZETA DELTS were happy to learn that John Lucas had been voted the "most valuable gridder" of Cleveland's Big Four 1939 season. John, a senior from Sharpsville, Pa., was a major factor in the position of chief ball carrier. Likewise outstanding in Reserve's first string line were pledge Ernest Eros and Brother George Noland in the positions of end and guard, respectively. Willie Waggle, Reserve's All-Big Four end of 1938 has had his tonsils removed, and definitely will be back in football harness next fall. He didn't play last season because he had not fully recovered from pneumonia, but now he is back to his old-time weight of 225.

Another announcement which sounded good to Zeta ears was that John DuChez, Zeta's social chairman, had been chosen co-chairman of Western Reserve's Junior Prom, which will take place sometime this month with a "name" band as its attraction. Art Battles was appointed senior manager of the Reserve swimming team upon which Clarence Allen, Bob Baskin, and Dave Morrison may also be found starring at any tank event. Dave Miller recently took over the job of senior manager of the Reserve Ice Hockey team which plays in the Penn-Ohio College Hockey League. Bill Berkeley, captain and former goalie of this team, has been shifted to defense. Four other Delts, Don Voss, Bud Latimer, Howie Stevens, and "Lefty" Giles comprise the rest of the Zeta men on this Delt dominated team.

In intramural sports the chapter is holding its own fighting to gain first place in the fraternity league and the chances of regaining the first place cup for University champs are not so slim. Intramural manager Homer Giles led the chapter to the fraternity championship in indoor baseball aided by the pitching arms of Frank Thomas and Vernon Kolze and the batting of Dave Lash. Zeta is also in the final play-offs of intramural volleyball.

Pledge Jim Moran headed a committee, aided by John Lumm and Fred Oldenburg, which produced a fine pledge dance for the actives November 18. Decorations were of the nautical trend. November 28 found the alumni trooping back to the Shelter for their annual alumni banquet. Judge Shallenburger was guest speaker and outside guests included the football and fencing coaches and athletic director of Reserve.

In literary activities Walt Leonard and Bud Hyde may be found writing fraternity news for the Red Cat magazine, while Howie Stevens and Bill McSorley are conducting a gossip column for the Reserve Tribune, weekly student newspaper. Bill Poe, junior, may be found in the rôle of business manager of the latter publication which now boasts the fourth largest circulation in Ohio.

But all has not been play for the Zeta Delts. Latest reports show that $\Delta T \Delta$, largest chapter on the Reserve campus in the second semester last year, boasted fourth highest average in scholarship for fraternity men. President Ed Hoffman has been applying himself to work on the interfraternity relations committee of the Interfraternity Council, which is now drafting plans for abolition of the old "Hell Week" and a substitution of a new and moderated "Greek Week" on the Reserve campus.

House decorations, made possible by the Zeta mothers and alumni, accounted for a repapering of a major portion of the three floors of the house and a new carpeting for the upper and lower halls. Also, now we have a lamp and pool table. The latter, obtained by Brother Russell Griffin, an English instructor at Reserve, will be placed in a newly enlarged and redecorated recreation room.

Last, but farthest from least important, was the Christmas Formal held in the Hotel Cleveland under the successful direction of co-chairmen DuChez and Thomas.

Zeta goes into the new year with a successful one behind and prospects for a better one ahead.

WILLIAM G. POE

Kappa—Hillsdale

KAPPA chaps returned fourteen strong as September set in, promptly pledged eleven aspiring (now perspiring) young men, and proceeded merrily toward the completion of another school year.

Crankshaw and Manby are presidents of the junior and sophomore classes respectively, and pledge master Stuckey understudies the former in his class post.

Well up toward the handle of the yearbook's staff are Crankshaw, Manby, Baxter and Emmons and pledge Trayhern.

House president William Wall has earned himself a place in collegiate's blue-blooded Who's Who.

Homecoming was a roaring success with numerous Delts watching Hillsdale wrap up Alma, 6-0. Kappa's decorations, which featured a home-made, life-size war tank, failed to attract the prize cup, but it was concluded at the Shelter that the award was made on a basis in which actual ornamentation must have been a slightly considered point.

With the intramural basketball circuit in full swing, the boys are looking forward with hippety-hopping hearts to the track season—as the hoopsters have done more wishing than swishing. Let it be known, however, that several of the contests have been decided by razor margins (and let the other affairs go unknown). Stuart Stuckey, Bud Swegles, Howdy Furnas, Dick Emmons and pledgemen Hamilton, Kasischke and Clark are expected to send 'der cinders a-flyin' when the starter's guns bark.

Socially, the Bowery Brawl lived up to its sobriquet and reestablished itself as the year's best dance.

Sophomore Bob Manby, who did Hillsdale's centering during the fall frolics was elected co-captain of the grid gang, and will be much heard from in the future—as will we.

DICK EMMONS

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

DEAR POP:

YOU WANTED to know what we've been doing here at Mu (besides eatin', sleepin', and studying like the . . .) so to show you what's up listen for awhile.

I certainly was glad to see the ol' place. All of the fellows must have been homesick too because we worked so hard on rushing that we pledged fifteen of the best boys in the class of '43. Now, don't tell me that's only what we think and I'm counting my chickens before they're hatched for the freshmen pledges went ahead to prove we actives were good pickers.

I used to think my class was hot stuff, but these boys are plenty good. Art McElfish is president of the freshmen Y. M. C. A., Ed Goepper is president of the freshmen dramatic society, and Norm Scrimshaw is president of the freshmen Bible Club. Hey—that isn't all by a long shot for five are in the Singing Club and Owen, Copp and Ireland received football numerals. (We're hoping and praying they're as scholarly as their grades indicate thus far.)

No, pop, I'm not trying to conceal the upper class activities for we've all been busy. Four of the brothers (Bartlett, Eppler, Rickey, and Dieckmann) were awarded varsity football letters, and we have three of the four major senior varsity managerships. Bill Stewart is senior basketball manager, Art Gooding is baseball manager, and Dave Steitz is track manager. Intramurals are not going too well but we're bringing our average up in the winter sports. Oh, yes, Brother Hughes is playing varsity basketball.

Tell ma that Bill Kraus and Dick Higley were inducted into Theta Alpha Phi, dramatics honorary. I think she will remember them. (Maybe!) And "Kelly" Danford is now a member of Phi Mu Alpha, music honorary. Paul Schmick recently entered the journalism society, Pi Delta Epsilon. I explained to you once that O. D. K. took outstanding men on the campus. Well—Bob Decker was "tapped" in November.

We had a dandy Christmas party. But following it the freshmen took it into their heads to throw the seniors into the showers—with the help of the sophomores. Boy, did we have fun!

Good night, I nearly forgot to tell you about our Winter Formal. The fellows decorated the house with pine boughs and electric candles, and we "imported" a band. Gosh, but my date was a dream . . . don't worry, I still have my Fraternity pin.

Say, pop, I have to rush now. Could you send a little cash in advance of my allowance to sort of carry me along? Thanks, old man.

YOUR SON,

CHARLES E. ZIEGLER

Nu—Lafayette

NU BEGAN the year with the problem of getting a large pledge class to supplant the graduates of 1939. All brothers realized it, and with hard work, were able to pledge a class of sixteen freshmen and one upperclassman, leading the Lafayette campus. While, for Nu, this number is extremely large, we believe the men to be of high caliber, and it must be said that they coöperate to the fullest extent with the upperclassmen.

We find, at the half-year mark, that every man in Nu is participating in at least one extracurricular activity. Among the outstanding are: William U. Meier, president of the Brainerd Society, a member of K. R. T., honorary society for outstanding men of Lafayette, manager of soccer for the fall season, and secretary of the Interfraternity Council. Hugh Thomas swims the 50 yard free style event. Although Hugh is a sophomore, his freshman record was so impressive that it is expected he will prove a source of power for the varsity. George Dochterman played first string right end on the Lafayette football team, and is assured of a berth on the Lafayette nine in the spring. Fred Love is a letterman in varsity football, noteworthy because he was a sophomore fullback. Eugene Hoff is a letterman in swimming, but is unable to swim this year due to a mastoid operation undergone last summer. Jack Hood is a member of Tau Beta Pi. Andrew Horton, Charles Troxell, Franz Schmitz, and Jim Sigman are members of the staff of the college newspaper.

Of the large pledge class, Herm Gayley, Emil Sommer, Jack Bolton, Howard Williams, Luther Graves, Bob Montgomery, Jack Van Roden, and Bill Morris have or are participating in some freshmen sport. Luther Graves has received his numerals in freshmen football, and Bob Montgomery and Bill Morris have earned them in freshmen soccer.

While no intramural trophies have been brought to the mantel of Nu during the fall season, Nu has shown great improvement over past years. The cross-country squad placed third in competition. Both football and soccer teams were high in their respective leagues. The outlook for winter sports is bright. The bowling teams are shaping splendidly and big things are expected from them. The two basketball teams entered in the leagues have played three games, each winning two and losing one. While swimming is not under way as yet, intramural material for that sport seems better than in past years.

On the night following the fall interfraternity ball, November 19, Nu held the first of a series of three House dances. Fifty couples danced to the music of the Princetonians, well-known band from the Oranges in New Jersey, and excellent punch was served by the traditional Jim Nolan. The dance proved to be one of the finest, socially, that Nu has enjoyed in many years.

This briefly reviews the activities of Nu chapter since the beginning of 1939-40.

ALBERT L. MCNOMEE

Omicron—Iowa

THIS YEAR Omicron has started out with a bang to retain the title of the leading Fraternity on the Iowa campus. During the summer the house was redecorated and put into fine shape. Our pledge class has gained much recognition in activities and is leading all other fraternity pledge classes in scholarship. We are placing much emphasis on scholarship this year and Omicron is well on the way towards having the highest scholarship in years.

In our efforts for scholarship we have not neglected the old Delt social life. November 4, approximately forty-five University of Iowa coeds were served with summonses to appear at the chapter house to answer charges advanced in behalf of the $\Delta T \Delta$ Jail Party. When the guests arrived they found all windows barred, and when admitted were given cardboard programs inscribed with their official number. In the basement recreation room our cameraman was busy taking official pictures for the rogues' gallery. Vagrants, jailbirds, gun molls, barmaids, and sirens had a bang-up time at the party.

Our activities in the house have been stressed greatly and we find the boys participating in many extracurricular activities. The House is proud to announce that Ed McLain was one of Eddie Anderson's regular starters in the "Ironmen's" backfield this season. Johnny Greer is now assistant business manager of the Daily Iowan, and is also a member of the Frivol staff, as is John Collinge, our prexy. Prexy Collinge is planning to take his old place among the notables in the Big Ten Track competition as the best of the high hurdlers. Art Manush, captain of the Iowa Big Ten Champion Baseball team last year, is back this year, and has lead the touch football team to another victory in the fraternity league. Jack Reams and Fred Conger have been holding down leads in the University's dramatic plays. Fred is also an announcer at the University Radio Station. Art Johnson, Jim Nelson, and Gene Curran have won their numerals in football—Eddie Anderson has great expectations from these boys and should be watched for next year. Ernie Ocheltree is a member of the Iowa's Marching Band, while Glenn Minnich is a member of the distinguished Scottish Highlanders. Doc Tepfer is working out with the varsity wrestlers and Walt Brown is working out with the baseball team.

Much credit must be given Bob Masters and Art Manush, our pledge trainers, for making the pledges get out into the fields of sports and scholarship and prove that both can be combined.

ROBERT F. WOOLLING

Pi—Mississippi

BACK FROM the Christmas holidays the men of Pi are wearing looks of grim determination for they are making a last effort to cram enough ammunition into their heads to conquer approaching examinations. Too, they intend to at least equal their last year's scholastic standing of fourth among the fraternities at Ole Miss.

An ambitious group of twenty constitute the pledge class, one of the best in the history of the chapter, and we are looking forward to initiation which will be held the afternoon of March 2, followed by our banquet for alumni and our annual RAINBOW formal dance that night. J. C. Buckley of Newton and Charles Harrison of Philadelphia are president and secretary, respectively, of the pledges. In a contest based on points for each service to the chapter, the pledge receiving the highest number of points will be awarded a prize of twenty-five dollars. At present, Vernon Lash, Bob Hummel, and Joe Logan, in the order named, are leading.

Pi has displayed more athletic prowess than usual this year in intramural sports. We broke even in softball, and at present are undefeated in basketball. Vernon Lash will probably be recrowned horse-shoe champion as he has eliminated all opponents unlucky enough to have been pitted against him.

John Hovious, Pi's redheaded halfback, was named on the second All-Southeastern football team. Nor does he confine himself to football, for he is a first-string guard on the basketball quintet. Brown Williams and Henry Kinard were other members of the football team.

The influence of James (Nickie) Nichols of Vicksburg, recently initiated, has been decidedly felt, especially in the active meetings. Eugene Harrison was elected vice-president, succeeding Joe Washington who transferred to the University of Tennessee law school.

President Joe Lauderdale, Ben Buchanan, Wilburn Holmes, and Bob Hummel lead the Deltas in extracurricular activities.

Looie Hopkins, guardian of the treasury, reports that it is in good condition, so what is to keep us from having a most successful second semester?

ROBERT M. LOGAN

Rho—Stevens

THE SHELTER at Rho had undergone a number of improvements by the time school reopened last fall. Due to the efforts of the trustees, under the leadership of Roger Morse, '27, who was ably assisted by "Duke" Stevens, '06, and with the help of the alumni and the Delta Tau Delta Society of Hoboken, the Shelter had acquired much needed roof repairs, new floors and stair coverings, new beds, freshly painted rooms, a new shower, new basins in the bathroom and new pictures for the library and ping-pong room.

By the end of rushing we had pledged nine freshmen and two sophomores for a total of eleven out of the sixty-two who pledged the ten fraternities on the campus.

Following rushing Rho held its annual formal dance in Jacobus Hall, which, incidentally, turned out to be one of our most successful dances.

Rolling along into the first term found our secretary, Harvey Hennig, elected as editor-in-chief of the school yearbook and junior editor of the school paper, as well as being an active member of the fencing team and a member of the Junior Prom committee. George Daly was responsible for getting the ball rolling and organizing the intrafraternity basketball games. George Lahey was elected chairman of the Junior Prom committee. Fred Tyler and James Stilwell were elected to the school Honor Board. In other activities we have: Bob Leek on the varsity basketball team, Glen Williamson and Chet Williams in the dramatic society, Gene Gardner on the Junior Banquet committee, Franklin Tucker in the band and orchestra, Fred Tyler on the tennis team, Ernie Pederson on the editorial board of the yearbook, Warren Comfort as second officer of the Rifle Club, and Doug Collins and Chet Williams on the fencing team.

George Lahey and Franklin Tucker are still talking about the Karnea and their trip to Colorado via Canada and the Iowa State Fair.

HARVEY HENNIG

Tau—Penn State

THE FIRST half of the school year is practically over and Tau can look back with pride on a very successful and active semester.

The 1939-40 school year was opened by an energetic and extremely successful rushing season. The chapter pledged thirteen men and by no means was this an unlucky number. This year's freshman class has shown itself to be extremely active, placing men on the Glee Club, college choir, and in the fall production of the Thespians, musical comedy group of the college. Other freshmen have gone out for the wrestling squad.

