OF DELTA TAU DELTA

One Moment, Please

This issue's cover is an early-autumn photograph of the Whitman College campus in Walla Walla, Washington, home of Delta Rho Chapter. With the picturesque Blue Mountains as a backdrop, the Whitman scene in any season provides an appropriate setting for the ideals of college and fraternity life.

On the facing page, we introduce the General Chairman of the Sixtieth Karnea and the committee which will work with him to fashion another memorable Delt event. We give you a glimpse, also, of the numerous pleasures awaiting you next August 23, 24, 25, and 26. Now that you have the dates in mind, why not mark your calendar and start checking train schedules to Columbus?

Dates of more immediate interest to Eastern Division Delts are December 2 and 3, 1949, when the Eastern Division Conference meets in Philadelphia. Headquarters for the Conference is the Warwick Hotel.

A new feature is introduced in this number. It is "Can You Name These Delts?" on Page 18. We invite you to test your memory concerning three great Delts, all of whom made significant contributions to humanity during their lifetimes.

In recent months the "Mailbag" department has grown with each issue. This increase has been made possible by a large number of Delts who regularly submit news clippings and information concerning members of the Fraternity. We are grateful to these good Delts; we invite others to join them in their helpful service.

Columbus Winds Up for Karnea

WHEN THEY TOLD US that the Karnea would be held in Columbus, Ohio, we felt sure it would be a good Delt meeting. When they told us the 1000-room Deschler-Wallick Hotel had been selected Karnea headquarters, we began warming up even more.

And then when they told us that Ed West had been named General Chairman of the Sixtieth Karnea, we didn't see how it could miss.

W. Edgar West, Ohio Wesleyan, '23, is a tall, genial gentleman to whom getting-things-done is second nature. He has been on the Delt firing line since the day of his initiation into Mu Chapter. In the first place, he is a vice-president of the Northern Division. He has been treasurer of Mu Chapter's house corporation for 20 years. An active member of the Columbus Alumni Chapter, he is a past secretary of the organization. And he has done something for the Fraternity's manpower situation: his son is an undergraduate Delt at Ohio Wesleyan.

Mr. West does not limit his activities to Delta Tau Delta. For the past five years he has been an alumni director of Ohio Wesleyan University. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa Fraternity, national leadership honorary.

In the business world, the General Chairman is treasurer of the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies, with which he has been associated since 1928. He is a member of the Controllers Institute of America.

Solidly behind Mr. West stands the alert Columbus Alumni Chapter, ready to throw its resources into the job of making the Sixtieth Karnea a great Delt event. With the big show still eight months in the future, the General Chairman has already organized his committees, and the spadework has begun.

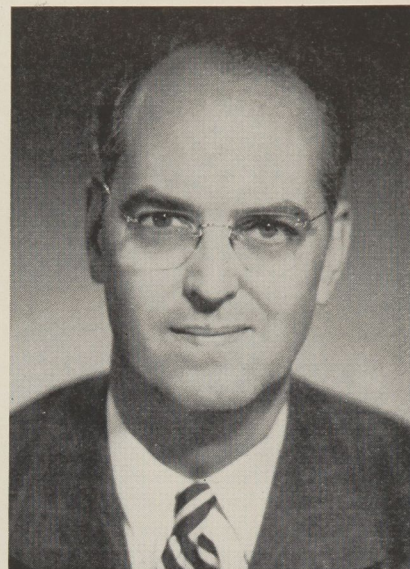

Here is your Karnea Committee: Charles W. Flick, Allegheny, '15, Attendance; Frank M. Mallett, Kenyon, '34, Entertainment; Jacob A. Shawan, III, Ohio State, '39, Chapter Reunions; Harold W. Wellinger, Ohio State, '38, Publicity; Donald J. Wolpert, Ohio State, '40, Dance; William C. Heer, Carnegie Tech, '43, Finance; Robert K. Zimmer, Ohio State, '24, Model Initiation; Walter F. Heer, Jr., Dartmouth, '37, alumni chapter president; Will R. Underwood, Ohio, '22, alumni chapter vice-president; and Robert E. Gibbs, Ohio State, '35, alumni chapter secretary.

Columbus will be ready.

And the Fraternity will be ready for Columbus. It has been 27 years since a Karnea has poured into the Buckeye state.

The Karnea will be at home in Ohio. It ought to be. There are more than 4500 Delts in the state. Its colleges boast eight fine Delt chapters, whose origins stretch back 87 years. Its chapters have given the Fraternity six Presidents and countless other loyal supporters. Its cities contain ten Delt alumni chapters—more than any other state.

These are Ohio's undergraduate chapters with their dates of founding: Beta at Ohio (1862); Mu at Ohio Wesleyan (1866); Chi at Kenyon (1881); Zeta at Western Reserve (1882); Beta Phi at Ohio State (1894); Gamma Xi at Cincinnati (1909); Gamma Upsilon at Miami

W. EDGAR WEST

(1916); and Delta Tau at Bowling Green (1948).

The Chief Justice of Ohio's Supreme Court is a Delt—Carl V. Weygandt, Wooster, '12; you will see him at the Karnea. Of course Thomas J. Herbert, Western Reserve, '15, former Governor of Ohio, will be there. Both of these Delts are members of the Distinguished Service Chapter.

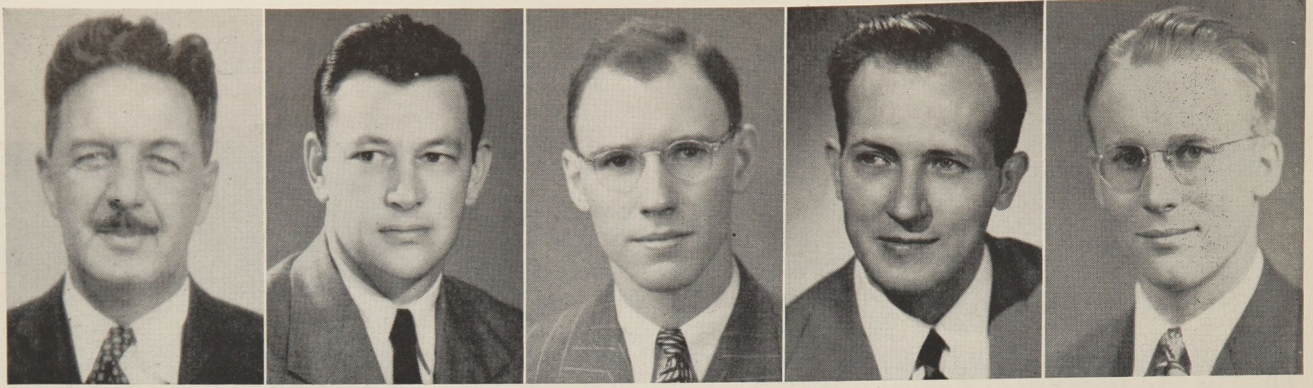

Often referred to as the heart of the fraternity system, Ohio has seen many of the old-line nationals founded within its borders. Bethany, cradle of Delta Tau Delta's infancy, is just a stone's throw from the Ohio border—not more than 150 miles east of Columbus. Yes, the Sixtieth Karnea will like Ohio.

Columbus will welcome its first Karnea in 63 years. This is the third for the Buckeye capital, the first two being in 1871 and 1887. An odd coincidence is the fact that the dates of the Sixtieth Karnea are exactly the same as those of the 1887 convention: August 24, 25, and 26. For 1950, however, an additional day, Wednesday, the 23rd, is to be included. The extra day will provide elbow room for business sessions and round tables, so that delegates will have ample opportunity for the discussion of vital issues. Although Wednesday's session will probably not open until noon, organization of the Karnea can be effected that day, leaving three full days for business meetings and the entertainment program.

That 1887 meeting was historic. It laid the groundwork for the present-day Constitution. And it was not without its lighter moments. For instance, you will find the following resolution in the convention minutes of that day:

That the thanks of this Convention be tendered to the gentlemanly proprietors of the Neil House, for their thoughtful kindness in painting the door, and that we hereby request that the coat of arms of the Fraternity be painted thereon, to the end that the impressions transferred therefrom to the backs of the members shall be appropriate and striking.

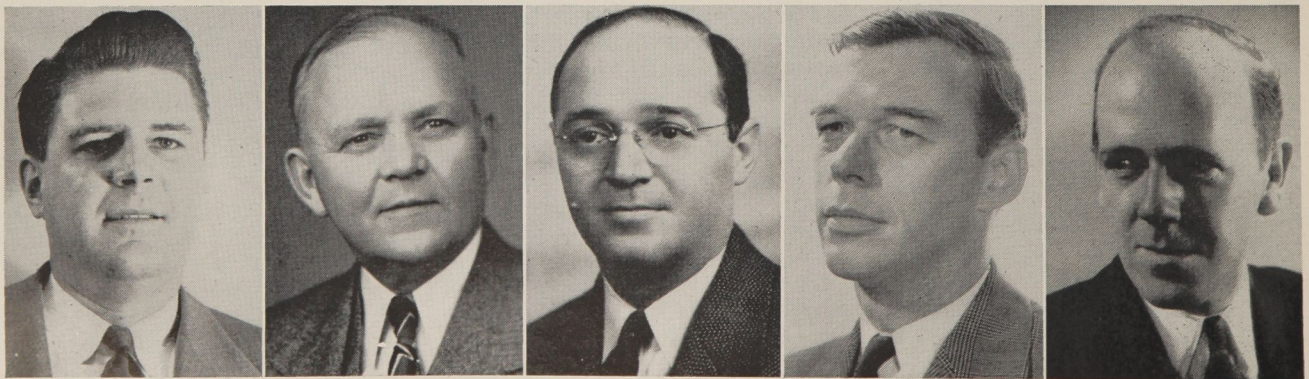

The historic Neil House, now a modern, up-to-date structure, stands just around the corner from official Karnea headquarters for the Sixtieth, the spacious Deschler-Wallick. Even now the hotel management is engaged in enlarging its meeting and banquet facilities, and best of all, is installing air conditioning—good news to Delts just in case August takes one of its characteristic hot turns.

As early planning unfolds, the committee has already revealed that a special treat is in store for Karneagoers. John W. Galbreath, Ohio, '20, has generously invited the Karnea to enjoy an outing at his famous 4000-acre Darby Dan Farm just outside Columbus, where he will be host to a thousand pleasure-bent Delts. The beauty and charm of this spacious showplace, whose stables have produced many champion race horses, will provide a welcome respite from Karnea business sessions. Mr. Galbreath, a Columbus realtor, is a past president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, a trustee of his alma mater, a member of the state board of agriculture, and part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club. He is also a good Delt.

Full details of the entire Karnea program will be carried in a later issue of THE RAINBOW, but we can assure you now that your committee is making full preparation for such traditions as the Karnea ball, the Karnea banquet, and a model initiation. The popular chapter entertainment night, introduced for the first time in 1948, will bring you unparalleled enjoyment. Nor will the ladies be forgotten; a special program is in store for them.

Yes, Columbus Delts are winding up for a great Karnea. And, as they have always done, they will deliver.

THE KARNEA COMMITTEE (continued): JACOB A. SHAWAN, III, Ohio State, '39, Chapter Reunions; CHARLES W. FLICK, Allegheny, '15, Attendance; ROBERT K. ZIMMER, Ohio State, '24, Model Initiation; FRANK M. MALLET, Kenyon, '34, Entertainment; ROBERT E. GIBBS, Ohio State, '35, Alumni Chapter Secretary.

Coaches Praise Glasgow Invention

By ROBERT T. PITTMAN, W. & L., '51

When W. & L. wanted to train its crew in the college swimming pool, this Delt's ingenuity solved the problem.

PHI CHAPTER has turned up with an inventive genius.

He's Wink Glasgow, the inventor of a machine that authorities of the college crew industry claim will revolutionize their work.

Glasgow, a Lexington, Virginia, boy who chose to go to school in his home town at Washington and Lee University, came up with his miracle machine to solve the problem of his school's crew coach.

Wink's coach was working on a shoe-string budget. And since the only place to practice was some 20 miles from the campus, work on the small end of an oar was hard to get.

So Wink set his mind to work on a solution.

He's had plenty of experience along those lines. At a New England prep school he had been a star coxswain. But when he entered W. & L. as a freshman he found no team. Immediately he set to work to organize one.

That was a pretty big job for a little fellow like Wink. But he kept his shoulder to the wheel, and before he had completed his freshman year, W. & L. had its crew, thanks to Wink Glasgow.

He was too big to occupy his old position in the stern of the shell, and the 140 pounds on his five-foot, five-inch frame was too light for an oarsman. So Wink COACHED the team.

Like fire, the sport caught on at W. & L. and Wink's team did very well. Although it did not always win, there was a lot of team spirit.

Then W. & L. officials decided that the crew rated a coach. When he arrived, Wink worked as his assistant.

As the new coach saw the hardships he was to work under, he asked his assistant to work out some methods whereby the team could get practice at a location which was readily accessible.

Wink put his naturally inventive mind to work. Where would be the easiest place for the crew to practice? The gymnasium—but who had ever heard of a crew working out in a gym?

It was a strange-looking machine that took shape in the basement of the Glasgow home. At first it was kept a dead secret, but after the patent was secured, coaches were invited to see it. Coaches from all over the East swarmed into Lexington. "This machine will work wonders for small colleges that can't afford a rowing tank," they all agreed.

The cratey-looking invention was shown to the coaches as it hung from the side of the W. & L. gymnasium swimming pool. It looked like a wooden box with a strap on one side to hold it to the pool edge and an oar with holes in it on the other.

The wonderful part about it, however, was that it gave every sensation of actual boatwork except balance and movement of the water. Still, the lack of balance was no worry to the coaches, for balance was exactly what they wanted to eliminate while they were teaching their prospects the fundamentals of the sport.

It did not take long for the machine to prove its worth. A few weeks after the W. & L. crew had been practicing on the two that Glasgow built, they shaved four seconds off their river course record.

The prospects of the new invention's doing great things for small school crews look good. Glasgow plans to market his patented invention at a price so low that small schools will be able to afford two or three. He plans to sell them for around $200. The only comparable machine is the rowing tank, costing in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Partly for his work with the crew and partly for his outstanding work in many other campus organizations, Wink was initiated last spring into ODK, national leadership fraternity.

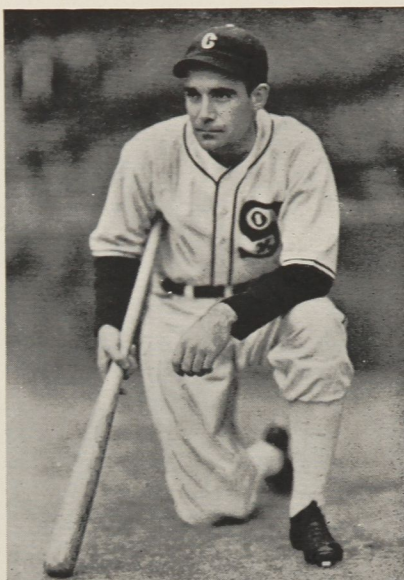

Chicago White Sox Fans Pay Tribute to Jackie Hayes, Former Baseball Great

August 30 was "Jackie Hayes Night" at Comiskey Park in Chicago, where 12,000 baseball fans turned out to pay tribute to Minter C. "Jackie" Hayes, Alabama, '29, blind former second baseman for the White Sox.

"I have had many a thrill here," said Jackie, "but this is the greatest of them all," as he was surrounded by his many friends, including Luke Appling and Tony Piet, his former teammates, and Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, his former coaches.

He received a tremendous ovation from fans who recalled the day, a decade ago, when Hayes and the perennial Appling formed one of the great second-base combinations in baseball.

White Sox fans, principally the old-timers who were rabid Sox partisans when Hayes played for Chicago, completely sponsored and ran the "Jackie Hayes Night." They collected and turned over to the former star more than $7000. They also presented him a Braille typewriter. He received from the White Sox management, in addition, a percentage of the evening's gate. Hayes stated that the money would be saved for his son's education.

Jackie Hayes may have lost his sight but not his sense of humor, according to Sportswriter Howard Roberts, as reported in the Chicago Daily News:

"He's still as much at ease among people as he was in the infield, where he had few peers at the fine art of executing a pivot for a double play.

"'Good to see you,' he enthuses, grasping a visitor's hand. 'Meet Abano.' And he points to the burly boxer that serves as his seeing-eye dog.

"'He's a great double play man, Abano,' Hayes grins, patting the dog's head."

Jackie's great baseball career was cut short by an eye ailment that struck suddenly and devastatingly at the start of the 1941 season. He returned to his home town, Clanton, Alabama, where he is tax collector.

N. I. C. Holds Meeting In Washington D. C.

For the second time in its 41 years of history the National Interfraternity Conference will this year meet outside New York City. The annual plenary session will be held in the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D. C., November 24-26. Combined with it will be the meeting of National Undergraduate Interfraternity Councils composed of delegates from local interfraternity councils.

The outstanding social event of the Conference will be a formal stag dinner in the main ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel at 7:30 p.m., Friday. Fraternity men prominent in the affairs of the nation will be the speakers and the guests of honor. A special invitation has been extended to the Greeks on the Supreme Court and in the President's cabinet. Arrangements are being made for television and radio coverage.

The banquet will be preceded by a reception given by the Washington Host Committee for the delegates to the conference and the educational officers and their ladies.

Following the banquet, the delegates from the undergraduate councils will be guests at an interfraternity ball, dates to be provided by the fraternity men at George Washington University, the University of Maryland, and American University.

The College Fraternity Secretaries' Association and the College Fraternity Editors' Association will hold meetings in connection with the Conference.

Cecil J. Wilkinson, Phi Gamma Delta, a past Chairman of the Conference, is in charge of the arrangements, and the representative of Delta Tau Delta on the host committee is N. Sidney Nyhus, U.C.L.A., '33, of the National Capital Alumni Chapter.

Official delegates for Delta Tau Delta are: Martin B. Dickinson, Kansas, '26, Secretary of the Fraternity; Norman MacLeod, Pittsburgh, '17, former President of the Fraternity; and N. Sydney Nyhus.

Alternate delegates are: A. J. Murphy, Jr., Penn State, '38, President of the Eastern Division, and John C. Oliver, Ohio State, '43, former field secretary of the Fraternity.

Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields will also attend the conference.

Ohio Psychologist Obtains Amazing Results In Laboratory Research

DR. SAMUEL RENSHAW

Dr. Samuel Renshaw, Ohio, '14, teaches psychology at Ohio State University, but he is not just another college professor.

Dr. Renshaw is doing some amazing work at Ohio State in experimental psychology, or what David G. Wittels in his April 17, 1948, Saturday Evening Post story on Renshaw called "laboratory research on what makes people tick."

Thus far Dr. Renshaw's work has been limited to the fields of human eyesight, memory, and taste.

So outstanding was his work with students in developing keen eyesight and rapid recognition before the war that the Navy, shortly after Pearl Harbor, asked Dr. Renshaw's advice on setting up aircraft recognition courses in pre-flight schools.

Dr. Renshaw suggested a program, based on magic lantern slides showing silhouettes of planes flashed on a screen, which he predicted would teach flight cadets to recognize planes in combat at one-hundredth of a second. Next thing he knew, the Navy had set up a training school at Ohio State, and he was its civilian adviser.

Eventually four thousand instructors were trained there in the "Renshaw Recognition System," and they in turn trained 285,000 preflight cadets throughout the country.

Back on the job again in Ohio State's department of psychology, Dr. Renshaw is patterning his research to train men for a world at peace instead of a world at war.

Edward Leech, Editor For Thirty-Four Years

Edward T. Leech, Colorado, '14, president and editor of the Pittsburgh Press, is a journalist whose accuracy, fearlessness, and hard-hitting work in a demanding profession have inspired universal respect among his fellow newspapermen.

His swift rise in the newspaper game was nothing short of sensational. He started at $8 a week, reporting for the Denver Express, when he was 20. He quickly moved up to sports editor, columnist, and general assignment reporter, and by the time he was 23 he was editor of the Express.

Two years later he was shifted to Memphis as editor of the Memphis Press. A crusader from the start, he lashed out against Tennessee political machines, and one of his candid editorials landed him in jail. Refusing to retract his statements, he sat out the 10-day jail sentence. When he was released, Memphis citizens staged a parade in his honor, and he was feted with a celebration in a public park, where the editor of the opposition paper praised him for his courageous adherence to the creed of his profession.

In 1921 he became the first editor of the Birmingham Post, where he again saw the inside of a jail because of his plain speaking, and in 1926 he returned to Denver to head up the Rocky Mountain News. He was appointed editor of the Scripps-Howard Pittsburgh Press in 1931, the position he has held ever since.

EDWARD T. LEECH

Many people are surprised to find Ed Leech working at his desk in the newspaper's city room, surrounded by editorial writers. No ivy towers for him. "If something happens," he explains, "I like to be in on it." And he invariably is.

"President of Tau Company; President of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter; Vice-President of the Eastern Division; the Delt most responsible for Tau's beautiful Shelter, he instilled new life and spirit into the affairs of the Chapter. His courage, enthusiasm, and loyalty to his chapter and Fraternity are an inspiration and an example for all time."

