AUGUST 1949 . . . Volume LXXII Number 4

One Moment, Please

It would be difficult to find an issue of THE RAINBOW which does not carry accounts of prominent Delts who have achieved national recognition and have moved up to positions of greater responsibility. The history of the Fraternity is itself a never-ending story of members who have gone out from their chapters to perform notable service to their country and mankind.

This, the last number of Volume 72, brings you stories of particularly significant Delt leaders. On Page 193 we present Thomas C. Clark, newly appointed Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court. On Page 195 there is a story concerning Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, recently elected to the highest office in the national Presbyterian Church. A few pages later you will find an article about General Thomas D. Campbell, the world's greatest producer of wheat.

Other personalities found in these pages include a famous Delt inventor who has reached his one hundredth birthday, a noted Dean of Men who has unselfishly served the students of Georgia, and an Albion Delt who has made a home of affection for 2,000 homeless youths. Here, too, is a sketch on the Fraternity's fourth President, whose citizenship in both Delta Tau Delta and the community in which he lived is notably significant.

These men exemplify the leadership of which President Brenton speaks in this month's "The President's Page." We urge you to read the challenge which your President presents to all Delts for the new college year in the offing.

The Delt undergraduate chapters, where leadership takes root, have been increased by two—Delta Chi and Delta Psi—and we invite you to read the details of their impressive installations in this issue. You will find, also, the story of another fine chapter which recently celebrated its seventy-fifth year.

With the advent of another volume, the November RAINBOW will blossom out with an attractive new cover design. There will be other new features which we hope you will enjoy.

Tom Clark, Supreme Court Justice

THOMAS C. CLARK

THOMAS C. CLARK, Texas, '22, newly appointed Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, once wrote: "I believe with Justice Holmes that 'a man may live greatly in the law as well as elsewhere.'" Certainly the tall, genial Texan's career has proved that belief.

His elevation to the Federal bench climaxes a swift rise in public service since 1937, when he first came to Washington as a special attorney in the bureau of war risk litigation of the Department of Justice. In 1939 he moved up as special assistant to the Attorney General, assigned to the Antitrust Division of the Department. In the spring of 1940 he was sent to the Pacific Coast as chief of the government offices in that area.

Then came Pearl Harbor and a bigger job. President Roosevelt appointed Mr. Clark co-ordinator of alien enemy control of the Western Defense Command and chief of the civilian staff for Japanese war relocation in helping to move the 125,000 persons of Japanese origin from the West Coast.

Back in Washington in October, 1942, he became head of the War Frauds Unit and first assistant to the assistant attorney general in charge of the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice. It was in this job that he came to know Harry Truman, when his War Frauds Unit prosecuted cases turned up by the Truman committee. In March of 1943 Mr. Clark was placed in charge of the Antitrust Division, and from August, 1943, to June 30, 1945, he was assistant attorney general in charge of the Criminal Division, where his announced policy was "no witch hunting—practical, hard-hitting law enforcement." On June 30, 1945, he became Attorney General.

Tom Clark has been well-liked on Capitol Hill. His Texas drawl and easy smile, combined with his ability to make friends, have made him a popular Justice Department head. He likes to be called Tom. The Clark bow tie has become almost a trade mark. Now he quips that he will have to swap the polka dots for a sombre black bow, more befitting the dignity of the Federal bench.

On the job, he has been a hard worker. "I have to work long hours," he is quoted as saying, "because I'm not as smart as some fellows." Termed the "Trust Buster," he has instituted 160 antitrust actions during his tenure as Attorney General. (Since 1860 his predecessors averaged 42 cases each.)

Although a Texan, he rejects the South's unyielding attitude on states' rights, and he is a recognized champion of civil rights. As Attorney General, he used his office effectively in combatting juvenile delinquency. The "Freedom Train," which traveled the nation to inspire among its citizens greater interest in and respect for American history and traditions, was the idea of Mr. Clark.

It has been customary in recent years for Presidents to name their Attorney Generals to vacancies on the Supreme Court. The job has proved a good training ground. There has been a good deal of speculation, however, over what will be Justice Clark's influence on the Court.

"In general . . ." reported Newsweek, "Clark's influence will be conservative. . . . He is serious-minded, candid, and forthright. In a court which has been torn with dissension, his tendency will be to promote harmony and a middle way."

Born September 23, 1899, in Dallas, Texas, Mr. Clark was educated at Virginia Military Institute and the University of Texas. His entry at Texas followed World War I service with the 153rd Infantry.

His imprint on the lives of his

"There was something about Tom Clark that presaged achievement to come in a later career, a quiet self-confidence and, underneath a winning exterior, a certain hard determination, an ambition quietly concealed by the charm of youth."

Following his graduation, Clark was admitted to the Texas bar and the Texas Supreme Court in 1922, and he practiced law in Dallas from 1922 to 1927. In 1932 he was admitted to the United States Supreme Court.

In spite of an extremely busy public career, Tom Clark has found time for his Fraternity, and he has responded to every call of Delta Tau Delta. He began by being president of Gamma Iota Chapter his senior year in college.

More recently, he has been pressed into service as a speaker at Delt gatherings. When the revitalized National Capital Alumni Chapter held its first postwar Founders Day banquet, Tom Clark delivered the principal address to the record turnout. When the Fraternity held its Fifty-ninth Karnea at French Lick Springs, Indiana, last August, Attorney General Clark headlined the speaking program, taking precious time out from a heavy schedule in Washington to perform this service for his Fraternity.

Only last April, he spoke to the largest gathering of Delts in Texas history when more than 300 assembled for Founders Day at the Shamrock Hotel in Houston. At this meeting, Justice Clark praised fraternity life in colleges as a good influence on American youth.

"It has been my observation," he said, "that fraternity life bestows great benefits upon its participants, this from the standpoint of brotherhood, individual freedom, and human dignity."

In 1946 Mr. Clark contributed an article to the Economic Life Series in THE RAINBOW, outlining the inducements of the legal profession. As his time permits, he drops in occasionally at the weekly luncheons of the National Capital Alumni Chapter. He followed with interest the reactivation of Gamma Eta Chapter at George Washington University and the establishment of Delta Sigma Chapter at the University of Maryland. He has announced his intentions of furnishing a room in the Shelters of each of these chapters in memory of his son, Tom, Jr.

When he traveled to Bethany College in 1945 to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree, he had his first opportunity of seeing the Fraternity's birthplace. Impressed, he wrote to Hugh Shields expressing his pleasure over visiting the old house where the Founders first met and reading the bronze memorial tablet which commemorates Delta Tau Delta's founding at the historic West Virginia college.

His close association with the Fraternity will most certainly continue since his son, William Ramsey, is a Delt in the class of 1951 at Gamma Iota Chapter. Ramsey, incidentally, was presented a year ago the Best Pledge Award by Gamma Iota.

Tom Clark's host of friends in Delta Tau Delta salute him and wish him a full measure of success in discharging his new responsibilities to the nation.

Dr. Barbour Heads Presbyterian Church

Beloved pastor of Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church, Dr. Barbour assumes spiritual leadership of two million people as national moderator of the Presbyterian Church.

"MY JOB IS PEOPLE. It always will be."

That has been the credo of Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Pittsburgh, '19, the new national moderator of the Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A.

Elected to the highest office in the church at the 161st General Assembly held during May at Buffalo, New York, Dr. Barbour assumes national leadership of 2,300,000 Presbyterians and 8,000 churches. Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, Tennessee, for the past 21 years, Dr. Barbour becomes the first person from the South to be elected moderator in 100 years.

Previously vice moderator of the church, Dr. Barbour will serve as presiding officer of the General Assembly in addition to his duties as chairman of the General Council of the church. He will remain on the council for three years.

Dr. Barbour was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, of British parents, who were Episcopalean. He laughingly recounts how he became a Presbyterian.

"There were two streetcar tracks to cross to get to the Episcopal Church, and one to cross to get to the Presbyterian Church," he says. "It was thought dangerous for little children to cross streetcar tracks, and a result, I was sent to the Presbyterian Sunday School."

He attended the University of Pittsburgh, where he became affiliated with Gamma Sigma Chapter. Pledged to Delta Tau Delta in the spring of 1917, he was initiated the following winter on February 23. A fellow initiate on that day was G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh, '21, the 20th President of the Fraternity.

The chapter letter from Gamma

Sigma in the January, 1918, issue of THE RAINBOW says of him, "Clifford Barbour is president of the Y.M.C.A. at school, leader of the Glee Club, and one of the most popular and versatile men in the university." His interest in the Y.M.C.A. had been developed before this, however, for he had served overseas with that organization during the first World War.

His interest in his Fraternity also continued, for he later served as chapter adviser of Delta Delta Chapter, at the University of Tennessee, in Knoxville.

He attended Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh and later went to Scotland to receive the degrees of doctor of philosophy and doctor of theology at the University of Edinburgh before returning to the United States.

Dr. Barbour has been one of Knoxville's best-liked ministers. At special services, his pews will frequently not hold all who wish to hear him. An active person in civic affairs, Dr. Barbour frequently speaks in behalf of the Community Chest or needy persons at Christmas time.

He has always manifested an abiding interest in young people, demonstrating to them how they can make religion a vital force in their lives. Five young men from Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church have entered the Christian ministry during his pastorate.

Dr. Barbour has retained through the years a characteristic optimism and human understanding despite great personal misfortune and grief. Several years ago he suffered injuries which prevented him from carrying on the active life to which he was accustomed. He promptly took up sun-bathing as a partial substitute. When Mrs. Barbour died in an airplane accident, he reaffirmed his own faith in the theology with which he has inspired others:

"If you want stability in a quaking world, if you want courage in time of trouble, accept Christ. Those who have done so have found that when storms came, winds blew, and rains beat upon their house, it did not fall."

He has remained pastor of the Knoxville church although offered the presidency of two colleges, the theology chair in seminaries, and the pastorates of numerous metropolitan churches. He is the author of a standard theological reference book, Sin and the New Philosophy.

One of the tasks the new moderator has cut out for himself is that of strengthening the feeling of unity between the North and South Presbyterian churches. He plans to work to strengthen the theological seminaries, both in faculties and facilities, and to increase the out-reaching effect of the foreign and national missions and other benevolent work. He also wishes to strengthen the National Council of Presbyterian Men.

The Knoxville Journal said of Dr. Barbour after his election, "He will now bring to bear on a national scale the same ability and sympathetic qualities he has given to Knoxville's religious and civic life."

Dr. Barbour joins the ever-increasing ranks of prominent Delt religious leaders who have added significantly to the honor of the Fraternity by their contribution to the spiritual welfare of the world.

Delts Enter Oklahoma A. & M.

By DR. MELVIN G. RIGG, Baker, '16

Chapter Adviser, Delta Chi Chapter

IT WAS WHEN the telegrams began to pour in that the boys of the Crescent Club of Oklahoma A. & M. College began to realize what it means to belong to Delta Tau Delta.

For more than a year they had been making the uphill struggle that is always the role of a new local competing with well-entrenched chapters of national fraternities. It was a comfort to know that they were a sponsored group; yet they also knew that the Crescent Club must make good in the local situation, and it was hard at times to escape the feeling of isolation.

The telegrams began coming Friday morning. They came from everywhere, from Maine to California, a striking proof of the national character of the Fraternity. I should have said international, for there was a congratulation from Canada. There were messages from alumni chapters, from members of the Arch Chapter, and there was one from Ed Heminger, who had come from the Central Office to get us started on installation plans and then had gone on to perform a similar service for Santa Barbara.

There was no longer any doubt about it: we belonged.

On Friday evening, May 6, was the installation ball. In the receiving line were three Delt celebrities—John Nichols, Hugh Shields, and Harold Brenton—and it is something to shake hands with the national President. The writer well remembers when he was uncertain whether the presidency of the United States or the presidency of Delta Tau Delta was the greater honor. I shall not attempt to describe the dance except to note that Bonnie Spencer, the orchestra leader, is himself a Delt who knows how to arrange the old Delt tunes for dancing.

Delta Chi Chapter is in a very real sense a daughter of Delta Alpha of the University of Oklahoma, and for the writer this is a circumstance which is singularly gratifying. Twenty-seven years ago he was a member of the initiation team at the installation of Delta Alpha. Whatever debt the Norman chapter owes for this slight service has been repaid many times. Three of the colonizers, Don Holt, Dale Edmundson, and George Blessing, were from Delta Alpha, while John Venable came from Delta Beta. Most of the alumni of the state are naturally from the University of Oklahoma. (Yes, we know that Bob Jones is from Stanford.) Without the efforts of these alumni, and without their generous financial support, Delta Chi would not now exist.

The active chapter of Delta Alpha came up, seventy-five strong, for the installation. It was their team that put on the initiation, and it was their glee club that sang at the banquet. In view of the strong rivalry which always develops between a state university and the state land grant college, this is a fine example of the spirit of Delta Tau Delta.

The impressive initiation ceremony was held Saturday afternoon and was followed by the banquet served by the great Clay Potts, director of the College foods units, and famous throughout Oklahoma for the meals he produces. (His name is really Henry Clay Potts, but the Henry has been forgotten.) The singing by the Delta Alpha Glee Club was as fine as I have ever heard on the concert stage, and I can well understand why this group has won the fraternity sing ten times at the University of Oklahoma. They even sang a Bach chorale—yes, a Bach chorale at a fraternity banquet—and we liked it. They gave their own arrangement of the song "Oklahoma" with a startling finale of gunfire. To their leader, Bill Bender, go our thanks and our admiration.

The toastmaster was Senator Charles Duffy of Ponca City, who had a happy way of keeping the wheels running smoothly. Bob Cox presented the chapter roll book, or rather said he would do so when the book arrived. Delta Chi will always remember Bob Cox for his fine job in selecting living room furniture. Certificates of membership were given by John Nichols, Western Division President, who has engineered the Stillwater chapter from the beginning. I almost said that he fathered the chapter, but perhaps we have gone far enough in the way of biological metaphors.

The charter was presented by national Secretary Martin B. Dickinson and accepted by Joe Milburn, chapter president. Dr. Henry G. Bennett, President of the Oklahoma A. & M. College, welcomed the chapter to the campus, and this welcome is only one of the kindnesses he has extended. The high lights of the evening were the talks by President Brenton and by Carl V. Weygandt, Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court. I cannot in this article give these talks the attention they deserve, but both men made us feel something of the higher purpose of the Fraternity.

It was a great evening. We were honored by the presence of national Treasurer William H. Martindill,

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—History has a habit of repeating itself. Even a philosopher-turned-psychologist like Dr. Rigg will admit this phenomenon—especially when he finds himself the chief figure in the re-enactment.

When Delta Alpha Chapter was installed twenty-seven years ago, Dr. Rigg was a member of the alumni committee in charge of arrangements. The installation story in THE RAINBOW came from his facile pen. When Delta Chi-to-be began to take shape, he was an active member of the advisory committee directing its destinies. How could we conceivably ask anyone but Dr. Rigg to do the honors for Delta Tau Delta's second installation in the state of Oklahoma?

Professor of psychology at Oklahoma A. & M., Dr. Rigg is well known as a contributor to the scientific journals of his profession. He is the inventor of the Rigg Poetry Judgment Test. His work in the psychology of music has been cited by such experts as Deems Taylor, famous commentator of the Philharmonic broadcasts. Numbered among what he calls "ordinary distinctions" are his membership in Sigma Xi and his fellowship in the American Psychological Association.

and you should have heard him talking with Clay Potts about their barbecue sauces. Edward P. Boyd, who became a Delta fifty-three years ago, brought us up to date on the athletics of that period. Bruce Williams, chapter adviser, seemed to exhibit quiet satisfaction at the culmination of his efforts.

There are many others who were there and who ought to be mentioned; they would be mentioned only for the fact that I do not have the registration cards. Especial recognition is due the alumni committee appointed by President McCracken in 1947 to sponsor the local group: John W. Nichols, Robert P. Bates, Robert L. Cox, J. I. Gibson, Osborne E. Hooley, Robert F. Jones, Daniel C. McIntosh, W. Otis Ridings, Lawrence H. Wilson, and one other whom modesty forbids me to name.

The final event was a serenade for the various women's groups, again led by the singers from Norman. This could not even begin until 12:30 a.m., since Saturday is an "open night," and the girls do not have to be in until then. I had intended to go on the serenade, and twenty years ago certainly should have done so, but I must confess that at midnight I went home to bed. About two o'clock, however, I was awakened by singing in front of the Theta house, just across the street, and as a finale of the evening heard the words,

"Sing we to dear old Delta
Oh how I love her!
Dear Delta Tau."

Beta Omicron Manhunt Continues With Search for One Missing Alumnus

The end of Beta Omicron's "manhunt" is almost in sight. It will reach a perfect conclusion when the last "missing" alumnus—Robert R. Thomson, '13—is found.

Beginning in September of 1948, Warner D. Orvis, '06, and Nelson G. Brayer, '05, president and treasurer respectively of the Beta Omicron House Corporation, spearheaded a drive that succeeded in obtaining 216 address corrections for Cornell Deltas. Now all Beta Omicron alumni but one are receiving their Fraternity mail.

The task of securing good addresses for all of the chapter's 600 odd members was made particularly difficult by the fact that many Deltas had been using military addresses which became obsolete almost as soon as the war ended.

"It has entailed a great deal of work to accomplish the result we have attained," writes Mr. Orvis, "but there is a lot of satisfaction in receiving such letters as several that have come from 'lost' alumni expressing their pleasure in having been found again." The next item of business for this energetic house corporation is the printing of an alumni directory, says Mr. Orvis.

In the meantime, the search for the one remaining brother will continue. Mr. Orvis personally visited Mr. Thomson's last known address in Los Angeles, but the trail has ended there.

Any information leading to the current address of Mr. Thomson will win the everlasting gratitude of Beta Omicron Deltas, who are still shooting for the perfect score.

Delts Move West to Santa Barbara

By GRADY W. DRAKE, Florida, '44

Chapter Adviser, Delta Psi Chapter

"A GRAVE AND important responsibility to build a great chapter, a chapter worthy of our Fraternity's other eighty-one chapters and our 44,000 members, rests with Delta Psi; but with your own indomitable enthusiasm, the assistance of alumni chapters close at hand, and the rich heritage of fraternal pride handed down by Delta Tau Delta's four California undergraduate chapters you cannot fail in your obligation."

President W. Harold Brenton, with these words, marked the installation, May 21, 1949, of Delta Psi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at the University of California, Santa Barbara College. Thus Sigma Alpha Kappa, petitioning local fraternity, became Delta Psi, the Fraternity's eighty-second undergraduate chapter, California's fifth, and the University's third.

Telegrams and letters of congratulation had begun to deluge 1822 Loma Street early in the week. First harbinger of the many greetings to follow came from the Delts at DePauw. Armin O. Leuschner, Michigan, '88, from San Francisco, sixty-four years a Delt, sent best wishes. Others poured in from Maine and

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—Grady Drake, initiated into Delta Zeta Chapter at the University of Florida in 1941, is presently serving on the library staff at Santa Barbara College. A graduate of Florida in 1947, he took graduate work at Columbia until the fall of 1948, when he went to Santa Barbara.

A tireless worker in his own chapter and a loyal Delt, he became active in connection with the petitioning group at Santa Barbara upon his arrival. He assumed his duties as chapter adviser immediately after the installation.

Not content with his work with the undergraduate chapter, he also tied into alumni affairs, helping form the Santa Barbara Alumni Chapter which was recently organized.

Toronto, Florida and Washington, and Delta Tau Delta's newest chapter, Oklahoma A. & M.

Close at hand California, Stanford, U.C.L.A., and U.S.C. were warm in their greetings. Santa Barbara's other fraternities and sororities added to the effusive welcome; and the College's Dean of Women, Delta Psi's next-door neighbor, sent her congratulations.

The installation week end was officially launched Thursday night, May 19, when Ronald Runciman, Albion, '50, administered the Rite of Iris to fifty-nine undergraduates, pinning on them for the first time the white pledge button of Delta Tau Delta. Witnessing this impressive preinitiation ceremony were President Harold Brenton, Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, and alumni of Sigma Alpha Kappa, including the group's four sponsors—Dr. Paul A. Jones, Director of Placement and former Dean of Men; Dr. Lynne C. Monroe, Chairman of the Industrial Arts Department; Dr. Jerry Clark, Registrar; and Mr. Kermit Seefeld, Professor of Industrial Arts.

By Friday evening Delts from all over California were beginning to pour into Santa Barbara, the vanguard for what later proved a record-breaking attendance for recent installations. Following an open house and buffet supper at the Shelter, Delts reconvened at the Industrial Arts Building where the first initiations took place. Under the practiced hand of Thomas F. Horton, president of Delta Iota, an initiation team from U.C.L.A. inducted twenty-three members and alumni of Sigma Alpha Kappa.

Bright and early Saturday morning Delta Iota's team was again hard at work making Delts. At mid-morning they were relieved by the initiation team from the University of Southern California, who, under the guidance of William Parker, president of Delta Pi, completed with impressive skill the initiation of the fifty-three men.

The lavish Montecito Country Club was the setting for the installation banquet and ball which followed. Some 275 Delts and college officials gathered to express their tribute to the new chapter, and by their presence demonstrated once again the deep-rooted conviction with which they hold their fraternal regard.

Howard Mills, Western Reserve, '18, ably performing the role of toastmaster, kept the program moving smoothly along inspirational lines eminently suited to the seriousness of the occasion. After the Reverend George N. Taylor had read the invocation, Brother Mills introduced the distinguished guests, including the petitioning group's sponsors, Dr. Paul Jones, Dr. Lynne C. Monroe, Dr. Jerry Clark, and Mr. Kermit Seefeld; the president of the Santa Barbara Alumni Chapter, Charles A. McGee, Wisconsin, '99; Daniel W. ### Informal Views of Installation Personalities

Dean of the Liberal Arts, Dr. Russell Buchanan, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and the Acting Dean of Men, Dr. Will Hayes.

The tempo of the evening quickened when John W. Nichols, Oklahoma, '36, President of the Western Division, called the members of Delta Psi Chapter individually to the speakers' table, introduced them, and presented each his membership certificate. Following the applause, the pledge class, twenty-four strong, was brought to its collective feet and presented to the audience. Introduction of the nineteen alumni brought to a close the roster of the new chapter.

At this moment, Hugh Shields, Indiana, '26, Executive Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta, arose to present the Delta Psi charter to Kenneth M. Spurgeon, chapter president.

"Members of Delta Psi Chapter," he said, "the Fraternity is conferring on you the honor of this charter. It represents a heritage and a tradition that are ninety years old. It is another link in that strong chain that spans this continent. It signifies the beginning of an outstanding career of another unit of our Fraternity; from this moment forward you represent Delta Tau Delta at Santa Barbara College. This is your sacred trust.

"The manner in which you conduct your affairs and develop your organization will largely determine the success of Delta Psi for many years to come. As charter members of the eighty-second undergraduate chapter of our Fraternity, you set the pace. As you adhere to Delta Tau Delta's ideals, you enrich your own life, distinguish your chapter, and honor your campus. Yours is the unmatched opportunity to construct a foundation which will endure as a lasting and significant contribution to your College and your Fraternity."

In accepting the charter for his chapter, Ken Spurgeon paid tribute to two former presidents, George

Geib and Jack Cavanagh, for the groundwork they had laid, and to the chapter's sponsors for their unflagging efforts to bring about the event which was being consummated by the acceptance of the charter. He concluded, "We are not unmindful of our obligation to make our chapter a credit to the lofty eminence enjoyed by Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, and you may depend on us. Great things will come of Delta Psi."

