Entry to Florida State Campus.

One Moment, Please

The month of May will round out a full year of Delt achievement. Two chapter installations this month—at Oklahoma A. & M. College and Santa Barbara College of the University of California—follow closely on the heels of Delta Phi's entry at Florida State.

These add up to five new undergraduate chapters chartered during the college year 1948-49. Four chapters established in the two previous years run the Fraternity's record to nine new undergraduate units brought to life since the war's end.

Two articles in this number are indicative of the undergraduate resourcefulness which has moved Delta Tau Delta out in front. One deals with alumni relations; the other, with singing. Certainly many chapters are pursuing programs just as noteworthy, but we welcome articles of this nature, as they represent some of the best in Delt ingenuity and achievement.

The Delt chapters came through prolifically again with informative accounts of their activities, and the volume of letters from alumni chapters testifies to the industry on that front. As indicated in these accounts, the tradition of Founders Day has been honored in all parts of Deltdom, with the emphasis placed where it should be—on building undergraduate chapters which enhance the Fraternity's usefulness.

Delta Tau Delta joins six other fraternities in pioneering the fraternity system at Florida State University.

The huge University Dining Hall at Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida, filled rapidly on the evening of March 5, as more than 700 Greeks rubbed elbows and exchanged interfraternity greetings. Fraternity dignitaries and University and state officials entered and found their way to tables reserved for them. The gigantic interfraternity banquet was under way.

The occasion was the unprecedented installation of seven national fraternities on one campus in one day. Florida State University made history by welcoming Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, Theta Chi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon to the campus all at the same time.

Florida State University was only recently made a coeducational institution, having been known as Florida State College for Women until 1947. The banquet, therefore, marked not only the beginning of the seven chapters, but also the beginning of the fraternity system itself at Florida State.

The banquet featured the introduction of fraternity officials and prominent alumni, fraternity singing (in which the Delts scored an undisputed success), presentation of University charters to the local groups by University President Doak S. Campbell, and a talk by Senator Spessard Holland, junior United States Senator from Florida and member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Senator Holland congratulated the University upon bringing seven national fraternities to the campus in one day. He expressed the hope that the fraternity life of the undergraduate members would be a full and worth-while one.

Representing Florida's Governor

Fuller Warren was Lieutenant Governor Frank Wright, a Phi Delta Theta, who remarked that he hoped the "undergraduate members of the local groups would join that caravan of men who as undergraduates had enjoyed the idealism and common experience of fraternity living."

The assembled group closed the banquet with the singing of the University's Alma Mater, led by Perry Watson, president of the local Delt group and musician extraordinary.

Although the festive Greeks emptied the giant dining hall in a matter of minutes, they soon reappeared with their "queens" at the Student Union, where they danced late into the night at the installation ball, bringing a happy conclusion to a successful week end that had been jammed not only with interfraternity events but with ceremonies and programs conducted individually by seven participating fraternities.

Delta Tau Delta, experienced in installing chapters in record-breaking fashion, kept up the fast pace set at Delaware and Syracuse earlier this year by installing its eightieth active undergraduate chapter, Delta Phi Chapter, in unexcelled form.

Delt alumni, undergraduates, and dignitaries all joined in the march to Tallahassee for the week end of March 4 and 5 to assist in giving the local group an impressive send-off and to insure that Delta Tau Delta would be well represented at the interfraternity affairs.

The Fraternity's distinguished President, W. Harold Brenton, Iowa State, '21, led an impressive guest list that reads like the speakers' table for a Karnea, including four past national Presidents of the Fraternity—A. Bruce Bielaski, George Washington, '04; N. Ray Carroll, Western Reserve, '08; Charles T. Boyd, North Carolina, '21; and G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh, '21.

Other notables attending were: Vice-President Francis M. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '31; Southern Division President Charles Pearson, Jr., Georgia Tech, '23; Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, Indiana, '26; and Southern Division Vice-President G. Sydney Lenfestey, Florida, '34.

(Alabama), Beta Epsilon (Emory), Delta Zeta (Florida), and Gamma Psi (Georgia Tech) were on hand to assist in the work. Beta Delta (Georgia), prevented from sending representatives because of a previously arranged Founders Day celebration, felt so bad about not being able to come that a huge bouquet of purple iris was sent with regrets.

Florida alumni chapters sent official representatives: Harold Frankenberg, Ohio State, '23, from Jacksonville; Gary Ennis, Florida, '25, from Tampa; and Jack Sauerhoff, Penn State, '17, from Miami.

Men steeped in Delt tradition and Fraternity lore, such as Don Van Buren, Dr. George Weber, Marion Coley, and A. B. Walling, joined in the celebration along with local Alumni Edwin W. Richardson, W. & L., '26, and William W. Putnam, Amherst, '26, to add inspiration and encouragement to the local group.

Delts, alumni chapters, and undergraduate chapters who were unable to share directly in the festivities sent their best regards and congratulations by letter and by wire. More than one hundred communications were received from every section of the country, from Delta Theta at Toronto, from old chapters and from new. Recently installed Delta Upsilon Chapter at the University of Delaware wired, "Congratulations from the old baby chapter to the new baby chapter. Good Luck." Wires poured in all week long as Western Union dug out from the barrage of telegrams.

THE INSIDE POINT OF VIEW:

"Just how does it feel to be a charter member of the eightieth chapter of Delta Tau Delta?

"Well, March 5 was a big day—bigger than any of us had expected or even hoped for. The Ritual was most impressive, and when President Brenton presented the charter to Delta Phi, all of us felt that we had really accomplished something to be proud of.

"We nineteen new Delts are now beginning to realize our changed status. We are no longer a colony, but a chapter of the Fraternity, with traditions, ideals, and purposes to live up to.

"We didn't really think there was quite so much to installing a chapter, and I don't imagine there is if you want just a mediocre affair. But can you imagine the Delts wanting to do anything with an air of mediocrity about it? I'm sure I can't."

under way for the Delts with an all-Delt installation banquet Friday evening in the Senior Dining Hall at the University. The date—March 4—served to make the celebration also an observance of Founders Day on a state-wide basis for Florida Delts.

Toastmaster at the banquet was one of Delta Tau Delta's most prominent alumni in the state of Florida, J. Colin English, Emory, '17, Co-ordinator of Higher Education for the State of Florida. Guest at the gala occasion was the University's popular president, Dr. Doak S. Campbell, who officially welcomed the new group to the campus and saluted it as being worthy of the trust and confidence of Delta Tau Delta.

President Campbell remarked that the fraternity system was coming of age and that it was embarking upon a period in which maturity and seriousness of purpose in meeting the challenge of citizenship on the college campuses today were of key importance.

President Brenton acknowledged Dr. Campbell's remarks and emphasized that the Fraternity's purpose was indeed a serious one—the training of men and molding the college youth of today into responsible citizens. President Brenton charged the local group to perform that purpose and so to represent Delta Tau Delta on the Florida State campus that the right for the chapter's existence would be ever justified by its contributions to the educational system there.

Vice-President Francis Hughes, in a concluding talk, jestingly remarked that the introduction of the distinguished guests earlier in the banquet was history-making, in that never before had so many past national Presidents been introduced so fast and allowed to say so little.

He addressed the Delts-to-be and members alike in an inspiring message, reminding all of the deep significance and meaning of the Fraternity Oath. He pointed out the challenge that the Oath presents, a challenge that every Delt is duty-bound to carry out. He emphasized that the Oath is something that should be lived, and not just uttered. His timely subject awakened a new sense of obligation among the initiated and prepared the neophytes for the serious work before them.

The banquet, which was closed with the singing of "My Delta Shelter," was not, however, the conclusion of the evening's festivities. On the contrary, it marked the beginning. The banquet was followed by the Rite of Iris, beautiful preinitiation ceremony, conducted by an experienced group from Delta Zeta Chapter at the University of Florida, headed by Morris Smith.

The Rite was followed by an informal reception in the nearby Longmire Alumni Building, where the Fraternity officials and dignitaries and their wives greeted the visiting Delts and guests. The local group's sponsor, Miss Marjorie King, a charming member of Sigma Kappa Sorority and a Delt sister, presided at the reception.

As the last cup was put away following the reception and the building closed for the night, one lone figure remained behind. For, while the reception marked the end of the evening's activities, it marked the beginning for energetic Gary Ennis from Tampa, who proceeded to get himself locked in the University publicity office in the alumni building while preparing press releases for the Tampa newspapers.

Not content with that, however, enthusiastic Brother Ennis changed the scene of his midnight antics to Brother William Putnam's garage, where he labored far into the night putting the finishing touches on the initiation paraphernalia, specially built for Delta Phi by the Tampa alumni. Dawn Saturday found him drinking coffee with two sleepy assistants discussing plans for Saturday, which had long since arrived.

Saturday, the real work of the week end was begun, with a crack initiation team from the University of Florida performing a flawless initiation for the fourteen undergraduates and three alumni of Delta Phi. Charles T. Boyd participated in the ceremony.

The formal session was brought to an impressive close with the presentation of the membership certificates by Charles Pearson, Jr., Division President, followed by the final high light, the presentation of the Fraternity charter.

The presentation was made by Fraternity President Brenton, who charged the local group with the great responsibility of representing Delta Tau Delta on the Florida State campus. He emphasized that Delta Phi has a serious purpose to perform and that its ultimate usefulness as a chapter will depend upon its success in pursuing that purpose—to mold better men of intellectual ability and good character who will be representative citizens not only on the college campus but in the community after graduation.

The charter was received by J. Perry Watson, president of the local chapter, who stated that the group was anxious to assume the responsibility imposed and would with all its vigor seek to live up to the high ideals and standards of the Fraternity.

Included in the chapter are five Deltas from Delta Zeta Chapter, who transferred to Florida State. The chapter roll numbers nineteen active members and fourteen pledges.

The local fraternity was organized in the fall of 1947, shortly after the institution was made coeducational, at about the same time that seven other local groups started. All but one of these received national charters on the same day. The new chapters have grown and developed under the careful supervision of the University and Dean of Student Welfare J. Broward Culpepper. Other locals have been organized for the purpose of petitioning Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Sigma, and Pi Kappa Phi.

The University hopes soon to develop a fraternity housing section; in the meantime, the groups are required to live in similar quarters, converted army barracks located on a temporary addition to the campus.

Florida State University, with its forward thinking and careful planning, promises to develop an exceptionally sound fraternity system, one in which the local groups will be encouraged, and one in which they will take their rightful place as part of the educational system there.

As the last visiting Delt packed his bags and prepared to leave at the close of the week end, he and all those who had taken part in the installation could not help feeling proud that Delta Tau Delta was joining Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, Theta Chi, Phi Kappa Tau, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon in founding the fraternity system at Florida State University. Every Delt who participated in the installation felt certain that Delta Phi had been successfully launched and even more certain that Delta Phi was going to be another strong unit of a strong Fraternity.

Delt Big Top Rolls on to Oklahoma A. and M., Santa Barbara

Rounding out a full college year, Delta Tau Delta is installing two more undergraduate chapters this month—at Oklahoma A. & M. College, Stillwater, Oklahoma, and Santa Barbara College of the University of California, Santa Barbara, California.

Members of the local Crescent Club at Oklahoma A. & M. became charter members of Delta Chi Chapter on May 7, 1949, as the Oklahoma City and Tulsa Alumni Chapters and Delta Alpha Chapter, of the University of Oklahoma, joined hands in staging impressive installation ceremonies.

Principal speaker at the installation banquet was Carl V. Weygandt, Wooster, '12, Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court. President W. H. Brenton, who also spoke at the banquet, was present to participate in the week-end ceremonies. Dr. Henry G. Bennett, President of the College, officially welcomed the new group to the A. & M. campus and pledged his support in the development of Delta Chi Chapter.

Delta Alpha Chapter was there in force, performing the initiatory rites. Under the direction of Bill Bender, the Delta Alpha Glee Club, ten times winner of the O. U. sing contest, took the campus by storm, singing at the banquet and serenading sororities and women's dormitories late Saturday night.

On May 20 and 21 members of Sigma Alpha Kappa, leading local fraternity at Santa Barbara, will be inducted as charter members of Delta Psi Chapter—the Fraternity's eighty-second active undergraduate unit. A record attendance is expected for this event—in the heart of California's Deltdom.

President W. H. Brenton and Dr. J. Harold Williams, provost of the College, will be principal speakers. Teams from Delta Iota (U.C.L.A.) and Delta Pi (U.S.C.) will perform initiation ceremonies. Members of the Los Angeles and Santa Barbara Alumni Chapters are working on committees planning the week-end program.

Baird's Manual Dedicated to Alvan Duerr Western Division Names Nichols President

The fifteenth edition of Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities has been dedicated to Alvan Emile Duerr, Kenyon, '93, Williams, '93, Delta Tau Delta's great interfraternity leader, who died in November, 1947.

"Alvan Emile Duerr stands supreme among fraternity men," writes the editor in his dedication, "as the person to whom this edition of Baird's Manual should be dedicated. He was one of the men Francis Wayland Shepardson had in mind when long ago he told the editor that there was a small group in New York who made almost a religion of the American college fraternity.

"Alvan Duerr had a profound effect for good on the ideals and development of Delta Tau Delta which he joined at Kenyon College in September 1889, transferring to Williams in 1891, and which he served as editor, supervisor of scholarship, secretary, treasurer and president. In each of these posts his personal impact was arousing, his leadership pervasive and his innovations trail-blazing. Thousands of his brother Deltas are better Americans today because they were inspired by him. . .

"Ever since Duerr first went to the National Interfraternity Conference as a delegate in 1923 he ceased to belong to one fraternity alone; as the years passed he belonged increasingly to them all. Those who served with him were hardly conscious of his individual fraternity membership—he became American college fraternity man at large. He was always ready to work, to think and to advise on fraternity matters. He was a twentieth century exemplar of the teachings that he who would be first must render the best service and that he who is greatest among you shall be your servant.

"Duerr was a power in the National Interfraternity Conference as a member of its executive committee, as treasurer, as secretary and as chairman for two years. For twenty years he was its scholarship committee. A Phi Beta Kappa man himself, he was satisfied with nothing less than the best in scholarship. The results of his work were profound. Because of him fraternity scholarship was greatly improved. Systems which he developed produced regularly, useful comparative statistics about scholastic ratings. The evidence gathered by him showed that fraternity men were striving toward the ideals to which so many of them had pledged devotion when they were initiated. As one result, college deans and presidents were gradually convinced that fraternity objectives were identical with their own and they began to welcome the fraternity system as an ally. . .

"The true college fraternity is a democratic brotherhood. Many individual fraternities have had their lovers, but Alvan Emile Duerr loved the whole American college fraternity system and all the good for which it stands. He devoted his life to it; in appreciation this volume is dedicated to him."

Baird's Manual, first published in 1879 by William Raimond Baird, is an authoritative guide giving accurate information concerning all American college fraternities and sororities—including the honorary and professional, as well as the social, organizations. It has long been recognized as the standard reference in its field.

Editor of the current edition is Harold J. Baily, member of Beta Theta Pi and past Chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference. Previous editors, besides Mr. Baird, were James Taylor Brown, Francis Wayland Shepardson, and Alvan Emile Duerr.

The publisher is The Collegiate Press of the George Banta Publishing Company, Menasha, Wisconsin. The volume contains nearly a thousand pages. It may be ordered through the publisher at the price of $6.75 per copy.

This edition of Baird's Manual is heartily recommended to Deltas and Delt chapters. The editor speaks truly in his preface when he writes, "The pages which follow give an idea of the dignity, power and usefulness of the American college fraternity system."

The new President of the Western Division is John W. Nichols, Oklahoma, '36, who was elected by the Western Division Conference at Stanford University on February 26. He assumed office April 1.

Mr. Nichols has been actively engaged in Delt undertakings since undergraduate days, when he served as both rush chairman and president of Delta Alpha Chapter. He was also president of the University's interfraternity council.

Since his graduation he has been chapter adviser of Delta Alpha, president of the Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter, treasurer of his chapter's house corporation, and vice-president of the Western Division for two years. He is presently president of the Delta Tau Delta Foundation at the University of Oklahoma and chairman of the alumni advisory committee which has assisted the Fraternity's petitioning group at Oklahoma A. & M.

The installation of Delta Chi Chapter on May 7 culminated many months of intensive work and planning on the part of the committee which he headed.

An independent oil producer, the new President resides in Oklahoma City.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta — III

WASHINGTON GARDNER, Hillsdale, '69; Ohio Wesleyan, '70—1886-87

The record of Delta Tau Delta's third President represents achievement in the best American tradition. From a humble beginning, he rose to a position of prominence not only in his Fraternity, but also in church, academic, state, and national affairs.

Washington Gardner was born in 1845 on a farm near South Woodbury, Ohio. At the age of fourteen, he was "hired out" as a farm hand at the fabulous wage of six dollars a month. As so many other great men have done, he put his idle hours to use by reading good books.

With the advent of the Civil War, young Gardner was among the first to enlist in the Union Army, becoming a member of the Sixty-fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry. A youth of sixteen and the youngest in his company, he shared every campaign, march, siege, and battle participated in by his regiment. Although he was grazed by a sniper's bullet at Stone Ridge and narrowly escaped death at Chickamauga, his inordinate pluck saw him through—until one May afternoon in 1864, near Resaca, Georgia, when he was severely wounded in battle. After several months of patient suffering in improvised army hospitals, he was honorably discharged and returned to his home in Ohio.

Out of the boy-soldier's war experience was born a firm resolve to obtain an education. No one had yet thought of the G.I. bill or veterans' pensions in 1864, but Gardner found the means to enroll in Beach Grove Academy, Ashley, Ohio, just three days after he arrived home. Further preliminary work at the preparatory department of Baldwin University enabled him to matriculate as a freshman in Hillsdale College in the fall of 1866.

In the distinguished company of such Delts as Will Carleton, famous early American poet, and Albert J. Hopkins, for many years a member of Congress and later a United States Senator, he helped found Kappa Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. During the summer of 1869 he was prevailed upon to take his last collegiate year at Ohio Wesleyan. He entered and affiliated with Mu Chapter that fall, immediately after it had been named by the Meadville Karnea the Alpha, or governing chapter.

During the whole of his college career, the future President distinguished himself as an orator and scholar. At the 1870 Karnea in Cleveland, he represented Mu Chapter and served on the credentials committee. He was also a member of a committee of three charged with rewriting the Constitution.

The fall of 1871 found Gardner a student in the School of Theology at Boston University. In the second year of his course here his health failed, the result of the continuous strain of intensive study and hard work during vacations, a necessity for him in meeting college expenses. He finished his course, however, and in 1875 he entered Albany Law

Soldier, scholar, minister, attorney, educator, and statesman—the third President has been recorded as one of the great men of American history.

School, from which he was subsequently graduated as valedictorian of his class.

Reverend Gardner practiced law for one year, changed his mind, and became a minister in the Michigan Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The 1886 Karnea in Louisville, Kentucky, elected him President of the Fraternity, and he served with distinction for one year. During this period his close friends and associates were Delts throughout central Michigan, from which group the Fraternity drew liberally for its leadership and to which the fourth President, Lucius W. Hoyt, belonged. So great was their interest in the Fraternity that these men incorporated a Delta Tau Delta Resort Association, with Reverend Gardner as president, for the purpose of establishing a summer resort for members of the Fraternity at Bay View, near Petoskey, on Little Traverse Bay, Michigan.

The press of personal business forced President Gardner to decline a second term in office. Two years later he accepted a professorship at Albion College. Already a lawyer, minister, and educator, he was just entering upon his career as a public servant.

In 1894 he became Secretary of State for the state of Michigan, having been appointed by the governor to fill an unexpired term. He was subsequently elected for two further terms.

By 1898 the versatile Gardner was ready for greater things. Winning the Republican nomination for United States Congress and the subsequent election, he began a national career that carried him through six consecutive Congresses.

For ten of his twelve years in Washington he was a member of the committee on appropriations. As chairman of the committee on expenditures in the Department of Commerce and Labor, he was closely associated with the building of the Panama Canal. He was for ten years, in addition, a member and

Butler Union Named for Delt Educator

THE NEW $1,000,000 student union building now under construction at Butler University will be named the John Whisler Atherton Center in memory of the late John W. Atherton, Butler, '00, late secretary-treasurer of the University. During Mr. Atherton's period of service to Butler, and largely through his efforts, the enrollment rose from 250 to 4,500 students.

Mr. Atherton was born near Cumberland, Indiana, August 14, 1877. He entered Butler in 1896, pledged Delta Tau Delta, and was initiated into Beta Zeta Chapter December 7, 1897. After graduation from Butler, Mr. Atherton attended the University of Chicago, from which he received his Ph. B. degree in 1901.

For several years he taught history and economics and coached football at Kokomo and South Bend high schools, after which he became western school book representative of the Charles Scribner Company. In 1920, Mr. Atherton was appointed financial secretary and later secretary-treasurer of Butler. Still classified as a small college, Butler had facilities which were inadequate for the new educational demands in the period immediately following World War I. Mr. Atherton reorganized the finances of Butler, and over the period of years since his appointment in 1920 he succeeded in increasing the assets of the University to more than $9,000,000, including the permanent endowment fund of $5,000,000. Mr. Atherton died June 2, 1947, after a period of illness lasting several months.

Mr. Atherton was widely known in civic circles in Indianapolis and throughout Hoosierdom because of his varied activities. He was a member of the City Planning Commission and Board of Zoning Appeals for twenty-three years and had served as president of both boards for many years. In 1940 he was elected state senator and was re-elected in 1944. In June, 1939, at the annual commencement exercises, Butler recognized his many achievements by conferring upon him the honorary LL. D. degree.

In addition to his long period of service as a member of the Butler University Board of Directors, Mr. Atherton was a member of the Association of Church Related and Independent Colleges and Universities, the Central Indiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, and the Arthur Jordan Foundation. He was a member of the Scottish Rite, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Rotary Club.

At the time of Mr. Atherton's death, Butler's President M. O. Ross stated, "... he was largely responsible for the University's growth from a small college of a few hundred students and limited resources to its present status. . . . I have never known a wiser, more loyal and generous friend or colleague. We at Butler University will miss him more than words can express. What he accomplished will be in evidence as long as the University exists."

The building which will bear his name has been under construction since May, 1948, and is scheduled to be completed in September of this year. Its three floors will house the University cafeteria, grill, bookstore, lounges, recreation rooms, and club rooms.

for four years chairman of the subcommittee having charge of the appropriation bills for the District of Columbia.

So fair and incisive had been the administration of his trust in public office and so greatly were his services appreciated that on the eve of his retirement from Congress, Washington Gardner was feted at a public dinner attended by the President of the United States, the Speaker of the House, many members of Congress, and about three hundred citizens of the capital city. The famous men present that evening echoed Speaker Cannon's simple epitome: "His going from us is a real loss to the American Congress."

There was no real retirement, however, for a man of Congressman Gardner's fibre. In 1913 he was chosen national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. In 1921 he returned to Washington as commissioner of pensions. A serious injury three years later ended his active public career, and on March 31, 1928, at the age of eighty-three, he died.

The Gardner name has endured in Delta Tau Delta in more ways than one. The former President's son—Raymond H. Gardner, Albion, '07, George Washington, '07—and two grandsons—Raymond H. Gardner, Jr., Albion, '36, and John Washington Gardner, Albion, '49—are all members of the Fraternity.

Soldier, scholar, lawyer, minister, educator, statesman—such a man was Washington Gardner. The early destinies of Delta Tau Delta were indeed in capable hands.

IN THE NEXT ISSUE: Lucius W. Hoyt, Michigan State, '82, fourth President of Delta Tau Delta.

Luncheon Honors Fifty-Year Delt

A novel idea for alumni chapter luncheons was introduced recently by the National Capital Alumni Chapter. On March 31, at the regular Tuesday luncheon, honored guests were all Delt's residing in Washington, D. C., who have been members of the Fraternity for fifty years or more.

Loyal "teen-age" Delt's (those under seventy years of age) turned out to pay tribute to the early members. Another special guest on that day was Attorney General Tom C. Clark, Texas, '22.

George Washington, '09

For forty years an active supporter of the Gamma Eta Chapter and of the Washington Alumni Chapter, giving freely and frequently legal and financial aid and generously of his time and energy. Largely responsible for the addition of Delta Sigma at the University of Maryland in 1948. A bulwark of the Fraternity, locally, and a valuable aid to the national Fraternity.

Three Divisions Hold Conferences

Western

The biennial Conference of the Western Division was held February 25 and 26 on the Stanford University campus under the joint sponsorship of Beta Rho Chapter and the San Francisco Alumni Chapter.

All twenty-one chapters of the Division were represented by official delegates. Members of petitioning groups at Oklahoma A. & M. and Santa Barbara College also attended. President Brenton and Executive Vice-President Shields, as well as Division President Daniel W. Ferguson, participated in the sessions.

Delegates voted to hold their next Conference in Boulder, Colorado, under the auspices of Beta Kappa Chapter. John W. Nichols, vice-president of the Division, was elected to succeed Mr. Ferguson as President of the Division.

High light of the Conference was the Founders Day banquet on Friday night in San Francisco, at which President Brenton spoke. A dance at the Beta Rho Shelter Saturday night completed the Conference.

Substantial work was done by the Conference in overhauling its Constitution, and a new document was unanimously adopted. One of the principal revisions outlines procedures for holding regional meetings in alternate years.

Northern

Representatives of the twenty-four chapters of the Northern Division, as well as members of seven alumni chapters, gathered at the Hotel Loraine in Madison, Wisconsin, April 8 and 9, for the Sixty-fifth Conference of that Division.

One of the significant acts of the Conference was the amendment of the Division Constitution to provide for regional conferences in alternate years in lieu of a full Division Conference every year.

Stuart K. Fox was elected President of the Division for a two-year term. W. Edgar West, Robert L. Hartford, Ernest L. Miller, Otto A. Silha, and Frederic O. Leech were elected vice-presidents of the Division, also for a two-year term. Edwin H. Hughes, III, was appointed secretary-treasurer by President Fox.

Delegates voted to hold the 1951 Conference at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana, with Gamma Lambda Chapter as host.

On Friday evening Beta Gamma Chapter entertained with a buffet and smoker at the Shelter on Lake Mendota. Special entertainment was provided by Gamma Lambda's Bob Tam, whose rare Irish tenor voice has brought him wide recognition.

The Conference banquet was held Saturday night at the Hotel Loraine. Toastmaster was H. V. Higley, Wisconsin, '14. Speakers were Paul L. Trump, Adviser of Men of the University of Wisconsin; President W. H. Brenton; and Vice-President Francis M. Hughes. The dance which followed the banquet concluded the Conference program.

Southern

The Southern Division Conference, which met April 29 and 30 at the St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans, Louisiana, elected G. Sydney Lenfestey, Florida, '34, President of the Southern Division, succeeding Charles Pearson, Jr., resigned.

Mr. Lenfestey was chosen at the first session to preside over the Conference in the absence of President Pearson, who was unable to attend. The new President assumes office on June 1.

Division vice-presidents elected by the Conference are Arthur D. Gray, William H. Andrews, Marion K. Coley, and T. Clinton Huguley.

President Brenton was principal speaker at the Conference banquet Friday night, held in the Jackson Room of the St. Charles. Otis B. Trepagnier, president of the New Orleans Alumni Chapter, served as toastmaster. Ed Dodd, creator of the Mark Trail comic strip, entertained with his amusing chalk talk.

Saturday noon the Beta Xi Mothers' Club served a buffet luncheon at the Shelter for delegates and visitors. Beta Xi Chapter was host at a formal dance that evening in the St. Charles Hotel.

Knoxville, Tennessee, was chosen as the site for the next Conference, with the recommendation that the time be the second week end in April of 1951.

Beta Pi Plan Spurs Karnea Attendance

About one year ago at this time, members of Beta Pi Chapter at Northwestern were talking about the French Lick Karnea. Practically the whole chapter wanted to attend.

What with the high cost of getting an education, however, and the limited funds that a chapter can provide to defray traveling and living expenses of chapter representatives, the number who could actually make the trip was narrowed considerably.

But those who attended came away with a better appreciation of their Fraternity. They acquired valuable ideas to put to use in their own chapter. They gained a clearer conception of the objectives of Delta Tau Delta. And they were sorry that the benefits and inspiration of a Karnea could not be made available to more Delts of Beta Pi Chapter.

When they returned to Evanston, they decided to do something about it. Here is what they did.

In October Beta Pi established a "Karnea Fund"—a separate account to be used solely for paying traveling and living expenses of chapter members attending the Karnea. Each active and pledge contributes two dollars per quarter to the Fund. With a chapter of eighty men, the Fund will amount to nearly one thousand dollars by the time of the Sixtieth Karnea.

