OF DELTA TAU DELTA

One Moment, Please

This number goes to press during the climax of the 1950-51 college year. Division Conferences in the Northern and Western Divisions, Regional Conferences in the Eastern Division, the impressive induction of new members into Delt chapters, and Founders Day gatherings in all parts of the nation—all combine to make March a month of great significance in Delta Tau Delta.

Such inspirational activities have become the more meaningful against a background of international crisis. In both undergraduate and alumni chapter reports of this issue and indeed in conversations whenever Delt meets Delt, the intrinsic worth of Fraternity purpose is reaffirmed, with the determination that it shall be preserved without deviation.

Founders Day, March 2, keeps alive that faith in Delt ideals, honoring as it does our Founders—Bell, Cunningham, Alfred, Hunt, Lowe, Earle, Tarr, and Johnson—whose vision 92 years ago reared the foundation on which Delts continue to build.

President Dickinson, on Page 147, underlines the obligation of today's undergraduate chapter in effectively portraying the Fraternity's Ritual for the neophytes who this month become members of Delta Tau Delta.

For the piece de resistance of the March number, we are privileged to present a noted Delt educator's penetrating analysis of the "reasonable service" of today's college student.

In other articles, this issue brings the reader a brief résumé of Delts who have served in Congress since 1863, another in the series of biographies of Delt Presidents, and as always accounts of many members who have achieved recognition in various fields.

Your Reasonable Service

By DR. HENRY M. WRISTON, Wesleyan, '11

President, Association of American Universities; President, Brown University

COLLEGE OPENS with the official mood of the nation greatly altered from its temper at Commencement time.

Then, optimism was the keynote. A New York Times dispatch, dated May 5, reads in part:

"President Truman asserted repeatedly in a news conference today that he saw no alarming possibility that the 'cold war' would develop into a shooting war and even promised to reduce the defense budget next year. For his part, he said, he saw a world more settled now than in the first half of 1946."

Again on June 2, the President reiterated those sentiments:

"Expressing disbelief in a Gallup poll that reported a majority of the American people expecting war within five years President Truman declared today that the world was closer to peace now . . . than it had been in five years.

THESE ARE THE WORDS of one of America's foremost educators, addressed to his students at the Opening Convocation of Brown University on September 18, 1950.

Dr. Wriston, in addition to being President of Brown University and of the Association of American Universities, is a scholar of history; former president of the Association of American Colleges; trustee of the World Peace Foundation; trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; and author of Prepare for Peace, Challenge to Freedom, and Strategy of Peace.

In Delta Tau Delta he is a former member of the Arch Chapter. As Supervisor of Scholarship for more than three years, he led the Fraternity to its greatest scholastic achievement—first place nationally among all fraternities with 50 or more chapters in 1939. He has been a member, moreover, of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund Advisory Committee from the date of its inception.

At a time when, for college men, the future is more uncertain than it has ever been, when the temptation of temporal pleasures challenges the wisdom of staying on the job, Dr. Wriston's address merits the consideration of every thinking student.

He did not agree with the poll at all. He said this country was doing everything possible to avoid war and that the situation now was better than in five years."

Actions speak louder than words; and actions matched language. One dramatic illustration will suffice. The National Security Resources Board was established by law on July 27, 1947. Its function is "to advise the President concerning the co-ordination of military, industrial, and civilian mobilization." The post of Chairman of the Board was filled for about a year and a half by Arthur M. Hill. It was not until two months after Mr. Hill's resignation that the President asked the Senate to approve his choice of a successor—Mon C. Wallgren, an amiable man, whose principal qualifications were that he was a lame duck governor and an old personal friend of Senate days. In an extraordinary manifestation of responsibility, the Senate, which customarily regards membership in that body as proof of qualification to hold any position, declined to approve the nomination. Whereupon this vitally important office was left vacant until April 27, 1950, more than sixteen months after the vacancy occurred. Surely if the President had regarded the outlook as grave he would not have suggested that so great a responsibility should rest on shoulders of even doubtful capability, nor would he have let pride of pique imperil a nation's safety by leaving a key post vacant so long.

THEN IT BEGAN IN KOREA

Many other illustrations could be used to demonstrate the harmony between word and deed which was reflected in the optimistic outlook at Commencement time.

Before June was out, however, shooting had begun in Korea. In a dramatic reversal the military conclusion to leave Korea outside the defensive perimeter was replaced by the political decision that it must be defended; in order to do so the political decision to abandon Formosa to its fate was superseded by the military necessity of protecting it, lest the Korean adventure prove foolhardy. When Korea was brought within the defensive perimeter Formosa could not be excluded. The reversal of emphasis was as swift as it was complete. Indeed, it was done so suddenly that the role of the United Nations seemed for a moment forgotten. Occasionally, since his return to the Security Council, Jacob Malik gets careless and lapses into truth; he was correct in asserting that President Truman announced his decision and action at noon, and the Security Council did not meet until 3 p. m. In the Greek episode three years earlier we made the same mistake and jeopardized our moral advantage by making United Nations action seem to follow our decision rather than treating its actions as an integral element in the determination of our policy—which we repeatedly (and sincerely) declare it to be.

DR. HENRY M. WRISTON

The reversal of emphasis from prospects of peace to a semi-military economy is complete. The phrase "garrison state" is heard in Washington. Speaking to the nation on September 1 President Truman said:

"In view of the threats of aggression which now face us, we shall have to increase these forces and we shall have to maintain larger forces for a long time to come.

"We shall have to make many changes in our way of living and working here at home. We shall have to give up many things we enjoy. We shall all have to work harder and longer. To prevent inflation and runaway prices, we shall have to impose certain restrictions upon ourselves."

Again on September 9, the President said:

"This defense program cannot be achieved on the basis of business as usual. All of us—whether we are farmers, or wage earners, or businessmen—must give up some of the things we would ordinarily expect to have for ourselves and our families.

"For the consumer, the guiding principle must be: Buy only what you really need and cannot do without. . . .

"For businessmen, the guiding principle must be: Do not pile up inventories; hold your prices down. . . .

"For wage earner, the guiding principle must be: Do not ask for wage increases beyond what is needed to meet the rise in the cost of living."

This narrative foundation prompts three questions: first, how did it happen; second, who shall make what sacrifices; third, what is your present duty?

WE DIDN'T "PREPARE FOR PEACE"

How did it happen? The answer was compressed into an incidental phrase used recently by Hanson W. Baldwin: victory, not peace, was made the objective in the last war. It was a tragic moment when at Casablanca, apparently without real consultation among the allies, "unconditional surrender" was proclaimed the adequate aim of the war. The conclusion that those words—and the policy they embodied—were a tragic error is not hindsight. There were vigorous protests at the time by men who foresaw the consequences. There were important figures who hazarded their offices by saying at the moment that it was an error.

In 1940, even before we entered the war, I had written a book pleading that victory was no adequate objective—that the fabric of the peace must be woven during the war, not afterward. That required no great prescience upon my part—only a reading of history. At the close of the so-called First World War (the name itself is a shallow misreading of world history) the British statesman, Lloyd George, wrote to President Wilson: "You may strip Germany of her colonies, reduce her armaments to a mere police force and her navy to that of a fifth rate power; all the same in the end if she feels that she has been unjustly treated in the Peace of 1919, she will find means of exacting retribution from her conquerors."

Every word of that statement should have been memorized by everyone in office or post of influence. The prophecy was fulfilled to the letter and led to the Second World War of our generation. Yet it was so far forgotten that the monumental folly of the Morgenthau Plan to reduce Germany to an agricultural economy was for a time allowed to dominate our postwar policy. It was so far forgotten that we could be drawn into thinking that guilt was primarily personal and that by punishing war criminals men and nations could be frightened into good behavior (as though putting a few wicked men to death would exorcise the devil of ambition—or of chauvinistic nationalism).

I would remind you that now Germany is stripped of her colonies, her armaments are below those of a police force and her navy is non-existent. All the things that Lloyd George mentioned have been done again and in addition we have dismantled a great deal of its industrial plant. Germany, like Korea, is divided by an artificial boundary line; all its people yearn for union; and Western Germany, even as was South Korea, is the buffer between the allies and the Russians. As a consequence we are in the painful process of reversing our policy with reference to Germany. Hard realities have tempered the naïveté of men who felt that Germany was the only real menace in the world.

At the opposite side of the globe we are again at war. While it is not a world war, it is war nonetheless. It is war even if it is called a police action. If and when victory is won, what will it avail to spend two or three years conducting trials of some North Korean politicians and military leaders? Are these puppets the real war criminals? Was this aggression born in their minds? A world which has made every other responsibility social in character has been seeking to load the responsibility for war on individuals. It is nonsense. I am not suggesting that officials should go unpunished, but I am pointing out that their punishment is a trivial matter in the grand strategy of peace and in the perspective of history.

If and when victory is won, what will be done with the fruits of toil, sacrifice, and blood? That question cannot be answered when the fighting is over; it cannot be answered when the moment of triumph comes. The answer should be given now and the military strategy shaped to produce the political result. One illustration will be in everyone's mind: shall we cross the 38th parallel or not? One reason the Voice of America program has lacked effectiveness is that it does not know what to say. Neither appropriations, nor more powerful transmitters, nor continuous programs can cure that fatal defect. It is time to insist again that victory is not an end in itself; victory is a means to an end. But if we do not know what end we seek, the victory will again be thrown away.

When we look back it is amply clear how this situation developed, how what has happened came to pass. It is not yet clear that it will not recur again and again.

WHOSE "REASONABLE" SACRIFICES?

The second question is even more urgent: Who shall make what sacrifices? The President says all of us. Many of you may well be required to sacrifice even your lives. According to established tradition, that is the "reasonable sacrifice" of youth in war. So long as wars endure there is no way to change it: if the old men who made the mess were sent to fight, they would be promptly vanquished and you would have to begin all over again. But if youth's sacrifice is inescapable, you have a right to ask others to make lesser sacrifices.

It is significant that in neither of his speeches did the President mention sacrifice on the part of officialdom. You have a right to ask the President of the United States to return to that humility which he exhibited when he first took office and which endeared him at that time to the hearts of his countrymen and solidified public opinion behind him. You have a right to ask him to keep key offices filled with competent men, men about whom there is no shadow with reference to their ability and without too much thought of politics. You have a right to ask the politicians not to play ducks and drakes with the mayoralty of our greatest city for political advantage—as they are today, giving us an untrained man in a critical and sensitive post.

You have a right to ask the Senate to quit tending its sacred cows: the pork barrel rivers and harbors bill, to which it gave such sedulous care, laying aside the tax bill and all other war measures; seniority in committee chairmanships, a system which puts the country in especial hazard of incompetence. For their own comfort and convenience Senators have refused to sacrifice antiquated traditions and procedures, saying it would be difficult. They snatch motes from other eyes and proclaim that the beam in their own does not affect their vision at all.

You have a right to call upon the government to show courage in the exercise of its vast influence over economic life and really fight inflation. Because there is an election coming the obvious and well-understood steps to check inflation were not taken when they should have been; they are not now being taken even with the new curbs on installment buying; as a consequence the spiral of inflation has gathered momentum. By and by when the election is over, instead of natural processes being shaped in an orderly and constructive way to cure the disease, officials will undertake to suppress the symptoms with harsh, artificial, political controls—and all for political advantage. Incredible as it may seem to them, you have a right to demand that they should even put in jeopardy their political lives for you who jeopardize your very own lives. Shocking political cowardice supplies no adequate background for military heroism.

The national government should have begun to trim its own non-military program and to make sacrifices, bending its energies more directly to your support. If the rest of us, in the words of the President, "shall have to make many changes in our way of living . . . (and) give up many things we enjoy," there is no reason officialdom should not make like changes.

THE BRIGHT IDEAL OF "SECURITY"

Now to my last question: What is your present duty? First of all, abandon now and forever the most fatuous and debilitating slogan that ever misled a generation. Give up security as an ideal; it is now clear that if you live at all you will live dangerously—not only during the instant crisis but for all your lives. Peace has been so mishandled for more than a half century that its convalescence will be long and its full recovery a distant hope. Anyone who promises security is misbranding his political, social, and economic goods. If you insist on being cheated, buy gold bricks or bet your dollars on a nag—they are a lot sounder investment than security.

It is not so long ago that army recruiting was on the basis of security: join the army, learn a trade, get benefits, retire young and lead the life of Riley! Nothing was said about danger. Those who are in Korea do not have the promised security; it should never have been so heavily advertised. There was criticism when the fighting began that our soldiers were soft. It was not a fair criticism; soldiers do not become veterans until they have been tested in battle; if it had been true that they were soft, it would have been the natural result of the kind of emphasis in the recruiting propaganda we have had for five years.

Second, recognize as your deadly enemy anyone who tells you to take care of Number One and let the rest care for themselves. If a fraction of what is said of atomic weapons is true, the civilian is not going to be much safer than the soldier—and not nearly so well taken care of.

There is no escape into isolationism—personal or national. The man who says, "I will learn my trade," and prepares himself to make a living and to let someone else handle citizenship is socially isolationist—and fatuous beyond belief, just as it would be mad for a nation to think that after forty years of folly it can tend to its own knitting, sit behind tariff walls, oceans, and radar screens, with life as usual. The only avenue toward safety (a goal you will never reach), is by developing a sense of social responsibility, by attaining political competence, and by making yourself an effective part of the human race.

The world cannot be governed by experts; it must be governed by public opinion and that means that the citizens must take a broad view. One of the worst follies of our time has been the assertion that the problems of the world are so complicated that citizens cannot understand them and they must be left to the experts.

This defeatist idea has led to a series of capsule policies, compressed into slogans: A World Safe for Democracy; Open Covenants Openly Arrived At; a League of Free Peoples; the Outlawry of War; Unconditional Surrender; a United Nations with Force at its Command; the Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact—each of these (all but one of them possessing intrinsic validity) has been so oversold as to draw it out of perspective. As Mr. Baruch has said, as we flit from slogan to slogan, "we continue to stagger from crisis to crisis." While we concentrate on Europe with the Marshall Plan, the Far East flares up; while we concentrate on the Far East, the crisis mounts in Europe.

THE VALIDITY OF OUR PROGRAM

Until public opinion is dominated by the liberal arts education (and it can be if mass education in America is put on a sound basis), we will never achieve political or social or—the key to both—moral maturity. To those ends, your reasonable service at the moment here in Brown is to participate in the liberal arts.

The liberal arts are not merely a list of studies that lead to a Bachelor of Arts degree. The key to the liberal arts is a desire to be a competent amateur as well as an able professional. There is no hostility between being professionally competent and socially effective, between knowing your business and having some political sense, or between doing a day's work and living an interesting life in moments of leisure. It is one of the symptoms of the disorder of our times that as working hours have become shorter leisure is treated not as an opportunity but as a problem. Men who have nothing on their minds are dangerous when they are left alone.

Here at Brown is one of the rare opportunities which exists in the world. Looking at the world at large you have a rare opportunity to learn something about the experience of mankind in the past, something of the principles by which society and its political and economic and social and religious life have been organized, something about the meaning of life itself.

Background is essential, for so superficial and kaleidoscopic is the passing scene that unless corrected by perspective we fall out of the habit of remembering and let things go by as transient phenomena and on into oblivion. It requires an effort just to remember the name of Joe McCarthy either in the Senate or in baseball; yet one of them played a great part in the development of the national sport and the other made a notable contribution to public irresponsibility, political immorality, and intellectual confusion. This is a reminder that facts do not stick in your mind unless they are woven into a fabric of organized thought and they are not worth remembering unless they contribute somehow to matured judgment and become the cud which you chew to achieve reflective wisdom.

Recently I saw some statistics. They were painfully gathered in Australia by a group of scientists who made round-the-clock observations of a herd of cattle. They revealed apparent idleness combined with astonishing industry. Cattle are beautifully organized to produce milk. Since that is their function in life everything is subordinated to it. The Book of Proverbs suggested that you should go to the ant; the older generation thinks you are going to the dogs; perhaps I should suggest that you go to the cattle and learn to chew the cud of reflection more than has been customary.

THE VIOLENT METAPHOR

I am afraid the name of Bertrand Russell does not mean much to most of you; he is a member of the British peerage, a great mathematician, and a distinguished philosopher; in the Victorian sense, at least, he would never be thought of as a moralist. He recently wrote an article likening our times to the Fall of Rome, when "as now, varying moods of despair, escape and robust faith were exemplified in the writings of leading men." He urges that we develop a sense of perspective and quotes Spinoza, who advised men to view passing affairs "under the aspect of eternity." "Those who learn to do this," says Lord Russell, "will find that it takes away the frantic quality of misfortune and prevents the trend toward madness that comes with overwhelming disaster": "Everyone . . . can enlarge his mind, release his imagination and spread wide his affection and benevolence. And it is those who do this whom ultimately mankind reveres."

If you fritter away your opportunity on this campus, it is not likely to recur. There is a striking passage in the scripture: "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you." It is a violent metaphor, so strong and incisive that it has entered into the habits of our language and is used commonly by men who never read the scripture. But it is not too strong a figure of speech to apply to the boy who spends the time, the money, and the parental and faculty energy—not to speak of a modicum of his own—to come to college for a degree while sedulously avoiding an education. It can be done; that form of intellectual suicide has occurred many times on many an American campus—cynics would say more often than not. But in grim times like these it is unbelievably stupid; it ought to be incredible. The decision on that point is not the decision of the Government, not the decision of the Faculty—it rests for each of you with yourself.

Dr. Case Named Head Of Boston University

DR. HAROLD C. CASE

A prominent Methodist leader, Dr. Harold C. Case, Baker, '23, has accepted appointment as President of Boston University. He has been pastor of the First Methodist Church, Pasadena, California, since 1946.

Dr. Case attended Boston University after his graduation from Baker University in 1923. He was professor of psychology at Southwestern College at Winfield, Kansas, for a time. Later he held pastorates in Glencoe, Illinois; Topeka, Kansas; and Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Active in national and international Methodist affairs, Dr. Case was a delegate from the United States to the world conference on adult education in England in 1929, and in the same year was one of the leaders of the World Christian Youth Conference held in Oslo, Norway. He has been a trustee of Baker University for 15 years.

Dr. Case becomes the second Delt to head Boston University. The late Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes was acting President of the institution in 1923.

Beta Mu Sings on New England Network

The Beta Mu Chapter Glee Club, winner of Tufts College's Christmas singing competition, was heard on a Sunday afternoon radio broadcast late in January. Carried over the New England Network, the half-hour show was the regular Monsanto Program which each Sunday invites glee clubs of different New England colleges to be guest performers.

The Tufts Odikon Singers, directed by Dr. Thompson Stone, were featured on the broadcast. As victors of the Tufts Interfraternity-Intramural Sing Competition against 18 other choruses, the Beta Mu Deltas were recognized by an invitation to participate. While the announcer gave them an appropriate build-up, they sang the "Delt Marching Song" in the background and then swung into a special arrangement of "Po' Ol' Lazarus," a Negro spiritual.

Prior to the broadcast, announcements of the event were sent to 10,000 Tufts alumni in the New England area. Deltas re-enforced this advance billing with post cards to all Beta Mu alumni.

Receives Award of Merit

Dr. George M. Piersol, Pennsylvania, '02, has been presented the University of Pennsylvania's Award of Merit in recognition of "outstanding service to the University during the recent past." The award was made January 20 at the University's annual Founder's Day luncheon.

Dr. Piersol has been associated with the University's School of Medicine since his graduation. He is presently professor of physical medicine and director of the Center for Instruction and Research in Physical Medicine. A master of the American College of Physicians, he has been editor of The Cyclopedia of Medicine since 1929.

Delts of the United States Congress

SEVEN MEMBERS of Delta Tau Delta represent the Fraternity in the 82nd Congress. They are:

Senator HARLEY M. KILGORE, West Virginia, '14, Democrat of West Virginia, who has served since 1941;

Senator WILLIAM E. JENNER, Indiana, '30, Republican of Indiana, who has served since 1945;

Representative DEWEY SHORT, Baker, '19, Republican of Missouri, who has served since 1930 except for one two-year term;

Representative RICHARD M. SIMPSON, Pittsburgh, '23, Republican of Pennsylvania, who has served since 1937;

Representative JAMES H. MORRISON, Tulane, '30, Democrat of Louisiana, who has served since 1943;

Representative JACKSON E. BETTS, Kenyon, '26, Republican of Ohio, who has begun his first term;

Vice-President ALBEN W. BARKLEY, Emory, '00, who serves as President of the Senate, continuing a career in Congress which dates back to 1913.

Our present-day legislators keep alive a proud tradition of Delt service in the Congressional halls of Washington.

Since 1863, Delta Tau Delta has had continuous representation in the United States Congress. Since 1903, there have never been fewer than six Delts in Congress. Since 1889, Delta

*Vice-President ALBEN W. BARKLEY
President of the Senate*

Tau Delta has averaged eight members in every Congress.

The greatest number of Delts to serve at one time is 13. Both the 62nd Congress (1911-13) and the 63rd (1913-15) enrolled 13 Delts. Three Congresses (from 1943 to 1949) have each had five Delt Senators.

Delts have served in Congress as Senate Majority Leader (Alben W. Barkley, 1937-47), Senate Minority Leader (Alben W. Barkley, 1947-49), Speaker of the House (Champ Clark, 1911-19), and House Minority Leader (Champ Clark, 1908-11, 1919-21, and James R. Mann, 1911-19). It is interesting to note that Representative Clark was Speaker of the House at the same time that Representative Mann was Minority Leader.

Nineteen Delts have served for periods of ten years or more in one or both Houses of Congress. Four Delts have served in both the Senate and the House of Representatives. They were Alben W. Barkley (Representative of Kentucky, 1913-27; Senator, 1927-49), Prentiss M. Brown, Albion, '11; Illinois, '14 (Representative of Michigan, 1933-36; Senator, 1936-43), Albert J. Hopkins, Hillsdale, '70 (Representative of Illinois, 1885-1903; Senator, 1903-09), and John L. Wilson, Wabash, '74 (Representative of Washington, 1889-95; Senator, 1895-99).

Alben W. Barkley stands out as the Delt who has served the greatest period in Congress. His cumulative record of 22 years in the Senate and 14 in the House gives him 36 years of duty, ten more than his nearest Delt competitor.

Two Delts share the honor of serving the most years in the House. Both Champ Clark, Bethany, '73, (representing Missouri) and James R. Mann, Illinois, '76, (representing Illinois) served

Senator WILLIAM E. JENNER

Representative DEWEY SHORT

Senator HARLEY M. KILGORE

Representative RICHARD M. SIMPSON

26 years. Of the present group of Delta Congressmen, Dewey Short has the best chance of bettering this record. He has now served 18 years; completion of his present term will run his string to 20.

Several other Deltas compiled notable records of service. Albert J. Hopkins, previously mentioned, served altogether 24 years in Congress. Daniel R. Anthony, Michigan, '91, as Representative of Kansas, held office for 22 years, from 1907 to 1929.

Lemuel P. Padgett, Erskine (Rainbow), '76, served Tennessee as one of its Representatives for 22 years, from 1901 to 1923. Both William W. Hastings, Vanderbilt, '89, as Representative of Oklahoma, and Benjamin G. Humphries, Mississippi, '85, as Representative of Mississippi, completed 18 years in the House.

An 18-year stint in the Senate was the record of Park Trammell, Vanderbilt, '00, who had been Governor of Florida as well as its Senator.

There were colorful figures among Delta Tau Delta's earliest representatives in Congress. Thomas M. Browne, Indiana, '73, who was an Indiana Representative from 1877 to 1891, was a famous Civil War hero. President Abraham Lincoln commissioned him by brevet a brigadier general in the Union Army for "gallant and meritorious service."

Henry L. Muldrow, Mississippi, '56, a colonel of cavalry in the Confederate Army, served as a Mississippi Representative from 1877 to 1885. From 1886 to 1888 he was assistant Secretary of Interior. He was also a trustee of the University of Mississippi for 22 years.

Representative JAMES H. MORRISON

Godlove S. Orth, Indiana, '72, Representative of Indiana for 14 years, served as a U. S. Minister to Austria-Hungary during 1875-76.

A former President of Delta Tau Delta, Washington Gardner, Hillsdale, '69; Ohio Wesleyan, '70, was a Representative of Michigan from 1899 to 1911. He was later Commander in Chief of the G. A. R. Another former Arch Chapter member who served in the House is George A. Paddock, Virginia, '06, whom many Deltas met at the Karnea last summer.

Two Deltas—Alben W. Barkley and Henry A. Wallace—have been Vice-

Representative JACKSON E. BETTS

President of the United States, both, of course, being President of the Senate thereby.

Deltas have served in many capacities on the President's Cabinet. During two separate periods, there have been two Deltas serving simultaneously on a President's Cabinet.

The following have held Cabinet office: Secretary of War: George H. Dern, Nebraska, '97, 1933-36; Secretary of Interior: Roy O. West, DePauw, '90, 1928-29; Attorney General: Thomas C. Clark, Texas, '22, 1945-49; Secretary of Commerce: Henry A. Wallace, Iowa State, '10, 1945-46; Secretary of Agriculture: Henry C. Wallace, Iowa State, '92, 1921-24, and Henry A. Wallace, 1933-40.

Anniversary Honors Former Cornell Delt

A WEEK LONG celebration last December commemorated the silver anniversary of Willard Straight Hall at Cornell University, recalling the accomplishments of a famous member of Delta Tau Delta.

The Cornell student union building, one of the first such centers among American colleges, was dedicated December 14, 1925, by Mrs. Leonard K. Elmhirst, who made the gift in memory of her husband, Willard D. Straight, Cornell, '01.

Sketches and paintings by Straight, an accomplished artist, were among the various exhibits of the anniversary. The program included an anniversary banquet and performances in the Willard Straight Theatre of a Cornell historical play. The celebration closed with the student union's traditional Christmas open house on December 16.

Willard Straight, who was only 38 when he died in 1918, had crammed a distinguished career into a short span. From 1906 to 1908 he was American consul general at Mukden, Manchuria, and later he was acting chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs in the U. S. Department of State.

From 1909 to the time of his death he was representative in China for the American Group, which included such interests as J. P. Morgan & Company and Kuhn, Loeb & Company. He was also a trustee of Cornell University.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—VIII

KENDRIC CHARLES BABCOCK, Minnesota, '89—1893-99

By 1893 Delta Tau Delta was impatient for swifter progress, eager for a President who would mark the road to greater achievement.

With a sense of destiny, delegates to the 32d Karnea cast aside a nominating committee's recommendation and chose Kendrick C. Babcock.

Again the Fraternity had been instinctively attracted to a young member who was destined for distinguished leadership in his chosen profession, for Dr. Babcock in later years enjoyed a national reputation as an outstanding educator and college president.

Kendric Babcock was one of those individuals who early in life find the calling for which by personality, ability, and mental endowment they are uniquely qualified. Even before he entered the University of Minnesota in 1885 at the age of 21, he had been a country school master for four years.

As a Delt, he entered the national scene in 1888, when he came to a Cleveland Karnea as a delegate of Beta Eta Chapter. The force of his leadership within his own chapter was at once grasped by those who saw him in action there. His words came not as boasting but as an unadorned statement of fact when he reported for Beta Eta: "Out of twelve Presidents elected for different organizations [on the Minnesota campus], eight were Deltas."

The confident, soft-spoken youth left his imprint. Although he could not be present at the Karnea of 1889, that gathering entrusted him with the editorship of THE RAINBOW, a position which in those days made him also a member of the Arch Chapter.

His scholarship, meanwhile, had earned him a fellowship at the University of Minnesota; he began both graduate work and instructing in the department of history, still finding time to give the Fraternity one of the best magazines it had ever enjoyed.

In 1891 he was returned to office and accorded the additional honor of chairmanship of the important Committee on Constitution and Laws. He completed four years as Editor, which at that time was a longer period than any of his predecessors had served.

When he took office as President of the Fraternity in 1893, he was 29.

Well-known university president and college dean, the eighth President guided Delta Tau Delta through six of its most productive years.

Elected with him to form a unified Arch Chapter were such stalwarts as Alvan E. Duerr, Kenyon, '93, and C. Robert Churchill, Tulane, '89.

