It's all about Perspective

Jody Danneman
University of Georgia, 1988

As I look back over the past academic year, one theme continues to resonate with me...perspective.

A quick scan of the headlines would make you think Greek life is in trouble... that the movement, as a whole, has lost its way as members of Greek-letter social organizations continue to misbehave.

We need to remember that perception is not reality. The truth is there has never been a better time to be Greek... particularly a Delt!

In April, I attended the annual meeting of the North-American Interfraternity Conference (NIC), the trade association comprised of 74 men's college fraternities. It was very clear to me what we are seeing in the press is the exception. When exposed, aberrant behavior is not being tolerated. Every international fraternity president and executive director from the various headquarters reaffirmed his commitment to the promotion of a positive Greek life experience.

Perspective.

At Delta Tau Delta, we remain committed to lives of excellence. This past year we rolled out The Road: The Journey to Excellence, which is our comprehensive membership education program. This is the first time in the Fraternity's history we have a comprehensive program that works to better our members from pledgship through graduation. The feedback from our members has been fantastic, and we are looking to expand it in the next school year.

Our leadership experiences were updated in 2013 and are running at capacity. In fact, space for the summer 2015 offerings filled midway through the spring semester and had waiting lists.

Our Ignite program is tailored to younger brothers working to understand their leadership style, causes they are passionate about, and how to make a difference in their chapter and on campus. We have two Ignite retreats this summer and two more scheduled during the fall term.

The Charge is our capstone program and is designed for our rising seniors. It centers on making a difference in the world. During their five days, participants take the leadership skills they learn and apply them immediately on the streets of Chicago. We consistently hear from participants how The Charge is a life-changing experience.

In May, I attended the Presidents and Advisors Retreat (PAR) at our beautiful Fisher-Nichols Memorial Headquarters. This program targets the working relationship between the top two leaders in our chapters and colonies and challenges them to analyze their group's current status and create a strategic plan for future growth and greatness. The Fraternity's mission and values guide their work throughout the weekend and beyond. During PAR's 12 years of existence, we have seen chapter and colonies go from good to great utilizing lessons gained.

Perspective.

Looking more locally, our national GPA has been above a 3.0 for five out of the last six semesters. This academic streak is a first for Delta Tau Delta. Most recently, 64 percent of our groups ranked above the all men's average (AMA) and 54 percent above the all fraternity average (AFA). I would especially like to note 17 of our groups ranked No. 1 on campus and 46 ranked in the top three!

During this past school year, our brothers also raised more than a quarter million dollars for our national philanthropy, JDRE. It has been three years since we selected JDRE as our philanthropic partner. In that time, our brothers have raised more than $600,000 in the effort to eradicate type 1 diabetes! Deltas make an impact where needed most.

Perspective.

It is important for all Delt brothers to stay focused on the values that guide us, the behavior that defines us, and the difference we make in the lives of our brothers, the campuses where the Delt flag flies and the communities where we live.

The work goes on and we earn the badge every day from our college years to the Chapter Eternal with the way we choose to live. From this perspective, the vast majority of men who wear the Delt badge wear it with honor.

Growing Delta Tau Delta

Delta Tau Delta re-chartered two chapters this spring at Monmouth University and Robert Morris University. Additionally, the Fraternity continued to spread the message of excellence on two new campuses at Emory University and Marquette University and will be exploring growth potential at three additional institutions in the fall.

MONMOUTH UNIVERSITY-KAPPA GAMMA CHAPTER

On Feb. 7, 2015 Delta Tau Delta welcomed the Kappa Gamma Chapter at Monmouth University in Morristown, N.J. Thirty-eight founders were initiated to officially bring the chapter of Delta Tau Delta to the campus.

The Ritual ceremony was performed by the men of Iota Mu Chapter at Quinnipiac University during the 2015 Eastern Division Conference. Then Eastern Division President Anthony Albanese (American University, 1996) presented the newly-installed chapter with the Bible, robes and charter.

Alexander Noboa was installed as the chapter president and presented with the Eversole Badge while Tom Booth (Quinnipiac University, 2013) was named chapter advisor.

Monmouth University is a private university located in West Long Branch, N.J. with 4,607 undergraduates. The colony was established in March of 2014 and became among the largest fraternities on campus. It leads the Greek community academically. The chapter joins a Greek community of 15 fraternities and sororities.

ROBERT MORRIS UNIVERSITY-ZETA MU CHAPTER

On April 11, 2015 39 founding founders initiated into the Zeta Mu Chapter, completing the return effort to Robert Morris University. Originally founded in 1973 and subsequently closed in 1993, the Delt flag returns with promising vigor to Robert Morris after a more than 20-year absence. The Zeta Mu Installation took place in Yorktown Hall where the Rite of Iris and the Ritual were conducted by Epsilon Upsilon Chapter at Marietta College.

The banquet was emceed by Mike Smith, Sr., (Robert Morris University, 1979) at Montour Heights Country Club where family and alumni celebrated the newly-installed chapter. International Vice President Jim Garboden (University of Pittsburgh, 1988) gave the keynote address and presented the charter to the men of Zeta Mu.

Additionally, Executive Vice President Jim Russell (Purdue University, 1975) provided chapter president, Ian Healey, with the Eversole Badge, and Eastern Division President Bryan Adams (University of Maine, 2007) provided the Guide, Andrew Oguich, with the chapter Bible, Ritual books and robes. Also in attendance were former Eastern Division Presidents Lou McLinden and Anthony Albanese.

"It was a wonderful celebration that brought together students, parents, alumni, University administrators and representatives of the national Fraternity," said Russell. "There is a very obvious respect and mutual appreciation within the undergraduates and alumni of Zeta Mu. The Fraternity is enhanced by the rebirth of this active chapter after a 22-year lapse."

Also during the installation festivities and celebration, the newly-chartered Zeta Mu Chapter presented JDRF Western Pennsylvania Chapter Representative Danielle Vetter with a check of $4,000.

Robert Morris University, founded in 1921, is a private, co-educational university located in the Pittsburgh suburb of Moon Township. Named after a signer of the Declaration of Independence, Robert Morris University boasts an undergraduate enrollment of more than 4,000 students, as well as more than 1,000 graduate students.

Thirty-nine founding fathers were initiated at the Zeta Mu Chapter installation at Robert Morris University.

COLONIZATIONS:

Delta Tau Delta added two new colonies this spring totaling 105 new founders.

EMORY UNIVERSITY

A staff led expansion concluded at Emory University on Feb. 22, 2015. Delta Tau Delta's history at Emory University dates back to 1882. After a seven-year absence, Beta Epsilon is revived with a founding class of 64 men with a 3.5 GPA, the highest on campus.

Emory University is a highly-ranked research university in the metropolitan Atlanta area comprised of about 8,000 undergraduates. Delta Tau Delta will join a 27-chapter Greek community with more than 120 years of history.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

A staff led expansion concluded at Marquette University a week later on Feb. 27. Delta Tau Delta has been absent from this community for nearly 35 years. A two-semester recruitment effort yielded a colony of 41 men with a 3.4 GPA.

Marquette University is a private, Jesuit, Roman Catholic University located in Milwaukee, Wis. The university typically ranks high in national university rankings. The university is comprised of more than 8,000 undergraduates and has a 16-chapter Greek community.

EXPANSIONS:

The promise for future growth within the Fraternity is once again strong for the 2015-16 calendar. Delta Tau Delta will expand to three campuses in the fall: Mount St. Joseph University, Ohio University and University of South Florida.

Mount St. Joseph University is a private, Catholic university in Cincinnati, Ohio. The institution created a strategic vision to begin Greek life for the first time on campus. Delta Tau Delta was chosen as the first fraternity to join the community and will be followed by a sorority and a multi-cultural organization.

In a time of increased scrutiny on Greek organizations, MSJU provides a unique opportunity to start a Greek community from a clean slate. Delta Tau Delta will be the leader in creating a values-based Greek experience and the standard for future Greek organizations to come. The expansion is slated to begin Sept. 8.

Ohio University, nestled in the hills of Athens, Ohio, is the home of Delta Tau Delta's Beta Chapter. After being closed in 2010, the Delta Tau Delta staff will lead a recolonization effort starting Sept. 14. The Beta Chapter was originally founded in Athens in 1862 and has since initiated more than 2,300 men.

