VOLUME LXX NUMBER 1

The Delta Creed

- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta for the education of youth and the inspiration of maturity, so that I may better learn and live the truth.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as a shrine of international brotherhood: her cornerstone friendship, her foundation conscience, her columns aspiration, her girders self-restraint, her doorway opportunity, her windows understanding, her buttresses loyalty, her strength the Everlasting Arms.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as an abiding influence to help me do my work, fulfill my obligations, maintain my self-respect, and bring about that happy life wherein I may more truly love my fellow men, serve my country, and obey my God.

GORDON JONES

One Moment, Please

It has been my privilege to serve as Editor of THE RAINBOW pro tem with some very substantial, loyal, and skilled help at the Central Office on two occasions, including the current tour. At various times over the years, the editing has been done from other locations. The Arch Chapter and Board of Directors have now decided to continue the editing in the Central Office.

The most satisfaction I have derived from these extra tours of journalistic pinch-hitting has been in seeing members of the Fraternity's staff develop talents to the point of being judged capable of assuming the editorship.

We are proud to announce that Gordon Jones, Beta Tau, '41, has been assigned the editorship of THE RAINBOW as one of his duties as administrative assistant at the Central Office, which position he has held since his return from the armed services in November, 1945.

His personal and Delt background, his versatile talents, his academic record at the University of Nebraska, and his loyalty and keen sense of duty to the Fraternity are the implements with which he will carve a position of high honor and accomplishment for THE RAINBOW and for Delta Tau Delta in the field of fraternity journalism.

*The Fifty-Eighth Karnea of Delta Tau Delta
The Palmer House
Chicago, Illinois
August 31, September 1 and 2, 1946*

Karnea Sets Attendance Record

The Fifty-Eighth Karnea of Delta Tau Delta is history now; it has taken its place in the Valhalla of Karneas beside the other fifty-seven.

The Fifty-Eighth, however, was not just another Karnea.

First of all, it was the largest gathering of Deltas in the eighty-seven years of the Fraternity's existence. For the fourth time since 1907, Delta Tau Delta has set a new world's record for attendance at a college fraternity convention.

The official registration of 1,055 was made up of Deltas from eighty-two chapters. Registration of guests totaled more than 300 additional. Seventy-one undergraduate chapters and twenty alumni chapters were represented by official delegates.

The Fifty-Eighth was a youthful Karnea. It set a record for undergraduate attendance, and more than fifty per cent of those registered were members whose class year is '40 or later.

Yet, it was also a Karnea based on the tradition and the experience of the past. Five members who have been Deltas sixty years or more were there. Seven past Presidents of Delta Tau Delta and more than a score of former Arch Chapter members attended. Thirty-four of the one hundred and three living members of the Distinguished Service Chapter were present, which is the largest number of members of that honored group that has ever been assembled. The elder statesmen of Delta Tau Delta made a large contribution.

It was a Karnea of recapitulation, of achievement, and of inspiration. It was a Karnea that took stock of what the Fraternity had done since 1941, the time of the last full-scale convention, and then looked to the future to see where its progress lies. It was a Karnea that reviewed our laws, that revised some of them, that exchanged ideas and suggestions, that aired its problems, and that, in the midst of business and talk and camaraderie, paused quietly and religiously to pay trib-

WHAT THE KARNEA DID:

1. Shattered all existing records for attendance at fraternity conventions.
2. Elected the officers of Delta Tau Delta, welcoming G. Herbert McCracken as the new President.
3. Amended the Constitution to include the Educational Fund.
4. Paid tribute to 310 Deltas who gave their lives in the service of their country.
5. Staged an inspirational model initiation.
6. Recommended new fields for expansion.
7. Saw two new charters granted: one to Omega Alpha Fraternity at Michigan State College; one to the Boise Valley Alumni Chapter, Boise, Idaho.
8. Adopted measures further strengthening the Fraternity's fiscal life, including the approval of a bank custodianship for negotiable securities.
9. Had the greatest undergraduate attendance of all Karneas.
10. Set a Karnea record for number of members of the Distinguished Service Chapter attending.
11. Acted upon suggestion of Arch Chapter and accepted return of Arch Chapter's special wartime authority.

ute to those Deltas who gave their lives in the service of their country. And, through it all, it was a Karnea of fellowship.

Francis F. Patton, Karnea Chairman, started the business rolling early at the first session, Saturday, August 31, in the Grand Ballroom of Chicago's elegant Palmer House. The Karnea heard the reports of the officers that day, and some Deltas were perhaps a little surprised and gratified and proud to hear President Patton, Treasurer Wheaton, and the others describe how well the chapters and the national organization had come through the difficult war years.

The four Divisions had their meetings Saturday noon, and while they enjoyed the Palmer House luncheon, they talked shop and laid plans for Division Conferences next spring.

Saturday night was chapter reunion night. There were Delt gatherings in private dining rooms in the Palmer House, the Union League Club, the University Club, and various other retreats where the banquet board was spread. Delt songs were sung, and the alumni and undergraduates carried on their chapter traditions.

The Karnea saw eight neophytes installed as members of the Fraternity Sunday morning at the Model Initiation Ceremony. Each of the four Divisions was represented by two initiates. The manner in which the initiating team performed the Ritual served as an inspiration and an example for the delegates to take back to their chapters. Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes conducted the Karnea War Memorial Service immediately following the initiation, giving honor to "our heroic dead"—those 310 Deltas who gave their lives in World War II.

Lew Diamond and his orchestra provided the music that set Delt couples dancing Sunday afternoon at the Tea Dance in the Red Lacquer Room. The Karnea owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Stuart K. Fox and her committee for inviting the host of lovely young ladies who attended the affair. Somebody painted a sign that advertised beforehand "the 300 most beautiful girls in Chicago and vicinity," which sounded like the exaggeration of a Hollywood press agent, but the delegates one and all agreed that perhaps, after all, there had been no misrepresentation of facts—or figures.

It was all brass tacks again Monday, with more round-table discussions, committee reports, and business sessions. The Karnea adjourned at noon to honor members of the Distinguished Service Chapter, former Arch Chapter members, and chapter advisers at a special luncheon. N. Ray Carroll, Chairman of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter and past President of the Fraternity, presided at the speakers' table, and Bishop Hughes spoke with his customary eloquence.

Formal business sessions were concluded Monday afternoon with the election of officers as G. Herbert McCracken became the new President of Delta Tau Delta. Other officers were chosen as follows: W. H. Brenton, Vice-President; A. B. Walling, Secretary of Alumni; Don C. Wheaton, Treasurer; Martin B. Dickinson, Secretary; and Clemens R. Frank, Supervisor of Scholarship. Indicative of the solidarity of purpose that characterized the Fifty-Eighth Karnea was the fact that all elections were confirmed by a unanimous ballot.

While the business sessions were in progress, the ladies were pursuing a program of their own, under the general direction of Mrs. Stuart K. Fox. Their entertainment included a theater party, State of the Union, a cruise on the yacht Wendela, an organized tour of the

Ward Thorne miniature rooms at the Art Institute, and numerous radio programs, such as "The Breakfast Club" and "Joe Kelly's Quiz Kids."

A fitting climax to a successful gathering, the Karnea banquet filled the Grand Ballroom to capacity Monday night. President Patton started the program under way by introducing the banquet toastmaster, Paul Hoffman. N. Ray Carroll presented four Citations to the Distinguished Service Chapter. Representing the veterans of World War II, Thomas G. Meeker, an ex-Marine officer, spoke concerning the Fraternity's aims. Speaking for the older alumni, Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, a Delt who has always practiced the ideals of Deltism, described the noble aspects of the Fraternity most graphically for the assemblage. Paul Hoffman's closing remarks rung down the curtain on the Fifty-Eighth Karnea.

To the General Chairman of the Karnea, Karl J. Digel, Wooster, '13, and his Chicago Alumni Chapter committee, the Fraternity extends its sincere appreciation for the excellent work they did in making the convention a success. Members of the committee included Merrill W. McNamee, Kenyon, '34; Carl N. Wolf, Northwestern, '11; A. B. Walling, Ohio State, '11; Gilbert A. Smith, Illinois, '34; Fritz S. Purnell, Indiana, '36; Stuart K. Fox, Wisconsin, '20; and C. C. Bean, Ohio, '10.

In retrospect, one realizes that it was a significant Karnea, for it marks the Fraternity's emergence from an era of war and uncertainty and limitations into a lusty, dazzling age of development, vigor, and opportunity. It was a great Karnea, if for no other reason than it brought together more than one thousand Delts with a common purpose. There was a serious, mature tone about its sessions, a sober, purposeful atmosphere that reflected responsibility. It brought home to all of us an awakened appreciation of Delta Tau Delta.

Yes, the Karnea set an attendance record, it elected new officers, it passed legislation, and it did many other things; but a description of them does not tell the whole story.

JOHN G. SPIELMAN

Our hats are off to John G. Spielman, Iowa, '87, who was the earliest initiate present at the Karnea and traveled all the way from Long Beach, California, to gain that honor. Mr. Spielman was initiated October 19, 1883, which makes him 63 years a Delt. There is a record worthy of emulation!

It does not enable you to catch the spirit of the Karnea; it does not show you adequately how the Karnea has set the tone for the next two years and sent the delegates back to their respective chapters charged with a new zeal to recapture that spirit in their own groups, and a new conception of what Delta Tau Delta is and can be; it does not let you know the force of such great Delt personalities as Bishop Hughes, Norman MacLeod, N. Ray Carroll, Francis Patton, Herbert McCracken, Paul Hoffman, Howard Fischbach, Bruce Bielaski, Harold Tharp, members of the Arch Chapter, and a host of others.

One delegate was heard to remark: "I've never read an account of a Karnea that did it justice. You can't put down in writing what a Karnea really means."

No, you can't. Especially where the Fifty-Eighth Karnea is concerned. We can only say: You should have been there.

In its fall newsletter to the alumni, one of the undergraduate chapters had this to say of the Karnea:

"The Karnea as a Delta Tau Delta institution was impressive beyond all our expectations. . . . Heretofore, the Arch Chapter has been a group of men on paper. . . . Now that we have seen all these grand men in flesh and blood, pressed their hands and listened to them expound Delta Tau Delta doctrine, our leaders seem real to us. To know them is to respect and honor them. To attend a Karnea is to bring home to each of us what a privilege it is to be a member of a great National Fraternity such as Delta Tau Delta really is."

Introducing the New President

By NORMAN MACLEOD, Pittsburgh, '17

Past President of Delta Tau Delta

"Herb" McCracken is not an ordinary guy. The new President of Delta Tau Delta has always been a leader and a worker. Work was a necessity for him, even in his boyhood, and delivering milk from 2 to 6 a.m. in those days did not conflict with child labor laws. Fortunately he liked work then and still likes it now. But this is not a Horatio Alger story. It does not end in riches, except as riches are measured in the rewards of friendships, in services rendered, and in jobs well done.

G. Herbert McCracken was born and raised in Western Pennsylvania, in the town of Sewickley, where his mother and father still live. There were four boys and two girls in the family. Herb was a natural athlete, and played on sandlot teams as a kid, then on high school teams, and finally at the University of Pittsburgh. Football was his specialty, but basketball, track, and swimming made him a four-letter man. He was halfback on "Pop" Warner's famous teams at Pitt in '18, '19, and '20, captain of basketball in '20-'21, and his popularity and leadership won him also the presidency of his senior class. He topped this all off by being an outstanding student.

In the fall of 1921, after graduation from Pitt, Herb accepted the position of head football coach at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa. He coached there for three years, and his enviable record won him an appointment as head football coach at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., as successor to "Jock" Sutherland. McCracken was head football coach at Lafayette for twelve years, from the fall of '24 through the fall of '35. From 1924 through 1928 his teams rated third among all college teams in the country for the five-year average of games won and lost, and his 1926 undefeated team was rated first in Spaulding's guide.

G. HERBERT MCCrackEN

Delts will be interested to know that for twelve of his fifteen years in coaching, McCracken had a brother Delt, W. C. "Fats" Gourley, Gamma Sigma (Pittsburgh), '22, as his assistant.

Although McCracken devoted three months of each year for fifteen years to coaching football, it was always an avocation with him. Early in his coaching days at Allegheny, Herb decided that football was not going to be his sole career. In 1922, he joined what has proved already to be a twenty-five-year partnership with another member of the Fraternity, M. R. Robinson, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '19, who had in 1920 established Scholastic, a weekly for high school students.

Nine months of each year through 1935 McCracken devoted to the publishing business and then, true to his determination that football was not to be his life's work, he resigned from Lafayette to give his full time to business. He is now vice-president and director of advertising for Scholastic Corporation, publishers of five weekly magazines for schools (Senior Scholastic, Junior Scholastic, World Week, Prep, and Practical English), and of Scholastic Coach, a monthly magazine for high school directors of athletics, of which McCracken is the founder and publisher.

In coming to the position of President of the Fraternity, McCracken brings with him years of experience in working with young people. While a student at the University of Pittsburgh he directed a summer camp run by the Pittsburgh Y.M.C.A.; his publishing activities keep him in close touch with youth; he is past chairman and now a member of the HI-Y committee of the National Y.M.C.A.; he is a member of the Board of Directors of Junior Achievement, Inc.; and he has constantly kept up his interest in the Fraternity, having been a member of the Arch Chapter since 1940 as President of the Eastern Division and more recently as Secretary of Alumni.

Football is still McCracken's avocation. For several years after leaving Lafayette he scouted for some of his coaching friends. Even now, on Saturday mornings in Scarsdale he coaches a grade school team on which his son is imitating his halfback dad. But as for college football, he is satisfied with seeing a game a week, with being an occasional Monday-morning quarterback, and with active membership in the Touchdown Club of New York of which he was formerly president and is now chairman of the Award committee.

The Fraternity is indeed fortunate to get the services of Herb McCracken as President for the ensuing two years. His friends wonder how he will find the time to do it, but he will, and he'll do it well, as he has done everything else he has undertaken. Because Herb McCracken is not an ordinary guy.

CHARLES THEODORE BOYD, North Carolina, '21

Charter member of Gamma Omega, vice-president of Southern Division, Secretary, Vice-President and President of the Fraternity; coauthor of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund; unwavering in loyalty to the Fraternity and devotion to duty; respected for the justice of his decisions, admired for the soundness of his judgments, revered for the force of his character; the Good Delt personified.

WILLFRED OTTO MAUCK, Hillsdale, '21

Supervisor of Scholarship 1931-33 and 1941-42; for more than twenty-five years devoted to his Fraternity; a zealous guardian of her welfare, a valuable contributor to her progress, always conscious of her needs and ever willing to serve.

PAUL GRAY HOFFMAN, Chicago, '12

Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta 1937-1939; President 1939-1943; a tireless, outstanding worker in our country's National Affairs; continuously in the forefront of our business leaders, yet he always has had and will have a keen and abiding interest in our Fraternity. No man more truly typifies the tradition of America; no man has ever more ably demonstrated the ability of a busy man to live the high ideals of a Delta.

KEYES CHRISTOPHER GAYNOR, M.I.T., '09

Organizer and Charter member of the Delta Gamma House Corporation and its President since 1934. For more than thirty-five years a valued member of Delta Tau Delta whose deep devotion to the Fraternity is exemplified by his constant adherence to its ideals. Ever loyal and enthusiastic, his love for Delta Tau Delta is unsurpassed.

Walling Is Newcomer on Arch Chapter

For a vast majority of Delts, A. B. Walling, Ohio State, '11, our new Secretary of Alumni, needs no introduction, for there are few Delts whose friendships among members of the Fraternity are so extensive as his.

Those who attended the Karnea will recall the splendid job he just completed as Chairman of the Karnea Entertainment Committee—which is not surprising when one realizes that Mr. Walling has worked on Karnea committees before—and always with good results. He had a hand in the Omaha Karnea in 1921, and he was on the Banquet Committee of the Chicago World's Fair Karnea in 1933.

Before his retirement from active business a short while ago, Mr. Walling was Vice-President of the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Company, the firm with which he had been associated since 1910. Fortunately for Delta Tau Delta, his work required him to travel considerably, and wherever he was situated, Mr. Walling tied in with Delt activities. Successively sales manager, contracting engineer, and district sales manager with the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Company, he has had the opportunity of being associated with alumni chapters in Kansas City, Dallas, Tulsa, Omaha, and Chicago.

During World War I, Mr. Walling served under Brigadier General R. C. Marshall with the Construction Division of the Army in Washington, D. C. Here, too, he established contact with the Fraternity and made many friends among the Capitol Delts.

Before the war he was secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Alumni Chapter. Later he served as president of the Kansas City Alumni Chapter.

Because of his wide background and his experience with alumni chapters, A. B. Walling promises to be an outstanding Secretary of Alumni. Since he is no longer engaged in active business pursuits, he will be able to give an unusual amount of time to his job. Mrs. Walling, too, has been indoctrinated with Deltism; she was a full-time worker at the Ladies Registration Desk at the Karnea.

Brenton and Wheaton were re-elected to the positions they already held. Dickinson was elected Secretary and Frank became the new Supervisor of Scholarship. Division Presidents are elected by Division Conferences.

Karneia Side Lights

Seven past Presidents of the Fraternity were at the Karneia. They were Norman MacLeod, Harold B. Tharp, N. Ray Carroll, Paul G. Hoffman, Charles T. Boyd, A. Bruce Bielaski, and Edwin Holt Hughes.

It was a close race for the honor of being the delegate who traveled the farthest to attend the Karneia. Measuring by "how the crow flies," it looks like a dead heat from here between the delegates from the University of California and the delegate from Stanford. The winners, then, are John R. Cain, William C. Marckhoff, and Raymond R. Ogburn of California, and George E. Grimes of Stanford.

Honorable mention should go also to the delegates of Washington, Oregon, and Oregon State, who were very close runners-up. Gamma Mu (Washington) had twelve members in attendance, most of whom traveled all the way from Seattle and vicinity. Two of them, Ben Lindsay and Tom Sill, were members of the group that traveled the longest distance in 1941 to attend the White Sulphur Karneia. It looks as though Tom and Ben are well on their way toward being Karneia Hounds.

Consolation prizes should go also to the delegates of Idaho, U.C.L.A., and Southern California, who covered plenty of ground to be on hand in Chicago. From the other corners of the country, special recognition should be accorded Delts from Florida and Maine who made a long trip, to give us representation from every corner of the nation.

Ralph Wray, Colorado, '21, the first field secretary in Delta Tau Delta, attended the Karneia and was prevailed upon to perform at the piano, a talent for which he is famous in Fraternity circles.

To Our Heroic Dead

By BISHOP EDWIN HOLT HUGHES, Ohio Wesleyan, '89

The tragic muse that memorialized the brave dead became weary with sheer sadness after the first World War. From 1914 to 1918 she was evidently overworked. The resting time between the two great contests was so brief that this muse did not recover her strength for the second struggle. There are a few critics who claim that the poetry of World War II surpassed in depth. But the general verdict is that the output of verses was both scantier and feebler. If this opinion be not justified in a wholesale way, it is surely true of the sadly specialized stanzas that deal with the heroism of death. When we think of the recent tombs, we flee to the poems of the more distant war.