But from the promises of the future, the scene shifted to the tangible record of the past, as Howard Mills introduced L. Nathaniel Fitts, Colorado, '09, who, acting on behalf of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter, presented a Distinguished Service Citation to Charles Koehler, Stanford, '10, in recognition of more than 25 years' loyal service to Delta Tau Delta.

When it was learned that Dr. J. Harold Williams, Provost of the College, would be out of the city at the time of the installation, the chapter's spontaneous popular choice to represent the college administration was Dr. Paul Perigord, Theta Xi, distinguished Professor of French Civilization and beloved campus personality.

Prefacing his remarks with happy memories of the Delts at U.C.L.A., Dr. Perigord then welcomed the Fraternity to the campus and charged the group with the responsibility such membership entails. "Be leaders, not leaners . . . let friendship be your guiding mark. Work for your fraternity, your country, and that world peace which is the only security our earth has today."

Robert L. Meyer, U.S.C., '45, continued the list of outstanding speakers. In a tribute to Ken Morse, U.S.C., '43, and Chapter Eternal, Brother Meyer eloquently reviewed the life of service and devotion of this outstanding Delt and offered it to the assembled undergraduates as a pattern they might well emulate.

Rounding out the banquet speakers was W. Harold Brenton, Iowa State, '20, President of Delta Tau Delta. Introducing his speech by expressing his pleasure in being once more in Santa Barbara, President Brenton outlined the steps involved in granting a charter, touched on the general expansion policy of the Fraternity, and discussed the purpose and ideals of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. He urged the charter members and pledges of Delta Psi Chapter to accept their opportunity and to make the most of it.

The guests rose, sang "Delta Shelter," and the installation banquet of Delta Psi was over.

But the evening was yet young. Delts were back at the Montecito Country Club in a matter of minutes with their dates to begin the installation ball. An unflagging local committee had arranged dates for the visiting brothers with the most attractive co-eds on the campus. Engraved invitations had been sent to 150 outstanding students and faculty members to be guests of the Fraternity. Before the night was over, 600 people danced, listened to the glee clubs from the Delt chapters at U.C.L.A. and U.S.C., and were unanimous in agreeing that Delta Psi's installation ball was the outstanding social event of the college year.

Thus California welcomed its newest chapter of Delta Tau Delta. Negotiations which had been carried on for two years were culminated. When Santa Barbara State College became the eighth unit of the University of California, alert members of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter started investigating the campus as a possible field for expansion. Among those active in the project were Frank Rethlefsen, William Schwab, Gordon Carey, Jerry Stewart, Natt Fitts, John Mudge, and Dan Ferguson.

In the natural order of things, these men conferred with the administrative officials of the College concerning the existing local fraternities on the campus. Dr. Paul Jones, then Dean of Men, recognizing in Delta Tau Delta an outstanding leader in the fraternity system, steered them toward the group he had been sponsoring for more than ten years—Sigma Alpha Kappa.

Sigma Alpha Kappa had been founded in 1924 and was probably the outstanding local fraternity on the campus, with a long history of leadership in scholarship, student body presidents, and college activities. In the two years that followed, the chapter steadfastly kept its goal set for Delta Tau Delta. Dr. Jones and the chapter's presidents, George Geib and Jack Cavanagh, watched other locals go national—Sigma Tau Gamma, Sigma Pi, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Sigma Phi, Beta Sigma Tau, Tau Epsilon Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon—until Sigma Alpha Kappa remained the lone local fraternity on the campus.

But if progress had been slow, it was nevertheless steady. Martin B. Dickinson, Secretary of the Fraternity; G. Herbert McCracken, President of Delta Tau Delta; and Dr. Herbert Spencer, now Supervisor of Scholarship, visited the group in the spring of 1948. Representatives were sent to the Fifty-ninth Karna. In the fall of 1948 Field Secretary Ed Heminger spent three weeks with the local group introducing Delt procedures. On their way to the Western Division Conference in February, 1949, President Brenton and Executive Vice-President Shields stopped at Santa Barbara. In the early spring Philip S. Van Cise, Colorado, '07, was appointed to make the official investigation. His detailed report, based on firsthand information gained from his visit to the chapter, was presented to the Arch Chapter, and that body at its meeting April 2, 1949, granted the charter.

Thus, with a long, outstanding record behind it, Delta Psi looks forward to an even more distinguished career as the eighty-second chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

King of Wheat Farmers

KING OF WHEAT farmers and the world's best-known champion of industrialized agriculture is Thomas D. Campbell, Cornell, '05.

A favorite of writers for thirty years, he has been the subject of a million and more words. His remarkable feats have been reported most recently in Harper's and The Reader's Digest.

There is a good reason for Mr. Campbell's popularity with writers. As operator of the biggest privately owned wheat farm on earth (65,000 acres near Hardin, Montana), he has demonstrated convincingly the effectiveness of industrial methods and modern machinery applied to farming. In 1947 he harvested a half million bushels of wheat, worth one and a half million dollars—an all-time record. With Europe's hungry millions looking to America for bread and life, the mass production of the Campbell Farming Corporation looms large in world reconstruction.

A veteran of World War I, Campbell entered World War II as a lieutenant colonel at the request of General Marshall to assist in the maintenance and operation of all ground vehicles. He served in every theatre around the globe and participated in several combat engagements. Inventor of the fire bomb which our airmen used to annihilate enemy targets with masses of blazing petroleum jelly, he was awarded the Legion of Merit. By the end of the war he had been promoted to Brigadier General, and he was recently appointed by the President as a reserve officer on the General Staff.

As the world's best-informed wheat grower, he has contributed his services to help solve other nations' production problems. Soviet Russia has twice enlisted his aid. In 1941, Great Britain, stymied by the Nazi blockade, called on him to step up the grain yield of its soil. In 1947 and 1948, French and Tunisian officials traveled to Montana to observe his revolutionary techniques. Campbell recently visited North Africa to advise the French about increasing production.

THOMAS D. CAMPBELL

At 67, the wiry Montanan is reported to have the enthusiasm and physical stamina of a man of 30. Head of a multi-million-dollar corporation and owner of a livestock spread of nearly half a million acres in New Mexico, he is still contemptuous of ostentation. Joseph Kinsey Howard, a fellow Montanan, recently said of him: "Associate of presidents and princes, he dines by choice with his harvest hands."

Born in a sod hut on what is now the campus of the University of North Dakota, Campbell is the son of a farmer. By the time he was seventeen, he was managing his family's 4,000 acres and attending college at the same time. In five years he was graduated from the University of North Dakota with both the A.B. and M.E. degrees. For graduate work he attended Cornell, joining Delta Tau Delta at that institution.

His boyhood ambition had been to own the largest wheat farm in the Red River Valley. He realized early that this goal could be realized only through mechanization. His father had pioneered the field with steam-powered plowing and threshing machines. Student Tom had wisely studied engineering.

World War I presented him his first real opportunity to enter big-time agriculture. With an acute food shortage facing the nation, he laid before the government a plan for large-scale wheat growing on hitherto untilled land. North Africa was considered and abandoned because of the German submarine menace. The government told Campbell to pick his own site in this country. His selection was 95,000 acres of the Crow and Fort Peck Indian reservations in Montana. When government financing fell through, he went directly to J. P. Morgan, the "unapproachable," and pulled off the neatest stunt of the year by obtaining a loan of two million dollars.

The gigantic venture succeeded, and when the Morgan interests withdrew after lean drought years, the Campbell Farming Corporation was formed to take over. Repeated crop failures of the early thirties put the Corporation nearly a million dollars in the red by 1934, but Campbell's industrial methods eventually began to tell and the farms have prospered since 1935.

By what magic does Campbell farm 650,000 acres and manage an average yield of thirty-two bushels per acre? No magic at all, General Campbell would tell you. His operations are conducted on the same basis as those of any other great industry. Engineering skill, sound judgment, and intensive use of modern machinery operated by thoroughly organized, highly skilled, and well-paid men, combined with the inventive genius of Campbell, have wrought a great farming industry.

Campbell has the equipment to plow 1,000 acres a day and to sow and harvest 2,000 acres a day. The big problem of maintenance has been reduced to a minimum by organized teamwork. Light running repairs are made in the field, while a well-equipped shop manned by skilled men is located in Hardin to handle heavy repairs. Here a forge shop, complete welding equipment, machine shop, wood shop, and

Albion Delt Is "Uncle Floyd" to 2,000 Boys

G. Sydney Lenfestey Heads Southern Division

If you want a two-year investment, invest in roses.

A ten-year investment, make it trees.

But if you want the investment of a lifetime, invest in boys.

FLOYD STARR, Albion, '10, invested in boys. When he was graduated from Albion, he staked his savings and a family inheritance on a unique venture.

He purchased a farm near Albion, Michigan. The farm became Starr Commonwealth for Boys, a Michigan corporation "not for pecuniary profit." It was founded on the simple creed coined by Mr. Starr: "We believe that there is no such thing as a bad boy . . . that every normal boy will be good if given an opportunity in an environment of love and activity."

Since 1913 some 2,000 boys of all classes and creeds have gone out from "Uncle Floyd's" home to make a generation of faithful husbands, understanding fathers, and outstanding citizens.

From the outset Floyd Starr had declared that, given an opportunity in an environment of love and activity, any normal boy will be good. His boys stayed good. They were loyal. They wore the Big S on their sweaters proudly. They talked about "our school." They became devoted alumni, returning regularly for "homecoming."

Starr Commonwealth is a private enterprise receiving neither state nor federal aid. It is nonpolitical and nonsectarian. Protestants, Catholics, and Jews are accepted alike. Its Old English Style Cottages give homeless youths a haven of love and comfort; its farms provide healthy, outdoor recreation and the lesson of co-operative work. Its curriculum includes instruction in music, art, literature, and religion. Starr football and basketball teams are well-coached, scrappy.

The Starr ideal has merited the praise of many persons. Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, said of it: "There is no institution in this or neighboring states which is doing so much for the youth of our land."

FLOYD STARR

Greatest praise of Floyd Starr comes from Starr Commonwealth alumni themselves. One of them recently wrote: "Floyd Starr is a striking person. Upon meeting him, one immediately senses the presence of greatness not founded upon clever publicity or financial egress. Depth of character, personal eloquence, and a towering intellect all impress one to a degree few people experience in a lifetime. . . ."

"If the destinies of nearly 2,000 intelligent American boys is of any importance, and if the Starr therapy of an 'atmosphere of love and constructive activity' has had any influence in solving the general delinquency problem (which is widely acknowledged in psychological circles), if it makes any difference whether 2,000 boys become convicts or outstanding citizens, then Floyd Starr stands out as a strong builder whose work no man can measure, and whose venerated personage few men can rival."

Phi Kappa Psi's new Directory of Scholarship is Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, Dean of Men at the University of Delaware. Dean Daugherty is well known to many Delts for the constructive help he has given in building a sound fraternity system at Delaware.

G. Sydney Lenfestey, Florida, '34, joined the Arch Chapter as President of the Southern Division on June 1. He was elected to the position by the Southern Division Conference last April, to succeed Charles Pearson, Jr.

Mr. Lenfestey is a former vice-president of the Division, having served two years in that office. His interest and activity in the Fraternity have been sustained since undergraduate days, when he served his chapter as treasurer, house manager, vice-president, and pledge trainer. A resident of Tampa, Florida, he is past president of the Tampa Alumni Chapter.

He was chairman of the Committee on Time and Place of the Fifty-ninth Karnea at French Lick Springs last August.

Actively engaged in civic affairs, Mr. Lenfestey is a director of the Tampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Family Service Association, the local wildlife association, Florida Frozen Food Products, Inc., and the Y.M.C.A. He is a member of the Tampa Little Theatre, the Civic Music Association, the Symphony Society, the Rotary Club, and the Scottish Rite. He is chairman of the advance committee of the Boy Scouts organization.

Rho Celebrates 75th Anniversary

By VAN V. ROWLAND, Stevens, '50

DELTA TAU DELTA's 75-year career at Stevens Institute of Technology was commemorated on Friday, April 22, as alumni and undergraduate Delts gathered at the Delta Shelter and Hoboken's Meyer's Hotel for one of the most memorable occasions in the history of Rho Chapter.

With pride, the chapter reviewed those 75 years. From an address on Bloomfield Street, Rho has been graduated to one of the finest houses on the Stevens campus. The chapter has continuously maintained a leading position among its competition and is, in fact, one of the strongest and largest groups of the college.

Part of the spirit which achieved this record was demonstrated at the Seventy-fifth Anniversary Banquet. Boasting a record turnout, including some of the oldest and some of the youngest alumni, the celebration was a perfect example of the strong ties of brotherhood with which a fraternity can endow its members. Men getting together because of ties formed years ago and still enjoying each other's company as they did in undergraduate days demonstrate perhaps more forcibly than anything else the enduring friendship to which undergraduates may look forward.

Chairman of the anniversary was Gordon G. Bowen, '30. The chapter congratulates him on his successful organization of the banquet and its attendant ceremonies.

With a preliminary get-together at the Shelter, the celebration got under way. At this time, Henry D. Lawton, '94, presented the chapter a fine painting, reading a poem that he had composed for the occasion.

Everyone having signed the register, Delts adjourned to the hotel, where all sat down to enjoy some of Meyer's famous roast beef. With the appearance of coffee, everyone settled back to some of the finest after-dinner speaking ever experienced by this reporter.

First on the program was the lighting of the anniversary cake with 75 candles. Henry Torrance, '90, had the honor of lighting the first candle. Assisting Robert E. Hall, '95, and Brother Lawton in blowing out the candles was Thomas M. Ryan, Jr., '51—the youngest present.

James T. Costigan, '33, read a letter from former Fraternity President G. Herbert McCracken expressing his best wishes on this momentous occasion. Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields likewise sent his congratulations, at the same time expressing deep regret for his inability to attend.

Costigan, in his role as emcee, then called upon the older brothers present to stand and take a bow. Among the responses were: Torrance, '90; Lawton, '94; James F. Hunter, '97; A. S. Hamilton, '96; and Donald Campbell, '97.

The first speaker on the program, Fritz F. Uehling, '08, represented his father, Edward A. Uehling, '77, who was unable to attend. Mr. Uehling, Sr., who celebrated his one hundredth birthday on June 3, has the distinction of being the only surviving member of the original founders of Rho Chapter, the oldest living alumnus of Stevens, and the second oldest member of Delta Tau Delta.

Mr. Uehling, Jr., read a letter from his distinguished father expressing his pride in the chapter he helped found and reviewing the events which led to the founding of the chapter and the building of the present Shelter.

Van Rowland, president of the undergraduate chapter, presented a brief picture of the present status of the chapter, with particular emphasis on extracurricular participation and academic standing. He commented, also, on the magnificent job of redecorating achieved by the actives since the end of the war.

Retiring Chapter Adviser John T. Robinson, '41, reviewed the activities of the alumni in the maintenance of the chapter property, pointing out that alumni efforts had provided a substantial share of the expense. He introduced his successor as chapter adviser, Chester Williams, '42.

Final speaker of the evening was Joel W. Reynolds, Tufts, '23, national Secretary of Alumni, who reviewed the Fraternity's 90 years of progress since its founding at Bethany College in 1859. Outlining the present condition of the Fraternity's 82 undergraduate chapters, he described the aims and programs which are being followed to build further progress in Delta Tau Delta.

Referring to Rho's early days, Mr. Reynolds commented that the Rho

Chronicle, the chapter's publication, was the first chapter paper in the entire Fraternity.

Formal ceremonies came to a close as Brother Torrance led the assembled group in the Walk-Around. This tradition marked the end of the Seventy-fifth Anniversary—an event which will long be remembered and treasured by those privileged to be present.

brass foundry are ready to overhaul equipment and place it back in the field in the shortest possible time. Before newly purchased machinery is submitted to the grueling gauntlet of the wheat field, additional trusses are attached and wooden parts practically rebuilt. His twenty tractors have run almost continuously for 20 years, 22 hours a day, six months in the year, plowing, discing, harvesting, and seeding 500,000 acres, consuming approximately 1,500,000 gallons of gasoline and about 100,000 gallons of lubricating oil. During all of this period it was never necessary to replace a main bearing, connecting rod bearing, transmission gear, or differential gear during the field operating season, an operating record never excelled anywhere in the world.

Campbell believes in high wages with a bonus for performance. As a result, he has not wanted for good men; applications come to him from all parts of the country.

An apostle of soil conservation, he has proved that the soil rewards those best who treat it right. Of 65,000 acres, 20,000 are seeded to wheat each year, 20,000 lie fallow, and 25,000 are not cultivated. The ground is carefully worked so that the region's scant annual rainfall of 16 inches is trapped in the soil. Campbell periodically sprays to kill grasshoppers and weeds and even baits flax strips to ward off the grasshopper before he reaches the vital wheat.

Campbell's mechanical genius brought about what General Eisenhower termed the most remarkable "swords into plowshares" job he had ever seen. On the Campbell farms, a dozen army half-tracks, mechanical heroes of the war, have been transformed into vehicles which pull plows, deliver supplies to field camps, and haul the greatest quantity of wheat ever moved in single loads.

Campbell's mechanics removed the caterpillar track of the surplus vehicles, remounted the rear axle with wheels and tires, and attached army semi-trailers—also purchased from war surplus—to produce a "truck" which hauls 700 bushels of wheat at a governed speed of 35 miles an hour. Two loads fill the American freight car. The result: greater speed at a time when crops are lost if they are not transported quickly and a net savings of $800 a day during harvest.

Army surplus yielded, in addition, the world's largest tractor. It was converted from the M-6 tank retriever, to give Campbell a 450-horsepower Diesel tractor which draws a battery of plows 78 feet wide and turns 800 acres in 24 hours. Although it weighs 38 tons, its pressure on the earth is less than that of the human heel; it does less damage, therefore, than the ordinary tractor.

Thomas Campbell is a man, moreover, who sees beyond the horizons of Montana or the United States. Today he is urging the full utilization of North Africa's farming potential to provide bread for Europe's hungry millions. There is a great similarity between the land of North Africa and that of Montana, Campbell points out. Where primitive methods, used since biblical times, produce a slim, hand-gathered harvest of six bushels of wheat per acre, the American tractor, combine, and other industrial methods could shortly step up the yield of this land to alleviate the world's serious food shortage. And, where Africa's roads are few and poor, the converted half-track quite likely could handle the transportation problem. If not, General Campbell would find a way.

"The happiness of a good Delt is that he maintains his idealism despite all human differences. The chief glory of the fraternal relation lies in its give and take, its tolerance, its sympathy, its understanding."—Stuart Maclean, former Editor of THE RAINBOW.

Famous Delt Inventor Marks 100 Years

EDWARD A. UEHLING, Stevens, '77, charter member of Rho Chapter, celebrated his one hundredth birthday on June 3, 1949, to become Delta Tau Delta's second 100-year-old member.

Reporters who interviewed him at his West Allis, Wisconsin, home found him with a ready smile and a twinkle in his blue eyes. No trick to living to be 100, he told them.

"There are two principal factors that shorten life," he observed. "One is worry and the other is dissipation. I didn't do either."

Mr. Uehling is perhaps best known as the inventor of the Uehling pig iron casting machine, now in use in all large iron-making plants. This device brought about a phenomenal increase in production in the plants where it was first installed.

Among his other inventions (there are close to 30) are the pneumatic pyrometer, the pioneer autographic device for measuring temperatures in blast furnaces, and a recorder which continuously records the percentages of carbon dioxide in flue gas, insuring thorough combustion in blast furnaces.

Mr. Uehling's engineering career began at Stevens Institute of Technology where, immediately after graduation, he became an assistant professor, specializing in the investigation of the properties of cold rolled iron. Later he held positions with railroad, furnace, and iron firms. While serving in blast furnace plants from 1880 to 1895, he developed and made practical his pyrometer. The instrument indicated and recorded temperatures up to 2,500 degrees.

From 1896 to 1919, he was president of the Uehling Instrument Company, manufacturers of recording instruments. During this period he introduced his pig iron casting machine in principal European countries, where it was responsible for increasing the output of European industry.

Mr. Uehling recalls that at the fortieth anniversary of Rho Chapter every member of his class was present. When Rho celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary recently, he was represented by his son, Fritz F. Uehling, Stevens, '08, who read a message from the elder Uehling expressing pride in the chapter which he had helped found.

A Delt for more than 75 years, Mr. Uehling still retains an interest in his Fraternity. Only last winter he made a trip to Madison, Wisconsin, to visit with the men of Beta Gamma Chapter.

The oldest living alumnus of Stevens, he is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and Tau Beta Pi. He has been a contributor to many technical publications, and at the age of 80 he wrote a book—Heat Loss Analysis. He still spends a good deal of his time writing essays on miscellaneous subjects.

Mr. Uehling's century of living follows closely that of Washington Duff Brandon, W. & J., '68, who will be 102 next November 1. Mr. Brandon is not only the oldest living Delt but also the oldest living member of any American college fraternity.

A lawyer in Butler, Pennsylvania, Mr. Brandon has been a Delt 84 years. He was an undergraduate of Gamma Chapter during the period when it was the governing Alpha of the Fraternity.

Mr. Brandon has always taken a keen interest in college and Fraternity affairs. Some years ago the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon him by his Alma Mater. Like Mr. Uehling, he admonishes the younger generation, "Don't worry!"

People are beginning to wonder whether there isn't some correlation between being a Delt and living to a ripe old age.

Whether there is or not, the Fraternity salutes two members who have lived so long and so well.

William Tate, Dean of Men

By RALEIGH BRYANS, Georgia, '49

"BORN, BRED, AND buttered in the mountains" is the way he describes his origins, and as Dean of Men at the University of Georgia, William Tate, Georgia, '24, still possesses the roughshod vigor and unshakable integrity characteristic of his beloved North Georgia hills and representative of a man who has given endless labor and devotion to Delta Tau Delta.

This almost traditional-by-now personality emerged from the hills some thirty years ago to make a permanent splash on the scene in two great institutions—the University of Georgia and Delta Tau Delta Fraternity—and he has enlivened and enriched both with a remarkable energy; an inimitable picturesqueness, and the wisdom of a rare but gentle mind.

DEAN WILLIAM "WILD BILL" TATE gives his University of Georgia students a rousing rendition of "Wreck of the Old 97" during a campus benefit program.

ROBERT BENSFELD, left, exchange student from France, is welcomed to the University of Georgia by Dean of Men William Tate. ROBERT will live in the Beta Delta Shelter and receive free room and board for a year of graduate study. Beta Delta was the first fraternity at Georgia to "adopt" a foreign student.

While the lure of an academic career was enough to settle him in the only mildly rolling hills that surround the University of Georgia, Dean Tate will tell you today that he is "a North Georgian in temporary residence elsewhere" and point with excusable pride to the scores of Tates who still inhabit the area that his forefathers pioneered. He has been accused, and not unfairly, of being familiar with every tombstone in North Georgia, for he is an avid student of his family tree.

It is no accident, in fact, that he became a Delt, for this family tree is bountifully branched with Delt brothers. In his many after-dinner talks to Delt groups over the state of Georgia, Dean Tate has happily related how his own interest in Delta Tau Delta is so soundly based on a "blood and vow" relationship which includes two brothers who are Delts, a Delt uncle, three Delt nephews, a Delt brother-in-law, and two Delts who married first cousins.

As Dean of Men, Dean Tate is at once the busiest and the most approachable man on campus. His completely selfless nature has endeared him to countless hundreds of students, past and present; and a youthful outlook—his wife calls him a "perpetual sophomore"—makes him both friend and counselor to his thousands of wards. He operates his office on a timeless schedule, and visitors are frequently bewildered when an interview is interrupted by phone calls, other callers, or by the Dean himself, as he takes time out to fire a letter or two at a secretary. At any time, day or night, he may be off to follow some student activity, attend to an emergency, or—as is sometimes the case—rescue some student who has temporarily fallen afoul of the law.

