AUGUST 1948 . . . Volume LXXI Number 4

One Moment, Please

The pace continues. The Delt stage, which has been whimsically referred to as the "big top," has moved swiftly from Maryland to Bowling Green to French Lick. These two installations and the Fifty-ninth Karnea are reported in this issue.

Out of the Karnea came the inspiration and accomplishment which make Delta Tau Delta great. We have set back THE RAINBOW's printing schedule in order to include in these pages some of that inspiration. Here on Page 210 are the words of the Fraternity's new President. Here on Page 213 is the retiring President's report on the status of Delta Tau Delta. We commend both articles to your thoughtful consideration.

Announcements enthusiastically received at the Karnea foreshadow no rest for the "big top." On the week end of September 25, Gamma Omicron Chapter at Syracuse University will be ceremoniously re-established. On the week end of October 23, Delta Upsilon Chapter will be installed at the University of Delaware. THE RAINBOW will cover these events in later issues.

With this concluding issue of the current volume, we bring you, also, stories of three Delt—Dr. Stith Thompson, Dr. Emery A. Rovenstine, and Dr. Thomas N. Kitchens—whose accomplishments are particularly noteworthy.

The Fifty-ninth Karnea

For the Karnea delegate who stood on the mezzanine of the French Lick Springs Hotel that Saturday night, August 21, and gazed wonderingly down upon the seething throng that packed the spacious lobby, there was born a new appreciation of Delta Tau Delta.

There he saw a colorful cross section of the Fraternity's might.

Delegates from Florida, Maine, and California . . . from such Eastern strongholds as Dartmouth, Wesleyan, Toronto, and Brown . . . from Cornell and Kansas and the "republic" of Texas . . . from faraway Washington and from West Virginia, scene of Delta Tau Delta's nativity . . . from the newcomers, Whitman, Maryland, and Bowling Green. In short, from seventy-seven chapters throughout the United States and Canada—the largest assemblage of official delegates in the history of the Purple.

There, crowded together so that there was scarcely one square foot of standing room, he saw alumni from a score of alumni chapters, twenty-five members of the Distinguished Service Chapter, members, former members, and members-to-be of the Arch Chapter, five sixty-year Deltas, the new and retiring Presidents of the Fraternity. There were six past Presidents—Bielaski, MacLeod, Tharp, Carroll, Boyd, and Patton—names indelibly engraved in the annals of Delta Tau Delta. There he saw the foremost executive of American baseball . . . the Governor of Ohio . . . the Attorney General of the United States.

All was in readiness for the Karnea banquet—climax to three golden days. In a matter of minutes the dining room was filled to capacity with eight hundred or more Deltas and guests. The meal finished, retiring President G. Herbert McCracken set the wheels in motion with his introduction of Francis M. Hughes, General Chairman of the Karnea and the new Vice-President of the Fraternity.

Introductions of distinguished guests followed, building to the introduction of Delta Tau Delta's new President, W. Harold Brenton, which evoked from everyone present the great tribute of a standing ovation.

Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields presented the undergraduate chapter awards for 1947-48. Cash prizes went to Gamma Kappa Chapter (Missouri) for the best publication in the newspaper format classification and to Gamma Tau Chapter (Kansas) for the best publication in the magazine format classification. For the highest average on the Fraternity Examination, Beta Omega Chapter (California) was awarded the traditional bronze plaque.

The Chairman of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter, N. Ray Carroll, presented two citations. Recipients were Charles W. Flick, Allegheny, '15, past president of the Columbus Alumni Chapter, and Thomas J. Herbert, Western Reserve, '15, Ohio's dynamic Governor.

Three speakers earned the undivided attention of their audience to round out a full and effective banquet program. They were William B. West, III, Texas, '42, recently graduated law student; Branch Rickey, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball Club; and Thomas C. Clark, Texas, '22, Attorney General of the United States.

After closing remarks by Toastmaster Hughes the Karnea poured out of the dining room, into Convention Hall where Delt Bob Strong and his orchestra were serving up rhythms for the Karnea ball. More than one hundred lovely young ladies who had arrived in the afternoon by busses from Evansville, Louisville, and Indianapolis were dancing partners for undergraduate Deltas. A full moon, balmy Indiana breezes, and the old-world, country-estate atmosphere of French Lick combined to provide a romantic backdrop for the Karnea finale. Cinderella-like, promptly at the stroke of twelve, or perhaps a little thereafter, the charming coeds were frisked away in their Greyhound carriages, and the Fifty-ninth Karnea was put to bed.

As the last bus rolled out and the grinding of gears faded away in the distance, it was hard to believe that so much activity had been crammed into three short days. Had it actually been several days since "Tex" McElyea, ace cashier in the registration line, came rolling in the last sixteen miles, standing like some conquering Greek in the rear end of a grain truck? Since the Westminster Deltas ended their cross-country tour by pulling up under the hotel marquee in an antiquated 1928 fire truck? Since Oklahoma and South Dakota and others dropped down on French Lick's postage-stamp airport? Since Pullmans and busses and automobiles on end spilled their eager Delt passengers on the hotel's broad green?

Time had little meaning those days. The Karnea took off on the wings of song Thursday night when glee clubs of Kentucky and Purdue received round after round of applause for their singing of Delt songs, spirituals, and old favorites. Entertainment Chairman Ernie Miller combined the old and the new effectively by including on the program a duo who had made Karnea history before—Clarence R. Ball, DePauw, '16, and George W. Kadel, DePauw, '15. Singing songs which oldtimers had heard at the Karneas of 1913 and 1929, they brought down the house.

That was the day, too, that President McCracken brought his gavel down sharply on the opening business session, delivering his stimulating report on the status of the Fraternity, bringing Deltas to their feet in a rousing ovation for a great Delta Tau Delta President.

Those business sessions, incidentally, were something to marvel at. They moved along purposefully. Every chapter was well represented by qualified delegates. Delegates, moreover, were alert and informed; it seemed as if there was hardly one of them who did not have a resolution to present or a plan for the consideration of some committee or

President-Elect Brenton Charts Course

Gentlemen of Delta Tau Delta:

I greatly appreciate the honor you have bestowed upon me and the confidence you have expressed in me by electing me as your President. I feel very humble as I stand before you.

When I came to this Karnea it was with the full intention of retiring after nine years of most enjoyable associations and service. I had a debt to repay to Delta Tau Delta for what she has given me. I thought I had repaid it in some small measure, but evidently I was wrong.

My time is fully occupied. To find time for these new duties something else must be laid aside. There is no organization other than Delta Tau Delta for which I would now give this added time.

When I look at the great Deltas who have preceded me, I feel wholly inadequate for the task you have just assigned to me. You saw many of them at the Distinguished Service Chapter luncheon. There are many others, some alive and others who have passed on to the Chapter Eternal. Those men have built this Fraternity which you enjoy today. I pray that I may carry on with your help in the tradition they have established.

I frequently am assigned tasks for which I am not fully equipped. There is one thing I have learned and that is in such cases to call for help where it can best be given.

W. H. BRENTON

New President of Delta Tau Delta

What is our principal task in Delta Tau Delta? It is to build men—men who can better cope with the problems before us in this nation and the world.

The vital problems of the day are greater than we have ever before faced since the founding of this free country. The future of the world, almost, is in our hands. The choice is between democracy and dictatorship—free enterprise and state control. The freedom of the individual is at stake.

Where do you actives of Delta Tau Delta come into this picture? The men from our colleges will solve this problem if it is to be solved. You are college men and fraternity men—members of the greatest Fraternity of them all. You men at this Karnea are the leaders in your chapters. Your job is to train the men in your chapters, not by driving them but by leading them through your examples.

In that great initiation ceremony last night you were told of your responsibilities. Those responsibilities are to build men and to give service to mankind.

The job this Fraternity has to do is great. We are not doing it well enough. Grades are not high enough. The planning and functioning of many chapters are not sufficiently good.

If the job we have to do is done, you actives here must take the major responsibility. You must carry to your chapters a plan for the task before you. It is amazing what a small number of men can do when they have a plan and a goal and all work together toward the achievement of that same goal.

I ask the support of every man here toward carrying out the objectives of Delta Tau Delta. The task is great, but the penalty for failure is greater. With your aid we can do our part. We must not fail. I am counting on your complete support.

round table. It was a symptom of health—no apathy or lackadaisicalness here, but a vigorous, aggressive, and sincere interest in the welfare of Delta Tau Delta.

The ladies came in for their share of Karnea activity. The committee headed by Mrs. G. Herbert McCracken entertained with a luncheon-bridge and fashion show on Friday afternoon at the hill club house, and the ladies added by their presence at all Karnea luncheons and dinners a gracious note.

Mixed in with all this were sports in abundance, with prizes for the winners. There were recordings of Delt songs for sale in the lobby, going like the proverbial hot cakes. There was a historical display, with memorabilia from the Fraternity's past. There were informal chapter reunions, spontaneous singing, round tables on everything from finance to rushing, and Joe Morgan, Butler, '89, tying Judge Harry Hewitt's record of fifteen Karneas attended to give us two Chiefs of the Kennel of Karnea Hounds. There was everything that makes a great Karnea.

Sunday afternoon we wandered through a lonely hotel lobby. Already every corner held a significant memory. Here we had talked to C. V. Critchfield, Bethany, '92, who recalls from the past intriguing details of the Fraternity's mother chapter. Here we had met such men as James Lightbody, DePauw, '06, Olympic immortal; William L. Mc-

President McCracken Reports to Karnea

In submitting the report of the President to the Fifty-ninth Karnea, I ask you to pause with me for a few moments to consider, and to fix in the very forefront of our minds, the purpose for which we, the representatives of Delta Tau Delta, are gathered here and the direction in which we are going as a national fraternity.

You may recall that when Daniel Webster made his distinguished reply to Hayne, he began by a return to the basic issues. "When the Mariner," said Webster, "has been sailing in thick weather, he avails himself of the first opportunity to take his latitude. Let us," he concluded, "imitate this prudence and refer to the original proposition." Webster then asked for a reading of the basic issues.

Throughout and since the end of World War II, because we and the world have been "sailing in thick weather," most of the thought and energy of the officers, the advisers, and the local chapters of Delta Tau Delta have been directed to and targeted upon the reorganization of our Fraternity structure and the rehabilitation of our Fraternity program. This has been essential, and it is my conviction that we have done admirably.

But from the reports which the President has received and from his own personal observations during the past two years, we should now pause, as a national fraternity, to recall and to give fresh and thoughtful consideration to the basic issues and original propositions for which we stand, and on which our Fraternity was originally built. If Delta Tau Delta is to preserve its integrity and life, and if it is not only to survive but also to grow in the fulfillment of its goals and aims, we need to remind ourselves over and over again of our primary purposes and central devotions. Delta Tau Delta is not and must never degenerate into just another social club, a dormitory, a campus refectory. It is all of these—plus something more!

Permit me, therefore, to recall to our minds this "plus" factor and the primary purposes, as I see them, of Delta Tau Delta.

They are, in the first place, to help the educational and other agencies of our country to produce developing personalities — young men with a growing capacity to think clearly, to feel deeply, and to decide and act in accordance with those high ethical standards which, through the long years, have been tried and tested and found to be good.

In the second place, our purpose, as a national fraternity, is to help create democratic personalities—men who play the game fairly, who treat others as they would have others treat them, and who are being effectively equipped to take a creative place in that larger society which today needs so desperately men of social imagination who recognize their collective obligations.

And it is surely our purpose, in the third place, to create disciplined personalities—men whose minds are so disciplined that they deal summarily with all half-truths and anarchy of impulse, whose passions are so disciplined that they come immediately to heel at the bidding of a vigorous conscience, and whose temperaments are so disciplined that their faith and courage can never be dimmed or shaken.

In other words, to paraphrase Josiah Royce, the following is what we as a national fraternity should be forever saying to all the members, and particularly to the younger members of Delta Tau Delta:

"You, at this moment, have the honor to belong to a generation whose lips are touched by fire. The human race now passes through one of its crises. New issues, new ideas—a call for men to carry on the work of righteousness, of charity, of courage, and of loyalty—all these things have come and are daily coming to you.

"When you are old, however, and memory brings back this moment to your minds, let it be able to say to you: 'That was a great moment. It was the beginning of a new era. This world in its crisis called for volunteers, for men of faith in life, of patience in service. I responded to the call, however I could. I volunteered to give myself to the cause of humane and brave living. I studied, I loved, I labored unsparingly and hopefully, to be worthy of my generation.'"

In my opinion, it was for nothing less than this that Delta Tau Delta was founded; it is for nothing less than this that our Fraternity exists today; and it is for nothing less than this that we must labor and persevere in the days ahead.

And if this is our genuine purpose, and if it permeates every chapter house and member of Delta Tau Delta, then we shall not only silence the increasing criticism, to be heard all over the land, of the Greek-letter fraternity, but we shall win new friends, freshly justify our existence, and make every campus on which we are represented—and society in general—our eternal debtor.

And so, within this framework of purpose and ideals, let us turn now to a brief résumé and survey of the state of our Fraternity. I say brief because each of the various officers of the Fraternity is prepared to submit to the Karnea a detailed report covering the accomplishment and work of his office.

FINANCIAL POLICY AND MANAGEMENT

The Treasurer's report and audit, which will be available to all of you through the Committee on Audit and Finance and which covers the financial operations of the Fraternity for the two years ending July 31, 1948, will reveal that our Fraternity is in sound financial condition and adequately prepared to finance its primary objectives. It was necessary during the past year to authorize expenditures in excess of current income to accomplish the national Fraternity's share in our large reconstruction program. That was a wise policy. The cost has been less than originally estimated, and the wisdom of those who have preceded us in preparing for such emergencies has been completely vindicated.

In view of the rising costs of operation today, it is significant that our dues and initiation fees, which represent the largest part of the Fraternity's operating income, are the same as established some twenty-seven years ago. It is my hope that the Fraternity can operate under a balanced budget and continue its forward progress through the next two years without increasing dues and fees.

Of course, without the Loyalty Fund, established in 1926, the Fraternity would not be in its present position of strength. True to the promises of those who conceived the Loyalty Fund, it has insured the development of Delta Tau Delta on a sound and progressive basis. The Educational Fund, established in 1946, will soon take its place with the Loyalty Fund as a principal pillar of strength in our financial structure. You know the purposes of the Educational Fund, but permit me please to recall them: to make possible a program of cultural development for undergraduate and postgraduate members; to make scholarships and loans available to deserving students; and to underwrite our library program and any other undertaking consistent with the Fund's general purposes. Contributions to the Educational Fund are tax exempt.

A few years ago a nationally recognized interfraternity authority said: "You of Delta Tau Delta have, in my opinion, the soundest financial policies and the best business management in the fraternity world." Our financial status today proves the accuracy of his judgment.

OUR PROGRAM OF EXPANSION

I suppose that down through the years there has never been any fraternity question so vigorously debated as the establishment of new chapters. The postwar policy of most fraternities appears to be one of unlimited expansion. For example, one fraternity has reported ten new chapters this past year, with twelve forecast for next year. It is my prophecy that many such new chapters will be tombstones in a few years; and chapter tombstones are not assets.

Delta Tau Delta has not grown rapidly, but it has grown soundly. The fact that our chapter roll shows no tombstones of chapters established in the last quarter of a century indicates that the Fraternity has maintained an intelligent and sound expansion policy. During the past two years, the question of expansion has consumed almost a third of the time of the Arch Chapter meetings. Between meetings the Committee on Chapters and Charters, under the thoughtful and able leadership of Chairman Martin B. Dickinson, has carried on voluminous correspondence and conducted uncounted fact-finding investigations of colleges and groups which have petitioned Delta Tau Delta. And at this point, permit me to say that Delta Tau Delta owes a special debt of gratitude to Martin Dickinson and the members of the Committee for their untiring efforts and their discriminating judgment.

In the past year, four charters were granted. Iota Chapter was re-established at Michigan State in February, 1947. Delta Rho Chapter was established at Whitman College, March 21, 1948; Delta Sigma Chapter at the University of Maryland, May 23, 1948; and Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green State University, June 5, 1948. Delta Upsilon Chapter will be installed at the University of Delaware this fall. Yesterday the Arch Chapter voted unanimously to re-establish the Gamma Omicron Chapter at Syracuse University and voted unanimously, also, to investigate this fall the petition of Sigma Alpha Kappa Fraternity at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

It is my opinion, after spending some time on each of these campuses, that these charters are located in colleges which meet our Delta Tau Delta specifications, which are: (1) the college must be sound educationally; (2) the college must be favorable to fraternities; (3) the college situation must be conducive to healthy and sound fraternity operation; and (4) the college must specifically approve of Delta Tau Delta.

I urge the Fraternity to maintain this historic expansion policy. It is sound. It has been tried and tested. It works. Within the framework of primary purposes which I outlined earlier, let us be guided in our policy of expansion not by any superficial and popular standards, but by those considerations which we have discovered through long years to be creative and sound.

UNDERGRADUATE CHAPTERS

Delta Tau Delta, as a national fraternity, exists for and by reason of its undergraduate chapters and their constructive and creative contribution to the growth and development of the members of the Fraternity. Therefore, it has been the primary concern of the Arch Chapter, the Central Office, and the alumni to formulate and approve those policies, and to integrate and effectuate those procedures which will be of the greatest aid and assistance to the undergraduate chapters. As the result of this over-all strategy and the type of undergraduate responsibility it has nurtured, we are justly proud today of the character, the achievements, and the stability of our undergraduate chapters.

Although our abnormal undergraduate enrollment of 6,500 members has made for serious managerial and housing problems, and despite the loss of continuity in chapter management caused by the war, the chapters—the great majority of them—are in a healthy and sound condition. The peak of enrollment has probably been reached. There will be some reductions this year. It is the consensus of fraternity authorities that after the leveling-off period has been concluded, the so-called normal-sized chapter will be about twenty-five per cent larger than it was before the war.

We have urged the chapters to continue normal rushing and pledging, despite swollen enrollment, for the obvious reason that their future requires an orderly and constant induction of new members. At the same time, we have advised all chapters that this is the time, when the campus is overflowing with man power anxious to obtain fraternity affiliations, to improve and refine their rushing techniques. Too many men being pledged today do not measure up to Delt standards, as indicated by the fact that only sixty-five per cent of the pledges are initiated and that, with few exceptions, the failures are due to academic deficiencies. Let us not ignore today's opportunity to perfect our screening process. It will eliminate many unhappy experiences and conspire to build stronger and sounder chapters.

*French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana
... the Cameraman shot them in two installments*

Basic to the successful functioning of a chapter is a sound financial condition. Financial difficulties and worries vitiate and render ineffective the best fraternity programming and planning. We have insisted, therefore, that our undergraduate chapters adopt and live by sound financial policies, and this emphasis throughout the years has paid rewarding dividends.

This year our chapters operated on a budget of two and one-half million dollars, as against a prewar budget of approximately one million dollars. The cost of operation has increased substantially. Large enrollments have created more expense. But with the exception of a very few chapters, all finished the past year with bills paid and a modest cash balance. I believe that we can view with considerable pride the over-all financial condition of our undergraduate chapters, and because we have spared no effort in the development of responsible chapter leadership, it is my conviction that we can expect continued good management despite the economic uncertainties of the days immediately ahead.

As you men are aware, the Karnea of 1939 adopted a new system of pledge training. This system is now known as The Delt Development Program, and it is built largely on the discussion of subjects which have a direct bearing on the pledges' attitude toward college life and the Fraternity. The keystone of the program is the development of self-discipline, one of our primary purposes as a Fraternity. There is nothing static about the program. It is still in the experimental stage.

Some slight revisions are being made this summer based on reports received from the chapters. A round-table discussion on pledge training is scheduled for this Karnea, and we trust that from this discussion the delegates will not only gain a better understanding of what the program is but will also make many valuable suggestions for its improvement.

At this point, it is appropriate to speak briefly of the scholarship rating of our undergraduate chapters. As a national Fraternity we have held through the years that there is no substitute for a trained and disciplined mind. Although house parties, athletics, and campus offices have a rightful and important place in student experience, the primary responsibility and opportunity of the student in college or university are to learn. A war of ideas is being waged in our world today. How can a man think critically and creatively—and play a worthy part in this battle of ideas—if he does not know how and what men have thought in the past, and if he does not know the nature and values of the forces and influences which are contending for mastery in this generation?

Therefore, I look forward with anticipation to the competitive averages of fraternities which will be released next year by the National Interfraternity Conference, for the first time since 1940-41. Delta Tau Delta stood at the very top of the list in the year of 1938-39. Although our Supervisor of Scholarship, an office created by the 1923 Karnea, has done much to lift our standard and level of scholarship through the years, the final responsibility rests upon the chapters themselves and their officers. All chapters should set their sights now toward a first place for Delta Tau Delta in the academic year of 1948-49, and I say that as a challenge to you.

In dealing with the condition and life of our undergraduate chapters, I would be derelict in my duty if I did not comment upon the importance and place of our Delta Tau Delta Ritual and add that it is my conviction that sincerity and dignity in conducting of our Ritual do without question make for the strengthening of the inner life of our chapters and their members. It is the constant reminder of our purposes, ideals, and standards. It objectifies our meaning as a Fraternity. It joins us together in a fellowship of men stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific—and from the past into the future. It lifts us out of our singleness into our brotherhood. And this is precisely the meaning of fraternity. Therefore, I ask that the officers of our undergraduate chapters give more thought to the conducting of our weekly meeting Ritual. To assist them in this goal, we have scheduled a model initiation at this Karnea so that delegates and all others may rekindle the true spirit of Delta Tau Delta and carry back to their chapters a new sense of the importance of our Ritual.

Before concluding this section on our undergraduate chapters, let me pay tribute, in behalf of the Fraternity, to the untiring and effective service of our chapter advisers, and of the officers and directors of our house corporations. A chapter operates under a serious handicap without the mature and unselfish friendship and aid of such officers. To all of them we owe a deep debt of gratitude.

ALUMNI RELATIONS

From what has just been said, it is obvious that membership in Delta Tau Delta does not end upon graduation. Many of our more than thirty thousand living members realize this fact and are to be found in all phases of the work of the Fraternity. Others stand prepared to answer the call of their chapters in times of emergency. But it is axiomatic that alumni interest in and concern for Fraternity affairs on a full-time and constant basis will not only prevent such emergencies from arising but will do much to strengthen and stabilize the existence and life of our undergraduate chapters.

Every Delt should read THE RAINBOW, our official magazine, which chronicles the events of the Fraternity with balance and dignity. It is considered one of the top magazines in the fraternity world. The circulation is approximately 15,000—about fifty per cent of our total living membership. Another

Indiana's New Dean Is World-Famous Scholar

Dr. Stith Thompson, Butler, '07, was in South America when the word came to him that the Indiana University Board of Trustees had named him Dean of the University Graduate School.

Quietly, Dr. Thompson accepted this new recognition of his scholastic leadership and plunged back into the important work that had taken him into the southern hemisphere on a sabbatical leave from Indiana.

Dr. Thompson's reaction was typical of the tall, slightly stooped scholar whose level blue eyes and quiet, careful speech give him an air of friendly reserve. He had been called to South America by the Ministry of Education of Venezuela to set up a program in that country for the study of folklore. The step was just another in Dr. Thompson's life-work of linking the world's past to the present through the study and compilation of folklore.

His work completed in South America, which also included missions for the U. S. Library of Congress and the Guggenheim Foundation, Dr. Thompson is now back on the Indiana campus.

In the quiet atmosphere of the Dean's office, on whose walls are hung certificates of honor, he handles the important work of the Graduate School. The office also is a "port of call and clearinghouse" for folklorists over the world, for the Dean is the one man known to them all and is constantly involved in projects of international scope.

Dr. Thompson is no wandering troubadour who haunts back country areas in the search of rustics to twang out the salty lyrics of old ballads. Instead, he is the "pure" scholar who works from manuscripts and texts in libraries in all the places he has visited throughout the world.

To master his difficult field, the Dean has had to be a linguist, having at his command knowledge of German, French, Italian, Spanish, Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, and Russian. Many of his imposing list of books have been translated into foreign languages.

In explaining the importance of folklore study, he once wrote ". . .

DR. STITH THOMPSON

Memories which folk retain are rooted deep in their lives, and the man who understands what they think worth handing down from generation to generation goes a long way in an essential appreciation of the people he is studying. . . .

"Folklore can therefore become . . . a useful aid to the sociologist in his understanding of people, to the anthropologist in his study of cultures, and to the student of literature who interests himself in tales, and songs and dances, which have descended by oral tradition and which, through all the generations, have served to bring to simple man his share of aesthetic enjoyment."

The new Indiana Dean feels that there is a need to present and interpret folklore to the general public so that people may become aware of the difference between actually traditional material and either cheap imitations coming from the music hall and radio or mere sophisticated revivals of exotic songs and dances.

He began his monumental life-work at the University of Wisconsin in 1909 by failing dismally in a class assignment. During a course in English and Scottish ballads, the instructor gave him the task of collecting the narrative songs or ballads of primitive people. Diligently, the future Dean searched through all the related material he could find.

Somewhat crestfallen, he returned to the classroom after the long search to announce he couldn't find what he had been sent to find.

"Good," announced the instructor, "there isn't any."

In his search, however, the young student found plenty of other folk material and there was kindled an interest that found its first outward manifestation in a thesis for a Master's Degree in 1912 at the University of California entitled "The Idea of the Soul in Teutonic Folklore."

In 1914 at Harvard University on a Bonheim Research Fellowship his Ph.D. thesis on "European Tales Among North American Indians" was considered so outstanding that he merited a paragraph in Who's Who, a rare honor for a young scholar.

A native of Bardstown, Kentucky, and a distant relative of Abraham Lincoln, Dr. Thompson attended Manual Training High School in Indianapolis, Indiana, where his father, a judge, had moved the family because the schools of the state capital were then considered among the best in the country.

In 1903 he enrolled in Butler College in Indianapolis, where he was initiated into Beta Zeta Chapter of the Fraternity. As was customary in those days, after two years of college he began teaching high school, first in Springfield, Kentucky, and then in Portland, Oregon.

After completing his work for the Ph.D. degree, he became an instructor in English at the University of

WITH APPRECIATION

On Sunday, March 8, 1948, Beta Alpha Chapter gave a dinner in honor of Dean Thompson. At the close of the dinner, the president presented to the Dean a desk pen on an onyx base upon which is mounted a gold plate inscribed "With sincere appreciation—Beta Alpha of Delta Tau Delta." In making the presentation the president observed that, in times past, the chapter had not been too articulate in expressing its appreciation of Dean Thompson's loyalty and devotion to the chapter during the war and postwar years; nevertheless his services had been deeply appreciated.

Delt Flag Flies at Maryland

By EDWIN L. HEMINGER, Ohio Wesleyan, '48

Field Secretary

"Maryland has stood in history as a 'free state,' nourished by the contributions of every faith and dedicated to independent opinion. Here on this campus, midway between the capital of our national government and the great industrial metropolis of Baltimore, the University of Maryland and its fraternal groups are in a peculiarly strategic position to see all sides of the political and economic problems of our times. This is an ideal location for a chapter of our Fraternity!"

