Delts of the Foreign Service

By RONALD R. FETT, North Dakota, '45

AS THE EYES, ears, and throat of the American people abroad, the Foreign Service of the Department of State has the duplex assignment of keeping our Government informed of international trends and of explaining United States' aims and attitudes to the remainder of the world.

The State Department has more than 300 missions in 75 foreign countries, and during and since World War II Delts have served in most of the leading capitals.

One of the most important areas in the peripatetic cold-and-hot war is Asia, and the pivotal point seems to be India. To LOY W. HENDERSON, Northwestern, '15, Ambassador to India since July, 1948, falls the crucial task of guiding American efforts to help Indians overcome their inborn suspicions of Westerners, to aid the Government in explaining to its people the fallacies of rosy Communist promises, and to get across the basic feeling of friendship which the American people have always felt for the people of India.

During the last war, Henderson served as consul at the American Embassy in Moscow and later as Minister to Iraq at Baghdad. A native of Arkansas, LOY W. HENDERSON, U. S. Ambassador to India, is received by PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, Prime Minister of India, and Mme. VIJAYA LAXSHMI PANDIT, sister of the Prime Minister and Indian Ambassador to the United States.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Mr. Fett is a member of the press section of the State Department's office of international information. After he had completed his undergraduate work at North Dakota, where he was editor of the campus paper and president of Delta Xi Chapter, he studied at the University of Illinois. An M.S. degree there was followed by summer study at the University of Utrecht, Holland. He joined the State Department in the fall of 1949.

he received his A.B. degree from Northwestern in 1915, later studied a year each at the University of Denver Law School and New York University Graduate School.

His first assignment overseas was with the American Red Cross in France in 1918, and later he was a member of the Interallied Commission to Germany for Repatriation of Prisoners of War. After serving with the American Red Cross Commission to Western Russia and the Baltic States in 1919-20, he was named to head the Red Cross activities in Germany.

Joining the Foreign Service in 1922, he drew as his first post vice consul at the Embassy in Dublin. After short duty with the Department in Washington, D. C., he was assigned to the Legations at Riga, Kovno, and Tallinn in the Baltic States in 1927. He first went to the Embassy in Moscow in 1934.

After returning to the Department in 1938, later serving as inspector of the Foreign Service, he returned to become consul of the Embassy at Moscow in 1942. A year later he was appointed Minister to Iraq. In 1945 he was recalled to the Department to become director of the Office of Near Eastern and African Affairs. In addition to his present duties as Ambassador in New Delhi, he serves as Minister to Nepal and makes frequent trips to the Legation at Katmandu.

Recently he said, "When I decided to enter the Foreign Service, I did so because I was convinced that a life of public service would for me be richer and more satisfying than one devoted to the pursuit of wealth or power. I believed that the Foreign Service offered a particularly wide and fruitful field of public service and have never had reason to alter my belief or regret my decision. Young men who are primarily interested in finding jobs offering them security, comfort, and easy living are not likely to be happy in the Foreign Service.

"A Foreign Service Officer will certainly not reach the top of his profession unless he has initiative, is willing to take risks, loves adventure, and is determined—regardless of the personal consequences—to promote the interest of, and to defend the integrity of his country. He should not be bookish but he must nevertheless be prepared to lead an intellectual life. He must never allow his powers of mental concentration to atrophy through disuse. There is no shortcut to high office in the Foreign Service. Nevertheless, ability is not only recognized by the government—it is sought after and prized."

Ambassador Henderson was in this country recently to participate in ceremonies incident to the first shipment of wheat to India under the new loan and in discussions relative to the Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

GEORGE A. GARRETT, Chicago, '10, has just completed a four-year tenure as Minister and Ambassador to Ireland. He was appointed to the Service by President Truman in April, 1947, as Minister to Ireland, and became Ambassador when the Legation in Dublin was elevated to the status of an Embassy in March, 1950.

Prior to his appointment, Garrett was a general partner in a business firm from 1920-47, to which he has now returned. He served as a first lieutenant overseas in World War I, after studying at Cornell and the University of Chicago.

NELSON TRUSLER JOHNSON, George Washington, '10, is a veteran of long service with the Foreign Service, much of it in China, and has served since April, 1946, as secretary general of the Far Eastern Commission in Washington.

He started his career in China as a student interpreter in 1907 and served as vice consul for varying periods at Mukden, Harbin, Hankow, and Shanghai before becoming consul at Chungking in 1914. Later serving as consul in Changsha and Shanghai, he returned to Washington in 1918 to become consul general at large. In 1925 he was named chief of the State Department's Division of Far Eastern Affairs and became Assistant Secretary of State in 1927.

Returning to China in 1929, he became Minister, and when the Legation became an Embassy, in 1935, he became Ambassador to China. He was transferred to Australia in 1941 to become American Minister at Canberra.

Thereafter he served at Aden in Arabia, at Lourenço Marques, Port Elizabeth, and Capetown in Africa, and at Barcelona, Spain. Moving to Paris in 1935, he served a five-year stint as consul in the Embassy there. In 1940 he returned to the Department before going to Brazil.

LLEWELLYN E. THOMPSON, JR., Colorado, '28, has served the past year as counselor of the American Embassy at Rome with the rank of Minister. He joined the Foreign Service soon after receiving his B.A. degree from the University of Colorado. His first assignment was as vice consul at the Legation in Colombo, Ceylon, in 1929. He transferred to the staff in Geneva in 1933 and returned to the Department in 1939 to become advisory member of the American Commission on the International Institute of Agriculture.

Moscow was his next assignment, where he served as second secretary and consul from 1940 to 1944. After further wartime service, as first secretary and consul at London, he returned to the Department to become chief of the Division of Eastern European Affairs. After serving as Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs for a year, he was assigned to Rome in June, 1950.

MORRIS N. HUGHES, Illinois, '22, was appointed counselor of the Legation at Bern, Switzerland, in May, 1949. During the last war he served as consul in Mexico City and Havana. After graduation from Illinois, he was engaged in real estate business before joining the Foreign Service in 1923 as a clerk in the American consulate at Montevideo, Uruguay. In 1928 he became vice consul at Porto Alegre, Brazil, and later served in Montevideo, Rome, Naples, Athens, Baghdad, and Tokyo.

He went to the consulate at Perth in June, 1948.

CHARLES RANGER ENLOW, Kansas State, '18, held several agricultural positions with the Foreign Service prior to return to private business last year. # Moderator of Presbyterian Church

THE HIGHEST OFFICE in the Presbyterian Church U.S.A.—that of Moderator—was given last May to the Reverend Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, Kansas State, '11. His election at the denomination's General Assembly in Cincinnati made him the second Delt in the last three years to head the Church.

The choice of Dr. Anderson, minister of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago, was a popular one. With more than twice as many votes as the other two candidates together, he was named on the first ballot.

Dr. Anderson has been pastor of the Fourth Church in Chicago since 1928. He served as assistant to Dr. John Timothy Stone until Dr. Stone's retirement as pastor emeritus in 1930.

Fourth Church, located near the heart of the city on Chicago's famous Michigan Avenue, has a membership of more than 3,000. A worship center for hundreds of transients and visitors, it also provides a student church home for many young people of nearby professional schools.

Through the years members of the church have conducted a vital program of personal evangelism, with the result that the congregation is stronger today than at any other time in its history.

Dr. Anderson's 23-year ministry in Fourth Church has challenged people in many walks of life. He has been particularly effective in bringing religion to the men and women of Chicago's professional schools. The number of young people from the church who have entered the ministry or the mission field is sizable.

The new Moderator began his post-college career not as a minister but as an engineer. He was only 18 when he was graduated from Kansas State College as a sanitary engineer, and he went to work at once on the Los Angeles Aqueduct in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Upon completion of that project he entered McCormick Seminary in Chicago in 1914 and after his graduation in 1917 was ordained by the Presbytery of Topeka, Kansas. He accepted his first ministry with the First Presbyterian Church of Ellsworth, Kansas.

When the United States entered World War I, he volunteered as a chaplain and served with the 103rd Infantry, 26th Division, in France. He received two citations for conduct on the field of battle.

With the cessation of hostilities, Dr. Anderson returned to Ellsworth, where he remained until 1922. From 1922 to 1928 he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Wichita, Kansas. During his tenure there, the church doubled its membership.

Dr. Anderson has been a leading advocate of the movement to reunite the nation's two largest Presbyterian bodies—the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. and the Presbyterian Church U.S., a southern body which split from the main group at the time of the Civil War. He has traveled the South extensively, speaking in many pulpits. For many years he has been a member of the Church's Committee on Cooperation and Union.

His service, however, has by no means been limited to reunion. He has served as Moderator of Solomon, Wichita, and Chicago Presbyteries; as Vice-Moderator of the General Assembly in 1943; and as a member of the Permanent Judicial Commission of the General Assembly. In Chicago he has been a member of the Church Extension Board, a director of the Presbyterian Home and the Presbyterian Hospital, and president of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago. In other phases of the Church's life he has served as a director of Maryville College and of McCormick Seminary. In 1948 he represented the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. at Geneva and was an alternate at the World Council of Churches meeting in Amsterdam.

During the past few years Dr. Anderson has also been of service to the church in Faith and Life Seminars and in the New Life Schools of Preaching. His missionary enthusiasm led the Fourth Church to help in the development and establishment of the Parish of the Everlasting Hills in Grand County, Colorado, where he generally spends his vacations.

He has been associated with various Masonic groups. He served for a time as Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery of Kansas. He has also been associated with Rotary International.

Honorary degrees have been awarded him by the College of Emporia, Illinois College, Washington and Jefferson College, and Northwestern University.

The two and one half million members of the Presbyterian Church look to Dr. Anderson for the high quality of leadership which he has brought to any project with which he is associated.

"He has given himself," reported Presbyterian Life, "... to providing a personal ministry to a congregation of rich and poor in the heart of a great city. He has spoken out from this pulpit again and again on civic and national issues. Even though he is rarely absent from his pulpit, he has found time to conduct missions in various parts of the country and to speak to students in many colleges."

Dr. Anderson's term as Moderator follows by one year that of another Delt—the Reverend Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Pittsburgh, '19, recently appointed President of Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh.

Howard Fischbach, Chapter Eternal

HOWARD FISCHBACH had a genius for finding ways of doing things for other people, particularly Delts, that could catch even a veteran like Hugh Shields off guard.

Take that winter morning of 1946, for instance, when Hugh was a guest in Dr. Fischbach's Cincinnati home. Following an early breakfast, Dr. Fischbach suggested the exercise of a brisk walk outdoors.

Enjoying the crisp, early-morning air, they chatted as they strode along—about the weather and horses and the news, but mainly about things Fraternal.

As they neared the end of their walk, Dr. Fischbach became silent. Then suddenly he turned to his companion and said earnestly:

"Hugh, I'd like to do something for Delta Tau Delta."

"Do something for Delta Tau Delta?" echoed Hugh in surprise. "Howard, you've been doing things for the Fraternity for more than 40 years!"

It was true. Few Delts, in the quiet performance of constructive, fraternal service, have ever done more. Yet it was characteristic of Dr. Fischbach that he should depreciate his personal contribution.

Inside, in front of a blazing log fire, Howard Fischbach discussed his new plan with Hugh Shields. From the conference emerged what was to be The Fischbach Residency Foundation, that component of the Educational Fund which has for the last four years been so helpful in enabling young Delt physicians and surgeons to accept highly valued residency appointments.

To the countless Delts whose lives have been enriched by having known Dr. Fischbach, the generous, unselfish impulse that fostered The Fischbach Residency Foundation was quite familiar. It was an intrinsic quality of the man.

Perhaps it helps explain why he was so admirably fitted for his life work as a surgeon. Son of a distinguished physician, he was graduated in 1909 from the Ohio State University College of Medicine. In the same year he opened practice with his father in Newport, Ohio. In 1919 he moved to Cincinnati. He was named a Fellow in the American College of Surgeons in 1921.

With his two Delt sons, Dr. William and Dr. Howard, Jr., he founded the Fischbach Memorial Group, a medical clinic, in the Carew Tower. Another Delt, Dr. Fred A. Stine, is also a member of the staff.

Prominent as an abdominal surgeon and gynecologist, Dr. Fischbach was affiliated with the Cincinnati Academy of Medicine, Ohio State Medical Society, American Medical Association, and the Surgical, Gynecological and Obstetrical Society. He was a member of Bethesda Hospital's surgical staff and the staff of Catherine Booth Hospital. A deeply religious man, he was a trustee of Clifton Methodist Church in Cincinnati.

In his professional work, too, Dr. Fischbach found time outside his practice to extend a helping hand to others. He was largely responsible for the founding of a medical center in the most remote part of the Kentucky hills. Regularly he and other physicians would spend a "holiday" at the clinic, to make free medical service available to the poor families of that region.

After long years of an exacting practice, Dr. Fischbach had only recently established a retreat near Flathead Lake, Montana, where he hoped to retire for well-deserved rest and reflection. He died there of a heart attack on April 22, 1951.

Dr. Fischbach had occasion a few years ago to refer to this paragraph from the works of Stephen Grellet:

I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do or any kindness I can show to any fellow human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.

One could almost put that down as Howard Fischbach's personal creed. In his Fraternity and in his professional career, he instinctively sought the path of helpful service.

You will not, however, find his deeds of service catalogued. Most of them were not of a nature that lends itself to precise enumeration, and they were invariably done quietly and without ostentation. But if you were to thumb through pages of old RAINBOWS, or if you were to look at accounts of Fraternity events, you would find again and again the name of Howard Fischbach. And those who knew him will tell you that he never merely "attended" an event. He was there to give his whole energy to whatever was good for Delta Tau Delta.

His loyalty and service were constant. Teaming up with the late Clarence "Dad" Pumphrey, he had a hand in installing chapters at Cincinnati, Miami, and Kentucky. Years later he was doing his share to bring new groups at Bowling Green and Kent State into the Fraternity. For his own chapter, Chi, and for Gamma Xi at Cincinnati he naturally reserved his greatest affection, and he seldom missed an opportunity to "do something" for both of them. Taking part in an initiation ceremony was both a gratifying experience for him and a memorable occasion for the new members.

In 1938 he received the Fraternity's highest accolade—a Citation to the Distinguished Service Chapter. Membership in that august body, however, did not signal his retirement to the sidelines; it only served to whet his already keen interest.

After the death of his intimate

GENERAL OTIS O. BENSON, JR.

BRIGADIER GENERAL OTIS O. BENSON, JR., Iowa, '29, serves as Commandant of the U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field, Texas.

One of the most recent recognitions of his distinguished military-medical career was his achievement of the John Jefferies Award for 1950. The award was given to General Benson by the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences for outstanding contributions to the advancement of aeronautics.

A graduate of Rush Medical College of the University of Chicago, General Benson is the author of approximately 20 articles on general and aviation medicine. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Public Health and Preventive Medicine, a fellow of the American College of Physicians, the American Medical Association, and the Aeromedical Association, and a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. During the current year he was elected to membership in the American Physiological Society.

His wartime overseas service was extensive. It included assignments as Assistant Surgeon with the North African Air Force; Surgeon, 15th Air Force; and Air Surgeon of the Army Air Forces, Mediterranean Theatre of Operations. Concluding his overseas tour in June, 1945, he returned to the Zone of Interior for duty as Surgeon of the A.A.F. Center, Orlando, Florida. He was subsequently assigned as Chief of the Medical Research Division in the Office of the Air Surgeon, Washington, D. C. In June, 1949, he was ordered to his present duty.

During his service overseas in the MTO and CBI, General Benson participated in the India-Burma, Naples-Foggia, Sicily, and Italy campaigns. Among his decorations are the Legion of Merit with Oak-leaf Cluster, Air Medal, Bronze Star, Honoris Causa Diploma and Observer's Wings from the Yugoslav Royal Air Force, and Army Commendation Ribbon. He also received the Croix de Guerre with Palm from the French Government for his participation as Air Surgeon of the 15th Air Force in aiding the liberation of Southern France.

General Benson's son is also a Delt. He is First Lieutenant Otis O. Benson, III, Miami, '49.

National President of Omicron Delta Kappa

W. GORDON JOHNSTON, Iowa, '25, Dean of the University of Denver College of Law, was elected national president of Omicron Delta Kappa, student leadership honor society, at the fraternity's annual convention last spring. He had previously served for six years as Western Deputy.

perience in scholarship, leadership, and cultural pursuits, dating back to his years at the University of Iowa, where he was president of Omicron Chapter. After he had piled up an impressive record of campus activities, he was graduated magna cum laude.

His legal schooling he obtained at George Washington University and Yale University; from the latter he received the LL.B. degree in 1928. From 1928 to 1932 he practiced law in Chicago with the firm of Hicks and Folonie, and in 1932 he joined the faculty of the University of Denver. He has been Dean of the College of Law since 1948.

During all of these years his interests and influence have extended far beyond the classroom. A member of the American Bar Association, as well as other legal organizations, he is a past president of the Denver Law Club. He is a member of both Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity, and Order of the Coif, honorary legal fraternity, and he is past president of the Denver chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. In 1942 he was acting adviser, section on legal education and admissions, of the American Bar Association.

In the legal field, he has been active as both a writer and speaker. He has published articles in various law reviews, including Dicta and the National Bar Examiner. He was co-editor in 1941 of the Review of Legal Education, published by the American Bar Association. As a speaker, he has appeared before numerous Denver clubs and civic groups, has made frequent broadcasts over Denver radio stations, and has addressed law schools of such universities as Indiana, Iowa, and Colorado.

Mr. Johnston has still found time for wide participation in dramatics and other arts. A member of the board of trustees of the Allied Arts Society of Denver, he has been a trustee also of the University Civic Theatre, the Denver Symphony Society, and the Pro Musica Society. For many years he was director of radio publicity for the Central City Opera House Association and he is former director of radio publicity for the Denver Art Museum. He has personally appeared in many dramas presented by the North Shore Circuit Theatre and the University Civic Theatre.

During World War II he was a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy Reserve.

The Fischbach Residency Foundation

—A Report on Four Years of Operation

APPROACHING its fifth year of operation, The Fischbach Residency Foundation has firmly established itself as one of the most worth-while components of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund.

Inspired by a spirit of unselfish service, the Foundation stands today as a living memorial to the man who was its founder. Already it has been the means of assisting four young Delta physicians and surgeons in completing their postgraduate training in surgery and medicine.

When the late Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Kenyon, '06, announced to Delta Tau Delta in 1947 that he was making a gift to the Educational Fund, he stated that he was impelled by a keen sense of obligation to his Fraternity. He hoped, he said, to repay that debt in some small measure by assisting other Deltas, through the Educational Fund, to complete their medical educations. Dr. Fischbach expressed, moreover, the desire that the new Foundation would suggest to other Delta alumni means by which they too could contribute to the Educational Fund, and that The Fischbach Residency Foundation would soon become just one of many similar projects.

The Foundation was established in February, 1947, by a cash donation of $15,000 to be administered through the Educational Fund. Acting in accordance with the wishes of the donors—Dr. and Mrs. Fischbach—the Board of Directors of the Fraternity invested the contribution in income-producing United States Treasury Bonds. The income earned on this investment provides scholarships for worthy members of Delta Tau Delta who are pursuing postgraduate work beyond internship in surgery or medicine. Such income available for scholarships has been supplemented from time to time by cash donations from Dr. Fischbach and others so that more than one medical student might receive aid.

The scholarships are outright gifts, entailing no obligation to repay, calculated to enable medical men to take advantage of much-prized residency appointments without undue hardship.

Selections for scholarships are made by a special committee composed of three men, all of whom, under terms of the bequest, shall be physicians and members of Delta Tau Delta. Candidates for scholarships must be members of the Fraternity taking graduate training beyond internship in a hospital recognized by the American College of Surgeons or by the American Medical Association. The recipient receives a monthly payment in an amount determined by the committee.

Dr. Howard Fischbach served as first chairman of the committee until his death late in April. Other members of the committee are Dr. Victor W. Fischbach, Cincinnati, '16, and Dr. Ernest E. Irons, Chicago, '00. Dr. Victor Fischbach, brother of Dr. Howard and himself a practising physician of Cincinnati, is a member of the medical faculty of Cincinnati University and a Diplomate of the American Board of Otolaryngology. Dr. Irons, president of the American College of Physicians and former president of the American Medical Association, has practised medicine in Chicago since 1903 and is clinical professor of medicine emeritus of the University of Illinois Medical School.

DR. WILLIAM M. FISCHBACH
Chairman of Committee

Dr. William M. Fischbach, Dartmouth, '34; Cincinnati, '34, son of Dr. Howard, succeeds his father as chairman and member of the committee. Both he and Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Jr., Cincinnati, '39, practised with their father in the Fischbach Memorial Group in Cincinnati and continue to carry on the work he started.

