MANY THINGS need saying at this point in time. Along with nearly everything else in this world, Delta Tau Delta is changing. We change, we grow, we update, we modernize. We meet the challenge of our fast new world. Not, of course, to keep up with the Joneses. Not to conform because others are changing.

We change to keep alive. We grow, or we die. We drop outdated practices, re-design old ways to fit new needs.

But—we also maintain, cherish, and preserve those of our old values which are forever new. Man has not changed, nor will he in our lifetime. His environment changes, but his mind and body do not. His knowledge expands explosively, but his physical and social needs do not diminish, nor do those needs show any significant changes.

The need of man to live with man, to establish close relationships, to provide discussion outlets and to learn the impact of one personality upon another remains.

That is one of the great contributions Delta Tau Delta can make. The true brotherhood of man flowers within our Fraternity as it can do nowhere else—providing we can present the proper soil, the proper air, the proper food for its growth.

These needs—the atmosphere of brotherhood—are different today. The simple room and board concept of a fraternity house no longer suffices. The walls which have served just to surround parties are inadequate for today's scene. Food for the mind—not just the body—must be provided. Academic implements, such as computer stations, audio-visual aids, retrieval and access devices, plus adequate areas designed for their use, must be provided.

Nobody knows this better than today's undergraduate, who lives on the scene. The needs are his needs, for Delta Tau Delta is truly an undergraduate fraternity. Also, he is more numerous today than ever before—so the needs grow greater as his numbers increase.

More undergraduates also mean more opportunities for Delta Tau Delta. We must grow with the growth of universities, or else we will constantly become a smaller speck in the academic universe—and that is the road to extinction. We must be prepared to enter new campuses, and to enter campuses which have grown in size and quality so that we may continue to bring the best of today's undergraduates into our membership.

Because of these things, we presented to the Karnea a pledge that we will work for progress in three areas.

1. We will continue to strive for more growth and greatness for Delta Tau Delta.
2. We shall work toward increasing communications and assistance at all levels—undergraduate, Arch Chapter, and alumni—so that each may better know the thoughts and the acts of the others.

THE STORIED Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse symbolized pestilence, war, famine, and death. Today, another quartet of riders, equally grim, equally deadly, menace our land. They are irresponsibility, cynicism, permissiveness, and guilt.

Surely, we live in times more desperate than any we have known before. And yet, I doubt that they are more confusing or more foreboding than other men in other ages throughout history have thought confronted them and them alone.

"The time is out of joint," brooded Shakespeare's Melancholy Dane.

"These are the times that try men's souls," wrote Thomas Paine in 1776.

Churchill intoned his formula of "blood, toil, tears, and sweat," and the Bible warns that "man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward."

Ironically, we live in unquestionably the most glorious period of achievement man has known. The sum total of cultural, moral, and scientific knowledge is at our fingertips. New technological advances crowd upon us until our biggest problem becomes that of knowing how to use them all. Old myths are dispelled, but new ones take their place. Dark and nameless fears are put to rout, and we invent others in their stead.

We attain what we know to be new pinnacles of human dignity, compassion and understanding. Yet, we are shocked, benumbed, and sickened by assassinations, violence, and a distant war that splits our homeland asunder.

This article by Ward L. Quaal, president of WGN Continental Broadcasting Company, has been adapted from his keynote address at the 1968 Karnea Banquet, Aug. 28, 1968, in the Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City.

Let us freely acknowledge the many miles we have yet to travel to make our society not merely great, but as nearly perfect as man can devise. There are few so short-sighted, so self-satisfied, so smug, so callous as to deny the bigotry, the slum conditions, the crime and violence—yes, the injustice—that surround us. But we have the right to demand that our society be measured by its achievements, not its shortcomings. Otherwise, we are like a builder criticized because the rains come into his house before he has had a chance to complete its roof.

Shall we put it on the record? Our economy—despised though it may be in some quarters—sustains 170 million people at a standard of living unprecedented throughout the world! True, we are told that of the 200 million Americans, there are some 30 million poor. And that's 30 million too many. But while it may be of scant comfort to them, they would be considered privileged citizens in most other nations in this world.

And I think it is significant in the context of what we are discussing that, even though one-quarter of all U. S. families live on less than $4,000 a year, half of these own their own homes, and 60 percent own automobiles. How many other countries can make such a statement?

There is really nothing new under the sun. The "new" thought and the "new" politics, so raucously espoused by the "new" left and others, really are nothing more than manifestations of mankind's oldest form of social behavior. And that is, simply put, anarchy.

Violence? Crime? Of course, there is too much of both. But violence and crime are not the results of "sickness" or decay or rottenness in our society as a whole, at least not in the way that the bleeding hearts would have us believe. They are the result, purely and simply, of an erosion of individual responsibility through an overdose of permissiveness and indulgence and excuse-making that begins in the home, the schools, and the churches, and goes on and on, right up through the highest levels of government and even the Supreme Court.

Sick society? The indicated prescription is not revolution or insurrection or a whole new code of behavior. It is, rather, a return to old ways, quaint ways, tried and true ways—yes, “square” ways: Ways that have taken a few dozen centuries to evolve and have proven pretty effective, all things considered.

Within the past five years, we have been profoundly shaken by the assassination of three prominent Americans, John and Robert Kennedy, and Martin Luther King. This has given quick and easy rise to three false assumptions: One, the “sick society” syndrome; two, what is probably the most massive guilt complex in history; and three, the idea that television, somehow, is responsible for it all!

Each of these is ridiculous.

It was not a “sick society” that shot the Kennedys and the Rev. Doctor King. It was three sick drop-outs from society. And that is quite a difference.

Some may pull blankets of guilt over their heads if they want to. But I believe this is the easy way—the cowardly way out of facing up to today's reality.

And if you expect me, as a representative of the television industry, to shoulder the blame, you've got the wrong Quaal. Sorrow? Certainly. Shame? Yes. Agreement that it shouldn't be allowed to reoccur? Of course. But guilt? No. To be blunt about it, three presidents—Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley—were assassinated before television or radio or even motion pictures were factors in American lives.

But the communications media, along with every other responsible element of society, must plead guilty to a sort of over-kill—to emphasizing our areas of “sickness” to the detriment of those things that are normal, positive, and wonderful. We need to remember that the person who goes around continually talking about his aches and pains and ailments is a bore and likely to become a pariah. Obsession with the “sick” elements of the society is no different.

The tools of democratic government are many: The ballot box, petitions, the freedom to assemble and to be heard, to demonstrate, and ultimately the ability, through popular legislative assembly, to get new laws passed. Of course, our government was provided, too, with a wonderful system of checks and balances as represented by our legal system.

What can we do, individually and as a great nation, about all of this? There are a number of important steps we must take.

First, we must stiffen our backbones, thrust out our chins, and cast off our national guilt complex.

Second, we must reject the idea that there is something outmoded about law and order, codes of ethical and moral behavior, and the willingness to exercise individual responsibility.

WARD L. QUAAL

Third, we must act to strengthen family ties and responsibilities. A general relaxation of parental authority and the family role as the center of daily life is as tragic for the rebellious college student as it is for the ghetto dweller.

Fourth, we must put America back to work. It is time to clear off those relief rolls, not blindly or ruthlessly, but methodically and compassionately in a manner that restores dignity and self-respect and, at the same time, gives a little relief to the rest of us.

Where job training or retraining is required, it should be made possible. But above all, we must correct the frame of mind that finds it easier to accept a handout than to go to work. Employable people should be employed, because people working are people rewarded, and people rewarded are proud people, headed toward goals. They are productive people, building bastions for themselves and their fellow men.

Fifth, we must begin to exercise business power as an antidote to black power or student power, or

THE EPSILON SIGMA CHAPTER of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at Athens College, Athens, Ala., was formally initiated the weekend of May 10-11, 1968.

Friday evening, May 10, a reception welcoming the national representatives was held in the parlor of Founders Hall at Athens College. Several of the national representatives present were: Doug Croth, field secretary; William J. Fraering, Southern Division president; Robert Kroening, Western Division president; Anthony J. Clesi, Jr., Southern Division vice-president; Al Sheriff, executive vice president; and Frank Price, director of program development.

Also present at the reception were many members of the Athens College faculty and administration, plus Brothers from the Delta Eta and Epsilon Alpha Chapters at the University of Alabama and Auburn University.

Hostesses for the reception were two young ladies from each of the national sororities on the Athens College campus: Zeta Tau Alpha, Phi Mu, and Sigma Kappa. The Delt sweetheart, Miss Norma Dann, also acted as hostess for the reception. Under the direction of Mrs. Bert Hayes, wife of Dr. Hayes, chapter advisor; and Mrs. William Bell, wife of Mr. Bell, chapter sponsor, the reception proved to be a great success.

Later that evening the Rite of Iris ceremony was conducted by the initiation team from Epsilon Alpha Chapter, Auburn University. These ceremonies were conducted at the penthouse of the First Federal Savings and Loan Building where the chapter holds its weekly meetings.

Saturday, May 11, five groups of eight Brothers of Epsilon Sigma Chapter were initiated into the Brotherhood. This again took place at the penthouse. Delta Eta Chapter from the University of Alabama, under the guidance of Robert Kroening (who has not missed an installation since 1963) performed the ritual.

That evening a social hour was held at the Carriage Inn, Huntsville, Ala., for all alumni of the Fraternity. This was followed by the Installation banquet and dance also held at the Carriage Inn.

The banquet and dance were the final events scheduled for this memorable weekend. Frank N. Sefton, Epsilon Alpha '58 and member of the Epsilon Sigma house corporation, served as toastmaster for the affair. Immediately following the dinner the toastmaster welcomed the distinguished guests, then introducing Dr. Ralph Savage, academic dean at Athens College. In a warm and sincere speech, Dr. Savage welcomed Delta Tau Delta to the Athens College campus. The 1967-68 year was his first year at Athens, and not knowing what to expect from the Greeks on campus, he was delighted to say that he had nothing but the highest praise for the Greek organizations.

Anthony J. Clesi spoke next on the program by presenting the membership certificates to the Brothers followed by the presentation of the charter by William J. Fraering. The charter was accepted by Donald R. Payne, president of Epsilon Sigma Chapter, and William E. Chittenden, former president of the Crescent Colony.

Donald R. Payne also accepted gifts from several of the Greek organizations on the Athens College campus. Phi Mu gave a sterling silver serving tray, Zeta Tau Alpha gave a sterling silver candy dish, and Sigma Kappa Sorority and Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity each gave a plaque commemorating the installation. Also, the Delt sweetheart presented the chapter with two hand-engraved crystal ash trays.

Keynote speaker for the banquet was Justice Tom C. Clark, then president of the Fraternity. In his speech he reminisced of his fraternity days and welcomed the Epsilon Sigma Chapter as the 99th chapter of the Fraternity.

Involvement at Minnesota

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA this fall, Beta Eta Delts have initiated two vanguard social service projects hoping to spur other U. of M. nationals to join in a thorough community involvement program.

The Delts are sponsoring a Minneapolis Park Board Pee-Wee tackle football team for underprivileged ten-year-olds from the North Side, an economically depressed area in Minneapolis. We're also helping 11-year-old boys with cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy or multiple sclerosis to earn Boy Scout merit badges designed for the physically handicapped.

Philip Winn, a liberal arts junior and Beta Eta social service chairman, made the necessary contacts and organized both social service projects in detail.

The "Delta Tau Delta Rangers," our Pee-Wee football team, is undefeated this season for the third consecutive year. We outfitted the 19 members of the Ranger squad with Wilson helmets and jerseys.

Winn and several other Beta Eta Delts lettered the black helmets with gold  $\Delta\tau\Delta$ 's in the shape of a football and used a screening process to letter "Delta Tau Delta Rangers" in black on the gold jerseys. Total cost—\$280.00.

Besides buying the jerseys and helmets, we attend all the Ranger games, and a coaching staff including Winn, Dave Stevenson, Marty Brandt, Jim Gagner and Jack Meade helps teach the Rangers the fundamentals of blocking, tackling and ball carrying.

The handicapped Boy Scout troop is another source of great pride for Minnesota Delts. Besides coaching the boys to help them earn merit badges leading to ranks of Life and Eagle Scouts, we help out with special projects. October 2 we had a cook-out, held under an awning because of rain. Some Delts cooked and others fed the Scouts who can't feed themselves.

This winter we will help the troop build a booth for the Scout Jamboree. Next spring we will send Delt counselors on the troop overnight, the only camp-out of the year. During Christmas vacation we're preparing an awards dinner for the scouts and their parents in the Shelter where they will receive the merit badges they have earned.

There are 18, eleven year old boys in the troop which is part of Michael Dowling School for the Handicapped. None of them is mentally deficient, but several are ambulatory.

The entire chapter shares the good feeling of knowing that we're helping these boys earn merit badges and that for some of them we represent a warm and friendly part of society they did not previously know.

The University of Minnesota IFC has heartily endorsed our social service program and several chapters on campus are initiating similar programs. Next fall we hope that all 27 nationals on campus will sponsor Pee-Wee football teams to compete with our Rangers.

Installation at Wisconsin—Milwaukee

DELTA TAU DELTA reached the 100 mark in undergraduate chapters when Epsilon Tau was officially installed May 18 at the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. The Rite of Iris was conducted the previous night by members of Delta Nu Chapter, Lawrence College. Installation ceremonies were conducted by Gamma Beta Chapter from Illinois Institute of Technology. Former Supreme Court Justice and Delta Tau Delta President Tom C. Clark gave the installation address. Toastmaster was O. William Carpenter, Ohio Wesleyan '27, retired chairman of the Rex Chain Belt Co. Co-chairmen for the event were John S. Goodland, Wisconsin '53, and Kirby W. Stanat, Penn State '55, who is adviser to the new chapter. Others on the program were David Robinson, dean of students; Edwin H. Hughes, III, DePauw '43, president of the Northern Division; Gordon L. Jones, Nebraska '41, vice president of the Northern Division; Alfred P. Sheriff, III, Washington & Jefferson '49, executive vice president of the Fraternity; and Dr. John J. Salom, assistant to the chancellor of the University.

New and Improved Shelters

Louisiana State

ON SEPTEMBER 15, 1968, Delts of Epsilon Kappa Chapter at Louisiana State University gathered for the dedication by Past-President Tom C. Clark, Texas, '22, of the new Shelter on University Lakeshore Drive. Just two and a half years after their installation, the Delts were occupying one of the largest houses on the 25-fraternity LSU campus.

The Shelter is modeled after the Eighteenth Century French colonial house indigenous to Louisiana with its wide columned galleries, seven-foot windows, and hip roof. The extensive use of glass takes advantage of the location on University Lake.

Forty-two men are housed in two-man rooms. Most of the rooms open onto a gallery. The house is wood-paneled and makes extensive use of carpet and terrazzo.

The foyer floors are of slate, and a brass chandelier highlights the colonial theme of the house. Double paneled doors with brass fixtures serve as the entrance and also lead into the living room and library.