His job brings him in close contact with the fraternity picture as a whole. With an intimate knowledge of fraternity problems, he remains uncalled for in his approach to criticisms of the fraternity system. Aside from the matter of discipline, he holds strong opinions about finances and scholarship in fraternity chapters and believes intensely that if these two factors are properly fostered, most of the dangers inherent in every chapter can be nullified.

"For over a quarter of a century I have been dealing with fraternity problems," he says. "In fact, I was elected treasurer of my fraternity in my freshmen year in 1920; and I suppose we would all admit readily that the treasurer of a fraternity learns the good and the seamy sides of fraternity life in a hurry."

Of the sort of man who ought to make a good fraternity man, or a good Delt, Dean Tate speaks to the point. "I presume that a gentleman behaves himself and pays his debts; and I don't think I am presumptuous in further taking for granted that a college boy does his school work well."

Sound scholarship, he emphasizes, is the basis of any good fraternity chapter. Each year he presents a scholarship key to the freshmen in each of the three Georgia chapters who makes the highest average in excess of a high B. He has shown an inordinate pride in the present Beta Delta Chapter, which, on the basis of incomplete returns, had the highest scholastic standing of any Delta chapter in the country last year and this year produced three Phi Beta Kappa initiates.

"If a boy doesn't come to college to get knowledge," the Dean says, paraphrasing the title of a well-known fraternity song, "he might just as well stay home; join the local country club for his drinking, golfing, and social life; hang around the corner drugstore for gossip and current scandal; and follow the local athletic league for his vicarious sports interest."

Coming from a man who himself is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, his advice has a way of hitting home to the Dean's students. Most of them are aware that he was no "book-worm" in the deprecatory sense, for during his collegiate years he won eight track championships, was president of five major organizations including the Student Council and Beta Delta Chapter, and achieved a fabled reputation as a debator.

The Dean's feverish undergraduate activity, especially his achievements in Southeastern cross-country track meets, earned him the nickname "Wild Bill" Tate, which has persisted to this day and is as appropriate as ever. His students are inclined to use the name only behind his back and to attribute it to some latter-day wag; but he really got the name from Morgan Blake, a sports writer on The Atlanta Journal in the early 1920's, after he had shattered a string of track records.

Part of the "Wild Bill" tradition is a keen sense of humor and prankish nature which he probably inherited from his mother. Mrs. Edna F. Tate, who at 73 still maintains the family home in North Georgia, exercised the family prerogative to jest by visiting his office several years ago and insisting, in his absence, that she wanted to register in the University. Since her nature and person were unknown to staff members, only the appearance of the Dean saved a flustered female assistant from utter confusion and hysteria.

With a nature so all-encompassing, the Dean's energies cannot be confined to the University of Georgia campus. He is first and foremost a citizen of the state of Georgia, and as sincerely as anyone, he is conscious of the social and economic problems of Georgia and the South. In recent years he has traveled the state constantly championing a solution to these problems.

His most immediate worry is what he terms "human erosion" from Georgia. "I am quite worried over the constant loss of boys and girls from the state, who leave in their early 20's and stay away the whole time that they could be adding to the earnings of the state," he has told hundreds of Georgia audiences. He attributes educational and governmental difficulties to this drain of college-trained young people from the state and seeks a means of stemming the tide. A characteristic optimism tempers his outlook, nonetheless, and an out-of-state student at the University rarely escapes a sales talk from the Dean on the wisdom of seeking a future in Georgia.

Besides a hobby of "meeting and knowing people"—which, incidentally, is an accurate key to his whole personality—the Dean admits an interest in collecting Georgiana. He has a sizable collection, including a number of rare books by and about Georgians, and has helped the University Library build up an enviable collection of similar material.

At heart, Dean Tate is essentially a teacher. Despite the inroads that administrative duties have made on his teaching career, he has managed from time to time to get back to the teaching of English and English history, and he inwardly shudders that his position as Dean of Men may some day deprive him of what he calls "academic respectability."

Outstanding Delta, teacher, and servant to humanity, William "Wild Bill" Tate faces an obscurity which will restrict his service, his loyalty, and his fascinating personality to the confines of his native state of Georgia. But he can be restrained in a figurative sense only, and to Georgians and thousands of friends all over the country he is and will be remembered with awe and true devotion, whether as a citizen or as a brother in a great fraternity.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—IV

LUCIUS WARNER HOYT, Michigan State, '82—1887-88

HIGH ATOP Columbus' colorful old Neil House a purple banner flapped lazily in the morning breeze. To Delts alighting from horse-drawn carriages, it signaled the opening day of Delta Tau Delta's Twenty-eighth General Convention, on August 24, 1887.

Delegates were beginning to crowd the lobby as they arrived from every section of the country and every outpost of the Fraternity. Tension mounted as delegate after delegate checked his credentials with friendly Wharton Plummer, Allegheny, '84, chairman of the Committee on Credentials. Even those who had neglected to bring their identifying papers found a sympathetic person in Wharton Plummer, who had himself forgotten his credentials.

In each corner of the lobby, small groups would form, grow, and finally disperse as new faces appeared and as old acquaintances moved in to say hello. Near the registration desk, Charles Evans, from Ohio Wesleyan, was chatting with Dwight Harrison from Hanover College. They had met the previous year at the Louisville convention. They were joined by Lowrie McClurg, Allegheny, '79, who less than a year later was named President of the Fraternity.

Slightly withdrawn from the throng, two young alumni of Iota at Michigan State were engaged in serious conversation. Among the most fiercely loyal Delts of that era, they had been constant companions at these early Karneas.

One was Joseph B. Ware, presiding officer of the convention, who served as Treasurer of the Fraternity from 1885 to 1887.

The other, Lucius W. Hoyt, was one who was to sweep through that convention to capture the faith, trust, and admiration of the assembled delegates, and who was to leave the convention with the highest honor that the Fraternity could pay to any man—the presidency of Delta Tau Delta.

Hoyt, having been graduated

from college in 1882, had taken a job as assistant engineer on a topographical survey of the Mississippi River and for a short while had lost contact with the Fraternity. When Iota Chapter was named songbook agent in 1884, however, Lucius Hoyt was summoned as the logical editor of what was to be Delta Tau Delta's first songbook. For Hoyt was no ordinary man. He tackled jobs with fervency and never rested until the work was done.

He undertook this assignment with characteristic zeal. He personally contributed a number of original songs, and the arrangement of the scores was all his work. The first songbook was an immediate success. Popular demand necessitated a second printing. Oddly enough, the project was a definite financial success—a rare phenomenon in those early days.

At the 1886 convention in Louisville, Hoyt had been selected to head a committee to recodify the Constitution and Bylaws. The choice was a wise one, for Hoyt, not satisfied with recodifying, set out to draft an entirely new document, encompassing new ideas, since he felt the changes necessary were so drastic that they would only further complicate the already outdated laws under which the Fraternity was operating.

It was to this convention, then, the great Twenty-eighth, that Lucius Hoyt, a law student at Columbia University, brought his new Fraternity law. Acutely aware of a member's obligation to his Fraternity, he wrote into this document his trenchant interpretation of duty. Because it proposed sweeping changes in the structure of the Fraternity, his Constitution was regarded by many as "radical."

Hoyt was logically selected at the opening session that morning to be chairman of the convention's Committee on Constitution and Laws. It was not until the next-to-last session, however, that Hoyt gave his committee report. So eloquent and so persuasive were his arguments in favor of the new document that the convention adopted the new Constitution enthusiastically and unanimously and referred it to the chapters for ratification.

The laws adopted by that convention led the way to our present system of organization and introduced many of those same features which have endured to this day.

The new Constitution established, for example, the present chapter adviser system—a forward step which in large measure has accounted for the strength of undergraduate chapters. It established a system of regular chapter visitation by an officer of the Fraternity, bearing in many ways similarity to the field secretary system of today. Hoyt inserted much of the nomenclature still used; e.g., the Executive Council became the Arch Chapter. The crest of the Fraternity appears for

THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

THE LEADERSHIP of America is coming largely from its colleges and universities. In an age which lays stress on technical training, our country will continue to look to the American college for the leaders in business, in government, in religion, in science, and in other fields.

In developing the great institutions of learning scattered over this nation, huge sums of money have been and are being expended for buildings, equipment, and educational staffs. Our country has gone further in offering educational opportunities to its sons and daughters than was ever dreamed possible.

THE PURPOSE OF COLLEGE

And for what? Colleges exist for the purpose of training men's minds and memories, increasing their knowledge, developing their skills, showing them how to gather and utilize information—and always for the purpose of teaching men to think. For the informed man, the thinking man, will always make a constructive contribution to the society in which he lives.

The young men attending these colleges will shortly be the leaders of our American thought and action. The manner in which they discipline their minds, develop their personalities, and resolve their characters will largely determine the course of history in future years. Do not the professors and teachers of our colleges, therefore, have within their grasp the molding of the destiny of this country?

And yet, with all their splendid buildings, their extensive libraries, and their great teaching staffs, our colleges can hardly be expected to do a complete job of training men for leadership. Men may develop vast technical skills and they may acquire much learning, but they still may fall short of possessing the basic qualities so necessary for leadership.

OPPORTUNITY FOR FRATERNITIES

It is here that the college fraternity's great opportunity virtually pounds at the door.

One of our great educators said, "It would be hard to find in the United States a better school than the chapter of a fraternity for training the American man into a large American citizenship." Such, indeed, is the avowed purpose of a fraternity—to build a family of strong men—men better able, because of their association together, to be fine citizens and good leaders.

A good chapter of a good fraternity teaches men to live and to work together constructively. It indoctrinates them with a sense of responsibility and obligation. It encourages scholarship. It points men toward good citizenship, training which is imperative if this nation is to remain strong. It builds character and teaches personal integrity. Here men learn the ways and advantages of co-operation. A good chapter provides training in leadership.

Yes, a chapter must accomplish all of these things to be counted good and to justify its existence. What greater challenge could be presented to a group of college men?

NOT FOR UNDERGRADUATES ALONE

But this is not a challenge for the undergraduates alone. Alumni belong in the picture. We have often referred to the Fraternity as a family of men, and alumni have always been an integral part of that family. For do not the older and more mature members of a family extend a helping hand to the younger members? Isn't it true that the finest manifestation of family loyalty is the willingness of the big brother to assist his younger brothers? And aren't the strongest families those whose members are ever ready to be of mutual service?

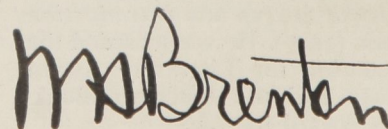

The alumnus who truly wants to make a contribution to the development of a better world can find no more profitable outlet than an undergraduate chapter, the college man's training ground for leadership and the best medium on the campus for his self-education. Alumni who help their Fraternity build better chapters are enhancing the value of those chapters as fields for the development of leadership.

There are many specific opportunities readily accessible to alumni. House corporations, which must be manned by alumni, provide stable financial management essential to a sound chapter. Alumni chapter advisers play an indispensable role. Scholarship, pledge education, rushing, alumni relations, internal organization, and related phases—in all of which alumni can be of assistance—are important to a chapter's usefulness.

LARGE SCOPE OF CHALLENGE

The scope of our challenge is even larger. It extends to the national Fraternity. Through our Division Conferences, our Karneas, our alumni chapters, and our Central Office, we should continue to promote national programs which make our undergraduate chapters useful. We should encourage between chapters more of the spirit of mutual service which has always characterized Delta Tau Delta. Here, again, the family relationships apply, and as we interest ourselves everywhere in all units of the Fraternity, we will build a better Delta Tau Delta and will make a major contribution to the development of America's future leadership.

There is the challenge—the opportunity—for the new school year we are about to begin. It is a real opportunity for every Delt. May we make the most of it.

Leave It to the People, published by Random House, is the latest book of QUENTIN REYNOLDS, Brown, '24. It is based on the author's postwar sojourn through Israel and Europe, where he gets next to "the average man," to sound out opinion on current world problems. He went to Italy, to Athens and the Greek civil war, to France, to Berlin via the air lift, and to Holland and Norway.

"Quentin Reynolds makes friends as quickly and easily as any living reporter," writes one of his reviewers, "and this is a story of the highly uncommon men and women who became his friends in 1948 in Israel and Europe. He liked them all, and they convinced him that people are the secret weapon with which democracy can melt any of the challenges which fill grimmer books than this about our world.

"There is so little that is pretentious about this reporter's story that its title and its ebullient optimism carry real conviction."

Reynolds himself writes: "I know now that democracy is stronger than we realize; you can kick it around and suppress it temporarily but democracy has more lives than a cat. Democracy is too tough to kill and, if there is one conviction in this book, that is it."

the first time in Hoyt's Constitution. It is likely, too, that Hoyt is the originator of the term "Karnea" as applied to the convention, for his draft contains the first reference to "Karnea." His initial "C" became "K" in 1888, and it has remained thus for 61 years.

In the final session, after his Constitution had been adopted, so impressed were the delegates with this young man from Iota, who pursued his tasks with religious vigor, that Lucius Hoyt was elevated to the presidency of Delta Tau Delta. He was elected by acclamation as a tribute to the contribution that he had already made to the forward progress of the Fraternity. In spite of his youthfulness, the 26-year-old President was treated and honored as an elder statesman.

He was one of the speakers at the Karnea banquet that same evening. He spoke on his favorite subject—"Delta Tau Delta."

As Lucius Hoyt left Columbus and returned to his graduate study at Columbia, he had little reason to suspect that his Constitution, which had been adopted so enthusiastically at the Karnea, would fail to receive the necessary two-thirds vote of the chapters. Although it never became law, the ideas and principles upon which he had written his document lived on and soon reappeared in the revised Constitution which was adopted a year later. To Lucius Hoyt, the fourth President of the Fraternity, we are indebted for laying the firm foundation of our present-day sensible and just Fraternity law.

President Hoyt remained in office only seven months. Keenly aware of the responsibilities of the office, he resigned in March, 1888, when he found that his duties at Columbia did not allow sufficient time to do justice to the position of President of Delta Tau Delta.

Hoyt later distinguished himself in the field of law. By the time he was 31, he had been appointed associate professor at the Denver Law School. Two years later he became a full professor, and at the age of 41, he became Dean of the Law School.

One of his biographers wrote, "His work at the law school placed the institution second to none in the West; his students without exception passing their state bar examinations with flying colors."

For many years secretary of the Colorado State Bar Association, he was elected president of the organization shortly before his death. He was a member of the general council of the American Bar Association and in 1904 was delegate to the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists in St. Louis.

For years he was intimately associated with the Honest Elections League in Denver. He was instrumental in securing the passage of several laws to purify elections.

When the fourth President died on June 28, 1910, in Denver, Colorado, the local newspapers paid him this tribute:

Mr. Hoyt was a man who stood for the finer things in life. A cultured gentleman, keen for the honor of his profession, he has so lived that his death leaves the state poorer for his loss.

In an amazingly short period, he helped wrest the Fraternity through another important transition. During those months he had his finger in everything, and always things moved briskly when Lucius W. Hoyt took hold.

Orphans See Ball Games With Aid of Alpha Chapter

From rush week last fall to commencement this spring, Alpha Chapter has been extremely active. After pledging 20 men at the close of a successful rush week, we moved on to capture first place for homecoming decorations. Next, politics stepped into the picture and the freshman class elected Buzz Diaz as president and Arnie Lewis treasurer.

Bob McCune won top honors in the Wakefield Oratorical Contest and took second place in the Pennsylvania Inter-collegiate Forensic Tournament. Ralph Ketcham served as president of Kappa Phi Kappa and Harry Banta as treasurer of the same organization.

The chapter rated third place in the scholastic standing for the fall semester, and our average was above the All-Men's.

Two of the outstanding social events of the spring semester were the Mothers' Week End and the Spring Formal. About 20 mothers spent May 13 and 14 at the chapter house and were royally entertained with a faculty tea, dinners, and a college play. Our Spring Formal was built around a nineteenth century park, complete with a wishing well, gardens, a band stand, and loads of apple blossoms. Ann Pyle, a freshman, was crowned Delt Queen at the dance. Refreshments were served outside on our new lawn and the Delt Sixteen under the direction of Irv Krueger made their debut.

Alpha alumni were present for the homecoming, initiation, and commencement banquets. Bill Reichert, Bob Mekeel, Arnie Lewis, and Tom Hares attended the Ashtabula Founders Dinner in March.

This spring Arnie Lewis was elected president of next year's sophomore class. Ralph Ketcham was elected into Phi Beta Kappa. Ralph also received his fourth letter in soccer and his second letter in baseball. Al Carpenter was elected editor of the CAMPUS, Jack Olofson and Jack Goellner were nominated associate editors, and Arnie Lewis as sports coeditor.

Tom Fort won the award as the best economics student, and Al Anderson received honors for the best work in chemistry at the Moving Up Day exercises.

Alpha Chapter extended its broad hand of influence outside the college this spring by taking about 30 orphans from the Odd Fellows Home to college baseball games. This idea was originated by Buzz Diaz, who secured free admission for the orphans.

Delts Extend Influence In Many Campus Honors

With a successful student council election, a riotous Junior Prom king campaign, and men placed in prominent athletic and government positions, Beta Chapter rounded out its eighty-seventh year on a high note.

CLARE GROSENBAUGH
Phi Beta Kappa

In the government activities, Jim Shreffler was elected vice-president of the Student Council, in addition to being selected for Torch, senior men's honorary, and later elected its president. Phi Beta Kappa honors were awarded June graduate Clare Grosenbaugh, who served on the senior honors day committee and was the recipient of awards for outstanding scholastic achievement in zoology. In publications, Beta Chapter continued to dominate the Ohioan magazine staff, with Delts selected as executive editor, gossip editor, assistant business manager, and advertising manager.

Delts again were outstanding on the OU track squad. Starring in the 440- and 220-yard dashes, Senior Ray Johnston set new track and school records at the Mid-American Conference meet at Kalamazoo. Others from Beta Chapter who starred in their respective fields included Clem Fennel, dashman and mile-relay member; Gene Gyurko, 100-yard dash; Dick Sullivan, dashman; Pledge Ed Maruna, miler; and Tony Smith and George Riser in the field events. Meanwhile, slugging Jim Shreffler topped batting, fielding, and run-batted-in departments on the varsity baseball squad, batting over 300 all season. Delt Howie Frank served on the baseball pitching squad.

For Shelter affairs, chapter members entertained 40 mothers at the annual Mother's Week End, with this year's theme, "Cruise of the S.S. Delta Queen." All mothers stayed in their sons' rooms in the Shelter and annex and were entertained with various social events, including a tea by the ever-growing Delt Dames organization.

The annual Torch Sing found the Delt glee club, under sophomore Ralph Dunbar's direction, placing third in the winners column, offering "Delta Delta Tau" as their alternate selection.

Elsewhere on the campus, Dale Dunn and Pledge Bob Finley held dramatic leads in the University production of Ten Little Indians while Graduate Student Gene Dybvig was codirector of Camille. Freshman Frank Shelton was initiated into Tau Kappa Alpha, forensics honorary. Pledge Duane Murphy was selected president of the pledge I.F.C., and newly elected Chapter President Dave Keller was appointed to the Men's Union Planning Board and Student Council. June Grad Bill Johnson was a charter member of the new fraternity men's honorary, while Delt Tom Morgan, pledge-master for the coming semester, was selected as a new member.

Athletic "Big Cup" Comes Home to Roost

The end of another school year allows us to look back to successes in every field of college endeavor. The athletic "Big Cup" rests securely on our mantel—the result of victory in competition that was tough every step of the way. The biggest roll in the chapter history, 71 men, has been reduced by the graduation of 20 of our seniors. We have more varsity letter winners than any other fraternity on campus. At the same time, we are holding our own scholastically.

As we look back at our achievements, we realize that past success does not spell the same thing for the future if we relax our efforts. We are aware that we must strive even harder in every situation; we must replace those men who have been graduated with men who are as good or better; we must continually strive for the spirit of co-operation and brotherhood which broadens and enriches our lives as we work together for our Fraternity to live up to the ideals which her great traditions demand of us.

We are trying to make our chapter experiences lessons for later life as we strive to use our individual lives in helpful Christian service to the world. We are encouraging our men to enter as many activities as possible, for we feel that each new job that they successfully complete will help them to discover their interests and abilities.

We are seeking, through our Fraternity, to put a real purpose behind our actions.

Our various social events with other fraternities have proved helpful in promoting friendships that are campus-wide. Mother's and Father's Day brought a good turnout of parents for a buffet dinner, singing, and an enjoyable social afternoon.

We cannot single out a few people as being outstanding, because we feel that the group working as a whole has put us in our present enviable position. We extend our best wishes to all the Deltas across the country.

Two Deltas Are Tapped By Senior Honor Society

The past school year has seen the distinction of many Delta Chapter brothers in campus organization and activities.

Tapped by the senior all-campus honorary, Michigamua, were John Ryder and Dick Morrisoa. John also was elected president of the Student Legislature, and Dick won the vice-presidency of the Interfraternity Council. In addition, both enjoy membership in the Toastmasters' Club.

Ken Bay, vice-president of the chapter, gained honors in the engineering school, being named a Hunt Scholar and receiving membership in Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary, and Phi Kappa Phi, senior scholastic honor society. Bill Ohlenroth, winner of a varsity letter in football, was tapped by Sphinx, junior men's honorary.

The Senior Ball this spring was one of the year's top social events on campus, and a large share of the credit for its success goes to Walt Shaffer, who acted as cochairman of the ball committee, and to Publicity Chairman George Whitehorne.

John Osmundsen turned in an admirable job as popular record reviewer for the campus newspaper, The Daily, and as reporter for the engineering school's monthly, The Technic. For outstanding participation in intramural sports, Gil Schubert was presented the Honorary Intramural Athletics Award.

On the social side, the brothers enjoyed a steak-fry with the alumni at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club in May. For the Delta Spring Formal, leis were flown in from Hawaii, courtesy of Brothers Larry Doolittle and Dan Cain, residents of the islands. Chapter spirits were given a further boost as Deltas pulled luckless Phi Gams into the Huron River in the recently revived tug-of-war between the two fraternities.

Epsilon—Albion

Chapter Triumphs in Interfraternity Sing

Fall semester of 1948 began with Epsilon's scoreboard reading about like this: the scholarship cup firmly "entrenched" on our mantel for the second consecutive semester, the college award for the best house decoration of the homecoming week end of 1947 next to it, and minor sports cups for ping-pong and swimming filling out the rest of the mantel.

At the homecoming parade for the fall of 1948 Epsilon swapped the house decoration cup for the first-place award for the best float in the Homecoming parade.

By Thanksgiving the intramural athletic program had shaken the kinks out of the week-end athletes and we were on our way to a good basketball season and a successful swimming meet. At the first of the year we were holding down the winner's spot in the swimming competition and playing off a tie for first in basketball.

Black and White Week End followed closely on the heels of finals. Black and White—the traditional winter party of the chapter—began on Friday night and featured a Beaux Arts party complete with Bohemian costumes and surrealistic decorations. A Saturday night dinner dance at a neighboring country club filled out the week end.

The Friday afternoon coffee hour for students and faculty gained popularity during the winter months, as did smokers and receptions for the Delt brothers of other schools following varsity basketball games.

The Interfraternity song fest challenged the glee club early in May. For three years we had been unable to get out of the second-place rut. A medley of sea songs, expert direction, and some colorful costuming did the trick. This was the first song fest cup in three years.