From 1893 to 1895 he focused a critical and analytical mind on Fraternity problems, evidencing a better appreciation of what needed to be done and an infinitely greater capacity for organization than any of his presidential predecessors. During this period he took up his graduate studies at Harvard University, achieving his M.A. in 1895 and the Ph.D. one year later.

When he reported to the 1895 Karnea, he stated the Arch Chapter's position simply: "We have honestly, frankly and fearlessly done our best for Delta Tau Delta, and willingly leave the verdict with the Fraternity."

There was little doubt of how successfully he had fulfilled the critical expectations of his brothers. Just prior to the Karnea, Lowrie McClurg, himself a former President and a man much given to calling a spade by its given name, wrote:

"The Karnea of 1893 . . . marked an epoch for Delta Tau Delta. . . . It marked the victory of a sentiment which had been growing for years in the Fraternity . . . a sentiment favoring changes both in method of granting and of withdrawing charters, centralizing the power and fixing the responsibility.

"This same Karnea elected the most unanimous Arch Chapter that has ever ruled Delta Tau Delta; consequently, the Fraternity has been ruled more firmly than ever before, and equally it has developed as never before."

"Never before," he emphasized, "has our revered Fraternity shown such development, never before has she been so united, and never before has the future looked so promising."

Delegates in 1895 were of the same mind. Unanimously they re-elected President Babcock and the rest of the Arch Chapter, with the exception of one member, who had resigned. Such an event is all the more significant when one observes that during this two-year period five new charters had been added and six had been surrendered or withdrawn—this at a time when the issue of expansion and retraction had been the most bitterly contested!

Through these months we see Babcock and Duerr teaming up, teaching the Fraternity the self-respect of good business.

"We have been lenient too long," said the President; "we purpose to be businesslike first, and fraternal afterwards. . . ."

And if anyone doubts the authoritative ring of that pronouncement, let him look at the record. In a single year three chapters had actually been brought to trial for financial delinquency—a violent break with tradition—but three chapters had regained their self-respect and were better units of the Fraternity because of it.

Kendric Babcock demonstrated to Deltas that one can be tough in a gentlemanly manner. And his "fraternal afterwards" was of the sort that commanded real respect. Such confidence and self-assurance, translated into action, were setting an example for the entire Fraternity to follow.

He was looking ahead, too; his Karnea report recommended a manual of procedure for chapter officers, a pioneering step at that moment, and one which Alvan Duerr brought to fruition in 1898.

Probably K. C. (for such was his familiar sobriquet to Deltas in the 90's) had wondered what would be the reaction to the growing-up processes which his regime inaugurated. He got his answer at the Karnea. That encouragement sent him and his colleagues back to their posts with renewed energy, and their confident enthusiasm spread like a contagion throughout Deltdom.

In 1897, shortly before the 34th Karnea, Dr. Babcock brought Edwin Holt Hughes onto the team as Editor of THE RAINBOW, making the Hughes-Duerr-Babcock triumvirate complete—the Big Three of Delta Tau Delta, if you please, whose total contribution to the progress of the Fraternity was monumental.

Traveling halfway across the continent for the 1897 Karnea—for he was now a professor of history at the University of California—President Babcock came to Chicago with another briefcase of inspiring reports and plans for the future. The rafters of the old Victoria Hotel rang to the cries of delegates as the boasts of further accomplishments stirred a new pride in every Delt's heart.

"Delta Tau Delta," declared the conservative Babcock, "has never had a better chapter roll, a better body of actives, a healthier financial condition, or a more admirable constitution than at the present moment."

He reported a resurgence of alumni activity, as evidenced by the granting of alumni chapter charters in New Orleans, Detroit, Boston, Cincinnati, Evansville, Denver, Davenport, and Milwaukee. He reported that a new catalogue had been printed, that for the first time the archives of the Fraternity were being carefully systematized.

President Babcock, moreover, had his eyes trained on another vista—chapter visitations by alumni and members of the Arch Chapter.

"What I hope to see established . . ." he said, "is the visitation of every chapter in Delta Tau Delta, at least once in two years, by some enthusiastic Delta who is neither an alumnus of the chapter nor a resident of the city where the chapter is located."

It should be noted here that the Babcock team came within a few chapters of achieving that goal between 1895 and 1897, the President himself making the "Southern circuit." And one should footnote this historical bit with the remembrance that in those halcyon days the airplane was still a half-formed dream and a 100-mile trip by train was a bone-jarring challenge to the human anatomy.

Nor was the financial beachhead forgotten. Along with Babcock, Duerr, and Treasurer Hodgdon, Editor Hughes had joined the fiscal war.

"The Arch Chapter has had a policy," he said, "and to that policy it has clung with tenacity. It has written over our chapter doors the words above the entrance of a school beyond the sea: 'Leave, Learn, or be Whipped.' All three have been executed."

With his great talent for simile and anecdote, Bishop Hughes demonstrated the wisdom of the Arch Chapter's two-fisted fiscal policy:

"A Hebrew was once rescued from drowning by a man who was compelled to pull him from the water by the heels.

Christmas Aftermath

Many Delt chapters observed a fine tradition of Christmas this year by opening their Shelters to orphaned and underprivileged children. Beta Tau at Nebraska was one of these chapters, entertaining 30 children from the Cedars Home for Children.

Following the party, several of the youngsters sent letters of appreciation to their Delt hosts. The following comments are lifted from one of such letters:

"We wonder if you really realize how happy you made a group of kids with your Christmas party? We think that we were the happiest bunch, and perhaps the luckiest group at Christmas time.

"We had more fun! You should have heard and seen us when we came home. The staff members who were not able to come with us to your party just did not have a chance to even ask us how we liked it. We just pelted them with all the information they needed.

"And say, did we sleep that night! And DREAM! DREAM! But they were wonderful dreams."

The Israelite turned upon his rescuer and blamed him fiercely for saving him in just that way inasmuch as in the performance he had lost a quarter out of his pocket. So our treasurer has saved the lives of several chapters; but in the process of salvation they have dropped large sums of money out of their pockets. They are not so ungracious as to blame him for their loss."

Delts had come to love that kind of plain speaking, with the result that K. C. and his Arch Chapter were returned for another biennium. The Babcock reputation for reliability and masterly direction continued to grow. In THE RAINBOW, the author of the Karnea story joked:

"Brother Babcock always looks like one of the knowing ones. But when he emerges from a meeting of the Arch Chapter, his expression is that of a Mona Lisa, one who knows infinite things."

The Arch Chapter carried out the expansion and retraction policies with few dissenting voices, planting the Purple in such institutions as Brown, Wabash, and Chicago, and withdrawing charters at colleges which no longer ranked as first-class educational institutions. President Babcock promoted and participated personally in the installation of Beta Omega at the University of California.

There were other significant accomplishments of the era, among them the extensive revision of the Ritual. Another milestone was the movement of alumni of each chapter to incorporate for the purpose of holding title to chapter property and assuming its management—forerunner of the present-day house corporation.

On July 1, 1899, Kendrick Babcock resigned. His last official report, to the Karnea of 1899, reflects his characteristic optimism.

"This report," he wrote, "closes my long period of service on the Arch Chapter, a period which on the first of July lacked but two months of a full ten years, a period of continuous official activity longer than any other in the history of the Fraternity."

He had been President nearly six years. Only one man has served in this office for a longer period, and only three others have served for an equal period.

Passing the credit to his coworkers, he declared: "It is not too much to say that Delta Tau Delta has almost been revolutionized in the past decade."

What may now sound boastful actually comes close to being an understatement of fact. In fewer than ten years the firm foundation for future generations of Delts had been cemented. The Fraternity was coming of age, emerging from the unsteady stride of immaturity to the sure, co-ordinated gait of a champion. The closely-knit, effective organization that we know today took shape under the confident supervision of President Babcock and his colleagues.

An idealist through and through, the Eighth President had been the sort of man to show the way—modest, tactful, and gentlemanly in all his dealings, yet determined and unyielding where the principle of Fraternity was at stake.

"He reminded me always," wrote Dr. Frank Wieland, his close personal friend, "of a great surgeon, careful and gentle in the handling of wholesome tissues, merciless to those that were gangrenous and cancerous."

Dr. Babcock found other trails to blaze. From 1903 to 1910 he was president of the University of Arizona. From 1910 to 1913 he was a specialist in higher education with the United States Bureau of Education. From 1913 to 1931 he was Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Illinois, and for a time acting president of that institution. He retired as Dean Emeritus. In his lifetime he was the author of two scholarly works: Rise of American Nationality and Scandinavian Element in the United States. On March 11, 1932, at the age of 67 he died.

Those who were privileged to know President Babcock were profoundly influenced by his unfailing idealism, inspired by the example of a life devoted to youth. In Delta Tau Delta his death evoked the same keen feeling of loss as described for the people of Arizona in the following passage from Dr. Wieland's final tribute:

"In many mesas in Mexico, in ranch houses of our great West, in the desert which he so profoundly loved and understood there will be those who remember the great Spirit that came among them, opening their eyes to a vision of a world which was not all material; one who stooped from his high estate of culture and position, and lifted them, at least spiritually, to his high standards of life and beauty. They will marvel at this strange mysterious being who came among them with his message, stayed with them for a brief period, and then as silently moved away."

Methodist Leader of Theology School

SINCE 1932 Dr. Horace G. Smith, Northwestern, '05, has been President of Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Illinois, the largest of ten graduate schools of theology in the Methodist Church.

DR. HORACE G. SMITH

Although he had been a trustee of the Institute for ten years prior to his election to the presidency and had done some teaching annually over an eight-year period, the experience that qualifies him best as a clerical educator is a lifetime devoted to the ministry.

Beginning his preparation at a Methodist seminary at Onarga, Illinois, he continued his education at Northwestern University, from which he was graduated in 1905. After spending two years as a college Y.M.C.A. secretary, he completed his Divinity work at Garrett in 1910. His honorary degrees include a D.D. from Northwestern, LL.D. from Simpson and DePauw, and L.H.D. from Boston University.

His service to the Methodist Church embraces three pastorates, one at Glencoe, one at Evanston, and one at Wilmette—all in Illinois. He also spent two years as superintendent of the Chicago Western District.

The Rock River Conference has elected him to five General Conferences and the Uniting Conference. Since 1932 he has been a member of the Board of Education, serving for eight years as secretary of the Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Dr. Smith has served in many of the church summer schools and has spoken many times before pastors' groups. He has been a leader in the construction of three churches, and has written many brief articles in the church press; he is author of a chapter in the recently published volume on Methodism.

His service to Delta Tau Delta includes a two-year tour as chapter adviser shortly after his college graduation. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Sigma Rho.

Dr. Smith acknowledges still a profound response to the impelling challenge of the ministry. "While I have been out of the so-called pastoral ministry for a long time," he says, "I have never ceased to be at heart a Methodist minister."

Western Division Returns John Nichols

John W. Nichols, Oklahoma, '36, was unanimously re-elected President of the Western Division at the final session of the biennial Western Division Conference, held February 23 and 24 at Boulder, Colorado.

Delta Lambda Chapter, of Oregon State College at Corvallis, Oregon, was chosen as host for the next Division Conference scheduled for February, 1953.

In spite of the great traveling distances involved in the Western Division and the unsettled conditions occasioned by an international crisis, more than 60 undergraduate representatives of the 23 chapters of the Division attended the meeting.

The program of the Conference included a Founders Day Banquet in Denver, sponsored by the Denver Alumni Chapter, at which Martin B. Dickinson, President of the Fraternity, was principal speaker.

Full details of the Conference will be carried in the June issue of THE RAINBOW.

His Pen Chases Secret Agents

RICHARD W. ROWAN

RICHARD W. ROWAN, Brown, '16; Columbia, '16, who writes and lectures extensively about spies and secret agents—or what he calls “occupational nastiness and official lawlessness”—has kept the perspective of an historian.

“Spies have had the gravest influence upon history from Bible times on, but very little impact on historians,” he says. His books ably demonstrate the significant role that spies have played and are playing in shaping world history, and his writings are helping alert Americans to the dangerous forces working to undermine their way of life.

Nearly 40 years devoted to the study and investigation of international espionage qualify him as one of the foremost authorities on his specialty.

Among his better known works are Spy and Counter-Spy, Terror in Our Time, Japanese Secret Service and the Hundred Years War, and The Story of Secret Service.

Mr. Rowan became acquainted with the typewriter early. At 17, he had sold three short stories; a week after his 18th birthday the Saturday Evening Post published his fourth story. On good advice he had written about a familiar theme—baseball—his experience stemming from managing a championship baseball team for two years while he was still a high school student.

Advised, likewise, to find a specialty, he chose the cloak and dagger department. His choice meant starting almost from scratch in those days; even by 1917 the bibliography on this subject in the Congressional Library listed fewer works than Mr. Rowan himself has since written.

As he pursued his writing specialty, however, he branched out into related fields. The Pinkertons, written in 1931, is an example, as are three separate volumes of The Baffle Book of Crimes to Solve, which were such a success that they were subsequently translated in Swedish, Hungarian, Spanish, German, and Italian.

He has written fiction, including The Sinister Front and his latest, The Mountain Comes to Mahomet, both in collaboration with Mrs. Rowan. In 1934 he was editor of Modern Spies Tell Their Stories and in 1941 he conducted a department, “The Game of International I.Q.” (counter espionage) for Coronet. He has also been a contributor to the Encyclopaedia of the Social Sciences.

Recently he has written about what he deems the “decent side” of the game of undercover activities. His article, “The Brodnys vs. The Iron Curtain,” in the January issue of True magazine, deals with the heroic efforts of the underground of Red-dominated countries in smuggling patriots across the border into freedom.

Today Author Rowan has turned his critical eye on the Russian phase of the fine art of spying, and the result will soon be another well documented book from his pen. His close study of Russian Secret Service began in 1944, after he had discovered that even then its members were plotting against the United States.

A first-hand knowledge and intimate acquaintance with the insidious intrigues of espionage have not dulled Mr. Rowan's sense of humor: “Spending all these adult years studying the work and methods of professional spies and secret agents is like going into politics—you meet so many people who ought to be in jail.”

But his work has shown him how pervasive and world-wide is “this lush poisonous growth.”

“Not a man, woman, or child alive anywhere in the world today,” he points out, “but that will have his or her life curiously, if not acutely, influenced by the maneuvers of secret service.

“At this moment it is barely possible that the Russo-Communist Secret Service (a vicious global network) will have more influence upon the fate of every living American through the next ten years than will the Democratic and Republican parties combined.”

Avoiding the sensationalism which characterizes much of the current literature on spy activities, Mr. Rowan writes objectively, bringing into sharper focus the easily overlooked but nonetheless vital influence of secret service on world events. And because he is able to write with such commendable restraint, he has earned a reputation for accuracy and honesty, which constitute a major contribution to the literature of history.

Delt Centenarian Protests Payment of Annual Alumni Dues

Alumni initiated prior to January 1, 1926, when the Loyalty Fund was established, have their choice of paying annual dues of three dollars or becoming Loyalty Fund Life Members by a contribution of $50. Annually the Central Office reminds them of this option.

Edward A. Uehling, Stevens, '77, well-known engineer and inventor, recently returned his reminder with this comment:

“Approaching my 102nd birthday anniversary June 3, I do not think that I should be bothered paying annual dues.”

So he enclosed his check for $50. Mr. Uehling is now a Life Member.

THE President's Page

By MARTIN B. DICKINSON

TO OUR NEW INITIATES:

Within the last few weeks, or within the next few, the more than one thousand of you have followed or will follow the path each of us has followed once, and only once. You thereby have become a member of our Fraternity. You have met the various requirements of our Constitution and have served, acceptably to your chapter, the period of probation required by it. So far as Delta Tau Delta is concerned, you have been found worthy to be declared a man, and qualified to assume the responsibilities that station implies.

You were received among us in a ritualistic ceremony, the full meaning and beauty of which cannot have reached you at the moment. Our Ritual is, as compared with many other rituals, both short and simple. It contains the essential elements common to all initiatory ceremonies. It teaches lessons and presents ideals so simply and so briefly that they are easily overlooked. Those who are familiar with far more elaborate rituals will agree that ours is not excelled in beauty and propriety. I hope that our Ritual was presented to you with the dignity and loving care it deserves. If it was so presented, and was your first experience with formal ritual, you will never forget it. You can learn from that experience why wise men of all the ages have used rituals as a means of impressing and perpetuating their teachings. One who has never thrilled to a good ritual properly done has missed part of life, or is a clod indeed.

Now you have not only the right and power, but the duty and responsibility of putting into effect the consequences of your initiation. You are as truly Delts as the eminent members of the Distinguished Service Chapter. You have the same responsibility those men have for what Delta Tau Delta and your chapter are to be. In fact, you have a greater duty, for those men have already performed outstanding service. Yours is yet to be done.

Your chapter and your Fraternity are no longer "they." It is now "we." How your chapter and your Fraternity are operated is for you to determine, in concert with our other members, in a democratic way. Your own individual ideas may not always, or even often, be those of the majority. That will not make the decisions which are reached any the less your decisions. If it does, you and your chapter made a mistake.

If the food on your chapter house table is not what it should be, it may be the fault of some officer or employee, but the responsibility is yours. You have been equipped with the means to do something about it.

If the hospitality and friendliness of your chapter are not what they should be, it is for you to take the lead. The chapter house is your home. If in your own home (not your parents' home) you would fail to greet anyone who might be invited to enter, you should expect to be classed as a boor. To learn and practice the social graces is one of the chief reasons for becoming a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Living conditions, quiet hours, and the maintenance of a healthful home are part of your responsibility. If you are careless and slack, you need not expect your chapter to be any better. Perhaps for the first time, you will have no one to command you to pick up your clothing and keep your room presentable. You should have developed those habits while your parents, or the actives, were telling you what to do—that was one of the purposes of such authority. If you did not, you may now have to learn the hard way, or find yourself living unpleasantly, which will be your own fault.

The scholarship of your chapter, and your own scholarship, is now your own responsibility. Your chapter should keep a watchful eye on the scholastic progress of all its members, but it cannot and will not continue to compel you to do your school work in the way your parents and the actives have done. You will have to supply that drive for yourself, or suffer the very painful condition known as "sophomore slump."

You may, and I hope you will, become members of many other fine organizations. That you join one lodge or social or lunch club will not prevent you from joining another or many others. It is not so with Delta Tau Delta. You will never join another organization like Delta Tau Delta. By the same token, unless your membership is terminated for misconduct, you will always be a Delt. What Delta Tau Delta has to offer, you will find in Delta Tau Delta or not at all. As you search, you will discover that much of what you find will depend on what you put there yourself. You will later discover that the latter is always true of any organization.

Our fellowship affords a unique opportunity of learning to work and to live together. You have now been received on a footing of equality with all the thousands of us who have gone before you and are called upon to act accordingly.

I congratulate you on having advanced thus far, and assure you that we welcome your comradeship. As we work together, Delta Tau Delta may come to mean to you even more than it means to some of us who have known and loved her longer.

Delt Composer Gains Recognition

KENT W. KENNAN

KENT W. KENNAN, Michigan, '34, winner of the coveted "Prix de Rome in Music" in 1936, is one of the most promising young American composers today. His prize-winning composition, scored for solo flute and strings, was first performed on a radio broadcast from Rome in 1938 and was given its first American performance in the same year by the Rochester Civic Orchestra.

In 1936 he also wrote "Night Soliloquy," which was recorded by RCA Victor. These and his other compositions have been performed by many major orchestras, including the N.B.C. Symphony, New York Philharmonic, and Philadelphia Orchestra, under such directors as Toscanini, Ormandy, and Hanson. His works have been published by G. Schirmer, H. W. Gray, and Carl Fischer.

Mr. Kennan studied at the Wisconsin Conservatory of the University of Michigan and the Eastman School of Music, where he received both the Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees. As winner of the "Prix de Rome," he remained in Europe from 1936 to 1939 working at the Royal Academy of St. Cecilia under Ildebrando Pizzetti.

An instructor of composition, orchestration, and counterpoint at the University of Texas, Mr Kennan has also served on the faculties of Kent State University and Ohio State University. From 1942 to 1946 he saw duty in the military service, during most of which period he was a bandmaster assigned to Army bands in the Pacific Theater.

His talents have been evidenced in other fields than music. As a student at Michigan, he won the Hopwood Award for short story writing in 1932. Another honor was second award at Eastman in 1935 in the Whiteman Contest for orchestral work.

A Founders Day Story

THE SLANTING rays of the early morning sun filtered into the guard house, rousing William Bradley, prisoner of war, to another day—another day that held little hope for the youthful Confederate soldier.

It was 1863—two years since seceding Southern states had proclaimed the Confederacy, two years since the firing on Fort Sumter had touched off the powder keg of civil war.

Founders Day recalls many of the stories and legends surrounding the early days of Delta Tau Delta. This is one of the best, illustrating as it does the strong bonds of Fraternity that existed nearly a century ago.

It is a true story, completely documented by correspondence of the Civil War period.

The two Deltas of the narrative were Dr. Rhodes Sutton, Jefferson, '62, and William S. Bradley, Jefferson, '63.—Editor.

Bradley recalled with a pang of regret the careless abandon of his company that had led to his capture. A member of General John Morgan's staff, he had participated in one of Morgan's characteristic swift strikes behind enemy lines and had fallen into the trap of an Indiana regiment near McMinnville, Tennessee.

Something in his story had excited suspicion. The Federals had marched him off to Winchester and General Rosecrans' headquarters, where he had now been held for a month. The charge: spying.

It was an accusation difficult to answer. Bradley was a Northerner. He had enlisted under an assumed name, and he feared that revealing his true identity now would only implicate him further.

To augment his uneasiness, conversations he had overheard told him that Generals Grant and Sherman were pouring reinforcements into Tennessee, making chances for escape or rescue more remote by the hour.

And, like every other soldier, Bradley knew the fate of spies.

A Union guard appeared at the door. "Somebody in there ask for the doc?" he demanded.

Bradley nodded. A fellow prisoner had taken ill the night before; another guard had promised to send for a physician.

The door opened. A squarely built man, young but with an undeniably professional air, stepped inside. Bradley motioned toward a cot at the far end of the room.

As the doctor passed him, Bradley caught a clear view of his face, and in that moment recognition flashed between the two. It was Sutton! Rhodes Sutton, a brother Delt from his chapter at Jefferson College. Sutton, who had founded the chapter, who had conducted Bradley's initiation. Sutton, with whom he had shared some of the richest experiences in his life.

Recalling the experience later, Bradley wrote another classmate:

"Bob, it 'got' me. I experienced the three emotions of joy, fear and surprise all at once in the intensest degree, even to stupefaction."

Sutton walked slowly past. Then he stopped, retraced his steps, and stood beside Bradley.

"Your name, please," he said.

Bradley got it out somehow, and the incident ended there. A few days later, the order for Bradley's release came through. Sutton had remembered.

Taking an oath of allegiance to the Union, the young soldier was allowed to return to his home in Pennsylvania. Nor did he forget his oath of allegiance. After a short visit at home, he enlisted in the 142d New York Volunteers and was again on his way to the front, this time in the Union blue.

Bradley was among the Federal forces which stormed Fort Fisher on January 15, 1865. The first man to enter the Fort, he was killed when Union shells fell short of their target.

N.I.C. Session Attended by Delts

THE 42d session of the National Interfraternity Conference, held at the Hotel Commodore in New York City November 24 and 25, attracted 529 registrants, including 141 delegates and 50 alternates, representing the 59 member fraternities, and 189 undergraduates as delegates from local interfraternity councils on campuses all the way from New York to British Columbia.

Official delegates for Delta Tau Delta were President Martin B. Dickinson, Vice-President Joel W. Reynolds, and G. Herbert McCracken, former President.

Alternate delegates were Secretary of Alumni Frank M. Cornell and Warner D. Orvis, Cornell, '06, of the Greater New York Alumni Chapter. Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields also attended.

The report of the Conference secretary reflected the results of continuing fraternity expansion. There are 59 member fraternities, having 2,965 chapters, an increase of 179 chapters over 1949. Houses owned by chapters total 2,143, an increase of 72. The membership in 1950 increased 52,772, making a total of 1,279,482.

Five resolutions, the product of round-table discussions, were passed by the Conference in its closing session. One called for participation by member fraternities in a program to aid in promulgating the virtues of democracy and the American way of life and in keeping this country alert to subversive and undermining forces which espouse the cause of international Communism.

Local interfraternity councils were requested in another resolution to encourage participation of fraternity chapters in community projects.

Also unanimously carried was a resolution recommending to member fraternities that they set and enforce standards of good scholarship by the condition of membership; that maintenance of good scholarship be encouraged by the co-operative effort of fraternity officers and college officials; and that the colleges be urged to submit adequate scholarship reports and data covering both groups and individuals.

The constitution was changed to permit the Executive Committee to determine the time and place for the Conference to meet annually. Heretofore, the constitution had specifically fixed the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving as the dates for the annual meeting.

Conference officers elected for 1950-51 are: chairman, A. Ray Warnock, Beta Theta Pi, Illinois, '05, State College, Pennsylvania; vice-chairman, Charles E. Pledger, Jr., Theta Delta Chi, George Washington, '27, Washington, D. C.; secretary, Ralph Noreen, Pi Kappa Phi, California, '16, New York City; treasurer, C. R. Yeager, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kentucky, '30, Attleboro, Massachusetts; educational adviser, Dean Joseph A. Park, Alpha Tau Omega, Ohio State, '20, Columbus, Ohio.

First honors awarded by the Conference for outstanding activities of interfraternity councils went to Hanover College in Indiana. This recognition was based on: a complete program of interfraternity competition both athletic and non-athletic, in which all independent students were given an opportunity to compete with fraternity men; beneficial rushing regulations; an interfraternity newspaper for freshmen; open houses for all fraternity social events; co-operative buying for fraternity chapters; complete elimination of Hell Week and substitution for it of a Greek Week; excellent scholarship record; alumni newsletters assisting the college in promoting alumni relations; entertainment of prospective students, campus guest speakers, and others; entertainment of faculty with the development of round-table discussions; benefit basketball game for local charity; entertainment by each chapter of underprivileged children at Christmas time; support of a war orphan; contribution to area blood bank; formation of a fire prevention unit to inspect all fraternity houses; assistance to foreign students; and forums open to all college students for which fraternities provided speakers.

Other awards in various categories were given to the interfraternity councils of Wake Forest College, the University of Oklahoma, Purdue University, Ohio State University, and the University of Cincinnati.

Guest speaker at a Conference luncheon was Dr. W. C. Toepelman, Delta Sigma Phi, staff associate, American Council on Education, Washington, D. C., who discussed mobilization for military service and some of the problems from it that will affect colleges and fraternities.

Two forenoons were spent by the National Undergraduate Interfraternity Conference in panel discussions, while on Friday afternoon both undergraduates and alumni representatives participated in the round-table discussions. Six men, three alumni and three undergraduates, made up panels on the following topics: The Obligations of the Fraternity to the Campus, Beneficial Rushing Regulations, Hell Week vs. Greek Week, Practical Public Relations, and Working with the College Administration.

Delt undergraduates from various campuses representing their interfraternity councils at the session were: Richard W. Tinker, Michigan; A. Guy Shelley, Kent State; Robert E. Griffith, Georgia Tech; and John H. Chandler, U.C.L.A. Among the college Deans present was Russell A. Griffin, Hillsdale, '28, of Western Reserve University.

Oldest Butler Delt Gives Badge to Chapter

On the occasion of the 75th Anniversary of Beta Zeta Chapter, Butler University, in November, Charles E. Higbee, Butler, '89, earliest living initiate of the chapter, presented his Delt badge to the undergraduate chapter for its use as scholastic recognition.

The badge will be officially presented each year to the Delt junior classman who made the highest scholastic record during his sophomore year. The winner will be entitled to wear the badge for one year.

Mr. Higbee's is the oldest Beta Zeta badge known to actives and alumni. It was made to his order two years after his initiation on March 7, 1885. He has worn it nearly 64 years.

At the present Harold Cline, a religion major, is the proud wearer of Mr. Higbee's badge.