The living room is furnished with Tudor English pieces. A Ray Harm lithograph of Louisiana sea birds with the brown pelican, the Louisiana state bird, is over the sofa.

The adjoining living-dining areas have glass walls looking out on the patio and the lake. Massive exposed beams and wood paneling add to the primitive colonial atmosphere.

The dining area can serve 100 people, using heavy collapsible tables made by the pledges.

The dedication weekend festivities began on Saturday, September 14 when President Clark was met at Ryan Airport by the Chapter, Southern Division Vice Presidents Anthony J. Clesi, Jr., Tulane '52, and Carl E. Stipe, Jr., Emory '43, of Atlanta, University and Baton Rouge officials. A detachment of LSU Pershing Rifles formed an honor guard, and President Clark was presented a red cane (baton rouge) by representatives of the Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce.

After a luncheon with the Baton Rouge Bar Association, Justice Clark met with members of the chapter and alumni at the Shelter.

Saturday evening Justice Clark spoke at a banquet at the Jack Tar Capitol House. Master of Ceremonies was Dr. Robert H. Cane, Cornell '55. Mayor-President W. W. "Woody" Dumas presented the keys to the city and an honorary citizenship of Baton Rouge to Justice Clark. Chancellor Cecil G. Taylor and Dean of Student Services James Reddock gave welcomes from the University. Present also were Southern Division President William J. Fraering, Tulane '46, Chapter Adviser Richard Schori, Kenyon '60, LSU Dean of Men Arden O. French, and Assistant Dean of Men James J. Brasher. The chairman for the banquet was Lew Barmum, Colorado '27.

Following the banquet, Justice Clark was guest of honor at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Hal S. Phillips, Sr.

Sunday morning, President Clark attended church services with members of the chapter at Saint Alban's Episcopal Church and then had luncheon with the chapter officers at the LSU Union.

Dedication ceremonies began at 2 p.m. Dean Reddock commented on Epsilon Kappa and the LSU fraternity system. President Clark then dedicated the Shelter to the spirit and ideals of Delta Tau Delta after being introduced by Bill Fraering. Master of Ceremonies was Chapter President Darrell A. Posey. The benediction was given by Delt Father Frank Faust, Tulane '63.

Following the dedication, an open house was held, and the evening ended with a dance in the Shelter.

Organizers for the weekend were Darrell Posey and Charles B. Woodard. L. Leonard Drury planned the dance, and invaluable assistance was given by Mom Hanagriff.

Missouri

THE Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Tau Delta Social Fraternity dedicated its new 64-man Shelter October 5 at the University of Missouri. After occupying the large, white stone house on the corner of Kentucky and Maryland for 53 years, the Delt Chapter is now located at 605 Rollins, next door west to the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house.

The new home is the result of a Shelter fund drive successfully completed in just 18 months after its organization. Alumni of the chapter whose contributions made the new home possible formally dedicated the structure at a ceremony prior to the Missouri-Army football game.

Featured speakers on the program were Phil R. Acuff, Prairie Village, Kansas; Earl M. Page, Webster Groves, Missouri; Karl B. Giebel, Chesterfield, Missouri and Robert W. Kroening, St. Louis, Missouri. Robert I. Clausen of Columbia, Missouri served as general contractor.

Chapter Advisor for Gamma Kappa is James Ritter, Columbia, Missouri. Mrs. Alma Floyd is Housemother for the chapter. Undergraduate chapter officers are: Roger Uher, president; Larry Skaer, vice president; Tim Perkins, treasurer; Mike Halter, recording secretary and Roger Bentley, corresponding secretary.

FALL, 1968

Oregon

DOES LIFE in a ghetto attract many pledges? This was the question asked at the Gamma Rho Chapter at the University of Oregon last spring. The obvious answer was that the physical plant plays but a small part in the development of a strong pledge class, in that the members are most important to rushees. Still the fire marshall and the county health officer must be included in the future of any growing house. Thus it was that the Delt house at the U. of O. gained a fine addition to their physical plant. The sleeping porches and kitchen having been condemned, we were required by Oregon law to remodel or replace these out-moded facilities.

Due to the outstanding work done by our alumni committee, construction began as soon as school let out in 1968. "Captain" Jim Walsh, our outstanding chapter adviser, and Leo Young, the president of our house corporation, wheeled and dealt a $60,000 loan from a local Eugene savings and loan company. Then King Martin, a Gamma Rho alum and prominent Eugene architect, created the beautiful design of the new portion of our Shelter. And things finally took shape when Brother Cal Schmidt, an alum from Delta Lambda at OSU, started his "labor of love" with his carpenters last June. The new addition and remodeling were completed as the Brothers registered for classes.

The membership was well rewarded for their efforts toward the new addition, not only with the addition of three new rooms, five new eight man sleeping porches, a new chapter room, a huge dining room, and complete wall to wall carpeting throughout the house; but the cook being so enthralled with her new kitchen has not ceased in her creation of "Good Grits" for the Brothers. A great pledge class was attracted and with the new addition a new attitude toward scholarship was perceived, which has not always been foremost in the past. Our hopes are high for a truly outstanding year here at Gamma Rho and with many more to come in the future.

New Field Secretaries Join Staff

ATKINS

WOOD

THREE new field secretaries have been added to the traveling staff of the Fraternity. Two of them, Michael Atkins, Toronto '68, and Matt Benzmillier, North Dakota '68, joined the Central Office staff in June. The third man, John Wood, South Dakota '68, reported to Indianapolis on July 1.

Mike follows in the footsteps of two other Toronto Delts, Charlie Singer and Doug Croth, who completed two years as field secretaries this summer. While at the University of Toronto, Mike served Delta Theta Chapter in many capacities. He was alumni relations chairman, pledge trainer, and served a term as president.

Also listed among Mike's contributions to Delta Theta is his guidance and leadership as Delt hockey coach, under whose tenure the chapter witnessed one of its best seasons ever.

Chapter leadership was not the only area in which Mike's value to the Fraternity was demonstrated. His scholastic record was one of which any Delt could be proud. He maintained a B average, majoring in Geography. Mike was also quite active in the Toronto area as a member of the Young Liberals party of Canada.

John Wood was a scholar-athlete at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion. He lettered three years in varsity football as a split end and flanker. Not allowing his athletic pursuits to interfere with his education, John maintained a B average with a major in pre-law and history.

But his athletic and scholastic contributions were not all that John gave to the Fraternity. He held several positions of importance in Delta Gamma, serving the chapter as pledge trainer, rules chairman, and finally as its president. Many Delts will also remember John as the man who started and conducted the drive to raise funds for Omega Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania after the Shelter there was destroyed by fire late last year.

John was also very active in campus affairs. He was a member of the Dakotans, a men's honorary at South Dakota, and Phi Alpha Theta, a history honorary.

Matt Benzmillier contributed generously of his time and talents to the Fraternity during his years in Delta Xi Chapter at the University of North Dakota.

He served the chapter as social chairman, summer rush chairman, and assistant scholarship chairman, and was also an IFC representative for two years.

Matt was a member of the campus newspaper editorial staff, chairman of the University solicitations committee, and a member of several Student Senate and special University committees.

He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, and was quite active in intramural sports at the University. In graduating from the University with a Ph.B. in journalism, Matt maintained a high average in his major.

Mike, John, and Matt bring to their jobs as field secretaries a wide background of experience and fraternity service. As they work closely with the undergraduates and alumni throughout the country, they undoubtedly will assist the chapters to compete effectively in the ever challenging pursuit of excellence in all areas of chapter operation.

We welcome them to the Fraternity's professional staff, and we are sure you will enjoy meeting these men and will find them not only highly competent and enthusiastic but "good guys" as well.

Portrait Presented to Gamma Delta

GAMMA Delta Chapter at West Virginia University celebrated the highlight of the year on April 28, 1968, when it was presented with a portrait of Ernest R. Bell, an alumnus with a history of nearly 60 years of active support of the Fraternity and Gamma Delta Chapter in particular. At a banquet attended by nearly 100 alumni and actives, the chapter sought to express its appreciation to the president of its house corporation.

The main speaker for the "Ernie Bell Day Banquet" was Norman MacLeod, Pittsburgh '17, former president of the Fraternity, who reminded the audience of the long years of Mr. Bell's service to the Fraternity and pointed out the contributions that alumni can make long after graduation. The emcee for the event was Thomas A. White, West Virginia '41, general counsel of the Consolidated Gas Co. of Clarksburg, and formerly president of the West Virginia University Alumni Association.

Bell, a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, graduated from West Virginia University in 1912 with a degree in Law. He was captain of the Football Team of 1911. Since then, he has practiced law in Fairmont, W. Va., and has a long record of service in his church and in civic affairs.

Through the years, Ernie Bell has given more than ample time to Gamma Delta Chapter, supporting it from his personal finances, with legal aid, and with his presence. Dozens of letters of congratulations and appreciation came from alumni all over the nation who could not attend the banquet, but who wanted to recognize his contribution, anyway.

Bell's recollections of his days as an active Delt in 1911 are quite amusing. The old Shelter, replaced in 1928, was a three-story frame structure with nine bedrooms and one bathroom; he recalls long waits for the use of the latter. He roomed with two students and a bull dog, the owner of which was one of his room mates.

The food was good, he says, but if finances were low, the Brothers had to resort to beans, recalling:

"For breakfast we had bread and beans:
For lunch beans and bread.
And then a dinner of bread and beans
Before we went to bed."

The portrait of "Ernie" Bell will hang in the Shelter as a continuing way of honoring him for his tireless work for Gamma Delta Chapter.

Physicians Receive Scholarships

TWO physicians have been named by the Fraternity Board of Directors to receive $375 scholarships through the Fischbach Residency Foundation. Both are using the money to help finance advanced studies in medicine.

The recipients are Dr. Ralph G. Robinson, Kansas '58, and Dr. George F. Buerger, Jr., Pittsburgh '57.

Dr. Robinson, who has received the scholarship for a second consecutive year, has completed his second year of medical residency at the University of Kansas Medical Center and is engaged in heart research there. His work during the coming year will be focused on the hormonal considerations in hypertension, and will be followed by a year of clinical cardiology training.

Dr. Buerger completed ophthalmology residency at the Eye and Ear Hospital of the University Health Center of Pittsburgh in June. He attended the Lancaster basic science course in ophthalmology at Colby College, Maine, during the summer, and has been accepted for a six-month fellowship in ophthalmic plastic surgery at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, New York City beginning this fall.

The Foundation was established through the Fraternity by the Fischbach family of physicians in Cincinnati. Dr. William M. Fischbach, one of the supporters of the program, died in August (see "Chapter Eternal").

Fast New World

3. We will encourage further participation of undergraduates in the national activities of Delta Tau Delta.

In future issues of The Rainbow I expect to report and comment on each of these areas.

You have already seen, in the summer Rainbow Review issue, a good step in this direction. Dr. Fred Kershner, Dave Keller, and all the undergraduate contributors to that issue are to be commended for a new milestone in fraternity journalism. We have waited far too long for this—and I hope it is a prototype of many future issues, for it has contributed well to all three of the objectives we have just listed.

Your Arch Chapter, elected by your representatives this summer in New York, is a strong, able and willing team. The five members of the Board of Directors come from all four divisions; their counterparts in the division presidents and the Supervisor of Scholarship are similarly representative. The experience of these ten men covers law, education, journalism, finance, business and industry. Collectively, they have Delt experience of 270 years.

We will soon be operating on our new Constitution and By-Laws, the major effort of this year's Karnea. Seldom in our history have we ever considered a totally new document. This one is a real tribute to the statesmanship of the undergraduate delegates, who considered minutely and wisely every line of every article. It is also a tribute to Vice-President De Williams, who wrote it and who led the Karnea discussions. Many changes in the original draft were made, each one carefully debated. It should serve us long and well, since it provides a modern outlook on fraternity guidance and also the necessary flexibility to move with the times.

One of the most important provisions is the establishment of the Undergraduate Council as an important factor in the guidance of our Fraternity. Surely this matches our aims, and I'm anticipating considerable help and guidance from this group.

The new constitution, if approved by the undergraduate chapters, will go into effect next January. It requires that members of the Undergraduate Council take office on February 15 and meet at least once during the year on the call of the President. I expect that call will be made this spring, so the sixteen undergraduates who make up this council can advise us on plans and programs for the academic year beginning next fall. If the council representatives are of the

Walter Haines, Michigan State '55, is the new president of the Ready Power Company, Detroit producer of heavy duty D.C. generators. He formerly was with Omni Spectra, Inc., of Farmington, Mich.

Marvin W. Champlin, Syracuse '36, is secretary of the Home Insurance Co., Syracuse.

Dr. Alexander M. Minno, Pittsburgh '47, was elected this summer to the presidency of the Pennsylvania Society of Internal Medicine, a component of the American Society of Internal Medicine.

The Rev. Joe S. Rainey, Emory '62, is the new director of the Wesley Foundation at Old Dominion College, Norfolk, Va.

Don C. Phelps, Oklahoma '46, has been named executive vice president of the McAlester Fuel Co. He has been vice president and secretary of the Oklahoma firm since 1961.

Among honors that have been bestowed upon Hugh A. Barnhart, Indiana '15, are three which constitute an unusual achievement in Indiana history. He was director of the Indiana Highway Commission for three years, excise director four years, and director of the Indiana State Conservation Department four years, serving under four governors from 1931 to 1945. He now lives at Rochester, Ind., where he is chairman of the board of Rochester Telephone Co., Inc., and president and chief owner of the corporation which publishes the Rochester Sentinel.

Donald R. Hollis, Tulane '58 and Kent State '58, has been appointed director of corporate systems for the SCM Corporation, New York City.

Dr. Craig A. Ryder, Western Reserve '59, is assistant chief of orthopedics at the U. S. Public Health Service, Staten Island, N. Y.

Dr. Gerald Lee Miller, Jr., Wesleyan '64, received his M.D. degree from Northwestern in June and is serving a one-year rotating internship at Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago.

Charles R. Hoskins, Tennessee '62, has been promoted to personnel officer, local personnel, for the Citizens and Southern National Bank, Atlanta.

Clyde G. Haehnle, Cincinnati '45, vice president and technical assistant to the president of Avco Broadcasting Corp., Cincinnati, has been named chairman of the Association of Maximum Service Telecasters Technical Committee.

John Birmingham, Duke '61, of Oakmont, Pa., won his third straight Western Pennsylvania Amateur golf championship this summer.

same caliber as the Karnea delegates and as the men who contributed to the Rainbow Review, we can count on many meaningful contributions from them.

Left unresolved but still substantially a part of our future agenda is the direction of future programs for undergraduate chapters—programs better designed to meet the needs of today and tomorrow. Some of the material you read in the "Rainbow Review" throws out some challenges for us. What, indeed, is the physical plan of the chapter of tomorrow? What are the components of its program? How shall we satisfy the changing needs of undergraduates? How do we expect to relieve the pressures of time, the explosion of knowledge, the pressures of population? Today we have mostly questions—but tomorrow, with the help of the Undergraduate Council, the staff, and the Arch Chapter, we expect to have the answers.