With those words, Fraternity President G. Herbert McCracken marked the installation of Delta Tau Delta's seventy-sixth active chapter, Delta Sigma Chapter, at the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, on Sunday, May 24.

Dignitaries galore shared in celebrating the occasion. Branch Rickey, Senator Harley Kilgore from West Virginia, Congressman George McKinnon from Minnesota, and a host of others were on hand to welcome the new chapter. Representatives were present from the Delt chapters at Lehigh, Penn State, Stevens, Washington and Jefferson, George Washington, and Washington and Lee to swell the ranks of those attending to 300. Included were representatives of the Delt chapter-to-be at the University of Delaware.

The University and its dynamic president, Dr. H. C. Byrd, played host to the throng of Delt who were present for the impressive ceremonies, which got under way Saturday evening, May 23, with a reception and dance at the Women's Field House. Delt guests and their ladies enjoyed refreshments, listened to the music of the University String Quartet, and danced to the melodies of Freddy Allen's orchestra. More than 600 people attended the dance and reception. At the conclusion of the dance, all Delts and their dates gathered before the bandstand and sang "My Delta Shelter" to the accompaniment of Ralph Wray, Colorado, '20, the first field secretary for Delta Tau Delta.

Sunday the initiation team from George Washington University took over and conducted impressively the initiatory rites for the members of the new chapter. Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields participated in the ceremonies.

Immediately following the initiation ceremonies, an installation banquet was held at the University Dining Hall, where the visiting Delt were the guests of the University at a sumptuous banquet. Highlighting the entire week end, the installation banquet was the occasion for the dramatic presentation of the charter.

The invocation was pronounced by Dell Floyd, Washington, '09, after which the distinguished toastmaster, Richard Daniels, George Washington, '09, read aloud the flood of congratulatory telegrams which had been received by the chapter from individuals, alumni chapters, and undergraduate chapters throughout the nation.

Toastmaster Daniels continued by introducing the distinguished guests present at the banquet, including: Frank Hemmick, George Washington, '09, former executive secretary of the Fraternity; "Prexy" Willfred Mauck, Hillsdale, '21, vice-president of the Inter-American Educational Foundation and former president of Hillsdale College; Burr Christopher, George Washington, '28, representing the Washington Alumni Chapter who donated a membership roll book to the new chapter; William Martindill, Ohio, '32, President of the Northern Division of the Fraternity; Hugh Shields, Indiana, '26, Executive Vice-President; William Andrews, North Carolina, '20, Vice-President of the Southern Division; Dr. Dan Borden, George Washington, '12, chief surgeon at George Washington Medical School; and Congressman George McKinnon, Minnesota, '27.

The members of Delta Sigma Chapter were introduced by Francis Patton, Chicago, '11, former President of Delta Tau Delta, who presented membership certificates to the new initiates.

Then the moment arrived for the dramatic presentation of the charter. Charles Pearson, Georgia Tech, '23, President of the Southern Division, stepped forward to deliver the charter to Donald J. Kennedy, president of the local group, who received the charter on behalf of the chapter. The crowd sensed the significance of the occasion as Division President Pearson delivered the document, saying, "This represents a challenge to you, a challenge to carry on the fine work which has already begun here!" President Kennedy acknowledged receiving the charter, replying, "The chapter is well aware of the challenge and will do its utmost to prove itself worthy of the confidence you have shown in us."

Following the presentation of the charter, Colonel Geary Eppley, a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity, Director of Student Welfare and Dean of Men at the University, and Robert Watkins, a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity, past president of the University of Maryland Alumni Association, extended their greetings to Delta Tau Delta and officially welcomed the new group to the campus.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, affectionately known as "Curly," president of the University and host for the banquet, expressed his pleasure in having Delta Tau Delta become a part of the University of Maryland, an addition he had long hoped for. President Byrd, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, expressed his desire for the alumni in the Maryland area to contribute with him "in helping to make this the finest chapter of Delta Tau Delta in the land."

Next on the list of speakers was the Fraternity's distinguished President, G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh, '21. Always an inspiring speaker, President McCracken saluted the University of Maryland and spoke of the installation of Delta Sigma Chapter as a "happy and timely event—an old-line expanding Fraternity joining hands with an old-line growing University." He continued, "Delta Tau Delta has already been made to feel quite at home on this campus, and I can assure you we look forward to years of pleasant relationships and constructive co-operation."

An impressive climax to an outstanding program was the message delivered by Branch Rickey, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, noted president of the Brooklyn Dodgers. He gave three rules for "making your own breaks" in sports or in life. His rules for winning: 1) The job ought to be worth while; 2) There must be a sincere desire to overcome mediocrity; 3) The techniques of doing the job must be mastered. He went on to say, "The thing I dislike most is the boys who are satisfied with just getting by. You don't win victories with men like that. I want men who want to be great."

The crowd rose applauding, in an ovation of appreciation as Branch Rickey concluded his talk. The installation of Delta Sigma Chapter had indeed been made complete.

There were many present who saw in the establishment of the chapter the culmination of months of toil in bringing Delta Tau Delta to the Maryland campus. This was particularly true of the alumni committee which had been organized to lead in the establishment of the chapter. Chairmanned by the banquet toastmaster, Richard Daniels, the committee included: Ralph Wray, Colorado, '20; Leonard Walsh, Minnesota, '27; Riggs Monfort, Kenyon, '30; Daniel Forbes, George Washington, '12; Alphonse Leemans, George Washington, '36; Ottis Wesley, Emory, '10; Willfred Mauck, Hillsdale, '21; Gordon Brigham, Kansas, '40; Robert Newby, George Washington, '24, who doubled as photographer during the installation; Dr. Daniel Borden, George Washington, '12; and Paul Kemerer, Penn State, '30, who is now acting chapter adviser to the group.

These men knew their job was still far from done, but they also realized that the first step had been successfully taken. The pace was set!

Monfort Family Establishes Tradition in Founding Chapters

Four Delt chapters—Chi, Phi Prime, Gamma Xi, and Delta Sigma—are all strangely tied together in an interesting story about three generations of the Monfort family.

It all began back in 1910 when Joseph Taylor Monfort, Hanover, '93, took an active part in the establishment of a chapter of the Fraternity at the University of Cincinnati. When Gamma Xi was formally installed that year, he became the first honorary member of the chapter, and Riggs, his son, became the first "spike" to the new chapter.

Now, thirty-eight years later, Riggs, who was a Delt at Kenyon in the class of '30, has repeated his father's performance by being active in the establishment of another Delt chapter, Delta Sigma Chapter, at the University of Maryland, and his son has now taken over Riggs' former title of a generation ago, the first "spike" to the new Delt chapter.

Delta Tau of Delta Tau Delta!

Swooping low in graceful flight, six Navy Corsairs roared over the Bowling Green campus. Their tight formation was triangular—a Delta!

Amazed townspeople and students strained their eyes skyward as the planes returned in a moment, this time in a T formation. Circling the campus again, they hit a dead center over fraternity row and Delta Shelter, with another perfect formation that spelled the final Delta.

It was Saturday afternoon, June 5, and if all of Bowling Green and half of Ohio did not know by then that Delta Tau Delta was installing its Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green State University, they never would.

The initiation ceremonies were in progress at that moment, ceremonies performed by expert teams from Beta, Mu, and Chi Chapters—ceremonies that inducted thirty-three members of Kappa Tau, local fraternity, into the rites of the Square Badge, that in a matter of a few hours planted the Delt flag in the middle of Bowling Green's beautiful new fraternity quadrangle.

Carloads of Delts had been pouring in all morning. They came from Ohio strongholds—Beta at Ohio, Zeta at Western Reserve, Mu at Ohio Wesleyan, Chi at Kenyon, Beta Phi at Ohio State, Gamma Xi at Cincinnati, and Gamma Upsilon at Miami. They came from Delta at Michigan, Epsilon at Albion, Iota at Michigan State, Kappa at Hillsdale, and from other points. Alumni, responding to the clarion call which echoed throughout Deltedom, converged on the colorful campus in northwestern Ohio to see the Fraternity's eighth active chapter in the Buckeye state become a reality.

There were Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Kenyon, '06, who has helped install two other chapters in Ohio, and Dr. William C. Seitz, Kenyon, '15, performing with their own group from Chi; Edgar B. Lincoln, Hillsdale, '21, former Northern Division President; and Charles W. Flick, Allegheny, '15, loaded with Choctaw lore—all doing yeoman service on the Ritual. There were Distinguished Service Chapter members, like Donald C. Van Buren and Harold C. Hopkins. There were Wilfrid Hibbert, LaDow Johnston, Clarence R. Ball, Herbert Sharp, Robert Evans, and others of the nearby Toledo Alumni Chapter, sharing the role of host and in on the planning and execution. There was a sizable delegation from the Fraternity's newest alumni chapter—Findlay, Ohio. There were Arch Chapter members, alumni chapter officers, and a host of others.

All had somehow crowded into the new Delta Shelter between initiation ceremonies to sign the register, to enjoy a well-prepared buffet, and to exchange the pleasantries that always occur when Delt meets Delt.

Delta Tau Delta had promised an installation event that would give its Delta Tau Chapter a ringing welcome. Reports from faraway Whitman and from Maryland pre-saged a growing reputation for record breaking. The Delts who gathered for the installation banquet Saturday evening in the Commons—University dining hall—kept that reputation intact.

"Our Fraternity has recently installed a chapter on the Pacific Coast and one on the Atlantic Coast," began F. Darrell Moore, who presided at the banquet. "Now we are back to the heart of Delta Tau Delta to install our Delta Tau Chapter." Former Supervisor of Scholarship and President of the Eastern Division, Mr. Moore was appointed by the President in 1946 to make the first preliminary investigation of Bowling Green as a possible field for expansion. Following that visit, he said, "I became one of the cheerleaders."

Toastmaster William H. Martin-dill, President of the Northern Division, pointed to the significance of the name Delta Tau. "It whets the interest and imagination, warms the heart, makes the pull a bit stronger, and starts one's mind back through the Delt years to old Bethany and 1859."

To those gathered to welcome the seventy-seventh active chapter of the Fraternity, it seemed most appropriate that the chapter designation Delta Tau should fortuitously come to one of Ohio's fine educational institutions. Although the name of Delta Tau Delta has been prominent in Ohio since 1862, when Beta Chapter was installed at Athens, thirty-two years had elapsed since that state had seen a new chapter. It seemed consistent with tradition, somehow, to welcome Delta Tau to a state which already has seven well-established chapters, which has been the scene of thirteen Karneas, whose colleges have given the Fraternity six Presidents, and whose present Governor and Chief Justice are Delts.

Much of the ideology and high purpose of the Fraternity found dramatic expression at that banquet. Carl V. Weygandt, Wooster, '12, Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, presented a compelling challenge contained in the Delt Creed: "I believe in Delta Tau Delta . . . so that I may better learn and live the truth."

"The true test of a real Christ," he told the initiates, "is a willingness not only to accept truth intellectually but to live a daily life in accordance with these principles." The true test of a fraternity, likewise, is its ability to exert a beneficial influence upon the lives of its members. "Unless my Fraternity enables you to conform your lives to the things we profess, then we have made a mistake."

Extending his greetings to Delta Tau Chapter, Thomas J. Herbert, Western Reserve, '15, Governor of Ohio, urged high standards of citizenship, an intelligent interest in good government, and an alert and trained mind to contribute to solving current world problems.

President G. Herbert McCracken spoke for the entire Fraternity when he asserted, "We are particularly happy to be privileged to install our Delta Tau Chapter on this Bowling Green campus because, in the first place, we are satisfied that this University ranks high among the leading institutions of our land in the field of education and, in the second place, that Bowling Green is a growing and developing University with uncharted and unlimited possibilities."

Addressing the new members of Delta Tau, he emphasized: "Remember, what this Delta Tau Chapter will finally mean to you, its members, and to Bowling Green State University, depends ultimately on you men of the chapter. Our national Fraternity has bestowed upon you a meaningful and much coveted name—the Delta Tau Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. These words mean much to many men throughout the length and breadth of our country; they are honored words; their meaning is the product of generations of striving and achieving. We are entrusting this name to you. You have, therefore, much to live up to—and we are expecting great things of you. But it is our confidence that you will live up to our expectations; that we shall all be proud of you and your achievements on this campus and in the years ahead; and that Delta Tau Chapter will soon earn its place as a strong, creative unit of our national fellowship which stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific—and from the past into the future."

Bowling Green's vigorous and energetic president, Dr. Frank J. Prout, with a smile that plainly revealed his feelings, declared, "I am still pinching myself to make sure this experience is really true. We have been more than nine years in getting Delta Tau Delta to come to this campus." First efforts, he said, date back to April 1, 1939, when Dr. Prout decided: "We must bring to the students of this University the advantages of fraternity association." In the intervening years many fine fraternities have established chapters on the campus. These include Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Theta Chi and Zeta Beta Tau. Phi Delta, local fraternity, is petitioning Phi Delta Theta.

Concluding, Dr. Prout assured visiting Deltas, "You have inherited today a very fine group of young men."

Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, chairman of Bowling Green's committee on fraternities, added his welcome for the University. "For Bowling Green, this is the end of the rainbow. We have found a pot of gold in Delta Tau Delta, and we sincerely hope that Delta Tau Delta will also have found a pot of gold in Bowling Green and Kappa Tau."

Formal presentation of the charter was made by Martin B. Dickinson, Secretary of the Fraternity. Commenting on the responsibility of the Arch Chapter in the establishment and withdrawal of undergraduate charters, he expressed the Arch Chapter's confidence in Delta Tau's ability to represent the Fraternity well at Bowling Green.

Clemens R. Frank, Supervisor of Scholarship, presented charter members their membership certificates. There were gifts, too. LaDow Johnston, appearing in behalf of the Toledo Alumni Chapter, gave Delta Tau three hundred dollars. Claire Grosenbaugh, vice-president of Beta Chapter, presented Delta Tau's president, Claire Stuart, a replica of the original badge of William S. Eversole, Beta, '69, one-time Secretary of the Fraternity. The badge which Eversole had worn since the time of his initiation in 1862 until the time of his death in 1916 had been willed to Beta Chapter and handed down to successive chapter presidents since 1916.

Delt Reporter Wins Pulitzer Prize

George E. Goodwin, Washington and Lee, '39, has recently received three honors for his outstanding work in journalism, one of the honors being one of the most coveted in journalism—the $500 Pulitzer Prize for local reporting.

The other awards are the Georgia Associated Press Award for the state's outstanding reporting and Sigma Delta Chi's 1947 Distinguished Service Award for general reporting.

George Goodwin's story which won the awards was his coverage of the Telfair County, Georgia, vote frauds, an exposure of the highly irregular practices in the 1946 gubernatorial write-in election which elected Herman Talmadge, son of the late Eugene Talmadge.

His investigations revealed that nonresidents and even deceased persons had voted in the election.

Confidential information concerning irregularities in Telfair County came to the Atlanta Journal, with whom Goodwin had been since his return as a naval officer from the Pacific, and Goodwin was assigned to delve into the matter. Weeks of painstaking interviews and poring over records produced the story which brought him nationwide recognition. His exposure of the vote frauds was subsequently supported by the ruling of the Georgia Supreme Court that the Legislature's election of Herman Talmadge as his father's successor was illegal.

The Pulitzer prize won by Goodwin was for "a distinguished example of a reporter's work during the year (1947), the test being strict accuracy, terseness, the preference being given to news stories prepared under the pressure of edition time, that resound to the credit of the profession of journalism."

The Sigma Delta Chi award was presented with this encomium: "His persistence as a reporter, his ingenuity in the face of early discouragement, his pursuit of truth under adverse and at times dangerous circumstances enabled him to uncover the important story of the Telfair county vote frauds, published in the Atlanta Journal. Goodwin displayed a vigilance in protecting the democratic way of life."

Texas where he was chapter adviser for the Fraternity from 1915 to 1917. He taught later at Colorado College and the University of Maine and in 1921 came to Indiana University.

At Indiana Dr. Thompson began his tremendously heavy program of research and writing in addition to his teaching duties.

In 1929 he had published The Types of the Folk-Tale, a translation from the German of Antti Arne's Verzeichnis der Merchenty-pen, a standard classification or typing of folklore tales from twelve European countries, never before translated into English.

Three years later came the first of the monumental six-volume Motif Index of Folk-Literature published by the University and the Finnish Academy of Science. This guidebook, the last volume of which was published in 1938, was the first attempt in the world to catalogue the basic elements of traditional tales. It was a combination of dictionary, encyclopaedia, and bibliography and is considered the international key to what is probably the largest part of traditional material of the whole earth. His most recent book is The Folktale, now being translated into Spanish.

Based on his doctorate thesis, Dr. Thompson in 1929 also was the author of Tales of North American Indians, published by Harvard Press, which has since become a standard book for anthropologists.

In addition to his contributions on folklore, the Graduate School Dean is the author of a number of books in his field of English, including Our Heritage of World Literature, a 1250-page text used in English classes in many universities and colleges.

In 1936 Dean Thompson was named one of two American delegates to the International Congress for the Study of the Folk Tale in Lund, Sweden, and in 1937 he was one of three American delegates to the Congress in Edinburgh, Scotland.

He has served three times as president of the American Folklore Society and is an honorary member of the Gustav Adolf Academy of Folklore Research in Sweden, a member of the permanent executive committee of the International Folklore Congress, and an honorary member of the Finno-Ugric Society of Helsingfors, Finland.

He also is a member of the American Philosophical Society, oldest and most important learned society in the U. S., and of the Modern Language Association of America, Mediaeval Academy of America, and Phi Beta Kappa.

In addition to extra teaching and administrative duties he assumed on the Indiana University campus during the last war, he served also as adviser to Beta Alpha Chapter at the University.

Two new alumni chapters have recently been added to the Fraternity's expanding roster.

A charter for the Northern Kentucky Alumni Chapter has been granted to an organization of Delts in and around Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Announcement was made at the Karnea of the chartering of the Southeastern Kansas Alumni Chapter, made up of Delts living in or near Pittsburgh, Kansas.

GEORGE E. GOODWIN

Anesthesiologist—Modern Pioneer

Pioneer in the field of anesthesiology, Dr. Emery A. Rovenstine, Wabash, '17, has received much merited publicity in recent months for his work in this phase of medicine, which can mean life or death in more instances than was suspected a few decades ago, even by the surgeons themselves.

Dr. Rovenstine was recently awarded the highest honor the Czechoslovakian government bestows upon foreigners, the Order of the White Lion, for his work with a mission of fourteen American doctors sent to that country in 1946 by the Unitarian Service Committee, with the aid of UNRRA, to help to bring that country up to date medically. His technique and philosophy of anesthesia, and his ability to teach them, made him a hero to the Czech medical men. This phase of his recent work was reported in the Reader's Digest.

A general discussion of the work Dr. Rovenstine has done in trying to raise the standards of anesthetic requirements in hospitals in this country and the reasons for the need of this work were published in November, 1947, in This Week Magazine, a magazine section of many Sunday newspapers. A New Yorker "Profile," anesthesiologist, devoted three numbers to biographical material regarding Dr. Rovenstine and a rather detailed discussion of the developments in the field of anesthesia which he has researched.

Considered by many surgeons and other medical men the most knowledgeable anesthesiologist in the world, this fifty-two-year-old Delt began his days in a small Indiana town the son of a general storekeeper and his wife. He traces his interest in medicine to his paternal grandfather who homesteaded simultaneously in Indiana and Arkansas and traveled back and forth between the two farms in a wagon bearing a sign advertising Rovenstine's liniment, which he brewed himself. The principal ingredient was turpentine from the pine trees on his Arkansas farm.

DR. EMERY A. ROVENSTINE

Be that as it may, it is a far cry from home-brewed liniment to the Triodine, nitrous oxide, sodium pentothal, cyclopropane gas, and numerous other drugs used in the complex business of modern anesthesia.

Dr. Rovenstine is now chief of the Department of Anesthesia at Bellevue, New York's largest hospital, and professor of anesthesia at New York University. Not so many years ago a good many surgeons felt that all an anesthetist needed to know was how to get a patient to sleep and keep him there while the surgeon operated (some, in fact, still have that opinion). A part of Dr. Rovenstine's work has been devoted to convincing surgeons and hospital staffs that the knowledge accumulated through his research and that of his colleagues is important. Certain changes in a patient's condition, such as accelerated or slowed pulse, fluctuations in blood pressure and temperature, anoxia (deprivation of oxygen), and a great deal of post-operative sickness were caused, they contended, by the processes of administering anesthetics. They had a horror of that stock report "the operation was a success but the patient died" and considered themselves as much to blame as the surgeons. They fought the more conservative doctors who minimized the importance of anesthesia until the technique became recognized as a "specialty" as important as surgery, gynecology, and internal medicine. In 1938 nine leading anesthetists founded the American Board of Anesthesiologists, which, with the blessing of the American Medical Association, began to issue certificates that gave anesthesiologists specialty status. So far, only three hundred and seventy-seven have qualified for this recognition. Dr. Rovenstine is now president of the Board.

Dr. Rovenstine attended high school in Atwood, Indiana, and Blue Island, Illinois. During summer vacations, he attended Winona State Teachers College, Winona Lake, Indiana, and after his graduation from high school was appointed teacher in a one-room grammar school in Stony Point, Indiana, at the age of seventeen. After a year at Stony Point, he entered Wabash College on an athletic scholarship. He recalls that he had forty dollars and no overcoat when he went in.

There he joined Delta Tau Delta and lived in the house. He waited tables at another fraternity house, and played football, basketball, and baseball. During his high school days in Blue Island he was catcher on the school's baseball team and there first met Dr. Arthur E. Guedel, one of the distinguished anesthetists of the country and the first man to describe the stages and planes of anesthesia. The doctor, a former athlete, picked up extra money refereeing basketball games. On Sundays during the summer, Dr. Rovenstine played semiprofessional baseball, under the name of Jack Andrews, for twenty-five dollars a game, a fairly high sum at the time.

Upon graduation, he enlisted in the Engineers Corps of the Army, was soon made a sergeant instructor in demolition, then was commissioned a second lieutenant and sent to France. Getting caught up in one of those celebrated military quick switches, he became personnel officer of a courier detachment, and during the Saint Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives he spent a great deal of time dispatch-riding at the front. He says, "I think I got my first deep interest in medicine there. I would stop by an ambulance pick-up point and maybe talk to some fellow who was lying there hurt, ready to go back. I would take a message farther front, and when I would return, maybe ten minutes later, the fellow would be dead. I couldn't understand how that happened. We've learned a lot about shock therapy since then."

After his military service, Dr. Rovenstine taught school four years and then decided to enter the Indiana University medical school. There, under Guedel, whom he first encountered athletically, he took all available courses in anesthesia. He served a year of internship in an Indianapolis hospital and, in 1928, set up in general practice at LaPorte. Early in 1929, he came to the conclusion that times were going to be bad for beginning doctors and he started out to look for a place where he could learn more about anesthesia. He was in touch with Dr. E. I. McKesson, anesthetist of Toledo, Ohio, who had acquired a name and a fortune inventing a number of machines for administering anesthetics. After taking a course with Dr. McKesson, Dr. Rovenstine went to see Dr. Ralph Waters, one of the country's great anesthetists, who was at that time a professor of anesthesia at the University of Wisconsin's medical school in Madison. The upshot of this interview was that Dr. Waters gave his caller a residence in the school's hospital. Thus began his training in a specialty where he has made a name for himself as a pioneer and crusader. When Dr. Waters was asked to suggest someone to set up an anesthesia department in the medical school at N. Y. U., he suggested Dr. Rovenstine, who took the position which paid only $5,000 a year—not much for that type of work and specialized training, but with it came a great plum, the anesthesia department at the University's affiliated hospital, Bellevue.

Dr. Rovenstine was highly unpopular with a number of ranking anesthetists in New York when he arrived with his missionary attitude and progressive theories. At one time he was threatened with professional ruin if he did not leave town—threatened by two supposedly reputable anesthetists.

He now has an international reputation, having been the first guest professor and first guest director of anesthesia at Oxford University's medical school. He has conducted seminars at the University of Rosario in Argentina, and lectured at Middle European and South American universities, which now base their teaching of anesthesia on the Rovenstine theory.

During World War II he became a consultant to the Army Medical Corps, and gave a series of over five hundred lectures to Army medical groups. In his advisory capacity he was instrumental in putting through an order that went out to all Army general hospitals that the anesthetist is in complete charge of the operating room. This single order is credited with saving many lives.

Dr. Rovenstine gives every aid to young residents—who must study with him for three years—if they show promise. He gets them publicity, helps them write articles, and aids them in finding their places after the residency is completed.

He is making every possible contribution to a concerted program to place at least one thoroughly qualified anesthetist in every hospital. The opportunities in the field are many.

Although Dr. Rovenstine maintains that he intends to resign in another four or five years, his influence on men working under him and his research, which has opened up heretofore unexplored phases of anesthesia and surgery, will be effective untold years.

Delta Tau

concluded the events of the week end. Delta Tau's installation boasted all of the embellishments that have come to characterize Delta Tau Delta's entry on a college campus. For instance, there was the installation ball Saturday night, combined with the Alpha Phi Sorority's spring formal, which turned out to be an all-campus affair. There was an open house on Sunday afternoon at the Shelter, when the chapter played host to campus friends and faculty members.

There was the Earl Hess Trio providing dinner music at the banquet, a red-hot quartet from Zeta Chapter entertaining at the dance intermission, the Campus Combo at the afternoon tea, four of Bowling Green's five trustees seated as honored guests at the banquet speakers' table, wives of new initiates and their housemother taking a salute at the banquet, and Edie Jones, Gamma Phi Beta alumna, fashion editor of the Californian magazine, and Bowling Green's unofficial ambassador at the 1946 Karnea, flying in from California to witness the realization of her wishes for Kappa Tau.

Delta Tau Chapter brings to the Fraternity the background of a well-established local. Organized shortly after the war, Kappa Tau contained a nucleus of Delts who had transferred from other colleges. First president of the group was Jack Toman. Robert Bolce, Kappa Tau's second president, who was initiated into Gamma Gamma Chapter at Dartmouth, was one of the early wheelhorses in the organization, whetting its interest in Delt affiliation. Subsequent presidents include Robert Deuchler, Jack Quinn (Mu), and the incumbent, Claire Stuart (Zeta).

Reverend Robert M. Ward, Kenyon, '22, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Maumee, Ohio, has been appointed chapter adviser.

Honors have already come to Delts' newest chapter. Its debate team won the campus interfraternity championship during the past year, and one of its members, Robert Mudgett, is the newly elected president of the senior class.

With a name that is destined to resound through the corridors of Delt history, Delta Tau Chapter takes its place auspiciously and resolutely. In the words of President McCracken, "We pledge you our support, our best wisdom, and our blessings. Good luck!"

