Letter from the President

Dear Delts.

It seems appropriate, at this difficult and unexpected position, to let all of you know what I am thinking, doing, and planning, relevant to my new responsibilities as President of our Fraternity.

First, and foremost, let me assure you the programs so ably and carefully started by Bill Fraering definitely are being continued and endorsed. Special presidential committees had been appointed in many important areas. The Hugh Shields Awards, Academic and Division Awards, Chapter Standards, utilization of Division Vice-Presidents, and Hazing are subjects under special concentrated study. They are being continued and encouraged. Reports are expected well before the fall Arch Chapter meeting to allow for consideration and further action at that time.

I continue to be impressed, especially so in these last few hectic weeks, that it is absolutely basic that we who are charged with the responsibility of keeping our great Fraternity strong and vital must keep one principle, above all others, always before us. Simply stated, we must always remember that the first purpose of Delta Tau Delta is the "Education of Youth and the Inspiration of Maturity." I believe firmly that this goal must guide us in all our endeavors. Delta Tau Delta must provide the best possible learning opportunity for every young man who joins our ranks.

We certainly know a great deal about the kind of environment in which this can best be attained. History has been a rigorous teacher. It is how we apply her lessons that counts - or when we forget them that hurts.

Finally, I would like to offer four personal goals by which you might measure me as my presidency unfolds: (1) We must make strides, great strides, in wiping out hazing from Delta Tau Delta. (2) We will try to come to grips with the perennial marginal or prodigal chapter. (3) We need to reinforce and build our Division Vice-Presidential role and structure to continue building strength. (4) We will grow very carefully in top, fertile institutions, being careful not to sap energies away from existing chapters.

My thanks to so many of you who took the time to write, congratulating me, wishing me well, and offering help. Your words are most encouraging, and be assured that I will call for your help.

Fraternally,

Kenneth N. Folgers, President

Freshman: Hi, mom, how's

everything?

Mother: Fine, son, and how are you getting along in school?

Freshman: I have so much school work I don't know what to do! But I did manage to go to this party, where I met a really nice girl named Sue.

Mother: You weren't drinking, were you?

Freshman: Oh . . . ah . . . well . . . no. mom, not really, just a little.

Mother: You know what I told you about drinking. Your father isn't paying all that money just for you to get drunk.

Freshman: I know, mom, I'm sorry. Oh yeah, I've been asked to join Delta Tau Delta.

Mother: Delta what?

Freshman: Delta Tau Delta. It's a fraternity.

Mother: It's Greek to me. That isn't one of those places where they kidnap you, and blindfold you, and lock you in the trunks of cars, and . . .

Freshman: No, mom, these guys are really nice. They had me up to dinner, and helped me with my school work, and they said if I join their house that I could get in without a lot of trouble.

Mother: I don't know, a fraternity doesn't seem like the place for

Freshman: But I really like these guys

Mother: Your father and I will just have to talk it over . . .

Don't Neglect the Parents in Rush

What happens now? In most cases the parents get second hand information about fraternities, either from friends, relatives, or shows such as "Animal House" or "Donahue", which had one program on hazing deaths.

Most of what they get is the drinking, sex, and violence that are part of the stereotype, and nothing about the positive aspects of fraternity life. This one-sided coin is flipped with a predetermined outcome: negative feedback to the parent.

Some students are independent enough to choose on their own, but most will heed a parent's warning to steer clear of the whole fraternity system.

In many situations the way to a prospective pledge is through his parents. The information they receive is one-sided, so it is the job of individual fraternities and fraternities as a whole to provide the positive aspects of fraternity life. If the system is to upgrade its image, each part of the whole must do its part through community services and a positive public relations campaign.

The job of informing parents of rushees, however, falls directly on individual houses and their rush committees. Communications passing directly from a house to parents can create an improved outlook not only on fraternities, but the individual brothers at a specific house. As soon as the brothers are sure of their intent in a rushee, they should begin immediately to involve not only the student, but also his parents.

One way to do this is to hold events at the shelter specifically for rushees and their parents. The best time to do this is either Homecoming or Parents Weekend, depending on the university system, but almost all schools have designated weekends for freshman and for upperclass parents.

The event doesn't have to be elaborate, and should coincide with the program of the university. One possibility is cocktails followed by dinner, at which time the president or adviser may say a few words on the chapter and its goals, and let them know exactly what their sons will gain through fraternity pledging.

Needless to say you should have "your best foot forward" when parents visit, and all brothers should be involved with greeting and entertaining them. This direct contact is the quickest, easiest, and most effective way to dispel doubts these people may have about the house, the brothers, or their son's ability to "fit in".

If you can't get Muhammad to the mountain, take the mountain to Muhammud. And, if you can't get the parents to the shelter, take the shelter to the parents through newsletters and personal correspondence. They are more than happy to receive this information, and it gives them a better concept of what brotherhood is all about.

Stress academics, as this is usually the prime concern, and also the broadening of experience and ideas that come from a well-run house. Give them a taste of alternative social activities, not just the drunken wildness that fraternity parties are supposedly made of.

And, finally, convey to them the spirit of brotherhood, that essential ingredient in holding together a house and molding a number of diverse individuals into a close-knit fraternal organization.

If parents can get first-hand information instead of the rumors and sensationalized stories that often malign fraternities, they will be far more open-minded about their son joining a fraternity, and often encourage him to choose you over the competition on campus.

Parental support strongly influences a freshman's decision on where to spend his next three years of college. Many houses overlook this aspect of rush, but experience proves it's an ace in the hole.

THE AUTHOR

A native of Hudson, N.Y., Lou Pierro will begin his senior year this fall at Lehigh University. He is current president and former corresponding secretary of Beta Lambda Chapter and a member of the Lehigh Pre-Law Society. After he receives a B.A. degree in English, with a minor in business, next June, he plans to pursue either a law degree or an M.B.A.

Chapter President Mark Rounds receives his Delt pin.

Beta Gamma Returns

A FTER AN eight-year absence, Beta Gamma Chapter has returned to the University of Wisconsin. Hard work by alumni and undergraduates culminated in the official installation April 21, 1979.

At the same time, members of the chapter's House Association, headed by President Dwight G. Norman (Wisconsin '54), announced the purchase of a chapter house located within sight of beautiful Lake Mendota.

At the installation banquet, Undergraduate Chapter President Mark S. Rounds accepted the new charter, presented by former Delta Tau Delta President Dr. Frederick D. Kershner, Jr. Membership certificates were presented by former Northern Division President John Wood and House Association President Norman.

Kenneth N. Folgers, now President of Delta Tau Delta, gave the featured banquet address. Dr. Kershner and William R. Hirsch, resident colonizer, also spoke briefly. Milo G. Flaten (Wisconsin '50) was toastmaster and Monsignor Clinton Hirsch, uncle of William Hirsch, gave the invocation.

Earlier in the day, the initiation ceremony was presented by an undergraduate team from the University of Iowa. A team from Lawrence University gave the Rite of Iris.

Wisconsin received its first exposure to Delta Tau Delta in 1885 at the hands of Ernest C. Hunt, son of Delt founder John L. N. Hunt. It was not to last, however, and the first permanent chapter was established in 1888. After 83 years of continuous operation, during which time the chapter survived an early 20th Century faculty attack on all fraternities and the departure of male students in World War II, Beta Gamma succumbed to the campus turmoil of the late 60's. Despite valiant efforts by alumni, its Charter had to be suspended early in 1971.

But many alumni were determined to bring it back. Near the end of 1976, the Arch Chapter of Delta Tau Delta gave its approval to an effort at recolonization. A former Delt chapter consultant, Bill Hirsch, enrolled at the University as a graduate student and accepted the challenge to direct Beta Gamma's resurgence.

With the help of alumni and the Fraternity's Central Office, Mr. Hirsch recruited a core group of 15 men who wished to become Delts. On Oct. 16, 1977, they officially were recognized as Beta Gamma Crescent Colony.

The group grew rapidly, and with strong support from alumni, it attained requirements for the new charter, marking the beginning of a new era for Beta Gamma Chapter on one of the nation's leading universities.

A strong representation of alumni from cities throughout the Mid-West was evident at the banquet. Also attending the day's activities were Fraternity Executive Vice President Al Sheriff, Director of Program Development Keith Steiner, Northern Division President Ronald Glassner, and Rainbow Editor Dave Keller.

Eleven years ago, delegates to the Karnea in New York City voted to establish an Undergraduate Council as part of the Fraternity government. A year later the project was underway, with the first group of 16 members, four from each Division, meeting with the Arch Chapter. With new members selected each year in a pattern designed to alternate among chapters, the Undergraduate Council provides a strong voice in development of Delt Programs. As one of the 1978-79
Council members, Hillsdale senior John McNulty experience and offers suggestions to those who might serve in the future.

Memories

A FTER returning from Dallas in January, I had many thoughts about the meeting I had just attended with other Undergraduate Council Members. While in Texas we had our second opportunity to meet with members of the Arch Chapter and Central Office staff. My mind was wondering how I was so fortunate to have the opportunity to attend meetings like the one in Dallas and the Karnea in New Orleans, and see how Delta Tau Delta is run.

Coming from a small high school where fraternities and sororities were not permitted, I never really had the opportunity to understand what the Greek system was like. While in high school I participated in the football and wrestling programs, which helped me develop an understanding of organized groups.

Known as "jocks" in school, my friends and I all had one common bond: we represented our school while participating in sports. As captain of the wrestling team my senior year I began to understand the concepts of responsibility in leading a group.

When I decided to attend Hillsdale College, a small liberal arts college in Southern Michigan, I came under the assumption that I wanted to play football and try to earn a scholarship. Having attended summer school before my freshman year, I met a lot of different students who were affiliated with the Greek system on campus. Some of these students explained to me what the Greek system was like on the Hillsdale campus.

When I returned in the fall, I was very busy with classes and football practice, but I was still determined to go through fall rush. Having had that little extra time during the summer to see the different fraternities, I did not have to worry about what house to join.

Undergraduate Council Member

During our pledge program I learned about our house, chapter history and a little about the operations of the national. But not until I was a member of the Undergraduate Council did I realize how the fraternity operates.

The past three years at Hillsdale College have been enjoyable and very worthwhile because I got involved in activities in the house and on campus. In the house I have held a number of positions such as house manager, sergeant-at-arms. captain of the intramural football team, and last year pledge trainer.

On campus I have worked as circulation manager of the student newspaper and during the past term I worked for the College's Conference Center. Working for the house and school, I believe, was very important to me in establishing relationships with other people and developing a sense of responsibility.

When I was appointed to the Undergraduate Council for 1978-1979, I really did not think much of it, not knowing what the Council did. But, after receiving information from the Central Office and finding out I was on my way to New Orleans for the Karnea, I became excited, but apprehensive.

Still not exactly sure what part I would play on the Council, I left for New Orleans with feelings of uncertainty. On my arrival in New Orleans I discovered that other members of the Council (nobody knew each other) shared some of those same feelings.

When we met with the Arch Chapter and Central Office Staff in New Orleans and later in Dallas, I realized that as a member of the Undergraduate Council I would help in the development of Delta Tau Delta. I really believe that our contributions as an advisory group to the Arch Chapter were taken seriously and sincerely.

An important role of the Council was to give the Arch Chapter and Central Office Staff an undergraduate point of view. This became apparent in Dallas when we discussed the preceding Karnea in August. As a group, the Council was able to give opinions on such things as mini seminars and the roll call procedure. We also discussed the future site of the

As I was flying back to school from Dallas I began to think about how much fun it was to see the other Undergraduate Council members again after meeting them back in August at the Karnea. Then, as I tried to evaluate what I got out of serving on the Council, I believe it would have to be the opportunity I had to meet and work with the fine staff that Delta Tau Delta has. Even more I think the chance of sitting in with them and listening to how they go about the business of the Fraternity was most rewarding.

As a member of the Undergraduate Council, one had the opportunity to see and hear first hand what problems troubled the Arch Chapter and Central Office. I personally believe as a member of the Council I was able to relate to the officers of my chapter what was necessary to better our chapter. Also while serving on the Council I corresponded with other Michigan chapters by sending a letter and telling them what I thought was important to know about our meeting in Dallas.

In years to come, other Delts will get opportunities to participate on the Undergraduate Council. As a suggestion to those who do, I would say, if you really are serious about helping your chapter and Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, this is a great opportunity to do it. As an undergraduate, vou will never receive another opportunity like this to travel and meet so many outstanding men who are associated with Delta Tau Delta.

If there were any shortcomings about being on the Council I would have to say the only one is that the time the Council spent together as a group with the Arch Chapter and Central Office Staff was just too

I feel I have made some great and long-lasting friendships through my association with Delta Tau Delta. These are the things I will value most in the future as I reflect on my experiences with the Fraternity. I believe I have gained a great deal through the opportunity of living and working with a group of people sharing the same interests and goals.

By representing my chapter for a year on the Undergraduate Council, I hope I have been able to contribute something in return for all of the benefits I have realized by being a Delt.

In reflection over the past year, I consider my service on the Undergraduate Council to be truly one of the highlights of my college career. As I look to the future, I hope I will be able to keep in touch with the other Council members and renew old friendships at Karneas in years to come.

I believe that one of Delta Tau Delta's strengths, on a national basis, is its Undergraduate Council, whose representatives have a real input on fraternity policy. I hope the Council can remain as strong an organization as it was while I was a member.

Directory Questionnaires Will Be Mailed Soon

Work on Delta Tau Delta's membership directory is well under way. Soon all members will receive a brief questionnaire with a follow-up request to be sent one month later. The prompt return of these questionnaires is essential so that the information in the directory will be current and complete. The completed questionnaires, as well as a list of all members who do not respond to either mailing, will be turned over to the publisher for telephone follow-up.

Members will be contacted directly by the Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc., to verify information, to see whether they want to purchase a directory, and to offer them an opportunity to advertise. Members who don't respond to the questionnaires and are not reached by phone by the Harris representative, will appear in the directory with the information currently held on alumni records. Members will be listed alphabetically, geographically, and by chapter, and each listing will contain class year, chapter, residence address and phone number, and business or professional information.

If you do not receive your questionnaire by October 15, 1979, or if you do not wish to be listed in the directory, please notify the Central Office by mail before November 1, 1979.

Chester Fritz, Washington '14, an international banker in Switzerland, has made a gift of $1 million to the University of Washington School of International Studies. The contribution, one of the largest in the history of the University, will be used to establish an endowment primarily for the school's China studies program. Dr. John R. Hogness, president of the University, described the gift as "especially significant" at this time, following recent establishment of diplomatic relations between the U.S. and the People's Republic of China. Mr. Fritz was a founding partner of an international banking firm, operating out of Shanghai until he was interned by the Japanese during World War II. After the war he resumed business in China, retiring in 1949 to Europe where he and his wife maintain homes in Monte Carlo and Lausanne.

ATLANTA

HE ATLANTA Alumni Chap-I ter sponsored the first annual Spring Delt Day in April. This vear's host chapter was Beta Delta at the University of Georgia. All six chapters in Georgia participated in the softball tournament, and there was even a team of "over the hill" players from the Alumni Chapter. The Alumni Chapter team was eliminated in its first two games of the double elimination tournament. Epsilon Omega of Georgia Southern was the tournament winner defeating Gamma Psi of Georgia Tech in the finals.

The major activity for the summer is sponsoring of the second annual Lake Lanier Rush Party July 21. Last year's Rush Party was a great success, and we look for this one be much bigger and better.

Recognized as one of the most active alumni chapters in the country, great emphasis is now being put on increasing the membership. Presently the members come from many chapters and from all walks of life. We encourage all alumni living in the Atlanta area to come out to the next meeting.