To do well in any of our programs, it is of primary importance that we communicate regularly, adequately, and with understanding. Many of our problems in the past have been differences of understanding, not differences of opinion. Better communications can go far in minimizing these problems, and hopefully we shall be able to take a new look at this whole area through the eyes of skilled communicators.

In the area of communications, we are planning new vehicles for both alumni and undergraduates. More detail on these projects later, but a committee of professional communicators is already working on this.

We are now well into the 1968-69 academic year. We have, in the areas I have mentioned, a program. We have goals, rather flexible, but visible and understandable. We have a good team and a new set of rules in our new constitution under which we can operate. With these we expect to continue to mold Delta Tau Delta into its role befitting our time. We will build more new chapters, at a rate consistent with strength. We will provide undergraduate chapter programs designed by undergraduate thinking to fit undergraduate needs. We will provide avenues for alumni skills and capabilities to join these programs; and we will communicate these things more realistically to all our members.

One good way to communicate is via the written word. You can find my address in any Rainbow—and I shall value your thoughts and ideas.

The Karnea

General Chairman
Donald Kress,
Lafayette '48,
president of the Eastern Division, wears the official
Karnea welcome hat.

A Special Report

Retiring President Tom C. Clark opens the 1968 Karnea.

THE 69TH KARNEA of Delta Tau Delta opened at the Waldorf-Astoria with a welcome by Retiring President Tom C. Clark and a roll call of nearly 500 undergraduate and alumni delegates from 40 states and Canada. Martin B. Dickinson, Kansas '26, a former president of the Fraternity, was named parliamentarian, and committees were appointed to make recommendations on constitution and by-laws, chapters and charters, audit and finance, resolutions, time and place, and nominations. Delegates then heard reports from Fraternity officers who outlined progress made by the Arch Chapter and by each Fraternity Division during the past two years.

During the general sessions that followed, several changes were debated and voted into action. Foremost was a streamlining of constitutional procedure aimed at giving undergraduates a stronger voice in policy making. The change provides for the creation of an Undergraduate Council that will have an advisory responsibility and can review amendments proposed by the Arch Chapter.

At the final general session on August 29, the delegation elected Delta Tau Delta's slate of officers, headed by President Robert L. Hartford, Ohio '36.

Serving with him are DeWitt Williams, Washington '29, former treasurer, elected vice president; W. A. Andrews, Jr., North Carolina '20, re-elected second vice president; William P. Raines, Pittsburgh '48, re-elected secretary; Frederick D. Kershner, Jr., Butler '37, re-elected supervisor of scholarship; and Edwin L. Heminger, Ohio Wesleyan '48, treasurer. A vice president and general manager of the Findlay, Ohio, Republican-Courier, Ed Heminger is new to the Arch Chapter, but not to affairs of the Fraternity (see Distinguished Service Chapter Citations).

The New President

The Fraternity's newly-elected president has a record of service that extends back to his undergraduate days at Ohio University. Bob Hartford has headed alumni chapters at Pittsburgh and Cleveland and served as a trustee on house corporations of both his own Beta Chapter and of Zeta Chapter at Case Western Reserve University.

In 1955, Bob was elected to the Arch Chapter as president of the Northern Division, after serving for eight years as a Division vice president. Since then he has held positions of second vice president, secretary, and, for the past two years, vice president of Delta Tau Delta.

Executive vice president of the Penton Publishing Company, Cleveland, Bob Hartford is well known in industry as the publisher of Machine Design, the world's largest engineering magazine, and other publications. He has served as a trustee or director of many organizations, and currently is a director of his own company and of the American Business Press.

A former director of the Ohio University Alumni Association, he holds that organization's Certificate of Merit for service to his alma mater.

State of the Fraternity

As retiring president, Justice Clark told delegates that Delta Tau Delta will "continue to look ahead, seek new ways, develop new policies, and conduct progressive programs that will be commensurate with present day understanding."

Pointing to recent accomplishments, he said that the Fraternity has in many ways been a pioneer, "continually in the forefront with a modern field secretary system, an effective fiscal policy, an efficient Central Office organization, a high scholarship record, and a devoted brotherly service. In 1956, Delta Tau Delta removed all constitutional provisions restricting membership on the basis of race, color, or creed."

On the subject of campus revolts, he explained that "it is our hope to reverse the trend by encouraging all fraternity men to comply with valid university rules and regulations and at the same time strengthen the fraternity system both locally and nationally."

The retiring president emphasized the Fraternity's expansion program which has brought eight new chapters and six colonies during the past biennium.

Looking to the future, he called on alumni to increase their service to undergraduate chapters, explaining: "We are thankful and indebted to the loyal Delts everywhere who have served unselfishly as advisers, as Division officers, on house corporations, and on alumni committees. Without your dedicated service, our Fraternity would cease to function. But we need more men to give of themselves. If we could have a mere 300 interested and active Delt alumni evenly distributed among our active chapters out of the 62,000 living alumni, we would forever stand head and shoulders above our competitors."

CAREER DAY

Something new was added at the 1968 Karnea. Through the efforts of Karnea Chairman Donald Kress, the late Gilbert Clee, and several members of the New York committee, most of one day was devoted to a program designed to bring undergraduates in direct contact with leaders of business and industry.

Career Day began with a general session panel, moderated by Supervisor of Scholarship Frederick D. Kershner, Jr. Opportunities for college graduates to assume leadership roles in today's economic society were discussed by three panel speakers: Elbridge Haynes, president and chairman of Business International; Dr. James J. O'Leary, chairman of the board of the Lionel D. Edie Investment Company; and John W. Macy, Jr., chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Each of the men then answered questions from delegates.

In the afternoon, individual seminars were held throughout the hotel, with each delegate attending the one of his choice. Sessions and leaders were:

High Technology Product, Paul E. Strohm, Oregon '51, director of personnel, Components Division, International Business Machines.

Packaging, William M. Allin, Cincinnati '33, group vice president, and Warren J. Hayford, general manager, marketing, Continental Can Company.

Health Care Industry, H. M. Poole, Jr., Washington '40, director and a member of the Executive Committee, Johnson & Johnson.

Nearly 500 Delts and guests crowd Ballroom of Waldorf-Astoria for the traditional Karnea Banquet.

Toastmaster McCracken welcomes the group and introduces Fraternity officers.

THE CLIMAX of the Karnea brought Delts and guests together at the traditional banquet, held in the Grand Ballroom of the hotel. Presiding as toastmaster for the evening was G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh '21, vice chairman of Scholastic Magazine, Inc., and a former national president of the Fraternity.

Principal speaker of the banquet was Ward L. Quaal, Michigan '41, president of WGN Continental Broadcasting Company, whose address has been excerpted in the article on page 3. The welcome was presented by Donald G. Kress, Lafayette '58, president of the Eastern Division and general chairman of the Karnea.

One of the highlights of the evening was presentation of the Biennial Award for the highest scholastic standing achieved by a Delt chapter for 1965-67. The winner: Delta Alpha of the University of Oklahoma, with the highest rank in the entire Fraternity for the two-year period, second in percentile index above the all-men's-average for that period, and third nationally in cumulative grade point average.

Other high points of the program were presentations of Delta Tau Delta Achievement Awards and Distinguished Service Chapter Citations. Recipients are pictured on other pages in the Karnea Section of the magazine.

Dickinson, Kansas '26; and Arnold Berg, Indiana '32.*

AT THE Awards Luncheon on August 27, individual chapters were cited for outstanding scholastic accomplishments. Division winners for highest scholarship ratings were chapters from George Washington University, the University of Maine, Ohio Wesleyan University, and the University of Oklahoma. Scholarship improvement recognition went to chapters from Bowling Green State University, the University of Maine, George Washington University, and the University of South Dakota.

Principal speaker at the luncheon was the Rev. Robert Timberlake, Michigan '64, a junior at the Princeton Theological Seminary. Retiring President Tom Clark presided. Newly-elected President Robert Hartford introduced chapter advisers present, then made an award to Gamma Lambda of Purdue for the highest 1967-68 standing on the Fraternity Examination. Former National President Francis M. Hughes, chairman of the Distinguished Service Chapter Committee, introduced members of the DSC who were in attendance.

IT IS NOT always easy to look back upon a memorable experience in one's life and then testify to what made it so. The 1968 Karnea was such an occasion for me. And as I look back in retrospect to those five rewarding days in August, I see that the glamour of New York, the fellowship shared by a national brotherhood, and the organization and planning of the Karnea—all were a part of some vast plan to bring the meaning of Delta Tau Delta even closer to our hearts. But in my case, the New York experience was much more.

It was the distress of a youth from Texas who found himself helpless in the mechanized underground of the big city, aboard a subway, destination unknown. Yet, Manhattan seemed to look down from her 65-story windows with friendly arms and a sense of responsibility reserved for her guests.

It was the opportunity to meet with brothers from California, North Dakota, New Jersey, and Florida; to give and take ideas which might further build the Fraternity into a solid whole. And it was the hesitant acknowledgement of the delegate when he realized the existence of a Fraternity truly national and not a separate entity, individual and autonomous, as he had thought.

It was the opportunity to meet with Brother Tom Clark, a product of our own Gamma Iota. Our minds were permeated with his great wisdom and wit, and time and again I was held in awe by the presence of this man among men. To shake his hand was to feel an intimacy with the world.

But the success of the Karnea was dependent on many outstanding men whom we can only be too proud to call "Brothers." Don Kress bore the responsibility of planning the entire program and organization of the Karnea; and the highest compliment I might offer here to the entire Karnea committee would not be enough.

The Career Day opportunity, aside from being a very informative analysis of business involvement in the U. S. today, reminded us of our inalienable rights as Americans to pursue a chosen career and later reap the rewards of our pursuit.

The business meetings were designed to revise the present constitution—a responsibility borne by DeWitt Williams, treasurer and now vice president of the Fraternity. His suggestions and interpretations of necessary additions and amendments were instrumental in effecting a final document of which all Delts may boast.

So, from Greenwich Village to the Starlight Room of the Waldorf-Astoria, from the Playboy Club to the meeting halls of the Karnea, from Wall Street to Broadway—this was New York, the pride of the Hudson, heart of the huddled masses, and the hospitable host to the 1968 Karnea of the Fraternity.

Each year, Delta Tau Delta presents Outstanding Achievement Awards to alumni who have achieved distinction and outstanding accomplishments in their chosen fields of endeavor. At the 1968 Karnea, a record 17 awards were presented to outstanding Delts who have, by their records since graduation, contributed greatly to the name and honor of the Fraternity. Presentations were made at the Karnea Banquet, where these photographs were taken.

THE ALUMNI CHAPTERS=====

New Orleans

THE NEW ORLEANS Alumni Chapter held its very successful annual banquet September 20 at Kolb's German Restaurant, in conjunction with Beta Xi Chapter's rush week.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a plaque commemorating major contributors to the Tulane Delt Centennial Educational Fund.

Dr. Emile Naef, Tulane '13, was honored by the undergraduate chapter for being the oldest alumnus present for the banquet.

Washington

THE NATIONAL Capital Alumni Chapter continues to hold luncheons the third Monday of each month at O'Donnell's Sea Grill, 1221 E Street, N. W., where Bill Watts, Case Western Reserve '31, is manager.

Delts who recently have moved into the Washington area and those visiting the city are especially invited to attend these very interesting luncheons. We meet regularly at 12:15 p.m. and adjourn promptly at 1:30. There always is a group of the "faithful" and long-time members of the Fraternity who arrive early and remain after adjournment to enjoy the fellowship which always prevails.

At the August luncheon, Burr Christopher, Minnesota '28, and Tom Ezger, Washington '28, were named delegates to the Karnea, with the Hon. Loy Henderson, Stanford '17 and Eugene Thore, Lafayette '25, as alternates.

Then in September, Tom Eager and Larry Rojahn, MIT '46, reported on highlights of the Karnea.

Grady Brafford, Maryland '52, continues to serve as president of the chapter, doing an excellent job of presiding. During the past 10 years, more than 400 loyal Delts have contributed in excess of $10,000 to our chapter. We currently are planning a new roster of the more than 2,000 Delts on our mailing list. Our last was prepared in 1958 and several hundred Brothers have moved into the area since that time.

men from out of town and the intermittent local attendees make up an interesting group, which discusses various topics of current interest with no holds barred.

Cleveland Delts are proud and pleased with the election of Bob Hartford as national president. Congratulations also are in order for R. W. Cornell, a recipient of an Alumni Achievement Award at the Karnea.

Alumni Chapter President Ray Alford has left the city to work toward a doctorate at Rensselaer. The chapter now comes under the leadership of Dick Lowe, our capable vice president.

The social committee is probing possibilities of several Delt activities for the fall and winter. The date of our special Christmas luncheon has not been set, but it is expected that notices will be sent out soon.

GEORGE E. KRATT

Oklahoma City

THE OKLAHOMA CITY Alumni Chapter was honored to have Dr. J. Herbert Holloman, the new president of the University of Oklahoma, as its principal speaker at a cocktail supper July 26.

Over 30 members of our chapter heard Dr. Holloman express his candid view of the fraternity's system's relevance on the hypertensive college

Meeting in Denver

A group of 19 "old timers" from the University of Colorado got together at a recent luncheon in Denver, hosting U. S. Justice Tom C. Clark, who was attending a meeting of district attorneys in the city.

Others present were L. Allen Beck, Baker '09, and Arch H. Brenker, Nebraska '18. Ralph M. Wray, Colorado '20, the Fraternity's first field secretary, traveled from Washington for the occasion. William M. Williams, Colorado '19, promoted the event.

campus of today. Dr. Holloman also explained some of his plans for the future of the University of Oklahoma. We were all very encouraged by his remarks and the ideas he has proposed.

The Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter will be meeting each quarter. It is our intention to invite to each dinner a distinguished guest to speak on a topic of current interest. We encourage any Delt in the Oklahoma City area to contact the Secretary for the time and place of our next meeting.

ROLAND TAGUE
SECRETARY

Baton Rouge

THE BATON ROUGE Alumni Group is young, having been formed with Delts all over the country to help establish the recently installed Epsilon Kappa Chapter at L.S.U. Its functions during the past several years have been limited to looking at house plans and arranging the necessary financing. It was therefore a welcome change during September to host a banquet in honor of Tom Clark who came to Baton Rouge to dedicate the recently completed Shelter.

This was a gala occasion for all of the group who had worked so hard. It was the first time, too, that many of us and those in the active chapter, who also attended, had a chance to meet President Clark.

The Justice did not disappoint us, living up to the reputation for change he has achieved throughout the Fraternity. His words were at once complimenting and challenging, with emphasis on the latter. Both the alumni and actives received a new spirit and drive from his talk.