The performance of the members who have received scholarships under the Foundation has in every way vindicated the faith that Dr. Fischbach and his committee placed in the project's usefulness. All four recipients have made outstanding records. A brief summary of their careers follows.

Dr. Robert F. Hall, Colorado, '40, received the first scholarship on July 1, 1947. A graduate of the University of Colorado Medical School, he compiled an impressive academic record: He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa as an undergraduate and was graduated in the top one-sixth of his medical class. Following his internship in a Portland, Oregon, hospital, he served three years in the U. S. Army Medical Corps. After the war he completed a postgraduate course in orthopedics at the University of Iowa.

Specializing in orthopedics, Dr. Hall served the first year of his residency at Colorado General Hospital in Denver. He was reappointed for another term under The Fischbach Residency Foundation on July 1, 1948. During much of this year he was senior orthopedic resident at Denver General Hospital and had charge of two full wards, numbering approximately 70 patients.

Finishing his residency in July, 1949, Dr. Hall returned to his home town of Grand Junction, Colorado, where he has since been practising his specialty. In February of this year he was admitted by examination as a member of the board of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons.

Dr. George L. Torassa, Stanford, '42, was approved for a scholarship as of July 1, 1948. A graduate of Stanford University School of Medicine in 1944, he had interned at Stanford University Hospital in general surgery. During 1945-46 he became house officer in urology at the same hospital.

The following year he entered the Navy; stationed at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Seattle, Washington, he performed all major urological surgery at that post.

He pursued further graduate training in urology at The Charles T. Miller Hospital in St. Paul, Minnesota. In 1948 his essay covering experimental work in urology won second place in the annual nation-wide original essay contest sponsored by the American Urological Association.

In July of 1948 he returned to Stanford University as clinical instructor in genito-urinary surgery. He was also assistant visiting surgeon in genito-urinary surgery on the Stanford Urological Service at San Francisco County Hospital. During this period he founded the Stanford Urological Journal Club.

Completing his term under the Foundation in January, 1949, he formulated plans to develop private practice in San Francisco, California.

Dr. John S. Chambers, Kentucky, '38, received a Foundation scholarship beginning July 1, 1949, to complete the second year of his residency in thoracic (chest) surgery at the University of Michigan. Much of his work was done under the tutelage of another Delt, Dr. John Alexander, Pennsylvania, '12, professor of surgery and surgeon in charge of the section of thoracic surgery at the University of Michigan Hospital.

Another Phi Beta Kappa, Dr. Chambers secured his M.D. degree from Harvard University. After interning in surgery in a Boston hospital, he served for two and one-half years in the Army Medical Corps and returned to Harvard for a refresher course. Before he began his residency at Michigan, he was for nine months resident surgeon of the West Roxbury, Virginia, Hospital.

Dr. Chambers has written several articles for medical journals. His latest published work, "Tuberculous Cavities of the Lower Lobe," appeared in the June, 1951, issue of The American Review of Tuberculosis. Following the termination of his residency, he served for a short period at the Michigan State Sanatorium in Howell, Michigan. Since last March he has been practicing chest surgery in San Diego, California.

Dr. Albert H. Dudley, Jr., W. & L., '44, was chosen for a Foundation scholarship as of July 1, 1949. A 1946 graduate of the Medical College of Virginia, at Richmond, Virginia, he performed his residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland. His residency had been preceded by a tour with the Navy.

On July 1, 1950, he was promoted to chief resident of obstetrics of the Union Memorial Hospital and on the same date was granted a scholarship for another year under The Fischbach Residency Foundation. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, however, he was recalled to active duty with the Navy. He plans to complete his residency when he is released from the service.

As one of the first actively functioning projects of the Educational Fund, The Fischbach Residency Foundation has successfully demonstrated the infinite possibilities of the relatively new Fund. It has shown what new vistas the Fund has opened in making Delta Tau Delta a powerful force in the education and development of college men.

Dr. Barbour Heads Theological School

DR. CLIFFORD E. BARBOUR

DR. CLIFFORD E. BARBOUR, Pittsburgh, '19, former national moderator of the Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A., has accepted the presidency of Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, Tennessee, since 1928, Dr. Barbour resigned that position in July to begin his duties in Pittsburgh this month.

A native Pittsburgher, Dr. Barbour is himself a graduate of Western Theological Seminary. He received his doctorate from the University of Edinburgh Divinity School in Scotland. He was moderator of the Presbyterian Church during 1949-1950.

He is a former chapter adviser of Delta Delta Chapter at the University of Tennessee.

Howard Fischbach

Delt friend, Dad Pumphrey, Howard Fischbach became chairman of the Pumphrey Memorial Committee. With all his energy he threw himself into the task of providing a fitting memorial for the great little Delt from Buchtel. From 1946 to 1951 he pursued his goal with unrelenting determination. Now, as the project nears its completion, his plan of a model initiation hall built in connection with the University of Cincinnati Shelter will soon be realized.

Dr. Fischbach came to the first post-war Karnea, in 1946, as principal banquet speaker.

In that materialistic year, to men whom war had given materialistic lessons, he talked of ideals, of lofty sentiment, and of the things for which a Square Badge stands. He spoke from the heart, as he always did. By his sincerity, he made a magnificent contribution to that Karnea, which helped the Fraternity to move on to real progress in the following year.

Dr. Fischbach was a man unique among his fellows. His interpretation of Fraternity was the most literal. To him brotherhood meant extending the sincere hand of friendship and helpfulness to any and every Delt, and though he spoke frequently and eloquently of these things, he practiced them even more.

And what Delt would not agree that his benediction for the much-beloved Dad Pumphrey is no less appropriate for Howard Fischbach himself?

May God bless him and make his light so to shine that our Road of Life may be eternally illuminated by its glow of Warmth, Love, and Veneration for Delta Tau Delta.

Pittsburgh's Baseball Dinner

By WILLIAM P. RAINES, Pittsburgh, '48

"IF WE GET JUST one more Delt in this Pirate organization, I'm going to apply to Hugh Shields for an alumni chapter charter to hang up at Forbes Field."

With these words Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, keynoted the fifth Annual Baseball Dinner of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter on May 22.

Rickey was hardly exaggerating when he told the 200 undergraduate and alumni Delt at the dinner that he had an embryo chapter in the Pittsburgh Club.

Counting Rickey himself, there are seven alumni of the Fraternity in the Pirate management. John Galbreath is president; Branch Rickey, Jr., vice-president in charge of the farm clubs; George Sisler, chief scout; Jim Herron, the treasurer; Don Beach, chief accountant and purchasing agent; and William Turner, assistant to Branch Rickey, Jr.

The 1951 banquet, with its seven Pirate Delt, was a far cry from the first Baseball Dinner held in Pittsburgh in 1946, when only John Galbreath and Jim Herron were connected with the Buccos. At the invitation of his personal friend, past national President Norman MacLeod, Branch Rickey, then president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, attended the first banquet and heckled Galbreath and Herron about their hapless Pirates.

This year it was Rickey who had on his shoulders the problem of how to raise the Bucs from the National League cellar. Galbreath was in New York on business but offered Branch his sympathies via telegram.

Although faced with a man-sized task in renovating the Pirates, Rickey has the consolation of being associated with a team of veteran business and sports executives, many of whom by coincidence are fellow Delt.

John Galbreath, Ohio, '20, president of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club, is a prominent figure in the real estate business. President of the company that bears his name, Galbreath has been instrumental in making possible the large building program now going on in Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle. A past president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, he is the chairman of the board of trustees of his Alma Mater.

In the sports world, Galbreath is well known not only in connection with baseball, but as the breeder of fine race horses and a polo enthusiast. Delt who attended the Sixtieth Karnea well remember his hospitality in throwing open to them beautiful Darby Dan Farm near Columbus.

In Branch Rickey, new general manager of the Pirates, Galbreath has chosen baseball's finest "doctor" to cure his ailing Buccos.

Justly regarded as the "Mahatma" and "Mr. Baseball," Branch Rickey, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, has led a fabulous career during the past 69 years. He has been a school teacher, college baseball player, college football player, professional baseball player, professional football player, college coach, college director of athletics, a lawyer, a baseball manager, a club business manager, general manager, president, and rules maker.

Rickey started his major league career with Cincinnati in 1904 as a catcher and played with the St. Louis Browns in 1905-6, and with the New York Yankees in 1907. During World War I he served in France as a major in the Army Chemical Warfare Service.

Missouri Episcopal Leader

BISHOP WILLIAM SCARLETT

THE RIGHT REVEREND WILLIAM SCARLETT, Ohio State, '04, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Missouri, is an outstanding religious leader of the Midwest whose voice and writings have been a beneficent influence not only in his own church but in the national church movement as well.

An Ohioan by birth, he attended Ohio State University and completed his undergraduate work at Harvard University. After being graduated from the Episcopal Theology School, he was ordained a deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1909.

He served for two years at St. George's Church in New York and in 1911 became dean of Trinity Cathedral, Phoenix, Arizona. He remained there until 1922, during most of which period he was a regent of the University of Arizona.

In 1922 he came to St. Louis, his present home, as dean of Christ Church Cathedral. He was elected Bishop Co-adjutor in 1930. He has been Bishop of Missouri since 1932.

Bishop Scarlett's many activities embrace interests in varied fields. He is serving his third year as chairman of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America (formerly the Federal Council of Churches). In his own church, the Protestant Episcopal, he has headed since 1940 the Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction of the General Convention.

He is a trustee of both the Seabury-Western Theological Seminary (Chicago) and the Missouri Botanical Garden (St. Louis). A member of the national board of the Urban League, he is also a member of such organizations as the Foreign Policy Association and the American Council of Race Relations.

Bishop Scarlett's extensive writing dates back to 1926, when he was a contributor to Best Sermons. In the last three years he has edited three books: The Christian Demand for Social Justice, To Will One Thing, and Phillips Brooks: Selected Sermons. He also recently contributed to The Interpreter's Bible.

Honorary degrees have been conferred on Bishop Scarlett by the University of the South, Washington University, and the University of Arizona. Last year Harvard University paid him the tribute of an honorary D.D. degree.

Highest Honor at Texas Awarded Delt Senior

Gamma Iota Chapter's Joe Bruce Cunningham attained the highest honor which can be achieved by a student at the University of Texas when he was presented the Mike Flynn Citizenship Award late last spring.

The award is given in memory of a former Texas graduate, Mike Flynn, who gave his life in World War II. He had been an outstanding student and a leader in many undergraduate activities. Presentation of the award is made annually to the University senior who best personifies the high citizenship and campus leadership of Mike Flynn.

A senior law student, Cunningham is past foreman (president) of Texas Cowboys, honorary service organization, and a member of Friars, select senior honorary. His other activities include: Round-up committee chairman, freshman orientation committee, and interfraternity council.

Although his extracurricular activities and law studies keep him busy, Cunningham is active in Gamma Iota Chapter, which he has served as vice-president.

Westminster Completes 100 Years

VICE-PRESIDENT ALBEN W. BARKLEY, delivering the Centennial Commencement address.

THE FRONT COVER of this issue of THE RAINBOW honors Westminster College, Fulton, Missouri, which celebrated its one hundredth anniversary last spring.

On the occasion that commemorated the event, Delta Tau Delta drew top honors. At the College's Centennial Commencement on June 4, a Delt, Alben W. Barkley, Emory, '00, Vice-President of the United States, delivered the commencement address. He also received an honorary degree from the College. And Delta Tau Delta's Delta Omicron Chapter on that day received the Drosten Trophy, awarded to the social organization on the campus which has contributed the most to Westminster.

Through its one hundred years Westminster has maintained an enviable reputation in the field of the small liberal arts college for men. Founded as Fulton College in 1851, it was chartered as Westminster in 1853 when the Presbyterian Synod of Missouri established it as its synodical college. Today Westminster, under the leadership of President William W. Hall, Jr., is the only liberal arts college for men under Protestant auspices west of the Mississippi River.

Although the College limits its enrollment to approximately 500 selected young men, the student body last semester came from 23 states and Hawaii and five foreign countries. Whereas the average denominational college draws more than half its students from within a 50-mile radius, Westminster draws 80 per cent of its students from outside a 100-mile radius.

Westminster has been consistently graduating more than 40 per cent of its entering freshmen, which is well above the average in the liberal arts field. The fact that 69 per cent of the men graduating from the College go on to graduate study speaks well for the quality of instruction.

A distinctive feature of the College's curriculum includes the Institute of Public Affairs, which brings outstanding political lecturers to the campus, and the John Findley Green Foundation, which brings men of international reputation to the campus to speak on world events. Winston Churchill made his famous "Iron Curtain" address at Westminster in 1946.

Westminster is traditionally a school friendly to fraternities. Here we meet Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Alpha Order, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Sigma Chi.

From the day in 1939 when Delta Omicron Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was chartered, it has represented the Fraternity with distinction at Westminster. The contemporary Delta Omicron has proved its leadership by the winning of the Drosten Trophy for service to the College.

This honor was gained through solid achievement. Delta Omicron has captured the George H. English Scholarship Trophy, given to the fraternity with the highest scholastic average, four of the last six times that it has been awarded. The chapter has won the Homecoming Decorations Contest for three consecutive years. During the past year Delts walked off with the Athletic Supremacy Trophy by scoring 375 more points than its nearest rival.

Individual honors have also been won by members of Delta Omicron. Delt Tom Shields was elected president of the student body for the approaching college year. During the past year Delts were president of the junior class, acting president of the sophomore class, and vice-president of the senior class. On the yearbook staff Delts claimed the business manager, sports editor, and photographic editor. For the next edition Delts will continue their representation with the assistant editor, sports editor, and photographic editor.

In athletics Delts captained track and baseball and for the next season will have the two tennis cocaptains and the baseball captain. When the Westminster baseball team took the diamond last spring, eight of the nine starters were Delta Omicron men.

Delta Tau Delta congratulates Westminster College on its century of service in the education of youth and pledges its whole-hearted co-operation as the College confidently looks forward to another one hundred years.

These Delts were all starters on Westminster's varsity baseball team.

Hospital Graduation New Minnesota Dean

Two DELTS played major roles in a graduation exercise which was without precedent in the long history of Brown University.

On June 3 William P. Emerson, Brown, '51, raised himself on his cot at Rhode Island Hospital in Providence to accept his diploma from Dr. Henry M. Wriston, Wesleyan, '16, President of Brown. Serious injuries sustained in a fire at the Delta Shelter a few days earlier hospitalized Bill and prevented him from being graduated at the usual time with his classmates.

The ceremony was performed with all of the trappings of a regular graduation. Flanked by the University provost, the Dean of the University, and the commanding officer of Brown's NROTC, all attired in the traditional academic gowns and mortar boards, Dr. Wriston presented Bill his sheepskin and congratulated him on "using your head to save your own life."

The fire which ravaged the Beta Chi house had started in the early morning hours and had gained considerable momentum before it was discovered. Dr. Wriston said that Emerson, realizing fellow Delts had reached fire escapes or ledges outside their rooms and that he could not make it, got back into bed and pulled a second mattress over him, hoping to shut off the smoke and heat. Firemen found him there, unconscious.

Though he suffered from heat inhalation and burns of the legs and right arm, Bill was reported to be recovering satisfactorily.

BILL EMERSON, Brown Delt injured in chapter house fire, receives his degree on a hospital cot from DR. WRISTON, President of Brown.

DR. ERRETT W. MCDIARMID

DR. ERRETT W. MCDIARMID, Emory, '31, has been named Dean of the College of Science, Literature, and the Arts of the University of Minnesota. Founded in 1851, the SLA College is the oldest branch of the University.

Dr. McDiarmid had been Minnesota's librarian and director of the Division of Library Instruction since 1943. He is a former librarian of Baylor University and former associate librarian of the University of Illinois.

Past president of the American Library Association, the new Dean wrote the 1940 Library Survey and was co-author of The Administration of the American Public Library. He is the Minnesota Library Association's president-elect.

Achievement Award For Stanford Swimmer

THE NAME OF Robert Frojen, Stanford's great swimmer, has been inscribed on the Mint Howell Trophy at Beta Rho, in recognition of his outstanding achievements in athletics during 1950-51.

A tradition of Beta Rho Chapter, the Mint Howell Trophy was established in memory of one of the gamest athletes in sports history. Mint Howell was a Beta Rho Delt who got up from his hospital bed in 1923 to participate in the "Big Track Meet" with California, Stanford's arch competitor. He somehow managed to high jump six feet and gain Stanford the point which gave the Indians a tie with Cal's "wonder team." Howell died from pneumonia less than a year later.

Frojen, last year's winner of the cup, was captain of the Stanford swimming team and an A.A.U. All-American water poloer. He sparked the water polo team to a first-place tie in the Conference and led the swim team to fourth place in the National Collegiate Championships, as he personally garnered seven points.

In the P.C.C. Championships, in which Stanford easily won the team title, Frojen won the hundred breast stroke and placed second in the two hundred and individual medley events.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—IX

EDWIN HOLT HUGHES, Ohio Wesleyan, '89—1899-1901

EDWIN HOLT HUGHES—churchman, author, educator, orator, fraternity leader—how shall we record for all time his position in the church, in the Fraternity, his profound influence on all who knew him, his illimitable activity spanning a long life dedicated to his fellow man? How express in bleak black and white the twinkling eye, the gracious charm, the scintillating wit, the warmth and strength of character? How estimate the sense of irreparable loss at his passing?

On a cold, gray February day those of us gathered at Greencastle, Indiana, to pay final tribute to his earthly tenure heard him characterized by Bishop Richard C. Raines as one of the "Princes of the Kingdom." That deserved appellation lifted our sorrow, constituted a benediction, and brought us to the realization that Bishop Hughes had touched our lives in a measure which transcends death itself—that he will live forever.

Delta Tau Delta was privileged to feel the magic of his mind and personality and his constructive leadership for more than 65 years—for a longer period than the church, the colleges he served as president and trustee, or the countless thousands of peoples and organizations, large and small, which came within the orbit of his influence.

The Fraternity was 25 years old when, on October 28, 1884, Edwin Holt Hughes at 17 joined its ranks at Ohio Wesleyan University as a member of Mu Chapter—as he always liked to recall after about a year of waiting for the invitation he thought would never be extended. From that day on, he regarded membership in the Fraternity not as an added symbol of honor but as an added call to service. He caught the spirit of Delta Tau Delta at once. He was a working fraternity man, active in the affairs of Mu Chapter and Ohio Wesleyan University. He was a delegate to the Northern Division Conference and to the 1888 Karnea where he shared the speakers' banquet table with Professor L. S. Lowe, one of the Founders, and spoke on "The Future Deltas."

He was one of that group of pioneers, which included Alvan E. Duerr, who came along at Kenyon in 1889 to make up that incomparable team of Hughes and Duerr, that picked up the fledgling Fraternity by its bootstraps and through devotion to Fraternity ideals, vision, integrity, and high personal character established the permanent foundations of Delta Tau Delta which have made it an institution of merit and distinction.

Bishop Hughes' official positions

EDITOR'S NOTE: This tribute to the ninth President, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, was written by Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields for the May, 1950, number of THE RAINBOW, shortly after Bishop Hughes's death on February 12, 1950. No article published in our magazine in its 75 years has elicited more expressions of genuine appreciation. Since it is our desire to continue without interruption the series on Presidents of Delta Tau Delta as articles of wide general interest and also having some historical value, we reprint without alteration this story from our previous issue.

with the Fraternity included Editor of THE RAINBOW, in which position he served from November, 1895, until June, 1899; President, from July, 1899, until October, 1901; and member of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter, on which he had served continuously since 1932.

His contributions in the field of service to Delta Tau Delta are many and varied. As a steady beaconlight pointing up the spiritual concept of Fraternity, he stood through the years for the best in morals and ideals for the undergraduate and alumnus alike. The strength of his character, the brilliance and constancy of his devotion to the ideals of Delta Tau Delta, the unrelenting zeal with which he defended her interests and criticized her weaknesses placed Edwin Holt Hughes above official rank, made him by universal acceptance in and out of the Fraternity the Delta ambassador extraordinary, accountable only to his own conscience, the integrity of which had long since been established—the living symbol of a magnificent ideal in the eyes of the youngest freshman, who perhaps knew only of his name and fame, and in the eyes of the oldest alumnus, whose knowledge of or contact with the man himself had been a rich experience.

Among the measurable gifts to Delta Tau, as he always called her, was his concept of THE RAINBOW. After he became Editor in November, 1895, he had in one month mailed the November number, with practically all its writings from his own pen. During his editorship, he introduced the practice of confining THE RAINBOW to Fraternity subjects, a policy which is adhered to this day. Almost overnight the improvement in THE RAINBOW was apparent. It took on new dignity and seriousness. It became the vehicle for promoting the Fraternity's ideals. He set the cadence for the magazine for years to come. He provided the precept and example for fraternity journalism, and he acquired a pride and interest in THE RAINBOW which carried through his life. One of his fondest memories of official duties with Delta Tau Delta was of the years when he was Editor.