GENERAL FRANCIS W. ROLLINS

BRIGADIER GENERAL Francis W. Rollins, Brown, '16, is principally remembered as Commanding General during the latter part of World War II of the 66th Infantry Division, which served in the European Theatre. Prior to his elevation as Commanding General, he had served the Division as Artillery Commander.

At the present, although he still holds an active commission, General Rollins is on inactive duty, serving as manager of the Veterans Administration Hospital, San Fernando, California.

General Rollins began his military career as an officer in 1917 when he was graduated from the Officers Training School, Plattsburg, New York. With the American Expeditionary Forces during World War I he took part in the Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Oise-Aisne, and Meuse-Argonne campaigns. In 1941 he returned to active duty to serve his country further. After graduation from the Field Artillery School, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, he was assigned to the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center at Camp Roberts, California. In 1944 he sailed for Europe.

He has been decorated with the French Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre with Palm, Croix de Guerre with Gold Star, and Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Last fall General Rollins was elected president of the Los Angeles Brown Club for the current year.

Sonny Grandelius Earns All America Honors

All America honors have come to Everett "Sonny" Grandelius, climax runner of the 1950 Michigan State football team and a senior of Iota Chapter. He was named to the International News Service All America offensive team and to the United Press All America second team.

When he amassed a total of 73 yards in the Pittsburgh game, Grandelius became the seventeenth back in football history to gain more than 1,000 yards in rushing in a single season. He also tied the Michigan State scoring record of 72 points in one season.

Sonny's teammates voted him the most valuable player for the year, for which he received the Governor's Trophy, a coveted honor.

The fiery halfback was also accorded postseason acclaim for his brilliant running in the annual East-West game played December 24 in San Francisco.

Bishop Block Named To Security Board

BISHOP KARL M. BLOCK

The Right Reverend Karl M. Block, George Washington, '06, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California, has been appointed by President Truman to the new Commission on Internal Security and Individual Rights.

Headed by Fleet Admiral Chester M. Nimitz, the commission will study the problems of how the nation can guard itself against Communist treason and at the same time maintain the freedoms of its citizens. The board will be composed of seven other members, including such well-known figures as Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., chairman of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, and Russell C. Leffingwell, a former partner in J. P. Morgan & Company.

Bishop Block, who has been Bishop of California since 1938, has served 40 years in the ministry. He is recognized as a powerful preacher. Touring with the National Preaching Missions, he has addressed large congregations in many parts of the country.

President Martin B. Dickinson and past President G. Herbert McCracken have been appointed to serve on committees of the National Interfraternity Conference.

President Dickinson is a member of the Publicity Committee, while Mr. McCracken is a member of the Committee on Emergency Services.

Jaycee Veeps Have Parallel Careers

J. C. C. vice-presidents.

DELTA TAU DELTA claims two national vice-presidents of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. Harry G. Wiles, Kansas, '38, and Lee Price, Jr., Georgia, '38, were elected to office at the U.S.J.C.C. national convention in Chicago last June.

It was not until two months later at an executive board meeting that each learned that the other is a Delt. Comparing notes, they also learned that their careers had some interesting parallels.

Both were presidents of their chapters—Wiles of Gamma Tau and Price of Beta Delta—and at approximately the same time. Both are members of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. Both were presidents of other organizations—Price of the Georgia interfraternity council and Wiles of the Kansas chapter of Phi Delta Phi.

Both are attorneys who have made outstanding contributions to their communities and states through the Jaycee organization.

After graduation from the University of Kansas, where he was on the Dean's honor roll and captain of track among other things, Harry Wiles opened a law office in St. John, Kansas. Here he was a charter member and first president of the St. John J.C.C. He has served as county attorney of Stafford County and commander of his American Legion post. During the war he was a Naval Intelligence officer, specializing in Japanese language.

He has been vice-president of the state Jaycee organization and Jaycee National Director from Kansas.

Besides his law practice, he is co-owner and publisher of two newspapers, one a weekly and one a daily. During 1939-40 he was chapter adviser of Gamma Tau Chapter.

Lee Price, while a student at the University of Georgia, was elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, Blue Key, and Sphinx, the school's highest honor.

His service record includes a tour as a special agent of the F.B.I., positions with the Department of State as legal attaché to American embassies in several South American republics, and duty with the U. S. Army in the European Theater.

Today he is a member of the law firm Price and Spivey of Swainsboro, Georgia. He has served as president of the Swainsboro Jaycees, vice-president of the First Georgia District, and president of the Georgia Jaycees. During his term of office, he visited every club in Georgia and several others in Southeastern states, travelling 25,000 miles in one year.

Delt Dentist Directs Dental Health Program For Lawrence Chapter

A dental health program for members of Delta Nu Chapter at Lawrence College has been initiated by Dr. Jack R. Benton, Lawrence, '31. The service includes complete oral X-rays at no cost to the undergraduate actives and pledges for each year while they are enrolled as students of the College.

Dr. Benton conceived and started the program last year. Sixty young men of the chapter were X-rayed in the first year with the hope that the evidence produced would encourage them to see their family dentists and arrange for prompt professional care if needed.

The only stipulation Dr. Benton made as part of the program was that those subscribing to it could not receive treatment from his office. His only aim has been to stimulate individual consciousness of dental health so that the members' family dentists would be able to do necessary work. But the X-rays are made at his office under a tight schedule of one or two nights per week and all costs are assumed by Dr. Benton.

Delta Nu responded to his proposition by having every active and pledge X-rayed last year, and all of the chapter's 75 men are currently being X-rayed again this winter. Dr. Benton says that he is anxious to compare this year's X-rays of the men previously examined with their last-year records for a survey of significant improvements effected by professional care.

Dr. Benton has served as chapter adviser to Delta Nu in previous years and has been a member of the alumni house corporation for more than ten years. He has consistently responded to undergraduate requests for aid and advice on matters of policy and internal organization.—WILLIAM A. DONALD, Lawrence, '51.

Time and Place of 61st Karnea Announced

The 61st Karnea will be held August 31, September 1, 2, and 3, 1952, at the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, Michigan.

The Arch Chapter reached this decision recently after considering several possible dates and locations. The choice of a time and place for the Fraternity's biennial national meeting was referred to the Arch Chapter by the 60th Karnea in Columbus last August, with the recommendation of a resort-type location in the Midwest.

Promoted to General

Elbert DeCoursey, Kentucky, '24, Director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier General.

At a brief Washington ceremony, he received the stars of his new rank from Major General R. W. Bliss, Surgeon General of the U. S. Army.

Bishop Springer Visits Central Office

A recent distinguished visitor at the Central Office was BISHOP JOHN M. SPRINGER (center), Northwestern, '99. He is pictured above with Supervisor of Scholarship FRANCIS M. HUGHES (left), attorney of Indianapolis, and Executive Vice-President HUGH SHIELDS. BISHOP SPRINGER served as missionary bishop of Africa in the Methodist Church from 1936 to 1944. Beginning in 1901, he has been engaged in missionary work in Africa for the greater part of his life. Although he retired from episcopal responsibility in 1944, he has continued as a volunteer in active missionary work with headquarters at Springer Institute (which he founded), Mulungwishi, in Belgian Congo.

Bowl Game Review Shows Wide Delt Participation

Postseason football saw many Deltas participating in bowl games and inter-sectional clashes. Here is a brief rundown of those events:

In the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, a trio from Delta Chapter—Bill Ohlenroth, tackle; Ralph Straffon, fullback; and Pete Palmer, quarterback—contributed substantially to Michigan's victory for the Big Nine.

At New Orleans' Sugar Bowl, two opposing Delt backfield stars helped make that game one of the greatest battles of the season. They were Quarterback Claude Arnold of Oklahoma and Halfback Clayton Webb of Kentucky.

The vicious blocking of Delta Delta's Gil Kyker, halfback, paved the way for consistent gains that enabled Tennessee to score an upset in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

In the annual East-West game, played in San Francisco, Jess Neely, Vanderbilt, '22, head coach at Rice Institute, was one of the winning coaches for the West. Washington's fine end, Joe Cloldt, turned in an outstanding performance for the West, while Sonny Grandelius, All America halfback at Michigan State, spearheaded the East attack.

Two Delt guards—Vincent DiGrande, Cornell, and Bill Mathers, Penn State—were starters in the annual Blue-Gray classic at Mobile, Alabama. They played for the Blue.

In another, the North-South game, Cornell's hard-charging fullback, Jeff Fleischmann, played for the North team.

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Florida, saw Phi Chapter's John Delahunty starting at tackle for Washington & Lee.

Delts boasted six members of the Miami University squad that copped the Salad Bowl at Tempe, Arizona. Here they are: Jim Root, quarterback; Paul Sautter, guard; Carmen Cozza, halfback; Bob Ellis, tackle; Chuck Harrison, halfback; and Milt Neigarth, center.

Finally, in the Sun Bowl, Gamma Xi's Nicholas Shundich, tackle, played for Cincinnati University.

Facts for Founders Day

Of course every Delt knows that the Fraternity was founded in February, 1859, at Bethany College, Bethany, West Virginia (formerly Virginia), but here are other interesting sidelights on the founding and the Founders:

Delta Tau Delta is the only national social fraternity which was founded in West Virginia.

Of the eight Founders, three became ministers, one a physician, two educators, and two were prominent in public service.

Five of the Founders lived to be more than 80 years old, and all but one lived to be more than 70.

The last living Founder was Colonel John C. Johnson, who died April 3, 1927.

When the eight Founders entered Bethany College, three were from West Virginia, two from Kentucky, and one each from Virginia, South Carolina, and Ontario, Canada.

Five of the Founders attended the 1907 Karnea in Chicago. They also attended various other Karneas, but the 1907 gathering enrolled the greatest number at one time.

The first Delt badges appeared at Bethany in the spring of 1859.

Founder Henry K. Bell is credited with initiating the expansion of the Fraternity.

Alexander C. Earle, who was 18 in 1859, was the youngest of the Founders.

Richard H. Alfred, who was 28 in 1859, was the oldest of the Founders.

Two of the Founders had sons who became Deltas, and two had brothers who became Deltas.

The oldest chapters of the Fraternity which have maintained a continuous existence are: Gamma, W. & J. (1861); Beta, Ohio (1862); Alpha, Allegheny (1864); and Kappa, Hillsdale (1867).

ROY N. VERNSTROM
Portland's First Junior Citizen

ROY N. VERNSTROM, Oregon, '40, has been named the "first junior citizen" of Portland, Oregon, for 1950.

"The honor fits him like a glove," reported the Portland press.

Advertising manager of the Pacific Power & Light Company, Mr. Vernstrom has made an avocation of selling young people on the importance of our individual opportunity system and the need for a return to meaningful religion.

His achievements date back to undergraduate days when he was president of Gamma Rho Chapter and winner of the Koyl Cup presented to the outstanding male student of the University of Oregon.

In 1941 he resigned an Army commission to enlist in the Marines. He was deprived of a chance to reach the top in the Marines when he suffered an injury while training to become an officer. Undaunted, he continued as an enlisted man and promoted the Marine Corps on the West Coast during the war.

A long list of activities in the community includes membership and active participation in the City Club, Portland Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Portland Council of Churches, Lutheran Church activities, and University of Oregon Alumni Association.

He is also a member of other groups, including the military manpower commission and board of regents, Multnomah College. His extensive talks have carried him to many cities of the Northwest.

"A sixty-year-old vice-president turns professor to teach the fundamentals of good employment relations to some 125 Yale seniors majoring in industrial administration," reports the Cornell Alumni News, referring to THOMAS G. SPATES, Cornell, '13.

Mr. Spates is a man who early in his industrial career forsook engineering problems of production for the personnel problems of production.

"He has become a profound student of these human problems in industry," reports the magazine, "and is now rated as one of America's leading practitioners of human relations."

"For the last 14 years he has been vice-president at General Foods in charge of personnel policies affecting 19,000 employees in more than 100 plants in this country and abroad. He leaves industry to work with college students because the future holds more promise of improvement through instructing young men to avoid the shortcomings of engineers and other technicians in their relationships with workers."

Mr. Spates started his teaching career at Yale last September.

WILLIAM W. LEWIS, Sewanee, '04, former chapter adviser of Beta Theta Chapter, will retire from the faculty of the University of the South with the attainment of his 70th birthday next June.

Completing what he termed "30 very happy years" in the Spanish Department, Professor Lewis may look back on a career which has been unusual in its whole-hearted devotion to Sewanee and the student body. "Señor," as he is affectionately called by all who know him, is famous for his afternoon coffee hour, when students gather in his home for coffee and informal conversation.

A graduate of civil engineering, Professor Lewis was engaged in surveying and engineering in the Philippines and Peru from 1904 to 1915. A riding accident in the Andes Mountains forced his retirement from an outdoor life in 1915, and he returned to the States to teach Spanish at Vanderbilt and Tennessee. He shortly earned his M.A. degree at the University of Chicago.

In 1921 he came to Sewanee, where he has remained. During those years he has studied at the University of Madrid, University of Mexico City, and in Guadalajara. He has visited Spain five times and has made ten trips to Europe.

Chapter adviser of Beta Theta Chapter for more than 25 years, Professor Lewis was cited to the Distinguished Service Chapter in 1931.

He has indicated that he will keep his residence in Sewanee, where he will continue as a friend and counselor of Sewanee students.

"A small town Kansas editor today [January 4] editorially asked every American city, village and hamlet to cheer the nation's fighting boys in Korea as they do its gridiron heroes."

This was the lead of a United Press story which hit the front pages of many metropolitan papers around the country, giving recognition to a crusading Delta editor, F. CHERRY LEITNAKER, Baker, '19, of The Baldwin Ledger, Baldwin City, Kansas.

Mr. Leitnaker is chapter adviser of Gamma Theta Chapter and a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter.

Following is part of the text of the editorial:

"So we have turned out to be just a bunch of corner-drugstore quarterbacks. We sit around listening to newscasts, reading newspaper stories, getting on the edge of our chairs when the going is good, and slumping back in despair when we hear the Chinese Reds are storming over our United Nations forces in Korea.

"But what have we done about it? If our favorite hometown football team went to the Cotton or Rose Bowl, or to a nearby school's gridiron, we drugstore quarterbacks might be griping about the coach, we might distrust the game officials, but we would be behind our team. We would do something about it. If we couldn't go see the scrap, we would send them a telegram and that's for sure.

"Let's do just that for our boys in Korea. Let's send those championship fighting boys of the United Nations a cablegram. We've signed liberty bell papers for Europe. Let's sign cablegram papers for our fighting boys in Korea. Let every city, town and hamlet in these United States of America send a cablegram."

Alpha—Allegheny

ALPHA WINS HOMECOMING HONORS

A coveted award among the seven fraternities at Allegheny is the plaque given annually for the most unique Homecoming display. This fall Alpha became the possessor of the plaque.

Designed by Tom Newcombe and "Tiny" Shape to link Allegheny College with Pennsylvania Industry and Pennsylvania Week, the decoration consisted of a huge billboard, in the center of which moved a simulated zipper, complete with sound effects. The zipper represented the Talon Hookless Fastener industry, a Meadville concern.

To round out the week end, the Shelter was glad to welcome "home" some 30 Delt alumni, who were guests at a buffet supper.

CHRISTMAS FORMAL WELL ATTENDED

Probably no other social event of the year is anticipated as anxiously as the traditional Alpha Christmas Formal. This year's dance was no exception, for the combined efforts of the entire chapter, headed by Schorr, Choquette, Pfeleger, and Karras, produced an effect which will long be remembered.

Pine, mistletoe, and holly were used to create a "Christmasy" atmosphere, along with such eyecatchers as an old-fashioned Christmas tree, a simulated bay window holding the band, and a large lighted wreath framing the front doorway. Waiters served cold turkey, ham, and punch, while the Delt Sixteen warbled traditional carols.

TWO EARN VARSITY LETTERS

Both Arnie Lewis and Ray Cook were awarded varsity letters for the second consecutive year, Arnie for outstanding performance on Allegheny's soccer team and Ray for excellent defensive tackling as an Allegheny gridder. It should also be mentioned that Arnie again copped first place in the Turkey Trot, annual Thanksgiving intramural race.

In varsity basketball, Alpha is represented by Guard Rink Kofford.

On the intramural field, Coach Gus Elias' volleyball team came through to win first place. Basketball and bowling aggregations are off to a good start with victories in their initial games.

CUCKOO CLOCK PROVES UNDOING

Beta Deltas tried hard to capture both Homecoming trophies. We were successful in the house decorations prize, but the float trophy was not granted us because of a bit of bad luck. One half of a block from the judge's stand, our huge cuckoo clock caught on an overhanging "Taft for Senator" sign and was overturned. Pledges were feverishly righting it when passing the judge's stand. Edward Chapel and Ray Faranda were cochairmen of the house decorations, and Bob Maruna and Joe DeCosmo were cochairmen of the float.

Ohio University's alumni were made more conscious of Delta Tau Delta by our annual Walk Around in front of Lindley Hall. This tradition is almost as old as Beta Chapter itself.

NEAR SWEEP OF CLASS ELECTIONS

Beta Chapter almost swept the junior and senior class elections. Chapter President Dick Sullivan was elected president of the senior class and Bob Finley its vice-president, while Duane Murphy is heading the junior class. Alan Reidel lost the treasurership of the class of '52 by two votes but was tapped for "J" Club, junior men's honorary, in the next several days, which made up for the loss. He was also made student member of the President's Committee on the Improvement of Scholarship. These class victories gave us five seats on Student Council.

Other Deltas hold down four of the ten Student Council standing committees—Dick Doran, publicity; James Lochary, all-campus Christmas program; Peter Yenson, intercollegiate bridge; and Jack Miller, Student Union. Lochary was just initiated into Phi Mu Alpha, musical honorary fraternity, and made director of the interfraternity glee club.

WINS LEADERSHIP AWARD

The Frank B. Gullum Award for Chapter Leadership was given Dale Dunn, last year's president, who is now a graduate student on this campus. "Pat" had served as pledgemaster and recording secretary and had high scholarship and well-rounded activities both in and outside of the chapter. We feel that under his leadership and organization, the chapter as a whole made great strides in every field last year.

DELTS SWIM FOR OHIO

Don Anderson and Dave Jones will represent Ohio University and Delta Tau Delta in intercollegiate swimming. Both are free-style artists. Bill Woomer was recently made cadet colonel of the Air Force R.O.T.C. Charles Krauskopf was elected to "Crest," fraternity men's honorary.

Gamma—W. & J.

CHAPTER CELEBRATES 90TH ANNIVERSARY

Almost a century young, on February 24, Gamma Chapter held a reunion and model initiation as part of its celebration for its 90th anniversary. Guests and alumni, some 200 strong, began arriving at the Shelter Saturday afternoon. They found the present representatives of the oldest chapter in continued existence had polished the Shelter until it shone and were waiting for them with a full program for the day.

After a general get-together meeting, the crowd participated in the initiation of several new Gamma Deltas. Following the initiation, everyone adjourned to the George Washington Hotel for an excellent banquet. The principal address of the evening was delivered by Alfred W. Beatty, Allegheny, '22.

The assembled Deltas then moved to the Washington High School Gymnasium to watch the Presidents of Washington and Jefferson shellack the visiting Yellowjackets from Waynesburg.

CONGRATULATIONS, BROTHER BRANDON

To add further to the Delt Youth Movement, Gamma brothers sent their congratulations in November to Brother Washington D. Brandon, Gamma, '68. Mr. Brandon, 103 years young, is cited as the nation's oldest living college alumnus and practicing lawyer.

GAMMA REPRESENTED IN ACTIVITIES

The Gamma Deltas were able to give a good account of themselves to the returning alumni. The Deltas are narrowing a small margin of points held by the Phi Gams, arch rivals, in the competition for the Big Cup, intramural trophy. High scoring by the basketball teams, a near clean sweep in swimming, and determined efforts on the wrestling mats have helped in the drive for supremacy.

Delt scholarship is up from its mediocre level of last year. The number of Deltas on the Dean's List has increased to four, and another semester may see Gamma regain first position in fraternity scholarship.

The chapter is represented in almost every campus activity, from varsity swimming, with John and Bill Inglis, Dave Ray, Stu McCombs, and Don Smith, and varsity basketball, with Norm Sirianni, to the military science honorary, the Pershing Rifles. Ex-president Dick Kelley is the suave director of dances for the Interfraternity Council.

Delta—Michigan

REPRESENTED IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Forging ahead in campus activities, the Deltas have a number of men holding key positions. Doug Cutler and Wally Pearson are working on the Student Legislature. Following in the footsteps of other brothers who have held posts on the Interfraternity Council, John Osmundsen is chairman of IFC Publications Committee.

DRAMA STAR

Senior Jim White has been appointed student director and stage manager of this year's Union Opera. A speech major, Jim has also been cast in the leading role of the speech department's production of "Command Decision." After graduation in June, Jim plans to enter radio or television.

CHAPTER BOASTS MEMBERSHIP IN HONORARIES

In scholastic and campus honoraries, Delta Chapter boasts membership of several brothers. Physics Major Jim Stoddard was recently elected to Tau Beta Pi, and during his first year, Chris Brown made Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary. John Purvis is a Sphinx, junior men's honorary society, while Dick Tinker is a member of Druids, the senior honorary fraternity for men.

SHINE IN VARSITY ATHLETICS

Spring sports at Michigan will see three Delts participating in varsity athletics. Veteran Catcher Pete Palmer will play his last season with the Michigan nine this year. On the golf links, Don Dodds, freshman numeral winner, will be vying for a spot on the varsity squad, while Frank Keck, football numeral winner, will be playing on the freshman golf squad as well as continuing spring football practice.

QUARTET RECEIVES HONORS

and John Osmundsen, has received numerous honors throughout the year. Besides entertaining at social functions, they sang for the "M" Club, and as advertisement for the annual Panhellenic Ball, they serenaded every sorority on campus.

Epsilon—Albion

PARTIES CLOSE SEMESTER

For the 19th time, Delts at Epsilon Chapter celebrated their annual Black and White week-end party as the first semester closed.

With an informal party at the Shelter on Friday, the actives and pledges turned the rooms into a huge "Mardi Gras" complete with balloons and yards of paper ribbon. Some 60 Delts and their dates attended the annual affair. The following day, a snow party was held at a local country club and that evening we attended a dinner dance.

Epsilon Chapter initiated 18 men into the chapter to make one of the largest installations since the last war.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

William Monahan was elected president, to succeed John Ludington. Monahan is first-string quarterback on the Briton's football team. Jim Holmes, cross-country and half-mile runner, was elected vice-president. James Dunne was elected corresponding secretary. Also elected to offices were Noel Yaney as recording secretary, John Porter as treasurer, George Peterson as assistant treasurer, John Bull as guide and Glen Ford as sergeant at arms.

CELEBRATE DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY

The new administration is the 75th in the chapter's history. Plans are now being made to celebrate the chapter's diamond anniversary in May. Plans call for special invitations to be extended to all the alumni who were members of the chapter during the 1800's.

A scholarship trophy has been set up by the active chapter in honor of Charles S. Loud, '00, the house corporation treasurer, who celebrated his 50th anniversary as a Delt last year.

HOLD CHILDREN'S PARTY

Some 35 children from one of the elementary school systems were guests of the chapter before Christmas for the annual children's party. A gift of a pair of mittens was given to each by Santa Claus and then a luncheon was served.

TOPS IN CAMPUS SCHOLARSHIP

For the third consecutive semester, the Delts were awarded the Dean's Cup at Albion College for attaining the highest fraternity average on campus. During last year's spring semester, the Delts amassed a 1.81 average on a 3.00 basis.

Elected to the "Who's Who Among College Students in America" was John Ludington, retiring chapter president.

PROMINENT ALUMNI ATTEND PARTY

Highlighting the winter social program, the annual Christmas formal proved highly successful, as a large gathering of both alumni and active members danced to the music of Bob Patti's orchestra at one of Cleveland's leading hotels. Not stopping there, an alumni Christmas party was held at the Shelter a week later, attended by such distinguished Zeta alumni as Dr. Robert E. Ruedy, who was initiated in 1886, only four years after the chapter was founded; Clare D. Russell, Les Morgan, and Harold C. (Hoppe) Hopkins. The chapter is working for a closer relationship with the alumni chapter and expects to make the Christmas party an annual event along with other "get-togethers" during the course of the school year.

BID TO RETAIN SPORTS TROPHY

With the previous year's University All-Sports Trophy sitting above the fireplace, Zeta is again making a bid to retain the coveted award, but competition has reached a new high on the campus, as other fraternities are going all out to dethrone the champion Delts. The "B" football team will play on a snow-covered gridiron in an effort to capture the University championship for the third straight year.

Bolstered by Pledges Gordon Bower, an all-Ohio selection at Scio High School, and Walt Little of Pittsburgh, the intramural basketball team caught fire after being nosed out by one point in its first game and expects to make a real fight for honors in that sport. Speaking of basketball, the chapter is well represented on the varsity cage team as Dick Everhard and Bill Shew, both juniors, landed first-string berths, while Chuck Wiedman and Tom Lohrey, both pledges, are the mainstays of the Reserve freshman team and should add much to the varsity next year.

FIRST PAPER PUBLISHED

For the first time in its history, Zeta published a chapter paper which was distributed to alumni and other Delta chapters throughout the country. Through the untiring efforts of Hal Sayre and John Portman and the co-operation of the active chapter, another "first" has been added by the present members in their determined attempt to keep Zeta as near the top as possible in fraternity life. With Chapter Adviser David J. Alden's words of praise ringing in our ears, the men of Zeta promise to keep Delta Tau Delta in the requisite position it now holds in their college education, and with the fine co-operation shown by the chapter in our first undertaking of a chapter paper, Zeta does not look to what we can accomplish, but rather how much we can accomplish in the future.

Iota—Michigan State

BREAKS BIG TEN RECORD

When the Spartan swimming squad faced Northwestern on January 6, leading the way for the Spartans was Clarke Scholes, the aquatic ace who last year was crowned N.C.A.A. and N.A.A.U. 100-yard free-style champion. In the opening meet this year, "the Champ," as he is affectionately known around the Shelter, churned to a new Big Ten record in the 50-yard free style event. Other Deltas on the swimming team are: Al Omans, a breast stroker, and Dave Hoffman, free styler, who is being used in the sprints this year.

DELTS LIGHT CHRISTMAS TREE

When President Hannah threw the switch that lighted the 60-foot spruce tree on the campus, it marked the second time that Pi Beta Phi Sorority and Delta Tau Delta have sponsored that event as an all-college function.

After the ceremony the Pi Phis joined the Deltas at the Shelter for coffee and doughnuts. The feature of the evening came when President Hannah dropped in at the house for coffee and doughnuts.

CHAPTER ENTERTAINS BLIND CHILDREN

On the last Saturday before the end of the fall term, Iota Chapter entertained 24 children from the Michigan School for the Blind in Lansing. Stu Fox, '50, did an admirable job in presiding as Santa Claus in passing out gifts to the blind children.

When the children boarded the bus late in the afternoon with echoes of "good-bye and Merry Christmas" to their new-found college friends, it was a reluctant farewell for the Deltas and Tri Deltas, who cosponsored the party, for in a single afternoon these handicapped children had endeared themselves to us.

Kappa—Hillsdale

CHAPTER MOURNS LOSS OF MOTHER FLOWER

With deep sorrow Kappa Chapter of Delta Tau Delta records the death, on Sunday, December 24, 1950, of Mrs. Ida V. Flower, housemother at the Hillsdale Shelter for more than 30 years.

Her broad experience, good judgment, and wise counsel proved most valuable time and time again to the men of Kappa. Her personal charm was interwoven with a quiet strength based upon ability and fineness of feeling for the "sons" who were her very life. Her thoughtfulness and understanding, and the unselfishness which enhanced these attributes, made a fundamental and lasting impression on all those who passed through the ranks of Kappa Chapter.

