THE COVER

Delta Tau Delta is proud of the fact that of the 32 American Rhodes Scholars named this year two are Delts—so proud, in fact, that we have let them take over the cover for this number. Reading the article about them on the opposite page will convince our readers that Bob Boyer and Russ Eggers deserve the honors which have come to them.

Two Receive Rhodes Scholarships

TWO UNDERGRADUATE DELTS have been named among the 32 American students to receive this year's Rhodes Scholarships for study at Oxford University in England, counted among the highest honors which may come to a college man.

They are Robert H. Boyer, Carnegie Tech, '53, and E. Russell Eggers, Wesleyan, '53.

As Rhodes scholars, they will enter Oxford University next fall and begin advanced studies. Boyer will specialize in theoretical physics for a period of three years and will work toward a doctor of philosophy degree. Eggers will enroll in the School of Modern Greats for an intensive two-year course in international relations.

Since only 32 scholarships are awarded annually in the United States, competition is unusually keen. Each state selects two candidates who are examined by a committee of ex-Rhodes scholars in eight separate districts. Four men are finally chosen from each district, subject to ratification by the trustees, and surviving to the final selection is a high tribute to the abilities of the men named.

The widely-known scholarship grants were provided in the will of Cecil John Rhodes (1853-1902), British colonial and imperial statesman who contributed substantially to the building of the British empire. His object in bringing scholars from other nations to Oxford for study he described as follows:

"I also desire to encourage and foster an appreciation of the advantages which I implicitly believe will result from the union of the English-speaking people throughout the world, and to encourage in the students from the United States of America who will benefit from the American scholarships to be established for the reason above given at the University of Oxford under this my will an attachment to the country from which they have sprung, but without, I hope, withdrawing them or their sympathies from the land of their adoption or birth."

Rhodes was also quite explicit in defining the principles on which he wished scholars to be selected, thus:

"My desire being that the students who shall be elected to the scholarships shall not be merely bookworms, I direct that in the election of a student to a scholarship regard shall be had to (1) his literary and scholastic attainments; (2) his fondness for and success in manly outdoor sports such as cricket, football and the like; (3) his qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy for and protection of the weak, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship; and (4) his exhibition during school days of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates, for those latter attributes will be likely in afterlife to guide him to esteem the performance of public duties as his highest aim."

Russ Eggers is the eighth Wesleyan man to win a Rhodes Scholarship and probably one of the most versatile students in the history of the award. He is not only an honor student and campus leader but also an outstanding athlete.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has placed consistently at the head of his class academically since entering Wesleyan. His over-all scholastic average thus far is approximately 94 out of a possible 100.

In addition to being president of Gamma Zeta Chapter, Russ is chairman of Wesleyan's Board of House Presidents and president of Deutsch Verien; he was president of the junior class last year. He is a member of the Senior Editorial Board, Le Cercle Français, and the Honor System Committee.

He was honored last spring by election to the Mystical Seven, senior society, the oldest honorary organization on the campus, which is composed of seven men who have exhibited outstanding merit in scholarship and extracurricular activity. He was also the winner of the William Day Leonard Prize, which is awarded annually to the outstanding member of Wesleyan's senior class.

On the athletic field, he has starred in football and baseball. Playing both offense and defense at the halfback position, he was a consistent ground gainer on the gridiron, and on the diamond squad he is rated as a top-notch hurler.

Russ's home is Darien, Connecticut. He says that he has a tentative desire to enter the United States Foreign Service when he completes his studies at Oxford.

Bob Boyer has merited the distinction of receiving the first Rhodes Scholarship ever awarded a Carnegie Tech student. His record at Tech graphically proves that he has earned the honor.

In June of this year, Bob will be graduated with two degrees—an M.S. in mathematics and a B.S. in physics. His over-all college average will be approximately 3.9, out of a possible 4.0. He is a member of both Tau Beta Pi and Pi Mu Epsilon.

Bob came to Tech on a four-year Westinghouse Scholarship. He was a member of the school's Putnam Mathematical Competition team, which won honorable mention in 1952.

No "bookworm," Bob extends his interests far beyond the classroom. He is active on the chapter's intramural athletic teams, in publications, languages, and music. Last summer he toured Germany and France on a bicycle and added further useful information to the vast store he has accumulated in his 20 years.

In Delta Beta Chapter, Bob has served, as one might suspect, as scholarship chairman. At present he is RAINBOW correspondent, and if he weren't so modest, THE RAINBOW would have a fuller account of his collegiate career.

Bob hails from Johnstown, Pennsylvania. He entered Carnegie Tech in the fall of 1949 and pledged Delt at that time. His plans after he leaves Oxford are still only tentative, but he thinks that he may be interested in a position in industry.

Whatever the future may hold for Bob Boyer and Russ Eggers, the past and the distinction of the present speak eloquently, and Delta Tau Delta is proud of them for the honor they have brought to themselves and the Fraternity.

First Novel Makes Best-Seller List

A DELT WHO has made a smashing success of his first novel is William D. Ellis, Wesleyan, '41. His story is The Bounty Lands, published by the World Publishing Company, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Here is the box score so far: The second printing began just 24 days after publication. The book made the New York Herald-Tribune "Best Seller" list 31 days after publication and has stayed on ever since. It has had outstanding reviews in the hard-boiled "big three" of criticism, the New York Times, the Saturday Review, and the Herald-Tribune.

Bill Ellis started his career in the Shelter at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut, where he was editor of the campus magazine, the Cardinal. He was also a track man and ran both the mile and cross-country. In his junior year he was elected steward of Gamma Zeta Chapter. He topped off his collegiate career by being elected a member of Skull and Serpent, honorary senior organization.

Drafted ten days after graduation, Ellis was assigned to the 77th Infantry Division. He commanded E Company of the 307th Infantry Regiment in nine amphibious landings on Guam and the Philippines. Evacuated from the Ormoc Corridor on Leyte for machine gun wounds, he spent a year in army hospitals, which gave him time for free-lance writing.

When he was released from the service, he continued writing. He took plenty of time on his first novel because he wanted it to be top-notch. The research took four years, actual writing time 16 months.

Ellis's hero in The Bounty Lands has been called the "stubbornest critter" in fiction. When asked who modelled for the character, the author said that he is "pretty much taken from my roommate at the Delt house at Wesleyan."

Joe Brown, that was.

"Joe was a kind of hero of mine . . ." Ellis explains, "one of those men you'd pick if you were told you could choose only four men for some dangerous mission into some unknown place for an unknown length of time.

"Joe was a strange combination of humility and arrogance. Approaching any challenging situation, like a new job, he wrinkled up his forehead in a shy, embarrassed sort of way that apologized for the jutting determination that was written all over the point of his chin . . . and then he proceeded to knock down whatever stood in his way. Like the time they broke his hand in the first quarter of a football game . . . in which he played 60 full minutes of football. . . .

"He was extremely ambitious, but unlike others of us, his ambition even at college age was tempered by an unspoken sympathy for human beings."

Bill Ellis adds proudly that he is even godfather of Joe's son, Randolph Ellis Brown, which fact is his greatest trophy. "I hope to make good on the trust, and in fact the writing of this book was in my mind a beginning toward this."

The fictional hero of The Bounty Lands, however, belongs to another era. He moves with fast-paced action through an epic set in the flamboyant, brawling heyday of the western frontier.

In addition to his writing, Ellis is vice-president and managing editor of Storycraft, Inc., of Cleveland, professional writing service.

Airlines Executive Is Marine Corps General

BRIGADIER GENERAL KARL S. DAY

KARL S. DAY, Cincinnati, '17, Ohio State '17, flight superintendent of American Airlines, Inc., is a brigadier general of the Marine Corps Reserve, whose contributions to both civil and military aviation have been outstanding.

General Day started early in the field of flying. In World War I he served the Marine Corps with Naval aviation and won the Navy Cross for heroic action. Demobilized in 1919, he returned to civilian life. Since that time, except for World War II service, he has been associated with air line operations and is one of the major authorities on instrument flying and aircraft navigation. His book Instrument and Radio Flying was adopted as a standard text by the Navy in 1938 and used in the training of all pilots.

During World War II, General Day spent 16 months overseas, chiefly as Air Base Commander of the Third Island Base, Peleliu, and as Commanding Officer, Transport Air Group. For his effective training efforts, he received an award of commendation from Admiral Halsey. He was also awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious services.

General Day, now on inactive duty, is one of the few Reservists to make general rank in the Marine Corps. Only three men have made it while subject to duty.

Judge William Mathes, Legal Scholar

By GEORGE W. ROCHESTER, Chicago, '22

"THE TRAITOR has always been considered even worse than a murderer."

So stated Judge William C. Mathes in an opinion upholding the death sentence in a treason case.

This Judge has made a remarkable judicial record in his seven years on the Federal Bench. He is a Delt from Gamma Iota Chapter of the University of Texas (Class of 1919), and a brief narrative of his life traces the pattern of the American boy born at the turn of the century.

Hale County, Texas, is located on the south plains of the "Panhandle" and in 1899 the chief trading post for the cattlemen for miles around was the county seat of Plainview, with a population of fewer than 500 people. Eighteen miles southwest from Plainview was the much smaller town of Hale Center. There on a typically cold and windy day in Texas on December 17, 1899, another son was born to the town's most outstanding lawyer and public citizen, William C. Mathes, and his wife, Mrs. Mae Burke Mathes.

This son of the complete family of two girls and five boys was named after his father and would follow in his father's footsteps. In less than three years after the birth of William C., Jr., his father was elected County Judge of Hale County and the Judge and Mrs. Mathes moved their growing family to the county seat at Plainview, where Judge Mathes served with ability and honor for many years as County Judge.

There William C., Jr., with his brothers and sisters, was reared into young manhood within the environment of a faithful, industrious, and representative American family. He learned from his earliest years the love for his country and a deep respect for the law.

Through grade school and high school, young "C" was an excellent student, always at the top or near the head of his class. He was valedictorian of the Class of '15 of Plainview High School, and the old-timers yet recall his valedictory declamation. His scholastic attainments never prevented him from earning his way with odd jobs after school and over the week ends. "C" was probably the youngest man in Texas to carry a union card in the Electrician's Labor Local, when he joined the union to operate the moving picture machine on Friday and Saturday nights at the "Ruby Theatre" in Plainview.

At the outbreak of World War I in 1917, "C," together with his brothers, volunteered for service, and he joined the Naval Reserve Force. He was sent to the University of Texas Naval Reserve Unit, where he got his "boot training" combined with collegiate work. At the close of the war, he continued his education in the Business Administration College at Texas and was graduated in 1921 among the top students of the University.

It was in 1916 that Brother Mathes was accepted as a member of Gamma Iota Chapter of Delta Tau Delta and came to live at the chapter Shelter with his other brothers. The Deltas at the house in those days were, as they usually are at all times, leaders on the campus, and, after their undergraduate days, made names for themselves in professional, commercial, and industrial pursuits.

Brother Mathes was chosen as business manager of the Varsity Circus in 1920, which was the spring college festival. To put into practice some of the business sagacity developed by the business administration course, Brother Mathes took out rain insurance for the gala occasion. It so happened that during the 1920 Varsity Circus there was a deluge at Austin, and had it not been for the rain insurance of $2,000, the enterprise would have lost money. With it, the farsighted manager showed a profit. Brother Mathes' popularity continued to grow.

Among the many notable Deltas of Brother Mathes' days, space will permit the mention of only two of his brothers. L. L. Barrow, now chairman of the board of directors of the Humble Oil Company, the largest and richest unit of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, and Tom Clark, former Attorney General of the United States and now Justice of the United States Supreme Court, were and remain close friends of Brother Mathes from the Fraternity days in Gamma Iota.

From the University of Texas, Bill Mathes went to Harvard Law School, where he wanted to study the law and emulate his father, Judge Mathes. Judge Mathes was deeply respected by all of his boys, and his sterling qualities as a father, a judge, and a good American citizen influenced each of them to strive to develop his talents in his chosen life's work. Bill chose the law.

In June, 1924, Bill was graduated from Harvard, having been admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in April. A close personal friend and classmate, James C. Sheppard, convinced him that he should come to Sheppard's home town of Los Angeles to practice, and so in September of 1924 Bill was admitted to the California Bar.

From 1924 to 1927, he was associated in the practice of the law with the firm of Newlin & Ashburn. The senior member, Gurney Newlin, was later, in 1928-29, president of the American Bar Association, and Allen Ashburn in later years was, and now is, Judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County.

It was in 1927 that Bill and his friend, Jim Sheppard, were able to join efforts in a partnership planned at Harvard, and strike out for themselves. From 1927 to November, 1945, that partnership lasted, and during these years the firm of Haight, Mathes & Sheppard developed into one of the most reputable firms in Los Angeles, the equal of any of the older firms in commercial and civil law practice.

During all these years of arduous practice, Bill was never too pre-occupied to devote some of his time to the betterment of his profession. He taught for many years commercial law courses for the American Banking Institute. He served on Disciplinary Committees for the California State Bar; was Chairman of the Committee on Education for the American Bar Association; member of the Board of Directors, American Judicature Society; and member on war work, American Bar Association.

In 1943-44, he was elected and served as president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, where he did an exceptionally good job during that year, with all its accompanying uncertainties and deviations caused by turbulent war conditions.

Nor did he at any time forget his Fraternity and his colleges. He joined the Los Angeles Delta Tau Delta Alumni Chapter as soon as he arrived in Los Angeles and has ever since been an active and helpful member. He was president of Ex-Students Association of the University of Texas, and a member and worker in the Harvard Club and Harvard Law School Associations of Southern California.

In November, 1945, President Truman, with the well nigh unanimous endorsement of the entire Bar and Bench of Southern California, appointed Brother Mathes United States District Judge of the Southern District of California.

When Judge Mathes left the Bar for the Federal Bench, he had attained the position of an accomplished lawyer, with a wide knowledge of the law, general knowledge of history, of science, of philosophy, of the useful arts, of the modes of business, and of the things that concern the well being and intercourse of men in society.

Since 1945, Judge Mathes has served as one of the ten United States District Judges of the Southern District of California and has in these seven years been called upon to sit on the decisions of many important legal questions. Two cases, however, have given Judge Mathes a national reputation as a judge of rare intellect, high moral integrity, and scholarly attainment. The following two cases vouchsafed an opportunity of recording in judicial judgment decisions of lasting import, and which will be commented upon and appreciated by a large class constituting a patriotic and learned profession long after contemporary addresses or public efforts shall have passed into forgetfulness.

In the case of United States v. Tomoya Kawakita, 96 F. Supp. 824; 343 U.S. 736, and Judge Mathes' opinion (108 F. Supp.—D.C.S.D.Cal.), denying Kawakita's modification of the death sentence for treason, evinces a profound appreciation for the foundations of free institutions, and recognized and enforced the concept of patriotism that acknowledges the fidelity of no citizen, who, after war is declared, condemns the justice of our country's cause and sympathizes with her enemies.

Kawakita, born an American citizen, educated in our schools, had gone to Japan in 1939 under an American passport. After Pearl Harbor, he gave aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States by working for a Japanese mining company which exploited the labor of American prisoners of war. After the war, he quietly slipped back into the United States but, in time, was recognized by a soldier who was a prisoner under his harsh and brutal command.

A jury in Judge Mathes' court found Kawakita guilty of treason, and he was sentenced to die for his crime—the first death penalty for treason since World War II, and if executed will be the first death sentence in time of peace in our nation's history.

"All traitors are not given the chance to commit treason in a grand manner. Means to commit the classic type of treason—to betray the United States in a dramatic fashion as did Benedict Arnold—were not available to the defendant. But his testimony at the trial leaves no doubt that he would willingly have blown up our Pacific fleet and disclosed to Japan the secrets of our atom bomb, if it had only been within his power to do so.

"Throughout history treason stands as the crime most abhorred by English-speaking peoples—'the highest civil crime which . . . any man can possibly commit . . .' The traitor has always been considered even worse than a murderer. And the distinction is based upon reason: for the murderer violates at most only a few, while the traitor violates all—all the members of his society, all the members of the group to which he owes his allegiance."

Judge Harold R. Medina had the first case to try Communists for conspiracy to advocate and teach the duty to overthrow the government of the United States by force and violence, and Judge Mathes had the second case of the United States v. Schneiderman, et al., 102 Fed. Supp. 87, 106 Fed. Supp. 906. Both Judges became nationally known for their patience, forbearance, judicial learning, intellectual honesty, and courageous administration of justice.

To read Judge Mathes' opinions in these two cases one wonders at his exhaustive research, his scholarly command of legal precepts, and his ability for clear and lucid exposition. His opinions may well serve as texts for the law of treason in the Kawakita case, and the authoritative interpretation of the statutes and laws dealing with the legal control of Communistic activities in our country.

Our Brother Judge Mathes has many years of judicial service ahead of him, but he has already carved himself a niche in our national federal judiciary system as one of the few scholars on the Bench. The world has produced fewer instances of truly great judges than it has of great men in almost every other department of civilized life. Truly great judges belong to an age of political liberty; such an age is all too young when viewed over the eons of human history. It is only with political liberty that a judge can be the representative of abstract justice for the people in the administration of the law and be rewarded for the high achievements of duty by a proportionate admiration and respect.

Our Gamma Iota brother has had that opportunity and well deserves the accolade of a great judge.

On February 16, Judge Mathes was presented a certificate of merit by California officials of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for his conduct of the trial of 14 Communist Party leaders. They were found guilty by a jury last August 5.

Awarded Interfraternity Gold Medal

DR. HENRY M. WRISTON became the second Delt to receive NIC's highest honor.

DR. HENRY M. WRISTON, Wesleyan, '11, president of Brown University, received the National Interfraternity Conference Gold Medal for 1952, for "distinguished service to youth through the American college fraternity." The award was presented at a special luncheon during the 44th annual session of the NIC, held November 27-29, 1952, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City.

Dr. Wriston became the second Delt to receive the highest accolade of the national interfraternity organization. Alvan E. Duerr, Kenyon, '93, was recipient of the first such award ever made, in 1940.

Also honored at the November meeting was A. Bruce Bjelaski, George Washington, '04, former chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference and senior living ex-President of Delta Tau Delta. He was presented the Conference Silver Medal in recognition of his services to American college youth.

Dr. Wriston, former Supervisor of Scholarship of Delta Tau Delta and a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, has made substantial contributions to the fraternity systems of two schools—Lawrence College and Brown University—of which he has been president. Development of Brown's new $8-million fraternity quadrangle, reported in the March, 1952, number of THE RAINBOW, was evolved under Dr. Wriston's leadership.

Delta Tau Delta's official delegates to the annual session of the NIC were Eastern Division President Forrest H. Witmeyer, Vice-President Joel W. Reynolds, and past President Norman MacLeod.

In addition, several undergraduate Delts represented the interfraternity councils of their respective institutions at the Undergraduate Conference. Among them were Gerald Forbes of Missouri; Charles Denny of Stanford; Patrick Dionne of Maine; William Glaser of R.P.I.; and Monroe Trout of Pennsylvania. Trout served as temporary chairman of the last session of the Undergraduate Conference.

One of the inspiring aspects of the Conference was a luncheon address (reprinted elsewhere in this issue) by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of Christ Church in New York City.

Delegates were presented a comprehensive picture of the role that the National Interfraternity Conference might play in the national program for higher education by Fred H. Turner, dean of students at the University of Illinois. As a result, a resolution was unanimously passed calling for a reconsideration of a more efficient central service organization, to include the employment of a paid executive. The NIC Executive Committee was instructed to make a study of this matter.

Delt WILLIAM GLASER (left), in behalf of R.P.I., accepts the trophy for the most outstanding program of interfraternity council activity.

A. BRUCE BIJELASKI, former NIC Chairman, honored for service to college youth.

The Executive Committee was also instructed by a resolution to establish more alumni interfraternity councils and to expand their sphere of influence. Fraternity scholarship was discussed by a panel with Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, NIC educational adviser and faculty member of the University of Delaware, as moderator.

The annual report of the secretary of the Conference, Lloyd S. Cochran, showed that 60 member fraternities now have a total of 3,100 chapters, an increase of 45 since a year ago, with a total membership of 1,365,571. The chapters of 57 fraternities own 2,247 houses, an increase of 176 since 1949; 49 of these were purchased or built last year.

The impressive trophy for the most outstanding program of interfraternity council activity in the past year went to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Accepting the award as president of R.P.I.'s interfraternity council was William Glaser, a member of Delta Tau Delta's Upsilon Chapter.

Other schools cited for the work and activity of their interfraternity councils included: Hanover College, Stevens Institute, Wittenberg College, and Ohio State University. Second-place honors went to the University of Illinois and the University of Tulsa.

C. R. Yeager, Kentucky, '33, Pi Kappa Alpha, of Attleboro, Mass., was elected Conference chairman for 1953.

The 1953 session of the NIC will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, in a move to encourage greater attendance and participation.

Community Medical Plan Founded by Delt

DR. EDGAR H. NORRIS, Wooster, '15, Minnesota, '15, surgeon, medical economist, and educator, is the originator, author, and founder of the medical program of the American Federation of Medical Centers.

The Federation is a national, non-profit organization formed by businessmen and doctors, whose purpose is to show communities how to provide modern, comprehensive medical care to individuals at a cost of one to two dollars a week. The cost includes medical, hospital, surgical, dental, and eye care.

This comprehensive medical care will be provided by a self-contained team of physicians, dentists, and nurses and other necessary personnel who will work together as the staff of a community medical center. Based on a system of voluntary prepayment for medical care, the new plan, according to its exponents, will remove for the physician the ever-growing threat of nationalized medicine. The aim of the A.F.M.C. is ultimately to provide a modern medical center in every American community which will bring to all people all the medical-care advantages now available at the great national medical clinics.

The germ of the idea was planted in Dr. Norris' mind during the early thirties. He had started his medical practice in 1919, when he was associated with the well-known surgeon, Dr. Arnold Schwyzer, of St. Paul, Minnesota. During the years 1922 to 1924, he was a partner of Dr. Frederick H. Neher, St. Paul surgeon. From 1924 to 1931, he practiced as head of his own medical group and served on the surgical staff of three St. Paul hospitals.

In 1923 he organized the medical department and program of a newly formed insurance enterprise, the Anchor Casualty Co., now one of the major insurers of casualty risks in the Northwest, and subsequently became the first medical director of the company.

In 1930 Dr. Norris developed acute osteomyelitis of the jawbone and spent the following five years battling a serious infection and convalescing in the mountains of Old Mexico. To keep himself occupied during this long period, he began an intensive study of the social economy of medicine, which ultimately led to the formulation of the present, newly announced program of the A.F.M.C.

Physically unable to resume the practice of surgery, Dr. Norris returned in 1935 to the University of Minnesota where for three years he was a Fellow in pathology. He was made professor of pathology at Wayne University's College of Medicine, Detroit, in 1938, and the next year was named its dean.

He left Wayne University in 1945 to become research associate at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, where he resumed his research in pathology in the laboratory of Dr. Tracy B. Mallory. In this rather independent capacity, Dr. Norris was able to test his thinking on medical economics through discussions with interns, residents, and staff doctors and with businessmen and other leaders.

In 1946 he began the writing and formal documentation of the plan which has now become the established program of the American Federation of Medical Centers. Once his book, Medicine Rededicated, was completed—the research and writing for which required nearly three years—Dr. Norris realized that his plan should be critically examined and tested by people and organizations who knew nothing of its existence. He went to New York City, where he first consulted with William L. Chenery, then publisher of Colliers. This produced a chain reaction of introductions, and the A.F.M.C. plan was brought to the attention of many industrial, medical, and hospital leaders. His visits, in an ever-widening circle, bore fruit in valuable constructive criticism of the plan which was approved in concept by all.

Head of Armed Services

DEWEY SHORT, Baker, '19, who was returned to the United States House of Representatives in January for his 11th term as Representative of Missouri, has been named chairman of the House's important Armed Services Committee.

Except for one two-year term, Mr. Short has served continuously in the House since 1930. He is known as one of the most versatile and scholarly statesmen in Washington.