Camel's Bell Tinkling

By JOHN E. LUNSFORD, Tennessee, '34

A year or two after being graduated from the University of Tennessee I was browsing around the home of my great uncle in Warm Springs, Ga., when I ran across a current issue of THE RAINBOW. Not knowing Uncle Neal was a Delt, I made inquiry until I discovered that he had been a Delt since 1882. Since this discovery, I have learned many more interesting facts about the life of this great uncle of mine.

Thomas Neal Kitchens was born near Mitchell, Ga., on January 11, 1863, the son of a planter. A short spell of cotton chopping in his father's fields decided him, at an early age, that he should be the man who owned the hoe instead of the man with the hoe, and that higher learning was necessary.

When Dr. Kitchens was about eighteen years old he enrolled at the University of Georgia. It was through the Beta Delta Chapter at Georgia that he was initiated into Delta Tau Delta in 1882. In 1885 he left the University with two degrees: one in agriculture and one in civil engineering. After two years of practice as a civil engineer, which was made up mostly of tramping through swamps, he decided that his mind was too bright and his body too light for such hard physical exertion. Thereupon, he enrolled in the University of Louisville Medical College. He received his M. D. degree from this college in 1891, thus becoming a "third degree" man. While in medical college Uncle Neal won the annual gold-medal award for being outstanding in chemistry.

Dr. Kitchens was a practicing physician and surgeon at Columbus, Ga., from 1891 until 1910. By 1910 he had developed a lucrative practice and acquired a reasonable amount of Columbus real estate. In 1910 he decided that he was killing himself working and that it was necessary for him to retire from the city practice. In the meantime, Dr. Kitchens was married to Mrs. Eunice Kenyon Bledsoe in 1907. Mrs.

Kitchens has been an active civic worker. They are still going down the years together.

After looking about over the South for the most comfortable place to settle down and really live, he chose Bullochville, Ga. He moved there in July, 1910. With a researcher's mind and plenty of time he settled down to see what made life tick. Dr. Kitchens was the first to realize why the warm springs at Bullochville had such health-giving properties. As he explains it, one of the first projects he started on after moving to this town was to take the "Bull" out of Bullochville. As a self-appointed chairman of a one-man committee he made what efforts were necessary, both political and otherwise, to get the name of the town changed from Bullochville to Warm Springs.

Next, Dr. Kitchens made an investigation into the history of the warm springs. He discovered, after personally interviewing Indians on the reservations in Georgia, North Carolina, and Florida, that the warm-water springs at Warm Springs made up the Fountain of Youth sought by Ponce de Leon. Indians told him their ancestors told of Indian tribes making trails to the warm springs from every state in the South in order to bathe in the health-giving waters. Dr. Kitchens was the first physician and surgeon at the hospital in Warm Springs, and he served for fifteen years.

Dr. Kitchens met the late President Roosevelt at Warm Springs when the latter first began visiting there in the early twenties. He had many a bull session with FDR before Roosevelt was thought of for Governor of New York. He likes to recall how Roosevelt theorized on hydro-electric power and flood control in the Tennessee Valley at a time when Roosevelt was only dreaming.

It was a fatal day for Republicans in 1927 when Dr. Kitchens found FDR slumped over the steering wheel of his custom-built Ford. Dr. Kitchens tapped FDR on the shoulder and asked, "What is the matter with you, son?" Roosevelt showed him a telegram he had just received from Al Smith in New York advising him that he was holding up the State Democratic Convention until he secured his permission to nominate him for Governor. At this time Roosevelt told Dr. Kitchens he was afraid that the upper-state Republicans would beat him. On his own initiative, Dr. Kitchens walked off to the telegraph office and sent Al Smith a wire of consent and signed Roosevelt's name. He returned and told FDR what he had done. He advised Roosevelt to have no fear and prophesied that he would be elected Governor of New York and then go on to be President.

Ten years later, when Roosevelt was President, Dr. Kitchens gave a barbecue for him at Warm Springs. A newspaper syndicate gave national publicity to a photograph of Dr. Kitchens' maid, "Love," serving the President fried chicken from a huge platter.

After moving to Warm Springs,

DR. THOMAS NEAL KITCHENS

At eighty-five, still salty.

Dr. Kitchens made a practice of taking one of his nephews or grand-nephews to his fishing camp at Sopchoppy, Fla., each summer. After a few years it was noted that none of the teen-age nephews had a desire to make a return trip with Uncle Neal, which normally would have been a treat for any boy. Later, it was determined that the nephew making the trip had to learn Polonius' speech to Laertes; the one about: "Give thy thoughts no tongue, . . . Beware of entrance to a quarrel; . . . Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice. . . . Neither a borrower nor a lender be. . . . This above all: to thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man," from Hamlet before he could wet a line. The whole fishing trip was confined to rowing Dr. Kitchens if the particular nephew did not learn a new quotation from Shakespeare every day. It was no wonder the nephews did not want to return on the "fishing" trip.

When Dr. Kitchens reached the neighborhood of sixty years he found it increasingly difficult to stay awake at night while driving back and forth to his fishing camp at Sopchoppy. He began a search to find something which would keep him awake on these trips. He had tried over fifty different forms of drugs, food, drinks, and alcohol without success and was about to give up. Dr. Kitchens discovered that Florida drivers have comparatively few accidents at night. He reasoned that a citrus juice might be the answer. He experimented and determined that eight ounces of sweet orange juice sipped slowly, would keep a driver awake better than anything else. Dr. Kitchens had over 200 drivers use orange juice during this experiment. He advised that orange juice had six elements in common with the brain and thus made the brain more alert because of its quick assimilation.

When Dr. Kitchens reached fifty-five he gave up whisky. Since then he has denounced the vile stuff. At sixty he gave up coffee and then denounced it, too. At sixty-five he gave up smoking and said that smoking was the worst thing a man could do. At seventy he gave up chewing tobacco. Now he claims that his fondness for the ladies is his only remaining vice.

In recent years Dr. Kitchens has derived a lot of pleasure from bringing cheer to some of the sad parents who come to Warm Springs bringing children who are polio victims. You would have to be there to realize the sadness and loneliness of a parent arriving in Warm Springs with a child afflicted with infantile paralysis. Arriving in a strange town without knowing a soul is bad enough. But to be accompanied by your own paralyzed child would down the strongest character. Dr. Kitchens has made it his hobby to greet some of these forlorn people at the railway station and hotel and serve as an ambassador of hope and cheer. In season, he gives the newcomer a magnolia blossom. Weekly, he receives letters from people all over the United States and from some foreign countries whom he has befriended on their first trip to Warm Springs.

Dr. Kitchens is eighty-five now. Last year when I visited him he climbed a ladder and got up in a pear tree sixteen feet from the ground to get me a bushel of pears. Though the years have slowed him physically, Dr. Kitchens is still investigating and experimenting with various problems of medicine, civil engineering, and agriculture to find out for himself the "what" and "why." This great old Delt has lived closely by his philosophy explained in Sir Richard Francis Burton's lines:

"Do what thy manhood bids thee do,
From none but self respect applause;
He noblest lives and noblest dies
Who makes and keeps his self-made laws.

Wend now thy way with brow serene,
Fear not thy humble tale to tell;
The whispers of the Desert-wind;
The tinkling of the Camel's-bell."

Cathy's Delts

Some girls have to wait until college to acquire a fraternity pin, but not Cathy McFadden, the three-year-old daughter of Stanford's Controller Duncan I. McFadden, who has reigned during the past year as the sweetheart of Delta Tau Delta.

The Delt house backs up against the McFadden home, and it wasn't long before Cathy and her big collie Laddie found that watching the college boys play basketball in their backyard court was much more fun than could be had in the sandbox. It developed into a beautiful friendship. Cathy became the Delts' most enthusiastic rooter, willing to support any side. The boys, in turn, presented her with the sister pin of their fraternity and asked her over for lunch. On these occasions, the little blue-eyed brunette was guest of honor and sat at the right of the house president while she beamed at the forty boys whom she calls "her Delts."

The Delts didn't neglect Laddie's welfare, either. He wears a collar around his usually snowy white ruff, bearing the label, "I belong to Cathy McFadden." One day during the rainy season when Laddie looked as if he had been rolling in the mud, he came home with a note pinned to his collar. It read, "Cathy, Laddie needs a bath."

The McFaddens are more than pleased with the forty baby sitters they can call in to amuse Cathy at any time. Just one angle might worry her father, however. That's how he will ever explain to his Phi Delta Theta fraternity brothers about his daughter's preference for Delts. —Reprinted from the Palo Alto Times.

Findlay Organizes

Evidencing their interest in the newly installed Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green, Ohio, some twenty miles away, the alumni in Findlay, Ohio, got together shortly before the installation on June 5, for a luncheon meeting.

With 100 per cent attendance record at the first meeting, the seventeen men decided that in order to be organized effectively to assist the chapter and in order to enjoy the pleasant associations with one another, the group should petition the Arch Chapter of the Fraternity for a charter to organize the Findlay, Ohio, Alumni Chapter.

At the first meeting, Milton "Chris" Hauser, Iowa, '26, was elected president of the group.

Mother Flower

MOTHER FLOWER

Thirty-one years with Kappa.

As has been her custom for the past thirty-one years, Kappa's beloved Mother Flower is still greeting the return of "her boys" with sparkling eyes and a cheery smile. Forming an integral part of Kappa, past and present, Mother Flower is always on hand at the Shelter to amaze the actives and gratify the alumni with her instant recall of names and happenings in the chapter during her more than a quarter century of service.

It was in the fall of 1917 that another group of freshmen was ushered into the Shelter to "meet the Delts" and become one with us. The pledges, however, were not the only new addition that fall. The Shelter was new, and we had a new housemother. She was one of the first residents of the Shelter that the new men met; in fact, her son was one of that group of Delts-to-be. As has been the experience of all Kappa Delts since, those new men immediately fell in love with her and she became as inseparable from their ideas of Delta Tau Delta as the chapter room, or the crescent, or the hushed tones of "Delta Shelter" on a serenade. She became truly

"Mother" Flower, guiding Kappa's men patiently through their four years of college, and then sorrowfully watching them pass beyond the campus, only occasionally to return to Hillsdale. But when "her boys" do come back, Mother Flower is there to meet them, to reminisce, and to hear their plans of things to come.

It is a bit startling to realize that during thirty-one of Kappa's eighty-one years Mother Flower has been such an intimate part of our chapter's life. She has known members whose student days were 'way back in that past that seems so dim to many of us, the days just after the Civil War, when Kappa was born. She has not lived that long, of course, but in 1917 some of the "Old Boys" were still coming back to sit on the porch and smoke their black stogies and tell about Hillsdale in the "sixties."

She has known the rest of us, too, for more than half of Kappa's initiatives have passed through Delta Halls during her service to Delta Tau. She has taken care of us when we were "sick-abled" in the Shelter; she has heard the stories of our love affairs; she has presided over our feasts, gotten all excited with us during rushing, wept a little when we sang around the piano after initiation, welcomed us back home after long absence. And through all the years her love for Delta Tau and the men of Kappa Chapter has grown stronger. Need it be said that her love is returned?

Kappa's story is richer for many things than the story of almost any other chapter of Delta Tau Delta. And among those riches is the story of Mother Flower. To many of the oldsters, she is known affectionately as "my girl." And "my girl" is a Delta.

Delts Receive Life Membership Cards

Members of Delta Tau Delta who have completed their payments to the Loyalty Fund will receive in September attractive membership cards like the one pictured below, identifying them as Life Members of the Fraternity.

"This card," writes President G. Herbert McCracken, "is but a token of the Fraternity's appreciation for your contribution to the future growth and development of Delta Tau Delta through the Loyalty Fund, its endowment fund. . . ."

"The Loyalty Fund is the cornerstone of the sound financial structure of Delta Tau Delta, and it supports the progressive programs which put the Fraternity in the front in its field. As it increases, the Fraternity's ability to maintain and augment its services to the chapters, the house corporations, and the individual members increases."

The Loyalty Fund was established January 1, 1926. Carl F. Kuehnle, Iowa, '19, whose name appears below, was one of the founders of the Fund.

The Life Membership card is made of durable, plastic material. The Fraternity crest appears on it in official colors.

Life Members receive THE RAINBOW for life without further charge.

DR. CHESTER NORTH FRAZIER, Wooster, '15, Indiana, '17, head of the Department of Dermatology at the University of Texas, has been appointed Professor of Dermatology at Harvard University and chief of Dermatology Service at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Dr. Frazier will be in charge of carrying out a new and intensive program of research in diseases of the skin. The program, financed in part by the Rockefeller Foundation, will bring recent advances in physiology and biochemistry to bear in a search for new knowledge of skin diseases. It will be based upon close co-operation between dermatologists and experts in general medicine.

Dr. Frazier's special interest throughout his medical career has been the correlation of the study of skin diseases with the advances in general medicine.

Having spent twenty years in China, teaching at Peiping Union Medical College and doing research in skin diseases among the Chinese, Dr. Frazier is largely responsible for the training of all Chinese physicians who specialize in diseases of the skin.

THE CENTRAL OFFICE

Our Central Office was established in 1913, and since that time it has been enlarged and developed to meet the expanding needs of the Fraternity. It was in 1941 that our friend, Paul G. Hoffman, then President of our Fraternity, said: "Here and now I should like to say that the Central Office of Delta Tau Delta is one of the best run organizations of which I have any knowledge." Paul Hoffman usually knows what he is talking about. He did then, and I concur fully with his judgment.

Our Central Office is the envy of the other fraternities. Its ability to lend support to faltering situations, to push the strong and to lead the weak, and its manifold activities throughout all of our Fraternity life is the major reason for Delta Tau Delta's administrative strength today. The one purpose of the Central Office is to help the chapters and other units of the Fraternity to help themselves. There is nothing patronizing or pampering in its policy. Its goal is to have seventy-seven self-sufficient, self-reliant chapters. And its continued maintenance, under its present standards of efficiency, is the best insurance we can provide for the future of Delta Tau Delta.

The efficiency and strength of the Central Office are due to one person—Hugh Shields—the most competent fraternity executive in the entire fraternity world. And I avail myself of this opportunity to congratulate Delta Tau Delta upon its good fortune in having Hugh Shields in this strategic executive position and to express my deep gratitude to him for his many kindnesses and his untiring co-operation in these two years that I have served as President. I prophecy that his effectiveness and leadership will be increased, because as many of you know, Hugh recently took unto himself a life partner—the very capable and gracious Virginia Hill. Congratulations, Virginia and Hugh!

CONCLUSION

The vitality and strength of any organization such as a fraternity depend in large part upon the co-operation of all its members. I know from practical experience, throughout these past two years in particular and throughout my eight years as a member of the Arch Chapter, I have been encouraged and generously supported by the constant co-operation and the unselfish assistance of my fellow officers. To each one of them I am deeply indebted, and at the same time, I know that that same helpful consideration which I received will be available to my successor. Such co-operation is the secret of much of our Fraternity greatness. Therefore, the Arch Chapter joins me in urging all the delegates here assembled to co-operate fully in the business of this Karnea. Your opinion, your experience, your judgment are all valued and essential. You delegates will not be discharging your duty as Delts and as delegates of your chapters if you have something constructive to contribute and do not say it. Therefore, although much of the work of the Karnea must be done in committees, the final decisions are made by you when the Karnea as a whole is in session, and I bespeak your thoughtful participation. Let us make this Karnea outstanding in its achievement of the purposes for which we stand and on which Delta Tau Delta is built.

Karneia

Kay, Nebraska, '98, former Ritualist; and scores of others. By that divan we had seen gathered together, preparatory to introduction in Convention Hall, representatives of petitioning locals from Santa Barbara, Florida State, Oklahoma

A. & M., Delaware, and Syracuse. Down the hall we had seen rolling from the press (mimeograph, that is), copies of the Karneia News, edited by the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter. There in the center of the lobby we had heard the compelling barbershop of Purdue's quartet as it held large crowds into the small hours of the morning. In every section of this mammoth structure we had witnessed the good work of the Karnea Committee—Francis Hughes, Ernest Miller, Fred Tucker, Carter Tharp, Dr. Howard Fischbach, John Barney, James Shropshire, Wade Neal, John Fisher, Gene Hibbs, Dr. Leon Wallace, and Bill Welch.

Accomplishments of the Karnea, the Fraternity's legislative branch, are significant. Sober, serious reflection, with every segment of Deltdom represented, resulted in constitutional amendments which will strengthen the Delt structure. The Karnea elected officers for the next biennium. W. Harold Brenton moved up from his former office of Vice-President to the highest position in Delta Tau Delta. Francis M. Hughes became Vice-President. William H. Martindill, Northern Division President, assumed the duties of Treasurer. Joel W. Reynolds, former President of the Eastern Division, is the new Secretary of Alumni. Martin B. Dickinson was re-elected for a second term as Secretary. The newly elected Supervisor of Scholarship is Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, president of Bucknell University.

Intangible accomplishments are just as significant. Out of the gathering at French Lick there emerged a revitalized Delta Tau Delta—a spirit that will find its way back to seventy-seven undergraduate chapters and numerous alumni groups. A spirit that transcends provincial conceptions, that magnifies the breadth and scope of our Fraternity. A spirit that will manifest itself in a thousand different ways throughout the United States and Canada during the next two years.

Stuart Maclean called it "white magic." Dr. Frank Wieland called it the "demonstration of a great love."

We called it the Fifty-ninth Karnea.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alpha—Allegheny

The elections of Jack Nixon as president of the Men's Undergraduate Council and Tom Fort as president of the Allegheny Christian Council highlighted the school year for Alpha Chapter. More and more members of Alpha became active in campus activities, as is witnessed by the sports department of the Campus, college weekly. Al Carpenter is sports editor, John Ruggiero is intramural writer, and Bob Davis is minor-sports writer.

Irwin Krueger is in the Singers, and Paul Storing, Fred Mitchell, and Bob Mekeel are in the Chapel Choir. The German Club is one-half Alpha Deltas, including the president, Al Anderson; the activities chairman, Ralph Roberts; the chairman of the nominating committee, Dick Davis; and the treasurer, Bill Lortz.

Ralph Ketcham, president of the chapter, is president of the honorary educational fraternity, and Harry Banta is treasurer. Harry acted and aided in the production of many plays during 1947-48 and even acted in, produced, and directed a movie, Arabesque, in which Paul Berner was starred.

In the field of athletics, Alpha has Paul Berner, captain of the track team, and Ralph Ketcham, truly one of the best soccer halfbacks Allegheny has ever had. Overshadowing these was the distinction that Ralph Roberts received when he was presented with a gold soccer ball, in token of his having earned a letter in soccer for three consecutive years. On the football team, an Alpha pledge, Don Stevenson, deserves mention. He played quarterback brilliantly, calling plays intelligently and passing with extreme accuracy.

Next year, no less than nine Alpha Deltas will be competing for positions on the soccer team.

Intramural sports were greatly improved throughout the past year. The Fraternity basketball team won nine and lost five, and the softball team, sporting the best pitching staff in the league, was a consistent threat. Paul Shannon, a newly initiated freshman, added the College ping-pong championship to his collection of awards, which include the Meadville city championship.

The two M.U.C. bridge tournaments were both won by a Delt team of Ralph Ketcham, Jack Nixon, Paul Berner, and Dick Hastie.

Scholarship invaded the Delt house during 1948 as Bill Lortz received membership in Phi Beta Kappa. The fraternity average was third highest on campus.

AL CARPENTER

Beta—Ohio

Highlighting the year's activities with an all-out campaign for intramural supremacy, the chapter swung into high gear in late May to win the Interfraternity Intramural Trophy, establishing its third and final leg. Placing in every sport, Betamen won three championships, one second place, and three thirds, while the accumulated points scored smashed all existing records.

Meanwhile, our campus politicians had gained and held the presidency of the Student Council, the treasurership of that organization, the captaincy of Pershing Rifles, the presidencies of Varsity "O" and the Men's Glee Club, and other positions such as vice-president of Phi Eta Sigma, associate editorships of both the campus newspaper and magazine, commander of Scabbard and Blade, military honorary, and memberships in Delta Phi Delta, Phi Mu Alpha, and others. No one from Beta Chapter reached Phi Beta Kappa recognition, but a pledge was scoring high as tenth on the OU campus for grades.

Athletic interests saw Beta Chapter holding up the track team, as Brother Riser, and Pledges Johnston, Fennel, and Sullivan scored repeated successes for OU. Baseball claimed Jim Shreffler, winning his varsity letter, and spring basketball practice saw Brothers Gyrko, Shreffler, and Bob Johnson taking first-string roles for the lineup.

While the chapter rated fourth on the campus for its scholastic achievement, the glee club scored another success at the annual Torch Sing. Without winning the honors, it nevertheless presented one of the most unusual and exciting performances of the evening.

Repeating the 1947 success, forty-seven mothers trekked to the Shelter for the second annual Mother's Week End. "Hotel Deltmore," its staff of pledge-employees, and active-housemother management played fine hosts to the unaccustomed Delt moms in their three-day splurge. Special events included an evening at the nearby "nightclub," a concert by the glee club, buffet dinners, a tea at the Athens Mothers' and Wives' Club, and a Berry Hotel banquet, rounding out the week end.

A cheery note was added when we puddled in puppies and saw a litter of five mongrels take over the Shelter. One will return in the fall to serve as our official mascot—"Tau, II."

Looking forward to an even more exciting fall season, the men of Beta Chapter expect the greatest turnout in history for its homecoming celebration and a repeat performance of the annual Rainbow Ball.

ALAN E. HIMELICK

Delta—Michigan

With the coming of the first spring weather, Delta Chapter wound up the year's activities in a blaze of finals.

The spring term has marked the growing success of the chapter as an organization to be reckoned with on the campus. Activities, honors, intramural sports, and varsity participation have been the outstanding interest.

On April 21, the University held its annual carnival, "Michigras," in which the chapter presented a skit in collaboration with Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. When the smoke had cleared and the booth awards were announced, the DTD-GPB combo found itself in a three-way tie for honorable mention behind the first-place winners in stiff competition which featured more than fifty participating organizations.

Six days later Delta Chapter wound up her second successful Student Legislature campaign of the year when John Ryder joined "Senator" Walt Shaffer as a member. Brother George Whitthorne served so ably as campaign manager that he has been named chairman of next year's political action committee.

Mother's Day week end fell on May 9 and 10 and was declared a great success when thirty-two mothers arrived to join in the festivities. High point of the week end came when mothers and sons, sixty-four strong, enjoyed the hospitality of Katie and Dutch Brendle in the local Delt hangout, Rice's Restaurant.

Throughout the spring, Deltas Ralph Straffon, Bill Ohlenroth, and Jim White have spent their afternoons laboring mightily under the guidance of Coach Benny Oosterbaan and his football staff. Both Ohlenroth and Straffon were nominated for the Chicago Alumni Trophy for the most improvement in spring practice, and though neither received the award, the chapter is looking forward to great things from all three lads in the fall.

The month of May saw Delta Chapter break into the honor columns when Dick Morrison was tapped for Sphinx, the all-campus junior honor society, in recognition of his work on the Michigan Daily and interfraternity council. Joe Wimsatt, chapter president, won the most coveted honor at Michigan when he was tapped for Michigamua, all-campus senior honor society. Joe was recognized for being finance chairman of the 1948 J-Hop and his recent election to the post of secretary-treasurer of the interfraternity council.

Speaking of the Daily, Art Higbee has been named to the post of associate editor for the coming year. Art has worked as a reporter and night editor for the Daily ever since his return to campus in the fall of 1946.

In the field of intramural sports, Delta Chapter hung up a sorry record for the spring until the horseshoe pitching contest got under way. Because the brothers had acquired considerable skill through practice, the six-man team swept the field to win the interfraternity competition.

May 22 brought the long awaited exodus to the home of Joe Hickey, a loyal Delta Chapter alumnus, who has for many years entertained the chapter and alumni at his Grosse Pointe home. This year Joe's steaks and trimmings were out of this world and the seventy-odd guests registered their approval by polishing off everything within sight in short order. Thanks again, Joe, for a wonderful party.

Epsilon—Albion

Epsilon Chapter was off to a quick start in September of 1947. Registration was scarcely completed when Cal Worrell, our recording secretary, managed to secure a mascot for the chapter in the form of a goat, christened Stanley. Stanley was a brownish, deodorized animal who, complete with the Delt emblem, followed the college band at football games and other fall athletic events. The mascot aroused considerable comment, on and off campus, and when, shortly before the homecoming game, Stanley was kidnapped, the chase was taken up with the hue and cry resounding afar. The search was to no avail, however, until the game itself, when Stanley was returned by party or parties still unknown. In the meantime, another goat had been procured, and the game ended with two Stanleys representing the chapter.

A similar situation occurred earlier when the Delt won the newly-instituted Bonfire Rally Jug. When the Jug was stolen from the Shelter in the dark of the night, a good deal of friendly rivalry was stirred up in securing its return.

The high point of the school year for Albion Delt, however, came with the Seventeenth Annual Black and White, the biggest and best fraternity social event on campus. This year the week end began with a formal dance at the Hart Hotel in Battle Creek, followed on Saturday by an informal party at the Shelter, with the house decorated around the theme of the Klondike gold rush. "Suds" Mohr, Tecumseh, was outstanding in his somewhat brief costume of Indian chief, renegade, or what have you.

Two rushing seasons were culminated in the 1947-48 season with as many initiations. In all, close to thirty men were initiated into Epsilon Chapter before the end of the school year.

HONOR ROLL

Reader-interest surveys have revealed that "The Delt Chapters" department is one of the most popular features of THE RAINBOW. With the conclusion of Volume 71 we wish to acknowledge the contribution of the undergraduate correspondents whose faithful co-operation makes possible complete and lively coverage in this department. The following undergraduate chapters have contributed to all four numbers of Volume 71. They deserve recognition on this honor roll.

Alpha	Gamma Kappa
Beta	Gamma Mu
Delta	Gamma Nu
Iota	Gamma Xi
Kappa	Gamma Pi
Mu	Gamma Tau
Upsilon	Gamma Upsilon
Beta Epsilon	Delta Alpha
Beta Zeta	Delta Beta
Beta Eta	Delta Gamma

Spring sports came out more successfully than did those of the fall. Varsity golf was almost completely manned by Delt, with Bill Kasler, Don Denton, and George Wagner, one of our latest initiates, holding down key positions. The Delt also walked away with the swimming trophy, far ahead of their nearest contenders.

Most amazing to ourselves, however, was the winning of the scholarship trophy of the interfraternity council, for the first time in more than twenty years. Probably it was equally surprising to the campus as well.

Socially the spring term was marked by two outstanding events, the pledge party and the spring informal barn party.

Graduation on June 7 saw a large number of Albion Delt going out into the "wide, wide world," and an equal number transferring into professional schools. With chapter enrollment down to around sixty-five, Epsilon looks forward to another and equally successful year. PEIRCE F. LEWIS

Iota—Michigan State

Four trophies resting on Iota's fireplace mantel show the effort made to earn a place among the campus powerhouses in the first anniversary year of reactivation.

