One Moment, Please

We invite your attention to a new feature, introduced in this number, "From the Fraternity-College World," by Alvan E. Duerr, outstanding fraternity leader. In this column, it is our purpose to acquaint the alumni to some extent with what is going on in other fraternities and in institutions other than their own. This will enable them to judge fraternity problems in the whole, and to appraise conditions in their own chapters and on their own campuses in the light of a broader experience. We are sure that for Delta Tau Delta a more progressive attitude will result than could be possible from the narrower and more personal concentration on our own immediate problems. The years after the war will bring with them marked changes in educational programs and in student life. It is the part of wisdom to anticipate inevitable changes, rather than to be forced into action—or out of it—by them.

Another newcomer to THE RAINBOW is "Fraternally Yours" which gives you a direct-from-the-service-man view of the war, the Fraternity, and 'most anything else you can think of. These letters which come into the Central Office daily from alumni—not all of them servicemen, although the major portion are at this time—have been so interesting to us that we felt it only fair to pass some along to you.

The Editor wishes to acknowledge the excellent co-operation he has received from the War and Navy Department offices of public relations. They have been most helpful in making available material respecting Delts. We are indebted to these offices also for many of the photographs of military personnel appearing in this issue.

Speaking of indebtedness, the Fraternity has a long-standing debt to its silent partners, the mothers, sisters, and wives, the country over who have done yeoman service in every conceivable situation, without fanfare. It seems to us that more should be heard from this staunch group who are very vitally a part of Delta Tau Delta's life. For more about the job they are performing in this war period, read "Our Silent Partners," Page 64.

Brandt and Munnecke Appointed to University of Chicago Staff

WILBUR C. MUNNECKE

TWO Delts have been appointed to high positions on the staff of the University of Chicago this year. They are Joseph A. Brandt, Oklahoma, '21, who assumed his duties as director of the University of Chicago Press January 1, and Wilbur C. Munnecke, Dartmouth, '27, who will become vice-president July 1.

Mr. Brandt, who is well known throughout Deltdom for his efforts in founding Delta Alpha Chapter at the University of Oklahoma, is in charge of the editorial and business branches of the Press as its director. The Press is the oldest and largest noncommercial publishing enterprise in the United States, having published its first book in the fall of 1892. In assuming the directorship of the Press, Mr. Brandt, a former Rhodes scholar, newspaperman, author, and university president, is returning to the profession of his first choice—publishing.

A recognized authority in the publishing field, Mr. Brandt founded the University of Oklahoma Press and directed it for ten years before his appointment to the Princeton University Press in 1938. While at Oklahoma, one of his selections, Wah' Kon-Tah; The Osage and the White Man's Road, by John Joseph Mathews, was designated Book-of-the-Month. It is the first and only university press book so chosen. Under his direction, the University of Oklahoma Press achieved distinction for publication of regional material of the Southwest.

Editor's Note: We are indebted to Charles F. Axelson, Chicago, '07, a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Chicago, for the material from which this article is written.

Mr. Brandt served as the seventh president of the University of Oklahoma from 1941 until his appointment as director of the University of Chicago Press this year. As a Rhodes scholar he attended Lincoln College, Oxford. Returning to Oklahoma in 1924 he entered the newspaper field and was city editor of the Tulsa Tribune when he left that post to found the University of Oklahoma Press.

In announcing the appointment of Mr. Munnecke, President Robert M. Hutchins stated that his selection by the Board completes the reorganization initiated several years ago to unify the administration of the University of Chicago. As vice-president, Mr. Munnecke will co-ordinate the business and administrative affairs of the University, including supervision of the works of the treasurer, the comptroller, and the business manager.

Since June, 1943, Mr. Munnecke has been adviser on war projects at the University and will continue in this capacity for the balance of the academic year. He has been on military leave from Marshall Field & Company since September, 1942, when he left his position as general operating manager of the Company's stores to enter war work in a civilian capacity. He is at the present time Special Assistant to Maj. Gen. Joe N. Dalton, director of personnel, Army Service Forces.

Citation Presented at Founders Day Dinner

A Citation awarded April 15, 1943, by the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter to Hugh Shields, Indiana, '26, Comptroller and Manager of the Central Office, while he was on active duty with the United States Army Air Forces was presented at the Founders Day Banquet of the Columbus, Ohio, Alumni Chapter March 4, 1944, by Clemens R. Frank, Western Reserve, '19, President of the Northern Division, representing the Committee.

The text of the Citation is as follows:

"For more than twenty years a tireless worker for Delta Tau Delta. Nationally known for his services as Comptroller and Manager of the Central Office of his Fraternity until he left it to enter the Service of his Country. Enthusiastic in its management, he has materially aided in its development. Sincere, courageous, loyal, watchful."

War Aids Contributed by Minnesota Engineers

By Otis P. Brewster, Minnesota, '16

SPEAKING of Delts who are making unusual contributions to the current war effort, the work of the Maxson brothers, Ralph and Leslie (Tuba), deserves the telling.

Both are second-generation Delts, hailing from the University of Minnesota, Beta Eta. Their father, the late C. H. Maxson, was a charter member of Beta Gamma at Wisconsin.

Leslie, as he was known at Minnesota, came along first in the class of 1920. After his sophomore year he transferred to Annapolis, where he was graduated in the class of 1921, being especially proficient in math and navigation.

Ralph came later in the class of 1922 and after two or three years at school went into the industrial engineering business with Thompson and Lichtner. Soon thereafter he established his own firm, doing important work in several industries and in a few years became head of industrial engineering work for all of Armour and Company plants.

A few years later Ralph was in New York, president of a company making phonograph records, with world-wide branches. In 1935 he took over the presidency of the Tyson Roller Bearing Company of Massillon, Ohio, which was then a run-down company with no profits or future. Through his efforts, Tyson has developed fast in the bearing business and is now important as a rival of the great Timken works at Canton, Ohio. Before Pearl Harbor, Ralph had begun to take on war work such as machining airplane parts for Pratt & Whitney of Hartford, Conn. His company handled this type of work so successfully that the government urged him to do more and built two large new plants for him, which have in turn been highly productive. His company was one of the first to receive the Navy E citation for excellence in production and quality. He is now head of his own company in Canton, Ohio, which has recently been organized, and does consulting work for the Tyson company as well.

In the interim, while Ralph was going ahead, Leslie, who had been

Navy Cross Awarded

(See Cover)

Capt. Francis X. McInerney, U.S.N., Colorado, '20, has been awarded the Navy Cross for service as commander of a destroyer squadron with the Pacific Fleet. On the cover of this issue Capt. McInerney is pictured receiving the award from Admiral W. F. Halsey. He was cited as follows:

"For extraordinary heroism as Commanding Officer of a squadron of destroyers in action against enemy Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands on July 5 and 6, 1943. As part of a task force in close support of the landing of United States troops at Rice Anchorage on New Georgia Island, Captain McInerney skillfully led his group of destroyers through restricted submarine infested waters and effectively bombarded enemy shore batteries and installations in the face of intense hostile gun and torpedo fire. Twenty-four hours later, the same task group participated in a fierce engagement with a numerically superior Japanese naval force and succeeded in sinking or severely damaging all of the hostile vessels. When a cruiser of his task force was sunk, Captain McInerney, returning to the scene with two destroyers, courageously directed the hazardous rescue operations and enabled his ships to save approximately seven hundred survivors, despite the fact that the destroyers were forced to abandon their efforts on three occasions in order to attack and sink two enemy vessels and badly damage a third as they attempted to escape from the vicinity. Captain McInerney's inspiring leadership and the valiant devotion to duty of his command contributed immeasurably to the outstanding success of these vital missions and reflect great credit upon the United States Naval Service."

Capt. McInerney entered the Naval Academy from Wyoming in 1917, after attending the University of Colorado.

During a tour of duty in Washington, D. C., where he was attached to the office of the Judge Advocate General, he attended George Washington University law school and received the degree of Bachelor of Law in May, 1935. In November, 1935, he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

In addition to the Navy Cross, Capt. McInerney has received the Silver Star Medal, the Victory Medal, Atlantic Fleet Clasp, the American Defense Service Medal, Fleet Clasp, and the Asiatic-Pacific Area Campaign Medal.

Dr. Watson Heads Vanderbilt Clinic

INDUSTRIAL medicine during recent war years has loomed rather large in the public mind and has attracted the attention of the medical profession. One of the pioneers in this field is Dr. Cassius H. Watson, Pennsylvania, '01. Dr. Watson retired as Medical Director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on October 1, 1943. A few days after his retirement from the Bell System, he became superintendent of the Vanderbilt Clinic, a unit of the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City. He assumed his new duties November 1, 1943, and it may be judged that his experience gained throughout the years of service in the Bell organization should make possible the further development of the Vanderbilt Clinic, which through the years has gained nation-wide prominence under its previous director, Dr. Frederick MacCurdy.

Dr. Watson has recently been named president of Stony Wold Sanatorium, an institution for the care and treatment of tuberculosis, in which he has been actively interested for the past thirty years. He is a member of the Medical Board, Board of Directors, and the Executive and Finance Committees.

Dr. Watson entered the field of industrial medicine in its infancy about 1913, convinced that industry offered a definite and special opportunity, preventive as well as therapeutic. Today, medical service in industry is recognized by government officials, medical authorities, and business executives as highly essential to the success of the war effort. Throughout the years, it has been Dr. Watson's objective to maintain high ethical standards in the Bell System medical departments throughout the country, and this point of view has made possible satisfactory relations with organized medicine and the medical profession in general.

His first contact with industrial medicine consisted in carrying on the surgical work of the New York Telephone Company and acting as adviser and consultant in matters concerning the conduct of the benefit and medical plans, first of the New York Telephone Company, and later of the associate companies of the Bell System. After four years with the New York Telephone Company, he was advanced to the position of Medical Officer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in 1917 becoming Medical Director of this great communications system. This position he has retained until his retirement in the present year under the Bell System age-retirement plan.

Dr. Watson is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he was one of the first students electing a four-year biology course as the premedical preparation. Dr. Watson played football and rowed on the crew. In his senior year, he was elected to Sigma Xi and received the Harrison Scholarship in Botany. He received his degree of Doctor of Medicine at the Long Island College of Medicine in 1905. He then served two and one-half years internship in this institution and later became lecturer and demonstrator in anatomy and histology.

He entered private practice in 1908, ultimately specializing in general surgery. In 1913 to 1917, he was surgeon at the Bushwick Hospital and Eastern District Hospital in Brooklyn, also serving as attending physician at the Long Island College Hospital, shortly thereafter becoming clinical professor of medicine. Since 1939, he has been a

With the Fifth Army in Italy, March 24.—I returned to Africa November 25 after three months' leave in the United States following a brain operation made necessary by an air collision at Algiers last May.

After taking a roving assignment through Syria and Palestine, covering the Holy Land at Christmas, I was transferred to this theater and have divided the time since then between the Cassino front and the Anzio beachhead.

A few days ago I unexpectedly picked up the Purple Heart decoration, along with three other correspondents, when our headquarters on the beachhead, Villa Virtue, was deflowered by bombs during an early morning raid. We call our place Villa Virtue because of the pure lives we lead at the front. You may have picked up something about this in the papers. None of us was seriously wounded but all of us (about a dozen correspondents) were pretty badly shaken by concussion, and four of us are still wearing sundry purple and blue marks scattered about on our torsos (in addition to the Purple Heart) caused by falling masonry.

Fortunately, the house was cheaply made of plaster and tile and when the walls caved in on us they simply shattered themselves against our steel helmets. We were wearing nothing but long army drawers and helmets, and we must have looked strange galloping out of the debris.