Ohio University is a public institution founded in 1804 and recognized as the first university in Ohio. The university is comprised of 23,000 undergraduates and has 30 fraternities and sororities.

On Sept. 21, Delta Tau Delta staff will begin recolonization efforts to return the Delt flag to the University of South Florida after an absence of nearly 23 years. Located in north Tampa, USF is one of the largest universities in the U.S. with roughly 45,000 students. The university has a strong Greek community of 49 chapters.

Epsilon Pi Chapter existed at USF from 1969-1992 and initiated 292 men. With the return to USF and the 2016 Karnea occurring down the road in Orlando, this will be an exciting time for Delta Tau Delta in the region.

Delta Tau Delta's Continued Success with JDRF

More and more chapters are embracing the Fraternity's national philanthropic partnership to raise money and awareness for the JDRF. Through the collaborative efforts of many organizations, JDRF has $568 million at work advancing its strategic plan.

CHAPMAN DELTS SWITCH GEAR FOR JDRF

In 2008, the Iota Epsilon Chapter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at Chapman University organized the first annual Delta Queen Pageant. Since then, Delta Queen has raised more than $200,000 for the Beckstrand Cancer Foundation. This year, the benefactor of the Delta Queen Pageant was JDRF.

Delta Queen at Chapman is a well-produced annual philanthropic pageant show with an executive board of seven brothers, a show producer and a brand and design director. These men create corporate sponsorship packets, ticket design, playbills and a social media campaign all adapted around the signature crown logo of Delta Queen. The Delts at Chapman spend many hours planning and executing this event, which is well-supported by the Chapman community, with more than 600 people in attendance. Year after year the chapter's effort pays off; this year Iota Epsilon donated a check for nearly $30,000 to JDRF.

In the weeks leading up to the event, fraternities and sororities were paired together to appoint a contestant for the show. Each nominee competed in a variety of segments demonstrating personality and talent, at the same time striving toward the primary goal of raising money and awareness for JDRF. Brandee Lara Baranby, a Chapman dance professor, Sammy Williams, a 1976 Tony Award winner, Cathy Selva from JDRF Orange County office, Chapman President Jim Doti and Dean of Students Jerry Price had the difficult task of adjudicating the show. In the end, Taylor Krause of Delta Delta Delta was crowned Delta Queen for 2015.

Delta Queen strives to fulfill its mission of strengthening the community by encouraging students, parents, alumni and the local community to work in unity toward a philanthropic goal. The men of Delta Tau Delta are proud to continue Delta Queen and hope it will inspire many to live lives of excellence.

BROTHERHOOD MEETS PHILANTHROPY

At John Carroll University, the Iota Iota Delts rallied behind Brother Evan Meindl (John Carroll University, 2016), who lives daily with diabetes. The entire chapter participated in the JDRF Walk at the Cleveland Metropolitan Zoo on Sept. 29, 2013, but this walk was personal. Meindl shared his story about diabetes in a letter given to the presidents of the Greek organizations on campus and distributed to local restaurants around Cleveland. Family and friends were also asked to spread the word about the event via email. Through their unflagging efforts, the Delts at John Carroll raised $5,616 for JDRF.

Driven by the success of the walk, the brothers decided to host a week-long event to raise awareness about type 1 diabetes.

"Our main goal of the week was raising awareness about JDRF and type 1 diabetes, not how much money we raised," said Patrick Hackett (John Carroll University, 2017), philanthropy chairman of the Iota Iota Chapter.

From selling shamrocks to make a pledge to JDRF, to passing out information packets about type 1 diabetes, these "Pillsbury Dough Boys" spent two days baking for the bake sale, raising $300 for JDRF, but more importantly, educating the community about the challenges of diabetes. The week ended with a dynamic speech given by Dr. Michelle Schweiger, a pediatric endocrinologist at Cleveland Clinic.

BETA ETA - UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

The Twin Cities JDRF Walk in February had a strong showing of Delts who came out to volunteer and support the national philanthropy, JDRF. The men from Iota Sigma Chapter at North Dakota State made the cumbersome four-hour drive to volunteer in the balmy 28 degree temperatures in Minnesota. After the Northern Division Conference in Ohio, Iota Phi from the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire knew Beta Eta would be in attendance as it participates annually. As the Twin Cities event approached, Joe Foyt (University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, 2017), president of the Iota Phi Chapter, exchanged a few texts with the Beta Eta president to ensure the groups would meet. After arriving,

Beta Eta informed Iota Phi that Iota Sigma also had a few brothers at the event. With the support of the Fraternity's national philanthropy JDRF, these three chapters came together in a shared commitment of brotherhood and philanthropy to make the day a success. After helping with setup, the men of Delta Tau Delta generally created an excited atmosphere for the people who came to the event.

"The brotherhood and ability to communicate amongst each other was always there, but it was strengthened greatly at the Northern Division Conference, which gave us the opportunity to collaborate on this JDRF event. It is quite amazing that through our brotherhood events and philanthropic events the ease that has accompanied the strong ties we now have with Iota Sigma and Beta Eta!" said Joe Foyt.

Morehead Delts Serve Community in Wake of Severe Storms

“Without the community, there is no Morehead State. Without Morehead State, there is no Zeta Zeta,” said Adam Abbott, Zeta Zeta Chapter president. The Morehead Delts firmly believe their existence is heavily rooted in the community’s continuous support and involvement. The sentiment of showing appreciation by giving back to the city and people is deeply engrained in the culture of the Zeta Zeta Chapter at Morehead State, as evidenced by their swift actions when severe floods ravaged the city park and little league baseball fields, jeopardizing the much-anticipated opening day for the little league baseball season.

The city of Morehead, Ky., lies on a flood plain, so the occasional run off from the nearby Triplett Creek doesn’t faze the citizens of the tight-knit community. However, spring showers took a turn for the worse on Friday, April 3, when Mother Nature battered the Blue Grass State with wave upon wave of torrential rain, swamping Morehead under nearly four feet of water. Though the waters soon receded, the resulting aftermath was a city park caked in a two-foot layer of mud with debris strewn about.

The following Monday during the weekly chapter meeting, Abbott put into motion a plan to reorganize and postpone the planned philanthropy event scheduled for that same week to have all hands on deck to clean up the city park and three baseball fields.

“When this sad opportunity arose for us to give back to the community that allows us to exist, we jumped at it without a second thought,” said Abbott.

Mayor Jim Trent opened the park Tuesday morning for the men of Zeta Zeta Chapter, who worked tirelessly for six days clearing the muddy mess from the fields and adjacent parking lots. More than 20 men worked between classes and other scheduled obligations to ensure the little league teams would have their opening day.

Delta Chi Members Recognized for Excellence among all Greek Systems

Oklahoma State University's Interfraternity Council has been recognized for its excellence among all Greek communities, and the Delta Chi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has been at the helm of this IFC.

Brother Ival Gregory, (Oklahoma State, 1972) head of the Fraternity and Sorority Affairs office at OSU, was recognized as the Steven B. Dealph Outstanding Fraternity/Sorority Professional at the annual Association of Fraternal Leadership and Values award show Jan. 31.

Under Gregory, OSU's IFC was awarded the Jellison Award for overall excellence. The National PanHellenic Council won two awards: the Southerland award for overall excellence and the Linda Wardhammer Kaleidoscope Award for Innovation. Also, the multicultural Greek community won the Overall Council Excellence Award.

Brother Todd Edmonds (Chapter, Year) is the 2015 president of IFC. He served as secretary in 2014 and has actively been involved in fraternity and sorority affairs.

"This is the largest awards show for Greek systems," Edmonds said. "We won 32 of the 36 awards we applied for. There were only a few awards we didn't apply for."

Stephens Awarded NIC Gold Medal

Norval B. Stephens (DePauw University, 1951), a past international president of Delta Tau Delta and former chairman of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation, was honored with the North-American Interfraternity Conference (NIC) Gold Medal at its annual meeting April 19 in Kansas City, Mo.

Established in 1940, the NIC Gold Medal is the highest service award in the interfraternal world. It recognizes those who have given outstanding lifetime service to the fraternal movement. Since its inception, 114 fraternal leaders have been honored.

Throughout his life, Brother Stephens has been a tireless volunteer and advocate for Delta Tau Delta at his alma mater and across the nation, but also for the entire Greek movement. He is proud to call himself “a fraternity man,” to seek ways to elevate the fraternity experience, and to challenge negative stereotypes of fraternity life.

