Ninety-First Chapter Installed at General Motors Institute

By ROBERT P. STAPP, Beta Beta, '34

THE 91ST CHAPTER of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, Epsilon Iota, was established with the installation of the members of Gamma Mu Tau Fraternity on the campus of General Motors Institute on March 23, 1963. The affiliation of Gamma Mu Tau with Delta Tau Delta marked the attainment of the long existing hopes and earnest desire for acceptance by Delta Tau Delta, and the dedication of the new chapter's strength and efforts to become a chapter of which Delta Tau Delta will be most proud.

The pathway for local fraternities to progress to affiliation with those of a national scope was opened when General Motors Institute, a cooperative engineering college, for the first time in its 44 years of operation, applied for and was granted accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges.

Within a few weeks following this event, Gamma Mu Tau, the first fraternity established on General Motors Institute's campus, began an extensive search of national fraternities to determine the one with which it would want to affiliate. A fraternity research committee established 10 points or criteria upon which it would base its investigation, and then began its search. The activities during the next three-month period included visiting fraternities at the University of Michigan, at Michigan State University, and at other colleges where the committee members were dispersed among the states while in their work section. They interviewed fraternity representatives, reviewed fraternity manuals, and conducted surveys among fraternity personnel and friends. In its final report to the Gamma Mu Tau Fraternity as a whole, the committee presented its findings on two fraternities with a strong recommendation for Delta Tau Delta. A unanimous vote for Delta Tau Delta exemplified the faith of the Gamma Mu Tau members in its committee and the high regard and esteem in which they held the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

The petition of the members of Gamma Mu Tau Fraternity to the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was written under the direction of the presidents of the two sections, James L. Crouse and Larry V. Hough. The chapter extends its sincere appreciation to Robert E. Tuttle, chairman of the Humanities Department and faculty advisor for many years, for his valuable assistance, guidance, and advice in the development of the petition and for his vast knowledge and his untiring efforts in compiling an accurate list of the alumni of Gamma Mu Tau. The petition was submitted to the Arch Chapter in time for its consideration at the Arch Chapter meeting in conjunction with the 1962 Karnea.

Before the Arch Chapter met, F. Darrell Moore, Fraternity Historian, was assigned the responsibility of investigating the local chapter of Gamma Mu Tau for Delta Tau Delta. His visit to the General Motors Institute campus and the Gamma Mu Tau house was most welcome and did much to create further enthusiasm, interest, and desire in an already existing atmosphere of admiration for Delta Tau Delta. Many valuable points on fraternity operation and organization, specifically concerning the unique circumstances inherent in the two-section operation in existence at General Motors Institute, were learned from him, and his contributions to the fraternity were gratefully received. He will always be remembered for his warm personality and his ever-ready willingness to answer the multitudinous questions and problems presented to him.

A high point in the program took place when TED SMITH, center, vice-president of the Flint Alumni Chapter, presented the new chapter with a complete set of ceremonial robes, a gift from the Genesee Merchants Bank and Trust Company, which institution financed the Shelter. LARRY HOUGH, left, president of Section B, and JIM CROUSE, president of Section A, received the robes on behalf of the chapter.

The installation banquet provided an ideal setting for presentation of the Fraternity's highest individual awards for service. NORMAN MACLEOD, left, former President of the Fraternity and Chairman of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter, has the privilege of presenting the citation to EDGAR B. LINCOLN, Hillsdale, '21, while those at the speaker's table as well as the entire assemblage rose to their feet in the traditional manner of tribute and recognition.

Gamma Mu Tau was accepted by the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at the Karnea meeting in 1962, and the anxiously awaited news was wired to the chapter by Administrative Assistant Alfred P. Sheriff, III. Subsequent counseling with Al resulted in the establishment of March 23, 1963, as the installation date.

The members of Gamma Mu Tau now entered the phase of Delta pledges. Immediately there began a series of lessons on Delta Tau Delta under the very capable direction of Robert E. Tuttle, fraternity advisor, himself a "pledge" and an avid student of the Delta Tau Delta Constitution and Bylaws. The Gamma Mu Tau Constitution and Bylaws were revised to conform with the Delta Tau Delta Constitution and Bylaws, under the direction of Harry P. McKinley, senior advisor, to provide an interim modus operandi.

On a visit to the General Motors Institute campus, Al Sheriff again came to the assistance of the chapter with some very thorough advice on the organization of the installation activities. The writer of this article was delegated as general chairman for the event, committees were recommended, duties outlined, and arrangements were made for the installing teams from the Delta Chapter, University of Michigan, and the Iota Chapter, Michigan State University.

Field Secretary Jack A. McClenny followed up with a week's visit to the pledged chapter, during which the groundwork for operations was established, Delt background and tradition were passed on, and a deeper feeling of brotherhood with a national fraternity was born. Jack's easy manner, warm personality, and ever-friendly and helpful attitude very quickly earned for him the respect and admiration of all Gamma Mus. His advice and assistance contributed immeasurably to the overall success of the installation.

Immediately following Jack's visit, intensive preparations began on the activities of eligibility, registration, program, publicity, banquet, and open house. What originally appeared to be an interminable period, during which these preparations were made, all too soon came to an end on March 18, 1963.

Delta Tau Delta, ever known for doing things right, invited Robert W. Kroening, Delta Omicron, '45, St. Louis attorney and past master on the art of initiation rites, to direct the initiation ceremonies. Consequently, Bob spent the entire week working with the Delta and Iota chapter initiating teams and making arrangements for the initiation room and its appointments. Jack McClenny spent a week at the house working with the Delt pledges in Section A and, starting on March 18, he spent the week assisting on final arrangements and checking on eligibility and the completion of the OM forms.

On March 22, 1963, beginning at 6:00 p.m., three inspiring initiation ceremonies were conducted by the Delta Chapter team consisting of Wayne U. Smith, Henry W. Buick, Melvin D. Baldwin, III, Richard G. Hildreth, James C. Briegel, Jr., Frederick T. Berhenke, Raymond D. Senkowski, and Kenneth C. Welch, III. In letter perfect performances, 12 faculty advisors, five alumni, and 21 undergraduates were initiated on this evening.

On Saturday, March 23, beginning at 9:00 a.m., another set of three initiation ceremonies was conducted by the Iota Chapter team consisting of Frank B. Marxer, Stephen J. Chase, William D. Mandigo, J. Terry Heath, James M. Buhl, Robert H. Tinker, Robert W. Myers, Raymond E. Howard, Leonard A. Siudara, and Daniel R. Coulson. Still deeply moved by the excellent performance the preceding night, initiated members were further amazed at the perfect performance of this second initiation team, in which five alumni and 35 undergraduates were initiated, making a total of 78 new members of Delta Tau Delta.

his leadership and for his "perfectionist" standards.

In the late afternoon, an open house with the new members of Delta Tau Delta acting as hosts was held at the Delt Shelter. It was served by Mrs. Robert Morgan, Mrs. Ted Smith, and Mrs. Robert Stapp, three wives from the newly formed Flint Alumni Chapter, and Mrs. Rollo Smith, wife of a new Delt faculty advisor. The entire assembly then moved to the main ballroom of the Durant Hotel for the installation dinner. A total of 335 guests attended the dinner making it a most memorable occasion for the newly initiated members, who enjoyed an inspiring and memorable address by Francis

M. Hughes, Ohio Wesleyan, '31, a former president of Delta Tau Delta.

An impressive gathering of notables honored the new chapter with their presence at the dinner.

Arch Chapter members were Robert L. Hartford, Beta, '36, Secretary, and Edwin L. Heminger, Mu, '48, President of the Northern Division.

Distinguished Service Chapter members were Norman MacLeod, Gamma Sigma, '17, President of the Distinguished Service Chapter and toastmaster for the dinner program; Francis M. Hughes, Mu, '31, Past President of the Fraternity and speaker of the evening; William H. Martindill, Beta, '32, former Vice-President of the Fraternity; F. Darrell Moore, Beta, '16, Fraternity Historian; and Hugh Shields, Beta Alpha, '26, Executive Vice-President.

Central Office personnel included Hugh Shields; Alfred P. Sheriff, III, Gamma, '49, Administrative Assistant; F. Darrell Moore; and Jack McClenny, Delta Zeta, '49, field secretary.

Other dignitaries included Charles L. Tutt, Jr., Dean of Engineering at General Motors Institute, and a new Delt; Robert W. Kroening, Delta Omicron, '45; Robert C. Morgan, Delta, '59, president of Flint Alumni Chapter; James F. "Ted" Smith, Kappa, '40, vice-president of Flint Alumni Chapter; Robert H. Stanley, Sigma Nu, GMI Coordinator of Student Affairs; and the Reverend J. M. Smoot, pastor of Court Street Methodist Church.

Six Duerr Scholarships Awarded

For 1963-1964

IN JUNE, 1960, Dr. Frederick Kershner, Supervisor of Scholarship of the Fraternity had the pleasure of announcing the names of the first group of undergraduate members of the Fraternity selected to receive $1,400 individual grants for advanced study in their chosen fields. The first four winners were John J. Clinton, Jr., Baker, '60; David A. Brueckner, Ohio, '60; George A. Platz, III, Northwestern, '60; and Jan S. Hogendorn, Wesleyan, '60. The following year five scholarships were awarded, including the first special award to be used for study of petroleum geology, made possible by a grant made by Fraternity President John W. Nichols. The second group of winners included Max L. Allen, Alabama, '60; John O. Fitzgerald, Idaho, '61; John G. Olin, Illinois Tech, '61; Paul M. Ostergard, Western Reserve, '61; and the winner of the special grant, Charles Herdendorf, Ohio, '61. Last summer the awards were made to William J. Garland, Emory; Lewis W. Mondy, Texas Christian; Robert J. Pfeifer, Illinois; Robert P. Clark, Tulane; and Eldon E. Park, Nebraska.