Two undergraduate delegates elected by the chapter will have full expenses paid from the Fund. Those members other than delegates who desire to take advantage of the Karnea Fund must register with the chapter president and treasurer prior to the Karnea. The amount in the Fund will be divided equally among those men who register and attend.

If the amount in the Fund exceeds the expenses (room, meals, and transportation) of the members registered and attending, the excess amount will be carried over for the following Karnea.

Beta Pi Chapter, where ideas have a way of catching on, should be well represented at Columbus in 1951.

How to Win the Campus Sing

By JACK FEIERABEND, Kentucky, '49

While I do not presume to imply that Delta Epsilon is the musical capital of the world, I do feel that our record of eleven first places out of thirteen entries in U. K.'s annual Campus Sing is one that bears investigation.

I believe our success is due to three equal factors: the wise choice of material, a leader who knows a little about music and who is willing to work hard in learning more about it, and Delt spirit. No one of these is more important than the other, and without any one, you cannot have a successful chorus. The voices and musicianship of the singers are largely secondary so long as they are not all monotonous.

First mentioned is a wise choice of material. This includes not only the musical value of the literature selected, but also its relationship to the capabilities of the singers. One of the easiest things to sing is a simple Bach chorale, and the judges love them! They may be had a cappella or accompanied, in from one to four or five parts, loud or soft, fast or slow. And they're good music. With a few weeks' work, even the most unmusical members may be taught their parts by rote, and they will be singing Bach. Sounds impressive, doesn't it? Well, it is. And Bach isn't the only composer of good music; even some of the very obscure composers have written good music. Because a man is still living, moreover, does not mean that his music is bad. Look at Benjamin Britten, Aaron Copeland, and Leonard Bernstein, to mention only a few. Their music, however, may present difficulty even to trained groups and could be discouraging to choral groups found in most of our chapters.

One of the objects in singing in competition is the display of the singers' versatility, whether it be contrasts within a given song or the ability to change between two or more different songs. If your contest will allow you to use as many as three songs (as is the case at the University of Kentucky, the only governing factor being an eight-minute time limit), I recommend starting with a light, humorous, and rapid song. Follow this with "Delta Shelter," and close with something that is stirring, serious, and fairly heavy. I recommend, also, using published arrangements of these songs interpreted pretty faithfully to the printed markings, unless your Brother Arranger falls little short of Robert Shaw himself.

Now, this light, humorous, and rapid song does not include such things as "The Woodpecker Song," which does measure up to those three qualifications. You may find something that strikes your fancy in "The Golden Book," or in "Twice 55." Or you may choose to consult your nearest music dealer or publisher, just naming your needs; the clerks will knock themselves out trying to help you.

Next, "Delta Shelter." What more could you ask for? I think it's the best of the Delt songs, especially for contest singing. It's soft, slow, profoundly meaningful, and sincere. By all means, use this song if you don't sing anything else. But don't try to schmaltz it up with unnecessary pseudo-Fred Waring effects. It's not the type song for that sort of treatment. Just remember that the most important word in the song is "love." Build toward that word gradually, and make the last phrase a veritable parenthetical expression—a reflected thought.

To climax your program, try something moving. Look for a song that ends slowly and with a great amount of volume. Look for a song

James Moss Stoney, Episcopal Bishop

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, senior Bishop, retired, of the Methodist Church, a past Editor of THE RAINBOW, and the ninth President of the Fraternity, remarked in 1941:

"Even now, when people hear of an Episcopal leader who is doing finely, they naturally ask: 'From what Delta Tau Delta chapter does he come?'"

The Right Reverend James Moss Stoney, who became Episcopal Bishop of New Mexico and Southwest Texas just eight months later in April, 1942, comes from Beta Theta Chapter at the University of the South. He is the fourth Episcopal Bishop Beta Theta has given to the Fraternity.

Born in Camden, South Carolina, Bishop Stoney is the son of Reverend and Mrs. James M. Stoney, Sr. He was initiated into the Fraternity in June of 1907 and was graduated at Sewanee four years later. He subsequently received both the BD and the DD degrees from his alma mater.

During World War I he saw duty as chaplain of the 308 Engineers of the American Expeditionary Forces. He has served Episcopal churches in South Carolina, Georgia, Utah, and Alabama. He resides today in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The roster of distinguished Delt Bishops includes, besides Bishop Stoney, nineteen others. Ten are of the Episcopal Church and ten of the Methodist Church.

Delt Educator Is "Literary Historian"

Henry Carrington Lancaster was born in 1882 at the old family home at the corner of 12th and Clay Streets in Richmond, Virginia, just across the street from the former "White House" of the Confederacy.

His parents were Robert Alexander Lancaster, an investment banker, and Williamine Cabell Carrington Lancaster.

Having prepared for college at McCabe's University School in Richmond, he entered the University of Virginia in the fall of 1900. Shortly thereafter he became a member of the Beta Iota Chapter of Delta Tau Delta, and in his last year at the University he was editor of the weekly paper, College Topics. He received both the B. A. and M. A. degrees in June, 1903.

The following session he taught at the Starke School for Boys in Montgomery, Alabama.

In 1904 he entered the graduate school of Johns Hopkins University for study in Romance languages. This decision was due in part to the influence of the late Richard H. Wilson, for many years professor of French at Virginia, whose inspired teaching caused many of his students to follow in his footsteps.

There were several summers spent in study in France, and in 1907 he was awarded the Ph. D. degree at Johns Hopkins University.

The following year he joined the faculty of Amherst College, Massachusetts, and two years later became head of the Department of Romance Languages at that institution.

In 1913 he married Helen Converse Clark, daughter of the late Professor John Bates Clark who for many years was Professor of Economics at Columbia University. There were five children of this union.

During the first World War he served as Director of the Foyer du Soldat at Lizy-sur-Oureg, France, and later as Educational Director of all the Foyers du Soldat of France.

After the war he returned to Amherst and remained there until, in 1919, he was called to the Professorship of French Literature and the Chairmanship of the Department of Romance Languages at Johns Hopkins University.

A few years after the close of World War I, Carrington Lancaster served for a year as Director of the American University Union in Paris and as Hyde exchange lecturer in French universities.

For some years prior to World War II he lectured regularly to graduate students at New York University.

For the past quarter of a century he has been editor of Modern Language Notes, and he served as President of the Modern Language Association of America.

It is customary for us to think of a professor of languages, and especially of one who has been a research scholar and a prolific writer in a special field of literature, as different from ordinary human beings. Not so with Carrington Lancaster. Perhaps his early years as one of a large family of children with varied interests developed in him the common touch! At any rate he has found time, not only to carry on the most exhaustive research and to write many books while teaching regularly, but he has been interested in people and current events and has even taken an active part in political campaigns!

He considers that his most important work is his ten-volume History of French Dramatic Literature of the Seventeenth Century. He has been decorated by the University of Paris and awarded degrees by other institutions in this country and abroad.

In 1942 his former students and friends published a volume in his honor—Adventures of a Literary Historian. This volume contains selections from his writings. I close with a quotation from the foreword of this volume.

"We have not believed all the tall tales told about your escapades as an undergraduate at Charlottesville and as a neophyte in Delta Tau Delta, though it amused us to search out in our honored teacher those traits which would not be incommensurate with such tales. . . .

"We hope that the whole of these Adventures of a Literary Historian will reflect in some measure the productive drive of the scholar, the solicitous devotion of the teacher, and the moral character and vital humanism of the man Lancaster."

Sold Early Inventions of Thomas Edison

A Delt who got his start in the laboratory of Thomas A. Edison, who pioneered the import-export business in Japan, whose remarkable achievements have earned him many lines in Who's Who is Everett W. Frazar, Stevens, '90.

Son of one of the original Yankee traders who entered Japan with Commodore Perry's expedition in 1854, Mr. Frazar was born in Shanghai, China. He returned to the States long enough to take his formal schooling at Columbia University and Stevens Institute of Technology, where he was initiated into Rho Chapter. Beginning with the Edison Phonograph Works in West Orange, New Jersey, in 1890, he transferred to Edison's laboratories and then was off to Europe to demonstrate an electrically propelled and operated torpedo invented by Mr. Edison and a Mr. Scott.

In 1896 he joined his father's firm,

EVERETT W. FRAZAR

Frazar & Company, in Japan, where he continued demonstrating inventions of Thomas Edison, later expanding his activities to represent such American manufacturers as Henry Ford, the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and the Victor Talking Machine Company.

The early automobile and the Baldwin locomotive were among the various products of Western ingenuity that Supersalesman Frazar imported to the Orient. Introducing the Edison phonograph, he saw his innovation gain such favor that in 1933 Japan became the greatest manufacturer and purchaser of phonographs and records in the world. One of his most remarkable performances was the unique experience of demonstrating, in the early 1900's, the wondrous Wilbur Wright flying machine to the Emperor of Japan.

Today Mr. Frazar lives quietly in Daytona Beach, Florida, but he says he would like to return to Japan so that he might contribute to the rebuilding of a country and a people who, he believes, with good leadership will regain respect in the eyes of the world.

Leads the Way in Farm Co-op Progress

According to a broadcast from co-operative Radio Station WCFM,

Washington, D. C., December 17, 1948, Isaac Harvey Hull, Northwestern, '09, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, "is a man of vision and a pioneer in recognizing the farmer as a consumer as well as a producer." He was among the first to understand that consumer co-operatives must not only do buying and selling but must reach back into processing and manufacturing.

Under the leadership of Hull, Indiana's co-operators in 1935 organized the first rural electrification co-operative in the country. They were the first in that section of the United States to buy their own coal mine. Later they bought a lumber mill. They blazed the trail in setting up scientific chick hatcheries which revolutionized the poultry business in the Hoosier State.

Indiana made history by joining with Ohio and Michigan farm co-operatives to contract for the entire output of a chemical plant's fertilizer, which they marketed successfully, finally breaking the fertilizer trust.

Shortly after his departure from Northwestern University, where he had been president of Beta Pi Chapter and president of his freshman law class, Hull moved from his father's farm in Saunemin, Illinois, to a farm in La Porte County, Indiana. The farm bureau of that county elected him president in 1919. The following year found him on the board of directors of the State Farm Bureau.

He was elected to the state legislature, where he sponsored the first co-operative law passed in Indiana. He also helped put through a bill for establishing credit unions. In 1926, when the State Farm Bureau was having trouble making its purchasing department function, "Ike" was asked to move to Indianapolis and take charge of the ailing department.

A few years later he had persuaded the Bureau to abolish its system of state-appointed agents scattered over the state and had organized locally-owned co-operatives in the different counties with their own wholesale houses from which to buy supplies for their respective counties.

Hull believed in building from the bottom up instead of from the top down. Local members controlled the county co-operatives which, in turn, owned and controlled the central wholesale house. Hull's religious education at the largest Methodist university had taught him the value of the tenet, "Bear ye one another's burdens." He reminded his coworkers that the uncurbed profit motive, whereby men exploit their neighbors without shame, did not conform to the teachings of Jesus. His plan, now widely known as "The Indiana Plan," has enabled men to exchange with their neighbors without fear of greed or plunder. They have learned by endless trial and error that they can help themselves. They have learned that the farmer's prosperity is in direct ratio to the prosperity of the city worker who has more money to spend for foodstuffs which the farmer produces.

H. PARKER LOWELL.

Editor's Note: We are grateful to Mr. Lowell, of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the Atlanta Constitution, for this contribution, which, he says, "may be accepted as part payment for many meals and many hours of friendly association with members of Beta Pi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at Northwestern University more than four decades ago."

Relates Nurnberg Story

sidelights on the much-discussed Nürnberg trials. The speaker has been Colonel Henry S. Otto, Cornell, '07, whose work with the Intelligence Section of General Patch's Seventh Army and with other projects in Germany and Austria brought him closely in touch with the developments which led up to the prosecution of German war criminals.

Prior to World War I, Colonel Otto had gained experience in foreign lands through his engineering work with American firms in Europe and South America. As a soldier in New York's National Guard cavalry, he had served on the Mexican Border in 1916. In 1917 he went overseas with the "First Hundred Thousand" as a first lieutenant of field artillery. He advanced rapidly to the rank of major as a member of the Intelligence Section of General Pershing's staff. After the Armistice in 1918, he served with the Hoover Commission, the Peace Conference, and a Mission to Poland. He received a citation from General Pershing and was also decorated by French Marshall Petain.

From 1920 to 1938 he served as vice-president and treasurer of Albert T. Otto & Sons, a New York firm in the import-export and general engineering business. During part of this period he was president of the Greater New York Alumni Chapter.

Summoned to active duty in World War II, Colonel Otto served in the Inspector General's Department until 1944, when he was assigned to General Donovan's O.S.S. and sent to Europe, where he worked in the Intelligence Section of SHAEF. Subsequently, during his tour with the Seventh Army, he assisted in the interviews of important prisoners of war, including Goering. He also inspected the infamous Dachau concentration camp and served on a surrender commission.

In July, 1945, he was assigned to the U. S. Chief of Counsel, Justice Jackson, at Nürnberg, where he assisted the prosecution in interrogation, as well as in the assembly, classification, and briefing of data pertaining to the German defendants.

Colonel Otto now resides in Scarsdale, New York. He maintains his active interest in the Fraternity, serving as vice-president of the house corporation of Beta Omicron Chapter (Cornell).

In 1918 MARSHALL PETAIN decorated HENRY OTTO with the French Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre avec palm.

Alumni Relations From Scratch

By NORVAL B. STEPHENS, JR., DePauw, '51

If your chapter has the itch to do something about alumni relations, you should read this article.

This is written as an aid to chapters who are scratching for ideas to turn out alumni for special events. Perhaps these ideas will provide that needed impetus for the alumni when they realize they are wanted and needed for something other than their pocketbooks.

We at DePauw began planning our "chapter emphasis program" last summer. We stood in need of two things: a twenty-five-man pledge class and one hundred alumni back on graduation day. The twenty-seven-man pledge class is another story. Here is our alumni plan.

We set up, first of all, a central theme. We found from our bull sessions that what we wanted most was alumni participation, not money. Our program in the past has always been a push for funds. This year the chapter was on a firm financial footing; we were in a position to ask for alumni support for the sake of the alumni, not the house.

To our aid at this point came Knowlton H. Kelsey, '13, with a raft of ideas, and most important, the alumni viewpoint. With him we set up a schedule.

Objective one was to get out and find what was wrong with our alumni relations. At Thanksgiving and Christmas chapter members called on all the alumni in their neighborhoods. We found the answer. We state these next items frankly, for they are probably evident in many chapters' activities. First, we had neglected to keep contact with alumni between money drives. Second, our mailings had been concerned too much with the present chapter, not with the chapter they knew. Our letters had been all push, with a joe-college flavor and no down-to-earth, sane urging to return to the chapter house to regain what the grads remember it for—brotherhood. And, in several cases, the old ties had been weakened by failure to follow up rush recommendations.

The alumni committee also made contact with our two nearest alumni chapters—Chicago and Indianapolis. At State Day in Indianapolis we worked out a pick-up system by which every DePauw alumnus present was met by an undergraduate and given an "alumni rush."

With this material collected, we went into our next phase—the first letter. Supervised by Mr. Kelsey, it was written and signed by a group of prominent and well-known alumni representing a variety of graduating classes. This communication established renewed contacts between alumni, gave a brief explanation of the purpose of our program, provided a set of directions, and summarized chapter activities and goals. With the letter went a list of each Delt's classmates, those of the year before him, and those of the year following. Each name carried the member's last known address and space for comments to be sent back to the chapter. The alumnus was also asked to send in a paragraph on himself.

As this is written we are still receiving answers. We had a ten per cent response in thirty days, with about half promising to return June 11. Many letters were begun with the remark, "Well, it's about time you went about it sensibly. Thanks for the list of my classmates. I have written several asking them to join me next June at the Shelter. Count me in." From these replies and contacts we have made during vacations, we are setting up key alumni who will write to their brothers personally.

Our third objective is passing around the news. The undergraduate alumni committee is pictured compiling the first of about five newsletters that will go out at intervals until May 27. Each letter will contain a list of men who have promised to return, plus as much of the news they submit as two or three pages will allow. The strongest urge for alumni to come back, we have found, is the knowledge that they will meet old brothers at the Shelter.

Here the alumni relations committee prepares another shot in the arm for alumni.

Between now and June 11, in addition to the newsletters, we shall have each man in the house write a personal note to an alumnus asking him to return and mentioning that his support and advice are just what we need to push us out front here at DePauw.

The big week end, the details of which are our fourth objective, has now been set to include various mixer parties, baseball games, and horseshoe pitching contests, plus an initiation ceremony and a formal banquet with a prominent Delt speaker. Every alumnus who is breaking away from the little woman will be put up in the house, while we shall make plans for families in town. Food costs will be kept to a minimum, and an estimate for the whole week end will be sent in one of our last letters.

Fifth, after the smoke has cleared, the alumni committee will remain long enough to mail one final letter totaling up the score and giving the absent brethren a rundown on what they missed.

In summary, we worked in five steps: determining where we stood, the letter contact, drumming up interest by telling the alumni who of their brothers would be back, planning the big day, and the evaluation.

Campus Sing

whose text says something. What you're striving for is to leave the judges and the audience hanging from the rafters, so to speak, and full of goose bumps.

The second big factor is the song leader. His selection should be based upon his musicianship and his qualities of leadership. Hardly a chapter is completely devoid of someone with a little knowledge of music. And with conscientious work on his part, he may learn enough about training and directing a chorus to put it on top.

If your campus has a music department, go there and have an interview with the choral supervisor. He will explain how to go about teaching the parts in a song, what to watch for in rehearsals, and how to acquire good tone quality, and he may recommend reliable texts available from the school or the city library. A small book by Gehrkens entitled Essentials in Conducting is recommended; if it's not in the library, you may procure it from G. Schirmer in New York for about $1.75.

At your first rehearsal explain what you are attempting to accomplish during the ensuing weeks. Explain what your signals imply, so that the singers will know what each flick of the finger means. By all means stress the importance of prompt and faithful attendance at all meetings, and beg the co-operation of the nonsinging brothers not to disturb individual members during rehearsals. As early as possible, prepare a permanent seating plan so that the chorus members will become accustomed to singing next to the same person at all times. Such a procedure will save much confusion when the time comes for a public performance.

One of the most important things to impress is that the singers watch the director at all times, whether in rehearsals or in performance. Little will cause a judge to grade a group down more than wandering eyes—even one pair can destroy the whole effect.

The third element is Delt Spirit. We all have it as no other fraternity could. How to express it and bring it out is individual within the chapter. It is the hardship and labor of our predecessors; it is tradition; it is loyalty; it is our love for our Fraternity. It is our Shelter. To sing well, a person must be excited-inspired. How can anyone realize these things and remain unmoved?

Good luck; and, brothers, let's get in there and sing!

Columbus Named Site For Sixtieth Karnea

Acting on the recommendation of the Fifty-ninth Karnea, the Arch Chapter has announced that the Sixtieth Karnea of Delta Tau Delta will be held in Columbus, Ohio, August 24, 25, and 26, 1951. Located in the heart of Ohio, which has a Delt population of more than 4,000, this Karnea is expected to shatter previous attendance records.

Wisconsin Delt Wins Big Ten Debate Crown

Roderick "Rod" McPhee, junior of Beta Gamma Chapter, was half of the University of Wisconsin's two-man debate team which captured top honors in the Big Ten Debate Tourney held at the University of Chicago recently.

Arguing the affirmative side of "Federal Aid to Education," Rod and his partner defeated teams from Ohio State, Illinois, Northwestern, and Minnesota. Wisconsin's negative team won three of four, giving the school an over-all score of seven wins out of eight contests and first-place trophy.

Rod's team was chosen as one of two affirmative duos to debate against Eastern colleges in a post-tourney exhibition. He and his partner met and defeated Colgate University's representatives.

Rod got his start in forensics at Eau Claire High School, winning the Wisconsin state championship in 1946. During the same year he was selected to represent the Midwest on the American Forum of the Air's annual youth program, broadcast from Washington, D. C. As a college freshman, he was chosen the outstanding debater at a University of Minnesota meet in 1947.

Pledged by Beta Gamma Chapter last fall, Rod was initiated the day after he had taken the Big Ten crown.

FROM TIME TO TIME our Fraternity and the fraternity system are under fire on one question or another. I know of only one way to meet criticism, and that is to face it. If it is unjust, then we should grant it courteous consideration. If, on the other hand, the criticism is just, then we should be grateful and make an immediate attempt to correct the situation.

We are the object of some criticism now from certain institutions. The real reasons for the fault-finding may be far different from those being used. The real reason may well be that we are just not meeting our obligations sufficiently well.

THE FRATERNITY'S PURPOSE

Sometimes we need to be reminded of our obligations. If a fraternity or a chapter over a period of time becomes no more than a place to room and board, it is not worth the time and effort which have gone into it. To justify its continued existence, a fraternity must be useful.

How may a fraternity be useful? The stated objective of Delta Tau Delta is to build better men—men strengthened by their fraternity-family ties, men learning and growing together in an atmosphere of congeniality and common purpose, men motivated by the high ideals of older members and better equipping themselves to meet staggering problems of citizenship. Any fraternity which contributes constructively to this end earns the high regard of realistic educators.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

Present-day attacks upon our Fraternity have concentrated largely on our constitutional qualifications for membership. Our qualifications are closely similar to those of almost all other large national fraternities. Our requirements for membership are a part of our Constitution and may be changed only by a vote of Karnea delegates and ratification by undergraduate chapters.

Some of our members would like these qualifications removed for their chapters. Delta Tau Delta is a national fraternity; its laws must be decided by the required majority, and the minority must abide by such decision if it wishes to retain the benefits of our national organization.

Since this issue has been raised, however, I hope it will be fully considered from both sides. Such consideration should be accomplished slowly and thoughtfully with a full understanding of the changes that would be brought about in our social, fraternal relationships of the past. Should our Karnea delegates and chapters in sufficient number wish the law changed, they may effect the change as provided within the framework of our Constitution.

The right to make such change, however, belongs to our Fraternity. The decision should not be made for us by others, many of whom would tear down our family in some other way if not in this.

At our 1946 and 1948 Karneas, the subject was fully considered by committees and was presented on the floor. There is no doubt that a very large majority was opposed to any such change.

If the question still exists at our 1950 Karnea, I will see that it has fair consideration. No Delt need conceal his favor to the proposed change. I do urge, however, calm consideration with an understanding of our Fraternity's purpose, and if this course is followed, I have no fear of any Karnea's decision.

STRONG CHAPTERS THE ANSWER

One of the best possible answers to those critics who question the value of the American college fraternity is strong undergraduate chapters, chapters which have harnessed their potentialities and have directed them toward the fulfillment of the Fraternity's primary purpose.

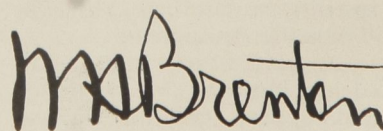

What are the characteristics of a strong chapter? We regard the following as fundamental:

1. Active and constant alumni support;
2. Officers of the house corporation who will give sufficient time and advice in providing housing for the chapter on a sound basis;
3. A chapter adviser who understands chapter operations, who will give time as required, and who knows how to work effectively with young men;
4. Chapter officers who are well-trained leaders with sufficient energy and interest to organize the chapter into an effectively operating unit;
5. A carefully selected personnel consisting of men of purpose and promise;
6. Scholarship that exceeds the All Men's campus average;
7. Members who are assuming their duties of citizenship in college activities;
8. Chapter finances kept on a sound basis.

MAJOR OBJECTIVE

We must do better, and we can do better. We will do better with the aid of Delts, young and old, active and alumni, and when we are through, I predict that it will be said, "That fraternity, Delta Tau Delta, is filling its place so well that it is needed on this campus."

Delta Tau Delta will then be performing its major objective—that of building better men.

Time magazine announced last fall that the U. S. Air Force had given a new $6,000,000 contract for thirty additional G.C.A. (ground-controlled approach) installations to Gilfillan Brothers, Inc., an energetic Los Angeles electronics and plane parts manufacturer, whose president is SENNET W. GILFILLAN, Stanford, '12.

Already operating ninety-two G. C. A. units from Tempelhof Air-drome in Berlin to LaGuardia Field in New York, the Air Force has been impressed by the 300,000 successful instrument landings with the Gilfillan-made equipment.

Getting started early in the manufacturing business, Mr. Gilfillan was making parts for Jenny trainer-planes during World War I, and by 1923 he was one of the nation's first five radio manufacturers. By 1938 he had branched out into electronics and television. In 1942 Gilfillan engineers, working with M.I.T., developed the first G.C.A. for the Air Forces. Turning out more than one hundred units in record time, the Gilfillan plant charged the government only a 1.1 per cent profit, which Time cited as "virtually a West Coast record in self-denial."

Mr. Gilfillan has scrapped $3,000,000 in television work to concentrate on G.C.A. As quoted in Time, he says, "If you stay small, you can do a better job. We concentrate on G.C.A. because we like it. We get a kick out of it."

WILLIAM H. MARTINDILL, Ohio, '32, elected Treasurer of the Fraternity at the Fifty-ninth Karnea last August, has recently accepted a position as vice-president and assistant to the president of the G. S. Suppiger Company of St. Louis, Missouri. He was formerly an executive of Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., with offices in Indianapolis.

Products of the Suppiger Company, consisting mostly of catsup and other tomato derivatives, are distributed under the Brooks label. Another division of the company is the Scientific Tablet Company, which manufactures salt tablets and dispensing machines for the canning industry.

Mr. Martindill has been actively connected with Fraternity work for many years, having served as president of the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter and vice-president and President of the Northern Division.

DR. HERBERT L. SPENCER, Carnegie Tech, '21, Supervisor of Scholarship for Delta Tau Delta, has resigned his position as president of Bucknell College, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, to accept a position as executive director of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation in New York City.

The Foundation was created in 1929 by Samuel H. Kress, prominent merchant, to "promote the moral, physical, and mental welfare and progress of the human race." The projects of the Foundation, as outlined by Mr. Rush Kress, vice-president of the organization, relate to postgraduate medical education, art education as it affects the cultural and spiritual development of the American people, and college and university education with emphasis on privately endowed colleges. The Foundation has always maintained an active interest in Bucknell University. The organization in January gave $8,000,000 to the projected New York University-Bellvue Medical Center.

Dr. Spencer served previously as president of Pennsylvania College for Women until 1945, when he assumed his role as president of Bucknell. He achieved national prominence during and after World War II in his work as a labor arbitrator, serving under the War Labor Board.

Dr. Spencer has been active in Fraternity affairs, having spoken at the last Eastern Division Conference at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, at the installation of Iota Chapter at Michigan State College, and at the installation of Delta Rho Chapter at Whitman College.

ROBERT S. PERRY, Purdue, '47, is credited with inventing and developing a new type of safety emergency light for use by passenger automobiles. The light can be plugged into the cigarette lighter socket of a car and includes a long cord, making it possible to use the light at any point around the car. Another unique feature of the light is a permanent magnet included in its base so that it can be attached to any metal part of the car, leaving both arms and hands free for work on the car. The trade name of the light is Look Out Flare.

GEORGE A. PADDOCK, Virginia, '06, former Congressman, has recently been credited with coining the phrase "public enemy." Mr. Paddock was at one time a member of the Chicago Crime Commission and also a great lover of the Arthur Train stories, "Mr. Tutt." It was one of Mr. Tutt's experiences that gave Mr. Paddock the idea that many of Chicago's worst gangsters were guilty not only of murder, but of many less serious crimes for which they could easily be convicted and thus impeded in their operations.

minor offenses for which some of the czars of the underworld could be prosecuted. The statement ended with the words, "These people are public enemies and should be treated as such." It was the first use of the phrase that has since become universally accepted. Even Mr. Train later used the expression in his stories, little knowing that his own short stories had been the indirect cause of the coining of the phrase.

Initial selections for the College Basketball Hall of Fame, announced in Los Angeles on March 16, include two Delts in the thirty-two elected for places in the honor group sponsored by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Mr. Page, who played at the University of Chicago, coached football and basketball at Butler University, football at Indiana University, and football at the College of Idaho.

Mr. Lambert played basketball at Wabash College and coached Lebanon and Crawfordsville (Indiana) High Schools prior to his long tenure at Purdue. In his thirty years with the Boilermakers, his fast-breaking teams won or shared the Western Conference championship eleven times, giving the Hoosier school a strangle-hold on the all-time Conference leadership.