Sooner Delt Glee Club Records Favorite Songs

Latest accomplishment of the Sooner Delt Glee Club of the University of Oklahoma is an album of recordings that contains selections ranging from Fraternity songs to Bach and Brahms.

Winner of the University interfraternity sing ten out of twelve times, Delta Alpha Chapter fields a 48-voice chorus that earns new praise with every performance. The album consists of three records and nine selections and has an original and attractive cover design. It has been prepared for distribution only to members, alumni, and friends of the chapter.

Director of the glee club is Bill Bender, who is a member of the Fraternity's Songbook Committee.

Stanford Delts Battle Yukon—and Mosquitoes

Two adventure-seeking Delts—Richard Schulze and David Field—who braved the racing waters of the Yukon River for 1,800 miles last summer, returned to the Stanford campus this fall to report that their most hair-raising experiences were with mosquitoes.

Inspired by reports of summer in Alaska as recorded in 1883 by a chap named Schwatka, the two left Lake Bennett in British Columbia, source of the Yukon, on June 20, navigating in an aluminum canoe, affectionately dubbed the S.S. Permanente. Their two-week supply of food ran out in thirteen days, and they paddled furiously to reach Carmacks—and food.

From that point on, they stopped at Indian settlements along the route, where they were allowed to go to the fish wheels that dot the banks of the river and take all the salmon they wanted.

"It wasn't long before we stopped wanting salmon," Dave reported. "As a matter of fact, I never want to look at another—alive or dead. We ate so much salmon we began to sprout gills."

The two Delts shot three rapids during their trip. Serious trouble developed during the latter part of the journey, just outside Mountain Village, a community 90 miles inland from the mouth of the Yukon on the Bering Sea, when their 18-foot canoe was caught in a cross current, whipped by high winds. They won this tussle with the elements, finally reaching smooth waters.

Their long bout with mosquitoes, however, was not so successful.

"You've seen those pictures of locust invasions?" This from Dick, when pressed for details. "Well, that's the way the mosquitoes are around the Yukon. You've never seen so many in your life. A lot of times we couldn't even camp on the beach at night they were so bad.

"Once we saw a bear and decided to shoot him. We landed and took a shot and then Dave chased him into the brush—or rather, to the brush. The minute he touched it the mosquitoes were all over him. That ended our one and only big game expedition."

Both men are members of Beta Rho Chapter. Dick, a junior, is preparing to enter dental school, while Dave, a senior and varsity halfback on the Stanford eleven, is majoring in English literature.

One lesson they learned: if they visit the Yukon waters again, they will go armed with hundreds of gallons of mosquito repellent.

And, getting back to Mr. Schwatka, assuming there were mosquitoes in 1883, they are wondering what a student of etymology (or entomology) would make of that gentleman's name.

The Sheriff Is Coming

ALFRED P. SHERIFF

The Fraternity has announced the appointment of Alfred P. Sheriff, W. & J., '49, to a position as field secretary. He began his tour of duty in October.

A native of Cadiz, Ohio, a town well populated with Delts, Al attended Cadiz High School. He attended Purdue University for one semester before he transferred to W. & J. He was initiated into Gamma Chapter in March, 1946.

He has served his chapter as both vice-president and president, and he has headed both the rules committee and the scholarship committee. On the campus, he was a member of the sophomore honor society and of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government. He was elected to Eta Sigma Phi, national classical language honorary, and Phi Sigma Alpha, national political science honorary. He served as president of the former and vice-president of the latter.

Al's ready smile, his willingness to help, and his loyalty to his Fraternity make him a valuable addition to the field staff.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—V

WALTER LOWRIE McCLURG, Allegheny, '79—1888-91

DURING THE EIGHTIES and nineties and the early 1900's, there was a desk in the corner of one of Chicago's largest bookstores that became the Mecca for every Delt who found his way to the Windy City.

Behind that desk sat a small, wiry man. He could tell you practically everything worth knowing about Delta Tau Delta. He had done practically everything worth doing in Delta Tau Delta. And it was said that he had a personal acquaintance with more Dels than anyone else in the Fraternity.

He was Lowrie McClurg, fifth President of Delta Tau Delta.

His loyalty took root in the mainstream—at Allegheny College in 1875, when the Choctaw chapter was the governing Alpha. He quickly became one of the most devoted and energetic of the men who controlled the welfare of the Fraternity for nine years.

At the Convention of 1878 he was elected General Secretary. During part of the same year, he was Editor of The Crescent, forerunner of THE RAINBOW, and at the same time he was associate editor of the Fourth General Catalogue, a volume much more pretentious and accurate than any of the previous editions.

A man of considerable vision and discernment, he became impatient with the Fraternity's sometimes slow and loosely organized method of establishing new undergraduate chapters. At the Convention of 1879 he proposed a change, designed to step up the cadence of expansion and to make the whole process more logical. The result was the appointment of the Extension Committee, having purely advisory powers. McClurg was made secretary of the committee.

This group did its work so satisfactorily that from year to year its authority was gradually extended. In 1883, when the Karnea placed the government of the Fraternity in the hands of a body of nine, many regarded this new Executive Council as the successor of the old Extension Committee.

When young McClurg left college, he moved west to Chicago, where he went into business with his uncle, General McClurg. From that time forth, Chicago began to resound with Delt activity. When the Convention of 1880 came to that city, McClurg marshalled the local alumni into an efficient force to look after the comfort of the Convention delegates. These Dels formed the nucleus which shortly afterward developed into the Chicago Alumni Chapter—the first alumni chapter in the Fraternity.

McClurg served the alumni chapter faithfully and efficiently as secretary-treasurer for more than 20 years. In 1905, Dr. Frank Wieland, another great President of the Fraternity, saluted him in this manner:

"Throughout all these 24 years we have had but one treasurer. He is just, but merciless. In his estimation any Delt is better than anyone not a Delt. But not even the square badge is the passport to the alumni association. Membership involves the paying of dues and if the payment is slow I have never known any undue shyness on Brother McClurg's part to deter him from reminding the delinquent. . . .

"We have little expense and consequently our bank account is of creditable size. However, to 'touch' this fund is as good as a course in physical culture. Brother McClurg has to be shown, and at times his obtuseness in seeing would make an eye specialist despair. For legitimate purposes, however, none could be so generous with a fund in his charge."

During all of these years, McClurg almost never missed a Karnea. He served on committees, he spoke eloquently at Delt banquets, he responded promptly with whatever request was made of him. He was elected Treasurer of the Fraternity and served for two years, declining re-election in 1885. And when he became President in the spring of 1888, it was not because he had sought the office. Rather, the office sought him, for when Lucius Hoyt resigned the presidency in the middle of his term, the Arch Chapter unanimously elected the energetic Chicagoan to fill the vacancy. He performed so capably in his new position that the Convention of 1888 re-elected him President.

The next school year, under his leadership, was a productive one for the Fraternity. The new Constitution, adopted by the Convention, was quickly ratified by the chapters. It gave the Arch Chapter more sweeping powers and imposed greater responsibility. Six new Delt chapters—at Lehigh, Virginia, Tulane, Tufts, M.I.T., and Boston University—were chartered. This action greatly pleased the President, for expansion was close to his heart.

Reporting to the Karnea in 1889, President McClurg made it plain that he meant business. There was no whitewashing of unpleasant facts, no rosy-hued generalities unless they could be substantiated. He struck out candidly against actions which did not square with his interpretation of what was best for Delta Tau Delta. He singled out individuals who were not honoring their obligations to the Fraternity and charged them to account for their conduct. He was critical of the

Purdue Quartet Wins Barbershop Honors

Four Delts from Purdue, who can stand musical chords on end, sang their way to fifth place in the national contest of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., at Buffalo, New York, this summer.

They call themselves "The Varsity Four." They are Wayne "Doc" Ruggles, '48; Ed Easley, '48; Bob King, '47; and Bill Wainwright, '51.

The group got its start in college in 1945 as a trio but soon branched out to become a full-blown quartet. It has always been composed of Delts and has changed personnel, principally because of Uncle Sam's military programs, about four times.

Ruggles, Easley, and Wainwright were members of the quartet which entertained at the French Lick Karnea last year. King joined them about six months ago, and they had to hustle to break him in in time for the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. contest.

"The Varsity Four" competed at Buffalo with 207 other barbershop contingents from the United States and Canada. One year ago they were one of fifteen finalists at the national meet held in Oklahoma City. Competition is keen in the Society, which numbers 2,617 organized quartets.

somewhat of a problem. Ruggles lives in Chicago, Easley in Detroit, King in Cincinnati, and Wainwright in Lafayette, Indiana, with Gamma Lambda Chapter. They solve this problem by getting together on week ends, usually at the Shelter in Lafayette.

What do they sing? Not the traditional "Old Mill Stream," universally victimized by run-of-the-mill tonsorial harmonizers. Their favorites are "Brother Bill," "My Home Town," "Angeline, Down in Carolina," and "Dreaming of My Indiana."

President Writes to College Presidents

One of the acts of the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at its spring meeting of 1949 was to adopt a program aimed at encouraging compliance with that provision of the Fraternity's Constitution and Bylaws which prohibits the use or possession of intoxicating liquor in premises owned or used by undergraduate chapters for residential or chapter purposes.

An initial step in this program was a letter from the President of the Fraternity to presidents of universities and colleges in which the Fraternity is represented. Copies of such letters were sent to the undergraduate chapters, chapter advisers, alumni chapters, house corporation officers, and officers of other national fraternities.

The Arch Chapter has requested that the President's letter be reproduced in THE RAINBOW. Following is the text of the letter:

"The Arch Chapter, which is the governing board of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, is deeply concerned over the use of liquor by undergraduates in the colleges and universities of America. You perhaps have recently been aware of some unfortunate publicity growing out of incidents, which, according to press reports, were traceable rather directly to excessive drinking on the part of undergraduates.

"The Constitution of Delta Tau Delta prohibits the use or possession of intoxicating liquor in premises used or owned by undergraduate chapters for residential or chapter purposes. It is our opinion that our chapters should conform strictly to this constitutional provision, which we believe to be in the best interests of the Fraternity.

"We hear from time to time statements in defense of the use of liquor in chapter houses, the apparent justification being that it is in conformity with general social practice on the campus or that there are no collegiate administrative regulations affecting its use.

"It may be that by reason of tradition, or because of strict administrative control, this problem does not exist on your campus. In any event, we wish you to know that the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta is of the unanimous belief that the interest of fraternal and collegiate life in America will best be served by the establishment of a genuine and lasting tradition against the use of intoxicating liquor on the campus.

"This letter is being written to the presidents of all colleges and universities in which Delta Tau Delta has undergraduate chapters. It is not, indirectly or inferentially, a criticism of our chapter on your campus. Rather it is an expression of general concern over a problem existing at many colleges.

"It certainly is not our desire to request university administrators to act as monitors of our undergraduate chapters in this regard. The efforts of the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta to control this situation are rendered most difficult in the case of colleges which have no definite regulations on the subject. We do wish to assure you of our full co-operation if this problem exists, or should arise, on your campus. Your comment and suggestion will be welcome."

Eastern Conference

The biennial Conference of the Eastern Division of Delta Tau Delta will be held December 2 and 3, 1949, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Delegates of 21 chapters will gather at the Warwick Hotel for the two-day session.

The traditional Conference banquet is scheduled for seven p. m., December 3, at the Warwick Hotel. Alumni are urged to attend Conference events.

THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

THE TIME HAS come for Delta Tau Delta to take a decisive step to reassert its leadership in the field of scholarship, chapter by chapter and nationally. The Fraternity has a proud heritage in this field—a heritage which should be honored by continued scholastic success.

FACTORS OF HERITAGE

Let us examine the outstanding factors in this heritage. Delta Tau Delta has long declared that it is a constructive adjunct to the system of higher education. This means that good scholarship is a primary factor in measuring our success. Delta Tau Delta has constantly emphasized good scholarship as the indisputable mark of a good chapter, and it has emphasized the need for good scholastic standing of its individual members.

Delta Tau Delta was the first fraternity to select a national officer whose duty it is to direct our scholarship program. We pioneered the experiments in the use of the preceptor and graduate adviser system on a national scale, and we were first to establish a uniform scholastic requirement for initiation—a full semester's work with an average essential to graduation.

In the interfraternity field, Alvan E. Duerr, Chi (Kenyon), '93, and Sigma (Williams), '93, the first Supervisor of Scholarship of Delta Tau Delta, established the scholarship program for the entire fraternity system as chairman of the scholarship committee of the National Interfraternity Conference. He contributed more to the advancement of fraternity scholarship than any other individual.

Thus has Delta Tau Delta acquired a considerable responsibility for leadership in this important field of fraternity scholarship.

THE FRATERNITY'S RECORD

For a substantial majority of the twelve years beginning in 1933, Delta Tau Delta's over-all average exceeded the All Men's Average, and, with the exception of one year, our rank nationally has been among the upper third of fraternities with fifty or more chapters. In 1939, our position was first, with an average more than twice that of the second-ranking fraternity.

During the war years, it was not possible to compile national averages. The report for 1947-48 was not complete, but it is expected that all chapters will be included in the 1948-49 report. Early returns for 1948-49, just now coming in, reflect noteworthy achievements in many sections.

Unfortunately, however, not all Delt chapters have consistently maintained the minimum standard, which is an average at least equal to the All Men's Average. Such chapters are academic liabilities. The poor performance of a few can negate the excellent performance of the majority. Acquiring and maintaining a good scholastic standing is a constant responsibility. Neither a fraternity nor a single chapter can rest on its oars and expect to remain out in front. Good records are expendable.

Usually a chapter excellent in personnel will also rank creditably in scholarship. Scholastic success is a symptom of internal strength, quality of personnel, achievement of purpose. A good chapter can always establish itself in the first quarter scholastically if it so desires. The beginning point of doing a job well is to want to do it well.

THE INITIAL STEP

Then the initial step in regaining the minimal position is to eliminate the deadwood: a chapter should discover the men who are making a poor showing and should take remedial measures. Not only will the Fraternity benefit, but the individual will be aided by an unrelenting adherence to the minimum. The individual who must measure up to a set standard in college is better equipped for his task as a citizen after graduation.

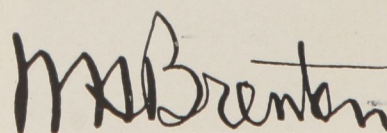

Delta Tau Delta's sole reason for existence is to train better men. We have a definite responsibility to help our men make the most of their talents and that includes those who have the desire but have lost the course. But to those who can and will not make the most of their opportunities, we have no responsibility. Separation from the Fraternity is just and proper. A good college follows that procedure—Delta Tau Delta should do no less.

GOAL FOR 1949-50

Let's make Delta Tau Delta's standard for the 1949-50 college year the following:

1. All chapters above the All Men's Average.
2. All chapters in the first quarter among fraternities.
3. All chapters above their rushing competition.
4. Delta Tau Delta in first place nationally among fraternities with fifty or more chapters.

If every Delt chapter will make an extra effort, living each day with its scholarship program, testing its weaknesses and its strengths, then these standards will be met. More important, Delta Tau Delta will again have proved that it is a constructive adjunct to the system of higher education.

Above: Colorado's DEAN CARLSON presents a gold ring to HARRY NARCISIAN for being chosen All Big Seven halfback last year. HARRY is out to repeat this fall.

Left, above: TOMMY TONGUE, three-year varsity lacrosse letterman at W. & L., who received honorable mention on the 1949 All America lacrosse team.

DELT FOOTBALL fans all over the country are witnessing an outstanding year of collegiate football, and on many gridirons Delts are contributing brilliantly to this national spectacle.

The 1949 season has produced an unusually good crop of Delt line-men and backfield stars. To aid you in identifying these men on your favorite fields, here is a quick run-down on the Delt line-up. And if you feel tempted to select an all-Delt team, there is plenty of material from which to choose.

ENDS

The supply of ends leads all other positions. Standouts include Rose of Stanford, who will be a strong contender for all-conference honors on the West Coast; Cloidt of Washington, who has shown up well both offensively and defensively; and Ebinger of Missouri, who received honorable mention on the All Big Seven last year.

First-string players*: Arch McCartney, Miami; Darrell Riggs, U.C.L.A.; Milt Lankton, Wabash; Don Uphoff, Cincinnati; Joe Cloidt, Washington; Harry Farmer, Butler; Dick Johnson, Kansas State; Arthur Ferris, Lehigh; Ken Rose, Stanford; Howard Hannah, Sewanee; David Bell, Kenyon; Gerri Cannon, Kenyon; George Holthaus, Kenyon; Bill Case, Colorado; Bob Ebinger, Missouri.

Reserve: Dick Fischer, Wesleyan; Bill Brookover, Kansas State; Alec Smith, Lehigh; Robert Kettlewell, West Virginia; Elmer Rudy, Colorado.

TACKLES

Although there are fewer Delts at tackle than at other positions, there is still plenty of power here.

* Editor's Note: The "platoon system," which has gained widespread acceptance, makes it difficult to determine which players are "first-string" and which are "second-string." To simplify matters, we have included in the category "first-string" players who are in the line-ups of either the first offensive or the first defensive teams, and we have relied on the undergraduate RAINBOW correspondents for this information.

Bartholow, of South Dakota, is a former all-conference guard.

First-string: Earl Hobt, Cincinnati; Roy Jensen, U.C.L.A.; Norm Bartholow, South Dakota; Bob Hepler, Wabash; Jim Dunne, Albion; Bill Hurd, Kenyon; Bob Eggert, Kenyon.

Reserve: Bill Ohlenroth, Michigan; Bob Fithian, Wesleyan; Jim Fauber, West Virginia; Bob Pike, Colorado.

GUARDS

The guard position is also well stocked. Returning for another season are Day of Northwestern, star of last year's Rose Bowl game; Fry of Texas, veteran of Sugar Bowl and Orange Bowl games; and Steves of Tufts, last year's cocaptain and All New England honorable mention.

CENTERS

Outstanding among the centers is Dartmouth's Staley, selected last season by an A.P. poll as the outstanding sophomore center in New England.

First-string: Robert Kappes, Miami; Paul Staley, Dartmouth; Pete Weaver, Kenyon; Bob Downing, Wisconsin; Al Carducci, Albion; Dave Herring, DePauw.

QUARTERBACKS

Two of the Delt field generals who have received recognition are Olix of Miami, All Mid-America and All Ohio from last season, and Craft of W. & J., last year's cocaptain of the "Presidents."

First-string: Mel Olix, Miami; Tom Cole, Western Reserve; Bill Monohan, Albion; Bob Craft, W. & J.

Reserve: Bobby Mace, Wabash; Claude Arnold, Oklahoma; Knute Clark, Santa Barbara; Menalaos Aliapolis, Tufts.

FULLBACKS

Most of the fullbacks are veterans of at least one previous season. Fleischmann led the scoring for Cornell last year, while Wall of Tufts made honorable mention for All New England honors. Webb leads a powerful Kentucky eleven to a high position in national ratings.

First-string: Louis Viau, Duke; Jeff Fleischmann, Cornell; Jack Sourbeer, W. & J.; Millard Wall, Tufts; Grant Cooke, Kenyon; Clayton Webb, Kentucky.

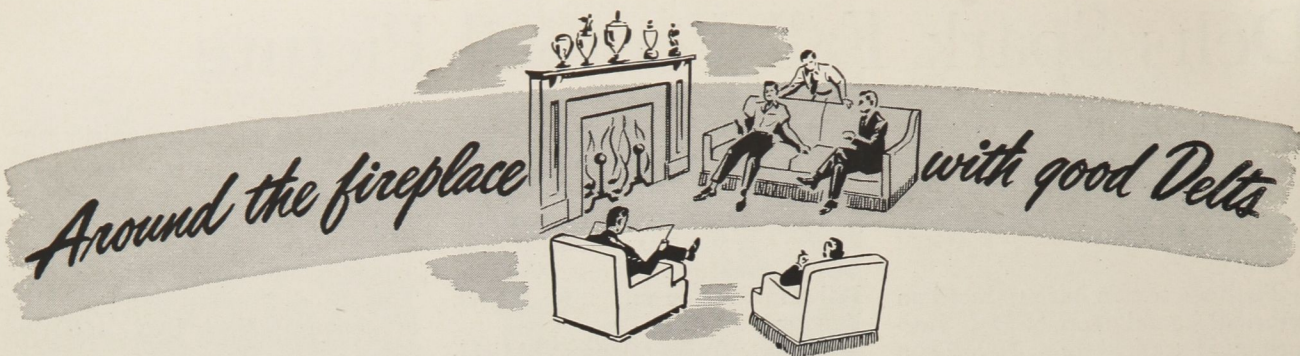

Reserve: Ralph Straffon, Michigan; Bill Bryant, West Virginia; Don Henkle, Indiana.

HALFBACKS

As usual, there is plenty of talent at this position. Northwestern's Petter and Day, Rose Bowl veterans, continue their brilliant defensive play. Narcisian of Colorado, All Big Seven choice of last year, is again a likely candidate for honors.