The semester drew to a close with several of the brothers being elected to campus honorary fraternities. Brothers Bob Richards and Dur Morton carried Delt honors into Omicron Delta Kappa. Brother James Pope, '07, was elected to honorary membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Brother Pope flew to Albion from his post as municipal judge in Los Angeles to be guest speaker at the initiation banquet and to visit for a few hours at the chapter.

Zeta—Western Reserve

Highest Athletic Award Goes to Delt Ed Lewis

During the past school year the Deltas fared very well in intramural competition, winning fraternity championships in football, basketball, and softball. Zeta's Jim Goldie, Dave Rees, Bill Shew, and Bill Taake walked off with the all-University golf meet this spring for a new low total. With the fine co-operation of all Deltas, we were able to take the runner-up All-Sports Trophy.

Football captain and all Mid-American Conference guard, Ed Lewis achieved the school's highest award given to any athlete at Honors Chapel this year when he was presented with the Sam Willaman Trophy.

Delt Bob Paterson, Zeta's slender hurdle star, completed the track season this year undefeated and copped a double victory on the Mid-American Track Meet, establishing new meet records.

Campus elections were held prior to the end of the current school year with two of our men receiving major campus offices. Bob Harris was elected vice-president of the senior class and Bill Shew was elected student council representative for the sophomore class. Brother James T. Lynn was graduated with first honors in the Class of 1949. Jim is now attending Harvard Law School.

The social year was concluded with the annual spring formal. The dance went off in great style at the Lake Forrest Country Club.

Iota—Michigan State

Iota Takes All-College Softball Championship

"Stop the Deltas!" was the cry heard on MSC's campus this year as Iota took the IFC and all-College softball championship, senior class presidency, and three positions and presidency of the student council. They also took second place in all-College golf and fifth place in IFC scholarship (the first four places went to "honoraries").

The Deltas placed a close second for the all-College intramural sports trophy, taking second in swimming and football. Missing first place in golf by only five strokes, Don Denton tied the all-College record of 78.

Ed Pino won the senior class presidency in a hard fought battle and was tapped by Excalibur, top-ranking men's honorary.

Ex-president Paul Pettit, Dan Fleming, Larry Perry, and Ron Carr were initiated into Scabbard and Blade. Norm Anshuetz and Lloyd Kaechele were taken into the fold of Phi Kappa Phi, for high scholarship standings.

Lou Hekhuis, Don Leatherman, and Paul Pettit were elected to the student council, and Hekhuis was subsequently elected council president for outstanding work.

Paul Pettit, alumni and publications chairman, is editing the Iot-Alum, a bi-monthly newssheet for alumni relations.

Athletics Chairman George Shomin deserves special mention for athletic leadership and the excellent team which he formed to take the IFC and all-College softball championship. This is the first time the championship has been taken by the Greeks in many years. "Sho" has taken excellent care of athletics for two years.

Bob Choiniere also deserves special mention for his superb pitching. A stand-out in every sport, Bob deserves the laurels which the chapter has placed on him.

Kappa—Hillsdale

Delts Retain Scholarship Cup For Eighth Semester

At the present time the Deltas of Hillsdale are basking in the glory that can only come to those fraternities that have walked off with the scholastic honors for the eighth straight semester. Each year the string gets longer, and each time it is harder to put down in a different way.

Within the next decade Kappa Chapter will pass its one hundredth birthday. During its long life it has seen many men, 723 to be exact, pass through its doors and go out into the world.

The man who has done the most for

GEORGE RISER, discus and shot specialist and member of wrestling team, Ohio.

BOB SCHROEDER, tennis ace at Westminster.

HOWIE WHITEWAY, golf captain at Westminster.

JIM ROBINSON, member of Maryland's tennis team.

Below: BILL ALEXION, dash and relay man on Maryland's undefeated track squad.

Below: DAVE ALLEN, Northwestern basketball guard.

JAKE FENDLEY, guard on Northwestern cage team.

BOB PATERSON, conference hurdle champ, Western Reserve.

Trio of Delt sprinters at Ohio: RAY JOHNSTON (left), CLEM FENNEL (center), and GENE GYURKO (extreme right). The three took all honors at Mid-American meet in Kalamazoo. JOHNSTON holds school and track records in 440.

Kappa Chapter during her most recent years is Chauncey Newcomer. The Bryan, Ohio, lawyer has carried an active interest in the Fraternity long after his active college days were over. As an undergraduate, Mr. Newcomer led the drive that saw the present Shelter erected. That was in 1917. A good many years have passed since then, but the years have not taken away from his interest.

BILL LASHBROOK

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

Five Delts Named To Phi Beta Kappa

Mu ended a most successful year June 13 when the spring Homecoming was climaxed with the graduation of 11 of the brothers—Bard Battelle, Chuck Cooper, Alex Cook, Jack Gale, Chuck Hemann, George Kuestner, Paul Hummel, Bill Vandivort, Miles Prescott, Dick Peters, and Chris Whittle. More than 50 of the alumni, including Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, '89, the chapter's oldest living alumnus, attended the Homecoming week-end celebration.

The Fraternity placed second in scholarship in the spring ratings.

Bill Gunn and Pat Sterbenz were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, where they joined Nick White and Prescott and Peters in giving Mu a large representation. White and Norm Cornish, the chapter's new president, were initiated to Omicron Delta Kappa.

The other honorary fraternities at Ohio Wesleyan also have a strong representation of Mu men. Cornish was elected president of Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary, in which Dick Rosser, Peters, Gale, Cook, Whittle, and Gunn are members. Cornish also is the campus social chairman and editor emeritus of the college weekly. Rosser serves as editor of the Le Bijou, the yearbook. Brothers Lynn Wilson, Nason Allen, Manning Wetherholt, and Rosser are members of Pi Mu Alpha, music honorary. Bill Besuden was elected president of Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, and Gunn was initiated to Alpha Kappa Delta, sociology honorary.

In other campus activities, White is chairman of the Athletic Booster's Committee; Ralph Jordan is president of the Red Circle Club; Bill West is treasurer of the YMCA; Joe Ladd and Jim McDermott are in charge of the campus intramural program. Fred Hibbert is commodore of the Sailing Club.

The athletic picture found the men of Mu winning the spring softball trophy, while Brothers Dave Weller and Dick Rowland won the tennis doubles trophy, and Joe Bahner was freshmen tennis champion. Westy Howell won a golf letter, and John Bahner was the varsity baseball team's outstanding hitter as he alternated between first base and shortstop throughout the season.

G. WILLIAM GUNN

Omicron—Iowa

Delts Score Wins in Intramural Contests

Omicron's athletes added more wins to their string of successes during the spring months. Bill Britton batted his way up to win the interfraternity handball championship. Bill teamed with Tex Mims to cop the runner-up spot in the handball doubles tournament.

The Delts took second place in the fraternity wrestling competition. Angus Cotton, Paul Goodland, and Kay Smith were the stars. Cotton took the all-University 175-pound trophy. Goodland was a runner-up in the 135-pound division, and Smith was not far behind.

The softball team looked like championship material but was beat out in the play-offs. Pitcher Jay Storey's luck just wouldn't hold out. (Just before game time, Jay made a hole-in-one for the Delt golf team.) Anyhow, the game score was close, 5 to 4.

Coach Ford Clark led the Delts to third place in the golf tourney.

Omicron is especially proud of Bob Geigle, a varsity wrestler. Ten times Bob had met Vern Gagne, Olympic heavyweight from Minnesota, and each time he lost by a close decision. In the 191-pound match of the A.A.U. wrestling championship finals, Bob was again pitted against Gagne. This was his last collegiate match. At the end of the 12-minute match, Geigle's arm was raised in victory, but amid the cheers it was announced that a mistake had been made, and Gagne's arm went up by virtue of a referee's decision. Despite the reverse decision, the Delt smiled and congratulated the victor.

Pledges are expected to be in keen competition for a new scholarship cup. The cup, called the Carl F. Kuehnle Pledge Scholarship Trophy, is to be given to the pledge with the highest grade point during the period of his pledgship.

Tau—Penn State

Mortgage to Be Burned

This fall will witness one of the most outstanding events in the history of Tau Chapter. The first mortgage on the house will be burned at a ceremony to be held in conjunction with the Alumni Homecoming Week End.

Paul Kortwich was recently elected to vice-president of the Glee Club after returning from a tour which covered the greater part of the East. Paul had joined the Glee Club only three weeks before the tour and consequently had only that much time to learn and practice the score for the tour which lasted six days. Paul was also elected to the position of President of the College Choir, which furnishes the background of music for the college chapel.

Along the line of campus activities, we have Bob Witman, who is the head manager of the varsity wrestling team, and Bob Busch, who is the first manager of the team. Bob Busch was elected to Blue Key, sophomore honorary.

Bill Mathers, chapter vice-president, is one of the more promising members of the varsity football team. In the middle of last season, Bill was transferred to the varsity from the junior varsity to play guard.

This has been a successful year for our parties. They include the Annual Kiddie Party, the pajama dance, the Gangsters'

Ball, and two formals. The last formal, which was held on Senior Ball Week End, took place out-of-doors on our new macadam tennis court. Thanks to Ken Miller, social chairman, it was a great success. Ken has been responsible for the success of most of the house parties this year. Ken was also the major contributing factor in the building and designing of the lawn display which took second place in the contest which was held on Alumni Day last fall.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

Upsilon Glee Club Sings to First Place

Sing, Brother, sing, sing—

Sing Brother sing!

Oh, let Tau Delta ring—

Sing, Brother, sing, sing, sing!!*

And that is just what the brothers at Upsilon did—sing their way to a first place in the annual IFC Song Fest. In a field of ten, it was the Delt glee club first, thanks to hard work and coaching of Brother Stan Moat and the direction of Brother Bob Winnie.

Phalanx tap day saw three Delts selected as outstanding men on the campus. "Tapped" to the highest honorary society at Rensselaer were Dick Secrest, Fred Ersham, and Dick Powell. Dick Secrest was also selected for Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu, honorary engineering societies. An A student, "Rapid Richard" is a member of B.O.R. and LCR and has earned two letters in soccer and three in baseball.

Fred Ersham has won three letters in varsity football, is on the Senior Board of the R P I Players and B. O. R., the honorary society of outstanding frosh athletes. Dick Powell's 42 goals made him one of the nation's outstanding scorers in lacrosse this year. Selected for the "All North" lacrosse team in the North-South game, Dick played a bang-up game, scoring two of the six North goals. A three-letter man in football, Dick is also a member of B. O. R.

Newly elected president of Pi Delta Epsilon, the honorary journalism society, Gordon Hennessey is editor in chief of the R P I Engineer. Also nominated to membership in Pi Delta Epsilon were Brothers Bob Frick and Charlie McMorro. Although injured in the latter part of the season, Bob Frick scored 28 goals to help Rensselaer to another outstanding lacrosse season.

Other Delts honored were Bill Coleman, elected life president of the Class of '49, and Art Beard, who was selected to R P I's Hall of Fame for his football, lacrosse, and track exploits. Bill is retiring president of Phalanx, while Art received his M.S. in electrical engineering this June.

Listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities this year were Charlie McMorro, Bill Coleman, and retiring Grand Marshal Daymon Jordan.

As the record shows, it was a good year for Upsilon and we're looking forward to a bigger and better next year. Hard work will do it.

Phi—W. & L.*Reconditioning Under Way
After $20,000 Fire

Fire! On April 23, 1949, Phi Chapter's Shelter was damaged by fire. Estimated damage totals $20,000, but plans are under way to have the house reconditioned by September for another successful school year.

W. and L.'s Bicentennial year marked new achievements by the Deltas. Charlie Rowe completed a constructive presidency of the Student Body by inaugurating firm policies of leadership. Jock Morrison was named editor in chief of the Washington and Lee biweekly newspaper, the Ring-tum Phi, for the 1950 session. Bob Pittman has been named managing editor of the paper. The president of the junior class for the 1949-1950 year is Delt Ed Bassett. Frank McDonald will step into the office of secretary of the sophomore class. The position of president of Phi Chapter has accumulated added chores which are being ably handled by Bill Corbin. The Varsity Show, an original idea to promote the Student War Memorial program, was largely successful due to production efforts of John McKelway and acting ability of Roger Mudd.

On the athletic scene, the Deltas climbed toward the zenith of achievement. Sweeping forward late in the season, Phi copped second place in intramural athletics. In quest of their fifth consecutive title, the Deltas fell short by failing to come away with more than one trophy. The ping-pongers fought off several good entries to seize their fifth straight crown. The bowling team was runner-up, as was the house in the Sports Carnival. The chapter gained third place in intramural tennis. The softball nine entered the finals and finished third in the play-off.

Seven members of Phi lettered in lacrosse this past season. Tom Tongue and Jim Gray were continuous threats on offense. Dave Bien, Tal Bond, Dick Jones, Wilson Lear, and Bill Corbin saw a great deal of action in the stick contests. Bob Swinarton is a cocaptain of the tennis team for 1949-50. Ed Gaines and Jack Lethbridge will also return, but the netters will miss Jim Farrar, one of last year's cocaptains, who was graduated. Varsity swimming was strengthened by Bill Rose, Lee Redmond, and Wilson Lear. Limber John McKelway competed on the varsity golf team. Varsity crew is racing to the front as one of W. and L.'s key sports. Wink Glasgow is instrumental in its growth and Rowers Roger Mudd and Bob Huntley distinguished themselves during a successful season climaxed by a good showing at the Dad Vail Regatta.

Phi Chapter ranked in the upper third in fraternity scholastic ratings. The Deltas have one Phi Beta Kappa, three members of Phi Eta Sigma, twelve men are on the Dean's List, and two on the Honor Roll. Five Deltas are members of Omicron Delta Kappa.

The alumni have co-operated magnificently in contributing to the reconditioning program of Phi Chapter.

WILLIAM PIERRE ROBERT, JR.

Beta Alpha—Indiana*Delts Provide Leadership
For Campus Organizations

During the college year of 1948-49, Beta Alpha had seven members participating in football; one won his letter, and the others were numeral winners. Two were letter winners in basketball, and one letter and three numerals were awarded to Deltas in baseball. One member received his letter in swimming, and another won his "I" while playing on the tennis team. The fine showing of Beta Alpha's members raised their athletic honor list to nineteen.

The presidents of the Indiana Union Board; Sphinx Club; Phi Delta Phi, professional law fraternity; Sailing Club, and Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, were members of the chapter. Another member was elected to Union Board, while two went into Sphinx Club and three into Skull and Crescent. Three members belonged to Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, and three were also members of Beta Gamma Sigma, business school scholastic honorary.

Harry Wallace, who held every conceivable honor possible at I.U., was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He also became the first I.U. student ever to be graduated with two different degrees without taking summer or correspondence courses. He was a straight "A" student, receiving degrees in the schools of Arts and Science and Business.

Three of Beta Alpha's freshmen were elected to Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary. Brother Bob Lucas also added another honor to his long list when he was named to Order of the Coif, the top Law School scholastic honorary for seniors.

In February, 1949, the Deltas ranked sixth among twenty-six campus fraternities in scholarship, and they were near the top in all-campus intramural sports activities. The chapter scholastic average was well above both the all-fraternity average and the all-men's average.

The chapter had the distinction of being one of the campus fraternities selected to serve as host for one of the dances during "Greek Week," a special week set aside by the organized in hopes of promoting better relations among the organized and independent organizations.

One date that has been set aside by every Beta Alpha member is October 20, 1950. It will be the day the chapter burns the mortgage. A big program and celebration are planned.

Beta Beta—DePauw*Alumni Day Attracts Record Delt Attendance

The big day has finally come and gone. I am, of course, referring to Alumni Day. We at Beta Beta were welcomed by 56 of the esteemed brothers. Roy O. West, "Mr. Beta Beta," was unable to attend, but such outstanding alumni as Garret Leverton, '19; John Cartwright, '20; "Banty" Dale, '14; Knowlton Kelsey, '14; Bob Glass, '43; and many others were in attendance.

Some of the "older" brothers challenged the active chapter to a baseball game in which the alumni soundly tromped the actives 9 to 9.

The chapter is proud of its goodly profit on the year's operations, which will be enough to refurbish the downstairs of the house.

Hugh "Don't-stand-sideways-or-I'll-lose-you" Hawkins was elected to Gold Key, the local "rods" association.

The chapter has received many favorable comments concerning Norval Stephens' article on alumni relations which appeared in the last issue of THE RAINBOW.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin*Past Year Adds New Trophies to Delt Mantel

With its Spring Formal on a Paris theme, Beta Gamma finished a year distinguished by many activities and accomplishments other than social. The chapter was especially proud to be Northern Division Conference host and regrets that it cannot always be in such direct contact with the inspired leadership of the Arch Chapter.

In the "Hats Off" department, special honors are due Bob Downing, who should put plenty of punch in the center spot of Wisconsin's football team; "Red" Tadych and Ray Lenehan for their fine performances in varsity baseball; Gordon McKay for his recent election as vice-president of Scabbard and Blade; Jerry Wallen for pulling out the many and harmonious notes from our serenade specialists; and Tom Thomey, who won the Ganzman trophy, a chapter award for Fraternity service.

The year as a whole finds several new trophies on the mantel, including firsts in bowling and football. Also, thanks to "Ma" Hansen's decorative touches, the Shelter looks more beautiful than it ever did. Mrs. Hansen was recently presented with a sister pin, a la serenade, in appreciation of the fine work she has done as housemother.

Not forgetting the young crop coming up next fall, Beta Gamma closed the semester with every member appointed a committee of one to spend a good part of the summer, "Rushing the best, first, with the most."

THOMAS THOMEY

Beta Delta—Georgia*Past Year Named Most Successful in History

A riotous "Poverty Party" at the Shelter ended Beta Delta's activities of the 1948-49 season, but its theme and success had no bearing on the true state of affairs of the Georgia chapter.

Quite to the contrary, there was a wealth of scholarship, activity, and association—not to mention more material wealth accrued by a diligent house manager and a Midas-like treasurer—to make this year "the most successful in the history of Beta Delta."

That's how William Tate, Beta Delta, '24, and Dean of Men at the University of Georgia, describes the chapter's record, and it's a hard-drawn conclusion from a man who has long boasted that the chapter he knew best, "his own," could never be excelled.

Dean Tate had in mind the fact that last year Beta Delta had the highest scholastic standing of any Delt chapter in the country, according to a report issued this spring by Ralph W. Wilson, Scholarship Chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference.

And he has seen the record of two Phi Beta Kappa initiates in one year, established the year he was graduated, broken this year by Dan Stanley, Richard Bullock, and Grady Traylor. The class of '49 also boasted five Phi Kappa Phis, with Raleigh Bryans and Dick Lewis rounding out this group besides the Phi Beta initiates.

The chapter's activities calendar, too, was impressive. There were men in ODK, Blue Key, Sigma Delta Chi, Alpha Kappa Psi, International Relations Club, Kappa Tau Alpha, Phi Eta Sigma, Delta Sigma Pi, Alpha Psi, Alpha Phi Omega, and Delta Theta Phi; and there were staff members on all three campus publications, including four in editorial capacities.

The Delt chapter had been the first at Georgia to "adopt" a foreign student in a local reverse-Marshall Plan program. A member of the chapter was secretary and publicity director of the Interfraternity Council. In sports, the chapter's athletes had gone to the finals in every major sport, to establish an enviable point record in intramural activities.

Internally, the chapter had a total membership of 75, including 18 pledges, at the end of the year, the largest size it had ever attained. The operating surplus for the year would be in the neighborhood of $2,000, according to a prediction of the treasurer. A positive pledge program insured a healthy initiation group for the early fall.

Rounding out the proofs for Dean Tate's optimism were chapter programs for building a new house in the near future and for an extensive rushing season during the summer. It all adds up, he says, to "great days for Delta Tau Delta at the University of Georgia."

Uncle Remus Comes to Life For Annual Dooley's Frolics

Beta Epsilon is very proud of its members who have won recognition in campus honor organizations during the past year. Homer Wood was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa during the fall quarter, and at the end of the spring quarter Al Smith was tapped by Alpha Epsilon Upsilon, freshman-sophomore honor society. Bob Moore was recently initiated into Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary music fraternity, and is a charter member of that group. Burke Hunter and Gene Patrick were initiated by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Winners of letters or numbers during the year were Bob Moore and Bill Lam-

DEAN TATE claims that Beta Delta's three Phi Beta Kappa initiates in one year is a record for fraternities at Georgia during the 25 years he has been at the University.

mers. Bob won his letter for participation in the band, while Bill earned his number for his work on the wrestling team.

This year seems to have been one of recognition of Beta Epsilon alumni, both nationally and locally. National recognition was given to Alben W. Barkley when he was elected Vice-President of the United States. Further honors were awarded Mr. Barkley when he returned to Emory last June to receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Another of our alumni, Dr. John W. Rustin, was principal speaker for the annual Religious Emphasis Week this year, and we were honored to have him speak to us during his stay.

Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, director of the Emory Glee Club, teacher of fine arts, and Beta Epsilon alumnus, will soon be honored by having his portrait painted and hung in the Glee Club office. Best wishes have been extended by many prominent people, including Lady Nancy Astor.

Outstanding events on the social calendar last spring were Emory's annual Dooley's Frolics and the Atlanta Alumni Chapter's annual outing. For this year's Dooley's Frolics, the Shelter and the front lawn were transformed into an ante-bellum southern mansion complete with cotton fields and slave cabins. Theme for the decorations was "Flying Through Fiction." Beta Epsilon presented Uncle Remus, His Songs and His Sayings.

Beta Zeta—Butler

Nabs First in Scholarship

Beta Zeta began the year by pledging 30 new prospective members to the Fraternity. After formal pledging ceremonies, the chapter held its annual open house for the new pledges.

Our political chairman announced to the chapter that four men had been initiated into Loyalty Legion and that the offices of president and vice-president in the Diompicians Club are held by Deltas. Utes Club, sophomore honorary, gave bids to eight Deltas. Hal Cline was later elected vice-president of the club.

Bruce Christy and Bob Watkins were initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma. The next bid was received by Clyde Steckel from Sigma Tau Delta. Later, Jack Gilbert was initiated into Omega Tau Alpha. "By" Fry's name appeared in Who's Who on the College Campus. Ruel Parchman's name was included in Who's Who in the Greek World.

George Crossland was elected state president of Y.M.C.A., and Bill Robinson was initiated into Kappa Tau Alpha. Bill further honored himself and Beta Zeta by becoming business manager of the Drift and managing editor of the Collegian. Dick Reidlebach was elected to a two-year seat in student council. Three of our brothers were taken into the Sphinx Club, and two were taken into Blue Key. Clyde Steckel was elected to serve as president of Blue Key next year.

Harold Cline was elected by the faculty and students as honor freshman of the year. The chapter was honored at the Junior Prom for selling more tickets than any organization.

Beta Zeta came forth with a first in scholarship on campus and also won the first in scholarship at State Day.

The pledges honored the active chapter with two dances this year—one being held at the Columbia Club, and the other held at the Shelter.

Brother Schofield gave a roast pig to the chapter and was responsible for the dinner preceding the Rite of Iris ceremonies this year. One week after Rite of Iris ceremonies, initiation was held at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

During the past year the Shelter has been completely redecorated and the first television set on campus has been installed.

Beta Kappa—ColoradoDelts Bring Home Three First-Place Trophies*

At this beautiful school the spring high light is the Colorado U. Days celebration, sixty hours of color and fun. The boys from the big white Shelter began with a bang in the many contests by winning the soapbox derby. Their sleek, black carlet streaked down the wet pavement in a heavy rain to win easily.