The upperclassmen have not let the freshmen steal all the glory for they have been working also. Ralph Crowther, co-manager of the tennis team, was elected to Parmi Nous, junior-senior honorary society. Dick Ramsey was selected for the marching and concert Blue Band, the official musical organization of the school. In the managerial line we have Jim Gilmore, a first assistant track manager and a member of Blue Key, junior men's honorary.

In the sphere of sports Tau is well represented on the campus this year. Len Krouse, a sophomore, is one of the few men who is a member of both the varsity football and varsity basketball teams. Len is a member of Friars, athletic honorary society. Another athletic sophomore is Bob Morrow, a member of the lacrosse team. He is a member of Druids, another athletic honorary society. Jim Lewis, a junior pledge, is a member of the varsity boxing team. He is also a member of Parmi Nous.

In the journalistic line we are represented by Brad Owens and Sidney Cowlin. Brad is an editor on the college paper while Sidney Cowlin is advertising manager of the student handbook.

Came winter and the boys turned with a will and converted the tennis court into an excellent skating rink. The members are now busy sharpening their skates and practicing figure eights.

STANLEY H. YOUNG

Upsilon—Rensselaer

LAST SUMMER our Shelter received a complete facial. We now have a new roof, a rather striking "three-tone" paint job, and all the trimmings that go with such an overhaul. The beginning of the year saw us in a mad whirl putting the inside of the house in commission for the coming school year and rushing. Some of the boys did their rooms over in unique fashion, such as covering their walls with maps and the like. They all turned out very successful.

Rushing was conducted most successfully under the chairmanship of Don Walton. In two weeks we had ourselves nineteen neophytes, all of whom are first class and have every sign of being good Delts.

Upsilon is well represented in the athletic field this year as usual. Out for football were Don Hoopes, Jim Wallace, Bob Baker, Bob Stites, Chuck Elder and Bill Johnson, all of whom saw first string action.

The soccer field saw Dick Gonder, Red Nye and Jim Rathbone playing their part in making this one of Rensselaer's most successful soccer seasons. This was Brother Gonder's last year on the field for R. P. I.

At the present, we have our eyes on this year's basketball team captained by Bill Ludke. They have played three games so far and have three victories well tucked under their belt. Red Nye has a good foothold in this sport also, as well as Dick Nadler, Ed Mueller and Bill Wicks. The Delts are well represented on Rensselaer's fields and doing an excellent job.

Upsilon has its share of extracurricula activities also.

Jim Wallace has been appointed to the committee directing Soiree, our sophomore dance.

Russ Warner, Tom Savage and Jim Wallace are all lining up for promotions on the Editorial Staff of the Poly. Ralph Albright retires as editor-in-chief later on in the year. He's putting out a good paper this year.

Nat Evans, Bob Iszard, Russ Warner and Red Nye are all on the junior board of our yearbook, The Transit, while Dick Gonder is business manager and Phil Hopper is on the Senior Board.

Recently elected to next year's Senior board of "Campus Reviews" on WHAZ, were Red Nye, Russ Warner and Bill Jacobus.

Chuck Lounsbury and Ralph Albright made Tau Beta Pi this year.

This just about winds up our activities to date.

WILLIAM W. JACOBUS

Phi—Washington and Lee

WITH SEVENTEEN men to form one of the strongest pledge classes in recent years, Phi already appears destined to maintain the enviable record which it achieved last year.

Leo Reinartz, former president of the House, member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, and captain this year of Washington and Lee's basketball team, has distinguished himself thus far this season by his stellar work at guard position for the Generals. Jack Mallory is also a member of the basketball squad, and Dickie Spindle is now serving as one of the sophomore managers in that sport.

Jack Crawford and Jack Akin are showing up exceptionally well this year on the varsity swimming team, which has a habit of generally copping the Southern Conference championship. Pledges Bill Webster, Don Garretson, and Porter Haizlip are members of the freshman swimming team. Charlie Bowles will again be wrestling in the 155-lb. weight division on the varsity wrestling team. Last year, Bowles received a trophy in recognition of his being high-point man on the squad.

Ross Hersey was recently elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, for the service he has rendered to the campus. It was Ross who led the local Red Cross drive to its goal, by staging "W & L 'Zapoppin'," a revue which attracted state-wide comment. Hersey is a member of the track squad, Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, and president of the Glee Club, which last year won the Fred Waring cup at an appearance in Washington. Seven other boys in the chapter are also members of the Glee Club, including Frank Hynson, vice-president; Dick Spindle, Pete Hoffman, Bob Peckham, Al Fuller, Bill Webster, and Don Garretson. Also along the music line, E. W. Brockman is student director of the university band, of which Bill Harrelson is a member. "Brock" also handles one of the sax jobs in the Southern Collegian dance band, along with Ed Blair, and Bobby "Traps" Boatwright.

Having already attained the unique record of winning the intramural athletic championship three consecutive years, the chapter is again holding its own, having advanced to the third round in football, the semi-finals in volleyball, and scoring a large percentage of points in handball. With basketball commencing, we expect to further strengthen our position. Cal Bond and Don Garretson recently advanced to the final round of the intramural debate tournament. Gene Chamness is general manager of the House's intramural activities.

Jim Faulkner and Jim Clarke have capably represented the chapter in dramatics, Faulkner recently having the lead part in Molnar's

The Play's the Thing, which was favorably received in its performances all over the state.

In election to honorary societies, Phi is also well represented. Emil Rassmann was elected to the "13" Club, honorary junior society, and Bobby Boatwright was named to White Friars, and Dick Spindle to Pi Alpha Nu, both of which are sophomore honoraries. In addition, Spindle and Boatwright were also elected to the Cotillion Club.

All this year, our three freshmen aviators, Pete Hoffman, Jim Funk, and Bill Webster have alternately entertained the actives by their solo performances above the house.

No comments concerning the chapter's welfare would be complete without a word about Mrs. A. B. Coleman, our lovely new house mother, who assumed her duties this year. Not only has she won the heart of every one in the chapter, but her charm and grace have done much to make our guests feel completely at home. She is truly a welcome and fortunate addition to this house.

Chi—Kenyon

THURSDAY, December 14, Field Secretary John Fisher paid his annual visit to Kenyon. Chi entertained him with a Christmas party that night, but more interesting and more important was the ceremony at dinner in the college Commons, where Chi actives and pledges received the lion's share of a number of athletic awards.

Five Chi pledges walked off with football numerals—among them Ed Chamberlain, who captained the freshman squad this season. The other stalwart pledges were Paul Herrick, Bob Kerr, Bob Weaver, and George Seitz. Beside their numerals, these lads earned the Wurtimer Cup for the chapter, awarded annually to the fraternity with the largest number of freshman football numeral men.

Three seniors achieved those coveted gold footballs. Tink Herl, president of Chi, got one for his work at fullback, High MacLeish won a gold charm for his play in the line, and Joe Rudge received his for three years' work as a manager.

John Goldsmith brought the highest honor of all—the Dean's trophy for sportsmanship—back to the Delt parlor. This is the second successive year the trophy has been held by a Delt. Incidentally, it has been awarded only twice.

All this was a fitting climax for the photo-finish victory in speedball competition won late that afternoon after trailing badly at the half. The conquest, all the more pleasant for having been almost a defeat, gives Chi one win and one second place in the two intramural events run off so far.

In more intellectual fields Chi is also standing high among the campus fraternities. George McMullin and Jim Logan both figured on the debate team which won for Kenyon the All-Ohio conference. Chi Delts cram the masthead of the Kenyon Collegian. With Ted Cobbey as editor, George McMullin as business manager, and MacLeish, Hoffman, Goldsmith, Shepherd, Listug, Cuthbert, and Weaver holding down lesser positions, the Collegian has become known on campus—we feel sure our accusers speak with a tinge of envy—as "The Delt Rag."

Two Chi pledges, Ken Dalby and Bud Southard, and two actives, Hallock Hoffman, and Tom Huff, have been representing the chapter in recent Kenyon dramatic productions. Don Miller, who has edited this column in the past, will shortly be elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Strong alumni support has enabled us to start repairs on the Lodge and the chapter room; this important step almost completes our current renovation plan, since October found new beds, mattresses, and furniture ready for our use.

We close with a hearty and fraternal invitation to all to drop in anytime and meet the lads of Chi. Your best friend may be right here with us. We hail from the width and breadth of the land, from Massachusetts to California, from Michigan to Florida. Rod Boren, Chi '38, is a frequent and welcome visitor—hardly a week goes by that he doesn't roar in to Kenyon's fine airport in his trim Monocoupe. If you can't come as rapidly as he, perhaps you can stay longer. Anyway, we hope, Good Delts, you all will give us the pleasure of meeting you and showing you around your Kenyon chapter.

Omega—Pennsylvania

UPON RETURNING to Omega in October, Pennsylvania Delts found many improvements awaiting their approval, the chief of which was a brand new ping-pong room. The ardent dream of every Omega man for several years, this ultra-modern addition to the Shelter's recreational facilities has proven to be exceedingly popular.

Largely responsible for $\Delta T \Delta$'s highly successful social season is this year's vice-president, Robert Mabry. Recognized throughout the campus as Penn's "Elsa Maxwell," Bob has won compliments from everyone. Sophistication and swing were much in evidence as the Delts inaugurated the season with a formal dance on Navy week-end. Held the night following the Junior Prom, the formal was marked by the presence of many alumni and numerous midshipmen.

"The Farmer in the Dell" was the theme song for the next Delt function, a good old-fashioned hay ride and wiener roast. To say that "a wow of a time was had by all" is putting it mildly.

As the Yuletide season approached, the brothers transformed the Shelter into a beautiful winter wonderland. The annual stag Christmas party was sponsored by the sophomore class. Then 1939's glittering social program was concluded by a Christmas formal.

In keeping with its policy of strengthening the bond which unites the alumni and undergraduates, Omega sponsored a series of coffee hours which were held following the football games. The chapter paper, Omega News, was published in November. Edited by Russ Lynch, the publication was sent to all undergraduate chapters.

Versatility prevails among the Delts this year as will be evidenced by the activity report. Four lettermen lead the parade of Omega athletes. "Hurricane" Shane, Bob Mabry, Jimmy Herbig, and Dan Wessling have won honors in football, lacrosse, tennis, and crew, respectively. Charles Troup, a sophomore, is a leading high jumper on Coach Robertson's track team, while Don Lynch, also a second-year man, is a member of the varsity fencing team. Vic Edellman and Torchy Giberson are sensational standouts on Pennsylvania's undefeated ice hockey combination.

Jack Harrington and John Collins are the chapter's chief representatives to campus publications. Harrington is editor-in-chief of the yearbook, while Collins, a Beta Gamma Sigma and senior honor man, is advertising manager.

Charley DeLone, besides being a cheerleader, has distinguished himself as a dancer in the Mask and Wig show. Seen zooming among the clouds these days in airplanes are "Lover" Lou Schoenleber and George McGovern.

Of the thirty-two fraternities in the interfraternity scholastic competition, $\Delta T \Delta$ ranks seventh.

Thus, Omega is forging steadily ahead in all fields of endeavor. Enthusiastically, the members of this chapter welcome the New Year.

DANIEL R. WESSLING, JR.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

BETA ALPHA has inaugurated plans for 1940 which will place the House in even higher standing among the campus fraternities than it already is at the present time. The House extends its good wishes for 1940 to the many other chapters throughout the country.

Two weeks ago when the senior class president was selected, the committee in charge of selection was left with no alternative than to choose "Buck" Mauck, of Beta Alpha. "Buck" is undoubtedly the outstanding activity man and "rod" on the Indiana campus, and has carried off such honors as president of the Union Board, chairman of the 1939 Junior Prom committee, Beta Gamma Sigma, Sphinx Club, Dragon's Head, Board of Aeons, and numerous other honors. When he graduates this spring, the chapter will lose a truly representative Delt.

Among the other fields of extracurricular activity in which the banner of $\Delta T \Delta$ is represented we find that Beta Alpha has scored a grand slam in football managerships. Morris Ritchie, Dick Hutchison, and Bob Arnold were senior, junior, and sophomore football managers, respectively. In other athletic managerships are Bob Stunkard, basketball; Harry Huff, swimming; and Joe Glover, track. Pledge Wells McGurk won his freshman football numerals.

Out of the thirty men in the new Civil Aeronautics Authority flying course, Beta Alpha boasts of three men—George "Flight Commander" Rauch, John Van Atta, and Dave Yeoman. Along with Benny Hatfield, who already has his student's wings, these lads constitute the "dorm" patrol.

Our fall initiate into Sphinx Club was Jim Fausch, who was also awarded a key by the chapter for his highly commendable spirit throughout four years at Indiana in extending the good will of $\Delta T \Delta$ over the campus.

Glen Rust is a member of a new singing ensemble known as "12 Men and a Girl." The group has gained state-wide recognition for their work. Brother Dick Shores, post graduate in the music school, directs the organization.

Best of everything for 1940!

DONALD E. BATTON

Beta Beta—DePauw

BETA BETA began the school year in a completely refurbished and redecorated house. The athletic ability of the fifteen pledges was immediately shown in intramurals and in University athletics. Three of our pledges got their numerals in freshmen football. In intramurals our chapter took a second in tennis and was close to the top in speedball and swimming. We are now looking forward to a successful season in basketball and volleyball.

One of the most interesting athletic events of the year was a touch football game with the Beta Psi at Wabash. This game took place one Saturday morning before the traditional Wabash-DePauw football game. Although the DePauw varsity managed to win over the Wabash varsity, the Beta Psi chapter defeated our team by a large margin. However, the contest was an interesting one and was thoroughly enjoyed by both teams.

The largest social event of the year was our fall formal. DePauw's Delts have also enjoyed several picnics, hay rides, and parties. A newly organized song group has learned numerous four part arrangements of popular songs and has given several successful serenades on this campus. Plans are now being made to serenade groups on other campuses in the near future.

CHARLES J. McFALL

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

AFTER A summer of extensive repairs, we came back to find the house in its best condition for many years. Many pieces of new furniture and equipment helped restore the natural beauty of the Shelter.

Rushing started off slowly, due largely to the rules laid down by the University, but once formal rushing was over much better results were noticed, and now things are progressing very nicely.

Starting things off this fall, Life visited the Delt house as part of its trip to the Wisconsin-Marquette football game. "Glamour Boy" Brooks Conrad was chosen by Life's photographer to be featured in an article and his activities with a local Alpha Phi were pictured throughout an entire week-end.

Socially, Beta Gamma has hit tops on the campus this semester, every coed guest volunteering the information that our parties are "the best." From the first formal through Christmas each party proved to be better than the last. As an innovation, frequent Sunday buffet suppers proved especially successful. Brother Pinky Tomlin and his wife were guests of honor at one of these. Capacity crowds came to each party, and the high point was reached when more than eighty per cent of the boys received Pan-Hel bids.

Delta Tau Delta got a big boost at Wisconsin this year when two Beta Gamma alumni were appointed to the University Board of Regents—Art Holmes, '15, and Mike Cleary, '02. Judge Augie Backus, founder of a long line of Beta Gamma Delts, retired from the Board at the same time.

A few of the boys more prominent in campus activities include Brooks Conrad, cheerleader, sports editor of the Daily Cardinal; Phil Dressler, Union Board staff, Phi Eta Sigma, assistant general chairman of Pre Prom; George Canright, cheerleader; Fred Kershner, chief justice of the Student Court; "Chuck" Yerkes, social chairman of Wisconsin's dormitories; and Orv Fisher, center on the football team.