Respect, love, and admiration for Mother Flower will ever remain in the hearts of all with whom she was brought into contact.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

DELTS POUND HARDWOODS

Mu Deltas are again dominating the Ohio Wesleyan winter sports scene. Senior Dick Rowland holds down a starting forward slot on the varsity basketball team, while Sophomore Stew Peterson is also seeing action at forward. Pledges D. E. Newman and Bill Hensge are on the frosh basketball squad. Bob Drake successfully defended his University 120-pound wrestling crown.

HODGE ELECTED FROSH PRESIDENT

While many of the brothers have been participating in sports, others have been achieving in the field of campus activity. Pledge Darrell Hodge was elected president of the freshman class after a hard-fought campaign, while Dave Hummel has recently been elected vice-president of IFC. Jack Cole and Dave Smith have been initiated into Phi Society, sophomore scholarship honorary; John Wood is a new member of Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary; and Senior Jim Hipkins has been elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national activities honorary. In dramatics, John Yoder is president of Wesleyan Players, and several other Deltas are also members of this organization.

DELTS ARE AIR-MINDED

It is easy to see that the Air Force ROTC has taken a firm hold on the Wesleyan campus, as witnessed by the 29 Deltas enrolled in the program.

Omicron—Iowa

IOWA ALUMNI DAD—A DELT

Omicron Alumnus Dr. Guy L. Horton, of Osage, Iowa, was chosen "S.U.I. Alumni Dad for 1950" during the traditional Dad's Day week-end festivities November 10 through 12. Dr. Horton was honored between halves of the Dad's Day game and again at the Dad's Day dance that evening.

ALUMNI RELATIONS BOOMING

One of the long-range programs under way at Omicron this year is the improvement of alumni relations. Don Rosche, alumni chairman, reports that correspondence with Iowa alums is being well received. Preparations for a big spring alumni banquet are in process and it is hoped that future relations may continue upward.

THE DELTA RHYTHM BOYS

Omicron's "Delta Rhythm Boys," jazz combo and male quartet, recently had the pleasure of performing at the University's Psychopathic Hospital on a Y.W.C.A.-sponsored program. Since musical talent is abundant at Omicron this year, further plans are being made so that this talent may continue to be used on such programs from time to time throughout the year.

"Fantasy in Frost," theme for the Winter Formal, was carried out to good advantage for the chapter's annual winter dinner-dance. The attractive winter-Christmas decorations and table pieces were contributed by the chapter and parents. Among the guests at the party were Mr. Robert Ballantyne of the S.U.I. Office of Student Affairs, and Mrs. Ballantyne, and Ohio Delt Alumnus Elmer P. Lotshaw (now with S.U.I.'s Department of Commerce) and Mrs. Lotshaw.

DELTS STAR IN INTRAMURALS

The Omicron lightweight intramural basketball team has made quite a name for itself on the Iowa campus. To date, the team is undefeated, and under the leadership of Coach Bruce Clark, is hoping to continue the present winning streak.

Plans are currently being made for Omicron's entrance into the annual All-University Sing to be held on Mother's Day Week End. The chapter is looking forward to a successful showing in this important University event.

Rho—Stevens

IN LEAD FOR SPORTS TROPHY

The football championship recently won by Rho Chapter is by far the greatest news of the past few months. Our men were unbeaten in five games and the defensive team was unscored upon as was the entire squad except for a lone touchdown surrendered by the offensive team. Coupled with the points garnered from reaching the softball finals in the spring, Rho Chapter is now in the lead for the Interfraternity Council's Sports Trophy and hopes to win it for the second year in a row.

RHO'S TROEGER TAKES HONORS

Frank Troeger, a two-year man on the Dean's list, has again won honors by being initiated by both Tau Beta Pi, national scholastic fraternity, and Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic society, which honored Frank for his fine work on the Stute, the Stevens weekly news publication.

BASKETBALL QUINTET IS VICTORIOUS

Cheers from all the brothers are extended to lanky Norm Dayton, who, in December, left the ranks of bachelorhood. Norm is also this year's star center on Stevens' basketball quintet which has rolled to five consecutive victories.

Tau—Penn State

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY HELD

An annual affair of this chapter is the entertaining of underprivileged children at Christmastime. This past Christmas the Chi Omegas joined forces with us and showed some 30 children a grand time. The kids came out the Saturday afternoon before the holidays. They were entertained with various party games and given a light lunch before Santa paid them a visit. Bill Corbin, transfer Delt from W. & L., played the part of "the man in red" and did a meritorious job.

THREE DELTS ARE KINGS

Every year the sororities at Penn State hold a Mardi Gras—a charitable function for which each sorority raises money by operating a carnival-type booth. A king is elected by each sorority to preside at the function. Three kings were chosen from Tau Chapter; this proved to be the largest number from any one particular social group. The Tri Delt king was Tom Grifferty, Beecher Watson represented the Gamma Phi Betas, and Phil Ferris was the Chi Omega king.

THREE NAMED TO WHO'S WHO

Several Delts have recently recorded outstanding achievement at State. Bob Freebairn placed fifth in the IC4A cross-country meet and later helped Penn State win the NCAA title. Bill Mathers, varsity guard, started in the Blue-Gray game held at Montgomery, Alabama.

After two years of service, Quint Toews has retired from his job as business manager of Froth—campus humor publication. Bob Johnson has been tapped by Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Gamma Epsilon. Paul Kortwich, February graduate, received honors for his services as president of the college choir and vice-president of the glee club. Bob Busch, Quint Toews, and Paul Kortwich have been named in Who's Who at Penn State.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

PLEDGES TAKE HOLD

Upsilon begins the New Year with the completion of a successful rushing season. Already the pledges are taking up the colors in seeking distinction for their chapter by engaging in many sports and campus activities. The tribute goes to Brother Bill Lillis, our rushing chairman, and the fine co-operation he received from the house.

Sunday, December 3, five new men were initiated into Upsilon. Those receiving the Delt badge were Don Beebe, Dick Bosch, Stan Baltzel, Roger Hard, and Bren Dube.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN A DELT

Brother Dick Holmes is to be congratulated on his election to next year's football captaincy for his rugged play in the center of the line.

With the spring term, many Delts will be returning to action in both lacrosse and baseball.

LIVING ROOM OVERHAULED

Aided by the fine co-operation of the chapter adviser, Joe Flagler, and the house corporation, the brothers are all set to carry out plans for a complete redecoration of the living room. Most of the work should be completed during mid-term vacation and will include a complete painting and papering operation together with the installation of new drapes and furniture.

GOOD SKATING REPORTED

Social activities of the past months were highlighted by Junior Prom Week End. The festivities of the week end included an ice skating party on nearby Frear Park pond, after which the brothers and "sisters" returned to the house for warming refreshments. The week end was concluded with a formal dance on Saturday night.

Phi—W. & L.

DELT PLAYS IN 'GATOR BOWL

Phi Chapter's contribution to Washington and Lee's Southern Conference championship football team is Jack Delahunty. Jack, a sophomore tackle, who has played good football all year, added another feather to his cap by starting against Wyoming in the 'Gator Bowl on New Year's Day. A good-sized group of Delts journeyed to Jacksonville for the game.

Eddie Gaines, son of the University president and a second lieutenant in the Marines, and Bill Rose, also added feathers to their respective caps, although in a different way. They got married: Eddie to Ann Johns, a student at Bryn Mawr, and Bill to Helen Ogden, of Rochester, New York.

SOCIAL PLANS SET

On the social side, the chapter's first house party, last December, was a success. A nine-piece band furnished the music, and everyone attending, including representatives from the other fraternities on the campus, enjoyed himself thoroughly. With exams closing in on us, social doings will remain dormant until the school's Fancy Dress Ball between semesters. Since several Deltas are leaving in February to enlist, this week end promises to be one of the best in years.

SPORT ACTIVITIES

Delts are pushing the leaders in the W. & L. intramural contest, largely due to the successes of the touch football and tennis teams. We now hold third place.

On the varsity side, lacrosse practice will soon be starting, and Brother Dave Bien will captain the Delt-dominated squad. The wrestling team is graced by Morgan Lear and Ned Newbaker. Morgan has already wrestled in his first match this year, which he won by an 8-2 decision in the 175-pound class. Bill Phillips, first-string forward on the freshman basketball team, has been consistently among the high scorers.

Chi—Kenyon

CHAPTER SETS HIGH GOAL FOR YEAR

Chi Chapter has begun the new year with the goal of attaining an even higher standing, both scholastically and athletically, at Kenyon. The scholarship reports for the fall term are not as yet compiled. In athletics, however, we were tops among other fraternities here. We had 19 men playing football, and a good percentage of them received varsity numerals. These men helped spark Kenyon to an undefeated season. We had five men playing soccer and now have four out for basketball. Our intramural football team finished its season with a good record, even though it was unable to retain the championship.

TAKE LEADS IN PLAY

Two of our members, Ray and Caleb Smith, had leading roles in a play, or masque, given in honor of Robert Frost, who was visiting Kenyon for a week end to attend a "Robert Frost Convention." The boys gave excellent performances in the play, "The Masque of Mercy," and received autographed copies of the masque from Mr. Frost.

FACULTY FETED

After we wound up a successful rushing period, during which we took in 12 pledges, all outstanding men, we decided to try to become better acquainted with the faculty. We gave an enjoyable faculty party, finding that we have a fine group of professors at Kenyon.

Best of luck to the other Delt chapters during 1951.

NEW PLEDGES HONORED

After a hectic two-week rushing period at Penn, Omega wound up with 27 outstanding pledges. The time and effort put in by Jim Crothers and his rushing committee, along with the services of all the brothers, proved to be well worth while.

The pledge ceremony was done with its usual impressiveness on the Saturday of the last week of rushing and was followed by a banquet honoring the new pledges. A dance with music by a small combo topped off the evening's successful entertainment.

The pledges are this year under the guidance of Horace "Doc" Whitely, who is pledgemaster. Doc is stressing scholarship with the pledges more than ever, in hopes that Omega can continue its rise in scholastic average.

RIVER CONTEST AWAITED

The week before Christmas vacation proved to be a busy one for Delts. The Tri Delts enjoyed dinner at the Shelter and helped decorate the Christmas tree between sips of hot cocoa. The following evening, Omegas played host to 13 underprivileged boys from a nearby settlement house. To wind up preholiday festivities, a Christmas formal was held on Saturday evening, the Shelter looking much like a Christmas tree itself in way of decorations.

The social committee, under the imaginative direction of Jack Beattie, has a full social calendar planned for the spring season, the big event being Inter-Fraternity Week and its week-end parties. Among the various events planned for the occasion is a crew race on the Schuylkill River. The four boats will be manned by the four different classes within Omega, and rivalry will mount high against the threat of another victory by the senior crew, last year's winners.

SPORTS ACTIVITY REPORTED

A basketball game—brothers vs. pledges—proved disastrous for the pledges, who despite the talents of several of the team, were unable to triumph over the superior skill of the brothers. In interfraternity basketball, Omega won its first game, welcoming several new pledges to the squad, which is being guided by Coach Dave Blaetz, a member of the Penn varsity five. In another interfraternity contest, Delt Jim Jones achieved the runner-up position in the annual wrestling bouts.

Beta Beta—DePauw

ATHLETIC STANDING MAINTAINED

Delts have kept up their standing in athletics, both intramural and intercollegiate. Ward Shawver was a starter and outstanding performer throughout the season at fullback on the DePauw varsity. Two Delt pledges grace the starting line-up of the DePauw freshman basketball team, Jim Kelly, the "Rushville whiz," starting at guard, and Bob Ratzer, at forward.

Intramurally speaking, the Delt speedball team, losing but two games early in the season, finished second in the league race. Tom Christy was unanimous choice for all-intramural end.

The tennis team was headed for great success until Harry Faccini, South American junior singles champion, was declared ineligible due to a misunderstanding in the rush rules.

OFFICERS WIN HONORS

Norval Stephens, president of the house for the past two years, recently competed for the Rhodes Scholarship, while Lee Cooper, chapter vice-president and outstanding free styler on the college swimming team, was elected vice-president of the senior class.

SCHOLARSHIP GETS EMPHASIS

Scholarship has taken the key position around the Shelter this semester, as we are determined to bring up our scholastic rating. So far things are going well; we should end near the top. Our ambition is to obtain a few more men like Tom Driscoll and Jim McClenahan, outstanding scholars in the sophomore class.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

VICTORIOUS IN CAMPUS CARNIVAL

This year Homecoming decorations were designed around the theme "Bucky Badger Downs Boilermakers" as Wisconsin played host to Purdue. Under the chairmanship of Bill McCormick, with technical assistance provided by Engineers Dick Donlon and George Barker, a huge three-dimensional Badger with movable parts was constructed.

Following on the heels of this project, the Deltas plunged into Campus Carnival which is sponsored by the University to raise funds for underprivileged children. A musical show entitled "Nautical Naughties" was the Beta Gamma men's offering, and it walked off with first place. Jim McGinn and Steve Copps were the co-chairmen for this event.

SINGS IN LEADING ROLE

Bob Wartinbee played a leading role in the Wisconsin theatre production of the "Bartered Bride," and Jim McGinn played in the chorus. McGinn is also on the interfraternity rushing committee and Mike Seery is on an I.F. committee, in addition to his post on the Student Social Interests Advisory Committee.

Honorary fraternities include Dick Donlon, Pi Tau Sigma, engineering; Bob Forsberg, Alpha Zeta, agriculture; Bob Wartinbee, Curt Bailey, and Gordon McKay, Scabbard and Blade, military; and Paul Brunkow, secretary of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity.

BOXER SEEKS SECOND LETTER

Ernie Werren is after his second letter with the boxing team, fighting in the 145- and 155-pound classes. Pledge Gordy Johnson served as a varsity cheerleader last fall and is now with the gymnastic squad, while another pledge, Dan Spika, is on the freshman basketball team.

FOUR SKINS CONTRIBUTED

To keep abreast of the highly successful football season at Wisconsin, the Deltas scheduled four after-game parties and radio parties while the squad was on the road. In wagers on the game, the Delt chapters at Illinois, Iowa, Northwestern, and Purdue found themselves owing the Beta Gamma men a skin as a decoration for our pine-panelled recreation room.

Beta Delta—Georgia

PRESENT CAMPUS-WIDE DANCE

Last November 18, Beta Delta presented its first campus-wide Sadie Hawkins Day Dance. Its presentation was the result of nearly a year of thought and planning by Brother J. S. Green. The dance highlighted the Dogpatch atmosphere by having a model farm house, barn, wishing well, and Old Man Moses' Cave.

For nearly three weeks prior to the dance, the brothers and pledges went around the campus sprouting a sizable amount of shrubbery on their faces. We became known as the Dirty Deltas in the campus newspaper's gossip column. Music for dancing was provided by the Ag Hill Ramblers, a local hill-billy band, and a juke box. Most of the people square danced to the Ramblers' music, and we even developed a slight mountain accent. Costumes went from the silly to the ridiculous; the Wolf Gal was there, so was Marryin' Sam, and Lil' Abner, and even Lonesome Polecat.

CHILDREN RECEIVE GIFTS

Just before Christmas, the brothers threw a party at the Shelter for ten underprivileged children provided by the Salvation Army. The kids were given a cap, pistol, shirt, pants, and belt, as well as candy and ice cream.

Beta Epsilon—Emory

BETA EPSILON WINS TROPHY

Beta Epsilon recently won the small fraternity-division trophy for collecting the most money in Atlanta's Empty Stocking Fund drive. This fund was used to provide clothes and presents for underprivileged children at Christmastime.

CHAPTER PLAYS SANTA

Four children from the Decatur Methodist Children's Home were given a Christmas party by Beta Epsilon this year, complete with presents and refreshments. The kids, all four years old, had the run of the house for the evening, and they almost ran the members and dates to distraction—as any healthy four-year-old can.

PLEDGES "SEE THE WORLD"

They call us the "Wandering Deltas" now.

Beta Epsilon pledges were working all the way from Florida to Missouri and points in between. As part of their informal initiation, the pledges made "field trips" the first week end in January to the University of Alabama, Duke University, University of Florida, University of Georgia, University of Kentucky, Tulane, Westminster, University of Missouri, University of Tennessee, and University of the South.

The chapters were sent letters in advance of these visits asking them to put the Emory pledges to work and, from all reports, this request was carried out.

Besides giving the pledges a workout, the trips netted Beta Epsilon some new and valuable ideas. Some of the brothers went along to keep an eye on their boys, and though they haven't admitted it yet, they had a bigger time than the pledges.

BETA EPSILON BITS

Two budding theology students are working hard in campus religious activities. Chapter President Joe Harding is president of the Emory Pre-Ministerial Association, while Brother Clyde Smith is program chairman for that organization. Clyde is also chairman of the Emory Christian Association worship committee which sponsors campus vespers.

Brother Jim Segars is helping hold down the bass section of the "South's Sweetest Singers," the Emory Glee Club.

Brother Wayne Freeman, journalism division junior, was recently appointed copy editor of the school paper, The Emory Wheel.

Brothers Leon McGahee and Bill Lambers are active in this year's Emory wrestling squad.

ENTERS SCHOLASTIC HALL OF FAME

Beta Epsilon's contribution to the immortal scholarship hall of fame is Al Smith, a senior from Jonesboro, Georgia.

Al has served Beta Epsilon well in his two years in the chapter. For the past year he has served as rush chairman, and the fact that we got 22 pledges in last fall's rushing explains the kind of job he has done.

Al is an indispensable part of every chapter social. He leads the singing, calls the square dances, and sweeps out when the party is over.

Beta Epsilon takes its hat off to Al—a good student, a good worker, and a good Delt.

Beta Zeta—Butler

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS PRESENTED

Scholarship medals were awarded to Paul Bevelhimer, who attained the highest grades in the chapter for the previous semester, and to Ruell Parchman, who made the most improvement in scholarship. Both men are to be congratulated for their fine work.

LEADS BULLDOG SCORING

In the basketball spotlight, two Beta Zeta Deltas, Art Fougereousse and Paul Bevelhimer, have become mainstays on Butler's varsity squad. Art, a speedy five-foot-eight-inch guard, has led the Bulldog scoring parade on numerous occasions.

KIDS ENJOY DELT SANTA

On the night of December 20 Deltas had a Christmas party at the Shelter for 15 underprivileged children. The excited little youngsters were starry-eyed when Santa Claus (Brother Vic Tanguy) came bouncing down the stairs with a bag full of toys and candy. After watching television, eating a tasty Christmas meal, and loading up with Santa's gifts, the happy boys and girls were taken back to their homes.

TRIUMPH IN BATTLE OF SEXES

Following the close of a successful basketball season, Beta Zeta's intramural squad is entering play in the volleyball competition. We concluded the season with a respectable record of eight wins and six losses. This was good for fourth place in the final cage standings.

The sorority girls of Butler's campus combined forces recently and challenged the Deltas to a volleyball contest. After a terrific battle of the sexes, the Beta Zeta men conquered their opponents.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

TV TAKES OVER

Since October, a great deal has happened here at Beta Theta. It was amusing to discover that after our new television set had been installed, there were no more loud sounds coming from the game room. Everyone, from the president down to the lowly pledge, was seated around the television set watching Milton Berle or Hopalong Cassidy. Now that we are all accustomed to the newcomer, things are returning to normal.

HARD-WORKING PLEDGE GROUP

We have been very fortunate in having a group of hard-working pledges. Just to mention a few—Jack Stowers is the starting forward on the varsity basketball team, and Jim Rowe is the second team's six-foot-six-and-a-half-inch center; Ed Bell is in the University choir and is on both the newspaper and humor magazine staff; Dick Thomas is active with the debating team and in intramural athletics. The pledges are now working on a booklet which will be sent to all the parents and alumni. It will give the pledges' own ideas about pledge life at Beta Theta.

ENTER ARMED FORCES

The academic year, 1950-1951, has been a trying one for the chapter, as it probably has been for all the chapters in the nation. As much as we are isolated here on "The Mountain," we cannot fail to realize the seriousness of the world situation and to contemplate what the future holds in store for us. As we look around the chapter we see that some men have already enlisted in some branch of the armed forces, and we know that after this year there will be many more who will have been drafted. At the same time we feel sure that those men who do leave the schools and colleges throughout the country, and who have learned, no matter how brief their stay may have been, the true meaning of the Fraternity spirit, a spirit which burned so brightly in the minds of our Fraternity founders many years ago, are well equipped to fight the battles for those high ideals of freedom and for the continuance of the real brotherhood of men in a peaceful world.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

PENFOLD BECOMES CHAPTER ADVISER

Ken Penfold succeeded Perry Bartlett, Boulder's mayor, as chapter adviser. Bartlett resigned this fall after serving eight successful years. Perry, whose duties as mayor of Boulder and clothing store owner forced him to retire, has done a wonderful job since 1942 and deserves our deepest appreciation and thanks.

Penfold is the University's Alumni Relations Director. While in school he was twice president of the active chapter and has been active in Delt affairs since his graduation, serving as traveling secretary for the Fraternity in 1939 and 1940. His program as the new adviser primarily stresses rushing and scholastic improvement. He has alumni working along with the undergraduate chapter, serving in an advisory capacity as heads of rushing, scholarship, and alumni relations committees.

CHAPTER HOST TO 500

Alumni and parents attended buffet lunches before each home football game this fall, as a feature of the Shelter's fall activities. These open house affairs were climaxed with a big buffet dinner held after the Homecoming game. An estimated 500 people were served turkey, ham, roast beef, and all the trimmings. Because of the favorable reception of these buffets, we will be host to similar affairs in future football seasons and all-campus activities.

SCORE CLEAN SWEEP IN HOMECOMING

The Beta Kappa float was awarded the float parade Grand Trophy to highlight the 1950 Homecoming festivities. The colorful float also won the men's Gold Division first prize, which, coupled with the Grand Prize and our victory in the chariot race, completed the clean sweep of all Homecoming awards in the best Homecoming celebration in C.U.'s history.

The float was built under the capable direction of Dick Willis. The theme "CU Knights Return," welcoming back the grads of '25, was cleverly combined with figures representing C.U.'s intended defeat of Oklahoma in the personages of a diminutive Jack of the Beanstalk as Colorado and the Giant representing Oklahoma. Jack stood at the rear of the truck in a triumphant gesture of victory over the slain giant.

A feature of this year's Homecoming celebration was the second running of the chariot race, and for the second year the Delt chariot ran away with the first prize of this top men's field event of Homecoming.

UNDERPRIVILEGED CHILDREN TREATED

A grand Christmas for underprivileged children was furthered by holding a pre-holiday party at the Shelter. Sleds, roller-skates, and many other games and sets were presented by Santa Claus, as well as ice cream, cake, and candy canes. Union-suited Pi Phi reindeer and a muskrat-bedecked Mrs. Santa presented "The Night Before Christmas" and the Beta Kappa Carolers ended the delightful afternoon with a solemn, serene "Silent Night."

HOST TO CONFERENCE

Beta Kappa of Colorado has the great honor of playing host at the Western Division Conference on February 23 and 24. We feel extremely privileged in that this important event of the year will entail our every effort toward accomplishing a most successful conference.

It is our sincere hope that our Shelter, our fraternal friendliness, and our responsibility as hosts will impart a deeper regard and appreciation and love for the universality of our common brotherhood, Delta Tau Delta.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

NEWSBOY WINS HONORABLE MENTION

In the week before the judging of Homecoming displays, the Delts of Lehigh worked feverishly to complete their immense, 26-foot newsboy in order to win once again the bronze interfraternity cup to place upon their mantel.

This wood and paper-mache herald of Lehigh's crushing defeat of its arch rival, Lafayette, wielded a huge facsimile of the New York Times and shouted its glad tidings in a raucous voice understandable for blocks in every direction. The model's right arm, which held the giant newspaper, moved through a 120-degree arc by means of a complicated system of ropes and pulleys running up to a motor on the second-floor porch. The judges agreed that the model newsboy was well constructed and highly original and, on this basis, awarded it honorable mention.

NEW TEAM TAKES OVER

With the last days of 1950 running out, a new team of Delts succeeded to the reins of the Shelter. Earl Harnes was elected president and Art Ferris, vice-president. Other officers elected were Paul Varley, treasurer; Bill Glimm, corresponding secretary; Bob Kradoska, recording secretary; Ed McConnell, assistant treasurer; Frank McConnell, guide; and Bill Jemison, guard.

TRADITION ESTABLISHED

Just prior to these elections, the Deltas held their second annual formal Christmas party. Festivities included a turkey dinner with all the trimmings and a dance from nine to one. From all indications, both Deltas and dates had a wonderful time, so it appears that the party has become a tradition which is here to stay.

INITIATED INTO HONORARIES

In recent weeks, two Deltas were initiated into national honorary fraternities. Earl Harmes, our new president, entered Pi Tau Sigma, honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, and Paul Varley, recently elected treasurer, was initiated into Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary business fraternity.

"ICE CREAM BRAWL" SCORES AS BEST PARTY OF YEAR

There have been many parties of varied description held at this chapter, but it is believed that the "Ice Cream Brawl," as it came to be called, will be remembered longest of them all. The "Ice Cream Brawl" was a Christmas party given by this chapter for the underprivileged children of this area.

It is not certain just who originated the idea. However, enthusiasm mounted to surprising heights as the spirit of the party began to infest the house. A self-appointed, enthusiastic crew of hall bedeckers draped the house with Christmas decorations, the likes of which had not been seen in the house before. Others combed the local toy shops for gifts to make the children's party complete.

Of course there had to be a Santa Claus. By virtue of his build and disposition, Art Swanson was the logical choice for the job. The co-operation of the local police department was obtained; so Art, attired in his Claus costume, arrived at the party in a police car with its siren screaming. Santa's dramatic entrance was an awe-inspiring experience for the children.

The paternal attitude assumed by most of the actives came as the biggest surprise. Hardly a man spent a moment without his lap occupied by one of the happy youngsters.

The gifts, the ice cream, and the holiday atmosphere combined to bring smiles to the faces of all the children. It was evident that they considered the party a success. The fact that it is still being talked about around the house is evidence enough that the "Ice Cream Brawl" was a success from our standpoint as well.

Beta Omicron—Cornell

UNDEFEATED FIVE HEAD FOR TOP HONORS

After relinquishing the intramural basketball crown for a year, the Delt A. C. is heading for top honors again. Thus far undefeated, the basketball team is being spurred on by Ace Burns, who helped win the 1949 title, President Kim von Storch, and Bill Hanson.

The Delt bowling team is likewise doing an outstanding job. With the season half completed, it remains undefeated.

DELTS IN LIMELIGHT

This past term has found Deltas in the limelight all over the campus. Jeff Fleischmann, Vince DiGrande, Jim Casey, and Bob Dilatush fought for the Big Red football team, while Dave Buckley became the newly-elected football manager. Off the campus, Jeff Fleischmann played for the North in the North-South game while Vince DiGrande played for the Blue in the Blue-Gray New Year's Day classic.

In managerial positions are Dan Birchard, freshman manager for the swimming team, and Charlie Robbins, assistant manager of wrestling. Robin Westbrook has been elected associate editor of the Cornellian and Jim Casey was elected a member of the Savage Club, a select group of entertainers on the Hill.

STAGES CHILDREN'S CHRISTMAS PARTY

Just before the Christmas holidays, the chapter staged a party for 20 underprivileged children from Ithaca. With football movies narrated by Vince DiGrande, refreshments, and a Santa with presents for all, the party was a great success. The remaining members of the chapter reassembled the Shelter after the children had left.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

HOLDS ANNUAL ALUMNI SMOKER

The alumni of Beta Pi will see us at close range February 12, when the active chapter here at Northwestern holds its annual alumni smoker. This smoker is one of the more interesting high lights of the winter quarter and the chapter looks forward to this date with great anticipation. Over 400 invitations have been sent out, according to Ken Chalmers, alumni chairman, who hopes to make this year's alumni smoker bigger and better than ever.

NEW TREND INTRODUCED

A new social trend has been started here at Northwestern by the men of Beta Pi. Besides Sunday afternoon tea dances, we are holding week-night desserts with the different sororities. This means that we invite a sorority over for an after-dinner dessert and dancing. Thus far these social events have been very successful and are catching on all over the campus. Mel Connor, the social chairman, is planning a number of parties for this quarter.