Meetings are held on the first Thursday of each month at the Western Sizzlin on Buford Highway at Northeast Plaza Shopping Center, and start at 7 p.m.

CLEVELAND

C LEVELAND Delt alumni observed Founder's Day this year on Saturday afternoon April 7, at the restored Mather Mansion on the Cleveland State University campus. The site was a delightful setting for Delt fellowship, cocktails, and an excellent hors d'ouevre buffet.

The celebration was highlighted by the presence of Ed Hemminger, accompanied by his wife Barbara. Ed delivered the principal address of the afternoon and made the presentation of a testimonial to Cleveland's long time great Delt, Clem Frank. As indicated in our previous letter, Clem, Zeta '19, recently retired from the active practice of law.

Bob Cooper, long time Kenyon Delt, was recognized with a well deserved Cleveland Alumni Chapter award. Bob is a loyal and regular attendee at the weekly Friday noon luncheon at The Communications Club in the Cleveland Plaza Hotel — Euclid at East Twelfth Street.

President Bob Boord presided as master of ceremonies in his usual fine fashion. Bob outlined proposed plans for holding periodic group Delt meetings at various suburban locations either for luncheon or evening time schedules.

There were a number of long time Delts and their ladies present as well as a delegation of Zeta chapter Undergraduates.

QUAD CITIES

THE QUAD Cities Alumni Chapter has shown a great deal of renewed activity in 1979. An Alumnus Update dinner was held Feb. 14 at the Hotel Sheraton, Rock Island, Ill., with then Northern Division Vice-President Ron Glassner (now Division President) as M.C. and then Fraternity Treasurer Ken Folgers (now President) as speaker.

The turnout was particularly good, with a large group of actives from the Iowa chapter driving 60 miles from Iowa City on a night of extremely bad weather to join us.

On April 11, a lunch was held at the El Rancho Villa in Bettendorf, Iowa. Chapter officers elected at that meeting were Tom Goldsmith, Iowa State, president; Steve Fry, Iowa State, vice-president and treasurer; and Richard Phillips, Iowa, secretary. Recently elected Northern Division President Glassner spoke on current activities of the Fraternity.

The 10 Delts present voted to meet for lunch on the second Tuesday of each month at the El Rancho Villa.

The second lunch was held May 15, with 14 Delts present. Annual dues were set at $10. All Delts in the Quad City area are invited to join us on the second Tuesday of each month.

The group also voted to hold a summer rush outing in conjunction with undergraduates of chapters in Iowa and Illinois.

TORONTO

HE TORONTO Alumni Chap-I ter gathered at the Park Plaza in mid-March to salute Founders Day. Wallace Rankin, 2T6, was in attendance, representing the brothers who founded Delta Theta Chapter fifty-four years ago. The 1979 Founders Day dinner was also a 25th anniversary celebration for the class of 5T4. A great many graduates of the early to mid 1950's were on hand to hear James Jerome recount tales of campus life a quarter century ago. Jim also gave a more serious, and enlightening, talk on the effect of television in the Canadian House of Commons. (Incidentally, Jim was re-elected in May as the Member of Parliament for Sudbury.)

The University of Toronto is still trying to eliminate fall Homecoming from its official calendar of alumni events. This will not deter Delta Theta from holding a Homecoming function this October. More details will be forthcoming in the Maple Delt. Wayne Taylor, 7T7, editor of the Maple Delt, was elected president of the alumni chapter and House Corporation at Founders Day. To supplement the editorial content of the Maple Delt, Stephen Elliot, 7T3, a former writer for the Global television network, has agreed to lend a hand in the preparation of the chapter alumni newsletter.

A study is taking place this summer to assess the renovation effort necessary to bring the shelter at 28 Madison into top form. All options are being investigated by a team under the direction of Ross Butters, 5T8. A fund raising campaign will be commenced shortly, with each dollar raised locally to be matched by a corresponding low-interest loan from the Central Office of the Fraternity. If you can be of some assistance either technically or financially, please do not hesitate to contact Ross (416-362-

The Toronto Alumni Chapter is alive and becoming increasingly active. Alumni are interested in news of their classmates. BASEBALL

A key figure in the success of the University of Missouri's great season was junior lefthander MIKE PFAUTSCH, the team's top reliever. The Tigers finished the regular season as the country's tenth-ranked team and Mike was instrumental in many victories. In a six day stretch in early May, he posted two wins over Iowa State and two saves against Missouri-St. Louis. For the year, Mike had 5 wins and 7 saves and tied for the team lead in games pitched. Through three varsity seasons, he has compiled a perfect 11-0 record.

The University of Delaware had an outstanding 38-14 record to rank eleventh in the final college rankings. One of the top hurlers for the Blue Hens, who went to the NCAA East Regional finals before losing to eventual NCAA runnerup Arkansas, was junior BO DENNIS. One of his key victories was a 7-5 win over Florida in the Regionals as he went the distance despite 7 Delaware errors. He also had a seven-hitter against the University of Baltimore and a four-hit win over Bethune-Cookman.

The big surprise of the season was the emergence of Bowling Green State University lefty GARY REITER as a major league prospect. After being injured in 1978, he returned to nail down a starting spot for the Falcons and was eventually drafted by the Atlanta Braves in the eighth round of the free agent draft. Gary was second on the BGSU staff in strikeouts, innings, games pitched, and complete games. His best performances were a two-hitter against tough Eastern Michigan and a three-hitter against Ashland. He also lost two games by 4-3 scores. After signing with the Braves, Gary reported to their Kingsport Class A farm club in the Appalachian League.

Though not hitting as well as in 1978, Texas Tech University's RANDY NEWTON was still one of the Red Raiders' top players. The senior outfielder was a team tricaptain, set a Tech record for most doubles in SWC play, and was the team's second-leading hitter in conference games. Randy finished his career with a .308 average in 82 games.

Catcher CURT WILCHER boosted his average nearly 200 points over the previous year and led Illinois Tech to a 15-5 regular season and a berth in the NCAA Division III tournament. The senior co-captain was named the team's co-MVP, led in hitting and RBI's, and played errorless ball. In 107 career games, he averaged .265 with 11 homers and 75 runs batted in.

Senior DON MIKUSH was again one of Duke University's leading pitchers. He led the Blue Devils staff in strikeouts and complete games and was second in games and innings pitched. Don's top game was a 3-1 complete game win over Gardner-Webb. Soph transfer TOM HARVEY was one of the busiest moundsmen for Kansas State University. He led the squad in strikeouts and complete games and finished second in games pitched and innings.

Junior third sacker MIKE LADEVICH helped lead the Lawrence University Vikings to the Midwest Conference championship and a berth in the NCAA Division III tourney. He was among the squad's top hitters as the Vikes posted a perfect 8-0 conference mark. Mike was named to the All-MWC second team and had 12 stolen bases. The Vikings were once again coached by RICH AGNESS, Lawrence '67.

Two Delts were the top stars for Stevens Tech. Senior captain TOM PALILONIS hit .400 or better for the second time and was named to the All-Independent Athletic Conference team. He wound up as one of the top career hitters in school history with a .366 average and set a new record for hits in a career. Also named to the All-IAC team was junior outfielder GLEN CIPRIANI who led the team in RBI's for the second year. He was selected to play in the annual North-South Collegiate All-Star Game. Other Delts seeing much action for Stevens Tech were senior infielders TOM PIERCE and DAN McMAHON.

Allegheny College senior second baseman TIM MILLER had his best season, finishing fourth in hitting and handling over 80 chances without an error. He led the team in runs scored and received All-MAC recognition. Tim's career average was .311. Lafayette University freshman PETE RAMSEY, who saw action at second base and in the outfield, was the Leopards' third-leading hitter and also played errorless ball.

Two Delt sophomores were fine players for Westminister College. First baseman DAVE LOY led in runs scored and was second in batting. Pitcher DAVE HANKINS tied for the team lead in wins and was second in earned run average, games pitched, and innings. Freshman designated hitter TOM FUCHS was fifth in batting for Wabash College and frosh teammate TOM BRIERE had a good rookie season on the mound. Soph hurler TOM KNABE saw action on the hill for the University of Cincinnati.

Junior third baseman BILL RADOSITS moved into De-Pauw University's starting lineup and contributed to the Tiger's fine 16-10 record and berth in the NCAA Division III regional playoffs. Junior AARON UENO was a parttime starter for Willamette University and teammates MARTY BUTKOVICH and LLOYD HIGA also saw action for the Bearcats. Senior first baseman MIKE BUSBEY and junior outfielder DON SWAGART were regulars again for Washington and Lee University.

Five Delts were regulars at Kenyon College. Senior second baseman MURRAY CLARK was a co-captain. Soph catcher RICH ROWE started every game and was one of the team's leading hitters. Freshman JOE MESICS moved into the lineup at third base. Freshman MIKE VOIGT and soph BRIAN BERG were two of the regular pitchers. Soph infielder BENNY WATERFIELD was a regular again for the University of the South.

cided to forego his proposed retirement for another shot at making the majors on a fulltime basis. He went to spring training with the Cleveland Indians but rather than be sent back to the minors, signed a one-year contract with the Tokyo Giants of the Japanese League.

On Championship Crew

Ten national championships, 27 Olympic gold medals. These impressive statistics belong to the California Crew Team, which after some mediocre years (excellent by most standards) is now taking aim on an eleventh national title.

Leading this resurgence in Cal's crew team are two Delts, Stewart Lenz and Brad Stine, who row in the middle of the varsity boat (better known as the engine room). Stewart, a senior from Berkeley, has been in the varsity boat for three years. Brad is a six-foot-eight sophomore from Pinole. This is his first year in the boat and he has unlimited potential. Stewart's brother Eric, also a Delt, is in the second boat and will row as an alternate in the Royal Henley Regatta Invitationals. All are considered excellent prospects for the national team this year and next.

The crew team already has captured the west coast championship, and in doing so dethroned the University of Washington, national champion for the past two years. The team has accepted an invitation to go to the Royal Henley Regatta, Henley, England, in July for the first time in Cal's history. The Delts will be there in full power and excellent shape to row against the Europeans.

TRACK

Four-time Olympic champ AL OERTER, Kansas '58, is still on target for a crack at the 1980 Games and set a new personal best discus throw of 219-10 at an AAU-sponsored event in April. That mark was 6'4" longer than his previous best set at age 33 in his prime. Al said "That throw at least shows me I'm finally on the right track. It's a clear indication my technique work is beginning to pay off." His second-best throw of 217-8 came in June when he placed fifth in the National AAU Track and Field Championships.

Junior weightman STEVE BAGINSKI had his best season for Cornell University and earned All-American honors by placing fifth in the hammer throw at the TFA/USA Championships. During the indoor season, he threw the 35 pound weight and was consistently over the 60' barrier. In a dual meet against Army, he broke a 23-year-old school record then bettered the mark again the next weekend, winning the Princeton Relays with a toss of 64-7. He qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championships for the third year but passed up the trip to begin training for the outdoor season.

In the first outdoor meet, Steve won the Stanford Invitational with a hammer throw of 186' Next, he won the Nittany Lions Relay with a toss just over 190' Several weeks later in a dual meet with Pennsylvania, he reached his best distance, 197-1, one of the top throws nationwide this season. At the NCAA Outdoor Championships, his best of 189' just missed qualifying him for the finals. For his accomplishments, Steve was voted Cornell's "Best Weightman" by his teammates.

Despite injuries, senior BRUCE ALEXANDER was Oregon State University's leading javelin thrower. He had his best career throw of 241-1 in a dual meet against Oregon. That toss ranks as the third-best in Fraternity history. A shoulder injury prevented Bruce from competing in the PAC-10 Championships.

One of the Big Ten's top runners was junior BRUCE BANTER of Purdue University who set a new school record in the 800 meter dash with a fine 1:51.0 clocking at the Pitt Invitational. He was seventh in the event at the Big Ten meet this season after a third place finish in 1978. He was also a member of the record-setting sprint medley relay team and the mile relay team. Bruce also excelled during the indoor season, placing second in the 600 yard run at the Big Ten meet. His best time was 1:10.25.

Two of Iowa State University's leading performers were pole vaulter TOM KIEFFER who reached a best of 15-6 three different times, and high jumper TOM PRATT whose season's best was 6-7. Also in the Big Eight, University of Nebraska freshman TIM McCASHLAND posted a best time of 1:53.15 for 800 meters. His coach calls Tim "one of our really outstanding freshmen. He had a good year in 1979 and we're expecting great things out of him in the next three seasons." Another Nebraska frosh, STEVE CHAPMAN, was handicapped by injuries and had a long jump best mark of 22-8.

Two Duke University soph runners had good seasons. RUSSELL BOWLES won the Davidson Relays 5000 meter run with a time of 14:47.02 and later placed sixth in the 10,000 meter run at the Atlantic Coast Conference meet. OTIS FORBES was a member of the Duke two-mile relay team which won the Davidson Relays.

Three Brothers were steady performers for the Bowling Green State University team. Senior JOEL BENDER placed sixth at the Mid-American Conference pole vault event with a 14-6 leap. Senior JEFF OPELT was handicapped by injuries but still managed to throw the discus 185-2. Junior JOHN ZURRER had bests of 15.6 in the 110 hurdles, 21-9 in the long jump, and 42-5 in the triple jump.

Junior PETE SISTI and soph ED FAGER were valuable runners for Lafayette College. Both ran on the Leopards' 400 and 800 meter relay teams which barely missed qualifying for the IC4A meet. Northwestern University soph JEFF BLACKARD was the Wildcats' top hurdler. Senior ALAN LINTEL had a good season for the University of Virginia and ranked among the squad's top students.

Five Delts were key performers on the University of Maine squad. Freshman BRIAN DONOVAN placed fourth in the Yankee Conference high jump with a 6-6 leap. Soph MARK SIEGEL was the team's second-best pole vaulter at 14' and freshman JOHN CHALMERS reached 13-6. Soph BOB LaPRADE lettered as a hammer thrower and freshman RUSS GOODWIN was a fine hurdler.

Two Allegheny College Brothers had good years. Soph JOHN NISTA placed fifth in the pole vault at the Presidents' Athletic Conference meet and junior DERRY WIMER was seventh in the shot put after placing second a year ago. Sophs DAVE BLANER and STEVE PETERSON won their second letters for Bethany College as did soph JIM CARR at Albion College.

Eleven of them were on the amazing Kenyon College squad which placed second at the NCAA Division III Championships after winning its 26th straight Ohio Athletic Conference crown. TIM BRIDGHAM captained the Lords' squad and won three individual NCAA crowns and anchored the winning 800 Freestyle Relay team. He won his third straight national championship in the 100 Backstroke, setting a new mark with a time of 52.88. Ralph and Kevin were both co-captains and were joined on the squad by a third Wabash Delt All-American, soph KIRK DIXON, who swam on the 400 Relay squad, and junior CHRIS HUTSON.

Washington and Lee University's DREW PILLSBURY earned All-American honors in two events at the NCAA Division III finals. He placed sixth in the 200 Backstroke and eleventh in the 100 Backstroke. Drew was elected team co-captain for next season. Junior MIKE FOLEY also had a good season for the Generals.

Another Delt-dominated squad was that of George Washington University, where seven Brothers competed.

Freshman BILL SHIPP won 14 events during dual meets and placed in 6 other events. He set new school records in the 100 Freestyle, 200 Freestyle, 500 Freestyle, 200 IM, 200 Butterfly, and on three relay teams. Junior co-captain JOHN FREDERICKSON had 3 wins and 13 places during dual meets and was a member of the record-setting 400 and 800 Freestyle Relay squads. Soph GENE PROTZKO won 2 events and placed in 5 others. Freshman GEOFF NIMMER posted 2 wins and 2 placings while another freshman, IVOR FREDERICKSON had 1 win and 3 places. Junior JOHN PRINCIPATO and soph VAN KRIKORIAN were other valuable swimmers at GWU.