The first I knew of the raid was when the ack-ack opened violently and before any of us could get out of bed one of the walls was tumbling and we were knocked down by concussion. Luckily, too, it was daylight, or there might have been

Pittsburgh's Bogart Had Navy Career Aboard Shangri-La

By Pfc. Charles R. Freeble, Jr., Pittsburgh, '43

INTO the life story of Frank Larry Bogart, Pittsburgh, '47, is woven the life story of the U.S.S. "Hornet." Larry was born January 10, 1922, at Rockwood, Tenn., and spent his early days following his salesman father all over the country. His early education was gleaned from twenty-one different grade schools from Cleveland to Miami, and was finally completed in Pittsburgh where the family settled in 1930. Larry attended South Hills high school and piled up an enviable record before he graduated with the class of 1940. After high school, he shopped around at several jobs until he finally became a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Sensing the importance of world events, Larry volunteered for the U. S. Marines and was sworn in on February 11, 1941. After boot training at Parris Island, S. C., he was sent to duty at Quantico, Va., where he saw action as a stable hand. In September of 1941, Larry volunteered for sea school training and was sent to Norfolk, Va., where immediately upon graduation he was assigned to duty aboard the "Hornet" when she was commissioned on October 20, 1941. The "Hornet" was his only ship. Following a shake-down cruise in the balmy Caribbean, the "Hornet" returned to Norfolk and took aboard two B-25s. Out in the Atlantic history was made when for the first time medium bombers took off from a carrier, and salt-seasoned Larry Bogart watched while diligently polishing his A.A. gun. When the "Hornet" returned again to Norfolk, the men were granted a four-day leave, and Larry took his last look at Pittsburgh and home.

Then began a long cruise with a convoy to Panama, through the canal, and up the west coast to California where the "Hornet" laid over to qualify carrier pilots. She then proceeded to San Francisco where Larry was restricted and not allowed ashore, a tough break for he was not to set foot on home soil again for almost a year. Here, sixteen B-25s were stowed aboard, and Larry, serving as orderly for the day, ushered Jimmy Doolittle into the Captain's presence. They put to sea with little excitement and somewhat disgusted at the prospects of freighting Army bombers overseas.

When the men learned they were off to bomb Tokyo, they were worried, for they were practically alone. The worries were soon discarded, however, for the "Hornet" rendezvoused with the "Enterprise" in mid-ocean. To quote Larry, "We were never so glad to see the Big E before in all our lives." One of the planes taking off for Tokyo carried bombs dedicated to Larry's dad and girl friend, as well as a special message from Larry himself.

Following this mission, the men loafed at Pearl Harbor for a while, until the "Hornet" sailed at full steam to join the Battle of Coral Seas. Larry did not get to fire a shot, and the ship promptly sailed for Pearl Harbor where after only one liberty the word was passed for all fleet men to return to their ships. Larry returned to the "Hornet" by a combination of hitchhiking, taxi, and truck with expectations of something big. The "Hornet" put up to Midway for the battle and although the "Hornet's" planes gave a good account of themselves, her guns did not fire a shot. On this voyage Larry saw the "Yorktown" torpedoed and sunk, saw famous "Torpedo 8" take off never to return, saw many planes shot up, and also saw three of his buddies killed in a freak accident.

After a short stay at Pearl Harbor the "Hornet" left, never to come back. In the South Pacific Larry saw the "Wasp" take three torpedoes and explode, and helped pick up survivors. At this time they were with a fleet which was greater in combined tonnage than all the ships taking part in the Battle of Jutland. According to Larry, the sea was covered from horizon to horizon with allied ships. The "Hornet," after the loss of the "Wasp" and damage of another carrier, remained with this fleet as the only carrier in the South Pacific, when she learned that the Japs were massing a fleet to retake Guadalcanal. Into this area the "Hornet" steamed, with the men weary from many months at sea, the food supplies running low, and a number of men sick, to stop that Jap fleet. The men, living on block-beef, dumplings, and onions, sailed her boldly and undetected up the slot to blast Bougainville, and to plaster every Jap island on the way back. Larry, who was standing twelve-hour watches and two hours more at general quarters each day, had time to think that he had never seen onions served in so many ways before.

The Jap fleet had blown up the airstrip at Guadalcanal, destroying all but five planes as well as the gas supplies. The "Hornet" went in to thirty miles and served as a floating landing field for the island until the airfield was repaired and additional planes moved up.

When word arrived of a large Jap task force moving down from Rabaul, the "Hornet" joined a fleet which included another carrier and the "South Dakota" and headed for Santa Cruz where they hoped to intercept the Japs. The battle began for Larry at twelve noon, October 26, 1942, when the Japs hit hard and heavy. The Japs headed everything for the "Hornet" in an effort to sink the "Shangri-La." The sixth or seventh dive bomber in the first attack ended the battle for Larry. He was blinded and knew he was wounded but felt no pain and managed to struggle into his life-jacket. He was transferred to a destroyer, then to a cruiser where he underwent an emergency operation to remove a five-inch piece of shrapnel from his skull. Larry was then transferred to a hospital ship where he came to after five days to find himself blind and his right arm paralyzed. In a group of wounded from Guadalcanal, he chanced to meet an old school friend from Pittsburgh, Jessie Sturns. The two boys had a big reunion on that hospital ship in the middle of the Pacific.

One day Larry saw Jessie move, and his sight returned just as faint shadows at first and two or three days later he could see quite well. Larry was put ashore at an island hospital where after about twenty-four days a doctor waylaid him and got permission for an operation. In the crude surroundings of a field hospital, that Navy surgeon removed more shrapnel, and patched Larry's head with tissue from his leg. In two weeks that same surgeon performed another operation in which he turned a bone flap on the right side and removed another large piece of shrapnel from the motor-sensory section of the brain, enabling Larry to use his arm again. January 9, 1943, Larry started for home aboard a tramp steamer with other evacuees and a group of Anzacs who were on their first voyage and amused the evacuees by spending most of the trip at the rail.

The men reached the States on January 28 and Larry entered the hospital at San Diego where he met many of his old friends from the "Hornet" and heard the full story of her sinking. On a forty-day leave in Pittsburgh he gorged on chicken, milk, and ice cream, but when the leave ended he was ready to go. Larry was then sent to the naval hospital in Philadelphia where he was granted many week-end passes which he put to good use by selling bonds in Pittsburgh and New York. Among other trips, Larry made several with Al Schmidt of Philadelphia, and appeared on Sammy Kaye's radio program.

In July he was offered a discharge which he refused, but when he was told that he would never be assigned to active duty again and would have to remain in the hospital for the duration, Larry decided that ten months of hospital life was enough and was discharged. Larry feels that civilian life is all right, but says his clothes feel like bags and absence of routine worries him. When he learned that he could go to college, he decided that the University of Pittsburgh was the place for him to get his education. He is now at Pitt where he was the second veteran of World War II in the district to be sent to school by the Veteran's Administration. The first such veteran was none other than Jack Garnham, Gamma Sigma '47, an old buddy of Larry's who had been discharged from the air force.

Larry was rushed by all Pitt fraternities, and after looking them all over decided to pull an oar for Delta Tau Delta. Corporal Bogart now prefers to be just plain Larry, one of the Delts. He is doing well in his studies, but would rather be back with his buddies in the Marines who are again overseas avenging the "Hornet." Larry is registered in the School of Business Administration, class of '47, and was initiated to Delta Tau Delta on December 19, 1943.

On his uniform, which he still wears at bond rallies, may be seen the Pre-Pearl Harbor Bar, Western Hemisphere 'Outside the United States Bar, South Pacific Bar with silver star for five battles, and the Purple Heart.

more serious consequences. I came out of it with a pretty badly bruised foot and various light lacerations. Bill Strand, of the Chicago Tribune, had a bad right arm, but no broken bones. Wick Fowler, of the Dallas News, received a cut neck and some ugly-looking knees, and Slim Aarons, of Yank Magazine, got a few lacerations on the face and on his hands.

I suppose the whole scene was duplicated all through the house, but what I remember most was Fowler coming out of his room with my coat on his arms and saying, in a puzzled way, "I think I've got the wrong coat." He then turned and flung it back into what was left of his room. After that we were both on our hands and knees in the narrow hall, trying to get to the stairway, and every time we got halfway to our feet we would be knocked down again. Strand was hospitalized two days, but Fowler, Aarons, and I were released later that same day. It was a crazy experience, and I wouldn't take anything for it; but all the wealth on earth couldn't make me go through it again, not voluntarily, anyway.

In spite of this, the beachhead is the most cockeyedly interesting place in the entire war. There's nothing like it anywhere. It's a little piece of land shaped like a spread-out fan. Every inch of it is under artillery fire. People simply live underground, except in Anzio, where Villa Virtue used to be. The boys in the front lines think anybody who lives in town is crazy. They think the front is much safer.

As for the front itself—if you want to see it, all you have to do is go up on the roof and there it is.

▼ FROM THE FRATERNITY-COLLEGE WORLD ▼

By Alvan E. Duerr, Kenyon, '93; Williams, '93

President King of Amherst, who has been credited with a determination to get rid of his fraternities, said in a recent address to alumni that the advantages of fraternity life outweighed its disadvantages. In developing the latter he characterized fraternities as anti-intellectual and anti-democratic.

Fraternity men in their zeal tend to denounce as enemies of the fraternity system anyone who is dissatisfied with our interpretation of what fraternity life should contribute to the undergraduate. When we examine the specific cause of administrative criticism with reasonable dispassionateness it is not so easy to discard it with a denunciation. Fraternity men, as such, can hardly claim to have promoted the intellectual side of college life with as much enthusiasm as extracurricular activities, though it is the primary objective of college attendance. Basically we are not undemocratic, but we place a ridiculous emphasis on fraternity membership and fail to realize that we may unwittingly be undermining the fine spirit of democracy which should prevail on the college campus and should be based entirely on performance and not position or privilege. There may, after all, be some justification for the attitude of men like President King.

The State Legislature of Arizona last year authorized the State Treasurer to take over at a nominal rate of interest the mortgage on any owned chapter house at the University which, because of the national emergency, was threatened with foreclosure.

The fraternities at Amherst have pooled their incomes during the past year and a half so as to equalize the load and offset any advantage accruing to the houses taken over by the Navy. The Business Manager and an alumni committee have been in charge of all details. At the end of the first year of operation every fraternity was out of debt and it is expected that the record will be maintained for the duration, so that no chapter will be handicapped in resuming normal activities after the war.

A similar plan is proposed for the fraternities at Penn State, through subscriptions from every chapter to a fund on which chapters in distress may draw. It is hard to visualize the success of this undertaking, because the proposed fund will be too small; too few of the financially sound chapters will have enough of a surplus to feel like risking unbankable loans; and the weaker chapters must first raise enough money to join the pool before they can borrow from it.

Brown University used to be one of the strong fraternity colleges of the country. It has become one of the least desirable from the angle of both national fraternities and the institution itself, to say nothing of the student body. It seems to have been a case of dry rot.

It would be hard to find anywhere sixteen chapter houses—there were twenty-five once—less attractive and less adequate, taken as a group. It is not strange that group life in such an environment has not been impressive.

President Wriston, whose fraternity interest no one who knows him questions, is determined to restore Brown fraternities to their former position of influence and prestige. He wants to do this, first, because he believes that it will benefit the University, and secondly, because he believes in the value of the right kind of fraternity life. He has proposed that the fraternities should all deed their properties, free of debt, to the University. He will then spend $100,000 on renovating them in time for the resumption of normal activities after the war. The University will operate the houses for the fraternities, collect all bills, and assume all financial responsibility. Oddly enough, the fraternities are not all dissatisfied enough with past conditions to be willing to improve them at what they consider an excessive price—closer supervision and the surrender of their equities. But actual figures indicate that savings effected through taxation, interest, better collection of house bills will liquidate the total equities in half a dozen years, while raising the standard of fraternity life at greatly reduced cost. As for supervision, we might as well get used to the idea, for we shall hear it from many quarters in the coming years, and without offering us $100,000 to listen. Beta Chi of Delta Tau Delta, which has the highest equity of the chapters at Brown, was one of the early subscribers to the plan.

The Interfraternity Council at Cornell, before disbanding for the duration, appointed a committee with power to provide for a study of fraternity conditions at Cornell and the relations between the fraternities and the University administration. This action climaxed considerable agitation among the undergraduates because of generally unsatisfactory conditions. President Day of the University has expressed himself strongly regarding the need of drastic reforms.