Lexington

DESPITE a series of afternoon thunderstorms, a midsummer Sunday evening picnic resulted in a turnout of 30 alumnus Delts in the Bluegrass, plus an almost equal number of wives. The gathering was held at a tree-sheltered, creekside cottage on the farm of Neil Sulier near Lexington, and the setting was delightful for such an affair. The size of the turnout, considering the rainy weather and deep mudholes that had to be traversed en route (because of parkway construction on the main access road), attests to the continuing high interest of Delts in the area in all fraternity functions.

The planning and promotion of the picnic were largely the work of Jerry Johnson, Kentucky '59, and Dr. John Perrine, Kentucky '56, or rather the efforts of their enthusiastic and attractive wives, and the success of the affair would seem to make it certain that they will be drafted to arrange one or more such parties every year.

Johnson recently was re-elected

Resident Scholars Appointed

TWO resident scholarship adviser grants have been made this fall from the Hugh Shields Memorial Fund. Recipients are Phil Gregg and Lee Foreman.

Initiated in 1967, the program provides financial assistance to Delts who have made outstanding scholastic records. At the same time, it helps undergraduate chapters through guidance provided by the adviser grants.

Phil Gregg received his B.A. degree from the University of Oregon in June. He is working on his Master's degree in speech, specializing in mass media research at the University. As an undergraduate, he served as recording secretary, vice president, and scholarship chairman of Gamma Rho. In addition, he was enrolled in the Honors College, was active in Campus Crusade for Christ, and was a Woodrow Fellowship nominee. He has received a traineeship in gerontology, sponsored by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Lee Foreman, who was graduated from Stanford in June with an A.B. degree, now is enrolled in the Law School there. He too was active in campus affairs, serving as a member of the student-faculty committee on financial aids. He was on the Judicial Council of Stanford-in-Britain, and took an active part in intramural athletics.

As resident scholars, the two young men receive cash grants of $500 each from the Fraternity. The house corporations at Stanford and Oregon provide room and board.

In return, the recipients are counseling undergraduates on an individual basis and working with officers to create improved scholarship programs.

The Hugh Shields Memorial Fund is built entirely on voluntary contributions from Delts and friends. It was created to provide a source of income that can be used to further scholarship among chapters. The resident scholarship adviser program is the first step in that direction.

Resident advisers are chosen from graduate Delt applicants who plan to continue their studies and who have proven academic proficiency and the ability to work with others.

AMERICA -- REBIRTH

government power. Business and professional men must act instead of react. They must seek solutions for all those problems that our government has tried for a very long time to solve without very marked success. We must learn to anticipate the changes that lie ahead. We must clean up our air and our water. We must devise and carry out programs to train the unemployable and eliminate the ghettos. We must exert moral leadership that takes the ball away from the extremists and disciples of violence and restores faith in our society.

Sixth, it follows that we must stop the ever-increasing size and influence of government. The report of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures discloses that civilian employment in the Federal establishment in June totaled 3,026,376, a gain of 95,350 employees over the previous month and "the highest civilian employment level since November, 1945."

These are some of the things we should do—must do. Alexis de Tocqueville, commenting on the stifling effect of governments, once wrote:

"The power of government covers the surface of society with a network of small complicated rules, minute and uniform, through which the most original minds and the most energetic characters cannot penetrate, to rise above the crowd. The will of man is not shattered but softened, bent and guided; men are seldom forced by it to act, but they are constantly restrained from acting. Such a power does not tyrannize, but it compresses, enervates, extinguishes, and stupefies a people, until each nation is reduced to nothing better than a flock of timid and hard-working animals, of which the government is the shepherd."

Not a very attractive alternative, is it, to the anarchy the radical activists would impose upon us? Fortunately, there is still time and opportunity to strike and maintain the delicate balance that lies between these two extremes. The responsibility is ours, and we cannot fail to accept it.

ALBION

Epsilon

Epsilon Chapter kicked off its fall season through the activation of 16 new members and the pledging of five more prospective Deltas. Hopes for the late fall and winter rush season are running high with anticipation of a spring pledge class of approximately 25. Such a large class will be welcome to Epsilon due to the graduation of 19 seniors this coming spring.

In athletics Epsilon's activity is widespread, with Deltas Phil Morrison, George Heinz, Jon Miller, and Jack Jones being respectively captains of Albion's varsity soccer, cross country, golf, and tennis squads. In intramural athletics Epsilon's football team sports a 3-1 record thus far with greater expectations for the rest of the season. Delt participation in other fall intramural sports also runs high with the possibility of Epsilon capturing the intramural All Sports Trophy.

The highlight of Epsilon's fall season was the visit of ex-Supreme Court justice and past national Delt President Tom Clark. Clark, hosted by Epsilon President Jon Miller and the rest of the Delt chapter during his October 16-18 visit, spoke to the Albion faculty and student body on "Creating an Imaginative Citizenry." Although his stay was short, Epsilon welcomed the chance to meet and be with such a man as Tom Clark; a great representative of the Delt spirit and philosophy.

With rush, athletics, and the visit of Tom Clark, Epsilon has begun its new year with both interest and excitement, and its members look forward to both a rewarding and eventful year for the Albion College chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

ALLEGHENY

Alpha

Alpha Chapter returned to Allegheny in September with the highest men's average on campus and the Interfraternity Athletic Trophy. According to Tyler Rich, '69, our sports chairman and the 1967 Football Coach of the Year, the Deltas can expect a repeat performance this year if the enthusiasm and participation is as great as in 1967-68. Already, the football, cross-country, volleyball, and golf squads are eyeing first place in these first-term sports. Scholarship chairman John Pedrotti hopes the first place sports ranking will also hold true in academics for this school year.

Sophomore Class President Larry Talamy led an impressive Freshman Orientation Week, assisted by Larry Chamberlain, Junior Class president. John Rowlingson and Bill Barr and Jim Fullerton, are freshman dorm counselors. In student government, Rowlingson still heads the Traffic Committee, Mick Bliss, chairs the Honor Committee, and the Publicity Committee is led by Bob Metting. Bob McGee is the Interfraternity Council President and the IFC Rush Chairman is Larry Dingle. Dingle and Harry Jefferies, the house rush chairman, promise a good pledge class, as the turnouts at Round Robins and Open Weekends seem to indicate.

Socially, our Prohibition Party was again the campus highlight it always has been. Homecoming featured a reception and buffet supper for our returning alumni and friends, and the freshman women's teas and a fall party rounded out an active first term for Allegheny's Deltas.

Epsilon Epsilon

Epsilon Epsilon Chapter is fighting hard to regain its position as the number one chapter in the Greek System at the U of A. Last summer, we put on a rush for quality, not quantity. Our hard work proved most successful during formal and informal rush. Of the 29 houses, we were seventh in quantity, but first in quality. The diversity of our new pledge class runs from straight A high school and college GPA's to varsity lettermen in tennis, football and wrestling. The two men that we have to thank for our good rushing are Ken Brooks and Bob Hagan.

To push further toward this goal of perfection, we have top men in the house's officer positions. The two newly elected men are Denton R. Hammond, VP, and Dan M. Remick, corresponding secretary. The other officers are Kenneth W. Brooks, president; James A. Wise, recording secretary; Rodney K. Corson, treasurer; and Rick St. Dennis, assistant treasurer.

Last semester the house was quite disappointed in its scholarship results. The Kentucky scholarship rules did not seem to fit our needs at the time. Therefore, we have gone back to our old rules and after having refined them, we hope they will prove to be as successful as in the past. Our scholastic goal this year is to win the scholarship award for the highest grade point average among the 29 fraternity pledge classes.

ATHENS

Epsilon Sigma

The coming year should be a good one for Epsilon Sigma. Our successful fall rush should increase the strength of our chapter; academically, politically, and socially. Our pledge class, totaling 19, is one of the best in recent years.

Recently the chapter held a Delt Migration to Auburn University for the Auburn Homecoming. The Epsilon Alpha Chapter invited the Brothers of our chapter for the weekend of October 24-26 to help "round-out" our social calendar as well as their calendar.

This past summer an alumni chapter was established in Huntsville, Alabama to keep interested alumni Brothers active within the Fraternity's structure. This alumni chapter will not only assist the Brothers of our chapter in many ways, but will depend on us to assist them. In connection with the formation of the alumni chapter, the Brothers of the Epsilon Sigma Chapter were invited to an all day get-together this summer, in order for the Brothers to become better acquainted with the alumni.

Recently the chapter held its election for sweetheart for the coming year. Miss Suzi Lauzon was chosen as the 1968-69 sweetheart. Suzi is a Junior at Athens College majoring in Business Education. Miss Lauzon's responsibility to the chapter will be to exemplify the Fraternity's image on campus.

AUBURN

Epsilon Alpha

By now you've probably heard about the fire and accompanying water damage which all but destroyed our Shelter last February.

While we lived in exile spring quarter, everyone was hard at work planning a complete rebuilding job which should have had us in an enlarged, air conditioned, and totally remodeled and refurnished house by September.

Unfortunately, unforeseen setbacks prevented completion in time for rush. (The carpenters didn't think the beer cans and 2x4's they threw down the drains would hurt, and the plumbers couldn't see anything wrong with ripping out a few walls, etc.—It looked like the foreman thought manual labor was a flamenco dancer.)

Evidently we weren't handicapped too much by the bare walls and lack of furniture. Our pledge class of 24 is one of the largest on campus, and of course the best!

Our success carries over to other activities also. We opened the intramural football season with a 26-0 romp over traditionally powerful Alpha Psi. In every way this looks to be the best year yet for Epsilon Alpha.

By the time you read this the Delt house will be completed, and rank with the finest on Auburn's campus. Right now we'll put up with a few inconveniences while the finishing touches are put on. The great feeling of being together again in our house and on the way to the top overshadows any present discomfort.

BAKER

Gamma Theta

The Gamma Theta Deltas completed last spring semester in fine style. We narrowly missed winning the intramural sweepstakes trophy, but captured firsts in bowling, B-basketball, golf, and track. Moving into varsity sports, Tom Miles broke the Baker University shot put record at the first meet of the season, the record previously being held by Gamma Theta Alumnus Mike Philpot. In social activities we ended the year with our annual Orchid Ball, with the crowning of Miss Cindy Horn as Delt Queen. To finish off an exceptional year, an outstanding Stag Night was held. Among our guests and the evening speaker was Western Division President Robert W. Kroening.

This summer, Gamma Theta was well represented abroad as Brothers Tom Miles, Jack Fisher, and Mike Haskins studied in England at the University of Exeter in Exeter, England.

The 1968-69 school year started off in fine fashion, as we took an outstanding pledge class of 18 men (two even came down from Canada).

On the football field, the Deltas are well represented with only one senior, starter Mike Frew, and great promise noted in the players from our pledge class.

The 79th Annual Delt Chicken Fry was held the weekend of September 28. We were pleased to have the alumni with us, and hope for an even better turnout next year.

JIM TURNER

BALL STATE

Epsilon Mu

The Brothers of Epsilon Mu have returned to Ball State this year anticipating great things for the Deltas. We have moved into our new Shelter and, thanks to Brother Dave Koehler, remodeling of the inside is nearly completed.

We are preparing for fall rush, Circus Feed, and Homecoming. Last year we initiated 23 fine men, and took second-place honors in Homecoming float competition, All-Greek Variety Show and Spring Sing. Also, Brother Tom Borshoff is serving as President of Ball State's chapter of Blue Key, national men's scholastic honorary. Brother Steve Brace has been appointed chairman of the "Youth for Nixon" campaign on our campus.

Finally, we would like to invite all of our Brothers to visit our new Shelter at 605 Riverside Avenue. Also, we add a special greeting to the Brothers of Epsilon Lambda.

BETHANY

Theta

The opening of school found Theta busy as usual and many of the Brothers still enthused with the recent Karnea. To start things off right, the Shelter was cleaned from top to bottom. Then we plunged into the fall rush season, eventually pledging ten excellent men. During this time, plans were completed for our First Annual Delta Tau Delta Par 3 Golf Classic, held September 28. All reports indicated a rousing success. On campus, Alan Hurley and many of the Brothers in the IRC are finishing plans for the Northern Appalachia Model United Nations to be held at Bethany in late November. Our advisor Dr. Schweinfurth has taken a sabbatical to tour South Africa, courtesy of the government. Dr. Roy Kirkpatrick, another member of the History Department, has joined our chapter as advisor.

After playing second best for five semesters, we finally won the Scholarship Cup for second semester of last year with a 2.704 GPA. Now we're working on the Intramural Sports Cup. So far we've a perfect season in football, but we might still win one game.

BOWLING GREEN

Delta Tau

Things are literally all new here at Delta Tau but with our confidence and a lot of hard work we have begun what appears to be a tremendous year.

The rush system here at Bowling Green University has been completely revamped to accommodate our first year on quarters. For the first time there was a need for extensive summer rush because of the new, informal nature of rush. The Brothers worked hard this summer under the dedication and leadership of Brother Jim Haklic and we gained a considerable lead on the other houses by taking 27 pledges in the first week of rush. We want to thank Mu Chapter for sending us such a fine, hard working Brother.

Also new here is our advisor. We were sad to see Brother Dean Wallace Taylor move on to higher places but he has been succeeded by another fine Brother, Ron Gargas. Alum Gargas heads the university television station, WBGU.

One other new thing to our chapter is the most improved grades trophy for our district. We sneak one in once in a while.

But the newest of all, and very proud of it we are, is our new Shelter. It has been completely rebuilt and refurbished after last year's fire. We commend Brother Paul Deffenbaugh for his hard work to have the Shelter ready in time for a new school year. We also hope the other fire stricken houses have been as fortunate as we are here at BG.

We sincerely hope the other chapters have a good year and we extend our congratulations to the newly chartered chapters.

JOHN COLLINGWOOD

BUTLER

Beta Zeta

Again last year, Beta Zeta was most successful. Behind the leadership of President Dick Lane we initiated 13 new members into the Fraternity. This fall with the guidance of Tom Lorch as rush chairman, we pledged 24 great men. This is one of the largest pledge classes on campus. Again last semester we were first in scholarship. This makes the sixth of the last seven semesters that we have been first on campus.

For the 1967-68 intramural season, we were second among all the men's housing units. We are expecting an even better season this year. In 1967 we placed third in the house decoration contest and hope to do better this year.

Our social season is also under way. In September we had an informal hayride and barbecue. After homecoming we are planning a costume party and our formal Christmas dance. The men of Beta Zeta Chapter feel that 1968-69 will be the best year ever.

CHARLES RITZ

BROWN

Beta Chi

The Brothers and pledges of Beta Chi returned to their ivy-covered halls at Brown University this September. The numerous improvements finished late last semester still brightened our quarters. The Brotherhood had saved diligently for four years to improve their quarters, and managed to completely revitalize the house without any outside financial assistance.