Craftsman Ray Schmitzer won a cup for Iota when judges picked his racer as "best looking" in the campus pushcart derby. Another trophy was added when George Voorhis, aided by Tri Delt auxiliary power, splashed his way to victory in the mixed doubles canoe race of the annual Michigan State spring water carnival. With collaboration the keynote, a large trophy went on the mantel signifying that Iota and the local Tri Delt had won second place in mixed doubles for floats in the water carnival. The float, brain child of Don Saunders and Howdy Gerlaugh, depicted a marshmallow roast in line with the carnival theme, "The Best Things in Life." Kingpin on the trophy shelf remains the IFC championship touch football trophy won last fall.

Taking honors for individual performances in the spring intercollegiate track campaign were George "Decathlon" Shomin and Discus Thrower Jim Zito. Shomin took third in decathlon at the Michigan AAU meet held in Ann Arbor. Zito broke the MSC varsity record by two feet with a discus heave of 147' 1 3/4" in a meet at Illinois.

On the political front, Iota saw its president, Paul Pettit, elected to the Student Council as fraternity representative. Jerry McCarthy was elected to the Union Board. Several men qualified for campus honoraries: Bob Schnuck joined the math honorary, Pi Mu Epsilon; Bob Chadwick was selected for Sigma Epsilon, the business administration honorary; two ROTC cadets, Neale Schermerhorn and Phil Werner, are members of Scabbard and Blade; Lloyd Kaechele doubled to affiliate with Alpha Phi Omega, national service honorary and the engineering society, Tau Beta Pi; Howdy Gerlaugh was graduated "with honor" and a master's degree in electrical engineering.

The Lansing Alumni Chapter and Iota were honored to be hosts for the Northern Division Conference held in April.

Four men earned varsity letters during the year: Shomin in track; Zito in football and track; and Pledges John Poloncak and Carl Nestor in football.

Book-cracking paid off winter term as Iota climbed into a third place tie in fraternity scholastic standing. New Alumnus Joe Sherman, who was graduated in June and received a commission as second lieutenant in the cavalry reserve, went to England during the summer to continue studies at the University of Southampton under a student exchange plan.

Iota is looking forward to fall when it can entertain Delta Chapter after the MSC-Michigan football game and dedication of State's new 52,000-seat Macklin Stadium. NORM ANSCHUETZ some of our actives have been doing since the last issue. Some of this we've fed you before, but we are proud of it; so we intend to tell you some of these things a second time so that you will be sure to remember them.

So far as athletics are concerned, we had a few who went out and made a name for themselves in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA for short). Gil Edson won a slot on the all-MIAA basketball team as a forward, although he spent most of the season as a center. Gil was the top scorer for the varsity cagers here at Hillsdale and was one of the most feared shots in the loop. It was the respect that opponents had for his accuracy that placed him on the honor roll for the second straight year.

Stu Williams likewise set himself up proud by winning the MIAA broad jump crown at the Kalamazoo Field Day this spring. Williams was one of the major cogs in the Hillsdale track picture, participating, in addition to the broad jump, in the 220, 440, and the mile relay.

Russ Rowe, for a long time the stalwart catcher on the baseball team, finished his fourth and last year behind the plate this spring. His fine work helped the Dales to clinch the MIAA baseball title for the first time since the war halted competition. Russ even blossomed into a pretty fair country hitter, hitting the old apple around for a mark well over .300.

In the field of publications Gil Edson acquired the job of Winona editor for the year 1948-49. The Winona is the yearbook. Art Coscarelli landed the job of business manager and Bill Lashbrook was given the job of sports editor. Jack Nelson was given the job of business manager on the school paper, and Bill Lashbrook will take over the job as sports editor.

The Republican Party may not get a man in the presidency, but Kappa Chapter had no trouble this past year in its attempts at class offices. "Jolly Cholly" Wilson was swept into office on a wave of feminine votes and presided over the senior class until his graduation.

Paul Buker took over the reins of the sophomore class and had the able assistance of one "Long John" Cuddeback, the bestest pass catcher on the Michigan gridiron last fall, who became the treasurer of the class.

One of the distinguishing features at Kappa is the high scholastic average of the men in the chapter. For the past eight years we have led the men's organizations in scholarship.

We here at Kappa feel that this year, in spite of some of the ups and downs we have experienced over some issues of campus politics, has been a good one for us, and we are looking forward to many more in the future.

ART COSCARELLI

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

The year 1947-48 has been one of the most spectacular years in the history of the postwar Mu Chapter at Ohio Wesleyan. The men of Mu are leaders in almost every phase of campus life and have won high esteem for themselves and their chapter.

Mu leads in campus journalism. During the past school year the chapter has had among its members, the editor-in-chief of the Ohio Wesleyan Transcript, the associate editor, sports editor, feature editor, art editor, make-up editors, and several sports and news reporters.

In the field of yearbook publications, Mu has had the editor-in-chief, sports editor, fraternity editor, and advertising manager, as well as numerous other staff members.

Also influential in campus journalism are members of the University publications board; the editor of the literary magazine; the Red Cross public relations chairman and the state publicity chairman for the Ohio Council of Red Cross College Units; editor of the freshman handbook, campus cartoonist, winning honorable mention in the state collegiate journalism contest; and several other members who have done outstanding writing for professional publications.

As a result of a year's hard work, Mu Chapter won first place tie in the national Fraternity's publication contest for chapter newspapers last year.

Among the most influential people on campus are many Deltas. The president of the student body and the associate justice of the supreme court, as well as a number of other student council members, are men of Mu.

In the YMCA during the year were many Deltas, some of whom held such cabinet positions as chairmen of publicity, public affairs, and worship. Two Deltas hold positions on the executive operating committee of the Wesleyan unit of the Red Cross.

The chapter has also been distinguished by its members as a whole. Working together, the chapter won first place in the interfraternity song contest and placed second in the last state Greek song contest.

In sports, Mu won the B League basketball contest, ran a close second in softball and volleyball, and won first in bowling doubles. In varsity sports Mu claims the captain of the swimming team and men in baseball and basketball. Four men won "W" letters this year.

In keeping with customary outstanding alumni relations, Mu held a spring and fall reunion at which time many alums returned to the Shelter. At the spring reunion held June 5 and 6, the chapter war memorial plaque was dedicated, a pledge class was initiated, and alumni meetings were held to plan for an addition to the house to be built this summer.

Two of the important alumni to receive academic and fraternal honors were Don Battelle, who was initiated into ODK, and Francis M. Hughes, who had the outstanding distinction of heading the 1918 Karnea.

Represented in nine of the ten honorary fraternities on campus are seventeen members. One Delt is a member of five organizations, two others each hold membership in three organizations. Mu has four men in the activities honorary Omicron Delta Kappa; five in journalism, Pi Delta Epsilon; six in Phi Mu Alpha, music; three in Theta Alpha Phi, dramatics; and a number of men in others, including two juniors in Phi Beta Kappa.

Five men were recognized in an all-campus awards program for the work that they had done throughout the school year. These prizes came as first places in departmental and donational awards.

Mu was present and participated in the initiation of the Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green when it was installed on June 5. Representatives from the chapter attended the Northern Division Conference at Hotel Olds in Lansing, Michigan, on April 9, and a number of Mu Deltas were present at the Karnea in French Lick, Indiana, this summer.

With the graduation of eighteen seniors, June 6, Mu Chapter returns to prewar status with younger men. But Mu will not fall from the high place that it has gained for itself since the war, for the men who remain are dedicated to the high ideals of Delta Tau Delta and make it a vital part of their lives to see that the name of the chapter and the national Fraternity leads the way for fraternity-campus life.

CHRIS WHITTLE

Omicron—Iowa

Following the Omicron tradition of "every year a better year," 1947-48 seemed to be the best ever.

Not only in scholarship did we do well, but in intramural athletics also we hit our stride. Besides the major sports, Deltas took the honors on the minor side. Don Brown and Jordan Kern turned in stellar performances in both the doubles and singles matches in badminton. Chuck Fredericks in tennis and John Amies in squash also found their way to the top.

Campus publications were, so to speak, run from the Shelter this year, as five Delt newshounds turned out copy and editorials for the Daily Iowan, and Bob Asprey produced the "ace" stories for Frivol, the University humor magazine. Lou Nielson and Chuck Sanders took to the air waves and Jim Holbert was named student adviser to the library board to round out the Delt influence of communications at Iowa U.

In the social whirl, Omicron, never to be outdone, again drew sighs of envy and awe from other campus organizations for the elaborate formals and especially for the costume ball, which topped the party line at Iowa.

LOUIS SUITER

Tau—Penn State

Tau Chapter has come through with another banner year and has set plans for an even more successful one next year.

In the field of athletics, Ernie Baer was second highest scorer on the varsity lacrosse team and Len Ritchie worked along with him to give a formidable "one-two" scoring punch. Pledge Ulinski was second-string quarterback for our Penn State undefeated football juggernaut last fall, and Jack Wallace copped a starting berth on the varsity swimming team. Ralph Brenner and Floyd Cantrell worked hard all season on the track team and are assured of a starting berth next fall. Bob Witman continues in the capacity of first manager to the varsity wrestling squad.

Tau Beta Pi found Carl Schwenk among its new members. Carl has also been a mainstay, along with Paul Kortwich, in the College Choir. Dick Bytheway and Bob Moore gave their fine baritone voices to the College Men's Glee Club, and Sam Bomgardner slid his trombone in the College Blue Band. Huff Hall continues with his dance band to vie for top honors on campus as the most popular. Jim Saling and Harry McMahon completed a busy season with the Thespians, and Harry went on to cop second manager's position on Penn State's undefeated golf team.

Scabbard and Blade, national honorary for ROTC men, is headed by Larry "Dad" Doyle, Bill Piper being among the senior and file. Doyle also served on the Senior Ball Dance Committee.

The biggest event of the year was Tau's seventy-fifth anniversary which brought more than one hundred and twelve alums back to the Shelter for a highly successful week end. Many members from other chapters were also present.

PAUL E. KORTWICH, JR.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

We are all proud of Upsilon's record for the past year. Her members have won fame not only as scholars but as varsity lettermen, elected officers, and in other extracurricular activities.

Daymon Jordan, nationally famed lacrosse star, has been elected Grand Marshal of the Rensselaer Union. This makes him the official leader of the student body and the top man on campus.

Phalanx is an organization composed of the top men of the school. It is the highest recognition given to those who have given outstanding service to Rensselaer. Of the fifteen men selected this year, four were Deltas—Charles McMorrow, Stan Stachelek, Daymon Jordan, and Bill Coleman, who was later elected president of Phalanx.

As the local chapters and alumni well know, lacrosse has been the word at RPI for the last year. The team, with an undefeated season under its belt, is now seeking greater fame by traveling to England and playing twelve matches against top British and Canadian teams. The final four games will be staged in Wembley Stadium as Olympic exhibition games. The best part of all this is that twelve of the thirty players picked to go are the following Upsilon Deltas—Bob Campbell, Spencer Spaulding, Dick Barrows, Art Beard, Al Myers, Bud McCann, Daymon Jordan, Larry O'Connor, Bill Coleman, Jack Rabin, Dick Powell, and Bob Frick. Four of these men have been picked to play on the All-North team from which All-America selections are made—Larry O'Connor, probably the outstanding player on this year's team; Spence Spaulding, the big defenseman; Al Myers, tireless midfielder; and Art Beard, another midfielder who has been an outstanding athlete and scholar at Rensselaer.

This does not by any means cover all the honors won by members this year. Pi Tau Sigma, Eta Kappa Nu, and Tau Beta Pi are well represented in the house, plus many journalistic editorships and other high offices.

Socially, we are becoming more and more popular with other houses and at the last big dance the house was the best decorated on the hill. There was a huge clamor with many alumni attending, and we all enjoyed playing host to a huge crowd.

Don't forget our homecoming scheduled for the day of the Union football game. Last year it was a success—let's make this one twice as good. ROBERT J. FERGUSON

Phi—W. & L.

For the fourth consecutive year and seventh time in the past nine years, Phi Chapter won the University's Intramural Athletic Championship. Paced by Joe Rowe, winner of the Individual Intramural Athletic Trophy, the Deltas took first place in six of the twelve athletic tournaments. Seven new trophies were added to the house as Phi swept volleyball, swimming, ping-pong, handball, tennis, and foul-shooting, and were runners-up in basketball. Intramural tennis saw an all-Delt finals as Don Warren defeated Joe Rowe to become singles champion, and Rowe and Roger Kimball beat their Brother Deltas, Warren and Jack Lethbridge, in the doubles championship.

Charlie Rowe, past president of Phi Chapter, was recently elected president of the Washington and Lee student body. Charlie, with Deltas Ben Brown, Frank Brooks, and Bill Chiple, was also tapped into Omicron Delta Kappa this year. Jock Morrison was appointed managing editor of the Ring-Tum Phi, W. & L.'s semi-weekly, while Bill King is acting business manager for this paper. Ben Brown, editor of the yearbook, turned out one of the best issues in the school's history.

Tommy Tongue repeated as an all-conference choice in lacrosse. Frank Brooks, Gill Brooks, and Talbot Bond also earned lacrosse letters. Gordon Sibley, president-elect of Phi Chapter, and John McKelway were awarded letters in golf. Don Moxham, Bob Swinerton, and Jim Farrar, who was elected cocaptain of next year's team, lettered in tennis to complete the Delt monopolization of spring sports.

Scholastically the Deltas stood among the leaders. Dick Lipscomb and Dave Bien were initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary society. Six Deltas—Bill Bien, Dave Bien, Edwin Gaines, Francis Glasgow, Dick Lipscomb, and Joe Rowe—won scholastic awards for the coming year. It would be impossible in this brief space to name all the awards won by Deltas during the manifold activities of the year. Phi Chapter, however, is indeed proud of one of its alumni, George Goodwin, class of '39, who recently was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for reporting.

EDWIN M. GAINES

Chi—Kenyon

This has been a banner year for Chi Chapter. From all points of view the year's record has been an outstanding one. Athletically the chapter was unsurpassed in both varsity and intramurals. This year Chi Deltas earned a total of thirty varsity letters and captained four major sports. On the intramural front Chi won first place cups in football, basketball, swimming, volleyball, badminton, and tennis. Naturally, the Pasini Trophy, which is awarded to the fraternity having the most intramural points, went to Delta Tau Delta.

Socially Chi men planned and worked out a well-balanced program combining dances, picnics, stag parties, alumni smokers, etc., held independently and in conjunction with other fraternities. Our Delta Chateau given for the whole college was the crowning point of an excellent social year.

Under the able direction of an energetic scholarship committee, the chapter moved up four notches in its standing with the other fraternities. We hope that this effort will be extended over to the next academic year, and the following June will see Chi ranked number one among all the fraternities at Kenyon.

As far as campus politics go, Chi men are in posts of importance in every phase of college activity, from the presidency of the senior class to representatives on the Student Council, Pan-Hellenic Council, and all other campus committees.

Chi men were also highly honored to have a part in the installation of Delta Tau Chapter and extend to this group our heartiest congratulations.

CHARLES D. HERING

Beta Beta—DePauw

The first intramural athletic event after Christmas holidays was the long awaited match between Beta Beta and the winners of the other league in swimming. No other team had come within twenty points of the Delt mermen, and the challengers, too, went down in defeat, 42-24.

Climaxing literally hours of practice, the Delt took the stage in the Phi Mu Alpha interfraternity sing on May 15. Brother Watts Thornburg had whipped the group into shape for the assault on top honors, which it had missed by one place last year; but not again: the trophy rests proudly on our mantel now.

Helping Beta Beta to a high place in intramurals were Brothers MacDonald and Barkley, ping-pong doubles champions, and Boyd and Goyer in the same capacity in horseshoes. The speedball team was second in league scoring, placing Bob Harder and Al Hughes on the all-star team. The golf team from the Shelter came in third.

Colin V. Dowds came back to the Shelter one day some months ago from the Little State Meet, where he had set new meet records in the 150-yard breaststroke and in the medley relay. Dowds and Joe Boyd, Bob Brown, and Jack Bundy sported their recently won letters before seven freshman football hopefuls who anxiously await gridiron weather.

Darrel Dock, Beta Beta's new president, was recently tapped for Gold Key, a senior men's honorary. He continues the long Delt tradition of at least one man in the group, succeeding Brothers Aschmann and Bundy.

Dick Pelles was awarded the English department's citation as the senior who had grown most in his four years of work in the department. Another senior, Joe Boyd, retires as chairman of the Publications Board, while, in the same line, Bob Goyer and Jack Bundy hand down the editorships of the campus magazine and yearbook on graduation. Brother Dock succeeds Goyer as Mirage editor.

Ken Crandall, with only six hours of B, adds another Beta Beta name to the rolls of Phi Beta Kappa. During the year, Norval Stephens was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary.

At the recent Duzer Du initiation, Norval Stephens joined six brothers in the drama organization which has been led by Charles Aschmann, president, and Bob Goyer, vice-president. Chris Hamilton was elected president for the coming year. Bob Lathe added another presidency to our long list, being elected head man in Kappa Pi, the art society. Bob was also initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma, the advertising honorary.

Bob Goyer, president of Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalism honorary, and Jack Bundy ended their careers in publications and that group with graduation, but Darrel Dock continues as treasurer.

In campus politics, our party swept the field, aided by the master-minding of Guy Fibbe, who ran the parades, and elected Lee Cooper president of the sophomore class for next year. Jack Bundy has been senior class committeeman for the past term.

Graduation also took Charles Henley, Phi Mu Alpha's president, but the music honorary recently initiated Bill Shemberger to keep a Delt in the fold.

The house's hard-working scholarship chairmen looked with pride as Delta Tau Delta stood second among fraternities with a 1.64 average.

The recent Alumni Day brought back grads harking to '97. Plans were laid to make coming Alumni Day celebrations nonpareil. The alums will have to go some to beat the mothers, who swamped the Shelter on May 8, and went home leaving the chapter with a new set of table linens.

The final days of school were spent getting Beta Beta's acre of land in shape both for alums and for Karnea delegates, who may view our gardens and roses with only an hour's drive.

NORVAL STEPHENS

Beta Epsilon—Emory

Thanks to the financial aid of the Atlanta Alumni Association and the Beta Epsilon Building Corporation and the concentrated efforts of Brothers Bill Taylor, Roy Perdue, George Bentley, Preston Gibson, Bill Ridley, Jim Ridley, and many others, Beta Epsilon began the rushing period of the fall quarter, 1948, with a completely redecorated Shelter. Among many additions to the house and furnishings were the new second-floor game room, radio-phonograph, and living room rug.

Following a hectic week of rushing, seventeen men limited their walk around the Row to a few steps, stopping at No. 1.

High lights of the fall quarter were the annual Taulette Bowl Game (pledge-active football encounter); the alumni-active banquet and the outing held earlier in the quarter; the annual Night Club Party (featuring the Delta Taulettes), at which the 1947-48 sponsor, Miss Clara Mock, was presented; and the twentieth annual Christmas party honoring guests from the nearby Methodist Children's Home.

Six men decided to wear the gold and white pin of DTD at the close of the winter quarter rushing festivities.

Main events of the winter quarter were the pledge dismissal week and the Valentine's Day initiation ceremonies at the Shelter for thirteen men.

The spring quarter of 1948 saw five more men pledged to Emory's Delt.

High lights of this top quarter on the scholastic calendar included the Beta Epsilon Spring Banquet and Formal at the Druid Hills Country Club. Five past presidents of the chapter attended. Speaker was Brother Raimundo de Ovies, Dean Emeritus of Atlanta's St. Philip's Cathedral. Other outstanding events of the quarter were the reorganization of the Beta Epsilon Mothers' Club; the alumni-active outing at North Fulton Park; and the annual Dooley's Frolics on the Emory campus, during which Beta Epsilon walked away with honors, winning the cup for the most original and most effective costumes and taking third place in the lawn decorations contest.

Theme of the Frolics this year was "The American Scene," and Beta Epsilon presented its interpretation of "The Driving of the Golden Spike," depicting the rail linkage of the East and the West in the 1860's. Much credit is due Brothers Roy Perdue, Preston Gibson, George Bentley, John Pattillo, Jack Carroll, and Bill Bowman for their work on this project.

During the past year Emory's Delt has been on top in scholarship on the Emory campus, tying for first place once and being third and fourth on two other occasions. Tom Galt is secretary of the Emory Student Council; Oscar Adams was I.F.C. Secretary. George Knight is associate editor of the Emory Wheel, campus newspaper, and secretary of Sigma Delta Chi; Dan Plunket again is librarian of the Emory Glee Club and president of the National Youth Commission of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Clint Baker is vice-president of the Westminster Fellowship, Presbyterian organization. Garland Perdue made Phi Beta Kappa. Ed Suratt and Sam Horne, both among the first to study for Ph.D.'s at Emory, were tapped by Sigma Xi, chemistry honorary. Phi Sigma, biology honorary, tapped Bill Taylor, Garland Perdue, and Claude Adams.

Looking back upon a year of many successes and looking forward to one of even more prosperity and happiness, Emory's Delt say to other Delt everywhere, "SEE YOU AT THE KARNEA."

GEORGE E. BENTLEY

Beta Zeta—Butler

Undoubtedly the two most outstanding events for Beta Zeta this year were the house party at Spring Mill State Park in southern Indiana and the annual Spring Sing held at the Broad Ripple High School auditorium, represented this year by all organizations on the Butler campus. Under the superb leadership of Director Carl Henn, the Delt took top honors in the Sing for the fourth consecutive year. Carl's excellent manner in arranging and presenting the program surpassed by far any and all competition from other participants.

Not to be slighted, of course, was the very outstanding solo sung by Bob Kilby. His performance literally bowled over the entire audience of hundreds of spectators. From the word go, with Carl's leadership and Bob's singing, the Butler Delt had once again cinched the annual Spring Sing victory.

The week-end festivities of the Spring Mill party consisted of a hay ride, an outside barn dance affair by the light of a huge bonfire, a scavenger hunt requiring almost a full day of running up and down "mountain" sides searching for clues and beating any opposition over the head that appeared to be too far out in the lead, and a very enjoyable informal dance. It was certainly a wonderful opportunity for good times and relaxation.

Another item worth mentioning is the fact that Beta Zeta won the attendance trophy at State Day held at the Indianapolis Athletic Club in Indianapolis.

At Honor Day, Brother Ralph Simpson was awarded a very handsome fellowship award in chemistry.

Letter winners this season were Harry Farmer, for an excellent football performance, and Jim Cline, in cross-country running. Jim is one of the most outstanding runners on the campus.

One item we are all very proud of is Paul Bevelheimer's election to presidency of the freshman class and Art Fougerousse's as the class treasurer.

New representatives from the chapter to Sphinx are Harry Farmer, Jack Gilberg, and Clyde Steckel.

Brother Scott Christie, president of the chapter last year, was listed in the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

A fruitful year for Beta Eta was dimaxed when the chorus, under the able direction of John Madson, '49, walked away with the Interfraternity Sing trophy. This was our second consecutive victory, and a repeat triumph next year will retire the trophy from competition and bring it permanently to rest at the Shelter.

At Cap and Gown Day this spring, three members received recognition for their scholastic achievements. Thomas Flinn, '48, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; Frank Grundman, '49, was elected to Tau Beta Pi; and John Zoller, '49, was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma.

Several other enterprising brothers assumed their respective places in campus honorary societies. Alan Cunningham, '51, Richard Wickberg, '49, and Reid Gauker, '48, participated in the activities of Phoenix, junior honorary fraternity. Norman Groth, '48, was president of the Grey Friars, senior honorary fraternity.

Roland D. Sullivan, '48, who as business student was elected to both Beta Gamma Sigma, national business honorary, and Beta Alpha Psi, national accounting honor society, was graduated last June "with distinction."

Norman Groth was extremely active in many other forms of campus activities also. After being president of his junior class, Norm was elected to the All-University Council and served as its president during the past year. Roland Dille, '49, an old hometown buddy of Norm's from Dassel, Minnesota, served as an associate editor of Undergrad and was more recently appointed to a position on the newly formed All-University Congress.

Several members, seeing some advantages in a reserve commission, have taken an active part in the University's ROTC program. As a part of the Commencement exercises on June 12, 1948, Everett Sweet, '48, Douglas Miller, '48, Dewain Johnson, '49, Howard Sargeant, '48, Edward Winter, '50, and Robert Carlson, '48, received reserve commissions in the United States Army. In addition to this and because of his outstanding work as a cadet, Robert Carlson has been notified that he is to receive an honor appointment as second lieutenant in the Regular Army. Among the basic cadets, Paul Johnston, '51, received the unit's Outstanding Basic Cadet award in recognition of his achievements.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

Beta Theta closed the 1947-48 year with an initiation on June 10. Brothers Denny, Pace, Long, Trebor-MacConnell, and Irwin were initiated. Brother Toby Belford, now a member of the board of trustees of the University, was present for the initiation.

Beta Theta should, next fall, capture several of the intramural trophies. We have the material for an excellent football squad and an even better basketball team. We are going to miss Brother McWhorter on the handball courts next winter, but several members of the chapter are already brushing up their game for next year.

Beta Theta has always been very active in dramatics on the mountain. Each year in May, the Purple Masque, Sewanee dramatic organization, presents awards for outstanding performances given during the year. This year the banquet was held in Tuckaway Inn, and Brother Caldwell presided as toastmaster. Brother Darrach was presented with the award for the most outstanding male lead for his performance as Scanarelle in The Doctor in Spite of Himself. Brother Caldwell was awarded the outstanding supporting role award for his interpretation of Stephen Spettigue in Charley's Aunt. This meant that Beta Theta had won the two top awards in dramatics for the year 1947-48.

Brother Edward H. Darrach was elected president of Purple Masque for 1948-49. Brother Darrach has worked with each production given this year, having acted in three productions and directed a one-act play.

Brother John W. Caldwell has been elected president of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, for 1948-49. Brother Caldwell has also contributed to each production this past year, acting in two, directing one, and working backstage in one.

In Sigma Upsilon, national honorary literary fraternity, elections, Brother Caldwell was elected president and Brother Darrach was elected vice-president for 1948-49.

Brother Caldwell was elected editor of Helikon for 1948-49. Helikon is an undergraduate literary magazine published by the students of the University.

Beta Theta is looking forward to an excellent year. We have had the Shelter repainted outside and extensive work done on the interior. The living room has been refinished in sand and ivory, which is quite an improvement over the black wainscoting and ceiling.
JOHN W. CALDWELL

Beta Kappa—Colorado

The Deltas at Colorado University annexed the intramural sports crown by winning four firsts, three seconds, and two thirds in the different intramural sports during the season ending with the winter quarter. Last spring the Deltas won the softball and golf titles and second place in tennis. During the fall quarter the Deltas placed in touch football, volleyball, and handball. In the winter quarter the Deltas added to their win column the basketball, wrestling, and boxing championships, in addition to placing second in the water polo competition.

Representing the fraternities, the Deltas at CU won the intramural softball championship recently by defeating the independent champion team. This is the second consecutive year that the Deltas have won this title.

