PROGRAM OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

By MARTIN B. DICKINSON, Kansas, '26

President of Delta Tau Delta

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the present undergraduates entered college, their thoughts and interests will not be colored by the existence of a "shooting war," to service in which they may be called. True, if they have not already served, they will expect a term of military service. In my opinion, such service will be necessary for many years to come, and it will be in the best interest of our countries, and only right and proper, that it be rendered. From that viewpoint, we should have an essentially normal year.

FIRST OBJECTIVE

The first objective of each undergraduate must be to make the most of the year, in obtaining education. The premium for good scholarship is constantly increasing, in both civilian and military life. Those who have had recent military service say that the men who had education and skills got the breaks and the desirable assignments, because they were able to fill those assignments. We hear much of the demand for new graduates in certain civilian fields. The best places go to the best students, and there are no places for those who flunk out. They don't get interviews.

Our undergraduate chapters must develop and maintain better study conditions in our chapter houses, and better conduct generally on the part of their members individually. It was difficult to crack down on men who were about to go to Korea, although most of our chapters did a remarkably good job of disciplining themselves. That excuse is gone, and the playboys and troublemakers will be simply what they are, and can be dealt with accordingly.

SOUND FINANCES ESSENTIAL

Sound management of finances will be no less essential than it always has been. Our chapters are the purest type of co-operative organization. With a margin of less than two per cent of income above expense, even one month of carelessness can ruin the year. Here again, the anticipated relatively stable conditions give our chapters and their house corporations an opportunity to appraise the soundness of the entire financial program, including rental and housing. Budgets should always be revised and made final immediately after the opening of school. If the chapter operation is not on a thoroughly sound financial basis, the necessary corrections should be made promptly, effective for the entire year.

Few house bills have caught up with the increased costs of recent years. We can hope that costs will not increase this year, but it will be foolhardy to assume that there will be any material decrease. Regardless of what any commentator says, experience teaches otherwise. A chapter which is paying for wieners needn't expect to get steaks.

Six of our chapters this fall will occupy completely new housing, or very greatly improved and enlarged accommodations. Incidentally, those improvements probably represent the greatest total improvement in our housing in any one year in our history. Some of those chapters will be conducting full-scale operations for the first time. They will have a supreme challenge. How they meet it will determine the success of these chapters for years to come.

HOUSING MUST BE PAID FOR

All the chapters which will be enjoying this new or improved housing have already found that it is expensive, and must be paid for. Many of our other chapters need better housing. Some are paying for it, and will get it. Others have not yet faced the fact that new housing, economical and not luxurious, is costing close to $3,500 per man, and are not paying on a basis fairly reflecting the value of what they are now getting, let alone what they want. Such payments are essential to improvement of this greatest material problem of the Fraternity. The necessary supplement of alumni contributions cannot fairly be expected unless the chapters are carrying their fair share. Each house corporation board should meet with its entire undergraduate chapter at least once each year and have a full and frank report of the housing operation, and discussion of its needs. The results of that discussion should then be put into operation.

PRACTICAL DEMOCRACY

Success in all these varied departments will be objective evidence that we have succeeded in learning the unique lesson afforded by training in undergraduate chapters of such fraternities as ours—that of practical democracy in group living and organization. Success will depend on the co-

A Mortgage Goes Up in Smoke

By ANTHONY F. McCUE, West Virginia, '07

ON APRIL 18-19, 1953, Gamma Delta Chapter invited all of its alumni to a two-day homecoming at its home in Morgantown, West Virginia. The idea of the chapter in arranging this meeting was solely to have a heart-warming visit with the alumni of the chapter and to demonstrate that the aims and ambitions of the alumni of years past are yet in safe hands. What a homecoming it was!

The board of directors and the in-

ANTHONY McCUE died in his office June 17, 1953. Mac had been an active-duty man all his life—as a student who earned his way to a law degree and played football when they didn't pay; in his chosen profession as a distinguished member of the Bar; in behalf of his state, community, church, and colleges which sought his revitalizing leadership in times of stress; and, last and probably most important to Mac, in behalf of his friends, who were legion.

Mac was first and last a man of action. $\Delta\Gamma\Delta$ turned to him in a time of great crisis at Gamma Delta when inaction and delay would have resulted in the loss of the chapter and the end of $\Delta\Gamma\Delta$ in the State of West Virginia, the birthplace of the Fraternity. He prevented both with precision and permanence.

His ability to stimulate the lazy and unsure and to lead the strong to the ultimate of their capabilities was the hallmark of his success. He found money as needed, but his greatest contribution to his brother Delts was his everlasting belief that what has to be done, if it is worthy, can be done. In this belief he led the procession.

When the mortgage was burned last April in the presence of more than 400 Delts, Mac—the "Old Buck" to his son, a Dartmouth Delt—announced plans to repair and refurnish the Shelter so that Delts will continue to have the best in living quarters at West Virginia. To this veteran of 70 years, one successful conquest meant the beginning of another.

Members of Gamma Delta will look often at the portrait of Anthony McCue which hangs in the living room of the Shelter. Each will serve the Fraternity well and become a better man if he seeks, finds, and practices the philosophy of this Delt whose accomplishments meant to him only a challenge to do more for $\Delta\Gamma\Delta$ and his fellowmen.—HUGH SHIELDS.

corporators of Delta Tau Delta Foundation, Inc., which is the house corporation, took advantage of this occasion to hold a business meeting, which was also attended by the current officers of the chapter. From this meeting it was announced to the alumni, and to the wide world as well, that the house corporation's debt of more than $66,000 as of October 2, 1937, repairs upon and replacements in the Shelter, interest, etc., since that time, amounting in all to more than $100,000, had been paid in full.

This accomplishment places Gamma Delta in a strong financial position—second to no other fraternity on the campus at West Virginia University.

Following this good news, the chapter served a delicious buffet supper in the dining room in the home, which was filled to overflowing, notwithstanding the deluge of rain which poured down during the festivities. Then the cigars and cigarettes were passed and the real, honest-to-goodness visiting and reminiscing began and lasted far into the evening.

On Sunday morning an initiation of a class of 21 intelligent and handsome lads followed. In this service (and this occasion was properly entitled to that name), the chapter was superb. Each member of the initiation team performed his part without the aid of prompting or assistance, and in most impressive fashion. Everything moved as smoothly as if the initiation had been rehearsed many times under the guidance of a master. The crowd was so large that it was necessary to shut off the large reception room and hold the initiation there. This service was one of the real joys of the reunion.

From here 147 Delts repaired to the ballroom of the Hotel Morgan nearby, where a delicious and beautiful banquet was served. S. E. W. Burnside, of the Class of '05, affectionately known far and wide as "Pop," presided in his inimitable fashion.

There was a background to this occasion which permeated it from start to finish. Every Delt was rejoicing at heart because of the feeling of freedom of the chapter from financial burdens. The largest attendance at any fraternity meeting ever held in Morgantown, with no other attraction than a homecoming, in most inclement weather, demonstrated such mass loyalty that all were thrilled!

Delts from 11 states, in ages from 19 to 80 years, classmates from 1900 to 1953, officers and men from the armed forces of the United States with brotherhood the only acknowledged rank, friends old and young, sat elbow to elbow for three hours without a thought of time. To add to the background of this occasion, Walter Holland—one of the three surviving charter members of Gamma Delta—was present. Frank P. Corbin, that grand Delt, an active member of the board of directors, always faithful, always loyal, always an optimist with a smile, who enjoys the distinction of being the first initiate of Gamma Delta Chapter, in 1900—of course was present.

In the school years of 1904-05 and 1905-06 there were 28 men who lived in the Shelter. Of the 18 surviving, 12, from six states, met again after 47 years. What a happy reunion! Those who attended this reunion and banquet were: Eugene H. Barnhart, St. Petersburg, Florida; S. E. W. Burn-

The father-son tradition heightened the pleasures of Gamma Delta's greatest reunion in years.

NINE OF THE TWELVE original incorporators who stepped in to put the chapter on sound financial ground in 1937 were on hand to see the culmination of their labors. Here they are: FRANK P. BARNHART, '05 (though a loyal supporter of the chapter, not an incorporator); and ERNEST R. BELL, '31. Watching the mortgage burn was the fulfillment of an ambitious program.

The banquet had no so-called "principal speaker." Hugh Shields, Executive Vice-President of the National Fraternity, and Forrest H. Witmeyer, President of its Eastern Division, responded to the call of the toastmaster with appropriate and much appreciated remarks. At this point the toastmaster relied upon alumni from different eras in the life of Gamma Delta for "homemade" speakers and each responded in a theme appropriate to his era. These talks were interesting and each was in harmony with the spirit of this grand occasion.

At this point 50 happy hosts and 100 honored guests came to "The End of a Perfect Day!"

Epilogue

THIS ARTICLE must not be closed without specific reference to the one Gamma Delta member—Anthony F. McCue—who, above all others, had the wisdom to see and truly understand the seriousness of the chapter's financial situation in 1937 and to realize that the time had come for taking aggressive and definite action leading to the reduction and finally the liquidation of the heavy debt which the chapter had incurred.

His great vision and understanding of the business and financial conditions of the year 1937 led him to believe that vigorous and positive action taken then would be attended by circumstances favorable to the chapter. It was through his indomitable conviction, that heroic effort should be made at that time, and his determination that every member of Gamma Delta should have an honorable part in the proposed campaign, that co-operation was obtained by most if not all of the alumni and also by the active chapter.

The various steps and actions taken, the long trips made, the expenses incurred, the many, many days spent by Brother McCue and those who assisted him directly in bringing the chapter's financial affairs to a happy climax, cannot be set out in this article. It is most fitting and proper, however, to say that the task was an arduous and a difficult one. It was burdensome work, so onerous indeed, that most likely not another member of Gamma Delta would have been willing, under the existing circumstances, to have undertaken the performance of it, no matter how great his devotion to Gamma Delta.

Brother McCue did not hesitate or falter because of the magnitude of the undertaking. He fully comprehended all the difficulties and handled them so cleverly, artfully, and sagaciously that he triumphed over every obstacle and brought to Morgantown on April 18, 1953, a detailed statement of every cent collected and expended in connection with the project.

In bringing that undertaking to such a splendid conclusion, Brother McCue has endeared himself to every member of Gamma Delta and to members of the Arch Chapter, who have deemed it entirely appropriate to honor him in a most fitting manner because of the excellence of his accomplishment for his Fraternity.

California—Here We Come!

THE HUNTINGTON, in Pasadena, California, has been announced as the site of the 62nd Karnea, Delta Tau Delta's biennial conclave. Karnea dates are June 16, 17, 18, and 19, 1954.

Selection of the time and place by the Arch Chapter was in accordance with the action of the 61st Karnea, which expressed a preference for the Southern California area and a time in the latter part of June.

The Huntington, which will house Karnea activity, is pictured on this month's cover. Full details of the Coast Karnea will be found in a later issue of THE RAINBOW.

Presidents of Delta Tau Delta—XI

JAMES B. CURTIS, Butler, '80—1907-1919

IN PRESIDENT James B. Curtis were combined two remarkable qualities: vision, to see clearly the comprehensive role of the college fraternity; aggressive leadership, to direct Delta Tau Delta swiftly toward its destiny.

The record from 1907 to 1919, President Curtis' term of office, speaks for itself. During these years, Delta Tau Delta adopted many of its pioneering programs in scholarship, business organization, interfraternity relations, and chapter management which have brought the Fraternity to its present respected position.

James Curtis was the central figure in all of these early advances. A man of dominant will, great power of character, and unique persuasiveness, he mobilized the growing ranks of Delts into a unified national force behind his ideal.

The eleventh President had been swept into office with unprecedented enthusiasm. Meeting at the Auditorium Hotel in Chicago in late August, 1907, the 39th Karnea, with more than 600 Delts assembled, set a new attendance record for fraternity conventions and unanimously chose the tall, erect New Yorker to lead the Fraternity.

At 47, James Curtis became the oldest Delt up to that time to be accorded Delta Tau Delta's highest honor. Although he had no previous Arch Chapter experience, he had established himself as a leader in the Fraternity by his work in both the Indianapolis and New York City Alumni Chapters. He had also secured his position in the business world as a highly successful counsel to large corporations in the nation's greatest metropolis.

President Curtis had been marked for leadership in the Fraternity from the time of his undergraduate days at Butler University. Another Delt President, Dr. Frank Wieland, recalled in this manner the impression that young Curtis made on him at an early Fraternity banquet:

"The speaker who sat near me was a young man of unusual physical beauty. . . . He was of the Spanish type, tall and slender, with olive skin and the blackest eyes and hair I have ever seen. . . . Eventually, he was introduced. . . . He was absolutely self-possessed. . . . His voice was sonorous and reverberating and the appeal he made was instantaneous. . . . He made his speech with a poise that never left him. . . ."

President Curtis' early biographer records that he was "descended from hardy Kentucky stock," but Indiana claimed him as a Hoosier, for he was born in Waldron, Indiana, and grew up in that state. He took both an A.B. and an M.A. degree from Butler and entered the practice of law in Indianapolis in 1882.

In 1888 he was elected to the Indiana House of Representatives, where he served until 1894. During his last two terms he was Speaker of the House. In 1895 he headed the committee which secured the election of the well-known Tom Taggart as mayor of Indianapolis.

When the Spanish-American War broke out, James Curtis commanded Battery A, Field Artillery, of the Indiana Volunteers, and was cited for the efficiency of his command. Following the war, he retired from active duty as a colonel and moved to New York City to open law offices. During much of his later life, he was often referred to as Colonel Curtis.

His early successes in politics, military service, and professional fields had intensified in him a deep-seated desire to excel. It follows naturally that THE RAINBOW, in reporting his election as President in 1907, should announce: "He has expressed his determination to do whatever is within his power to make the Fraternity greater and equal, if not superior, to any other college fraternity."

That determination was manifest from the outset, as President Curtis, impatient for progress, lost no time in cutting out the chapters' work for them.

FIRST GOAL: SCHOLARSHIP

He saw scholarship as the first battlement. Any organization which holds itself up as an adjunct to higher education, he argued, must demonstrate its sincerity by attaining that most basic instrument of education—good scholarship.

To those who protested, "A member's grades are his own concern, and we have no right to intrude upon his privacy," President Curtis replied that the Fraternity is honor bound to insist that each member give the best that is in him and that the Fraternity is not, in fact, discharging its responsibility properly if it does not use all means at its disposal to show each member not only his obligation to the Fraternity but also his duty to himself.

"It is necessary," he pointed out, "to bring home to every member of our fraternity the fact that much depends upon him individually; because, after all, it is the record of each which finally determines the standing of the chapter as a whole, and it goes without saying that it is the record of the various chapters which makes or unmakes the position of the Fraternity as a national organization."

NO EXCUSES

President Curtis lost no opportunity to say over and over again, in a thousand different ways, that one of the fundamental aims of Delta Tau Delta must be respectable scholastic standing. At Karneas, at chapter banquets, at alumni chapter gatherings, in the pages of THE RAINBOW—wherever he had a Delt audience—he was there to remind Delts of their responsibility. In this pursuit, he was relentless: "You will pardon me for saying that I have little use for excuses."

Then he would hit it from another angle: "It is uniformly admitted that our Fraternity cannot make friends more rapidly or accomplish greater good than by elevating the scholarship of the members of its chapters."

DRIVE WON FRIENDS

President Curtis' fight for creditable scholarship was rapidly winning friends for the Fraternity. "It has afforded me the utmost pleasure," he reported in 1911, "to get in touch with the presidents and ruling spirits upon the board of directors and faculties of institutions and to have their unqualified approval of our system."

There were tangible results, too, as there always are for men of purpose. By 1913 President Curtis was able to say to the Karnea:

"While we are not first at every institution, nor even second, we do hold first place in scholarship at more institutions than is held by any other national fraternity in the same, and we hold second place in greater numbers than any other fraternity, so that we may justly and proudly make the claim, today, that Delta Tau Delta leads all the national Greek Letter Fraternities in scholarship."

While President Curtis was waging a frontal assault on fraternity scholarship, he was fighting a delaying action with destructive critics of the fraternity system. Like the good tactician he was, he played for time, building up a record to make his forces unassailable.

CRITICS SILENCED

In his 1913 report to the Karnea, one senses the exultation that only a victorious warrior can know:

"In many states, bills were introduced looking to the abolition of fraternities in state-supported institutions. The charge made against fraternities was the old thread-bare one, that they are snobbish, undemocratic, immoral, and do not give proper attention to scholarship. In meeting these charges, our Fraternity was able to make a fight of which everyone of you may be proud. This was largely due to the position we have taken for years and because we had a record to which we could point with pride."

By 1915 the antifraternity storm had largely subsided. Thanks to the leadership of James B. Curtis and others like him, fraternities continued to prove their worth. By that time, too, the scholastic pattern was set, and though other leaders who followed would take up the crusade, scholarship had become irretrievably a standard of our Fraternity.

Perhaps it has been seen that James Curtis' bulldog insistence on scholarship hinged on an idealistic and more comprehensive conception of Delta Tau Delta than had hitherto been interpreted. That ideal was the motivating force behind whatever he proposed. Even in his first official report, it is detected: "It was the duty of the administrative officers to strengthen the chapters and enlarge their spheres of usefulness for the members."

Again, in his address to the next Karnea, the same phrase crops out. The Fraternity should, he said, "increase its field of usefulness in every way." It was to reverberate in the following years through all his contacts in the Fraternity.

AIM OF FRATERNITY

There was the heart of his ideal—usefulness. He visualized Delta Tau Delta not as a static organization whose only function is to provide congenial company and pleasant surroundings for college men, but as a vital force, constantly moving ahead, reaching into the lives of its members, enriching them, and preparing young men for constructive citizenship. A fraternity, he said, must teach integrity, and a fraternity must itself have integrity. There was the role which destiny had cast for Delta Tau Delta—positive contribution to intellectual and spiritual growth.

President Curtis had presented a challenge which Delts could not deny. Following the 1911 Karnea, one of his contemporaries wrote:

"I think one of the very happy moments of President Curtis' life must have been when he saw the enthusiasm of the delegates for his conception of a greater Delta Tau Delta; and the applause that greeted his reelection was only equalled when, four years ago, likewise in Chicago, he assumed the office of President with our full confidence."

INSPIRED SPEAKER

And there is even a certain poignancy in the picture drawn by Dr. Frank Wieland:

"If freshmen have the minds I hope they have, they will carry long with them the picture of that inspired gentleman who begged and plead with them to preserve the ideals of the Fraternity they were just entering; to make scholarship their ideal, knowing, as he so well knew, that if they did their work well, other things would come. I think it was the pleading in his voice that was its outstanding quality. I heard it said of him, that in his professional work, he took the hearts of the jurors in his hands and squeezed them. . . ."

It should be observed, moreover, that Colonel Curtis built not alone on the forward vistas but also on the past record of Delta Tau Delta, which he held in great esteem. Addressing the 1909 Karnea, he said:

"This Convention marks the 50th anniversary of our beloved organization, and every man in it can look with pride upon the record. . . . The next decade will be a crucial one for the American college and the college fraternity.

"Therefore, let us plan for it now, so that when we celebrate our 60th anniversary, we can show an inner real growth of the Fraternity for the next ten years that will equal what has been accomplished so well during the last half-century."

ESTABLISHED CENTRAL OFFICE

Simultaneous with his intensive drive to elevate scholarship to its proper level, President Curtis was moving the Fraternity forward as a business organization. Under his direction, Delta Tau Delta was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York in 1911.

Two years later, there followed the establishment of the Central Office in New York City, permanent business headquarters of the Fraternity. In 1911 discussion of the possibility of a Central Office had been dismissed as "premature, except possibly as a wild excursion into the realms of the possible for the dim, distant future." But in 1915 President Curtis assured Delts: "It [the Central Office] is today a success."

The manner in which undergraduate chapters were conducting their business affairs came in for increasingly closer attention. In 1911 the Constitution was amended to provide for such practical aids as a uniform accounting system for chapters, bonding of the fiscal officers of the chapter, and penalties for members who did not pay house bills promptly.

Recognizing the importance of proper housing in making the Fraternity meaningful to undergraduates, President Curtis exhorted alumni to get behind their chapters and help them obtain improved accommodations. He promoted the Endowment Fund (later the Loyalty Fund), from which loans were made to help chapters acquire new or better Shelters. In his first four years as President, the principal of the Endowment Fund was trebled.

By popular vote, the Fraternity's expansion policy had become conservative. President Curtis accepted

Fall and another gridiron season revive the age-old query: Who was the greatest football player of all time? Many say it was this Delt. Those who saw him play called him

THE GREAT GOETTGE

Colonel FRANK B. GOETTGE, Ohio, '20, of the United States Marine Corps. He was killed in action on Guadalcanal in 1942 after a distinguished military career. He received the Legion of Merit posthumously for conduct in that campaign.

FRANK GOETTGE as he appeared at the height of his football fame. "He can do everything," said WALTER CAMP, "and he does it with an enthusiasm which is refreshing."

THE GREATEST football player of history? Ask the average fan that question, and names such as Thorpe, Nevers, and Grange inevitably pop out.

In the opinion of many competent critics, however, the greatest player of all time was a Delt who never played a game of college or professional football: Frank B. Goettge, Ohio, '20, of the United States Marines.

From 1921 to 1925, during the sports boom which followed World War I, he was the most respected figure in the pigskin arena, and his exploits on the field of play are still recounted by old-timers who followed the game in those days.

ENLISTED IN WORLD WAR I

Goettge, a Marine colonel who died in action on Guadalcanal, left Ohio University to enlist in the first World War. As a lieutenant with the Fifth Marines, he participated in the Meuse-Argonne offensive and later, in the fall of 1918, played with Captain Eddie Mahan's famous Second Division team. Returning to the states, he was the star of the Quantico Marines during the early twenties and on the strength of his spectacular performances became known as "The Great Goettge."

In 1922 he was praised by Walter Camp, dean of American football, as "easily the greatest football player of the present day. He is, indeed, the nearest approach to Jim Thorpe of all time."

Goettge led the Leathernecks to an undefeated season in 1921, climaxed by a victory over the Third Corps Army eleven paced by Gene Vidal, West Point's All-American back.

"THE GREATEST BACK"

History records that Vidal never performed better than in that game, but Goettge easily outclassed him. The Marine's work inspired E. C. Ewan, one of the immortals of Annapolis football, to describe him as "the greatest back the game has ever seen; nobody like him."

In the years from 1921 to 1924 Goettge and his teammates played 42 games, of which they won 38, lost two, and tied two. Throughout these campaigns, Goettge's running, kicking, passing, and defensive play were dominant factors. He was a member of the team in 1925 which won the President's Cup and in 1926 he coached the All-Marine squad which again won the cup.