In 1897, he instigated the movement for revision of the Ritual. With Will D. Howe and Oscar Storer, he was author of the Ritual substantially as it stands today.

In his report to the 1901 Karnea at Milwaukee, President Hughes was enthusiastic in viewing the future. He expressed his confidence and his modesty in connection with his own efforts in behalf of Delta Tau Delta by saying: "Down the years I see with confident eyes the larger achievements of Delta Tau Delta. On the day of her coronation I shall be glad to feel that any small gem has been worked by my hands into the diadem of our Queen."

To this Karnea he recommended the establishment of an endowment fund, the better to insure the future growth and greatness of the Fraternity. He was the first person to suggest the idea, which the Fraternity translated into action two years later and which today is the Loyalty Fund.

During his presidency and down through the years, Bishop Hughes took the stump for many issues. He was much against honorary initiations: "Let fraternities rear their own sons and then we will allow them all the enjoyment of a just pride." Delta Tau Delta has no honorary memberships to this day. He visualized Delta Tau Delta as more than an undergraduate organization to cease when college days are over, and he saw the value of alumni interest in the work of the chapters and in furtherance of the broader scope of the Fraternity's influence: "We only say now to secretaries that they can do their chapters no service more valuable and lasting than to keep their alumni interested in the affairs of the general Fraternity."

He was ambitious concerning the kind of men who should be Deltas, and he urged chapters to select their best representatives as Karnea delegates: "Send men who are gentlemen without being fops, bright without being mouthy, and solid without being unduly reserved." He insisted on honesty in public relations and fair play in dealing with other fraternities: "To chapter secretaries: Do not offer rash expectations, and remember that comparisons are odious."

Unswerving in his convictions, he never hesitated to speak up for what he knew was right. And, though members of the Fraternity sometimes failed in the interpretation of Deltaism, he never lost faith, never abandoned hope, never broke ranks to hide his disappointment. With his unerring sense of timing, he would return to the battleground at the opportune moment, to inspire the Fraternity to greater achievements.

Addressing the 1919 Karnea at Boston, he drove another wedge for the cause of good scholarship which since the early days he had striven to make a distinguishing mark of Delta Tau Delta. He believed that scholarship was a requisite to the all-around man and that scholarship should be a man's major interest at college as it is his major reason for enrollment in an institution of higher learning. His efforts were largely responsible for establishing a satisfactory scholastic standing as a requirement for initiation.

On finances, he believed that no organization could endure without adhering to sound business practices. As Editor, he had pulled THE RAINBOW off the financial rocks, and it was he with Alvan Duerr who first focused the Fraternity's attention on its overall financial responsibility.

From the early days of his Fraternity career, he had advocated extending the frontiers of Delta Tau Delta to make its benefits available to many more fine young college men in institutions of high educational standing. In official capacities he was instrumental in the installation of Beta Chi (1896), Gamma Gamma (1901), Gamma Delta (1900), Gamma Zeta (1902), and Delta Theta (1926) Chapters. He was a source of great pride to the two chapters with which he had the closest personal connections—his own, Mu Chapter at Ohio Wesleyan, and Beta Beta, his adopted chapter at DePauw.

Many official gatherings of the Fraternity were made memorable by his addresses. At one time listed among the ten best orators in the world, he gave freely of this talent to Delta Tau Delta. He maintained a constant and active interest in the Fraternity until his death February 12, 1950. Just four weeks earlier, in Pittsburg, Kansas, he had attended his last Delt meeting, responding to an invitation to address Deltas of the Southeast Kansas Alumni Chapter.

He spoke truly in 1901 when he said, "I expect always to be her [his Fraternity's] loyal son and subject.

I cannot conceive that my eyes shall ever be too dim to look upon her stars; my ears too deaf to thrill to the sound of her magic words; or my heart too frigid to answer to the warmth of her splendid fellowship . . ."

Bishop Hughes was a prolific writer, giving his attention to church works, Fraternity articles, and to a number of books, the last of which, his autobiography, I Was Made a Minister, was published in 1943. In it, as always, he paid tribute to the Fraternity and to the friends he made through it. The return to the Fraternity for the associations he gained was thousandfold.

Upon the Fraternity as a whole he exercised an ever continuing influence by what he himself called his "unfailing idealism." None will ever know how many men, young and old, came within the ken of his searching yet sympathetic eye and went on with strengthened heart, taking something of his wondrous philosophy with them to stand them in good stead the balance of their lives.

An enthusiastic booster of the fraternity system and a partisan for Delta Tau Delta, it was with great love and pride that he watched his sons and then his grandsons become members of the Fraternity. The sons are: Ebbert M. Hughes, Mu, '19; Edwin Holt Hughes, II, Mu, '20, and Beta Beta, '21; and Francis M. Hughes, Mu, '31, currently Vice-President of the Fraternity. The grandsons are Edwin Holt Hughes, III, Beta Beta, '43, secretary-treasurer of the Northern Division; Allan B. Hughes, Beta Beta, '48; and Charles E. Hughes, Mu, '50.

An ardent churchman, with inflexible, high moral standards, he was a leader in the work of amalgamating the Methodist churches of America. He served as chairman of the Joint Committee on Union of the American Methodist Churches. His church career began in 1892 when, upon receiving his degree as Bachelor of Sacred Theology from Boston University, he was pastor at Newton Center, Massachusetts. There he remained until 1896. From that date until 1903, he was pastor at Malden, Massachusetts. In 1903, he entered the education-connected phase of his career, as President of DePauw, serving until 1908, when he was made a Bishop of the Methodist Church. He served as

In talking on the subject of the college student and selective service at the meeting of 90 men's fraternity leaders held in the Pentagon in Washington, D. C., April 26, Colonel Daniel O. Omer, general counsel to the Selective Service System, said the deferment of military service for some college students is necessary in order to maintain an adequate flow of trained men into those civilian fields which are essential to national leadership, and for training in highly specialized fields in which the military establishment needs trained men.

Then Colonel Omer made a significant statement which many fraternity leaders present promptly jotted down in their notebooks. He said: "Let us be doubly cautious at this time that we never approach a situation in which we have an 'educated man's war and an uneducated man's fight.' Let us remember that when a student is deferred from military service, it means merely that some other man has to go in his place, and that because of the fact that he is deferred, the boy next door may be fighting in Korea, since his number came up only because a deferment was granted to a man who would otherwise have been called earlier."

"If I could give only one word of advice or warning to college students," Colonel Omer continued, "it would be this: remember that in college towns you are under constant scrutiny by parents of men who are fighting and dying for their country on the field of battle. Always conduct yourselves, both on and off the campus, in such a way that these parents can accept the sound principle that our survival requires the deferment from military service of students who are training to be of greater value to their country."

IRAC Bulletin, July 7, 1951.

Our top military authorities are for college men and college training as strongly as anyone can be, except parents. They have made that attitude abundantly clear, in the face of some very vocal opposition. The foregoing statement therefore deserves the most careful consideration of every undergraduate Delt.

In other times it has been possible, perhaps even somewhat desirable, for the members of college communities to live in very lovely ivory towers, for which they afterwards feel some degree of nostalgia. In such times the antics and excesses of college students may be regarded with tolerance, and a certain amusement, at least by those who have shared the experience. Even in such times, we may not be conscious of the deep resentment felt by many of our less fortunate fellow citizens.

As this is written, it remains uncertain how long shooting will continue in Korea. In my opinion, it remains certain that every capable young man of the United States and Canada will devote a substantial part of his life to military service at some time, through many years to come. That service sometimes may involve little physical danger, but it will always involve privation and sacrifice. That being true, Colonel Omer's words will remain in point.

Every able-bodied undergraduate Delt, not a veteran, who is in college is there because he has chosen to go to school first and render his military service later, rather than the reverse. That may or may not have been a wise choice for the particular individual, but it was his choice. He was granted that privilege that he might be more useful to his country. In good conscience, he cannot abuse that privilege by offensive conduct any more than by failing to fit himself for more valuable service. If he does not maintain the required scholastic performance, his own privilege of choice will be terminated. If he and his fellows behave offensively, the privilege of choice will be withdrawn from all, no matter what the Pentagon desires.

In a broader sense, the self-restraint urged by Colonel Omer is no greater than should always be exercised. We hear something of unfavorable public relations for colleges. Because it is our field, we hear much more of unfavorable public relations for fraternities. The basic causes are inherent in the nature of the institution.

College men tend to come from the more fortunate parts of the population. Fraternity men are selected from that already select group. College men tend to have greater aptitude for education, and we hope fraternity men have at least as great aptitude as the average of their fellow students. College men, and certainly fraternity men, tend to have better bodies and greater physical capacities. College men, and particularly fraternity men, tend to have greater social adaptability and capacity for leadership. Many Deltas are entirely self-supporting, but most of our members usually have more support than the average of their fellow students, and certainly more than the average of men of their age group. People sometimes speak of fraternity men as a privileged group, and as if the fraternity were the privilege. It is not; it is simply an effect of an underlying situation.

When we assemble a group of men, we compound their individual capacities for good or evil. In fact, that is one of the purposes of group organization. When a group is equipped with better-than-average facilities for whatever action it chooses to take and has the exuberant physical health and lively spirits we associate with Deltas and others who are good companions, only a high degree of self-restraint will prevent excesses.

acting President of Boston University in 1923 and acting Chancellor of American University in 1933. From time to time he was a lecturer at Vanderbilt, DePauw, University of Southern California, Southern Methodist University, and Dickinson. He was a trustee of DePauw, Ohio Wesleyan, American University, and Dickinson.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Bishop Hughes held academic degrees which included A.B., Ohio Wesleyan, 1889; A.M., 1892, D.D., 1904, LL.D., 1909, Ohio Wesleyan; Bachelor of Sacred Theology, Boston University, 1892; Doctor of Sacred Theology, Syracuse University, 1903; LL.D., DePauw University, 1908; and LL.D., University of Maine, 1919.

In 1940, Bishop Hughes was retired, but he was recalled to the Washington Area in 1943 and again to the Wisconsin Area in 1947. He retired permanently in 1948, but his retirement encompassed an activity which would have exhausted many a younger and seemingly stronger man. Always greatly in demand as a speaker, he traveled thousands of miles each year during the period of retirement as well as before in the services of the church.

Though he had marked his eighty-third birthday two months before his death, he was youthful in spirit with an unexcelled zest for living. In 1946 he expressed his devotion to the ideals of Delta Tau Delta and, in a measure, his faith:

"... We shall discover that horizons refuse to disappear and the flying goal allures us onward—to heights so lofty that they may at first discourage, and yet so wonderful that we cannot give up their pursuit."

Dick Sullivan Joins Fraternity Field Staff

RICHARD A. SULLIVAN

DELTA TAU DELTA has announced the appointment of Richard A. Sullivan, Ohio, '51, as a field secretary.

Dick's rich chapter background provides excellent equipment for his work with the undergraduate chapters. At Beta Chapter he served successively as assistant treasurer, treasurer, and president.

In campus activities he compiled an equally impressive record, culminated by his election as president of the senior class and as a member of Torch, senior men's honorary. He was vice-president of Blue Key and of the Ohio University interfraternity council. A member of Delta Sigma Pi, business administration fraternity, he served at various times as business manager of the campus humor magazine, of the freshman handbook, and of the summer-session campus newspaper. He was also a member of the student council and participated in varsity track.

Prior to his matriculation at Ohio, Dick served one and one-half years in the U.S. Army infantry. As a member of headquarters of the U.S. Constabulary, he was stationed for nine months in Germany. He completed further training in Ohio's R.O.T.C. unit and in August accepted a reserve commission as a second lieutenant of infantry in the Army.

Yesterday's Guns, a Delt Hobby

Collecting antique guns has been a fascinating chase for this Delt and has made him a foremost authority on American firearms.

ONE OF AMERICA'S foremost authorities on firearms and the possessor of one of the finest collections of antique American arms is William M. Locke [Nebraska, '16] district group supervisor of The Travelers in Cincinnati.

Guns and group insurance might at first seem an incongruous combination, but in Mr. Locke's case it was almost inevitable. The acquisitive spirit was evident in him even as a small boy. At the age of six he was collecting antique bottles, and at the age of ten became also a stamp collector.

When, some years later, his interest became concentrated on guns, he was merely following an hereditary inclination. This is because William Locke is a direct descendant of the William Locke who landed at Charleston, Massachusetts, in 1634 and of the Ebenezer Locke who was one of the eight men of Captain John Parker's Company who in April, 1775, returned British fire in the historic engagement on Lexington Common, whence rang "the shot heard round the world." Add to these his maternal grandfather, Henry Glendenning, who was a pioneer frontiersman, and Mr. Locke's love for guns seems perfectly natural; for, as he explains, "America's beginnings depended largely on good, trustworthy arms and the admiration of fine firearms is a trait deeply rooted in American character."

His hereditary inclinations were emphasized in Mr. Locke when he was assigned to The Travelers office at Omaha, where he met Charles Nordin, one of the pioneer arms collectors in the Midwest. Through Mr. Nordin he met and became well acquainted with such figures of the Old West as "Diamond Dick" and Bob North, one of the early scouts who piloted immigrant trains to the West.

His friendship with these old-timers caused him to start collecting frontier arms, of which a number are displayed in his gun room at the Locke's home in Hyde Park (Cincinnati, not New York). His particular interest, however, is in early Colts and single shot flint-lock military pistols, the kind known as "horse" pistols, made in this country between 1800 and 1844.

Mr. Locke has collaborated with a number of authors of articles in arms publications. He says he has no literary talent, explaining that it all went to his sister, Adria Locke Langley, who wrote the best seller, A Lion Is in the Streets. He is a charter member and a director of the Ohio Gun Collectors Association.

The value of an antique arm, Mr. Locke says, is contingent upon its rarity, condition, and popularity among collectors. His quest for arms information and desirable specimens has taken him from cowboy huts in the Midwest to millionaires' mansions in the East. Early in his collecting career he recognized, however, that the supply of desirable arms in the Midwest was limited. Because the early gun makers were located in New England and Pennsylvania, he devotes his vacations to these sections of the country, seeking acquisitions for his collection.

One of the most impressive items of Mr. Locke's collection is a double-barreled shotgun and case once owned by King George the Fourth. The gun, which has a root walnut stock inlaid with plaquettes in gold of thistles and leaf scrolls, with the royal coat of arms in gold on the trigger guard and butt, and an engraved ivory buttplate, was made in Birmingham, England, in 1828. The inscription indicates that it was presented to the king by its inventor, the Reverend J. Somerville of Currie, Scotland. The rosewood case containing the weapon is a beautiful piece of craftsmanship, elaborately inlaid with a thistle design with the royal coat of arms in the center. The sequence of ownership is as follows: King George the Fourth; King William the Fourth; the Countess of Erroll, daughter of King William; the late Earl of Erroll; and Mr. Locke, who acquired the set when it came to America for auction in 1936.

One of Mr. Locke's most exciting acquisitions was that of a pair of Colt navy revolvers, made in 1861. Colonel Samuel Colt, who, like James G. Batter-son, founder of The Travelers, was a Hartford Yankee, was also like Mr. Batterson, a firm believer in advertising. He inaugurated the idea of passing out "samples," making certain, however, that they reached "the right people," such as high officers in the armed forces, and foreign kings and potentates. This policy was pursued after his death. Thus E. I. Root, a president of Colt's, presented a handsome pair of Colt navy revolvers to one Lewis Lippold, who, though he has never been identified by Mr. Locke, must have been a person of some importance, at least to the gunsmiths of his day.

The weapons apparently became separated shortly after they were presented to Mr. Lippold. Somehow one came into the possession of a Hartford man whose father had been a bluing contractor at Colt's for fifty years, and the other was acquired by another Hartford resident whose father was a noted sculptor. Neither gentleman knew that a mate to his gun was in existence. In 1946, Mr. Locke, during one of his gun-hunting excursions into the East, located first one gun and then the other. His being able to reunite the pair and to come into possession of them is what Mr. Locke calls "the chance of a million."

DR. ROBERT W. WAGNER, Ohio, '34, formerly an instructor at the U. S. Naval Academy and an associate professor at Oberlin College, was appointed last fall to a professorship of mathematics in the School of Science at the University of Massachusetts.

DR. WADE VOLWILER, Ohio, '38, assistant professor of medicine at the University of Washington, was one of eleven speakers to present papers before the first International Conference on Liver Diseases held in London, England, last summer.

The Ford Foundation, under the new leadership of PAUL G. HOFFMAN, Chicago, '12, former ECA director and a past President of Delta Tau Delta, has stirred the imagination of newspaper editorial writers. The following from the Los Angeles Mirror is an example:

"Something tremendous which could shape history not a little is happening quietly up Pasadena way, where the new Ford Foundation is establishing offices.

"The Ford Foundation is the world's largest philanthropic trust. It is endowed with securities of a book value of $238,000,000. It is likely that their actual value is closer to $1,000,000,000. The annual fund at the disposal of the trustees is estimated at approximately $50,000,000.

"This vast force for the benefit of human progress will be channeled into five areas of endeavor. Its grants will go for the advancement of peace, for the expansion of education, toward strengthening democracy, to world economic improvement, and to studies in human relations.

"The Ford Foundation opens mightily exciting prospects. With its resources, the way is clear for research and development work which could have a profound effect on world affairs . . .

"You'll hear more about the work of the Ford Foundation. Here is an agency set up, and adequately financed, to make war on the root causes of war and human misery. Pasadena, as the nerve center of this powerful force against evil, might become the world's City of Hope in a very real sense."

ROBERT C. DAVENPORT, Nebraska, '28, was recently honored as the home builder of the year when the housing development in Alexandria, Virginia, which he directs was selected as the best in the nation by the Southwest Research Institute. Mr. Davenport will be remembered by many Deltas as a field secretary of Delta Tau Delta from 1928 to 1932.

The survey on which the award was based was conducted in cooperation with the National Association of Home

Builders and the Land Urban Institute. Dr. Harold Vagtberg, president of the Research Institute, in making the award, stated that the jurors ranked Hollin Hills (Mr. Davenport's project) over 30-odd developments throughout the country considered by SRI to be among the nation's best.

Hollin Hills is comprised of approximately 135 homes, 65 of them now under construction. The typical house has three bedrooms and sells for approximately $13,000.

Larson Takes Over Critical Production Job

WHEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN set up the new Defense Materials Procurement Agency last month, he appointed as its head Jesse L. Larson, Oklahoma, '28, ex-boss of the War Assets Administration and since 1949 chief of the General Services Administration.

As head of DMPA (already called "Dumpa" in Washington), Mr. Larson is responsible to Charles Wilson for finding, buying, and expediting the production of 93 critical materials, such as cobalt, aluminum, and mica. The agency has been endowed with sweeping powers.

Mr. Larson, according to Time magazine, "has proved that he has resourcefulness and shrewd bargaining ability." A former Oklahoma lawyer, he was a colonel of artillery in World War II.

Baseball Dinner

Since entering the general management phase of the game with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1924, Rickey has seen his teams win pennants in 1926, '28, '30, '31, '34, '42, '47, and '49, and has basked in the sunshine of four world championships.

Branch Rickey, Jr., Ohio Wesleyan, '35, at first followed his father's footsteps as a catcher on the college team but did not pursue the playing phase of baseball. In 1935 he became business manager of the Albany, Georgia, club, a St. Louis farm, and found this work to his liking. In 1942 Branch, Jr., was named head of the Brooklyn Dodger farm system, a post which he now holds with Pittsburgh.

Of all the Pirate Delts, George Sisler, Michigan, '15, ranks second only to "Mr. Baseball" in national fame. First baseman with the St. Louis Browns and later with Washington and Boston in the American League, Sisler won a cherished niche in Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The father of Philadelphia's ace, Dick Sisler, George came to Pittsburgh late in 1950 as chief scout, having served in a similar capacity with Brooklyn during Rickey's regime there.

James Herron, Carnegie Tech, '32, Pirate treasurer, predates even Galbreath at Pittsburgh, having joined the Pirate organization in 1943. As treasurer, he has had the only pleasant job at Forbes Field in recent years, where loyal Pittsburgh fans crowd in to every game despite the lowly standing of their Bucs.

Chief accountant and purchasing agent for the Pittsburgh Pirates, Donald E. Beach, Ohio Wesleyan, '04, turned to the business side of baseball after a successful career in farm team organization, capped by the presidency of the Columbus, Ohio, club. His association with the Rickeys began at St. Louis and continued through the years at Brooklyn.

Rounding out the purple, white, and gold roster at Forbes Field is William G. Turner, Ohio Wesleyan, '36, assistant to Branch Rickey, Jr. Like the Rickeys, Sisler, and Beach, Turner is a veteran of St. Louis and Flatbush, having held executive posts in the farm systems of those two clubs.