The immediate threat to Virginia fraternities seems to have abated; so far, at least, as their continuance is concerned. However, it is safe to predict marked changes in the fraternity setup on the Virginia campus after the war and some form of supervision at an institution where the divine rights of the individual have been a fetish since the days of Jefferson. Governor Darden's original recommendation was that members should not be allowed to live in their chapter houses. Here again the charge of the undemocratic character of fraternity life was made. A special Hearing Committee was appointed to investigate fraternity conditions. This reported back that the obvious remedy for the unsatisfactory conditions, which were admitted, was to provide for the nonfraternity men social facilities comparable to those enjoyed by the fraternity men. The Governor in his recent message to the Legislature recommends an appropriation of $3,000,000 for "the erection of student facilities."

He stated further that "the Board of Visitors (of the University) intends to require the undergraduates to reside together in dormitories during the first two years they are in residence, and they also expect to require one year in residence before a student can join or be asked to join a fraternity."

There has never been more evidence of a sympathetic attitude of the college administrations toward the fraternities than has been shown during the emergency created by the war. The majority of leases of fraternity houses have been made with the definite objective of enabling the fraternities to weather the storm. Willingness to dispense with fraternities is expressed less often. But equally evident is a determination that fraternity life shall be revived after the war on a much more constructive basis. In the words of President Day of Cornell, unless these reforms come from within, the institutions will have to effect them themselves.

There are many campuses throughout the country where fraternity life has all but died out. On most of them there are not enough undergraduates left to assure the continuity of their chapters and their vigorous rebirth after the war. The National Interfraternity Conference is consequently promoting the organization on every campus of an interfraternity alumni council which shall devote itself to the problem of postwar revival, and on a basis in keeping with revised educational objectives. But that will not minimize the importance of having the alumni of individual chapters rally to the support of their fraternities.

The strength of the fraternity system during the years ahead will depend more upon the co-operation of the alumni than on any other single factor. Where chapters have ceased to function, they can be revived only through the efforts of the alumni. One of the older fraternities is encouraging its alumni to renew their active standing by paying dues, attending meetings, and assuming all the privileges and responsibilities of undergraduate membership. When civilian students return to the campus, these alumni will rush, pledge, and initiate, until they have built up a self-sustaining chapter.

The army, in its great need for men, is curtailing its educational program. This creates an increasingly serious situation for our colleges, which will lose most of their trainees and get few civilian students in return. However, strong pressure is being brought to bear on high and preparatory schools to accelerate their courses so that seventeen-year-old boys may have from six to nine months in college before they are drafted.

Our colleges are facing difficult times. State supported institutions will undoubtedly be protected. Private institutions will suffer most, and some may even pass out of the picture.

The fraternities are already feeling the repercussions of this situation in the form of reduction of rents for the use of fraternity houses. In many cases income from this source may stop altogether. Here again the alumni will be the hope of their fraternity.

The war is having a salutary effect on the scholarship of college men, unquestionably because of the immediate connection between thorough preparation and advancement in their prospective jobs. For the first time, probably in the history of the institution, the All-Men's Average at the University of Colorado was higher during the last quarter, and by a good margin, than the All-Women's Average; and the All-Fraternity Average was not only higher than the All-Sorority Average, but higher than the All-Women's Average, though not higher than the All-Men's Average.

dubbed "Tuba" at the Naval Academy because of his generous proportions, was spending fifteen years as a naval officer in all parts of the world. His fetish for navigation and figures brought him back to shore eventually to specialize in navigation and control problems, and he took three years of postgraduate work at Annapolis in gunnery.

While in the Navy he developed the computing gasoline pump which is in current use throughout the world. This was merchandized by Ralph to Veeder Root and the Wayne Pump Company, and the Maxson brothers collected handsome royalties.

"Tuba" then, as he puts it, thought he was a pretty "hot" engineer and inventor, so in 1935 he resigned from the Navy and started his own consulting engineering firm. Among the notable things accomplished by this firm before the war was the invention, design, and construction of the celestial navigation equipment for Howard Hughes' famous trip around the world. A combination of buttons is pressed and the answer shows on a dial. His developments are today the basis for many navigating and military control devices, speeding up the answers, taking out the guesswork and eliminating much of the training and skill previously required.

Today "Tuba" is the head of the W. L. Maxson Corporation with over fifteen hundred development engineers, draftsmen, designers, etc., occupying four plants in New York City. Their current work is nearly all of a secret military nature. To further the production of devices developed, the government has helped them to establish many of

AROUND THE FIREPLACE

WITH GOOD DELTS

The Inside Story

It is difficult to give an accurate report on the inside story of a fraternity at war. The script must be revised even as the type is set, but it seems only natural that you should want to know what you are doing in this period—for you are Delta Tau Delta.

In peacetime, when a fraternity positions itself with the educational world, that is sufficient—it is even considered a job well done. But, during today's universal upheaval, consideration must be given to almost the complete world picture, economic, social, and political, in order best to serve the Allied cause and the fraternity's own purpose.

Against a backdrop of war, Delta Tau Delta has become increasingly conscious of the necessity for realignment in a broader field than ever before. Although the Fraternity does not expect to grow greatly during such a period on the basis of income or numbers, the benefits to be accrued in the intangibles are illimitable. Delta Tau Delta has made and will continue to make the required adjustments.

We are proud to present to you this statement of the program being executed now and the plans advanced for the future:

More than 7,000 members (1 out of every 4), including many keymen, are in the armed forces. Chapters are giving up Shelters for use as military barracks. The Fraternity is following a policy of strict economy in every department and is investing endowment funds in war bonds. Several chapters have a nice nest egg in these securities, also.

Detailed blueprints are being made for immediate action after the war. Every local situation is being analyzed for return to normal operations. Smooth assimilation of servicemen and youngsters from prep school into well-organized and functioning units is being prepared for. Increased funds for scholarships and loans to individuals will be available. Plans are laid for an expanded field staff to cover the entire Fraternity quickly and get the job done promptly.

Servicemen not returning to the campus will find that alumni chapters will assist them to discover opportunities in business and professional fields. Committees are forming and doing the spadework now.

There will undoubtedly be further adjustments to make. Existing plans will be revised. New plans will be created to meet changing conditions. Delta Tau Delta will, nevertheless, survive the war because its defense is the accumulated strength of the chapters and the house corporations, which after all are you, the alumni.

Our Silent Partners

Delt mothers have long since been a basic factor in the successful building of the Fraternity. Their activity seldom comes to any widespread attention because they don't operate that way—they are our silent partners.

From time immemorial, when the man has gone off to the wars, the woman has taken over. During this war period, with the ranks of the undergraduates and alumni being depleted, the Delt mothers have voluntarily assumed responsibility for jobs which would not otherwise be done, from editing of newsletters for servicemen to supervision of property matters.

THE RAINBOW desires to acknowledge the Spartan-like services of the mothers in Delta Tau Delta and will, from time to time, carry articles and bits of news about their activities.

Recent newsheets for Delt servicemen, edited by Delt mothers, have been received from Beta Pi, Gamma Xi, Delta Omicron, and Delta Pi. The editors are, respectively, Mrs. Forrest A. Williams, 227 Main Street, Evanston, Illinois; Mrs. Walter W. Williams, 3300 Royal Place, Cincinnati 8, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Watkins, 443 Sherwood Drive, Webster Groves, Missouri; and Mrs. J. Leo McMahon, 542 North Highland Avenue, Los Angeles 36, California.

Last month we had the pleasant experience of visiting with Mrs. Williams, of the Delta Tau Dames of Cincinnati. Her letter, which follows, reflects the splendid spirit upon which the Fraternity can depend during this war period and ad infinitum:

Although the Delta Tau Dames, mothers' group of Gamma Xi Chapter, have been deprived of our regular meeting place for the past eight months, we have not disbanded. Our chapter house was taken over by the University of Cincinnati to house about fifty-five A.S.T.P. students.

We are holding our regular monthly meetings at the Cincinnati Club, which has proved to be very successful, with an average attendance of twenty-five for luncheon.

Most of the time during the first part of the year was devoted to the "Service News" for our boys. It was met with hearty approval by everyone, alumni as well as actives. A number of our mothers took an active part in making it a real success. Our first issue was sent out in December, and we hope to have another issue ready sometime in June.

Early in the year, in transmitting copy of the Delta Pi newsletter, Mrs. McMahon wrote in part: "We are most proud of Delta Pi Chapter, with eleven new pledges, and we mothers feel it a privilege to be able to assist them not only in keeping the house open, but the morale up."

Beta Upsilon is carrying on, despite the leasing of its chapter house to the A.S.T.P. at Illinois, in a suite of three rooms in an office building across the street from the campus. The address is 709 South Wright Street, Champaign, Ill. Late in March the chapter reported four new pledges: Kenneth Lamm, Oak Park, Ill.; Gale Billard, LaSalle, Ill.; Dick Chapin, Danville, Ill., and Dick Ruehe, Urbana, Ill.

Operating in a fashion more in tune with the '80's, insofar as living conditions are concerned, Delta Tau Delta's Gamma Beta at Illinois Tech has done a creditable job in the face of war conditions. At mid-winter the chapter had rented an apartment at 3542 South Princeton Avenue in Chicago, the apartment being heated solely by coal stoves.

The chapter personnel fared well in campus activities: A/S Dick Michalek, major letter winner in boxing, was unanimously chosen vice-president of the Illinois Tech Student Association. A/S Larry Johnson was elected chairman of the All-School Social Committee. Gordon Fleischer, major letter winner in basketball despite a broken bone in his foot, was elected president of Honor I, athletic honorary.

Among the repatriates on the last exchange trip by the "Gripsholm" were EARL O. WILSON, Hillsdale, '14, and ELON OLNEY, Hillsdale, '34. The former was connected with the University of Pekin in China for many years and had been head of the Chemistry Department for some time. The latter was stationed in Tokyo and Manila with the National City Bank of New York.

All formal rushing and pledging activities at the University of Nebraska have been eliminated for the duration; however, Beta Tau is carrying on in a fine manner. Four men returned to school last fall and composed the active chapter. They operated from a couple of rooms. Lt. Col. Hobb Turner, the motivating force behind undergraduate and alumni activity in Lincoln, published a newsletter early in the year for all Beta Taus. He plans to send out another soon.

Representing twenty-four chapters of the Fraternity, thirty members of the Los Angeles Alumni Association of Delta Tau Delta inaugurated the first of a series of monthly dinners January 21 at the Delta Pi chapter house at the University of Southern California.

The dinner was excellent, a tribute to the manager of the house and the Mothers' Club, who, despite food rationing, were able to gather the necessary ingredients essential to a good meal. Spirit ran high and songs and jokes interrupted the rattle of knives and forks and dishes in a constant Niagara of good cheer.

After dinner came the highlights of the evening. Brother Charles A. McGee, Wisconsin, '99, was presented with a fifty-year membership certificate. Presentation was made by Brother Nat Fitts, Colorado, and Brother McGee responded in a speech which made an impression on everyone.

In one of the most remarkable talks ever given by an undergraduate, Bob Meyer, head of Delta Pi chapter, held the attention of the alumni for almost an hour. In his talk Meyer told of the ideals of the chapter and reviewed the progress made by it since installation three years ago. His spirit and talk were an exemplification of all things Delts hold sacred, and the impression he made on the older men was something to remember. Bob, incidentally, has recently been elected president of the senior class at Southern California.

Other speakers during the evening included Barry Hillard,

Gamma

George Washington, and Dan Ferguson, Chicago. Hillard, who might be considered the "daddy" of Delta Pi chapter and who was its first adviser, gave a brief history of the chapter and events which happened prior to its establishment, while Brother Dan'l performed a feat which might have made that famous memory expert, Addison Simms, of Seattle, green with envy. Starting at the head of the table, Dan'l introduced each man present and not only remembered everybody's name but was also able to name the chapter from which he came.