Butler Delts Acquire New Shelter

LESS THAN A YEAR AGO Butler Delts were scratching their heads and pondering how much paint and elbow grease would be needed to spruce up the house which had been their Shelter for many years.

Today they are ensconced in a spacious, resplendent dwelling which is rated high among the finest fraternity houses in the country.

It all happened so fast that many people around the Butler campus in Indianapolis are still rubbing their eyes to make sure that what they have seen is really true. Butler Delts, however, will tell you that it couldn't be truer, for they have been living in their magnificent new home since last December—and liking it more every day.

The Shelter, situated on more than three acres of beautifully landscaped ground adjacent to property owned by the University, is of red brick with stone trim and slate roof. It was formerly the home of Mr. Theodore Griffith, president of L. S. Ayres & Co., Indianapolis department store. Cost of replacement of the property has been conservatively estimated at $225,000.

Containing 14 bedrooms and eight baths, the house is easily adaptable for fraternity living. Four of the bedrooms have fireplaces, and a spacious library, panelled in walnut, has shelves on two sides with a fireplace at one end. The living room also is equipped with fireplace, as is the dining room which will seat 48 persons.

A large, screened porch backs the house. It is fronted by a veranda looking out over sweeping grounds. Heavily wooded, the property boasts an oak tree reputed to be one of the oldest known to man. Experts have estimated the giant's age from 200 to 400 years. It is packed with concrete to halt rotting, and every limb is strung with heavy steel cable to carry lightning bolts harmlessly to the ground.

The chapter has already installed a permanent chapter room and has provided a comfortable suite for its house-mother. The garage is being converted to recreation space.

Beta Zeta's acquisition of the new Shelter was the result of carefully thought-out and swiftly executed plans which called for the participation of many alumni. When an option to purchase the property was signed in August, directors of the chapter's house corporation accepted a sizable challenge. In addition to proceeds realized from the sale of the former Shelter, they resolved that they should raise a minimum of $25,000 in order to hold financing indebtedness to a conservative and conveniently repayable level.

A campaign committee, headed by Harvey W. Garrett, '28, swung into action. For 60 days, the word was spread throughout the ranks of Beta Zeta alumni, and telephone and telegraph wires hummed as appeals and responses moved Delts steadily toward their goal.

Charles R. Cruse, '39, president of the house corporation, mobilized his directors—Seward A. Baker, '31; W. Scott Christie, '49; John T. Northam, '27; Houston H. Meyer, '21; Clifford B. Kirby, '18; Everett M. Schofield, '09; and E. David Woods, '42—as committees pushed the drive on a personal-contact basis.

Besides the directors, the following campaign fund advisers were pressed into service: John R. Barney, '31; Dale R. Hodges, '21; J. Layman Schell, '21; Harold B. Tharp, '11; Everett J. Holloway, '06; Frank H. Fairchild, '31; Judge Emsley W. Johnson, Jr., '34; and H. Kirk Yockey, '36. Other Delts, without official designation, joined the firing line to put the campaign over the top.

When the smoke had cleared away, here was the box score:

In a period of approximately 60 days, Beta Zeta had accumulated nearly $30,000. More than 50 per cent of the chapter's alumni made contributions. Widespread participation is indicated by the fact that the largest single donation was $2,500, and by far the greatest percentage of gifts ranged from $25 to $300.

To celebrate the successful fund drive, Beta Zeta actives and alumni gathered around the banquet board on November 21. Principal speaker was Robert R. Batton, '12. Dr. M. O. Ross, president of Butler University, and Tony Hinkle, Butler athletic coach,

His Ingersoll Biography Pleases Critics

CLARENCE H. CRAMER, Ohio State, '27, is the author of Royal Bob, a new biography of Robert G. Ingersoll (1833-99), published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company of Indianapolis.

A veteran political campaigner, platform lecturer, trial lawyer, and the most eloquent speaker of his generation, Ingersoll provides the material for a highly interesting story in the hands of an able biographer like Mr. Cramer. The New York Times Book Review has praised the book as "a scrupulously documented biography that reflects the excitement of Ingersoll's life and identifies his ideas in accurate relation to the main intellectual currents of the time."

Mr. Cramer, who is the acting dean of the School of Business of Western Reserve University, has also been associated with the history department of that school.

Campus Honors for "Displaced" Delt

LEMBIT UNO LILLELEHT, originally a native of Parnu, Estonia, and now a member of Delta Upsilon Chapter at the University of Delaware, holds the distinction of being one of the few displaced persons ever to join the ranks of Delta Tau Delta.

The story behind Lilleleht's coming to the United States and among other things, eventually becoming a Delt, is a compelling and interesting one, especially in view of the many difficulties which he has faced on the way.

The stocky, blond, 23-year-old youth, known around the Shelter as "Lemmie," fled Estonia with his mother and two sisters in 1944, just before the Russians moved into the small country. The Lillelehts tried to gain refuge in neutral Sweden, but German authorities forced them to live in Germany. After five long years there, they finally managed to secure passage across the seas to America. The month of May, 1949, saw Lembit, his mother, and two sisters enter the United States in the status of displaced persons, under the sponsorship of Seabrook Farms Company, which assisted over 1,000 Estonians to find haven and jobs in the U. S.

In the fall of the same year, Lilleleht began taking courses at the Concordia Collegiate Institute in Bronxville, New York, intent on pursuing a college education. The next school year, he transferred to the University of Delaware after deciding to major in the chemical engineering field.

After two terms at Delaware, outstanding qualities as a student paved the way for his being selected as the recipient of a special assistance scholarship set up by the Interfraternity Council, which was anxious to help the hard-working, chem engineering aspirant. Under this IFC plan, Lem's housing for the entire 1951-1952 school year was to be provided by the nine Greek-letter fraternities, each offering him a month's residence in their respective houses.

First stop in this rotation system was the Delt Shelter at 230 East Main Street, in Newark. As luck would have it, Lem never got beyond Delta Upsilon's Shelter. He fitted into things so well and the relationship proved to be so satisfactory that he finally stayed on and pledged the chapter in early November of 1951, and was subsequently initiated on February 11 of the next year.

Since his appearance at Delaware, Lembit has become a popular figure in both chapter and campus activities. As a result of a brilliant, almost straight-A average, he has been named to Tau Beta Pi, Omicron Delta Kappa, elected as engineering representative to the Student Government Association, and is at present holder of a Monsanto Scholarship. He is president of the Lutheran Students Association. As a junior, he received an award from the Delaware section of the American Chemical Society for distinction in course.

More recognition of his scholastic ability was accorded him last June, when he was presented with the chapter's academic trophy (awarded annually) for being the top-ranking junior in Delta Upsilon. During the recent semester, Lem served as chairman for a benefit dance staged by Omicron Delta Kappa. In the field of athletics, the versatile Lilleleht has represented his chapter by participating in both the interfraternity cross country and 880-yard relays.

While the honors continue to pile up for this deserving student, he remains as modest and unaffected as before. In every sense of the word, he is truly the Good Delt. When he finally obtains his last citizenship papers in 1954, the United States will have gained a worthy and loyal citizen who has already seen many of the democratic principles upon which this nation stands in action and practice in the life of Delta Tau Delta.

EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the high lights of this winter's sessions of the National Interfraternity Conference was an address by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of the Christ Church (Methodist) in New York City. Dr. Sockman, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University, is a member of Phi Delta Theta. His interpretation of the role of fraternities in contemporary education, we feel sure, will be of interest to members of Delta Tau Delta, and portions of his address are reproduced herewith.

THIS CONFERENCE represents the combination of youth and experience. The late John Buchan, governor general of Canada, was a young lawyer in London, and he wrote in his later years that one of the great inspirations of his professional career as a young man was to meet with the older members of the bar, discuss questions with them at dinners, and have the feeling of their fellowship. He said he deplored separating into age groups.

As I look back to my college days, I recall what it meant to me as an undergraduate to have the alumni come around for our gatherings. I can remember the lift we got from seeing men who had attained distinction, yet felt a certain continuing nearness to our chapter. We got a lift from the alumni. And I think we owe a debt to those men who, like you do, keep up this interest in undergraduate life. It is a service you render far beyond your power to measure. And I think you get something out of it too.

Now, those chapters of ours were sinking the interests of the students into something bigger than themselves. They took us from our precollege days when we were born egotists and gave us a larger loyalty.

We need it just as much in later life. So I think we get in this Conference and through the efforts of you men who do keep your contacts with the colleges that blending of youth and experience which helps to counteract the centrifugal scattering force of our competitive world.

The second combination that I think this Conference represents is the one between the college institution and the fraternity chapter. I know that some administrators are rather prone to look upon fraternities as problems. But I read with great interest that the first two Criteria of the National Interfraternity Conference are to place the fraternity quite in line with the higher loyalty to the college. You can't have good fellowship in any group without a higher loyalty. A group can't revolve around itself. You could not take these college fraternities off the campus, out of the college atmosphere, and make them really effective, could you? You could not get a group of fellows together in a good, wholesome way like that unless they were held to the higher interests, the bigger things, of the college. Just getting people together, you know, isn't really fraternal. You don't make people friendly by putting them together. They just see their differences, and that accentuates their contrasts.

We need as a fraternity that higher loyalty of the college to make our chapters function as fraternities. And I think you college administrators will have to admit that the fraternity does something you can't quite do without them. How could you take great student bodies such as we have now and hold them together if there weren't these natural groups which bring out the qualities in men that education should develop?

Someone a few years ago said that in secular education the accent is on the verbs "to know," "to get," "to do," but in education inspired and motivated by religion it is on the verbs "to be," "to obey," "to serve," and "to dedicate."

I am convinced that you have got to get that second group of verbs into education; just to get to know doesn't do the job.

Suppose I had remembered ninety-eight per cent of all my professors taught me thirty-five years ago? I could not keep mental company with a high school boy today on a college education gained thirty-five or forty years ago. Facts go out of date. But attitudes, directions, they last. You don't outgrow a direction. North is always north. East is always east. You get things in college through the fraternity that are an integral part of education, and I would like to ask the educators just what would be their substitute if you took fraternities off the campuses.

I have felt for quite a while that one of the basic needs of our day, rather, one of the basic ills of our day, is a kind of moral and social awkwardness. That is, we have ideals, we have good impulses, but we are so inept in practicing them. We cheer for world peace, we cheer for racial brotherhood and industrial harmony. But we are awkward in approaching those things.

Take a little two-year-old boy who has just learned to walk. Why is he awkward in walking? He has reached the stage where he has the impulse to walk, but he hasn't yet mastered it; he has to think about that next step. He is also awkward in talking. Why? For the same reason. He has reached the stage where he has the impulse to talk and not the ability for it. How will he do it? I might read to him a whole treatise on Greek dancing. It wouldn't help him one iota on walking. And I might read a whole book on college rhetoric. It wouldn't help him in talking.

What that little fellow needs and what he gets is a nursery floor on which to walk and a mother and a father to help him walk and talk. In other words, what we need to get through this awkward stage where we have the big ideals

Bowling Green Barnwarming

By RONALD P. RITTER, Bowling Green, '54

A COUPLE OF GOATS, a dozen chickens, an old-fashioned cider barrel, and forty pounds of popcorn—all went into making the third annual Delta Tau Barnwarming at Bowling Green State University the greatest success yet.

A giant square dance climaxed the January week end which the chapter holds for actives and rushees. More than 100 couples came to the dance dressed in overalls and dirndl skirts and participated in contests for corn husking, apple bobbing, and hog calling.

Dancing ballerinas were the hit of a variety show which opened the week end on Thursday night. The brothers called themselves the "Pierre d'Chappelle Troupe" and danced to the "Waltz of the Flowers." The performance was their first and final appearance, since one of the brothers sprained his ankle while trying to take a flying leap through the air.

Everything from sure-fire blades to black cigars were advertised during the "Bob and Ray" take-off. Also on the program was an impersonation of Johnny Ray, music by the Delt Combo, a novelty dance to the tune of "Goofus," singing by the Delt quartet, and record pantomiming.

The following night the old-fashioned bidding system of inviting your date to the dance was used. Girls had the choice of kissing either their dates or a goat. If a co-ed kissed her date, it meant that she would accept a date for the square dance the following night, but if she preferred to kiss the goat, it meant that the poor fellow would have to look elsewhere.

The couples were called up to the wagons, which were filled with straw, a couple of goats, and the master of ceremonies. Each Delt was asked a question and if he missed his date got to hit him with a giant paddle. Questions were of an obvious nature, such as "How many glasses of water go over Niagara Falls in an hour?" or "How many bricks are there in the Administration Building?"

The barn dance was held in the elementary school gym on Saturday night. The hall was gaily decorated with balloons, colored crepe paper streamers, goats, chickens, corn stalks, and hay stacks.

As the couples entered, they climbed up a 10-foot slide and then slid down into a haystack on the floor where the dancing was taking place.

The Buckeye Valley Five played country music and hillbilly numbers while the brothers, rushees, and dates danced until they were exhausted.

One poor rushee was nearly drowned during the apple bobbing contest. His head was the first one in the barrel of water, and until another fellow came up with an apple in his mouth, he had his head under the water. Another got an apple and was thrown over the shoulder of the rest.

A new corn-husking record was set when Shirley Perry, Delta Gamma, got her ear husked in 15 seconds. During the hog calling, sounds of "Soouiiiiee" were heard, but the prize went to the couple who had the audacity to yell out the chairman's name, Aury Fernandez.

"Go Around the Couple and Take a Little Peek," and "Birdie in the Cage" seemed to be the most popular dancing numbers. As a relaxer between dances, polkas, jump tunes, and slow numbers were played by the hillbilly orchestra.

Couples stuffed themselves with cider, apples, and popcorn while they were resting on the side lines.

Barnwarming, an age-old custom, is said to have been started at the University of Missouri. It was brought to the Bowling Green campus by the Delt in the winter of 1951. It has now grown to an outstanding event for rushing, and this year it was the biggest and best ever held.

Chairman for all three nights was Aury Fernandez. It was his task to go into the country and secure the goats, chickens, and corn which made the party such a success. He also was in charge of decorating and was master of ceremonies during the dance.

West Coast Basketball Paced by Delts

WEST COAST DELTS got quite a kick out of a February newspaper headline which predicted "Burnett Will Send Tomsic After Flower."

It referred to a hardwood double-header between Stanford and U.S.C., which pitted Delt against Delt—Captain Ken Flower of U.S.C. and Sophomore Ron Tomsic of Stanford. Both have been the spark plugs of their respective teams all season. The strategy of Burnett, Stanford coach, was revealed as putting Tomsic on Flower to stop the Trojan ace.

The teams split the twin bill, 93-56 for U.S.C. and 76-74 for Stanford. The two Delts were the stand-out performers of the contests. Tomsic connected for 38 points in the second game to equal the Southern Division scoring record. Sportswriters labeled him "strictly sensational" and "unstoppable."

"Flower, too, was terrific," they wrote. "The Trojan captain, while scoring but five points himself, was responsible for at least a dozen more through interceptions and unbelievably brilliant passes."

A week earlier Tomsic had been named the Northern California basketball player of the week for his record-breaking 39 points against top-rated Bradley.

Two other Delts have contributed to Stanford's offensive strength. They are George Zaninovich and Don DeLong, both starting forwards.

Ninety-year Delt Recalls Ford Investment Offer

NORRIS A. COLE

NORRIS A. COLE, Albion, '86, of Long Beach, California, is a Delt who likes to recall with a smile that 46 years ago he put his money on a Wolverine instead of a Ford and neatly tossed away a chance to make $15 million.

Mr. Cole, one of three initial backers of the Chainless Wolverine auto, turned down an opportunity to invest $2500 with Henry Ford. Several men who had original investments of about that size with Ford sold them out later for $15 million each.

In 1906 Mr. Cole with two partners financed a new car called the Chainless Wolverine. It was one of the first to use a differential, eliminating the chain drive. They employed an engineer by the name of Buick to design a two-cylinder, horizontal-opposed engine.

After a showing of the new car in Madison Square Garden, one of the partners had financial trouble and they were forced to sell out. The new owner was the Durant-Dorte Wagon Co. of Flint, Michigan. It retained the service of Buick and renamed the Wolverine the Buick.

After his brief fling in the pioneer auto industry, Mr. Cole did all right for himself in the hosiery business. In 1893 he associated himself with Theodore F. Thieme in the Wayne Knitting Mills, Fort Wayne, Indiana, and became a small stockholder. They made the first full-fashioned hosiery in this country. Thieme had brought back machines and workers from Germany to establish the firm in 1891. The business was started for $30,000 and was sold out in 1923 for several million.

Mr. Cole also went into the cattle breeding business as a sideline from 1906 to 1916 in Ypsilanti, Michigan. He raised Holstein-Friesian stock and still holds records for cows producing milk and butter. The elderly Delt recalls that Henry Ford once inspected his farm and designed a milking shed three times as large as his. Ford built the shed, but when a wind blew the roof off, he became disgusted and forgot the cattle business.

Although he is now 90 years old, Mr. Cole still retains a lively interest in the progress and growth of this nation, in which he has himself played an important role.

Frontier Marshal's Story Goes Into 11th Printing

DELTS ARE FINDING on their newsstands today a new pocketbook biography which provides many of them their first opportunity to become acquainted with one of the best books ever written by a Delt.

The book is Wyatt Earp, Frontier Marshal, written by Stuart N. Lake, Cornell, '11, and reprinted in pocketbook form by Bantam Books, of New York City. First published in 1931 by the Houghton Mifflin Company, the biography has gone through ten additional printings, including the present one. The Bantam edition since its appearance has become a best seller. Demand for the hard-cover edition also has held up through the years, and it, too, is going into another printing.

The book has been printed in French. The first British edition, issued this winter, sold out promptly, and a second edition is now going at the same gait.

Stuart MacLean, former Editor of THE RAINBOW, who died in 1935, called the turn on Wyatt Earp when it first appeared.

"If you want to see America in the making," he wrote, "if you want to make the personal acquaintance of one of the most fascinating of historical figures, if you want stories of sheer grit that will make you gasp, if you want a great book written by a good Delt for your Delta Tau Delta library, get Wyatt Earp."

And Stuart, who was an English instructor, promptly introduced the book to his students as required reading. Others followed suit. Today Wyatt Earp is required reading in scores of colleges and universities (including our British branches at Oxford and Cambridge). The biography is said to have been the source material, moreover, for several Hollywood productions, and fiction writers have drawn liberally from its authentic chronicles of frontier days.

It is easy to understand the popularity of the book, for through its pages walks with cool confidence the magnificent figure of Wyatt Earp. The greatest gun-fighter of the Old West, he is made to live again under the skillful handling of Stuart Lake, as an authentic personification of the courage, daring, and integrity which brought an ordered civilization to the West.

From Dodge City to Wichita to Tombstone, Wyatt Earp became the outlaw's nemesis, a man incredibly brave, superbly confident, unalterably determined. On the side of law and order, he often fought alone and against suicidal odds—but he always won. His exploits, scrupulously documented by Author Lake, surpass most fiction for sheer suspense and drama.

The reader of this volume will savour a generous slice of Americana, and he cannot help being prouder than ever of a heritage which bred such men as Wyatt Earp.

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

ALBEN W. BARKLEY, Emory, '00, immediate past Vice-President of the United States, has become a television commentator for NBC. His weekly Sunday broadcast, called "Meet the Veep," began February 1.

At the age of 75, Mr. Barkley retired to private life for the first time in 48 years. He said that the title of his program was chosen after Vice-President Richard Nixon told him that he believed the designation of "The Veep" belongs exclusively to Mr. Barkley.

Beta Zeta, however, is not through celebrating. Alumni and their wives will join the chapter at the Shelter on March 28 for a roast-pig dinner. Everett M. Schofield, '09, is donating the succulent main course.

Harvey Garrett is not through accepting donations, either. Last month he launched one final drive for funds to provide appropriate furnishings for the house. He hopes in this manner to provide another opportunity of participation for those who missed out on the fall campaign.

Delta Tau Delta

Educational Fund

GOING INTO ITS SEVENTH year of operation, the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund continues to grow as an implement "to make Delta Tau Delta a greater force in the development of its members." Assets of the Fund now amount to more than $90,000.

Established by legislative action of the 58th Karnea in 1946, the Educational Fund embraces within its structure both the Undergraduate Loan Fund and the Scholarship Fund which had existed for a number of years previously and which retain their separate entities. The new Fund, in addition, opens up for members of the Fraternity enlarged vistas and educational opportunities.

One of the most significant single contributions to the Educational Fund was a gift of $15,000 by the late Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Kenyon, '06, and Mrs. Fischbach in 1947. Their donation established The Fischbach Residency Foundation, which provides scholarships for worthy members of Delta Tau Delta who are doing post-graduate work beyond internship in surgery or medicine.

Explaining the purpose of the project, Dr. Fischbach said that he acknowledged a great obligation to the Fraternity, which he hoped in some small measure to repay by assisting other Deltas.

Administration of the Fund is vested in the Fraternity's Board of Directors, who are assisted in their work by the Educational Fund Advisory Committee. The present members of the Committee are: Charles T. Boyd, North Carolina, '21; W. Harold Brenton, Iowa State, '20; G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh, '21; Dr. Henry M. Wriston, Wesleyan, '11; and Paul G. Hoffman, Chicago, '12. Boyd, Brenton, McCracken, and Hoffman are all past Presidents of the Fraternity. Dr. Wriston is a former Supervisor of Scholarship and current President of Brown University.

Donations to the Fund, under an official ruling by the Department of Internal Revenue, are deductible for income tax purposes.

Many Deltas have found in the Educational Fund a real opportunity to do something concrete for the cause of education and better citizenship through their Fraternity.

Following is a list of those who have contributed to the Educational Fund to date:

- Charles T. Boyd, North Carolina, '21 (three separate gifts)
- W. H. Brenton, Iowa State, '20 (six separate gifts)

Church Youth Center, Mu's Pledge Project Jenner Named Head of Senate Rules Committee

MEMBERS OF MU CHAPTER at Ohio Wesleyan University are known as "very good neighbors" to the people of Monroe Township, even though Monroe lies some 40 miles from the Wesleyan campus.

Here's how it came about:

Members of the four Mt. Vernon Circuit Methodist churches in Monroe Township had a problem. They had active youth fellowship groups but no meeting place for them.

The Wesleyan Delts also had a problem—23 husky pledges ready for a Delt Development Program project but nothing specific in view.

One man, Bruno L. Caliandro, a pretheological student, shared both problems. Not only is he a Delt but he is also student pastor of the four churches. Caliandro lost no time in solving both problems with one idea.

The church members accumulated enough funds to purchase a prefabricated steel building measuring 24 feet by 48 feet, which included a large recreation room with fireplace, kitchen, lavatories, and storage space. All they wanted was manpower.

That is where the Delts came in. On a cold Saturday morning in December, the 23 pledges and six active Delts motored 40 miles to the building site. Braving driving winds and snow, they started to work at 9:00 a.m. One group laid the building out in sections, a number was called from the blueprint, and a second crew bolted the building together section by section. By five o'clock the project was completed.

Insulation and an interior finish of knotty pine were subsequently added. The building is now in use as a meeting place for church groups and a recreation center for youth of the area.

Delts won many friends by their unselfish deed. Robert B. Nemesch, assistant dean of men of Ohio Wesleyan, wrote the chapter:

"I know that I speak for all who are associated with the fraternity system at Ohio Wesleyan when I express appreciation for the very fine work performed by Delta Tau Delta. . . .

"It is significant to note that the work was done by pledges and active members working side by side. That was an excellent example of putting the true value and meaning of Fraternity into practice. . . . I am especially pleased and proud to know that publicity was not the incentive for the deed.

"You have made a significant contribution to your University and to the surrounding community. . . ."

Senator WILLIAM E. JENNER

SENATOR WILLIAM E. JENNER, Indiana, '30, following last November's election, which returned him to the U. S. Senate for another six-year term, advanced to a new position of importance on Capitol Hill when he was named chairman of the Senate's powerful Rules Committee.

Early in February he was also designated chairman of the Senate's internal security subcommittee. The committee, formerly headed by Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, has charge of investigating Communist influence in the United States.