After the introductions at the banquet, Delt undergraduates and alumni listened intently while Branch, Sr., delivered an off-the-record appraisal of the Pirate players. Before adjourning to the baseball field, the audience gave a final round of applause for Pittsburgh Radio Sportscaster Rosey Rows-well, who served as emcee, and for Banquet Chairman Bob Soles and his committee.

What happened when the Pirates clashed with Brooklyn is still a painful sore in the memories of the Delts who braved four hours of rain, thunder, baseball, mud, lightning, and grounds keepers' antics, only to see their Pirates go down to a humiliating 17-8 defeat.

Only the promise by Branch Rickey that next year the score will be different lifted the dampened spirits of the Delt fans.

To make sure that the "Mahatma" keeps his promise of victory, Alumni Chief Malcolm Corner secured Rickey's pledge to attend the 1952 Baseball Dinner with his "Forbes Field Chapter."

"Tradition" is a word most often associated with decades of repetition and careful nourishment, but the Delts who attended the fifth Annual Pittsburgh Baseball Dinner sensed that a lasting tradition had been born and was well on the way to maturity.

President's Page

These circumstances, some of which are accidental and some of which are God-given, make Delts individually some of the most fortunate people who have ever lived. That good fortune imposes an obligation to behave as the best citizens of our college and national communities. Greek-letter men and women carry the load of campus activities, not to the exclusion of others, but because they have the temperament and ability to do the job. It is right that they should. Greek-letter men and women have also created many of the most serious campus problems, for exactly the same reason. That is no longer excusable.

A boy becomes a man, if he is going to, by the time he completes basic training in his country's uniform. Delts and college men generally have no excuse for not becoming men, and abandoning infantile things, within the same period after they have entered college. If they put aside childish things, they will justify the confidence of our military leaders; if they don't, another approach undoubtedly will be tried.

THE 61ST KARNEA

August 31,
September 1, 2, and 3, 1952

Grand Hotel
MACKINAC ISLAND,
MICHIGAN

FIRST RESERVATIONS: Honors for first reservations for the 61st Karnea go to two former Presidents of the Fraternity—N. Ray Carroll, Western Reserve, '08, and W. Harold Brenton, Iowa State, '20—whose promises to attend were received in the same mail.

This Delt was a well-known poet, author, literary critic, and foreign diplomat who lived from 1859 to 1942. He received wide recognition for his work in the foreign service during World War I.

A member of Delta Chapter, he was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1878. A few years later he obtained a Litt.D. degree from George Washington University.

He began his overseas career in 1893 as U.S. consul at Athens, Greece. In 1899 he returned to this country to become literary editor of the Chicago Times-Herald. In 1901 he transferred to the Chicago American, where he remained until 1903.

Two years later he returned to Athens to become U.S. consul general. For the next 19 years he served his country in Asia Minor, occupying the post of consul general at Saloniki and Smyrna in Turkey and at Budapest in Hungary, as well as at Athens.

He was in charge of the interests of Great Britain, France, Italy, Russia, Serbia, Montenegro, and Rumania in Asia Minor from the outbreak of World War I until April 6, 1917, distributing relief among needy civilians and prisoners of war. For this service he received the official thanks of the British and French governments.

Other governments and agencies acknowledged this Delt's humanity. American missionaries sent him their vote of appreciation for his efforts at Smyrna in behalf of the Christian population, and the Greeks made him a commander of the Order of the Saviour. He was decorated a Knight of the Order of Gregory the Great.

During most of his life, he had been writing with wide appreciation. Poems of an Exile and Songs of the Lowly are two of his better known collections of poetry. The Edge of Hazard is among his novels, while Recollections Grave and Gay details many of the high lights of his diplomatic career.

His literary talent was recognized by the Greeks by his election as an honorary member of the Athens "Parnassos" in 1908. Many of his poems appeared in early issues of THE RAINBOW.

During the 1920's and 1930's this Delt of Epsilon Chapter (Albion) was America's foremost landscape artist and pre-eminent in the field of animal life.

Working in both oils and water colors, he turned out consistently meritorious products which won honors in national art competition. Among these were first prize from the National Arts Club (1929), Speyer Prize from the National Academy of Design (1923), Gold Medal from the Allied Artists of America (1927), and the $2,000 prize in national ranch life competition (1929).

Also a recognized authority and lecturer on art, he was president of the Allied Artists of America from 1919 to 1926 and president of the New York Society of Painters from 1928 to 1935.

His paintings are displayed in the National Gallery (Washington, D. C.), the Detroit Museum of Art, the Dallas Museum, the National Arts Club (New York), and in many theaters, colleges, and private collections.

He died on May 7, 1947, at the age of 76.

His painting, "The Old Mill Pond," was donated to Albion College in 1936, in the year that he was awarded the honorary LL.D. by his Alma Mater.

A man who carved an outstanding career in both engineering and education was this Delt, one of the most eminent gas engineers in the world and for 25 years President of Stevens Institute of Technology.

Born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1851, he came to the United States as a child and at the age of 14 went to work. After he had worked his way up to secretary and superintendent of a gas light company, he applied to Stevens Institute for permission to attend on a part-time basis. There he became a member of Delta Tau Delta in Rho Chapter and amazed the entire faculty by completing work for a degree in only four years while holding down regular employment outside.

From 1881 to 1885 he was chief engineer of another lighting company, and for the next nine years he was general superintendent and chief engineer of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia. In 1892 he and a friend formed an engineering firm with offices in New York and London through which he gained wide recognition as a gas engineer.

He became President of Stevens Institute in 1902, serving until 1927. For 20 years of this period he was also president of the school's board of trustees.

One of the most important steps that he took at Stevens was to introduce a course in the business features of engineering, which he conducted himself with notable results. He was responsible also for bringing the help and interest of Andrew Carnegie to Stevens. He was a trustee and member of the executive committee of the Carnegie Foundation for Advancement of Teaching.

Under his leadership, the work of the Institute was immensely broadened and its enrollment tripled. Large additions were made to property, buildings, and equipment, greatly enhancing the institution's value and reputation in the field of technological education.

This famous Delt died August 14, 1927.

Loan Fund Record

THE FRATERNITY'S Undergraduate Loan Fund, a revolving account of more than $40,000, in its thirty years of existence has accounted for more than 430 loans, totalling approximately $100,000, to deserving undergraduate Delts. The Fund has enabled scores of members to complete their college educations.

Typical of the gratitude frequently expressed by those who have benefited by an undergraduate loan is this comment recently received from a younger Delt who is now in the service of his country:

"I would like to express my gratitude . . . Without the loan it would have been impossible for me to remain a member of _____ Chapter during my final semester. I need not tell you how much it meant to me to be able to remain with the men with whom I had associated for three years. Now, more than ever, the memories of my time at _____ University and _____ Chapter are a treasure from which I can never be parted."

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alpha—Allegheny

DELTS ACTIVE ON CAMPUS AND IN INTRAMURALS

Alpha Chapter's president, John Wayne "Hoot" Gibson, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Allegheny College IFC for the coming year. John Karras, who recently starred in the role of Peter Stuyvesant in the college production of "Knickerbocker Holiday," was appointed editor of the college literary magazine.

Many Delts occupy positions in the various honor fraternities around the campus. Phi Beta Phi claims Phil Choquette, "De" Myers, Ken Heasley, Bill Walker, and Jim O'Roark. Phi Gamma Mu honors Bob Dornhoffer and Arnie Lewis.

INTRAMURAL HIGH LIGHTS

Paul Shannon, for the fourth consecutive year, took first honors in the annual college table tennis tournament. Shannon has built up an incredible record, having lost only two games out of 38 in match play. Shannon lost those two games in the finals in his freshman year, before going on to win the fifth game and the meet. This year Phil Choquette was defeated by Shannon in the semi-finals to give the Delts two men high in the meet.

Arnie Lewis led the Delt track team in the spring intramural meet with three first places. "Ace" copped the mile, the half mile, and the broad jump.

SHELTER HOUSES ALUMNI BANQUET

Alpha held a very successful alumni banquet at the Shelter on June 10. Judge R. E. McCreary, Alpha, '18, the present judge of the 36th Judicial District in Pennsylvania, was the main speaker. Rex Cox, '26, chairman of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, did his usual excellent job as toastmaster. Harley D. Carpenter, '09, was the eldest alumnus at the banquet.

More than 35 alumni attended the banquet along with 20 actives. The alumni association re-elected the same officers who served so capably last year. The preparations for the welcoming back of the alumni were headed by Ned Vidal, with assistance from Jack Lang, Phil Willmarth, and the chapter.

A Mothers' Week End was also handled earlier by this committee. More than 20 mothers were in attendance for the banquet where they heard the guest speaker, Harvey Herring, Allegheny College Director of Admissions. Good Delt hospitality and entertainment in the Shelter ended an enjoyable time for all. Featured in the entertainment were color movies, taken by the actives, of last year's spring formal and its preparation.

Beta—Ohio

DELTS COP FIRST PLACE IN ANNUAL SING

Competing with eleven other fraternity groups, Beta Chapter took first place in the annual Torch Sing at Ohio University, held during the largest Mother's Week End in the campus' history. Two selections, "Fierce Was the Wild Billow" and "The Navy Hymn," were the chapter's contributions to the event, which had brought third and second place honors in the last two years.

ANNUAL FAMILY EVENT HELD

Sixty-seven Beta Chapter mothers were on hand for the annual week end event. The moms, as in former years, took residency in the Shelter and annex.

CHAPTER CAMPAIGNS FOR PROM KING

Following this favorite "family" event was the traditional campaign for J-Prom King, with the chapter's popular emcee and comic, Bob Finley, taking second-place honors in the judging. The Junior Prom highlighted that week of parades, "leg-art" skits, and general hilarity.

ACTIVITY LEADERS IN CHAPTER

Among those honored, Chapter Members Bob Finley and Dick Sullivan received major spring recognition by being tapped for Torch, senior men's honorary. Bob has served as senior class vice-president, a member of Campus Religious Council, and president of Newman Club. Dick, former president of Beta, was senior class president, business manager of the Ohioan magazine, vice-president of IFC, business manager of the freshman handbook, and a member of Blue Key, Student Council, and Men's Union Planning Board.

DAVE NANTZ WINS FIRST IN HIGH JUMP

Dave Nantz, a member of OU's varsity track team, placed first in the high jump competition in the Mid-American meet, and garnered fifth place in competition among over 20 colleges for all-Ohio honors.

FAREWELL TO GRADUATES

The chapter's social season was concluded with the spring formal at the Athens Country Club. Honoring 21 June 9 initiates, who brought the chapter total to 980 since its founding, the dance also bid farewell to 14 June graduates. Another three will take leave of OU in August ceremonies.

Gamma—W. & J.

DELT GRIDDERS BEGIN EARLY DRILLS

Warming up in pre-registration football practice this fall are John Carney, starting right half, and Bill Albee, starting right guard. Both are juniors. They will receive support from sophomore Delt Backs Frank Dunbar and Dick Hoffman.

Glee Club of Beta Chapter, winner of Ohio's Annual Torch Sing.

BROTHERS ARE CAMPUS LEADERS

The campus scene is controlled by iron hands in the velvet gloves of John and Bill Inglis, juniors, who lead in government, publication, and religious activities. Bill is president of the Student Council and a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity. He shares honors with his brother in the R.O.T.C. honorary, Pershing Rifles. John is president of the Student Union, student organization devoted to constructive charitable work; he is also editor of Pandora, W. & J. yearbook.

SHELTER RECEIVES RENOVATION

An extensive rushing program, outlined by President Keffer and Rushing Chairman Al McGhee, called the brothers back from summer vacation early to help in a general clean-up program designed to present the most attractive house on the campus to prospective rushers. A new kitchen, new flooring, new plumbing fixtures and piping, and a shiny new coat of paint are among the improvements added to the Maiden Street Shelter since the close of 1951's spring semester.

Delta—Michigan

WIN CUP IN INTERFRATERNITY SING

Under the capable leadership of Gerry Van Syoc, the Delts emerged victorious in the traditional Interfraternity Council Sing. Singing before 3,000 demonstrative fans, the Delts outpointed ten other finalists in the sing, to cop the handsome, gold loving cup, while our sponsoring sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma, yelled its approval. After the decision, the winners returned to the stage for an impromptu encore of "Delta Shelter," while the Kappas basked in reflected glory.

HOLD CAMPUS OFFICES

When classes resume this fall, Delts will be found occupying numerous positions on campus. John Purvis has been appointed as the new treasurer of the Interfraternity Council, while Chris Brown was appointed to the Executive Council of the Michigan Union. If Uncle Sam does not get him first, Jack Bay will be acting as treasurer of the Business Administration School, as well as treasurer of the Men's Glee Club. Jim Stoddard was elected vice-president of Tau Beta Pi, and Doug Cutler is serving his third term on the Student Legislature.

FOUR TAPPED FOR HONORARIES

Delta Chapter is fortunate in having several men initiated into honoraries. John Purvis was tapped by Druids, senior literary school honorary for men, and Wally Pearson was tapped by Sphinx, all-campus honorary for junior men. Bill Matthews is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalism fraternity, and Bill Allen made Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary.

RETURNS FOR GRID WARS

In sports, Frank Keck, who won numerals in both golf and football last year, will be out for the gridiron team again.

Olaf Karlstrom, freshman numeral winner in wrestling, will be trying for a spot on the varsity this year.

PLANS MADE FOR SCHOLARSHIP IMPROVEMENT

For the coming year, Hal Hansen, our popular president, and the scholarship committee have made definite plans for improvement in scholarship. A progress chart has been obtained, and we are in high hopes of improving our academic average.

Epsilon—Albion

WILL CELEBRATE 75TH ANNIVERSARY

June 3 saw the close of another successful year for Epsilon Chapter. Though the year closed in a flurry of activities, the coming year was not forgotten. Plans were already being laid for the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the chapter. It was decided that a special effort would be made to get all the old and new alumni back to the chapter house in October, during the homecoming week end. At this time the chapter will devote the whole week end to the celebration of the 75th anniversary. There will be a banquet with guest speaker to top off the occasion.

BARBECUE BRINGS DOWN CURTAIN

The most enjoyed closing activity of the current school year was the annual Fraternity barbecue, which was held at Swain's Lake. The whole chapter turned out and made this one of the outstanding social events of the school year.

DELT SONGSTERS TRIUMPH

As the year drew to a close the yearly Phi Mu Sinfonia fraternity song fest was held. At this event Delta Tau Delta took top place, tying with the Tekes, as John Hunnon directed the 50 voices through "Dancing in the Dark" and a new sweetheart song composed for the occasion by John.

Zeta—Western Reserve

EXCHANGE STUDENT HONORED

With the end of the spring semester, Zeta once again found itself completing a successful year. Saturday, June 9, was initiation day for six members of our spring pledge class. The evening before, our spring formal was held at the Lake Forest Country Club.

Hans Hallier, an exchange student from Germany, was presented with a Delt recognition pin as a remembrance of his stay in Cleveland. Hans was given social privileges during the year to help acquaint him with the brothers and fraternity life in the United States as well as to give him a retreat for recreation.

Social Chairman Bob Fuzy kept us all busy with other events, such as a picnic with our Kent State brothers of Delta Omega Chapter, and parties with other Reserve fraternities. Our famous "Mexican Hat" party again proved to be a tremendous success.

TAX STAMPS BUY T-V SET

Rush Chairman Al Oldenburg has the important job of rushing well under way. With the assistance of his committee, he has planned some outings for this coming summer. Many contacts with the rushees have already been made.

A fine example of co-operation by the chapter is the collection of tax-stamps for the purpose of buying a television set. Enough stamps were saved to help purchase the set and it is sure to provide the actives, as well as the rushees, with a great deal of pleasure.

DELTS DOMINATE "R" CLUB

On campus, the Zeta men are doing more than their share. Brothers Ralph Delta Chapter sings its way to first place in Michigan's Interfraternity Sing.

Engle and Dick Walters are the president and vice-president, respectively, of the sophomore class. Al Oldenburg is the "veep" of I.F.C. and Bill Shew holds an important office in the Student Council.

Reserve's "R" Club is dominated by Delts who hold three out of four of the major offices. Bob Fuzy is the vice-president, Al Oldenburg the treasurer, and Dick Everhard the secretary. In other organizations, Don Seymour is our newest representative of Phi Beta Kappa and Bob Fleck is a member of the Phi Society. Jack Huddle was initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, and Bob Malloy is the circulation editor of the Reserve Tribune.

CHAPTER WINS SEVERAL SPORTS TROPHIES

The intramural wrestling, swimming, foul-shooting, track, and two baseball trophies were won this spring. All of this success did much to put us on the winning road for the all-sports trophy for the second year.

In the varsity sports department, baseball, tennis, track, and golf had Delt members wearing the uniform of the Red and White. Gordon Bower pitched a great record for a first-year man. Ralph Engle proved to be a most valuable freshman on the courts. Chuck Wiedman was one of the point-getters of the cinder-men and ended his first track season by tying for first in the City Meet pole-vault contest.

The golf team was nearly a Delt team with Jim Goldie, Bill Taake, and Al Oldenburg serving as three of the four-man team. Goldie was the leading point-scorer for the second year in a row, and with all three of these men returning next year the same type of success will be had.

Iota—Michigan State

DELTA HEADS COUNCIL

Iota Chapter continued its domination of Michigan State's Student Council as Gaylord Sheets, Jack Winklejohn, Dale Rhodes, and Jim Slezack were elected to the governing body. Sheets went on to be elected president of the Council. This victory marked the second time in three years that a Delt has headed the Spartan governing group.

IOTA WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Frank Field's sizzling 80 led the Iota linksmen to victory in the interfraternity golf tournament. Don Denton, Ray Steffen, Grant Dalcour, and Ken Ketzler followed Field around the links in a highly contested match that saw Iota win over Psi Upsilon by one stroke.

Winning the golf championship climaxed an intramural year which saw Iota finish among the leaders in all intramural sports.

IOTA MEETS EPSILON

In one of the most successful Delt functions ever held in Michigan, Epsilon Chapter from Albion beat Iota in a closely contested softball game.

The game was only a part of the get-together of these two chapters. The game and party marked the inauguration of an annual function between the chapters and also saw Epsilon carry home the brown jug that had been donated by Iota's pledges. The fete, held at Brother Ed Pino's farm outside Lansing, was hailed as a great strengthener of interchapter relations.

DELTA RULE STUDENT UNION BOARD

Having six men elected to the Student Union Board gave Iota the largest representation to the governing body of any Michigan State group.

Jack Winklejohn was elected to the board of directors. Others named to the Board were: Lee Colling, Don Ellis, Jim Slezack, Stan Mutersbaugh, and Duane Vernon.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

MAINTAIN HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

As the 1950-51 academic year draws to a close, the men of Mu can look back with pride over their accomplishments. Our first-place scholarship standing has been maintained; we have been well-represented in all fields of campus activity, including journalism, honoraries, student government, YMCA, and athletics; and a well-rounded social program has been carried out.

WHITE ROSE FORMAL HELD

The successful "White Rose" formal was held in May, with the Shelter decorated inside and out with simulated rose arbors. To round out the social season, the first annual baseball game was held between the pinned and unpinned men of the chapter, with well over 100 persons taking part in the buffet supper before the game and the party afterwards.

THREE RECEIVE PHI BETA KAPPA KEY

Seniors Don Berg, Maurice Cowdrey, and Dick Rosser were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, making a grand total of five Delts in that organization this year. The last athletic recognition chapel brought up a total of eleven Delts this year who received their major athletic awards on various Bishop squads.

FIFTY EXPECTED TO RETURN

The prospects for next year are excellent. Despite the graduation of nine seniors this June, well over 50 actives will return to the chapter in September prepared to make next year the best ever for Mu Chapter.

Omicron—Iowa

PLACE IN UNIVERSITY SING FINALS

Omicron closed her doors on one of her most successful years on June 9, 1951, looking backward with satisfaction and forward with confidence.

The Delt glee club reached the finals of the University sing, placing second among the eight finalists.

CHAPTER HAS SHARE OF B.M.O.C.'S

Omicron also had her share of big men on the campus. Jim Grotenhuis was elected president of the Central Party Committee; John Lenaghan heads Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classics fraternity; Tom Gilliland is vice-president of the Young Republican League; Al Divine was elected corresponding secretary of Theta Tau, professional engineering fraternity; and Bob Sweet is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity.

HOLD SPRING FORMAL

The spring formal, held in the Shelter, was a huge success. The Shelter was profusely decorated with yellow and white flowers.

Rho—Stevens

STRIVE FOR THIRD WIN OF IFC TROPHY

The month of May saw the beginning of the interfraternity sports competition for the I.F.C. trophy. The softball finals have already been completed and Jack Wilcox's team came through with a close second.