First-string: Ray Green, Miami; Jack Van Arsdale, South Dakota; Merle Houck, South Dakota; Norm Wilson, Wabash; Don Hura, Western Reserve; Bob Watson, U.C.L.A.; Dave Field, Stanford; Charles Petter, Northwestern; Loran Day, Northwestern; Pete Ehrenberg, M.I.T.; Harry Narcisian, Colorado; Dick Powell, Rensselaer; Everett Grandelius, Michigan State; John Poloncak, Michigan State.

Reserve: Gil Kyker, Tennessee; Don Graves, Colorado; Buddy Burris, Kansas State; Bill Peters, Santa Barbara; Jim Smith, Wabash; Art Swanson, M.I.T.; Fred Ehrsam, Rensselaer.

Editor's Note: This piece was written 45 years ago. Its trenchant observations on alumni chapters remind us that fraternity wisdom is not confined to our generation. The author was Dr. Frank Wieland, a great Delt President, who spoke with pardonable pride of his own Chicago Alumni Chapter. The reader will be surprised at how much of this discussion is applicable even today.

AN ALUMNI ASSOCIATION that meets once a month and has a dinner and does nothing else won't live the year out, and it deserves its fate.

An alumni association, like everything else, must be governed by business principles. It is all right to meet and dine, and sing college songs, and boast of the glory of old Delta Tau, but any devotion that stops short of paying dues and keeping an eye on local chapters isn't worth while. One cannot love a thing he doesn't respect, and no one respects laxity of business principles, even in an alumni association.

An alumni association must have an object. If it has none it is a failure in advance. Suppose there is no local chapter to be watched; there is an endowment fund to be contributed to. Suppose the members are paying in all they can afford to their old chapter's funds. There are boys entering college who can be sought out and told of the way they should go. There are duties enough to be done if only the association will look about and find them.

Mere sentiment never yet gave permanence to any organization. But give the organization proper officers; see that its dues are paid, and that it has a bank account, and the sentiment will follow. Absolute adherence to business sense in a sentimental organization assures that organization a virility and permanency; nothing else will.

In the choice of officers lies another great factor of success. It is wise to elect to offices only such men as have no time for the work. Then the work will be done. Men who have time for anything have a reason for their leisure that is no credit to them . . .

We are now in our twenty-fourth year. I remember when I was yet in college I used to speak with pride of the Chicago Alumni Association; not that I knew anything about it. Much knowledge of any subject is never required of a college boy. But I had heard of this wonderful body that had preserved an actual identity for a good many years. It is one of the few things that I have known that met my expectations when I was able to know more of it . . .

We guaranteed to assume the responsibility of the four chapters nearest us, and I feel sure that none of the four has ever thought us negligent. I hope none of them has ever accused us of interference . . .

It would be impossible for me to enumerate all the excellent officers who have aided in making our association what it is. I shall mention the names of a few of our presidents only . . .

We have made it a point to elect to the presidency of our alumni association men of affairs whose position and influence in the community would impress the younger element with the fact that we took ourselves seriously. These men, however busy they have been, have taken their positions seriously . . .

Brother Elmer Scott succeeded to the presidency after Brother O'Neal's two terms of office. . . . Elmer Scott is but 36 years of age, yet I warrant he crowds in 24 hours as much work and as many responsibilities as any other men in Chicago. He is manager of the largest mail order house in the world, a firm doing many millions of dollars worth of business each year. . . .

. . . and last and greatest of all he is president of the Chicago Alumni Association of Delta Tau Delta. He has never missed attendance at a dinner when he has been in the city. Every month he supplements the notices of the secretary with a personal letter, telling each Delt why he should attend this particular dinner. Last month it covered two typewritten pages and was irresistible. . . .

Mr. Scott's influence over the boys is remarkable considering that he is one of them. He knows all their yells, he sings all their songs, a little off tune to be sure—but who knows, the angels may sing flat occasionally if heavenly choirs are anything like earthly ones. I remember at one of our annual dinners—a particularly gay crowd of boys had had a round of wine. We all know the effect that a bottle of ginger ale may have upon a college boy—of course I mean a large fifteen-cent bottle. Elmer realized the possible dire effects of a claret of the vintage of '03. So he smiled at them and whispered, "Don't order any more wine." More was not ordered. I am Brother Scott's physician. If I were to operate on him for appendicitis and he should say, "Just close up a couple of pairs of forceps and some shears in my abdominal cavity when you sew me up" and should smile at me with that smile, I should do it, in spite of the high price of surgical instruments and the consequent after effects upon him.

What Elmer Scott is to Chicago, King Maas is to

Beta and Delta Alpha Are Winners of Publication Awards

First Honorable Mention to Gamma Tau and Gamma Kappa

First-place awards for the best undergraduate chapter publications during the year 1948-49 have been presented to Beta Chapter (Ohio) in the newspaper format classification and Delta Alpha Chapter (Oklahoma) in the magazine format classification.

Each chapter was awarded a prize of $50, to be invested in merchandise suitable for a chapter hall or chapter house.

Winners are selected on the basis of: first, general appeal and interest of the material to alumni; second, manner in which the material is written and edited; third, attractiveness in typographical layout and printing. The number of issues presented during the college year is taken into consideration, but more than three issues will not influence the award.

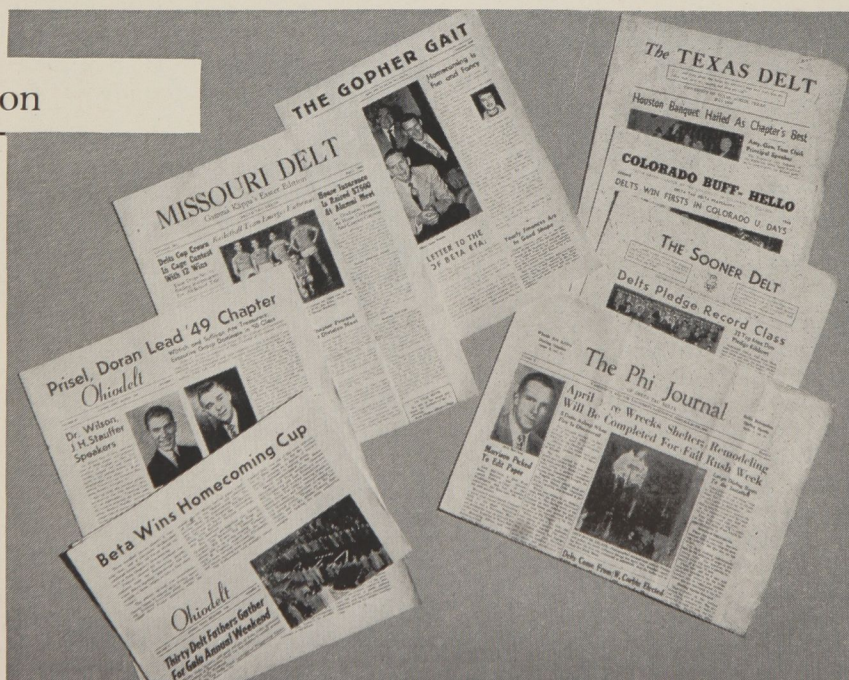

Honorable Mention

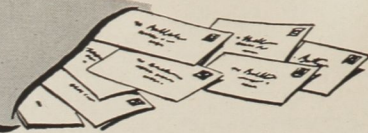

Ten chapters received honorable mention for outstanding publications. First honorable mention in the newspaper format division was earned by Gamma Kappa (Missouri), while Beta Eta (Minnesota), Gamma Iota (Texas), Beta Kappa (Colorado), Phi (W. & L.), and Delta Alpha (Oklahoma) received honorable mention.

In the magazine format classification, first honorable mention went to Gamma Tau (Kansas), while Chi (Kenyon), Beta Tau (Nebraska), and Gamma Mu (Washington) received honorable mention.

Chapters using professional services in publishing their papers are not eligible for the award, but the committee is authorized to confer honorable mention to such chapters.

"Rickey vs. Rickey"—that's how sports writers described the photo finish of the 1949 pennant race in the National Baseball League. The winner, of course, was BRANCH RICKEY, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers Club, which edged out the St. Louis Cardinals for the championship and the honor of taking part in the World Series.

Although the Dodgers dropped a 4 to 1 decision to the American League Yankees in the Series, the year 1949, which brought Brooklyn its second pennant since Rickey assumed its presidency, was still counted a great success. On the St. Louis squad, 22 of the 25 Cardinals were players whom Rickey personally moved up through his famous farm system when he managed the St. Louis front office. It is significant, also, that four of the seven men who were rival managers in the National League during the past season are old Rickey hands.

The year was productive for Mr. Rickey's farm clubs, too. Montreal, of the International League, wound up in the Little World Series, while his St. Paul Saints won the pennant in the American Association.

ERWIN G. "MORIE" MORRISON, Stanford, '26, has recently had his third book published by Doubleday & Company. It is Here's How In Golf, a profusely illustrated volume which thoroughly covers the thousand and one angles of the sport.

As Mr. Morrison writes in the foreword to his work, "In golf, every shot presents a problem that the player must solve for himself. To do this he must understand the game.

"This book was written with easy-to-understand words and pictures in the hope that thousands of weekend golfers would acquire a better idea of how and why they can play a better and more intelligent game of golf."

Mr. Morrison is the author of the newspaper cartoon feature "Take a

DONALD F. EBRIGHT, Baker, '32, who has been in India under the Methodist Church since 1936, has recently been loaned to the National Christian Council of India, Pakistan, and Burma to set up a new department of audio-visual aids, a step designed to further the educational opportunities for the peoples of those areas.

Institutes and workshops are held in major cities and provinces. Two film libraries with sound and silent 16 mm. movie film and filmstrips are maintained. The N.C.C. does not limit itself to the importation of film but is producing religious and educational films with an Indian setting for use in schools and churches in India and Pakistan. In the Lucknow office a magazine, catalogue, and book library is maintained for all-India use.

Providing every school and church in India, Pakistan, and Burma with adequate equipment and sound educational materials, training operators, and maintaining an informational center are the main purposes of the N.C.C.'s Committee on Audio-visual Aids.

In the first six months that he took office, Dr. Ebright has traveled nearly 13,000 miles by plane, train, jeep, and ox cart, visiting Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, and New Delhi. He edits a quarterly bulletin which covers the trends, developments, new films, and new materials in the audio-visual field.

Another project of Mr. Spielman's is the GAR Memorial Highway, U.S. 6. The object is to have the highway's 3550 miles from Cape Cod, Massachusetts, to Long Beach, California, dedicated by each state it crosses. Nevada remains the lone state to put its approval on the plan.

"I'll be in Nevada the first of 1951 when their legislature meets," Mr. Spielman told reporters, "and I'm going to shame them into making it unanimous." He is the designer of the official GAR highway sign, already in evidence from coast to coast.

A Son of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Mr. Spielman began working for the GAR in 1913. Delts will remember him as the earliest initiate in attendance at the record-breaking Chicago Karnea in 1946.

New York and some one or some group of persons is to every other city where we have a live association. It is the doing that counts. These men of whom I have spoken especially will prove the point I made in the beginning: if you wish a thing done, give it to a busy man. The reason that some of our associations are inefficient is that they have poor officers, that they have poor organizations and irregular meetings. The gist of it all should be expressed in the remark of a San Francisco Delt, "It is easier to attend the alumni meetings than give an excuse that Brother Bonifield will accept."

All the good things that are true of the Chicago Alumni Association are true of New York, of Pittsburgh, of Cleveland, and of possibly a half dozen other associations. We still have too many associations that fall short of my expectations of them. Not until every association has a definite object, and works for its attainment can it be truly efficient. . . . While we have boys flunking regularly in their college work because no one takes the trouble to keep them under observation; While we have others leaving school for the lack of means to continue their courses, there is work for alumni to do. . . .

Presidents

Constitution, subjected it to a minute and careful scrutiny, and made many recommendations for its improvement. Delegates liked this man who called a spade a spade; they re-elected him President.

Lowrie McClurg continued in office until May of 1891. His service to Delta Tau Delta, however, had by no means ended. No longer engaged in the front-line work, he turned his attention to research and ultimately became well-versed in the Fraternity's early history. In the early 1900's he contributed to THE RAINBOW a series of articles on "Extinct Chapters of Our Fraternity."

The fifth President died on June 24, 1914. At that time THE RAINBOW fittingly acknowledged his substantial contribution:

"In the death of Bro. Lowrie McClurg the Fraternity loses one of its most loyal sons, and the one who undoubtedly more than all others so moulded Delta Tau Delta at the most critical time in its history as to make the development of the past 25 years a possibility."

Famous surgeon and physician, this Delt will long be remembered for his significant contributions to medical science.

His animal experiments in the field of shock treatment were the first ever conducted. His "block anesthesia" set the medical world on the right path to positive prevention of and treatment for the one-time great killer, shock. One of his office associates, working in collaboration with him, performed the first operation in this country in which the patient received spinal anesthesia.

As senior consultant of surgical research in World War I, he administered the first of millions of transfusions which accounted for a tremendous saving in human life. By 1920, thanks largely to his efforts, transfusion had become the standard treatment for shock and hemorrhage in every hospital in the world.

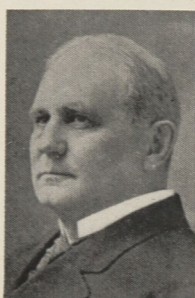

President in 1916 of the American College of Surgeons, he was the first to discover that adrenalin could be used to revive a heart that had ceased to beat. As early as 1904 he used the treatment successfully to save a human life.

In 1920 he and three colleagues built the famous Cleveland Clinic. Much of his fame came as a result of the countless thyroid operations he performed here. His research and medical skill made the dreaded exophthalmic goiter a frequently curable disease.

Born in 1864 at Chili, Ohio, he attended Wooster College, where he was a Delt in Psi Chapter in the class of 1892. He continued a brilliant medical career through his middle 70's, dying on January 7, 1943, in his 79th year.

This Delt was the central figure in one of the stormiest Democratic National Conventions in history. In 1912, at Baltimore, he led the field of presidential candidates on 29 ballots, receiving a clear majority on nine, but the old two-thirds rule of Democratic Conventions denied him the nomination. Spearheaded by William Jennings Bryan, the opposition deadlocked the Convention for a solid week, finally compromising on Woodrow Wilson, at that time a relatively obscure figure.

This famous Delt later remarked to some of his friends in the Fraternity that one of his big regrets in losing the nomination was that it deprived him of the pleasure of holding the next annual Delt smoker in the White House.

A member of Theta Chapter, '73, he was graduated from Bethany College with the highest marks anyone had ever made there. At 21, he became president of Marshall College, Huntington, West Virginia, and was given much publicity as the youngest college president in the country.

Later he practiced law in Missouri and in 1893 embarked upon a long political career during which he was for 24 years a member of the House of Representatives and its speaker for four Congresses. Famously known as "The Speaker," he refused the Vice-Presidential nomination and an appointment as Senator, preferring to remain as Speaker.

His son, a Delt of Gamma Kappa Chapter (Missouri), was at one time Parliamentarian of the House, later a United States Senator, and is now an associate justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals.

When "The Speaker" died in 1921, the New York Times paid him this tribute: "In a generation he had made himself a sort of institution. An energetic, a salient, marrowy and warmly human character."

This Delt is legend. His name has long been synonymous with heroism.

A native of Augusta, Georgia, he was a member of Beta Theta Chapter in the class of '88. He is credited with starting the college newspaper at Sewanee, where he first manifested journalistic talents. Beginning his postcollege career as a reporter for Louisville and Macon, Georgia, newspapers, he was soon sent to Washington as correspondent for several Southern papers.

He was successively secretary to the United States Ambassador to Mexico, quartermaster captain in the Spanish-American War, head of the quartermaster depot in Washington, and depot quartermaster in Havana, Cuba.

In May, 1908, he became the first Military Aide to a United States President, serving under both Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft. During this period he earned some fame as a writer of short stories.

On April 15, 1912, he died. On that night he was aboard the fabulous Titanic when it rammed an iceberg and floundered helplessly in the North Atlantic waters. While countless passengers and crew members gave way to blind panic, this Delt, with his characteristic coolness and dignity, directed the loading of life boats, insisting that women and children disembark first. It was he who forced the terror-stricken members of the band to play the hymn. His calm command of the situation and his bravery were responsible for averting an even greater loss of life. The story of how he remained on the Titanic to the last and smilingly said to the passengers of the final lifeboat as it was lowered over the side, "Remember me to the folks at home," was carried in every newspaper in the country.

Today you will still find his photograph in the Shelter at Sewanee, and in the All Saints Chapel on the Mountain there is a memorial tablet which was erected in his honor in 1912 by the members of Beta Theta Chapter.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alpha—Allegheny

Alpha Chapter ended another successful rush week with the pledging of 24 top men of the freshman class.

SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Top scholarship award went to Alpha for the past school year. This, along with the homecoming award, gave us two of the top fraternity awards at Allegheny. With a changed intramural setup, the chapter has set its sights on adding the third award, the intramural cup for the year 1949-50.

ALUMNI RETURN

The homecoming week end at Allegheny was highlighted by the return of many of our alumni to the Shelter for a delicious dinner and festivities, following the football game with our archrivals, Grove City.

"SIXTEEN" GETTING READY

Irwin Krueger, director, is busy with plans for "The Delt Sixteen," Alpha's glee club, for the remainder of the school year. This group, originated last year, was received with much acclaim in its first few public appearances and is looking forward to a busy year.

Gamma—W. & J.

On their return to the Shelter after the summer vacation, the members of Gamma Chapter were happily surprised to find that several changes occurred during the recess. The changes consisted of a new back porch, repair and additions to the basement, and a hardwood floor for the dining room. Since their return, all the brothers have co-operated in reconditioning the house for the coming year.

FOOTBALL TO GLEE CLUB

Delts are again well represented in all the campus activities. Jack Sourbeer and Robert Craft are varsity fullback and quarterback respectively on the football team. Forrest Forsythe is serving as the business manager for the college newspaper and has his staff dominated by Delts. Sam Means is the Chief Justice of the Freshman Court. In the college glee club are the following: Arch Weisbach, Dave Dunbar, William Poehlman, and Don Walton.

ALUMNI URGED TO RETURN

Chairman of Alumni Relations Bob Boord reports that great strides have been made in contacting alumni during the summer months for their participation in coming special events. The number of returning alumni has been increasing each year, and this year the chapter hopes to break all records. It is only through strong alumni relations made possible through the return of many alumni to activities at the Shelter that the ideals of brotherhood fostered during college days may be propagated.

Delta—Michigan

The fall semester was given a resounding send-off by the Wolverine Delts with many thanks to the Michigan Delta alumni for their help with the extensive summer repairs on the Shelter. Coming back to an almost new house encouraged most of the men to redecorate their own rooms; such encouragement resulted in many compliments by visiting and campus guests.

DELTS AID WOLVERINE POWERHOUSE

Ralph Straffon, Bill Ohlenroth, and Pete Palmer have aided the Wolverine football powerhouse this season. Ralph, as fullback, and Bill, playing tackle, both saw action in the Stanford game at Palo Alto, and the brothers are intent on keeping the Michigan team on top in the country.

STARS AS DR. LOMBARDI

The drama season opened this fall, and Jim White found himself turning in an admirable performance as Dr. Lombardi in Servant of Two Masters, one of the major productions of the Speech Department.

John Ryder, as president of the Student Legislature, and Dick Morrison, vice-president of the interfraternity council, are looking forward to successful seasons in their high-ranking positions. Dick is particularly enthusiastic about his idea of getting out an I. F. C. publication which will contain an open discussion on some of the controversies and major problems of fraternity men on campus.

Three members of the Delta Chapter barbershop quartet—Jack Bay, Gerry Van Syoc, and John Osmundsen—were chosen to sing with the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club, the University's top musical organization.

DADS' DAY

The Delts' annual Fathers' Day, held November 5, the week end of the Michigan-Purdue football game, and for which the chapter reserved tickets for all the dads, always proves itself to be a great and wonderful week end at Michigan.

Epsilon—Albion

Returning to school several days early this fall, the chapter undertook several needed improvements for the Shelter. First on the list was the installation of new paneling and insulation in the attic. Second was the painting of the first floor. Starting with the living room, the house and grounds committee adopted a modern motif of tan and green coloring and contrasting yellow drapes. New furniture was purchased over the summer. Epsilon started the social season with an open house for the visiting Delts from Wabash, who journeyed north to meet Albion in a pre-season football game.

SHARE VARSITY LIMELIGHT

In the varsity limelight, Al Carducci started the football season in the defensive center spot. Al is back from last year's squad and is sure to see a good deal of action in the coming season.

In the backfield, Bill Monahan, another letterman, is calling signals for the varsity. Bill carried the ball for Albion last year, giving a good account of himself and securing his berth on this year's team.

Zeta—Western Reserve

Although Delt Ed Lewis, noted guard of last year's Redcats, was graduated, he is still with the team as assistant line coach. Showing outstanding ability on Reserve's first-string varsity are Lettermen Don Hura and Ed Johnston, plus Tom Cole, new quarterback.

Two of last year's pledges to Zeta Chapter will be on the varsity basketball squad this year, where they will be showing their wares on the first string. They are Dick Everhard and Bill Shew, and they are really hot!

Marc Hyre and Ernie Scott will be leading the Reserve cheers from the sidelines. This is Marc's third consecutive year as head cheerleader.