In interfraternity athletics we've done not too well, our record being similar to that of the University in football. Volleyball found us barely nosed out for a division championship, while basketball, just started, finds us with a promising squad. Bowling seems to be our best sport thus far, for we're riding high in the division and have but one defeat in fifteen games to lead all fraternities—this in spite of the fact that we lost three of last year's squad.

So, with spirit running high, a fine pledge class, and prospects for improved scholarship, we at Beta Gamma are hoping to carry forward the excellent start already made.

JOHN S. COLEMAN

Beta Delta—Georgia

BETA DELTA is back in the running again after a short, but enjoyable Christmas vacation. All of the lads, with the exception of one graduating senior, are back in school working hard towards making this year the most successful one that Beta Delta has ever experienced.

The spirit of the boys has reached a new high. We stand fifth on the campus in fraternity scholarship for the fall quarter. The brothers are not satisfied with this rapid rise in scholarship, and we feel positive that Beta Delta will lead all other campus fraternities in this field upon the completion of the winter quarter.

Our winter rushing season has just started. In the first three days of rushing we have attained a "batting" average of 100 per cent—five boys have been rushed with a total of five pledged. We hold high hopes of swelling this list to a new all-time peak.

Beta Delta unquestionably leads our rival campus fraternities in social activities. Lee Price, the biggest man on our campus, has been elected to Sphinx, the highest non-scholastic honor that an undergraduate can attain. Lee is president of Gridiron, and he has been president of most every other campus organization worthy of membership. Both Lee and our "prexy," James Carmichael, have been elected to Phi Delta Phi, the legal fraternity. Marion Dasher has been elected to the Pan-Hellenic Council to succeed Dan McFaden, our graduating senior. McFaden was elected to Gridiron earlier in the quarter. Bob Hall, our treasurer and the manager of the varsity boxing team, along with Dasher, has been elected to Delta Sigma Pi, the commerce fraternity. Wilson Robbins and Jack Murphy, two of our freshmen, made their numerals as members of the "Bullpups," which incidentally is rated as one of the best freshman football squads in the nation.

Beta Delta wishes to extend its heartiest congratulations and best wishes to Gamma Psi (Georgia Tech) upon the completion of its new Shelter. From the reports of our boys who have visited the Tech chapter, "It's tops!"

Brother Delts, mark our word, this new "spark" in Beta Delta has lighted a new fire. Gentlemen: watch our smoke!

MARION DASHER

Beta Epsilon—Emory

BETA EPSILON completed a very successful quarter this fall, after pledging eight promising men and initiating three.

The high spot of our season's activities was our second annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. The youngsters received practical as well as pleasurable gifts.

This type of party has been so successful on several occasions—twice with us—that it will probably become a custom.

Hats off to chemistry major Earl Royals, who stepped over the lofty pinnacle of scholarship which bars most of us from the mysteries of Phi Beta Kappa. It is men like Royals who maintain our scholastic standing on or near the top. He is, by the way, Beta Epsilon's new vice-president, having been elected to fill the unexpired term of "Red" O'Neal, who withdrew from school. Recent initiate Carl Chandler replaces Royals as guide.

THURMAN WILLIAMS

Beta Zeta—Butler

BETA ZETA started the year with one of the most successful rushing seasons it has had in the history of the chapter due to an excellent job on the part of our rush chairman, Tony "Trapper" Carr. Twenty-one new men were pledged whom we feel, without a doubt, compose the most outstanding pledge class on the campus.

Our intramural football team finished the season with a fair showing; however, from all signs, as we swing into the basketball schedule, we should enjoy a successful season under the capable leadership of Jim "Ball Hawk" Hardin.

Beta Zeta is well represented in activities with our "prexy," Hugh Smeltzer, serving as president of the Student Council; Bob Lawson is a member of Blue Key and also president of the senior class; Ed "Big Blah" Liljiblad is head of the Loyalty Legion and has done much to increase Butler spirit. Dave Yarian and Jim Hardin were elected to Sphinx, junior honorary; and Dave Woods, Jean Watters, Tom Markin, and Quentin Covert were elected to Utes, sophomore honorary.

The twenty-seventh annual House Party, which is by far the most outstanding social event on the Butler campus, was again held at Turkey Run over Thanksgiving vacation and everyone had a wonderful time.

As for our representation in athletics, Frankie Carbon has been chosen to captain the 1940 baseball team; Pledge Taylor is out for basketball and shows much promise; and Van Slyke, who is from sunny California, should prove to be rugged with the javelin on the '40 track team.

Now that Christmas vacation is over, the entire chapter has settled down and is really "hitting the books" with high expectations of again leading the campus in scholarship.

QUENTIN COVERT

Beta Eta—Minnesota

BETA ETA's new school year started October 2, with all but one graduating senior returning to the chapter. Several pledges dropped from school, but these were more than replaced by new out of town pledges.

Our first major activity was Homecoming, October 21. Although we make it a practice to hold open house for Deltas and their friends after every home football game, this one was the tops for the series. Our chapter had an added interest in the outcome of the game, as we had wagered a skin with Beta Phi (Ohio State) on the outcome. Although the Buckeyes were victorious 23-20, a most enjoyable week-end was had by our chapter in particular, and the whole campus in general. We were also glad to welcome several Ohio State Deltas.

Several of our boys went down to Iowa for the Minnesota game there, and reported a fine time. That is one of the advantages of being a Delt, no matter what chapter you visit, you are entertained like a king.

The Minnesota campus experienced for the first time a new policy in rushing. Previously, we have had rushing deferred until the first week of winter quarter but this year freshmen were allowed to attend informal open houses at the various fraternities starting in the middle of November. This was to acquaint the men with fraternities at Minnesota. Pledging, as usual, took place the first week of winter quarter, beginning January 4. While we pledged seven men, we feel that until rushing is done the first week of fall quarter, the fraternities will not profit. Too many good men get tied up with rooming house and dormitory contracts, thus cutting down the number of men available.

Chapter participation in school activities was widely diversified. Otto Silha was and is managing editor of the school paper The Minnesota Daily, and was chairman of Freshman Week. Jim Peters and Gus Gushard are members of the Pershing Rifles, and Jerry Kolander won his numerals in football. Elmo Mattox was a co-chairman on a Freshman Week committee, and Jack Conway worked on a Foundation Ball committee. Burke Martz and Louis Gasink are probable chairmen of Engineer's Day committees. All in all we had six men on Freshman Week, and will have three and five, respectively, on Snow Week and Engineer's Day committees.

In closing, Beta Eta wants to wish all other Delt chapters a most successful 1940.

FREDERIC J. SOUBA

Beta Theta—Sewanee

BETA THETA returned to the mountain for Rush Week with a newly painted and repaired house. New furniture, lamps, and records followed in short order and the prospects of new men looked good.

When all the smoke had cleared away we had eleven new men. Our congratulations to pledge captain Hale for a swell job. A pledge dance was one of the features of Rush Week and Beta Theta upheld its old tradition of success in the social line.

Many individual honors have come our way since the beginning of the year. President Albert Dade was elected president of the student body and to Omicron Delta Kappa. Woodie Emerson and Al were elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Hap Hale and Dade were elected to Blue Key. In the junior class elections to committees the Deltas took all three positions: David Dyer was elected to the activities fee committee, Brother Hale was elected to the executive committee of the Order of Gownsmen, and Bill Asger was elected to the publications committee. Hale was also elected to Pi Gamma Mu and Asger to Sopherim. Pledge Marx was appointed freshman cheerleader.

Beta Theta finished in the first division in interfraternity football. Captain Meleny turned out a fine team that scored several surprising upsets. Basketball has not started but with all the old team returning from last year and the addition of several new men, the future looks good. New uniforms were bought for the team and under coach Crumbaker we should go places. In the University sports Dan Cotter was outstanding at left tackle, making honorable mention in the Southeastern Conference and receiving his second letter in varsity football.

From all indications 1940 should be a great year for Beta Theta.

BILL ASGER

Beta Iota—Virginia

DUE TO A newly installed system at Virginia, Beta Iota now begins its rushing after New Year celebrations and at present is reviewing a fine group of rushees, thanks to Tommy Craven. Beta Iota found itself after the New Year with few regrets of the holidays for we were lucky in losing but one man due to sickness.

For a review of the past three months we can first say that in the interfraternity competition we rank in the upper third of the thirty-odd houses. We placed teams in football, volleyball, and ping-pong. In the first we came out well, being in the near-top group which helped to overlook the outcome of the other two weaker sports. Boxing begins shortly and we shall be well represented. We owe many thanks for the fine team to the athletic director of our house, Crit Richardson.

Outside activities in the last three months were numerous varied. The two honorary societies, Lambda Pi and Skull and Keys, took in Emmette Gatewood and Bill Kimmel, respectively. Jim Camp is a boxing adjunct while Fontaine Maury pledged Trigon. Scarab claims Winthrop Jones and Thomas Craven while Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity now has two more Deltas in Norman Hall and Dana Mitchell. George Peek and Linsey Cowen made the Dean's List with 92 and 93, respectively, with Alpha Kappa Psi pledging the former. In representation we have Bill Allen on College Topics, Emmette Gatewood on the interfraternity council, George Peek on Corks and Curls, while in the college yearly show, Punch and Julep Club, we have Winthrop Jones and Emmette Gatewood. The House is becoming air minded with Jones, Gatewood, and George Stallings already dodging clouds. We close extending you an invitation to visit us "down where the South begins."

THE CAVALIER

Beta Kappa—Colorado

BETA KAPPA has started what we members hope is a new regime. And inaugurating this quest was the election of President Dave Atkinson and Vice-President Larry Prouty by a chapter of willing workers.

After a good summer here in the Rockies and one swell time at the Karnea the old chapter sprang into life. Twenty-four of the finest first-year men pledged Delt. From this group many were outstanding even above the others. Bill Wehrli was freshman Prom Chairman and Lee Kindal was his assistant. Ralph Hill and Dale Moynihan were numeral winners. Bud Coburn and Bill Carroll are candid photographers for the Coloradan.

This pledge activity seemed to stimulate the active chapter as Larry Prouty became University dance commissioner; Berlin Boyd wrote the script and handled the publicity for the College musical The Rhythm Circus and was pledged to engineering honoraries Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau, and Pi Mu Epsilon. Not hesitating here, seven members of Beta Kappa—Stasica, Barris, Lochard, Jacobson, Quarenberg, Thompson, and Oliver won varsity letters on the Big Seven championship team. Stasica was named All-Conference half-back; Thompson, center; Oliver, tackle; and Quarenberg, end, were placed on the second team. Even with these boys out, Beta Kappa won the intramural volleyball title and finished near the top in touch-ball.

Other achievements were Bob Maul's wrestling; Dave and Jim Atkinson, and Don Barris gaining leading parts in The Rhythm Circus, and Bob Boatwright's playing guard for Colorado's Barnstorming Buffs, who played in Madison Square Garden in December.

Our winter intramural plans are forming rapidly and everything points to a good year. Now with all the enthusiasm over the scholarship improvement, Beta Kappa should go to town.

Here goes 1940—may he treat you kindly.

RAY THOMPSON

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

BETA LAMBDA began another banner year by establishing a high set of standards and carrying them out by active participation in the campus activities during the first semester.

The season began with the pledging of eleven men who have already proven their capability of carrying on the spirit of $\Delta T \Delta$ in the future. Three were awarded their numerals in fall sports and the whole pledge class has shown great interest in varied extracurricular activities.

Highest honors came with the election of three men, Harry Gunnison, Bob Ulmer, and Walt Vogelsberg, to Cyanide, junior activity society. "Dukes" Wooters was elected to the club last spring and has since been promoted to the office of vice-president. These four members constitute a good percentage of the twenty in the club. Charlie Griffiths was recently elected to O. D. K., making the third active Delt in the Lehigh circle.

The fall sports program brought several Deltas to the limelight. Charlie Griffiths, three letterman, distinguished himself as quarterback on the varsity lineup. "Whitey" Elmer gave a star performance in cross-country as the squad's captain with "Dukes" Wooters also on the squad. The varsity basketball team had Charlie Griffiths as captain, and Bernie Briody also on the first team. Delta Tau Delta has started to get a hand in the managerial staffs of these teams with Wilkes McClave in competition for football manager, Bob Marshall for cross-country manager, and Al Britton competing for basketball manager.

Turning to another form of campus activity we find many Deltas in various extracurricular activities. Four men have been recently appointed to the staff of the Lehigh Review: Walt Vogelsberg, assistant editor; Jim Gordon, national advertising manager; Bob Ulmer, advertising; and "Dukes" Wooters, financial manager. Five Deltas are active members of Mustard and Cheese, the dramatic club: Harry Gunnison, "Whitey" Elmer, Budd Heisler, with Walt Vogelsberg and "Dukes" Wooters holding offices. Harry Gunnison carried a leading role in Dead End, the club's latest production.

Walt Vogelsberg was lately initiated into Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering honorary, and Bob Ulmer to Pi Delta Epsilon and Alpha Kappa Psi honoraries. Each of the last two societies have two offices held by Delt men.

We feel that although we have taken great strides in activities this first semester, there still exists that undying spirit to keep Beta Lambda on top at Lehigh.

ROBERT M. ULMER

Beta Mu—Tufts

BETA MU started the year with a successful rush week, pledging seventeen fellows. The campus was very active, and our nautical dance was by far the most popular event of the entire college rush program. We also held a cook-out, bowling party, movie party, smoker and entertainment, and a "vic" party. Several of the alumni came to the Shelter to aid us, and much thanks is due to them and our adviser, Joe Reynolds, for their great assistance.

Our alumni smoker and entertainment took place November 18. This was very well attended by both actives and alumni, and proved a most interesting affair.

We held our annual Pledge Formal at the Shelter, December 8. All the fellows came to the dance, and the dance, favors, and programs were excellent, thanks to Brother Gifford and his social committee.

This was followed by our first initiation of the year, December 11.

Our next affair was a Christmas party for needy children. We entertained fifteen needy boys 10 to 12 years old, with a banquet and Christmas tree. Each fellow of the chapter contributed two presents, which were presented to the youngsters after supper. This proved to be one of our most enjoyable events of the year.

Two days later we participated in Tufts' first community sing. On this occasion, each of the fraternities and sororities sent a singing group of fifteen to twenty-five members to compete for honors. Beta Mu was the only fraternity to place in the finals, and then lost by a small margin to the Chi Omega sorority. After the sing, we held a party for the Chi Omegas, which proved to be one of our best parties to date.

With the end of Christmas vacation, we are preparing for mid-years. So far this year the chapter has maintained a scholastic average well above the college average, with Nelson Fontneau leading the chapter, and we are looking forward to a bigger and better year in scholarship.

Intramural sports are keeping many of the fellows busy, and they are doing swell work. Beta Mu won the bowling tournament, dropping only 2 points in the entire tournament. We have also won all our basketball and squash matches to date. At present, however, the outlook is rather dark, for three of the basketball players returned from Christmas vacation with injured knees, caused by various "upsets" while skiing.

Despite these unfortunate events Beta Mu is confident that it will remain in the lead, not only in athletics, but in scholarship as well, and is looking forward to one of its greatest years.