Rho at this writing is deadlocked with Sigma Phi Epsilon in total number of points and the pressure of trying to win the trophy for the third straight time, in order to retire it, was evident in two or three of the games.

SPRING SPORTS WEEK END CLIMAXES YEAR

Spring Sports Week End, May 11, 12 and 13, put a climactic finish to the social activities of Rho for the current school year. The house was turned over to the girls on Friday and Saturday nights. Each girl was presented with a souvenir and at the Sunday picnic the brothers' dates played the pledges' dates to a tie game in softball.

WELCOME FOR ALUMNI HELD

Alumni Day for Rho was planned for the same date as the Stevens Alumni Day which provided an opportunity for visiting among a greater number of alumni.

An all-day party was held to keep the graduates in a good mood as plans are being made for an all-out call to the alumni next year to have them present at all our affairs.

"CINDERELLA" RIFLE TEAM

Congratulations to Brother John Evers and Pledge Kay Hurtt, both of whom scored over 190 out of 200 in all three National Rifle tournaments won by the Air Force ROTC team of Stevens. A New York City newspaper called it the "Cinderella" rifle team of the United States.

Tau—Penn State

SPRING CARNIVAL WEEK END HELD

The spring semester has, as usual, been a busy one here at the chapter with intramural sports and Spring Week taking up most of our extra time.

The biggest thrill of the spring carnival week end was the naming of Barbara Clopp, sponsored by the chapter, as Miss Penn State and queen of the Spring Week End festivities. For our house party, we had a formal dinner dance. The dance was held outdoors on the tennis court which was elaborately decorated as a Japanese garden with paper lanterns, ming trees, and a small bridge.

Following custom, the week after the spring house party was reserved for the parents.

NAMED OUTSTANDING NAVAL STUDENT

Several members of the house were picked for distinction this semester. Bill Mathers was named outstanding naval student, and Al Marshall was elected vice-president of the Penn State Christian Association.

Upsilon—Rensselaer

SHELTER REDECORATED

Upsilon looks back on a school year that was very good. It brought many improvements to the house. The living room of the Shelter was completely redecorated and refurbished, improving the interior appearance greatly. Repainting the cellar and furnishing it with the old living room furniture added much to these rooms.

The two past pledge classes also finished their pledge projects during the spring term. The outdoor fireplace, built by the fall pledge class, makes possible many outdoor picnics and weiner roasts in the back yard. This fall, the brothers of Upsilon returned to school a week early to do some more redecorating and work on the house in preparation for the new term. The dining room was the main project for the week. It was completely repapered and painted, and new drapes and chairs were purchased.

LILLIS ELECTED LACROSSE COCAPTAIN

The previous spring's sports season found Delta Tau Delta well represented on Rensselaer athletic teams. Six Deltas were letter winners on the R.P.I. lacrosse team and two more won letters on the baseball diamond. Bill Lillis, one of the outstanding players on the lacrosse team, was elected cocaptain of the squad for next year.

TWO MEN TAPPED FOR HONORARY

Congratulations to House President Dick Holmes and "Red" Ferrell, who were tapped for Phalanx last spring. Phalanx is the senior honorary society at Rensselaer.

ALUMNI TURN OUT FOR REUNIONS

It was good to see many Delt alumni at the Shelter during the class reunions in June. We always enjoy seeing the old grads returning to visit the house again. We are looking forward to another good turnout during homecoming week end in October.

Phi—W. & L.

DELT SENIOR NAMED VALEDICTORIAN

Phi Chapter was extremely proud of its contribution to the graduating class of June, 1951. Perhaps the most outstanding graduate of our chapter was Dave Bien, who was both Valedictorian and historian of his class. Dave received a scholarship which will permit him to take post-graduate work at Harvard. Among the other graduates were: Bob Pittman, former editor of the school paper; Ed Bassett, Executive Committeeman; Dick Jones; Bob Ingram, a member of the Law Review; Jim White; Tal Bond; and Bill Rose.

The final dances were the best of the year. Everyone enjoyed the music of Charlie Spivak as well as the parties at Goshen Pass and Douthat Park. It has been rumored that next year Douthat will be supplied with rubber rafts which cannot be turned over.

TWO DELTS CAPTAIN LACROSSE

In the spring of next year the Deltas will again dominate the lacrosse team. Elder Lear and Grover Gray were elected cocaptains for the 1952 squad and will be backed by such stellar performers as Ken Spence, Jack Delahunty, Jack Dodd, Bob Smith, Spence Snedecor, and Bob Latimer.

FALL RUSH PLANS SET

We are looking forward to a successful rush season next fall, and with the aid of such experienced members as Russ Applegate of Kennet Square, Pennsylvania, and Bill Wirth of Woodstown, New Jersey, there is no reason why we cannot have one of the best pledge classes on the campus.

Beta Beta—DePauw

FINISH NEAR TOP IN INTRAMURALS

With the coming of June, Beta Beta wound up another successful year. In the intramural picture, DePauw Deltas finished among the top. In the final event, Bob Micklewright, Steve Swain, and Bob Ratzner pitched the horseshoe team to a championship.

Beta Beta contributed its share to varsity athletics, too. Ward Shawver, starting shortstop, and Bob Gebauer, Number One pitcher, paced the baseball team. Freshman Jim Kelly held the catching post for the freshman team. Bob Radle, the number four singles man in tennis, lettered for the second time. Jim Dudley, another freshman, was the outstanding miler on the track team.

DELTS TAKE OFFICE

With the opening of DePauw's new Student Memorial Union Building, a whole new field of activities presented itself. Sophomore Jim McClenahan was voted vice-president and public relations chairman, the latter being one of the five major areas in the organization. Norval Stephens, senior, served as president until elections, and held the office of assistant director of the Union Building. John Stephens now holds the position of vice-area chairman of special events, while Bob Radle is hospitality chairman.

TRADITIONAL ALUMNI DAY HELD

Following in the old tradition, Alumni Day proved to be a big event in the chapter record for the year, highlighted by a softball game between undergraduates and alums ending in the usual tie, a steak fry with all the trimmings on Saturday night, and the initiation of five freshmen in the afternoon. After graduation ceremonies on Sunday, the chapter house was closed and the undergraduates awaited the new year. The summer rush program went into full swing, and Beta Beta faced the fall with the beginning of another top freshman class.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

Varsity Sports Activity Forecast

As Beta Gamma Chapter moves into its 63rd year on the Wisconsin campus, it has a firm footing as the result of its accomplishments of 1950-51. The Deltas ranked high in every activity entered—both intramurals and campuswide activities—receiving trophies in most and dogging the leaders in every other. The chapter is determined that this tradition of achievement shall be upheld in this coming year.

Delts will continue to be active in varsity sports—George O'Brien as first-string guard on the football squad and Gordie "Butch" Johnson as the elected captain of the gymnastics team. Marv Malik and Hank Olsen will continue in crew, while Jim Evoy has a good chance of pitching against Big Ten competition next spring. Ted Fox, who was voted the most outstanding pledge last semester, is a wrestler.

Individually, Delts will continue to be active in campus publications and social events. Joe Benton, interfraternity vice-president, holds an important campus office.

Most of all, this year Beta Gamma wishes to keep intact its spirit of friendliness, which will be one of the most important factors in Delta Tau Delta's remaining tops at Wisconsin.

Beta Delta—Georgia

KAPPA DELTS ASSIST

Under Rush Chairman Bill Russell, the rush program appears to be the best ever produced at Beta Delta. It was planned, organized, and made ready during the summer and will require only a minimum of time to be put into operation this fall.

Beta Delta will have not only the assistance of its Kappa Delta sponsor and sweetheart but also the aid of the entire Kappa Delta Sorority.

NEW INITIATE WILL BE BULLDOG CENTER

Fall initiation will bring into the fold Hurley Jones, Clarence King, James Thompson, and Bill Morrison. Besides becoming a Delt, Jones also steps into the starting offensive center position for Coach Wallace Butts' Bulldog eleven.

Another first-string center is Jim O'Daniel, who joins us this fall. Jim, a Delt from Delta Eta Chapter, played freshman ball last year for Alabama before coming to Athens. Ineligible for varsity ball under SEC rules, "Big Jim" is more than qualified and welcomed for Coach Tunis Crowley's Delta Tau Delta "eight."

Beta Epsilon—Emory

DELTS ACTIVE ON CAMPUS

Beta Epsilon began the 1950-51 year by pledging 22 men. With such an encouraging start, the chapter began an active year with many of its members in campus activities and the chapter spirit at a high peak.

We have two men in Phi Beta Kappa; one man in Pi Alpha, honorary chemical fraternity; and one man in Sigma Delta Chi. Wayne Freeman, Sigma Delta Chi, was appointed editor of the campus newspaper. Wayne is also active in the radio workshop, the campus magazine, and the yearbook. Two brothers, Joe Harding and Clyde Smith, were elected president of the Pre-Ministerial Club, and Hugh Mathews was elected treasurer of the Emory Christian Association. Bill Lammons and Leon McGahee won letters in wrestling, while Billy Yon won his letter in tennis.

WIN NEWSPAPER TROPHY

In December, we won the Atlanta Journal trophy for selling the greatest number of newspapers to provide toys for underprivileged Atlanta children.

In the fall quarter we were fourth among campus fraternities in scholarship.

SOCIAL HIGH LIGHTS

High lights of the social season were the sponsor presentation party at which Miss Pat Duncan was crowned "sweetheart," the annual Christmas party for orphans, our formal at Druid Hills Country Club, and the annual Dooley's Frolics. For our Dooley's Lawn decorations, we presented the "Beheading of Marie Antoinette." Dooley's brought the year to a close except for the summer rush week which began in June.

Beta Zeta—Butler

VICTORIOUS IN ANNUAL SING

Under the capable direction of Brother Ross Copeland, Beta Zeta once again emerged victorious in Butler's annual fraternity-sorority song festival, the Spring Sing.

Thus, Delta Tau Delta made it seven victories in the last nine Sings. From the first rousing notes of "Darkness on the Delta," probably the most popular serenade song on the campus, it was evident the Delts would win after two honorable-mention years. The beautiful "Delta Queen" was the second number, followed by "Begin the Beguine," the latter especially arranged by Brother Copeland.

Following the Sing, the chapter celebrated with many of the sorority winners from Kappa Alpha Theta at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

ELEVEN GRADUATE

Graduation exercises took eleven seniors from the fold, including one magna cum laude graduate, Brother Kenny Smith. The past two graduating classes have produced but two fraternity magna cum laude graduates—both were Beta Zeta Delts.

TWO IN SPORTS LIMELIGHT

Brother Art Fougereousse finished a fine career at third base for the baseball team by posting more actual playing time than any other man on the squad.

Brother Harold Cline posted the state's best two-mile time before he was forced to retire from running because of a heart condition.

ACTIVE IN CAMPUS HONORARIES

Delts were active in campus honoraries this spring. Brothers George Goodnight, Marlin Husted, and Jim Shrock were elected to Sphinx; Brothers Clyde Green and Harold Cline made Blue Key; and Brother John McCardle was enrolled in Utes.

BILL ROBINSON
Named editor of campus daily at Butler.

Brother Bill Robinson co-edited the student daily newspaper, The Butler Collegian. Brother Jim Mathis was station manager of the University radio station, WAJC. Brothers Vic Tanguy, Warren Clements, and Don Schladeiman served the station in various capacities also.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

"OPEN HOUSES" ANTICIPATED

Among the many activities of this fall will be our usual open houses after the football games with the Mothers' Club putting on a big feed for all after the Homecoming game. There will also be parties either in the Shelter or outside every Saturday evening when there is a football game.

The big social event of the fall will be the fall formal when the brothers will splurge on that one girl in order to give her the biggest evening possible.

CHARITY ACT HAS OLD WEST THEME

Last spring the Delts, along with the Tri Delts, sponsored a concession at the Campus Carnival in order to help raise funds for the Social Service fund. The theme was the Old West with various numbers depicting life in an old-time saloon. All of us had a good time working on this worth-while project, and we made quite a hit.

PLEDGE TRAINING REVAMPED

Last spring we also started to look at ourselves for a while and try to see where we might improve. The consequences are that we have revised our pledge training program so that it will be more effective in turning out good Delts, and we have also revamped and intensified our rushing program so that we shall be able to meet more readily the losses Uncle Sam has given us.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

DELT GOES WITH TEAM TO EUROPE

The Sewanee Collegians basketball team crossed the Atlantic on May 28 for a ten-week international barnstorming tour of the Continent at the invitation of the Amateur Basketball Federation of Europe. Lon S. Varnell, head coach of the University of the South basketball team, accompanied the cagers. Among the eight-man squad that left on this tour was Brother Jack Stowers, star forward and alternating guard for Sewanee. We are all proud that Brother Stowers was chosen to make the trip and we know that he will do an excellent job on the courts of the European schools.

MACCONNELL WINS TWO SWIMMING FIRSTS

Beta Theta athletics just missed the honor slot this semester. A well-coached softball team turned in a good showing by beating the top team late in the season and staging a good fight with the remaining top teams in the league. Brother MacConnell took two first places in the intramural swimming meet this spring. Brother MacConnell will close his season as athletic director this June and will be replaced by Brother Fritz Erschell, who will handle this office for the coming year.

SEVERAL RECEIVE HONORS

Many distinguished offices will be held by a few men of Beta Theta. President Johnson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa. He was business manager of the yearbook, and he will take over as president of Blue Key. Brother Alan Bell has been chosen to head the Acolyte's Guild and the Discipline Committee for the school year 1951-52. Bell also did an excellent job as advertising manager for the yearbook. Pledge Dick Thomas received the Jamison Debate Medal, a local interfraternity forensic honor and, along with Brothers Bell and MacConnell, captured second place for Beta Theta in the interfraternity debate contest.

CHAPTER HOLDS SQUARE DANCE

Delt parties here on the Mountain were a great success this semester. We organized a square dance early in the semester, under the guidance of Brother Thomas. The dance was quickly learned by one and all and the atmosphere, everything from hay scattered throughout the Shelter to the "calling" by Brother Thomas, made the party very enjoyable. We again held our annual Parisien Party late in May. Pig Alley decorations were made by Brother Stearly, which made a good closing function for Beta Theta this semester.

BANG-UP RUSH SEASON PLANNED

With a decrease in enrollment, the men have doubled their efforts and spirit to make the 1951 rush season one of the best. Carefully planned rush teams have been chosen, and with the extra effort that is needed, we expect to bring at least 15 into our chapter. Brother Bell will resume the role of rush captain.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

C.U. DAYS

One of the most gala and definitely the most "intriguing" CU Days of that festival's existence was held last May 3-5. Months of preparation were dimaxed with three glorious days of fun. The mammoth float parade, the brilliant stage show, the colorful Carnival, the Songfest, and many other events, plus the prevailing festive air over the entire campus, all helped to fill the holidays. Climaxing the three days' festivities was the big dance, to the famous music of Jimmy Dorsey.

Amid all this happy confusion, Delta Tau Delta emerged as chief-award-and-trophy-getter. Before the three days themselves had actually begun, we had collected two first-place trophies and other awards.

Our cinder stars brought home first-place honors in the all-school track meet, which is considered as part of the CU Days celebration. This victory was completely a team accomplishment since we garnered only one first-place ribbon.

A banjo, a guitar, and eight loud voices combined to give us a first place in the "ditty" contest, a new CU Days event. The purpose of the contest was to find the best eight-line ditty concerning the theme of the celebration—Intrigue.

Our chorus practiced diligently for weeks previous to CU Days under the tireless and brilliant direction of Don Ulrich. Our efforts were rewarded by being judged second of all male choruses in the tryouts. We were given a place in the finals of Songfest; however, we did not place in the final judging.

Highlighting the three days' activities was the beautiful float parade. In keeping with the theme of the celebration, we used "What's Up Doc?" as the theme of our float, which portrayed a huge, reclining Bugs Bunny, with the usual carrot in his hand, painting with his feet. Our huge and well-constructed float received second-place honors.

ANDERSON SIGNS WITH PHILLIES

Jack Anderson, popular junior from Lakewood, Colorado, has signed to play professional baseball for the Philadelphia Phillies. Anderson passed up offers from four other major league clubs to go in with the Quaker City's National League team.

Anderson starred on the mound the past two seasons for Colorado University's nine. He was Coach Frank Prentup's Number One hurler this last season, winning three of four starts for the fourth-place Buffalo club.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

CHAPTER RAISES SCHOLARSHIP

As the school year draws to a close, the Lehigh Deltas look back with pride over a fine spring semester. Headlining the list of achievements is the twelve-place rise of Beta Lambda Chapter's scholastic average among Lehigh fraternities.

Coupled with this noteworthy scholastic achievement is the initiation of several brothers into national honoraries for their scholastic and extracurricular work. Earl Harmes and Harry Stowers were initiated into Pi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering honorary. Earl was doubly recognized by his initiation into Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary. Shortly before his initiation into Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership fraternity, Harry was elected vice-president of next year's senior class. Paul Varley upheld the reputation of Beta Lambda's businessmen with his initiation into Alpha Kappa Psi, business honorary.

DIXIELAND SHUFFLE RATES TOPS

The semester was far from being a scholastic success alone. On the contrary, the past few months have witnessed several of the best parties ever held at the Shelter. The "She Delta Tau" party, during which a mock initiation ceremony was staged for all dates, was the first of the memorable occasions. The fact that everyone enjoyed himself was well proven by the party's repercussions in several gossip columns in publications of the surrounding girls' colleges.

The party that rates at the top in everyone's mind was the "Dixieland Shuffle," the feature of our traditional house-party week end. Conrad Janis and his Tailgate Jazz Band, currently featured on New York's famed "52nd Street," provided some of the finest Dixie ever heard in the Lehigh Valley. Needless to say, the flappers and their dates had a great time.

PROMINENT IN SPORTS

In the Lehigh sports world, the Deltas again held a prominent position. Our volleyball team took league championship and then went on to beat Pi Kappa Alpha and Phi Delta Theta in the fraternity play-offs, to annex the interfraternity crown.

Beta Mu—Tufts

SEASON'S HIGH LIGHT IS FRATERNITY WEEK END

Highlighting Beta Mu's spring season was our annual fraternity week end. The formal dance was held at the Casino, Magnolia, Massachusetts, on May 19. Carl Raine, '54, was the recipient of the Most Outstanding Pledge award for 1950-51. Saturday, May 20, we had a gala beach party at Crane's Beach, Ipswich, Massachusetts, with lobsters, dams, and steaks for Deltas and their dates.

CHAPTER HAS THREE VARSITY CAPTAINS

Beta Mu again dominated the nine fraternity intramural sports field. The softball league terminated in a three-way tie for first place. The brothers, with superb pitching by Raine and Simmons, played three games in less than 24 hours to become runners-up in the play-offs for championship. Varsity baseball saw Brother Tom Latham start at first base as a sophomore for the Jumbos. The lacrosse team finished a very good season with the help of Brothers Crafts, Webster, and McCurdy. Brothers Dick Walsh, captain, Fenderson, Aliopolios, Lynch, Shepherd, McCurdy, and Pledges Sweeney and Warner provided brawn for Coach Ellis' 1952 Tufts football team. Brothers Dow and Rosa gave their all in the sprints and broad jump for outdoor track. Dutch Moulton participated in the New England Intercollegiate Golf Championships and consequently was elected captain for the 1952 season. This brings the total to three varsity captains for Beta Mu for 1952.

WIN ANNUAL SONG CONTEST

Beta Mu's Glee Club won the annual Spring Sing to make it a clean sweep for the choral honors. The song rendered was an airy folk song "The Foggy Foggy Dew."

Great plans have been formulated for the coming year. The class of 1952 is the College's centennial class. Beta Mu is already aiding Tufts College in contacting future students to familiarize them with the advantages the college can give them.

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

YEAR HAS BIG WIND-UP

Beta Nu wound up the 1951 school year in the usual feverish atmosphere of finals. The press of studies, however, did not stop the onrush of enjoyable beach parties.

At the annual house corporation meeting we began to think about a new house in the future and re-elected Ed Woodward president of the corporation.

We said goodbye to a group of seniors whom we shall miss. While saying hello again to Dick Stephan, stationed at Fort Devens, we also said goodbye to Oscar Eubank, who will do research work for Army Ordnance. On the campus, Bob Oliver prepared to supervise rush week as president of TCA, and Leaky Dyke and Bill Carson wound up their football coaching duties.

Tony Turano and Jack Moulton threatened to become scholastic geniuses, while Prexy Don Christensen and Steward Chuck Buntschuh cut another class and headed for Marietta with the M.I.T. crew.

Beta Omicron—Cornell

FRESHMEN STAGE SKIT

Pushing all thoughts of final exams into the background, the frosh whipped up a fine Pledge Formal party late in April. Jim Pierce did a remarkable job in planning the affair, and the entire freshman class put on a rather subtle skit that made a hit with all their guests.