The Selection Board of the Advanced Study Scholarship Program has now made its current selections of six outstanding Delt students to receive the $1,400 cash awards for 1963-64. The Board of Directors of the Fraternity adopted a motion approving the Selection Board's recommendations. The winners are Charles A. Rau, Lafayette; Jimmy Ray Fairchild, Kansas State; Joseph G. Stewart, Alabama; Robert T. Ryder, Michigan State; Peter R. Anderson, Toronto; and Paul H. Lange, Lawrence. Robert Ryder received the special award for study in petroleum geology made possible by the generous grant of President Nichols.

Charles Rau, from Lafayette Hill, Pennsylvania, was a major in metallurgical engineering at Lafayette College. His undergraduate honors include membership in Phi Beta Kappa; American Society for Metals award in 1962; Dean's List; Alpha Sigma Mu, a national honor society in metallurgy; Tau Beta Pi; and selection in Who's Who in American Colleges. His campus activities included track, cross country, John Markle Society, and manager of the student news service. In addition to participation in many intramural sports, Charles also served Nu Chapter as scholarship chairman. Charles plans to attend either M.I.T. or Stanford for the purpose of attaining a master's degree in material science. It is his plan to continue his further education toward obtaining a doctorate in materials science. His interests tend to lean more in the direction of teaching or industrial research than in industrial management. He has a special interest in high temperature alloys so it is possible that his research in the years to come may play an important role in the nation's space program.

CHARLES A. RAU

Jimmy Fairchild is a graduate of Kansas State and a resident of Denver, Colorado. He majored in political science and had modern languages as his minor field of study. Blue Key selected him for membership and he was active in student government and politics at Kansas State. The latter interests were evidenced by his serving on the Union governing board for three years, being president of the arts and science school council, being a candidate for president of the student body, serving as treasurer of the interfraternity pledge council, serving on the traffic appeals board, and acting as assistant chairman of the Union hospitality committee, the funds and drives committee, and the mock political convention. Jimmy was on the Dean's List as well as participating with the A Cappella choir and the K-State Singers. Among his many contributions to Gamma Chi Chapter is included service as song leader and also as parliamentarian. Jimmy hopes to attend Georgetown University to attain a master's degree in political science and to follow that with work on a doctorate in international relations. It is his ultimate goal to render government service in either the State Department or the United Nations but he would like to devote several years to teaching and compiling research in the area of the effect of the United Nations on international relations prior to his entering government service.

Representative of the Southern Division in the new group of Duerr scholars is Alabama's Joseph G. Stewart, a native of Tuscaloosa. His academic field in college was accounting. He received the 1962-63 Haskins and Sells $500 award for excellence in accounting. Other academic honors included selection to Beta Gamma Sigma and Phi Eta Sigma. His extracurricular activities embraced an interest in publications as he was business manager and advertising manager of the University newspaper and was a member of the board of publications. He was also an active and outstanding participant in the ROTC program, being a member of Scabbard and Blade, treasurer of the army cadet officer's club, outstanding Army ROTC cadet in 1960. He was chairman and a member of many student government association committees and was selected to Who's Who in American Universities. Joe plans to stay at the University of Alabama to enroll in law school and obtain his law degree. His accounting background will be utilized in his desire to specialize in the field of tax law. Upon completion of law school, he plans to practice law in Alabama, specializing in tax law for individuals, firms, and corporations.

selected for a Queen Elizabeth Ontario scholarship in 1962 but was forced to decline due to his having been chosen for the Ford fellowship. His contributions to Delta Theta Chapter are extensive. In 1961-62 he served as chapter president; in 1960 he was rush chairman; in 1959 he was social chairman; and he was his chapter's Karnea delegate to the Swampscott Karnea in 1960. Planning to enter university teaching upon completion of his doctorate, Peter's eventual goal, dictated by an acute interest in policy formulation and a sense of social responsibility, is the Canadian House of Parliament.

The fourth of this year's scholars is from "north of the border." Peter R. Anderson, a native of Toronto, Canada, is a 1962 graduate of the University of Toronto, majoring in economics and minoring in French, political science, and history. During the past academic year he has been doing graduate work in economics at Harvard University and plans to obtain his doctorate in economics in 1964. A recipient of a Ford International Fellowship in 1962, scholarships are not a novel experience to Peter. He has also studied at Oxford University in the summer of 1961. A cum laude graduate, he received the J. Reginald Adams Gold Medal in 1962. He was tember. His pre-medical studies at Lawrence were supplemented by minors in liberal arts, primarily English. Paul combined an enviable mixture of athletic participation, campus participation, Fraternity service, and scholastic achievement during his four years at Lawrence. He played varsity basketball and tennis; was a counselor to freshmen men; was president of the United Charities Committee; and was elected to Mace, an honor society for male students based on leadership, service, scholarship, and integrity. The sixth Delt selected this year, Robert T. Ryder, is the second one since inauguration of the Advanced Study Program to receive the special grant for study in petroleum geology made possible by the generosity of President Nichols. Bob is a resident of Flint, Michigan, and is a graduate of Michigan State. An honor student at Michigan State, he was elected to Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary. be a master of science in the field of petroleum geology. He plans to attend the University of Wisconsin. He served Iota Chapter as rush chairman, rules chairman, and as Water Carnival chairman. His long range professional goal is a career in the petroleum industry.

The Fraternity takes pride in the outstanding scholastic and extracurricular records of these six Delts. There were many applications from other outstanding and deserving Delt scholars which made the competition keen and the final selections difficult. It is hoped that these six Delts who emerged as the ultimate choices will find that the Duerr Scholarships will provide them with not only assistance in completing their academic training, but will constitute an important factor in helping them assume positions of leadership and distinction in their chosen fields and in their communities.

The Advanced Study Scholarships will next be awarded for the academic year, 1964-65. There are two types of scholarships awarded. General scholarships are available in any field of specialization and are designated as the Alvan E. Duerr Graduate Scholarships. Five of these are awarded, in the amount of $1,400 each, more or less, subject to the availability of funds, for one year's study at a recognized institution for graduate training and research. They are not renewable and, generally, are to be used in payment of living expense and not in payment of tuition. They are allocated one each to the four Divisions, and a fifth is made on an at-large basis. Special scholarships are offered in specific fields of training, as designated by donors who establish scholarships. The special scholarship in petroleum engineering or petroleum geology at certain approved colleges has been made possible by President John W. Nichols. Although this is the only special scholarship available at the present time, it is hoped that the near future will bring the establishment of several such special scholarships in diversified, designated fields.

Applications for the scholarships may be obtained from Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, 3242 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis 8, Indiana. The deadline for applications will be announced later, but will probably be in March, 1964. The selections will be made on or before June 1, 1964.

The First Executive Council: 1884-1886

By F. DARRELL MOORE, Ohio, '16

DELTA TAU DELTA's decision to expand the powers of its Executive Council and end the Alpha Chapter form of government was a completely understandable change. After two decades, in 1883, a group of alumni leaders was emerging whose experience and maturity would better meet the needs of a growing fraternity. Other fraternities were making the same decision. If the data in recent editions of Baird's Manual of College Fraternities is relevant, most of the other "national," as distinguished from the "sectional," fraternities were undergoing the same growing pains. Sigma Alpha Epsilon used the Grand Chapter system until 1885, when it was replaced by a Supreme Council of six. Beta Theta Pi abandoned the presiding chapter rule in 1879, and set up a board of directors of nine members. Kappa Sigma, prior to 1876, had its executive power with the parent chapter at the University of Virginia; in 1876 the power was delegated to a committee of five. Phi Delta Theta changed from its presiding chapter at Miami to an executive committee in 1868, and in 1880 to a general council. The original system of Phi Kappa Psi was a grand arch council composed of three delegates from each chapter, one a graduate; it met biennially, with one chapter designated as grand chapter; in 1886 it changed to an executive council of five alumni and four undergraduates. Sigma Chi prior to 1882 was governed by the parent chapter, which was subordinate to the decrees of its convention; in 1882 it, too, had an executive council composed of alumni. Two coincidences are immediately apparent, first, the name "executive council" and second, the number nine.

Sororities tended to follow the same transition. Kappa Kappa Gamma used the grand chapter until 1881 when a grand council of four members (later five) was formed. Kappa Alpha Theta vested power in an Alpha chapter until 1883 when a grand chapter composed of one representative from each chapter took control; since 1891 the convention elected a grand council. Pi Beta Phi's grand chapter was at Monmouth until 1884, when it was killed by anti-fraternity laws. Since then it has been governed by a grand council.

NEW CONSTITUTION ADOPTED IN 1883

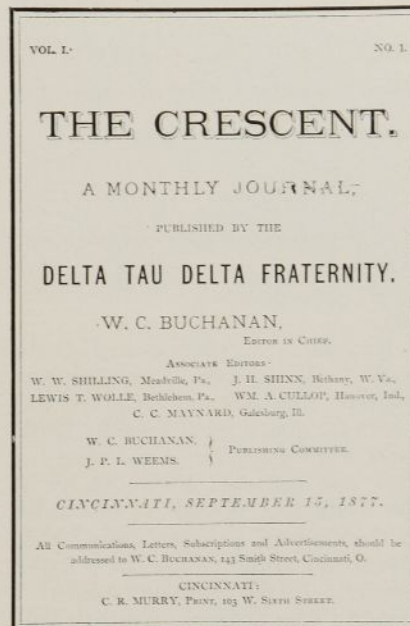

Necessary changes were made to give effect to the change of government, and in effect an entirely new Constitution was written and adopted by Delta Tau Delta. Chapter nomenclature was changed to the one still in use. Qualification for membership in the Fraternity was reworded to "To be fitted for membership in the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, a candidate must possess the following qualifications, that the dignity and honor of the Fraternity be not made to suffer, and her secrets put in jeopardy; he must be firm in good moral principles; he must give evidence of superior intellectual ability; he must possess requisite social qualities; he must have attained the age of sixteen years, and must have obtained the unanimous consent of the chapter with which he unites." Ineligible to membership were former members of any Greek letter fraternities having a chapter at the college in question and persons not connected with the college as undergraduate or post-graduate students.