The Beta Kappa act of the Buff-Show was hilarious. It depicted the Friday Afternoon Club of the 1890's.

One of the most important and extravagant events of this gala festival is the float which wends its way over University Hill. The Delts' entry was said by old-timers to be the best float ever seen at C.U. It was a stagecoach drawn by four life-size crepe paper horses. It followed the theme of "Holiday" by recalling August 2, 1876, the date that Colorado joined the Union. This beautiful piece of artwork, of course, won first place and the enthusiastic acclaim of all.

Other spring activities of importance were the swimmin', dancin', and picnicin' party that was held at Eldorado Springs, a beautiful resort near Boulder, and the winning of the all-school track championship. The boys won easily, being far ahead of the second-place Phi Gams.

The bulk of the varsity tennis team was composed of three Delts: Herman Anderson, Reg Waters Rice, and Scott Smith. All three won the vast majority of their matches. Sid Poling was the only returning letterman on the golf team. He, too, did extremely well in his many contests in this region and in California. On the baseball diamond, Harry Narcisian, All-Big Seven football halfback, capably held down the right field spot.

Ralph Clark and Harry were both tapped by Sumalia, the junior men's honorary. Harry was also pledged to Heart and Dagger, the exclusive organization for senior men.

Wayne Hulitzky and Ed Feist were appointed editor in chief and managing editor, respectively, of the Coloradan, the C.U. yearbook. Walt Spicer was elected to the vice-presidency of the Buff pep club. John Shattuck was pledged to Delta Sigma Pi, Business School honorary.

Beta Lambda—LehighDelts Dominate Publications*

The past year, while not as successful as some at Beta Lambda, could still be classified as a success. Probably the most noticeable thing was our control of the campus publications. Earle Compton, editor in chief of the yearbook, The Epitome, was ably assisted by three of the boys from the house. Tim Dennis and Art Staring aided Stan Lawler on the school newspaper, the Brown and White. Stan, in addition to being the editor in chief of the Brown and White, was also chairman of the powerful student-faculty Board of Publications.

The chapter was represented on the gridiron by Art Ferris, Alec Smith, and Art Staring, while Stan Lawler served as head cheerleader. Dick Kelsey, twice Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Champion and captain-elect of the wrestling team, represented the house in Arcadia, Lehigh's student governing body. In May, Alec Smith was elected vice-president of the senior class, and Harry Stowers, an outstanding freshman basketball player, became president of the sophomore class.

Spring brought a wealth of elections to honoraries: Bill Eagleson to Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Gamma Mu; Alec Smith to Tau Beta Pi, O.D.K., and Pi Tau Sigma; Tim Dennis to Tone and Pi Delta Epsilon; Clayt Westland and John Bowman to Alpha Kappa Psi; Dick Shultz to Scabbard and Blade; and Stan Lawler to Cut and Thrust. In addition, Bill Eagleson served as president of Alpha Kappa Psi and treasurer of Lambda Mu Sigma, Stan Lawler was president of Pi Delta Epsilon, and Alec Smith was secretary of Cyanide.

This spring Frank Larkin, Will Wilbern, Buck Wallace, and many others worked hard to produce the highly successful Lehigh Spring Music Festival, for which Tim Dennis wrote a lead song which has become quite famous.

Beta Mu—TuftsCelebrate 60th Anniversary*

On Sunday, May 1, Beta Mu celebrated its Sixtieth Anniversary. After a buffet supper, the alumni were entertained by a few skits prepared by the brothers.

One of Beta Mu's most outstanding athletes, Brother Jim Hayward, was re-elected captain of the varsity lacrosse team. Jim, who was cocaptain last season, is now being considered for the All-New England team.

The Delt intramural track team placed a very close second (missing first by only 2½ points) in this year's outdoor meet, Brothers Fuge and Crafts being the Delt standouts.

In the all-College elections for class officers, Jim Sherman was chosen as Marshal of the senior class. The results of the sophomore class elections, in which a whole slate of Delts ran, brought a big victory for Beta Mu, because four of the five won. These four were: Dick Walsh, president; Floyd Webster, vice-president; Bob Young, secretary; and Minn Aliapoulos, treasurer.

A similar victory was ours in the class honor societies. Jim Sherman and Frank Steves were elected to Tower Cross Society; Arthur Lutton and Paul Schroeter were elected to Ivy Society; and Kenneth Crafts, Dick Walsh, and Floyd Webster were elected to Sword and Shield Society. Sherman was chosen as president and Lutton as secretary of the college Student Council.

Beta Mu's annual spring formal and beach party were held on the week end of May 29. At the formal, Kenneth Crafts and Robert Young jointly received the award for the best pledge of the year.

ARTHUR LUTTON

Beta Nu—M.I.T.Team Captains Are Plentiful at Beta Nu*

Our house manager, Bob Kress, did a good job of rounding up all the actives to finish a new game room in the basement. It is painted in brown and yellow tones and there are orange ship lights on the wall. Later we hope to add a ping-pong room. Furniture and a piano have been provided, and next fall some more decorations will be added to the room.

Hank Sharp was elected cocaptain of the lacrosse team and Oscar Eubank, our vice-president, is cocaptain of the light crew. Oscar and Don Christensen are going to Poughkeepsie to race. Don rows for the M.I.T. freshman crew, the only team in the East to come close to the Harvard Frosh.

The past year saw the Delts participating in almost all activities. Fred Mellin and Jerry Austen were in TCA. Jerry was also a member of the sophomore honorary and was named the best athlete of his class. Hank Sharp was a member of Beaver Key. Bill Stoney was captain of squash, while Bob Edgar was cocaptain of swimming. Every Delt was either active in a sport or in an extracurricular activity.

Dave Moore was vice-president of Tau Beta Pi, to which Oscar Eubank has been recently elected.

Socially the Delts ranked high on the campus. There were many week-end parties from the first pledge party to the interfraternity week end in May.

ROBERT M. OLIVER

Beta Xi—TulaneChapter Takes Lead in Furthering Panhellenic Comity*

Actives and pledges worked hand in hand to gain second place in the first event in Panhellenic competition for the 1948-49 semesters. Losing by one point out of a possible 375 for first place for Homecoming Decorations did not faze the chapter, which added this new second-place trophy to its growing collection. Beta Xi also managed to place in later Panhel activities such as football, volleyball, and bowling.

Frank Bell, an outstanding personality of Beta Xi Chapter, has been selected as a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, and was elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Frank succeeds Torrie Jones, another Delt, as president of Alpha Phi Omega.

Phares Frantz was vice-president of his class in the College of Engineering, while Buddy Caro served as secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class in the College of Commerce. Jerry Modenbach was secretary-treasurer of the senior class in the College of Commerce. These three Delts were members of the Honor Boards of their respective colleges.

Leo Coco, Charley Ramond, and Tom Beal were elected to the editorial staff of the All-American Hullabaloo, campus newspaper. Charley Ramond was also on the staff of Carnival, a newly published campus magazine. Leo Coco was elected to Theta Nu, honorary journalism fraternity.

Beta Xi took the lead in the furthering of more friendly relations between the existing fraternities on the Tulane campus. The "Delta Inferno" was the first party given to which all the fraternities were invited. Two other such parties to which other fraternities were invited were given during the year. The success of the parties is evidenced by the fact that several other fraternities have followed our example.

The Deltas at Tulane also had as their guests two sororities of the Newcomb campus. The first of these was a "Listen to the Game Party" at which the Kappa Alpha Thetas were guests of honor; the second was a bridge party for the Phi Mus.

Beta Xi also played host to delegates of the Southern Division Conference held April 29 and 30 in New Orleans.

Beta Omicron—Cornell

Delts Finish Second In Intramural Race

This past year has undoubtedly been one of Beta Omicron's most active years since its foundation in 1890. The chapter was entered in every fraternity activity at Cornell, winning the interfraternity basketball championship and, with a combination of seconds and thirds, taking a close second in the race for the coveted interfraternity all-sports cup. Good showings were made in the interfraternity sing, crew race, float parade, carnival, Apollo contest, football display contest, and every other sport. Individual members were also extremely active.

In the field of politics, Robin Westbrook was elected to the junior class council, and Pete Williams was re-elected representative-at-large on the Student Council.

Three actives—Jeff Fleischmann, Jim Casey, and Vince DiGrande—earned varsity football letters. Mike Riordan earned a J. V. letter. Other varsity letter winners were: swimming, Bob Cornetti; golf, Pete Smith; track, Captain John Servis; and baseball, Jeff Fleischmann. Dave Glunt earned his numerals on the freshman football team. Ned Trethaway served as manager of lacrosse for the year and Farquar Smith was elected manager of J. V. football for next fall.

Robin Westbrook and John Hollands were elected to the Cornellian art board and business board, respectively.

The annual house corporation meeting which was held last October was successful and will be succeeded by another one sometime next fall. The chapter is looking for it to be the best since the war and hopes that every alumnus will attend.

JOHN H. HOLLANDS

Beta Pi—Northwestern

Pledge Class Wins Trophy

The Delt parties have become a favorite topic of conversation for the girls at Northwestern. The Harem Party, providing enterprising Deltas a chance to bring two or more "wives" for the evening entertainments, and the all-day Spring Formal at Pistakee Bay, Illinois, were among the successes of the year. The annual Delt pajama race was its usual success.

In the fall the Delt pledge class proved its ingenuity by walking away with the first-place trophy for the Interfraternity Pledge Smoker.

Beta Pi Chapter men—"Pee Wee" Day, "Fats" Day, Church Potter, and Ben Daniel—were important members of the Northwestern football team in the Rose Bowl this year. Jake Fendley and Dave Allen advanced Delt prestige in athletics playing varsity basketball.

The Delts were heavily represented in campus activities this year with Pete Clark as football's senior manager, Jack Hamilton as night editor of the Daily Northwestern, and Bob Emery as president of the Interfraternity Pledge Council. "Fats" Day was elected a member of Deru, the senior honorary society, Harry Cantrell made Tau Beta Pi, Jack Hamilton made the journalism honorary, and Don Hooper and Neal Rogers made the freshman scholastic honorary.

The successful campus show "Waa-Mu" had a Delt as one of the leads, four Delts in the chorus, two as assistant stage managers, one as assistant production manager, and several stage crew men.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

Five Win Numerals In Freshman Football

Beta Tau during the past year has gained notice in several fields—league winners in intramural football and basketball, five numeral winners on the freshman football team and one in baseball, a long-to-be-remembered winter formal, and other parties, both scheduled and impromptu.

The intramural football team lost only two games during the season. Quarterback Jim Sharp and End Harry Breetzke gained berths on the all-University team.

The five boys who won freshman numerals are Dave Overturf, husky end; George Williams, 175-pound speedster at halfback; Tom Hopkins, another fast halfback; Fred Blackett, strapping 230-pound guard; and Harley Richardson, another strong contender for this fall's Cornhusker guard roster.

Keith Skalla won his numeral as a slugging outfielder on Coach Tony Sharpe's freshman club and wound up the season with a 300 plus batting average.

Leading the brothers musically were Phil Neff and Tom McVay, who play in the crack Nebraska marching band. Phil plays first trombone and Tom wields a wicked set of drum sticks.

One of the last weeks of school, the Delt Wives and Mothers Club served a dinner for Beta Tau Chapter and guests—Delt daughters now attending school. Fifteen girls came to the Shelter. Everyone enjoyed the evening, the entertainment being furnished by Delta Gamma Mary Sue Holland and Hank and Chuck Pederson.

This fall's activities will radiate from a new location—the Deltas at Nebraska will move into their new Shelter on Fraternity Row.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

Outstanding Senior Award Presented to Lazier

Fall rushing, 1948, gave us 13 new pledges, nine of whom were initiated in February. Three new men were pledged in February.

Freshman numeral winners included: John MacMackin, basketball and baseball; Bob "Drufus" Johnson, basketball; and Dan Peterson, spring football.

Murney Lazier, varsity football, was presented the award of outstanding senior in the school of physical education. Murney was selected from a starting field of fifty men, his selection being based on such attributes as scholastics, personality, athletic ability, and knowledge of teaching methods. Murney also was elected to the Bronze Tablet, an honorary for students maintaining an all-University average of 4.5 or better out of a possible 5.

Our bid for first place in the Spring Carnival, which we entered with the Thetas, was challenged by two other houses, giving us third place. From a field of some 30 houses, this was still quite an achievement.

Mother's Day, Alumni Reunion, and the Spring Party came right on each other's heels this year. The mothers had a swell time, or so we think, if the enthusiasm and smiles they had on their faces are any indication of a good time.

At the Alumni Reunion it was decided that the remodeling of the study rooms on the second floor would be continued this summer, as planned.

The Spring Party this year had the New Orleans Bijou as its theme. Decorations consisted of logs and moss hung all over the living room, complete even with spiders (imitation, of course) and their webs. The dance bids were delivered by five members dressed as hermits in old clothes, carrying a paper tree stump. The dance was followed by an all-day picnic Saturday and a Sweetheart Dinner at the house on Sunday.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

Dave King Receives Gainer Cup Award

With many regretful handshakes, we bade adieu to the largest graduating class in the history of the chapter and wished them success in their varied fields.

One of our graduating seniors, former Prexy Dave King, received an honor which is one of the highest that can be attained on the campus of Ohio State, the Gainer Cup Award. This cup is presented each year to the man who has contributed the most to the fraternity system during the previous year. Dave was also given the opportunity of offering the student response at Commencement exercises; at which, by the way, the alumni address was given by Bill Dougherty, Beta Phi, '17. At present Bill is President of the Ohio State Alumni Association.

Although we are not continuing with full chapter operations during the summer, activity by the members of Beta Phi is by no means dormant. Probably the Northwestern Delts and Tri Delts at Beta Pi's Winter Waltz.

Right: Michigan State Delts who won the I. F. C. and all-College softball crown. Iota was a close second for the College all-sports trophy.

Right: Miss ANN PYLE, queen of Alpha Chapter, Allegheny.

two most important summer operations are summer rushing and the Summer Formal. The Formal was held August 6 at the Army-Navy Officer's Club at Fort Hayes.

We are planning the most extensive rushing program in the recent history of Beta Phi. Rolly Green, our rushing chairman, is doing an excellent job in securing and following up recommendations as well as outlining plans for our rush week in September. Both the chapter undergraduates and alumni are working to maintain the standards of membership at Beta Phi; we are confident that their efforts will result in another fine pledge class in the fall.

JIM RHODES

Beta Chi—Brown

Capture Intramural Cup Third Successive Year

Brown Delts have retained the Lampher Cup for the third year in a row with a total of 449 points in interfraternity athletics. In accomplishing this feat, the Beta Chi's become the second house on the hill to win the coveted trophy for three successive years. The Delts were ahead of their nearest competitor by 67½ points and mathematically clinched the cup in late April, long before the intramural program finished.

The Delts rolled up 65 points in touch football and 65 in basketball play, although in each of these sports they were nosed out of championships in play-off contests. They did take the wrestling and softball crowns, however, with 22 and 74 points respectively. In winning the softball championship, the Delts were forced to win it twice, after a protest lodged by the defeated Phi Delts was upheld, necessitating another play-off game. The Delt softballers went on to capture the College championship, overwhelming the Tower Club behind the brilliant pitching of Bill Emerson, who was undefeated all spring.

In the varsity sport picture, the Delts were most active. Dave Thurrott, diminutive forward, and Chuck Whelan, a great defensive guard, represented the Delts on the polished surface last winter, as Dave and Grey Michael and Dick Ferenbach wrestled for the varsity squad. Grey Michael was elected Most Valuable Player by his teammates on the wrestling team. Bob Barlow was a consistent swimmer in the short and middle distances for the Bruins, and Freshmen John Novatney, on the frosh baseball team, and Allan Boyer, pole-vaulter, were prominent in yearling athletics.

John Petty and Chuck Whelan were elected to Brown Key, a junior honorary society, and Brad Benson was elected to the Cammarian Club, the campus political organ, by the general student body. Benson also held the office of the vice-marshal of the Class of 1952 during the past year.

Brother Allan Roberts was chairman of the Hilltopper's Ball during the all-campus week end, which featured the music of Woody Herman, a campus buffet supper, and an array of fraternity parties.

Many alumni returned for spring festivities, but the greatest number returned to the Shelter for the Initiation Banquet on May 18. Chapter Adviser Nelson Conlong presided over an immensely successful alumni meeting.

Chapter Scores Third Triumph In Interfraternity Sing

Rounding out a successful school year, the Interfraternity Sing was won for the third year in succession, under the able leadership of John Baker, retiring the cup permanently to the mantel. The other major cup presently sharing the mantel is the result of Delt prowess on the football field last fall.

Men in some of the highest offices at school include Jack Davoust, chairman of the Junior Week program, the largest single event in the school year, and Joe Hamilton, president of the senior class and ASME president. Also active in school affairs are Ken Wolters, president of the Glee Club and a member of Rho Epsilon and Pi Nu Epsilon; Ernest Nordquist, a member of Tau Beta Pi, Chi Epsilon, and Sigma Iota Epsilon; and Wyatt Coon, a member of Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Chi Sigma. Active on the track team are Milt Cox, Al Ashurst, and Wally Conniff.

One of the biggest achievements of the chapter is the increase in social events during the past year. Under the social chairmanship of Ed Frysinger, seldom does a week go by without a house function of some sort taking place.

The newly formed IIT Yacht Club was founded and is led by several members of Gamma Beta—to name a few, John Makielski, '47, Dick Davoust, Bill Reinkin, and Bill Fort.

ROBERT RICHTER

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

Glee Club Walks Off With Interfraternity Crown

The Delta Tau Delta "conservatory" walked off with the interfraternity first place. Under the brilliant directorship of Jimmy Myers and Ort Hicks and the splendid soloing of Chuck Gardner, Bud Popke, and Palmer Worthen, Gamma Gamma's glee club made it no contest as the audience loudly cheered the songs of "Summertime," "Road to Mandalay," and "Old Gray Robe."

In the field of interfraternity athletics, the Delts picked up enough points to give them fourth place in the overall standings of a field of 22 fraternities—a great improvement over last year. In spring competition, the squash team, paced by Bob Mauk, Don Smith, and Jim Wylie, copped the college championship with ease as they lost only one individual match in the long series of eliminations. The baseball team, too, won glory for the Purple and Gold as it fought its way after a poor start into a tie for the league championship.

With these honors Gamma Gamma has an excellent chance of retaining its last year's first place in the overall interfraternity contest based on the fields of administration, scholarship, interfraternity athletics, and special events.

Varsity athletics saw the Delts active on all fronts this past spring. Pete Krebiel and Andy Timmerman on the first varsity crew, Chuck Nadler and Tyke Miller on the second boat, and Chuck Storer in the 150-pound boat comprised the Delt crew aggregation. On land it was Attackman Haviland Smith in lacrosse, Jimmy Myers and Don Smith in tennis, Pete Stien in golf, Earl Tyler in baseball, Paul Staley in spring football, and Herm Christensen in track who carried the banner of the Purple and Gold for the Big Green.

Russ Chase and Phil Brown worked hard making the Green Key Prom—the big event of the spring—a success, while Social Chairman Rex Twist must be commended for his efforts at making the week end one of the best ever at the Delt Shelter. Thanks, too, must go to outgoing Officers Dahle, Hicks, Merrill, Williams, Brown, and Cone for their splendid leadership and work during the year.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

Crichton Named IFC Prexy

The men of Gamma Eta derive considerable satisfaction when discussion turns to the recently completed academic year.

The principal reason is the acquisition of our new house which, although owned by the University, has been decorated and equipped at our direction. This marks our second year of active growth subsequent to reactivation; with a new Shelter, tangible proof is presented of both our intention and our ability to become a group to be regarded with respect.

Representative of the more outstanding activities of this past year is the Founders Day Banquet, at which we had the honor of having Brother Paul G. Hoffman as principal speaker. We are fortunate in having a group of strong and active alumni who generate a spirit indicative of the fact that Delta Tau Delta can remain an influence throughout our lives.

Delta Sigma Chapter at Maryland, which has developed remarkably during the past year, has also co-operated with us in various social endeavors. This association has helped to make concrete for us the implications of membership in a national organization.

In campus politics, Charles Crichton was recently elected president of the Student Council, a job highly regarded here at G.W.

At such a school as G.W., which does not cease activities for mere warm Washington weather, we are fortunate in being able to continue as an active body during the summer months. It is now, too, that the visiting brothers come into their own, for it is they in substantial proportion who comprise our group during these months. Remember this fact, Delts, and give us a call when you are in D.C.

Gamma Theta—Baker

Annual Stag Night Attracts 125 Alumni

Gamma Theta wound up another successful year this spring with its stag-night activities, attended by some 125 alumni. Gordon "Bish" Thompson acted as toastmaster for the chapter's major event during Baker's Commencement activities. Fred Conger, program director of Radio Station WREN, Topeka, Kansas, was the evening's speaker.

Athletic awards won during the past year include five lettermen in football, two in basketball, and three in baseball. Lester Rose was elected Homecoming King. In the intramural contests, the Gamma Theta Delts were awarded firsts in softball, volleyball, and table tennis (doubles) and a second in baseball.

Campus awards have been earned by a number of Delts. The junior class elected a Delt as president; Stanley Fisher was elected president of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics society; Stanley Dial was elected for next year's presidency of the International Relations Club; and Kent Rossier will act as president for the Philosophical Forum. Graduating Seniors Keith Adriance and James Leitnaker were elected to Alpha Delta Sigma, local honorary scholastic fraternity. Leitnaker also tied for the University's mathematics prize—his second year for this honor.

The chapter won recognition by getting Steve Dial elected as "Campus Clown" in a contest requiring a penny a vote to raise money for Baker's Community Chest. Gamma Theta participated in the All-College Sing, when all of the fraternities and sororities display their vocal talents in the University's gymnasium. It initiated one of the finest pledge programs it has ever had—and all the pledges easily passed their Fraternity Exams, a record envied by many of the actives. It had an alumnus, Henry J. Allen, awarded a medal by the King of England.

CHARLES CRICHTON, Student Council Prexy,
George Washington.

The men of Gamma Theta are already planning for the Sixtieth Annual Chicken Fry, an event which is always the major party of the Fraternity—and of all the sororities.

Gamma Iota—Texas

New Chapter Paper Appears

One of the news items from the chapter is the planned redecoration program for the Shelter during the summer. These will be the first major improvements on the present house since its construction in 1949. When the Delts return for Rush Week in September, a completely repainted and refurnished house will be in store for them.

Gamma Iota Delts were glad to have as their guests on May 2 President and Mrs. W. H. Brenton and Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields. After the dinner which was attended by almost all actives and pledges of the chapter, President Brenton spoke to the gathered Delts. It was a pleasure to have these guests and to enjoy their fellowship in the conversations which followed during the evening.

The first issue of The Texas Delt was issued and sent to all alumni, undergraduate chapters, Fraternity officers, and Gamma Iota families. This publication, which will be issued twice per semester in the future, was edited by Bob Wright, assisted by David Blackstock.

The year's social calendar closed happily as Delts and their dates went on a house party to Mayan Ranch at Bandera and a barge party on the river boat Commodore on Lake Austin.

A pair of brass candlesticks, each with five candle holders, was presented to the chapter by the Delt Mothers' Club of Austin. The chapter appreciates the much-needed addition and the interest exhibited by the mothers in this project.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Senior Honorary Taps Two Missouri Delts

Tap Day on the Missouri campus, when the leading honoraries name their new members, proved especially exciting for two Gamma Kappa Delts, Jack Vaisey and Roger Englert. They were both named to the Mystical Seven, senior men's scholastic and leadership honorary. Soon after Tap Day, Jack was elected president of the group.