We, therefore, bring the poetry of the old day into this new day, as an interpretation of the personal tragedies of these immediate years. From the membership of Delta Tau Delta 310 men heard the call to World War II, marched forth to battle, and did not return. Hundreds of homes, and many thousands of hearts, were brought to grief by this crimson mortality. In our service today we are compelled by our love to visit scattered graves and to halt reverently in scores of cemeteries where our heroes sleep.

The great poems that were written in the period of World War I are not passing phases of literature, mere souvenirs of an awful struggle. They are the permanent call of God to life. One may even say that the poetry of that war may be modified into the prose of peace.

I. Take first what might be termed the verses of the personal conscience, written by Alan Seeger, a Harvard man. Entering the first World War before the United States did, he wrote his advance obituary, "I Have a Rendezvous With Death."*

I have a rendezvous with Death
At some disputed barricade,
When Spring comes 'round with rustling shade

EDWIN HOLT HUGHES

And apple blossoms fill the air—
I have a rendezvous with Death
When Spring brings back blue days and fair.

It may be he shall take my hand
And lead me into his dark land
And close my eyes and quench my breath—
It may be I shall pass him still.
I have a rendezvous with Death
On some scarred slope of battered hill,
When Spring comes 'round again this year
And the first meadow-flowers appear.

God knows 'twere better to be deep
Pillowed in silk and scented down,
Where Love throbs out in blissful sleep,
Pulse nigh to pulse, and breath to breath,
Where hushed awakenings are dear. . . .
But I've a rendezvous with Death
At midnight in some flaming town,
When Spring trips north again this year,
And I to my pledged word am true,
I shall not fail that rendezvous.

The words sound like a strict conference of Seeger with himself. Thinking that his body would probably die, he told his soul that it must live, and in honor. So he, as did all our brave ones, summoned his spirit to the courageous consecration of Death. Our noble 310 did precisely that.

II. The second is the poem of the patriotic mood, by Rupert Brooke, an Englishman who wrote in terms of his own Island. But his words can be rendered into that tongue wherein we were all born. In reality it is much that a youth in any nation should be devoted to the cause of 140 million people and should yield himself to protect them from a domination that might have leaped all seas and made the planet the wide home of tyranny. The saving of England could well mean the saving of the world. The fire that leaped her Channel might flame over all oceans. So Brooke kept his love of country to the end and insisted that it be carried with him into the Eternal Land. This fact is revealed in his poem, "The Soldier."*

If I should die, think only this of me:
That there's some corner of a foreign field
That is forever England. There shall be
In that rich earth a richer dust concealed;
A dust whom England bore, shaped, made aware,
Gave, once, her flowers to love, her ways
to roam,
A body of England's, breathing English air,
Washed by her rivers, blest by suns of home.
And think, this heart, all evil shed away,
A pulse in the Eternal Mind, no less
Gives somewhere back the thoughts by England given;
Her sights and sounds; dreams happy as her day;
And laughter, learnt of friends; and gentleness,
In hearts at peace, under an English heaven.

So it is that whether they enlisted from Canada or from the States, our beloved were borne to their tombs in rough coffins draped with the flags of their people, and bearing with them the spiritual patriotism that ever insists upon a Resurrection.

III. The third is the poem of tribute to the willing sacrifice made by college men who marched out of life to the awful music of war. It was written by Mrs. Letts, an Irish woman who brought praise to English youth, thus giving a social as well as a literary miracle. Passing the Oxford campus, she saw the stately towers above the more stately trees. But with a woman's instinct she saw beneath towers and trees the boyish ranks who enlisted for the battlefields. Thus she wrote, "The Spires of Oxford,"* with its piercing simplicity.

I saw the spires of Oxford
As I was passing by,
The gray spires of Oxford
Against the pearl-gray sky;
My heart was with the Oxford men
Who went abroad to die.

The years go fast in Oxford,
The golden years and gay,
The hoary Colleges look down
On careless boys at play.
But when the bugles sounded—War!
They put their games away.

The cricket-field, the quad,
The shaven lawns of Oxford,
To seek a bloody sod.
They gave their merry youth away
For country and for God.

God rest you, happy gentlemen,
Who laid your good lives down,
Who took the khaki and the gun
Instead of cap and gown.
God bring you to a fairer place
Than even Oxford town.

There are several sacred emphases in these poignant lines. The students went forth "for country and for God," and God and country do not omit their challenge when the military war ceases! The heroes' reward is in the hands of One to Whom centuries ago the pioneer of faith, Abraham, now glorified by all the Mohammedans, Jews, and Christians in the world, made his appeal—"Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" If God always does right the reward of our nobly brave men is not decay and dust, and everlasting silence. The vision of an immortal city fairer than Oxford refused to disappear as the troops went over the horizon of death. How good and fitting it is that verses which span the Atlantic should come back to us as we pay tribute to our own Centurion Bands!

IV. The fourth poem is that of the bequeathed duty, the well-famed lines of a Canadian, Lt. Col. John McRae, "In Flanders Fields."* (Col. McRae died in France, January 28, 1918.)

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch, be yours, to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Here our heroes summon us to their heroism. They pass to our waiting hands the lamp of obligation. The fight for Democracy does not cease when the tents of war are folded. A spirit of evil-inspired conquest still dwells in ambitious hearts. God surely knows, and we keenly feel, that the perpetual spiritual campaign is large enough to command all our powers and that the season of victory does not come until the King of Kings calls us to the City of Peace.

V. The fifth and last is the poem of the vicarious faith. Joyce Kilmer makes a daring but reverent parallel between the sufferings of Christ and the sufferings of one who offered the "Prayer of a Soldier in France,"* and who fearlessly marched to the music of psalm or dirge. Himself a Catholic, Kilmer wrote not only of "Trees," but of a tree rooted in Calvary's soil, and his pen came to the tense realism of his faith.

My shoulders ache beneath my pack,
(Lie easier, Cross, upon His back.)

I march with feet that burn and smart,
(Tread, Holy Feet, upon my heart.)

Men shout at me who may not speak,
(They scourged Thy back and smote Thy cheek.)

I may not lift a hand to clear
My eyes of salty drops that sear,

(Then shall my fickle soul forget Thine agony of Bloody Sweat?)

My rifle hand is stiff and numb,
(From Thy pierced palm red rivers come.)

Lord, Thou didst suffer more for me,
Than all the hosts of land and sea,

So let me render back again
This millionth of Thy gift. Amen.

We do not encourage a wrong pacificism, nor pay homage to a wrong militarism, when we bring the consecrated soldier into the fellowship of Christ. The college boys seen by Mrs. Letts' mourning imagination, gave "their merry youth away," while the other four writers, Seeger, Brooke, McRae, Kilmer, all died as the quick victims of the Great War. They were college men who passed from campus to camp. They heard the bugle and came into the ranks of democracy. We now sound a new reveille for them, long after graves claimed their dust but could not bury their poems.

In her memorial grief and pride, as an institutional parent, Delta Tau Delta sees now her sons who paid the full price of life for the threatened life of a world. Perhaps some of the grieving mothers and fathers are with us in these moments of love and sorrow; and there are others still in distant homes who now make a solemn pilgrimage to this dear hour, to hear the tones of hymn and prayer. In the hush that for a while carries us away from mere jollity, and in the faith that laid the humble foundations of our colleges and later built palaces of dedicated learning, we greet our comrades. They have passed from the commands of colonels and generals into the nearer care of the Captain of our Salvation. All hail, beloved, the serried ranks of earth do upward go. The Plains of Peace are yonder where you dwell.

We will not think of this memorial service as being foreign to the spirit and practice of our Fraternity. Our Ritual does not leave us with an absentee Lord. We invite the Creator to walk with us in the cool of the day in His own garden. We have an Altar, a Star, an all-seeing Eye, and a Brazier whereon there burns the fadeless light. When we pledge students to Delta Tau Delta, we bring God into the room of promise. When we sign our covenant for lifelong loyalty we summon the help of the Almighty. When we meet in our chapter sessions we lift our prayer to the Heavenly Father. Our Oath is taken as in the presence of the Eternal—and once again we seek Divine aid in its faithful keeping. In our further initiation we declare our "trust and confidence" in the Creator. Our ceremonies end at last in the expressed purpose to obey God.

We are not lacking, also, in the declaration of immortal hope. Our early prayer is that the influence of our brotherhood may be good for time and eternity. The symbol of immortality is in our ritualistic ceremony. In the Delta Creed that we boldly proclaim to the world we profess that our strength is in the Everlasting Arms. For over fifty years our luminous RAINBOW has had a seven-rayed department called "The Chapter Eternal." That is in reality our largest chapter—peopled now by many, many thousands of Delta men who have passed through its portals. Perhaps that Chapter has in these months of war received the greatest number of members that it has ever welcomed in so brief a time. They have found another altar; seen another star; become pillars in another Temple—to go no more out; and in passing beyond our vision they have marched in steady ranks into the Light that streams from the nearer presence of God. We leave them there in a vast and consoling confidence.

Although this is a service for our own Delta brothers, we will not forget that we have many comrades in sorrow. Delta Tau Delta has not failed in giving leadership in interfraternal life. Doubtless other Greek-letter groups will pay their mournful tribute to their circles of martyrdom. Our own three hundred are in a requiem with thousands of other badge-wearing men of whom the foes might well have uttered the panic cry, "They come! They come! The Greeks! The Greeks!" We hear more footsteps than those that once resounded in our own halls. We have had our own company of uniformed men; but they have been graciously merged with the regimental hosts gathered from all the Grecian empire. Such a one I, as a grandfather, may bring into this intimate circle—my own grandson, Charles Edwin science. He reposes there beneath a Cross. We who loved him much, and who therefore grieve much, ask permission to bring him into this service as a representative of our allied fraternities whose lads tramped with our own and merged their differing insignia and colors and flowers to fund their sacrifices around the banners of democracy.

Remy, a Phi Delta Theta, because his father belonged to that camp. As I now conduct this service I have his snapshot picture on the desk—a picture taken amid the trees and by the lake of his much-loved summer home. He stands there rather proudly, clad in his gray-brown khaki, and wearing on cap and shoulder the bars of his lieutenancy. In the first half-hour of his first battle he made his speedy sacrifice in such a way that the government of our Republic sent out the posthumous citation for his bravery. His dust rests in a cemetery in France, near to the very spot whence his ancestors came as pilgrim immigrants fleeing from persecution as soldiers of a religious con-

There is yet another widening of the area of this service. Memorial Day, both North and South, passed in the course of time to a universal meaning. As the War of 1861-1865 moved into farther distances and the parents of soldiers joined their sons in the grave, the flowers of Decoration Day fell around more tombstones until cemeteries looked like conservatories of blossoms as well as of memories. As in my years in our beloved Fraternity our roster has advanced from 2,400 to more than 30,000, so have our tombs become a multitude. All our Founders have passed into the shadowy life of another Land and have been followed thither by the greater hosts that moved to the plains of peace. For my own heart this room is now inhabited by them. I cannot name them all; but I can memorialize that elect group whose love for Delta Tau Delta was sure and unailing: Day, McClurg, Plummer, Arter, Bolard, McLane, Wieland, Mauck, Churchill, Troutwein, Bruck, Babcock, Hemming, Hormell, Stuart Maclean, Sunny Jim Wakefield, Dad Pumphrey, and I end the incomplete list with the name of that quiet prince of Deltas, Ira Burton Blackstock. All these have been enrolled in the Chapter Eternal. Perhaps they greeted our soldier boys when cannons, and shells, and guns tragically announced the coming of new recruits. Perhaps they welcomed them beyond the clamors of battlefields within the gates of the Eternal Tabernacles where men learn war no more! Of the boys who nearly sixty-three years ago placed the square badge on my trembling young heart, only one remains in this land of the living. We must all have tender and grateful remembrance of the men who made for us all the splendid heritage of our Great Fraternity. All hail, brothers! We lift our peans high for you today and wave hands of affection to that upper army that won so many victories for our colors of Purple and Gold.

As I came to the end of writing this address, I sought to recover a scarcely remembered verse. I found an old hymn book published while I was at DePauw, in 1905. On the front cover were the gilded words, "Meharry Hall, DePauw University," indicating that an unconscious theft sent the volume of faith forth with me. Soon I located the stanzas of hope that read like a prophecy and a consolation to be sung over the sepulchers of our dear dead.

And when the strife is fierce, the warfare long,
Steals on the ear the distant triumph-song,

Special recognition should be given the chapters who set the attendance records at the Karnea. Beta Pi (Northwestern) led all others with 74 members registered. Gamma Beta (Illinois Tech) was not far behind with 69. Gamma Alpha (Chicago), whose alumni no longer have an active undergraduate chapter, making their record all the more remarkable, ran a close third with 65. Beta Upsilon (Illinois), with 59 members registered, took fourth-place honors.

These figures are eloquent proof of how well the four Illinois chapters supported their Chicago Karnea.

Gamma Lambda (Purdue) finished fifth in the running, Beta Gamma (Wisconsin) sixth, Beta Psi (Wabash) seventh, Omicron (Iowa) eighth. For ninth and tenth places, we had a four-way tie between Kappa (Hillsdale), Beta Beta (DePauw), Beta Eta (Minnesota), and Delta Nu (Lawrence).

Ten chapters which are no longer active were represented at the Karnea. They were Michigan State, Mississippi, Wooster, Chicago, Columbia, Syracuse, Amherst, North Carolina, Virginia, and George Washington. There has not been a chapter at the University of Chicago since 1935, yet there were sixty-five alumni from that chapter registered at the Karnea. Psi Chapter at Wooster College left that campus along with other fraternities in 1913, yet there were six Psi Chapter Deltas very much in evidence at the Karnea. Certainly the Fifty-Eighth Karnea should demonstrate the truth of that statement: "Once a Delt, always a Delt."

Mrs. Paul Hoffman, who attended the Karnea Banquet, has established an enviable record. She is the wife of a Delt and has five Delt sons.

This Shall Not Pass Away

By THOMAS G. MEEKER, Wesleyan, '41

Banquet Speaker at the Fifty-Eighth Karnea

The God Carneus has shepherded this great flock to Chicago for the Fifty-Eighth Karnea in exciting times.

Though we are troubled by reports of tensions and tempers in various parts of the world, most of us are meeting, and overcoming, the difficulties peculiar to this period of readjustment to a peacetime society.

We have come here this week end with a dual purpose: first, to pay tribute to those of our brothers who have joined the Chapter Eternal that the nations of the world might forever dwell in harmony with their neighbors, and second, to reaffirm the ideals and principles of truth, courage, power, and faith, both in God and man, the very embodiment of this national brotherhood, Delta Tau Delta.

Yes, these are exciting times. But so were they less than a century ago. Abraham Lincoln, faced with ideological clashes on either side of a man-made line, a dividing brotherhood, played dramatically on man's fundamental suspicion of change in an address delivered just two years before the Civil War. Ominous days they were, unrest, conflict, and bitter feeling, the states standing separated against one another. What could he say that would be appropriate on this occasion? In an attempt to instill confidence in himself that it might be radiated to the people at large, Mr. Lincoln recounted the story of the Chinese emperor who commanded his wisest philosopher to prepare for him a statement that might be made appropriately on any occasion. The philosopher prepared for his emperor these words: "And this too shall pass away." But, in citing this maxim, Mr. Lincoln would not give full endorsement to the philosopher's sentiments. He added, "And yet, let us hope it is not quite true." Abraham Lincoln had aligned himself with historic forces, for man's exciting travels through trouble-ridden territories have been a story of retreat before the ever-increasing forces of transformation.

And it was during those same years of travail that the idea of eight men became a reality, that an inspiration became an integral part of our social hierarchy. Yes, a group of men, with a deep respect for Spartan virility and the lofty ideals of the Ancient Greeks, whose mystic societies had flourished amidst the Hellenic Groves, founded a social organization, based upon the fraternal relation of man to man, upon each man's faith in and reliance on God, upon his devotion to truth and duty, and upon his desire for intellectual achievement. Brother Deltas, that organization founded and nurtured in the very heart of the bitterness, blood, and brutality of brothers born under the same flag was the first chapter of Delta Tau Delta, Bethany, West Virginia, 1859.

There have been many great believers in the theory of flux, the eventual demise of traditions, and their accompanying institutions. Heraclitus, the Greek, waited two thousand years for support of his contention that one cannot step in the same river twice; Galileo, the Italian, blasted the first real hole in the Aristotelian prescientific civilization, and this was accomplished with two cannon balls dropped as he leaned from that tower of Pisa, and perhaps there may be some truth to the learned words of the Chinese philosopher; without Mr. Lincoln's codicil. But this much we know—eighty-seven years just literally chuck-full of change, speeding with an ever-accelerating pace, aided and abetted by a plethora of divergent social and political views, and accompanied by a pageantry of rulers from figurehead to fuehrer—all of these years have not altered one iota the principle and ideals of Delta Tau Delta.

We passed through three conflicts prior to this one. And now, because of those ideals first practiced for the common good at Bethany, because of the strength and loyalty of our undergraduate and alumni Deltas, because of the leadership of the Arch Chapter, and because of the vigor and vitality of the national organization directed by the Central Office, as before, we have emerged and with a running start, for, as we resume our normal program after World War II, we can boast seventy-two active chapters and seventy-one alumni chapters. And so, even in this fast-moving world of progress, the fraternity built upon the pillars of courage, power, faith, and truth need not fall out in this march of social tradition.

Now we stand on the threshold of the greatest educational era in our history. This September an estimated one million sixty-two thousand students will swamp the American college campuses. At the end of this fall's registration, institutions of higher education will have enrolled approximately eight hundred thousand veterans. Never before have the Greek-letter societies had so fertile a field from which to select their seeds of future growth.

Let's not be lulled into a false sense of security by this abundance of material. The group of men that you have looked over and finally selected during the last two semesters, and they are primarily veterans, and the bunch that you are going to cull and pledge this coming three or four semesters are going to be, again, primarily veterans. It has been my experience that the desire to be shown is not a characteristic sacred unto Missourians alone. It is somewhat an unusual twist of psychology, one I have never seen the likes of before on the campus, but the men arriving armed with the G.I. Bill of Rights, sustained by the knowledge that their basic expenses would be met without any worry, are pondering the potential of fraternity affiliation much more carefully than those of us who started out in the late thirties, puzzling last over the problem of joining, and first looking for jobs on campus to meet what we knew would be the expense of the brotherhood.

Coupled with this alert, thoughtful, and more mature group from which to choose for the fraternity of the future, are those who still level charges at the fraternal system itself. Greek-letter societies have been labelled anti-intellectual and antidemocratic. There are those with jaundiced eye who assail us as snobs, extravagant ones at that, as gamblers, drunkards, indolent intellectuals, and on top of that some even charge us with a penchant for dirty politics. As long as there is a community that breathes, or merely exists, or even lives to the fullest, there will always be a small number who will admirably qualify for such epithets—and there may even be a few more politicking. The only charge which merits consideration is that of being antidemocratic.