PRaised BY WALTER CAMP

One of the old football guides gives Walter Camp's estimate of Frank Goettge: "If ever a football hero should be crowned, he is the man. He can do everything, and he does it with an enthusiasm which is refreshing. A high type of player and a high type of man is Goettge."

Colonel Goettge's official duty with the Marine Corps distinguished him as a splendid soldier as well. He was posthumously awarded the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious conduct as Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2 (Intelligence), First Marine Division, during the Guadalcanal Campaign of World War II.

The accompanying citation reads in part, "... In this hastily planned operation which became the turning point in the Pacific War, Colonel Goettge started with very little information concerning one of the most remote and little known areas in the world, and working with few agencies available for the collection of such information in the limited time of less than one month... developed intelligence of the terrain and the enemy upon which the details of the plan for the operation were based."

Colonel Goettge was killed in action on August 12, 1942. In both the Corps and on the gridiron, however, his name is legend. To the old Marines and to many a fan of another generation, he will remain the greatest football player who ever lived.

Leon Ware, Fictionnaire

THE NEXT TIME you're reading fiction in The Saturday Evening Post, or any of a dozen or so other magazines, and a reference to the Delt House or a Delt pops up, don't be surprised. Chances are the story was written by Leon Ware, a Delt whose writings have been growing in popularity since he sold his first yarn in the early thirties.

Leon V. Ware, Northwestern, '30, who has two book-length novels to his credit besides a multitude of short stories and serials, has written for radio, the movies, and practically every magazine on the stands. Although his labors are directed primarily at the "slicks," several of his short stories are presently being made into TV films.

His work is often distinguishable by its casual references to characters or settings connected with Delta Tau Delta.

"I use Delts, the Delt House, or Delta Shelter whenever I can in my stories," Mr. Ware confesses. "I figure the more publicity we get, of the right kind, naturally, the better off we are. And when a reader finds something real in a fiction story, it makes a greatly disproportionate impression on him."

Entering Northwestern University in the fall of 1926, Mr. Ware pledged Beta Pi Chapter after carefully surveying the field. He was initiated in the spring of 1927, to enter into an experience which he values highly.

"The comradeship, the pleasures of having a number of interested friends, and the sense of helping others made my experience as a Delt undergraduate a bright, warm spot in my life," he says.

For the Delt book shelf.

Author LEON WARE relaxes between short stories, serials, novels, movie scenarios, radio scripts, and what-have-you at his home in Arcadia, California. He has written fiction for nearly every medium, and television is now being added to the mounting list.

In college, his flair for writing cropped out, and he wrote the humor column for the Daily Northwestern. He was also senior football manager and a member of Purple Key, honorary organization. He was graduated in 1930—"up to my ears in depression," as he puts it.

Following graduation, he migrated to California to try his hand at the title insurance business. This pursuit proved too prosaic, and after two years he gave it up and turned to writing. "I have been eating on the proceeds since 1934," he modestly admits.

That summary of Mr. Ware's success in the highly competitive field of writing is somewhat of an understatement. One of his stories, "The Phantom of the Bridge," was selected in 1951 for republication in a collection of the best fiction appearing in The Saturday Evening Post during that year. He has been commissioned to enlarge the work to book length, with the same title, for Westminster Press, of Philadelphia.

Two other book-length novels which he has written, both for Whitelsey House, are Crazy Dog and Shifting Winds.

Among his serials which have been adapted for the cinema are Search, called Dangerous Waters in the film version; Postman Didn't Ring, several years ago by Twentieth Century; and Rose Queen, retitled Peggy by Universal two years ago. Yet to come is Breakaway, which will soon be released as a Dick Powell production.

When Mr. Ware is not belaboring his typewriter, he turns to sailing as his chief recreation, a nautical bent which goes back to college days, when he was enrolled in the first NROTC course given in the U.S.

Even in his hobby, he has achieved success. On April 30, he navigated the winning sloop, Bagatelle, in the Newport Harbor-Ensenada, Mexico race. With 143 boats entered, this is the largest (though not the longest) ocean race in the world. The contest was begun with small craft warnings flying, and, although three boats lost their masts at the start and several lost theirs en route, Mr. Ware broke the existing record for the event by more than five hours.

Like the hero in one of his own yarns, the author met his wife, Elizabeth, on a freighter bound for China in 1936. With their 12-year-old daughter, who is also Elizabeth, they live in Arcadia, California.

HARVEY V. HIGLEY

President Eisenhower Names Higley Veterans' Administrator

HARVEY V. HIGLEY, Northwestern, '14, Wisconsin, '14, was appointed by President Eisenhower as administrator of veterans' affairs in mid-July. He took his oath of office on July 23 at a special White House ceremony with the President looking on.

As VA chief, Mr. Higley will head an agency with 175,000 employees handling more than 5 billion dollars annually in programs for veterans.

The new administrator, whose home is Marinette, Wisconsin, is chairman of the board of the Ansul Chemical Company. His nomination was indorsed by the American Legion, of which he is a former state commander, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Amvets. An engineering graduate, he served as a lieutenant of chemical warfare in World War II.

Mr. Higley, who in undergraduate days served as president of Beta Gamma Chapter (Wisconsin), has been a staunch supporter of the chapter through the years. His three sons became Delts at Beta Gamma, and two of them followed in his footsteps to hold office as chapter presidents.

He Keeps Crime on the Run

CRIME is the specialty of Bruce Smith, Wesleyan, '13, Columbia, '16. Not committing crimes, nor solving them, but telling other people how to bring criminals to justice.

One of the nation's foremost authorities on police administration and criminology, Mr. Smith has advised the governments of scores of metropolitan areas and states in the United States and several foreign nations on the organization of their law enforcement agencies. His most recent accomplishment is an exhaustive work, "The New York Police Survey," a critical report for the Committee on Management Survey, appointed by the Mayor of New York City, of which Mr. Smith was project director.

The report includes both a comprehensive analysis of the New York police system as it existed in 1952 and definite recommendations to step up the efficiency and effectiveness of the organization.

It is significant that many of the Survey's recommendations were acted upon immediately, long before the summary report was completed. Another testimony to Mr. Smith's preeminence in his field is the fact that he was able to maintain the co-operation and good will of police personnel, even though his findings were often frankly critical of existing methods.

Mr. Smith has served as a staff member of the Institute of Public Administration since 1916, when he received his law degree from Columbia University. He has been secretary of the Institute since 1940 and acting director since 1950. He had previously been acting director from 1941 to 1946.

As a consultant on police administration, he has compiled survey reports for approximately 50 leading American cities and 15 states. He has done the same for police systems of England, France, Belgium, and Germany.

He has also been adviser to state and city crime commissions, including both New York State and New York City. He reorganized the Chicago Police Department (1931-33) and the Pittsburgh Police Department (1937-38).

A contributor to such tomes as the Encyclopedia Britannica and the Encyclopedia of Social Sciences, Mr. Smith is the author of several books on police methods and criminology. He has lectured at Columbia, Yale, Harvard, and Chicago Universities, among others, and at the National

BRUCE SMITH

Police Academy of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He is an active member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and since 1938 has been a member of the committee on police training and merit systems of the American Bar Association. He served for two years as chairman of the committee.

Among other recognitions, Mr. Smith was for 12 years a member of the executive board of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology.

DELTA HONORS BOB SINCLAIR

By PAUL E. MORGAN

Michigan, '45

ROBERT W. SINCLAIR, Michigan, '07, was the guest of honor of the Delta Alumni Foundation, University of Michigan Delt house corporation, at a testimonial banquet at the Recess Club in Detroit on May 8. The occasion was the celebration of Bob's 50th anniversary in Delta Tau Delta.

Foundation President Fred Buesser, '37, read the Foundation's official resolution paying tribute to Bob Sinclair's 50 years of outstanding service to Delta Chapter and Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. President Buesser then presented a gift book to Bob commemorating the occasion.

Fraternity President Martin B. Dickinson delivered the principal address summing up Bob Sinclair's role in relation to the entire Fraternity. He gave a concise picture of how outstanding alumni, such as Bob, have advanced not only Delta Tau Delta but the fraternity system in general.

Many prominent guests were present, including Dr. Ferris Smith, '07, Grand Rapids surgeon, who reminisced on his Shelter days as a classmate of Bob's. A delegation from the active chapter was also present.

Charles R. Burgess, '34, president of Detroit's University of Michigan Club, served as toastmaster. He read many telegrams received at the banquet and gave interesting and humorous sidelights about Bob.

The cordovan-bound gift book presented was subsequently made up of many pages of memorabilia commemorating the anniversary.

Testimonial letters, telegrams, cards, and pictures of the banquet with the official resolution, plus photographs from the Shelter of 1903, now fill the gift book.

DR. FERRIS SMITH, '07, reminisces with BOB SINCLAIR on the occasion of Bob's 50th anniversary as a Delt.

Undergraduates hang on the words of "Old-timer" BUD CHAMBERLAIN, former chapter president. L. to R.: JIM GOUDIE, BILL WILLIAMS, NED MCCLELLAN, CHAMBERLAIN, and JIM BAUER.

Among the alumni present were (L. to R.): WALTER H. SIMMONS, '22; WALLACE E. REID, '16; F. J. WURSTER, '17; CHARLES F. BOOS, '18; JOSEPH L. HICKEY, '13; and THOMAS E. LANE, '16. Nearly every generation from Delta was represented.

FREDERICK G. BUESSER, '37, house corporation president, and BOB SINCLAIR examine the gift book which he received.

JOEL R. "BOB" BAKER, JR., test pilot for North American. Putting the supersonic jets through their paces is all part of a day's work for him.

Test Pilot Has Logged 5000 Hours

WITH FLIGHT TIME logged in more than 90 different type aircraft, North American Engineering Test Pilot Joel R. (Bob) Baker, Jr., Rensselaer, '40, is as much at home in a swift Air Force F-86 Sabre Jet fighter as in the Navy's big new carrier attack plane, the XA2J-1.

"The basic principles of flying don't change regardless of how fast you go or how big your airplane is," Baker declares.

As North American's project pilot on the XA2J-1 Savage, Baker made the first flight in the turbo-prop powered experimental bomber January 4, 1952. With his copilot, he has made every test flight since on the new plane.

Sandwiched among the time he logs in the XA2J-1, the 33-year-old test pilot frequently flies the F-86D and the F-86F, two of the latest jet fighters North American is building for the Air Force. Baker flew many of the first rocket firing missions in the F-86D, an all-weather interceptor, which was the first jet airplane in the world to be armed entirely with the powerful 2.75-inch "Mighty Mouse" rockets. Since going to the Los Angeles aircraft factory in December, 1949, Baker has flown every type aircraft manufactured by North American.

Prior to going to Los Angeles, he served as chief test pilot for two years for Chance Vought Aircraft and as a test pilot for Curtiss Wright. During much of World War II, Baker was an engineering test pilot for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, testing all type aircraft for both the Navy and Air Force.

"That's where I logged flight time in everything from helicopters to bombers," the compactly built test pilot declared. "Although I had no idea then I'd be testing a turbo-prop job for North American, I flew tests to obtain design data for turbo-prop airplanes."

It was there Baker had one of the closest calls of his 5,000-hour aviation career when he was forced to bail out of an experimental airplane.

"I stayed in as long as possible trying to save the plane," he recalled. "When fire came in the cockpit, I decided to leave the ship, but it was almost too late. I had trouble getting the canopy open."

After graduating from Rensselaer, Baker remained on campus as an instructor. While attending the Institute, he became interested in flying and obtained a commercial pilot's license.

Dean Carl Waterman Retires at Lawrence

DR. CARL J. WATERMAN, Lawrence, '05, who has been beloved as "The Judge" for 43 years worth of Lawrence College choristers, stood before his concert choir for the last time at the baccalaureate service on Sunday morning, June 14. The choir sang traditional anthems and responses at that time. . . .

Dr. Waterman was slated for retirement in the spring of 1949, and a "Carl J. Waterman Day" was held in his honor. What was intended to be a farewell to the dynamic dean of the conservatory turned into a celebration, for at the last minute the board of trustees set aside his retirement—the first such action in the college's history. At that time he relinquished his deanship and officially became a professor emeritus, but he has been on the podium for an additional four years with undiminished vigor. . . .

Waterman is a Lawrence product himself, for he attended the conservatory of music from 1901 until 1904. Law was his original vocational goal, but before long his tenor was discovered and he switched over to music. He studied at the American Conservatory in Chicago from 1908 until 1910, and for five years was on the staff of the state school for boys at Waukegan.

In 1910 he came back to the conservatory—first as a public school music teacher and in 1920 as dean. He's been there ever since, waving a stick at a procession of 4,000 student choristers. In 1929, Centenary college rewarded his efforts with an honorary doctor of music degree.

Among "The Judge's" most noteworthy students in voice are Lucille Meusel, former prima donna with the Chicago and Liege, Belgium, opera companies; Shirlee Emmons, winner of the Marian Anderson scholarship in 1952 and recently a featured soloist with the Lauritz Melchior show; Bill Hogue and Carl Nicholas, tenors, who have been in Broadway productions and on national tour with singing ensembles; and Ben Gage, singer, radio announcer, and husband of swimmer-actress Esther Williams.

Midwest Delts Get Together

By JOHN R. LOUDON, JR., Nebraska, '52

MARYSVILLE, Kansas, was the scene of a "miniature Karnea" on the week end of April 24 and 25, as five Western Division chapters got together on their own for a combined workshop, sports competition, and fellowship session.

A throng of more than 100 Delts from Gamma Tau (Kansas), Beta Tau (Nebraska), Delta Gamma (South Dakota), Delta Alpha (Oklahoma), and Gamma Pi (Iowa State) descended on the northern Kansas city to strengthen the fraternal ties of Deltaism across the plains states.

The idea for such a reunion had been building up for some time. Delts of the chapters in the eastern end of the Western Division regretted that only a few of their numbers are privileged to attend a Division or Regional Conference or a Karnea. They believed that an unofficial get-together of their chapters would be a worthy substitute, would help rekindle the Delt spirit within those attending, and would give brother Delts from the various chapters a real opportunity to experience and enjoy their fraternal bond.

K. U. AFFILIATES PLAN MEETING

The reunion idea took root a few years ago when Kansas State Delts visited the Nebraska Shelter following a football game between the two Big Seven schools. They had in mind a fall get-together of the two chapters at some point midway between the schools, which are about 150 miles apart. But no suitable week end could be arranged and the plan remained dormant.

Early this year, however, the idea came alive again when several Delts from Kansas State, Nebraska, and Baker found themselves attending Kansas University together as affiliates of Gamma Tau Chapter. Under the sponsorship of Gamma Tau, plans for the Marysville reunion were formulated and letters were written to 13 midwestern chapters.

Gamma Chi (Kansas State) was unable to attend this year because of a rush week end, and Gamma Theta (Baker) was not represented because the Baker Relays were held the same week end. Beta Kappa (Colorado) had similar conflicts. Gamma Kappa (Missouri), Gamma Iota (Texas), and Delta Omicron (Westminster) were unable to come because of spring formals and house parties.

Contact was established with these chapters about the middle of March, and by that time it was too late for their plans to be changed. Arrangements are going ahead for next year's reunion, however, and letters will be sent early in the fall so that a week end may be chosen that is acceptable for most chapters.

SOUTH DAKOTA WINS BASKETBALL

The Marysville Reunion began early Saturday afternoon, April 25, with registration at the Pacific Hotel. After everyone was signed in and had his name card affixed, the group split up for a sports tournament. Basketball, softball, bowling, golf, and track events were scheduled, but, because of wet weather, only the basketball and bowling competitions were completed.

The basketball tournament held the most excitement. The opening round saw Nebraska down Kansas 41-35 and South Dakota swamp Oklahoma 43-9. High scorers for the opener were Dave Olson, Nebraska; Paul Guess, Kansas; Walt Leye, South Dakota; and Herb Carson, Oklahoma.

In the finals Nebraska was pitted against South Dakota in a rugged contest in which the Delta Gammas led throughout by a slim margin. Final score: South Dakota, 32; Nebraska, 29.

Bowling competition was close, with Kansas winning first, Nebraska taking second, South Dakota placing third, and Iowa State coming out fourth. High scorers for the tourney were Clark Grimm of Kansas and Keith Skalla of Nebraska.

HOT DOGS AND CAMPFIRE

Following the sports tournament, a picnic was held north of Marysville on Saturday evening. Baked beans, hot dogs, and potato chips went well with the refreshments furnished by the Nebraska chapter. Despite the cold and wind, Delts had a memorable evening singing songs and telling stories about the campfires.

On the next morning executive meetings were called at 9:30 a.m. Officers, housemothers, and chapter advisers met in one room, while rush chairmen and committee members convened in another. Alumni relations, chapter singing, intramural, and social committee heads held their own separate meetings.

Promptly at 12:00 noon, a fried-chicken banquet was served at the Marysville Country Club. During the dinner many Delt songs were sung. After the banquet the master of ceremonies, Larry Frie of South Dakota, introduced the special guests at the speakers' table: Chapter Presidents Jim Fowler of Kansas and Jerry Paulson of Nebraska, Chapter Representatives John Dahl of Iowa State, Paul Weber of Oklahoma, and Steve LeFevre of South Dakota; Housemothers Mrs. Berniece Hinds of Nebraska and Mrs. Helen Mayher of Kansas.

Delt parents from Marysville, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Rehkop, and Mr. and Mrs. William King, were presented, and Chapter Adviser Dr. J. R. Loudon and Mrs. Loudon of Nebraska were introduced. Delt alumni in Marysville over the week end were Robert F. Gallo-way, Gamma Tau, '40, Beta Tau, '43; Dr. Henry S. Haerle, Gamma Tau, '42; Gordon S. Hohn, Kansas State, '28; and Martin M. Hohn, Gamma Kappa, '30.

GREETINGS FROM PRESIDENT

Following the introductions, a message from Martin B. Dickinson, President of Delta Tau Delta, was read to the group. Mr. Dickinson wrote:

"The Reunion is a grand idea, and

I am sure you who attend will long remember the occasion with great pleasure. It will tend to bring together the chapters represented and to promote the pleasant and harmonious feelings between them of which we have been very proud. . . . What you are doing is one of the things that makes us really a national Fraternity, and not just an association of local clubs. . . .

"As you know, the Southern Division Conference at Birmingham makes it impossible for me to attend the Marysville Reunion. . . . I hope very much that I shall be able to attend next year if the event is repeated."

Messages from the Baker, Colorado, Texas, Missouri, and Westminster chapters were read. Most of them expressed their wishes for a fine Reunion and the hope that they would be able to participate next year.

Two members of Delta Gamma Sorority from the University of Nebraska—Miss Lynn Holland and Miss Carol Unterseher—presented a musical program. Miss Holland is the daughter of Lyle C. Holland, Beta Tau, '24.

Competition in chapter singing and skits kept the proceedings moving and the Delts well entertained. While the judges were deciding on the winners, members of the committee which had planned the Reunion were introduced, as follows: Bob Anderson, Gamma Tau, chairman; Jack Loudon, Beta Tau, Gamma Tau; Phil Johnson, Gamma Theta, Gamma Tau; Jack Mohler, Gamma Chi, Gamma Tau; Al Rehkop, Jr., Gamma Tau; and Dick Erickson, Gamma Tau.

WINNERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Dr. J. R. Loudon presented wall plaques to the winners of the various competitions. Delta Gamma (South Dakota) won the sports tournament plaque, Beta Tau (Nebraska) was presented the chapter skit plaque, and Delta Alpha (Oklahoma) and Gamma Tau (Kansas) tied for the chapter singing awards.

To wind up a most memorable week end, Delts joined in the traditional Walk-Around.

Plans are already under way for another Reunion next year. Paul "Andy" Weber of Delta Alpha Chapter has been designated general chairman of the 1954 event. Paul hopes to get interested chapters working on plans this fall.

Cincinnati, Scene of N.I.C. Meeting

THE FORTY-FIFTH annual meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference will be held November 27 and 28 this year at the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio.

About 500 men—delegates of the 61 affiliated fraternities and interested observers—will attend, to interpret the thinking of the million and a half fraternity men in the United States. In session concurrently will be the Undergraduate Conference delegates, representing the interfraternity councils of many campuses.

Hugh Shields, Executive Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta, is a member of the committee assisting in making plans for the annual meeting.

Beta Chapter and Ohio University Join in Celebration

By JOHN L. SINCLAIR, JR., Ohio, '54

OHIO UNIVERSITY, the oldest college in the old Northwest Territory, will celebrate its 150th birthday with a year-long program of events focused on four major occasions.

The four focal points of the Sesquicentennial will be Founders' Day, February 18; Commencement, June 11, 12, 13, and 14; Alumni Homecoming Week End, a Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in October yet to be determined; and Ohio Education Days, November 11 and 12.

The governor of Ohio and representatives of France, England, and Spain, who with this nation made early history of the Ohio Country and the Northwest Territory 150-200 years ago, will be asked to help the University celebrate its 150th year. Ohio University's own illustrious alumni will be among nationally-known personalities in education and other fields who will participate in the many events scheduled for the Sesquicentennial.

Founders' Day will mark to the day the 150th year since the act of the General Assembly of the then one-year-old state of Ohio which established "an university in Athens." After many plans, Ohio University opened its doors to three students and Instructor Jacob Lindley, who became the first head of the University, in June of 1808 (some records say 1809).

Cutler Hall, completed in 1818, is the oldest building in the Northwest Territory to be erected for the purpose of higher education.

Fifteen men have headed the University; the present president is Dr. John C. Baker.

Ohio University became a state-supported institution after the Civil War. In the years to follow, it continued to grow. Around Cutler Hall today are more than 100 buildings, representing a physical plant with a replacement value of $25,000,000 and providing education, housing, culture, and recreation for more than 4,000 students.

Today seven colleges (University, Applied Science, Arts and Sciences, Commerce, Education, Fine Arts, and Graduate) and an extension division offer approximately 1,200 courses taught by some 350 faculty members.

An event of the Sesquicentennial Commencement that will point up sharply the University's 150 years will be the dedication of the new $1,500,000 Student Center and two new men's dormitories costing more than $800,000.

Ohio University alumni today number more than 20,000 living graduates and more than that who did not finish their degree requirements. An alumni feature of the celebration will be an exchange of greetings between President Baker and the president of the Alumni Association, Delt C. Carr Liggett, '16, and all alumni groups.

Among the emeriti professors and administrators who the University hopes will join alumni in the Sesquicentennial Homecoming celebration are two Delts: George C. Parks, '08, business manager emeritus, and Dr. Hiram Roy Wilson, '96, professor emeritus of English.

Delt alumni of the Sesquicentennial Committee are John W. Galbreath, '20; H. E. Fredrick, '19; and Liggett.

Founded in 1862 by John J. Kennedy Warren, Beta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta prides itself in that its doors have not been closed in more than 90 years.