Brother Vaisey will be in Scotland this summer studying political science at the University of Edinburgh. Jack piled up quite a record on campus this year. He is not only president of the Mystical Seven, but also historian of Omicron Delta Kappa, a member of Sigma Delta Chi, treasurer of the present campus political group in power, business manager of the Missouri Student, editor of this year's rush pamphlet, and corresponding secretary of Gamma Kappa.

Ben Ornburn has recently been appointed circulation manager of Missouri Shamrock, engineering magazine. Ben is natural for the job since he is an officer in the ASCE and the Engine Club; a member of St. Pat's Board; Phi Mu Epsilon, math honorary; and Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary.

Gamma Kappa would like to recommend heartily that all chapters in the Fraternity adopt the Mothers' Day Week End used here this spring. Thirty-five Delt mothers came down on a Saturday for the week end. All Delts moved out of the Shelter to the annex or to hotel rooms for Saturday and Sunday, leaving the mothers in sole possession of the Shelter. They were wined, dined, serenaded, and escorted about town. It's hard to say who had the most fun, the chapter or the mothers.

Extensive repairs have been scheduled for the Shelter this summer. The entire first floor will be redecorated, according to present plans, at a cost of nearly $2,000.

Frank Tuttle, neophyte brother, has been appointed sports editor of the Savitar, Missouri's annual. Frank is also assistant managing editor of the Missouri Student. Brother Kennett Johnson is managing editor and a newly initiated member of Sigma Delta Chi.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Scholarship Advances Six Notches

Throughout the entire year Gamma Lambda has worked harder than ever to improve its standing on the Purdue campus. As the year came to a close, it was obvious that our efforts were not all wasted, for we raised our scholastic average above that of all the other large national fraternities on the campus and improved six places over our previous standing.

Gamma Lambda also made a fine showing in the field of athletics. Joe Paratore, 145-pound wrestler on Purdue's Big Nine championship team, was awarded his major letter. Bill Slocum, an outstanding backstroke swimmer on the Purdue swimming team, was also awarded his major letter. In the field of track, Ben Schaffer, half-miler, was awarded his minor letter. Great things are expected of Ben next year, for he has been making steady improvement ever since he has entered Purdue and should be a big threat in the Big Nine Conference half-mile event next spring.

Journalism has developed into a fascinating extracurricular activity for several of the men at Gamma Lambda. Our president, Alan Cazier, has written an article for practically every publication and had the honor to be initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism honorary. Jack Dubs, who has been writing for the Exponent, our campus paper, was elected associate sports editor for next year. Also writing in the field of sports is John Northup, who was elected sports editor of the 1950 Debris, Purdue's year-book.

Gamma Mu—Washington

Chapter Cops First Prize In Sophomore Carnival

One of the high lights of the year was the Delt-Alpha Phi victory in the combined entry division of the all-University Sophomore Carnival, one of the biggest events of the year for University students. Victory was nothing new to the Gamma Mu men, however, the house having placed in the winner's circle four years in a row, with three firsts and one second.

Delt "Man of the Year" in University activities was Bob Muckelstone, who participated actively in just about everything. Bob was appointed all-University chairman of the Sophomore Carnival, elected president of the Junior Class, elected secretary of the Purple Shield Society, and was sports editor of the swimming section of the yearbook, and a strong contender for a berth on the varsity swim squad, in addition to working for the house as rushing chairman.

Initiates Jules Diebenow and John Stevenson spent a good deal of their time working for Malamutes, men's service organization.

Jules and Kay Pugmire, one of the other new initiates, were elected to the Purple Shield Society, an undergraduate scholarship and activities honorary. Sophomore John Friars was also elected to the honorary earlier in the year.

The Deltas' prowess extends to scholarship, as witnessed by the chapter's high scholarship and the number of men elected to campus honoraries. Pitt White and Warren Vollbrecht made Alpha Beta Psi; Bob Milbrad, Kappa Psi; Walt Bell, Tau Sigma Delta; Don and Dean Minor, Zeta Mu Tau.

JOE CLOIDT, varsity end for Washington Huskies.

Walt Bell was awarded, in addition, the American Institute of Architecture's medal for the outstanding architecture student of his class. Only one such medal is awarded each year.

Gamma Nu—Maine

Renovation Makes Shelter Tops on Maine Campus

We began our school year by returning to a newly renovated Shelter. The new furniture and interior decorating in our living room make Gamma Nu's house the best-looking on campus. These improvements brought many alums back to a highly successful Homecoming week end.

During the course of the year members of the chapter received recognition from various organizations. Brothers Bob Bouchard and Jim Demetrious gave their voices to the Maine Glee Club. Jim was elected president of the Club this spring. On the staff of the campus newspaper we find three other Deltas—Ralph Paradis, Bill Hopkins, and Walter St. Onge—who have contributed their work. Walt was also elected editor of the Prism, the school yearbook. In the field of radio production, Ferris Ray and Dick Kelly did a good job writing for the Maine Radio Guild.

Scholastically, several members of the chapter fared very well. Art Geary and Paul White were elected to Tau Beta Pi, and Jim Firmin, who is a Phi Beta Kappa, was chosen as the University of Maine candidate for the Rhodes Scholarship.

Five brothers are in Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary.

In the realm of sports, Phil Bickford was outstanding on Maine's championship golf team. Romeo Mikalonis and Gerry Begert participated on the football and basketball teams.

This spring Gamma Nu was also represented in the campus mayoralty campaign. Al Harrington did an excellent job campaigning as Indian chief "Wha Hop-pin's."

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

Tau Beta Pi Claims Three Delt Scholars

The proudest moment came to us on Honor Day when we reviewed the honors awarded and the offices attained by Gamma Xi's men. George Bruestle received the award given to the outstanding engineer of the year. Marcus Nickerson was president of Omicron Delta Kappa and Applied Arts Tribunal. Ray Wuerth, George Lockwood, George Bruestle, and Carl Schindler were honored members of Tau Beta Pi. Carl, Ray, George Bruestle, and Orville Retsch were members of Omicron Delta Kappa. Orville, business manager of the campus newspaper, and Robert Thinnies, circulation manager of the magazine Profile, represented the chapter in journalistic pursuits.

The chapter can point with pride to an intramural volleyball trophy won permanently this year, as well as a fine showing in the Homecoming Float Contest and in the Interfraternity Sing.

Twenty-one actives were graduated this year and carried many honors with them. Included in the group are an ex-president and two ex-vice-presidents, as well as three former corresponding secretaries.

The active and alumni chapters joined forces on May 21 for a picnic-stag which featured a baseball game. The actives emerged triumphant over the "nine old men."

The chapter looks forward next year to a fine representation on the varsity football and basketball teams. Earl Hobt, Richard Quehl, Lloyd Pitman, and Paul Geisen are to figure prominently in football, while Charles Clickner and Ray Redford expect to carry the Delt banner in varsity basketball.

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

Rates Fourth of Thirty First Year of Reactivation

May 31, 1949, found some 3,000 Syracuse University freshmen and Delta Tau Delta's reactivated Gamma Omicron Chapter with a joint cause for celebration: both had completed their first year on Piety Hill. It was a long road both had traveled—and one which the Deltas, at least, felt had been well worth taking.

In the way of awards, the chapter ranked fourth among 30 fraternities in the Chancellor's Cup competition, symbolic of Greek greatness at Syracuse. In addition, the chapter was cited for its contributions to the success of Brotherhood Week on campus.

We had our personalities too . . . Woody Benoit: "outstanding radio student"; program director of the campus radio station; president of Alpha Epsilon Rho, radio honorary; and vice-president and cofounder of Sigma Tau Rho, speech professional . . . Tim Curley: Eastern Intercollegiate boxing champion; president of Scabbard and Blade; and member of junior and senior men's honoraries . . . Bob Treen, "boy president" . . . Jack Lehman, photography editor for the Syracusan . . . and that incomparable quartet of Jaffoni, Leone, Mahoney, and Malloy.

With the honoraries and professionals, it was Deltas all the way from business management to speech—with four brothers serving as officers. Deltas held 18 memberships in 13 of the various societies.

Alumni get-togethers included several smokers, the Founders Day-Initiation Banquet, and what promises to be an annual excursion to Alum Ernie Deming's "picnic grounds" in Fayetteville.

Athletically, it was Tim Curley scoring successes in cross country and boxing, while Alex Perritt also triumphed in the hill-and-dale sport, as well as track. Tim is captain-elect of next year's harrier squad. Freshmen Cahill, Elliott, and Zimmerman did well on various frosh squads and several pledges are also varsity prospects. In intramural campaigns Gamma Omicron teams, particularly those in bowling, basketball, and softball, were always near the top, if not the ultimate champions.

Social high lights of the year included a reception for James Melton, a sparkling Christmas formal in the Shelter, Winter Carnival and IFC Week End, the Colgate week end party, and "Deltarado," a Syracuse costume version of the wild and wooly West.

So, in a nutshell, went Gamma Omicron's freshman year. Come September 19, everyone—with the exception of our first set of five graduates—will be eagerly awaiting that big second year.

Gammi Pi—Iowa State

Delt Replaces Delt As President of IFC

Gamma Pi Chapter looks back over a successful year. Many of the Deltas held leading positions on the campus. Chuck Vogelgesang has been selected as editor of the yearbook, the BOMB, Chuck has been associate editor and head photographer in previous years. Jack Hansen was photography editor this year.

Bob McKee was business manager of the new campus magazine, the Iowa State Scientist. Dick Dirks is circulation manager of that magazine.

Bill Beckman is retiring president of Interfraternity Council, and to replace him we have another Delt, our current president, Walter Bones. Carl Mahnke was chairman of the big Veishea Parade, the largest student-managed affair of its kind in the world. Bob McKee was business manager and Pete Meeke was assistant chairman. Pete is also one of the varsity cheerleaders and is vice-president of the Pep Council. Bud Ostrand was elected vice-president of ISSIE, the largest departmental club. Retiring officers are Deltas Bob Haw and Bob McKee. Ed LaBerge became the latest Delt letter winner, as he sped to victory in every swimming meet.

As a result of our active interest in campus affairs, a number of Deltas have received awards and recognitions as the year progressed. Honors Day found Jack Hansen and Bob Warner receiving recognition for their outstanding scholarship during the past year. Cardinal Key honored Bob McKee for the scholarship, leadership, character, and service exhibited during the past year on Leadership Day. Cardinal Guild honored three Deltas for outstanding contributions in campus activities. The Deltas receiving activity "I's" were Jack Hansen, Carl Mahnke, and Bob McKee. Journalism "I" awards went to Chuck Vogelgesang and Jack Hansen for their contributions to college publications. The YMCA honored Bob McKee for campus service rendered during the past year.

Honoraries, too, recognized Deltas as outstanding in their respective fields. Jack Hansen was selected for Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu. Bill Beckman was nominated for Pi Tau Sigma. Carl Mahnke was selected for Scabbard and Blade, the military honorary. Bob Warner was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman honorary.

The Mothers Club held a dinner for all chapter members and their parents. The event was held at the home of the chapter adviser and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Schanche. The occasion is now being planned regularly, since everyone enjoyed it immensely.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

Runner-up Three Times

For the third year in a row, Delta Tau Delta won second place in the Junior Week End parade contest. Ted Corbett, Howard Davis, and several other brothers did top jobs working on the float, which took weeks to construct.

Under the tag of individual honors, Vernon Beard was elected this spring as president of Skull and Dagger, men's sophomore honorary at Oregon.

Stanley Welborn was initiated into the very exclusive medical honorary on the campus. Stan will go into medical school this fall.

Paul Johnston received plaudits for his splendid job as chairman of this year's junior prom on the campus.

"Song Titles" was the theme of the Gamma Rho spring house dance, which saw each man and his date come costumed as a song title. Dick Nelson did a superlative job in constructing a "real live" waterfall on the stairway, using aluminum sheeting for the job.

Gamma Rho sang "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" for the Oregon Spring Sing this year and gained the final round before being eliminated. Phil Green did a fine job directing the go-voice chorus.

Delt softball players got their team into the quarterfinals of elimination this year before being dropped out by the league winners. Gamma Rho won the annual softball game with Delta Lambda again this year to make it three straight for Oregon.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

Outstanding Senior Award Goes to Blackstone

This spring the highest award a student can receive from the University of Pittsburgh was given to a Delt, Franklin Blackstone. His name will be inscribed with the names of outstanding seniors of past years on ODK walk. He and Delt Jim Greaney were also cited on Tap Day to the Pitt Hall of Fame. Both are past presidents of the interfraternity council.

At the same ceremony Bill Swanson was named Junior Worthy. Bill was also elected to Student Congress and president of Omicron Delta Kappa. At the same time, Jack Fulton was elected to Men's Council and subsequently named secretary of that body. Bill McKinley was tapped to the honorary freshman fraternity, Phi Eta Sigma.

On publications, Roy Barnes was the business manager of Pitt's yearbook, the Owl, and the chapter's new president, Ira Houck, was its advertising manager. Jack Plowman will continue next year as the Owl's assistant editor. Dick Kovar will also remain in his position of campus editor of Pitt's newspaper. Meanwhile, Ralph Douglas has been named the new business manager of the Panther Magazine.

On June 12, 12 men were initiated into Gamma Sigma Chapter. After the ceremony, a banquet honoring the new members, as well as the graduating members, was held at the Fairfax.

At the banquet, three awards were presented: The Colonel O. H. Schrader Award, presented to the senior with the highest over-all grade average in college, was given to William P. Raines. Two men received the Parmalee Award as the seniors who contributed most in the chapter during the past year. They were Fred Geyer and William Hawkins. Franklin Blackstone received the David Oliver Holbrook Award as the senior who was outstanding in all-around achievement.

The biggest event of the spring for Pittsburgh Deltas was the combined Founders Day Dinner and the annual Branch Rickey-John Galbreath Reception held at the University Club before the first Pirate-Dodger baseball game played under the lights in Pittsburgh. The presence of those two distinguished alumni makes the event well remembered.

Chapter Garners Sixth Cup

Despite the busy rush of the last month of school, we were able to bring another trophy back to the Shelter. This increased our total for the year to six. Our latest reward was the first-place cup for the KU relays float parade.

In the athletic department, Charlie Mofett helped to pitch the Jayhawker nine to its first conference baseball championship.

Bill Rindhart and Bob Wolfe showed up well in spring football practice and will be seeing action this fall.

After a week of preparation, our spring formal was held May 8. For this party we used an Oriental theme. With a background of Buddhas and Chinese lanterns, our social season came to a close.

Looking forward to rush week this fall, we held two spring rush parties in April. About 30 boys were invited for both week ends. Plans made for summer rushing include parties in both Kansas City and Wichita.

Dad's week end, April 23, made a big hit with both the dads and their sons. Entertainment for our fathers included the KU relays, house entertainment Saturday, and dinner at the Shelter Sunday.

Initiation was held June 4 for seven pledges, making a total of 16 new Deltas for Gamma Tau this year. We ranked third in scholarship this year out of more than 20 fraternities on the Hill.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

Delt Quarterback Returns

Delts will star on Miami's gridiron in the fall. The first name you will read in any report on the team will be that of Mel Olix, the quarterback. For the last three years he has been the lad who has led the team to success. This year will be no different.

Of course there are eleven men on a team; the center, for instance, is an important man and Bob Kappes is the fellow who leads the team out of the huddle. Playing end will enable Arch McCartney to catch a lot of Mel's passes.

Two freshmen who will be fighting for starting positions are big Hal Smith, a tackle, and Milt Niergarth, a fine line-backer.

Looking back, important things happened last spring. President Jack Thornbury and Bob Kappes were initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa with seven other University men. In the early part of the summer Paul (Bucky) Walter pole-vaulted 13 feet and 7 inches in the Ohio A.A.U. track meet at Dayton, Ohio. This height took first in the meet and also set a new Miami record.

May 8, 1949, is a date that more than sixty Mothers will not easily forget. "The biggest and the best" was the comment heard from the oldtimers about this year's edition of Mother's Day. Al Narwold, the man in charge, certainly had a large-size job.

Another colossal bit of work was our Spring Formal, engineered by Bill Sasser. Bill went the limit and put on one of the best dances ever seen at Miami, as attested by the transient "guests" who would have liked to have been permanent. Renee McCulloch, pin-plant of Jerry Hoffman, was chosen "Sweetheart of Delta Tau Delta."

pionship in basketball. One of the high points of the year was the annual IFC Sing, which the Delt Quartet won.

A pair of Gamma Psi men were awarded medals recently at Army-Navy Honors Day. Bob McClure received the United States Coast Artillery Association Medal and Morris Hallman was awarded the Thomas B. McGuire Medal.

The chapter has gained prominence through the individual achievements of a number of its members. On The Technique, Howard Johnson has served as editor, Don Usher as associate editor, and Don Gray as news editor. Morris Hallman has served as feature editor of The Yellow Jacket. On the Blue Print Don Usher and Hank McCamish have worked as assistant editors. Usher is editor-elect of The Technique and McCamish is editor-elect of the Blue Print. Both have recently been named to membership in Koseme Society, junior honorary, and Omicron Delta Kappa.

Bill Reiser was chosen for Tau Beta Pi. Don Gray and Howard Johnston have served as members of Student Council for the year. Bob Gibson is president of the newly-formed Table Managers' Association. Don Gray has served as president of Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic honorary. Walter Lee has been tapped for Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic.

In athletic competition Bill Reiser has lettered in track, and Herb Bradshaw has earned his letter in baseball. Hank McCamish has served as senior baseball manager and Mason McKnight as junior baseball manager. Of the 26 fraternities on campus the Deltas ranked fourth in the latest scholastic standing. Alumnus Clint Huguley has been elected vice-president of the Southern Division.

The chapter is planning a thoroughly intensive rushing program for the three-week rush season next fall. Also under way is the Shelter beautification plan, some of the elements of which should be completed by rush season.

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

Continues Domination of Sing With Tenth Victory

Delta Alpha closed a most successful year climaxed with the installation of Delta Chi Chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. College. Not only was it an honor to be present at the installation but it created a sense of Delt spirit second only to that found at a Karnea. It was a privilege to meet the members of the Arch Chapter and to be inspired by their leadership.

Delta Alpha continued its domination of the all-University Sing. This is the tenth time out of the last twelve that we have won the sing, and the third successive time. Much of the credit belongs to Bill Bender, whose diligent and untiring leadership has made our glee club one that we are indeed proud of.

Our chapter continues to belong to its share of campus honoraries, having members in Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, Kappa Delta Rho, Delta Sigma Pi, Alpha Chi Sigma, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Sigma Tau, Scabbard and Blade, and others. Jim Miller is the new president of Phi Eta Sigma.

The major project for next fall is the sponsorship of a displaced person of university age. We are asking him to live with us for the next year, thus creating a chance for him to get an education that would be unobtainable otherwise.

Over 20 members of Delta Alpha have been graduated this spring. To those men, the actives who will be back next year would like to express our gratitude for helping to make our chapter one that we can say is one of the best in the Fraternity.

BILL VANHORN

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

Spring Competitions Net Three Cups for Chapter

Delta Beta, with the largest senior group in history departing, placed three handsome cups in the library this spring. The rough and tough soccer team came through a bloody season undefeated and untied to cop the school championship and place four men on the all-school team.

As always, the biggest of all spring events was the Spring Carnival Sweepstakes Race. After weeks of work and training, the Delt Buggy shattered the course record, set by Deltas last year, to take home the trophy. At the same time work was progressing on our entry in the Carnival Float Parade—a huge, red, yellow, and white working model carousel. Result, another trophy and a cash prize!

Keeping up with the Dean Moore singing award, which the chapter won last fall, Delta Beta received honorable mention at the Carnegie Tech Greek Sing.

When school rolls around this fall, the returning boys will find new carpets and a new television set gracing the Shelter, the latest additions to an over-all redecorating and refurbishing plan.

The list of individual achievements includes Bob Johnson, Tom Hall, and Barry Rowles in Tau Beta Pi, with Brothers Johnson and Hall repeating in Omicron Delta Kappa and Rowles and Dick Holl on Student Council. New end-of-the-year honors and promotions include Tom Birch, Gerry Conlon, Al Moon, and Bob Pratt called to Scimitar, sophomore honorary; John Montstream called to Delta Skull, junior honorary; Roger Wiewel awarded a varsity letter for his ace hurdling with the track team; Barry Rowles elected I.F.C. treasurer and to the Student-Faculty Committee; Dick Holl appointed advertising manager of the Tech humor magazine and circulation manager of the Technical.

IM Track Meet Brings Fourth Intramural Trophy

Delta Gamma captured its fourth intramural trophy of the year by winning the popular interfraternity track meet. This victory, along with first places in the Homecoming House Decorations Contest, the Annual Fraternity and Sorority Vaudeville Show, and the intramural volleyball tournament helped to make this year one of the most successful since the chapter was founded 25 years ago.

The chapter was well represented on the University athletic teams this past year, with John Diefendorf and Jack Van Arsdale being elected to the all-conference basketball and football teams, respectively. Several of the brothers earned letters during the year and a large number of the pledges showed promise on the freshman football and basketball teams.

Founders Day brought back many alumni from all over the country to celebrate Delta Gamma's Silver Anniversary. The coveted Keyes Gaynor award this year was won by Ross Babcock for his outstanding work in the chapter.

Before going home for summer vacation, the Delts took a look to the future and planned a state-wide rushing campaign for the summer with committee chairmen situated in key cities to organize parties and individual rushing.

Chapter Publishes Yearbook

Twenty-five years of Delta Tau Delta at the University of Tennessee—years in which Delta Delta always captured a large share of campus honors—were commemorated in May with the publication of an anniversary issue of the chapter magazine, The Volunteer Delt. Bound in a cover bearing a colored Delt crest, the yearbook was packed with pictures designed to bring back pleasant memories to all alumni. Head man behind the publication was Robert E. Lee, Jr. He was assisted by Russell Newman and James Montgomery. Bick Cook painted the crest.

No doubt about it, Delta Delta was number one at the University during the past school year in sewing up campus activities. In fact, at one time, Delts controlled all but one major office on "The Hill." Some of the more prominent activities were:

Joe Washam, president of the senior class and president of Omicron Delta Kappa, of which many Delts are members . . . Bill Middleton, president of the Nah-heeyayli Board, campus dance organization . . . Mike Weatherly, president of the Fraternity Relations Board . . . Aubrey Tramel, editor of the school newspaper . . . Fred Parker, its news editor . . . James Haynes, captain of Pershing Rifles . . .

Frank Lester, secretary-treasurer of Fraternity Relations Board, president of the French Club, secretary-treasurer of Alpha Psi Omega, vice-president of the Playhouse and the Radio Workshop . . . M. E. Heneger, captain of the U-T band . . . Walker Meacham, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

Delt Victories Include Singing and Intramurals

A quick review of 1948-49 readily shows it to be one of the greatest years in the quarter-century history of Delta Epsilon. The many trophies added to the collection are tangible evidence of many accomplishments.

First and foremost is the intramural department. The first trophy for the year's activities was the runner-up award in football. Wrestling followed, and we succeeded in bringing home the second-place cup in that division also. When the final play-offs in basketball were over, the championship trophy was proudly on display at the Shelter. Our coach, George Vander Weyden, was selected as the outstanding intramural coach on the campus.

The spring track meet gave the Delts another field day. Two more trophies joined the others, the championship in the spiked shoe relay and in the general track meet.

Had it not been for the points won in ping-pong, badminton, tennis, golf, et cetera, however, the final chapter might not have been so satisfactory. To climax a near perfect year in intramurals, the coveted All Participation trophy is ours. We are especially proud of Tommy Burke, Jerry Wagner, and Jerry Inman, who walked off with first, second, and third honors respectively, in the individual all-participation scoring.

