The Delta Creed

- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta for the education of youth and the inspiration of maturity, so that I may better learn and live the truth.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as a shrine of international brotherhood: her cornerstone friendship, her foundation conscience, her columns aspiration, her girders self-restraint, her doorway opportunity, her windows understanding, her buttresses loyalty, her strength the Everlasting Arms.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as an abiding influence to help me do my work, fulfill my obligations, maintain my self-respect, and bring about that happy life wherein I may more truly love my fellow men, serve my country, and obey my God.

One Moment, Please

November's offering is the third successive issue in which we have been able to tell you about installations of new Delt chapters. This time we give you Gamma Omicron Chapter, proudly returned to Syracuse University, and Delta Upsilon Chapter, the Fraternity's youngest, at the University of Delaware.

On Page 11 you will find a full account of the man who will guide the destinies of Delta Tau Delta for the next two years—President W. H. Brenton. A few pages later, the four new members of the Arch Chapter are introduced.

Other articles in this issue cover a cross section of Fraternity interests—two newly-elected Delt Bishops . . . a Delt pilot in command of the inaugural direct flight to South Africa . . . reminiscences from an early Delt chapter that turned out many great men . . . three undergraduate Delts finding out firsthand what Delta Tau Delta consists of . . . glimpses of the interfraternity scene . . . Delt chapters, life blood of the Fraternity, reporting this year's initial successes . . . alumni chapters giving an account of rushing activities, fall parties, and other campaigns.

With the beginning of a new volume, THE RAINBOW inaugurates a series on the Presidents of Delta Tau Delta. These articles will draw from the Fraternity's distinguished past to give you something of the administration, the achievement, the personality, and the color of each leader.

It has been said that an institution is the lengthened shadow of one man. Delta Tau Delta is more likely the lengthening shadow of many men. Chief among them are our Presidents.

We begin on Page 19 with Henry T. Brück.

Gamma Omicron Is Back!

By FREDERICK L. STONE, Syracuse, '14

Chapter Adviser, Gamma Omicron Chapter

It is, indeed, an unusual series of events to witness the birth of a Delt chapter, to watch it thrive through twenty-five years of college existence, to see its charter relinquished to the Arch Chapter, and then after thirteen more years to be present at the ceremony when a past President of the national Fraternity presents the original charter to the president of a newly initiated group of Delts.

Yet this course was experienced by nine of the original charter members of Gamma Omicron at Syracuse University on September 25 and 26.

These nine old men lived again those halcyon days of undergraduate life as they listened to solemn rites, felt again that thrill that must come at the clasp of a brother's hand.

Nature herself must have been pleased at the reactivation of this chapter, for she furnished some of her most choice central New York weather and even draped the hills and valleys with her finest oriental rugs.

The initiation ceremony started Saturday morning in a room of the University Chapel, admirably suited to the purpose. Twenty-one men were initiated. The team was made up of members of the city alumni Delt club—Forrest H. Witmeyer, Syracuse, '28; John B. Kling, Oregon State, '42; F. L. Stone, Syracuse, '14; Richard C. Petura, Lafayette, '38; Keith E. Fox, Ohio, '45; Ernest R. Deming, Jr., Pennsylvania, '38; Archie W. Mabon, Lafayette, '35; William B. Crabtree, Syracuse, '22; Harold C. Hopkins, Syracuse, '10.

Attendance records for Delt affairs were not broken, although about one hundred visiting brothers were present at the various events. There were Arch Chapter members, alumni chapter members, charter members, Distinguished Service Chapter members, and visiting active chapter members. Each event seemed to compensate in quality of its members for that which it lacked in quantity. The informal luncheon in the Chapel following the initiation ceremonies was the first real chance for the old-timers to visit and to become acquainted with the new men who are to carry on the old Gamma Omicron traditions.

About the Author: Fred Stone is a charter member of Gamma Omicron Chapter. He was for a number of years chapter adviser. As Gamma Omicron returns to take its place with the Fraternity's seven-eight other undergraduate chapters, Mr. Stone again becomes chapter adviser to his chapter. He was one of that stalwart band of Syracuse alumni who labored unceasingly to make this reactivation possible.

A tea dance and reception in the afternoon at the Drumlins Country Club provided an opportunity to meet Delt wives, daughters, and girl friends. Representatives of other Syracuse fraternities and sororities attended.

The reactivation committee—headed by Forrest Witmeyer, who was also toastmaster at the banquet—saw in all of these activities the culmination of months of hard work in bringing back the charter. Shortly after the war when Delts of the Syracuse Alumni Chapter, also headed by Witmeyer, had again resumed peacetime activities, the subject of reactivation arose. The University Alumni Interfraternity Council used eloquence and persuasive power to arouse interest in the return of Delta Tau Delta to the Syracuse campus. The demand for fraternity influence far exceeded available facilities in the postwar swollen enrollment at the University.

High officials at the University also added their voices to the appeal for return, declaring that as far as the University was concerned, Delta Tau Delta had never left the campus. This admirable attitude and fine promise of welcome both by competing groups and by the University authorities had its effects and the project was under way.

Letters appealing for help from alumni had a hearty response. The University, owning many pieces of property close to the campus, promised suitable quarters for a home. This, on a rental basis, was turned over to the group on September 1. Few furnishings were needed, but much renovation was.

After the house was turned over to the newly organized group, the news of the Arch Chapter's action at the Karnea was the big incentive for a great deal of work on the part of the twenty-five pledges and two transfer Delts from other colleges. Floors were sanded, walls painted, partitions changed, and kitchen and dining rooms made usable as such. Haste was necessary, for the newly initiated group must plunge into competitive rushing with more experienced groups within a few days.

The Central Office, knowing the need for experienced help at this time, sent Field Secretary Dick

Smith to Syracuse early in the month. His help was wonderful, and to him go the thanks of all Delts in this area who were interested in the reactivation.

The important spot in the reinstallation was the banquet held in the University Commons dining hall, a newly constructed and beautifully designed room for a banquet. About one hundred Delts and visitors attended. Dr. William Tolley, Chancellor of the University, one of its former graduates, and member of Pi Kappa Alpha, welcomed with appropriate remarks the new group. Vice-Chancellor F. G. Crawford and Frank Piskor, Dean of Men and member of Chi Psi, added their good wishes. The faculty fraternity advisor, Professor L. W. Crawford, who had proved himself a grand friend of the reactivation committee, spoke touchingly upon the new opportunity for close fraternal friendships. John W. Brooks, president of the Alumni Interfraternity Council and member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, gave sound advice for all men interested in the American college fraternity system.

The distinguished Delt speakers included Norman MacLeod, past President of the Fraternity, who presented the old charter to the new men. Joel Reynolds, past President of the Eastern Division, introduced the initiates of Gamma Omicron and presented them with membership certificates.

Francis M. Hughes, Vice-President of the Fraternity, drew upon his large fund of stories and wove them into a serious talk on the compelling challenge contained in the Delt Creed. Herbert L. Spencer, president of Bucknell University and recently elected Supervisor of Scholarship for the Fraternity, refused to talk scholarship, saying that that subject was axiomatic, but he developed the other good characteristics to which Delta Tau Delta aspires.

The reception and tea given by the actives for the University administration and representatives of all fraternities and sororities on the Hill ended the festivities on Sunday afternoon. Delt wives and mothers presided.

The nine old men were elated with all of the festivities. Now, with an active chapter at their alma mater, they will find a place of refuge when they return to watch University affairs.

Delts Get Under Way at Delaware

By RALPH M. WRAY, Colorado, '20

Delta Tau Delta installed its seventy-ninth active undergraduate chapter at the University of Delaware, in Newark, Delaware, with impressive University and Fraternity ceremonies on October 24.

Members of local Delta Sigma Fraternity were initiated into the new Delta Upsilon Chapter.

Culmination of many months of planning, the establishment of Delta Tau Delta's infant chapter had its origin many months ago. Delta Sigma Fraternity was founded with the guidance and supervision of J. Edward Murphy and M. L. Draper, two good Sigma Nus and Delaware alumni who have helped develop the fraternity system at the University of Delaware.

It was no accident that Delta Tau Delta was selected for this group to petition. Credit that to Murphy's friendship with George A. Doyle and Clyde M. Martsolf, both of Tau Chapter and members of the Distinguished Service Chapter, and his admiration for the work and interest of Delta Tau Delta.

The Philadelphia and Wilmington Alumni Chapters became interested in the excellent prospects of Delta Sigma. Lloyd Irving, Pennsylvania; Howard Foster, Pennsylvania; and Foster Knowell, Maine, went to Newark with "Buzz" Doyle, where Murphy and Draper showed them around, introducing them to J. Fenton Daugherty, Dean of Men and a Phi Psi. Other alumni visited Delaware, including Ed Noll, Brown; Frank Cornell and Ed Elliott, Pennsylvania; and Ray Dunning, Western Reserve. In the meantime, more Delt alumni, including Phil Robinson, Tufts, were working closely with the local group.

By March of 1948, Delts from M. I. T., George Washington, Cornell, Lehigh, Brown, Tufts, Maine, Pennsylvania, Penn State, and DePauw had visited and highly recommended Delta Sigma. After a thorough investigation, the Arch Chapter granted a charter to Delta Sigma at its spring meeting, with installation scheduled for early fall.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—The name of Ralph Wray is well known to readers of THE RAINBOW and to older Delts throughout the country. As the first field secretary of Delta Tau Delta and the first in the fraternity system, he came to know the Fraternity inside and out. During the middle twenties, many of the observations gained from his travels found their way into the pages of THE RAINBOW.

Today Ralph continues his interest in the Fraternity. He was active in the establishment of Delta Sigma at the University of Maryland last spring and is now chapter adviser of Gamma Eta Chapter at George Washington University.

By Saturday, October 23, then, great activity was apparent in Newark. There were many faces being seen on the campus that belonged to the generation most present, yet they were strange. They were the faces of young Delts from other colleges and universities, who were here for the first day of festivities.

About forty undergraduate Delts from institutions such as Lehigh, Pennsylvania, George Washington, Lafayette, and Stevens and nearly the whole Maryland chapter were present by the time the reception and ball began. The Delaware boys had arranged dates for their undergraduate visitors.

The reception which preceded the installation ball enjoyed an impressive receiving line of Fraternity and University officials, including Dean of Men Daugherty and University President Dr. William S. Carlson.

The decorations were in the Fraternity's colors, with a large  $\Delta\tau\Delta$  over the bandstand. It was inevitable—with the spirit of the installation plus that wonderful thing called youth, with its readiness to reach for happiness—that an evening made for memory ran its merry course.

The slight threat of rain on Sunday was accepted as an attribute of the fall day it was. Those younger brothers who had been fortunate enough to arrive on Saturday for the opening social events began drifting toward Brown Hall or Old College Hall about noon.

The roads converging on Newark soon were bringing many alumni, such as Brother Cole, from as far away as Elizabeth, New Jersey, as well as members of the Arch Chapter from even greater distances. By one o'clock, Brown Hall was a milling mass of old Delts, young Delts, and Delts soon to be. The atmosphere was permeated with the fine feeling that arises when old friends, long apart, their faces alight with recognition, send their minds back down the years to those memories of precious youth.

This mood was only heightened when the American Broadcasting Company cornered Branch Rickey for a recorded interview. Everyone crowded around, as Branch distributed scintillating asides and extemporaneous observations, sometimes to the confusion of the young man who was interviewing him. Nothing could have better prepared the group for the beautiful ritualistic work yet to come.

The east lounge of Old College Hall, with that quiet charm that some buildings and rooms have, seemed destined for just such use as this installation. Its proportions and acoustics were perfect.

One look at the installation team from Lehigh University, attired in the fine new robes which were a gift to Delta Upsilon from the Philadelphia alumni, and everyone knew that these men would play their part well. There was a quality in their manners that can come only from a familiarity with the work and a deep belief in the beauty and truth it contains. Not only were the initiates the gainers. Nearly all members of the Maryland chapter, who had never seen an initiation except the one that made them Delts last spring, were there. To them, to other undergraduates present, and to the alumni, life became richer because of the perfection of the initiation ceremony.

The Lehigh team was made up of J. Richard Shultz, Charles A. Slater, Jr., J. Corson Smith, J. William Royer, Henry M. Luedecke, Peter S. Eagleson, John R. Attaway, and Raymond A. Chutter. One other shares the glory of work well done. Joel W. Reynolds was entrusted with the final message, and all must have felt that he was part and parcel of this great initiating team.

The banquet was held at Kent Hall, at the other end of the campus from Old College, which gave everyone the chance to stroll casually across the attractive grounds of the University. The weather had been kind, for the rains came just as everyone got into the Hall. Outside was of little importance, for inside good fellowship bloomed, and there were life and gaiety. As the doors opened to the banquet room, two field secretaries, John Oliver and Fred Kellogg, who had done so much of the necessary work to make this installation a success, began directing the brothers to the laden tables.

We were replete. Tables were cleared, and chairs scraped into more comfortable positions. That suspense one finds in a good story held this large group of Delts in anticipation. The final act began.

Presiding was Joel W. Reynolds, Secretary of Alumni, whose delivery in the afternoon had been so masterly. After the invocation by the Reverend Theodore Ludlow, Pastor, St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Newark, Delaware, which quietly and sincerely expressed the spirit of the occasion, Joe introduced the toastmaster.

Those who know Norman MacLeod, past president of Delta Tau Delta, realize what others soon found out—that the evening was in good hands. With his rich experience of the Fraternity, plus a voice that carries the convictions learned therefrom, the thread with which to weave an evening of Delta Magic was strong.

One of the highly deserved introductions of the evening now took place, that of the Beta Lambda installation team. The rafters worked overtime echoing the acclaim. Then it became the turn of the new initiates.

The next group proved again the singularity of this affair. Fifteen fathers of the men this day initiated into Delta Tau Delta were the guests of the Fraternity. Nothing could have been more appropriate.

A different and very important entity of the many required to make this particular evening come true now stood before us. This was the group of University officials whose encouragement and effort had helped so much.

Next, "Buzz" Doyle made the presentation of the fine new robes that the Philadelphia alumni had given. His colleagues were called to their feet. Of these, there were three—Brothers Walter Cornell, Edwin Elliott, and Lloyd Irving—with records of fifty years of loyalty.

Now came Baltimore, led by Brothers Sachs and Paige; then Washington, with Riggs Monfort; Wilmington, whose A. D. Warner, Henry Claus, and others will give sound alumni support to Delta Upsilon; and finally the other older alumni present.

The introductions over, it was the privilege of Albert "Bud" Murphy, new President of the Eastern Division, to present the membership certificates to charter members. The pledges were at this time introduced to their future brothers.

When a man becomes known by an affectionate term, it means he has really done his job. Such is Hugh Shields, who is often called "Mr. Delta Tau Delta." The next task rightly was his, and his gracious presentation of the charter was accepted, and responded to, by Harvey C. Day, Jr., president of the baby chapter. Due honor was paid to Ed Murphy and "Chick" Draper during this exchange.

That Sigma Nu would continue as a contributing influence, not only personally, but symbolically, now became apparent, when Norm introduced Ed Murphy. The chapter received, through Harvey Day, a new gavel with which to conduct its meetings.

The verbal hors d'oeuvres had only whetted the appetites. They deserved an entree that would prepare us for the main course. J. Fenton Daugherty, Phi Kappa Psi, Dean of Men, and Dr. William S. Carlson, Pi Kappa Alpha, President of the University of Delaware, proved to be the blue-ribboned chefs who knew how to serve one. This was done with a deftness, briefness, humor, and sincerity that exactly sustained the mood. A welcome such as this augurs well for the future.

A phenomenon to which our Fraternity is accustomed was discovered in the main course. Mu Chapter, mother of Bishops and orators, presented us with the chief speakers. First came the new Vice-President of the Fraternity, Francis M. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '31. His incisive humor in relation to agricultural and life-saving pursuits mellowed his listeners for the striking inspiration of his words on producing leaders with ideals.

An inspirational evening is something that is the product of mood, of the succession of events, and of the right words spoken at the right time by those with the power of expression to do it best. To reproduce this is impossible. All that can be said is that it occurred, and that those who saw, heard, and felt it were much the better for the experience.

The above not only refers to Francis Hughes' contribution, but to that which followed: the ideas and words that came from that master of inspiration, Branch Rickey. Until Branch is heard, the idea behind the idiom—"He held them in the palm of his hand"—has never been realized. He literally can do it. An eagerness can be felt throughout the room not to miss one nuance, one sweep of rhetoric, one smallest idea, that is molded into the finished speech—that is a unique Rickey ability.

It is fitting to say at the completion of an installation of perfection: "The work is finished."

During the installation banquet, the pledges of Delta Upsilon Chapter sat at one of the tables of honor.

New Methodist Bishops Are Delts

The Jurisdictional Conferences of the Methodist Church, meeting every four years, have recently held their sessions. In two of these, Delta Tau Delta members were elected as Bishops — Marvin Augustus Franklin, Emory, '15, and Marshall Russell Reed, Albion, '14. Inasmuch as, under the laws of the Church, only one in approximately four hundred ministers can be elected to this office, the honor and responsibility involved are given lofty rating.

These two elections naturally suggest a review of our Fraternity's history in relation to the episcopacy. Our first representative, elected in the Methodist Church in 1908, was the late William Franklin Anderson, Ohio Wesleyan, '84. The next one was William Alfred Quayle, who came to our ranks when the Fraternity took over a local society at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas. At the same conference, Edwin Holt Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '89, was also chosen, so that in the number of eight, three were Delta Taus. In 1912 Francis John McConnell, Ohio Wesleyan, '94, was chosen when he was but forty years of age.

Elections gave us more representatives as the years passed. Charles Bayard Mitchell, Allegheny, '79, was chosen in 1916; Charles Edward Locke, Allegheny, '80, was elected at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1920, as was also H. Lester Smith, Allegheny, '06. In 1932 John M. Springer, Northwestern, '99, after heroic years in the Dark Continent, was selected as Missionary Bishop for Africa. With the coming in of Bishops Franklin and Reed, the total of Methodist Bishops reaches the figure of ten.

The history in the Episcopal Church is strikingly like that in Methodism. The available records show a list of nine—three of these coming from Beta Theta Chapter, at the University of the South, and three from Chi Chapter, at Kenyon. All the Methodist Bishops were graduates of Methodist colleges, but in the Episcopal group three came from non-Episcopal institutions. It is thus evident that the pre-eminence of Delta Tau Delta in this ecclesiastical respect is not due to our superior piety—but rather to the fact that our chapters represent us in some higher institutions founded and fostered by church colleges.

Having given the names of the Methodist Bishops, we append here the Episcopal Church list:

Karl M. Block, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '06.

Alfred A. Gilman, Beta Tau (Nebraska), '98.

Robert L. Harris, Chi (Kenyon), '96.

Frank A. Juhan, Beta Theta (Sewanee), '11.

William T. Manning, Beta Theta (Sewanee), '93.

Henry D. Phillips, Beta Theta (Sewanee), '03.

Charles S. Reifsnider, Chi (Kenyon), '98.

Bartelle H. Reinheimer, Chi (Kenyon), '11.

William J. Scarlett, Beta Phi (Ohio State), '04.

The new Bishops, Franklin and Reed, will make worthy additions to this honorable circle drawn from the two denominations. The two men have already made marked records in great pastorates. Bishop Reed will be Resident Bishop at Detroit, Michigan, and Bishop Franklin at Jackson, Mississippi. Each of them made a fine collegiate record and each wears the key of Phi Beta Kappa.

Meet Your President

By Arthur H. Brayton, Wisconsin, '14

Secretary, Des Moines Convention Bureau

During a special campaign for the Des Moines Art Center, a beautiful and completely equipped art building just finished last summer as a result of a bequest by a Des Moines philanthropist and art lover, Harold Brenton was one of those who volunteered to help raise additional funds. The bequest provided for the erection of the building, designed by a famous architect, but there was need for more money for the operation of the Art Center, following its completion.

The campaign was highly successful. Later, however, some discussion developed about who was to have the last word on the selection of pictures and other details. Consequently, a meeting of members of the Des Moines Fine Arts Association was called to discuss the entire matter. Harold Brenton was asked to lead the discussion.

"One of the main reasons for this meeting is to explain the Art Center controversy to the men and women who have contributed funds to provide for the operation of the Art Center itself," Mr. Brenton declared.

Then he uttered a statement which just about sums up the reasons for the all-around ability, stability, and comprehensive proficiency of Delta Tau Delta's new President.

"When I solicit money for a cause, I feel I am responsible for what happens to it," said Harold Brenton.

Responsibility is a somewhat rare factor these days, but Delta Tau Delta's new head feels responsibility strongly and that feeling will be followed through, every member may be assured.

A mere biographical sketch of President Brenton would be easy to write, but any narration of his life and works to date must necessarily be shot through with his own personality, his competence in dealing with people, his rare skill as an organizer—and what's more—his marked aptitude for instilling in others the enthusiasm which is part of him, always.

President Brenton is a banker, a farmer, an active Republican, a trustee of several large corporations and educational bodies, a negotiator par excellence, and a family man, too. A paragon, you say? By no means—he's darn human, as those who have known him in business and in the Arch Chapter will be quick to verify.

I have known Harold Brenton as a Delt and a business man, as well as a community and civic worker for some years, and the more I know him, the more I realize his all-around ability.

A Delt for thirty-one years, President Brenton has been a member of the Arch Chapter since 1939, but long before that his interest in the Fraternity was much in evidence. He was chairman of the building fund committee for his own chapter, Gamma Pi, Iowa State, for several years and has always kept a fraternal eye on that particular chapter, although his interest in all Deltas is ever apparent.