This year's social season started in fine style with a tri-house party in early October. The mood room has become a new center of attraction with its relaxing atmosphere.

Beta Chi is working hard to retain its supremacy in intramural sports. We have reached the playoffs in touch football, and have set off on the right foot in soccer and volleyball with many of our stronger sports yet to come.

Delt is well represented in intercollegiate sports. We boast the football captain, John "The Greek" Rallis, soccer co-captain George "Gerdtyz" Gerdts, and basketball co-captains Bruce "Modg" Moger and Bob "Purple Haze" Purvis. As well, we have eight starters on the football team, half the basketball team and numerous members of the soccer team.

Scholastically, the house has shown great improvement, with better than .1 increase in the house average.

The Delts are looking forward to another great year, and we are certain that many far-reaching improvements will be made in our system this year.

BRUCE PIERSTORFF

CALIFORNIA

Beta Omega

Rush this fall was of paramount success due to the organized all-out effort of active members. Led by our new rush chairman, Wayne Wilkinson, and House President Steve Harrold, we pledged 12 of the finest men on campus, with a diversity of interests both social and athletic.

Several of our new pledges will take part in varsity sports, including football, basketball, baseball, crew, water polo, swimming, and golf. We have a strong intramural team which ranked second last year and looks stronger this year. We also are looking forward to a full social program and a good scholastic showing.

JOHN DOREY

U.C.L.A.

Delta Iota

The coming year promises to be one of the best for Delta Iota. We lost very few members to graduation last spring, and thus have retained much of our strength and experience. In addition, we gained a spirited pledge class over the summer and fall rush periods.

Last year we were high in the top ten scholastically. This year we hope to raise our average even more. Our participation in intramural athletics also placed us near the top. Bob Baldwin is on the varsity crew team. Other members plan participation in other Varsity sports such as track, water polo, soccer and golf. Half of our pledges will be on Freshman teams.

Socially, we plan on having several exchanges, and, after the U.S.C. game, the Apache.

JOHN E. LEGRIS, JR.

CINCINNATI

Gamma Xi

The Delts at Cincinnati began summer rush this year intent on replacing a large, hard-working graduating class with an even larger, harder-working pledge class. Rush trips to Dayton, Columbus, and Cleveland initialed success to this goal.

At mid-summer, President Dick McCormick announced his selection by the Arch Chapter as special advisor to the chapter at Colorado University. He had helped lead the chapter to its third straight Hugh Shields Award. Terry Dunlap was later elected president to complete "Mac's" term of office and has since, along with Rush Chairman Joe Kormos, carried out Dick's philosophy of hard work and more hard work.

Just as the makings of a great pledge class began shaping up this fall, the news arrived that Gamma Xi had not only won the overall Intramural Trophy on campus, but also achieved the highest scholastic average of all chapters for 1967-68, 2.7117 out of 4.000.

This is a big year at Cincinnati since every campus affair will be geared to a Sesquicentennial theme. Our goal at Gamma Xi? Simply to work even harder this year than last and to achieve even greater things individually as well as fraternally.

JOHN PURCELL

CORNELL

Beta Omicron

The Delts at Cornell started the fall off in the right way by initiating 25 new Brothers into the chapter. Four of this pledge class, including Steve Torrano, Carmen Costellauo, Art Cobb, and Tom Danosky were on the Dean's List for the 1967-68 academic year. Upper classmen making the Dean's List included Tim Stonescipher, Glenn Burkland, and Allen Britten.

We are happy that a number of graduating seniors have returned as graduate students this year. The fall has been a very busy social season with a number of football weekends, a visit from former National President Thomas Clark, and the annual Freshman Tea. We are happy to say that the house has withstood another test during the annual Fall Weekend.

Rush has recently started in November. We see that it is progressing well and we hope to take another large, healthy pledge class.

G. EDWARD FIELDER

DUKE

Delta Kappa

Delta Kappa fall activity has commenced with a thrust of activities and enthusiasm. Several Brothers returned early to redecorate the chapter room; and complete a 10 ft. by 4 ft. wooden outdoor sign with the Fraternity letters in gold leaf. The highlight of the fall social schedule will be our annual Western Weekend.

Many Brothers will again be participating in the fall sports soccer, rugby and golf. Craig Tymeson, neophyte from Sao Paulo, Brazil, is expected to again lead the soccer team's scoring figures.

The chapter's most important representation in campus leadership will be Kerry Roche's activities as president of the Duke Interfraternity Council.

We have been visited by Southern Division President Bill Fraering who is assisting us in our attempt to move fraternities out of dorms and into off-campus houses. This project will be the Delt's most significant contribution to fraternity life at Duke.

PHILIP KRONE

EAST TEXAS STATE

Epsilon Eta

The East Texas Delt will proudly host the 1968-69 Western Division Conference to be held in Dallas, Texas in the spring. Committees have been set up and are working hard to make this year's conference more enjoyable and educational than ever.

We finished last spring by leading all national fraternities on campus in scholarship. We sponsored our annual Delt Relays and won second place. One week later, we won the Greek Relays. Delt took first place in originality and performance for the third straight year in Sing-Song. Bob Hughes was named "Ugly Man on Campus."

Other notable achievements are: Jerry Ashby was chosen "All-School Favorite," two Delt are Memorial Student Center Board directors, Gregg Hanson plays varsity golf, and Skipper Steely was named editor of All-Alumni Publications for the Ex-Student Association.

We had more representation than any other chapter attending the Karnea except Stevens, the host chapter. Larry Howell served as Resolution Committee chairman at the Karnea.

This fall the Delt have started etching their name on campus, pledging 14 young men, more than any other fraternity on campus. Added to the 10 pledges we picked up in open rush last May, we will have a total pledge class of 24. Stump Weatherford was recently named Western Week King after collecting over $500 for East Texas' Orphan's Day.

GREG G. ATKINS

"Conquest of the Incas" was theme of Beta Epsilon's house decoration that took first prize in the annual Spring Lawn Display competition at Emory.

EMORY

Beta Epsilon

Last spring, for an unprecedented second straight time, the Brothers of BE were able to capture first place in the annual Dooley's lawn display and dramatic competition. In addition to this first, the Delt were awarded Emory's Humanitarian Award for 1967-68. Consequently, though very happy, the Brothers were not surprised when the campus sororities also voted them a member of the "big three" outstanding fraternities on campus.

Building on this background and on an excellent fall pledge class, the chapter is striving for further advancement in all areas. We are already planning to serenade the Wesley Woods old folks' home, and to establish a close, working relationship with a nearby orphanage. Having already begun a special speed-reading study course, administered by an alumnus-educator, Mr. Judson Sapp, the Brothers have determined to show appreciation in general to their alumni by holding a special "Alumni Rush Day," preceded by visits by pledges and their big Brothers to all local alumni.

In areas of personal achievement, Rush Chairman Harry Brooks was selected to ODK and DVS (a seven-man Emory honorary), as well as elected vice president of both the College Council and the Student Center Board. Brother Doug Silvis was elected to the Student Government Association, and made a Student Center Board chairman. Brothers David Black and Pat Crenshaw have been named to the associate editorships of the Emory yearbook and the Emory literary magazine, respectively. And Brother Doug Martin has been elected vice president of Emory's chapter of DSRTKA, the national debaters' honorary society. Meanwhile, Delt Pete Jensen, Ed McGee, Ed Rothbauer, and David Shaw recently has swept a local dormitory election.

FLORIDA

Delta Zeta

The start of the 1968-69 school year found Delta Zeta buzzing with activity and anticipation of another great year to come.

Through leadership and the co-operation of spirited Brothers, an extensive rush program produced a pledge class of 46, each with extreme potential. Thanks go to Brother Ralph Eriksson for a tremendous job as chairman.

Politically, Bob White is running for president of the Union Board, the top seat in the upcoming fall elections. In addition to Bob, Brother Jerry Klufft is running for a seat in the Student Senate. Bill Wack holds down the position of assistant general chairman of Homecoming with seven other Delts holding executive positions. In Homecoming competition the Delts are looking forward to their fifth straight win.

In athletics, Delts Jim Hadley and Britt Skrivanek are again maintaining starting positions on the Florida football team. Brother Bernie Smith and pledge Danny Shipp are competing for positions on the Florida NCAA championship golf team. In addition to these varsity athletes, the Delts anticipate another strong year in intramurals.

JIM LARSEN

FLORIDA STATE

Delta Phi

Summer rush this year was great! Delta Phi conducted rush parties in Tallahassee and Miami, which helped rush considerably. We also used a rush film this year which is still the talk of campus.

Last year was a big one for us. We finished third in intramurals after taking second in volleyball and track and winning the basketball championship. Also, last spring brought the first edition of our new alumni paper, The Delt Bull. After receiving personal recognition from the Governor for our homecoming skit, we ended the year with a "King Arthur's Feast" Weekend, and later with the presentation of our annually sponsored Sorority of the Year Award—this year going to Kappa Alpha Theta.

Perhaps the year's greatest achievement, due to our new study hall program, was placing second among fraternities in grades, which was also above the All Men's Average. For this accomplishment we received a trophy for being No. 1 in most improved grades for the year.

In August half of Delta Phi Chapter worked together as Chauffeurs and Security Guards for the GOP Convention in Miami Beach. Later that month Delta

Sorority of the Year Award is presented by Tom Panza, president of the Florida State Delt Chapter, to Kappa Alpha Theta's president.

Phi went to New York and the Karnea along with a few "This is Delt Country" bumper stickers.

We are currently looking to a good year with a Gala Alumni Gathering planned for Homecoming.

GENERAL MOTORS INSTITUTE

Epsilon Iota

The men of Epsilon Iota Chapter will continue to strive for chapter excellence in hopes of capturing the Most Outstanding Fraternity on Campus award for the third consecutive year. New dormitories at GMI have brought new challenges to the rushing programs and economic strength of the chapter.

The A-section Brothers have captured points in the tennis and badminton tournaments. Prospects are very good for repeating a victory in the basketball tournament.

Our community service work will continue with the YMCA Boy's Farm. This is a retention home for delinquent boys of up to 16 years of age. Those students which desire help are tutored by the members of Epsilon Iota. By winning the "Ugly Man Contest," the chapter was able to contribute over $400 to the March of Dimes. The fraternity which collects the most money for its charity wins the contest and all money collected goes to this charity.

Epsilon Iota always has several "irons in the fire" with respect to improvements around the house and grounds. The most recent project was a major one—that of resurfacing the circle drive. Several hard winters had left the original blacktop surface severely broken up and filled with ruts. Several inches of concrete were put in to provide not only a long lasting, but a pleasingly attractive circle drive. Shrubbery, a new chapter sign, and a hearty growth of grass within the circle join with the renovated driveway in giving the rear of our Shelter quite a beautiful appearance.

GEORGE GRIFFITH

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Gamma Eta

Gamma Eta Chapter continued its winning ways by capturing its seventh straight intramural championship in athletics. This establishes the longest winning record in the university's history, and last year's was by the largest margin in recent years. First place trophies were won in all three football leagues, ping pong, foul shooting, badminton, wrestling, and B League softball.

Delta Tau Delta's George Washington University chapter had Brothers participating in every phase of campus life. Student Council, the school newspaper, The Hatchet, Order of Scarlet, and the Interfraternity Council are only a few of the organizations in which Delts played a vital part. One "brother" of whom Gamma Eta is especially proud is GWU's Homecoming Queen, Miss Karen Kroeson, the 1967-68 Delt Queen.

Greek Week, a spirited competition between fraternities in athletic contests, special events, and community service projects, was captured by Delts, along with the Pan Hel Sing Trophy.

Each year Rainbow climaxes the Delt social season. Rainbow 1968 found the Gamma Eta Chapter and dates on the shores of the Atlantic, for a spirited weekend at Ocean City, Maryland. In the spring, a new concept of fraternalism entered into Gamma Eta's brotherhood, as the members took a retreat into the woods of Maryland to look at themselves and the world. There, Brotherhood became more than just a word, and the bonds that bind Delta Tau Delta were strengthened as never before.

GEORGIA

Beta Delta

The Brothers of Beta Delta Chapter returned this fall to the University with its largest number of returning Brothers in its history. The chapter then participated in fall upperclassman rush and landed the third largest pledge class on campus with 21 pledges. The chapter was then accepted by the University to participate in a trial pledge program whereby there will be a shortened pledge program with a pledgship of seven weeks with initiation coming before Thanksgiving.

This past summer Beta Delta Chapter was represented at the Karnea by Bill Lee, Bill Decker, and Goree Waugh. Our alumni representative was the distinguished Dean of Men of the University of Georgia, Dean William Tate.

This fall Beta Delta will assist the colony at Georgia Southern in their rush. The men of Beta Delta are looking forward to helping the colony get on its feet and become a strong chapter of the Fraternity.

Last spring the chapter, at its annual Rainbow formal and banquet elected Miss Bond Snowden of Sigma Kappa Sorority as their new sweetheart. The Brothers of Beta Delta are indeed proud to have Bond represent us as our sweetheart.

Remembering the Tampa conference last spring, the Brothers of Beta Delta join in saluting our late-night swimming field secretary, Doug Croth, on his recent marriage.

GEORGIA TECH

Gamma Psi

After an exhausting rush, Gamma Psi Chapter now boasts 38 new pledges. This successful rush started fall quarter off right here at Georgia Tech.

Of course our newly remodeled house is also helping spirit here. Due to a loan from the Loyalty Fund we were able to fix up the dorm sections and the kitchen.

We are now on our way to winning another Scholarship Improvement award. Last spring we placed fourth in scholarship out of 28 fraternities, and were over the all-men's average for the fourteenth consecutive year. Also the Tech Delts finished fourth in competition for the coveted Inter-Fraternity Council trophy, a trophy which we had won in the preceding year.

In the interest of furthering brotherhood, 10 Tech Delts visited the Duke Chapter to watch the Tech Yellowjackets crush the Blue Devils. Oh, how the skins pile up!

Beta Alpha

The Brothers of Beta Alpha have fun, but we also have more. We strengthen our brotherhood through our social program of hayrides, bonfires, house dances and movies, and any other kind of enjoyment imaginable. We broaden our own life and understanding of people through University activities such as class councils, on which we have members in each class; student foundation; YMCA, in which Brother C. Ritchie is vice president; Model United Nations, in which Brother C. Zoeller is secretary general; and others.

We offer the opportunity to Brothers to meet important University and national figures by having them as speakers and figures by having them as speakers and guests at the house. Also we have initiated a progressive pledge program for the 32 pledges gathered by Rush Chairman Dave Twiggy during the summer. Thus, the Brothers of Beta Alpha await a year of learning, work, and fun.

Beta Upsilon

It's been an interesting 14 months since our Shelter was completely destroyed by fire. In that time, we had the pleasure of sharing our living quarters in two dilapidated rooming houses with a horde of termites, roaches, and mice. Hot water was an unknown commodity—we had two showers for 45 of us. Try that on a Saturday night! We had a little trouble with our furnace, but after working on it all winter, we finally got it working in early May. Our electrical system was also a little touchy—two coffee pots plugged in at the same time shorted the whole thing out. Anyway, we found out what Brotherhood REALLY is.