Senator Jenner, who has never lost a political battle, began his Senate career in 1944. He represents the State of Indiana.

Also elected to another term in the Senate was Senator Harley M. Kilgore, West Virginia, '14. Senator Kilgore has served continuously in the Senate since 1941, representing the state of West Virginia.

Four Delt Representatives were re-elected last November to maintain the Fraternity's strength in Congress. They are: Richard M. Simpson, Pittsburgh, '23, of Pennsylvania; James H. Morrison, Tulane, '30, of Louisiana; Jackson E. Betts, Kenyon, '26, of Ohio; and Dewey Short, Baker, '19, whose new post in the House is reported elsewhere in this issue.

Revolutionary steps in education are being undertaken by Dr. HENRY M. WRISTON, Wesleyan, '11, president of Brown University, as reported in the February 2 issue of Time.

Since 1946 a group of Brown professors have been working out a new curriculum in which the emphasis will be on "analyzing, not on memorizing." Financed by a special $250,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation, Brown's plan is set to go into effect next fall.

"The great mistake in American education from kindergarten through graduate school," says Dr. Wriston, "has been an underestimation of the capacity of students. . . . The minds of freshmen need to be awakened to a new adventure."

More than 200 people paid tribute to CARL D. SHOEMAKER, Ohio State, '04, recently-retired conservation director of the National Wildlife Federation, at the Hotel Statler in Washington, D. The Department of Interior, through Albert M. Day, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, took the unusual step of awarding Mr. Shoemaker a certificate of merit for his work in conservation. Many of his former associates told of his contributions at the banquet.

Senator Guy Cordon of Oregon was one of the principal speakers. His presence recalled an event which started Mr. Shoemaker on his career. As editor of a weekly newspaper in Oregon, Shoemaker had written an editorial assailing a gubernatorial appointment. He was called to the executive offices and challenged to take a job himself.

Around the Fireplace

and the poor practice is more local drill grounds and personal guidance. I think the fraternity at that point renders an invaluable service to the nation.

The third and last combination that I feel is typified here is this, the large outlook and the local application. I believe every college and fraternity has to be liberated from its provincialism. Campuses can get provincial, and it is a fine thing for a chapter to realize it belongs to a great national fraternity.

One of the heartening things, as I have been around campuses this last year or two, is to see how much more interest the undergraduate chapters showed in national fraternity policies.

We have to have a long view of fraternities as well as a short view. I have been told—I have never got the facts on it—that Robert Browning had one eye that was "far-sighted" and one eye that was "near-sighted," and when he wanted to see the distant object he closed one eye and kept the other open and when he wanted to see the close-up object he did the reverse. And in that way he saw the long and the short of it. We need to see that about fraternities, to see the long range and the short view.

I have often thought that was part of the genius of Abraham Lincoln. When he was a lawyer in Springfield he would sit back of the stove in the village store and see how slavery affected the whole reaches of the republic; then when he got into the White House he had the imagination to feel and see how the war affected the boys back home.

In the chapter house we need to get that long view, to see how policies affect the whole fraternity, and then when we get into the alumni and leadership places of the fraternity we must see how life looks to the boys in those chapters. It seems to me that what we need is patience now in some of our problems. I think we will solve them not by forums and discussions that may sometimes get quite agitated.

What we must do is get back to those first principles of our fraternities, do the kind of thing that Washington gladly did when he was a boy out in Ohio. He was always holding up big problems. He wrote these lines:

"I know that right is right, and it is not good to lie;

"That love is better than spite and a neighbor than a spy.

"In the darkest night of the year, when the stars are all gone out,

"Courage is better than fear, and faith is truer than doubt."

Those are axioms. Those are the first principles of our fraternity. And if the problems of today drive us back to first principles, they may make for good, despite all the tensions.

I am heartened today at this gathering at what I think you have in these various combinations. It makes me think of what happened in 1912, forty years ago, when the Titanic was coming across on its maiden voyage, and struck the iceberg, was ripped open, and sunk. One of our American publications carried two illustrations of that tragedy. One was a drawing of the ship, striking the iceberg, being ripped open like an egg shell, and sinking. Underneath it was this legend, "The weakness of man, the supremacy of nature." Another drawing alongside of it was that of one of the passengers on the ship, Mr. W. T. Stead, stepping back to give his place in the last lifeboat to a woman with a child. And underneath that drawing was this legend, "The weakness of nature, the supremacy of man."

In spite of all these problems of the atomic age and our complex society, when you come to gatherings like this you know that there are those elements of chivalry and honor and loyalty and the rest which make for man's supremacy even over the material forces of our dark day.

Rushing was good at Allegheny. Here are the results: Alpha's 1952-53 pledge class.

Rush Week Nets 23 Pledges

Once again Alpha had a highly successful rush week. At the conclusion of activities, 21 men had been pledged. Since then, one more man has been pledged, to bring this year's total to 22.

Rush week started on November 17 and ended November 22. Deltas are well satisfied with their class. The success of the week is due largely to the efforts of Rush Chairman Dan Bratton and his hard-working committee.

Under the able direction of Social Chairman Chris Conway, Alpha Deltas experienced another wonderful Christmas Formal at the chapter house. The Shelter was beautifully decorated with greens, lights, and a Christmas tree. Steward Dwight Hageman directed the preparation of a huge assortment of food served at intermission, to the delight of guests.

The chapter treasurer and his assistant were elected at the first chapter meeting after the holidays. Allen Wood was re-elected treasurer. His assistant is Jerry Cotton.

Deltas Claim Two Class Presidents

Homecoming brought back many alumni. The annual Delt Walk-Around in front of Lindley Hall, one of the women's dorms, was quite impressive. Although we failed to place in the race for a house decoration trophy, most of the campus agreed that the Deltas' decoration was one of the most original.

In both football and tennis the Deltas won their league championships undefeated and unscored upon, but were upset in the play-off finals. With only three men on either team graduating, the Deltas have been pointed out as the team to beat next year.

Dads' Day at OU brought over 50 Delt Dads to Athens. Decorated as a medieval castle, the Shelter was transformed into a scene of many contests. The dads tried to show their sons how young they still were, and the sons tried to give pop a few lessons in the actions of the next generation.

More "wheels" have appeared at Beta Chapter. Men and their newly elected offices are: Charles Krauskopf, president of the senior class; Pete Winter, president of the sophomore class; Dick Goodrick, editor of the OU Post and member of J-Club (junior men's honorary); Alex Prislopsky, member of Blue Key and J-Club; Dick Farrell, advertising manager of the yearbook; and Larry Crist, copy editor of the yearbook. Ed Chapel was given the Frank B. Gullum Chapter Leadership Award. Dick Doran starred in the play "Good-bye My Fancy."

The pledge "Neanderthal Nightmare" party brought new ideas, faces, and costumes. The living room, dining room, and card room, having been covered with straw, turned Beta's Shelter into a haven for cavemen.

O'Shaughnessy Named Captain of 1953 Wolverine Gridiron Squad

Delta Chapter had a great honor bestowed upon it when Dick O'Shaughnessy was elected captain of the Michigan eleven for the 1953 season. A modest, unassuming fellow, measuring 6 feet tall and weighing 190 pounds, O'Shaughnessy will be leading the Maize and Blue charges in his third year of varsity ball.

For the past two seasons Dick has been holding down the first-team offensive center slot and has been praised by coach Bennie Oosterbaan as "never having made a bad pass from center." The native of Seaford, New York, is also quite a mat man. In the 1951-52 season "O'Shag" won the Big Ten 177-pound title. This season he has moved up to the heavyweight division and is currently sporting a three-wins-and-no-loss record, one of the wins being a pin.

Another brother is also making quite a name for himself as a grappler. He is Andy Kaul. Andy is a 137-pounder, who is also sporting a three-wins-and-no-loss record thus far this season. Kaul, who is only a sophomore, won his varsity letter last year. He and O'Shaughnessy account for two of Michigan's three undefeated wrestlers.

To go along with these varsity men, Bob Shetler successfully defended his 130-pound intramural wrestling crown this season. Bob, past president of Delta Chapter, will be graduated this February with a B.S. degree in chemical engineering.

Dick Gess has been named varsity gymnastics manager for the current season. He had previously served as junior manager for the 1952 football squad.

The 1953 edition of Delta Chapter's basketball team is off to a flying start. Under the supervision of Don Dodds, the "A" team won its first game from Phi Kappa Tau 45-12, while the "B" team followed suit by downing Delta Chi 39-6.

Singing still dominates the attention of Delta Chapter. Carl Hedner is at work preparing the boys to capture the I.F.C. sing for the third straight year. The chapter also made a recording of the pin serenade including all of the Delt sweetheart songs so that the brothers that so desire may have them.

New officers have been chosen for the coming year. Ken Cutler is the new president, backed up by Bob Overholt as "veep." A new committee system has been set up to give the chapter a solid foundation for the coming year.

Epsilon—Albion

Barbershoppers Take Top Honors

Epsilon's quartet, composed of John Porter, John Hummon, Leonard Howard, and Herb Fenske, won first place in the Interfraternity Quartet Sing by a 22-point margin over the second-place foursome. The win marks the second time in the last three years that Epsilon has copped the winner's trophy. The winning quartet this year sang "Baby Face" and "Hello, My Baby."

Newly elected officers of Epsilon Chapter are: president, Richard Swanson; vice-president, Don Pietz; recording secretary, Harry Marson; corresponding secretary, William Biggs; and treasurer, Noel Black.

Epsilon's 21st annual Black and White formal dinner-dance took place between semesters at the Arbor Hills Country Club. The week end's entertainment also included an afternoon snow party at the Cascades Country Club and a costume party at the Shelter. Sally Palmer, a junior from Pontiac, Michigan, who is pinned to John Bull, was chosen Delt Queen for the week end.

Epsilon's men in the campus spotlight include Noel Yaney, retiring chapter president and former president of Albion College's Interfraternity Council, and John Hummon, who was listed in the publication, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Herb Fenske is serving as Interfraternity Council secretary, and James Timmons is vice-president of the sophomore class. James Murray was recently elected vice-president of the "A" Club, composed of varsity lettermen, and is currently serving as president of the sophomore class.

Other Epsilon Delts chosen for campus honorary organizations are John Hummon, selected for Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity; Leonard Howard, Duane Poole, and Hummon, elected to Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national honorary music fraternity; and Herb Fenske, Leonard Howard, Kenneth Grodavent, William Bow, and Henry Barsch, chosen for Beta Beta Beta, honorary biological society.

On the athletic front, Epsilon's thin-clads won the interfraternity cross country run with Phil Glatfelter crossing the finish line first with a time of 8:27 for the one and three-quarters mile run.

On the intercollegiate scene, Bill Ash, Phil Benz, and Bill Kessel are competing on the swimming team for Albion's Purple and Gold. Ash is a diver, Benz swims the backstroke, and Kessel specializes in the distance free style events. Sprinter Jim Timmons and Quarter-miler Dick Nebel are competing on Albion's indoor track team, which recently appeared at the Michigan State Relays and the Michigan AAU meet at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Zeta—Western Reserve

Homecoming Awards Won by Zeta

This year homecoming at Reserve was in early October, and despite spirited competition, Zeta Chapter received a first-place award for the float and a second-place trophy for house decorations. The float consisted of a giant champagne bottle 15 feet high surrounded by four large glasses, each acting as a pedestal for an attractive coed. The work on the float was engineered by Brother DeVaul. Brother Anzellotti supervised the construction of a giant balance in the shape of  $\Delta\Delta$  with the appropriate figures tipping the scales in Reserve's favor.

Two outstanding social events during November and December were the annual Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, which were under the chairmanship of Brother Moley. The many Zeta alumni invited to the dinner greatly enjoyed a showing of Reserve football movies.

At the University Fall Sports Banquet, the following Zeta men were awarded varsity letters: in soccer, Brothers Moley, Anzellotti, and McCreary; in football, Brothers Leighton and Diederich. Pledge Brother Theiss is a returning letterman to Reserve's Red Cat basketball team.

Under the intramural management of Brother McCreary, Zeta Chapter is in the thick of the fight for the intramural all-sports trophy. Our winning of the trophy this year would mean permanent possession of it.

Immediately after Christmas vacation the chapter election was held, and the following officers were elected to direct us through the coming year: president, Steve Butzko; vice-president, Charles Wiedman; corresponding secretary, Eugene Schwartz; and recording secretary, Jim Dianni.

Iota—Michigan State

Miss America Honored at Shelter

Once again Iota Chapter has made history. This time it became the first college social fraternity in America to have a Miss America as its guest. During the first week in November, Iota served as host to Neva Jane Langley, Miss America of 1953.

It all began when Duane Vernon, chapter vice-president, learned that Neva Jane was to be in Lansing as a part of her nation-wide tour. He invited her to be the guest of the chapter.

At the airport, Miss America was officially greeted for Michigan State College by Dee Means, MSC Homecoming Queen, and Duane Vernon, MSC Homecoming Cochairman. Also on hand to greet Miss Langley were the mayor of Lansing and Chapter President Ron Gay, who extended Iota's invitation. The Delt Choir, under the direction of Pete Jolly, gave a program which was broadcast over local radio stations. Following the program, the nation's loveliest lady left for the Shelter in her official gold car.

On the following evening Neva Jane was guest of honor at the Delt house. The MSC Homecoming Queen and her court were also present. Miss Langley was presented an honorary Delt sweetheart pin by Ron Gay and was crowned Iota's own Delta Queen. In Neva's own words, this was the most treasured gift she had received since being elected queen of the nation's beauties at Atlantic City last summer.

Neva Jane, who is a student at the Wesleyan Conservatory of Music in Macon, Georgia, was Miss Georgia before she won national honors.

Mr. Andy Anderson, Miss America's agent for the Nash Motor Company, cited the Delts as the greatest bunch of fellows he had ever met.

Delta Tau Delta also became the first fraternity at Michigan State College to sponsor a prehomecoming queen contest dinner in the Iota Shelter last October. All 29 candidates for the National Football Champions Homecoming Queen were feted at the banquet.

Iota Chapter and the Delta Delta Delta Sorority cosponsored for the fifth year in a row a Christmas party in the Shelter for 25 children from the Michigan School for the Blind. Gifts were presented to all the children by the Delt's Iota Santa, Virgil Snyder; and after the serving of refreshments, group singing took place in the lounge. John Madacy, Iota junior, was in charge of the party.

Jack Winklejohn, Iota junior, was recently appointed Secretary of Student Affairs for the Michigan State College Student Government. He also was initiated into Blue Key, national student honorary.

The Delt mothers at the Shelter for their monthly meeting received a real treat when Clarke Scholes, Olympic Gold Medal winner in the 100-meter free style race last summer at Helsinki, showed them slides of his travels while at the Games and pictures of the Games. Don MacLaughlin and Ken Ketzler, who spent part of last summer in Germany, also showed slides of their experiences and travels.

Kappa—Hillsdale

First Again in Intramural Football

For the second time in two years Kappa Chapter has come up with a lustrous football team. With the passing genius of T. "Texas" Riehl and the pass receiving of the talented Dick Gettings, the chapter rolled over its opponents undefeated. Only one touchdown was scored on the team all season.

Epsilon Chapter from Albion College made its biannual journey to Hillsdale this fall. The visiting Delts were treated to a 19-0 defeat on the gridiron but rallied with superlative after-dinner singing.

The Delt Quartet, composed of Dick Campbell, Dan Barrett, Don Riehl, and Bill Moore, has captivated the hearts of the student body and the townspeople. They have been invited to sing at various social gatherings in the locale.

Our social chairman, Dan Barrett, engineered another successful "Bowery Brawl" Formal. The Shelter was decorated in the vogue of a 1920's saloon, and everyone dressed in "the glass of fashion and the mould of form." Naturally, all agreed that it was the best party they had ever attended.

Dick Gettings, our amiable president, has been elected president of the senior class and captain of the basketball and baseball teams. Besides these honors, Dick is also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and is listed in Who's Who Among American College Students.

On the varsity gridiron the Delts made a creditable showing. Bob Morey, John Lusk, Dan Rankin, Jack Rossetti, Herb Klinker, Ben Wilcox, Hank Nephew, and Dick Lott won their varsity letters.

Princess, our Boxer mascot, "blessed" the Shelter with the gift of five healthy puppies just before Christmas. Brother Ray Moll was the attending physician at birth. They were christened Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Delta, and Rudolph.

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan

Delts Comprise Three-Fifths Of Wesleyan Basketball Team

Holding varsity positions on Wesleyan teams seems to come quite naturally to a number of members of Chapter Mu. Bob Kimble, Dick Surbrook, and Stew Peterson provide the backbone for the basketball team, since all three hold starting positions on the team. The fact that this is the second year the trio has played together, coupled with their prowess on the hardwood, has won for the Wesleyan team quite a little cautious respect from the other members of the conference.

This year Chapter Mu sported five lettermen in football, giving the Delts the best record of players winning letters on the campus. The Delt lettermen are: Lowell Benson, Jim Boggs, Frank Lechinsky, Carl Peggs, and Dean Stokes.

Recently the chapter received congratulations from the Dean of Men commending us on the manpower we contributed to the construction of a recreational building for a small country church. The pledges together with a number of actives donated their time and brawn to the small Methodist Church in Mt. Vernon, Ohio, which is the charge of Brother Bruno Calandro, a senior pretheological student.

Braving the driving winds and snow, the men started working at 9:00 a.m. One group laid the building out in sections, and as a code number was called from the blueprint, a second crew bolted the prefabricated steel building together section by section.

The brothers took time out only long enough to enjoy a hot home-cooked lunch served by the church women. It was 5:00 p.m. when they finished work and prepared to ride the 40 miles back to Delaware. Incidentally, mention of the project appeared in about 15 Ohio papers and received front-page play in a Columbus daily.

Delt Elected Hardwood Captain For Second Consecutive Year

John Madden was elected Nu Chapter house president for the coming year at house elections January 15. Elected with him were: Sandy Lauder, vice-president; Chick Quigg, treasurer; John Brotzman, assistant treasurer; Larry Black, recording secretary; Ed Hantz, corresponding secretary; and Al Gross, marshal. Madden succeeds Dick Polhemus as president.

THREE-FIFTHS of Ohio Wesleyan's starting basketball line-up: STEW PETERSON, DICK SURBROOK, and BOB KIMBLE.

Top men in varsity basketball for the Lafayette Delts are John Alviggi and Chick Quigg. Alviggi, following in the footsteps of last year's captain and Little All-American, Brother Pete Carrill, consistently makes the long tough ones to be high scorer on this year's College five. John was recently elected captain of the team to mark the second straight year a brother from Nu Chapter has led the group.

In the social line, the house has more than maintained its reputation for bigger and better parties. Fall interfraternity week end was certainly a high-voltage affair, like many other parties staged by Social Chairman Marty Carroll.

A formal initiation was held recently with several alumni present. Initiated were Sandy Lauder and John Brotzman.

Under Rushing Chairman Ed Hazard, 19 men pledged Nu Chapter this fall. The night before Christmas vacation, the pledges presented the annual pledge skit, satirizing the brothers, which was well accepted.

Two Are Officers of O.D.K.

The beginning of a new year heralded the conclusion of the first semester, and after a whirl of social activity things have quieted down so that we may put a scholastic crown to the fall term.

In late November, a "Miss-Fit" party took the social spotlight, as Delts and their guests dressed in odd-sized clothing for an evening of fun.

Then, a week after the close of the Christmas holidays, came the high light of the term—"Alpine Chateau," a formal dinner-dance. This found the Shelter completely redecorated in simulation of a hunting lodge and adorned with skis, hunting trophies, guns, and mountain climbing equipment. As favors the guests received handsome compacts with the Delt crest mounted on their covers. While planning and carrying out the party were big jobs, everyone felt well rewarded by the pleasures of the evening.

Omicron has once more had active representatives in University affairs. Chapter President Jerry Nordquist served as Chief Justice of the Interfraternity Court, while Vice-President Don Rosche held positions as director of the Miss S.U.I. Beauty Pageant and chairman of the University Central Party Committee. Another member, Jim Hepner, also assisted on the Party Committee in planning University social functions.

Bob Ballantyne served as vice-president of the Memorial Union Board, on the University Board of Publications, as well as in radio, in which Frank Baker and Joe Howe were also active. The semester also found Jim Bullard as vice-president of O.D.K., with Bob Loots as secretary of the organization.

Preliminary grades indicate a fine standard of scholarship for the term with both pledges and actives doing their parts in maintaining it. Omicron proudly concludes one semester and anticipates even greater success in the one to follow.

Gridders First in League Play

The football team, under the able leadership of Brother Dick McCormack, finished first in the league but was defeated in the championship game. The bowling team looks strong this year, and we have high hopes of capturing the coveted bowling plaque which has not been in the Shelter since 1949.

Recently a project for improving our game room was put into action. It included a new ceiling and a new coat of paint. Other house improvements include the painting of the second-floor room and new beds and bedding, given to us by our Mothers' Club.

The annual Winter Carnival here at Stevens was held from December 12 to 14. The house decorations, thanks to Brother Al Dierksen, won us second place in the competitions. A formal, parties, and a school play, in which Brothers Barta and McCormack had parts, were the main festivities of the week end.

Chapter Is 70 Strong After Rush

We started the year off right by pledging 24 of the finest men on campus. The Rushing Committee was sparked by Bob Morgenroth, to whom we owe a debt of gratitude for a fine job. Our alumni are to be congratulated for their many recommendations which made rushing much easier. This pledge class has in it many outstanding men and gives us a total of 70 active members and pledges—the strongest Upsilon has been for many years.

The high light of the fall social season was the IFC Ball, featuring the music of Vincent Lopez. Lovely Joan Smith, the date of Brother Jim Compton, was chosen as the Queen. The task of presenting Joan with the trophy fell to Brother Bill Glaser, president of the IFC.

Under Bill's leadership, the Rensselaer IFC was voted by the National Interfraternity Conference as the undergraduate interfraternity council which made the

Delt Succeeds Delt as Grid Captain

Jack Delahunty and Robert P. Smith were given the honor of being tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, the esteemed national leadership fraternity. Smith has been an assiduous participant in almost every activity here. Delahunty is a University officer and has the football captaincy and chapter presidency included in his repertoire of Washington and Lee achievements.

Bill McHenry has been elected captain of the Washington and Lee football team for the 1953-54 season. McHenry succeeds Jack Delahunty, also a Delt, who led the team last year.

This year Phi Chapter held a combination formal Christmas party with Phi Kappa Psi that was a brilliant social achievement. A surrealistic theme enhanced the festive flavor of this interfraternal get-together.

As usual, Delta Tau Delta has been excelling in all aspects of the Washington and Lee intramural program. Basketball found us high in the league standings, and we are in advantageous positions to capture several of the winter championships. With good luck in spring, which is always our best season for intramurals, we have an outstanding chance to cop again the highly valued intramural trophy.

Chi—Kenyon

Ames Heads Senior Honor Society

The Shelter is undergoing a complete renovation here at Chi Chapter; the plan is to refurbish all the study rooms and the parlor. The interior decorating scheme was handled professionally, but the Deltas themselves are planning to do all the work, including painting, refinishing, and replastering. Many are planning to remain at school over the semester break, in order to complete the work.

This program has brought about the institution of a new committee, namely, the Interior Decorating Committee; its purpose will be to supervise this program, and in the future to see that the living quarters are kept in good condition.

Athletically, Chi is maintaining its prominence on the "Hill." In intramural basketball both "A" and "B" teams are leading their respective leagues, the "B" team being undefeated. In varsity basketball, Chi is represented by three men, two of whom are on the starting five. Captain Ron Fraley paces the team in scoring, while small, but dynamic Jack Gammon is the team floor leader. Brothers Bruce Richardson and Bill Hanaford are members of the swimming team.

Brothers Ron Ryan, Bob Roth, and Ed Ames have been tapped by the senior honorary society. Chi President Ed Ames was elected president of the society.

Brother "J. Arthur" Wendt is producer and director of the student presentation of the play Billy Budd. Starring in the title role is Brother Bruce Richardson; he is ably assisted by Brothers Ron Fraley and Bill Hanaford in two important roles.