President Brenton is primarily a banker, as he started his career in this interesting profession in 1920, right in his home town of Dallas Center, Iowa, where he was born February 27, 1899. After being graduated from Iowa State College in 1920, he began banking in Dallas Center. One year later, in 1921, he was married to Etta Spurgeon, and the Brenton family is something to think about. There are seven children, four girls and three boys, and these include twins—a boy and a girl! Thus you can see that our new prexy has no trouble in keeping in touch with young folks. His eldest son, William, incidentally, is now a pledge of Omicron Chapter at Iowa.

In 1929 Harold came to Des Moines, where he was vice-president of the Iowa National Bank, now the largest bank in Iowa. It was merged with the Des Moines National and is now known as the Iowa-Des Moines National Bank. He became president of this bank from 1931 to 1934, when he moved to Minneapolis. Here he was vice-president, treasurer, and a director of the Northwest Bancorporation for seven years.

But his Iowa blood beckoned him back to his native soil, and in 1941 the Brentons were welcomed again to Des Moines, where he has been actively managing his family's banking interests ever since. The Brenton name is likely to continue in banking circles for some time. It has been known for quite a while, as the first Brenton bank started in Dallas Center in 1873.

Right now President Brenton, in addition to being head of Delta Tau Delta, is also president and director of ten different banks in good county seat and other towns in Iowa, including Dallas Center, Adel, Perry, Jefferson, Emmetsburg, Grinnell, Vinton, Indianola, Clarion, and Eagle Grove. He has a corps of efficient officers. Regularly he brings them all together in Des Moines, has a fine meeting, talks things over in a friendly yet businesslike way, and sees to it that all his employees and associates have a good time and go back to their respective banks feeling better for this convention! It's sort of a Karnea in miniature, yet not so small either, for ten banks make quite a combination.

During the war he scored a ten strike when he invited all the women employees of his banks to Des Moines, put them up at the best hotel, saw to it that they had breakfast in bed, got them together at several luncheons and dinners, and really showed them a time. The event has now become an annual affair. This man knows how to get along with people!

Then he is also president of Brenton Bros., Inc., a corporation engaged in the ownership and management of more than 6,500 acres of top Iowa farm land. Besides that, he finds time to be head of Brenton Companies, a bank holding and management corporation.

Politics, too, has a fascination for Harold. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1944. At present he is chairman of the Republican Finance Committee of Iowa.

Getting back to banking for a moment, he was president of the Iowa Bankers Association in 1947 and is now vice-president for Iowa of the American Bankers Association and a member of the council.

Three years ago, in February, 1945, he purchased Wood Brothers, a large factory in Des Moines which formerly made threshing machines, but was then engaged in war work. Under Harold's efficient and enterprising management this concern branched out after the war, and in August, 1947, it was sold to Dearborn Motors, a subsidiary of Ford. The factory is now going strong and making corn pickers at a great rate.

Carrying out that old saw about getting a busy man to do things, our President is also a trustee for the Committee for Economic Development, a trustee of Grinnell College, Iowa, a trustee of the Iowa Methodist Hospital, Des Moines, and a member of the Newcomen Society of England. His own church is the Presbyterian, and he's also a Mason.

During World War I he was in the Navy. In the last war he was a real inspiration to thousands, for he served as Payroll Savings Chairman for war bonds in Polk County, the largest county in his native Iowa.

When President Truman called a national conference on fire prevention in May of 1947, Harold Brenton chairmanned one of six committees which made studies of the underlying causes for the excessive loss of life and property by fire and of means of reducing them. The conference focused national attention on the fire menace.

Throughout his numerous activities in community, state, and national affairs, this indefatigable worker keeps his sense of humor and balance and prides himself on the fact that he never worries! As a matter of fact, he is engaged in so many different and varied operations that it just wouldn't do any good to fret, because then he really would be in the soup. So he keeps on going—strong.

And don't ever overlook that theme song, that text, that cornerstone of his belief—that if he solicits money, or support, or co-operation for any cause, he feels definitely that he is responsible for the successful management of such contributions.

The affairs of Delta Tau Delta are in extremely capable hands.

Aims of Izaak Walton League Defined

people at National Headquarters in Chicago and branch offices in Denver and Washington. National Headquarters is directed by the Executive Board whose members are elected by chapter delegates in open convention.

National problems of the moment include the use of public lands, stream diversion, watershed protection, and teaching conservation in our public schools. An alarming economic situation presents itself with the entire loss of one-fourth of our top soil, the second fourth on its way out, and forests being used faster than nature can grow them. In addition, water is becoming a problem in many places. Our Western Coast towns, with the surge of population in that direction, have opened up questionable stream diversion.

League officials and members feel that all should be informed of the facts and trends as to the best policy to pursue in order to give to posterity that which rightly belongs to it.

Our increasing population added to rapid consumption of renewable and non-renewable resources should cause one to consider the question, "What can I do to conserve and restore?"

League of America

The Izaak Walton League of America was organized more than a quarter of a century ago. Its objective is to defend soil, woods, water, and wild life.

The League has been extremely active in reducing the rate of soil losses, in reforestation, and in eradicating pollution. The leading function of the League is to determine policies concerning our natural resources. This is accomplished through a trained force of qualified

Swift Wings to South Africa

By Clarence N. Warren, Jr., Butler, '38

As is the custom of Mr. Trippe, president of Pan American World Airways, whenever a new route is to be flown for the first time, he invites some of the country's leading publishers and editors along, not only to view and make constructive criticism of Pan Am's operation of the route, but to enable them to see other nations served by America's Merchant Marine of the Air and to become better acquainted with the peoples and problems outside of our own boundaries.

The new route is a variation of an older link between New York and South Africa which went via Santa Maria in the Azores Islands; Lisbon, Portugal; then to Dakar, Accra, Leopoldville, and Johannesburg, South Africa. The new route by-passed Lisbon both ways and automatically cut eight and one-half hours from the round-trip time by flying from Santa Maria to Dakar direct. In addition, we planned a flight from Jo'burg to Capetown, a route not previously flown by Pan Am.

The passengers on the flight, in addition to Mr. Trippe and Vice-Presidents Ingalls and Smith of PAA, were:

Hugh Baille, President, United Press.
Thomas Beck, Chairman, Crowell Publishing Company.

Erwin Canham, Editor, The Christian Science Monitor.

Norman Chandler, Publisher, Los Angeles Times.

John Ewing, Editor, Shreveport Times.

Roy Howard, President, Scripps Howard Newspapers.

Phil Jackson, Publisher, Portland Journal.

Jim Linen, Publisher, Time Magazine.
Charles McCabe, Publisher, New York Mirror.

Malcomb Muir, Publisher, Newsweek.
Frank Murphy, Publisher, Hartford Times.

Paul Patterson, Publisher, Baltimore Sun.

Jim Stahlman, Publisher, Nashville Banner.

John Wheeler, President, North American Newspaper Alliance.

Bob Reed, Editor, Kansas City Star.

CLARENCE N. WARREN, JR.

Harry Andrews, Union of South Africa Minister to the United States.

When my boss, Chief Pilot Hugh Gordon, told me I was to command this inaugural flight, I immediately busied myself selecting a crew. This was a special privilege since normally our ten-man flight crews are assigned and not selected. We seldom fly with the same persons more than two or three times a year. I selected the crew on the basis of professional ability first, then appearance and personality, endurance, disposition, and ability to meet people. I had an excellent crew. In addition to myself, there were three other pilots, two engineers, two radio operators, one navigator, a purser, and a stewardess. This crew had one more pilot aboard than we usually carry on our long-range complement, with all pilots qualified to relieve the navigator and engineers if need be.

Editor's Note: Captain Clarence N. Warren, Jr., was pilot in command of the Clipper Southern Cross, giant Pan American World Airways airplane, when it made the first direct flight from New York to South Africa earlier this year.

He describes in this article the exciting ingredients of that trip, which established another milestone in commercial aviation.

PREPARATION

The week before departure was spent drawing together our charts, selecting an airplane from our fleet of sixteen Connies, sending her to the hangars for a good "going over," briefing my crew, arranging a schedule and notifying all stations along the route exactly what was expected of them, and many lesser time-consuming details. We had set up a rather rigid schedule to follow. My main concern was to see that the airplane, the Clipper Southern Cross, was in A-1 condition so as not to cause us a delay enroute. The plane was grounded and could not fly without my consent for the week preceding the flight while the maintenance work was progressing. After a couple of test hops, it was considered in perfect mechanical condition.

OFF TO DAKAR

In order to avoid thirty-five hours of continuous flying with no rest ashore, my crew "deadheaded" to Santa Maria to await the Southern Cross. When it arrived, we were shocked to hear of a maintenance delay caused by a burned-out starter solenoid on Number One engine. Our predeparture inspection could not anticipate everything. After a one and one-half hour delay, we took off for Dakar. The passengers had had a comfortable night's rest in the "sleeperette" seats, a new type airline chair that reclines seventy degrees, is made of a special foam rubber, and incorporates a leg and foot rest. They really are almost as comfortable as a bed. This short cut to Dakar was a new route, but being entirely over water, and since one wave looks like another, the flight was uneventful and routine. One hour ashore was spent making official visits with French Colonial officials and ordering some famous French brandies, liquors, and champagne, to be picked up on our return trip.

Mr. Wheeler, president of the North American Newspaper Alliance, and Mr. McCabe, publisher of the New York Mirror, asked about the weather between Dakar and Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, our next stop. They wanted to get off and wait for our return a week later if any thunderstorms were forecast, having confessed some harrowing experiences before in CB's. I went out on a limb and guaranteed them a smooth flight to Leo. By making a seventy-mile detour, I won the gamble and both were pleased. They were not to be so fortunate later.

VICTORIA FALLS

In Leopoldville we merely refueled the gas-hungry Connie and made arrangements to spend twelve hours here on our return trip. After take-off we headed for Victoria Falls to show the passengers one of the highest waterfalls in the world—420 feet high and passing one million gallons of water per minute. Unfortunately, a low broken deck of "scud" was lying over the falls from one hundred to two hundred feet high. We tried circling under the stuff, but V. P. Smith came up front and remarked that he thought it was a "bit tight"—so we pulled up and continued on to Jo'burg.

Upon landing at Palmietfontien airport about an hour after sunset, we were met by city, national, and international leaders, and after greetings were exchanged, we motored to town for a long overdue rest. My crew was to stay in Johannesburg for two and one-half days while the publishers toured town and made a few side trips, the main one being to the Kruger National Park, a huge (12,000 square miles) game reserve where all African animals are seen in their natural state. Being protected, the reserve is abundant in all kinds of game. The animals are not fed by man but kill their food as nature intended. Lee Hills and Jimmy Stahlman took some very fine movies of wild animals, the prize being Jimmy's rare movie of mating lions.

While our passengers visited the gold and diamond mines, Parliament and other interesting spots on the Rand, the crew relaxed and caught up on sleep, attended a couple of local dances and parties, and put the plane in shape for the next leg of the journey to Capetown.

FOG ROLLS IN

The trip to the Cape was scheduled at night. Unfortunately we arrived there just fifteen minutes after a nice, thick fog rolled in, reducing the airport to zero-zero. The entire town was "cavu" and certainly looked pretty, with historic Table Mountain in the background. The field, however, remained socked in. After circling for an hour and fifteen minutes, I decided to return to Jo'burg. The fog actually remained until 7:00 a. m., but by that time we had been on the ground at Johannesburg for seven hours.

As you may have surmised, the Connie, Model L-149, which we were flying, has a very large range (5,000 miles) for a commercial airliner, and we flew from Jo'burg to the Cape and returned with three hours of reserve gas after circling the Cape for seventy-five minutes. Add to that the fact that we had only 3,400 gallons of our 5,790-gallon capacity on board at take-off.

Everyone slept in the plane on the ground at Jo'burg. After breakfast we again left for Capetown at 8:00 a. m. and raced down at three hundred miles per hour to set a new speed record for this run. Our tailwind of the previous night had changed to a headwind or we would have done even better.

At Capetown the party was met by Prime Minister Jan Smuts and escorted to various private and government homes for a rest. The crew preferred to make the plane its headquarters, and for the next day and a half we stayed at our "Hotel" Southern Cross. The Union government put a guide and three cars at our disposal; we saw and did almost everything possible in the limited time we were there. The hospitality was unexcelled and we surely hated to leave, but we had to return to Jo'burg to do some maintenance on the ship before going north.

Mr. Trippe and his guests were to tour the coast resorts for a couple of days, being flown by South African Airways with crews. We took a cook's tour of the Cape Colony enroute to Jo'burg just to see some aerial sights and then landed at Jo'burg at 4:00 p. m. We were all looking forward to two and one-half more days of rest and relaxation while awaiting our passengers' arrival.

SIX FLYING RECORDS

During our stay in the Union, we had set six flying records, but most of them were automatically a result of flying a big and fast long-range plane. They are likely, however, to stand for some time.

The publishers had attended numerous state banquets and met many South African business and government leaders. They spent several hours with Prime Minister Smuts, who won them over completely. He is a very wise and sane old man.

The plane was loaded with such souvenirs as lion skins, leopard skins, stinkwood carvings, cloth, beads, jewelry (diamond and gold are cheaper here), native spears and shields, kafir drums, assigais, an elephant foot, and numerous other items.

Our one thousand pounds of extra food, beverage, and service supplies were replenished at Jo'burg. With a full load of booty and supplies we left for Leopoldville. The party arrived there shortly after sunrise, and the last one-half hour of the trip was spent flying low over the jungle, trying to spot elephants. We saw one pair, but the passengers failed to see them. We scared hundreds of natives, however, many of whom had probably never seen the great silver bird before. Contrary to popular belief, the African jungle is not a vast uninhabited area. It actually contains millions of blacks who live in villages ranging from two to several score huts and scattered throughout the continent. Many entire tribes have never seen white men.

Upon landing at Leo., the crew rested while Mr. Trippe and guests toured Leo. and the adjoining French town of Brazzaville across the Congo River from Leo. It was De Gaulle's headquarters during much of the last war. They spent all day with French officials and came home loaded with gifts and trinkets, mainly skins and ivory.

We left shortly before sunset. On the take-off Mr. Trippe acted as co-pilot and did a nice job of flying for a person who spends most of his time behind a desk. We had a delicious steak dinner aloft and had everyone settled back in his seat, either sleeping, playing cards, or reading when we ran into a beauty of a thunderstorm. There was no getting under it because of 9,000-foot terrain, and no getting above it (tops, about 40,000 feet), and the storm line extended for several hundred miles. So we strapped everyone in tight and started through.

ST. ELMO'S FIRE

It was plenty rough with lots of rain, hail, and St. Elmo's fire, accompanied by two static discharges. I wondered what Mr. McCabe and Mr. Wheeler were thinking. St. Elmo's fire is rather disturbing to passengers unless properly understood, and we had plenty of it.

V. P. Smith came forward and stuck his head into the cockpit to say something, but the hail on the windshield made so much noise that I could not hear what he was saying; so he gave up and went aft.

We broke out after thirty minutes, and to my surprise no one had been sick. Several confessed later that they were too scared to hunt for an airsick bag. The rest of the trip to Dakar on to Santa Maria via Lisbon, Portugal, was uneventful. We picked up our brandy and liquors in Dakar and bid farewell to Roy Howard, who left us to go to Rio for a vacation.

LAST LEG

At Santa Maria we looked over our schedule again to see how we were faring. I had promised all aboard that we would be in La Guardia at 8:00 a. m., March 8. The promise was made on February 27. At this point we had a two-hour cushion; so we ate a leisurely dinner ashore and took off on the last leg of the journey.

All was going well until about five hundred miles off the coast of the good old U. S. A. we encountered rather strong winds. I called for more power and kept going. Our next fix showed a seventy-eight-knot headwind. I changed altitude and boosted power again. When we passed Montauk Point, we had to average 300 m.p.h. to La Guardia to make our 0800 E.T.A. We screamed across Long Island indicating 300 m.p.h. and landed straight in at La Guardia. We stopped rolling in front of the International Terminal at 0800.07, just seven seconds late. A big cheer went up from the cabin that was audible even in the cockpit.

We had covered 22,298 miles and flew 93 hours and one minute in ten days. Except for starter trouble the first day, our Connie performed beautifully.

The Union government in South Africa, anxious to have a correct and informed public opinion about its problems, took a special interest in our visit. Mr. Smuts chose the occasion to deliver his most important political speech since the end of the war. The South African press, recognizing in the visiting editors and publishers the most important newspaper executives they had ever welcomed to South Africa, took a great deal of interest in Mr. Trippe's guests and gave them wide publicity.

From Pan American's viewpoint, one of the most important results of the visit was to bring home to the South African traveler, business man, importers, and exporters the fact that New York is little more than forty hours from Johannesburg. South Africa's long isolation is ended, for Pan American has brought a great deal of the world to its doorstep.

Chorus Earns Praise Under Dr. Dewey

Years ago at Beta Epsilon, a young chapter adviser, Malcolm H. Dewey, Allegheny, '04, was faced with a problem that continually arises in fraternity affairs—drinking in the house. The usual procedure in such matters, of course, is to appoint a tribunal to discipline the offenders. But Mr. Dewey tried a new tack, well knowing how difficult it is to force a man to do something against his will. Instead, he suggested that the offenders themselves be appointed to dispense with the problem. The result was immediate success. The prescribed punishment was more severe than he would have suggested. The drinking disappeared.

Today Dr. Malcolm Dewey shows in his contacts that tact, patience, and understanding of human nature that enabled him to solve the problem at Beta Epsilon. A small, quiet, unassuming man, Dr. Dewey is head of the Department of Fine Arts at Emory University and Director of the Emory Glee Club, an organization he has built from (as he terms it) a "collegiate vaudeville organization" into one of the finest college choral groups in the country.

"While formerly the Glee Club gave skits and had a jazz band, today we render only choral work with incidental solos," he said.

Recently Dr. Dewey toured Florida with the Club. Everywhere it met with applause and lavish press notices. Among the concerts was one at famed Boca Raton Club, and the Club also sang before 1500 Rotarians in Miami, at which meeting the president of Rotary International was the principal speaker.

"Today's Club is much better than those of 1926 and '28 which toured England and Holland and were entertained by Lady Astor and the Duke of Manchester and were guests at the Lord Mayor's reception. On these tours concerts were given at London's Colosseum, then one of the show places of Europe, and broadcasts were made over BBC," said Dr. Dewey. Lady Astor also entertained the Club when she recently visited Atlanta.

Such an organization at Emory

DR. MALCOLM H. DEWEY

University is unusual enough, since Emory has no school of music, and the Club is maintained without scholarships. Its success can largely be credited to the efforts of Dr. Dewey, who by his expert directorship has whipped each year's group into a first-rate choral organization.

Dr. Dewey has found time in this active career to make some active contributions to Delta Tau Delta. Besides being chapter adviser at Emory, he presided at the founding of Gamma Psi at Georgia Tech and was adviser at Alpha Chapter for some time.

"One year when I was adviser at Alpha, a group of outstanding rushees came in with a new class. Another fraternity was trying hard for them. We decided that instead of making these rushees the center of attention and embarrassing them with the questions and talk that comprise the usual rushing procedure, we would simply show them a good time.

"So they played games, thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and as a result, we pledged twelve out of thirteen bid, the other fraternity pledging one out of thirteen. This group included Allegheny's backfield and the presidents of the glee club and dramatic club. I think the secret of good rushing is not mere talking but providing the rushees with good entertainment that they can participate in."

Dr. Dewey added that while there were not many preministerial students in Alpha Chapter then, those who were pledged always seemed to turn out to be bishops.

An outstanding choir director and teacher, Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey is a man of whom Delta Tau Delta can indeed be proud. His service to his profession and Fraternity is an inspiration to younger Deltas.

Arch Chapter Has Four New Members

Four new members joined the ranks of the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta early this fall. They include the Vice-President, the Supervisor of Scholarship, and Presidents of the Northern and Eastern Divisions.

Elected by the Fifty-ninth Karnea, Francis M. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '31, succeeds W. H. Brenton, Iowa State, '20, as Vice-President. Mr. Brenton was elevated to the presidency.

Mr. Hughes' Delt career began at Ohio Wesleyan, where he was president of Mu Chapter. As an undergraduate, he earned Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Pi Delta Epsilon (journalism) honors. He was graduated in 1934 from the University of Michigan's law school and was cited to membership in Order of the Coif.

For many years secretary-treasurer of the Northern Division, he has also served as legal counsel for the Fraternity. He was General Chairman of the Fifty-ninth Karnea, held at French Lick in August. Well-known throughout the Fraternity for his stirring Delt speeches, he has appeared lately on speaking programs of chapter installations at the University of Delaware and Syracuse University.

FRANCIS M. HUGHES
Vice-President

Mr. Hughes boasts a far-reaching Delt, as he terms it, "pedigree." Relative of many Deltas, he is the son of Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, past President and former Editor of THE RAINBOW.

He is a partner in the law firm of Barney & Hughes of Indianapolis. He is also United States Commissioner for the Southern District of Indiana.

Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, Carnegie Tech, '21, new Supervisor of Scholarship, was elected by the Karnea to succeed Clemens R. Frank, Western Reserve, '19.

Dr. Spencer has been President of Bucknell University since 1945. Prior to that date, he served for ten years as president of the Pennsylvania College for Women. His twenty-six-year experience in the field of education includes a tour as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Pittsburgh.

Nationally recognized for his work in labor arbitration, Dr. Spencer's versatile talents have earned for him such assignments as membership on a Regional War Labor Board, Co-ordinator in Science and Management War Training of the U. S. Office of Education, educational expert for the U. S. Army's A.S.T.P., president of Pittsburgh's Child Guidance Clinic, and director of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Y. M. C. A.

Gamma Kappa and Gamma Tau Win Publication Award

Awards for undergraduate chapter publications of the school year 1947-48 were announced at the Fifty-ninth Karnea in August. First place in the magazine format classification went to Gamma Tau (Kansas) for the second consecutive year. First place in the newspaper format classification was awarded to Gamma Kappa (Missouri).