THEODORE H. BEERS

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

HOLDING our annual Roller Skating Party soon after school opened, we started our season off with a bang. A highly successful affair, it for once brought most of the house down to their knees for a reason other than studies. Just before the Christmas vacation, we held our annual stag Christmas party. Drinking cider, the brothers suffered through a play produced by the pledges, and then received presents—each, by house tradition, accompanied by a poem, usually satirizing their peculiar traits, or a crinkled fender. The pledges really did a good job, much as we avoid admitting it. The last social blow-off was a New Year's Eve party, held on Long Island at the president's home, that proved a great success—so much so that it may become an annual custom.

Social activities are not everything at this school though, and the dinner table has from time to time reverberated with discussions of the latest laboratory technique or the latest problem in 8.03. In fact, it got so bad one week that heavy betting took place on whether or not an angle could be trisected with a compass and ruler alone—opinions of other chapters will not be welcomed. Activities have kept many of the house busy, and with finals but two weeks away, speculation as to marks is rife, and more and more homework is done each day.

HAROLD M. REED

Beta Xi—Tulane

BETA XI looks like it's going places this year with greater spirit than ever. Again we were first on the Tulane campus, pledging twenty-nine new men at the beginning of the year. We are proud of our new pledges—may they be as good an influence on the older members as we hope to be on them, and may our chapter become better because of them.

The house was partially renovated during the past summer with the aid of our faithful alumni chapter and the Mothers' Club. These two organizations, by the way, are active in every respect. The alumni chapter, headed by Eugene M. McCarroll, Hugh Brister, and Allain C. Andry, Jr., hold luncheons every Tuesday at Kolb's Restaurant. The Mothers' Club, led by Mrs. Peter Torre, Mrs. Roy Bartlett, and Mrs. George Schneider, have their meetings each month along with bridge parties and book readings throughout the year.

The social activities started this year with our big opening formal

WALTER J. VERLANDER

Beta Omicron—Cornell

THIS LOOKS like a very prosperous year with its large and exceedingly fine freshman class. Besides being the largest class, it is the best I have seen since I have been here, and I am sure we will initiate most of them in February. Many of our pledges are in such activities as the college paper, football, and swimming. Our outstanding active members are W. Dean Wallace, manager of varsity football; Joe Griesedieck, manager of freshman baseball; and Paul Simmons, assistant manager of wrestling.

We extend to all of you an invitation to drop by and see us.

JOHN H. CAPERTON

Beta Pi—Northwestern

DESPITE everybody's troubles and worries for the future, college is still college in this country at least, and after an eventful year here in Beta Pi at Northwestern we have every reason to start this year optimistically and enthusiastically.

From the point of view of sports we have had more than our share of successes this season. Johnnie Haman, '40, Northwestern's sixty minute center, was recently elected to numerous All-American selections and played in the East-West Game held in San Francisco New Year's Day. At the annual football banquet Haman was named Northwestern's most valuable and Dick Richards, '41, quarterback and straight-"A" student was elected next season's captain. At present Chuck Melchior, '40, veteran hardwood forward, is seeing a lot of action and should have a fine season.

Academically, we are looking ahead. Northwestern is now better able than ever before to offer an education and we hope we are aware of this opportunity. During the past year over ten million dollars were donated to the University. Over $500,000 is being used to construct a new student union which will be finished some time in the spring. At present work has just been begun on the new seven million dollar technical school which is probably the most significant event in Northwestern's history since its beginning. Patten Gym will be torn down to make room for the technical building and a new gym will be constructed on what is now Roycemore Field.

Less momentous but no less important are Martha and Harry Semja who have taken over the kitchen assignment. If it's the fear of fraternity food and its effect on the aging gastric system that is keeping alums away take it from us the coast is clear to hurry back.

We're giving three cheers to the house fund committee who must have spent the summer planning a very pleasant surprise. When we returned to school the showers had been replaced with better showers, of course, the dining room refurnished, and the living and card rooms redecorated.

Evanston has been chosen as the site for the Western Division Conference to be held the first of March. Jack Crist, chapter president, and Charles Hallett, social chairman, are making preparations for this meeting and we all hope that we can make the delegates and anyone else who can make the trip enjoy their visit with us.

BOB PERRY

Beta Rho—Stanford

THE PAST year, 1939, was one of the most successful years in Beta Rho's history in regard to participation in athletics, school activities, and scholarship.

Thor Peterson and Dean Burford were prominent members of the football squad. Clyde Jeffrey, George Rockwell, Russ Wulff, Ray Brown, and Walt McKenzie made varsity letters in track. Clyde has been elected to captain this year's track team. Bob Plate was captain of the water polo team and Ken Cuthbertson was captain of the soccer team. George Dole and Rudy Munzer also made varsity letters in soccer. John Wilson received the Gene Tunney award in boxing and was school champion in his class. Guy Showley was captain of last year's frosh golf squad and is a strong contender for a varsity position in 1940. Ed Johnson, Joe Messina, and Bob Scharbach made their freshman numerals in basketball.

Lead by student body president Ken Cuthbertson, Beta Rho was the leading group on the campus in school activities during 1939. "Jim Farley" Berger, Bob Beckham, and Bob Anderson likewise were active in campus politics. By "John Barrymore" Carlson was the campus matinee idol and star of numerous dramatic productions in 1939.

Beta Rho was proud to have raised her scholarship rating to third among the twenty-four fraternities on the campus in 1939.

TED CHESTER

Beta Tau—Nebraska

A NEW location in the heart of the campus and a renewed interest of the alumni in the active chapter helped to enable the Nebraska Delts to start the year out right. Alumni support came in the form of a rush picnic and other aids which helped Beta Tau considerably.

We are also indeed grateful to the Delta Alliance, an organization formed by wives of the alumni. The Alliance has been giving Sunday evening buffet suppers for Delts and their dates every six weeks. In addition, its members have been helping make the Shelter more like home—with curtains, lamps, furniture, and such.

In campus activities this year, we have a member of Corn Cobs, a varsity cheerleader, a member of University Players, the president of the Y. M. C. A., and members of the freshman football and basketball squads. And we can't forget that it was a Delt pledge who scored the winning touchdown against Minnesota.

The squabs, ten in number, have been taking a hand in chapter functions. They are sponsoring alumni smokers which are held at the Shelter occasionally. Barney Buell and Max Whittaker left the ranks of the pledges when they were initiated November 12.

Beta Tau ranks among the leaders in intramural athletics this year. The tennis team captured second place honors, and both the touch football and volleyball teams finished in the money. Prospects for winning the basketball crown are brighter than they have been for several years.

Latest feather in Beta Tau's cap is the winter formal dance given January 5, at the Hotel Lincoln.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

WITH FINALS just around the corner, Beta Upsilon looks back over one of the most successful semesters in history.

Rush week brought a total of thirteen pledges which filled the house to capacity. The total enrollment was brought up to fifty-five with the return of several actives, who weren't in school last year. Of this group are Bill Moody and Len Middleton, who will help to shove the Deltas near the top in intramural athletics. At the conclusion of the winter sports, we stand third of the sixty fraternities. The majority of our points were scored in baseball, fall track, soccer and water polo. As the season for basketball and volleyball is near at hand, we hope to better our position. Outstanding honors were given to George Caragher and John Giachetto as they were picked on the all-star baseball team.

Other campus activities that the Deltas ranked high in were the election of Wally Jenkins as vice-president of the junior class and Dean Wessell as president of the Skull and Crescent, sophomore honorary. The number in the advanced military corps was brought up to ten when Ed Noha, Ted Du Bois, Ted Myron, pledges Buzz Johnson and John Whitehead were admitted.

The main social events of the years were the hay rack ride in October and the Christmas Pledge Dance, December 16. The dance under the able direction of Ogden Phipps and Bill Rhodes featured the music of Vernon Peak. Major C. B. Cole, Delt from California, was chaperon and everybody went home for Christmas with pleasant memories of this successful dance.

The latest House activity to receive widespread support is the building up of our house library. During the past six months under the able guidance of President Cramer, we have purchased over sixty best sellers. These combined with the books received from the alumni are helping to establish our library as tops on the campus.

The next meeting brings about a change in the officers; those who are to be replaced are Dan McWethy, the treasurer, and Peter Wiley, the secretary, who have guided us for the past year. Other elections are to be held the beginning of the second semester.

Good luck to all.

JAMES PETER WILEY

Beta Phi—Ohio State

WE HAVE been asked to give a cross section of the part which Beta Phi of $\Delta T \Delta$ has played in this year's campus life here at Ohio State.

We are proud to report our accomplishments and to say that we have had an important hand in everything which goes on here as can be seen.

Johnny Millar ended four years as cheerleader by being senior manager of our football block cheering section.

Harry Calavan was appointed justice of the student court by action of the student senate. He was also chairman of Ohio State's Greek Week banquet at which some 1,500 fraternity men were present and at which Tom Herbert, attorney general of the state of Ohio, and a Delt, was principal speaker. Harry is also a member of Bucket and Dipper, junior men's honorary, and of Ohio Stater's Incorporated.

Fritz Howard, varsity guard, earned his letter this year as a sophomore while Andy Rosen, varsity tackle, received his letter as a junior.

Amon "Lefty" Gross is business manager of the Lantern, the school's daily newspaper, and is also a member of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary and of Ohio Stater's Incorporated. He was elected to Sphinx, men's senior honorary.

Ernie Eynon, who received his numerals in freshman tennis last year, is a good bet for the varsity team.

Don Wolpert is business manager of the Sundial, Ohio State's humor magazine; treasurer of the senior class; social chairman of the Y. M. C. A.; a member of Ohio Staters Incorporated and of Scarlet Mask.

We have six members in Ohio Stater's Incorporated, men's service honorary, which is a greater number than any other fraternity on the campus.

In sports, our touch football team won the intramural class A finals and was a runner up for the University championship. Doug Weaver was named as All-University end.

We predict a winning basketball team this year as all our last year's players are back and we have a welcome addition of some new players.

Our pledges are going places on the campus in sports and other activities too numerous to list individually. However, we will mention that our four freshman football players all received their numerals this season, and Ed Moeller, who received his numerals last year in basketball, is playing on the varsity team at present.

In intramurals our pledge teams have been doing well, winning the flight championship in basketball and going to the finals in touch football.

The pledge basketball team also looks good, averaging at least 6 feet, and five of them high school stars.

We play host to the Northern Division Conference, February 22 to 24, and wish to extend a hearty welcome to all Delts.

DONALD J. WOLPERT

Beta Chi—Brown

BETA CHI has been active this year in strengthening the ties between the alumni and the undergraduate chapters. A smoker was held November 4 to further this idea. Fifty alumni were present and enjoyed a memorable day at the Shelter. Already plans have been made to have another get together in the spring.

The 1939 rushing season, under the guidance of Bill Braman, has closed and Beta Chi pledged an excellent delegation. During the rushing season an outdoor party was held for the prospective pledges. Entertainment included skeet shooting, horseshoes, football, and target shooting, which was topped off by an excellent steak dinner.

The winter sports season is under way at Brown and we are well represented in track, basketball, swimming, and fencing.

In intramural activity, Beta Chi is continuing the championship pace of last year in the handball competitions. Cliff Lathrop, college singles champion, is undefeated as is the doubles team of Braman and Windle. Braman was last year's co-champion in this event. As for the intramural basketball squad, the Beta Chi aggregation has emerged victorious in all contests to date. We have high hopes for a successful season in swimming and track in which competition is just getting under way.

The fall social season was topped off just before Christmas with the Interfraternity Governing Board Ball at the Biltmore with Jimmy Dorsey's Orchestra which was followed by a round of house parties during the remainder of the week-end. The Delts held a most successful one that was very well attended.

The Delta Shelter is now resplendent in her latest colors of grey and cream. This is the last essential major innovation necessary to put the Shelter in excellent condition.

With the addition of the new men to the returning contingent, the chapter looks forward to a happy and prosperous year.

JAMES M. CARMARK

Beta Psi—Wabash

THE FALL semester of 1939-40 has been a particularly successful one for Beta Psi.

School opened with Beta Psi in possession of the scholarship trophy for the third consecutive time.

However, it was not just in scholarship that the chapter excelled. Captained by Newell VanSickle, the Delt intramural football squad drove to a school championship. In an interschool tussle Beta Psi easily defeated Beta Beta of DePauw. During this time pledge Layton Kelly had earned a position on the first string of the varsity football squad, while Larry Ogle was reserve center.

Homecoming found members of the Homecoming committee working on the decorations and novel sound effects for more than a week in advance of the event. The result was that the decorations cup came to rest in Delta Shelter for the second consecutive year.

Beta Psi has become quite socially minded this year, and, in spite of the decided lack of femininity in Crawfordsville, two successful dances have been given this fall. The pledge dance, given at the end of September, was in honor of the pledges, and a post-holiday dance was given with the Beta Theta Pi chapter on January 6.

Beta Psi entered the field of the fine arts this fall with pledge John Buzzard capturing a role in the school dramatic society's production Brother Rat. Herb Ketcham was elected to the glee club, and Lloyd Hamilton was elected program chairman of the French club.

The members of Beta Psi have been eating very well this past fall. The new cook Mrs. Leggo has been turning out delectable dishes all semester. Her turkey dinners at Thanksgiving and Christmas were true masterpieces of a culinary artist.

WOODWARD ROMINE

Beta Omega—California

IN THE midst of a long vacation, it's a bit hard to recall everything that happened around the Beta Omega during the busy fall semester. Perhaps the big news of the semester was our team reaching the finals of the interfraternity touch football league. The lads were finally defeated by the Sigma Nu's in two hot games. Beta Omegas really missed the support of "Chuck" McNeit who was out on account of a head injury received in an earlier game. Dick Vielle was missing on account of basketball practice. Dick, incidentally, is one of the two sophomores remaining on the first string of the hoop squad. "Chuck" Nicolls was pretty much handicapped in the game because of a really bad fall earlier in the semester.

Bruce Hawley is thoroughly amazing his instructors in the government flight training program. His first lesson was actually his first time off the ground and he was expected to be nervous. Not Bruce. However, as they climbed into the plane he calmly suggested, "Well, let's go shoot a few ducks." The instructor is still trying to think up an answer.

This year's formal was held at the Olympic Club at Lakeside. We departed from tradition a bit in having it across the bay, but the location more than made up for the inconvenience. We had an exceptionally good alumni turnout and were also pleased to see some of the Beta Rho boys up there from the Stanford farm. Paul Schacht, the house manager, was there with the usual Alpha Phi, the only difference being that she is now sporting a sister pin.

Bob Hall and Prexy Ed "Shorty" Petersen both entered Skull and Keys, junior and senior honorary, during the fall and it comes to us from sources usually considered reliable that both their Delta Gamma playmates will be wearing sister pins in the very near future.

For years we've been talking about a barbecue pit. At last it is a reality. With the impetus of Bill Brians, the canyon behind the Shelter has been cleared and now forms a good picnic ground, complete with barbecue pit, benches and other conveniences.

DENNY WHITNEY

Gamma Beta—Armour

AS THE first semester of the 1939-40 college year draws to a close, Gamma Beta once again enjoys the feeling of security due to a job well done. The house is filled to capacity and a very successful social and athletic season is behind us, and judging from the activity and enthusiasm of the actives and pledges alike the next semester will be even better.