The government of the fraternity was vested in:

(a) The General Convention of all the chapters

(b) the Executive Council

(c) the presiding Division chapter. The Executive Council's duties were defined that they shall act for the Fraternity in the intervals of Convention. Its nine members should consist of five alumni members, one a general secretary, four members at large,

Little if any change was made in the section on the Convention, but literary exercises were made a Constitutional part of the Convention. It also was provided that the necessary expenses of the Convention be borne by the general treasury of the Fraternity.

Necessarily a change had to be made in the manner of granting new charters. The new law required that a petition signed by at least five applicants, undergraduates at the same college, and endorsed by a chapter of the Fraternity, should be forwarded to the General Secretary, who would obtain the vote of the Executive Council. If the petition secured a majority vote of the Executive Council, notice of that action was sent to all chapters for their votes. In case all the chapters in the Division in which it would be located voted favorably, and a majority of the chapters in each of the other three divisions voted favorably, the charter was to be granted. Charters were to be signed by the President of the Council, the General Secretary, and the division secretary.

Charters could be withdrawn at a Convention by a two-thirds vote of the chapters represented. During the intervals between Conventions, withdrawal of charters could be effected by a two-thirds vote of the Executive Council and a majority vote of the chapters in each division. In the latter case, an appeal to the Convention could be taken.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S DUTIES

The General Secretary in the new regime was to be elected for a three-year term by a majority vote of the Convention. The other alumni members of the Executive Council were elected for two-year terms, and the Convention elected one as President and another as Treasurer for one year. In the description of the duties of the General Secretary, he was charged with the general correspondence of the Fraternity and the Executive Council; to have charge of all documents and archives of the Fraternity; to receive all dues and taxes paid through the Division secretaries, which he was directed to forward to the Treasurer; to sign all orders for money drawn by the Council; to sign all charters; to present to each Convention a full report of all business transacted by the Executive Council during the year; and also report in writing on the general condition of the Fraternity. The President's duties were given as the presiding officer at Council meetings, the signing of all orders on the Treasurer, and the calling of special meetings of the Council at the written request of three members thereof. Meetings of the Council were to be held twice a year, just prior to the Convention, and immediately after the Convention. A majority of the members present in person or represented by proxy constituted a quorum.

Quite obviously the position of General Secretary was the center of power and prestige.

CONVENTION ELECTS COUNCIL

The Committee on Nominations at the 1883 Convention in Indianapolis recommended the election of Henry Bruck, of Rho, as General Secretary, and the four other alumni members elected were Lowrie McClurg of Alpha; William S. Eversole of Beta; Thomas H. Hardcastle of Xi (Simpson), and Fred Martinez of Beta Gamma (Columbia). The report was not accepted. Henry Bruck and Wilbur Colvin were nominated for General Secretary and the ballot showed Colvin 32; Bruck 23. Apparently every possible vote was cast. A guess could be made that it represented substantially a division between the eastern wing of the Fraternity and the middle-western wing. If such was the case, Bruck polled the 15 votes from the First Division, and of the remaining 40, Colvin received 32. Bruck himself a year later blamed the eastern-western difference on expansion policies for his defeat.

HENRY T. BRUCK

As Henry Bruck did not attend the Indianapolis Convention, and Colvin was present as a delegate and also as a proxy delegate, the former was at a certain disadvantage. As he had made his opposition known to the three recently granted charters in the South, founded by Colvin, Bruck could not get their votes. Colvin had been influential in the revival of the Ohio Wesleyan chapter and the establishment of Psi at Wooster. Bruck's explanation of his defeat stated the political handicap that his nomination faced.

His defeat as General Secretary, followed by his election as President of the Executive Council, not unexpectedly, led to a conflict of personalities between the two important Fraternity leaders. Wilbur Colvin having been elected for a three year term considered his post as independent of any other officer, but of course subject to the Executive Council as a whole. Henry Bruck attempt-

The Convention also rejected two of the four names proposed as the alumni members of the Council, and elected instead W. S. Eversole (Beta), Henry Bruck (Rho), Lowrie McClurg (Alpha) and Wilson M. Day (Mu). Delta Tau Delta was fortunate in having such men available and willing to serve. Division secretaries, undergraduates, chosen later by the respective Grand Chapters were: H. W. Plummer, Alpha; J. W. Magruder, Mu; A. G. Pitts, Delta; and C. L. Edwards, Lambda (Lombard).

ALPHA OBJECTS

The transition from Alpha Chapter was not made without some harsh words. When the new Constitution was presented, Article 3, which established the Executive Council in place of the Alpha, was attacked by the Alpha delegates, Wesley Best and C. E. Richmond. A motion to table until the afternoon session of the second day was made, but the motion to table was lost and Article 3 was adopted. Alpha apparently did not have an inkling of the proposed change. Harry Plummer referred to it in a letter written two years later, admitting that the change was for the better, but still smarting about the way it was done. Ernest Merrick, who was initiated at Alpha and who transferred to Vanderbilt, also expressed the resentment that Alpha men felt. The strongest words survive in a letter which E. P. Cullum, Alpha, '82, sent to Ezra J. Ware, the delegate from Delta to the Convention. It was a bitter letter to Ware personally, and Ware copied it and circulated it widely; Bruck referred to it in 1886. Cullum said in part: "You acknowledged when you were here that I was right in the main part of my argument for Alpha, and then you went directly to Convention and voted against what you acknowledged was not so bad after all. But this I might have expected of you. What did surprise me however was your treatment of Chas. E. Richmond not that the others did any better, but you above all others who had accepted the hospitality of Alpha, should not raise a voice in Convention for us and give us a fair show. You wouldn't give us a year, no you wouldn't give us an hour. . . . Well it was a pretty well worked scheme and we were badly beaten at Convention, but we are in power until January and assure yourself my dear fellow we will use it. You played us a stinking trick and we will show what Choctaw revenge means. By what right or law did such an action pass Convention without the highest and acting power knowing of it? Why did the whole gang refuse to give us a fair trial, a year or even the two hours asked? Should not an organization which has its life and strength in the colleges be governed by college men? Was not the whole thing concocted and worked up against us in an underhand way? . . . You can just put it down in your pass book that in two months time the whole thing will be reversed and the action of this Convention set aside until next year when we can have a fair show. You can also note that certain chapters in this harmonious charitable brotherhood will find themselves ere many moons minus their charters. Your crowd has treated us unfairly and we will not hesitate to reciprocate. We also have the Crescent in our hands. We discovered at Convention that our friends are very few, so we will pay back in their own coin. Our plan is well laid with failure impossible. I can feel perfectly justified in saying Damn you all who oppose us." Percy Cullum's temper subsided with the passage of a few years, and he continued to be a loyal active worker in the Fraternity.

C. L. Edwards, a member of the first Executive Council, and among other things the founder of Beta Eta (Minnesota) wrote to Kendrick C. Babcock, then President of Delta Tau Delta, in a letter dated December 13, 1895: "I was present and took an active part in the Convention of 1883. As to the charge of 'struck us a blow which to say the very least was contemptible' I can affirm to say the very least that all such charges are without foundation. The real fact is that at that time Alpha had an abnormal head, and instead of gladly welcoming an enlarged and more suitable form of government, they undertook to prevent the evolution of the Fraternity, that a chapter of undergraduates in one secondary college might still flatter themselves with the wearing of the crown!"

In the Omega (Iowa State) minute book on September 27, 1883, a reference is made to Alpha's dissatisfaction. C. L. Edwards of Lambda (Lombard) had started a precautionary backfire against Cullum's threat. Probably the same precautionary measures were taken in the other three divisions. "A communication from Edwards in which was a copy of a letter from Bro. Cullum, chap. Alpha, who in his letter stated that certain actions should be . . . ? by Alpha in revenge for the action taken at the Convention disenthroning the power of Alpha. Thus the following resolution was sent to Chapter Omega and asked to be assented to:

"Resolved, that if it becomes necessary and facts justify the course from any actions or future actions of the present Alpha, the consent that the power be given the present Executive Council as elected at the 25th Convention to assume control of the fraternity according to its powers as set forth in the new constitution which goes into effect January 1, 1884. Carried."

Unfortunately only a few of the letters written by General Secretary Wilbur Colvin have been saved, a few to Lowrie McClurg and a few to Henry Bruck. He kept a letter book, but did not turn it into the Fraternity archives. A "letter book" preserved copies of letters by applying a liquid to the face of the letter, placing it under a tissue, applying weight, and the copy was transferred to the back of the tissue, and was read from the front. Henry Bruck's letter books were preserved by him, and are an invaluable aid in understanding the developing policies of Delta Tau Delta and also in the appreciation of Henry Bruck himself. Without the copies of his outgoing letters, one would have to guess and possibly misinterpret the background of many topics as well as personalities.

PERSONALITY CONFLICTS

Soon after the Executive Council took over, Bruck wrote to Colvin on January 14, 1884, calling for a meeting of the Council for February 22. He gave advice on the records to be kept by Colvin to account for all the cash that had to pass through his hands to those of McClurg as Treasurer. It was important that Colvin secure a list of the undergraduate members, so that he could check the accuracy of the moneys remitted. Ten days later he called Colvin's attention to a misprint on the forms Colvin had had printed; apparently the printer had refused to correct them. Bruck said that details on such matters should be decided by the Executive Council. He continued his instructions to the General Secretary on February sixth, calling his attention to the requirement that all routine business must pass through the hands of the Division secretary before coming to the General Secretary. All names mentioned in Council transactions were to be regarded as confidential, especially in reporting the votes. Only those inside the Council would know names.

On February 17, he questioned the real meaning of the term "routine" as it applied to Colvin's duties and powers. All Fraternity communications should be sent in sealed envelopes. He gave Colvin instructions on anything else that came to his attention. On March 18, he raised strong objection to the Executive Council stationery that Colvin had had printed; even one of Colvin's supporters would have to agree with Bruck on this point.