Now we're housed in an honest-to-gosh ex-sorority house (minus girls) of fairly recent vintage. We've spent the first two months of this semester becoming reacquainted with electricity, hot water, and bug-free rooms. Plans have not yet been finalized regarding permanent housing, but we expect to know within the next two months.

Last spring's formal rush coupled with an aggressive summer rush has netted us 15 of the best pledges on campus. This year we're trying to improve our third out of 57 standing in Fraternity intramurals.

Socially, this year promises to be outstanding. Last year we were limited to having all our exchanges at the girls' sorority houses. This year we are once again able to have parties at our own temporary Shelter.

JACK FREDRICKSON

ILLINOIS TECH

Gamma Beta

The Delts at I.I.T. started off the spring semester going great guns in basketball and expecting to win again. Unfortunately, we lost the final game by four points in 10 minutes of overtime. Three starters fouled out in third and fourth quarters.

IFC's Greek Week saw the Delts settle for a two point loss out of 105 points and take a second. Same story in softball. Three points in the final game. Another second. Though we didn't take our usual firsts we remained on top with our three seconds overall.

The highlight of the semester was the honor of initiating the new chapter at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee. The Brothers of Gamma Beta all worked hard and did a fine job.

We closed off an excellent social semester, under Social Chairman Bob Englehardt, with our annual Parent's Weekend. Both parents and Brothers enjoyed the weekend thoroughly.

We came back in the fall and opened the semester with the initiation of five men who made grades in the spring. A week of cleanup followed by a week of rushing netted 25 pledges.

MICHAEL CURTIS

IOWA STATE

Gamma Pi

The Iowa State Delts completed a strenuous summer rush when we pledged 23 men on September 6. Our shelter houses 39 men and with seven carry-over pledges from last year, there is only room for nine actives to live in, most of them being officers. With over 40 men living in off-campus apartments, we have an obviously over-crowded situation. With the help of our alumni we hope to alleviate this problem when we start construction on an addition to our Shelter in the spring.

On September 29 we initiated six of our carry-over pledges.

We also ask the rest of the Brothers to mourn with us the death of one of our most active alumni and past National Presidents W. H. Brenton. Besides his service to the National, he was also instrumental in building our present Shelter 15 years ago.

Gamma Tau

After finishing second on the hill in grades last semester, we at Gamma Tau turned our attention to summer jobs and summer rush. Rush went well, and during the summer we took 14 rushees. During rush week we pledged an additional three men to bring the pledge class membership to 17. The active chapter is quite enthusiastic about our pledges and their potential.

Country Club week (enrollment) was our one last fling before settling down to studies and other school business. Country Club ended on Saturday night with the traditional Passion Party.

With aid of the Mothers Club and Brother Horigan's carpentry skills, we are redoing our library. Brother Epp is reorganizing the files, and the chapter is planning to add more books. Hopefully, from this project, will come a comfortable, quiet room for studying.

Our IM football schedule began with a 26-0 victory over the Sig Ep's. Although Brothers Wolff, Martin, and Jeserich, are out for the season with ankle injuries, the season still looks promising. Hopefully with our razzle dazzle play we will be able to completely confound our opponents.

LEHIGH

Beta Lambda

A well coordinated spring rush program once again contributed to an already diversified house. The addition of nine members from the very top of the freshman class has enabled Beta Lambda to establish itself as the number one fraternity on the Lehigh campus. With the rise of Delts to distinguished positions in the scholastic, athletic, and social worlds, virtually every area of campus life has been touched by the Delt spirit.

Such varsity starters as Pete Tomaino, George Mears, Mike Leib, and Ron Mat-alavage in football, Frank Jones in swimming, and Butch Laubenstein in soccer have provided a most encouraging athletic picture. The possibility of an All-University intramural football championship also adds to the brightness of the picture.

The Lehigh Delts also continue to lead the way in student government. Junior Jim Baxter and sophomore Chuck Kreidler now hold important posts in their respective class cabinets while junior John Schroedel is an active member of the Interfraternity Council. The rest of the Brotherhood does its part by serving on various campus improvement committees.

As always, the semester will revolve around our social calendar, with only academics taking priority. If the success of our Parents' Weekend (October 5-6) is any indication of times to come, the Brothers can look forward to a highly eventful semester.

MAINE

Gamma Nu

Among events that has made Gamma Nu successful as a fraternity in 1968 was the capturing of top honors in Greek Weekend competition in the spring and repeating in the fall.

Jamaica, Greek Weekend, parties, and a pledge-Brother outing topped the social scene. Harry Price was named as one of Maine's soccer captains for 1968. Steve Guptill was named to Phi Beta Kappa. Two members were named to Senior Skulls, the highest non-academic honor at the university. They were Paul LeBlanc and Albert Hodsdon. Three sophomores were named to Sophomore Owls, a similar society for that class. They were Bruce Holmes, Dennis Hogan, and Greg Stevens.

Rush is now underway and our success as described here is proving very beneficial in that respect.

MARYLAND

Delta Sigma

The Delta Sigs of Maryland are looking forward to another successful year and another great pledge class. Rush is only at the midway point and we already have over 25 prospective Brothers. On top of their fine academic capabilities, many of our new men represent the Delts in the major fall and winter sports (including wrestling, football, and basketball) at the freshman and varsity levels.

The pledges and Brothers are joining forces this year to build one of the strongest intramural football teams in the history of the chapter. In pre-season competition we have gone undefeated including a decisive victory over last year's interfraternity champions.

In the journalism department, we are fortunate to have several Brothers working on the Diamondback, and the Greek, the two major campus newspapers.

At Homecoming, the Delts put forth their time and efforts for another winning cause. After winning the float competition for an unprecedented three years in a row, the Brothers sacrificed a fourth attempt in order to collect money for the St. Jude's Children's Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee.

MIAMI

Gamma Upsilon

The fall term at Gamma Upsilon brought activation of 20 men with 11 being pledged, a great new house mother, Mom Atchley, and a scholastic improvement of six places over the previous academic term. In addition, a second place was garnered in the Homecoming Float competition, as well as an excellent showing in all Greek Week events.

Social Chairman Bill Brock has outlined a fabulous program for the fall term, which will be highlighted by the Christmas Formal. "Lost Weekend" was a splashing success.

Brother John Mantz reports that approximately 100 alums came for Homecoming on October 5. The House Corporation met on that day and approved the final plans for the new Shelter. With the cooperation of our excellent alumni, groundbreaking should occur in April.

Special recognition goes to Mom Leudke, who faithfully served Gamma Upsilon for 12 years, and to Brother Herm Keiser who finished first in the Mid-American Conference in golf.

Ron Richardson of Middletown, Ohio, was the one thousandth initiate of Delta Tau Delta at Miami University.

MICHIGAN STATE

Iota

Michigan State University's Iota Delts began the 1968-69 academic and fraternal year on September 23 as the Brothers returned to the Shelter one week prior to the start of classes in order to plan and participate in the chapter's annual fall retreat. Spirit and enthusiasm were high when the men finally departed for a "reuniting weekend" at the lake-side resort of Grand Haven, Michigan. The warm September sun lent a sharp contrast to the icy waves of a Lake Michigan swim while the steady shouts of a beachside football game created an atmosphere of enjoyment and relaxation.

The minds of the Brothers, however, were soon to turn to more serious veins of thought as the University began its fall class schedule on September 26. Ten neophytes were also welcomed by the chapter on this date as they completed the transition from pledge to Delt.

For the first time in the history of the school, first-term freshmen were allowed to rush and pledge fraternities and thus be able to enjoy the fruits of Greek life.

The Iota men and their 18-man pledge class look forward to another progressive and fulfilling year.

Graduate Assistantships

The Ohio State University has announced that graduate assistantships for 1969-70 are available in student personnel work, through counseling psychology, guidance, higher education, and other disciplines. ## MISSOURI AT ROLLA

Epsilon Nu

With a fine summer rush now behind us, EN Chapter finds itself facing the possibility of expansion. Backed by a fine pledge class of 22 men, the chapter has had a hard time placing people. The situation will become even worse next year when we expect to lose only two men to graduation and marriage. This situation however has not caught the chapter unaware, for many plans have been made and many possibilities explored.

Perhaps the most significant part of this expansion program is the necessity of a flexible but clear framework. Many things that before went unnoticed are now being revised to conform to the new demands placed upon them. Under the pressure of these trying times things that were unsound or inappropriate give way and must be replaced or revised. This we feel is the ultimate test of our organizational framework and with our revisions it seems to be holding up.

The delightful dilemma of expansion is not an easy one to face, but it is a most awakening one. Awakening of both spirit and concern that together will lead this chapter into the eventual greatness its founders and members feel it deserves. Now, however, is when the problems of tomorrow must be met and greatly checked. This is the ultimate challenge of our organization.

Beta Tau

Beta Tau looks forward to another outstanding year following a successful rush week. We pulled 21 fine men out of rush week and expect to add several more during the year.

The newest addition to the Shelter this year is Mom Moore, who has won the respect and admiration of all the Delts within a very short period of time. Her presence this year will undoubtedly be a great asset to Beta Tau Chapter.

Optimism has never been higher as the intramural campaign approaches. After a slightly better than average first semester last year, we came back with firsts in volleyball and track, seconds in wrestling and softball, and thirds in tennis and swimming, to complete a fine second semester and a fourth overall finish among 27 fraternities. We intend to do much better this year.

Scholarship is another area of Delt achievement at Nebraska. We had an excellent second semester last year, enabling us to finish fourth among all fraternities.

With the help of a new scholarship program we have initiated for our pledge class, Beta Tau expects to improve its ratings.

Socially, the Delts have been going full steam ahead as several cave parties, off campus parties, and a Psycho-Deltic party have been held. Also planned is the annual "How the West Was Lost" party following the Missouri football game.

NORTH DAKOTA

Delta Xi

It's back to school again as Delta Xi plans another rewarding year. During the summer our living room was redecorated with new furnishings to prepare us for formal rush in which we pledged 10 men. Preparing informal rush parties, we have increased the membership to 15 in one week and we hope to exceed 25 by the end of the semester.

Delta Xi's Sweetheart, Sandy Gronowski, had a very interesting summer when she won the bathing suit competition and first runner-up at the Miss North Dakota Pageant. Sandy was also the honorary guest at the Miss Minnesota Pageant.

This year we have a new house mascot. His name is Vigo and he is a 120-pound, fawn-colored, Great Dane puppy, who could reach 200 pounds by the time he is full grown. Besides eating anything he can get his paws into and running off every other day, most of the Brothers generally agree that he has the "run of the house."

On the agenda this fall we are planning an active participation in Homecoming and Greek Week, hoping to win more first place honors in the float division. Later, our Parents-Alumni day will bring many Delts to the campus to reminisce of the days past.

Beta

The men of Beta Chapter are once again looking forward to a successful year in all their endeavors, even though they face the hardship of not having a shelter for the next seven months. The Brothers are living together, however, anxiously awaiting the completion of their new Shelter.

The fall intramural season finds Beta Chapter ranked high in the football standings. At present, our football team is undefeated and are favorites to take the league crown. Beta Chapter also looks strong in other upcoming sporting events this fall.

At present, two Beta Chapter men, Jim Spitalny and Randy Kahn, are on the varsity soccer team. We are further represented in OU sports by Bill Mills, who is a member of the track team. Further representation in campus life is given us by Carl Petre who is presently a leading disc jockey on OU's radio station and by Encke King, who is to play a leading role in a Shakespeare theater play.

The men of Beta Chapter are presently engaged in fall rush. With the Brothers as psyched as they are, we have high hopes for another excellent pledge class.

OHIO STATE

Beta Phi

The most remembered event of spring quarter was our annual formal. It was at the formal that several of the Brothers were honored for their outstanding contributions to our chapter. Jim Williamson received the Mr. Delt award, Vin Doria snatched the Intramural trophy out of the grasping hands of Jay Basil, Wally Geiger was recognized for his numerous campus activities, Terry Hoseawful, who is leaving later this month for the Coast Guard, nailed down the Screw award, Bruce Achinbach finally got his just reward for being such a model pledge, and the award for most improved scholar was presented by Mrs. Hubbard to her son, Ted.

A trophy for service, The Fifth Pillar Award, went to Tom Calhoon, Jim Lewis, Dale Donaldson, Gary Gensheimer, Jim Davis, Tom Hudson, Rich Jeremiah, and an honorary award to Mom Barnes. The night was brightened by the radiance of our Sweetheart, Marilyn Marcey, and her court, Jeanne Capanegro, Sue Dobbs, Sue Meeth, and Sue Morton.

Our intramural record was boosted by Ray Michel's, alias Vince Doria, performance in securing third place in the track meet. Other spring quarter accomplishments were finishing first in bowling, second in swimming, and placing four softball teams in the final division. Bud Clark, Eric Grulke, Jim Conroy, and Dave Grulke should also be recognized for being tapped by men's honoraries.

Fall quarter is just beginning but several key events have already taken place. House Corporation carpeted and wall-taxed the upstairs halls.

KEITH H. BROOKS

OHIO WESLEYAN

Mu

If Mu Chapter can pick up where it left off last spring, a very successful year is in store for the Brothers. Fine scholarship, a chapter tradition, again was very much in evidence as last year's final standings showed DTD second among Wesleyan's 13 fraternities. The Brothers also did well on the intramural field with a fourth-place finish that could have easily been second.

Delts currently are serving in some of the most responsible positions held by students on the OWU campus. Dan Hall is president of IFC, while Bill Marks is treasurer. Steve Jackson is serving ably as campus social chairman. Mike McCluggage and Dan Hall have been inducted into ODK, an organization perhaps more prestigious than Phi Beta Kappa.

The Brotherhood was well represented in spring-term varsity athletics. Captain Keith Walker, Dave Eyrich, Dave Gardner, and Chris Dutton starred for the Bishop baseball team. Captain Jon Leibach led the tennis team, while John Koegel added punch to the lacrosse attack.

Last year at this time we predicted an undefeated season for the 1967 OWU football team, even though the Bishops still had five tough games to play. Needless to say, they swept them all behind the strong right arm of All-Conference and All-Delt quarterback Dick Cromwell. At the time this was written the 1968 Bishops were 3-0, and we would like to go on record with the same prediction.

OKLAHOMA STATE

Delta Chi

Delta Chi Chapter returned to school after an active summer of hard rush and good fun. Summer Rush Chairman Bill Peacher put 13,000 miles on his car, driving endlessly to the scattered rush parties while "campaigning" for our chapter. This undying effort for our Fraternity is one good reason for Brother Peacher being elected outstanding man of our chapter.