The first activity of the year was rush week, which last year was moved up to the week before the actual start of school, and we are very proud to announce the pledging of one of the finest pledge classes in the history of the chapter. As in past years summer rushing and the help of the Chicago Alumni Chapter proved invaluable.

Immediately after the start of the school term interfraternity competition was renewed. In the touch-ball tourney $\Delta T \Delta$ was second, suffering their first defeat in the history of the tournament in the closest game in the history of the tournament. In the ping-pong tournament we were eliminated in three close matches by the eventual winner of the cup. After finishing second for several years in the basketball competition we are looking forward to seeing the basketball cup on the mantle early next semester.

The boys from the Shelter are again prominent in school activities. Scherer is captain of the varsity basketball team and pledges Esterle, Hoover, and Carmody are holding down positions on the freshman squad. Sunde and Fox are prominent members of the golf team and Talcott is still the number one breaststroker of the swimming team. Pledge Creagan is trying for his letter on the track team.

Ransel is associate editor of the Cycle, the annual, and Knief is fraternity editor of the Armour Tech News. Duncan has just been pledged to Gamma Theta, dramatic honorary, as a fitting conclusion to his stellar performance as Billy Randolph in the production Brother Bat. Haubert and pledge Rice are members of the glee club's double octet, and Wessels and Dunworth are also members of the glee club.

The alumni have organized a "First Friday of Every Month Club." They all gather at the Shelter on this day and have a good old-fashioned Delt evening. If there are any alumni who have not been notified they know they are welcome, and the active chapter still holds their meetings on Tuesday night and all the alumni are still mighty welcome.

CARL H. SPARENBERG

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

FOLLOWING one of the most successful years in Gamma Gamma's history here at Dartmouth, the "group" reassembled in Hanover late in September determined to engineer a repeat. And with Phil McCoy ably wielding the gavel the situation here at the half-way mark looks promising.

Rushing started immediately with the opening of college. Two weeks later sixteen new men had pledged loyalty to $\Delta T \Delta$ and were formally initiated November 14. Two new brothers have already substantiated our pride in the new delegation—Ed Self by his appointment to the top college managerial post and Gus Newell by gaining the basketball managership.

In the sports program, we stayed to the semi-finals in fraternity football and tennis doubles. Individually, Lynn Thompson annexed the college open boxing title in the 165-pound class, and Nat Sample and Karl de Schweinitz played outstanding ball for the soccer club. At present, with winter activities still in the fire, the prospects of the ace bowling team look brightest.

This fall, more than ever, the house has been a gathering place for Delts far and near. First of all, Johnnie Fisher dropped in for several days in October. Five '39 alumni made a week-end of it November 11, and for house parties the next week several more old grads came up. The fall house party was truly great, even though the Cornell Delts did go home with the spoils.

Winter Carnival is the next big item and the game room is being enlarged and redecorated in preparation. We're out to recapture the fraternity ice sculpture cup, and another Delt, Nat Sample, is executing the central campus ice figure again this year. These signs point to another great Delt party and all signs point to a continuation of Gamma Gamma's successes of the past semester.

W. G. CLEAVES

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

WITH PLEDGING gone and nearly forgotten, the pledges of Gamma Delta have settled down to making themselves known on the campus through extracurricular activities. This year's crop of pledges is of a more diversified line of talent than any class in many years.

This is evidenced in the fact that seventeen of the pledges are already located in some campus activity. Harry Adams from Charleston is head freshman cheerleader and is on the business staff of the Monticola, yearbook. Russel Bolton is playing varsity basketball and working on the student daily, The Daily Athenaeum. Redmond Burke and George Alderson are singing in the Men's Glee Club. George Davis is on the freshman wrestling team. Bob Clem, all-state basketball player while in high school, is working with the plebe basketball team. Harold Cutler is scrapping for the 115-pound position on the freshman boxing team, and Howard Frazer is almost ready to solo in his C. A. A. training.

Jack McAndrews is a candidate for basketball manager. Homer Goff is a candidate for boxing manager and is also on the business staff of the yearbook. Gard Huff is out for the plebe basketball team. Don McCann, varsity halfback, was heralded, during the past season, as the "surprise package" by the sports writers throughout the state. Jim McCoy is a candidate for football manager. Jim Townsend (no relation to the California Townsends) is in the C. A. A. flying corps. Gene Tudor, from Montcoal, is touted as the best boxing prospect in the 145-pound class that the University has ever had. Harry Bell is connected with the athletic department of the University. Dick McElwee from Marlinton, is president of the freshman class and triple-threat halfback for the freshman football team. Oliver Burgess, the latest addition to the pledge class, is manager of the varsity baseball team.

January 6, the pledge class held their annual hobo dance. The actives, pledges and dates dressed in the typical tramp manner and had an evening's entertainment dancing. Programs with the rules and regulations of the hobo were issued.

Progress is also being made on the active "front." Jim McCartney, who is expected to be president of the student body next year, and Wayne Campbell, ex-football manager, were recently initiated into Fi Bater Capper. Jim is also on the varsity basketball squad. Bill Witt, number two man on the varsity golf team, was recently initiated into Tau Beta Pi. Bill Mucklow has made a berth for himself on the varsity boxing team. He fights in the 155-pound class, and Parks Butler, sports editor of the campus daily, has been promoted to news editor.

Immediately following the regular schedule of intramural touch football, the preps organized a touch football team and challenged all comers. All fraternities and one independent outfit accepted the challenge, however, after the pledge team waded through five opponents, defeating them by decisive scores, forfeits from the other aggregations came in and Gamma Delta was another victor.

Gamma Delta placed third in a recent intramural standing. They were a close second throughout the speedball and touch football season but failed to click in badminton, handball and volleyball. Basketball practice has just started and the Fraternity has more than four teams practicing twice a week. If there is strength in numbers, the Delts are a sure winner on the W. V. U. campus.

J. WILLIAM PARKER

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

THE 1939-40 school year is proving to be another big year for the Wesleyan Delts. Bob Murray, captain and star guard, led the football team through its most successful season in recent years. He was also picked as top guard in the "Little Three." Tom Meeker was elected to the assistant managership of the football team for 1940. The House won the school touch football championship. Our team was unbeaten, untied, and unscored on.

Bill Ellis in cross-country and Ted Nelson in soccer were other Delts outstanding in athletics during the past season. Don Leinbach was one of the leading frosh soccer men and Dave Daniels won the fall golf tournament.

Many Delts are participating at the present time in all winter athletics, varsity and freshman. Basketball: Sinnamon, G. Derbyshire, H. Derbyshire, and Zaiser (varsity), and Pfeiffer (freshman). Swimming: Gibb, Wade, Lewis, Nelson, and Elliott (varsity), and Crowell and Allison (freshman). Wrestling: D. Brown and Ryan. Track: Neuffer. Squash: Wilson, Marsh, and Rogge. Fencing: Bauer.

Other activities find Delts occupying prominent positions. Tom Meeker was the Wesleyan delegate at the formation of the American Independence League, and was elected to the steering committee and also to the chairmanship of the division of propaganda analysis and research. Fred Rogge was the Wesleyan representative at the recent National Interfraternity Conference held in New York.

Delts active on the various publication boards have been mentioned in other issues and will not be repeated here as there will be the election of new members in the near future. However, it can be said that we expect to maintain our present standing in this field.

Bob Stuart and Bill Marsh are very active in WES, Wesleyan's newly formed radio station. Prom committeemen include Bill Bauer and Bill Schroder. Both of these men are also members of the Cardinal Key, the Junior Class Honor Society, and Schroder is president of this organization.

Our fine pledge group is taking every opportunity to enter into all house activities and should prove to be an asset to $\Delta T \Delta$.

BILL ELLIOTT, JR.

Gamma Eta—

George Washington

GAMMA ETA was honored with a visit from our national president, Paul G. Hoffman, Monday, November 20, when he was in Washington to speak before the Washington Board of Trade on traffic safety.

A luncheon at the Army and Navy Club was given in his honor November 20, by alumni and Gamma Eta chapter. A large group attended, including President I. B. McDaniel of the Southern Division and vice-president N. B. Ames, who is also adviser of Gamma Eta.

The winter season's social calendar was highlighted by the annual Delt Christmas party December 20, at the new chapter house at which time toys were presented to the guests amid colorful holiday decorations.

New Year's Eve saw a gay gathering who welcomed 1940 with a formal dance at the chapter house.

Plans are being formulated for a Founders Day Banquet March 4, and with the opening of the second semester the Delts here look forward in anticipation of the annual Tacky Party and other spring activities which include an outing on beautiful Skyline Drive in Virginia. Also, prominent on the spring schedule is a formal dance to be held on February 10.

O. PRICE BOBBITT

Gamma Theta—Baker

GAMMA THETA entered the scholastic year with an unusual amount of zest and enthusiasm. Rush week activities were spirited and showed exceptional results. When the smoke cleared and the last button was hung, rush captain Wait proudly exhibited the new pledge class which consisted of nineteen shining neophytes.

Soon after the ordeals of rush week, there came the biggest task of the year, that of building the fiftieth annual Chicken Fry. Ralph Beach was placed in charge of the general construction and for weeks the Shelter was a scene of headaches, backaches and dull axes. After a month of lumberjack labor, the pyre was completed, baskets were filled, dates made and broken, and the sleeping were left without a blanket. This year we entertained a group of four hundred alumni. Large numbers from Gamma Tau and Gamma Chi added to the festive spirit. Truly, this year's Chicken Fry was the climax to the forty-nine which preceded it. A bouquet to Beach and Prexy "Fiftieth Anniversary" Porter.

Fall sports found Delts in many important positions. On the football squad we were represented by Cliff "Too-Too" Long, Earl Miller, Karl Kramer, Brick Starmer, and Don Roberds. In basketball we have John Stanley Zabel, Troy Gordon, and Karl Kramer.

In Baker University's annual Fun-Fest, the Delts walked home with a new cup to be placed beside the Fun-Fest cup which became the permanent property of the House two years ago when it was won for the third consecutive time.

At present the Delt interfraternity basketball team is leading the league. The squad which has been built around the three members of last year's championship team consists of Porter, Miller, Wait, Strickler, Long, Seely, and Baker. Undeclared, this team is highly favored to win the first semester bracket without a play-off.

DWIGHT SEELY

Gamma Iota—Texas

"HOME SWEET HOME"—in the midst of the social, political, scholastic, and athletic activities of a great University, the topic that is foremost in the mind of every Texas Delt is a new Delta Shelter.

After years of planning and hoping, the time has almost come for the construction of this new home for Gamma Iota. A good lot has been purchased and paid for, a house corporation has been functioning for over a year, permission and aid from Texas alumni and from the Arch Chapter has been obtained, and architects have been employed.

By rush week in September $\Delta T \Delta$ at Texas should be entertaining prospective pledges in the newest fraternity house on the Texas campus.

In spite of the new house plans, however, members and pledges of Gamma Iota haven't forgotten that the ordinary functions of a fraternity must be carried on.

Under the leadership of Thad Grundy as scholastic chairman, a system of study hall has been devised which the chapter hopes will help the national Fraternity maintain its new supremacy in national scholarship.

Gamma Iota's winter formal, given January 5, has again been acclaimed by the student body as the outstanding dance of the semester. Music by Gus Arnheim would alone have been sufficient to make the dance outstanding. But with the pick of U. T.'s four thousand coeds present, a better party could not have been given.

Intramural achievement has not been up to average this year. However, the touch football team reached division finals, and participation in spring intramurals promises to show needed improvement.

In varsity athletics, Gamma Iota is furnishing the University with two swimmers, three tennis players, three football players, one baseball player, two tumblers, and one golfer. Dick Bender, pre-med junior, is an assistant cheerleader this year.

Gamma Iota is having a very successful year to regard to campus organizations—honorary, scholastic, and voluntary. Joe Wilson is president of the University Cowboys, honorary service organization, and five other Delts are members.

In the field of scholastic honors, Al Tatum has recently been elected to Phi Delta Phi, honorary law; Graham Peterson has been initiated into Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geology; and I. E. Clark was recently elected into Sigma Delta Chi, journalism.

Tom Law has been elected to Friars, honorary senior organization which votes into membership each semester the four most outstanding seniors on the campus. Joe Wilson is also a Friar.

Nine members of Gamma Iota belong to Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman fraternity, and one Delt is president of the organization while another is historian. Two Delts, Evans Munroe and Tom Law, have recently been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Tom is also president of Pi Sigma Alpha.

Several Delts work on University publications, while Stanley Jung is editor of the honoraries section of the 1940 Cactus, University year-book.

Jimmy Vaughan was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the freshman law class. Two Delts belong to the 200-piece Longhorn band.

Two pledges, Tommy Wilson and Neal King, have been elected vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the Freshman Fellowship Club of the Y. M. C. A. Several Delts serve on the "Y" cabinet, and Tom Law is president of the University Y. M. C. A.

Joe Corbin sings in the University Men's Glee Club, and Tom Law is on the varsity debate squad.

Many minor campus organizations also include Delts in their rolls and officer's lists.

Seven Texans attended the Mile-Hi Karnea. They were Whitfield Collins, Lloyd Birdwell, Dub Singleton, Ross Elliot, Louis Schofield, Charles Keuper, and Louis Hopkins, who is now affiliated with Pi Chapter.

Following a suggestion made at the Karnea, new officers were elected in January this year.

Dub Singleton is the new head of Gamma Iota replacing Whitfield Collins. Dub is well known on the campus because of past political activities and service on the advisory board of the Texas Union.

Lloyd Birdwell, who has done more for the new house cause than any other person, has been re-elected house manager for the third time.

Twenty-four men were pledged in September, and several more will probably be added at the beginning of the second semester in February.

Among alumni visiting in Austin this fall was "Pinky" Higgins, third baseman for the Detroit Tigers, who graduated from Texas in 1930.

Outstanding in every field on the Texas campus, Gamma Iota with its new administration, and the promise of a new house, are going to be impossible to hold down during the rest of this year.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

WITH THE coöperation of the entire active chapter, and of the alumni, the Shelter in A-1 condition, the excellent appearance of the lawn and our new porch furniture, and the aid of our new house mother, Mrs. L. L. Pierson, Gamma Lambda finished rush week in September well ahead of other fraternities on the campus with fourteen pledges.

Mother Pierson has brightened up the house no end and has operated the board department with unprecedented efficiency and what is more we like the food, which is unusual. We were rather proud of ourselves in being the first fraternity at Purdue to have a house mother and more so when we became acquainted with "Mom."

The social functions of Gamma Lambda, because of the planning of social chairman Drever and Mrs. Pierson, have been successful to say the least. The tea we gave to introduce "Mom" to the faculty and campus was a marvel of organization—unusual for a fraternity and a tea at Purdue. Our annual pledge dance in October seemed to please the pledges; we actives liked it, too. Our Christmas dinner-dance was a real party, no less, Drever and the freshmen having done a superlative job of decorating.

We could say we are well represented in activities were I to list only those of prexy Herb Fishburn. His activities include: president of the Student Senate, member of Tau Beta Pi, Iron Key, senior men's honorary, Phi Lambda Upsilon, chemistry honorary fraternity, Gimlet, senior honorary athletic booster, and Catalyst Club, Chemical engineering honorary. We have others, though. Tom Petty is on the junior business staff of the Exponent, student organ, and Wunderlich and Thornton are members of the Glee Club and Men's Choir. Jack Swander is senior baseball manager. Among the sophomores are many promising workers for the Student Union and the Exponent. Outstanding among the sophomores is "Frosty" Sprowl, who has gained a berth at forward on the varsity basketball team. "Frosty" is a "dead-eye" and looked like a veteran in the pre-conference tilts.