Most recently he was the initial advocate in the creation of the Anti-Hazing Hotline in 2007. Delta Tau Delta, along with 21 additional founding Greek organizations, led the campaign to create a means for reporting hazing activity in the ongoing fraternal effort to eliminate college hazing.

In his brief acceptance remarks as the final 2015 awards recipient at a long banquet, Stephens drew a warm and lively response with his brief comments. Those included:

“I have a deep sense of gratitude for the NIC for this honor. But, I do not remember being alone in any of the activities mentioned. These were all team projects, as they should be. Thank you for recognizing my part in them, but it was only a part.

“Finally, I want to tell you of the oath that a newly elected citizen of Athens took after a year of preparation in the gymnasium and the academy,” he said. Those who were not elected citizens were given the name ‘idiots,’ unworthy of being citizens.

“But, hear now the words of that oath of 23 centuries ago: ‘I will leave this city richer, stronger and more beautiful than I found it: Richer, stronger and more beautiful. Now, for the years still given to me, I will leave this great Greek city richer, stronger and more beautiful than I found it.’ Thank you again for this honor.”

Stephens is the sixth Delt to receive the Gold Medal. The others, all now in the Chapter Eternal, were: 1940 — Alvan

C. Duerr (Kenyon/Williams, 1893); 1952 — Henry B. Wriston (Wesleyan, 1911); 1965 — Tom C. Clark (Texas, 1922); 1966 — Joel W. Reynolds (Tufts University, 1923); 1991 — Edwin L. Heminger (Ohio Wesleyan, 1948).

A large contingent of Delts and family members attended the banquet, including International President Jody Danneman (University of Georgia, 1988) and Delt Foundation Chairman Ken Kies (Ohio University, 1974).

“This is a tremendous honor for Norval and for Delta Tau Delta,” said Danneman. “Norval has truly been a beacon for what’s good about fraternity. He epitomizes the Delt aspiration of lifelong service, loyalty and love.” Added Kies, “If the fraternity world had a pope, it undoubtedly would be Norval Stephens.” The son and brother of Delts, Stephens was a two-term president at the Beta Beta Chapter at DePauw University. After attaining the rank of captain in the U.S. Marine Corps during the Korean War, he spent four decades as an advertising and marketing executive with DDB Needham Worldwide.

Stephens served on the Arch Chapter from 1988-1994 and was the Fraternity’s 41st president from 1992-1994. He subsequently served as chairman of the Delt Foundation from 1995-2009 and continues as a very active director. He was cited to the Fraternity’s Distinguished Service Chapter in 1996.

Norval and his wife, Diane, a DePauw classmate and former chapter president of Kappa Alpha Theta, are the parents of five children and 12 grandchildren. Two of those are Delts: Timothy Stephens (George Washington University 2013) and Christopher Stephens (Northeastern University 2016).

As You Advance, Remember That Others Follow

Bethany Society Welcomes Byrne, Urbanowicz and Wittman

At the Delta Educational Foundation Board of Directors meeting held in Columbus, Ohio in May, three alumni were welcomed into the Bethany Society.

Millard "Buck" Byrne (Ohio State University, 1966) is a local Columbus, Ohio businessman who has been a long-time volunteer for the Beta Phi Chapter. Byrne served as president of the Beta Phi House Corporation from 2005 to 2013.

E. Peter Urbanowicz (Tulane University, 1985) is a managing director with Alvarez Marsal and leads the firm's healthcare compliance practice. Urbanowicz has served in a variety of volunteer roles including on house corporations and currently as a member of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation's Board of Directors.

T. Scott Wittman (Indiana University, 1982) is a chief investment officer, senior vice president and senior portfolio manager for American Century Investments, a premier investment manager headquartered in Kansas City, Mo. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation Board and serves on the Investment Committee.

Membership is reserved for those loyal alumni who have made a lifetime total of cash gifts and pledges over $25,000 or a planned gift in excess of $100,000. Each member receives a signature, tailored green blazer with an embroidered Coat of Arms. To check your lifetime giving history, visit "My Account" at www.deltfoundation.org.

Foundation Seeks Board of Director Nominations

The Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation is currently seeking nominations for its Board of Directors. Basic expectations include the following:

- Make a leadership level gift to the Annual DeltFund each fiscal year.
- Make a leadership level gift to capital campaigns and other special project campaigns.
- If not already a Bethany Society member (cumulative giving of $25,000 or more), new directors are expected to reach this level within three years.
- Attend two Board of Directors meetings per year.
- Serve on a Foundation committee.

If you would like to nominate a brother or yourself, please contact Steve Vedra at (317) 284-0210 ext. 1331 or via email at steve.vedra@delts.org.

Matching Gifts Enable Donors to Increase Their Support!

Many companies and foundations will match the value of charitable gifts made by employees and their spouses, board members and retirees. Note: Matching gifts should be directed toward the Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation, not the Fraternity. To find out if a particular company or foundation has a matching gift program, you can visit our website search engine at www.deltfoundation.org. Click on Make a Gift/Matching Gifts. This search engine provides the proper forms, contacts and giving criteria for more than 19,000 companies!

Become A Delta Alpha Kappa Society Charter Member

Founded in 1914, the Delta Alpha Kappa Society seeks to recognize those Annual DeltFund donors who choose to support the Foundation via recurring gifts. The initials were first added to Fraternity images in 1870 and stood for a secret motto within Delta Tau Delta, which was later declassified. It means, "Labor for the beautiful and the good."

To become a member, donors need to set up a recurring donation made via a regular payment plan (monthly, quarterly or yearly). Donations can be set up to be run on the 1st or the 15th of every month. Making a recurring gift allows you to build a very significant contribution through smaller installments. For example, donors can join the Order of the C— (premier leadership annual giving society) for as little as $84 per month. To learn more visit us at www.deltfoundation.org or call Steve Vedra at (317) 284-0210.

GLEN DASH

MIT, 1975

Glen Dash, founder of nonprofit Glen Dash Foundation for Archaeological Research, uses his engineering expertise in tandem with his love of computer science and archeology to unearth exciting information and details about ancient civilizations. Most recently, he set his sights on one particular artifact from a time long past—the Great Pyramid of Egypt.

The Glen Dash team utilizes remote sensing and advanced topographic survey techniques to demystify archaeological puzzles. Dash, along with his wife and fellow scientist, Joan, resurveyed the Great Pyramid and its surroundings to test theories of how the ancient Egyptians mirrored their massive feats of architecture with the stars above.

In addition to his work with the Glen Dash Foundation, Dash visits his MIT stomping grounds each year to play softball with his team, the Delta Tau Delta Dawgs.

SPUD DICK

DEPAUW UNIVERSITY, 2010

FRITZ KAUFFMAN

INDIANA UNIVERSITY, 1981

Real estate agency, DTZ, announced the promotion of two Delta alumni, Spud Dick and Fritz Kauffman, in its brokerage division. Dick was named associate vice president and Kauffman was named senior vice president.

DTZ is a global leader in commercial real estate services, serving clients around the world with a full spectrum of solutions for owners, tenants and investors.

BOB DOTSON

UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS, 1968

NBC News correspondent Bob Dotson received the 2015 William Allen White Foundation National Citation on April 23 at the University of Kansas. William Allen White, namesake of the citation and mass communication school at the university, was a nationally influential Kansas editor and publisher. White won the Pulitzer Prize in 1923 and posthumously in 1947.

Dotson, a 1968 graduate of the William Allen White School of Journalism and Mass Communication, is legendary in the field of journalism with his work on the long-running NBC series “The American Story with Bob Dotson,” highlighting everyday citizens accomplishing extraordinary feats.

Dotson has received more than 100 awards for his work in broadcast journalism, including eight national Emmys. In 2012 the Radio Television Digital News Association chose Dotson to receive the Edward R. Murrow Award for Writing a record sixth time, and the Society of Professional Journalists cited Dotson’s columns for TODAY.COM as the “best writing in news media.” His work has also won top journalism awards from the National Press Photographers, Dupont-Columbia and Robert F. Kennedy Foundation.

Dotson is a 2014 recipient of the Fraternity’s Alumni Achievement Award.