Each chapter was awarded a prize of $50, to be invested in merchandise suitable for a chapter hall or chapter house.

Honorable mention in the magazine format division was earned by Mu (Ohio Wesleyan), Chi (Kenyon), and Delta Nu (Lawrence). In the newspaper format division, honorable mention winners were Beta (Ohio), Beta Alpha (Indiana), and Beta Eta (Minnesota).

Winners are selected on the basis of: first, general appeal and interest of the material to alumni; second, manner in which the material is written and edited; third, attractiveness in typographical layout and printing. The number of issues presented during the college year is taken into consideration; however, more than three issues will not influence the award.

Chapters using professional services in publishing their papers are not eligible for the award, but the committee is authorized to confer honorable mention to such chapters.

Honorable Mention for Mu, Chi, and Delta Nu in Magazine Format; Beta, Beta Alpha, and Beta Eta in Newspaper Format.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—I

I. Henry Theobald Brück, Stevens, '78—1884-85

Beginning a series of articles on former Presidents of Delta Tau Delta. Elected under the Constitution of 1884, the first President was a man whose devotion is an inspiration for all time.

When the Fraternity in 1884 transferred its government from an "Alpha," or principal, undergraduate chapter to the new Executive Council, there were many who were frankly skeptical concerning the wisdom of such a move. The whole system was regarded somewhat in the light of an experiment—to be discarded if it did not immediately succeed.

The year 1884 was, therefore, a critical period. If ever Delta Tau Delta needed genuine leadership, it was in that hour.

How fortunate, then, that Delta Tau Delta chose for its first President Henry Theobald Brück! Without fanfare, but with zeal and a consuming love for his Fraternity, he went quietly to work, he molded the Executive Committee into an efficient, harmonious body, and he licked one of the toughest situations that has ever confronted a college fraternity. The new mode of government was so eminently successful that it has endured in substance to this day.

The strength of this accomplishment is fully appreciated only when one realizes that Henry Brück, when he assumed the highest office in Delta Tau Delta, was just twenty-five years old.

In spite of his youth, however, the first President was no tyro. He had been initiated into Rho Chapter, Stevens Institute of Technology, when the chapter was little more than a year old. His brother, Louis J. Brück, was a Delt and a classmate. After his graduation in 1878, the future President became one of a group of alumni residing in Hoboken who maintained an active interest in Rho Chapter for the purpose of effecting improvements and consolidating its position as a leader on the campus.

In 1880, under the direction of Mr. Brück and other alumni, the chapter instituted a monthly publication for its alumni, known as the Rho Chronicle, the first chapter paper of which there is any record in the Fraternity. At about the same time, he began to assume an active role in the affairs of the national organization.

He was a delegate to the Chicago Karnea in 1880. At that meeting the Fraternity initiated the "Extension Committee," and Mr. Brück was appointed its first chairman. Charged with the responsibility of directing the expansion of Delta Tau Delta, the committee corresponds today to the Arch Chapter's Committee on Chapters and Charters. It was in 1880, too, that this enthusiastic Delt recorded his pleasure in meeting for the first time John L. N. Hunt, a Founder of the Fraternity.

The Karnea of 1881 found Mr. Brück back on the front line, re-elected to the Extension Committee, chairman of the "Color Committee," and reporting to the assembly for Rho Chapter. Small wonder that The Crescent of that vintage quipped: "Rho was there muchly!"

With the advent of 1882, the indomitable Mr. Brück shifted into high gear. He was a member of the Executive Committee which granted four new charters—at Columbia University, the University of Georgia, Emory University, and Indiana Asbury University (later DePauw University). He personally directed the organization of the Columbia chapter. Simultaneously, he had taken over the herculean task of secretary to the new catalogue committee.

When Delts gathered in Indianapolis in 1883 to hold their Karnea and to draw up the new Constitution, they elected Henry Brück their first President, to take office under the Constitution on January 1, 1884. He was re-elected President by the Karnea of 1884, serving at that convention as chairman of the Committee on Constitution and Laws and the "Necrology Committee." During the same year, under his associate editorship, the Fifth General Directory, a monumental work, was completed.

Sixty-Year Delt Looks Back to Old Buchtel

By JOHN A. BOTZUM, Buchtel, '87

Yes, I knew Buchtel College and Eta Chapter of our beloved Delta Tau Delta. Being an old man now, with the trail of life growing narrower year by year, I find interest in "looking back" to the school days of youth. . .

Never can I forget my first day in Buchtel College, for it was there, and then, that I found a new world. . . . Buchtel College was built on a hill overlooking a little town destined to become a great city and the rubber capital of the world. Horace Greeley laid the cornerstone of Buchtel on July 4, 1871, amid the cheering of hundreds of people. For twenty-seven years it stood as a monument to human enterprise and the cause of education.

On the night of December 20, 1899, the people of Akron were called to witness the destruction of Buchtel by fire. The bell in one of the towers rang out as if touched by some magic hand and kept on ringing until the tower tumbled in ruins. That is the night when Akron people were unashamed of their tears, and I stood there with the rest of them, moved at what I was seeing.

Yes, Buchtel College is gone. John R. Buchtel, one of its founders, is gone. But they are not dead, they will live as long as we have memories of a great school and a great man who was born in a log cabin and left a monument not built by the hands of men.

And now for a few words to my brother Deltis wherever they may be. You have your chapters. Eta is a thing of the past. Your Fraternity life must go on, and I am sure it will go on. It is by getting the memories of the older Deltis, now inactive, that you may find an inspiration for carrying on your Fraternity life.

Before me, at this time, are names I had almost forgotten, but as I look at them, the names become alive and I almost forget the frost that has settled on my head, but not, thank God, on my heart.

Among the charter members of Eta Chapter were Charles Baird,

James P. Boyd, Ralph Burnett, Charles S. Cobbs, Frank N. Carter, Newton C. Chisnell, D. A. Doyle, Wilson M. Day, Clarence Knight, Reverend H. M. Miller, Paul R. Miller, Charles J. Robinson, George W. Sieber, Julius Simmons, William H. Sanford, Albert R. Tinker, Joseph Thomas, Edwin Voris, George T. Whitmore, Horatio T. Wilson, Thomas F. Wildes, W. M. Wright, and James V. Welsh.

On October 20, members of the Akron Alumni Chapter turned out to honor John A. Botzum, Eta, '87, former Akron newspaperman. Mr. Botzum drew from his rich supply of stories to regale the company with reminiscences of the early glory of Eta Chapter and Buchtel College. He recalls here many of the pleasant memories associated with Delta Tau Delta and his college years.

I came to know them all, and a better bunch of men never lived. Several of them became prominent lawyers and doctors. One of them became a great actor. Sieber became a great orator.

During my experience as a member of Eta Chapter, several of these oldtimers frequently dropped in at our meetings and told us youngsters stories of their varied experiences, but especially of Buchtel College days. Chisnell, the actor, always had a good story to tell of how he traveled with Edwin Booth, the famous actor of long ago, and how he appeared with him in Hamlet, taking the part of the gravedigger. Edwin Booth was a brother of that other Booth who shot and killed President Lincoln at the close of the Civil War.

Active members of Eta Chapter during my brief experience at Buchtel were Marion E. Bourne, Jacob A. Motz, Oakley C. Herrick, Norman S. Stall, Alonzo Hyre, Charles R. Olin, C. Victor Smith, Frank J.

Taylor, Charles S. Bock, Frank S. Crandlin, Templeton Twiggs, Pemberton Twiggs, Harry Canfield, James Ford, Hiram Rice, and Edgar S. Rothrock. I wonder if Sidney Wilson, my roommate for a time, wasn't one of them. I know that Frank Taylor was.

I wonder how many of these early Buchtel boys are alive today, and if alive, how they are getting along and what they are doing. I would like to hear from them.

I guess we all had fun in our days, for Akron, small as it was, took time off for amusements and the Buchtel boys and girls, regardless of fraternity ties or social standing, joined in the life of the day. In those days we had our livery stables, where for a dollar you could get the best rig in town and the best horse to take your girl out to see the sights. The speed limit was five miles an hour and the streets were lined with hitching posts. We also had our famous Grand Opera House, better known as the Academy of Music, where on the big drop curtain you could see the painting of "No Night in Heaven" and you could see and hear the great actors and actresses. Besides all this, we had our picnics and the old County Fair. Yes, Akron's gala days lived when Buchtel College lived.

Many successful men went out of Buchtel and gained national distinction. Charley Dick was one of them. With Mark Hanna, he helped make William McKinley President of the United States. Dick not only became a United States Senator but was often urged to run for the presidency. The story of the great leaders in business enterprises is the story of Buchtel boys who went out into the world and helped transform a little town into a great city. Look at the list of lawyers, judges, doctors, and preachers, and you are sure to find the names of men who once went to Buchtel.

Often in their school days in Buchtel, students had fantastic dreams of what they wanted to be when old Buchtel days came to an

Californians on the Delt Trail

Three undergraduate Delts take the long road to the Karnea to find out for themselves what makes a great nation and a great Fraternity.

We have a story to tell—a story that encompasses more than twelve thousand miles, a score of Delt chapters, and a Karnea. It's a modern Odyssey, Delt style, with one hundred Canterbury Tales riding on rubber tires.

Bear in mind, as a preface, that California lies some 2,000 miles west of the "East." To Californians this fact means that, with prosperous business conditions, a marvelous climate, a vast area in which to roam, and a population increasing by thousands every year, there is little time to worry about the rest of the country—except, perhaps, to wonder why its inhabitants, too, have not come west. It means, also, that our universities, our baseball, our campus customs, and our fraternities are—and feel—far removed from the same institutions in the East.

Yet we three Delts, as do all Californians, realize that California may look back only as far as 1848. Beyond that date lie a rich history and tradition that we had only read about in history books.

So it was that early last summer three of us—enterprising and pioneering Delts from Beta Omega—seeking relief from California's "glorious" weather and thirsting for a knowledge of the homeland, left California bound for the rugged North, the civilized East, and the cultural South.

We carried with us a message and a desire. The message is that when we say "University of California" we do not mean U. S. C. or U. C. L. A. We may not have a football team,* but we do have self-respect.

The desire we carried was to get to know Delts from other parts of the country and to determine what Delta Tau Delta as a national fraternity means. As a result of distance and the fact that the meaning and spirit of the national Fraternity are brought home to us only on the rare occasions when the Karnea is held on the West Coast, we had become provincial. We wanted to find out why the South continues to vote Democratic. We wanted to find out why, with hurricanes, pests, dust, and snow, the whole country had not come to California. We wanted to attend a Karnea.

*If we can believe the sports columns, the University of California has both this fall.—Editor.

The Authors: Richard G. Burns, Ludy E. Langer, and Graham Glascock, all of Beta Omega Chapter. A veteran and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Burns entered Stanford law school this fall. Glascock, also an honor student and former Japanese interpreter in the Marines, enrolled in California's School of Jurisprudence as a "low senior" this fall. A Navy ensign in the war, Langer was graduated last spring with a degree in engineering. He is the son of Ludy Langer, California, '16, famous Olympic swim champion.

Those were our objectives. After a long, fast-moving, and inspiring trip, our convictions are of a different sort. We want now to tell all Delts how much closer we feel to this vague thing called "the national." We want all undergraduates to know how inexpensively and conveniently they can travel to all parts of our nation. We want you to hear from undergraduates what an inspiring and unifying effect the Karnea has upon its participants. We want to sketch briefly the beauties and points of interest which can be seen in two months.

A trip such as ours cannot be taken without prior planning. We sent for information from state chambers of commerce. Our chapter president wrote to Delt chapters everywhere to see whether we could stay at their houses. We pored over maps, estimated expenses, and finally drew a line across a national map, through the places we had dreamed of seeing. At last we drew up a precise time schedule for driving, sleeping, and visiting, based on replies from Delt houses and information on major points of interest. We bought a one-wheel trailer and assembled camping equipment.

A 12,505-mile trek, accomplished in sixty-two days at an average of 215 miles per day, took us to many places. These ranged from the biggest breweries to the greatest banks, from the canyons of the Yellowstone and Zion to the canyon of Broadway, from the top of Pike's Peak to the bottom of Mammoth Cave, from the faces at Rushmore to the Old Man of the Mountain, from the dazzling flats of Great Salt Lake to the coolness of Niagara, from entertainment spots to the classic corridors of our oldest universities and congressional halls echoing to spy investigations, and from tiny historic shrines to the greatest cathedrals. We saw such scenic spots as Grand Tetons, Black Hills, Thousand Islands, Acadia, White Mountains, Saratoga Springs, Atlantic City, Shenandoah, Williamsburg, Great Smokies, Colorado Springs, the Rockies, Bryce Park, and the Hoover Dam.

We visited all of the major cities from Minneapolis to Cleveland, from Boston to Richmond, and from Louisville to Salt Lake City. We visited universities and Delt houses in the Big Nine area, the New England area, and the upper South. We saw geological wonders, agricultural lands, industrial plants, summer resorts, political bodies, and statesmen.

We shall long remember the narrow streets of quaint Quebec, the picturesque rural life on the Isle of Orleans, the quiet New England countryside, the charm of Williamsburg, and the beauty of the universities in Virginia.

And, of course, there were people. First and always we shall remember the cordiality with which we were received at the many chapter houses we visited. It was a pleasure and a treat for us to meet so many fine men and to have the opportunity of exchanging ideas with them. At this point, we want to express our appreciation to each one of these chapters for the kindness and courtesy extended. We found that Delta Tau Delta is truly a national brotherhood. In addition, we are deeply indebted to the generous Delt at

BURNS, LANGER, and GLASCOCK strike a pose on one of the "high points" of their journey.

Northwestern who invited us to stay with his parents for the six nights we were in New York City; they made our stay most pleasant. We are also grateful to a number of other fraternities who received us handsomely on the campuses where the Delts are not represented.

Among the unforgettable characters encountered we include the Dutch underground worker now in Toronto; the spring-maker of Gananoque, Ontario; our polite French landlord in Quebec City; the rector of an historic church in Boston; the members of the U. N. Trusteeship Council; a U. S. Senator; the Kentucky moonshiner who told us about his "mountain dew" down in Monroe County; and the preaching guide in Salt Lake City. There were countless "characters," met on tours through caves and cities and historic spots. The talk with a West Point cadet at the George Washington University Delt house, talks with young Southerners at Virginia and Tennessee, the speech of Branch Rickey at the Karnea, the "conversations" with French-Canadians in Quebec Province, visits with former Army and Navy buddies—such experiences as these could fill volumes and will enrich our lives for many years to come.

If we left California with a message, we also returned with a message. We discovered the benefits and opportunities which Delta Tau Delta extends to all its members. Because we are Delts, our trip was made possible.

We can attest the inexpensiveness of our undertaking. In spite of the distance covered, four blowouts, the purchase of two new trailer springs, dates, a Broadway play, sight-seeing tours, and a Karnea, the trip cost only four hundred dollars per person. Out of sixty-two nights on the road, only eight found us in need of paying for a place to sleep. Other nights we camped out and stayed at Delt Shelters and even other fraternity houses. We could now make our journey even more cheaply, for too late we discovered the availability of the Y. M. C. A. for shaves, showers, and sleeping accommodations.

If, then, there is a moral to our story, it is that we became convinced of the strength of the personalities and the physical plants of Delta Tau Delta. We feel that undergraduate Delts everywhere should avail themselves of this opportunity which the Fraternity offers in order to increase their experience, to broaden their outlook, to know their country and its people, and to give greater significance to the term "national Fraternity."

end. Many saw their dreams come true. I, too, was one of those dreamers, with an ambition to see the world and become a newspaper man. The dreams came true. For more than fifty years, I was a newspaper man and daily wrote the story of changing Akron. Thousands of those stories are to be found in my scrapbooks now a part of my library.

My greatest experience came in two years of wandering around the world largely on foot, seeing kings and queens and mingling with the lowly as well as the rich. That experience, born in old Buchtel College, is worth to me more than all the gold in the world.

▼ FROM THE FRATERNITY-COLLEGE WORLD ▼

Expansion continues to keynote the interfraternity scene. Most fraternity leaders agree that today's swollen enrollments offer a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for the establishment of new chapters on college campuses all over the country. Nearly all fraternities are capitalizing on this opportunity, some at a dizzy pace, others on a more conservative basis.

The big question in the minds of many now is: Will today's enrollments hold up sufficiently to support the widespread increase in number of chapters? Or, when the man-power supply levels off, will some chapters have to go out of business simply because there are not enough college men to go around?

To name a few, here are some of the recent installations.

Sigma Nu has entered the College of Puget Sound and the University of Miami (Florida). Alpha Tau Omega has reactivated at Colorado A. & M., to bring its total of active chapters to 102.

Tau Kappa Epsilon announces chapters at Wayne and Georgia Tech, with others on the timetable at the University of Akron, U.S.C., L.S.U., and Idaho State. Bringing its total of chapters to ninety, Pi Kappa Alpha has added Delaware and Arkansas State to its roster.

Theta Chi has registered a post-war total of twelve new chapters, the latest being at San Jose, New Mexico College of Agriculture, Denver, Bowling Green, Miami (Ohio), Connecticut, and Wake Forest. Aca-cia has granted recent charters at Oregon State, Kansas, and Denver.

Other recent charter grants include: Bowling Green and Manitoba (Canada) for Zeta Beta Tau; Rensselaer for Alpha Chi Rho; Maryland for Sigma Pi; Mercer and Newark College of Engineering (New Jersey) for Pi Kappa Phi; Illinois Tech, Drake, Arkansas, Monmouth, and Maine for Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Miami (Florida) for Phi Kappa Tau.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity celebrated its founding one hundred years ago at the University of Miami, Oxford, Ohio, with its Centennial Convention in Oxford September 1 to 5. One of the honored speakers was Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

Robert L. Hartford, Ohio, '36, vice-president of the Northern Division, represented Delta Tau Delta at the Centennial Banquet, to which officials of all fraternities were invited.

Phi Gamma Delta's one hundredth Ekklesia (Fiji for Karnea) last June included a pilgrimage to Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, where the fraternity was founded at Jefferson College in 1848.

Marcel Atjak, a former Dutch flier and one of the seventy-three "best young engineers of Europe" being given free study last summer at M. I. T., turned out to be a protagonist of the fraternity system.

He gained his fraternity experience by living at the Beta Nu Chapter Shelter in Brookline, Massachusetts, during the summer months. Tech's fraternities offered free housing to visiting foreign students under the M. I. T. Foreign Student Summer Project.

"In Holland," said Marcel in a press interview, "most students live in rooming houses. But in America when many boys live together in a fraternity, they get to understand people and be good friends.

"You are one family," he added.

As a means of improving scholarship, Alpha Tau Omega has legislated that no chapter may pledge a man "who was not in the upper two-thirds of his high school class scholastically or who, during the previous quarter or semester at college, has not maintained an average equal to that required by the institution for graduation."

Alpha Chi Rho has amended its constitution so that its National Council has the power of granting undergraduate charters.

Women are teaching fraternity house stewards how to run their own kitchens at Syracuse University. Delts James T. Mahoney and Charles R. Rumsey, members of Gamma Omicron Chapter, are enrolled as students in the new course initiated by the institution management department of the University's College of Home Economics.

The Syracuse brothers will receive college credit for taking the one-hour weekly class in problems of food management under Mrs. Marjorie Horton of the home economics faculty. Their course will provide instruction in menu planning, the purchasing and storing of food, care and use of kitchen equipment, employee relations, and basic techniques in quantity food preparation.

The college fraternity system now numbers 2,500,000 members, which is greater than such large organizations as The American Legion (1,306,100), the Masons (2,484,000), and Rotary International (210,000).

Apparently inhabitants of State College, Pennsylvania, home of Penn State, did not have a high opinion of fraternities in 1924. A deed of that vintage created the following building restriction:

"That no fraternity, manufacturing plant, abattoir, outside privy, hog pen or any similar offensive enclosure, except only chicken houses, properly enclosed, horse stables provided with proper manure pits or garages for private use, shall be erected on said premises."

Even in the face of this categorical denunciation, however, conditions were expected to improve, since the grantor in the deed stipulated that the restrictions should be in force only until June 1, 1935.

Arch Chapter

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, and Omicron Delta Kappa. He is a thirty-third-degree Mason.

In Delt circles, Dr. Spencer has been pressed into service many times for his superlative speaking. His latest appearance was during installation ceremonies at Syracuse University.

President Brenton has announced the appointment of Stuart K. Fox, Wisconsin, '20, as President of the Northern Division, to fill the unexpired term of William H. Martindill, Ohio, '32, elected Treasurer of the Fraternity by the Fifty-ninth Karnea.

A resident of Wilmette, Illinois, Mr. Fox is owner of a printing business in Chicago, where he reports in occasionally when he is not occupied with Fraternity business. He was chapter adviser of Beta Gamma Chapter (Wisconsin) during the war years and immediately afterward. Regularly traveling the long distance back and forth between Chicago and Madison, Wisconsin, in the discharge of his duties as chapter adviser, he played a vital part in putting the chapter quickly back on its feet in its postwar program.

He numbers among his Delt services a tour as president of the Chicago Alumni Chapter, chairman of the Credentials Committee at both the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Karneas, and member of the committee for the record-breaking Chicago Karnea in 1946. He was elected Vice-President of the Northern Division in the spring of 1947.

The whole Fox family shares Mr. Fox's enthusiasm for Delta Tau Delta. His elder son, Jack, is a member of Beta Pi Chapter (Northwestern) in the class of '48, while Bill, the younger son, was pledged to Beta Omicron Chapter at Cornell this fall. Mrs. Fox, who is a past president of the Beta Pi Delt Mothers and Wives Club, headed the ladies' committee of the Fifty-eighth Karnea.