The chapter was the first of Delta Tau Delta and first on Ohio's campus to initiate 1,000 members. The chapter roll is now over 1,012.

One of the earlier members of the chapter, John R. Scott, '64, contributed much to the early national organization. Several odes, the Seal, and the first crest were attributed to him, as well as the founding of several chapters of the Fraternity.

Beta Chapter became the first chapter on Ohio's campus to offer the now familiar serenades and the annual Homecoming Walk Around.

From Beta Chapter five men have been cited to the national Distinguished Service Chapter: John R. Scott; Frank B. Gullum, '07; F. Darrell Moore, '16; Madison J. Humphrey, '21; Hiram Roy Wilson, '96.

Many Beta alumni have been outstanding in national work: Wilber Colvin, '80, instrumental in organizing chapters in the Southern Division and consolidation with the Rainbow Fraternity; J. L. Finnicum, '11, past President of the Northern Division; William H. Martindill, '32, present Secretary of Alumni of the Arch Chapter; Robert L. Hartford, '36, vice-president of the Northern Division; F. Darrell Moore, '16, past Supervisor of Scholarship and President of the Eastern Division.

Wisconsin Delt Named Voice of America Head

LEONARD F. ERIKSON, Wisconsin, '20, radio and advertising executive, has been named administrator of the Voice of America overseas radio.

The appointment was made by Dr. Robert L. Johnson, chief of the International Information Administration. Mr. Erikson became deputy administrator of the I.I.A. in charge of the international broadcasting service, effective July 27.

Mr. Erikson, vice-president of a New York advertising agency, is a former sales manager of the Columbia Broadcasting Company.

LEONARD F. ERIKSON

Delt's Nutrition Research Lauded

DR. LEONARD A. MAYNARD

A GLOWING TRIBUTE is paid to the work of Dr. Leonard A. Maynard, Wesleyan, '11, director of Cornell University's School of Nutrition, in the April 13 issue of Newsweek.

"Cornell," says Newsweek, "is now the seat of a combined nutrition program surpassing that of any other university. Only at Ithaca are the colleges of agriculture, engineering, veterinary study, home economics, arts and sciences, and medicine geared to deal co-operatively with problems of nutrition so broad as to lie outside the scope of any one of them."

"Within the scope of Cornell research, teaching, and extension services lies every scientific means for dealing with man's diet, from the soil which grows his food to his ultimate health."

The "Cornell Idea" was originated some 13 years ago in the mind of the late H. Edward Babcock, then chairman of Cornell's trustees. He organized the first school of human nutrition in the world, and Dr. Maynard became its first director, and its only one so far.

An internationally known nutrition authority, Dr. Maynard, reports Newsweek, "knew that there were more vitamins to be discovered, more ways to use and market milk and other farm products, added food elements, and new 'truths' to be established as to why the human body may or may not use these elements under certain conditions. . . . In their investigation of man and his diet, the nutritionists [are] drawing on some 500 crack scientists in all the Cornell colleges . . ."

The incredibly extensive work of the School which Dr. Maynard directs is having far-reaching effects. Graduate students extend the School's global prestige. Currently they hold jobs ranging from the management of a packaged food plant in the Middle West to studying food and nutrition problems of primitive groups in the Fiji Islands.

Here is a sample of some of the amazing developments coming out of the Cornell laboratory:

Rats, fed exclusively on milk, who have no decayed teeth and stronger and denser bones (and what's good for rats is good for humans, say Ithaca researchers).

A new potato containing a high quantity of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) "in range of citrus fruits."

A 40-year-old woman who reduced from 240 pounds to 140 in two years without being hungry.

The Cornell Laboratory of Nuclear Studies stands just behind Savage Hall, which houses the Nutrition School. "So the labs dedicated to two of Cornell's most significant scientific projects are only a stone's throw apart," Newsweek observes.

How does the University's president, Dr. Deane W. Malott, evaluate the contribution of Dr. Maynard's nutrition school?

"Of Cornell's many endeavors," he said, "none holds greater potentialities for the good of mankind than the work in the School of Nutrition."

Delts Receive Centennial Medals

FOUR MEMBERS of Delta Tau Delta received Citations of Merit and Centennial Award Medals from the University of Florida on the occasion of the University's celebration of its Centennial last spring.

Dr. J. Hillis Miller, President of the University, in making the presentations, paid tribute to "these distinguished citizens who by their outstanding contributions have immeasurably enriched the lives of us all."

Delts who were cited are D. Marston Bates, Florida, '27; Cyril O. Houle, Florida, '34; Bishop Frank A. Juhan, Seawanee, '11; and Arnold D. Welch, Florida, '30.

Following are the texts of the Citations:

D. MARSTON BATES

Bachelor of Science, 1927, University of Florida. Professor of Zoology, University of Michigan. Author of erudite scientific works and informative books and essays in the biological sciences, you are a scientist whose provocative writings and applied research have had profound influence in promoting the well-being of mankind throughout the world. For your far-reaching contributions to scientific knowledge, the University of Florida makes this Centennial Award.

CYRIL O. HOULE

Bachelor of Arts in Education, 1934; Master of Arts in Education, 1934, University of Florida. Dean of the University College of the University of Chicago. A native son of Florida, you have become a nationally known authority on general education at the college level. You have also been a leader in adult education. You are frequently called into consultation on educational matters throughout the country. For your deep interest in the cause of higher education in general and your leadership in adult education in particular, the University of Florida gives you this Centennial Award.

FRANK A. JUHAN

Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Florida. As Bishop of Florida for the past twenty-nine years and as Chancellor of the University of the South for the past nine years, you have won the love and admiration of thousands of ministers and laymen in Florida and Tennessee, and your benign influence has been felt throughout the South. In recognition of your devoted labors, particularly on behalf of the students of the University, the University of Florida confers on you this Centennial Award.

ARNOLD D. WELCH

Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, 1930; Master of Science, 1931, University of Florida. Chairman, Department of Pharmacology, Yale University. McCoy Directs Federal Conciliation Service

WHITLEY P. MCCOY

WHITLEY P. MCCOY, Dartmouth, '16, George Washington, '19, was nominated by President Eisenhower early in July to be director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Professor McCoy, a member of the University of Alabama Law School faculty, has engaged in considerable arbitration work during recent months. He is a former chapter adviser of Delta Eta Chapter.

First St. Louis Award Goes to Baker Chapter

MEMBERS of the St. Louis Alumni Chapter have long felt that, while scholarship alone does not make a well-rounded undergraduate chapter, still scholarship is one of the key factors in developing the type of chapter of which the Fraternity may be proud.

They have also agreed that in many instances more encouragement could be offered to undergraduate chapters to produce outstanding scholastic records. For this reason, the St. Louis Alumni Chapter purchased a suitable trophy to be known as the "St. Louis Alumni Chapter Quad-State Scholarship Trophy."

In order to stimulate competition, it was decided that a new trophy will be presented each year. Thus the trophy becomes the permanent possession of each chapter which wins it. Nearly two feet in height, the award makes an imposing addition to the trophy collection of any chapter.

The first undergraduate chapter to win possession of the Quad-State Trophy was Gamma Theta at Baker University, Baldwin City, Kansas. On Sunday, May 3, the chapter received the trophy at an impressive ceremony at the Shelter.

Robert Kroening, president of the St. Louis Alumni Chapter, made the presentation on behalf of the sponsoring group to Robert Thomen, president of Gamma Theta Chapter. Also present from St. Louis were William Jackson, treasurer of the alumni chapter, and William Tate, former president of Delta Omicron Chapter at Westminster.

Besides the members and officers of Gamma Theta, F. C. Leitnaker, chapter adviser, and a distinguished group of Gamma Theta alumni and fathers of chapter members gathered for the ceremony and the dinner which preceded it. Gamma Theta can well be proud of its achievement in being the first chapter to earn the honor.

The four states included in the competition for the trophy are Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, and Kansas. All undergraduate chapters in these four states are eligible. A new trophy has already been purchased and will be awarded as soon as official scholastic standings are available.

In order to spur competition further, the men from St. Louis who made the trip to Gamma Theta Chapter stopped to show the trophy to undergraduate chapter members at Delta Omicron Chapter, Fulton, Missouri; Gamma Kappa Chapter, Columbia, Missouri; and Gamma Tau Chapter, Lawrence, Kansas.

The St. Louis Alumni Chapter, through this award, hopes to make a valuable and lasting contribution to the progress of Delta Tau Delta.

Leads GOP Drive

PENNSYLVANIA's senior Republican member of the House of Representatives, Richard M. Simpson, Pittsburgh, '23, was the unanimous choice of the 38-member Republican Congressional Campaign Committee to be its chairman and to spearhead the drive to elect a GOP-controlled House in 1954.

Simpson, dean of the Pennsylvania Republican delegation of 19 members, is a nine-term member of the House and holds an important position on the Ways and Means Committee. His new post places him high in the GOP organization, since his committee is charged with the responsibility of electing additional Republican members of the House.

At the present writing there are 221 Republican members, as against 214 Democrats, in whose ranks there are three vacancies.

CONGRESSMAN SIMPSON

Wabash Delts Honor Larry Sheaffer

LARRY SHEAFFER
Long-time Wabash Adviser

LAWRENCE L. SHEAFFER, Wabash, '17, chapter adviser of Beta Psi Chapter for more than 30 years and a member of the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter, was honored by undergraduates and alumni of the chapter at a special breakfast at the Shelter on a Sunday morning early in June.

Delts showed their appreciation of Mr. Sheaffer's faithful service to the chapter by presenting him a television set. The presentation included the aerial and installation of the receiver.

Donald R. Mote, DePauw & Wabash, '23, president of the chapter's alumni association, presided at the breakfast. In making the presentation to Mr. Sheaffer, Mr. Mote noted that only one other chapter adviser in the Fraternity has served for a longer continuous period.

Mr. Sheaffer, who is known as "Larry" to scores of Delts of Beta Psi Chapter, entered Wabash College in the fall of 1913. He was not graduated with the class of 1917, however, for he went overseas with the First Division of the United States Army, which saw extensive service during World War I.

Assigned to Company C of the 18th Infantry, Mr. Sheaffer saw front-line action with his outfit. He served with the rank of sergeant first class and remained overseas 27 months during the war.

Shortly after separation from the service, Mr. Sheaffer became associated with the Ben Hur Life Association, whose home office is in Crawfordsville, Indiana. He became chapter adviser of Beta Psi Chapter in the early twenties. His long and distinguished tenure in that capacity has made him a respected and beloved institution of the Wabash College chapter.

Baker Delt Granted Pediatric Residency

DR. WILLIAM M. CLARK, JR., Baker, '44, has been granted a scholarship under The Fischbach Residency Foundation beginning July 1, 1953. He is a resident in pediatrics at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospitals.

Dr. Clark, who recently completed a tour of duty with the Air Force, received his M.D. from the University of Chicago. He served one year of pediatric internship and one year of pediatric residency at the University of Chicago Clinics. He will complete his residency requirements in approximately one year.

The Fischbach Residency Foundation, administered under the Delta Tau Delta Educational Fund, was established in 1947 by the late Dr. Howard P. Fischbach, Kenyon, '06, as a means of assisting young Delt physicians and surgeons in completing specialized training beyond internship. Dr. Clark becomes the fifth Delt to be granted a scholarship through the Foundation.

Service Delts Dined By Shreveport Alumni

SHREVEPORT (Louisiana) Delta Tau Delta alumni had their first gathering on July 9, 1953, when a number of them gave an informal dinner for six Delt undergrads at the Barksdale Air Force Base officers club. The guests, all cadets of the large Air R.O.T.C. detachment undergoing summer training at the Shreveport air base, were John J. McCardle, Butler, '54; James L. Smith, Butler, '54; Robert R. Reed, Butler, '54; Carlos C. Bancroft, Miami, '54; Richard Jenkins, Miami, '54; and Bruce Sheperd, Purdue, '54. Keith Collier, Purdue, '54, who is Delt prexy at Purdue, was unable to make the dinner because of conflicting military duties.

Chairman of the dinner and occupying the head of the table as the senior Delt present was affable Dr. Willis P. Butler, Vanderbilt, '11, coronor of Caddo Parish (county) and one of the South's leading pathologists. Other Delt alumni present were S. P. Borden, Missouri, '16; Edwin W. Goetz, Jr., Tulane, '27; Col. James B. Hipple, Wisconsin, '25; J. Russell Lang, Texas, '32; William T. Lohmann, Iowa State, '51; Dr. Harold J. Quinn, Tulane, '20; Millard P. Snyder, Tulane, '39; and W. R. Teague, Hillsdale, '43.

Pronounced a huge success by all present, the dinner (and songfest which followed it) produced a natural outcome: plans for a Shreveport alumni chapter. A committee headed by Colonel Hipple is drafting plans and conducting a search for other Delts in the area. Brother Hipple commands Louisiana's 199th Infantry Regiment (National Guard) and had a distinguished combat record in the Pacific during World War II.

The next meeting is tentatively set for September.

Delta Street

WHEN YOU ARRIVE in Pasadena, California, for the 62nd Karnea, watch out for Delta Street, which has special significance for wearers of the Square Badge.

The unusual nomenclature should probably be blamed on Alfred H. Allen, Sewanee, '26, who is president of the Sewanee Construction Company, with offices in Pasadena. Delta Street runs through his housing development near Santa Anita race track, where there is also a street named Sewanee.

J. Sherrard Receives D.S.C. in Pittsburgh

Gamma Chapter's JOHN J. SHERRARD (left) receives his Citation to the Distinguished Service Chapter from HARRY R. BIRMINGHAM, W. & J., '10, at a dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter in May. Following is the text of MR. SHERRARD'S Citation:

JOHN JOHNSON SHERRARD
W. & J., '13

Initiated by Gamma Chapter of Delta Tau Delta in 1909; President of the Chapter; a leader in college activities; a willing and constructive worker since the day of his initiation; largely instrumental in the purchase of the Gamma Chapter house, giving freely both of his time and money; generous, sincere, frank, and with sound judgment, he has demonstrated his loyalty to Delta Tau Delta for more than forty-three years.

Beta Omega Receives $10,000 Bequest

BETA OMEGA CHAPTER at the University of California has been named the recipient of a cash sum of $10,000 in the will of the late RUSSELL S. SPRINGER, California, '02, officers of the chapter's house corporation revealed.

Mr. Springer, widely-known mechanical engineer and one-time vice-president of the Holt Manufacturing Company, died July 1 at the age of 73.

Member of a pioneer California family, Mr. Springer was a native of San Francisco. He became associated with the Holt Manufacturing Company, predecessor of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, in 1904 and by 1910 had risen to the position of secretary and general works manager. In 1913 he became vice-president and five years later factory manager of the organization. He retired in 1925.

Mr. Springer was elected first president of the University of California Class of 1902.

Central Office Moves To New Location

THE LONG FAMILIAR 333 North Pennsylvania Street in Indianapolis—address of the Fraternity's Central Office for more than 20 years—has been stricken from the records. In its place now appears 3242 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis 8, Indiana—site of the Central Office since August 22.

The moving of the Central Office, Delta Tau Delta's national headquarters, was accomplished with only a very short interruption of normal services. Full coverage of the new headquarters, with photographs and description of facilities, will appear in the December issue of THE RAINBOW.

Return of the Hat

IF YOU EVER lose your hat, Branch Rickey is your man. He'll find it. What's more, he'll return it. Ask Hugh Shields.

Delta Tau Delta's Executive Vice-President was traveling east on Fraternity business early last July when he decided to stop off in Cincinnati to take in the All-Star baseball classic. Hugh became so excited over the National League's victory that he walked right out of the stadium without his hat.

A few days later, when he returned to the Central Office, there was the hat, neatly packaged, with a note from Branch Rickey, cautioning him to be more careful where he leaves his headgear. It seems that the Pittsburgh Pirates' ubiquitous general manager had also been somewhere in the vast throng attending the All-Star game. Searching for baseball talent, his scouts found Hugh's hat.

Informed sources near the Executive Veep expressed the opinion privately that the hat was a bizarre straw purchased by Mrs. Shields and that Hugh was "losing" it intentionally.

Scholarship Awards Announced

DELTA TAU DELTA'S Division Scholarship Awards for the college year 1951-52 were announced early this month. The winning chapters of the four Divisions are as follows:

Southern Division

Delta Epsilon—University of Kentucky

Western Division

(Duplicate Award)

Gamma Theta—Baker University

Gamma Mu—

University of Washington

Northern Division

Mu—Ohio Wesleyan University

Eastern Division

Alpha—Allegheny College

For Delta Epsilon (Kentucky), this year's award marked the ninth triumph since the competition was first established beginning with the college year 1923-24. No other chapter in any Division has won so many awards. Delta Epsilon also has the longest string of consecutive victories, with six in a row from 1924-25 to 1929-30. Gamma Pi (Iowa State), in the Western Division, comes closest with five straight wins from 1927-28 to 1931-32.

FOURTH STRAIGHT AWARD

Mu Chapter (Ohio Wesleyan) continued its scholastic domination of the Northern Division by winning the award the fourth straight year. Mu has won all told six awards, one of which was a duplicate shared with Kappa (Hillsdale) in 1948-49.

Both Western Division award winners have garnered one previous trophy. Gamma Mu came in for special commendation because of its remarkable improvement in one year.

Alpha (Allegheny) came in with its second triumph in four years in the Eastern Division. Alpha also won the plaque back in 1936-37. Best record in the East belongs to Gamma (W. & J.), a chapter with five scholastic crowns and a chapter which now begins to show again the prowess of old.

From the Editors' Mailbag

Three Deltas were honored with recognition at the 18th biennial convention of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honor society for men, in Roanoke, Virginia, April 16 to 18.

W. GORDON JOHNSTON, Iowa, '25, Dean of the University of Denver College of Law, was re-elected national president for another biennium.

WILLIAM TATE, Georgia, '24, Dean of Students of the University of Georgia, was elected a general council member for the Southeastern Province of the organization.

RUSSELL A. GRIFFIN, Hillsdale, '28, Dean of Students of Western Reserve University, was elected a general council member for the Central Province.

Both Tate and Griffin are former chapter advisers in Delta Tau Delta.

Authoritative information concerning the effects of the much-feared atom bomb was revealed recently through an interview of a Delt by another Delt.

A story carrying the byline of JOHN M. MCKELWAY, W. & L., '50, in the March 27 edition of the Washington Evening Star reported the expert testimony of Brigadier General ELBERT DECOURSEY, Kentucky, '24, a leading atomic authority and director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

Consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission and a member of the Joint Panel on Atomic Warfare, General DeCoursey entered Nagasaki and Hiroshima a month after the explosion of the first A-bombs. He was a member of the commission that investigated the effects of the bombs. He personally saw 15,000 patients and studied 260 autopsies.

"American medical methods could have saved half of the people who died from the bombing," he said.

General DeCoursey, who was present for the Bikini tests and witnessed the more recent demonstration in Nevada, continues to study the many problems connected with atomic bombings and, through lectures before civic groups, continues a program of educating the American people concerning the new development.

Harper & Brothers, publishing house, has recently released a book by ISAAC H. HULL, Northwestern, '09, entitled The Story of Indiana Co-operation Built of Men. Mr. Hull is president of the Indiana Farm Bureau Co-operative Association.

The new work, according to the publisher, "is the first book devoted to an intensive study of co-operative organization within a single state. It describes the objectives, the failures and mistakes, and the requirements for future success of a co-operative movement which now embraces almost the total rural population of Indiana."

LAWRENCE A. HEIM, Stanford, '55, was named to the All-American swimming team for 1953, selected by the College Swimming Coaches Association of America. Heim gained positions in two events—the 200-yard backstroke and the 150-yard individual medley.

A Delt pledge of Delta Pi Chapter at U.S.C. also gained two positions on the star line-up. Gerry MacNamee was selected for the 200-yard free style and the 150-yard individual medley.

THANE BAKER, Kansas State, '53, finished a brilliant collegiate track career by hanging up new records in the Missouri Valley AAU meet on May 30.

Undeclared at a quarter mile or under this year, he ran one of the fastest 100-yard dashes recorded during the season in the country when he sprinted the century in 9.4. He came back in the 220 to win in 20.4, just .2 off the world record set by Mel Patton in 1949.

Baker also had the country's best mark for the 440-yard dash, with a clocking of 47.1.

Accomplishment

operation of the entire chapter, first in reaching sound judgments, and then in putting them into operation, abiding by the decisions reached in the democratic processes of our chapter halls.

We need not claim that our method of operation is the cheapest or most efficient means of providing food and housing, of whatever quality. There are ample illustrations, even in our own countries, of how more efficient operations could be obtained without democracy, just as the world has seen many governments which, at least for a time, appear more efficient than our own. We reserve the right to criticize inefficiency, but the very existence of that right, essential as it is to democracy, means some sacrifice of efficiency. Neither in our educational system, nor elsewhere in our body politic, are there the opportunity and the necessity for training in practical democracy which exist in the operation of most of our undergraduate chapters.

Our Central Office and our national organization exist primarily to aid the undergraduate chapters. We believe that we will be able this year, within the limits of our available income, to render substantially increased service to the undergraduate chapters, presenting programs based on our collective experience of nearly a century, and warning of pitfalls which may not be readily apparent to those with less experience. Thus, our undergraduates may operate with the utmost freedom consistent with the preservation of what has been built by those who have gone before, the benefits of which our undergraduates will be enjoying.

This can be the greatest year in the history of Delta Tau Delta. It will be if we all work together, for sound objectives. It will certainly be his greatest in Delta Tau Delta for any undergraduate who joins with his chapter in a sincere program of accomplishment.

Let's do it.

Presidents

this decision, but warned: "A great fraternity like ours must keep pace with the times and conservatively extend its field of usefulness from time to time." During the 12 years that he was President, 14 new chapters were added and only two charters were withdrawn, both under edicts abolishing all fraternities at the two institutions. There were 62 chapters in 1919 when President Curtis stepped down.

James B. Curtis occupies a prominent place also in the annals of the National Interfraternity Council. He was an organizer of the Conference in 1909 and served as its Chairman in 1915. Thus he made a major contribution to the interfraternity movement which has grown to its present impressive stature.

As a final benefaction, President Curtis led the Fraternity successfully through the emergencies of World War I. With chapters reporting in 1917 up to 75 per cent of their membership depleted by enlistments, Colonel Curtis marshalled alumni assistance and maintained the Fraternity on an even keel as he told Deltas: "It is the duty of those of us who are left behind to take up, more seriously than ever, the problems which face our chapters under the circumstances."

When the 45th Karnea convened in Boston in 1919, President Curtis announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

"Now comes the parting," said the man who had been President for 12 years, a term twice as long as the tenure of any other President. "We will go our separate ways, and God bless you, one and all. You may rest assured that, while life is with me, my best wishes will always be for the interests of Delta Tau Delta."