You and I have always known a democracy to stand for the free association of people. If one group, whether it be religious, political, or social, desired to organize, that was its heritage:

*Words have not changed their sense so soon,
Nor tyranny grown new.
The truths you held, Tom Jefferson,
Will still hold true.*

(Archibald MacLeish)

Any membership organization has the right to establish its own rules, and people have the right to choose their own companions. It is incumbent on any such organization, of course, and more particularly the college fraternity, to conduct itself insofar as possible under its constitution, in harmony and co-operation with the spirit in the community or on the campus.

We must face the facts. Alvan Duerr has summarized the situation wisely and succinctly, "We are not a democratic fraternity, if democracy means an equal right to join our ranks. Our ambition is to be an aristocracy of the high-minded and the clean-souled, of men with a serious purpose in life who will not be satisfied to leave their college or their community, or their country, except it be the better for their having been of it, of men who do not measure success in terms of things tangible, but who accept opportunities and the reward for their efforts only as evidence of added responsibility."

We must not and we cannot be satisfied with doctrines alone. This is our great opportunity. The colleges and universities are loaded. Their ammunition is of the highest type. They are men who have learned comradeship, call it brotherhood if you will, a way of living under the most adverse of conditions. It becomes our task to set the compass and point it toward re-conversion, to lead the way toward an education with the fraternity, "a constructive adjunct, contributing to the young men within her sphere of influence a moral, spiritual, and social development commensurate with the intellectual training supplied by the colleges and universities."

Each chapter of the Fraternity should flex every muscle and leave no stone unturned. Aid the colleges in every means at your command in the solution of the problem of the crowded campus. Build chapter and administration relations. Prove, as many of our chapters did during the war, that the Fraternity is not just a social club, that we can share our part of any crisis. With the majority of the colleges and universities under an accelerated academic program, there is going to be much that an undergraduate will miss in his college training—some scholastically and much socially. These men realize more than ever the worth of the individual in a competitive society, the importance of the parchment, and the advantages of the training to be received. They are going to be cognizant of the inestimable values to be obtained by group living under the fraternity system; they are going to be anxious to be a member of a group smaller than a dormitory, an organization in which each man has certain responsibilities, in which the man who is willing can learn, not only the mysteries of the Fraternity, but its administration, parliamentary practices, financial policies, and domestic problems, and can enjoy the cultural opportunities that an alert chapter may well provide.

Now it isn't all fluid drive. We can't coast along without shifting gears here and again. Yes, there are problems. There are personnel problems; there are parliamentary problems; there are practical problems of everyday living; and there are those highly explosive peripheral problems.

In each chapter there are those who were either pledges or initiates before they left for war and active duty. In each chapter there are those who were in Army and Navy training programs during the war, and perhaps never went overseas; and in each chapter there are those fresh out of high school, equally bewildered by the tactical discussions of Buna, the Bulge, and Bougainville, who will soon reach nineteen, thus to experience the hot breath of Uncle Sam upon their necks.

There are bound to be differences between men who had such short fraternal experiences under such varying conditions. There are those parliamentary problems. Are our rules sufficiently flexible to allow us to compete with the other fraternities on campus for membership and in social affairs? There are practical problems of everyday expense. Can we afford to open our eating club; can we hire the right type of chef and still compete with other chapters on price; can we afford to redecorate the interior; or can we paint the Shelter? And finally there are the peripheral problems, those highly explosive ones, which often are as quickly disarming, the relations with the college administration, you know, you must change this rule, you must house these men, you must not make this report, why it's foolish for you to have to send that to the national office—and so on—an administration is always available with admonitions, if not always with advice.

These problems are soluble. Alumni, chapter advisers, the Arch Chapter, and the Central Office are ready on the line for just this sort of firing. We have learned in many and various ways never to underestimate the enemy, and at the same time, more often than not, we have discovered that a good offense is the best defense. As President Wriston stated in 1940 at the National Interfraternity Conference, a positive idea can never be beaten by a negative one even if the positive one is weak and the negative one is potentially stronger.

We must demonstrate our aims and goals. We have the means to both. We have the ideals; we have the men; we have the meeting places; and we have both forward-looking leaders and programs. The recently established Delt Educational Fund will provide real incentive for undergraduates to seek the highest pinnacles in scholarship. The Delt Development Program is a real foundation for an active chapter's agenda, for it offers instruction and guidance in the purpose of a college education, proper methods of study, social customs, the Fraternity organization, and parliamentary practices.

The college or university, together with the fraternities, organized into an interfraternity conference offers athletics. We must make each Shelter something more than a place where the bearers of the Purple, White, and Gold set their own standards and live together. We must operate each chapter in keeping with the ideals of the Fraternity, but at the same time we must increasingly uncover our social hours as a melting pot for culture and ideas. Encourage the infiltration of professors; just don't feed them, let them talk. Arrange for other visitors, neighboring college professors, vocational guidance counselors, alumni prominent in their respective fields. If your college president is thinking in terms of a campus of local fraternities, organize a committee of undergraduates or prominent fraternity alumni from all the chapters on the grounds—find out why Prexy feels as he does, and then win him over.

In this day and age we cannot prosper by nationality alone. I would commend for your reconsideration that part of our Creed which runs, "I believe in Delta Tau Delta as a shrine of international brotherhood." Yes, a shrine of international brotherhood. Nothing could be more basic to that world for which three hundred and ten Delt brothers have crossed the bar. I would like to recommend for your future examination the possibility of this Fraternity's participation in the program now being formulated by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. UNESCO will be interested in the exchange of students and professors, and present indications reveal that the United States government will provide generously for this exchange—this program of international education that must have peace for its purpose. Such a program would not require any fundamental changes in our rules or regulations; we would be offering merely the riches of Delta Tau Delta to the ideal of peace through education and the mutual exchange of ideas—we would be once again an educational facility. We who as a Fraternity are dedicated to the formation of character, the creation of social relationships with responsibility, and the teaching of the art of self-forgetfulness are in a position to make a primary contribution to this international effort.

Yes, they were exciting times in 1859 and they are today. While some people ponder the control of the atomic cloud of doom and still others, not the least so concerned, are preoccupied with messengers to the moon, I urge this opportunity and chance both nationally and internationally to hasten the fulfillment of our Prophecy: We believe in Delta Tau Delta for the education of youth and the inspiration of maturity so that we may better learn and live the truth. I am here and you are here because Delta Tau Delta is our Fraternity, and I say, with even more optimism than Mr. Lincoln during the year our brotherhood was founded, it is today and will be in the future, on such occasions appropriate to say, this shall not pass away.

Charters Withdrawn

Delta Tau Delta is no longer represented on the campuses of Amherst College and the University of Virginia.

The Trustees of Kappa Theta Fraternity of Amherst College surrendered the charter of Gamma Phi Chapter on August 20, 1946, and on August 23, 1946, the Arch Chapter voted unanimously to accept the charter. Prior to this action, the Arch Chapter had announced to the members of Gamma Phi Chapter that the policies of Amherst College relating to fraternities as interpreted by officials of the College left the Arch Chapter no alternative but to prohibit reactivation of the chapter.

Effective July 27, 1946, by Arch Chapter action, the charter of Beta Iota Chapter at the University of Virginia was withdrawn. The action was taken as a result of a complete investigation recently conducted and the Fraternity's experience over a period of years which indicated that the University no longer offers a suitable field for Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

Willfred O. "Prexy" Mauck became the first son of a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter to be cited to that distinction when he received his Citation at the Karnea Banquet, September 2. Prexy is the son of Dr. Joseph W. Mauck, Hillsdale, '75, who had a long record of service to the Fraternity. Both father and son have been presidents of Hillsdale College.

One of the few things missing from the Fifty-Eighth Karnea was that great little man, Clarence Pumphrey, Buchtel, '74. Many of those present recalled the 1933 Karnea at the Palmer House when "Dad" lost his new hat and made frequent announcements seeking to recover it. It became almost SOP that Dad should chairman every Karnea Committee on Resolutions. It was fitting that Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Dad's closest friend, should be Chairman of the Committee at the Fifty-Eighth Karnea.

A word of appreciation is in order for the leaders and assistant leaders of the round-table discussion groups. The leaders were Eugene B. Hibbs, Kansas; John Fisher, II, Tennessee; Robert E. Assistant leaders were Fred Ebeling, Cincinnati; Edgar Keneipp, Kentucky; Harold Frederick, Carnegie Tech; Robert Barbour, Penn State; James Green, U.S.C.; Paul Opp, Oklahoma; and Charles Becker, Ohio State.

Mrs. Fox, Chairman of the Ladies Committee, confided in us that she was worried that there wouldn't be enough Deltas on hand for the Tea Dance. Confidentially, we weren't worried—even the class of 'og had that faraway look in its eye.

Our nomination for Chief of the Kennel of the Karnea Hounds is former President Norman MacLeod, who has attended twelve Karneas. To the best of our knowledge, he has attended more Karneas than any other Delt. He has not missed a single one since 1923. Until a dark horse comes forward to challenge this record, Norman MacLeod remains the undisputed champion.

Both Mrs. Fox and Miss Edith Jones of the Ladies Committee report enthusiastic comments from the young ladies who were the Karnea's guests at the Tea Dance. They said it was the best fraternity dance in Chicago; they had a "wonderful time."

Delta Memories

*I am sitting in the twilight
Looking backward through the years
In my heart the richest memories
In my eyes a trace of tears*

*As I seem to see before me—
Visions of old college days
When as brother Delts we lingered
Singing softly in the haze—*

*Of the evenings' deepening shadows
"Delta Shelter," and we know
That to Delta Tau forever
We'd be loyal and be true.*

*Purple shadows now surround me
Golden beams of setting sun
And the clear white glow of moonlight
Soon will come, for day is done.*

*Royal purple! Regal color!
Drape thy mantle over me
Fill my heart with loyal purpose,
Courage and nobility.*

*Crystal whiteness of the moonlight
Give me clarity to see
In his earnest, striving efforts
What my brother needs of me.*

*Purity of thought I'll teach him
Spotless name shall he possess
May I be the means of bringing
Him to honor and success.*

*Gold of sunset, heavenly splendor
Flooding all the world with light
Golden friendships made in boyhood
Keep their luster ever bright.*

*Sterling worth be our ambition
Strength of character our need
Do each day some act of service
Let it be a golden deed—*

*By these virtues we shall know him
Through his deeds shall come renown
For a life so true to Delta
God will bless with Manhood's Crown*

*Joy and Peace and Health and Gladness
These rewards for work well done
Till in shining glorious splendor
We behold this Delta son.*

*Night is closing slowly 'round me
Darkness falling over all
Still I seem to hear them singing
"How I love Thee, Delta Tau."*

*Loved Fraternity—my brothers!
When our last clear call shall come
By our lives may we be worthy
To receive our welcome home.*

HOWARD P. FISCHBACH
Chi, 1906

Dr. Fischbach is a Delt who has been devoted to the Fraternity for many years. A member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, he was instrumental in installing the chapters at Cincinnati, Miami, and Kentucky. He has two sons who are Delts. Always an indefatigable worker in the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter, he is chairman of the Pumfrey Memorial Committee.

When the undergraduate delegates were reimbursed for their travel expenses on Monday, they formed a queue that was reminiscent of the good old Army and Navy pay call, the sight of which brought a nostalgic tear to many a veteran's eye as he recalled the many happy hours spent standing in line during his service.

Several members have wondered why the delegates at Karneas are never reimbursed until the last day. The reason was obvious that Monday. Delegates were comparing notes as they sidled up to sign on the dotted line, and most of them admitted unashamedly that they were down to their last shilling. One delegate from a far distant chapter exhibited three coppers as his total wealth. He had to be warned repeatedly to desist from serrying the already oppressed ranks, or, as the man in front of him put it, "Quit shoving." It was estimated conservatively that the combined resources of the entire line would not have paid the price of the No. 1 Breakfast on the Palmer House menu.

Antique Motors Is Melton's Hobby

James Melton, Georgia and Vanderbilt, '25, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, star of stage and screen and currently being heard Sunday nights over CBS on "Star Theater," believes in "activity" and even his leisure is filled with a variety of favorite hobbies. Through them, he claims he has realized many of his most adventuresome moments. His collection of antique motor cars, for example, is unique and unrivaled in its number, which totals more than seventy-five. His interest in the mechanics of them and of motorized vehicles in general is very much alive and takes him to exhibits, antique fairs, museums, and automobile shows all over the country.

During Melton's opera and concert tours and out-of-town broadcasts, he gravitates in the direction of antique museums, industrial exhibits, and auto shows, where research on, and exhibits of, old car collections are being shown. Not only does he find mutual devotees with whom he exchanges ideas and data, but discovers in the course of conversation with them, the finest restaurant in town, what touring company is putting on the best play in the vicinity, where famous landmarks of the locale are, plus a general vivid index of the city's regional characteristics, inhabitants, and history.

"Hobbies," the handsome singer says, "are an open door to the world," and he further illustrates the theory with an incident in which he discovered a food specialty in a Chicago hotel through a man he met at a St. Louis auto show. "One thing led to another—we were both looking at a 1908 vintage motor, and in a few moments we were discussing prewar Paris, the Swiss Alps, and the best hotel-restaurant in Chicago."

Melton's collection of antique motors, which is housed at his forty-acre Westport, Conn., home, would fill a museum in itself. Vintages run from an 1898 De Dion Bouton (one cylinder) to a 1907 Fiat limousine once owned by Diamond Jim Brady. Melton has several cars run by electricity and steam which he loaned to neighbors during the recent fuel-rationing period.

Walter Heuck

Walter Heuck, '12, charter member of Gamma Xi, passed to the Chapter Eternal on Monday, September 23, 1946. Walter was one of the outstanding alumni of the University of Cincinnati. While in college, he captained the football teams of 1911 and 1912 and was a forceful leader in all activities on the campus. He was initiated into Delta Tau Delta on October 30, 1909, and was ever an ardent and active Delt. Due to his intense devotion for Gamma Xi and his able leadership, the Deltas became leading factors in all student activities.

As an alumnus, he was always in the van for the welfare of his chapter. He gave unsparingly of his time, experience, and influence in the construction of the Delt house on Jefferson Avenue, just off the campus. He was ever active and interested during the rushing season, a period when an influential alumnus has a powerful effect on freshmen.

Down through the years he attended all the banquets and social affairs of the actives and alumni. Thus he became a friend and counsellor to the actives and a "hail fellow" to the alumni.

We shall miss his friendly smile and hearty handshake at our future meetings, but his name and deeds will long be like a sparkling star for present and future Deltas to aspire.

Division Conferences

Plans have been made for holding the Division Conferences in the spring of 1947. Southern Division President Charles Pearson, Jr., has announced that Atlanta will entertain that group April 11 and 12.

Joel Reynolds advises that the Eastern Division Conference will be held in Pittsburgh, March 21 and 22, 1947.

The time for the Western Division Conference is March 14-16, 1947, President Jepsen indicates. Gamma Iota will be the host chapter at Austin, Texas.

The Deshler Hotel in Columbus, Ohio, will be the scene of the Northern Division Conference March 7 and 8, 1947, President Martindill announced following completion of preliminary arrangements with the Columbus Alumni Chapter and Beta Phi Chapter.

Mark Egan -- Hardheaded Planner

Postwar reconversion, like a "hangover," is a painful headache. For Hawaii's merchants and more particularly the Hawaii Visitors Bureau, one of these reconversion headaches is reviving the tourist trade, which used to be the No. 3 industry for these Islands, trailing only sugar and pineapple.

Before the war about 50,000 tourists spent more than $20,000,000 a year in Hawaii—manna from across the seas which eventually found its way into almost every resident's pocketbook in one form or another.

The tourist business was growing lush when the Japanese landed their Sunday punch at Pearl Harbor four and a half years ago and sent the business into limbo as a war casualty. Ironically, however, the very bombs that stopped the influx of tourists have sold the name of Hawaii to Mainlanders as no advertising campaign could have.

And so, after long hibernation, the time has come to resurrect the tourist trade and to develop it again to its prewar standing. The burden naturally falls upon the professional promoters of the business—the Hawaii Tourist Bureau, as it was known in bygone days. Its successor today is the Hawaii Visitors Bureau, a euphemistic name dedicated to the same aims as its predecessor but on a more ambitious scale.

Merchant and Fort Street businessmen organized the Hawaiian Promotion Committee about 40 years ago when they discovered they could capitalize on the physical and cultural charms of Hawaii Nei. Their obsession ever since has been to lure more and richer tourists to these shores. There apparently hasn't been a time when this Territory had too many tourists. The more the merrier, as the saying goes.

A paradoxical problem faces the merchants today. They want the tourists to come to Hawaii but they can't accommodate the pleasure seekers and visitors right now.

Simply stated, Hawaii just isn't ready to welcome the tourists. And it is up to the Visitors Bureau to pass the sad word on to prospective tourists that they should wait awhile until the Islands have been spruced up to greet them in grand style.

MARK W. EGAN
Northwestern, '27

The Bureau is giving out with the cold, painful facts. Says the Bureau ruefully: "Hawaii doesn't have enough hotel accommodations. There isn't even transportation enough to bring them to our shores. Our beaches, streets, parks, roads and homes need to be put in shape."

Meanwhile, the Bureau isn't resting complacently, waiting for things to improve. Not while it has a hustling manager like Mark Egan. Mark Egan is an easy-talking, friendly specialist in his trade. For the past 20 years he has devoted his energies to promoting business for hotels, conventions and tourist agencies.

Topnotcher in his field, Egan left Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., in 1927 to become sales manager for the St. Clair and Eastgate Hotels in Chicago. Then he moved to the William Penn and Fort Pitt Hotels in Pittsburgh.

From year to year, city to city, he saw his career soaring. In 1930-31, he became manager of the Pittsburgh Convention and Visitors Bureau. The next year he was sales manager of the Morrison Hotel and assistant manager of the Chicago Beach Hotel, both in Chicago; in 1933 he managed the Pittsburgh Convention and Visitors Bureau and the following year he turned to a similar job with the Cincinnati Convention and Visitors Bureau. From 1935-40 he was executive vice-president of the Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau. In addition, he looked after the King Edward Hotel in Niagara Falls, Ontario, of which he is proprietor and owner.

After he entered the Army in August, 1942, Egan found his way eventually to Hawaii, in work for which he was admirably fitted. This was the job of chief of service for the Pacific Division of the Air Transport Command. The "convention man" directed the "world's biggest hotel chain under fire in the Pacific."

From his Hickam Field headquarters, Mark Egan sent out orders for handling of messing, billeting and post exchanges of all ATC bases scattered over 42,000 miles of air routes extending from the west coast of the United States to New Zealand, Australia, Manila and Okinawa.

Satisfied he had done his share for Uncle Sam, Egan relinquished his military title, "Major Egan," and was discharged early this year. Last year, while he was still in uniform, the Visitors Bureau signed him as executive secretary, after a long and extensive search for the right man.