Everyone present voted the evening a splendid success. The Los Angeles Alumni Association takes this opportunity of thanking each member who was present, and entertains the hope that at the next dinner, scheduled in April (March being skipped because of the Founders' Day dinner at the University Club, March 10), the attendance will be appreciably greater.

Gamma Tau of Kansas was well represented on the University football team of 1943. Charles Moffett and Clifford Wade both held positions on the grid team that was credited with one of the nation's biggest upsets by defeating Missouri, 7-6. Moffett played tailback while Wade held down a guard position. A further tribute to their ability is the fact that both men are freshmen.

Moffett also played on the starting quintet in basketball and was one of the Big Six conference's leading scorers. Wade played semi-pro hockey at Wichita on week ends and was chosen for a forward berth on the all-league team at the end of the season.

Reporting on the status of membership at Epsilon chapter, Albion College, the corresponding secretary writes: "One of our actives is a South American from Bogota, Colombia, named Alberto Cardozo, and so we are sure of having one active on the campus next fall." The Albion chapter started the year last fall with nine actives and two pledges. Since, they have pledged nine new men and initiated seven. All but six have been taken into the armed forces. The Shelter was leased to the College for use as a girls' dormitory and the men are operating from headquarters at 709 Perry Street.

News briefs from Beta Epsilon Chapter at Emory: Senator ALBEN W. BARKLEY, '00, has distinguished himself in this nation's history during the past few months. It was largely through the efforts of this capable statesman that a long-awaited showdown was reached in the White House-Capitol Hill situation. Delta Tau Delta and especially Beta Epsilon Chapter are proud of Senator Barkley and the work he is doing in the important task of leading a nation at war. Senator Barkley was initiated on November 13, 1897, at the age of nineteen.

Beta Epsilon Chapter is proud of her members who were recently initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship fraternity, on the Emory campus. Dr.

COLIN ENGLISH, '17, state supervisor of education for Florida; DR. MARVIN H. HARPER, '23, recently returned from India and now a member of the Emory faculty, and PFC. EDWARDS WHATLEY, '44, of the Emory medical school, were initiated by this fraternity in February.

PVT. EUGENE CARLETON POWELL, '43, was wounded in action in Italy last month. Powell is with the infantry, and has probably seen a great deal of action on the battlefront. He is reported recovering in a hospital somewhere in Italy.

By MYRON C. SCOFIELD.

Although the Beta Iota house is closed at the University of Virginia, ENSIGN WALTER M. McCLELLAND, '44, has kept up an exchange of news between the members. He invites all of them to send him information about themselves and their addresses at Training Officers Quarters, Naval Operating Base, Norfolk 11, Virginia.

R. SCOTT PEARSON, corresponding secretary of the Westminster chapter, writes in glowing terms of their activities this year. Delta Omicron's first pledge class under unusual conditions created by the Navy V-12 program was the largest thus far since the chapter was chartered.

Perhaps the one item of which the chapter is most boastful is the fact that it has the most campus officers living in the civilian house. John Owen, president, is the Grand Marshall of the Skulls of Seven, honorary senior fraternity, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, and president of the student body. Richard Moore is vice-president of Chi Alpha Omega, national preministerial fraternity and president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Ted Hoerchler is president of Phi Rho Epsilon, national premedical fraternity, and Bob Kroening is president of the International Relations Club.

Among the social activities of the chapter was the unique Christmas formal, held in Tucker mansion, a house prominently mentioned in King's Row.

Since November, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Watkins of Webster Groves, Missouri, parents of ALUNUS DICK WATKINS, '44, have been publishing a newspaper, Westminster Delt, which contains letters from, news about, and addresses of all the alumni spread over the four corners of the earth. Every active member and alumnus of Delta Omicron receives a copy once a month.

"Mom" Ruth Owen left the chapter the latter part of February for a new position. She was halfway toward completing her tenth year with the group.

their own manufacturing plants and much other work has been subcontracted throughout the country. Among the devices and developments are bomb sights, power turrets, optical instruments, navigating computing devices, airplane radio control mechanisms, and automatic gun controls.

One of the devices recently released from the secret list is the famous "Maxson Turret," or officially the M-45 Power Machine Gun Mount. Thousands of these Four members of Delta Chapter (Michigan) got together early in March at Long Beach, California, for the first time in thirty years. They are: MORLEY GRISWOLD, '15, former governor of Nevada, now practicing law in Reno; LT. COL. have been built and are in service all over the world. Recent news releases indicated that four of these mounts shot down 102 Nazi planes in Italy in a few weeks time. Brig. Gen. Barnes, of the Ordnance Department, has commended the Maxson engineers for "material assistance in the furtherance of the national war effort," in connection with this weapon, which is carried by a half-track, dubbed "wasp wagon."

"Tuba's" ambition is to apply such developments of mechanical computing devices and controls to commercial uses for postwar.

His son, "Bill," is now in the Naval Air forces.

You can see everything. The gag here is that the front lines are so close together that Germans and Americans take turns butting in on each others' conversations. For instance, one Yank thought he had diphtheria and asked the doctor to examine his throat. The doctor did. As he said, "No, son, you haven't got diphtheria," a German yelled, "The hell he hasn't."

The fighting here is bitter and sullen, and the Germans are pretty wonderful at utilizing terrain for defense. I think we can learn something from them on that score. It has been a bloody treadmill around Cassino for weeks, but I think soon now we will be moving ahead.

DELTS IN THE SERVICE

CAPT. ROBERT P. McCAMPBELL, Nebraska, '41, is on MacArthur's staff in New Guinea. It is reported that he was wounded in action, leading a volunteer group through the jungle to locate and return a lost company of soldiers. Another Nebraska man, MAJOR WILBUR BEEZLEY, '31, pilots General MacArthur around New Guinea. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in the Coral Sea battle.

"For extraordinary heroism" reads the citation accompanying the Navy Cross awarded to LT. (j.g.) JACK P. BARNUM, Miami, '39. He was a pilot of a torpedo plane during action against enemy Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands campaign. Participating in an aerial torpedo raid against a Japanese task force and pressing home his attack through a bursting hail of fire from hostile anti-aircraft batteries, he contributed to the scoring of a direct hit on an enemy cruiser. The citation further states, "His courageous fighting spirit and fearless devotion to duty, maintained with utter disregard for his own personal safety, were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Servicemen and local citizenry alike were impressed, to say the least, a few weeks ago in Lynchburg, Virginia, when they entered a drugstore and saw a two-star general perched on a stool at the fountain counter. He was Delta Tau Delta's MAJ. GEN. EDWIN P. PARKER, JR., George Washington, '12, who was en route to Camp Pickett where he is in command of the 78th Division which is in training there.

LT. COM. EDWARD HESSEL, Cincinnati, '36, has been decorated by the President for exploits in the South Pacific.

Now a Major in the Medical Corps, KENNETH E. THORNBURG, DePauw, '28, is the chief of the medical service of a station hospital near Casablanca in North Africa.

The Nebraska GELLATLY family is making its contribution to the war effort. CHAL, '16, father of the boys, spent some time on the Alcan Highway project. CAPT. JACK, '40, is in the infantry and has been an instructor at Ft. Benning for more than a year, and is toying around with a glider command. LT. DICK, '43, infantry, is member of a tank destroyer outfit in Texas.

Among Deltis reporting to Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., in recent months are JOHN A. HOLDEN, Wabash, '44; AUGUST R. JOHNSON, Western Reserve, '47; RICHARD W. HERSHBERGER, Kenyon, '47; ROBERT N.

HILL, Oregon State, '45; FRED H. ZOLLINGER, W. & J., '40; EDWARD J. O'DONNELL, W. & J., '43; ROSS L. OLIVER, Colorado, '46; GEORGE E. TIEFT, III, Ohio State, '44; JOHN L. FORD, California, '44; ADRIAN A. COLLART, Purdue, '46, and CHARLES M. LOUGH, JR., Florida, '44.

One of six air transport command pilots who volunteered in September, 1942, to ferry Lightning fighter planes to England by a North Atlantic route, CAPT. PARKER L. BERGE, Minnesota, '41, has been awarded the Air Medal.

When the battle of Bougainville was at its peak, LT. WILMER W. (WALLY) STOVER, Ohio State, '39, was given the task of rescuing an American patrol from a cave where it was trapped. The cave was covered by strong Jap fire. Constantly threatened by this enemy fire, Lt. Stover crawled up a shallow gully of the cliff on which the cave was located. Ordering his men to conceal themselves and cover his advance, he leaped through bullets onto a ledge and into the cave. Lt. Stover shouldered a wounded man and slid back over the ledge of the bluff, guiding the rest of the patrol to safety.

He received the Distinguished Service Cross, with the following citation:

"Lt. Stover's bravery, superior reconnaissance prior to the rescue and his complete control over his men made it possible for him to accomplish the hazardous mission without additional casualties. The skill and daring with which he executed the dangerous task was an inspiration to his entire company."

A fraternal reunion was held this winter in Africa between GORDON GASKILL, Tennessee, '34, author and war correspondent, and LT. COM. RICHARD WILLIAMS, Tennessee, '33, chaplain, U.S.N.R.

GEORGE E. MICKEL, Nebraska, '31, was promoted early this year to lieutenant colonel in the Army Air Forces Central Flying Training Command at Randolph Field.

LT. STUART D. JOHNSTON, Penn State, '39, was one of two American Navy fliers to sight a German flotilla of eleven destroyers in the Bay of Biscay. He and his companion shadowed the flotilla for six hours, while flashing signals that brought British warships speeding in to sink three of the enemy. At that time Lt. Johnston had a seventeen-day-old son whom he had never seen.

LT. CARL F. HULL, Lehigh, '32, pictured on Page 70, is a survivor of the "Liscome Bay" sinking. That baby flattop went down twenty miles southwest of Makin Island in the Central Pacific November 24 last year. Lt. Hull felt a particularly close kinship with the "Liscome Bay." Her keel was laid on his birthday, December 9, 1942, and he was there at Astoria, Ore., when she was commissioned August 7, 1943. He was on her during trial runs, the shakedown cruise, and battle maneuvers in the Pacific. He went with her on her first mission, and he was there when she died in flames near Makin.

PRENTICE SHENTON, Syracuse, '33, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain at Fairfield Air Service Command, Patterson Field, Fairfield, Ohio, where he is assistant adjutant of an air base squadron.

T/SGT. SETH MESERVE, Florida, '40, is a Link Trainer instructor, stationed at Gunter Field, Alabama.

CAPT. W. A. OSTNER, Florida, '37, is on the General Staff at Camp Carson, Colorado. His brother, CAPT. CHARLES OSTNER, Florida, '41, is an instructor in surveying at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma.

In charge of recruiting WACS and Army Air Forces pilots at Jacksonville is CAPT. DAVID E. WILLIAMS, Florida, '34.

A war surgeon at a station hospital at an important New Guinea base, CAPT. JOHN R. LOUDON, Kansas, '25, has handled casualties from all campaigns fought in the Southwest Pacific in the past year, as well as victims of tropical diseases that take as heavy toll as Jap bullets.

Back in college days it was "Captain" HARRY GAMBLE, Beta Xi, '27, when he led the famous Tulane University football team to its championship in 1925. Now, as Ensign Gamble of the U. S. Coast Guard Volunteer Port Security Force, Harry reached back to his days of football fame, as he signed up two of his old teammates, Gordon F. Wilson and Eugene Bergeret as members of the U.S.C.G.V.P.S.F.

Gamble and Wilson formed an unbeatable end combination on Tulane's football teams for four years, while Bergeret was starring at tackle on the same teams.

This team of volunteers is performing a very vital service to their country and to the Port of New Orleans. The threat of sabotage, such as the grim reality of fire on New Orleans' vast waterfront docks, is one that has to be dealt with like any other major hazard of war. Thousands of tons of supplies and equipment for our armed forces are clearing through the port of New Orleans, and her riverfront docks are humming with activity. These vital facilities as well as the actual war materials must be protected, and require the service of thousands of men of the armed forces through the Coast Guard. These Coast Guard men are being released for active duty by the citizens volunteer organization. This result is the guiding force behind the movement.

