DELTISM COMES TO SOUTH TEXAS

By BUTCH NEWTON, Texas A & I, '65 and JEFF ROERIG, Texas A & I, '69

THE EYES OF TEXAS were on Kingsville as Delta Tau Delta installed her ninety-fourth chapter at Texas College of Arts and Industries on May 7, 1966. Epsilon Lambda is the sixth Texas chapter. Delt alumni from all over and undergraduates from several of the existing Texas chapters, along with the Honorable Tom C. Clark, Texas, '22, Supreme Court justice and Vice-President of the Fraternity, were present to take part in this memorable occasion.

Registration began early Saturday morning at the Student Union Building on the A & I campus and lasted approximately 4,500. It is organized in six divisions: Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering, Teacher Education, and Graduate Studies.

The installation team from Epsilon

Zeta at Sam Houston State College, under the direction of Western Division President Robert W. Kroening, Westminster, '45, and their chapter adviser, Samuel C. Yocum, Arizona, '62, conducted flawless ceremonies for all day. A cover of clouds shaded the Spanish Colonial architecture of the college from the South Texas sun, and the visiting Delts enjoyed the palm covered campus.

The installation was the crowning glory of the hard work of the men who just three years earlier had formed the local fraternity, Beta Sigma Lambda. It was organized in November of 1963, by sixteen A & I students who felt the need of a fraternity dedicated to brotherhood, scholarship, and loyalty. They adopted the motto Soyez juste et n'avez pas peur. Beta Sigma Lambda affiliated a year later with Delta Tau Delta, and is the third local fraternity on campus to nationalize. A fourth is expected to be installed next year. The campus also has four national sororities.

The college has been in existence for 41 years and has a student body of 28 new Delts. The initiates included two past presidents and one of the founding fathers of Beta Sigma Lambda. Dr. Guy Robert Horton, sponsor of Beta Sigma Lambda for its entire life, was also one of the initiates. There was pride in their eyes as they reminisced on how they had watched the group of 16 young men become the top fraternity on campus with 40 members and pledges, and become members of the number one national Fraternity.

Epsilon Lambda presently has twice as many members in campus offices as the other three fraternities combined, and last year posted a 2.79 semester grade point average. The hard work and selectivity of the founders of the local were rewarded as Delta Tau Delta accepted them as brothers.

Initiation ceremonies were held both in the morning and in the afternoon at the Elks' Lodge in downtown Kingsville. A buffet lunch was served to all Delts and initiates at the Lodge. The last new member received his Square Badge at three o'clock, and the Delts of Epsilon Lambda began their first service as a chapter, entertaining the visiting Delts.

Tours were conducted through the Texas A & I campus, the new dormitory that is being constructed and which will house Epsilon Lambda next fall, and the famous King Ranch. Of special interest at the ranch were the Santa Gertrudis cattle and Triple Crown winner, Assault. An open house was held at the "Castle," a three story archaic stone dwelling which houses several of the Epsilon Lambda Delts. The renovated building with its contemporary, exotic interior caught the imagination of the visiting undergraduates, and drew amusing comments from the alumni.

While the young Texans were enjoying the Delt fellowship at the "Castle," another Texan, the Honorable Tom C. Clark, arrived in Kingsville. He was entertained at the home of Texas A & I President, Dr. James C. Jernigan, and later attended a reception for alumni and college officials at the home of Stanley C. McFarland, Colorado, '43, Epsilon Lambda's chapter adviser.

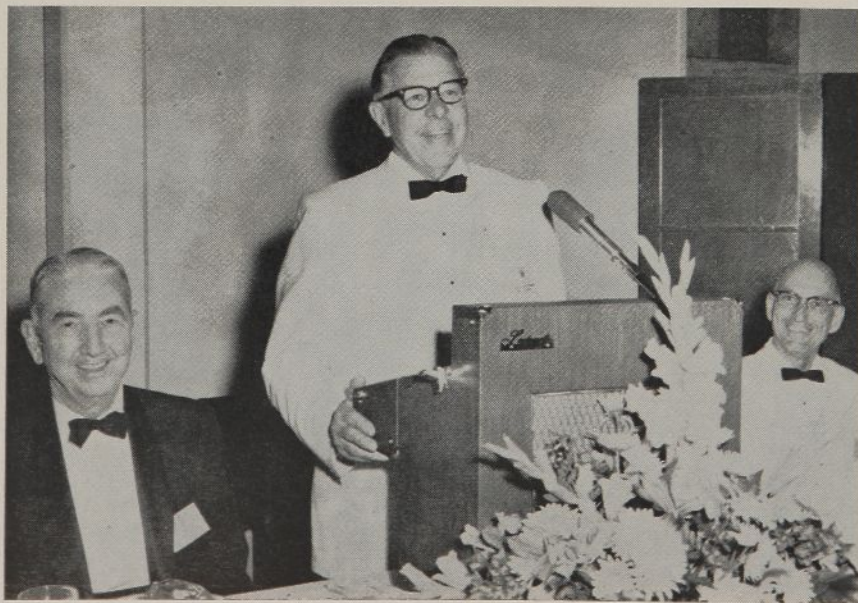

The afternoon soon gave way to evening and the parties ended, as the Delts and their guests turned to the Installation Banquet at the Officers' Club at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station. Toastmaster for the festivities was the dynamic Major General Robert M. Ives, U.S.A., Retired, Columbia, '21. The Reverend Martin Pike of the First Christian Church of Kingsville gave the invocation. A meal of roast prime ribs of beef with all the trimmings was then consumed by the Delts and their guests. A selection of Mexican folk songs by the King Ranch Cavaliers was enjoyed by the diners as they finished their meals. The members of the combo are cowhands on the ranch.

Dr. James C. Jernigan gave the Delts a warm welcome to the A & I

JESS NEELY TO RETIRE

By SILAS B. RAGSDALE, Texas, '18

JESS CLAIBORNE NEELY, Vanderbilt, '23, has announced his retirement effective September 1, 1967, from Rice University, Houston, where he has attained distinction as athletic director and head football coach for 26 years.

Neely, a Vanderbilt law graduate, is at 68 the dean of college football coaches; the 1966 season will be his 40th as a college head coach and his 27th at Rice. With this coaching career that became the nation's longest when Dr. Eddie Anderson resigned at Holy Cross last year, Neely's over-all record through the '65 season is 204 victories, 167 defeats and 19 ties. Most of this, it must be said, was racked up at an institution where the student body has always been strictly limited.

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association and many times a member of the football rules committee, Neely rates high among his fellow mentors who know him for his absolute honesty, high integrity, and a true devotion to the very best principles in athletics. Character building, a term which usually calls for sardonic smiles from wise-acre fans, has been and is, in the Neely lexicon, something real and of transcending importance. Little wonder then that parents acquainted with his handling of boys entrusted to him think that there's no coach like "Uncle Jess" when it comes to instilling in young men good attitudes and qualities.

"Coach Neely does so very much more for a boy than just teach him the game's fundamentals," any number of his former players—or their dads—will tell you.

The native Tennessean, of course, has produced at Rice a full quota of All-America grid greats. Included on this roll would be H. J. Nichols, 1944; Weldon Humble, 1946; James (Froggie) Williams, 1949; Bill Howton, 1951; Kosse Johnson, 1953; Dicky Moegle, 1954; King Hill, 1957, and Buddy Dial, 1958. Dr. Frank Ryan (Ph.D., no less!) who has been quarterbacking the Cleveland NFL team so successfully for several years, also is one of his boys, as is Tobin Rote.

Individual honors, team titles and bowl games have been numerous through the years, but Jess Neely's greatest satisfaction is to see his players get their degrees and go on to become successful in the professions and the business world. The list of engineers, doctors, dentists, Ph.D.'s, business executives, coaches, etc. who played under the lawyer-turned-coach, is quite impressive.

Neely also registers justifiable pride when the 70,000+ seat Rice Stadium, recognized as one of the finest in the world, is referred to. Kern Tips, ace Southwest Conference football announcer, once put it this way: "Mr. Neely can cash in on the opportunities unique to his position and with the tools that are available to him. He can build physical plant while he builds physical stamina."

The physical plant he mentioned includes the spacious Rice Gym and the outstandingly beautiful stadium, which Coach Neely some 16 years ago sparked Houston supporters into building. It took someone with real vision, a leader in whose judgment Houston people had great confidence, to bring about these plant developments, and Delta Tau Delta's coaching pride furnished them both.

"Advancing age has made Jess Neely decide to do what the competition was never able to do—call it a career on September 1, 1967," The Houston Post said editorially on May 25, shortly after the retirement was announced. "He will be at Rice for one more football season, and certainly he will remain everybody's ideal of what a teacher of young men should be.

"... Since 1940 he has struck a sound balance between hard play and fair play, and the values he stood for won him the respect and admiration of two generations of Southwest Conference football fans.

"If there is one title that Jess Neely won and carried so well both on and off the football field, it is that of 'distinguished gentleman.'"

Delts in the Houston area were among the first to greet Neely when he came to Houston from Clemson College back in the 40's, and it is to his credit that in succeeding years he has never been too busy to respond to the Fraternity's call. Perennially, he appears at one of the alum's early fall luncheons and gives them an authentic rundown on Southwest Conference football prospects. His wit is ever sparkling, and this plus his thorough grid knowledge make him an excellent after-dinner speaker. Early this year the alumni chapter voted him "Delt of the Year" and he was awarded a handsome plaque to hang with his many other well-deserved Neely trophies.

Alpha Occupies New Shelter

By PAUL LAMBERT, JR., Allegheny, '67, and JOHN E. KAROL, JR., Allegheny, '67

AFTER 50 YEARS in the pre-Civil War Shelter and a year and a half in temporary quarters, jubilant Allegheny Delts returned to campus following last Christmas' vacation to move into a new $300,000 Shelter, even while work continued on the structure. While the finishing touches were being applied, plans and arrangements went forward for a gathering of Delts from far and near to celebrate the major advance in Alpha's fortunes. The date was set for the weekend of April 23-24.

Following an open house, the program was opened Saturday afternoon by Alpha's president, Walter Conte, '67, serving as master of ceremonies, who introduced Robert L. Kirkpatrick, '28, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Allegheny College. Brother Kirkpatrick presented the keys of the new Shelter to Gordon B. Leberman, '21, president of the house corporation. Brother Leberman in turn presented the keys to the vice-president of the chapter, Alan B. Hays, '67.

Lawrence T. Stevens, '67, who was chairman of the fund-raising campaign for the undergraduate chapter, also served as chairman of the Dedication Committee. He presented certificates to those alumni and friends who contributed memorial rooms for the new Shelter.

Past national President G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh, '21, a former head football coach at Allegheny, and currently vice-president of the board of Scholastic Publications, Inc., presented Gordon Leberman a citation to membership in the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter. In addition to his current service as house corporation president, Brother Leberman has a long record as an active and interested alumnus, both of Alpha Chapter, and in the Fraternity at large.

Dean John R. O. McKean of Allegheny College spoke on fraternities at Allegheny. He was followed by Norman MacLeod, Pittsburgh, '17, a past national President of Delta Tau Delta, who discussed the responsibilities of parents of fraternity members. Brother MacLeod presented the chapter with a Delta Tau Delta flag, on behalf of the national Fraternity.

A selection by the Alpha Chapter Glee Club, directed by Hugh Maloney, '68, closed the afternoon ceremonies.

BANQUET PROGRAM

Following a banquet at the Holiday Inn, the Glee Club opened the evening program, presided over by C. Jackson Blair, '65, as toastmaster.

The principal speaker was Dr. Lawrence L. Pelletier, President of Allegheny College. His address dealt with the challenges facing fraternities today. Dr. Pelletier is a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

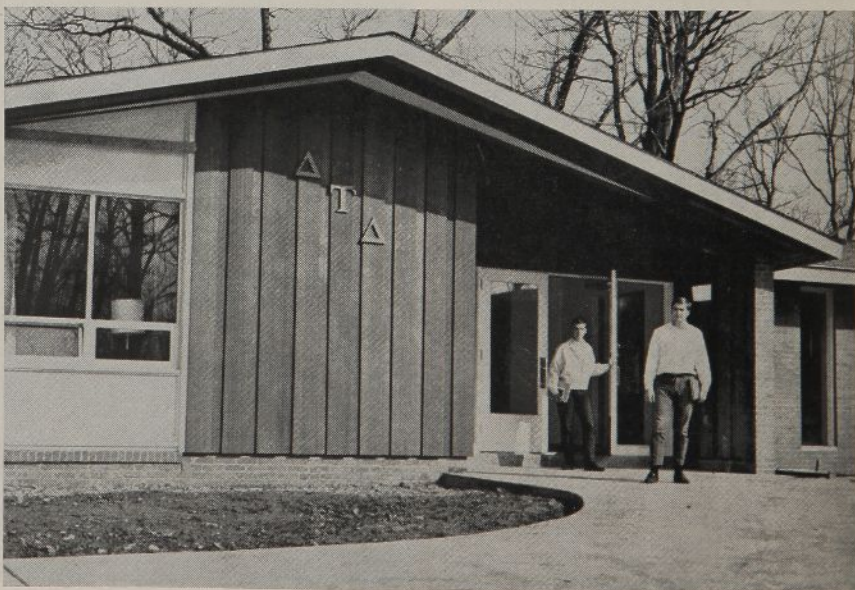

Larry Stevens presented certificates of recognition to those who had contributed much time and effort to the realization of the new home for Alpha Chapter.