DELT TRADITION IN PLEDGE CLASS

Zeta's 15 new pledges represent quite a cross section of the country, for they come from as far east as Philadelphia and as far west as Seattle. Two pledges—Bob Hompe, Jr., and John Portmann—are following in their fathers' footsteps. Being a Delt is a family tradition with John; he is the fourteenth Portmann to be pledged to Zeta Chapter, beginning with Dr. Ursus V. Portmann back in 1905. John's father, C. W. Portmann, is class of '20, and Bob's dad, Robert W. Hompe, is class of '21.

There are several father-son combinations in the active chapter. Marc Hyre's father, Raymond E. Hyre, was graduated in 1911, and Don Blair's father, Jackson Blair, was graduated in 1915. There are also Jim Mulligan, whose father, C. E. Mulligan, was graduated in 1917, and Ernie Scott, son of Ernest P. Scott, who was graduated in 1923.

Iota—Michigan State

Delts are busy consolidating hard-won positions in the presidencies of the senior class and student council. Senior Prexy Ed Pino is making good his sincere campaign promises. The man in MSC's student white house (student council), Lou Hekhuis, is sure, by his able administrative abilities, to retain his position as a leader of MSC's 16,000 student body.

Delta Tau's Sonny Grandelius and Johnny Poloncak played in the Michigan game and the Marquette game. Johnny is a defensive halfback. Sonny ran up a total of 118 yards rushing in the Marquette tilt.

EXHIBITS PAINTINGS

Dwight Johnson and the girl who accepted his Delt pin, Madalon Sigler, had their paintings (done in the Leelanau summer art school) exhibited in the student Union Art Exhibit. Jim Bonine has been chosen as IFC's rushing chairman. Gene McKay and Dave Hoffman have both been splashed by the Porpoise Club. Richard Sampson was tapped by Alpha Phi Sigma, national police science honorary, and Charles Osborne has been taken into the fold of Phi Mu Alpha.

In the fall social light, Iota held its Fall Term Party after the homecoming game with Penn State. A fine buffet was waiting for Delts and guests at the Shelter as they left the stadium, and that night everyone trotted off to the formal "Alumni Amble" at the Reo Club, in honor of returning Iota alums.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

Arriving back in Delaware on September 15, the brothers of Chapter Mu found the Shelter newly equipped with a gas furnace and first-floor leather furniture. New drapes also were acquired and the dining room tables were refinished during the summer.

Mu added 25 pledges to its ranks during the University's official rush week late in September.

Many of the Dads—including several members of the Delt alumni—were present at the Shelter during Ohio Wesleyan's Dad's Day celebration October 15, and the men of Mu now are preparing for the Fall Homecoming of November 5.

With leaders in virtually all the campus activities among its ranks, Mu's immediate objectives are the improvement of its second-place scholastic standing of last spring and the defense of its intramural touch football title.

Tau—Penn State

One of the biggest events in Tau's history will take place October 15, when the president of Tau Company, Bud Murphy, will touch the match to the first and largest mortgage on the chapter house. Alumni Chairman Bill Snyder has been hard at work for many months to make this event perfect to the nth degree. The house decorations and lawn display for this week end are in the very capable hands of Ken Miller who has planned many successful and "out of the ordinary" parties and dances for the house.

DELT IS PENN STATE MILER

Robert Freebairn won his letter in track last spring for the mile and two miles. In addition, he won a wrist watch at the Pennsylvania Relays for the Four Mile College Relay Championship. Bob is also a member of the cross country team.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

In sports, on the gridiron, as well as on the lacrosse field, Dick Powell is in his usual athletic form. Brother Powell played in the North-South lacrosse game last spring. His remarkable and outstanding ability to handle a lacrosse stick won him the glory of making the All America lacrosse team. The Shelter is well represented in all other activities and sports on the hill this fall.

Phi—W. & L.

The Shelter was in great confusion after the fire late in April, which rendered the house unusable for the remainder of the year. Thanks to our able president, Bill Corbin, and our beloved housemother, Mrs. Blakely, however, everything possible has been done. The house is to be redone from stem to stern. By early October everything was complete except the kitchen, the addition of an apartment for Mrs. Blakely, and the lounge.

SEEKING INTRAMURAL TITLE

Piloted by Wilson Lear, chairman of intramurals, we are seeking our eighth title in the last eleven years. Our football team is shaping up well to get the chapter off to a good start.

LACROSSE STAR RETURNS

Returning this year is three-year letterman Tommy Tongue, from Owings Mills, Maryland, who received honorable mention on the 1949 All America lacrosse team.

BASSETT IS CLASS PRESIDENT

In the only class elections held thus far

Chi's varsity soccer men are, kneeling: BOB JONES, JOHN JONES, and AXTELL. Standing: JENNINGS, THOMAS, and YOHN.

for the 1949-50 school year, Ed Bassett was elected president of W. & L.'s junior class. Mic McDonald was selected to handle the position of secretary to the sophomore class.

DELTS EDIT PAPER

Jock Morrison, senior from Rome, Georgia, who has done outstanding work in the field of journalism, was elected editor in chief of the school's biweekly newspaper. He is ably assisted by Bob Pittman, who is serving as managing editor.

Chi—Kenyon

The college year 1948-49 held a twofold significance for Chi Chapter at Kenyon College. It was a year characterized by two things: achievement and improvement. The chapter won the trophy for intramural sports for the third consecutive year; and there was a preponderance of Chi Delts on every major varsity team.

The scholastic average was brought up to the high mark of 2.60 in the four-point grading system in use at Kenyon. Don Hoffman took first place in the school oratory contest. Sam Montague was elected president of the senior class. These and many other achievements fell to Chi.

CHI TAKES LEAD IN SPORTS

Despite the loss of 13 men by graduation, Chi holds promise in this year of equalling or bettering the high standards in all fields that were set by the chapter last year. Ten Chi Delts are playing varsity football, six men kick with the varsity soccer team, and the chapter will have representatives on the swimming and baseball teams.

Despite the loss of Eppa Rixey, former Little All America and, last year, All Ohio center, the basketball team will again field more men from Chi than from any other Greek group on the campus. Among these is another All Ohio player from last year, Dave Bell.

The lacrosse team, organized and coached several years ago by our present prexy, Pete Weaver, will have mostly Delts playing again this year.

SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

Chi will lead the way this year in other fields of activity, too. Al Smith is senior class president. Delts hold office in both the sophomore and junior classes. Men of Chi are prominent on the staffs of the various publications and in our student government. Chi is in the forefront everywhere.

SOCIAL EVENTS PLANNED

One of the features of the 1948-49 season was a party held in the Shelter to which the entire body of our sister sorority, Delta Delta Delta, at nearby Denison University, was invited. The fair ladies accepted our pledges' invitation eagerly, and close to 100 per cent of their membership were here.

The social committee of Chi has planned some big events this year, also. The homecoming game, unfortunately, will already have been played before this gets into print. So we cannot extend an invitation to our alumni here. But we say now to you Chi alumni and all other Delts, everywhere, please drop in to see us if you pass near Gambier at any time this year. The welcome mat is always out.

Omega—Pennsylvania

Omega Deltas in the fall sports spotlight at the University of Pennsylvania reveal a wealth of talent within the chapter.

Competing for positions in Penn shells are nine Deltas: Charlie Mellen, Les Deming, Fred Willoughby, Bud Fretz, Steve Littauer, Irv Miller, Art Houlihan, Bill Rader, and Coxswain Bob Kersting. All these crewmen are veterans of one year or more in the shells. On the management side, Dick Wood is active as a junior manager of crew, readying with the oarsmen for the spring season of racing.

In other sports, Bill Rommel has begun training with the varsity track team for his specialty, the high jump. Howard Casey is in training for a position on the varsity lacrosse team, and Bill Bergmann is out for lacrosse with the "150" team.

Supplying musical color for Penn football games this fall will be Charlie Russell and Jack Beattie, both second-year men with the Pennsylvania band.

COFFEE HOURS PLANNED

Coffee hours are planned after football games this fall in accordance with annual custom. A good turnout of alumni is expected for the affairs.

SLATED FOR MASK AND WIG PRODUCTION

Deltas were even more successful this year in tryouts for the Mask and Wig Club show than they were last year. The program of this year's show, "Adamant Eve," will show five Deltas in important singing and dancing roles.

Omega President Ange Demos, secretary-treasurer of the Mask and Wig Club, a member of the production committee for last year's freshman show, and a veteran of three lead roles in Mask and Wig shows, is slated for a part in the new show. Charlie Franzen, Scott Fuess, and Jack Smilgin are experienced showmen with parts in the coming show. Bud Fretz is a first-timer, scheduled for a singing role.

DEMING MAKES SENIOR HONORARY

Among the active personalities at Omega is Les Deming. Recently selected for membership in the Kite and Key Society and Sphinx, senior society, he was chairman of the University's biggest social event of the past year, Junior Week End. Les was also elected to the Phi Kappa Beta junior society and is listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

JUNIOR CLASS PREXY

Bob Polliard was elected president of the junior class and a member of the junior class council for this year.

Scott Fuess was elected to the sophomore class council in elections last spring.

Three members of Omega represent the chapter on the staff of the Daily Pennsylvanian. Kevin Tolan is a senior editor this year, and Jack Beattie and Charlie Russell are members of the staff.

Chi Deltas dominate the Kenyon football team. Here they are in front of the Shelter. Kneeling: HURD, Chapter President WEAVER, McOWEN, KUHN, and RANNEY. Standing: HOLTHAUS, BELL, CANNON, COOKE, and EGGERT.

Beta Alpha—Indiana

During the summer Beta Alpha was listed fourth among the fraternities in scholastic average for the semester ending last June. The overall average of Beta Alpha's members was well above the University's All Men's average and the all-fraternity average.

FIGHTIN' HOOSIERS

Three of the chapter's members are playing on the "Fightin' Hoosiers" football team. Sophomores Danny Thomas and Al Nowak are two of the top-ranking guards, and Don Henkle, a junior, is currently the team's number three fullback.

Tyrie Robbins and Jerry Stuteville have begun working out in preparation for the coming basketball season. A senior, Stuteville will be seeking his third varsity letter, and Robbins, a junior, is gunning for his second "I." Toner Overlay, a letterwinner in swimming, is also working out evenings.

Six members of the Shelter were named winners of letters or numerals after the conclusion of the University's spring sports program. Jack and Bob Karch and Bub Wright received their numerals in freshman baseball, and Del Russell won his letter for varsity competition. More famous for his football talent, the versatile Russell is currently working out with the professional Detroit Lions, where his old coach, Bo McMillin, is now head mentor. Jack Hughes received his numerals for freshman track, as did Jack Leer in golf.

President Bob Bugh received his "I" in tennis, playing the entire season as number two man on the net squad.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE . . .

Beta Alpha's present, future, and past members anxiously await the date of October 20, 1950. It will be the day the chapter burns the mortgage. Already plans are being made for a big program and celebration.

Beta Beta—DePauw

With the success of last spring's Alumni Day still clear in our minds, Beta Beta returned to the Shelter with new vigor. Under the expert eye of our house manager, Dave Parmelle, our completely refurbished living room was put into shape. Downstairs the new T. V. set was pressed into service. All improvements were made possible by a four-figure profit made last year. We were sure we had done something worth-while when words of praise came from our critical but indispensable financial adviser, Bob Glass.

D. D. P. COMPLETED

Paul Dehner has taken over the pledge training duties and has completed installation of the rest of The Delt Development Program, part of which we used last year. We are looking forward to great success with it.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

Old Beta Gamma really started the year with an element of the spectacular. Bob Wartinbee, Delt pledge, speared a 35-yard pass and ran 25 yards for a touchdown to spark Wisconsin's opening 41-0 victory over Marquette. Bob Downing, another Delt, is doing a bang-up job at the center spot. In intrafraternity football the Deltas are no soft touch, either, rolling over Phi Gamma Delta 20-0 and squeaking out a 6-0 victory over a powerful Chi Phi team.

WARBLE AND GARGLE

After a successful rushing program, the chapter celebrated the appointment of Bill Shraeder as song chairman by serenading

15 sororities in one night. Pass the gargle, please! In addition, the second floor of the Shelter was completely redecorated in a series of pledge-active work days.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETS

A drive to strengthen the Beta Gamma Mothers' Club began with an informal get-together recently, during which new mothers and new pledges became acquainted. Foremost chapter plan now is to make the homecoming celebration with the alumni a big success and also to win the homecoming decoration trophy.

Beta Delta—Georgia

A summer chock-full of activity, including extensive prerushing and the complete renovation of the Shelter, produced tangible results for Beta Delta in the pledging of 27 outstanding men.

Rushing parties were held during the summer in Atlanta, Augusta, and Columbus, and a rush team headed by Rush Chairman Frank Sprouse visited cities, large and small, over the entire state. A rush booklet edited by Raleigh Bryans was mailed to approximately 900 incoming students, and alums were contacted through a series of letters to produce a rousing influx of recommendations.

On the home front, brothers teamed with professional painters to lift the face of the Shelter. Exterior and interior colors were selected by members of the University of Georgia Art Department staff. The Shelter lawn was relandscaped under the direction of Delt Tom Rawls, landscape architecture major, with brothers again sharing the labor.

New furnishings added to the house include a television set, one of the first on the Georgia campus; complete new furniture for the rumpus room; replacements and additions to furnishings in the main lounge; and extensive equipment for the kitchen.

WELCOMES NEW HOUSEMOTHER

Beta Delta welcomed a new housemother, Mrs. Eileen G. Wood, formerly of Milledgeville, Georgia, who contributed mightily to the success of the rush program by creating some of the finest meals ever had at the Georgia Shelter. Although new as a Delt housemother, her enthusiasm and charm helped to persuade a number of rushees in the right direction.

Lending a vitally helpful hand in all the summer activities were William Tate, '24; Henry H. West, '18; and Thomas M. Philpot, '18, chapter adviser.

Beta Epsilon—Emory

Climaxing a strenuous rushing period, nine Emory freshmen cut the traditional walk around the Row to a few short steps, stopping at Number One. Here each was "pinned" and given a kiss by "Grandma," our housemother, and Miss Carol Hale, our sweetheart. After this traditional ceremony, the brothers and the new pledges enjoyed a buffet supper given by the Mothers' Club.

NIGHT CLUB PARTY

This year Beta Epsilon brought back its annual night club party, using it as the climax of the 1949 rush week. For one night the white brick house at Number One, Fraternity Row, became "Club Delta-Cassa." The living room was transformed into a bar and dance floor. The bar dispensed popcorn, candy, peanuts, and such specialties as "Old Grandma" and "Ye Olde Tennis Shoe." In the dining room were the tables for black-jack, poker, and roulette. Upstairs the dice tables were doing a rushing business, to complete the make-believe atmosphere.

Beta Zeta—Butler

Beta Zeta completed a successful rush season with a total of 25 prospective members. The new semester started off with the annual stag party given by the active chapter for the pledges.

The first social event on the calendar was the annual Open House held on October 2 to introduce our new pledges to the student body. The chapter entertained 450 guests at the newly decorated Shelter.

SCHOLARSHIP TROPHY ADDED

It was announced this year that Beta Zeta of Delta Tau Delta had not only taken first in scholarship for last semester but had also taken the revolving school trophy for the 48-49 school year. The trophy was received October 25 at a banquet given at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

PLAN FOR ANNIVERSARY

Plans are in progress for celebrating the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Beta Zeta. First step was the purchase of the 155-foot adjoining lot for further enlargement of the Shelter.

VARSITY ATHLETES

Art Fougousse won a letter by participating on the baseball diamond last semester, while Harold Cline was elected captain of the freshman track team and received his numeral. Representatives on the varsity football squad this year are Harry Farmer, two-letter winner, and John Manka, numeral winner on last year's freshman squad. Beta Zeta boasts of four pledges on the freshman squad.

DELTS SHINE IN MILITARY

Although last year was Butler's first for having an ROTC program, it was rated

Beta Delta's new crop of Delt pledges with Housemother MRS. EILEEN WOODS on the steps of the picturesque Shelter at Athens, Georgia.

Number One in the nation's ROTC programs by the U. S. Air Force inspection team and national competitive exams. Jack Comerford and Phillip Shrock of Beta Zeta were among the first officers of the unit. Jack was recently appointed Distinguished Military Student, the highest honor bestowed on a ROTC student in any university. The Beta Zeta Chapter is actively supporting the unit, one which is purely voluntary.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

Beta Eta started off the fall quarter with perhaps the most intensive and satisfying rush week the chapter has seen for a long time. The week after formal rushing finds eight new men wearing the Delt pledge pin.

LIVING ROOM PERKS UP

The chapter can also point with pride to its front living room which was completely redecorated. The largest amount of credit for this goes to Beta Eta's Mothers' Club which purchased new drapes for the room. During work week the actives put their efforts together and repainted the walls. The furniture was all recovered last year. Putting these factors together, we have one of the most attractive living rooms on campus.

"ADOPT" FRENCH STUDENT

By assessing each member of the chapter 25 cents over a period of seven months, $105 was contributed to Care for the "adoption" of a college student overseas. Our particular student lives in Lyons, France, and packages of food, clothing, etc., are to be sent to him intermittently throughout the year.

Speaking of charitable activities, Beta Eta really took an active part in the Campus Chest drive. The occasion was the Campus Carnival, a fraternity-sorority event, designed to make money for the fund for needy students. Bob Reed borrowed an idea from Beta Gamma Chapter when he built a "Dunk-a-Delt" booth. A ball is thrown at a bullseye; if it hits, a seat collapses and sends a Delt into a large barrel of water. The Minnesota Daily, campus newspaper, said that the "Dunk-a-Delt" was one of the best at the carnival.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

Beta Theta began this year with a renovated Shelter and hopes for continued improvements. Rugs, davenport, lamps, refrigerator, and kitchen cabinets, plus a new radio-phonograph, constitute the new items. New paint on the downstairs walls and the refinishing of all the floors were completed this summer.

DELTS BECOME PROCTORS

This year two of our brothers, Mel Belshaw and Lynn Morehouse, were elected to serve as proctors. They have assumed their duties at Selden Hall and Tuckaway Inn, respectively.

HEADS DRAMATICS DEPARTMENT

Brother John Caldwell, who was graduated optime merins last June, has returned to Sewanee as an instructor in public speaking and as the head of dramatics.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

Beta Kappa's Shelter will have a new kitchen within the next three months. The expense of the new addition will amount to $25,000. It will have all the modern conveniences imaginable. The recreation room has also been redecorated and is now in good condition for the coming year.

DELTS SHINE ON GRIDIRON

Beta Kappa is well represented on Colorado's varsity football team. Harry Narcisian, All Big-Seven choice from last year, is back in his usual first-string position and is doing an excellent job. Bill Case has been a regular starter at the right end position. Dane Graves has been doing a top-notch job in the backfield, alternating with Harry Narcisian. Carl Rudy and Bob Pike have been playing end and tackle respectively on the reserve squad.

MOTHER LADD IS BACK

Our housemother, Mrs. C. H. Ladd, is back in her fourteenth year as mother of Beta Kappa. Mother Ladd is considered one of the most popular on the campus.

Beta Kappa suffered a great loss by the death of H. O. "Dad" Andrews early this fall. In his 56 years of service, he never lost interest in the chapter and was active in every initiation conducted at Beta Kappa.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

Returning Lehigh Delt was very pleased when they saw the various improvements made on Delta Shelter this summer. Some of these improvements, such as the paving of the driveway and installing new gutters and drains, were professional work. The Delt attending summer session, however, were not inactive. The living room ceiling and walls were repainted with such gratifying results that this industrious group moved into the dining room and repainted that also. Plans are now being formed to repaint the hall and card room on the first floor. The improvements were definitely noticed and appreciated by alumni visiting this fall.

CAPABLE FIREMEN

Beta Lambda Delt proved capable firemen this fall. Because of an open pilot light and two pans of deep fat, a fire raged in the kitchen. Luckily two alert brothers discovered the blaze and summoned others in the house. The damage resulting was serious enough to lead to dinner at the local hotel that night. With slight effort, however, the kitchen was functioning the following morning. Two of the brothers were slightly burned and 31 were scared to death.

FATHERS ARE ENTERTAINED

Beta Lambda welcomed 15 fathers on October 1 at the annual Fathers' Day. Activities started with a successful football game, in which Brothers Alec Smith and Arthur Ferris starred, and continued with refreshments and dinner.

During dinner Brother Edson's father, a Lehigh Delt alumnus, and Brother Leonard's father gave short talks to represent the other fathers present. A few novelty numbers were sung, and all retired to the living room.

Lehigh Delt decided that the fathers would appreciate a general knowledge of the house functions and government, so each officer and committee head gave a short talk on his duties and contributions to Delta Tau Delta's smooth running at Lehigh. This program was received with great enthusiasm and good discussion.

Beta Mu—Tufts

Beta Mu returned several weeks early to do a complete facelifting job on the house. Working day and night, members sanded and refinished the floors, repapered the rooms, and completed many new improvements to the house, including an outdoor fireplace.