A Gamma Phi Beta of Northwestern, Mrs. Fox is a member of the University's board of trustees and has served as vice-president of the Northwestern Alumni Association.

President Brenton has also announced the appointment of a new President of the Eastern Division—Albert J. (Bud) Murphy, Penn State, '38, who will fill the unexpired term of Joel W. Reynolds, Tufts, '23, new Secretary of Alumni by virtue of his election at the Karnea.

Mr. Murphy was grounded early in the fundamentals of Deltism. In Tau Chapter he served two terms as rush chairman and was chapter president during his junior year.

In 1938 he became one of the Fraternity's field secretaries, serving a two-year tour of duty. His subsequent Fraternity activity includes a term as chapter adviser of Delta Beta Chapter (Carnegie Tech), leader of Karnea round-table discussions, and vice-president of the Eastern Division since the spring of 1947. Mr. Murphy's training has made him a master craftsman on the fundamentals of chapter operation.

A former assistant Dean of Men at Carnegie Tech, he is presently associated with the educational department of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company in Pittsburgh. He makes his home in Wilkesburg, Pennsylvania.

Presidents

In 1886 President Brück stepped down from his high office—not to retire, but to serve for a two-year period as Secretary of the Fraternity. He returned in 1897, again to be elected Secretary, serving this time until 1915, when he declined re-election on account of ill health. The Sixth General Directory and the Seventh, issued in 1897 and 1917 respectively, were largely the results of his work.

In addition to all of these many contributions, President Brück undertook the assignment of writing a history of the Fraternity's early days. His "Historical Notes" were published in THE RAINBOW in several installments from 1904 to 1906. With infinite patience, he tracked down his facts through voluminous correspondence with the Founders and other pioneers, personal visits with these men, and untiring research into the archives. His work remains the most complete and authentic historical document in the Fraternity.

Mr. Brück rose to prominence in his profession as well as in the Fraternity. Born in Hoboken, New Jersey, in 1858, he was educated in private schools in New York and Hoboken. After he had secured a mechanical engineering degree from Stevens, he engaged in various engineering jobs in Hoboken until 1890, when he went to Mt. Savage, Maryland, as the mechanical engineer of the C. & P. Railroad. Later he became superintendent of motive power of that line.

In 1914 he moved to Akron, Ohio, only to leave one year later to accept the position of mechanical engineer and purchasing agent of the Hartford-Fairmont Company, later known as the Hartford-Empire Company, in Hartford, Connecticut. He remained with that firm until the time of his death, October 14, 1928.

As our first President, Henry Brück guided Delta Tau Delta through a crucial era. His influence and that of others like him embarked the Fraternity upon an international career which laid the firm foundation of today's strength.

His years of service on the governing board total twenty-two—a record that is without equal. He earned the high compliment bestowed by Dad Pumphrey—"faithful and devoted old warrior."

In a recent speech, the Right Reverend Charles Kendall Gilbert, Episcopal Bishop of New York and a member of Chi Psi Fraternity, pointed to the college fraternity as an integral part of traditional American education.

"Today some educators decry human relationships and debase the college fraternity and other groups on the charge of exclusiveness," Bishop Gilbert said. "In point of fact, just the opposite is true of fraternities. These educators and professors forget that free enterprise, freedom of thought and action, freedom of religion, freedom of choice of one's own friends and associates, made this nation great. They do not understand that regimentation in one form or another has caused most of the ills of the world. My Chi Psi Fraternity taught me how to live and get along with my fellow man."

than three years. In that post he had been charged with directing American policy in the partition of Palestine.

During the war he was Minister to Iraq and counselor to the American Embassy in Moscow.

Mr. Henderson's appointment will be subject to Senate confirmation at the next congressional session.

A Delt who played a prominent part in the National Capital Model Air Show last summer is Major WOODROW W. DICKEY, Florida, '39, Air Force liaison officer for the Washington, D. C., wing of the Civil Air Patrol. He spoke on the value of model plane activity in fostering America's aeronautical position in an air-minded age.

One of the nation's most decorated combat pilots, Major Dickey was aide and pilot during the war to Field Marshal Alexander. He has also piloted King George VI, King Peter II, King Umberto II, and Prime Minister Churchill.

He flew missions of international importance during the Yalta and Potsdam Conferences and was at meetings with Russian Marshal Timoshinkov and Marshal Tito. Among his numerous awards is one of the most coveted of all, the Sovereign Military Order of Malta, the world's oldest military decoration. He received the French Croix de Guerre during the Air Show ceremonies.

JOHN G. NORRIS, George Washington, '29, reporter for the Washington Post, flew to Germany recently to cover the Berlin crisis for his newspaper.

During his past twenty years as a newsman, he has specialized in military affairs and knows personally America's famed generals and admirals. As a war correspondent in World War II, he served for a time with the Navy air wing in England, riding an aircraft carrier in the invasion of southern France. He was later public relations officer for the Iwo Jima invasion in the Pacific.

His last war service was aboard the flattop Shangri La. Admiral Nimitz awarded him the Navy Commendation for his Pacific performance.

In 1946 Reporter Norris traveled to Turkey aboard the battleship Missouri in the first of the "showing-the-flag" operations in the Mediterranean. From Ankara, Turkey, he scored a "scoop" on Russian demands on the Turkish government which was reported in London papers the following day.

Spokane Alumni Honor Founder's Daughters

Members of the Spokane Alumni Chapter were honored when two daughters of one of Delta Tau Delta's founders, William R. Cunningham, were present for one of the regular luncheon meetings. They are Mrs. Alice French and Mrs. Elizabeth Petty, and both had some interesting facts to relate concerning their father's history and work with the Fraternity. Both are living in Spokane and are greatly interested in the activities and developments of Delta Tau Delta.

William R. Cunningham was a native of Paris, Bourbon County, Kentucky, born April 14, 1834. He remained in his native state until the age of twenty-three. At the age of twelve he was placed in a subscription school, where he remained a student thirty-six consecutive months without a vacation. At fifteen years of age he was placed under the tutelage of a Transylvania University professor at Lexington, Kentucky, and here young Cunningham learned the profession of civil engineering. His father then wished to send him to the Kentucky Military Institute, but because of a shift in the school's administration, he was not admitted. Mr. Cunningham concluded then that his son should never get a college education.

The young man, however, made a resolution to act independently and to accumulate sufficient funds to give himself a college education. While putting this resolution into practice, he met Selucius Garfield, cousin of the martyred president, who was canvassing the state in the behalf of James Buchanan, a presidential candidate. After Buchanan's election in 1856, Garfield was appointed receiver of the land office at Olympia, Washington Territory, and young Cunningham was appointed his assistant. He arrived in Olympia in May, 1857, remained for one year, then returned to the national capital. Garfield and other leading officials, including the territorial governor, recommended Cunningham for the post of superintendent of Indian affairs of the territory, but because it was a political position, everything did not work out according to plan, and Cunningham was not made superintendent.

It was then that William R. Cunningham entered Bethany College, Virginia. He entered in 1858 and remained until December 19, 1860, at which time, on account of the intensity of the war spirit, many of the Southern students withdrew. While in school he helped organize our now great national Fraternity. When war finally broke out, Cunningham joined the confederate army and during the war became one of the revenue commissioners of the state of Kentucky with the military rank of governor. In July, 1863, after being wounded, Cunningham was captured and confined in the military prison at Columbus, Ohio. After being in prison for eight and one-half months, he was released, took the oath of allegiance, and returned to civil life in Ohio, where he was married in 1865.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham went to Kentucky soon after they were married and then to Missouri the following year, where he farmed and practiced law until 1870. He then became a preacher in the Church of Christ, and this profession he followed to some extent for the remainder of his life. In 1889 the Cunninghams moved to Ritzville, Washington, and took up a homestead and timber culture near Scott's Station, later called Cunningham Station, the townsite of which he owned. He was always a dominant factor in the political aspect of the country, a forceful speaker, and an indomitable worker for the best interests of the community at large.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham were the parents of three children, a son William, and the two daughters who now live in Spokane. One of the daughters, Mrs. Alice French, was the only woman who ever became court commissioner in Washington.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Beta—Ohio

Two weeks prior to the opening of this fall's session, Beta Chapter Deltas returned to the Shelter in Athens to round out the summer improvements with their own share of elbow grease. Painting of all rooms and halls in various colors, in addition to work on the new library, improvements of the present storage rooms, and beautifying of grounds, held the group in constant activity for the fourteen-day stretch. The first fall rushees had already been greeted in the lounge before the paint brushes and carpenter's shavings had been pushed aside until the next renovation period.

END OF CHAIR CAMPAIGN

Beta Chapter alumni this summer completed the two-year "Chair Campaign." A voluntary contributive program to replace the twenty-five-year-old dining room furniture, the aim was one hundred chairs. Although the final results fell slightly short of this goal, the new chairs are due to arrive soon, and, through alumni aid, the chapter will be able to sport proudly a modernized and complete dining room.

SEEK TO REPEAT

In an attempt to repeat their 1947-48 intramural success and to start on the new fraternity trophy, Beta Deltas started the new year with regular afternoon football practices early in September. New material through pledges and junior active members will replace the graduated members of last year's championship team, while standby members from past seasons will follow through in the regular spots of player and coach.

Gamma—W. & J.

The W. & J. "Presidents," under the direction of Coach Heinie Luecht, are well represented by Deltas. John Capriotti, third-year varsity man, will be at tackle; John Lukowsky, also a three-year man, will play guard; and Bob Craft, Gamma's president, a third-year gridder, will call signals in the backfield.

The Deltas also have two other men fighting for first-team positions, in the persons of Jack Sourbeer, second-year man, striving for a backfield position, and "Rip" Collins, a new man in Delt Hall, a two-year football participant who is punching all the way for backfield recognition.

ENTERTAIN COLLEGE PRESIDENT

The Gamma Delta Taus have instituted a new visiting system between the fraternities with evening bridge games and joint social affairs. They are sponsoring a faculty dinner program and have had the pleasure of entertaining the President and the administration. Lastly, they have pushed the Fraternity's efforts in activities, assuming leadership in most of the school's activities. Deltas are: president of The Student Service Union; editor of the Gambolier, W. & J.'s literary digest; business manager of the college newspaper; director of W. & J.'s radio program; columnists on the Red and Black; and officers on the Student Conference On Government.

Delta—Michigan

Michigan's Rose Bowl Champions have swung into action this year. To bolster the squad that lost two All-Americans and the other nine greats, the Deltas have contributed two men who are ticketed for berths on this still championship caliber team. Ralph Straffon, junior from Crosswell, Michigan, has been amazing everyone with his impressive play at fullback, while Bill Ohlenroth, sophomore from Chicago, Illinois, has been going great guns at the tackle spot.

This is only their first year of varsity competition (Straffon having taken time out for the Army); yet the sport scribes from the local papers have been throwing them bouquets before the season opened. Just in the way of filler, Straff set a state record for scoring points while in high school, while Bill was selected on the Prep - All - America roster as first-string tackle.

MAJOR BECOMES FATHER

At Ann Arbor this summer, the Michigan campus buzzed with excitement. Major II, Delta's Great Dane mascot, had at last become a father. All Deltas at Michigan are just as proud of the blessed event as Major. The pick of the litter has been purchased by Beta Beta Chapter at DePauw University. Delta Chapter sends congratulations and sincerely hopes that Major's offspring will bring cheer to the DePauw campus.

Epsilon—Albion

The efforts of scholarship chairmen in the past and of Dwight Somers and Dan Harrington for the past two semesters finally paid off with the winning of the fraternity scholarship cup last spring. The house average is 1.72, figured on a 3.0 scale. Indications are that we will keep possession of it this fall, but as yet there has been no official word from the administration.

Aiding the scholarship drive considerably was Russ Johnson, who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity.

TAKE OVER PUBLICATIONS

Epsilon has just about sewed up campus publications this year. Bob Richards is now editor-in-chief of the Pleiad, the college newspaper, and Taylor Ball has taken the editorship of Albionian, the yearbook.

Also gluttons for work are Dur Morton and Ed Neil, who are now program director and assistant program director for WANR, the two-year-old college radio station.

HISTORIC CANE

A high spot in Epsilon's drive to compile a history of the chapter was the gift from Clarence "Bert" Fiske, son of one of the presidents of Albion College. Mr. Fiske, in administering the estate of Mrs. Otis Leonard, widow of a well-remembered Epsilonian, came across a cane belonging to Brother Leonard in the 1880's. It is a straight walking stick engraved at the top with college and Fraternity insignia and his name. The cane is covered with carved names of his contemporary brothers, men who have since risen to great heights in many fields. It is a cherished relic which we prize and will keep safe.

VISITS OTHER CHAPTERS

Peirce Lewis, chairman of the alumni relations committee, spent a profitable summer visiting eight Delt chapters in the West and Middle-West seeking comparisons and new ideas. Among the chapters he visited were Beta Kappa at the University of Colorado; Delta Pi at the University of Southern California; Delta Iota at U. C. L. A.; Beta Rho at Stanford University; Beta Omega at the University of California; Gamma Mu at the University of Washington; Beta Eta at the University of Minnesota; and Beta Gamma at the University of Wisconsin. Peirce brought back many ideas and observations which will undoubtedly help us.

FOUR GOLFERS

Delt representation on the links last spring consisted of Don Denton, Bill Kessler, Tom Steele, and George Wagner. The quartet won four of the seven letters awarded the golf team.

Zeta—Western Reserve

A Delt of last year who really distinguished himself among his fellow students was James Lynn. Jimmy was graduated summa cum laude, collecting a 2.98 point average out of a possible 3.0. He also found time to direct the Interfraternity Council Glee Club and wrote the score for the first campus musical. This fall Jimmy is off to Harvard University for a crack at its law school.

TWO ON VARSITY

Zeta's representatives on the 1948 football squad are Left Guard Ed Lewis and Right Half Don Hura. Ed is entering his fourth year as a member of the varsity squad. He became captain before the first game of the season. Don, operating at both defensive and offensive right half, is experiencing his first year of collegiate competition, but he is an important cog in the offensive machine and will have three seasons to prove his prowess as a backfield star.

STAFF ANNOUNCER

Brother Bob Bergermyr is supplementing his dramatic studies by holding down a job at WEWS, the new television studio in Cleveland. He is master of ceremonies of a quiz program and one of the regular staff announcers.

FATHER-SON BANQUET

The high light of the rushing campaign of this fall was a Father and Son Banquet which some distinguished alumni attended. Among them was Governor Thomas Herbert, Zeta, '15.

Iota—Michigan State

When Michigan's Wolverines came to MSC for the first time in twenty-four years last September, Iota capitalized on the opportunity to entertain visiting Delts.

Following the game in which Michigan slipped by State 13-7, a buffet supper was served at the Shelter for the visitors and their guests.

In the evening a dance was scheduled at the Women's Club in downtown Lansing. Music was supplied by a four-piece combo.

ENTERTAINS HAWAIIAN GRIDDERS

Iota scooped other fraternities on State's campus September 28, when members of the visiting Hawaiian football team, coaches, and Ralph Young, director of athletics at MSC, were informally entertained at the Shelter.

The "Rainbow" boys brought their own music and reciprocated on the entertainment. Bill Devereaux, Iota's official MC, supplied quips for a mock radio-television broadcast which kept the boys laughing.

Arrangements for the evening were handled by the social committee and Neale Schermerhorn, chairman.

PLAY FOR GREEN AND WHITE

Two Iota actives and three pledges are on Michigan State's green and white football squad this fall which has scheduled games with three unbeaten elevens from last year. Jim Zito, 215-pound tackle, and Ev Grandelius, long-distance punter, are actives on the State team facing formidable Michigan, Notre Dame, and Penn State.

Pledges include: John Poloncak, Carl Nestor, and Gene Kolach.

Kappa—Hillsdale

Kappa Chapter's outstanding scholastic record at Hillsdale College was again publicly recognized when Dr. Harvey L. Turner, President of the College, presented the Delts with the coveted Men's Scholarship Cup for academic excellence during the spring semester. Last spring Kappa completed its fifth consecutive semester as undisputed leaders in men's scholarship at Hillsdale.

Beginning with the spring semester of 1946, Delta Tau Delta at Hillsdale has continued to reign supreme in scholarship among men's groups, consistently ranking well above both the All-Men's and the All-Women's averages. Kappa, however, has not placed total emphasis upon academic achievement, to the exclusion of other activities. During these past semesters, the chapter has consistently placed good teams in intramural competition, has carried on a program of social events well known for their popularity and originality, and has placed more than the average number of its members in class offices, publication editorships, and organization officerships.

INDIVIDUAL ATTAINMENT

Individual attainment in scholarship has also been recognized on the campus with the "tapping" of several Delts for membership in the local scholastic honorary society, Epsilon Delta Alpha. Actives Ross Balow, Jack Berger, William Friedrichs, and Ora Giauque are at present members of the honor society, Friedrichs being the organization's secretary. Graduates Richard Avery, Charles Bretschneider, David DeCamp, and Charles Kline also wore the golden key of E. D. A. during their undergraduate days. Avery, DeCamp, and Kline received their diplomas cum laude.

BARON REPLACES RITZ

Kappa Chapter has been without a mascot since 1945, when our nationally known dog, Ritz, died. Full of years and academic honors, Ritz, a Great Dane, was reputed to be the only dog who ever received a college degree. Ritz was a doctor of dogmatics and a master of caninical law by virtue of degrees solemnly conferred by Hillsdale College at its 1940 commencement exercises.

Ritz earned the degrees like any conscientious college student, by faithfully attending classes for four years.

He was presented to the chapter in 1936 as a mascot by Edgar B. Lincoln, then chapter advisor. He developed an immediate fondness for college life, not only in the form of classes, but in all types of social events. He never missed a football game and was even known to attend a few of the annual and eventful J-Hops.

Now Kappa has another Great Dane, Baron by name, and he is fast becoming a friend to all of the chapter and the campus in general. In his four months of existence he has already seen one football game, and it is our belief that he, just as his predecessor, will attend all functions and activities pertaining to Fraternity and college life.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

At about the beginning of 1948, Ohio Wesleyan University approached the twelve fraternities on our campus as to the possibility of each of them assuming the responsibility of a guest boarder for one semester or a year, according to their individual capacities. The guest boarder was to be a foreign student coming to Wesleyan under the terms of its expanded foreign-student scholarship program. This program, designed after the now famous "Bowdoin Plan," offered full tuition for one year to qualified foreign students. The fraternities were asked to assist those male students needing assistance, and the women's dormitories were put at the disposal of the female students.

The foreign student program rapidly took shape with Chapter Mu taking the initiative and assuming immediate leadership among the fraternities. Because of our interest and activity in the program, we were given first choice as to which of the foreign students we would want as our guest boarder. Though the choice was obviously of a completely blind and arbitrary nature, since none of the students had yet reached America, we were nonetheless very fortunate in choosing a nineteen-year-old Dutch boy by the name of Niels Halbertsma.

Niels comes from Amsterdam, but much of his life was lived in the Dutch East Indies, where his father had certain interests in the Java tea trade. On his official university record there appears this brief summary of his past years, written by Niels himself: "My parents were living in Batavia when I was born in 1929. We were four children then, but in 1930 a fifth was born. Living happily together we were, as children, unaware of the economic crisis. My recollections of life on Java begin in 1933, especially since we were going to live in the mountains in 1934 in surroundings which now seem to us to be 'Paradise Lost'."

The Halbertsmas escaped the Japanese occupation by returning to Holland in 1938, only to fall victims to the German occupation two years later. The family fortunately survived intact, but it had to begin once again reconstructing itself financially.

Niels is a young man of considerable stature, the product of generations of tall ancestors. He is six feet three inches (his father is six feet five inches and his grandfather was seven feet), with thin features and blond hair. He has an incomparable personality, alternately jovial and serious, but always pleasing. His interesting stories of the bombing of Rotterdam and the effects of the war on his family have kept many a bull session spellbound. Since his arrival at the Shelter Niels has achieved eminent popularity, and Chapter Mu feels proud to have him as a "member" of its group.

As for Niels, he wrote for the University record: "I consider America as THE country where I should like to live and develop myself, and that is the reason that I am reaching for the Stars and Stripes."

PROMINENT IN PUBLICATIONS

Mu Chapter at Ohio Wesleyan stands supreme again this year at the head of campus publications. Delts have held top positions in all publications and six men have achieved an unusual record for participation and leadership in the field of journalism.

Norm Cornish serves as editor-in-chief of the Transcript, one of the best weeklies in the state, according to contest awards. Cornish served as "issue editor" last year and has been a correspondent for the Cleveland Plain Dealer and Pic magazine.

Jack Gale now serves as Transcript news editor. Last year Gale was editor of the campus yearbook Le Bijou, and also edited the freshman handbook. He has recently been appointed editor of Mu Murs, chapter publication.

Harold Whipple edits the literary magazine, Owl, and serves as special columnist on the Transcript.

Chris Whittle assumed the position of feature editor on the Transcript this year after serving as associate make-up editor. He is prominent in Red Cross activities, serving as State Chairman of Public Relations for the Ohio Council of College Units for his second year. He also edits the Transcript "International Desk," which is one of the few pages of its kind in the country.

Alex Cook serves again this year as Transcript art editor. He won first place in the Ohio College Newspaper Association contest for the 1946-1947 year and took honorable mention in 1947-48. His artistic character Rodney Dow is well known to all at Wesleyan. Cook holds the honor of being president of the campus chapter of the national journalism honorary, Phi Delta Epsilon.

Bill Gunn has been appointed sports editor of the Transcript. Gunn was formerly a sports correspondent for the Cleveland Plain Dealer and Cleveland Press. He is a member of the University publicity office's student staff.