At the close of rush week, Delta Tau Delta had captured 22 outstanding rushees of the summer. Also, before school got underway, we initiated eight spring pledges. With a full house, Delts are looking forward to a busy year of fun and scholarship. We entered homecoming festivities with the women of Delta Delta Delta and hope to capture the first-place trophy for our third year in a row with our beautiful float engineered by Brother Bill Perkins.

We have initiated several new programs at Oklahoma State this year. One, a computerized scholarship program, shows the house's expected grade average from week to week. Another is our monthly speaker program, in which we have a guest speaker at the house once a month for an hour or so. Both promise to be worthwhile programs.

Prominent Delts on campus include

John Paul Gray and Rick Douglas, officers of the university President's Council. Once again, Delts have taken over the cheerleading squad—Douglas, Allen, Atherton, Holt, and pledges Gibson and Byers. Larry Lilly is new president of Engineering Club and outstanding athlete of the chapter is Reid Allen.

Another outstanding person at our house is our lovely new hostess, Mrs. MoiRay Thomas. Mom Thomas has won a very tender spot in the hearts of all of the men by being so gracious, warm, and attractive. We are quite proud of this wonderful addition to our house and we only wish every Delt could get to know her.

OREGON

Gamma Rho

With the second largest pledge class on campus, and 20 of them initiated, the Gamma Rho Delts have made great advances this year. The year started off with a smashing 28-0 thrashing of Delta Lambda in the proverbial Ber-Bowl football game. By the way, we are still waiting payment for the three kegs from our slow bros at OSU. Soon after, five beautiful girls were chosen for our new court, followed by the traditional serenading.

As Christmas rolled around, we teamed up with the Tri-Delts and threw a big bash for the underprivileged kids in the area. Tom "Uncle Bulgy" Connelly played Santa Claus and provided a good laugh for all on hand. As winter term began, initiation took place, and the new members were soon adding many ideas to the chapter. All house elections were next in line as the "Golden Era" of Tom Connelly came to a close. Gary "Guilo" Gilman was chosen as the new president. To help him in his reign were, Rod Martin, VP, and Tim "Nickel-Dime" Davis, house manager.

In February, we were host to the Western Division Regional Conference. Twelve chapters, from Washington to Arizona, attended and added to the overall success of the conference. Such distinguished guests as Al Sheriff and De Williams also attended and enlightened the exchange of ideas.

Gamma Rho was also honored in many other ways. Past President Tom Connelly was bestowed with the Richard A. Sorenson, "Fraternity Man of the Year" award. The house made top grades on campus winter term. Our financial picture has stabilized greatly with its increased awareness in the chapter. Plans for a new addition, including a new kitchen, dining room, and sleeping porches, are solidifying as of the moment.

Delta Lambda

The future looks bright for Delta Lambda Chapter this year despite the trying times facing the fraternity system in general. Due to the superb job done by our rush chairman and the Brothers our new pledge class of 24 is one of the best in chapter history. They come to us with an average high school GPA of 3.20 with 95 percent having lettered in at least one high school sport and 45 percent having held an elective student body office. They have vowed to have the best pledge class grades on campus and to win the Thane Trophy given to the best pledge class at OSU. In pursuit of this goal three pledges will play freshman sports and all of the others have become active in at least one campus committee including Memorial Union (MU) Special Events, Homecoming Bonfire, and MU Movies committees. Three pledges will perform in band and choir.

The pledges will have to go all-out to keep up with the membership, however, who boast the following on-campus activities this year: ASOSU Senator; chairmanships of a Homecoming, MU Movies, Student Insurance, IFC Rules, and ASOSU Public Relations committees; Blue Key and Thanes men's honoraries; vice president of the OSU Bookstore Board of Directors, OSU Band, West Coast championship men's drill team (Navy), Varsity Rally, and seven positions on varsity athletic teams. In addition to these and numerous lesser committee position the OSU Delts practically publish the Beaver, the OSU annual, singlehandedly. The editor, business manager and assistant, layout editor and assistant, Greek and military editors are all Delts!

With our super pledge class and active membership this year should be a great one for Delta Tau Delta at Oregon State.

PITTSBURGH

Gamma Sigma

Gamma Sigma is looking forward to another successful fall term. Bolstered by 21 new pledges, the Brothers expect to retain their high position on campus.

In the chapter itself, Tim Carey is our new treasurer. Tom Cahalan put in much effort as rush chairman. Steve Baldwin is steward, Ron Schiding athletic chairman, Bob Gow pledge president. Bill Schaaf is in charge of alumni relations and Bob Loughery is Homecoming float chairman.

Several Brothers are also active on the university scene. Gene Scanlon is Homecoming chairman; Bruce Searfoss stars on the soccer team; Chip Verdier serves on the IFC Judicial Board; and Dan Patterson is number one man on the Pitt golf team.

Ernie Holmok, one of our alumni and a director in the University Placement Service, has done much to help the chapter this past summer. Alumni Homecoming will be on November 22, the weekend of the Penn State game. On November 24, the traditional Trinity Sing will take place at Trinity Cathedral in Pittsburgh. Pitt, West Virginia, CMU and W & J Delts will provide the competition.

Socially, the annual Delt Formal in December, will bring a close to a very active fall term.

RENSSELAER

Upsilon

The 1968-69 year at Rensselaer started with Delts involved in a wide variety of campus activities. A new chapter advisor, Father Jack R. Lewis, and an enthusiastic sophomore class have helped heighten the spirit which makes Delts outstanding at RPI.

In varsity sports this fall, John Pandish is a valuable member of RPI's football team, and Dave Crawford and Pete Collopy run cross-country. Hockey is Rensselaer's major winter sport, and Delts will be well represented by Norm Bean and Jim Blastorah. John Pandish and Cliff Libby look forward to three-year careers as varsity wrestlers.

In intramural sports, Delts finished eighth among 27 fraternities in all sports last year. Our football, tennis, and golf teams have all compiled excellent records this year.

In campus activities, Rick Haverly is managing editor of the school newspaper, and Paul Drzewiecki is vice president of TBII, the engineering honorary. Mike Bergamini is again in charge of Troy Tutoring, in which RPI students help students from local schools.

Upsilon will again be very active socially. In addition to the usual closed house parties, several open parties are planned to attract the student body. We hope that this year will continue to be as successful and satisfying as past years.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Delta Gamma

A very successful summer and fall rush has resulted in the pledging of 43 top men for Delta Gamma at the University of South Dakota. Summer rush parties this year were less in number but larger in scope and included two coat-and-tie gatherings and one all day beach party. Also helping in rush this year was the newly renovated Delt Shelter, which now features new plumbing, a new paint job, and panelled hallways.

The present school year has also gotten off to a great start campus-wide for the Brothers of Delta Gamma. At a Greek Week convocation on September 24, the Delts were presented with the scholarship trophy as the fraternity with the highest grade point average on campus. This is the second year in a row that the Delts have received this honor. The Delts also received the Athletic Participation trophy for winning the most intramural athletic contests during the 1967-68 school year.

Delta Gamma is forging ahead this year with new ideas and broader concepts for the chapter. Among these is a financial arrangement to pay the house bills on a semester basis. Plans this year also call for a broader, more diverse social calendar and improved alumni relations.

JOHN SNYDER

SOUTH FLORIDA

Epsilon Pi

The Brothers of Epsilon Pi Chapter at the University of South Florida capped off the most successful rush in its history this fall, and as this report is written, the chapter has taken 17 top-notch men on the first day of pledge sign-up with four days to go.

Delt rush activities included keg parties, band dances, a playboy theme party for which the little sisters dressed in bunny costumes, a cocktail party, a pajama party, and a beach party. The two-week rush period culminated in the initiation of the rushees into pledgeship, and of last spring's nine pledges into Delt brotherhood.

The Epsilon Pi gridiron squad is in fine form, and the intramural season looks better than ever. Scholastically, the pledge class placed first among all the fraternities on campus last spring, with the entire brotherhood jumping from eleventh to third overall on campus.

Kappa Delta received the first Delt "Sorority of the Year Participation Award," a five-foot walnut trophy. In addition, the chapter published its first newsletter this summer after only seven months as a chapter.

Epsilon Pi's big fall event will be the selection and crowning of the chapter's new sweetheart at the annual Sweetheart Ball. Plans this year call for Brothers' and pledges' parents to be the special guests for the occasion, with a social and outing slated in their honor.

BOB WANNALL

STANFORD

Beta Rho

This year, Mr. James "Barnes" Perkins has completed 15 years with Beta Rho. His monumental task has been to satisfy the appetites of the hundreds of Delts who have gone through the house during those years. He is often quoted: "It takes an ironhead to keep those Delts happy." He has been a tremendous asset to the house, especially during rush, and has kept our "sweet Lucy" appetites well balanced. We, of Beta Rho, are deeply indebted to him and hope that his next 15 years in the house are as happy as the past.

Beta Rho again dominates the gridiron scene at Stanford. Having over 30 ball players in the house, the Delts proudly boast one of the most powerful offenses in the country. The stalwarts on defense are also predominately from Beta Rho. Captain Stu Kellner led the team in its first three victories this season, a record unmatched at Stanford for the past 14 years. Beta Rho also proudly boasts its residence of standout QB Jim Plunkett, and receivers Gene Washington, Jack Lasater and Bob Moore. We at Beta Rho are looking forward to one of the finest fall quarters in many years.

SYRACUSE

Gamma Omicron

After a hectic first week of repairing, remodeling, and cleaning, the Syracuse Delts now have their Shelter looking better than ever in preparation for another fine year at SU.

The biggest event thus far was the success of upperclass rush. Taking nine new pledges, thus bringing the total to 12, the house is very pleased, and looking forward to having these men as part of Delta Tau Delta.

In IM competition, the Delts are preparing to defend their status as All-Fraternity champs. Led by QB Ed McKeon, end Tom Laboria, returnees from last year's squad, and a number of sparkling sophomores, led by Jim "Hyperventilate" Trance, and Stan "The Star" Ehrlich, the '68 squad looks like a shoo-in to repeat last year's performance. Fine teams are also being fielded in bowling and rifle, to round out the fall season.

Academically, the Delts, rated number five of 31 last year, are shooting for the top spot. With help from the pledge class, which includes four men with better than B averages, we should be able to capture number one. Socially, we have once again planned a diversified and full program, highlighted by a big Turkey Party, and a Pool Party.

All in all, it looks like a fine year for the Delts at SU once again, and we extend our welcome to every Delt to stop at the Shelter and take part in our activities.

TEXAS A & I

Epsilon Lambda

School ended well for the Epsilon Lambda Delts as we took first place in IFC baseball and vaulted Dick Hander to victory in the Ugly Man on Campus Contest. Western Division President Bob Kroening brought the social season to a close as guest speaker at the annual Founders' Day Banquet. The Delt Sweetheart for 1968-69, Karen Knipp, was presented at the party.

The Delts invaded Corpus Christi for the Summer Conclave to set their goals for the coming school year. An active summer rush program, directed by Tom Roerig, was climaxed by eight Epsilon Lambda members attending the New York City Karnea.

In September the membership returned to Kingsville to find that through the efforts of Bob Devine, Jeff Roerig and James Killen the chapter would soon be moving into their first Shelter. Executive Vice-President Al Sheriff visited the chapter and its 24 new pledges to help make arrangements for the new House.

Under the guidance of Chapter Advisor Stan McFarland, faculty sponsor Dr. J. B. Finley and returning alumni Butch Newton and Phil Jackson, we are out to make '69 The Year Of The Delts at Texas A & I University.

TEXAS AT ARLINGTON

Epsilon Rho

The 98th chapter of Delta Tau Delta completed the most successful rush in its history on October 6, when 29 of 31 men to whom bids were extended accepted the challenge to become Delts. Fall rush began on August 31 with the traditional Champagne Party, which was attended by over 300 Delts, guests, and their ladies. Rushees were entertained at our newly acquired lodge during formal rush week, which included a German Beer Party on Thursday and the Rush Week Dance on Friday. Our near-perfect week was climaxed with a reception for our Brothers of Epsilon Eta Chapter following the East Texas State-UTA football game Saturday night. Needless to say, we are delighted with the results of our rushing; and a major reason for our tremendous success was the superb job done by our Rush Chairman, Charles Dobbs. We are confident that under the direction of Pledge Trainer Terry Haynes we will have the best pledge class in the history of Epsilon Rho.

The acquisition and refurbishment of our first lodge occupied most of the efforts of our chapter this summer. The building we now call "home" is an old two bedroom house which we are leasing from the University. Fortunately, the house required little in the way of structural repair; and we were able to concentrate most of our efforts on redecoration. With the cooperation of our House Corporation we purchased furniture, draperies, a ping pong table, and air conditioning; and also obtained the funds to buy the necessary redecorating supplies.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN

Epsilon Beta

Once again, Epsilon Beta climaxed a good summer rush by taking an outstanding pledge class. We were very proud to have Dr. William O. Hulsey, Western Division vice president, at a couple of our formal rush parties and wish to thank him for his support of Epsilon Beta.

Many of the Delts are once again involved in the coaching of local YMCA youth football teams this year. The whole chapter plans to support these games and are hoping for a Delt coached City Champion.

Plans are already going in to effect for next months orphan Christmas party which we will again co-sponsor with Pi Beta Phi Sorority. This year we hope that we can get an even fatter Santa Claus.

The chapter has once again set its goal for the scholarship trophy and we feel that we will retain it and uphold our chapter's reputation on campus as the Number One in every field of University life.

TUFTS

Beta Mu

As a result of last year's outstanding performances in athletics, activities and academics the Tufts Delts won possession of the President's Trophy—the trophy of trophies—for the second time.

To combine with the prestigious achievement of capturing the President's Trophy, the chapter also boasts 10 varsity captains. These captains include Paul Thompson, cross country; Bruce Munson, soccer; Mal Kinory, basketball; Bill Heaton, swimming; Bob Stadeck, indoor track; Gene Curletti, baseball; Gene Uchacz, lacrosse; Jack Darsch, golf; and Bill Murphy, sailing.

Arthur B. Simms, Esq., our notorious but very faithful cook, has decided to hang up his apron after 28 years of service. Arthur will leave with the class of '69 and all of the classes after him will miss his "hot buttered buns" and his fascinating sense of humor.

TULANE

Beta Xi

The spring and early fall months have proven to be very successful ones for the Beta Xi Chapter. With the completion of our Shelter, the final cost of which approximates one hundred thousand dollars, we were provided with ample space for fraternal and social functions. Gradewise, the men of Beta Xi Chapter fell down a little after an excellent first semester, and we are looking forward to winning the scholarship trophy at Tulane this year. We have worked out a series of study periods for both actives and pledges, which we hope will result in our goal.

Socially, our year began with a champagne party for our lovely, eligible rush girls. Also this fall we look forward to several parties with leading New Orleans bands. The Shelter, with its unique facilities that accommodate the preparation for parties as well as the cleanup after them, makes it a pleasure both economically and practically.