Thanks to men like Gamble, who is a leading attorney of New Orleans and a popular fellow, today this volunteer citizen organization is over 1,000 strong. They are trained for the work to be done and sworn into the Coast Guard temporary reserve for the duration of the war, and are equipped with uniform and military powers. The U.S.C.G.V.P.S.F. is the real thing, not just a name only. May it continue to grow in strength.

ENSIGN A. ETHMER GORDON, Butler, '38, is attending the Communications School at Harvard.

On his way to a new duty station, LT. (s.g.) WILLIAM F. WELCH, DePauw, '40, stopped in Indianapolis late in March. He has been assigned temporarily to the Bureau of Supply and Accounts of the Navy Department in Washington, following a tour at the Naval Receiving Barracks, Shoemaker, California.

He was ordered to active duty in June, 1941, and reported to the Navy Supply Corps School at Harvard for three months. After that he was aboard a heavy cruiser for approximately eighteen months. The cruiser which left her berth at Pearl Harbor shortly before December 7, 1941, has seen action in every theater in the Pacific.

Only Delt encountered by Bill in nearly three years of duty was LT. (j.g.) ROBERT HOLLISTER, R.P.I., '36, a public works officer in the Naval Engineering Corps.

A late report advises that Bill is now attending Columbia University's Naval School of International Administration for a six-month course.

Taking official photographs at the United Nations conferences at Cairo and Teheran, CAPT. CHARLES ROMINE, Illinois, '39, saw quite a bit of Premier Stalin, whom he says appeared to be "very gentle and poised," with none of the mannerisms usually expected of a man in his position.

"Chuck" was designated to convoy the official explanations from Cairo to the War Department in Washington, D. C., regarding the confusion attending the release of information on that conference and he was assigned by Col. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, to bring back pictures and newsreels from Teheran. The trip back was made in twenty-seven hours.

Russian and American officers thrown together in the Iranian capital got along quite well, "Chuck" said. Stalin's pilot, a colonel in the Russian Air Force, gave him a five-ruble note for his 12-year-old brother in Champaign, Ill.

LT. MARK K. BRIGHT

Cited for courageous achievements in aerial combat, LT. MARK K. BRIGHT, DePauw, '40, has been awarded the Navy Cross, the Air Medal, and a Gold Star in lieu of a second air medal.

The Navy Cross citation is as follows:

"For extraordinary heroism during action against enemy Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands on August 7, 1942. Upon sighting a hostile force of eleven dive bombers intent upon raiding our transports and other surface vessels, Lieutenant (junior grade) Bright, intercepting one of the planes in the midst of its dive, shot it down before it could release its bombs. Shooting down a second and assisting in the destruction of two others which crashed under the combined fire of his guns and those of other friendly pilots, he, by his cool courage and superb airmanship, contributed materially to the success of our forces in a vigorous attack which destroyed a total of nine Japanese bombers and effectively disrupted the enemy's plans."

At mid-April he had been credited with his seventh Zero.

Among Delts receiving awards for outstanding service in World War II are LT. (j.g.) GEORGE FORBES, Colorado, '38, the Distinguished Flying Cross for action in the Aleutian Islands; LT. (j.g.) EMIL HANSON, Washington, '40, the Distinguished Flying Cross for action near Kiska; CAPT. OLIVER F. KELLER, Florida, '38, the Air Medal; LT. JOHN P. RAGSDALE, Michigan, '42, the Air Medal and Purple Heart (awarded posthumously); and BURTON D. YARIAN, Butler, '41, the Air Medal.

LT. A. ROGER CONANT, Wisconsin, '41, is a Marine fighter ace, who had six Japanese planes to his credit, according to releases early in 1944.

A recent story in the Birmingham Age-Herald tells how CAPT. HAROLD B. LAWSON, Alabama, '39, of Findleyville, Pa., has managed to invent a system that has so far outwitted the gunners of the anti-aircraft and outfoxed the ack-ack. Capt. Lawson has completed fifty missions over enemy territory, earning a trip home and the Air Medal with Silver Star and four Oak Leaf Clusters. Those included ship bombings, sea sweeps, raids on Tunis and Sousse during the Tunisian campaign; attacks on Sardinia, Pantelleria, Sicily, Central Italy, the first Rome raid and the Naples battering not long ago.

Experts say there can be no system in fighting ack-ack but an eye-witness, one that has flown with Capt. Lawson, says: "It works with Hal. You've never heard of him because he has never had any serious trouble. He has never lost a plane or had one badly damaged. He has never had a man wounded except for maybe a scratch—and if you check the records around here you'll find that's really some score."

"What's more, he doesn't make his evasive action interfere with getting on the target. He will count and twist and turn and count and bank again, but when the time comes to hit the bombing runs he comes out of it right on the money every time. Ask his bombardiers. They'll tell you."

After more than six months of active duty aboard a destroyer which escaped Pearl Harbor and has been in every major South Pacific engagement since that time, EUGENE GRAHAM, Butler, '45, called at the Central Office March 17. The next day he was married to an Indianapolis girl, Miss Mary Jean Burgess, Alpha Chi and Butler alumnae.

Gene is a petty officer in the U.S.N.R. He was given his boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., and attended quartermaster school at Newport, R. I. After seeing action at Cape Gloucester, Rabaul, and Truk, he received leave. He has now reported back to the West Coast where the destroyer is being repaired, having been damaged by a Jap torpedo in the initial bombing of Truk. The destroyer is part of a task force now up for the Presidential Unit Citation.

Among the prisoners of war reported to the Central Office to date are CAPT. DONALD W. ROBINSON, North Dakota, '36, a prisoner of the Japs since the siege on the Philippines, and BEN K. HUMPHREY, Idaho, '38.

CAPT. CHUCK FLYNN, Carnegie Tech, '39, has returned to the States from active duty in Persia.

Military Statistics Reported to Date:

FRATERNALLY YOURS

As the years crowd along memory fails, especially as to dates. November 1, 1943, friends celebrated my 96th birthday. I entered W. & J. College in 1865, graduated in 1868. I became a Delt soon after I entered college and chapter. I am told I am now the oldest college graduate and possibly the oldest ΔΤΔ. I have good health and go to my office every day for at least part of the day and continue my professional work as lawyer. I enclose check for three dollars and renewal card for RAINBOW. Yours truly, W. D. BRANDON, W. & J. '68.

I am enclosing check to pay Donald G. Coe's, North Carolina, '35, debt to the Loyalty Fund. Donald is at present in Algiers and as communications are slow sometimes, I just received his letter asking me to pay it. He is United Press and Blue Network war correspondent at Allied Force Headquarters. Sincerely, ELLEN S. COE.

... As you know my family is among the larger Delt families—Dad was initiated Beta Iota, '06, later attended Tulane, Beta Xi, '07; Gordon, Jr., Beta Xi, late Delta Eta. I am second and Beta Xi, '41. The third is Gantt, Beta Theta. Mother has been a member of the Mothers Club of Beta Xi for many years. Laurie, my youngest brother, is a corporal in the U. S. Army. ... He has not as yet had the chance (to be a Delt) as he enlisted in the Army shortly after graduating from high school.

Gantt was killed in action over Guadalcanal June 16, 1943. He was a member of a fighting squadron based ashore and I think loved flying above all else. I was fortunate in seeing him in the South Pacific area approximately three months before his accident. I can remember his answer when I told him goodbye "Take care of yourself; shoot first and be sure you shoot straight." "Don't worry about me, Bob," he answered, "there isn't a Jap—alive that can outfight me." Cocky, but his sincere belief. Unfortunately, he was killed in a midair collision as the squadron turned to attack a group of Zeros.

The record of the squadron for the five months on Guadalcanal: fifty-eight Jap planes destroyed with the small loss of five of our pilots. Gantt had been promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) the first of May. ...

Don't know exactly what prompted me to write this letter. ... I guess I am just a little proud of my family, fraternity relations, and my brother, who has not lost his life, but traded it for a dear conscience. Fraternally, LT. ROBERT LEE BOSWELL, U.S.N.R., Tulane, '41.

COL. HESS, COL. MEANS, and MAJ. HAUCK

It's a long way from Indianapolis, Indiana, to A.P.O. 885, India, but even so the Deltas seem to find one another.

I was quite surprised to find Col. Oliver Hess (Syracuse '13) in the Inspector General's Office of the Air Force here when I arrived several months ago. He was my P.M.S. & T. at Syracuse University from 1929-33 and besides is a charter member of the former Gamma Omicron Chapter. Now he is a valuable man on Major General George Stratemeyer's staff.

Later I bumped into Howard Means who recently was promoted to Colonel. He is from Carnegie Tech, '36. At present he is A-3 on the same staff with Colonel Hess.

I get THE RAINBOW over here and we pass it around. It sure is good to read about other Deltas in the services. We would appreciate knowing of any other Deltas over here if you can help us.

I am enclosing some pictures which may be useful. Fraternally, MAJOR HERMAN A. HAUCK, Syracuse, '33.

... I have just received additional photos of Jim in his camp. He looks very well. I am sending him cigarettes through Canada, England, and New York—and he is receiving them and our parcels. The Red Cross has been wonderful to him, and I mean wonderful. So has the War Prisoners' Aid Division of the Y.M.C.A. We have received fifty-three communications from him. I wish he could be exchanged, but his life is saved, and when I consider that he and one companion were the only known survivors of the sinking, on May 1, 1942, of the U.S.S. "Cythera," carrying a crew of about seventy-five, I cannot be too grateful. Sincerely, JAMES M. BROWN, JR.

Mr. Brown is the father of James M. Brown, III, Amherst, '39, who has been a prisoner of war in Germany since May, 1942.

I have not had a lot of time to keep in contact with Delta Tau Delta, but I do realize that the night I pledged Delta Tau Delta I made one of the most important decisions of my life. I have met brothers all over the United States and each time I am more pleased with my Fraternity. I only hope that in the better days to come I will be able to finish my college studies. I know that being a brother of Delta Tau Delta will give me a greater incentive to return to the college life I left so hurriedly behind me almost two years ago.

After finishing cadet training with the U. S. Navy Air Corps, I arrived at Cherry Point, North Carolina, a boot second lieutenant. I am now a fairly well-trained Marine fighter pilot on the first leg of a long journey to a combat area. My ship—the Vought Sikorsky "Corsair"—is a "combat champ" if there ever was one.

Well, gentlemen, I am closing now. There will be an aeroplane waiting for me in a very few minutes. Good luck in the fine work you are doing and keep your fingers crossed for all us Deltas in the services. Very sincerely yours, LT. JOHN E. DATE, JR., U.S.M.C.R., Minnesota, '44.

I just had a very unusual experience. When I stopped into a cigar store the clerk who waited on me was wearing a regulation initiation badge, and I asked her where she got the "Delta Tau Delta pin." "The what?" she said. "That badge you are wearing." "Oh, that belongs to my uncle who found it in a Navy yard in California during the last war." It seems he is not a member of the Fraternity.

I thereupon gave her $5.00 for the pin; first of all, because I did not want her wearing it, and secondly, because the person to whom it belongs might be very happy to have it returned. The number on the back of the badge is X1834. It is from the Chi Chapter with the initials WFW "20."

If you will be good enough to tell me whose pin this is, and his present address if known, I will write him about the pin. ... Fraternally, DUTT (J. DUNTON) BARLOW, Albion, '26.

The badge was issued to Walter F. Wright, Kenyon, '20.

A few days ago I received the ΔΤΔ News, forwarded to me by my mother. I was certainly glad to get all of the news from the Fraternity and to see that so many of the chapters are surviving the inroads of war. ... Nothing much to report from this area. A short time ago we had a nice show—two Jap bombers got knocked down right above us. Brotherly, LT. JOSEPH L. ATKINS, Oregon State, '41.