Duke University junior ART PATTERSON had his finest season, placing fourth in the 100 Freestyle and eighth in the 50 Freestyle at the Atlantic Coast Conference meet. Freshmen PAUL HACKENBRACK and TOM LAWSON helped Lafayette University set a new school record in the 800 Freestyle Relay at the East Coast Conference meet. Freshmen GEOFFREY RYAN and DOUG CLARK were good point getters for the University of Virginia.

Illinois Tech had one of its best seasons ever with an 11-2 dual meet record and first place finishes at three invitational meets. The leading point scorer for the season was junior TIM WIENER who moved up to second place among the school's alltime scorers with 603 points. He was involved in the setting of five new school marks: 50 Freestyle, 100 Freestyle, 400 Medley Relay, 400 Freestyle Relay, and 800 Freestyle Relay. Senior JIM LEPARSKI finished his career as the ninth-leading point scorer in Illinois Tech history with 415 points and junior AARON CRUMP was tenth in scoring during 1978-79.

At the Presidents' Athletic Conference meet, junior KEVIN O'CONNOR placed fifth in the 50 Freestyle and seventh in the 200 Freestyle. Soph JOHN CHAMBERS of Lawrence University was considered by his coach to be "one of the team leaders this year". He was a member of the school's sixth place 400 and 800 Freestyle Relay squads at the Midwest Conference meet.

Four Delts were important members of the Bethany College squad. Co-Captain STEVE BURFIELD placed eighth in the 200 Freestyle and eleventh in the 100 Freestyle at the Presidents' Athletic Conference meet. Co-captain ERIC SCHULT also won his third letter and placed seventh in the 1650 Freestyle, missing the school record by just 6 seconds. Junior STEVE EBBETS finished eighth in the 100 Breaststroke. Soph JOHN SERRA failed to place at the PAC meet but did win his second letter.

GOLF

Named to the NCAA Division III All-American second team was junior GERRY BAROUSSE of Washington and Lee University. At the Division III meet, he tied for eleventh overall in the medalist competition and helped lead the Generals to an eleventh place finish. He was the team's co-MVP and was elected as captain for next year.

One of the University of Oklahoma's top linksmen was junior JOHN BAUMERT, a long hitter off the tee who improved his short game this past season. During the regular season, he averaged 76.5 for 15 rounds. He tied for the team lead with 221 for 3 rounds at the Wheatshocker Invitational and had his best round, a 72, at the Padre Island Intercollegiate Meet.

ERIC GERSONDE climaxed a fine four-year Michigan State University career by helping the Spartans to a surprising third-place finish at the Big Ten meet. At the conference meet, he posted a 318 for 4 rounds, 8 strokes better than his 1978 meet score. His best round was 75 at the Big Ten meet and Illinois Intercollegiate Meet, where he was the team's top shooter with 152 for the 2 rounds. Over the season, Eric averaged 78.9 for 16 rounds.

Duke University soph JEFF GOETTMAN had a fine season for the Blue Devils, averaging 74.7 for the season. He placed second in the Big Three Golf Tournament, was eighth in the Iron Duke Classic, and fifteenth in the Atlantic Coast Conference championships.

Soph MIKE DUFFY and freshman KRIS MARQUARDT were two of the leading shooters of the Hillsdale College team. Mike averaged 81.2 for the year and had a best round of 73. Kris shot at an 82.2 clip with a best of 75. Senior KEITH ALWARD's best round of the year was 80. Other good golfers were TODD WILLIAMS of Bethany College, CHARLIE MILLARD of Butler University, and TODD WILSON of Westminster College.

TENNIS

One of the Fraternity's all-time best performers on the court, GARY IRICK of Baker University, concluded a great career by posting a 21-6 record in number one singles and 16-9 in number one doubles. He won his third Heart of America Conference championships in both singles and doubles and gained NAIA Academic All-American mention as the Wildcats won another HAC crown. Gary's career record was 67-13 in singles play and 52-19 in doubles play.

Doug Allee Baker

Another outstanding Baker University player was freshman DOUG ALLEE who won the HAC number five singles championship. He was 17-13 in singles and 10-5 in doubles play and was named the team's top freshman.

Two freshmen had good seasons for the University of Colorado. WES GRIFFIN posted a 16-11 singles record and was 13-8 in doubles. KEVIN DUL was 7-3 in singles play. The University of Pittsburgh's TOM GAULT concluded a fine career as a four-year letterman and wound up with a 19-17 career singles record. He was the team's Blue Gold Award nominee for 1979.

Lafayette University soph AL CARILLI and his partner won the East Coast Conference number three doubles championship, upsetting the top-seeded Temple University duo on the way to the finals where they upset the twosome from Bucknell. Freshman DAVE MARIONE posted the best overall record for Lafayette, finishing 9-4 in number six singles.

Washington and Lee University soph DOUG GAKER helped lead the Generals to the Old Dominion Conference crown. He and his partner won the number three doubles title and Doug was runnerup in number three singles. Senior MIKE FARAH was Albion College's captain and MVP for the second year while playing number one singles. Junior JOEL COCHRAN also played well for Albion once again.

BOB LEASURE of the University of Kentucky had a 2-1 record in number six singles. Freshman HAKAN SER-NROS had a good first year for Whitman College with a 3-1 singles mark and 4-1 mark in doubles. Other good players were CHRIS MARTIN of Kenyon College, JIM BERRY of Marietta College, MARCUS JULIAN of M.I.T., and TOM YASSEN of Illinois Tech.

FOOTBALL

The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame has named sportsman and industrialist JOHN GALBREATH, Ohio '20, as recipient of the Foundation's Distinguished American Award. He'll receive the award at the Hall of Fame dinner December 4th in New York.

Only two Delts were selected in the NFL draft this spring. Stanford running back PHIL FRANCIS went to the San Francisco 49'ers in the seventh round and Missouri at Rolla wide receiver DAVE HALL was picked by the New Orleans Saints in the eleventh round. Stanford All-American linebacker GORDY CERESINO was surprisingly not selected but did sign as a free agent with the 49'ers. Other free agents signed were defensive back JIM STIENKE, Southwest Texas State '72, by the Miami Dolphins; quarterback JESSE FREITAS, Stanford-San Diego State '74, by the Chicago Bears; and quarterback MIKE RIEKER, Lehigh '78, by the Green Bay Packers.

BASKETBALL

The two Delt players in the National Basketball Association had good seasons in 1978-79. Second-year man MIKE BRATZ, Stanford '77, became a key member of the Phoenix Suns as their number three guard. He was fifth in scoring during the regular season with 623 points in 77 games for an 8.1 average. He moved up to number three scorer in the playoffs with 159 points in 15 games, a 10.6 average. He had a season high of 20 points against Cleveland and New Orleans and tied a team record with 8 steals against Cleveland on February 11th.

First-year forward-center RICK ROBEY, Kentucky '78, upped his scoring average 4 points a game after his midseason trade to the Boston Celtics. He played in 79 games, scored 818 points for a 10.4 average and pulled down 513 rebounds, a 6.5 clip.

Rick Robey Kentucky '78

Mike Bratz Stanford '77

One of the Fraternity's greatest all-around athletes, WILLIAM "DUTCH" FEHRING, Purdue '34, received another honor recently when he was inducted into the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame. As an undergrad, he was a two-year regular at center for the Boilermakers. "Dutch" also was an outstanding football and baseball star and spent the summer of 1934 with the Chicago White Sox. A lengthy coaching career followed his playing days with a number of years spent as baseball coach at Stanford. He's also a member of the College Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame.

Stevens Tech senior forward TOM PALILONIS was named to the Academic All-American second team and was the only College Division player with a perfect 4.0 average. In addition to his prowess in both basketball and baseball, he also served as Treasurer of Rho Chapter and IFC President, and was Rhodes Scholarship candidate.

TRANSITION

Named as Assistant Athletic Director at Texas Tech University this summer was JIM GARNER, TCU '65. Among his duties will be the supervision of all travel plans, coordination of business affairs, overseeing ticket sales and working with the Athletic Director in other areas. Prior to his appointment at Tech, Jim had been Sports Information Director at TCU for 8 years and West Texas State for half a year.

LACROSSE

The Stevens Tech squad had its best season in many years, winning seven straight and finishing with a 9-3 record. Junior midfielder DENNIS LANG tied for second in goals with 15 and was named to the All-Knickerbocker Conference second team for the second year. He was excellent on faceoffs, controlling 31 of the 43 he was involved in. His overtime goal gave the Ducks a 4-3 win over Upsala.

Another Stevens Tech junior midfielder, PAT CARAMANTE, had his best season with 11 goals and 8 assists and is considered a complete player by his coach. Junior DOM CLAUDIO added 5 goals to the Ducks' midfield efforts and junior STEWART MANOR gained praise for his stellar play.

Soph defenseman DON RIGGER was a solid performer for Washington and Lee University's fine 9-4 squad and won the Cannon Award as "player of the game" against Syracuse. Other good players were midfielder MIKE TAYLOR of West Virginia University, DAVE YORK of M.I.T., and JOE EDWARDS and JEFF YOULE, both of Albion College.

Gene Uchacz Tufts '69

Boston College head coach GENE UCHACZ, Tufts '69, was a coach for the North team in the annual North-South All-Star Game played in Baltimore. He has served Boston College as lacrosse coach since 1970 when the sport was elevated to varsity status. Gene is also past President of the New England Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association and serves on the executive board of the United States Lacrosse Association.

MARATHON RUNNING

Several Delts have responded to the request in the last column for information on marathon participation. Among the nation's top runners is JERRY McNEAL, Kansas '58, whose best time is 2 hours, 27 minutes. He ranked third nationally in the Masters Division in 1978. One of his chapter mates, BOB CREIGHTON, Kansas '56, an attorney in Atwood, Kansas, ran his best marathon in a May race at Lincoln, Nebraska. He placed 26th in a field of 800 with a time of 2:41.33.

The Fraternity's Director of Program Development, KEITH STEINER, Allegheny '73, followed up his Boston Marathon participation by running in the Terre Haute Marathon in late May. He finished 31st out of 1700 runners with a clocking of 2 hours, 47 minutes. JACK PAHL, Albion '44, reported a time of 5:43.35 in the 1978 Mayor Daley Marathon in Chicago.

SAILING

Following on the heels of a great year, Tulane University's GARY SPRAGUE received All-American mention for his efforts. In addition to his Sugar Bowl Regatta accomplishments cited last issue, he also had a second-place finish in the Danmark Regatta and a fourth-place finish in the Admiral's Cup race. Other sailors of note this year were GREG O'DONNELL, JOHN GREENING, and ANDY PLACE, all of Tulane; and JOE PETRUCCI, DAVE NICKERSON, and GEORGE LEMING, veterans on the nationally-ranked Tufts University squad.

Leading the Northern Division

A LTHOUGH he wasn't aware of it at the time, Ronald S. Glassner's business career was launched in 1967 while he still was a student at the University of Iowa.

As an undergraduate, the Rock Island, Ill., native always found ways to help finance his education. One year, for instance, he held four part-time jobs: parking cars, serving meals at the Delt house, supervising children at a recreation center, and fueling airplanes (while getting a private pilot's license).

With the help of his father, he also began selling business forms by mail order in the summer between his sophomore and junior years. The primary customer was Bear Alignment Center chain which had some 4,000 dealers throughout the nation.

"With each of those dealers buying individual business forms of all kinds, it just seemed logical that someone could save them money and make some for himself through consolidated purchasing," he recalls. "So we started business with an ad in Bear's company publication."

Although the business remained very small during the years that Ron Glassner remained in college, it was to become the foundation for a highly successful venture a decade later.

Having been pledged to Delta Tau Delta at the beginning of his freshman year, Mr. Glassner lived in the Omicron shelter all four years. Two days after he received his bachelor's degree in business, he entered Naval Aviation flight school at Pensacola, Fla., later receiving his pilot's wings and attaining the rank of lieutenant (j.g.).

Ron Glassner

Discharged after three years' service, he joined a young, fast-growing company named Truck-O-Matic in Walcot, Iowa. Later he joined an advertising agency, then left to become advertising manager in the passenger tire division of Bandag, a major corporation.

He also headed the tire-retreading company's racing team, sponsoring cars in national racing events at Daytona, Sebring, and cities on the Trans-Am Series. That sparked his own interest in road racing as a hobby.

In the summer of 1977, Mr. Glassner faced a difficult career decision. He had advanced to product manager at Bandag, but his sideline of representing manufacturers of business forms also was progressing well. With his sister by then working full-time in the business, he was busy weekends doing accounting and planning new sales projects.

Another person was hired to assist in sales, and there was reason to believe that a total management effort could bring substantial growth.

Mr. Glassner took the chance. Leaving the security of an excellent corporate position, he took up the presidential reins of his company, Dealer Service Business Systems, in Moline, Ill.

In the two years that have followed, the company has branched out rapidly to offer total business communications, from computers and complicated computer-generated forms to individually designed letterhead stationery. Sales have quadrupled and the work force has grown to 10 persons (although he lost the services of his sister, who left to pursue more immediate concerns of rearing children).

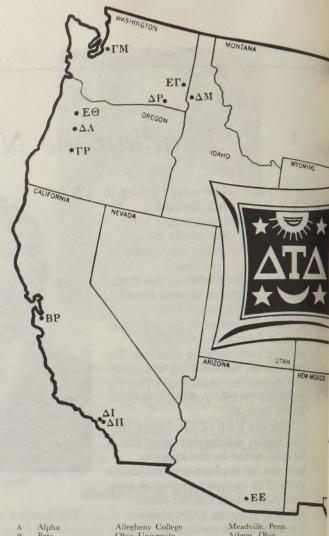

During the busy years of building his company, Ron Glassner has not neglected Delta Tau Delta. After serving as vice-president of the Northern Division since 1973, he accepted election to the time-demanding office of Division president at the 1979 spring conference.

Married and the father of two sons, he places top priority on spending time with his family. Beyond that, he enjoys participating in Fraternity affairs, scuba diving, golf, and racquetball. He holds a commercial pilot's license and continues as a member of the Sports Car Club of America. Although he hasn't done any road racing for two years, he still drives in auto-cross competition and rallies.

There is no room for wasted time in the life of Delta Tau Delta's Northern Division president.

ALLEGHENY Alpha

S PRING TERM at Alpha chapter found the brothers anticipating the coming of this year's Walk-a-thon. Last year, our first attempt at such a venture, we collected over $6,000 along the route from Meadeville to the Holy Family Home in Parma, Ohio. (The Holy Family Home is a home for terminally-ill cancer patients which operates solely on contributions.) This year, we hoped to better last year's efforts and firmly establish the Walk-a-thon as an integral part of Alpha tradition. An unofficial prediction of $10,000 became our goal.

This year's chairman Mike Valeriano and his committee had been preparing for the Walk all year long. Preliminary preparations were essential to insure success. After many letter-typing sessions and numerous television and radio interviews, the date of the Walk arrived. On the morning of May 3, following a hearty breakfast prepared by the little sisters, the brothers marched through campus headed for Parma.

When we returned to the Shelter on May 5, 55 miles and as many hours later, in excess of $13,000 had been collected to benefit the Home. We had exceeded our goal beyond expectation and felt a tremendous sense of accomplishment and satisfaction. A new chapter in the annals of Alpha history had been written. The Walk-a-thon for the Holy Family Home was here to stay as an annual charity project. It had become tradition.