MIKE EDWARDS

INDIANA UNIVERSITY, 1984

Mike Edwards was appointed to the newly-created position of director of business development at MBLX Inc., a division of Livingston International. MBLX Inc., founded in 1983, provides logistical services barging cargo throughout the inland waterways of America as well as customized shipping solutions both on and off America’s rivers for a variety of commodities and cargoes.

As director of business development, Edwards will be responsible for generating new service options for customers while expanding into markets that utilize rail and truck transport as extensions of the river network. Prior to his appointment at MBLX, he managed the transportation needs for Nucor’s Gallatin steel mill in Kentucky. Additionally, Edwards served as sales director for American Commercial Barge Line and as transportation manager for the David J. Joseph Company, and in both roles managed the barge, truck and rail movements of various commodities and bulk products.

Edwards earned his undergraduate degree from Indiana University’s Kelley School of Business where he majored in transportation management. He is an associate member of the American Society of Transportation and Logistics.

BOB ENGLE

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI, 1967

Bob Engle was named high school French teacher of the year (2014-2015) for Southern California by the Association of American Teachers of French.

Trained in music, he switched to an all-French teaching schedule seven years ago out of curricular necessity. He has had 11 students nationally-ranked in French, has hosted more than 70 students from France for two weeks at his school, and has taken his students on immersion trips to Tahiti and France.

He has presented French teaching seminars at two national French teacher conventions in Montreal and New Orleans.

PETER FOLEY

INDIANA UNIVERSITY, 1993

Peter Foley was elected judge of the Morgan County Superior Court in Morgan County, Ind. Foley ran unopposed in the general election in November 2014 after a successful Republican primary in early May of the same year.

Foley received his undergraduate degree from Indiana University and his J.D. from the Indiana University School of Law in Indianapolis. Prior to his election, he served more than 15 years as an attorney in Morgan County.

BRYAN HELVIE

BALL STATE UNIVERSITY, 1990

The Indiana High School Athletic Association awarded Bryan Helvie the 2014-15 Distinguished Media Service Award. The IHSAA honored outstanding members of Indiana news media from each of its three legislative districts. Helvie is recognized for his excellence in the coverage of high school athletics for District 3, covering 42 counties across southern Indiana.

Helvie spent nearly 24 years with the Herald-Tribune in Batesville, Ind., a semi-weekly newspaper where he began his career in sales before working his way to sports editor and eventually managing editor and general manager. While overseeing the newsroom as general manager, he continued his coverage of local sports.

Last summer, Helvie transitioned from the newsroom into the Batesville Community School Corporation as athletic director of grades 7-12. As a licensed physical education teacher, Helvie has coached tennis, golf and basketball for more than 20 years.

JIM HISE

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, 1989

Jim Hise was elected the new board chair of the Youth Volunteer Corps during the February board meeting. The Youth Volunteer Corps is a youth service organization operating throughout the United States and Canada and headquartered in Kansas City. Since 1987, YVC has engaged more than 285,000 youth from diverse backgrounds in year-round service projects serving more than 4.5 million volunteer hours.

Hise has served five years on the YVC's board and will serve a two-year term as board chairman. He is a private wealth advisor for Merrill Lynch and has also co-founded the All In for a Cure Charity and has served as director of corporate fundraising for the March of Dime Kansas City Chapter.

MICHAEL SHONROCK

WESTERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY, 1979

The board of directors at Lindenwood University in St. Charles, Mo., named Michael Shonrock the 22nd president of Lindenwood University on April 9, 2015. Shonrock took office on June 1, replacing James D. Evans, who served Lindenwood as president for nine years.

Prior to his position at Lindenwood, Shonrock served for three and a half years as president of Emporia State University. During Shonrock's administration, ESU launched the largest, most comprehensive fundraising campaign in university history, sustained six consecutive semesters of enrollment growth, and received an additional annual allocation of $1 million from the Kansas governor and legislators for an honors college. Prior to that he spent more than 20 years at Texas Tech University, where he was senior vice president and an associate professor.

Shonrock's academic achievements are numerous, holding advanced degrees from University of Kansas, Pittsburg State University and Harvard's Graduate School of Education.

MIKE ULLMAN

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI, 1969

CEO of J.C. Penney, Mike Ullman, received the Woodrow Wilson Award for Corporate Citizenship in September followed by the John W. Gardner Legacy of Leadership Award in November. The Wilson honor is extended to corporate citizens who have shown a deep concern for the common good beyond the bottom line, while the Gardner honor is reserved for a former White House Fellow who has demonstrated a lifetime of accomplishment and commitment to service in their public and personal lives.

Ullman has manned the helm of five major global enterprises, including J.C. Penney, Macy's, Louis Vuitton, Duty Free Shops and Wharf Holdings. THE SYMMETRY OF SNOWFLAKES

Paul Peters' (Eastern Michigan University, 1997) second foray into literary writing manifests in the complex tale of love and life titled The Symmetry of Snowflakes. Peter takes readers through a timeless story of enduring life's struggle and the ever-present search for love.

The protagonist, Hank Hanson, is journeying home for the holidays to visit the many branches of his family tree, including step parents, ex step parents and a blended collection of siblings. To give structure to his unconventional family network, Hanson compares it to a snowflake's intricate design. The only missing piece in his life, the element that would form that rare, perfect snowflake, is the love of an amazing woman.

Peters is an American fiction writer who lived in both Philadelphia and Toronto after studying at Second City in Chicago. He has since returned to his beloved mitten-shaped state, Michigan, settling in Ann Arbor.

FIREFLY: A SKYRAIDER'S STORY ABOUT AMERICA'S SECRET WAR OVER LAOS

Dick Diller (University of Oklahoma, 1963) recounts his time spent at 20,000 feet as a warplane pilot during the Vietnam conflict in his thrilling autobiographical book Firefly: A Skyraider's Story about America's Secret War Over Laos.

Diller illustrates his days commissioned to fly A-1 Skyraiders in harrowing nighttime missions over Laos—surviving not only the danger of the missions, but also the rigors of the Air Force, from fitness testing to additional duties assigned, to attacking impossible-to-find targets in the dead of night with minimal fuel supplies. Additionally, Firefly contains actual transcriptions of dialogue of pilots locating a target and making a strike in northern Laos.

Born and raised in Princeton, Ill., Diller graduated with a degree in finance and received an officer's commission in the United States Air Force through ROTC. When the Air Force needed pilots for the Vietnam War, Diller was assigned to fly A-1 Skyraiders at Nakhon Phanom RTAFB, Thailand, where he completed 203 missions, mostly at night, over Laos.

FROM SILICON VALLEY TO SWAZILAND, HOW ONE COUPLE FOUND PURPOSE AND ADVENTURE IN AN ENCORE CAREER

Rick Walleigh (MIT, 1970) debuted his first non-fiction piece in April, From Silicon Valley to Swaziland, How One Couple Found Purpose and Adventure in an Encore Career, detailing his life after ditching a high-powered Silicon Valley career in 2005 to volunteer his time and energy in Africa.

Walleigh and his wife, Wendy, who joined him on this post-retirement excursion, are a fraction of the tidal wave of late career baby boomers who are healthy and motivated to do something beneficial for society. The book illustrates the Walleighs' journey from the moment they made the decision to go to Africa, the details of their work in Swaziland and Kenya, and the many strange, frustrating and fascinating facets of African culture and daily life.

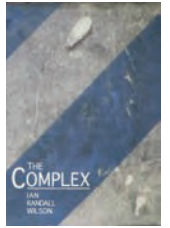

To conclude his first literary work, Walleigh provides recommendations and a challenge to readers to pursue encore careers to benefit the lives of others while enriching their own. All royalties from the book will be donated to TechnoServe: Business Solutions to Poverty, a nonprofit that develops business solutions to alleviate poverty by connecting people to information, capital and markets.

THE COMPLEX

Ian Randall Wilson's (MIT, 1977) award-winning novel, The Complex, takes readers through a dark and tenuous, earthquake-rattled Los Angeles where the very fabric of society begins to unweave. The disturbing yet humorous futuristic depiction of a California on the precipice of destruction won Wilson the 2014 Colony Collapse Press Novella Competition.

Ian Randall Wilson's short stories and poetry have appeared in many journals including The Gettysburg Review, Alaska Quarterly Review and North American Review. He has an MFA in poetry from Warren Wilson College, and is on the faculty of the writing program at the UCLA extension. He is the author of two previous short story collections and the novella, Great Things Are Coming.