... Get a big kick out of serving with the Marines because they fight to annihilate the enemy. Never let them retire to re-form again. Three times out here we have killed 5,000 Japs in seventy-two hours. Few prisoners—none got away, or only a handful at most. That's the way the Russians fight. ... Fights are short and sweet.

Everybody at home seems to be interested in Fuzzy Wuzzies. Long time since they were cannibals. Many of them Catholics who talk pigeon English. Just as leave have a .45 with me when visiting their villages, because they still have that man-eating stare. Many of them work to clear the boondocks. Americans are tops with them, but how they fear and hate the Japs, who paid them nothing and made bayonet targets out of them on slightest pretense.

Should be back by Thanksgiving, maybe before. Fraternally, EDWARD B. IRVING, Major, U.S.M.C.R., Pennsylvania, '16.

The Editor is indebted to Howard Foster, secretary of the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter, for the interesting letter quoted above.

... A lot of things have happened since the last time I wrote to you, I was in boot camp at Parris Island, South Carolina, back in December of 1942. ... Since then I have been to O.C. class in Quantico, Virginia, and to Reserve Officers Class in Quantico. After leaving there in July, 1943, I went to San Diego where I did duty at Marine Fleet Air West Coast in the communications department. I was lucky enough to spend six months in California with my new bride, and that is a break that a lot of servicemen would like to get.

In January of this year I arrived in the South Pacific. I am now a Communications Watch Officer with Marine Aircraft South Pacific and also Personnel Officer for all communications personnel in Marine Aviation in the South Pacific. These two jobs keep me very busy, and I am glad for it makes the time go faster. We are all looking forward to the day when we can throw a big party with all the Delt brothers in the States.

There are several GI boys that I correspond with and we are spread all over the globe. Stanley Jung is on the U.S.S. "Idaho"; James Layden is in Trinidad with the Navy; James Vaughn is with the Army in Washington; and Malcolm Kutner is with the Navy in Peru, Indiana. We plan to give a big party at the Shelter in Austin after the war, and here is one Delt that is looking forward to the good day.

Keep up the good work you are doing, and I pray for the day when we will all be able to work for the Fraternity again. Fraternally, BILLY D. PARKER, LT., U.S.M.C.R., Texas, '42.

Island "X" Alumni Chapter
LTS. FISCHBACH and O'SHAUGHNESSY

We are sending you this snapshot and news from an island deep in the South Pacific, where two Delts are members of the same outfit, and are tentmates, at that.

We are Lt. John James O'Shaughnessy, Jr., U.S.N.R., Beta Chi (Brown), 1932, and Lt. (j.g.) William Morris Fischbach, M.C., U.S.N.R., Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '34, and Gamma Xi (Cincinnati).

We have established here an Island "X" Alumni Chapter, which now has the above-named two members. If a quorum can be obtained for a meeting, we will hold an election of officers.

We recently received a copy of THE RAINBOW and it was a real pleasure to learn what many of our old friends were doing.

We would appreciate your placing our names on the list of those Delts now in service, and we shall send you another picture shortly from Tokyo. Fraternally yours, JOHN J. O'SHAUGHNESSY and WILLIAM M. FISCHBACH.

I am sorry if I had not informed you before this that Dale W. Byers (Penn State, '42) of 53 East Orchard Avenue, Bellevue (Pittsburgh 2, Pennsylvania), is in military service.

Dale has been in the service as an ensign in the Navy since December, 1942. Has been away from the U. S. for some time, somewhere in the Atlantic. Has gone again, destination not known by the family. ... Very truly, MRS. S. W. BYERS, (Dale's Mother).

... I've run across somewhere in the neighborhood of fifteen Delts out here in the South Pacific; several from my own chapter, Beta Beta. It is really a thrill to walk up, meet someone, and find out that he is a brother. Sincerely yours,

RICHARD R. FILLBRANDT, Ensign, U.S.N.R., DePauw, '43.

Curious to know if the Brig. Gen. Rollins, whose picture appeared on the November, '43, cover, is the same General Rollins who operated with Jackson and Longstreet in the Valley of Virginia campaign in the fall of '67.

Met a Delt out here because of that copy of THE RAINBOW. I had it lying around and he saw it, came up, spoke, and introduced himself. Name was William C. Givens, a captain in the Marine Corps, and is stationed in the vicinity. Forgotten what chapter he came from.

Not much on this coral island except rats, coconuts, and Marines. If the rats don't eat THE RAINBOW, I'll read every word of it. MAJOR JAMES W. AUSTIN, JR., U.S.M.C., Ohio Wesleyan, '37.

The Editor's apologies have been extended personally to Brig. Gen. Francis W. Rollins, Brown, '16, for the transposition in his year on the cover of the November, 1943, RAINBOW, making it appear that he was of the class of '61. Several comments, of which the above is perhaps the cleverest, have been received on this error. In replying to the Editor, Gen. Rollins says: "Confidentially, however, there are times in connection with my duties when I feel so aged that to have been a member of the class of '61 does not seem an impossibility."

I have been receiving regularly the publication of the Columbus Alumni Chapter and have enjoyed reading of the activities of those I know back home. Home and family and friends seem a long way off down here in the South Pacific Islands, for it's been almost four years since I left Columbus. I often wonder how some of us part-time soldiers will fit in when we get back from our strange adventures.

For two years now my outfit has been in the small island chains of the New Zealand and Australian mandates of the Fijian and Solomon Groups. Our last glimpse of anything resembling a civilized place was the town of Suva in Fiji—twelve months ago. Since that time, we have been in almost constant contact with the Japs. We have beaten him at every move and shoved him around until he no longer is the potent force he once imagined himself to be. ...

I had an interesting experience yesterday. I talked through an interpreter to a Jap prisoner. Contrary to some stories you hear, we find they are willing to surrender. This chap was about five feet tall and weighed possibly ninety pounds. He was an ammunition carrier for a field artillery unit, although he didn't look like he could lift a shell. He talked freely, and being an artillery man myself, we got some interesting information from him. GEORGE P. GUTHRIE, Lt. Col. A.U.S., Ohio State, '26.

The above letter was written to the Columbus Alumni Chapter and Don Van Buren passed it along to the Editor, sensing its interest to all Delts.

Boston

March 30 the Delt Alumni Association in Boston was honored at lunch by a visit from Herb McCracken, Secretary of Alumni. It was Herb's first return to our cozy little nest of Cod and Beans since the Eastern Division Conference was held here at the Statler in December, 1942. It was indeed good to see him! He was enthusiastically received by the twenty-five or so members attending the luncheon, and the informal discussion of the Fraternity's postwar employment project was most interesting. Thanks for coming, Herb, and may the future intervals between visits become shorter and shorter.

It was good to hear the other day from our effulgent standard-bearer, Joe Reynolds, President of the Eastern Division, that one of our local undergraduate chapters, Beta Mu at Tufts, is about to resume its status as an active chapter. They are to get off to the good start of initiating seven new members—a commendable record for a chapter which had been rendered inactive by the war!—and Joe is hoping to be able to arrange an evening wherein the Boston Alumni can be in on the big event.

It is presently the hope of the officers that the Annual Dinner (which, incidentally, will take the place of the Founders Day Dinner for us here in Boston this year) can be held the middle of the last week in April—when, by sheer coincidence, Brother Branch Rickey will be here chaperoning his BumTown Bingle Boys in their initial visit of the season to Ye Olde Tribale Wigwame. We hope that by the time you read this we will have had the honor of treating him to dinner, and hearing a few of his silvery words.

To all, Bonnes Vacances! And drop in to see us when you are in Boston! (Lunch, Patton's, Court St. every Thursday noon.)

Chicago Alumni Chapter Founders Day

Chicago

At the Union League Club, Chicago, on Saturday, March 11, the annual Founders Day Luncheon and election of officers of the Chicago Alumni Chapter were held. Some 90 Delts, most of them alumni, gathered at the feast for body and mind. Contributing to the latter were three speakers headed by Brother Joseph A. Brandt, who has recently come to Chicago as Director of the University of Chicago Press, associated with the University of Chicago. His previous activities include Director of the Princeton Press and President of Oklahoma University, but to us his great contribution was the founding of Delta Alpha Chapter at the University of Oklahoma. This wealth of experience, both in and out of college, made possible a most interesting and thought-provoking discussion of postwar problems confronting the fraternity with suggested solutions. Brother Francis Patton told us about Arch Chapter plans for meeting the problems of the fraternity during the war, and Major H. J. Prebensen told of the accomplishments of ordnance procurement in the Midwest.

Officers elected include Karl J. Digel, president; Blake C. Hooper, treasurer; and Merrill M. Dwinell, secretary; while vice-presidents representing active chapters in the Chicago area will be Robert S. Arthur (Beta Upsilon), H. C. Bever (Beta Psi), Arthur C. Rooney (Beta Pi), E. C. Schmidt (Beta Gamma), and E. F. Winter (Gamma Beta). Chairmen of the Committee for Postwar Employment are Carl Kuehnle and Don Snell, and plans are being made for vigorous activity in this campaign.

A newsletter was mailed to 700 Delts in Chicago with the announcement of the Founders Day Luncheon and in this letter were items about 80 Chicago Delts who are in the war or in war work or who have recently "made news" in some respect. These had first been secured by sending a double post card to the entire list asking for news. Here are a few items from this newsletter: Two brothers, Charles L. Acree (Beta Beta) and Frank M. Baker (Mu) are in radio program production work . . . Brig. Gen. Douglas L. Weart (Gamma Beta) Chief of Staff Caribbean Defense Command, stationed in Panama . . . E. W. Skinner (Gamma Chi) Colonel of Marines in the Marshalls . . . Harry Van Petten (Beta Pi) has two sons and a son-in-law in service in Pacific war zone . . . 1st Lt. Air Corps Robert K. Schrader (Gamma Sigma) missing in action since June, 1943, son of

Col. Otto Schrader, retired (Gamma Mu) to whom our sympathy . . . Wilbur C. Munnecke (Gamma Gamma) resigning as vice-president of Marshall Field & Co. to become a vice-president of University of Chicago to co-ordinate the business and administrative affairs of the University.

Cincinnati

Washington's Birthday, the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and the Cincinnati Committee for Economic Development brought Paul G. Hoffman to Cincinnati for the purpose of addressing a luncheon meeting attended by 534 of the city's loyal gentry. Brothers Walter Heuck and Forrest Maddux rolled up their sleeves when they learned that Brother Hoffman was to be the principal speaker, with the result that two large tables were devoted exclusively to Delts. After the luncheon, Brother John Maescher, a member of the Committee, arranged for all Delts present to greet Brother Hoffman more informally. Because his schedule was very close, Brother Hoffman was unable to get to the hospital to see Dad Pumphrey. He did, however, send him a handsome box of roses which pleased Dad immensely.

Brother Forrest Maddux appeared at one of the recent weekly luncheons with tidings of Commander Ben L. Bryant, U.S.N., and a chain letter to which alumni present added a personal paragraph.

Word comes from Brothers Al Clark and Fred McCaslin that those worthies have undertaken the vows of Elks, that organization being the possessor of the only billiard table in the town of Marshfield, Wisconsin.

Major Robert Heuck has reached England and is suffering a dearth of his particular brand of pipe tobacco. We at the luncheons miss Bob a great deal but are experiencing no nostalgia for the aroma of that tobacco.

Lt. Garth Slater, former field secretary, is stationed in Cincinnati. Some of us have lunched with Garth but his military routine has prevented his appearance at the weekly luncheons to date.

Brother Williard Crane has assumed the duties of Director of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service and is welcoming all Delts with open arms.

At this writing, it would seem that the active chapter will be back at 3330 Jefferson Avenue by June; the army has vacated the house, but, under the ninety-day cancellation clause of the lease, it is very probable that the chapter will not be permitted to reoccupy the property until that date. Brothers Walter Williams, John Petzhold, Joe Townsend, and Jack Powell inspected the house and grounds after the army vacated and found them to be in good condition.