The concluding speaker was Albert J. Murphy, Jr., Penn State, '38, national Treasurer of Delta Tau Delta. His topic was the role of fraternities in the community. The banquet was closed with the singing of "Delta Shelter" by the Glee Club, after which members adjourned to the new Shelter for a dance.

Over 300 alumni, friends, and parents attended the dedication ceremonies. All, along with the undergraduate members, considered the occasion extremely successful in all aspects. It was the largest and best attended fraternity alumni function ever held at Allegheny College.

The new home of Alpha Chapter—a dream come true—was the product of a cooperative effort of the College and Delts, alumni and undergraduate. The men of Alpha extend their thanks to the alumni of Alpha, and other Delts and friends, whose generosity made the new Shelter possible.

The handsome red brick and red-wood structure is situated on the site of the old Shelter, with a magnificent view of Dick Run Ravine. The building consists of two wings, and is split level. The "living" wing contains 22 two-man rooms, a special study room, typing room, and laundry and utility rooms. In the "social" wing are found the foyer, living room, dining room, kitchen, library, and recreation room. A cantilevered open porch, of redwood, overhangs the ravine. The Shelter sleeps 44 men, and has dining facilities for eighty.

Alpha Delts are justly proud of their new Shelter, for it means more than the obvious beauty and convenience. It represents the end product of many years of dreaming, apprehension, planning, and work, and it is doubly appreciated after the eighteen months without a proper home for the chapter.

DYNAMIC DUO

TORONTO DELTS BOLSTER STAFF

By BRUCE D. JONES, Westminster, '62

DOUG CROTH

THE FRATERNITY is pleased to announce the appointment of two outstanding young Delts to positions as field secretaries. Douglas E. Croth and Charles Singer both hail from Toronto, Ontario, and are initiates of Delta Theta Chapter at the University of Toronto.

Doug Croth entered the University after spending his high school years in London and Toronto, Ontario, where he was an honor student, president of the student council, and letterman in football, soccer and gymnastics. During college Doug continued his interests in extracurricular activities. He participated in varsity gymnastics and was also active as a member of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association. Doug maintained a B scholastic average, and graduated this spring with a Bachelor of Applied Sciences degree in chemical engineering.

Doug's wide undergraduate fraternity experience gives him a good base for his duties as field secretary. He served Delta Theta Chapter as vice-president, and two terms as rush chairman and house manager. While continually furnishing the chapter with fine leadership and service, Doug also found time to participate in intramural athletics.

Charlie Singer, a native of Toronto, entered the University after a fine high school career where he was an honor student, secretary of the student council, and won varsity letters in football, hockey and basketball. During his undergraduate years at Toronto, Charlie gave his talents to Delta Theta as social chairman, athletic chairman, and sergeant at arms. He also handled numerous special projects for the chapter and was a stalwart in interfraternity athletics.

Charlie maintained a B+ academic average and graduated with a Bachelor of Applied Sciences degree in chemical engineering. During his four years at Toronto, Charlie won over $4,000 in academic scholarships.

In addition to his fraternity and scholastic achievements Charlie found time to take part in many campus activities. He was a standout in interfaculty athletics, receiving an athletic letter and bronze plaque in hockey. He was also director of publicity and public relations for the Department of Chemical Engineering.

During the summer months these men are participating in an intensive training program. They will become well versed in all areas of chapter operations from finances to rushing and from social to chapter organization. Doug and Charlie will then be assigned to work with undergraduate and alumni chapters this fall. Their counsel and guidance will furnish a considerable asset toward the Fraternity's continued progress.

Since the graduation of Richard H. Alfred, a founder of the Fraternity, from the U of T, and the establishment of Delta Theta Chapter in 1926, there has been a strong Delt tradition in Toronto. The addition of Doug and Charlie to the field staff exemplifies this continued support and loyalty. Delta Tau Delta is proud to have these two fine Delta Theta Delts on the team where their experience, enthusiasm, and devotion will be directly applied for the benefit of the chapters and the Fraternity.

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME AGAIN

DELT PIGSKIN PROS

By JAY LANGHAMMER, Texas Christian '66

WITH THE FALL SEASON approaching, pro football will once again be a major topic of discussion for Delts all across the nation. Each year finds members of Delta Tau Delta on the roster of almost every pro club. As a salute to those members of the Fraternity readying for another long season, we present a brief look at pro football's Delts.

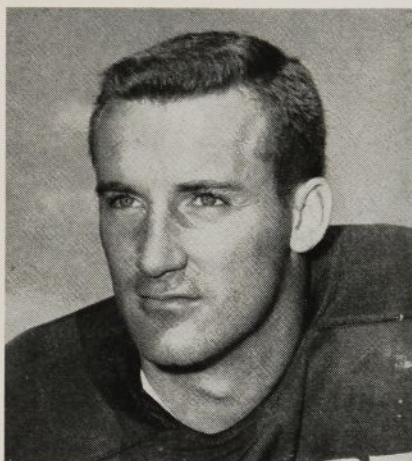

The two most readily-spoken names are Boyd Dowler of the Green Bay Packers and Chris Burford of the Kansas City Chiefs. Both have established themselves as two of football's top pass receivers.

Dowler, a 6' 5" 225-pounder from Colorado, shot into national prominence in 1959 as the National Football League's "Rookie of the Year." Since then, he has consistently ranked high in pass catching statistics and has been instrumental in the success of the Packer dynasty.

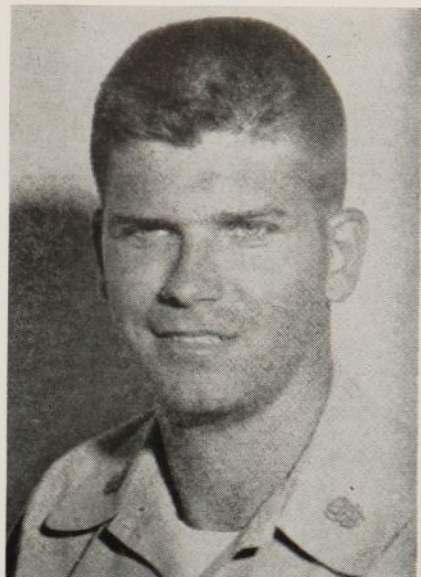

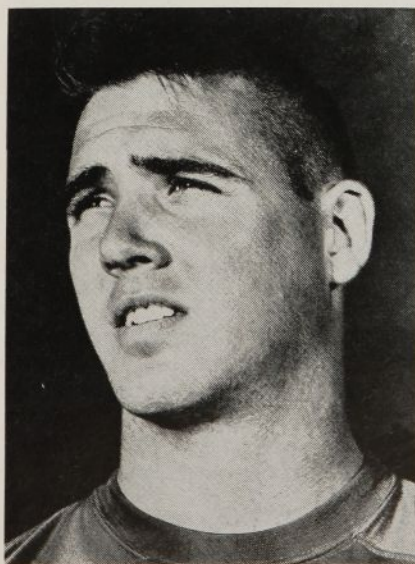

Boyd's counterpart in the American Football League is Stanford's Chris Burford, who broke into the pro wars in 1960. Though hampered by injuries the past several seasons, Chris has still managed to catch his share of passes.

Starting his ninth year for the Green Bay Packers is Indiana's Bob Skoronski, who has seen service at both offensive tackle and center. Bob is the Packers' offensive captain.

One of the NFL's most promising halfbacks is New York Giant Steve Thurlow, a 216-pounder from Stanford, who will be playing his third season of pro ball. One of Steve's teammates is 1964 All-American quarterback Bob Timberlake of Michigan, who saw most of his action as a place-kicker last fall.

Tom Hall of the Minnesota Vikings will be playing in his fifth NFL campaign. Tom, a graduate of Minnesota, started his career with the Detroit Lions as a defensive halfback before moving to the Vikings as a flanker back.

After spending the 1964 season as a reserve defensive end, Howard Mudd of the San Francisco '49ers was moved to offensive guard and became a season-long regular. The Michigan State and Hillsdale product will be a hard man to dislodge this fall. Also with the '49ers is Jack Chapple, from Stanford, who made the NFL Rookie All-Star team last year as a linebacker.

Another Stanford Delt, Ed Cummings of the Denver Broncos, has become one of the AFL's best linebackers. Ed was with the New York Jets in 1964 before moving to Denver last year.

Illinois' Joe Wendryhoski is starting his third season with the Los Angeles Rams. He is a dual threat to opposing teams because he can play either guard or center. Joe also has played in the Canadian football league with the Calgary Stampeders.

Trying to make a comeback after two injury-plagued seasons will be tight end Gene Heeter of the Jets. The ex-West Virginia star was off to a good start last fall before a knee operation put him out of action.

Dave Recher of Iowa will get a chance to become an NFL regular with the new Atlanta Falcons this fall. After signing with Philadelphia as a free agent, Dave spent most of last year on the Eagle bench before being chosen by the National League's newest franchise.

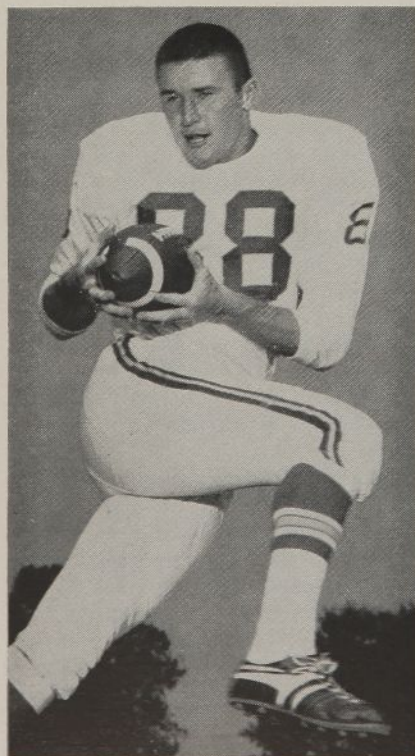

Another second-year center, Ken Henson of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was badly burned in an accident in May and will probably miss most of the season. Ken, from TCU, started the final four games of the season last year.

Several Deltas will be going to a pro camp for the first time. Bob Hadrick of Purdue was the Denver Broncos' number three draft choice and reportedly signed a $60,000 contract. His college teammate, Larry Kaminski, also signed a Bronco contract and will be tried at center and linebacker.