THREE WITNESSES: A PAINTER, A PRISONER, A PEASANT

George Custodi (Iowa State University, 1969) penned his non-fiction text, Three Witnesses: A Painter, A Prisoner, A Peasant, after receiving his father's diary from his time as a WWII Italian officer. After coming across two other such personal journals of the war, Custodi combined the three accounts to create a WWII memoir from three distinct perspectives: a painter, a prisoner and a peasant.

The collection of anecdotes and thoughts, available in both English and Italian, gives readers a unique view of WWII, illuminating three experiences taking place simultaneously during a period of global turmoil. The three Italians and their devastating accounts shed unique light on the individual impact of the war and also of human perseverance and tenacity.

Custodi dedicates the net proceeds from the sale of this book to a scholarship program dedicated to one of the three witnesses at the University of South Carolina-Aiken.

SILVER LAKE CHRONICLES: EXPLORING AN URBAN OASIS IN LOS ANGELES

Michael Locke (George Washington University, 1967), along with co-author Vincent Brook, penned the first book on the history and lure of Silver Lake, Calif., titled Silver Lake Chronicles: Exploring an Urban Oasis in Los Angeles. Forbes Magazine named Silver Lake as the "Best Hipster Neighborhood in the United States" in 2012, and Locke's narrative fleshes out the celebrities and historical inhabitants that make the urban oasis a must-visit spot.

Locke served on the first Silver Lake Neighborhood Council as Region 1 representative and vice chair, and was founder of the Beautification Committee. Since 2003, he has edited and published the Silver Lake News, an online community newspaper.

Mickey Liddell

University of Oklahoma, 1984

As a film producer, Liddell has two new projects in production. Scheduled for release in late 2015 after shooting in Prague this summer is "Anthropoid." The film focuses on two Czechoslovak soldiers who are sent to assassinate the head of the Nazi SS in 1941. Liddell's film "Risen" tells the New Testament story of the first 40 days after the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Release date of "Risen" is Jan. 22, 2016.

Thad Luckinbill & Trent Luckinbill

University of Oklahoma, 1997

After a good career as an actor, Thad Luckinbill and his twin brother, Trent, formed the Black Label Media production company in 2014 and have been involved in several film projects, including "Begin Again" with Keira Knightley and Mark Ruffalo, "The Good Lie" with Reese Witherspoon and "Scicario," starring Josh Brolin and Emily Blunt, has a planned September release in theaters. Thad recently had a co-star role in the April 22 episode of CBS-TV's "Criminal Minds" series.

James Marsden

Oklahoma State University, 1995

Marsden is currently starring in eight episodes of HBO Sci-Fi series "Westworld" (based on a 1973 film) and has co-starred in three new 2015 movies out this spring: "Accidental Love" (now on DVD), "Unfinished Business" and "The D Scene", out May 8 with co-star Jack Black.

David Schwimmer

Northwestern University, 1988

Schwimmer is playing lawyer Robert Kardashian in the 10-episode FX anthology series "The People Versus O.J. Simpson."

Delt SPORTLIGHT

BASKETBALL

Several Delt head coaches in the college ranks had successful seasons once again. In his 12th season at Baylor, Scott Drew (Butler University, 1993), led his Bears squad to a 24-10 record and fifth appearance in the NCAA Division I Tournament. His career record is now 228-160. DePauw head coach Bill Fenlon (Northwestern University, 1979), in his 23rd season, took his squad to its fifth berth in the NCAA Division III Tournament and a 20-10 record. Over 30 seasons as a college head coach, Fenlon's career record is now 502-282. Returning for his sixth season as head coach at Hartwick College was Todd McGuinness (Bethany College, 2002), who posted a 15-11 record.

After two seasons with a combined 57-43 record as head coach of the NBA Development League's Rio Grande Vipers, Nevada Smith (Bethany College, 2002) was released by the Houston Rockets, the Viper's parent organization, on April 21. Mike Bratz (Stanford University, 1977) is still with the National Basketball Association's Sacramento Kings as assistant general manager. Seeing action in 11 games for the Stevens Tech squad was forward Michael Signer '17 while forwards Tre' Campbell and Esteban Vidal were members of the 17-12 LaGrange squad.

SKIING

Serving as captain of the 12 man Babson alpine skiing squad was Kevin Dachos, who was joined by nine other Delts. He placed 18th in slalom competition at the USCSA Eastern regionals meet. The top competitor on the squad was Carter Dowd who earned All-American honors for the third straight year as Babson placed seventh in the grand slalom event and tied for sixth in combined statistics at Mount Bachelor. At the USCSA Eastern regionals slalom event, T.J. Pope placed 10th, Sam Barber was 19th and Graham Quisenberry finished 23rd. Named to the All-MacConnell Division squad were Dachos, Dowd, Barber and Pope. Also competing for Babson over the winter were Jack Barber, Max Barber, John Boland, Kevin Cooke and Sam Foster.

WRESTLING

Three-time Presidents' Athletic Conference champion Jacob Spearman competed at the NCAA Division III championship meet and led a group of six Delt wrestlers on the Washington & Jefferson team. Prior to the DIII meet, he placed third at 133 pounds at the Mideast Regional meet. For the season, he led the squad with a high 30 wins and 15 pins. Dan Pommerer posted 14 wins and placed third at 141 pounds at the Mideast Regional. Also seeing action for the Washington & Jefferson squad were Nicholas Kumburis (285 pounds, three pins), Samuel Horowitz Soyos (285 pounds), Declan Haggerty (165 pounds) and John Swann (133 pounds). Jordan Burgess was a member of the Baker Wrestling squad.

SWIMMING

The Wittenberg swim team featured 11 Delts, all of whom competed at the North Coast Athletic Conference championship meet. A.J. Burt had fifth place finishes with the 200 and 400 medley relay teams; was sixth in the 100 yard backstroke; eighth in the 200 yard breaststroke; and ninth in the 400 IM event.

Stephen Stuthers was fifth on the 200 and 400 medley relay teams; 10th in the 200 backstroke and 400 IM; and 12th in the 100 backstroke. Jared Crum had fifth place finishes on the 200 and 400 medley relays. Ed Young placed 14th in the 1,650 freestyle race while Lucas George finished 15th in the 1,650 freestyle event and 16th in the 400 IM. Other Wittenberg competitors were Sean Oberschlake (17th in the 400 IM), Joe Casedonte, Nicholas Rittenhouse, Patrick Rittenhouse and Andrew Tengen.

Five of the eight Delt swimmers on the Albion squad competed at the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet. Kyle Harvey placed second in two MIAA events: 100 freestyle (10:39.92) and 1,650 freestyle (17:12.94). Garrett Bosworth finished second in the MIAA 200 butterfly (2:01.84) and also competed in the 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly events. At the MIAA meet, Charles Shinske had the team's third best times in the 50, 100 and 200 backstroke events. Nicholas Deppner had a time of 22.05 in the MIAA 50 yard event and also in the 100 freestyle and butterfly events. During the winter, Blake Blair swam the team's top 1000 freestyle time of 10:21.81. Tom Martin had a best 200 freestyle time (1:57.38) at a January quad meet and teammate Justin DuChene competed in the 200 breaststroke for Albion. Parker Greene of M.I.T. swam on the winning 1,650 yard relay at the NEWMAC championship. Also on his team were Michael Chen and Evan Olin.

BASEBALL

As the 2015 major league baseball regular season reached halfway, Drew Stanton (Stanford University, 2011) of the Washington Nationals had regained his spot as the team's closer. Through games he posted a 1.83 earned run average and 28 saves. Relief pitcher Bo Schultz (Northwestern University, 2008) was in the Toronto Blue Jays training camp but was optioned to the Buffalo Bisons minor league club prior to the start of the big league season.

Three former major leaguers are in the big leagues this season, Houston Astros manager A.J. Hinch (Stanford University, 1995) got off to a good start, posting a 49-42 record at the All-Star break. Serving as bench coaches in the American League are Mike Aldrete (Stanford University, 1983) of the Oakland Athletics and Steve Buechele (Stanford University, 1983) of the Texas Rangers.