During his lifetime he has seen, played, or coached through all of the rules changes in the game and became recognized as an authority on the sport, writing innumerable articles for magazines and a text book on basketball.

A nation-wide poll by Esquire magazine rated Piggy Lambert as the country's outstanding basketball coach of all time.

He served a year as commissioner of the National Basketball League after retiring at Purdue, but the prospect was not exactly to his liking; so he resigned and has been taking things easy for the last year. But he is temporarily out of retirement again, having been selected to coach the Indiana High School All-Stars in the eighth annual interstate basketball battle with Kentucky high school players in Indianapolis on June 17.

Representative EDWIN A. SNOW, Idaho, '38, of the Idaho legislature recently attracted nation-wide publicity with his matrimonial proposal on the floor of the Idaho House. Representative Snow rose to a point of order during the session and commented that one of his fellow legislators had recently ended his courtship with a happy marriage.

He then asked Miss Edith Miller, solon from Ada, Idaho, if she would yield to a question. Miss Miller replied that she would but added, "I don't know whether I'll answer."

Representative Snow then asked, "Will the lady from Ada be willing to marry me?" Miss Miller grew redder and sat down, the question unanswered.

The speaker of the House ruled that the question was "leading" and that she didn't have to answer—at that time. Later during the session, Miss Miller arose and answered, "After due consideration, I accept the proposal of the gentleman from Adams."

Delts Serve Together

Three Delts, graduates from widely scattered Delta Tau Delta chapters, and without prior knowledge of the other's fraternal affiliations, wound up in the same National Guard organization of the Louisiana National Guard in 1946. They were Colonel George W. Trousdale, Pennsylvania, '25; Lieutenant Colonel James B. Hipple, Wisconsin, '25; and Lieutenant Colonel Henry Breazeale, W. & L., '24, Tulane, '25. Trousdale and Breazeale are natives of Louisiana; Hipple is a native of South Dakota.

The regiment was reorganized following the second World War, and the three officers, all former national guardsmen, became members. It was not until they met for the annual encampment in 1948 that they learned that they were all members of Delta Tau Delta.

Colonel Trousdale was a member of the Naval Academy class of 1918. He left the Academy in 1921, entered the University of Pennsylvania, and was initiated into Omega Chapter. Following his graduation, he entered the insurance business in Monroe, Louisiana, his home. He became a member of the "old" National Guard in 1922.

During World War II, he served with the 204th Anti-Aircraft of the Louisiana National Guard as a battalion commander. He later served as the commanding officer of the 1453rd A. A. Battalion in the European Theater of Operations.

Upon reorganization of the national guard in Louisiana, he assumed command of the third battalion of the 199th Infantry regiment, and in 1948, became the commanding officer as a full colonel.

Colonel James B. Hipple entered the national guard in Pierre, South Dakota, before his entrance into the University of Wisconsin. Following four years from 1921 to 1925 at the Delta Shelter in Madison, Wisconsin, he returned to his home in Pierre to assume the active editorship of a family newspaper.

He was inducted into federal service in 1940, serving as a battery commander and operations officer with the 147th Field Artillery. He was on his way to the Philippine Islands when war broke out, and the convoy in which he was traveling turned south to Australia. During his service in New Guinea and Australia, he served as plans and training officer for the regiment and operations officer and executive officer for a battalion.

Colonel Hipple joined the 199th Infantry in 1946. He has served as the executive officer of the outfit since its inception. He is now living in Shreveport, Louisiana, where he is connected with the Veterans Administration, doing public relations work.

Colonel Henry Breazeale was also a former National Guardsman as a member of Louisiana's prewar 204th A. A. He went into federal service when the organization was federalized in January of 1941. He also served with the 204th until he was cadred out to the 30th A. A. Group. He ultimately wound up as Group Supply Officer with his base at Antwerp, Belgium.

Colonel Breazeale returned to the states as a major. He rejoined the National Guard as the executive officer of the second battalion of the 199th. He later became the commander of the battalion, a position which he now holds.

Colonel Breazeale was initiated into Phi Chapter at Washington and Lee. He later left W. & L. for the South, finishing a law course at Tulane University. Since his discharge from the army, he has served in various parish offices in Natchitoches, Louisiana, his home.

The meeting of the trio of Delts was accomplished at Camp Beauregard, Louisiana, only after they had served nearly a year as officers of the same regiment. A casual conversation among the three after drill hours turned the trick.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alpha—Allegheny

The Delt basketball team took second place in the Intramural Basketball League and thereby passed the Sigs in intramural points. Army Lewis, Paul Shannon, Ralph Ketcham, Bob Davis, Paul Storing, Hoot Gibson, Tom Hares, Dick Smith, and Phil Choquette supplied the scoring punch, which won five and lost only two.

In a contest marked by bitter rivalry, the Deltas downed the Phi Deltas 25-21. Bummy Davis' four set shots were the downfall of the league favorites, who finally ended third.

Despite the efforts of Paul Shannon, the speedy Delt team succumbed to the powerful defense of the Phi Gams in the league finale. The game decided the winner of the loop. Admission was charged and the money donated to the Student Service Fund.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Several social events took place which hold major significance. Since Alpha Chapter is the only fraternity on campus with a housemother, and a ruling was passed permitting open houses every Wednesday night and Sunday afternoon, the Deltas are the only house on campus that take advantage of that privilege.

On February 28, Messrs. Schneider, Vidal, and Anderson, all Delt fathers, attended their sons' initiation and the banquet which followed. The fifteen-man initiation was flavored by the appearance of George Porter, '98, who talked about the good old days at the Delt house.

There will be a Mother's Week End on May 14 and an Alumni Banquet on June 11 at the Shelter. Everyone is urged to attend.

PRESIDENT FOR A DAY

Jack Olofson, '52, a new Alpha initiate, capitalized on a Student Service Drive feature and experienced the thrill of a lifetime. By bidding twenty dollars at a rare auction, Jack became president of Allegheny College for one day. Besides learning that a college president has no easy job, Jack suggested several changes in the present administrative system. He is planning to go into that field after graduation.

DUCHESS STILL GROWING

The Delt dog, "Duchess," a pedigreed Great Dane, is seven months old at this writing. She measures twenty-seven inches from the ground to the shoulders and is not nearly full grown.

Beta—Ohio

Bob Johnson, Beta Chapter senior and varsity basketball forward, was selected for the Mid-American all-star second team in its year-end compilation of college basketball stars. The high scorer for Ohio University during the season, Bob was also the only member of OU's team to be appointed to the Mid-Am line-up. A member of Varsity O, active in chapter intramurals and committee work, Bob will be graduated in June.

P. B. K. LIST GROWS

Beta Chapter's Phi Beta Kappa list continues to grow with its record of "more Phi Beta Kappas than all other OU fraternities combined" held constant. This year's addition to the list is Clare Grosenbaugh, senior in premed. Clare has served in important roles both in campus extracurricular activities and in chapter committee groups. He was Guide of Beta Chapter for two years.

DOMINATE TRACK TEAM

Spring athletics brought forth the talents of sixteen Beta Chapter members. Dominating the track team, Brothers Ray Johnston, Clem Fennel, Dick Sullivan, Ed Mazzocco, and Gene Gyurko are offering opposing teams stiff fights in the distance runs, while Brothers Tony Smith and George Riser take single attention in the discus and shotput. Pledge Ed Maruna also participates in the mile and two-mile events, while Pledges Ted Smith and Duane Murphy are members of the freshman track team.

In varsity baseball, Beta Chapter is represented by Jim Shreffler, in right field, and Pitchers Don Anderson and Howie Frank.

The tennis squad will have Brother Ralph Dunbar and Pledge Dick Weckle in the roster, while the OU golf team is supported by Brother Jack Brainard.

GREEK WEEK

The Fourth Annual Greek Week at Ohio University proved to be the most successful to date. Beta Chapter's Ed Mazzocco, cross-country star, former Varsity O president, and Student Council treasurer, began the week with a twenty-six-mile run from Logan to Athens, Ohio, carrying the torch of the ancient Greek.

Following this exciting beginning, Greek Week activities included exchange dinners with other fraternities, an intramural field day, the "April Foolies"—a variety show featuring Brothers Sakmar, Bob Shaw, and Jon Gant and his "mostly-Delt" orchestra and pledge comic Bob Finley—and, finally, the annual IFC dance with Johnny Long and his orchestra. Church on Sunday provided a successful conclusion.

MAGAZINE EDITOR

The new campus magazine, the Ohioan, is rapidly becoming a Delt-dominated publication, with Al Himelick as its editor, Dave Keller, gossip editor, Jim DuPuy, public relations director, and Don Westover, Ed Mazzocco, and Bud DuBois staff members.

Gamma—W. & J.

Gamma Chapter of Delta Tau Delta is first scholastically among the fraternities on W. & J.'s campus and is well out in front for the Intramural Big Cup. These two accomplishments, among others, were possible only through the co-operation of all members of the chapter, who worked diligently and possessed the spirit necessary to achieve these goals.

FOUR ON HARDWOOD SQUAD

The Deltas were well represented on the varsity basketball team, supplying four men to the squad. Dave Knoche, a Delt representative on the quintet, was named to the All-Pennsylvania second team.

ACTIVITIES

Gamma Chapter is active in many campus organizations. Deltas dominate the business staff of the college newspaper, control the Student Union and the Newman Club, govern the Intercollegiate Conference on Government, and are active on the college debate team, glee club, and Student Christian Association.

Joseph "Deek" diSalvo, a columnist on the campus newspaper, was elected Speaker of the Assembly, equivalent to president, at the Ohio State Conference on Public Affairs, from among candidates of thirty-four schools represented at the Conference.

INITIATION CEREMONIES

Gamma's candidates participated in the Outer Mysteries and the Rite of Iris on the evening of March 4, the latter being performed by Gamma Delta men of West Virginia University. These two preliminaries were impressive to all eligible men. The future Deltas began to realize the real significance of the Fraternity. Everything that was said and done left its impressions of interest and understanding on all present.

On the afternoon of March 5, the actives, alumni, and prospective Deltas convened in the Elks Lodge Room where they participated in the initiation ceremonies of Delta Tau Delta. A banquet, in honor of the new initiates, was held in the Elks Auditorium a few hours after the ceremonies. Jack Snee, Gamma, '30, was the toastmaster for the affair. The honored guest speaker was A. J. Murphy, Jr., President of the Eastern Division. Both men offered interesting talks. Once again we realized the brotherhood that exists in fraternal relations. After all formalities ceased, the informal celebrations consumed the remainder of the evening. It was an enjoyable week end and an inspiring initiation.

Epsilon—Albion

The start of the new term found chapter athletes and athletics in top form. Dwight Somers took over the basketball coaching job left vacant by Mark Johnson who joined alumni ranks in February. Under Somer's direction, the team pushed its way out of the middle of the heap and ran its string of wins up to a four-way tie for first place. The play-offs were hot and heavy. Three wins took us to the finals but couldn't carry us through to the top spot.

Volleyball followed much the same pattern as basketball. Coach Lichtwardt pushed the team into the finals, but Lady Luck would not smile for us in the crisis.

FRESHMAN COURT STAR

Varsity competition brings Chuck Mohl into the limelight. Mohl, one of the few freshmen on the varsity basketball squad, distinguished himself in every game after the turn of the semester. Mohl and Kasler are even now working out in the gym preparing for a bigger and better varsity golf season.

SCHOLASTIC RUNNER-UP

Scholarship results for the past semester have just come out of the Dean's Office. Epsilon came through with an average of 1.79 on a three-point system. This was, however, six hundredths of a point shy of the top mark needed to retain the scholarship cup.

ALUMNI SPEAK AT COLLEGE

Several Epsilon alumni were on hand in March to speak to the College on the economic situation of the nation. Among them were Prentiss Brown, '11, former Senator from Michigan, who spoke on the future of investments in the country. Peirce Lewis, Sr., '13, was also on hand to talk on advertising in the business world. The speakers were brought to the campus through the efforts of the Economics Club. Delt members of the Club include Paul Deller, Keith Shaw, Dick Larson, and George Kay.

WINS COLLEGE DEBATE

Two of the brothers in the field of debate this year are Peirce Lewis, Jr., and Hugh Harness. Lewis has traveled extensively for the College in various debate and forensic tournaments. He won the College men's oration contest in February and went to the state finals in March, where he placed in the first six.

Brother Harness holds down a position on the debate team, but being a freshman, he is spending this year in training for assuming harder duties on the team in following years. Both Lewis and Harness will attend the Delta Sigma Rho student congress this spring in Chicago.

BLISTERS FORECAST

With the coming of spring, plans for house improvement are going ahead under the direction of George Valrance and Bob Thompson. The house and grounds committee plans to enlist muscle support from the chapter in putting in a new lawn. This plan has been a long time in coming into the action stage, but prospects look good for a bumper crop of grass, blisters, and sore backs.

Zeta—Western Reserve

The athletic picture has been extremely favorable for Zeta in both varsity and intramural sports. During the past basketball season the Deltas were represented by Fred Shew and Gene Krug on the varsity. Brother Shew won his second varsity award in basketball.

Western Reserve's most outstanding freshman team in years was manned by three of our men—Dick Everhard, Bill Shew, and Dean Todd. These three will figure prominently in next year's team.

In wrestling Holly Broadbent at 135 pounds and Ed Johnston, a heavyweight, performed well. Broadbent had one of the finest records on the team, losing only two matches all season. Competing for his third year, Brother Bob Paterson will carry Reserve's hopes in both hurdle events.

In intramurals the team has taken hold of second place in the quest for the All-Sports Trophy and is in striking position for first place.

PLAYS DANIEL WEBSTER

Musically speaking, two fine Delt voices are becoming known throughout Reserve's vast student body. Bill Jones had the lead in the opera, "Mother of Us All," portraying Daniel Webster. Gil Rathbun has the lead in the current IFC musical comedy for the second straight year. The cast of the show is well stocked with men from the Shelter.

ALUMNI VISIT SHELTER

Initiation saw us enlarge our number by fourteen. The ceremonies were witnessed by a large group of alumni, who made a tour of the house and were impressed with all the improvements made in the Shelter. The men of the active chapter were delighted with this turnout. If that was any indication of future relationships between the Cleveland Alumni Chapter and the active chapter, we can assume that the groups will work together harmoniously.

SPRING FORMAL

Our highly successful social season will come to a close with the annual Spring Formal this June, which will be held at the Lake Forrest Country Club. Ernie Scott, the new social chairman, who is in charge of all arrangements for the affair, has assured us that his last great endeavor for this year will be a party to surpass all parties.

Iota—Michigan State

Winter term—party season—was highlighted by the Second Anniversary Ball of Iota Chapter on February 28. Housemother Jessica Williams was presented with the Delta Tau Delta sweetheart pin and serenaded by the chapter. With a large alumni turnout and officers of fraternities and sororities from the campus, more than one hundred and twenty couples enjoyed the dinner-dance in the ballroom of the Olds Hotel.

COWSHED SHUFFLE

The turnout at the informal "Cowshed Shuffle" was so large that the floor almost caved in under the stomping feet. With a motif of hay, jugs, saddles, and outhouses, the Shelter was literally and truly a barn. Ed Pino, however, didn't carry out his threat to ride his horse through the front door.

Costumes of denims and bandanas and square dancing, with Art Crow calling, made colorful entertainment. The whole thing was the inspiration of the social committee, composed of Duane Bone, Al Rutter, and Dwight Johnson.

FACULTY TEA

More than two hundred members of the faculty crowded the Shelter to attend a faculty tea on March 6. Many of the boys had a good chance to polish the old apple. Alumni wives poured.

DELTS LEAD SPORTS PARADE

On the sporting scene, Dave Hoffman helped Spartan tankers to first place in the CCC swimming meet by copping the grueling 1500-meter event. Al Omans placed second in the breaststroke and swam in the first-place, record-breaking relay. The chapter's intramural natators, paced by Jack MacKercher and Paul Young, placed third in the IFC swim meet.

Dick Shuler, top house bowler, collected $50 first prize money in the Michigan State News Bowling Meet. Pat Carnahan, trampolinist, is in his second year with the MSC varsity gymnastics team.

Footballer Sonny Grandelius' second love is fisticuffs. He is a member of a highly rated Michigan State boxing team.

Gene Kolach, catcher, and Pitcher Duane Bone are with State's varsity baseball nine. When Spartan football coach Biggie Munn blows the whistle for spring drill, Grandelius and Johnny Poloncak, both excellent defensive halfbacks, will be in the line-up. Both are going to see plenty of action in next year's games, which schedule such teams as Michigan, Notre Dame, and Penn State.

Kappa—Hillsdale

Kappa's house corporation was moved to unusual activity over the Christmas holidays and has yet to slow down. On the list of improvements are new hardwood floors on the first and second levels, new wallpaper in the living room, and new paint in the halls all the way up to the poop deck. All rugs have been foamed clean. The front porch has come in for its share of repair, the brick work being redone in some spots and in others reinforced.

PLAN SWEEP OF SPRING SPORTS

On the intramural scene, Kappa should make a clean sweep of spring sports, after a mediocre fall and winter effort. Our only victory came in the cross-country meet, which saw varsity 440-man Lee Walker beat varsity distance-man Frank Renye to the tape in a grueling mile and a half race. Giauque, Hurst, and Lang followed their teammates in close order to clinch the title.

For the first time in many years, we have four capable pitchers to bear the brunt of the softball attack. With Bill Moore and Lefty Bob Whiting back on the mound, Kappa will be as strong as it has been in past years. The big difference will be a pledge by the name of Arnie McCoy, a lad who has already demonstrated his proficiency by fanning a good number of veteran hitters in practice.

The intramural track and field day title should belong to Kappa Chapter. Paced by former varsity 440-men Frank Kuehn and Bob Katz, Miler Bob Lang, and Two-miler Frank Renye, we should sweep these events. On top of this, Pledge Chuck Cutlan should be good enough to take the pole vault. He has high school leaps of 11' 6" behind him.

NO-HIT PITCHER BACK

Neophyte Joe Savarino is a cinch to gain a berth on the varsity golf team. For years one of the top local golfers, he is a veteran of many tough golf matches. Tom McCarthy, one of the few Hillsdale pitchers to throw no-hit games, is back for another season of baseball. The little right-hander worked nine innings against a rough Tri-State College team to accomplish the feat last spring.

LEADER EXTRAORDINARY

Kappa Chapter is proud to honor one of her most prominent and leading active members. Since Gil Edson was initiated into Delta Tau Delta in February of 1947 his record both fraternally, scholastically, and in college leadership has been one of excellence.

Primarily interested in sports when he first came to Hillsdale, Gil joined the Bearcat basketball squad and won his varsity letter. He has received a varsity letter from 1946 through 1949 consecutively and played on the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association Championship team this past season. During the 1946 season he was tied for high scorer in the MIAA league. He set a Hillsdale College scoring record, compiling 322 points in 21 games. Gil also has been a member of the All-Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association Basketball Team.

Fraternally Gil has done much to make the weight of Kappa Chapter felt on Hillsdale's campus. Gil has been an active participant in all intramural sports. He is a member of the rules committee. For some years Hillsdale's "Greeks" have been without an interfraternity council. Delts led a movement for the creation of such a body. Gil was elected as chairman of the original constitutional committee, and the hard work of both Kappa and Gil resulted in an interfraternity council, which went into effect in the fall of 1948. Gil was also one of the first Delt representatives to the IFC. He has represented Kappa as a delegate to Federation, which is the student governing board of the College.

Perhaps one of Gil's greatest achievements on campus is his 1949 editorship of The Winona, the college yearbook.

In the fall of 1948 Gil was one of eight Hillsdale students to be tapped as a member of Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities. He is also a charter member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Beta Rho Circle, men's national honorary society, and was a member of Hillsdale Leadership Society, which preceded ODK. He has been honored by this group to represent it at the national convention of ODK to be held in Atlanta, Georgia.

Kappa is proud of Gil Edson, as we believe he has embodied the fraternal spirit of Delta Tau Delta.

Nu—Lafayette

Nu Chapter had an initiation of new brothers on March 10. After initiation there was a dinner at which Professor Plank of Lafayette College gave a talk on his reminiscences of the chapter. On the Saturday following the initiation the house had one of the most successful parties of the year.

HOUSEMAN ILL

Jim Nolan, houseman of Nu Chapter for more than twenty-five years, was taken sick during the winter and had a serious operation. He is back at his old duties, however, after a quick recovery.

PITCHES FOR CHAMPS

Dick Dean, '51, is pitching ball for the championship baseball team of Lafayette College which captured the N. C. A. A. title last year.

Omicron—Iowa

The Annual Founders Day banquet was held at the chapter house on Saturday, March 18. Ned Raymond, chapter advisor for fifteen years, was honored for outstanding and long active association with the chapter. President Jordan Kern presented him with a gift on behalf of the chapter. David Dancer, Omicron, '18, secretary of the State Board of Education, was the main speaker.

In conjunction with the banquet, the installation of new officers was held. Those installed were president, Marshall Berg; vice-president, William Rader; treasurer, Kenneth Alsager; recording secretary, Louis Suiter; corresponding secretary, Wayne McClow; sergeant at arms, Allen Divine; and guide, Dana Kasner.

Rho—Stevens

For some reason, Delts on campuses playing lacrosse seem to like the sport. Being the only house on the campus capable of fielding a virtually complete squad, we enjoy the thrill of seeing, at times, half the varsity composed of Delts.

Outstanding among the players pictured are Don Cordell, Pluto Fredericks, and Frank Hildebrand. Don has been playing steadily on the lacrosse squad for two or three seasons and has earned the reputation of being the steadiest man on the squad. Pluto might be termed the shock trooper of the squad. Whether or not his hitch in the paratroopers had anything to do with his apparently unlimited store of energy is something no one has ever determined. To watch him on the field is an experience to be remembered—he is tireless.

Frank, a relative newcomer to the squad, has had a meteoric rise. Coach Simms considers him to be the best defense man Stevens has at present.

CELEBRATES DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY

On April 22, Rho Chapter celebrates the Diamond Anniversary of its founding on the Stevens campus. The fourth oldest chapter in the Fraternity is going all out with its celebration for the occasion. Enthusiastic response has already been reported by the Diamond Anniversary Committee consisting of Gordon G. Bowen, '30, chairman; Edwin Stevens, '05; Emerson Heyworth, '06; E. Schuyler Quackenbush, '11; William Rumney, '27; Robert Lange, '30; James Costigan, '33; and John Robinson, '43.

An impressive program has been planned for the occasion. Principal speaker will be Joel W. Reynolds, Secretary of Alumni of the Fraternity. The banquet is to be held at the Meyers Hotel, Hoboken, New Jersey, the traditional Hoboken hotel where virtually all important Stevens dinners are held.

Tau—Penn State

The Tau Shelter has been literally bustling with activity these last few months. Quinten Toews, one of the new initiates, has been busy "drumming up" business for the campus humor magazine, Froth. Quinten is now assistant treasurer of the chapter house and is becoming active in all chapter affairs as well as becoming a figure on campus. Bill Snyder, better known as "Abe," has retired to the baseball pitching staff after actively campaigning for vice-president of the sophomore class. Jerry Eberhart, chapter treasurer, did a fine job last semester managing the ski team. Jerry was a natural for the job, since he was in the Army ski troops during the war. Ralph Fritts and "Legs" Burns gave our rival schools some really stiff competition when it came to the swimming relays last semester. Kermit Staaf, who started to State in '42, has stepped out of the president's chair and is about to be graduated. Kermit is still active in campus politics and is at present a member of the executive committee for the Interfraternity Council. Paul Kortwick, retired corresponding secretary, made the glee club and is now on tour after only three weeks of practice.

JOIN HONORARIES

We have certainly had our share of students this last semester, with three of our men joining honoraries. Stan Skinner was recently tapped Alpha Sigma Pi, the commerce honorary, and Ralph Brenner joined Pi Alpha Sigma, the prelaw honorary, which is known as one of the most difficult honoraries to make on the campus.

A man everyone knows, on and off the campus, is Harry McMahon. Harry is now the All-College Vice-President, business manager, and secretary of the Thespians, which is one of the play-producing organizations on campus. He is also liaison man between the Thespians and the College Board of Control. Harry was also elected to wear the Blue Key, which is the sophomore honorary, and is serving the golf team this year as first manager. Along with being an all-around man, Harry has managed to maintain an excellent scholastic average.

TAPPED TAU BETA PI

Carl Schwenk came to us in the fall of '46 and has made quite a name for himself on campus. In his freshman year, Carl was asked to join the freshman honorary, Phi Eta Sigma. Since then he has joined Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary, and Phi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering honorary. Carl is being graduated this June with highest honors. Aside from this, Carl has been very active in intramural sports and a fine rushing man.

Ernie Baer and Len Ritchie have been doing an outstanding job on the lacrosse varsity for the past year. Ernie is a four-year man and will soon be playing for the last time in college. Both the boys are majoring in physical education and belong to the physical education honorary.

Dick Evans recently completed a three-day run in Dark of the Moon, produced by the Players Group. Dick was starred as the witch boy and is to be again starred in a coming production.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

The renovation of the Shelter's basement is nearing completion. With the aid of a few ideas from the architects, the brawn of a few brothers, and the unforgettable direction of Freddy Ersham, we are transforming a heretofore "Augean stable" into a veritable thing of beauty.

After a successful Junior Prom under the direction of our social cochairmen, Tom McClintock and Gordon Hennessey, we are looking forward to an enjoyable time at our coming Soiree. Feature attractions of the week end will be a French "Apache" party Friday at the house, the Delt star-studded R. P. I. lacrosse game with Cornell, followed by the Delt annual clambake and a party before the dance. Word has it that Vaughn Monroe will provide us with music on that night of nights.

NOMINATED TO WHO'S WHO

William Coleman, Charles MacMorrow, and Daymon Jordan have been nominated for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Besides being past vice-president of the house, Willie is now president of Phalanx, school honorary society, and lifetime president of his senior class. He also lettered on the R. P. I. Olympic lacrosse team and saw action in Wembly Stadium last August. Charlie, past president of the chapter, served as technical editor for the R. P. I. Engineer and is also a member of Phalanx. Daymon, twice All-America lacrosse player, is now Grand Marshall, highest elected position in school.

JOURNALISTS WIN HONORS

Pi Delta Epsilon has given bids to four brothers for their outstanding journalistic contributions on campus last term. Gordon Hennessey, editor-in-chief, and Charles MacMorrow, technical editor, were cited for their work on the R. P. I. Engineer, voted one of the best school technical publications. Tony Bivona, art editor, and Bob Frick, circulation manager, were named for their work on the 1949 Transit.

LEAD IN INTRAMURAL RACE

In the race for the Barker Trophy, awarded to the winner of campus intramurals, Upsilon leads, although it is by an almost negligible margin. After taking second place in the basketball tournament, the chapter holds to a narrow margin of victory with but four sports remaining on the schedule.

Phi—W. & L.

Phi Chapter came through with a fifth place in scholarship for the first semester, ranking behind PEP, SAE, ZBT, and Beta in that order. The average of 1.354 was considerably higher than the all-school average of 1.251. It was aided by two honor-roll men—Dave Bien and Dick Lipscomb—and ten Dean's List men.

SEEKING EIGHTH TITLE

We are finding the road to the intramural championship a bit rougher than it has been the last four years. At the moment the house is in second place, thirty points behind the leader. We are counting on softball and track to give us our eighth IM title in the last ten years of competition. Most recent contributor to the drive was Wilson Lear, who took the 165-pound wrestling championship with no strain.

SEVEN ON LACROSSE TEAM

Seven Deltas are on the W. & L. lacrosse team, including five returning veterans. Junior Tommy Tongue, named to the All-America third team for the past two years, leads the group at attack. Returnees include Tal Bond, Dick Jones, and Dave Bien. Newcomers to the squad are Jim Gray, who will start at attack, Bill Corbin, and Wilson Lear.

Two lettermen will be on the six-man varsity tennis squad this spring—Cocaptain Jim Farrar and Bob Swinarton—who held down the second and fifth positions last year. In golf, Gordon Sibley and John McKelway, one and four last year, will be returning.

Three Deltas were among the ten men to be awarded letters in swimming, just concluded—Lee Redmond, Bill Rose, and Willie Lear.

Roger Mudd is holding down sixth position on the W. & L. crew in his first year on the team. Bob Huntley is number six on the junior varsity. Crew Coach Wink Glasgow has been receiving some favorable publicity in Virginia papers on his new indoor rowing machine, on which he has applied for a patent.

NAMED NEWS EDITOR

Sophomore Bob Pittman has just been named to the important position of news editor of the school paper. Managing Editor Jock Morrison recently turned out this year's highly successful April Fool's edition.