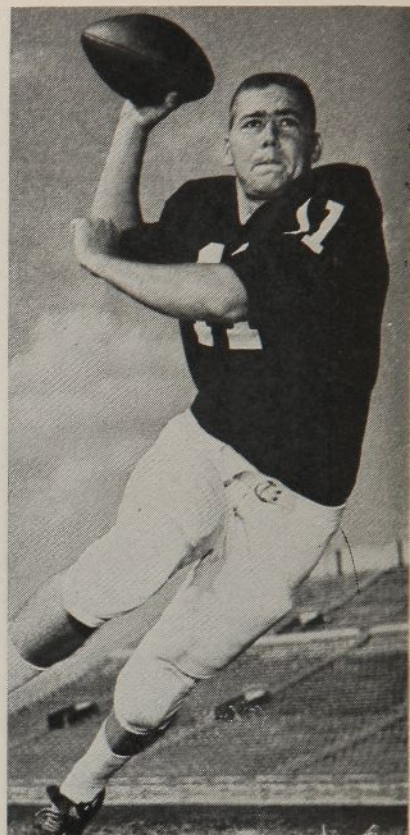

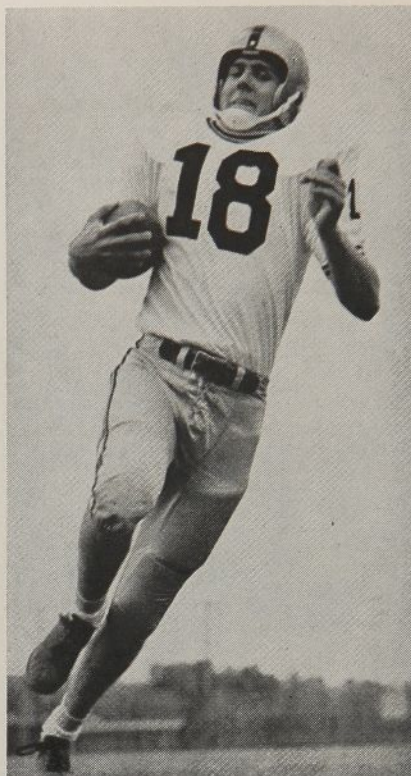

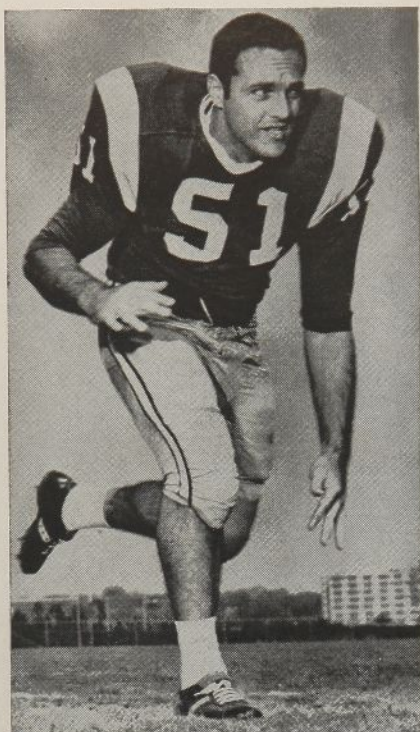

Florida State's Frank Pennie signed with the Detroit Lions and will try for a spot in the defensive line. Another FSU Delt, Joe Avezzano, signed with the Boston Patriots and will be tested at center and offensive guard. Quarterback Kent Nix of TCU signed with the Green Bay Packers as a free agent. Craig Ritchey from Stanford will be in the Oakland Raiders camp as a defensive halfback.

DO IT NOW !

As this issue of THE RAINBOW goes to press, little more than a month remains before the Karnea convenes in Portland, Oregon. In connection with the Karnea, the Hugh Shields Memorial Fund Committee will hold a meeting to review progress to date and map further plans. The Committee will make a report to the Karnea. Full coverage of the meeting and report will be given in the Fall issue of THE RAINBOW, along with a listing of all contributors not previously reported.

Since the last issue, still more Delts have made contributions and pledges, making a total, as of July 1, of 1290 contributors and more than $52,000. This response is indicative of the interest which Delts feel in the purposes of the Hugh Shields Memorial Fund. Many more of you, we know, have intended to respond, but have just not gotten around to it. Why not stop now—fill out the pledge form below and return it with your contribution, so that your name will be on the roster of contributors which will be presented to the Karnea. Your gift is tax deductible, and you will be doing something important for your Fraternity, and for individual young Delts who need your help. You will also be honoring the memory of one who gave his life to the service of Delta Tau Delta—Hugh Shields.

The amount of your contribution is not an issue—the Good Delt will give as generously as his circumstances permit. What is important is that every Delt, by responding to this appeal, declares himself firmly behind his Fraternity's program to insure that our collegiate members get maximum benefit from their years in their chapters—both through direct scholastic grants, and strengthening of chapter organization and operation.

Delts are accustomed, and justly, to regard their Fraternity as a leader. In regard to scholarship endowment funds, however, certain fraternities have a head start. Our late start can be overcome by a more determined and sustained effort. Success demands the support—at some personal sacrifice, if need be—of every Delt. Have you done what you can and should? If not, DO IT NOW!

BABCOCK CONTINUES, 1893-95

By F. DARRELL MOORE, Ohio, '16

"SOMETHING IS WRONG among the Ohio chapters," wrote Henry Eberth, "Zeta seems to be deader than Rameses, Psi is at her last gasp, Mu is in bad shape, Eta with expulsion on her hands."

SITUATION AT ZETA

Ben Rannells in June, 1893, stated that Zeta was doing absolutely nothing. "Her faithful alumni . . . have been as loyal as ever, but . . . disgusted . . . at the 'do-less-ness' of the chapter. . . . Oh, for a little of the push . . . the determination . . . the persistency, and . . . the pride that once made Zeta the . . . admiration of her sister chapters."

J. W. McLane tried to stir them up but with little success.

Alton A. Bemis was appointed Phonarch Especial to get Zeta's charter and other secret matter, and to dispose of chapter property. He collected some items, but was unable to locate the charter. He reported that there still remained a few members of the chapter who by their individual merit have won class honors that might have distinguished the chapter.

Conditions improved slowly. On February 22, 1895, Duerr wrote Bemis that he had received several letters that changed his opinion somewhat. "I would like to see a good chapter at Adelbert, and with the right kind of men would certainly raise no objections."

On April 29, O. J. Horn, a Zeta senior, wrote Miner Hines that the chapter was again on its feet. "In '92 the chapter was 13 strong, or rather weak, for some of them were pretty poor goods. Of these men there are only three left, while we have four new men, making a working chapter of seven . . . it is an altogether new chapter now."

MORE AGITATION AGAINST BETA

Miner Hines wrote L. D. McGinley of Beta Chapter, March 3, 1894, "As you no doubt well know there is a strong feeling in our order that Beta's charter should be withdrawn. . . . In the present condition of the chapter, with two members only, and those of the graduating class . . . do you not think it would be both wise and fraternal to surrender your charter?"

Duerr followed through with a letter to Babcock on March 21. "Think it an excellent time to move against Beta. . . . She has only two men, both seniors, and is three years behind in her dues." Fortunately for Beta, six men were initiated and the chapter was assured of continuity.

Babcock wrote Duerr in November, 1894: "Beta would seem to be the legitimate successor to our fraternal and caressing consideration . . . they will make a stubborn fight. . . . It would be best . . . to dispose of the present case at Bethany before we enter any more on the docket." Thus a brief respite for Beta Chapter.

KENYON AND CHI

In a letter to Miner Hines dated April 10, 1894, Alvan Duerr said, "I admit that Kenyon is inferior in standing to OSU but. . . . A good chapter at Kenyon does us infinitely more good because of the contact, than one of the same standing at OSU."

A report of Chi's condition is included in a letter to Duerr from Hines, October 22: "Chi initiated two more Saturday night. They now number eleven and are thoroughly congenial. It would have done your eyes good to have seen them during the initiation and after . . . Chi is now the largest fraternity in college, as to the chapter list. In influence, I believe the boys are also well ahead."

PHI (HANOVER) PROBLEM

Former President Orrin Serfass wrote in October of 1892 that Phi Chapter (Hanover College) should be dropped, "But all the 'ordinaries' are so scared that they have banded together in mutual protection, and it is idle to attempt another withdrawal."

After the 1893 Karnea, Babcock wrote to Max Ehrmann, president of the Northern Division, "Phi has been on the edge of the basket for years. She has been on trial for her life once. . . . She has not been represented by either delegate or alumnus at the last two Karneas."

Back in November of 1890, Harry Peckinpugh of Phi had written then President McClurg giving much of the background of the chapter from its own viewpoint. "I became a member of Phi in '87 . . . there were but three men in the chapter, . . . all seniors. . . . Two other brothers and myself were initiated during the fall term. . . . We succeeded in initiating four of the incoming freshmen . . . next year all the boys returned . . . willing to work hard for $\Delta\Gamma\Delta$ We were informed that there was a large debt left by the men who had graduated the year before. . . . It was no easy matter for us . . . to pay a debt . . . for which some one else had received the benefit. . . . It was continually being told us . . . that Phi had . . . neglected her duty. . . . We were always hearing of the sins of the brothers who immediately preceded us."

In June, 1892, a motion to withdraw the charter of Phi passed the Arch Chapter by a vote of eight to one. A later motion was passed to investigate the chapter and college prior to presenting the matter to the chapters for their vote, but there is no record of such investigation or vote by the chapters.

Alvan Duerr, however, did not forget, and on August 24, 1894, he joined Max Ehrmann in a resolution that the Arch Chapter withdraw the Phi charter, on the basis that Hanover College was not a suitable field for Delta Tau Delta.

The chapter responded to the attack. "Today we are stronger than we have been for years, standing second to no fraternity here. . . . We have been zealous in our interests in the very face of difficulties. Three years ago we were low in number and heavily in debt. Now we are comparatively strong and have cleared all indebtedness."

VARNEY'S REPORT

Gordon E. Varney, a Lafayette alumnus, was chosen as the investigator. His report is interesting: "I was met at the train by Bro. Gros of Junior class . . . we drove six miles . . . to the little hamlet of Hanover. The afternoon was spent in looking over the 'college grounds,' the 'village,' the building, meeting the students, and watching a practice game of football. . . . The sanitary conditions of the village are wretched . . . no one seemed to notice the proximity of out-houses to rain water cisterns, from which latter all drinking water is taken. The boarding houses are run on a too economical plan, and the lodgings are equally bad." Varney criticized the college for giving the Bachelor of Science degree to a man who had never seen the inside of a book on calculus, applied mechanics, or quantitative analysis.

"Summing up the charges and findings," he continued, ". . . the only obstacle in way of withdrawal of charter is the personal character of our chapter at Hanover. . . . These boys are earnest Deltas . . . doing the best they can for $\Delta T \Delta$ at Hanover . . . one of the boys gave it as his opinion that if the charter were withdrawn, the chapter would leave Hanover in a body for some eastern college . . . and would petition to be taken into its chapter. (This might be a means of reorganizing the Lafayette College Chapter.)"

The chapter declined to surrender its charter without a trial. "It would be a dishonor to us and to our alumni . . . an investigation will only strengthen our cause."

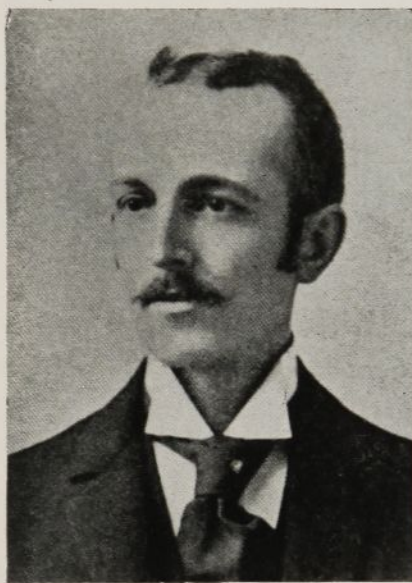

President Babcock thought the charges against Phi made "a pretty fair case. I wish we could make the swap of Hanover for Wabash. . . . I hope you will see your way clear [he wrote Churchill] to vote for the withdrawal of Phi. . . ."

Western Division President L. A. Weaver opposed action against Hanover, feeling it would be unjust to withdraw their charter. Lowrie McClurg also spoke out on Phi's behalf: "I understand that the chapter is in about as good shape as it was ten years ago, which was very good indeed."

Duerr wrote Hines November 16 that his vote on Phi had been received. "It seems to me that it would be better to close the matter at once. . . . Perhaps we can arrange to have them carry out their expressed intention of going to another college. What would you suggest? Gamma?"

Duerr wrote McClurg that Varney had visited Hanover and recommended withdrawal. "As you say, it is unjust, but we must act . . . the institution is very poor and daily retrograding."

KENDRICK C. BABCOCK

Phi received a copy of Varney's report and immediately dissected it, terming it the result of a pre-conceived prejudice. His analysis of the college was challenged. "We do not reply with any expectation of at all influencing your decisions . . . but simply as an exposition of the falseness of the report; silence would be a confession . . . [the unfairness of the investigation and report] render us almost indifferent to the result of your vote."

Three members of the Arch Chapter voted against withdrawal of Phi's charter.

Duerr wrote Babcock that there was a feeling that Varney had been unnecessarily rough. "Tho we withdraw the charter, we need not make them sore with the Fraternity. . . . There are one or two men who will kick over if we do not manage this affair well. Churchill is one of them, so be 'sweet' to him, because we cannot afford to meet with defeat now."

The three negative votes should have defeated the motion, but the vote was never officially recorded, so the motion was still open. Babcock designated E. L. Edwards for another investigation, and Duerr wrote Phi December 8, 1894, that in recognition of "a certain justice" in their complaint against the previous investigator's report, action would be deferred, and another investigator would visit the chapter. "We wish to do all in our power for you personally whatever the result of the vote."