INITIATE THREE

Beta Omicron welcomed three new members into the Fraternity on May 6. We are glad to have as brothers now Clyde Barker, Salt Lake City; Dave Ball, Detroit; and Hank Reckfort, Morristown, New Jersey.

DELTS DISPLAY ARTISTIC TALENT FOR "TAHITI TREK"

May 12, annual Spring Day at Cornell, gave the Delts an opportunity to display their artistic talents. For the "Tahiti Trek" float parade the chapter constructed a beautiful mermaid seated in a huge oyster and surrounded with pearls. Jupiter Pluvius left his mark to mar an otherwise magnificent float. Kim von Storch and his coworkers put a great deal of work into such a fine representation of Delta Tau Delta. A full schedule of athletic events, a party at the Shelter, and a formal dance with Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra put the cap on a perfect week end.

The next week the chapter held a very successful "clam boil" out at Enfield Glen. Boy Scout Bill Fox did great work in turning out the most delicious mollusks this writer has ever tasted. Picnic appropriations have been doubled for this year.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

PLACE IN SING COMPETITION

The Beta Pi Delts climaxed a successful year by placing second in the annual May Sing competition at Northwestern University. Our selection was "Johnny Comes Marching Home," and we were ably directed by our song leader, Andy Anderson. Twenty-eight fraternities competed in the sing.

SEVERAL AWARDED ATHLETIC HONORS

Chuck Petter and Ben Daniel were given awards by the athletic department for their exceptional work on the football team, and Jake Fendley received an award for basketball. Jake was selected to play for the College All Stars and he made an excellent showing.

John Lagerloff had a singing lead in this year's Waa-Mu show. This is an all-school variety show put on every year during the spring quarter.

FRESHMEN DUNK SENIORS

We held our annual spring formal at Lake Lawn Country Club, Delavin Lake, Wisconsin, last quarter. It was an all-day affair and was a great success. The festivities of the afternoon were climaxed by the freshmen throwing the graduating seniors in the lake.

ANNUAL PAJAMA RACE STARTS YEAR

This quarter (September) the annual Delt Pajama Race will be held. Each fraternity on campus selects a four-man relay team of freshmen and these teams compete for a trophy. Each runner wears the loudest pajamas he can find. Each women's house on campus selects one freshman woman as its P. J. queen. The P. J. king is chosen on the basis of the loudest pajamas, each fraternity putting up one candidate. This event has always been a great success and this year will be no exception.

Beta Rho—Stanford

"JUD" CRARY AWARD ORIGINATED

At the close of the school year, the Interfraternity Council approved the recommendation that a "Jud" Crary Award be initiated for the purpose of furthering academic achievement among the fraternities at Stanford. The award will be presented to the fraternity which shows the greatest scholastic improvement over the year. Charles "Jud" Crary, Beta Rho, '03, has served Beta Rho Chapter and Delta Tau Delta for over 50 years and is a holder of the Delt Distinguished Service Chapter Citation.

DELTS PARTICIPATE IN STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The coming school year will find Delts continuing their participation in Stanford's student affairs. Bob Frojen was recently elected as secretary of the Block "S" Society, which has been reorganized by an appointed committee which includes Don Williams among its members. Dick Weisman will serve as a cochairman on the 1951-52 Foreign Scholarship Program, a venture to bring seven students from Europe to study at Stanford.

NEW INITIATES ACTIVE ON GRIDIRON

Four new initiates were welcomed into the ranks last May, but it was decided that the freshman pledges would not be initiated until the traditional autumn quarter ceremony. The four initiated were John Bonetti, Tsar Calfee, Chuck Essegian, and Steve Mitchell, all footballers who will be too busy on the gridiron to go through initiation in the fall.

SCHOLARSHIP TO BE EMPHASIZED

Beta Rho finished tenth among the school's 24 fraternities in scholarship last year. This was one position lower than was held the previous year and seven down from our great third of 1949. Positive steps will be taken to regain a higher standing this coming year.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

ACCOMPLISHMENTS FOR YEAR

The past year has seen a lot of history made for Beta Tau Chapter. From the time we opened rush week for the first time in the new Shelter, until we closed for the summer, our year has been one of progress. The year was full of high lights too numerous to mention here. The rush committee did a fine job in securing a top-flight pledge class. The social committee planned some of the finest house parties and one of the best formals we have ever had. The chapter made outstanding strides in scholarship. The intramural trophy case was enriched by three first-place trophies.

DELTS HELP MAKE HUSKERS A WINNING TEAM

Beta Tau gave strong assistance to the up and coming Cornhusker football team of Coach Bill Glassford. Last year the Huskers regained their old-time national prominence by winning over Minnesota, Penn State, Kansas, Missouri, Kansas State, Iowa State, and by tying Indiana. The Huskers scored more points against Oklahoma than any of the Sooner's other opponents, ending up on the bottom of a 49-34 score. Brothers from Beta Tau helped make up this winning team last fall. First-string defensive end George Paynich, tackle Keith Fiene, Tom Hopkins, and starting center Joe McGill all did their share in the Nebraska line-up. Up from the freshman ranks of last fall and joining the 1951 Cornhuskers are Duane Gay, Max Kennedy, Neil Hoppens, Eldon Park, Jerry Bingham, Harvey Goth, Jerry Yeager, Jerry Paulson, and Bud Robertson. They will report to Curtis, Nebraska, for the preseason football camp in August. Beta Tau is also fielding some other athletes on Nebraska teams. Ray "Tito" Mladovich will return to the Husker baseball squad for his third year on the starting nine, along with Sophomores Bill Falt, Barney Sprague, and George Karabatsos. Contenders for the varsity tennis team include Al Grove and Bert Sample. Varsity wrestlers Don Woods and Harley Richardson will be joined by Sophomore Glen Nelson. Waldo Berg is vying for a berth on the Cornhusker track squad. Beta Tau is planning on retaining the intramural all-University football and the all-fraternity wrestling crowns next fall as well as bettering this year's commendable basketball and softball records.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

CLOSE 1950-51 WITH THREE EVENTS

Beta Upsilon finished the school year with three of its biggest events. On the last week end in April, the annual Alumni Reunion took place. Forty alumni were present. Dr. Edgar Jerome Townsend, Beta Upsilon, '90, professor emeritus of mathematics at Illinois, took honors for being the oldest alum present. The class of '49 took honors for having the most members present with eleven.

The following week end was the University Mothers' Day, in which the chapter took part. The Delt mothers arrived on Saturday for a buffet supper that evening. Later the brothers took their mothers out as dates. After spending the night in the dorms, the mothers were entertained on Sunday at a banquet in their honor.

Our annual Spring Party took place the next week end. On Friday evening the formal dance was held at the chapter house, followed by a lunch for the brothers and their dates the next day. Later the chapter had a picnic at Brother Jack Jones' farm. On Sunday there was a sweetheart dinner.

AFTER-DINNER SPEAKERS

The chapter has been taking advantage of one of the newer facilities of the University Y.M.C.A. Through the efforts of Chaplain Jim Cashman, the chapter has had the Illini football coach, Ray Elliott, and Dr. Royden Dangerfield, a well-known authority on government affairs, as guests for informal after-dinner talks.

THREE SCORE IN TRACK FINALS

This year the chapter placed high in intramural sports. Beta Upsilon was second in the University in basketball and second in the division in baseball. Brothers Bill Tate, Bob Lenzini, and Bill Bone all placed in the track finals.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

SCHOLARSHIP SPURTS

During the past year the scholarship of Beta Phi has been showing a steady improvement. Under the direction of Paul Shepard, our scholarship chairman, Beta Phi was seventh on the Ohio State University campus for the winter quarter of 1951. We think this is an achievement of which Beta Phi Chapter can well be proud.

SOFTBALL CHAMPIONS REPEAT

The softball team again won the University championship trophy for the second consecutive year. This trophy makes a total of five which Beta Phi has won in intramural competition during the past year.

MAY NAMED PRESIDENT OF PRESIDENTS

Again the Deltas are in the spotlight in campus activities. Recently Jim May was elected president of the Council of Fraternity Presidents. Bill Moore was chosen as president of the Pledge Trainers Council, and he also was elected as a judge on the Interfraternity Court. Jim Hogan was elected by a landslide for Junior Class president, while Jim Rhodes finished his term as Senior Class president. Jim was initiated into Sphinx, senior men's honorary.

RUSHING PUSH AHEAD

Dave Dudley has planned a well-rounded rush week with many new ideas, which will surprise many of the brothers. The chapter realizes that rushing is going to be a much more difficult affair this fall and has promised an all-out effort for rushing and full support of Dave's rushing program.

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY FETED

The past school year was an important and extremely eventful one for Gamma Beta Chapter as it marked the chapter's golden anniversary. Fifty years on campus is a long time, and to celebrate this event properly, a Golden Anniversary Ball was given by the chapter. This gala affair was held in the Grand Ballroom of the Edgewater Beach Hotel, and personal invitations were extended to 1500 Delt alumni in the Chicago area.

DELTS HIGH IN INTERFRATERNITY COMPETITION

In the field of interfraternity competition, Delt teams really went to town as they walked away with first-place trophies in golf, bowling, house decorations, interfraternity sing, and bicycle marathon. In addition, the Deltas took second-place trophies in the hotly contested football and basketball competition.

DELTS DOMINATE JUNIOR WEEK

To crown this eventful year properly, Gamma Beta men swept three of five interfraternity Junior Week events, gaining first-place trophies in house decorations, the Interfraternity Sing, and the Bicycle Marathon. This latter event was conceived, organized, sponsored, and won by the Deltas. It was a 24-hour bicycle marathon with the winning team covering over 400 miles. The spirit of competition which existed was clearly demonstrated by the fact that the second-place team was only one mile behind the leaders in this grueling race which attracted the interest of major sportswriters in the Chicago area.

Not only did the Deltas sweep the events of this all-important festive week, but the over-all festivities were presided over by a Delt king and queen. Ursula Lier, fiancée of past President Milt Cox, was crowned Woman of the Year, while Marty Hoeft, past treasurer and holder of the Gamma Beta Senior Honor Award, was named Man of the Year by the student body.

DELT POLITICIANS SCORE

In one of the most spirited elections of Tech history, Keith "Gus" Wingate was elected president of the Illinois Tech Student Government for the coming year.

KEITH WINGATE
President of
I. T. Student Association

During the past year, Delt politicians held the posts of president and vice-president of the junior class, president of the sophomore class, and vice-president and social chairman of the freshman class.

SCHOLARSHIP HIGH

Despite their showing in extracurricular activities, Gamma Beta Chapter managed to maintain a relatively high position scholastically as they ranked in the upper half of all the fraternities on campus.

Two Delt men, Wayne Hamilton and Jack Oslake, were initiated into Eta Kappa Nu, the national electrical engineering honorary, while Bob Zekes, who was voted the outstanding pledge of the year, was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman honorary.

OTHER MAJOR DISTINCTIONS

After serving as the Naval ROTC unit's midshipman commander, Al Ashurst added another feather to his cap as he was named the outstanding senior midshipman of the year.

Greg Opelka, our ever-active president, was recently elected to the presidencies of both the interfraternity council and the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. In the latter organization, it is felt that harmony should certainly prevail among the officers with three out of four being Delt men.

Two Gamma Beta men recently were named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. They are Marty Hoeft and Al Ashurst.

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

SPRING FEVER

With the melting of the snows a wave of spring fever overswept the Dartmouth campus that did not bypass the Delt house. Good weather had to be celebrated, and the chance came with our big spring week end, Green Key. Blessed with over 60 dates, our picnics and beach parties once again proved outstanding.

Not all Deltas, however, were sufficiently affected by the spring atmosphere to keep them from winning recognition as leaders on campus. Ex-football Captain Paul Staley was awarded the Dartmouth Cup for the outstanding athlete of the year. Paul was also elected head marshal of his graduating class, and Herm Christensen became one of the other two marshals.

INTERFRATERNITY ATHLETICS

Aided by the addition of sharpshooting Pledge Marti Cunningham, our basketball team ended up in second place in the competition. With Monk Robinson tying the interfraternity record in the 50-yard dash, we were able to make a showing in track. Our unbeaten volleyball team will be trying to parallel its last year's performance of no defeat on campus to gain the honor of representing the College in the play-offs at Worcester, Massachusetts. With several returning veterans, and strengthened by the addition of such newer brothers as Dick Stanley and Tom Wilson, our chances look good.

PAUL STALEY
outstanding athlete.

DELTS IN SPORTS

The end of the winter season finds several Delts varsity letter winners. Among these are High Jumper Nels Ehinger, Hockey Lineman Pete Stien, Swimmers Lee Coulter and Chuck Luker, Squashmen Jim Wylie and Don Smith, and Rich Austin, who won the national squash doubles championship. Due to a broken hand, Captain Pete Krehbiel did not row with the rest of the large Delt contingent on the varsity crew this spring, but he did a fine job coaching the Dartmouth oarsmen.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

DELTS FEATURED IN PLAY

Wesleyan's highly-touted Shakespearean production, King Richard II, given on the commencement week end this year as well as on the regular spring run, featured several Delts in the leading roles. Praised by the critics were Brothers Dick Fischer, as Bolingbroke; Digger Grant, as Northumberland; Charley Hoyt, as Duke of York; and Ted Fischer, as the Keeper. These brothers carried on Gamma Zeta's theatrical tradition, and hope to assume other leading roles next year.

EGGERS RECEIVES AWARD

Gamma Zeta's vice-president, Russ Eggers, who is also vice-president of the sophomore class, was recently chosen from the whole college body to receive the prized William Day Leonard Award, given on the basis of all-round excellence in character, scholarship, and participation in activities. Brother Eggers, an outstanding student, leading his class in scholarship, also takes part in many activities, and is an outstanding member of the football and baseball squads.

MACIVER ELECTED TRACK CAPTAIN

Speaking of sports, while our baseball captain, Nippy Jones, is leaving Gamma Zeta after his best year, Brother George MacIver was recently elected track captain for next season, his last year. Brother MacIver has had a fine season running the 440 for Wesleyan.

FALL TERM TO OPEN WITH A BANG

Gamma Zeta is planning big things for the autumn. The house will be well represented in football and cross country as the year opens, as well as on the Argus, campus newspaper, under the leadership of its editor, Gamma Zeta President Don Porter. The campus band will feature several Delts, and the jazz combo has planned an ambitious schedule. The fencing team will sport such Delts as Fred Wandall, Dutch Hinsch, and Norm Stuessy, and the aforementioned Thespians, as well as several promising freshmen, will once again don their makeup. New scholarship programs under Chairman John McNeill will get under way, and activities Chairman Dick MacMahon will make sure that Delta Tau keeps her high place in intramural competition.

With such an enthusiastic program, Gamma Zeta confidently awaits the new rushing season.

Gamma Eta—George Washington

WINS ALL-U SPORTS TROPHY

At the completion of the academic year 1950-51, Gamma Eta Chapter had amassed the top number of points in intramural sports, and at the "Awards Day" in June the All-University Athletic Trophy became ours. The victory culminated a successful year of athletics in which Gamma Eta won trophies for intramural bowling, wrestling, sailing, boxing, and swimming, as well as several individual athletic honors. The chapter became the first of the 16 fraternities on campus to win the award since 1947.

The praise for this achievement goes generally to most of the chapter, but to the chapter activities chairman, Frank Burford, goes a great deal of it. It was Frank who organized our teams, trained them, supplied them with equipment, and in general did all of those little things which make up successful teams.

NAMED OUTSTANDING ATHLETE

Roy Schlemmer, mentioned every semester in this report for some athletic distinction, was chosen the "Outstanding Intramural Athlete" of GWU. He was awarded a trophy attesting this title.

Pledge Voris Conrad received a trophy for being the "Outstanding Intramural Wrestler" of GWU.

HOLD PRESIDENCY OF THREE ORGANIZATIONS

During the year the chapter maintained a scholastic average which placed it fifth among 16 fraternities. We were represented individually in 19 different campus organizations, holding the presidency of three and holding five other offices.

Four members were tapped for Gate and Key Society, while two joined Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic fraternity.

SHELTER BOASTS FACE LIFTING

Our chapter house boasts a complete "face lifting" as a result of summer renovation. Living in the 24-room Shelter are out-of-town members who claim home states ranging as far west as California, east to New Jersey, south to Texas, and north to Minnesota. We certainly need our two pianos in order to give them all an opportunity to harmonize the various state songs at our frequent get-togethers.

SORORITY AWARD INITIATED

Outstanding and completely new among plans for the fall is the awarding of an achievement cup to the "Outstanding Sorority" of GWU. The cup, 36 inches tall, will be awarded annually. Sororities will be judged by disinterested officials of the University on criteria established by Gamma Eta Chapter.

Gamma Theta—Baker

GAMMA THETA REMINISCES

Gamma Theta is looking toward another school year and to those activities and events which highlight the school year for all of its members. Still lingering in each one's mind are the memories of Parents' Week End, the Orchid Ball, and Stag Night, and before them, the annual Chicken Fry, the Christmas Formal, Homecoming, and the Christmas exchange party. Each memory has left with Gamma Theta Chapter many pleasant thoughts. Each coming event looms up as a challenge. The year 1950-51 was a year of indecision and real trial, but it has set the stage for the greatest opportunity for accomplishment in years for 1951-52. Each and every member is ready to take full advantage of this opportunity.

Gamma Theta Chapter is prepared to reproduce with added splendor those memories of the serenades with their mothers on Parents' Week End, the memories of the great and majestic fire at the Chicken Fry, and the memories of the hilarious merriment at the Christmas exchange party. Each of these has grown to be traditional enjoyment for Gamma Theta Delts as each has continued, and will continue, to grow in splendor.

Gamma Iota—Texas

MOST OF KEY ATHLETES WILL RETURN

Although the national emergency will cause about ten actives to discontinue their education, Gamma Iota will maintain a group of actives which will keep the chapter among the leaders in all fraternity activities. In intramural athletics, the prospects are especially bright, as most of the key athletes of last year's teams are returning. The tentative social program includes several big parties on week ends of home football games as well as smaller but just as enjoyable parties on week ends of out-of-town games to be held in the town of the game. Always a high light in the fall social program is the reunion with Delta Alpha in Dallas after the Texas-Oklahoma game.

LOOK TO BLUE-RIBBON YEAR

The internal spirit within the chapter is at a high level, and under the leadership of Bob Mickey and Bobby Bledsoe, Gamma Iota is looking forward with confidence to a blue-ribbon year in 1951-1952.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

FAST START WITH FULL HOUSE

Having lost only four seniors through spring graduation, Gamma Kappa is off to a fast start with a full house this fall. "Mom" Toomey took care of most of the details of our housecleaning before she took her summer vacation in California, and she is back with us for her fourth year.

President Dave "Smiley" Rapp spent the summer at Missouri's geology field camp at Lander, Wyoming. Dave Buffington holed up in Colorado Springs for the summer. Many of the brothers thrilled at the scenery of Fort Sill, Oklahoma, while others received fat pay checks from the Air Force at San Antonio. "Corky" Johnson was a cosmetic salesman for Fuller Brush Company in his own town of Festus.

fessional business fraternity, while Chuck Hendricks holds another office in that group. Ralph Johnson takes over as president of the Interfraternity Council. "Pete" Maas, recovered from a knee injury and returning after a semester out of school, should make considerable impact in the Tiger football club. Walter Hutchison, a line player, may possibly see action his first year with the varsity team.

SOPHOMORE PITCHER WINS FIVE STRAIGHT

Brother Bob Loschke, our most recent initiate, turned out to be the sophomore sensation on "Hi" Simmons' baseball club last spring. Loschke, who formerly pitched for Millgram's in Kansas City, turned in five straight wins before he was stopped by Kansas State in Missouri's next-to-last game. He fanned 12 batters against Colorado. In 45 innings pitched, Bob allowed only 34 hits and nine earned runs, while whiffing 27 batters.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

VICTORIOUS IN PENNY CARNIVAL

This spring, for the second straight year, the Deltas walked away with first-place honors in the annual Penny Carnival. This year the local Delta Gammas added their beauty and talent, and later planned a picnic with us to celebrate the victory. "Who gets to keep the trophy?" is a much debated question nowadays, but the problem was largely solved by the numerous pins left in the D. G. house this spring.

GOOD LUCK!

This year has gone much too quickly for the men of Gamma Lambda. Graduation added more outstanding names to the list of alumni. Gamma Lambda is sorry to lose these men, but, good luck, brothers! Five of the graduates have joined the ranks of the "hen-pecked." Jack Dubs, Jack Grigsby, Tom Maddox, Bob Perrone, and Bill Wainwright were all married shortly after school ended. Happy dishwashing!