Other Delts prominent in campus journalism include Dave Reed, fraternity editor of the Bijou. Dave has served as Bijou advertising manager and now assists on the Transcript advertising staff along with Brothers Clyde Knapp and Dick Rosser. Bill Vandervort and Dave Weller assist Cook on the Transcript art staff, while Bentley Booher and Bill Besuden help Whittle on the feature staff. Brothers Bob Mortenson and Ray Herman serve on the sports staff under Gunn. Many other Delts are taking an active part in campus publications this year and a new class of fraternity journalists is rapidly taking its place among these men of Mu in journalism.

Omicron—Iowa

The closing of the Shelter for the summer months didn't bring a halt to all activities of Omicron Chapter. One of the most successful summer rushing programs on record was promoted by Jack Thomas, rush chairman. Aided by the very active support of alums throughout the state, several picnics were held in Sioux City, Davenport, Des Moines, and Marshalltown—all of them in true Delt style.

TRADITIONAL SERENADES

The Delts heralded their return to campus life by renewing their traditional serenades. Under popular song leader and renowned vocalist Wayne McClow, many new numbers and arrangements were added to our ever-growing repertoire.

HOMECOMING CELEBRATION

One of the finest homecoming celebrations ever will be held at Omicron this year. Invitations have been sent to all alums and a record turnout is expected. Besides traditional displays, a reception and dinner will be held in the Shelter.

Rho—Stevens

The fall season finds Rho members in full swing in one of Stevens' major sports activities—soccer. Bob Gooley, high scorer of last season, plays inside left position again, with Don Cordell as lightning half-back and "Pluto" Fredricks as center. Soon to fill the varsity ranks are Bill Graf and Don and Bill Landmann moving from the Jay Vee squad.

TOUCH OF ART

The "old" Shelter had a touch of art in the form of interior decoration, done by the skillful hands of our brothers in their rooms. The results were excellent considering that we are all "dirty-finger-nail embryo scientists" (student engineers).

Tau—Penn State

Tau Chapter returned to the Penn State campus a week early to ready the Shelter for an intense rushing program under the guiding hand of Bob Burns, rushing chairman.

Last year's pledge class of six men contributed a total of ten activities ranging from Thespians to first-string track squad. Their combined scholastic average was also higher than that of the brothers, indicating the increasing quality of men joining the Delt ranks.

We have been fortunate in having three transfer Delts: Ken Miller from Wesleyan, Dan Dunn from Duke, and Bill Winters from W. & J.

Phi—W. & L.

With school activities getting started at a rapid pace, Phi has again assumed a position of prominence. Charlie Rowe, president-elect of the student body, will assume his duties in October when he returns to law school. Jock Morrison, vice-president of the chapter, has taken up his duties as managing editor of the Ring-Tum Phi, Washington and Lee's semi-weekly newspaper. Jock is also a leading member of the Southern Collegian staff.

CREW MEMBERS

In the world of sports, we find Brothers Sullivan and Huntley out for varsity crew. Sullivan won his varsity monogram in crew last spring, and he is an almost sure repeater. Wink Glasgow is again coach and manager of the General rowers. It was largely due to the efforts of Wink that crew was revived at Washington and Lee after the war.

ANTICIPATE HOMECOMING

Phi is anxiously looking forward to homecoming on October 16. More than 250 alumni have been invited back for the occasion. Tal Bond, Charlie Glasgow, Dick Jones, Pete Robert, and Charlie Green have done yeoman work in this capacity. We are expecting a large turnout.

Chi—Kenyon

Thanks to the loyal support of its alumni, Chi Chapter began the fall semester this year with a newly decorated Shelter. Among the additions to the parlor are new couches and carpets and a large bear skin contributed by Brother Fischbach. The old parlor furniture was distributed among the other rooms so that the entire division is much improved.

LEADS IN ATHLETICS

Maintaining our leadership in athletics and social life on campus and continuing to improve our scholastic rating are major objectives in Chi's plans this year. In the athletic department Chi men, as usual, hold more than their proportionate share of varsity positions. Tag Basinger, Sam Montague, Pete Weaver, and Bud Herring are mainstays of Kenyon's starting football line-up, while Gerri Cannon is second-team quarterback.

On the soccer field Charlie Thomas, John Young, Ted Jennings, and Bill Coonley represent the Delts. Other members of the chapter, including Eppa (The Score) Rixey, are awaiting the opening of the basketball and swimming seasons to continue their athletic activities.

HOLD COLLEGE OFFICES

The Delts are also well represented in the elective offices of the school. Sam Montague is president of the senior class and Bill Schneebeck is president of the Intramural Board. George Striebing and Al Smith are on the school social committee. Bob Carr represents us on the student council, while Bud Herring is a member of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Dave Andrews is on the school promotion committee, and Pete Weaver is business manager of the Revielle, Kenyon's yearbook.

PRESENT SISTER PIN

Chi Chapter took advantage of the first meeting of the year to express appreciation to "Aunt Julie" Lawless, its unofficial housemother, for the friendship and hospitality she has graciously extended to it. She was serenaded by the whole chapter and then presented with a Delt sister pin.

Omega—Pennsylvania

The University of Pennsylvania and Omega Chapter are beginning the new school year with new presidents. Harold E. Stassen is our University President; Bob Godfrey is our chapter president.

COFFEE HOURS

The new alumni relations committee is endeavoring to encourage alumni interest. Following the Penn-Dartmouth football game, the first of a series of coffee hours welcomed alumni, friends, and Delts from other chapters, including Lehigh and Ohio State. In the evening, the opening party of the year was a complete success as evidenced by the large numbers who turned out.

NEW SYSTEM

The chapter's kitchen is under the management of Dick Thomas, our new steward. Under the new system, a cook has replaced the caterer employed last year. All food is now being procured from the university's new fraternity co-op.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

Beta Alpha Delts were both surprised and impressed when they returned to the Shelter this fall. During the summer the entire house was redecorated, and in addition the living room was completely refurnished with all new, all leather furniture. We have our hats off to our house corporation for its splendid co-operation and also to the brothers in summer school who helped splash on the new paint.

FOOTBALL VARSITY

The Deltas were well represented on the I. U. football squad this fall. Senior Del Russel and Sophomore Al Linneman will see a lot of action with the varsity this season. Four future Deltas are listed on the freshman roster. They are Al Novak, Danny Thomas, Jack Leer, and Jack Tichenor.

Beta Beta—DePauw

Inspired by the success Delta Chapter has had with a house mascot, Kenny Ingram, who spent his summer in the Michigan Shelter while carrying on his studies there, came back to DePauw with a Great Dane pup who since has been named "Duchess." Though lean and clumsy, she has seemed to the brothers to be making remarkable strides in co-ordinating her lanky appendages while continuing to down prodigious amounts of food daily. We may now make the progress report that in three weeks she has gone through one collar, twenty pounds of meat, six boxes of dog food, and one rug. Any suggestions will be welcomed.

FACE LIFTING

In preparation for the 1948 fall rush, the Beta Beta Shelter had its face lifted from within this summer. Brothers Barkley, Ware, Creswell, Duesing, Fibbe, Stephens, Cooper, Ingram, Dehner, Kruger, and Shemberger returned a week early to finish the job on the study rooms which the painters had begun in the living and dining rooms. Now the house gleams under a new pearl gray in the upstairs rooms, canary yellow and mahogany in the stairwells. The alums will also enjoy the mist green living room and buff dining room which we are proudly showing to the campus.

Already the new Beta Beta frosh have made their weight felt in athletics, intramurals, and interfraternity joustings. Boots Ingram, Dave Herring, Dick Chamberlin, Jack Tuhey, and Gerry Roberts have come to the fore on the freshman football team. Dick Reading, Scott McAlister, Tom Christy, and Rich Haller all show promise in swimming, while Ross Trotman and Tom Gardner appear odds-on favorites for a berth on the junior varsity basketball team.

Beta Zeta—Butler

Harry Farmer, Butler's all star left end, started another successful season as the Deltas cheered and covered the field and stands with ticker tape.

Clyde Steckel, Harry Farmer, and Jack Gilberg were selected for Sphinx, junior men's honorary; while Bob Watkins and Byron Fry were initiated into Blue Key, senior men's honorary—guess we're off to a big start!

Beta Zeta's annual Thanksgiving vacation house party is well under way. Reservations are set for thirty fellows and their dates at the Spring Mill State Park Inn. The week end of a treasure hunt, hayride, folk party, banquet, and dance is being eagerly anticipated by the whole chapter.

Practices are well under way already to aid us in winning the annual campus sing next spring. We've kept that first place trophy for four years straight, we're aiming for the fifth.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

Minnesota opened its home football season with a 39-13 win over Nebraska, and the Deltas started the season with a coffee-and-doughnuts open house immediately after the game, followed by a party in the Shelter later in the evening. We were happy to be host to numerous alumni and four visitors from Beta Tau Chapter of Nebraska.

FORMER ADVISER VISITS

Recently we were pleased to receive, as a visitor, Dave Thomas, Sr., who has a long record of service to this chapter. Dave Thomas, Jr., a more recent active, spent the summer pitching for Houston, Rochester, and Tampa—all members of the St. Louis Cardinals chain to which Dave belongs. Dave is looking forward to playing the winter season in Panama.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

Beta Theta started off her 1948-49 season with one of the best rush weeks that we have ever had. On Friday night, September 24, we had a dance at the Shelter. As most of the new students did not know any girls around the Mountain, the chapter invited twenty-five girls from Ward-Belmont down for the dance, but Lo! the sad faces, when bright and early Friday morning the social director from Ward-B. called to tell us that the girls were all "campused" for the week end.

After many long-distance calls, however, and much last-minute pleading, the Shelter was filled Friday evening with a bevy of beautiful girls. The house was well decorated, Don Q's orchestra was good, and the warm hospitality for which the chapter is noted on the Mountain all combined for one of the finest dances we have seen in the Shelter.

BANQUET

The next night we had a banquet at the Shelter for about seventy-five people, including alumni and friends. We were especially glad to have with us Dr. and Mrs. J. Nicholas Gill from Chattanooga. Dr. Gill is a Delt from Beta Chapter. Brother Hodges, our chapter advisor, gave a short welcoming speech to the crowd, as did Brother Myers and Brother McGoldrick, members of the faculty.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

On September 9 the Olin Hotel in Denver was the scene of a successful rush party, which was highlighted by the showing of colored slides depicting scenes at the Shelter representing almost a complete year of school. The new South Denver High School football coach, Brother Frank Mielenz, Nebraska, '26, was also present. He spoke of some of the old ideas on hazing, which are now outmoded by The Delt Development Program.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

Beta Lambda Chapter at Lehigh University insured itself of continued campus leadership by the pledging of eight top men from the freshman class and a junior transfer.

The new pledge class, coupled with the appointments of Stan Lawler as editor of the Brown and White and head cheerleader, and Earle Compton's election as editor of the Epitome (yearbook), give the house its usual top rung among Lehigh's fraternities.

FIRST-STRING ENDS

Art Ferris and Alex Smith are holding down first-string end positions on the football team this year, while Earle Compton, All-America soccer player of last year, is again one of the stars this year.

Beta Mu—Tufts

For three hectic days last May the Shelter at Beta Mu was turned upside down for the renewal of a classic and colorful Tufts tradition. The campaign for Mayor of Tufts College saw the Delt "Safari Party" backing Delt Perry "Congo" Congdon, renowned big-game hunter.

With shorts and pith helmet and his trusty forty-gauge shotgun, Congo and his followers stalked the campus hunting votes and treeing everything from rival candidates to Jackson coeds. Like the true and daring sportsman that he is, "Congo" produced wild animals, caged, from the jungles of darkest Africa, among which was a midget black panther, previously known around the Shelter as "Kitty," and an extremely undomesticated (and indiscreet) wild goat.

The spirited campaigning, in which the whole house took part, proved to be great fun. Beta Mu is now readying its vote-getting machine for next year's mayoralty campaign.

JUMBO GRIDDERS

Beta Mu is well represented on the Tufts varsity football team this year by Chuck Berndt, Frank Steves, "Junie" Wall, and Jim Hayward.

Little Chuck Berndt, a senior and a mite of six feet, four inches and 250 pounds, amply fills the tackle slot he has held for the last three years. He is the biggest man on the team, and aside from Tufts' stuffed elephant mascot, Jumbo, and a few of the larger dorms, Chuck is about the largest thing on the campus. His roommate, Guard Frankie Steves, is team captain of the Jumbomen. Jim Hayward, recently returned from the service, packs plenty of punch as blocking back in the quarterback position. Newcomer "Junie" Wall, initiated October 4, has come up from the frosh team to take the fullback slot. He has been outstanding, with an average of eight yards per plunge thus far.

Former Beta Mu President Larry Kennedy, a varsity guard in past years, is so busy scouting rival teams and coaching the jayvees that he has yet to see a Tufts game this season.

Beta Nu—M. I. T.

During the summer Phil Phaneuf was appointed chapter adviser of Beta Nu. Phil is an alumnus of this chapter ('42) and for the past few years has been serving on the Beta Nu House Corporation. We are sure that every man in the house will give him his full support.

Beta Xi—Tulane

Tulane Deltas are faced with the prospect of a great year in Panhellenic sports. With touch football first on the agenda, the chapter has built a team that ranks as one of the favorites in the league. Coach Paul Morphy, Jr., has combined his experienced men from last year with a group of promising pledges which he thinks will improve rapidly with proper handling.

Kerry Redmann, the pass-snagging, hard-hitting wingback, and Sam Blanchard (cousin of "Doc") at center are among the standouts from the pledge class, while such old regulars as Bob Fuselier at tackle, Jerry Modenback at end, and Freddie Hare performing triple-threat duties in the backfield will form a highly versatile team.

The team boasts a line average of 210 pounds. Such a line, combined with two shifty, 190-pound backs and two exceptionally fast wingbacks—F. J. Toups and Bob Augustin—makes the team markedly proficient in every department.

Beta Omicron—Cornell

At this writing the brothers are busily completing plans and preparations for their annual house corporation meeting to be held October 23. This week end has been designated as "Your Week End" to the alumni and will feature a regularly scheduled house meeting, the Cornell-Army football game, with dinner and dancing afterwards. Invitations have been sent to all Beta Omicron alumni urging them to attend. It is expected that this will be the largest meeting since the war.

HEAVIER THAN VARSITY

Intramural football occupies the spotlight this fall, with the Deltas boasting a line heavier than the varsity's. Joe Stianche, at 245 pounds, tops the list, with Dick Appleby, Bill Duba, Jerry Rice, and Fred Turk filling in the other line positions on the "touch" team. In the backfield are Bill Edson, Joe Morrow, Kim von Storch, and Dick Brown. This, incidentally, is the same team almost to a man that finished up in the top eight of the entire school.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

One of the most eagerly awaited events on the Northwestern social calendar this fall is the annual Freshman Pajama Race sponsored by Beta Pi, to be held Friday night, November 5. The chapter expects that more than 3,000 will line the track, a blocked-off Evanston street, to watch this relay race.

Each fraternity enters a team of four freshmen, each member of the team running approximately 220 yards. Every entrant must be clothed in pajamas, and of course there are always more cheers from the girls for the loudest pair than for running ability.

After the race the spectators will attend an open house at the Shelter. At this time a beautiful gold trophy is awarded the winning relay team. In addition, the candidates from the sororities for the Queen will be presented to the guests. The Queen is chosen by lot, and then she and her court in turn select the freshman with the brightest pajamas.

The high light of the evening is when the lucky wearer of the loud pajamas is kissed by the Race Queen in the glare of spotlights and flash bulbs on the front porch of the Shelter. Throughout the rest of the evening cider and doughnuts are available in quantity.

PLEDGE BANQUET

After the formal pledging of twenty-two new men this fall, a banquet was held in the Shelter in honor of the "Jets," as the class was nicknamed because of its fiery spirit. The dinner was complete with shrimp cocktail, turkey, and home-made cherry pie as only our cook, Maria, can bake it. Mr. Stuart Fox, newly elected President of the Northern Division, was our special guest, along with many other alumni of Beta Pi.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

Active Gardner Johnson is one of the few sophomores on Patsy Clark's Cornhusker varsity. Active Bill Kane, former Husker guard, is now helping coach the freshman squad. From the pledge class, Dave Overturf, Will Burnett, George Williams, Harley Richardson, Bob Fester, Bob Mason, and Tom Hopkins are out for freshman football. Elton Gillam is trying out for the wrestling team. Nearly all of the Beta Tau league-champion intramural football team is back; so another good year is expected for the Deltas in football.

FALL INITIATION

A fall initiation is being planned, at which time three men—Harold Breetzke, Charles Pedersen, and Tom McVay—will be initiated into Delta Tau Delta.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

Four Illinois Deltas are lending their talent to football this season. Each is contributing to a different phase of the sport.

John Gothard is sophomore manager of the varsity team, while Bill Beck wears the white and orange sweater of a cheerleader.

Lionel Stacey, from Barrien Springs, Michigan, is one of the promising freshman backfield men working for a place on the varsity next fall.

At starting left-half position on the varsity is Murney Lazier. His speed, drive, and defensive ability fill out a versatile backfield. Murney is also about to achieve Bronze Tablet, an honorary for students who end their fourth year in the upper three per cent of their college.

DELTA NEWSPAPERMEN

The Daily Illini, the best college daily in the country, has on its staff two men from Beta Upsilon.

Bill Peeples, associate editor, has been with the paper for three years. Last year he was elected to Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, and Sachem, an Illinois junior activity honorary.

Al Hall, who has seven Beta Upsilon relatives, is an assistant sports editor.

Beta Chi—Brown

Brown's soccer team, looked upon as the Eastern "dark horse" in this fall's competition, is paced by three Deltas.

Herb Wieboldt, a two-year letterman, will again be back at the left half position. A man with a "talented toe," he boots the free kicks for the Bears. His great play last year made the left side of the field practically impassable.

The Michael brothers—Gray and Dave—form a stellar inside right and center forward combination. They spearhead Brown's offensive power. They are expected to account for many scores.

THREE STARTERS

There are three Deltas in the starting line-up of the Brown football team. They are Bill McClellan, tackle; Bob Searles, end; and Joe Condon, center.

McClellan started with the varsity in 1946, when he was named on several All-New England squads. He repeated in 1947. Searles is a letter winner from 1946. Equally effective on offense and defense, he is expected to do some of the punting for the Bears this fall. Last year, "Joe the Toe" Condon kicked eighteen conversions in twenty-three attempts, plus one field goal, to make him the third highest scorer on the team. A versatile player, he also kicks off for Brown.

The three regulars are backed up by Deltas Vince D'Angelo, reserve center, and John Sullivan, reserve end.

Beta Psi—Wabash

Delta Tau maintains its prominent position in athletics at Wabash College with Len Wahl, fullback; Norm Wilson, halfback; Frank Ritter, tackle; Milt Lankton, end; George Ekstadt, end; Jim Smith, halfback; Thayne Sando, end; and Tom Barrett, tackle, on the varsity squad. On the freshman squad are John Love, guard; Bob Mace, quarterback; and Sam Harrell, end. Doyle Pickett is manager of the freshman team.

SHELTER IMPROVED

With funds donated by alumni, the house has been partially redecorated. The furniture has been re-upholstered and a new stove purchased.

Beta Omega—California

"Football fever," common in the fall season, has struck heavily at Cal, and Beta Omega is in the thick of it. Every Saturday finds the Shelter full of both active and alumni members of Delta Tau Delta and their friends. There they enjoy a buffet lunch before proceeding to the game.

Representing the teams from freshman to varsity are John Dawson, end; Joe O'Brien, tackle; and Bill Levy, center.

RENOVATION

The summer vacation also found feverish activity at the Shelter. The house had a good working over involving painting and installing new floors. This semester the brothers are continuing work on building a dance floor and barbecue pit outside in the spacious grounds of the Shelter. On hand to help in the project are thirteen new pledges, the result of a successful fall rushing program.

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

The Shelter at Dartmouth reopened on September 25, in preparation for an active fall season. Returning brothers were first greeted by the sight of new furniture on the back porch. The house and grounds are in excellent shape.

WIN ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Presentation of the 1947-48 interfraternity awards highlighted the Dartmouth scene this October, and Gamma Gamma of Delta Tau Delta was the top recipient at this program. Even an impartial observer would be prone to claim the whole program was strictly a Delt affair. In harvesting the fruits of last year's efforts, the Deltas walked off with the second-place scholarship plaque, the first-place special events plaque, and the all-college special events trophy.

The crowning glory came when President John Dahle was called on to receive for us the solid bronze first-place plaque for Combined Achievement, which is obtained by totaling the points from all of the divisions of the competition. This overall trophy was ardently sought after by twenty-two fraternities; it is the highest award in interfraternity competition given to one house which is top each year. These awards also provide lasting evidence of a completely successful year and serve as a challenge to make the present year equally outstanding.

Entertainment at the program was provided by the three winning glee clubs of last spring's hum, which of course, included the Delt aggregation. Ort Hicks conducted, using his own arrangement of "Delt Marching Song," last year's runner-up ("I Remember You"), and a spiritual worked up for the occasion—"Put on Your Old Gray Robe." The group was in fine voice, and will prove to be a tough competitor again this year, besides providing enjoyment for themselves and their dates.

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

Last year Gamma Delta received two scholarship cups. One is a permanent trophy. The permanent cup is for the best average for the academic year 1946-47; the other is a traveling trophy which becomes the property of the first fraternity to win three times. So far only two wins have been recorded and both by Gamma Delta. Scholarship means a good deal, and we intend to stay on top at West Virginia.

LINEMEN

Charles Knabe and Frank Allen are playing varsity football. Knabe, hailing from Wheeling, plays at tackle and weighs 205. Frank Allen is from Parkersburg and plays center. This is Allen's first year. He is six feet five inches and weighs 190 pounds. Both men will give West Virginia's opponents some trouble before their college days are over.