Winning the Campus Sing has come to be somewhat of a tradition with Delta Epsilon. We are happy that this tradition went unbroken this year. This brings our record to eleven wins in thirteen years.

Delta Epsilon is not without individual "Men of Distinction." Jack Ballantine, in the most recent group of initiates, was elected to Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary. Keys, sophomore men's honorary, chose Jack as the outstanding freshman on the campus and later elected him president of the organization.

President Charley Patrick was selected as editor of The Kentuckian, the University yearbook; Andy Clark was taken into Omicron Delta Kappa; Andy Clark and Bob Bell were selected for Lamp and Cross; Tommy Townes and Bob McCowan for Lances; and David Brown for Keys. Bill Gutermuth was elected to Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary.

Delta Zeta—Florida

Seniors Form Club To Spark Alumni Relations

Delta Zeta's success can be measured in all phases of college life. Scholarship remains, as always, the most important objective. Judging from the multitude of

"A's" that are accumulated each semester, it becomes apparent that numerous Delts here reach this objective. In intramurals 20 other local fraternities bowed out to let Delta Tau Delta take the bridesmaid position. In softball we took a very strong first place.

On the political merry-go-round, we brought in five candidates to serve in Florida's student government. Serving on the University honor court are Al Gam-mage and Calvin Faucett. On the Executive Council we are represented by Paul McKinley and Bill Braley. And "Big John" Trinkle returned to the editor in chief's desk to pound out four more issues of college humor for the Orange Peel, Florida's variety magazine. Incidentally, "Big John" was joined by Julian Clarkson in attaining the highest honor possible at Florida—membership in Blue Key. Clarkson is president of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity.

Eighteen good Delts acquired hard-earned sheepskins this June. These men got together before they left and formed the "18-49ers," a club which is pledged to improve alumni relations with the active chapter. Special praise should be paid to Jerry Miller who excelled in scholarship enough to attain both Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Kappa Phi.

Delta Eta—Alabama

President Brenton Visits

The spring quarter's regular activities were supplemented with several parties for Delta Eta members and alumni. The annual spring formal was held the first of the quarter at the Country Club and was led by our new president, Dick Heffington. Our annual Bowery Ball was held April 23 at the chapter house. The house was completely decorated for this affair.

President Brenton visited the house May 27 on his way to the Southern Division Conference in New Orleans. A tea was held in his honor. While visiting, he gave an inspiring talk to members and several visitors.

At the Southern Division Conference, our chapter adviser, Marion Coley, was elected as one of the vice-presidents of the Southern Division. Since returning from the Conference, Mr. Coley has received another honor. He has been appointed assistant to the Dean of Commerce School here at Alabama.

Don Landgraft was tapped for membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Don is starting work on his master's degree in journalism at Columbia this summer. Two members made Druids, honorary sophomore fraternity. They are Dick Heffington and Jim Wright. Jim Wright was also tapped for Quadrangle, honorary fraternity.

WILLIAM MAY

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

School Editors Are Delts

Delta Lambda Chapter has had several men participating in campus publications. Fred Zwahlen and Bob Andrews were editor and assistant editor, respectively, of the Beaver, OSC yearbook, while Ted Carlson was associate editor of the Barometer, our daily college paper. Bob Andrews was appointed editor of next year's Beaver.

We have several men in honor societies—Fred Zwahlen and Ted Carlson in Sigma Delta Chi; Ed Milne and Frank Curl in Pi Mu Epsilon; Ed Milne and Jack Shomaker in Phi Kappa Phi, all-school honorary; and Jack Davies in Kappa Pi, national art honorary. Jack Shomaker is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau, and Pi Tau Sigma.

Alex Peterson was a member of the Pacific Coast champion basketball team.

The Seattle Alumni Chapter held the annual Founders Day Banquet and Honor Initiation last March. Our two honor initiates were Frank Curl and Bob Christy. Many old acquaintances were renewed on this occasion.

HOWARD SCHOLZ

Delta Xi—North Dakota

Norman Haugen Is University Valedictorian

The annual Spring Formal was held at the Lincoln Park Country Club. Previous to the dance a banquet was held in the Dakota Hotel. At the banquet the Hallenberg Key was presented to Richard Halverson, of Northwood. This key is presented to the outstanding pledge of the year by Edward X. Hallenberg, one of the charter members, who is now assistant director of research for Westinghouse Laboratories. Receiver of the key is an A student, first alternate for appointment to Annapolis, member of the ISA quartet, and student member of AIEE and IRE.

Scholastically, Delta Xi Chapter has done very well the past semester. The combined average was second highest among fraternities. The pledges also had the second highest average. Our prize scholastic honors were bestowed upon Norman Haugen, who was valedictorian of this year's graduating class, the largest in the history of the school.

The chapter participated in all intramural sports. The basketball team was crowned consolation champs. Bob Phillips lettered on the varsity hockey team, and Henry Haman received a letter in boxing.

This summer our living room will take on a "new look" with new rugs, furniture, and complete redecorating and painting.

The Mother and Wives Club held meetings each month. A picnic was planned this spring and was to be held at Riverside Park, but a cloudburst made it necessary to have the event in the house.

Delta Omicron—Westminster

*Delt Wins Oratorical Award
Third Consecutive Year*

Last fall, with 21 men pledged to fill in the gaps left by graduations and transfers, Delta Omicron started out with a clean slate, determined that before the year was out she would again be counted among the leaders on the campus.

Joe Harding won the Dobyn's Oratorical Award, making it the third consecutive time a Delt has won that coveted honor. Bob Lowary was named editor of the college annual and held that post until he left for Washington Semester, the latter a distinction received by only a few Westminster men each semester. Joe Mullin and Bob Green, both members of Omicron Delta Kappa, had the pleasure of seeing Brother Howard Whiteway join their ranks. Larry Woods received the outstanding pledge award and Tom Shields won the scholastic plaque. Brother Shields is also a feature writer for the college paper, several of his articles receiving Rank 1 in the annual Missouri college publications contest.

Delta Omicron came in third in scholarship this year, thus breaking its string of five consecutive wins.

Individual Delt stars studded the ranks of varsity lettermen—Whiteway and Moorman comprising 50 percent of the golf team, Schroeder in tennis, Duncan in track, and Gay, Rector, O'Rourke, and McCallum in baseball, McCallum being elected cocaptain in the latter sport.

Complete redecoration of the house, inside and out, has been completed with the aid of alumni, the Mothers' Club, and the house corporation. Our chapter advisor, James Cannon, who supervised the redecoration, bade us all a sad farewell at the senior banquet, telling us that business called him to Colorado. Although few could equal Jimmy, we feel that "Buck" Newsom, his successor, will be one of those few.

Delta Rho—Whitman

Lead Fraternity Scholarship

May 29 marked the end of the current school year here at Whitman. It's been a great year here for Delta Rho, from the great Halloween party, hailed by the female elements as a tremendous success, to the "ice cream social," held with the alumni in the cool, refreshing atmosphere of neighboring Kooskooskie. Between these two terminals were included such noteworthy events as the annual Delt Steak Fry, an outstanding pledge dance, and a unique Spring Formal, the theme of which included the introduction of phosphorescent paint and black light to the art of decorations.

The first semester ended with the Delts the scholastic leaders on the campus. Delta Rho finished with an average substantially over the all-men's average, and one that topped all other groups.

Early in the spring, Roy Nilson, Delta Rho's past president, joined the men and women of distinction by being tapped for Phi Beta Kappa. At Whitman's traditional May Fete, more Delts were tapped for the various honorary organizations. Boyd Blakesley and Hugh Kabrich were cited to Whitman Knights, a sophomore honorary; the Order of Waiilaptu, an organization honoring outstanding junior men, took in Jake Van House, the Delt Barrymore; the Press Club, journalism honorary, gave the nod to Art DeBoer.

Graduation brought about fond farewells and best wishes to three: Larry Smith, Tom Eckstrand, and Roy Peringer. Roy Peringer further distinguished himself at the graduation ceremonies by being awarded the Borleske Trophy, awarded each year to the outstanding varsity football player selected on the basis of the most inspirational play for the school and his teammates.

Delts Enter New Shelter

With the closing of our last meeting on May 16, Delta Sigma completed its first year as an active Delt chapter. It has been a year of steady progress, of overcoming handicaps of inexperience and lack of housing. The membership of the chapter has risen from 18 actives and 13 pledges to a full strength of 36 actives and 18 pledges.

At the beginning of the spring semester, Earl Williams, energetic social chairman, initiated an active social program which was brought to a successful conclusion by our annual pre-exam Blue Book Dance. The dance is given as an all-campus affair for no charge and has proved successful in promoting amicable fraternity independent relations. On April 23, we held our Spring Formal in conjunction with Gamma Eta at the Hotel Hamilton in Washington. Then, on May 7, actives, pledges, and dates enjoyed a canoe picnic on the Potomac.

During the fall semester, Tom Horton starred as stage manager in the University Theater production of Our Town. In Military Day drill competition, Clay Shepherd achieved the honor of being selected as the best drilled cadet of the R.O.T.C. regiment.

In varsity athletics, Jim Robinson held up his end as a member of the tennis team with a record of five wins and two losses in singles and doubles competition.

Bill Alexion sparked the track team to its second undefeated season with top performances in the 880 and mile relays and the 220 and 100 yard dashes. He concluded the season with wins in the 220 and 100 yard dashes and in the mile relay at the Southern Conference Meet, held at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

The last and by far the most important news of the year for us is the word received recently from Dr. Byrd, University president, that our Shelter will be ready for occupancy on July 11.

Delt Succeeds Delt as Senior Class President

With the close of the spring semester, Delta Tau Chapter looked back on its first full year as an active chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

In a recap of the year's outstanding events, expansion via an active rush program occupied the chapter throughout the year. Entertaining rush programs at the Shelter helped conclude successfully an expansion from 29 to 60 members.

In campus activities, the Delts succeeded in electing Larry Jensen to the senior class presidency, succeeding Bob Mudgett, also a Delt. A vigorous campaign by manager Gus Horvath, aided by both actives and pledges, largely accounts for the victory.

Akron

At our regular April meeting, new officers were elected as follows: president, Harold Wies; vice-president, Harry Heilgenenthal; secretary-treasurer, Clifford Hughes. Dr. Louis Carabelli, retiring president, has done a fine job during the past year and has given freely of his time and effort to awaken interest among the large number of Delt alumni in the Akron area.

Brother Bob Stopher, official delegate of the Akron chapter to the Northern Division Conference at Madison, Wisconsin, on April 8 and 9, reported on the proceedings of the Conference. We were particularly fortunate in having with us at our April meeting Brother V. M. Herrick of Eta Chapter, '94, old Buchtel College. Brother Herrick reviewed the early activities of Eta Chapter. He and Brother John Botzum, also of Eta Chapter, '87, are two of the oldest Delt alumni in the Akron area.

On May 4, a well-attended dinner was held at the Robin Hood in Kent, Ohio, to honor Dr. Howard Fischbach of Cincinnati, who was visiting at Kent State University as an official representative of the Arch Chapter to investigate the University and the local group desiring affiliation with the Fraternity. Members in attendance at this meeting had the opportunity upon the conclusion of the dinner to go through the chapter house and examine the grounds of the local group at Kent State University and meet the entire membership. The Akron chapter has given whole-hearted support to the establishment of an active chapter at Kent State University and there is great interest in having a chapter in this area, which can be sponsored by the Akron alumni.

Our regular monthly meeting was held on May 18 and plans were discussed for increasing the turnout at our meetings.

Brother Bid Edmund's reputation in the field of industrial recreation has been further enhanced by his election recently to the presidency of the National Industrial Recreation Association. Brother Edmund is Recreation Director of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Baltimore

The annual meeting of the Baltimore Alumni Chapter was held June 17 at the Deutsches Haus, a Baltimore restaurant. The 30 attending Deltas included such notables as Brothers Dick Daniels of the Distinguished Service Chapter; Burr Christopher, president, and Syd Nyhus, former president, of the Washington Alumni Chapter; Miles Wolfe, North Carolina, '21, editor of the Baltimore Sun; Don Kennedy, president, and Lind Clendaniel, vice-president of Delta Sigma; and several members of the University of Maryland chapter.

After the large and delicious meal had been devoured, a short business meeting was held, presided over by "Russ" Page, retiring president of the Baltimore group. At this time new officers were elected for the coming year—Clarence A. Patterson, Gamma, '19, president; Keith R. Clark, Gamma Zeta, '36, vice-president; L. Hollingsworth Pittman, Delta Kappa, '45, secretary; and Charles C. Fears, Gamma Psi, '46, treasurer.

Dick Daniels, Syd Nyhus, and Burr Christopher summarized the activities of the Washington Alumni Chapter during the past year, with particular reference to the trials and tribulations in the reactivation of the George Washington chapter and the establishment of the new Delta Sigma Chapter at the University of Mary-

Advertising copywriters maintain a steady repetition to emphasize the message they are trying to convey. We often employ the same tactics in this column, viz:

The most important service our Delt alumni can currently give the Fraternity is summer rushing assistance. Registration in colleges and universities for the coming year is still high, but the peak has passed. Despite large numbers of prospects, competition is always keen for the best men.

Most undergraduate chapters have a comprehensive summer contact and rushing program.

Advance information on good prospects will materially enhance those programs. Recommendations are often received too late, and by the time some information reaches the chapter, rushing is either under way or completed. It is most difficult to fit latecomers into a carefully planned program already functioning. Individual alumni and alumni chapters will provide invaluable help by forwarding promptly to the Central Office and to the undergraduate chapters involved complete information on outstanding freshmen.

Many alumni chapters conduct effective rush parties every summer. Step up that important activity this year. Investigate freshmen in your community. What a potential sales force we could unleash if all of our 35,000 Delt alumni considered themselves district representatives and effectively covered their own territory for new Delt prospects!

Our most effective alumni chapters are currently planning 1949-50 activities. Some have their programs completed. We urge others to blueprint their activities now.

Such programs should embody activities and functions beneficial to, and including, nearby undergraduate chapters. Plans should cover searching out recent graduates. Include them in your chapter functions. Give them something to do—you will find them enthusiastic and capable. Many are now located in communities where they are strangers. Alumni interest in them will be an appreciated service in orienting them into new surroundings as they begin their graduate careers.

land. Though our Washington brothers did a lot of good hard work, one can easily tell from their tone of voice that every minute of it was a pleasure. And never has the face of a doctor who has just saved the life of a dying patient or the father of a new born babe worn such a glow of pride and satisfaction—nor has it been so well deserved.

Don Kennedy, president of Delta Sigma, gave a short talk on the University of Maryland chapter, emphasizing the need of co-operation from the Baltimore Delts.

Then came the high light of the evening—an informal and informative talk by Brother Herb Armstrong, Beta Mu, '16, of the Baltimore Orioles, on the administrative and managerial problems of the manager of a professional baseball team. After paying a fine tribute to the dean of modern baseball, Branch Rickey, Brother Armstrong tore the cover off the dugout and told the group about a few of the problems of transportation, publicity, discipline, setting of salaries, procuring players, and training programs of baseball clubs.

The only dampening effect of the evening upon the spirits of those gathered was the rain, a heavy downpour. This was a particularly disheartening factor, for it necessitated calling the baseball game between the Baltimore Orioles and the Buffalo Bisons, to which the entire group had been invited as guests of Brother Armstrong. However, Brother Armstrong saw to it that everyone was given a rain check for July 8 to see the game between Baltimore and Newark, and the rest of the evening was given over to discussing methods of improving and enlarging the Baltimore Alumni Chapter and the undergraduate chapters in this area.

Battle Creek

At a meeting of the Battle Creek Alumni Chapter, held at the Williams House on May 19, the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Dr. Wendell H. Stadle; vice-president, Harry M. Babcock; secretary, Charles T. McSherry; treasurer, M. S. Robertson.

Members voted to make the regular meeting time each second Friday of the month at 12:15 p.m.

CHARLES MCSHERRY

Boise Valley

The Boise Valley chapter is looking forward to the annual alumni-active summer picnic which, at present, is in the planning stages.

The annual dinner party was held April 28. A fine time was had by all attending.

Luncheon meetings are being held regularly at noon on the last Friday of each month at the Valencia Club and Dining Room. All alumni, visiting actives, and pledges of the undergraduate chapter are invited to drop in when they are in town.

A. H. BEHRMAN

Boston

The Boston Alumni Chapter will continue its Thursday luncheons at Patten's Restaurant all through the summer. Recent additions to our Thursday luncheons have been H. M. Poole, Jr., Maine, '40, now Northeastern manager for Johnson & Johnson, and Peter J. Wedge, Maine, '45, who is with Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

Buffalo

The Buffalo Alumni Chapter welcomes all new alumni who may locate in our area and invites them to attend our regular Monday luncheons. We have such a variety of professions and businesses represented that our discussions are most interesting and usually beneficial. Sort of a Delt Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions, etc., all rolled into one.

You building managers may be interested in knowing that Milt Perrott (Brisbane Building) attended the International Building Owners and Managers Association Convention in Montreal May 19 to 23.

Bill Abberger of Kulp-Waco vacationed early this spring in Guatemala.

Bob Wilson (Volker Bros.) is brushing up on his wrestling. His age and his youngsters growing up are flooring him. (Got any good books on half nelsons for Bob?)

Wally Anderson, busy with his business of furniture upholstery and equipment, just joined Buffalo Rotary.

At the time of this writing we are planning a golf match with the Rochester alumni. We always have a lot of fun, even though we can't count.

Again, welcome to our Monday noon luncheons at the University Club.

Chicago

The program we referred to in our last letter has not changed materially. We still have our regular Monday noon luncheons at Harding's Grill on the seventh floor of the Fair Store. We are always glad to have visitors. Only last meeting, Colonel C. S. Burnham, who moved to Florida a couple of years ago following four years spent in Washington as colonel on the G-1 Staff (Personnel), visited us and passed around photographs of his Florida home, showing that Florida is a very desirable place to live, not only after you retire. Bob was active in the local alumni association before the days of Pearl Harbor, and we all were glad he remembered the place and date and paid us a visit. Incidentally, he just missed by one point getting not only a free lunch, but a purse of about $12.

For the benefit of those readers who may not be familiar with this purse, please note the following. Each Monday each member attending lunch is given a number. These numbers run consecutively from meeting to meeting. Each member also puts a dime into a special fund. As soon as number 100 is reached, all the numbers are placed in a hat and the drawing begins. When a number is drawn, if the member who has that number happens to be there, he receives not only a free lunch, but a $10 bill besides.

Dave Taylor was with us the second Monday in April, as planned. He gave a very fine review of the causes underlying the trials of religious leaders in Europe a few months back—the kind of report that newspaper reporters actually get but rarely publish. The second week in May John Jarecki (Northwestern, 1930), the local Collector of Internal Revenue, was scheduled to appear and address the group on how the income tax dollar is used. He was unable to appear, but sent in his place Mr. L. N. Baker, the Deputy Collector. Mr. Baker proved to be a most able substitute and gave an informal as well as informative talk on your income tax and the difference between evading it and avoiding it.

We are looking for a brother who knows all about travel and vacations to address our meeting early in July. Later this summer we are planning a golf outing. A rush party is also planned for sometime the latter part of August, the date and place to be announced later. In case any member knows of some likely candidate for the Square Badge who intends to attend one of the middlewestern schools, we would appreciate receiving his name so that we can invite him to the rush party.

Again, Brethren, we trust you noted the reports in last summer's papers, which are again being repeated this summer, telling of how the weather in California and the midwest has changed places. It's always cool at Harding's on Monday. Please pay us a visit.

D. J. CRANSTON

Cincinnati

We hope this article catches the eye of some of the long lost Delta brethren in our area whom we haven't seen for quite awhile. After all, those who come to most of our meetings and parties know what good times we have in once again renewing old friendships and reliving those happy days as Delt undergrads. We feel certain you are getting our regular mailings advising you of coming events. If you aren't, drop a line to the undersigned, and we'll see that our notices come your way.

In May we co-operated with the Gamma Xi actives in tossing an active-alumni picnic at Twin Oaks Country Club. Golf, baseball, cards, and other diversions highlighted the day.

In June, our meeting was held at the home of Dr. Howard Fischbach. Swimming, games, and refreshments enabled a large number of us to enjoy the Fischbachs' hospitality on that evening.

We're hoping to see a lot of new faces at some of our forthcoming affairs, such as the Coney Island Party in August, our Homecoming Party, and the annual Christmas party. How about it, Cincinnati Delts? Will we be seeing you at some of these gatherings?

ART JACOBS

Cleveland

During the summer season the Cleveland Alumni Chapter has centered its activities primarily around the luncheon meetings held every Thursday at the Mid-Day Club. Attendance has been good. President Otto Diegel has made the meetings interesting and everyone has enjoyed the opportunity to relax for an hour or two in the company of other Delts.

Under the heading of "What Some of the Boys Have Been Doing," we can report that John Morrison, publisher of the monthly paper Steering Wheel, recently addressed the annual meeting of Delta Nu Alpha, a transportation industry organization. I. R. "Ike" Watts was elected first vice-president of the Cleveland Bird Club. Bill Watts goes to Washington, D. C., with a restaurant chain—Hot Shoppes, Inc. Jon Ruhlman, Purdue graduate, goes to the University of Colorado at Boulder to take graduate work in aeronautical engineering. Bob Weaver, head of Ferro Enamel, is on a trip to Europe. State Representative Mark McElroy collected a nice-sized fund from fellow members of the Ohio Legislature for Kenyon students who lost belongings in the tragic fire. "C. D." Russell received an interesting letter from Rus Hauslaib at Sydney, Australia. Hauslaib has been in Australia nearly 15 years.

C. J. Odenweller, Jr., heads federal division in Red Cross drive. Our vice-president, Jack Baskin, was married last spring. Your correspondent, Mike Ruhlman, conducts fourth annual American-Canadian Good Will Tour for business men and vacation resort owners of both countries. Bob Whaley of U. S. Department of Commerce was a member of this international party. Jack Pritchard moves to Toronto, Canada. Walter Leonard graduates from Export Trade School at Phoenix. Al Munhal leaves Columbia Vise Company after 29 years with the firm. Bill Hecker has been elected president of the Cleveland Crime Commission.

Two social events are on our calendar. The first is a family picnic to be held in August, and the second is the traditional fall golf tournament. The Cleveland Alumni Chapter extends an invitation to all Deltas in this area to attend the luncheon meetings and participate in all activities.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Dayton

The new officers of the Dayton Alumni Chapter, installed at the May meeting, are: Dr. R. Dean Dooley, president; John A. Campbell, vice-president; Frank E. Wilson, secretary; Robert L. Spurrier, treasurer.

A good crowd was in attendance at the June meeting and everyone enjoyed the singing led by Brother Gordon Battelle. Plans are being made for a July picnic to be held at the home of our new president, Dr. Dooley.

All Deltas in the Dayton area are urged to attend our alumni meetings, held at noon on the first Friday of every month at the Biltmore Hotel. Our programs are informal and it is a good opportunity to get better acquainted with your brother Deltas in Dayton.

FRANK E. WILSON

Denver

On June 24, 1949, a meeting was held at the Oxford Hotel. Dinner was served, and since there were no particular matters at hand, the group adjourned to the ball park to see the Denver Bears versus Lincoln game. There was a good attendance at both the dinner and ball game.

Our meetings are to be held on the even months, the third Thursday, at the Olin Hotel.