Returning as collegiate head coaches are Mark Marquess (Stanford University, 1969) in his 39th season at his alma mater; Mark Machtolf (Stanford University, 1987) in his 12th year at Gonzaga University; and Ed Sprague (Stanford University, 1989) also in his 12th year at University of the Pacific. Stanford's Alex Dunlap started 38 of the first 39 games (playing at first base, catcher and the outfield); Stanford catcher Matt Decker, started five of the first seven contests before being injured; Lawrence infielder Matthew Holliday was named to All-Midwest Conference team. Also playing were pitcher-outfielder Dalton Boucher of Wittenberg and outfielder Michael Mule of Stevens Tech.

GOLF

The Fraternity's top professional golfer, Scott Dunlap (University of Florida, 1984), earned Rookie of the Year honors on the 2014 Champions Tour after recording the best earnings total ($1,100,891) of his career, thanks to six Top 10 finishes. His previous best money year was 2000 when he earned $1,040,244 on the PGA Tour. With earnings of $221,541 so far at six 2015 tournaments, including a fourth place finish at the ACE Group Classic, Dunlap is on his way to another big year on the links.

Our best collegiate golfer this spring was Tee-K Kelley of Ohio State, who ranked second on the Buckeyes squad with a 73.68 average over 28 rounds. He tied for third (213) at the Jack Nicklaus Invitational and tied for seventh (210, including a 67) at the Lone Star Invitational. Kelly played in the Big Ten tournament in late April and tied for 32nd (301). OSU teammate Sean Bush played 12 rounds and averaged 76.92. Logan Holt of Butler tied for 12th at the Big East tournament, shooting a 228 total (including a 70). Over 25 rounds, he averaged 76.4. Other Delt golfers this season included Christian Bickley of Baker, Ryan Clark of Lawrence, Blake Harris of Westminster and the Albion duo of Dan Bespalko and Andrew Martin.

TRACK & FIELD

Javelin thrower Taylor Wilson of Idaho had a throw of 183'3" in a fifth place finish at the outdoor Cougar Invitational meet and also had a fifth place throw (179'8") at the Mike Keller Invitational. At the University Athletic Association outdoor meet, Case Western Reserve high jumper Graeham Heil placed second with a 6'2" leap. Teammate Jason Lockamy competed in several weight throws. Pole vaulter Matt Bush of Baker reached 13'7" at the Pittsburg State Invitational. Other teammates seeing action were Seth Ahart, Andrew Heim, Joe Linder, Andrew Dare and Jamie Steurey.

Distance runner Jon Osman of Wittenberg was 16th in the indoor NCAC 5000 and Amen Galley was a good sprinter for DePauw. Other track & field athletes of note this spring are distance runner Maxwell Korten of Moravian, Dalton Sendelbach of Lawrence, William Civatte of Monmouth and Albion competitors Alex Dermody, Cristino Hoban, Ben Kolanowski, Brant McCollum, Drew Snider, Andrew Strzelecki and Jon Wylie.

Competing on the rowing squad at San Diego were Luke Uetrecht, Matt Kaumeyer and Jack Pokasky.

Meet Our Consultants

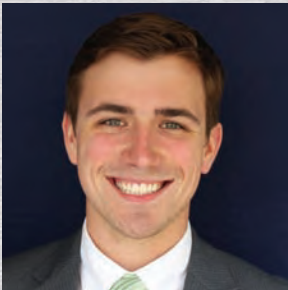

The chapter leadership consultant position provides values-based educational programming to undergraduate chapter members. Chapter consultants serve as an ambassador of the Fraternity from the Central Office to support chapters in areas of operations, finance, recruitment, programming, Ritual performance and understanding, and alumni relations. Chapter consultants also facilitate communication between the national organization, the local campus chapter and the respective higher education institution.

The chapter leadership consultants for the 2015-16 academic year:

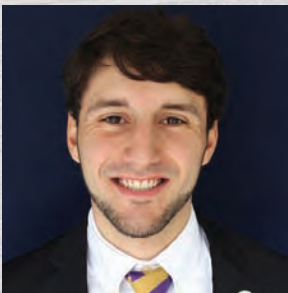

JOSH CLAYTON, a second-year consultant, is a 2014 graduate of Appalachian State University, located in the mountains of North Carolina. During his undergraduate experience Josh earned his degree in advertising and was an active member of Iota Kappa Chapter. His career objective is to become a creative director at a global advertising agency.

Originally from Richfield, North Carolina (in the greater Charlotte area), Josh enjoys spending time outdoors, cooking, attending concerts, and watching his favorite sports teams.

CODY DEWRELL is returning for his second year as a chapter consultant after traveling the Midwest and North last year. He is originally from Smyrna, Ga. Dewrell graduated in December 2014 from Kennesaw State University with a degree in sports management. During his undergraduate career, he served Iota Theta as philanthropy chairman, secretary and chapter president. Also while in college he served on the executive council for IFC and worked as the operations intern for the Kennesaw State football team.

Outside of Delta Tau Delta, Cody enjoys cheering on his local Atlanta Braves, Hawks and Falcons.

NICK GAULIN hails from Woonsocket, R.I., and graduated from Sacred Heart University in May 2015 with a degree in media studies. During his time as an undergraduate, he was an orientation leader, sang in the choir, and was heavily involved with the SHU Campus Ministry office. Nick was a founding father of the Iota Tau Chapter and served his chapter as the Guide and alumni chairman. He has attended two Eastern Division Conferences and the 2014 New Orleans Karnea.

Following his chapter leadership consultant career, Nick will pursue a career in play-by-play sports radio broadcasting, hoping to someday be the radio play-by-play broadcaster for his beloved Boston Red Sox.

Born and raised in Columbia, Mo., CONNOR HOLLRAH earned degrees in business administration-finance and mathematics at Westminster College. As an undergraduate in the Delta Omicron Chapter, Hollrah served as the treasurer. In his post-consultant career, Hollrah plans to begin working or continue his education in the finance field.

Originally from Carpentersville, Ill., ALEX KOSMAS attended the Illinois Institute of Technology where he received his degree in applied mathematics. As a Gamma Beta undergraduate, he served as Road chairman, new member educator and chapter president. He also worked at the university's office of campus life and served on the university strategic planning committee.

After his tenure as a consultant, Kosmas plans to attend graduate school to focus on a career in data science.

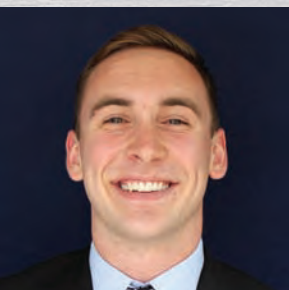

ZACH PASKER, hailing from Manchester, Iowa, is a second-year consultant. He earned his degree in political science at the University of Iowa. As an undergraduate in the Omicron Chapter during its colonization period, Pasker was not only a founding father of the colony but he also served as vice president, recruitment chairman and Road chairman.

Pasker's post-consultant career trajectory includes attending law school and becoming an attorney.

Second-year consultant ANDREW SCHREINER obtained his finance degree in 2014 from the University of Iowa where he served as president and treasurer of the Omicron Chapter. In addition to his achievements in the Fraternity, Schreiner also served as the president of the Fraternal Values Society.

Schreiner's long-term ambitions include leading a non-profit organization. He is a native of Dixon, Ill.

Originally from Sioux City, Iowa, BRENDEN WELCH graduated from Iowa State University in May 2015 with a degree in supply chain management with a minor in finance. As an undergrad he served as Yell Like Hell co-chairman as well as Greek Week co-chairman. He was a member of the ISU Blood Drive where he served as the executive of volunteers. He was also a member of Iowa State's Dance Marathon where he was a part of the events committee as well as a master of ceremony.

Hugh Shields

REMEMBERED

Even today, 50 years after his death, a small collection of words is likely to accompany remembrances of Hugh Shields: Demanding. Detail oriented. Stern. Private. Organizer. Direct but measured. Always a jacket and tie. Behind-the-scenes guy.

During his 35-year tenure as chief executive officer of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, Shields (Indiana University, 1926) adroitly managed its day-to-day affairs through constant challenges and change. Because of his planning and attention to detail, Delta Tau Delta survived the substantial financial challenges of the Great Depression, shifting its operations from New York to Indianapolis, and persevered through the tumult of depressed membership during the World War II years, which included his own service as a captain in the U.S. Army Air Force. Additionally, with Shields at the helm, the Fraternity emerged poised to capitalize on the post-war recovery boom with its influx of former military men coming to campus via the G.I. Bill.