PLEDGES TAKE TOP HONORS

The alums, as well as the active chapter, should be very proud of our pledge class. One thing for certain, they are not lacking in talent. At an all-school dance last quarter they won top honors with a skit in competition with all the fraternity pledge classes on the campus. They repeated this feat again at the annual pledge smoker for all fraternities. As their skit, they acted out a "mock pinning ceremony." Incidentally, this is the third time in four years that the Delt pledge classes of Beta Pi have taken first place in this annual pledge smoker.

DELT IS COCAPTAIN OF BASKETBALL TEAM

On the sports scene the Deltas take great pride in Jake Fendley. Jake is the cocaptain of the Northwestern basketball team which seems to be destined to go places this year. Jake's amazing speed and aggressiveness have been vital factors in the Northwestern victories to date.

On the freshman basketball team is Bobby Brown, who seems to be a good prospect for the Northwestern five next year. George Collias is representing the house on the wrestling team. In fall sports, Chuck Petter, Ben Daniel, and Tom McCormick received Major "N" awards in football. These men all saw plenty of action in the Northwestern games. Four freshmen, Mike Skemp, Don Haffner, Ed Demyan, and Bud Israels, won numerals for football.

Beta Rho—Stanford

TWO STAR FOR INDIAN CAGERS

On the athletic scene, two Deltas are stars on the Stanford varsity basketball team this season, while two more are substitutes and a fifth, Gus Chavalas, is an assistant coach. Gus was cocaptain last year.

Jim Ramstead, a 6 foot 5 inch center, is an outstanding cager, having averaged around 15 points in the Indians' first 12 games, of which they have won seven. Included among Jim's single game outputs have been a 22-point blast against Michigan and 20-pointers against San Jose State and UCLA. The "Rammer" has definitely "arrived" and will undoubtedly win many honors before he is through this season and next.

The other Delt first-stringer is blond Bruce Iverson, a 6 foot 2 inch guard, whose driving play and consistent hustle make him indispensable to the Stanford cause. Like Ramstead, Bruce is a junior and will be back again next year, the war permitting.

George Zaninovich and Fritz Fenster, two sophomores, are gaining experience with the varsity which will pay off in following seasons. Zaninovich, especially, is an outstanding prospect.

GETTING SET FOR RUSH

President Joe Pinotti called the entire house out in force to do a thorough house-cleaning job following the Christmas holidays. We are now ready for the rushing season which starts shortly, and Rushing Chairman Bob Wycoff has a full slate of activities lined up.

CLIMB SCHOLASTIC LADDER

Resident Advisor Bobby Newell was pleased to announce that the Stanford Deltas climbed several steps up the fraternity scholastic ladder last quarter and are now in the top third of the school's fraternities. The "brain" of the house, as every one already knew, turned out to be Bob Wycoff, who went straight "A" on his 19 units.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

ENTERTAIN 30 YOUNGSTERS

Thirty youngsters from the Cedars Home for Children were invited to the Shelter December 18 for a Christmas party. The children enjoyed an excellent turkey dinner in our beautifully decorated dining room.

After dinner, numerous skits were given by Deltas and girls from Nebraska sorority houses. These skits included a cancan dance (probably enjoyed more by the brothers than by the children), ukelele trio, humorous readings, and the "William Tell Overture" butchered by "One-string" Mladovich on the violin and "Iron Horse" Pearson on the piano. Candy favors were passed out to the children as they left.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS WIN PRIZE

Nebraska Deltas feel quite proud that their chapter has been the first organized house on the campus to display outdoor Christmas decorations on a large scale.

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce awarded Beta Tau a third-place district prize for the decoration in the form of a cash award. The display was planned by Hank Pedersen, Cal Davis, Jack Loudon, and Harry Haverly.

TWO ALL-UNIVERSITY TROPHIES WON

Beta Tau is making an outstanding showing in the intramural wars this year. The fall season started off with a winning football seven. The team won all but one game in the season play and entered the play-offs as favorites. But the play-offs for the all-fraternity championship trophy were not so easy. The Deltas entered the finals matched against the Phi Deltas. The game ended in a 6-6 tie, but was finally won in an overtime yardage fight by a 7-6 score.

Next up for the gridders was the all-University championship fight. The all-independent champs, the city YMCA team, was pitted against the Purple, White, and Gold. The Deltas came through with flying colors in a 13-6 win.

Next to be placed on the trophy shelf was the league championship in bowling. The Deltas tied with the Phi Gams.

Just before the Christmas holidays the intramural wrestling team took to the mats to come out with enough points to win the all-University wrestling trophy over the Sig Chis, Sigma Nus, and the Phi Gams. Last year the Deltas placed second in the wrestling meet.

Trying to match their unbeaten record of last season and going on to win the intramural basketball trophy this season are the Delt basketballers. Only a few players were lost by graduation and the team is given more strength by the addition of some stellar pledges.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

PLEDGE SCHOLARSHIP TOPS ALL ILLINOIS FRATERNITIES

At the end of the eight weeks, this year's pledge class had the highest scholastic average of the 57 fraternities on the Illinois campus. Not only was the pledge average the highest on the campus, but it was the highest pledge average of any class ever to go through Beta Upsilon Chapter. Four pledges—Jerry Carter, Bob Hamilton, Harry Sinclair, and Bob Lenzini—were invited to a smoker given by Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman honorary.

SMOKER CEMENTS ALUMNI RELATIONS

Approximately 30 Champaign-Urbana alumni turned out for a smoker December 18 at Beta Upsilon Chapter. Ice cream, coffee, and cake were served. Although the smoker was not planned until a few days before December 18, there was a good turnout. Other smokers are going to be held during the semester to cement better relations between the active chapter and the local alums.

NAMED FROSH FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Bob Lenzini, an all-state football player from Waukegan a year ago, was elected honorary captain of the freshman football team at the end of the season. Bill Tate, second-string fullback, won his varsity letter this fall. Bill suffered a leg injury during the season that kept him sidelined for a few weeks, but he recovered and came back to make a fine showing.

PLACE SECOND IN UNIVERSITY TOURNEY

Beta Upsilon's hardwood five copped second place in an all-University recreation tournament composed of both Greeks and independents. Eighty-five teams started the race for the cup which Deltas captured last year. This year's team was undefeated all the way to the championship game, only to lose a heartbreaker to an independent club.

The team, composed of John Leach, John Mongerson, John McMackin, Pete Truran, and Bill Tate, made a good showing and the chapter is justly proud of its performance. Draft allowing, four of these boys will be back next year to put in our bid for the trophy again.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

TWO TROPHIES ADDED

The football team reached the semifinals in the University intramural play-offs, which proved to be a rough and tough struggle of competition. Reviewing the point situation found Beta Phi compiling some 83 points against the opposition's eight, six of which were scored in the final game which ended in a heart-breaking 6-0 decision.

So far our basketball team has lost one game, while our keggers have suffered no set-backs. We have added two new trophies to those already on the mantel, and we hope that they will be joined by others before the year is over.

SHELTER RECEIVES FACE LIFTING

Because of the Korean situation, construction of our new house has been postponed. Our house corporation, under the leadership of Kenyon Campbell, Beta Phi, '24, has decided to put a considerable amount of its assets in the remodeling of our present Shelter. The majority of this work will be done over the summer vacation, but a few major repairs are now under way and should be finished in the near future. The brothers next fall will see a new face on the Shelter here at Ohio State.

ELECTION TIME

Elections in the chapter were held on January 14, with James May becoming the man to lead the chapter this next year. Other officers include: Blaine Loudin, vice-president; Donald Haupt, treasurer; Robert Albaugh, corresponding secretary; Phillip Pond, recording secretary; and James Hogan, assistant treasurer.

Recently James Hogan was elected by the Student Senate of the University as the student representative to the University Athletic Board for a two-year term. Once again Beta Phi is represented in this all-important campus office since David King's graduation in 1949.

SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENT RECOGNIZED

Cash awards for scholastic achievement and improvement on the basis of grades earned in the spring quarter were given to four members of Beta Phi this fall. Winners were Jack Tanner, Blaine Loudin, Richard Roederer, and Charles Copeland. Scholarship Chairman Jack Tanner won top honors with the best marks in the chapter.

The cash awards were donated by Charles W. Flick, Allegheny, '15, a member of the Columbus Alumni Chapter.

Beta Chi—Brown

True to its firm tradition and excellent reputation, Beta Chi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has again been shouldering far more than its share of leadership on the Brown campus. The chapter is on its way to another superb year in sports, social functions, scholastic improvement, and campus leadership.

BETA CHI COVERS SPORTS

Fifteen men held berths on the fall and winter varsity teams, keeping Delta Tau Delta well represented on the football, soccer, wrestling, basketball, and track squads. Ends Joe Bowdring and Jim White and Tackle Pat Soccorro were playing their best for the Brown and White despite a difficult football season.

The soccer team of 1950, which boasted a fine record, was literally controlled by Deltas with Captain Dave Michael, Curt Kruger, Al Bartunek, and Jim Vreeland occupying four of the starting positions. Both Michael and Kruger were chosen on the second-string New England All-Star Team.

In basketball, past President Chuck Whelan is again playing brilliantly. This is Chuck's third season of varsity basketball. Sophomores Bob Pike and Sonny Lutz have also shown much promise under the backboards.

We must honor Dave Michael, not only as captain of the soccer team, but also as one of the finest and steadiest men on the Brown wrestling team. Sophomore Dave Seaver has also shown talent as a grappler for Brown.

Finally, the winter track squad has had its share of Delt representation in the persons of vaulters Al Boyer and Ev Vreeland, and Bruce Ford, low hurdler.

SCHOLARSHIP SPURTS

Academically, Beta Chi, under the relentless effort of Chapter Adviser Bill McSweeney, has vastly improved its comparative standing. The chapter has advanced steadily from a standing of 15th to a present rating of third place among the fraternities at Brown. Our goal, of course, is to be the best.

SOCIAL LIFE HAS MUSICAL COLOR

Social life has received a bit of musical color since the formation of the Delt Quartet, which has now gone on to a position of prominence in the college as well as the house. Our recent cider party saw the christening of the first and finest Delt canopy in the memory of all the brothers. The Christmas formal, which has always been a red-letter day on the social calendar, showed the results of excellent co-operation which made the event a memorable success.

REPRESENTED IN CAMPUS LEADERSHIP

College leadership has been the boast of Deltas Brad Benson, Win Wilbur, and John Schemick who were elected to offices in their respective classes. Benson and past President Whelan have also been repeatedly elected to positions on the college governing body, the Cammarian Club.

Beta Psi—Wabash

NEW OFFICERS SLATED

The Wabash chapter of Delta Tau Delta elected its new slate of officers at the last chapter meeting of the fall semester recently. Don Smith from Indianapolis succeeds Bobby Mace of Canton, Illinois, as president; Mike Gillis will take over Dan Cullinan's duties as vice-president; Ed Goss is the new treasurer, replacing Al Gise; Don Cefali replaces Bill Reinke as corresponding secretary; and Dick Franks succeeds Doyle Pickett at the recording secretary post. No assistant treasurer has as yet been elected. The new officers will assume their duties at the beginning of the spring semester.

ACTIVE IN SPORTS

In the sports world, Dick Neidow is Beta Psi's contribution to the Little Giants' starting five. Dick was high-point man for the netters in the recent Hanover game

After a slow start in the intramural sports race, the Delts have jumped up to a tie for second place in basketball at the time of this writing. Mace, Gillis, Carter, Call, Shirer, Watts, Elvart, and Augsburg complete the roster of the team.

Word has been received that Bill Murphy, senior Delt representative to the Senior Council, who was called into active service last fall, has been wounded in Korea and is on his way home. Ernie Scott recently entered the Air Force. Bobby Mace is planning on entering the same branch of service between semesters.

Beta Omega—California

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

In the last elections held at Beta Omega, Bob Elder was elected president, replacing Jim Hatch, who is being graduated. Jim turned in a splendid job which made possible a successful semester. Bob is a San Francisco boy who hails from across the bay. He is a member of several California honor societies in addition to being a letterman on the Cal rugby team. As junior officers to our new president, Don Neely, Ed Knox, and George Malloch, were elected vice-president, recording secretary, and corresponding secretary respectively.

PARTY PREPARATIONS MADE

Due to the ferocity of the local draft boards, this will be the last semester for a large number of the brothers. Because of this, we want to make this semester an outstanding one in every respect. Preparations are being made for our Beachcomber Dance which is presented every other year. This dance is always the high point of the year for us, as it is the consummation of many weeks of arduous labor. In addition to the Beachcomber, we are planning a number of smaller week-end parties which will add to the hoped for gaiety of the semester.

HOPES FOR SPORTS CHAMPIONSHIP

Our intramural softball team, which has been the undefeated champion for the past two years, is in training for another victorious season. Beta Omega stands a good chance of being the all-University champions in combined sports.

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

CHAPTER'S GRIDDERS CAPTURE SECOND PLACE

which was finally played indoors. With an impressive record of 138 points scored and 19 points scored against them—the last six points a hotly disputed touchdown that cost the championship—the early season underdogs feel as though they certainly outdid themselves.

DELT POLITICIANS SCORE AGAIN

Delt politicians scored again in filling top campus student posts. Of the five positions open for Illinois Tech's annual combined Junior Week and Open House functions, Gamma Beta men were appointed to three of these posts.

Marty Hoeft is now the over-all chairman, Keith Wingate is Junior Week chairman, and Wayne Hamilton was appointed as assistant to the Open House chairman.

Two Delt pledges, together with the backing of their whole pledge class, won offices in the freshman class. Gale Hovey won the vice-presidency and Bud Schutt is social chairman. Running on the "Spirits of '54" ticket, they put on a publicity campaign that stopped at nothing for a vote or a laugh.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Santa Claus visited the Gamma Beta Christmas party held on the "marshmallow evening" of December 9. Songs and ample refreshments added Christmas cheer to an evening of dancing and sociability. A jolly, bewhiskered Saint Nick had a gift in his bag for everyone. A sincere wish by all of us is that we can all be together for as wonderful a party next Christmas.

LATEST FASHION ESTABLISHED

After successfully introducing beanies for pledges on IIT's campus, Gamma Beta's activities have felt a need for compensation for all the publicity enjoyed by the pledge class and are showing their colors in the form of Scotch-plaid tartan vests and natty bow ties. A special order of the eyecatchers having arrived by air mail, Tech's campus will soon blossom forth with the latest fashion for the well-dressed college man.

Five bright Illinois Tech pledges flash their best pledge training smiles for a picture that appeared in several Chicago papers.

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

SANTA CLAUS MAKES FRIENDS

Gamma Gamma's traditional Christmas party was sparked this year by the antics of David Replogle, who played a convincing Santa Claus. Our guests were the first- and second-graders of the Lyme, New Hampshire, grammar school.

After stripping the house of breakables, the brothers tensely awaited their arrival. The sea of screaming children rolled in early in the afternoon on December 15. They lost no time in getting to be pals with Santa Claus and widened their friendships to all the brothers. Games sprang up spontaneously, were broken briefly to gulp down refreshments, then completely ceased in wide-eyed wonderment when Santa appeared with his bag of toys.

It was a diplomatic feat to get the presents distributed to every recipient's satisfaction. Complete satisfaction proved impossible. An open barter transaction in one corner of the room flared suddenly into fistcuffs. It was quelled by the brothers.

Finally it was time for the youngsters' departure. With some difficulty the guests were extricated from their various hiding places about the house and escorted home. A wonderful time had been had by all, both guests and hosts.

PLEDGE BANQUET RANKS WITH BEST

On December 5, after initiation, we held one of our best pledge banquets at the Coolidge Hotel in White River Junction, Vermont. Among the guests were Fran Young, president of the house corporation at Boston; Irving Smith, our chapter adviser; and Ralph Smith, ex-Gamma Gamma Delt, presently attending Harvard Law School. The new brothers, guests, and our master of ceremonies, John North, vied for the entertainment honors, and all deserve praise for their performances.

ELIMINATED FROM RHODES COMPETITION

Richard Barnes of our chapter was chosen as one of the 12 New England candidates for a Rhodes Scholarship. Dick was eliminated in the final considerations, a disappointment for all of us.

INTERFRATERNITY ATHLETICS

Our basketball team is compiling an enviable record in interfraternity competition this season. Captained by Andrew Timmerman and sparked by Forwards John Hintermeister and Deke Davidson, the members have won five of their last six tilts and expect invitation into the championship play-offs.

Perhaps Dartmouth's most publicized sport is ice hockey. Interfraternity competition for the hockey crown is really rugged. Last year Gamma Gamma had the fraternity championship team. We have started work already to try to keep the cup this year. Our squad is still more than dangerous with Veterans Peter Vosburg and Peter Stanley in the front line, a new sophomore performer, Dave Stanley, filling out the first line, and Paul Staley, ex-football captain, making his first try at keeping the nets clear.

CARNIVAL ARTIST

Dartmouth's Winter Carnival is not far off, especially for those who must participate in the elaborate preparation of the campus. One of the event's greatest spectacles is the huge snow sculpturing which is prepared on the middle of the College Green. In this year's competition for possible subjects, Peter Kuhbiel of Gamma Gamma Chapter submitted the winning model—an elf blowing a gigantic Alphorn. Pete has a long job ahead in supervising its construction, but he is pleased that his craftsmanship was accepted.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

DOMINATE SQUASH TEAM

The sparkling Wesleyan squash team glitters with Deltas, and many on campus probably wonder what Chef John Kelly's food has in it that gives our men their ability. Brother Ralph Jones, number two man on the varsity, and Bob Frazer, number four, claim it's native ability, but we know they're both modest. Brothers Bob Wotton, Hal Carney, and Charlie Hoyt all swear it's the high carbohydrate content of the food that does the wonders.

Brothers Dick Grant and Jack Braitmayer were two of the Wes wrestling team's brightest prospects before Brother Braitmayer left for the Air Forces, and now Brother Grant shines alone.

THREE OF LAST FOUR NEWSPAPER EDITORS ARE DELTS

Editor Jack Bussing, of the Wesleyan Argus and treasurer of the Shelter, along with Brothers "Beer" Skillings, Ted Fischer, Dick Fischer, Charlie Hoyt, John Nelson, Bill Roche, and President-elect Don Porter pretty well control the campus paper, as evidenced by the fact that out of the past four editors, three have been Deltas.

Brother Bob Herbert was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa and made an undergraduate assistant in the Art Department along with Sculptor Hal Carney.

WARM INVITATION EXTENDED

We at Gamma Zeta are pleased to be able to announce the election of Brother Don Porter as president for the coming year; Russ Eggers as vice-president; George MacIver as steward; Ted Fischer, our new recording secretary; Charlie Hoyt the future corresponding secretary and RAINBOW correspondent; and Pete Linton as the nemesis of evil, the House Critic. With the election of these new officers, we want to renew our whole-hearted invitation to all Deltas in the vicinity or who happen to be passing through Middletown, Connecticut, to drop in, have some food with us and look around. We're sure you'll enjoy yourself, and we'll enjoy hearing from the outside world.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

PLEDGES SHINE ON CAMPUS

A promising 16-man pledge class, under the capable direction of Brother George Rawnsley, already is making itself well known on campus.

Pledge Fred Warder, one of our most active football backs in intramurals, was recently promoted to the senior board of editors on The Hatchet, official weekly of the University. Pledge Chuck Clark, who is one of our "junior politicians" down on Capitol Hill, is starring along with Brother Roy Schlemmer on the Delt's winning basketball team.

In the scholastic field, Pledge Tom "Einstein" Farley, is struggling with his straight "A" average, while several more follow closely behind him. The successful snack bar, which Pledges Damon Cordum and Gene Sabol have operated the last three months, netted more than $100 profit for the pledge class.

SCHOLASTIC AIDS PUBLISHED

Under the aggressive leadership of Ed Wilson, Gamma Eta's scholarship program continues to be carried through efficiently. The chapter recently voted to present a cup to the member of the pledge class with the highest scholastic standing. The committee has also published and distributed to the pledges a booklet outlining the purposes of the scholarship program of Gamma Eta and of Delta Tau Delta and suggesting methods which may be used by the pledges in getting assistance from the active members.

HONORS FOR INTRAMURAL SPARK PLUG

When judges for the intramural all-University football team selected Roy Schlemmer for the first-string backfield, they picked the man who has consistently contributed a great deal to Gamma Eta participation in sports. Spark plug of the gridders, Roy is also top scorer on the Delt basketball team and takes part in swimming and track. He was recently elected to Gate and Key, joining Mel Brennaman and Connie Hoffman in that honorary leadership group.

SWIMMERS WIN TROPHY

Gamma Eta won first place in the IFC swimming contest and took second in the all-University tank show. Charles Yuill, Ed Wilson, Frank Burford, and Roy Schlemmer were the aquatic specialists.

On the varsity swimming team, we notice Captain Frank Burford, "Weissmuller" Charles Yuill, and Manager John Uehlinger.

KEY POSITIONS HELD BY DELTS

Around the campus, the Delts find themselves in many noteworthy positions. Charles Yuill, as president of the GW Literary Club and reporter for The Hatchet, has been hobnobbing with many of Washington's noted writers and literary critics. Meanwhile, Charles Saxe, president of Delta Phi Epsilon, the professional foreign service fraternity, has been contacting eminent diplomats and speakers to present before the international-minded Delta Phis. Delt John Foltz, as vice-president of DPE, is assisting Brother Saxe with this interesting task. Delt President Conrad Hoffman is business manager of The Cherry Tree, the University yearbook.

SPORTS TRADITION ESTABLISHED FOR DELTA SIGMA AND GAMMA ETA

A "fifth-quarter" touchdown pass into the end zone with less than two minutes to play gave Delta Sigma Chapter of Delta Tau Delta a 6-0 victory in the first annual Henry Lipscomb Trophy game, played December 9 at the University of Maryland.

Gamma Eta sponsored the award in honor of the outstanding contribution made to the Fraternity by Henry Lipscomb, chapter adviser for the GWU Delts. Mr. Lipscomb is a graduate of the University of Missouri and an employee of the Department of Interior in Washington. The trophy will remain in the possession of the winner of an annual Delta Sigma-Gamma Eta football game for the period of one year. Delta Sigma will donate a similar award for an annual postseason basketball game between the two chapters.

Gamma Theta—Baker

SWAMPED WITH HONORS

Baker Delts have swamped the chapter with honors. Members have been active in all campus extracurriculars, from sports to dramatics.

In sports there were eight men from the chapter on the football team and four on the basketball team. Wesley "Buss" Hill was selected on the All Conference second team in football.

In both music and dramatics Gamma Theta is well represented. Seven Delts are members of the choir, while two are in the Baker Quartet. Five Delts had parts in the fall play, "The Traitor." Two Delts—Jack Kendall and James Hendricks—carried leading roles in James Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look." Jon Ely was stage manager of the production and Leon Aufdenberge was director.

FOUR EXCHANGE DINNERS

A full social season has included exchange dinners with all four Baker sororities. The chapter's Christmas formal was held in the Shelter.

OFFICERS ELECTED

New chapter officers recently elected are: Donald Shelby, president; James Parke, vice-president; Thomas McGlumphy, recording secretary; Gene Seright, treasurer; George Schrader, corresponding secretary; Keith Daly, assistant treasurer; and Kenneth Head, sergeant at arms.

Gamma Iota—Texas

SING SONG—FIRST PLACE—1950

And so reads the inscription on the handsome, gold loving cup presented to the Delts at the close of this annual competition for fraternity choruses at the University of Texas. Five professional musicians acting as judges ranked the Delts above all other fraternity entries after hearing their near-professional renditions of "Wunderbar" from the musical show Kiss Me Kate and "Greece Is a Famous Land."

To Director Ted Jackson must go a tremendous amount of credit, for it was he who selected the "Sing Song" numbers, called the practices, and worked with the glee club night after night for over a month and a half in perfecting the selections. But it was the spirit and determination of the songsters as well as the co-operation of the entire chapter that really made the victory possible.

DELT CAGE VICTORIES

Delts continued strong in intramurals with both "A" and "B" basketball teams reaching the semifinals in their respective leagues, neither team having suffered a loss. Brothers Sam Croom, Bill Penn, and Joe Culver were high-point men for the "A" team, while Brother Bev Lloyd paced the "B" team.

Those Delt basketball teams not only played sharp; they looked sharp, too, with their new basketball uniforms. The new uniforms are white, trimmed with purple, and have DELTS in gold script on the front of the jersey and gold numerals on the back.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

OUTSTANDING JOURNALIST

Two years ago a tall, gaunt Navy vet strolled into the office of the weekly Missouri Student and asked for a job. The paper was edited and managed by two Delts, who promptly put the boy on a test assignment. Since catching a by-line on his very first story, Frank Tuttle has caught many honors, and the journalist Delts in that office arranged that aspiring Frank and old Delta Tau should simultaneously catch each other.

In these past two years Frank has pushed himself into the business managership of the Missouri yearbook, Savitar, Kappa Tau Alpha for journalist scholars, and the presidential chair of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity. He is also a member of Campus Publications Associations and the Savitar board. He is former assistant managing editor of Missouri Student. Frank's achievement has been recognized by his selection to Omicron Delta Kappa, upperclassmen's leadership honorary. He was recently named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, becoming the second Delt in two years to enter the coveted files of this publication. Frank, furthermore, is substantially entrenched in the 1950 Dean's Honor List. He will be graduated in June with a B.J. degree, and then will be off to scout for pay dirt.

GAINED HOMECOMING HONORS

Bucking a field of 27 competing fraternities, Gamma Kappa has progressively gained top honors in homecoming decorations, capturing third place in '48, second in '49, and the coveted first prize this year.

The phrase, "We're Out Ta-Bog Down the Jayhawks," very appropriately captioned the decoration. Extending from a third-floor window to the sidewalk was a huge toboggan slide constructed of chicken wire and whitewashed cloth which gave the effect of snow. Poised at the top was a toboggan carrying a tiger dressed in a football suit. As a record barked the story of a toboggan race between the hungry Tiger and the befuddled Jayhawk, the sled left its moorings, knocking down Jayhawks in its path of destruction, and slid through goal posts to victory. (Mizzou, incidentally, whopped Kansas, 20-6.) A touch of realism was added to the scene by a heavy snow on the morning of the game. Much credit goes to homecoming Chairman "Skip" Giebel, who directed construction, and to Bob Jentsch, who was responsible for the art work.

CHAPTER TURNS OUT FOR SPORTS

Over in the sweat sock department, the Delts fielded three teams in the 107-team intramural league. Delt Varsity, Delt Independent, and Delt Dumbbells didn't exactly carve a throne for themselves, but at any rate, 30 boys got some good exercise.

Bob Phillips and Mel Molesky will be out on the diamond this spring for their second year with the varsity baseball club. Bob in the outfield and "Moe" at third base make a combination that's hard to beat.

Bob Fox, a junior who holds two varsity track letters, took a Christmastime tune-up and broke a two-mile mark which had stood since 1940. Fox churned 16 laps around 64 turns in 9:29.7 for a new field house record. He won in a two-mile cross-country dual against Iowa State and followed Fireman Herb Semper of Kansas across the finish for a second in the Big Seven cross-country at Lawrence, Kansas, in 9:25.0. He still has two seasons of outdoor running to better his best time of 9:21.0, and possibly to dethrone the red head from K.U.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

CHAPTER REIGNS IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Last semester the Purdue Delts were again leaders in campus activities.

In athletics, three Delts won recognition. Golfer Dick Kennedy won the all-campus tournament. Dick is also the reigning champ of the city of Indianapolis. He won the amateur golf title there last summer.

Tom Pollom gained a position on the basketball team and has seen action in Purdue's conference games. Ben Sheaffer is again running in the half mile and relay for the track team. Ben won second place in the interfraternity cross-country meet last fall.

On the social side, Albert "Hub" Melin was chairman of the Military Ball committee, and John Tyler was appointed to head the Junior Prom committee.

TWO DELTS LEAD AT PURDUE

Bob Tam was selected for a place in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Bob has been a soloist in the Varsity Glee Club for four years, an officer in Scabbard and Blade, vice-president of this chapter, and a member of the campus honorary for fraternity men.