COUNCIL'S FIRST MEETING, FEBRUARY 1884

An abstract of the minutes of the first meeting of the Executive Council held in Akron, Ohio, February 22, 1884, was featured in the March issue of the Crescent. Seven of the Council attended in person and McClurg was represented by Harry Plummer as proxy, and K. B. Waite represented Bruck. Rules and interpretations of laws for the guidance of the Council were adopted. Reports of the committee on chapters; the condition of backward chapters; discussion of plans for extension; a complaint on jewelry prices; the election of delegates to the pan-hellenic conference; the treasurer's report; and other business constituted the agenda.

The withdrawal of both Sigma and Beta Iota charters was recommended. Much of the remainder of the report was routine or of minor importance.

On February 29, 1884, Bruck wrote to McClurg the digest of the minutes. "All present except Bruck and McClurg. Eversole chosen as chairman. Set of rules adopted; definitely prescribing the duties of the General Secretary, defining routine business, setting January 10 as the date annual dues fall due. Comm. Beta Iota (Adrian) advocated withdrawal of charter, unanimously adopted, and Pitts instructed to receive documents if action is ratified. Magruder presented the majority report on Sigma (Mt. Union), favoring withdrawal; Colvin presented a minority report based on last year's Convention voting a year's delay on Sigma. Extension considered. Committee of investigation on the possibility of absorption of the Rainbow Fraternity appointed: Bruck, Plummer, Day, Johns Hopkins, Virginia, Washington & Lee, Vanderbilt, Mississippi, Texas, favorably considered. In Third Division, perhaps Indiana. In the Fourth, Wisconsin and Northwestern A committee to investigate Omega (Iowa State): McClurg, Edwards, Pitts. Financial Committee: Day, Plummer, Eversole. McClurg appointed to prepare a plan for raising a fund mentioned in his Treasurer's report. Colvin was authorized to start proceedings for incorporation in Ohio. Delegates to the pan-hellenic council elected were Bruck, Plummer, and Cook. Committees appointed to report on all chapters in the Fraternity. Council decided that the Convention action on Sigma was not binding on the Council; unanimous recommendation for withdrawal. As nearly all the business had been mapped out, they were enabled to work intelligently."

Bruck's idea was that if all chapters were made the object of a special investigation, the Council could investigate every chapter and so get at the weak ones without "riling" any one chapter up. Progressive men (Bruck's term) control all the committees except the one for the First, and in the First there is nothing to fear. Bruck considered the meeting to a certain extent a battleground for Bruck and Colvin in which Bruck got the better of it.

"Colvin," he said "seemed bound to make himself independent of the Council and it nothing but a figure-head, in which operation he was left. The thing was very nicely engineered for which we have to thank Pitts and Plummer."

On March 18, Bruck wrote to Colvin in an effort to prevent publication of the meeting in the Crescent. "May I beg of you to prevent that, as it should be our policy to let as little be known as possible, especially in the unfinished state necessarily left." A week later he continued in the same vein: as the Crescent was read by outsiders. "The best way is to keep the report quiet until Convention, then have it published as part of the minutes. Alpha, when governing chapter, never had minutes of her meetings published, so why should we who are practically the governing chapter, do it, especially in a way which will let our private business be known. But since it's done, it can't be helped. I hope, however, that nothing was said about the 'Rainbow' business as that of all wants to be kept secret." Bruck also objected to any change from Newman as official jeweler.

"I am delighted that Will Cook will be my colleague at the pan-hellenic. There is no one I know of that would do the Fraternity more honor than he. He was noted as a skilled tactician at the Univ. of Michigan, is a liberal-minded fellow, has a pleasing address, and has a live sensible business interest in the affairs of the fraternity. He made a splendid presiding officer at the recent First Division Conference." The next day Bruck wrote to McClurg: "When I think of Colvin as General Secretary I get almost too mad to write. I've beaten him on a good many points—on the most essential ones too, but I swear I won't give up until I have beaten him on all—until he's out of the General Secretaryship. He isn't over-fond of me—especially since it was through me that he failed to get elected to the position of third representative at the pan-hellenic. I rubbed it in a little to him yesterday when apparently in ignorance of the fact that he had been running against Cook, I told him in my letter how glad I was that Cook was elected, that I knew of no one who was so well fitted to represent us. He was so free from back-country uncouthness, had such a good address, had such a businesslike way of transacting business, etc., etc." Bruck was making every effort to make Colvin so uncomfortable that he would resign his office, a tactic he continued for the entire period that Colvin served. Both McClurg and Day attempted to maintain surface peace at least. Any person who reads the voluminous correspondence of Henry Bruck over the years, particularly those after 1897, develops an intense admiration for the man; but at the same time one develops sympathy and understanding for the stubborn manner that Colvin met the problem. When Bruck's term as president ended at the time of the 1885 Convention, Wilson Day was chosen in his place. Bruck took it well, and admitted that he deserved the demotion as he had not completely and promptly served the duties of the office; yet he was constantly nagging at Colvin for failing to do what Bruck asked or ordered.

The two absent members were represented by proxies who should, and did, report on the Council meeting; but when Lowrie McClurg asked if Colvin would furnish the Council members each a copy of the minutes of the meeting, Colvin replied on March fourth: "Well, hardly, as they, including reports, are quite voluminous and would require considerable more work than I feel called upon to do. I will furnish each member with a list of com's they are upon, etc. and an abstract of the minutes will appear in the Crescent, omitting a few items. I presume Bro. Edwards gave you some account of the meeting as he was in Chicago on the way home and Bro. Waite ought to render you a report, though he was only present at one-third of the meeting."

The Executive Council had adopted a suggestion of McClurg's that a circular be sent to presidents of colleges in which Delta Tau Delta had chapters, asking them to report any misconduct on the part of chapters of Delta Tau Delta under their jurisdiction, and any falling off of the standard of membership. Bruck wrote to McClurg that he would have opposed the suggestion; "Calling in the faculty to decide what is the standard of membership or what it shall be in a chapter of our Fraternity is allowing that the faculties have a right to interfere in fraternity affairs. The Fraternity will allow no claim of jurisdiction on the part of the faculty of any college, and any such action as the above tacitly is allowing such a claim. Again the faculties would not always set the proper standard, and even if they did, they are not in a position to determine whether that standard has been maintained. At Stevens, if President Morton were to interfere, Rho would stand it just long enough to call a special meeting to appoint a committee to wait on the president and request him, perhaps in a slightly modified form, to mind his own business. Alumni and undergraduates would kick up a pretty nice mess. Don't you think that had better be reconsidered?"

POLICY OF CHAPTER WITHDRAWAL STARTS

A policy of eliminating chapters in colleges considered as below desirable standard was started by the Convention of 1883 at the instigation of various Fraternity leaders, and continued by the Executive Council and its successor, the Arch Chapter, for more than a decade. Its origin was probably in the First Division (East), dissatisfaction with some on our college roll which their spokesmen claimed were a handicap to expansion in eastern colleges, particularly in New England. Outspoken criticism in continuance of chapters in agricultural colleges was based on disapproval of their courses of study by liberal arts representatives.

First casualties were Sigma Chapter at Mount Union College, in Ohio, and Beta Iota Chapter at Adrian College, in Michigan. Both were comparatively young chapters, the former having been established in 1875 and the latter in 1878.

Personnel of the chapters was carefully left out of the charges against these chapters by the proponents of retraction. College standing was the central point emphasized. Informally, chapter equality did enter into the decisions in what might be described as an unofficial whispering campaign. Two years later Henry Bruck commented: "It was originally the outcome of the deliberation and correspondence of several men, all of whom have served on the Council. We drew up a list of chapters we thought should be lopped off. Sigma was at the top of the list, because every single thing militated against her. Her reputation among the other Ohio colleges was not good. Her reputation was either none or very poor. Even the trustees . . . declared their purpose was not to compete with other colleges, but was to supply education of a lower and less ideal 'kind.' Hence a large majority of her students belonged to the music and commercial courses. A large majority never graduated."

"At Convention nothing was said about the chapter because we thought it best to fight it out on the other ground. But that chapter, small as it was when the charter was withdrawn, was of the most miscellaneous character." He further commented most unfavorably on the members.

A. A. Bemis, one of the charter members of Zeta (Western Reserve) added in May, 1894, that "It was the giving away of this motto, among other things, that led to the decapitation of Sigma by the Watkins Glen 1884 Convention. The boys at Mt. Union got very bold and sought to run things at the college to suit themselves, and posted the motto in their literary society room. The Barbs got on to it and called them down with telling effect; and this with other indiscretions gave the Fraternity a good excuse to withdraw their charter."

Bruck appointed a committee of the Council, Colvin, Eversole, and Magruder, to report on Mt. Union at the first Council meeting. Eversole wrote Colvin prior to the meeting that he already knew enough detrimental to the college to vote for withdrawal. The Council voted unanimously to withdraw the charter and to refer the decision to the chapters, where a majority vote in each of the four divisions was necessary to complete the action. A similar vote resulted after a report on Adrian College was presented.

Beta Iota put up little resistance, but Sigma attempted to put on a mail campaign. The chapters of the four divisions quickly voted to sustain the Council action. Beta Iota surrendered and turned in her charter, but Sigma elected to carry the matter to the Convention. After almost a full day's debate, the delegates also sustained the withdrawal of Sigma.

AFTER THE WITHDRAWAL

An interesting aftermath of the taking of the two charters was the chartering of the two groups by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, then making great effort to expand in the north. Later claims were made that members of the chapters, including alumni involved, had resigned from Delta Tau Delta; but through Lowrie McClurg and THE RAINBOW we officially denied any such action on their part. In fact, the Constitution had been so changed to make such action impossible, and the only way open was expulsion.