In social and campus activities and in internal organization the chapter has an excellent enthusiasm and spirit. We all look forward to another top-flight year for Gamma Lambda.

RICHARD A. WILSON

Gamma Mu—Washington

GAMMA MU got off to a good start this year with twelve new men. Pledges Lindsay and Vinson are candidates for Purple Shield, the under classmen's scholastic honorary. Vinson is the brother of O. Floyd Vinson who was the most outstanding debator that Washington has had in the past decade. Floyd is now attending Harvard Law School.

Brother Morrison, a senior in the school of architecture, is certainly making a name for himself and $\Delta T \Delta$. Fall quarter ended with Morrison at the head of his class with straight-"A." His accumulative grade point for his college career is 3.85, a new high for the architecture school.

Through the valiant efforts of the chapter under the leadership of Ray Rockstrom, Gamma Mu won one of the Philip Morris radios given away on the football forecast series this fall—a welcome addition to the chapter house.

Don Christensen is doing a good job on the campus this year. He is vice-prexy of the A. S. U. W. and rated a place in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

"Sailor" Ford is a bit worried about his coming bouts in which he defends his title as middle-weight boxing champion here on the campus. He has a badly infected hand, but the "Doc" says it will be okeh. However, his competition isn't too tough and hopes are high.

Since Poole finished school last quarter it was necessary to elect a new house prexy and Teller was the lucky man. Along with the new prexy we have a new house mother, Mrs. Johns. The fellows are all fond of her and know that she is going to be "tops."

ROBERT J. DUNNINGTON

Gamma Nu—Maine

It is quite appropriate that the first chapter letter of the scholastic year should be written during the winter season for this is Gamma Nu's period of glory. Bill Bower, chapter president, and a Senior Skull, is captain of the winter sports team, and, with his brother, John Bower, a Sophomore Owl, forms the core around which the winter sports team is built. Bill is State and I. S. U. Intermediate Langlauf champion. Both John and Bill are members of the Pale Blue Key honorary athletic society.

Lyle Butler and Ken Bouchard are members of the track team, while Bill Bower is getting ready to hurl the javelin for the Charles Rice Trophy.

During the past months Gamma Nu has not been marking time scholastically, for our prexy, Bill Bower, has been elected to Tau Beta Pi; and with Cecil Reed he is a member of the A. S. M. E. Ray Valliere was elected to Sigma Mu Sigma, honorary psychology fraternity; and also to the Contributors Club, English departmental honorary society.

Four Delt foresters, John Pratt, Don Moore, Ed Brann, and Bill Dimick, deserted the Shelter for two months' work at forestry camp but they will be back with us in a week or so. Ed Brann left the business managership of the Maine Masque vacant, but another Delt, Tom Smith took over the job as business manager of the dramatic society. At the same time John Tracy became ticket manager for the organization. Ray Valliere, dramatic critic for the Maine Campus, finds life a rather precarious existence with so many Delt members of the Masque.

Ken Bouchard, Gene MacLaughlin, and Al Bouchard are three Delt taking the Civil Aeronautics Authority flying course for a private pilot's license. They will be flying solo by the time this letter reaches print.

Other Gamma Nu Delts in activities are the Day brothers, Richard and Mac, who are members of the University rifle team. Jim Church, Paul Phelan, and Ray Curtis spend their spare time playing with the band.

Will Fenderson is a proctor in one of the freshman dorms this year. Will practically ran the University last summer for he was head proctor, switchboard operator, waiter, janitor, room clerk et al.

At the present time the entire chapter is busy preparing for rushing and we are sure that we will come out with a great pledge class.

C. RAYMOND VALLIERE

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

THE SCHOOL year 1939, was another during which Gamma Xi showed her superiority at the University of Cincinnati. The brothers acquitted themselves well in every department of school and fraternity life.

Brother George Dawson, prexy, has been chosen to serve in the capacity of chairman of the interfraternity dance because of his splendid capacity for handling social functions.

Pledge "Jud" Hall, varsity football end of stellar capacity, has been elected to Ulex, honorary social fraternity.

Brother Robert Toepfer who had one of the highest scholastic averages in the freshman class last year has been duly rewarded by his election into Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshmen. Pledge Charles K. Hofling has also received the Phi Eta Sigma key for exceptional brain work. Incidentally, the chapter as a whole ranked third on the campus in scholarship among the larger fraternities.

Gratifying proof of the wonderful spirit in Gamma Xi and the ability and willingness of all the brothers to pitch in and cooperate to complete successfully any given task was our float entered in the Homecoming Day pageant. It won first prize for being adjudged the "most effective float"—that prize being a handsome trophy to join the others in our trophy case.

Other awards which Gamma Xi has won this year include a loving cup for capping the intramural horseshoe casting championship, thanks especially to Bill Wolf and George Dawson, and an appropriate trophy for enlisting one hundred per cent of our chapter in the Y. M. C. A.

In the Y. M. C. A., we are well represented. Ed Dinkelaker, Joe Downey, and John Klum are on the "Y" cabinet. Walter Ismael is president of the sophomore council and Karl Keck is secretary. Pledges Art Crawley and Bill Stiles are influential members of the freshman cabinet.

Another accomplishment of which we of Gamma Xi feel justly proud is the excellent quality of our singing group. With the aid of Fred Koling, alumnus, as critic, the brothers have really blazed into a glee club par excellence. In an interfraternity singing contest over a local radio station recently our choral group carried away all the honors, hands down! A recording made of the broadcast is most impressive.

Not to be overlooked is a chapter magazine which the brothers have organized with Bart Fisher as editor. The publication is a whiz and is exciting more favorable comment on the campus than the Finnish successors are on the Scandinavian Peninsula.

Our social program reflected the fondness of the brothers to get together and have a blankety-blank blowout of a good time. The season opened with several football hops; there was a rip-roaring old clothes dance, a more elegant Christmas Dance in the tastefully decorated Delta Shelter, following in a few weeks, with a pledge formal long to be remembered. The Delta Tau Dames presented us with a Christmas party and a grand gift of shrubbery.

We have a new treasurer and assistant treasurer in the chapter, and congratulations are well deserved by Brothers Dinkelaker and Jimmie Watson.

Robert P. Fisterer was inducted into the chapter at a special initiation, and the Gamma Xi Delts are proud to welcome him as an active.

During the remainder of the year, we are looking forward to initiating a fine group of pledges, raising our scholastic average, gleanng new offices and activity memberships, and completing a most enjoyable social season, not to mention cinching the interfraternity intramural sports trophy which we have won twice and need to win only once more to keep for good.

KARL GLENN KECK

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

GAMMA PI has been active in the intramural sports program. On the putting green the Delt team composed of Earl Anderson, Bill Coons, Don Frantz, Will Jones, Bill Givens, and Rol Meyer won first place in the competition.

When the dust had cleared from the touch football wars, it was evident that the Delts had come close to winning. We were beaten in the final playoff.

Rol Meyer is still holding down his berth on the varsity track team and Kent Magruder is swinging his mallet at the willow root these days on the polo team.

Two Gamma Pi Delts are zooming around the sky in the C. A. A. aeronautics course: Bill Givens, who has just soloed, and Dan Johnston. John Ledlie has made several trips with the Iowa State Meat Judging team, attending the Kansas City Livestock Show and the International at Chicago.

Gamma Pi has two sets of brothers this year. Bill and Norm Givens, and Sherm and Larry Dickinson. They're all actives except Larry who pledged last fall. We also have five sons of Delts this year, the Dickinson brothers, Bob Fletcher, Dixie Herbert, and Bill Williges.

Of interest to Gamma Pi alumni are the plans which are under way for the new Shelter. All the alumni of Gamma Pi have lived in our present home so this will be our first move.

We have had three alumni committee meetings which were very successful. The plans are going forward with promising speed.

ROBERT FLETCHER

Gamma Rho—Oregon

THIS YEAR, Gamma Rho has started an upward climb. Fall term brought in ten new men over last year's number making a total of twenty-four pledges. All but a few of the boys returned from last year's grind; vice-president Jay Monahan was replaced at the end of the term by Bill Eigner, Karnea delegate and one man who has done a lot for this chapter without recognition. Grades were considerably higher this term over many preceding terms. Hans J. ("Jep") Jepsen must have done some good when he talked to us as the principal speaker at the Homecoming banquet held during Homecoming week-end at the University. President Roy Vernstrom acted as transition speaker, introducing many of the alums such as author Robert Ormond Case and author Ernest Haycox. Tom Zilka, president of Delta Lambda also said a few words. The banquet attendance included alums, actives, and pledges from both the University of Oregon and Oregon State College. Two awards were made during the course of that evening. Norman Foster, former corresponding secretary in the house and head promoter of Homecoming activities on the campus, received the Karl Greve, Gamma Rho '32, Activity Cup, and David Zilka, present corresponding secretary and president of the University of Oregon fencing club, was given the Karl Greve scholarship plaque.

The Delt pledge dance held October 21, was one of the most talked about dances of the term. Thanks to our social committee which includes Bob Hansen and Norman Foster, we had a unique theme—A Night in Wary England. It involved gas mask cartoons containing the girl's corsage, propaganda posters, barricaded and sand-bagged doors and windows, and we even had a black-out!

It seems that the war then was dominant in quite a few things. Part of the Homecoming week-end activities involved the traditional noise parade. Our entry was a gigantic head of Hitler, some fourteen feet in height, with his mouth wide open; we used electric oscillators for the noise. No, we didn't win the prize, but we did attract more attention and comment than any other float in the parade.

Later in the term, there was a good demonstration of the type of fellows we grow here at Gamma Rho. Paul Eckelman, while playing intramural touch football, received a severe knee kick in the side and was taken to the hospital with a ruptured spleen. A delicate operation ensued and the damaged organ was removed. Paul was losing blood rapidly, according to the hospital attendants, and that morning about 3 a. m., the House received a call from the hospital requesting blood donors immediately for a transfusion. Within fifteen minutes everyone in the chapter was down at the hospital, eager to give his blood. And though many of them were scantily dressed, they insisted upon staying there until completely assured that Paul would get enough blood. Earl Maize and President Roy Vernstrom were the only ones selected, but the willingness of every person in the chapter showed the true, unselfish, loyal spirit of the Delts. Thanks to good care and proper rest, Eckelman is back with us this term and feeling fine.

January 14, there will be an initiation for those who made their grades. January 20, our winter formal house dance will be held. If any of you Delts throughout the United States can find time, you have a standing invitation to attend these affairs.

DAVID ZILKA

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

THE 1939 fall rushing season resulted in eleven new pledges for Gamma Sigma. Also, four undergraduates were pledged later in the year and they, along with the others, have become members of the "gang."

There was an excellent turnout for the fall sports program and the result was a second place win for the chapter in speedball. Ed Bretch, "Red Dog" Crunkleton, and Bob Bentley were the standout performers. Things did not fare so well in touch football, the Delt team being eliminated in the third round by a close 7-6 decision, despite the star playing of Prexy Jim Kennedy and pledge Bob Soles.

The Delts seem to be a certainty for the first place cup in table tennis, having won forty-three and lost five at this writing. Ham Hamilton, Harris Hawkins, Jim Kennedy, Bill Kramer, and Dan Cannon make up this excellent team.

The bowling team has only a .500 average for the season, but the Delt volleyball players have won their first three contests. Two wins and one loss form the record for the handball team, T. J. Lewis being practically a one-man team in that sport.

The change in the University's policy did not cut down the Delts' representation on the Pitt football team, for the first team lineup showed Emil Narick at left halfback and Harris Hawkins at center, while Art Corace capably held down a second string guard position. Bob Frost acted as head manager for the University squad. Pledge T. A. Beatty was a member of the freshman cross-country squad, and Bob Schrader has been coming in late for supper each evening due to practice for the 1940 swimming season. Crunkleton is a varsity soccer player.

Because of frequent practice sessions under the tutelage of Glee Club members Dave Buente and Al Young, Gamma Sigma won first place in the interfraternity sing meet. The Delt sing team outclassed the other contestants by a wide margin.

Under the able chairmanship of Jack Stauff, the sophomore hop was a distinct social success and one of the best financial successes in years. The theme of a "Screwball Hop" was developed and carried out through his efforts. Stauff is a member of Druids, sophomore activities fraternity, and also works on the staffs of the Pitt humor magazine and the Pitt yearbook.

Emil Narick is chairman of the Dr. John Bain Sutherland Memorial Committee and also, along with Dave Buente, a member of the student governing assembly. Dan Cannon is a member of Men's Council.

Joe McCormick is comptroller of the Pitt humor magazine and has R. P. Jones under his wing as assistant comptroller. Bob Schrader belongs to both Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, and Scabbard and Blade, honorary military science fraternity.

Gamma Sigma is looking forward to supplementing these achievements with further laurels in 1940 and wishes the best of luck to all other Delt chapters for continued success throughout the year.

DAN CANNON

Gamma Tau—Kansas

AS RUSH WEEK came to a close Gamma Tau lead the campus with twenty-five pledges of top quality.

We again attended Gamma Theta's annual chicken fry for which that chapter is famous.

The Shelter became "Tau Tavern" the night of the fall party in keeping with the rustic decorations, bartenders, root beer, and pretzels. Dale Brodie's band, for which Jack Moore is drummer, played for this informal evening.

Our 25th anniversary celebration at Homecoming was a real success under the supervision of Bill Reece. The banquet, held in the Kansas Room of the Memorial Union Building, was presided over by "Paddle" Palmer. The chief speaker was Henry J. Allen, former Governor and Senator from Kansas. This chapter sent him a new Delt badge for Christmas to replace his long-lost original pin to which he referred in his speech.

Bruce Voran is doing fine as utility man of the K. U. basketball team. He was selected as a member of the All-Tournament Sunflower Invitational team recently. J. R. Jones is out for hurdling and broad jumping in the winter track season. Harley Parr did outstanding work on the freshman football team this fall. At present, in intramural basketball we have three good teams in the competition.

Dean Stockton of the School of Business is an adviser for the Men's Pan-Hellenic Council. Our own prexy, Bob Galloway, is also president of the Ku-Ku Pep Club. Gordon Brigham, president of the Dramatic Club, played in both the K. U. plays this semester. Jim Bell, now a member of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity, will be the managing editor of the Daily Kansan next semester. "Doc" Lee was initiated into Phi Beta Pi, professional medical fraternity; Clyde Pace, into Sigma Tau, honorary engineering organization. Don Cluster and Dick Goheen are leading their respective classes scholastically in the Pharmacy School. Robert Wright was chosen junior cheerleader. Ed "Potsie" Palmer is running for treasurer of the freshman class. Gamma Tau is also well represented in the freshman pep club.

TOM CARR

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

IT SEEMS that Gamma Upsilon has been doused with rain and frozen with cold ever since the school year began. For the entire football season we had to be content to watch our three stellar "hardies," Wineland, Barker and Meier amid drenching rains. Then after Thanksgiving it was snow and ice.

But the chapter has broken through the ice several times to present the cheeriest picture possible. There has been no fire this year so far to provide publicity, but we quickly broke into the social whirl with a much-talked-about formal tea for our new house mother, Mrs. O. N. Young. We also proudly made her our "sweetheart" one evening before Christmas in a quiet little "pin planting" ceremony.