Bill Wainwright, an honor student in engineering mechanics, was initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalistic honorary. Bill also was the director of a singing group from the house that stole the show in the annual Varsity Varieties. In this student production, the Delts put on a barbershop scene and sang three songs.

In chapter functions, Stan Noesen was social chairman for the Christmas Dance, and Howard "Tommy" Thompson arranged the Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Gamma Mu—Washington

PLAYS IN ALL STAR GAMES

Joe Cloldt, cocaptain of the Washington varsity football team and inspirational award winner, was picked to play in the Shrine East-West football game recently. Later he was chosen for the game played in Hawaii between the College All Stars and the Hawaiian All Stars.

The actives beat the pledges decisively in the annual pledge-active football game. The pledges were later awarded the dubious honor of paying for the after-the-game party.

CHAPTER SCHOLARS RECOGNIZED

Bill Gellerman, campus activity man, was chosen for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honorary. Ray Watts, president of Gamma Mu Chapter, was elected to Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary.

SERENADE WITH PI PHIS

Gamma Mu Delts ended fall quarter with a Christmas serenade with Pi Beta Phi Sorority, caroling to the fraternities and sororities on the Washington campus. After the serenade, a party was held at the Shelter with members of other houses attending. Everyone had a good time dancing to a red-hot combo. It was our first chance to show off the newly remodeled Shelter to the rest of the campus.

CHAPTER LOSES TEN

The house membership dropped off by about ten men over the Christmas vacation, including several who went into the service. Jim Milne, Pete Ballode, and Jim Watson enlisted in the Air Force. Rick Keller and Jack Schwabland expect to be called out any day with their reserve outfits.

Gamma Nu—Maine

FORMER ADVISER HONORED

Bill Schrupf, retiring chapter adviser and member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, was feted at the annual pledge banquet. Later in the evening he was presented a leather traveling bag in recognition of his loyal service to Gamma Nu.

The present chapter adviser, John Grant, has been called back into the service as of February 1, with the Maine Air National Guard. The best wishes of the chapter go with him, and to all Deltas who have to serve their country once more.

CHAPTER POETS RECOGNIZED

Dave Collins and Andy Mezoian had one of their poems published in the annual college anthology, America Sings. Dave was recently elected cochairman of the Embassy Week program. Andy's new Delt song, "Delta Star," has caught on and is liked by all.

Bill Lane was recently initiated into Tau Beta Pi. He is president of the campus chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

YOUNGSTERS GET TURKEY

Gamma Nu's Christmas party at the Shelter was a big success, providing entertainment for 12 underprivileged children. After a succulent turkey dinner, Pledge Vaughn Lacombe, a perfect Santa, came down the chimney with a literal bang.

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

ENROLLMENT PROSPECTS DRAB

As Gamma Omicron rounds the midpoint of its third year on the Syracuse campus, the chapter's enrollment prospects for the future appear rather grim. Of the present 30 actives, 16 will be graduated in June and several more may enter the armed services by the end of the spring term, leaving about eight of the current brothers eligible to return in September. What the exact situation will be is anybody's guess but, in any event, the core of the present chapter—including just about all of the charter members—will be gone when next autumn rolls around.

Critical as the outlook may appear to be, however, there are still several bright spots that give the chapter encouragement. We expect to initiate about 13 pledges in the spring, and judging by their interest in the house, we can expect a lot from them as brothers. In addition, the "junior brothers" are being moved into positions of responsibility to assure the chapter of sound management next year. For example, Sophomore Gordon Bradbury, a Navy veteran, has assumed the treasurer's duties, replacing Jim Mahoney. Bill Cahill and Joe Camarda, both juniors, are making extensive plans for spring and fall rushing sessions to insure a plentiful supply of pledges. Draft-exempt students will be particular targets of the rushing program.

SOCIALS SERVED UP

Although the decreased enrollment has brought about budget cuts, Dave Leone and his social committee continue to serve up events on a par with those of past years. The Christmas formal in the Shelter, with holiday decor by the team of Alderisio and Petrocelli, was typical of the social successes of the year. Also on the social side, serenadings continue at a rapid pace, the year's total including Lee Neil, Bill Spangler, Bill Daily, Alex Peritt, Bob Rush, and Jack Abele.

WHEELS STILL TURNING

Activities-wise the picture finds Bob Talbot sitting on the senior class exec council. . . . Ray Wiencek, chairman of the Chapel Banquet. . . . Jack Lehman, co-chairman of the St. Thomas More Dinner Dance. . . . Bob Petrocelli, chairman of the St. Thomas More Communion Breakfast. . . . Jack Abele, program chairman of IFC Week End.

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

DIRKS DOES DOUBLE DUTY

Probably the busiest man in the chapter last quarter was President Dick Dirks. Dick was elected to guide the chapter in September when our former president, Jim Polivka, was unable to return to school. Dick is also the commanding officer of the Sextant, a professional military honorary, and a member of Scabbard and Blade. In addition, he has maintained consistently a grade point well above a 3.0.

PETE PROMOTES PEP

Pete Meeks had an unusually busy quarter as head cheer leader. As president of the Pep Council, Pete organized and promoted all pep rallies. On more than one occasion 5,000 students gathered together to be led in cheers.

Pete has also been a member of the Student Properties Board, an organization selected to rent to student organizations many different kinds of properties and materials.

TANKER STARTS TRAINING

Ed La Berge, who has been one of the most outstanding sprint artists in Iowa State's swimming history, is again getting in condition for a 12-meet slate. Ed will compete in the sprints in addition to swimming a leg in the Big Seven sprint relay.

Bob Brenton is running the hurdles in indoor track, while Ron Larson looks promising as a wrestler in the 147-pound class.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

SHELTER NEARLY FULL

The new deferred rushing and living plan on the University of Oregon campus presented a serious problem and threat to all campus living organizations, but careful and thorough planning saw the Oregon Deltas through the difficult period in fine condition, with the Shelter nearly full. Under the plan, freshmen were not to be pledged until the winter term and must live in school dormitories for a year. Because of difficulties, however, fraternities were allowed to pledge freshmen during the middle of the term, which presented quite a problem, and the Deltas came up with a good crop of pledges, although they can't move in the house until fall, '51. The start of the winter term saw an even fuller Delt Shelter, while many other fraternities were in serious shape.

TYPEWRITER WINS PRIZE

After placing first in the University's annual homecoming sign contest in 1949, and having placed second the two previous years, Gamma Rho again dropped to second in what the judges termed a "hard decision to make." The sign, built around the homecoming theme of "Union and Re-union," which represents both homecoming and the dedication of the new $2,500,000 Student Union building, was a huge blue typewriter with silver trimming. A debonair Oregon Duck, imitation type, waddled on the keys, and as they sprang forth and the carriage moved, "Welcome Alums" was spelled out.

The typewriter was 20 feet square and it had an imitation of the Student Union's letterhead stationery sticking out of its carriage. A picture of the new SU was on the huge stationery. The typewriter was mechanically operated until the motor broke down, and then a new mechanism, pledge power, was substituted. Beautiful lighting effects were produced by Howard (Boomer) Davis, who worked out the wiring problems. Bill Wilmot designed the sign.

JAZZ DANCE RECEIVES AWARD

Gamma Rho's fall term house dance was a brilliant success, with hundreds of jazz enthusiasts flooding through the Shelter during the night to dance to the fine music of the Pacific Coast's famous "Webfoot Jazz Band." The Delt dance received the "Daily E," an award of honor, in the Oregon Daily Emerald, the school publication.

LOOK OUT, ARTHUR GODFREY

Oregon Deltas are giving Arthur Godfrey a run for his money. Fred (Ukelele) Schneider teamed up with two other Gamma Rho Deltas, Paul Barrell and George Guldager, fall term to form an impressive trio, known to their brothers as the "Agony Three." They quickly became famous on campus, appearing at many school and town events, and thrilling many a girl with their midnight serenades. In one instance, girls at one of the halls kidnapped Soda, one of our dogs, and demanded a serenade for his return.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

MCKINLEY AND DOUGLAS—ACTIVITY MEN

On Pitt campus this fall, Deltas are again active. Prexy Bill McKinley, having been chosen most popular sophomore and initiated to Druids last spring, started this semester by joining several of his brothers in O.D.K. One of our most active O.D.K. members, Ralph Douglas, will be graduated this fall and expects to return to the Navy.

In the past four years Ralph has contributed much to Pitt activities. He has served as advertising, circulation, publicity, and business managers of the Panther, our school magazine; business manager for the 1950-51 I.F. handbook, and for the Spring Festival Main Ball, 1950. He served on the circulation staff of the Owl, was head counselor of the business administration freshman camp, and is a member of Druids, Pi Delta Epsilon (national journalism fraternity), Y.M.C.A., and the Pitt publications board.

FIRST PLACE ON GRIDIRON

Gamma Sigma had an undefeated season on the gridiron, taking a first-place I.F. trophy. Members of the team were all awarded keys from I.F. The all-campus game in the Storm Bowl was lost in the last 1¼ minutes to Psi Omega, dental fraternity.

ENJOY VISITING ORPHANS

We celebrated our snowbound vacations by having our customary Thanksgiving Day service and sing at Trinity Cathedral. For Christmas, we held a party for 25 orphans between three and four years of age. Leo Kairys played Santa Claus, and it was difficult to tell who was having the most fun—the kids or the Deltas.

EXCHANGE FOOTBALL FOR MARINES

Pitt's football team suffered the loss of two Deltas early this fall: Paul Chess and Neil Huffman, both of whom are now playing for the Marines. Chess is in San Diego and Huffman in Parris Island.

Brother Swede Malmberg has been seeing some action on Pitt's basketball team this semester. Walt Beanconi was elected president of A.E.D. honorary medical fraternity. Past President and Alumnus Ira Houck has received orders to join his outfit in Korea as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. Jim Anderson—a second lieutenant in R.O.T.C.—expects to be called in March. He is the treasurer of the chapter.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

INTRAMURAL GRIDDERS UNDEFEATED

Gamma Upsilon's intramural touch football team swept through a successful season undefeated and unscored upon to win the University championship from a field of 17 fraternities.

The spirit generated by the chapter was much in evidence on the intramural fields. Arriving for a game, the team was supported by a marching band of eight members and two lovely cheerleaders, one standing 6' 4" and the other 5' 3".

OUTSTANDING HOOPSTERS SPARK PLAY

Bob McPhee, voted the most outstanding player of Miami's 1949-50 basketball season, has been sparkplugging the varsity five in some 12 games thus far this season. The only other Delt hoopster is Pledge Rudy Lane, who is breaking in from the freshman team of last year to make a place for himself on the varsity.

CHEERS DIRECTED BY DELTS

Miami Deltas are well represented on the gridiron and on the basketball court not only by many athletes but also by the usual Delt domination of the cheer-leading squad.

The squad is headed by Captain Chuck Shawver; other members are Jack Quinn and his "pin-plant," Kathy Hill. Their organization this year put into operation the first successful flash-card cheering section to be employed at Miami. Much of the planning and work necessary to put this section into working order was done by these people.

THUGS PLAN UNIQUE SHELTER PARTY

One of the campus' brightest and most unusual parties this year was the "Prohibition Daze" party, which saw the Shelter converted into a speakeasy. Flappers, the Charleston, raccoon coats, and "bath tub gin" were the keynote of the evening.

Perhaps the most exciting aspect of the party was the manner in which the invitations were delivered—by five thugs in a roaring '33 Buick.

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

CHAPTER BUILDS CONCRETE TERRACE

While the war threat and depleted college enrollments have curtailed activities in many college fraternities, Gamma Psi at Georgia Tech has taken the situation well in hand and is progressing steadily.

Atlanta has a hot climate, and although the chapter dining room doubles nicely as a banquet hall, and the game room and lounge take care of parties nicely, it was decided that an outdoor dance terrace was needed for those balmy summer nights when dancing is perfect outside but might be a little uncomfortable inside.

The chapter quickly rallied behind George "Bear" Newton, its outstanding architectural student, and in short order one of the three terraces that slope gracefully down from the rear of the Shelter was made ready and a smooth concrete terrace was soon completed.

The terrace is graced by a retaining wall, equipped with indirect multicolored lighting. The present plans include a raised dais for a bandstand and a brick terrace that can accommodate tables for meals, leaving the entire floor of the main terrace for dancing.

RUSH PARTIES PAY DIVIDENDS

Rush parties, which were varied and colorful this year, included a combined hayride and square dance, a French Cafe Party, a Roaring Twenties Party, and a Circus Party.

The effort paid big dividends. It was reported that Delta Tau Delta had the highest percentage of accepted bids of any fraternity on the campus.

With so much fraternity activity it would seem probable that few Deltas would have time for outside commitments at Georgia Tech. This is far from true, however, and besides the two members mentioned for outstanding achievements in this issue of THE RAINBOW, we have John Bell, the associate editor of the Technique (biweekly publication); Blount Boswell, in his junior year, managing editor of the Blue Print; Tommy Varnson, president of the Glee Club which recently completed a 7,500-mile concert tour.

OUTSTANDING DELT—HERB BRADSHAW

Gamma Psi Chapter at Georgia Tech is especially fortunate to have Herb Bradshaw as its president. During his term of office the chapter house and grounds have been improved considerably. A successful rush season caused the membership of the chapter to stay at the desired level. The financial status of the chapter is even better than it has been in an outstanding past, and the chapter has gained recognition in every field of endeavor.

Around the Shelter he steals time from his studies and immense list of activities to participate in all the intramural sports and recently has begun building a model train that many less ambitious fellows with much less to do would shy away from.

Aside from leading Gamma Psi Chapter, Herbert's activities include membership and official capacity in many organizations and honoraries on the campus.

In recognition of his great leadership and academic ability, Herb was recently elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

ALSO OUTSTANDING—BOB GRIFFITH

Gamma Psi has many outstanding leaders on the campus this year, and one that we are most proud of is Bob Griffith, president of the Interfraternity Council.

Under his leadership the Interfraternity Council is now writing a new constitution. For the first time in years, the council was awakened to its supervisory responsibilities and a violation of rushing rules was prosecuted in accordance with the law. The Council has planned and carried out a number of social functions for the fraternity world and has assisted the school in every major charitable and civic campaign.

Aside from leading the fraternity world at Tech, Bob is active in the Bulldog Club, Ramblin Reck Club, President's Club, Phi Psi Textile Fraternity, N.R.O.T.C., Crusade for Freedom Committee, and the Alexander Memorial Committee. And last but not least Bob has served as Gamma Psi's treasurer for the past year.

In recognition of his great leadership and academic ability Bob was recently elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Delta Alpha—Oklahoma

CONGRATULATIONS TO C. D.

C. D. Blanks, our chapter president for the past year, has recently been awarded the highest honor a fraternity man can receive. In an election held before the Christmas holidays, C. D. was elected president of the Interfraternity Council. C. D. had been an active member of the Council for the last two years and served as secretary during the past year. Brother Tom Graves has been appointed to the position of executive secretary of the Council. The best wishes of the chapter for a successful year go with C. D. on his new undertaking.

DEFEND WRESTLING TITLE

This year's intramural wrestling tournament found Delta Alpha successfully defending the title we won last year. Three of last year's four individual champions again emerged victorious. Dick Teubner (130), Bud Cole (157), Harry Holt (167), and Frank Boucher (177) won individual honors. Teubner and Cole successfully defended the crowns they won last year, while Boucher moved up a weight in winning his second straight title. Holt, last year's runner-up to Cole, came into his own this year for a fourth championship. Don Anderson (130) and Bob Acers (147) won third-place medals.

TWO READY FOR BASEBALL

Spring means the return of the baseball season. Delta Alpha will have two of its members among the lettermen who make up the nucleus of this year's nine. Roger Wich is expected to open at shortstop for the Sooners, while Leon Sandel is slated to see lots of mound action.

ACE CAMERAMAN RECOGNIZED

John Stewart, our ace cameraman, gained additional recognition during the winter. John was named the "outstanding photographer of the year" by the University last spring and had his pictures displayed during the fall of this year. This winter found him receiving notification of three awards in a nation-wide contest sponsored by Popular Photography magazine. One of his pictures was given a full-page spread in a recent issue.

HOUSE BRIEFS

Nute Whatley, chapter authority on military affairs, is a colonel in the AFOTC Cadet Corps. Whatley and Dick Haag are recent initiates to Scabbard and Blade. Bob Thomas is a new member of Tau Beta Pi. Pledge Tom Adair joined the Air Force over the Christmas holidays. Dale Grubb was awarded the Alpha Delta Sigma key for the outstanding member during the first semester.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

DELTS CAPTURE HONORS

At the Carnegie Day ceremonies this fall the following Deltas were called to engineering and scholastic honoraries on campus: George Pyle, Tau Beta Pi; Dick Holl and George Pyle, Omicron Delta Kappa; Al Moon and Sam Forter, Pi Tau Sigma; and Tom Birch, Eta Kappa Nu. Besides the Greek letter honoraries, Delta Beta has men active in publications, Student Council, Council of Fraternity Presidents, Claymore Clan, Court of Justice, Spring Carnival Committee, and Scimitar.

In intramural sports, Deltas captured the league championship in football and volleyball. These are the only sports completed so far this year. Our men expect to retain first place among the fraternities in the campus all-points competition which they captured last year.

HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

In conjunction with the local chapter of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, the chapter held a Christmas party for the children of a Pittsburgh orphanage the week before vacation. Games and refreshments were provided for the kiddies and the chapter Santa Claus distributed gifts to all. John Ragin held the interest of the children with his delightful presentation of Dickens' "The Christmas Carol."

Directed by Bob Wendler, an eight-man Delta Beta team was runner-up at the annual Dean Moor Delt Sing, held at the Trinity Cathedral in downtown Pittsburgh. Other chapters from the Western Pennsylvania district were represented by teams.

BASEMENT REVAMPED

This year the chapter is working on finishing the remaining part of the basement. The work consists of building a ceiling and panelling. Already a 22-foot shuffleboard table has been purchased and installed in the new room and has proved to be a popular form of entertainment.

SING FOR UNIVERSITY SERVICE

The year has been a good one so far, with better things to come. The men for the choir at the University Christmas program were chosen from the Delt chapter. We are starting to make plans for the Interfraternity Sing next Mother's Day. With Gordy Wold in charge, we'll try to bring the big trophy back to the Shelter for the second straight year.

THREE STARTERS ON CAGE TEAM

The basketball team has three Delts, led by starting Forward Dale Roberts. Reserves are Larry Johnson and Duane Brunick. Johnny Diefendorf, all-time University and conference great, is now a second lieutenant in the army, stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

With the intramural season of basketball just starting, the prospect of a Delt victory looks good. Other Delts are also participating in the tourney. The pledges have formed a team, and those actives not making the house team have formed another.

REGARD STRONG CHAPTER IMPERATIVE

Looking forward to the future, we here at Delta Gamma have realized that we need to exert ourselves a little more in order that we can maintain a good chapter during this time of uncertainty. We hope that all together we can make Delta Tau Delta a good example of strong thinking during a time when war hysteria may grip others.

Delta Delta—Tennessee

TEXAS MIGRATION

Half the members of Delta Delta migrated to Texas late in December when Tennessee was invited to appear in the Cotton Bowl against the Texas Longhorns. Reports indicate the New Year was glorious in Dallas, and the spectacle on the gridiron January 1 strengthened the brothers' pride in their Tennessee national champion football team.

Blocking Back Gil Kyger, a member of Delta Delta, was instrumental in the victory, his vicious blocking ripping the Longhorn secondary to shreds. Congratulations, Gil. He'll be back next year.

UNCLE SAM CALLS 15

The chapter has been seriously depleted with the answer to the call of the colors by about 15 members. Gone are H. E. Simpson, Tom Guthrie, Martin Wagner, James Evans, Jerry Miller, Rudy Michel, Don Webster, Russell Brown, Bill Lawhon, George Henderson, and several pledges.

FOURTH ESTATE CONTINUES

The chapter still controls the school's newspaper, the Orange and White. Positions held include editor-in-chief, Robert E. Lee; business manager, H. H. Hancock; and news editor, Tom Woodard.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

CHAPTER MIGRATES TO NEW ORLEANS

Kentucky Delts of Delta Epsilon entered New Orleans for the Sugar Bowl game 28 strong. It was there that Southern hospitality at its best was extended, for Beta Xi of Tulane University opened its chapter house to us for as long as we stayed. Not only this, but they entertained us with a great New Year's Eve party.

When the Kentucky Wildcats turned out to be victorious in the Bowl game, it recalled to us the great Delt team that we had last fall. In intramural football we went to the finals and became the runners-up in the fraternity division.

OPEN HOUSE HELD FOR JAMES MELTON

When Brother James Melton appeared in Lexington for a concert, we held an open house in his honor, which 300 guests attended. He sang a number of songs and the group was greatly impressed by his showmanship, magnetic personality, and his masterful handling of the great variety of songs that he sang. The next evening at the concert he did not let his audience forget that he is a Delt. He mentioned it a couple of times, and he even showed his pin to prove it.

VICTORIOUS IN MUSIC CONTEST

Some of Brother Melton's music ability must have stayed with us, for a few weeks later our quartet won the Barber Shop Quartet Contest from eight competing fraternity and independent groups. The members of the quartet—Jim Fothergill, Bill Don Grote, Fred Miller, and George Creedle—deserve a lot of credit for the great job they did.

With this victory we entered into the Christmas season, during which we entertained a group of underprivileged children with our annual Christmas party which was planned by Paul Holleman. Then, the last night before the holidays, we celebrated with a Christmas dance. This was the first time in a number of years that the dance has not been held at the Shelter, but the Officers' Club at Avon Signal Depot proved to be an excellent spot for it.

Delta Zeta—Florida

MIDDLETON AIMS FOR GRAND SLAM

Intramurally Florida Delts are having one of their best years and along with it Brother Boney Middleton is aiming at the first personal "grand slam" in the school's history.

As a chapter, Delta Tau Delta has been no lower than third in sports all year, constantly shifting between first, second, and third as the different sports progress.

Much of the success of the intramural program this year can be attributed to Middleton, who has kept the chapter aware of the importance of intramurals on this campus.

Middleton, in shooting for his own personal "grand slam," is attempting to pilot home the winning fraternity-league team this year after finishing on top in the dormitory loop in 1949, and in the independent league in 1950. The accomplishment is unprecedented in University of Florida sports annals, and Middleton has a good chance to do it.

DELTS ARE SPRING SPORTS POWER

Delts are a perennial spring sports power. Volleyball, water basketball, and softball constitute the major spring sports, and in these the chapter has always managed to hold its own.

"The Softball Kings" is just one of the many names used on the campus to illustrate the complete dominance the chapter has in the sport. Two consecutive championships, behind the pitching of Brothers Harold Bert and Tommy Taylor, and three titles in four years have built up this record.

The water basketball exploits of Brothers Jerry Crockett and Henry Hanson are legendary despite losing in the finals for the last two years. Crockett and several other members of last year's team are back as a nucleus for the volleyball team.

With a little luck plus the continued hard work of the entire chapter, this could be the year for Delta Zeta in intramurals.

Delta Eta—Alabama

FIRST CHRISTMAS PARTY PUBLICIZED

Our first annual Christmas party for underprivileged children was a success and brought much publicity throughout the state.

At the party, which Delta Eta originated on campus, 16 local children supplied by the Salvation Army were given a clothing outfit, candy, nuts and fruit, toys, and a skit by all the Delts.

CHAPTER MAKES ATHLETIC RECOVERY

In a remarkable athletic recovery from last year's record, Delta Eta scared every one of the 26 fraternity football teams with one of the toughest teams in the league. After holding their opponents to nine points all season long, the Delts finished third in the league.

We are in the semifinals in tennis, horseshoes, and golf. Our basketball team has lost only once, and we are the strongest contender at present for the intramural all-points cup.

MR. MURPHY—PRIZE-WINNING MASCOT

Sixty pounds of pure beef—that's Mr. Murphy, prize-winning bulldog mascot of Delta Eta.

When the brother of a local Delt found it impossible to find a place to keep Mr. Murphy, we promptly offered to take the "orphan" and give him a home.

Murphy, being about the size of a prehistoric horse, makes a beautiful contrast with his well-built body and his ugly, oh so ugly, face.

Pledge Bob Weaver, who is the brother of the original owner, does most of the caretaking, but a few of the boys did pool their labor to produce him a one-story dog house.

Honors—Murphy has them. Being less than three years old, he took his share of ribbons before "retiring" to mascot the Delts at Alabama.

Delta Theta—Toronto

ALUMNI TREK TO HOMECOMING

Homecoming week end here in Toronto has become synonymous with the end of the intercollegiate football season and the annual trek of alumni to the home of their Alma Mater to renew old acquaintances, develop new ones among the undergraduates, and to join with these undergraduates in the festivities which are planned for the occasion.

This year, the Toronto Delts', Brothers', and Wives' Club planned a tea to welcome Delt alumni visiting the city for this fast-growing tradition and to provide a warm and friendly atmosphere where all Delts, both alumni and active members, could congregate and meet one another. All those who attended will agree that this well-planned tea was more than just a success.

MANY PARTIES HELD

The biggest event of the fall term is our "Hard Times" party. Commercialism was ignored this year in favor of highly original homemade costumes. To further the theme, the active members of the chapter produced two "murals" for use as wall decorations. They were rendered with pastel colors on cotton sheeting and the subject matter consisted of some of the most popular hill characters in their various garbs, supplemented by appropriate backgrounds. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes in evidence and the Delts of Delta Theta have another night to recall.

As in previous years, our chapter held its Christmas party before the end of the fall term. Preceded by our own dinner and party was a dinner and "tree" for some underprivileged children from one of Toronto's centers for such children. Brother John Rickaby played the part of Santa Claus this year.

The Initiation Dinner is yet in the offing and plans have been finalized to hold our Spring Formal on February 9 at the Guild Inn, 12 miles east of Toronto.

ACHIEVEMENT IN SCHOLARSHIP

Scholastically, Brother J. C. Graham has won a scholarship sponsored by the Kennecott Copper Mines.

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

PREXY HOFFMAN SELECTED FOR BLUE KEY

Phil Hoffman, president, was recently initiated into Blue Key, national honor fraternity. Phil, who has participated in numerous activities throughout his three years at Oregon State, well deserves the honors.

Soon after his initiation, he was selected by the O.S.C. Blue Key chapter to represent it at the national convention held in San Antonio during Christmas vacation.

TWO PLEDGES AWARDED ROOK NUMERALS

Dave Schmidt, from Beverly Hills, California, gained his numeral for playing football. Dave was a standout at defensive tackle and is a real contender for that position on next year's varsity.

Another Rook, Ed Hageman, from Sonora, California, was awarded his freshman numeral for basketball. Ed is a big boy, standing 6 feet, 5 inches.

FUND STARTED

A building fund was started by Delta Lambda so that a new house can be started in the near future. A charge of $2.50 per month, per person, was agreed upon and is working out satisfactorily.

ALL FRATERNITIES INVITED

For the pledge dance, an old system was revived in which invitations were sent to all fraternities on the campus inviting any or all of their members to attend. This system had been in practice by many of the fraternities in the past but was discontinued during the war. It was a successful dance and should help to tie the fraternities more closely together.

Delta Mu—Idaho

Guiding the house through a very successful year were Bob Webb, president; Darwin Cogswell, vice-president; Jack Peterson, corresponding secretary; Dick Prater, recording secretary; and "Bus" Francis, chapter guardian.

CAPTURE SCHOLARSHIP CUP

The new year started off with a bang by this chapter's winning the University Scholarship Cup for the fall semester of 1949. Concerning the social picture, the Russian Ball, Spring Formal, and Lake Chetcolet picnic were huge successes. At the end of the winter semester the chapter again won the Interfraternity Scholarship Cup, plus the intramural golf trophy.

HEADS INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Outstanding achievements made by men in the chapter concerned Darwin Cogswell, who served as president of the Interfraternity Council, and Pat Duffy, elected as sophomore class president. Bud Owens was tapped for "Hell Divers," while Ken West and Jim Roupe were section editors of the annual, Gem.