When Robert Churchill was preparing the Sixth General Catalogue of Delta Tau Delta (1897), he reported that he had checked Sigma's roll and had eliminated from the list any names appearing in SAE's catalogue. The 1884 Catalogue had listed 135 members; Churchill dropped 21 names, most of whom were either residents of Mt. Union, Ohio, or were among the 12 undergraduates who formed a local that went into SAE. Of the reported total enrollment of Beta Iota of 30 members, seven undergraduates and one alumnus faculty member were dropped from the 1897 Catalogue.

FIFTH GENERAL CATALOGUE ISSUED IN 1884

Under the editorship of Rho Chapter, Alfred Trautwein, and Henry Bruck, the Fifth General Catalogue of Delta Tau Delta was an exceptionally fine piece of work. In addition to the roster of names and occupations for each chapter, Alfred Trautwein had written the first really authentic history of the Fraternity and also of each chapter. After each name in the catalogue appeared the member's official activity expressed in capital Greek letters if a charter member or service on a national scale, and in lower case Greek letters for serving in various chapter offices.

Trautwein and Bruck were very conscious of the fact that an imposing catalogue would be favorably commented upon by other fraternity leaders, and so exerted themselves to produce what was an outstanding volume.

The Convention recognized their work by a special resolution that reflected the pride of "the magnificent work" and expressed "the hearty thanks of the Convention to Chapter Rho for the able and painstaking manner in which it has performed its task, thus giving to Delta Tau Delta a catalogue the peer of that of any other fraternity in the land."

INITIATION OF PREPARATORY STUDENTS

The Convention amended the Constitution to provide that no chapter should initiate preparatory students without the consent of the Executive Council in each case; but that the General Convention could grant general permission for the year 1884-5. Beta Delta (Georgia) and Kappa (Hillsdale) were given such permission. A limitation on the size of chapters in colleges where there were less than two rivals to 12 was also voted, except by a two-thirds vote of the Council. The list of those attending the Convention included 22 undergraduates and 18 alumni. Six chapters were represented by an alumnus as a single delegate and 12 others were either represented by a proxy or not represented at all. Thirty chapters were listed in all.

B. F. Dimmick, Mu, '74, was president of the Convention. From Henry Bruck's letter book, one gleans the information that Dimmick became the father of triplets within the year.

Wilber Colvin, General Secretary, presented a bill for expenses to the Convention, and it was ordered paid. This is notable because as an aftermath of his feud with Henry Bruck, the latter planned and succeeded in thwarting the payment of a similar account a year later.

1885 CONVENTION IN DETROIT

With the same chapter roll of 30, the Twenty-seventh Convention minutes show that ten chapters were unrepresented, five for the second successive year. Only two were represented by alumni, and none by proxy. W. W. Cook was president of the Convention which met in Detroit on August 19.

CHARTERS WITHDRAWN

Two charters were withdrawn by vote of the Convention, Lambda (Lombard) and Tau (Franklin & Marshall). The charges against Lambda as listed by the Committee on Chapters and Charters included non-payment of Fraternity dues; general neglect of duty both as a chapter and as a grand chapter; for failure to provide a member of the Executive Council; for non-representation at two successive Conventions; and the stagnant condition of Lombard University.

The Committee report also recommended that the Council similarly investigate the condition of Beta Zeta and Butler University. The Council was also directed to investigate Iowa Agricultural College and Omega Chapter, and the recent scandals involving individual members of that chapter. An amendment to the Laws provided that "When the dues to the Fraternity from any chapter shall remain unpaid until the first day of February next succeeding the day upon which they become due, the charter of such chapter shall by reason of such non-payment be thereby withdrawn. This provision is deemed to be self-enforcing and no notice or action by the Divisions or Executive Council is necessary either before or after such withdrawal in order to render it effective. Charters thus withdrawn can be restored only by granting a new charter as prescribed in the Constitution."

Another action of the Detroit Convention was to transfer the Crescent away from Alpha Chapter to Chicago, with the Council having the authority to name the editor.

Harry Plummer, chairman of the Committee on Publication of the Convention minutes, was ordered by the Convention to strike out from the General Secretary's report Colvin's views and criticisms concerning the conduct of the Council during the past year. The refusal to pay Colvin's expenses to the Convention and this editing of his report was a part of Henry Bruck's persistent heckling of Wilber Colvin.

H. W. Plummer, Alpha, '84, and J. B. Ware, Iota '82, were elected as new members of the Executive Council. W. M. Day, Mu, '71, was elected President and Ware Treasurer of the Council. Colvin's term as General Secretary still had a year to run; and apparently Bruck and Day had been elected for more than two years in 1883. Bruck's failure to be re-elected President was ascribed by him to his failure to fulfill completely his duties in that office; yet that continued to be his criticism of Colvin who was alleged to neglect Fraternity duties for personal responsibilities. That neglect can be documented in part, but much of it was his stubborn refusal to follow Bruck's dictates even when they were reasonable.

27TH ANNUAL CONVENTION, LOUISVILLE, 1886

Early numbering of our Conventions was based on years since the assumed date of founding at Bethany and did not base upon actual conventions. Earlier the date was assumed to be January first, 1860, and research made it January first, 1859. Bruck's later historical notes moved it back to December 1858. That accounts for having two conventions called the twenty-seventh.

Nine chapters were not represented in any manner; several were represented by proxy or alumni. A total of 22 were represented. Preparatory students were made ineligible for membership. The amendment of the previous Convention automatically withdrawing a charter for non-payment of dues was rescinded. Resignation from the Fraternity was forbidden. Division secretaries, elected for one year, were to be from the undergraduate membership of the Grand Chapter: this was caused by Alpha's designation earlier of Percy Cullum, an alumnus, as secretary. Various other minor changes were made to the Constitution.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT

Wilber Colvin presented his third and final report as General Secretary. He did not attend. "The position of General Secretary is no sinecure," he said. "It takes one-third to one-fourth of a man's working time to attend to its demands even moderately well. During my term of office, extending over a period of two years and nine months, I have written well over one thousand letters, filling over six hundred pages in a large letter book, while many more were sent out without being copied. The records of the Executive Council fill over two hundred pages of a separate record book. The record of initiations require not a little attention; and, especially this has required work, as I have been endeavoring to get and make a complete enrollment of each Chapter, many of these having been found to be incorrect and imperfect."

"Most of the chapters have complied with requests to complete such a roll, and these records are in better shape than ever before; as in fact are all the records, documents, and archives of the Fraternity. During the past three years records have been kept, and not a confused mass of papers without system or completeness."

"What ever have been my shortcomings, I have the knowledge that I have done many hard hours and days work for the Fraternity; and that her papers and records and archives, committed to my care, are in far better condition than when I first assumed the duties of my office."

"I have one more suggestion, that I can now make freely, as I have no hope of reward therefrom. 'A laborer is worthy of his hire.' If the Fraternity wishes to be just and to expect a capable and worthy man to fill the office of General Secretary faithfully, it should pay him a reasonable salary for his services. Work is work and business is business, and no man, unless he be an idler, and such a man is not wanted, can really afford to spend so much time and labor, no matter how he may love our 'grand old Delta Tau.'"

"The volume is closed; may it be found, at some time in the future, that the labor of this year and the past three years, have done something toward elevating and helping others onward and upward to useful and happy lives."

ALL PETITIONS DENIED BY COUNCIL

During the three years beginning in 1884 no petitions for new chapters were granted. None got by the Council. The earlier policy followed by both the Jefferson Alpha and the Allegheny Alpha had been based upon a helter-skelter policy; if a Delt went to a college where we had no chapter, he was granted a charter, and constitutionally, merely by asking for it. With the development of the Extension Committee, a change had already been attempted with great success, both in discouraging and encouraging expansion. During these three years petitions were received from Denison, Wittenberg, South Carolina, South Carolina Military Institute, Grinnell College, and Purdue. Only the last named was entered later, but the first two on present standing, would undoubtedly be favorably considered at least from college standing and reputation. Grinnell and The Citadel do not allow fraternities today.

WHY THE PURDUE PETITION WAS REJECTED

The documents involved in the Purdue petition still survive in the Archives, and give a quite interesting reflection of the methods, policies, and procedures involved in expansion during the Executive Council period. According to the Convention Minutes of 1879, Alpha reported the rejection of an earlier petition from Purdue. The Council established a procedure which required an endorsement of a petition before it was formally presented to that body. The petition and endorsement were then circulated in their original document form in round-robin style to the various members of the Council. Frequently this took several weeks. If a majority of the Council approved, the petition was referred to the individual chapters for their votes. In the same geographical division, a unanimous vote was required, and in the other three divisions, a majority vote in each.

Longhand petition from Purdue, dated April 17, 1885

A chapter of Sigma Chi had been established at Purdue in 1875, but it had been forced to exist sub rosa because of the strict faculty anti-fraternity laws. In one of the most famous legal cases involving fraternities, the Indiana Supreme Court had ruled against the faculty jurisdiction; and when the college president through another subterfuge tried to achieve the purpose, the legislature ended the fight by tying the annual appropriation in with a restriction on the faculty.

J. W. McLane, a charter member of Zeta (Western Reserve), later Editor of THE RAINBOW, was living in Lafayette, Indiana in 1885, and his two letters to Wilber Colvin provide an interesting contrast between the Purdue of 1885 and that of the present day. He wrote on April 29, 1885: "As to Purdue, I do not hesitate to answer promptly 'NO.' As I am right on the ground, I know whereof I speak. Her students are not first class, her course is defective, standard not very high, and finances in a deplorable condition. She is perpetually on her knees before the Legislature for money, and has just emerged from a hard fight for an appropriation. Sigma Chi has a chapter here which has no rival—yet it is a very ordinary chapter indeed. By all means stay out of Purdue."