Chi has pledged three new men, bringing the number of pledges to 12. Pledge Dick Block brought honor to the chapter by being elected president of the freshman class. Five out of the 12 are members of the Chase Society, freshman honor society.

McClenahan Heads Student Union

Way back on December 18 was Beta Beta's annual Christmas party, which was a huge success. Shortly after Christmas a flu epidemic hit the campus and we were turned loose for an unexpected but welcome week's vacation.

Many Deltas are active in campus activities this semester. Among them is Jim McClenahan, president of the Student Union; John Stephens and Jim Rowlett also hold important posts in the Union organization. John Wyandt was recently initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary. John is one of the outstanding contributors to Hoot, the campus humor magazine.

The Deltas are also well represented on varsity athletic teams. The basketball squad included Bob Ratzer, who held down a starting forward position. Freshman Ben Johnson was on the reserve team. Sophomore Lee Inman and Freshman Joe Jeffries are on the swimming team, which is again one of the strongest teams in this area.

On the track squad again this year are Letterman Jim Dudley, one of the best half-milers in the state, and Sophomore Jim Totman and Don MacLean, both of whom earned freshman numerals last year. Out for baseball are Ward Shawver, Jim Kelly, Bob Van Nest, Nick Osmer, and John Hufford. Several freshmen are also on both the track and baseball squads.

Beta Beta Chapter plans to turn out 100 per cent for the annual Founders Day Banquet of the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter on February 21. Deltas welcome the opportunity to get acquainted with alumni of the capital city.

Several Deltas have obtained key positions in the Air Force ROTC. Ted Bierman is cadet colonel and Larry Dawson and Dan Lynch are cadet lieutenants.

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

Delts Lead Team, Band, and Cheers in Rose Bowl Classic

The Delts at ole UW represented the University at the Rose Bowl game in truly fine style. Beta Gammas present were George O'Brien, captain of the football team; Stan Stigten, director of the 155-piece Badger marching band; and Gordie Johnson, head cheerleader.

Back on the Madison campus the Delts remain as one of the top fraternities in all activities. Dick (Phog) Hansen is on his way to coaching the chapter's quintet to the basketball finals with the able aid of Players Mal MacArthur, Dave Miller, Marv Malik, Al Kickle, and Don Wahls.

Dennis Ammentorp headed the committee which won a second-place trophy for Homecoming decorations. "Let the Sucker Bite" was the caption above the 20-foot fish bowl set on the Shelter's front lawn. Opponent Northwestern bit, 24-20, and the celebration was complete after the party during the evening which was attended by some 30 alumni and a "Wildcat" cheering contingent led by former Beta Gamma president, now an NU Delt, Jim McGinn.

Scholarship, the most important of all to Wisconsin Delts, is on its way to even greater heights under the leadership of Charlie Stoner. The 19-member pledge class, led by President Bill Kramers and Vice-President Al Sitnick, shows true Delt spirit in both grades and extracurricular activities.

"Winter in Wisconsin" was the theme of the Christmas formal, which was a sparkling success, thanks to the decoration co-chairmen, Vic Larson and Dick Stumbo, with the help of Bill Cotanch and Roger Trumbore. The Shelter was adorned with some 45 evergreen trees, donated by the pledge class, and a running waterfall built in the library.

Ray Stommel was elected next year's president, with Ed Poore at the vice-president's post. Other officers elected were Bob Bichoff, treasurer; Dennis Ammentorp, recording secretary; and Bob Visco, corresponding secretary.

Beta Delta—Georgia

Winter Quarter Begins With Initiation of Eight Pledges

Beta Delta starts off the winter quarter by initiating eight neophytes. They are: Carson Cox, Dennis Cummings, Charlie Garrison, Charlie Godfrey, Julius Johnson, Jim Pyle, and Lonnie O'Quinn. New pledges for the winter quarter are Sonny Anglin, Dick Hickman, Marvin Satterfield, and Jack Tarpley. Satterfield plays forward on the Georgia basketball team.

In the field of athletics, Beta Delta is hopeful of winning intramurals. We produced a powerhouse in football, losing only one game by a score of 7 to 6. With Neophyte Lonnie O'Quinn leading the basketball squad, we should be able to produce a winning team. In a game between the brothers and pledges, the pledges scored a safety to give them the margin of victory.

Scholastically Beta Delta ranks high on the Georgia campus out of 20 fraternities. Brothers Ronnie Payne and Hurley Jones made the Dean's List by making all A's.

Beta Delta plans to have its formal dance sometime in April. This will be the biggest event taking place this quarter. A new Delta Sweetheart will be crowned.

In recent elections Brothers David Crane and Alan Shadgett were elected to fill the positions of treasurer and assistant treasurer. Election of other officers are planned sometime in February.

Returning to the chapter after an absence are Brothers Jack Buchanan and Bill Russell. Brother "Jug" Campbell resigned his office as president in December to begin work. Beta Delta will really miss the old master and wishes him success in his new job.

Beta Epsilon—Emory

Two Tapped for Scholastic Honorary

The Delts of Emory have been hustling since last quarter. We did well scholastically: seven of our 11 pledges will be initiated. Two brothers, Rob Foy and Richard Griffen, were tapped for A.E.U., the scholastic honor fraternity of the lower division of the college.

We celebrated Mrs. Humphrey's 16th birthday (16th plus, that is). She has been our housemother for more than 18 years.

We gave her an "intercom" system between her bedroom and the kitchen in the new annex.

The Friday before Christmas we had a Christmas party and dance. We invited four small children, two boys and two girls, from the Methodist Children's Home in Decatur, Georgia. The Home is run by the Reverend Bramwell C. Kerr, Beta Epsilon, '18. The children enjoyed themselves a great deal.

Many of the alumni will be as happy as we are to know that the annex is now occupied. Although there are some minor jobs still to be done, we are enjoying it very much. And anyone who wishes to see it is extended a hearty invitation to drop by for a visit.

Beta Zeta—Butler

Chapter Moves Into New Shelter

On December 19, Beta Zeta moved into its new Shelter at 940 W. 42nd St. This new house is the result of many years of work and is the realization of the dreams of all Beta Zeta Delts. After weeks of cleaning up and rearranging, the new Shelter is ready for open house, to be held February 8. Generous gifts of chairs, tables, all types of furniture, and last but certainly not least, money have come from our alumni to help furnish the house. We of Beta Zeta are very proud of our new Shelter, and we extend a cordial invitation to all our brothers to visit us.

Rehearsals for the YM-YWCA-sponsored Geneva Stunts have begun at the Delt house under the able direction of Chuck Boltin. The entire chapter is devoting several evenings each week in the hope that we can bring home the trophy for the second year in a row.

Butler's annual Military Ball has as its chairman this year Marlin Husted. Jim Heinbaugh is senior advisor for the decorations committee and Jack Whaley heads the honor guard for the Ball.

Ross Copeland journeyed to Denver, Colorado, recently as Butler's representative to the annual convention of Blue Key.

Marlin Husted also traveled west to represent Butler at the Arnold Air Society convention in Los Angeles, California.

Bob Reed is playing his second year as one of the mainstays on Butler's varsity basketball team. Pledge Joe Ditmire also won a berth on the reserve squad this year.

Beta Eta—Minnesota

Chapter Contributes 100% to Red Cross Blood Drive

Homecoming was a tremendous success here at Beta Eta this fall. Although our house decorations didn't cop first-place honors, our other labors for a successful week end were well rewarded by the fine turnout of alumni at our annual homecoming dance.

Beta Eta's alumni association has come a long way since then, gaining emphasis throughout the quarter and rousing new interest among Twin City alumni. We are celebrating our 70th year of continuous activity here at Minnesota this year, and this anniversary will be the high light of our annual Founders Day Banquet to be held February 21.

Beta Eta is indeed proud of its 100 per cent participation in the recent blood-donor drive here at Minnesota. The entire chapter pledged 46 pints of blood in memory of Chuck Pearson, BH, '51, who was killed in the Korean War.

Of our original 20 pledges this fall, the armed services have claimed nearly half of them throughout the fall quarter. We were sorry to see these men, along with a few actives, leave us, but we will be looking forward to their return. We were happy, however, to welcome: Ronny Dick, Kurt Pfeiffer, Fred Requa, Paul Marschewski, John Rasche, and Bob Larson as new initiates January 24. The initiation ceremony in the afternoon was followed by a party in the evening, at which time Ronny Dick received the outstanding pledge award, and the new actives put on their humorous skit depicting several of the older active members.

The annual Fall Formal was held December 6 at the Edina Country Club, and the fine turnout of alumni made this annual event a huge success. Preparations are now being made for the Winter Party, which will be held February 7, at White Pine Inn. The social committee has also been busily planning a new event, which we hope to carry on through the coming years, an All-Greek Bridge Tournament to be held in the Shelter in February. The success of this year's tournament will determine its continuance.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

Delts Run Distances for Sewanee

Returning from Christmas vacation, the Delts have shifted their interests from volleyball to basketball. We finished the volleyball season with a record of seven wins as against only three losses, which put us in a play-off, from which we emerged in fourth place. We have high hopes for coming out on top next year, with the entire team returning. As for basketball, we have four of the first five of last year's team returning, with some promising talent from among the pledges. Dave Cole was elected captain of the team for this year, and we are anticipating a fruitful season on the court.

In varsity sports, Brother Ralph Patston took seventeenth in the Shamrock Invitational Run. He was first for Sewanee in a field of 85, running against some of the finest teams in major SEC colleges.

Brothers Ralph Patston and Frank Oxart will again carry the Delt colors when they run the distance races for the Sewanee track team. Both Ralph and Frank lettered in track last year. Last year Ralph took fifth in the two-mile run, and Frank fifth in the mile run, in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Conference Meet. We look for even a better showing this year.

A Christmas party was held the first week in December. "Tree Trimming" and the singing of Christmas carols started

A final touch was added as the year was brought to a close by a smoker at the Shelter.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

Chariot Race Won by Delts

Strengthened greatly by members of the pledge class, Beta Kappa intramural teams are making a good showing in all sports. In water polo the Delt team fought past three contenders to gain the final match. In the bitterly fought contest for the school championship, we were beaten by a narrow margin.

In the annual chariot race held during Homecoming, six of our chapter speedsters pulled the Delt chariot to an impressive victory as they finished a length ahead. In a preseason basketball tournament, our intramural team under the name "Rinky Dinks" was undefeated in five games, winning the championship handily and bringing a new traveling trophy home to the Shelter.

Again this year the bright spot of our social season was our annual formal given in the honor of our 35 pledges. The "Sea-date" Affair, held in the Shelter on December 6, provided a nautical background for an extremely successful party. The Shelter was converted into the USS "Boat" for the evening, the living room being oceanically decorated, complete with fish, each one with a pledge's name inscribed. Swimming deeper, the Delt mariners and their mermaids eventually entered Davey Jones's Locker—the rec room—for a little relaxation from the ship's activities upstairs.

Four men have brought various honors to the chapter. Tim Campbell, elected chapter president last spring, is also serving as president of the Interfraternity Council this year, and John Boone has been selected as the general chairman for the C.U. Days festivities this spring. Dave Blanchard and Dee Hubbard have distinguished themselves scholastically with their ROTC units. Dave received a Chicago Herald Tribune Medal for the second highest scholastic record of all Naval Science II students, and Dee received a similar award for attaining the highest grade average of all Air Science I cadets.

A long anticipated renovation to the Shelter—the remodeling of our rec room—was completed this fall after long months of planning. The new rec room is done in a modernistic trend. Outfitted with all new furniture, complete with a television set contributed by the Mothers' Club, our new rec room has become a popular evening gathering place for all Delts and their dates.

Beta Lambda—Lehigh

Two Delts Listed in Who's Who

Turning back to fall sports, Lehigh Delts can be proud of the stellar gridiron performances of Jim Hancock and Howie Keim. Jim, in his final season, played a brilliant defensive game as line-backer, and Howie, with two more seasons ahead of him yet, has done standout work and shows promise of being a star performer in days to come.

Beta Lambda has produced quite a few men of distinction on the campus this fall. Warren Stevens and Bob Linck head the list by having been nominated to Who's Who in American Colleges. Delts are also proud of the initiation of Frank Dunne, Tony Franz, and Dick Sperry into Alpha Kappa Psi. Also in the limelight is Pete Sandford for having been chosen to enter the ranks of Lambda Mu Sigma.

One of two really memorable occasions this fall was Parents' Day. Mom, dad, brother, and sister all gathered together and were given a tour of Beta Lambda from top to bottom. From the many letters of thanks later received, it is not hard to gather that they enjoyed seeing how their sons live while studying at Lehigh.

Just as enjoyable was the alumni turnout after the annual Lafayette football game. Invitations were sent out to a large number of alumni to attend dinner and a party after the game. Much to the delight of the whole chapter, more alumni turned out than in many a year and the Delt rafters literally rang with song.

Congratulations are in order to Frank Dunne and Lex Murdoch for having been elected to the top positions of president and vice-president, respectively, of Beta Lambda. Frank, along with the new rushing chairman, Dick Sperry, will have the initial duty of guiding Beta Lambda into a successful freshman rushing campaign which will begin officially in the second week of February.

Entertain Underprivileged Children

Before leaving for vacation, the brothers and pledges had their annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. With a fine dinner cooked by our chef, Art Simms, the impersonation of Santa Claus by Brother Gilbie Potter, and gifts for everyone, we had a fine time.

Chalmers Peairs, Eastern Division vice-president, was a recent dinner guest.

We also entertained our former college president, Dr. Leonard Carmichael, who became secretary of the Smithsonian Institute on January 1.

Our basketball team is seeking its second championship season in a row with a record of 3-0 to date.

The brothers are considering the merits of a plan to have each pledge live in the house for a one-week period this spring so that they may become better oriented to Fraternity life. A committee has been appointed to draw up a resolution to that effect.

Congratulations are being extended to Brothers Larry Sweeney and Charlie Vassalo, who have recently been accepted in Tufts Medical School.

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

Police Squad Car Delivers Santa

Just before our Christmas vacation we held our annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. About 20 kids from a Boston settlement house were having a grand time at the Shelter playing various games when a police squad car came screeching to a halt in front of the house. Even more amused than the kids were the rest of the chapter when Brother Dick Mapes, flawlessly attired as Santa Claus, stepped forth hauling the traditional sack of presents. Dick distributed gifts to the children and the remaining time was spent consuming huge quantities of ice cream, candy, and cookies.

It was soon discovered that the kids especially liked being galloped piggy-back through the house at top speed, so this became one of the main activities of the day. When the party ended, there were many weary mounts but the party had been a really heartwarming experience and an event to which the whole chapter will look forward next year.

"Stem turn, snow-plough, christiana"—Beta Nu has been buzzing with ski talk now that winter is here in full force and a large number of us have caught the ski bug. Every recent week end has found a number of Beta Nus heading for the snowy slopes of Vermont or New Hampshire on skiing trips.

We were happy to see members of our large pledge class (which incidentally was increased by two due to some successful rushing during the last few months) adapt themselves to M.I.T. life. Our pledges have demonstrated their ability to succeed in extracurricular activities as well as in school work. Be it crew, soccer, rifle, fencing, or any of our many activities, our pledge class is assured of having adequate representation. Notable among our outstanding pledges is Ed Johnson, who is leader of his section and also president of the Freshman Council.

Beta Nu was happy to learn of Junior Tony Turano's initiation into the honorary engineering fraternity, Tau Beta Pi. Membership in this organization is based on outstanding scholastic and extracurricular achievements and it is the engineering counterpart of Phi Beta Kappa.

Beta Xi—Tulane

Delts Cinch Tie at Midyear in Pan-Hel Competition

As we reach the midyear mark here at Tulane, Beta Xi finds itself tied for first place in Pan-Hel competition.

Having jumped the gun with an early lead by capturing bowling, the Delts continued to follow up these victories. Mickey McClure and F. J. Toups, who composed our handball team, showed their skill by defeating all opponents and acquiring the trophy.

Thanks to the artistic and careful planning of the decorating committee, Beta Xi scored again with the taking of first place in homecoming decorations. It was the best compensation we could request for the endless hours put in, with special thanks to Don Friedl for his stubborn supervision. Fourth place in football was the last showing in an event, which credited us with Pan-Hel points. Thus one can see we are firmly entrenched, only to be tied with Deke. Bob Hamer, our illustrious tackle, was named as All Pan-Hel, an honor he well deserved.

Looking to the social side of the news, the Shelter was the scene of a recent party in honor of the members and pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Towards the end of December, the Shelter was jam-packed with guests from other chapters here for the Sugar Bowl Game. Those in force were from Georgia Tech and Missouri.

Hitchon Selected Most Valuable

There were several men out for fall athletics, and now we have half a dozen in training for track and other winter sports. The high light of the fall season was Larry Hitchon's election as the most valuable player on the 150-lb. football squad. Larry is a junior in the Fraternity and went out for 150-lb. ball for the first time this year.

In the line of social activity the Delt house was the scene of several good parties. The annual Christmas party, held just before the vacation began, afforded an enjoyable evening of dinner and dancing. The Deltas went in with another house for Fall Week End, which proved very successful; we are making plans now for the annual Junior Week festivities held between terms.

The Shelter was the scene of a successful faculty reception held on Sunday, December 7. Over 250 guests attended, including members of the University faculty and their wives. Some of the more important people were President Dean Malott, Dean of Men Frank Baldwin, Dean Hollister of the Engineering School, and Dean Catherwood of the Industrial and Labor Relations School. Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. Catherwood were hostesses. A popular singing group on the campus, the Cayuga Waiters, sang several songs to add to a most enjoyable afternoon.

Beta Pi—Northwestern

Football Team Is I-M Runner-up

Late this fall, Beta Pi seniors were invited to attend the house corporation's annual Durbar. This event is the annual business meeting and dinner of the corporation. After the dinner, reports are made on the state of chapter affairs. Merle Dowd did much of the organizing, and from both the alumni and undergrad standpoint, it was an evening well spent.

Plans are being made to have next year's Durbar the Friday night before one of the home football games at one of the hotels in Evanston. This is being done so that more alums who are interested may attend.

In intramurals, Beta Pi's football team placed second out of 36 teams in all-University competition. After starting out as a dark horse, the Deltas demonstrated that they were going places in the championship play-offs. We won six straight games before losing the championship game by the low score of 6-0. This high finish in football has given us enough points to gain a third place standing in the all-school intramural sweepstakes.

In varsity sports, two house men are receiving a good share of attention. Bob Christensen, who finished fourth in Big Ten wrestling last winter, started off another good season by pinning his opponent during the second period in a meet with Marquette. In basketball, John Kavanaugh, freshman basketball player, scored 28 points in a major intrasquad game. This performance has all but clinched him a starting position on the team.

Rounding out our activities is the social calendar planned for winter quarter. There is a mixer scheduled to take place with the Thetas, the annual winter formal, and our pledge-active party. Plans are also being made for the annual housemothers' banquet. The housemothers of all the dormitories and houses are invited to attend.

Beta Rho—Stanford

Sophomore Cager Burns Up League

For the second consecutive year, Beta Rho has three members on the first-string varsity basketball squad, while two others are substitutes. The sensational sophomore, Ron Tomsic, is playing his second year as a regular, after placing fourth in the conference scoring race as a FRESHMAN! Ronnie has averaged slightly under 20 points a game in the first 12 games and is considered by many to be the finest all-around shooter ever to play for Stanford (and we're not forgetting Hank Luisetti!). And Tomsic has two more full seasons after this year!

Other Delt first-stringers are George Zaninovich, the only senior on the starting team, a phenomenal jumper who has begun to realize his enormous potential as a rebounder; and Don DeLong, a junior whose hustle and fine shooting are indispensable factors in Stanford's team effort.

Playing on the junior varsity and looking ahead to next year are Jim Westphal and Howie Schwartz, both sophomores and both showing promise of future varsity action.

As we write this article, the rushing season has commenced here at Stanford, and Beta Rho is beginning what we hope will be another successful campaign. Under the management of Dick Andrews, our most outstanding organizer, we have a busy schedule of parties and other events lined up during the next two weeks, including a giant barbecue and terminating with the formal pledge dance.

To conclude on a poor note, we might report that Beta Rho slipped to eleventh on campus (out of 24 fraternities) in scholastic standing for last quarter. This is the third consecutive drop, and newly-appointed R.A. Johnny Gilmore has his hands full in trying to get Beta Rho back up to the top of the ladder.

President of Nebraska Builders

Jim Adams, Beta Tau sophomore, was one of two Nebraska students appointed in January to administrative jobs with the United States Senate. The appointment was made on recommendation of Senator Dwight Griswold.

Adams will complete his college education in addition to working in the U. S. Senate Office Building. He and the other appointee were founders of the University of Nebraska Young Republican Club last fall. Jim was elected president of the organization in December.

The Beta Tau sophomore, in addition to serving as rush chairman last fall, has had an active part in campus affairs.

At a special meeting of the active chapter on October 17, the following resolution was passed unanimously by Beta Tau Chapter:

"Beta Tau Chapter wishes to thank

Observing an old tradition of the Fraternity, many Delt chapters opened their doors to underprivileged children at Christmastime. This scene, at Carnegie Tech's Delta Shelter, is typical of many.

"Are you really Santa Claus?" This incredulous moppet at Wabash plays hard-to-convince with a Beta Psi Chapter masquerader. The appearance of gifts changed her mind, however.

J. Russell Joynt for the time, effort, energy, and knowledge that he has given to Delta Tau Delta Fraternity during his years as chapter adviser to Beta Tau. It is with deep regret of the active chapter that he is leaving, but we also feel great pride that he is to continue his fine work in the fraternity system as a member of the Interfraternity Board of Control. Thank you, Rusty."

Dr. J. R. Loudon of Lincoln is the new chapter adviser. Dr. Loudon is the father of Jack Loudon, a Beta Tau Delt. Dr. Loudon is not a Beta Tau alumnus, but he has taken an active part in all of the activities at the Shelter. He has a keen insight into the problems and the solutions of them and is doing a fine job in his new position. Dr. Loudon is an alumnus of Gamma Tau Chapter of the University of Kansas.

Beta Upsilon—Illinois

Lenzini Named 1953 Football Captain of Fighting Illini

"Resolution Rendezvous" was the theme of Beta Upsilon's winter formal at the Shelter January 10. Cochairmen of decorations, Roy Posner and Howdie Humphrey, had the walls decorated in red marble paper to resemble a night club.

New officers for the second semester were elected at the January 5 chapter meeting. Jack Williams was re-elected for a second term as president. The other new officers are Dick Anderson, vice-president; John Hayes, treasurer; Jerry Carter, corresponding secretary; Jack Bland, assistant treasurer; Harry Sinclair, recording secretary; Bob Lenzini, guide; and John Gwin, sergeant at arms.

Under the leadership of Pete Koch, Beta Upsilon made Christmas much brighter for three needy families in the local area. Old clothing and toys were brought from home by the brothers. Money was also collected to buy gifts. After the Christmas party December 18, the presents were taken to the families.

Plans for the 1953 Spring Carnival are well under way at the Shelter. This year, for the first time, the Deltas are presenting a movie. Combining with the Delta Gammas, the Deltas will do the filming on campus. The movie will be centered around a Tarzan story with Bill Tate playing the lead role.

Bob Lenzini was rewarded for his excellent play on the 1952 Illinois football team by being elected captain of the 1953 team. Bob, who was named "Line-man of the Week" after his fine defensive play against Michigan last fall, is majoring in engineering.

Beta Chi—Brown

Haverty 1953 Captain of Brown Gridders

During the late fall, Beta Chi officially opened its new Shelter with a Housewarming Week End. A banquet was given for the occasion and well over 50 alumni returned for the festivities. We were honored by the presence of Joel W. Reynolds, Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta, and Chalmers Peairs, vice-president of the Eastern Division of Delta Tau Delta. Mr. Reynolds spoke to the brothers and their guests of the fine condition of the national and of the need of keeping strong in the years to come. The entire week end was a huge success and launched Beta Chi into a new era at Brown.