Dr. Bruce Wylie, of Beta Alpha, made a more temperate report. He was critical of the physical plant and equipment, and could find no indication of improvement or growth in the future. He found no objection to the personnel or scholarship of the chapter, and stated that most of the boys would be a credit to any chapter.

Phi Chapter was satisfied with Wylie's report, but still refused to surrender the charter, even though they knew it would be taken from them. "Brother Duerr, we thank you very much for your kind efforts. . . . We feel proud and honored to call you friend. Your kindness . . . we will never forget. We are fully resigned to our fate." One wonders how Alvan Duerr felt when he published those remarks. He informed the chapter that the motion to withdraw their charter had passed the Arch Chapter, February 22, 1895.

Since that time the other four fraternities then at Hanover have maintained satisfactory chapters. Through the munificence of one member of Phi Chapter, William Donner, Hanover has been completely rebuilt and is in excellent condition today.

AMHERST CONSIDERED

Amherst College had been discussed as early as 1884. In April of that year Henry Bruck wrote Wilbur Colvin: "Amherst is a first class place, only there is a possibility of its being too full of fraternities now. Beta Theta Pi went in there recently by absorbing the Torch and Crown local . . . a rank crowd, so I hear."

George R. Critchlow of the Psi Chapter entered Amherst, and wrote Alvan Duerr about establishing a chapter there. Duerr told Babcock that if by chance the Arch Chapter favored the petition, the Eastern Division never would. Babcock wrote a discouraging letter to the petitioners.

Critchlow's correspondence revealed that the increasing size of the entering classes had resulted in a large number of unaffiliated men. The college president had assured the three Delts from Wooster of favorable consideration for a chapter, but he would have to examine the Ritual and the faculty must approve prospective members. The group could rent a 20 room house for $1450, or buy it for $14,000; they asked for $1000 from Delta Tau Delta to begin.

Duerr advised Churchill that he was not in favor of entering Amherst, due to the character of the institution and the class of students. "Everybody belongs to some fraternity. What can be left . . . ? . . . Surely not the men that Delta Tau Delta wants. . . . One year ago I favored going there but I have changed my mind. . . . I am opposed to further extension at all. However if we must extend, let it be in institutions where we have an equal chance."

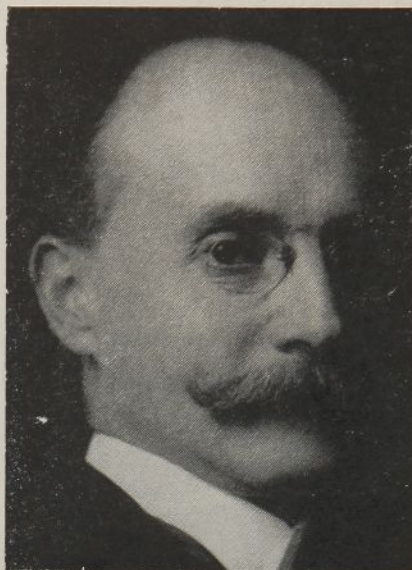

Duerr and Babcock reported in May, 1894, that they had discouraged any further work in the direction of Amherst. A canvass of the Arch Chapter had revealed enough opposition to defeat any petition forthcoming.

ALUMNI CHAPTERS

Lowrie McClurg disagreed with changes made in the Constitution at the 1893 Karnea concerning alumni chapters. "As it now stands," he wrote Churchill, "it would be possible to organize ten alumni chapters in the city of Chicago . . . for while each chapter must have seven members, it need not have more. In this way the Chicago Alumni Association, which would include all of these, would have a right to ten delegates and ten votes on the floor of the Karnea."

In a letter to Kendrick Babcock, McClurg pursued the topic. "We here are a little curious to learn . . . why it was made possible to have two alumni chapters in one city . . . and why the membership should be limited to twenty members. . . . I do not know who was on the Committee . . . but I will wager dollars to cents that one member at least, probably more, were also members of a certain Jesuitical order of which a man by the name of Curtis is the head."

LOWRIE MCCLURG

PSI (WOOSTER) FADES

Psi's chapter letter in the February, 1894, RAINBOW, was an expression of discouragement. "There is not much left to report of dear old Psi . . . only four active members are left. . . . The whole sentiment of the university is opposed to fraternities. . . . Wooster is fast degenerating into a school for young ladies. . . . The members have had to sustain an unequal battle, without much help from our alumni members. We have pledged one new member."

Alvan Duerr stated that he had visited the chapter in September, 1893, and found them a loyal and willing band of Delts, but without any material to work with. Several chapters at Wooster had already returned their charters; none were flourishing except two sororities. The fault was with the institution.

H. H. Johnson, Psi chapter's adviser, had reported to Duerr in November of 1893 that under the existing administration it was only a question of time when all fraternities would die out. "There are none now of the students here that we want."

On March 10, 1894, Babcock wrote Henry Eberth, "I do not think Psi has given up either her charter or the ghost, but she is certainly anything but vigorous. . . . You who are there in Ohio and can shoot at short range . . . ought to look after those chapters."

Max Ehrmann, president of the Northern Division, reported at the May, 1894, Conference: "Wooster University is undergoing such changes as are incompatible with the existence of fraternities . . . it seems beyond question that the flourishing days of Delta Tau Delta at Wooster are past." The Conference called on the Arch Chapter to withdraw Psi's charter.

Alvan Duerr wrote H. H. Johnson that he would aid him in collecting amounts due the chapter. "Wooster University, with a good president, should soon regain its old position . . . the prospects of your being readmitted as a new chapter would be good . . . in the meantime you arrange everything that the new chapter could start free from debt."

A letter that Johnson wrote Duerr was interpreted as a surrender of the charter, and this was apparently accepted officially by the Arch Chapter. In February, 1895, however, Johnson wrote Duerr that the letter was a "private expression of opinion and some of the present members are kind of sore. . . ." In May, he wrote further: "When I sent my letter to you about withdrawing the charter . . . I didn't think you would respond in the affirmative without giving me a chance to submit the matter to the frat here . . . our pledged men and one or two others think we are still a fraternity."

There was no Arch Chapter action on Psi; Duerr accepted the surrender of the charter—if such it really was—on his own responsibility. In his report to the 1895 Karnea, he stated that Psi, "after surrendering her charter, attempted in different ways to obtain it again." In the December, 1895, Journal, he gave more detail: "Last year Bro. Johnson, acting for the chapter, surrendered Psi's charter voluntarily, and later seemed to regret it and tried to recover it . . . he was told to inform the chapter that the charter had been surrendered and accepted, hence could not be recovered without petitioning anew. This autumn we received a letter . . . the chapter had heard that Psi's charter had been withdrawn, and . . . wished to know whether the report was true. Bro. Johnson, as chapter adviser . . . had no right to act without consulting the rest of the chapter."

McCLURG DIAGNOSES PSI LOSS

In his RAINBOW article of June, 1895, giving the history of the preceding two years, Lowrie McClurg wrote: "At Wooster University, the Rev. S. F. Scovel is impressing his personality on the faculty and trustees . . . to cause them to pass exceedingly narrow laws . . . intercollegiate athletic sports are prohibited and contests of any sort are discouraged . . . dancing and card playing are forbidden. . . . The Arch Chapter investigated and decided that [Wooster] is not a desirable place for Delta Tau Delta."

A BETA XI TRANSFERS TO BETA EPSILON

Philip Werlein, a Tulane initiate who transferred to Emory, wrote Churchill: "We have pleasant meetings of the Delta Tau Delta Club, but really I do not call them fraternity meetings." In a later letter he added, "The chapter here is a splendid chapter with regard to external signs, but . . . deficient in ritualistic work. The new members complain. . . . The faculty says our club is the best here. The president, a KA, advised some boys to join us in preference to others here, KA not excepted. . . ."

Still later, Werlein revised his judgment further, having become better acquainted with the chapter: "Beta Epsilon is a chapter that any fraternity would be proud to own, and if they would only care a little more for form would be even better than old Beta Xi."

FUTURE OF THE RAINBOW

Publication of THE RAINBOW was brought into question at several of the Division Conferences. Considerable dissatisfaction was voiced at the contents. An example of some reaction was a letter from G. L. Tucker of Beta Theta to Robert Churchill. "My opinion of the last RAINBOW, to speak candidly, is not high. Mechanically it was very fine. But the character of many of the articles was not up to the average of a college magazine, let alone a fraternity magazine. That play was nothing extra, the pictures of the author in costume were laughable, while that article on coincidence was puerile. . . . Our college weekly newspaper would not lower its dignity by printing such a thing. . . ."

Critics failed to understand the problems of the editor, who was a graduate student at Johns Hopkins. Eberth resigned in September, 1894, to devote himself to his studies, and Max Ehrmann was appointed to fill out his term.

RAINBOW FINANCES

The income from subscriptions and other sources did not come close to covering the cost of publishing THE RAINBOW. Some urged it be discontinued. Lowrie McClurg told Babcock in 1895, "I hate to see it given up. At the same time, if the Journal is made to take its place you can put all that in it, which now goes into THE RAINBOW. . . ."

At the Thirty-third Karnea, Max Ehrmann listed the trials and tribulations of an editor, and defended the character of the matter printed in THE RAINBOW, but he asked if the Fraternity could afford the magazine. A committee was appointed, consisting of Alfred Trautwein, Lowrie McClurg, and Max Ehrmann, to report on the advisability of continuing publication. Continuance was recommended as a fraternity, rather than a literary, magazine. Amendments to the Bylaws removed the term "literary" in reference to THE RAINBOW, and required an annual subscription from each member of an undergraduate chapter or an alumni chapter.

The general reaction can be summarized by quoting from a letter of J. M. Ross, of Beta Rho: "Probably THE RAINBOW was not first class in every respect, but we, who are cut off from all intercourse with other chapters, have always depended upon it to keep us in touch with the rest of the Fraternity, and would regret its discontinuance."

TRADITIONS AND UNWRITTEN WORK

Lowrie McClurg gave the Karnea a short talk on the traditions and unwritten work of the Fraternity. The Karnea voted to establish the old grip of Delta Tau Delta as a part of the unwritten instructions to initiates and to be used in general greetings. McClurg had consistently been opposed to changes in the unwritten work. He joined with A. A. Bemis and Charles W. Evans in protests against dropping the ΔAK motto from the Ritual. That motto had an interesting history. John R. Scott, designer of the first "cut," had put the ΔAK on the scroll. The change from the original was made five or six years later. The original motto, adopted at Bethany, had had but a short existence. When Ed Curtis was preparing the new basic Ritual, he discarded the ΔAK motto and presented a new one with $\Delta T \Delta$ as the initials. McClurg, always a traditionalist, demanded that "If the present [new] Ritual does not recognize the initials, change it . . . it has not been in operation six years . . . while these letters represented a motto which had been in use from the first. . . . I register a most emphatic protest against the needless changing of old forms."

The ΔAK was restored. For more than thirty years, three mottoes were given to the initiates, then the Arch Chapter voted to revert to the original Bethany motto and eliminated the other two. The undergraduate members, who no longer studied Greek, heaved a sigh of relief.

"One strength of a body like a fraternity is its traditions, the memories it leaves in the hearts of its members in after years," G. L. Tucker wrote Churchill from Sewanee. "Somebody has got up a scheme to change the badge design . . . a jumble of symbols making a very intricate design. Let us keep the old square badge."

QUESTIONS ON THE RITUAL

"I cannot answer your question concerning the more amplified form of the Ritual," Alvan Duerr wrote H. H. Brown of Beta Rho. "I had supposed it in the hands of the Ritualist . . . but . . . I made a mistake. . . . Curtis has been interested in rituals for many years, and is the author of our present Ritual. At the time of its composition he . . . decided upon having four forms . . . first a preparatory degree, for use in chapters pledging sub-freshmen; second, the Initiatory Degree in three forms, consisting of the Official Form, wherein the initiatory work is reduced to a single lecture, for use . . . when chapters are to be established by one man. . . . Third, the Due Form, now in use. . . . Next the Full Ritualistic Form, one of dramatic excellence for strong chapters and for use on important occasions."

Duerr stated that Robert Churchill had prepared such a ritual, and that it would be presented at the next Karnea. He also would add a Rainbow Degree for the preservation of the mysteries and traditions of the Rainbow Fraternity. The Choctaw Degree and its ritual should be authorized officially by the Karnea in recognition of the work in times past of Alpha Chapter. He also suggested an Alumni Degree which would unite postgraduate Delts and those of defunct chapters in a lifelong bond. Aside and separated from this series he stated that the Fraternity needed an official degree for its chapter advisers.