NEW CHAPTER ADVISER

Sam Lehman recently accepted advisory responsibilities of Gamma Lambda. Sam took charge after Darrell Moore retired from the office and will probably soon add many gray hairs to his black ones.

NEW RUSH SYSTEM SET UP

Summer vacation gave Purdue Deltas little time for relaxation. Extensive rush plans were made by Karl Snepp and Hank Stegeman in conjunction with the other Indiana chapters. A state-wide coordinated system of rushing was set up. This system is designed to rush men at one party who are planning to attend any one of the five Indiana schools where Delt chapters are located. A series of these parties, we hope, will help give all Delt chapters a more outstanding pledge class next fall.

Gamma Mu—Washington

THREE DELTS ELECTED TO HIGHEST HONOR SOCIETY

It is with pride that Gamma Mu looks back on its school year of '50-'51, a year filled with high achievement in scholastic and activities honoraries.

Climaxing this year was the election of Ken Walters, Joe Cloldt, and Bob Muckelstone to Fir Tree, highest activities honorary awarded to seniors at the University of Washington. Out of 14 chosen this year, three were Deltas! These same three were also members of Oval Club, another upperclassmen's honorary.

Bill Gellerman was chosen to Phi Beta Kappa, while Ken Hammer served as president of Zeta Mu Tau, mathematics honorary. Elected to Purple Shield, underclassmen's honorary, were Deltas Bob Boye, Rod Vanderhoof, Gordon Anderson, and Don Roos.

crews to their second successive Marietta Regatta Trophy. Ken was graduated last spring and will follow the call of Uncle Sam by joining the Naval Air Force.

Don "Punchy" Roos, University welter-weight boxing champion, was voted the most inspirational boxer in the all-U Fist Fest, for which he received a trophy.

CLIMAX TO SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Last spring proved to be one of the best social quarters for the chapter, with an outstanding spring formal, a day-long cruise through the waters of Puget Sound, and a week-end house party at Garland Hot Springs, besides many other functions. Topping the school year was a big "End of the Year Party," held with Alpha Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Delta Upsilon. Delts were able to forget school for a while, yet looking ahead to another successful year for Gamma Mu.

Gamma Nu—Maine

GOODBYE TO GRADS

With the doors of the Shelter closing for another summer, the University of Maine Delts shake hands and take roads leading to many home towns in America.

We are glad to go on vacation, but we will look forward to returning next fall. The graduating seniors will miss the old gang at the house. The Delts graduating this year are: Galen Peary, Bill Lane, Don Merrill, Tom Chellis, Fred Schoch, Bob Harradon, Joe McColl, Charlie Grant, Jack March, Earle Young, Ed Grove, Dick Haney, Carl Stenholm, and Wendell Joy.

MOTHER COWAN BACK NEXT YEAR

We are happy and fortunate to renew our contracts again for next year with Mother Cowan, our beloved housemother, Mrs. Cora Tate, our peppy little maid with a knack for keeping 42 guys "on the ball," and Ray Thibeault, who has our vote for the best cook in the world. There was a much felt empty spot in the Shelter this spring when two months of serious illness forced Mother Cowan to be absent. We welcome her back and appreciate her fine spirit. The Gamma Nus continued another custom this year. Our Mother's Day Banquet was a great success under Cora's able supervision. Many mothers and dads enjoyed the day with their sons.

NEW SKULL CHOSEN

A high honor goes to Brother Dave Collins, '52. Dave was chosen to be a member of the Senior Skulls. The Skulls are chosen on the grounds of character, leadership, and scholarship.

INTRODUCE SONG

On the stage of the annual Interfraternity Sing, Andy Mezoians new song, "Our Alma Mater," was introduced by the Delts under the direction of Brother Fred Schoch.

SIX AWARDS ORIGINATED

The scholarship committee came up with a terrific idea this spring—The Iris Awards. This consisted of giving a cup to six of the men in the house voted the most "on the ball." The cup given to the most respected man in the house was taken by our president, Scott Weldon. To Earle Young went the cup for the best sport in the house. The cup for the hardest worker went to our very able house and grounds manager, Baimbridge "Spider" Parsons. Duke Brackett shone as the most athletic man in the house. The man we think has done the greatest good for the house on campus was Dave Collins. The cup for highest scholarship was presented to Bill Lane.

DELTS HEAD RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATION

The biggest religious organization on campus, The Student Religious Association, now has for its president and vice-president Delts Pat Dionne and Pat Hurley, respectively.

FOURTEEN NEW MEMBERS

We met with real success in our rushing this past year. There will be 14 new members living in the Shelter next fall. Members of the chapter are sure that the new pledge class will make excellent Delts. They have shown a great deal of interest in the Fraternity already.

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

SPRING FORMAL MAKES BIG WEEK END

Gamma Xi Chapter finished the year's social activities with a week-end party at the house. Our dates took over the Shelter for the party. Strangely enough, the neighbors complained of more noise and confusion than when the Delts are living there. Some of the girls came from as far as New York for the occasion.

The festivities started with a dinner at the house Friday, May 17, followed by a party at Coney Island. Saturday was a busy day with most of the fellows and their dates swimming at the local pool. That evening we had a formal dinner at the house, followed by our Spring Formal at the Sheraton-Arms Hotel. Bob Connelly was announced as the outstanding pledge of the year.

We finished the very active week end with a picnic Sunday, at which the actives showed their supremacy over the pledges in a fast softball game.

MORTGAGE GOES UP IN SMOKE

Our newly decorated Shelter was the scene of an Open House on May 8, featuring the burning of our mortgage. It was a happy moment for all the Gamma Xi actives and for the alumni who sponsored the party for us. Clifford Mueller, president of the house association, and Merritt Farrell, president of the alumni chapter, took part in the burning of the paper. We celebrated the occasion with refreshments and dancing.

TRACY NAMED OUTSTANDING LINEMAN

Jack Tracy added another trophy to our shelves when he was named the outstanding lineman of the 1950-51 football team.

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

ACTIVE IN VEISHEA FESTIVAL

The big thing on the Iowa State campus each spring is Veishea. This is the largest student-managed festival in the nation, and, as usual, the Delts played a very large part in it, getting more than their share of the important positions. Don Volpp was chairman of the personnel committee, Jack Faulkner, chairman, Veishea Workers' Dance, Tom Faul, stage manager of Veishea Vodvil, Bob Montgomery, head of agronomy department open house, Bruce Kirkpatrick, head of

The Gamma Pi float, under the chairmanship of John Carroll, won honorable mention in the big parade, which contained more than 80 entries. Bob Nahnke will be photography editor of the Bomb, ISC yearbook, next year, and Dick Wickland will be head photographer.

The big social event of the spring was the "Lucky Pierre" French costume party. The living room was decorated as a French street, the dining room as a French hotel, and the basement as Lucky Pierre's wine cellar. A cancan dance was presented by Bob Allan, Bruce Kirkpatrick, and Jack Coulson.

ALUMNI BANQUET SCHEDULED

A big alumni banquet is scheduled for October 20. This will be the week end of the Iowa State vs Missouri football game. Martin B. Dickinson will be speaker.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

FLURRY OF ACTIVITY OPENS FALL QUARTER

Fall term at Oregon ranks right along with spring term for activities and displays of school spirit. This is the term when new men are pledged and house spirit is at its peak.

Last year's freshmen will move into the Shelter for the first time, since 1950-51 saw the inauguration of "deferred living," which barred freshmen from residing in their fraternities' houses. As a result, both old and new men greet this fall with great anticipation.

SHOOTING FOR FIRST IN HOMECOMING

Elaborate plans have been laid for rushing parties and house functions. Plans call for a first-place homecoming decoration, to make up for the Delt sign of last year which was awarded second place.

The fall calendar promises the house dance, the one that's remembered and talked about at Oregon. Of course there are also many campus functions in which Delt's traditionally take an active part. Finally, Oregon Delt's are striving to make this a record season for high grade points—all of which adds up to a banner year in store for Gamma Rho.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

TOP CAMPUS HONORS GARNERED

Bill McKinley, past president of Gamma Sigma, is the new president of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity. In addition, he was awarded the Howard Carson Kidd Scholarship for being the outstanding junior in the school of business administration.

Delt Joe Edmundson heads the interfraternity council. On Tap Day Ralph Douglas was one of ten men tapped to Pitt's Hall of Fame. This honor he earned after serving two years as business manager of the Panther, Pitt's humor magazine. Ralph is also a member of ODK.

Other men who held prominent campus offices are Bob Tarter and Paul Roth, president and vice-president, respectively, of the honorary biology fraternity. Walt Bianconi was president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, premedical honorary.

THREE CLIMB TO GRADUATE SCHOOLS

Graduate schools now claim three of our top junior scholars. Larry Dietz and Jim Keagle received notice of their acceptance to Pitt's Dental School. Gamma Sigma is especially proud of Jack Fulton, who will enter Med School this fall.

FIRSTS IN INTRAMURALS AND SINGING

During last semester Gamma Sigma gained new heights in interfraternity competition. After coming up with first place in football last fall, followed by first in both the IF Sing and basketball, Delt's also swept top honors in track and softball and registered a second place in golf. These feats in sports can be partially attributed to the excellent leadership of Tom Speelman and Dick Ruth.

NEW ROBES ARE GIFT FROM ALUMNI

On Sunday, June 10, Gamma Sigma was proud to initiate 12 men. The beauty of the ceremony was enhanced by the wearing of new ritualistic robes generously donated by alumni, to whom the chapter is deeply grateful.

Following the initiation, our annual banquet was held to honor the new members and graduating seniors. Tom Strong was named outstanding pledge. Bob Carpenter received an award for the highest pledge scholastic average. Walt Bianconi was the recipient of the Schrader Trophy for having the highest four-year scholastic average. Ralph Douglas was given the Holbrook Award for having done the most for the Fraternity, while Lou McLinden received the Parmelee Award for outstanding service within the chapter.

Mac Corner, Dartmouth, '44, president of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter, was principal banquet speaker. Each graduating senior was also asked to say a few words.

FACULTY RECEPTION CLICKS

Gamma Tau—Kansas

OUTSTANDING ON GRIDIRON

The Kansas Delt's were well represented on the gridiron this year by outstanding freshmen players such as Cal Bender, Joe Fink, and Kent Sanborn. Cal Bender, the star end on the freshman team, scored the winning tally against the Kansas State grid team. In addition, we were represented on the freshman basketball team by Jim Devlin and Bill Cunningham.

INTRAMURAL SUCCESSES

Gamma Tau won the division championship for class "A" intramural football, but was defeated in the semifinals by the team that won the "Hill" championship. Once again the trophy for class "C" basketball was won by our team, the "Jiggers." We stacked high in volleyball competition, but we were defeated in the play-offs by the "Hill" championship team. As intramural softball is just getting under way, the results are unpredictable, but Gamma Tau has many potentialities that may develop us into a winning team.

With the Kansas Relays just around the corner, much discussion has been heard on the topic of a float for the Relays Parade. Brother Dave Mordy has been elected as senior manager for the annual Kansas Relays and is being assisted by Brothers George Breckenridge and Daniel Fox.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

PEE WEE HUNT PLAYS FOR DANCE

To close the spring season and the final semester for twenty-four graduating seniors, Gamma Upsilon had its annual Spring Formal. In previous years we had laid a wooden dance floor, but this spring the chapter had a cement dance floor laid in the parking lot to the rear of the house. To make it a very enjoyable evening and one of the best dances of the year, Pee Wee Hunt supplied the music while June Christy won the hearts of everyone with her wonderful vocals.

ALL TURN OUT TO RENOVATE SHELTER

The sixty men returning to the Shelter this fall will have to put in a few hours of work around the house. Work Manager Gene Weir has an extensive program planned to completely refinish the entire interior and exterior of the Shelter. The actives will remodel the interior while Jack Lawrence, pledge master, will put his pledges to work on the exterior of the house.

Gamma Chi—Kansas State

LINE-UP OF SPRING ACTIVITIES

Gamma Chi has again completed another successful and active year here at Kansas State. The spring activities started in March with rush week ends for prospective rushees. These week ends were spent entertaining the rushees with picnics, house parties, school athletic events, and other activities of interest.

The month of April was highlighted socially with our yearly dinner dance. The dinner and dance were both held at the Country Club. The decorations consisted of two thousand purple, white, and gold daisies. The daisies were distributed around the Club on a white picket fence covered with green ivy. The party was marked off as another very successful and entertaining evening.

April had its working side, also, with nightly practices for the annual Interfraternity Sing in which we placed second. We sang three songs this year, "Come Drink a Toast," "Delta Sweetheart," and "Heigh Ho," a three-part round.

Next in the line of spring activities came intramural baseball. Having a winning team, under the excellent pitching arm of Johnny "Hoot" Gibson, we came into the fraternity finals only to be beaten in a very closely contested game.

FIELD SECRETARY VISITS

We were privileged to have a visit from traveling Field Secretary Al Sheriff during the early part of May. Al gave us some very constructive suggestions which we all appreciate very much.

A TRACK CHAMPION

We are very proud of our track star, Thane Baker. Thane has won the championship trophy for the 100-yard dash in the Big Seven. He took fourth in both the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes in the NCAA held in Seattle, Washington, early in June. At the time of this writing he is training for an expected tour abroad, to England or Japan.

HOPES FOR NEW SHELTER SOON

Things are beginning to look a lot better in the construction field, and it is hoped that we can break ground for the new Delta Shelter very soon. Any alumni wanting to know the details on how he can help in building the new Shelter please write to Ray Pollom, Manhattan, Kansas, or to the chapter house, and we will forward the request to the proper person.

Gamma Psi—Georgia Tech

"WHEELS" VISIT GAMMA PSI

During the month of May, Gamma Psi Chapter was honored by a visit from the national president, Martin Dickinson, and the Executive Vice-President, Hugh Shields. On a tour of the Southern chapters, Martin and Hugh arrived late one Tuesday afternoon accompanied by Clint Huguley, former vice-president of the Southern Division and our former chapter adviser, and "Chuck" Morris, president of the Atlanta Alumni Chapter. They all joined us at supper and after filling up on Southern fried chicken, Martin gave us a brief but very informing and inspirational talk.

After supper they sat in on our cabinet meeting reviewing our work and adding their information and experiences in the solving of the problems at hand.

The chapter was very impressed with Martin and Hugh and was very happy for the opportunity to meet the men who are so competently and ably leading our Fraternity forward.

TEN TO GRADUATE

Our chapter lost ten men via the graduation route at the end of the spring quarter. These men are entering various and widely diversified fields. Three are entering the service of Uncle Sam. They are: Bob Griffith, Lockwood Seegar, and Jack Stribling. John Bell and Fred Wilingham journey to Houston, Texas, where they will work in the construction field. Chuck Ferrell will work at mining engineering in Kentucky. Don Strange-

Boston will move to Nebraska where he will enter the field of structural engineering. Herb Bradshaw will enter his father's appliance business in Waycross, Georgia. Bob Vaughn and Vic Vaughn will enter graduate school—Bob will go to M.I.T., while Vic is still undecided. The chapter wishes these men the best of luck in their chosen fields.

GOALS FOR THE COMING YEAR

The major goal of our chapter for the coming year will be, as always, the maintaining of our imminent place among fraternities on the Tech campus. We plan to finish the landscaping of our backyard, and to finish our new patio. The improving of our scholarship is another goal. Plans are now under way for a big and successful rush season including the publication of a rush booklet.

As ever, our chapter in the coming year will be striving to maintain the honor given us by those who have gone before while gaining new honor to pass on to those who will follow.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

NETS TROPHY FOR FOURTH TIME

We at Delta Beta have enjoyed a most active and successful spring semester. The annual spring formal, held at South Hills Country Club, regular week end parties, and informal picnics helped to round out the social calendar. Days of hard work went into preparation for Spring Carnival, which was topped off, as usual, by the annual buggy race and float parade. The skill and painstaking efforts of Tom Birch and Sellers McNally, buggy supervisors, and other recruits netted us the coveted trophy for the fourth year in succession. Depicting a Mardi Gras theme, the Delta entry in the float parade copped third place.

DELTS IN HONORARIES

With eleven seniors graduating at the end of the semester, the chapter is planning another busy year. Bud Kelly and Frank West have been called to Scimitar, sophomore honorary, Fred Tonge made Delta Skull, junior honorary, and Bob Byrne is now president of the Class of '53. The Delts will be represented in the varsity "C" Club by eight brothers, who hold letters in tennis, rifle, track, soccer, and other sports. We are also proud to claim six men on the school's honor roll.

BREAKS TIE IN SOCCER GAME

One of the most popular intramural sports at Tech is six-man soccer, and this year, as usual, the Delts made a special effort to cop the school championship. Under the splendid coaching of Bill Stunder, the boys won a hard-fought league championship and topped this off with a 1-0 decision over Theta Xi to become the school champs. High light of the game was Mike Hardy's scoring on a penalty kick to snap the tie.

This year also saw the first IM soccer play-off between Tech and nearby Pitt. Impressed by the possibilities of an inter-school play-off, school officials have arranged for a rotating trophy to be awarded to the winning team. Representing Tech, the Delts defeated the Pitt YMCA in an easy 4-0 game.

In softball, final intramural sport, we made the school semifinals out of a field of 24 teams. In recognition of his participation in IM sports, the chapter at its final meeting presented to George Pyle the Outstanding Intramural Player award.

Delta Gamma—South Dakota

CHAPTER PRESENTS SHOW FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Delta Gamma presented an entertaining show for three Eastern South Dakota high schools last April. The entertainment consisted of talent from the Fraternity, including a sixteen-man chorus, a five-piece orchestra, a vocal trio, and a singing piano player. The first half of the program consisted of individual numbers, and the second half was a minstrel show. Twenty-three men took part in the show. The program was well received by the high school students, and we received encouraging letters from principals of the different schools. This tour was something new for fraternities here at South Dakota, and we hope to make it an annual affair, each year adding more schools to our itinerary.

LEADERS ON CAMPUS

Delta Gamma's contribution to the University varsity track squad included Brothers Duane Brunick, Dennis Plooster, and Mark Eixenberger. Duane ran the high and low hurdles, Denny was a leading pole vaulter in the North Central Conference, and Mark threw the shot put and the discus.

Brothers William Day and Charles Jones have been selected to lead other groups on campus next year. Bill, who is president of Delta Gamma, is the president-elect of Interfraternity Council. Chuck is president-elect of Phi Eta Sigma.

AIM FOR LIBRARY

A new deal has been instituted in Delta Gamma's Shelter to aid incoming freshmen. Each year the men of Delta Tau Delta will contribute the books which they will not be using to the Shelter, and before long we should have a pretty good working library.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

SIGHTS SET ON HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

The year 1950-51 brought Delta Epsilon top honors in scholarship, the All Campus Sing, wrestling, and softball. Although this performance is the source of great pride, the chapter points to even greater successes for the coming college year.

The chapter's first objective will be to maintain our high scholarship. If Dave Woodhead, Jack Ballentine, and President Turner—who made "A" standings last semester—will show the way again, we won't have any trouble.

Newcomers in Allegheny varsity sports who show promise for future: GOW, baseball; CURTIS, track; HANNUM, soccer and baseball; WILCOX, track.

Delta Psi's championship softball team at Santa Barbara.

The Deltas also will have their eyes on the intramural all-participation cup, which they lost in a mighty close race last year. Of course, we will be out to retire another three-year Campus Sing trophy.

IMPROVED RUSH SYSTEM READY

Everyone will be ready this year for the much improved rush system. Last year a student was required to make a certain scholastic standing before he could pledge a fraternity. The I.F.C. ruled out this deferred system, with the result that a rushee can now pledge in the fall, probably two weeks after the first semester has begun.

Since the chapter pledged men from all parts of the state last year, we now have rushing throughout the entire state. We would like to thank our Northern Kentucky alumni for the real help they give us in rush. They hold an annual summer rush party for the Cincinnati area.

ENTERTAIN AT FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

In campus activities Delta Epsilon will have an early start. The University has invited the Delt Glee Club to sing for the second consecutive year at Freshman Orientation.

Delta Zeta—Florida

ANNEX THIRD SOFTBALL CROWN

For the third year in a row, Delta Zeta, behind the fine pitching of Brother Harold Bert, won the Intramural Softball Trophy. Brothers Bert and Bittick were selected on the All-Campus Softball Team as pitcher and catcher, respectively.

In the final roundup of intramurals, Delta Zeta was in third place on the campus. We reached the finals in six sports throughout the year, and with a little more luck would have been on the top.

Along the intramural way, Prexy Bill Fleming was appointed student director of intramurals for the 1951-52 semester. Bill is to be congratulated for the fine job that he has done in this work and we wish him much success for the coming year.