Egan has found a big challenge in Hawaii. The old Tourist Bureau breathed its last shortly after the outbreak of the war. Its successor, the Hawaii Travel Bureau, appeared in early 1945.

The Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu asked the Territorial Senate for a $47,000 appropriation, or one-third of a proposed budget (the balance to be raised by subscriptions from business houses). The solons turned down the request, not thinking the war would end when it did. So the Chamber was forced to draw entirely on private donations from merchants.

The name "Travel Bureau" was changed to "Hawaii Visitors Bureau." "Travel Bureau," it was explained, sounded too much like a ticket selling agency. "Visitors Bureau," on the other hand, suggested an organization to invite and welcome visitors. And that's the name of the agency today.

For many months the Bureau had only a temporary executive and stenographer. Its office was a nook in the Chamber's quarters and its activities were necessarily limited in scope.

Then Mark Egan stepped in. He enlarged the staff and opened an attractive office on the main floor of the Dillingham Building. He charted a peacetime program that has all the earmarks of having been drafted by an "old hand" in the business.

Best piece of publication the Bureau has printed is a small pamphlet titled, "Hold Them at Arm's Length—But Hold Them." In it is discussed Hawaii's travel problems; how tens of thousands of people on the Mainland want to visit Hawaii; how the Islands aren't ready to receive them; what Hawaii must do in the interim until it is ready to handle the trade.

In a sentence, Mark Egan's sage advice is: "Plan a middle course which will keep Hawaii in the travel public's eye as one of the world's supremely desirable places to visit—a place worth waiting to see."

Is the effort worth while? Mark lets the figures speak for themselves.

"With two airlines in operation, plus steamship service, Hawaii can within a few years attract double and treble our prewar total of tourists," says Mark. "A five-year objective can be over 100,000 visitors spending up to $50,000,000 a year."

"But fruit like that," he cautions, "will not come merely by shaping the tree."

Then he launches on a "three-stage" dissertation on what the Visitors Bureau is going to do about attracting the $50,000,000 trade.

Enumerated, the program looks thus:

First stage—Preparation (already well advanced). Assembling and distributing tourist bureau material in the form of booklets, maps, etc.; collecting a photo file; help big-time magazine writers and newspaper correspondents; publishing a monthly bulletin to keep 2,500

Mainland travel agencies posted on Hawaii's preparations to receive tourists; producing a color travel film; replacing and erecting new Hawaiian warrior guides pointing to spots of travel interest; cooperating in a territory-wide cleanup and beautification program; forming committees on each island to prepare for the entertainment and accommodation of tourists.

Second stage—Long range activity. To maintain interest among travel agents and win their good will and to keep Hawaii constantly before the Mainland public as extensively as opportunities permit.

Third stage—Intensive promotion (when transportation and hotel facilities are provided and Hawaii is ready for guests). Major emphasis will be on an early promotional campaign in national magazines. Tied with it is a long list of high-powered plans all aimed to attract the tourist, to keep the guest happy and contented once he gets here and to make him want to return later.

The job is big but the merchants think they have a big enough man for the task. In Mark Egan they have the personification of optimism and hope, plus hardheaded planning.—Taken from New Pacific, July, 1946.

Former Grid Stars Attend Iowa Reunion

Five of Iowa University's football greats were assembled at the Omicron Chapter reunion held in connection with the Karnea, August 31. Dean of Hawkeye gridders, Dr. Prince Sawyer was captain of the 1894 conference champion team. He is now a prominent surgeon in Sioux City, Iowa.

Gene Curran, playing guard, was one of the sixty-minute "iron men" of the 1939 conference champion team, as was Ed McLean, fleet-footed halfback. Art White was also a member of the famous 1939 squad.

Charles "Chuck" Lauer, Iowa, '30, was a standout in both basketball and football for the Hawkeyes. He is now head coach at New Trier High School in Winnetka, Illinois.

Approximately three thousand active Delts have returned this fall to participate in their chapters. Approximately fifteen hundred other college men have been pledged to Delta Tau Delta during the last two months, and another five hundred will be pledged shortly. This should indeed be a memorable year for our Fraternity.

It is a college year whose opening was prefaced by an outstanding Karnea—one which might well be called "The Karnea of Inspiration and Opportunity." For it was a Karnea of unusual inspiration. Here was the largest gathering of fraternity men ever assembled, particularly undergraduates, a great many of whom had seen war service and were actually returning to their respective chapters without the benefit of a normal Delt background and training. These men experienced a Karnea that was high lighted by a most inspirational initiation ceremony, by a very impressive war memorial service, by interesting and constructive business sessions, and by the opportunity to know better hundreds of other undergraduate and alumni Delts. This experience must have awakened in them an appreciation of Delta Tau Delta and their responsibilities as delegates.

When more than a thousand Delts gather together, many of whom traveled across half a continent to spend three days with their brothers, when seven past Presidents attend, when a chapter which has been inactive since 1913 turns out six members, when a chapter which has been inactive for eleven years turns out sixty-five members, when five men who have been Delts more than sixty years are present, you begin to realize something of what Delta Tau Delta can mean to you. After all, Delta Tau Delta is a Fraternity of men—of brothers—both old and young, and it was impressive beyond all measure to see gathered together in business sessions, at the initiation ceremony, and in the lobbies of the hotel, Delts whose class years range from 1887 to 1950—a span of sixty-three years.

The delegates are charged with the responsibility of taking this inspiration back to their chapters; theirs is the task of recreating this atmosphere in their own groups, of bringing home the conception of Delta Tau Delta which inspires achievement.

All of those in attendance at the Karnea must have become aware of the tremendous opportunities we face, both in strengthening the Fraternity from within and in building future greatness.

The Fifty-Eighth Karnea demonstrated how the Fraternity has taken tough obstacles in stride, how, with these now behind us, we stand on the threshold of a golden age in which our achievements will be limited only by the extent of our united efforts and capabilities. With the seizure of opportunity, however, comes responsibility.

We cannot afford to call the wrong play or fumble the ball at this critical stage of the game. And I am quite sure we won't.

If each of us shoulders his share of the responsibility, if each chapter makes the honest effort of self-improvement, if we but practice practical applications of the Fraternity's ideals, Delta Tau Delta will continue to move forward.

This, the first "normal" year, will, in reality, be "supernormal." In practically every chapter we shall have numbers to deal with greater than we have ever known before. We shall have members whose ages represent a span of seven to ten years, instead of the four we once knew. We shall have men on one hand who have had prewar chapter experience, who have been away three and four years, who have returned sobered and unsympathetic with childish practices, and, on the other hand, men who are fresh from high school or who have had only a very limited chapter experience. We still have half of a chapter's membership living outside the house, many of them married.

In 1919 when a number of former great Pitt football players returned from service to college, it required very careful work on Coach Pop Warner's part to mold the group into a harmonious and successful team, but the extra effort was worth while, because he had a better team for having blended the new and the old. In our chapters, likewise, large membership will not guarantee success. Success will require leadership of all members, both old and young, co-ordination of the experience of the older members and the eagerness and zeal of the younger men, and an earnest desire on the part of all to excel in scholarship, in activities, and in the art of being gentlemen.

Pointing for a successful year, then, we should set our sights on the broad outlines of what we intend to accomplish. First of all, we should be constantly striving for excellence in scholarship—for a return to the position of top leadership among national fraternities which we earned in 1939. We should work toward developing in our membership qualities of leadership, integrity, responsibility, and constructive self-expression. We should re-entrench our chapters' positions as foremost on our campuses by entering into activities, to prove our claim that Delta Tau Delta is a constructive adjunct to all phases of higher education and development.

We should emphasize in our Shelters the necessity for cultured and gracious living, the observance of good manners and good breeding, a refinement of the art of being gentlemen. We should produce members who will always be a credit to their colleges, their communities, and their Fraternity.

Let us instill in each chapter the desire to excel. Let us work together in a common and determined effort to keep Delta Tau Delta foremost among the college fraternities of America.

▼ FROM THE FRATERNITY-COLLEGE WORLD ▼

By Alvan E. Duerr, Kenyon, '93; Williams, '93

A new type of fraternity is in the process of being established. Ten years ago the Kiwanis Club of Pullman, Washington, decided to sponsor a group of students who might otherwise be unable to get a college education, secure a house for them, and let them run it on a co-operative basis.

The plan was carried out and seems to have been successful, Kiwanis members having given great assistance and guidance, and Kiwanis merchants and businessmen offering services and special discounts so that costs might be kept at a minimum.

Now it is proposed to internationalize the idea as the Kappa Iota Phi Fraternity (Kiwanis International Fraternity), each new chapter to be sponsored by local and neighboring Kiwanis Clubs.

Aside from the fine spirit that promoted it, the project meets two current demands, (a) for additional fraternities, so that more students may enjoy the advantages of fraternity life; and (b) to make fraternity life financially available to more students of limited resources.

The demand for more fraternities can be satisfied in only two ways: by establishing new fraternities or by increasing the chapter rolls of existing fraternities as well as the size of their present chapters. The Interfraternity Alumni Association of Southern California strongly urges the latter course. But too large chapters destroy solidarity and hence the ability to achieve constructive results, and the same principle would seem to apply to the number of chapters in any one fraternity.

To be sure, a number of the younger fraternities would be greatly strengthened by the addition of chapters. But they are faced with an almost insurmountable obstacle. The chapter house has become the indispensable adjunct to fraternity life, and we haven't yet learned to prefer a group of fine men in a mediocre house to a mediocre group in a fine house. Hence chapter houses cost much money, and shoe-string financing is fortunately losing caste. It must be remembered that the fraternity, among all the extracurricular agencies on the campus, is probably the only one that is wholly self-supporting within its own membership, and with few exceptions the cost of chapter houses has been met by the fraternity men immediately concerned, alumni and undergraduates. The Kappa Alpha Society was fifty years old before one of its chapters took over the first chapter house in the country. And a new or young fraternity does not have alumni to help to finance its chapter houses.

On the other hand, colleges are beginning to attach enough importance to the fraternity as a socializing agency on the campus to consider themselves warranted in financing chapter houses on the same basis as dormitories. The more closely the fraternities identify their objectives with the educational objectives of the colleges, the more frequently will this be done. We hope, however, that it will not involve regimentation of fraternity life.

But now a new approach is suggested. A non-academic agency, interested in young men, is proposing to help needy young men to get a college education, and believes that intimate association in a selective group is the best medium for deriving a maximum benefit from college training and for acquiring the social skills which are so essential for successful living. Kiwanis offers sponsorship and practical help; the rest is up to the group, with, it is to be hoped, not too many Kiwanis legacies for the group. It seems to be a movement that deserves the encouragement and assistance of interfraternity councils wherever a chapter of Kappa Iota Phi is established.

absorbed Beta Phi Alpha, has recently taken Phi Omega Pi into its membership.

Alpha Kappa Pi was merged with Alpha Sigma Phi in September. Each fraternity had about thirty chapters and, omitting duplications, the new Alpha Sigma Phi will have about fifty.

The latest Fraternity Blast, from the University of Texas, which starts off like a rodeo announcement, contains the following by the Assistant Dean of Students: "In a speech that he prepared before he died—a speech never delivered—President Roosevelt said: 'Today we are faced with the preëminent fact that, if civilization is to survive, we must cultivate the science of human relationships—the ability of all peoples, of all kinds, to live and work together, in the same world, at peace.'

"There is no better place to cultivate the science of human relationships than in your own fraternity. It is a place offering an opportunity to men of all kinds to live together for a common purpose. This opportunity only knocks once—make the most of it."

The Psi Upsilon Committee on Improving Relations of Chapters with Institutions has made a comprehensive and statesmanlike analysis of postwar problems for its chapters. Among other things, they advocate "alumni reunions (of their own chapters), which build loyalty to the educational institution." Oddly enough, a few educators have never recognized this palpable truth.

As for fraternity snobbishness, let's stop acting like three-year olds who must rub into everyone in sight the fact that they have acquired a beautiful toy through no merit of their own.

George Washington University has a plan, similar to Brown's, for housing its fraternities in college constructed and owned buildings. This may well be the means of revitalizing the fraternity system at the University, for Washington atmosphere and its urban location have not been conducive to constructive fraternity life.

The Interfraternity Council at the University of the South is, we believe, one of the first to do something about antifraternity criticism, instead of just deploring it or writing about it. Its members have agreed that each fraternity will invite every new student to at least one social function prior to rushing, and that they will compare their lists of prospects with each other before issuing invitations, so that the largest possible number of students will be invited to join a fraternity.

At Sewanee all students live in the dormitories, but each fraternity has its club house for meetings and social gatherings. Fraternity spirit has always been vigorous on that campus, yet it has lived side by side with a vigorous interfraternity spirit; for the average fraternity man there spends as much time at other lodges as he does at his own; and by tradition, the few nonfraternity men are always made welcome at them all.

If you want democracy, it isn't the fraternities that have to be changed, but the people.

★

It is commonly recognized that the performance and personnel of the average chapter change constantly and rapidly; that there is consequently no persistence of type. This must be construed to mean that local conditions and traditions are a stronger factor in determining the type of chapters than are national organizations. Only a dynamic national policy could counteract this.

Is there any fraternity which has a well-defined philosophy as to its purpose, and remembers it in its daily conduct?

The severest criticism of the fraternity is based on its inability to achieve what the college itself has not yet accomplished.

Colby College opened on a new site this September. In preparation, the secretary of the Colby Fund Council sent an interesting pamphlet to the alumni entitled, "Your House on Mayflower Hill." It reads in part, "Proud of their Past, They Prepare for the Future. Here at Colby Greek-letter fraternities have, for one hundred years, filled an important place in our college life. They have fostered close friendships and strong fraternal ties among thousands of Colby men.

"The eight Colby fraternities are recognized by the administration as an integral part of the college community. Fraternity houses, flanking the lawn between the Library and Roberts Union, are a part of the functionally-planned campus on Mayflower Hill.

"Our fraternities have suspended activities for the duration. They are preparing now to erect, with the help of the College if necessary, new Chapter Houses on Mayflower Hill.

"Charges in connection with the operation and maintenance of a fraternity house will be paid through the College treasurer and expended on the authorization of a committee of four members of the fraternity and a representative of the College.

"When your fraternity asks, this is what you can do:

- (1) Make a pledge for your fraternity house.
- (2) Then send a check immediately—so big you'll miss it—to the treasurer of your fraternity house fund.
- (3) Resolve to attend the opening of Colby College on Mayflower Hill in September 1946, and see the fraternity house you helped to build."

When the fraternities learn the proper co-ordination of their independence they will be ready to bring the full weight of a century's experience and a million members to bear on fraternity life. And then we shall be a real force in the educational program.

New Chapter Will Be Installed

Announcement was made to the Fifty-Eighth Karnea on September 2, 1946, that the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta had conditionally granted a charter to Omega Alpha Fraternity at Michigan State College in East Lansing, Michigan. The chapter will be known as Iota Chapter, which means the re-establishment of the old Iota Chapter which left the Michigan State campus in 1897 when fraternities were temporarily banned by the administration.

It appears at this time that the conditions under which the charter was granted will be successfully met. The installation is scheduled tentatively for a convenient date near the first of the year. The chapters at the University of Michigan, Albion College, and Hillsdale College will participate in the installation which will be made a reunion and celebration for all Delts resident in the state of Michigan.

Four members of Omega Alpha local were present at the Karnea: Arthur Stadelmeyer, president; Robert Kinney, secretary; Robert Morden, and Herbert McConnell. Theodore R. Kennedy, Wabash, '41, chapter adviser of Omega Alpha, and Miss Laura Heminger, housemother, also attended the Karnea.

William G. Merritt, Michigan State, '94, was on hand to hear the announcement that his Iota Chapter would be reactivated. Custodian of the old chair of the chapter's presiding officer, which dates back to 1874, Mr. Merritt will bring the historic chair back to East Lansing for the installation ceremony.

Announcement of the definite time of installation will be made at a later date.

As THE RAINBOW goes to press, the Fraternity announces that JOSEPH W. STEEL, Penn State, '46, has joined the field staff of Delta Tau Delta. Further details of Mr. Steel's appointment will be given in the next issue.

AROUND THE FIREPLACE

WITH GOOD DELTS

By Francis F. Patton, Chicago, '11

Note: The Delt wheels of progress never moved slowly when Francis F. Patton had a hand in the turning. By his choice France retired as President at the Fifty-Eighth Karnea. He has generated ideas for the development of Delta Tau Delta since his initiation by Gamma Alpha at the University of Chicago, January 18, 1908. And his cadence has been constant. Officially, he has been Karnea chairman, President of the Western Division, Treasurer, and President. Unofficially, as a member in the ranks, his record exemplifies that admonition about practical, everyday service. Numerous requests have been received for a copy of his report to the Fifty-Eighth Karnea. We publish it here so that all may hear from a great Delt President. HUGH SHIELDS

It is a great personal pleasure to welcome another record-breaking Karnea to Chicago. In 1907, 600 Delts gathered in Chicago. In 1911, 847 attended the Karnea here, and in 1933, 1,010 answered the roll call. All these Karneas at the time set new world records.

Our last undergraduate Karnea was held in August, 1941, at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, amid gathering war clouds. Since that date, your Arch Chapter has been called upon to increase its vigilance in administering to the welfare of the Fraternity. The 1943 Karnea passed the following amendment to the Constitution: "That, until a declaration of an end of World War II by the President of the United States or the Congress and for six months thereafter, the Arch Chapter shall have full powers to govern the Fraternity in whatever manner it deems to be for the best interest of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. . . ." Since 1943, the Arch Chapter has acted in accordance with these powers to meet successfully emergency conditions. Of significance is the fact that it has not been necessary in any instance to supersede or deviate from the fundamental laws of the Fraternity.

One of the first official acts of this Karnea should be the rescission of these powers and the return of the usual authority to the Karnea.

Since 1941, your Arch Chapter has served you faithfully, conscientiously, and, I believe, when you know the story, you will add the word efficiently. I can speak objectively, because I was not a member of the Arch Chapter in the most critical period and have served as President only since August, 1945. Through these troublesome years, all members of your Arch Chapter have eagerly awaited the day when they could say, "Here is our Fraternity, unimpaired, strong in organization and finances. We return her to your hands, a priceless heritage which we urge you to guard, nourish, and treasure."

When the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor, Delta Tau Delta had seventy-five undergraduate chapters, which owned chapter houses valued at more than $3,500,000. In 1941 there were 2,605 undergraduate Delts and 29,690 living alumni. Receipts and expenditures of our undergraduate chapters totaled over $1,000,000 per annum. Our chapters had the benefit of four full-time field secretaries, and the national Fraternity possessed assets in excess of $492,000.