DOMINATE FALL SPORTS

This season Beta Mu has four men on the varsity football team: Frank Steves, guard; Junie Wall, fullback; Dick Walsh, center; and Rex Fenderson, end. The chapter also has four men out for soccer: Bob Herold, fullback and last year's cocaptain; Carl Moulton, wing; Paul Schroeter, halfback; and Minot D'Arcy, halfback. Brother Bob MacLeay is currently eating up ground for the varsity cross country team.

Beta Nu—M. I. T.

Beta Nu is proud of the fact that when the scholastic standing of the different M. I. T. fraternities was published, the chapter saw itself eleven places ahead of its previous year's standing—an achievement brought about only by observing a new and strict set of study rules.

PLAYS VARSITY SOCCER

Jerry Austen, the Delt with the top marks in the house, is on the varsity soccer team, as is also Norm Tisdale. Pete Ehrenberg and Freeman Dyke are on the sophomore football team which is to play the freshman team on Field Day—the day when class victors are decided.

Beta Xi—Tulane

Beta Xi Chapter, starting off with 24 pledges, is looking forward to a more than favorable year in Pan-Hellenic competition. Practices for football are already in progress, and with approximately three teams in operation, Beta Xi hopes to add another trophy to its collection.

LISTEN-TO-GAME PARTY

Delts at Tulane were guests of the members of the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority of the Newcomb campus at a pregame party before the Southeastern Louisiana-Tulane football game on October 8. The Delt, in turn, had as their guests members of the same sorority at a Listen-to-the-Notre-Dame-Game Party the following week end.

ADVANCE IN PUBLICATIONS

Charlie Ramond has recently been appointed to the editorial board of Carnival, a campus literary magazine, while Carl Hakenjos serves as one of the editors of Techni-Talk, magazine of the College of Engineering. Buddy Roepe takes over as the new president of Gamma Delta, national Lutheran organization; Buddy is also president of the southern division of Gamma Delta.

Frank McDonnell, a member of the new pledge class, has been selected by the student body to represent the freshman class as cheer leader; his performances at the football games more than justifies their choice.

Beta Omicron—Cornell

The Delt A. C. is looking forward to another successful intramural season this year, starting off with a promising touch football team. With the addition of the 15 highly active new pledges, Beta Omicron should capture the coveted All-Sports Trophy which has been so close and yet so far for the last two seasons.

DELTS RETURN FOR GRID WARS

In the field of fall sports, Beta Omicron has Jeff Fleischmann and Vince DiGrande back at their old positions of varsity offensive fullback and defensive guard on Cornell's red-hot football team. Out of action due to injuries are Tackle Jim Casey and Guard Mike Riordan. Farquar Smith is manager of J. V. football this year and Dave Buckley is competing for a similar position.

BEGIN WORK ON YEARBOOK

Robin Westbrook and John Hollands are hard at work on the art board and business board, respectively, of Cornell's 1950 Cornellian. Bill Vickroy and Pledge Pete Downey are also competing for positions on the yearbook staff.

Robin Westbrook, Pete Williams, and Andy Heffernan were prominent members of the all-important Freshman Orientation Committee this fall.

SHELTER SHAPED UP

During the summer extensive repairs were made upon the Shelter. Included in the repairs were: complete renovation of exterior, redecoration of second and third stories, and replacement of several kitchen and dining room necessities. The repairs were of definite value in rushing and are hoped to be an incentive for the return of alumni during football week ends.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

Extremely active Delts here at Beta Pi brought to a close a successful rushing week with a banquet honoring the 21 newly acquired pledges. The evening reached its climax as our principal speaker, Brother J. H. Hutchinson, delivered his message to the new pledges, introducing them to their new college life.

Improvements within the Delta Shelter advanced far during the past summer. To supplement the modern and comfortable lounge, the upstairs rooms were redecorated with new carpets, draperies, and rugs. These improvements were a great aid to our rushing.

FOUR ARE VARSITY GRIDDERS

In the realm of athletics, Beta Pi again has four men in the varsity football lineup. "Fatso" Day, "PeeWee" Day, Ben Daniel, and Chuck Petteer are being heavily relied upon to bring in those victories.

The Delt intramural activities are under the leadership of Jim Vande Sande, a veteran intramural man. Expecting to win the football trophy with the return of so many of our last year's players, we also plan to give stiff opposition in the other fall sports of golf and horseshoes.

PARENTS INVITED TO HOMECOMING

Slated to head the homecoming house decoration committee, Bill Waggoner and Jake Fendley plan to take the trophy this year. Through the efforts of the Mothers' Club, parents of the Delts will be invited to our open house the evening of homecoming.

Beta Rho—Stanford

Four Beta Rho's are playing first string on Stanford varsity sport teams this fall—three in football and one in water polo.

The varsity football men are Ken Rose, end; Hart Cook, guard; and Dave Field, halfback. Stanford is using a modified "platoon" system this year, however, and all three are seldom in the game at the same time. Rose and Cook start when the team is on offense, and Dave Field usually plays the full game at defensive half.

HEADED FOR ALL-COAST HONORS

Ken Rose is one of the outstanding ends in the Conference and seems destined for All-Coast honors this fall. Stanford's Head Football Coach Marchie Schwartz describes him as the best blocking end he has ever coached. "Gunder" Rose scored Stanford's lone touchdown in last year's Big Game which Rose-Bowling California barely won, 7 to 6.

Hub Stokely is first-string forward on the Stanford varsity water polo team. Stanford has either won or tied for the Conference water polo championship for the past three years.

FIFTY MEN IN SHELTER

Sixteen freshmen members of last year's large pledge class have moved into the house this fall, bringing to 50 the number of men living in it this year. These 16 freshmen comprise the nucleus of last year's outstanding pledge class—largest in Beta Rho history.

A busy house social committee is being headed by Ted Westphal. A party is scheduled after every football game, and informal firesides will be held at the house on Friday nights. The committee is also investigating possible sites for an overnight party following the California game, November 19.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

This year the men of Beta Tau are off to a great start.

The new Shelter is nearing completion and will be set to direct the activities of the Delts on Fraternity Row by the last of November. A big housewarming is being planned, which promises to be one of the main social events of the year, as well as the beginning of a new era for Beta Tau.

PLEDGES ANSWER GRID CALL

New pledges answering Freshman Coach Ike Hanscomb's call to football are Fred Scott, a tough end who played prep ball in Seattle; Buck Osborne, all-state fullback from Aberdeen, South Dakota; and Keith Feine, rugged tackle from Omaha. Don Woods, who was injured last spring, is giving the varsity a rough go as a guard on Coach Neal Mehring's nubbins squad.

Fred Blackett was being groomed for first-string guard during early fall practice, but he had a recurrence of an old knee injury. Gardner Johnson, center, is also out of the line-up because of injuries.

MARCHING BAND CLAIMS THREE

The top-rate Nebraska marching band claims three of the brothers—Phil Neff, trombonist; Tom McVay, drums; and Don Crook, clarinet. This smart outfit puts on crack exhibitions at all home games.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

The chapter is employing three major improvements in its scholarship system this year. In each study room there are a senior, an underclassman, and a pledge. The object is to insure quieter study conditions. The adviser system helps the pledge to attain good scholarship by having a particular active keep note of each pledge's progress and helping him with any problems he may encounter. On the bulletin board is a huge scholarship chart which indicates the scholastic progress of everyone in the house. Thus, due recognition is given to those attaining good scholarship. Through these three measures Beta Upsilon is aiming for a high house average and the initiation of all pledges this February.

ADVANCE TO VARSITY

Advancing to varsity cage competition this year are John McMackin and Bob Johnson. Both earned their numerals in freshman basketball last season.

Prospective numeral winners in freshman football this fall are Les Pinkham, Bill Tate, and Pete Truran. All three play backfield positions.

ACTIVES TROUNCE PLEDGES

In preparation for the coming intramural touch football season, the pledges challenged the active chapter to a Sunday afternoon football contest. In case of a pledge victory, the actives agreed to submit to a "turnabout" day. But with plays developed in IM competition during previous years, the actives trounced the freshmen, 39-6.

Again, the chapter is aiming its sights on the all-University intramural championship. Beta Upsilon took top honors in 1946-47 by winning the highest IM award, a $300 gold-plated trophy awarded annually to the house scoring the highest number of IM points. With the good start the chapter has already made in IM football, tennis, water polo, and handball, Beta Upsilon is looking forward to another terrific season.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

What was it that made returning Beta Phi men stop in the doorway and look around the Shelter in open-mouthed amazement this fall?

Simple. It had been a clean-up, paint, and beautify summer. Almost $700 worth of repairs and new items, including rugs, slip covers, painting, and wallpapering, turned the Shelter into a fine-looking place for rush week.

Gamma Gamma's glee club, winner of Dartmouth's interfraternity sing, stages a repeat performance for the College this fall.

SHOOT THE WORKS FOR ALUMNI

The chapter has a Shoot-the-Works Homecoming Week End planned for the Illinois game, November 11. Actives will move out of the Shelter for the week end to make room for visiting alums. On Friday night the annual Fall Formal will be held.

Saturday before the game alums and their wives will be honored guests at a special brunch. After the game the traditional Homecoming Dance will be held at the Shelter to wind up festivities.

HIT 24 OUT OF 25

Rush week produced for Beta Phi 24 of the best pledges on the Ohio State campus. An even greater distinction is the fact that the chapter gave bids to only 25 men. High light of rush week was the Annual Fall Round-Up with alums at Brother John Galbreath's country estate west of Columbus.

Beta Psi—Wabash

Five Delt varsity men spark the Wabash gridiron to add to Delt leadership on the campus. First-stringers include Guard Frank Ritter, Halfback Jim Smith, Tackle Bob Hepler, End Milt Lankton, and Halfback Norm Wilson. Jim Smith and Bobby Mace add to the second team positions of halfback and quarterback, respectively.

A pledge class of 20, hailing from New York to Kentucky, adds to our hopes for the future.

Leadership within the Fraternity includes the following men: President John F. Speirs, Vice-President Dave Wunder, and Treasurer Dan Cullinan. John also captains the Sphinx Club, an all-campus organization for men prominent in athletics.

Last year's experiences bolster our hopes for the future. In intramural competition, we lost first place last season by only a few points, and with that in mind, the Wabash Dels are determined to recapture the first place rank we held in '47. Under the direction of Thayne Sando, we are after another homecoming decorations trophy to add to the award of last year.

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

A new addition to the Shelter, and a valuable aid in rushing, is a long awaited television set, the first one to be had by a fraternity on campus. Successful rushing as the result of the concerted efforts of the chapter was climaxed by a large rush dance of which the Dels should be proud. The major interest and excitement centered around the Delt Shelter.

HOLD "BEST ROOM" CONTEST

Following the presemester house cleaning and decorating, the various study rooms were inspected and judged on their improvement and general appearance. The winning room, since dubbed the "Green Room," received the honor through the clever use of a light and dark shade of green on opposite walls, with attractive draperies and contrasting rug and slip cover for the easy chair. This, coupled with several paintings and a few exquisite mantelpieces, stole the show. The contest is destined to become an annual event, but the contenders next year will have to go to great lengths to challenge the beauty of the "Green Room."

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

Gamma Gamma has done it again! Taking first place in the interfraternity combined-events competition makes the second year in a row that the Delt Shelter on the Hanover plain has won the coveted award. In fact, Delta Tau Delta has been the only winner, as this prize was awarded for the first time only last year.

The winner is chosen on the basis of competition with 21 other fraternities in the fields of interfraternity athletics, scholarship, house administration, and special events. Naturally, much praise must go to last year's fine officers—John Dahle, Ort Hicks, Nat Merrill, Hank Williams, Phil Brown, and Will Cone—all of whom did a splendid job leading the chapter to another first place.

On the night of the awarding of prizes,

They lead Beta Upsilon Chapter at the University of Illinois. Seated: DARIO LENCIONI, chapter president, and DON MILES, vice-president. Standing: JOHN GOTHARD, assistant treasurer; PHIL DIERSTEIN, recording secretary; BILL GOTHARD, treasurer; and DON HALLAHAN, corresponding secretary.

Rushees like entertainment during rush week. At Ohio Wesleyan, Delts WILSON, ROSSER, WEATHERHOLT, and LEGGE dish out close barbershop.

The new Shelter at Santa Barbara boasts a swimming pool, used here to good advantage during a rush week party.

Delta Epsilon Chapter swings into rush week at Kentucky with a lawn party in front of the Shelter.

Gamma Gamma, winner of the interfraternity sing last year, was further honored by the College's request that she stage a repeat performance of "Old Gray Robe," "Summertime," and "Road to Mandalay."

SHELTER WELCOMES ALUMNI

During the summer, the Shelter opened its doors to visiting alumni during class reunions and graduation festivities. The Delt house here at Dartmouth was happy to have had the pleasure of entertaining the former actives and wishes to take this opportunity to extend its invitation to Delts to drop over when in Hanover.

RUSH CHAIRMAN DIGS IN

Under the able leadership of Paul Staley, the rush committee is now swinging into action to get the best for Delta Tau Delta. Incidentally, Paul is—figuratively speaking—a workhorse on campus. Besides being rush chairman, he is first-string center on Dartmouth's football team, a member of Green Key (junior honorary society), a member of the Undergraduate Council, a member of the Judiciary Council, and for the past two years vice-president of his class.

Gamma Delta—West Virginia

Coming back to the Shelter held a special meaning to the boys of Gamma Delta. During the summer some of the brothers who were permanently situated on the campus went ahead with their own ideas for improving the Shelter. Included in these improvements were the addition of an outdoor fireplace in our patio and the decoration of our game room, to say nothing of the general improvements throughout the house. All of these factors went together to give the boys enthusiasm to dig in for a new year.

The activities for this year's rush week featured June Christy, who favored us with her presence and sang for us one of her pulse-stopping songs. The results of rushing were quite successful, evidenced by a star pledge class of 21.

HELP TO STAFF MOUNTAINEERS

The Delts have Frank "Speedy" Allen, Bob Kettlewell, Bill "Bearcat" Bryant, and Jim Fauber slugging it out on the gridiron for the Mountaineers, to say nothing of the Delt cheering section composed of "Muff" Morgan, Don Kelly, Ray Hope, and Joe McGuire on the side line. Coming up from the pledge class to reinforce the Mountaineers, we have Jim Cornwell and Jesse McHenry, who are on the freshman team.

NEW HOUSEMOTHER

A new and a most important addition to the Shelter is our new housemother, Mrs. Nora Beavers. Even though she has been with us only a short while, Mrs. Beavers has brightened the place considerably.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

For the second consecutive year Gamma Zeta has placed among the top three houses on campus in rushing. Twenty-three men selected Delta Tau as their first choice, and 16 of these men were pledged. These promising pledges have already demonstrated unusual interest in extracurricular activities, including football, soccer, the college paper, and the band.

Much of the credit for this largest delegation on campus is due to Bill Malamud, rushing chairman. Sophomore Pete Linton has been elected as pledgemaster for this group.

FAMILY WEEK END OBSERVED

In honor of the new pledges, the house held a party on October 8 after the Wesleyan-Coast Guard football game. The following week was family week end at Gamma Zeta, with many relatives of brothers and pledges visiting the Fraternity and the Wesleyan campus, where they saw the Swarthmore game. This was the first time in many years that the chapter has set aside a week end for the parents, and its success suggests that it will be continued.

CAMPUS RUSH CHAIRMAN

Very active during the fall season is Frank Ridout, who serves as Campus Rushing Chairman. The smooth operation of rush week on the entire campus this year was largely due to his efforts.

House President Bob Fithian, Dick Grant, and Dick Fischer are on the football team, while Ralph Jones and Henry Gaviglio star on the first-string soccer eleven. Prominent in the first major theatrical production this year are Bill Young and Bud Dorsey.

Musical organizations find Fred Trevithick and Hal Carney in the glee club, with the latter sharing honors with Don Porter and John Tripp in the band. The Delt contingent on the college paper is headed by Bill Malamud as news editor.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

This past summer has been one of the busiest and most productive summers that Gamma Eta has spent. Our new house was occupied all summer by Gamma Eta Delts who were attending the summer sessions. These men and other brothers who live in the District put the finishing touches on the Shelter, under the expert guidance and help of Bob Valliant and House Manager Mel Brenneman. Among the more noticeable improvements are the completion of the recreation room and the addition of a television set in the living room.

PICNIC WITH ALUMNI CHAPTER

In the line of social activities, two events stand out. The first was an all-day outing at the Annapolis Roads Beach Club July 10. The second was a joint picnic with the National Capitol Alumni Chapter and the Delta Sigma Chapter at the University of Maryland. This picnic was held September 23 in Rock Creek Park. In addition, Gamma Eta was host to many Delts who visited the nation's capital this summer.

Many of our own brothers were traveling this summer. Paul Sifton, who was employed by the UN, traveled throughout France, Belgium, Holland, Scotland, and England. Three others—Gregg Blackburn, Dave Harrington, and Frank Antonelli—attended summer school at the University of California at Berkeley and toured the West, while John Uehlinger attended the Reserve Officers Candidates School at San Diego.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Gamma Kappa's Delts began this school year in a newly redecorated Shelter. Most of the work of painting the interior and refinishing the floors was done by the members prior to rush week. New furniture, draperies, and living room carpet were added at a cost of nearly $2,000.

MEL SHEEHAN RETURNS

Brother Mel Sheehan is back at the University of Missouri to do work for a master's degree in physical education. Big Mel was recently appointed a graduate assistant to Don Faurot, athletic director and head football coach. Last spring Sheehan signed a contract with the pro football Cleveland Browns, but after playing for the College All Stars against the Philadelphia Eagles in Chicago in August, his contract with Cleveland was disputed, and Mel decided to come back to school.

Again this year the Delts are represented in the Missouri Tigers' starting line-up. Left End Bob Ebinger, 202-pound senior, is roughing it up with the best of 'em.

SERVE ON CAMPUS PUBLICATIONS

The Missouri Delts continue to be active in campus publications. Brother Frank Tuttle is sports editor of the Missouri yearbook, Savitar. Dave Rapp is basketball editor, and John Wilson is promotions manager for the Savitar. On the staff of the weekly Missouri Student is Wally Eggers, newly-appointed advertising manager.

SOCIAL CALENDAR FILLED

The autumn social calendar, engineered by Don Kaufman, schedules our fourth annual pig roast for October 22. Homecoming is October 29, and the Orchid Ball winter formal is set for December 3. Coke parties, exchange dinners, and a roller skating party fill all other available dates.

Gamma Mu—Washington

Joe Cloldt, a junior and varsity end for the Washington Huskies, has again established himself as a football great. In the first three games, against top-ranking Utah, Minnesota, and Notre Dame, Cloldt has won praise as the outstanding Husky player in proving himself as a definite threat to opponents both offensively and defensively.

Ken Walters is back for his second year as a varsity letter-winner in crew. Walters rowed No. 6 spot in the Washington junior-varsity boat this summer at the Poughkeepsie Regatta, when the Washington frosh and JV crews won, combining with California's winning crew in the varsity race to sweep the river again for the Far-Westerners.

Kay Pugmire, frosh numeral winner from last year, is a sure varsity entrant in the diving events on the swimming team.

RATE SECOND SCHOLASTICALLY

Gamma Mu Deltas again placed at the top in scholarship for the past year, rating second in fraternity competition and fourth in the "all-U" standings. Dave Heggie, Bill Gellermann, and Dean and Don Minor stood out as the chapter's top scholars. Heggie and Pete Ballode, members of last year's pledge class, were named Delt freshmen scholarship winners in the Shelter, for top accumulative grade point for the year and for the most improvement in grade point shown, respectively.

LEADS JUNIOR CLASS

Bob Muckelstone has already begun his work of leading the junior class at Washington as president. Bill Gellermann, Kay Pugmire, Jules Diebenow, and John Stevenson are again in the midst of activities on the campus, while Jerry Norling is active in interfraternity work.

Gamma Nu—Maine

Pledge Training Chairman Dick Martin has instituted the new Delt Development Program for the instruction of the neophytes. It is hoped that this program will provide the pledge with a sense of fraternalism and comradeship and also instruct him in the history and traditions of the Fraternity.

Emphasis will also be placed upon scholastic achievement and development of cooperation between pledges and members.

Another program which is presently being stressed is administration by executive council. Although this system is not new in the Fraternity, Gamma Nu is now finding out its full merits. The officers and committee chairmen work together effectively as a council in administering the business of the chapter.

BOB EBINGER, 202-pound end of the Missouri Tigers.

HOMECOMING FOR ALUMNI

The chapter hopes this year to see the graduates return in large numbers for homecoming week end. The chapter feels that this special week end should belong to them; therefore, the program will be centered around activities solely for the enjoyment of the alumni.

After the game, a get-together will be held at the Shelter. Supper will be served and the house turned over to the "grads."

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

On the U.C. campus this fall, the Deltas are again active. Brother Ray Schubert, president of the Engineering Tribunal, made the engineers' orientation a great success. Pledge Brothers Don Uphoff and Dick Quell, together with Active Earl "Hoggy" Hobt, are playing on U.C.'s varsity football team.

The Deltas are ably represented in Ulex, honorary fraternity, having five members, more than any other fraternity on campus. They are Brothers Tom Leonard, Lloyd Pitman, Earl Hobt, Jim Brownell, and Don Uphoff. The Earl is also a member of Sigma Sigma, upperclassmen's honorary.