Well settled in the new Shelter, we proceeded to elect new officers. Brother Tom Gagliano was elected president and Wes Roth is now vice-president. The lower offices are held by Sophomores Tom McLellan and Al Thompson, who are showing the ability to handle responsibility.

Beta Chi was well represented in fall sports. Brother Jerry Haverty, an outstanding fullback on the football team, was elected captain of the 1953 team. Pledge Phil Noel did a notable job at tackle on this year's team and Don Cottey did his usual capable job at safety. Brother Jim Vreeland was outstanding on the varsity soccer team.

In intramurals, we did well in touch football and in volleyball. With a strong basketball team ready to take the court and the spirit of the house good, we should be able to cop the coveted Lamp-her Cup, given for supremacy in intramural sports.

By initiating 15 men in the late fall, Beta Chi brings its membership up to 57, making us one of the strongest houses here on the Hill. With rushing soon to come, we expect to swell our membership further and to continue to strengthen our position on the Brown campus.

Christmas Party Provides Toys and Fun for Underprivileged Tots

In the true tradition of Christmas, Beta Psi Deltas took time out from their studies to do a little something for some underprivileged children. Under the direction of Vic Lindquist, a big Christmas party was arranged, complete with turkey dinner, gifts, and Santa Claus. The gifts were donated to the chapter by local merchants who were interested in our party. The evening was topped off by some Mickey Mouse cartoons. It was hard to tell who had the best time, the children or the Deltas.

On the social side, we held our annual Christmas formal. The Shelter was decorated in the traditional Christmas fashion: a big tree, mistletoe, and pine boughs everywhere. The dance was highlighted by a visit from Santa, via radio. Brother Pantzer and his merry elves broadcast a Christmas preview from the second floor of the Shelter. Social Chairmen Bob Reinke and Bill Kraas did a fine job.

It's basketball time here at Wabash. We are represented by two big freshmen centers; it's Bill McConnell on the varsity and Bill Jones on the "B" squad.

We elected our officers for the 1953 school year. Bob Augsburg, president, and Don Mitchell, treasurer, were re-elected. The other officers are Bob Reinke, vice-president; Jay Dittus, corresponding secretary; Charles Reinhardt, recording secretary; and Rex Thoman, assistant treasurer.

Something tried elsewhere but new to Wabash will be initiated by Beta Psi Deltas. As a substitute for Hell Week this year, in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce, we will undertake a community project. All indications are for a successful operation.

Attention, alumni! This is just a reminder of the alumni reunion we are planning this spring at the Shelter. At this time we shall honor one of the graduates of the chapter with whom all you men are acquainted.

Gamma Beta—Illinois Tech

Three on Student Government Board

Gamma Beta had another successful pledge class this semester. There are ten new expected neophytes to undergo the initiation rites this March. Under the able leadership of "Jolly" John Inman, pledge-master, the pledges demonstrated in the traditional Delt way—excellent enthusiasm both in scholastic and Fraternity lessons, well sprinkled with many activities. It is our earnest hope that with the extensive rushing plan newly adopted, we may bring in more high-caliber men to maintain our lofty standards in the coming semester.

Both the new chapter president, Gale Hovey, and the new treasurer, John Inman, are active in school affairs, major lettermen, and prominent men on campus. The latter, moreover, may be said of almost all Deltas on Tech's campus, since the majority of our house is well represented in almost every form of activity here. Bob Zekes, Matt Merfeld, and Paul Schutt are voting members of the Student Government Board. John Inman, Jim Salapatas, and Jim O'Neill hold important positions on the Student Union Board.

The Techawk teams are studded with Deltas. In varsity sports, with the wrestling squad are: Cocaptain "Wild" Bill Staehle, Ron Johnson, Matt Merfeld, and Joe Schwebel. In track we have Merfeld and Zekes; on the swimming team, "Rich" Keyser; and on the golf team, Hole-in-One Hovey. The Deltas are looking forward to a successful Junior Week and the Interfraternity Sing Trophy for the third consecutive time.

Gamma Gamma—Dartmouth

New Pledge Class Pleases Brothers

Delta Tau Delta at Dartmouth came through the trials of fall rushing with flying colors and pledged a class of 20 of the top men in this year's sophomore class. Among the men pledged were Eliot Smith, president of last year's freshman class; Don Hummel, drum major for the Dartmouth band; and Doug Archibald and Sandy Sanderson, promising stars on the Dartmouth tennis team. The 20 have turned out to show fine house loyalty and tremendous enthusiasm, as well as many varied interests which are proving valuable assets to house activities.

Under the guidance of Pledge Trainers

NEW OFFICERS at Illinois Tech: GALE HOVEY, president, and JOHN INMAN, treasurer.

Cy Lewis and Ray Freud, the group weathered the pledge period with little difficulty and was initiated on December 10. Mr. Fran Young, president of the Gamma Gamma House Corporation, was present, and all enjoyed themselves at the traditional pledge banquet.

The Gamma Gamma football team was able to pass through a rigorous intramural football season without a loss to mar our record. Ties kept us from the fraternity championship, but the brothers entered the basketball season with undiminished vigor and at present are riding high on the crest of a four-game winning streak. This Delt hoop machine figures to be among the leaders in intramural basketball at the end of the current campaign. Likewise, the highly touted Delt hockey squad is expected to put another fine sextet on the ice this winter.

Dartmouth Deltas are particularly drama conscious this year, for hopes are to gain the third and final leg on the Interfraternity Play Trophy with a win this year. Dave Replogle is in charge of the play this year, so we can hope for another winner.

The week end of the Dartmouth-Columbia football game was particularly remembered this year because it was the week end for fall house parties. The Deltas rose to the occasion with a party before the game, a Roman party Friday night, and a dance in honor of the pledges on Saturday night, at which we enjoyed the fine Dixieland of Charley Hoyt and his High Street Five, a band of fine brothers and musicians from Gamma Zeta at Wesleyan. We are looking forward to seeing these brothers this year at Winter Carnival.

Anniversary Initiation in April

Many invitations have been sent to the alumni of Gamma Delta Chapter for our forthcoming Anniversary Initiation in April. A banquet will be held at that time. If possible, Brother Branch Rickey will be our guest speaker. Other famous Deltas are expected to attend.

At midsemester the grades of chapter members reflected a slight improvement over last semester. A marked improvement, however, is expected by the end of the semester.

Several men have been recently initiated into various campus honoraries. James Bailey was initiated into Alpha Epsilon Delta, national medical honorary. Calvin Griffin was taken into Alpha Kappa Psi, a national business honorary. Walter Bullington and Arch Jones were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, a campus mock honorary of outstanding men. In addition, Calvin Griffin, Robert Rosser, and Edgel Gordon were accepted into Arnold Air Society, military honorary.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

"High Street Five" Gain Popularity

When Wesleyan's second academic semester began on February 2, Gamma Zeta's newly-elected officers assumed their various chapter duties. Serving until the end of January, 1954, are: president, Norm Stuessy; vice-president, Dave Rich; treasurer, Bob Brown; assistant treasurer, Dick Bauman; Bob Carey, steward, aided by Assistant Stewards Stu Rapp and Bob Moore; John Mesch, recording secretary; Ed Konopka, corresponding secretary; and Pete Cheney, critic. "Swede" Olson, senator, represents the brothers at the weekly meetings of the College Body Senate.

The chapter congratulates Russ Eggers on his latest accomplishment—winning a Rhodes Scholarship.

Laurels of praise are also in store for Charlie Hoyt's Dixieland "High Street Five." Having steadily gained popularity since its founding two years ago, the group has played most recently at the Dartmouth Winter Carnival, the R.P.I. Winter Formal, and the Williams winter parties. Piano-tinkling Charlie is assisted fraternally by Delt Trombonist Jim Plimpton, Vice-President Dave Rich on the clarinet, and Bob Moore on the trumpet. The progressive "Five" is seriously considering the possibility of playing its way to Europe on board ship this summer and is also planning to make an LP recording of its most popular renditions to be sold on surrounding campuses.

Lanky "Scroggs" Nelson has been one of the starting five on Wesleyan's varsity basketball squad, and Bill Roche also has been active in this sport. Adding to the strength of the college's swimming team are Charlie Hume and Bob Pooley, whereas Jim Hopkins and Bruce Wittmer are important men on the squash courts.

National recognition was recently given Brothers Eggers and Hoyt by their election into Who's Who. With Delts from each class extremely active in publications, theater, Glee Club, and other extra-curricular fields too numerous to mention here, it seems best to conclude that this year—Gamma Zeta's fifty-first—will certainly be a fruitful one.

Gamma Eta—Geo. Washington

Two Join Phi Beta Kappa Ranks

George Washington Delts are ready to move into their 50th anniversary jubilee year with a proud record of achievements for the first half of the 1952-53 school year.

Everyone was happy when Miss Virginia Leetch, the entry of Delta Tau Delta, became the Homecoming Queen of 1952. "Ginnie" is a real Delt herself, since her father, Mr. William Leetch, is a Cornell Delt and her uncle is one of Gamma Eta's own alumni. To cinch the argument, "Ginnie" is pinned to the chapter rush chairman, Jay Howard. She was elected Queen of Delta Tau Delta in December and will be crowned by one of the Fraternity's illustrious alums at the annual Rainbow Ball, set for April 18 at the Cloud Room of the National Airport. All of the prominent Delts in the Nation's Capital, Republican and Democrat alike, will be invited to this celebration.

Sparked by Sandy Schlemmer and Bill Evans, the ΔΤΔ football squad marched to victory as the Interfraternity champs and as the all-University team. Inasmuch as Gamma Eta boasts of only one varsity athlete (in tennis), the trophies that are being added to an ever-growing collection are the result of real teamwork. Hopes are also high for the basketball stars who took last year's prize as interfraternity champs.

On the scholastic front, the announcement that Jim Merow and Ed Wilson were nominated for Phi Beta Kappa spelled fair tidings for the chapter's average, which was well above the All-Men's mark for 1951-52. Watch for more Phi Betes from Gamma Eta this spring.

Miss Barbara Lindemood, pinned to Tom Farley, was the Delt candidate for Frostbite Queen of the annual Frostbite Regatta in December. Barbara wore the Delt colors as a finalist in the stiff competition, and everyone is proud of her, including Tom, of course.

Gamma Theta—Baker

Plans for 50th Anniversary Readied

Gamma Theta Chapter is hard at work and is having one of her best years. Already, one intramural championship has been captured and the goal of winning the All-Sports Trophy has been set.

Stag Night, Baker's annual alumni reunion, has been scheduled for May 30. This year is of added significance since Gamma Theta will be celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. Special arrangements are already being made concerning a speaker and toastmaster.

ing, Chicken Fry, came off a little prematurely this year. The would-be 63rd fire was ignited by unknown persons early in the morning. Accelerated by a five-gallon cream can filled with gasoline, the fire was literally blown up. Many scattered fires had to be extinguished in the surrounding woods.

A much smaller substitute fire was built during the day, and, despite the handicap, alumni, actives, and pledges celebrated successfully.

In varsity athletics, Gamma Theta is well represented by six Deltas who received football letters, three in basketball, and three returning track lettermen. John Lewis, senior, will be earning his last of 12 letters in football, basketball, and track.

An active rushing campaign has been started under the leadership of Randy Kiene. This spring Gamma Theta will lose 16 men by graduation and possibly others to Uncle Sam. The returning actives and the new initiates will be faced with a problem which can be remedied only by a large pledge class next fall.

Gamma Iota—Texas

Chapter Wins All-School Sing for Third Consecutive Year

Many nights of hard practice were well rewarded when Gamma Iota, before 3,000 people in Gregory Gym, walked away with the annual Fraternity-Sorority Sing Song for the third straight year. Led by University Student Body President Rush Moody, the Deltas rolled to victory with their presentation of "Sing to the Royal Purple" and "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel."

In a highly competitive intramural program Gamma Iota at this time stands third among fraternities with a chance to move into first place by winning any of the upcoming spring sports. The Delta A football team, led by all-University Players Travis Eckert and Paul Mohr, finished a strong second place, while an unbeatable A volleyball team, sparked by Bob Jackson, possibly the best volleyballer in U.T. history, took the all-University title. Opposition was limited to an average of five points a game. Fortune looks good for Delt basketball intramurally, since the Blue Deltas, the chapter entry into the Austin city-league, copped the title. The quintet was sparked by former Rice Hoopsters Charles Tighe, Jim Gerhardt, and Hal DeMoss, as well as a former Texas frosh player, Paul Mohr.

As usual Gamma Iota shines on campus: Jim Gerhardt, of the Olympics and now the Navy, tapped by Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary business fraternity; Dewey Gonsoulin, Tom Eubank, and Jim Fuller, candidates for Texas Law Review; Jim Fuller into Phi Delta Phi, highest law honorary; and Tip Housewright and Troy Lee Hand into Silver Spurs, honorary service organization.

Don Eastland, climaxing an impressive UT career, was tapped by Friars, highest campus honorary, whose membership is limited to four members of each senior class. Don was recently elected president of Cowboys, one of the University's two service organizations, thus equalling the accomplishment of his brother Delt, Dave Blackstock, who was just elected president of the other service organization, Silver Spurs.

KEN EASTRIDGE

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Forbes Serves as NIC Representative

On the social side of the calendar, the most important event of the winter season was the annual Delt Orchid Ball. Pert and lovely Gail Dye, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, reigned as Orchid Queen on a throne of gold satin with a purple velvet background. She was accompanied by her four maids of honor, who are queens in their own right.

Gloom and grumbling fill the halls of the Shelter. In zealous desire to improve last year's scholastic standing of third on the Missouri campus, the scholastic committee has imposed week end study hall for all pledges with so much as one hour of deficiency at midsemester. The chapter feels that it would be the height of sorrow to be forced to part company with any of the fine young men of the pledge class.

Never left at the starting gate, Gamma Kappa has surged to the fore in campus activities. Jerry Forbes, a junior from St. Louis, was chosen to represent the University of Missouri at the National Interfraternity Conference. The convention was held in New York City at the famous Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. A convention dinner was served on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Also a recipient of campus recognition was Charles Cole, better known as "Wolfgang." He is a senior from Lee's Summit, Missouri. "Wolfgang" was elected to the 1952-53 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, an honor we feel he has richly deserved for his untiring work as vice-president of the new $2,100,000 Student Union at the University of Missouri.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Twenty Children Treated to Yule Party

As soon as fall rush was over and a new pledge class obtained, Gamma Lambda focused its energy on intramural sports. Under the guidance of Paul Eubanks, athletic manager, the Shelter battled to the play-offs in squash, touch football, and table tennis. Deltas are presently undefeated in basketball. Such men as Gary Purviance, Ted Blaschke, and Larry Taylor in squash, and Rich Fleenor and Bruce Shepherd in table tennis helped rank the house high in individual sports, while Jack Bliss, Hank Stegeman, Donn Eusey, Felix Szmagaj, Dale Cox, and Chuck Bradley are only a few of the team-play stars which are giving Gamma Lambda one of its best intramural seasons.

The Christmas season marked a high point in social festivities for Delta Tau Delta at Purdue. The first of these festivities was the annual winter formal. December 6 saw the Shelter transformed under the directions of Donn Eusey into a winter resort. In addition to having the library decorated as a log cabin and a 12-foot snowman in one corner of the living room, the whole house took on winter trimmings.

December 17 saw the influx into the Shelter of 20 needy children for the annual Christmas Party. After filling themselves with roast turkey and all its trimmings, the kids went upstairs just in time to see jolly old St. Nick (known to the brothers as Mehilo Keseley) arrive with presents for all of them. It was a bunch of happy kids that left the Shelter that evening.

This year, as in past years, serenading was an important part of the Christmas season. The week before vacation saw Gamma Lambda, under the direction of Hank Stegeman, song leader, out almost every night singing Christmas chorals to the women's residence halls and the sororities on campus.

New men will be handling the finances of Gamma Lambda this coming year. Charles Bradley has taken over the reins of treasurer from Bob Ragains, and he will have Milford Creed helping him as assistant treasurer. The position of social chairman also saw a change with Malcolm Brown replacing Pete Bartley.

Although Jim Pinkerton is the only brother graduating in February, he will be missed greatly. "Jim-Jam," in addition to being a member of ASME, Chandelle Squadron, Scabbard and Blade, and serving as chapter treasurer last year, was renowned for his ability as breakfast cook.

TED BLASCHKE

Gamma Mu—Washington

Chairman Three Major University Events

Many Deltas have been outstanding in campus activities this fall at the University of Washington. Perhaps most outstanding were Dom Driano and Donner Buchet, who were elected to Oval Club, an upperclassmen's service honorary. Dom and Donner were also chairmen of two of the three biggest events that occur during the calendar year at Washington. These big events are Homecoming and the Varsity Ball. The third big event of the year is the Sophomore Carnival, which will be headed by another Delt, Warren Miller.

There were also several Deltas elected to the lowerclassman's honorary, the Purple Shield. These men were Ken Erickson, Dick Green, and Warren Miller. Another man who was very active this fall was Dixon Poole, who was elected vice-president of his freshman Naval ROTC class.

On the whole, the fall social season was an outstanding success. The main social events were the Pledge Dance, the Barn Dance, and the Christmas Serenade with the Tri Deltas. Everybody had a terrific time at these functions.

Topping off activities for Gamma Mu Chapter during fall quarter was the pledge-active football game. This game was hard fought all the way and very close for the first half, but during the second half the actives' superior manpower and reserve strength began to show and the actives finally won 46-6.

Gamma Nu—Maine

Chapter Host to Needy Children

The annual Christmas party for needy children was held for some 20 small fry. Gifts and refreshments were provided for all.

Houseparties this fall were again a great success. This high light of the fall social activities was not only attended by the undergraduates, but also by a substantial number of alumni. The day following the formal dance, an outing was held at a summer residence at Chimo Pond.

Gamma Nu had the good fortune to engage Mother Fitch of Portland as house-mother. For the short time she has been with us, she has already met our highest expectations.

Gamma Nu welcomes to the chapter room four new members: Bob Pelletier, Galen Leathers, Larry J. Stinchfield, and John Langlais. Congratulations!

The basketball team looks stronger this year, and we are anticipating a successful season.

KEN B. WARD

Gamma Xi—Cincinnati

Pledges' Scholastic Average Hits New High in Chapter

Perhaps all too frequently pledge scholarship is a "hush-hush" subject; but not this year—the little boys in the purple beanies are doing us "right proud," as their class boasts the highest over-all average that we've had in many a moon.

U.C. had a successful football season this year and much of it was due to the good old boys of Delta Tau. Top performers like Don Zajicek, "Pappy" Pardini, Ralph Pisanelli, and West Ritchey gave us mighty fine representation on the gridiron, and all of these "campus gladiators" are slated to be right in there again next year.

The Christmas holidays went fast and furious and involved two big social splurges. The first was a Christmas dance given at the house, at which time good Brother Langenbahn, our social chairman, more affectionately known as "Pebble," took it upon himself to impersonate one Santa Claus—a character who we happen to know on good authority is a Delt alum.

Does anybody need a rather large pair of old shoes—extra large, that is—about 20 feet high? Our float this year at Homecoming consisted of two giant shoes which by means of an ingenious method of locomotion were supposed to walk around of their own accord—the theme being to "De-Feet" the opposition. Well, at the last minute the ingenious mechanical monster went haywire; in short, we were "Defeeted" Deltas.

HENRY GEST

Gamma Omicron—Syracuse

Brothers Visit Florida

"The best pledge class on campus" is the boast of Gamma Omicron Chapter. Thanks to the hard work of the rush chairman, John Diaz, and his assistant, Dick Radey, we have come up with 13 fellows who are sure to become great Deltas. In addition, second-semester rushing is quickly approaching and we have some other great guys just about ready to go Delt.

This semester's pledge class is composed of: Andy Arel, Massena, N. Y.; Rick Ecklund, Bridgeport, Conn.; Dick Grey, Nassau, N. Y.; Bob Jordan, Dewitt, N. Y.; Stu Leslie, Dewitt, N. Y.; Barry Lyons, Syracuse, N. Y.; Jim Markley, Whitesboro, N. Y.; Jim McNally, Little Silver, N. J.; Roy Place, Floral Park, N. Y.; Howie Reekers, Rochester, N. Y.; Ray Santore, Rochester, N. Y.; Ted Wolff, Rome, N. Y.; and Bill Weber, Rome, N. Y.

With the coming of Christmas vacation, seven of the brothers took to the open road and traveled to Miami, Fla., to see the Syracuse football team in the Orange Bowl. Reports of the trip were great and those in the house who failed to go were sorry they missed the fun and the game. Congratulations to Delta Eta Chapter! Because of the score, they win a sheepskin from us.

More honors have been heaped on the house because of individual achievement. Syd Walker was named to the all-intramural football team, while Pledge Roy Place was named president of his frosh dorm. John Diaz has joined Tau Beta Pi engineering honorary, while Bob Lefko is now a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising honorary. George Wilcox was recently named advertising editor for the advertising yearbook.

Final note of this month is not a happy one. We were all stunned by the death of one of our best alums, Mr. Harold Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins now in his eighties has always been a wonderful inspiration to those of us who were fortunate to meet him. His friendly helpfulness has always been instrumental to our chapter, and we will all miss him.

BOB LEFKO

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

Byrus Twice Named Athlete of the Week

Gamma Pi's Bill Byrus was named honorary cocaptain of the Iowa State Cyclones for the 1952 football season at the annual Football Banquet. Bill, a right tackle, has set a hard-to-beat record in his three years of college football. He was twice named Athlete of the Week during the past grid season.

Wrestler Ron Larson has remained undefeated so far in this season's competition.

Max Persels was awarded his athletic numerals at the close of a tough freshman football schedule.

Gamma Pi's intramural teams placed third in the fall quarter Sport's Triad. The horseshoe team maintained its winning streak by taking another all-College first.

Under the direction of Dean Karns, the Deltas' musical skit, "The Royal Flush," was among the 20 skits selected from 50 entries for the annual College Variety shows, to be presented during winter quarter. Jerry Bolin is directing the dances, while John Dahl is in charge of set design. The house is working to make this year's production even better than the trophy-winning show of last year.

Two Deltas, Jack Faulkner and Dave Swanson, were elected president and vice-president of the Knights of St. Patrick, engineering activities honorary. Charles Oppedahl has been named recently to the organization.

Other Deltas who are serving in executive positions on the Iowa State campus this quarter include: Dean Karns, as secretary of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music fraternity, and also as secretary of Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemistry fraternity; Cal Ashland as treasurer of Alpha Chi Sigma.

Bob Rubey has been named to serve on the Veishea Central Committee, which controls Iowa State's unique three-day celebration, the largest all-student managed affair of its kind in the nation. Rubey is also chairman of the colorful three-mile-long Veishea parade. Ted Marston is serving as an associate editor of the '53 Bomb, Iowa State's yearbook. Marston is in charge of the publication's engraving duties.

Charles Oppedahl has begun his job as chairman of the 1953 Engineer's Ball, the annual dance held by the Division of Engineering. George Asche has been appointed to a position on the Student Property Board. The positions of chairman, business manager, and assistant business manager of this board are also held by Deltas.

Bob Willcutt and Doug Stock were initiated into the men's pep organization at the close of fall quarter.

The chapter plans to hold its annual Orchid Formal the 21st of February, according to Jack Faulkner, social chairman. As always, the high light of the dance will be the orchid-laden tree.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

Wins Homecoming Sign Contest

Fall term saw the return of two men from tours of duty in Korea. Willie Potton spent 18 months in Korea as a Navy and Marine hospital corpsman. Bob Adair, older brother of Jack Adair, also a member, completed 16 months of front-line duty with the infantry.

Elections were held immediately after returning from Christmas vacation. Hugh Garbrant, junior in speech, and delegate to the last Karnea, is our new president. Hugh recently was appointed chief announcer at the University's radio station, KWAX. The other new officers are: Ron Ricketts, vice-president; Bob Berry, recording secretary; Chuck Hanson, house manager; Ron Morgan, sergeant at arms; Gene Henry, corresponding secretary; and Paul Peterson, assistant house manager.