During the annual CU Days celebration the Deltas won first place in the float contest, the Delt float being a human cannonball, following the carnival theme of the event. The cannon, charged with explosives, shot dummies from its muzzle.

Deltas who will hold prominent positions in campus organizations and affairs next fall are: Bill Smith, who was elected president of the Business School Board; Wayne Hulitzky, new associate editor of the Coloradan, student yearbook; Art Cross, general chairman of the 1948 Homecoming Committee at CU, with Bob Balderston as his business manager; the new sports editor of the Coloradan will be Ed Feist. Pieter Hondius was elected to the post of Senior Warden of Sigma Delta Pi, professional business fraternity, and Bob Hudson is the chancellor of the same organization.

Deltas recently pledged to Phi Epsilon Phi, sophomore men's honorary are: Reg Rice, John Shattuck, Bill Pike, Bob Pike, Walt Spicer, and Roy Spore. Bill Smith was pledged to Sumalia, junior men's honorary.

The last social function of the college year featured the spring formal, which was one of the most cleverly decorated formal of the season. The theme, "Nautical Deltas," was carried out by underwater scenes—with a variety of fish, turtles, and a large fish that blew soap bubbles over the guests.
WAYNE HULITZKY

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

Of the three major cups awarded annually for excellence in various fraternity endeavors, Beta Lambda won two and was runner-up for the third. The trophy for house decorations was won by the Deltas' "Lafayette-Crusher," a mighty mechanism complete with uncertain motion, billowing clouds of smoke, and horrible screams of agony. In spite of its wobbly condition, it fascinated the judges long enough to win first prize. The trophy for interfraternity singing was won despite tough competition by the Delt chorus under the able direction of Miles Orth. While, unfortunately, we were only runners-up for the interfraternity athletic cup, we hope to win all three next year.

In varsity athletics this year, we have had letter winners on the soccer, wrestling, track, rifle, lacrosse, and fencing teams. Our pledges, likewise, have distinguished themselves in freshman football, swimming, track, and baseball. Earle Compton, returning last fall from the service, won honorable mention All-America for his work on the soccer squad. Dick Kelsey, Lehigh's crack wrestler, became an Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Champion.

The Delts held down several executive positions on the Brown and White, the school newspaper. Next year we expect to control publications, since Stan Lawler will be editor-in-chief of the school paper and Earle Compton will be editor-in-chief of the yearbook. Moreover, Stan Lawler was recently elected chairman of the student-faculty board controlling all publications.

Beta Lambda is still strong in campus organizations with Dick Kelsey replacing Pete Eagleson in Arcadia, the student governing body, and with men in Tau Beta Pi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Pi Delta Epsilon, Alpha Kappa Psi, Phi Eta Sigma, Lambda Mu Sigma, Scabbard and Blade, and Pershing Rifles. ALEX. F. SMITH

Beta Nu—M. I. T.

Beta Nu will return early next fall for a rush week which has been extended from five to seven days. After a successful year, we have quite a few new selling points for the rushees. This year has seen four captains of athletic teams in the house. Hank Sharp was cocaptain of the sophomore field day football team, Harold Ingraham was captain of Tech's track team, while Bill Stoney was elected captain of next year's squash team, and Bob Edgar is cocaptain of next year's swimming team.

Some of the prominent positions held on campus by Delts are treasurer and social chairman of the Technology Christian Association, the largest organization at Tech. These positions are held by Paul Weamer and Fred Mellin, respectively. Hans Ehardt was recently elected to next year's Junior Prom Committee. Dick Stephan is business manager for next year's Tech Show, a student organization which puts on a play each year.

The most envied position of all is held by Dave Moore, who was just this year initiated into Chi Epsilon and soon after was elected president.

This year Tech held its first open house since the war. Al Collins was head usher, while Doug Jones was in charge of the freshman exhibit.

Eleven different Delts were awarded athletic letters this year. They are: Harold Ingraham, track; George Loomis, Fred Mellin, and Bob Edgar, swimming; Hans Ehardt and Bill Stoney, squash; Hans Ehardt, tennis; Bill Stoney and Hank Sharp, lacrosse; Oscar Eubank, crew; and Norm Tisdale, Jack Adams, and Mike Tenney, hockey. Gerry Austen was New England Freshman Wrestling Champion in his weight, while Bob Kress was a member of Tech's freshman rifle team which won the National Championship and the Hearst Shoot. BOB EDGAR

Beta Omicron—Cornell

Looking back over the past year, we can see that Beta Omicron is fast returning to its place of leadership among fraternities at Cornell.

Last fall found seven members of Beta

Omicron on varsity and freshman football squads. On the freshman team were Bill Duba, Bob Cornetti, Joe Stianche, Jeff Fleischmann, Jim Casey, and Dick Appleby. All but Appleby were numeral winners. Dick turned his talents to the crew and has been working there all spring. Fred Vander Poel won his letter as a member of the J.V. team. These same seven, with the addition of Mike Riordan and Gene Hook, will return to the football wars this fall. Farquhar Smith has been elected an assistant manager of the football team and will assume those duties next fall.

The winter found Joe Stianche and Bill Hanson members of the frosh basketball team, while Fred Turk was playing with the J.V. Bob Cornetti was a member of the frosh swimming team and is looking forward to a varsity berth next year.

Spring brought even greater things to this chapter. Captain Ham Miller, on the lacrosse team, led his men through a successful season. The team had as its members two other Delts—Gene Adams and Fred Vander Poel. Ned Trethaway was assistant manager and will assume the duties of manager next year. Jeff Fleischmann, after playing first-string fullback during spring football practice, went out for frosh baseball and made first-string catcher. Chapter President Jack Servis, after completing a successful indoor and outdoor track season, was elected captain of the team for the following season.

The chapter placed fourth among all fraternities in intramural all-sports competition. The football team placed fourth, the volleyball team second, and the swimming team copped the title. A new intramural record was set in the 200-yard free style relay. Members of the swimming team were Bill Duba, Bill Coulter, Bill Hanson, Dick Appleby, Web Koehn, and Fred Turk.

In campus politics, Pete Williams was elected to a term on the Student Council as representative-at-large. Rob Westbrook was elected as a member of the sophomore class council. Pete was also named as a member of this council.

Honor societies claimed their share of Delts. Jack Servis joined Jim Macdonald and Ham Miller in the senior honorary society of Sphinx Head. Gene Hook and Ham Miller are members of the junior society of Red Key. Along the scholastic lines, Jim Macdonald, Fred Turk, and John Dorfman are members of Tau Beta Pi. Fred Turk was elected president of the administrative engineering society of Kappa Tau Chi, and Ned Trethaway is also a member. These same two are members of the mechanical engineering society of Pi Tau Sigma.

Several alumni have also brought glory to the chapter. Jim Munns, '14, is at this time running for trustee of Cornell University. Al Griesedieck, '42, has been elected Vice-President of the Western Division of the Fraternity. As reported in the May RAINBOW, Leonard A. Maynard, Wesleyan, '11, has been awarded the 1947 Borden Award in the field of nutrition. "Stub" is at present Dean of the School of Nutrition at Cornell and is past chapter advisor to this chapter.

We are also happy to announce that scheduled for early next fall is a house corporation meeting, to be held here in Ithaca. All alumni are cordially urged to attend. FREDERICK S. TURK

Beta Pi—Northwestern

The year 1947-48 has been one of accomplishment for Beta Pi. During the fall the chapter captured the attention of both the campus and alumni with its clever homecoming house decorations which took second place, a scale fashioned from the letters DTD showing the Wildcats outweighing the Hoosiers 3 to 1. Soon afterward, the traditional Delt-sponsored Freshman Pajama Race attracted crowds to the Delt house, where, after the race, the crowning of the Delt Pajama Queen and her court took place, followed by a gala open house.

Meanwhile, individual accomplishments were many and varied. In the field of sports the Day brothers, Fats and Pee-Wee, proved to be mainstays on Northwestern's ever-dangerous football team. Fats was named on the Notre Dame All-Opponent Team. Other Delt athletes were among the most outstanding members of the freshman basketball and football squads. Chuck Petter climaxed a successful Delt intramural program by taking the intramural shot-put crown.

Bill Fitzgerald helped to lead interfraternity activities as vice-president of the I-F Council, and Dale Peterson headed the sophomore class. Delts in top publication positions were Pete Clark, business manager of the Directory and advertising manager of the Purple Parrot; Rog Mick, circulation manager of the Parrot; and Bob Trotti, cocirculation manager of the Sylabus. Rog has now been promoted to co-business manager of the Parrot. Jack Hamilton was night editor of the Daily Northwestern. He also headed a successful Student Service Fund Charities Drive. This spring he was honored by being elected to Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. Bob Berg was pledged to an honorary engineering fraternity.

The winter season saw the winning of second-place honors by the chapter in the Winter Snow Carnival for the clever snow statue of Smoe peering over the porch railing—also two very successful social events. One was a Christmas party for eleven orphan boys complete with gifts and Santa Claus and the other a Kiddie Carnival which rivaled any real midway.

During the winter, Delts were very influential on the wrestling mat; Dick Coldren won a varsity letter in his first year of competition in the 175-pound class, and Corky Cornelius went to the finals in the intramural 155-pound division. Dwayne Kazzier led the pledge class winter activities by being elected vice-president of the I-F Pledge Council.

Beta Pi put the emphasis on politics and singing in the spring. Dave Rogers acted as permanent chairman for the all-school mock political convention which featured a talk by Harold Stassen. In the I-M Sing the Delt parody to the tune of "Civilization" won only honorable mention from the judges, but it easily captured first place in the minds of the audience as witnessed by the laughter and tremendous ovation which the chapter received during the singing and at the conclusion.

Southern Division Vice-President WILLIAM ANDREWS crowns MRS. BOB MYATT "Delta Queen of '48" at Duke's spring formal.

Inset: Delt octet at Northwestern which won campus acclaim for harmony and arrangements prepared by HAL ENGER (extreme right), director.

Sports activities were not forgotten, however, and the Day brothers again proved themselves to be two of Northwestern's most valuable athletes as they turned to baseball. Fats was elected most valuable player. The intramural baseball team reached the playoffs but lost out when the star pitcher, Art Marcinkowska, who pitched a one-hitter, was declared ineligible.

The success of the Waa-Mu Show, the annual spring variety show, was due to a great extent to Jack Sinise, stage manager; Dave Rogers, material and talent scout; and John Lagerlof, who in his first year in the show got one of the leads by virtue of his powerful bass voice. Jack has succeeded Dave as talent scout for next year's show.

The spring pledging of the campus honoraries found Pete Clark elected to Deru, senior men's honorary, and Tom Fry to a national accounting honorary.

JOHN KEPLER

Beta Rho—Stanford

Beta Rho Chapter continues to hold outstanding representation in many and varied activities on the Stanford campus. Delt Gus Chavalas leads the way as A.S.S.U., or student body, president.

Ferris Boothe, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, is graduate representative on Stanford's executive committee. Bill Arce serves as Upper Row's representative on this committee. President of the sophomore class is Delt Ted Buttner, while Milt Iverson has been elected to the University's athletic committee. Ted Liljenwall was honored by his election to Tau Beta Pi.

Fourteen Stanford Deltas were awarded varsity letters this year. They are: Ainsley Bell, Dave Field, Ted Liljenwall, and Jack Crahan, football; Gus Chavalas and Milt Iverson, basketball; Ferris Boothe, boxing; Bill Arce, Clyde Dingfelder, and Bob Nava, baseball; George Grimes, track; Don Hester, Jim Bradshaw, and Ed Fenstad, swimming.

George Grimes captained the track team for the '48 season; Bill Arce was elected baseball captain for the '49 season.

JOHN HALL

Beta Tau—Nebraska

Beta Tau's achievements during the 1947-48 term were noteworthy in nearly every phase of activity at the University of Nebraska.

The most outstanding accomplishments were made by Deltas in individual scholarship. In spring honors convocations, Beta Tau had six men on the roster, and five of these men were elected to honorary groups. Howard Teague, a senior in agriculture, was elected to Sigma Xi, ag honorary, and was on the distinguished list of four-year honor students. Edward Bartle was another four-year honor student, becoming a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, business honorary. John Baas, business senior, was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, as well as being on the list of those honored by the University. Lloyd Melick, engineering junior, was active in Sigma Tau, engineering honorary. Robert Dickenson, premed, was chosen by Chi Psi, psychology honorary. Bill Ballew was on the list of those within the upper ten per cent scholastically in the arts and science college.

Perhaps the outstanding individual performance was turned in by Ralph Nelson, law college senior. Ralph was elected Ivy Day orator in all-campus voting. He also emerged victorious from the Moot Court finals, in which he began competition during his freshman year. This feat is one of the most coveted honors in law college.

Delt glory was not confined altogether to scholarship. In intramural athletics, men of Beta Tau walked off with league championships in football, handball, volleyball, and badminton. Delt teams were serious contenders in all intramural sports.

Varsity timbre in Delt ranks was also uncovered. Jim Sharp played left field for the Big Seven champion baseball team. Bill Kane and Gardner Johnson were on varsity football units in spring drills. Norman Anderson is an almost certain member of next year's gymnastic team. Don Stroh earned his third letter in varsity golf this season.

All in all, it has been a good year for Beta Tau, and we are looking forward to a much better year in 1948-49.

RAY VAN NORMAN

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

All-University basketball champions—that was what they called Beta Upsilon this year. After winning the championship from a field of one hundred and six teams, the squad advanced to the MING Festival, where the championship teams from Champaign met the champions from the Navy Pier, Galesburg, and Chicago Medical School branches. Don Miles, Murney Lazier, Bill Reilly, Bob Ferris, Bill Krautheim, Roger Tobin, Julie Rykovich, and Marty Blecker composed one of the smoothest working teams ever seen on this campus.

Intramural managers, Miles and Tobin, led the Beta Upsilon football and soccer teams to division championships this year.

Ed Riehle won the intramural golf championship at the beginning of the school year.

Beta Upsilon's pledges forecast things to come by the way they have entered into campus activities. Bill Beck won his numeral in tumbling and was also initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary fraternity. John Leach and Al Brownfield showed much promise in basketball as they won their numerals in that sport.

Murney Lazier, one of the sparks of last year's football team, is expected to add even more power next year to the Illinois backfield.

The city editor's desk at the Daily Illini is occupied by Delt Bill Peebles, who was recently elected to Sachem, a junior honorary fraternity.

Bob Clapp finished the year as business manager for the Illio, campus yearbook.

The remodeling of the study rooms on the second floor is being undertaken this summer, it was decided at the Alumni Reunion held last spring. R. L. STAHL

Beta Phi—Ohio State

If last year's achievements mean anything, the men of Beta Phi can look forward to participation in a chapter of pre-war standards when we unpack our trunks and suitcases for another year at Ohio State this September.

The end of spring quarter finals brought the usual rash of June weddings. Brothers Abbey, Adams, Costello, E. Lotshaw, and Marinelli were among the newly-weds.

On June 5 about twenty of us journeyed to Bowling Green, Ohio, to welcome Delta Tau into the fold. The installation also provided a good opportunity to meet many alumni.

At our Spring Formal May 14, we surprised our dates with bracelets with the Delt crest attached. Our capable social chairman, Karl Knight, scheduled the Summer Formal for August 14 in Columbus.

During the summer quarter Duke Cooney acted as business manager of the Lantern, student daily.

May Week brought honors to five men from Beta Phi. Dave King and Bruce Paschal were elected to Sphinx, senior men's honorary. King was later chosen president of the group, which is the most coveted activities honorary at Ohio State.

Romophos, the sophomore honorary, "chained" Dan McKinney and Jack McKeown. McKinney was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma earlier in the year. A Lantern article by McKeown won the award for the year's best news story in Ohio college newspapers.

Russ Fling was named secretary-treasurer of Texnikoi, engineering honorary, after being elected to that group. Russ is also a member of Tau Beta Pi.

Other men initiated into honoraries were: Fred Elder and Dean Reemsnyder, Tau Beta Pi; Clyde Benoy, Bob Frazier, Dave Hankins, and Dick Zimmerman, Scabbard and Blade; and Fred Mills, Phi Delta Phi. Zimmerman is the new prexy of the military honorary.

The basketball trophy won winter quarter has been moved over to make room for the runner-up trophy our track squad carried off in the intramural meet.

Come this fall, all eyes will be on Al Hasselo, our All-Ohio end, who will be attempting to jump from the freshmen to the varsity eleven. Al was one of the few freshmen to play in the inter-squad game last spring.

During the past year, Beta Phi initiated twenty-nine men, raising the total number of actives to 114. JACK McKEOWN

Beta Chi—Brown

By placing high in all sports, winning championships in basketball, wrestling, swimming, and horseshoes, Beta Chi won the intramural athletic trophy for the second consecutive year. The race this year was unique in that the top two fraternities were separated from the fifteen other houses by more than one hundred points. Our winning margin over the runner-up Phi Psi's was fourteen points. Over the course of the year the co-operation of the brothers was excellent, owing to the fine efforts of Intramural Manager Frank Newman, who will be back with us for another year.

For next year many members have bought white sweaters with the Greek letters D.T.D. The Fraternity crest will be awarded to the participants in the intramural athletic campaign on a point rating system.

The Brown Delts once again maintain their key position in campus politics and activities. Vince D'Angelo, secretary of the junior class, served as president of Brown Key, the junior honorary society, which included in its membership Ned Barlow, Bill McClellan, and Bob Searles. The Cammarian Club, senior governing board, included Bob Conley and Bob Grant. Graham Micheal and Joe Condon were the Delts chosen for the Vigilante Committee, in charge of freshman hazing. Harold Rickert was elected chairman of the dance committee of the Faunce House Board of Governors, while John Works served as circulation manager of Brunonia magazine. Three Delts, D'Angelo, Conley, and Grant, were elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The chapter also stood out in varsity and freshman sports. McClellan, Searles, Condon, and D'Angelo all played varsity football, while Herb Wiebolt, Jack Murphy, and Gray Michael won their monograms in soccer. The wrestling team featured Dick Ferenbach and Gray Michael, who both sported fine one-lost records. Participants in spring sports were Ned Barlow, baseball, and Gray Michael, track.

Freshman athletic standouts were Ken Holmes, football and basketball; Dave Michael, soccer and captain of the freshman wrestling team; John Petty, soccer; Dave Holmgren, Chuck Whelan, Dave Thurrott, and Lou Anthony, basketball. This freshman basketball team was one of the finest in the history of Brown, losing only three games and beating all opponents at least once.

To round out the chapter athletic record, we add Tom Dorsey and Bruce Remick, playing for the Providence professional football team.

Alumni functions this year included a smoker, featuring movies of the Brown-Rutgers football game, and a banquet in honor of the alumni and the new initiates. The banquet, a steak dinner at the Shelter, was followed by the traditional "Delt Walk-Around," through the house.

Nine men—Fred Brown, Tom Brown, Clayt Burtt, Bob Conley, Bill Cumming, Tom Dorsey, Bruce Dunbar, Jack Murphy, and Glen Stacy—are leaving us through graduation. We of the undergraduates would like to salute them for their fine work during their years as actives and wish them the greatest success in their future as alumni.

GORDON S. MACKLIN, JR.

Beta Psi—Wabash

Beta Psi completed a successful year at Wabash College with the ending of the 1947-48 school session. First and foremost of the happenings of the past year was the celebration of seventy-five years of Delta Tau Delta at Wabash. Alumni came from all over the United States to reminisce and to see the present-day Beta Psi in action.

Several excellent dances were held, among them a pledge dance and a "hobo" dance, both most successful. Beta Psi copped second place in a tough intramural sports contest and second place in the debate contest.

Scholarship is also decidedly on the upswing. Three Delts were elected to the Sphinx Club, an organization of the popular men on campus, and five to Blue Key, another group of top men on campus.

Several pledge parties were held, just before the closing of school, at Turkey Run. Although many good men were graduated, there still remains an excellent nucleus which will carry Beta Psi to the top spot among fraternity chapters at Wabash next year. DAVE HOPKINS

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

With the closing of the spring school session, a quick review shows a year of progress and success for Gamma Beta.

The all-important I.I.T. "Junior Week" was the high point for achievement. The Delts came away with the Interfraternity Sing Cup, the Interfraternity Pageant bearskin, and swamped all opponents in winning the Interfraternity Track Meet cup by compiling more points than the next three contenders combined.

The year has seen Delts with important offices in all school functions. Frank Bagamery headed the IF Council, while "Hap" Howell served as chairman of the IF Awards Committee. Joe Hamilton serves as vice-president of the senior class, while Race Wilt serves as social chairman of the senior class and as president of "Salamander"—fire protection engineering society. Wyatt Coon served as the president of Alpha Chi Sigma, chemical engineering society, while Marshall Newcomb served as secretary. Dick Roberts now is holding the office of sophomore class president. Craig Fenton is presently holding the office of president of Beta Omega Nu, honorary interfraternity fraternity, while "Hap" Howell, Milt Cox, Dick Roberts, and Joe Hamilton are members.

No great stress is placed upon sports at I.I.T., but in the sports offered the Delts are not without due representation. Currently Milt Cox, Walt Conniff, Al Ashurst, and Lee Richards are major letter trackmen and Craig Fenton is a winner of a major letter in baseball.

Since I.I.T. is mainly a "grade-point school," the Delts are proud to have maintained a scholastic average of 1.81, upon a three-point basis. Both the interfraternity and all-school averages fell below this mark with respective 1.52 and 1.43 grade points. Scholastic honors go to Ed Davis who has been voted the outstanding senior mechanical engineer by the Chicago chapter of A.S.M.E. Ed also took second place in the Midwestern A.S.M.E. Undergraduate Research Contest.

We will hate to say goodbye to our six graduating seniors, namely Craig Fenton, Ed Davis, Hank Kudenholt, Frank Lombard, Jack Bever, and Race Wilt. The Fraternity will miss their tireless energies but looks to the future with confidence in its summer rushing program. With the energetic remodeling and redecorating now under way, we hope for yet a finer year ahead. JOHN J. REDDY

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

Dartmouth and Delta Tau Delta will long remember the accomplishments of Gamma Gamma Chapter for 1947-48. Under the newly organized interfraternity competitive system, the Delts are assured of an overall first or second among the twenty-two competing fraternities. The annual plaques will be awarded this October after the points in each competitive division have been compiled. In the individual divisions Gamma Gamma has clinched the Special Events Trophy with a first in both the snow sculpture and the play contest and a second in debate and the sing contest.

the lion's share of credit for the win. Mac, now graduated, will continue his studies at the Yale School of Drama, and it's a sure bet that in a few short years Broadway will be hearing from him. As an undergrad, Bob contributed extensively poetry, essays, and short stories to campus and national literary magazines and has received many prizes in drama.

Ort Hicks led the chapter to a second place in the interfraternity sing contest. His capable direction is only exceeded by his superb arranging, and the job he did on "I Remember You," which brought us runner-up position, will long be remembered. Ort is making a name for himself throughout the Fraternity. His arrangement of the "Delt Marching Song" is currently being used by the brothers at Penn State and Tufts. Ort's further capabilities are illustrated by the fact that he has been elected president of the Dartmouth Glee Club and also serves as vice-president of the chapter.

In the other competitive divisions the Deltas have achieved an enviable standing. In athletics the house is above average, our scholarship standing was second at mid-term, and in the administrative division consisting of social and financial management Gamma Gamma has a perfect score.

In other campus activities the Deltas have won honors, and the prestige of the chapter has been enhanced as a result. Bud Popke serves as the station manager of the Dartmouth Broadcasting System and also is president of the Ivy League Network, comprising the college radio stations of all Ivy League schools.

The new managing editor of Jacko, Dartmouth's college humor magazine, is Pete Smith, who has done very creditable work in maintaining a high place for Dartmouth in this field.

Phil "Red" Brown serves as the political head of the junior class. Besides being a popular and capable class president, Phil plays junior varsity football and is an honor student. He was recently elected to Green Key, junior honorary society, and is a crackerjack rushing chairman for the chapter.

Gamma Gamma's new president, John Dahle, really upset the applecart as far as campus politics at Dartmouth are concerned. Following his election as house president, Johnny was elected vice-president of the interfraternity council, vice-president of the undergraduate council, and chairman of Palaeopitus, the senior executive board of the undergraduate council which is the top campus office. In addition, he became a member of Casque and Gauntlet, senior honorary society, and is an honor student.

Other new chapter officers include Nat Merrill, secretary, who also served as Eastern Division representative on the Undergraduate Committee for the Karnea, and Hank Williams, treasurer, who is largely responsible for our top financial standing.

The Deltas' athletic representation on campus is taking a definite upswing with "Slim" Hintermeister in basketball, Frank Barker and Red Brown in football, Newt Rutter in baseball, "P.B." Worthen in swimming, Bob Stevenson in track, and Jim Meyers in tennis.

In interfraternity track the Deltas fielded a crack relay team which garnered the championship. The winning baton-passers were Johnny Ruhsam, Neil O'Brien, Bob Jones, and Wally Young.

The chapter's social program was very active this spring with a number of guest speakers and a round of buffet suppers each Sunday night. The annual Green Key houseparty week end was termed the most notable in many a year for the Deltas, with a picnic, Vaughn Monroe's music, and informal parties making up the agenda. The spring activities ended with a farewell supper for the graduating seniors here in the Shelter.

Great expectations are held for the coming year despite the loss of many valuable brothers who, besides adding to our trophy case, furthered Gamma Gamma and Delta Tau Delta in service and fellowship.

BILL CONE

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

The past school year proved to be one of Delta Tau's most active and successful years at Wesleyan. An important contribution to campus activity has been the "Delt After Dinner Forum," founded by Chapter Adviser Tom Meeker, '41. Among the speakers presented were: Dr. Wolff Kogun, whose topic was "The Middle East and Power Politics"; Professor Fred Rodell, Yale Law School; and Allen Kline, formerly with the Atomic Energy Division, U. S. Army. The programs were well attended and have opened a new field in fraternity activity at Wesleyan.

In athletics, last fall found Carson Gibb, '48, playing his third year of varsity soccer. During the winter, Herb Hands, '49, won his "W" in fencing, and Dan Rourke, '48, won his letter in squash. This spring, Bill Young and Bill Malamud were on the varsity track team and Walt Gerken pitched for the Wesleyan varsity nine.

The Deltas have been leading the campus in other fields, too, with Dunc Fraser, '49, our president, leading the way. Dunc has been appointed editor-in-chief of the Argus, the school paper, and is chairman of the newly formed College Body Assembly Committee and the Student-Faculty Relations Committee. In recognition of these accomplishments, Dunc was recently tapped for the Mystical Seven, a senior honorary society. Charlie Laufer, '49, is now head of the powerful Christian Association, a position earned by hard work in advancing the CA's objectives.

Bill Young, '50, and Bud Dorsey, '50, have been prominent in theater productions, with Bill Young being appointed as stage manager for the theater's last production, She Stoops to Conquer.

In the class elections Bill Thompson, '48, was chosen secretary of the senior class, while Bill Young received the same position in the class of '50.