FRATERNITY OFFICERS

Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity, has three Gamma Deltas in office this year. They are: Don Fleming, president; Charles Knabe, treasurer; and Frank Durst, secretary. Another member, Wendel Lough, holds office in two honoraries. He is secretary of the campus American Mechanical Engineers and vice-president of the Combined Engineering Society.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

Delta Tau Delta started the year off at Wesleyan by doing the most creditable freshman rushing job in twenty-five years by Gamma Zeta Chapter. In receiving the highest number of first choices by freshmen, Gamma Zeta not only outdid all the other fraternities, but also walked off with the biggest delegation on campus, sixteen men, including one student of advanced standing.

Leading the house in its successful rushing program were Dunc Fraser, president, and Lou Willsea, rushing chairman, plus Dave Schick, transfer student from the University of Washington, who furnished new ideas, and a rushing committee which co-ordinated the six days of activities.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

After the first hectic year of reactivation, Gamma Eta now stands more than twenty strong, ready and eager to face the coming rush season. On hand to aid the chapter during this period are the three new initiates, Bob MacMillan, Mel Breneman, and Jim Krefting, as well as the two affiliates, Roy Gourley and John Bundo.

Charlie Crichton, the chapter's delegate to the Interfraternity Council, has been elected secretary of that organization, evidence that the chapter is once again inching its way back to a position of respect on the campus.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Gamma Kappa pledged a total of twenty-nine rushees for her 1948 fall pledge class. This was the largest pledge class among all the men's organized houses this year and it established a new record for Gamma Kappa. Much of the credit for this fine showing goes to suggestions picked up at the Karnea this August and to the excellent work performed by the rushing committee this summer.

One of the big factors in the success of our fall rushing was the list supplied by the University of last year's scholarship averages of the organized men's houses. Delta Tau ranked seventh among the twenty-four fraternities on campus. Her average for the year was more than eight points better than the University All Men's average.

WINGMEN ARE DELTS

Missouri's gridiron squad, picked as the Big Seven Conference favorite this year, numbers four Gamma Kappa Deltas among its members. Two of them, Mel Sheehan and Bob Ebinger, hold down first-string end positions, while Jack Frier, quarterback, and Roger Englert, left half, are listed in the reserves.

NEW HOUSEMOTHER

Among the nine new housemothers that came to the Missouri campus this fall is Gamma Kappa's new Mother Toomey. Former councilor of Wales Hall, Stephens College, Mother Toomey brings nine years of experience as a housemother to the Shelter. Although she has been with the chapter for only two months, Mother Toomey has already made us realize what we were missing before.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Ready to help carry the ball for this year are Cazier, Gilmore, Tam, Melin, Lewis, Paratore, all of whom were initiated last spring.

Bob Brizzolara, our athletic manager, is expecting the participation trophy for this year. During the summer session Lyon, Barden, Kwasniewski, Clingan, and Mitchell gained yardage by coping second and third, respectively, in intramural swimming and archery, just to give "Brizz" a good start.

Plenty of pep talk is being handed out by Assistant Captain Russ Elfvin, who is in charge of planning a feast and frolic as well as the BIG decoration for homecoming.

Dick Cartwright, captain of the team, believes this to be one of the greatest Gamma Lambda teams yet.

Gamma Mu—Washington

Of special interest to other Delt chapters throughout the nation is the news that Gamma Mu Chapter ranked first in scholarship over all other Greek houses on the University of Washington campus for the 1947-48 school year. Third on the campus before the war and second in 1946, the Washington Deltas finally reached the top last year.

Gamma Nu—Maine

Returning members and pledges were greeted by a renovated main floor. The living room has been done with gray walls; the floor is covered by a fine new deep gray carpet. Maroon overstuffed, leather chairs and couches now afford Deltas and their guests really comfortable sitting and lounging. This redecoration has made the Shelter not only the newest, but the best dressed, fraternity house along Maine's fraternity row.

HOMECOMING

With a newly decorated and furnished Shelter as an added incentive to "come home," Gamma Nu is expecting the biggest gang of grads ever to show up for the Homecoming Week End at Maine this fall. With the football tussle with Colby, campus activities, a house formal, picnic, and informal dance as definite attractions, it is hoped that the prospect of bull sessions with old friends and brothers in the Shelter game room will entice many, many alumni back into the fold.

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

The chapter looks back in retrospect to a successful rush season following the participation in the Fifty-ninth Karnea by ten of Gamma Xi's men. A high light of the rushing season was an active-alum picnic which featured a double-header ball game.

The Northern Kentucky alums faced a determined Cincinnati alum nine in the first game, while the active-rush team battled the combined alums in the second contest. The Cincy alums were awarded a loving cup for their victory, while the combined alum team had to be satisfied with the glory of a 9 to 8 win.

That evening, Active Cliff Fischer carried off the prize in a duck-pin contest, but cheating was suspected on the part of runner-up Forrest Maddux, alumni president, who thought up the contest and was seen earlier practicing in a neighborhood bowling alley.

Another unique party well attended by active and alumni was the Delta Carlo Rush Party. Paper money, not of Uncle Sam's make, changed hands wildly throughout the evening in amounts that would startle the Bank of America. Roulette, craps, poker, black jack, and other forms of chance provided the means of exchange.

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

The first social event for Gamma Pi was a "Nebraska Migration" to Lincoln to witness the Cyclone-Cornhusker gridiron battle. A thrilling game played in perfect weather was ample reward for the long journey. Twenty-five members and our housemother, Mrs. Peden, supported the efforts of Delt Cheerleader Pete Meeks.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

Gamma Rho went into rush week on the Oregon campus this fall with a complete redoing of the Shelter interior, including an overall painting, new carpets, and new drapes, to put the house into good appearance for rushing.

BETA RHO HOSPITALITY

Several members and pledges enjoyed the hospitality of Beta Rho Chapter on the Stanford campus over the week end of September 25. The Oregon men were on the Palo Alto campus to witness the Oregon-Stanford football game. All reported having a good time, thanks to our Brother Delts at Stanford. A sheepskin was bet and lost to Delta Chapter at the University of Michigan for the Oregon-Michigan football contest, which the Big-Nine champs won 14-0.

PROSPECTS GOOD

A good year in athletics, both intramural and on Oregon teams, is seen for Gamma Rho this year. New initiate Tony Geremia is at the date of writing a top contender for the quarterback slot on the freshman football team. Brother Geremia was on the campus last spring to participate in spring football practice. Eddie Sanford, rated last spring as the best softball pitcher in the intramural race, is with us again.

COMMENDATION FROM PRESIDENT

Brother Al Pietschman received a letter of commendation from University President Harry K. Newburn for Al's work as chairman of the Oregon Picnic in Portland last August. Because of Al's excellent management and hard work, the annual affair was rated by Dr. Newburn as the best in several years.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

Gamma Sigma Delts have returned to take their places in Pitt activities. President Jim Greaney assumed the presidency of IF Council to succeed Delt Franklin Blackstone. In addition, Jim is also a member of Student Congress and active on its social committee.

BANDSMEN

Pitt's band is generally conceded to be tops in the East and one of the best in the country. Brother Jack Baldinger sets the cadence for this fine outfit and is president of the band fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi. Roy Barns is a section leader in the band. Brothers Procyk, Evans, Denison, and Smiley and Pledge Orange complete the Delt roster in this excellent organization.

Winning varsity letters this fall are Al Fleck, track; Bill Brehm, basketball; cheerleader Jack Barilar; and Franklin Blackstone, head cheerleader and varsity debater. Also out for varsity debate this fall are Brothers Swanson, Houck, Purdy, and Gregory. Members of Delta Tau Delta have a campus reputation as debaters after their sweep of the interfraternity debate last year.

On Pitt publications this fall are Bill Raines, Bob Levis, and Fred Purdy, Pitt News reporters, and Pledge Ralph Douglas, who is on the business staff of the Panther magazine. Roy Barns is this year's business manager of the yearbook, the Owl; and Pledge Jack Plowman is its assistant layout editor. Pledge Kovar is the copy editor of the Pitt News.

ODK PREXY

Franklin Blackstone has the high honor of being president of ODK, the senior honorary fraternity. Bill Raines is also a member of ODK as well as the military fraternity, Scabbard and Blade.

Rounding out this picture of Delts in campus activities are Brothers Matson and Swanson on the YMCA Council, Pledge

Dick Bright on the Men's Glee Club, and in the Chapel Choir, Bill Swanson.

Gamma Tau—Kansas

Gamma Tau Chapter finished third in scholarship among twenty-two fraternities last spring to maintain the scholastic standing attained in the fall semester.

SPORTING DELTS

As Gamma Tau looks forward to the coming year, it finds Charles Moffett and John Kongs on the varsity football squad, with Pledges John McConnell and Karl Carington as top contenders for positions on this year's freshman football and basketball teams respectively.

HOST TO PARENTS

On October 10, the chapter was host to the parents, alumni, and friends of Gamma Tau at an afternoon tea which marked the formal opening of the newly decorated chapter house and grateful appreciation to the Lawrence Mothers' Club for their gift of a beautiful tea service to Gamma Tau.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

Gamma Upsilon started off the 1948-1949 school year with a clean slate and new coat of paint on the house. Due to several vacancies in chapter offices as a result of summer school graduation, it was necessary to elect new men to fill the positions of president, vice-president, and recording secretary. John Speer, Carter Wilmot, and Otis Benson, respectively, were elected at the initial active meeting to fill these positions.

NEW HOUSEMOTHER

This year also marks the initial year for our new housemother, "Mom" Williams, who has already endeared herself to the Miami Delts. Both of Mom's sons, Bruce and Bob, were Delts; she is now making it a family affair. Through her wonderful personality and boundless energy Mom has contributed to the new spirit that pervades the Delts this year and holds promise of great success.

DAD'S DAY PLANNED

Plans for Homecoming are now under way. The chapter will publish an alumni newsletter two weeks prior to Saturday, October 30, Homecoming, which will include the schedule of events and latest chapter news. Also in the planning stage is a new function on the social calendar. A week end is being set aside for a celebration similar to that held at the Shelter for Mother's Day. This event will take place the week end of November 13-14, which is the week end of the Dad's Day football game with Wichita.

PASSING STAR BACK

On the fall sports squads Gamma Upsilon is well represented. Mel Olix, All-Ohio and all-conference quarterback, is back directing the T tactics of Miami's Redskins. From all indications, Olix, who ranked among the top passers in the country last season, is due to add even more laurels.

The grid squad roster also includes the names of seven other Delts. Back Ray Green has seen a good deal of action thus far, along with center Bob Kappes, who has been hampered with a leg injury. End Arch McCartney, who played first-string last season for Miami's Sun Bowl champions, has just returned to action. McCartney broke his ankle in spring drills and is now rounding into shape. Other varsity men include Dick Kessler, Marv Moorehead, John Sanders, and John North.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach George Rider's cross country squad finds Ian Weber and Hal Purvis making bids for top places. Purvis is a returning letterman, while Weber is in his initial year of cross country competition.

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

In the fall of 1946, a bright and shining Delt was at the door to greet all the prospective Delts who entered the Shelter during rush week. His charming appearance and graciousness at once brought home to one's mind that Deltism is truly something fine.

A few short weeks later this Delt left our chapter of Delta Alpha to enter the Chapter Eternal. To the Delts at Oklahoma he was Tate Fry. Tate was initiated in 1931 as a graduating senior and thus through necessity all his work towards the chapter was accomplished as an alumnus. His death was keenly felt by the actives of the chapter, for his constant guidance and devotion to his Fraternity were inspirations to those with whom he served.

During the next two years after his death a fitting tribute to Tate for his unceasing work was wanting. Then last May with the expansion of the Shelter a new recreational lounge was constructed and appropriately named the Tate Fry Room. This lounge will be an ever-present reminder of that wearer of the Golden Square at the University of Oklahoma.

We of Delta Alpha humbly pay tribute to Tate Fry, 1903-1946.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Delta Beta Chapter at Carnegie Tech. It is a big milestone in our progress, and plans are being made to celebrate the event in a manner becoming all Good Delts. All alumni have been urged to attend the big Fraternity week end of November 12 and 13 at the Shelter.

A committee composed of members of every class has been making many preparations for the celebration. A special effort is being made to have all the charter members back to participate in a reinitiation ceremony. This should be a fine climax to a fine week end.

Friday night the Shelter will have open house as a general meeting place for actives and alumni. There will be a big banquet Saturday night with many prominent Delts as speakers which will feature the reinitiation ceremony.

Special favors will be presented to the alumni during the week end. Last year's pledge class has compiled a chapter history, and there will be copies available for everyone at the celebration. All in all, the week end should prove to be a gala and inspiring affair.

Delta Gamma—South Dakota

Sparkling another great Coyote team are several Delts. Heading the list is versatile Jack Van Arsdale. Besides calling plays, Jack does all of the passing, punting, and more than his share of the running attack.

At the fullback slot is bruising Merle Houck. This hard-driving back always makes yardage when he hits that line. Opening holes for these two backs are big Norm Bartholow and "Duff" Lorentson. These two boys tip the scale at a measly 220.

Both Van Arsdale and Bartholow made the North Central all-conference team last year, and they are out for all-conference honors again in their third year of first-string ball. This is Houck's and Lorentson's second year of varsity ball.

Spence Mallder, freshman, is showing great promise in the backfield. The Delts again have a number of freshmen out for football. The pledges who are showing great promise on the football field are Stan Rhinehart, Bill Coacher, Mike Hooker, and Corky Klostergaard.

SCHOLASTIC HONORS

Proving that social life is not everything, Delta Gamma copped the interfraternity scholarship award. The chapter topped not only the fraternity average but also the non-fraternity average and the all-men's average.

LEADS COYOTE BAND

Again leading the South Dakota University band is "Hank" Johnson, who heads the band for his third year. Besides being the high school state baton-twirling champion of South Dakota from 1940 through 1944, Hank also was the drum major of the Great Lakes Navy Band in 1944. Hank took fourth in Wisconsin's "Spectacle Music," while he took fifth in the national twirling contest in 1946. At the present time Hank is teaching baton-twirling at Vermillion High School. He has been doing this for the past three years.

Delta Zeta—Florida

Delta Zeta dimaxed its highly successful rush week with a pledging banquet held at the 400 Club on the night of September 29. Forty-eight of the University's outstanding freshmen were pinned in an impressive ceremony.

During the banquet welcoming speeches were delivered by prominent alumni visitors from throughout the state. Representing the Jacksonville Alumni Chapter, Brother Harold Frankenberg delivered a short speech in welcoming the new pledges and urging them to pursue their new duties with vigor.

Other alumni present were: Jim Wattenbarger, Harry Crown, and Everett Knight. Master of ceremonies was Delta Zeta's president, Jack Doherty.

In closing the banquet, Delt songs were sung, followed by a get-together party at the Delta Shelter.

Delta Eta—Alabama

The newly redecorated Shelter officially opened September 21 after a summer session filled with plenty of hard work by both actives and pledges.

During the summer the white trimming and the screens of the Shelter were repainted; the living room, dining room, date parlor, and halls were redecorated. An office for the officers of the chapter was built on the second floor. New furniture was purchased for the date parlor, new lamps and ashtrays for the living room, and new furnishings for the dormitory sections.

The pledge class of the summer, one of the largest in Delta Eta's history, presented the house with a handsome mirror, 42 by 72 inches, for the living room. By late summer one of our current projects was completed—a large cement terrace on the side of the Shelter. The terrace gives us additional space for dancing and entertaining and has seen plenty of service since its completion.

Our other summer project—a basement date parlor—was completed in time for fall rush week. We are indebted to Brothers Tom Terry and Bryan Willingham for remaining here between summer and fall quarters to insure its completion. They were assisted by Brothers Dick Myers and Joe Connaughton and Pledge Brother David Mayo. The date parlor took two quarters for completion, but shows the effort which went into it. It is a large room on two levels, panelled with burnt pine. Wrought iron wall lamps add a weathered appearance, and skins decorate the wall. The floor is a serviceable brown asphalt tile. Ingenious red-leather built-in sofas complete the date parlor.

For our fall rushing program we have used the room not only for dancing but for smokers. It, along with the terrace, has done much to alleviate congestion in the Shelter.

Delta Mu—Idaho

Delta Mu's Shelter had its face lifted this summer by a complete repainting and redecorating of the interior. The living room has a new rug and a new large mirror over the fireplace. New furniture was purchased for the guest room and the play room. The main part of the work was done by the fellows in the house who returned to school early.

NEW PLEDGES SHINE

Twenty-one men were pledged to Delta Mu this fall. Gary Nefzger, one of the new pledges, was recently elected as Yell Duke for the University of Idaho for the oncoming year. Bill Marks, another pledge, was chosen to sing in the Vandaleers, a group of select voices on the campus. Dick Moore is playing on the freshman football team and is a good prospect for the Vandals next year.

GREEK PRESIDENT

Delta Mu's vice-president, Adson Starner, was elected president of the Greek Caucus on the Idaho campus.

John Christensen, halfback on the Idaho Vandal football team, is also co-captain.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

Loud groans were echoing 'round the halls of the Shelter for about a week after it had been learned that "Ma Waters," our "Queen of the Kitchen," would no longer be with us. But those groans were soon changed to shouts of approval as our new cook, "Zoa," began the never-ending task of filling Delt stomachs. "Zoa" is an old hand at that questionable pleasure, for she has been dispensing food since as far back as 1931. Her temporary retirement in 1942 terminated eleven years of constant service to Lawrence Delts. Delta Nu is might glad to welcome "Zoa" back.

GOOD DELT DAY

In connection with alumni activities, Saturday, November 6, has been set aside as "Good Delt Day" here at Lawrence. The occasion features an open house at the Shelter, the viewing of the Lawrence-Macalester football game, and the grand banquet at the close of the day. This is an excellent chance for the actives and pledges to become better acquainted with the alumni. More details will be disclosed in the next alumni letter to be sent out by Delta Nu Chapter.

Delta Omicron—Westminster

Paul Titus, chapter president, Bobb Green, and Bill Sewell—all seniors—have been nominated for berths in this year's issue of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Besides being chapter president, Paul is a two-year letterman in track, a member of the International Relations Club and Skull of Seven, senior honorary. Bobb Green is past editor-in-chief of the annual, a member of ODK, Alpha Psi Omega, and past editor of the college newspaper. Bill Sewell is at present attending the American University in Washington, D. C., as an exchange student on the annual Washington semester, which is an honor bestowed by Westminster upon second-semester juniors who have proved themselves outstanding scholastically and in extracurricular activities.

FIRE ENGINE PASSES

The locally famous "Red Terror" of Delta Omicron, the 1926 fire engine that has served for rush weeks, beach parties, and as transportation for our delegates to the Fifty-ninth Karnea, has been sold. Commonly called the "Wallace-Freiburg-Titus Machine," having been owned at one time or the other by these three brothers, she had served the chapter well.

FALL FORMAL

The Delts at Westminster have done it again. For the first time in the school's history a formal masquerade was presented on October 30 by the chapter. The theme of the dance was "Mardi Gras," and that festive air was carried out in all of the house decoration. The fall formal is always presented in honor of the new pledge class. The masquerade was a fitting beginning to the year's social season at Westminster.

WHEELS

Herb Parsons, Delt rush captain, has been elected president of the Pan-Hell Council. Joe Mullin has been named business manager for the 1949 annual, and Bob Lowary will be the news editor of the campus newspaper this year.

Delta Pi—U. S. C.

Converting the servants' quarters and garage into a chapter hall, Delta Pi Chapter at the University of Southern California this summer completed one of the finest chapter rooms in the entire Fraternity. The new room encompasses the entire downstairs of the building and is so constructed that it can hold close to 100 persons during the initiation ceremonies.

Seating arrangements have been planned after a "stadium" set-up, much like a boxing arena, where spectators can "look down" on the ceremony being conducted in the center of the room. A gift of the alumni of Delta Pi, the new chapter room will have Delt crests on each side of the main door, which should have a highly effective appearance. The main room was enlarged about ten square feet, with the new addition built to conform with the rest of the building, which is of English type construction.

The new chapter room will add much to the grounds and appearance of the entire set-up and will afford the chapter needed room in the house itself and at the same time give Delta Pi one of the finest ceremonial rooms on the Trojan campus.

PLEDGES SHOW PROMISE

Fall pledges of the U. S. C. chapter numbered twenty-one and are showing great spirit in all their activities. Included in the group are several athletes who will be seeing action on Coach Jeff Cravath's varsity eleven, as well as on the cinder-path squad. Dean Dillingham is a highly touted javelin thrower from Salinas who will probably see action next spring. The Forsythe brothers, who are both out for frosh football, will work up to higher positions in the seasons to come.

THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS

Akron

During the summer a petition requesting reconsideration of the Arch Chapter's decision removing Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, as a field for possible expansion was sponsored by Brothers Fred Cramer and Bid Edmund. Twenty-seven names were obtained on this petition in the short time available before the Karnea. The chapter was extremely pleased by the action of the Arch Chapter to reconsider Kent State University as a site for future expansion of the Fraternity. We believe installation of a chapter there would be a fine tribute to the late Emmett C. Stopher, who was Registrar at the University. Brother Stopher had worked for many years to establish national fraternities at the school and particularly Delta Tau Delta. The nearly completed men's dormitory is to be named Emmett C. Stopher Hall in his honor.

After a summer vacation, regular meetings were resumed on September 15 when the chapter was guest of Brother Ray Finley at Fairlawn Country Club. Brother Finley just recently returned from an 8,500-mile vacation trip to Alaska. He had many interesting items to tell. We welcomed a new graduate into our midst—Andrew Sardone, Purdue, '38. We had an interesting talk on "Specialty Selling" by George Kellogg. A short business meeting followed where plans for the year were discussed.