Andrew Petrini

AKRON Eta

E TA CHAPTER made a strong finish of the academic year 1978-79, winning or placing in a number of Greek Week events, taking third place in Combined Songfest with the Lone Star fraternity and the ladies of Alpha Gamma Delta, winning the percentage of participation championship for spring semester's Red Cross Blood Drive, and, last but not least, the Interfraternity Council Scholarship Trophy for the highest chapter accume on campus. The brothers did an excellent job of pulling together to end the year with considerable momentum.

The chapter now hopes to carry this momentum on into rush both for this summer and next fall. A number of events are planned, including a canoe trip, pool party, camping trip, plus a number of events at the Shelter. Eta Chapter would like to invite any and all of its alumni to these and other events in the future; for more information, contact Dave Newcomb, Corresponding Secretary, at the Shelter.

Help make 1979-80 the best year yet for Delta Tau Delta at Akron U!

ARIZONA Epsilon Epsilon

E PSILON EPSILON ended the spring semester in style with its annual "Shipwreck" party. The Delts and their dates rocked Polynesian style to the sounds of "Air Tight".

An Allegheny Delt gets donation during Alpha Chapter's Walk-a-thon in May.

The Delts continued to be competitive in intramurals this spring. Led by the spiking of Willie Kellogg, the Delts steamed through their opponents before bowing in the semi-finals. As usual, the Delts were one of the favorites for the campus championship in soccer, but were defeated 1-0 in the quarter-finals.

Ken Kasney was chosen as Mr. Delt of Epsilon Epsilon for the year 1978-79. This award is given each year to the brother who shows superior leadership, inspiration, and dedication to Delta Tau Delta.

As a final note, preparation for "The 2nd Annual Delta Tau Delta All Campus Party" is under way. Last year this event netted close to $1,000 for Cerebral Palsy.

BAKER Gamma Theta

A THE present time, alumni of Gamma Theta Chapter of Baker University are trying to raise $60,000 to restore the house. We are hopeful the house will be completely restored within 1½-2 years.

This year the summer rush looks good. With all of the brothers working at it, the rush should yield some very good pledges.

Also, with 23 brothers returning this fall, we look forward to a good school year.

BALL STATE Epsilon Mu

D OUG COOK, a Delt, was recipient of Ball State University's highest honor, the John R. Emens Outstanding Senior Award. The award is based on many things such as leadership, scholarship, and campus activities to name a few.

Throughout his four years at Ball State, Doug was vice-president, social chairman and Watermelon Bust chairman for the fraternity. Along with this, he served on many campus organizations.

Cook Student member on the Ball State Board of Trustees and participated in a legislative internship in the Indiana State Senate.

He participated in Student Foundation, Student Orientation Corps, Admissions Coordinating Team, Off-Campus Association, Student Auditorium Advisory Council, Student Welfare Council and Student Senate. He was a member of Blue Key National Honor Fraternity and "Who's Who Among America's Colleges and Universities."

BOWLING GREEN

Delta Tau

S PRING of '79 turned out to be the bridesmaid quarter for the Delts of Bowling Green. Second place finishes in golf, volleyball, softball and two track events gave us a fifth place finish for the All Sports Trophy among fraternities.

Although we came in second in athletics we took many firsts in campus organizations. Our president, Drew Forhan, was named assistant student representative to the Board of Trustees and was inducted into the Anteans Society, Greek honorary. Also, there are more Delts on Student Government and the Inter-Fraternity Council boards than ever before. Our voice will be heard even louder next year.

In Greek Campus events the Delts were one of the few houses that contributed to every event, a record we plan to keep up. We once again held our annual Show Off Your Tan Party, which was a huge success and won the Sig Ep Marathon by racing around the 440-yard track 70 times in one hour with just the alloted 10 men.

We are looking forward to a very successful year next year. Delta Tau Delta is the shape of things at Bowling Green State University.

Dick Ulrich

BUTLER Beta Zeta

B USY but successful describes our spring term perfectly. Our annual all-campus tricycle race, TRIK-LA-TRON, was held, and this year we included a celebrity trike race to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. Four TV stations and four radio stations covered the event, as well as the two city papers. The Beta Zeta men raised $2,300 for MDA!

The 1979 Spring Sing was another great achievement, as we paired with Alpha Chi to take second place overall and first among the Greek units.

Spring Weekend also did not find the men sitting around. Paired with the Kappa Alpha Theta's, we finished a strong first, winning several events, and adding another first place trophy on the awards table.

And, just to prove our versatility, we placed 3rd in intramural sports, garnering a first in soccer and second in volleyball.

Academically, Beta Zeta was third in GPA, well above the campus average. Individual achievements included three brothers being named among the Top 10 students at Butler, the naming of Brother Randy Lee as first vice-president to Student Assembly and the election of Brother Tim Rice as YMCA treasurer. Brother Bill Richardson was announced as the outstanding senior in the Radio-TV department and freshman Brother Joe Weingardt was awarded a varsity letter in tennis and achieved All-Conference honors.

Socials and a midnight moonlight serenade with our own version of the Blue's Brothers helped keep Beta Zeta's reputation as being one of the more popular fraternities on campus. Of course teamwork and brotherhood were the two key factors that made all of this possible. An entire Delt chapter working together and not just a few individuals. With the initiation of 12 fine new members and the graduation of many sorely missed seniors, we are eagerly looking forward to rush this fall and the beginning of a new school year.

CALIFORNIA Beta Omega Colony

S PRING QUARTER brought the warm California sunshine and outdoor activities to the brothers of Beta Omega Colony. The house gathered to support Brad Stine, Stewert and his brother Eric Lenz along with the rest of the Cal Crew Team as they won the Pac-10 Championship and a chance to compete in the World Invitationals at Henley, England this summer. Beta Omega had a very successful athletic season. Our intramural teams placed first in volleyball and innertube waterpolo.

To celebrate the good weather, the house organized a few events such as a Southern Cal exchange (surfboards, O.P. shorts and sunrises), a foreign beer-tasting party featuring rare European brands, and a beach trip before finals. Also, the entire house laughed along with a theater full of Greeks to watch brother Mitch Ah-Tye in his lead role in the Greek Week musical-comedy Applause.

Currently, Beta Omega has 20 members. Our graduating seniors and founding fathers, Melvin Long, Robert Young, Bruce Litchfield and Ralph Ahlers joined the ranks of the alumni this June. The house G.P.A. is 3.0 and our new academics chairman, David Laub, has plans to raise it. Eric Lenz, chairman of alumni relations, has revived "The Growl," the Beta Omega newsletter. He hopes to notify all alumni in the Bay Area of our recolonization efforts. Alumni are purchasing our new house this summer.

CARNEGIE-MELLON Delta Beta

S PRING SEMESTER at Carnegie-Mellon brings the annual Spring Carnival, with its buggy races and booth competition. At Delta Beta, we began in September to build a new buggy, designed by Senior Dave Conover and constructed by the hard work of all brothers. The new buggy, completed just 24 hours before competition began, placed third in design and ninth in sweepstakes.

The theme for this year's booth competition was "countries", and we chose France, building a 25-foot replica of the Eiffel Tower. The structure was so impressive that someone offered to buy it.

Overall we were the second most successful fraternity, and we are looking forward to being number one at next year's Spring Carnival.

We also were successful in spring intramurals. Our softball team lost in the semifinals of the playoffs after losing only one game during the season. Also, one of our brothers won singles ping pong and was part of the winning doubles and team campus champions. We hope to continue to use intramural sports as a method of maintaining a strong campus image.

CASE-WESTERN RESERVE

Zeta

T HIS SEMESTER has been a busy one at Zeta chapter with the shelter itself in a shambles from $10,000 worth of muchneeded repairs being done to the inside of the house by a private contractor. Most of the interior walls of the old house have now been replaced, or repaired and are in the process of being painted by the active chapter and some area alumni. The house is really starting to shape up and should be in top shape for returning brothers when school starts this fall. Plans also are underway for a new exterior coat of paint and possibly new storm windows to help lower our huge heating bill.

Through the dust and noise of the construction the active chapter did manage to initiate six new brothers on April 27, and as usual their enthusiasm has spread to the older members.

An active summer rush is in the planning stages to show off our refinished house. The active chapter also kept up with our yearly faculty slave auction for Muscular Dystrophy, which, when combined with our ping pong marathon from last semester, puts us over $1,500 for the year to charity. Both events hopefully will become yearly moneymakers for MD in the future.

In intramurals the Delt bowling team finished first in a hotly contested league and the softball team finished in third place.

Let me finish by inviting all of you to the house at any time to see the results of a semester's work. If you hurry there might even be some painting left to be done.

CINCINNATI Gamma Xi

W E started the quarter with initiation week, and then jumped right into rush. Two weeks of well-planned parties paid off, and Gamma Xi had by far the best pledge class on campus.

The results of campus elections gave next year's Senior Class a Delt for vicepresident. Congratulations to Brother Geoff Yates, who is also V.P. of IVC, on his successful bid for that office.

Greek Week started April 27, and this year included a new event — the Delt Obstacle Course. It was a tremendous success, thanks to the organization of Tim Nymberg and his committee and also to the athletic prowess and antics of Brother Marion Wilson, who really livened things up the afternoon of the event.

Delta Tau Delta sounded very impressive in the University's Mother's Day Sing, once again under the direction of Mrs. Louise Moyer. The Delt Round-Up, our biggest formal of the year, was held in the Skyline Ballroom of the Terrace Hilton on May 19th, and provided a chance for alumni, parents, pledges, and actives to all get together.

COLORADO Beta Kappa

B ETA KAPPA chapter in Boulder had a busy and successful spring semester. Participation in academics, athletics, social and community projects called for every minute of our time. Our new chapter adviser, Paul Skok, has helped us considerably with new ideas and suggestions. An exceptional spring pledge class of 23, kept in line by pledge educators Mike Paquin and Paul "Heil" Haney, has brought us to over 90 members.

Another strong year in athletics allowed us to take the first place trophy in A, B, and Coed football while our A team remained undefeated and unscored upon throughout the season. The basketball and volleyball teams both lost close games in the playoffs.

On March 10-11, the Delts co-sponsored a Muscular Dystrophy Dance Marathon with Chi Omega sorority. We reached our goal of $15,000 and established the marathon as a traditional event at CU.

On March 16-18, Beta Kappa hosted the Western Division Conference. As soon as various chapter representatives came down off the ski slopes, the weekend proved to be very enjoyable, as well as highly beneficial to all involved.

Our social calendar also was a busy one, with parties such as "Champagne Jam", "Sixties Revival Party" and a "Jack Daniels" party, as well as several exchange dinners and our "Little Sister Parties".

CORNELL Beta Omicron

T HE BROTHERS of Beta Omicron at Cornell found the spring semester to be a prosperous and active one. During rush we gained 23 enthusiastic pledges who played a vital role in academic, athletic and social activities of the house. The Pledge Project provided the shelter with freshly painted bathrooms and kitchen as well as an alarmed composite case (to deter malicious sorority activities).

Our 3.14 academic average placed us in the top five houses on campus and won us an Outstanding Academic Achievement Award. Elections were held for new executive officers.

While leading Cornell's Big Red Marching Band, rated number one in the Ivy League, Drum Major Rich Bonanno won the Ugliest-Man-on-Campus Award in a fundraising contest for charity. A major community service function was a barbeque held for underprivileged children in a local Big Brother/Big Sister program.

Although not making it to the playoffs, the Delts fielded strong teams in basketball, volleyball, lacrosse and softball. Junior Steve Baginski, rated the number four weight thrower in the country, broke Cornell's 24-year varsity record with a throw of 64'1/2".

Our social activities included a wine and cheese party with Alpha Phi, and a drink-off with the Tri-Delts. For the first time in a number of years, the shelter is remaining open in the summer, providing housing for 12 brothers, five of whom are participating in the engineering co-op program.

Don Phykitt and Steve Glaser

DEPAUW Beta Beta

THE BROTHERS of Beta Beta returned in the fall to a beautifully redecorated living room. It is the first phase in a total redecorating project. After formal rush, held before classes begin, 13 top pledges moved into the shelter. The pledge class quickly elected officers and began to tackle projects of their own, such as the reorganization of a defunct little sister program.

Throughout the year everyone tried to concentrate efforts on scholarship and campus involvement. There has been a definite improvement and higher standards are being set in all areas for next year. Delts are equally represented on the school paper, radio station, student government, union board, as well as practically every varsity sport.

The Little 500 bike race is one of the biggest events of the year. Although the Delt team did not win the race, it did a great job. This year's team, composed of seniors Pete Wetzel and Penn Whitlow, junior Matt Holiday and sophomore Jim Weber, trained extremely hard for the big event. Hopefully, with the return of Holiday and Weber, the Delts will be in the winning circle next year.

The brothers of Beta Beta want to thank all alums who returned to campus for Alumni Weekend. The classes of '69 and '54 had fantastic turnouts and certainly enjoyed reminiscing to tapes of the Temptations.

EAST TEXAS STATE Epsilon Eta

THE SPRING SEMESTER was very productive for the Epsilon Eta Delts. Once again the brothers captured the highest fraternity G.P.A. on campus; a record that no other frat around here can match.

The brothers were active in spring sports. Epsilon Eta Delts won the fraternity softball championship beating the Eps 13-12. The team also competed in the UTA Delt Tourney and went to the playoffs.

For the seventeenth year, the brothers sponsored the Delt Relays annual track and field meet which went off with great success, with both fraternities and sororities competing. We came in a close third and made some money that will be put to use around the house and for summer rush.

Speaking of rush, the Epsilon Eta Delts

EMORY Beta Epsilon

T WENTY-FIVE years from now, the Delts of Beta Epsilon will still be recalling the amazing things we did together this year.

In the beginning, there was rush. Pledge Trainer Steve Travis looked over the recruitments and said "You guys are slack." As pledges, we had our first taste of Delthood at the annual Wet Function, a party where you wear more beer than you drink. Before long, we got to meet our Fraternity brothers from other parts of Georgia by hosting the annual Delta Tau Delta Pledge Olympics.

In October we held an authentic Delt Toga party in the Greek tradition, and a Halloween party featuring "Rock Mountain". The Delt Formal was held in January at the Colony Square. The Shorty Watkins Band entertained us and everyone enjoyed the show. On February 14, we initiated five little sisters. The ceremony was followed by a Valentine's Day party and the unveiling of two fine speakers for the house stereo.

During spring quarter we added two more pledges and three little sisters. We also acquired a volleyball net and plan to build a basketball court next year. At Emory, spring is the season for Delt Frolics. This year "Zeek Week" was celebrated by the singing of Christmas carols, and the performance of comical skits and humorous pranks. Rain interrupted our plans, but Chairman Todd Brower kept Frolics going.

Our softball team reached the finals in intramural sports. All-Row players were Howie Hechtman at 3B and Kerry Lawrence at SS. Other outstanding players were Andy Burt, "Guy" Baron, Steve Travis — who pitched three shutouts in one day — and Smokin' Flo who led the team in stolen bases. The Delts wish everyone a happy and healthy summer and look forward to next year.

FLORIDA Delta Zeta

A THLETICS were Delta Zeta's focal point throughout the spring of '79. The polished consistency that earned seconds in intramural bowling, swimming, and softball, and a campus championship in golf, had us narrowly miss winning the President's Cup.

Of greater permanent significance, Delta Zeta is proud to announce that 17 new brothers have been added to our rolls. Their enthusiasm should prove helpful during our many summer rush parties planned around the state.

With many politically active brothers, Delta Zeta would like to congratulate Tony Raitano, newly elected student senator, and Phil Roberts, who was recently elected President of Florida Blue Key.