Through the 1950s he built an even stronger Fraternity and was still at the helm as the 1960s dawned with the fraternal world facing a seismic shift in social mores. Those hectic years included the debate and removal of membership restrictions, rapid growth to campuses adding affiliation to national fraternities for the first time, an enrollment boom with thousands of first generation college students, and another wave of male students going off to war.

Through it all, Shields was the driving force of Delta Tau Delta and accomplished much while intentionally avoiding the spotlight. Remembrances about him usually lead with thoughts of him being loath to accept attention, preferring a role of planner, problem solver and kingmaker. But make no mistake: had a presence. People knew the moment he entered the room.

Shields, born in Monticello, Ind., in 1900, spent his early adolescence in Indianapolis. After going away for high school and college he returned to the city in 1932 when the Fraternity relocated its headquarters. He was 32 years old and had been employed by Delta Tau Delta since his college graduation.

Twenty-five years later, single at the time and childless, Shields spent his free weekends on a small farm north of Indianapolis. During the week he lived at the Indianapolis Athletic Club in the heart of the city not far from the Fraternity headquarters. A graduate of St. John's Military School in Wisconsin where he was an athlete and cadet leader, Shields enjoyed the country where he could hunt and ride his horse.

For a period in the late 1950s/early 1960s, a riding buddy was young Scott Norris, whose parents lived down Smokey Row Road just north of the little farming village of Carmel.

Shields never missed an opportunity to meet faithful alumni. Shields is photographed having dinner with United States Supreme Court Justice Thomas C. Clark (University of Texas, 1922) and several unidentified Delts.

In the eyes of that 9-year-old boy, the long-time Delt executive vice president was just the kindly man who became a friend of his parents and to him. “We rode together,” Norris recalls, “he on his palomino horse, me on my black pony. It felt as though he were my uncle.”

Over time, that bond grew.

“My father (Gene Norris) was a retired FBI agent. My mother would see Hugh out around his farm and eventually had him join us for Sunday dinner before he went back into town,” recalls Norris. Shields soon became a staple at the Norris table. Occasionally another single guy would also come to the farm and visit the Norris home. He was Al Sheriff (Washington and Jefferson College, 1949), a former field secretary under Shields who had left his trust officer position with a Cleveland bank to rejoin the Delt staff in 1959. He would be the successor to Shields and spend the rest of his life with the Fraternity and Delt Foundation.

“As one weekend was coming to an end, to be finished with the typical dinner with my parents and me before he returned to Indianapolis, we were walking back to the farmhouse,” Norris remembers. “We stopped and he asked me to hold out my hand. I did so and Hugh placed an object in my palm. I looked down and saw a small white pin with gold stars and a square. I asked what it was, and he said, ‘it’s a Delta Tau Delta pledge pin.’ I asked why he was giving it to me and he said, ‘because you will need it someday.’” – Norris

While Norris enjoyed the horse rides, his fondest Shields memories involve baseball. With vivid description he remembers a trip with Shields at the wheel to old Crosley Field in Cincinnati to see the Reds. Norris is particularly descriptive in recounting a baseball tale involving Shields and another Delt icon: Branch Rickey.

In 1960, Rickey was in the final years of an interesting life that would end in 1965, eight months to the day after Shields. As a baseball executive Rickey not only pioneered the integration of professional sports, but also was the architect of multi-year championship teams in St. Louis and Brooklyn. After leaving the Dodgers he found himself in Pittsburgh where the Pirates had been woeful for a generation. Brought to the moribund franchise in the early 1950s, he built the foundation of a team that would eventually capture the city's first World Series championship in 35 years.

While no longer officially employed with the Pirates during their championship season of 1960, Rickey retained a presence and an influence. Better yet for Norris, Hugh Shields had Rickey's phone number.

"I remember being in his office one Saturday when he picked up the phone and called Branch Rickey," recalls Norris.

"They visited and then Hugh asked for two signed baseballs for a couple of young friends who were baseball fans. And then he says to Rickey, 'and none of those machine-signed balls! I want you to go down to the clubhouse and get real autographs, Branch. Got it?'"

Rickey complied and Shields received shortly thereafter. One of the recipients was Norris, whose baseball bore signatures of such Pirate immortals as Roberto Clemente, Dick Groat, Bill Mazeroski and Bob Friend. Unfortunately, the ball disappeared sometime in early adulthood. But he still has a carbon copy of the thank you letter dated Sept. 19, 1960 sent on Central Office stationery from Shields to Rickey.

It reads in part, "Thank you very much for your letter of September 12 and the two baseballs which arrived today. I know that my young friends will be thoroughly delighted with the fact you took the pains to snatch a couple of authentic balls out of the clubhouse rather than sending us the stamped ones which are sold in concessions.

"Both of these youngsters are sold on baseball, and they are Pirate rooters, I assure you. One is a neighbor of mine, Scott Norris, nine years old—who might be a Delt someday. I know you will be glad to hear that the second baseball goes to Edwin Holt Hughes IV, who is also about nine years old. I pledged him at birth."

Holt Hughes was the great-grandson of Edwin Holt Hughes (Ohio Wesleyan University, 1889), who served as the Fraternity's ninth president and is credited with authoring much of the Delt Ritual still in use. The Rev. Hughes was a prominent Methodist bishop and former president of DePauw University. A decade ahead of Rickey in the Mu Chapter at Ohio Wesleyan, the two were nevertheless well-acquainted. Both were cited into the Fraternity's Distinguished Service Chapter in its first five years. Young Holt also would become a Delt (Baker University, 1973), and a Methodist minister. He passed to the Chapter Eternal in 2014.

A Loving Autocraft

Holt Hughes is joined in the Chapter Eternal by scores of Delts who were influenced by Shields on the way to highly successful lives in various fields. Few members of the Delt field staff who worked under his tutelage are still living and available to share tales. But one of them is its eldest living member, Rupert "Twink" Starr of Columbus, Ohio. A former chapter president who served as a field secretary in 1946-47 before launching a prosperous career in real estate, Starr (Ohio University, 1946) celebrated his 93rd birthday in July. His memory is sharp and he pulls no punches when describing his first boss after college and military service.

"Hugh Shields was a loving autocrat who kept the boys moving," Starr said about the Shields style of managing staff assignments to various chapters. "He was very intelligent, very demanding. He expected a lot from his field secretaries."

Up through Starr's time on staff immediately following World War II, train was still the preferred method of travel. If a staff member wanted to spend an extra day on campus after the business at hand was concluded, he often encountered resistance from the field marshal back in Indianapolis.

"He said, 'you can't stay there; we've got a fire at so and so and I need you to get up there right away. Get on the next train,'" recounted Starr. "He got us on that train."

Nearly 70 years after his staff service, Starr also acknowledged the impact of Shields on his life long after the brief employer relationship concluded.

"I kept in touch with him because he kept in touch with me. When I was chapter advisor at Beta Phi (Ohio State, 1951-56), I had the pleasure of talking with him often," Starr remembers. "I consider him a mentor. He would call me and we'd talk about many a thing. He helped me develop my thinking. I was not afraid of him. I had great respect for him."

As with so many field secretaries (now known as chapter leadership consultants) across the years, Starr can recount chapter visits of 65+ years ago as if they occurred in the last decade. "I visited 40 chapters from North Dakota to Tulane to Maine. It was a wonderful experience. Certainly, Hugh Shields was a big part of it."

Image: Shields, who preferred life out of the limelight, in a rare public speaking engagement opportunity.

Image far right: Shields assisting with affixing the badge of Delt upon new initiate Harold E. Carlson (RPI, 1964) in 1962 while Upsilon Chapter Advisor Joe Flagler (RPI, 1935) looks on. Shields believed in the intergenerational mentorship the Fraternity offers.

Chronologically, Dave Hughes (Ohio Wesleyan University, 1961) falls about halfway between Starr and Norris. As a youngster in Indianapolis he enjoyed an interesting inner glimpse of Delta Tau Delta while his father served six years on the Arch Chapter, the last four as president. Dave Hughes observed Shields from a different perspective than Starr or Norris.