The chapter was happy to welcome Brother Bill Rengering back to the fold this fall after his year of study in Switzerland under the American-European student exchange policy. The tales that he tells are many and interesting.

REUNION IN KENTUCKY

At this writing we are looking forward to the third annual Kentucky-UC Delt party after the Bearcats and Wildcats tangle in their traditionally hard-fought game. The party, to be held this year at Lexington, is always the high light of the football social season. We have a block of tickets reserved for the game and will turn out en masse to enjoy Delta Epsilon's cordial hospitality.

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

Gamma Omicron's second year at Syracuse University got off to a strenuous start with a week-long clean-up session during registration week. No major alterations were made in the house structure, but the kitchen, dining room, front porch, and upstairs hall have all taken on a brighter appearance as a result of industrious scrubbing, painting, and waxing jobs.

The chapter enters its sophomore year with 29 active brothers, 24 of whom are living in the Shelter. In addition, there are 11 pledges who will be initiated shortly.

CAPTAINS CROSS-COUNTRY

The fall sports scene finds Delt Tim Curley captaining the Syracuse cross-country team, while Brother Alex Perritt is one of the mainstays of the Orange harrier squad which has gone undefeated for two seasons.

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

With 36 actives returning to the campus and 22 new pledges, the present Shelter is too small to house all of the men. The chapter solved this problem by leasing a nearby house which is serving as an annex. To brighten the housing situation for the future, the house corporation has completed plans for the new Shelter, with the start of construction scheduled for next spring. The new house will accommodate 48 men.

GUESTS OF GAMMA TAU

Seventeen Gamma Pi Deltas were guests of Gamma Tau Chapter at Kansas during the migration of Iowa State football enthusiasts to see the Iowa State-Kansas football game at Lawrence on October 2.

HOLD KEY CAMPUS POSITIONS

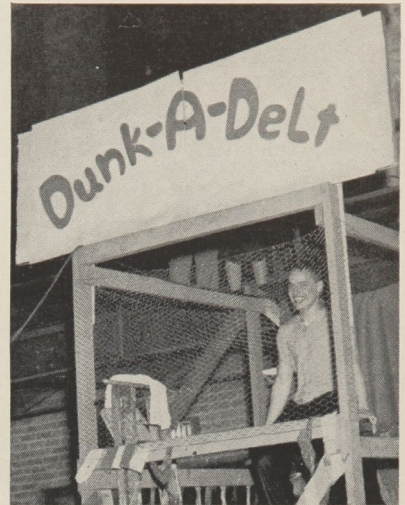

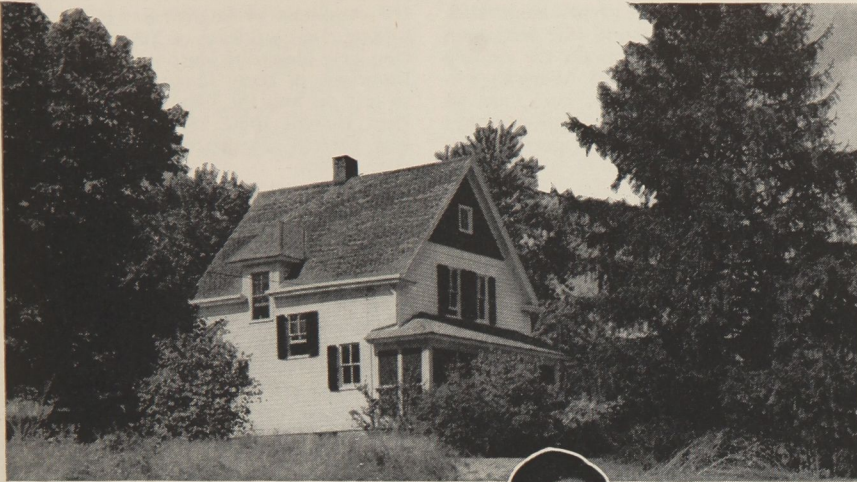

Many Deltas hold key positions on the campus. They include Chapter President Walt Bones, who is president of the interfraternity council. This is the second consecutive year that a Delt has held this office. Chuck Vogelgesang is editor of the Bomb, college yearbook. He served as associate editor on the 1949 edition.

Bud Ostrand has been elected president of the 630 Club, a college pep organization. He is also vice-president of the industrial economics club. Pete Meeks, who boosts the team as a cheerleader, is president of the Pep Council and a member of Sextant, NROTC honorary.

Dick Dirks has been selected circulation manager of The Iowa State Scientist, a monthly publication of the science division. He is also a member of Sextant, along with Carl Mahnke and Paul Strohm.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

House Manager Tom Ragsdale, as assistant trainer under Coach Jim Aiken, is currently putting last year's Cotton Bowl team through its paces. John Barton, journalism major, who edited last year's softball intramurals, was appointed assistant sports editor of the Emerald, University daily. Vernon (Red) Beard, president of the Skull and Dagger, men's sophomore honorary, besides putting in many hours at his executive post, is writing a weekly column for the Emerald. Norm Morrison, well-known campus figure, started this year's activities as chairman of the Interfraternity Council pledge dance committee. Other Gamma Rho Deltas are seeking berths on Oregon's football and basketball squads.

SHELTER SEES RENOVATION

Our campus home needed very little renovation during the summer months. Brother Ragsdale spent a short time at the Shelter supervising the few minor painting and repair jobs which were required. Of course, the usual, first-of-the-term redoing of rooms is now in high gear. The banging of hammers and the slapping of paint brushes can be heard throughout the Shelter, as the brothers change their new rooms to suit their own tastes.

Our proudest improvement is our new ice box, installed toward the end of vacation. Perhaps more important—to our toast lovers—is the addition of a new $99, four-slot toaster. It is a gift from our Portland Mothers' Club.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

Returning to campus a week before classes started, the actives and pledges of Gamma Upsilon worked on the house to get it in shape for the coming school year. As a result of the renovation process, the entire first floor and also the second-floor study rooms now sport a fresh coat of paint. Adding the final touch to luxury was the installation of our long awaited television set in the rec room.

FOUR DELTS BOLSTER VARSITY

Four Deltas are now completing their final season of varsity football. Two of the quartet, Quarterback Mel Olix and Center Bob Kappes, have already won three varsity grid letters and are mainstays of the starting eleven. Halfback Ray Green and End Arch McCartney are out for their third letters. McCartney, however, suffered a broken ankle in the opening game against Wichita and will probably be out for the remainder of the season.

BIG DAD'S DAY PLANNED

Plans are now being laid for the weekend celebration of the Dad's Day football game, Saturday, November 5. Since the initial chapter observance last year was such a success, this week end now rates with Mother's Day as an annual affair. The fathers arrive Saturday and attend the game with their sons. After a party that evening, the fathers take over the house for the night. The affair closes Sunday noon with a banquet at the house.

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

Gamma Chi came out of rush week with 17 fine freshmen. The second night after the freshmen moved in, the Shelter was polished and shined, and the first house party of the season was given. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

FOUR PLAY FOR VARSITY

Gamma Chi is proud of her four foot-

ballers who are on the varsity team. Dick Johnson, end, is a second-year letterman with very bright prospects for the coming season. Bill Brookover, end; Ward Copen, guard; Buddy Burris, back, are all first-year varsity men, all unproved, but all very promising in their respective positions.

ALUMNI CHAPTER SMOKER

On the third Wednesday in September, a smoker was held for the alumni chapter in Manhattan, in order that it might meet Gamma Chi's freshman class.

The following Thursday an hour dance was held with Delta Delta Delta's pledge class. Everyone felt that this was a very worth-while experience. This decision led to the planning of an hour dance a week for the rest of the semester.

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

Newest arrival at the Oklahoma University Shelter is Zigurd Zarins, formerly of Riga, Latvia. He is the recipient of a one year's scholarship extended by Delta Alpha Chapter to a European displaced person.

During the war, Zigurd saw his homeland occupied first by the Russian divisions and later by those of Germany. As the Germans withdrew from Latvia in the latter stages of the great conflict, he was one among many Baltic young men who were forcibly removed to Germany, there to do forced labor on Germany's last-ditch defenses. At the war's end he was liberated by the British army as it occupied northwestern Germany.

Rather than return to Latvia, which had once again been overrun by Soviet forces, Zigurd chose to remain in Germany for nearly four years at one of the great camps established for homeless and stateless war refugees. Here he took two years of college work in architecture at Baltic University, open to refugee students.

Late in the spring of 1949 he came to the United States, admitted under the Displaced Persons Act. During the past summer he worked as a construction laborer on Long Island.

Meanwhile, Delta Alpha Chapter, working through the National Co-ordinating Council for DP Students, was seeking to bring a displaced person into the Shelter as a scholarship student. When the lack of sufficient time made it impossible to secure such a student direct from Europe, it was suggested that Zigurd be sent to fill the vacancy. This met with the chapter's complete approval. By this time, however, the first week of the fall term had been completed. Realizing the importance of haste, the chapter requested that the young Latvian be flown out from New York City. This was done, and four days after learning that he was to resume his education, Zigurd landed at the Oklahoma City airport to be greeted there by a Delt welcoming committee.

By the following Monday he had completed his enrollment and was launched on his career as an American college student.

A modest and friendly young man, Zigurd has quickly adapted himself to the pattern of university and fraternity life.

His command of English has proved surprising. Delt students of French and German were pleased to learn that he is equally proficient in these languages. They plan to rely on him for help in these subjects, even though their French and German may thereby take on something of a Latvian accent.

The chapter is principally indebted to Brother Bill McGehee for having sold it on setting up the displaced person scholarship. Now a law student at Yale, he last year received an award as Oklahoma University's outstanding senior man. He will be happy to know that both the chapter and its scholarship student are delighted at their new relationship, for which Bill is in so large part responsible.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

The active chapter returned this year to a completely redecorated Shelter. There is new carpeting for the whole house. The library and living room were brightened with paint and completely equipped with new and more comfortable furniture. To fill out a modern picture, a 16-inch television set was bought for the living room. The fever spread to every room as the actives fell to with paint brushes and bolts of cloth.

SCHOLARSHIP IN PLEDGE CLASS

Our 20-member pledge class is well-rounded, with men in all the major departments of the school, from drama to electrical engineering. Our intramural teams bid fair to have a goodly share of the freshmen. The scholastic achievements of the pledges (we have one third of the entering freshman Westinghouse scholarship awardees) give us good hopes in this most important field.

OPEN HOUSE FOR PARENTS

This fall's social program has been as full and gala as any remembered. Football trips in chartered buses, Sunday teas, and a new item—television parties—have added variety to the most popular house parties. For the benefit of alumni and parents, we had an open house which was well attended and appreciated. Finally, for the first time a fall formal has been scheduled to climax the semester's doings.

Delta Gamma—South Dakota

Football is again in full swing, and the Coyotes are headed for a great season. Leading them again this year is a Delt veteran, Jack Van Arsdale. Van calls the plays and does all the punting, most of the passing, and his share of running. Along with him in the starting backfield is Delt Merle Houck, at blacking back. Delt Norm Bartholow is the mainstay of the Coyote forward wall again this year, backed up by Reserves Stan Rhinehart, Mike Hooker, and Duff Lorentson.

FIRST IN SCHOLARSHIP

Again last year, Delta Gamma headed the list of organized fraternities on campus in scholarship. With 28 new pledges bolstering its ranks, the chapter is intent upon holding its lead in this important field.

SEEK HOMECOMING AWARD

Dakota Day will find Delta Gamma out to cop its third straight house-decorating first place. Another victory would retire the trophy to the Shelter permanently. With Brother Jim Hegert heading the committee, the chapter feels confident of keeping the trophy.

Delta Delta—Tennessee

A banquet and dance will be given for the chapter by local alumni on the eve of the Georgia Tech-Tennessee football game scheduled for Knoxville early in November. About 400 persons are expected. In addition, the alumni will give a buffet supper at the house following the game for students and visitors. The alumni generosity came as a reward for the publication last spring of the 25th anniversary edition of The Volunteer Delt, which was edited by Robert E. Lee.

POINT TO FOUNDERS DAY

The annual Founders Day banquet will be combined with the biannual formal this year. Vice-President Barkley has been invited to speak at the banquet, and he has indicated his interest in so doing. A tea dance has been set for the afternoon of the big day, and an overnight stay in the resort town of Gatlinburg will close the day's activities.

SHELTER REDECORATED

A complete redecoration of the house occupied the brothers' time during the summer and the first days of school. The walls got new paper, but best of all, thick rugs were placed in the two living rooms and hall. Half the cost of the rugs was paid for by the Mothers' and Wives' Club. Donations from alumni came in handy, too.

NEW HOUSEMOTHER WELCOMED

A new housemother has replaced Mrs.

MRS. W. L. MIDDLETON,
Housemother for Delta Delta

Connie Richards, who left to take a position as hostess at a girls' dormitory at UT. She is Mrs. W. L. Middleton, mother of Bill Middleton, president last year.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

Kentucky Delts like to point out their contribution to the varsity football squad, as yet undefeated. Clayton Webb and Emery Clark show promise of making the headlines many times before the season is over.

WARMING UP FOR SING

Hopes are high in anticipation of winning another All Campus Sing this year. This time we get another trophy—if we win, that is. An organization has to win a cup three years in a row to retain permanent possession of the trophy. Since last year was our third year for that cup, a new one is in order this year. We have our eye on it.

DEFERRED RUSH INSTITUTED

Rush on the Kentucky campus has taken on a new form this year. A two-year trial run of deferred pledging began with the fall semester.

Delayed pledging meant a complete departure from former rush schedules and procedures and a huge headache to the rush chairman. This job was placed in the capable hands of Jimmy Inman. After weeks of careful planning and revision, Jimmy has devised a new plan of operation for the coming year that the chapter feels sure will take care of the pitfalls accompanying the new system and lead the chapter through another successful season.

Delta Theta—Toronto

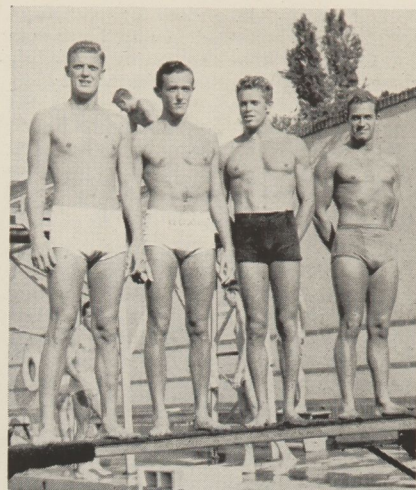

The Shelter has enjoyed a highly successful summer both financially and architecturally. Gone are the old wooden steps and canopy, and in their place a modern cement entrance has been built. Credit for both this and the financially successful summer's operation of the Shelter is due entirely to the efforts of our vice-president, Brother Stuart Cauley.

FAHRIG WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Scholastically, Delta Theta has always ranked high on the Toronto campus and this year was no exception. Brother Robert Fahrigh brought honour to himself and the Fraternity by winning the Kennecott Copper Corporation Scholarship for inspiring leadership and scholastic ability.

INTERNATIONAL BROTHERS

This summer we had several visits from our American brothers. Brothers Dana Tomlinson and John Malejan of Albion College dropped in to pay us a fraternal visit, while Ed Putnam of Sewanee was here just a short time ago. We swapped yarns with Ed for hours and benefited greatly by his visit. Our vice-president, Stuart Cauley, who had the opportunity to visit Carnegie Tech and the University of Tennessee this summer, came back with high praise of the hearty welcome and wonderful time he had received at the hands of our American brothers.

First-stringers on U. C. L. A.'s water polo team are: JERRY LADHOFF, JOHN CHANDLER, JACK NELSON, and GIL TUFFLI. TUFFLI was All Coast guard last season.

Delta Iota—U.C.L.A.

The brothers of Delta Iota returned from various summer vacation activities to find the Shelter redecorated and with a new coat of paint on the exterior. The new paint job, ably applied by Prexy Vince DeSousa, Rick Roemer, Greg Peters, and Dick Cruise, again gives us the most striking house on the Row with its grey background and blue trim on Georgian style architecture.

TWELVE CHAPTERS VISIT

We had the good fortune during the summer months to be visited by Delts from twelve chapters stretching all the way from Stanford to Dartmouth and from Washington to Texas. Delta Iota's door is always open to any brothers who are attracted by the lure of sunny California.

FOUR PLAY FOR BRUINS

Delta Iota finds itself amply represented on Coach "Red" Sanders' surprising Bruin eleven, with four of the brothers playing first or second string. Water polo also claims four of the brothers—all playing first string.

Delta Kappa—Duke

The scholarship record of Delta Kappa last year points to even higher achievement this year. The chapter led the fraternities in a successful jump ahead of the All-Men's average with a Delt jump from thirteenth to third place in fraternity standings. The results this year should be even more gratifying.

FULLBACK FOR WADEMEN

The Delts are indeed proud of their own Lou "Babe" Viau, first-string defensive fullback for the Wademen. Lou is a returning letterman from last year's Blue Devil squad.

We think our trophy case will have to be enlarged to make room for intramural wrestling and football cups. Letterman Joe Orzano is coaching future grappling champs, Koestline, Ronca, Scott, and Rogers. Our touch football team with a big line and the Allen-Clowar one-two punch in the backfield will be a squad to reckon with. The handball and tennis cups are in sight, also, with Charlie Duttweiler and Bob Silkett on top in their fields.

DELTA KAPPA HAS BRASS

Football Band Director Allan Bone has the Delts to thank for his terrific brass section. Brothers Silkett, Shuford, Niedermaier, and Thomas are the mainstays of the trumpet section, while E. D. Hanson holds down the baritone section. Drummers Koestline and Baynes are also valuable members of the Duke marching band.

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

Two very successful prerushing functions were held in Portland over the summer by the Portland Alumni Chapter in conjunction with Delta Lambda and Gamma Rho. We wish to thank the Portland Alumni Chapter for its co-operation.

During the summer, our living room and dining room were redecorated. We have new living room furniture which is a great improvement to the appearance of the Shelter.

Dale Lander was elected treasurer of the class of '52 and of the Thanes, a sophomore honorary. Delta Lambda has recently pledged 13 new men.

Delta Mu—Idaho

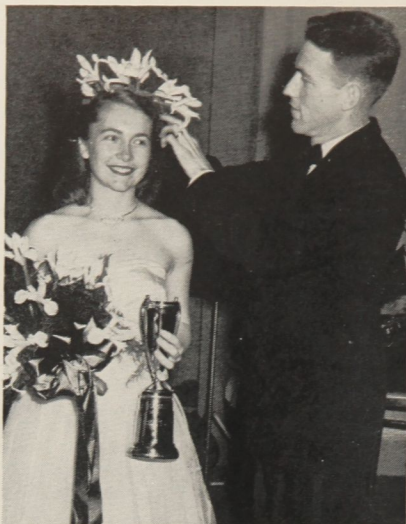

Delta Mu has begun another school term with its members again outstanding in campus activities. Dick Boyle, a senior this year, leads the list as president of Interfraternity Council, chairman of the Activities Board, member of the student-faculty council, and member of the activities calendar committee. Dick was chapter president during his sophomore-junior year and was pledged recently to the national Blue Key activities honorary.

Adson Starner holds the prexy position in the chapter this year, and he is also president of the Greek Caucus, secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and member of the Alpha Phi Chi and Pershing Riflemen honoraries. In prior achievement, Ad was associate editor of the Idaho Engineer and a member of IFC.

Along the sports line, Pledge Sonny Hiskey, who took the state junior golf tournament and was runner-up in the Idaho amateur tourney this past summer, took both medalist and championship honors in the University golf tourney held recently.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

Campus activities claim many Delts this fall. Bill Donald and Bob Hanisch are editor and business manager, respectively, of the Lawrentian. The Student Executive Committee finds Dick Luthin as treasurer, Dick Bickle as chairman of the rules committee, and Ross Sackett as homecoming cochairman.

DEAN SLAY crowns Miss FRAN BETHEA
Duke University's Delt Queen.

Dean Waterman, that indestructible gentleman of music, has eight Delts in the famous concert choir, including Chuck Crowder, the choir accompanist. In dramatics Larry Futchik, Angelo Greco, John Watson, and Earl Glosser are members of "Sunset," honorary dramatic group.

SEEK ELEVENTH TITLE

In the fall, however, there is one main thought which overshadows all others in the Shelter: touch football. This is Delta Nu's tenth consecutive year as champions of the interfraternity league. Once again the Delts are the team to beat, as witnessed by the easy 18-0 victory in the first game.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

Our completely redecorated and re-furnished Shelter is home to 25 men this year. The living room has been completely changed with new rugs, furniture, drapes, and a new lighting arrangement. Many of the actives returned to school early this fall to finish painting and cleaning up around the Shelter.

Norman Haugan, who was graduated from the University last year as valedictorian of his class, visited the chapter house recently. Norman majored in chemistry at U. N. D. and is now enrolled at the University of Minnesota's Medical School.

Many plans are being made for homecoming this fall. Dad's Day and Homecoming are to be combined into one big day. The University Sioux will play host to the South Dakota State Jackrabbits in a conference game. We hope to have a large number of alumni present.