Following his report, his final official act, "there was prolonged applause," the record shows, "while the whole Karnea rose and cheered and gave Colonel Curtis an ovation."

END OF TRAIL

Less than three years later, on April 27, 1922, James B. Curtis died and a few days afterward was laid to rest in the town of his birth—Waldron, Indiana.

Even in death, however, he remembered his Fraternity. When his will was read, it was learned that he had endowed the Fraternity with a sum of $5,000, the income from which was to be used in whatever manner the Arch Chapter decided. Appropriately, the Fraternity's Scholarship Fund was thereby established, and the proceeds to this day are utilized to give recognition to outstanding scholastic performance in Delta Tau Delta.

President Curtis also left behind him his diamond-studded badge of membership, which is entrusted to the care of each succeeding chief executive of the Fraternity. To the eleven Presidents who have worn the badge since 1919, it has been a peculiarly significant symbol of the highest interpretation of duty.

There are still many other Deltas today whose memories hold fast the picture of that intense and inspired man who carved his own monument in deeds of achievement. A leader of keen intellect, boundless energy, endowed with a trenchant loyalty was the eleventh President.

He did exceedingly well what he asked of all Deltas: for the Fraternity, he gave the best that was in him.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Fraternity Looks to Chapter Presidents

THE FORWARD VIEW

Ready to tackle his job for 1953-54 is LLOYD L. MILLER, president of Beta Mu Chapter at Tufts College. On four of the pages which follow are pictured most of the other undergraduate chapter presidents of Delta Tau Delta. They are identified with the names of their colleges or universities.

Achievements of Delta Tau Delta's 84 undergraduate chapters will be paced by the leadership of these chapter presidents during 1953-54.

"UPON THE EXCELLENCE of the chapters, the Fraternity must generally depend for its strength and reputation in a highly competitive field."

That has been a guiding principle in Delta Tau Delta for many years—one which deserves reaffirmation as the Fraternity goes into its 95th year of continuous operation.

It is also an acknowledged axiom that the excellence of each chapter depends to a large extent upon the member who leads the chapter as president. The Fraternity looks to him to provide the aggressive leadership which has characterized the development of Delta Tau Delta.

The chapter president carries an important responsibility. The work of generations before him is entrusted to his care; by his direction, he may help the chapter build on that heritage and give it new lustre, or by inaction and vacillation, he may permit it to become tarnished.

As executive head of the chapter, he is responsible for the efficiency of every department. It is his duty to insure the smooth and co-ordinated functioning of all branches—from pledge education to alumni relations, from finances to scholarship.

The chapter president has a moral obligation as well as an executive one, since he has been chosen by the chapter members and is thereby charged with the spiritual as well as physical leadership. With new men, the pledges particularly, he accepts a special trust, for his example may well be their most readily-assimilated instruction.

It has been said that the good chapter president must exhibit persistence, persuasiveness, financial responsibility, better-than-average scholarship, social poise, ability to think clearly and objectively, foresight, dignity, temperance, ambition, a sense of justice, and decisiveness. He must be—a paragon?

Well, hardly. He may still be human. But this, above all else, he must have: courage. Moral courage. There will always be decisions to make, unpopular ones, difficult ones, situations which must be met head on. There, in the clutch, the chapter president must have it. On the basis of precedent, experience, advice, and often instinct, he must decide what is right, and he must pursue that course without compromise.

Being president is a big job. That is why THE RAINBOW takes this opportunity to salute the Deltas who call the signals so well. And that is why we say 1953-54 will be a great year.

Acclaimed '53 Baseball Champions

In a couple of deciding games and a play-off game with the Phi Delt, the Delt nine took the 1953 baseball championship. After the game the boys celebrated the victory with a rousing party at Grant Alpaugh's cottage at Conneaut Lake. Delt will really have to do some playing next year to counteract the loss of six seniors. Star Pitcher DeMeyers, Grant Alpaugh, Gus Elias, Jack Howie, Bob Ruggiero, and Bud Schorr have left the Delt nine with their parchments tucked under their arms.

On June 6 Alpha held an alumni banquet at the Shelter. At this time the drive for a new Shelter was officially launched. Architect's drawings of the new house were presented.

Smitty, the Delt dog, is living a regal "dog's life" this summer. He is spending the summer at Lake Chataugua with the Biekarck family. John Biekarck, who is vice-president in charge of Smitty, took him home for the summer. John has two younger sisters who are "just wild about" Smitty.

Beta—Ohio

Trophies Garnered in Final Spurt

Beta Chapter experienced a full and fine semester, one which sent our seniors off in a blaze of glory.

In intramural competition, the tennis team took second place. The pledge basketball and volleyball teams each took second place in their respective divisions. The active volleyball team placed first and our independent volleyball team, the Winning Six, took first place.

Added also to the ranks of Beta's trophies were the Scholarship Trophy and Pledge Essay Contest Trophy.

The Beta Glee Club, under Watson Burnfield, competed for its third consecutive win in the annual Torch Sing and came in first among the social fraternities but was second among all the fraternities competing.

Moms' Week End, the Gay Nineties Party, and the Spring Formal all added greatly to Beta's social life. For Moms' Week End the Shelter was transformed by Bill Jakes and committee into a huge "ship," the U.S.S. Delta Queen. The moms had a full schedule and a fine time. For the Gay Nineties Party, an annual affair, the back yard was decorated grotto-style with lanterns, candles, and small tables. The Spring Formal, a big success, was held at the Berry Hotel. John Sinclair and his committee were responsible for the party and the formal.

This year, as in the past, J-Prom was one of the biggest events. Beta failed to win the campaign but was an extremely close second. Under the able chairmanship of Dick Doran, our campaign and skit were based on the old-time minstrel show, including circle, chorus, endmen, and Dixie-land band.

The theme was Jubilee Jackson, and the interlocutor was Paul Jackson, our candidate. His theme song was "Mandy." Jubilee Jackson's float was the gigantic head of a minstrel man, complete with orange hat, in the crown of which Paul sat. Although we rated only second, everyone agreed that it was the best J-Prom show we had had in years and that it was a lot of good fun.

Gamma—W. & J.

Scholastic Standing Soars

Gamma Chapter of Washington and Jefferson College fared very well during the 1952-53 school year. Delt returning this fall will have the second largest fraternity on campus. At the end of the first semester they had risen from eighth place in scholastic standings to second; having applied the heat, they hope to take over first.

In intramurals Delt kept close all the way, but after the spring sports they ended third in the race for the "big cup."

On May 6 the Junior-Senior Prom was held by the College and the Delt had a breakfast after it. Then on Saturday they held a picnic at South Park in Pittsburgh. It was attended by thirty couples and closed with a hay ride.

On May 15 Gamma Chapter held its annual tug of war between Delt pledges and those of Beta Theta Pi. The Delt won easily and now have possession of the little brown jug for another year.

This fall the house will probably be opened by Tom Malik, Chuck McMillan, Ed Grazzini, John Brown, and Bob Shepard as they return early for football practice. Later they will be joined by the other actives and pledges as they prepare the Shelter for fall rushing. During the week preceding the fall term, Delt Development week and initiation will be held for the pledges of the second semester.

Shelter's Capacity Increased

Delta Chapter is prepared to start off a big year in 1953-54 with its new officers and committee set-up. The offices run until December of 1953. JOHN HUMMON (left) received an enlarged picture of his sweetheart song from Epsilon Chapter's president, DICK SWANSON, at the chapter's annual Mother's Day program.

Sam DiFrancesco, Johnstown, Pennsylvania, are the corresponding and recording secretaries respectively.

Along with these elections, the house capacity has been increased from 32 to 33. New carpeting has been purchased for the living room and stairways. The old carpets will be cut up to fit the individual suites. The perennial room renovating by the new occupants will take place once again and the Shelter will have a fresh look for the coming term.

The 1952-53 term closed with many of the brothers being placed in campus posts for 1953-54. Bob Dombrowski was elected chairman of J-Hop and was appointed social chairman of the I. F. C. Ken Cutler was elected treasurer of the I. F. C., while Andy Kaul represents the student body on the Board in Control of Intercollegiate Athletics. Jack Peirce has been appointed sports editor of the yearbook, the Michiganensian.

A new rushing technique has been employed: all Delta Chapter alumni have been sent a questionnaire concerning prospective rushees. In this way we hope to get a better look at the most desirable rushees to become future Delts.

JOHN C. PEIRCE

Epsilon—Albion

Walk Off With Sing Trophy

Epsilon placed first in the interfraternity competitive song fest last spring. The chapter sang "Praise to the Lord" and a new fraternity song written by John Hummon, "Come Brothers."

This competitive event is judged on the basis of tone quality, expression, intonation, enunciation, showmanship, and knowledge of music. The victory marked the second successful sing for Epsilon out of three attempts under the direction of John Hummon. As a point of interest, Epsilon has placed first every other year since the cup was originated in 1948.

The members of the chapter honored Brother John Hummon at their annual Mother's Day program last spring by hanging an enlarged picture of the sweetheart song he wrote in the living room. A copy of the manuscript of "My Delta Tau Sweetheart" appeared on the back cover of the June issue of THE RAINBOW. The picture, measuring 3½ by 5½, catches the admiring eyes of both visitors and brothers.

The song was written in 1951 and sung for the first time by Epsilon in the interfraternity sing that year. Hummon was graduated last spring with a scholarship to the University of Michigan for graduate work in the field of political science. He was recently elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

In spring sports our chapter was well represented in both track and baseball. The most outstanding Delt in spring sports was Jim Murray, third baseman on the college baseball team. Murray was named on the conference all-star team and led the college team in both batting average and home runs. Jim hit a .438 average and collected seven home runs in league play. In track, Epsilon was honored by Jim Timmons' election to captainship of the team for the next season.

Twelve members of Epsilon participated in Albion College's annual Spring Choir Tour. The a cappella choir traveled 2,000 miles through five states singing a lively program of varied numbers. The Deltones assisted the choir in singing a short quartet arrangement on the lighter numbers and were always on hand for a little entertainment during the ten-day tour.

Music has always been a primary source of strength in our Fraternity and is a bond for "close harmony" among the members of the chapter.

Winkeljohn Heads Union Board

This fall Iota starts off under the competent leadership of Jack Withrow, our new president. Assisting him are Dick Gray, vice-president; Norman Duvall, recording secretary; Paul Ellison, corresponding secretary; Jerry Moore, sergeant at arms; and Keith Boyd, guide.

Iota is proud to announce the purchase of a new Shelter. With the assistance of the Fraternity, we were able to purchase our new home. It was given a face-lifting during the late summer as well as all new furniture and equipment. Thanks to the actives who came back early to work on it, we are almost settled now.

The Delts again are showing leadership on Michigan State's campus. Jack Winkeljohn, active in campus affairs, was elected editor of the "Helot," the new student handbook; was elected a member of Blue Key and a member of Excalibur; and was elected president of the Ron Gay, Duane Vernon, and Rog Summers, our past president, vice-president, and treasurer, respectively, were elected, along with 47 other outstanding seniors, to the MSC 1953 Club, which acts as a core for alumni activities.

Delts scored strongly in the IFC swimming meet. They were paced by Jerry Lockwood, who took first place in diving. Other members placing were: Dick Alban, second in the 50-yard free style; Larry McCann, third in the 50-yard backstroke; and Ev Bennett, fourth in diving.

Gettings Earns Scholarship; Cited as All-Time Great Athlete

Hillsdale's golf team, paced by Captain-elect Bill Moore, Dick Armstrong, and Lloyd Murray, tied for the MIAA team championship. Moore was chosen the "most valuable player."

Captain-elect Bob Morey also led the tennis squad to its most successful season. Fred Riggan and Art Burns were the other Delt representatives on the squad; Riggan was voted the "most valuable player." On the baseball team we had Captain Dick Gettings, Jack Rosetti, and Norm Boyea.

Versatile Tom Rowe, unhampered by a "bad" leg, won the annual Kimball Decathlon Award, which his father had also won about two decades ago.

The Delts took second place in the intramural sports race this year. We took firsts in football and baseball, second in track, and fourths in basketball and volleyball.

Dick Gettings was awarded the University of Michigan Scholarship for outstanding achievement in his four years at Hillsdale and was named as one of the College's greatest athletes.

show promise of upholding this reputation as they topped all other fraternity freshmen in scholarship.

We were also honored by having 12 of our men represented on the Dean's List, which is double the amount of members from the next highest fraternity.

Three men were initiated to Omicron Delta Kappa this last semester. We extend congratulations to these three new members, Stew Peterson, Lowell Benson, and Al Brant.

We were happy to learn that Hal Stevens is the new editor of the OWL, the Ohio Wesleyan literary magazine, and Wes Hostetler is now the business manager of the Sulfur Spray magazine. This practically completes the representation of the Delts in all fields of publications for the coming year, since editorships of the campus paper and the year-book were won earlier this spring.

The unpinned men won the baseball game over the pinned men this spring and will have their inscription placed in red letters on the "coveted" white enamel trophy as significant of another enjoyable social event.

Bruno Caliendo, our student minister, asked the chapter to one of his church services as a final get-together before the summer recess. After the service, the ladies of the church prepared a huge country dinner for us as a token of thanks for the work done by our freshmen in helping them to erect their new recreation building. It was a grand occasion and all of us will certainly remember that fine meal.

Omicron—Iowa

Rosche Named Outstanding Fraternity Man on Iowa Campus

Many important events have taken place at Omicron during the spring months. Most important in the minds of all were the initiation festivities and the election of new officers.

On Sunday, March 29, 14 men were initiated into the chapter in a very impressive ceremony. April 4 saw the election of officers, with Robert Overholtzer as the Shelter's new president. Other officers include George Harker, vice-president; Roger Mendenhall, recording secretary; Harold Haver, corresponding secretary; and Ken Sherk, treasurer.

The annual French Party and Spring Formal were held in the Shelter with Dave Adams doing a splendid job on the decorations for both occasions. The Delts participated in the annual Campus Carnival and had a good time working on it. A skit, "Frankie and Johnnie," written by Dean Harwood and Bill Smart, was presented.

The rushing committee, composed of Byron Beck, Bill Erkonen, and Harvey McCulley, has been busy preparing for the fall's rushing festivities.

Don Rosche recently received the award for being the outstanding fraternity man on campus. Don has worked hard for the chapter and the Fraternity, and he deserves a well-earned hand for his achievement. John Lenaghan was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity.

HAROLD HAVER

Rho—Stevens

Chapter Head Captains Lacrosse

With the start of the fall term, the Stevens Delts, somewhat reduced in number by graduation, embark upon another year of good fellowship. The house lost 16 brothers via graduation, and their absence will be sorely felt, even though there are many other capable leaders carrying on the Good Delt tradition.

There have been many changes in the appearance of the house since school closed for the summer vacation. Brothers and pledges alike have teamed up to redecorate many of the rooms and to put the Shelter in good shape for the year. Most of the rooms on the second floor have been refinished and the bathroom on the third floor has been completely renovated.

Our football players are being drilled into shape for the coming season by Emory Egler, captain. This year stacks up now as a successful one, as we are well on our way to winning our fifth sports trophy in a row.

The social season bids fair, for our Dixie Land band has been practising all summer and appears to be all tuned up and ready to go.

Congratulations to Dick Rogers, our president, on having been elected captain of the lacrosse team for the next season.

Tau—Penn State

Mamie Crowns Delts' Choice

The top social event of the spring at Chapter Tau was the formal Oriental Garden Dinner-Dance, an annual affair which is fast becoming one of the high spots on the Penn State social calendar, with couples visiting from all parts of the campus. The dance came as the finale to Spring Week, seven days of parades, carnival, and dances.

Tau Chapter worked with Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, and the combined group ranked high among the other campus associations in total achievement points. Delt-Theta-sponsored candidate, Madeline Sharp, won the Miss Penn State beauty contest and was crowned by Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower.

The Delts elected Marian Whitely as Delt Queen for 1953, the award being presented at the Oriental Party. Social Chairman Jack Hooper and his committee deserve much credit for their work in making Spring Week a big success at Tau.

The chapter played a leading role in Penn State's annual Greek Week, working with the other fraternities and with the townspeople of State College on various civic-improvement projects. Many of the Delts were placed in charge of the various phases of the work.

Among the leaders in extracurricular activities are many Delts. A few of them are: Bob Dahle, "Ag Hill Breeze"; Joe Kline, Froth business manager; Bill Johnson, IFC Board of Control chairman; Vince Drayne, Daily Collegian business manager; Don Hawke, Daily Collegian national advertising manager; Gery Lewis, golf manager; Alan Marshall, Penn State Christian president; Dave Odiome,

Pershing Rifle regimental commander. In addition, the Delts did well in interfraternity sports competition, copping trophies in bowling and golf.

The annual Mother's Day Week End at Tau was extremely successful last year. A great deal was accomplished in bringing the parents together in an attempt to add to their interest in the affairs of the chapter throughout the year. It is hoped that this trend will continue in following years and bring into being a closely knit organization which will add support to the chapter's activities.

VINCENT DRAYNE

Upsilon—R.P.I.

Delts Cop IFC Song Fest

We've just about got our books dusted off and are ready for the new term, but the events of last term have yet to be lost in the dusty corners. That first-place trophy won at the IFC Song Fest certainly has added luster to our trophy shelf. The competition was keen, but the old Delt vocal chords didn't fail in the final stretch, and we came out on top for the second straight year.

Ron "Obbie" Secret finished his last year at R.P.I. with a special achievement. His playing in every lacrosse game last season and his caginess as center won for him a berth on the North's squad in the annual North-South game, the prize of all lacrosse games. Cocaptain Don Beebe and Frank Chiarelli won their letters in baseball. Bob Eberle captured his "R" by batting the tennis ball back over the nets, and Dave McGarvey walked away with his for his outstanding defense at the lacrosse goal.

The greatest honors of all went to quiet Abbie Moore. Branded as the player's player on the hockey team, he received honorable mention as an All-American. His four unassisted goals at the NCAA National Hockey Tournament set a new record and won him a place on the All-Tournament Team. Putting aside his hockey stick and digging out his baseball glove, he proceeded to entertain a season as pitcher with only one defeat. His outstanding performance made him R.P.I.'s most valuable pitcher.

Bob La Fon, unable to play on the lacrosse team, did the next best thing by coaching the freshman lacrosse team to a successful season.

WILLIAM A. CARMINE

Phi—W. & L.

Lacrosse Nearly a Delt Production

We look back over the year with a sense of pride for Phi Chapter. The honors gained by members, both in the scholastic line and in extracurricular activities, have been gratifying.

The record since April reveals that Phi placed high in both intramural softball and golf. Keith Belch, a freshman, won two events in the intramural track meet.

Our proudest contribution to W. & L. athletics was the lacrosse team. Coached by Delt Ken Spence and starring eight other Delts, the team was almost completely Delt-produced.

In the various campus publications Delts hold many important offices for next year. Frank Hardwick is the advertising manager for the humor magazine, while Dan Fairbanks holds the same office on the campus weekly.

Notice must be given to three Delts who helped make the humor magazine what it was during the past year. George Smith served in the capacity of art editor, while adding many of his fine illustrations. Dave Disher was an assistant editor and the most consistent contributor to the magazine. Bob Smith, Sr., also donated a fine story.

It is with sadness that we say good-bye to the seniors of '53. They are Jack Delahunty, O.D.K., football captain, executive committeeman, honor student, and recently elected permanent president of his class, now entering medical school; Ken Spence, who also goes to medical school; Bob Smith, Sr., to advanced study in creative writing; Kent Ford to advanced physics work; Sam Hulsy to preparing for the ministry; Bob Latimer to the Navy; and all the others to various jobs and the services.

Yet, even with these losses, we look forward to a fine year led by Bob Smith, Jr.

It is also with sorrow that we say good-bye to Mrs. Carmichael but welcome our new housemother, Mrs. Falkner.

SELDEN W. CLARK

Omega—Pennsylvania

Two Delts Named Honor Men At Annual Hey Day Event

Omega Chapter completed one of its most successful years last June. Highlighting the year were the elections of two Delts as honor men at the annual Hey Day exercises held in May. George Rieder was named Bowl Man and permanent class vice-president. Monroe Trout was elected Spade Man and permanent class secretary. Very seldom in the University of Pennsylvania's history have two honor men been chosen from one fraternity.

Seven Delts were elected to honor societies last spring. Bill Housh, Bob Jones, Ron Atkins, Bob Sweeney, and Tom Singer were elected to Friars, senior society. Dick Morrison was named to Hexagon Senior Society and Bart Leach was elected to Phi Kappa Beta Junior Society. Tom Singer, Dick Morrison, and Bart Leach were all elected secretaries of their respective societies.

Omegas Bob Sheridan and Bob Graf were elected assistant managers of basketball and baseball, while Ron Atkins was chosen head crew manager. Ed Fabricius and Bill Gallaher were elected to the Junior Editorial Board of the Daily Pennsylvanian.

Omega Chapter is looking forward to a year just as full of success. This fall the welcome mat at the Shelter is out for all alumni and Delts of other chapters after the football games. On Army Week End the Shelter will be turned over completely to the alumni. They will have their own party and full use of the sleeping and eating facilities. Rushing begins on November 2, and Rushing Chairman Jack Guest would appreciate any letters of recommendation which the alumni might have for prospective rushees.

WILLIAM GALLAHER

Beta Alpha—Indiana

Swimming, Handball Titles Won

William H. Eichhorn, of Gary, has been named president of Beta Alpha Chapter for the fall semester of the 1953-54 year. He succeeds Jack Bailey, who served during the recent spring semester and resigned because of his marriage this summer.

Delts ranked well in the final intramural standings, after winning the swimming and handball titles. Beta Alpha was shaded from the track and field championship by a few points. We also fared well in softball but did not retain the championship that we had won last spring.

Jack Bailey was named the outstanding intramural athlete of the chapter for the second straight year.

Alan Davis, Indianapolis, was named Delta Tau Delta's outstanding senior for having contributed the most to the Fraternity in his four years in college.

Delt mothers were entertained at the Shelter on Mother's Day. About 40 attended. At a meeting of the Mothers' Club, new officers were named, and Mrs. Kay DeBoest, of Indianapolis, became president of the organization.

The Shelter will miss the seniors who were graduated in June. They are: Alan Davis, Richard Sullivan, William Phillips, Glen Kastner, Peter Sprecher, and John Wolfe.

JOHN H. HEINEY

Beta Beta—DePauw

Achievement Honorary Names Travis Kendall President

Passers-by again halted their travels to look upon Beta Beta's biggest social event of the year. A lawn dinner, a hundred hurricane lanterns, and an unstoppable Dixie-land band trumpeting from the balcony out over the Shelter's sunken garden all contributed to a perfect dance. Many Delts learned to Charleston that night.