During the homecoming week end, Gamma Rho came through in good Delt fashion to win the homecoming sign contest for the second time in the three years that the trophy has been in existence. The homecoming week end ended with a large banquet for Delt alums and their guests.

The fall term was a success socially as we had desserts with many women's houses on campus.

Winter term's social calendar will be highlighted by the formal house dance in honor of the new pledges and will be held on February 14.

The annual Delt-TriDelt Christmas party for underprivileged children was held in the second week in December and was a wonderful success. Thirty-one children were brought to the Shelter for games, refreshments, and presents which were given out by Santa Claus, Harold Sogn.

At the present time we are engaged in Rush Week, and indications are that we will have many fine pledges at the close of rushing Saturday morning, January 17.

Gamma Sigma—Pittsburgh

O.D.K. Knocks at Our Door

Dan Purdy, a junior, has been tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa for his outstanding leadership and scholastic achievements at the University. Dan is a member of the varsity debate team, was elected to Student Congress, serves as business manager of the Panther magazine, and is the president of the Pitt Republican Club.

Representing us on the gridiron the past season were Seniors Paul Chess, fullback, and Neil Huffman, tackle.

Once again Delta Tau Delta is well represented on the swimming team. Lettermen Bill Corr, Fred O'Nions, Jim Palmer, John Kruper, and Gary Greer head the varsity, while Pledges Jim Zurcher, Murray Johnston, and Ralph Gaetano round out the freshman squad. Brothers Chuck Floyd and Dave Freeze serve as managers of the tankmen.

Gamma Sigma held its homecoming on November 21 as alumni and undergraduates were entertained at a pregame luncheon and then adjourned to the Pitt stadium to witness the final game of the year between Pitt and Penn State.

PAUL CHESSE, hard-charging fullback for the Pitt Panthers.

This aggregation of Pitt Delts captured the intramural football crown and went on to win the city championship.

Highlighting our social affairs was the eighteenth annual Delt church service at the Trinity Episcopal Cathedral. Following the service, a sing contest was held and our sing team captured second-place honors.

Concluding the first-semester activities was the annual dinner formal held at the Shannopin Country Club.

As in previous years, the Delt gridders came through with flying colors as they walked away with the IF trophy, captured the school crown, and then proceeded to nail down the lid as they defeated a strong Duquesne University sextet for the City of Pittsburgh championship.

In other fields we have been just as prominent. The debate team has gained the finals along with the badminton squad and the "B" basketball team.

Take Homecoming Decorations Honors for Fourth Time

Once again the Delts of ol' K.U. came through to win the homecoming decorations contest. Competition was fierce since the Gamma Taus had won first place four out of the last five years, and the other fraternities were trying to stop the seeming tradition. The judges, however, in spite of the Delt winning streak, could not pick another winner in view of Gamma Tau's originality and cleverness.

The pledge class, trying to knock the sophomore actives down a notch or two, challenged the second-year men to a football game; but after a hard-fought battle, the new men went down to defeat, 21 to 7.

Good food and good times made the Annual Alumni Dinner as popular as ever at the Townhouse Hotel in Kansas City, Kansas. Another successful dinner and party was the Christmas Stag, at which the boys really enjoyed themselves after the prevacation examinations.

As the hepcats say, "Horns blew and cats flew" at the Christmas Formal this year. The Gamma Taus furnished the fun and Matt Benton provided the rhythm for the social success of the Yuletide season.

On the political side of the news, the new Fraternity officers elected for the coming year are: Jim Fowler, president; Jack Byrd, vice-president; Jean Legler, recording secretary; Kent Sanborn, corresponding secretary; Dick McEachen, treasurer; Nathan Harris, sergeant at arms; and Don Johnson, guide.

Foundation Laid for New Shelter

In football this fall, the Gamma Chi six was unable to defend its Greek championship. In a period of vast rebuilding and many injuries, only one victory was won out of a hard four-game schedule. Our basketball team fared a little better, winning two and losing two. The loss of several key players by graduation had its effect.

The report on the progress of our new Shelter is good. The foundation has been laid and the building will start to take form as soon as warm weather is again with us. The Shelter will be ready by rush week next fall.

Gamma Chi Speedster Thane Baker again made the headlines, this time at the Christmas Sugar Bowl Sports Festival. Thane won the 100-yard dash and put on a brilliant display of speed in the mile relay to bring his team from fifth to second in the last quarter-mile stint. We are expecting Thane, a senior, to really burn up the cinders this spring.

At our January election, the following men were elected to office: president, Jim Parks; vice-president, Jim Limes; treasurer, Dick Cunningham; assistant treasurer, Ron Grittman; recording secretary, Ed Gillett; corresponding secretary, Frank Andrews; guide, Allen Kipper; and sergeant at arms, Dick Thompson.

Spotlight on Homecoming

Homecoming this past quarter held great interest for everyone here at the Delta Shelter. Our homecoming decoration was conceived and erected primarily by Joe Chapman and John Blackburn. The idea was a novel one and was enjoyed by all. The high light of the whole day was the "Ramblin' Reck" parade which is a nationally known high light of every homecoming day at Georgia Tech. The Delts broke all precedents by entering the first airplane in the history of the parade. It was a wrecked plane, and although it didn't take any prizes, it was the high light of the whole parade. The idea was originated and put into actuality by Jack Vibberts and Bob Stone.

The sports picture here at the Delta Shelter was the brightest it has been in many years. Our football team was especially successful this year, taking second place among the 26 fraternities on the campus. After reaching the play-offs, we beat the SPE's 7-6 (incidentally, it was the SPE's first defeat of the season) lost to the SAE's on two intercepted passes, and then defeated the TEPI's. It was our most successful football team in years. The team was led by Sid Anderson.

Our volleyball team, under the able direction of Truman Raspberry, was also successful.

The efforts of the sports minded here at the Delta Shelter are now turning to basketball and the prospects of the best season in history. We have already won one game from the team which was the most highly regarded in our league. The mainstays on the team are Ben Carver, Sid Anderson, John Gielow, Bill Davidson, and Billy Billingsley.

Preparations are now under way for the biggest and best Rainbow Ball in the history of the Delt chapter here at Tech. The affair is under the able leadership of Gus Randolph. It is a week end that we are all looking forward to at the Delta Shelter.

Await Completion of New Addition to Shelter

Work on the new addition to our house is nearing completion. Most of the heavy work is done now and we are looking forward to use of the new facilities sometime in February.

The new dormitories and bathrooms of the second and third floors are finished with the new upstairs lounge lacking only paint.

Downstairs, things are still in somewhat of a turmoil. The new powder room and the living room still need quite a bit of work before they are finished. Work in the new kitchen is almost complete. New work tables, a coffee-urn table, an automatic dishwasher, and a baking oven have all been installed—all of them are built of stainless steel. In the dining room it is a different story. Plate glass for the outside south wall and door has not arrived. Until it does arrive and is installed, the ceiling and oak-block floor cannot be put in.

Intramural football this year didn't come out as good as it did last season. Both the "A" team and the "B" team made the play-offs but were beaten in the semifinals.

In intramural basketball, now in progress, we have two teams entered. Both of them have advanced to the play-offs.

New officers to serve for the spring semester were elected December 15. The new officers are Dale Maddry, president; Jerry Sullivan, vice-president; Bob McBride, treasurer; Tom Denner, assistant treasurer; Alex Lipski, recording secretary; Wayne Williams, corresponding secretary; Tom Acers, interfraternity council representative; Zack Osborne, sergeant at arms; and Fred Leonard, guide.

Delta Beta—Carnegie Tech

Win Annual Sing Competition

Delta Beta is just bringing a successful fall semester to a close. Exams will be here next week, and this means laboratory and design project reports and concentrated studying. Most of us, however, look forward to two weeks of much-deserved vacation.

The annual Dean Moor sing competition was held last December 7 at Trinity Cathedral in downtown Pittsburgh. Delta Beta had the honor of winning, and will return to its mantel the coveted clock, missing for three years. The winning octet, directed by President Jack Sweeney, consisted of Paul Hildebrandt, Jim Lacey, Dick Foster, Ted Trinkaus, Chip Detweiler, Hugh Coble, and Bob Boyer. Other competing teams were Deltas from Washington and Jefferson, Pitt, and Allegheny.

Our Christmas Formal and the Interfraternity Formal were held in the past month at the Schenley Hotel and Syria Mosque, respectively. Dolly Mitchell was chosen "Delta Sweetheart" at the Christmas Formal. As a point of interest, Tex Beneke was engaged to play for the Interfraternity Formal, and, to the chagrin of the other fraternities present, the well-known orchestra leader announced at intermission that he had accepted an honorary membership for the evening in Delta Beta of Delta Tau Delta.

As a personal note, Bob Boyer was successful in the 1953 Rhodes Scholarship Competition, which each year sends 32 men to study at Oxford.

At midyear elections, George Billy was re-elected treasurer. Presidential elections will be held soon.

Our annual Christmas Orphans Party with the Thetas was quite a success. The two groups put in an exhausting evening entertaining 30-odd orphan children from a nearby home.

Win Permanent Cup for House Decoration

Homecoming activities were highlighted by the award of a permanent cup to Delta Gamma for the most beautiful Dakota Day house decoration. This makes the third consecutive year the Deltas have been awarded first prize for this outstanding display of artistic ability. Some 250 alums, parents, and relatives visited the Shelter for lunch after the most exciting game of the year against our arch rival, South Dakota State.

In November, the beautifully decorated ballroom of the Student Union was the scene of the Delt Annual Fall Formal. The decorative motif was carried out in the theme of a deck of cards. Lovely Pi Phi Jo Vaughn reigned as our Delta Queen. Jo is engaged to Delt Phil Gross.

The chapter held a successful tea for our wonderful new housemother, Mrs. Albert Martelle.

Our prexy, Chuck Jones, climaxing an outstanding college career, was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

In the intramural football league, the Delt team finished in second position. The Delt Keglers, led by Jack Hamilton, have thus far been one of the top teams in league competition, with prospects looking bright for the future. The prospects for the Delt tankers look terrific, with the returning of last year's champs, Dick Dargen, Dick Kallestad, Steve Le Fevre, and Record Breaker Jerry "Fish" Moen, attempting to sweep in another trophy. Basketball looks like a clean sweep for Delta Gamma, with the cagers thus far knocking off all competition. Frosh prospects on the junior varsity are Pledges Bob Middleton, Jerry Boles, and Bob Enders, each having been a former all-state star in high school.

Plans are under way for our vaudeville act for the Strollers show in March with Jim Francis in charge of arrangements.

Delta Epsilon—Kentucky

Two Are Rhodes Scholarship Candidates for University

Delta Epsilon's homecoming of '52 was one to be remembered by all. Not only were the decorations well displayed, but also the Shelter and grounds were in top shape. Mothers and girl friends were allowed to see the colorful and spacious living quarters. After the game with Tulane, everyone could come to the Shelter and eat his fill at a buffet dinner.

Intramural sports are still in progress and the Deltas are still holding their own. We came very near the volleyball title, made a good showing in badminton, and are presently engaged in basketball.

Two Deltas, Paul Holleman and Bill Douglass, were selected to represent the University as candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship. Paul is also the new president of Omicron Delta Kappa. T. Y. Martin, Angel Levas, and Doug Adamson were chosen for membership in Lamp and Cross, senior men's leadership fraternity. A promising musician, Jimmy Moore, was elected president of the Men's Glee Club. Three Deltas, Marvin Suit, Angel Levas, and Bob Valentine were elected to the key offices, respectively, of Delta Sigma Pi, commerce fraternity. In these last weeks before exams, we are all striving for a good chapter average.

The Deltones were invited to sing on a Christmas program by WLW-TV. Our quartet made a fine appearance and expects great things in the forthcoming barbershop quartet contest. Jimmy Woodward is shaping up our chorus for a later date concert tour.

We again sponsored our underprivileged children's party just before the holidays. Larry Weier portrayed Kris Kringle for some 30 happy children and passed out sweaters, dolls, and cap pistols. The next night, we had a Christmas dance at the Shelter with the tree and holly and all decorations.

Here's hoping that 1953 will bring happy returns to all.

Delta Zeta—Florida

Two Elected to Campus Offices

Delta Zeta Chapter went into the Queen crowning business in a big way during the University of Florida's homecoming this fall.

Lynn Taylor, pretty Atlanta, Georgia, coed was sponsored by Deltas for the title of "F" Club Sweetheart. Miss Taylor came through with flying colors, winning the title over a bevy of campus beauties at the annual homecoming dance. She was later sponsored by the University for the title of Miss Gator Bowl during the Gator Bowl festival in Jacksonville.

Campus elections occupied the Deltas up until homecoming. Delta Zeta representatives were successful in the only two races they entered. Norm Froscher was elected F Book editor while Calvin Mitchell was successful in his bid for sophomore class presidency. Both Deltas were assured of election, however, because the man behind the ballot boxes was the secretary of the interior, Dave Thomas, another political-minded Delt, who managed the elections.

Delta Eta—Alabama

1953 Who's Who Honors Three Delta Eta Men

Three members of the Alabama chapter were selected to appear in the 1953 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The annual publication recognizes students from colleges all over the nation who have been outstanding in various fields of collegiate endeavor.

Chosen from Delta Eta were Brothers Alfred N. Good, outstanding engineering scholar and military student; James M.

Montgomery, editor of the Rammer Jammer, humor magazine; and Charles A. Wilson, editor of the Crimson-White, student weekly.

Brother Good was recently initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity.

Hey! What happened to the Shelter?

Nothing; only the annual Bowery Ball. Every January the Shelter does a Cinderella in reverse and becomes a scene on skid row.

This year, close to 30 rushees from all over the state shared in the festivities, donning motley ragged clothing along with the members and their dates.

Delta Eta Sophomore Edward V. Welch holds down second base tasks on the Crimson Tide's diamond varsity this spring. Welch, an advertising and selling major, batted .410 for the freshman team last year until he was moved up in mid-season to hit .370 on the varsity squad.

Ed lettered three years at Sidney Lanier High in Montgomery, Ala., and served as cocaptain his senior year. During his time on the team, Lanier won three state and one southeastern championships. For the past two summers he has played for the first-place industrial league team in Montgomery.

In spite of his training in commerce and his proficiency in playing trumpet, Welch maintains that he is "going to try to play pro ball. If possible," he adds wistfully.

Santa came early to the Delta Shelter at Alabama. When 15 underprivileged children, chosen from the Tuscaloosa area by the Salvation Army, came to the house December 17, the tree's lights were turned on and down came Saint Nick! Only he came down the stairs since Brother Richard Hill is a bit portly to fit in the chimney.

Each child received refreshments and several presents. The main gifts were clothing. Bama coeds who date men in the chapter came to the party and gave their invaluable support to bolster the Deltas' meager ability at child management.

Delta Theta—Toronto

Hold Annual Pledge Banquet

Delta Theta held its pledge banquet in December this year. Due to its increasing popularity and success, this event has now become an annual occasion on which the older brothers welcome the new initiates to the Fraternity. The setting was the "Chinese Room" in Toronto's newest dining lounge. Everyone enjoyed the fine cuisine as well as the scintillating words of President Fred Bolling, Vice-President Charles Morris, and Treasurer Phelps Bell.

The big event of the evening came when the retiring chapter adviser, Al Dyer, was presented with a beautiful silver cigarette box in recognition of his five years as an outstanding leader and guide for Delta Theta Chapter. Jo Langan, the new chapter adviser, made a glowing tribute to his predecessor in a few simple words as he told the boys what a tremendous undertaking it was for him to follow his footsteps as chapter adviser.

After many toasts the dinner came to an end, and everyone returned to the chapter house to continue celebrating the arrival of nine new brothers into Delta Tau Delta.

Christmas was celebrated with the usual dinner and party as has been the custom for several years. Twelve underprivileged children from a local community center were entertained at the house. The tots were treated to a turkey dinner and all were encouraged to eat all that they could manage. After dinner, Santa Claus arrived and presented each with a handsome present.

After the children had left the brothers gathered around the table and held their Christmas dinner. Stories, jokes, and toasts followed the meal.

Late in the evening the brothers brought their girls to the house. The remainder of the evening was spent singing Christmas carols and dancing and generally enjoying the Christmas atmosphere created by the Christmas tree and other decorations.

Delta Kappa—Duke

Pledge Twenty-Five

Initiating Duke University's first year of first-semester fall rushing and pledging, Delta Kappa pledged 25 freshmen on the evening of November 21. A banquet and stag party were held that night in honor of the new pledges. Pledge Trainer Doug Kennemore has begun an extensive training program for the class, and the whole chapter anticipates great accomplishments by our pledges. The 25 freshmen have elected for their leaders, Kenny Clark of Elmira, N. Y., president; Scotty Mofatt of Scranton, Pa., second in command; Paul Tuerff of Bloomfield, N. J., secretary; and Bob Ruffini of Shaker Heights, Ohio, treasurer.

On December 12 we held our annual "Shipwreck Party." John Barry and his date, Becky Perry, won prizes for the best costumes. Our talented pledge class put on a skit, humorously depicting the problems in the love life of Brother Phil Murkett. Musical entertainment was provided by Pledge Terry Taylor, who played the guitar and sang his own composition, a ballad about the brothers of Delta Kappa. A jazz combo, featuring Brother Harry Duft at the piano and Pledge John Creadick on the trumpet, added to the enjoyment of everyone throughout the evening.

We have entered three teams in the intramural basketball league this season, and all three of them have been doing man-sized jobs knocking off their opponents. The most decisive score so far in the season has been the pledge team's 72-27 victory over the Theta Chi "A" team.

On January 12, Perry (S) Stewart, who has been balancing the chapter's books for two years, was unanimously re-elected treasurer of Delta Kappa. Besides keeping track of Fraternity funds, Perry is an active member of Alpha Kappa Psi, a national business fraternity, and Phi Eta Sigma, an honorary scholastic fraternity. Last spring Perry was the leading pitcher in the intramural softball league, and was the main reason for our bringing home the trophy.

ATTENTION DELTA DELTA CHAPTER: Remember Duke beat Tennessee, 7-0 last fall. Where is the sheepskin you owe us?

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

Represented in Fall Athletics

Delta Lambda Delts are looking forward to another eventful term. Tops on the list of activities during all terms is intramural athletics. During fall term our powerful football team was eliminated from the running by the eventual intramural champs, 6 to 0. This term we are turning our attention to basketball. With most of last year's team back and a few outstanding freshman additions, we should go far again.

Delts were well represented by Dick Coyner and Pledge Bill Strader in dramatics fall term. Both held leading roles in plays put on by the College, and are again working on new plays.

Social functions held fall term included a pledge dance for the 28 pledges. The dance was held at the Corvallis Country Club. Members also attended several functions put on by the Portland Alumni Chapter, including two parties and a Christmas formal dance.

The Mothers' Club of the chapter presented the house with some much-needed andirons for the fireplace and a pair of standing ash trays for Christmas.

Bill Smith again held down a starting post on the varsity rowing club while Pledge Vern Knight participated for the lightweights in the athletic field. Pledge Bruce Bedynek, an all-Northern California end for Redding (California high school) missed the freshman football season due to an injured ankle. Bruce was rated as one of the outstanding prospects on the frosh team and will be in strong contention for a starting spot on the varsity football team next year.

Delts in the service include Lieutenants Bob Feldkamp, Air Force, and Mel Williams and Bob Johnston, Army. All graduated in 1951. Feldkamp and Williams took the long steps down the aisle in December.

Delta Nu—Lawrence

Delts Help Football Team

Over the past two years, Lawrence College had a string of 14 straight undefeated, untied football games. This team was studded prominently with Delts. Outstanding among these was Kent Hanson who was given all-conference honors. Coach Heselton rated him with the greatest guards in Lawrence football history. Ed Grosse, playing tailback, was the team's leading passer and had a punt average of 43 yards to rank him second among the nation's small college punters. George Oetting was the bulwark of the defensive line with Dick Gast playing a steady game as the team's safety man. All these boys will be back next year.

Bob Zimmerman, who was last year's Midwest Conference cross-country champion, was again tough to beat this year, placing second in the Conference.

Due to the hard work of this year's outstanding pledge class, the Delts' float won first place in the homecoming parade. The pledge class president is Ken Seefeld, who is president of the freshman dorm. Pledge Don Mayo was elected one of the representatives of the freshman class to the Student Executive Council.

Our president, George Oetting, has again been a leader in campus activities this year. He is chairman of the Convocation Committee and the Religious Vesper services. He was head solicitor for the Lawrence United Charities. John Tatge was treasurer for this drive.

To show we have a well-rounded group, Bruce Bogue had the lead in the Lawrence College Theater Production.

The Delt interfraternity football team, in an effort to regain the football trophy we held for 11 straight years, won its first four games before going down in defeat. At the end of the season we finished second.

We tried something new this year by giving our fall formal with the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. It was a real social success.

Delta Xi—North Dakota

Two Freshmen Active in Varsity Athletics

Since the last report, Delta Xi has been going through an active and occasionally hectic period. On the social slate, the Kris Kringle Formal was held on December 6. The entire affair was a success and after a sufficient number of rest and recuperation days have passed, we plan to get back into the party swing. Our last month's social chairman, Leonard Christianson, has been replaced by a committee of two—Bob Putz and Dick McConnell. In the field of personal distinction, Bob Hale, senior, member of Blue Key service organization and Wesley College's Who's Who, was chosen to represent our district in the recent Rhodes Scholarship examination held in Seattle. Unfortunately Bob didn't come out number one, but, as usual, he gave a good account of himself.

Two of our freshmen, Bob Putz and Rudy Slupski, are active in varsity athletics this season. Bob is a member of the junior varsity basketball squad and Rudy holds a position as defense man on the freshman hockey team. At this writing, the varsity hockey team is as yet undefeated and the league leaders.

Our delegate to the Western Division Conference is Eldon Levi, and alternate is Arlo Levi.

DUANE F. WILLIAMS

Delta Omicron—Westminster

Dad's Day Highlights Intramural Program as Delts Get Trophy

Dad's Day proved to be the high light of the intramural program thus far, as the Delts not only annexed their second straight Dad's Day trophy but their third consecutive track championship. The Delt teams have been well rounded and high spirited throughout the campaign. With last year's championship basketball team intact, plus the added services of former three-year varsity letterman, Ken Whitehead, Delta Omicron should finish high in the money.

At the school carnival this fall the Delts featured several of the brothers being pelted with rotten eggs in an egg-throwing contest. Using the Fraternity colors, the booth with the large ΔΤΔ towered above all and brought added attraction from all directions.

Dick Smith, Bob Strano, and John Gunn have been elected president, vice-president, and treasurer for the next year, replacing Bill McCue, Bob Stuffleham, and Dick Smith, all of whom have done a commendable job during their terms of office.

Delta Pi—U.S.C.

Ken Flower in P.C.C. Basketball

On the week end of January 10, members of Delta Pi and their dates journeyed down the coast of Southern California to the enchanting and atmospheric city of Ensanada for their annual winter formal. Overlooking the shores of the Pacific Ocean stood the Beautiful Riviera Pacifico Hotel where a delicious steak dinner was served along with dancing to the quaint music of old Mexico. Sunday morning everyone gathered at the Villa Marina Motel for ten o'clock breakfast. The warm weather and sandy beach encouraged swimming and horseback riding for the rest of the afternoon. Later Sunday night at the chapter house everyone agreed that they had just come from the most outstanding and unforgettable formal ever held at the University of Southern California.

Ken Flower, one of the members from Delta Pi, is doing very well in Pacific Coast Conference basketball this season. It has been his excellent floor work and timely shooting that has led the Trojans to ten wins and one loss so far this season. He is captain of the team and was presented the Helms award for the outstanding athlete during the month of December.

Election of officers for the new semester was the order of business at our first meeting in 1953. The newly elected officers will have a hard time living up to their predecessors, but we know that they will come through in true Delt style. The new officers are: president, Cy Conzani; vice-president, Gene Hougham; recording secretary, Ed Johnson; corresponding secretary, Ron Johnson; pledge master, Jim Roberts; and social chairman, Ray Bartee.