Dad's Day was a grand success with "Pop" Edgar at the helm for the week-end, and we all remember the rollicking fellowship of Homecoming, with both the alumni and the boys from the Ohio Wesleyan Shelter as guests.

On the basketball court, for the first part of the season, four Delts have been playing side by side. Van Orsdel, Paterson, and Meier, all from the same home town, along with sophomore Marv Kinsey have upheld the Delt's representation in this major sport. In intramurals, Delts are holding right up to the finals. We lost the championship in the fall baseball finals, but stand good chances to win in both the bowling and volleyball finals yet to be played off. Cheerleader Bob Hill and boxer Jim Davies complete our sport column with their fine performances in these positions.

Inventory shows one-half the chapter are numeral wearers, and one-quarter display their letters. We have from six to ten men in each of the most important scholastic honoraries and publications. The annual fall formal—an orchid to Social Chairman McMillan—cinched our well-rounded activity schedule, and the inventory itself has proved to be the spur for seeking further laurels. Chapter scholarship is now the main threat and we are tackling the job quite seriously.

A remarkable number of alumni have paid us a visit during this year and we shall welcome their return. But we also hope that we may see the rest of our alumni within this school year.

ELMER WARD

Gamma Phi—Amherst

GAMMA PHI began its fall activities by pledging the most promising freshman delegation in many years—thirteen men with the emphasis on quality, not quantity. Responsibility for this notable achievement rests upon the shoulders of rushing chairman Ace Stewart and his committee whose hard work was well rewarded.

In scholarship, Gamma Phi slipped down a little from first place, but remained near the top in fourth place among the fraternities.

In intramural sports, the chapter had a fairly successful season. The touch football team was much better than its mediocre standing in the league indicated. The house golf team of Al Boylan and Bud Pfau brought the cup back to Gamma Phi for the second year in a row. Red Valens took time off from his many duties as president of the Outing Club to place second in the cross-country race.

Gamma Phi was very well represented in extracurricular activities. The following men participated in college sports: Bill McNamee and Clayton Pierce, football; Otis Cary and Bob Farwell, soccer; Art Brogna and Harry Keefe, cross country; Peter Hemmenway and Charles Peirce, swimming; Ace Stewart was manager of soccer; Bill Thompson, Jim Wells, and Don Thomsen, were active at football games and rallies as cheerleader and band members respectively.

The chapter is represented in all college publications: Tom Wilcox and M. Davis are on the Student; Wilcox and Charles Peirce head the art department of Touchstone; Charles Wight and Benton Gaskell are the business managers of the 1940 Olio.

Dick Grush and Ray Smardon have been very active in debating circles and in the Speaker's Club, the former being manager of debating and the latter, president of the debating council.

The following men contributed to the success attending the fall presentations of the Masquers: Hank Bruyn, Bart Green, Henry Butterworth, Stuart Kinney, Jack Wysor, and Red Valens.

Dave Carson, Bill Machmer, Bev Demeritt, and Hank Stryker represent Gamma Phi in the college glee club.

On the gastronomical side, Gamma Phi boasts the best boarding department on campus; an achievement made possible by our new chef and by Steward C. Richard Farmer.

As the first semester of the school year races to a hectic finish, Gamma Phi is justly proud of its accomplishments, but looks forward to even greater attainments in the winter and spring seasons just ahead.

HARRY CRAMER

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

AS THE fall term draws to a close, Gamma Chi points with pride to the activities of her members and to her social events.

Early in the term, under the leadership of Dick Jaccard, we were awarded first prize for our Homecoming decorations for the second consecutive year. Dick was ably assisted by his co-workers, Arlin Conrad and Neil Johnson, and the other members.

Shortly following this, November 19, we enjoyed a very successful Father's Day. This is an annual custom and takes place during the football season. We had an unusually large attendance of the fathers and the day was spent in enjoyable companionship between father and son. As the day drew to a close a photograph was taken of the fathers and their sons in memory of the occasion.

The height of our fall social season was reached with the annual paddle party given by the pledge class in honor of the graduating seniors. The party took place at the Shelter where the front lawn was brightly decorated with huge illuminated letters of $\Delta T \Delta$ made from barrel stave paddles. The inside of the chapter house was gayly decked with hundreds of streamers of purple, white, and gold, and the distribution of balloons and serpentine greatly added to the spirit of the occasion. At the intermission period in the evening, the seniors put on a very humorous floor show under the able direction of the pledges. Near the end of the evening the seniors were presented with large souvenir paddles. Small paddles were then given to everybody present, and this climaxed another successful paddle party at Gamma Chi.

We are justly proud of the activities of our members, and this year finds Norris Holstrom and Jack Horacek doing yeomen service on the varsity basketball team. They are also big guns on our intramural teams along with Warren Hornsby and Paul Hudson. Also in the sporting line we find John Bowers and Bob Washburn who are cheerleaders for Kansas State.

Gamma Chi also has her share of honor men. Bob Mears, president of our chapter, was elected to Blue Key, a senior men's honorary organization. Initiated into Sigma Tau, a national honorary engineering fraternity, were three juniors, Warren Adcock, Vincent Ellis and Bob Washburn. Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary mechanical fraternity, finds itself well represented in the chapter with president Ray Small and new initiates Adcock and Ellis doing the honors. The electrical honorary fraternity Eta Kappa Nu is represented by Bob Washburn. Along military lines our chapter is represented by advanced officers Bob Musser, Vincent Ellis and Warren Adcock who is also a member of Steel Ring and Scabbard and Blade.

ROBERT WASHBURN

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

RETURN from the Christmas holidays found Gamma Psi with its best foot forward. The chapter opens the new year in the new chapter house, the town boys having moved the furniture during the holidays. The new Shelter is more beautiful than our dreams had pictured it. The alumni and actives alike are deeply proud of it.

The actives in collaboration with the Atlanta alumni had a formal open house December 1, with a meeting of the Gamma Psi House Corporation, followed by a banquet. A good time was had by all and much constructive work was planned.

Our annual Christmas party was a howling success. Brother Edgar McCaa made good work of his job as Santa Claus, considering of course, the conditions under which he labored. December 17, McCaa was made a Delt for life.

The chapter recently had three men initiated into Tau Beta Pi. They were Al Hume, Bob Haggart, and Bill Lemon. Haggart and Lemon were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi.

Saturday evening, January 6, the Beta Theta Pi chapter across the street came over in full force to the Shelter to play host to us in a general house warming. Everyone had a corking good time—our hats are off to the Beta's.

VERNON M. SHIPLEY, JR.

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

KENNETH HARRIS recently was named president of Delta Alpha to succeed Bunn Hale, who resigned to accept a commission as second lieutenant in the United States Army.

Harris, in his fifth year as a Delt at the University of Oklahoma, long has been active in chapter affairs. Under Hale as president, Harris was vice-president, rising to that office after holding other posts in the chapter and serving in important positions on various committees.

The new Delta Alpha prexy is a graduate student and expects to receive his Master's degree in government this spring. Hale was a senior engineer at the time of his resignation. With the army, he has been stationed at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

With the advancement of Harris to the top chair, Ed Coblentz, former sergeant-at-arms, was elected to the vice-presidency. David Craig has been named to succeed Coblentz.

Delta Alpha entertained dates, December 15, at a closed dance. Following the affair, a buffet supper was held in the house.

Under the direction of Jack Harlow, the Delts serenaded the sororities on the campus Sunday night, December 17. The singing was favorably received in all houses visited.

Five neophytes were initiated into the chapter recently.

Plans to increase the chapter's library have been put in effect, and many new books have been added since the Christmas holidays. Under the latest plan, pledges were urged to bring at least one good piece of literature to the house on returning from the vacation. Members also coöperated in the movement.

Two of the new initiates, McDonald and Baker, are in charge of the library.

JULES HOUSIERE

Delta Beta—Carnegie

AFTER A successful rushing season at the house at 4903 Forbes Street, the Fraternity started right off on the intramural sports program by winning the six-man football championship without losing a single game. Homecoming was a huge success in spite of the poor football season. Among the more recent alumni to return were Les Evans and Hugh Overturf, both with their wives, Robs Arlinghans, Johnny Morten, Joe Davis, Len Tuck, and a host of others.

The high point of the year was the securing of a new chapter house. The chapter has just moved into its new home at 5020 Morewood Place. The house is a great improvement over the one on Forbes Street. It has two parlors on the first floor, a walnut paneled dining room, kitchen, lavatory, and pantry as well as front and back stairways to all three floors. There is a rear stairway only to the fourth floor. The house has seven baths and ten study rooms. It is on the opposite side of Forbes Street from the campus and about three minutes' walking distance. The house is being purchased by the chapter. We hope to have it in presentable condition by the first of February in time for the Eastern Division Conference February 3. We extend an invitation to all Delts to drop in and inspect our new home.

The Fraternity at present is in the thick of the fight for the inter-mural ping-pong and basketball championships.

WITH THE first half of the school year drawing to a close, Delta Gamma can look back on a fine start for 1939-40. A top-notch pledge class of fifteen good boys, and the active chapter consisting of twenty-six men have dug in from the first of the year to maintain the scholastic average that brought us the all-fraternity cup last year. The loss of several straight-"A" students made it tough, but we're right up in there again.

Then came another championship football team for the University, which included on its roster two Delts, Albertson and Parsons. In freshman football, pledges Ebert and Sladeck were mainstays.

In speech and dramatics, we were again well represented. Mark Wagner placed second in the national Tau Kappa Alpha speech meet in Chicago, while pledge Don Lillibridge is a member of the freshmen debating team. Meilke, Wagner, Lillibridge and Haberman were cast in the production of Stage Door, and Hanson and Wagner took part in The Tragedy of Nan. Now cast in Shakespeare's, Comedy of Errors are Lillibridge and Haberman.

The University basketball team, defending champions of the North Central conference is well taken care of by O. F. Jacobsen, Tink Evers, Joe Cadwell and Mack Albertson. In the USD-Creighton game, these four boys scored 34 of the 39 points that beat Creighton.

Pledges Ebert, Miller, Schleunes and Sladeck are out for freshman basketball.

Morry Perrson and Ross Oviatt are on the advertising staffs of the Coyote, yearbook, and Wet Hen magazine, respectively. Bill Quinn, Le Roy Haberman, and pledge E. H. Schleunes contribute feature articles to the Wet Hen and Volante publications.

Bob Severance is captain of the cheer squad and pledge Bud Boekelheide is a member of the squad.

O. F. Jacobsen was recently pledged to Strollers, honorary organization which presents a vaudeville show each spring.

LE ROY HABERMAN

Delta Delta—Tennessee

WITH A most successful rush week Delta Delta launched upon another school year. We pledged twenty-one men. Five of the pledges, who have transferred from other schools will be initiated at the beginning of the winter quarter. Pledges Bob Dunlap and George Gleaves are on the school publication, The Orange and White. Pledge Hugh Dickey was elected president of the Freshman Y. M. C. A. Council. Four of the pledges have made their mark in the field of scholarship, having made the honor roll. They are Charles King, James Snodgrass, Hugh Dickey, Woody Riddick.

In the field of intramurals Delta Delta is holding her own. We reached the semi-finals in golf, and made good showings in the other events. We are now preparing to defend our laurels in the University Sing, in which we placed second last year and won the year before.

Toward the middle of the fall quarter we gave a Pirates Ball, climaxing a series of informal parties earlier in the year. Ed Campbell, transfer from Tulane, contributed humor to the party by telling hair-raising pirate tales. The party was quite successful and everyone seemed to have a big time.

The winning of the cup for the best Homecoming float added to the good spirit of Delta Delta. Phil

Harris was in charge of the pre-game celebration.

Delta Delta's active membership was increased as a result of Joe Washington, transfer from Ole Miss, and Ed Campbell, transfer from Tulane, becoming affiliated with Delta Delta. Washington is a member of Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal fraternity. Al Huchison has recently been initiated into the Circle and Torch, honorary leadership fraternity.

Practically the whole chapter attended the Kentucky-Tennessee game, and were the guests of the Kentucky chapter. We were royally entertained and appreciate their fraternal welcome.

A recent visitor of prominence to Delta Delta was Charles Pierson who is president of the newly formed Nashville alumni chapter.

The outlook for the remainder of the year is very promising. Basketball is next on the schedule and we should have an outstanding team. Later on comes the University Sing and we are out to get the cup back again. Our formal dance will be March 2, and we intend for it to be the best on the hill, as usual.

DAVID DICKEY

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

WE STARTED out this year with twenty-five top-flight pledges, who have already proven to be outstanding in campus activities. Early in November three of them were initiated; Stafford Kelly, Leslie McComas, and William Taylor. Pledge Carey received an appointment into the Naval Air Service and has left us.

We had our house dance shortly before Christmas.

Bill Tudor, editor of the Kentucky yearbook, is our outstanding activity man. Besides this he is a member of ODK; Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity; Pershing Rifles, crack drill unit; Board of Student Publications; and Lances. He is one of Kentucky's representatives in the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and was president of the Student Council the past year. We have ten men in Pershing Rifles and four men in Scabbard and Blade. J. B. Faulconer is still acting in the plays at the Guignol, college theater. Tommy Bowling is house manager. "Hoot" Combs was a starter on the Kentucky football team, and is also on the varsity basketball team. Art Bryson holds offices in both Phi Delta Phi, law fraternity and in the Pan Politikon. He is also a member of the Student Government Association. Wynne McKinney is circulation manager of the Kentucky Kernal, newspaper.

We started out good in intramurals and seem to be picking up speed.

All in all we are looking forward to a very successful year.

JACK MYLOR

Delta Zeta—Florida

IT ISN'T often that students will leave summer vacation early and hurry off to school. That was the case, however, with us Delta Zeta Deltas. You see we wanted to get that new house we've been boasting of in previous articles in tip-top shape for rush week. Our time was well spent, for at the close of rushing we had pinned sixteen men. Out of this group five, George Kibbe, Frank Buck, Seth Meserve, and Jim Mitchell have been initiated. Keeping on the move four more men, who missed out on the pledge list in the last issue of THE RAINBOW have pledged Delt.

Looking back over the semester's activities two events stand out. They are the dedication of our new Shelter and Homecoming. Ceremonies for the opening of our new house were held on pledge day, thus serving a dual function. The rushees present gained an impressive view on Fraternity life at this affair. Bishop Frank A. Juhan, Beta Theta (Sewanee), '11, made the formal dedicatory address. Other distinguished brothers present were Judge Hewitt of St. Petersburg; Colin English, state superintendent of public instruction; T. W. Shands, Florida's oldest Delt alumnus, Beta Epsilon (Emory), '88; N. Ray Carroll; John Fisher, field secretary; and of course our own chapter advisor, Dr. G. F. Weber. "Doc" played master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Twenty-four alumni signed the register for Homecoming this year. We were pleased to see many of our old friends back, and to watch the renewal of many an old companionship. Needless to say a big time was had by all—those who were present will tell you that. And this should serve as a warning not to miss out on next year's Homecoming. A "get-together" dinner, served in our new dining room almost outdid the Georgia Tech-Florida football game for thrills and entertainment.

The conference held by the American Association of Unions, which was held on the Florida campus brought us two Delt visitors, "Buck" Mauck, Beta Alpha (Indiana) and Hadley Smith, Delta (Michigan).