A week later he reported: "I had a meeting with eight Purdue boys last night, and talked over their undertaking with them. Three of them are very fine fellows—four in fact—the rest are ordinary. I like their spirit very much. They seem 'clear gone' on $\Delta\tau\Delta$, and declare that they will not petition anywhere else. They just brim over with loyalty; and are very anxious to hear from the Council. I am sorry to say that four of the eight graduate in a month, and the others are not so good by any means. I've told them to expect a rejection, and that in that event to form a local organization against Sigma Chi. They seem to like that plan pretty well, but can't give up the hope of getting a charter yet. It's a pity that Purdue isn't a solid institution, but the facts are that it is weak, young, and in financial straits from which it will not soon emerge. All the fraternities except Sigma Chi have let it severely alone. Faculty is hostile to fraternities, and the Sigs dare not show badges."

The Executive Council voted unanimously against the petition.

TAU'S DIFFICULTIES

As early as the 1884 Convention, the Executive Council had had its attention directed toward the condition of Tau (Franklin and Marshall). It was instructed to examine into the chapter's condition and to take vigorous measures toward improving the chapter, and if deemed advisable, to take steps toward the withdrawal of the charter. The 1885 Convention withdrew the charter.

In his report to the 1886 Convention, Colvin stated that a petition for the re-establishment of Tau was approved by the Council, but that the Third Division had defeated the move. He criticized the justice of the Detroit Convention action. "The Tau, up to the time of the Convention, had been in financial arrears, but just prior to the assembling of the Convention had made a special effort and paid up its entire indebtedness. The money had not reached me prior to my departure to the Convention, but on my return home on the day before the Convention closed, I found a letter from the Division Secretary, E. P. Cullum, containing all of Tau's back dues and squaring all her accounts, a better exhibit than several other chapters could make. I promptly telegraphed that fact to the Secretary of the Convention before action was taken."

A DEFENSE OF LAMBDA (LOMBARD)

Colvin also defended the Lombard chapter, whose charter was also withdrawn at Detroit. Lambda had requested a partial cancellation of indebtedness, but the Council had refused. Lambda then said that it would wait until Convention action could be asked. Colvin denied that Lambda had been remiss in its duties, but was the equal of any chapter in the promptness of its reports, and no Division secretaries had been more prompt, efficient, and faithful than were W. F. Small and C. L. Edwards.

C. L. Edwards in a letter to Henry Bruck on May fourth, 1887, discussed the Lombard case: "Altho I have not a great admiration for Bro. Colvin, yet I liked his word as to the injustice of withdrawing the charters of my own chapter and Tau. Not perhaps that we should remain in either place, but the summary manner of procedure; no charges, no chance of defense, not even a one-sided trial, but all done in the heat of an excited convention. It was most unjust and I must confess that what I had always had as my ideal, a brotherhood seemed a condensed sarcasm at that moment. I had been in convention a good many hours and not a whisper as to the foreordained action. But this is past and I am glad that such action has been taken that will not be repeated. I have often thought that I would rather belong to a chapter of the best men in a small college than the poorest men in a great college." On May 22, 1885, Henry Bruck had written to A. C. Pitts, Delta, '85, "Am I inclined to go into a fight for the sake of firing more chapters? Well, I can't answer that directly. Judging from all I hear we can 'nip off' Lambda without any very great hurrah, but I question our ability to do more than that."

NU'S MISFORTUNES

As Nu did not have a delegate at the 1885 Convention, it was in ignorance of the Constitutional change which would without notice withdraw the charter of any chapter in debt to the Fraternity the following February first. The Convention minutes apparently were not distributed, and no formal notice was sent to the Lafayette chapter by the General Secretary, the Division secretary, or anybody else. Henry Bruck, in his campaign against Colvin, placed all the blame on him. At earlier Conventions, before the Council's formation, the Convention Secretary was charged with that duty. It was actually not the specific duty of the General Secretary and Bruck's criticism is not entirely justified. The 1886 Convention repealed the provision, but it was necessary formally to re-charter Nu, although the charter was to bear the earlier date.

RAINBOW (W.W.W.) FRATERNITY

The negotiations with the Rainbow Fraternity were conducted during this period, but because of that story's length, a separate chapter will cover it.

WASHINGTON GARDNER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL

Wilson M. Day refused re-election to the Council in 1886. In his political maneuvers to be elected General Secretary, Henry Bruck pushed for the election of Harry W. Plummer as Day's successor. The Convention, however, elected Washington Gardner, an initiate of Kappa and an affiliated member of Mu Chapter. As he had had no experience in national fraternity affairs, Henry Bruck had to educate him in his duties, and in so doing actually ran the presidency. Gardner resigned before the next Convention, which he did not attend. In later years he was a member of Congress and national commander of the G.A.R., and Commissioner of Pensions.

CHANGES IN RITUAL PROPOSED

As the then current Ritual (the so-called Tau version) was proving unsatisfactory to many of the chapters, the Conventions referred the preparation of a new Ritual to Mu Chapter. E. D. Curtis, Mu, '70, and the founder of Kappa, has been given credit for its inspiration, and it was formally adopted at the Louisville (1886) Convention. The Convention minutes state; "... to hear the verbal report of the Committee on Unwritten Law and Initiatory Service, which recommended the adoption of the Ritual proposed by Chapter Mu and partially presented at the Detroit Convention, and since elaborated in five forms to suit the requirements of chapters of various sizes and circumstances." The Committee was continued and instructed to complete its work.

DELTA TAU DELTA RESORT ASSOCIATION

A group of alumni residents in Michigan had organized a corporation for the purpose of erecting a private summer resort in upper Michigan. At first it was received with great enthusiasm. It would be located at Bayview, near Petoskey, on Little Traverse Bay. Railroad facilities were explained to the Convention; later that caused the failure of a very interesting project.

SONG BOOK COMMITTEE

For several years the preparation of a Delt song book had been delegated to Tau (Franklin & Marshall) by the Conventions, but little progress was made. When Tau's charter was withdrawn in 1885, the project was transferred to Iota with Lucius W. Hoyt as chairman. In his report to the 1886 Convention he described the collection of songs and music. He suggested, and the Convention voted, to issue an edition of 300, and to distribute them pro rata to the various chapters. The proposed volume included 46 songs and 26 poems "of varying merit" he said.

were the address of Mr. Hughes, the greetings and remarks of Dean Tutt, the presentation of the charter by Mr. Hartford, the presentation of the membership certificates by Mr. Heminger, the remarks of toastmaster Norman MacLeod, a group of Delt songs by a quartet from the new Delt chapter, and the singing of the "Delta Shelter" by the assembled guests.

An additional and most welcome special feature during the program was by Mr. Ted Smith, acting in behalf of the Genesee Merchants Bank and Trust Company, who presented the new Epsilon Iota Chapter with a complete set of ceremonial robes. The gift of this organization, holder of the mortgage on the new $180,000 shelter, momentarily stunned the entire assembly and the impact of its generosity, when fully realized, brought forth a tremendous ovation. Epsilon Iota Chapter deeply appreciates the spirit of the organization with which it has conducted its financial affairs over the past years.

General Motors Institute, founded in 1919, became a part of General Motors Corporation in 1926 and has developed into the world's largest industrial educational organization. As an engineering college, the Institute offers a five-year program in the fields of mechanical, industrial, and electrical engineering leading to the appropriate bachelor's degree. The first four years comprise the academic phase of the program. The fifth year entails a special program of work and research on which the student's thesis is based.

The Institute program provides young men with a sound educational background in preparation for engineering and managerial positions in the divisions of General Motors Corporation. The program is intended to help develop employees with an education and work experience not readily available from other sources.

Gamma Mu Tau was organized in 1926, the first fraternity established on the Institute campus. More than 500 members of the fraternity have entered the role of Institute alumni. Currently, the new house accommodates 120 undergraduates per year in the two section cooperative framework of the engineering program.

Throughout the years, Gamma Mu Tau has demonstrated a continuously strong position among the eleven fraternities on the campus. As the Epsilon Iota Chapter of Delta Tau Delta, it pledges its untiring efforts to being the top fraternity in academics and leadership at General Motors Institute. The Fraternity enthusiastically welcomes its new brothers.

Delta Psi Proposes Construction of Shelter

By JOHN F. CURRAN, Beta Rho, '38

SINCE THE DECISION of the Regents in 1958 to create a general campus, at Santa Barbara, many changes have taken place in planning the physical plant on the 540 acre campus site. To achieve the planned physical development of this campus an expenditure of $77,500,000 is contemplated. Of this amount $6,719,000 has already been appropriated for four new major buildings that are scheduled for completion by 1964. Two new buildings and a library addition which doubles library capacity have recently been completed at a cost of approximately $3,000,000. A three story classroom building and a six story dormitory are currently under construction. By 1967 it is expected that another $31,000,000 worth of construction will have been realized.

At the present time, available student housing in University dormitories is considerably less than the demand. About one-half of the student body is now living off campus in apartments or other housing. University officials foresee no appreciable improvement in housing availability for many years to come in spite of the accelerated building program. The administration counts heavily for housing assistance from fraternities and sororities.

The present Greek community at U.C.S.B. consists of eight sororities and eight fraternities.

All eight sororities are now lodged in permanent and very adequate housing adjacent to the campus. All of their houses have been built within the past three years and have been kept full to capacity without any trouble. Financing for construction was obtained largely through maximum loans from banks or building and loan companies with the national sorority organizations taking a second mortgage on the balance needed.

In the opinion of the administration, occupancy of proper housing has stabilized the entire Pan-Hellenic group, has reduced financial and disciplinary problems within each sorority, and has markedly improved scholarship for all of the groups.

None of the eight fraternities are adequately housed at present. Delta Tau Delta and two others are the only ones which have no permanent housing at all. Each has hopes of making additions or of rebuilding entirely, but all have been unable to obtain adequate financing to date.

There are also six privately owned, University approved dormitories for women. Design is similar to that of the sorority houses and all are full to capacity. It is felt that fraternity house design could be converted to similar use if an emergency were thrust upon Delta Psi Chapter.