John McKelway, humorist and co-author of the W. & L. varsity show, soon to be produced, is brushing up on his part as emcee and helping with the direction. Roger Mudd and Russ Applegate will have important parts in the show.

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

Charlie Rowe is concluding a successful year as student body president, somehow or other finding time to make Dean's List grades in Law School. Ben Brown, last year's yearbook editor, is also finishing his term as a member of the W. & L. Executive Committee.

Ed Bassett and Jimmy White were named as delegates to the Southern Division Conference in New Orleans.

Omega—Pennsylvania

Omega's new pledge class, an unusually active group of freshmen, was initiated at an impressive ceremony at the Shelter on March 19. David Reeder, former vice-president of the Eastern Division, Dr. Theodore Bach, Ben Davis, Chuck Hoerger, and Kenny Crothers attended the ceremonies, while Horace Barba participated in the initiation.

In the evening a turkey dinner was served at the initiation banquet which honored the new initiates. Speakers of the evening were David Reeder, Pledgemaster Bill Sweeney, and Dr. Theodore Bach, professor of the University of Pennsylvania graduate medical school.

FOUNDERS DAY

On March 26 the annual Founders Day banquet at the University Club was attended by a delegation from Omega. Main speaker of the occasion was Bud Murphy, President of the Eastern Division.

SEEK BERTHS ON SPRING TEAMS

Spring is always a season of great interest in athletics, and many brothers are out to make their berths on the squads which are now in training. Omega's crew aspirants include Les Deming, Bud Fretz, Dick Greer, Art Houlihan, Charlie Mellen, Tom Wadlow, and Fred Willoughby. Candidate for coxswain is Bob Kersting. Trying for positions on the freshman crew are Steve Littauer, Irv Miller, and Bill Rader. Heelers for crew managers are Charlie Stearns and Dick Wood.

Ken Diehl and Bill Rommell are training for track, while Bill Bergmann, Howard Casey, and Bill Sweeney are out for lacrosse. George Wallhauser is heeling for managership of Penn's baseball team.

DELTS HOLD CAMPUS OFFICE

Several of the brothers have recently been elected to offices of campus organizations. Gene Kersting is serving on the board of student directors of Huston Hall, Penn's student union. Ange Demos holds the office of secretary-treasurer of the Mask & Wig Club, undergraduate theatrical group.

Rounding out the numerous activities in which the brothers are actively engaged, the freshman Mask & Wig show practice roster includes Jim Crothers, Scott Fuess, Charlie Russell, and Jack Smilgin, with Hank Wallhauser heeling for a managerial position.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

Beta Alpha's barbershop quartet, composed of Gene Busche, Don Springgate, Gene English, and Bob Spedding, has been adding prestige and honor to the Shelter for several months by singing at various campus and civic functions in the city. The group reached the semifinals of the Campus Talent Amateur Show and won the right to participate in a television program in Indianapolis. Decked out in red and yellow blazers, striped pants, and straw toppers, these four Delts harmonize on such favorites as "Shine," "Margie," and "Goodbye My Coney Island Baby" with an almost professional air.

FIGHTING FOR FIRST

At this writing Delta Tau Delta is in second place in the all-intramural standings, only a few points behind the leader. There are ninety teams in the field and five sports left on the program. The Delts were recently runner-up in the all-University volleyball championships.

PLAY FOR VARSITY

In the field of varsity sports, Beta Alpha is adequately represented. Del Russell, former varsity halfback, is holding down the shortstop position on the baseball team. Al Linneman, Danny Thomas, and Al Nowak are hard at work in spring football practice, while Ty Robbins, varsity basketball, is skimming the hurdles for the track team. Jack Leer, who occasionally shoots below seventy, is touring the fairways with the golfers. And last, but not least, is Bob Bugh, the chapter's new president, who has won a position on the tennis team. Bob, who hails from Elkhart, started his college career at DePauw. He is a member of Falcon Club, honorary society for juniors.

THREE MAKE PHI ETA SIGMA

The pledges are eagerly awaiting initiation. Seventeen of twenty freshmen made their grades, and three men were elected to Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa. The house average was above the All Men's Average and high enough to put the Delts among the top ten on campus.

FORMAL FIRES SHELTER

On February 12 Beta Alpha presented the annual Fire Formal. The house was appropriately decorated throughout with red tinfoil cut to the shape of flames and witty cartoons on the walls taken from the "Smokey Stover" comic strip. In front of the house was a fire engine. Each coed attending the dance was presented with an orchid and a furry, stuffed dog.

EARN CAMPUS RECOGNITION

Beta Alpha is justly proud of the following men:

Robert Lentz, former editor of the Beta Alpha News and sports editor of the Indiana Daily Student, who has been elected to Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Richard Barger, who has been appointed to Union Board, one of the highest governing bodies on campus.

Joseph Vurpillat, who played a leading role in the annual Jordan River Revue, a musical production.

Harry Wallace, who is a member of both Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma.

SHARE IN GREEK WEEK

The Beta Alpha Shelter was the scene of one of the combo dances and also one of the smokers which were given as a part of Greek Week festivities. Greek Week was celebrated for the first time on the Indiana campus this year. It is designed to promote better relations between the organized and independent students on the campus.

Bob Haas, former Beta Alpha president, was chosen as one of five representatives from I.U. to attend the national Greek Week Conference in Minneapolis in April.

Beta Beta—DePauw

Norval Stephens, newly elected house president, holds the key position of caucus chairman for the University party which has held control of the campus for the last three semesters. With Norval at the helm, the party is expecting to be victorious again in coming elections.

WIN THREE OF SEVEN

The Delt intramural squads, led by Monk Hoffman, have won three out of seven sports and are in second place in the race for the intramural cup. Our volleyball squad got off to a flying start by winning its first two encounters, and our baseball team is rounding into shape.

VARSITY SWIMMER

Along varsity lines, Lee Cooper came off one of the big guns of the swimming team this year and was awarded a major letter. Lee was recently elected vice-president of our house and is also the sophomore class president.

Continuing on varsity, Bob Gebauer is doing his stuff on the baseball diamond, while across the field five Deltas are working their way through spring football. They are: Dave Herring, Boots Ingram, Jack Tuhey, Dick Chamberlin, and Gerry Roberts, who were all mainstays in the freshman ranks last fall.

COMMITTEES GO TO WORK

After elections, Norval Stephens gave the house a general overhauling. The committee system has been completely integrated into our meetings and is working well. The committee chairman is responsible for his committee's meeting at least once a week, and a written report must be handed in at chapter meetings. At call from the chair, the chairman makes a short summary of the week's work, and then the floor is open for comments and suggestions.

Our meeting has come much more to the point with twice as much work being done in half as much time. The biggest load of responsibility goes to the finance committee which handles all business that involves anything green. John Feters (honest John) heads this committee as treasurer. He has done a remarkable job and is to be congratulated for his work.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

Under the able guidance of Dave Davies, new chapter president, Beta Gamma Chapter has plunged into the spring semester of fraternity competition with a well-rounded program of success. The bowling team wound up the season with division first place, and the tennis, golf, and baseball teams will all be tough to beat this year.

CHOIR PREPS FOR SING

The Delt choir, now combined with that of Kappa Delta, is putting the finishing touches on the Fred Waring arrangements of "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Hit the Road to Dreamland." These two songs will comprise the bulk of our challenge to the annual "Spring Sing" competitors. After the Spring Sing, Beta Gamma intends to round its own group into a bunch of three-part-harmony specialists and rejuvenate serenading on campus.

Beta Epsilon—Emory

The high light of the past quarter was our annual spring formal held this year at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel. The speaker at the banquet preceding the dance was Ed Dodd, author of the well-known comic strip Mark Trail. At this time, also, President Bill Ridley presented our sponsor, Miss Carole Hale, with her sweetheart pin.

FIVE ATTEND INSTALLATION

On March 4, five of the brothers from Beta Epsilon journeyed down to the Sunshine State for the installation of the new Delta Phi Chapter at Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida. Those who made the trip were: Tom Horman, John Pattillo, Gordon Milling, Ray Sweigert, and Gene Patrick. The brothers had a grand time during their stay and were much impressed by the spirit and promise exhibited by Delta Phi.

SHELTER GETS IMPROVEMENTS

During the past few months the interior of the Shelter has been improved by the laying of rubber tile in the entrance hall and a new rug in the main hall. In addition, the entire downstairs hall and the stair well have been repainted. New cornices in the living room were given through the generosity of Mr. J. F. Pattillo, father of one of the brothers.

Beta Zeta—Butler

The new semester started off with the annual State Day banquet and dance. Beta Zeta came through with the all-state scholarship award and an attendance award.

Next on our calendar was a roast pig dinner. The pig for the occasion was donated by Brother Everett M. Schofield, 'og. Vice-President Francis Hughes, Gordon Jones, and several of our alumni attended the banquet. Afterward, the Rite of Iris ceremony was given to our thirteen pledges. Naturally, after the Rite came initiation, and thirteen men joined the brotherhood of Delta Tau Delta. The initiation ceremonies and banquet were held at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

SHELTER IS REDONE

During all of this activity the Shelter was being completely redecorated. Wallpaper came off and was replaced with paint. The recreation room was completely redone and made into a dining room. A partition was knocked out in the basement, giving us a recreation room. To top it all off, new drapes and new furniture were purchased for the living room.

WIN CAMPUS POSTS

On the Butler campus, George Crossland was elected vice-president of the International Relations Club. Bruce Christie was initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma. Harold Gunderson was elected president of Dionysians; two other offices in the Dionysians are held by Deltas. Ruel Parchman was elected to appear in Who's Who in the Greek World. Bill Robinson was elected to be business manager of The Drift.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

Two events started Beta Eta's ball rolling toward an eventful spring. The Founders Day banquet was held on March 31. Undergraduates and alumni packed the Nicolle Hotel junior ballroom and ate their fill of ham and strawberry parfaits. Besides marking the ninetieth anniversary of the national organization, the banquet was Beta Eta's sixty-sixth birthday party.

Martin B. Dickinson, Secretary of Delta Tau Delta, was the main speaker. He gave an informal speech about the duties of the Arch Chapter and the problems that face Beta Eta. Otto Silha, Northern Division vice-president, was master of ceremonies. After digging himself out of a pile of telegrams from well-wishing Deltas, Otto welcomed the alumni of Beta Eta who had braved the latest Minnesota blizzard in order to attend the banquet.

Charles Lewis, chapter president, reported on the year's activities. Alumnus Fred Souba seconded Chuck's remarks on chapter progress and then told of the work of the alumni chapter in Minneapolis. The banquet ended with three songs by the Beta Eta chorus, University interfraternity singing champions.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

"Redecoration" is the theme of Beta Theta. The house is being completely renovated in preparation for next season's rushing and will include everything new from lights to rugs.

PRESIDENT BRENTON VISITS

We were honored on March 17 by a surprise visit of our national President, W. Harold Brenton, and his charming wife. We had a small reception for them at the Shelter. Their visit was indeed enjoyed by everyone, as it is a great rarity for any fraternity's officers to visit up on the "Mountain."

PLEDGE CLASS RANKS FIRST

In September, if we can secure as fine a new pledge class as we did last fall, our wishes will be granted. The present class is really outstanding, having placed first in scholarship among all fraternities and being active in extracurricular activities.

Scholastically, the active chapter has jumped from last place to fourth place this year and hopes to continue an upward swing. Ronald Howell was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Several other brothers are in line for that honor in the coming election.

NAMED TO ALL STARS

Ralph Roscher was named to the all-star football team, and Hugh Brown received honorable mention. Paul Uhrig was named to the first team of the basketball all stars and Ralph was named, for being high scorer in the league, to the second team.

On the varsity track squad we have three men: Fritz Erschell, Tom Pooley, and George Wharton. Fritz is one of the outstanding dash men on the team.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

The Deltas, for the third year in a row, won the all-fraternity basketball championship and then, for the second successive time, won the all-school crown by beating the championship independent team.

Jack Froistad, varsity basketball player, and Don Jessen, varsity wrestler, have both brought recognition to the Fraternity this winter. Both are sophomores. Spring prospects look even better, with sizable Delt representation in every varsity sport.

CORONATION BALL

The theme for our winter formal was "A Coronation Ball." Miss Diane Dozier, from Wichita, Kansas, was chosen to reign as Delta Queen. Her two lovely attendants were Miss Diane Starrett and Miss Nancy McMartin. These girls were nominated and voted upon by the whole chapter. Only one person knew who the queen was to be until Bob Falkenberg, president, who presided at the coronation ceremonies, presented Miss Dozier with a large engraved loving cup and a huge bouquet of red roses. Her two attendants were also given red roses.

FOUNDERS DAY BANQUET

The Founders Day banquet was held this year at a lodge in the mountains a short way from Boulder. The Denver Alumni Chapter was well represented at the occasion.

This fall's initiation class of twenty-seven men was our second largest group ever to go through the ceremonies. Kim Barnes, '36, presided over the initiation banquet, and Leonard Tripp, '41, was the main speaker. His theme was "Leaving One's Mark on the Fraternity." Herman Anderson, president of the graduating pledge class, presented the chapter with a beautiful silver punch bowl on behalf of the new initiates.

BOXERS WIN TITLES

Two of our intramural boxers won their divisions in the all-school boxing tournament. They are Bob Enoch, 128 pounds, and Bill Fowler, heavyweight.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

With the dawning of spring there will be no cleaning out of cobwebs at Beta Lambda—well, not many, anyway. We hear that everyone is interested in scholarship. Since the best proof of scholarship is an honorary, we took ourselves around the chapter to see who had made the grade recently.

The first person we ran into was President Alex Smith, who as an engineer landed two fish in the same season by making Tau Beta Pi and Pi Tau Sigma. Bill Eagleson, who was elected president of Alpha Kappa Psi last month, also garnered top honors by announcing his selection to Phi Beta Kappa. Alpha Kappa Psi at Lehigh, by the way, takes the place of an honorary fraternity for businessmen.

On down the hall we remembered that Earle Compton had made Omicron Delta Kappa with more points than any of the other applicants. Brother Tim Dennis, a journalism major and assistant editorial director of the Brown and White, was initiated into Pi Delta Epsilon. Speaking of journalism, last fall Beta Lambda claimed the editors of both campus publications. Stan Lawler captained the Brown and White newspaper, while Earle Compton headed the Epitome, yearbook.

So much for the honoraries. The overall chapter scholarship has been on the upgrade for the last four semesters, a steady climb which should find Beta Lambda on top again in no time.

WRESTLING CAPTAIN

The brothers are also proud of Dick Kelsey, who was elected captain of Lehigh's wrestling team following the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament in March. Dick, who won the championship in the 136-pound class last year, successfully defended his title on the mat at Cornell, while the Lehigh squad, which took first place last year, placed second to Syracuse by the narrow margin of one point in this year's contest.

Along the line of intercollegiate sports, we also find Harry Stowers, sensation of the freshman basketball team, now turning his steps toward the baseball diamond; Corkey Smith, who has been playing a fine brand of tennis, is now trying for a berth on the Lehigh squad; and Craig Kuentz and Bill Binzen are currently hefting shot and javelin for the track season.

A WORD TO ALUMNI

A short word to our alumni: The Beta Lambda should be in the mail by the middle of May, and if we get any word on reunions, that's where the news will break. A number of you have been dropping in for week ends, but we'd like to see even more. If you can't make a personal visit, write a note, let us know how you are doing, and we will pass the word along via the Beta Lambda.

Beta Mu—Tufts

On Sunday, March 20, Beta Mu held its annual initiation. After the ceremony many Beta Mu alumni and fathers of the new brothers attended a banquet given in honor of the initiates.

The guest speaker of the evening was Duncan Newell, Dartmouth, '36, president of the Gamma Gamma House Corporation and secretary-treasurer of the Boston Alumni Chapter.

SPORTS

The start of lacrosse practice found nine Deltas reporting. Brothers Heyward, who is cocaptain, Earhardt, and Patriquin received letters last year and have their first-string positions practically clinched. Barring injury, which forced him to drop out last year, Bob Herold also hopes to hold down a first-string post.

The Delt basketball team came through the second round of games with only one defeat, sparked by the offensive playing of Rich Johnson. Rich was high scorer of the league, with an average of sixteen points a game. A shaky start resulted in second instead of first-place honors for the team.

UP ON THE HILL

Up on the Hill Delts are taking an active part in the various organizations of the school.

Dave Patriquin was recently elected president of the Wardroom Club, a newly formed organization of the NROTC. Don Cochran and Min Aliopolous are also officers of the Club.

Bob McCleary is president of A.S.M.E. and Jim Sherman has just been elected president of a newcomer to the Hill—the N. S. R.

The traditional Delt teas for Jackson are being held again this year, as in the past. Thus far Chi Omega, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Sigma Kappa have been entertained, with the prospect of Alpha Xi Delta in the near future. The teas are quite successful, judging by the number of Delts who afterwards blossom out socially.

ALL-DELT WEEK END

Socially, the All-New England Delt Week End was the high light of the season. Continuing the custom started last year, Delt chapters at M. I. T., Brown, and Tufts were hosts to the Maine, Wesleyan, and Dartmouth chapters.

The week end began with a formal dance Friday evening, February 18, at the Hampshire House in Boston. The climax of the evening was the crowning of Jean Bedell as the New England Delta Sweetheart.

The following afternoon Beta Mu held open house for the visiting Delts and served a buffet supper that night. The festivities ended with a house party at Beta Nu Saturday night.

Beta Nu—M. I. T.

Oscar Eubank, a junior, was recently elected to Tau Beta Pi, the third Delt this year to have achieved what we consider a very honorable distinction. He was recently elected vice-president of the chapter and is also on the varsity spring crew.

Six members of the house are out for spring lacrosse. Among them are Art Swanson, Charlie Springer, Pete Ehrenberg, Freeman Dyke, Bob Oliver—all freshmen—and Hank Sharp, a veteran defenseman on last year's team. Lacrosse proves to be a terrific game if you can just get mad enough to swing that stick. Jerry Austen, who was recently honored as last year's outstanding athlete, will be out for varsity tennis along with Hans Eckhardt, our former House President.

Beta Xi—Tulane

March 6 proved to be an eventful day for four new wearers of the Delt badge. Formal initiation took place in the chapter room, immediately followed by an informal banquet at a nearby restaurant.

DELTS IN EDITORIAL POSTS

Three Delts were recently appointed to the editorial staff of the All-American Hullabaloo, the official news organ of Tulane University. Leo Coco, serving once again as copy editor, and Charles Ramond, as feature editor, are two of the successful Delt candidates. Tom Beal, appointed official cartoonist of the paper, makes the third.

HOST TO OTHER FRATERNITIES

The Delts were the first to attempt the furthering of more friendly relations between the existing fraternities on the Tulane campus. As a conclusion to the gala Mardi Gras celebration, Beta Xi had as its guests the other fraternities of the campus the night before Ash Wednesday.

Beta Xi has also attempted to cement relations with sororities of Newcomb College. Earlier in the year the Delts had as their guests the Kappa Alpha Thetas who attended a "Listen to the Game Party" given in their honor at the Shelter. More recently, the Delts threw their doors (and maybe their hearts, too) open to the Phi Mus, who were honored guests at a bridge party. The parties were sponsored by the chapter's Mothers Club, who indeed should take the credit for the howling success of both.

The chapter played host to the delegates of other chapters of the Southern Division at their recent Conference in Old New Orleans.

Beta Omicron—Cornell

The close of the Cornell intramural basketball season found Beta Omicron riding high. The Delt squad came through unscathed in all ten scheduled games, plus two playoff games, to take the interfraternity championship over fifty-three other teams. One week later the Delts went on to subdue the winners of the independent league consisting of sixty-four teams, a feat which had not been accomplished by another fraternity team in some years.

At the intramural track meet Don Danly took a well-deserved first place in the high jump with a neat 5 feet 9 inch leap. Jim Casey took a fourth place in the shot put.

OLDEST MEMBER ATTENDS

On March 13 eight new men were initiated into Beta Omicron. Following initiation, a formal banquet was held, at which Stuart K. Fox, President of the Northern Division and father of Bill Fox, a new initiate, was the guest speaker. We were also honored by the presence of our oldest living initiate, Dr. Robert F. Ives, '92, who is number twenty-two on the chapter initiate list of six hundred. Daniel J. Rosetty officiated as toastmaster for the occasion.

Varsity Representatives

Beta Omicron is well represented in the field of spring athletics this year with the following men participating: baseball, Jeff Fleischmann; spring football, Dave Glunt, Jim Casey, Vince DiGrande, Mike Riordan, and Dick Brown; track, Captain John Servis, Dick Brown, and Don Danly; crew, Bill Vickroy; swimming, Bob Cornetti; golf, Pete Smith. Ned Trethaway is lacrosse manager, Farquar Smith is J. V. football manager, and Dave Buckley is competing for a managerial position in football.

NAMED TO YEARBOOK POSTS

Recent honors were bestowed upon Robin Westbrook and John Hollands by the 1949 Cornellian, Cornell's annual, Robin being elected art editor and John being elected to the business board. Farquar Smith was elected to Pi Alpha Xi, a national honorary floraculture society.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

The high points at the winter social doings included the annual pledge party, several informal house parties, the Winter Waltz, and a harem party. Each Delt had to have at least two wives-for-the-evening to be admitted at the portals of the Northwestern Country Club Harem. Featured at this costume party were "Eden Apples" and Ali Fitzgerald and his eighty thieves.

EYEING SOFTBALL TROPHY

The spring quarter brings another chance at the Intramural Softball Trophy. This year's team will be much improved by the addition of several players from last fall's pledge class and a pitching staff of three.

Jake Fendley and Dave Allen have finished their first year with the varsity basketball squad. Pee wee Day and Fats Day are making preparations for the baseball team's spring training trip through the South over spring vacation.

BANQUET AT PALMER HOUSE

The annual Founders Day Banquet was held at the Palmer House early in March. Graduate and undergraduate chapters of the area were well represented at this annual get-together.

SPRING ACTIVITIES

Spring activities have beckoned many Beta Pi Delts. In publications Delts hold the leading positions on the business staffs of three of the five major campus publications. Four other Delts are also members of the editorial staffs of the yearbook and newspaper. Bob Emery, pledge class president of last fall, has recently been elected to the presidency of the Interfraternity Pledge Council. Beta Pi Delts are also well represented in the campus Waa Mu Show to be given this May. A lead, an assistant production manager, two assistant stage managers, four men in the chorus, and several men on the stage crew represent Beta Pi.

Beta Rho—Stanford

Delegates from the twenty-odd chapters of Delta Tau Delta west of the Mississippi met at Beta Rho Chapter to hold the annual Western Division Conference this year, and everyone present agreed that it was successful. The week end began with a banquet at the Marine Officer's Club in San Francisco and was climaxed with a party Saturday evening at Stanford.

SKI IN HIGH SIERRAS

Highlighting the winter social season for Beta Rho was a week end of skiing in the high Sierras. Stanford Delts and their dates virtually took over the St. George Hotel in the little ghost town of Volcano, which is situated in Amador County. After skiing Saturday at the Peddler Hill Ski Lodge, the party returned to the hotel in Volcano where a fireside was held. Sunday, again the Delts and their dates took to the slopes to get one more day of skiing. Then, when the skiing was over, members of the party journeyed to Jackson Gate where they enjoyed a fine Italian meal. The group then returned to Stanford, tired and happy, but wanting to do it again. The chaperones for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Don Hines (Beta Rho) and Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Pinotti (Delta Delta).

Beta Tau—Nebraska

At Beta Tau, one of the most talked-about people at the Shelter is Jim Sharp, who will carry the colors of ΔΤΔ onto the baseball diamond. Jim, one of the regulars who shouldered the load last season in winning the Big Seven championship for Nebraska, is back in his outfielder's slot. Besides playing varsity baseball, he led the Delts in intramurals, sparking the football team to its league championship. In addition, he was a mainstay on the basketball team, which also captured the league pennant.

GOLF VETERAN

Don Stroh, golfing veteran, will return to pace the Husker linksmen who took second place in the Big Seven last year.

FIFTEEN INITIATES

Fifteen initiates were taken into the chapter April 13 at the Legion Club in Omaha. These men have come through pledge training with flying colors and will represent Delta Tau Delta in fine style in all campus activities and athletics.

PREPARE FOR SING

The glee club, under the direction of Tom McVay, is hard at work on the selection to be sung in the traditional Interfraternity Sing on Ivy Day. The songsters are in great demand around the campus, having quite a reputation for their vocalizing.

WINTER FORMAL

The Winter Formal, under the direction of Stan Portsche and Jerry Dosek, was the greatest social event of the season. An event the men of Beta Tau will long remember, it was especially significant for Phil Neff, whose date was chosen "Delta Queen."

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

Nine new members were initiated into Beta Upsilon the night of March 5. Bill Stahl and Don Lamm had their pins hung on them by their brothers—Bob, '50, and Ken, '49. Of these men, Jack Reilly has won himself a position in the famous marching band of the University of Illinois, a not too frequent honor given to freshmen. He also earned a starting position on the intramural basketball team, which finished second in its division. John MacMackin, a premed student, won his freshman numerals in basketball. John and another of his pledge brothers, Don Hallahan, were elected to Skull and Crescent, freshman scholastic honorary society.

SPRING CARNIVAL

This year the annual Spring Carnival is due to see something new and different. True, it is hard and next to impossible to get away from the traditional "cheese-cake," as photographers call it, in presenting a show with the fair sex as the main drawing card. We can't get away from it either; nor are we attempting to try.

A few months ago in Life magazine there was an article on a new type of display which was installed in San Francisco. The main attraction is a group of mirrors and lenses so arranged that a girl's image, about six inches long, is projected into a fish bowl.

John Hamilton looked at the article and thought it a must for our Spring Carnival event. Since then, Phil Shickler, Ken Unteed, and their many self-appointed assistants have been getting the idea perfected. A few snags that appeared at first have now all been ironed out, and the bulky apparatus is almost ready to be carried over to the carnival site. We have what we feel will be a sure-fire winner.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

"The House on Fifteenth Avenue" has been a favorite topic of Beta Phi men for the past few years. Whether it becomes a reality or not now depends on the efforts of the chapter and the generosity of our alums.

The mortgage on the new house site was paid off last January and an architect has been hired to complete plans for the new $85,000 Shelter at once.

The goal for contributions from Beta Phi alumni has been set at $30,000. Only a small fraction of this amount has been collected so far.

NEW HOUSEMOTHER WELCOMED

A good deal of activity has been heard around the housemother's room this quarter, for the men of Beta Phi were fortunate enough to acquire a new housemother, Mrs. Rena Reese. She takes over the position which "Mom" Faircloth vacated fall quarter because of illness.

SIX SPORTS TROPHIES GARNERED

In sports, particularly intramurals, Beta Phi is closing a most successful year. Pledges are shining new trophies for football (league champs), volleyball (runners-up), basketball (league champs), and bowling (league champs) won since the beginning of the school year. This makes six intramural sports trophies the chapter has won in a little over a year.

Brothers Danny McKinney and Harry Schadler have received their Varsity "O's" as members of the Big Nine championship fencing team. Harry and Dan tied for the runner-up spot in the conference epee championship.

PRESIDENT IS SCHOLAR

A new slate of officers took over in February, led by our honor-student president, Jim Rhodes. Prexy Rhodes was one of the few Ohio State students who coined a 4.0 last quarter and probably the only fraternity president on campus to pull such a feat.

Beta Psi—Wabash

With fourteen lettermen in the house playing a major role in Wabash's intercollegiate success in four major sports, Beta Psi was still able to take a leading part in intramural athletics. The intramural basketball team, under the able coaching of Shields and Worley, won the championship in its division of the league and then went on to the finals in the postseason play-offs.

Varsity Athletics

We are well represented on the varsity track team, with Captain Fred Massena, Lennie Wahl, Norm Wilson, George Ekstedt, and Jackson returning.

On the diamond, Captain John Speirs, Washburn, and Lankton seem assured of their varsity berths. A completely Delt managerial staff of Bobel, Wunder, Buikema, and Mahrtd rounds out the picture.

Bill Trapp, a Beta Psi graduate of last year, is coaching the freshman baseball squad.

Campus Activities

In all activities the Delts were prominent. Ralph Paich was elected president of the senior council, the governing body of the school. Compton, Paich, and Clark are members of Blue Key, a national honorary for men outstanding in scholarship and activities. The chapter has the greatest representation on campus in the Sphinx Club, represented by Speirs, Washburn, Paich, Wilson, Massena, Sanford, Ritter, Bobel, Ekstedt, and Clark.