On October 5, 1894, Churchill informed President Babcock that he had finished the new ritual, and had combined two rituals in one. "One is a long form for strong chapters and the other is a short form . . . either is easily prepared, for I have omitted those long . . . addresses."

Babcock prepared a statement on the Ritual for the May, 1895, Journal. "We have only one complete form and its use is compulsory. It is beautiful and impressive, and quite elaborate enough . . . no chapter has an iota of authority to use any other ritual. . . . If some chapters have got the notion that they can go their own sweet wild ways . . . of ritual making, it is high time we understand clearly the situation. . . ." This was a result of learning from Churchill that the proposed new ritual had been in use for three years at Beta Xi.

Churchill replied to the criticism in a letter June 15, "Beta Xi initiates are put through in a better manner, a fuller manner, more solemn manner, and a more appropriate manner than initiates of any other chapter. They have been received and have been more beautifully instructed in all of the Due Form, much of the Amplified Form, not to mention the Rainbow Ritual." He angrily denied the implication that he had permitted a variation of the Oath.

Churchill presented his minority report (as a member of the Committee on Ritual) to the Karnea. It was referred to a committee of three appointed by the Karnea, and final disposition was placed in the hands of the Arch Chapter. One can have a certain sympathy with Churchill in the peremptory manner in which the situation was handled.

OMEGA'S TRIBULATIONS (IOWA STATE)

Strife between the fraternity and anti-fraternity factions at the Iowa State College began soon after the establishment of Chapter Omega in 1875. The success of members of Delta Tau Delta, the only fraternity, caused jealousy which grew into hatred; it culminated in a riot in 1888 when Delta Tau Delta was entertaining the Pi Beta Phi sorority. The building was surrounded by a hundred masked students who broke in the windows and spread noxious gases in the only hallway. Several of the ladies fainted and others were sickened by the gas. A few of the mob were arrested but were released for lack of evidence.

Faculty and trustees were petitioned repeatedly to break up fraternities; they always replied that the fraternities were not breaking any college regulation. The literary societies barred fraternity members, but a new literary society was formed which outstripped the others. Manifestos were issued which threatened any student who dared join a fraternity; these were ignored and new members were added regularly. One new member came near to being mobbed.

Daily mass meetings were held. The college president was hanged in effigy by the "barbs" and they jeered the fraternity members as "goats" wherever they went. At the end of the fall term in 1890, President Chamberlain resigned. W. M. Bradshear was chosen as his successor because of his supposed fitness to solve the dilemma.

The following spring term, the new president presented a proposition to the two factions which would permit present members to maintain their membership, but would prevent any additions to the membership. The anti-fraternity group speedily agreed, but Omega Chapter and the Pi Phis refused to consider the proposal. The trustees formally incorporated the proposition into the college's laws. The fraternities, after seeking legal advice, decided to test the legality of the anti-fraternity rule. They initiated new members and informed President Bradshear.

Edward J. Kearney reported the whole story in the May, 1893, RAINBOW. He believed the president, though not opposed to fraternities, thought it wiser to unjustly oppose forty students than to discipline six hundred. When informed of the initiations he took no action until the anti-fraternity group learned what had happened and demanded that the new initiates be expelled. Knowing that he must enforce his law or resign, Bradshear expelled Orris W. Roberts and Clarence Van Epps.

Reinstatement proceedings were begun at once by Omega Chapter. The case was put in the hands of one of the best law firms in the state. Kearney stated that the chapter was confident of winning on an issue of facts, since the court had held the college rule as unreasonable. However, Omega lost its case, and also lost an appeal to a higher court, in 1893.

At the 1891 Karnea the Committee on Chapters and Charters had recommended the withdrawal of Omega's charter, but the delegates adopted instead a resolution of sympathy and support in the strife with the college.

In the Journal for April, 1894, Duerr reported that "After three years of litigation to establish her right to exist, Omega is at last compelled to yield the struggle. She has engaged the best legal talent . . . and has done everything to win the case, but it has all ended in defeat. Some fitting testimonial is due such unparalleled loyalty."

A rather sour note was sounded in McClurg's history of the two-year period in the May, 1895, RAINBOW: "The chapter having exhausted its financial resources appealed to the Arch Chapter for aid. That body . . . was forced to take into consideration . . . the Fraternity point of view. . . . 'Will we not have to withdraw [Omega's] charter ourselves, should we win the case?' After much consideration, it was decided to allow the faculty to remain victorious."

Opposition to agricultural colleges, the so-called land grant colleges, had been openly voiced by Fraternity leaders for a decade, not only against Iowa State but also against Michigan State. It was in the background of opposition to Ohio State and Illinois, and undoubtedly was the main reason Purdue had been rejected.

XI CHAPTER (SIMPSON)

"In a good many ways the chapter at Simpson College is an ideal chapter," Ben Rannells wrote in June, 1892. "They have commodious, well-furnished rooms, in which their meetings are held regularly. They are all thoroughly instructed in the secret work and all of them . . . have a far more than average knowledge of Fraternity history. Competent officers attend to the chapter's business affairs punctually and creditably. THE RAINBOW is heartily supported . . . a letter from Xi regularly appears. Their chapter paper . . . is a credit to the loyalty and enthusiasm of the chapter as well as to the individual ability and good judgment of the members. . . . The chapter doesn't owe a dollar to anybody. . . ."

Others felt less favorably toward Xi and Simpson; in fact, whenever any of the "restrictionists" on or off the Arch Chapter suggested a list of chapters that would never be missed, Xi Chapter was almost invariably included. The 1891 Karnea had recommended action against Simpson, among others. For whatever reasons, the situation of the chapter had deteriorated from that which Rannells described, until in September of 1894 the charter was surrendered.

"By direction of the active membership of Chapter Xi, I enclose to you their charter from the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. I might plead the common cry of today, HARD TIMES! The chapter ran light last year, lost a goodly number by graduation, and opened with but three men in school this term. . . . To the alumni especially this is a great disappointment, for . . . we look at the time spent in the Chapter Hall as the best and most enjoyable of our college days, and certainly the most profitable.

"We have in the past had much to contend with, both with the faculty and with the Fraternity . . . which . . . has made no little effort to 'shake' Xi. . . ."

A month later, H. B. Kern wrote Churchill that they felt they could no longer support a chapter in Simpson College "that was a credit and satisfaction to ourselves and our Fraternity in general. Sigma Alpha Epsilon now remains the one and unenviable fraternity in a school where shortly flourished Phi Kappa Psi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Delta Tau Delta."

In January, 1895, H. H. Hartman wrote that the "old boys" intended to organize a Delta Society to keep themselves in close touch with the Fraternity. "As you know, Xi has a large chapter roll . . . as loyal Deltas as ever wore the Delta badge. . . . They regret the decision of the active chapter and have too much faith in the institution and too much love for Delta Tau Delta to give up without attempting to revive the chapter. . . . A certain element in the Fraternity has continually endeavored to withdraw Xi's charter. . . . This element seems to be losing its power. . . . An early change for the better is expected in the management at Simpson. We ask you to reserve the name Xi in naming new chapters."

WITHDRAWAL AT BETHANY

Theta Chapter at Bethany College had continued in its uneventful way after its re-establishment in 1867. Admittedly the college was not affluent, and the chapter membership was in comparable condition. Several of the founders from the first Bethany chapter had been prominent and active earlier, but during the decade of the Nineties they were without influence. Later the chapter's most prominent member was Champ Clark, '83, but he was a political unknown at the time.

Most of the proponents of the withdrawal of charters included Bethany on their lists. It was brought to a head by a letter from J. T. Gallaher, the Fraternity's judicial officer, on July 16, 1894. "I want to speak . . . about . . . Theta at Bethany College. . . . I never did rave over the condition of Theta, as it would have been positive evidence of insanity. . . . I have always had a warm feeling for Bethany, as the founder, Bishop Campbell, was loved and respected by all our family. . . . For that reason I have remained quiet . . . and probably would continue mum had not its condition been brought before me in a manner not altogether pleasant. . . . I am in favor of Theta making an honorable and early exit from Delta Tau Delta."

Duerr responded that he had always hesitated in the matter of Theta because it was the mother chapter. "However, that excuse holds good only to a certain extent. . . . Could you go to Bethany sometime and investigate matters thoroughly, and report to the Arch Chapter . . . with the understanding that your report be used as the basis of charges for withdrawal?"

Duerr wrote Miner Hines in Octo-

RECOMMENDATION TIME

It's that time once again. Delta Tau Delta's success depends upon its new members. It must continue to initiate men who measure up in character and ability to the high standards of the Fraternity.

We again ask for your co-operation in contributing to the future strength of Delta Tau Delta.

Fill in the recommendation blank below and send it at once to the Central Office, Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, 3242 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46208.

All Delt College Baseball

By JAY LANGHAMMER, Texas Christian, '66

STEVE ARLIN

SIXTY-FOUR DELTS from 32 chapters represented their schools in varsity baseball competition this spring. Six Delts served as team captains: Chuck Shields, Pennsylvania; Art Thomas, Lehigh; Pat Schrickel, Illinois Tech; Jerry Hauck, South Dakota; John Milard, Stevens; and Dennis Whigham, Wabash.

The College World Series saw six Delts participating. Three were drafted by the pros: Steve Arlin, Ohio State, by Philadelphia; Russ Nagelson, Ohio State, by Cleveland; and Tom Staack, Iowa, by Minnesota.

The Stevens chapter once again contributed seven members while six Illinois Tech Delts played for their school. Four Delts played at the University of Pennsylvania.

PITCHERS

Ohio State's Steve Arlin led the Buckeyes to the Big Ten championship and the NCAA Baseball Championship. During the regular season, Steve had a 9-1 record. In the College World Series, he pitched in five of his team's six games. He was named the Outstanding Player of the tourney. Steve was named to the All-Big Ten team, the College World Series All-Tournament team, and the NCAA Coaches All-American team for the second straight year.

UNDERGRADUATE PERSONALITIES

Editor's Note: Some of the articles in this department were submitted as long ago as last fall, others are quite current. We regret that space considerations prevented previous publication of the earlier ones, but are glad to give the recognition due, however belated. Where the stories were signed, the author is indicated; unsigned articles must, regrettably, be anonymous.

John Krupski gained the recognition he deserved, at long last. Brown's talented soccer fullback was named to the All-American team of the National Soccer Coaches Association of America.

As a sophomore, John saw very little action on a team that tied for the Ivy League championship. That summer a very discouraged but persevering Krupski worked diligently on his skills and came back to win, as a junior, the starting fullback slot. That year, Brown again tied for the Ivy soccer championship, and John was named to the All-New England second team.

As a senior, and captain of Brown's illustrious and successful team, John Krupski headed the stalwart defense. Under his leadership, the Bruins were the sole winners of the 1965 Ivy League crown, and went on to the quarter finals of the NCAA tournament. For his fine and consistent performance, John was honored with All-Ivy, All-New England, and, most important, All-America selection.

MICHAEL MICHNO

Last fall, Beta Beta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was fortunate in having three members selected for the highly coveted award of DePauw Man of the Month: Chuck Waggoner, Bob Hisrich, and Jack Hogan. Brother Waggoner was cited for his outstanding job as Rush Chairman for the Interfraternity Council. Following Chuck's selection for the month of September, Bob Hisrich, vice-president of the DePauw Student Union, pulled down the laurels for the month of November. Brother Hisrich's award was due to his outstanding service to the Union Building this year. The DePauw Man of the Month for December was Jack Hogan, Jack, a 5' 6" guard, led the team to victory in the Union College invitational basketball tournament. He was unanimously selected for the all-tournament team.

TOM GEORGE

Bill Chanfrau broke his collarbone playing football, and lost an appointment to Annapolis. Unable to pass the Naval Academy physical, he elected to attend Florida State University. We here at Delta Phi are lucky he failed that physical; Bill pledged Delta as a freshman in 1964, and things haven't been the same since.

Feeling a thirst to get into student activities, Bill placed his name in the political pot, and thanks to his high school record as a leader he was chosen by the chapter as representative to the Student Political Party. At this same time he became interested in the many foreign students on campus, and gained a position on the People to People Committee.