Delta Omicron—Westminster

Delta Omicron is starting its tenth year with one of the strongest groups of men in its history. Returning are Bob Schroeder, three-time varsity tennis letterman and on the conference doubles championship team, and Howie Whiteway, three-time varsity golf letterman and conference medalist in '47 and '49. In varsity baseball are Lettermen Tuck Gay, Ned Rector, Earl O'Rourke, and Cocaptain Dave McCallum. Varsity track has its ace shot-putter, Dick Duncan. Also adding to the strength of Delta Omicron are 18 pledges for '49-'50.

AIM FOR SIXTH SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Delta Omicron came second for the George H. English Scholarship Cup in the spring semester of 1949. A win this fall would give us possession for the sixth year since 1939.

Delta Omicron has several "B.M.O.C.'s." Howard Whiteway is ODK and vice-president of the student body. Bob Schroeder is secretary-treasurer of the senior class. Dick Duncan is vice-president of the junior class. Tom Shields is vice-president of the sophomore class.

Social activities this fall have included a tea given in honor of the pledges and a "Prohibition Party," both in September. Delta Omicron was entertained at the Gamma Kappa Shelter on October 1 with a "Hink Party." Scheduled in October are the pledge formal called the "Delt Decade Dance," in honor of Delta Omicron's tenth anniversary, and Westminster Dad's Day, at which time the Delt dads will stay at the Shelter.

Delta Pi—U.S.C.

Delta Pi this year has already scored numerous achievements for the Fraternity on the U. S. C. campus. Probably the most outstanding was the winning of the Trojan War Memorial book drive. Gathering over 32,000 books as compared to the nearest competition of 1,500, the men of the Shelter helped greatly to supply the war-devastated University of the Philippines with much needed text books.

WIN I. F. C. SONGFEST

The chapter captured first place for the second year in a row in the annual I. F. C. songfest with a beautiful rendition of the pin song, "Queen of Delta Tau." Credit should be given to Sam Spence for his tireless effort and leadership.

FIRST IN TRACK MEET

In the way of athletics, Freshman Hugh Kelly, pole vaulter, took third place in the Junior National A. A. U. track meet. Dean Dillingham tossed himself to fourth place in the Pacific Coast Conference javelin throw in his first year of competition. The other members of the house got together and won the All-University Track Meet. They were led by Bob Chapman, who won the fifty-yard dash, the shot put, and narrowly missed winning the hundred-yard event.

DINNER CLUB MEETS

On September 22, the Shelter witnessed the first of what we hope will be a regular occasion. On that date our alumni had the first meeting of the "Dinner Club" and met at the house for dinner and entertainment consisting of football movies and short talks by alumni closely connected with the ball picture at U. C. L. A., California, and U. S. C.

At that time we installed a new chapter advisor. We will greatly miss Rod Hansen who has really been Delta Pi's best friend since 1946. Pressing business affairs made it impossible for Rod to do the job as he thought it should be done. In his place we now have another Delta Pi man, Jay Perrin, late BMOC and football player.

Delta Rho—Whitman

The Shelter has had a complete face lifting job inside, with modernistic designs and color schemes galore. The kitchen, in the planning status for about a year, is now a reality. Many thanks to Chuck Whitmore, chapter steward, who has given much of his time during the past summer to get the place in order. The Portland alumni group and the Mothers' Club also assisted.

HOSPITALITY BOOMS

Delt social activities are bringing the Shelter a reputation for hospitality. Soon after the start of school, a "new look" open house was held. Out of a total enrollment of 775 students, 500 inspected the newly decorated Shelter.

Dessert exchanges, a new Delta Rho innovation on campus, are held once a week with the women's social groups. On all these occasions, Mrs. Claire Milne, house-mother, gracefully reigns as First Lady of Delta Rho.

Delta Sigma—Maryland

As was reported in the last issue, Delta Sigma has acquired its Shelter. Now with the school year well under way, the chapter is becoming firmly established in its new home. Although the Shelter was just recently purchased by the University and is in need of repairs, it is being brought rapidly into shape through the efforts of the active chapter and the generosity of interested alumni.

To Dr. Byrd, president of the University, for his efforts in making the property available to us; to Richard Daniels, Gamma Eta, '09, for his work on the house corporation charter; to Riggs Monfort, Chi, '30, for his limitless enthusiasm in promoting donations of materials for the chapter room, recreation room, grill, and wishing well; to the Baltimore and National Capital Alumni Chapters; and particularly to Justice Clark and Harry Sacks, Upsilon, '05, for the furnishings of our living rooms, we owe a debt of gratitude which can never be fully repaid.

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

Just prior to the opening of school, a group of industrious Deltas, to wit, Prexy Don Thomas, Jim Armbruster, and Dick Smith began a program of renovation and interior decorating around the Shelter. Kitchen, dining room, and main lounge soon acquired that new look.

On the social front, the inaugural event, a hayride, has already been successfully concluded, while two forthcoming dances and homecoming festivities are the high lights on the immediate agenda. Plans are being made to make this year's homecoming the most elaborate to date and personal invitations have already been extended to all alumni.

PUBLICATION PLANNED

Plans are being concluded for the chapter publication to be issued quarterly. Editor in Chief Bill Wagner has promised a decided improvement over last year's publication. The first issue of this school year is scheduled for the first week of November.

Delta Upsilon—Delaware

This month marks the first anniversary of Delta Upsilon Chapter. During this time we have advanced rapidly to a position of prominence on the campus and expect to grow even more this year, for we will be well represented in several activities we were unable to enter last fall.

Our two varsity soccer candidates are Will Hoch and Bill McCauley, both of whom are expected to see plenty action before the season is over. The intramural football team, led by Art Diver and a hard-charging line, should prove a definite trophy contender. We also have a fine chance of taking the bowling league. All the men from last year's team, which won second place, are back at school and feel confident that we will win this time.

Tony Fauerbach and Tom O'Donnell carry the Delt badge into campus dramatics. Both are members of E-52, the University's dramatic club, and are working themselves through the point system which the group uses for promotions.

EARN MICHIGAN SCHOLARSHIP

On the scholastic side, the Deltas ranked fifth of all fraternities on campus for the spring term. As a reward for his fine work here, Bob Day, who was graduated last spring, has been awarded a scholarship for three years at the University of Michigan Law School.

Delta Phi—Florida State

Delta Phi surges ahead! With the advent of the new college year, great plans are in store for this, the 80th chapter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. Rush week at Florida State University will begin officially November 1, and with our rush program under the capable direction of Brother Roy Rhodes, recently transferred from Sewanee, we are assured that Delta Phi will get the cream of the crop.

The house—our miniature Delta Shelter—will undergo a complete face-lifting, indoors and out, within the next couple of weeks. Our aim is to keep the best-looking "barracks" on West Campus, always one jump ahead of our fellow fraternities. To add to the attraction of the Shelter, we have recently acquired a new studio couch and two red-leather chairs for our living room.

The Delta Phi sing team, which will be coached into close harmony this year by Gene Mitchell, is out to add more laurels to its already much coveted top-place position on the Florida State campus.

Delta Chi—Oklahoma A. & M.

Delta Chi, the second youngest child of Delta Tau Delta, carried on an extensive rush throughout the state last summer, teaming with Delta Alpha Chapter to sponsor joint parties in such cities as Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Ponca City, and McAlester. The success of these parties is largely due to the help of alumni in those cities.

Delta Pi's own Delta Queen, with HUGH (CRANK IT!) KELLY at the wheel. The Queen has become a familiar sight to football fans on Saturday afternoons. Loaded with Troy's cheerleaders, she leads the pregame ceremonial parade in the Coliseum.

▼ THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS ▼

Akron

The first regular get-together of the fall season, after a summer moratorium on meetings, was held at Semler's Hotel on September 21. A fair number attended, with most of the evening being devoted to plans for the year ahead and a discussion on the progress being made to secure installation of a chapter at Kent State University.

The assembled Deltas were advised that the Arch Chapter had approved Kent State University as a possible field for expansion and would receive a petition from the local group at Kent State desiring to affiliate. Brother John Hart has been appointed chairman of the alumni committee to work with and aid the local group.

The summer months saw several of our active alumni Deltas leaving the Akron area for other locations. H. E. Heiligen-thal, our vice-president, has moved to Butler, Pennsylvania, to become plant manager of the Castle Rubber Company. Randle Truog was elected vice-president to replace him. John Favorite, predecessor of the writer, is now a resident of Cincinnati, while Don Coovert, John Zahrt, and Bob Hill have departed for new job assignments.

We are certain that there are many Deltas in the Akron area who are not on our alumni listings and we would welcome their presence at our regular monthly meeting, the third Wednesday of each month at Semler's Hotel, at 6:30 p. m.

C. L. HUGHES

"Alumni belong in the picture!" I hope all Delt alumni have read "The President's Page" in the August RAINBOW!

So many alumni seem to feel that close association with the Fraternity ends simultaneously with their undergraduate days. If you are one who has been consciously, or subconsciously, following that line of thinking, you are denying yourself a rich experience and an opportunity as well as depriving your chapter and the Fraternity of assistance and support, always needed if Delta Tau Delta is to continue its growth and progress.

More of our young men than ever before are entering our colleges and universities. It is to these men that we look for the future leadership, so sorely needed, in industry, politics, and the community. There is no better potential training ground for that future leadership than the college fraternity.

Almost all alumni eventually concern themselves with one or more "community service" organizations as a recognized duty, and from such activity are derived much pleasure and satisfaction. What better project could be found as a worth-while avocation than your chapter and the Fraternity?

To insure progressive continuity, new blood and new ideas, as well as front-line replacements, are constantly needed in alumni chapters. In the undergraduate chapters, alumni provide useful service as chapter advisers and house corporation officers; they may assist in pledge training and orientation, chapter finances, alumni relations, and vocational guidance.

Attendance at chapter alumni functions is inspirational to the undergraduates. Support of your alumni chapter activities directly strengthens our undergraduate chapters and the Fraternity. Financial assistance of the many, instead of the few, increases interest and improves physical facilities that foster high standards of individual and chapter performance.

Offer YOUR services to your nearest alumni chapter, and to your chapter through the chapter adviser and the house corporation. I can guarantee satisfaction for effort expended!

Rudyard Kipling once wrote: "It ain't the individual, nor the army as a whole, but the everlasting teamwork of every blooming soul!"

Joel W. Reynolds

Secretary of Alumni

Baltimore

Due purely to nontechnical difficulties, there has been omitted from previous issues of THE RAINBOW an account of the meeting of April 27, 1949. (Better late than never.) On that date the Baltimore Alumni Chapter held its annual steak dinner at the famed University Club. Present were not only most of the local alumni, but also quite a few notables from the National Capital Chapter for the principal speaker for the evening was none other than Brother George H. Sauer, Nebraska, '34, head football coach of the Naval Academy.

After a most interesting talk on Navy athletes, athletics, and Coach Sauer's theory of handling both, official Navy color films of the 1948 Army-Navy football game were shown, supplemented with play-by-play explanations by Brother George. For his wonderful fraternal spirit and most willing and enthusiastic co-operation, we are deeply grateful to Brother Sauer, and we all wish him and his team the best of luck this season, except, that is, when Navy plays the ole Alma Mammy.

To bring us up to date, we would like to announce that, with the always willing and able hand of Dick Daniels of the National Capital Alumni Chapter, the Delta Sigma House Corporation has been chartered, to assist the Deltas of the University of Maryland in the furnishing and maintaining of their new Shelter. G. Russell Page, Kentucky, '24, was elected president of the corporation; Vincent H. Kinnaman, De Pauw, '14, vice-president; and L. Hollingsworth Pittman, Duke, '45, secretary-treasurer. The directors, in addition to the officers, are: Keith R. Clark, Wesleyan, '36; Clarence A. Patterson, W. & J., '19; Harry M. Sachs, Rensselaer, '05; E. Riggs Monfort, Richard D. Daniels, and Paul J. Kemmerer of the Washington group; and Robert F. Nolan of the Delta Sigma Chapter.

The pledges of Delta Sigma have done a wonderful job and the house should be completely renovated and furnished in the very near future. The furnishings are to be supplied from the donations of the alumni, supplemented by the generosity of Justice Tom Clark, Texas, '22, and Harry M. Sachs, of Baltimore, each of whom is furnishing one lounge.

Battle Creek

The Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta of Battle Creek, Michigan, spent a very enjoyable evening, August 11, 1949, at the cottage of Dr. Wendell H. Stadle, of Gogua Lake. It was a terrific night and never rained harder. However, there were 16 of the alumni present and 15 boys who are entering college for the first time this fall at Michigan State, Michigan, and Hillsdale. The evening was spent in swimming, cards, songs, etc., with a wonderful Dutch lunch as a topper.

We had no business meeting but will continue to carry on our meetings at the Babcock Williams House on the second Friday of each month. We are getting a great deal out of these meetings. They bring us back to the old college days in many ways. One project resulting from our last meeting was to send letters from our chapter to the rushing captains at the various colleges, asking them to make contact with the boys coming to these schools.

CHARLES MCSHERRY

Boston

Chapter luncheons each Thursday at Patten's were continued all through the summer months as usual. Plans are in progress for an evening meeting to be held in the early fall for election of officers and to set up the winter program.

Many of our chapters should benefit as the result of individual rushing activities of many of our alumni chapter members this summer. A joint rushing party under the Boston Alumni Chapter sponsorship is planned next summer, with invitations extended to all entering freshmen who we know are going to colleges and universities where the Fraternity has chapters.

Drop in and see us at Patten's on Thursdays.

DUNCAN NEWELL

Buffalo

The Buffalo Alumni Chapter had a most successful summer party at Lotus Bay, which gave the oldsters a chance to brush up on the doings of several chapters.

There were 25 alumni, 15 actives, and 10 high school grads mixing it up at baseball, horseshoes, etc.

We regret that many more were unable to attend because of vacations. It would appear that an evening get-together would draw well over 100 local alumni; so your officers are planning an evening get-together this fall.

RALPH E. FRANK

Butler

Members of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter joined with the Delts from Butler, Pennsylvania, in a golf party and dinner at the Butler Country Club on September 7. Approximately 65 members of the Fraternity representing ten or more chapters attended the dinner at the club.

The affair was arranged by Vernon Wise and H. George Allen, both of Butler, together with Robert Schar, president of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter, and Lee Sellers and Kendall Query, also of Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati

We're still looking for more Delts who reside in the Cincinnati area at our many functions. Our summer schedule was highlighted by the hospitality of Dr. Howard Fischbach and Dick Farrell, who were hosts to our organization for swimming parties at their homes.

On September 1 we again were favored by the hospitality of Brother Ed Schott, who entertained us at his Coney Island Park. Delt couples enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner, dancing, and numerous rides at this world-famous amusement park. Chairman Forrest Maddux and Ed did a wonderful job in making this a most memorable occasion.

To give Gamma Xi Chapter a lift in its rushing activities, we co-operated with its members in a rush party and picnic at Bern's Grove. We hope our support was helpful in their pledging some of the fine prospects they had in attendance.

Watch your mail for notice of our Christmas Party. This annual affair will again be held as a starter for your holiday season. Don't forget, we still hold our weekly Tuesday luncheons at the Cincinnati Club.

ART JACOBS

Cleveland

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter is getting under way for an interesting and eventful fall and winter season. Starting on October 14 the regular weekly luncheon meetings will be held at the Chef Hector Restaurant, 823 Prospect Avenue, every Friday noon. Chef Hector's is located on Alpha Court just off East Ninth and Euclid. For the past several years meetings have been held at the Mid-Day where the food has been excellent, the service good, and surroundings pleasant. In order to lighten the strain on the pocketbooks of some of the younger men, however, it was deemed advisable to make the change.

President Otto Diegel has appointed an entertainment committee headed by Bill Mold and Ed Henckle to plan at least one social function or special event each month. In addition, it is planned to have a luncheon speaker about every fourth meeting.

Once again under the heading of "What Some Cleveland Delts Have Been Doing," we report Bob Oldenburg and Jack Zoller among the newly-weds. Jack Swisher is the father of a nine-pound son named Geoffrey. Dan Griese joins his brother, Dave, at the National Screw and Manufacturing Company. Dick Thompson acquires a paper converting and printing business. Jon Ruhlman, Purdue grad, now taking graduate work at Colorado, divided his summer between the promotion staff of the National Air Races and the building of a sailboat. Karl Ertle is running for re-election to council in Cleveland Heights. Ike Watts is president of the Cleveland Bird Club. His son, Willard, joins the Hot Shoppes, Inc., restaurant chain at Washington, D. C. Hal Centini is now a football broadcaster on Station WERE.

Bill Donaldson of Cleveland Chamber of Commerce is serving as codirector of the Cleveland Fair Employment Practices Committee. Bill Hecker was honored on local radio program in "A Salute to Success." Les Morgan, Ray Hyre, and a few others are rounding up Zeta alumni to help the local chapter with special projects. Local Delts are urging former Governor Tom Herbert to be a candidate next year. Gordon Nichols is retiring as mayor of Chagrin Falls after many years in office.

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter again invites all Delts in this area to affiliate with the chapter and to enjoy our continuing program of Delt fellowship.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

At the first meeting in September, the following officers were elected for another year: president, Walter F. Heer, Jr., Gamma Gamma, '37; vice-president in charge of alumni relations, Donald Wolpert, Beta Phi, '40; vice-president in charge of undergraduate relations, William Underwood, Beta, '22; secretary, Robert E. Gibbs, Beta Phi, '35; and treasurer, William C. Heer, Delta Beta, '42.

On September 22 an Annual Fall Roundup was held at the John Galbreath, Beta, '20, Darby Dan Farm. A large group of alumni was present, as well as actives, pledges, and rushees from nearby central Ohio chapters. Although it was quite cool, some of the more hardy actives and rushees enjoyed a plunge into Brother John's excellent swimming pool. Shuffleboard, tennis, baseball, and football were also engaged in by those present. At sundown a delicious meal was served by a catering firm around a beautiful outside fireplace.

It is too early to discuss definite plans, but we do want to announce that we are working hard on the 1950 Karnea, which will be held in Columbus.

ROBERT E. GIBBS

Dallas

As was the case with most activities during the summer, the Dallas Alumni Chapter was less active, holding only one meeting during the summer; that meeting was restricted to designated members.

On August 31, ten selected members met with eight members of Gamma Iota and eight rushees at the Brookhollow Golf Club. This club, one of the most modern and most elaborate in this area, formed a perfect setting for the dinner to acquaint the rushees with Delta Tau Delta and some of its members. We feel more than a little pride that three of the eight rushees pledged Delta Tau Delta.

During the summer this chapter suffered the loss of two very loyal members. They were Martin B. Bogarte and Homer L. P. Toland, who entered the Chapter Eternal on July 1 and September 5 respectively.

W. F. JACOBY, Jr.

Dayton

The Dayton Alumni Chapter, which meets at the Biltmore Hotel on the first Friday of every month, will begin a series of interesting noon meetings October 7.

We do not have formal programs with speakers, but we do have good food, fraternalism, and friendly discussions. Bradley Schaeffer will tell us about his undergraduate days and chapter life at Stanford. We know Attorney Schaeffer is gathering from his memory many interesting experiences for our October meeting.

Judge Emmett J. Jackson will take the rostrum at the November meeting to tell us about the Kenyon chapter during his college days.

It is hoped that the Dayton chapter will have an autumn picnic, as many of the members are still talking about the swell time we had at President Dooley's home this summer.

Any Delts living in or near Dayton, Ohio, are missing a good time if they fail to attend our monthly meetings. A special invitation is extended to members of active chapters to meet with us.

FRANK E. WILSON

Denver

On September 12 the Denver Alumni Chapter held its annual alumni active rush party. The party was held at the Wellshire Country Club, and an excellent group of 67 alumni, actives, and rushees attended.

It appears this year that the rush class, which will no doubt be smaller than previous years, will be one of high caliber in that every rushee who attended the dinner and entertainment was an outstanding individual.

Our meeting was presided over by Kim Barnes as toastmaster, Bill Mark as president of the alumni chapter, and Bob Falkenberg of the active chapter.

T. B. DODD

Findlay

The best meeting of the year was missed by over half our membership. It was a dinner session for 6:30 p. m. at Mathew's Supper Club. By eight o'clock eight brothers had arrived and President Dick Shoupe proceeded with the business meeting. Rushing prospects were discussed for quite some time and the secretary was instructed to write sixteen letters of recommendation to the various undergraduate chapters as well as to their respective faculty advisers.

President Shoupe advised us that we had sent flowers for Brother Ralph Lashells who recently passed away very unexpectedly from a heart ailment. Ralph was active head and chief stockholder in a thriving electrical retail business here and head of the Bearing & Transmission Manufacturing Company with branches both here and in Toledo. He was a member of our chapter at Allegheny.

It was decided to hold another meeting in the near future, time and place to be announced by President Shoupe with Brothers Dick Shoupe, Don Gassman, Lou Love, Chris Hauser, John Roth, Howard Frowine, Ed Heminger, and Al Fenstermaker, who were present at this meeting, to be responsible for as nearly a 100 per cent turnout of our membership as possible.