Delta Psi Chapter was chartered May 21, 1949 when 35 charter members were initiated. In the 14 years of the chapter's existence it has been housed in at least nine different and wholly inadequate structures. At no time has there been room enough to house the entire chapter in any of these structures. Even the present location adjacent to the campus (the best the chapter has ever had) houses only 28 of the 56 members of the chapter. This situation has led to the establishment of such practices as requiring members to live in the house for only two semesters out of a four year stay on campus. This, in turn, has resulted in most upperclassmen

The architect's front elevation sketch depicts the proposed Shelter.

"living out" and a consequent reduction in chapter cohesion and proper leadership from upperclassmen. For example, of the 23 members noted above as resident in the house, 18 are freshmen or sophomores including 15 who were pledged only last fall. The frequent moves and inadequate quarters have not fostered a sense of permanency and this, in turn, has led to numerous indefinable small problems. In short, Delta Psi Chapter has never had the opportunity to exist or to operate in the manner of a proper chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

Membership in Delta Psi Chapter has remained reasonably constant through the years at about 35 actives. At present there are 39 actives and 18 pledges. Thirty are from the Los Angeles area, ten from Northern California, four from the Santa Barbara area, and one from out of state. Because of the annual increase in enrollment on this campus, the total could easily be increased to 60 members without any sacrifice in quality. In spite of being housed ten miles from the campus, the chapter pledged 18 top caliber men last fall and eight more during the current semester. They might have taken more, but insist in practicing a high degree of selectivity.

In general, the present membership is more fraternity minded and more seriously interested in academic effort than has sometimes been the case in the past. The chapter has always been well represented at the Founder's Day dinner in Los Angeles and has had representation at the Karnea in addition to the official delegate. Scholarship has improved markedly and the chapter is now second ranking on campus.

Chapter finances have improved considerably in the past two years through the efforts of a sequence of conscientious treasurers. An indebtedness of some $900 has been repaid to the house corporation and collection of current house bills is generally up to date.

On the local campus Delta Tau Delta is frequently (but obviously not unanimously) conceded to be the leading fraternity. The chapter seems to be well balanced and continually has its share of both campus officers and lettermen. They have won the intramural All Sports trophy for the past two years. As individuals and as a group the chapter personnel are active in campus affairs, maintain good relations with the University administration and other living groups and, in general, should be classified as a strong chapter.

In mid-1959 a certain plot of land in the Isla Vista area immediately adjacent to the U.C.S.B. campus was known to be available for purchase at a price of $40,000. Through the generosity of Mrs. Paul A. Jones, this property was purchased by her in October, 1959. The rear half of the property was then sold to Delta Psi Building Company in October, 1960, for a consideration of $20,000.

During the period November, 1959, to October, 1960, many delays were encountered in negotiating for and accumulating the purchase price for the rear half of the property as agreed on with Mrs. Jones. The Delta Psi Building Company had only $4,700 available for such a purpose, including $450 solicited at that time from local alumni. Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, through the Loyalty Fund, agreed to loan $13,000 at 5 per cent interest toward purchase of the property. The remaining $2,300 was ob-

Greatest Parliamentarian in the World, Lewis Deschler

Editor's Note:

The material for the following article was furnished by Jackson E. Betts, Kenyon, '26, United States Congressman from Ohio, and was gathered from The Congressional Record, March, 1963; the Washington Sunday Star, April 28, 1963; and an honorary degree of doctor of laws conferred on Mr. Deschler by Miami University on June 9, 1963.

ON JUNE NINTH, 1963, the University of Miami awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws to Lewis Deschler, Miami, '26, parliamentarian of the United States House of Representatives since January first, 1928. The citation reads as follows:

"Upon you, Lewis Deschler, former student of this University, faithful servant of the legislative process in our great republic, recognized authority upon parliamentary procedure, by vote of the University Senate with the approval of the Board of Trustees and under authority granted by the State of Ohio, Miami University confers the degree Doctor of Laws honoris causa, in token whereof I hand you this diploma and have you invested with the hood appropriate to your rank."

Lewis Deschler never held an elective office. Yet he has had a powerful influence on the laws and history of the United States. He is the man who lays down the law to the lawmakers of the nation. A native of Chillicothe, Ohio, Lew Deschler went to Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, where he played tackle on the football team and was engaged in other extracurricular activities while a member of Gamma Upsilon Chapter. In 1925, he went to the nation's capital and completed his undergraduate work at George Washington University. In 1932 he received his law degree and in 1934 was admitted to the bar of the District of Columbia. He became a member of the United States Supreme Court bar in December, 1937.

In 1925 Lewis Deschler began his career in the nation's capital when he was appointed messenger at the Speaker's table of the House of Representatives. At that time the Clerk at the Speaker's table performed the role of parliamentarian. In 1927 Congress created the positions of parliamentarian and assistant parliamentarian. Mr. Deschler was the first Assistant Parliamentarian of the House but he served in that capacity for only one year as in January, 1928, he was appointed Parliamentarian. He has served continuously in that position down to the present, serving under Republicans and Democrats alike. Speaker of the House McCormack has said that "Lew Deschler is the greatest Parliamentarian in the world." He is generally credited with having a great part to play in Alaska and Hawaii achieving statehood by successfully finding House precedents to permit the statehood bills to bypass the Rules Committee, where they had been blocked, and come to the floor for a vote.

Republican House Leader Charles A. Halleck said "I never cease to be amazed at the length and breadth of his knowledge of the rules of the House of Representatives." Mr. Halleck went on to say that "... never have I known Lew Deschler's advice, his judgments, or his decisions to be influenced by any partisan considerations whatever. . . . He has a deep understanding of his job that transcends its purely technical aspects."

House Speaker McCormack has said "... he is a man of wisdom, a man whose influence in the legislative affairs of our country for so many years has been tremendous, unseen possibly from the angle of the public but well known to each and every Member who has ever served in this great body." Vice President Lyndon Johnson advised his successor in the House of Representatives in this fashion. "You get to know the Parliamentarian, Mr. Lewis Deschler. He is a wise man, he is a good man, he is non-partisan, and he will always advise you not only as to the rules of the House, not only as to the proper procedure, but also as to the proper conduct of a Member of the House."

In March of 1963, the House of Representatives paid special tribute to Lew Deschler on the occasion of his 58th birthday and 36th year as Parliamentarian. The rare tribute included speeches and comments by many members of the House and the proceedings covered five pages of the Congressional Record, including a message from President Kennedy. The resolution read:

"Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby tenders its thanks and appreciation to Lewis Deschler, whose 35th anniversary as its Parliamentarian occurred on January first, 1963, in recognition of his dedication to this House, his wise and impartial advice to the Speaker and Members, and his exceptional contribution to the operation of its rules."

After reading the tributes paid to him by so many prominent men in government circles, tributes not only as to his ability but to his character as well, and after appraising the vast importance and influence of his official position, it is perfectly obvious that Lew Deschler is, indeed, one of the important personalities of our country, truly a "giant among men." That he is content to sit back and not seek acclaim and recognition for the important role that he plays is but added testimony supporting his greatness.

Truly, Lewis Deschler merits a position with his fellow Delts who have served their country as Vice Presidents, as Supreme Court Justices, as United States Senators and Representatives, as governors, judges, business and industrial leaders, astronauts, sports and entertainment celebrities.

Mr. Parliamentarian, your Fraternity salutes you.

His Future Is Up in the Air

By W. H. "HOKE" KERNS

Editor's Note: The following article on George Shaw, Florida, '43, is a reprint of a story appearing in The Florida Alumnus for September, 1962. Mr. Kerns, author of the article, is also Editor of the Alumnus. THE RAINBOW gratefully acknowledges Mr. Kerns' generosity in permitting this reprint of his story.

GEORGE SHAW is the kind of a guy who starts things. Perhaps the secret of his success is a knack for being in the right place to start something at the right time.

Take Telstar. Two months ago A. T. & T.'s new communications satellite was hailed around the world. Scientists were elated at the achievement. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said it would change diplomatic procedures dramatically because of the tremendous speedup in communications between nations. Radio and television newsmen broke into favorite night-time programs to demonstrate their ability to transmit live programming across oceans.

But George Shaw (bachelor of electrical engineering, 1943) grinned and must have thought to himself, "That's number 1." George had further reasons for being pleased. His firm had designed and built a million-dollar telemetry unit which was orbiting inside Telstar. George is co-founder and senior vice-president of Radiation, Inc., a 12-year old Florida firm that is very successfully engaged in one of the fastest changing and most competitive businesses in the world—scientific instrumentation for missiles, satellites, and other exotic and dramatic scientific pursuits. His firm's "spectacular rise" has even become a favorite case study in Harvard's School of Business Administration.

Partly bald and graying, the bespectacled engineer-industrialist first appears relaxed and confident. Two questions and ten minutes later, even the casual observer will readily note that he's "wound up" as tight as the windings on a golf ball and literally explodes with facts, figures and other information about his company, missiles, satellites, and atomic testing.

The transplanted 41-year-old Vermonter first came to Florida when he was eleven with his mother, a St. Cloud beautician. He returned to Vermont to complete high school but entered the University of Florida in 1939 and received his bachelor's degree in engineering in 1943. Many alumni will remember him as the young engineering student who ran for the editorship of the old Florida Review on a platform changing its name and editorial content. It was George Shaw who gave birth to The Orange Peel and was its first editor.

Although the Peel was his first love and probably received more of his time and attention than anything else, he also worked on The Alligator and The Seminole. But it was with The Orange Peel that he made his mark as an undergraduate student on the University of Florida campus. The Delta Tau Delta fraternity has reason to remember him too—he served as their president for one year.

Shaw's personal history is not unlike that of thousands of other engineers who have graduated from the University of Florida; that is until 1950 when he helped found Radiation, Inc. After graduation he joined the old Sperry Gyroscope company and later matriculated to Melpar, Inc. as a project engineer under vice president Homer R. Denius, who with Shaw was the other founder of Radiation, Inc.