The October meeting on the twentieth was designated as John A. Botzum Night. John Botzum, a lifetime resident of the Akron area, has been a Delt for sixty years. He was a member of Eta Chapter, '87, at Buchtel College, now Akron University. He gave many of his stories of old Eta Chapter and Buchtel College.

Dr. Louis Carabelli conducted a fine dues campaign which resulted in a fifty per cent paid-up membership. Dr. Carabelli, president of the Akron Alumni Chapter, is to be congratulated for an outstanding job.

Ashtabula

On September 9, 1948, the chapter held a rush party at Hotel Ashtabula. The committee for this affair was Richard Regner, chairman; William Hewins, Jr.; and Ralph Maynard, Jr.

Approximately twenty members and guests were present for the dinner and program. The program consisted of a short talk by Brother Bob Hoisington, Colorado, '30, and a film "Okuchobee Bass Fishing." Brother Al Lewis operated the projector.

At the meeting plans were discussed for a Christmas vacation meeting to be held in Geneva.

Atlanta

The monthly meetings of our alumni chapter are attended steadily by twenty to thirty members. This fact is concrete evidence that the fine fellowship and recreational enjoyment of these meetings are well worth the time—so how about you brothers who have not attended one of our meetings attending the next one? If you will, we feel sure you, too, will become a steady attendant.

Our September meeting was highlighted by Brother Charles Pearson's report on the Fifty-ninth Karnea. Brother Pearson gave an excellent account of the Karnea which held the attention and interest of everyone. Brother Clinton Huguley, Tech's chapter adviser, reported that he had received fine response from his recent solicitation for alumni contributions. The money is being put to good use. The Gamma Psi's designed a game room in the house basement and it has almost been completed. It will be used for card games, informal dancing, and other activities, thus sharing some of the wear on the living room. If you wish to help out on this worthy project, mail your checks to T. Clinton Huguley, P. O. Box 97, Station A, Atlanta, Georgia.

On October 2, following the Tech-Tu-

Remarks From Reynolds

An army in the field is only as successful as the supporting forces behind the lines, organized and working always for advancement.

There are more than ten times as many

Delt alumni as there are undergraduate Deltas! What a potent force for the development and advancement of the Fraternity this behind-the-lines alumni membership could be—IF each alumnus assumed his responsibility to contribute his interest and support to alumni and undergraduate programs wherever possible!

There would be no question of this one hundred per cent "support potential," I am sure, if all Delt alumni could have observed our undergraduates in action at the Fifty-ninth Karnea.

Seventy-nine undergraduate chapters are now in the full swing of current year's activities. Many of our eighty-three alumni chapters are keeping pace. Like the undergraduate chapters, alumni chapters held summer luncheons, picnics, and rushing parties, laying the groundwork for intensive fall rushing campaigns.

Alumni chapter committees have been functioning in their respective fields to insure successful programs. Alumni chapter membership directories and activities calendars have been, or are being, published. Petitions for new alumni chapter charters have been received. This issue of THE RAINBOW will go to nearly half of our 35,000 alumni through either their Loyalty Fund Life Memberships or annual subscriptions.

All of the above adds up to a program of which every Delt alumnus should want to become an active part!

★

During the coming year, a series of bulletins will be issued to alumni chapters to provide an interchange of ideas, experience, organization, and events. The secretary of each alumni chapter is requested to send a report of planned activities and calendar to the Secretary of Alumni as soon as possible.

All Delt alumni chapters should be planning now for the annual Founders Day-celebration.

lane football game, a party was held in the ballroom of the Fred Astaire Studios. The event was attended by a sizable gathering of Delt alumni and their ladies. Due to the fact that the party was held following the game, there were numerous out-of-town alumni attending, whose renewal of acquaintances made the gathering particularly enjoyable.

On November 5, the Friday preceding the Tech-Alabama game, the annual All-State Dinner will be held at the Atlanta Athletic Club. The speaker for the occasion will be Dean William Tate of the University of Georgia. Announcement of the banquet has been mailed to the active chapters of Tech, Emory, and Georgia, and an attendance of about 150 Delts is anticipated.

The December meeting will be held December 6 at 8 p. m. The residence of President King Grant will be the setting for a business meeting, followed by refreshments and games.

Well, this is about all from Atlanta—except that we would certainly enjoy your presence at the next meeting.

FRED H. DENDY, JR.

Baltimore

On Tuesday night, September 20, 1948, Baltimore, Maryland, was blessed with the inception of the Baltimore Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. This meeting culminated the efforts of a handful of Baltimore Delts who had been meeting informally to plan the organization. The impetus for the formation of this chapter was derived from the Founders Day Banquet in Washington. The Maryland installation of Delta Sigma gave further impetus to the cause. Twenty-five Delts from the Baltimore area attended this installation and their presence assured the committee that a Delt alumni chapter should be founded.

Approximately forty-five Delts showed up for the installation, with more than twenty-five Delts added to this list but absent due to previous commitments.

At this meeting Brother G. Russell Page, Kentucky, '24, was elected president; Brother Russell B. Nixon, Kansas State, '43, was elected vice-president; Brother W. Stanley Reeves, Iowa State, '18, was elected treasurer; Brother Charles S. Downes, Duke, '47, was elected secretary. The following chairmen were elected to head standing committees: Brother Clarence Patterson, W. & J., '19, membership and attendance; Brother Keith R. Clark, Wesleyan, '36, program committee; Brother James H. O'Connor, W. & L., '44, rushing committee; Brother Frank H. Trewin, Stevens, '14, Loyalty and Educational Fund committee.

Also present at this meeting were six Delts from the embryonic chapter, Delta Sigma, at the University of Maryland. The alumni group promised all-out effort to the growth of this fine new chapter.

The Baltimore chapter plans weekly luncheons, on a very informal basis, at a local restaurant. Four dinner meetings are planned during the 1948-49 season. Featured speakers or social entertainment programs are being considered to complete the program.

The chapter plans to draw from the one hundred Delts living in this area for its members. The recent establishment of Delta Sigma and the installation of a chapter at the University of Delaware will offer the alumni chapter new members annually. Success is our goal, and with the enthusiasm and spirit displayed at the initial meeting we feel the goal is in sight.

CHARLES S. DOWNES

Boston

The regulars kept the chapter's Thursday luncheons going all summer at Patten's Restaurant. Resumption of regular activities will be the order of business for the fall, pointing to joint parties with Beta Nu and Beta Mu and our Founders Day Dinner in March.

The following are among those present. Tony Shallna, Indiana and Cornell, is acting as counsel for the hardy band of twenty-nine Latvians who braved the North Atlantic in a small ketch and who are now seeking entry into the United States. Tony was Lithuanian consul in Boston when there was a Lithuania. He is now honorary Lithuanian consul and a well-known speaker on European affairs.

Bob Wright, Ohio Wesleyan, and Art Olive, Tufts, can be seen and heard talking about their latest flying experiences. Shorty Brothers, Tufts, keeps us advised of all the latest developments in television transmission cables. Lowell Fitch, Cornell, market researches for Dunn & Bradstreet. Dick Pierce, Tufts, is "Delt-expecting," while his side-kick, Rudy Helgeson, also from that prolific chapter, has just chucked up his fourth.

Elliott Smith, Tufts, has just taken over in his own name the general insurance agency that he has managed for many years (no-charge advertisement). Dinty Howe, Tufts, our lake sailor, has put his craft upon chocks for the season. Joe Reynolds, Tufts, rushes up to Patten's early Thursdays and gets that big table saved for us. Johnny Hayward, Tufts, found us a couple of weeks ago, liked what he found, and will come again. Bill Burt and Dick Velte, Tufts, wandered in from Cambridge one Thursday, and we'll be seeing them again soon.

Hal Chase, Wesleyan, will be back this month with us as he resumes his course on radio production and administration at Boston University. Beaming Ed Broadhurst, Kenyon, has temporarily left us to take on an assignment in the promotion department of Life but hopes to be back with us by snowfly. Heick Chase, Wesleyan historian, is now located uptown and cannot attend as regularly as he used to and would like to. If all chapters had historians like Heick, we would have a real "five-foot bookshelf" of Delt history.

More news about our 1948-49 activities in our next.

DUNC NEWELL

Buffalo

Of particular interest to those of us at Buffalo was the re-establishment of Gamma Omicron Chapter at Syracuse. Congratulations to the alumni who worked so willingly to accomplish the reactivation of that chapter and our best wishes to the actives who will re-establish Gamma Omicron on the campus.

We were represented at the installation ceremonies by Milt Perrott and Bill Abberger, both Gamma Omicron alumni, and N. Robert Wilson, California.

Our congratulations to Dean Warren who will leave Buffalo to take over his new duties as manager of the new Mohawk District, General Electric Lamp Division.

On September 11, Bob Wilson engineered a get-together for local alumni and boys who were to enroll at various schools. We enjoyed the boys' fellowship and hope to see them again. The program included swimming and baseball at the Park School at Snyder, followed by an Ox Roast at Bob's. We don't know what he was out to accomplish by all that exercise but we suspect it was to work up an appetite for the "ox."

Many thanks to Bob for a swell time. As for the "ox"—poor kitty.

We were happy to welcome Russell Gair (Duke) to our luncheon recently and hope that he too will join the growing number of regulars.

RALPH E. FRANK

Chicago

Attendance at the Monday luncheons has held up surprisingly well throughout the summer and has been increasing steadily since the last of August. It must be admitted, though, that it dwindled down occasionally to such staunch regulars as Charlie Axelson, Lorne Hughes, Blake Hooper, Karl Digel, the chapter president, and the secretary. The "Second Monday" talks were placed in abeyance after the hot July noon that Dick Hackenberg gave us the low down on sports, but they will be resumed in October.

Biggest event of the summer was the Rushee Dinner August 30 at the Columbia Yacht Club. The club is actually a ship sitting in Lake Michigan at the foot of Monroe Street, and that night its rolling made many of us landlubbers wish for more adequate sea legs. From the replies to the cards sent out we planned for about seventy but were overwhelmed by an attendance of 124, of which 58 were rushees, 34 actives, and 32 alumni. The club steward did a miraculous job in making his supplies furnish a plentiful buffet dinner for the unanticipated crowd. Rushees of 12 chapters, ranging from Colorado to Cornell, were present—and a fine lot of fellows they were.

That enthusiastic and loyal Delt, Carl Wolf, Northwestern, '11, headed the committee on arrangements, and entertainment was provided by a group of Carl's friends of the Society for the Encouragement (and other things) of Barbershop Singing. For this we are all very grateful to Carl and to John Hutchinson, Northwestern, '24, for the instructive and inspiring talk on the choice of a fraternity.

The Chicago Alumni Chapter is highly gratified at the elevation of one of our most active members, Stuart Fox, Wisconsin, '20, to be President of the Northern Division. We were equally pleased to welcome his son, Jack, Northwestern, '48, who came to last Monday's lunch with Stu, as a new member of the chapter. Everyone was also glad to see a former regular of the luncheons, Cliff Burnham, Wisconsin,

'25, who was back on a too brief visit from Florida, where he now lives. Cliff gave a very enthusiastic report on the Delt chapter at the University of Florida.

Your secretary recently spent a most enjoyable afternoon with his classmate, Dr. Clark Melick, Ohio, '10, at the horse show of the National Palomino Association, where "Doc" was exhibiting two fine specimens of the breed and attaching a number of ribbons to his collection.

Cincinnati

Thanks to the untiring efforts of many of our members, the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter is moving into high gear. Several fine functions have been held in the past few months and many more are in the offing. You Deltas in our vicinity who have not been around of late are missing some swell opportunities for renewing your Delt friendships of yesteryear.

These are some of the socials we have had during this past summer: On June 29, Dr. Howard Fischbach was host to ninety members of the Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky Alumni Chapters for a swimming party at his home. Forty Deltas were entertained at a swimming party at Dick Farrell's home on July 28.

Our annual Coney Island Party broke all previous attendance records. Seventy-five couples enjoyed a delicious dinner at the Coney Clubhouse and dancing in Moonlite Gardens. Dick Krug served as general chairman. We certainly appreciate Brother Ed Schott's generous hospitality and co-operation in making this affair a high light on our social calendar.

The annual active-alumni rush party was again held at Ash Grove. This year the picnic was held in conjunction with the Northern Kentucky alumni. The feature of the day was the ball game in which the Cincy alums nosed out our over-the-river brethren 9 to 8.

Our next big event will be our first annual homecoming party to be held at the Delt house on November 13, following the Cincinnati-Western Reserve game. Cliff Mueller and his committee plan to make this a party long to be remembered by all who attend. A delicious buffet dinner, dancing, and an opportunity for you to enjoy again Delt brotherhood await all who attend. We'll be counting on seeing all you Deltas again at our Homecoming Party.

ART JACOBS

Cleveland

The primary activity of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter continues to be the weekly luncheon meetings held every Thursday at the Mid-Day Club. Attendance varies from eight to thirty. There is usually no set order of business, but Cleveland Deltas thoroughly enjoy sitting around the luncheon table and listening to Howard "Jim" Crow spin Delt yarns, philosophize on current affairs, or express candid and caustic comment on public figures, or to hear the account of and envy Harold Hopkin's latest fishing trip, or to get Curtis Harsh's opinion on the coal industry, or Bill Hecker's rating of football teams, or Chris Bannick, our political mentor, analyzing the potential possibi-ties of local, state, or national elections, or Clem Frank reporting on Fraternity affairs. These are only a few of the topics covered but when Bob Hartford, Gordon Nichols, Mack Yost, Jack Finnicum, Pat Moran, Jack Baskin, Otto Diegel, Frenchy Bell, and a host of other regulars gather around the table, the conversation is bound to be sparkling, entertaining, and educational.

During the coming winter season President Hartford plans a series of social events. Delt wives will be included in some of the functions. In others the alumni will join with the activities of Zeta Chapter. The Cleveland Alumni Chapter is indeed looking forward to an active and interesting fall and winter program.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

The annual Fall Round-Up for Central Ohio Deltas, sponsored by the Columbus Alumni Chapter, was again held at John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm on Thursday, September 23, 1948. The committee in charge was headed by Bill Underwood, Ohio, '22, and his assistants were Bill Heer, Carnegie Tech, '42; Don Wolpert, Ohio State, '40; Lowell Christman, Ohio Wesleyan, '30; and Dave King, president of the Ohio State active chapter.

Representatives from Beta, Beta Phi, Gamma Xi, Gamma Upsilon, Mu, Chi, and Delta Tau Chapters were invited, as well as all alumni in the Central Ohio area. Approximately 150 attended and thoroughly enjoyed Darby Dan's facilities, good food, Delt songs, and Delt friendship.

Extensive improvements have been under way during the past two months on the chapter house at Delaware, Ohio. These include an enlargement of the chapter hall which will provide seating capacity for about seventy-five members. The work has been under the direction of Rollin Rosser, Ohio Wesleyan, '26, of Dayton, Ohio.

Our heartiest congratulations to Governor Tom Herbert, Western Reserve, '15, and Charlie Flick, Allegheny, '15, who were elected to the Distinguished Service Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at the Karnea held in August at French Lick. Both well merited their Citations. Tom and Charlie were the only ones cited to this honor at the Karnea. The Columbus Alumni Chapter is extremely proud of their honors and that both are members of our alumni chapter.

Orchids to another member of our alumni chapter! Ed West, Ohio Wesleyan, '23, was elected to O.D.K. at Ohio Wesleyan this past June. Omicron Delta Kappa is an honorary activities fraternity. Two or three distinguished alumni of each college where O.D.K. is located are elected to membership each year.

H. R. "Dutch" Frankenberg, a former officer of this alumni chapter, has just been elected president of the Jacksonville (Florida) Alumni Chapter. "Dutch" was an excellent administrator of the Columbus chapter. We know he will do a bang-up job at Jacksonville.

R. E. GIBBS

Findlay

The Findlay Alumni Chapter met at luncheon late in August and mapped out a program calculated to interview the local students entering colleges and universities this fall.

Eight young men were singled out as good Delt material and the chapters were notified of their individual qualifications and college residence.

D. J. GASSMAN

Fox River Valley

The Fox River Valley alumni held a meeting at the home of Dr. Jack Benton at which officers for the coming year were elected and a social program for the fall quarter set up.

We are co-operating with Delta Nu in holding an open house at the Shelter after each Lawrence football game. After the homecoming football game we are again sponsoring a party at the Elks Club.

All Deltas in the Valley are looking forward to November 6 when William H. Martindill, Francis M. Hughes, and Hugh Shields will pay us a visit. This is the first visit to Lawrence by an Arch Chapter member in some time and we would like to invite all Deltas in this area to attend this party.

GERVASE C. BLICK

Houston

George Wolford, recent graduate of the University of Texas, has been named rush chairman of the alumni chapter. He directed a series of rush parties during the past summer and fall that led to the pledging of four fine young men from Houston into the Gamma Iota Chapter at Austin. The rush parties were sponsored by the Houston Alumni Chapter.

The first night meeting of the fall season was held at the College Inn on October 21. Dinner and entertainment were provided for the largest turnout of Deltas in Texas since the war. Much credit is due the committee which worked so hard to make this meeting such a splendid success. Dr. A. E. Diggles was chairman. Committee members included Everett R. Filley, Jack Troxell, Sr., John Singleton, and George Wolford.

Monthly luncheons at the Houston Club are being continued through the fall and winter season. They are held in private dining room "D" at noon on the third Friday of each month.

Many undergraduate chapters have responded to the request of the Secretary of Alumni to send him the names and addresses of last year's graduating seniors so that these names could be directed to the Delt alumni chapter in the area in which the recent graduate is now located. Such practice enables the alumni chapter to welcome the new graduate into his new alumni relationship and to assist in orientation if the locality is strange to him.

It is requested that all undergraduate chapter corresponding secretaries who have not submitted such lists forward immediately to the Secretary of Alumni names and addresses of recent graduates.

O. U. Wymer has rounded out twenty-one years in the biggest city in the biggest state, since being graduated from the University of Colorado. He is with the firm of Moroney Beissner & Co. in the Niels Esperson Building.

Humble Oil's tax expert, Jack O. Bear-den, donned the square badge at North-western University and after graduation in 1935 moved to Texas to grow up with the south's largest city.

John Blakeslee is the latest Houston alumnus to pay up his Loyalty Fund balance and become a Life Member. Now he will receive THE RAINBOW, the fraternity world's leading magazine, for life. He is associated with Patrick-Tyrrell Drilling Company of the Cotton Exchange Building. Lester Patrick of the same firm is also a Delt.

Linwood Creasy managed to find time this summer to fly his family to the lakes region of the north-central states for a few weeks vacation. He is a big dealer in the southwest area of butane and propane equipment.

Aiding the mushrooming chemical industry along the Gulf Coast is Tennessee-raised Charles F. Talbot of the H. K. Ferguson Company, engineers and builders. He designs such complicated chemical plants as were shown recently in Life magazine in its reports on the astounding production records of American industry (October 4, 1948).

Alexander W. Galbraith, associated with the Babcock & Wilcox Tube Company since being graduated from Cornell in 1936, has been with the firm in Houston for the past six years.

HIRST SUFFIELD

Indianapolis

The Indianapolis Alumni Chapter finished its summer activities with the Annual Cup Golf Tournament and election of officers on September 17. The meeting was held at the Ulen Country Club in Lebanon, and "a good time was had by all."

Low gross honors went to Frank Weiland, even though he was off his game to a certain extent. Frank came in with a 77, which qualified him for the low gross cup for the second straight year. Unless some hot shot moves to town within the year, it appears to be quite evident that Frank will take permanent possession of the cup next year.

Immediate past president Gene Hibbs walked off with the blind par trophy which is given annually at this same tournament. There were other prizes of golf balls, sports shirts, golf caps, etc., for those others in attendance.

Following the banquet the annual election of officers was held with the following officers elected for the ensuing year: president, Carter Tharp; vice-president (membership), Malcolm McDermott; vice-president (activities), William Welch; treasurer, Kenneth Davis; secretary, Richard Englehart.

The new officers plan to have a meeting on October 4 to map plans for activities for the year and for increased participation. Of course, we are all looking forward to the annual Christmas Party which always brings out a great number of new faces. Announcement of other plans will be forthcoming in the next issue of THE RAINBOW.

The Indianapolis chapter is very proud of the fact that Fran Hughes and Bill Martindill were elected as Vice-President and Treasurer, respectively, of the Fraternity at the recent Karnea at French Lick. Our hats are off to these brothers, as well as to Ernie Miller, who is a vice-president of the Northern Division.

Additional commendation is given to the retiring officers who are responsible for the fine roster of all Indianapolis Deltas. There are some five hundred Deltas in Indianapolis. This is to give notice to all that our weekly luncheons are held each Friday at 12:15 in the Chinese Room of the Washington Hotel. A more active participation in these luncheons would be a great boon to our organization here in the city. "Come one, come all."

RICHARD H. ENGLEHART

Jacksonville

On September 29, in Gainesville, Florida, forty-eight freshmen were pledged to Delta Zeta Chapter in an impressive ceremony during a banquet at the Club 400.

Harold R. Frankenberg, Beta Phi (Ohio State, '24), president of the Jacksonville Alumni Chapter, presented a brief address to the new pledges on "What Your Fraternity Will Mean to You in Later Years." Harry Crown, Delta Zeta, '48, secretary-treasurer, extended an invitation to all pledges, actives, and alumni to attend a party in the Roosevelt Hotel in Jacksonville, following the Georgia-Florida football game here on November 6.

Jacksonville alumni are planning to meet at least once a month during the coming year, either at informal luncheons or mixed dinner parties. The objective of the chapter during the next year will be to strengthen the bonds between brother Deltas in Jacksonville as well as place Delta Tau Delta before promising high school seniors planning to attend college.