Delta Rho—Whitman

Win Third in Choral Contest

Delta Rho is well on its way to having its most successful year since the chapter was founded six years ago.

Our homecoming float, a large eagle, symbolic of victory, won second place in one of the best float parades presented at Whitman. Following the game, we held our annual parents' homecoming dinner. An excellent dance was held rounding out the week end which will remain as a high spot for Delta Rho.

In the closest choral contest in many years, the chapter presented its finest and came in third. Among the selections was a medley of Fraternity songs arranged by one of the brothers.

Under the chairmanship of our two social chairmen, Jim Campbell and Don Morgan, we have been enjoying an unprecedented number of social events.

We had an excellent Thanksgiving dinner for the brothers and their dates. The dinner, prepared by our capable cook, Mrs. Huckings, was presided over by our gracious housemother, Mrs. Milne.

We have concluded the last of seven exchanges with the sororities here at Whitman. We have found these exchanges to be very beneficial, especially for our freshmen.

Two brothers were awarded leading roles in Whitman College's interesting production of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. The production, a musical written and directed by Whitman's choir director, won applause not only in Walla Walla, but in several cities in eastern Washington where it went on tour. Ev Harris played the character of Scrooge, while Jack Kulp was the ghost of Christmas present.

Our Christmas party this year was a highly successful pajama party. The colorful event started with a movie, followed by dancing. Santa Claus, in pajamas, passed out toys to the brothers and their dates. This function, judging from its success, promises to become an annual affair.

Delta Rho is working hard to retain the campus scholarship cup it won last semester. At the time of this writing we are waiting for the results; however, we are fairly confident we will retain this coveted award.

Delta Sigma—Maryland

Plan Joint Initiation

The annual pledge party before the Christmas holidays, for which this year's theme was "My Suppressed Desire," turned out to be a great success. Costumes varied from a general in the Air Force and a professional boxer to an angel complete with halo and wings. The chapter wishes to extend a vote of thanks to all its pledges for a job well done.

Once again the Delt Christmas tree, the largest and most impressive on campus, was gaily decorated to help add atmosphere before the long holiday.

Plans are now under way for the joint initiation and banquet with Gamma Eta Chapter at George Washington University. The first of its kind, the initiation, conducted by a joint initiating team, will precede the Ninety-Fourth Founders Day Banquet at the Press Club in Washington, D. C., on February 28. Following the banquet, a dance will be given by the two chapters.

Two new tappers for Gate and Key Honorary are Philip Shays, Jr., and Michael Griffin, who were tapped at the annual Interfraternity Dance at the Statler Hotel in Washington.

Delta Sigma was recently honored by a visit by Brother Gordon Jones, RAINBOW Editor. Another recent visitor has been Brother Dick Tabor from the Purdue chapter, who is now serving as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. Brother Tabor is stationed nearby. Delta Sigma would like to extend a welcome to all the other brothers who might be in this area.

The newly elected officers for Delta Sigma are as follows: president, Philip Shays, Jr.; vice-president, John Nealson Smart; corresponding secretary, John Torbert; recording secretary, Michael Griffin; and treasurer, William Campbell, Jr.

At the annual Thanksgiving banquet given by Zeta Chapter (Western Reserve) are MRS. GREENFIELD, housemother, and HOWARD WATERS, chapter adviser.

Delta Tau—Bowling Green

Many Elected to Campus Honoraries

Recently elected officers of Delta Tau Chapter are Sam McClellan, president; Ray Fernandez, vice-president; Ron Ritter, corresponding secretary; Bill Melvin, recording secretary; Chuck Green, treasurer; Dick Brown and Sam Martin, assistant treasurers; Frank Fusco, sergeant at arms; and Hal Van Tassel, guide.

The annual Delt Barnwarming was held January 17-19. It consisted of a variety show on Thursday, wagon night on Friday, and the big barn dance on Saturday. In charge this year was Aury Fernandez, who did an excellent job in making this year's Barnwarming a greater success than ever before.

The variety show was led by Ray Fernandez as master of ceremonies. Included in the act were singing by the Delt quartet, a ballet in which the brothers dressed as ballerinas, and a take-off on the Bob and Ray Show. Bill Melvin was in charge of Wagon Night, in which the brothers met their dates outside of the girl's dormitories and the girls had their choice of kissing their dates or a goat.

The big dance was held on Saturday in the Lab School gym. There was popcorn and cider for all. It was gayly decorated with corn stalks, chickens, streamers, and the type of animals found in a barn.

Recently appointed to the Student Advisory Committee on appointments of the University are Chuck Green, Jack Taylor, and Ray Fernandez.

Theater manager for the University theater is Jack Huffman. His staff also includes two Delts, Ron Bracewell and Will Dorncott.

Don Doran was chosen head of the Arnold Air Society.

Joe Zingale was a guest disc jockey on the Johnny Andrews show over WTAM in Cleveland.

Jack Taylor received membership in Pi Sigma Alpha, national political science honorary.

Chuck Green was chosen for Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary, and also to Book and Motor, scholastic honorary.

We entertained underprivileged children at a Christmas party at which they played games and had refreshments. Brother Bob Beard played Santa Claus during the party.

Pledges for the fall semester were Tom Mote, Cliff Rovello, Jack Cochran, Joe Acierno, Gaython Eaton, Jack Clark, and Bud Cleary.

A new combo was formed with Bill Baddaker on piano, Ron Lauber on drums, Jack Clark on accordion, and Ray Fernandez and Dick Soluri on the bass.

Delta Upsilon—Delaware

Win Cheerleaders' Cup Over Eight Competitors

With one term of solid studying behind them, the Delaware Deltas are heading into the home stretch of the school year with the midway mark in the second semester rapidly being approached. The intensive freshman rushing period of two weeks' duration has come and gone, with Delta Upsilon emerging from this early February rushing with a number of fine men pledged. Several off-season rush smokers are scheduled to be held in the not too distant future. One of the high lights during the recent rushing was the wonderful buffet supper served at the Shelter by our Mothers' Guild.

Among one of the more recent of the trophies resting on our mantel is the Cheerleaders' Cup, which Delta Upsilon won over the other eight national fraternities for its outstanding spirit displayed at pep fests, the best float among the fraternities prior to Delaware's game against the University of Connecticut, and superior house decorations each week end before a home game. To President Tom Mulrooney must go much of the credit for Delta Upsilon's capturing the trophy, for it was he who sparked a sort of all-out drive to win the coveted award.

Between terms, several brothers improved the interior of the Shelter by painting a couple of study rooms and remodeling the women's lounge. Soon after the beginning of this second semester, Jack Phillips was elected treasurer for '53. Election of the rest of the chapter's officers is to be accomplished in a week or so. Among other miscellaneous items of interest, Delta Upsilon was honored by a two-day visit from Gordon Jones, Editor of the RAINBOW, in early January. Socially, we have had several good house parties, plus an alumni reunion, in addition to the annual Junior Prom.

Fire Truck Figures in Activities

Our little red fire truck has been at the center of many of our activities this fall. To help the F.S.U. Campus Chest drive, we sold rides about the campus on our "firebug" at ten cents each and earned $25.00 for this cause. We aided the county tuberculosis drive by transporting and displaying seals and signs on our truck. Then when we had our Christmas party for 18 underprivileged children, Santa Claus with his bag of toys drove up in—you guessed it—the fire truck.

Our float for the homecoming parade was planned by George Arrants, and our skit for the homecoming skit contest was directed by John Pate. Both the float and the skit won first place among all fraternities on campus and second place in the whole University. It might be added that the fire truck was prominently involved in the skit.

We are proud of Letterman Preston Bradley, who was with the varsity football team again this year, and Jim Fadigan, who is a trampoline expert in F.S.U.'s Gymkana.

Bill McDonald and John Pate are president and treasurer, respectively, of the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity. Ken Chadwick, Woody Parker, and Bobby Raulerson are members of the Collegians, a men's singing group.

Preston Bradley, Herb Hendry, Bill McDonald, John Pate, Steve Risley, and Fred Smiseth will be graduated this semester. We shall miss them, but we wish them the best of luck!

Delta Psi Chapter's intramural football squad, untied and unscored upon, defended its Santa Barbara championship successfully for the fourth straight year.

Our football team was runner-up in its division in the intramural football series.

Delta Omega—Kent

School Publication Staff
Packed With Dels

Fall quarter of 1952 was, for Delta Omega Chapter, a continuation of the great success that was achieved by the chapter in the previous school year.

The quarter started off with a bang for the brothers when homecoming rolled around. After the smoke had cleared the Dels were possessors of the homecoming decorations trophy for the second straight year. The winning motif was a huge man, over 20-feet tall, roasting a gigantic Bobcat, representing Ohio U., over a monstrous barbecue pit. The effect was made complete by the use of smoke and flashing lights. The motto was, "Bobcat Barbecue."

The University Intramural Wrestling trophy was then taken by a number of the huskier brothers by the margin of one point over the next closest competitor. There was a spread of only two points between the top three places in what turned out to be the most interesting and bitterly fought wrestling matches ever contested at Kent.

Many of the brothers proved their leadership ability when they took over top positions in every field. The staff of the Kent Stater, the school daily publication, was packed with Dels. On the advertising staff were Bud Mays, business manager; Jim Young, assistant business manager; Cal Ratcliff, advertising manager; and Tom Duke, Jerry Dougher, and Bud Murray, edition managers. Tom Duke was also on the editorial staff as copy editor.

Ron Rice was elected president of the student forensics club, and Jim Orr, of the school's Flying Club. Cal Ratcliff served as vice-president of Men's Union. Jerry Lowe was appointed chairman of one of the two campus political parties.

Bill Turner, rush chairman for the year, did a tremendous job for the Fraternity when he helped the chapter get 35 fine new pledges.

Ron Rice, Jim Branigan, Bill Sitler, and Bud Mays were named to appear in the national publication Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Various brothers are members of Blue Key, men's national service honorary.

Delta Omega is looking forward to bigger and better things for the remainder of the year and won't be satisfied until they materialize.

CARL J. TITGEMEIER, JR.

OFFICIAL JEWELERS

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity is served by three official jewelers. They are: L. G. Balfour Company, Attleboro, Massachusetts; Burr, Patterson & Auld Company, Detroit, Michigan; and Edwards, Haldeman and Company, Detroit, Michigan.

Only these three firms are authorized by the Fraternity to reproduce the Delta Tau Delta insignia in articles of jewelry.

Epsilon Alpha—Auburn

Pledges Play Actives in Football

Epsilon Alpha and Delta Eta had a dance and party at the Thomas Jefferson Hotel in Birmingham, Alabama, following the Auburn-Alabama football game on November 29, 1952. Even though Alabama won the game, we from Epsilon Alpha enjoyed the party.

The next item on the social calendar was our first annual formal. This special affair was held December 6, 1952, in the Student Activities Building. Everyone had a most enjoyable time.

The pledges played the actives in a football game on December 13, 1952. The score was 13-2 in favor of the pledges. As a result of the pledges' winning, the actives had to treat them to a party.

We have had a very good rush season this quarter and have pledged a number of good men. At present we are practicing for the Sphinx Sing, an annual affair here on the Alabama Polytechnic Institute campus.

Glad you are putting me down for the next Karnea in California in 1954. So far as I know now, I'll be there with "bells on," provided they are then able to ring.

Harry R. Hewitt, Wisconsin, '02

CONCEPCION, CHILE, SOUTH AMERICA

Needless to say, receiving my copy of THE RAINBOW is always a joyous day for me. Living so far away from the states, it is the only contact I have with the Fraternity, and it does serve to keep me posted on what the other brothers are doing.

I naturally will make it a point to look in on the meetings of the Los Angeles

Alumni Chapter while I am home. . . .
Gordon C. Young, U.C.L.A., '48

KOREA

Judging from the information in THE RAINBOW, there are quite a number of us over here now. Most of the time, we manage to keep very busy, but there are times when time really hangs heavy on your hands. On such occasions, one's mind naturally wanders back to more pleasant associations of the past, and that includes the good old days of college and Delt life.

Right here I'd like to lodge a good-natured protest. If our chapters knew how hungry we are for news from home, if they knew how much it means to any Delt over here to receive some communication or news from his chapter, that alumni relations chairman back in the chapter would be working his mimeograph machine overtime to keep us in touch. If you have the opportunity, you might pass that word along to the boys in the chapter.

It will be a great day when we wind up this nasty business over here and can get back to the chapter once in a while for a fraternal reunion. Until then, the best of luck to Delta Tau Delta.

Akron

Our meeting in November was well attended. Professor E. Turner Stump, Miami, '17, head of the department of speech at Kent State University, gave an interesting and instructive talk on "The Magic of Speech."

Jim Branigan, president of Delta Omega Chapter at Kent State, gave a resume of the chapter's activities, very satisfactory indeed.

We were happy to see Deltas from our Far West chapters at the meeting, Bill Hoover of U.C.L.A. being one. A number of our members have moved away from Akron. Paul Pfanstiehl, Tufts, migrated to Buffalo on a new assignment. Charles Hermann, Ohio Wesleyan, is now with Radio Station WTAM in Cleveland, and Hobart Allen, Penn State, has gone to Beaver County, Pennsylvania.

We are all sad on hearing of the death recently of our loyal and faithful brother of long standing, Thad W. Rice, Eta Chapter (old Buchtel), '97. Eta Chapter in days of old sent forth some of our most distinguished and loyal Deltas.

Boise Valley

The final social function and the most successful of the year was the annual dinner-dance. The general chairman and spark plug of the committee was "Wiff" Janssen. The assistant chairman was Jim Matthews.

The brothers were summoned by the serving of a startlingly realistic subpoena from a fictitious fraternity court. Entertainment consisted of orchestra and magic act. "Chick" Donaldson was master of ceremonies.

Other alumni present were Frank Bevington, Frank Chapman, Larry Thielke, Al Severn, Jack Morgan, Pete Jansen, John Van Deusen, Clare Hunt, Jack Haymond, Jerry Evans, Gene Hutteball, Morey Byrne, Russ Vichweg, Frank Seaman, Lem Bielenberg, Pat Day, Bob Nelson, Lyle Briggs, Bob Zimmerman, Dave Maule, and Alan Huggins.

President Al Kiser introduced officers. Idaho Vandaleer and Delta Mu Sergeant at Arms Bill Webb led the songs. Among the actives present were Pat Duffy, Delta Mu vice-president, Max Nunencamp, Ray Skillings, Tom MacGregor, Jerry Zimmerman, Darrel Maule, Mark McCarroll, Bernard York, Dick Prater, Bob Burns, Jack Blalock, Ken Goodwin, and Tom Hennessey.

Another father-son combination was recorded for the Boise Valley alumni when Joe Hesseph, Jr., pledged at Delta Mu last fall.

Frank Bevington reported that he hears from Morey Malin, St. Louis advertising executive. Dick Hutchison reported from Colfax that he had word that "Heine" Schuster is associated with the same firm as Don Southworth in Los Angeles. "Hutch" also reported that Hobart Styffe passed through Colfax on his honeymoon last summer.

Cincinnati

The Cincinnati Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta gathered 60 strong at the Cincinnati Club for its annual Christmas Party on Tuesday, December 23. The brothers came early in the morning and stayed to hear the program and election of officers for the coming year, and made an afternoon of it being sharpies at the card table or on the bowling alleys. Brother Bob Heuck and his 20-man membership committee selected Brother Alfred Porter, Gamma Upsilon, 1926, for president; Edward H. Dinkelaker, Gamma Xi, 1942, as vice-president; and James H. Garrison, Gamma Xi, 1919, as treasurer. Jim is also the hard-working treasurer of the Gamma Xi Chapter house corporation. The secretary is to be selected later. They were elected unanimously.

Brother Dick Farrell, Gamma Xi, 1928, skillfully emceed his way through several of his choice folk tales before passing out the thanks of the chapter for meritorious service to the retiring officers, headed by President Carl Schindler, and the retiring member of the house corporation, Cliff Mueller. Praise was due, too, to Brother George Larkin and his house corporation for their work in renovating the house of Chapter Gamma Xi and for putting future financing on a permanent basis. Carl Schindler was selected as the new member of the house corporation.

The speaker at this Christmas party is and has been prominent in his work in Delta Tau Delta activities, especially in the East. We are fortunate that Ward L. Quaal has become general manager of the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation and has thus moved into the Cincinnati area. Brother Quaal, from Delta Chapter of the University of Michigan, spoke on "Politics and Policies in Color Television."

President Porter has asked our co-operation and backing during his tenure of office and has promised at least one activity per season. Watch for your notice.

Clarksburg

The Clarksburg Alumni Chapter had its regular meeting January 8, at which time moving pictures of the 1953 Karnea were shown. We wish to extend to all the Deltas who may be passing through our state, on the second Thursday of each month, an invitation to eat with us at the Waldo Hotel at 12:00 p. m.

Columbus

The current writing finds the Columbus Alumni Chapter busy with plans for a gala Founders Day banquet on April 11, 1953. As in the past several years, the affair will be conducted jointly with Beta Phi Chapter.

The banquet at the Beechwood Restaurant will be served at 6:30 p. m., followed by a dance. Since many wives and girl friends will have no special interest in the banquet and program, arrangements have been made for a separate dinner for the weaker sex at Balcony Hall nearby. This is a new approach to the old argument as to whether the Founders Day celebration should be mixed or stag.

A feature of the program will be the intrafraternity sing competition for the Columbus Alumni Chapter Cup. This contest is now in its fourth year.

Any brothers and their wives who may be visiting in the Columbus area are cordially invited to attend the celebration and should contact Walter F. Heer, Jr., Chairman, at 364 S. Fourth St., Columbus, Ohio. (Fletcher 4541.)

Another innovation in our program has met with great acclaim. Under the guidance of Chairman Jim Haywood, a committee has met the need for evening alumni meetings for those unable to attend the Friday noon luncheons. These meetings have been well attended. They have featured, in addition to refreshments, pictures from the recent Karnea and movies of outstanding football games. Since they are held at the Beta Phi Shelter, it has provided a wonderful opportunity for alumni and undergraduates to become better acquainted.

The Friday luncheons continue to be well attended. These are held between 12:00 and 1:30 every Friday at the University Club. During a recent month, 14 different chapters were represented among the brothers present. The welcome mat is out and any visiting Delt will find a warm welcome waiting.

Dallas

The Dallas Alumni Chapter ended its activities for the year with a party for the brothers and their wives and dates at the Dallas Country Club on December 7, 1952. Over forty couples attended and all enjoyed the opportunity to know more about the Dallas Delt families.

Meetings during the year 1952 were subject to the call of the alumni president, but during the last regular luncheon meeting at the Dallas Athletic Club on November 10, 1952, it was decided to meet for luncheon on the first Monday of each month and to hold at least three meetings during the year in the evening with Delt ladies as our guests.

During the year we enjoyed the hospitality of Brothers Zach Brinkerhoff and Alphonso Ragland, who had a dinner and a meeting in their homes. These meetings were well attended, and the fellowship and the informal business sessions were sources of splendid entertainment and renewed interest in the Fraternity.

A directory was published during 1952 listing 140 Delts living in the Dallas area. This directory is currently being revised, and all Delts who have not been contacted by the Dallas Alumni Chapter are cordially invited to affiliate by contacting Lloyd W. Birdwell, Secretary, 3900 Greenbrier, Dallas, Texas.

Our new officers for the year 1953 are Byron Cain, GI, president; William G. Webb, GI, vice-president; and Lloyd W. Birdwell, GI, secretary.

On January 10, 1953, Brothers Zach Brinkerhoff and Gilbert Moore of the alumni chapter with a committee from Gamma Iota flew to Lubbock, Texas, where they met with members of the Texas Tech committee which is considering the possibility of national fraternities at Texas Tech. The Dallas Alumni Chapter has gone on record as favoring a Delt chapter at Texas Tech, and we are certain this group made a good impression with the Texas Tech authorities.

Findlay

The Findlay alumni have organized during the past few months a scholarship award plan for nearby Delta Tau Chapter at Bowling Green State University.

A scholarship plaque has been purchased whereon winners names will be engraved, and individual keys are to be awarded each year to Delta Tau Chapter men with outstanding scholarship records.

A committee of Findlay alumni and undergraduates from the chapter, along with Chapter Adviser Dr. John Gee, are working out the standards that will be used in making the awards.

Fort Lauderdale

Just a word to let Delts know that the Seminole Chapter of Delta Tau Delta is still alive and kicking down here in sunny Florida. During the past several months we have been having a regular monthly luncheon meeting on the first Wednesday of each month, except the month of December, which meeting was cancelled because of the holiday rush.

In addition to our regular monthly luncheons, a party was held in August before the opening of the school term, at which a number of the local prospective rushees were entertained. The party was held at the Lauderdale Yacht Club and a fine time was had by all. We are unable to report as to how successful our efforts were, inasmuch as we have had no word either from the U. of F. or FSU.

PHIL H. FAIRCHILD

Houston

James W. Hunter, Colorado Delt, our new president, has the Houston Alumni Chapter going in high. Other officers named at the fall election are: Robert M. Ives (Columbia), vice-president, and John Fry (Texas), secretary-treasurer. Otto Wymer (Colorado), the retiring president, is keeping up his interest and will be of much assistance to the new regime.

Three monthly meetings have been held since Jim Hunter took over. Bud Siver-son (Cornell), food manager of the big Lamar Hotel and its affiliates, at the November meeting gave an account of his vocation and illustrated it with sirloin steaks, etc.

Capt. Si Ragsdale, Jr., (Texas) just separated from the Army for the second time in the past six years, described the Army's "human pipe line," the replacement system whereby men are processed and sent to spots where needed. Si had been at Camp Stoneman, Calif., where he handled thousands of Korea-bound servicemen.

There was a real treat at the January meeting when Dr. Robert F. Ives (Cornell, '92), father of our own veep, spoke. Dr. Ives, a Delt for 62 years, has practiced medicine in New York City for 54 years. His talk was a philosophical one and was greatly appreciated.

E. C. Thompson (Colorado) has been named chairman of the entertainment committee and Si Ragsdale liaison officer with Gamma Iota at Austin. Si is trying to arrange a get-together that will attract a dozen or more Houston alumni to the University of Texas active chapter.

William W. Butler (Colorado) recently received a life membership in the Society of Economic Geophysicists for designing the society's official crest.

E. R. Filley (Baker and Kansas) has been named vice-president of The Texas Company in charge of domestic operations and is moving to New York. J. N. Troxell (Texas) has been named general manager of Texaco's producing department, succeeding Filley.

Dave Evans (Texas) has resigned from Gulf Oil Company and will enter Austin Theological (Presbyterian) Seminary to study for the ministry.

SILAS B. RAGSDALE, SR.

Indianapolis

Eighty alumni with the Delta sweethearts gathered together at the Indianapolis Athletic Club on December 23 for their first annual Christmas Party. A fine turkey dinner was enjoyed and the usual exchange of gifts was made.

Indianapolis alumni are looking forward to the annual Founders Day Banquet and Dance to be held Saturday, February 21, at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. This is always a wonderful occasion, with all undergraduate chapters in the state joining the alumni to celebrate the event.

All brothers are cordially invited to the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter's weekly luncheon which is held at the Warren Hotel each Tuesday at 12:15 p. m.

Kansas City

The month of November saw the 2nd Annual Delta Tau Delta Alumni Fall Party make its appearance. Approximately 35 members of the KU chapter were in attendance with their dates to augment the 50 alums and wives.

Two of our members recently had honors bestowed upon them. Lloyd Roark was elected president of the Greater KC Chapter of the American Institute of Architects; and Charles Miller was appointed an honorary colonel on the Governor's Staff of Missouri. Congratulations from all of us!

A new administration has taken over the reins of the KC Alumni Chapter. The new officers are as follows: Bill French, president; Buck Neel, vice-president; Bob Bonebrake, corresponding secretary; Harold Goss, treasurer. The new officers wish to extend a big vote of thanks to the retiring officers, Ken Johnson and Hugh Hartley. They did a fine job.