In publications we are represented by Clark, last year's editor of the Caveman and a member of the board of publications, and Murphy, Cole, Thoss, Reinke, Sohn, Ruthenberg, Smith, and Washburn.

Clark represented Wabash in varsity debate, contributing greatly to the honors won by Wabash in the Kentucky and Purdue tournaments. Scott and Reinke were on the freshman debate squad.

The Scarlet Masque, the college dramatic club, presented G. B. Shaw's play, "Heartbreak House," and found Sohn and Lankton playing major roles.

Beta Omega—California

During its fifty years on the University of California campus, Beta Omega has maintained a record of many outstanding men in athletics, scholarship, and campus activities; this year is no exception. Probably the most outstanding at this time is Wilbur "Whiz" Lenz, high scoring hook on the California rugby team.

Lenz played an important role recently in the World Cup Series in which California defeated the University of British Columbia in a four-game series. Other outstanding rugby players in the house include Stu Manners, Bob Elder, and George Moller. Looking out for the ruggers' interests was Freshman Manager Dave Cruickshank.

Holds Down Keystone Position

California's varsity baseball season opened recently with last year's freshman sensation, Don "Smiley" Dodson, winning a permanent berth at the keystone sack. To date Dodson is the Bears' second leading batter with a potent .385 batting average.

Dave Anderson returned this year as a mainstay on the Bears' pitching staff. In practice games thus far this season he has already chalked up two wins against no defeats and proved that he is also a definite threat at the plate.

WIN SCHOLASTIC HONORS

A recent recipient of the coveted Phi Beta Kappa key was Geo-Physics Major Perry Byerly. John Glascock was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, national honorary business fraternity.

REPORT ON CONFERENCE

Beta Omega's representatives to the Western Conference held at Stanford University in February reported enthusiastically of the interest shown by all chapters attending. Delegates included President Warren Simms, Howard Oliver, and George Moller.

High light of the convention was the banquet held in San Francisco. This was attended by brothers from all the western chapters and by many undergrads and alumni from Beta Rho and Beta Omega.

OUTDOOR PROJECT

The chapter's pet project, an outdoor dance floor and barbecue, is now nearing completion under the high pressure administrative efforts of Hawk Stern and Stu Manners. The mothers' club has announced that it is planning to hold a party on the site May 1, which gives the brothers an added incentive to complete the job as soon as possible.

DELTS JOIN HONOR SOCIETY

Skull and Keys, California men's honorary society, recently initiated Delts Whiz Lenz, Hawk Stern, Bob Koenig, and ex-Beta Omega President Jim Barry. Beta Beta, another men's honor society, added Bob Kayser, Whiz Lenz, and Bernard Hansen to its ranks this year.

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

In an effort to repeat last year's performance of sweeping all interfraternity events in the Junior Week festivities, the chapter has been devoting a majority of its time towards this end. Although a number of competing track men last year are now lettermen and ineligible to participate in any of the events, there is enough reserve strength to assure the Delts of a fighting chance in the track and field program.

Gamma Gamma's officers: PAUL STALEY, rush chairman; NEIL O'BRIEN, president; JACK HINTERMEISTER, vice-president.

HELP FOUND YACHT CLUB

One of the youngest and most popular organizations on the campus is the Illinois Tech Yacht Club, founded and headed by members of Gamma Beta. Credit for the planning and work done in starting this group goes to John Makielski, '47, Dick Davoust, and Bill Fort. The club is planning to buy two or three dinghies this summer, using craft owned privately by the members until then. Racing crews are to be entered in several big races, one in competition with Big Ten schools and others in the midwest area.

FOUNDERS DAY BANQUET

Preparations for the Founders Day Banquet are being made now to assure those present of a fine time. The banquet is scheduled for May 9. Tentative arrangements have been made to have a large gathering outside of the Shelter.

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

The end of January brought first-semester finals and the news that Delta Tau Delta's scholastic standing was above that of the all-college average. Individual honors go to Sophomore Dick Barnes, who came through with a perfect 4.0 for his second consecutive semester.

SCULPTURE PLACES SECOND

With Winter Carnival only ten days away, Paul Staley, Pete Krehbiel, and Al Holt, codesigners of Gamma Gamma's second-place sculpture, were greatly concerned about the warm weather and lack of snow. Old Man Winter came through, however, with over a foot of white stuff and plenty of cold weather. With full co-operation by all the brothers, the hilarious statue depicting the arrival at Hanover of a blind date on an ancient Boston and Maine train took shape in plenty of time for the gala week end.

The halls of the Delta Shelter rang with the sound of feminine voices as the brothers moved out, bag and baggage, to make room for their charming dates. The deep snow, low temperatures, and sweeping victories by the Big Green ski and hockey teams were augmented by a well-planned party at the house which included both a tea dance and formal.

Many Delts participated in making the over-all Carnival a success. Emil Popke, station manager of the Dartmouth Broadcasting System, supervised the colorful Outdoor Evening ice show and crowning of the queen. Hats off, also, to Chuck Gardner, Joe Hendricks, Chuck Storer, Tom Ruggles, Dick Miner, and Ort Hicks of the College Glee Club, whose Carnival concert was one of the high lights of the week end. Incidentally, these men also made the spring vacation trip with the club, giving concerts as far west as St. Louis. Ort has the distinction of being president-director of the group, and Chuck Gardner solos for the octet.

President John Dahle was one of the lucky men chosen to judge the parade of feminine pulchritude competing for Carnival queen, and nobody had any complaints about the results. Last but not least, sophomore Hav Smith was on hand to back up the Green's star goalie—a full season's job.

SETS INTERFRATERNITY RECORD

With the advent of the new semester, interfraternity sports again got under way. The Delts had a potentially great hockey team, as evidenced by a 6-0 shutout over our first opponent, but the weather took a turn for the worse and all future games were cancelled, as were all skiing events. The volleyball and bowling teams turned in competent performances by placing second in league standing in both events.

On the cinder track, Bob Stevenson set a new interfraternity record in the fifty-yard dash, winning a first place in this event for the house. At the present writing, the tank and diamond men are warming up for the spring contests. Andy Timmerman, Tyke Miller, and Pete Krehbiel spent their spring vacation in Florida with the varsity crew, and Pitcher Earl Tyler toured the southern circuit with the varsity ball club.

THESPIANS PLACE THIRD

Gamma Gamma Thespians entered the fraternity play contest with a well-written original by Senior Pete Smith and in the final competition gained third place out of twenty-one entries. Pete and John Dable directed and played the lead roles and were ably supported by Chuck Gardner, Don Smith, Bill Cone, and Paul Staley.

NEWSLETTERS CONTINUE

Frank Smallwood is to be commended for his excellent work in alumni relations. Visible examples of his work are the Gamma Gamma newsletters that have been keeping the old grads informed of chapter achievements.

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

Having won two "legs" on the highly coveted Corson Scholarship Cup, the men of Gamma Delta have been patiently awaiting the final tabulations of last semester's averages. One more win places this award in permanent possession of the chapter. Speculation is running high as to whether or not our average for the preceding semester will top the other marks on the campus. Newly initiated Brother Gene Stump gave our efforts a "shot in the arm" with his perfect three-point record.

NEW GAME ROOM

Biggest news around the Shelter is the redecorated game room. A false ceiling effect is lent by a huge surplus parachute hung from the real ceiling. A revolving ball with mirrored facets, reflecting orange and blue lights darting about the room, completes the real "party room" effect. New sectional furniture is due to arrive at any time for installation. This redecoration ties in admirably with the new living room and card room furniture recently purchased.

CAMPUS LUMINARIES

Graduation last year left the chapter with virtually no men in campus positions, but once again we're on the way back to the top in this respect. President Jim Cutler was recently elected secretary of the Council of Fraternity Presidents, Clarence Morgan and Ike Van Voorhis are varsity cheerleaders, and Pledge Brother Bill DeFere seems assured of a position with the varsity "thusemasters" next year. Jim Ellison has been selected for the Constitutional Convention which meets next month, Mike Pozega remains as one of the stalwarts on WVU's highly-touted track team, Russ Cunningham was elected vice-president of Scabbard and Blade, Walter Case is president of Alpha Kappa Psi, succeeding Brother Don Fleming, Brothers Carl Bebee and Al Ware are codirectors of the Fi Batar (campus mock honorary) Minstrel Chorus, and Speedy Allen saw his share of action at center with WVU's victorious Sun Bowl eleven.

CHAPTER HEARS MURPHY

Initiation ceremonies were held Sunday, March 6, for twelve new members who heard an excellent address by Brother A. J. Murphy, Eastern Division President. One of the honored guests present was Captain Jansen of the Royal Norwegian Air Force, who is visiting in the States.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

Seldom has Gamma Zeta Chapter received as many spontaneous letters of appreciation from parents and alumni for its gracious hospitality as it has during the past semester. Twenty-five Delt alumni returned to welcome their new brothers at the annual initiation February 19, when twelve outstanding men became full-fledged members, having completed their training under Pledgemaister Fred Irwin.

SCHOLARSHIP COMES UP

The results of the winter term placed the Deltas as one of the leading houses on the campus. Scholastically, the chapter did well, with Brothers Ted Fischer, Dick Fisher, and Dave Baird gaining honors in the freshman class, while Bob Herbert, Bob Malone, Larry Mason, Dick Ramette, and Andy Wissemann made highest honors in the upper classes.

ATHLETICALLY SPEAKING

Although the Delt House was well represented in all fields of sports, the outstanding men from the chapter include Ralph Jones, Hal Carney, and Charlie Robinson on the varsity squash team. Ralph and Hal, as well as Henry Caviglio, represent the house on the baseball diamond. The house launched Dick Ramette with the Wesleyan swimming team, while Herb Hands and Carl Chapman were active in varsity fencing. Leading the freshman delegation in their athletic activities was Hoopster Ted Fischer, while George MacIver and Bob Fraser ran their way to fame. Bob was also a member of the freshman squash team. Pledge Luke and Brother Linton were active with the foils.

In interfraternity basketball Brothers Al Gilette, Bob Fithian, Charlie Jones, Dave McMillan, and Burr Morgan brought Gamma Zeta victory in our league. No little part of this success was due to the excellent coaching of Carl Peterson. Among other laurels gained in sports for the chapter was second place in interfraternity wrestling, with Dick Grant and Frank Homeister carrying the load.

TEN SERVE ON CAMPUS NEWSPAPER

In other extracurricular activities Delta Tau reigns supreme, with more than ten men represented on the campus newspaper. Bill Malamud was recently appointed news editor. Active in the student government are Frank Ridout, campus rushing chairman; Dick Fisher, president of the Freshman Senate; Charlie Jones, Cardinal Key representative; and Bill Malamud, chairman of the New England Student Government Association.

WES, the campus network, drew the talents of Fred Trevithick, John Trippe, and Dick Fisher. Campus musical organizations are unusually well stocked with representatives of Delta Tau. Trevithick, Carney, and Luke all hold down positions in the glee club, while Don Porter plays for the college band. In addition, the house maintains its own jazz band, including Brothers Giles, Trippe, Carney, and Caviglio.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

Early in April Gamma Eta, at George Washington University, will take a significant step forward when it moves from its present quarters at 731 22nd Street, Washington, D. C., to a much larger and better arranged eleven-room house at 1909 H Street, N.W., owned by the University and made available to the chapter in recognition of its splendid progress since its reactivation less than two years ago.

Thus the chapter returns to the immediate vicinity of its first home after its foundation in 1903, when it occupied a furnished house at 1902 H Street, directly across the street from the new house and long since demolished to make way for a modern apartment.

The University is completely overhauling and redecorating the house, which will provide living quarters for fourteen of the chapter's forty actives and pledges and ample facilities for meetings, dances, and other social activities. Space will also be available for a game room in the basement.

Additional furnishings are being purchased from funds contributed by alumni and undergraduates. Donations of needed furniture and equipment are anticipated.

Credit for the arrangements for the house and furnishings is due not only the undergraduate chapter, but also the members of the chapter supervisory committee, consisting of Rhessa M. Norris and Henry G. Lipscomb, cochairmen, Dr. Charles W. Cole, O. Gordon Delk, Jr., N. Sidney Nyhus, Burr Christopher, Henry E. Price, William B. Hix, and Lowell H. Moran.

HONOR INITIATES

February 21 was the big date for Gamma Eta this winter. An evening banquet and dance at the Burlington Hotel Ballroom followed the initiation of twelve brothers in the afternoon. The evening's enjoyment was enhanced by the presence of members of Delta Sigma of Maryland and of the National Capital Alumni Chapter.

A basketball game between Delta Sigma and Gamma Eta Deltas preceded a party at the Shelter on March 12. The game resulted in a tie, but the party proved that, when Delt chapters get together, perhaps nobody wins, but a terrific evening is in store for all.

TOP ALL-FRATERNITY AVERAGE

Scholastic averages for the school year 1948 found Gamma Eta fourth among fifteen fraternities with an average of 2.52—well above the all-fraternity average.

CRICHTON IS GREAT GREEK

Brother Charles Crichton was honored by the University Interfraternity Council, which selected him as a member of "Great Greeks on American Campuses," an organization made up of outstanding leaders in college fraternities.

LOWELL MORAN HONORED

Gamma Eta Deltas enjoyed particularly the National Capital Alumni Chapter's Founders Day Banquet of March 3, with its inspiring speaker, Paul Hoffman. We are especially proud of the honor bestowed upon our president of last year—Lowell Moran. Lowell was chosen the Gamma Eta Delt who represents most fully the qualities of Americanism and Deltism. His faithful service and leadership are evidence enough that the honor was well deserved.

Gamma Theta—Baker

John "Steve" Dial, newly initiated Gamma Theta freshman, won the Campus Clown Contest, sponsored by the Baker University Student Commission to raise money for the Baker Community Chest. Dial won by a large plurality—at a cent per vote—in the contest which raised over $400 for the Community Chest.

RUSH GETS UNDER WAY

Gamma Theta got started on its spring rushing program at the annual Baker Day festivities. One day a year Baker entertains high school seniors from all over the eastern end of Kansas and western half of Missouri to show them the advantages of a small school. Baker Deltas entertained more than 100 of the 300 men and women attending the event.

NAMED BUSINESS MANAGER

Richard Ritter, '51, was appointed business manager of the Wildcat, Baker University annual publication.

Plans are already under way at Gamma Theta to entertain returning Deltas during the ninety-first commencement festivities at Baker. Stag Night, traditional time for the fraternity get-togethers, is expected to be a gala occasion at the Shelter. About 150 grads of Gamma Theta are expected to attend the affair on Saturday, June 4.

Gamma Iota—Texas

Gamma Iota is fairing well as far as varsity athletics are concerned. J. J. Robertson is captain of the Texas track team and has participated in various track meets recently. Vilbry White and Willson Taylor are expecting soon to receive their letters for participating on the varsity basketball squad. Bill Bonham is a member of the freshman tennis team. Errol Fry is the only first-string lineman returning this fall to the varsity football team and plans to put in another top year next fall. Howard Hurt, a member of the freshman football team, is considered to be the top guard prospect, with great things anticipated for his future at Texas.

TWO MAKE FRIARS

Friars, whose membership is the highest honor for any male student on the Texas campus, selected two of its six new members this spring from Gamma Iota Chapter. These outstanding students are Bill Herndon, now serving as chapter vice-president, and Meredith Long. Both have participated actively in many campus and chapter activities. John Fry, chapter prexy and past president of the Texas student body, is also president of Friars. Jack Buckley was honored with membership in Cowboys, campus honorary service organization.

SPRING FORMAL CLICKS

The spring formal was held in the house on March 26. The outside patio was decorated to resemble the terrace of a Southern plantation with Spanish moss hanging from the trees and hurricane lanterns providing a source of illumination for the dancers.

With the advent of the new river boat on Lake Austin, members are looking forward to the barge trip and picnic in May.

The last week end in April has been selected as the time for the annual house party which will be held at a dude ranch, Mehan Ranch, near Bandera. The house party is considered by many as the biggest event of the school year.

HEADS CLEANUP CAMPAIGN

Bill Hawkins was appointed as chairman of the campus cleanup committee. Through the activities which he has directed, all eating places in the University have been inspected and those passing the sanitation and other tests were presented with a "Steer Here." This denoted their high degree of cleanliness maintained in the establishment. Brother "Hawkshaw" has also been influential in maintaining good public relations through arranging for University professors, friends, and others to have dinner with us and give us their viewpoints on various specific fields of endeavor.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Top spot in this issue's Gamma Kappa news belongs to Missouri's new fraternity intramural basketball champions, Delta Tau Delta.

The Delt hoopsters who went undefeated in twelve games to capture the fraternity crown were: Jim Allen, Mel Sheehan, Roger Englert, Jack Frier, Moe Molesky, Tom Shannon, George Buchanan, Jim Butcher, and Jay Watkins.

Strategists behind the victories were Stan Hafer, coach, and Boe Allen, intramural athletics chairman.

Winning the championship gives the Deltas not only a bronze plaque but also an important two hundred points toward the seven-year cup given by the University to the group accumulating the most points during that period.

B.M.O.C. SECTION

Several more Gamma Kappa Deltas have found it necessary to increase their hat sizes. Reason: election to campus honoraries. They are: Ben Ornburn, Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary, and Phi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary; Don Fleck, Delta Sigma Pi, business honorary; Roger Englert, Future Teachers of America, education honorary; Dee Jennings, Alpha Zeta, agricultural honorary; and Art Kirkpatrick, Alpha Chi Sigma, chemistry honorary.

THIRD TIME'S A CHARM

The Deltas placed in the finals again this year in the "Jack of Hearts" contest sponsored by the University's Associated Women Students.

Last year Pledge Fred Byers was selected as the "Jack" by Rita Hayworth, with Don Fleck second choice.

This year we backed Don with a large parade, brightly colored posters, free cigarettes, and various and assorted other propaganda devices, but he came out runner-up again. Oh, well, there's always 1950, Don.

DELT VERSUS DELT

Jack Frier and Rog Englert, Gamma Kappa's contributions to the Missouri diamond squad, have been having a field day during spring training. Jack, captain of this year's Tiger nine, takes one-half the Missouri squad and Rog, veteran hurler, takes the other half. Then they hold a play-off under the critical eye of Coach "Hi" Simmons. No chance to display brotherly love here!

BRENTON VISIT

W. H. Brenton, national President of the Fraternity, visited March 18 with members of the chapter. He was on his way to his home in Des Moines after attending the installation of a new chapter at Florida State University.

SCHOLARSHIP IMPROVES

Gamma Kappa scholarship is definitely improving by leaps and bounds. This year's fall semester pledge class bettered the last pledge class average by twenty points to rank high among all the pledge classes on the campus. The active report is even better. Although the increase is not so great as in the pledge class, it is no less decided. From sixth on campus last year among twenty-six organized houses, Gamma Kappa jumped into the top-three bracket. The exact standing has not been released.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Once again Gamma Lambda's "Sweet Sixteen" took top honors in the stunt act at the Founders Day annual dinner held in Indianapolis. Under the able direction of Bill Wainwright, the "Sixteen" portrayed a typical group in the gay nineties, singing such old favorites as "Old Joe," and "You Call Everybody Darling."

POINT TO SING

With the coming of Mother's Day on May 8, the Gamma Lambda men are looking forward with great expectations to the all-campus University sing. In the last four years the Deltas have placed third once, second twice, and first in 1947. This year we are again planning to take top honors under the able direction of our song leader, Bob Tam.

BOB TAM SINGS

There is an interesting story attached to Bob Tam's musical ability. When Bob entered Purdue in 1946, he had never been connected with any musical organization. After a little persuasion on the part of a few friends who had heard Bob sing, however, he decided to try out for the University Choir. He not only made the Choir, but was asked to join the University Glee Club and University Concert Choir. Bob soon became a soloist in the Glee Club and is now recognized as one of the best Irish tenors at Purdue in many years.

Today he has his own radio program over WASK, he is a member of the 1949 Harlequin cast, which is a musical show presented by the students at Purdue, and he has a good chance to perform on a new television station in Indianapolis. Bob has talents other than singing. He is a lieutenant in the R.O.T.C. unit here at Purdue and has been pledged to Scabbard and Blade. With all these activities, he manages to maintain a scholastic average of 4.9.

LEAD IN ACTIVITIES

The men at Gamma Lambda are making a name for themselves in activities and sports. Tex Wright, our six-foot, six-inch drum major, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant in the Purdue military band. This is the first time in the history of the band that a sophomore has had this honor. Tex is also a member of the 1949 Harlequin show and captain of the Scabbard and Blade drill team. H. B. Shaw is a new pledge in Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering fraternity. Our president, Al Cazier, has been asked to join Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity.

Gamma Lambda claims one member of the 1949 Big Nine championship wrestling team in Joe Paratore, a 145-pound grappler from East Chicago. Although Joe has been wrestling for the last three years, an injury prevented him from entering competition last year. With persistence, however, Joe made a remarkable comeback. Ben Schafer, a sophomore, has made a good representation on the track team and is expected to be a big "cog" on the Purdue teams in the next two years.

Gamma Lambda is proud of its members in the field of journalism. The Purdue humor magazine, the Rivet, uses the talent of Al Cazier, Don Gilmore, and Stan Noesen. Jerry Crary and Jack Dubs are writing a good many sports stories for the Exponent, our school newspaper. John Northup has been spending his free time composing the sports section of Debris, the campus yearbook.

Gamma Nu—Maine

The high light of social activity thus far this semester has been the annual Forty-Niner Party. The Shelter was transformed into scenes of the old West. The main living room was made into an open prairie with a corral on one side and an Indian tepee on the other. The game room was transformed into an old western saloon. A large number of Delts and friends were on hand as gold prospectors, Indians, cowboys, and ranchers. The party was a huge success.

HONOR DELT PARENTS

Preparations are being made for a combined Mother's and Father's Day celebration to be held in May. Many Delt parents are expected to attend, and a banquet will be given in their honor. It has been decided that favors will be given to the guests. This is the second year that we have honored the parents of our Delts, and it is hoped that this year will be as successful as last.

SHELTER UNDERGOES MORE REPAIR

Our Shelter continues to be beautified. While we were on spring vacation, a new asphalt tile floor was laid in the game room, kitchen, and chapter room. In addition, the game room walls were redecorated. Our next project is to paint the outside of the Shelter, and this is to be done this spring.

INTERFRATERNITY SING

For the past several weeks the Delts of Gamma Nu have been preparing for the interfraternity sing to be held in the early part of May. It is hoped that the Delts, under the direction of Parker Blaney, will bring victory and honor to our chapter.

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

During the winter months several important things happened to Gamma Xi. First of all, our intramural volleyball team soundly defeated all opposition, as it romped to a University championship. This event rocketed the Delts to second place in the intramural race and spurred their hopes for final victory.

Secondly, eight new initiates entered the life stream of our chapter and were handily welcomed at an initiation banquet which found Eppa Rixey, Beta Iota, '14, former Cincinnati Red star pitcher, introducing the principal speaker, former Governor of Ohio Thomas J. Herbert, Zeta, '15.

Thirdly, Carl Schindler, retiring president of the chapter, was honored by membership in Tau Beta Pi and Omicron Delta Kappa, while George Lockwood was also invited to join Tau Beta Pi.

The coming June graduation will see a large group of nineteen being graduated. Included are men who were pledged in almost every year since 1940.

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

The spring semester at Syracuse got off to a rousing start with the annual Winter Carnival, and Gamma Omicron men were well represented in the activities of that busy week end. Al Maynes was publicity chairman for the colorful Stockingfoot Dance on Friday night. Several other members served on various committees of Saturday night's formal Snow Ball. Delts were on hand in force at both affairs. The crowning glory of the chapter's activities was our snow sculpture entitled "The Naked and the Dud," which did not win any prizes but evoked much favorable campus comment. Everyone helped pile up snow for the project, and the deft hands of Nick Tesnakis added the final artistic touches.

CONTRIBUTE TO BROTHERHOOD WEEK

On February 25 Gamma Omicron was host to the Reverend Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, distinguished Detroit clergyman and an alumnus of Wesleyan's Gamma Zeta Chapter. Dr. Crane was in Syracuse to speak at a Jewish Brotherhood service held in conjunction with Brotherhood Week.

Delts celebrated the occasion with a special dinner at which Dr. Crane was guest of honor. Also present at the dinner were Dr. Charles Noble, dean of Hendricks Chapel; Rabbi William Schwartz, Jewish chaplain; the president of the Jewish Student Fellowship; and the presidents of the six Jewish fraternities on the Hill. After the dinner a group of Delts accompanied their guests to the brotherhood services. For this gesture of good will the chapter was cited by the Daily Orange, campus newspaper, "for their efforts in making Brotherhood Week a success."

REYNOLDS SPEAKS, ENTERTAINS

Gamma Omicron passed a very special milestone on March 5 when it held its first initiation in the Shelter, bringing thirteen men into the chapter. After the ceremony a combined Initiation-Founders Day Banquet was held at the University Club with Joel Reynolds, national Secretary of Alumni, delivering the main speech of the evening. A party at Dellamorte's followed the banquet, and the versatile and talented Mr. Reynolds entertained with some wonderful card tricks. A major feature of the party was the "Pledge Retaliation Hour" during which the initiates administered glistening egg shampoos to the brothers who had caused the pledges the most inconvenience during orientation week. A large part of the credit for the success of the initiation program goes to Vice-President Dan Snyder who was in charge of the week-end activities.

RANKS FOURTH IN CONTRIBUTION

The next item on the chapter's calendar was that big event of every fraternity man's college days—Interfraternity Week End. Delts attended informal dances Friday night at Drumlins Country Club and the Hotel Onondaga and on Saturday night attended the sparkling Interfraternity Ball. Gamma Omicron was especially pleased when it was announced at the ball that the chapter had won fourth-place honors in the competition for the Chancellor's Cup—awarded annually to the Hill fraternity which the administration feels has contributed the most to the University. Inasmuch as we were not even in the running last year, we feel that our placing fourth ranks as quite an achievement, and little doubt exists that next year the prized cup will be resting on the Shelter's trophy shelf.

BREAKS SCORING RECORD

Gamma Omicron has also been active, and fairly successful, in intramural sports competition. The basketball team finished second in the Interfraternity League, and the bowling squad tied for first place, only to lose out in the play-offs to decide the University champion. High light of the kegling campaign was a 2424 series which broke the University's team-scoring record.

WINS EASTERN BOXING CROWN

Tim Curley, a recent initiate, brought glory to the University and the chapter when he won the 145-pound class Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing championship. Tim's victory at the EIBA tournament at Penn State was one of three wins by the triumphant Orange boxing squad. Tim is also president of the Syracuse chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary; a member of Orange Key, junior men's honorary; and a member of the track and cross-country teams.

Alex Perritt, another recent initiate, was a member of the Syracuse two-mile relay team which racked up wins at the Cleveland K. of C. and Boston A.A. meets. Reports from New York inform us that Phil Baker, a February grad who had been instrumental in the reactivation of Gamma

CHAPTER PAPER REAPPEARS

The final word from Gamma Omicron this time is that the publications committee, under the direction of Gene Malloy, has made plans for the reactivation of the Gammicron, chapter publication. The title is the same one used for the publication put out by the old chapter. A printer has been engaged, a deadline established, and the editors hope to have copies mailed to all chapters before the end of the semester.

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

Iowa State's three-day spring festival—Veishea—will be held on May 12, 13, and 14 this year. Veishea was instigated in 1922 by the combined action of each of the five divisions of the college. Gamma Pi Alumnus Wallace McKee was the chairman of the original Veishea. Throughout the years the event has grown, until now it is the largest student-managed festival in the world.

The climax of each year's Veishea is reached on the third day, when over 35,000 people crowd into Ames to see the famous Veishea Parade. Over one hundred floats and fifteen bands participate. Also the Army, Navy, and Marines form an air cover and several reserve corps groups march in the parade.

Chairman of this year's parade is Delt Carl Mahnke. He is ably assisted by two other Gamma Pi men—Bob Meeks, assistant chairman, and Bob McKee, business manager. Other Deltas taking a prominent part include Bruce Kirkpatrick and Chuck Vogelgesang, who are promoting Veishea publicity. The Delt float will be engineered by Bill Lohmann and Ed Sweeney. They hope to bring the big sweepstakes trophy home to the Shelter.

RECORD-BREAKER

Delt Ed LaBerge has established himself as being one of the country's outstanding swimmers. As a sophomore, Ed is in his first year of varsity competition. Already he holds three varsity records and a share of a fourth record. Ed's records have been in the 50-yard free style, the 60-yard free style, and the 100-yard free style. As a member of the 400-yard free style relay team, Ed earned a share of another record.