It was obvious, however, that again the life of Delta Tau Delta was threatened. The usual crop of carping critics, enemies of the college fraternity, said that we would never have fraternities again, that the war would kill them. We thought then they were wrong—now we know it. We were in for a bad storm, however, and it behooved us to trim sail, batten down the hatches, secure everything, and prepare to ride out the storm regardless of duration. The Arch Chapter cut expenses to the bone, without eliminating any essential service required at the time. To date, we have run on a balanced budget, have never been in the red a penny, and have maintained the sound fiscal policies established in 1932. I cannot overemphasize or overstress the value of the leadership shown in those years. Paul G. Hoffman and then Charles T. Boyd stayed at the helm and brought the good ship safely into port. Delta Tau Delta owes a great debt of gratitude to those two men. How great only those who were privileged to serve with and under them really know. Forty-two of our undergraduate chapters continued to function during the war; eleven of them continued in their houses; and, seven even provided food at the Delt table throughout the war. Now seventy-two of our seventy-five chapters are reactivated and operating.

We have asked our undergraduate chapters to prepare programs—statements of their specific objectives—for the next college year. Delts could as well collectively request the Arch Chapter to submit a plan for the next two years, the period between Karneas. A new Arch Chapter will be elected at this Karnea, and, with due regard for the prerogatives of those who succeed us on the Arch Chapter, the following program is presented for careful analysis and possible approval.

We plan to re-establish our scholarship position in the National Interfraternity Conference ratings so that we have a creditable position on each campus and surpass our recognized local rivals on the respective lists. This will necessitate careful selection of pledges by each chapter, supervision over study and classroom habits of all initiated undergraduates, and a determination on the part of each chapter not to be satisfied with mediocrity. College campuses are teeming with fraternity material; there is more than enough for all. We can pick and choose as never before. Because of returned initiates, chapters will run larger than ever. Let us bear in mind that it is difficult to have congeniality and real fraternalism in a fraternity chapter of seventy-five or one hundred.

During the next biennium it shall be our policy to require that our chapters live within their incomes and work within reasonable budgets. This presupposes the absence of spendthrift habits and the control of finances by efficient undergraduate chapter finance committees. Each member will be expected to live up to his financial obligations to his Fraternity.

Continued co-operation with alumni in the maintenance of good financial control of house corporations is essential. Several corporations will revise their financial plans, and others are developing programs for new building with necessary borrowing. Our established requirements prerequisite to our approval will be continued, and loans from the Loyalty Fund will be made only to sound ventures. Development of architectural, legal, and financial plans will be aided by the Central Office and consultants.

The publication of The Delta Tau Delta News will continue so that all members of the Fraternity will be kept abreast of what we are doing. Alumni interest will be fostered in our undergraduate chapters and in our alumni chapters.

For years the organization of Delta Tau Delta has been refined and improved. We have thought that we are one of the best organized fraternities, but current events are proving it. We are now receiving dividends from our years of painstaking care. We are well equipped with funds and personnel, and our time-tested procedure has provided us with a "know how" of incalculable value in this postwar period. We have talented man power and money, and we propose to spend both in order to hasten the fulfillment of our Prophecy.

Hugh Shields, our Executive Vice-President, is entering his twenty-first year of full-time service for Delta Tau Delta. He came to us as a field secretary upon his graduation from Indiana University in 1926. Delta Tau Delta is his life, and no better informed fraternity man lives. He is our works manager; he runs Delta Tau Delta and is one of our most valuable assets.

You will hear reports from all of your officers. Listen carefully, make your own appraisal. I am confident your verdict will attest the fact that Delta Tau Delta today is virile, strong, and self-reliant. The tools are at hand to make every undergraduate chapter pre-eminent on its campus. One does not become stronger, however, by flexing his muscles and posing. We have not reached perfection, and while we are taking inventory let's see where we fail, where there are room and need for improvement.

Our seventy-one alumni chapters are mostly on paper; we require and should solicit more alumni interest and guidance. We need the active loyalty of every alumnus more than we need his money.

Every one of our alumni chapters should have an objective—a goal. It isn't enough to gather for the Delt luncheon once a week. Busy men will not take the time, but in every city there is a deserving civic enterprise or charity, a neighboring Delt chapter which should be encouraged, or some unselfish project, the support of which will redound to the credit of our Fraternity and the fraternity world. One of the oft-repeated charges against college fraternities is that they are self-centered and snobbish. To do unselfishly something for others brings great satisfaction and, incidentally, approbation for the Fraternity from others. Today, of our 32,000 alumni only 10,000 receive THE RAINBOW. At least 12,000 of the remaining 22,000 will receive THE RAINBOW for life when they pay the small remaining balances on their Loyalty Fund notes signed when they were initiated. All Delts whose addresses are known to us annually receive two or three copies of The Delta Tau Delta News. A Life Membership in our Loyalty Fund, established in 1926, carries with it a life subscription to THE RAINBOW, and since that year every initiate has pledged a Loyalty Fund subscription. Let every Delt initiated prior to 1926 become a Loyalty Fund member and hasten the day when all Delts will receive and read THE RAINBOW. It is one of the oldest and best fraternity magazines published.

In spite of 1933 Karnea action outlawing Hell Week and a public reaffirmation of this stand last spring, there are still campuses where this adolescent practice threatens to continue. This custom has brought more opprobrium and adverse criticism upon the fraternity system than any other single factor. Let's stop such childishness and instill into the pledges a great respect and love for the Fraternity by kindly act and deed. Physical violence and public humiliation do not breed affection and understanding. In the eyes of the world you are a Delt, not just another individual, and your every word and act reflect credit or discredit upon Delta Tau Delta and the whole fraternity system. There are still those who either cannot or will not see the great good on balance in the college fraternity, and they will continue their attacks and attempts to "purge" the college campus of these "hot beds of snob-busness and aristocracy."

Contrary to the expectations of many, the fraternity system has never been so strong as it is today. Sometimes one has to do without some accustomed thing to appreciate it, and colleges are like persons in some respects. Recently, certain universities, formerly passively negative, if not antagonistic, toward fraternities, have issued public statements recognizing fraternities as an important and wanted part of university life. For the first time, some institutions are realizing the importance of intelligently regulating the fraternities and working with them. Fraternities have never operated in a more friendly and understanding environment, but we must not violate this trust; we must measure up to the requirements and demands. If we do, we will enter a period of unprecedented prosperity and success.

We should maintain an entente cordiale with our friendly rivals. None of us can stand alone. The dereliction of one affects us all and what is our neighbor's problem today is ours tomorrow. There should be better liaison between national fraternities and between chapters on every campus—no secret agreements, political or otherwise, but a sympathetic co-operation, fortified by the indisputable fact that "united we stand, divided we fall." The days of stealing rituals are gone forever; we recognize that we must help our Greek brother to his feet, for we may be on our own knees tomorrow.

Your Arch Chapter feels that it is administering a trust. We must not, cannot, permit undergraduate chapters to continue unless they maintain the standards and traditions of Delta Tau Delta. We cannot break faith with those who hold our banner high and bring credit to us. Some great educational institutions do not offer a suitable field for national fraternities—Columbia, Chicago, Virginia, Harvard, Princeton, Amherst; all these have prestige and unquestioned standing in the world of learning, but in none of them do we find a proper atmosphere for our Fraternity. Through the operation of undergraduate chapters, we have viewed some of these institutions close-up over a period of many years.

Years ago we withdrew our representation at Columbia and Chicago, and now we have taken similar action at Virginia and Amherst. Our Beta Iota and Gamma Phi Chapters have been added to the inactive list. Gamma Eta (George Washington) is also inactive—we hope only temporarily. At the request of the Gamma Eta undergraduates, the Arch Chapter suspended the charter in 1942. It had suffered all the ills of a big city chapter and had been operating in an environment unfavorable to fraternities. We hope within the next year alumni support will appear and the University will proceed with the erection of dormitories which will provide quarters for all fraternities, including our own. If these developments occur, we will consider the reactivation of Gamma Eta.

The inactive status of these chapters does not mean that members of Beta Iota, Gamma Phi, and Gamma Eta Chapters should cease their interest and activity in the Fraternity. It is interesting and significant to note that the three men who have served as President of Delta Tau Delta since 1939 are all members of undergraduate chapters long since inactive. Our Fraternity is truly national in scope and interest. It is not something you leave behind on graduation day.

The past few decades have brought great changes in the educational world. Great universities, heavily endowed, have come into being; some old, cherished colleges have not held the pace. Delta Tau Delta must adjust itself to these changes. Our Committee on Chapters and Charters is continuously active. Years ago a chapter became inactive only if it could keep going no longer in any fashion. We waited for promising petitions from local fraternities and chartered the best of those who offered themselves. We now try to be alert on both counts. We propose to help every undergraduate chapter all we can, but in the long run it must be located in an institution which is friendly to national fraternities, and we must have the earnest efforts and conscientious support of the undergraduate Delts.

We are watching with interest the growth and progress of certain institutions. Our aim is to be the best fraternity, not the largest, and we propose to move aggressively at the proper time into those institutions which offer a promising field for us. Things do not stand still and the possibilities are great. There are twenty-six first-class colleges and universities in Texas, one of our greatest states, and we have one chapter—and an excellent one—there. We have one fine chapter, but only one, in all the Dominion of Canada. In eleven states of the forty-eight there is no chapter of Delta Tau Delta. We will probably remove some chapters and add some during the next few years. This is not regrettable: it is realistic and it is progress.

Your Arch Chapter looks with favor upon the petition we have received from Omega Alpha Fraternity at Michigan State College, now a great university. This may provide the long-hoped-for opportunity to reactivate our Iota Chapter, which was established in 1872 and became inactive in 1897 when fraternities were abolished at that institution. Michigan State College is prospering and growing. It has an enlightened educational and fraternity policy and probably a brilliant future.

The Arch Chapter has also formally expressed its favorable interest in the University of Delaware, which appears to offer a fine opening for us.

The policy is well established now that each undergraduate chapter must look to its laurels and cannot live in the past. In many a college or university the next few months may see an unprecedented realignment of fraternities, which may endure for years. Many fine young men entering college next month will judge by what they see around them, not what was true years ago.

The next ninety days are tremendously important to all of us. Let's give it the best we have and harbor no regrets. If we do this, we will gain lifelong satisfaction and bring deserved credit to Delta Tau Delta.

While the officers of the Fraternity were delivering their reports to the Karnea, many delegates were taking notes to aid them in giving their reports, in turn, to their respective chapters. Some of the following are a few of the more note-taking-worthy quotations.

VICE-PRESIDENT BRENTON: "... I want to express my appreciation for what Delta Tau Delta has given me. During my school years I received as much from the Fraternity as I did from my school work. . . . I had a debt to my Fraternity which I wished to repay and which could not ever be fully repaid. But yet in some small measure I have attempted to repay it. In attempting to do this, though, I found I had gained still more than I had been able to give. . . ."

TREASURER WHEATON: "Let me urge a continuation of the vigorous but conservative policy which has brought us to our present position, for it is only by being financially strong that Delta Tau Delta can hope to take full advantage of the almost unlimited opportunities which lie ahead."

SECRETARY FRANK: "... For ourselves, I can refer you to nothing better than your chapter hall and the fundamental principles of your Ritual . . . these principles are the firm foundation of peace to which Henry Wriston referred. These principles will guarantee a free society to which Paul Hoffman dedicated himself. These are the principles for which our leaders like Ray Carroll, Bruce Bielaski, Bishop Hughes, Norm MacLeod, France Patton, Charley Boyd, Hugh Shields, and others have labored so faithfully and for so long. The honor and the burden of carrying on are in your hands. Do not destroy the things that made Delta Tau Delta great, but build upon them. Take them with you. And you will make a greater and better Delta Tau Delta than we have ever seen or have ever known."

JACK F. WHITE

JACK F. WHITE, Lawrence, '41, is the new dean of students of Illinois Institute of Technology.

Formerly with the admissions staff of Lawrence College, Mr. White became Director of Admissions at Illinois Institute of Technology in 1944. His appointment as dean of students became effective September 1, 1946.

While an undergraduate at Lawrence, he was Secretary of Delta Nu Chapter, editor of the campus newspaper, and was chosen the outstanding man of the junior class.

Mr. White has a Master's degree from the University of Chicago. He is married and has a daughter.

DR. SHERMAN DICKINSON, Iowa State, '13, head of the department of agricultural education of the University of Missouri for the past twenty-two years, has accepted an invitation from the Department of State, Washington, D. C., to spend the next few years in Brazil as specialist and consultant to the Brazilian government in the field of agricultural education.

Mrs. Dickinson will accompany her husband. They will leave for South America the last of September, flying from Chicago to Miami and then from Miami to Brazil by Pan American Airways. They expect to make their home in Rio de Janeiro.

Dr. Dickinson resigned his position with the University last spring.

Dr. Dickinson will work in Brazil under the auspices of the Inter-American Educational Foundation, which is a division of the State Department. The Brazilian government is anxious to establish a practical program of agricultural education throughout the country as a means of ameliorating the condition of large portions of the rural population. Dr. Dickinson will be particularly responsible for inaugurating a teacher training program, and will spend considerable time in the rural and less advanced regions.

Rio de Janeiro is designated as staff headquarters, but much time may be spent in such cities as Sao Paulo, Curitiba, Volta Redona, Belem, Natal, Bel Horizonte and others.

During vacation periods Dr. and Mrs. Dickinson plan to visit other South American capitals, including Buenos Aires, Argentina and Santiago, Chile.

H. GRADY CHANDLER, JR., Texas, '42, has been appointed general traffic manager of Pioneer Air Lines, Inc., it was announced recently. He has been associated with the company as traffic and research analyst, following completion of graduate work in air transportation at the University of Texas.

During the war he served in the Navy and was a commanding officer of a motor torpedo boat and later an L.S.T. landing boat throughout central and south Pacific operations.

He has a great interest in sports and he holds the Junior Ski Championship of Norway for the years of 1938 and 1939. He has also taught skiing, swimming, track, and handball.

DR. ERNEST B. FORBES, Illinois, '97, for twenty-four years director of the Institute of Animal Nutrition at Pennsylvania State College, has retired. Under Dr. Forbes' direction, the research work of the institute, largely fundamental in character, has been reported in 135 scientific papers. These papers have covered a great diversity of subjects, mainly relating to energy, mineral protein, fat, and vitamin metabolism, the experimental work having been conducted with cattle, sheep, deer, chickens, rabbits, guinea pigs, and albino rats.

BARRE HILL, Hillsdale, '25, has recently returned to the Oklahoma campus as Chairman of the Department of Voice in the School of Fine Arts.

BRANCH RICKEY, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, has done it again! His 1946 edition of the Brooklyn Dodgers has become the "miracle team" of major league baseball. Predicted by sports writers at the start of the season as lucky to finish in fifth or sixth place, the Dodgers amazed the sporting world by coming from behind in the closing games to tie up the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals in one of the hottest pennant races of all times. The Cardinals—the team that Branch Rickey piloted before joining Brooklyn—won in the play-off only by extending themselves to the limit, but the Dodgers still remain the wonder club of modern baseball, and a credit to the managerial genius of Mr. Rickey.

There are other Delts who figure in this astonishing achievement. BRANCH RICKEY, JR., Ohio Wesleyan, '35, is manager of the Brooklyn farms, and DONALD E. BEACH, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, occupies a key position in the Dodger system.

The boys from Flatbush have served ample notice that they are a team to be watched next year; many scribes foresee Rickey's Dodgers bringing home the first pennant in many years.

When ownership of the Pittsburgh Pirates changed hands August 8, 1946, JOHN W. GALBREATH, Ohio, '20, became one of the four co-owners of the baseball club. Crooner Bing Crosby is also one of the stockholders in the new management. Mr. Galbreath is well known among Ohio Delts for his participation in Fraternity activities; his Darby Dan Farm outside of Columbus has become famous as a site for Delt functions.

MELVILLE A. CLARK, Syracuse, '04, is listed in the 1946 edition of the Biographical Encyclopedia of the World. He is a concert harpist and authority on musical instruments. The inventor of the Clark harp, Mr. Clark appears in the section "Who's Who in Music" in the new edition.

DANTE LAVELLI, Beta Phi, '45, former star Ohio State end, has turned professional to play with Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns this fall. Lavelli returned to O.S.U. in January after four years in the infantry, two of which were spent as a staff sergeant in the ETO.

JACK W. POWELL, Ohio State senior, was president of Beta Phi Chapter and is business manager of the campus daily newspaper, The Lantern.

DAN HERBERT, Ohio State, '48, is the son of THOMAS J. HERBERT, Western Reserve, '17, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, former attorney general of the state. Danny returned to Ohio State in March after two and a half years in the Army, a year of which was spent in the ETO with the 44th Division, 71st Infantry.

TONY ADAMLE, Beta Phi, '49, is Ohio State's first-string center. A former star of Cleveland's Collinwood High School, Adamle is a sophomore who recently returned to Ohio State after three years in the armed forces. A sergeant in the AACS, he spent two years as a B-25 radio operator in the Middle East.

Housemother Is Back

With the house back and the largest membership in several years, Alpha Chapter is looking optimistically to a very successful year. Mrs. Mamie Stumpff, prewar housemother, is with the chapter again. The members are active in Men's Undergraduate Council and other campus work.

Shelter Is Overflowing

With seventy-five actives and thirty pledges, the boys at Beta find the Shelter "bursting at the seams." Fifty-three and the housemother, Mrs. Carolyn Hook, are living in the house.

The new mascot, Joe, a dark red springer spaniel, was presented to the chapter by John Stauffer, who liberated him from the Nazis in Germany when he was two weeks old.

Sixty-nine in Chapter

The sides of Delta's Shelter are bulging with thirty-nine men living in the house and thirty more living elsewhere, most of whom are graduate, married, or law students. The Shelter has just been repainted and has new carpets, refinished bathrooms, reupholstered furniture, and some new beds.

Big plans are being made for the week end of the Michigan-Michigan State game. Delta has invited Omega Alpha Fraternity at State to join in a house party. Omega Alpha is the petitioner which is to be installed as Iota Chapter this winter, under requirements which appear certain of fulfillment.

Chicken Fry Held

The Fifty-Seventh Annual Chicken Fry of Gamma Theta Chapter at Baker was held October 19. A record-breaking attendance was anticipated, as the chapter began the present school year with the largest enrollment in chapter history.

Jim Irick, all-conference end in 1942, is back with this year's squad. Burley Martin, a pledge, stellar member of the '42 squad, will be in at tackle this year, and Chubb Rose, another pledge, shows promise of becoming one of the finest ends in the state.

Shelter Redecorated

Effects of the fire last spring were entirely effaced by the redecoration and refurbishing of the Beta Psi Shelter at Wabash. Twenty-seven undergraduates and ten holdover pledges returned in September and rushing brought twenty-six more pledges into the chapter.

Men from the chapter are leading in campus activities. The editor of the Caveman, a monthly campus publication, is a Delt. Men have been placed on the business staff of the weekly newspaper, and the Delts have ten men out for varsity football, five of whom are playing on the first eleven.

"Battling Bishops"

The "Battling Bishops" of Ohio Wesleyan University have among their array of talented gridders this year three Delts and four Delt pledges.

Both of the first string guard positions are held by Delts, John Knapp and Mike Kevesdy. Kevesdy earned a position on the All-Ohio high school team before his "stretch" in the Army and will have two more years at Wesleyan. Knapp played football at Wesleyan prior to the war and will have one more season before graduation.