C PRING is the most beautiful time of year) in Tallahassee. It was also a busy and prosperous quarter for the men of Delta Phi Starting off the quarter was our installation into Delta Tau Delta and the banquet that followed. Our work, however, had just begun. Arrangements were made to present the Sorority of the Year award, which was started in 1954. This year we were happy to award the trophy to Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

In intramurals, Gil Isgar won 1st overall in wrestling, 135 lb. weight class. Kevin Phelam placed 2nd in the dart tournament and the dart team won the 1st annual Greek Open Dart Tournament, held earlier in the year. In track and field, we placed 1st overall, winning the 440 and 880 relays, and the prediction mile.

One of the highlights of the quarter came when the chapter won the IFC Scholarship Award for having the highest overall G.P.A. among 23 fraternities on campus.

The Chapter went to Indian Rocks Beach this year for a weekend. Brothers and their dates were treated to a chicken and corn barbeque by alumnus Ted Aggelis, Delta Phi '55, and his wife.

This summer, brothers from around the state will participate in a well-planned summer rush with the brothers of Delta Zeta from the University of Florida.

ORWARD planning, membership development, and financial security have become the watchwords of Epsilon Iota B-section. A group of sophomore and junior officers has taken charge with creative, organized approaches to meet our many challenges.

Our membership development and pledge education programs are now designed to build house unity and pride, while maintaining the identity of our members as individuals. We are being aided in this by the advice and assistance of Associate Dean of Activities Harry McKinley.

We are committed to a program of revitalization of our physical facility. We have repainted and polished the upstairs wings of our house to accommodate our 20 to 30 new house guests.

An agreement has been reached with Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority here at GMI to move into one wing of the shelter for the coming school year, with a lease renewable for one-year periods. The increased cash flow provided by the group has allowed us to lower our per-member fixed costs, plan much-needed repairs to our facility, and WO DAYS after A-Section's arrival in I Flint, the sisters of Theta Phi Alpha sorority kidnapped our president and demanded a keg of beer as ransom. The membership complied, with five members delivering the keg and tapper to the sorority house. Upon their arrival, the rescuing Delts learned they had been lured into a Greek party, as were all other fraternities and sororities at GMI. All Delts returned to the shelter shortly before midnight with their empty keg.

Key events included an outdoor barbeque for the sisters of Alpha Sigma Alpha, the initiation of William N. Hoffmann (our only pledge of 1978-79), and election of officers.

New A-Section officers are John Maten, president; David Petterle, vice-president; Bob Girolamo, treasurer; Bill Hoffman, assistant treasurer; Jay Malloy, corresponding secretary; Rich Young, recording secretary; Bob Sakamoto, guide; and Jim Hiller, sergeant-at-arms.

The Delt A-Tourney softball team was very competitive before being eliminated by eventual champions, Sigma Chi, in the semi-final round. Tennis and golf also were played frequently during leisure hours.

In April, Beta Delta had the honor of hosting the annual Delt Day activities, as alums from five Georgia Delt chapters converged on Athens for a weekend of softball, relaxation, and good times. When it was over, the victorious delegation from Epsilon Omega Chapter walked away with the softball trophy, while a good many others left with the memories of times shared with their Delt brothers and the queasiness that comes from over-indulgence.

This year's Rainbow Formal was one of the best in recent memory and Kingwood Country Club provided an excellent location for the event. A number of alumni turned out for the weekend in the Northeast Georgia mountains with their undergraduate brothers.

An extensive summer rush program under the direction of Rush Chairman Dutch Cofer is rapidly becoming a great success. Rush functions are planned this summer for Lake Lanier, Athens, and Atlanta.

Especially helpful to the chapter this past year has been the assistance of Division Vice-President Ty Bridges. His efforts, along with those of Dean Tate and Resident Adviser John Dangler, have put Beta Delta well on its way to another great year in 1979-80

As usual, Gamma Psi brothers have continued to be actively involved on the Tech campus. Three brothers play on the hockey team, one is involved in student government, and several are members of the Wreck Club, the Georgia Tech booster organization. Finally, the Delts once again proved their athletic ability by making the play-offs in every major spring intramural sport.

GEORGIA SOUTHERN Epsilon Omega

D URING the first six months of '79, Epsilon Omega Delts completed perhaps one of the busiest and most prosperous periods in our history. With revisions in our scholarship program, we moved up in the fraternity GPA rankings and hope to reach the top position by the end of Fall '79.

Homecoming weekend was filled with many alumni and much hard work, but with enthusiasm building we captured second place with Chi Omega Sorority in the double entry float competition.

With encouragement from Ken Walter, one of our illustrious advisers, we set out to actively participate in school organizations. After Student Government elections were held, three Delts were placed into office: Robby Stephens, president; Chris Cleveland, coordinator of academic affairs; and Bob Chapin, coordinator of budgetary affairs. We feel sure their combined efforts will have a great influence on the school as well as the Greek Community.

For a second year in a row we won the Georgia Delt Chapters Softball Tournament by defeating all chapters in Georgia. This event was held in Athens and was sponsored by the Atlanta Alumni Chapter. We'd like to thank Beta Delta for their hospitality and accommodations for the weekend.

May 17, 1979 was marked by festivities that highlighted our 10th Anniversary on campus. Many alumni could be heard sharing old stories and singing classic Delt songs that sent warm feelings through our brotherhood. Special thanks and warm goodbyes go to Jim Randall, our faculty adviser, for his countless efforts and ideas brought into our chapter. He moved to Tennessee and will surely be missed by us all.

IDAHO Delta Mu

T HIRTEEN of the brothers at Delta Mu attended the Western Divisional Conference in Boulder, Colo., in March, where the chapter was honored with its eighth Hugh Shields Award. The chapter also won the award for the most man/miles at the conference.

Twenty-one new brothers were initiated into the chapter on February 24 and three new men joined the chapter as pledges in January. In addition, 20 lovely ladies were added to our little sister program in March.

Delta Tau Delta's supremacy on the Idaho campus was again strengthened as the brothers were leaders in campus activities, won the all-Greek intramural championship for the fifth straight year, and successfully defended their University beer chugging championship.

The brotherhood undertook and successfully completed a major house renovation project this semester. New carpet and doors were put in throughout the shelter as well as new paint, panelling, ceilings and a new game room. This is a credit to lots of hard work by everyone associated with Delta Mu.

Finally, the 48th annual Russian Ball was held on April 14. It was a huge success, as the Delts once again produced the social event of the year at Idaho. Our cook, Teresa, prepared another sensational banquet with help from many brothers. Entertainment at the dance was provided by Hot Stuff, Steve Shultz, and Curt Shewmake.

We invite all brothers to visit our shelter anytime you are in the Great Northwest.

ILLINOIS TECH Gamma Beta

A FINE mixture of innovation and tradition spearheaded Gamma Beta's effort this past semester in which our chapter placed first in the Interfraternity Councils' pageant, second in basketball, and first in the Greek Week beer chug. Bruce Klein wound up his final semester at Tech by writing, directing and producing our first place pageant skit; and we wish Bruce the best of luck as an alumnus.

Campus activity was stressed this semester as brothers were elected to serve as presidents of three out of five major organizations on campus. We hope our leadership roles will carry us to our ninth consecutive All-Activities trophy. Gamma Beta also was proud and honored to receive the Hugh Shields flag and Northern Division scholarship award this semester.

Special thanks to Tim Wiener on his tireless efforts, ideas, and organization of an outstanding social committee. Tim made advertising an event as enjoyable as the event itself.

We are pleased to announce our newly elected officers for the fall semester: President Tom Forsythe; Vice President Tom Yassen; Corresponding Secretary Pat Robinson; Recording Secretary Sandy Stahlecker; and Treasurer Iim Cairns.

T HINGS at Beta Alpha are "Still Crazy" as the brothers paired with the women of Alpha Chi Omega to win first place in the 50th annual I.U. Sing. The show, which was entitled "Still Crazy After All These Years", won the Grand Prize and the award for best choreography All the hard work combined with a full house effort paid off.

As spring rolled around, the Delts were still on top as the four-member team of Wayne Palmer, Jay Davis, Nick Roknich and Jerry Davis took top honors in the "Day at the Forum" competition. The Delt Little 500 bike team, coached by Brother of the Year Ted McGrew, qualified in 7th position and rode to a successful finish. Team members included Gary Gaddis, Mark Bachman, Dave Howard, John Gall and Jerry Davis. Gaddis was named an All Star Rider and was nominated as a candidate for the Little 500 Hall of Fame.

The I.U. Delts continued to shine as they took a very close second in the all-campus intramural track meet. Wait until next year!

With the fun over for a while, the brothers cooperated with the Housing Corporation who budgeted funds for new formal furniture and carpeting for the halls. This is just the beginning of a long-needed refurbishing of the shelter.

Scholarship is still the main goal at Beta Alpha. The acceptance of brothers Gary Gaddis and Richard Drake into Phi Beta Kappa is just one proof of this goal.

Congratulations are in order for the newly elected officers: Dave Clark, internal v.p.; Nick Roknich, external v.p.; Dave Howard, recording secretary; Fritz Kauffman, corresponding secretary; Wayne Palmer, pledge trainer; and Jerry Davis, assistant treasurer. IOWA Omicron

C PRING SEMESTER was a very busy time for the Omicron Delts. Returning to the shelter after Christmas break, the Delts held their annual Winter Formal at Sundown Ski Lodge in Dubuque, where a great time was had by all.

The Delts were also proud to learn that the house G.P.A. ranked them number one on campus this year; the G.P.A. of 2.95 placed us above the all-University, all-male, all-Fraternity and all-Greek grade point averages. At the annual Scholarship Banquet held in February, Scholarship Chairman Kent Westphal presented the Arch Chapter Superior Academic Achievement Award to 14 members and announced that brothers Dave Maurer and Jerry Sagehorn had been initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa honorary leadership society.

In other areas, the Delts were in prominence among University activities: Brother Steve Cahalan has recently been elected IFC secretary; Brother Terry Walsh served as chairman of publicity for Greek Week '79. Alumnus Ron Glassner, '69, was named president of the Northern Division as well as serving as president of the Quad Cities

Alumni Chapter.

For our second semester service project, the Delts joined Gamma Phi Beta sorority in a 30-hour volleyball marathon to raise money for the University Hospital Schools. Under the direction of Activities Chairman Kevin Krause, the determined Delts and Gamma Phis weathered an eight-hour downpour and succeeded in raising $2300.

Omicron Delts were especially honored to be selected to conduct the Ritual in reactivating Beta Gamma Chapter at the University of Wisconsin at Madison in April after recolonizing them in October. Our very best wishes to the success of their chapter.

Finally, the Delts ended the year on a sad note as they bid farewell to their housemother of ten years, Mrs. Marguerite Eland, who retired. "The Goose's" spirit and dedication will be sorely missed when we return in the fall.

T HE SPRING QUARTER was a very active one for Delts at Iowa State. Much emphasis was placed on organizing plans for our new addition to be started in the spring of 1980. We were honored with a visit from Executive Vice-President Al Sheriff to discuss the matter in detail.

Spring quarter seemed to fly by for us here at Gamma Pi. Highlights included a successful Greek Week, in which several Delts held central committee positions. second place in the large division of the Veishea float competition, and our quarterly faculty-student cocktail hour and dinner

Streit

John Streit was selected into Gamma Gamma (top 1% of the Greek system) this year. Jeff Shugart was one of three recipients of the 1979 Wallace A. Barron all-university senior awards. Also, Streit was interim co-chairman, and Paul Christians was Greek Week co-chairman.

Through all the activity, Streit successfully completed his first quarter as president, as was the case of all the newly elected officers. Hard working Rush Chairmen David Goslee and Tim Holmes, along with our traveling rush chairman Joe Brummel, have an extensive summer rush program planned, with plenty of softball, swimming, and good times.

We are very optimistic about the future at Gamma Pi.

KANSAS Gamma Tau

HE SPRING semester at Gamma Tau was highlighted by successful intramural teams and Brother Glann Weatherby's winning of the KU Greek Superstars competition.

Weatherby was chosen as our representative to KU's all-fraternity competition designed to test athletic ability and endurance. Weatherby captured the title by winning the last two events, the 440-yard dash and the obstacle course.

The pledge class basketball team was undefeated, and the A team softball squad placed third in the KU softball tournament,

The pledge class completed the traditional pledge project for shelter improvement by re-building the moat in front of the house. With last year's pledge class terracing the back yard, the shelter has been upgraded noticeably.

The Brothers had two major parties this spring, the Orchid Formal, held in Wichita, Kansas, and our annual Luau party, held in the back yard. The atmosphere for the Luau party was added to by a waterfall, torches and roast pig.

Our house G.P.A. was in the top four of KU fraternities for the fifth consecutive time.

Senior Gary Hough was chosen by the brothers as this year's recipient of the Delt Al Oerter Man-of-the-Year Award. The award is given annually to the senior who displays outstanding leadership and house participation. Gary served as rush and intramurals chairman, and was pledge trainer this past year.

Senior Ed Stucky will be going to Washington next year to serve on the staff of Senator Bob Dole. Ed worked parttime in the state capitol in Topeka this past year as a legislative aide.

busy spring semester. With the onset of warm weather our interests turned to outdoor sports. In intramurals, the Delt softball team had an exceptionally good year going undefeated until losing a close battle in the fraternity finals. Track and field again was a strong sport for us, as we finished fourth in the overall standings.

We at Gamma Chi are proud to note that our second semester pledge class was by far the largest on the K-State campus, with 12 members. Pledge Bill Dantico will be a K-State vell leader next year.

Rush is going very well for us, with three very successful rush parties spring semester. This summer we should do well in signing quality men.

One program that we started this spring was a little brother program. Dave Brass has done a fine job of organizing this and many of the brothers have devoted time and effort to many of the less fortunate boys in the Manhattan area. Something of this sort can be personally gratifying, as many of us have found out.

Looking forward to next fall, the Kansas State football team should be very much improved and we'd like to invite Gamma Chi alumni to stop by the house and see us before and after the games.

KENTUCKY Delta Epsilon

THE BROTHERS of Delta Epsilon are proud to announce that we have had another very prosperous and productive year! We started the semester with a rush of 16 fine young men of whose accomplishments we have been proud as a pledge class.

Our first goal toward house expansion was initiated when the city of Lexington connected the house to the sewer system. This allowed a long time dream of our House Corporation and alumni to purchase the house adjacent to the shelter. This will allow us to house eight more brothers. bringing the total to 51. Future plans are to tear down the old annex along with the one we recently acquired, and build a new wing. This would give us space to set up for hands in the basement, as well as house all the brothers under one roof. We are hoping to raise the money sometime in the near future, in order to break ground.

We had a successful semester in intramural events. After receiving the championship title for soccer, we also won the B-team championship for basketball. Two of the brothers represented our chapter in racquetball and managed to bring home the title in that event.

THE LEARNING encountered this aca-I demic year both in and out of the classroom blessed the Delts of Kenyon College with spiritual, fraternal, and unconscious growth, teaching us to live content with small means, to seek elegance rather than luxury, and refinement rather than fashion. Most of the 22 pledges activated this year are fine individuals marked by the salutary qualities of enthusiasm, unselfish philanthropy, and enduring loyalty. The five months of pledgeship brought to a close a period whereby the strong bonds of brotherhood elicited a warm friendship between the pledges and actives.

Third and fourth spots on the tennis team were held by Delts, both of whom won their respective matches in conference competition to help Kenyon place third overall.

Achievements in the world beyond academics and sports include the raising of over $250 for the American Cancer Society. numerous beautification projects on campus, and personal involvement in campus government.

LAFAYETTE Nu

HE DELTS of Nu Chapter at Lafavette College experienced a tremendously successful spring semester. One of the major highlights of the spring term was adding six more pledges to the 12 pledges we rushed in the fall. The current pledge class, which now numbers 18, follows last year's big class of 23 pledges. Our chapter's future looks strong and promising.