In the field of scholastic endeavor only a freshman honor roll has been published, but Deltas have been well represented. Bob Herbert, '51, received a group one rating and Fred Irwin made the second honor roll. Hank McDonald, '51, and Dave McMillan, '51, were in the third honor group.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

Reactivation was the keynote for 1947-48 and Gamma Eta marked its first full year back on the campus of George Washington University with accomplishments and successes in many directions. Starting the year with only seven active members, the chapter now has nineteen active members and four pledges. Two active members received degrees at the May, 1948, convocation—F. Dean Nichols, ex-president of the chapter, and W. H. Fitzgerald.

For maintaining a consistently high average throughout the year, Gamma Eta was awarded the annual Scholarship Cup awarded by the Interfraternity Council.

The chapter was also well represented in various campus activities. Don Myrick was president of both the World Government Seminar and the Interfraternity Pledge Council. John Toomey was soloist with the University Glee Club and member of the staff of the Hatchet, University weekly newspaper. Mac McLernon was a member of the Student Council Elections Committee, and Fitz Fitzgerald served on the three-man editorial board of the Interfraternity Council Handbook staff. Brothers Nichols, Rawlings, Smay, and Uhlinger were elected to membership in Gate and Key, honorary fraternity, and Brothers McLernon, Rawlings, and Smay were tapped for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society.

During the month of April, Gamma Eta participated actively in Greek Week, a program of activities designed to promote co-operation and good feeling among all the fraternities on the campus. At the annual May Day Carnival, which is sponsored by the University for high school graduates in the Greater Washington Area, Gamma Eta Chapter sponsored a pie-throwing contest which was the popular high light of the evening.

On the more serious side, Gamma Eta was honored in being selected to furnish the initiation team for the installation of Delta Sigma Chapter at the University of Maryland on May 23.

Chapter members are frequent attenders at the weekly National Capital Alumni Chapter luncheons which are attended by Deltas from all over the country and which serve as a vital link between Gamma Eta and other Delt chapters. Our sincere thanks go to these alumni and to the field secretaries for their co-operation and interest in the reactivation and furtherance of the activities of Gamma Eta Chapter. We look forward to a full and varied program for the year 1948-49. We are particularly happy that many of these activities will be shared by our new chapter at the University of Maryland.

Gamma Iota—Texas

With the closing of the 1947-48 school year, Gamma Iota looked back upon one of its most successful years. Among the twenty-six fraternities on the Texas campus, Delta Tau Delta placed third in the all-year records in both athletics and scholarship and had more men in key government positions than any other campus organization.

Gamma Iota has its share of varsity athletes and more. Halfback H. K. Allen and Guard Errol Fry were standout members of the varsity football squad, and Sam Rhoades was one of the better scabbacks on the freshman squad. In basketball Vilibry White and Bill Huffman won varsity "T's," with White being tabbed as one of the outstanding defensive performers in the Southwest. Lanky Wilson Taylor was the season's high scorer for a good freshman team. John Robertson had another great track year, being a member of the country's best 440-yard relay team and Southwest Conference champion in the broadjump. Hylmer Karbach was a swimming letterman, being Texas' number one man in the breaststroke event. Two Deltas, Gene Alexander and Buzz Fauntleroy, were members of the six-man varsity cheering squad.

During the last five years Gamma Iota has twice won the all-year intramural trophy; this year she placed third in the final standings. The Deltas won championships in football, track, and both "A" and "B" divisions of basketball, while the swimming team attained runner-up honors and the baseball and soccer teams advanced to the divisional playoffs before being eliminated. Seven of the top fifteen individual athletes were Deltas, with Franklin Pigg finishing a close second far ahead of the remainder of the field.

Delt Fred Chandler served as vice-president of the student body during the fall term, and John Fry was president during the spring semester. Ed Downs capably served as arts and sciences assemblyman during both terms. John Evans was elected commander of the Texas Air Forces Association, while Joe Bruce Cunningham and Meredith Long served as co-chairmen for the successful Campus Chest drive. Frank Sherwood had the unique distinction of serving as chairman of two important campus committees simultaneously. He was in charge of the engineering school's annual Power Show, and chairman of the Sweetheart Entertainment Committee during the University's annual Roundup Celebration.

Delta Tau Delta was third in all-year scholastic standings, well above both the all-University and the all-men's average. This fact can truly be appreciated only when one reads Gamma Iota's number of contributions to the scholastic and professional honorary societies. In law school Neal King and Bob Hobbs are both members of Chancellors, with Hobbs currently maintaining the highest average in law school. Bill West, ex-president of the chapter, was recently elected to Phi Delta Phi.

In business school seven Deltas are members of Delta Sigma Pi. Wolford and Evans, along with George Chandler, are members also of Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary industrial engineering society. In graduate school, Jim Douglas is a member of both Tau Beta Pi and Chi Epsilon, honorary engineering societies. Gamma Iota's lone journalism student, Pinky Quarles, is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, while Tom Romine found time to be an editorial assistant on The Cactus, Texas yearbook, and also to become a member of Pi Tau Sigma, honorary mechanical engineering society.

Clark was recently initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic fraternity. Ed Downs and Mack Reinmuth are members of Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity.

The two outstanding service organizations on the campus are the Cowboys and the Silver Spurs. John Robertson, Fred Chandler, Joe Bruce Cunningham, H. K. Allen, and Bill Herndon are Delt Cowboys, while Silver Spurs enrolls John and Errol Fry, Frank Sherwood, and Bruce Scott. Brothers Pat Baskin and Mack Reinmuth won intramural debating honors. Texas' outstanding varsity debate teams gave letters to Meredith Long and Kleber Miller.

B. W. QUARLES

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Gamma Kappa wound up the spring semester at the University of Missouri with several coveted awards and achievements.

The Walter Williams Award for outstanding achievement in journalism was presented to Bart McDowell in a special ceremony held in the auditorium of the Administration Building. Elected president of the local Stassen for President Club in March, Bart is also busily "politicking" for his candidate around the campus.

Two other Deltas, Kennett Johnson and Jack Vaisey, were recently approved by the Campus Publications Board for managerial positions on the Missouri Student, University newspaper. Kenny was picked for managing editor and Jack was appointed business manager.

Still another Delt, graduating senior Bill Wood, was cited by the School of Journalism's advertising department for the initiative and ingenuity he displayed in publishing and distributing his newspaper, The Wood Job-Appeal. The Job-Appeal is Bill's novel bid for a job with an Eastern advertising agency.

Mel Sheehan, captain of the Missouri track squad and ex-president of the chapter, was one of the seven juniors chosen this year to be a member of the Mystical Seven. Membership in the honor society is based on scholastic achievement, athletic prowess, and campus leadership. Mel has just returned from the Big Seven-Southwest Conference track meet where he took another long step in the direction of the '48 Olympics by winning the discus event with a record-shattering toss of 167 feet, nine inches.

Delt Jack Frier, star first baseman for the University baseball team, brought another athletic captaincy to the house when he was elected captain of the '49 diamond squad at the close of the season this year.

The unsettled condition of world affairs was the cause of some serious thinking on the part of four Deltas this spring. Milton Fitz and Mark Wren accepted reserve commissions in the field artillery, while Gifford Hampshire and Fred Ward were commissioned in the Air Force reserve.

Gamma Kappa's Glee Club received a spur to further efforts when it placed fourth in the interfraternity sing. With practice planned to start a week after the Shelter opens in the fall, the Glee Club claims that it will settle for nothing less than first next year.

The fall semester grade averages arrived at the Shelter recently with Gamma Kappa ranking sixth among the twenty-three organized men's houses on campus. It is hoped that the spring averages will bring the chapter still higher on the honor roll.

Two special annual functions were held this spring, a well attended alumni reunion and the popular Mother's Day at the Shelter. An amusing sidelight on Mother's Day was the birth to Delt, the chapter's mascot, of seven wriggling puppies. The mothers' suggestion that we name the pups for the days of the week has been adopted. MARK P. WREN

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Gamma Lambda has had a rip-roaring year with more than ninety Deltas on the Purdue campus. We have been represented in almost every activity and have had several Deltas who have made names for themselves not only on campus but in the public eye as well. For instance, there were six Deltas in the Purdue Varsity Glee Club, two of whom, Cas Kwasniewski and Bob Tam, often appeared as solists. The Varsity Four—the Delt quartette composed of Ed Easley, Doc Ruggles, Bob Sanford, and Bill Wainwright—were good enough to win themselves the opportunity to compete in the national Barber Shop Quartette contest finals at Oklahoma City.

We have had five members of Gimlet, fraternity men's honorary, two of whom were graduated last February. Our chapter president, Dick Collister, in addition to wearing one of those Gimlet "pots," has handled all the high finances of the Interfraternity Presidents' Council as treasurer of that organization.

This year marked the end of undergraduate day for the largest senior class in the history of Gamma Lambda Chapter. Two of the graduates, Dick Vining and Howard Swick, both of whom were members of Tau Beta Pi, are going on for their master's degrees. Brother "Ted" Chapman completed his studies and was awarded his master's degree in mechanical engineering.

Delta Tau Delta was represented on the Purdue varsity football team by Fred Schimmelpfennig; on the varsity basketball team by LeRoy Brutus; on the swimming team by Leigh Wilson; and in freshman track by Ben Sheaffer.

Gamma Lambda is looking forward to another BIG, though not quite so crowded, year beginning in September. We still have our "shack" in the side yard, though we hope that after another semester or two we can dispense with it.

ROBERT C. SWANSON

Gamma Mu—Washington

Gamma Mu continues to shine on the University of Washington campus in the big three—activities, scholarship, and athletics.

Activity Man Bill Sill, editor of the college humor magazine for the past year, was initiated into two activity honoraries for seniors—Oval Club and Fir Tree. The latter is composed of only twelve men and is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon an undergraduate.

Three Deltas, composing the largest group from any organized house, were selected for membership in Purple Shield, underclassmen's honorary for activities and scholarship. They were Bob Muckelstone, Don Minor, and Dean Minor.

Jim Nelson is the latest to join the "men on the campus" group, being selected to serve as humor editor of next year's college humor magazine. The college yearbook recently published saw Delts holding down five of the twelve editorships.

In the traditional University Sophomore Carnival, the local chapter placed in the winning circles for the third straight year by copping second place with a giant claw machine. The chapter was first in 1946 and 1947. This annual event is "the" event of the year and is entered by all organized houses.

If the number of men elected to honoraries is any indication of things to come, Gamma Mu will be in a strong position to defend its '47 scholastic record of being first among the larger fraternities. Members and their honors are: Miles Rogers, Phi Beta Kappa; Dick Jackman, Kappa Psi; Bruce Sims, El Walls, and Bill Sill, Alpha Delta Sigma; Fred Westrom, Don Minor, and Dean Minor, Zeta Mu Tau; John Corbett, Phi Lambda Upsilon; and Jack Deisher and Bob Milbrad, Compass and Chert.

In sports, two more pledges won frosh numerals. Bob Muckelstone showed well among the swimmers and was one of the few to race in the Olympic tryouts. John Fryers proved to be a consistent point-getter in the hurdles for the frosh Husky cinder squad, having placed lower than second only once during the season.

JIM NELSON

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

A look back at the year 1947-48 causes one to stop and observe the achievements of Gamma Xi's Delts. Ray Wuerth took over the leadership of the Student Council early in January, and thereby became U.C.'s first student. Ray's subsequent pledging of Tau Beta Pi brought his scholastic standing on par with his campus position.

Marcus Nickerson, Delta Kappa graduate and Gamma Xi's house manager this year, acquired the presidency of Omicron Delta Kappa to start the 1948-49 season in good style, while Orville Retzsch became business manager of the campus newspaper, The News Record. Morrie Frost, retiring president of Gamma Xi, also left a fine record as the editor of the magazine Profile, while U.C.'s varsity teams were the beneficiaries of the athletic abilities of Earl Hobb in football and Charles Clickner in basketball. Both of these boys will be back next year. Gamma Xi will be strongly entrenched in the Tribunals next year with representatives in engineering, Blaine Loudin, James Brownell, Ray Schubert, and Richard Reiman; in applied arts, Marcus Nickerson; and in business administration, Orville Retzsch.

The intramural contest this year found the Delts in fourth place, having won the league title in football, volleyball, and bowling, while attaining the playoffs in baseball, swimming, and water basketball. Ray Wuerth and Carl Weisshaar were the right combination to win the championship of badminton doubles.

Pledges James Micheau and Don Francis became wearers of the Golden Square at an initiation on June 13.

The warm Saturday evening May 29 found alums and actives going carnival at the Shelter. Baseball throw, squirt-out-the-candle, nickel-pitch, and hoop-the-bottle, as well as plenty of hot dogs and brockwuest, were enjoyed by all the farmers and farmerettes.

RICHARD REIMAN

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

Delts on the Iowa State campus who have been named to honoraries include President Bill Beckman, Pi Tau Sigma; Jack Hansen, Eta Kappa Nu; Luke Pfiefferberger, Keramos. Prexy Beckman was also elected to serve as treasurer of the interfraternity council. Bud Ostrand was elected treasurer of ISSIE, and Bob McKee is to serve as business manager of the new Science magazine.

Two Delts will be mainstays in the photo department of this year's Bomb. Chuck Vogelgesang, who won an activity "I" for the work he did on last year's publication, will be the head photographer and Jack Hansen will be photo editor. Another "I" award went to Paul Himebaugh for outstanding work on the Iowa Engineer.

Dean Becker will serve as president of the Intramural Association and Bob Meeks was selected to be a cheerleader for the Cyclones.

The Iowa State Delts recently played host to more than thirty alumni for a week end of activity. The alums arrived at the Shelter on Saturday afternoon and evening and were entertained on a picnic, followed by movies depicting campus activities. After this, they were tucked into bed for a night's rest. On Sunday morning, the active chapter prepared a breakfast for the honored guests, after which initiation ceremonies were held. All of this was followed by a banquet in Memorial Union, at which time various chapter awards were presented. Edward Deemer, Iowa State, '11, was the oldest Gamma Pi Delt present, with Dr. C. H. Brown, Connecticut Wesleyan, class of 1897, being the oldest Delt represented. "Snuffy" Smith, Bob Kenworthy, and Alton Erickson were awarded gavels in recognition of their services as past presidents of the chapter.

The old "tin bird," Luscombe NC28701, which represents the entire capital stock of the Deltair's Flying Club, has safely pulled through another year of strenuous activity. After having qualified three Delts, Ted Thomsen, Paul Himebaugh, and Bud Ostrand, for their private licenses, and logging 250 hours of glassy smooth landings (??), the Deltairs are going to retire the ship and purchase a new one. She has served well and borne the Delt crest, which she sports on her door, in gallant style.

LEE ROOSE

Gamma Tau—Kansas

This year, as in the past, Gamma Tau has maintained a high scholastic standing by finishing third among all fraternities on the hill. Along with this noteworthy achievement, it also added the name of Edward Rolf to its long list of Phi Beta Kappa men.

Through the efforts of the entire active chapter and our most interested alumni, the Gamma Tau Shelter will get its first new look since the house was built more than twenty years ago. This summer the entire first floor will be redecorated by Duff & Repp of Kansas City, Missouri. The job will be completed by rush week in the fall and will include everything new from rugs to lights.

The high light on the spring social calendar was our Dad's Week End. Everyone at the Shelter said that our first Annual Dad's Week End went over so well that he wanted one in the fall on a week end of a home football game.

EARL E. ROBERTSON

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

During the past year Gamma Upsilon participated in many and varied activities on the Miami campus. On the social side of the picture the program was highlighted by Homecoming, Mother's Day, and several outstanding dances, such as the Christmas and Spring Formals.

Most of the honorary organizations numbered Delts among their members. Five men—John Pennington, Don Holtzmuller, Fritz Davis, John Robinson, and Bob Culp—made Delta Sigma Pi, business school honorary. Culp also was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, national business honorary. Chapter vice-president Jack Speer is a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa, education honorary, while Jack Thornbury is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary. He is also a member of the M Book and student publication staffs. Tex Friday serves as treasurer of Sigma Gamma Upsilon, geology honorary.

One of the outstanding campus events was the mock Republican National Convention in which Gamma Upsilon, along with Chi Omega Sorority, elected delegates to the convention representing the Ohio delegation. Pledge President Bill Kittredge served as delegation head and nominated Senator Taft during the course of nominating speeches. John Robinson, president of the Cosmopolitan Club, served as head of the Oklahoma delegation which the members of his organization represented.

In the spring campus-wide elections three Delts were elected to positions. John Robinson now heads the University Artist's Series Committee as a member of the Student-Faculty Council; Russ Davies is a member of student union board of control; and Bob Kappes is on the athletic board of control. This past year Charles Bancroft headed the Class of 1950 as president.

Ray Mears won his second letter as a member of the Miami basketball squad, while pitcher Noel Howard annexed his second baseball letter. Bucky Walter returned from service and regained his form as a winning pole vaulter, while Hal Purvis performed on the cross country and track teams. John Lavelle established himself as one of the most promising amateur boxers in southeastern Ohio as he went to the finals of the Dayton Golden Gloves and won two American Legion tournaments at Hamilton. Jack Kuhlman proved to be among the top members of the Miami golf team as he paced the squad to the majority of its victories.

JACK THORNBURY

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

Delta Alpha has enjoyed possibly one of its most successful years. Harold Schultz was elected the outstanding Quartermaster ROTC senior student, and Grant Keener was elected the outstanding NROTC junior student. Bill Dow and Bob Cassingham were initiated into Tau Beta Pi. Bob was doubly honored in that he was elected into Tau Beta Pi as a junior. Dick Barber was elected into Delta Sigma Pi, honorary business fraternity. Grant Keener was editor of the Sooner yearbook. Wendell Cates was elected president of IFC for the year 1948-49. Bill McGehee was elected president of the YMCA for the next school year.

The chapter's activities were climaxed by the Mother's Day week end held during the first week end of May. At that time our annual spring formal was held on Friday night, followed by the arrival of the mothers on Saturday. Our mothers were more than entertained, for during the day Delta Alpha's chorus won the All-University Sing in the fraternity division.

Sunday, the Delts sponsored the first annual all-University church service. The service was conceived and directed by the members of the Mother's Day committee of the chapter. The University has decided to make the service a regular part of the University Mother's Day activities, with the Delts as the ones who will be in charge of the now annual affair at the University.

WILLIAM V. VANHORN

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

The school year of 1947-48 has been a successful one for Delta Beta in many respects. The opportunities for distinction on campus have been numerous. It is hoped that next fall will bring as general a representation in activities as the past year has.

The athletic prowess of the Delts has been proved by the fact that we claim representation on all Tech's athletic teams; there have been five varsity men in the Shelter this year. Tech's head cheerleader is also a Delt.

Chapter distinction has also been attained by our generous representation in class and national honorary fraternities. Such honoraries as Tau Beta Pi, Theta Tau, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Pi Delta Epsilon have tapped a good number of Delts this past year for their outstanding abilities, both in their respective fields and in extracurricular activities.

We have several men who have distinguished themselves in their work on Student Council this past year. One was Publications Committee chairman. The Carnegie Tartan, the school newspaper, will be headed next fall by one of our Delt brothers as editor. The staffs of all publications on campus show an adequate Delt representation.

This past year's Spring Carnival was proof of the Delts' competitive abilities. Two of the four available cups, for winners in the Sweepstakes and the Canoe Tilt, now proudly rest on the mantel at the Shelter.

Though this year did not produce a winner in the annual interfraternity Greek Sing, the Delta Beta singing team did claim permanent possession of the Dean Moor Cup in the singing competition between the W & J, University of Pittsburgh, and Carnegie Tech chapters.

ERNEST E. SANDBERG

Spring once again brought a full slate of activities to the University of South Dakota campus, and, as usual, Delta Gamma led the way in most of the festivities.

In the field of athletics the brothers more than outdid themselves by winning championships in both the interfraternity basketball league and in the all-University track meet. The chapter's baseball entry started slow but came back strong to win four straight games and third place in the league. Harry Carleton and Gordie Ellis once again sparked the varsity golf team and hoped to repeat their last year's domination of the North Central Conference championship meet.

The Delt entry in the annual "Stroller's" vaudeville show proved to be a crowd pleaser and received the judges nod for third place. The act, entitled "Gay Nineties Review," included such numbers as a "Gallagher and Sheehan" barbershop quartet and a can-can.

Brother Delts donned stiff fronts and black ties to escort their dates to the chapter's annual spring formal in the Student Union. After dancing, the couples adjourned for a reception in the Shelter. The event wrote finis to a successful social season.

Improvements at the Shelter have been numerous during the year. New additions included a new radio, kitchen stove, and dining room chairs and new desks, dressers, and chairs for all study rooms. The entire upper stories were repainted, and plans were formulated to redecorate the main floor this summer.

Founders Day, with Gordon Jones, RAINBOW Editor, as honored guest, brought many old friends back to Delta Gamma. Various awards were made to alums and actives alike, with Harold Klostergaard winning the coveted Keyes C. Gaynor award for service to the chapter. "Harry" served as vice-president during the year, president of the interfraternity council, and co-captain of the varsity football team. After the banquet, alums and actives met to discuss plans for making next year a banner year in recognition of Delta Gamma's twenty-fifth anniversary as a Delt chapter.

On Mother's Day Delts halted their last-minute cramming to banquet and entertain one hundred and twenty-five mothers and guests, thus closing the activities of another eventful year. JOHN W. LARSON

Delta Delta—Tennessee

Delta Delta picked up two new trophies to add to its collection, even though we did not fare so well in intramurals, sing, or Carnicus.

The basketball team, which was defeated in the semi-finals of the intramural games, entered the City Recreation League and at the close of the season came home with the League title and the championship trophy. The other trophy came to the chapter via participation in a guinea chase sponsored by the Agricultural College. Pledge Tom Woodard's last words before leaving the "Shelter" were, "I'm going to nab that buzzard." And he did!

Delta Delta has progressed from almost nothing to the position of holding eight major offices on the campus. Last year at this time we had Brother Bob Gilbert as captain of the U-T Band, and Brother M. E. Henegar as captain of Pershing Rifles, a national honorary military organization. However, at the present time we have: Doug Smith, president of Omicron Delta Kappa; Mike Weatherly, president of the Fraternity Relations Board; Joe Washam, president of the Senior Class; James M. Haynes, captain of Pershing Rifles; M. E. Henegar, captain of the U-T Band; Aubrey Tramel, managing editor of the Orange and White, the school paper; and Walker Meacham, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and vice-president of the Association of Collegiate Engineers.

Marshall Hawkins captained the U-T basketball team and sparked it to a successful season. This is the first year that "Hawk" has really been able to come into his own, as heretofore he was understudy to All-America Dick Mehen.

In the absence of a wrestling team here at U-T, Bill McConnell had to employ his grunt-and-groan talents at the Y.M.C.A. Bill lost only one match during the entire season. That one loss, however, was a hard one to take as it cost him the Southern Championship.

While the scholastic record of our chapter as a whole is not exactly breaking records, we do have a couple of members who are doing their share to build it up. Brothers Bob Gilbert and Dick Mearker have recently been initiated into Tau Beta Pi.

Along the leadership line, Brothers Aubrey Tramel and Joe Washam were duly initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, bringing Delta Delta's total membership in that organization to five. BUDDY WEBER

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

Delta Epsilon's record on the Kentucky campus for the school year 1947-48 could hardly be described by any weaker words than exceptional and outstanding. The Delt tradition has been upheld, new achievements have been established, and the coming year offers nothing less than a challenge and a promise of better things to come.

During the year, just about every award offered in competition among the Greeks has either been won or shared by our chapter. If that sounds like idle boasting, perhaps an inventory of the new cups on our mantel will offer affirmation, confirmation, and proof-positive of the truth in these words:

This is the price you pay at Bowling Green for hanging your pin. BILL WAGNER takes his medicine gracefully.

Homecoming Decoration Cup, runner-up trophy for ODK tag sales, winner's cup in the All-Campus Sing (thanks to the untiring efforts of Brothers Joe Young and H. B. Wright), runner-up trophy in intramural wrestling, and first-place float in the May Day Parade.

Of these awards, perhaps the All-Campus Sing trophy gives us the most satisfaction, because winning the Sing has become a tradition for Delta Epsilon, our chorus having won the cup for ten out of the past twelve years.

Scholastically, Delta Epsilon ranks third among the eighteen fraternities on the Kentucky campus. In intramural competition among the fraternities, our chapter was a close contender for the All-Participation Trophy until several unfortunate upsets retarded us in the stretch and left us in fourth position—which, of course, is not bad.

In the way of individual achievement, last year was also memorable for Delta Epsilon. Particularly outstanding among our crop of BMOC's was ex-prexy Joe Young. An ODK man, Joe was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1947-48 and served as president of the Men's Glee Club and vice-president of Phi Mu Alpha, men's musical recognition fraternity. In addition, he was a member of Lamp and Cross, senior men's leadership society, student director of the Agricultural College Men's Glee Club, and of course, the director of Delta Epsilon's winning chorus.

The selection of Hugh Moorhead, Delta Epsilon's president as one of the four undergraduate representatives to the meeting of the Arch Chapter at French Lick, inspired a great deal of satisfaction in local Delt circles and also gave Brother Moorhead (Plato—no less) a much needed opportunity for a vacation from the profound philosophical problems of this crazy world.

Delt man-about-town-and-country-and-campus Wendy Meyers brought honor and glory to our name by merit of his election as the outstanding senior in the College of Education and president of the senior class, to say nothing of his selection for Lamp and Cross and an admirable scholastic record.

And then, there were our brainy engineers—Andy Clark and Bill (Dobbin) McClain—who made our hearts glow by getting the tap for Tau Beta Pi.

Other individual achievements are too numerous to mention, but here are some in brief: Moorhead, Meyers, and Clark, Student Government Association; Bryson, Scabbard and Blade; Patrick, managing editor of the Kentucky yearbook; Bryson, Townes, Usher, Catron, Burke, and Regan, Pershing Rifles; and Clark, Bell, Beck, and Stites, Lances.

CHARLES PATRICK

Delta Zeta—Florida

New heights were reached in scholarship here at Delta Zeta this year. We boast of having 40 per cent of our graduating seniors elected to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity. Those meeting the requirements of being in the upper tenth of their class and having an average of 3.3 or better were Jack Doherty, Sandy Geer, John Forrester, Drew Potter, and Albert Johnston. John, along with Horance Davis, was graduated with high honors in June. Outstanding men such as these gave added emphasis to the expanded scholarship program here at the Shelter.

In addition to this honor, still greater laurels were placed on President Jack Doherty. As a crown to end his college career, Jack was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He was then given an award for recognition of his creative achievements. Jack had previously attained membership in Florida Blue Key and was placed in the Hall of Fame.

Representing the pledge class in scholarship was Al Gamage. Al, hailing from Miami, closed the year with a 4.0 average. In recognition of his abilities, Al was elected president of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman scholastic fraternity.