John Racine, a pledge, holds down one of the first string end positions and has three more years on campus.

New Adviser

Nu Chapter at Lafayette is under way at prewar strength with the return of twenty-eight actives and six pledges. Dr. Edwin Eichlin is replacing Karl K. LaBarr as adviser, and the chapter is looking forward to a good year, scholastically, athletically, and socially.

Rho Opens Strong

Thirty-two members and pledges joined at the table for the first dinner of the year in Rho's Shelter at Stevens. Back in the house are Widenor, Sellman, McBride, Dodd, McQuaid, Heatley, Lane, Tutzauer, and others who have been out of service longer. Meetings follow dinner on Monday night, and alumni are invited.

Alumni Week End

Alumni Week End at Penn State was scheduled by Tau Chapter for October 19 and a large gathering was expected. Veterans who returned to school this year are Jack Craig, Frank Gryska, Robert George, Jack Gunst, Ellis Hall, Frank Delp, Irving Francis, Jay Gallagher, Bud Robertson, Edward Usher, William Kemerer, Richard Ingersoll, Robert Whitman, George Smith, John Ritchie, Ralph Fritts, and Kermit Staff.

Delts living on campus with their wives are John Pforman, Reid McCloskey, Robert Baggs, John Holmes, William Fortman, and Samuel Pearson.

Operations Housecleaning

Members of Upsilon Chapter returned to the Rensselaer campus this fall ten days before opening to completely rework the house. Operations included everything from painting stairways to papering walls. Room after room was completely refinished, including painting of woodwork, ceilings, and radiators.

The chapter's membership has increased almost 50 per cent, to a total of sixty-one with the return of former servicemen. Three returning Delts are members of Phalanx, campus honorary society, which now has a Delt membership of six out of the total of eleven members on campus.

Mother Ladd Is Back

During the war years when the University of Colorado was using Beta Kappa's Shelter, it was Mother Ladd who held the chapter together. The men met at her apartment and she served as liaison for the servicemen coming and going out of Denver. Now she is starting her eleventh year as housemother.

With the pledging of thirty-eight men, Beta Kappa has a chapter of one hundred eleven. Fifty-six men are living in the house, which was completely redecorated during the summer months.

The highest scholastic average of any organization on the campus was attained last school year by Beta Kappa Chapter.

Shelter Renovated

With the financial aid of the alumni, Epsilon's Shelter is being renovated. Most of the actives delayed taking summer jobs to furnish the labor necessary. Before school started the second and third floors were painted by the members, and during the opening weeks of school, the actives and holdover pledges painted the exterior of the house.

The actives living in the Shelter this year have the distinction of being more crowded than any of their predecessors. The previous capacity of the house was considered twenty-five, but there are thirty-two in residence. With thirteen on campus, Epsilon now has the largest active chapter in its history.

Epsilon's new housemother, Mrs. H. S. Temple, Farmington, Mich., has taken over her duties, and a tea was recently given in her honor by the chapter.

Bob Mohr, Spud Sparling, Butch Valato, and George Huckle have all won regular berths on the football team.

Erroneous reports of the deaths of two members have been sent to the Central Office and published in THE RAINBOW. Current information indicates that William H. McFarland, Kentucky, '26, lives in Burlington, Kentucky, and that Charles N. McClure, Allegheny, '90, is now residing at Multonah Farm, Troutdale, Oregon.

Eighteen States Represented

Eighteen states are now represented in the Phi Chapter at W. & L. Thirty-nine men returned and, after an intensely competitive rush week, the Delts pledged eleven.

Frank Brooks and Dick Spindle won honors in the spring elections. Brooks was elected president of the sophomore class, while Spindle now heads the W. & L. chapter of ODK, national leadership fraternity. President of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary scholastic fraternity, is Joe Rowe. The chapter is well represented in campus activities.

Return to House

Beta Beta Chapter announces the reopening of the Shelter at DePauw. The entire house has been repainted and redecorated by the University. During the summer, Dr. Fowler D. Brooks, of the Oklahoma chapter, now a member of the psychology department at DePauw, contributed and planted evergreens to beautify the grounds.

Mrs. Nira Radel, housemother, of Chicago, Illinois, has in a few weeks time captured the Delt spirit and become a heartwarming part of Delt tradition at DePauw.

The total membership on campus is now sixty-seven.

Homecoming Dance Arranged

The homecoming dance of Delta Alpha of Oklahoma will be held November 16 at Nichols Hills Country Club in Oklahoma City. This is a joint affair for alumni from over the state and the undergraduates of the chapter.

Delta Alpha is pointing up a full social season, which began with something unusual in the way of a rush party—a week end tour of Lake Texhoma by Chris-Craft. The trip included fishing, swimming, and a lesson in surfboard riding.

The efforts of the members and alumni resulted in the pledging of fifty men.

Activity Resumed

Last March, after an inactive period of nearly three years, all fraternities at Dartmouth reopened. Gamma Gamma was in a fortunate position. The house was in splendid condition, thanks to John Piani, '14, and twenty-five of the former members were in attendance for the spring semester.

No longer is it an oddity to find the female element at the house almost any night in the week. Dick Heer, Swifty Barnes, Wendy Nauss, Bob Schoonmaker, Roy Kirch, Dave Hoffman, and Frank Edmands have all returned with wives. The girls have been a real asset to the house. They have all pitched in to help with rushing, decorating, and typing themes.

During the brief rushing period in March, Gamma Gamma added nineteen new members—all veterans.

Fall house parties are scheduled for the week end of the Harvard game, November 9.

Delt Tradition

The five Zeta men appearing in the accompanying picture represent a good background of tradition, having fathers as Delts, and in three of these families grandfathers have handed down the principles underlying the makings of a Good Delt. At the present, Zeta is trying to encourage these men in particular to build upon this already firmly established tradition when they get married and have sons. JIM MULLIGAN, Zeta, '49, is the son of Dr. C. E. MULLIGAN, Zeta, '17; DICK OLDENBURG, Zeta, '45, son of F. C. OLDENBURG, Zeta, '08; DON BLAIR, Zeta, '45, son of Dr. JACKSON BLAIR, Zeta, '16, whose father is E. E. BLAIR, Alpha, '83; DICK PORTMANN, Zeta, '49, son of MILTON (MUFF) PORTMANN, Zeta, '10, whose father, Dr. E. W. PORTMANN, was associated with Zeta Chapter while he attended Western Reserve Medical School about 1894; and MARC HYRE, a neophyte, whose father is RAY HYRE, Zeta, '11, and whose grandfather is LON HYRE, Eta, '84.

Temporary Housing

Because the Gamma Lambda Shelter was not large enough for the membership this fall, added housing arrangements had to be made. Two Sears Roebuck prefabricated garages have been joined together to make barracks, which, they report from Purdue, illustrates two things: the unpredictable ways of college men and the determination of most G.I.'s to return to college. The barracks will accommodate an overflow of twenty-odd men.

Charlie McCabe, adviser, has had years of experience with the Fraternity and he realizes the need of a balanced diet in the chapter house. This fall the chapter has the services of three cooks and a stewardess. Three times each day sixty to seventy-five men cross the threshold to gather 'round the table. Mr. McCabe has promised that each man will average a gain of ten pounds by Christmas holidays, which means that Delta Tau Delta will carry more weight on the campus—by about a ton.

Gala Affair Planned

Gala plans have been made for Homecoming October 19 by Delta Zeta. Revival of some of Florida's most cherished traditions is in view, including the "Gator Growl."

Rush week was the biggest this year the University has ever seen. The Shelter was newly painted on the outside and redecorated on the inside, and Delta Zeta is looking forward to one of its biggest and most successful years.

Chapter Returns to Alabama

Ten members and fourteen pledges comprise Delta Eta Chapter at Alabama, which was reactivated May 10, 1946, by permission of the Arch Chapter. The University had control of the house until September and when the chapter regained its use, there were many tasks required for reopening.

The Flying Delts

The air age is a reality on the Iowa State campus and particularly for the Gamma Pi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

Jacques Foster traveled in his Porterfield to various points in Iowa during the days preceding rush week, contacting new students and inviting them to the Shelter for rush days. In the accompanying photo he is shown by his plane in one of their rare moments of inactivity.

R. Hayden (Snuffy) Smith, ex-Marine aviator and president of Gamma Pi, made a flying visit to the Fifty-Eighth Karnea in his sleek, fast, privately-owned BT-15. Snuffy and Jim Carlson made the trip to Chicago from Ames in a little less than two hours. Snuff is shown at the controls for the take-off to the Karnea.

Gamma Pi has twenty-seven active members and a pledge class of seventeen. The house has been renovated and is under the able direction of Mrs. E. R. Hansen, housemother.

During the spring, the chapter ranked fourth among twenty-five fraternities on the campus. The top is the goal for this fall quarter.

Chapter Reactivated

Beta Delta, at the University of Georgia, reopened in a house for the first time in three years this fall. G. Lee Dickens, Jr., Emory, '42, is the new president. He served as a lieutenant in the Navy during the war.

Col. James V. V. Shufelt, P.M.S.T. of the R.O.T.C. unit at the University, succeeds William Tate as chapter adviser.

House Party Planned

Plans are being made by Beta Zeta at Butler to hold the traditional fall house party Thanksgiving week end at Spring Mill state park. Harold Curtis is chairman for the event.

The Shelter has been redecorated and its management is in the capable hands of Mrs. Ireland, new housemother. Thirty-six men are wearing the Delt pledge button, and 1946-47 promises to be a banner year for Beta Zeta.

Back in Chapter House

The Beta Gamma Chapter at Wisconsin is in its Shelter on the banks of beautiful Lake Mendota for the first time in three years. In 1943, the Shelter was turned over to the Navy V students, but once again Delts—thirty-six of them—are living in the house. The chapter has thirty-five actives and fifteen pledges. An outstanding social season is planned.

Among the men of Beta Gamma who attended the Karnea were Bob Tillman, Bob Jenkins, and Bob Fortune.

Boom Year Anticipated

Beta Eta at Minnesota anticipates a boom year. The house and grounds have been restored to good running condition after the war years and hard usage by the Navy. The Mothers Club has started to decorate, restyle, and refurbish the powder room, and the entire first floor is to be painted and refinished. Individual members are hard at work on their rooms.

The Shelter is filled to capacity with men returning from the service. Twenty-eight are living in the house. The total chapter membership is sixty-seven.

Sixteen Beta Eta Delts enjoyed the festivities and the excitement of the Karnea in Chicago.

The chapter has instituted the custom of having two of the undergraduates lunch with the alumni each week. The groups get together, have lunch, and discuss fraternal relations and allied subjects.

Three Duke Delts with Party Guests

Section Is Full

Delta Kappa's Fraternity section at Duke is full, with some thirty-three actives on hand at Duke. The chapter room has been redecorated and refurnished. A full social calendar is planned, including cabin parties, open houses, dances, and informal affairs.

Another Crowded Campus

A crowded campus, a dire shortage of housing facilities, and a great influx of veterans herald the opening of Oregon State College for the fall term of 1946, and the freshly painted Shelter of Delta Lambda will house the largest number of returning veterans and pledges in its history.

Thomas McClintock has been elected to manage the nationally known Oregon State College Co-operative Association which has kept campus house bills among the lowest in the nation's colleges and universities.

Alumni Relations Stressed

In the near future Delta Mu undergraduates plan a trip to Spokane to cement relations between alumni and the Idaho chapter. This year it opens with thirty members and twenty-six pledges.

Allen Janssen, chapter adviser, who was instrumental in obtaining a charter to establish Delta Mu, has stepped up the ladder to Dean of the College of Engineering.

Members who are "campus wheels" include John Christenson, triple threat halfback, who holds down a starting assignment on the Vandal eleven; Jack Pearring in campus politics; and Ralph Didriksen and Bob Dahlstrom chairmanning various committees.

Four First-Line Delts

Football season opened with four Beta Rho Delts playing first-line positions on the Stanford eleven. Don Zappettini, Bob Hall, Fred Parsons, and Ainsley Bell have all played outstanding ball.

A grade A social season has been arranged for the chapter in the house, which has been cleaned, painted, and refinished.

Fraternity Innovation

Beta Chi Chapter at Brown now numbers about sixty men. All are veterans and a half dozen are veterans of married life. It is a common sight to come to a Delt party and see a room marked "Nursery" where the brothers park their legacies during social events.

Four top-notch players, Dorsey, McLellan, D'Angelo, and Sharp represent the Delt house on the Brown football team.

Seventy-four Return

Starting its second quarter in the Shelter since the war, Delta Epsilon found fifty-two actives and twenty-two pledges returning from classes as far back as '35 under the G.I. Bill. The Shelter has been completely renovated, including refinishing of the floors, painting, and addition of new furniture.

The housemother before inactivation, Mrs. William H. Fisher (better known to her Delt sons as "Mimi"), has returned to Kentucky.

Homer G. Crowden, who lived in the Shelter the first three years after its erection in 1931, has been back in school two quarters, but will leave in December for further study at Northwestern.

Eighty Actives on Campus

Delta Beta at Carnegie Tech has eighty actives on campus—an all-time high. Fifteen men were pledged.

The chapter is well represented in all school publications and has many candidates out for varsity football and soccer.

Homecoming was observed October 12.

"Confusion Reigned"

When Delta Delta men started pouring back into the Tennessee Shelta' in September it was a scene of almost utter confusion. Paperhangers were still working in the two front rooms and the hall. Strange faces for both old and new Delts appeared every day. It was a real homecoming for men from the vintage of '39 on.

After a big week of rush, thirty-four new Delt pledge pins dotted the campus and halls.

Mrs. D. L. Quinn, a new house-mother, started her work with the chapter this fall and the Tennessee men say she has already proved her worth by her charm and graciousness.

Dick Maerker has been awarded the faculty scholarship for obtaining the highest average of grades in the University during his freshman year in the College of Engineering.

Homecoming at Northwestern

All alumni were invited to return to the Beta Pi Shelter for Homecoming November 2 to meet the sixty actives and thirty-three pledges inscribed on the roll and view the redecorated Shelter.

October saw the return of the Delt Pajama Race, one of the old traditions on the Northwestern campus. The fourteenth race was held in 1940, but the event was temporarily shelved during the war. Each year a pajama queen is selected at a huge open house held immediately after the race at the Shelter. The male wearing the loudest pajamas is elected king and rewarded with a kiss from the reigning queen.

Interfraternity Co-operation

Delta Pi entered the fall semester at U.S.C. with a terrific four-way "stretch" party in conjunction with the Pi Phi's, Theta's, and Sigma Chi's. The affair was held at the end of the first week of school at the Valley Park Country Club, Sherman Oaks, and was attended by three hundred. Rush parties were held before and after this affair.

At the opening of school Delta Pi was without a house, although alumni efforts are obtaining one as THE RAINBOW goes to press, and the chapter is housed in a dormitory, with University co-operation. Chapter meetings are being held at a near-by restaurant.

Interfraternity spirit was heightened by the offers from Sigma Chi, Kappa Alpha and PiKA to use their facilities for chapter meetings and housing for members.

The Delt Pledges of Northwestern

Living in Shelter

For the first time since the spring of 1943 Beta Mu is living in the chapter house at Tufts. Doubling up in some rooms and using the dining room for study and sleeping quarters has enabled the chapter to accommodate twenty-nine men in the house. A new dining room is being built through the efforts of the alumni. This long-needed addition is to be ready for rush week late in October, and an official dedication is planned for later in the year.

The return of veterans has swelled the active enrollment to well over thirty men.

House Decorated

Beta Xi at Tulane opened its first postwar year with a bang. The actives painted and decorated the house during vacation, and the alumni chapter supplied new furnishings on the main floor.

The past summer saw the maiden issue of the chapter paper, the Beta Xi-Clone.

Pledge Banquet Held

The annual pledge banquet of Gamma Mu was held at Washington September 25, and it was the consensus that the twenty-nine new men who had pledged during rush week were the "best pledge class ever seen."

During the summer, many preparations took place for the reopening in the fall. The interior was painted from top to bottom; rugs were added to all second and third floor study rooms; new drapes were placed in the main floor rooms, dining room, and study rooms; and all woodwork on the outside of the house was repainted.

Nine men represented Gamma

EDGAR "JIM" KENEIPP

Mu at the Karnea and returned telling the chapter the news and ideas from the convention.

Keneipp Is Prexy

Delta Epsilon heads into the new school year at the University of Kentucky with Jim Keneipp of Louisville, one of the many veterans back in the chapter after military service during the war, at the helm.

He was chosen president in the annual election to succeed Everett Elsey, of Lexington, the latter being one of the three vets who returned to the campus last fall and labored diligently and successfully to resurrect Delta Epsilon after its wartime suspension of activities.

A well-traveled former member of Uncle Sam's Army, Keneipp is a senior in the commerce college this year. He entered service from the campus, put in almost four years in uniform, including twenty-one months overseas and serving in both the European and Pacific theaters, and came back with four battle stars on his service ribbons.

Alumni Banquet Held

More than one hundred actives and alumni were present at the Gamma Beta alumni banquet September 1. Veteran actives met many alumni of their own class. H. Townley Heald, President of Il-

Elected to the office of Secretary by the Karnea is Martin B. Dickinson, Kansas, '26, a Delt who has always given unstintingly of his time and efforts.

Mr. Dickinson's distinguished service with the Fraternity includes a partial term as President of the Western Division in 1933-34, Division vice-president for a number of years, continued work for the Kansas City Alumni Chapter, and Supervisor of Scholarship from 1942 to September 16, 1946.

A graduate of the University of Kansas Law School, Mr. Dickinson won many honors, including election to Phi Beta Kappa and Order of the Coif. Since the time of his graduation, he has been practicing law in Kansas City.

Mr. Dickinson is recognized in Fraternity circles as an indefatigable worker, and, as Supervisor of Scholarship during the war years, he is largely responsible for the outstanding scholastic record of Delta Tau Delta during a time when the job assumed huge proportions.

His contribution to the Fifty-Eighth Karnea was a high light of the convention. Chairman of the important Committee on Constitution and Laws, his competent handling of controversial issues and his capable presentation of the Committee's report were brilliantly executed.

He brings to our governing body a mind that is both judicial and analytical. The Fraternity is indeed fortunate to have Martin Dickinson as its Secretary.

The new Supervisor of Scholarship, chosen by popular acclaim at the Fifty-Eighth Karnea, is Clemens R. Frank, Western Reserve, '19, the retiring Secretary.

This is the third office that Mr. Frank has held on the Arch Chapter. He was Northern Division President from 1940 to 1944. In 1944 he was appointed to the office of Secretary to fill the unexpired term of W. H. Brenton when the latter became Vice-President.

A graduate lawyer, Mr. Frank served as Assistant Attorney General of the State of Ohio for a number of years; he recently returned to his former law practice in Cleveland, Ohio.

When Mr. Frank was elected President of the Northern Division by the Division Conference in 1940, THE RAINBOW said of him: (He) "has been living, thinking, eating, sleeping, and working for Delta Tau Delta since the day a pledge pin was placed on his lapel back in September of 1915." That statement aptly epitomizes the extent of this Delt's participation and interest in his Fraternity.