The climax of the swimming season came recently when Ed set a new conference record in the 50-yard free style and helped set another conference record in the 400-yard relay. As a result of these efforts, Ed was named Iowa State's Athlete of the Week. This award goes to a few athletes each year whose performance has been extraordinary.

HOLDS THREE OFFICES AT ONCE

Gamma Pi's Bill Beckman, past president of the chapter, has distinguished himself recently by holding three important positions simultaneously, and all of them on the interfraternity council. It all started at last year's IF Council election, when Bill was elected treasurer. The following quarter the vice-president of the Council was graduated and Bill was elected to that position. A quarter later the president was graduated and Bill ascended to the chair. As current president, vice-president, and treasurer of Interfraternity Council, Bill has set a record that will be hard to beat.

NEW TROPHIES

Since our last report, Gamma Pi has added several new trophies. In the Winter Sports Carnival the Delt entry won the feature contest—that of snow sculpture. With Bruce Kirkpatrick, Bill Lohmann, and Boyd Gurney as chief artists, the Delt creation of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs was adjudged the winner over entries of twenty-eight other fraternities.

A second trophy was added by the Delt ping-pong team. Led by George Fox and Doug Matthews in the singles and Norman Konzen and Jerry Smith in the doubles, the Deltas bowled over the DU's in the finals to emerge victorious.

CAMPUS PUBLICATIONS

During the past year the Deltas have made campus publications one of their strongholds. The newest publication on the campus is the Iowa State Scientist. It was started last fall and has as its first business manager Delt Bob McKee. His assistants include two other Gamma Pi men—Dick Dirks as circulation manager and Dick Riede as exchange manager.

Chuck Vogelgesang is an associate editor and head photographer of the Iowa State yearbook. Also working on the Bomb of '49 are Jack Hansen, photography editor, and Bob Mahnke, assistant photography editor.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

Gamma Rho climaxed a successful winter term on the Oregon campus by winning the Class A intramural basketball championship over some of the toughest competition seen on the courts for years. The team, captained by Darrell Hawes, was the tallest in the league, every man being over six feet tall. Other brothers on the champ squad were Bob Kehrli, Don Sheldon, Wade Hansen, and Dave Robathan. Brother Bob Johnston also saw a good deal of action.

DELTA DAUGHTERS, SISTERS FETED

On the social calendar for winter term was the annual Delt Daughter-Sister Banquet. Plaudits were paid to Social Chairman Bob Coffyn for his well-spent efforts, for the evening was a stunning success. Mrs. Alley, who keeps the chapter perennially well-fed, outdid herself on the excellent dinner for the affair, topping off the meal with a purple, white, and gold ice cream dessert.

HOLDS CAMPUS OFFICE

Brother Bob Gitner was elected vice-president of the University of Oregon freshman class in the January elections. Another political victory for Gamma Rho was the election of past President Al Hale as president of the Associated Greek Students, a campus political party. Al has also served as secretary of the Interfraternity Council on the campus for the past year.

MOTHERS CLUB BUSY

Gamma Rho's active Mothers Club has been busy since the first of the year, holding card parties and rummage sales to raise money for chapter furnishings. The mothers contributed several new lamps, a fire screen, and other fireplace equipment, along with a brass flower container for the dinner table.

FOUR ON TRACK SQUAD

With spring term in the offing, Gamma Rho looks forward to another successful season for her athletes. At the date of writing, Fred Zolezzi looks like a strong contender for a position on the Oregon varsity golf team, and Wade Hansen, Al Pietschman, Bob Kehrli, and Jerry Hunter are working out with the track team. Freshman Harold Sipe has reported for the yearling baseball team.

HEADS JUNIOR PROM

Gamma Rho is expecting a successful Junior Prom this spring. Brother Paul Johnston has been appointed chairman of the big event and is busy making plans for the best campus dance in years.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

Gamma Sigma nears the end of the school year with the Shelter redecoration complete. The entire first and second floors have been redone, but our especial pride is the trophy room. The walls have been pine paneled, and our Mothers Club has furnished it with a beautiful new rug. The mothers also made the drapes for the room. More recently, the mothers held a bridge party at the Shelter on Saturday afternoon, April 2.

In April, Gamma Sigma Deltas joined with the Pitt chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority in holding a reception for members of the University of Pittsburgh faculty. This is an annual affair which is assuming an important place on the University's social calendar.

OUTSTANDING PLEDGES CITED

On February 27 the chapter initiated eleven men. After the ceremony a banquet was held at Webster Hall, at which Eastern Division President A. J. Murphy was guest speaker. Jack Fulton and Joe Edmundson were given awards as the year's outstanding freshman pledges, and Ralph Douglas was cited as the freshman of the year who had received the best grades.

MAKE SCABBARD AND BLADE

Brothers Anderson, Smiley, and Swanson were tapped to Scabbard and Blade, military fraternity, at the military ball. Brother Blackstone, who was on the Pitt team that won the intercollegiate state debate championship, was initiated into Delta Sigma Rho, the honorary debate fraternity. Several Deltas are up for special awards on Tap Day later this spring.

Gamma Tau—Kansas

Gamma Tau's intramural basketball team saw an undefeated season in division play. As well as winning the league trophy, it qualified for the hill play-off tournament. The Delts were eliminated from the tourney after losing a semifinal game in the closing seconds of play.

Volleyball has now taken over the intramural spotlight. Both the Purple and Gold's A and B teams have won in their own divisions and are now eligible for the play-offs.

CITED TO TWO HONORARIES

Ed Blincoe, our petroleum engineer, brought scholastic honor to the Shelter when he was elected to both Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Tau, honorary scholastic engineering fraternities. Delt Dave Jones has been elected secretary of Tau Beta Pi this semester. He was also elected to Sachem, senior men's honorary fraternity.

ATTEND KANSAS CITY BANQUET

Initiation was held February 27. One of the high lights of the day was the initiation banquet held for the new initiates and their parents. On March 11 the Kansas City Alumni Club had its annual Founders Day banquet. Fifteen of the Kansas Delts were present for the event, and they all agreed that it was a successful evening.

Our annual "Dad's Week End" this year is April 22 and 23. This is one of the big events of the spring semester here at Gamma Tau, and we are all looking forward to this week end. Another big event coming up is our spring formal, May 7. We are planning on using the same Oriental theme that made such a big hit last year.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

The Shelter is taking on a new look. This spring our basement was remodeled into a recreation room with Weldtex walling and pine paneling, with white Celotex blocks on the ceiling. A mural is being painted on one wall by Ed Heine, who is in charge of the project.

The Senior Ball, which was late in April, was staged by Delt Dick Jones, who did a brilliant piece of work in lining up the Campus Owls led by Dom Consolo for the dance music. They were backed up by King Cole and his Trio, providing varied entertainment for the dance.

claimed John Bonnar as a new initiate in the freshmen honorary. Arch McCartney and Bob McCormick were recently initiated into the national business honorary, Delta Sigma Pi.

PLEDGES LOOK GOOD

Late in April our pledging was completed. Using a new system, we were highly successful in pledging the men we wanted. Some of them have received wide acclaim in the field of sports. Jack Lawrence took second place in the state wrestling tournament at 128 pounds last spring. In the state track meet Hugh Rittenhouse placed first in both the 110-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles in Class B competition. In 1946 Dick Sisteck took first in the same events in Class A competition. Both men are expected to give a boost to the varsity track team next year.

SPRING ATHLETICS

Preceding the warm weather sports was the wind-up of winter sports, accomplished in one night at an "Open House Show" sponsored by the Physical Education Department and featuring the finals of the basketball tournament. The Delt team was one of these finalists but did not win that night.

Exhibitions were put on in pole vaulting by Bucky Walter and Max Leonard, Miami's two ace vaulters. Deltas also gave exhibitions in wrestling and supervised parts of the night's activities.

Along with the vaulters on the varsity track team is Hal Purvis, who is putting his long legs to good use in the quarter and half-mile runs, as well as the relay events. Another who carries a lot of weight on the team is Jerry Hoffman, shot-putter and discus thrower.

On the pitching staff for the Miami Redskins is Johnny Sanders, who is carrying his load on the mound with ease for a fat man. Johnny has been doing fine all spring. At shortstop, Stub Knisley is showing up with some fine playing which should make him one of the outstanding infielders.

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

Gamma Psi Chapter members will enjoy their big social whirl during the week end of May 6. A house party will be held for the brothers' dates. The big event of the week end will be the first annual Rainbow Ball to be held that night at the American Legion Club. Dancing will be to the music of Bill Clark and his orchestra. High light of the evening will be the crowning of Gamma Psi's Delta Queen. Entertainment for Saturday night is centered around a big hay ride.

HOPE TO REPEAT

Gamma Psi members are eagerly looking forward to the coming intramural softball season. With Brother Jack (Greased Lightning) Vanderbleek on the mound again this year, the Deltas are planning to take again the intramural championship. The Deltas took their league championship in basketball but came in fourth in the playoffs.

EDITOR OF CAMPUS PAPER

More Deltas are making their names known about the campus. Howard Johnston has been named editor of The Technique, semiweekly paper. Don Gray is president of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity. Bob Gibson is president of the Table Managers' Association. Bill Reiser has been chosen to "Great Greeks."

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

After two hundred people finished their turkey and corn-on-the-cob, Delta Alpha celebrated Christmas by dancing to the music of Negro jazz artists. That was a good party; so at the annual Spring Dive we invited down the Crescent Club at Stillwater. Three hundred people are a good many in one house, but this year's outstanding pledge, Harold Grant, carried it off true to tradition, complete with candle-lit tables, cartoon-covered walls, costumed waiters, and all the other trimmings.

RANK HIGH SCHOLASTICALLY

For the past semester our chapter came out third on the campus in scholarship. We initiated one of the largest and finest pledge classes yet. Twenty-eight proud men were given their badges following a large Founders Day Banquet.

The keynote address was given by a Delta Alpha charter member and initiate-father—Bob Bates of Tulsa. Afterwards, the Delt Glee Club demonstrated the ability that has won Delta Alpha the Annual Mother's Day Interfraternity Sing almost every time for the past ten years. The glee club is under the direction of our ideal Delt, Bill Bender.

SPONSOR BAGDAD STUDENT

Delta Alpha sought time out from its usual activities to sponsor a foreign student. From Bagdad, Iraq, we now have in the house Joe Bashoury. Cut off from funds, Joe was picked as the foreign student we would like most to help get an education.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

A series of lectures by prominent industrialists, to familiarize the members of the chapter with new industrial processes and to prepare the chapter members better for their future position in industry, was held over the course of the semester. Among the topics discussed were "Conversion of Coal into Petroleum Products," "What the Employer Looks for in a Prospective Employee," and "How Do We Determine Our Proper Conduct?"

ADVANCE THREE STEPS

With ten chapter members achieving the Dean's list, Delta Beta's scholarship rating advanced three steps toward the top of the fraternity ladder at Tech.

SOCIAL PROGRAMS

To acquaint the chapter members better with the college officials and to give the school officials a better understanding of our chapter, one evening during each week a faculty member was a supper guest at the Shelter.

The well-planned social program for the spring semester got under way with a formal initiation dance held at the South Hills Country Club following the initiation of twelve pledges.

Sporting many new ideas, the social committee started a program which proved tops. The Deltas played host at buffet suppers to each sorority on campus. Meeting new girls and exchanging songs were fun for everyone.

The Carnegie Tech Spring Carnival climaxed many weeks of preparation. The float for the carnival parade, the booth for the midway fair, and the soapbox buggy for the sweepstakes race displayed spirit and ingenuity. Deltas and their guests had a fine time at the chapter's spring formal. The girls seemed to be especially pleased with the "jewel box" favors.

TWO IN TAU BETA PI

Delta Gamma—South Dakota

On April 24, Delta Gamma Chapter held its twenty-fifth anniversary Founders Day. It was a great celebration with alumni attending from all over the country. After dinner, members of the chapter entertained the alums, and awards were presented to the outstanding Deltas of the year. All in all, both active members and former actives felt proud of their chapter's twenty-five-year history at South Dakota.

"DELTA MANOR" WINS FIRST

With the show "Delta Manor," the Deltas won first place in the most important contest of the year, the annual "Stroller Show," which is a group of vaudeville acts presented by the different fraternities and sororities on the campus. The Deltas presented a minstrel show featuring Virg Vale as the interlocutor, Don Johnson and Don Steel as the end men, Sam Culbertson in a vocal solo, and Marly Dessel on a trumpet solo. Also featured were the newly formed Delt combo band and a twenty-four-member male chorus. The act was ably directed by Dick Rhinehart and Gordy Wold. Jim Hegert took charge of scenery and Warren Hobson worked on the costumes and make-up.

COP INTRAMURAL TITLE

By winning ten out of eleven games the Delts copped the intramural volleyball tournament. Players on the team were Harry "Bud" Carlton, John Diefendorf, George Rinder, Jack Van Arsdale, Norm Barthalow, Dale Roberts, and Bob Watson.

Also in the line of sports, John Diefendorf, having the highest average score in conference basketball this season, was chosen on the all-conference team. Coach Rube Hoy has acclaimed John as being one of the best all-around players ever to attend the University of South Dakota. A junior, Diefendorf will be back again next year to represent the Delts on the basketball floor.

Delta Delta—Tennessee

High light of the annual Monte Carlo Party was the crowning of a queen to rule over the Shelter for the coming year. Surrounded by a court of pretty girls, Miss Vernetta Hannaford, of Knoxville, was crowned queen by Bill Middleton, chapter president at that time.

Jitterbugging by a Negro dance routine, dancing, and a late breakfast for members and their dates completed the night's doings.

SHELTER IS BRIGHTENED

Delts have busied themselves around the house in recent weeks removing paint from living room woodwork to give the Shelter a brighter appearance. Plans for improvement were delayed, however, when a fire broke out in the room. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze.

CELEBRATE FOUNDERS DAY

The annual Founders Day banquet was held March 4 at a Knoxville country club. Delts, a large percentage of whom will be graduated soon, made the most of the occasion.

Howard Jarvis, a Knoxville lawyer and Delta Delta alumnus, made a stirring speech on the need for college fraternities. Best pledge award went to Jim Montgomery, a Knoxville boy who has taken advantage of every opportunity he has had to help the Fraternity.

SING TO FINALS

The chapter attained one of the highest honors on the Tennessee campus in March when the Delt choir, led by Memphian Walker Meacham, reached the finals in the University All-Sing, one of the most keenly contested events of the school year. The choir sang "Kentucky Babe" and "Winter Song" but was nosed out in the finals.

DELTS EDIT SCHOOL PAPER

The school newspaper, the Orange and White, is now being edited by Delts. Aubrey Tramel is editor-in-chief, and Fred Parker is news editor. Several other Delts write for the paper.

M. E. Heneger is captain of the U. T. band, which played at the gala opening to the public of the city of Oak Ridge, home of the atomic bomb. Heneger is president of Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band fraternity, which was installed here recently.

Many other Delts hold high office on the U-T campus. Mike Weatherly is president of the Fraternity Relations Board and is also listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Walker Meacham is president of the local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Frank Lester is president of the French Club and a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity. Frank is also an announcer on a Knoxville radio station.

Pat Rion and Bill McConnell have been initiated into Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemistry fraternity. Bill Hoyt, Dick Maerker, and Otis Clarke belong to Tau Beta Pi.

Several pledges have been taken into Pershing Rifles.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

On February 26, the boys of Delta Epsilon were extremely proud to extend the hand of brotherhood to eighteen new men. The afternoon ceremony at the Shelter was impressive. We were indeed fortunate to have Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, of Cincinnati, deliver the charge.

After the ceremony, a banquet was held in the "Football Room" of the Student Union Building. President Charley Patrick acted as toastmaster and Dr. Fischbach was the speaker of the evening. His talk, though brief, was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. All those who attended were instilled with a deep sense of pride and responsibility, a strengthening of fraternal bonds, and the firm conviction that every year will be a bigger and better year for Delta Tau Delta.

Following the initiation, a formal dance was held at Club Joy in honor of the initiates.

INTRAMURAL CHAMPIONSHIP SEEMS LIKELY

The brawn of Delta Epsilon is on the march again. Hopes are running high in anticipation of winning the all-participation trophy in intramurals this year. These hopes are not exactly unfounded. In the past few weeks we have succeeded in overcoming a large deficiency in total points and now lead the field by a slight margin.

Our first bid for the laurels was in football. We received the runner-up trophy after losing a heart-breaker for the championship title.

We are now making our bid for the crown in badminton, bowling, golf, and softball.

Delta Zeta—Florida

Delta Zeta's many accomplishments this year are far overshadowed by the most important event of recent Delta Tau Delta history in Florida—the installation of Delta Phi Chapter at Florida State University. Most of Delta Zeta Chapter migrated to Tallahassee to perform the formal initiation and pledging ceremonies on the week end of March 4 and 5.

SCHOLARSHIP IMPROVES

In scholarship Delta Zeta improved its usual high position when both the active chapter and the pledge class moved to fourth place among fraternities on campus on the basis of grades from last semester.

EDITOR COUNTS ON REMAINING

When the students of the University of Florida go to the polls in April to elect their representatives to the student government at Florida, they will find the Delts in prominent positions. Brother Harvey Page, serving as chairman of the major political party on campus, has organized a strong and effective campaign which promises the very probable re-election of Brother John Trinkle as editor-in-chief of Florida's quarterly variety magazine, the election of Brothers Paul McKinley and Bob Kiker to the Executive Council, and the election of Brother Al Gammage to the Honor Court.

Social Chairman David Mayberry has taken gigantic strides to make Delta Shelter a favorite meeting place for Florida's newly acquired coeds. A function of some description has been held every week end to supplement this mass fraternization. Receptions are held semimonthly for the sororities in an effort to keep in touch with the fairer sex.

The first of April served as Rainbow Week End and found the Delts intent on entertaining their dates in high style. A formal dance with music by Brother Ed Lang and his orchestra was halved by the selection and crowning of a Delt Queen on Friday night. Breakfast was then served at the Shelter by Brother Emmett Bittick.

Saturday at high noon the Shelter was the scene of a picnic for all hungry Delts and dates. That afternoon an informal tea dance was held at one of Gainesville's finest clubs, during which entertainment was emceed by Brother Hugh Cobb. The final act of the week end was an awe-inspiring dance at the Shelter, with a hot combo setting the rhythm patterns.

SETS INTRAMURAL RECORD

Brother Al Harrington as intramural manager led the Delts to fourth place among fraternities on campus. We reached the finals or semifinals in all the minor sports. The coming softball tournament should find Delta Tau Delta in first place with Brother Harold Bert setting the pace by pitching a no-hit game, with twelve strike-outs, as an opener. This feat is a Florida intramural record.

Delta Eta—Alabama

The first big event of the winter quarter at Delta Eta was the annual Rainbow Ball. It was held at the Tuscaloosa Country Club and was led by Miss Martha Jo Rutledge, Pi Phi from Anniston, Alabama, escorted by President Bill Thompson. Many alumni were present.

Later in the quarter, a Backward Party was held at the Shelter. This event proved to be successful, since all customs were disregarded in order that everything would be reversed. The girls called for their dates, presenting them with dead corsages. They were pleased later in the evening to discover that the women—instead of the men—formed the "stag" line.

WINS INTRAMURAL TROPHY

Another trophy was added to our collection when our team copped first place in the intramural tournament, after Bill Ash and Walt Carlson defeated KA's two straight games in the finals. Our basketball team captured third place in league standing. Pacing the attack was Pledge Brother Joe Kern, who made the all-league team and was second highest scorer in the league.

This season finds the Delts well represented on Bama's varsity squad. Jessie Ayres is one of the hurling pitchers for the varsity. Curt Rivers is in line for second-string catching position. John Kern, Bill Ash, and Gus Friant are seeking pitching positions. Ray McMath is out for catcher.

WITNESS DELTA PHI INSTALLATION

Toronto Delts survey their snow sculpture.

State University in Tallahassee, Florida. They were impressed by the progress which the new chapter has made thus far and wish it luck in the future.

PRESIDENT PRESENTS KEYS

President W. H. Brenton will visit the Shelter the latter part of April on his way to the Southern Division Conference in New Orleans. President Brenton at a luncheon will present the retiring officers their keys for extraordinary service during their term. The retiring officers are: president, Bill Thompson; vice-president, George Lee Pard; recording secretary, Ken Nall; and corresponding secretary, Joe Booth.

Delta Theta—Toronto

With the end of the school year just around the corner at Toronto, there is little activity to report. A few of the fellows, however, found time to do some snow sculpture, namely an elephant and a girl, when there was an unexpected heavy snowfall during the second week of March. Most of the credit for this work of art can be given to Brothers Bill Scott, Bob Richards, and Rocky Telfer.

As the school year closes, we can look back on a terrific Fraternity year. Huge successes were our football parties, hard-times party, annual stag, Christmas party, and above all, the formal. It was also a great pleasure to see the good turnout of alumni for these parties and in particular the large numbers who came back to Delta Theta for our homecoming week end.

Delta Iota—U. C. L. A.

The Paddle Party recently honored our new initiates and the incoming pledge class. The party included a formal dinner party at the Shelter, followed by dancing at the Bel Aire Country Club.

Another feather in our cap was the dinner party we gave for all the sorority house-mothers on campus. This was the brain-storm of Brother Cliff Wade and sent our stock on Sorority Row up 100 per cent. Exchanges and television parties have since helped to round out our social activities.

March 3 found the chapter out one hundred per cent for the Los Angeles Founders Day Banquet held at Larry Potter's Supper Club. It proved to be an excellent opportunity to strengthen alumni relations and interchapter spirit.

MOTHERS CLUB ENTERTAINS

Our Delta Iota Mothers Club, now in the midst of a project to redecorate our playroom, has been more than a little active. The club recently held a fashion show-tea at the Shelter, which went over the top as a money-making venture. Some three hundred ladies were in attendance for an afternoon of bridge, tea, and fashions.

REACH FINALS IN FOUR SPORTS

On the intramural scene, the Delts have reached the finals in basketball, tennis, volleyball, and bowling. With strong entries in track and swimming, we are already making room on the trophy shelf for the gold cup signifying first place in fraternity athletics. In intercollegiate competition, besides having half the swimming team in the house, we have brothers on the gymnastics and rugby teams, while seven of the huskier lads are vying for positions on the football squad under the new coach, "Red" Sanders. Darrell Riggs, Bob Watson, and Roy Jensen seem destined to hold down starting assignments, while "Roundo" Pace should have much to say about who holds down the center slot.

AFFILIATES CONTRIBUTE

The "Great Migration" to Southern California has been reflected here in the chapter with four recent affiliations. Cliff Wade from Kansas University, Dave Nelson from California at Berkeley, Larry Tucker from Butler University, and Dick Cruise from Michigan have all entered into the picture here, bringing with them a few new ideas to help strengthen the chapter.

Delta Mu—Idaho

The annual "Russian Ball" given by Delta Mu every February is a well-known and greatly-anticipated campus tradition at the University of Idaho. Known as the chapter's biggest affair of the year, it starts at two o'clock with a Smorgasbord and an afternoon of fun and entertainment at the Shelter.

The Ball was held this year at a Deltonian Lodge across town. A gay and foreign atmosphere was created throughout the lodge by the Delt beards and Cossack costumes, supplemented with appropriate decorations. In that each Delt is urged to invite at least one guest and date to the Ball, every organization on the campus is well represented at this function.

LEAD IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Leading the representation of an active Delta Mu participation in campus activities this year are Richard Boyle, president of Interfraternity Council; Ad Starner, president of Greek Caucus and secretary of the local chapter of American Society of Civil Engineers; Bob Dahlstrom, president of the local chapter of National Students' Association; Walt Jain, editor of the campus humor magazine; and many other Delts in the local and national honoraries.

ACTIVE IN SPRING DRILLS

Along the sports line, Richard Moore, starting quarterback on the freshman eleven last year, and John Christenson, varsity halfback, are turning out for varsity spring practice. Duane Kirk, state high school champion, has the 100-yard spot cinched on the track team. John Morley and Dale Faylor, number 1 and 3, respectively, on the varsity golf team, are practicing their slices again. Helping to maintain Delta Mu's position as one of the intramural leaders, our table tennis team—Saari, Feldhusen, and Lawrence—recently won the campus championship.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

Delt Kelly Lathrop distinguished himself by taking the all-college squash title. The Delt basketball team had to content itself with second place honors when the Phi Delts edged the Delts, 38-36. In a post-season clash, however, Delta Nu gained revenge by thoroughly whipping the Phis, 43-34. Spring football claims Larry Futchik, Ross Sackett, Don Geldmacher, and Dick Bickle, while track finds Don Hubers, Bill Gillham, Pete Notaras, Bob Hill, and Tom Boldenweck on the roster.

DELT NAILS EDITORSHIP

Bill Donald has nailed down the editorship of Lawrentian, the college weekly. Bill is a former sports editor of the paper and currently holds the position of sports publicity agent for Lawrence College. Helping Bill with the financial matters is Bob Hanisch, business manager. Bob formerly was the assistant business manager. In the sports department, Jim Vessey continues the old Delt habit of having at least one brother writing a column on the athletic exploits of the Vikes.

SING WITH FAMOUS CHOIR

Brothers Futchik, Bickle, and Jim Polivka took an extended side cruise, as members of the nationally famous Lawrence College Choir, to Chicago and Milwaukee. The choir gained additional recognition this year by giving a full half-hour concert over the nationwide facilities of the Mutual Broadcasting Company. Dean Waterman, who heads the group, is an alumnus of Delta Nu Chapter.

FOUNDERS DAY OBSERVED

Founders Day was duly recognized with a banquet and all the trimmings. Many alumni were present to hear the speakers and enjoy the turkey dinner.

Congratulations are definitely in order for Tom Brenzel and Bill Donald, who did the lion's share of work in preparation for the banquet.

As a fitting climax to the quarter's activities, Pete Green, Al Kremers, Bill Hinze, and Jim Vessey proved their ability as Thespians in the Lawrence College Theatre production of Hamlet. The production of this play represented years of preparation on the part of Ted Cloak, the director; therefore, it is with great pride that we congratulate our brothers on their performances.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

The men of Delta Xi became socially minded this year by holding three formals and several radio parties. The annual Hard Time Party was the first party of the year. A prize was offered to the couple appearing best dressed for "hard times." The honors were bestowed upon Wally Olson and his date, Kitty Page.

Shortly before Christmas vacation, the beautiful Dakota Hotel Ballroom was the site of our first strictly formal dance since the war. A banquet was given before the dance and a short program was presented.

The pledges put on a party for the activities shortly after the start of the second semester. All the entertainment was put on by the pledges. Jim Carrigan was master of ceremonies; however, Mel Skoglund and Ed Bjork furnished the party with applause and laughter by their sly jokes.

The Easter Formal, held in the house, featured a fine program arranged through the combined efforts of Ken Scholz, social chairman, and other committee members. The spring formal, held the latter part of May, will climax our year's social activities.

PLEDGES TOP ALL

The pledges have held the scholarship trophy here for the past three semesters by coming up with the top average among all fraternities on the campus. Just to prove their abilities, the pledges maintained the highest average among all sororities, halls, and fraternities last semester.

NAB BASKETBALL TROPHY

The chapter has participated in all intramural sports competed in at the University. Our football and volleyball teams were highly recognized for their drive and fine sportsmanship.

The Delts entered the intramural hockey league for the first time since the war. They were in there fighting all the way as they battled their way into the play-offs.

Our basketball team had a successful season, winning a large per cent of its games during the season. Delts were crowned consolation champs in the tournament, thus adding another trophy to our collection. Delt Ray Wilwant was chosen forward for the all-tournament first team.

PLAYS HOCKEY FOR SIOUX

Bob Phillips is the Delts' pride on the University hockey team. Bob hails from Noyes, Minnesota, an area known for its fine hockey players. Hockey is rapidly growing into the major sport here at the University, and the "Sioux" have received national acclaim for their fine hockey teams of the past two years. This was Bob's first year on the team; we expect even greater play from him next year.

WARBLERS WARM UP

Bob Ronne, musician and composer, has been directing a group of thirty men in song practice for participation in the annual interfraternity sing held on the banks of the English Coulee this spring.