Brother Franklin Worth, Delta Zeta, '34, the chapter's new vice-president, was host at the recent rush party located in his riverfront home, "Worth Chalet," in Switzerland. Over thirty rushees and their dates attended, as well as fifteen actives from the University of Florida, four from Beta Theta (Sewanee), and many alumni.

The Jacksonville chapter has elected a board of directors, composed of past chapter presidents. They are: Chairman Guy W. Botts, James A. Vaughan, Ernest M. Ricker, and Edward H. Beardsley, Jr. This board is to serve continuously in an advisory capacity.

Plans for a Christmas dance and next year's Founders Day banquet are in the making.

HARRY V. CROWN

Kansas City

Outside of the recent Gamma Tau rush party and banquet attended by many of us at the Hotel Continental, there have been no special news items. Our various members, back now from summer vacations, are keeping the Thursday luncheon table well supplied with reports of Karnea sessions, both official and unofficial, and with vociferous predictions of the coming election and football games.

TOM CARR

Long Beach

Meeting at the Officers Town Club in Long Beach on Tuesday evening, September 21, alumni from Long Beach and vicinity enjoyed a delicious ham steak dinner in the patio and then held a business meeting in the beach grill room downstairs.

Reports were given by Bob Taplin, Dan Boone, Paul Hiller, and John Hull on summer rushing success, indicating that some of the rushees entertained had thereafter pledged Delt. The U. C. L. A. chapter's appreciation of the summer rushing program of the Long Beach alumni was evidenced by expressions and letters from several U. C. L. A. men to several alums. Edwin Thomas urged that the alumni jointly pay the expense of future rushing parties instead of having the host of the house pay this cost. This was approved by those present.

Bob Taplin announced the death of a Delt brother, Herman Webber. Several members volunteered to attend the funeral ceremony. A collection was taken to cover flowers for the funeral.

Roy Cochran, son-in-law of Alumnus Lloyd Parker, a participant in the recent London Olympics, and winner of the 400 meter high hurdles, spoke about the '48 Olympics, giving many interesting high lights of these events.

President William Deatherage announced that the October meeting will be held in his home on Tuesday, October 19.

FLOYD VINSON

Los Angeles

Rounding out three-quarters of the year, the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta, under the able guidance of President Gordon Carey, is entering the final three months with elaborate plans for the balance of 1948.

During the first three months, activity was featured by the Founders Day banquet held March 4, at which approximately three hundred Deltas were present. During the year the regular Tuesday luncheons were held, first at the University Club and later at Clifton's Cafeteria, where attendance has increased some twenty per cent. Added to this was the monthly dinner held at Taix' French Restaurant, with the attendance usually topping forty members. These meetings have been highlighted by interesting speakers and a spirit of conviviality that is hard to beat in any gathering.

Sparkling social functions during the third quarter was the annual High Jinx held August 7, when some two hundred Deltas gathered at Rancho Verdugo in Glendale for a barbecue. Present were actives and rushees from UCLA, USC, Stanford, and California. Baseball, volley ball, horse shoes, and bridge were the principal games played during the afternoon, with the piece de resistance being delicious barbecued roast beef prepared by a chef whose experience in this business began with the days of Pio Pico, one of the last Spanish governors in this area. This affair is yearly growing into one of the best events put on by the alumni chapter, and it is fast assuming an importance that cannot be overlooked in any future plans.

The final three months of the year include the Past Presidents' Luncheons, when former heads of the alumni chapter will be honored. This affair is usually well attended, and plans are being made to take care of an extra large crowd at Clifton's.

Other activities will encompass Ladies' Night at Taix' Restaurant, monthly alumni dinners at UCLA, open house during football games at the USC chapter house, and the Christmas party, usually held between Christmas and New Year's Eve.

All in all, the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has been exceedingly active. Several trips have been made to visit the petitioning local at the University of California at Santa Barbara, two trips to San Diego for a get-together with that body, which is under the leadership of the indomitable Stuart Lake.

DELTAUPICS

William Schwab, official greeter of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter and popular Delt from Kentucky, attended the national convention of the Employees of the Collector of Internal Revenue Department (Income Tax to you), which was held in Oklahoma City September 19 to 25. Bill was a member of the rules committee, which was a mighty potent body, and after the convention he visited his old home town of Louisville, Kentucky, where he saw many friends and relatives.

Don Nasby, account executive with the Los Angeles office of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, was recently notified of his election to Omicron Delta Kappa at the University of Iowa, Don's alma mater. While a student, he was a member of the AFI (All For Iowa) Club which later became a chapter in ODK.

Frank Rethlefsen escorted his son, Frank, Jr., back to the University of Colorado, where young Frank is beginning his second year as a member of the Beta Kappa Chapter.

Wesley Smith, chief editorial writer for the Los Angeles Times, was present at the Karnea and later visited his old chapter at Butler and friends in Indianapolis.

Considerable international interest was created in the recently concluded treason case of "Meatball" Kawakita, American-born Japanese, who was convicted by a federal jury in Los Angeles for alleged cruelties to GI's in a prison camp in Japan. The judge who so capably handled the case was Brother William Mathes, a Delt from the University of Texas.

Charles Church, UCLA, is very busy these days performing his duties as president of the Los Angeles Tennis Club, which is presently staging the Pacific Southwest Tennis Tournament, one of the "biggies" of the tennis year.

Los Angeles Delts were glad to learn that Bob Jones, Stanford, and a former enthusiastic member of the alumni chapter here, was present at the Karnea as a representative of the Tulsa Alumni Chapter.

DeWitt Lee, popular real estater and Delt from Stanford, enjoyed a trip to Alaska this summer, while Earl "Bo" Adams, attorney and Stanford man, journeyed to Detroit where he picked up a Cadillac and motored through Yellowstone and other points of interest with his family.

National Capital

Following a rather dormant summer, at least from the standpoint of activities, the Delts in Washington had their regular summer outing at Meadowbrook Riding Club on September 16. The outing started with the welcome mat to all Delts in Washington laid out by our new president, Sid Nyhus, and outing chairman, Eric Collins.

After much old homeweeking, the softball game started between the Moran's All Stars and the van Sickler Old Guards. It was close going, with the ultimate winner in doubt until the last inning, with the final score 18 to 13 in favor of the younger men. The victory was largely attributable to the splendid pitching by Lowell and the inadequate pitching by "Satchel" van Sickler and his alternate, Burr Christopher. It will be a different game next year if the boys from the University of Maryland arrive in time to play.

The game was followed by a picnic supper and movies which were enjoyed by all the boys and their families. Incidentally, Bob Newby, as usual, provided the movies, song slides, and canned music. The Delt records of the "Sixteen" from Purdue University, which were so popular at the Karnea, were played and enjoyed. We had our dance after we got our children home and it was a regular Delt party.

We had our first weekly luncheon at Bonat's to start our fall activities on September 9 and again our publicity man, Bob Newby, was there with his camera. These luncheons are held there every Thursday at 12:00 o'clock and many interesting programs have been planned for the coming weeks. On September 30 we had Bob Anderson, an old G. W. alumnus, who gave his impressions of conditions in England, Holland, France, Italy, and other countries visited on his recent trip to attend the International Bar Association convention at The Hague.

At the recent election, the following were selected to hold office in the National Capital Alumni Chapter for the current year: president, N. Sidney Nyhus, UCLA, '33; vice-president, Burr Christopher, George Washington, '28; secretary, Dell Floyd, Washington '09; treasurer, Peirce McDowell, Stanford, '34.

The actives at G. W. are having a stag party at the house on October 5 and another on October 14. The following evening, a mixed party is planned for just before the game. Then, on October 16, an informal dance is to be held at the Cameron Club. Next day, Sunday, October 17 at Bonat's, 1:30 p. m., a joint active-alumni dinner is planned and a large crowd is expected.

November 19 is the date set for the annual fall dinner dance by the Greater Washington area Delts. This year it is to be held at the Kenwood Country Club.

This dance promises to be the best ever given in Washington and the committee and individual members are working toward this end. Parties are being planned by individual groups, so get in touch with your buddy, in order that your own special group will be there. Arrangements have been made for exceptional music, so start making plans to attend.

The writer has just had the pleasure of attending his first Karnea and experienced the satisfaction of meeting old Delts and new friends. Familiar faces, like Bruce Bielaski, "Doc" Johnson, Francis Hughes, Branch Rickey, and Tom Clark were very much in evidence. Outstanding was the large number of older Delts who helped make this Karnea such a success. The model initiation and the Rite of Iris were impressive as were the "Sixteen" from Purdue University and the Kentucky Glee Club. The recordings by the "Sixteen" were splendid. It is hoped they will make some more.

The Karnea will long be remembered, particularly the songfest the Washington delegation started one night. We all have made preliminary plans to make the next Karnea.

On the way home the writer spent a week in Cincinnati with George and "Pete" Larkin and had the pleasure of seeing once again the chaps he knew there when he was at Cincinnati. Among the old and still very active Cincinnati Delts were Bob Heuck, Johnny Petzhold, Ralph Sigmund, Bob Mulhauser, Cliff Todd, Vint Stegman, Dick Farrell, and Tommy Alberchart. We stopped by at the new Delt house and learned more about the Dad Pumphrey Memorial and the final drive for sufficient funds to complete this beautiful shrine to the Delt that so many of that area will long remember. We also made the annual Coney Island Party and again ran into friends, including Jack Struble, Ed Dinkelaker, Frank Fielman, Carl Schindler, Forrest Maddux, John Todd, and Fritz.

Getting back to Washington once more, the group here is planning many functions for the coming year; so stop by Bonat's any Thursday noon and find out what's in store for you.

ROBERT VAN SICKLER

Northern Kentucky

The Northern Kentucky Alumni Chapter held its first meeting in conjunction with the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter at the home of Dr. Howard P. Fischbach on June 29. The purpose of this meeting was to acquaint our alumni with the plans for our new chapter. There were eighteen of us present for this organizational meeting. Dr. Fred A. Stine, Cincinnati, '36, served as chairman. He received the unanimous vote of all present to petition the Arch Chapter for an alumni chapter charter.

The charter being duly granted, the second meeting of our chapter was held July 12. Brother Dave Hamilton, Miami 25, was host to our group at his home on Walker Road in Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Of the forty alumni we have been able to locate in Northern Kentucky, twenty-five were on hand for this spirited meeting held at Dave's home.

For the third meeting we were once again welcomed to the home of Dave Hamilton, and the meeting was devoted to rushing. We entertained fourteen graduates of the Northern Kentucky high schools who were entering colleges where our Fraternity has chapters.

For our September meeting we once again joined forces with our brother alumni on the north side of the river and enjoyed a picnic with the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter and Gamma Xi Chapter in entertaining rushees. We challenged the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter to a ball game. The score was never settled to the satisfaction of both teams—next year will see a more heated contest, we are sure!

Right now our plans are to meet once a month, and we are constantly working on our program. We plan to entertain our wives and sweethearts at the October meeting with a "bodacious" steak fry. From this meeting we hope to organize our "gals" into the "Blue Grass Delt Dames" group.

Also, on our immediate program, we have plans to entertain the hospitalized veterans at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Fort Thomas.

We are well pleased with our chapter. We know that we can further increase the undergraduate membership of our Fraternity and do our part to perpetuate its aims and ideals. GARTH B. SLATER

Portland (Oregon)

The Portland Deltas have launched another year of Fraternity activities with the following officers at the helm: Darrel L. Johnson, president; Joseph A. Adair, Jr., vice-president; K. Reed Swenson, secretary; and Clair F. Young, secretary.

The weekly Monday noon luncheons held in the Chamber of Commerce Building are gaining in popularity these days, with the possibility that we shall be reserving more table space soon—we hope. An annual event was inaugurated during August when one luncheon was designated as a salute to actives and rushees. A large turnout at this luncheon assured Fraternity interest and the event's continuing success.

Social Chairman Paul Eckelman has been one of the busiest Deltas around Portland lately and has reported that a bridge party, a hard-times Halloween party, and a Christmas dance are scheduled as the major social functions for the balance of 1948. Paul seems to have had a stroke of good luck, since the Delt wives, headed by Mrs. Darrel Johnson, have volunteered to carry the ball for him on the Halloween party. With the interest already shown in this party and with the wives promoting, Halloween bids to be a real red-letter evening.

The Christmas dance is scheduled for December 23 in the Rose Bowl of the Multnomah Hotel. All Deltas in this area, especially actives, are urged to underscore the date and to be on hand for a large evening of entertainment.

CLAIR F. YOUNG

St. Louis

The St. Louis Alumni Chapter held its regular fall meeting Monday evening, August 30. A report on the Karnea was given by Charlie Drake and from the sound of things a good, as well as profitable, time was had by all.

September saw another night meeting at Little Bevo Mill, at which time plans for the coming year were made. An election of new officers is on the agenda, as well as the annual Christmas party. It is hoped that many of the alumni in the St. Louis area will make their presence known and attend some of the coming meetings.

DICK WATKINS

Spokane

Spokane alumni had a fine evening of fellowship when they all attended a rush party given on August 28. The rushing party was at the home of Merle F. Emry, Stanford, who entertained alumni, actives, and rushees from the University of Washington, the University of Idaho, and Whitman College at a buffet dinner.

Guests at the lawn party from the University of Washington chapter were Bill Sill, Dick Keller, Ken Wolters, Jim Boyd, Jim Stevens, Bob Beatty, and Dave Schick, rush chairman. Actives from the University of Idaho present were Bob Dahlstrom and Jim Ingalls. Whitman College members attending were Tom Eckstrand, Tad Deal, Roy Nilson, and Art DeBoer.

During the month of September, the Spokane group was favored by a visit by the traveling secretary, Ed Heminger, who brought us up to date on rushing in the different chapters. We are happy to see that each of the chapters got at least one representative from Spokane.

Monthly meetings on the last Wednesday of the month will begin again with the October meeting now that everyone has taken his vacation. Any new Deltas in the Pacific Northwest are urged to contact me to get on our new directory list, which will be published soon.

ROBERT T. GREENE

Tampa

Tampa area alumni have had a busy summer aiding the members of the active chapters at Florida, Emory, Georgia Tech, and Tulane in planning two successful rush parties.

First rush event was a swim party and weiner roast, held during August at Ralston Beach, a few grains of white sand spread on the edge of one of the local lakes. Actives, alumni, rushees, dates, wives, etc., all pitched in and had a wonderful time. Brother John Boling came through with some fine food, and Brothers Jack Knoche, Billy Vaughn, and Gary Ennis deserve bouquets for their fine work on this party.

The second rush party was in the form of a Monte Carlo party. Brother Knoche provided hand-lettered invitations on the back of playing cards, sent to each rushee, about forty in all. Maurice Hebb, another Tampa Delt, provided the traditional punch and cookies, while Charlie Kicklighter and George Sistrunk decorated the "den" (in this case the roof of the Mirasol Hotel in Tampa) with appropriate posters and purple, white, and gold streamers. Sandy Geer worked out various crooked games with Sam Horne, and all the guests had a big time making and losing fortunes in fake money.

The Deltas in Tampa were well pleased with the delegations that attended these functions from Plant City. John Trinkle, vice-president of Delta Zeta Chapter, came over from the strawberry center and brought Gilbert and Bob Parker, Dick Noles, and John Germany. Clearwater was represented by Dr. P. H. Guinand.

Regular monthly breakfast meetings are still held once a month at the Hotel Flordan by the Tampa Alumni Chapter. At the last breakfast gathering Syd Lenfesty, vice-president of the Southern Division and Karnea delegate from this chapter, gave a report on "what happened at the Karnea."

Many actives home for the summer attended and Dr. S. P. Smiseth came over from St. Petersburg.

Plans of the Tampa chapter for this fall include a campaign for more active participation of Deltas in this area in the program of the chapters. Brother Jim Watson has already started on this work with some personal visitation of alumni. Also on the schedule is a function at the time of the Florida-Auburn game to be played in Tampa, October 9, and another party during the Christmas vacation for members of the active chapters that live in this area.

The Tampa Alumni Chapter invites all Deltas who will be traveling to Florida this winter to get in touch with any of its members. You'll find the great hand of Delt hospitality extended at all times.

J. GARY ENNIS

Topeka

Since the Topeka Alumni Chapter was reorganized we have never missed a monthly luncheon, and while our attendance was down during the summer months, we are adding a few new members. We hope for increased interest this fall.

Our July meeting was very successful; we had Dr. David L. MacFarlane, or "Scotty" MacFarlane, president of Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kansas, as our guest speaker. "Scotty" MacFarlane, who was a Delt at Northwestern, is one of the best speakers in Kansas. We all enjoyed his visit.

At our September meeting, J. M. Koger, Kansas State, who represented the Topeka alumni group at the Karnea, gave us a report of his trip to French Lick and a report of the Karnea meetings.

Our president, Mike Oberhelman, is attending the American Bankers Association meeting in Detroit this week but will be here for our October meeting. Richard Griffin Stutz, a Delt, whose home is in Topeka, has just returned from three years in Germany and has entered school at Kansas University at Lawrence. We hope to have him at one of our luncheons soon.

We have plans for a fall party later this season. We hope any Delts visiting Topeka will look us up.

FRANK F. HOGUELAND

Tulsa

The Tulsa Delts were particularly proud of their prerush party, held the last week of August at the Tulsa Country Club. Twelve alumni and forty actives were hosts to twenty-five rushees. Following swimming and dinner at the Club, starlit dancing continued the party at the Blue Moon.

For the first time in Oklahoma, Tulsa geared its rushing program to cover not only the University, but also A. & M. College at Stillwater, where all are giving full support to the Crescent Club, our petitioning body on that campus. We are glad to report seven new pledges this fall out of Tulsa, one being Bill Bates, son of our current alumni chapter president, Bob Bates, charter member of Delta Alpha and one of its finest exponents in Oklahoma.

At the first annual meeting of the new Delta Alpha house corporation Tulsa installed two members on the board of directors—Bob Bates and Jack Harlow. Likewise, the new house corporation for Stillwater has the support of two other Tulsans, Bob Jones and Parke Davis.

The program outlined for the alumni chapter for the coming year includes an annual Christmas Dinner, the Founders Day Banquet, and the preEaster spring dance. Also, all available Delts are having an informal lunch together every Friday at the Adams Hotel coffee shop.

up an enormous picture of Thomas E. Dewey and proceeded to hang it in the main hall at the chapter house. President Bill Shattuck took his rushing group in hand, headed by aging Bill DeRidder, and secured a pledge button to Dewey's lapel.

Gaping brothers opened the front door to find that the Fraternity had just drawn Dewey into the fold. One of the ensuing cracks was: "I thought we weren't going to pledge anyone with a moustache."

Delta Rho—Whitman

Even though Whitman sponsors no summer school, the past summer months have been far from inactive for the members of Delta Rho. There have been rush parties galore, including those incorporated with Gamma Mu, Delta Mu, and a tremendous get-together sponsored by Bob Greene, Merle Emory, and the Spokane Alumni Chapter, which was held in Spokane.

Of course the usual cleaning and general overhaul were performed to ready the Shelter for the beginning of a new school year. In connection with this, the members of Delta Rho all express their deepest thanks and appreciation to the Seattle Alumni Chapter for its presentation of a kitchen range. As yet a kitchen has not been established, but now with the inclusion of the range, plans for the table have progressed beyond previous expectations.

The first week of school, also designated as the rush period for this semester, ended with an addition of twenty top-flight men as new pledges to Delta Tau Delta. This group has already demonstrated a great deal of fire and enthusiasm in school activities.

JOINT INITIATION

An initiation was held in joint co-operation with Delta Mu Chapter, with a total of ten new men now the proud wearers of the Golden Square. This number includes seven men from Delta Rho, and three men from Delta Mu.

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

Delta Tau Chapter's active campaigning in a hotly-contested all-campus election brought the senior class presidency to Delt Bob Mudgett, while two other Deltas, Larry Jensen and Dick Aitken, were barely nosed out in the junior and sophomore class elections.

WIN DEBATE CONTEST

Delta Tau Chapter has won the all-campus debate contest and Delt debaters Bill Leesor and Jack Quinn, a Mu transfer, were presented a beautiful trophy by BGSU President Dr. Frank J. Prout.

Erroneously reported as "deceased" in the Eighth General Directory, REV. EREND DAVID P. HERRIOTT, W. & J., '05, and George Washington, '11, has been added to the Fraternity's list of "resurrections." He is residing in Tiverton, Rhode Island.

Say Merry Christmas
With a BALFOUR Crested Gift

The gift you select means so much more when it carries your own fraternity crest.

NEW! JUST OFF THE PRESS! NEW!
1949 Edition of the
BALFOUR BLUE BOOK

Here you will find the newest of fraternity jewelry and gifts, all of traditional Balfour high quality.

SWEETHEART GIFTS feature a bar pin set with genuine Oriental pearls, a gold filled or sterling heart bracelet, a heartshaped jewel box, a fine 10K gold ring, or perhaps a billfold in heartbeat red baby calf—the leather that is soft as a kitten's ear.

OTHER GIFTS include the new miniature compacts for evening—in plain yellow finish or studded with rhinestones; the new heavy silver identification bracelets; a Ronson lighter or cigarette case; or handsome cuff links set with colored stones.

PARTY FAVORS are available in a wide selection.

FOR COLLECTORS, we suggest a sterling charm bracelet with your choice of 36 charm dangles that "move." Present an added dangle for each special occasion.

MEN LIKE our suntan cowhide billfolds or the morocco styles with signet and gold corners. And for the girl of your choice, we suggest smart navy blue baby calf in a billfold with Talon-fastened change purse.

THE BEST GIFT OF ALL is a fine ring in 10K yellow gold or sterling silver. Ten pages of illustrations feature rings for both men and women—from the plain simplicity of THE LINCOLN to the beauty of the HEIRLOOM.