The active chapter wishes to repeat its invitation to all Delts passing through the city or the Induction Center at Fort Thomas. Pay the chapter a visit at 2617 University Court.

Clarksburg

Friends of Lt. James W. Bartlett (Beta, '40), of Maple Lake, this city, are looking forward with interest to his marriage this spring to Miss Helen Archbold, of Pasadena, California. Lt. Bartlett is a graduate of Clarksburg High School and Ohio University, where he was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

He entered the service in 1942, and after spending a year in the Aleutian Islands, is now located at the Naval Supply base at Oakland, California.

In March, the mother of Bob Clem received the sad news that her only son had been killed in action in the Pacific area. He had the rank of ensign in the Navy, and was a fighting pilot, wearing the coveted wings of gold. Before enlisting in 1942, Bob was for three years a premedical student at West Virginia University, where he joined the ranks of our Fraternity.

Cleveland

The activities of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter continue to be centered around the weekly luncheon meetings. Although many of our members are serving in the Armed Forces, the bald-headed and bifocaled class continues to rally around the banquet board and enjoy many hours of Delt fellowship.

The annual meeting and Founders Day Banquet were held February 22, 1944, at the University Club. About one hundred Delts were present to hear Brother Tom Herbert, Attorney General of the State of Ohio, deliver the main address. Clem Frank, President of the Northern Division, presented an exceptionally interesting report on "The Fraternity During Wartime." Frank H. Pelton acted as toastmaster for the banquet and kept the meeting going at a high tempo during the entire evening. It was one of the most successful parties that we have had in recent years.

New officers of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter were elected at the annual meeting. They are: Frank Pelton, president; William G. Holloday, vice-president; Henry Eccles, treasurer; and Randall M. Ruhlman, secretary.

With the March issue our local Bulletin starts its tenth year of continuous publication. This sheet has been well received by Cleveland Delts and others throughout the country who are interested in our affairs. It not only serves as a publicity and news medium but our file of past issues constitutes a history of the local chapter.

During the coming year we expect to be as active as ever, and we extend a sincere invitation to any Delt located in this area to take part in any and all of our functions.

Columbus

The annual Founders Day party was held March 4 at the Seneca Hotel. About 110 Delts and their wives dined and danced and had an enjoyable evening. The party was in keeping with the high standards of other Founders Day parties formerly held at the University Club. The undergraduates and men in uniform all reported that the party was a success.

The talk by Professor Samuel Renshaw on Visual Perception during wartime was attended by wives and girls of the undergraduates as well as our own alumni. This is a most interesting and timely subject, and it was our common regret that Professor Renshaw did not devote another ten or fifteen minutes to his subject.

Others on the program included Capt. W. Dean Calland, U.S.A., Bill Eick who presented a tripod to Don Mossbarger, past president of Beta Phi chapter, Walter F. Heer, Jr., who presented a medalion to Samuel Zuhars, new president of Beta Phi chapter, Bill Eells representing Mu chapter, Marcus Kavlin (Mu, '46) of Bolivia, South America, an exchange student at Ohio Wesleyan University, Cpl. Don McCafferty of Fort Bragg, A. Ross Alkire of Mt. Sterling, and Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert.

Marine Paratrooper Clayton Dorsey, Ohio State, '46, who returned recently from a tour of duty in the Southwest Pacific, attended the Founders Day party.

Among recent Delt callers at our office were Probate Judge Otis B. Core, Ohio Wesleyan, '24; Robert K. Porter, Ohio State, '17; James R. Jennings, Purdue, '44, and Joseph R. Hahn, Purdue, '44, both undergraduates of Gamma Lambda; Randall Ruhlman, Western Reserve, '23; and Attorney John L. Speers, Penn State, '23.

William W. (Buzz) Wheaton, Ohio State, '15, has been named head of the national firms division for the 1944 Red Cross War Fund in Columbus.

Grover F. Clements, Ohio State, '13, is the new city treasurer of Columbus. The Ohio State Journal made this editorial comment: "Grover Clements, retiring service director, one of the finest public servants the city has known, is certain to be consulted in many spheres beside the position of city treasurer, which he is to hold."

Lt. Robert E. Gibbs, Ohio State, '35, received his commission in December at Fort Custer, Michigan, in the corps of military police. He was inducted into the Army two years ago and served in Alaska for a year.

Lt. Martin Van Buren, Ohio State and Georgia Tech, '44, received his commission in the infantry at Fort Benning, Georgia, last month after seventeen weeks of intensive training. Lt. and Mrs. Van Buren were in Columbus over New Year's visiting relatives and friends.

George P. (Phin) Guthrie, Ohio State, '26, was recently promoted to lieutenant colonel of artillery in the South Pacific area. Col. Guthrie, former track captain at Ohio State, and an Olympic hurdler at Paris, France, in 1924, was inducted into the Army in 1940, and trained with the 37th Division at Camp Shelby, Mississippi. He has been overseas twenty months.

C. Curtiss Inscho, Ohio State, '33, was recently elected treasurer of the Columbus Chapter of the American Institute of Architects at their annual meeting held here during December.

We are in receipt of a brief announcement that Mary Ruth Gayer and Corp. James Kelso, Jr., Ohio State, '42, were married on Friday, January 7, 1944, at Columbus.

Charles W. McGuire, Ohio State, '95, who entered the Chapter Eternal recently, had in his possession a file of correspondence relating to the founding, November 19, 1894, of Beta Phi Chapter, of which he was a charter member. His daughter has promised to turn over this interesting information to us.

A recent letter from Lt. Ed Moeller, Ohio State, '42, states, "I am playing basketball with the Fort Benning Rifles (3rd STR Team) and we are leading the Infantry School league. We have three All-Americans on the squad. . . . I saw Marty (Van Buren) a couple of times down here and am sure glad he made the grade. They are really making it tough to get through the Infantry course now."

Indianapolis

The Indianapolis Alumni Chapter celebrated Founders Day Saturday, March 4, with a banquet and a dance at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. Fran Hughes, as toastmaster, introduced guests, servicemen, and undergraduates. Samuel R. Harrell, Omega (Pennsylvania), vice-president of Acme Evans Company, Indianapolis, was the principal speaker of the evening and discussed the work of the National Foundation for Education in American Citizenship. Mr. Harrell, Chairman of the foundation, outlined the aims and accomplishments of the organization and emphasized the need for education of the American people to make them true citizens. Undergraduates present represented Beta Zeta (Butler), Beta Beta (DePauw), and Gamma Lambda (Purdue), but the success of the party was dependent upon the large number of alumni present. Fred Hill, general chairman, and Ralph Hueber, ticket chairman, were capably assisted by Ernie Miller, Rex Rafferty, Seward Baker, and George Browne. Splendid entertainment was provided by Colonel Guy Owsley, Executive Officer of Billings General Hospital.

Bill Hutchison and Harold Tharp are cochairmen of our Postwar Planning Committee and are formulating plans for the rehabilitation and re-employment of the brothers who will be returning from the services.

Jess Pritchett, Storekeeper, U.S.N.R., attended boot camp at Great Lakes, Illinois. While he was home on liberty recently, he attended a Friday luncheon meeting and told about his experiences.

Thirty Delts came to the luncheon February 4 to meet and hear Herb McCracken, Secretary of the Alumni. He emphasized that lack of incentive or purpose often causes an organization to fold up, and that this must not happen to Delt alumni chapters. As a worthwhile objective he recommended assisting returning servicemen to obtain employment. He also stated that the support that we can give to undergraduate chapters in Indiana is an important contribution to their continued existence.

Gamma Lambda at Purdue initiated eight men on Saturday, February 6 at the chapter house. Rex Rafferty, Bill Hutchison, Ray Fatout, Scotty Martindill, and Al Sutphin went to West Lafayette for the initiation and banquet. Beta Psi at Wabash initiated five men Sunday, February 13, at Ben Hur

Hall, and Bowman Downey and Scotty Martindill attended. Bowman participated in the initiation ceremony giving the "charge" to the new initiates.

Lt. Colonel Ed James, U. S. Army Air Force, joined the brothers for lunch recently. He is stationed at Denver, Colorado. Ruell Moore has left for the Army. Wallace Weatherholt is a candidate for State Treasurer on the Republican ticket. Larry Gordon, announcer for radio station WIRE, a Delt from Carnegie Tech and Iowa, is a newcomer in Indianapolis and the alumni chapter. Another new resident is Dick Halloran, a Delt from the University of Pennsylvania. He is the new chief accountant at the RCA plant. Bill Martindill, president of the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter, has resigned as credit manager of Pure Oil Company and has accepted an executive position with Stokely Brothers and Company. Fred Tucker was recently elected a member of the board of directors of the Peoples State Bank of Indianapolis.

Jacksonville

A recent report from England brings us news about Oliver F. Keller, Delta Zeta, '38, who served for two years with the Royal Canadian Air Force before transferring to the U. S. Air Force. He is now a captain, stationed in England, and is the pilot of the Flying Fortress, "Journey's End." He was recently awarded the Air Medal.

We are sorry to lose our alumni chapter president, Guy Botts, Delta Zeta, '36, to the armed services. He has already been accepted by the Army, and will report in the next few weeks for training. Guy made every effort to get into the Navy, but was unable to do so on account of poor vision. Wherever he goes, our best wishes go with him.

Frank Brownnett, Delta Zeta, '32, was in town for a few days recently, after finishing his indoctrination training in the Navy. He is currently assigned to the Bureau of Ships, Washington, D. C., as a lieutenant (j.g.).

D. W. Black, a Delt pledge at the University of Florida, has been stationed in Jacksonville since February, awaiting arrival of his ship before going on duty in the Atlantic. He has already seen active duty in the Aleutians and Alaska, where his job was to operate the sound-detecting devices which indicate the approach of enemy submarines. He was recently married to the former Miss Norma Hamilton of Plant City.

With the Naval Air Station and Army training units nearby, Jacksonville probably has many Delts stationed here. If the Jacksonville Alumni Chapter can be of help to you at any time, let us know.

Despite the fact that a very substantial number of our members are now in the Armed Forces, those on the "home front" are still keeping the Delt spirit alive and we have recently had a fine attendance at our regular Thursday luncheons at the Business and Professional Women's Club. Due to the noon-hour rush and the shortage of waitresses, we have been forced to move our luncheons up to 1:00 P.M. but we feel that this change will not materially affect our attendance.

Wishing to render some service to the young Delts returning at the conclusion of the war and as part of the Fraternity's general program, we have appointed a liaison committee to outline a plan whereby we may assist these worthy men in obtaining positions in civilian life. The members of this committee, all very active in the business and civic life of the community, are as follows: J. Cal Morrow, Kansas, '21; R. C. Groves, Missouri, '13; Charles L. Carr, Northwestern, '13; Kenneth Bates, Kansas, '23.

We are happy to see that loyal Delt and prominent attorney, Forrest W. Hanna, Northwestern, '09, up and about again after an extended illness.

We are always pleased to hear from the boys in the armed services and although it is difficult to keep up with all of their activities, we have some recent news on the following:

Capt. Brutus Hamilton, Missouri, '22, has been stationed in England for the past year with the 8th Air Force and is doing fine work as a Briefing Officer.

Major James A. Harper, Missouri, '34, is with the 10th Infantry Division stationed at Camp Young in California.

Capt. Richard L. Wilkinson, Baker, '42, has completed 27 missions as a Liberator pilot, his last mission being the raid on the Ploesti oil fields. He is now with the Ferry Command and stationed at Detroit, Mich.

Lt. Ernest Whitney, Kansas State, '38, is classification officer stationed at MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla. He recently married Miss Cora Noll, a native of Scotland, who has been in the service of the British Government in Washington.

Lt. Hal Quinn, Missouri, '40, was recently assigned to a B-17 for combat training at MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla.

Capt. T. Herbert Records, Missouri, '28, is stationed at Atlanta, Ga., in administrative work.

Lt. (j.g.) Robert Riederer, Kansas, '38, with the Naval Medical Corps, has recently left for foreign service.