With these events in the past, anxious eyes are now turned toward the newly elected officers. Bryan Lawrence will be president; Elmer Peterson, vice-president; Jim Roupe, corresponding secretary; and Bob Rawlings, recording secretary.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

SCHOLASTIC GOAL ADDED

New efforts to attain campus leadership in scholastic as well as athletic, social, and student governmental fields have been made by members of Delta Nu since September. Contests involving free dinners, trophies, and grade charts were used as incentives to greater scholastic achievements. Socially the chapter held a successful pledge formal, record parties, and a Christmas party for 12 underprivileged children of Appleton.

years. To this were added championships in badminton and volleyball, plus a perfect basketball record at this writing, as some of the necessary ingredients needed to retain a hold on the Interfraternity Athletic Supremacy Cup for a second straight year.

PIANIST IS GUEST ARTIST

In the field of music, Charles Crowder made his professional debut as a pianist after 13 years of study. Appearing as guest artist with the Springfield (Illinois) Symphony Orchestra October 31, Chuck played Rachmaninoff's "Second Concerto." He is a junior in the Lawrence conservatory of music and soloist with the college a cappella choir, with which ten other Deltas are associated.

ORGANIZES NEW ASSOCIATION

Student Body President Dick Bickle served as chairman for the Midwest Conference of Liberal Arts Students at a meeting here in December. This newly formed group, which Dick helped organize, is comprised of representatives of eight other Midwest Conference schools who meet twice per year to discuss common campus problems and exchange ideas.

Two transfers, Bob Zimmerman, Gamma Omicron (Syracuse), and Bob Moore, Chi (Kenyon), have distinguished themselves in athletics. Zimmerman jumped to the top spot among freshman cross-country runners immediately after his arrival, and Moore readily nailed down a slot on the freshman basketball team.

Other actives on varsity squads are Swimmers Ray Carlson, Jim Prims, and Jack Hoag. Ken Lutz is with the wrestling team and Bob Hill continues competing in cross-country and winter indoor track. Earl Glosser devotes his time to the varsity basketball team, while Harry Patterson, former Minnesota high school ski champ, is organizing a college ski team for intercollegiate competition to supplement his regular ski club activities.

Kelt Packard served as stage manager for the college theater's major fall production in November, and Dick Luthin, student body treasurer and chapter treasurer, was recently elected to Mace, men's honorary society for leadership and scholastic achievement. He joins Dick Bickle in this organization. Bob Wilson is currently preparing for the campus Easter dance as college social chairman with several chapter members aiding him, and O. K. Johnson and Dave Pierce have served on the student pep committee.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

INTRAMURAL PROSPECTS ANALYZED

The intramural basketball team is still in the stage of fundamentals while patiently awaiting the opening of the season. This Delt team promises to be the toughest in many a moon because of a height average of 6 feet 2 inches and a scrappy spirit, even though our stellar center, Bob Waller, is headed for active duty with the national guard.

The intramural hockey team also had high morale and high hopes which were quickly dashed with the loss of Goalie Bob Darling to the Air Force and Center Bob Waller.

Bowling, however, is where we shine—and again the loss of Bob Waller is a big blow. With substitutes three deep, the team is now in first place after a slow start and a climb halfway through the standings. With a month and a half to go, it looks as if the lead will be increased, and Captain Harold Stewart has been juggling trophies to make room for the new addition.

GRADS TURN OUT FOR KRIS KRINGLE

The old grads turned out to make this year's Kris Kringle formal a smashing success. Forty couples showed up for the affair held on December 16 and merrily wished each and all a choice vacation. A small informal dance was held in the house the night before Christmas vacation officially started.

ANTICIPATE HOCKEY VICTORY

Sighted in the crystal ball is another trophy to match the one won last year for the outstanding snow sculpture of the winter carnival. The chapter has made plans to annex this year's trophy with the help of last year's experience and figures to do it hands down.

Crowning of the Snow Queen will be an attraction during the two-game series with the U. of Minnesota hockey team—and since we have one of the best teams in the country, any visiting Beta Eta's may return home a little blue. However, we'll do our best to provide dates and a whopping good time for all expected and unexpected visitors.

Delta Omicron—Westminster

DELTS RECEIVE TROPHIES IN INTRAMURALS

Delta Omicron has seen a very successful first semester. Starting off the year with softball, the Delts shone with their brilliant team against the much favored Sigma Chi team for first place.

The tennis team, headed by Bill McCue and Marion Mitchell, again proved the Delts' strength by ending the season with a perfect 9-0 record. This tennis trophy is the first award of its kind Delta Omicron has won.

When Dad's Day rolled around, a track meet was on the schedule. The Delts' well-rehearsed team again proved to be tops by edging the championship Beta team of last year.

NEW MEN ELECTED TO OFFICE

VIKING SHIP WINS PRIZE

This semester was marked by many high lights such as the annual homecoming. The main high light of homecoming was the parade of floats in which our house won second prize. Our float was an ingeniously designed Viking ship set upon a field of Irish shamrocks. The float was designed by Al Schinnerer and Jerry Hasack. They were able to make the Viking ship sway back and forth by means of a motor which they installed underneath the float.

Everyone in the house worked hard for the success of the homecoming, which the results proved.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

Elections were held recently and the following officers were elected: president, Al Schinnerer; vice-president, Ted Johnstone.

This semester we will lose one of the chapter's greatest presidents, Larry O'Neil, who is being graduated. We will miss Larry and the rest of the graduating seniors.

HONORED BY RED CROSS

Our house was recently given a plaque by the American Red Cross of Los Angeles, for being the leading fraternity on the West Coast to make blood donations. We had three times as many donors as the other houses.

ANNUAL FORMAL CELEBRATED

Saturday night, January 13, we celebrated our annual formal. The event was held at the popular Beverly-Wilshire Hotel. We engaged a private room (Mayfair Room) for the occasion and everyone had a wonderful time. As an added surprise, we purchased orchids for all the Delts' dates.

Delta Rho—Whitman

FIRE SALE AT HOMECOMING

Homecoming resulted in disaster for Delta Rho. After working day and night to produce a float that was a rare masterpiece of beauty, fire ended it all. As the float entered the parade route, a special-effect smoke bomb was released. This resulted in sparks landing on the tissue roof and the whole rear end of the float being razed before the fire was brought under control. Never defeated, we entered the float at a later display at the game with a large sign entitled FIRE SALE, thus making a success in the eyes of others, though hopes for the cup were gone.

PLEDGE SHINES IN FOOTBALL

Pledge Ted Berry was the honored man of the Whitman football squad this year. He was the only freshman to be successively called for the first-string line-up. Ted was one of the starting guards in every game except the last; injuries kept him on the bench for that one.

CHAPTER SCORES IN POLITICS

In the campus political mill, Delta Rho scored again with Bob Smith being elected junior class treasurer. This is more or less a repeat for Bob, since he was student body president of his high school and treasurer of his freshman class here at Whitman. Bob Webb is at present a member of the Student Congress.

DELTS HOLD CAMPUS POSITIONS

In the line of activities and important positions held by Delts on campus there are many. Charles Talbot is associate editor of the paper, the Pioneer, and a member of the journalism honorary, the Press Club. Jim Campbell holds down the job of circulation on the yearbook, and Bob Day efficiently acts as advertising co-ordinator on the Pioneer. Spence McCartney consistently fulfills his title of literary clown by editing the college humor magazine, the Clocktower. Bob Webb holds down the important position of half-time activities director at all athletic events.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

Officers for the new year have been elected and formally installed at Delta Rho. They are Boyd Blakesley, president; Rod Bunnell, vice-president; Dick Morrow, treasurer; Spence McCartney, corresponding secretary; Bob Heacock, recording secretary; Chas. Talbot, guide; and Ross Doherty, sergeant at arms.

Delta Sigma—Maryland

FALL RUSH NETS TWO DOZEN

When the smoke cleared from fall rushing, most other campus fraternities were surprised to find the Delts, newcomers on campus, had pledged 24 of the most sought-after rushees. Credit should be given John DeMurley, who is doing an excellent job as rush chairman.

We are also thankful that Treasurer Bill Eiseman is with us. Through his influence we have enjoyed the use of the Potomac Boat Club for many of our parties the past few years. The Delts are the only fraternity permitted to use the Club.

ANNEX LIPSCOMB TROPHY

The first annual football game between Gamma Eta Chapter at George Washington University and Delta Sigma for the Henry Lipscomb Trophy was held early in December. We proved to be a poor host by winning 6 to 0 on a last-down pass from Stanton to Stratton in an overtime period. After the game, coffee and doughnuts were served at the Shelter, and a party was held at Gamma Eta later in the evening.

For the second year, the 60-foot Christmas tree in front of the Shelter was decorated. The tree, which dwarfed the University tree, and was the largest in the Washington area, was worthy of the entire first page of the Diamondback (school newspaper).

APPLAUSE FOR MOTHERS

In the past year the Mothers Club has never ceased to help the chapter. Through bridge parties and the sale of candy, the Club has been able to buy silver for 84 place settings, two electric coffee-makers, an electric toaster, and eight dozen glasses.

GATE AND KEY OFFICER

In the campus honors department, Frank Wright has been elected vice-president of Gate & Key, leadership society for fraternity men. Bob Campello and Jack Coursey are also members of the organization.

Immediately upon completing his job as fraternity editor of the Terrapin (yearbook), Bill Hayman left school to join the Air Force. He is now stationed in Texas.

SPRING FORMAL PLANNED

Plans have been completed to have our Spring Formal, held jointly with Gamma Eta Chapter, at the Willard Hotel in Washington the last of April. We hope that it will be even more successful than last year's, when Brothers Tom Clark and Paul Hoffman honored us with their presence.

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

HOLD KEY CAMPUS POSITIONS

Four Deltas of Bowling Green State University were elected to key positions in various organizations on campus recently.

Don Eaton, cartoonist for the BeeGee News was elected to the presidency of Delta Phi Delta, art honorary on the Bowling Green campus. Don, who is a junior in art education, hails from Swanton, Ohio. In addition to his other interests, Don is also art editor of the freshman handbook and does illustrations for the Boomerang, the official newspaper of the Delta Tau Chapter.

Deltas elected to other important posts were Dick Smith and Lou Haubner. Dick was elected president of the Student Business Association and Lou was elected secretary-treasurer of the same organization. Both men are seniors in the College of Business Administration and will be graduated in June.

RECEIVE SECOND PLACE IN CONTEST

A large white star of peace was the Christmas decoration of the Delta Tau Chapter during the holiday season. The Deltas received second-place honors for their contribution to the all-campus Christmas decoration contest.

The making of the huge white star, which was 20 feet in diameter and one of the biggest attractions on the BeeGee campus during the holiday week, was under the direction of Jack Ahr, a sophomore in art education.

DELTS KNOCK OFF CHAMPS

This fall saw the Delt football team end up fifth in the intramural standings. Although the Sigma Nus won the intramural crown, the Deltas had the notable distinction of handing them their only defeat in a hard-played game by a score of 7 to 6. As a result of this victory, the Deltas were hailed as campus heroes for knocking off the perennial threat.

THESPIANS HOPE TO REPEAT

Plans are under way for the Interfraternity Playbill, which will be held early in May. Last year the Delt Thespians walked off with first prize for the best dramatic offering. This year we hope to repeat and take the cup again.

TBP TAPS TWO DELTS

During the fall semester two Deltas were initiated into Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering fraternity. They are Frank Locke and Joe Pawlikowski. Locke is a mechanical engineer, class of '51, while Pawlikowski is a chemical engineer, class of '51.

PARTY IS HUGE SUCCESS

The Christmas party for the underprivileged boys of the Ferris Industrial School turned out to be a huge success. Many campus dignitaries were present at the affair.

Delta Chi—Oklahoma A. & M.

FLOAT SCORES AT HOMECOMING

The first major project of the fall semester concerned our Homecoming activities. We entered both the float and house decorations contests. We were especially proud of our float, which evoked many favorable comments as the good ship Delta Queen rolled along between lines of hundreds of interested spectators. The Shelter was overflowing with Deltas, their wives, and their dates, as old and new friends visited at the buffet dinner which was served immediately after the game.

NEW HOUSEMOTHER INTRODUCED

Open house was held in early December in honor of our new housemother, Mrs. Delbert W. Poff. At that time we presented our 13 pledges and the new Shelter to the other campus groups.

We of Delta Chi are justly proud of our new housemother. "Mom" Poff has found a place in the heart of every man in this chapter in the few short months she has been with us. Her genial manner has won for her and for us an enviable place on this campus.

CHRISTMAS SOCK HOP PROVIDES TOYS FOR NEEDY

Our annual Christmas Sock Hop was an outstanding success. The Christmas tree was put up early. The Shelter was made attractive with Christmas greens, and our now famous "Mirror Mural" was painted by Brother Joe Milburn. This painting brought a beautiful snowy background right into our living room.

The Sock Hop Contest created a lot of fun. Each host presented his date with an original poem along with a toy gift. Brother Larry Smith won the prize for his clever poem and gift to his date. The judges found it difficult to decide which "Sox" from among the many clever entries were entitled to top billing. All the toys, as well as the Christmas tree, were distributed to families whose children would have lacked Christmas toys had our Sock Hop not been such a successful event.

Delta Omega—Kent

THREE DELTS IN WHO'S WHO

Kent Deltas once again point with deep pride to their three outstanding graduating seniors who have added new honors to their already long list of services to the University, which in turn has brought honor to the chapter and to Delta Tau Delta.

President A. Guy Shelley, Recording Secretary Richard Morrow, and Guide Dave Brand were three of the ten Kent State men honored by the national publication, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1950.

Each fall quarter a campus-wide competition is held by the faculty to determine the ten most outstanding men in school who have done the most for their University during their college careers. After weeks of judging, the faculty committee announced their choices of Kent University's top ten men. The combined list of activities and services rendered by these three Deltas is amazingly long and adds further significance to the importance Delta Omega places in service to the school as well as to the Fraternity.

FIRST BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Though still the "baby" of the Fraternity, Delta Omega celebrated its first anniversary as a chapter of Delta Tau Delta on February 24. Because of the Kent Pork Barrel competitions on that date, however, the chapter held its three-day celebration the week end of the 16th.

On Friday, the actives, pledges, alumni, and faculty guests journeyed to nearby Aurora Inn for the first annual Anniversary Ball held in honor of Delta Omega's installation. Saturday night the actives and alums got together for an informal house party. The week end was topped off with a buffet dinner on Sunday at the Shelter with all Deltas and dates attending.

▼ THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS ▼

Akron

A regular meeting of the Akron Alumni Chapter was held on December 13 at the newly decorated Chesterfield Inn. The meeting consisted mostly of a discussion of the program for the coming months. The following brothers will be in charge as program chairmen: January 17, Bob Stopher; February 21, Clyde Gischel; March 21, Walter Frye; April 18, John Hart; and May 16, Wayne Baumberger. Al Heston is the general chairman of the program committee.

George Andrus, Carnegie Tech, '29, was promoted to senior engineer of the Adamson United Company. Dr. Fred Andrus, Duke, '36, is the proud father of a boy. Mrs. Andrus is the former Ruth Polk of Kansas City, Kansas. The future Delt is Frederick H. Andrus, Jr.

Ray Finley, Iowa, '28, Akron attorney, was elected president of the Board of Governors of the Florence Crittenden Home, which is sponsored by the Akron Kiwanis Club. Dr. James Villani, Western Reserve, '22, and Robert Stopher, Wabash, '29, were recent speakers at meetings of the East Akron Kiwanis.

John N. Hart, Ohio State, '31, economist in the business research department of the B. F. Goodrich Company, has been named to the Summit County Child Welfare Board by the Summit County Board of Commissioners. William H. (Bid) Edmund, Ohio, '28, was elected vice-president of the National Ohio University Alumni Association. Bid is now recreational director of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Walter Frye, Wooster, '09, has been named to the board that directs the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District. Brother Frye has long been active in conservation work, serving two terms as national president of the Izaak Walton League; he is a member of the organization's executive board.

Meetings of the alumni chapter are being held the third Wednesday of each month at the Chesterfield Inn.

Our secretary, Louis Carabelli, has been ill for several weeks, but a good man cannot be kept down, and we are happy to report that Louis is well on the way back.

WALTER L. MUNROE

Ashtabula

During the year 1950, no great achievements have been accomplished by the alumni chapter of Ashtabula, unless one might count the banding together of our group for the purpose of making America free and planning every program toward that goal. We shall continue to talk and exert every influence possible to accomplish that purpose in years to come.

Our December meeting was held at Chapman's Restaurant in Geneva, Ohio, with Robert Martin of that city acting as host. Twenty-one Good Deltas attended the affair, with new members Kenneth Webb and Peter Manyo, Kent State University, and Harry Tennant, Iowa State, being received in membership. Brothers Madison Humphrey and Richard Baldwin reported on the huge success of the Karnea and much of the evening was spent discussing the information they had obtained at the meeting.

We are all missing David S. Nantz, University of Kentucky, whom death took at the age of 49. A real Delt, Dave will be missed by everyone in the community, for wherever he went, he made life a bit easier for all.

At the moment, none of our members is in active service, but many of us hold reserve commissions and are waiting for the call to duty. In fact, there are several of the boys with notice of call who will be in service by the time this letter is published.

JACK KERGER

Augusta

Everyone is familiar with the expression "there will be Deltas wherever you go." For many years, however, Augusta has had more than its share of young men enter college, become Deltas, and return to "The Garden Spot of the South" to reside and enter into business.

During the years 1949 and 1950, Charles Hoover, Beta Delta, '51, and Frank Sprouse, Beta Delta, '50, exceptionally good buddies at home and at the University of Georgia, wondered why there was no alumni chapter "back home." Since there was none, and no one was doing anything constructive about getting one organized, these two young men began planning.

When the spring quarter was over this past year, these two, with nothing to work with but a list of names and addresses—and half of the addresses were faulty—began canvassing the city. Also aiding was a third member their age, Bob Mulligan,

WELCOME!

Two more new alumni chapters have been chartered by the Arch Chapter since the last issue of THE RAINBOW went to press. We welcome to the Fraternity's expanding roster the Madison (Wisconsin) Alumni Chapter and the Oakland (California) Alumni Chapter.

Both Oakland and Augusta have their first letters in this issue. We hope to catch Madison in June.

With the addition of four new groups since the Karnea in August, Delta Tau Delta now has 85 alumni chapters—the greatest number in the history of the Fraternity.

Beta Delta, '50. These three together had held over a dozen offices, chairmanships, etc., and had been instrumental in getting Beta Delta at the top in the list of fraternities at Georgia; however, this was something entirely new to them.

It wasn't an easy task; however, it is now history. The chapter has been granted a charter, has had three successful meetings, one of which was a steak supper at Miller's Pond for boys entering Georgia, Georgia Tech, and Emory this past fall. One has only to look over the list of members to see that Delta Tau Delta has always gone for quality—here, it is very apparent.

The officers are: Frank Sprouse, president; Grey Boatwright, vice-president; Julian Fiske, secretary-treasurer; and James M. Hull, Sr., adviser. They, along with the other members, are hoping that 1951 will be as profitable as 1950 was to them.

JULIAN FISKE

Boston

The Boston Alumni Chapter is making plans for its annual meeting and Founders Day Dinner in March, to be held in conjunction with the Eastern Division Regional Conference. Representatives of the six New England chapters, their chapter advisers, and their house corporation officers will attend the Conference.

Our alumni chapter weekly luncheons are continuing at Patten's on Court Street every Thursday at 12:15.

RUDY HELGESON

Buffalo

On December 28, the alumni entertained the actives and pledges home for the Christmas holidays at a luncheon at the University Club. Twenty-one chapters were represented by the 14 actives and pledges and 20 alumni present. The older members enjoyed the meeting tremendously and the actives and pledges all appeared to have a good time.

The alumni group is planning a Founders Day banquet which, we hope, will be attended by many of the local alumni who cannot always make the noon luncheon meetings or other noon activities.

Our group was saddened by the untimely deaths of Walter J. Fissel and Harry Ott, who was another active alumni member before moving to Rochester a few years ago.

RALPH E. FRANK

Chicago

Our main interest just now is in plans for the Founders Day luncheon, which will be held in the Crystal Room of the Union League Club Saturday noon, March 3. After much pulling of strings, Karl Digel has secured the assembly room of the Club for the occasion, and we are hoping for a record turnout to celebrate the day and hear Francis Hughes speak. All of the 1600 Deltas listed in our new directory are being notified, special arrangements are being made for undergraduates from nearby chapters, and any Delt passing through Chicago at that time is cordially invited. The club address is 65 West Jackson. Itinerant brothers are always, of course, welcome at our regular Monday luncheon, which is still held at noon on that day at Harding's, at the Fair, Dearborn and Adams Streets.

A recent luncheon guest was the Editor of THE RAINBOW, who, quite informally, gave us a lot of information about his job, which involves much more than just editing the Fraternity magazine.

James B. Matson, Beta Beta, '40, and Gamma Xi, '42, and one-time officer of our chapter, has returned to active duty with the Army as captain in the Ordnance Corps and is on duty at the Chicago Ordnance District. Bob Gardiner, Amherst, '36, formerly secretary of the chapter, is now married and is living in suburban Park Ridge.

C. C. "BUNKER" BEAN

Cincinnati

December brought to a close a very successful year for the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter. It marked a year when renewed enthusiasm, due to a well-planned, well-executed program, was evidenced in increased attendance. Much credit must go to the leadership of Brother Fred Tower, retiring president, his officers, and his committees.

The final events, the square dance at Golf Manor, skillfully prepared by Dick Krug and his committee, and the annual Christmas party and election of officers at The Cincinnati Club, climaxed Brother Tower's reign as prexy.

New officers elected were: Merrit C. Farrell, Gamma Xi, '28, president; John C. Todd, Gamma Xi, '21, vice-president; and Robert T. Welch, Gamma Xi, '37, corresponding secretary. Elected by unanimous approval for a repeat of their fine performance in 1950 were: Robert Weber, Gamma Xi, '46, treasurer, and Charles A. Leonard, Gamma Xi, '48, recording secretary.

All alumni are urged to give their loyal support to the new and returning officers in the coming year, and with this support, to make 1951 a banner year in local alumni history. A special plea goes out from this year's corresponding secretary to all alumni to notify the new secretary, Robert Welch, No. 4 Sheldon Close, Mariemont, Ohio, of any change of address, or new membership. Especially lacking are up-to-date addresses of Cincinnati alumni serving in the armed forces.

RICHARD REIMAN

Cleveland

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter joined with the actives of Zeta Chapter in the celebration of Founders Day at a banquet held in the Western Reserve Campus Dining Hall on February 22. This very enjoyable event, which was attended by approximately 150 Deltas, also celebrated the initiation of a fine class of Zeta pledges. Many alumni attended the initiation which was held at the chapter house during the afternoon.

For the past two months, the Cleveland Alumni Chapter has been without a president or a vice-president. Jack Baskin was recalled to military service and Vice-President Bill Mould has been in service and out again, but is still not located in Cleveland. By unanimous agreement, no special election has been held since the brothers seemed content to let the chapter struggle along under the direction of the secretary and treasurer until the annual election.

Attendance at the weekly luncheon meetings held every Friday in the Nanking Restaurant has been on the upgrade. Our private room is often filled to capacity and we are looking forward to the necessity of taking a larger room.

A number of Cleveland alumni were the guests of Zeta Chapter at two very enjoyable affairs in December—the Christmas formal at the Park Lane Villa on December 8, and a stag party at the Shelter on December 18.

While all of us in Cleveland were pleased to learn of the fine promotion with his company of Frank Shelton, Secretary of the Fraternity, we regret that his new assignment takes him away from our city. We congratulate New York on the addition of such a grand Delt. We know that he will be welcomed and will be active in Delt circles in that city.

Something new was added to our schedule of social functions on November 10, when the Cleveland Alumni Chapter inaugurated the first of a series of co-ed parties. The event which was attended by more than 70 alumni and wives was held in the quarter-acre-sized recreation room of Karl Ertle's home. The program and line-up included soft drinks, a midnight lunch, songs, stories, dancing, and plenty of fellowship and opportunity to get acquainted. At only $1.25 per person, it turned out to be the best Delt get-together in years. By popular demand it will be repeated in the near future.

As stated many times before, we invite all Deltas in the Cleveland area to become active and attend our luncheon meetings and social events.

Fort Worth

The Fort Worth Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has been void of too many activities of late, due to the holiday season, but uncompleted plans for the future tentatively indicate much activity during 1951.

We hope that the experience of the officers of the Fort Worth chapter has not held true in the other alumni chapters, but for the sake of the record we will indicate here that the support of our members has been far below par. It is possible to blame this on the ever-increasing seriousness of the international situation and the responsibility which it has placed on everyone. On the other hand, to all alumni reading this message, we would like to point out that only through ever-increasing support of our alumni members can Delta Tau Delta survive. Should the world experience an international conflict and our younger brethren scatter to the far corners of the world in defense of our country, the responsibility of those democratic traditions enjoyed at home must be preserved by those who remain. Delta Tau Delta is one of those cherished traditions which must receive your continued support and increased activity. Support your Alumni Chapter officers and help Delta Tau Delta survive.

The Fort Worth alumni are looking forward to the Texas all-state Founders Day banquet to be held this year in Dallas. We feel sure that the Deltas of the great state of Texas will turn out in large numbers, as they did in Houston.

Cordial best wishes for 1951 from the "City Where the West Begins" and all its Deltas.

DR. WILLIAM O. HULSEY

Indianapolis

We are now having our weekly luncheon meetings at the Indianapolis Athletic Club at 12:15 on Friday. The turnouts have been fine, but there is always room for a few more Delt brothers around the banquet board.

The high light of the holiday season was the annual Christmas luncheon on Friday, December 22. Gifts were exchanged, stories were told by master story tellers, led by Brother Pritchett, songs were sung through the courtesy of several undergraduate brothers present from Gamma Lambda Chapter at Purdue.

Plans are now under way for the annual State Day dinner and dance, which promises to be one of the biggest and best ever. The dance will be held on Saturday, February 24, at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. A big gathering from the state's five undergraduate chapters and among all Indiana alums is expected, so make your reservations early. There will be the traditional prizes for undergraduate skits and attendance, so be there to cheer your old chapter along.

Colonel Allison (Skip) Maxwell, Beta Beta, '38, United States Air Force, gave an interesting and informal talk at the noon luncheon on December 29. From time to time we will arrange to have other interesting speakers of local and national prominence at the Friday noon get-togethers.

See you all at State Day, February 24.

EDWIN H. HUGHES, III

Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Alumni Chapter, on Thursday, December 7, wound up the year 1950 in a manner which gave evidence not only of the success of the current year, but of promise for the year 1951.

The occasion was not only the regular meeting, but the annual Past Presidents' Luncheon, with a record turnout of chapter past presidents. The program included a double-header, leading off with a thought-provoking discussion of the current Fraternity problems by Past President Earle C. "Bo" Adams.

Honor guest of the day was the former president of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter and of the Fraternity, Brother Paul G. Hoffman. Persuaded to address the group for a few minutes, Brother Hoffman gave an inspiring account of his activities as ECA Administrator and his views as to the course our future foreign policy should take.

Before he was permitted to leave the room, Brother Hoffman was cornered and persuaded to use his good offices to obtain Brother Alben W. Barkley as a principal speaker for the Founders Day banquet in this city, to be held next March. At the time this letter is written, success appears to be blessing these efforts.

Also on the agenda was election of officers for the coming year, and when the steam roller had passed through the room, it was generally agreed that the future seemed well in hand under the leadership of George Rochester as president; Jack Cain, Toby Tyler, Doug McDonald, and Stu McKinzie as vice-presidents; Bob Meyer as secretary; and Don Thomas as cantor.

Great activity is planned by this group during the coming year, and all brothers are cordially invited to attend our meetings held regularly the first and third Thursdays of every month at noon at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Milwaukee

One of the big parties of the season for Milwaukee-area Delts took place on December 28. Many of the brothers and their wives or dates sampled the hospitality of Wulff's Island, just north of Milwaukee. It was an informal get-together, and everybody seemed to be having the kind of time he'd like to repeat.