We are now concentrating on plans for a big Founders Day banquet. But more of that later.

BILL MITCHELL

Delta Eta—Alabama

LED BY our able president, Ted Hannah, who with John Ayers was recently tapped for National Collegiate Players, Delta Eta has had a most successful year so far.

An unusually fine pledge class of twenty-five, guided by John "Cracker" Terrien and spark-plugged by "Snuffy" Davis has stepped into the middle of things as befits all good Deltas. In October they gave their annual "hard times" party for the actives and later in the season, while the actives were attending the Tulane game they took to heart the old adage "while the cat's away the mice will play" and entertained with a formal dance for themselves at the Tuscaloosa Country Club. The annual Christmas Dance was the high light of the social season which to date includes two house dances, the pledge party, seven pledge swaps, and a banquet honoring Bob Gerhart and Wylie Gardt who were initiated in December. As usual the decorations for Homecoming and the dances were left to the capable hands of Emil Mosebaugh and John Ayers who always do the job, and well.

Delta Eta has been fighting hard to retain the intramural championship trophy we won last year from Sigma Chi and under the guidance of sports manager Stratford we look forward to a most successful year.

A shadow was cast over the sports horizon when Bob Dyksterhouse suffered a broken leg in the opening touch football game, but the old Delt spirit told and more interest was shown than ever before, the pledges going into the semi-finals of their bracket.

"Curly" Hurlburt returned to us this year after having been out of school for a year and to show that the absence hadn't hurt him any stepped out to lead the House in scholarship at six weeks.

Cullen Sugg performed his usual splendid job at guard for the Crimson Tide and was honored by being made president of "A" Club.

Blackfriars is being dominated by Delts this year with Marion Coley on the executive committee and other boys in the House being on the staff or in the cast of every play produced this year.

Ed Hicks, Paul Vining, and Pierce Harper represent the House in the "Million Dollar Band," while Bill Burns beats it out for the Alabama Knights and the Military Band. Harper was recently made secretary-treasurer of the honorary freshman organization, Rho Alpha Tau.

Ted Hannah was elected vice-president and Charlie Adair, scribe of Greeks.

Bill Walker, member of the varsity golf team was forced, by illness, to leave school but will be with us again for the second semester.

Organizations represented in the house this semester are: Delta Sigma Pi, National Collegiate Players, Tau Delta Tau, Pershing Rifles, Corolla, Theta Tau, Officers Club, Scabard and Blade, Blackfriars, Alpha Kappa Psi, A. I. Ch. E., A. I. M. E., St. Pats Club, Tau Kappa Alpha, Greeks, "A" Club, and Spirit Committee.

When we consider these honors held by Delts, and look over our newly decorated Shelter, so charmingly presided over by our house mother, Mrs. Charles Flinn, we feel that this will be indeed, what is our wish for all, a Happy New Year.

CHARLIE ADAIR, JR.

Delta Kappa—Duke

ship of "Prexy" Hervey Moore. Dean Strausbaugh is secretary-treasurer of Hesperian Union and on the freshmen advisory council. Bob Moore is house manager of Quad-rangle Pictures and Charlie Sanborn is athletic representative of the junior class and cheerleader. Both are also on the freshmen advisory council. Davie Jamieson represents us on the wrestling team. We are glad that "Red" Unger, Henry Bolte, and "Prexy" Moore are still with us this year in the law school.

In dramatics, Bill Thomas tops the list with having had leads in the Duke Players Productions Spring Dance and Our Town, while at the same time being treasurer of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic society. Jerry Smith, who also had a part in Our Town, Jim Dolson, Larry Higgins, and Bill Thomas are heard regularly every week over station WDNC on the Duke Workshop Series. Don Brown, member of Chronicle staff, and Frank McMackin have had several parts in the French Plays while "Doc" Greene writes for the Archive, Duke literary magazine.

Delta Kappa is proud of its scholarship attainment of fourth place out of eighteen fraternities on the campus, and vice-president Tom Morrow, our scholarship chairman, spurs us on to retain our record.

Our new furniture for the chapter room arrived a few weeks ago and was installed under the watchful guidance of pledge "Jeep."

Enjoying a successful social season, the Duke Delts had a fine cabin party Thanksgiving Day when all the brothers and their dates rode out to the cabin in an old truck rented for the occasion by "Uncle Dick" Gingland. Over the holidays we were well represented at both Meadowbrook, N. J., and Detroit, Mich., on Duke Night. At present, we are busy planning for the annual spring dance.

In intramural sports we are holding our own and expect to win several trophies under Jack Greene, intramural chairman.

Prospects are looking bright for an unusually good pledge class this year, and our freshmen open houses to date have been well attended.

PETE WARD

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

THE CHAPTER completed the first term of this school year with thirteen pledges. The freshmen made a creditable showing in their first term. Among the House activities which they supported was the usual freshman walkout and extracurricular activities.

The House entered wholeheartedly in a "Reversia" dance last term in which everything possible was done in reverse of the normal procedure. Much credit is due the social chairman, Paul Duruz. We are now looking forward to our winter formal.

The annual Father's Day activities were a great success. A banquet was held at the house for all of the fathers after a big football game.

The Portland Delt Mothers Club gave the House two excellent ash trays as a Christmas gift.

It is still an important policy of the chapter to enter as many men as possible into publications. Donald Drake is the present editor of the Barometer, daily newspaper, and Ed Smith is the paper's manager.

Delta Lambda expects to participate in the Annual Northwest Regional Initiation and Banquet, which is to be held in Portland this year.

Delta Lambda has been fortunate to have many men in the various college honor societies. Lee Wells, Frank Wells, George Bulk, and Arlie Hatfield are members of Kappa Kappa Psi, national band honorary. Ed Smith, Thomas Zilka, and Robert Phelps are members of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary. Frank and Lee Wells are also in engineering honoraries.

EARL M. NEWPORT

Delta Mu—Idaho

BEGINNING the fall semester with a healthy number of pledges and initiation of seven boys, Delta Mu is well on its way to an active year on the Idaho campus. Again the Delts are directing the destiny of the Gem, Idaho yearbook, with editor Jimmy Boyd swinging the baton, and Dick Phinney pushing sales as business manager. To speed up subscriptions, the Gem boys offered portable radios to group houses having 100 per cent subscribers. Delta Mu got together on this deal to carry away one of the handy radios with the Delt crest inscribed on it.

In music, tenor-voiced Bill Gratton sings for the Vandaleers, school chorus, besides playing trumpet for his own orchestra. Bill is also a member of Phi Mu Alpha, national music honorary. Dick Hopkins plays in the widely known Idaho Pep Band, and, along with Warren Lauer, in the Military Band. We have a drummer "a la Gene Krupa" in Frank Rider who plays in one of the campus orchestras.

"Prexy" Bob Harris, Dick King, and your correspondent were prominent in dramatics, having major parts in one of the college productions. Our prexy is also an active member of "Curtain," dramatic honorary.

Although edged out narrowly for first prize in the Homecoming decoration contest, Delta Mu's artists bore down extra hard to win the Christmas decoration contest, and we received a beautiful cup to add to our imposing collection.

Highlight of the social season so far was the annual pledge dance last November. Decorations were smart and colorful. We are now making plans for the Russian Ball, gala dance of the year. Just before Thanksgiving, "Bud" Murphy, traveling secretary, dropped in for a few days' visit. We are anxious to see "Bud" again and hope he will stay longer. We are looking forward to another visit from H. J. Jepsen, Division President, who stopped for a few hours.

One of Idaho's outstanding athletes, Merle Stoddard, is preparing for one more season of baseball which winds up his athletic career here. Merle is also an active man on the campus, holding offices in various honoraries. Boxing is practically dominated by Deltas. Head man is Louie August, diminutive varsity coach, who graduated a few years ago, and is considered one of the best college mentors. Under Louie's watchful eyes are: Ted Kara, former Olympic captain; Karl Kierulff, promising Los Angeles product; and yours truly. Applying vaseline and tying gloves are "Chuck" Murphy and Karl Greef, varsity and freshman managers, respectively. Lone freshman football and basketball participant is Al Bauscher, who is going places in both sports.

So looking forward to a busy second semester, we hope all Deltas are having as successful a year as we are enjoying.

SAM ZINGALE

Delta Nu—Lawrence

DELTA NU opened the 1939-40 scholastic year by pledging sixteen freshmen. These boys are active around the campus as is evidenced by the fact that we have six numeral winners in football; seven of them are on the frosh basketball squad, and two of them are on the swimming team.

Our interfraternity sports teams, defending champions, opened the year by winning the football trophy. The volleyball and golf teams came in third, while the swimming team won first place. The basketball team has played only one game to date, they won 40 to 6.

Even though supreme in interfraternity sports, Delta Nu does not neglect the varsity teams. Thirteen members of Delta Nu made all of the football trips; eight of these were awarded letters for their play during the year. Arthur Kaemmer of the house was elected co-captain of the team for next year.

Two members of the House are on the varsity basketball squad. One of these, Welly Cape, is the team's high scorer. Seldon Spencer, Bill Pengelly, Jack Brand, and Bob Anderson are members of the swimming team. The first three named are letter winners, and Jack Brand is conference breast stroke champ.

Our social activities up to date have included: a pledge dance, several house parties, a Christmas party, smoker, and a serenade. Our winter formal is set for February 10.

We have several special honors in the House this year. Seldon Spencer, our president, has been elected to the National Collegiate Players. Jack White is editor of the college paper and Dexter Wolfe is assistant editor.

Next year at this time Delta Nu will be living in its new Shelter.

The college has announced that the new fraternity quadrangle will be ready by next December.

JACK RODDY

Delta Xi—North Dakota

EACH YEAR Delta Xi's pledge group has new outstanding members. In some years they are predominately musicians, and in others they may be hockey or softball men, but this year we seem to have a lion's share in comparison. Two good freshmen gridders, a pair of promising cagers, and a brace of ice hockey men, and some real, "bookish" men are now wearing the Delt pledge button. Some mid-term losses were sustained and left our intramural cage squad slightly embarrassed in vital spots, but the ten men who are now doing their duty on the maple floor are aiming for a new and infinitely better type of trophy, that of an outstanding fraternity team.

Don Hiestand, our present gavel pounder, is again producing the "rug-cutting" chords for the campus "hep-cats" and recently copped the leadership of the second annual combined Junior-Senior Prom. This, no doubt, is an outgrowth of his able assistance at Homecoming time and his excellent program direction last year.

The Delta Xi Kris Kringle Party, —its fame on the campus is ever increasing—was again a success. The weatherman stepped in to aid us with a nice, warm, nearly spring-time night even though the calendar said the nineteenth of December.

Pledges Leonard Griffin and Kent Horton took their bows in November after being formally initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, the national Freshman Men's Scholastic Fraternity. Lynn Byrne and George Becker, Seniors, and Louis Thompson, a Junior, are plugging away for Uncle Sam in the R. O. T. C., trying to improve their military acumen.

Finally, our house corporation, which has long been one of our goals, is in existence. Needless to say, this is gratifying to us all.

LARRY N. GILL

Delta Omicron—Westminster

WE ARE completing a successful semester here on the Westminster

Campus. It has been hard since we are all getting accustomed to Delt ways. Although we have had this extra work we have a fair showing in intramural sports and scholarship.

When rush week ended we had pledged twenty-seven men, all of whom are working hard towards initiation in February. Jim Haxby, president of the pledge group, is also vice-president of the freshman class. Bob Ehrenburg is president of the Philalethians, which is a freshman society. Frank Winters was the highest ranking freshman out of 140 men in the I. Q. test given this year. Two more of our freshmen ranked among the first ten. With a start like this our freshmen should go places.

The average number of extra-curricular activities taken on by each member of our chapter is three. Eddie Larson, our president, is a member of the student electoral board along with Earle Saunders. Eddie also belongs to the Y. M. C. A., the International Relations Club, and is literary editor of the school papers, while Saunders debates and orates. Tommy Mayhew, the married man of our chapter, is the captain of the baseball team. But the boy with the most behind him is Jack Ogden, our vice-president. He is a member of the Student Council and the Skulls of Seven, the governing body of the freshman class. Last year he was captain of the baseball team. He is also the president of two other organizations, the Y. M. C. A. and Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary fraternity. We also have two men out for varsity swimming.

Our installation ceremony went off very well December 2, due to the work of Steve Bonney. We wish to acknowledge our thanks to Steve and all the Delt chapters for their aid and telegrams of congratulations. To make the ceremony even more complete there were several prominent members of the Fraternity here including: Paul G. Hoffman, president; Kurt F. Pantzer, Supervisor of Scholarship; Herbert W. Bartling, Secretary of Alumni; Hugh Shields, comptroller; Branch Rickey, former Secretary of Alumni; Ken Penfold, field secretary; Roscoe Groves, former Treasurer; and Steve Bonney, field representative, ex-officio. Those are two days that will always be remembered by us.

As long as everyone keeps co-operating in this real Delt spirit, we should have no worries.

One of the most important functions of the new institution will be to provide greater opportunities for adult education enabling employed young men and women to secure a college education while earning a living. The evening curricula in the adult education division will offer the degree of Bachelor of Science in all of the major fields of engineering, arts, and science.

According to President Heald of Armour Institute, it will be a policy of Illinois Institute of Technology to emphasize fundamental and applied research for the solution of the problems of industry and to increase the comforts of living. This will be accomplished by the fundamental research carried on by students and faculty in close correlation with the educational program and also through the continued activities of the Research Foundation of Armour Institute of Technology which already has a record of three years of successful service to more than four hundred and fifty industrial corporations.

Lewis Institute was founded as the result of the will of Allen C. Lewis, who, at his death in 1877, left his entire estate for the establishment of a first class polytechnic institute. Armour Institute of Technology was founded by Philip D. Armour in 1892. Mr. Lewis and Mr. Armour were both motivated by the same desire, namely, to provide educational facilities for young men and young women who were unable to advance themselves in life without such assistance. The merging of these two institutions brings together the resources provided by Mr. Armour and Mr. Lewis, and enables their basic objectives to be achieved in a manner which conforms with existing conditions.

Delta Tau Delta has been located on the Armour Campus since 1901. Gamma Beta has produced many men whose contributions to their alma mater, their Fraternity, and their profession have been outstanding. No definite statement has been made as to the place of the fraternity system in the new program; however, Armour has been dependent upon the fraternities to provide a cultural atmosphere for the housing of men. Gamma Beta and other fraternities on the campus will have no cause for concern as to their future providing they continue to prove themselves increasingly important as a constructive adjunct to technological education.

PROTECTION

ANCIENT AND MODERN

The ancient shields hang on the walls of the old castles—symbolic of the protection given in bygone days.

Today protection is provided for those things which we hold dear, by constant vigilance and cooperation.

In it has been built the symbolism of ideals exemplified in your initiation.

As your official jeweler, it is our privilege and duty to protect this insignia—first, by the maintenance of quality and price; and, second, to keep it from falling into hands of non-members. During the dark days of 1918, we maintained insignia specifications and prices at great sacrifices. The price of gold zoomed, Government restrictions drastically curtailed supplies, taxes multiplied—and again today, we are faced with the same problem. Yet badge prices are lower now than twenty years ago.

Protection must be carried further in order to discourage indiscriminate manufacture of your insignia. You are urged to make purchases only through the channels set up by the officers whom you have selected.