Every organization became interested in this moving freshman; in one trimester his titles became a mile long: member of Inter-Class Council, chairman of the Student Party's finance committee, administrative assistant to the Student Body president, permanent member of the organizational council of Student Party, etc. Later he managed the campaign for president of the Student Body. As a result of such activities, Bill was tapped for Alpha Council, an honorary for outstanding students.

Even with the foregoing success, Bill was not content; he wanted an elected office. He is now president of the Sophomore Class, and in that position has been able to appoint a number of Deltas to important campus positions.

Along with past chapter President Joe Smith, Bill was Delta Phi's delegate to the Fraternity's Southern Division Conference. They successfully sponsored a move to have annual financial reports of the Division circulated to the chapters. They also campaigned successfully to bring the next Conference to Tallahassee.

Even though his work load is terrific, Bill has never let the chapter down. Because of this fact, he was elected to the office of vice-president on the theory "Give a busy man a job, and it will get done."

Through all this, Bill has maintained better than a B average, and has appeared on the TV show "Route 66." We feel the future holds no limits for Brother Chanfrau. If you need help with your studies, if you want to get into campus politics, if you'd like a sharp date, if you want a job done right—Bill's the man to see.

JOSEPH O. SMITH

Along with the athletes who acquire international fame, there remain those who don't achieve such recognition, but in many instances deserve as much. In Epsilon Iota Chapter there is such a man. John A. Litwinetz, a senior student at GMI, might have become a well known athlete, but he relinquished possible fame for education.

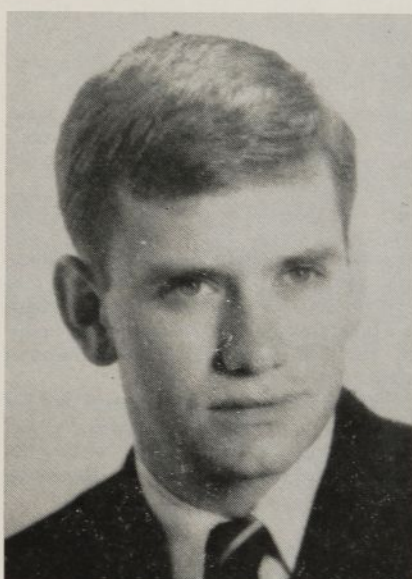

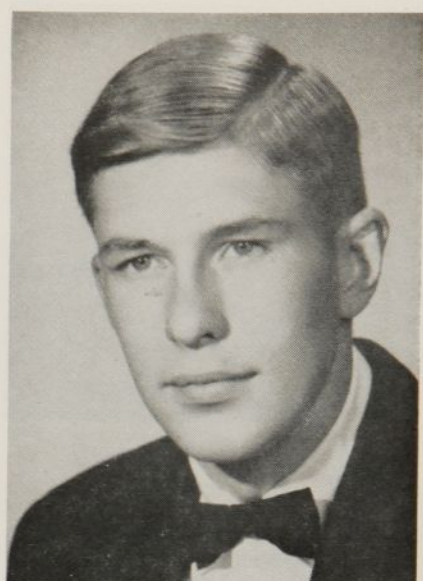

John, acclaimed by many to be the best athlete ever to enroll at GMI, hails from Cranford, New Jersey, where he attended Cranford High School. Among his many athletic accomplishments at Cranford are the basketball honors he received. In his senior year, John averaged 21 points per game, was named most valuable player in a county tournament, received top foul shooting honors for the county, and was named to the first team all-county and all-state squads. John ended his high school basketball career by refusing five full basketball scholarships to well-known universities to enroll at GMI.

Since coming to GMI, there isn't much that John hasn't accomplished athletically. He has never played on a losing basketball team and has yet to be outscored, averaging 26 points per game for four years. Entrants in basketball shooting events wonder if it is even worth the effort, because John has yet to be beaten since he has been here. He has been named to the basketball all-star team each year, getting the most first-place votes each time. His talent is not limited to the basketball court, as he has also been named to the volleyball all-star team each year he was eligible, and finally he has been acclaimed "Best Athlete of the Year" for all four years.

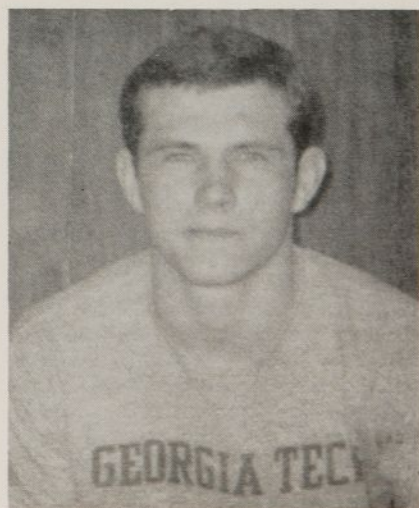

Certainly it can be said that John has made a name for himself, at least at GMI. Whether he is the best athlete to enroll at GMI can never be proven, but at least he can be assured that he will not be soon forgotten.

Henry H. Barker, second year law student at the University of Georgia, was named to one of the assistant editorships of the Georgia Law Review. This honor, which is usually reserved for practicing lawyers, was given on the basis of a practice will written by Henry for a lecture course in estate administration.

Since entering the University, Henry has maintained an 89 average, making the Dean's List three out of three quarters his junior year while doing so. He was third in command of the Air Force ROTC detachment at the University, before being commissioned a second lieutenant in August of 1965. He also served as the Wing's legal advisor in 1964-65.

Brother Barker, who is known by one and all at the Shelter as "The Bat," because of his baseball prowess, rounds out a busy schedule by serving as social chairman of Beta Delta, and scholastic representative of the chapter to the School of Law.

Significant honors were won by two of Gamma Psi's brothers this winter. John Shields was selected to receive a Georgia Tech World Student Fund scholarship for a year of study in Europe, and Andy Harvill led Georgia Tech to a first place win in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament at the University of the South.

The World Student Fund, an organization unique to the Georgia Tech campus, provides scholarships to bring foreign students to Tech, and, in co-operation with European universities, offers selected students a year of study abroad. Brother Shields, one of four selected for the program this year, and a fourth year architecture student, received a scholarship to the Technical Institute in Stuttgart, Germany. From Hagerstown, Maryland, John is past president of Gamma Psi Chapter, a member of Student Council, the Ramblin' Reck Club, the Publications Board, and Tau Sigma Delta architecture honorary.

Brother Harvill, a sophomore from Tucker, Georgia, clinched Tech's victory in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament by his win in the finals in 160 lb. division over Milligan College, when the two schools were tied for first. Andy, Gamma Psi's new house manager, has wrestled for Tech since the sport attained varsity level two years ago. With no scholarship aid, Tech still fielded a squad which dethroned Auburn from its 19 consecutive year reign.

TOM FINCHER

Thomas D. Sherman's college career at Michigan has been an asset to both the Delt Chapter and the University. Evidence of this can be seen in the fact that in his senior year, "Sherm" held a major office in the chapter and still remained so deeply involved in campus affairs as to be nominated for the University of Michigan Activities Award, presented annually to the person who has contributed the most to Michigan during his four years here.

Tom's qualifications for this award are shown by his activity in the school in which he is enrolled, Business Administration, and in campus functions such as Winter Weekend.

In the Bus. Ad. school Tom held the position of vice-president concurrently with a seat on the school's Executive Board. Winter Weekend is a trimester activity which corresponds to Homecoming during the football season. Tom, in his junior year, served as its treasurer, and for his fine work was elected co-chairman of the event in his senior year. Any one of these positions would normally be sufficient to place a person in contention for the Activities Award.

Tom's position as chapter treasurer reflects this same drive and ability. As treasurer, Tom helped put Delta's financial record back in black ink. He also contributed in numerous ways to chapter functions and was an important factor in our first place finish in intramural sports last year.

With Tom's active background and his desire to participate and serve, he will no doubt remain a Delt of whom the chapter and the Fraternity can always be proud.

John C. McQuitty was named the most outstanding student in Michigan State's Senior Class. Last year, he had been named as an outstanding junior. The present recognition is based on both high academic standing and broad and distinguished participation in extracurricular activities.

John was Sophomore Class president. As a junior, he was vice-president of the Student Body, and as senior, he served as Student Body president. He has been chairman of the Committee on Student Rights and Responsibilities, and general chairman of Career Carnival. John is a member of Blue Key and Omicron Delta Kappa national leadership-service honoraries; Excalibur, campus honorary for senior men; and Sparta, an athletic organization.

Iota Chapter benefitted from John's services as treasurer during the 1964-65 school year.

This fall, John will enter medical school at the University of Michigan.

Bruce Core, pledge class president of Beta Phi, was recently elected president of the Freshman Senate, the governing body of the Freshman Class at Ohio State. But it was no normal election. On November 28, two days before the election meeting, Bruce was stricken with appendicitis and rushed to University Hospital. Even this sudden illness did not keep Bruce from the top office. Bill Salt, a pledge brother, delivered Bruce's speech to the body and managed to win enough votes to elect the bedridden Delt pledge to the presidency of Freshman Senate.

Bruce is the fifth Delt in his family. He and his brother John, a Beta Phi Delt, placed high in the judging in the OSU Dad's Day Talent Show, with a ukulele act. In the summer of 1964, Bruce attended Buckeye Boys State and also graduated from Culver Summer Naval School.

Some brothers have already suggested that in a few years Bruce should follow in the footsteps of Tom Workman, the Beta Phi Delt who was elected president of the Student Body last winter.

Beta Phi Chapter and Ohio State University both will long remember James Vaughan and all his contributions to his chapter, the Greek system, and the University. He was recognized during the May Week celebrations when he received the Gainer Cup as the outstanding fraternity man on campus. The cup is not an end in itself, but a tangible reminder of the gratitude that the University feels for a tireless worker like Jim.

Jim's service to the chapter began as soon as he pledged. He was elected president of his pledge class—an office which served as an apprenticeship for his later service as president of the chapter. For his outstanding performance he was named the chapter's Model Pledge. After serving on several committees including Alumni Relations and Rules, he was elected chapter president for the term 1965-66. During this time he led the chapter to many victories, including a first place in over-all participation in Ohio State's Greek Week.

On campus in general, Jim was equally successful. After serving on Student Senate, he served on the executive committee of Buckeye Political Party in 1965. A member of Ohio Staters, the exclusive campus service organization, he was also theme editor of Dates and Data, a publication of Ohio Union Activities. In the area of campus traditions, Jim was also quite active, having served on the May Week Committee in 1966 and on the Goldiggers Prom Publicity Committee in both 1965 and 1966.

He was probably most successful in the area of the Greek system itself. He served actively in the Fraternity Affairs Office throughout his college career, and in his senior year was on the executive committee of the Council of Fraternity Presidents. During the 1966 campuswide elections, he organized the Get Out the Greek Vote Campaign and the Greek Speak, a drive to get Greeks interested and involved in the elections. He was a member of the staffs of The Fraternity Life Book and of Athenium, OSU's Greek periodical. For such participation he was awarded Beta Phi's Activities Award in 1965 and 1966. In his junior year, Jim was elected to Bucket and Dipper, the junior men's honorary, and served as its president. This May he was "linked" to Sphinx, the senior men's honorary.

The culmination of Vaughan's career was the General Chairmanship of Greek Week. A fantastically difficult job involving coordination of the Greek Week Sing, Talent Show, Blood Drive, Exchange Parties, and decorations, it was carried off masterfully by Jim Vaughan. Perhaps it was this that most contributed to his receiving the Gainer Cup and won for Delta Tau Delta genuine distinction at the Ohio State University.

WILLIAM J. GEIGER

Brother Wade Merrick of Rho Chapter stole the show at the 33rd Annual Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association dinner at the New York University Club in the heart of Times Square.

Wade Merrick, as Dean Elmwood Kastner of N.Y.U. told the gathering, was the most deserving of the 11 finalists nominated for the Joe Lapchick Scholarship for Graduate Study, awarded for outstanding academic achievement and basketball leadership. Wade earned this award by scoring 205 points this season and maintaining a cumulative average of 3.5 out of a possible 4.0 in his study of mechanical engineering at Stevens.

In addition to this award, Wade has also been granted a NASA Traineeship for his outstanding scholastic achievements. Wade not only excels in scholastics and basketball, but has shown leadership ability by serving as captain of the basketball and lacrosse teams. He was also treasurer of Rho Chapter, and a member of the chapter's volleyball, football, ping pong and softball teams.

The fact that Wade earned this award and at the same time devoted all his talents to contribute to the betterment of Rho Chapter, makes the brothers of Rho very proud of him. We all congratulate him and wish him the best of luck in the future.