G. BUCK NEEL

Lexington

Although no great outpourings of the populace have resulted, the bell has been ringing with regularity during the winter for monthly gatherings of Delt alumni in the Blue Grass capital. Dan Fowler is serving now as president and Penny Ecton is his usual energetic and efficient self in sending out notices in his role as secretary.

Whenever either officer suggests that it must be time to hold an election, the regulars in attendance always indicate by loud voice vote that a quorum certainly can't be on hand, so all hands apparently are well satisfied with the leadership.

One welcome addition to the local Delt colony last year was Dr. Arnold Combs, who, returning to fill a vacancy on the staff of the Lexington Clinic, brought his wife and their three youngsters to town after the family had resided a half-dozen years in distant North Dakota.

Dr. Barney Stall, freshly finished with a hitch in the Army, showed up for a recent meeting while visiting at home and reported that his next location would be Brookhaven National Laboratories at Upton, Long Island.

Lt. Bill Overhultz completed a tour of duty with the Air Force in Korea in time to arrive back in Lexington for Christmas. Capt. Bob Winfree, who has had little time in Lexington since he entered the Army in 1943, has been serving with a field artillery unit in the Ninth Corps in Korea.

Angus McDonald recently was elected president of the Lexington YMCA's board of directors for this year. Bill Greathouse, a former president, was chairman of the nominating committee.

Hoot Combs, who carries on in somewhere close to a dozen occupations, might be showing up at a meeting at just any time now. He'll be wanting to solicit trade since he recently opened a one-hour cleaning business in the Main-Esplanade area, just across the street from the hardware establishment being operated by Ike Moore.

LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE

Blue Grass Delts have been proud of Delta Epsilon and its record in fall pledging by leading the campus. Chuck Boh-mer, Ike Moore, Coleman Smith, and the house corporation committee have guided renovation of the Shelter to maintain it as the most attractive house on the campus, both inside and out. All alumni look forward to meals at the Shelter, though the table that Housemother Mimi Fish sets is a definite threat to that middle-age spread.

"Windy" Meyer represented the alumni at the Karnea this year and brought back an interesting report. Roy Kavanaugh came back for Homecoming and proudly joined his handsome Delt pledge son in the Shelter while trying to discount some of the insidious rumors about his own pledge career. He is still remembered for that mighty record-shattering shot put arm. Pat Patterson is back in the Blue Grass as a rubber tire tycoon.

Shorty Shropshire, sports editor of the Lexington Leader, is still poking into what happened to U. of K. athletics. Yours truly, the secretary, has just moved back to the Blue Grass from Baton Rouge, Louisiana, after longing for 23 years to see some of Kentucky's world championship basketball. What happened? Kentucky doesn't even have a team and L.S.U. in Baton Rouge looks like Southeastern Champions.

Long Beach

Proud we were of our Karnea representation: Paul Winans Hiller, delegate; Nicolai Henry Hiller, alternate; and Robert B. Taplin. The efforts of Messrs. Hiller and Taplin indeed contributed an important part in bringing our next Karnea to the Los Angeles area!

A dinner meeting at the University Club of Long Beach on December 10 brought forth the election and installation of the following new officers: Robert B. Taplin, president; Quayle (Bob) Parmenter, vice-president; and Samuel A. Erskine, secretary-treasurer.

The Long Beach Alumni Chapter meets for dinner and an evening of fellowship during the third week of each month. Members of the Fraternity who may be in Long Beach are invited to join us. The exact date may be learned by telephoning the president at 82761.

VICTOR A. MINGERS

Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Alumni Chapter had its Annual Christmas Party and installation of officers on Thursday, December 18. Over 60 of the brothers were on hand to see Bob Meyer, ΔΠ, '45, hand over the gavel to Arch Tuthill, ΔΙ, '28. The new officers for 1953 are: Arch R. Tuthill, ΔΙ, '28, president; John R. Cain, ΔΙ, '42, secretary; Roy Crocker, ΒΩ, ΒΟ, '14, treasurer; Stuart McKenzie, ΔΙ, '42, assistant secretary; Doug McDonald, ΔΠ, '50, first vice-president; Robert F. Tyler, ΒΚ, '40, second vice-president; Don Thomas, ΔΠ, '50, third vice-president; and Charles G. Bakaly, Jr., ΒΡ, '48, fourth vice-president.

Bob Meyer has just closed a successful year as president. One of the many outstanding achievements during Bob's term of office is the job done by Doug McDonald at the 1952 Karnea when he sold the brothers on having the 1954 Karnea in the Southern California area.

Arch Tuthill, Los Angeles lawyer and member of the law firm of Flint and MacKay, has already started the wheels rolling for a big year for 1953. Plans are now in the making for lunches to be held on the third Thursday of each month at the University Club, the traditional Founders Day Banquet to be held on March 6, and the Annual Football Dinner to be held in the fall.

Arch also has in mind the organizing of a Career Guidance Committee to aid the undergraduates and newcomers to the Los Angeles area.

We in Los Angeles look forward to a great year in 1953, and the opportunity of playing host to all Deltas at the Karnea in 1954.

JOHN R. CAIN

Milwaukee

The Milwaukee Alumni Chapter has come into a type of activity that promises to hold interest in the chapter's activities at a high level. This activity is making all of our functions husband-and-wife or Delt-and-date affairs. A picnic and steak fry late last summer, a party and dance in the fall, and a dinner party at Christmas time were all well attended due in no small part to the enthusiasm of the ladies.

We mark with sadness the recent death of Edward A. Uehling, a member of the class of 1877 at Stevens Institute of Technology. Mr. Uehling was 103 when he died and up to the date of his death was in good health and used his still keen mind in following the events of the times.

P. K. DRESSLER

Minneapolis

The Minneapolis Alumni Chapter, we are pleased to announce, has been going through a period of reactivation and plans are being made for a rather complete year of alumni activities. We wish to thank all the alumni who lent a helping hand in getting the ball rolling once again.

At a meeting held November 17 the following officers were elected: Fred Samels, president; Clarence Portman, vice-president; Fred Souba, treasurer; Tom Allen, secretary.

The program committee, under the leadership of Al Chambers, has been doing a terrific job in planning meetings of interest. A movie entitled "Gopher Football High Lights of 1952" was shown at the December meeting. Two authorities spoke on "Oil and Its Impact on the Northwest" at the January meeting.

Plans are also well under way for the annual Founders Day Banquet to be held February 23 at the Curtis Hotel in Minneapolis. Since this will be Beta Eta's 70th Anniversary, we feel that this will truly be a gala event and hopes are that we will have a record-breaking turnout.

Discussions and plans for future activities of the Minneapolis Alumni Chapter center around various social events and the re-establishment of noon luncheons, a scholarship award for the undergraduate chapter, helping the undergraduate chapter in obtaining names of prospective rushees, and the publication of an alumni directory.

National Capital

The annual Christmas dinner-dance was held at the Washington Golf and Country Club with actives from both the George Washington and Maryland University chapters in attendance. The dance was in the nature of a farewell to Brother and Mrs. Joseph B. Matre, Cincinnati, '12. Brother Matre recently retired from the State Department and is going to take up residence in Florida.

Others in attendance at the dance were Brothers Frank Delp, Penn State, '45; Dell Floyd, Washington, '09; Homer Heller, Lehigh, '28; E. Riggs Monfort, Kenyon, '30; William T. Sheris, Pittsburgh, '41; Oscar W. Teckemeyer, Wisconsin, '25; Robert VanSickler, Cincinnati, '29; and Royce F. Ward, Rensselaer, '31, with their respective wives. George Washington University was represented by the Lowell Morans, '42; Robert E. Newbys, '24; Rhessa Norrises, '14; Dr. and Mrs. John A. Swartwout, '32.

Luncheons are being held every Wednesday at Bonat's Cafe with attendance averaging better than ten weekly. Brother Claude W. Owen, G.W., '08, recently gave a talk on his trip to Ireland, where he participated in several fox hunts. The Kodachrome movies filmed by Brother Owen were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Renewed interest on the part of all Delt alumni residing in the Washington area is anticipated when the new Delta Shelter is completed for the Delta Sigma Chapter at nearby Maryland University. Plans provide for the housing of from thirty to forty actives with dining room facilities for a larger number. Alumni smokers and other activities at the new Shelter will serve to augment our social program.

The change of political control in Washington has not yet turned up any new Delt faces. Among our loyal alumni who will play important roles in the new administration are Brother Paul G. Hoffman, Chicago, '12, a close advisor to President Eisenhower on foreign affairs; Senator William E. Jenner, Indiana, '30, who takes over the chairmanship of the powerful Rules Committee in the Senate, and Representative Dewey J. Short, Baker, '19, who becomes chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee.

All plans for the future seem to be saturated with a feeling of optimism which we hope will be sufficiently contagious to prompt many alumni who have not been active in recent years to join once again with us in building up an alumni organization, second to none, here in the Nation's Capital, where we have representation from all but six of the 84 active chapters. Send all names of Deltas known to be residing in the District of Columbia and nearby Maryland and Virginia to the Delt house, 1909 H Street, N.W., Washington 6, D. C., or to the undersigned.

Northern Kentucky

Our chapter suffered great loss with the passing of another loyal brother, Fred

Hall, Sr., in August. He was the father of Brothers T. J., Fred, Jr., and Ollie Hall, and Tri-Delt sister, Mrs. Katherine Hall Wheeler, whose hubby, Major Harley Wheeler, is serving with the Army "somewhere in the Far East."

Fred Hall, Jr., has deserted Northern Kentucky for a Middletown, Ohio, residence, where he moved with his wife, "Finky," and their two young huskies.

Results of our rushing efforts last fall have been leaking in slowly. Dud Ross pledged Delt at W. & L., Petie Roberts at Kentucky, and Dick Pierce at Ohio Wesleyan. Any more precincts to be heard from?

DELT DOTS AND DASHES FROM NORTHERN KENTUCKY: Our annual Delt Shindig for our Delta Dames was held January 16. . . . Vint Stegeman has been to Switzerland again. . . . Fritz Erschell is now serving a tour of duty with the Army. . . . Lt. Dick Sullivan's last address was Fairbanks, Alaska. . . . Brother Ed Schott, major domo of the famous Coney Island, Cincinnati, was host to super-duper party during the fall. Thanks again, Brother Ed, from all the Kentucky lads. . . . Tommy Leonard is one of the promising young men with the Blacker Ink Company of Cincinnati. . . . Bill Whiting and Jim McGraw turned out for the last meeting at Brother Bill Stegeman's home after a long absence. . . . While Bill was preparing some refreshments, someone made a motion, which was unanimously passed, that the next rush party be held at Stegeman's home again—for the "umteenth" time. Some of these days Bill is going to learn to stick around all during the meeting. At the June 15 get-together he left for a moment, and when he returned found he had been elected president for the current year.

Pittsburgh

If there are any woman-haters among the Delt alumni in Pittsburgh, they had better plan to hibernate this year.

For the first time in many a season, the Steel City chapter is going co-ed in one of its functions.

June 19 is the date and a semi-formal dance the occasion for this rare departure from form.

It seems that the wives of some of the local alumni have been becoming suspicious. For years their husbands have been spending evenings out at "Delt alumni affairs." Yet because these baseball dinners, golf parties, etc., always were stag, the little woman never got to see many of hubby's alumni brothers.

So to prove to their spouses that the Fraternity alibi has been the truth, these harried males talked the rest of the chapter (they didn't have to twist many arms) into holding a Spring Dance.

South Hills Country Club will be the scene of the dance and details will be sent out at a later date. The affair is not limited to the married brothers, however, so you can bring your best girl if you like.

After the Spring Formal there is some other important—if more traditional—business on the chapter's roster.

The Founders Day Dinner, usually held in March, has been postponed to coincide with the annual Baseball Dinner on May 12.

As of this writing (January) the speaker-to-be has not been signed up, but it will be another illustrious Delt of national repute.

Vice-president Bill Collins is chairman of the Founders Day banquet, to which undergraduate brothers from W. & J., Pitt, and Tech have been invited.

For the benefit of those who missed the Trinity Church Service, Carnegie Tech's Delta Beta Chapter won the sing contest, with Gamma Sigma of Pitt runner-up.

Tuesday luncheons continue at Danny's Restaurant on Grant Street. Undergraduates as well as alumni are urged to attend these luncheons. There is no program, no speeches, and no set time for coming or going. Just drop in anytime between noon and one p.m. You'll find good food at reasonable prices, to accompany an enjoyable bull session with some of your fellow Delts.

BILL RAINES

St. Louis

St. Louis alumni's most newsworthy events during the winter were a highly interesting guest and speaker at one of our meetings and a very successful Christmas dance.

In a program designed to attract more members, we have been featuring guest speakers at our monthly meetings. Among these was Mr. Thomas Younglove, a member of the Communist Party while a member of the F.B.I. He had a great deal to do with the arrest of many of the Communist leaders in this country. We heard some intriguing experiences and good advice.

The annual Delt Christmas dance was held in the ballroom of the Elk's Club. About 100 people were present, with a good representation of Missouri and Westminster Delts.

All of you are still welcome to the Tuesday luncheons at the American Hotel and monthly meetings every third Thursday at Belvedere Joe's.

HAROLD MANESS

St. Petersburg

The St. Pete Delts turned out in great numbers at the luncheon on January 7 to greet Judge Harry R. Hewitt, the newly elected president of the St. Petersburg Alumni Chapter. Among those present were 15, new and regular. Count them!

Here they are: George Bartlett, Wisconsin, '22; Lewis M. Sutton, W. & J., '93; O. C. Kimball, Hillsdale, '04; Howard S. Helt, Pittsburgh, '21; G. E. Flagg, Tufts, '06; Robert "Port" Arthur, Illinois, '08; Charles J. Belden, M.I.T., '09; Ed Papworth, Syracuse, '13; Judge Ed Ellis, Virginia, '25; D. K. Forghan, R.P.I., '41; Robert Mack, Virginia, '29; Dr. Charles K. Donegan, Duke, '41; John Wallace, Iowa '17; Judge Harry R. Hewitt, Wisconsin, '02; and A. B. Walling, Ohio State, '11.

The Chatterbox Restaurant has been chosen as our meeting place for luncheons, the first Wednesday of each month at 12:00 noon.

Visiting Delts are always welcome.

ROBERT S. ARTHUR

Seattle

The alumni meetings are taking a new twist. More meetings will be held in the Delta Shelter rather than downtown, so our grads will have a better opportunity to see more of the old house and our outstanding actives. "Back to the Shelter" is our 1953 theme.

Prexy Gene Corum has come up with a good program for the year, which includes the big five special events of last year plus four surprise meetings to fill out the full schedule. A note to our out-of-state alumni: It will pay to check into the old chapter when visiting in Seattle. We are on the lookout for an illustrious speaker for Founders Day in March, so an invitation is out for some serious taker. Please notify the secretary if you will be in Seattle and can attend this event.

This year will also be recognition year for alumni who have given great service to the chapter during the past years. A long list of members have given generously their talents to the furthering of the fellowship of Delta Tau Delta in the Pacific Northwest. Again it is time to single out these individuals and present them with a timely token of appreciation. The bestowal of these mementos will be made throughout the year's busy program, to honor their personal efforts.

SAM MORRISON

Toledo

The Christmas holiday season kept alumni hereabouts pretty busy but there were a lot of undergraduates home for a rest from classes and busy with social affairs.

The regular Tuesday noon luncheons at Dyers Chop House have been gaining in attendance lately. The conversation runs the whole gamut from football prospects for next year to international affairs. Visitors are always welcomed.

Many Delts were among those who greeted Paul Hoffman, president of the Ford Foundation, when he addressed the Toledo Chamber of Commerce at the annual dinner in the Commodore Perry Hotel on Friday evening, January 18. Paul has been around the world a bit and knows what is going on. He gave us some ideas to work on at these weekly luncheons for some time to come.

Among those who received a certificate from Mayor Roulet and the Toledo Chamber of Commerce for five years' service on city commissions at a special ceremony in the council chamber on Monday, January 12, was G. Wilfrid Hibbert, Mu, '18, secretary of the Toledo alumni group. He has served for many years on the Toledo and Lucas County Port Commission and is at present vice-president of the commission. "Hib" is also on the Toledo Public Library board.

Herbert M. Sharp, our president, will be heading south for Florida very soon.

DR. EDWARD A. UEHLING, Stevens, '77, who was Delta Tau Delta's second oldest living member, the oldest living graduate of Stevens Institute, and the oldest person mentioned in Who's Who in America, died at his home in West Allis, Wisconsin, on December 21. He was 103 years old.

A well-known inventor and engineer, Dr. Uehling patented more than 20 inventions. His patents included the first practical pyrometer, an instrument to record temperatures up to 2,500 degrees; a pig iron casting machine that is still in use in all large iron-making plants; and a recorder which continuously records the percentage of carbon dioxide in flue gas.

Last June 3, on his final birthday anniversary, Dr. Uehling told a visitor that he considered himself the most fortunate of men. It was a constant thrill to him, he said, that the century he had lived in has "seen more material and scientific progress than all of the world's centuries before it put together."

He was endowed with a rare zest for living and a wonderful sense of humor. As he was approaching his 102nd birthday anniversary, he wrote the Fraternity's Central Office, "I do not think that I should be bothered paying annual dues." And he enclosed his check for $50, to become a Life Member of Delta Tau Delta and a "lifetime" subscriber to THE RAINBOW.

A member of Stevens' first graduating class in mechanical engineering in 1877, he was consecutively assistant professor at the Institute, draftsman or engineer for several furnace companies, and chief chemist of Bethlehem Iron Company. In 1895 he founded the Uehling Instrument Company at Paterson, New Jersey, and headed that firm until his retirement in 1919.

Dr. Uehling was succeeded in the presidency by his son, FRITZ F. UEHLING, Stevens, '08, who is also an inventor. The younger Mr. Uehling was elected two years ago to the grade of Fellow by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in recognition of his contributions to the advancement of scientific engineering.

HAROLD C. HOPKINS, Syracuse, '10, a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter and for many years a staunch worker of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, died December 23.

HAROLD C. HOPKINS

Former president of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, former chapter adviser of Zeta Chapter (Western Reserve), Hoppy, as he was affectionately known to Deltas, was always available for Delt service. As chapter adviser during the war years, he guided the chapter through that period and enabled it to remain in operation without interruption. He was instrumental in effecting the reactivation of his own chapter, Gamma Omicron, in 1948. An ardent ritualist, he served with one of the initiating teams when Delta Omega Chapter was chartered at Kent State in 1950. A project which he headed, that of caring for Mother Gibbs, former housemother of Gamma Omicron Chapter, during her late years, will be recorded as one of the finest applications of Fraternity ideals. An enthusiastic Karnea-goer, he attended the 61st Karnea at Mackinac last summer.

Mr. Hopkins had been a broker during the last 30 years of his life. He founded the firm of H. C. Hopkins & Company in Cleveland in 1931.

GEORGE H. TUCKER, Virginia, '29, Associated Press staff writer and war correspondent, died in December, his death the result of wounds suffered at Anzio Beach, from which he never fully recovered.

A versatile writer, Mr. Tucker was well-known for his syndicated "Man About Manhattan" column before World War II. With the United States' entry into the war, he left for the battlefield and served in such countries as Egypt, Turkey, Iran, Iraq, India, and Russia.

The cartoon reproduced below is a tribute from his friend, Milton Caniff, a member of Sigma Chi, who draws the Steve Canyon strip.

BEN AMES WILLIAMS, Dartmouth, '10, well-known novelist, died February 4 at the age of 63.

Author of 40 novels and some 400 short stories, Mr. Williams always insisted that he was not a "natural" writer but that hard work accounted for his success. He wrote for four years before he sold a story. Once he broke in, however, he scored success after success.

He began as a short story writer, later turned to novels, the field in which he enjoyed his greatest acclaim.

"I enjoy writing novels," he said once. "I can take the space I need, can say the things I want to say, can enjoy the work of writing, can be completely—my own man, not hired out to anyone."

Many of Mr. Williams' stories were set in Maine, in his fictional village of Fraternity. "Place means a lot to me—" he explained, "it is the conditions of life that make people."

Among his best known works are The Strange Woman, Leave Her to Heaven, and House Divided, the last named a Civil War novel of great length. The Strange Woman, published in 1941, has been called "a masterpiece of fictional psychological analysis."

Mr. Williams was the son of a Delt, DANIEL W. WILLIAMS, Ohio, '88, newspaper publisher of Jackson, Ohio.

Delts in the Service

wounding of two soldiers up front, he led a small party across an uncharted mine field to bring the men to safety.

Ignoring the possibility that they might set off mines at any moment, Lt. Teed and three other men hurried to the spot where their friends lay. They put a tourniquet on what remained of one man's leg, and started back.

"Lt. Teed was again out in front coming back," one of the party related, "and this time was probing for mines. The litter's journey was slowed as Teed's probing stick would strike a solid object and he would stop to examine it. If it was a mine, he removed the dirt around it and carefully unscrewed the fuse, making it harmless."

Alumni Chapters

Topeka

With the exception of one meeting we have been having good attendance at our monthly luncheon meetings. Plans are being made for an evening party later in the winter.

Cliff Stratton, writer for the Topeka Daily Capital, spoke at our December meeting on the change of administration in Washington and on the new cabinet members. He is now back in Washington reporting for his newspaper.

One of our members, Ferd Voiland, Jr., was re-elected State Printer of Kansas in the November election. Inaugural ceremonies were held at Topeka January 12.

We were all saddened by the death of David L. (Scotty) MacFarlane, which occurred on January 3 at Emporia, Kansas, where he was president of the Kansas State Teachers College. Funeral services were January 5, and a memorial service was held at the college Sunday, January 11. He was a member of our Topeka alumni group, and came whenever possible. He was loved and respected by all who came in contact with him.

Tulsa

The Tulsa alumni braved the rush of the after-Christmas season and were hosts at a party at the Hotel Tulsa on December 30. Alumni, aided by their wives, entertained the mothers and fathers of Tulsa actives as well as all Tulsa actives who were home for Christmas vacation. The 65 persons attending all agreed that the party was a rousing success.

Newly elected officers of the Tulsa Alumni Chapter for the coming year were recently installed. They are: Bob Dow, president; Dr. Robert Wright, first vice-president; Bob Evans, second vice-president; Don Harris, third vice-president; Jim Capps, secretary; and Dick Dodson, treasurer.

The first item on the social calendar for the officers for 1953 will be the Annual Delt Easter Dance.

Chapter Eternal

ARTHUR H. BRAYTON, Wisconsin, '15, secretary-manager of the Des Moines, Iowa, convention bureau for the last 14 years, died December 23 after an illness of several months.

It was said that more Iowans had seen and heard Mr. Brayton than anyone else in the state, not excluding governors, senators, and presidents. His appearance as toastmaster or principal speaker at hundreds of conventions brought him into face-to-face contact with perhaps 200,000 to 300,000 persons annually. He had spoken to business groups in all 48 states.

Known as "the man of a thousand stories," Mr. Brayton was in great demand as a public speaker. He was so highly regarded in his calling that, despite his critical illness which confined him to a hospital bed, he was elevated from vice-president to president of the International Association of Convention Bureaus during its annual meeting in Washington last August.

He was a willing servant of Delta Tau Delta and always active in the work of the Fraternity in the Des Moines area.

VICTOR M. CUTTER, Dartmouth, '03, former president of the United Fruit Company, died early in January.

Mr. Cutter was a director of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company and the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company. He was also a life trustee of Dartmouth College.

DR. DAVID L. MACFARLANE, Northwestern, '16, president of Emporia State College, Emporia, Kansas, died January 3.

Dr. MacFarlane had been president of Emporia since 1945. He had served the college as dean of men from 1936 to 1945. A native of Scotland, he was known widely as a lecturer who called himself "Scotty" and delighted in telling Scottish stories.

An active participant in community and state service, Dr. MacFarlane had served for six years as chairman of the State Board of Welfare. He was a past district governor of Rotary, past president of the Kansas Educators Club, and a member of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America.

He had traveled extensively in Europe and America, lectured on current events and international situations, and formerly broadcast a weekly analysis of the news over an Emporia radio station.