He is one of the most popular Delts in the state of Ohio and always responds to an invitation where there will be a gathering of Square Badges. His keen intellect and intimate knowledge of undergraduates and their problems will enable him to be a top-flight Supervisor of Scholarship.

Karne Side Lights

You never know what service the President of the Fraternity may be called upon to perform. Francis Patton was seen Monday night struggling with the luggage of a Delt friend and, his kadinkas flying in the breeze, whistling madly for a cab outside the Palmer House.

A Karnea wouldn't be a Karnea without the several groups we always have talking things up for new chapters. Cecil Magee, a U.S.C. Delt, stated a strong case for Southern Methodist University, where there are already six Delts banded together for a common purpose. Howard Giesy, an Oregon Delt, representing the Miami Alumni Chapter, waxed eloquent for the University of Miami (Florida) as a possible field for expansion. The good work that such Delts are doing emphasizes more than ever the national scope of the Fraternity.

President Patton was observed soliciting the help of the Executive Vice-President to insure his daughter's meeting other Delts besides the Texas contingent. It seems that Miss Patton was "deep in the heart of Texas" and was perfectly content to limit her interests to those Delts.

In his report as Secretary of Alumni, G. Herbert McCracken announced that the Arch Chapter had granted a charter for a new alumni chapter—to the up-and-coming Delts in and around Boise, Idaho. The new group will be known as the Boise Valley Alumni Chapter.

▼ DELTS IN THE SERVICE ▼

The Beta Psi (Wabash) Reunion at the Fifty-Eighth Karnea had a special significance, for it was held in honor of Chapter Adviser LARRY SHEAFFER, who was celebrating not only his silver anniversary as chapter adviser, but also his silver wedding anniversary. Alumni and actives of the chapter presented Larry with a beautiful large silver tray and a pair of matched silver compotes. The Wabash Delts have every reason to be proud of Larry, for his twenty-five years as chapter adviser of Beta Psi have been an uninterrupted period of service and devotion to the chapter and the Fraternity. Mr. Sheaffer received the Distinguished Service Chapter Citation in 1939.

Delta Tau Delta's new field secretary is RUPERT D. "TWINK" STARR, Ohio, '46, a Delt who has won his spurs in college and in war.

Mr. Starr pledged Beta Chapter in 1940 and completed three and one-half years of college before he was called to active duty with the Army on June 2, 1943. After being commissioned at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, he saw duty with the 189th Regiment of the 13th Airborne Division (Glider Infantry) and went overseas as regimental liaison officer with the 106th (Lion) Division.

He was captured by the Germans on Deon January 29, 1945, by the advancing Russian Army. After a long trek through Russia, Turkey, and Italy, he was returned to American control on April 2, 1945, and shortly thereafter returned to this country. During his Army career, he was awarded the Bronze Star, the Combat Infantry Badge, and three campaign ribbons and attained the rank of first lieutenant.

Mr. Starr returned to the Ohio campus in January of 1946 to finish his academic course and become president of his chapter. His college activities include yearbook staff, secretary of the interfraternity council, men's glee club, Scabbard and Blade, and R.O.T.C.

"Twink's" family tree reads like a Delt directory. His two brothers, father, grandfather, an uncle, and a great uncle, not to mention numerous cousins and in-laws, are all Delts.

of willful, unlawful and brutal torture of an American flier, Lt. Ted U. Hart, Cicero, Ill., who was given the "water treatment." The prisoners were given life sentences and long prison terms at hard labor.

Called to active service on November 3, 1942, Major Yockey served in Washington, D. C., and Topeka, Kan., before going overseas. He arrived in Shanghai from Manila via air on April 26, 1946, assigned to the Judge Advocate Section, Theater Headquarters. Presently his duty is chiefly on War Crimes.

LT. CLAUDE M. FISHER, JR., Ohio Wesleyan, '38, was a navigator on a B-29 which was struck by a Japanese bomb and crashed into the sea twenty-five miles off Kyushu, Japan, April 27, 1945. He is presumed lost by the War Department.

JOHN C. OLIVER, Ohio State, '43, and ALFRED C. KISER, Idaho, '45, have retired as field secretaries to accept appointments as resident advisers with the Fraternity. Oliver is enrolled in graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, where he will be resident adviser for Omega Chapter. Now a law student at the University of Idaho, Kiser will be resident adviser for Delta Mu Chapter.

The Fraternity announces the appointment, also, of WARREN E. VAN NORMAN, Nebraska, '43, as resident adviser of Beta Tau Chapter at the University of Nebraska. A former president and treasurer of the chapter, Warren is now enrolled in the University's Law College. He has both a younger and an older brother who are Beta Tau Deltas.

THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS

DELTA TAU DELTA FRATERNITY

SECRETARY OF ALUMNI
A. B. WALLING
1316 MAPLE AVENUE
EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

October 15, 1946

To the Alumni of Delta Tau Delta
Gentlemen:

"When the Mariner has been tossed for many days in thick weather, and on an unknown sea, he naturally avails himself of the first pause in the storm, the earliest glance of the sun, to take his latitude and ascertain now far the elements have driven him from his true course."

These immortal words of a great American statesman, uttered one hundred and sixteen years ago, offer timely advice to us as alumni of Delta Tau Delta. Having recently passed through a world upheaval, the results of which have so profoundly affected college fraternities, it is appropriate that we assess the effects of the storm and, after taking our bearings, help steer our craft on a straight and true course safely back to port.

Taking inventory of our present situation, we find that our undergraduate chapters face the problem of restoring order and continuity, of assimilating the older members and the younger members into a harmonious unit, of tightening up the reins of organization and management. Swelling enrollments magnify many of these difficulties. The support and co-operation of all Delta alumni are needed in assisting the undergraduate chapters, for they stand in greater need than ever of wise and helpful guidance.

On September 25, it was my privilege to attend the Annual Fall Roundup of Ohio Deltas, sponsored by the Columbus Alumni Chapter at the Darby Dan Farm of brother "Jack" Galbreath, Ohio, '20. About three hundred alumni, undergraduates, pledges, and rushees were in attendance. The undergraduate chapters at Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio University, and Kenyon have active parts in this annual affair.

Such an event is indeed a worthy contribution to the over-all interests of the Fraternity and an excellent example for all alumni chapters to emulate.

In each issue of THE RAINBOW, appropriate space is devoted to the activities of Delta alumni chapters. Only about twenty per cent of the chapters, however, have been submitting letters or notes giving news and activities of their respective chapters. Let's have news of activities from all alumni chapters in THE RAINBOW as evidence of widespread and revived loyalty of alumni to the Fraternity.

As your new Secretary of Alumni, I shall to the best of my ability lend assistance to and actively support the establishment, continuation, and maintenance of alumni chapters.

Sincerely,

A. B. Walling

Akron

Special training classes and increased special employment opportunities in Akron's large rubber companies have been responsible for the addition of quite a few new names to the local alumni roster within the past few months. Young Deltas just graduated or recently out of the service have been selected as likely additions to the great industrial forces of this community.

Several brothers in Akron on business or special assignments were special guests at our monthly meeting for September held at the University Club. They included Brothers Bill Kemp (Beta Mu, '35), B. R. McVay (Beta, '41), and W. H. Karaker (Delta Epsilon, '46). Come back again, fellows. One of the most interesting programs of our history was presented by Harry Stevens of the Research Department of the B. F. Goodrich Co., who was a scientific observer at the atom bomb tests at Bikini.

Brothers Walter Frye (Psi, '09) and Dr. Louis Carabelli (Chi, '22) gave very interesting reports of the Karnea at Chicago. Brother Bill Tritchler (Beta Eta, '30), Director of Music and Dramatics for Good-year, is busy preparing his large employee cast for their December 6 and 7 production of Victor Herbert's popular operetta, "The Red Mill." W. H. EDMUND

Athens

At a recent meeting of the Athens Alumni Chapter the following officers were elected: President, Robert Essex; vice-president, Milt Hughes; secretary-treasurer, Francis Fuller.

New men who have been welcomed into the Athens alumni group are as follows: Dr. Ted Sprague, 1941, who is now practicing medicine in Athens. Richard Banks, class of '43, who has just opened a sporting goods store here. Francis Fuller, class of 1938, co-owner of a photography studio. Emerson Houf, class of 1940, who is with the Ohio Conservation Department. Walter Davis, class of '39, who is associated with Logan's Book Store. Jim Roach, class of '37, who is in the Psychology Department of Ohio University. Jim McClaren, Jr., class of '38, who is associated with the Ohio Dry Cleaners, and Wesley Miller of Mu Chapter who is with the Veterans Bureau at Ohio University. Brother Tom Hoover, Jr., temporarily in Athens, has been a regular attendee at meetings.

Plans are under way for a bigger-than-ever Homecoming when Ohio U. plays Miami on Oct. 26. The culmination of this event will be the burning of the mortgage on the Delt properties. As you Beta Deltas know, a drive has been on for some time to raise money to pay off the mortgage and buy some much-needed furniture for the Shelter. At this writing the goal has not been reached, but we hope to have it in by the twenty-sixth. In any event, the mortgage will be burned and Brother John Galbreath of Columbus will put the match to it. Any Deltas who have put off sending your contribution may send it now to W. H. Herbert, treasurer, 12 N. May Ave., Athens, Ohio.

The annual meeting of the Delt House Corporation was held in Athens on Sept.

28 with the following men in attendance: Bob Hartford, of Cleveland; Loring Connett, of Columbus; Bill Beckwith, of Parkersburg, W. Va.; Al Gardner, of Amesville; and Bill Herbert, Francis Fuller, Dick Banks, Bob Essex, Dave Hughes, Milt Hughes, Frank Gullum, Walt Davis, Stephen Fuller, Tom Hoover, Jr., and Dewey Goddard, all of Athens.

Brother Albert Gardner, class of '33, of near-by Amesville, has been elected President of the House Corporation and is hard at work formulating plans for Homecoming and the burn-the-mortgage party. Al is Superintendent of Schools at Amesville.

Enrollment at Ohio University has broken all records. There are about 5,000 students on the campus, and nearly 1,000 more enrolled in extension divisions in near-by cities. Eighty per cent of the men attending are veterans.

The active chapter expects a big year with nearly 75 actives and over 30 pledges.

Battle Creek

Here it is—the "swan song" of your alumni correspondent at Battle Creek for the past quarter of a century, for the "quill" awaits the grasp of the new secretary, J. Addington Wagner (Kappa); and Verner W. Main (Kappa), president for lo, these many years, retires in favor of DeWitt C. Kies (Kappa). Following the election, plans were started for participation in the reinstatement of Iota at Michigan State. William Guest Merritt of Battle Creek, a Delt for fifty-seven years from Iota Chapter, related some interesting facts regarding the former chapter and the charter withdrawal fifty years ago. Deltas in Michigan will be glad they attended the reinstatement of Iota at East Lansing the first week in January, 1947.

Since this is my last chance, here goes—flashes through my mind in thinking of Bro. Merritt that grand Delt of so many Division Conferences, Pop Pumphrey; then those confreres of my father, William D. Farley, charter member of Epsilon, '79—Charles A. French, still living at Holland, Mich.; but these have passed on—Dr. C. C. Landon, Dr. Samuel Dickie; Prof. Charles H. Wolbert was a little later (my time in college he was a fraternity brother-faculty friend); then come the Deltas to whom I was the kid brother of Fred L. (now dean of the College of the Pacific)—Judge James A. Pope of Los Angeles, Dad Conville, Fat Eslow, Dick Black, Warren Frye, Ben Brown and Ray Gardner, etc.; then those just ahead of the illustrious '14 group graduating from Epsilon—Bill Hays, who was not permitted to live long enough to witness the Indiana success of 1945; Larry Foster and the Knickerbockers of the West Coast; Cap Brown, who bounded from St. Ignace to Washington and then to Detroit; Kenneth Hollinshead (now alumni secretary of Albion College) and his brother, Melvin; Mark Shattuck, Deek DeCou, and Bill Slocum, dyed-in-the-wool Detroiters now, as are Fred (Ev) Evans, Peirce Lewis, Marshall Reed, Drs. Octy Graham and Linford Lane. "Bull" Benjamin holds forth near Sand Lake, Michigan, from whence he came; Rev. Bill Whear is in upper Indiana; and Pewog Luce never got away from Washington, D. C.

This thinking back has its clouds. No more to see "Ad," J. Elliott Adams, E, '14, from Sterling, Ill., then the rest of his life in Detroit; "Fat," Ralph Henderson, of Chicago, and his wife, whose father was the above-mentioned Dr. C. C. Landon.

But enough of that, which seems to be full of Es. See you in East Lansing for Iota's celebration. GEORGE D. FARLEY

Chicago

Fall and winter activities of the Chicago Alumni Chapter will include the revived Durbar at the Chicago Town and Tennis Club on November 1 and a Christmas luncheon December 23, at which we will entertain as our guests all undergraduates who are in the city for the holidays.

Formerly a Beta Pi function exclusively, the Durbar has been broadened to include all Deltas in the Chicago area. Seniors of the Northwestern and Illinois Tech chapters will mingle with alumni in an evening of entertainment and good fellowship. A message of inspiration about the progress of Delta Tau Delta is also planned, according to Carl Wolf, who has been the guiding genius of some twenty-two Durbars of years' past. Andy Duncan, Floyd Egan, Merrill Dwinell, Al Bremmer, Henry Strong, and Andy Anderson are among other Beta Pi alumni on the committee.

Joe Biery, Miami, '33, our secretary, has left us to take up his new duties as Professor of Accounting at the University of Kansas. Bob Gardner, Amherst, '36, has inherited the secretarial portfolio.

Under the leadership of President Orville Dewey, the alumni chapter took an active part in promoting the Karnea, sending out a series of bulletins and making personal contacts to insure a good turnout from the Chicago area. All of us were pleased to see A. B. Walling, Ohio State, '11, elected to the Arch Chapter, especially after his outstanding work in making Karnea entertainment and program arrangements.

Jim Matson passed around cigars at the Monday lunch in honor of James, Jr., born August 11, a legacy of both Beta Beta and Gamma Xi Chapters.

We regret to report the death of Frank Neunuebel, Northwestern, '35, a former president of Beta Pi, and also the death of Edwin A. Scipp, Cornell, '05.

Elsewhere in this issue you will see reproduced the original charter of the Chicago Alumni Chapter, which is believed to be the oldest such charter in existence. The Delt spirit in Chicago hasn't changed since 1880, and you will always find it manifest on Mondays at the noon hour at Hardings' in the Fair, whenever you happen to be in town. ROBERT H. GARDNER

Cleveland

The activities of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, which like most other chapters, were somewhat disrupted during the war years, are now leveling off and once more we seem to be getting back on a normal schedule. The attendance at our Thursday noon weekly luncheon meetings has increased during the past couple of months and our members are clamoring for a re-

Whereas, It has been proved by a brother, that good reasons are existing for the establishment of a Chapter of the DELTA TAU DELTA FRATERNITY, at _____ at Chicago Illinois thereof be it resolved:

newal of our traditional functions such as golf tournaments, clam bakes, banquets, picnics, dances, etc. Undoubtedly the coming year will be the most interesting we have ever had.

While our Thursday luncheons have always been informal, the program committee expects to schedule a speaker once each month. In October we will have Tom Davies, Western Reserve football coach. At later meetings we will have experts on foreign trade, travel, crime detection, newspaper publication, etc. Our past experience shows that the gang enjoys an occasional short, interesting talk by a recognized authority in his field.

Another innovation for our luncheons will be the "Guest of the Month." At one meeting each month we plan to invite as our special guest a representative of another fraternity alumni chapter—Deke, Beta, Phi Gam, Sigma Nu, etc. A strictly informal question and answer period will furnish the opportunity for an exchange of ideas, and, also, bring local alumni groups into closer interfraternity relationship.

Looking forward to our biggest event of the year, Frank "Pat" Moran is heading the committee to plan for the Founders Day Celebration.

There isn't enough room in the book to chronicle the activities of all Cleveland Delts but here are a few briefs which may be of interest: Joseph G. Wood, marine traffic manager of the Wilson Transit Company, recently installed as President of the Propeller Club, Port of Cleveland. Attorney Karl J. Ertle, as President, heads the new Cleveland-Canada Steamship Company which will start operation next spring of two automobile-passenger ferri-boats from Cleveland to Canadian ports. Clem Frank and Harold Hopkins attend the very elegant Columbus Alumni Chapter party at Brother John Galbreath's Darby Dan farm. Bob Weaver, President of Ferro Enamel Company, decorated by King George VI of Great Britain for his outstanding work with the British War Relief. Bob was awarded the King's Medal for Service in the Cause of Freedom. Ernest P. Scott serving as general chairman for the national convention of the United Lutheran Church in America. W. R. Hauslaib, who has been in business in Australia for many years, sends a $25.00 check to Les Morgan to assist in rehabilitation project at Zeta Chapter. Dr. Louis B. Carabelli opens new dental office in the Builders Exchange Building at Akron. Clarence Portman, of Fairfield, Iowa (who will always be a Cleveland Alumni Chapter member), visits Cleveland and of course attends Delt luncheon. John Morrison a good bet to be elected to the State Senate. Purdue Delt Jon Ruhlman in Cleveland for the summer worked on the promotion staff for the National Air Races. Former Cleveland Mayor, Clayton Townes now a resident of Palm Beach, Florida, in town for a few days attends Thursday luncheon. Carl Williams becomes Executive Director for Possibilities Unlimited. Don Van Buren, Clem Frank, and many more of the brothers putting in extra hours campaigning for Delt Tom Herbert, the Republican nominee for Governor of Ohio. S. Blackwell Taylor again named President of the Parker Appliance Company. William Ganson Rose is chief "idea man" and director of big events for the Cleveland Sesquicentennial Celebration. As a Chamber of Commerce representative and Executive Secretary of the Lake Erie International Vacationland Conference, your correspondent recently visited a number of Canadian cities and vacation resort areas.

We are extremely anxious to have all Deltas who are returning to Cleveland after serving with the armed forces and all Deltas coming to Cleveland for business reasons affiliate with us and participate in Chapter activities. All Deltas in the Cleveland area are urged to attend Delt functions without waiting for a special invitation. We will be happy to place the name of any Delt on our mailing list. Please notify the secretary.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

More than three hundred Delts and guests attended the annual fall party at the Darby Dan Farm of John Galbreath, Ohio, '20, on September 25. General chairman of the party was Bob Gibbs, chapter adviser of Beta Phi, who was assisted by Charlie Flick, Howard Sterner, Curt Inscho, Dutch Frankenberg, Danny Herbert, Jim Ferguson, and Bill Eick.

Special guest of the day was the new Secretary of Alumni, A. B. Walling.

W. EDGAR WEST

Dallas

A banquet reorganizing the Dallas Alumni Chapter was held Wednesday evening, September 4, 1946, at 6:30 P. M., at the Melrose Hotel. Brother H. L. McCauley, Gamma Kappa, '21, presided at this dinner, attended by thirty-seven Deltas.