A. D. FENSTERMAKER

Ft. Lauderdale

Many Delts are starting to migrate to southern climes, and Florida looks for her share, too. Sometimes during the winter months, when the season here is at its height, we expect to have some good, old times and "get-togethers."

We find it very pleasant indeed to meet so many brothers from the different chapters, and from their various reports, we learn much about what is going on in our Fraternity—North, East, and West, as well as in the South.

We invite all visiting Delts to look us up when in our city or near here. A hearty and warm welcome awaits you here!

CARL P. WEIDLING

Greater New York

The Greater New York Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta continued to hold meetings the second Wednesday of each month during the summer. These luncheon meetings, which are held at the Engineers Club, 32 W. 40th Street, New York City, at 12 noon, feature excellent meals and a speaker, usually recruited from one of the more regular members. It was decided that the members would rather hear one of their own group who was more personally known than to have the program chairman go out and bring in some brother who never came to any of the other meetings. This might sound like a pretty "clique"-ish way for Delts to act, but we find that we get a lot more enjoyment out of hearing about the life work of a man we know more intimately.

Attendance during these summer meetings was very good. We also continued to hold our downtown luncheons on the first Tuesday of each month at the Chamber of Commerce Building, 65 Liberty Street, at 12 noon. These luncheons are merely a monthly get-together for some of the brothers who cannot spare the time of the uptown luncheons.

Our group is planning several additional activities, such as a smoker, golf party, and another picnic. There has also been talk of some evening meetings for the younger brothers and those who live too far away to get to our luncheon meetings.

Dues for the group are $10 for sustaining, $5 for regular, $3 for nonresident and junior (graduates less than five years). These dues are used to cover the cost of mailing out our luncheon announcements and the GNYAADTD News Letter which comes out about once every two months. All those brothers in the area who wish to attend luncheons, or receive the various notices and publications, please contact the secretary.

RICHARD J. DIAZ

Houston

Houston Delts are looking forward to the annual election of officers which will be held October 27 in a night meeting at the College Inn. At least 100 Delts are expected to be on hand to enjoy dinner.

George Wolford, secretary-treasurer, has returned to the University of Texas to take a Master's degree. George's good work will be missed, and we wish him every success.

Monthly luncheon meetings at the Houston Club are being continued with good attendance, but we realize there must be several Delts in Houston who are not in touch with the alumni chapter. A new roster is being prepared, and in order to make it as complete as possible, we would like to hear from you Delts who are new to Houston. Call Hirst Suffield, PR-8231, and get your name included.

E. R. RICHARDSON

Indianapolis

Frank Weiland pulled the trophy out of the fire this year in the Annual Election and Golf Tournament held at the Meridian Hills Country Club in Indianapolis on September 23. Frank came in, just as darkness was settling, with a low gross of 78 to defeat Dave Woods, who carded a 79 earlier in the play. This was the third straight year for Frank to win the cup and consequently it will now rest on his mantelpiece permanently. Dale Hodges scored third low gross with an 81 and took the Banker's Handicap with a 71, while the rest of us duffers followed behind.

At the election of officers the nominating committee, composed of Chairman Fran Hughes, Ernie Miller, and Gene Hibbs, placed the following names in nomination, and the recommendations of the nominating committee were accepted unanimously: William Welch, De Pauw, '40, president; Lloyd Rossebo, Indiana, '39, Purdue, '44, vice-president (membership); Richard Englehart, Indiana, '45, vice-president (activities); Wade Neal, Purdue, '43, secretary; and Kenneth Davis, De Pauw, '13, treasurer.

A gratifying number of Delts, young and old, including representation from numerous chapters throughout the country, spent the dinner hours reminiscing and planning for the future.

Ken Fry spoke briefly on the progress and plans toward the expansion and improvement of the Beta Zeta Shelter at Butler University which may include new facilities which can serve as a center for Indianapolis and national Delt affairs.

The newly elected officers will assume their offices on October 1 this year and will do everything in their power to make the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter grow to the size that is commensurate with its potential membership.

A true vote of thanks goes out from our organization to our retiring president, Carter B. Tharp. Our sincere congratulations for a job well done.

RICHARD H. ENGLEHART

Jacksonville

The Jacksonville Alumni Chapter held its annual meeting in the Lobster House, a favorite eating place here, on September 12. At that time new officers were elected and reports presented by outgoing officers.

New officers are: Carl T. McKinney, president; John H. Phillips, vice-president; Everett Knight, secretary-treasurer.

Members have slowed in attendance at weekly luncheon meetings every Friday. The new officers and some of the old faithfuls plan to use some new ideas in strengthening our group.

The Jacksonville group sponsored two rush events here this summer. The first was a wiener roast picnic and outing at Goldhead Branch State Park. Several actives from Delta Zeta at the University of Florida attended and helped entertain rushees. A dance at the Florida Tackle and Gun Club here was given three weeks later—the first date of the dance was rained out by the hurricane which halted power and communication.

Alumni President Harold Frankenberg has been in contact with many Delt schools during the summer and has given them lists of prospects attending the schools this fall. Several undergraduate chapters have sent their acknowledgments.

HARRY V. CROWN

Long Beach

Long Beach Delts held the September banquet-meeting at Officers' Town Club on Tuesday, September 20, Dr. George Hanson presiding.

William Deatherage reported on summer rushing activities, telling of several freshmen attending U.S.C., U.C.L.A., California, and Stanford whose names and histories had been sent to the rushing chairmen at those campuses. Bob Taplin reported on the progress of the University Club of Long Beach, which is growing rapidly under the able guidance of Brothers John Spielman, president; Ray O. Gould, vice-president; and Floyd Vinson, secretary. This new club has been the major project of the Long Beach Delt alumni for the past eight months, and its success seems now assured.

Dr. Dennis Smith and Dr. George MacDonald reviewed their recent vacation trips to Yellowstone Park and the East, and Vic Mingers announced his scheduled trip which has now started, through the Midwest and the East. Lloyd Parker and "Tuck" Tucker talked about Delts in baseball. The next meeting will be Tuesday, October 18, at Officers Town Club, Long Beach.

FLOYD VINSON

Los Angeles

Since the installation ceremony of Delta Psi at Santa Barbara our next outstanding event was the Hi-Jinks held at Verdugo Park in Glendale, August 27.

As formerly, there was a good attendance from the Delta Iota Chapter at U.C.L.A. and Delta Pi at U.S.C., and we were happy to welcome many of the brothers from our new chapter, Delta Psi, at Santa Barbara. We were all glad to welcome Grady Drake, who is a pillar of strength to the new Santa Barbara chapter.

Wesley Smith, with a committee composed of Meyer, Montgomery, McKenzie, and Cain, has taken over our Thursday dinner meetings, and at the Hi-Jinks about 50 of the brothers paid their $1 to secure the large badge which each will wear at the dinner meetings, so that we can keep track of attendance, and everyone attending can simply walk up to a brother, read his badge, and know his name and chapter.

As a result of the enthusiasm engendered by Wesley Smith and his new committee, the first meeting and program of the new committee were held at the new S. C. chapter house Thursday, September 22, at which time we saw the new tables which have been purchased for the dining room. Some of the brothers shelled out the necessary $10 to put their names in brass on the backs of the chairs.

JOHN R. MUDGE

National Capital

The National Capital Alumni Chapter opened activities this fall on September 8 with the first of its regular weekly series of luncheons, held at 12:15 p. m. every Thursday at Bonat's Restaurant, 1022 Vermont Avenue, N. W. Some 35 alumni and undergraduates, the latter principally from Gamma Eta, George Washington University, and Delta Sigma, University of Maryland, attended this third annual renewal of the luncheons which have become increasingly popular both with resident and visiting Delts. Alumni Chapter President Burr Christopher, Gamma Eta, '28, presided. Only business transacted at this initial meeting was the voting of a letter of congratulations to Brother Tom Clark, Gamma Iota, '22, a member of our alumni chapter, on his recent appointment to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The first strictly social event of the season was our annual fall picnic, held the afternoon and evening of September 22 in Rock Creek Park under the able chairmanship of Brother J. Paul Kemerer, Tau, '31. Inclement weather reduced the usual large attendance, but upward of 50 members, wives, and children were present, with some 27 alumni and 19 actives from Maryland and four from George Washington registered. Softball and other sports occupied the afternoon, while hot dogs, drinkables, family picnic baskets, movies, singing, and dancing enlivened the evening after a heavy rain had driven us into the Park lodge.

Plans are now being laid for our annual fall dinner dance, scheduled for sometime in November. Expectations are that it will prove even more popular than our last fall's party at the Kenwood Golf and Country Club, which more than 75 couples attended.

PAUL H. HAYWARD

Oklahoma City

One of the high lights of the Delt social season here this summer was our annual spring dance on May 14. More than 300 Delts and their guests attended the informal affair in the fashionable Oklahoma Club. The dance committee was headed by George Anthony and included John Nichols, H. C. Luman, Harry Gilbert, Bill Avery, Charles Wheeler, and Dan Walding.

Another project which has always been close to the hearts of Delt brothers in our Sooner state and which was culminated this summer was the installation of Delta Chi Chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. College at Stillwater. Many alumni from here attended the entire ceremony and were rightfully proud of the splendid job done by all who took a part in the installation of our new chapter. Bob Cox, Oklahoma City attorney, presented a chapter roll book to the new chapter.

Delt Army officers who got together for a lot of old-fashioned "bull sessions" at Ft. Sill this summer were Major Joe Mills, Kentucky; Major Ernest "Buddy" Aust, Captain Ewing Gafford, and First Lieutenants Bill Avery, David Walker, and George Anthony, all of Delta Alpha Chapter at Norman.

One Delta Alpha alumnus that we are mighty proud of is Frank L. Dobyns, youthful newspaper editor and publisher at Edmond. Frank recently purchased the Edmond Enterprise, Booster, and Advertiser and has done a magnificent job editing these three fine newspapers.

GEORGE ANTHONY

Pittsburgh

The last few months of Pittsburgh alumni activities were highlighted by three golf outings, held at Edgewood, Shannopin, and Butler Country Clubs. About 20 of us enjoyed the golf, dinner, and songs at the first two, and nearly 60 were on hand at Butler. These affairs will probably be held annually in view of the great success they enjoyed.

Under the able direction of our president, Bob Schar, we are looking forward to the coming activities. Bob, incidentally, has finally joined the ranks of the married.

Our weekly luncheons each Tuesday at noon in the Law & Finance Building Restaurant are attracting more and more Delts. Nearly every week some new face is present. The old faithful still show up also. If you are one who hasn't had his lunch with us for a while, stop in. We know you will enjoy it.

Preliminary plans are being made for our annual church services at Christmas time. This traditional affair has now become the high spot of the year for all Delts in the area, and this year we expect it to be bigger than ever.

ART STROYD

Portland

With the weekly luncheon conversation turning to football, Portland Delts are looking to and planning the Fraternity events which mark the fall season. Social Chairman Rollie Woodruff has outlined a fall schedule—including card parties, football parties, and a formal.

Sam Gordon, the famous kibitzer, honored Delts on September 24 with instruction in fundamentals of bridge. Sam's presence was enjoyed and he will be welcomed at all Delt card parties, of which there will be several during the year. Following the traditional Oregon-Washington game in Portland, Delts will gather for a postgame rally. Gamma Rho and Gamma Mu alumni and actives are especially urged to attend.

Climaxing the year will be the annual Christmas formal, scheduled for the Rose Bowl of the Multnomah Hotel on Tuesday evening, December 27. Music for dancing will be supplied by Joe Dardis and his orchestra.

Weekly luncheons continue at the Portland Chamber of Commerce each Monday. The welcome mat is always out; so make it a point to drop in on us when in Portland.

DICK McNAMARA

Rochester

The members of the Rochester Alumni Chapter ended their summer activities with a family picnic at Powder Mill Park on August 27. Numerous Delts, their wives, and their children gathered together for an afternoon of food, fun, and fellowship. The predominant sports were a very lively softball game and several rounds of horseshoe pitching.

Plans are now being made for the winter and fall activities which will include noon luncheons and several evening affairs. Once again we would like to invite any newcomers to the Rochester area to make their presence known by dropping a card to the secretary.

BILL RUNYON

St. Louis

We have had a very informal summer as meetings go. We had strictly social get-togethers, the first of which started off in June with a cruise on the Mississippi on the excursion boat the S.S. Admiral. The Delta wives and girls attended this function.

For our July meeting our good Brother Bill Gentry had us out to his estate for a stag picnic, and a gay evening was had by all. We were pleased to have a good number of undergraduates from Gamma Kappa.

In August we had our annual rush party which was held for all the rushees in the St. Louis area. This function was held at the Griesedieck estate. The party went off very smoothly under the guiding hand of Jack Feldhaus, our rush chairman. We had around 85 who turned out. Bill Martindill gave a talk to all the rushees about fraternity life in general. A sketch was put on by John Altheide to round out the entertainment.

We are back in the swing of things for winter and are having our regular evening meetings at Belvedere Joe's on the third week of each month, alternating nights of the week.

The big news is Charles Drake's marriage to Eleanor Woods September 8, 1949. Charles and his wife are now living in Fulton where Charlie is teaching economics at Westminster College.

CRAWFORD A. KING, JR.

St. Petersburg

Delts in St. Petersburg have finally got together to meet the formidable competition of Phi Delt, Sig Chi, and other fraternities that have strong alumni chapters here. With Dr. S. P. Smiseth, Epsilon, '20, sparking the activity, a charter was secured from the Arch Chapter in March and the first meeting held at Dr. Smiseth's home on May 27, with about 15 Delts present. All of us were surprised to discover that in St. Petersburg alone there are around 50 Delt alumni!

That night the chapter elected Dr. Smiseth president; Harry Hewitt, Beta Gamma, '02, and a former member of the Arch Chapter, vice-president; and yours truly secretary-treasurer. Plans were discussed for a Delt rushing party in the summer, just before high school graduates would be leaving for Tallahassee and Gainesville.

The rushing party was held August 30 at the beach home of Brother William H. Mills, Beta Nu, '34, and Delta Zeta, '33, in Pass-a-Grille, with about a dozen alumni and several actives present. The latter included Tom Smith and Ronnie Wilds of Tampa, president and secretary of the new Delt chapter at Florida State College at Tallahassee. The list of 20 rushees was obtained by some intensive combing of high school and junior college graduate lists, and about half the prospects came to the party. A mighty good buffet dinner was provided by Brother James B. Brooks, Gamma Xi, '41.

The actives made the most of their opportunity, and it is hoped that the Gainesville and Tallahassee chapters will get some good boys out of the lunch. If they do, it will make future rushing activities in St. Petersburg much easier. At least, it is a start and those who took part have learned a lot that will help them next year.

All Delts who visit St. Petersburg are cordially invited to get in touch with the chapter through Dr. Smiseth and the other officers. And please don't wait until you can qualify for our famous Three-Quarter Century Club!

GEORGE W. BARTLETT

Santa Barbara

The alumni chapter has been very active in aiding the boys in the Shelter at Delta Psi of Delta Tau Delta. Our committees are all functioning and are taking a decided interest in rushing.

On the 22nd day of September, Colonel William S. Blackshear gave a rushing party at the University Club to all of the undergraduates in the Shelter and to many of the alumni. It was a most noteworthy affair—said by many to have been the best rushing party of that kind given by any alumnus.

The alumni chapter will soon give a more elaborate and formal rushing party at the Montecito Country Club.

We have a fine new home at 1700 Mission Canyon Road, Santa Barbara. There are a swimming pool and baseball, tennis, and other athletic grounds, with a wide sweep of lawn, flowers, shrubbery, trees, with accommodations for 40 permanent occupants. It will probably be the outstanding shelter for fraternities or sororities in the College of Santa Barbara, University of California.

C. A. A. McGEE

Seattle

Activities of the Seattle Alumni Chapter for the fall have commenced with the resumption of monthly meetings. These meetings are held at noon on the third Thursday of every month at the Legion Club in the heart of downtown Seattle. The Legion Club, incidentally, was completed this summer and is one of the most popular meeting places in the city because of its ideal location and excellent facilities.

Homecoming will again hold the spotlight this fall. Although it is difficult to prognosticate the outcome of the Washington-U. S. C. game, we are assured of success for the festivities planned.

Plans have also been formulated for a gathering of the alumni and their wives at the Inglewood Golf and Country Club for dinner and dancing. The event will be some time in November.

To all Delt alumni who may be visiting in Seattle this fall, the Seattle Alumni Chapter extends a cordial invitation to attend our luncheons and social functions. And, to any alumni who may move to the "Evergreen State," we eagerly solicit your Washington state address. Please drop a note to the Alumni Chairman, Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, 4524 19th N.E., Seattle, Washington.

WILL TELLER

Tampa

The Tampa Alumni Chapter had an active summer of rushing, including three official rush functions. Regular alumni were greatly aided by members of the active chapters home for the summer from the University of Florida, Florida State University, Georgia Tech, Emory, and Georgia.

The actives from the various chapters and alumni held several meetings selecting a prospect list of high school graduates. The first rush party was held at A. K. Dickinson's Indian Rocks Beach Home, with swimming, games, and food, with the emphasis on the food. Twenty-three alumni, actives, and prospects attended this function.

The Tampa alumni and actives journeyed to Pass-a-Grille to the beach home of Brother William H. Mills to participate in the rushing activities of the St. Petersburg alumni. Delts visiting in St. Petersburg are urged to make their presence known to some of the members of the St. Petersburg Alumni Chapter and attend their meetings.

The final function of the season was a barbecue held at Forest Hills Country Club. Over 42 rushees, actives, and alumni joined in to make the affair a huge success. Brother Henry Cole, prominent Tampa attorney, made a few remarks about the Fraternity and college life in general.

Plans for the future in the Tampa area include a formal dance during the Christmas holidays December 19 at Palma Ceia Golf & Country Club and the establishment of a year-round rush program.

Many Delts journey to Florida during the winter months, and the members of the Tampa Alumni Chapter take this opportunity to invite you to attend their breakfast meetings, held on call at the Floridan Hotel, 7:30, Saturday mornings.

GARY ENNIS

Topeka

Topeka Delts have kept up monthly luncheon meetings all summer, except for the month of August, when a picnic was planned for Gage Park on August 5. About 40 Delts and their ladies were present and it was a big success. Brother Ed Sondker and his committee did a swell job.

We have changed our meeting place to the Jayhawk Hotel, which is a little more centrally located, and where we are hoping for an increased attendance.

During the summer, our alumni president, William L. Perdue, advertising head of the Kansas Power and Light Company, was presented the First Award of the Public Utilities Advertising Association, for the best single utilities advertisement over the United States, and was called back to Cincinnati to receive the award. Our local group join in congratulations to Bill on this deserved honor.

We welcome K. M. Schmutz to Topeka as a new member.

FRANK F. HOGUELAND

Tulsa

We have had a busy summer since the installation of Delta Chi Chapter last spring in helping the two Oklahoma undergraduate chapters in their rush programs. Bill Trower, nephew of our Harlan Trower, was pledged at Stillwater, and Don Anderson, brother of Undergraduate Bob Anderson at Norman, received the ribbons at Delta Alpha.

Jack Stewart of Delta Alpha, who has transferred to Tulsa University, is president of Off-Campus Greeks and editor of the yearbook at T. U. Harry Grimshaw, who was initiated at Stillwater with the founding group, is in the contracting business in Tulsa.

Delta Chi has been accepted as a member of the interfraternity council and may now compete on equal standing in intramural sports. Preliminary workouts have already been held for touch football. Plans are being laid for members to compete in the 17 other competitive sports on the intramural schedule.

SCHOLARSHIP EMPHASIS PLANNED

Active members ranked fifth of 20 fraternities in the spring-term scholarship, while the pledges were close behind in seventh place. The chapter already has members in Blue Key, Phi Eta Sigma, Kappa Kappa Psi, and the military honor society, Scabbard and Blade. A great deal more emphasis on scholarship, however, is being planned.

WELCOME NEW CHAPTER ADVISER

The members of Delta Chi regret the loss of their faculty and chapter advisers, both of whom have accepted positions in other parts of the country. The chapter looks forward, however, to the considerate guidance of its new chapter adviser, Dr. Daniel C. McIntosh, Indiana, '13, Dean of A. & M.'s Graduate School.

Delta Psi—Santa Barbara

Members of Delta Psi are proud as punch of their new Shelter. The living quarters are made up of two large buildings in traditional Spanish style. On the 125 acres the chapter leases with the houses are a swimming pool, tennis court, basketball court, rifle range, and volleyball court. The chapter must rent its Shelter until Santa Barbara College carries out its plan to move some five miles from its present campus to re-establish at a former Marine base. When the college is settled, Delta Psi will build.

IM FOOTBALL SQUADS LEAD

Delta Psi's intramural football squads are leading both the College A and B divisions. The chapter will enter, for the first time as Deltas, the all-Greek and all-campus singing competitions. Serenades of campus sororities already held have been well received.

Delta Psi is leading student body administration. Bob Hartzell is president of the Associated Students, and Knute Clark is secretary-treasurer of the A. M. S. Other Deltas hold positions on student body committees.

Delta Psi is looking forward to a full semester of social and fraternal activities. Plans have already been made for entry in various campus and inter-Greek competitions, and the chapter intends to repeat its 1948 homecoming float win.