T. B. DODD

Findlay

The Findlay alumni gathered for a luncheon on June 20 at the Elks Home in Findlay. The luncheon, which was the annual meeting for the election of officers, attracted 80 percent of the local membership.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Dr. T. R. Shoupe, Michigan, '35, president, succeeding M. S. Hauser, Iowa, '26, the organization's first president; E. Howard Frownie, Ohio Wesleyan, '26, vice-president; and Alfred D. Fenstermaker, Michigan, '36, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were formulated for a rushing program this summer to investigate outstanding seniors from Findlay High School and to recommend them as rushing prospects this fall.

ALFRED D. FENSTERMAKER

Houston

Our heartiest congratulations to the recently installed Beaumont Alumni Chapter. We are very pleased to be joined by another active group here on the Texas Gulf Coastline.

Our primary business during this season is that of preliminary rushing activities. Houston rush is being sponsored jointly by the undergraduate chapter at the University of Texas and the Houston alumni group. It is the purpose of the program to rush promising young men planning to attend any college where there is a Delt chapter, in co-operation with the undergraduate chapter concerned. Direction of the rush activities is a concentrated task being handled very ably by Artie Lamb, Jr., of Gamma Iota with the aid of the alumni chapter.

In early October we shall set the stage for the coming year by holding an evening function and meeting. At that time new officers will be selected and plans begun for months ahead. You will be hearing more of us—because Houston has only begun to move forward.

GEORGE WOLFORD

Kansas City

On Friday afternoon and evening, May 20, the Kansas City Alumni Association had its annual spring stag picnic at the Quivira Country Club. The afternoon festivities started off early with more athletic-minded Deltas out trying to break par on this hilly and rugged course. The prizes offered in the golf tournament were hard-earned, with several low scores turned in. The horseshoe tournament saw its share of pros competing also. But the bright spot of the whole evening was the delicious food prepared by some of the loyal Delt wives. It was the best barbecued ham and beef in these parts in years, with plenty of good baked beans, tossed salad, egg rolls, etc., to go with it. It was really swell, gals. Here is to more picnics like this!

Our Thursday noon luncheons this summer have been drawing as large crowds as ever. Let's see if we can't make them even better this coming fall. For those who can make it, don't forget—12:15 every Thursday at the University Club.

We would like to welcome to Kansas City at this time Hugh Hartley, Baker, '18, recently moving here from Wichita, Kansas. Hugh has been a regular attendee at our Thursday luncheons since arriving.

The nearby chapters have been active in their rushing this summer with lots of good material for this fall. The Kansas City Alumni Chapter has been helping in every way it can to see that the schools in and away from here know and get all good Delt material coming to their schools from this area. To help in this matter, we had our annual summer rush party at the Lake Lotawanna Country Club July 16. With swimming in the afternoon and one of those delicious barbecued dinners in the evening, the party was a huge success and every one really had a good time. It looks as if we will have a lot of good Delt pledges from the Kansas City area on the campuses next fall.

RALPH C. HEDGES

Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta is justifiably proud of its record since founding of the chapter, November 25, 1906, of having fostered the foundation of Delta Iota Chapter in 1926 at U.C.L.A. and the founding of Delta Pi Chapter at U.S.C. in 1941—and now in 1949 Chapter Delta Psi at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

We will not attempt to describe here the banquet or the chain of events that took place at the Montecito Country Club at Santa Barbara. Our alumni chapter, however, is justly proud of these three chapters which have been installed under our guidance, and we wish to pay tribute to those sterling Deltas who have been in the front with regard to Santa Barbara.

First, we would like to pay tribute to Ed Heminger, Ohio Wesleyan, and Grady Drake, Florida, for their yeoman work which they did with regard to this chapter.

As a token of love and esteem which the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter feels for these men, and in recognition of the herculean work which they performed, by unanimous consent at the June 16 luncheon meeting, the names of Heminger and Drake were placed on the role of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta as honorary lifetime members.

In paying tribute, we want to mention that sterling Delt, Nat Fitts, Colorado, as well as Bill Schwab, Kentucky, for the preliminary work which they did a number of years ago. Wherever there has been work for a Delt to do, practically since the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter was founded, you always found Nat Fitts in there in the thick of it. Tribute to Fitts and Schwab for the early preliminary work cannot go unmentioned.

The committee for the last several years was composed of Frank H. Rethlefsen, Colorado, chairman; Gerry Stewart; Charles C. Koehler; Bill Schwab; and Gordon Carey.

The committee did its work well, and with credit to all, but we take our hats off to Frank Rethlefsen, who gave of his time, energy, and effort far beyond that of any other man on the committee.

To show our appreciation, the alumni chapter voted that a letter of thanks and appreciation be sent to Rethlefsen in recognition of his fine work, as well as the committee of which he was the head.

We want to congratulate Charles C. Koehler on his DSC award, so richly deserved, which was made at the banquet at Santa Barbara, and to Nat Fitts for his fine presentation address and information which he gave to the younger men on the DSC.

Dan W. Ferguson, who was initiated into Sigma Alpha Kappa as a mark of appreciation, became an active member of Delta Psi and is on the chapter rolls as such. Dan's Gamma Alpha Chapter being extinct, he wanted to belong to an active chapter, and when Dan wants something, he generally gets it. Dan presented the chapter with a fine Chickering piano. We could tell more about our retiring Western Division President, but space limits our desire to sing the praises of this loyal Delt.

We want to congratulate Howard Mills and Bob Meyer on their fine presentation of the parts that they played. We know it will be given credit elsewhere in this issue, but we want them to know our special commendations.

By the time you read this, this alumni chapter will be holding its annual Hi-Jinks, the baseball game between the two chapters in Los Angeles. At that time new Delt material will be looked over. It is a combination get-together and rush party for future Delt material.

In this connection, we wish to state that if any of the alumni know of good Delt material that will be attending the University of California at Santa Barbara, they should send a letter to the new chapter of Delta Tau Delta, 1822 Loma Drive, Santa Barbara, California. Nothing could make this new chapter feel better than to know that other Delts in other chapters are looking toward their well-being.

Elsewhere in this RAINBOW, you will note that the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter and wives turned out upwards of 500 strong to do honor to our new baby chapter. Nothing like it has ever been seen on the University campus in Santa Barbara.

We wish Delta Psi all the luck in the world; we know it is a credit to Delta Tau Delta, and its members can be assured of our continued help and good will in the future, as in the past.

JOHN R. MUDGE

National Capital

The weekly luncheons of the National Capital Alumni Association will resume September 8—the first Thursday following Labor Day—after the usual summer recess. Present plans are to hold them at the same place as our last season's successful weekly Thursday luncheons, Bonat's Restaurant, 1022 Vermont Avenue, N.W. Our final meeting of that series was held on June 9 with upward of 20 present and was followed later that afternoon by a meeting of a number of the brothers and an unofficial closer of one of the Association's most successful seasons.

First feature of our social season this fall will be the annual Fall Picnic, which is planned to be held on the afternoon of September 22 in Rock Creek Park, east of Chevy Chase Circle, where last year's picnic was held. Plans are also being formulated for the annual Fall Dance, probably in November.

The practice of having a formal program for the luncheon meetings about once a month, which worked out so successfully last season, will be continued during the coming year. Our last such program was on June 2, when Brother L. E. Thompson, Beta Kappa, '26, Chief of the State Department's Division of Far Eastern Affairs, gave us an extremely entertaining and informative talk on his experiences as a diplomatic officer in Ceylon and other Far Eastern areas and later as a wartime diplomat in Moscow.

Chapter President Burr Christopher, Dick Daniels, and Past President Sid Nyhus represented this chapter at a dinner meeting and election of officers of the Baltimore Alumni Chapter at the Deutsches Haus on the evening of June 17. Brother Nyhus also has been designated as Delta Tau Delta's representative on the committee arranging for the meeting here during the last week in November of the National Interfraternity Conference.

The chapter has been particularly pleased with the improvement in the housing situation of the two undergraduate chapters it sponsors. Gamma Eta, at George Washington University, held a housewarming at its comfortable new Shelter on March 27, which many of the alumni and their ladies attended, and Delta Sigma, the new chapter at the University of Maryland, is looking forward to going into its first house this fall. Paul Kemmerer, Tau, '31; Dick Daniels, Gamma Eta, '09; Ray Clark, Beta Omicron, '19; Riggs Montfort, Chi, '30; and others were active in assisting the chapter in obtaining these quarters.

Congratulations of the alumni chapter were extended this spring to Gamma Eta's John Toomey and Joe Rawlings on their election to Phi Beta Kappa.

It has been particularly pleasing to the alumni chapter members to have been extended invitations to so many of both undergraduate chapters' activities and parties, and to have received such cordial welcomes as they did at these functions.

PAUL H. HAYWARD

Northern Kentucky

One of the largest and most successful events in the short history of the Northern Kentucky Delt Alumni Chapter was held June 18, at the home of Vint Stegeman, Wisconsin, '24, in Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

More than 50 Delts and Delta Dames turned out for the excellent steaks, as "Pierre" Stegeman and his staff of Delt chefs (junior grade) turned on their culinary charm.

Election of officers for the coming year was held during the evening with Vint Stegeman replacing Fred Stine, Cincinnati, '36, as the new president. Fred Hall, Jr.,

Miami, '41, was re-elected vice-president; Tom Youtsey, Jr., Kentucky, '49, secretary, and Cameron Coffman, Kentucky, '35, corresponding secretary.

Fred Hall, Sr., Kenyon, '06, was honored by being chosen as the honorary president.

While your correspondent was out of the room, Retiring Prexy Stine "railroaded" a quick motion through the August assembly that the July meeting "will be held at Cam Coffman's house."

The August meeting, to be held at Rand Stegeman's home, will honor prospective Delts who will enter college this fall. Ollie Hunter, Miami, '42, and his committee have lined up more than 50 rushees.

Miami's Gamma Upsilon Chapter still continues to lead the Northern Kentucky delegation at all meetings, with Cincinnati's Gamma Xi running a close second.

The Hall family with Fred, Sr., Fred, Jr., Ollie, and T. J. continue to lead the family attendance parade at all meetings, with the Stegeman clan, Vint, Rand, and Bill taking "place" money.

This is a plug for Delta Epsilon, as we had the largest turnout of Kentucky lads to date with Len Weakley, Bob Bullock, Lawton "Babe" Daly, Tom Youtsey, Jr., Cameron Coffman, and "Adopted" Brother Dave Hamilton, Miami, who attended classes for several years at Centre College and spent his Saturdays and Sundays at the Delta Shelter in Lexington.

CAMERON COFFMAN

Omaha

The Omaha Alumni Chapter's annual alumni-active banquet was a huge success.

About 40 actives and alumni from Lincoln met with about 35 Omaha alumni at the American Legion Club for the annual initiation and banquet on April 13.

To all Beta Tau alumni, wherever they may be, who read this, may I say it would have done your hearts good to see and hear that "swell" bunch of Beta Tau squabs and actives.

They have a glee club which is one of the finest I have ever heard for their age. You would have to go back many, many years to find their equal in Delt spirit.

Bob Manley, one of Beta Tau's oldest and best known Delts, did his usual "swell" job as toastmaster. Slim Parks, Beta Tau, '24, thrilled the Delts present with his boogy woogy and classical numbers.

Here's some more good news for Beta Tau alumni: ground has been broken for the new Beta Tau Shelter, which should be ready for occupancy by next September. The boys still need help on this new house, and it is hoped that those of us who have not come across yet will do so as soon as possible.

CHARLES G. ORTMAN

Portland

Delts in Portland have enjoyed a full schedule the past few months on behalf of the Fraternity and are planning ahead for a season filled with rushing and social affairs.

Most important event of the year was the annual meeting on May 18 at the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Elected to guide Portland Delts through the coming year was Paul Eckleman, who did a grand job as social chairman during the past year. Assisting in the administration of the chapter will be Ralph Grimes, vice-president; Jack McLoughlin, treasurer; and Dick McNamara, secretary. Rollie Woodruff volunteered to handle social activities and was unanimously approved. Special thanks are extended to Joe Adair, retiring prexy, for a job well performed when he took over at Darrel Johnson's resignation.

To assist in helping the Delta Rho Chapter at Whitman College to get its dining room in operation, the Portland chapter has donated $100 for dining room equipment. At the June 27 luncheon, Delts were treated to an interesting report on the new Delta Psi Chapter at the University of California at Santa Barbara by Doug Farrel, Gamma Rho, now of Los Angeles.

Luncheons are being continued during the summer every Monday at the Portland Chamber of Commerce. We are anxious and eager to have any and all Delts in attendance. Drop in on us when you are in Portland.

DICK McNAMARA

Rochester

At a recent luncheon meeting held at the Rochester Club, the Rochester Alumni Chapter discussed tentative plans for its activity program during the summer months.

Although it was decided that we would discontinue regular meetings during the summer months, the Rochester alums will be far from inactive. At present we are making arrangements for a joint golf match with the Buffalo Alumni Chapter. This golf match used to be an annual affair between the two chapters, and now that we are once again among the roster of active chapters, we hope to begin again.

A rushing committee is to be formed, which will conduct surveys throughout the various high schools in Rochester, gathering a list of outstanding students who are planning to attend college this fall. We plan to hold some rushing parties for the boys and to forward their names to the Delt chapters on the campuses where they plan to attend.

During the latter part of August we plan to hold a family picnic for all members of the Rochester chapter and other members residing in surrounding towns. This picnic will be in the form of an all-day outing, where the boys can get together for golf, swimming, ball playing, and anything else that enters their minds. This picnic will also serve as a starting point from which to begin our fall and winter program, which will include regular luncheon meetings, plus several big evening affairs.

St. Louis

The high light of the last few months was election of officers. We are fortunate in having as our new president Crawford A. King, Jr., Westminster, '47; as vice-president, George A. Fisher, Jr., Purdue, '33; and as our secretary, George A. Allen, North Dakota, '36. Our treasurer is Charles J. Peck, Jr., Michigan, '44. With this fine group at the helm, we are looking forward to great activity in this area.

We wish to invite all Delt June graduates who have located in St. Louis to come out and enjoy fraternal fellowship. We are meeting the third week of every month throughout the summer. You can be placed on our mailing list by contacting our secretary, George Allen, at 508 Ashbury, Webster Groves, Missouri.

Our last meeting was strictly a social event with all the brothers bringing their wives or dates along for a summer night's cruise on the S.S. Admiral down the Mississippi. Dancing, game playing, and fresh air on the top deck were the high lights.

Our rushing chairman, Jack Feldhaus, Westminster, '47, is busily engaged in making rush plans for our August meeting. Come next fall's rushing season, many active chapters will receive St. Louis alumni's support.

All June graduates and any other Delts in the area, come on out and join your brothers. Besides the evening meetings, there is always a group who lunch together at the American Hotel every Tuesday.

CHARLES J. PECK, JR.

Santa Barbara

Delt activity in Santa Barbara reached a feverish pitch with the installation of Delta Psi Chapter at Santa Barbara College in May. All hands turned to in an effort to make it one of the landmarks of Delt history on the Pacific Coast.

Alumni in this area assisted the undergraduate chapter in playing host at a buffet supper which marked the official opening of the installation week end. At the supper, Alumni Chapter President C. A. A. McGee, on behalf of the local alumni, presented to the chapter a handsome inlaid block and gavel, embellished with silver, the handwork of our highly esteemed brother, the master craftsman and member of the college faculty, Frederick L. Griffin—the silver embellishment having been the gift of Brother William S. Blackshear.

Climax to the week end of activity were the installation banquet and ball which were held at the Montecito Country Club. Perhaps no more beautiful setting for an occasion such as this could be found anywhere within the continental limits of our country.

We were fortunate in having with us that popular and beloved member, Daniel W. Ferguson, from Los Angeles. Also from the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter was Natt Fitts, who delivered an inspiring talk. Our toastmaster, also from Los Angeles, was Howard Mills, one of the most outstanding Delts on the Coast.

But if I were to recall the roll of all the celebrities who were present and the men who assisted in the project, I would have enough material to necessitate a special edition of THE RAINBOW.

With Delta Psi properly launched, the Santa Barbara alumni intend to do as good a job in developing the chapter as the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter did in getting it started.

End of the school year and the usual lethargy did little to slow down the pace of the alumni. Principal activity has centered around efforts to find a suitable chapter house for Delta Psi in this "well-zoned residential community." New Delts have turned up at each of the monthly meetings held at Kerry's Restaurant, and now the number of local Delts is over 40, the membership having recently almost doubled with the initiation of a number of local men who were members of Sigma Alpha Kappa Fraternity, the local group which petitioned Delta Tau Delta.

The advent of fall finds plans under way for an extensive rushing program. The Montecito Country Club, local beaches, and members' homes will be utilized to the fullest to insure a successful season.

Seattle

The Seattle Alumni Chapter has enjoyed a successful six months during the first half of 1949. Monthly luncheons have been held at the American Legion Club, located in the heart of the Seattle business district. Attendance has been good and the interest of the members has been high. Bud Bushell, program chairman, contributed much by providing a variety of speakers for these monthly get-togethers.

During the summer months, the monthly meetings have been discontinued. Plans are under way to commence them again in the fall, with a kick-off meeting scheduled for sometime in September.

With an eye to fall rushing, the Seattle alumni, collectively and individually, have offered their services to the local chapter, Gamma Mu, during the summer prerushing period. Several parties have been planned.

Syracuse

On May 15, the alumni and active chapter members gathered at the farm of Ernie Deming for their annual outing, clambake, and funfest. The party had been rained out the day before, but the 15th dawned clear and the festivities began about two in the afternoon. The full count for the outing numbered about 80.

The annual baseball game between the active and alumni chapters was postponed indefinitely for lack of eligible players, particularly on the alumni side, but it is rumored that the active auxiliary gave the undergrads quite a battle in their baseball game.

Graduation came on Monday, June 6, with some of our charter members leaving us, chief among whom was the indefatigable Woody Benoit, who so capably handled the organization of the chapter after its charter was restored last September. We also regret that he took with him the charming Miss Caroline Daley, whom he married June 4, followed by a reception at the Shelter.

There has been much talk of an alumni outing during the summer, but as yet no definite plans have been made.

For lack of a quorum on a particularly hectic week end, the current officers have been retained in office for the ensuing year.

that the fun and work of Fraternity life were just beginning. In February, we moved into our temporary Shelter. With the co-operation of the Delt alumni chapters in Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore, and Washington, we were able to have one of the finest houses on campus. We wish to thank the Fraternity for getting us off to such a wonderful start.

Several very enjoyable informal parties were held during the spring, but the peak of the Delt social season was reached by a buffet supper and dance held at the Shelter. Group singing was held on the lawn to fill in the time from dinner until the orchestra arrived. This event was so well received by everyone that it will become a yearly tradition called the "Senior Send-off." To round out a perfect week end, a picnic was held Sunday afternoon.

Harvey Day, past president of the chapter, was elected next year's senior class president. To add to his honors, Brother Day was also selected as the Distinguished Military Student from the junior class. Brother Leon Stayton was similarly honored for his military achievements in the senior class. Our five graduating seniors—Brothers Ashworth, Fagan, Foster, Noetzel, and Stayton—leave behind them a scholastic and service record which will be hard to equal in future years.

Delta Phi—Florida State

Delt Sing Team Wins Initial Campus Contest

It seemed as though becoming the eightieth undergraduate chapter of Delta Tau Delta was a shot in the arm of Delta Phi. For the Delt at Florida State really stepped out in front of the other fraternities on campus. Having so many distinguished alumni for the installation March 4 and 5 let the brothers know a little of what Delta Tau Delta really is. Paced by this wonderful start, the Delt got down to the business at hand.

Led by Perry Watson, the 20-man Delt Sing Team took first place in the first campus sing. Judging by the comments from the audience, the sing was a huge success. Since the installation five brothers have "hung their pins," and so Delta Phi started a tradition; as soon as one of the Delt loses his pin, the chapter dunks him in the fish pond. Then the Sing Team serenades the new queen and sends her a bouquet of roses. She in turn sends us a box of cigars. This practice has done a lot to get the good name of Delta Tau Delta around the campus, as a large crowd is usually on hand for the dunking.

Planned by Brother Russell Hicken, the I.F.C. Panhellenic Week End was a huge success. An apache dance at the Shelter Friday night got the week end off to a good start. The dance, one of the first on campus, was followed by a formal dance the next night.

With the quota being raised to 50 men for next fall, Delta Phi looks to the future with hope in the very able hands of Prexy Tom Smith and a set of capable officers.

Delt Chapters

Bill Lieser, editor of the Eyas, campus literary magazine, was in turn succeeded by Brother Bill Wagner. Gus Horvath was also drama editor of the magazine, while both he and Carl Huston made important contributions. These four are also members of the newly-organized literary honorary, "Lucians."

Elections in other campus organizations found Carl Huston elected president of the Booster Club, while Bill Frownfelder was chosen to head the Student Business Association.

Nedim Capman, student from Turkey and an active Delt this past year, was awarded a journalism scholarship from the University of Colorado.

Athletically, the Delt was much more prominent as both basketball and softball teams showed decided improvement. In an interfraternity track meet held May 25, surprising strength in the running events cinched third place.

High light of the year's activities was the fourth annual Greek Week which extended from May 8 to 13. These activities were dimaxed by an interfraternity banquet with Carl Weygandt, Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court and a Delt, as guest speaker. The chapter was host to Brother Weygandt after the banquet.

Alumni Chapters

Topeka

Since our last letter the Topeka alumni group has enjoyed a visit from Martin Dickinson, Secretary of the Arch Chapter. His talk was greatly enjoyed by all present, and we hope to have him back again.

At our May luncheon we had Virgil Wood, treasurer of Baker University, as our speaker. He is a loyal alumnus of Gamma Theta Chapter, and we appreciate his visit.

June is our month for election of officers, and William L. Purdue, Kansas Power and Light Co., was elected president for the coming year. Gail Wilson was elected vice-president, and the writer re-elected secretary. At this meeting plans were made for a summer picnic for Topeka Delts and their ladies. It was an enjoyable affair last summer, and we are looking for a larger attendance this year.

Tulsa

We have completed a successful spring season which saw the installation of Delta Chi Chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. College. Those who attended were privileged to see a performance by the well-trained initiation team headed by President Harry McMillan from Delta Alpha Chapter at Norman. The charter members of Delta Chi received the Rite of Iris, as well as the regular initiation. The singing of the Delta Alpha Glee Club was tremendously enjoyed.

Tulsa alumni who were active in the ground work for Delta Chi included: President Jack Harlow, ex-President Bob Bates, Honk Wilson, Parke Davis, Bob Jones, Gordon Watts, Keith Frazier, and Claude Gordon. All Tulsa alumni have been requested by President Brenton to give their support in building the A. & M. chapter into a typically strong Delt group. This can be done by contributing tax-deductible gifts to the D.T.D. Foundation of Oklahoma and by submitting names of prospective members to President Jack Harlow and Rush Chairman Bill Freeman for Delta Chi and Joe Wolfe for Delta Alpha. Foundation gifts should be sent to Honk Wilson, who is an officer of the Foundation.

Jack Harlow is presently planning some "seminar" type rush parties during the summer months in which alumni will open their homes to a few actives and a few rushes for dinner and the opportunity to get acquainted. This type of rushing is advantageous in that small groups are more manageable and easier to entertain.

Claude Gordon is holding forth in General Electric's Tulsa office; Keith Frazier is with William Volker Company; Howard Newman is superselling for Fred Jones' Lincoln-Mercury; Honk Wilson is now ensconced in his new quarters and business known as Wilson & Company; Jack Harlow guides the accounting for Mud Products, Inc.; Paul Fielding is in the county district attorney's office; and George Temple is sales engineering at Buda Engine.