"I knew that he was an imposing figure of a man who was always dressed in suit and tie, handkerchief in breast pocket, hair nattily swept back on his head—standing ramrod straight," recalled Hughes, who would follow his father and grandfather to the Delt presidency. "By about the fifth or sixth grade I realized Dad was frequently leaving town to go here and there with Uncle Hugh—during the week sometimes and on weekends sometimes—and that Dad was missing a lot of my sports activities.

"Our whole family was at the 1952 Karnea at Mackinac Island (Michigan) and the 1954 Karnea in Los Angeles. It was not difficult figuring out, even by a high schooler, that Hugh was pretty much in charge of everything," Hughes recalled.

"After I pledged Delt in the fall of 1957 (as his father served as international president), I became more and more aware of Uncle Hugh's commanding presence, intellect and devotion to all things Delt at all times. I saw him often after that until his untimely death. I have no doubt he ran a tight ship at the Central Office and there was probably nothing about the operation of the Fraternity and all of its moving parts in the divisions and chapters that he was not tuned into. The heck with hobbies!"

Sixty-five years after the event, Hughes also recalls the empathy Shields displayed to a young boy and his family on a difficult day. "My grandfather, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, died on Feb. 12, 1950. I was 10. At his graveside service in Greencastle, Ind., on a cold and blustery day, I recall Hugh was there consoling our father and making sure we all knew of the greatness of my grandfather. That was a very moving day for me, partly because it was the first time I realized the two brothers of mine lost in early infancy were buried there next to their paternal grandparents."

The Shields specter extended far beyond Delta Tau Delta in the interfraternal community and among college administrators. He was one of the first full-time professional executive directors employed by a national fraternity and his tenure remains one of the longest among all fraternities. Almost all of his peers have long passed away, but 89-year-old Bob Miller of Phi Delta Theta remembers receiving a call from Shields one day in the mid-1950s as his executive tenure was beginning.

"I was just a young guy in the business and he called me wanting to get acquainted," said Miller, who served as his fraternity's chief staff officer from 1954 to 1991. "I drove over from Oxford (Ohio) to Indianapolis and we spent a delightful afternoon. I was flattered he would take the time. It was a profitable visit for me."

Miller still lives in Oxford and spends most mornings in his small office at Phi Delt headquarters working on the fraternity's archives. He has a vast reservoir of knowledge about the interfraternal movement and the many leaders across the fraternal tribes who have shaped it. Of Shields he said, “He was a very private person, but a very friendly private person.” At interfraternal meetings, Miller said Shields was strategic in his comments. “He was never outspoken as I recall. When he spoke, he had something to say.”

The Hugh Shields Award

After Shields passed to the Chapter Eternal, the Arch Chapter named a newly created chapter excellence award in his honor. In the past half century, the Hugh Shields Award for Chapter Excellence has become synonymous with undergraduate achievement. To date, 94 different chapters have been honored with at least one Hugh Shields Award. The award has kept the Shields name alive among future Delt generations, but what he represents in the long history of Delta Tau Delta should be remembered, too.

The words of the late Arnold Berg (Indiana University, 1932), who was serving as international president at the time of Shields’ death, explicitly capture the man’s soul. Writing in a special Shields Tribute edition of The Rainbow, Berg described Shields with candor and affection.

“Here was a man with brusque manner of speaking and an assuming demeanor, but here was a man with a gentle heart—a man who was especially kind to a brother in need, an anonymous giver, a finder of jobs and a niche in life for hundreds of Delts,” Berg wrote. “Here was a man who followed the principle, ‘if you would win a man to your cause, first convince him you are his friend.’ Hugh Shields was my friend—and that he was indeed my best friend. And thus shall live in my memory!”

Scott Norris and his family left Indiana for Bangkok in 1963 when his father took a position with the State Department as United States involvement in Southeast Asia escalated dramatically. They were still out of the country when Shields passed away April 9, 1965 after a short illness. He was buried at the historic Crown Hill Cemetery in Indianapolis, just a mile from his Delt office. Three years later, Norris pledged Delta Tau Delta at the Beta Beta Chapter as a freshman at DePauw University.

“During the pledging ceremony, the brothers made their way down the pledge line and gave us our pins,” Norris says. “When they got to me, I reached into my pocket and took out my pin and said, ‘I already have one.’ I was asked where did you get that and I answered, ‘Hugh Shields gave it to me years ago.’”

The kid from Smokey Row Road who loved baseball was initiated in 1969, graduated from DePauw in 1972, became a banker and served six years as president of the Beta Beta House Corporation. He warmly reminisces about the man who mutually befriended his family 50+ years ago and took a paternal interest in a neighbor’s child.

“It seems to me that Hugh had a plan for me, and it developed just as he had envisioned,” Norris says today. “I’m still proud and grateful to be a brother.”

Yes, Hugh Shields was indeed a planner. But better add two more words to that list of descriptors: Abiding Influencer.

The following Chapter Eternal notices were received in the Central Office between Nov. 1, 2014 and April 30, 2015.

HEADLINES OF THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO (2005)

The Fraternity celebrated rebirth at Delta Iota (UCLA) and Delta Kappa (Duke), bringing those chapters back to the active roll after several years of inactivity. Accepting charters from the Arch Chapter were presidents Reed Shaffner (Duke University 2006) and Andre Svadjian (UCLA, 2007).

25 YEARS AGO (1990)

“Those who think that peer group pressure in college has to be negative were probably never in a fraternity and certainly not in Delta Tau Delta,” said former international president John W. Nichols (University of Oklahoma, 1936) in a featured essay extoling the benefits of the fraternity experience. “My fraternity brothers were and are achievers. As undergraduates we felt that we were expected to do our very best, whether it be academics, sports or maintaining a fraternity. All these things require determination, self-discipline and hard work. When we were undergraduates we shared this common opportunity. After graduation we dispersed to many different careers and to many different parts of the country, but we still carry with us the many strengths that were imparted to us as Delt undergraduates.”

75 YEARS AGO (1940)

The appointment of Herbert McCracken (University of Pittsburgh, 1921) as Eastern Division president was announced, filling a vacancy left by the death of George W. Brewster (Brown University, 1912). A collegiate football star, McCracken went on to coach at Allegheny and Lafayette before entering the publishing business. The Delt appointment came as he was working as vice president of the Scholastic Publishing Co. in New York. McCracken went on to be elected the Fraternity’s 20th international president in 1946.

100 YEARS AGO (1915)

Plans were nearly complete for the San Francisco Karnea in August, the 34th and the first conducted west of the Mississippi River. Before modern national highways or coast-to-coast air travel in a matter of hours, rail was the leading mode of transportation to the greatest of all Delt events. Accordingly, the pre-Karnea promotion heralded the adventures awaiting those who made the long journey. “The Fraternity Train deluxe will leave the Union Passenger Station, Chicago at 12:10 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 14 via the Burlington Route and arrive in San Francisco at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 18. Traveling on a palatial special train provided for our convenience via a carefully selected route of the greatest scenic attractions, are the main advantages which will accrue from this arrangement. Ours is not a railway excursion but a private party, selecting the choice bits of any roads we wish.”

125 YEARS AGO (1890)

“The argument against the moral influence of the fraternity system is of equal age with the system itself, and it is likely to be of equal duration,” wrote recent graduate Edwin Holt Hughes (Ohio Wesleyan University 1889), in the opening sentence of a long essay. It concluded with, “It seems to be the general tax that is laid upon every Greek Letter Society that it must endure the presence of chapters whose standard demands only the possession of certain merry social qualities. Wherever such a body of men have in their unholy grasp a charter, the only way to save the repute of the fraternity is to apply the pruner. Let no Delt pose as the Deltaic conscience-keeper, but let all Deltas demand that our silken cord of union be composed of three strands—Intellectuality, Congeniality and Morality.” The Rev. Hughes served as the Fraternity’s ninth president, 1899-1901.

Looking For A Few GOOD MEN

The Delta Tau Delta Educational Foundation invites you to consider the following opportunities:

Become a Foundation Ambassador: This volunteer role is open to current members of the Order of the C— and seeks men who are interested in assisting the Foundation in its efforts to build better alumni engagement and giving from their chapter.

Join the Delta Alpha Kappa Society: Open to donors who make monthly, quarterly or yearly gifts to the Annual DeltFund. There is no minimum recurring gift to join. Donors can increase their giving over time and join the Order of the C— for as little as $84 per month.

For more details on either program, call Steve Vedra at (317) 284-0210.