Gold Key, DePauw's honorary organization for men of achievement, tapped Travis Kendall for membership in the late spring during Recognition Chapel. Travis has since been elected president of the organization.

Beta Beta has elected Larry Dawson chapter president for the coming year and John Morrison vice-president. Other elected officers include Donald Johnson, corresponding secretary, and Jim Carr, recording secretary.

Fall sports again find DePauw's Delts in pursuit of the all-campus Varsity Trophy which Beta Beta just missed by a hair this past year. Jim Totman and Jerry

Herrmann, veteran harriers, return to bolster the cross-country team.

The varsity football squad will find many Delts in starting positions. Gary Rutledge, Dick O'Connor, Bob Fink, and Dick Brant are in the line, while the backfield will receive strength from the services of Travis Kendall and Ed McFarland.

Delt should be stronger in intramurals than in past years as graduation took little from Beta Beta's already strong intramural teams.

Beta Beta alumni from 16 different states were present at the chapter's annual alumni gathering. After various campus meetings, a chapter alumni meeting was held, including the alumni report to the chapter. A steak fry followed, ending the chapter's activities for the spring. Alumni found the Shelter in excellent condition, including a newly rebuilt "bumroom."

Beta Beta is ready to receive a large pledge class, towards which a good start has already been made.

ALAN C. WHITTAKER

Beta Gamma—Wisconsin

Tournament of Song Win Grabbed by Beta Gamma

Beta Gamma concluded a successful year in extracurricular activities by capturing first place in the all men's division of the University Tournament of Song. Under the direction of Stan Stitgen, the Delt Chorus defeated all the other fraternities and then went on to overwhelm the men's dorms' choruses and the independent male choruses.

Beta Gamma's president, Ray Stommel, who acted as emcee at the Tournament of Song, did a tremendous job in keeping the program moving smoothly and entertaining the audience with his imitations and jokes.

The annual Spring Formal was held May 9 with dinner at the Top Hat Club, followed by dancing and entertainment at the house. Bill Cotanch and Roger Trumbore pooled their talents to dream up modernistic decorations with a spring theme. To climax a marvelous evening, Marlene Thiele, the fiancée of Brother Dick Schillfarth, was chosen as Delt Queen.

To end the spring social season, the Wisconsin Delts held a picnic at beautiful Devil's Lake. Not even rain could dampen the fun to be had in swimming, softball, and mountain climbing.

Under the leadership of Mal Mac Arthur, the chapter's softball team finished an extremely successful season with a 7-win and 1-loss record.

JIM SWAB

Beta Delta—Georgia

Coronation Caps Good Year For Beta Delta Chapter

As Beta Delta closed her books for the 1952-53 year, we paused long enough to reminisce over a year of long, hard study and accomplishments. We began 1952-53 with a successful rush week, the outcome of which was the addition of 13 new brothers to our chapter enrollment.

Eugenia Lee was chosen the Queen of Beta Delta Chapter.

In the field of sports, football was favored by Georgia Delts. Lonnie O'Quinn led our chapter to victory with only one loss.

The annual Christmas party for underprivileged children of Athens was highlighted by the appearance of Santa Claus, who distributed toys, clothing, and candy to the tiny tots.

The "Milk Brawl" was one of our best parties. The house was cleverly decorated as a Western saloon with a speak-easy where spiked drinks (milk with a shot of chocolate) were served. An evening of dancing and singing was topped with a skit under the expert supervision of Alan Shadgett.

The social season met its climax with the coronation of our new sweetheart, Miss Sidney Jane Wright, at our annual Spring Formal.

CHARLES E. GODFREY, JR.

Beta Zeta—Butler

Spring Sing Victory Makes 11 in 14 Years

Beta Zeta began the second semester of the 1952-53 school year with the announcement that the chapter ranked second on campus in scholastic average for the first semester, only two-hundredths of a point behind the winner.

Practice then began for the Butler vaudeville, "Geneva Stunts," and once again Beta Zeta won a very close second following last year's first-place achievement.

Delts entered and won first place in the annual interfraternity Spring Sing. Our song leader was Ross Copeland, who has led the chapter to two wins in the past three years. Ross is a senior.

Since the annual Spring Sing began 14 years ago, Beta Zeta has won 11 of the 14 and has placed second the other three years—an impressive record, and a discouraging one to the other houses on campus.

With graduation taking 13 seniors from the chapter, the rush program is now in full swing under the able leadership of Chairman Jim Smith.

Our officers for the year are: Cliff Lisle, president; John McCardle, vice-president; Max Truby, treasurer; Chuck Boltin, corresponding secretary; and Don Blue, recording secretary.

CHUCK BOLTIN

Beta Eta—Minnesota

Led Gophers in Homers

A few outstanding social events took place during spring quarter. The big event was, of course, the annual spring formal held last May 22 at the Golden Valley Country Club. The menu included a choice of lobster tail or filet mignon, and either choice brought the finest food of its type. An orchestra was on hand, and the "bunny-hop" in cut-cut time had everyone exhausted.

Another big party came through the generosity of John Shuman, Beta Eta, '31, noted Minneapolis author and traveler. Mr. Shuman informed President Tom Bell that he would enjoy having the chapter plus dates at a "little get-together" at the Minikahda Club, one of the finest golf clubs in the city. The little get-together turned into a dazzling array of seafood canapes, plus refreshments, plus music provided by a pianist. Everyone enjoyed himself at this party, which turned into the last real gathering of the school year for the brothers.

Spring athletics found Rog Anderson leading the Minnesota team with six home runs for the season, and Max Schmitt hitting well over .300. Intramural athletics found Bill Warner leading the Delt track team to a fourth-place position in the all-U finals. Hard luck hit the softball team: rained out twice and postponed twice to almost blot out the season.

Bill Warner copped the Best Pledge Award for the winter quarter group.

RONALD DICK

Butler's Beta Zeta Chapter found a new field of service when it sponsored a youthful entry in Indianapolis' Soapbox Derby. Advising RICHARD HELMUTH, JR., racing crown aspirant, here are Delts JACK MARTIN and LARRY DAVIS. Although he did not win, RICHARD gave a good account of himself in the race.

Beta Theta—Sewanee

New Gymnasium Gets Boost From Hole-in-One Contest

Beta Theta Chapter completed the 1952-53 college year in grand style by holding its first annual hole-in-one contest on the University golf course under the capable direction of Dave Cole. The winner of the contest, which attracted many Sewanee alumni, faculty, and students, was presented a $25.00 Savings Bond.

The final day of the contest featured Delt Alumnus Bishop Frank A. Juhan, chairman of the Sewanee Centennial Fund Campaign, who teed off for the first try at the valued hole-in-one. Proceeds from the project were donated to the new University Gymnasium.

Earlier in the semester the chapter held a beach party at one of the nearby mountain lakes. Delts and their dates had a fine time swimming, roasting wieners, and singing all the old favorites.

Near the end of the term a special election of officers was held to replace those who do not plan to return in the fall. Ralph Patston was elected president, with Frank Oxarart stepping into the office of vice-president. Others elected were Bill Emmons, recording secretary; Pete Knapp, treasurer; Tom Herbert, assistant treasurer; Fred Fiske, guide; and Charles Keller, sergeant at arms.

The year was closed in fine style with the annual commencement parties, honoring Beta Theta Chapter's graduating seniors. Those being graduated this year were Bill Stearly, Gilmer White, and Mickey Thompson.

Beta Kappa—Colorado

Angove Named Daily Editor

Rod Angove has been chosen editor for the coming year of the Colorado Daily, the daily paper of the University. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society. Rod was also chosen as one of two students to tour Europe this summer.

Dee Hubbard will serve as the business editor of the Colorado Yearbook.

Once again Delta Tau Delta finished high in the float parade judging that is held annually during C.U. Days. This year the Delts could receive no higher a reward, as Beta Kappa won the grand prize for the float parade. Dee Hubbard supervised the float construction. The float consisted of two teams of horses that were pulling two chariots along the Appian Way.

The Delts also were one of the four fraternities selected to sing in the annual songfest which concludes the C.U. Days activities.

Spring saw Beta Kappa Delts finishing high in the intramural activities. The volleyball squad finished third, while many Delts finished high in individual sports. The high light of the spring intramural season, however, came when the Beta Kappas won the interfraternity league in softball and placed second in the all-school championship race, losing the final game by a score of 6-3. The over-all record for the team was a very respectable eight wins and one loss.

The big social event of the semester was the annual Delta Queen Formal. The lavish Stanley Hotel in Estes Park, Colorado, which opened up especially for this occasion, was the scene for the big dance. The spacious dancing floor and the candle-lighted tables, along with the dancable music of Clint Fullen, put everyone in a romantic and carefree mood.

The high light of the evening came during intermission when Harriet Reid, who is pinned to Brother Dick Ward, was announced by Bob Peacock as Delta Queen for the coming year. Bob then presented her with the traditional roses and kiss.

Mr. Arthur D. Cross of Boulder, Colorado, recently replaced Mr. Kenneth Penfold as chapter adviser. Mr. Penfold should be congratulated on the outstanding job he has done at Beta Kappa during his term as chapter adviser.

Beta Mu—Tufts

Fraternity Exam Grades Soar

Beta Mu's new initiates have again outdone themselves—this time in the Fraternity Exam. The class recorded an average of 90, the best the chapter can boast in recent years, and three men nearly made perfect scores, missing only one question.

After a tough loss in its first game of the year, the softball team enjoyed a winning season and wound up in a second-place tie for the trophy. With almost the whole team returning, we expect an even better year next spring.

The Shelter is undergoing many improvements of both major and minor importance, including tiling of the bathrooms, the addition of a powder room for dates and guests, and a new trophy case for the "rec" room.

High on the social calendar was the annual Delt Week End on the North Shore. Topping off the formal dance on Friday, at which Frank Cogliano was presented the trophy for the "Best All-Around Pledge," was the beach party, complete with boiled lobster and sunshine. The chapter also found time to entertain all the Jackson sororities, and of course the old grads were welcomed back at the annual Parent-Faculty-Alumni Tea.

With finals over and the underclassmen gone home, the seniors had their last fling of dances, beach parties, and steak dinners to celebrate their graduation on June 14 and the end of four successful years as Delts.

Beta Nu—M.I.T.

Recent Graduate Bob Oliver Awarded Fulbright Scholarship

The annual meeting of the Beta Nu House Corporation was held on May 11. It was well attended by both alumni and undergraduates, and the interest exhibited by both groups reflected the close bond existing between the house corporation and the undergraduate chapter.

Beside the usual business transactions, the following officers were elected: president, Edwin Woodward; vice-president, William Rogers; secretary, Paul Weamer; treasurer, John Adams; board of directors, Robert Oliver, Richard Stephan, John Larkin, Bertram Adams, John Summerfield, and Edwin Woodward.

Bob Oliver, '52 graduate and newly-elected member of the house corporation, recently won one of the coveted Fulbright Scholarships. These scholarships are awarded by the British Government through the State Department to deserving American students and entitle their recipients to continue their studies in England with all expenses paid.

Oliver will affiliate himself with the University of London, where he will study primarily economics. Since his arrival at Beta Nu, Bob has been extremely active in all phases of chapter activities, and while we all wish him the best of luck with his studies abroad, it is with regret that we bid him farewell.

Quite a few of the Beta Nu Delts have been active in spring sports here at M.I.T. Outstanding among these is our speedy sophomore track ace, Warren Lattot, who has been breaking intramural and JV track meet records since he came to Tech. Recently Brother Lattot culminated a victorious two-year winning campaign by speeding over the 120-yard high hurdles in a sizzling 14.9 seconds to set a new school record for the event.

The Buntschuh brothers, Chuck and Bob, have been outstanding bulwarks of the varsity heavy- and lightweight crews respectively. In addition, Tom Cleaver, Bill Bacon, and Dave Kelley have been holding down seats on the freshman crew.

Mike Ariens is always a strong threat to the opposition on the rugby team, and Dick Miller is looking good on the frosh track team. Tony Turano and Pete Dyke have been showing some mighty slick stick handling on the varsity and freshman lacrosse teams respectively.

Brothers Karl Reuther and Walt Wolfinger have been making their respective marks on the varsity and frosh baseball squads, while Gordon Sammis has been maintaining a strong berth on the freshman sailing team.

ROBERT CRAVEN

Beta Omicron—Cornell

Barker Named Net Captain

The spring social program turned out to be very successful for Beta Omicron. Several Saturday picnics were held in the local parks, including an exchange affair with Cornell's Tri-Delt chapter. The climax was the annual Spring Week End. Included among the events of the week end were a tea dance, hayride, picnic, and a "Suppressed Desire" party.

For two or three weeks previous, the chapter as a body worked on a float for the week-end parade. All this work was rewarded, as we won second place in the pageant class for our entry depicting the song "We're Off to See the Wizard" from The Wizard of Oz.

Cornell's Big Red tennis team will be captained by a Delt during the season of 1953-54. At a recent Award Night Dinner, Clyde Barker was presented this honor by his teammates.

Clyde started the season at the number 2 position behind last year's Eastern Intercollegiate champion, Gil Rothrock. As the season neared completion, however, Coach Dick Lewis moved Clyde up to the number 1 position he now holds. Clyde was undefeated in this, his first full year of varsity competition.

Delts were outstanding in crew this spring, too. Barry Hart stroked the varsity 150 crew to a successful season, while John Holton stroked the frosh 150's, one of the fastest frosh crews in Cornell history.

Homecoming Week End for 1953-54 will be October 17, date of the Yale football game. The chapter hopes to see all the alumni in the vicinity, and as many others as possible from around the country. Contact the brothers in your class, alumni, and arrange to make this a real homecoming.

Sams and Weaver Join Men's Senior Honor Society

Two Beta Pi Delts have been initiated into Deru, senior men's honorary. They are President Jim Sams and Treasurer Buck Weaver. Jim and Buck were among 16 men from the class of '54 selected on the basis of leadership, service, and scholarship. Jim Sams also was a candidate for senior class president, but was edged in the all-University elections.

Harv Wahls, Beta Pi's I-M director, is the new president of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary. Harv, an outstanding baseball and basketball star for Beta Pi, also serves as vice-president of the ruling body for the Tech school—the Engineering Society Council.

Leading hitter on NU's baseball squad was Delt Jack Tosh. Jack, a slugging left fielder, pounded pitchers for an average over .300.

Five Delts will be on Northwestern's varsity football team this fall. They are Center John Damore, End Ed Demyan, Guard Don Haffner, and Halfbacks Lloyd Israels and Bob McKeiver. McKeiver, a triple-threat flash, has been picked by sportswriters as the Big 10's top soph prospect for the '54 season. Delts holding varsity reserve positions are Ends Joe MacCormick and Bob Morman.

The Spring Formal was held May 16 at the Electric Club in downtown Chicago. A change from the traditional all-day resort party, this year's formal was once again the high light of Beta Pi's social season.

A weak finish in spring sports dropped Beta Pi from the top three I-M teams in the final standings. Graduation losses are light, however, and Beta Pi is aiming for the '54 I-M championship.

Beta Tau—Nebraska

Innocents Society Claims Two Beta Tau Delts

Beta Tau Chapter was well represented in the Ivy Day festivities again this year. Bob Hasebroock and Eldon Park were tapped members of the Innocents Society. This Society of 13 active members is the reward for men who have been outstanding in leadership and scholarship and in service to the University of Nebraska.

Eldon was chosen president of the organization for the coming school year. He is also president of the Builders organization, vice-president of the Student Council and chairman of its judiciary committee, and a member of the Candidate Officers Association. He is a former treasurer of Builders and the Student Council and a former member of the All-University Fund Board.

During his freshman year Eldon received the William Gold Memorial Scholarship Award for being one of the top ten freshmen in the Business Administration College. He also has an NROTC scholarship.

Bob has made an equally fine record. He is a freshman in the College of Law and a pledge to Phi Delta Phi, national law fraternity. Next year Bob will lead one of the organizations most vital to the fraternity system, the Interfraternity Council. He served as secretary to this organization during the past year. Bob is also a member of Kosmet Klub, Builders Board, Student Council, and past vice-president of the junior class. He has served as vice-president and rush chairman here at the Shelter.

Delta Tau Delta was named as one of the top ten fraternities on campus in the annual activities and scholarship awards presented during Ivy Day by the Innocents Society.

Two Beta Tau Delts, Ben Zinnecker and Walter Wright, were initiated into Kosmet Klub, men's dramatic organization, this spring. Walt was chosen as the "outstanding worker" during the year and as a result was made historian of the organization.

On April 17 Delta Tau Delta held its annual formal with all the brothers and several of the more recent alumni still residing near Lincoln attending. High light of the evening was the crowning of the Delt Queen, Miss Gracia Eyth. She is president of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority and engaged to Bob Hasebroock.

On April 24 the Delts journeyed to Omaha to attend the annual Initiation Banquet given in honor of the newly initiated Beta Tau Delts by the Omaha Alumni Chapter. In addition to the Omaha alumni, many alumni from Lincoln and out-state Nebraska were present. George Fullerton, a freshman in engineering from Ainsworth, Nebraska, was given the William B. Webster Scholarship awarded each year by Mr. Webster (BT, '45). Gary Frandsen, from York, Nebraska, received the scholastic trophy given to the freshman having the highest average. The "Squab Best" award was presented to Jack Skalla, from Beatrice, Nebraska. Dick Grant, of Columbus, Nebraska, and Chuck Tomsen, of Minden, Nebraska, were given the second and third place awards respectively.

Beta Tau is proud to announce the four members who graduate this June. We wish to extend our congratulations to them and wish them success in all their undertakings. The graduates are Duane Nielson, Bill Adams, Harry Haverly, and Herb Saxton.

A brunch was held at the chapter house on Saturday morning followed by an all-day picnic. The week end was then climaxed by a Sweetheart Dinner held at the house on Sunday. Thanks to Social Chairman Phil Roberts, it turned out to be the best of our long line of famous Delt Spring Parties.

We are very proud of two brothers who have made Ma-Wan-Da, honorary activity fraternity for seniors. They are Bob Lenzini and Lou Keesey. Bob is next season's football captain and Lou has been chosen chief sports editor for the campus newspaper, The Daily Illini.

As our president, Jack Williams, is being graduated this June, an election was held, and Dick Anderson, '54, was elected president for the approaching school year. As Dick was our vice-president, John Greenleaf, '54, was elected as our new vice-president.

Beta Phi—Ohio State

Junior Class Presidency Returns to Delt House

"Banquets, parties, and balls . . ." The merry round was in high gear spring quarter at Ohio State: Founders Day and spring initiation, the Sweetheart Formal, Mother's Week End, May Week, the all-day picnic at Edgewater Park, the rushing outing to Indian Lake, and all the rest.

High light of all, of course, was the Spring Sweetheart Formal held at the Fiesta Club. Barbara Arnold was chosen from among five lovely Delt pinmates to be the Delt Sweetheart for 1953. Bill James copped scholarship honors and Jim Hogan was awarded the chapter activities key.

School was practically forgotten during the campus-wide May Week celebration. Almost the whole chapter stood with 5,000 other cadets in the President's review of the ROTC, then joined in the contests and traditional pageants of May Week. John Borton was tapped into Bucket and Dipper, junior men's honorary. And the Delt float depicting the fort at Tippecanoe, complete with pioneers and Indians, won second place in the Ohio sesquicentennial anniversary parade.

As this report appears in September and thoughts are turning to football, watch for John Borton as the Buckeye quarterback who proved to be as powerful in one-platoon football as two-through the spring practices. And Frank Machinsky, now a sophomore, will be there to bolster the Buck line at tackle.

School was still with us, though, and none proved it better than Bill James, who was one of only four juniors in the University to be chosen for Phi Beta Kappa. The premed student has had but one "B" while at Ohio State.

John Borton added a new honor when he was elected president of the Junior Class in the spring elections and brought that position back to the Delt house after a year's lapse.

Beta Chi—Brown

Capture Lampher Cup With Late Softball Rally

Beta Chi bids good-bye to 23 brothers who were graduated with the class of 1953 last June. As we start the fall term, we know that the Shelter will not be quite the same, but we are confident that our new pledges will more than adequately fill the gap and carry on the same fine traditions of leadership and character maintained by those who were graduated.

A well-attended informal dinner was held in early May in honor of the departing seniors. Those present included a loyal group of local Delt alumni who added to the success of the evening.

Beta Chi's softball team put on a rally in an extra-inning game and won the coveted Lampher Cup, awarded annually in interfraternity athletic contests. We went on to win the all-college softball trophy.

Again we extend our best wishes for every success to the departing seniors whose many contributions to Delta Tau Delta make us owe them a debt of gratitude which cannot be expressed in words.

To next year's campus leaders we express our confidence and pride; to Ed Lary, president of the Vigilance Committee; to Don Trepte, president of the Brown Key; to Phil Bonz, commanding officer of the Naval ROTC unit; and to Gerry Haverty, captain of the 1953 Brown varsity football team.

The member brothers of Beta Chi Chapter have good reason to believe that the coming school year, 1953-54, will be a memorable and happy one.

Activity Marks Year's Close

Beta Psi ended the year with a rush of activity. The Howells, parents of a Beta Psi senior, threw their annual steak fry for the chapter the day after finals were over. Most of the chapter, our adviser, and the parents of several local brothers were present. After eating, we joined in singing all the old Fraternity and school songs we knew. Then came the Commencement Week End and it was busier than usual for the actives and graduates of Beta Psi.

Friday night we held our second-semester initiation. We welcomed four good men into the chapter.

Sunday was the big day. Sunday morning we had a breakfast reunion honoring Larry Sheaffer's 30 years as Beta Psi chapter adviser. There were men attending the reunion from the first group Larry was with in 1923, and they remembered him and his ways as well as did the newest pledge. Larry has become almost a legend because of his long and faithful service to the Fraternity. For this reason all the men of Beta Psi, past and present, got together and gave Larry a new television set. It was a real thrill for us to be able to do something for Larry for a change.

Sunday afternoon was Commencement and Beta Psi lost three good men: Mike Gillis, Pete Moffett, and Dick Howell. We are sad to lose these men, but we are glad we lost so few for it puts us in a good spot, in all respects, for next year.

A rather good crowd of alumni turned out and the whole affair was a big success.

We did not forget rush during the summer. We held rush parties in Chicago, Indianapolis, and Evansville. We wish to take this opportunity to thank the alumni of these various cities for their help in our rush program.

Chapter Glee Club Retires Second Straight Sing Cup

Before we start the new year fresh from vacations and cruises, perhaps it would be well if we looked back to the last few months of the '53 school year. The Junior Prom on May 2 started off a bang-up Junior Week Open House. The NROTC, headed by Bob Cook, a Delt, walked off with the Open House exhibit trophy. Then came the night we were all waiting for, May 9, the night of the IF sing and conclusion of Junior Week. Under the excellent direction of Bill Staehle, the Deltas won the sing to make it three in a row and retire our second straight sing cup.