RUSHING

Brother Henry Hanson was in charge of the summer rush program this year. Letters were sent out to the alumni throughout the state requesting their aid in recommending prospective rushees who will enter the University this fall. To aid in the rush program, an extension to the patio has been added and a barbecue pit built. The interior of the house has been painted and new furniture ordered. The house will be in the best shape it has been in since the completion of the Shelter. With the coming year, Delta Zeta is looking forward to another successful rush program as in past years.

ANNUAL AFFAIR HELD

Last year Delta Zeta had one of its most successful years in campus politics, athletics, and scholarship, and will be striving to maintain this high on the campus. Before the close of the spring semester, a banquet was held at the Shelter for the 21 graduating seniors of Delta Zeta. Short speeches were made by Dr. Weber and Dr. McQuitty. At the close of the banquet, each of the seniors was presented with a gift. This affair will continue to be an annual event at the close of the school year.

Delta Eta—Alabama

SORORITY AWARD PRESENTED

The spring season was marked by two rush parties at the chapter house, several picnics, and the annual Rainbow Ball on May 19. At intermission, the chapter presented its Sorority of the Year Award, a four-foot rotating trophy, which was won this year by Kappa Delta Sorority with 212 points. Immediately following exams the chapter held a house party at Laguna Beach, Florida. This event was attended by most of the members of the chapter and their dates, alumni, and rushees.

GOLF AND TENNIS TROPHIES ADDED

Delta Eta rose to fifth place among 26 fraternities in competition for the Intramural Rotating Trophy. The trophy case holds new cups for first-place awards in golf and tennis. Brothers Bobby Hill, Ike May, and Carol Daily took the honors. We had successful seasons in football, basketball, softball, and volleyball.

TWO NAMED TO WHO'S WHO

Jim Wright served as Secretary-Treasurer of Student Government and was also tapped to ODK. Charles Morgan performed capably as Chairman of the Homecoming Committee and on the Student Government Executive Cabinet. Both of these men were elected to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. Jim Wright is a member of Jasons, senior honorary fraternity. Joe Young, Dick Hefington, and Jim Wright are members of Quadrangle, junior honorary. Charlie Wilson, Jim Montgomery, and Ike May are members of Druids, sophomore honorary. Bob Guthrie and Leon Terry were tapped to Druids for next year. Leon Terry was a member of Rho Alpha Tau, freshman honorary, and Marion Coley, our chapter adviser, was faculty adviser of that group.

YOUNG WINS THREE SCHOLASTIC AWARDS

The chapter rose nine places in scholarship over its position in 1950. Joe Young won the three scholarship awards offered in the School of Commerce and Business Administration. Al Good won the Tau Beta Pi award for outstanding sophomore scholastic average in engineering. He also won the Pi Tau Sigma award for being the outstanding sophomore mechanical engineer.

DELTS ADD TWO MORE "FIRSTS"

Delta Eta won Jasons Jamboree with its musical show. This was the first time in the history of Jason's Jamboree that the same fraternity has won first place for two consecutive years. The Delt Dixie-land Band deserves much of the credit for this honor. Our band has played benefit performances for Bryce Hospital and the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Tuscaloosa.

The chapter gathered further musical honors by winning the annual interfraternity step-sing for the first time in our history.

We made a sound motion picture called, It's Great to Be a Delt, which will be available for distribution to alumni chapters and other undergraduate chapters next fall.

Delta Iota—U.C.L.A.

INTRAMURAL CHAMPION

Since the last RAINBOW, Delta Iota has distinguished itself by becoming intramural champion for the year 1950-51. Finishing strongly in the last spring sports, we overcame the lead of a couple of other houses, to win by about twenty points. The deciding factor was a champion swimming team which set four all-time intramural marks, and a strong baseball team which ended up second. Important in the swimming meet were Jack Nelson, who accounted for two and part of a third record, Don Slavik, who accounted for one and part of one more, as well as such stalwarts as John Sheffield, Rolf Engen, Rick Guerin, Wally Gayner, Dick Rundle, and the rest of the chapter which either swam or rooted. Henry R. (Red) Nitzkowski, assisted by trainers "Smokey" Ball and "Ducky" Chandler, was the winning coach.

25TH ANNIVERSARY ALUMNI BANQUET HELD

On the same evening as the final announcement of intramural standings, the Delta Iota alumni held their 25th Anniversary Banquet, honoring the founders and the charter members of the chapter. Frank Rethlefson presided, and Ed Thomas, the first president of Delta Iota, presented a special award to incumbent President John Chandler for the chapter, which includes the names of all the presidents of Delta Iota over the 25-year period. Another award made was that of the outstanding pledge in the fall pledge class to Pledge President Ken Kendall.

Principal speaker for the evening was Judge Tom Cunningham of the California Superior Court, who is also a charter member. He gave a fine talk concerning the challenges facing a fraternity today, and suggested some ways of meeting them.

Delta Mu—Idaho

SCHOLARSHIP HITS ALL-TIME HIGH

Scholarship has hit an all-time high at Delta Mu despite the Korean War situation. With an over-all house average of 2.76 for approximately 50 men, Delta Mu permanently added the Interfraternity Scholarship Cup to its growing row of trophies. This gold plated cup is given to the Greek house which can maintain the highest scholastic average for three consecutive semesters. It is interesting to note that five out of the last six school semesters the chapter has been top among the campus fraternities.

SIX WIN LETTERS

Six men of Delta Mu have proven themselves in varsity sports, and have won their letters. Dar Cogswell, Don Hartman, and Pat Duffy won their letters in track. Two letters were earned in golf by Dale Faylor and Bob Rawlins. Bob Zimmerman won his letter on the varsity tennis team. All of these lettermen will be on hand for Idaho next year.

Pat Duffy, who has been freshman and sophomore class president, was elected this spring to A.S.U.I. Executive Board. Pat has been very active in both campus and house activities. He has been a member of the Greek Caucus, chairman of the Student Recruitment Committee, and is doing a fine job as social chairman for Delta Mu.

SOCIAL SEASON ITINERARY

Social events for the second semester included the annual Russian Ball, exchange picnic with the Delta Rho Chapter from Whitman, Spring Formal and Dinner Dance, Alumni Banquet, and the Chatcolet Picnic. The Whitman picnic sprang from an idea of beginning some sort of tradition between the chapters of Delta Rho and Delta Mu. The result was this combination barbeque and softball game, with the loser paying the check. The plan is to hold the event at each school in alternate years, and a copper-plated jug inscribed with the winner's name and the year has been designated as a traveling trophy.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

CAPTURE SEVEN INTRAMURAL CROWNS

In the previous school year Delta Nu Chapter again culminated a highly successful year athletically, scholastically, and extracurricularly.

In the fall we pledged 29 incoming freshmen of whom 23 were initiated before the close of the school year to give our chapter not only a large but also an outstanding group to replace those who entered the service or graduated in the spring.

In the field of intramural athletics Delta Nu won the football, volleyball, badminton, basketball, baseball, track, and golf championships to sweep the interfraternity Supremacy Cup for the second straight year. Competing on varsity and freshmen teams for the college were 22 Deltas in every sport. Outstanding varsity competitors were Ken Lutz, who wrestled his way into a place for the second straight year in the Midwest Conference meet; Earl Glosser, a consistent point-getter on the basketball team; and Dick Kline, number one player on the varsity golf team.

LEADERS IN STUDENT GOVERNMENT

In student government last year the Deltas along with the whole College were proud of the extremely fine jobs done by Dick Bickle, student body president; Dick Receiving Idaho's permanent I-F Scholarship Cup from IFC President STAN RIGGERS are BRYAN LAWRENCE,  $\Delta M$  president (center), and DICK MOORE,  $\Delta M$ 's IFC representative.

Luthin, student body treasurer; and Bob Wilson, social chairman for the College.

DELTA NU WINS SCHOLASTIC TROPHY

To top off a truly great year in all respects, we were recently informed that Delta Nu won the scholarship trophy for the past academic year in the all-fraternity competition with close to a "B" average.

Delta Nu also boasts some outstanding individual performances by the men in the house. For instance: Chuck Crowder, who has travelled about the country giving piano recitals and concerts; Bill Groninger, who recently won two literary prizes offered by the College for creative writing; Dick Kline, who last summer won the Chicago District Golf Association Junior Close Championship; Jim Prims and Kelt Packard, who appeared in almost all the major stage productions of the College; and Ed Grosse, who last year was voted the outstanding athlete of the freshman class.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

IDEAS FORMULATED FOR FUTURE SOCIAL EVENTS

Our president, Gordon Bennett, together with the other house officials, started the ball rolling toward a bigger and better year for the 1951-52 season. After much deliberation, they picked all of the committees which will take charge of coming house and campus events. We believe that it's never too soon to start; and, with that motto in mind, ideas are already being formulated for Homecoming, Dad's Day, the Winter Carnival, Follies, and future social events.

PLEDGE AWARD PRESENTED

The chapter held its annual Spring Formal at the Grand Forks Country Club through the efforts of Leonard Christianson, social chairman. Preceding the formal we had a banquet at the Ryan Hotel dining room, during which time Hank Mahlman was presented the Edward X. Hallenberg key for outstanding chapter service and scholarship as a pledge.

HOPE FOR WINNING SOFTBALL SEASON

The softball season was wound up this spring in a successful manner. After getting off to a slow start, the Delt Sluggers found the range and completed the season with a 5-3 record. Prospects are excellent for a winning season in '52, since only two regulars were lost through graduation. With an eye to the future, most of the boys have nailed down positions on home town teams for the summer and plan to be in keen shape for the coming season.

FAREWELLS SAID TO GRADS

Farewells were said to the graduates, LeRoy Gunerius, Bob Bale, Harold Stewart, Bob Morton, and Dick Halvorsen. Letters to the house from "Stu" and Dick will have Army serial numbers on them since "Stu" is due to be drafted in June and Dick has received orders to report to Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, for research work. To all of its "favorite sons" Delta Xi wishes the best of luck.

Delta Omicron—Westminster

HIGH SCHOLARSHIP GOAL SET

Delta Omicron Chapter at Westminster is beginning another of what looks to be its prime years. Losing only five seniors in the 1951 graduation, the chapter has most of the brothers back. Our goals are set high this year and should be attained easily.

One of our primary objectives this year will be to regain the George H. English Scholarship Trophy. We have won it four out of the last six times it was awarded, but were only second among national fraternities at the last presentation.

HOPE TO RETAIN ATHLETIC SUPREMACY

Another goal of the chapter is to retain the athletic supremacy standing. Copping this award last year with our overwhelming intramural victories and varsity lettermen, we feel sure we will give everyone a good scrap this year. Varsity tennis Cocaptains Bill McCue and Marion Mitchell and baseball Captain Stan Brenner are all returning. Other returning lettermen are Bob Stufflebam and Ken Whitehead in basketball; Dave Erickson and Bob Stufflebam in track; and Bob Strano, Dave McCallum, Ken Whitehead, Frank Marriott, and Vince Allen in baseball.

AIM FOR SCHOOL SERVICE TROPHY

Delta Omicron will be out to take the Homecoming Decorations Trophy for the fourth straight year. Our mechanical monstrosities have bested anything on campus so far. The Drosten Trophy for service to the school is in our sights also, as we won it last year, and would like to see it around again this year.

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

Brother Tom Shields will be president of the student body for 1951-52. He was also elected to ODK and Pi Delta Epsilon.

Delta Pi—U.S.C.

REPRESENTED IN ATHLETICS

The Delt house was well represented in athletics the latter part of the spring semester. Dick Davies was Southern California's intercollegiate golf champion. Roger Dunn became Pacific Coast Conference champion by nudging Dick Davies. Both Dick and Roger were athletes of the month at U.S.C. After being sidelined for six weeks with a fractured ankle, Hugh Stewart teamed with Herb Flam to cop the Pacific Coast Doubles Tennis championships at LaVolla.

ANNUAL MARDI GRAS HELD

Outstanding in the social life at S.C. this past semester was the annual Delt Mardi Gras. It was attended by some 800 gaily-costumed guests of Delta Pi.

SEVERAL CHOSEN TO SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS

Two men, Don Tuffli and Ted Todd, were chosen to Knights, senior men's service organization. Armando Monaco and Frank Brick were selected for Squires, lower classmen service organization. Roger Druitsman was tapped for Skull and Dagger, national men's honorary.

MOTHERS' CLUB TO REDECORATE LIVING ROOM

The Delta Pi mothers' club has chosen to redecorate the living room as a project for this summer. It will include new furniture, draperies, lighting, and refinishings of wood paneling.

COMING EVENTS

Coming events are to include trips to Arrowhead, Pine Ridge, and a summer evening party to be held on the spacious back lawn of the chapter property. The vogue will be white dinner jackets, smooth combo, portable dance floor, and a moonlit night.

Delta Sigma—Maryland

WRIGHT ELECTED S.G.A. PRESIDENT

Well, we did it! Frank Wright, former president of the junior class, has become the first Delt president of the Student Government Association.

Upon the discovery of intrigue in their former political party, the Deltas rebelled and were instrumental in the establishment of a new political party, with the result that Frank was elected in a landslide. The new president is also vice-president of Gate and Key and a member of ODK. At the National Capital Founders Day banquet, Justice Tom Clark presented Frank with a trophy as the chapter's outstanding Delt.

RECEIVES A.F.A. MEDAL

Clay Shepherd, retiring as Air Division Commander of the Maryland AFOTC, received the Air Force Association medal and the Reserve Officers Association medal as the outstanding advanced cadet at the last formation. Bill Bastedo has been elected president of Arnold Society, and Bob Riddle is the new veep of Scabbard and Blade.

QUEEN BECOMES FIRST LADY

Our first Delta Queen, way back in 1949, has now become the chapter's first lady. Last June, with four Deltas as ushers, Miss Virginia Coughlin was wed to Chapter President Bob Campello.

SPECIAL INITIATION HELD

Brothers Praus and Eiseman were recently tapped for Gate and Key, leadership honorary fraternity for men.

With the draft boards breathing down the necks of several pledges, Delta Sigma held a special initiation in June for those expecting greetings. They will now go into the service as alumni, not former pledges.

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

RECEIVES PUBLIC SERVICE AWARD

Delt leadership at Bowling Green was found in many fields during 1950-51. Deltas were presidents of three honoraries, including art, biology, and business. The president of the freshman class and the campus social chairman were also Deltas.

Going into this fall, the chapter continues its domination of the campus literary publication with the editor and business manager. In addition, Deltas are art editor of the yearbook and cartoonist for the daily newspaper.

In other campus posts, Delta Tau boasts the sophomore class president, sophomore senator to the student senate, and a repeat in the campus social chairman.

Delta Tau Delta was honored last spring by receiving the Wood County Interfraternity Award for Public Service.

Delta Upsilon—Delaware

SCORE SECOND TRIUMPH IN SCHOLARSHIP

The Deltas at Delaware found that laying emphasis on scholarship has paid off amply in honors. For the second consecutive semester the chapter ranked first scholastically among the nine Greek-letter social fraternities.

Among outstanding individual scholars, Delta Upsilon Chapter claims two Phi Kappa Phis, a Tau Beta Pi, a graduate with honors, and a graduate with distinction and honors. The Charles B. Evans Prize in Engineering for the outstanding graduate student in the School of Engineering also went to a Delt.

SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

Scholastic goals were achieved without giving ground in other activities. Among its members the chapter numbers such leaders as the president of the senior class, the captain-elect of varsity fencing, and the captain-elect of varsity gymnastics.

The chapter placed third in the interfraternity sing.

Delta Phi—Florida State

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

Outstanding among the campus leaders of Delta Phi during 1950-51 was Rube Askew, who compiled an impressive record in Florida State activities. In addition to being president of the student body, Rube was elected King of the May Day Dance and of the Junior-Senior Prom. He was a member of both Gold Key and Omicron Delta Kappa and of the Arnold Air Society, honorary for Air Force students. His scholastic prowess is attested by membership in Sirius Society, public administration honorary.

Rube was joined in the Arnold Air Society by Deltas James Morrison, George Tarver, and Preston Bradley and in Gold Key by Morrison, Bradley, and Bill Yon.

Other individual honors came to Bradley, named outstanding military student of the year, and Dennis Parrott, president-elect of L'Apache, campus service organization.

WIN INTERFRATERNITY HONORS

In interfraternity rivalry, Delta Phi emerged with coveted honors. Delt debaters captured first prize in forensic competition, while the intramural contenders won the University sportsmanship trophy. In the interfraternity sing, Deltas placed third.

Delta Chi—Oklahoma A. & M.

CHAPTER'S SCHOLARSHIP SURGES

"All is well that ends well," was Bill Parson's remark as he noted the surge in the chapter's grade points resulting from the scholarship program that he had shepherded, ramrodded, and directed through the spring semester.

WINS SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

We also produced relative tempestuous results as we walked away with the softball championship in our league. Gene Brewer's pitching, plus a lot of teamwork from the whole chapter, pushed us right on up into the semifinals of the championship play-offs.

NEW ASSISTANT EDITOR OF YEARBOOK

After completing a successful year as editor of the Aggrevator, campus humor magazine, Gene Brewer relinquished control to move on to the assistant editorship of next year's Redskin, the school annual. Quite a diverse field for an E.E., who is also our chapter treasurer.

DEBATER AVOIDS TRADITIONAL DUNKING

The quickening tempo of social life as summer drew nigh affected a large portion of the chapter, as admittance to the ranks of the engaged, pinned, or steadies resulting in a dunking in famed Theta Pond. Only one of our number, Dick Burgess, succeeded in thwarting the numerous conspiracies to get him "dunked"—he's on the College Debate Team.

RUSHING PROGRAM UNDER WAY

Rush Chairman Bob Johnson has been visiting with each of the rush teams throughout the summer in our search for the best men we can find to pledge Delt.

Delta Psi—Santa Barbara

HOLD CAMPUS OFFICES

The opening of the new school year found men from Delta Psi holding more school positions and offices than ever before in the chapter's history. Bill Kindel leads the list with the office of senior class president and chairman of the non-teachers placement office, an organization which he founded last year. Don Noble holds the positions of sophomore class president and chairman of frosh indoctrination, and both he and Bill are members of the Legislative Council. Leading the school's pep squad as Head Yell King is Brother Bill Grannis, with Brother Jack Carroll as one of his assistants.

HOMECOMING PLANS MADE

The big event for the near future is Homecoming, which will be held on the week end of October 19-21. Brother Bob Grate has been appointed to the position of parade chairman.

WIN INTRAMURAL CUPS

Intramurally, last semester the Deltas almost made a clear sweep of all sports by winning the football, volleyball, and softball cups, and placing second behind the Independents in swimming. Al Cox, local vice-president, received all-league honors for the second straight year for his stellar play in centerfield for the Gauchos. Bobby Johnston, Ron Robinson, George Mattias, Wynne Smallwood, John Hackett and George Perry also received baseball letters.

Delta Omega—Kent

SCORE CLEAN SWEEP IN ELECTIONS

The Kent Deltas placed four men in important positions in the campus political scene. The former president of the Delta Omega Chapter, A. Guy Shelley, Jr., was elected "Most Popular Man" on the Kent State University campus. Ralph Orche, the present president of the chapter, was elected to Senior Men's Union. Bill Sidler, chapter political chairman,

The facts of Col. Conzelman's death are given as newly corrected information: En route from the Philippines to Japan, the prison ship Enoura Matu was bombed in Takao Harbor, Formosa, January 9, 1945. He died two days later as a result of wounds, aggravated by dysentery, exposure, and Ron Rice, our speech star, were elected to Student Council. These four men were the only men from our chapter up for election and all were elected.

SENIOR WINS THREE AWARDS

Shelley figured in three other prominent awards, being given the Service Award from the chapter; the Manchester

GUY SHELLEY

Bright was given the Athletic Award from the chapter; Bob Stopher was presented with the Model Pledge Award. Kenyon

Award for Service in the University; and the Manhood Award from the University. Our chapter feels that it has been a definite honor to have had such a person as our leader for the past two years, and we are going to miss him in the years to come.

Brother Dave Brand was awarded the Scholarship Award and Harold Hottell was awarded the Scholarship Improvement Award for the greatest increase in scholarship in the past year.

Another brother, Bob Weber, was elected president of Blue Key, national honor fraternity.

CAMPUS CHAMPS IN FOUR EVENTS

Delta Omega Chapter came out victorious with a first-place trophy in the Tug of War held on the day of Rowboat Regatta, an annual campus event. Then the next week found us in the finals of the intramural softball race, and we came out with a first-place trophy in that event. We went on to become the campus champions by defeating the independent champions.

Campus Day at Kent State is a big day for everybody, but this year proved to be a bigger one for the Delts. We came through on that day with two first-place trophies. Brother Bob Alexander designed and directed the construction of our float, which consisted of an actual stream of water coming down a mountain side and going over a falls into a pool.

Brother James Tushar directed us in the singing of "John Peel" later that same day to win the Song Fest. The chapter enjoyed a great night of celebrating these victories.