Topping the list of social events this spring was the annual Spring Frolics. Highlighted by the music of Tex Beneke and his orchestra, the week end was heralded "the best yet." Deltas and their dates whirled through a week end of dances and parties. Beginning with a formal dance in the University gym Friday night featuring the former Glenn Miller band, the calendar of social events continued with a picnic at Lake Wauburg Saturday morning. The chapter then drove to the 400 Club for a semi-formal tea dance in the afternoon. Further dancing to conclude the week end was enjoyed at the Shelter with a pajama dance Saturday night.

The Deltas produced several outstanding varsity lettermen this year. The four Delt "F" men were Tommy Taylor, track; Charlie Earnest, track; Fred Teed, swimming; and Ed Minton, rifle team. The efforts of these men and the chapter resulted in a fifth place position in fraternity intramural standings. Competing against twenty other fraternities, the Deltas carried away championships in table tennis and golf.

DOUGLAS MCKINLEY

Delta Eta—Alabama

"Expansion" is the theme at Delta Eta. At the beginning of the spring quarter, the chapter decided to enlarge. In June the roll was larger than it had ever been in the history of Delta Tau Delta at Alabama. Our pledge class of 33 was the largest on the campus.

New officers were elected in March, and it was largely because of their leadership that this goal was achieved. The chapter is indeed indebted to Don Landgraff, our president; George LeePard, vice-president; Ken Nall, recording secretary; and Joe Booth, corresponding secretary.

Throughout the year Delta Eta was notably represented in University circles. Our float took first prize—a twenty-inch gold trophy cup—in the Homecoming Day parade. And our basketball team took second-place league honors.

Joe Booth was tapped for Pershing Rifles; Jesse Kizzort and John Echols for the Cotillion Club; Bob Blackshear for Phi Delta Kappa; and Bryan Willingham for Rho Alpha Tau.

Paul McKibbin took a very active part in Delta Sigma Pi activities. Ned Folmar, baseball letterman, was initiated into the "A" Club in June.

Our pledge training program, thanks to Don Landgraff, Dick Myers, Paul McKibbin, and Bob Blackshear, was most successful. Other campus fraternities, cognizant of the results we attained, have studied our schedule and modeled their own programs accordingly.

Work in and on the Shelter progressed constantly. Two summer projects—a large cement terrace for outside dancing and a game room in the basement—should be finished for fall rushing. The latter task will be rather difficult, as the cellar must first be excavated.

With our spirit, our increased membership, and our handsome, comfortable house, we should be able to hold Delta Tau Delta in a prominent place at Alabama.

ROBIN CHIVINGTON

Delta Iota—U. C. L. A.

Two major improvements were made in the house itself this last year—the improvements in our backyard and the purchasing of a television set (the first one on the row, incidentally). The greatest addition was the former—the construction of an eight-foot retaining wall around the backyard (to keep the hills of Westwood in their proper places) and the pouring of a cement slab covering the entire backyard area. No amount of praise can express the thanks owed former President Jack Baddeley for his leadership and time spent in this project. Jack played a major part in the backyard improvements, the main part of which took place in the spring semester after he had been graduated.

The chapter was well represented in college athletics this past year with a total of sixteen Deltas gaining new numerals from the schools in football, water polo, swimming, basketball, rugby, and track.

Scholarship seems headed for a better performance this past semester largely due to the work of Bob Frear and his scholarship committee in steering the pledge class through the important task of making their grades for initiation.

And, as always, our ever-faithful mothers' club, under the guidance of Mrs. Horton, has done more than its share in aiding and contributing to the strength of our Fraternity.

The chapter was especially proud to host Brother William "Dutch" Fehring of Purdue, newly added assistant football coach, at a chapter banquet this past semester.

Word must be mentioned of just one of the social events of the last season—the Barbary Coast Dance, which will probably be remembered as the outstanding Delt dance for a long time to come.

As the semester draws to a close, we are sorry to see President John Roesch leave the Shelter, as John has eagerly and conscientiously guided the chapter in his term of office, cut to a semester by graduation. John has won many new friends to the Fraternity by his easy-going manner and pleasing personality.

RONALD HANSEN

Delta Kappa—Duke

During the past year many fine things have happened to Delta Kappa. Among them may be mentioned the fine results of the rush season that netted us an outstanding pledge class. The sterling showing of our athletic teams contributed in no small measure to our getting a strangle hold on Duke's future baseball team and at least an important part of the Duke backfield.

We expect to maintain, and most likely improve, our scholastic standing of sixth out of eighteen fraternities on the campus.

Our alumni committee has been hard at work straightening our files and answering the many replies received from our alumni all over the country. Next year will be dedicated to our alumni and to closer co-operation between them and the chapter.

A special edition of the chapter paper is now in the process of being edited in time to announce the plans for homecoming, which will be the Georgia Tech game this year. This celebration, which in the past has been wanting for lack of Deltas, will be a festive reunion for many of the old grads, if advance communication is correct. We will see you then.

HAL CULBRETH

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

Delta Lambda Chapter started off fall term with an active sports program. In intramural football and basketball we lost only one game during the semi-finals. A last-minute pass broke our perfect football record, and we succumbed to the eventual college champions.

Alongside our athletic program, we instigated a new scholarship program which produced top results. Starting in eleventh place at the beginning of fall term among fraternities of the campus, we advanced to fifth place at the end of fall term and by winter term had climbed to third place.

Prominent campus positions occupied the attention of several members. Fred Zwahlen, '49, was appointed editor of next year's yearbook. Paul Lamb, '50, was treasurer of the sophomore class and John Alexander was appointed entertainment chairman of the Oregon State student body.

In varsity athletics Alex Petersen, '49, forward on Oregon State's conorthern division champion basketball team, copped the highest percentage of shots attempted and made in the nation. Complete season figures revealed that "Pete" bucketed .476 per cent of his basket attempts to win national honors. Phil Peoples, '49, lettered for his third year on the varsity ski team and did outstanding "slats" work in several meets. Frank Myrick, '51, up-and-coming freshman javelin hurler, won his first year numeral in track.

Campus honoraries claimed a good share of Delt men this last year. Phi Tau Sigma claimed Richard Kuhn, Phil Peoples, and Jack Shoemaker. Sigma Tau added Jack Shoemaker and Donald Wooden, and Wooden also entered Tau Beta Pi. Frank Myrick and Don Kistner pledged Alpha Phi Omega. Ed Milne made Sigma Pi Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi and was appointed to the Red Cross Board. Tom McClintock was selected for Phi Kappa Phi, while his brother, Leighton McClintock, was chosen for Phi Lambda Upsilon and Sigma Xi. Blue Key claimed John Alexander and Fred Zwahlen. Scabbard and Blade called Vernon Sheldon, while Masque and Dagger tapped Charles Hess.

The annual Mother's Day at the chapter was unique this year in that Mrs. Christy, our cook, was invited as a special mother and three members arranged and cooked the dinner for eighty-three persons.

TED HAL CARLSON

Delta Mu—Idaho

The first of the year saw Delta Mu off with a good start by pledging eighteen men from all parts of the state. In October Delta Mu won two cups for the homecoming decorations: one for the house decorations, which consisted of a huge twenty-foot record with all past scores and a sign, "Let's go now—break that record"; and one for our Viking float entered in the homecoming parade. In March Delta Mu won its third cup for the year by getting first place in Junior Week. Junior Week consisted of each house's drawing the name of one of the past Presidents and running a campaign for him. The Deltas drew General William H. Harrison.

Delta Mu is proud of three of its members who were initiated into Blue Key: Rolland Tipsword, Maurice Paulsen, and Bob Dahlstrom. Rolland Tipsword and Maurice Paulsen were initiated also into Phi Beta Kappa in May.

The Idaho yell king this past year was our already twice mentioned Rolland Tipsword, from Beecher City, Illinois.

Bob Dahlstrom has served on the ASUI Executive Board. Recent elections brought another Delt to that office, John Morley, who is also captain of the University's golf team.

Gerry Hattrup was the president of Sigma Tau, engineering honorary.

The seventeenth Founders Day Banquet was held in the chapter house May 2.

This summer the Delta Shelter is going to get a new living room rug and some painting.

FRED W. VAN ENGELN

Delta Nu—Lawrence

The buttons on every Delta Nu vest are bursting with pride over the accomplishments of the past year. And well they might, for this has been a great year for the boys from 218 Lawe.

We got the ball rolling last September by doing a slick rushing job. Brothers Burton, Roeder, and Hubers held down varsity positions on the conference champion football squad. Bill Burton was cocaptain of the team and selected all-conference for the second straight year.

Not to be outdone by their brothers on the varsity, Pledges Polivka, Lutz, Fritz, Green, and Wilson played freshman ball. The fitting climax to the fall activity was the successful defense of our prized intramural football trophy. The Deltas took down first place for the eighth consecutive year.

The winter season found us battling for honors in swimming, basketball, volleyball, ping-pong, badminton, handball, and bowling. Delta Nu captured thirds in swimming, badminton, and handball; second in volleyball; and first place in bowling. On the varsity scene John Watson and Bill Hinze won letters for swimming, while Burton and George VanderWeyden received basketball letters. Pledges also took honors in freshman swimming, basketball, and wrestling.

Captained by VanderWeyden, the track squad roster showed Larry Clark, Tom Edgerton, Bill Gillham, and Don Hubers. Managers Wolfe, Boldenweck, and Glosser complete the large representation from Delta Nu on the cinder oval. The house gained a third in the intrafraternity track meet, and then closed the year by taking the baseball championship for its third title in major sports competition.

Most notable of house luminaries this past school year have been Burton, VanderWeyden, and Richard Berman, all elected to Mace and honored by Who's Who. Ed Stanich held the position of sports editor on the school weekly, and has, in turn, handed over his job to Bill Donald for this year. Bob Hanisch is the newly elected business manager of the paper after working with Donald as an apprentice during 1947-48.

The student body presidency was in the very capable hands of Bill Burton, while Edgerton proved to be a terrific homecoming chairman. Chief figure on the council this year is the social chairman, Forrest Grade.

High on our list of important events was the visit of Bishop Hughes to the Delta Shelter. The Central Office favored us with a visit also, Joe Steel giving us some much needed chapter criticism.

Fourteen seniors will not answer the roll call this year, but Delta Nu wishes them success in whatever they do. They have led us to a great year here at Lawrence, and for that we are truly grateful.

EARL GLOSSER

Delta Xi—North Dakota

The Interfraternity Scholarship Award for the highest pledge average was won by Delta Xi the last semester in 1946-47 and the first semester of 1947-48.

Edward K. Hallenberg, one of the founders of Delta Xi Chapter, gives an award each year to the outstanding pledge, judged upon scholarship, personality, and character. This year the Hallenberg Key was presented to Bryce Clinton at the last formal meeting of the year.

On May 29 the Deltas held their annual spring formal at the Grand Forks Country Club. It was preceded by a banquet supper at the Ryan Hotel. At the banquet Ronald Fett, representing the 1948 graduating Deltas, presented the chapter with an electric mantel clock. The graduating Deltas are: Ronald Fett, journalist and retiring editor of the campus paper, The Dakota Student; Donald Stonestrom, engineer and member of Blue Key, Sigma Xi, Sigma Tau, and past president of Delta Xi Chapter; Arthur Huber; D. Henke, B. K. Johnson, and Schalaw.

The Mothers and Wives Club of Delta Xi Chapter held meetings every month on Tuesday afternoons, during which time they mended clothes and sewed on buttons for the fellows living in the house. On May 26, 1948, the Mothers and Wives Club gave a picnic supper for the chapter in Riverside Park of Grand Forks.

LOWELL F. KING

Delta Omicron—Westminster

Delta Omicron of Delta Tau Delta has completed its ninth year on the Westminster College campus with the end of this academic session. It is some twenty years ago, however, since Yorke House, the organization that petitioned Delta Tau Delta for a charter in 1939, was founded. In honor of those men who founded the nucleus for our present organization the chapter is initiating an annual publication which has been aptly named the Delta Yorke. This publication will contain a coverage of the chapter's activities for a year and will be published in the spring at the end of each academic session for the benefit of the alumni and the incoming freshmen.

The 1947-48 year has been a good one for Delta Omicron and has brought about many changes at the Shelter.

During this past year the entire first floor of the house has been redecorated and new furniture purchased. All of this has been possible due to the efforts of the Mothers' Club, the House Corporation, and the chapter. During the summer months a complete face-lifting job has taken place on the exterior of the Shelter and once more our chapter house is second to none on the campus.

This year finds seven men initiated into national honoraries. Bobb Green, this year's editor of the annual, was elected to ODK; Bill Dennis, Dale Haxton, and Carrick White have been initiated into Alpha Psi Omega. Pi Kappa Delta has added Jack McDermott and Bob Lowary to its list, and Gil Murphy and Bob Lowary are in Alpha Phi Omega.

In varsity sports Delta Omicron claims five lettermen. In tennis, Bob Schroeder, this year's president of the sophomore class, lettered for the second time and is coholder of the MCAA doubles championship in tennis. Howie Whiteway and Frosh Jim Moorman lettered in varsity golf, Howie for the second time. The varsity baseball team found two Delts in its lineup, Tuck Gay and Dave McCallum, both of whom lettered.

In intramurals Delta Omicron placed third in the final tabulation in a group of ten organizations.

The Spring Cotillion, which was held in May, brought together quite a few alumni of the chapter for a reunion, and more than a hundred were in attendance for the crowning of the Delt Sweetheart for 1948, Miss Marj Jensen of William Woods College.

Delta Omicron has been active in the field of extracurricular activities. Jake Freiburg, vice-president of the chapter, has served on the student council, and Herb Parsons and John Altheide have been the "wheels" on the Panhel Council. Tom O'Hern is vice-president of the senior class and president of Phi Rho, local premed fraternity. Paul Titus, house president, was selected for the Skulls of Seven, local senior honorary. Bob Lowary has been elected by the publication board to head the annual for next year.

Other activities that have brought honor to the chapter this year include: first prize in the Christmas Decoration Contest, first place in the Carver Invitational Basketball Tournament, first prize in the Homecoming Float Contest, and second in the Homecoming House Decoration Contest.

For the fourth straight year Delta Omicron has been awarded the George H. English Scholarship Trophy for outstanding achievement in scholarship.

GENE GUTGESELL

Delta Pi—U. S. C.

Song-styling brothers of the Delta Pi Chapter bowled over their competition in the S. C. songfest to annex top honors in the sweetheart-song division. The winning arrangement was "Delta Tau Girl" in five-part harmony. Charlie McCarthy, now a married man, led the group of fifteen and was instrumental in attaining the decisive victory.

Bill Shattuck took hold of the reins as president of the chapter for the fall term. Shattuck was initiated in October, 1944, and soon thereafter joined the army. He returned to campus in 1946 and became active in campus activities as well as house affairs. He will take over the position from Jim Wood. Roger Duitsman will serve as vice-president.

Summer parties included a get-together at the beach on the Fourth of July to celebrate the Independence Day. J. M. Moore was the sponsor and will serve next term as social chairman. Rush Chairman Bob Patten also treated the brothers to a few rush parties to inaugurate the fall rushing season.

Tall, unassuming Harry Anderson will be Delta Pi's only representative on the Trojan football squad this season. Harry plays a swashbuckling fullback and will be the man to watch at Troy. Jay Perrin, veteran of many gridiron wars with Jeff Cravath, graduated last June and is now looking for a job.

SIDNEY HOSKINS

Delta Rho—Whitman

After a year of operation both as a colony and as an active chapter, Delta Rho can now look back and survey the progress made. A year ago the chapter was only a plan in the minds of eight men; today it is an active part of Delta Tau Delta and of Whitman College. Whitman College needed Delta Tau Delta, and the reverse relationship was equally true. No finer support could have been given than that received by the new group.

Delta Rho has been active in all phases of college activity. Intramural sports were entered with a spirit that belies the newness of the chapter. While no overwhelming list of victories was piled up, the Delts could always be counted on for a good, keen game. The following year, with gathered experience and greater manpower, should prove to be different.

Interest in school affairs, which has a tendency to lag in these postwar years in most colleges, has been a much-talked of and pushed factor in the chapter's make-up. Manifestation of this interest is being realized through the Interfraternity Council and the All-Men's Council. Both these groups are headed by Delts: Roy Nilson is president of the Interfraternity Council, and Ray Haman is president of the All-Men's Council.

Delts have won respect and honors at Whitman during the last year. Tapped for the Knights, sophomore men's honorary, were Paul Hoerlein and Ray Haman. Roy Nilson was tapped for the Order of Waiilatpu, the senior men's honorary. Charles Daiger was named a Great Greek, and other men active in school affairs are Art DeBoer, Student Spirit Committee; Tom Eckstrand, Pacific Northwest College Conference Publicity; and Jake Van House, voted outstanding performance in sophomore play.

The chapter has made a name on the campus for unusual firesides and parties. In the fall, Roy Peringer, able hunter as well as scholar, killed a huge elk. A group of pledges returned with Roy to the scene of the killing and dragged the elk out through nearly inaccessible and snow-covered mountains. To celebrate the victory, a large elk-fry was held, and elk steaks cooked over a barbecue pit were very tasty. The party will be long remembered.

A piano presented to the chapter on the night of the installation by Bob Greene and the Spokane Alumni Association has been in constant use since its arrival. The piano came just at the time of Choral Contest rehearsals and was a definite advantage at that time.

The boys have been kept busy serenading since the installation. It seems a few pins fell, and a few went even a step further and became engaged. Delta Rho has started a new serenading custom at Whitman. There were a great many disappointed Delts from Idaho, Oregon, Oregon State, and Washington when the serenade the night of the installation ball failed to bring any return song from the girls. This has been the custom at the college, but this fact was hard to explain. The boys who were here that night, however, should be happy to learn that the girls now sing a return song—a Delta Rho innovation.

Three Delts—Roy Peringer, Bob Johnson, and Art DeBoer—turned out for varsity football, and Lee Wiegardt represented us on the varsity track team. From the appearance of spring football turnout, however, there will be more Delts on the team next fall. Roy Peringer played most of the season until he was forced out of varsity ball by injuries. He then took over the job of coaching the intramural squad.

High lights of the year were the pledge dance, with programs and decorations designed and executed by a very talented

THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS

Akron

At the monthly meeting on May 20, Brother Walter Frye, Wooster, '09, who was elected president of the Izaak Walton League of America for this year, gave a very illuminating talk on the activities of the League. For those of us who thought the Izaak Walton League was devoted to ferreting out the secrets of fishing, we were quite surprised to learn that their primary interest is in conservation.

We were sorry to learn at this meeting that our secretary, William McIlwain, Kenyon, '33, was being transferred to assume greater responsibilities at the Quaker Oats plants in Rockford, Illinois. Brother John Favorite, Purdue, '38, was elected to fill the unexpired term.

The installation of the new chapter on June 6, at Bowling Green State University, was attended by Brothers Walter Frye, William McIlwain, Albert Kelly, and Dr. L. P. Carabelli, president of the Akron Alumni Chapter. All the brothers were impressed by the installation ceremonies and the fine chapter which has joined the Fraternity.

W. H. "Buds" Edmunds, Ohio, '28, convention chairman of the National Industrial Recreation Association recently in session in Akron, was elected vice-president of the association.

The speaker at the June monthly meeting on June 16 was Brother Ray Finley, Iowa, '28, who was chairman of the Stassen for President Club in the Nineteenth Congressional District of Ohio. Brother Finley was a classmate of Stassen in law school at the University of Minnesota. He gave a very interesting talk on Stassen, the man. From his own personal experience he was able to tell many items of interest about Stassen. Brother Finley was to attend the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia to work for Stassen.

Brother E. C. Stopher, Wabash, '06, Registrar at Kent State University, died on June 17. His passing is deeply regretted by his many friends and is a great loss to the Fraternity. One of his remaining desires was to see a Delta Tau Delta chapter installed at Kent State University, which at present has no national fraternities. He leaves his two sons, one of whom, Robert Stopher, Wabash, '29, is a member of the local alumni chapter.

No meetings are planned for the months of July and August. The monthly meetings are planned to be resumed in September with a grand party at the Fairlawn Country Club.

A meeting of the Ashtabula County Alumni Chapter was held at Cleveland Inn, Geneva-on-the-Lake, Friday, May 28, with twenty-four members in attendance.

At the business meeting officers were elected as follows to serve during the coming year: Ray St. John, president; George E. Maynard, vice-president; and Richard Baldwin, secretary-treasurer. Madison J. Humphrey was elected as delegate to the Karnea, and all members were urged to attend the installation of Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green University, June 5 and 6.

Vice-President Maynard was appointed

A Word from Walling

A request to undergraduate chapters for names and addresses of their graduating seniors is the first step in a comprehensive plan to notify alumni chapters and groups of recent

Delt graduates, who intend to reside permanently in their respective communities, and to ask that they be invited to join and made to feel welcome and at home in their new alumni relationship.

It is our hopeful expectation that this plan may be carried out promptly and thoroughly, while the enthusiasm and interest which these young Deltas have for the Fraternity are at a high level and which we sincerely hope will carry over into their postcollege years.

It is part of a Delt's obligation after leaving college to hold firmly to his interest and loyalty to the Fraternity. He has the opportunity to do this and to give the "extra mile" by becoming a member of some alumni group and taking a vital interest in its affairs, future plans, and aspirations. In this way he can continue always to be active, loyal, and genuinely helpful to his Fraternity.

The close fellowship which these graduates have enjoyed as Deltas in an undergraduate chapter should, upon its termination, mark the beginning of a most pleasant and delightful experience for them as alumni of Delta Tau Delta.

Delt alumni are anxious to welcome these young men into their organized groups, and are doing so, but they can do a much better job if the undergraduate chapters will appreciate their responsibility by promptly sending the names and new addresses of their graduating members to the Secretary of Alumni.

Let's make this wide-range plan work on a 100 per cent basis! Forward the information about the seniors who were graduated in June and also those who are to be graduated at the end of the summer session! As names are received, the president or secretary of the alumni group nearest the homes of the new alumni will get in touch with them, inviting each one to come to the next chapter affair, asking him to join, and doing everything possible to make him feel welcome and at home in their local group.

The alumni of Delta Tau Delta invite our young graduates to lend their enthusiasm and strength by entering into alumni affairs and activities. Their opportunities to promote its objectives and those of the national Fraternity will be even greater in the years ahead than they were during the brief period they were privileged to be undergraduates.

chairman of our next meeting scheduled for August 6, with William Gallt as co-chairman. This is to be our summer rushing meeting, and it should be particularly worth while.

DICK BALDWIN

Atlanta

The monthly business meetings for the past quarter of the Atlanta Alumni Chapter have been held at the residences of members. Following the business sessions of each meeting, everyone enjoys refreshments, cards, and fraternal fellowship.

The new officers elected to serve a one-year term which began May 1, are: president, King Grant; vice-president, Edmund Phillips; treasurer, Johnny Sena; corresponding secretary, Fred Dendy, Jr.; recording secretary, Barney Carnes; publicity secretary, George Goodwin. The retiring president, William B. Spann, Jr., was very highly commended for his excellent leadership and organization of the group during his term of office.

In May, an outing was held at the Horse Show Club House, North Fulton Park. Eighty-five actives and alumni attended. The fine attendance included sixteen brothers from Beta Delta (Georgia). Golf, tennis, swimming, and riding preceded a swell feed and the usual tall tales resulting from the day's events. The outing was very much enjoyed by everyone, and it was virtually agreed that a similar event would be planned for next year.

George Goodwin, W & L, recently elected publicity secretary, has heaped more fame on the name of Delta Tau Delta. George's exceptionally fine reporting of the Telfair County vote frauds in Georgia resulted in his winning three awards, any one of which would gladden the heart of any newspaperman. The foremost of these awards was the Pulitzer prize for local reporting. In addition, he was awarded first place by the Georgia Associated Press Association for his work. He also walked off with Sigma Delta Chi's (national journalism fraternity) Distinguished Service Award. If there are any future awards for reporting to be made, George's address will be furnished upon request!

We are planning a party for this fall to include the ladies; so all you brothers who have not been coming around to the meetings, please plan to attend the next one. If you have not been receiving notices of the meetings, please mail your name, address, class, and school to 99 Peachtree Hills Avenue, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia.

FRED H. DENDY, JR.

Boston

Because of conflicting dates on several occasions, the planned annual meeting of the Boston Alumni Chapter at Beta Mu Shelter has been deferred to early fall.

The Boston weekly luncheons at Patten's Restaurant will continue throughout the summer.

Attendance has been from six to sixteen weekly and plans are being made to increase attendance in the fall.

If you are in Boston on Thursday noon, be sure to visit us! DUNCAN NEWELL

Chicago

For the past few months the chapter has had speakers at the luncheon falling on the second Monday of the month, the idea being to offer brief, informative talks on subjects of interest to Deltas. At the last "Second Monday" Jack White, Lawrence, '41, who is Dean of Students at Illinois Tech, told us a lot about the rejuvenation of the old Armour Institute and how well the fraternity system is working there. Previously, Charlie Axelson, Chicago, '07, had told us about the University out at the Midway and the sad state of the fraternities there. Dick Hackenberg, Northwestern, '29, sports editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, will give us the lowdown on sports on the second Monday in July.

The dreary drizzle of Thursday, June 17, nearly ruined our Golf Tournament. Only a few hardy golfers participated in the play, but more came for the excellent roast beef dinner at the Northwestern University Golf Club and the after-dinner period was devoted to a lively mathematical argument. George Sando and the secretary were heaviest (no pun!) contributors.

Everyone will regret the loss of our good-looking young treasurer, Bob Wilson, Lawrence, '46, who is leaving to assist the secretary of the chamber of commerce in Appleton, the seat of his alma mater. We all wish Bob even more success than the several other Deltas who have gone on to fame and glory from the same job. Jack West, DePauw, '38, ex-president of the alumni chapter, has consented to pinch hit for Bob during the remainder of his term.

A. B. Walling, Ohio State, '11, Alumni Secretary of the Fraternity, gave us an enthusiastic report on the installation of Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green, Ohio. "Bunker" Bean was a visitor at the commencement exercises of his alma mater, Ohio University; "Port" Arthur, Illinois, '08, and Blake Hooper, Illinois Tech, '07, report enjoyable visits at Urbana, where Blake attended the graduation of his daughter.

For the next "Second Monday" all new Delt graduates who are now living in the Chicago area are being specially invited. We are making a special effort to get the names and addresses of these new alumni and hope to have a large delegation who will all become active members of the Chicago Alumni Chapter.

C. C. BEAN

Cincinnati

Since our last RAINBOW report, our Cincinnati alumni have held several highly successful social gatherings at which many Delt alumni have enjoyed renewing Delt friendships. Early in April our first annual Delta Carlo Party was held. A "Gay Nineties" motif prevailed, and about one hundred fifty Deltas feasted at an excellent buffet dinner, enjoyed refreshments of all descriptions, and spent the evening trying to win a fortune in thousands of stage money dollars. The high point of the evening occurred when Bob Heuck assumed the role of auctioneer and ably disposed of many valuable articles for bundles of "spurious currency." Bob Zinkhon, Bob Heuck, and their committee did a marvelous job in making this annual party one long to be remembered by all in attendance.