The next big event was the annual Founders Day party held on May 10. The party this year was the biggest yet, thanks to the hard work of our house corporation and Ron Hernes, chairman of the alumni relations committee.

This year the Deltas again had a man, Bob "Ich" Zekes, elected to the highest office in school, Student Association president. Last year Bob served as veep of the same organization. The sophs elected Hank Zoubek as their treasurer, and even the pledges got in the act by landing the veep and treasurer offices in the freshman class.

May 23 rolled around and with it came a fitting climax for our parties. Thanks to Bud Schutt, our social chairman, the May 23 party, a formal dance held on the roof-top gardens of the Sherry Hotel honoring those pinned and those graduating, was a huge success and promises to be an annual affair. As soon as the merriment was over, however, finals started, casting a pall of silence over the Shelter.

Bob Cook, Frank Sheehy, Jerry Bugler, all mechanical engineers; Bob McWhorter, a physics major; and Mac Cullless, a fire protection engineer, all received their degrees on June 12, thus becoming Delt alumni. Both Bobs, Frank, and Mac are now serving Uncle Sam in the Navy.

Delt Swimming Captain Leads Team to New Relay Record

Chuck Luker, captain of the Dartmouth swimming team, completed a fine season with a flourish when he led the medley relay team to a new record in a late-season try. Tom Kelsey, another Delt swimming star, performed well for the Big Green natators and was honored with a varsity letter at the season's close.

In spring sports, Bill White played fine ball for the varsity lacrosse team, while Student Coach Ted McKown and Manager Howdy Russell led a Delt-dominated 150-pound crew to a successful season. Dave Replogle coached the freshman heavyweight crew, and Dick Dalbeck was mentor for the varsity heavyweight oarsmen.

Winter Carnival occupied a great deal of the brothers' fraternity activities over the winter. Much time and effort were put into the "Wintaur," Delt's contribution to the campus snow statues. Charley Hoyt and his fine aggregation of Wesleyan Delt's made splendid music and added much to our enjoyment of the Winter Carnival Saturday-night dance.

Delta Tau Delta achieved a victory in one of the most coveted awards for fraternities last winter when the Delt players, under the direction of Dave Replogle, retired the Interfraternity Play Trophy by winning the year's competition with an original production of T. S. Eliot's Sweeney Agonistes. It was the second straight win in this contest for the Delt's, and with it we gained a third leg on the highly-prized cup.

In the annual elections, Ray Freud was named president of the chapter, Howdy Russell vice-president, Bill White social chairman, and Eliot A. Smith rush chairman by a vote of the brothers.

The house celebrated Dartmouth's spring week end, Green Key, with great enthusiasm and a particularly fine group of dates. Bill White took honors for an excellent job of planning.

The Delt softball team finished a successful season with a 4-2 record. One of the losses was a heart-breaking play-off game for the league championship. Seniors Chet Caswell, Hap Presson, Tom Hartshorn, John Rice, Tom Wilson, Dave Stanley, and Pete Wagner all ended their playing days with the Delt's.

At the annual Wet Down Presentation, John Rice was awarded the soccer trophy for the senior who has shown the most improvement in the sport.

In one of the most outstanding commencements ever recorded at Dartmouth, 26 Delt's received their diplomas, saw President of the United States Eisenhower awarded an honorary LL.D., and heard his already famous "book burners" speech. Gamma Gamma looks forward to a successful rushing program, guided by Chairman Eliot Smith, in the fall.

Gamma Zeta—Wesleyan

Phi Beta Kappa Claims Four Delt's of '53 Class

The final stretch of the 1952-53 academic year at Wesleyan evidenced no letup whatsoever in Gamma Zeta activities. Both individual and group achievements served to maintain Delt prestige on campus.

Most gratifying was the election in June of two more brothers to Phi Beta Kappa—Jim Plimpton and Fred Wandall. Their initiation made a total of four Delt's in the Class of '53 to be so recognized by the honorary society. Brothers Eggers and Maltese had become members several months before.

Last year's senior class gathered more laurels for itself and the rest of the chapter when Brothers Eggers and Maltese were awarded High Distinction at graduation ceremonies. Chaz Hoyt, Jim Plimpton, and Fred Wandall each received degrees with Distinction.

Commencement Week End saw the return of a substantial number of Delt alumni to the Wesleyan campus. An alumni banquet was held in their honor at the Shelter. Scheduled to follow the meal was a Phi Rho meeting, part of which was devoted to talks by undergraduate brothers on current activities of the chapter.

The spring of '53 also witnessed a gala Party Week End. Gamma Zeta chose a "beneath-the-sea" motif, and, under the artistic leadership of Pledge Dick Kaseler, the living room and hall were transformed into "Neptune's Nook." Enhancing the fathomless depths were luscious mermaids (of cardboard and paint) and various types of fishes which sometimes swam into nets that dangled from the "surface." Unique lighting effects were achieved by means of professional equipment obtained for the occasion by Steward Bob Carey.

Gamma Zeta was well represented in Europe this past summer since Chaz Hoyt, Jim Plimpton, and Dave Rich toured the continent with their celebrated High Street Five Jazz Band. Although the trip was Jim's (Class of '53) last chance to play regularly with the band, his classmate, Chaz, will continue in his present capacity as leader for at least two more years. He is enrolled for a postgraduate course at Wesleyan.

Gamma Zeta's presence in Europe is insured after the band's departure, because Russ Eggers will study under a Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford and George Maltese will be enrolled for graduate work at the University of Frankfurt where he has received a one-year fellowship.

At the time of this writing it is impossible to state the results of our fall rushing program, but if the well-laid plans of Bud Johnson and his committee mature as expected, we should have little difficulty in pledging a fine group of men. The names of the subfreshmen were sorted and filed according to geographical location and were then sent with rushing committee comments to active brothers and Delt alumni with matching—or at least near matching—addresses. Because this information arrived early in the summer, the brothers had ample time to schedule informal get-togethers with the subfreshmen.

At the same time as the entering class was furnished with valuable information in planning their courses, the brothers were able to establish friendships that would be easily renewed in September. The alumni found their participation in such an active endeavor extremely enjoyable. Since Wesleyan's rushing occurs before classes begin, the precollege introductions made possible by our new plan should prove invaluable aids in attracting men to Gamma Zeta.

With an eye to the chapter's rushing success, special care was taken when putting the house in shape for the year. Our prize addition is a new stove and fryer—a purchase which makes the Kellys' famous cooking even better than its usual great.

Clark and Howard Gain Student Council Positions

When George Washington University begins its fall semester in a few weeks, two teammates on the 1951 Delt All-U Championship cage squad will once again be on the same team as they join sixteen other campus politicians at the round table of student government.

Delt's Jay Howard and Charlie Clark, who as a guard-center combo garnished many intramural cage points for a high-scoring Gamma Eta five, will move into the Student Council huddle to occupy berths earned during Council elections last spring.

Howard, former chapter rush chairman, was swept into the office of member-at-large by the second highest number of ballots received by any of the other 36 candidates.

Three-time member of the honorary all-U intramural cage squad, Clark will sit on the new Council as representative of the School of Government.

Other Delt's "new to the game" will be Neophytes Jim Dudley, Walt Norris, Lorenz Schrenk, and Cliff Royston, who will face their first rush season as actives following their initiation in early June.

An associated staff member of the House Appropriations Committee and part-time BusAd major, Dudley left his home state of Iowa to spend four years as a Navy radioman before coming to G. W.

Tall (6' 4") Walt Norris, a G. W. law student, spends his spare time managing the University's modernistic Lisner Auditorium which boasts the largest auditorium stage in the Nation's Capital.

Commodore of the University's title-winning sailing team, Skipper Lorenz Schrenk has just returned from a summer tour of navigation and marlinespike seamanship at the Navy's Reserve Officer Candidate School, Long Beach, California.

California Republican Cliff Royston, a part-time Capitol Hill employee under Senator Knowland (R-Calif.), returned to the Bear State during mid-summer. He intends to enroll at the University of California at Berkeley where he will join Beta Omega Delts.

Gamma Theta—Baker

Scholarship Award Announced At 50th Annual Stag Night

Gamma Theta has set itself a high standard to live up to as it enters into this new year of '53-'54, but with an excellent pledge class, a good active chapter, and a strong and able leader, Bill Eddy, we expect to attain and possibly even surpass our goals of last year.

To illustrate the reputation this chapter has to uphold, Gamma Theta was well above the All Men's Average and first among the fraternities of the campus. As a result, we were awarded the St. Louis Alumni Scholarship Trophy on May 4, and at our 50th Annual Stag, Bob Gilley, Western Division President, announced that the Arch Chapter had decided to make a duplicate of the Division scholarship plaque, awarding one to Gamma Theta and one to Gamma Mu of Washington.

In intramurals last year, we Delts as usual were tops on the campus. We took trophies in softball, A-team basketball, tennis doubles, and golf, and topped off the year by having the most points to take the All-Sports Trophy. The two other trophies we won are second place in intramural debate and the trophy for the best skit at the annual Kansas City Alumni Banquet.

Trophies and honors won by individual men in the chapter include the Goetz Award for athletics and scholarship, the Emil Liston Outstanding Player Award, Popularity King and Homecoming King, the Wall Street Journal Award, three postgraduate fellowships, two admittances to Dental School, one to Medical School, Naval commissions, and the Distinguished Service Chapter Outstanding Freshman Award.

Since last year was the Golden Anniversary of Gamma Theta, we ended the year with the best 50th Annual Stag anyone ever had. After an excellent introductory speech by Bill Eddy, Toastmaster Bish Thompson took over to provide the humor and fill-in of the evening. During the course of the evening, many awards were presented, and we were honored by speeches from President Dickinson, Western Division President Gilley, and some of the original 13 men initiated into Delta Tau as the Gamma Theta Chapter. We also had several long-distance phone calls of congratulation and speeches by other persons from the chapter. The evening was topped off by the main speaker of the evening, Judge Haskins, an alumnus of Gamma Theta and judge at Olathe, Kansas.

Gamma Kappa—Missouri

Softball Team Runs Wild, Cops University Championship

For the first time in a number of years, the softball team literally ran wild. With the momentum gathered in winning the division championship, Delts breezed by their arch rivals, Kappa Sig and Sigma Chi, to win the fraternity championship. The following day they met and defeated the independent champions, The Hoods. As most of the team are freshmen and sophomores, Gamma Kappa can look forward to the coming years with confidence in the caliber of the teams that will represent the Fraternity.

The spring meeting of the house corporation was held recently at the chapter house in the new rec room. Approval was voted on work to be done on the plumbing, renovation of the second floor, and foundation repairs on the newer wing of the house. Plans for increasing the amount of insurance carried on the house furnishings were also approved and put into action.

The chapter is indeed proud of Jim Doerr and Bob Molesky, who lettered in varsity baseball this spring.

The Tulip Ball and the dinner preceding it were held at the Columbia Country Club. Gene Beckmen's 11-piece orchestra furnished the music. As usual, the Spring Barbecue was a rousing success. It was held at Hulen's Lakes with swimming in the afternoon, followed by dinner and the bonfire.

Summer rush was carried on under the able leadership of Frank Frier. Parties were held in such centers as St. Louis and Kansas City.

Gamma Lambda—Purdue

Improvement Award for Scholastic Achievement Won

Gamma Lambda Chapter is proud to announce its winning of the scholarship trophy at Purdue for 1952. This trophy is presented annually to the fraternity having the most improvement in scholarship by the Purdue Fraternity Advisors' Association. We are all working hard to make sure that our scholastic standing will continue to rise as it has in the past; and if all goes well, we may be adding another trophy to our case next year.

The brothers will forever remember April 17, 18, and 19, for during these days "South Pacific" visited Purdue. The cast unanimously accepted our invitation for informal get-togethers before and after each performance. It proved to be a wonderful opportunity to meet and to talk to these marvelous show people. As a token of their appreciation for our hospitality, they sent us an autographed score upon which was written "To Delta Tau Delta for Some Enchanted Evening."

April 25 marked the date of our spring formal, "Darkness." Beautiful Joanne Lowe reigned as the first Gamma Lambda

When "South Pacific" played the Purdue campus, Delts treated members of the production's cast to Shelter hospitality. Pictured here are Players LIDA THORNTON, NORMA CALDERON, and DOROTHY FRANKLIN, seated on the divan, and EVANS THORNTON, PERRY LOPEZ, and DON WORTMAN directly behind.

Delt Queen. Joanne is a Pi Beta Phi freshman from Ohio Wesleyan University. She was presented with an impressive trophy while the brothers sang "Delta Queen." We were happy to welcome back several alums who shared this wonderful dance with us.

Forty mothers were the guests of the chapter during Mother's Day week end. At their annual meeting Keith Collier, Gamma Lambda president, welcomed each of them to the Shelter. Mrs. Tobin was elected president of the Mothers' Club, and Mrs. Finnegan was elected to serve as treasurer. After an eventful day Saturday, the mothers were thrilled by the special sweetheart serenade given them just as they were turning in.

As the semester drew to a close the gears of the rush committee were beginning to shift into high gear with plans for an intensive rush program for the summer months. Many fine men of Delt caliber have already visited the Shelter, and it looks as if Gamma Lambda will have another fine pledge class for the fall semester next year. Rush Chairman Jack Swanson is to be congratulated for his magnificent job so far.

We are sorry to see the end of the semester approaching, for seven of our brothers will be leaving us with their hard-earned degrees. We wish them the best of luck and hope that they will come back often to visit us.

Gamma Mu—Washington

Delt Becomes First Person To Swim Lake Washington

Gamma Mu again maintained its customary high position in activities—social, athletic, and scholastic. Dom Driano, member of Purple Shield and Oval Club, was last year's Homecoming chairman. Dom is now chairman of Washington's "Hoover" Committee, appointed to investigate expenditures of Student Union funds.

The most successful Varsity Ball in the history of the University was staged by the committee of the same name under the direction of Donner Buchet. Donner, former chairman of the All-University Social Committee, is now chairman of the Hub Operating Committee. Warren Miller was Sophomore Carnival chairman, while Bob Muckelstone served as president of Oval Club, underclassmen's scholastic and activities honorary.

Dom Driano, Donner Buchet, and Rod Vanderhoof joined a number of their brother Delts when they were elected to Oval Club. Other Delts were elected to Purple Shield as well as many other activity and scholastic honoraries.

One of the fullest social calendars in recent years provided Gamma Mu Delts with a wide variety of events. The Delts entered Song Fest last year with the Tri Delts and entered Sophomore Carnival with Delta Gamma. Although we placed third in Sophomore Carnival, all agreed that the effort was well worth while. Gamma Mu has won four times in the past eight years.

Active participation in both intercollegiate and intramural athletics was especially evident last year. Bill Rule achieved national recognition for having been the first person ever to swim the length of Lake Washington—a distance of over 20 miles. He accomplished the feat in 15 hours.

John Courage won his first-year numerals in football by playing center position. Rod Vanderhoof was recognized as one of the best "880" men on the coast. Chuck Worthington, former all-city speedster from Detroit, is one of the University's most promising track men.

Al Galbraith and Rod Bush represented the Chapter in baseball. Varsity crewmen included Bill Staples and Dick Greede, while Roger Mehl won frosh crew numerals. Delts entered every major intramural event and took a number of second places.

Dave Clinkenbeard enters the Harvard Law School this year. During his University career at Washington, Dave served as president of the Associated Men Students in addition to various other positions.

That the alumni chapter is fulfilling its goal of becoming the most active fraternal body at Washington has been evident throughout the past year. Its active participation in chapter-sponsored events and the willingness of its members to contribute their time to building up the Fraternity's position locally have indeed been an inspiration to the undergraduates.

The fact is even more tangibly exemplified by the new addition constructed last summer. The rear of the Shelter was extended on the first two floors so as to be flush with the right and left wings. The first-floor addition provided for two new rooms and an enlarged back hall. The second-floor expansion included a completely remodeled lavatory.

Gamma Nu—Maine

Dionne Wins Alumni Saber

Patrick Henry Dionne was presented the Alumni Saber at the annual spring Federal inspection. The presentation was made by George E. Lord, of Orono, vice-president of the General Alumni Association. The Alumni Saber is presented to the outstanding graduating cadet. Pat is now in Officer's Training School at Fort Benning.

Other Delts who won awards for military distinction are Herb Hardy, Paul Marcoux, and Neil Clark. Herb was named outstanding anti-aircraft artillery man when he was a junior and again this year as a senior. Paul Marcoux was named the cadet giving the best performance as first sergeant. Neil Clark was the outstanding anti-aircraft artillery man in the junior class this year.

Of the 17 fraternities at Maine, Gamma Nu carried off second honors at the Interfraternity Sing last May. Credit for this successful showing goes to the hard work of Buzz Humphrey and John White who directed our sing.

Paul Marcoux, Gamma Nu president, was elected vice-president of the Interfraternity Council. In addition, Paul was named a Senior Skull.

The Senior Skulls at Maine are a small group of senior men, chosen in their junior year on the basis of scholarship, character, and service. This group tries to promote good relations among the students, alumni, and administration of Maine. It is the highest non-academic recognition for senior men.

During her first year here at Maine, Miss Nancy Davis was chosen the Sweetheart of Delta Tau at the annual spring house party. On May 22, following the house party, an outing was held at North Haven Island. North Haven, located a dozen miles from Maine's rugged coast, offers an ideal spot for an outing.

The annual Mother's Day banquet was held May 10. Some 50 parents and friends traveled to Orono to visit the Shelter. One Sunday in May is traditionally dedicated to the parents of Gamma Nu.

The Iris Awards which are given for achievement in Gamma Nu were this year given by Brother Andy Mezoian, '52. The recipients of these awards were Patrick Dionne, outstanding senior; Richard Cushing, best athlete and highest point average; Buzz Humphrey, outstanding pledge; and Bob Ganem, best worker.

Bob Packard was unanimously named winner of the Claude Dewing Graton Prize at Maine for writing the best essay on a current constitutional question. Packard won a cash prize for his essay, "The Doctrine of Separation of Powers and Conduct of American Foreign Policy."

Mr. Delt Award for Bagby

The following awards were given at an open house for mothers on Mother's Day: Jack Bagby, Mr. Delt, for outstanding service to the chapter; Charles Carlson, outstanding pledge; and Ray Cadwallader, intramural plaque.

The chapter held its annual week-end party May 29-31. Friday night after dinner at the Shelter, Delts and their dates went dancing at Moonlight Gardens, Coney Island. Saturday night the formal was held at Twin Oaks Country Club, across the river in Kentucky. The girls received crested bracelets as favors. Sunday a picnic was thrown at Wild Brook Acres to climax the week end.

On June 12 a stag party was given in honor of our seniors. Congratulations should go to Sand, Neiberding, and Pickering, who were three out of the 16 selected for the University's medical school.

Delts had another party—a swimming stag with the alumni—at Brother Farrell's house on June 24.

mal. The high light of the dance was a candlelight serenade for four brothers and their pinned sweethearts. Each sweetheart received a bouquet of red roses, trimmed with purple and gold ribbon.

The following day we ended our social season with our annual clambake at the farm of our good friend and active alumnus, Ernie Deming. We took advantage of the perfect weather by playing softball.

Spring week end on the Syracuse campus features a colorful float parade which most of the fraternities and sororities enter. The Deltas again provided humor by depicting the sad and jubilant aspects of the Alabama victory over Syracuse at the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day. The vivid float, which sprouted many palm trees, was designed by John Brand, and the construction was directed and executed by Jack Duddy.

It should be noted that Gamma Omicron sent the Deltas at Alabama a skin to be branded with the Orange Bowl score. This was payment of a pregame bet initiated by Delta Eta in the spirit of friendly rivalry.

Annually the Syracuse students sponsor their own version of the Community Chest called the "Campus Chest." The funds are used largely to aid foreign students on campus. The big fund-raising project is the "Campus Chest Carnival" in which the Delt House was well represented with a fortuneteller's tent. This proved to be a very popular attraction in which a recently Delt-pinned coed in an authentic costume read palms by candlelight.

This fall the Shelter will have quite an extensive face-lifting. We plan to sand and varnish most of the floors and to paint several rooms. The redecoration will be continued during Help Week by our pledge class of eleven. The tangible results of our previous Help Weeks were realized in a new recreation room in the basement, which we also use for meetings.

The June graduation to the undergrads meant the exit of six fine brothers. Among them were Syd Walker and John Diaz, our former president and vice-president respectively. They both aided the chapter a great deal in building a strong and united house.

Syd was president of the School of Forestry during his junior year and maintained a high scholastic average throughout his four-year course. He also was a strong supporter for the Deltas when we met our opponents in intramural sports.

John Diaz is the most versatile and talented brother the chapter has had in quite a while. At our last initiation banquet he was presented with the activities cup, which is awarded to the most outstanding brother in the Shelter. An excellent athlete, he played football and hockey and received his letter in baseball.

John excelled musically as director of Gamma Omicron's serenades and also at the keyboard, where he teamed up with Bill Alderisio to provide the entertainment for many of our parties. A fine student, he was a member of six scholastic honoraries.

We wish all of our graduating brothers success in their future careers.

Gamma Pi—Iowa State

Sidewalk Engineers Supervise Construction of New Shelter

The Deltas at Iowa State have been spending quite a bit of time over at the lot where their new Shelter is in the process of construction. The house of modern design and brick construction should be ready for use sometime during the school year. James Thompson and Sons Company of Ames is the general contractor.

As usual, the big party of spring quarter was "Lucky Pierre." This time the theme was a French sewer. The members and their dates entered the Shelter through a long, dark tunnel which dripped water appropriately. Inside, decorations varied from room to room including a gambling casino, a sidewalk restaurant, and a park in the city.

The Deltas' intramural softball team was beaten out in the semi-final round of tournament play-offs. Our horseshoe team beat every opponent, however, to take the championship.

The house also kept busy this year with Veishea. Many worked on committees and the house itself was lucky enough to have its skit chosen for Veishea Vodvil, quite a feat since only four skits were selected from the more than 50 which started out early last fall.

The chapter invites any alumnus to stop at the Shelter, see how the new Shelter construction is progressing, and talk over old times.

Gamma Rho—Oregon

Chapter Sponsors Winning Queen

An intensive program of summer rushing included much letter writing and personal contact and culminated in two successful rush parties. Indications are that Gamma Rho will capitalize on this effort during the early fall-term rush period.

Ron Ricketts is now presiding as prexy of Gamma Rho, having entered office when Hugh Garabrant was called into the service last April. Ron Morgan took over the vice-prexy's job which Ricketts vacated.

The intramural footballers are readying for the coming fall campaign with hopes of much success. There are several veterans returning who will form a strong nucleus.

Fall promises a full social slate for Gamma Rho with several football game parties planned and the challenge before us of trying to keep our first-place trophy for the Homecoming Sign Contest.