The following Delts brought their wives: Bob Reisinger, Bucky Richter, Fred Reynolds, Harry Franke, Jr., Bob Herman, Bob Renwick, Phil Dressler, Larry Singer, Bob Calvert, Al Everitt, Mort Blakeslee, and Don Ferguson. Don Ivins and Tom Aylward paid only one check apiece, and the rest of the brethren brought dates. They were: O. K. Johnson, Jr., Tom Corribeau, Bob Erffmeyer, Gene Grieshaber, John Fairall, John Asmundsen, and Dave Halverson.

With the consent of the executive board, Phil Dressler, treasurer, recently purchased a Delt banner for use at the various chapter functions. It arrived in time for the Christmas party and was proudly displayed.

According to a tentative schedule, a Founders Day banquet will be the next full-sized event on the social calendar.

There has been some talk to the effect that we ought to embrace a constructive, civic project of some kind. It is our understanding that the Fraternity does not have a national project, but if we err in that respect, we would like some information. If any of the various alumni chapters engage in such an activity, we in Milwaukee would appreciate advice and information regarding details of procedure.

DAVID L. HALVERSON

National Capital

At the time of this writing we are just getting into the swing of things in preparing for our Founders Day Banquet to be held Monday, March 5, at the National Press Club. Riggs Montfort, Kenyon, '30, our popular president, made an excellent choice for chairman of our Banquet Committee in Oliver Hoyem, Columbia, '16. Brother Hoyem will also be the toastmaster, and you can bet he will be a good one.

Riggs suggested that we honor members of the Fourth Estate this year and Oliver has started off with a bang by obtaining Benjamin M. McKelway, George Washington, '19, editor of the Washington Star, as our principal speaker. Brother McKelway is one of Washington's top speakers. We are fortunate indeed to be privileged to hear him. And, did you know that he has three sons—all of them Delts!

There are 1,328 Delts in the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia who live within commuting distance of Washington. I do not know what we would do if all of them showed up for our Founders Day Banquet, but wouldn't it be nice if they would?

To the best of our knowledge, there are about 40 Delts in the writing profession in Washington. A questionnaire is being prepared and will be sent to all 1,328 Delts to see how many others are in the writing profession, since they are the ones to be honored at the Founders Day Banquet. This year only Delts in the writing profession will be at the head table and our Senators and Representatives in Congress will come as just plain Delts this time and sit with the rest of us.

Delts in Washington seem to have done quite well in the newspaper line, for look at these honors: Benjamin M. McKelway, president, American Society of Newspaper Editors and Publishers; Radford E. Mobley, Jr., George Washington, '30, president, National Press Club; James T. Berryman, George Washington, '24, president, Gridiron Club. These men will, of course, be our honored guests along with others of the Fourth Estate on March 5 when we will try to do them the honor they so well deserve.

Brother Hoyem is still working on the entertainment we will have, but already he has the National Press Club Chorus lined up. He tells me that of this group six are Delts.

On December 27 we held a smoker at the Lee House for the purpose of getting acquainted with the undergraduate Delts who attend school elsewhere and come home to Washington for the holidays. A total of 69 Delts registered and our party was a real success, socially and financially. We plan to make this an annual affair.

By the time this is read, Gamma Eta's 100th initiation will have come and gone, but here is what is planned. On Friday, February 16, a stag party at the Shelter during which the Rite of Iris will be performed. On Saturday, alumni registration will take place, and then the 100th initiation will be held at the Annapolis Hotel. This will be followed by a banquet and a dance. On Sunday afternoon open house will be held at the Shelter.

Joseph B. Colburn, George Washington, '24, gave a very attractive elk's head to the Gamma Eta Shelter this fall. The boys are pleased with it, and it adorns their game room.

Dean Nichols, George Washington, '46, is the proud daddy of a baby girl, so I am told. Dean is practicing law in Charlestown, West Virginia. And speaking of births and proud papas, Glenn Roudabush, George Washington, '41, became one on October 24, with a fine girl, Joanne Lois.

Sid has done it again! Yes, Sid Nyhus, U.C.L.A., '33, has been traveling again. This time it was South America. He and his wife, Marjorie, were guests of the Pan American Airway's Travel Agents Promotional Tour. It was a 40-day trip covering the principal countries of South America. Sid and Marge are just about the happiest couple in the world, but the fact is they are no longer a couple. There are three of them now, for they have a future Delt in the family, Craig Geoffrey, born November 9.

We are no longer holding our weekly luncheons at Bonat's. We still meet every Thursday for lunch but at the Lee House, 15th and L Streets, N.W. Our situation at the Lee House is ideal, for we have beautiful surroundings and better accommodations. We can order a la carte and can come and go at any time.

LOWELL H. MORAN

Northern Kentucky

The Northern Kentucky Delts climaxed an active year with a "mucho fun" Christmas party on December 14 at one of Northern Kentucky's supper clubs.

Headed by those three grand "Delts of Chi," Brothers Fred Hall, Sr.; Dr. Howard Fischbach, Sr.; and Tom Youtsey, Sr., the party was a huge success, thanks greatly to our prexy, Garth Slater, who would have made the real Santa Claus look like a rank imposter. Slater stuffed his 275 pounds into a flashy Santa suit, donned his whiskers, and did an excellent job in making the evening a very jovial affair.

Those who turned out were the George Kaufmanns, the John "Boots" Wuests; the "Boonie" Fennells; the Rand Stegemans; the Bill Pettys; the Cam Coffmans; the Ollie Hunters; the Bill Stegemans; the Fred Hall, Jr.s; the Garth Slaters; the Fred Stines; the Jack Fletchers; the Ernie Zimmermans; the Dick Fritchies; the Vint Stegemans; the perpetual bachelor, Ollie "Elmer" Hall, and his date, Miss Clara Bob Traylor; and dateless Tom Youtsey, Jr., who brought two welcomed brothers, Andy Clark and Jim Stites, both late of Delta Epsilon, who are now located in the Greater Cincinnati area.

Rand Stegeman recently journeyed up to Purdue to see young Rand ("H. R." or "Hank" to all his buddies) get his golden square at Gamma Lambda. We're also glad to welcome several other Northern Kentuckians into our group. Bailey Houliston, Ft. Thomas, was pledged at Washington and Lee, while Jim Rowe, also of Ft. Thomas, pledged at Sewanee. Bob Daugherty, Bellevue, former all-state fullback, is a Cincinnati U. pledge. He starred with the frosh gridders this past fall. We're also anxiously anticipating the arrival of the second semester at Kentucky and Miami where several young "fellers" are expected to don "the pin."

Another future Delt signed up on Thanksgiving Day when Frederick Stine "The Fifth" dropped in on Brother Fred "The Fourth" and his attractive wife, Marge. It was their second child. Winnie is in the toddling stage.

It is the over-all opinion that we're going to miss Brother Ollie and Marty Hunter. Ollie is now Captain Hunter, Finance, Fort Breckenridge, Kentucky.

Our group expresses condolences to Brothers Jack Casner and Tom Albershart over the loss of Jack's mother and Tom's father. Both died during late December.

Hope the Editor will let this item go through, for all of the Delta Epsilon lads are clicking their heels over Kentucky's rip-roaring victory over the Oklahoma Sooners in the Sugar Bowl. In case "you ain't heard, chum," the Wildcats set the Sooners back on their heels, 13-7. According to all the so-called ratings, the Oklahomans were acclaimed national champs.

ATTENTION MR. WILLIAMSON, MR. DUNKLE, and all the national raters: "Where does that put Kentucky?"

CAMERON COFFMAN

Oakland

Delt alumni have been meeting once a month in Oakland for many years, not until recently has there been any attempt to make this group an active alumni chapter. Led by Sterling Tipton, California, '23; Al Horn, California, '35; Bill Turner, Stanford, '37; Bill Simms, Wabash, '16; and Bill Hays, Washington, '32, to name a few, the group took on new life.

Our evening dinner get-togethers have become so popular that President Bill Hays has made them monthly affairs. No business is discussed at these dinners. The evenings are taken up with informal talks from some of the alumni. Because of the University of California's excellent football team, spirit has been extremely high. Talks and pictures from Brother Eggs Manske, assistant football coach at California; Brother Brutus Hamilton, director of California athletics; Brother Fred Maggiora, on the board of athletic control at Stanford; and Brother Morie Morrison, sports cartoonist, have highlighted the evenings.

Dr. Frank "Spider" Kelly, California, '02, who has acted as chapter adviser at California for more than 20 years, retired recently. He has done an outstanding job. At the last meeting of the Oakland Alumni Chapter he was lauded for his fine work, although illness kept him from attending.

We are all happy to hear of Fred Maggiora's appointment to the Oakland City Council. We know that he will do a grand job.

Recently the Oakland alumni group received its charter from the Arch Chapter, which now binds our group more closely together. If there are any alumni in or around this area whom we have failed to contact, we would like to hear about them or from them, for we are looking forward to a bigger and better 1951.

CHARLES DOLE, JR.

Oklahoma City

Things are happening in Oklahoma City! John Shelby Metcalf, noted Oklahoma artist, has just completed a magnificent oil painting of Mrs. J. W. Allen, Delta Alpha's housemother for almost a quarter century. It will be unveiled at a banquet in Mom's honor soon and then it will hang in the Shelter at Norman . . . a beautiful tribute to a wonderful woman.

Our Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter has an idea that we hope will keep Delta Tau Delta a little closer to our hearts and, incidentally, get a lot more of us out to alumni meetings. We have started a newsletter which is sent to all Delt alumni in the state—all for whom we have correct addresses. If any of you readers (if this particular alumni report has any!) know of any Delts in Oklahoma who aren't on our mailing list, please send the correct address to 1508 N.E. 12th, Oklahoma City. We like it and think that you might!

The Sugar Bowl results will be all but forgotten by the time this is read, but you can bet your last buck that it will be pretty sad in Soonerland until our Big Red football team starts another victory string. Ouch!

Jim Thacker, formerly of Weatherford, dropped into town the other day. Jim, Harold Kirkpatrick, Wendell Cates, and George Anthony—pledge brothers at Delta Alpha—got together to talk over old times. Jim is now Los Angeles branch manager for the George D. Close Co., newspaper and radio representatives. Jim brought Wife "Ginny," too!

While madly soliciting funds for this and that, we got a welcome contribution from Tench Tilghman, who is now with the American Consul in Istanbul, Turkey. It was swell to hear from you, Tench!

A new Delt in our city is C. Christy Jones. He's from Gamma Sigma, '34, at Pitt. We're glad to welcome Brother Jones into the fold.

Our Homecoming Dance in Norman was fine. Arch McDonald and Jack Harlow came over from Tulsa. Everyone had a good time and it gave us all a chance to know the actives better. Plans are being made now for the same kind of an affair next year.

We almost got an opportunity to vote for a Delt for Governor of Oklahoma in our last election. Dr. Waldo Stephens was considering the race, but decided against it. He could have had our vote!

That's 30 for now from Oklahoma City. See you later.

GEORGE ANTHONY

Pittsburgh

A Founders Day program that will make previous celebrations seem pale by comparison is on tap for Pittsburgh Delts, Saturday, March 3.

Climaxing the Eastern Division Regional Conference in the Steel City, Founders Day will feature an address by Martin B. Dickinson, President of the Fraternity. Introduction of the "All-Delt" management of the Pittsburgh Pirates Baseball Club to Pittsburgh alumni and undergraduates is planned.

The program, as outlined in January by Alumni Chapter President Harris Hawkins, includes the final session Saturday afternoon of the Pittsburgh Regional Conference under the direction of Division President A. J. (Bud) Murphy. This will be followed by a model initiation performed by a team from Gamma Sigma Chapter at Pitt. About six o'clock, the scene will shift to the banquet room in Hotel Webster Hall for the Founders Day dinner. Although not confirmed at the time of this writing (January 8), it is expected that President Dickinson will be able to attend and deliver the principal address.

Formal introduction of Branch Rickey, John Galbreath, George Sisler, and Branch Rickey, Jr.—the captains who will try to guide the 1951 Pittsburgh Pirates into smoother waters—also is on the schedule. "Formal" introduction is the proper phrase, since all four noted sports figures have appeared previously at local Delt functions, though never before on the same team.

Final item on the March 3 program will be the election of new officers for the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter.

If Delts in the Pittsburgh area felt a little proud last December 28, they had every reason to be so. No less a publication than the Pittsburgh Press, local representative of the Scripps Howard chain, devoted an article to description and praise of the Golden Triangle Delt alumni.

With the thought that district Delts who missed the Press article and other local alumni scattered around the country would like to read the story, written by Press Staff Writer Edwin J. McKay from Alpha Chapter, it is reprinted below:

"After a fellow gets out of school his college fraternity ordinarily means little, one way or another. But when Brother Branch Rickey came to the Pittsburgh Pirates there was no doubt that he had given his fraternity quite a lift—even here in Pittsburgh, where Delta Tau Delta has been prominent for years.

"Mr. Rickey often has been referred to by sportswriters as 'Brother Branch' or 'Brother Rickey'—but not because they were fraternity brothers. Principally because he appeared to them to be a sort of 'deacon,' a religious-leaning personality they have sanctified as 'The Mahatma' of baseball.

"Many Pittsburghers, however, have the right to call him 'Brother Rickey.' They are the members of Delta Tau Delta, whose ranks have been augmented by the advent of the Mahatma and his coterie: Principally Branch Rickey, Jr., an alumnus of his father's school, Ohio Wesleyan, and George Sisler, a Michigan graduate.

"They have come to town to join forces with John Galbreath, president of the Pirates, also a Delt, hoping to jolt the Bucs out of the National League cellar.

"Brother Rickey has many other fraternity ties in Pittsburgh. Two Pitt brothers are former presidents of Delta Tau Delta: Norman MacLeod of the advertising firm, and Herbert G. McCracken, of the Sewickley McCrackens, now in New York as head of a scholastic publishing firm. Herb was one of Pitt's great half-backs, later a coach at Allegheny and Lafayette.

"Which reminds me Brother Branch, who was graduated at Ohio Wesleyan in '04, coached football and baseball that year and the following one at Allegheny. He formed then close ties with the Alpha chapter of Delta Tau Delta, of which your correspondent is a member.

"Many other Deltas are prominent in Pittsburgh life. Not the least is the Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Very Rev. N. R. High Moor, whose annual Delt Christmas service is one of the most celebrated events in the fraternity year.

"Another brother widely known as a Pitt and Delt alumnus is C. R. Wilson, manager of the Hotel Roosevelt, former assistant dean of men at Pitt and a close friend of another Delt, John Weber, for many years Secretary of the University of Pittsburgh.

"Charles F. Lewis, director of the Buhl Foundation, former newspaperman, is another prominent Pittsburgh Delt—also an Allegheny graduate.

"One of Pittsburgh's most active Deltas died just a year ago—Edward T. Leech, editor of The Press. He was a member at the University of Colorado, in which state he began his newspaper career. But he transferred his fraternity enthusiasm to Pittsburgh's Alumni Chapter.

"Pittsburgh Deltas claim Albert K. (Rosey) Rowsell as an unofficial and sort of 'honorary' member. Rosey attends all Delta Tau Delta functions here, not only because of his close connection with the Delt-tinged Pirates, but also because the brothers recognize in him the kind of a guy they'd like to have as a brother.

"There are many other Pittsburgh Deltas—too many to include in this space. But it can't be denied that it is Brother Branch who has put the recent glamor touch to his fraternity in Pittsburgh."

BILL RAINES

Portland

Our chapter here in Portland is enjoying more active interest and participation from a larger number of Deltas than it has in some time. We certainly welcome any brothers who are in or around Portland on the first and third Wednesdays of the month to have lunch with us at the Broiler, at S. W. 9th and Salmon, at noon.

Our former secretary, Dick McNamara, was called back into the Navy and is now in San Diego, preparing to board an LSD that the Navy is pulling out of mothballs.

We're proud to report that Brother Roy Vernstrom received recognition of his services to Portland by being nominated Junior First Citizen of the year for Portland.

We were also pleased at the success of our Christmas formal dance, which was held December 23 at the Multnomah Hotel Rose Bowl. We enjoyed an all-time record attendance at our last big function of 1950.

For Founders Day, the Portland Alumni Chapter is planning an extra special banquet which will be our salute to past presidents. We're looking forward to this meeting and expecting another record gathering of Deltas.

PAUL NAGEL

St. Petersburg

The St. Petersburg Alumni Chapter met with Brother Howard Helt for luncheon at the Garden Cafeteria on January 3. There were 13 present, with Brother Harry Hewitt sitting at the head of the table and Brother A. B. Walling directing ceremonies. Several visiting brothers were present.

Our regular monthly meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month.

S. P. SMISETH

Tampa

Big news in Tampa is the glittering annual Christmas Dance held the evening of December 28. Deltas from all over Florida attended and everyone agreed that this year's dance was the "best yet." Plans have already been made for a repeat performance next December.

Open invitation still stands for any Delt in Florida this season to visit one of our meetings to renew friendships and strengthen the fraternal bond.

SANDY GEER

Toledo

The Toledo Alumni Chapter continues to hold Tuesday luncheons at the Kin Hong Low Restaurant, 816 Jefferson Avenue. Several underclassmen were guests during the Christmas holidays.

Frank M. Powell, Delta, '14, partner in the George T. Browning Company, landscaping, seeds, and garden supplies, is among the recent recipients of a silver badge from the Rotary Club of Toledo for 25 years' service in the club. Herbert M. Sharp, Gamma Beta, '05, our chapter president; Harry Hansen, Beta Phi, '14; William C. Diemer, Beta Phi, '37; Dr. Hugh M. Foster, Lambda, '24; Robert D. "Doc" Miller, Psi, '16; Dr. Lawrence C. Jackson, Chi, '08; and Clarence Mulholland, Epsilon, '24, are among the members of the Toledo Rotary Club, a mark of leadership in their business and professions.

Plans are under way for some special luncheon for members of nearby active chapters during the spring holidays. Robert L. Lowrie, Chi, '19, has been named chairman of the arrangements.

The chapter is still searching around for a more suitable central place for its weekly luncheons.

Dr. Andrew J. Townsend, Psi, '14, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, University of Toledo, heads the Toledo group of Phi Beta Kappa.

G. WILFRID HIBBERT

Topeka

The Topeka Alumni Chapter continues to add a few names to our list, and while the attendance at our monthly luncheon meetings is not as large as we wish, we hope to increase the number this year. So far, none of our members has been called back into service.

An invitation came from the Wichita, Kansas, group to attend their Christmas dance, and even if we were not able to go, we appreciate their invitation and know that they had a good party.

During February, we hope to entertain our national President, Martin Dickinson, and have a good committee headed by Gail Wilson appointed to make the arrangements for it.

One of our members, Cliff Stratton, is back in Washington as reporter for the Topeka Daily Capital, and we enjoy his daily column in the paper.

Best of 1951 wishes to all Deltas. If any of you get to Topeka, look us up.

FRANK HOGUELAND

Toronto

At this writing the Toronto Alumni Chapter is in the midst of a determined effort to get its mailing list up to date and all-inclusive. The new executive, realizing that an up-to-date record of where everyone is located is vital to the success of any of our activities, has spent a great deal of time on this matter. The response to the appeal for information regarding missing brothers has been most gratifying; and within a few weeks we hope to have accurate addresses for everyone. We again request that if you know of anyone who is not getting our newsletters, you get in touch with the secretary.

Big plans are under way for the new year. The annual banquet has been arranged for Saturday, March 10, at the King Edward Hotel. We hope to have a good turnout of new and old alumni, as well as actives from the Toronto chapter. Much time was spent the other night in a discussion as to whether or not entertainment should be provided. It was finally decided that with the large crowd expected to be present, formal entertainment would be superfluous. So Phelps Bell will probably play the piano, and anyone who has been at one of the football parties will know what that can lead to! Given the proper atmosphere, Rick Richards will probably don top hat and lead us in a few verses of his famous song, "Way Down." If you haven't heard this yet, it is just one more reason for you to take a night out and join the brothers at the Annual Alumni Banquet.

A poll is about to be taken by post card to all members of the alumni chapter regarding a Buffet Supper to be held during the Trade Fair in Toronto next spring. It was thought that this might be a good time for a get-together with so many men being in town on business in connection

OWEN N. WILCOX, Western Reserve, '02, president of the Gates Legal Publishing Company of Cleveland, Ohio, was killed in an automobile accident October 25, 1950.

Widely known in legal and literary circles, Mr. Wilcox was founder of a publishing firm which prints briefs and records for the legal profession. The organization also prints a house organ called

The Brief, devoted to legal and literary interests.

Mr. Wilcox was an enthusiastic student of literature of the 18th and 19th centuries. He amassed a collection of books on the Arctic and Antarctic which was recognized as one of the most complete in the Midwest. A Lincoln scholar as well, he collected books and manuscripts about the Civil War president. His father was one of the founders of the Rowfant Club, a literary group, of which the son was a member and past president.

BENJAMIN U. RANNELLS, Ohio Wesleyan, '89, Secretary of the Fraternity for several years prior to the turn of the century, died October 25, 1950, at the age of 88 in his Cleveland Heights home.

An educator, Mr. Rannells was the first principal of East High School in Cleveland. Later he was a member of the Cleveland Board of Education and was assistant superintendent of schools. During his tenure at East High, he was instrumental in its achieving a high reputation in scholarship and in school spirit.

As a Delt, he was a devoted worker for many years both in the Cleveland Alumni Chapter and the national Fraternity. In 1937 he was cited to the Distinguished Service Chapter.

WILLIAM G. MERRITT, Michigan State, '94, an ardent Delt for nearly 60 years, entered the Chapter Eternal on November 18, 1950.

Mr. Merritt was a member of the old Iota Chapter and had always worked for its return. When Iota was re-established in 1947, he presented the chapter with the presiding officer's chair which dates back to 1874. He also made a gift of his badge, the star-shaped one authorized in the eighties, which had been worn by the first chapter adviser of Iota.

Mr. Merritt had attended 12 Karneas and many Division Conferences. During his lifetime he had done considerable research on the mysteries of the Fraternity. He was the oldest member of the Battle Creek Alumni Chapter.

JOHN G. SPIELMAN, Iowa, '87, civic and patriotic leader of Long Beach, California, died January 3, 1951.

Mr. Spielman will be remembered by many as the earliest initiate present at the Chicago Karnea in 1946. He is credited with responsibility for the Post Office Department's issuing a commemorative stamp for the final encampment of the G.A.R.

Another of his projects was the naming

Alumni Chapters

First major event of the spring term is the Fraternity Formal held by the active chapter. It will be on February 9 at the Guild Inn at Scarborough and all actives and alumni are invited. Don McParland at the Shelter is the man to write to for tickets.

The newsletters have been carrying a column about where people are and what they are doing. So far this has provoked a raft of letters giving more information about the activities of many alumni. Everyone likes to hear about his friends, so the more we learn the more we'll print in the monthly letters. Keep the letters coming!

To be congratulated on their recent marriages are Murray Legge, Bruce Mundy, and Al Ingleson. New arrivals have been announced recently by Norma and Jerry Anderson, Al and Bunny Brownridge, Charlie and Lois Broad, and Art and Mary Guay. An interesting note from Al Weir in Alabama advises that he is about to be married.

At a recent meeting, the following Toronto Deltas were elected officers of the alumni chapter: Arthur E. Guay, '48, president; William J. H. Disher, '38, vice-president; William M. Flanagan, '47, vice-president; John S. Cauley, '50, secretary; and William H. Seeley, '48, treasurer.

The new alumni executive took over at a meeting at the Shelter which was well attended by both alumni and actives. The report of the house corporation was of great interest to both groups, and Bert Bethune, president of the undergraduate chapter, started a general discussion regarding the function of the Fraternity on the campus. The real bond of brotherhood which unites all members of the Fraternity was surely illustrated as we listened to opinions and ideas from old and new members. We look forward to more nights like that one!

STUART CAULEY

Tulsa

Here's wishing every Good Delt, his family, and chapter a Happy New Year! In spite of the discouraging news from foreign locations and the resultant feeling of tension, Tulsa Deltas cheerfully assisted Santa Claus with his annual tour.

The fall election saw much controversy between the parties and several upsets resulted but the capable Delt contingent in the Tulsa County Attorney's office was returned with a vote of confidence. Paul Fielding, our 1950 alumni chapter president, is now chief prosecutor; Hugh Webster and Harold Schultz are assistant county attorneys. All the more reason why Tulsa Deltas are law-abiding citizens.

A recent addition to our Tulsa roster, at the expense of nearby Bartlesville, is M. R. (Ray) Shaffer who has recently established the M. R. Shaffer Co. In his new status as an oil producer, Ray is now fighting the battle of steel casing procurement—a familiar headache to the entire petroleum production industry. Ray expects to move his wife, Virginia, and children to Tulsa as soon as he can find a home to his liking. We are glad to have you, Ray, and hope you will take your usual active part in Delt activities.

George Temple is another who has recently taken a more active position in the oil production field through his association with Webster Drilling Company. Previously charged with drilling engine sales for Buda Engine Sales and Service, George will now be supervising his drilling crews. Really a versatile Delt, he designed and contracted his own new home, which was completed late last year.

Our only loss to service so far is Lt. W. D. (Dick) Lunn, presently stationed at Camp Chaffee just outside Ft. Smith, Arkansas. He and his family were here for a short visit just before Christmas and reported the housing problem solved in the form of an apartment in Ft. Smith. Dick made the transition from law practice to training infantrymen in a remarkably smooth manner. You'll find his new address in another section of THE RAINBOW.

For more news of Tulsa Deltas: Howard Newman has become so active in the real estate business that he has found it necessary to sever business relations with Fred Jones, a local Ford, Mercury, and Lincoln dealer. Larry Wilson went busting off with the usual short notice to see the Sugar Bowl catastrophe, and we hope he had more fun than did the O. U. football team. Bob Dow, our worthy "moneybags" during 1950, has left Loffland Brothers Company to accept a position with The Zephyr Corporation, another drilling contractor. If you are a confused radio assembler, see Carl Pinkerton—he gladly will punch your ticket.

Results of the annual balloting, which this year was made a part of the January dinner meeting, show the following slate of officers for the Tulsa Alumni Chapter in 1951: president, Claude Gordon; first vice-president, Bob Dow; second vice-president, Lloyd Johnson; third vice-president, Dick Dotson; secretary, Keith Fraizer; and treasurer, Harold Schultz.

CLAUDE GORDON

Wichita

The annual Delta Tau Delta Christmas Dance was the most successful, both financially and socially, since the alumni chapter was reorganized following the war. A large crowd of Deltas and their guests enjoyed the music of Sully Sullivan in the Hotel Lassen ballroom on December 28. Although the dance is sponsored and underwritten by the alumni chapter, undergraduates from many of the midwestern schools, their dates, and guests also enjoyed the party.

The Delta Tau Delta Christmas Formal is now recognized as one of the top parties of the holiday season in Wichita and its future success is assured.

New officers of the alumni chapter are: Larry Stubbs, Beta Kappa, president; Buzz Fauntleroy, Gamma Iota, vice-president; Rodney N. Beck, Beta Lambda, secretary-treasurer; and Richard M. Ash, Gamma Tau, corresponding secretary. The new officers really pitched into their jobs and increased the membership and organized the Christmas dance into the great success that it was.

Many of the younger members of the alumni chapter are getting "war nerves." The first to get his call was Gerald Maloney, Kansas, '50, who is now en route overseas after receiving training at Camp Carson, Colorado.

JOE MODDRELL, JR.

Wilmington

After a rest we are becoming increasingly more active. Part of this activity is due to an injection of new blood from our new chapter at the University of Delaware. So far the response from the younger men has been excellent, but we heartily hope to see more and more of the older brothers present each Thursday.

We shall miss the inspiration and assistance of Brother A. D. Warner, Jr., who departed from our midst on November 28, 1950.

A January evening meeting is in the works and the next issue will carry a report on it.

It's good to be back in THE RAINBOW after a vacation.

of U. S. Highway 6 the G.A.R. Memorial Highway. His death cut short the final lap of this plan: he had intended to appear before the Nevada state legislature this year to persuade Nevada, the lone state which has not approved the project, to give its acquiescence.