The pledge class recently completed its pledge project by installing a tile floor and a rock-based table in our chapter room. Several pledges also assisted in making intramural sports successful for the Delts. During the spring semester Delt teams excelled in wrestling, billiards, and softball, enabling Nu Chapter to finish in the top five among fraternities and living groups on campus.

The Delts, while excelling in sports, also participated in community service projects by running in the United Way Marathon and working with the local Easton police in a fund raising campaign.

In closing, underclass brothers appreciated the inspiration and hard work exhibited by the departing senior class. During their years as active brothers, they have led the way in both the physical appearance of the shelter, and creating a strong brother-

Z ETA BETA CHAPTER is looking good. We just finished a Disco Marathon for Muscular Dystrophy, in which we raised over $15,000. We worked for two quarters organizing it and having May 18-19 declared Muscular Dystrophy Days. We also worked collecting money for the Heart Fund, raising over $300. We are proud of these events

The chapter is planning a great rush for 1979-80. We're working hard improving our shelter, removing carpets, fixing hardwood floors, repairing our bar room, and fixing an outside bar. We've replanted our yard and landscaped around the house.

Things are looking good for the chapter and we are all excited about the coming

LAWRENCE Delta Nu

HE DELTA NU shelter is now quiet. The card room is empty; the schoss and poker notes have been distributed. The basement is peaceful; the ringing of the pinball machine, the "resounding clanks" emanating from the foosball table, the juke box tunes and the Indian whoops have ceased.

Yet, for the brothers of Delta Nu, many fine memories of the past year linger, not only of the activities within the house, but those extending from it as well. Namely, the noteworthy contributions we've made to the campus and community.

Possibly our finest effort was raising $500 for Muscular Dystrophy by selling brats and beer at Lawrence's annual spring fair: Celebrate. We also participated in a marathon softball game which made a significant financial contribution to the U.S. Olympic Team (a hopeful future member of which is alum Ron Wopat).

The brothers also enjoyed a Sunday afternoon with kids involved in children's recreation, serving them brunch and playing softball. The day ended with the kids becoming honorary "Little Delts"

A number of us recently enjoyed a fantastic weekend at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. We assisted in ushering the reinstalled Beta Gamma Chapter into Delta Tau Delta by performing the Rite of Iris ceremony. Congratulations, Beta Gamma!

Many alums are seeming to return to our newly painted house more often, one reason being to partake of Flo's (our gourmet cook's) great meals. Flo is well known throughout campus and is one of Delta Nu's greatest assets.

Our annual retreat was held at Devils' Lake - the water was cold, yet it failed to discourage the brothers. The excellent weekend culminated with the activation of nine fine pledges.

LEHIGH Beta Lambda

THE BETA LAMBDA Chapter is once again pleased to announce that, due to the outstanding efforts by the brothers and the members of the pledge class, the house for the third consecutive year ran away with the 1979 Greek Week activities at Lehigh. While accumulating nearly twice the points of the second-place competitor, the house left 31 other fraternities lying along the wayside.

Along with the triumphant Greek Week, the spring semester also featured the Parent and Alumni Weekend. The weekend was highlighted by the alumni-brothers softball game in which the alumni emerged victorious. Among the alumni making a showing on the field once again were George Burk, Paul Schmitt, and Nick Emper.

Other news from the shelter includes the signing of Mike Rieker, '78, with Green Bay. Best of luck to Mike! Also, there are to be some renovations to the house. Renovations include work on the kitchen, and the replacement of drapes and doors. We hope that all the alumni will stop to see the shelter when the work has been completed.

LOUISIANA STATE Epsilon Kappa

THE BROTHERS of EK Chapter have again completed a highly active and successful spring semester. In February, after two weeks of hard training, the Delts donned LSU Tiger uniforms and played a full length tackle football game against Kappa Alpha fraternity. The event, called "Charity Bowl", was held in Tiger Stadium and raised over $5,000 for Muscular Dystrophy.

In March, we held a very successful Rainbow Formal in Pensacola Beach, Fla. In April, the Delts teamed with Pi Beta Phi sorority to win first place and the Governor's Trophy in LSU's Cajun Festival, "Jam-Jam" (short for Jambalaya Jamboree), the largest campus-sponsored event of the year; all fraternities and sororities compete.

Participants were graded on Cajun food, entertainment, Cajun dancing, crawfish relays, and Mr. & Mrs. Jam-Jam.

Also this spring, our chapter hosted Louisiana's Delt Day. All four Louisiana chapters competed in various sports, ate, drank, and had a great time. Our chapter capped first place by winning in football, softball, and tug-of-war.

To top off the spring, we once again held our annual Crawfish Boil, open to the public. Before the end of the day, 2,000 pounds of crawfish and 25 kegs of beer were consumed.

The chapter is high in spirits and looking forward to next fall's rush.

MAINE Gamma Nu

T HE WARMER spring weather brought about a flurry of activities here at Maine. Among them was the initiation of 19 new members into Delthood on April 22. On St. Patrick's, an annual festive occasion at the University of Maine, the brothers of Gamma Nu participated in the Shamrocks for Dystrophy fund-raising campaign and were able to raise $250 for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy.

In academics we were one of the top four houses on campus, according to the G.P.A. rating system. Intramurals, under the supervision of Athletic Director Jim Lipton, finished a strong fourth in the all-points standing. The season was highlighted by the Delt hockey team, which won the fraternity and campus championships.

The annual D'Jamaica Party highlighted the social calendar. For this party our game room is decorated like a tropical island, complete with palm trees, sand beaches and a grass hut. The Brothers attend appropriately dressed as natives or tourists.

We hope that a lot of you from the Eastern Division come up for the 1980 Divisionals which we are hosting in Bangor.

A summer get-together is being planned by Brothers Terrio and Mercer in their hometown area of Cape Cod, Mass.

MARYLAND Delta Sigma

THE SPRING '79 semester will be remembered by Maryland Delts as one of hard work and brotherly spirit. Many brothers, above and beyond being participants in the running of the shelter, took an active part in campus activities: John Fraser, former president of Delta Sigma, was selected as the outstanding Greek leader of the year; Mark Norwicz, chapter president, is president of the Kalegethos society (a Greek honorary); and John Novello is president of Gate and Key (a Greek social honorary). Also, Stan Tatko became a member of the IFC Executive Council with his election to IFC athletic chairman.

Teaming with Delta Gamma sorority, we raised over $500 for the blind in DG's annual Anchor Splash. The Delts and DG's also won second place for spirit during Greek Week. We are initiating a new philanthropy project next fall for Children's Hospital in Washington, D.C.; hopefully it will become an annual event.

In sports, Delta Sigma captured first place in basketball, and reached the playoffs in softball and lacrosse.

All of the brothers are anticipating the initiation of nine good pledges to carry on the Delt spirit. We would like to wish good luck to all other chapters in hopes of a successful rush in the fall!

MIAMI Gamma Upsilon

L OOKING over the school year, the brothers of Gamma Upsilon can be proud of both their accomplishments and their great strides forward in service work.

Gamma Upsilon chapter was honored for the second time with the Hugh Shields Award. We are extremely proud and the award has acted as a greater incentive towards achieving our new goals and ideas for the coming year. We were also recognized by the Symposiarch Club of America with the philanthropy award for the top fraternity service effort on campus.

In memory of a good friend and brother, the first annual Richard Sammons Memorial Walkathon was held April 8. Over 50 pledges and actives took part in the 15-mile walk. The $3500 raised will be divided between the Heart Fund and a local hospital for modification of their heart equipment.

Gamma Upsilon also fared well in sports this year, capturing our divisional all-sports trophy. With the all-campus football team and high finishes in the other sports, we came out on top. We also sponsored our annual all-Delt basketball tourney, with 12 Delt teams from five different states participating. The Delts from Northwestern took honors this year.

Spirits are high as we anxiously await 31 new actives and four new pledges joining us in the shelter this fall. Homecoming will be an extra big affair this year as we celebrate the tenth anniversary of our shelter. All are welcome!

R USH gave Delta Chapter 10 more men, to bring our total to 56 for the year, with 30 men in the house — quite a turn around from a couple of years ago. The pledges got to know each other quickly when they spent a weekend in February up north in a cabin.

After that weekend it seemed our house was busy. The revival of Parents Day with a banquet, play and party was a full scale success. The brothers and parents are already looking forward to next year.

The following weekend, four brothers went to Northern Division Conference, while others went to Butler University. It was a great time at Butler. Thanks, brothers! At Division Conference, Delta Chapter received the award for Most Improved Chapter in the Northern Division, news we are proud to convey to our alumni.

In March, after spring break, it was time for Greek Week '79. Wolverine Delts did it again, by placing second in the Men's Division of Greek Sing and second in over-all standings. The best part was getting to know our partners, the spirited, beautiful Alpha Phis.

Before we knew it, the term was ending. Spring Pledge Formal was held at a beautiful country club (a pleasant difference from hotel banquet rooms). With Initiation on the last day of classes, finals were on us quicker than many brothers knew. Everyone did well

Delta Chapter is looking forward to an even better year during our chapter's centennial. Have a great summer and see you all at the centennial.

MISSOURI Gamma Kappa

U PON RETURNING to school in January, Gamma Kappa initiated 12 pledges and took on a spring pledge class of eight men. Summer rush is going well. Two spring rush weekends at the shelter brought 60 rushees, half of whom have been placed on a priority list. Summer rush parties have been scheduled in St. Louis, Kansas City, Jefferson City and Columbia.

At a House Corporation meeting on February 10, Gary Strong was elected to be the new House Corporation president. At that meeting it was decided to purchase new living room furniture. The furniture has arrived and is modern in design.

Our charity project this spring was a broomball tournament co-sponsored by Coors. It was held at the local ice rink the weekend of March 17. Delta Omicron chapter from Westminster sponsored a team. One of the highlights of the event was the raffling of a date with a Playboy Bunny.

Gamma Kappa once again participated in Greek Fling, losing in the preliminaries. Our partner for Greek Fling was Alpha Phi. At the Greek Week banquet Gamma Kappa fared much better, receiving the "most improved chapter award" presented by IFC.

Four Delts made it into the finals in wrestling, three winning by pins and one losing by decision. Overall Gamma Kappa did well in intramurals taking tenth place for the second year in a row.

E PSILON NU CHAPTER has had a very rewarding spring semester. We headed a drive to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy and raised over $900. During this time we have been working hard on our rush program and it looks as if we are going to reap many rewards from our hard work.

One of our members, Dave Hall, was drafted by the New Orleans Saints in the professional football draft. Dave has been looking forward to this moment for many years and the members of Epsilon Nu wish him luck in his endeavor in professional football.

Beta Tau

B ETA TAU Chapter had an exciting spring semester. The chapter received many awards, both on the national level and within the local fraternity system.

We are proud of winning the Hugh Shields award for the second straight year. This year's graduating seniors have played an extremely important role in the chapter winning this award. The chapter salutes these seniors and wishes them much luck in the future.

For the second time our chapter won an award for the most innovative pledge training program. This award is given out by the University's IFC. Nick Emanuel and Dave Savage, last year's pledge trainers, are to be congratulated for the fine program they put together.

The chapter is proud of the 29 newly initiated members. The house also added some physical improvements. One of these was the planting of a new lawn. This was done under the direction of Francis Emanuel, our house "fix-it" man. Also we recarpeted our second floor with the money coming from some diligent work by the members themselves and also our House Corporation.

Since this will be my last job as corresponding secretary, I would like to thank the members of the Fraternity for three great years. Although I'll be going to professional school, Delta Tau Delta and the many happy memories will forever remain with me. Thanks, guys, for three great years.

NORTHWESTERN Beta Pi

F OR BETA PI Chapter, spring quarter was busy, fun and rewarding. Our main social event was the 4th annual "Drink For Those Who Can't," a 15-hour party to raise funds for kidney research. With the help of four bands, hundreds of hot dogs, 25 kegs of beer, and the leadership of Social Chairman Dave Lesch, Delts netted $550 for the Renner Memorial Fund. Freshman Stu P. Ledge seemed to sum up everyone's attitude toward the day: "It was a wild time!"

Led by Steve Sovak and Joe Taylor, the Delts pulled together in an attempt to win Miller Brewing's "Great Pick 'Em Up" can collecting contest. In amassing more than 11,000 cans and bottles, Beta Pi virtually doubled the effort of their closest rival. For its efforts, the chapter received a $1,500 stereo system for the living room.

In sports, Hugh G., the chapter's intramural softball team, had a long hard season. After some early season injuries and hard luck, the Hugh G.'s failed to match last year's playoff successes. Team captain Tim MacKenzie noted: "At midseason Hugh G. was not up for the action. Consequently, we did not score enough. But with hard work next season, we might easily tower above the rest."

OHIO Beta

R OBERT HARTFORD, '36, former international president of the Fraternity and current historian, was featured speaker at our Founders Day program on April 21. He also received Beta Chapter's Distinguished Service Award. Much credit for a successful program goes to Kevin Baxter, for all the hard work he put into the event.

Another major spring event was J-Prom. Teaming with a campus sorority, the Delts spent many hours preparing for a 15-minute skit. It required a great deal of work writing the skit, planning choreography, designing and constructing flats and a banner, making costumes, and writing words to go with popular music. This year we finished third, but managed to collect first-place trophies for best flats and best banner.

Louis DiGiandomenico was J-Prom chairman and his effort contributed much to the highly successful event.

The chapter fared very well in spring Greek Week competition, which began with a picnic for all fraternities and sororities, then progressed to an assortment of activities leading to Friday's Greek Games. We won two firsts, a second, and two thirds in the Games, and also received the Greek Week Sportsmanship Award.

With all these activities, the chapter still received one of the better grade point averages on campus. We will return in the fall with a strong chapter and a full house.

OHIO WESLEYAN

M U CHAPTER welcomed back a number of alumni and friends last May 12, Monnett Weekend, to honor our Chapter Adviser Tom Reichelderfer who has filled that post for the last six years. Tom has been with the chapter through many constructive as well as difficult times, and his continued service and sincere guidance have been most helpful. On May 12, it was our chance to express our appreciation for such service.

Mu would like to recognize four tremendous seniors who received degrees June 10. Mike Campolo, who served as president in 1978 (during the chapter's municipal court battle) was accepted to Ohio University School of Osteopathic Medicine. Former pledge trainer John Barger, a member of the History Student Board, will be studying political theory next year at Oxford (England). Frank Skokan, a theater major who played leading roles in 12 plays while here at OWU and a member of the theater honorary, Theta Alpha Phi, will pursue his theatrical career at the Stella Adler Studio in New York City. Our former treasurer, Gerald Maust, a psychology student Board member, was a student assistant in one of the dorms this year. A third of our pledges came from his hall, thanks to his efforts.

Winter term our fraternity had the highest G.P.A. on campus. Junior Bruce Lynch was tapped for the senior honorary Mortar Board. Our president, Fred Newton, now heads a core of student volunteers who help the community fire department as emergency medical assistants. Junior Phil Holmes is student affairs editor of The Transcript. Freshman Mark Hodgdon is the school's attorney general on Campus Judiciary, and junior Lex Hartline remains active in the community's Big Brother program.

We're quite busy at Mu!

OKLAHOMA Delta Alpha

DELTA ALPHA CHAPTER once again enjoyed a successful semester this spring, as brothers captured awards in all ranges of campus life. At the Western Division Conference in Boulder, the chapter was awarded the Top 20 award in the Fraternity, and hopes are high for regaining the Hugh Shields award next year.