Delta Xi boasts having many of the campus wheels and brains. Bill Moyer was chairman of the Military Ball last fall and was recently selected to Scabbard and Blade. Bob Moses played one of the leading roles in the Dakota Playmakers' latest production, Winterset, and is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi. Jim Carrigan, Norman Haugen, and Bob Ronne all are Phi Eta Sigma, the latter two men being recently selected for Sigma Xi, along with Dale Sellheim. Emanuel Liebelt is president of YMCA University Junior Cabinet and secretary-treasurer of the downtown YMCA. Student instructors in physics include Dale Sellheim and Eldon Nowstrup. Barney Martens is a member of Sigma Tau, an engineering honorary. Gordon Carlson and Don Peterson are members of Beta Alpha Psi.

Delta Omicron—Westminster

With able Scholarship Chairman Jim Moorman at the controls of the Delt grade-making machine, we should race across the finish line far ahead of all other groups as in previous years. A victory this year would give us five in a row, a mark not soon to be matched, since the previous record was two consecutive wins of the coveted trophy.

ALUMNI TURNOUT EXPECTED

GORDON MOFFET and KARL ARBOGAST of Nu (Lafayette). ARBOGAST is chapter president.

Delt Alumni HOLLOWAY, FRY, SCHOFIELD, FARTHING, HIGBEE, HILL, and BARNEY preside at a Beta Zeta pig roast in the Butler Shelter.

was if he had been present at the social committee's meeting some weeks ago. The main purpose of the meeting was to decide on a date for our Spring Formal. The decision was reached easily, since there was only one date open until the end of the school year—April 14. Speaking of the Spring Formal, big plans are being made for a large turnout of alumni.

Highlighting recent social events were a combined hayride and barn dance at which Gamma Kappa Deltas from Missouri U. were our guests. Exchange dinners with all the national fraternities have been held, an idea initiated by Social Chairman Bob Green.

It would be impossible to give a lengthy description of the new lounge. Its superiority over any other of its kind here at Westminster is evidenced by the fact that many clubs hold their special meetings there and by the fact that it is commonplace for visiting dignitaries to be escorted to the Shelter to see how fraternity men live. This would seem to indicate that the College thinks we have the best-looking house on the campus. We know we do.

DELTS ARE RUNNER-UP

The Delt intramural basketball team was generally acknowledged in preseason speculation to be the coming champs. This seemed to stack up pretty well when we defeated the champions of last year and went on to win three more in a row. The team lost one and went on to win all the rest, but that one loss put us in a tie, and, as a result, a play-off for the championship was necessary. That play-off was lost by the heartbreaking score of 31-32. When we say heartbreaking, we mean heartbreaking.

Delts will be well represented in varsity sports this spring. Howard Whiteway and Jim Moorman, both returning lettermen, will be on the golf team. Bob Schroeder, also a returning letterman, will be on the tennis team. Baseball will more than likely see three Delts playing—Dave McCallum, Tuck Gay, and Ned Rector. In addition, Thindlads Dick Duncan, Larry Woods, and Curt Wallace will be on the track team.

FRATERNITY PRESIDENT VISITS

An unexpected and most welcome visit to the chapter was made by Fraternity President W. H. Brenton. It was a pleasure to meet a distinguished Delt such as Brother Brenton, and Delta Omicron extends a cordial invitation for a return visit in the near future.

Delta Pi—U. S. C.

Spring brings with it the cinderpath meets. Delta Pi's claim to S. C. fame this season is Dean Dillingham, 190-foot javelin tosser. Dean has improved his marks in every meet under the able tutelage of Coach Jess Hill, and he hopes to be throwing the spear better than 200 feet by the end of the season. Chapter Vice-President Don Thomas is also competing in the spike trials, and his forte is the 100-yard dash. Hugh Kelly, pledge, is topping the high bar for the frosh track team.

In interfraternity sports, the Delta Pi volleyball and baseball teams look like good hopes to finish the season with honors. Bill Saunders, Bill Power, Bud Dall, George Mitchell, Bill Wells, and Newt Russell have been the regulars for the volley squad. Jack Ewing has been in charge of the softball ten.

CHAPTER INITIATES FIFTEEN

Fifteen boomers became actives in Delta Pi Chapter last March in impressive ceremonies at the chapter house under the leadership of President Bill Parker. A most spirited class, the new actives celebrated in bon vivant fashion at the Nikabob Restaurant in Los Angeles. "Old Timer" Steve Stewart gave the keynote speech of the evening.

Delta Rho—Whitman

Delta Rho's active membership rose to forty-four on February 20 when fourteen pledges were initiated. A banquet was held following the ceremony honoring the new members and the alumni of the area. At the banquet retiring President Roy Nilson formally handed over the gavel to our new president, Art DeBoer.

Two important events followed the initiation week end. Art DeBoer, Paul Hoerlein, and Jack Meers attended the Western Division Conference at Palo Alto February 25 and 26, and on March 5 our two honor pledges, Boyd Blakeslee and Robert Iten, attended the Seattle Alumni Chapter's honor initiation in Seattle.

ALUMNI CHAPTERS HELPFUL

Throughout this winter and early spring alumni interest and support have been a source of inspiration to Delta Rho. Both the Seattle and Portland chapters, along with the Spokane and Blue Mountain chapters, have helped us in many ways, both large and small, to achieve our goals.

DELTS COMPETE FOR VARSITY

Spring college baseball finds Ross Doherty turning out on the mound, and Brother Eckstrand and Brother Campbell are circling the cinder track for a try at representation on Whitman's track team. A newly organized winter sport on an inter-collegiate scale is skiing, and many Delts are found in on the ground floor. Paul Burton, Larry Smith, and Tad Deal have been making enviable records in their skiing in intercollegiate meets.

CHAPTER ENJOYS ELK STEAK

Delta Rho's annual elk-steak fry was again an outstanding success, with volumes of juicy, tender steaks being devoured with relish by all hands and their dates. Hunter Roy Peringer again was responsible for the feast, and this time he threw in twenty homemade apple pies. Roy is being graduated this year, and it looks as if we will be pledging a hunter next fall to carry on the tradition now established.

ADVANCE TO BRIDGE FINALS

David Horn and John Brunswig are currently in the finals of the college bridge tournament, and they have a splendid chance to emerge on top. David Allard and his intramural debate squad came off with second-place honors, with official commendation. Ray Haman, law student and debater, met debaters from California in a debate, representing Whitman College well. The choral group, again directed by Roy Peringer, showed very well in the annual choral contest. Many of the brothers are still pulling off starring roles in school dramatics. Jake Van House is currently starring in Androcles and the Lion, and Rod Bunnell and Ken Courtney have supporting roles.

SCHOLARSHIP FIRST ON CAMPUS

Delta Rho Chapter scored another resounding success in its steady march toward campus leadership by carrying off top honors among all fraternities at Whitman on the basis of scholarship averages for the first semester of the current college year.

The chapter's mark was a full four points above the all-men's average and three points above the all-College average.

Delta Sigma—Maryland

Delta Sigma has boosted its number of actives by eight new members. The formal initiation, followed by a "big and little brother" dinner, was held on March 27 before a gathering of actives and alumni.

Due primarily to the efforts of an active social chairman and committee, numerous Delta Sigma social functions have taken place in recent months. These include a special party at the Washington Boat Club. These functions are now coming off at the rate of better than one a week.

GAINS VARSITY BERTH

Jim Robinson, runner-up in this season's intramural tennis singles, blew his chance to take part in winning the doubles—this by virtue of defeating all present members of Maryland's varsity tennis team and thereby gaining a berth on said team.

PLAYING POLITICS

Politics have hit the Terrapin campus and the Delta Sigmas have their share therein. Frank Wright is a candidate for the Sophomore Men's League Representative, and past Delta Sigma President Smokey Pierce is being pushed for senior class president. Both men are backed by an organization of seventeen fraternity and sorority groups. Results next issue.

OUTSTANDING DELT

Don Kennedy, last year's chapter president, received a special recognition and award from the National Capital Alumni Chapter as Maryland's outstanding Delt. He received this award at the Founders Day Banquet.

Delta Upsilon—Delaware

Delta Upsilon has moved into its temporary Shelter at 230 East Main Street, Newark, and starts its second semester of operation with its first big objective gained. The Shelter, which will serve Delta Upsilon for the next three semesters, was obtained through the efforts of Dean George L. Schuster, the chapter faculty adviser, during the last weeks of January, and, after a five-day work period, twenty-five of the members and pledges moved into their new quarters to sleep through the coldest night since the blizzard of '88. Next day someone boned up on thermostats, and the great freeze was ended.

Our heartfelt thanks to the many alumni and friends who so generously aided us in furnishing the Shelter, and especially

Akron

The December meeting was canceled because of the holidays.

The January meeting was a dinner party for the members and their wives at the University Club. A very enjoyable party resulted—one the wives say they would like repeated.

Cleveland alumni in celebrating Founders Day in Cleveland on February 22.

Our first regular meeting of the new year was held March 24 at Semler's Hotel and was preceded by a fine dinner. Reports were given by Brothers Bid Edmund and Bob Stopher on the progress of the application for a chapter at Kent State. A brochure has been prepared by the committee and mailed to all the active and alumni chapters in the Northern Division describing Kent State and the local group desiring affiliation with the Fraternity. The Akron group is expending every effort to secure an active chapter in the area.

A nominating committee for election of officers in April was appointed. The committee consists of Bid Edmund, chairman, Bob Stopher, and Carl Jacobson. We hope to have a large turnout for election of officers in April.

An official delegate was elected for the Northern Division Conference on April 8 and 9, and a portion of his expenses was voted to be paid. The official delegate is Robert Stopher.

The meeting closed with an expression by the members that meetings be maintained at regular intervals. The third Wednesday of each month was re-established as the regular meeting night with the place to be Semler's Tavern.

JOHN R. FAVORITE

Founders Day celebrations broke all records this year in the number of gatherings held and the attendance! Some dormant chapters came to life; other chapters are increasing their activities. Four new alumni chapters have been chartered since the Karnea: Santa Barbara, California; Baltimore, Maryland; Beaumont, Texas; and St. Petersburg, Florida. Several additional alumni chapters are in the formative stage. This alumni activity is most gratifying and augurs well for future alumni strength, which is highly important in the development of the Fraternity.

An alert alumni chapter, like an alert business organization, keeps in fighting trim and maintains training during lull periods in preparation for the days when real competition sets in. Again I would like to stress the importance of stepping up interest and activity in a comprehensive rushing program to assist undergraduate chapters. Keep up the flow of recommendations to our chapters! Competition is always keen for the best men. Conduct rushing parties in your areas! Lubricate that rushing organization and technique that may have become rusty these past few years through disuse! Intelligent, aggressive rushing will assure our chapters of top quality personnel.

A word to this year's seniors: You are an undergraduate Delt only four short years. You will be a Delt alumnus the rest of your life. Your life as a Delt alumnus can be as rich in friendships established among Delt alumni as you found it as an undergraduate.

You can add much to our alumni chapters by bringing to them the current undergraduate viewpoints and problems and by helping maintain a close tie between alumni and undergraduates. You will derive much pleasure and benefit by taking part in the Delt alumni activities in your area. I never will forget how much a Delt alumni chapter meant to me when I was assigned to a strange city on my first job! Consult your RAINBOW for information on the Delt alumni chapter near you when you get located AND establish contact with the chapter there!

Joel W. Reynolds

Ashtabula

Ashtabula County Alumni Chapter marked Founders Day with a banquet February 21 at Swallowsala, with national Vice-President Francis M. Hughes as speaker. Brother Hughes, Mu, '31, gave an excellent talk on the meaning of the fraternal oath. Ladies' night was also noted at the occasion, and a goodly number of the brothers entertained their wives or sweethearts at the affair.

We were pleased to welcome a delegation from Alpha Chapter and the Meadville Alumni Chapter. We hope this will lead to a friendly relationship and a visit in the future of some of our men to one of their meetings.

Another feature of the evening was the singing of special chapter songs of Ohio Wesleyan, Miami, Ohio, and Allegheny. Brother Al Lewis entertained with a solo, "Delta Girl of Mine."

DICK BALDWIN

Atlanta

The attendance of our monthly meetings continues to improve. However, we still want to urge those who are not attending to come to the next one, and we feel sure you will become a regular attendant. Some of you are probably laboring under the illusion of a long, drawn-out business meeting. On the contrary, however, the business portion, though adequate, is brief, and the remainder of the time is strictly recreational. It's a swell opportunity to meet some old friends and enjoy yourself.

Our annual Spring Outing is planned for the early part of May. Alumni and actives from all three of the state chapters will attend. A whole day of outdoor recreation has been planned and a good attendance is expected.

May we please see you at our next meeting?

FRED H. DENDY, JR.

Baltimore

Regular luncheon meetings are being held monthly at the Southern Hotel Cafeteria the first Monday at 12:00 noon to 1:00 p. m. The response has been encouraging, but we are striving to increase the attendance.

Brothers Reeves, Sachs, Street, Clark, Pittman, Page, and Patterson journeyed to Washington, D. C., on March 3 for the Washington Alumni Chapter's Founders Day dinner. Paul Hoffman, ECA Administrator, gave a very informative and reassuring address on the operation of the Marshall Plan in Europe. George Sauer, football coach at the United States Naval Academy, put the Monday morning quarterback on the spot with an entertaining talk on football "a la Navy."

The chapter has been hard at work on its first major project, the Delta Sigma (University of Maryland) Furniture Fund. Letters of solicitation have been sent out and contributions have been received from Deltas in Baltimore, Washington, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and as far away as Ohio and New York. Nevertheless, the quota is lacking. Nearby alumni please note. Delta Sigma has no alumni to "hit"; hence it behooves all nearby Deltas to lend financial support to this worthy project, thereby establishing a Shelter worthy of a Delta Tau Delta Marquis.

Plans are being made for our second dinner meeting of the year in the latter part of April. The first dinner meeting was a huge success, and we feel that those brothers who were unable to attend this meeting will present themselves at our April meeting, thereby doubling the attendance—at least, this is our goal.

CHARLES S. DOWNES

Boise Valley

At a recent meeting of the Boise Valley Alumni Chapter, Maurice E. Byrne was elected president of the organization. At the same time A. H. Behrman was elected secretary. All Deltas in the Boise Valley area are urged to get in touch with the secretary for information concerning future meetings of the chapter.

A. H. BEHRMAN

Chicago

With something like a record crowd of undergraduates and alumni, the Chicago Alumni Chapter celebrated Founders Day on February 26 in the Banquet Room of the Palmer House. General Douglas Weart, Illinois Tech, '13, the speaker, himself led in a round of good old Delt songs before delivering a rousing call for renewal of devotion to country and the Fraternity.

The retiring president, R. E. "Port" Arthur, Illinois, '08, reviewed briefly the chapter activities of the past year and welcomed the newly elected officers, Ralph Butz, Baker, '21, president; C. C. "Bunker" Bean, vice-president; D. J. Cranston, Wabash, '17, secretary; and John Roddy, Lawrence, '42, treasurer. The new administration plans an intensive campaign to increase the membership and attendance at the regular Monday luncheons, Harding's at the Fair. The "Second Monday" talks by interesting Deltas will be continued. For the mid-April luncheon, we shall hear from David L. Taylor, Allegheny, '36, news editor of the Christian Advocate, on the religious aspects of the present European situation. Other interesting speakers are on tap for succeeding "Second Mondays."

Special events planned for the year are two golf parties and a rushing party before the beginning of the next fall term.

This chapter likes visitors. In case you are in Chicago on Mondays, remember the place of the luncheon—Harding's Grill, seventh floor of the Fair Store, Adams and Dearborn Streets.

A number of members of the chapter plan to go to Madison, April 8 and 9, for the Northern Division Conference.

D. J. CRANSTON

Cincinnati

The Cincy Deltas wound up their 1948 activities with the annual Christmas party and meeting, held on December 23 at the Cincinnati Club. On this occasion the annual election was held and the following new officers were elected for 1949: Jim Utrecht, president; Dick Krug, vice-president; Bill Schmidt, treasurer. Ralph Sigmond was elected to the Gamma Xi house corporation, and Charles Sulau was elected president of the house corporation.

On February 27 many of us joined with the Gamma Xi Chapter to welcome ten new initiates into Delt brotherhood. A fine banquet and program were arranged by Jack Stubbe and Joe Hoerth. We were privileged to have as our principal speaker Tom Herbert, former governor of Ohio. Eppa Rixey capably handled the toastmaster chores.

Your new officers are planning several fine affairs for the ensuing year. Your support is being counted on to make 1949 another successful year in our association's history. Don't forget—we still gather at the Cincinnati Club on Tuesday noons for lunch and hold an evening meeting on the last Tuesday of each month at the homes of various alumni.

ART JACOBS

Cleveland

Nearly two hundred Cleveland Deltas celebrated Founders Day with a banquet at the New China Restaurant on February 22. National Vice-President, Francis Hughes, and Stuart Fox, President of the Northern Division, were the principal speakers, both delivering exceptionally fine and inspirational talks. It was a great party, with President Bob Hartford presiding and Carr Liggett sparkling in the role of toastmaster. The actives of Zeta Chapter joined with the Cleveland Alumni Chapter not only in recognition of Founders Day but also in welcoming a fine group of young Deltas who were initiated during the afternoon preceding the banquet.

Following the traditional custom, the annual business meeting of the alumni chapter was held. This resulted in the election of the following officers: president emeritus, Dr. R. E. Ruedy; president, Otto Diegel; vice-president, Jack Baskin; treasurer, William Mould; and secretary, Randall M. Ruhlman.

During the coming months the Cleveland Deltas are looking forward to a "Bock party," a spring golf tournament, and perhaps a baseball party preceding the first night game played by the Champion Cleveland Indians.

Once again we extend an invitation to all Deltas in the Cleveland area to participate in any and all of our activities.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

This year the Columbus Alumni Chapter returned to its prewar policy of observing Founders Day with a banquet only. No dance was held in connection with the banquet; hence, it was strictly a stag affair.

This year we celebrated Founders Day on March 11 at the University Club. Seventy Deltas were in attendance. After an excellent dinner, the Delt charge was given most effectively by that old master, Charlie Flick.

Chi, Mu, Delta Tau, and Beta Phi active Chapters were represented. Excellent reports of chapter activity were given by the following men: Chi Chapter at Kenyon, Charles Hering; Mu Chapter at Ohio Wesleyan, Nason Allen; Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green, Bill Lieser; and Beta Phi at Ohio State, Dave King and Mac Prine.

Group singing by Deltas was done under the leadership of Rusk Whipps of the Columbus Alumni Chapter, with Jim Rhodes, president of the Beta Phi Chapter, at the piano. The "Four Roses," a quartet from Mu Chapter, were enthusiastically received as they sang both Delt and other songs.

Ed West, vice-president of the Northern Division, gave a brief but concise statement of the growth of the national Fraternity. The official meeting ended with an excellent rendition of the Delt Creed by Walter Heer, Jr., president of the Columbus Alumni Chapter.

ROBERT E. GIBBS

Denver

The new officers of the Denver Alumni Chapter are as follows: Bill Mark, president; E. Neal Smith, vice-president; and Tom Dodd, secretary and treasurer.

Our Founders Day banquet was held February 26. It was an occasion long to be remembered by those who attended, as it gave the alumni a chance to associate themselves more closely with the chapter. We also dropped by the Fraternity house for a while, then convened at "Blanchard's" ranch, which is a picturesque site located up Boulder Canyon. A good group came up from Denver, and after the speeches a business meeting was held by the alumni chapter.

TOM DODD

Greater New York

Our Founders Day dinner, which was originally scheduled for March 11, has now been definitely slated, from latest reports, for April 18. Our principal speaker will be Brother Paul G. Hoffman, and all those brothers who will be in the vicinity will naturally be welcomed. We hope to have a very good representation and are all looking forward to Brother Hoffman's visit.

Our regular monthly meetings are continuing. We always have interesting speakers. In the past they have proved so interesting that many of the meetings have gone way over the planned times, and we almost wound up having supper as well as lunch at the same place. We have tried to get some of the regular members, the fellows who come out to most of the meetings, to get up and speak for us at these luncheons. In this way we hope to get to know some of the brothers even better and to learn a few things about them and their work.

We are also planning on holding meetings in the evenings during the summer. In this way, we hope to get a few more of the brothers out who, because of business, cannot come to our luncheon meetings. We also hope to get out some of the younger and undergraduate members to these meetings. We will furnish more details after definite plans have been made.

The new secretary can be reached at Texline, Inc., 100 Gold Street. All other details concerning our luncheon meetings remain the same.

Houston

Matching the liveliness and rapid growth of Houston itself, the Houston alumni, in co-operation with Gamma Iota of the University of Texas, played host to a large number of Deltas from throughout the state and an impressive group from the nation at large by sponsoring the largest Founders Day banquet Texas has ever seen.

It was much more than the plush surroundings of Glenn McCarthy's new Shamrock Hotel that made April 9 a date to be remembered. The primary fact was that over 350 Deltas had gathered in Houston to see old classmates and meet new brothers—and they enjoyed it.

Maurice T. Angly, Houston lumberman, must have felt just a little proud as he saw so many Deltas enjoying themselves at the prebanquet smoker in the Grecian Room, for it was his optimism that inspired the Houston alumni to tackle the task and his determination that spurred us on to completion.

After a fine dinner served amid the splendor of the Shamrock Room, Hirst Suffield, president of the Houston Alumni Chapter, extended a warm welcome to the guests and turned the program over to toastmaster Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas.

The Honorable Jesse Jones, Houston businessman and former national Secretary of Commerce, was on hand as a guest of the Deltas to introduce our speaker Attorney General Tom C. Clark. Brother Clark, himself a former president of Gamma Iota, now has a son, Ramsey Clark, in the undergraduate chapter in Austin.

Present, also, were three Distinguished Service Chapter members: Dr. H. T. Parlin, Dean of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas and long a friend to the chapter there; Judge Walter S. Pope, Sr., a founder and early president of Gamma Iota; and General Albert Sidney Johnson, long prominent in both Delt and Army circles, who was given his Distinguished Service Chapter Citation at the banquet for his devoted service to the Fraternity.

Lending even more an official air to the occasion was the presence of John W. Nichols of Oklahoma City, recently elected President of the Western Division of the Fraternity. John, even though still a young man, has built a solid reputation for himself in the southwestern section of the Fraternity through his tireless efforts as chapter adviser to the strong Delta Alpha Chapter at Oklahoma.

The Gamma Iota Chapter was present 85 men strong and furnished a 25-voice chorus to add music to the program. John Fry, president of the undergraduate chapter and former president of the student body of the University of Texas, conducted the presentation of the annual awards.

Mrs. Sophia D'nepoff, escorted into the banquet hall by Silas B. Ragsdale, Jr., was presented with a lovely bouquet of red roses by Brother Angly for her endless work and deep devotion as housemother of the undergraduate chapter. Ralph A. Johnston, Houston oil operator and general chairman of the banquet, presented Mrs. Nell Del Barto of Angly Lumber Company and Ed R. Richardson to the crowd in recognition of their constant attention to the drive that made this gathering possible.

Opening their doors to a hundred and fifty Delt wives, Brother and Mrs. George A. Butler served cocktails and dinner in their beautiful River Oaks home during the banquet celebration. Later many Deltas and their wives joined at the hotel to gather in the luxurious Emerald Room for dancing to the music of Carmen Cavallero's orchestra, while others visited old friends at the various open houses in the hotel and in the homes of Houston families.

Special mention is surely due those people who traveled here from other states to join the Texans in this celebration. Among them were Edward Angly of New York, Dr. G. D. Gammon of Philadelphia, J. E. Carson of Mexico, Glenn Chaney of Alabama, M. C. Parrish, Jr., of New Mexico, L. H. Wilson and H. T. Moran of Oklahoma, and George T. Holmes of Kentucky.

It took the enthusiasm and diligence of numerous Deltas to provide this memorable festivity. Some of the men to whom a vote of thanks is due are Ralph A. Johnston, general chairman of arrangements; George A. Butler, host to the Delt wives; Ed Richardson, competent ramrod and general arranger as deputy chairman; Silas B. Ragsdale, Sr., publicity chairman; Claxton A. Parks, arrangements for guests; Dr. H. T. Parlin, program clearance and co-ordination; Coleman Gay of Austin, transportation of undergraduates; Phillip B. Ezell, musical arrangements; Charles R. Westmoreland, Jr., arrangements for smoker; and Rolland M. Chamberlin, photographic arrangements.

In typical Texas style the Houston alumni have extended a challenge to the Dallas alumni to top this event in their home next year. Hundreds of Deltas await anxiously the Dallas alumni answer.

GEORGE M. WOLFORD

Indianapolis

Delt brothers numbering 335 were awestruck with the precision of the annual Founders Day program commemorating the ninetieth anniversary of Delta Tau Delta, held March 5 at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. Judge Alex M. Clark, introduced by Carter B. Tharp, president of the local alumni chapter, ably emceed the proceedings and adjourned the session on schedule at 9:30 p. m. This feat is an accomplishment in itself.

As the program got under way, distinguished guests were introduced. Among these alums was Charles E. Higbee, Beta Zeta, '89. It certainly was a pleasure to see so many of the older Deltas still showing a profound interest in the Fraternity.

Brother Norman MacLeod, Gamma Sigma, '17, came all the way from Pittsburgh to reminisce with us about Delt days gone by and to give us an insight on what can be expected in Delt days to come. We all enjoyed the talk and certainly hope that Norm will be back with us again soon.

Several years ago, when the Karnea was held in Indianapolis, a Delta Tau Delta Scholarship Foundation was formed. Each year this Foundation presents a scholarship award to the one chapter in the state having the best scholarship standing on its respective campus for the past year. Foster Oldshue, Beta Beta, '24, made the award this year on behalf of the Foundation. The scroll and a fifty dollar cash award were presented to Beta Zeta at Butler University which had rated a very close second in scholarship among all Butler fraternities during the last complete school year.

The principal speaker of the evening could not have been better chosen. This writer overheard several remarks after the banquet which would lead one to believe that Earl B. Teckemeyer would be welcome to come back next year. That is certainly a compliment to any speaker. "We All Have Ideas, But—" was the subject of his talk, and he certainly put his ideas across in a pleasing and convincing manner. Mr. Teckemeyer is well known in the real estate business throughout the country, and Deltas who have heard him speak will certainly agree that he is little less than terrific. We would highly recommend him to other alumni chapters for any of their programs.

The chapter stunts were run off with clocklike precision, for each stunt was timed by the clock. The offerings of each of the chapters ranged from eight to twelve minutes and were all well received. We might point out at this time that Gamma Lambda at Purdue won the stunt award for the second straight year, and that all of the other chapters certainly received honorable mention both for their excellent performances and wonderful co-operation. This competition is quite obviously becoming more keen each year, and of course we are really looking forward to a terrific show next year. Congratulations once again to Gamma Lambda!

Attendance awards were won this year by Beta Alpha, Beta Psi, Beta Beta, and Beta Zeta, with Gamma Lambda falling short of the ninety per cent of active membership in attendance necessary to win a cup. This award will be made on the same basis at ensuing Founders Day banquets.

From what we were able to observe at the dance following the banquet, it appears that the music was just right and the mood of all was still at a bright height when the last strains of music rang down the curtain on a very successful Founders Day celebration. All present seemed to be well satisfied that the program as a whole was a grand success.

Of course, a program of this nature could never be the success that it was without the help and co-operation of all concerned. This would include, of course, all of the chapters in the state of Indiana and all alums who had a hand in its success. Our sincere thanks go to Fred T. Hill, Dick Retterer, George O. Brown, Jr., Dick Harding, Hugh Thornburg, David Ruth, and Gene Hibbs, as well as Vice-President Bill Welch, Vice-President Malcolm McDermott, and Treasurer Kenneth Davis, who did so much to make this day one to be remembered.

Special mention is made here of our president, Carter B. Tharp, whose efforts in connection with the affair were outstanding.

RICHARD H. ENGLEHART

Jacksonville

The Jacksonville Club now holds weekly luncheon meetings in the Seminole Hotel, at noon every Friday. All alumni, visiting actives, and pledges of the two Florida undergraduate chapters are invited to drop in when they are in town.

Our group has a new interest—the Delta Phi Chapter at Florida State University in Tallahassee. The support of all alumni is sought in welcoming the Fraternity's newest chapter to the fold.

As a helpful gesture, local alumni are contributing to Delta Phi's paraphernalia fund. We even got a helping hand from Don VanBuren of the Columbus, Ohio, Alumni Chapter. It is hoped that those brothers who have not come across yet will do so at an early date so that Delta Phi will have the equipment it needs to function properly for all occasions.

HARRY V. CROWN

Kansas City

The new year saw the annual election of officers of the Kansas City Alumni Association. The large turnout was a tribute to the interest shown in Delt affairs in this area. The new officers for the year 1949 are: president, Tom Carr, Kansas, '40; vice-president, Ralph Black, Georgia Tech, '34; secretary, Ralph Hedges, Kansas, '44; and treasurer, Jim Lowry, Missouri, '47.