Their modern new quarters on the outskirts of Melbourne are located on 120 acres of valuable Florida real estate and include a number of one-story engineering, manufacturing and testing facilities. For years they were headquartered at the Melbourne Airport in wooden buildings left over from World War II days.

How did the company get started? Shaw and Denius were in Florida for Melpar, negotiating contracts for work at the Cape Canaveral area, when together they decided to form their own firm and began seeking office space in Melbourne. In August, 1950 they incorporated under Florida law and occupied 15,000 square feet of floor space out at the decommissioned Naval Training Station at the Melbourne Airport.

One year later their net profit for the year totaled $9,973. The following 11-year history of the company reads more like a fairy tale than an industrial history. In 1952 after receiving significant study contracts from government agencies in ballistic missile development, the company had to lease additional buildings in Melbourne. Six months later they formed the Production Division in Orlando.

Their first major contract came in 1954 when they received a $2.5 million contract to perform Dorne Aircraft nuclear blast tests for Operation Teapot. Shaw says this contract was instrumental in Radiation's recognition as a major systems producer.

In 1961 the firm's sales hit an all time high of more than $26 million and earnings rose sharply to $588,000 or $.60 per share. Over the years, Radiation, Inc. had expanded their Orlando production facilities, acquired a subsidiary on the West Coast, Radiation at Stanford and Radiation Service Company in Philadelphia.

Understandably proud of the company's success, Shaw reveals volumes of information about Radiation and its personnel but very little about himself. Unusually modest and unpretentious, the only obvious evidence of his success is perhaps the 45-foot cabin cruiser which he recently purchased for off-time leisure. When time permits he packs his wife and three children on board for cruises to the Bahamas and other exotic areas. He met wife Mary, incidentally, at the University of Florida when her father was on the campus as an R.O.T.C. instructor. They have three children: Alan, 11; Jerrie, 13; and Dale, 15.

At least 25 per cent of the more than 900 engineers employed at the Melbourne facility are University of Florida graduates. "Recruiting engineers when you have a big contract is much easier when you're located in Florida," George says. "We sometimes have to form engineering teams in a hurry and if we were located in the north, competition with other firms would certainly make recruiting more difficult and time-consuming." Parenthetically, and without elaboration, he said, "Florida has a terrific ability to overlook its own assets."

A great believer in continuing education, he has contributed materially of his time and money to making graduate work available to his engineers and other scientific personnel. "An engineer today has to complete the equivalent of a master's degree every 10 years to stay on top of his work," he explains.

George believes the future for his company and for the electronics industry is in communications. "Communications in the next decade will replace transportation as the world's largest industry," he predicts. Perhaps this is why he was so interested in Telstar (other than the fact that it carried electronics which were designed, tested and built by Radiation, Inc.).

"We were late getting into the missile field because we were still heavily engaged in measuring and designing equipment for measuring various aspects of this nation's atomic tests," he says. However, the Titan and Minuteman missiles both carried Radiation, Inc. telemetry equipment and the company has a host of "firsts" to its credit in design, construction and research. George says he is confident that A. T. & T. chose Radiation to design and build Telstar's telemetry equipment solely because of their reputation for possessing the ability to deliver. Their equipment in Telstar, incidentally, is expected to last for a year, and transmits data on 120 different channels to an accuracy of 1:128 (less than one per cent), with only one-half watt power required.

Although his office is located in Radiation's beautifully designed new headquarters building at Melbourne, it is unpretentious but tastefully furnished and decorated. He sits in a small straight back chair which appears odd until he explains that a back injury he suffered as a child still bothers him some and the straight back chair gives him more support. A nautical clock is the only decoration. On the hour and half hour it sounds off with "ship's bells" to remind him of the time.

Frank and honest answers come from him in response to any questions, but he exhibits more enthusiasm about communications than any other subject. Ironically, his boat is named "The Third Moon." "That's what I'm looking forward to the most—three stationary communications satellites spanning the world—because that's what it'll take to establish almost instantaneous communications from any spot on earth to any other."

Perhaps he'll get his wish sooner than anyone thinks. Radiation has already built electronic packages for three communications satellites, one of them being Telstar.

George is doing the old axiom "shooting for the moon" two better. He wants three. What comes next, George?

tained when Robert L. Stevens, BK '39, negotiated a personal loan for this amount and placed it in the fund.

Santa Barbara County has installed sewer lines, proper water lines, fire hydrants and a paved street with gutters and curbs along the easement. These installations throughout the entire Isla Vista area were financed through bond issues with the burden of retirement falling on the property owners in the area.

At the present time the house corporation has no reserve fund to contribute toward the construction of a new chapter house. The accumulated reserve was depleted in the purchase of the building site in 1960. Since that time such modest gains as have been possible have also been depleted by the repeated moves of the chapter, by replacement of or addition to furniture and kitchen equipment and by retirement of indebtedness. Accumulation of reserve funds has been markedly impeded because of only 50 per cent of the chapter personnel living in the chapter house.

Recently the house corporation executed a resolution to issue debentures in the amount of $50,000, has made inquiries of local architects on their fees to complete working drawings without assuming supervision of construction, and has submitted the preliminary design plan to the Central Office for comment by the Fraternity's architectural consultant. Further, Mr. Daniel V. D'Alfonso, a Santa Barbara general contractor, has stated that he believes that construction in line with the preliminary design can be accomplished for about $96,000. Mr. D'Alfonso is a former president of the local fraternity which ultimately became Delta Psi Chapter, and he was initiated to Delta Tau Delta at the time the chapter was chartered. His firm has been in business in Santa Barbara since 1921 and is generally recognized as one of the outstanding local contractors.

As a step in aiding the fund raising drive, the corporation plans to send letters explaining the debenture program to all local alumni and to the parents of active members of the chapter. These groups will be invited to participate in the purchase of the debentures.

Admittedly, there is still much to be done before dreams can become reality at Delta Psi Chapter. Still, an attractive and advantageous site has been secured. Preliminary design plans for construction have been prepared. Methods of financing have

Eastern Division Conference

Delegates from the 21 chapters comprising the Eastern Division of the Fraternity gathered at University Park, Pennsylvania, in March, 1963, for the Eastern Division Conference. Tau Chapter at Penn State was the host chapter; William P. Raines, Pittsburgh, '48, as President of the Division served as presiding officer of the conference; and H. Watson Stover, Butler, '21, was elected by the delegates to serve as Eastern Division President for the next two years. The following pictures record some of the activities of the conference.

This photo of one of the business sessions indicates that the delegate standing, who has gained the floor, receives the attention of his fellow delegates.

Discussion groups such as this provide each delegate with the maximum opportunity to participate.

Chapter advisers have an opportunity to exchange ideas in their own sessions. Veteran advisers, such as former Fraternity President JOEL REYNOLDS, center, adviser to Beta Mu, are of great help to the newer and less experienced advisers.

On Saturday evening, the delegates enjoyed the informality of a buffet supper at the Tau Chapter's Shelter.

The conference luncheon on Friday helped serve as a "get-acquainted" session for the many delegates who were meeting each other for the first time.

The buffet at the end of the two-day conference provided opportunity for the delegates, who were well-acquainted by then, to relax and enjoy themselves.

This group combined eating and singing at the piano at the Saturday evening buffet.

Delta Psi Shelter

been considered. The time when hopes become actuality is drawing nearer. Much work, effort, and sacrifice must still be forthcoming but one of these days Delta Psi will have its own permanent shelter and can assume its rightful place of prominence on the Santa Barbara campus and in Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

We can then summarize the purpose of Delta Tau Delta in these words: To make the years you spend in your chapter house so rich and valuable to you that their influence will be a continuing force for good throughout your life, and that through that influence you may become a great force in the life of others.

ALVIN E. DUERR

If the undergraduate student is making a man of himself, he is doing the world's most important job. Growing and working, thinking and gaining power, reflecting and gathering insights, the student justifies his life; the future may safely be left to its own devices.

Principles of Action

NATIONAL INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE

IN ORDER THAT the members of the National Interfraternity Conference may better serve the educational institutions of which they are an integral part; and

IN ORDER THAT the Conference and college and university administrators may develop and maintain a closer relationship, to their mutual advantage; and

IN ORDER THAT the public may be better informed of the role that fraternities play in the constructive development of the young men of this nation...

THESE PRINCIPLES ARE DECLARED:

I • LOYALTY TO THE INSTITUTION

will be achieved by:

- A. Indoctrinating pledges and members in the history, traditions and importance of their college or university; and
- B. Planning participation by undergraduates and alumni alike in those events which build pride in their institution.

II • CONSTRUCTIVE TRAINING will be fostered by:

- A. Directing formal training dedicated to development and improvement of pledges as citizens and as fraternity men; and
- B. Stimulating full opportunity for the development of positive leadership abilities.

III • INTELLECTUAL ACHIEVEMENT

will be encouraged by:

- A. Providing an environment in the fraternity chapter which will stimulate intellectual and cultural progress; and
- B. Establishing respect for scholarship as the primary purpose of a college education.

IV • COMMENDABLE CONDUCT

will be sought by:

- A. Teaching and exemplifying the standards of good taste and sound morals; and
- B. Disciplining promptly and effectively any active members or pledges who deviate from these standards.

V • MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITY

will be promoted by:

- A. Emphasizing the imperative nature of responsibility in the role of good citizenship; and
- B. Developing progressive experience in management as the members gain maturity.

VI • DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES

will be inculcated by:

- A. Encouraging freedom of thought and action within the democratic processes and procedures of the member organizations; and
- B. Lending active support to those who protect our constitutional rights as citizens and as Americans.

In the implementation of these principles we seek the guidance and cooperation of college and university administrators. In turn, we pledge ourselves to sincere effort in the achievement of these objectives as evidence that the college fraternities continue to be a powerful force in the constructive development of young men in the transition from youth to manhood.