In early March, 20 men ended their pledgeship and were initiated into membership. The chapter is very proud of this group of men.

Individually, many Delts were recognized on campus. Four men were awarded the Gamma Gamma award, signifying the top one percent of Greek life. Two sophomores were awarded the Crimson Crest for leadership and scholarship. Both of these numbers were tops on campus. A Delt was also elected IFC president, and others were seen as Top Ten Greek men, Top Ten Senior men, IFC rush chairman, and OU Day chairman.

As a house, Delt members led the large fraternities in scholarship and were second overall. The Delt softball team also captured the IFC trophy in one of the most exciting games ever.

All in all it was a very satisfying semester for the OU Delts.

OKLAHOMA STATE Delta Chi

T AKING HOME our ninth Hugh Shields Award from the Western Division Conference put us only one away from retiring an unprecedented two flags for our Delt Shelter.

In retrospect, the 1978-79 school year was very busy for us. Many long hours of hard work last fall with Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority during Homecoming paid off. Our float, depicting a three-ring circus, won the President's Cup for the overall best single entry. Intramural sports have always been important to Delt Chi Chapter. This year we won All-fraternity in basketball and softball and second place in wrestling. Teamed with Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority we placed third in Spring Sing, our university variety show. We were proud of our pledges last year. They earned the highest pledge class G.P.A. on campus.

In May, we kicked off a fund raising project to raise $100,000 to begin construction on a new shelter. Although we're very excited about the activities in store for the 1979-80 school year, talk about the possibility of a new Shelter never ceases.

OREGON STATE Delta Lambda

A S SPRING term rolled in, so did the Delts at Oregon State. Steve Locke headed up our annual keg roll which raised over $4,000 for the Kidney Association of Oregon. With help from our brother houses at University of Oregon and Willamette, we started our journey from Corvalis on Friday afternoon and arrived at the Blitz Brewery in Portland on Sunday afternoon. We were able to beat last year's total of $4,132.

Our spring house dance was held in a small town located on the Southern Oregon coast. Depoe Bay was the site where over 50 couples gathered for a weekend filled with sunshine, beach parties and a moonlight hoe-down held at the Depoe Bay community center.

The Delt soccer team kicked its way to the playoffs and pounded Delta Upsilon by a score of 5 to 1. Kieron Walford led the team in scoring.

As spring term rolled out, Bruce Emerson, rush chairman, began his organization for summer rush. With Bruce's leadership, we look forward to another great rush.

PENN STATE Tau

T HE FIRST YEAR in the new shelter was a good one for Tau as 26 men were pledged during the year. Next fall Tau undergraduates will return to a full house of 48 men.

In addition to a strong rush program, the Delts finished 10th out of 51 fraternities in grade point average and 16th in intramurals for the year.

In the fall, Tau is looking forward to Homecoming, making improvements on the shelter and the Eastern Division football tournament, which will be held in October. All Eastern Division schools will be receiving more information in the mail about the tournament.

The Tau shelter is located at 429 E. Hamilton Avenue in State College.

PITTSBURGH Gamma Sigma

S EVENTY-FIVE diamond years is what Gamma Sigma will be celebrating this fall, and all alumni are urged to set aside that special weekend in November, so that the diamond anniversary will be celebrated in the fashion that it justly deserves.

This past term has been a busy one at Gamma Sigma, with the chapter exercising leadership in all walks of campus life. We received an honorable mention for the Hugh Shields award, and all have resolved that a Hugh Shields flag, in addition to the Karnea, will be in Pittsburgh in 1980. This year's Greek Week, which raised over $30,000 for the American Cancer Society, was chaired by our own Gene Manasterski, who was also selected as the IFC man of the year.

Four men, Mark Fiorenza, Mark Kosweicz, Peter DeLucca, and Jeffrey Durosko, became new members of Gamma Sigma this spring. The "rush for the diamond" promises to be one of the best ever, and is currently being coordinated through the efforts of rush chairman Ed Wallender.

Gamma Sigma continued to be a leader in the realm of scholarship activity, holding the second of its "Relevant Issues in Society" symposia. The spring symposium was entitled the "Oil Crisis and Its Effect on Society." Among panelists were: Dr. Michael Spiro, a noted economist on the oil industry, Dr. Michael Bickerman, a noted geologist, and Mr. Jeffrey Reardon, a senior officer with Gulf Oil Corporation. The event was especially successful.

B ETA THETA Chapter once again enjoyed a splendid semester filled with fun and activities.

Several of the brothers were involved in various activities on campus. Brother Drew Broach ('79) served as manager for WUTS, the campus radio station. Also, athletics at the University saw the involvement of several Delts. Brothers Scott Jamieson ('82) and Bayard Leonard ('82) both participated in varsity tennis, and Brother Roger Sorlien ('82) was involved in the lacrosse club. Also, Brother Benny Waterfield ('81) played varsity baseball, and Brother Tim Russell ('82) was a participant in University baseball.

The chapter fared well in IM events this semester. Our basketball team qualified for the playoffs, as did our softball team. Also, Beta Theta Chapter captured the IM volleyball crown.

This semester saw the brothers involved in several community projects. A dance was sponsored which raised a substantial sum of money for Muscular Dystrophy. We also participated in the annual Sewanee community help day, which we won last year.

All of these accomplishments (coupled with an excellent semester socially) give good reason for us, including our nine newly initiated, to look forward to next fall with high hopes.

Herb Hobgood

SOUTH DAKOTA Delta Gamma

A TDELTA GAMMA we have taken great pride in raising the house G.P.A. from ninth out of nine fraternities to first last fall, in just a two-year span. The Delts had another fine semester this spring with many members being inducted into honoraries—such as Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Pi Sigma Alpha, and others. The Delts expect to be on top this spring with a G.P.A. above 3.0.

Delta Gamma was honored at the Western Division Conference by being named the most improved chapter in the division. Much hard work by many individuals went into attainment of the honor and we plan to continue this upward trend. We would like to give special recognition to our alumni who helped make this possible with both their wisdom and financial assistance.

Delts were busy the first month of the semester working on a Strollers Show — song and dance performance — with the women of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Although the show did not place, a good time was had by all. Delta Gamma also competed well in many intramural events.

Delta Gamma hosted another successful Founder's Day this spring. Delts started rush off successfully with excellent attendance at Greek Week. Plans for summer rush already have been mapped out and will culminate in a weekend campout at Lake Mitchell.

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA

Epsilon Phi

A LTHOUGH spring semester can be slow and uneventful, Delts of Epsilon Phi Chapter kept things rolling from the first week to the last day in the semester. Included among our many service projects were a blood drive and a trip to an SLU basketball game for a group of special children.

Our chapter took first in scholastics, with 12 active members on the Dean's List. The chapter's overall grade-point average was higher than the all-male student average on campus.

In sports, E Phi took the All-Sports trophy on campus, taking 2nd in basketball, 1st in bowling, and 1st in softball.

A major highlight of the spring semester was the 10th Anniversary Rainbow Formal. Guest speaker for the banquet was Niles Hellmers, first president of E Phi. It was a special evening enjoyed by all.

Climax of the fulfilling semester was Inspiration Week for the pledges. After going through the rigors of pledgeship, eight men have completed the requirements for becoming active members of E Phi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. With the loss of only three members to graduation, the initiation of these men brings total membership to 43, representing the largest the chapter has ever been.

As the chapter nears 50 members, with over 60% of them being out-of-towners, we have begun plans for an addition to the shelter. Architectural plans were submitted in June and construction is expected to begin by July. At this time we have already formulated our schedule for fall rush and we honestly believe that we will reach 65 members by this time next year. It is our firm belief that, by 1980, SLU will not only contain the most spirited Delt chapter in La., but also the largest.

G OOD LUCK to the seniors; you're real people now. It's the end of the road for several and only the beginning for most. Special note should be given to brother Tom Palilonis who became only the fourth person in Tech history to graduate with a perfect 4.0. We're looking forward to the upcoming fall semester.

Dennis Lang led the lacrosse team to a very successful season. We've again captured many influential positions on campus. Our future looks strong with 18 incoming pledges to replace our outgoing seniors.

The Buzzards of Rho chapter again captured the coveted All Sports Crown.

SYRACUSE Gamma Omicron

L OOKING BACK over the past semester, Gamma Omicron has realized many of its long range goals.

The Eastern Division Conference, held in Syracuse in March, proved to be the largest the Division has seen in years. It was at this time that Gamma Omicron received the first of its honors. The Hugh Shields Award for Chapter Excellence was presented by Division President "Lew" Llewllyn at the traditional Saturday night banquet. This realized a five year goal for the chapter.

Following this, in April, the chapter was honored by the university administration for the second year in a row as top fraternity on campus, with the Chancellor's Cup. This marks a record unprecedented on the S.U. campus; Gamma Omicron has ranked in the top three fraternities since 1974.

The chapter became fraternity intramural champion for the first time this year. The track team took All-Fraternity honors while the ski and horseshoe teams went all the way to take All-University titles.

In the wake of all this, Gamma Omicron has by no means neglected its community service projects. Along with a volunteer usher program at the old Loew's Theater, Gamma Omicron continues to lead in the Dance Marathon for Muscular Dystrophy. The Marathon, started by GO Delts in 1973, became the first in history to break the $300,000 mark. This year over $60,000 was raised. Gamma Omicron raised over $3,700 and placed second this year with its popular "Disco Network" event.

S PRING SEMESTER brought a promising future for Gamma Iota. After initiating a fine fall pledge class we concluded the spring semester with five additional young men who we feel will make a large contribution to the chapter in the years to come.

Gamma Iota socially kicked-off rush this past spring with the annual Round-Up Weekend. Round-Up festivities commenced with our own B&B Bash. Chuck Frazier helped the weekend with a first prize in the float contest. Round-Up was a big success; however, Gamma Iota's own automobile, "The Delt Mobile," unfortunately ceased to operate after carrying rushees on a tour of Austin.

In intramurals the Delts displayed themselves well by making the playoffs in basketball. The softball team clinched the fraternity division and Bob Carrozza won his weight division in Sigma Chi Fight Night.

The spring of '79 proved to be a major success largely because of our Alumni Weekend. The weekend consisted of a golf tournament, a banquet, and a big-band-era party. Our guest speaker was The Rev. Grover C. McElyea, Arch Chapter first vice-president.

TEXAS A&I Epsilon Lambda

I N SPRING '79 we signed eight fine pledges: Jeff Grossman, James Henderson, Randy Majek, Cam McFarland, Jim Parrish, Gary Pyron, Bryan Yaklin and Greg Yaklin.

The chapter also initiated seven outstanding brothers at the first of the season: John Batchelder, Dale Coalson, Mike Dittrich, Steve Glick, Ed Herbst, Jeff Marshall, and Damian Scherpereel. We also initiated six fine brothers at the end of the semester on Founders Day: Jeff Grossman, Randy Majek, Cam McFarland, Gary Pyron, Bryan Yaklin and special initiate Wiley Mitchell from the Alpha pledge class.

Several brothers have been involved with Greek and campus activities. Mark Motheral was elected vice-president of IFC while Mike Scramuzza was elected treasurer. Another brother, David Zeller, received the "Outstanding Greek Man" Award. In recent campus elections Brothers Ray Moncus and Steve Bogener were elected representatives on the Student Union Governing Board for the coming school year. We also did well in intramural sports, as we received the IFC basketball and softball trophies.

We finished the semester with everyone having a great time at Founders Day. The evening was capped with the awards ceremony at which Steve Sifers received the chapter's "Regan Nolan Sports Award" for his excellence in athletics for the year. Also David Zeller received the chapter's "Joe Bowdler Memorial Award" as the outstanding graduating senior. "Outstanding Alumnus" Award went to Mike Dyer.

TEXAS A&M Crescent Colony

T HIS SPRING was a good one. In the Alpha Delta Pi Playday we placed second in the "Superstars" contest, a couple of points behind the first-place finisher, and we placed well in the overall competition.

The colony is at an all-time high in membership, and with a good rush this fall we should meet the chartering standards.

Also, this fall we will sponsor a booth in the Delta Zeta "Greek Affair," a carnival to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. Finally we will be defending our first-place finish in last year's Chi Omega Songfest competition.

TEXAS AT ARLINGTON Epsilon Rho

W E TEXANS were beginning to wonder if there really was a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. What with finals soon gnawing at our innards, no evidence of our fabled new shelter being started, and the price of gasoline approaching $100 a teaspoon, chapter members soon became enthralled with cult offerings and the French Foreign Legion.

But, just as predictable as a re-run of Leave It To Beaver, Epsilon Rho has seen the light and all is well in Rangerville.

Our 5,000+ square-foot house was started in early June, no one wore the dunce cap, and gas is back down to 80 cents a gallon. A tip of the 10-gallon hat to Chapter Adviser Col. Esthel O. Stroube and House Corporation member Bruce Orr for their dijence and sacrifice toward the establishment of the first-ever new fraternity house along UTA's young Greek Row.

Athletically, everyone wore white hats this past spring as the Delts went undefeated in fraternity volleyball, basketball, and softball, and captured first place in cross-country and track. This all led to the recapturing of the All-Sports Trophy, an award to be discontinued after this year.

We were once again proud of our "Texas State Fraternity Softball Tournament," a gala event that originally had 38 different teams from across the state, but, due to a rain rescheduling, we nevertheless ended up with 24 teams. Hats off to committee heads Beaux Riley (Finance), Craig Fegley (Alumni), and Bob Ramsey (Rush), for jobs done above and beyond the call of duty. And now if we can just get our horses to run a little faster on the Turnpike.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN Epsilon Beta

T HE MEN of Epsilon Beta had a year marked by changes, new approaches to old traditions, and a whole lot of fun. The officers, Dave Salmon, president, Mark Pellegrino, vice-president, Brian Robeck, treasurer, and Kevin Halkola, recording secretary, all showed the enthusiasm and know-how necessary to achieve individual and group goals. With very few seniors leaving, the leadership potential is again boundless next year.

In sports, the Delts took third, while taking the volleyball, golf, and racquetball titles. We also finished third in the Texas at Arlington Delts statewide softball tourney, which the UTA Delts will tell you is quite an achievement.

It looks like we'll finish first in academics for this semester, too, so scholarship has definitely not been forgotten.

Our Animal House Party, as well as our Airport party and South Sea Island parties, were complete successes.

Speaking of success, we threw an all-TCU dance marathon for Muscular Dystrophy that turned out being the largest money-making event of the year at TCU. Our spring pledges made it through, and our minds are all on fall rush, with rush parties planned for Dallas, Fort Worth, the Houston area, St. Louis, Chicago, and possibly Kansas City.

The tragic death of President Bill Fraering hit home at Epsilon Beta, as he had visited us only a few weeks prior. Our regrets are heartfelt.

TEXAS TECH Epsilon Delta

H ELLO from the land of cotton, duststorms, and tumbleweeds. This spring Epsilon Delta started off by dedicating our new lodge. Moving from our old shack on Broadway that we had occupied for over 20 years was a big step for us. We thank the national officers for helping us with the dedication ceremonies.

Epsilon Delta plans to initiate 19 ambitious new members in the fall. Graduating seniors Marvin Brown, Lee Walker, Chris Rogers, Dan Dungan, Tom Rice, Wayne Schulz, Rob Seymore, Lee Puckitt, Tim Liberato, Rick Bondurant and Greg Davis have dedicated much of their effort to the chapter and will be greatly missed.

The USC Trojans will make their Hub City debut with the Texas Tech Red Raiders on September 8. I've heard from some of our transient brothers who visited Delta Pi in May, that the Trojans promise a good show.