Athletically, Beta Xi again hopes this year to be a power in the IFC intramurals. We are fortunate to have this year a Delt as director of athletics for the interfraternity council, although we face rough competition nevertheless.

In pledging we took 25 excellent men for the fall semester, and we have high expectations for these new Delt pledges.

JOHN WILLIAM LEWIS

Gamma Mu

An outstanding summer rush highlighted by former President Tom Clark's speech at our banquet, and led by the infallible triumvirate, Stay-Lumbard-Patterson, culminated with an impressive 30-man pledge class. These chosen men will integrate into GM and the U of W under a totally new (for us) and progressive one-quarter development program. Primary emphasis and ultimate direction being scholastic excellence and personal maturity through strong fraternalism.

To balance the seriousness (sic) of academic endeavor, Deltas will ride herd at stockshow, break out black tie for the pledge dance, entertain alums, and groove on Dionne Warwick and Simon & Garfunkel for Homecoming. Anticipation is running high for a successful year, pessimism being nil, under the leadership of Pledge Trainer K. Stephan, President D. Batchelder, dishwasher T. Kangas, and in the fine tradition of that astute, dignified, respected, perceptive, inspiring, and ultimately Greek demagogue A. Ositis (GM '67).

And so, warmed by the glowing flame of eternal brotherhood, we bid you all a fond farewell, knowing full well that we shall meet again around the old oaken tables of our everlasting Shelter and praise the heart-rendering bond which has united us in comradeship throughout our worthy labors in the groves of academe.

WASHINGTON & JEFFERSON

Gamma

This September Gamma Chapter moved into the newly-constructed fraternity residential center at W & J. The residential center consists of 10 frat houses which will eventually become the heart of the campus. The new Shelter will contribute to the progress of the house since it will bring us into closer contact with the academic and social life of the college as well as provide a better study and social atmosphere for the Brothers within the house itself.

Another recent innovation is the acquisition of a housemother, Mrs. Josephine Belfoure, who has already proven herself an invaluable aid to the house and has succeeded in providing a home-like atmosphere for the Brothers.

With their new location on campus the Brothers have already taken advantage of their position and find themselves engaged in the fall rush program. Touch football and soccer games with the freshmen are now a common occurrence.

This year should also mark a great improvement in the intramural program and although the house lost out early in the tennis tournament they are vying for both the soccer and water basketball championships.

WESTERN RESERVE

Zeta

Zeta Deltas returned to Reserve this fall full of hope and expectations of continuing their leadership long established on campus. Several honors which were revealed at the end of the last school year gave the chapter further examples of its capabilities. Brothers Bill Rogers and Jake Arnold were named Reserve's Overall Outstanding Athletes and Brother Larabee was named Outstanding Fraternityman for his achievements in all areas of endeavor. It also became official, after the dust had settled, that Zeta had won the All-Sports Trophy after several years of second place. Scholastically, Zeta finished the semester with an average above All-Men's and third among the fraternities.

An added impetus through the summer was the Brotherhood experienced at the Karnea, where more than 10 percent of Zeta Chapter met its Brothers from across the country. Zeta took an outstanding pledge class of 13 men and a three-month-old legacy. This class already has shown some of its capabilities. The chapter is currently undefeated in all athletic endeavors. Several improvements in the Shelter should contribute to scholastic progress. The annual Farm Party and Hay Ride have started the social calendar in good form. The social committee is also busy completing plans for the Winter Weekend, highlight of the winter semester. Adding touches of beauty to the Shelter are our new Sweetheart, Glenna Otto, and Homecoming Queen nominee, Sue Braden.

EDWARD T. GROHE

WEST VIRGINIA

Gamma Delta

When classes began in late August at West Virginia University, the Deltas once again jumped into the lead in many fields. The semester is now well underway, and should be an outstanding one for Gamma Delta Chapter until it is concluded by the annual Christmas semi-formal dance.

First semester rush of upperclassmen yielded 13 enthusiastic pledges, and of the previous pledge class 18 men have just been initiated. Delt intermural teams, organized by Chuck Carspecken, are now in second place on campus and have won championships in horseshoes and golf.

In varsity athletics the chapter is represented on the football team by linebacker Baker Brown and flanker Wayne Porter. Spirit for WVU teams is promoted by Kib Lewis, Butch MacArthur, and Roger Okey, Delt pledges to Fi Batar Capar, men's mock honorary.

Brothers Baker Brown, Doc Richmond, Jim Kessel, and Jerry Rector have been honored by receiving bids to join Mountain, the University's highest men's honorary. Dean Arnold is presently serving as IFC secretary, and Soupy Campbell is the LHCP (president) of Fi Batar Capar. Bill Fisher has been tapped for Helvitia, sophomore men's honorary. In addition many other Brothers take part in other forms of campus activity.

Under the direction of Ray Vine, the chapter continues to donate the talents of its members at the Osage Settlement House, near Morgantown, by serving in scout leadership, land surveying, and other projects where outside help is required. Throughout the semester Tony Bonidy has planned our social events, from the recent "Funeral Party" to the annual "Sewer Party." Altogether, the semester promises to be one of accomplishment and enjoyment for the men of Gamma Delta Chapter.

WISCONSIN-MILWAUKEE

Epsilon Tau

The Brothers of Epsilon Tau Chapter are looking forward to our first semester on campus as a national fraternity. As one of the delegates to the Karnea, I can say we thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to meet so many of the Brothers of Delta Tau Delta.

A few noteworthy chapter events are the election of Brother Mike Cuculi as president of the Interfraternity Council, and chapter president, Brother Larry Joyce's appointment to the IFC Judicial Board. Also Brothers John Cinatl, Dennis Linn, and Tom Peebles have been elected to University Student Legislature.

With the advent of Homecoming, Epsilon Tau Chapter sponsored a lap-sitting contest on campus promoted by Haggard Slacks. The fraternity man from any of our campus's 15 fraternities sitting the most girls on his lap receives a cash scholarship for his fraternity.

We are beginning the second edition of the U.W.M. Greek Directory under the direction of Brother Dennis Linn. The directory is a listing of the addresses and phone numbers of all the sorority women and fraternity men on campus.

In closing, Epsilon Tau Chapter looks forward to a closer and more personal contact with the other chapters of Delta Tau Delta. Our Shelter is always open to Delts visiting Milwaukee.

IN THE COLONIES

MARIETTA

Colony

November 23 will mark the attainment of the first and most important goal that has been before the Colony for two years: Initiation. Having been approved by the Arch Chapter, we are now ready to receive our Charter and to step up our campus efforts on behalf of Delta Tau Delta.

The Brothers are continuing their housing improvement efforts and are busy with brush and hammer throughout the house. Rush Chairman Ken Kavula, while planning an active first semester program, is doubling as designer and head-carpenter for our Homecoming float, a Spanish galleon.

Don Wolfe brought scholastic honors to the Delts by earning the highest average among freshman Greeks. Led by Rob Weidenfeld, we entered IM football and tennis for the first year and will participate in other sports through the year. Though still unpolished, the teams are "psyched" and look for some sound competition. Though saving much of our social enthusiasm for Charter weekend, we still held our annual fall hayride and make our weekly Saturday "escapes." Brothers serving the campus include Marc Nevas, president of the dramatics honorary; John DeVito, veep of the debaters; Bruce Miller, IFC veep; Murray Talasnik, member of the Sophomore Steering Board, and Bill Havens, president of the band. Brothers Gary Boyd and Arnold Teres have lead roles in the fall drama production, and others are active on the Marcolian staff and on WCMO-FM, the student radio station.

BRUCE A. MILLER

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA

Colony

This fall, the members of Delta Tau Delta's Crescent Colony at SLC are proud to announce that we have quadrupled our membership since the fall semester of 1967. Our success is largely due to the following three factors: a very generous and active alumni chapter; a great deal of time and assistance which was extended to our colony by the National Fraternity; and the assistance extended to us by Epsilon Kappa and Beta Xi, two very highly respected Delt chapters in our vicinity.

Our chapter house, the first chapter-supported house at SLC, is proving to be the most fantastic rush weapon ever. Again, we wish to thank our House Corporation for its generous effort in this area.

Our colony is already moving rapidly toward success in all areas of Greek activity. We demonstrated true strength during Greek Week last spring and we are presently hoping to do so in fall intramurals.

Our primary goals this year are scholastic excellence, triumph in intramurals, and a larger membership. We sincerely hope to begin next fall with another powerful rush weapon: the square badges.

BOBBY POLLOCK

SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA

Colony

The Crescent Colony of Delta Tau Delta at USL is progressing fairly well. During the summer a fairly successful rush party was held here in Lafayette giving the rushees an idea of our fall parties.

Fall rush was a success. We spent the week prior to rush week painting the Shelter, waxing the floors, straightening the grounds, and raising a flag pole in the front yard amidst the pine trees.

We are particularly proud of our chapter room which we painted gold with purple letters adorning the upper portion of the walls.

We received 10 good colony pledges, giving us 27 strong Delts.

president of the Lexington Alumni Chapter, which gained a paid-up membership of 34 during his first year in the job, and at the same time Ken Brandenburgh, Kentucky '64, was chosen as president-elect to get himself ready to fill a busy pair of shoes next year.

In June, at the annual meeting of the house corporation which looks after the Shelter of Delta Epsilon chapter, Larry Hacker, Kentucky '59, was elected for a five-year term as a trustee, succeeding Judge Dan Fowler, Kentucky '31, who had served faithfully for some 20 years as an officer and trustee. Mike Houlihan, Kentucky '65, also was named a trustee, chosen to serve the four unexpired years in the term of Jim Hoe, Kentucky '58, who is being transferred soon to Texas by his company. Angel Levas, Kentucky '54, president, and the other officers serving with him in the house corporation were re-elected for another year.

An alumni committee has been working during the summer in helping to arrange a good program and a large reunion of Delta Epsilon alumni when the UK chapter holds its Founders Day observance on Nov. 8-9.

NIC Conference

Miami Beach, Fla., will be the site of the 1968 National Interfraternity Conference December 5-7, with headquarters at the Deauville Hotel.

Theme of this year's meeting, announced by Interfraternity Views and News, is built around campus stability and the college fraternity. Events of recent months have focused sharply on campus unrest and the position of the "New Left." The December program therefore will be timely and pertinent to today's issues.

The banquet address on December 6 will be given by "Bill" Vaughn, featured columnist and editor of "Starbeams" in the Kansas City Star, and syndicated in over 100 newspapers throughout the United States.

Rainbow Review

Sir: I wish to express my excitement and commitment to the new editorial policy as outlined in The Rainbow Review. The responsibilities of our fraternity system today as outlined in Dr. Kershner's article, "Reflections on Student Discontents at Columbia," find great support among the fraternity alumni I associate with today. . . .

JERRY L. KELTCH

Sir: . . . It is the first issue I have read with more than casual interest in years.

FRANK A. McELWAIN

Evanston, Ill.

Sir: . . . The messages which Dr. Kershner and the undergraduates have to tell us, as expressed in this issue, show that there are new challenges and new frontiers which all fraternities must meet in these days if we are to continue to be a relevant force on the campus and in society in general.

E. GARTH JENKINS

Sir: This issue indicates that Delta Tau Delta finally is aware that college and the fraternity system are something more than homecoming queens, all-Delt football teams, and new chapter houses.

Sir: As the Episcopal chaplain on the campus of East Tennessee State University, I always am interested in hearing what the students themselves have to say. This is the first time to my knowledge that the Brothers have had an opportunity to suggest their concerns for and about the Fraternity, the campus, and the world. Let us have more of this, and less of the dry reports and articles.

THE REV. C. CHRISTOPHER CLEMENTS

Sir: The other night I curled up with it (summer issue) and read it from cover to cover. I felt that it would give me a fresh, accurate, and "un-syndicated" viewpoint on these matters which have been of some concern to all of us this past year. It did!

Sir: Can it be that Delta Tau Delta is beginning to recognize that its journal might have a larger function than reporting parties and intramural football triumphs whose irrelevance to contemporary college life is matched only by its literary tedium? If that is so, permit me a violent cheer from the sidelines.

Sir: Your magazine (summer issue) is a stimulating and encouraging relief from the volumes of trivia which have been cranked out of the fraternity press.

J. LANCE PARKER

Sir: This special edition was both timely and well-written, and I hope that this pattern of undergraduates' presenting material will be continued.

FRED STRACHE
Assistant Dean
Student Activities
University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee

Sir: I believe that this approach comes as a fresh breeze to our Fraternity and I found the entire issue to be so valuable that I am loaning my copy to the dean of student affairs at my institution, to use in any way which he might desire.

Incident at Syracuse

IT WAS THREE o'clock in the morning. My wife and I, attending a workshop for education editors at Syracuse University in July, were in a third floor dormitory room, not "air conditioned," as we'd expected. That's why our door was ajar, to catch any elusive breeze.

Suddenly she asked, "Honey, do you see what I see?" I did, and it was a big brown collie who sauntered into our room, licked our hands . . . and settled down for the night.

While I poured a bowl of water for him, which he gulped gratefully, she threw on a housecoat and started down the hall to let "someone" know their dog had wandered into our room. Seeing two men, walking down the corridor, she whispered (as loud as she dared at 3 a.m.), "Hey, fellas, your dog is in our room. Come get him!"

At no response, she started running, but they beat her around the corridor and when she reached the elevator . . . it was going down, those inside laughing.

Knowing it was a prank, we fed our "pet" wheat germ (only food available at that hour) and put a note on the workshop bulletin board: "Anyone who's lost a dog may contact the Paul Brannons. Meanwhile, we've become very fond of him and owner may redeem same only by proof of ownership."

Next day however, I noticed his "name tag" as mascot of DTD . . . who wandered whenever and wherever he pleased. Two out-on-the-town editors had found and led him to our room.

I took him to the DTD House, had a wonderful chat with fraternity members, and promptly renewed my membership!

Western Division Conference: March 6-7

WHY CHOOSE Dallas for the Western Division Conference? The answers are many. Dallas is the financial, cultural, and fashion center of the Southwest. It is fitting that Texas, the largest state in the Western Division should host the largest and best division conference in the Fraternity's history. Everything is big in Texas and the East Texas Delts intend to prove it March 6, 7, and 8 at the Hilton Inn in "Big D."

Among the attractions planned are name entertainment at some of the city's night spots, shopping at such places as Northpark Center, which has 100 stores, dining at outstanding restaurants, or riding around the city. Whatever your preference, we will make certain you enjoy the Western Division Conference and Dallas.

Highlight of the conference will come at the Conference Banquet where Darrel Johnson will serve as toastmaster. Delt President Robert Hartford will be present to give the main address of the evening. After the Banquet the E.T. Delts will furnish dates for a Delt Party.

The last business session Saturday will close with the model initiation by Epsilon Eta at East Texas State University.

The East Texas Delts and the 600 Dallas-Fort Worth Area Alumni are planning a Texas-size conference, so y'all come!