For those alumni who are constantly moving into this area or passing through we would like to mention again that our weekly luncheons are held at the University Club, 918 Baltimore, 12:15, on Thursdays. We have been meeting here for the past several years and are having a wonderful turnout.

The annual Founders Day banquet was the first affair of the year that the new officers could come into their own and the results indicated that there will be many more enjoyable evenings in store for the Deltas in this area.

Represented at the dinner were members of nearby Kansas, Missouri, Baker, Westminster, and Kansas State chapters. Other guests included Fred Kellogg, Missouri, '48, of the St. Joseph alumni and former field secretary; "Cap" Runyan, Baker, '20, president of the Southeast Kansas Alumni Association; Charles Miller, Missouri, '18, now in Jefferson City, Missouri, as a member of the State Tax Commission; and many other active and "otherwise" alumni of this area.

The predinner rallies started things off early in the evening with "The King's Men" supplying the music. After a wonderful steak dinner, Toastmaster Tom Carr gave us the plans worked out by the new officers for this year. These included plans for our monthly night meetings, the progress being made on our new directory, and the plans for the annual summer rush party to be held Saturday afternoon, July 9, for the combined Delt chapters in this area.

Martin Dickinson, Kansas, '26, Secretary of the Arch Chapter, was able to give us a very interesting résumé of the activities of the Fraternity as a whole and some of the future plans of other Delt chapters. To conclude the evening the official Navy films "Operation Crossroads," the Bikini atom bomb tests, and "The Fleet That Came to Stay," carrier action in the Pacific, were shown. Two very good technicolor films which we all enjoyed immensely.

We would like to congratulate Brothers Bill Hornbuckle, Missouri, '09, on becoming president of Missouri Abstract & Title Insurance Company and Dick Cannon, Oklahoma, '38, as the new vice-president of Universal Underwriters. These "Okies" really get around. We understand that Tom Greiner, Kansas, '28, will be leaving us this summer for California, being transferred out there with B. F. Goodrich Company.

Banny Tapp, Bob Falkenburg, and Dwight Reed, all Colorado, '51, dropped in during their spring vacation to visit us at our Thursday luncheon. Bob is the new president of the Colorado chapter and Banny is the son of Ken Tapp, Missouri, '11.

We are all looking forward to the evening meeting this month and planning on attending the rush party Saturday, July 9. Make it a date now!

RALPH C. HEDGES

Long Beach

Under the fine leadership of Dr. George B. Hanson, Long Beach alumni meetings have steadily increased in both alumni attendance and interesting programs. A great portion of this increase is due to the fine work of Brother Victor A. Mingers, who has taken charge of publicizing the monthly meetings. At the February meeting, a buffet supper at the residence of Dr. Hanson opened the event, attended by twenty Delts and their wives. Following the dinner, the Delts met in the basement rumpus room for a business meeting and the wives played bridge and chatted upstairs in the living room.

Ray O. Gould, at the February meeting, proposed an interfraternity banquet to enable fraternity alumni in Long Beach to get together. He was appointed chairman and Floyd Vinson, Chuck Wardman, and Bob Taplin are members of the committee to carry this project forward. During March and April weekly meetings were had with members of other fraternities, resulting in a banquet held on May 5 at the Virginia Country Club, attended by more than three hundred fraternity men. As a result of these meetings and the banquet, plans are being made to establish a permanent University Club in Long Beach, to be housed for the time being on the top floor of the Villa Riviera Hotel.

The March Founders Day banquet was held in the Empire Room of the Wilton Hotel, featuring seventeen alumni from the extinct Gamma Alpha Chapter of the University of Chicago who live in and about the Los Angeles area. Speakers included Francis Patton, former Delt President; Daniel W. Ferguson, past President of the Western Division, and Stanley Ikerd, pantomimist and entertainer. Sixty Delts attended this most successful meeting, thanks to the efforts of Victor A. Mingers.

Rushing parties and activities are being planned for the summer season, and any Delt in Long Beach or vicinity is invited to contact Floyd Vinson, Long Beach 762-12, regarding time and place of summer meetings.

FLOYD VINSON

Los Angeles

To keep informed our Delt brothers who might choose to have luncheon or evening dinner with the Los Angeles Alumni Association, we want to announce a slight change in the evening dinner date. The luncheons are still held on the first and third Thursdays of each month at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. The evening dinner at Taix French Restaurant in downtown Los Angeles, near the Union Station, is now held on the last Thursday of each month. We gather from 6:00 to 7:00 o'clock; then after libations and food, a general discussion is held or some entertainment is provided. All Delts please note this change in the evening dinner meeting.

During the latter part of February we were honored by a visit from President W. H. Brenton and Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, who passed through Los Angeles over the George Washington holiday, en route to the Western Division Conference at Palo Alto.

Although it was a holiday, under the direction of Natt Fitts about two-thirds of the U. C. L. A. chapter gathered together for an evening dinner, honoring our two distinguished guests. On the way north they stopped in and visited the Sigma Alpha Kappa local fraternity at the University of California at Santa Barbara. We will let them announce their decision on that visit.

Our Founders Day banquet, held on March 3, showed a total official attendance of 253, of which seventy were active and pledges from U. S. C. and forty-four were active and pledges from U. C. L. A.

A change was made from our usual custom of holding the banquet at the University Club of Los Angeles. It was held at Larry Potter's night club out on Venturi Boulevard.

We were honored to have a talk by Lamar Trotti, Georgia, '21. Brother Trotti was active in newspaper work in Atlanta, in New York, and did publicity work for the Will Hayes organization. He came to Hollywood in 1931 and has produced approximately fifty screen plays, which have grossed in excess of one hundred million dollars.

Some older films will be remembered, such as "Young Mr. Lincoln," "Ox-Bow Incident," "Razor's Edge," and "Wilson." On this latter play he received the Academy Award.

More recent pictures are "Captain From Castille," "Yellow Sky," and the most recent one which everybody will remember—"When My Baby Smiles at Me."

Our organization is honored, and we appreciate very much having men of the Lamar Trotti caliber take time out from their busy lives to spend time with us, either at our yearly banquets or our luncheon and evening meetings. We hope Brother Trotti will get the Delt habit and visit with us more often.

One of the high lights of the banquet was the presentation of a Delt ring to each of the two men from U. C. L. A. and U. S. C. who in the opinion of their own chapters had done the most for their chapters for that year.

The rings were presented to Bill Parker, Delta Pi, and Vince De Sousa, Delta Iota.

The success of our Founders Day ban-quiet and its being held in a night club setting will make the 1949 Founders Day banquet remembered by all of those present. Jerry Stewart, our chapter president, is to be commended highly on his hard work in putting the idea across. Jack Seiter was master of ceremonies and introduced the various speakers, succeeding in keeping order in spite of the tendency to raise the roof at times. Frank Rethlefsen presented the rings and introduced the speakers from the two active chapters.

Herb McKenzie, our executive secretary, was active, as usual, in taking care of the ticket selling, and was ably assisted by Jack Cain.

The thanks of the entire Los Angeles Alumni Chapter go out to these men for their effort in arranging this yearly banquet and the fine program.

JOHN R. MUDGE

Milwaukee

The annual Founders Day banquet for the Milwaukee Alumni Chapter was held again this year on March 9 at the University Club. As in the past, this function has been one of the most enjoyable and a meeting where true Delt fellowship prevails. We were fortunate this year in prevailing upon Larry Singer to serve as toastmaster. Rising to the occasion, he provided us with a very entertaining evening. He was somewhat embarrassed during the drawing of the door prizes, as his name was the first one drawn. This coincidence, as Brother Singer assured us, was purely accidental.

Following the precedent set last year, a silver tray was anonymously donated to the chapter as a second step of a tradition which we hope to continue throughout the years to come. Every year the names of all the Delts in attendance at the Founders Day banquet are engraved on that year's tray, which will be a part of the silver service in use at future meetings.

Red Johnson had his movie camera going during the meeting to record the activities for his film on Delt life in Wisconsin.

One of the high lights of the evening was the appearance of a very clever magician and sleight of hand expert. He really fooled everyone, including Brothers Richter, Reynolds, and Greco, who contributed ably as stooges.

We are sorry to bid farewell to Brother Frank Mulkey who has served as a board member in the past and will be a worthwhile addition to the Cincinnati chapter in the future.

The results of the election of board members were announced. The election of officers for the coming year will take place at the next board meeting.

A short business meeting was held, after which the members enjoyed good fellowship and the facilities of the University Club.

The day and location of the weekly luncheon meetings have been changed to Tuesday noon at the City Club. We invite all Delts from in and out of the city to attend.

JAMES A. GOETTER

National Capital

Activities of the National Capital Alumni Chapter for the past quarter reached their high point in the Founders Day dinner, held the evening of March 3 at the National Press Club in downtown Washington. Nearly two hundred alumni and undergraduate Delts gathered 'round the banquet board that night in what proved to be one of the best programs yet heard at these annual rallies of National Capital Deltedom.

Brother Paul G. Hoffman, Gamma Alpha, '12, Administrator of the Economic Co-operation Administration, delayed a trip to Europe in order to make the principal address, an off-the-record discussion of his work, worries, and hopes in administering the Marshall Plan. The intimate picture he drew of the inner workings and objectives of the Plan afforded those present a new insight into the vital role it has played and promises to play in the post-war world.

In a somewhat lighter vein, Brother George Sauer, Beta Tau, '34, head football coach at the United States Naval Academy, told of the work and worries of a "big league" football coach in a talk which sparkled with anecdotes and human-interest incidents in connection with last fall's great Army-Navy and other games.

A feature of the evening was the presentation by Brother N. Sidney Nyhus, Delta Iota, '33, retiring chapter president, of certificates of membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter to Brothers Percy Adams, Beta Omicron, '03; George Degnan, Gamma Eta, '17; Rhesa M. Norris, Gamma Eta, '14, and Richard D. Daniels, Gamma Eta, '09, who also ably served as master of ceremonies at the dinner.

The election of officers, also held at this meeting, gave Burr Christopher, Gamma Eta, '28, the presidency for the coming year, succeeding Brother Nyhus. Eric Collins, Beta Pi, '27, was elected vice-president; E. Pierce McDowell, Beta Rho, '34, was re-elected treasurer. Paul H. Hayward, Beta Beta, '21, was named secretary. Retiring vice-president was Brother Christopher; retiring secretary, Brother Dell Floyd, Gamma Mu, '09. Named to the executive committee were Brothers Nyhus; Raymond G. Clark, Beta Omicron, '19; Emil K. Mecham, Gamma Sigma, '36; H. B. Corwin, Chi, '42, and Daniel C. Eberly, Gamma Eta, '29. Retiring executive committee members were Henry Price, Beta Epsilon, '33; Eric Collins; Robert B. Montgomery, Nu, '24; and Rhesa Norris.

Music for the dinner was provided by Oliver Hoyem, Gamma Eta, '16, and other Delts from the National Press Club Glee Club, assisted by actives from the Gamma Eta and Delta Sigma Chapters.

Weekly luncheons of the chapter continue to be held each Thursday at 12:15 p. m., at Bonat's Restaurant, 1022 Vermont Avenue, N. W., with special luncheon programs once each month. Members who had passed the half-century mark in Deltedom were honored at the March 31 luncheon. All Delts visiting Washington are given cordial invitations to attend.

The chapter embarks on the new year in excellent financial circumstances and with already upward of 150 of the some

PAUL H. HAYWARD

Omaha

The Omaha Alumni Chapter is looking forward to the annual alumni-active banquet to be held April 13.

On about this same date every year the Omaha alumni write the active chapter of Beta Tau of Lincoln and invite the members to be their guests for an initiation and banquet. Special attention is paid to the sophomores and pledges.

After the initiation, the banquet is held with good food and Delt spirit in abundance. Bob Manley, the perennial president of the Omaha chapter, acts as toastmaster. This year much of the after-dinner time will be used to review the accomplishments of the active chapter during the past year. Also heading the agenda will be the latest news on Beta Tau's new Delta Shelter.

The new Shelter will be ready for the opening of school in September. I am sure this will greatly please all alumni of Beta Tau wherever they may be.

CHARLES G. ORTMAN

Rochester

The Rochester Alumni Chapter, which has been on the inactive list since the beginning of World War II, can once again be considered a full and regular member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. On Thursday evening, March 17, we celebrated Founders Day with a banquet at the Elks Club, elected officers for the ensuing year, and started the wheel of progress rolling toward rebuilding an organization which we hope will provide not only fellowship among its members, but genuine service to our Fraternity.

The following officers were elected to serve for a term of one year: president, R. Frank Smith; vice-president, Allan A. Fisher; and secretary-treasurer, William M. Runyan.

Twenty interested and enthusiastic Delts attended this initial meeting, which was headed by Herman J. Norton, Missouri, '13. Brother Norton, through his untiring efforts in compiling a mailing list and sending out notices, was instrumental in making our first organized meeting a success. It was no small task, considering the fact that the chapter had been inactive for approximately seven years.

We were honored to have Field Secretary Richard E. Smith with us as the principal speaker of the evening. Dick gave us a most informative talk on the problems and progress of Delta Tau Delta since the war, the outlook for the future, and the part an active alumni chapter can play in helping to promote that future.

Perhaps the most inspiring portion of the evening was prompted by the presence of Brother Warren S. Parks, Tufts, '97, who for many years before the war was the most outstanding leader of the Rochester Alumni Chapter. Any of the "old-timers" can tell you that Brother Parks is one of the finest and most loyal Delts to ever wear the Golden Square. Warren's activity has been limited because of his health, and we were indeed gratified that he could be with us for the evening.

Time would not permit us to work out all the organizational problems at our first meeting; so we are planning another meeting for April, at which time we hope to establish a time and place for regular meetings, formulate policies, and set up objectives. There is much work to be done, and the success of our organization depends upon the wholehearted support of the alumni in Rochester and vicinity. To those of you who were unable to attend our last meeting, we sincerely hope that you will be able to be with us in the future. To any of you who were overlooked at our last meeting, we apologize, and hope that you will make your presence known to us by dropping a card with your name and correct address to Bill Runyan, 5 Greenwood Street, Rochester 8, N. Y.

BILL RUNYAN

St. Louis

St. Louis alumni have been very active since the last report. The most important meeting was our Founders Day banquet which was held on March 16 at the University Club. Sixty-one men attended; ten of this number were from undergraduate chapters, Gamma Kappa and Delta Omicron.

We were fortunate in having with us two members of the Arch Chapter, William Martindill and Martin Dickinson. An interesting talk, "What's Going On in Delta Tau," was given by Martin Dickinson. The high light of the merrymaking was Delt songs sung by the unholy "six"—George Allen, George Fischer, Forrest Becker, and T-Bone Stake. Another high light of the evening was provided by Charles L. Campbell, Illinois Tech, who had been initiated forty-eight years ago that night. He was proudly wearing the old badge.

Our monthly meetings are still held at Belvedere Joes in the third week of every month. Weekly Tuesday lunch meetings are held at the American Hotel. Attendance has been good at both meetings.

We are happy to welcome to our alumni chapter William Martindill who has recently moved to St. Louis. We are sure he will give our group a big lift.

CRAWFORD A. KING, JR.

Santa Barbara

After several preliminary meetings, some twenty Deltas in Santa Barbara held an organizational meeting early in April and elected officers. C. A. A. McGee, Wisconsin, '99, heads the group. George Collins, U.C.-L.A., '39, vice-president; Evert Arnold, Washington, '27, secretary; John Hass, Minnesota, '31, treasurer; and Grady Drake, Florida, '44, corresponding secretary, complete the slate. Named to the board of directors in addition to McGee, Arnold, Collins, and Drake were Max Hammel, Kansas State, '34; George Relf, Allegheny, '98; and Sidney Pflum, Kenyon, '24.

Matters concerning the installation of Delta Psi Chapter at the University of California, Santa Barbara College, were discussed and preliminary plans for a summer rush program were drawn up.

Other Deltas living in Santa Barbara include Edwin C. Welch, Kenyon, '18; William S. Blackshear, Texas, '18; Clark Howell, Stanford, '38; William Pflum, Kenyon, '28; Robert L. Stevens, Colorado, '41; Davis S. Gaston, W. & J., '03; William S. Gaffney, Idaho, '33; Frederick L. Griffin, Syracuse, '10; Norman King, Illinois, '21; Maynard G. Guss, Ohio Wesleyan, '15; and Jim Wilson, Kansas, '48.

Delts traveling through California are invited to attend the monthly dinner meetings held the first Monday night of each month at Mrs. Kerry's dining room.

GRADY DRAKE

Seattle

Founders Day and the Annual Northwest Honor Initiation were combined this year to make the March 5 affair at the Olympic Golf and Country Club one of the most outstanding in Northwest Delt history.

The Honor Initiation, held in Portland and Seattle in alternate years, is a most important event to undergraduates and alumni in this part of the country.

Over 120 Deltas witnessed a picked team of alumni, headed by Ed Campbell, initiate two honor pledges from each of the following chapters: Delta Rho, Whitman College; Delta Lambda, Oregon State College; Gamma Rho, University of Oregon; Delta Mu, University of Idaho; and Gamma Mu, University of Washington.

Following the initiation there was a short social hour where old friends relived experiences they had not given a thought to in years.

Although Will Teller, chairman of the affair—congratulations on a wonderful party, Will—complained to the chef about the prime ribs being too well done, there was no noticeable lack of enthusiasm on the part of those at the table.

Bob Yeomans, rising young politico, was a very capable and humorous master of ceremonies. Bob is president of the Washington Young Republicans Federation.

Dean S. Newhouse, Director of Student Affairs at the University of Washington, was guest speaker, and his timely subject, "The Have's and Have Not's," was quite to the point and enjoyed with intense interest by all who heard him.

Wils Gaw, Seattle alumni president, closed the banquet with a presentation of an engraved ΔΤΔ plaque to each of the ten honor initiates. They were: Delta Rho, Boyd Blakesley and Bob Iten; Gamma Rho, Walter Lehman and Don Ford; Delta Lambda, Frank Curl and Bob Christy; Delta Mu, Bryan Lawrence and Darwin Cogswell; Gamma Mu, Gerald Norling and David Heggie.

It was good to see such faces as Helge Johanson and Tom Slipper from Bellingham, Magnus Anderson from Edison, and Gene Farrell from Ellensburg. The record for distance, however, went to W. H. (Bill) Gerretsen from Roseburg, Oregon. Glad you could make it, Bill.

The Portland Alumni Chapter was represented by Joe Adair, Gene McClung, and Dick McNamara.

Our regular monthly luncheon meeting was held March 17 at the American Legion Club with a good turnout present to hear "Mort" Frayn, state representative from the 43rd District speak on the current legislature at Olympia.

The Seattle Alumni Chapter now has 54 paid up members, money in the bank, and a going organization. We still would like to see more local alums join us at the monthly luncheon meetings, so pass the word around. Mark every third Thursday on your calendar! Place: American Legion Club, University Street at Seventh Avenue. We particularly welcome out-of-town alumni.

E. H. TOMASI

Stark County

Our annual meeting for the election of officers held in December brought a number of new and young Deltas, both active and alumni. We now have about 55 on our mailing list for Stark County.

A good meeting was held at the McDondalville Inn last month, and we are expecting quite a gathering for our April meeting which will be held the fourth, and will be for Deltas, their wives, and girl friends.

PHILIP S. YOUNG

Syracuse

On Saturday, March 5, the Syracuse Alumni Chapter held its Founders Day dinner at the University Club, following the initiation ceremonies in the afternoon at the Shelter. Eleven pledges were initiated, and, although we are prejudiced, we feel they are a fine group. At the banquet, the head table featured Joel Reynolds, representing the Arch Chapter, Frank Piskor for Syracuse University, Woody Benoit, president of Gamma Omicron Chapter, Forrest Witmeyer, president of the Syracuse Alumni Chapter, and, last but not least, Chapter Adviser Fred Stone.

It was a gala occasion with Joel Reynolds giving a crackerjack talk aimed chiefly at the new brothers. Frank Piskor congratulated them on behalf of the University, followed by congratulations from the other speakers. Alumni Secretary Deming was coerced into inviting the undergraduate chapter to his "country estate" for its annual outing, and the invitation was quickly accepted.

Twenty-one Gamma Alpha (Chicago) Delts celebrated Founders Day in Long Beach, California. Some traveled as much as two hundred miles to be present. (For legend, see opposite page.)

Following the "Walk-Around," led by Joel Reynolds, the entire assemblage adjourned to a private rathskeller where refreshments and unusual entertainment were provided. The "unusual" part of the entertainment was provided by our guest speaker, Joel Reynolds, as he ably emulated the feats of Houdini, Thurston, and other famous prestidigitators. The initiates were then given the opportunity to choose any five members of the active chapter for a rebuttal performance of Hell Week. It's amazing how much better the undergraduate selectees looked after egg shampoos. Altogether, it was another grand and typically Delt evening of good fellowship and clean fun.

Tampa

According to the calendar, the last three months should have been cool, at least, even in sunny Florida; but this was not true. Florida Delts drank their orange juice as much to keep cool as to get the vitamins.

In between gulps of orange juice somewhere, the boys managed to install Delta Phi Chapter at Florida State University. Brothers Gary Ennis and Syd Lenfestey, vice-president of the Southern Division, represented the Tampa Alumni Chapter at this function.

Tampa Delts helped the new chapter along by providing some of the electrical equipment used in the ceremonies and a brass chandelier for the hall of the Tallahassee chapter house.

At the present time the Tampa group is getting up a small group of rushees to take to Delta Zeta Chapter, spend the night in the Shelter, and participate in the week end of activities. In the planning stage, also, are a dinner and smoker for all Delts in the area sometime in April. If you happen to be in Florida at the time, don't miss it.

GARY ENNIS

Topeka

Sorry we missed the February issue. The Topeka group is going strong with increased attendance. There are several new Delts in Topeka that we are glad to welcome to our luncheon meetings.

Cliff Stratton, who has been Washington correspondent for the Topeka Capital for many years, is back in Topeka and was with us for the February luncheon. We enjoyed his talk and hope to have him with us often. He is a keen student of national and international affairs, and his talks are unusually interesting.

We regret the death of Supreme Court Judge Homer Hoch, who passed away in January. A loyal Delt from Gamma Theta at Baker, he kept his interest in the Fraternity all his life. A former member of Congress, he had been on the Supreme bench of Kansas for many years and had the respect of all who knew him.

On January 18, a dinner party for Topeka Delts and their ladies was held at the Ranch House. Although the weather was the worst of the winter, a good crowd attended and later adjourned to the home of one of our members, C. R. Gelvin, for dancing. The party was very much enjoyed, and we appreciate the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Gelvin.

At our February luncheon we were glad to have a delegation present from the active chapter at Manhattan, Kansas, Gamma Chi. We appreciate their coming and hope they come again.

For our April luncheon we are counting on having Martin Dickinson, Secretary of the Arch Chapter, with us for a talk. We are looking forward to this meeting.

Visiting Delts are always welcome.

FRANK F. HOGUELAND

Toronto

Your alumni chapter has now completed another year of operation which, according to the treasurer and those of you we have heard from, has been financially and socially successful.

Our operations have included a stag dinner at the Shelter, a formal dance held in conjunction with the active chapter, and the Founders Day banquet held on March 26. The stag dinner was covered in the preceding issue. The formal was held on a particularly stormy Friday night in February. The attendance was fairly poor—only twenty-three alumni—but considering the weather and the difficulty encountered by out-of-towners, it could have been worse.

The attendance at the closing dinner was very gratifying to your executive. Eighteen of the original Psi Delta Psi's were there plus thirty of the more recent graduates. Darrell Moore gave an exceptionally good talk, but we were all sorry he was unable to stay with us longer. He was forced to catch a train for Chicago at 10 p. m. The original president of Psi Delta Psi, Eddie Cousins, '06, was there with bells on. Jack Wilson, '06, with three box seats to a Stanley Cup playoff game in his pocket, remained for the complete evening. (Toronto lost anyway, Jack.) Jack and Bill Hepburn, graduates of Purdue University, were welcomed into the alumni chapter at the dinner and have already made a large number of new friends. Gord Vennels, '24, stopped in Toronto for the dinner on his way from Boston to Vancouver. We were all glad to see Gord, but we still can't figure out whether he was singing tenor or bass.

Plans are already under way for next year's Founders Day banquet. We hope to give you the date at least two months in advance so you can all make arrangements to attend.

BILL SEELEY

Tulsa

The Founders Day banquet was held on March 17. President Jack Harlow introduced the new officers, including Vice-Presidents Phalos Scott, Claude Gordon, and George Temple, Treasurer Paul Fielding, Secretary Bob Jones, and recounted his experiences at the Delta Alpha Founders Day banquet at Norman. Last year's Tulsa Alumni President Bob Bates was the featured speaker at the Norman affair. Jack gave a report on his address. Incidentally, Bob's son, Bill Bates, was initiated following the banquet. Four other Tulsa boys were initiated, also. Bob's nephew and namesake is vice-president of The Crescent Club, petitioning group at Oklahoma A. & M. College. Secretary Bob Jones discussed the progress of The Crescent Club's campaign toward a charter in Delta Tau Delta. A house corporation has been established at Stillwater. Parke Davis is vice-president, and Bob Jones is secretary of this corporation.

Toastmaster Claude Gordon next introduced our old reliable and Karnea Hound, Honk Wilson, who gave a report for the committee on the Easter dance which will be held the evening of April 16 at the Tulsa Hotel.

Dr. Bob Wright is the father of a new baby girl and will soon be joined in fatherhood by Paul Fielding and Phalos Scott. We trust that some Delt nuggets will turn up.

Tulsa Delts were glad to greet Keith Frazier of Kansas University for the first time and hope that Gene Buchanan, Henry Crone, Carl Matthews, Dr. James Peters, Don Pilkington, and Larry Reis will be seen often at our future meetings.

All alumni are being encouraged to pay the few dollars necessary into the Loyalty Fund to achieve Life Membership in the Fraternity which includes a permanent subscription to THE RAINBOW.

The Bob Bateses, Larry Wilsons, Ronnie Johnsons, Jack Harlows, and Bob Joneses are planning on attending the Founders Day festival in Houston when the Texas brothers hold forth in April.

Delt Chapters

to Dean Schuster, through whose efforts fifteen sorely-needed beds were obtained, and to the married actives, Pete Fagan, Howard Foster, Dick Harold, and Carl Noetzel, who put in a tremendous amount of hard and capable work in getting the Shelter ready for occupancy. Brothers Foster and Fagan also deserve praise for their skillful maneuvering at several auctions in the vicinity, which resulted in our furnishing five study rooms for less than a hundred dollars, thus allowing us to have a living room which ranks with the best on the campus, in style as well as comfort, the furnishings for which were purchased from a fund established by generous contributions from the Delt alumni chapters in Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore, and Washington.

Delta Upsilon, while proud of its accomplishment in attaining so soon a representative Shelter, realizes full well that this could not have been accomplished without the assistance of the Fraternity and its supporters in this area. We are deeply grateful.

TEN MAKE DEAN'S LIST

The Delaware Deltas compiled an estimable scholarship record this fall by ranking second among the nine chapters at Delaware, where fraternity scholarship is high, with a 2.5 index. Ten actives made Dean's List, and the members promise an even better performance in the current semester.

SPORTS SCENE IMPROVES

Varsity sports rosters this spring will include the names of Art Diver (baseball), Bill Dickerson, Bob Haley, Wayne Warner, and Willis Hoch (lacrosse), and Bob Donaghy (tennis).

In interfraternity competition, Delta Upsilon fielded teams in basketball and bowling and improved over last year's records in both sports. Members Walt Keithly, Fred Ashworth, and Pete Fagan and Pledge Bill Hughes placed second in the interfraternity team-of-four bridge tournament, and Keithly and Hughes, who represented the University in the Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament this winter, will go after the interfraternity pairs championship in April. This spring Deltas will participate in softball, volleyball, badminton, and bowling and have high hopes of returning pennants in two sports.

SOUTH CAMPUS APPROVES

The round of spring house parties was brilliantly started with a week-end open house which found cars lined up for blocks around the Shelter, which was crowded to its ultimate capacity. According to the South (girls) Campus grapevine, Deltas set a new high in entertainment and will have little trouble remaining on top socially if the formula isn't lost and repeats on the opener can come forth as the season progresses.

SHELTER REMAINS OPEN

We wish to extend an invitation to all actives and alumni to drop in and take a look at our Shelter, which will remain open throughout the summer.