JOHN MAMONE

Two outstanding members of TCU's Epsilon Beta Chapter have been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, making them the 35th and 36th members of the chapter to be so honored.

Chosen on the basis of their contributions to the campus were senior John Jackson and Junior Eddie Nelson, both of Fort Worth. The Deltas were the only fraternity on campus to place two members in the elite circle.

For the past two years, John, an accounting major, has served Epsilon Beta as treasurer and house manager. He was also a two-year all-star selection in intramural football, and played basketball and softball, in addition.

On campus, John holds the post of Student Congress treasurer and vice-president of Beta Gamma Sigma business honorary. He is also a member of Beta Alpha Psi accounting honorary and the Young Democrats. He has consistently earned a spot on the Dean's List, and has an Arthur Young academic scholarship.

Eddie, a pre-med major, has served the chapter as sergeant at arms, was the president of his pledge class, and won the chapter's scholarship award last year. He has compiled a 4.0 grade average during his first two years at TCU, and received the Borden Award as the outstanding freshman student. He also was the winner in the freshman fiction contest during TCU's Creative Writing Day.

During his sophomore year, Eddie served as a justice on the University's Student Court, and is currently a member of Student Congress. Last fall, he was the chairman of TCU's Leadership Retreat. He is in the Honors Program, made up of the University's top students, is a member of the Bryson Club, the oldest organization on campus, and Phi Sigma, the biology honorary. Last fall, his talents ventured into still another area as the first-string center on Epsilon Beta's intramural football team.

Epsilon Beta, as well as Texas Christian University, is very proud of the achievements of these two exceptional Deltas.

JAY LANGHAMMER

During the past four years the brothers of Zeta Chapter have had the pleasure of knowing Thomas W. McFarland as a brother, a leader, an athlete, and a true gentleman.

In the chapter Tom has served as rush chairman, pledge trainer, sergeant at arms, and president. It was under his leadership as president that Zeta Chapter began its emergence as the undisputed leader among the fraternities at Western Reserve.

Tom was co-captain of Reserve's Red-cat football squad, and was selected for the loyalty award at the close of the season. An end, he played both offense and defense, and was selected Most Valuable Defensive Lineman in his junior year. Tom was named to the All-Delt team for 1965-66, and has been scouted by several pro teams, most notably the Cowboys and the Giants.

Along with Brother Doug Nolti, Tom was co-chairman of the first annual IFC Greek Week Sing-Out. This affair proved to be a valuable first for fraternities at Reserve, as we were able to donate over $1,000 of proceeds to the Heart Fund. Tom and Doug were recently honored at a Heart Fund banquet for their efforts.

The foregoing are a few samples of the efforts, the abilities, and the attitude which have made Tom McFarland one of the most respected fraternity and campus leaders that Zeta Chapter has ever produced.

ber that he (Duerr) knew little about Theta, and urging Hines to gather data and prepare a motion as soon as possible, "... so we can close the matter early in January." Duerr then asked Gallaher to visit Theta and report before November 25.

Duerr advised McClurg on November 16 that he had received a carefully drawn case against Theta—both the chapter and the school. "We are not wholesale slaughterers, but we are in favor of conservative retraction such as will strengthen our Fraternity. It seems to me that we are making long strides forward."

Gallaher's report was dated November 21, and revealed that the chapter had paid up current dues and was ready to try to collect from alumni as well. "In their relation to each other, the chapter seems to be harmonious." The chapter did not stand as well socially as it had in former years, yet some of the men were leaders.

Intellectually the men seemed to be as good as the best, and morally they were superb. About half of the membership of 12 was studying for the ministry.

Gallaher remarked about the run-down appearance of the college buildings and the town itself. The college had no endowment. Entrance requirements were below standard; he stated that graduates of a Wheeling prep school were able to enter Bethany with junior or senior standing.

T. G. Piction, a Bethany undergraduate, replied to Gallaher's report. He ably presented the good points about the chapter (which Gallaher had reported) and then proceeded to a defense of the college.

The cards were stacked against Theta Chapter. When the undergraduates sold their hall furniture and used the proceeds to pay the debt to the Fraternity, Duerr merely commented to Hines, "The payment brings no credit to them since they pay their debts with other peoples' money. Hence we should proceed as before." He repeated his point in a letter to Churchill dated March 29, 1895. "No chapter has a right to sell property handed down to it as a chapter property to pay dues to the General Fraternity, which are a personal debt.

Theta's debt consists entirely of dues accumulated during four or five years, so that most of it has been incurred since the initiation of men who are now seniors."

The chapter was notified on April 5 that the charter had been withdrawn. Dr. Robert Robinson, of the Jefferson Alpha, was sent to Bethany to pick up the charter and records.

ROBINSON'S REPORT

"Bethany is a spot to which every Delt . . . turns with . . . reverence, because it is the cradle of . . . Delta Tau Delta. Ten young men ranging in age from 18 to 25 years, gave me a royal welcome, though I came with a message unpleasant to them and a duty equally so for me. . . . They were mild in their language, putting . . . no blame on the Arch Chapter for rescinding the charter, but they were loud and strong and vehement against one Gallaher. . . . They state that he misrepresented them. . . . They hope that some day there may be a reconsideration of the case and they may be allowed to resume."

ACTION THREATENED AGAINST DELTA

The Northern Division Conference delegates discussed the financial problems of Delta Chapter in 1894 and found that "Although it is desirable to have a chapter of Delta Tau Delta at the University of Michigan, this Conference recommends to the Arch Chapter that unless steps are taken at once by Chapter Delta toward the immediate and continued reduction of this debt, that the charter be withdrawn."

D. L. Anthony, a former Northern Division president, wrote Babcock that Delta should not be called upon to repay a loan made to the chapter at an earlier period. "The chapter which negotiated that loan has to some extent been repudiated by the present Delta. We have built up a good chapter from the ruins of theirs and so will not assume their obligations."

L. K. Malvern also spoke up for Delta. "Some of Delta's recent alumni and one of the actives were at the alumni dinner in Chicago Friday and I find them of such a class that we cannot afford to drop that chapter. . . . The boys are working hard to buy a house and I do not feel it right to discourage them . . . possibly they should pay this year's dues by Karnea."

Duerr joined in the chorus of support. "For every dollar of current dues that Delta pays into the treasury, give her credit for a corresponding amount on her old debt. This will . . . keep her in line . . . long enough to outgrow her present disease. . . . The active chapter is under no real obligation to pay their predecessors' debt; our aim is merely to bring them back in line."

One action taken to help Delta was cancellation of the loan made to alumni who were no longer connected with the chapter—as advocated by Anthony. The chapter's furniture was sold at a sheriff's sale. Efforts to raise $1500 to buy a house failed. The chapter was given until May 10, 1895, to pay all dues for the preceding two years, and to make arrangements legally valid with the treasurer for the balance of the indebtedness, or the charter was to be withdrawn. In the end, however, no final action was taken by the Arch Chapter, and Delta's problems continued to torment the Fraternity and the chapter for the rest of the decade.

BETA IOTA (VIRGINIA) SURRENDERS

Ivy Kittredge, president of the Southern Division, wrote on February 14, 1895, that he had heard from various parties that Beta Iota was of the lowest standing in the University; its members were a "hard" set. "This I hate to believe but so many have told me that I can no longer doubt the report." In his report to the 1895 Karnea, he stated that the chapter had given up the ghost and had sent in her charter.

Although Beta Iota had had an apparently prosperous year in 1893-94, and a membership of ten to twelve men, the following year brought little progress. The chapter was in debt, and was ignoring letters from various Arch Chapter members. The chapter did nothing toward getting new members, and when urged to pay its debts, without warning or even an accompanying note, sent in the charter and other documents. Several members of the Arch Chapter wrote, urging reconsideration, but Kittredge said "I fear nothing can be done unless we open up there with a new set of men."

ETA (BUCHTEL) RETURNS CHARTER

Eta Chapter at Buchtel College (now the University of Akron), through H. W. Kennedy, wrote the Arch Chapter in January of 1895 that for some time the chapter had been considering the surrender of its charter. There was no feeling of animosity or resentment toward the Fraternity, just the contrary. "I think you are aware of the standing of Eta in the past—of her character and the quality of her men. . . ."

"The character of the student body has undergone a radical change in the past five years; no men are coming here now, they are all boys. We feel that the presence of a chapter here is prejudicial to the interests of Delta Tau Delta. . . ."

"Could you send a man, an older Delta, to look over the situation with us? If he thinks we would be justified in carrying on the fight, we shall work harder than ever before. If he decides it would be better to give up our charter, hard though it be, we will accede to his will. . . ."

When Lowrie McClurg heard, he wrote Duerr that he was not surprised at the report of the decline of Buchtel. "I am sorry the college is running down, for Eta has always had a pretty good set of men and the chapter has been of a good deal of value to Delta Tau Delta."

"McClurg and I stopped in Akron . . . and saw Eta," wrote Malvern to President Babcock, February 26. "We first visited the college. There is a main building, an observatory, and a very fine gymnasium. The library is no good and is contained in two small rooms. . . . Outside the prep dept there are only about 80 students, one half are girls, leaving about 40 for we, the Phi Delta Theta, and the local society to draw from. . . . The chapter itself is good. . . . They have a nice house and no debts, and are good Deltas. The alumni never attend their meetings. . . . I don't blame the boys for giving up their charter, under all the discouraging circumstances. . . . Now, before they crawl, is the time to take the charter. . . ."

In a long and excellent analysis of the visit, McClurg commented on the fine quality of the five active members, their housing, their solvency, and the orderliness of their affairs. He concluded, however, that Buchtel was on the downgrade.

Northern Division President Robert L. Harris gave much the same opinion of the college and its students. "The men of '98 are very poor as fraternity material. The institution is deteriorating very rapidly. . . . The alumni manifest no interest whatever. . . . I see no hope for the institution. . . . It is our chapter's loyalty which has caused them to make the move they have . . . they wish to hand in their charter now rather than . . . after a lingering and humiliating death. . . ."

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS, 1893-95

Financial stringency faced the Arch Chapter, as it did the country, in 1893. Treasurer Miner Hines came under fire from his colleagues. McClurg stated that Hines was a first class bookkeeper, but far from an ideal fraternity treasurer. "It takes the writing of letters to collect, . . . not merely dunning letters, but ones . . . appealing to the loyalty of the members. . . . These Hines will not bother to write; he confines himself to mere business statements. . . ."

"Another trouble is the Arch Chapter . . . too extravagant. . . . No one takes the trouble to look after the details or small expenditures."

He continued in a letter to Churchill March 1, 1894, "I think with you that there is an absolute necessity of reduction of expenses. The same laws apply to an organized body which do to individuals in money matters . . . every dollar counts . . . the Journal costs more than it need; the cover is an extravagance, the paper is better than it need be. . . . These are not new ideas; I have written them before, but Rannells always was pig-headed."

Kendrick Babcock wrote Churchill on March 11, agreeing that the Fraternity was in a bad way, financially, ". . . but I wholly disagree with . . . your second suggestion. It is all very well to talk of firing all the delinquent chapters, but neither you nor I would care to remain if these went. . . . I think we are in better general condition today than in years. The financial bugbear is . . . found in every frat. . . ."

"I am quite ready to fire several chapters . . . but . . . for filling up with fifteen more chapters, I am wholly and upcompromisingly opposed."

Alvan Duerr proposed a resolution to the Arch Chapter that passed unanimously: "That the Treasurer be authorized to offer a discount, not exceeding 30 per cent, and varying according to the merits of the case, and to the size and time of debt, to any chapter which will pay its past indebtedness within sixty days of the receipt of the proposal to this effect from the Treasurer." Later, Duerr reported that Alpha had paid two years' dues, and that Delta was all right.

In the Journal, February, 1894, Duerr exhorted the chapters, "In this season of financial stress, Deltas . . . will find it difficult to meet their business obligations; but, boys, do not forget your Fraternity . . . the indebtedness of the chapters to it exceeds $2,000. . . ."

Churchill advocated "firing" all chapters very delinquent in dues. He also volunteered his services as Treasurer in a letter to Babcock on October 5, 1894, as he heard Hines wanted to resign. Hines, however, continued as Treasurer.

Duerr wrote Churchill that he would not vote to withdraw any charter for financial reasons alone, because he felt that the Fraternity's policy had contributed to the carelessness among the chapters.

In his report to the Karnea in 1895, Hines cited income to the Catalogue Fund of $1954.69, to the General Fund of $2632.20, and to the Rainbow Fund of $856.46; expenditures were listed as Catalogue Fund $25.00, General Fund $2363.79, and Rainbow Fund $2138.91.