On June 29 Dr. Howard Fischbach was host to our group. Swimming, cards, refreshments, and a short business meeting comprised the evening's activities. At this time, recent Delt graduates were welcomed into the organization. We hope these men continue to maintain an active interest in Delta Tau Delta by participating in the activities of our alumni club.

At our monthly meetings in April and May, we were the guests of Herb Schroth and Bob Heuck. As usual, our social chairman, Frank Fielman, provided ample food and refreshments for all.

We would like to see more of you Deltas at our gatherings. Did you know we boast of a membership of 305? There are a number of you Deltas living in the Cincinnati area who are not on our membership roles; so how about dropping around to our weekly luncheons at the Cincinnati Club each Tuesday? If that is impossible, send a note to Art Jacobs, 1915 Carew Tower, and we'll see that our notices are coming your way.

Columbus

On Friday, June 11, 1948, the Columbus Alumni Chapter held a special luncheon at the University Club in honor of Bishop

H. Lester Smith, Allegheny, '05, who is retiring as Bishop for Ohio.

Approximately forty Columbus Deltas were in attendance. Charlie Flick, Allegheny, '15, was toastmaster.

Bishop Smith has been a Delt for forty-eight years and has served his church and his Fraternity from coast to coast and in many foreign countries. His last foreign assignment was a sojourn in India. While there he contracted malaria and dengue fever twenty-two times. Complete recovery was possible only by leaving India, and this he did after four years.

A scroll was presented to the Bishop by the Columbus Alumni Chapter in appreciation of his intense interest and loyalty in our alumni organization.

The scroll was presented by Charlie Flick, who stated that the purpose thereof was "to convey to the Bishop, in a humble way, a token of appreciation, the intrinsic value of which is infinitesimal, but a token which carries with it the love and loyalty and devotion to this man who has made our Fraternity, by his example, a living source of inspiration."

Greater New York

Here is the way the Greater New York Alumni Chapter goes about the business of summer activities: At our May 12 luncheon a small group briefly mentioned that we should reinstate our custom of annual summer outings which had been discontinued because of the war. At our June 9 meeting we decided we would have an outing, and on June 30, a fine group of New York Deltas got together at the Bonnie Briar Country Club, where we had one of the finest times to date.

The scene was the beautiful Westchester area of Larchmont. Bill Hyatt, a member of the club, arranged for us to have the freedom of a fine golf course, swimming pool, and tennis courts. We won't discourse on the sunburn, aching muscles, and blood-shot eyes which the following day brought forth, but we certainly know that everyone who attended had a most wonderful time and enjoyed himself to the fullest.

The evening carried through to a most successful closing with a delicious roast beef dinner. We had a number of prizes, donated by Bill Cecil, Jim Pearson, Ed Dudley, and others, which also helped to make the affair a rousing good party.

Our Karnea delegates have not as yet reported to us formally, since no meetings were scheduled during the summer, but we understand they surely were made welcome and were indeed sorry to see the closing session roll around. Dave Reeder, Omega, '12, Eastern Division Vice-President, and A. Bruce Bielaski, Gamma Eta, '04, committeeman of the Distinguished Service Chapter, were our two New York official representatives. We really don't know yet how many of our members actually attended, but at the close of the regular season meetings, it seemed as though the New York chapter would have quite a representation.

At our May 12 meeting we elected our new slate of officers for the coming season's meetings. John T. Robinson, Rho, '43, received the well-deserved spot of president for the new term, moving up from last year's position of vice-president. Charles Keyser, Omega, '31, was elected to the post of first vice-president from his former position of at least two terms as one of the hardest working treasurers we have ever had. Our most surprised new officer was Cal Sinclair, Omega, '28, who as a member of the nomination committee did not realize that he had been chosen for the position of second vice-president. Cal is the fellow who developed the Downtown Lunches into the success they have been. Franz A. Fideli, Rho, '43, and yours truly, remains as secretary and the self-imposed title of Editor of the Metropolitan Delt follows along. To the unenviable position of certain headaches, E. G. Dudley, Delta, '18, was elected treasurer. To show us he could start the year before it really ended, at the June 9 meeting Ed collected at least four dues payment in advance for the '48-'49 season.

Our June meeting was enhanced by the presence of one of our best loved and most devoted members, Ernest C. Hunt, direct descendant of one of the founders of our Fraternity. We were all glad to see Brother Hunt back in circulation and hope to have him at more of our meetings next season.

There really is a lot more information we could give you, but we want to read the other chapters' news. How about some of you less active members coming out to our meetings and getting the information firsthand.

Houston

The luncheons being held the second Friday of each month at the Houston Club are becoming more and more popular with Houston alumni. Each month the attendance has increased until it may become necessary to take over the main dining room of this spacious club located in the Commerce Building in downtown Houston. We expect an exceptionally large turnout at the September luncheon on the tenth, at which time we'll get a report from our delegates to the Karnea at French Lick, Indiana.

Jim Douglas, Sr., engineer with the State Highway Department, attended his first luncheon in June and has been in regular attendance since then. His Delt son, Jim, Jr., is an instructor at the University of Texas.

An Iris boutonniere to Paul A. Langford, who hasn't missed a meeting since the reorganization. He is a leading lawyer with the firm of Baker, Botts, Andrews and Parish in the Esperson Building. Dr. Alfred E. Diggle has missed only one meeting, which is really surprising as he has one of the largest dental practices in the city. His office is in the Second National Bank Building.

Oilman Jim Noel, of Midland, Texas, spent two weeks in Houston recently renewing acquaintances. Prior to wartime service in the Marine Corps, Noel lived in Houston where he was well known in oil circles as an up-and-coming young executive of the Atlantic Refining Company.

Morris "Hank" Schrader, who owns his own directional drilling company in Liberty, Texas, was in a serious automobile accident on the Beaumont highway recently. He suffered a broken jaw and nose and lost some teeth, but, thanks to modern plastic surgery, he's been promised a better looking map than the original. But for a while his face looked like Texas on the "Texas Brags" maps.

Friends of Robert N. Dumble, Jr., are pleased that he has moved recently to a house down on the Bay. They say he won't become lonesome as they will help him enjoy the cool breezes that frequent the bay shores and never seem to get into Houston.

William D. Gentry, Jr., camera enthusiast, has recently gone into business here and is associated with the Main Camera Exchange.

HIRST SUFFIELD

Kansas City

According to the spring elections of the Jackson County Medical Society, that group will be well represented during the ensuing year by Kansas City Deltas. Dr. Carl Ferris, Gamma Tau, became president, and Dr. Kenneth Cox, Gamma Tau, became secretary. Members of the House of Delegates of the Missouri State Medical Association include Dr. Victor Buhler, Gamma Tau, Dr. Donald Coburn, Gamma Chi, and Dr. George Thiele, Gamma Tau.

The annual alumni rush party for the benefit of the active chapters is set for July 10 at Charlie Daniel's home on the shore of Lake Latawana.

The Karnea delegates to represent Kansas City at French Lick are Milt Tainter, Gamma Theta, and Ralph Hedges, Gamma Tau.

The Thursday noon luncheons continue to grow in attendance and are attracting more of the younger Delt alumni. The members of the alumni chapter extend especially to those recent graduates who intend to live in the Kansas City area a cordial invitation to join us in our various luncheons and other activities.

TOM CARR

Lansing

Scientists who have long studied the problem of transmutation of the elements should come to Lansing. Begin with an assembly of Deltas, ranging from six to sixteen in number, and you can see this body transform itself from the Lansing Alumni Chapter to the Iota House Corporation and back again with astonishing ease. The adaptability of these two organizations is the envy of parliamentarians everywhere.

The main business of the Lansing Alumni Chapter has been to oversee the operation of Iota Chapter, with housing and finances naturally receiving the most attention. The house corporation has been the instrument for carrying out the recommendations of the alumni chapter; hence the close relationship described above.

Both Iota Chapter and the house corporation ended the 1947-48 school year in a favorable financial condition. Despite high prices which cut estimated profits, both groups are definitely in the black. After consultation with Mr. Hugh Shields at the time of the Northern Division Conference, it was decided that no major financial commitments should be made in behalf of Iota Chapter in the near future. However, the lease on the chapter house in East Lansing has been extended three years, to run until September, 1952.

The alumni chapter acted as cohost with Iota Chapter to the Northern Division Conference, held in Lansing on April 9 and 10. The collaboration—with the alumni doing the planning and the undergraduates doing the work—was, to all appearances, successful.

The Lansing Alumni Chapter wishes to extend a welcome to any new alumni Deltas who may be settling in the Lansing area.

T. R. KENNEDY

Lexington

Quite a few Deltas in the Blue Grass, in addition to actives from Delta Epsilon Chapter, have been trying to work out plans to participate in the coming big gathering at French Lick, the nearest Karnea to Lexington that has ever been held.

Among the members of the Lexington Alumni Club definitely expecting to attend are Jim Shropshire, alumni adviser of Delta Epsilon and a member of the Karnea General Committee, and Russ Lutes and J. D. Davis, designated to share the role of official delegate from the local alumni group.

They are hopeful of meeting at the Karnea many other Delta Epsilon alumni, for one reason to talk up a special reunion of men from the Kentucky chapter.

A couple of the charter members have suggested the event be scheduled for next May in Lexington, observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of the installation of Delta Epsilon Chapter on the University of Kentucky campus, with the hope that most of the charter group can arrange to be present for that occasion.

Many Deltas were in attendance at the U. K. Alumni Association's annual banquet here late in May to join in the applause when Delt John Bullock, a Cincinnati lawyer, was introduced as the association's new president, chosen by a mail vote of former U. K. students in all parts of the country.

Bob Odear was out of town for about a month early in the summer, having made an extensive tour out of his trip with the "missus" to the West Coast for the international convention of Kiwanis. Bob is president of the local club. William Patterson of Detroit was out for several local alumni meetings during the spring, having been back in the old home town while recovering from a broken leg suffered in a fall. Dr. Jack Floyd hardly stayed around town long enough to get acquainted again before he accepted a place as chief surgeon at the hospital in Jenkins, Kentucky, where he'll be able to keep an eye on Carlos Snapp. Ned Turnbull was laid up for a few weeks by illness, but he is on the mend again.

Alumni from out of town who returned for Delta Epsilon's annual Founders Day banquet in May were Captain Bob Welch of Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio; Johnny

Bill McWhorter and Jack McNeal, both of Ashland; Robertson Kagin and Ben Fowler, both of Frankfort; Paul Combs, Hazard; Bill Fulton, Louisville, and Kenny Rush, Hamilton, Ohio.

Members of the Lexington Alumni Club attending included Jim Shropshire, Ned Turnbull, W. E. Davis, Bill Bryson, Jim Richardson, Bill Ogden, Carrick Shropshire, J. B. Faulconer, Bruce Davis, Elliott Peel, J. D. Davis, Tom Sawyer, Bill Haag, Dan Fowler, Coleman Smith, Russ Lutes, and Chuck Bohmer.

LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE

Long Beach

Outlining a proposed summer rushing program for Long Beach alumni at the Officers Town Club on June 21 at the monthly Delt alumni meeting, Victor Mingers urged a combination of vocational guidance and rushing. John Stevenson and John Blanchard of the Delta Iota rushing committee, U. C. L. A., suggested several aids in this rushing program. Weir Pearson mentioned five promising young men residing in San Pedro who were prospective rushees, and eight prospective rushees residing in Long Beach and vicinity were mentioned by William Deatherage, Dr. George Hansen, Robert Taplin, Charles Wardman, and John K. Hull.

Each person named was assigned to an alum for personal contact for a rushing party to be held July 20. Edwin Thomas and Floyd Vinson were named cochairmen to organize attendance at this party.

On July 20, thirty-three Delt alums and nineteen prospective rushees met at the residence of Brother Paul Hiller in Miraleste, Palos Verdes Estates. By prearranged plan, each Delt alum met and talked with each prospective rushee. Many of the guests indicated their interest in Delta Tau Delta and their desire to be rushed by the active chapters in the fall. Bob Taplin spoke briefly of the history of Delta Tau Delta, and John Blanchard and John Stevenson explained the present standing of Delt chapters at U. C. L. A., U. S. C., Stanford, and U. of California. Long Beach Alumni President William Deatherage outlined proposed fraternity expansion plans, with particular reference to Long Beach alumni expansion. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hiller for their courtesy in opening their residence to the Delt alumni for their rushing party. The members voted unanimously to make the summer rushing party an annual event for the Long Beach alumni.

FLOYD VINSON

Los Angeles

Summer activity of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has slackened somewhat, due to vacations and general apathy which develops when the mercury marches upward, but plans are being made for the forthcoming Summer-Jinx which will be held at Verdugo Park in Glendale late in August. Under the capable direction of Bob Winegardner, UCLA, and Bob Meyer, USC, plans are being formulated for the biggest-ever Jinx yet held, with actives from UCLA, SC, Stanford, and California participating along with rushees and alumni members.

What with bigger attendance each year, the Jinx is fast becoming one of the most successful events staged by the alumni association.

In one of the first moves made in the past ten years, the alumni chapter has changed the scene of its luncheons from the University Club to Clifton's Cafeteria, and as a result, attendance has increased from an average of twenty to more than thirty-five. Although the place does not have the "class" of the University Club, prices are considerably cheaper, which has proved a magnet for the younger members—which was what the association wanted.

Plans are under way for a greater participation in the activities of the two local chapters in the fall. A list of likely candidates for rushing at the opening of school in September is being compiled, and a concerted effort will be made to assist the active chapters in every manner possible. Several meetings for the alumni chapter, to be held at the chapter houses at SC and UCLA, have been scheduled, and active participation in some of the dances this fall is planned.

Both UCLA and SC chapters have enjoyed a wonderful school year, with the former participating in campus activities ranging from football to the slickest dance staged by any house on the campus. At the University of Southern California, Delta Pi won the Interfraternity Sing, Paul Carter won the Intercollegiate Golf championship of the Pacific Coast, while Tom Kipp was one of the star pitchers on the SC baseball team which just concluded winning the NCAA baseball championship of the United States.

Elected to serve as official delegates to the Fifty-ninth Karnea were Dan Ferguson, President of the Western Division, and John Mudge, Iowa State; elected as alternates were Charles Koehler, Stanford, and Carl Jessen, Indiana. All four of these representatives will probably attend, as well as actives from UCLA and SC and some five or six from the local chapter at California at Santa Barbara, Sigma Alpha Kappa, who are hot on the trail of a charter.

Continued meetings on the first Thursday night of each month at Taix French Restaurant are still popular, with many members unable to attend the weekly luncheons being regulars at the monthly night dinners. At the last one held, the alumni chapter was happy to have as its guest speaker, "Dutch" Fehring, popular assistant football coach at UCLA. "Dutch," who made a host of friends that night, is a graduate of Purdue, and before coming to UCLA served as line coach at the University of Oklahoma for two years.

For those who find themselves in Los Angeles this summer, do not hesitate to drop in on the gang at Clifton's Cafeteria on Tuesday noon. You will be more than welcome and will undoubtedly find someone from your own chapter, as there are representatives from almost every chapter in the Fraternity.

Considerable spirit is being developed here over the coming Karnea, and it would not surprise us at all to see quite a few members of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta among those present.

In the meantime, Happy Karnea to everybody, and may it be the biggest yet held!

National Capital

As scheduled, the Delts in the Washington area held their annual Founders Day Banquet on April 9 at the National Press Club. It was a huge success, having in attendance about 230. Les Arries, president of the Washington Touchdown Club, was a fine toastmaster, and we had a number of Senators and Congressmen at the speakers' table.

Among the outstanding speeches was the most unusual one given by Congressman Dewey Short, which rather startled his audience. Immediately succeeding Dewey was a fine talk by Senator Jenner from Indiana. After the dinner, an old-fashioned song fest was held, which lasted quite late.

During the last few months, Dick Daniels and his committee had been working like Trojans on the new group at Maryland. Their efforts and those of others were finally rewarded with approval by the Arch Chapter, and then came the dance, installation, and banquet on May 22 and 23 at the University of Maryland.

We had a tremendous turnout for the installation and banquet, closely approaching 250 Delts, guests, and of course, "Curley" Byrd, president of the University, who so materially helped to make the installation of the new chapter, Delta Sigma, possible. I am sure that all present realized what a magnificent overture it was for Curley to go all out for our new boys at Maryland. Seldom has such interest been shown by any college president toward a petitioning group and a national fraternity.

Preceding the banquet, thrown by "Curley" Byrd, the new boys were initiated in two groups, and the very impressive ceremonies were witnessed by a large number of Washington Delts. The initiating team was comprised of Lowell Moran, Bob Cochran, Lyman Tucker, Wilmot Fitzgerald, Percy Uhlinger, Charles Smay, and Joe Rawlings, of George Washington, and Hugh Shields, our Executive Vice-President. I am sure that even though many years have passed for most of us, we all remembered with pride our own initiation when we were college boys.

Dick Daniels was the toastmaster at the banquet, and among those at the speakers' table were "Curley" Byrd, Herb McCracken, Branch Rickey, Colonel "Swede" Eppley, Bump Watkins, Charles Pearson, Francis Patton, Dell Floyd, and Don Kennedy. "Curley" Byrd gave a fine talk and reminisced a good deal about Maryland, "Swede" Eppley, and Bump Watkins.

Then came one of the most inspiring talks by Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who held his audience spellbound for a long while. His advice to the young men was well worth while and appreciated. We all hope that Branch Rickey will visit us again soon.

During the past season we have had our luncheons at Bonats, now discontinued until September, and all have been well attended. At our last luncheon we were fortunate in having the two boys from Maryland who are soon to leave for the Olympic games, and whose story appears in this issue of THE RAINBOW.

Our final summer outing is to be held again at Rollingwood in Rock Creek, on September 16. Among other activities will be our annual baseball game at which the out-of-town alumni hope to avenge their defeat of last year with the aid of the Maryland boys. We hope for a larger turnout than last year, and it will be a regular Delt party.

Plans are being made for the Karnea at French Lick in August, and many Washington Delts hope to make it this year. The writer hopes to see many of the Cincinnati alumni at what promises to be the best Karnea of all.

BOB VAN SICKLER

Pittsburgh

The Fifty-ninth Karnea marks the close of another year's activity for the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter. It was a busy year. A lot of good Delts did a lot of hard work to make it so.

We are all ready for the coming one, too. As usual, Pittsburgh was well represented at the Karnea, and the enthusiasm of the returning delegates has been instilled in every one who has heard their report.

There are a lot of Delts in this bailiwick. Central Office records list nearly 900 within a radius of thirty miles of downtown Pittsburgh, and our program for the next year will be to reinterest a large percentage of this 900 in our get-togethers. Several of our events are soon to become traditional.

For the past two years, Brothers Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates have honored us with their presence at dinner, after which a Pirate-Dodgers ball game is attended.

Our Summer Golf Party has just completed its third year. Held this year at Alcoma Country Club on June 29, about thirty Delts batted and dubbed their way around the course and then had a fine dinner and smoker.

We are adding another golf party to our program this year. It will take place about the time this letter goes to press. In addition to its being a social get-together, it will be the occasion of our hearing the official Karnea report from our delegates.

Carnegie Tech Delt alumni are going to observe the twenty-fifth anniversary of Delta Beta Chapter in October with a bang-up celebration under the chairmanship of Bill MacAlear, Sr.

Our president, Jack Snee, is doing a great job. In addition to steering the course of Pittsburgh Delt affairs, he is president of the Pittsburgh alumni group for W. & J. College.

During the past year, we have had ninety different Delts at our regular Tuesday luncheons; average attendance is about twenty. We are going to try a monthly dinner meeting in addition to these luncheons, in order to give those Deltas a chance to attend who are not near enough to downtown to get to the luncheons.

Our thanks is extended to the Central Office for its fine help and co-operation in keeping our mailing list up to date. Any Delt in the Pittsburgh area who has not been getting notices of our events, please notify the Central Office of your present address, and they will be sent to you.

An invitation is extended to all visiting brothers to come to our noonday luncheon at the Law and Finance Building Restaurant, each Tuesday at noon.

ART STROYD

St. Louis

The main activities of the St. Louis Alumni Chapter seem to be in the direction of marriage, with Brothers Frank Winters, Don Frankenberger, and Bill Payne all taking the big step within the past few months. Our congratulations and best wishes to all three!

Brother George Buchanan took a trip in June and had a nice visit with Frank Bell and Don Holt. George also had another letter from Paul Johnson saying his return home has been delayed until at least August.

No definite plans have been made for summer activities, but it is hoped a rush party can be worked out with the active chapters in this area. DICK WATKINS

San Francisco

The San Francisco Alumni Chapter held its first annual luncheon in honor of the graduating seniors of the Pacific Coast colleges on June 17 at the Marine Memorial Club, San Francisco. Seniors were present from Stanford, California, and University of Oregon. A bang-up crowd of approximately seventy was in attendance. Gene Davis, a graduating senior from Oregon U., took the traveling honors. Gene took the trip from Ukiah, California, for the occasion. It is hard to beat such spirit as this.

The luncheon was highly informal and after President John Twelvetees took care of introductions, at which Brother Paul C. Thorne, U. of Wisconsin, 1899, received due ovation as the oldest Delt present, the meeting was turned over to the chairman of the day, Roland Tognazzini, Beta Rho, '24. Brother Tognazzini welcomed the graduating seniors to the alumni association and called upon each one to introduce himself and state his major and what type of work each was interested in finding. He then delivered a stirring and extremely intelligent address on the broader meaning of Deltism, with special emphasis on the importance of building chain succession. Never has the delicate subject of legacies been so strongly and ably represented by a forceful presentation of common-sense facts. The upsurge and revitalization of fraternal spirit that come when fathers, uncles, and grandfathers have their legacies initiated are a wonderful and well-known occurrence. Every alumnus should work as closely with active chapters as possible to see that these strong chain occurrences happen as much and as often as humanly possible. The San Francisco Alumni Chapter regrets exceedingly that a recording was not made of this inspirational address.

It was nice to see so many new faces, Robert B. Claxton, Lehigh, '23, R. S. Besse, Jr., Oregon State, '41, Bill Jason, Stanford, '48, Charles W. Hudner, Stanford, '20, Al Stone, U. S. C., '46, and C. W. Wynkoop, Nebraska, '21, etc.

Congratulations are in order to Sherman L. Cray, Beta Rho, '29, for his appointment as treasurer of Bethlehem Steel of California. Sherm has served faithfully and efficiently for seventeen years as secretary-treasurer of Stanford's Beta Rho house corporation.

All alumni in the area can keep in touch with the organization through Bill Mitchell (Colonial Press), 500 Howard St., San Francisco (secretary), or can obtain information and send their dues to Dick Peterson, c/o P. G. & E. Co., or 899 Green St., San Francisco (treasurer).

Any Beta Rho alumni who did not get their copy of The Stanford Delt (Latching, Delta Shelter, etc.) may do so by contacting John Twelvetees, 1527 Byron St., Palo Alto. BILL MITCHELL

Seattle

On Sunday, June 6, the Washington Quarterback Club atop the Camlin Hotel rang with the voices of good Deltas gathered to do honor to the Gamma Mu Class of 1948.

Twelve graduating seniors were our guests. Alumni and undergrads alike enjoyed several hours of a balmy evening high over the city in one of Seattle's most beautiful clubs.

Tom Tressler was recently appointed chairman of the membership committee and has undertaken the task of revising completely our membership lists preparatory to the publication of a Seattle alumni directory.

Harry Meixner was elected alumni chapter delegate to the 1948 Karnea and by convention time several others hope to join him. E. H. TOMASI

Spokane

Alumni and actives from the chapters in the Northwest are planning to have a summer picnic at Twin Lakes.

In addition to a summer picnic, there will be many meetings with regard to rushing. Plans are being made for one of the most extensive rush programs ever conducted for the chapters at the University of Idaho, University of Washington, and Whitman College. We urge any alums who may have rushing prospects to contact us.

The new chapter, Delta Rho, at Whitman College hopes to have a table for the brothers by a year from this fall. The chapter has kept at a rapid pace given it by all the interest and enthusiasm at its installation this spring.

ROBERT T. GREENE

Syracuse

The Delt Club, as we call our pledge group in the reactivation of Gamma Omicron Chapter, held its first social function on Saturday, May 15. This was Spring Week End at Syracuse University, and the dinner and dance, held at Howard Johnson's by the pledges, was an outstanding event. About a dozen alumni showed up, with wives and dates, to swell the assembly to more than sixty. A grand evening was had by all, and "Woody" Benoit, president of the pledge class, gave a superb performance as toastmaster.

The new chapter house at Syracuse University has been obtained and is located at 115 College Place, directly across the street from the campus. Renovations have already been started by the University and equipment will be purchased during the summer by the Alumni Reactivation Committee. Several of the undergraduates are living in the house this summer and will put in time doing odd repair jobs as they appear.

The closing social event of the season was a clambake and outing of undergraduates and alumni at the "Country Estate" of Secretary Deming, where good fellowship and good (?) singing were heard. The entire pledge class of twenty-eight men was on hand to challenge the alumni to a baseball game. The score, of course, was indecisive and, although both teams claimed victory, the umpire called the game because of total darkness. Incidentally, never in the history of "El Rancho" has so much wood been cut.

A large group of alumni and undergraduates plan to attend the Karnea, where it is hoped final action will be taken on restoring the chapter so that Gamma Omicron can be in full swing as a recognized fraternity at the opening of the school term next fall. E. R. DEMING, JR.

Topeka

At the June luncheon of the Topeka alumni, officers were elected for another year. Mr. M. C. Oberhelman, vice-president of the Central National Bank, was elected president; William Purdue, Kansas Power and Light Company, vice-president; and the writer was re-elected secretary.

Our July meeting was July 6, and David L. MacFarlane, president of Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kansas, was our guest speaker that day. "Scotty" is one of our best Kansas Deltas, and we appreciated having him here.

On Monday, June 14, Topeka Deltas and their wives held a picnic at Lake Linge, a resort about four miles from Topeka. About fifty were present to enjoy the steak supper. The singing of Delt songs and dancing helped to make this an enjoyable event for Topeka Deltas and their wives.

Monthly luncheons will continue during the summer months, and we hope to have any visiting Deltas with us the first Tuesday in each month. A summer rush party is planned for later this summer but this date has not been set.

Delt Chapters

Delta Rho artist, Bob Webb; the Spring Formal which was acclaimed as a great success; and the installation week end which will never be forgotten at Whitman.

Plans to start a kitchen in the Shelter at the earliest practical date are being ably handled by Art DeBoer, house manager. He is having much success in enlisting alumni support. Tom Eckstrand, the man behind the successful social events and firesides, has been working with Mrs. Milne, housemother, in the formation of a Mothers' Club. Speaking of Mrs. Milne, she has done a great deal on the campus to further our progress. She is the life of every party and is liked by everyone.

The second year of Delta Rho promises to open up more and more possibilities, and if as much progress is made during 1949, the chapter will soon be tops at Whitman. The leadership is already existent, and the opportunities are unlimited.