Late spring activities included a fourth-place finish for our float in the Junior Week End parade; being the sponsor of Joan Walker, Theta, the Junior Week End Queen winner; and climaxing a busy social year with our spring house dance, "Chez Diable." The dance was a costume affair with the decorations representing a slum-type, hole-in-the-wall French night club.

Phil Lewis won his second varsity letter for swimming. He won several first places during the season in his pet event, the 440 freestyle. Bob Berry and Ricketts were active in campus affairs last spring, each holding important chairmanships for Duck Preview and Junior Week End.

Gamma Tau—Kansas

Garner Volleyball Crown

Once again a strong Gamma Tau team fought through fierce competition to bring home the bacon—another Hill championship in volleyball.

Have you ever been to an all-day party? You should have come to the one the K. U. Deltas had. Festivities started with brunch in the morning, followed by a treasure hunt for such inaccessible treasures as Chancellor Murphy's hat and sock size. A picnic in the afternoon at Lone Star Lake preceded another party in the evening.

Most of the chapters in the Midwest recently attended a convention at Marysville sponsored by the K. U. chapter. It was a most successful meeting, and the Deltas of the respective schools are looking forward to another one next year.

To give "pa" a chance to see how Junior lives at the Shelter was the purpose of Dad's Week End. After showing their fathers around the house, the boys took them to see the Rock Chalk Review, an annual campus stage production, and wound things up with a two-notch Sunday dinner (a meal requiring you to loosen your belt not one, but two, notches).

Gamma Tau's new officers for the 1953-54 year are: Frank Rodkey, president; Jack Byrd, vice-president; Jean Legler, corresponding secretary; Kent Sanborn, recording secretary; and Dick Glenn, treasurer.

Gamma Upsilon—Miami

Delts Sweep Swim Meet

Our spring formal was a huge success; for the week end of May 16 the Deltas took over Miami University's campus. During the last few years our spring formal has become a campus-wide event, and it was hard to pick out our own brothers from all those who attended.

The afternoon was spent indoors listening to the jazz combo of Frankie Payne from Cincinnati. In the evening we moved outside to dance to Clyde Trask's orchestra.

Jerry Sutter, Bob Wolf, and Ken Lazarus did a great job of decorating the dance patio in the back yard. Jerry had the honor of having his "pin-plant," Miss Ica Huebner, crowned Queen of Delta Tau Delta. She accepted the cup from the master of ceremonies, Bob Wolf.

Ica had a smile for us all as we gathered around the gaily lighted pool to serenade our new Sweetheart.

This year was the first year for an interfraternity and all-campus swim meet. Gamma Upsilon came out on top by winning first place in every event except diving and collected a grand total of 75 points to finish far ahead of all competitors. Forbes Taylor was the team manager, but he did far more. Forbes won two events and anchored a relay team to be high-point man of the meet.

By the time this article is being read by Delts around the nation, our chapter will be instituting something new on Miami's campus. Ken Lazurus and Jack Stuhmer are cochairmen for the "Delt Soap Box Derby." Plans are set for entries from each fraternity and sorority with the winners of these groups racing each other.

Fraternity Scholastic Award Won by Ramblin' Delts

Participation in the Fraternity's athletic program, the winning of the school scholarship trophy, planning for the expansion of the Shelter, and farewells to the parting seniors made the spring quarter at Gamma Psi an eventful one.

Twenty-one brothers, representing about one-fourth of the chapter, received diplomas in June and embarked on their careers. Although this was something of a blow to the chapter, we feel that we have made an excellent start at a recovery by re-electing Brother Bill Britton rush chairman for next year. Under Bill's supervision, a highly effective rush program is anticipated for next fall, and plans are already under way to insure its success.

In order to have time to get the Shelter in shape and so as to be able to move promptly into rushing, it was decided that the chapter would convene one week before the opening of school in September. And already a combo, under the direction of Brother Shelby Barré, can be heard practicing for next year's smokers.

For the first time in quite a few years, Gamma Psi has succeeded in winning the school scholarship award. The feat was accomplished in the winter quarter, when the chapter average was 2.46. It came as somewhat of a surprise to all of us.

Our major success in athletics during the spring was achieved by Brother Brad Bennett, who captured the school golf championship. As a whole, the chapter placed second in golf, while in the gym and track meets we took third places.

It looks as though an eagerly awaited event—the expansion of the Shelter—is at last ready to take place at Gamma Psi. As the plans are now, an addition will be built to the Shelter which will increase our housing facilities about 100 per cent and also enlarge the living quarters. Construction will begin in the near future.

John Ragin Will Join Bob Boyer in England

As the final exams draw near at Carnegie Tech, the Delts look back on what has been an eventful and significant spring semester. It has been a semester of distant goals, hard work, and optimism. It also had its disappointments; but highlighting all social activity was Spring Carnival, with its exciting races and spectacular float parade, busy midway, and fast pace of festivities. For the grads, the Alumni Dinner, held at the Schenley Hotel, keynoted the week end, and met with a gratifying turnout. In the buggy race, the Delts ran a disappointingly close second in a record-breaking push, being beaten by a mere five hundredths of a second. Our bid in the float parade was a huge, stunningly realistic, and laboriously constructed elephant, representing P. T. Barnum's Jumbo, with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb seated on top.

We are proud to announce another award made to Brother John Ragin, a drama student who has hitherto received much acclaim in the Pittsburgh area. John will be spending his next year in and about London, England, on an all-expense Fulbright Fellowship. It was a happy occasion both for the chapter and for Brother Robert Boyer, who will be attending Oxford University. John and Bob plan to see a lot of each other next year in England and nearby places.

We have in our midst the intramural tennis champion, Brother Clark Garrecht, who won the title from a large field of contestants. The spring sports of softball and soccer are now past, the chapter having made a commendable though somewhat undistinguished showing in each.

We are optimistically looking forward to the new school year this fall, for we hope, with confidence and determination, that our future efforts and plans will be amply rewarded.

Delts End Successful Year as Two Join the Ranks of Phi Beta Kappa

This year two of our brothers joined the ranks of Phi Beta Kappa. They were Keith Wrage, a medical student here at the University, and Charles Jones, a government major.

Don Buxton, a senior in business school, was elected as the chapter president. The cabinet elected to assist the president were Walt Leyse, manager; Dick Kallestad, vice-president; and Bill Anderson, secretary.

The year ended last spring with the Delts on top in many campus activities. Two of the most important are the winning of "Strollers," the annual vaudeville performance, for the second consecutive year and the intramural swimming meet led by our record-breaking swimmer, Jerry Moen.

Jerry captured the 50-yard free style, the 100-yard free style, and the 75-yard individual medley, all in record time.

The Delts were also strong in baseball again last spring with at least a tie for first place at the time of this writing.

Last year saw another successful Founders Day reunion. The Founders Day banquet was held in the Shelter, where the living room and the dining room had been combined into one great banquet hall.

Last spring, at our annual Mother's Day banquet, the chapter presented our housemother, "Mother" Martelle, with a Delta Tau Delta sweetheart pin.

A series of rush parties was planned for the summer months under the able direction of our rush chairman, Ken Knol.

The morale among the boys is at a high point. The chapter hopes to have a successful year under the able leadership of Don Buxton and his cabinet.

Chapter Transforms Basement Rec Room Into "Delta Den"

Delta Delta Chapter finished up this academic year by making a large improvement in the Shelter. The men started early in this quarter with a program to redecorate our basement. Our basement has long been known to be the best social gathering spot on the U.T. campus, but the men thought its attractiveness could be improved.

Several of our more artistically inclined young men descended on the basement with gleams in their eyes and paint brushes in their hands. The result was nothing short of stupendous. The new colors are dove gray, pearl green, forest green, and black. The piano received a new coat of varnish. Our small private corner was renamed "The Rainbow Room" and the door was suitably decorated. The whole finished product deserved a better name than just "the basement," so it was christened "The Delta Den."

On May 23, 1953, the "Den" was formally opened with our annual "Rainbow Ball." Everyone came attired in formal evening clothes and gathered at the Shelter at about eight o'clock. At that time President Hugh Gregory introduced the chapter officers and named our Delta Queen for next year. The queen elected by the chapter to serve for the next year was Miss Kathy Reuter of Long Island, New York. She is pinned to Brother Lonnie Brown and has been a frequent visitor at the Shelter. Miss Reuter's sorority is AOII.

After Queen Kathy managed to subdue some of her excitement, she cut the tape across the door to the "Den" and led the way into the renovated play room. Everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of a local band. There were sandwiches and punch for the members and dates who missed dinner.

About one o'clock everyone sojourned uptown to Regas Restaurant where we enjoyed a good hot breakfast and a session of "almost" speeches and jokes. After breakfast everyone wandered home and Delta Delta Chapter wound up its social calendar for another year.

Delts Win Trophy for Best Float in University's May Day Parade

A new high in fraternity spirit plus a great determination to win resulted in Delta Epsilon's winding up the 1952-1953 school year with a fine record of achievements.

The Delts were awarded the trophy for having the best float in the men's division of the University's May Day parade. With the theme of the parade being song titles, Delta Epsilon constructed a float based upon the song "You'll Never Walk Alone" in which soldiers were depicted worshipping in a half-demolished church in Korea. Although Brothers T. Y. Martin and Glen Bullock deserve recognition for their outstanding work on this project, it was principally through the combined efforts of everyone in the chapter that success was attained in this important campus activity.

Saturday, May 9, besides being May Day, was also the day on which Delta Epsilon observed its twenty-ninth annual Founders Day. The Mothers' Club sponsored an afternoon tea for the wives of the alumni at the Shelter, while the members and alumni enjoyed a reunion at Lexington's Campbell House. The day's festivities were climaxed by a banquet at which everyone was inspired by a talk by Marion Coley, President of the Southern Division. Brother James Shropshire, the chapter adviser, announced at the banquet that the chapter had selected Paul Holleman as the most valuable active and John Perrine as the most valuable pledge for the 1952-1953 school year.

A warm spring evening and the beautiful Boiling Springs Country Club set the atmosphere for a wonderful Orchid Formal enjoyed by all Delts and their friends. Following the dance everyone appreciated the delicious breakfast served at the Shelter.

In the University's intramural program Delta Epsilon led the field in spring sports. An enthusiastic team, led by the excellent pitching of Jack Fust, left no doubt as to the Delts' title to the championship trophy in softball. Muscle-men Doug Adamson, Hilton Minton, John Perrine, and Bill Lewis helped Delta Epsilon to capture first place in the wrestling tournament. The runner-up position was gained in track, tennis, and handball. These victories placed the Delts second in total all-participation points. Although our intramural chairman, Doug Adamson, is graduating, Don Lennartson already has plans well under way for continuing Doug's outstanding work.

Although six of Delta Epsilon's active members will join the ranks of alumni upon graduation, the six men whom the chapter initiated on May 31 have been well trained to take over the vacant places and continue the leadership and responsibility which mark a true Delt.

Hold Many Offices and Memberships in Campus Organizations

The singing Delts did it again by winning first-place honors in the annual University Step Sing contest. This win gives the chapter a record of two first-place wins and two runner-up decisions for the past four years.

The annual Rainbow Ball was the usual gala affair as the high light of the spring social season. Our much-coveted Sorority-of-the-Year Award went to the Chi Omegas with the Phi Mus taking second place. The huge four-foot trophy was presented to the Chi Omega president at the Rainbow Ball by chapter President Tom DeWine. The decorations committee, headed by Billy Weeks, with professional advice from Jim Montgomery, deserves considerable credit for the success of the dance.

in campus honors and activities by the chapter wheels. George Briggs was tapped for and later elected vice-president of Omicron Delta Kappa. Al Good was one of twelve tapped for Jason's senior men's honor society, and was recently initiated into Sigma Xi. Al was also selected to receive the Society of American Military Engineers Award as one of ten outstanding senior engineering students in AFROTC in the nation. George Briggs, Bill Berry, and Hartwell Lutz were selected as three of the twenty new members of Alabama Quadrangle. Bill now has the duty of treasurer of that organization added to his responsibilities as chapter treasurer. The new cabinet of the Student Government Association has George Briggs as a member. As president of Delta Sigma Pi and commerce representative to the Student Legislature, Bill Jones does well to keep his very commendable scholastic average.

Jim Montgomery ended his term as editor of the Rammer Jammer with a sigh of relief when last month's issue went to press.

In athletics, Ed Welch lettered in varsity baseball and was one of the team's star hitters. Brother Tony Cox, son of one of our charter members, held the number two spot on the varsity tennis team this season.

Due largely to the tireless efforts of our very capable scholarship chairman, Tom Turner, the house average is much higher than last semester and promises to rank high among the other fraternities on the campus.

abandoned beach club proved to be an ideal place as it did two years ago. The party was the biggest of the year at UCLA and will long be remembered. A Hawaiian Luau was held at the house early in May. The volleyball court was completely covered with nets and palm fronds which formed cabanas and a waterfall. In addition, there was a fire pit in the center of the scene.

Lou Leeburg has been elected ASUCLA president. This is a climax to a long career of student offices to which he has been elected. Lou has served as president of his high school and frosh president as well as president and vice-president of the Associated Men Students at UCLA. The election was highly contested and included several parades and much fanfare. Lou has our best wishes for the coming year. Don Black is to serve as president of the Arnold Air Society. He is also Lt. colonel in the AFROTC. New house officers include Ken Kendall as president and Mal Riley as "veep."

The Delt volleyball team which took the Southern California title formed a UCLA team and proceeded to win the Far Western title and the National Collegiate championship at Omaha. Almost the entire first string and most of the team were Deltas. Four Deltas won all-American honors. Don Smith, Rolf Engen, and Mike O'Hara were placed on the first A.A. team, and Don Farnilton won a spot on the second team. Dick Williams served as manager. Tom Higbee and Mike Hibler also made the trip to Omaha.

Don Slavik was the only returning veteran from our great swimming teams of the past two years, and his two firsts were enough to give us third in swimming. In the over-all intramural standings we ended up second—not quite as well as we had hoped. Bob Hunt showed great promise for the Bruin track team. This year, as a sophomore, he took firsts against California and SC in the two mile run. George Stephenson earned a first-string berth on the rugby team as wing. He played against Queen's University of Belfast in the Rose Bowl. Ready for football duty are: Jack Elena, George Stephenson, Bob Dutcher, and Roger White.

Centipede Float Wins Prize as Most Original Entry

Entering 29 colorful floats in the annual Joe College Parade, Duke University students launched Durham's Centennial Celebration on April 24.

Delta Kappa's entry, a huge centipede float, won the prize for the most original float in the parade. Dick Manuel served as chairman of the float project.

Astrid Parmele, escorted by former President Jim Fulton, was chosen queen for the annual Delt Queen Dance, which was held May 9 at the Carolina Inn in Chapel Hill. The queen was chosen by the noted magazine illustrator, Jon Whitcomb. Carol Laubenheimer, last year's queen, crowned Miss Parmele during the intermission activities. The queen's court was composed of Barbara Goebert with Bill Goebert, Louise Blackard with Bill Bogart, Barbara Richardson with Don Richardson, Ann Simonds with Pete Waldrop, and Helen Quillin with Doug Kennemore. Brothers presented their dates with bracelets as tokens of the affair.

Behind Perry Stewart's pitching, Delta Kappa again won the University softball championship of 1953. Perry, unbeaten for the past two years, shut out the law school team 3-0 in the final game. Bill Bogart, first baseman, was the team's captain.

On April 9 Delta Kappa Chapter gathered under the window of Helen Quillin on the women's campus. In recognition of Brother Doug Kennemore's pinning of Miss Quillin, Delta Kappa presented a serenade featuring a solo by Bill Wortman.

Four Deltas were successful in campus elections this spring: Roger Turner became cheerleader; Perry Stewart was elected to the radio council; Jim Cranwell became senior class president of the engineers; and Tom Proglar became senior class secretary-treasurer of the engineers.

Although Delta Kappa's achievements were outstanding for '52 and '53—best pledge class trophy, basketball division championship, most original float award, University softball championship—the chapter has hopes for an even better record next year.

Delta Lambda—Oregon State

Chapter Climaxed Busy Social Season With "Fantasy In Blue"

Spring term has proved to be a very busy one for the men of Delta Lambda. On top of the ever-present studies was a full schedule of social events and activities.

Through the co-operation of the I.F.C. and Oregon State's 30 fraternities, Help Week was a success. Delta Lambda initiates, as well as pledges and members, set to work early one Saturday morning clearing brush from the lots owned by the nearby Methodist Church. By noon the job was finished and the men retired to the church for a fine lunch and to compare sore muscles and blisters.

Thirty-five high school seniors were guests during "Beaver Preview," OSC's senior week end. Members and pledges provided a busy week end for the visitors.

Two weeks later the Shelter was opened to another all-school week end. Mothers' Week End. Approximately 40 mothers were shown the house and campus by their sons Saturday. Mrs. "C" outdid herself in preparing a dinner of ham, turkey, fish, and all the trimmings. Saturday night the mothers were entertained at the Coliseum by OSC's traveling talent troupe. Sunday morning the men escorted their mothers to church to celebrate Mother's Day and then returned to the Shelter for dinner and good-byes.

Spring term is a time for picnics and the men of Delta Lambda know it. Two exchange picnics, one with Delta Gamma and the other with Gamma Phi Beta, were held at Avery Park. Although it rained both times, the picnickers all had a good time amid hot dogs, potato salad, and singing. Perfect weather was featured at a picnic at Hidden Lake on the Oregon coast. Freshmen took advantage of the opportunity and dunked all graduating seniors in the lake.

The last dance of the year was the Spring Formal at the Corvallis Country Club. Decorations were according to the theme, Fantasy In Blue. Music was provided by the Candlelighters. The term ended socially the next day with a date breakfast and picnic at Hidden Lake.

Delts Join in Congratulations to Lawrence President

The biggest news from the Lawrence campus recently was the selection of President Nathan Pusey as the next President of Harvard University. Delta Nu Chapter joined the rest of the campus in congratulating Dr. and Mrs. Pusey and their family.

In a recent honors assembly, four Deltas received awards. George Oetting, of Riverside, Illinois, was elected to Mace, an honorary organization, for his outstanding contributions to the college. George is the present student body president and a past president of Delta Nu. Edward Grosse of Shawano, Wisconsin, received a scholarship for his outstanding scholastic and extracurricular achievements. Kenny Harbinson of Wilmette, Illinois, received the most valuable interfraternity athlete award. Ken was instrumental in the chapter's capture of second place in the final interfraternity sports standings.

Bob Zimmerman, cross-country captain, received two awards. The distance ace, who transferred from Syracuse as a sophomore, was selected as the most valuable senior athlete. He also received an award for scoring the greatest number of points in track last year.

These and other Deltas made significant contributions to the successful Lawrence athletic squads. Bob Moore and Jim Brown donated their skills to the golf team, while Ed Grosse and Dick Gast paced the tennis team. Bob Zimmerman, Bruce Kapitzke, Phil Weber, and George Oetting aided the track squad.

We would like to bid farewell and good fortune to the departing seniors.

Several Members Join Ranks of United States Air Force

Well, the doors have closed for another summer at Delta Xi. The last-minute bustle is all over, exams are through, and all our members are scattered throughout the state.

We had the inevitable misfortune to lose some valuable men via the graduation route. Benjamin Klem, Leonard Christianson, David Halverson, Romaine Krzmarzick, Donald Naismith, William Duenow, Duane Williams, and Raymond Larson have all received their diplomas and all, except Bill Duenow, have been commissioned as second looies in the Air Force. Several other members—Bob Puty, Arlo Levi, and Glen Peterson—heard the clarion call and joined up on their own hook. Your correspondent will also be missing as he has been accepted at Minnesota Dental School.

The year 1952-53 has been a good, if not outstanding, year for all of us at Delta Xi socially and scholastically. Our parties were all great successes—notably the two formals and, of course, the hard-times party. We achieved a good scholastic standing which will be improved.

Sports Activities Culminate in Athletic Supremacy Trophy

The coveted distinction of winning the Athletic Supremacy Trophy found the Delt running well out in front where they took and held first rank without ever being displaced. But this is almost a habit, for we have won this trophy twice in the last three years. In the final sport, volleyball, the Delt team emerged undefeated to walk away with the plaque for that event.

Our last big social event of the year was the spring formal which was held on May 16. This dance was quite successful, especially from the standpoint of returning alumni.

The Shelter also provided its share of varsity men. Among these we find Bob Stufflebam, basketball and track letterman; Dave Steinmeyer, basketball and baseball letterman; John Gunn, basketball and tennis letterman; Bob Strano and Bruce Bronson, baseball lettermen; Dick Fischer, track letterman; Lee Denner, track squad; Norman Freiberger, track squad; Jack Jefferson, tennis letterman. For the coming school year we find that the various varsity teams will be well represented by Delt captains: Bob Stufflebam, basketball captain; John Gunn, tennis captain; and Bob Strano, baseball captain.

The Delt were also prominent in other campus activities. Bill McCue, Jeril Sandin, Stan Brenner, and Bob Stufflebam are all members of Phi Rho Epsilon, honorary premedical fraternity. In Omicron Delta Kappa, the Shelter was represented by Bill McCue and Lee Denner.

Although the Shelter will lose five key men next year, nearly all the actives are looking forward to the coming school year with renewed ambition and spirit.

Delta Rho—Whitman

Chapter Pays Tribute to Retiring Housemother

Spring here at Whitman, even without the spring weather, found Delta Rho busy ending up the year and evaluating the accomplishments of our sixth year at Whitman.

An important part of the chapter was lost with the resignation of our housemother, Mrs. Milne. She had been with the chapter since we were founded, and the present size and accomplishments of the chapter are due, in a large part, to her hard work and true Delt spirit. The whole chapter regretted the loss of one of the finest housemothers on the Whitman campus. She was a true Delt; through her spirit she instilled the Delt spirit in the 71 men who have been members of the chapter.

Our baseball team came surprisingly close (it even amazed us) to upsetting the spring intramural baseball race. Our last game, with the champion Phi Delt, was a real heart-breaker when we lost in the last of the ninth inning by a close score of 4-3. With the majority of our team returning, we plan to be on the other side of the close scores next year.

Jack Kulp, our house president and Northwest representative for the Fraternity, added another office to his already busy schedule when he was elected president of I.F.C.

At the annual May Fete, the honoraries on campus showed excellent taste and Delta Rho was well represented. We had two of our freshmen, Terry McCann and Arol Masters, tapped for Knights, sophomore men's honorary. This is the full quota allotted to any house; also, two freshmen, Terry Townley and Terry McCann were tapped for membership in the Dramatic Club. This was an unusual honor as they hadn't completed the required number of hours in the theater. They were, however, given additional recognition for the "excellent and dependable hard work" on the spring musical, George Gershwin's Girl Crazy.