The brothers who are the new officers are Alphonso Ragland, Jr., president; Sam Clark, vice-president; Lloyd Birdwell, secretary-treasurer; Foster Jacoby, assistant secretary. All are Gamma Iota alumni.

Contributions were made by those present to provide for the expenses of our operation.

Brother Zach Brinkerhoff, Delta, '04, attended the Karnea as the Dallas representative.

Brother Elmer Scott, Mu, '91, attended the Karnea and reported it highly successful and attended by 1300-odd Deltas. He related his impressions particularly of the fact that our fraternity is stressing citizenship and scholarship in its undergraduate chapters.

Brother Dellinger, Gamma Iota, '48, informed us that the chapter at Austin is in full postwar swing and is in sound condition.

The principal objective of our alumni chapter is going to be assisting in the establishment of an undergraduate chapter at Southern Methodist University of Dallas. Brother Ragland will appoint a committee to further our plans. We have some four or five members connected with the school now, two being on the faculty.

Members were urged to submit prospective rushees' names to our rush committee for transmission to our active chapters.

A luncheon for Delta Alpha, Gamma Iota, and Dallas alumni is planned for the Oklahoma University-Texas University game on October 12, 1946.

Quarterly meetings of our group will be held in the future year.

LOYD W. BIRDWELL

Denver

The Denver Deltas threw a rush party at the Cherry Hills Country Club, September 6, to try to impress some of the rushees which the Beta Kappa men at Colorado U. were after. The party was quite a success, guided by Hal Kaaz, Amherst, '31, as chairman, and Kim Barnes, Jr., as toastmaster. Only twenty-five rushees were present but Beta Kappa ended up with thirty-eight new pledges, a record!

Bob Hartnett, Washington, '29, has left us to return to Army service. He is a Lieutenant Colonel and is at Ogden, Utah. Bob was a fine secretary-treasurer of the Denver chapter and we miss him; however, we've picked a veteran of the South Pacific, Navyman Bill McElroy, Beta Kappa, '38, to fill Bob's shoes as secretary.

To put the Beta Kappa chapter house at Colorado U. in A-1 condition after a flock of women had occupied it during the war, Col. Phil Van Cise and his house committee authorized the expenditure of almost $10,000. The house got paint; walls were redecorated; rugs and drapes were cleaned, and the furniture was worked over. Result: Beta Kappa is one of the top houses on University Hill.

L. Allen Beck, "Beany" to all of the brothers, attended the Karnea in Chicago and reported to the faithful at the rush party mentioned above.

Word comes to us of the death of Lucien Shattuck, Beta Kappa, '14, in Los Angeles.

A number of Denver Deltas were on hand for the big night at Boulder when the dead line arrived for fraternity rushees to pick their choices. When the smoke of battle had cleared away and Beta Kappa found itself with thirty-six new pledges (two more later), all of the gang assembled in the chapter room, including some sixty-five actives, to be greeted by the actives and the alumni. Lieut. Col. Harold Clark Thompson, veteran of both wars, extended a welcome to the "finest pledge class in Beta Kappa history," in behalf of the Delta alumni.

Any Deltas within a few hundred miles of Denver are cordially invited to attend the monthly luncheon held the second Wednesday of each month at Daniels and Fishers Tea Room, or the month-end evening meeting at the Shirley-Savoy hotel, the last Wednesday night of the month.

W. M. WILLIAMS

Jacksonville

Jacksonville alumni are beginning to stir to life once more, now that most of the members are out of the service and back in town. A general business meeting on September 16 was attended by a number of active members living in town, as well as the alumni.

Jack Doherty, treasurer of Delta Zeta Chapter, gave a report on the Karnea, and of plans to open additional active chapters in the state.

The alumni chapter sponsored a rush party on September 22 at the home of John B. Turner, Jr. Since dates were made for the active chapter with the fifteen rushees attending, we hope the party will result in an additional number of men being pledged.

JOHN B. TURNER, JR.

Kansas City

Gerald Preshaw is back with us here in Kansas City and is treasurer of Aireon Manufacturing Company.

Professor H. W. Wood of the School of Engineering at the University of Missouri and our chapter adviser for Gamma Kappa had lunch with us on August 19.

Roland Record and Bill Gilges just happened to be in Columbus on business on September 28. It is funny, isn't it, that the Missouri-Ohio State football game happened to be in Columbus on the same day.

FRANK H. SCOTT

Lexington

Discussion topic for the next session of the Lexington alumni (and perhaps for all subsequent gatherings): "Since Bill Trott has gotten married, do you think there is still some hope for Jimmy Shropshire?"

The bulletin on Pooch's plunge into the sea of matrimony couldn't be believed at first, but eventually there arrived engraved announcements to prove the word was true. The old Hoosier schoolmaster, back in Evansville after long service in South America with the Army Air Forces, was married early in the fall to Miss Ruth MacGinnis.

The local alumni club lost an active member when Sonny Parrish, following his marriage to Miss Rebecca Morris of Columbus, Ga., and a short period of residence in the old home town, moved to Columbus to enter business there.

Denver DeHaven, assistant head man in the Veterans' Administration office here, will soon transfer to the Louisville alumni group when the VA headquarters is moved to that city. Jack Mylor also will probably move there in the VA shift, for temporary residence at least.

Billy Leet has given up his work in Frankfort and opened a law office in Lexington, and recently has relieved Chuck Bohmer, an overworked young man with his flying service at the big new Lexington airport, in the job as alumni club secretary. T. C. Endicott is busier than ever around home now, having a brand-new daughter to keep him occupied along with his little son. Ned Turnbull, an aviation enthusiast who now has his own grasshopper, which he argues he uses for business trips, is calling on Deltas in all sections of the country. His food-brokerage business seems to keep him on the wing most of the time.

J. B. Faulconer has been upped to the job of program director at Radio Station WLAP in Lexington, and he's been on the air all season as play-by-play caller for the Kentucky football games.

Jim Hagler has quit newspaper work in Paris and moved to Millersburg, where he's assistant commandant at M.M.I. Windy Blair, who became an eagle man in the Quartermaster Corps during the war, is seen around town frequently since he's taking graduate work at U.K.—just another poor G.I. whose education was interrupted by the Army.

Delroy Root has just reported in from Blacksburg, Va., where he is teaching English at V.P.I., and Paul Davison is a faculty member at West Virginia.

Among the Delta Epsilon alumni who were in Lexington during the summer vacation period were Hulbert (Pope) Crowder, from Elyria, Ohio; Pat Patterson, from Detroit; Randolph Brown, from San Antonio, Texas; Bob Pate, from Westfield, N. J.; Johnny Bullock, from Cincinnati, and Emery Horn, from Dallas, Texas.

LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE

Los Angeles

The most outstanding recent event was the annual summer jinx under the capable direction of William N. Schwab, Kentucky,

'24, ably assisted by John Mudge, Iowa State, '19, and Frank Rethlefsen, Colorado, '25. Assisting the alumni chapter were actives from U.C.L.A., U.S.C., Stanford, and California, who had in tow prospective rushees for the opening of school. Approximately 175 Deltas gathered to enjoy the festivities of the day. The setting was the fabulous Rancho Santa Anita, redolent with memories of the past and situated in a Shangri-la setting of almost dream-like qualities. Some of the members started as early as 7:30 A. M. on near-by golf courses, followed by the other activities of the day which included horseshoe pitching, baseball games, bull sessions, etc., topped off by a dinner of barbecued beef, Spanish beans, ice cream, and coffee. Approximately two thirds of the chapters of the entire fraternity were represented. For example, University of Oklahoma had ten members present including Bonnie Spencer, one of the founders of Delta Alpha, and his son, Jack, a pledge of the chapter, who was eagerly looking forward to being initiated in the same house as his dad. William A. Ritezel, Wooster, '12, wearing a pin owned by his father, Frank M. Ritezel, Allegheny, '75, attended with his son-in-law, Cedric Sanders; Harry O. Hoyt, Columbia, '08, and his son, Gerrard Hoyt, Delt from Idaho. Brother John Mudge recorded many of the activities on motion picture film. U.C.L.A. won the baseball series winning a perpetual trophy for the coming year. This event will be long remembered as an outstanding event by those who attended.

Some of the high lights on the boys of U.C.L.A. are as follows: Former Major Robert Gay now head man of the Gay Engineering Company. Frank Sproul, chapter adviser, is busy untying the boys' legal problems. Former chapter President Irv Jordon, who along with Jimmy Moiso built the chapter house, is back again in the building business. Bruce Anson, who announces and M.C.'s the Biltmore Bowl programs each Saturday night, has left the bachelor ranks. Chuck Church, managing the winning Delta Iota baseball team at the recent jinx, presented a winning pitching combination of Jim House, Bud Rose, and Van Howard to nose out the Delta Pi outfit, with Frank Rethlefsen, Arch Tutthill, and Johnny Talbot doing the questionable umpiring. Low gross in the picnic golf game was won by Bud Rose with a 78, followed by Chuck Church with an 81. Gordon Carey suffered a minor operation the previous day and was unable to play, but managed the golf activities with his usual efficiency. Dick Horton came in with 157 for high gross. Pete Barber is back in town, still with the Carnation Milk Company. Charlie Hart, recently a proud father, is special agent with the Aetna Companies. Harry Rearden recently purchased an insurance business in Beverly Hills. Del Reed is the Wilshire Country Club golf champion and in the contracting business. Phil Kistler is in Chicago in aerial photography. George Collins has been promoted to a supervisory position with Canada Dry; and Whit, his brother, is learning the building business. Dan Cable and Jack Millikan are with the Alert Lumber Company in Bell, California. George Beckwith, Al Jack, Arch Tutthill, Spud Moore, Bob Ford, and Frank Richardson educated the rest of the boys in the games of chance last Delta Iota alumni gathering. Bob Belsey is back, and with Jack McGregor, is doing a lot of figuring for Ernst and Ernst. Charlie Carey is the dynamo behind the Delta Iota alumni gatherings and was our reporter on the above round-up on the boys.

Dave Wilkinson, reporting for U.S.C., informs us that Rod Hansen is with the Lincoln Savings & Loan Company. Ed Harding is selling Group Insurance with Aetna Life. Darrel Johnson is with Embassy Realty Co. Johnnie Masters is selling Air Insurance. Bob Wagner, just back from Korea, plans to return to U.S.C. Stan Hayward is also in Air Insurance. John Tuttle is now an executive and part owner of the Valley Times, largest paper in the San Fernando Valley. Tom Wylie, the cause of "Phil Liber," is in business in East Los Angeles. John Biewener, late of the USN, Foster & Kleiser, advertising. Jim Goerz now operates a photo engraving shop. Don Ralke is playing piano for one of Southern California's top orchestras. Allan Brown researches for Bank of America. Fred Brown is with Lockheed. Louis Bruton is in the camera business. George Hoffman is selling Studebakers. Hewson Lawrence is engineering for General Tire and Rubber Company.

Most of the alumni from the two local chapters have moved into our Los Angeles Alumni Association, many of them becoming pillars by their attendance. It is our opinion and from what the boys tell us, in the far reaches of the world they developed a high appreciation of the ideals and principles of our Fraternity and resolved to come back and contribute their efforts to raise our banner to new heights.

Other Southern California alumni have been in the news among Deltas and elsewhere. Former Colonel Edward S. Shattuck, California, '23, in addition to conducting a successful law practice, was elected Vice-Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee for California in charge of Southern California and is up to his ears in the current campaign.

Former Alumni President, Phil Davis, U.C.L.A., '27, member of the California State Legislature, spearheaded and carried to a successful conclusion the bill to establish a Medical School at U.C.L.A.

Bill Price, Kansas; Roy Chambers, Purdue; Bill Hetchie, Lafayette, and John Stephens, Rensselaer, are some of the engineers who regularly attend the luncheons. Nat Fitts, Colorado, '09, past President of the Western Division, is again a regular attendant after five years with Douglas Aircraft. Herb Bartling, Northwestern, '18, former President of the Western Division, showed up at the luncheon and informed us he has a son entering U.C.L.A. Charlie Koehler, president of the alumni chapter, Roy Crocker, past president and perennial Treasurer of the gang, Barry Hillard, Earl Adams, Bill Dickinson, and others are hard at work on securing a home for the boys at U.S.C.

A recent luncheon was known as "Nebraska Day" where twelve Nebraska men and fifty-seven other good Deltas gathered to do honor to Lt. Col. Hobb Turner, vice-president of the Western Division and chapter adviser at Nebraska. At almost every luncheon we have one or more of the four horsemen of the alumni association show up, which is composed of Stan "Tub" Ikert, Earl "Bo Cantor" Adams, George "Hot Lips" Rochester, and Frank "Harpoon" Rethlefsen, to add to the levity of the occasion. At all Delt luncheons and events there is our ever-present secretary extraordinaire, Dan Ferguson, who finds out everything about everybody and sees to it that visitors and celebrities are properly introduced with all of their accomplishments and titles. Our representatives back from the Karnea provided us with glowing reports of the much serious business transacted as well as some of the lighter moments, and of the fine hospitality accorded them by the brethren at Chicago.

In that many of the brethren could not attend the luncheons, a monthly dinner meeting has been inaugurated to be held on the first Thursday of each month. As it looks from here individually and collectively the L. A. Alumni Chapter and the local chapters of U.C.L.A. and U.S.C. are all steamed up for a busy and successful fall and winter season.

BEN McNEILL

Miami

After a lull in alumni activity during the war, the Miami alumni are again holding get-togethers. Our meetings now are informal gatherings with the hopes of turning them into something better at a later date.

We have several projects in mind—two of which are being worked on with all-out effort. Our No. 1 project is that of trying to have a Delta Tau Delta chapter established on the campus of the up-and-coming University of Miami here in Miami, Fla. The second project is that of alumni support in rushing for Delta Zeta chapter at the University of Florida. We are sponsoring a rushing party here in Miami for that purpose.

We welcome any and all Deltas to attend our meetings and if you are in Miami and wish to attend, please contact Brother Elroy Decker, 1069 N.E. 91st Terr.

HOWARD B. GIESY

New York

Did someone say, "Proud?" Of course, no one can blame us for feeling proud—for feeling proud that we are the home alumni chapter of Delta Tau Delta's new President. And feeling proud, we asked Herb to say a few words to us at our opening luncheon of the season so as to give us some inside information on his future plans. That everyone was proud was most evident for we had by far the largest group that has ever appeared at one of our luncheons—which made us feel all the more proud.

Sharing the honors with Herb at this meeting was Leslie C. Withers, Tufts, '29, who being in the programming division of Western Electric Company knew all about the mobile radio telephones of which we are hearing more each day. Les told us of this new phase of communication history and capably handled a barrage of questions that probably still would be going on if Vice-Prefie Herb Hudson hadn't called things to a halt and sent the boys back to work.

Today the officers of the Greater New York Alumni Association had a meeting in which it could definitely be seen that ours is a group with "plans." We know there are some Delts in this vicinity who have not yet made themselves known to us and we would like to urge, "Do it now!"

We want to call attention to our luncheons which have been changed from the third to the second Wednesday of each month. These are really "must" affairs and for further information on them you can get hold of yours truly who should be in his office occasionally.

Omaha

The Omaha Alumni Association of Delta Tau Delta has been facing the job of reorganization since the war. The number of Delts in the city had dwindled from seventy to less than half that number. A few who were called to active service or war work have returned but new arrivals have not made up for the removals and meetings cannot be so well attended. Recently the Delts in Omaha have sought to maintain an organization like a task force that does jobs when needed. Meetings were held early this year to plan effective aid in financing the proposed new chapter house for Beta Tau in Lincoln. Now the alumni are concerned with aiding in the equipment of the temporary Delt house that is to be rented and used until the new house can be undertaken.

Meetings of Omaha Delts are held periodically at the Omaha Athletic Club on call of the secretary, Charley Ortman.

The established Delts continue to be active in civic affairs in Omaha as they have been in the past. Brother Roy Towl is one of the seven city commissioners who run the affairs of the town. Brother Ellsworth Moser is the driving force on the new City Planning Commission.

The next meeting is scheduled for November to arrange the regular schedule of dinners for the season. ROBERT MANLEY

Pittsburgh Alumni Foursome: NORM MACLEOD, DUTCH TOWNSEND, MERT GRUBBS, and KEN QUERY

Pittsburgh

Alumni activities in the Pittsburgh area are on the increase. A very successful golf party and dinner were held at Edgewood Country Club in August. Almost sixty members found this party to be one of the most enjoyable we have ever had. Although most golf scores were high, so was the spirit. Bob Schar, as chairman of the party, did an excellent job, and we are looking forward to many more events of this kind.

We are again having weekly luncheons in the Victory Room of the Hotel Henry each Tuesday and enjoying the good food and fellowship.

Delt News, our alumni publication, has been revived and the first issue was mailed in September. If anyone in the Pittsburgh area didn't receive it, drop the writer a note, and your name will be put on the list for the next issue. ART STROYD

St. Louis

The St. Louis Alumni Chapter held its first postwar business night meeting on July 16. Reorganization was the chief objective. Our guest speaker was Brother Garth Slater who gave us a very good summary of how the various chapters stand and what they are doing towards strengthening themselves. Officers for the coming year were elected, and are as follows: Bruce Stake, president; George H. Buchanan, vice-president; Joe Griesedieck, treasurer; and Dick Watkins, secretary. Our first meeting, and the two following, saw many visitors who were home on vacation from their various active chapters. We are pleased to have them and hope many more will drop in whenever in town. Night meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each month. Weekly luncheons are now being held in the American Hotel Grill on Tuesday at 12:15 instead of Monday as formerly.

Thomas T. Railey, Missouri Pacific Railroad attorney, has been promoted to senior law officer and assistant counsel for the trustee. Major Paul Johnson was here for one of our luncheons this past summer. He was on his way to Korea and has since arrived there for duty.

The program chairman has announced that speakers for the next few months will be businessmen from in and around St. Louis. All young alumni are urged to attend these meetings from which many beneficial ideas for the future can be gained. DICK WATKINS

Tampa

The Tampa Alumni Chapter has had several meetings this month, mostly concerned with being of assistance to the Delta Zeta boys at the University of Florida in obtaining the best possible prospects for pledges.

Two luncheon meetings were held, a night meeting at the home of John Boling, Delta Zeta, '42, and a beach party at Secretary-Treasurer A. K. Dickinson's (Gamma Zeta, '15) cottage at Indian Rocks Beach—on the Gulf of Mexico. After a swim the boys adjourned to the Indian Rocks Inn for a shore dinner and a talk fest. There were twenty-four present, one half of them being prospective pledges. Brother Sterling B. Bottome, Gamma Delta, '20, of St. Petersburg, brought three fine boys with him.

These meetings not only have served to make some good prospective pledges better acquainted with our Fraternity, but have revived tremendously the interest of the alumni in fraternity manners, by exposing them to the contagious enthusiasm and limitless energy of the undergraduates who were present.