We gave immense effort this year in campus activities with excellent results. We won the first place team trophy in DG Anchor Splash and Sig Ep Fight Night and placed third in IFC blanket points. We raised money for the chapter by working at the Lubbock Arts Festival and have donated more blood than any other campus organi-

TUFTS Beta Mu

S PRING semester started off with a bang this year as 12 new brothers joined the ranks of Beta Mu. One of the strongest classes our chapter has seen in quite some time, these men show much promise for strong leadership and have much to contribute to overall chapter quality.

Another highlight of the beginning semester was our participation in the initiation of the reinstalled Weslevan chapter. Gamma Zeta. It was quite an event and a great time was had by all. Also, a dance marathon was sponsored with the girls at Wheelock College and over $2,500 was raised for Muscular Dystrophy.

Active roles were played by this year's Delts in IFC, Student Congress and the Observer. Athletically, sailing was our strongest involvement with seven brothers on the varsity team. Other sports include tennis, swimming, rugby, hockey and the bike team. Intramural sports were very successful with a first place showing in squash and second place ranks in track and tennis.

Suggestions and information from any alumni would be greatly appreciated for this fall's alumni directory. Bio-sketch forms were sent out in the spring newslet-

As the semester draws to a close, we are getting psyched for the summer and happily looking forward to the addition of a new roof and paved driveway.

TULANE Beta Xi

OOKING BACK at the academic year, Beta Xi brothers remember a drive for Muscular Dystrophy, in which our idea was to hold a Grand Prix Race, made up of gocarts at a local track. Brothers sought donations from businesses, and each car had a driving team of two brothers and a little sister. We initiated five men in the spring. As their project, they built a new brick wall bearing the letters of our Fraternity.

Serving cocktails and dinner, followed by a casino night, we honored our alumni at a Founders Day party. Alumnus Pharence O'Kelly broke the casino bank, winning our grand prize.

VILLANOVA Zeta Theta

S PRING SEMESTER was one in which the Delts reestablished their dominance on Villanova's campus. It started off with a fine rush program which produced 23 quality pledges.

With support of the spirited pledge class. the basketball team won the fraternity championship for the eighth straight year. Next up, the Delts captured the Greek Week title by rallying to win three out of the last four events to overtake early leader Lambda Chi Alpha.

By winning Greek Week, the Delts had gained enough points to be awarded the Greek Year championship for an unprecedented eighth year in a row.

Chapter morale reached its peak during the final week of the school year when the brothers won the University softball championship with a "clutch" come-frombehind victory over a determined Sigma Phi Epsilon team.

Looking ahead to next semester, one of the highlights will certainly be the initiation ceremony in which over 50 men will go through the Ritual. Also, Zeta Theta Chapter will host a basketball tournament with invitations being sent to all neighboring Delt chapters.

WABASH Beta Psi

F ILLED with outstanding sports performances, alumni generosity, and many new members, the 1978-79 school year will go down as eventful. In capturing the overall IM trophy, outstanding individual performances were too numerous to mention. The Delts were victorious in the bicycle race, canoe race, bowling, and the indoor track meet where meet records were set in the relay events.

Three Delts contributed to the 11th place finish of the college swim team. They are graduates Kevin Schied and Ralph Dixon, and sophomore Kirk Dixon. Kirk gained All-American status with a 7th place finish in the medley relay team. Ralph placed 7th in the 100 back and 50 freestyle, and 10th in the 100 free. In football, graduate Randy Melinger was voted most valuable offensive player and was also a co-captain.

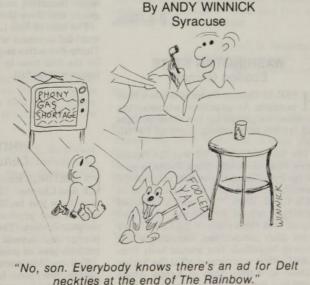

Alumnus Charles Candiano was recognized for his generosity to the chapter with a plaque and rousing applause. Chuck donated to the chapter a studio Dokorder professional tape deck.

At the hands of President Ralph P. Dixon. Jr., the Parents Club has formalized plans to preserve the fine wood floor of the dining room, providing the house with lasting value and beauty.

Pledging 34 and graduating 13, the chapter is growing stronger and looking forward to an active and academically productive neckties at the end of The Rainbow.

WASHINGTON & JEFFERSON Gamma

T HE SPRING semester was a busy and exciting one for the Delts of Gamma Chapter. With the election of new officers, and a new spring pledge class, the Delts have upheld their reputation as a leading fraternity on campus.

After many months of hard work during fall rush, under the direction of Rush Chairman Lyston Lea, our efforts were rewarded in February when 11 fine men accepted their bids for membership in Delta Tau Delta. At this time, the brothers of Gamma Chapter would like to extend our congratulations and warmest welcome to those 11 men.

During pledging, these 11 men showed tremendous enthusiasm to become Delts. One of the many things our pledges strived for was improvement of the overall G.P.A. Many brothers served as tutors and, under the supervision of Scholarship Chairman Donald Dazen, academic achievements were attained. At Easter, the pledges collected donations to buy a four-foot chocolate bunny which was given to Children's Hospital. Such gestures as this one proved these men were ready to become Delts.

As usual, our social calendar was kept full for the semester. Social Chairman Bill Mihm supplied four bands for various social functions this semester, the highlight being the "speak-easy" party which was organized by the senior class. Decorations, cash bar, and a casino atmosphere set the stage for an extremely successful party.

Finally, we would like to commend our House Corporation which has done such a fine job in assisting us in the past. With their working efforts and allowances last semester, we were able to purchase a beer cooler and new drapes for our game-room and chapter room. With the perseverance of the House Corporation and the Brotherhood. next semester should be even more productive.

Bill Mihm

WASHINGTON STATE Epsilon Gamma

H ERE AT Epsilon Gamma, it was a busy semester. As we entered winter/spring semester, we picked up two more pledges and we are now getting psyched for fall rush.

The first activity of '79 was the Acacia Snow Bust, in which Mark Petrie, a new pledge from Canada, took first place in the giant slalom. In March we participated in IFC's Greek Week "79", which included hosting a wheel exchange. Also, Lee Bogard took third place in the Greek Week Super Stars competition, including a first place in basketball. Our annual Sally Sunshine Contest was capped off at the Spring Formal, as Karen Aure of Kappa Alpha Theta was crowned Sally Sunshine 1979.

We completed work on a basketball court and barbecue, erected as a memorial to Lynn Heimbigner, a member who was killed in a motorcycle accident last June.

Kegger, our annual alumni reunion function, was held in Eden Valley and went off without getting rained on this year. All in all, our endeavors for the semester went great!

Larry Brown

WESTERN ILLINOIS Zeta Lambda

HE MEN of Zeta Lambda have had a I very busy but worthwhile spring semester. It all started off with the 1979 Interfraternity Council Awards Banquet. Brothers along with the chapter were honored. Mike Shonrock, past IFC president, was presented the "Greek Man of the Year" award for his contributions to the Greek System and the university.

The chapter was also one of three fraternities on campus to receive a Commendation for Fraternal Excellence. This places Delta Tau Delta on top here at WIU. Dean Chudy, Bruce Hadsall, and Dave Duncan were also honored for their service on IFC.

Over 50 actives and alumni challenged the Current River on April 28 and 29. This is an annual event which is drawing more and more alumni each year.

May 12 was the date for our 1979 Luau and House Corporation Meeting. At the meeting major renovation plans for the shelter were discussed. These changes will take place over the summer. Some 250 people including parents, campus dignitaries, alumni, and actives attended the Luau.

Chapter officers have been elected for the coming year. They are: Rick Thompson, president; Dean Chudy, vice-president; Jeff Barber, corresponding secretary; John Delaney, recording secretary; Bruce Hadsall, guide; and Dave Duncan, sgt.-at-arms.

The men of Zeta Lambda are looking toward fall semester with great expectations. Thirty-five active members will be back and for the first time in more than a year our house will be full.

WHITMAN Delta Rho

REETINGS from the brothers of Delta Rho Chapter! The Delts here at Whitman have just had one of the more successful and productive years in recent chapter history. The addition of a new pledge and several house improvement projects give us much to be proud of.

Fall rushing provided us with a new pledge, Ben Florer, from Monroe, N.Y. This brings the house total to 20 brothers. We are small, but slowly rebuilding with quality members

Many house improvements have been made this semester. A graphic mural has been added to our newly painted dining room walls. Our attic, once a house repository, has been turned into an insulated. paneled and carpeted lounge. A new sundeck also lies atop part of our roof.

In intramural sports, we re-established ourselves as a contending basketball power by fighting our way out of a field of 28 teams and reaching the semifinals.

Individual honors won by Delta Rho brothers this past semester include Bob Lewis, who now plays in the Walla Walla symphony, and senior Jim Herod, who passed his graduate record exams in chemistry with distinction, scoring in the 99th percentile.

With an aggressive summer rush program planned, including parties in Portland. Seattle and Berkeley, we hope to yield a good crop of Delts for next semester.

WISCONSIN Beta Gamma

ETA GAMMA IS BACK! The installa-B ETA GAMMATA TO BATCH THE SUCCESS thanks to the Delt brothers of Iowa and Lawrence chapters. Thank you, brothers, for your help. The installation which doubled as our formal was a perfect ending to our school year.

The Beta Gamma Housing Corporation has purchased a new shelter for the Madison Delts. There is a lot of work to do but thanks to a strong fraternity and hard working brothers the jobs are getting done.

The new officers are ready to begin a strong relation with the fraternity and the Madison campus. Our summer rush is beginning and should bring new members to the newest chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

WISCONSIN-MILWAUKEE Epsilon Tau

REETINGS to all Delts from all of us in the beer capital of the world. Milwaukee extends an invitation to all Delts to come up, down or over to our Delt shelter on 2529 N. Murray Avenue. The house is freshly decorated and yearns to be occupied by as many Delts as possible.

We are currently 17 strong and are on the way to 17 more next semester. This past semester we had the highest chapter G.P.A. of any frat on campus with a 3.01 average.

We here at Epsilon Tau would like to extend our congratulations to the reinstalled chapter in Madison, Gamma Beta.

Letters

Three Points

While I normally do not write letters to the editor, the spring issue of the magazine warrants it.

1. I was very distressed to hear of the death of Bill Fraering. I was a member of the Epsilon Psi, University of Southwestern Louisiana Chapter, and president for two years. The Fraternity will never know the debt we from Louisiana owed Bill Fraering. He was not only an adviser but a personal friend.

2. Speaking of old friends, I enjoyed the article by Darrel Posey. He worked very hard for the chapters in Louisiana, along with Bill Fraering. I thought I had lost track of Darrel permanently, until I saw his article.

3. Finally, I was intrigued by the article on Fraternity housing. As a practicing architect and architectural historian with the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, I have to concern myself daily with people's historical conception on how certain groups of people should live. As the Ken Folgers article points out, fraternities are no different when it comes to preconceived ideas. As an architect, I have been a consultant to several fraternity and sorority chapters and have been especially concerned with how chapters should be housed. I hope to see more articles like this one in the future. Keep up the good work.

Leave Religion Out

I realize it is a fine line between explaining and espousing (I am referring to the article by the Mormon Delt in the winter issue), but let's leave religion out of The Rainbow.

Thanks to Founders

On April 12, Epsilon Phi (Southeastern Louisiana) celebrated its 10th year as a chapter of Delta Tau Delta. In its short history, our chapter has received the coveted Hugh Shields Award, along with many scholastic and sports honors. My reason for this letter is to give my gratitude to our five founding fathers: Robert A. Pollock, '69; John W. Gautier, '73; Stephen C. Sledge, '70; Micahel R. Sharp, '70; and Lee Davis Simpson, the latter now deceased, for giving myself and my other 161 initiated brothers the chance to learn and live as members of Delta Tau Delta.

Possible Record

Sometime ago you had an article about five Delts from the same family who went through the same Fraternity chapter (the five Cochran brothers of Beta Phi, Ohio State University). Well, my dad and his four brothers all went through Beta Tau at the University of Nebraska. I'm also a legacy, the sixth Tooley (class of '81). Their names and years: Robert Tooley, '54; Richard Tooley, '56; Michael Tooley, '58; Pat Tooley, '63; and Bill Tooley, '69.

IN MEMORIAM

Joel Reynolds

Joel W. Reynolds, Tufts '23, President of Delta Tau Delta from 1954-56, and one of the Fraternity's most active and loyal members for all of his adult life, died at his Swampscott, Mass., home on June 18.

Retired president of Gustavo Preston Engineering Co. in Boston and former president of the National Interfraternity Conference, he had been living in Swampscott for 50 years. Long active in Tufts University affairs, he was a life trustee and the third person to receive the Tufts Presidential Citation.

For more than 40 years, Mr. Reynolds served as adviser to Beta Mu Chapter at Tufts. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta's Distinguished Service Chapter and was one of only approximately 50 interfraternity leaders to receive the NIC Gold Medal for service to all fraternities.

He also was active in the Tufts chapter of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering society, and last year was on the committee that planned the 50th anniversary of that group. He was president and chairman of the board of the Interfraternity Research and Advisory Council, and spent many hours working with the editor of the group's bulletin.

Mr. Reynolds is survived by his wife, Marion, who has joined him in Delt activities over the years, and by three married daughters.

Making His Mark in TV

By JAY LANGHAMMER

W HEN JOEL HIGGINS was a student at Michigan State University, he planned to pursue a career in public relations. But an adventurous spirit soon led him to the perilous paths of show business. Not only did he survive, he prospered.

During the past year, Mr. Higgins has made his mark on the television airwaves as co-star of ABC-TV's "Salvage-1". As ex-astronaut Skip Carmichel, he is an integral part of the salvage crew that also co-stars Andy Griffith and Trish Stewart. The light-hearted adventure series started as a made-for-TV feature film and showed enough promise to become a weekly series.

For Mr. Higgins, "Salvage-1" represents a major career breakthrough after several years of Broadway work and a three-year stint as Bruce Carson on the popular "Search for Tomorrow" soap opera.

His good looks, bright personality, and communicative skills were very much in evidence during his college years at Michigan State. After pledging Delt as a freshman, he became one of the best-known men on campus during the next three years. He was a member of Excalibur, Phi Eta Sigma, the Frosh-Soph Council, the State Singers, and the men's glee club. He was elected Senior Class president and was a finalist for "Mr. MSU".

After graduating in 1966 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in advertising and a minor in journalism, he took a public relations job with General Motors, but soon decided that a desk job wasn't for him. Eventually he joined the U.S. Army and unofficially began his show business career. He was put into Special Services and went to Korea as an entertainer. He learned to play a number of instruments and worked on his singing and comedic talents.

Following two years in Korea and the DMZ and a nine-month stint in Georgia, he left the service and formed a folksinging group, "The Green Apple Nasties", with several Army buddies. The group toured Midwest dinner theatres, clubs, and cabarets for two and a half years in the early 1970's.

Upon leaving the group, Mr. Higgins toured in a regional production of "Guys and Dolls", playing the Sky Masterson role.

That led to a part in the first national touring company of "Grease". He next got a shot at Broadway and won a Theatre World Award for his role in the original production of "Shenandoah".

Also on Broadway, he performed in "Music Is", a musical adaptation on Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night", and "Angel", the musical version of "Look Homeward Angel", for which he received a New York Desk nomination. After establishing himself as a stage actor and singer, he moved into television on "Search for Tomorrow".

It is interesting to note that Joel's co-star in "Salvage-1", the versatile actor and comedian Andy Griffith, was also responsible for helping establish the career of another Delt, Jim Nabors, Alabama '51, when he put Jim into his "Andy Griffith Show" in the early 1960's.

Whether or not "Salvage-1" returns to the ABC-TV fall program schedule, Joel Higgins has firmly established himself as a rising star of the future.