Capt. John M. Turner, Stanford, '39, is a Flight Test Pilot stationed at the Rome Army Air Base, Rome, N. Y.

Lt. (j.g.) Tom Carr, Kansas, '40, son of Charles L. Carr, Northwestern, '13, has been on active duty with the Pacific Fleet for the past fifteen months.

Lt. Wm. L. French, Missouri, '31, is with the Fighter Wing of the Signal Corps in England and has recently been sent to Oxford University for special study.

Lt. John Fisher, Kansas, '40, is Assistant Adjutant at Post Headquarters at Gulfport Flying Field, Gulfport, Miss.

Capt. Wyman Wickersham, Missouri, '31, is now attending the AMG training school at Charlottesville, Va.

Lt. Ward Benkelman, Kansas, '41, is a pilot of a Flying Fortress in the Italian campaign.

Lt. Com. Carroll Hungate, Baker, '25, is a Flight Surgeon at the Naval Air Base at Corpus Christi, Tex.

WALTER R. HAUSMANN

Los Angeles

Attracting more than 100 Delts, the Los Angeles Alumni Association of Delta Tau Delta held its annual Founders Day Banquet Friday evening, March 10, at the University Club.

Speaker of the evening was William G. Mathes, Gamma Iota, (Texas), '19, who gave a talk on the development and growth of common law from early English days down to the present. Brother Mathes' theme was the fairness and legal aspects of law under the English and American courts as contrasted with arbitrary high-handedness of courts in totalitarian states. His speech and subject were well received and the talk was particularly applicable to present-day world-wide conditions. Brother Mathes, who is the retiring president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, was introduced by Ben McNeil, Gamma Mu, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Recipient of the fifty-year certificate as a member of Delta Tau Delta was Dr. Edward M. Pallette, Beta Pi (Northwestern), '94. Presentation of the certificate was made by Barry Hillard, Gamma Eta (George Washington), who traced the active participation of Dr. Pallette in the development of the alumni association in Los Angeles during the past thirty years. Dr. Pallette responded with a dignified talk of appreciation.

Altogether the banquet was a complete success. While the attendance was not as large as previous years, it was a splendid turnout when such obstacles as gas rationing, men in the armed services, war work and social activities are taken into consideration.

Needless to say, the alumni association is looking forward to a bigger and better Founders Day Banquet in 1945. JOHN KREHBIEL

New York

The annual Founders Day Banquet was held March 3, at the Yale Club. About 150 Delts were present including a large delegation representing the Wesleyan Chapter. Governor Baldwin of Connecticut, who is a member of that chapter, was the speaker. His talk was greatly enjoyed by all those present. Credit for the arrangements for this exceptionally successful dinner was given to Brother Walter Morris.

Dave Reeder is the head of the committee working out a postwar employment program. He is now engaged in setting up a procedure by which Delts returning from service will be put in contact with Delts in this vicinity who are in a position to provide or suggest employment opportunities.

A committee has been appointed and will report April 20 in regard to ways and means for holding bigger and better luncheons.

Oklahoma City

I won't be able to get out a regular newsletter as I expect to leave for military service. I don't know yet exactly when I will leave, except that it will be soon, nor do I know where I am going.

We will not have a Founders Day program as there are not enough Delts left to manage it.

We have not tried to set up a liaison committee as we don't know who will be left to take over the work.

Preston Wood, Oklahoma, '35, who is a regular officer in the Marine Corps, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel and is on duty somewhere in the Pacific.

Lt. (j.g.) Bill Sutton, Oklahoma, '39, and Major Joe Fred Gibson, Oklahoma, '34, have both visited their families in Oklahoma City recently.

Mother Allen, who has been housemother at Delta Alpha Chapter for the past eighteen years, is still living in the house at Norman and does her best to keep track of the present addresses of all Oklahoma Delts. Anyone wanting information as to any of them can probably come nearer finding out from her than from any other source.

Philadelphia

Interest in the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter is hitting a new high. Few Delts in this area had any idea of the wealth of live names which were in the secretary's files, amounting to about 300 in all. The men were contacted by mail and telephone, bringing up to date the residence address, checking the chapter and year, and also the business address and position. This material was incorporated into an appropriate 36-page booklet which was mailed to all Delts in the Philadelphia district.

Many messages of enthusiasm over the Directory were received and the alumni responded most generously in paying dues and making contributions, with the result that the chapter now has a greater number of dues-paying members and more money in the bank than ever before in its history.

Attendance at the Tuesday luncheons, held at the University Club, is growing by leaps and bounds. Soon the club will find it necessary to increase seating facilities. From the splendid turnouts experienced, it is felt that the Tuesday luncheon is a permanent activity for the Philadelphia alumni. Any Delts visiting Philadelphia are urged to join us.

The early part of March was primarily devoted to income tax problems, so we held our Founders Day Dinner Friday evening, March 24, at the University Club. A boned-shad dinner at this time of the year in Philadelphia is tops. Taking advantage of our recent experience, we expect next March to provide our Lehigh alumni with a private table for their Fish House Punch, for anyone on the outside had a tough time getting through the Lehigh contingent to the punch bowl.

After eating, John J. "Pop" Shipherd, Beta Lambda, (Lehigh), '21, our president, took over and he surely did a beautiful piece of work as toastmaster. "Pop" called on various members to say a few words, and you little realize what talent you have until the boys get on their feet. Probably the outstanding address of the evening was given by our executive vice-president, Ed Noll, Beta Chi (Brown), '20. Every Delt there felt the impact of Ed's inspiration. Horace Barba, Omega (Pennsylvania), '18, a member of the chapter's legal staff was also right out in the lead. We learned Horace was born on the day that Omega Chapter was installed at Pennsylvania and that he was the first to be initiated in the new chapter house built in 1914. "Buzz" Doyle, Tau (Penn State), '17, again prevailed on his business associate, the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, to display exciting new war movies. For this feature of the dinner we gave "Buzz" a rising vote of thanks.

With all of the activities we are enjoying, there is always with us that unfilled gap caused by the absence of the younger alumni who are in the Armed Forces. However, we are laying some definite plans to assist them in getting located on their return. Those of you in service who read this, please remember to contact us as soon as you return, whether on a visit or permanently.

Major Roland T. Addis, Omega (Pennsylvania), '22, we hear now rates his own jeep and is repairing buildings destroyed by shellfire in the battle area of Italy. The Fifth Army keeps him working fourteen hours daily with no Sundays off.

Lt. John Bowditch, III, Gamma Phi (Amherst), '36, is also with the Fifth Army. He is attached to headquarters as historian and that assignment carries with it the free run of the area of operations.

Major Edward B. Irving, Omega (Pennsylvania), '16, is serving as Paymaster for the Seventh Marine Regiment. From Ed's letter the boys are doing a job—killing 5,000 Japs at a clip.

Lowell H. Smith, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '37, was promoted on the field of battle to Captain and cited for a decoration after a terrific two-hour engagement with the Japs on Bougainville, in which he almost single-handedly cleared out the Jap forces and gained a ridge, which was their objective. It was thereafter called "Lowell Smith Ridge." Lowell is now commanding Company I, 3rd Battalion, 3rd Regiment, in the 3rd Marine Corps Division.

Lt. John W. Woerner, Omega (Pennsylvania), '30, has completed his flight training at the Navy's Training Base at Quonset Point and is now attached to the Staff Command of the North Pacific Fleet.

The above is all the recent information your secretary has on our 60 members in service, so please help out by sending in reports on our men in service.

Among our civilian members we have a few items of interest: Dr. Seth A. Brumm, Omega (Pennsylvania), '01, is chairman of the Army Medical Advisory Board currently reclassifying the male population resting in 4-F; Roy R. Coffin, Beta Lambda (Lehigh), '19, has recently joined the New York Stock Exchange; James R. Coleman, Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan), '40, is soon to be married; Thomas B. Gibb, Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan), '07, is back on the job as secretary-treasurer of the North Pennsylvania Railroad after a severe attack of pneumonia; Fred A. Healy, Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '14, after an illness of several months, is back in his office at the Curtis Publishing Company as vice-president and advertising director; Richard J. Heu-er, Beta Lambda, (Lehigh), '21, has been advanced to general manager of the U. S. Slicing Machine Company and moved to LaPorte, Ind.; Charles E. B. Lahens, Rho (Stevens), '28, is now with Silvray Lighting Inc., at Bound Brook, N. J.; Walter L. Rodman, Omega (Pennsylvania), '15, is associated with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company in their legal department; Richard F. Snyder, Omega (Pennsylvania), '40, left the Philco people to be an Ensign; Charles C. Shoemaker, Beta Omicron (Cornell), '34, has gone into service, leaving his job as engineer of the Armour Plate Division of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company; Frederick C. Sweeton, Tau Prime (F. & M.), '94, has retired as assistant general real estate agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad and is now enjoying the sunshine in Florida; Frank F. Truscott, Nu (Lafayette), '17, was appointed city solicitor of Philadelphia by the Mayor—Frank has been chairman of the Civil Service Commission; Henry H. Zeising, Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '08, has been elected vice-president in charge of sales by the Board of Directors of the Midvale Steel & Ordnance Company.

Pittsburgh

The Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter held their Annual Founders Day Banquet March 17 at the Roosevelt Hotel, the main speaker being Clemens R. Frank, Asst. Attorney General of Ohio. Somewhat over one hundred Pittsburgh alumni attended, with a few from the active chapters at Pitt and Tech. On the program also was a member of the active chapter of Gamma Sigma, Larry Bogart, who is honorably discharged from the Marines and at present attending school at Pitt. Brother Bogart served on the "Hor-net" from the time she was commissioned until her tragic end. After his talk, he showed a number of reels of the censored army pictures.

Election of new officers followed the dinner, Robert Hartford being elevated to the presidency and Forrest Lydic, vice-president. Undoubtedly, Brother Hartford will make his appointments for the Liaison Committee in the very near future.

Gamma Sigma Chapter at Pitt has had another unfortunate break in the loss of Brother Eugene Haverly, serving with the Medical Corps in Italy as a captain. His parents were notified of his death in that theater of operation.

Pittsburgh alumni welcome to Pittsburgh Brother O. P. Moon, Carnegie Steel Corp., a Delt from Ohio.

St. Louis

Congratulations are in order for Lt. Charles G. Drake, Delta Omicron, '35, on his recent promotion from Ensign. Charlie is still with the Armed Guard somewhere in the Pacific. Also in line for congratulations is Major Cullen Coil, Gamma Kappa, '30, who was recently promoted.

Word has been received from Lt. George Seielstad, Epsilon, '37, that he is now in Washington, D. C. He, too, receives congratulations on his advance to first lieutenant.

A letter received from Will Beck, Delta Nu, '39, indicates that he is back in Cristobal, Canal Zone, on detached service.

Lt. (s.g.) Don Holt, Gamma Omega, '29, returned home from service in the Pacific for a thirty-day leave, and is now stationed at Long Beach, Calif.

Edward L. Baker, Gamma Kappa, '14, dropped in for lunch recently. It was the first time he has been around for a year or more.

We are glad to hear, through the Chicago alumni letter, that our old friend, Ed Weber, Gamma Kappa, '21, is participating in their activities.

The group has been working in an informal manner on formulating some plans for the postwar program.

G. H. BUCHANAN, JR.

Denver

The Denver Alumni Chapter held its annual Founders Day banquet March 4 at the Oxford Hotel. The committee in charge did an excellent job in making the arrangements and in encouraging a large turnout. Fifty-five Dels were present, of which fourteen were from the Beta Kappa Chapter of Boulder. Brother L. Ward Bannister, Beta Rho, was the principal speaker and, as usual, gave an outstanding address. President Ralph L. Carr served as toastmaster.

As is the usual custom, the election of officers was held and the following men were elected: Kenneth C. Penfold, Beta Kappa, president; William M. Williams, Beta Kappa, first vice-president; L. Allen Beck, Gamma Theta, second vice-president; Fred G. Holmes, Beta Kappa, secretary; and Laurence Gilland, Beta Kappa, treasurer.