FRATERNITY HOUSES

In THE RAINBOW for June, 1895, it was stated that five of our chapters had gone to "housekeeping" and in four cases they had been the first on their campus to do so, as well as the youngest in their colleges. Kappa entered her house in September, 1893; Beta Iota in the fall of 1892; Beta Mu in April, 1893, and Beta Theta in the spring of 1894. Beta Tau was installed in her own house. (Beta Theta had two houses—one for meetings, and one to live in.)

Dr. Cipro Receives Fischbach Grant

THE FISCHBACH RESIDENCY Foundation of the Delta Tau Delta Education Fund has awarded a scholarship to Dr. Robert E. Cipro, Tufts, '61, for the current year. Dr. Cipro began a year's residency in surgery at Hartford (Connecticut) Hospital July 1, to be followed by three years in otolaryngology at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston.

As an undergraduate, Dr. Cipro was active in intramural sports, and served Beta Mu Chapter as chairman of the alumni relations committee. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and to Alpha Omega Alpha honor medical society. While at Tufts' Medical School he served three years as president of his class, and one year as chairman of the Medical Student Council.

Mother Johnson Off to Fine Start

By G. SID SMITH, Kansas, '67

AN ENERGETIC, personable "mother," Mrs. Kenneth C. Johnson, has successfully completed her first year with Gamma Tau Chapter, giving us a tremendous boost. Aside from the fact that she has been present at several Karneas, has been associated with KU Delts since her own college days, and knows personally a large number of our chapter alumni, Mother Johnson has been an inspiration to each of us through her devotion this past year. The planning of excellent meals is only one of her many accomplishments. She is an invaluable asset at social gatherings and at rush parties. Mother Johnson shares our ties of brotherhood as she joins our card games, goes along to throw a newly pinned brother into the lake, attends our sorority serenades, or finds a spot for us in front of her color TV. She is continuously coming up with a new idea, or busying herself on a project for us.

Mrs. Johnson is the widow of the late Gamma Tau Delt, Kenneth C. Johnson, for whom a memorial plaque hangs in our foyer. A graduate of the class of '29, Ken Johnson served on our house corporation from the early 1940's until the late '50's. During his tenure on the corporation, he served as president, and he was always a very dedicated alumnus to our chapter. Mother Johnson's Delt connections also include her son and son-in-law, Donald Johnson and David R. Nance, both Gamma Tau Delts.

Bomb Recoverer Honored

By NORMAN MACLEOD, Pittsburgh, '17

Dr. RICHARDSON pinpoints the search area for (left to right) NICK ROCCO, JIM DOCKEY, Dr. NELSON, SANDY HILL, Chapter Adviser NORM MACLEOD, and Dr. KRUPER.

AT THE SPRING INITIATION exercises held by the Gamma Sigma Chapter at Foster Memorial on the campus of the University of Pittsburgh on April 29, Dr. Henry R. Richardson, Pittsburgh, '60, was honored for his part in the recovery of the H-bomb off the coast of Spain. Richardson, a former chapter treasurer, earned his Ph.D. in 1965 from Brown University, and is now a member of the staff of the Daniel H. Wagner Associates, consultants in mathematics and research operations. This firm was retained by the Navy to assist in the recovery operation.

Other Gamma Sigma alumni honored on this occasion were Dr. Theodore C. Nelson, '59, who received his medical degree from the University of Basel, Switzerland in June, 1965; Jarvis D. Cotton, '55 (MS '62) now with the Atomic Energy Section of Westinghouse Corporation; Dr. Donald C. Kruper, '55, member of the staff of the Research Institute, Montefiore; Dr. Richard H. Sisson, '55 (MD '59) Department of Radiology, Presbyterian-University Hospital; and Dr. Robert S. Runzo, '50 (DDS '55) dental surgeon, who was recently made a Fellow of the American College of Dentistry.

James Dockey, president of Gamma Sigma Chapter, welcomed the above alumni to this special program, and called attention to the fact that the average time out of the University for each individual was less than ten years.

Following the dinner at the chapter house, the entire group of 52 Delts—alumni and undergraduates—were the guests of John W. Galbreath, Ohio, '20, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, at the baseball game with Cincinnati at Forbes Field.

With this Delt background, Mother Johnson was destined to return to the Delt House when her husband passed away in October 1962. We are looking forward to many more successful years with our vigorous "mother."

Babcock Continues

THIRTY-THIRD KARNEA

In his report to the 1895 Karnea, President Babcock summarized the general policy of the Arch Chapter into three major lines: (1) to simplify and better the business methods of the Fraternity; (2) to overhaul the chapter roll; (3) to compel chapters with long-standing debts to make some reasonable settlement. He stated that the work done along these lines had been reported to the chapters through the Journal, an organ which had become a great influence in keeping chapters and the Arch Chapter in close touch.

"While the opposite of extension has been our policy during the past two years," he continued, "four chapters have been added. All of these . . . are in excellent condition and full of promise." Three charters had been withdrawn by vote of the Arch Chapter, he reported, and three others were voluntarily surrendered. Three chapters had been put on trial for financial delinquency and 12 others had "been made to feel the hand of the Arch Chapter." Under this pressure old debts had been greatly reduced.

Babcock hailed the record of accomplishment as larger than that of any previous Arch Chapter. The facilitation of business through centralization was an unquestioned success. Never had there been so little friction, or filibustering, as in the past two years.

COMMITTEE ON CHAPTERS AND CHARTERS

In its report to the Karnea, the Committee on Chapters and Charters pointed out that such matters were largely in the hands of the Arch Chapter, and that this was as it should be. Its recommendation that Chapter Theta be re-established was rejected by the Karnea. The Committee supported the Western Division in recommending the Universities of Kansas and California, but the Karnea rejected Kansas. A recommendation to include the Dominion of Canada was referred to the Committee on Constitution and Laws. The recommendation of Lafayette, Virginia, Johns Hopkins, Tennessee, and North Carolina was ruled out of order.

HENRY T. BRUCK

FRATERNITY OFFICERS

All of the members of the Arch Chapter were re-elected except Miner T. Hines, who refused renomination. To replace him as Treasurer, Frederick C. Hodgdon was nominated from the floor and elected.

President Babcock announced that the office of Historian had been created, and Lowrie McClurg appointed to that position. "No man in Delta Tau Delta has had so long an active experience in its workings, no one is as intimately associated with Delts of all classes since 1875," he said. "Delta Tau Delta has been exceedingly lax in the preservation of her archives and in collecting historical data, but with an official Historian, a new regime will be inaugurated."

The attendance of Henry Bruck at the Karnea is significant, as it marked his return to active interest after an illness.

Founders' Day In Washington

THE ANNUAL FOUNDERS' DAY, this year sponsored and arranged by Gamma Eta Chapter, was acclaimed by undergraduates and alumni alike as a tremendous success. We of Gamma Eta are proud of the favorable reaction to this event, for the first time sponsored entirely by our chapter.

All alumni met first at the Shelter, where many saw the new house for the first time. From there the actives provided transportation for all to the famous Cosmos Club in northwest Washington, where the banquet was held. After a cocktail hour where the refreshment and conversation flowed freely, the hungry Delts moved to the John Wesley Powell Room for dinner. Raymond Dickey acted as the witty toastmaster and William Andrews, national Secretary of Delta Tau Delta, was the inspirational keynoter. Also at the head table were Larry Self, president of Gamma Eta, Rick Tyner, president of Delta Sigma, and Professor E. J. B. Lewis, professor of accounting at George Washington University and sponsor of the event. Rounding out the head table were Ambassador Loy Henderson, General Edwin Parker, and Dean of Men Paul Bissel. The speeches were interspersed by well-taken advice from 50-year Delt General Parker, and encouraging words by Dean Bissel on the role of the fraternity on campus. Gamma Eta gave a special award to Professor Lewis for his help in setting up the event, and presented Lowell Moran with the annual A. Bruce Bielaski award as the outstanding Gamma Eta alumnus.

Gamma Eta, this year winner of its eleventh IFC Sing victory in thirteen years, ended the formal part of the evening with a rousing rendition of "Ride in the Chariot" and was joined by the 150 in attendance in "Delta Shelter."

After the singing all of us returned to the Shelter for some brotherly fun that continued well into the night, with all the brothers, from the new initiates to the 50 year Delts, joining in Fraternity songs.

When the last hoarse alumni left, the Shelter still rang with the sounds of conversation and song. Above all, the feeling of brotherhood knew no age limits. The young appreciated and realized the contribution of those past Delts who worked to make the Fraternity great, and the old renewed their confidence in a new generation dedicated to carry on and expand the work of their founding fathers.

Special thanks must be extended to Larry Self, president of Gamma Eta, as well as IFC, who worked far into the night for weeks to make this Founders' Day a success. His efforts were certainly well worth it.

During the First World War, Mr. Gentry served with the American Ambulance Field Service in France. He later became an infantry lieutenant, instructing in bayonet fighting. At the time of his death he was a major in the reserves, and he frequently contributed book reviews on military topics.

From his graduation in 1922 until 1934 he was a partner with his father in a St. Louis law firm, then he retired because of ill health. Since that time, he had traveled extensively with his family.

An active and interested Delt, Mr. Gentry received the Alumni Service Award from the Fraternity's St. Louis Alumni Chapter for his years of dedicated service to the alumni chapter and to Gamma Kappa Chapter at the University of Missouri.

JOSEPH B. MATRE, Cincinnati, '12, a retired legal adviser in the State Department, died in early March of a heart attack while vacationing in Hollywood, Florida.

Born 78 years ago in Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. Matre was educated in the local schools and at the University of Cincinnati, where he received both bachelor of arts and law degrees. In 1918 he received an appointment to the State Department, beginning an association which continued until his retirement in 1957.

Prior to World War I service in the Army, Mr. Matre was in the private practice of law, and was a member of the bar in Ohio as well as the District of Columbia. His work in the State Department was primarily in the adjustment of claims with foreign governments, including the Netherlands and Great Britain.

While president of the Montgomery County Civic Federation, Mr. Matre was awarded the Evening Star cup for the most outstanding public service for the county during 1943.

Mr. Matre was a past president of the National Capital Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

A Fitting Tribute

RECENTLY, Mr. and Mrs. Kluender, housemother and father of Rho Chapter for the past 31 years, celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary. As a token of the chapter's appreciation, the brothers took up a collection among themselves and the alumni brothers in order to present the "K's" with a heart warming gift. Under the able leadership of Henry Fiaccone, undergraduate and alumni brothers generously contributed enough to send the K's to Germany for a visit with their respective families, which they had not seen in 31 years.

The tickets were placed in a traveling bag which was presented one night during a brothers' meeting. The Kluenders' response to this camouflaged gift was somewhat skeptical until they opened the traveling bag and found the tickets inside. After the joyful tears were washed away, the K's managed to express a few words of deep felt appreciation. They left the following week for their ever to be remembered trip to Germany.

During their month long vacation, the brothers and pledges of Rho Chapter dearly felt their absence. After this month of scurrying into town for a hurried meal, everyone was overjoyed to have them back. All of us now realize that absence actually does make the heart grow fonder, and everyone hopes that the K's will stay on with Rho Chapter for many more years.

of Delta Tau Delta, and he was initiated into the Fraternity on October 24. He served as chapter adviser in the early years and was instrumental in obtaining the Shelter in 1953.

Dean Schuster retired from the University in 1954, whereupon he was called upon to go to South America for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to assist several universities with their teaching programs in agriculture.

In 1958, Dean and Mrs. Schuster were the guests of honor at the tenth anniversary celebration of Delta Upsilon Chapter, and he was then presented with a silver tray in appreciation of his service to the chapter.

DR. JOHN WEBER, Pittsburgh, '09, died March 1 in Pittsburgh. He was born 80 years ago, in Allegheny, Pennsylvania.

A year after his graduation from the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Weber joined the faculty of his alma mater as a shop instructor. His tenure was interrupted by World War I, in which he served in the Army with the rank of captain. In 1925 he became a full professor and head of department, and the following year was appointed business manager and supervising engineer for the University. In the latter posts he was in charge of planning for such major buildings as the Cathedral of Learning, Heinz Memorial Chapel, and the Stephen Foster Memorial. He served for many years, also, on the city planning commission. In 1956 he retired from his University duties, after 46 years of devoted and effective service.

Dr. Weber was a member of Alpha Alpha local fraternity which was chartered as Gamma Sigma Chapter of Delta Tau Delta in 1914, and he was initiated at that time.