Socially Delta Rho spent a very busy and enjoyable spring. Several dinners were held for the brothers and their dates. At the largest semiformal dinner Don Morgan presented, on behalf of the entire chapter, a ring with a Delt crest to Miss Betté Waterland. The ring was presented to express the chapter's appreciation for the tremendous amount of work and loyal support Betté has given us throughout the two years she has been at Whitman.

At the same dinner, House President Jack Kulp awarded the Paul Troch senior trophy to the outstanding senior of the year, Ev Harris. Ev has served in many chapter offices, vice-president and guide being the latest. He has been active in many musical and dramatic school activities and throughout his four years has, in the opinion of the chapter, been a truly outstanding Delt.

← TOM NICKOLOFF, U.S.C.'s All-Coast end, has been named an outstanding All-American prospect by sportswriters who have seen him perform the past two seasons. Last fall "Nick" was the Coast's leading pass receiver and the year before one of the best defensive ends in the West.

Talking things over → with U.S.C. Swim Coach FRED CADY are (L. to R.): ALLEN GILCHRIST, Delta Pi house manager, and GERRY MCNAMEE, spring pledge president. Both are Canadians and free style aces who competed for Canada in the 1952 Olympics. MCNAMEE was named All-American swimmer for 1953.

Undoubtedly the biggest social function of the year for Delta Rho, and Whitman as a whole, was the spring cruise to Seattle.

Boarding a chartered Greyhound Silverides bus, the Delts and their dates started at noon on Saturday, May 9, for the trip from Walla Walla, in the far southeast corner of the state, to Seattle, in the upper northwest corner.

We arrived in Seattle around six that evening and there met the other brothers who had driven cars over. We then boarded the M.S. Valkyrie, a 110-foot cabin cruiser chartered through Berg's, Inc.

We sailed from Lake Union, through the large government locks, and out into the Sound. As we cruised on the Sound, a complete ham and turkey dinner, with all of the trimmings, was served. The brothers and their dates then spent the evening dancing, playing games, and enjoying the cruise.

Our housemother was presented with a box of engraved stationery and our cook with a pearl pin by Don Morgan, social chairman, in honor of Mother's Day.

The high light of the evening came when our president, Jack Kulp, called on Spence McCartney to give the guests the background and meaning of the Delta Queen award. Jack then placed the sparkling purple, white, and gold Delta Queen crown on Miss Nancy Morrison, Alpha Phi, from Spokane, Washington.

That night the dates retired to the staterooms below while the brothers slept in sleeping bags on deck.

A bright sun beamed down as the boat slid through the waters of the Sound, past Tacoma, and on to Mr. Berg's private summer home. Mr. Berg was kind enough to lower two of the lifeboats and the Delts and dates rowed ashore.

About noon we boarded the boat again and turned back for Seattle. We ate our last meal on the boat in the warm sun on either the back deck or the top deck.

Our boat tied up at the harbor about 4 p.m. Sunday and all piled back into the bus for the return trip.

With the cruise and the spring picnic with Delta Gamma Sorority, Delta Rho closed its doors for the school year.

AFROTC Cadet Wins Medal

Another successful year has closed at Delta Sigma and the outlook for the coming year is very good.

Participating in all intramural events, we didn't win any trophies, but we were in there scrapping all the way. If the pledge-active softball game is any indication, it looks as if we might come up with a winning team next year, for the pledges beat the actives. The intramural team ended the season with a 5-3 record.

Highlighting a well-rounded social season was the Annual Spring Formal at the Willard Hotel in Washington, D. C., when Miss Kay Simms, of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority, was crowned Delt Queen for 1953. As a climax, the pledges sponsored a successful week-end party at Pledge Jack Burbank's house on Chesapeake Bay.

At the annual Military Day ceremonies, sponsored by the AFROTC, Cadet (now 2nd Lieutenant) Melville E. Eaton was presented the Armed Forces Communication Medal as the outstanding cadet in communications.

The brightest note of the coming year is the new house, which, if not completed at the time of this issue, will be completed shortly thereafter. The new Shelter, a Georgian-style colonial which will house approximately 40 men, is incentive enough to work for a stronger organization and another successful year.

Wins IFC Social Service Award for Outstanding Work in Community

During the past three months, the chapter has been very active on campus and in the Shelter. The high light of the year came when our candidate for president of Student Senate, Chuck Green, was elected in an all-campus election during which over 70 per cent of the students voted. Also elected that day was Bill Melvin as president of the Bowling Green junior class. Brother Melvin is also vice-president of the Ohio chapters of the Future Teachers of America, and is historian in the local chapter of F.T.A.

During Honor's Day, Jack Taylor was tapped into membership of Omicron Delta Kappa. Brother Taylor also was chosen by the chapter as its outstanding member this year, and was given a key for having the highest point average during his four years at the University.

Also at Honor's Day the chapter was awarded the Wood County Interfraternity Club Social Service Award for the second consecutive year as the fraternity that has done the most service for the community.

Two of the brothers have been selected as Distinguished Military Students by the Artillery R.O.T.C. They are Chuck Green and Ray Fernandez, who attended summer camp at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, along with Ron Ritter, Ron Bracewell, Mike Ryan, Cliff Rovelto, Phil Siegel, and Al Cobb. Attending the Air Force R.O.T.C. summer camp at Dayton, Ohio, were Chuck Bonser and Sam McClellan.

Don Doran, Barney Firsdon, and Dean Mandeville were commissioned as 2nd lts. in the Air Force, Bill Baddaker as a 2nd Lt. in the Army, and Ron Lauber as an ensign in the Navy. Don was chosen the outstanding flight student, and Dean the outstanding fourth-year cadet in Air Force R.O.T.C. last year.

The chapter did well in sports during the spring. We won the annual Kappa Sigma All-Campus Chariot Races in the fastest time ever recorded in this campus event. During the same day we won first place in the fraternity division of the Annual Bowling Green Relays. Brothers Hugh Shick and Dick Jewett pulled while Jim Stoddard was riding in the chariot. Al Cobb, Ron Bracewell, Gaython Eaton, and Mike Scholler ran for us in the relays.

During the annual tandem swimming meet we teamed with Delta Gamma Sorority and for the second consecutive time we copped first place. We took two first places and one third to come out on top. Those who swam were Bob Murphy, Ron Bracewell, Bob Gorton, Art Kurtze, Hal Van Tassel, and Dean Charles.

Five brothers won their varsity letters in spring sports. Don Doran was the number one pitcher for the baseball team and Tom Mote was the starting right fielder. Ron Lauber received his letter in diving, and Bob Slager and Dan Springer got their letters in track. Bob was a high and low hurdler, and Dan a sprinter and relay man.

We held our first Founders Day, which was our fifth anniversary, along with the initiation of pledges and our senior banquet. As a special guest at initiation was Bob Evans, a member of Delta Tau Delta, past program director of WSPD-TV in Toledo, and now with the WSPD-TV advertising staff. Alumni present were Don Eaton, Jim Armbruster, Larry Jensen, and Bill Frounfelder.

The pride and joy of Delta Tau Chapter, the Deltones, have been singing at various banquets, parties, smokers, and other affairs on campus and in the chapter house. They sang before 1,000 high school journalism students during their annual High School Day at the University, and at Easter time sang at Lasalles, Bowling Green's largest department store. The brothers in the quartet are Chuck Bonser, tenor; Chuck Green, melody; Ray Fernandez, baritone; and Bob Murphy, bass.

The Findlay Alumni Chapter has presented us with two plaques, which are to be used by having the names of the pledge with the highest point average and the active showing the most improvement in point average inscribed upon them. They have also been working very close with the chapter, and their president, who is Ed Heminger, has been to the Shelter quite often to help us during smokers and also during the Founders Day banquet.

Bill Baddaker was chosen king of the year book for 1952-53. It was the first time in several years that the year book has had a king besides a queen. Bill was one of the six finalists in an all-campus election, and was chosen king by the year book staff members at Winthrop College for Women, Rock Hill, South Carolina.

Many Assume Leadership

The school year 1952-53 was indeed busy; however, successful. The rush program was well planned and consequently Delta Phi pledged the "cream of the crop." This fact was illustrated by the fine spirit and great ambition of the pledges. Many are already assuming leading positions in the various organizations on campus. The most outstanding pledge award has not been announced—it is really hard to narrow the award to one person.

Delta Phi's leaders on campus include: Woodie "Flash" Parker, popular captain of the track team; Sam Blount and Ralph McWilliams, both Phi Beta Kappa brothers; Haywood Taylor, vice-president of the Interfraternity Council and Alpha Kappa Psi; Ted Aggelis, president of Circle K; Don Dixon, Radio Station WFSU; Ken Chadwick, president of the campus YMCA; Ray Johnson, Phil Slaton, and Joel Carter, varsity volleyball stars; Jim Fadigan, versatile member of the famous Gymkana Show; and Bob McKenzie, active member in Alpha Kappa Psi and APO.

Softball was the favorite intramural sport this year. The Deltas were runners-up for the trophy; however, we gained much popularity by playing games with neighboring city league teams. Steve Walker is to be highly commended for his excellent job of coaching.

The high light of the social year was the annual Rainbow Ball. Vice-president Harvy Sellars was in charge of arrangements for the week end, which included a square dance on Friday, the formal on Saturday, and a coast party on Sunday. Lovely Miss Mary Hope Fuller was crowned Delt Queen and reigned over the festivities for the week end.

The Deltas at F.S.U. are known as the "Singing Deltas" and have been in constant demand for serenades during the entire year. Haywood Taylor and Woodie Parker are the capable leaders.

We salute our graduating brothers and those who are going into service. Graduating seniors are: Haywood Taylor, John Kinsaul, Sam Blount, George Arrants, Ralph McWilliams, and Charlie Jones. We wish all the best of luck and happiness for the future.

Delta Chi—Oklahoma A. & M.

Rush Campaign Results in 27 Pledges

The big news around the Delt chapter this quarter was the success of the spring rush campaign which raised the total number of pledges to 27. Of this number, 21 were pledged during the second semester. Due to the untiring efforts of the rush chairman, Homer Hutton, spring rush exceeded all expectations.

New officers were elected for the coming fall term. Phil Beaulren succeeds Eddie Morris as president, while Parke Bucker replaces John Farley as vice-president.

The year's social calendar was brought to a close with the pledges staging a successful dinner and the chapter participating in a steak fry at Yost Lake.

Two Delt pledges were outstanding in religious activity on the campus. James Kiefer was vice-president of the Baptist Student Union, and Gene Howard was director of the Baptist Training Union. Another Delt, Earl King, was recently elected president of the International Relations Club.

Leroy Folks, a straight-A student from Delta Chi, was the Rhodes Scholar candidate from Oklahoma.

Our intramural softball team, although handicapped by a lack of hitting, managed to even its seasonal record with an upset victory over Sigma Chi. The team featured the stellar pitching of Gene Howard and the long-distance clouting of Eddie Morris.

After school had ended, we received word that Mrs. McClendon from Stillwater had accepted our invitation to be our housemother for the coming year.

Delta Omega—Kent

Chapter Wins Song Fest for Third Consecutive Year

One of the most successful years that the local chapter of Delta Tau Delta has ever had was enjoyed by the men of Delta Omega for the 1952-53 year.

The most recent additions to the prestige of the chapter occurred on Campus Day, an annual spring event at Kent State University. Delta Omegans won the song fest for the third consecutive year, placed first in judging in the float competition, and garnered the Ohio State Sesquicentennial medallion for the float depicting Ohio's 150 years of progress.

A few weeks later, at Rowboat Regatta, we won Tug-of-War for the third year in a row, and placed third in the rowing competition. These accomplishments were added to our winning of Homecoming decorations trophy and our third place in May Day Relays. The mantel at 223 E. Main St. is bursting with trophies captured this year.

The Kent Stater, our student newspaper, included many Deltas on its staff. Those on the staff were Cal Ratcliff, business manager; Jerry Dougher, Carl Titgemeier, Dick Fedosh, Wally Malmer, Jack Berrey, Ed Sickles, Wayne Alley, Hal Mayhew, and Tom Duke. Hal Mayhew and Tom Duke were also on the staff of the Chestnut Burr, school yearbook. Tom Duke was appointed editor of the school's freshman handbook, the K-Book.

Jim Tushar, Bud Murray, Cal Ratcliff, Jerry Dougher, and Tom Duke were elected to Blue Key.

Subject of much conversation around the campus was our huge 150-foot-long float. It was in the form of a locomotive with three cars and a caboose. It showed how Ohio had progressed in 150 years in agriculture, industry, and education. It has taken a much shorter time for Delta Omega to advance to the top position that it now holds.

WASHINGTON D. BRANDON
After 105 years, the Chapter Eternal.

Oldest Member Dies

Delta Tau Delta's oldest member—WASHINGTON D. BRANDON, W. & J., '68—died June 30 in Butler County Memorial Hospital, Butler, Pennsylvania. He was 105 years old.

Mr. Brandon enjoyed several "oldest" distinctions. He was the oldest attorney in the United States, the oldest alumnus of his alma mater, the oldest elder of the Presbyterian Church, and the oldest member of any national college fraternity. He practiced law in Butler for 82 years.

Mr. Brandon's life span nearly parallels that of Delta Tau Delta. He was initiated into the Fraternity in 1865, when the Fraternity was only six years old. At that time there were but five undergraduate chapters, including his own, which was then the governing "Alpha." He was a member of the last class to be graduated at Canonsburg in the newly united Washington and Jefferson College. All departments were transferred to Washington in 1869.

As an attorney, Mr. Brandon was closely associated with the oil and gas business and took part in important cases which helped to establish many of the legal principles of the oil and gas business now in effect throughout the country.

He was a director and counsel for the Butler Savings and Trust Company for more than 60 years and was instrumental in organizing some of the city's industries and public utilities. He served as a trustee of Washington and Jefferson College and of Grove City College. He was also a director of the Western Theological Seminary and a trustee of the Butler YMCA.

Despite his advanced years, Mr. Brandon was active until a few months before his death. While his hearing was impaired in the closing years of his life, his eyesight was good and he was able to read every day.

Through the years he maintained his interest in the Fraternity and liked to reminisce concerning his undergraduate days.

"Among all the fraternity chapters there at Canonsburg," he would say, "there was none better than Delta Tau Delta."

JOHN A. LAING, Dartmouth, '05, prominent attorney and civic leader of Portland, Oregon, died May 13 at the age of 69.

Mr. Laing organized and was secretary of the group that built Multnomah Civic Stadium in Portland. He long served both as trustee and regent for Reed College. He was president of the Portland Rose Festival Association in 1930 and of the Symphony Society between 1937 and 1948.

He was for many years an officer in both the Pacific Power & Light and the Portland Gas & Coke Companies. He was head of the law firm Laing, Gray & Smith.

MONTGOMERY B. CASE, Nebraska, '05, Illinois, '07, builder of many famous bridges, died May 7 in Englewood, N. J.

Mr. Case worked with the noted bridge engineer, Ralph Modjeski, on the design and construction of the Delaware River suspension bridge at Camden, N. J., and bridges over the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. He was engineer for the construction of the George Washington Bridge over the Hudson River, which was the longest suspension bridge in the world when it opened in 1931.

During World War II he was called upon by the government to serve on the War Manpower Commission in Washington and on other agencies.

DAVID R. CURTISS, California, '99, retired head of the mathematics department of Northwestern University, died April 29 at his home in Redlands, Calif. Dr. Curtiss had retired as mathematics professor at Northwestern in 1943, upon reaching the compulsory age of 65.

HENRY W. MERRILL, Dartmouth, '13, member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, died of burns and suffocation on May 3 in a fire which burned his home at Newtonville, Mass.

A devoted alumnus, Mr. Merrill served as vice-president of the Eastern Division of the Fraternity from 1932 to 1937. He was a former president of the Boston Alumni Chapter and had served on the Karnea Committee for the 1919 Karnea, which was held in Boston. For many years he had been an officer of his chapter's house corporation and was one of the principal organizers of work and activity among the alumni of Gamma Gamma Chapter.

A prominent realtor in Boston, Mr. Merrill was a former president of the University Club of Boston, the National Association of Industrial Realtors, and the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

CHARLES E. HIGBEE, Butler, '89, one of the oldest Deltas in the state of Indiana and one of the most active, died at his home in Lebanon, Indiana, on May 20.

In recent years Mr. Higbee had done a great deal of research for Beta Zeta Chapter and compiled a history which he presented to the chapter. In 1951, on the occasion of the chapter's 75th anniversary, he presented his Delt badge to Beta Zeta for its use as scholastic recognition. The badge is presented annually to the Delt junior who makes the highest

Mr. Higbee worked enthusiastically on the successful financial campaign which resulted in a new Shelter for his chapter last fall and was a substantial contributor. Seldom missing a Delt gathering within striking distance, he attended most of the Karneas in recent years.

ARMIN O. LEUSCHNER, Michigan, '88, world-renowned astronomer and retired head of the University of California's department of astronomy, died in April at Berkeley, Calif.

Dr. Leuschner was a member of the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter. A founder of Beta Omega Chapter and a guiding father to it for many years, he received his Citation in 1936.

The famous astronomer was chiefly known in his profession for his development of a new method of studying celestial bodies and determining their orbits. Upon his retirement with emeritus rank in 1938, he received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University and was made a foreign associate of the Royal Astronomical Society of England.

In 1916 Dr. Leuschner was awarded the Watson Gold Medal of the National Academy of Sciences for his researches. Among other national and international recognitions, he was made a Knight of the Order of the North Star (Sweden) in 1924.

WALTER S. FINLAY, JR.

WALTER S. FINLAY, JR., Cornell, '04, well-known engineering executive, died June 18 at the age of 70.

Mr. Finlay was executive vice-president and a director of the J. G. White Engineering Corporation, New York City. He joined the firm in 1939 after serving for 12 years as president of the Western Pennsylvania Electric Company, in Pittsburgh.

For the White Corporation, he directed engineering and consulting projects in Iran, China, Formosa, and Indonesia. He was a consultant to the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Mr. Finlay was a director of Overseas Consultants, Inc., the Far East-America Council of Commerce and Industry, and the China Society of America; he was a member of the American Asiatic Association and the New York State Chamber of Commerce, and a life member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

JOHN S. TERRY, North Carolina, '18, author and editor, died in New York City on July 4 at the age of 58.

Mr. Terry, who was a professor of English at Columbia University for more than 20 years, was for 12 years editor of the magazine School. He was an intimate friend of American Novelist Thomas Wolfe and a foremost authority on his life. He wrote the introduction to Thomas Wolfe's Letters to His Mother, issued in 1948. He was also a painter of note.

Mr. Terry was one of the leaders in the formation of Gamma Omega Chapter at the University of North Carolina.

EARL H. MCLEOD, Cincinnati, '13, whose developments in quick-drying inks simplified and improved the rotogravure process, died June 21 in Sarasota, Florida. A director of Interchemical Corporation, he had served as president of the INTAG division of the company.

DR. ROBERT M. HAIG, Ohio Wesleyan, '08, McVickar Professor Emeritus of Political Economy at Columbia University, died June 9 in New York City.

A widely-acclaimed expert on finances and taxation problems of cities, counties, and nations, Dr. Haig was called upon to help governments in financial distress in all parts of the world. The last important work he performed was as director of the finance study of the City of New York, carried out for the Mayor's Committee on Management Survey.

Dr. Haig rarely completed an academic year without taking on additional duties outside Columbia University. Among his major assignments as adviser to commissions to study taxation and other fiscal matters, he served New York State, California and Colorado, the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta in Canada, and England, France, Hungary, and Australia.

CHARLES E. HIGBEE with his son, DONALD M. HIGBEE, Northwestern, '21, at the 58th Karnea.

LOYALTY FUND LIFE MEMBERS

Since the establishment January 1, 1926, of Delta Tau Delta's Loyalty Fund, its endowment fund, 14,024 men have become Loyalty Fund Life Members. Two hundred and seventy have been added to this group from April 1, 1953, to June 30, 1953.

Following are the names of men initiated prior to January 1, 1926, who have become Loyalty Fund Life Members upon contribution of $50.00:

COLLEGE—What Is It?

A college is leaving home—
And making a new home;
Perhaps that first going away,
Parting from long-loved persons and places;
Some bewilderment on the campus—
Some fun in getting acquainted with the town;
Awe of the seniors and juniors,
Fear of the sophomores;
Registration, and a maze of details;
Swallowing strange food
And longing for mother's home made pies;
Learning the college songs,
And gradually, imperceptibly,
Taking on the devotion and pride—
In being a full-fledged college man.

A college is pep rallies and football games,
Crisp brown afternoons,
Marching bands
And cheerleaders splashing their green and white
Against the hills and hues in October;
Shouts and touchdowns and wild cheering,
Always rooting, always hopeful,
For it is our team!
Occasionally—a victory is won...

A college is classes;
Shivering and sleepy treks
Across the campus in the early winter darkness;
Quaking students, nervous students,
Those who are bored, challenged,
Fired with purpose, discouraged,
Proud of an A,
Dampened by a D;
A college is term papers and chemistry labs,
Play rehearsals and choir,
Checking out library books,
And burning midnight oil...

A college is the faculty;
And fraternity of teachers and scholars,
Some nervous and self-important,
Condescendingly polite, vaguely aloof,
Lecturing in words of four syllables,
Some giving brain-cracking exams;
The old professor—
Mellow as wheat in summer sunlight,
Telling the same jokes he told twenty years ago,
Forgetting the day of the quiz;
The harassed dean—

Always a mixture between stern admonition and kindly counsel,
Asking students about their homes and parents,
About their hobbies, girl friends and ambitions,
Weaving bits of philosophy with casual talk,
Sometimes touching the prosaic with fine poetry.

A college is the alumni coming back,
Some prosperous and a bit arrogant,
Some threadbare and tired;
The superintendent from Podunk Center,
Frayed, but with beaming pride,
The president of a far away Junior College,
Coming back as convocation speaker,
The prosperous businessman from New York City,
The plump housewife who was Beauty Queen in 1920,
The farmer with the distance of prairies in his eyes;
A college is the alumni who will never come back,
Who lie beneath small white crosses in France
And Italy and China and the islands of the sea.

A college is academic robes in a long line
That moves calmly as a river on a June morning,
Seniors receiving degrees
With gladness and pride and quick grief of parting,
And tears on the faces of the class of 1897,
As they watch and remember.

A college is a singing stride
Toward the portals of maturity,
A way of life, deep-rooted as a pine;
A cluster of ideals, courage and hope,
And fear and fulfillment,
And looking forward and looking back.
A college goes on forever,
Not in microscopes or maps,
Not on play fields or in seminars,
Or even in the hush of tall maples and Gothic towers...
But in the still reaches of the hearts
That having loved it, and afterward understood it,
And now bear its mark and ideals forever...
